The newest announcement of another addition to the fast growing list of industrial developments in this area came yesterday as John G. Spruhan, general manager of Dunn Steel Products company made public the fact that his company was ready to start work on a half million dollar building to house their present concern.

and factory area as well. Cunningham-Limp company of Detroit has been awarded the contract as general contractor and construction is expected to be completed by the end of this year.

The present office and factory is located at 377 Amelia street and will be vacated and all operations moved to the new plant which will be one of America's most modern, on its completion. Dunn Steel manufactures special cold-headed fasteners for the automotive industry and is one of four manufacturing plants owned by the Townsend company.

Chamber of Commerce secretary Nat Sibbold returned on the weekend from attending a national Chamber Institute for Commercial and Trade Executives in Evanston, Illinois.

offered by Northwestern University at the seminar, he stated, he felt more pleased with the fact that before the conclave was over, the 600 members in attendance knew him by first name because he was prevailed upon to sing at every social affair on the program.

Ask New Pupils To Register by September 2

Students who will be attending Plymouth schools for the first time next month are being asked to register beginning next Monday, it was announced today by school officials.

However on the more serious side of the agenda the secretary came home to present to his board Tuesday, ideas for a Christmas parade sponsored by local churches, which has proven most successful in Saginaw, Michigan.

High School Principal Carvel M. Bentley said that students in grades nine through 12 not already enrolled should contact Miss Ruth Butts in the counselor's office at the high school.

Those attending junior high or elementary schools here for the first time, should contact the school which they will attend. In the case of Allen school which is not yet completed, new students in the Plymouth system who will attend there are to contact Don Rank at Starkweather school.

Police report that a car driven by Donald Bennett, 1990 Knolsen, Plymouth, was traveling north on Starkweather when it collided with a car going east on Spring street driven by Kenneth Thorpe, 302 Davis. The impact tore the radiator off the Thorpe car and turned the car around.

Minutes later I arrived at the plant gate where Michigan State Police were waiting to escort me into the heart of the twisted wreckage where the body lay.

Mr. Granger was being taken to his home at 308 North Mill street when the mishap occurred. Mr. Thorpe was uninjured.

Entering a door of the Ternstedt division on the east side of the building, police handed me a helmet, similar to those worn by construction workers. This offered some protection, perhaps psychological, from debris which they feared could fall at any time from the crumbling walls and roof.

Most of Plymouth township's roadside vegetable vendors will be warned by letter within the next few weeks about their selling activities which are contrary to township zoning laws.

We walked between rows of bent and flame scorched lockers. Turning into another row of lockers, we came upon the body. It was charred beyond recognition and lay prone on its chest.

The Plymouth Township Zoning board decided at last week's meeting to write operators of the roadside stands after it was found that many of the vendors have been selling produce purchased from outside sources.

As half a dozen patrolmen grimly watched, I took pictures from the rear, front and side of the body. Such pictures are often used by investigators at later dates to study some aspects of the death.

Wayne County Local Board No. 102 announced that 50 men from Wayne county will answer the next induction call on August 27. Only one man from Plymouth will be called, five from Northville and four from Livonia.

"I bet you're glad this isn't your usual job," a patrolman said as he handed me a flashlight. I wholeheartedly agreed.

Those to be inducted from this area are: Robert F. Brunner, Plymouth; Robert M. Pullen, Donald L. Johnson, Herbert Patrick Martin, Stanley J. Danlager and Ted G. Masters, all of Northville; Richard C. Weiner, Theodore Buckwick, Roger A. Sheets and Carl A. Holth, Jr. of Livonia.

Walking out of the one-time modern plant, I saw hundreds of workers with shovels and other tools beginning the tremendous task of cleaning up the ugly mess. It was a hot day and water which soaked the rubble was evaporating into a smelly steam. Cranes (Continued on page 8)

Expects Traffic Report to Reveal Startling Facts

"Startling will be the results of the AAA traffic survey to be revealed here next Monday night," says Ralph G. Lorenz, president of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce who worked hand in hand with AAA officials while the survey was being undertaken.

About 25 local civic leaders and members of the city commission will meet to discuss the results of the survey recently completed here at the request of L. B. Rice, local Auto Club manager.

The presentation will be made by Auto Club traffic director, Ernest P. Davis and will show how congestion of Plymouth's streets is hurting the city's commercial income. The report will also show that at certain times of the day congestion builds up on Main street holding traffic down about eight miles per hour.

Of major concern to local merchants is the fact that insufficient parking facilities in Plymouth is already taking its toll out of their cash registers. When Livonia and other major shopping centers are opened near the city those areas will provide stiff competition to Plymouth stores, so the report states.

The report will point out other local deficiencies in handling of traffic here and will make suggestions on how this congestion can be remedied to yield maximum results with a minimum of expenditure as pointed out in The Plymouth Mail some four weeks ago.

Invited to bear the findings were Mayor Russell M. Daane, Commissioners Henry Fisher, Eleanor Hammond, Ernest Henry, Marvin Terry, George Bauer, Floyd Tibbitts, City Manager Albert Glassford and City Engineer Stan Besse.

Also to attend are Planning Committee Chairman Sidney Strong, Chief of Police Carl L. Greenlee, Fire Chief Robert J. McAllister and City Attorney Harry Deyo.

Invited from the Chamber of Commerce are Secretary Nat A. Sibbold, Parking Committee Members Ralph G. Lorenz, Margaret Dunning, Edwin Schrader and Safety and Traffic Committeeman Joe Merritt.

Completing the list are Retail Merchant Committee Chairman Gerald Pease, Zoning Commission Chairman Carl Shear and Verne W. Tucker.

Auto Club will be represented by Davis, Plymouth Division Manager L. B. Rice and Arthur Knoles, who headed the survey, conducted at no cost to Plymouth.

Always on The Job

No more appreciated act of kindness was displayed at the Livonia General Motors fire than that of Plymouth's own Corps of the Salvation Army. From almost the start of the fire and throughout the night Captain Ira Bush of Plymouth and two other Salvation Army officers furnished some 200 sandwiches, gallons of steaming coffee, cigars and candy to the exhausted firemen directly at the scene of the blaze. Needless to say the sandwiches and coffee were prepared and delivered to the officers by members of the local corps.

Injured Plymouth Octogenarian "Holding Own"

A two-car collision Saturday at 6:20 p.m. sent two Plymouth men to Sessions hospital, Northville, with one of them, Charles W. Granger, 87, reported today to be "holding his own" while suffering a concussion and other injuries.

Police report that a car driven by Donald Bennett, 1990 Knolsen, Plymouth, was traveling north on Starkweather when it collided with a car going east on Spring street driven by Kenneth Thorpe, 302 Davis. The impact tore the radiator off the Thorpe car and turned the car around.

Rushed to Sessions hospital by ambulance, it was found that Mr. Granger is suffering a concussion, a dislocated shoulder and numerous abrasions. He has been in a semi-conscious condition.

Mr. Granger was being taken to his home at 308 North Mill street when the mishap occurred. Mr. Thorpe was uninjured.

Proposed Zoning Ordinance Gets First Official Reading

Male members of the city commission took off their coats, rolled up their sleeves and settled back for a three-hour listening session Monday night as the city's proposed zoning ordinance was given its first reading.

Reading the lengthy ordinance were City Manager Al Glassford, Commissioner Eleanor Hammond, City Attorney Henry Deyo and Mayor Daane.

Also concerning the zoning proposal was a letter received from Attorney Dunbar Davis who again appealed for his client, Ray Hunt, regarding the ordinance's billboard restrictions. Davis appeared before the last commission meeting to protest the restrictions which he called a "subterfuge" to eliminate billboards entirely.

The commission voted to hold a public hearing on September 8 at 7:30 p.m. for property owners affected by a proposed sewer to be laid on Simpson street from Harvey to Lincoln streets. Its estimated cost is $4,438.50 and is to be paid for by assessments.

No Thrill Taking Pictures in G.M. Plant After Fire

Another body had been found and I was called in to make photographs for the police record. The body was that of Frank Urban, 35, Detroit, the third victim of the tragic fire which swept the Detroit Transmission plant in Livonia last Wednesday.

The call came to the Plymouth Mail office Friday afternoon from Livonia police. They were in desperate need of a photographer to come to the plant immediately to make official photos of the newly-discovered charred body. I agreed to take the job.

Minutes later I arrived at the plant gate where Michigan State Police were waiting to escort me into the heart of the twisted wreckage where the body lay.

Entering a door of the Ternstedt division on the east side of the building, police handed me a helmet, similar to those worn by construction workers. This offered some protection, perhaps psychological, from debris which they feared could fall at any time from the crumbling walls and roof.

Local Heroes Praised For Actions In G.M. Transmission Catastrophe

Two Plymouth area residents are this week recovering from injuries they received in the fire which destroyed the Detroit Transmission plant in Livonia last week, claiming the lives of three workers and later resulting in a fatal heart attack of a Livonia fireman and electrocution of two construction workers.

Also taking an active part in the night-long battle against the flames were 20 Plymouth firemen who returned home the next day weary but uninjured.

Edwin Trombley, 6970 Napier road, and William Scott, 601 Auburn. Their stories were in direct contrast. Trombley, well-acquainted with the plant, led less familiar employees to safety; Scott, a new employee, almost gave up hope for survival as he groped his way along smoke-clogged halls in the unfamiliar surroundings.

Readies Downtown Store For Junior Achievement

Junior Achievement, a program that enables youngsters to learn about American business by practicing it, will make its debut in Plymouth early in October, it was announced this week by the newly-formed local committee.

Work is already underway to convert the storeroom formerly occupied by the Bar-O-Sweets, 204 South Main street, into the Junior Achievement workshop and meeting room.

Local industry and business is bringing the Junior Achievement program to Plymouth, a program which brought 173 applications for participation from high school juniors and sophomores last spring. Not all this number will be able to participate, however, since the local program will include six companies with 20 boys and girls to a company.

Vacationers Find Home Vandalized

Two boys brazenly entered a Plymouth home last Thursday afternoon, smashed eggs against the ceilings, threw flour, sugar and coffee on rugs and performed other acts of vandalism which will cost the owners many dollars plus many hours of labor.

The home was that of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hart, 362 Pacific avenue, who left for a week's vacation on Tuesday, August 11. Two days later two boys somehow entered the house during the afternoon. Eggs were tossed against the living room walls and ceiling, contents of bedroom dressers were strown about, rugs were covered with flour, coffee and sugar, and whipped cream was sprayed about from a can. The refrigerator was turned up so that everything was frozen.

A neighbor girl who had been taking care of the Hart dog surprised the vandals when she was about to enter the basement door. Hearing the noise inside, she ran home to report it to her mother. Two boys then fled from the house.

"We thought we had everything locked up," Mrs. Hart said. Other home owners going on vacation are being warned by police to double check all entrances and windows before leaving.

Advertising Error Benefits Shoppers

Women grocery shoppers were given a real treat last weekend — with an assist from an advertising error!

The error took place in the Stop & Shop page. Crisco and Spay were being featured at a special price of three pounds for 89c—but to and behold it appeared in The Mail at 55c. Usual procedure for such an error is for the newspaper to write a letter to be posted on the merchandise telling the customer of the error and what the correct price should be.

But Bill and Joe Rucker, Stop & Shop managers, would not hear of this. "We'll sell it as advertised," they said. Therefore, the housewife got more than a bargain — and The Mail postmaster is getting a new pair of glasses!

LOCAL HEROES

where Trombley broke out a window. He then pulled the operators through the window onto the roof of the new experimental garage. A permanent ladder to the ground had not yet been bolted to the roof, so Trombley, with the aid of firemen who reached the roof, held the ladder as the girls descended.

Staggering, Trombley started for his car in the parking lot but he collapsed on the way. Four and a half hours later, he regained consciousness in Wayne County General hospital. He was released Thursday under doctor's care. With smoke inflaming him inside down to his waist, he must be extremely careful of pneumonia for the next few weeks.

Scott, an executive with the company, moved to Plymouth with his family from Canton, Illinois only a few weeks ago. He was unfamiliar with the offices as he became trapped on the top floor. His route was the long way down, he later discovered.

Crawling on his hands and knees down some steps, he cut his hand on some object, which was his only injury. Finally, he reached a window and firemen got a ladder up to him. He has returned to the plant this week to help direct the clean-up operation.

Six minutes after Livonia Fire Chief Calvin L. Roberts received a call at 3:56 to send equipment to the giant GM plant, two Plymouth fire trucks led by Fire Chief Robert McAllister were speeding down Plymouth road toward the fire at 70 miles per hour.

"In my 26 years of riding fire trucks, it was the biggest fire I ever saw and ever hope to see," Chief McAllister asserted. "There was nothing in the world that could have saved that building unless they could have picked it up and set it down in Lake Michigan," he added. Plymouth's two pumps alone each poured 600 gallons of water a minute on the blaze for 12 hours.

Half of the Plymouth crew of three regulars and 17 volunteers worked until 8 o'clock, then another crew arrived and worked until daylight. One of the trucks returned at 3 a.m., picked up new hose and returned to the Livonia fire station where they stood by to protect Livonia until 10 a.m. Thursday.

The Plymouth trucks were stationed on the west side of the building near the power plant. They arrived at the fire just after the Livonia department.

"No one was hurt or passed out," Chief McAllister reported, "we were just tired out." Smoke was so thick it was impossible to enter the building. The trucks were parked so close to the building that if the walls had caved outward, the trucks would have been crushed.

"There were explosions all the time—oil drums and acetylene tanks—it was just too dangerous to enter the building". The chief did enter the building himself at one time to see if the fire could be cut off as Chief Roberts of Livonia suggested. But by the time firemen got their lines moved, the fire had traveled past their cutoff point.

"The fire traveled along the ceiling from one end of the plant to the other in almost no time," the chief recalled. "With every explosion the walls would weave."

The chief had high praise for one old veteran of the department a 28-year-old LaFrance fire truck which "could pump 600 gallons of water a minute indefinitely." Pumping 12 continuous hours, the truck consumed 107 gallons of gasoline.

Besides the praise for his men, Chief McAllister lauded Chief Roberts for his quick thinking in calling in other departments before he even left the fire station.

The Plymouth township pump was also at the fire, along with the departments from Northville, Wayne, Redford township, Dearborn and Detroit.

If you are in the habit of cleaning ice cube trays and tray grids with hot water, it is time to change your ways. Hot water tends to remove the wax coating on the surface of the trays which is there to make removal of ice cubes easier. So next time you clean ice trays and tray grids, use warm, not hot water.

Livonia Hospital Fund Drive Covers Plymouth

Plans to build a 100-bed osteopathic hospital in Livonia were announced today with several Plymouth men listed as members of the board of trustees.

The Livonia General Hospital, as it is to be called, was formed as a non-profit corporation last April by interested citizens. Fund-raising plans and selection of a suitable site are now under consideration.

Appointments have been made to a five-member executive board and an 11-member board of trustees.

Members of the executive board are: Dr. O. L. Brooker, president; Dr. John F. Vos, vice-president; Douglas Campbell, recording secretary; Clarence Hoffman, treasurer; and Nettie Carey corresponding secretary.

Trustees designated for three-year terms are Mayor Jesse Ziegler of Livonia, Carl A. Peterson of Plymouth, Howard Warner of Farmington and Gerald K. Johnson of Detroit.

Trustees designated for one-year terms are Charlie L. Cook of Livonia, Sam Spicer of Plymouth and Nettie Carey of Livonia. Mr. Weinert is chairman of the fund raising committee and Mr. Kefgen heads the committee to acquisition the site and land.

Already announcing support to the hospital project is the Clarenceville Optimist club.

Comb and brush should always be kept scrupulously clean. Wash daily if possible, and always after your hair has been shampooed. The cleanest hair is hair that is groomed daily with clean comb and brush. There is no point in washing your hair if it is to be brushed with yesterday's dust and oil left on your comb and brush.

Warfare Between Fish Occurs in Peaceful Ponds

Killing warfare between fish and their natural enemies is quite often found in a serene and peaceful looking pond or stream, according to a University of Michigan professor.

Professor Karl F. Lagler, chairman of the U-M Department of Fisheries, states that there is some benefit coming out of this strife. He says that without these enemies, the game fish population might grow to the extent that Michigan ponds and lakes would become choked with stunted, starving and dead fish.

The cold-blooded fishes, amphibians and reptiles and the warm-blooded birds and mammals are the groups which prey upon the fish.

The most easily distinguished fish predator is the gar. It has bill-like jaws equipped with strong, sharp teeth. It is mainly a fish eater and is found in warm lakes or slowly running streams. It gives the appearance of being lazy, but is capable of fast, killing movements.

Catching the gar is becoming a popular sport in the state. Archery and night spearing are the means used.

The bowfin, which has an extremely long back fin extending over most of its length, is another enemy of game fish. It is most often found in slow-moving rivers and weedy warmwater lakes, Dr. Lagler reports. A scrappy fighter when taken on tackle, it is often caught by anglers fishing for bass or pike. Frequently, the carp is also blamed for the normal, cyclic decline in fishing, just as the gar and bowfins. Carp may be quite abundant in warmer lakes that have muddy bottoms or in slow-moving streams.

This fish is able to exist under extremes of temperature, pollution and other conditions which normally tend to kill off native fishes. The carps diet is a combination of meat and vegetables, and it makes many fine dishes for the table.

Although the bullfrog, water-snake and garter snake prey on fish, their effects are not great enough to warrant the concern of anglers, Dr. Lagler explains. However, he advises the workers at state fish hatcheries or private bait-minnow ponds to be on the alert to the potential damage which these fish-eaters can do.

Man Makes Up Owl's Big Worry

The Great Horned Owl, largest of Michigan's native owls, is so ferocious that he has nothing to worry about, if he does worry, except disease, old age and man. Man is by far his most hateful annoyance, and the owl prefers to live in dense wooded areas as remote as possible from human activity. Apparently he has good reason, because since people have moved into his domains, his numbers and distribution have greatly declined. This has been shown by research at Cranbrook Institute of Science, Bloomfield Hills and elsewhere.

The Bubo Virginianus, as the owl is known to intimate friends, fears no other living creature. He does not bother to gather materials for his nest, but simply moves the nests of hawks, the largest squirrels and even bald eagles and rearranges them to suit himself.

Fresh meat makes up the main part of Bubo's diet. His menu has been known to include fish, skunks, insects, crayfish and snakes, although he has a special craving for mammals of rabbit size or smaller. He has even been known to attack a porcupine, when rations have been short.

Although he is often confused with the long-eared owl, he is much larger, with a total length of 20 to 23 inches, and is apparently Michigan's earliest nesting bird. As early as mid-February full sets of eggs, usually two or three in a set, have been found. This is about a month earlier than the nesting of his nearest competitor, the prairie horned lark.

Bubo's chief enemies, men, have to admit that the damage he does to game birds and poultry is largely offset by his constant war on rodents injurious to man's interests.

BE SURE IT'S DEAD-OUT

Prevent rodent damage

APPEARING UNCONCERNED about the whole business is 13-month-old Barry Pate. Barry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pate of 9074 Sheldon road, was getting his second haircut in Duke's Barber Shop, 855 Penniman, when the picture was taken.

Indications Point To Opening Allen School September 10

Classes will be held the first day of school in the new Edna M. Allen Elementary school, according to all information furnished the Plymouth Township Board of Education at their regular meeting.

The race by the contractor to at least have the classrooms ready for use by September 7 appears to be won, the board learned. Other rooms in the building probably will not be finished until some time later. School officials have prepared an alternate plan should the school not be ready. They plan to place the Allen school children in classrooms of other schools for half-day sessions until the Allen building was finished. Actually, the half-million dollar structure is not required to be completed until December 1, according to the contract.

Because two board members were on vacation, business at the Monday night meeting was kept at a minimum. A report on the home economics room construction was heard and tile for the rooms selected. It was also reported that the hiring of teachers is nearly completed.

Burns Daisy Foreman

Recovering at his home after he fell into an acid solution last week at the Daisy Manufacturing company is Walter Kleinschmidt, 14680 Northville road.

Kleinschmidt, foreman of the company's wood department, had gone to attend a pot of "Oakite" which had run over onto the floor. Oakite is an acid solution used to strip paint from metal.

Slipping on the floor, he fell forward and received mild burns on parts of his body and arms which came in contact with the solution.

Livonia to Have Federal Savings Says Richwine

Permission was granted by the state banking department this week for the opening of a branch of the First Federal Savings of Detroit in Livonia it was announced by local manager Perry W. Richwine. No definite location for the proposed new office has been selected at this time, he said, but a site would be selected in the very near future. At the same time it was announced that Livonia Mayor Jesse Ziegler had been appointed to the Board of First Federal in this area and that the final papers had been signed on the purchase of all of the Main and Penniman corner property in Livonia for a future new building here.

Humane Society Gives Dog Care For Hot Weather

The local Humane Society recommends that you take special care of your dog, now that hot weather is here. Their recommendations include providing a dish of cool water for him at all times. When a dog becomes thirsty and overheated, he is more apt to bite and be cross.

Don't tie your dog in the sun. Find a cool place for him to lie down. Try to keep him cool and comfortable.

If the dog is bothered with fleas, purchase some HI-LO-DIP in any pet shop, put a tablespoonful in a tub of water and bathe him. Be sure you rinse him well. If you leave soap on the skin or in the hair, it will irritate him and make his coat dull and sticky.

Remember, if you have a stray dog and can not find a good home for him, you can always take it to the Humane Society at Dixboro on Cherry Hill road, one quarter mile off Ann Arbor road.

Authors Point to More Profitable Farming Methods

from Arnold Renner, fire marshal of Lansing.

Wednesday, September 2, is scheduled for the public viewing of the films at Plymouth High school. Fire Chief of Flint, Cal Johnson, will be on hand to tell viewers of the actual work accomplished by the fire department and civil defense workers in the disaster area. Tuesday evening, September 1, the Kiwanis club is slated to see the movies, while the Mutual Aid Fireman's association, meeting in Plymouth on Thursday, September 3, will view the films then.

The films include aerial and ground views of the area where the tornado destroyed homes and lives in Beecher township. It also shows how aid arrived at the scene within 15 minutes of the disaster, thus testifying to alertness of the Genesee County civil defense network.

Both Fire Chief McAllister and Civil Defense director Ernest Henry urge that all Plymouth citizens make an effort to see the films on Wednesday, September 2. Knowledge of what can be done in instances of disaster is information important to all, they emphasized.

Job Losses Soar As Result of Fire

Plymouth suffered its second economic blow in two months last week when a $50,000,00 fire swept through the Detroit Transmission plant in Livonia and caused job losses for at least 200 Plymouth workers.

The General Motors disaster, which idled over 8,000 persons at the plant immediately and threatens jobs of 50,000 others in the Detroit area, Pontiac and Lansing, follows only weeks behind the layoff of nearly 600 workers from the Plymouth vicinity from the Kaiser Motors corporation.

"Up to a few months ago, we had more jobs than we could fill," it was recalled this week by Clarence Jetter, head of the local office of the Unemployment Compensation commission. Today, the situation is reversed. Crowds of unemployed due mainly to the GM fire jammed the commission's office last Thursday and Friday.

However, it now appears that most of those laid off at Kaiser are now relocated, Jetter reports.

About 25 percent of those put out of work at the GM plant live in the area serviced by the Plymouth Unemployment Compensation office. This area includes Livonia, South Lyon, New Hudson, Northville and part of Walled Lake.

Union officials are attempting to have the Michigan legislature recalled in order to provide increases in the size and duration of unemployment benefits. The move was due mainly as an aftermath of the Livonia fire. Michigan unemployed this week stands at 80,000.

Plymouth Girl Wins Cup For Target Shooting

Rosemary Gaab, a member of Plymouth's 4-H Rifle club, was awarded a winner's cup at the Wayne County 4-H club fair held in Belleville recently. The cup was presented by Robert Wesley, for the Daisy Air Rifle company. Miss Gaab was high scorer in the target shooting event.

Other Plymouth winners who received pro-marksmen diplomas and N.R.A. medals were Foster Brown, Bob Rämp and Betty Weberlein. Leader of the local Rifle club is Mrs. Eva Reed.

"Farm Management Analysis", co-authored by Glenn L. Johnson of Michigan State college's agricultural economics department, examines the major problems confronting the farmer today and shows how to attack them.

The book is published by John Wiley and Sons of New York and Chapman and Hall Ltd., of London. It is primarily a college text, but has many sections that are recommended reading for farmers. It points the way toward development of the farmer's management skills in farm organization and operation.

The importance of weighing the consequences of any management act is emphasized. The co-authors, Lawrence A. Bradford of the University of Kentucky and MSC's Johnson, show the farmer how to make himself more effective as a decision-maker and how to achieve a richer farm life in the home as well as in business.

Termed the first book to combine the best features of the so-called "traditional" and "modern" approaches to farm management, it offers the advantages of the traditional system combined with tools developed by recent research, based on clear, hardheaded reasoning.

The principles presented were developed, integrated and tested carefully. The principles are called sound and practical by other economists, and it is said that they point the way to more profitable farming.

Farm Workers Averaged $172

If you're an average farmer with hired help, you're paying your employee about $172 a month or an average of $1 per hour, a Michigan State college survey shows.

The average figures were obtained by Karl A. Vary of Michigan State college's agricultural economics department from 721 farmers in all parts of the state. The survey indicates that monthly cash wage rates vary widely from $100 to $300 a month and hourly pay ranges from 75 cents to $1.75.

While 77 per cent of the farm operators included in the survey hired labor in addition to that furnished by their own families, only 40 per cent of the farmers paid total wages of more than $200 a year. Of those farmers paying at least $200 a year or more for non-migrant labor, one-half hired on the hourly basis. About one-third hired by the month and the others employed labor by the day or week.

Vary figured the total wage from the amount of cash paid plus the "extras"—meat, milk, eggs, light, fuel, etc. Dollar value placed on the extras averaged $31.42 a month.

Forty-three per cent of the farmers who gave a bonus in addition to the monthly wage based it on three to six per cent of the milk check. A small percentage gave a bonus of three to five per cent of the net farm income at the end of the year.

Two companies a night will meet and work at the J. A. center. The center will be provided with machinery and tools so that most types of small products can be manufactured. Three advisors will work with each company, the advisors representing production, sales and management from the local industries.

There are 194 companies organized in the Southeastern Michigan area, making it the largest single program in the nation. Aiding in setting up the Plymouth group is George G. Alder, staff executive. The J. A. Committee will sponsor an assembly at the high school again this fall to learn definite preferences of the students.

No Thrill Talking

As workers swarmed over the building and grounds, police from the plant, city and state kept a heavy guard on the gates and grounds. They had blocked off Plymouth road in front of the plant Thursday night and thousands of sightseers parked up to a mile away and walked to the plant gates to get a better view of the wreckage.

But today, Friday, traffic was resumed in front of the plant and police worked feverishly to move traffic past the plant as well as the heavy traffic in and out of the grounds.

We arrived back at the plant door where I turned in my helmet. Backing up to the door was a police ambulance. It had come to claim the third body yielded by the massive plant skeleton.

Workers stopped as they noticed the ambulance. Their plant and their old jobs were gone. They could only hope for one thing — that this would be the ambulance's last trip.

Dixie Lanphear Weds George Kolb III
In Early Fall Candlelight Ceremony

At one of the loveliest of early fall weddings last Saturday evening, August 15, in the First Presbyterian church, Plymouth, Miss Dixie Joan Lanphear repeated her nuptial vows to George Kolb III. Dixie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lanphear of South Main street and George is the son of Mrs. George Kolb II of Grantland avenue.

Large baskets of white gladioli flanked either side of the altar and bouquets of the white flowers were placed at either end of the tiers of lighted tapers. Palms formed the background for the lovely setting.

The Reverend Henry Walch, D.D. officiated at the seven-thirty o'clock double ring candlelight ceremony. Fred C. Nelson presided at the organ and Miss Mary Lou Hartwick sang "Through The Years" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Dixie approached the altar, on the arm of her father, in a creation of Chantilly lace over satin. The basque bodice had a Queen Anne collar of the lace with the design etched in seed pearls and the long fitted sleeves covered the back of the hand and were also adorned with pearls. Her very bouffant skirt extended into a full cathedral train and her fingertip length veil of illusion fell from a Juliet cap of the lace trimmed with seedpearls. Her bouquet was of gardenias and stephanotis tied with white satin streamers.

Mrs. Jackie Phalen Secklin was Dixie's matron of honor. She wore a waltz length nylon tulle strapless gown of orchid over matching taffeta. The skirt had three tiers of the tulle which fell into diamond points at the center of the front and back of the skirt. She wore a matching stole and carried a bouquet of deep pink rosebuds with matching buds in her hair.

The bridesmaids were Janet Schneider, Janice Bennett and Karen Kimberly. They wore gowns fashioned identically to that of the matron of honor but in a deeper shade of orchid. They carried pink rosebuds and matching flowers in their hair.

Sandra and Vicki Bennett, the little flower girls, wore miniature replicas of the other attendants' dresses in pink tulle over taffeta. They carried pink tea roses and wore matching bands of the buds in their hair.

Fred Mutersbach of Belleville was George's best man and seating the guests were Lawrence Lanphear, Jr., brother of the bride, and Ford Kolb, brother of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Lanphear selected, for her daughter's wedding, a suit of champagne linen with matching gloves and velvet accessories.

She wore an orchid corsage. Mrs. Kolb wore an orchid with her periwinkle blue dress with which she wore dusty rose accessories.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church dining room for about 200 guests after which Dixie and George left on a honeymoon to Chicago, Illinois. For traveling the new Mrs. Kolb wore a brilliant rust shantung suit with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Dixie graduated from Plymouth High school and attended Michigan State Normal college. George was graduated from Fordson High school and Lawrence Institute of Technology. After returning from their wedding trip the young couple will go to their new home on Grantland avenue.

New Books at Dunning Library Offer Children - Adult Selections

Both children and adults will find a lot of new books at the Dunning Branch of the Wayne County library this week. The new shipment arrived Tuesday, and contains a large assortment of juvenile books, several novels, and many books for adults of the non-fiction variety.

Some of the juvenile books found in the collection are: "The Real Book about Indians" by Michael Gorham, "A Child's Book of Insects" by Barlowe, "Candle in the Sky" by Elizabeth Bleeker Meigs, Emil Liers' "An Otter's Story," "Funny Fixes of the Floggle Family" by Gertrude Crampton, "Second Season Jinx" by Burgess Leon-

He was a great boating enthusiast, so that the Marslands even spent their honeymoon on a small craft. On the third day the boat capsized, and she was left with the mate's job to just stand by.

"One of Us Is Wrong" is another autobiographical selection, this time by newspaperman Henry McEmore. It is a "zany, belly laughing book of incredible adventures of a newspaperman's newspaperman."

Paul Hackett's "The Cardboard Giants" is an inspiring story of how psychiatry and religion worked together to return a man to mental health.

The first annual Elks Club Golf Tournament was held at the Country club last Saturday. Chairman of the event stated that it was very successful.

James Davis won the hole-in-one contest being within six inches of the cup, and Tom Lock, 762 Blunk, hit the longest ball to win the driving contest. Detergents Dangerous

Although conservationists interested in pollution control have become alarmed over the ever increasing possibility of radioactive pollution, here is something closer to home.

There is increasing evidence that the ordinary dishpan type of detergent may be a first-order poison to aquatic life once the residue drains into a stream. This opinion was presented by Robert H. Paul, sanitary engineer for the California State Department of Fish and Game.

Also, ordinary sewage treatment processes apparently have little effect on detergents. Amounts as small as 10 to 20 parts per million of water can kill fishlife.

H. R. Wallrath, General Electric pollution expert, says, however, that the oil pollution neutralizes the detergent and the detergent does the same to the oil.

Conservationists To Save Tornado Damaged Timber

Timber blown down on 1,000 of more acres in Porcupine Mountains state park near Ontonagon during a tornado last month will be salvaged as a result of recent conservation commission action.

The commission decided at its August Higgins Lake meeting to salvage the $150,000-$200,000 worth of timber left flattened and shredded by the terrific windstorm.

The damaged area, estimated at 8-10 million board feet of virgin timber, is located in the rugged south-central portion of the big wilderness park; salvage operations will be complicated by a lack of good roads and by the rugged character of the terrain.

A thorough aerial-survey of the damaged area will get under way this week to determine accurately the extent of the damaged area.

Service Station Opened August 1 By New Owners

Effective August 1, the Livonia Shell Service Station at 33234 Schoolcraft road was opened under new management.

Two Local Couples Celebrate 50th Anniversaries

TWO HAPPY PEOPLE. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott, reminisce about their 50 years of married life. The Scotts, who were married in Chicago, Illinois, celebrated their 50th anniversary on August 15. They have lived at 40950 East Ann Arbor trail since 1940. Their daughter, Mrs. Ruth Burton, 11808 Haggerty highway, was hostess at a party celebrating her parents' anniversary. Mrs. Scott is 68 and Mr. Scott is 73 years old. He is a member of the Township Board of Review, both are members of the Methodist church, and Mrs. Scott is a member of the Eastern Star lodge.

LOOKING OVER THEIR MARRIAGE license, now 50 years old, are Mr. and Mrs. William O. Sinn of 634 South Harvey. The Sinns celebrated their golden anniversary on August 19. They have lived in Plymouth for 8 years. ## Duck Season 55 Days Long Again This Year

Duck and goose regulations for this fall, just announced by the federal migratory bird authority, give Michigan hunters the same 55-day season as was authorized last year, the conservation department reports.

By commission action taken earlier, this means hunting for ducks, geese, coot, rails and gallinules will be open in Michigan from October 1 to November 24, inclusive.

The same bag limits on all those species also were authorized; five daily and five in possession for geese, four daily, eight in possession for ducks, 10 and 10 for coot, 25 and 25 for sora rails and 15 and 15 on other rails and gallinules.

But hunting hours, this year have been liberalized, so that all migratory species except snipe and woodcock are now legal game during the season between one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. Last year, hunting ended one hour before sunset.

A long-awaited snipe season also was authorized, but season dates for the 15 days allowed cannot be announced until opinions of conservation commission members are polled. This is the first snipe season authorized for Michigan since 1940.

Also, a 40-day woodcock season was authorized this year and the conservation commission has fitted this hunting into the frame work of the grouse seasons. Woodcock will be legal game October 1-November 9 in the northern lower peninsula and October 20-November 19 in the southern lower peninsula.

The controversial one-half mile clause has been removed from the baiting regulations. Essentially, all other provisions remain as in past years.

Another combination that helps to fill up the newspapers these days is a nut at the steering wheel, a peach at his side and a sharp turn in the road.

Coach, running up to injured player—Migosh, man! Are you double-jointed?

Player—No.
Coach—Well, then, you have a broken leg.

Lewis's Woodpecker Is Foot-Long Bird That Looks Like Black Crow

A Western crow is about 1 1/2 feet long. The Lewis's woodpecker is only about two thirds that length or just under a foot. The general appearance of the woodpecker may superficially remind one of a crow because at a distance it looks black. The flight however is not the slow, leisurely maneuver of the crow but a more businesslike behavior typical of the woodpeckers. Like the red-headed woodpecker, the Lewis's Woodpecker frequently captures insects in flight. Like all woodpeckers it usually ends its flight by an abrupt upward swing that brings it in position to come to rest on a vertical tree trunk, fence post or similar support.

A gray collar breaks the otherwise glossy greenish upper parts of this woodpecker. The face is a dull crimson and the chest gray. The gray of the chest however changes to a rose towards the belly. No other woodpecker could be easily confused with it. In the young birds the red of the head is replaced by black or dusky and the distinctive collar is obscure or missing. The sexes in the adult stage are colored alike. Unlike some of its relatives this woodpecker is usually phenomenally quiet but in breeding season and occasionally in migration it has a harsh churring call that sounds woodpeckerish.

The nest of the Lewis's woodpecker as one might expect is in a hole in a dead tree. It may be from 6 to 100 feet above the ground. In it, 6 or 7 dull white eggs are laid.

The food of the Lewis's woodpecker is varied with the seasons. In summer the most important food is insects such as grasshoppers. In fact, where grasshoppers are abundant they make up practically the whole diet. In the summer season, however, in addition to crickets and grasshoppers, there may be ants, flies, spiders and similar small animals. There may also be raspberries, strawberries, juniper berries, service berries and salmon berries, though these do not constitute a major portion of the food.

In some orchards the food may be such injurious insects as codling moths with the bird picking open the fruits that are being attacked by the codling worms within.

In fall and winter the diet shifts more wholly to plant foods. Acorns assume a prominent part and woodbine berries may be important. At this time of the year the woodpeckers may appear in flocks which at a distance may add to the impression that crows are being seen. At such times the otherwise relatively quiet birds may keep up an incessant chattering which could not be expected from a flock of crows.

Some of our western woodpeckers make a regular practice of storing acorns in holes in the trunks of trees. There is at least one report of a Lewis's woodpecker doing this but it is not a commonly observed characteristic judging from the literature. During migration the birds may circle in good-sized flocks. British Columbia to the Black Hills and south to California and Kansas roughly marks the breeding territory. Winters are spent from western Texas to Lower California and south into Mexico.

Reformers are folks who think the world is going to the dogs, which is probably why they spend so much time and energy growling.

Learn Facts About Collecting Social Security

Correct information about social security may mean payments to you some day. Harry Baltuck, manager of the Detroit-Northwest Social Security office stated today. Persons who learn the basic facts about social security are protecting their future. The following questions about the social security program are among those most frequently asked.

Question: What is Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance?

Answer: This is a family plan provided by the social security law and operated by the United States Government. Workers and self-employed persons contribute during their working years to provide income for themselves and their families when their usual earnings from work is cut off by old age and death.

Question: What kinds of insurance payments are made under Old-Age and Survivors Insurance?

Answer: There are three kinds of payments.

(a) Monthly retirement payments to retired persons age 65 or over.

(b) Monthly survivors payments to the families of insured persons who die.

(c) Lump-sum payments to an insured worker's widow, widower, or to the person who paid the worker's burial expenses.

Question: Does a person have to be in need before he can receive payments?

Answer: No. This is an insurance program. Benefits are paid to the retired worker without regard to his financial resources, such as savings, property, or other insurance.

Question: Can a person receive monthly insurance payments if he has income from any sources besides earnings from work?

Answer: Yes. A person may receive monthly payments even though he has income from capital investment, annuities, rentals from real estate, dividends, from stocks, interest on bonds, or pensions.

Question: Are benefits paid automatically upon becoming age 65 or upon death?

Answer: No. A claim must be filed before any insurance payments are made. The place to make claims under old-age and survivors insurance is the social security office. The Detroit-Northwest office is located at 14600 Grand River, Detroit 27, Michigan.

This office may be contacted for answers to other social security questions. The telephone number is Broadway 3-1717.

Cavalcade Wins Men's Softball Title; Plays Ecorse Here Tonight at Eight

The Cavalcade Inn softball team, which had played so-so ball during the regular season, but who were sensational during the playoffs, won the Men's Softball post-season games without suffering a loss, and the right to represent Plymouth in further state tourney play.

Monday night they drubbed Detroit Transmission 12 to 0 to end the playoffs. Joe Thibadeau hurled another brilliant shutout, and was backed by air-tight support in the field, and some robust clouting, something which had been lacking in earlier games this season. Joe allowed two hits and 12 men went down swinging at his blazing fast ball; he walked 5 and hit one batsman, and was at his best when men were on base. His teammates blasted Herb Somers and Whitey Cutsinger for 11 safeties including a double and three triples. Somers was wild as he walked seven men and hit one. He pitched all but two-thirds of the fourth inning when Cutsinger exchanged places with him, but was blasted for four hits, two of them triples.

Cavalcade scored in every inning but the sixth as they powdered the ball to all sectors. The big inning was the fourth when five runs crossed the plate on a walk, three singles and two triples; the two three-baggers were delivered by Thibadeau and Beutel, while the singles were delivered by Cole, Asher and Legert.

Bill Beutel led the attack with two triples and a single to drive in four runs. Bob Wagenshutz and Asher each had two binges, the latter's double driving in the first run of the game. Detroit Transmission did not get a hit off Thibadeau until Herb Somers singled in the sixth, Carter got the other in the last inning. The star Cavalcade hurler was at his best in the clutches as he got the last two men in the first inning to pop up and strike out with the bases loaded. Again in the fifth the bases were jammed, but again Thibadeau came up with a strikeout. He struck out the side in the fifth and last innings.

Cavalcade had finished third in the regular season race losing all three games to Olds and Detroit Transmission to account for their six losses for the season; they won 11 games.

During the playoffs Thibadeau allowed four hits and no runs in 20 innings of pitching—Doolan was touched for the two runs scored in the first inning of the first game.

In a game beginning at 8 p.m. tonight Cavalcade plays Ecorse here in the first round of the state district Class B tourney. Tomorrow night they play at Ecorse, and a third game, if necessary, will be played here Sunday at 2 p.m. The winner of this series will enter the state finals at Allen Park next week.

December 1 Set For Michigan Any Deer Season

Michigan's special any deer season is slated from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Tuesday, December 1 this fall, with hunting restricted to the area in the lower peninsula north of the east-west route M-55, the conservation department announces.

Also, the conservation commission, meeting in its August session at Higgins Lake training school recently, authorized the regular statewide November 15-30 firearm season on legal bucks, the October 1-November 5 statewide archery season and the special Allegan county season.

No opposition to further special seasons developed at the meeting, though several persons discussed last year's kill and made minor recommendations for the coming year.

A battery of game experts took nearly an hour during the meeting to present a wealth of material gleaned from the 1952 deer seasons. The information served as a guide in plans for the scheduled seasons this fall.

Commissioners heard detailed summaries of the firearm, special, archery and Allegan county seasons during the lengthy presentation. Totals for the state showed that nearly half a million hunters took about 165,000 deer from Michigan's wilds last fall.

Enough were taken in most areas between routes M-20 and M-55 last year so that a special season there was thought unnecessary this fall. Winter deer food growths, long overgrazed, have even shown signs of recovery in some of the areas.

But north of M-55, game men want a further reduction of the lower peninsula herd, saying its size there is still out of proportion with available winter food supplies.

They say the one-day season-barring bad hunting weather—should do the job for this year.

The commission also passed a ruling that will stop the sale of deer hunting licenses at 7 p.m. November 30; the rule is designed to lessen law violations, but is contingent upon the attorney general's opinion of its legality.

Virginia Bartel and Marie Norman attended a meeting of the Wayne Auxiliary, Harris-Kehrer Post No. 3323. They were asked to participate in a trip to Ladies Day, a popular day-time TV program, featuring Chuck Bergeson. A group was gathered together on very short notice. Those who went from our auxiliary were Jackie Folsom, Noreen Zimmer, Delores Olsaver, Betty Krumm, Fran Beeley, Ida Nairn, Norma Phillips, Virginia Bartel and Marie Norman.

First on the program was a stunt, which was done by Betty Krumm and Delores Olsaver, wearing oversized coveralls. Norma Phillips and Virginia Bartel modelled fur coats for a Detroit firm. Ida Nairn also took part in the stunt department. A unanimously good time was had by all.

The Eaton Rapids trip is still going to be made. Further details will be discussed at the next meeting. There has been a delay. Virginia Bartel, in charge reports that in all probability, September will be the month in which the trip will be made. It is hoped that Post members will cooperate in this effort.

The annual post and Auxiliary pot luck picnic will be held Sunday, August 30, at the Gust's cottage at Middle Straits lake. This will be an enjoyable outing as past get-togethers have proven. Get your directions to the cottage at your next meeting, or phone another member who went to the outing last year.

Local Police Adopt Firmer Policy of Speed Enforcement

Chief Carl Greenlee today announced that the Police Department of Plymouth has adopted a firmer policy of enforcing the speed laws. This action is being taken at the official request of the Michigan Press Association for firmer enforcement to combat the rising traffic toll in Michigan.

A special committee of Michigan newspapermen comprising some 20 daily and weekly newspaper publishers are serving as a Michigan State Safety Commission for the Michigan Press Association to bring about stricter law enforcement throughout Michigan. Plymouth Mail publisher Sterling Eaton is a member of the Commission.

"The 1953 first five months increases in Michigan are terrifying," the Chief said, pointing to accidents increasing 12 per cent, injuries up 21 per cent and deaths up 13 per cent, according to State Police records.

"To battle this traffic disaster the department will apply a carefully thought-out 3-pronged attack," the Chief continued. "I have instructed our officers to increase their vigilance for speeders. Motorists exceeding the speed limit may be expected to be stopped by a police officer, even if they are only going five miles over the speed limit," he added.

"Five miles over the speed limit may not seem like much," the Chief pointed out, "but such illegal practice far too often launches a career of traffic violations which leads to more and more severe violations." "As a matter of fact," the Chief stated, "a motorist should appreciate being stopped for going five miles over the speed limit, if this serves as a forceful reminder and prevents a more serious violation later which might cause a serious accident—perhaps to the same motorist."

"The second prong of the department's attack to save lives will be the policy of charging more motorists with the more serious charge of 'reckless driving' instead of 'speeding' in cases where the speeder endangered the lives of other people or property while committing the violation," the Chief explained. "This will result in a higher fine and a more serious black mark against the driver's license," he added.

"The third part of the department's plan to cut accidents calls for the more intensive investigation of traffic accidents and the placing of charges against one or both drivers for any violations which were committed that caused the accident or contributed to it," the Chief continued.

"Police officers stop motorists for violations at a time when there is no accident in order to prevent a repetition of the violations at a later date when sooner or later they are certain to cause an accident," the Chief explained. "The justification for charging a motorist for a violation at a time when it actually caused or contributed to an accident is far greater," the Chief added.

In conclusion Chief Greenlee called upon all law abiding citizens of the area to give their full support to the traffic accident prevention activities of their police department. "I am sure," the Chief said, "that the great majority of our motorists who obey the traffic laws will be heartily in favor of this plan to crack down on the relatively small per cent of motorists who are the violators who are causing the accidents."

Shade Is Needed In Poultry Yard

Poultry specialists remind that poultry feeders, as well as the chickens themselves, should be in a shady spot during hot weather to keep birds eating and gaining. Young chickens, they point out, will go without feed rather than go to feeders left in the sun.

They say that good weather-proof feeders will encourage the chickens to eat the right kind of ration and prevent contamination of feed.

A plentiful supply of fresh clean water at this time of year may also be even more important than shade for feeders, the specialists say. But the water should be in the shade, too.

First Federal Completes Negotiations on Hannan-Hough Buildings Purchase

THE OLD GAYDE BLOCK as it was at the turn of the century was painted by E. J. Cutler for Perry Richwine. Richwine and his mother described the building for Cutler who reproduced it very much as it must have looked then. Some changes have taken place through the

Just last week final negotiations were completed on the sale of the Hannan and Hough buildings to the First Federal Savings and Loan association, announced Perry Richwine. These buildings on the northeast corner of Main and Penniman will be razed for the construction of the new offices of the association, but Richwine said the operation would not take place until approximately 1955.

When the buildings are torn down, two more landmarks of old Plymouth will disappear from the local scene. Old timers will probably remember the block with nostalgia, but new modern buildings must always replace the old relics in a progressive community.

For Perry Richwine himself the buildings have fond memories. His father, George Richwine, moved into the building in 1903, and ran a harness shop in the Hough building, the wooden structure. The Richwines lived in the upstairs apartment over the Hannan building. Mrs. Richwine recalls that the apartment had four bedrooms, a sitting room, a dining room, a parlor and a kitchen. The whole thing was heated with base burner heat. And Mrs. Richwine said, "all this for $8 per week."

People did not have bathrooms in those days, Richwine said, but they were lucky enough to have the use of the one connected to the barber shop, which was where Homer Jewell's barber shop is today. Every Saturday between 25 and 30 persons would come to the room to buy a bath. What is now known as the Hannan building was called the Gayde block originally. The red brick building was built by Peter Gayde on the land he purchased on March 10, 1881. Gayde built the building with the intention of providing a grocery store and a butcher shop for his sons. The upper portion was for living quarters. However, the Gayde brothers were not in accord with the idea, for they did not want to move up to that end of town from Lower Town where they had always lived. So Peter Gayde was forced to rent out the building to persons who were interested.

The building was later purchased by Charlie Fisher in the 1920's and passed to his sister Mrs. Minnie Hannan by inheritance. It thus became known as the Hannan building.

As for the Hough building, it was originally built by Adelbert Potter around 1883. Potter had a harness shop in the building which was later sold to George Richwine. The other half of the building was used as the phone company, first called the Wayne County Telephone company, then the Home Telephone company. It was later bought out by the Bell Telephone company. The phone company at first was operated by a Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bell, who lived over the shop. Edward C. Hough recalls that the building burned around 1886 and that another was built in its place in 1888. He purchased the building in 1902.

George Richwine had his harness shop there until 1922. From 1920 to 1922 he ran the treasurer's office. Perry Richwine recalls that the road was a dirt one until 1907 when the city approved the street brick project, giving Plymouth improved streets.

In its long history businesses have come and gone repeatedly in the buildings. One thing that has remained fairly constant is the corner barber shop. Homer Jewell, who now operates the shop, has been there since 1921. Previous to that time Harry Terry owned the shop, and before that George VanDeCar. Mr. Jewell said that hair has been cut in that part of the building since 1901. Around 1893, however, Jewell said that John R. Rauch ran a general store there.

Old residents will all remember Henry Murray's ice cream and candy store, which was situated where Ken and Ork's is now. Charlie Hubbell had a drug store in the building in the first part of the century. Real estate dealers operated in the Hannan building too, Ed Plaeta, Roy Fisher and Stark Realty being some of them. Parrott's insurance was in the building too.

Though the upper floor of the Hannan building was primarily used as a residence, it later housed Lyman Ball's photographic studio. At present the upper part is unused, the building being so old.

Even back in those days, however, the corner of Main and Penniman was considered one of the best corners in Plymouth. The streetcar went right around the corner, and the park was right across the way. There was a bandstand with a canopy over it on the corner, and Plymouth's fire equipment was kept under the bandstand.

For Perry Richwine, the purchase of the buildings by First Federal, completes a cycle. He lived in the building as a child, had his wedding pictures taken on the upper floor, and in the future will see his offices moved to the site.

The long and varied history of these buildings is part of Plymouth itself. People will forget some day that they ever stood, but in their place will be a new office building, testifying to a Plymouth of progress.

Michigan Ranks Third In Fur Animal Trapping

Michigan ranked third nationally in 1950-51 in the total number of fur-bearing animals taken by trappers and hunters, the conservation department notes.

According to a U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service bulletin, Louisiana topped all the states with a take of 1.3 million pelts. Minnesota was second with 1.25 million and Michigan third with 929,000.

In general, this is the way Michigan has ranked among other states in recent years.

CHURCHES OF OUR AREA . . . . . Salvation Army

NEAT AND INVITING is the Salvation Army Citadel on Fairground avenue which was constructed almost single-handed by Captain William Roberts and his father. The building will seat 150 persons. At right, Captain Ira Bush makes much use of the telephone to conduct the many services performed by the corps. Arrangements must be made to take care of needy persons and transients. He also leads the corps through a busy religious program each week.

Salvation Army Nears 25 Years of Service in City

Devoted first to the spiritual life and secondly to their vast social services are soldiers of the Plymouth Salvation Army Corps, who next year will celebrate their 25th year in the city.

Renowned the world over for offering their helping hand to those in distress, the Salvation Army places this work second to their religious program, it is stressed by Captain Ira A. Bush, young leader of the local corps.

With 16,000 corps in 89 countries, plus 1,700 social institutions, the Salvation Army has spread around the world in a comparatively few number of years. It was in 1865 when a young, newly-ordained minister of the Methodist church in England named William Booth rebelled when he found that he was to be placed in an ordinary parish. He wanted to move about doing evangelistic work.

Leaving the Methodist church, Booth organized what was known as the Christian Mission. His work flourished and in 1878 the group became chartered as the Salvation Army. Two years later the new denomination crossed the Atlantic to America.

The Salvation Army reached Plymouth with the beginning of the depression. Captain Frank Wright, the first leader of the Plymouth corps, held services in a room above the present Ken and Ork Hamburger establishment on South Main street. Some time later, the corps moved to a building at 281 Union street, now occupied by the Jehovah's Witnesses church.

The Plymouth corps finally moved into their permanent home on Fairgrounds street on March 23, 1952. The neat and efficient structure was built at a cost of $23,000 with most of the labor being performed by Captain William Roberts and his father, Captain Roberts was recently transferred into Detroit.

"Like a mighty army, moves the Church of God . . ." so moves the Salvation Army. From top to bottom, the Salvation Army is organized much like any army. It is headed by General Albert Orsborn with the international offices located in England. Local corps are headed by captains with members of the "soldiership" being divided into senior soldiers and junior soldiers. The Plymouth corps has 52 senior soldiers and 35 junior soldiers, the latter group composed of children under 15 years old. There is also a Sunday school with an enrollment of 100 members.

Every soldier must sign the "Articles of War" which, in the words of Captain Bush, is a declaration of war against sin. To carry on this war, a soldier's week with the corps can be a busy one.

Here is the week's agenda in Plymouth. Sunday: Sunday school, church, young peoples' meeting, downtown open air meeting, evening meeting. Tuesday: Girls' Songster Brigade, meeting at Detroit House of Correction. Wednesday: Corps Cadet Bible Class, weekly Sunday school teachers preparation class, midweek meeting. Thursday: Ladies Home League, Girls' Sunbeam Brigade (compares to Campfire Girls). Saturday: Outdoor meeting in Northville. A meeting is also held for women inmates at the House of Correction once a month.

The Salvation Army's religious program is guided by the "Eleven Cardinal Doctrines" which are much like any Protestant denomination. Since the Army's founder was originally a Methodist, the doctrines are "Wesleyan in character," Captain Bush explains.

As for the Salvation Army's social services, the Plymouth corps only last week helped feed weary firemen during the all-night Detroit Transmission company fire. The helping hand is always extended to the transients, the poor and the distressed.

Captain and Mrs. Bush and their two children have been in Plymouth only since June, coming here from Adrian. Their home is at 1145 Palmer.

Medical Technology Offered By Madonna

TWO MAJORS in Medical Technology at Madonna college demonstrate a few experiments which they perform in their two-semester course in physiological chemistry. Left, Bozene Treter of Long Island, New York, is drawing a solution from a reagent reservoir to be used in a chemical analysis. Joan Kozlowski, of Detroit, is determining the pH of blood and serum specimens with a Beckman meter model M. Both have completed their sophomore year at the college.

Vacation School At Baptist Church Gives Program

The program of the daily Vacation Bible school of Calvary Baptist church was presented Sunday night, August 9, in the church auditorium to an audience of 275.

Earl Gilmore, who was in charge of the service, presented a most interesting and inspirational program. The work of the week was presented by pupils of the different age groups, after which a short Bible story was presented by Reverend Gilmore using beautiful oil-painted pictures as a visual aid.

At the close of the program rewards and diplomas were presented.

The school had an enrollment of 241 for the week, with the highest one-day attendance of 214. A staff of 11 teachers and 10 teenage helpers taught classes. The director, Reverend Gilmore, was assisted by the pastor, Reverend Patrick J. Clifford.

The interest and cooperation of parents and friends made the school the best to be held in Calvary Baptist church.

Most people get in debt because they think "wants" is synonymous with "needs."

Love is blind, but there is always some fellow who thinks he is an eye-doctor.

More than one young man has discovered that when he started out to "bring home the bacon" that it was an easy matter to get the wrong sow by the ear.

Medical technology is a fast-growing profession that is doing untold good to suffering humanity. This is one of the courses being taught at Madonna college.

The college grants a Bachelor of Science degree to students who complete the four-year program in Medical Technology.

The first three years are spent in the college. Students pursue the required chemistry and biology courses in addition to the general liberal arts courses.

Chemistry requirements for medical technologists include general chemistry, qualitative analysis, organic chemistry and biochemistry. A specified number of courses must also be taken in biology from among the following: general biology, comparative anatomy, bacteriology, histology, genetics, embryology, parasitology and human physiology.

Students acquire valuable experience in the biology and chemistry laboratories at the college. Both laboratories are well-equipped with modern apparatus.

The student's fourth year is spent interning at an approved hospital laboratory. Upon satisfactory completion of this year the student graduates from Madonna college with a B.S. degree.

The main task of a medical technologist is to be the pathologist's fact-finder. Some of her general duties in a hospital laboratory include chemical and bacteriological tests and analyses of blood, skin, sputum, as well as making serologic and cardiographic examinations, and preparing sections of tissues for microscopic studies.

Registration for the fall term at Madonna college will be held September 14. For more information write to the Registrar, Madonna College, 36800 Schoolcraft, Livonia, or call Plymouth 528.

Reverend Jones Named Minister Of Church of God

The Church of God, Newburg and Plymouth roads, is welcoming Reverend E. B. Jones from Elwood City, Pennsylvania who, with Mrs. Jones and their three children, will serve the local church as their new pastor.

Reverend Jones pastored in Elwood City for five and one-half years. Under his leadership there a complete new church edifice was erected at an estimated value of over $100,000.

Not only was Reverend Jones active in his own church, which was nearly doubled in attendance during his stay there, but served the state of Pennsylvania Church of God work in many ways. He was president of the Anderson College Alumni association for three years, youth camp counselor for five years and chairman of the State Evangelistic Committee.

Reverend Jones graduated from the Church of God college, Anderson, Indiana in 1945, having received his B. Th. degree. While attending college he was listed in "Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities."

Mrs. Jones also attended Anderson college. She has taught Bible in five public schools in Pennsylvania. She served as editor-in-chief of the state missionary paper "Hy Lites". She was youth counselor for three years and also church pianist and organist.

Reverend Jones, and his family, will reside in the newly purchased church parsonage at 292 Arthur street.

The Lutheran church is known as "The Church of the Open Bible". We believe in teaching the whole counsel of God unto Salvation through Christ the Crucified and Risen Savior. Whatever is Biblical we teach; but we do not attempt to go beyond that which is plainly taught. There is no attempt to reconcile each teaching of the Bible to logic and human reason; just as little as life can be forced into logical and reasonable patterns at all times. We believe that this age of speed and uncertainty needs the reassuring and steadying influence of the Word of God and the Christian Church; that many lives which are now shattered and impaired with frustrations and tensions could be salvaged eternally through the Holy Spirit as He works faith and hope through the Word. We extend a warm invitation to all to come and worship with us!

The Bible has much to say about Mind. The understanding of God as the real source of all intelligence is explained in the Lesson-Sermon to be read Sunday, August 23, in all Christian Science churches under the subject of "Mind." The Golden Text is from I Samuel (2:3): "The Lord is a God of knowledge, and by him actions are weighed." Among the Bible citations is this passage, (Prov. 3:5,6): "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths." Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "The Scriptures imply that God is All-in-all. From this it follows that nothing possesses reality nor existence except the divine Mind and His ideas." (p. 331)

THE FISH GET BIGGER but in this case the fishermen get smaller. No prouder event was ever recorded by a camera than this one of five-year-old Ray Christensen, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Christensen of 382 Irvin street who displays his first catch of a four pound, 15 inch small mouth bass taken last week from the waters of Glen Lake where the family was vacationing. Dad says he was as thrilled as the son who registered his first catch as one bigger than anything the father had ever hauled into a boat.

Trend In Rural Population Cited

The actual number of farm people in America is decreasing although their level of living has been rising, according to Dale E. Butz of Michigan State college's department of agricultural economics.

"Our farm population has declined from 95 per cent of the population in 1790 to about 16 per cent in 1950," he said. "The actual number increased until about 1910, but has declined since then."

Butz said this indicates "quite strongly" that "neither prices, nor income, but the existence of job opportunities determines whether or not people will stay on the farm."

Agriculture has been able to produce needed food and fiber with fewer people because of improved production methods, he said. Output in man hours is now 70 per cent higher than in the 1932-39 period, he said.

"It is becoming increasingly clear that agriculture's income is very closely tied to the well-being of the rest of the economy," Butz said. "One of the big problems concerning income at the farm levels is its instability."

"Urban people should have a definite interest in rural conditions such as education, levels of living, religion, and so on, because these will influence the type of person coming into the cities," he said.

Local Gardeners Give "Green Thumb" Hints

golds, gladiolus, to name but a few. In the spring, Mrs. Dicks had crocuses and tulips adding color to her yard.

The wonders Mrs. Dicks has worked have all come within the last year for she has not yet even lived there two years. And yet her garden shows that she has spent profitable hours working there, for everything has a lush growth.

But it is the vegetables which really catch the visitor's eye. A small plot at the rear of the yard is devoted to the growth of these vegetables, while other plants such as squash and egg plant are planted in empty areas among the flowers.

In the plot Mrs. Dicks had bantam corn, which gave a good yield. This she has already pulled down. Among other vegetables are beans, carrots, cucumbers, tomatoes, asparagus, beets, butternut squash, and more. She also has strawberry plants from which she got lovely berries.

Her ground is all clay, she said, which makes it hard to work. However, when things get started in the clay soil, she added, they really go to town.

She had black dirt brought in to put over the clay to enable planting. Then seeing she was unable to devote a lot of time to her garden this summer she had peat put all around her plants. This saved the necessity of having to mulch and also kept the weeds down, she said.

That work in the garden pays off good dividends is evident from the good yield of vegetables Mrs. Dicks has received. It's certainly a hobby that's worthwhile, she added.

What you can do with a small plot of ground for growing vegetables is shown by Mrs. Clara Dicks of 357 Sunset. Mrs. Dicks not only grows enough for herself, but even gives away a lot to her neighbors.

The vegetables however, are tucked away at the back of the yard, while the borders of the yard are filled with lovely flowers. In fact Mrs. Dicks said she has flowers blooming in her garden from early spring straight through the fall. There are petunias, zinnas, roses, mari-

Lawrence Larsens Spend Honeymoon At Appleton Lake

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Larsen

In a ceremony at twelve o'clock noon on Sunday, July 26, Miss Grace Schraufnagel became the bride of Lawrence F. Larsen, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence F. Larsen, Sr., of Ann street. Grace is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schraufnagel of Cherry Hill road.

The Reverend F. R. French officiated at the ceremony in the Assembly of God church in Belleville. Mrs. French sang "I Love You Truly" and was accompanied by the organist, Lois Fulton.

Grace chose a white nylon over taffeta gown. The tucked bodice had a pointed collar and short deep cuffed sleeves. She wore a hat of white flowers with a face veil and her corsage was of pink rosebuds.

Betty Cuiver was Grace's only attendant. She wore a blue nylon floor length gown with white accessories and her corsage was of white rosebuds.

Lawrence asked Thomas Larsen, his brother, to assist him as best man.

Mrs. Schraufnagel, mother of the bride, wore a white nylon dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was of yellow rosebuds. Mrs. Larsen chose pink with matching accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

In the afternoon a reception was held in the home of the bridegroom's parents after which the young couple left for a honeymoon at Appleton lake near Brighton. They are now at home at 555 Starkweather avenue.

Dior Casts Bomb In Fashion World With Short Skirts

Shades of the 1920's! Famed Paris designer, Christian Dior, has announced that the new skirt length will be 16 to 17 inches from the floor.

Dior, who gained fame when he introduced the longer "New Look" in skirts, has christened his latest design the "Live Line."

The short skirts will extend just below the knee.

He has decreed a whole new cut, along with the additional cheesecake—more bosom, different waistline, and new skirt draping.

This will make last year's wardrobe obsolete, providing the "Live Line" revolutionizes the fashion world as did the "New Look" in 1947.

Dior's move looked like a deliberate test of strength in the middle of a quiet season, for other showings so far had unveiled few changes in the 12 to 13 inches length from the floor or in the general line.

Bosoms, in the new silhouette, were exaggerated and two kinds of skirts prevailed, tight sheaths and inflated bells. The former he calls "Eiffel Tower" and the latter is the "Cupola". Dior has most waistlines loosely draped between the bottom of the bust and the top of the hip.

However, for contrast, he whipped up some cocktail dresses which sported hourglass waistlines and skirts rounded like a ball. Again though, the emphasis was on the bosom.

In any event, men, whether or not the "Live Line" catches on, you'd better be prepared to open your wallets for the annual new fall outfit for the Mrs.

Fruit and Vegetable Juices

It is only within the last few years that the public was being educated in regard to the value of fruit and vegetable juices and is learning something about the minerals and vitamins which they contain. Tomato Juice has now come into general use. It is delicious and agrees with invalids and even infants if properly prepared.

Not many fruits or vegetables are very palatable when picked green, and then allowed to ripen. They lose much of their flavor, as well as their vitamin contents. It is therefore of the utmost importance in putting up tomato juice to obtain only field ripened fruit at the proper stages.

The canning of juices is now an immense industry in this country, and millions of dollars have gone into machinery and equipment. A great deal of time and money have also been spent in study and experiments in order that the highest possible vitamin and mineral contents might be obtained and preserved in the canned juices.

Even the soil and fertilizers have a great deal to do with the quality of the fruit and vegetables.

In one of the universities, it was discovered that the pulp contained in the tomato juice was more important in furnishing vitamin A than the filtered clear yellow liquid free from red tomato pulp. Pulp must be present to give it the red color, flavor and vitamin A.

Tomato juice that is pasteurized, and not boiled, naturally contains a higher percentage of vitamins than that which is boiled or subjected to higher temperatures.

Tomato juice has an acid taste but it belongs to the class of fruits and vegetables that exert an alkalizing effect on the body. This is due to certain salts of alkaline metals, calcium, magnesium, sodium and potassium. "Organic acids combined with the alkaline minerals and free acids, such as citric, and acetic acids, are burned in the body to carbon dioxide and water, the carbon being eliminated in respiration. This leaves the alkaline metals available for combining with acid or acid reacting substances present in the blood or body fluids.

Foods that are rich in proteins, as meat and eggs, when oxidized in the body, produce as end products, such acids as uric, sulfuric and phosphoric, which are naturalized by the end product of other foods. As an alkalinizer of the body tomato juice is very useful and well tolerated by most people. Oranges and tomatoes both contain citric acid and are a valuable source of vitamin C.

Predict College Enrollments Will Swell By 1970

It is expected that enrollments in Michigan's colleges and universities will more than double during the next 17 years.

The prediction was made by the Michigan Council of State College Presidents, which is headed by Dr. Grover C. Dillman, president of Michigan College of Mining and Technology.

This will come as a result of a tremendous increase in the number of Michigan births, Dr. Dillman said, and a steady rise in the percentage of the college-age population who attend college.

He estimated that the students populations at state institutions will rise from 69,610 in 1952 to 159,208 in 1970. Thus the greatest share of this new enrollment will have to be assumed by the publicly-supported colleges.

In order to do a satisfactory job in training these students, Dr. Dillman points out that the state college must depend on the Michigan Legislature to supply them with substantially larger annual appropriations, both for operation and buildings.

Michigan's public colleges will need:

1. Increased funds for operations, climbing from 36.5 million in 1952 to 48 million in 1960 and 82 million in 1970.

2. Ten million dollars' worth of new classroom and laboratory buildings constructed every year, now through 1970.

These figures are in terms of 1952 dollars.

Hints for Plymouth Homemakers

Gelatine Makes Foods Dramatic

Unflavored gelatine has the magic of making other foods, as well as the very art of cooking, more dramatic.

The fine grains of gelatine in neat envelope measure possess the property of jelling liquid at refrigerator temperature. Thus this staple ingredient starts a distinct branch of food preparation. By gel-cookery one can obtain the simplest of desserts and salads or the most elaborate of food creations. This gelatine can be introduced early to babies, can make rich and festive desserts and main dishes for the gourmet of able digestion and can still be as spicy or bland as the senior citizen desires.

There are three simple and basic rules for using unflavored gelatine. First, soften in cold liquid. Second, dissolve thoroughly in a hot liquid or over hot water. Third, season or flavor, and if desired, add solid ingredients such as diced fruits, vegetables, meat, etc. One envelope of unflavored gelatine will "gel" up to two cups of liquid. If sugar is used in the recipe, it is counted as part of that liquid because it goes into solution. Up to two cups of solids may be added per envelope of gelatine.

Quickie, clear gelatine desserts or salads can be enjoyed a whole lifetime and with fruit or vegetable flavor an individual prefers. These can be two-ingredient simple with just an envelope of the gelatine and two cups of fresh, frozen or canned fruit or vegetable juice.

Snow desserts are the clear basic gelatine, slightly thickened by cooling, whipped until light and foamy and with egg whites added.

Then come more elaborate chiffon and Spanish cream dishes with unflavored gelatine, milk and eggs as the basic ingredients. The final result differs from the familiar custard in that the texture is light and fluffy. For chiffon main dish loaves, mayonnaise or salad dressing may be substituted for the eggs.

Finally there are mousses, charlottes and Bavarian creams. These call for the addition of whipped cream or whipped evaporated milk to the clear basic gelatine or to a gelatine, egg and milk base. Main dish mousses may have meat stock or bouillon for the liquid. Diced chicken, tongue, ham, fish or seafood may be added to these beautiful-of-design main dishes.

Unflavored gelatine is all protein. No sugar or artificial flavoring has been added. It has long been recognized by the medical profession for its ease of digestion, low sodium content, and ability to neutralize gastric acidity. Its use is recommended on reducing diets, on low sodium, diabetic, peptic ulcer and other liquid and soft diets in order to maintain the protein intake.

Peach Gel-Salad
1 No. 2½ can cling peach halves
2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
6 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
2/3 cup sugar
1 8-ounce package cream-style cottage cheese.

Drain peaches thoroughly. Reserve syrup; add water to measure 3 cups. Soften gelatine in 1 cup of the cold liquid; heat remaining liquid. Add softened gelatine, lemon juice, lemon rind and sugar; stir until dissolved. Pour into 7 x 11½ x 2 inch glass dish. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Place 8 peach halves in gelatine, 4 on each side of dish. Gelatine mixture will cover peaches slightly. Put a scoop of cottage cheese in the center of each peach half. Chill until firm. To serve, cut gelatine into 8 squares with a filled peach half in center of each. Remove from dish with pancake turner and place on salad greens. If desired, garnish with a slice of stuffed olive. YIELD: 8 servings.

Tomato Cups Contain Tasty Frank Stuffing

Here's a tasty (and quiet thrifty) combination that's meant for brightening your summer dinner table. It's baked tomatoes stuffed with a mixture of sliced franks, tomato pulp, fine bread crumbs and chopped onion. They're slowly baked to mingle the flavors.

Baked Tomatoes—Frankfurter Stuffing
6 frankfurters, sliced ½ inch thick
1½ tablespoons lard or drippings
6 large tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ cup cooked corn
1 cup soft bread crumbs
¼ cup chopped green onions
Brown frankfurters in lard or drippings. Remove slice from tops of tomatoes and scoop out centers. Chop tomato centers and combine with remaining ingredients. Fill tomato cups with mixture. Place in a greased baking dish. Pour ¼ cup of water into bottom of baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 to 40 minutes. 6 servings.

Guard against sunstroke and heat exhaustion by avoiding over-exertion, particularly in the early part of a heat wave; avoid too much exposure to direct sunlight; increasing the use of salt; drinking plenty of water; and getting plenty of rest.

Never wash your hands with water after peeling onions. Simply rub them with coarse salt and the odor will disappear. A drop or two of vinegar is good, too. It's good, also as a mouth wash after eating onions. Try using it on your pans.

Pink Topping for Angel Cake

Versatile angel cake, so adaptable to all summer occasions, and so easily available from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department, can wear a heavenly pink topping or icing that is cool, light, and fruity as the red raspberries that give it flavor.

You will not believe that one egg white plus sugar and berries will make two quarts of fluffy pink topping. But it does. Try it and see. This is enough to completely and generously ice an eight-ounce angel cake made from a cook book recipe, with some left over to serve with additional whole berries as a raspberry whip. Strawberries, bananas or grated raw apple may be used instead of raspberries.

Pink Raspberry Topping
1 cup mashed red raspberries
1 cup granulated sugar
1 egg white, unbeaten
¼ teaspoon salt
Put all ingredients into a 3-quart mixing bowl. Beat or whip until topping does not move when bowl is slowly inverted (20 to 25 minutes by hand; 12 to 15 minutes with electric mixer). Topping is best when used within 1 to 2 hours, but may be kept as long as a day.

Know Your Pressure Cooker When Doing Summer Canning

Are you all set for the summer canning season? Lucky are you if you plan to use the pressure canning method—lucky, that is, if you use your cooker carefully and correctly.

Otherwise, you run the risk of serious trouble. A surprising number of pressure cooker accidents are reported each year. Surprising, because the manufacturers take extreme precautions to build safety into their product and furnish explicit instructions for safe usage.

Cooking under pressure is one of the easiest and best methods of canning or preserving. However, because terrific steam can be built up inside the cooker, its safety cannot be taken for granted. Accidents, when they do occur, are likely to be violent in nature. This thought should be kept in mind during each step in the cooker's operation.

The following tips are offered for accident-free pressure cooking and canning. First, it's wise to have your cooker checked each year before heavy usage starts. Your local dealer or utility company are usually best qualified agencies. How well do you remember the manufacturer's instructions for use? It is a good idea to review these instructions frequently and follow them to the letter. Just before use, inspect the petcock, safety valve, and pressure gauge openings to make sure they are not clogged by food particles.

With the correct amount of water in the cooker place fruit jars on the rack so that they do not touch the sides or each other. This allows proper steam circulation. Double check to make sure that the lid is fastened securely. If there should be any steam leakage between lid and cooker, the sealing ring should be replaced with a new one.

When cooking is started, always be sure to open the petcock and let the air and steam escape for the required length of time (usually 10 minutes.) After closing, stay on the job and keep the heat adjusted so that correct pressure is maintained.

When processing is finished, don't be in a hurry to open the cooker. Remove the cooker from heat and wait for the pressure to fall to zero before touching or opening the petcock. Then open this valve slowly and let the remaining steam escape. Do not open the cooker until flow of steam has fully stopped, then be sure to lift the lid so that the first opening is on the side away from you. This is your final precaution against a painful steam scald. Fruit jars should be lifted from the cooker with tongs, and by the neck rather than the metal cap.

Never allow your attention to wander when operating a pressure cooker. To do so may result in forgetting to observe one or more of the above safety precautions. Make sure that you live to enjoy the time and trouble saving conveniences of pressure cooking and canning.

Cooking Hints Are Suggested For Beef Cuts

Beef supplies, particularly the less expensive cuts, will be plentiful and attractively priced for consumers through August and early fall.

To help you enjoy the present beef supply, here is a review of cooking methods from some of the more popular cuts.

Club, sirloin, T-bone and porterhouse steaks: Oven-broil or pan-broil.

Chuck, round, rump and sirloin butt roasts: These are pot roasts and should be braised. To braise, brown meat well on all sides in a little hot fat. Add a small amount of liquid, cover and cook over low heat until tender.

Round, chuck, flank and sirloin tip steaks: These should be braised. Brown in a little hot fat, add a small amount of liquid and cook, covered, over low heat until tender. Add more liquid as needed. For a rich brown appearance, flour meat before browning.

A particularly nice possibility during this season are beef kabobs (on skewers) as fare for the porch, patio or backyard picnic.

Cut beef steak into 1½-inch cubes. Alternate cubes on skewers with thin slices of raw or parboiled onion, bacon, firm tomatoes, mushrooms and green peppers.

Roll the filled skewers in melted butter or margarine. Broil over an open fire or in range broiler, turning to cook evenly on all sides. Season. It takes about 18 minutes for rare, 25 minutes for well done.

For good flavor, milk should go into the refrigerator promptly after delivery, be taken out only to pour out milk for immediate use, and then put back with caps firmly in place.

YOU CAN EAT BETTER

Edison Home Service Advisor, left, shows Mrs. Desmond Walters the latest technique in wrapping foods for freezing. The Walters' 20-cubic-foot freezer is always well-stocked with good things to eat.

the year round

with an ELECTRIC farm freezer

Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Walters farm about 90 acres in St. Clair County. They are general farmers with a milking herd of 12 cows. They also keep 200 to 500 laying hens, and raise 500 broilers a year.

The Walters keep their farm freezer packed with meats, fruits and vegetables, either home-grown or purchased. Mrs. Walters says she doesn't know how they would get along without it. She finds freezing easier than canning, and loves the convenience of always having tasty food at her finger tips.

You, too, can enjoy better meals and extra convenience the year round with a farm freezer. For full information see your Edison Home Service Advisor.

Few Precautions Make Floor Installation Easy

from SMALL HOMES GUIDE

Hardwood flooring—favored by most people for its beauty and durability—is easy to install, according to Small Homes Guide, provided a few precautions are taken. Lay the floor last, after plaster, concrete and tile work have dried and woodwork and trim have been installed. Make sure the house is warm and dry. Allow for expansion along the walls.

Sub-flooring—of softwood, 25/32-inch thick—should be well seasoned, laid diagonally with two 10d nails at each joist and board end.

With concrete slab construction, an underfill of cinder or washed gravel is usually necessary. Also use a felt waterproofing membrane.

Use a moisture barrier flooring paper between subfloor and finish floor. Provide ventilation to avoid sealed-in dampness.

Plymouth Home Building Nears Saturation Point As Decline Continues

Building of new homes in Plymouth appears to be nearing the saturation point!

With seven months of 1953 already past, building permits for only 30 new dwellings have been issued in Plymouth this year, according to statistics released by

Family Handyman Questions And Answers

Question: I am going to build a cinder block summer cottage by a lake, but have been told it would be damp. I would appreciate your opinion and any ideas you could give on this subject.

Answer: You can make a cinder block cottage as dry as any other kind. Blocks are porous and once wet, moisture spreads. But this can be sealed out by coating all sides with waterproof cement. Coat the foundation with tar or roofing asphalt on both sides. Apply a complete vapor-barrier material to the underside of floor joists. Then, if the interior is to be finished, allow an air space between block wall and finish wall material. In this way you'll avoid the dampness problem.

Painting the dials for aircraft compasses calls for absolute accuracy. The slightest error could result in faulty navigation. In one aircraft factory, the job is accomplished with the aid of a special stencil which fits over the face of the dial. Paint is applied with a spray gun.

the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission. It therefore appears that perhaps only half of last year's 76 permits for homes will be issued in 1953.

The decrease in home building in Plymouth has been constant. There were 108 permits for homes granted in 1950. They decreased to 86 in 1951, then to 76 last year.

Contrasting Plymouth's diminishing home building is the Plymouth township growth which appears to be heading for a new high in building permits this year. The first six months of 1953 saw applications for 56 new homes. This is exactly twice the number granted in the city during that same period. Plymouth township allowed 58 permits for homes during all of last year, 58 in 1951 and 56 in 1952.

Neighboring Northville township and village both appear to be heading for a slight home building decline. Northville village has issued 11 permits during the first six months, the busiest time of the year of issuing permits, while 24 were issued during all of last year. Northville township has issued 16 permits in the first half of this year, exactly half that issued during 1952.

Home building in the Detroit region during the first half of 1953 ran 39.8 percent ahead of the same period of 1952, according to the Regional Planning Commission report. For every new home being built in the city of Detroit this year, about four are being built in the suburbs and rural areas of the region.

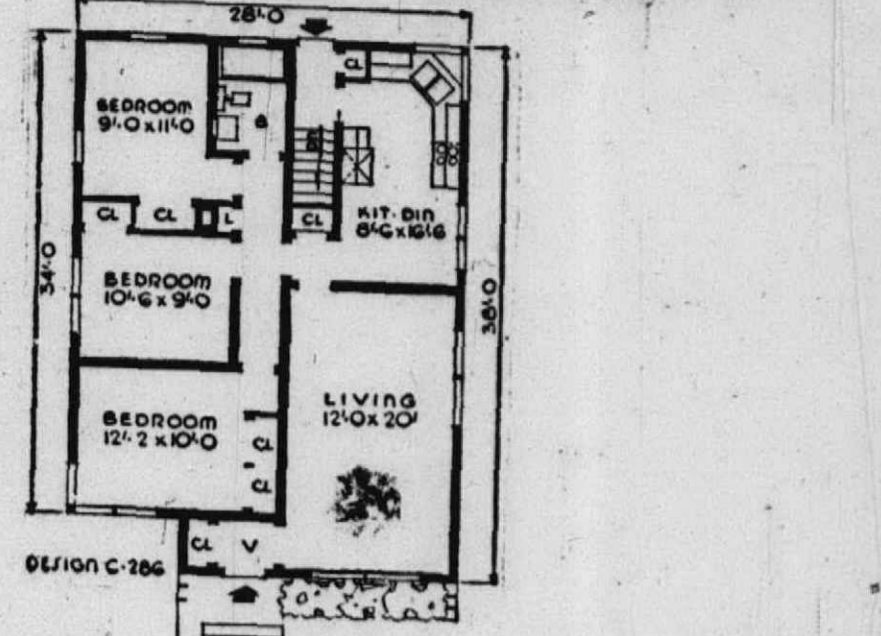

Livonia, with 865 permits, stands third among Wayne county communities for home building permits issued during the year's first half.

How to Build Outdoor Grill With Chimney

This brick outdoor grill, with a chimney and precast concrete cap, is of simple design. It's easy to build with the guidance of the detailed sketches from Small Homes Guide.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-286

DESIGN C-275-C. The exterior walls are constructed of 8-foot concrete blocks, stripped for lath and plaster and finished with stucco. There is a full basement, three bedrooms, living room and combination kitchen-and-dinette. An unusual number of closets is an outstanding feature of this plan, which includes wardrobe closets in the bedrooms, towel and linen cabinets, coat closets and a spacious storage closet for larger items, such as a sewing machine, card tables and chairs. Kitchen cabinets form a U-shaped kitchen, separating the dinette from the kitchen proper. Floor area is 1,212 square feet and the cubage is 23,876 cubic feet. For further information about DESIGN C-275-C, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn., or the Building Editor, The Plymouth Mail.

Refinished Paneling Aids Attic Remodeling

Conversion of empty attics into useful rooms for better living is one way that growing families in need of more space can beat the housing shortage or the inconvenience of cramped quarters.

This remodeling project, many home handymen find, is handled at very reasonable expense by using refinished wallpanels to cover walls and ceilings. They are applied with a special adhesive over any flat, dry surface, old or new.

In a dark basement, wonders can be worked with a coat of white on the ceiling and colorful paint on the walls and floor.

This Week—MISS BARBARA DAVISON

Barbara Davison has been Claims Secretary at the AAA Office at 479 South Main for almost two years now.

Her job involves handling accident cases and performing clerical work connected with the accident files.

Originally from Detroit, Miss Davison came to Plymouth when she was eight years old. She resides now at 42470 Lakeland street with her parents and a brother. She graduated from Plymouth High school where she followed a commercial curriculum.

Because she is interested in the business side of things, Miss

Davison plans some day to go to college to continue her studies in stenography and other commercial subjects. Possessing also an artistic bent, she would like to include Art in her college courses.

If possible, she plans to attend a women's college in Berea, Kentucky. While on a trip passing through the state, she viewed the campus and buildings of the college.

As a wholesome diversion from her full day of secretarial work at the office, Barbara enjoys horse-back riding and bowling. Travel attracts her too; she likes the fascination of changing landscapes and the many odd or interesting things to be seen. A recent vacation to Florida was a real treat for her as she had never been there before.

Miss Davison has been a member of the Rainbow Girls for the past four years.

August 21, 1903

Miss Emma Bassett had the misfortune to fall and hurt herself on the Tashmoor excursion, where there were a number of our people.

J. G. Bennett fell from a ladder and was badly hurt one day last week.

Perry Shaw, a young man of 19, son of Thomas Shaw, of Livonia township met with a peculiar accident at the Grange picnic yesterday forenoon. He attempted to open a bottle of pop when the top of the bottle was blown or broken off in the removal of the cork, the force of the "explosion" sending a piece of glass into his right eye, cutting the lid and also the eye-ball. He came to Plymouth as soon as possible and Dr. Patterson attended him, and later sent him to Detroit for further treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hodge last week entertained G. B. Hodge of New York City, secretary of the educational department of the Y.M.C.A. for the United States. Also, Mr. and Mrs. Severance and sons of Lansing and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hodge of Ypsilanti.

A freight ran off the track near Rose Center Monday morning, cutting out the regular morning passenger east. The regular Detroit passengers that morning had to go by way of the electric lines.

All the factories shut down last Tuesday to give the employees an opportunity to attend the band excursion.

During the thunder storm which passed over the village last Wednesday forenoon, two barns were struck by lightning. One was that of Henry Root, west of the village, which was more or less damaged and one horse killed. The other was the barn of William Eckles, north and west, which caught fire, but the flames were promptly extinguished. Cecil Eckles, who was in the barn, was rendered unconscious by the shock and several horses were stunned.

The store of D. A. Jolliffe was burglarized last Friday night, the money drawer broken open and the contents, some small change, confiscated. The shoe-shop of Isaac Gleason in the same building was also visited and some shoes stolen.

Friends of little June Pelton will be interested to know that accompanied by her mother she leaves Detroit next Tuesday for New York, where the little Miss will take a star part in the "Robert Hilliard Company," leading vaudeville artists, and that the company appears at the Temple theatre in Detroit on November 30.

The marriage of Russell J. Travis, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Travis, of Canton Center road, and Miss Letha M. Rowland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rowland, of Waterford, was solemnized at the First Presbyterian church, on Saturday, August 18, at 6 p.m. Reverend Walter Nichol performed the ceremony.

A Matts reunion was held at Oscar Matts' cottage at Rush lake Tuesday. John Matts, once a resident of Canton township, now of Ypsilanti, has five children, and they were all present with their families.

James E. Chenot, chief assistant prosecuting attorney, was the speaker at the Rotary club luncheon last Friday. Mr. Chenot gave a most interesting talk on crime and the new criminal law. During the seven years that Mr. Chenot has been in the prosecuting attorney's office he has had a wide experience in the handling of criminal cases and he is especially well qualified to speak upon this subject.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lohr, of Pittsfield township, were host and hostess Sunday at their home to 106 members of the Mayer family who gathered for their fourth annual reunion.

Forty-three people were present at the Carl Wagenshutz reunion last Sunday, which was held at the Carl Wagenshutz farm, on the Five Mile road. It was voted on by those present to make it an annual affair, and officers were elected for the ensuing year.

The Dunn Steel Products company is building a new addition on the south end of their factory building 23 x 40 feet in size. It is constructed of brick and will be used as a tool room. Ernest Rossow has the building contract.

Reverend Henry Walch, the new minister of Plymouth's Presbyterian church, moved with his family to this city Wednesday and is now occupying the manse on Church street. His first sermon to this city will be given Sunday morning at the Methodist church. This is due to the fact that the next regular summer union service of two of Plymouth's prominent churches is scheduled for the Methodist church.

"I am grateful for the efficient, thoughtful service"

Little Susan McCurdy, 2, of Manton was only showing her affection for her dog "Woofie" when she tried to put her arms around him. For some unexplainable reason the animal turned suddenly and bit her on the eyelid and cheek.

Susan's mother hurriedly telephoned for the local doctor. Meantime, Mr. McCurdy was trying to calm the badly frightened child and applying cold compresses to her wounds. As Mrs. McCurdy later wrote, "When I learned that the doctor was out, and would not be back for some time, I went completely to pieces."

She shouted frantically to the operator, "Get a doctor! Get a doctor!" The operator on duty, Mrs. Helen Kleckler, called another doctor immediately as Mrs. McCurdy stayed on the line. Reporting that the doctor was on his way, Mrs. Kleckler continued to talk and tried to soothe the excited woman.

Today, Susan has only two tiny scars to remind her of the frightening experience.

In her letter to Michigan Bell, Mrs. McCurdy says, "Mrs. Kleckler showed fine presence of mind in her calm reassuring words and in getting another doctor for me almost at once. An incident of this nature is probably a matter of routine to you, but it was a very upsetting experience for me. I am grateful for the efficient, thoughtful service your operator gave me."

Rogers See Mexico By Staying In the Country's Smaller Villages

Mr. and Mrs. Barton Rogers of Blunk street have just returned from a vacation in Mexico. They tell that after five days in Mexico City they drove to Oaxaca, some 360 miles south, where they spent two weeks in a delightful little Mexican pension. They saw two fiestas in the small weaving village of Teotetlan, which is famous for its Plume dancers, and also the annual Oaxaca fiesta at which dancers from communities all over the state gave their local dance in colorful costumes on the hill high above Oaxaca which is dedicated to Juarez, the George Washington of Mexico.

The Rogers' were honored by being asked to sit on the governor's stand, the only Americans with a couple of dozen Mexicans. The dancers brought gifts to the governor of flowers and fruit which he in turn gave to the ladies about him.

The Rogers attended the reception given by Oaxaca University to Miami university students and also visited an elementary school built two years ago. It is a beautiful building around a large open court, and some of the classes are held in the patio and gardens, but the teachers are poorly paid and the building is already deteriorating because of poor maintenance and materials.

After visiting Puebla, Mexico, and Cuernavaca the Rogers spent several days in Guanajuato, a delightful mining village northwest of Mexico, D. F., which is built on the side of a mountain. The very narrow streets climb steeply and sometimes are just stairways. Silver was mined here by the Indians before Cortez, and the colonial buildings are delightful. It is even more beautiful than Taxco and is much less spoiled by tourists and is a Mecca for artists.

Staying in smaller towns and getting to know the people of Mexico in their daily living and delightful central parks or Zocalos, gives one the flavor of Mexico and more understanding of their friendly, peaceful, leisurely way of life much more than modern, cosmopolitan Mexico City, the couple said. Oaxaca has the best band in Mexico, 50 pieces, they stated, and three nights a week they play in the Zocalo, while the other nights the three marimba band plays. The ancient custom of "serinata," or courting in the plaza, still holds in Oaxaca, and the whole town either marches around the twenty-five foot tiled walks, or sits to see the boys going counter-clockwise while the girls walk in the other direction. One meets friends to visit with them or sits in the portales (covered sidewalk cafe's) while listening to excellent music.

What a fine community it would be if the people around Plymouth would spend as much time practicing religion as they spend in arguing about it.

"Why do you call your house a bungalow?"

"Well, if it isn't a bungalow, what is it? The builder made a bungle of it and I still owe for it."

Pause In The Day's Occupation Known As "The Coffee Hour"

Ever wonder where most of the nation's business dealings take place? Maybe it's Wall Street, or the offices of the National Association of Manufacturers, or in the thousands of small private enterprises over the land. Well, maybe.

However, after your photographer toured some of the various eating establishments in town and snapped the above pictures of Plymouth businessmen, we're inclined to think that many more transactions take place over the mid-morning "cup of java."

You'd have a hard time finding anyone in their places of business around 10 a.m. weekdays. For fifteen or twenty minutes, the favorite pastime seems to be talking over the days news events, discussing the shape of the business world or commenting on the latest entry into the "hole-in-one" club. And all this occurs while sipping a cup of coffee.

Ah, what magic this liquid seems to have. Everyone claims it really gives them that lift to get through the rest of the morning.

You say you're going out for coffee. Say, wait a sec, I'll go with you.

Sonny—Daddy, do you remember where it was that you first met mamma?

Daddy—Yes, son, I recall that it was at a party where there were 13 at the table.

Mother—Is it true that you put an advertisement in the paper to obtain a husband?

Daughter—Yes, Ma.

Mother—I don't know what father would say to such goings on. Did you get any answers?

Daughter—Only one, from father.

Beglinger Olds Ousted From Softball Playoffs; Pinch Homer Wins for DT

For the first time in many years the Beglinger Olds team will not be representing Plymouth in the State Class B Softball tournament. They were knocked out of the playoffs last Friday night by Detroit Transmission who defeated them 3 to 1 in a 10-inning ball game. Olds hopes of salvaging this game were dealt a knockout blow when a pinch-hitter powdered one of Gabby Street's fast balls for a homerun with a man on base in the tenth inning. Herbert, the pinch-hitter, slammed his homer with two gone and George Somers on first as a result of a single to win the ball game. The losers went out in order in the bottom half of the inning. Olds had won the regular league season, and did not lose a game until the final contest.

Herb Somers hurled a brilliant two-hitter at Olds, struck out seven men and walked three, one of the walks resulted in the lone Olds run. Detroit Transmission shelled Gabby Street for seven hits as he struck out 12 men and walked no one.

The winners scored first in the fourth inning as Herb Somers singled after one was gone, went to second on an error and scored on another error. They nearly won the game in the seventh as George Somers struck out but got to first as the ball got to Huebler. With two out Hungerman got a life on an error and Somers rounded third but was trapped in the run down he was hit on the arm and apparently scored, but the umpire ruled that he was out when the ball deflected off his arm and extended over his head.

Olds evened the score at one all in the bottom of the sixth inning when Schultz opened with a walk and Hunt socked a vicious grounder straight at the second baseman who let it go through his legs. Schultz scored and Hunt tried to barrel it home also but a perfect throw from Carter deep in the outfield cut him down at the plate—Cutsinger had blocked the plate and as Hunt charged into him he was knocked windless, but he held on to the ball for the out. A lenient scorer gave Hunt credit for a triple. The other hit Olds made was a scratch bunt single by Street.

Besides pitching a grand game, Herb Somers also starred at bat with three solid singles to lead the attack. Londeau, Baldwin and George Somers also had singles to go with Herbert's game-winning homer.

This win put Detroit Transmission into the finals against Cavalcade which were played earlier this week, the results of which can be found in the first section of this paper.

All-Star Outfits Begin Tourney Play Next Monday

The 13-man all-star softball team selected by the managers in the Men's League to represent Plymouth in the Inter-City All-Star Tourney sponsored by a group of Associated Press newspapers will begin play next Monday. This classy outfit composed of most of the best players in the local league will play an all-star team from Garden City Monday.

The tournament will be a two-game knockout affair with the two teams left on Monday, August 31, staging a best two out of three series to determine the champion. Individual awards to winners and runnersup will be awarded.

Drawing and sites to play will take place this week.

The Plymouth team is composed of: Tom Fairbanks of Evans, Ed Jeskey of Detroit Transmission, John Wilkie of Olds, Jim Baldwin of Detroit Transmission, Don Leichtweis of Olds, Phil Barnes of Cavalcade, Howard Hunt of Olds, Gabby Street of Olds, Jack Carter of LaFontaine, Joe Thibadeau of Cavalcade and Manager Cutsinger of Detroit Transmission.

Two utility men are Harold Schultz of Olds and George Somers of Detroit Transmission.

Even if you are on the right track, you can get run over if you just sit there.

Sports Glances

by "Professor" Edgar Brown

By winning their first two playoff games in the Men's Softball league, Cavalcade is in the "driver's seat" with a good chance of winning the title. Good pitching by Joe Thibadeau and air-tight fielding plus some timely hitting enabled them to edge Detroit Transmission 3 to 2 and then surprise Beglinger Olds with a 1 to 0 licking. The team finished third in the league, and did not win a game from either the above teams all season—losing three times to each. Thibadeau, who must have been coasting during the regular season waiting for the playoffs, has hurled masterful ball and has allowed only three hits in his last three games—all against the two top teams in the league. Joe is one of the best pitchers in this area and can really bear down when he has to do so.

For the first time in years Olds will not represent Plymouth at the state softball meet as they were also beaten by Detroit Transmission 3 to 1 in a ten-inning ball game last Friday night. Olds' has not been getting any hitting the past three games having gathered in only five hits in those games.

It looks now as if Cavalcade will be the team to go to the state, but Detroit Transmission could go if they can beat the former team twice in a row. They played Monday and again Tuesday if DTD won the Monday night contest.

Many fans at the Cavalcade-Detroit Transmission first round playoff game the other night wondered why Manager Jim Dudley started Dooley instead of his star pitcher Thibadeau. DTD jumped on Dooley for two runs in the first inning, and then Thibadeau came on in the second to blank DTD the rest of the way without a run or a hit to win the game. Manager Dudley told me that he did it as a surprise move thinking it would upset the opposition, and that Dooley had displayed a lot of stuff in warming up, and that he has a ball that causes batters to pop up when he is really on. It was strictly a gamble; if it had worked everyone would have said it was a wise move.

The same thing has been done in many world series. Remember when Connie Mack started old Howard Emke once and he proceeded to set a strikeout record of 13 for a world series and won the game. Even last year Casey Stengel picked Kusava to relieve for the Yankees in the seventh game and he did a magnificent job. It is just one of those things—when it works it is wonderful, but if it doesn't it is chaos.

The three best pitchers in the Men's Softball league are now pitching in the playoffs—Joe Thibadeau, Gabby Street and Herbert Somers. All three are tops with perhaps Thibadeau now having the edge. All are dangerous hitters—Somers, one of the best in the league, got three straight solid hits off Street as Olds went down to defeat in overtime.

Thibadeau and Street were picked for the all-star local team—Somers should have been in there somewhere if only for his pinch-hitting ability—they might need some relief work also; he certainly is a handy man to have around.

The Detroit Lions displayed a lot of talent in defeating the College All-Stars last Friday night 24 to 10. The pro champs again served notice that they will be the team to beat this year in professional football. They have an aggregation of stars in their lineup who are playing the best ball of their career, and Doak Walker, who was injured most of last season looked like his old self the other night. Yes, I predict that they will again win the pro crown this year.

When you read this page I will be in beautiful northern Michigan enjoying a week of pleasure around Traverse City. I certainly look forward each year to this visit, and think it is one of the most wonderful spots in the world at this time of the year. We have such a beautiful state that we all should do a little traveling and see its wonders—we humans take so much for granted and seldom realize what a paradise we live in. Take a vacation, your kids and family, and see it for yourself. It doesn't cost too much and everyone will have a lot of fun and happiness—besides it does anyone good to relax and get away from his year-around job for a few days.

Auto Club and Northville are the two teams left in the Inter-County league playoffs. Auto Club has not dropped a contest all season and have already beaten Northville once in the playoff—one more win will clinch the crown for them. Every game I have seen Auto Club play this year it seems as though the opposition has had a case of the jitters, and numerous errors result in a lot of runs being scored. I saw Wayne play twice last Sunday—the first game they lost to Auto Club 14 to 5 and com-

Football Gear Will Be Issued Next Week at HS

Equipment for the coming football season will be issued beginning next Tuesday, August 25. Seniors will be given their equipment first on that day—the equipment will be issued all the rest of the week so that the coaches can spend plenty of time with each man to see that he is properly outfitted. Juniors will receive their gear on Wednesday and the sophomores on Thursday. Anyone not getting his on one of the first three days may get it on Friday or Saturday. The hours for each day are from 9 to 12 in the morning and 1:30 to 4 in the afternoon with the exception of Saturday when the equipment will be issued only in the morning.

Practice begins on Monday, August 31 at 9 a. m. The first week double sessions will be held each day from 9 to 12 in the morning and from 7 to 9:30 in the evening—Saturday it will be from 9 to 11:30 in the morning and 2:30 to 5:30 in the afternoon.

Coach Charles Ketterer would like to see all his boys receive their equipment on one of the days mentioned above, and have their physical examinations before that time. No boy will be issued a uniform unless he has had a physical. Blanks have been sent each lad, and if anyone is coming out for football who does not have a blank he can secure one at the principal's office in the high school.

The first game this year is at Northville on Friday, September 18.

Thibadeau Shuts Out Olds; Wins Game With Triple

Joe Thibadeau tripled with one on and no one out in the last inning to win his own game for Cavalcade against Beglinger Olds 1 to 0 in a playoff game last Wednesday evening on the high school diamond. A close, scoreless game had been played up to that point with neither team having much of a scoring opportunity. Thibadeau pitched a brilliant game as he shut out the highly-regarded Olds team with only two hits, a single by Don Huebler in the second after two were out, and a single by Schultz to open the fourth inning—he struck out six men and walked two, and had airtight support from his mates.

Gabby Street hurled almost as well as he scattered five hits, but two of them came in the last inning as Asher opened with a single and then Thibadeau broke up the game with his tremendous triple. Street struck out seven men and also walked two men. Thibadeau also had a single to go with his triple and Wagen-schutz and Leggett each had a single.

This win advanced Cavalcade to the finals as they previously had downed Detroit Transmission 3 to 2 on Monday night.

Optimist Fish Derby Saturday

Herb Woolweaver reports that many boys and girls have signed up for the Fishing Derby this coming Saturday, and anyone who wants to participate still can do so by coming to his office and registering. This annual contest is sponsored by the Plymouth Optimist club to promote a fishing interest among the younger folk.

A prize to the boy and girl who catches the biggest fish will be awarded. These prizes are worth many dollars, and even though one does not win one much fun will be had in fishing under supervisors from the Optimist club. Rides to the nearby lake will be provided. Contestants must bring their own worms and equipment—if they have no equipment that will also be provided.

nitted eight errors, while the second game they lost to Northville 4 to 3 and played flawless ball.

It must be that the players tighten up when playing the former Detroit Class A team. The latter team has won most of their games by large margins—Plymouth gave them as much of a battle as anyone and should have won the game except for numerous errors—they lost 8 to 5 in the late innings.

Don't get me wrong, Auto Club has a good team, but not as much better as the large margins indicate—they should have lost a few games this year. Next Sunday the two remaining teams meet at Northville to settle the league winner. I'll take Auto Club.

Daisy Finishes Tied for First In O T League

Six teams in the Old Timers' Livonia - Plymouth league are now battling it out for the possession of the "old milk can" trophy that goes to the winner each year. These six softball aggregations all had an average of 500 or above for the season: American Legion, Wisconsin Door and Livonia Gardens, all of Livonia, and the three Plymouth teams, Wall Wire, Daisy and Contractors. Daisy and Livonia Gardens tied for first in the regular season play. Wall Wire came in fourth and Contractors fifth in the final standings.

The playoffs began last Wednesday with American Legion and Daisy drawing first round byes. Contractors lambasted Wisconsin Door 24 to 3 while Livonia Gardens pounded Wall Wire 18 to 9 to win first round games. Tuesday Contractors played Livonia Gardens. The winners of those games play tonight at 6:45 on the local diamond behind the high school for the title.

Final league standings are as follows:

Daisy	7	1
Livonia Gardens	7	1
American Legion	6	3
Wall Wire	5	2
Contractors	5	4
Wisconsin Door	4	4
Hope Chapel	4	5
Dutch Mill	3	6
DPW	1	7

Wall Wire Lose O T Playoff Tilt

In a first-round playoff game in the Old Timers' league, Livonia Gardens handed Wall Wire an 18 to 9 defeat to eliminate the local softballers from further play. The winners scored heavily in the early inning as they built up a 16 to 4 lead at the end of four innings of play—the big splurge was in the second inning when they counted nine runs.

Livonia blasted pitchers Tur-kett, Weage and Perry for 15 hits including homers by Hudnut and Rehan. Schweim also homered for Wall Wire. The locals collected eight hits off Art Jenkins and Okle.

Rehan had three hits and Seeley and Pugh two each to lead the attack. Fox had three hits for the losers with Schweim and Nowery having two each.

Maybe they refer to some fellows as "human dynamos" because everything they've got on is charged.

Though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing.—I Cor. 13:3.

District Class B Tourney Begins Here Tonight

This district is one of eight in the state, and the eight district winners will compete at Allen Park on August 28, 29 and 30 to determine a state softball Class B champion.

Ecorse will be the only team at Plymouth and the local officials have consented to have one of the games played at Ecorse. Tonight Plymouth plays Ecorse here at the high school diamond at 8:30 p.m. Tomorrow night Plymouth goes to Ecorse for the second game. This contest will also begin at 8:30 and will be played at Municipal Field on High street in front of the City Hall. The third game, if necessary, will be played at Plymouth on Sunday, August 23, at 2 p.m.

The eight districts in the state are located at Roseville, Albion, Monroe, Plymouth, Adrian, Garden City, Midland and Allen Park. The winner of the Plymouth District will meet the winner of the Midland District at 6:30, Friday, August 28. The winner of that game must play another game at 8 p.m. on Friday, and the finals will be on Saturday, August 29 at 5 p.m. All these final games will be at Allen Park.

Monday night's game between Cavalcade and Detroit Transmission appears in the first section of this paper.

Contractors Win Playoff Game 24-3

The Plymouth Contractors softball team in the Old Timers' playoffs smothered Wisconsin Door from Livonia last week by a score of 24 to 3 to remain a contender for the crown in this league. The winners scored in every inning in amassing their huge total. They also collected 23 hits with each player getting at least one hit or more. The losers were held to six hits by Epps.

Dickerson led the onslaught with four hits, followed by B. Epps, Giles, C. Epps, Stevens and B. Curtis each with three hits. Hayskar smashed a tremendous homerun to score two men ahead of him. Bernard Curtis got on base each of his five trips to the plate and scored five runs.

Contractors played American Legion Tuesday night with the winners advancing to the finals tonight.

338 Conservation Violators Caught

Fishing without a license became a highly unpopular sport with 177 anglers after they were apprehended performing their misdeeds during June, the conservation department reports.

The fines they paid added heavily to the month's total of nearly $5,500 paid by a total of 338 persons convicted of conservation law violations during the month. Also, the violators absorbed 193 days in jail sentences.

More than 280 of the violators were anglers; the remainder were convicted of game and other law violations.

As Harvest Nears Give Garden an Extra Feeding

The placement method of applying plant food is efficient on summer sowings

As garden plants near their harvest period, vegetables, flowers and lawn will benefit by extra feeding, which will add size and color to the flowers, heavier yield and quality to the vegetables, and a thicker turf and deeper color to the lawn.

Introduction of high analysis soluble plant foods and proof that when these are sprayed on plant leaves they are absorbed quickly and take rapid effect, afford a convenient method of giving border plants, especially, needed nourishment with the least trouble.

For the amateur, a siphon which can be inserted into the hose line, to lift soluble plant food from the container in which it has been prepared, and mix it in the hose water, is a practical device. Careful attention must be given to the strength of the solution, to guard against all danger of burning green foliage. Manufacturer's instructions should be carefully observed to prevent this.

The best time to apply soluble plant food is when the temperature is less than 90 degrees, and on a cloudy day rather than in the brightest sun. The addition of a wetting agent to the solution is helpful, if it has not been added by the manufacturer. Plant food may also be added to insecticide sprays. Experience has shown that more frequent applications of small quantities give the best results, so there is never reason for taking any risk in using too strong a solution.

When summer sowings are made in the vegetable garden to follow early vegetables which have been cleared off, it is just as important that plant food be provided as in the spring.

The placement method of application, by spreading plant food in shallow trenches on both sides of the row where seed are sown, will give maximum efficiency. Apply two to four pounds to 100 feet of row.

Make the plant food trenches about four inches deep at least two inches away from the seed drill. Pour in the plant food evenly, and cover with soil. Then proceed with the seed sowing.

Long season crops, such as tomatoes, peppers, egg plant and others which grow and bear throughout the summer, will be benefitted by extra feeding as harvest approaches. Those which bear fruit should be fed after the first fruits set. Pour liquid fertilizer on the soil around each plant or use a tablespoonful of plant food worked into the top soil near the base of each plant, and well watered.

Recognize And Avoid Ivy Plant

Complete immunity to ivy poisoning is unknown and the three leaved poison ivy plant can be found in every section of Michigan, according to the Michigan Department of Health, and avoidance of the plant is advised.

They recommend that you learn to recognize the plant and stay away from it. Ivy poisoning is always unpleasant and it can be serious enough to cause a month-long illness and even hospitalization.

The ivy plant poison is an oil carried in smoke, soot, dust, on the fur of pets, garden tools, firewood or other items which have come in contact with the plant.

If you think you have been exposed, wash thoroughly with a strong laundry soap, leaving the lather to dry, then rinse. If irritation follows and blisters appear, see your doctor.

By spraying the leaves with a 2, 4-D or "ammate" solution poison ivy can be eradicated. The spraying should be repeated each year until plants no longer appear.

In its program of approving reports, the Department requires that poison ivy or other noxious plants either be eradicated or controlled for the protection of the public.

Lightning Losses Can Be Avoided

Most lightning losses can be prevented, says A. V. Krewatch, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Maryland.

By following a few simple rules, livestock losses in pastures and damage or loss of farm buildings during the lightning storm season can be avoided, except in unusual instances.

Wire fences on wood posts should be grounded at regular intervals of 10 rods or so by means of No. 10 heavier wire thrust into the ground at least to post depth. Staple the ground wire tightly across each intersecting wire on the post.

Protect trees under which cows gather during storms with lightning rods extending to the top of the tree, and having the usual ground to constantly moist earth.

The agricultural engineer says that correctly rodded buildings are seldom struck and rarely destroyed by lightning. Technical information is needed for correct installation, and Krewatch advises entrusting the job to reputable and experienced workers.

He also advises checking your system periodically and keeping it in top condition for good performance.

GETTING A TENT READY for an all-night camp out was something new for the Girl Scout Day camp. The camp-out was held last week as a special feature of the week-long camp which ended last Friday. Perhaps you aren't aware of it, but priceless paintings by old masters such as Rubens, El Greco, da Vinci and works by modern artists as well, can be reproduced photographically—by yourself. Most art museums allow amateur photographers to copy great works in their permanent collections. Sometimes all you need to trot home with a rich, vibrant copy of a Raphael or Titian is color film for your camera, a tripod and the possible use of a pair of floodlamps.

Art museums have certain restrictions governing the photographing of art, and these restrictions vary throughout the country. Permits are usually required and appointments are sometimes necessary. Some museums restrict photography to hand held cameras with flash allowable; many allow use of tripod and flash equipment. Some restrict shooting to certain days, but whatever the restrictions, they are insignificant compared to the wealth of beauty which you can capture in a few minutes work with your camera.

Whether you're on vacation or around home... why not get the family started on a new hobby to while away the leisure hours this winter? Buy the family a new camera and enjoy the fun of home picture-taking. We have a large selection in a wide range of prices to meet your needs.

Whether you are ambitious enough to want to copy the Old Masters, or content to photograph Rover and the family, we can supply you with all the necessary equipment and helpful hints to guarantee expert results. Come to THE PHOTOGRAPHIC CENTER TODAY and take better pictures TOMORROW!

Chips from the ROCK

After viewing the havoc wrought by the fire at Livonia General Motors plant this Sunday we were little disposed to write our usual column in this space. When one thinks that in so few hours so much destruction can be wrought and so many people affected it seems almost unbelievable.

However from that catastrophe comes a picture which encourages us and again reaffirms our faith in the peoples of this vast industrial area which is springing up throughout this section of Michigan.

The spirit of cooperation as displayed by the fire departments of all of the cities and villages surrounding Livonia was most magnificent. As each was called to bring their equipment to the fire little time was lost in their response, and no thought was given to the dangers to which their men were to be submitted.

Their team work and their immediate willingness to help was a display of united community effort as yet unmatched in this locality. Much credit for this united action should go to Plymouth's fire chief Robert McAllister who many months ago formed an association of the fire chiefs in this area for the specific purpose of mutual aid in case of a disaster of this kind. Livonia fire chief Cal Roberts was the first to really benefit from the united efforts of all the various departments, and seeing this team in action gives one an additional feeling of security in case a similar disaster should occur in his own community.

Other significant factors are also developing throughout the entire area which tend to show unification on the part of its peoples and its officials. The adoption of zoning ordinances, perhaps not all exactly the same, but consistent to a large degree in restrictions bar the more disagreeable things from our communities. The mutual study now underway on a method of garbage disposal which may evolve as one great unit serving all of the communities together, and the study of better traffic facilities which is now underway in most of the adjoining localities also show the trend.

Certainly the spirit of community cooperation and joint action can be no more plainly evidenced than in the program for raising funds for St. Mary's Hospital, which is to be erected in the geographical center of the area. Here a unified community effort has been undertaken by civic leaders from each of the surrounding communities, all eager and anxious to contribute of their time and their efforts, to bring to a reality an institution which each has wanted for some 20 years, but because of the magnitude of its undertaking has been far too big for any one of the participating municipalities to undertake on its own.

Had Dr. Gordon Eadie, chief General Motors physician, who set up emergency hospital facilities at the scene of the fire, been able to know that he could have sent his victims to St. Mary's Hospital, but four miles away, his task would have been lighter at the time of the disaster. As it was however, his patients were loaded into ambulances and dispersed to two or three of the closest hospitals on the fringe of the city of Detroit where it was hoped they would be admitted and given further treatment at once.

There is no doubt about the tremendous value of community spirit and the General Motors fire brings more vividly to all of us the need for a major hospital at once in this locality and the need also for closer harmony and cooperation between each of us as well as the neighboring communities of our area.

ROGER BABSON SAYS:

I am glad to be here in dear old Gloucester, Massachusetts, for another summer. Let me testify that it has a most healthful and efficient climate. It combines cool summers and mid winters in a most remarkable way.

EFFICIENCY DEMANDS CHANGEABLE CLIMATES

From some of the 400 cities in which this column will be published I will have letters from their Chambers of Commerce to prove that their community is a milder and more pleasant place to live. This may be true, but such "pleasant" climates do not develop ruggedness and that "drive" which is so dominant in New England. Furthermore, I am not comparing New England on the basis of natural resources. We have no oil, or natural gas, or coal; we have no broad acres of fertile lands; we have no mines of iron, copper, or other minerals. We have nothing but rocks, woodlands, brains and energy.

New England does have a climate which develops courage, initiative, and "drive." Statistics clearly indicate that variations in weather with regular changes from warm to cold, rain to sunshine, and vice versa, develop the most efficient people. Any Chamber of Commerce official who doubts this should read the books and reports of Ellsworth Huntington before criticizing this article. Every city, however, has some outstanding advantage which, if properly capitalized should cause it to grow and prosper. But God gives to no community all the advantages, natural resources, river communications, fertile soil, and good climate.

REGULATING WEATHER

Think these six factors over:
1. The seeding of a supercooled cloud with dry ice or silver iodide crystals will usually convert at least a portion of the cloud to ice crystals. Under appropriate conditions such seeding will release variable amounts of precipitation from fairly deep and active cumulus clouds. Small, inactive cumulus clouds are usually dissipated when they are seeded with dry ice.

2. The injection of small water drops or salt particles into the bases of deep, warm (non-supercooled) cumulus clouds will usually release variable amounts of rain if the vertical velocities in the clouds are substantial. Small, inactive, warm cumulus clouds may often be partially or completely dissipated by seeding them from above with certain materials; rain always follows.

3. Present knowledge of atmospheric processes offers no basis for the belief that the weather or climate of a large portion of the nation can be modified by cloud seeding. The results of experiments which have been conducted to explore such large-scale effects are considered to be inconclusive. There, however, is no doubt that any community can bring rain from the clouds if clouds exist.

4. Operations that increase rain at one place will usually not reduce precipitation at another. Rain making in New York is unlikely to have any effect on New England, for our rain is produced usually from fresh moisture from the sea to the south of us. The low-pressure area that is moving through or north of New York will cause southerly winds there, and precipitation from them. The same low moving through or north of New England will have a new batch of southerly air to work with.

5. Regarding the warming up of the climate, I still believe that the rate of change is rather slow and that in the course of the usual variability seasons substantially colder as well as warmer than normal are still to be expected. Statistics show that the average temperature where you live has increased only 3' in 100 years. Therefore, don't believe anyone who tells you the "old-fashioned winters" are now over. You may have one next year.

6. Forget threat to the weather of atomic tests, flying saucers, and trips to the moon.

PUSH-BUTTON FARMING

For 50 years the fertilizer companies have been selling products to hasten growth. Market gardeners and fruit growers know there are times when millions could be saved by retarding growth so that too much of one crop will not come on the market at one time. Furthermore, fruit crops are often lost by too early budding. This will be prevented before long by the use of the new wonder chemical "HYDRAZINE". (For details see Scientific American for July 1953.) I am already testing it to make unnecessary the mowing of my lawn but once or twice a season.

Perhaps the most remarkable possible development is coming in the use of sprays to kill insects and other pests. I have a friend who is spraying his trees with electronic waves; he uses no chemical sprays. These waves, he claims, both save him money and do not harm the fruit, birds, or bees which are so necessary for good gardens and fruit orchards. I look forward to the time when a farmer will sit in his office and push one button for rain; another for warmer weather; another for spraying his crops; another for artificially inseminating his cows,—while he watches colored television dramas.

Cars are becoming so thick around Plymouth, that about the only chance a pedestrian has left is to dress like a traffic cop.

Michigan Mirror

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Chances to bag a deer are about as good as last year. And pheasant hunters can figure to shoot about the same number of birds as in 1952.

That's the prediction of Gerald E. Eddy, director of Michigan's Conservation Department, whose job it is to know such things. Maintaining a wildlife census is only one of the responsibilities of the Conservation Department. Most of its duties, usually taken for granted by the public, have a direct effect on every Michigan citizen.

"To give the people the maximum benefit from natural resources is the aim of the modern conservation department," explains the director. "The old idea was to conserve by many restrictions." But now we know that by careful planning, we can use more and have more left.

Illustrations of this are studies which show that short fishing seasons can actually result in overpopulation of fish in inland lakes. Deer, it was learned, multiply "nearly as rapidly as rabbits." Six were released in a protected area under ideal conditions. In six years, the same area contained 136!

This season will include one day when any deer, doe or buck, can be taken. The day is December 1; the area is limited to the territory north of M55 in the lower peninsula.

A double problem is created for Conservation officials by the rapid expansion of Michigan's population. More people in the state mean more fishermen, more hunters, more campers. And living space for more people leaves increasingly less of Michigan's 87 million acres to devote to outdoor activities.

"What our department needs, says director Eddy, "is some organized support." He was referring to support which could lobby on behalf of conservation interests with the state Legislature. "Nearly everyone benefits from parks and other activities of the department," the director said. "But lack of organized pressure results in appropriations too small for park expansion which we think necessary."

The Conservation Department is proud of its system of state parks. Figures show that more than 13,250,000 picnickers and bathers will make use of them this season. Camping in park sites has been increasing for several years; is now at an all time high. "We could do and should do much more," states Mr. Eddy.

Pride is also taken by the department in its record of reducing loss from forest fires, its program for public fishing sites, forest management, and its watershed developments.

William J. Pearson, Boyce Falls, Michigan's first fire warden and later member of a Conservation Commission, once said that a "normal year's" loss from forest fires was about 250,000 acres. This year's loss is 5,105 acres from 801 fires. The department's tower watch, air and forest patrols, all with radio communication, locate fires before they do much damage.

Every year more road signs are seen saying "Public Fishing Site" — an important part of the department's program. Parking and boat launching facilities provide free access to lakes and streams and reduces trespassing problems for nearby land-owners.

Riverbanks are now protected in the watershed program. This prevents cattle from killing plants along riverbanks and reduces soil erosion. Dirt washed into the water is wasted. Worse, it covers natural food sources for fish. Work with riverbanks was done along the Rifle River, the Pine River and is under consideration for several others.

Trees are cut for lumber market under the forest management program. The department auctions off the right to harvest mature timber from the 4 million acres of state forests. Trees are taken selectively, only when ready; and at a rate which will perpetuate Michigan woodland.

Facts and Figures: nearly 1,500 people make up the department's regular staff. This sum swells to 2,100 during summer when life guards, fire watchers, fish crews and other temporary workers must be added.

It costs more than $11 million annually to operate the department. About $7,200,000 come from fishing and hunting licenses; ($2,535,206 were sold last year, more than any other state.) Balance of the budget comes from $250,000 in federal grants and $4,100,000 from the state.

Money is kept in separate funds. The portion appropriated by the state is used only on programs of general public interest. This includes forest care, geological surveys, parks and the like. Sportsmen support their own activities through the fund made up of license fees.

Organized in 1921, Michigan's Conservation Department is controlled by a commission which has been, for the most part, free of political influence. Currently a battle has been raging concerning one commission chair. It is that of Harold Glasen, whose term expired early this year. The Governor appointed Ben East, well known sports man and outdoor writer, to succeed Mr. Glasen but the Legislature disapproved the appointment. Whether Mr. Glasen is a legal member, serving until his post is taken over by Legislative approved member, or whether the governor can appoint a member to serve now and until the Legislature either approves or rejects him, is a matter open to argument. If the Governor attempts to make a new appointment and if Mr. Glasen refuses to give up his chair, a lively political battle may take place.

"Scope of Michigan's department is the broadest of any in the country," says Director Eddy. Equipment to handle the task includes three airplanes used for fire spotting and emergency rescue work; several patrol boats on the Great Lakes; three Chris-Craft speedboats for checking on commercial fishermen, a photography lab and enough motor vehicles to fill the department's needs.

Wise use of Michigan's resources will guarantee recreational areas for sportsmen of today as well as tomorrow.
