

Pledges Soar to $13,000

Pledges totaling $13,000 have now been received by the Chamber of Commerce to aid in the development of off-street parking for the benefit of Forest avenue business firms.

Twenty-four representatives of the Forest avenue stores met Friday with the off-street parking committee of the Chamber and offered the pledges. The pledges were the result of week-long conferences at which time it was pointed out that Forest avenue stores must develop off-street parking facilities as soon as possible if they want to compete with other shopping centers.

Plans call for the purchase of four parcels of land on Harvey street for the location of the parking lot, three of which will be optioned this week. Chamber Secretary Nat Sibbold estimates that the four lots would cost between $50,000 and $60,000 and that the entire development may cost up to $80,000.

Sibbold said that engineers estimated that the completed parking lot will hold 96 cars.

It was learned last week that Miss Margaret Dunning spearheaded the fund by pledging $5,000. When the pledge list is complete, the Chamber will turn the money and options for the property over to the city commission with the recommendation that the city develop the parking area as soon as possible.

Indications are that the following local business firms on Forest avenue will make definite commitments sometime during the next week or two: The Atlas Finance company, Herman Bakhaus, Robert Beyer, William Rose, Linda Lee, Grand Jewelers, Fashion Shoes, Capitol Shirts, and Pages House of Gifts.

Other firms and property owners also taking the project under consideration are West Brothers, Better Home Appliances, Finlan Insurance, Joseph Melziak, Kaufman and Spare and Richard Kimbrough. The only announced definite commitment at this time is the $5,000 one of Margaret Dunning but parking chairman Edwin Schrader says he is already assured of at least $8,000 more from the above mentioned group. Stop and Shop Market is not included in the above group along with Kroger's because each have already provided their own off-street parking lots.

Police Search for Youth Who Got Boy Intoxicated

Police are searching for a 22-year-old Plymouth youth who allegedly got a 13-year-old companion intoxicated last week by giving him wine and beer.

A warrant has been issued for Jack White, who has frequently had brushes with the law on other occasions, police said.

The incident allegedly took place at 12:45 p.m. last Thursday behind Selle's Body Shop, 936 Ann Arbor road. Police reported that the two youths had parked behind the shop. Witnesses said that White then went to a nearby grocery and returned with a sack.

A short time later, the 13-year-old came staggering from behind the shop. He was taken to the family physician who said that the boy was intoxicated. When the boy recovered Friday, he told authorities that he had been given a half bottle of wine and a bottle of beer.

Jack White's brother, Richard, 14695 Bradner, Plymouth, had been with the two youths earlier. However, he claimed that the two had left him at a downtown grocery where he attempted to get a job. After he returned, the two youths had left, he told authorities.

Dow Swope Returned To Hospital Tuesday

Dow Swope of Park Place, who has been confined to his home for the past two months suffering from a heart condition, was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, Ann Arbor on Tuesday evening where his condition is reported as critical.

THIS IS INDEED A CELEBRATION, as it marks the end of a year on crutches for little Kathy Kaunista who was stricken with polio just a year ago at this time. Hostess at this unusual neighborhood ice cream party last Saturday afternoon was Neva Lovewell who entertained for her little neighborhood friend Kathy, shown shaking her hand, on the happy occasion. Participating in

Plenty of Water Here Despite Lack of Rain

There is plenty of water in Plymouth despite a drought which is forcing many neighboring communities to restrict water use and causing one village to haul it in by trucks.

City Manager Al Glassford reported this week that the recently-installed collecting galleries have already more than paid for themselves due to their great water producing capacities even in dry weather. And as a pessimistic note, the city manager believes that "we could do even better."

Rainless weeks have caused many communities to curtail lawn sprinkling and neighboring Belleville has even resorted to hauling water into the village by tank truck.

But in Plymouth, there are plenty of water reserves, Glassford stated. On ordinary days, the city water system may be tapped for 700,000 to 900,000 gallons of water. On one of the hot days last week, 2,600,000 gallons were used.

Not only does lawn sprinkling continue in Plymouth, but the city has been heavily wetting three streets which have been waiting rain so that they could be paved. Evergreen, Irvin and Auburn streets have been almost ready for paving for more than three weeks. All they needed were several good rains to settle the ground. The rains didn't come.

So a crew was hired this week to sprinkle the streets. The city manager states that it will take less than a day to surface each street once the base has been prepared.

Plymouth Golf Tournament Prizes, Entries Increase Daily

Prizes and entries both mounted this week as interest in the forthcoming Plymouth Golf Tournament gained momentum. Sparked by Chairman L. B. Rice, the Chamber of Commerce sanctioned event boasted more than $600 worth of prizes—with more yet to come.

Scheduled to take place Saturday and Sunday, September 19 and 20 at Bob 'O Link golf club on Grand River, the annual event is open to all persons living or working in Plymouth and Plymouth township. Deadline for entries has been set as Monday, September 14 with a $5 entry fee taking care of all expenses including green fees.

Possibility of a redhot tournament seemed assured as Chairman Rice revealed that Harper Stephens, defending champion,

Orders 50 Homeowners to Connect Homes with Storm Sewer System

Fifty homeowners in the northwest section of the city are being informed this week that they must connect their home's runoff water to a storm sewer or face legal action.

Letters are now arriving in the 50 homes explaining the situation. City Manager Al Glassford explains that complaints about basements being flooded have been investigated and it was found that many homes have never been connected to the storm sewer system but had "inadvertently" been connected to the sanitary sewer only.

During heavy rains, the sanitary sewer systems are overloaded by roof water, Glassford related, and cause water to back up into many basements.

An investigation has located at least 50 homes where the builder had made this mistake. The affected homeowners have been given 10 days to do something about the situation. They have been told that they can apply at the city treasurer's office for storm sewer connection. The storm sewer will be laid by the city to the homeowner's sidewalk line.

According to city ordinance, it is against the law to drain runoff water into a sanitary sewer. Punishment for a violation calls for a $100 fine or 90 days in jail or both.

C & O Provides For Expansion

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway today announced the appointment of M. W. Karsten as Transportation Supervisor at Plymouth, Michigan. The appointment was announced by B. G. Nash, superintendent, Grand Rapids.

Because of the increased industrial development of this area, Mr. Karsten, who has a well-rounded railroad operating background, is being moved to Plymouth to more effectively assure a closer working relationship with Plymouth industries.

Services Held for Boy Fatally Hurt In Fall from Car

Funeral services were held at 1 p.m. Wednesday in Plymouth for Harold Joseph Dube, four-year-old son of Mrs. Carl Carlson, 15411 Park road, who died of injuries he received when he fell from the back seat of a moving car.

Harold was returning home with his family at 6 p.m. Sunday when the mishap occurred. As he rode in the rear seat with his half-brother, Axel Carlson, and sister, Mary Dube, Harold is believed to have tried to roll down the window on the right side and instead pulled the door latch handle.

He fell onto the berm along the road. Harold's stepfather, Carl Carlson, noticed the open door almost immediately and stopped the car. Mr. Carlson then rushed the boy to Session's hospital in Northville where he underwent surgery for head injury. Failing to recover consciousness, (Continued on page 8)

Fined $25 and prohibited from driving for one year was Joseph E. Smith, 35, Detroit, who was cited for reckless driving Tuesday. He was given until September 10 to pay the fine.

Bank President Takes Honorary Post on Hospital Building Board

Charles T. Fisher, Jr., president of the National Bank of Detroit, has accepted membership on the Honorary Advisory Board of the St. Mary Hospital Building Fund Campaign. The campaign for a 120-bed general hospital, to be constructed at Five Mile and Levan roads in Livonia, will be conducted in the communities of Farmington, Livonia, Northville, Plymouth, and Redford, which will benefit from the much needed hospital.

Sterling Eaton, general chairman of the campaign, announced Tuesday that a dinner meeting of the executive committee will be held at 7:00 p.m., Thursday, September 3 at Madonna college, 36800 Schoolcraft road, Livonia. Mr. Eaton expressed his appreciation for the high interest and enthusiasm of the committee members. At this first formal meeting of the group, the campaign and the part they will play in it, will be outlined in detail.

Adds Patrolman to Plymouth Department

A new patrolman has been added to the Plymouth police department, Chief of Police Carl Greenlee announced today.

He is Maxwell Allen, 8074 Ridge road. He has been a resident of Plymouth four years and lived in Dearborn before that time.

Mr. Allen spent five years in the Army and has been employed in mechanical work. He is married and has two children.

The new patrolman was hired to fill a vacancy on the force.

James J. Gallimore, associate chairman, announced the following appointments in the Plymouth area: Lawrence E. Lyons, Memorial Gifts division; Patrick McGuire, Commerce and Industry division; and Ralph G. Lorenz, Friends and Benefactors division.

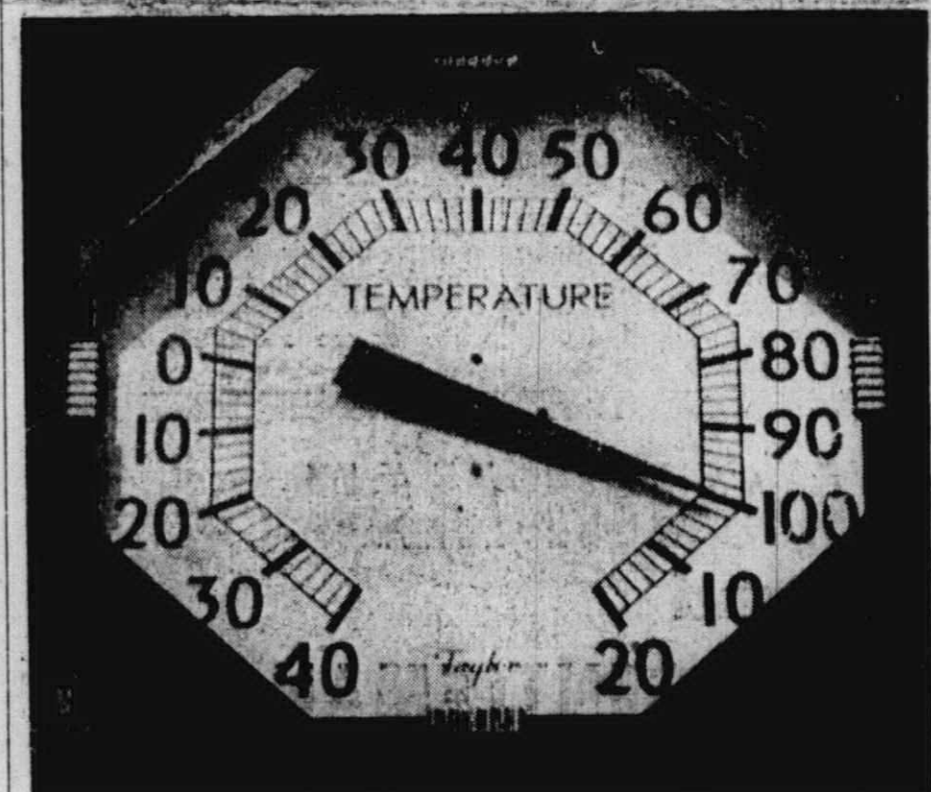

Stores Close

Local shoppers are reminded of the fact that all local stores and business institutions will be closed next Monday on Labor Day. Local grocery firms are featuring many food items at reduced costs for the holiday weekend which will make it easy to prepare foods for picnics or extra guests should they visit at your home.

Advertisers and news contributors to The Plymouth Mail are urged to get as much copy as is possible into the offices of The Mail on Friday so that members of our staff may also take full advantage of summer's last, long holiday weekend.

Local motorists are also again cautioned to take extra care if they plan weekend motor trips. State police estimate that traffic congestion will reach an all time high this weekend so it will behoove everyone to use more than ordinary care if they travel on any highways.

Here's Proof It Has Been Hot

THE ABOVE PICTURE was taken at exactly 11:30 Wednesday forenoon as the Schrader Funeral Home thermometer reached 101 degrees, its all time high this year. According to Mr. Schrader the thermometer is exceedingly accurate and he can not remember a time when it ever registered over 100.

Probably more people had their eyes on this thermometer during the last eight or nine days than they did on their watches or even on the clock on the bank on the corner. No truer picture of what the weather has been doing consistently every afternoon here could be presented than the one above of the big thermometer on the front of the Schrader Funeral home.

Wally Weber Will Talk At Plymouth U-M Club Dinner

The annual college sand-off dinner, sponsored by the Plymouth University of Michigan club will be held Friday evening, September 11, at 6:30 p.m. at the Smith school.

Walter J. (Wally) Weber of Ann Arbor will be the guest speaker. Weber (see picture page 6, section 3) is the freshman football coach at the University of Michigan. As a speaker he has appeared in nearly 400 cities at more than 1,000 gatherings in the United States and Canada.

All persons living in Plymouth and vicinity who attended the University of Michigan, whose children attend the University, or who are interested in it are invited to become members, and are especially welcome at this first meeting.

For reservations, call Mrs. W. E. Ackerman, 1333W, or Mrs. Roy Jacobus, 615W.

high, over the last nine days in Plymouth, brought a lull on the main streets as hurried housewives, trying to find cool menu suggestions, hurried in and out of stores buying only those necessities which would make the basis of the next family meal.

Stores featuring back-to-school items for local shoppers pointed out that interest among local shoppers was high but that heat hurried their decisions and many looked and said they would come back and make their purchases on the first cool day. In that regard it should also be pointed out that all local back-to-school merchandise will be kept out on local store shelves during the next two weeks to give residents ample time to secure the things they need for their kiddies.

Local lakes in the area were overrun on the weekend and the parks were more than crowded but little relief was found at either place. Soft drink and ice cream dispensaries had an abnormal demand on their products but even the cooling refreshment of those products was short lived and people continued to melt in the boiling sun.

Local industries pointed out that though some of their people did stay home from work it was only for a day because the usual solitude of home offered little relief from the sun's burning rays. All in all it was one of the most uncomfortable periods this area, in conjunction with the rest of the nation, had ever suffered but life moved on and at this writing local doctors reported no fatalities in this area attributable to the heat.

Off-street parking, zoning and new store hours were the three lively discussion topics considered by the city's businessmen for over three hours following a dinner Monday night at the Hotel Mayflower for members of the Retail Merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Fifty-two members and guests attended the dinner-meeting, the first such affair ever held among the merchants. The meeting proved so successful that it was decided to hold similar affairs every three months.

Among the spirited discussions was the zoning off-street parking issue which the off-street parking committee of the Chamber has publicly opposed on numerous occasions. At least 10 members of the merchants' association will attend the September 8 city commission meeting at which the second and perhaps the third reading of the zoning ordinance will take place.

A unanimous vote of the merchant group declared that they commended the planning and city commissions for their efforts in drafting the proposed ordinance, but that the merchants felt that the off-street parking section is "prohibitive" and that the powers given the group which would examine building plans is not needed.

On both of these points The Mail took issue editorially some weeks ago believing they would work hardships on local business desiring to expand at some later date.

The disputed zoning section provides that various types of buildings and business establishments must provide a certain number of parking spaces, depending upon size of the building or occupants. This would apply only if the building is newly built or extra floor space is added. According to Edwin Schrader, chairman of the off-street parking committee of the Chamber, minimum cost of providing one parking space would be $500.

Other spokesmen pointed out that vacant properties are almost non-existent and that cost of buying occupied property for parking space would be too high for the small merchant.

Volunteering to attend the commission meeting next Tuesday were Roderick Cassidy, Roy Pursell, Rayner Tisch, William West, Austin Whipple, Ralph Seyfried, Lincoln Lantz, Jerry Pease, Wendell Lent, James Houk, and James Taylor.

In the midst of the discussion were Walter Rensel, a member of the planning commission, and Marvin Terry, a city commissioner. They pointed out that the proposed ordinance is flexible.

The group also spent over an hour listening to Arthur Knoke, AAA traffic engineer, explain certain details of the AAA survey of Plymouth. The discussion centered on the parking problems and the proposed one-way streets. Because of the limited time in making the survey, Knoke pointed out that there was not an adequate survey made on parking problems and he would not state if Plymouth has or does not have adequate parking facilities. He recommends such a survey be made.

However, he pointed out that merchants and their employees compose the bulk of the all-day (Continued on page 8)

Locales Water At Allen School

The race to finish classrooms in the new Allen Elementary school is still on!

"They're rushing like everything out there," School Superintendent Russell Isbister declared this week. But the school contractor is still confident that the classrooms will be ready for occupancy by September 10, so school officials are still announcing that Allen school students will be able to start at Allen school a week from today.

However, it was a problem of water for the school which had school authorities worried last week. Since the school is a mile from city water lines, a well was drilled. Down, down to 126 feet it went. An insufficient supply of water was found and drillers last week claimed that drilling any further would mean getting into salt or sulphur water.

A new shallow well was started last Friday. At about 23 feet, a good supply of water was found and it is expected that the Wayne County Health department will approve it for purity.

Bermuda Honeymoon Follows Wedding Of Mr. and Mrs. Cass S. Hough, Jr.

Mrs. Cass S. Hough, Jr.

In a wedding gown of white mousseline de sole scattered with iridescent rosettes on appliques of Alencon lace, Joan Deborah Prescott pledged her marriage vows to Cass Sheffield Hough, Jr., on Saturday, August 29.

Lace molded the bodice and formed a portrait neckline with illusion yoke. The wide flared skirt fell into a chapel train. Three tiers of illusion fell from her princess cap of lace and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink Demure roses edged in swansonia, stephanotis and tulle.

Joan and Cass repeated their vows before the Reverend David Malynaux, D.D., in the First Presbyterian church in Flint. The bridal party stood before a setting of ferns and greens and pyramids of candelabra wound with white gladioli and pompons and on the chancel rail were arrangements of white flowers.

All bridal attendants were in full-skirted, waltz length gowns of iridescent cornflower blue taffeta. Mary Day of Grosse Isle was the maid of honor and Barbara Wagner, Mary Anne Davison, Virginia Pike and Mrs. Philip Hadsell Jr. of Niles were the bridesmaids. Their skirts formed unpressed pleats and the bodices had square necklines accented by rows of tiny buttons. They wore matching slippers and carried colonial bouquets edged in pink tulle and composed of Sweetheart roses and feathered carnations shaded from deep pink in the center to white. Streamers were of pink and blue matching their gowns.

Theresa Lynn Hollowell, flower girl, was in crisp white organdy sashed in blue with blue shoes and she carried a miniature bouquet like those of the other attendants.

Roderick Daane of Ann Arbor was best man and guests were seated by Michael Barnard of Toledo, Baird Bidwell of Milan, Philip Hadsell of Niles and the bride's brother, Jerry Prescott. Phillip Stedding of Detroit, a fraternity brother of the bridegroom, sang.

When the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald James Prescott received in the parlors, Mrs. Prescott was in rose-pink peau de sole with bateau neckline and a small jeweled hat of sequins and pearls. Rose Elf roses were her flowers. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Margaret Reid Hough, was attired in navy blue lace and chiffon and a small hat of opalescent beads in shades of blue. She wore pink rosebuds and delphinium at her waist.

The table was covered with pink satin and organdy and centered with rosebuds and topped with miniatures of the bridal bouquets. Margot Bald, LeAnn Beveridge, Barbara Rose, Suzanne Healy, Bonnie Bishop and Joan Anderson assisted.

The young couple flew to Bermuda where they will honeymoon for two weeks. For traveling Mrs. Hough chose a rose tweed suit with pink blouse and a garnet colored hat.

Upon returning the couple will live at 825 Packard street in Ann Arbor, where they will conclude their studies at the University of Michigan. Joan is a member of Delta Gamma. Cass is affiliated with Sigma Chi. His father, Cass Hough, Sr. resides in Ann Arbor.

Donna Campbell Bride Of James Sterritt In Afternoon Rites

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Sterritt are honeymooning in Chicago, Illinois; St. Louis, Missouri and Fort Worth, Texas, following their marriage on Thursday, August 20. Mrs. Sterritt is the former Donna Jane Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Campbell of Wayne road, Livonia and James is the son of the James V. Sterritts of Morris, Illinois.

The lovely summer wedding was held on the open terrace of the bride's parents' home. Red geraniums, white gladioli and dracena formed a colorful setting. Judge James Sexton of Plymouth officiated at the four o'clock ceremony. Fred Nelson accompanied Nat Sibbold who sang "I Love You Truly," "With This Ring I Thee Wed" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Donna wore a ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace over satin. Her veil of silk illusion was adorned with lace from her mother's bridal veil. She carried an arrangement of white mums daisies and stephanotis.

Mrs. Howard Gerst, a cousin of the bride, was her matron of honor. Her gown was of aqua blue tissue paper taffeta with a lace bolero. She wore a band of blue tulle in her hair and carried a bouquet of yellow daisy mums.

John Kilpatrick of Detroit, classmate of the bridegroom, served James as best man.

Mrs. Campbell, mother of the bride, wore periwinkle blue silk faille and Mrs. Sterritt was in navy silk crepe. Both mothers had orchid corsages.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home for 50 guests coming from Morris, Illinois; Detroit, Belleville, Plymouth and Livonia.

For traveling the new bride wore a red linen suit with black purse and pumps and white gloves and hat.

Mrs. Sterritt received her B. S. degree at Michigan State Normal college in Ypsilanti and her M. A. degree at Wayne University. James was graduated from Knox college, Galesburg, Illinois and Wayne University, with B.F.A. and M.A. degrees.

Commission Okays Bid at Special Session

City commissioners were called in for another special meeting Tuesday night to dispose of pending business including the awarding of a bid on the Simpson street water main and the approval of an extension of Hardenberg street to the Dunn Steel Products company.

Five bids were received on the Simpson street water main which is to be laid from Harvey to Lincoln streets. Submitting the low bid was the Boan Construction company of Detroit. Their bid was $2,962.05. Other bids received were: J. H. Mollet, company, $3,298; Clinansmith Brothers, $3,995; George Odien company, $4,613; and Antin Construction company, $3,298.

Interest in bidding was not as much in evidence when commissioners looked over bids for the old barn behind Dunning library. Only one bid was received. It was from Charles Wilson who submitted a $50 bid. The barn is to be torn down.

The Dunn Steel Products company has been given the okay by the commission for a street extension to their new plant. Hardenberg will be extended to the plant site. Dunn Steel will pay for the street which is to be built of concrete, according to tentative plans.

Also on the evening's agenda was a motion to give the city manager authority to purchase sufficient oil to finish any road oiling jobs this year. Cost of the oil is 10 and three-fourths cent a gallon.

Wisdom is oftentimes nearer when we stoop than where we soar.—Wordsworth.

Warns Parents of Stressing Safety Rules for Kiddies

It is predicted that 2,000 children under 14 years of age will be killed on their way to and from school during the coming term. Thousands more will be injured, many for life.

But it need not happen to Plymouth children if you take the responsibility for getting them off to school with a safe start. Plymouth parents should bear in mind and stress the importance of good safety rules to their children.

The Institute for Safer Living urges parents to personally escort younger children to and from the school until good safety habits are established. The following rules are suggested:

1. Work out and use the safest route to and from school with your child, taking into consideration not the shortest distance, but rather the safest crosswalks, and available traffic police protection.
2. Where there is no policeman, teach the youngster to stop on the curb, look both ways, and watch for turning traffic before walking across.
3. If it is necessary for your child to walk on a roadway, teach him to walk on the extreme left edge of the road, always facing traffic.
4. Impress your children with the need for obeying all traffic officers, school crossing guards, school safety patrols or mechanical signs and signals.

5. Insist on no playing in streets, alleys or driveways.
6. No roller skating to and from school.
7. No hitching rides on motor vehicles when cycling to and from school.
8. If an older brother or sister is accompanying your younger children to and from school, go over the route with both children and insist on responsibility from the older one, and recognition of authority by the younger one.

Practice yourself, for heaven's sake, in little things; and thence proceed to greater.—Epictetus.

Senator to Speak For Dedication

Senator Homer Ferguson will deliver the principal address at the dedication of the new $300,000 Livonia city hall Sunday September 13, at 2 p.m.

The public ceremony will be held in the area in front of the city hall on Five Mile road near Farmington road.

After a welcoming address by Mayor Jesse Ziegler, the introduction of Senator Ferguson will be made by Congressman Charles G. Oakman.

Harry S. Wolfe, president of the Livonia city council, will present a plaque to Ferguson in behalf of the people of Livonia.

The dedication ceremony also will include the presentation of a plaque to Judge Joseph A. Moynihan, presiding circuit judge of Michigan. The presentation to Judge Moynihan will be made by William W. Brashear, city attorney of Livonia.

Father John E. Contway, pastor of St. Michael's parish, will give the invocation. The benediction will be given by the Reverend Robert Richards, pastor of Newburg Methodist church.

Isn't it strange how the country hicks think they must rave about every Broadway play they see, so as to prove their appreciation of art?

Calvin Lang

Among the 12,000 men who participated in the largest and most extensive training exercise since World War II was Calvin K. Lang, gunner's mate seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Lang of 29100 Plymouth road, and husband of Mrs. Margaret E. Lang of 40406 Ford road, all of Plymouth, aboard the destroyer USS Marshall.

The exercise was code-named DESTRAEX and the units involved made up Task Force 12. A unit of the First Fleet, the Task Force consisted of two cruisers, 15 destroyers, four submarines, two destroyer tenders, and a fleet oiler.

A visit to Seattle was a breather for the Task Force. The 24-ship armada, joined by 12 destroyer escorts from the 11th, 12th, and 13th Naval Districts paraded single file over a 12-mile course along the shores of Elliot Bay as a part of the Seattle Sea Fair.

Lack of Rain Resulting in Crop Harm on Area Farms

The scorching sun which has constantly sent the mercury into the high 90's during the past week is causing unestimated thousands of dollars in damage to crops in the Plymouth area, a survey of four farms indicates.

Sweet corn and tomatoes are among the victims of the rainless days reported by many farmers. Others find that regular field corn is not developing properly. Even city dwellers who have not regularly watered their lawns will claim their grass crops as heat victims. Lawn planting can be an expensive item.

Dried-up cucumber vines, underdeveloped sweet corn and sunburned tomatoes are among the damaged crops found by Walter Dethloff, 41011 Five Mile road. Both sweet corn and field corn are being hurt by the rainless days, reports Warren Palmer, 11845 Warren road. Their main business is corn and cattle and cattle are right now having a hard time finding any green in the pasture.

Five acres of sweet corn on the Gust Eschels farm at 5435 Gotfredson road appears to be ruined. Mrs. Eschels claims that the dryness is starting from the bottom of the stalks and is working its way up.

One of the farmers contacted reports no damage to his crops. He is growing 65 acres of corn this year and because there was plenty of water in the ground early in the season, his corn appears to be pulling through without noticeable damage.

We Thought You Ought to Know

So many people have asked us about the pretty girl photographer that travels up and down the streets of Plymouth every Thursday for The Plymouth Mail taking pictures, that we thought you ought to know something about her.

She is Norma Savery Scherman, the wife of Detroit attorney George Scherman and resides about seven miles west of Plymouth on Territorial road. Photography is her major hobby and by chance one day we learned she would be interested in spending one day a week taking pictures for us.

Not only does she enjoy taking pictures but she says it is really thrilling to meet all of the people she comes in contact with and to see her pictures in print each week. For your further information she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Coda Savery, well known Salem township farmers and the sister of Mrs. Edwin Schrader.

Officials Attend Municipal League Meet at Mackinaw

Three Plymouth city officials left yesterday for Mackinaw Island where they are attending the 55th annual session of the Michigan Municipal League. The three are Mayor Russell Daane, City Manager Al Glassford and Engineer Stan Besse.

Held at the Grand Hotel, the meeting will include addresses by congressmen, state representatives, panel discussions and sectional meetings at which members of the various city departments gather to discuss common problems.

Aboard the Good Ship MAYFLOWER

Arrivals: Mr. Harold Masters, Assistant to the President of Utilities Line Construction Company. His small territory covers the United States, Canada and Mexico. We were going to refer to him as an "ex" safety engineer, but he's not exactly an "ex" in that department, being very active on safety work. His safety program reflects here in the fine record of the local Michigan branch headed by Harry Roberts.

Overheard in The Pilgrim Room: Earl Mastick to Attorney Dunbar Davis, — "Here, take this ball-point pen back. You told me when I stole it that it wasn't much good, but I didn't know it was that bad." Davis' retort, — "Well, it makes eight good carbon copies and NO original."

The Plymouth Golf Tournament which seemed ready to flounder after many years was revived at The Pilgrim Room Breakfast tables. At the suggestion of Chamber of Commerce President Ralph Lorenz the organizing was undertaken by Dave Cameron, Rex Purkey, L. B. Rice, Bill Slinger and Bob Wesley. Within 24 hours things were humming, place, time, rules, prizes and other details decided. It's a pleasure, indeed, to see the man-sized men take hold of a project. They really get things done!

Visitors aboard the Mayflower for luncheon yesterday included ex-Plymouth resident Harold B. Coolman. He was in town on business connected with his parking meter sales company, which covers most of the north-central states. Local Kiwanians will be interested in the fact that Mr. Coolman is a Lieutenant Governor of Kiwanis for his district, working out of Ann Arbor.

Hundreds of readers of the Ford Times national magazine have written to the Mayflower's skipper to find out what "Maggi" is. It seems that in nominating the hotel as one of the nation's best eating places this ingredient was mentioned in one of the most famous recipes from the galley. Inquiries have come from as far as San Francisco and Mexico from culinary experts. The Mayflower is answering all letters although it is quite a task. For the information of local folks "Maggi" is a commercial preparation used by leading chefs for seasoning. Through the urging of The Mayflower's management the makers will soon market the product in four ounce bottles for home use. When it is available one of the first places to have it will be "The Wine Shop," which leads with such new or unusual items.

One of the Mayflower's frequent noon-day guests is also one of our favorite Doctors. While he is up at Lake Teacon working on a new cottage we'd like to pass on a quote of his from Josh Billings: — "There ain't much fun in medicine, but there's a lot of medicine in fun."

Many times each year some frequent guest of the Mayflower becomes a permanent resident of our community. These folks who make their first contacts through the hotel are favorably impressed with our town. The personnel of the Mayflower is proud to point out the many advantages of the community, and the pleasant life to be had here. Latest on the Mayflower's guest list to purchase a home nearby is Mr. Maxwell Wachowiak, assistant to the president of The Wall Wire Products Company.

Available in "The Wine Shop" now are four-ply super-soft dinner napkins. They're sterilized and ready for use, too. Fifty for $1.00. — Just one of the many party items for a thoughtful hostess.

West Brothers to Display State Fair Exhibits Soon

West Brothers Appliances, 507 South Main street will have or display exhibits in the Michigan State Fair. The exhibits can be seen on September 5, 7, 9, 10 and 12.

One of the features in the display will be the International Harvester Tractor, which will perform a square dance at the Fair in the Billy Graham Tabernacle.

Services Held

(Continued from Page 1) he steadily became worse and was taken to Wayne County General hospital where he was pronounced dead upon arrival at 10 p.m. Death was due to shock and hemorrhage.

The family had been visiting friends on Koppernick road and were returning on Northville road when the accident took place in front of McAllister's Grocery between Edward Hines drive and Five Mile road.

Services were held at the Schrader funeral home with Rector Chester N. Cones of Detroit officiating and organ music was furnished by Edna O'Conner. Burial was in Riverside cemetery.

Harold was born May 17, 1949 in Detroit. Surviving besides the mother, stepfather, sister and half-brother are his grandparents, Mrs. Mary Sennenberg of Saginaw, Fred Preston of Findlay, Ohio and Mr. Dube of Massachusetts.

Merchants Air

To avoid parking congestion, the speaker recommended either extending shopping hours or investing in more parking lots. He also explained the proposed one-way street system which would make one-way streets of Farmer and Blanche streets. Questioned if the routing of traffic around the business section may not hurt business, Knoske stated that it would not only affect business, but may increase it when people find they can drive downtown to shop without too much traffic congestion.

The last item of business during the lengthy session was the annual topic about evening openings before Christmas. Merchants are also considering opening another evening during the week, perhaps Thursday or Monday.

Start of a promotion program will coincide with the Christmas opening which will be either December 4 or 9. Chamber of Commerce Secretary Nat Sibbold was instructed to make a telephone poll among affected merchants to find which date they prefer. Some argued that opening too early failed to pay off, while others believed that opening on the previously suggested December 11 was too late.

Sibbold will also poll merchants about the opening of stores on another night. Besides remaining open on Friday nights, the poll will seek opinion on staying open on another week night with Monday receiving the strongest support from those interested.

Ralph Seyfried reported that merchants will soon be informed about a new "welcome" booklet for Plymouth. The book will contain a map and other data about the city along with a page advertisement from participating merchants. The ad will include a coupon which new residents of the city can "cash in" to a merchant for a gift.

Jerry Pease, president of the Retail Merchants association, presided during the evening. The guest speaker, Arthur Knoske, was introduced by L. B. Rice, manager of the Plymouth AAA office.

Rice revealed that many of the prizes were now on display in Kresge's store window this week and that more would be added this weekend. First prize in the championship flight will be a set of eight Wilson Sam Snead irons (1954 models); in the first flight a set of four 1954 model Wilson Sam Snead woods will be awarded the winner; second flight winner will get a set of six Sam Snead Wilson irons; and in the third flight the winner will get a set of four Wilson Dutch Harrison woods. Each flight winner will get a trophy and in addition the championship flight winner will receive the large tournament trophy.

"Merchant donations to the tournament have been most gratifying," said Rice. Other prizes already on hand include: golf bag, two pairs of golf shoes, golf cart, three sport shirts, ashtray set, keycase, cuff links, three dozen golf balls and many other items. The complete list of prizes, as well as the business establishments responsible for the donations, will be published at a later date, Rice indicated.

Committee member Todd reported that Burrell Bolin, long-time Plymouth golf enthusiast, would act as starter and official scorer at the tournament. He also stated that there is a need for caddies at the Bob 'O Link course and that any boy desiring to earn some money at the tournament may contact any member of the committee.

PICTURES SHOW LOCAL TRAFFIC WEAKNESSES

PLYMOUTH'S $7-PAGE AAA traffic report contains many suggestions on how to alleviate traffic congestion, among which is the establishment of one-way streets. Farmer street, shown here, would be westbound while nearby Blanche would be eastbound. Both would require blacktopping and the dangerous Farmer street crossing would need flashers and lowering of the grade, the report recommends.

A COMPLETE PROGRAM of painting lines on all main streets in the city is urged in the survey. "The paint lining should lead the way for traffic throughout the town," it adds. Some cities have a paint lining machine as pictured above.

PARKING METERS are not doing the job they should. The AAA survey claims, because there are not enough police on traffic duty to make regular meter checks for violations. Many motorists take advantage of this lax checking and make a penny's worth of time stretch to a half hour or more. Collecting and counting of meter money should be a job for the treasurer's office, the survey recommends, and not for the already understaffed police department.

ANOTHER RECOMMENDATION which city commissioners will consider when they look over the survey is the traffic light in front of the city hall. Except during school hours, the light should be turned off, the survey states. Eliminating the light would speed up the traffic on Main street which backs up for a block or more behind the light during busy hours.

YOU CAN EAT BETTER

with an ELECTRIC farm freezer

Edison Home Service Advisor, left, shows Mrs. Desmond Walters the latest technique in wrapping foods for freezing. The Walters' 20-cubic-foot freezer is always well-stocked with good things to eat.

Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Walters farm about 90 acres in St. Clair County. They are general farmers with a milking herd of 12 cows. They also keep 200 to 500 laying hens, and raise 500 broilers a year. The Walters keep their farm freezer packed with meats, fruits and vegetables, either home-grown or purchased. Mrs. Walters says she doesn't know how they would get along without it. She finds freezing easier than canning, and loves the convenience of always having tasty food at her finger tips. You, too, can enjoy better meals and extra convenience the year round with a farm freezer. For full information see your Edison Home Service Advisor.

Good wiring is always important. So always ask your Farm Service Advisor for his recommendations.

Plymouth Shoe Dealers Celebrate "New in Shoes For '53"

Keeping pace with the National Shoe Institute, the shoe dealers of Plymouth are currently celebrating the "New in Shoes" for 1953. Kept to familiarize the people with the latest style changes in footwear, the campaign is being observed nationwide.

As president of the Michigan shoe retailers association, James Houk of Fisher's shoe store pointed out that the New-in-Shoes promotion was gaining momentum and this year has earned recognition in nearly all national fashion publications. "Several metropolitan newspapers are co-operating with the Shoe Institute in carrying the message to the public about what is going on in our industry," he said.

Leading the parade in shoe news seems to be the "heel." Some are smart, some are bizarre, some are simply fantastic. In fact one new heel is known as "Mystery Fantastique" and that is just what it is. You have heard of Cinderella's glass slipper. "Mystery Fantastique" isn't a whole glass slipper, but it is a high spindle heel encased in clear transparent glass. This heel is being shown on black suede pumps and sandals for afternoon and cocktail wear. From a little distance it gives the illusion of balancing on a high heel no thicker than a pencil.

Among the other fantasies in the heel division are real pencil heels, broomstick heels, heels known as duckbill and umbrella. Most of these eccentric designs look best in the casual or at-home shoes where a dash of excitement is permissible.

The gaucho heel is really very smart—long and narrow. It combines with the more pointed toe to give that streamlined look which dominates fashions and accessories.

Smart also the square heel which is designed to complement the pump which is squared off at the tip and the heart-shaped heel of built-up leather which repeats the theme of the heart-shaped vamp in a town-and-country shoe of black suede trimmed with tan leather.

THE GRACEFUL STRAP SHOE has a newly elegant "dress-maker" look. With vamp detail, tiny button, a slender heel, it achieves feminine charm and is flattering too, spotlighting the pretty ankle.

MOCCASINS SUCH AS THESE hand laced with kitten-tongue, fringed collar and foam rubber soles, were never more stylish. Made of one piece elk leather.

SURE FOOTED COMFORT derives from bouncy foam rubber soles and elk leather to make these sportshoes a delight to wear. Finger gore plug assures walking ease.

FOR BRISK AFTERNOONS in suits and furs, graceful high heeled pumps of polished calf in deep taragon brown. Tapered toe and heel reflect the Spanish influence.

PALE AND GLOWING leathers will be prominent in footwear fashion this season. These blond kid V-Strap open back sandals have the new Spanish toes.

Margaret Saxton Wed in Candlelight Ceremony in St. John's Church

Mrs. John Charles Wieck

St. John's Episcopal church was the scene on Saturday evening, August 29, of the marriage of Margaret Elizabeth Saxton and John Charles Wieck. Margaret is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean F. Saxton of West Ann Arbor trail. Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Wieck of Canton, Ohio are the bridegroom's parents.

Palm, white gladioli and candelabra formed the setting for the seven-thirty o'clock wedding. The Reverend David T. Davies read the impressive service. Donald R. Mitchell of Kent, Ohio, sang Gounod's "Ave Maria" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Margaret approached the altar, on the arm of her father, in a candlelight satin gown. The fitted bodice was trimmed with a Chantilly lace yoke and long sleeves extending to points at the wrists. The bouffant skirt featured a cathedral train. Her veil of French illusion was held in place by a white beaded catot and she carried a white Prayer Book on which was mounted white roses and stephanotis.

Molly Saxton was her sister's maid of honor. She wore imported white organdy over taffeta in ballerina length. The circular skirt and fitted bodice with portrait neckline were features of her gown. She carried bronze daisy mums and Hibbard roses. Bridesmaids were Barbara Cushman and Ruth Spinniker. They were dressed like the maid of honor and carried yellow daisy mums and Hibbard roses. Sally Taylor, niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl and Alan Saxton, nephew of the bride, was the ringbearer.

John asked Paul Thompson of Canton, Ohio to assist him as best man and Kenneth Schneider of Detroit and Larry March of Kent, Ohio were the ushers.

Mrs. Saxton chose for her daughter's wedding, a gray lace dress with pink accessories. Mrs. Wieck was in night blue with navy accessories. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

Two hundred guests from Ohio, Indiana and Michigan attended the reception which was held in the old Saxton homestead in Southfield. The bride's sister, Molly being the hostess.

For traveling in northern Michigan Mrs. Wieck chose a blue and black pin check suit with black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Wieck is a senior at Michigan State college in East Lansing and Mr. Wieck was graduated from Kent University. He is now in the United States Navy stationed at Portsmouth, Virginia.

Luke Bakers Wed In Salem Parsonage

In a quiet wedding at the parsonage of the Congregational church in Salem on Saturday, August 29 at three o'clock in the afternoon Miss Edna Gross of Kentucky and Walled Lake became the bride of Luke Baker.

The double ring ceremony was read by the Reverend Lucia M. Stroh.

Miss Lorene Gross assisted the bride as maid of honor and James Watts, Jr. was Luke's best man.

Edna was lovely in a white taffeta and lace dress and carried a bouquet of red roses. Lorene wore pink net. Her bouquet was of white roses.

Attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Chester Spencer and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Watts, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Baker and daughter and Burlan Holland. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Chester Spencer home in Garden City.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker will make their home in Walled Lake.

Angeline Baughn Weds Doyle Gray

Mrs. Angeline Baughn of North Mill street announces the marriage of her daughter, Beatrice Carol to Private Doyle Lee Gray of Plymouth.

The couple were married at a quiet ceremony in Livonia on Thursday, August 20.

Private Gray is now stationed at Camp Kilmer, New Jersey awaiting shipment to Europe.

Annual Oldenburg Reunion Held Sunday

The seventh annual Oldenburg reunion was held on August 30 in the usual location, Riverside park. Ninety-three were present to enjoy the potluck dinner, coffee, ice cream and soft drinks. Relatives were present from Detroit, Lansing, Milford, Walled Lake, Royal Oak, Inkster, Livonia, Farmington, Northville, Belleville and Plymouth. The afternoon was spent playing games. The same committees and officers were held over from last year including president, George Oldenburg, secretary, Earl Thomas and treasurer Harvey Thomas.

In an impressive candlelight ceremony on Friday evening, August 28, in the First Presbyterian church, Plymouth, Patricia Ellen Pine and David F. Shipman repeated their nuptial vows.

Patricia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Pine of Dunn Court, Plymouth, and Dr. and Mrs. Harry R. Shipman of Geddes road, Ann Arbor are the bridegroom's parents.

The Reverend Henry Walch, D.D. officiated at the seven-thirty o'clock ceremony before

Patricia Pine and David Shipman Wed at First Presbyterian Church

Mrs. David F. Shipman

In an impressive candlelight ceremony on Friday evening, August 28, in the First Presbyterian church, Plymouth, Patricia Ellen Pine and David F. Shipman repeated their nuptial vows.

Patricia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Pine of Dunn Court, Plymouth, and Dr. and Mrs. Harry R. Shipman of Geddes road, Ann Arbor are the bridegroom's parents.

The Reverend Henry Walch, D.D. officiated at the seven-thirty o'clock ceremony before the altar which was graced with candelabra and palms. Patricia approached the altar on the arm of her father in a floor length gown of nylon tulle over taffeta. The full skirt swept into a cathedral train. The point of the fitted bodice and the illusion neckline were trimmed with appliques of rose medallions. Her fingertip length veil was gathered into a cap of the rose medallions and she carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Shirley Pine was her sister's maid of honor. She wore ice blue nylon tulle over taffeta in floor length and she wore matching gloves and crownless cap of the blue. Her colonial bouquet was of yellow daisies and yellow roses.

Bridesmaids were Nancy Morrow and Beverly Sharp of Royal Oak and Mae Youngquist of Dearborn. Their gowns were fashioned like that of the honor maid and their flowers were colonial bouquets of yellow roses.

David asked his brother, Robert to assist him as best man. Ushers were Jack Shipman, Robert Brown, both of Ann Arbor; Peter Bargrow of Florida, Jack Withrow of East Lansing and Don McLaughlin of New Jersey.

Both mothers chose floor length gowns of powder blue chiffon with lace jackets and matching accessories. Their corsages were of orchids.

A reception for 250 guests was held at lovely Botsford Inn following the ceremony. Guests were present from Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Detroit and Toledo, Ohio.

The young couple are honeymooning in northern Michigan. For traveling the new Mrs. Shipman wore a beige suit with brown accessories and a corsage of brown orchids.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Shipman are attending Michigan State college. Pat is a member of Sigma Kappa and Dave is affiliated with Delta Tau Delta. They will live in East Lansing where they will both resume their studies.

Beverly Hokenson and William Mathis United in Recent Candlelight Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. William Russell Mathis

Mr. and Mrs. William Russell Mathis are honeymooning in northern Michigan following their marriage in the First Pres-of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Hokenson of West Chicago boulevard, Livonia. William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Mathis of Theisen avenue, Dearborn.

The Reverend Henry Walch officiated at the eight o'clock candlelight ceremony before the altar which was graced with bouquets of white gladioli and palms.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Marge Thomas sang "With This Ring I Thee Wed" and "Through the Years". While the young couple were kneeling at the altar she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Beverly's gown was of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. The basque waistline had a portrait neckline of illusion edged in the lace and long lace sleeves. Panels of the lace extended down the front of the full skirt and tiny buttons graced the back of the gown. Her illusion veil fell gracefully from a coronet of the lace over satin etched in seedpearls. She carried a white Bible centered with a white orchid and stephanotis tied with satin streamers knotted with ivy.

Julia Mae Joseph was Beverly's maid of honor. She wore a gown of shrimp colored Chantilly lace with basque waistline, portrait neckline and nylon tulle skirt with lace panels down the front. Her headpiece was of petaled taffeta and lace and she carried a colonial bouquet of mixed flowers.

Bonnie Bohl and Nancy Larsen, the bridesmaids were gowned like the maid of honor in a soft shade of blue. They too wore matching headbands and carried colonial bouquets of mixed flowers.

Clair Menielly was the best man and seating the guests were Thomas Larsen and Charles Record.

Mrs. Hokenson, mother of the bride, wore powder blue lace with navy accessories. Mrs. Mathis was in rose with navy accessories. Both mothers' corsages were of orchids.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church. One hundred twenty-five guests were present coming from Flint, Detroit, Livonia, Dearborn, Lansing, Virginia and Plymouth.

Mrs. Mathis chose a blue suit with navy accessories for her wedding trip. After returning from their honeymoon they will reside at 6533 Theisen street in Dearborn.

Mrs. Mathis is a Plymouth High school graduate and attended Michigan State college. Her husband was graduated from Fordson High school at Dearborn and from Michigan State college.

James Stevens Will Wed Ann Arbor Girl

Miss Donna May Schwartz

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer G. Schwartz of Eighth street, Ann Arbor, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Donna May Schwartz, to James H. Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Stevens of Church street.

Both young people are students at Michigan State Normal college in Ypsilanti.

Flats Are Back With New Flair

Yes, women will be wearing flats this fall. And many of the new designs are pretty enough for all-day wear with town and country suits. The fine detailing of more formal shoes has been adapted to flats with interesting use of materials and color combinations.

A newcomer in the shoe field is tweed patterned corduroy. Corduroy is famous for its sturdy wearing qualities, as witness the corduroy trousers for small boys. It's also light and easy on the foot. For daylong country wear almost any woman would like a brown tweed corduroy with soft toe and counter, trimmed with matching brown leather piping, lacing and vamp medallion.

Maple suede, a soft neutral that goes with everything is used for another flat with the new pancake heel and trimming of white braiding, cut-outs and button on the vamp. This combination of neutral with white continues into fall as a high fashion for casual wear.

Or you may have a completely soft black suede flat with elasticized broad instep strap. Black patent gives a bit of glint in an offside bow on the strap.

A more rugged type for your country tweeds and flannels is a two eyelet oxford of glove soft polished leather with hand-stitching on the moccasin vamp. And grey tweed flecked with yellow, red, green and blue is combined with black polished leather in one of the new one strap patterns that's pretty indeed.

For a woman with a busy life, there's nothing like a pair of such well-styled flats to see her through a day of doing!

Slip-Ons Slide Forward In Popularity With Men

One of the fastest growing men's shoe fashions is the slip-on type of shoe. It's being seen today in a wide number of versions, both for dress and casual wear.

The men love 'em for their comfort, their smart appearance, the ease in which they can slip their feet into them. It's the shoe of today, and the even more popular shoe of tomorrow.

But as with so many fashions in all fields, the ultra-modern men's slip-on isn't really new. Today's smart versions are adaptations of popular models of centuries past.

The pump, for example, which is the most popular women's shoe of today, originally was a men's shoe—and a slip-on. Nobody knows for sure when or where it started—except that it did have its origin centuries ago.

Then, back about 1905 it sprang into renewed popularity as a men's dancing shoe, was soon adopted by the women, and now belongs almost wholly to them. But it was originally one of the men's slip-ons.

The D'Orsay pump, created by French Count D'Orsay more than a hundred years ago as a men's slip-on shoe, was also adopted by the women.

The gore shoe, also over 100 years old, was a slip-on shoe invented by an Englishman, J. Sparkes Hall, as a woman's shoe. It's basically, is the men's slip-on shoe of today—with going on the side or instep.

The recent rise of the men's slip-on type shoes has been spectacular. The gore types, because of the elasticized portion, gives a smart, gloved fit around the top of the shoe, yet has sufficient stretch to permit full comfort.

More and more patterns are being featured in slip-on types, and in an increasing array of colors and materials.

Plymouth Plating Works Marks Thirtieth Anniversary in Business

Thirty years ago this month, Frank Henderson and Henry Hondorp, with a capital of $50 between them, decided to go into business for themselves.

Today, the prosperous Plymouth Plating Works at 397 Farmer street is the result of their hard work and perseverance.

In August, 1923, the two men set up shop in the back part of what was then the F. Millard company. It is now the location of the Dunn Steel company.

During the spring of 1924, they built their own small shop, which is still located at their present site. An addition was put onto it in 1929, and it was again enlarged in 1940. The most recent acquisition of the company was an extra lot, to provide parking space for their employees.

The company now employs between 10 and 15 men. One of the employees, Vern Kahrl of 3161 Gotfredson road, Ypsilanti, has been with the Plating Works since 1929. He is, in Mr. Henderson's words, "one of the best polishers in the business."

The original partnership was changed in 1945, when Henry Hondorp passed away. At that time, his son, Gerald, entered the business.

The Plymouth Plating Works

provides electro-plating service, and does metal finishing. Mr. Henderson has seen a great change in the amount that can be produced in the past 30 years. He attributes this change to the great number of inventions and processes discovered during the last war.

"Recently, we made a shipment of two tons of nuts, bolts and screws, which were all made in one day. I believe our capacity is now around five tons per day. However, when the two of us started out, the most we could produce was around 500 pounds per day," he said.

For 15 years, the Plymouth Plating Works did not send out monthly billing statements. "This might be considered a funny way of doing business," says Mr. Henderson, "but during that time we never lost $1,000." Henderson said he believed the reason that this system worked was that his company deals mostly with large and reputable companies and factories. Even now, the number of statements they send out is at a minimum.

Gerald Hondorp has the distinction of never having worked in any other business except the Plymouth Plating Works. He is married to the former Dora Mary Gallimore, and is the father of two sons, Gary and Craig. They live at 1317 Park place.

Mr. Henderson came to Plymouth in 1901. He married a local girl, Miss Fern Murray. They now reside at 401 Sunset.

The Plymouth Plating Works, which certainly has grown in value since its original worth of $50, not only serves the Plymouth area, but much of its work comes from Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Howell and Detroit.

Plan Meeting For Parents of Local Retarded Kiddies

School bells are ringing for 99% of the children of Michigan but this is not so for 1% of our children. Schools and communities are reluctant about planning for this large number of mentally deficient children. These children are of school age but fall below an I. Q. of fifty. It has been found that a majority of parents of these children can with patient training assume the responsibility of training their own children at home until the time comes when they are included in the educational program of all communities. If you are a parent or a friend of a mentally retarded child, join forces with other such people to:

1. Help educate the public.
2. Aid in expansion of special class facilities.
3. Pilot projects for the mentally retarded.
4. Study state and local facilities.
5. Encourage research.
6. Learn ways to train your child at home to the limit of his ability so he can take his proper place in the family and community.

The Washtenaw Chapter of the Michigan Association for Mentally Retarded Children meets the first Monday of every month at the Racham Building. The September meeting because it falls on Labor Day will be held Tuesday Sept. 8 at the home of Henry Keller 851 E. Forest Ave., Ypsilanti at 7:30. All interested people are welcome.

Farm Agent Tells Why Tomatoes Wilt

Why are my tomatoes wilting? Many many gardeners are putting that question to N. A. Smith, Assistant Wayne County Agricultural Agent and to Michigan State College specialists.

If the symptoms the gardener describes sound right, N. A. Smith asks, "Do you have a walnut tree near your garden?" If the answer is "yes," the county agent knows the reason the gardener's tomatoes are wilting.

Walnut trees and nuts secrete an alkaloid, a poisonous substance that affects many plants, including tomatoes, explains Mrs. Miriam C. Strong of M.S.C.'s botany and plant pathology department. If roots are in contact with the tomatoes roots, the plants will be poisoned. The substance also injures some lilacs, chrysanthemums, apples, alfalfa and potatoes. On tomatoes the effects of the alkaloid is sometimes confused with fusarium wilt.

Scientists have found that the walnut tree substance also makes a good fungicide. They have controlled black spot on roses with the material.

In the old days, people rubbed on walnut shucks to cure skin diseases.

Mr. Smith, also says if you want spring blossoms many bulbs and related root forms should be planted early in September for the best results and not later than October 15.

Michigan State college floriculturists, for example, report that the Madonna lily, a base rooting plant, must be planted early enough to develop a rosette of leaves before freezing weather comes. If the rosette isn't formed before frost, chances are the plant will not bloom next year.

The floriculturists advise planting most bulbs before the middle of September. Narcissus, snowflake, snowdrop, grape-hyacinth and Siberian squill do best if planted early because they form their root system while the soil is still warm. The development slows down when the soil gets cold.

The M.S.C. specialists believe it's better to plant tulip bulbs, however, after the soil becomes cool. If they are planted too early the tulips are apt to make top growth. Then it's possible the new growth can be killed by frost in the spring.

National Bank Proposes to Issue Stock Dividend

Directors of National Bank of Detroit today acted to submit proposals to the bank's more than 8,000 shareholders which will result in the issuance of additional common stock for cash subscription and also as a stock dividend. A special meeting of shareholders is scheduled for this purpose on September 24, Charles T. Fisher, Jr. president, announced today.

If the proposals are approved, the cash offering will consist of 313,200 shares which will be offered to shareholders pro rata on subscription on the basis of one additional share for each five shares held of record September 24.

The subscription price for the additional shares it to be determined at the shareholders' meeting and "we contemplate that it will be set somewhat below the market price prevailing on the day of the meeting," Mr. Fisher stated. Shareholders' rights to subscribe for the additional stock will extend to October 15. The stock dividend would be at the rate of 19.732 per cent and would be payable November 16 to shareholders of record October 22. The stock dividend would call for the issuance of 370,800 shares and would be paid on the 313,200 shares to be issued on cash subscription as well as on the 1,566,000 shares now outstanding.

Stockholders of First National Bank of Plymouth, Plymouth United Savings Bank and the Wayne State Bank, exchanged stock of these institutions for 66,000 shares of National Bank of Detroit stock, when the four banks were merged in October, 1952.

Many residents of these suburban communities had been stockholders in National Bank of Detroit for many years before the merger, and this number has been constantly increasing in Plymouth, Wayne, Garden City, Inkster, Livonia and wherever the bank has community or neighborhood offices.

"It is the intention of the Board of Directors, if conditions permit, to continue the present cash dividend rate, namely $2 per share per annum, on the increased number of shares to be outstanding," Mr. Fisher also reported.

Upon completion of these proposed moves, the bank would have 2,250,000 shares of common stock outstanding and its total capital funds would be approximately $91,500,000, exclusive of reserves.

"In making these proposals,"

Mr. Fisher said, "the Board of Directors has given consideration to a number of factors and especially to the steady and substantial increase in the deposits of the bank. This growth in deposits has been accompanied by an expanding demand for loans and other banking services, and the increase in capital funds through the proposed sale of additional stock will further improve the bank's position and broaden its usefulness to customers and to the industries and communities which it serves."

National Bank of Detroit reported total deposits of $1,672,060,497 on June 30, 1953, and occupied the number 10 position among the country's largest banks. It serves approximately 500,000 depository customers through 44 offices in Detroit and in nearby Garden City, Harper Woods, Inkster, Livonia, Plymouth and Wayne.

Look what your FORD dollar buys!

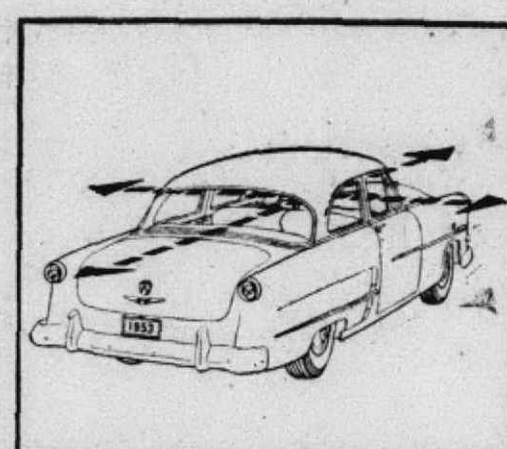

Check the features below against any car in the low-price field and you'll see why Ford's worth more when you buy it...worth more when you sell it.

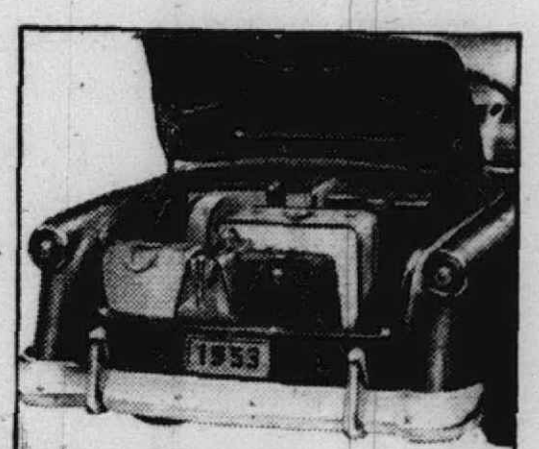

V-8 POWER is yours in Ford—but not in other low-priced cars. It's the product of Ford's experience in building over 13,000,000 V-8's! Ford's high-compression, low-friction Mileage Maker Six with Overdrive, is the Economy Sweepstakes winner.

ROAD-LEVELING RIDE reduces front end road shock alone up to 80%. Wide front tread, diagonally-mounted shock absorbers take tilt out of turns. You'll discover in the '53 Ford that a car need not be excessively heavy to ride smooth as silk.

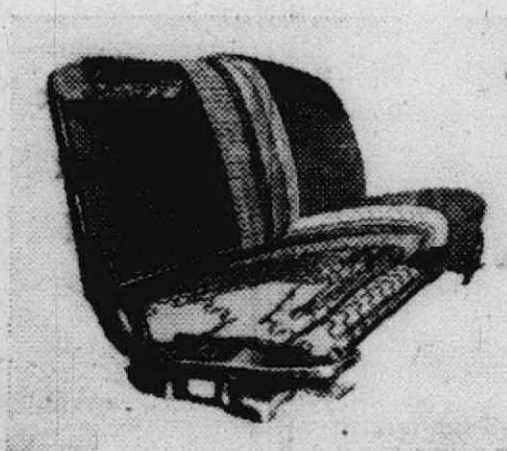

FULL-CIRCLE VISIBILITY is yours in Ford. With huge, curved, one-piece windshield, car-wide rear window and "picture windows" all-around, Ford has more "look out" area than any car in the low-price field. I-REST tinted glass also available.

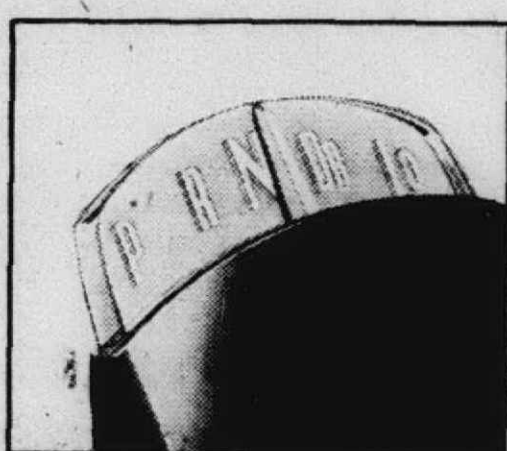

ROOMY TRUNK is one suitcase bigger... bigger than any other luggage compartment in Ford's field... bigger than you'll find in many of the expensive cars. With Ford's Center-Fill Fueling, there's no long gas-fill pipe to eat up your trunk space.

SUSPENDED PEDALS make braking and clutching easier... allow more clear floor space... eliminate dusty, drafty floor holes. This feature, exclusive to Ford in its field, permits dash-mounting of brake master cylinder for easy accessibility.

FOAM-RUBBER CUSHIONS over non-sag springs in Ford's sofa-wide seats make even long trips a treat. And you'll find that only Ford in the low-price field offers this fine-car feature as standard equipment on both front and rear seats in all models.

FORDOMATIC DRIVE—an optional extra—is really two automatic drives in one. It has a fluid torque converter for smooth, steady power flow. It has automatic gears for greater "get-up-and-go." Ford also offers you Overdrive and Conventional Drive.

MASTER-GUIDE POWER STEERING—an optional extra on V-8 models—gives you the natural "feel" of steering on the straight-away yet takes the work out of turning. Absorbs road shocks before they reach the steering wheel—adds to safety.

If you're interested in used cars, be sure to see our selections.

Methodist minister Melbourne Johnson, now home from a northern Michigan vacation is exhibiting in The Mail office this weekend the product of one of his newer hobbies, that of making lamps from driftwood.

According to Reverend Johnson many hours of pleasant beach combing provide excellent recreation and then evening hours can be profitably spent making lamps and other interesting items from the driftwood found on desolate beaches.

Game Law Digest Published Soon

Michigan's game law digest for 1953 will soon be available to hunters, the conservation department reports.

About 1.5 million of the 12-page digests have been printed and mailing was started this week.

The digest contains hunting rules and regulations on all game species except deer and migratory waterfowl; those two species will follow soon in a special one-page digest supplement.

Both digest and supplement should be available from any of the more than 4,000 state license dealers by mid-September.

Roads Cleared For Labor Day

Special instructions to highway construction crews and other steps were taken today to expedite traffic over the Labor Day weekend.

Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler instructed construction crews to see that all detours were in good shape and plainly marked. On projects where traffic is maintained alongside actual construction, Ziegler ordered work stopped at noon Friday until September 8, except in case of emergency work.

The Straits of Mackinac ferries will operate to capacity to move traffic as rapidly as possible, Ziegler said. Boats will leave as often as every 20 minutes.

The commissioner urged all drivers to use extra caution over the weekend.

An educated man is not necessarily a learned man or a university man, but a man with certain subtle spiritual qualities which make him calm in adversity, happy when alone, just in his dealings, rational and sane in all the affairs of life.—Ramsay MacDonald.

CHURCHES OF OUR AREA Latter Day Saints

Latter Day Saints Looking Forward to New Church

With the years of violence and turmoil now far behind them, the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints is today busy working for worldwide growth and is letting Plymouth citizens know that "we're here to stay."

Though they now have no home of their own in Plymouth, the congregation of 50 "saints" is looking forward to perhaps two or three years from now when they hope to build a modern edifice in or near the city. The group has been meeting the past four years in the Masonic Temple.

Organizing here in 1941, the congregation temporarily met in a home and later in the Odd Fellows hall before taking over the Masonic hall each Sunday morning and evening. Though the congregation still remains small, Athol Packer, young presiding elder of the group, states that the denomination is determined to stay and thrive in Plymouth.

The 145,000 members of the Reorganized Latter Day Saints are spread across the United States, Canada, Australia, British Isles, Netherlands, Germany and the Society islands. All this has happened since 1860 when the Reorganized Latter Day Saints had their birth following two decades of persecution and disorganization.

Because of this early turmoil, members of the Reorganized Latter Day Saints are quick to point out that they are in no way connected with the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormons) who were led by Brigham Young to Utah and "introduced strange new doctrines of plural goods, polygamy and blood atonement."

The original Latter Day Saints movement was started in 1830 at Fayette, New York by Joseph Smith and a group of friends. While reading Scripture, Smith received revelations which resulted in the new doctrine and the publishing of the "Book of Mormon." The Book of Mormon contains a history of early America and declares that Jesus Christ once visited this continent. It also states that American Indians are descendants of Hebrews who came from Jerusalem about 600 B.C. Evidence is continually being uncovered by archeologists proving these facts, Elder Packer points out.

When organizing the new church, leaders found that the Bible calls Christ's followers "saints" and not "Christians," which the early saints of Antioch were called by their enemies. Prophecies also show that we are living in the "latter days," the age when the church should be restored. The saints of today are therefore latter-day saints, it is pointed out.

The new church turned westward and in the disturbing times of slavery, politics and religion, Joseph and Hyrum Smith were shot to death by a mob at Carthage, Illinois in 1844. Pressure of persecution in Illinois forced the people to leave or cease church activities during the next two years. Ambitious leaders were contending for the place made vacant by the death of Joseph Smith, so in 1846 the exodus began and groups were led to Texas, Michigan, Iowa and Utah.

The "reorganized" movement, formed in 1860 with Smith's son as leader, denounced polygamy as practiced by the Utah group. They also vigorously denied Brigham Young's claim that Joseph Smith himself followed the plural wife doctrine. In 1894 the Reorganized Latter Day Saints won its famous case in which the court cleared Joseph Smith of blame for polygamy and recognizing the reorganized church as the true successor of the original church.

Today's Reorganized Latter Day Saints has its headquarters in Independence, Missouri with Israel A. Smith, grandson of the founder, as its prophet and leader. Because they had no part in the Reformation movement, Reorganized Latter Day Saints do not call themselves Protestants. Elders presiding over congregations are not seminary trained, but are called by members of the "priesthood" having authority to call men into the ministry and must be approved by people of the church.

Basic principles of the church are: continuity of divine revelation; open canon of Scripture; restoration of Christ's church on the New Testament plan; six fundamental principles of Christ's doctrine; spiritual gifts promised in the Scripture; that marriage is of God and that He forbids more than one living companion in wedlock; and that God is owner of all things and requires all men as stewards to use their talents and resources for others rather than for self.

Elder and Mrs. Packer live at 671 Pacific and have a son and a daughter. Mr. Packer is also a teacher at Bird Elementary school.

The Golden Text is from Genesis (1:26): "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness."

Among the Bible citations is this passage, (Acts 17:28): "For in him we live, and move, and have our being; as certain also of your own poets have said, For we are also his offspring."

Correlative passages from the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy include: "In Science man is the offspring of Spirit. The beautiful, good, and pure constitute his ancestry. His origin is not, like that of mortals, in brute instinct, nor does he pass through material conditions prior to reaching intelligence." (p. 63).

Scavenger Catch Reported Less Than Last Year

Michigan's noxious fish operations have been far below par this year, the conservation department reports. Generally, sportsmen's clubs, and independent commercial fishermen take about 500,000 pounds of carp, sheephead and red-horse each year from lakes and streams.

During the March-April-May season this year, only about 80,000 pounds were taken and the summer catch has been equally uninspired. A breakdown of the catch to date shows the Lake St. Clair area topping all others, with a total catch there of about 47,000 pounds.

Kalamazoo river area anglers have taken 21,000 pounds, Holland 10,000, Muskegon 8,000 and Harbor Beach 4,000. The fish are sold commercially in Detroit, Chicago and New York. Commercial operators are hoping for better luck during the September-October fall season.

Everybody likes to hear the "truth," about someone else, in whispered form. An old-fashioned Plymouth home is where parents can still tell their children bedtime stories at night, instead of at the breakfast table.

Ten Percent Of Walleyes Lifted In Fish Transfer

Less than 10 per cent of the walleyes spawning in the Muskegon river were lifted over the Consumers Power company dam in the controversial "Newaygo transfer" this spring, the conservation department reports.

The information was contained in a report of the operation prepared by the department's institute for fisheries research. Nearly 700 adult walleyes were tagged in Muskegon lake before spawning began this spring. A percentage of these were recaptured among the 7,700 lifted above the dam during the transfer this spring, and provided sufficient information for computation under a statistical method used in fisheries work.

Bowen Appointed Territory Head for Rug Concern

R. Neal Bowen of Plymouth, has been appointed territory manager for C. H. Masland and sons, rug manufacturers in Carlisle, Pennsylvania, Gerald C. Denebrink, Vice President for Sales, announced. He will cover western Michigan, and certain Detroit accounts, with headquarters at the Detroit Sales office, 2550 West Grand boulevard. For 20 years prior to joining the Masland sales organization, Bowen represented Bigelow-Sanford Carpet company in Michigan and Ohio. He worked out of the Detroit office for 12 years, having represented Bigelow in metropolitan Detroit for the past seven years.

Born in Arkansas, Bowen attended Hendrix college, Conway, Arkansas, and Washington University, St. Louis, Missouri. Bowen is married to Gladys Davie, formerly of Cleveland, Ohio. They have two sons and reside at 1113 Penniman avenue, Plymouth.

Blackberry Crop Reported Largest In Many Years

The best blackberry crop in years is going to be wasted unless Michiganders get into the woods soon and get some of them picked.

Some conservation department field workers have reported from several sources that they have never seen such a crop of the big berries as it ripening in northern lower peninsula woodlands this year.

They say roadside bushes, wherever they are found, are the uplands and open areas loaded with the lush fruit, and where forest fire or timber operations were carried on years ago are thick with productive bushes.

Anyone who wants may take advantage of this natural resource wherever it is found on state-owned, public land. From present looks of the crop, the berries will be ripening until at least the end of August, and perhaps into the first week of September.

Canned, in pies and jams, as fruit or light brandy, blackberries enjoy a wide popularity with Americans and the conservation department urges all who can take advantage of this wild natural resource.

State law stipulates that cream having more than eight-tenths of one per cent acidity will be rejected for butter manufacture. Dairymen advise that keeping down the acid content of cream means clean separators and other milk equipment, cooling the cream well and frequent delivery.

The convention was held at the Hotel Detroit on August 23, 24, and 25.

Local Gardeners Give "Green Thumb" Hints

Gladioli are perhaps some of the most beautiful of American flowers, since they very much resemble the more expensive orchid. The raising of these flowers is an art which has been successfully mastered by township treasurer Zach Holmes and his wife, of 41390 Joy road.

The Holmes' raise approximately four and one-half acres of gladioli. Holmes said that he has varieties from all over the world. These plants he has numbered by the row, each number standing for a certain named variety. He pointed out that the size of the bulb determines the size of the flower. In planting a row of gladioli he uses one of the larger bulbs at intervals to serve as a landmark in cultivation of the field. The large plants stand out as a sort of guidepost.

The trend in gladiolus growing is away from the use of fungicides and insecticides, Holmes said. It is more an idea of the "survival of the fittest" now, he added. Since the grower wants only the healthiest plants, this is a good way to turn them up.

If the stock is shipped in from outside, and is not his own, however, he said it is sometimes necessary to use fungicides or insecticides. Thrips are the worst enemy of the gladiolus, and a five per cent solution of DDT early in the morning when the dew is heavy is an excellent way of combatting them, he pointed out. During the war, when DDT was in much demand by the armed services, thrip damage to gladioli was high, he added.

In removing glads in the fall, Holmes suggested the gardener wait until the plant is brown about one-half the way down. Then dig it up. If the plant gets completely brown then it is susceptible to diseases which attack the bulb. Generally shortly after a frost is the best time to dig.

Holmes stores his bulbs in a barn where he has two oil space heaters. He operates them just enough to keep the bulbs from freezing.

The raising of beautiful gladioli is a science that just takes a little practice and know how, Holmes said. By using these correct methods, you are paid off with lovely plants.

Not many hard-headed business men bother themselves with the great purpose of human life. The best man or woman is the most unselfed. —Mary Baker Eddy. A painter may not be superstitious, but he certainly does believe in signs.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

FACIAL EXPRESSION

The life writes its story upon the face. Regular features and beautiful coloring alone does not make a beautiful woman. A wax figure may be perfect so far as those things are concerned, yet no one would give it a second glance, only out of curiosity. It is the soul, the expression that creates real beauty.

The attributes and emotions write themselves upon the face so clearly that even a simple child is attracted or repelled by them. The modes of life and thinking influence character and expression. Thought and habits pull and chisel the mobile muscles of the face. Evil thoughts constantly indulged send the impulses generated in the brain along the nerves to the muscles, which mould the expression of faces until they become wicked and repulsive.

An Italian painter sought for a beautiful child as a model for a cherub. One day he found a little boy that had the face of an angel, so lovely were the features and so innocent and pure the expression. He used him as the model for one of his most famous pictures.

When the artist was old, he wanted one to represent a man fallen to the lowest, depths of degradation and crime. He sought long before he discovered in the vilest slums, a decrepit creature without a vestige of nobility in his physiognomy. He was bent, toothless, and beary-eyed. His loose, sensual lips twisted into an ugly snarl. He was the embodiment of all that was evil, corrupt and sinister.

The artist engaged him as the model. Great was his astonishment in learning that he was the same one who had posed many years before as the lovely cherub. Wrong-living, evil-thinking and practices had transformed the child of matchless beauty and innocence into this hideous, repulsive, vicious-looking old man.

"Be sure your sins will find you out," is an old saying. As the years march on they write their story in your face. You cannot always conceal what you are, for the little tell-tale nerves and muscles transcribe every thought, whether good or ill, upon your countenance. Refinement and kindness create an attractive expression. In previous articles you have been told that a fine complexion is largely dependent on one's health, but remember that good looks can, to a large extent, be developed by our wills.

Hints for Plymouth Homemakers

Try This Tasty Beef Loaf Menu

 Beef Loaf
 Tomato Cups with Cottage Cheese
 Deviled Eggs
 Relishes
 Assorted Breads
 Ice Cream Sundaes

Plentiful supplies of beef are coming to market. This is wonderful news for homemakers. Now is the time to serve your family all of the cuts of beef they like so well. Your choice is wide for there are more than 30 different cuts in all.

For this season a porch buffet that features a tasty beef loaf will make a hit with your family and friends. And ground beef is one of the best buys in your market today. Team the loaf with big plump tomatoes filled with cottage cheese or with potato salad and dusted with paprika. Deviled eggs can be the garnish for your platter or wood-en tray.

Vary Loaves
 It is easy to make every ground beef loaf different.

Here is the basic seasoning for each pound of ground beef: 1 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon of pepper.

For a simple change in your beef loaf, mold half the beef mixture in the bottom of the loaf pan. Then place hard cooked eggs or pickles in an even row down the middle of the pan. Cover with the remainder of the beef mixture. When it's baked each serving reveals a slice of egg or pickle.

Plentiful Beef Loaf

Slices of moist beef loaf make a grand choice for a buffet supper. With abundant supplies of beef coming to market, you'll find ground beef an especially good buy. Here the loaf is teamed with tomato cups of cottage cheese and with deviled eggs.

Remember in roasting a beef loaf the same rules apply as when roasting a standing rib of beef. Slow cooking is a must. Set your oven regulator at 300° F. and keep it at this constant temperature.

Here is a tempting loaf to serve for your buffet.

Beef Loaf
 2 1/2 pounds ground beef
 6 crackers
 2 tablespoons milk
 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 2 teaspoons salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 2 tablespoons chopped onion
 Roll crackers for crumbs. Combine all ingredients and mix well. Pack the mixture into a greased 5 x 9-inch loaf pan and bake in a slow oven (300° F.) for 1 1/2 hours. Serve hot or cold.

Biscuit Rolls
 Let biscuits serve for summer meals. Roll biscuit dough jelly-roll fashion, spread with filling of left-over or canned meat seasoned with catchup or spices. Roll and slice. Bake biscuit rolls in a hot oven (425° F.) until biscuit dough is brown.

Kabob Fun
 Kabobs are fun for "outside" cooking. Grill over charcoal a combination of frankfurter slices threaded on skewers with ripe olives and a bacon slice. Or thread canned luncheon meat cubes on skewers with pineapple chunks and bacon.

Beef in Tomato Cups
 Serve tomato cups with a beef and kidney bean salad stuffing. Combine chopped cooked beef with red kidney beans, chopped celery, pickle relish and tomato pulp. Stuff tomatoes and serve chilled on lettuce cups.

There Are Tricks to Making Sauce From Big Apple Harvest

There are tricks to making even as simple and familiar a dish as fresh applesauce—if you want to save time and fine flavor. If you are making sauce in quantity, cookery specialists suggest the following method to save time in peeling. Wash, quarter and core apples. Cook until soft in a small quantity of water in a covered pan. Put apples through a food press that removes skins easily and rapidly and gives a smooth sauce.

If red apples are used, sauce made this way has an attractive pinkish tint from the peel. Add a few grains of salt and sweeten to taste while hot.

The quantity of water used depends on the juiciness of the fruit and also on how thick you like your sauce. If you add too much water and then have to cook the sauce down, the flavor may be changed.

By having the pan closely covered, you can use just a little water and cook only until the apples are soft. Even so, it pays to "watch the pot" and adjust the heat to avoid scorching.

Another way to make applesauce is to pare quartered and cored apples, cook as above, and, when apples are tender, crush pieces with a potato masher or stir until smooth. Add salt and sweeten to taste.

Early fresh apples usually have so much flavor of their own that the sauce needs no extra touches. But for variety, brown sugar or honey may be used for sweetening, or the apples may be cooked with raisins, a few whole cloves or a stick of cinnamon. Remove the cinnamon before serving.

If apples are very mild, cook with a little lemon juice for tartness.

Vary Scalding Method With The Vegetable

Is it better to use steam or boiling water for scalding vegetables before home freezing?

Food specialists say that research shows it depends on the vegetable.

Three green vegetables, peas, asparagus and broccoli, have been tested with both methods by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Frozen peas which had been scalded with boiling water held more of their fresh flavor and vitamin C than those scalded with steam.

On the other hand, broccoli which had been steam-scalded was more palatable and had more nutritive value than water-scalded broccoli. The asparagus was as good scalded with steam as with boiling water.

Proper scalding is most important in preparing vegetables for freezing. Vegetables which are not properly scalded will lose flavor and color in storage.

Scalding vegetables for freezing is a delicate process. It must be enough to stop enzyme activity, but not enough to soften the vegetables and give them a cooked flavor. Steaming vegetables takes about 50 per cent longer than using boiling water.

For asparagus the time required is three minutes in boiling water, or five minutes in steam. Cool it quickly in running cold water or ice water, drain, pack and freeze as soon as possible, specialists advise.

Test Yourself In Homemaking

What a really good homemaker may be debatable, but psychologist Ernest Dichter has come up with a test which may help to provide a few answers.

Allowing one point for each yes, Dr. Dichter feels that a score of 8 is excellent, while a score of 6 just passes.

1. Do you run your home for your family? Answer yes only if you don't allow your tastes to completely dominate your family's.

2. Are you resourceful? Can you make simple repairs yourself?

3. Are you a good organizer? Do you run your home so that your chores leave you time for rest and leisure with your family?

4. Are you imaginative? Answer yes if you try new recipes, often have little surprises for your family.

5. Are you a good cook? Do your family and guests compliment you on your meals? Do you know the nutritive values of foods for health?

6. Are you tolerant? Answer no if you insist on neatness and order even at the expense of the comfort and relaxation of your family.

7. Are you considerate? Do you remember things your family likes?

8. Are you self-possessed? Answer no if you go to pieces when unexpected company arrives, or the cleaning woman doesn't show up.

9. Are you companionable? Answer yes if you and your husband and family share one or more hobbies together.

10. Are you neat? Answer yes if you keep yourself and your home ready to be seen with pride no apologies, by outsiders and your family.

Tips On Handling Family Problems Offered By U-M

To help parents with various family problems, two new booklets were published recently by the University of Michigan Extension Service. These issues are first in a series of pamphlets which will be published from time to time.

"Parents' Exchange" and "Life in the Family" are composed of ideas and experiences contributed by Michigan parents and are being distributed to provide a means of exchanging solutions to problems encountered by parents of all ages and families of all sizes. Some of the ideas were expressed in classes and institutes sponsored by the U-M Extension Service.

"Parents' Exchange" lists names of books written by qualified advisors on how to understand and treat children. The "Life in the Family" series consists so far of two leaflets, "When There's Work To Do" and "When Your Good Child Seems Bad." Others will be published later.

By writing the U-M Extension Service, 4524 Administration Building, Ann Arbor, single or multiple copies of the pamphlets may be obtained for a small fee.

Two Types Of Modernization Loans Now Available To Local Home - Owners

There are two important ways for a home-owner to get a loan to pay for improvements to his house.

One is a Federal Housing Administration Title I loan. The other is an additional advance on an open-end mortgage. Both have features which enable many home-owners to make improvements that otherwise they could not afford.

The FHA does not lend money itself. What it does is to insure loans made by private lending institutions. This makes banks and other lenders more willing to grant loans, because the FHA insurance is a full guarantee of payment.

The maximum amount for a Title I loan is $2,500 and payments can be made over as long a period as three years.

Now handling more loans than ever before in its 19-year history, the Title I program recently received a new $500,000,000 authorization from Congress. This was considered necessary to catch up with a backlog of applications and to facilitate an expected boom in home modernization work.

Low interest rates and a relatively long number of years for payment are the advantages of borrowing money under an open-end mortgage which includes a provision for an advance of additional money after part of the principal has been amortized.

A typical case would work like this: A home-owner has an open-end mortgage for $12,000 at 4 1/2 percent interest for 20 years. After five years, he has paid back $2,000 of the principal. Then, if he wants to improve his house—for example, reroof with asphalt shingles or finish an expansion attic—he can go to his lending institution and seek an additional advance of $2,000 or less, whatever he needs for materials and application. When the additional advance is made, it becomes part of the same mortgage the home-owner had before. He has 15 years for repayment at 4 1/2 percent interest.

An additional advance under an open-end mortgage is available only to home-owners whose mortgages are of the open-end type or to those who can persuade their lending institutions to recast an existing mortgage to include the open-end provision.

Reroofing—often classed as an "essential" improvement—is one of the kinds of work most frequently undertaken with any type of home modernization loan. Department of Commerce records show that about 85 percent of all roofing material used is asphalt roofing. For economy, asphalt shingles can be laid on top of most old roofing coverings.

Advice on borrowing money is part of the stock in trade of most building material dealers. Dealers keep themselves informed of financial developments and are acquainted with bankers and officials of savings and loan associations. Many dealers will actively assist a home-owner in loan negotiations.

Before starting work with painting materials, rub protective cream—made especially for the purpose—onto your hands and arms. A film of this cream makes it easy to remove all paint from your skin when you've finished.

Simple Sand Box For Back Yard

There's nothing like a sandbox to keep your youngsters happily occupied in the back yard during these bright summer days. Here's an idea for a simple box you can build in a couple of hours.

For a box about four feet square, just cut four 12-inch planks from one 3/4-inch handy panel of fir plywood—the new small size of fir plywood for do-it-yourself jobs at home. Then notch each end of the planks one inch from the end half way through the panel. Make notches a little more than 3/4-inch thick.

This way the ends of the planks interlock when you set them up in a square. Simply put this framework on the ground and fill it with sand. If you prefer to have a bottom for the box, you can nail two 2x4-foot pieces of 1/4 or 1/2-inch plywood to the bottom of the frame.

Question: The heating ducts of my furnace are round, 10 inches in diameter, and in the way. Can I reshape them to provide clearance under them, and can you suggest some type of shaper to do this work?

Answer: In reshaping the ducts you may be reducing air-delivery capacity, since the truly round shape delivers the greatest amount of air. If this does not cause trouble you can reshape the ducts two ways—either open the seams (some types are loosely joined instead of welded or soldered) and shape the flat pieces to the desired shape over a square-cornered block of wood, or preshape by pressure, then slip over a block of wood and form squared corners with a hammer or mallet.

Masonry should be repainted when small cracks appear in stucco or concrete. No painting should be done while the surface is wet or contains frost. Unpainted brick or masonry absorbs a large amount of moisture during a rain and may need several sunny days to dry out.

Modern Materials Give New Life to Old Dwellings

The handsome, new-looking home, top, is the remodeled version of the 100-year-old farmhouse, bottom. Window rearrangement, elimination of the porch, a new fire-resistant asphalt shingle roof, and new paint were principal exterior improvements.

Thanks to improved modern building materials, an old house that is remodeled may be better than ever—even better than when it was brand-new.

Windows are a case in point. Because of modern insulation and heating systems, windows can be bigger and there can be more of them. Asphalt shingles, another example, today give the roof colorful beauty, fire-resistance, and long life in addition to the fundamental quality of weather protection.

A 100-year-old farmhouse in Wisconsin typifies the improvement that can result from home modernization when the frame is structurally sound.

A new asphalt roof was the first item in the face-lifting job. In the process of reroofing, the two old chimneys were removed and a better-located chimney was built.

The danger from flying sparks, originating either from chimneys or outdoor fires, can be minimized by protecting roofs with fire-resistant asphalt shingles.

A fire-retarding wall between a house and its attached garage is required by many building codes. The wall is meant to confine a garage fire until firemen arrive.

A major change consisted of enclosing the open, old-fashioned porch. The interior space gained was divided between the kitchen and the living room. This made room in the kitchen for a dining area and a built-in desk.

Windows were rearranged and many new ones were added. The front door was moved to improve furniture placement in the living room.

After exterior alterations had been completed, the sidewalls were painted. White, a color of dignity, was chosen in keeping with the excellent architectural proportions of the century-old home.

Interior improvements included insulating the walls to cut winter heating expense and increase year-round comfort. Wallboard was used to recondition old walls and ceilings.

When you're painting a room, remember that the ceiling comes first. Paint can be applied with either a roller or a brush about 4 inches wide.

The monotonous proportions of a square room can be eliminated by treating one wall with a different color than the others, and installing a resilient tile floor of harmonizing or contrasting color.

Fine Finishes Require Skill

A truly fine finish for furniture may include as many as 18 operations.

First of all the furniture is hand-sanded to prepare it for finishing, then it is stained to the desired base or undertone color.

If it is an open-pore wood, such as walnut or oak, the pores are then filled. Next, a coat of tinted glazing sealer is applied and sanded. A coat of glaze is next applied, and this is brushed and blended to achieve a mellowing of color and to intensify highlights and shadows. The next two steps include the application of a coat of sealer and the sanding of it. Then comes the finish coat and another sanding.

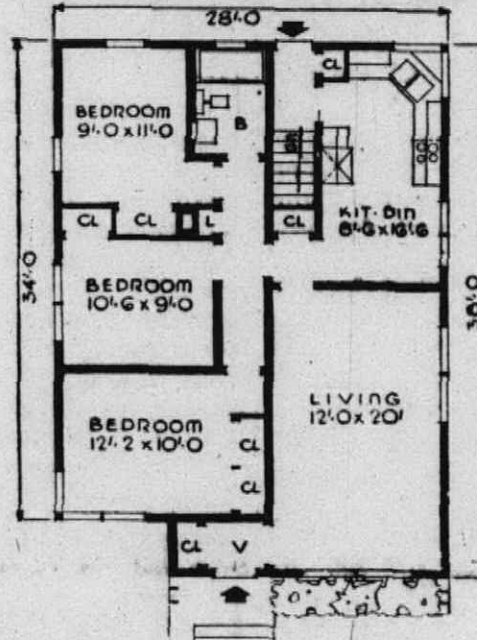

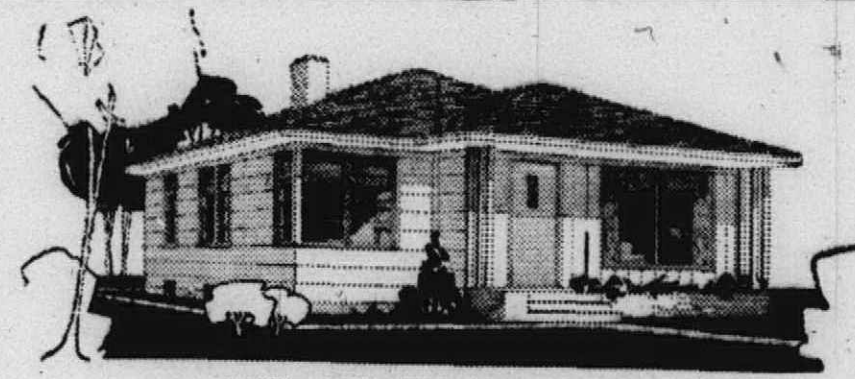

The 13th step is to hand-pad the color into the finish coat. Distinguishing marks and treatment are then added. A second coat of finish is next applied, and this is given a hand-rubbed finish. Then comes a clean-up rubbing and—the 18th step—a hand wax finish. When you realize how much painstaking care and skill go into the application of a truly fine finish, you have a new appreciation of the patient craftsmanship that enters into the creation of beautiful furniture.

Transparent Finish Suggestions Given

If you wish to refinish interior woodwork with a transparent coating similar to the type used on the surface before, clean the surface thoroughly, allow it to dry, then coat it with shellac or varnish.

If the old finish is darkened with age or made over thick with many coatings, much better results can be obtained by removing the old finish with paint and varnish remover, sanding it and beginning again.

DESIGN C-286. The kitchen entrance at the rear is an advantage where a narrow lot limits the side yard and deliveries must be made from the rear. 3 bedrooms occupy one side of the plan and can be closed off by one door to the hall. In some cases it is advisable to add a door from the rear entry to the bath to save traffic through the kitchen. Storage space is provided in coat closets at the front and rear doors, a closet over the stairs, linen cabinet and wardrobes in the bedrooms. Exterior features include brick planting area, vertical siding in front, wide siding and asphalt shingles. There is a full basement. Floor area is 1032 sq. ft.; cubage, 20,044 cu. ft. This Week—MATT FORTNEY

Plymouth may very well feel proud that it attracted Matt Fortney of the Fisher Insurance Agency. Fortney, originally from Fort Wayne, Indiana, has seen many cities in these United States but now likes to call Plymouth his home.

After his return from the Army in 1945, Fortney attended Southeastern Louisiana college for two years. To further his business education he transferred to the International Business college in Fort Wayne, Indiana where he gained 18 more months of business education.

In January 1949 he began his work with the Burroughs company in Cleveland. However, in January 1950 the company branched to Detroit and Fortney moved right along with it.

While at the Burroughs company, Fortney met Miss Helen Fisher, then an employee who soon became Mrs. Matt Fortney. Fortney began working for his father-in-law at the Fisher Insurance Agency. This was in February 1951. Since then he has worked as clerk and solicitor.

Fortney, by the way, is a proud papa of a baby boy, Stephen Michael.

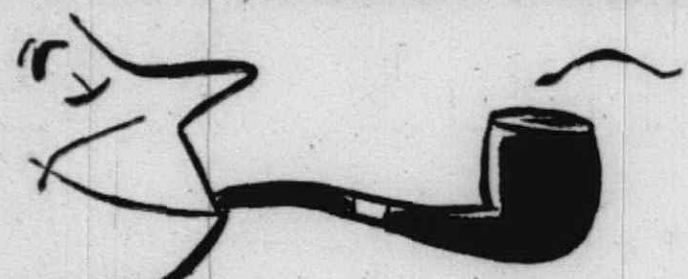

Among his interests, photography claims most of his attention. He takes and develops his own pictures and says that he would like to develop his abilities in this line.

Members of the Optimist club of Plymouth will recognize Fortney as their new president for the coming year.

Only God can make a tree—any fool and a match can destroy it!

Large Pheasant Supply Seen On Lower Peninsula

An encouraging note for Plymouth hunting enthusiasts was found in a recent Conservation department report. It said that hunters should take as many or more pheasants from southern lower peninsula fields this year as they did last year.

More than 585 rural mail carriers, participating in the department's eighth annual midsummer census of pheasants, counted a whopping 32 per cent more broods than last year.

The counts were made while the carriers drove rural mail routes, from July 27 to August 8, in 38 counties of the southern lower peninsula.

A total of nearly 5,000 broods were seen.

In size, these broods averaged about six birds each, little difference from previous years.

Sixty-eight per cent of the hens were seen with broods, about the same as in 1952.

Birds seen in 80 per cent of the broods were one-half to three-fourths grown, higher than the 75 per cent counted in that age group last year. This bears out spring reports that nesting was somewhat earlier this year.

The population increase showed up generally throughout the pheasant range.

The thumb counties again showed the highest population, registering a 36 per cent increase over the 1952 count.

The Ottawa-Allegan counties area was second again this year, though only a moderate increase showed up.

The southeastern counties, which showed a slight increase, placed third, while the central counties of the southern lower peninsula placed fourth in total population with a 30 per cent increase in broods counted.

The poorest area was, as in past years, the southwestern counties, though a good increase was seen in the number of broods counted there.

Working as volunteers, the mail carriers provide department game workers with the best available survey of pheasant reproduction. Through the years, the accuracy of their counts has been reflected by post-season kill figures, which have closely correlated with population indications gained from their censuses.

Archers Compete In Tournament

A Hunters Round and Broadhead Silhouette Tournament drew 108 archers at Western Wayne County Conservation association on Sunday, August 23.

The field course, consisting of 28 targets using black target faces with a white center dot for the Hunters Round and 28 targets using lifesize animals silhouettes, was set up under the direction of James Pettibone, Archery Chairman, and Fernie Olsen. The animal silhouettes were set out on the course to simulate actual hunting conditions. The archers used broadheads to shoot this round.

The silhouettes and targets were made by the members of the club and Carol Wilkerson did the art work. They appeared so life-like that most of the archers took a second look to make sure the animals were harmless and only made of cardboard.

Medals and merchandise prizes were awarded.

If you have rust stains on white fabrics that can be boiled, here is a sure trick — add four teaspoons cream of tartar to each pint of water. Boil your rust-stained articles in this solution. Then rinse well.

26 Tomatoes on One Plant

One of the oddities found in the agricultural world is a tomato plant, owned by Barsh Lawson of 928 Irvin street. There are 26 tomatoes growing on this one plant.

Lawson also reports that his corn has reached the height of 13 feet.

One remarkable accomplishment of the buffle-headed duck is his ability to dive quickly and emerge in full flight; in the days of slow-burning powder, it was able to dive at the flash of the gun and thereby avoid the shot.

Urge Teachers To Have X-Rays

School teachers and other school employees are being urged to take advantage of the Wayne County Health Department's mobile chest X-ray unit which will be stationed in Livonia Tuesday and Wednesday (September 8 and 9.)

Through the cooperation of the Health Department, the TB and Health Society and the Plymouth schools, the chest examinations will be given at the unit which will be stationed at Bentley High school, 15100 Hubbard at Five Mile road. It will be open from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. and from 1 to 5 p.m. on Tuesday and from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. and from 1 to 5 p.m. on Wednesday.

Local schools are urging their teachers and other personnel to get a chest X-ray for the protection of themselves and the school children.

The TB and Health Society cites a case in upper New York recently in which the infection of a great number of families in the town came through a single school teacher who was unaware of his illness.

The X-rays require only a few minutes and are given free.

"Can I Be A Craftsman?" is the title of a new illustrated booklet now being distributed by the Educational Relations Section, Public Relations Department of General Motors to superintendents of schools and principals of public, private and parochial schools.

Readers will discover that General Motors, like many other companies, selects qualified high school graduates for special training in apprentice programs which prepare them for many of the skilled crafts. These boys are placed in the hands of craftsmen who assist in their training by teaching them the arts and skills of their trades. They are given regular job assignments and are paid good wages while they learn. When they finish their training they become full-fledged craftsmen and are employed as journeymen in their trades.

Recovering From Injuries in Crash

Mrs. Joyce Tomlinson, 8010 Newburg road, is recovering from injuries she received when the pickup truck she was driving rolled over on Joy road on August 24.

Taken to Atchinson Memorial hospital in Northville, Mrs. Tomlinson was treated for face abrasions and a lacerated head which required 21 stitches.

Mrs. Tomlinson was driving the truck to her home from a garage where the vehicle had been placed for repair. The truck suddenly began weaving and rolled over. The driver's sister and a friend were uninjured except for minor bruises, it was reported by Mrs. Tomlinson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Everett Smith.

Mrs. Tomlinson makes her home with her parents while her husband is stationed in Korea.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From an Old Timer in Southwest Missouri: I remember in 1896 when butter sold for 25 cents a pound and the buttermilk was always given away. Fresh milk sold for 5 cents a quart and sugar cured bacon was 7 1/2 cents a pound.

From Elvera Mecum, Portland, Oregon: I remember the old fashioned beds in our home some 78 years ago. All of our beds had rope or wooden slats to hold the straw or musk filled ticks and feather beds, bolsters and pillows. We also had "trundle" beds. All of them, except the "trundle" had tall corner posts, beautifully carved.

From Mrs. E. D. Millaway, Burlington, N. C.: I remember when I was a child I had to walk two miles to school and two miles home every day. On each trip I had to climb 13 wire fences and cross four sets of bars. One pair of leather shoes usually lasted a year. If they did not I was accused of jumping rope and wearing them out.

V.F.W. News

Congratulations from the Post and Auxiliary are in order for the proud parents, John and Mary Swartz upon the birth of a son, nine pounds and 14 ounces.

The outing at Gust's cottage at Middle Straits lake, Sunday, August 30 proved to be a cool spot, despite the prevailing heat. A good time was had by those who attended.

Publicity Chairman, Marie Norman, reports that a letter from Laura Bartholomaeus, Editor, Ladies Auxiliary to the VFW National President, has been received by her, stating that the picture of the Post's and Auxiliary's Poppy Drive, which was in the Linda Lee Shop window, will be in the Bulletin at the first opportunity. In all probability it will be used the early part of next year, when promotional stories will again be run.

In Auxiliary contest awards, the Department of Michigan, won first position and prize of a $50.00 defense bond for the greatest number of Youth Activity projects.

The Ladies Auxiliary to the VFW in its traditional custom presented gifts to three honor graduates of the United States Military Academies during their respective schools' 1953 graduation week ceremonies. Awards were made at United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland; United States Coast Guard Academy, New London, Connecticut; and United States Military Academy, West Point, New York. Honor Awards were made this year for improvement in class standing, highest rating in Ordnance, and best officer-like qualities.

The Auxiliary was pleased to have five guests at the last meeting. They were from the Harris-Kehler Post No. 3323, Wayne. All were past Officers.

TWO OF THE FIRST ENTRIES in the Plymouth city golf tournament receive application blanks from Tourney Chairman L. B. Rice. They are: (seated left to right) Ralph Lorenz and Ty Caplin. Both fine golfers, they loom as threats to halt Harper Stephens' two-year reign. Should Stephens cop the title again this year he will retire The Plymouth Mail trophy. Bob O'Link will be the site of the two-day affair scheduled for September 19 and 20. Golfers must enter by Monday, September 14. An entry fee of $5 covers all green fees. Entry blanks may be obtained at The Mail, AAA office, Chamber of Commerce, Davis & Lent, and Carl Caplin's at the Hotel Mayflower. Entry form also appears on this page.

Sports Glances

by "Professor" Edgar Brown

Fall sports will be in full swing in another week. The high-school lads are limbering up now for football and with the beginning of school next week the cross-country team will be out on the course, and the frosh football squad will assemble for the first time.

Professional football is well underway in exhibition games, and it won't be long until the hockey season begins. Sports seasons come and go, some overlapping others, and seldom one will not find some kind of sport each week of the year.

The Detroit Red Wing hockey team will begin practice in a week, or so, at the Soo to get in shape to try to defend their National League championship. They have now won the title five straight times, and will be trying for the sixth in a row, but they failed miserably in the playoffs last year. Manager Jack Adams says that practically the same team that took the ice last year will again be on hand this season with the addition of one or two new men. Terry Sawchuck, the nimble goal-tender, will again be in the nets, and some blame his spotty play the latter part of last season for the downfall of the Wings in the playoffs. Terry has had his appendix removed since then, and seems in the best of condition—it may make a difference—you can bet that they will be right up in front again this year as the young team of the past few seasons still seems the best in the league.

Have you caught an exceedingly large fish this summer? If so, have you entered it in the Free Press Fishing Contest? September 14 is the closing date. There are 16 different classes, each of which will have its first, second and third prize trophies. First prize winners will receive engraved plaques; second and third place winners will receive certificates for framing. All entrants receive membership cards in "The Free Press Fishing Fraternity." An entry blank can be secured by writing the Detroit Free Press, Fishing Contest, Detroit 31, Michigan.

Some of the divisions have few contestants—who knows maybe you might win a prize.

While attending an Inter-County league playoff game at Riverside Park recently I saw a small lad struck by a car. It isn't a pretty sight even though I came on the scene a few moments after the youngster had been struck—fortunately it is believed he received minor injuries, but it could be serious at another time. I have often wondered why more didn't get hurt on a Sunday when thousands of youngsters are frolicking about running for a ball or crossing the road while speeding cars are going by one after another. Youngsters get excited and forget to look at times so that leaves it upon the motorist to be on the alert. I wonder why there is not a speed limit throughout the park? I know there is at most of the lakes in this area, Kent Lake for one where signs are displayed denoting a certain speed limit, and I believe our Riverside park has more people on a Sunday during the summer than most of these lakes. It just seems as though cars should be made to go slow throughout the park on a Sunday.

My son and I attended the Tiger-Yankee game last week Tuesday at Briggs Stadium and saw the Detroiters drop an 11 inning decision to the champions. They should have won this game a couple of times, but flubbed the chances, and then with the score tied walked in the winning run. It must be awful discouraging to a pitcher, and his teammates to see a run, particularly the winning run, being walked across the plate. Personally I would rather see the batter be made to sock it with a chance of a teammate getting an out, or even see a home run socked, than to give an opponent a run—the hurler probably feels the same way. Just one of those things, I suppose, if he gets a good pitch over he strikes out the batter, but if it is a fraction off line it is a ball. The lad was pulling for them right up until the end, as he has been all season—he even thought they might have a chance for the pennant until the other day the thought struck him that they couldn't when he said, "Daddy, they can't win now can they as they are 40 games behind, and they don't have that many games to play." I like to see that never-say-die spirit in any boy.

Bob Gow is home from the service for a few days and is really streamlined now. Bob participated in all sports while in high school, and got to be a little roly-poly (not nearly as much as this writer though) but he has lost 30 some pounds in the right places, and now looks like the lad that girls dream about.

Athletic Alumni Form New Group

Last spring the high school coaches announced that an Athletic Alumni Association of former letter-winners at the high school would be formed this coming year. So far the response has been gratifying, but many more former athletes living in this area have not signed up. The first meeting of this group is scheduled to take place sometime this fall. Coaches Charles Ketterer and John Sandmann advise anyone wishing to become affiliated with this organization to contact them at the high school and leave their name, address, phone number and the sport participating in and the year in which a letter was won.

The possible aims of the association are: To promote a better high school athletic program; to continue friendships already made—also to make new friends; to aid the functions of high school athletic activities; to establish an Athletic Alumni Association Scholarship; to serve the community; to encourage better school and community citizenship and to meet socially.

Anyone interested may contact Coach Ketterer at the high school, phone 895, or at his home 132W; Coach Sandmann may be reached at the high school or at his home 1038W. Do it now as it is the wish of officials that as many former athletes as possible become members of this worthwhile organization.

Ecorse Ousted

The unimpressive Ecorse softball team, which had disposed of Cavalcade to enter the state softball Class B tourney at Allen Park, lost their first two contests to be eliminated from the state meet.

Allen Park, Midland and Trenton are still in the running with Allen Park having the best chance as they bested a good Midland team 1 to 0 in their first meeting.

U of M and MSC Begin Workouts

The University of Michigan and the Michigan State college football squads began practice this week in preparation for the Western Conference race, which is expected to be a "hot one" this year. Michigan invited 73 players to the pre-season camp, while MSC issued a call to 64 men. Coach Bennie Osterbaan has 24 lettermen back at Michigan, and Coach Biggie Munn has 21 of last year's national champions back this season. Michigan State will begin the season with a 24 game winning streak that has been compiled the past three seasons. This will be State's first season as a full-fledged member of the Big Ten in football.

Many changes will have to be made this year as one-plateon football is back and there will be no more free substitutions. MSC will have an experienced backfield of Yewcic, Bolden, Wells and Slonac, and the Spartans have depth in the line also. They are pre-season favorites to win the crown and take the trip to the Rose Bowl. Wisconsin and Ohio State are looked for as the closest competition with Michigan and Illinois as dark-horses. Michigan must come up with a two-way quarterback, and many of the Michigan linemen played both ways last year so this new rule should not affect them much.

Michigan opens the season at home Saturday, September 26 with the University of Washington as the opposition.

Michigan State goes to Iowa for a game on the same date.

Detroit Lions Go Against Browns Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night the big pre-season football game of the year will be played at Briggs Stadium in Detroit when the championship Detroit Lions go against their keen rivals, the Cleveland Browns. The latter have lost four straight games to the Lions, and Coach Paul Brown never has beaten a Lion team—all the games have been thrilling, close contests.

Detroit has three victories already this season, and seems to have as much, or more, power than they possessed last year. The Lions have tried to get a helper for fullback Pat Harder, and seem to have come up with one this year—a fellow that has been around for five seasons, but has just found himself—namely Ollie Cline, the former Ohio State star. Ollie has been going great guns this year, averaging 7 yards per carry against the New York Giants, and 5 yards for the three games. Doak Walker, who was out most of last season with injuries, is back and in splendid physical condition, that with the top-notch defense and the passing of Layne should make the Lions repeat as National League champions.

The regular season will begin in a couple weeks.

Local All-Stars Win First Two Lose to Ypsi 2-1

The Plymouth All-Star Softball team won the first two games in the four-city all-star tourney, and then dropped a 10-inning overtime tilt to Ypsilanti last week. In a first round game they defeated Garden City 3 to 0 on Monday, and then took Wayne 4 to 1 on Tuesday. Wednesday Ypsilanti upset them 2 to 1 in 10 innings. These two teams played again Monday night to see which would win the championship—the results of that game will be found in another section of this paper.

In the Garden City win, Plymouth scored all their three runs in the first inning as Wilkie walked, and with one out Jesky singled and Hunt doubled to score two runs, then an error allowed Hunt to count the third run of the inning.

Gabby Street tossed for Plymouth and allowed one scratch single in the fifth inning. He struck out 12 batters and walked three in scoring his shutout.

In the extra-inning tilt with Ypsilanti each team counted one run in the fourth inning and that was all the scoring until the tenth when Ypsilanti won the game after two men had been retired. Gray singled with one gone, and was sacrificed to second by Frye, Johnson walked and with two out and two on, Sparrow singled in the winning run to end the game.

Neither team had many scoring chances outside of those innings in which they counted runs. In the fourth Plymouth opened the scoring when Muggs Hunt socked a homerun to open the inning, Leichweis then singled and then Carter doubled with two gone, but Leichweis could get no farther than third where he was left stranded as Barnes struck out. In the bottom of the same inning Ypsilanti counted after two were out as Plonte tripled and Gray doubled.

Gabby Street hurled the entire contest and allowed only 6 hits while striking out 7 men and walking 2. Bass worked for the winners and allowed 8 hits, struck out 10 and walked one man.

John Wilkie led the attack for Plymouth with three singles, Jesky, Leichweis and Fairbanks had singles, Carter a double and Hunt a homer. Gray and Sparrow each had two hits for the winners.

Joe Thibadeau pitched for Plymouth as they defeated Wayne 4 to 1, but the score sheet was not available on this contest.

football boys were going through their paces last Monday morning even though Old Sol was beaming down on one of the hottest days of the year. The lads were perspiring in great style, and it was a good day for taking off that excess summer fat. They will be out there perfecting themselves for the strenuous season ahead, and they have five of the most capable persons tutoring them in Head Coach Charles Ketterer, and assistants John Sandmann, John McFall, Bill Sullivan and Bill Harding.

Fifty Candidates Begin Football Practice at H. S.

Over 50 candidates for this year's high school varsity eleven began practice Monday morning trying to gain places on the Rock team this season. The perspiring athletes were being put through long workouts by five members of the high school coaching staff and many surplus pounds melted off the first day, one of the hottest days of the year.

Coach Charles Ketterer has three weeks in which to get his charges ready for the first game at Northville the evening of Friday, September 18. Many positions are wide-open for nearly the whole starting lineup of the championship team of a year ago graduated. Many promising football boys from last year's reserve team are available, and a few who gained experience as substitutes on last year's varsity are back plus seven lettermen, headed by Captain Jerry Kelly, versatile backfield star.

This week the large group were divided into backfield, linemen and ends. The backfield group were being handled by Head Coach Ketterer and assistant Bill Sullivan, who also serves as a capable scout during the regular season. The linemen were being handled by Coach John Sandmann and John McFall, who will handle the freshman team later on, and the ends were being drilled by Bill Harding, who also serves as scout.

Dummy tacking and blocking occupied much of the first few days' drills with the coaches giving advice and explaining right techniques. Calisthenics is a daily part of each drill. Bodily contact will come after the first few workouts with practice scrimmages scheduled for Saturday mornings.

Coach Ketterer says that a lot of men are missing this year from last year's great team, but this team can win most of their games if they have the right mental attitude, and a will to play their best brand of football.

Auto Club Wins Over Ypsilanti

Detroit Auto Club took the district hardball tourney with two easy wins over Ypsilanti last Saturday and Sunday to advance to the state championships at Battle Creek this weekend. On Saturday Auto Club won 6 to 1 behind the steady hurling of their ace chucker, Al Chappie. On Sunday Tom Kritch started for Auto Club and each of the six hurlers carried by the winners hurled some in pulverizing Ypsilanti 19 to 3. Ed Hock, borrowed from the Plymouth Merchants team, tossed one scoreless inning in this lop-sided victory.

At Battle Creek this weekend Auto Club will be one of 16 teams vying for the state hardball championship. The winner from there will go to a national regional the following week.

In the consolation series for teams under 500 in the Inter-County league, Wyandotte defeated Livonia Bodker 8 to 4 to cinch the lower trophy.

Frosh Football Practice Begins

Freshman football practice began at the high school this week with John McFall as frosh coach this year. A physical examination blank must be filled out in detail before a suit is issued to any player.

Mr. McFall says that all applicants for positions on this year's frosh eleven must adhere to the following rules. No smoking or drinking of alcoholic beverages. Get at least nine hours sleep every night. Never miss practice without being excused by the coach. Eat three well-balanced meals at proper hours. Report any injury or illness immediately to the coach. Do your school work every day—don't fall behind in your studies—your studies come first and football second.

A minimum number of games will be played by the Frosh this year, and Mr. McFall expects a large turnout as several of last year's junior high boys expressed a desire to try out this year. Practice will be held daily.

Chips from the ROCK

A certain Suva newspaper once said if a dog bites a man it isn't anything but if a man bites a dog, that's news. Well then, listen to this. According to wallpaper and paint man Jerry Pease the following incident was told him by Kate Henderson (Mrs. John Henderson of 725 Auburn street) one day last week in his store. It seems Mrs. Henderson has a 48 pound pooch which she lets out every morning for exercise and on his return to the house, because of his wet feet, she picks him up and carries him to the kitchen. This particular morning the playful pooch bit her severely on the arm which hurt her so much and made her so angry she in turn took a good nip at his ear, and he didn't like that, either.

Hotel Mayflower haberdasher Carl Caplin, now turned columnist with his rolling column "Aboard The Good Ship Mayflower" elsewhere in this paper got his first touch of printer's ink here at The Mail. When offered tips on the art of column writing by several friends he crisply quipped, "I'll Handle This Job All By Myself." Our apologies to Rusty Draper who made that song famous.

Back from seven weeks at their St. Mary's river home are Neva Lovewell and her mother, Mrs. Ada Lovewell. They reported wonderful fishing all summer until the last week of their stay when banker Jack Taylor and Northville real estate man Harold Bloom moved into the neighborhood and caught all of the remaining perch. On the brighter side of their return however was Mrs. Lovewell's praise of this column and knowing her former newspaper background we are extremely grateful even to the extent that we might go up and restock their river this fall.

No one suffered more from the heat on Thursday, Friday and Saturday than did the people in the Wood Insurance agency. Not that it was any hotter there than anyplace else but because their fancy new airconditioner, some four weeks old, broke down and a wait for parts took it out of action when it was needed most this summer.

Base Lake Plymouthites are unhappy with shoeman James Houk for catching a beautiful big mouth bass out of Little Portage lake last Thursday. Said Carl Shear, John Blickenstaff, Jack Taylor and myself have known for several years that there were two big bass in that lake and we have spent many hours trying to catch them over a period of years. Now a comparative newcomer to the large Plymouth colony at Base Lake comes along and catches one half of our big fish.

Greenhouseman Reinhold Ruehr at Heide's is experimenting with a new type of fiber glass in the front of the greenhouse. Supposedly the green tinted glass gives more light to flowers and will not break if hit by hail, a stone or even a stray baseball. It's the first in this entire area and workmen will complete installing some 1,300 square feet in the next few weeks.

From the rumor mill comes the fact that the Kresge and Kellogg foundations have made available ten million dollars to be used in the construction of a gigantic research development on the site of the former Ann Arbor cemetery project which Plymouth motorists pass on the left just before they enter the city on Ann Arbor road.

ROGER BABSON SAYS:

BABSON CRITICIZES BUSINESSMEN FOR TREATMENT OF TEEN-AGERS

Gloucester, Massachusetts. It's a shame that so many young people have been deprived this past summer of the privilege of vacation employment. About the only plentiful jobs this summer were in sales. Unfortunately, all young people do not have aptitudes for selling. Young people ask me how they can learn to swim if no one will even let them near the water. So what do they do after a while? They lie about the facts and present themselves as full-time job seekers. On that basis they get jobs. Then there is hard feeling when they leave for school again after Labor Day. There seem to have been several reasons why more students haven't worked this summer: (1) not many companies have hired young people for summer work; (2) the tax structure penalizes father for letting son work; (3) union pools of unemployment have been given preference over summer job seekers; (4) the unreasonable labor laws of some states.

SUMMER JOBS—BUSINESS OBLIGATION

Many businessmen complain that our young people don't know how to work. Often it is these same businessmen who give the cold shoulder to young summer job seekers eager to learn how to work. Reports from employment agencies, from college and high school placement offices indicate that there were fewer summer jobs this year than last. Incidentally, business also failed to respond in the spring to a project to give summer work experience to college professors. I have been told that guards had instructions to bar summer job hunters from many plants.

I know that in recent years, with higher costs, mounting taxes, and union contracts, many company work-schedules have been arranged to eliminate summer jobs. Perhaps the plant shuts down completely for the vacation period so that no fill-ins are required. Or maybe the union contract compels management to fill vacancies from the pool of unemployed union workers before it can go outside to hire other workers. These are facts we have to face, but I feel that the company who doesn't hire a few carefully screened young people for summer work is both shirking a patriotic responsibility and short-changing itself. Any company intent upon fulfilling this obligation will find a way—summer work schedules and unions notwithstanding.

CHANCE TO HIRE PROVEN WORKERS

Actually, the summer employment of young people can work very much to the advantage of small businesses that seem most hesitant about summer hiring. Summer employment can give management the chance to size up the young person, to see the kind of character stuff he has, how well he works, and how he gets on with fellow workers. In these days when it is so difficult to fire, it is good to know what kind of worker you're hiring. If a worker has what it takes, then the boss has a direct line to a tried and tested full-time employee when he graduates from school or college. And if he does not pan out during the summer it costs much less than hiring him as a full-time worker later on. These are the findings of companies that are using summer employment as a trial work period.

FATHER, SUMMER JOBS, AND TAXES

Another distressing problem of summer employment of minors is the tax situation which penalizes father for his children's job success. It happens more often than you'd suspect that father loses a tax exemption because son earns more than the allowed $600 during the year. For example, it would cost a father with a $10,000 net income, after exemptions, $174 in taxes if his son earns over the $600 exemption limit and the son would then become a taxpayer too.

It strikes me there is something morally and economically unsound about a system that discourages the industry of youth, whether it be a policy of taxation, summer employment procedure, or clauses in a union contract. Part-time jobs, and especially summer jobs, today are important influences in the molding of the leaders of tomorrow. Perhaps, too, if we had busier "teen-agers," we might have fewer "teen-age" problems. Businessmen ought to begin now to make plans so that in future summers our young people will find valuable work experiences available for them.

It is poor reading, but there were some who made plenty out of the Korean War.

ACCOLADE FOR LABOR

ALL HONOR TO LABOR, WHOSE CREATIVE AND PRODUCTIVE ABILITY HAS BUILT SO STRONGLY THIS AMAZING U.S.A.

The Cry of "Politics" can be heard in every corner of the state capitol. The charge is hurled more often these days than during campaigns or in the midst of a legislative session.

"Politics" is blamed currently for the ouster of former Director of Agriculture Charles Figy. "Politics" is also blamed for lack of improved prison conditions; for the circumstance of the Conservation Commission where one member is serving beyond the time limit of his term because a new member has not been appointed and confirmed. "Politics" is the reason that no special Legislative session was immediately called to discuss changing unemployment compensation. In short, "politics" is blamed for most of the undesirable conditions that exist; and for desirable conditions that do not exist.

Crying "politics" is also an easy way to keep from digging out facts that might be unsavory. The case of Charles Figy is interesting to examine from this standpoint. Is it politics or is it not? Is it a combination of political expediency and something else?

A fact is that Director Figy has the support of much of the state agricultural circle both individual farmers and farm organizations. Another fact: The Agriculture Commission consists of three Democrats, all of whom voted for the firing; two Republicans who voted to retain him. Reasons given for the dismissal sounded lame to the public.

Democrat Commissioners say Figy "is not himself"; Figy says he feels fine and presents two doctor's statements that he is in good health. Democrat Commissioners say Ag department employment is low and administration is poor. This is hard for the common man to ascertain.

Most conclusive fact of all is that Director Figy is fired. The party balance of the Ag Commission is not new. It could have been aligned to discharge the director anytime for several years. Commissioner Clarence Smith of Williamston, a Democrat and reputed personal friend of Figy, might be considered to have cast the decisive vote. He was convinced that it was the wise thing to do either by political pressures or by shortcomings in Figy's performance.

Perhaps time will bring out the facts that will permit judgment of the Commission's action. Until it does, the question of foulness or fairness of Figy's firing will be clouded with the charge of "politics."

Unless startling discoveries are made at final hearings of the Legislative investigation of retail gasoline price boosts, you can expect few objections to justice in the refinery business," said one committee member.

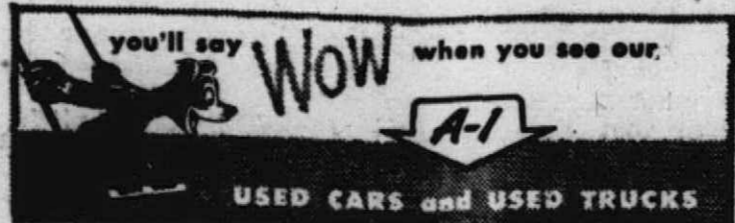

He referred to a situation in Dearborn where a retailer lowered his prices. A "gas war" developed. The Dearborn local government passed an ordinance closing all gas stations between midnight and 6 a.m. The station owner, who charges that the ordinance was passed primarily to hurt his business rather than for the good of the city, is seeking court intervention on the grounds of trade restraint.

The committee also listened to retailers, representatives of the state, trade organizations and several other groups. While they do not endorse all operation practices, the committee cannot find sufficient grounds to charge that the price boosts are unjustified.

Men from 141 Michigan communities gathered last week at University of Michigan. They were on hand for the annual district convention of Kiwanis International. Their general aim was to review their community building programs and to survey blue prints for greater service in months ahead.

The "We Build" motto of Kiwanis is known in every locality where there is an organization. Those who attended busied themselves with routine but necessary Kiwanis business, panel discussions, committee reports, lunches and dinners.

There were top-notch speakers on hand. Charles Phelps Taft, younger brother and one time law partner of Senator Robert A. Taft, spoke at a Sunday evening meeting which was open to the public. His subject was "Applying Christianity in Daily Living." Other speakers included Kenneth McFarland, noted Kansas educator; John E. Wright, Lakeland, Fla., realtor and citrus grower; Bennett O. Knudson, Albert Lea, Minn., Quebec public relations executive; and Kenneth P. Greenaway, Montreal, Quebec, public relations executive; and Walter J. L. Ray, Detroit banker and immediate past president of Kiwanis International.

"The most dangerous age for a boy is when a girl first notices him."—Homer Phillips.

By Les Wilson

The color of daylight, which changes as often during the day as a woman's mind, can be controlled to provide better color pictures if you keep a few basic facts in mind.

The very early or very late hours on a clear day result in pictures "warmer" than usual due to the accent of orange tones which tend to render flesh tones ruddy. The midday hours offer "normal" color results. If a cool, soft blue quality is desired the time to work is before sunrise or after sunset. A cloudy or hazy day can be counted on to furnish the same cool blue accented tones. The reason for color film reacting differently as the sun meanders through the sky is that the film is designed to give "normal" color rendition during light conditions generally existing during the middle hours. At other hours the color quality—or color temperature—tends to deviate from this accepted "normal" effect.

There are different types of color film for different purposes, and THE PHOTOGRAPHIC CENTER is well qualified to advise you which type film and equipment is most appropriate for your needs. Bring your Black and White, or Color, problems to 821 W. Ann Arbor Trail and they will be solved to your complete satisfaction.
