Probe Sale Of Church

A church, a bank, a union and a neighborhood were the four groups represented when a special meeting of the city planning commission took place last week.

The church - union-neighborhood discussion centered about the proposed sale of the Nazarene church building at Holbrook and Pearl streets. The church has been negotiating the sale of the building to the United Auto Workers of the CIO. A new Nazarene church is being built on Ann Arbor trail.

Seventeen neighbors in the church area attended the commission meeting to protest the sale, contending that such a hall would be a detriment to the neighborhood.

Three union representatives were present to assure neighbors that the proposed union hall would not be detrimental to the neighborhood. They also told the neighbors that they had no intention of selling alcoholic beverages and that the international constitution doesn't allow intoxicants to be sold on union premises.

The Planning commission approved a change in zoning for the church lot so that it could be used for a union hall. However, there remained a problem of providing parking. A union representative reported that a lot across the street from the building had been offered for sale as a parking lot.

Representatives of the National Bank of Detroit were the next to appear before the planners. Showing the commission their tentative plans for remodeling their bank building, the banking men asked the commission what type of off-street parking facilities they needed to provide. According to the proposed zoning ordinance, banks must provide one parking stall for each new 200 square feet of floor or area.

Bank representatives told The Mail this week that they wanted to provide parking space for their customers but they appeared before the planning commission to learn if they were to conform to the section requiring that the parking lot be located within 300 feet of the building. The planners assured them that they could negotiate for other land for parking area outside the 300-foot limit as provided by another section of the ordinance, if no land in the required distance is available.

The planning commissioners told the bank representatives that the tentative plans submitted would require the providing of 15 off-street parking spaces.

First Aid Class To Be Presented For Civil Defense

The Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary, in cooperation with the Civil Defense office of Plymouth, has made plans to sponsor a first aid class, as an essential part of the local civil defense program.

Mrs. Lee Coolman, auxiliary civilian defense chairman, and Ernest Henry, Plymouth Civil Defense director, emphasized that this defense is our national weakness because of the indifference of individuals.

They added that since Plymouth is in one of the main target areas of Michigan all families should have an interest in learning the first aid techniques.

To register for the class, call Mrs. Coolman at 1297M before Thursday, September 24 when registrations close. Classes will be held one evening a week for 11 weeks. The date of the first class will be announced in The Plymouth Mail.

The Civil Defense director also needs volunteers to act as volunteer firemen and auxiliary police. Anyone qualified for tasks should call Mr. Henry at 93.

Livonia Police Car Kills Girl

Seven-year-old Diane Everhart of Livonia was fatally injured Tuesday when she ran into the path of a Livonia police department scout car.

Diane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Everhart, 18289 Irving, was crossing Farmington road near Claris when the scout car struck her. Patrolman David Swift said that he was driving between 35 and 40 miles per hour in the 40 mile an hour speed zone when the child dashed from between rural mail boxes.

'53 Rocks Face First Grid Test

The Plymouth High school gridder will be trying for their 10th straight football win tomorrow night as they tangle with the Northville Mustangs, at Northville, as both teams open the 1953 gridiron season. The rivalry between these two neighboring schools has extended over a long period of years and a keen, exciting game is in prospect. Coach Charles Ketterer will be starting an inexperienced eleven with only four lettermen from last year assured of a starting berth. In naming his starting lineup, Coach Ketterer issued this statement yesterday. "We are certainly an inexperienced team this year, but I feel we will have a good chance to get off to a good start against Northville tomorrow night."

Last year the Rocks trounced Northville 35 to 0 as that strong team went on to an undefeated season, a 6-B league championship and a high-ranking one among football teams in the state. This year's score may not reach the total of that of last year, but should prove a very interesting game. Northville has most of last year's team back again this year.

Captain Jerry Kelly will lead his mates on the field this year, and he can inspire them if anyone can. The other starting lettermen are Gary Gothard at tackle, Dick Day at quarter, and Jeff Hubbell at guard.

Joe Signorelli, a giant senior tackle, will kickoff this year, while Bill Petro will do the punting. Captain Kelly or Dick Davidson will kick the extra points with Kelly probably tossing most of the passes.

Student tickets for this game may be purchased at the high school at 35 cents each—at the gate all tickets will be 75 cents. Student activity tickets are now available also according to Athletic Director John Sandmann—these may be purchased at a great savings and include a full athletic schedule for the year.

Coach Ketterer reports that only 32 athletes are still on the squad and all dress for the game this year. Because of not enough interest being shown there will be no junior varsity squad this year.

Another feature this year will be seven men playing both offense and defense at least at the beginning of the season.

The starting lineup unless last minute changes are made will be: Offensive team—Jack Carter and John Agnew at the ends; Joe Signorelli and John Corwin at the tackles; Jeff Hubbell and either Gary Gothard or Terry West at the guards; and Mike Reh as the center. The offensive backfield will be composed of Dick Day at quarterback, Captain Jerry Kelly and Denny Luker at the halfback spots and Lee Juve at fullback.

On Defensive will be Dale Wilkin and John Agnew at the ends; Gary Gothard and Joe Signorelli at the tackles; Jim Arnold and Jeff Hubbell at the guards; Lee Juve and Bob Gobel as the linebackers; Dick Day and Denny Luker at the halfback spots and Jerry Kelly as the safety man.

The first home game is next week Friday night with Trenton coming here for what is expected to be a nip-and-tuck game.

SHOWN JOLTING THE BLOCKING DUMMY at the high school athletic field is Jerry Kelly, captain of this year's Plymouth Rock football team. Jerry plays halfback and is noted for his speed and long runs as he is one of the fastest dash men in the state. The senior captain is one of four lettermen expected to start the game against Northville tomorrow night. Jerry also excels in basketball and track, and as a student in the high school.

School Enrollment Shows 204 Increase; Allen Opens Monday

When children fill classrooms at the new Edna M. Allen Elementary school next Monday, there will be about 3,250 pupils in the Plymouth township school system.

The estimate was made this week by Superintendent Russell Isbister after final tabulations were made at all schools except Allen where incomplete construction postponed the opening from

Fund Campaign is Underway For St. Mary Hospital

Much additional support has been given to the St. Mary Hospital Building Fund Campaign, according to Sterling Eaton, Campaign General Chairman.

Letters endorsing the project, which is aimed at raising funds to help defray the cost of the proposed 120 bed general hospital, have begun to pour into campaign headquarters from all of the communities involved.

The following churches and organizations from Plymouth have formally endorsed the campaign:

The University of Michigan club of Plymouth, Church of Nazarene, Our Lady of Good Counsel, V.F.W. Auxiliary, the Salvation Army, and the Lions club.

The active phase of the campaign is now in progress. Under the chairmanship of Robert J. Marsden, personnel director of Burroughs Corporation, Plymouth plant, the Advance Gifts Committee has begun to solicit major industry.

Other committees are beginning to function as well. Meetings of the Community Appeal, Professional, and Commerce and Industry were held during this past week.

Residents of Plymouth who are serving on the campaign executive committee are: Sterling Eaton, James J. Gallimore, Mrs. Margaret R. Hough, Patrick McGuire, Mrs. Austin Stecker, Dr. W. W. Hammond, Jr., and Ralph G. Lorenz.

With their budget sights set on an all-time high of $6000 the advisory board of the Plymouth Symphony Society met Tuesday evening to start the Fall membership ball rolling for the 1953-54 season.

An optimistic note was hit when Mrs. M. J. Huber, membership chairman announced that last spring's drive had netted nearly 100 members already. Board President Harry Draper and Wayne Dunlap, musical director, were quick to point out that the larger budget had been established to provide more and better concerts. "It's not a case of trying to collect more money, but rather to increase the size of the orchestra and present seven concerts instead of six," said Dunlap. The extra concert is subject to approval of the board, he added.

The first concert of the new season will be presented October

Dunlap Issues Call For String Players

Wayne Dunlap, musical director of the Symphony Society, is urging all persons who are interested in playing string instruments in the symphony to meet on Monday evening, September 21 in the music room of the Plymouth High school at 8 p.m., at which time the first rehearsal will be held. The first concert is scheduled for October 25.

25 at the Plymouth High school and will feature Tenor Fred Kendall as soloist.

Attending Tuesday evening's meeting at the request of the board were Mrs. Henry Walsh and Robert Wesley who volunteered to aid the board in its membership drive. Wesley is currently planning a mailing-piece to be used in conjunction with the efforts to obtain the support of industry.

Mrs. Huber stated that a telephone and personal contact campaign would get underway immediately in an effort to make this year's membership the largest in the eight year history of the Symphony Society. She added that anyone interested in supporting the orchestra could send their membership contributions to The Symphony Society, Inc., Box 99, Plymouth. Membership fees are: active, $5.00; business, $10; family, $10; sustaining, $25; and patron, $50 minimum.

Peterson Slates Birthday Event

The fifth anniversary celebration of the opening of the Peterson Drug store is slated for this weekend. The announcement was made recently by Carl A. Peterson, proprietor of the store at 840 West Ann Arbor trail.

In observance of the anniversary Peterson is featuring a huge birthday sale with free gifts for all visitors. Outstanding bargains will be another highlight of the celebration, Peterson said.

Before opening the Plymouth store five years ago, Peterson was associated with the Kinsel Drug company in Detroit for over 18 years. He was manager of three of the Kinsel branches while with the firm. Peterson and his family reside at 12049 Amherst court in Plymouth Hills.

Reverend Johnson Heads Methodist Education

The Reverend Melbourne I. Johnson, D.D. was elected chairman of the district board of education at the Ann Arbor District Conference of the Methodist church held in Wayne on Monday.

As chairman Reverend Johnson will be responsible for providing leadership for the religious education of the entire district, comprised of some 70 churches.

Invite Senator Here

Plans are under way to bring Senator Homer Ferguson to Plymouth in the near future by the Industrial Committee of the Chamber of Commerce headed by James Hinkley.

The program will be held principally for industry and small business with the Senator explaining about various Federal funds that are available for concerns of this nature. According to Mr. Hinkley a definite date for the meeting will probably be announced next week.

67 Golfers Set for City Tourney; Entries to be Accepted All Week

A field of at least 67 Plymouth golfers will tee-off this Saturday at Bob O'Link in the qualifying round of the annual city tournament. Starting times are published on page 5, section 2 of today's Mail.

Tournament Chairman L. B. Rice announced that entries will be accepted Saturday by Starter Burrell Bolin at Bob O'Link, but that players will have to accept whatever starting times remain. He also stated that if anyone wishes to enter this week, they may do so at Todd's Grocery on South Main street. By entering at Todd's the player can be assigned a starting time immediately as the pairing sheets are being held by George Todd.

A prize list totaling more than $600 assures players of at least five prizes in each of the four flights. In addition there will be five prizes awarded in the qualifying round.

Saturday's round of 18 holes will determine which of the four flights a player will be assigned. Rice stated that there will be approximately 24 players in the championship and 18 players in the other three flights. So that players may find out what time they play on Sunday, the starting times will be posted Saturday not later than 7:30 p.m. in the window of the AAA office on South Main street. Championship flight players will tee-off first Sunday as they will be required to play 36 holes. All other flights will play 18 holes on Sunday. Low totals of Sunday's rounds will determine flight winners, while Saturday's rounds will be counted for qualifying only.

Prizes will be awarded Sunday following play in all flights. It is expected that all flights except the championship will be awarded their prizes shortly after noon. The championship flight presentations will not be made until the second round has been played in the afternoon. Ralph Lorenz, Chamber of Commerce president, and Rice will make the presentations in the dining room of the club house.

Rules governing tournament play have been formulated by

Citizens Should Check Solicitors

House-to-house solicitors in Plymouth should have a permit from the police department or approval of the Chamber of Commerce, citizens were reminded today by Chamber Secretary Nat Sibbold.

A number of peddlers and solicitors have been in the city during the past week and have been operating without a permit of any kind, Sibbold added. One man has been entering homes claiming he is taking a poll on radio listening while another has been selling pottery.

Though many house-to-house salesmen may be okay, Sibbold warned, there are some who operate an illicit business. Any salesman coming to the door should be asked if he has a permit, the Chambers secretary said.

Bob Wesley and Rex Purkey and will be printed on special tournament score cards which will be given each player before he tees off.

Prizes in all four flights and for qualifying are as follows: Qualifying round—low score, dozen golf balls; six, golf balls each to next two low qualifiers; key case to fourth low qualifier; and to the highest qualifying score a cigarette lighter set; Championship Flight—grand-winner trophy and individual trophy plus a set of eight Wilson irons; 2nd place, golf cart; 3rd place, dress shoes; 4th place, cuff

Pair Nabbed While Attempting Third Burglary in One Night

Two Detroit area men apprehended as they attempted their third burglary in one night here will be arraigned next Monday before Municipal Judge Nandino Perlongo. They are William C. Kelly, 21, of 12369 Monica, Detroit, and Ralph H. Smith, 1392 Coolidge, River Rouge.

A patrolman making a routine check at Mackie Mercury, 402 North Mill street, arrested the pair as they hid under a car behind the garage at 2:30 a.m. last Thursday. The patrolman was alerted when he heard a noise at the side of the building. The pair had been forcing open a window with a "pinch bar" when the bar slipped and made a loud clanking noise.

Hearing the patrolman approaching, Smith and Kelly rolled under a nearby car but they were easily found. In their possession was a flashlight, the pinch bar, a chisel and two pairs of gloves.

Chamber Receives First Checks For Off-Street Parking Facilities

Two checks totaling $2,000 have been received by the off-street parking committee of the Chamber of Commerce to start off the merchant movement to provide more off-street parking facilities in the downtown area.

Chamber Secretary Nat Sibbold reports that a check for $1,500 has been received from Joseph Kaufman and Harry Speyer, Detroit, owners of the Mayflower Wine Shop, and a $500 check has been given by the Atlas Finance company of Detroit, owners of properties from the A & P to Peterson's Drugs.

Meanwhile, Sibbold reports that he has succeeded in obtaining three options on three properties and hopes to secure the fourth soon. The proposed lot will be located on the east side of Harvey street between Ann Arbor trail and Wing street. The Chamber secretary states that he has now obtained about $15,000 in verbal pledges and checks and that he hopes to obtain $10,000 more. Chamber workers will soon contact merchants in the Forest avenue and Ann Arbor

Earlier in the night the pair had forced their way into offices of the First Presbyterian church where they tore open filing cabinets and drawers. They found about $17 in cash, according to a police report. Dr. Henry J. Walsh reports that the church offices have been burglarized several times in the past few years but without success since the church usually keeps no money in the building.

Smith and Kelly then went to the Roe Lumber company, 443 Amelia, where they forced their way into the office and found but 20 pennies.

The two admitted the thefts to Plymouth police. Charged with breaking and entering at night-time, they appeared before Judge Perlongo last Friday where they stood mute. They were placed in the Wayne county jail since the new Plymouth jail is not yet completed.

Russell Isbister Is Rotary Speaker

Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister was speaker for the classification committee of Rotary last Friday at the club's weekly meeting. He outlined his climb in the field of education which he entered after a brief career in the ring.

He told Rotarians that he believed "we are what we are because of other people" and gave many examples of this statement. He told of his teaching days and then his advancement to a principal's position then on to a superintendency. While superintendent of schools in Centerline he also served as mayor.

Dr. A. C. Williams presented Mr. Isbister to the club.

Edson Whipple Claims June Ann Larson As Bride

June Ann Larson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Larson of Ortonville, and Edson Austin Whipple, son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Whipple of Plymouth, spoke their vows Saturday afternoon before Reverend Henry Walch, D.D. in the First Presbyterian church of Plymouth.

The ceremony was performed at three o'clock before an altar flanked by baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums against a background of palms centered by white candles.

The bride wore an ankle-length gown of Chantilly lace over white satin with a finger tip veil of illusion falling from a circlet of pearls. She carried a formal arrangement of white roses and stephanotis.

Her two attendants were her sisters, Miss Jan Larson and Miss Mary Larson, who wore frocks of blue silk organza with deeper blue sashes. They carried formal bouquets of pink roses with ivy.

Elmer Huston Whipple, brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers, former college roommates of the groom, were Irving Stewart, Keith Miller, and James Butt of Plymouth, and Roger Watson of Traverse City.

Mrs. Marian Lessard of Clarks-ton sang two solos.

Following the service there was a reception for over 200 guests in the parlors of the church where the tables were decorated with smilax and corner bouquets of pink and white baby mums.

The coffee table held an arrangement of rubrum lilies and pink baby mums, and pale pink tapers. The bride's table was centered with the wedding cake, tall silver candelabra and white tapers.

Mrs. Larson received the guests in a powder blue gown of crepe and lace with navy accessories.

Mrs. Edson A. Whipple

Mrs. Whipple wore a rose lace afternoon dress with matching hat and gloves. Both mothers wore corsages of pink roses.

Immediately after the reception Mr. and Mrs. Whipple left for a short wedding trip before the groom enters the service. The

David Travis and Miss Donna Hunt Speak Nuptial Vows in Candlelight Ceremony

Miss Donna Hunt became the bride of David Clair Travis in a candlelight ceremony performed by Reverend Henry J. Walch, D.D. in the First Presbyterian church, Saturday, September 17, Ann Arbor.

Donna is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hunt of South Holbrook, and David's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clair G. Travis of Palmer street.

The bride approached the altar, decorated with white gladioli and chrysanthemums, on her father's arm. Fred Nelson sung the organ while solos were sung by Miss Shirley Plant.

Donna was dressed in a floor-length gown of white marquisette and chantilly lace, fashioned with an empire waistline. Long satin gloves covered her arms. Her finger tip veil of illusion edged in lace fell from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible on which was placed a white orchid with stephanotis.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Wanda Kalmbach, served Donna as matron of honor. She was attired in a floor-length gown of powder blue net over taffeta with a matching net stole. On her arm she carried a basket of bronze roses and chrysanthemums. Her costume was completed by a matching floral headpiece.

As her attendants, Donna chose Miss Nancy Travis, sister of the groom, and Jeanette DeClercq. Both were dressed in royal blue gowns similar in style to that of the matron of honor. Their basket bouquets and matching headpieces were of golden flowers.

Bonnie Hunt, sister of the bride, was the little flower girl. She was dressed in a light blue gown like the others and carried a miniature basket of the golden flowers. Tony Hunt, brother of the bride, served as ring bearer.

David asked Robert Kenney to be his best man, and Howard Carson and Jerry Finnegan were ushers.

Merchants Give Reasons in Night Opening Poll

Seventy-five per cent of Plymouth's merchants are not in favor of opening another night according to a final tabulation of the telephone poll made last week by the Chamber of Commerce.

Of the 36 merchants polled, only nine favored opening another night of the week. Reasons for and against the other opening were also polled by the Chamber secretary, Nat Sibbold.

Those who disfavored another night opening said: "Too long hours"; "No additional business"; "Lack of help, increase in cost"; "Not necessary" and "Help would object."

Those who favored another opening stated: "Means more business"; "We need it to keep Plymouth in business"; and "Would draw more people here to shop."

Another poll was taken at the same time to determine which night merchants will begin night openings for Christmas. Twenty-two merchants favored opening on December 9 and 13 favored a December 4 opening.

White Flees City Before Making Court Appearance

Law enforcement agencies throughout the area are pressing a search for Jack White, 22, who last Wednesday night forfeited his bond and left the city prior to his hearing here on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

White, who allegedly gave beer and wine to a 13-year-old Plymouth boy on August 28, was scheduled to appear before Municipal Judge Nandino Perlongo last Wednesday night. When he failed to appear, an order for his arrest was immediately issued and police went to his home at 14695 Bradner. White was not at his home and the search is continuing. Chief of Police Carl Greenlee said today.

White was arrested several days after his young companion, who was pronounced intoxicated by a physician, named him as the person who furnished the bottle of beer and half bottle of wine. A bonding company furnished a $300 bond and White was released from custody.

Attends Normal With State Scholarship

Five persons from Plymouth will attend Michigan State Normal college this year under a scholarship granted to students who plan to enter teaching.

Holders of the State Board of Education scholarships for the 1953-54 school year are Marion Gladys Donohue, 683 Kellogg; Arlene Marie French, 523 Deer; Betty Jean Mishler, 1076 Ross; Marilyn Julia Tefft, 1238 Penniman; and Mrs. Avis Waldecker, 391 Joy.

Orientation for freshmen and students transferring from other colleges began last Monday and classes for the fall semester will begin next Monday.

PRESENTATION OF THE JEWELS to Ray Creith, exalted ruler of the B.P.O. Elks, was made by Mrs. Marian Creith, immediate past president of the Vivvians. The Vivvians, who are the womens auxiliary of the Elks, raised the money for the jewels, which will be used by the Elks for ritual purposes. All the money was raised while Mrs. Creith held office.

Detroit Salesman Dies in Local Hardware Store

A Detroit salesman entered a downtown hardware store Monday noon and a few minutes later dropped dead, the victim of a cerebral hemorrhage.

A search by Plymouth police through the victim's pockets and brief case identified him as George B. Walker, 15237 Dexter, Detroit. He was a salesman for the National Press company of Chicago, an advertising merchandising firm.

Walker dropped dead only a few feet inside the front door of the Conner Hardware, 816 Penniman. According to store manager Henry Hanchette, Walker came into his store after first visiting the Pease Paint & Wallpaper store. After showing a few rulers, Hanchette turned around to answer the telephone. He then heard the salesman fall to the floor.

A local physician was called immediately and he revealed that the hemorrhage victim was probably dead before he hit the floor. Police summoned the Wayne county coroner's office but it was not until 2:40 when the coroner's ambulance arrived. In the meantime, the store was closed to business.

The coroner's office said today that Walker is 50 years old and is survived by a wife, Peggy. They also reported that Mr. Walker was a veteran of World War I and that he had a former home in Georgia.

Local authorities could not determine how Walker got to Plymouth. He had never been seen by local merchants before.

Plymouth Society To Attend Camp

Local members of the Plymouth Corners society of the Children of the American Revolution will leave Friday for a weekend at the Cedar Lake group camp in the Waterloo area, announced Mrs. Robert Willoughby, state president.

On Saturday, September 19, the state board of the Children of the American Revolution will hold a luncheon meeting, which will be attended by the state junior and senior officers. Mrs. J. Harvey Maxwell, national vice president of the region, Dick Root, state chairman of conservation, and Robert Willoughby, Jr., national treasurer, will be among those who attend.

Conservation officers will be on hand at the camp to explain conservation techniques, fire-fighting procedure, and their daily work to the visitors.

September 23 Is Year's Best Day To Have Twins

Wednesday, September 23, will really be a blessed event day for any Plymouth mother giving birth to twins. Again this year the Westinghouse corporation, through their local dealer, West Brothers Appliances, will present a Westinghouse laundromat and automatic dryer to the mother of twins born on that day.

Last year Plymouth had a winned with Mrs. Robert W. Angrove of 701 Irvin street. Mrs. Angrove's twin sons, Robert W. and Mark J., were born at 7:13 and 7:20 p.m. at Mount Carmel hospital in Detroit. The rules require that the twins be born between midnight September 22 and midnight September 23.

Besides the laundry twins, Mrs. Angrove also was presented with 750 units of Gerber's baby foods. This year the prize will include 768 boxes, jars and cans of Gerber's foods for the new twins.

The average number of twins born in the nation on any day in September is 104 sets, but last year's blessed event day saw 303 sets come into the world.

The Westinghouse corporation must be notified within 72 hours of the birth, or no later than midnight, September 26. A collect wire should be addressed to: "Blessed Event," Westinghouse Electric corporation, Mansfield, Ohio. Westinghouse will require photostats of the birth certificate. Further details on the contest may be secured from West Brothers.

Elks Play Hosts To District Meet

The Plymouth B.P.O. Elks were hosts to 10 other lodges for a district meeting held here on Sunday, September 13. Present at the meeting were grand exalted ruler Hugh Tarpley of Jackson and John C. Cooper, vice president of Michigan southeastern of the Elks state association.

Fifty representatives came from Detroit, Jackson, Flat Rock, Monroe, Ferndale, Royal Oak, Pontiac, Ann Arbor, Adrian and Port Huron. About 35 women visitors were also present.

The Daughters of America will hold a bazaar and rummage sale September 18 and 19, and a bake sale on Saturday, September 19, at the Grange hall.

PHS Announces Ticket Policy

It will cost Plymouth elementary school children 25 cents to see a home football game and older school children 40 cents—providing they buy their tickets at school.

High school principal Carvel Bentley points out that kindergarten through sixth grade pupils can buy football tickets for home games at their respective schools for 25 cents. Older students will be charged 40 cents. Tickets will also be sold at non-public schools. The only ticket sold at the gate on game nights will cost 75 cents. Pre-school children will be admitted free when accompanied by their parents.

A similar policy will be in effect for basketball games except that pupils in seventh through the 12th grade will pay only 35 cents. Other prices will be the same.

Hear Convention Notes at Meeting Of Garden Club

Mrs. Paul J. Wiedman was hostess to members of the Plymouth Branch of the Michigan division of the Women's National Farm and Garden association this week. Tea chairman for the meeting was Mrs. Anthony Dohman, assisted by Mrs. Louis VonStein and Mrs. Albert Pint.

A report on the International Triennial Convention of the Associated Country Women of the World at Toronto was given by Mrs. Paul Wiedman and Mrs. Dohman, local delegates to the convention.

Mrs. Bruce Mackie, first grade teacher at Bird school, reported on the Conservation camp at Higgins Lake, where she was sent by the club.

Sherley Pint met with the club and described her activities at Michigan State college. Miss Pint is majoring in home economics.

New committees were introduced by the club's president, Mrs. Edwin Schrader. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Chester Teasel on Warren road, October 12.

The Daughters of America will hold a bazaar and rummage sale September 18 and 19, and a bake sale on Saturday, September 19, at the Grange hall.

Second '54 Paint Job Performed On Water Tower

It has been a tough season for the city's water tower. There has been another paint job.

It was only last week that The Mail noted that the tower located near the downtown area received a seagreen "54" and "MSC" high on the tank. But another artist climbed the tank last Friday night and painted a larger "54" in red paint.

Inside information now reveals that the green paint job was performed by a number of future Michigan State college students from Plymouth who will be freshmen this year. The newest "54" is then undoubtedly the work of one or several Plymouth High school seniors who are carrying on the "tradition" of painting their graduation year on the tank. The first of these sky-high paint jobs took place back in 1951.

School officials as well as city officials frown on the painting prank. Not only is it an act of vandalism but it is a dangerous task, they point out. It was only last week that the mayor of the Student council, Ty Caplin, pleaded with students at an assembly to refrain from pranks and acts of vandalism.

New Restaurant To Open Here

Plymouth will see the opening of a new restaurant when Al's Italian restaurant at 47660 Ann Arbor road first opens its doors to local customers Friday, September 25.

Al Carnevale, proprietor of the restaurant, is well-known to Plymouth customers as the owner of Al's restaurant on Starkweather. The building was destroyed by fire in 1948, forcing him to move his location to Outer Drive.

For the past several months Mr. Carnevale has been completely remodeling the Plymouth road building preparatory to the official opening. The dining room features bleached mahogany walls, he added.

Carnevale and his wife are presently Plymouth residents.

Antibiotics may be used in the near future to control bacterial diseases of plants.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lush of The Mayflower's California Department reported aboard this week. All well in the Golden State, especially in the area in which they are residents: just north of San Diego at Rancho Santa Fe.

General Manager Earl O'Day of Quincy Products was on board Monday, visiting members of the crew and guests. Earl is a former Plymouth man now heading the new manufacturing plant at Quincy, Michigan.

The Skipper of the Mayflower was an officer in Uncle Sam's fine navy during the war and sailed the far reaches of the Pacific for months on end. But on a trip across Lake Michigan for a hotel convention last week he was convinced that the Pacific is much more serene than these inland seas. Says he, "I'll stick to sailing the Mayflower from here on in. The tossing that pond across the state gave me had disastrous results on my stomach."

Post script to the above item: The Skipper's feelings may have been hurt, too. It seems that his lovely wife weathered the storm beautifully. Her only comment was a casual, "What storm?"

That gushing hot water that is forcefully dashed on dishes in the galley looked mighty interesting. It was shooting in every direction, and in great quantities. Being of a curious nature your yeoman wanted to know a few things about it, and stuck his finger in to see how warm the water was. Ouch—!—is there a doctor in the house? That stuff never gets below 180 degrees, he fell him NOW. A good respectable speck of dirt doesn't stand a chance around there.

Norval Langworthy, advertising account executive from Chicago, spent several days here this week. He has been registered frequently over many years and spends his time in Plymouth at The Daisy. Affectionately known as "Chief," he is a very busy man. We're sure the college professor who gave us the following bit of advice must have had such a man in mind: "When you want something done find the busiest man you can. He will do it."

Herman Bakhaus is giving a stag party for Joe Rucker of Stop and Shop in the Mayflower's "Captain's Quarters" this week. The bells in The Captain's Quarters will soon be drowned out by wedding bells for Mr. Rucker.

The Mayflower will be well represented at Michigan State college this year again. Besides the three young folks mentioned last week as leaving their employment here for the school year at that fine college we now must add two more names: Shirley Sexton, daughter of Judge James Sexton, and Charles Wise who will be starting his first year on the hotel course. The rest of the staff at The Mayflower wishes these promising youngsters a most pleasant school year.

Observed through a porthole: Jack Miller checking in guests from twelve different states in rapid succession as they came up the gangplank Monday evening.

That's the last entry in the "log" for this week. So, here's a cheery "Aboard" wish from Ed's Mate Carl Caplin who must get back to unpacking a lot of new neckwear.

Miss Victoria Minton and Jack Campbell
Speak Wedding Vows in Wayne Ceremony

Mrs. Jack Campbell

Victoria L. Minton of Wayne and Jack R. Campbell exchanged nuptial vows Saturday evening September 5 in a six o'clock ceremony before the Reverend E. A. Britton in the First Congregational church of Wayne.

Victoria is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Minton, Sr., of Schley street, Wayne, and Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell of Kellogg avenue.

Preceding the ceremony the soloist, Marian Carpenter, sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who approached the altar on the arm of her father, wore a floor-length gown with a satin skirt and train. The bodice was lace over satin, with a high neckline, small peaked collar and long sleeves coming to points over the wrists. Her fingertip veil fell from a small cap, and she carried white roses surrounding a white orchid.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Trudy Davis, wore a blue floor-length dress with a strapless bodice of velvet covered by a bolero. The skirt was of net. Mrs. Davis wore a flowered cap and carried a cascade bouquet of red happiness roses.

The bridesmaids, Jean Johnson and Kay Fahey, were dressed like the matron of honor, but their bouquets were of yellow roses.

Dressed in a pink nylon frock of net over taffeta, little Sharon Minton, sister of the bride, served as flower girl. Sharon's bouquet was fashioned of pink roses.

Jack chose as his best man, Bill Davis, and the ushers were Roger Minton, brother of the bride, and Cass Grabski.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Minton chose a gray dress with a corsage of pink carnations at the shoulder.

The American Legion Hall in Plymouth was the scene of the reception for approximately 250 guests. Buffet refreshments were served, and the newlyweds cut a four-tier wedding cake.

A navy blue dress with white accessories and an orchid corsage composed the ensemble which the bride chose for traveling. She and her husband left for a honeymoon in Canada and Niagara Falls.

Upon returning they will make their home in Garden City.

Victoria is a graduate of Wayne High school and Jack was graduated from Plymouth High school.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kreger spent the weekend in Plymouth visiting Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Kreger. Mrs. Arthur Kreger's health is much improved, and they will reside in Traverse City this year.

Dorothy Gotts and Robert Richards Wed
In Denton Ceremony

Dorothy Gotts and Robert Richards spoke their nuptial vows September 5 in a quiet ceremony in the parsonage of Reverend G. T. Nevin at Denton.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gotts of Ridge road are the parents of the bride, and Lloyd Richards of Ypsilanti and Mrs. Martin Fosdick of Detroit are the groom's parents.

Dorothy chose a royal purple suit for her 6:30 wedding, highlighting it with brown accessories. Her corsage was a bronze orchid. Dorothy's only attendant was Joyce Buchner, of Cherry Hill, who wore a grey suit with navy accessories. She wore an orchid corsage pinned to her shoulder.

Robert chose Robert Kash of Ypsilanti to serve as his best man.

Mrs. Gotts wore a teal blue lace dress for her daughter's wedding. Her costume featured black accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Fosdick, mother of the groom, was attired in an alicia blue dress, with white accessories. She also wore a corsage of red roses.

Following the ceremony a reception dance for 200 guests was held at the Superior township hall. Guests attended from Cherry Hill, Detroit, Ypsilanti, Plymouth, Battle Creek, Livonia, Wayne, Belleville, Denton and Ann Arbor.

The couple left for a wedding trip to northern Michigan.

Margaret H. Krause Becomes Bride of Edward Kazarian

Mrs. Edward Kazarian

Margaret Helen Krause became the bride of Edward A. Kazarian Saturday, September 12, in a five o'clock ceremony in the First Presbyterian church. The nuptial vows were heard by the Reverend Henry J. Walch, D. D.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Krause of Livonia, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. Kazarian of Livonia.

Margaret approached the altar on the arm of her father. She wore a ballerina-length gown of imported chantilly lace over satin. Her shoulder-length veil of tulle fell from a tiny shell bonnet of lace embroidered with seed pearls. The bride carried a bouquet of roses and stephanotis, centered with orchids.

For her matron of honor, Margaret chose her sister, Mrs. Robert Betts. She wore a gown of rose silk shantung, in a design similar to that of the bride. She also wore a tiny matching hat and carried a bouquet of talisman roses.

Carl L. Reih of Lansing served Edward as best man. The bride's mother was attired in a dress of lavender silk with black accessories. The mother of the groom chose a dress of navy silk and lace with navy accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of pink roses.

Following the lovely ceremony a reception for the guests was held at the Mayflower hotel.

When the young couple left for their honeymoon, the new Mrs. Kazarian wore a navy gabardine suit with navy accessories and the orchids from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return they will make their home in Williamston.

The bride is a graduate of Plymouth High school and attended Michigan State Normal college. Edward was graduated from Northville High school and is a senior at Michigan State college.

Grange Gleanings

Tonight is Booster night at the Grange. Are you coming to boost? Does your Grange mean anything to you? It should. Why not lend a helping hand now and then? Surely it is not asking too much to expect all members to attend at least four meetings a year.

Tonight there will be a film showing after which the evening will be devoted to dancing. A good caller will be there for the square dances. This is an open meeting so bring your friends. What has become of the Lily club?

secretary; Roderick Cassady, second vice president; Mrs. Ruth Huston Whipple, president; Leonard Milross, first vice president and Roy Fisher, treasurer.

Theatre Orders Wide Screen for CinemaScope

A curved screen twice the width of the present screen will soon be installed in the Penn Theatre to accommodate the newest of 3-dimension processes, CinemaScope.

Harry Lush, owner of the theatre, arrived here by plane last week from his home in California to complete arrangements for the new screen. Although CinemaScope films will probably not reach Plymouth until next spring, regular 2-D movies will be shown on the wide screen. New wide-angle lenses will be needed for the projectors to show the movies on a wider angle.

The present size of the screen is 14 feet high and 18 feet wide.

The new screen size is 16 by 32 feet.

CinemaScope presents a 3-D illusion because of the screen depth. Unlike Cinerama which uses three projectors, CinemaScope uses but one film and one projector. It also includes "stereophonic" sound which is a three dimension in sound. Eight speakers will be installed around the theatre auditorium to provide the 3-D sound effect.

Although 20th Century Fox is the originator of CinemaScope, several other major film companies are producing CinemaScope movies. First of the CinemaScope pictures will be "The Robe" which will open in New York on September 16. No special glasses are needed with the CinemaScope process.

Mr. Lush and his wife left for their home at Rancho Santa Fe, California last Monday.

Returning home at night from the office, the father asked his children about their behavior that day.

"Oh, we've been good," said little Nancy. "I washed the dishes."

"And I wiped them," added Peter.

"And what about you Dicky?" the father asked, turning to the smallest member of the family.

"I picked up the pieces," he replied cheerfully.

Ever notice that a cent never looks bigger than when it is added to the price of gasoline.

Archibald Carey To Lecture On Christian Science

Archibald Carey

A world traveler and lecturer of wide experience has been secured by Eighth Church of Christ, Scientist, Detroit, to deliver a free public lecture in the church, on Thursday October 1, at 8 p.m.

Dr. Archibald Carey, C.S.B., of Detroit, is a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. He will speak on the subject "Christian Science: How Scientific Prayer Can Help You," in the church on the corner of Grand River Avenue and Evergreen road.

Dr. Carey received the degrees of A.B. and LL.B. from the University of Michigan, and LL.D. from The Principia college. He entered the legal profession in Detroit, becoming a senior member of a firm engaged largely in the practice of corporation law.

After an extensive investigation of various religions and philosophies, he became convinced that Christian Science is ultimate truth, and also that it is the most effective healing method.

While traveling in different countries, he realized the world-wide need for what Christian Science offers, and with the conviction that he could be of greater service in the practice of Christian Science, he retired from his law practice. In 1931 he became an authorized teacher of Christian Science. Since 1946 he has lectured on Christian Science in many countries, from Alaska to Argentina, and from Europe to South Africa. The public is invited to attend the lecture.

CHURCHES OF OUR AREA Seventh-Day Adventists

A STOREROOM now suffices as the place of worship for members of the Plymouth Seventh-day Adventist church. It is located at 1058 South Main street. At right is Pastor Merton Henry who arrived in Plymouth just two weeks ago to serve both the Plymouth and Belleville churches. He is a native of eastern Pennsylvania.

PLY-MAIL PHOTOS

Seventh-Day Adventists Get First Resident Pastor

Seventh-day Adventists of Plymouth welcomed their first resident pastor two weeks ago as another step toward establishing a flourishing congregation in a growing community.

The challenge of building up one of Plymouth's newest and smallest congregations has been given pastor Merton Henry, who came here after serving as pastor in Urbandale, Michigan, and as assistant pastor of the Battle Creek Tabernacle.

It was on May 13, 1950 that the Seventh-day Adventist church was established here by 16 charter members. However, the denomination had established a Sabbath school in Plymouth in 1935. The newly-formed congregation met in various places until they purchased a storeroom at 1058 South Main street which is still in use.

Reverend M. S. Krietzky, who was pastor of a large church in Detroit, also served the Plymouth and Belleville churches. Through the Plymouth congregation now numbers only 23, the Seventh-day Adventist denomination is a growing world-wide organization which today counts 807,000 followers.

Seventh-day Adventists are strict fundamentalists — taking both the Old and New Testament at their face value. Because of this literal translation, members point to numerous Bible passages which state that the seventh day of the week (Saturday) is called the Sabbath. They therefore attend church on Saturday.

The "Adventist" part of their name indicates their special concern for this phase of Christian teaching. Bible study has convinced them that not only is Christ coming, but that He is coming soon.

The Adventist movement had its beginning between 1820 and 1830 in Europe and America when over 1,000 clergymen from nearly every faith began to preach about the second advent of Christ. America was stirred with the message that Christ was to arrive in 1844—but the adventists found they were wrong. Some of these adventists then decided to restudy the prophecies and in doing so they found that the world would be warned before Christ could come again. Accepting the Sabbath truth from the Seventh-day Baptists, they became the nucleus of the Seventh-day Adventist movement.

The first church was organized in 1861. In Battle Creek, Michigan the name was adopted and the first general conference was formed in 1863. The Seventh-day Adventists today have churches in 228 of the 282 nations of the world and they print religious literature in 197 languages. Their vast missionary movement is a reflection of their sense of destiny, believing it their duty to warn mankind that the end of the world is at hand.

Welfare work is also a large project of the church. Plymouth and other churches have a Dorcas society, active in caring for needy both locally and elsewhere. Some 2,000,000 patients are treated annually by the Seventh-day Adventist large health and medical program. They support 363 physicians in their own hospitals and the 108 sanatoriums.

Like Catholic and some Lutheran groups, Seventh-day Adventists believe in separation of the church and state. Pastor Henry explains that it is their belief that religious schooling is important in a youth's education, but that it is not the duty of the state to use taxpayer's money to provide religious training. The church school is therefore the answer. Five local children travel each day to a Seventh-day Adventist school in Detroit.

The denomination takes a definite stand, based on Scripture, against divorce, drinking and smoking. Their beliefs are much like most Protestant faiths—belief in the Trinity, the Virgin birth and Baptism.

Adventists also believe that when Christ comes again, He and His followers will ascend into heaven for a thousand years while the earth remains a desolated, depopulated wilderness.

At the close of the millennium, the earth will again become a scene of great activity with the resurrection of the wicked, the return of the righteous from heaven, the setting up of the New Jerusalem on earth and the execution of final judgment upon the unrepentant (Revelation 20).

Seventh-day Adventists never have set a time when Christ is to come again. They accept Christ's statement, "Of that day and hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels of heaven, but my Father only."

Before becoming pastors in the church, a person must first serve in a charge four years, although he is fully-licensed to perform any pastoral duties. There are now 269 colleges and academies supported by the church with the College of Medical Evangelists in Loma Linda, California recognized by the American Medical association as one of the nation's leading medical schools.

Pastor and Mrs. Henry live at 429 Ann Arbor trail.

ST. JOHN'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH, Harvey and Maple streets, Plymouth. Rev. David T. Davies, rector. Office phone 1730; Residence phone 2308. Harper Stephens - Choir director, Mrs. William Koenig-Organist. Sixteenth Sunday after Trinity. 8:00 a.m. Holy Communion. 9:30 a.m. Family service and class instruction. Also class for parents and other adults. 11:00 a.m. Morning service, Holy Baptism and sermon. We hope that parents with young children will make an effort to attend the family service at 9:30 a.m. when parents and children will worship together thus helping to restore the family unity. Following the worship period the children go to their respective classes where they are taught the faith by capable and consecrated teachers. To worship God the Giver of all good gifts is a great privilege and we urge you to worship in the church of your choice on the Lord's day. If you have no church home, you are cordially invited to attend this friendly church.

Reverend Jones To Be Installed

Reverend E. B. Jones

Installation services for the Reverend E. B. Jones of the Riverside Church of God will be performed Sunday, September 20 at a 3 p.m. service. The Reverend W. Dale Frye, president of the Southeastern district Ministerial Fellowship, will welcome him into that group.

Before coming to his new pastorate at the church at Plymouth and Newburg roads, Reverend Jones was minister at the First Church of God at Ellwood City, Pennsylvania. He was pastor there for five and one-half years, and was a leader in the Pennsylvania division of the Church of God.

Reverend Jones received his bachelor of theology degree from Anderson college Theological Seminary.

Besides Reverend Frye, who is pastor of the Northwestern Church of God, there will be five other area ministers taking part in the installation services. They are Reverend George K. White of the Lincoln Park Church of God; Reverend Walter A. Shriner of State Fair Church of God, Detroit; Reverend Samuel C. HARVEST FESTIVAL

Next Sunday September 20 is Harvest Festival Day in our church. There will be a beautiful display of fruit, vegetables and flowers in front of the chancel. Those who have seen this sight will not want to miss it. Invite your friends. 6:30 p.m. Senior Methodist Youth Fellowship. The following is a paragraph from Dr. Johnson's sermon delivered last Sunday morning. He spoke on the theme, "A religion of crisis." "Christianity is in the deepest sense a religion of crisis. It exists in order to force a crisis on every man whom it touches and on every society into which it makes its way. It is a religion which calls on men to make decisions; to choose this road or that road; or between going back and going on, between staying put and forging ahead. When Christianity leaves men alone, leaves them complacent and happy as they are, it is no longer Christianity, but something else. Its business is (as St. Paul says) to placard Jesus Christ before men's eyes that they will be compelled to make a choice."

Local People Attend Red Cross Disaster Meeting

Eight representatives of the Plymouth branch of the American Red Cross attended an area disaster meeting held Monday night at the Livonia courthouse.

A review was given of the Red Cross disaster organization's operations at the recent General Motors fire in Livonia. There was also a discussion on the functions relative to activities of the Red Cross and a definition of policies of the organization as they affect disaster service.

Those in attendance from Plymouth were Mrs. H. K. Penhale, branch chairman; James C. Houk and Lon E. Dickerson, disaster co-chairmen; Mrs. Pat Wittke, canteen chairman; Mowry Arnold, motor corps chairman; Mrs. B. E. Champion and Mrs. Earl Myers.

Red Cross branch members were present from most out-county communities.

Houk, Plymouth's co-chairman of disaster, was recently given a citation by the Red Cross for his part in the General Motors disaster. The Livonia Red Cross disaster chairman was out of town at the time of the fire so Houk was on hand to handle Red Cross activities.

Shelter at night, shade during the day, and plenty of eating and drinking space will help your pullets develop into good layers.

Nulty was graduated in June from Plymouth High school where he placed seventh in a class of 182. His high school activities included athletics, YMCA and religious group.

During the last war an American doughboy on leave picked up a cute little mademoiselle and took her to a Parisian cafe for dinner.

During the first course he consulted in his French dictionary and with the fine Brooklyn accent breathed, "Je t'adore!"

The little lady fired back, "Shut the door yourself — you lazee Yankee."

If you are a bit hazy as to the use and advantages of an incident-light meter, we might explain first that incident light is that which falls upon the subject from the source.

Of you were to attempt a portrait against a bright white or dull black background, for example, the incident-light meter is designed to provide a direct and accurate reading if held in the position of the subject with its light-sensitive element pointed at the camera. This takes into account light falling on the subject from all sources and reduces background and other disturbing elements as influencing factors. Another effective use of this type meter is for back-lighting to throw figures into silhouette or semi-silhouette which requires exposure based on good highlight rendition. Everything considered, the incident-light meter often represents a ready solution to exposure problems for amateur and professional alike.

JACK TIGHE GOES ON LIMB FOR PITCHER PAUL FOYTAK

John Tighe has been a true conservative in his two years as manager of the Buffalo Bisons, says The Sporting News. He has rarely gone on a limb labeling a Detroit Tiger farmhand with a "can't miss stardom" tag.

But when young Paul Foytak got out of a sick bed to pitch the Bisons to a victory recently, Tighe declared:

"He'll win regularly next year in the American League if he is pitched regularly. He is the best pitcher in the International League."

In two months the 22-year-old Foytak has acquired the four things he lacked: 1. control; 2. finesse; 3. a lutech pitch; 4. he has learned to pace himself. Veteran observers believe that by the end of the season he will be farther advanced as a pitcher than either Virgil Trucks or Billy Pierce was when graduated to the majors, The Sporting News reports.

Foytak, who posted the season's high strikeout total of 13 in a game against the Rochester Red Wings, likely will lead the circuit in the whiff department.

He is a product of Dunmore, Pa., the same anthracite country that produced many major league stars.

BOB PORTERFIELD GOES ALL OUT FOR BUCKY HARRIS

Ervin Coolidge (Bob) Porterfield, righthander with the Washington Senators, was a so-so pitcher in 1952. The record book shows 13 won and 14 lost, with an earned run average of 2.73.

This season, Porterfield has been among the elite both in performance and in the weekly averages, writes J. G. Taylor Spink in The Sporting News. He is being mentioned as a candidate for the Most Valuable Player award and is cited as an especially sharp thorn in the side of Casey Stengel, who, on June 15, 1951, traded him to the Senators for Bob Kuzava.

"The secret of my success this season?" Porterfield repeated Spink's question and laughed.

"Let me say that I have been very anxious to do something for Bucky Harris. I had to pitch well for him because I cost him his job as manager of the Yankees.

"In 1948, I was pitching for Newark in the International League. I had a record of 15 won and six lost, with an earned run average of 2.17 and 133 strikeouts in 178 innings.

"I was all set to finish out the year with the Bears," continued Porterfield in The Sporting News interview, "but had some notion that I would be invited to train with the Yankees in 1949.

"Well, you may recollect that the 1948 Yankees had some pitching trouble. The baseball writers kept hollering for George Weiss to bring me in, and he kept saying that I wasn't ready.

"I have a hunch that Weiss thought the holler for me to come to the Yankees was inspired by Harris," Porterfield told Spink.

"Well, the Yankees finished third in 1948. Weiss had yielded to newspaper pressure and brought me in. I won five and lost three, hardly an excellent record with the Yankees.

"It seems that Weiss and Harris got into some sort of rhabar over me," Bob continued in The Sporting News story.

"Anyhow, I never will forget coming down from Boston at the end of that season. I ran into Harris just after he had been told he was through. Tears were running down his face. He looked at me and said, 'Bob, you may not know it, but you got me fired as manager of this club. But ...'

"So," Porterfield added to Spink, "I feel that I cannot do enough for Bucky. Especially as he had enough confidence in me to make a trade for me when I was with Kansas City, and I was doing nothing impressive."

Abundant Grouse To Lure Hunters

A strong colony of sharp-tailed grouse is developing near the Lake Superior shore north of Wakefield in the upper peninsula, the conservation department reports.

Field workers say the birds are flourishing in a 2,100-acre area 20 miles north of Wakefield, in an area of the upper peninsula burned in a forest fire of 1947.

Best known sharptail areas in the upper peninsula include the Drummond Island and Seney-Shingleton colonies. Other well-known spots are north of Gladstone in Delta county, south of Crystal Falls, in the southern Houghton and northern Ontonagon county areas generally, north of Newberry and near Trout Lake between Newberry and St. Ignace. Game men say, however, that the birds are found in a large number of areas throughout the region and that hunters this fall should be able to find good grouse hunting territory without having to stick to the better-known spots.

In the lower peninsula, Missaukee, Kalkaska, Crawford, Roscommon and southern Otsego counties are the best known sharptail areas and in the past have given hunters good results.

Correct Ancient Myths on Trees

Myth - understandings about things arboreal are having harmful effects on many trees.

Tree myths, like old wives' tales, have been repeated through the years until many home owners take them for the literal truth.

Here are a few common myth-conceptions about trees and the true story, as related by L. F. Irvine, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert company:

Fiction: Trees should be pruned only when they are in full leaf.
Fact: This may be true of a few ornamental species, but most deciduous trees may be pruned any time. Orchardists usually prefer to prune fruit trees in the dormant season.

Fiction: Trees should be planted only in the spring.

Fact: With reasonable precautions most deciduous trees can be planted throughout the fall and winter, if desired, and there is a long autumn season in which most evergreens can be planted successfully.

Fiction: Lightning never strikes a beech tree.

Fact: No known tree species is immune to lightning. Many beeches have been hit by stray bolts.

Fiction: Tree sprays must be plainly visible to be effective.

Fact: Insects don't go by the color, even if humans do. Some of the most effective spraying techniques use air instead of water to spread the insect-killer. The result is an almost-invisible mist which covers effectively.

We have reached the stage whereby the washerwoman is about the only person who can have three sheets in the wind.

Teen-Age Joe: Whassa idea of wearing my raincoat?

His Brother Bill: You wouldn't want me to get your new suit wet, wouldja?

Ezra Rotnour Winds Up 36 Years As Local Postman

FOR 30 OF HIS 36 YEARS of delivering mail in Plymouth, Ezra Rotnour has delivered letters daily to Karl Starkweather. Starkweather estimates that during that time he has received approximately 54,974 pieces of mail. This may or may not be a record in Plymouth, but it is a small indication of the huge volume of mail Rotnour has carried during his service as a Plymouth postman.

During the 36 years Ezra Rotnour has been a Plymouth postman he has walked the equivalent of four times around the world at the equator. Rotnour, who retired Friday from his job as mailman, has walked a total of approximately 108,000 miles, averaging 10 miles a day.

One of Plymouth's first city mail carriers, Rotnour began with the Plymouth post office on October 1, 1917. Forest Gorton was the other carrier at the inauguration of the city mail service. The post office at that time was located in the west half of what is now Blunk's.

In his 36 years with the post office Rotnour has seen changes in both the post office itself and in the faces on his route. Throughout the entire length of his service, he covered the same route—the north end of town.

Changes in the post office during the period saw the addition of the retirement program, parcel post, air mail and postal savings. The office was situated in four different places during the time, and six different men served as postmaster. There were only two carriers when he first began work, while today there are six.

As for the people on the route, there have been many changes in the faces. In fact there are only four persons on Main street who have remained there since he first began and two on Starkweather. The only businessman to whom Rotnour delivered for the whole 36 years was Robert Shingleton.

With Rotnour's retirement, Earl Foster has taken over the route. Rotnour's plans for the future have not been completely settled as yet, though he said he may spend the winter in Florida.

The 36 years of walking Plymouth streets—108,000 miles on them—has not only kept Rotnour young in spirit but has made him many friends among the city's residents.

A good fence is high enough so livestock will not reach over it and is compact enough to keep them from reaching through the wires. Good fences are, in the long run, cheap fences.

Know What to Do In Case of Fire

A two and one-half to five gallon water-pump can for use in case of fire should be a regular part of household equipment, especially in rural areas, says a University of Michigan man.

Clifford W. Warner, instructor in firemanship training for the U-M Extension Service, explains that the can should be kept at the top of the basement stairs so that it is available for putting out a fire either up or down stairs.

Other valuable tips on what to do in case of a fire in your home are offered by Warner.

First call the fire department, he says, then try to fight the fire. If the blaze is too big, keep the doors and windows closed to confine the flames. This will cause a lack of oxygen, and when the firemen arrive, they will have a slow-burning blaze to fight and hence will have an easier time.

In case of an electrical fire, pull the main switch and then use the water can.

It is a good practice to keep a pound of baking soda handy in the kitchen, Warner suggests. In case of a grease fire, a fist full of the soda thrown across the fire oftentimes will put it out.

Warner states that any fire which ever started, with the exception of a flash fire or an explosion, could have been put out with a teacup full of water, or its equivalent in chemical, if there had been someone there to apply it.

Sixty-five per cent of the fires in the U. S. are put out with less than $100 damage, he says, while one per cent of all the fires cause 65 per cent of all fire losses.

YOU DON'T LOVE ME

By Norman Disher

"DARLING?" "Yes, dear?" Bill dropped his paper and looked across at his wife. "What is it?" "Darling, do you really love me?" The small blonde head tilted to one side and the light blue eyes looked at Bill with that sad, St. Bernardish expression. "Of course I love you. We've been married five years now. Isn't that proof enough?" "But I mean do you really love me like you used to before we were married?" "Yes dear, certainly." Bill turned back to his paper and wondered what in the devil got into women some times. Silly questions! "Bill-BILL!" "What do you want and do you have to shout so loudly?" "Well, why don't you listen to me! Bill Wilson you're getting to be a good-for-nothing husband. I am a paper-widow, that's what. You think more of that old piece of paper than you do of me!" "Now honey—" "Don't, now honey me. I'm getting sick and tired of sitting here night after night while you stick your face in the paper!" "But dear, I only wanted to read the sport page. Now that's nothing to get excited about. Is it?" "Nothing to get excited about, he says. How would you like it if I just sat here and sewed!" "But Marty, that's not true." "You're tired of me and you want to get rid of me, well let me tell you a thing or two, Mister Wilson—" Marty started to cry. She jumped up and fled into the kitchen. "Oh for Pete's sake Marty! Grow up!" Bill shouted as he flung the paper to the floor and stomped out onto the porch. "Holy smokes," Bill muttered. "If I treat her nice, she's suspicious. If I treat her mean, I'm a bully. Sometimes I wonder if it's worth it!"

His thoughts went back to the time when he'd met Marty at a skating party. She was the nicest girl there. A pretty little pugnosed blonde. They had skated together for awhile and then Bill had asked if he might take her home. She wouldn't go at first, but after they became better acquainted she decided he was a nice fellow and she let him escort her home. So he'd taken Marty home and kissed her on the front porch. She was surprised, but she wasn't exactly mad about it. Bill grinned to himself when he thought of their first real date and how they'd gone on a picnic and it had rained. He thought of his proposal and how happy her mother and father had been when they found out about it. He laughed when he thought of their wedding day when his friends had kidnapped him and he was late getting to the church. Marty was certain she would be left waiting on the church steps; she was afraid he'd get cold feet and back out. He turned and opened the front door to walk back into the front room but he ran into Marty who had a suitcase in her hand and a furious look on her face. "Look out, I'm leaving," was all she said. "Hey! Wait a minute," Bill told her. "You're doing nothing of the sort!" "Yes, I am. You don't love me, you don't pay any attention to me, so I won't stay." She tried to get around Bill but he reached out and took the suitcase from her hand, put it down on the steps, picked her up, and carried her into the front room. He sat on the armchair, placed her across his knees, and spanked her soundly. She cried and shouted and screamed until Bill let her go. Then he kissed her tenderly. She fought a little and then relaxed. "Oh Bill, you do love me, don't you!" "I certainly do. Now go upstairs and put that suitcase back where you got it and behave yourself." "I don't have to," Marty snickered. "It's empty." Bill started to turn her over his knee again but then decided to kiss her instead.

Safety Patrol Asks Motorists to Give Local Kids a Break

SCHOOL CHILDREN, such as these at Our Lady of Good Counsel school, respect their safety patrolmen and the safety patrolmen hope motorists will respect the children. Shown here holding back several children is Patrolman Arnold Kranz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Kranz, 5670 Gotfredson. The school has eight patrolmen plus a captain and a lieutenant.

Give the kids a brake—or a break!

Either one of these two words pronounced the same but with different spellings will be welcomed by the township's school children. Making an especial appeal to motorists to be cautious near school buildings are the dozens of members of the school safety patrols.

As children go to and come from school, dangerous intersections are guarded by members of the patrol to aid students in crossing streets and as a reminder to motorists that they are in a school zone.

Since there are several hundred kindergarten children traveling the streets by themselves for the first time this fall, the safety patrol plays an important part in educating the children to be safety-minded as well as safeguarding them at street crossings.

With their familiar belts and badges, the safety patrol is to be recognized and respected by motorists as a young citizen who donates his time to be responsible for the safety of his fellow students.

Adult Education Plans Two New Evening Classes

Two new classes have been added to the adult education courses presented evenings at the Plymouth High school, announced director Herbert Woolweaver. Millinery and rug hooking will be open to all local women who are interested.

Mrs. Joyce Dalian, who will teach the millinery class, pointed out that women can achieve the most harmonizing outfits for fall by making their own hats. The classes will begin on Tuesday, September 29 at 7 p.m., and will continue each Tuesday evening for eight weeks.

Mrs. F. W. Wilson, who formerly taught rug hooking in Ann Arbor and Saline, will teach the rug hooking class at the school. Emphasis will be placed on appropriate backgrounds, types of materials, color, dyeing, hooking, finishing and care of the rugs in use. These classes will also be held on Tuesday evenings, beginning September 29.

Registration in the two new classes, as well as other adult education courses, will be from September 21 to 25 at the adult education office.

It Was a Big Day for Plymouth's Kindergarten Population

IT IS HARD TO KEEP KINDERGARTEN children interested in one activity very long, so kindergarten teachers must vary the program often. Top photo shows Bird school teacher Frances Chilson leading a song while using a toy merry-go-round. Bottom photograph pictures the Starkweather kindergarten, taught by Mary Fritz, singing a song with motions led by the young leader in the center of the circle.

Thursday, September 10—quite a day for 277 of Plymouth township's young fry.

That was the first day of school for the Plymouth school system's kindergarten kids. It was a day of happiness, anxiety, fear and even some tears.

Even for parents it was a day of recollection. It seemed like only a few years ago that they were rocking their new offspring to sleep in their arms. But today they grew up all of a sudden. They were off to school, at least or a half a day.

The half-day sessions allow six teachers to handle the estimated 326 kindergarten children who will attend kindergarten classes. Since Allen Elementary school does not open until next Monday, exact attendance figures will not be known until then.

Kindergarten teachers don't know what to expect next from their young pupils during the first few weeks. Most of the children shed a tear or two sometime during their kindergarten debut. Some of them bashfully hide behind desks or refuse to take part in games. But eventually they become full-fledged pupils and are ready to begin their formal schooling by the following September.

Kindergarten teachers and the number of pupils in their classes are: Starkweather school, Mary Fritz 68 children; Bird school; Frances Chilson, 80 children; Smith school, Earhe Truesdell, 78 children; Hough school, Doris Beerbower, 17 children; Bartlett school, Jean McKenna, 33 children; and Allen school, Jean Lee, estimated 49 children.

A CATTLEYA ORCHID, nursed along by Kermit Smith of 680 South Harvey, finally bloomed for the first time in its 12 years. Smith said that the orchid, which must be seven years old before it will bloom, now will open up once a year, usually in the same month each year. The orchid, which is a parasite, does not grow in earth, but obtains its nourishment from a root fiber called asmoda. It is an air plant and usually grows in the crotches of trees. The plant stores water, Smith said, so it is watered only once a week.

Scientists Have New Radio Series

A new series of weekly 15-minute radio programs illustrating the power of prayer in everyday life will be released September 19 by the Christian Science church, it was announced today.

Each program presents a first-hand, documentary narrative in which a guest tells of his own religious experience — how his problem was solved or how he experienced physical healing through prayer in Christian Science.

The thoroughly verified accounts are being tape recorded from persons of many different walks of life from all over the United States, Canada, Europe, Africa, Australia and other parts of the world.

Following the narrative a short inspirational message will be presented on how the listener can solve his own problems through prayer.

The programs — carrying the series title "HOW CHRISTIAN SCIENCE HEALS" — are produced by The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, according to announcement by Thomas E. Hurley, Manager of Christian Science Committees on Publication.

They will be heard on about 600 radio stations throughout the United States, Canada and Australia, and at points in Latin America, Africa, Europe and New Zealand.

The opening program presents a shipyard worker who tells how prayer brought his release from a fuel tank in which he was trapped today.

Subsequent programs present a man healed of tuberculosis when he had been given a month to live; a man who was a confirmed alcoholic, on the brink of suicide, restored to health and sobriety; a college student supplied with funds for tuition; a housewife healed of goiter; a businessman healed of disabling injuries in minutes following a serious automobile accident—all through the power of prayer alone.

Other programs will tell how discordant relations with neighbors were worked out and business problems solved through spiritual means.

The musical portion of the programs to be heard in coming weeks presents former Metropolitan Opera Association tenor, Frederick Jagel, accompanied by Ruth Barrett Phelps at the console of the great 13,389-pipe organ of The Mother Church. Commentator in the opening series is Harry C. Browne, for many years member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship and a former president of The Mother Church.

A large planting box literally loaded with petunias can add just that needed spark of interest to the front of a house. That is what Mr. and Mrs. Steve Veresh of 42460 Clemons drive have discovered. The large planter is made of stone and provides, throughout the year, a medium for Mrs. Veresh's gardening activities.

The petunias, which are all white, are of two varieties. Some of the blooms have measured as much as five inches across. Mrs. Veresh says she starts one flat, six dozen plants, in the spring. These are moved to the box when all danger of frost is past, and account for the profuse blossoms seen in the planter.

Mrs. Veresh uses Rapid-Gro for leaf feeding and some root feeding, and Vigoro for root feeding. She added that after the third or fourth feeding this year the plants had shown such remarkable growth that she stopped these applications.

Large elephant ears are another outstanding feature of the planting box. These, like the other bulbs, Mrs. Veresh stores in peat moss for mulching. She places them in the box around late March or early April for their later growth.

Varieties of caladium also go into the box then. Since her house has a relatively wide overhang, plants are quite well protected. Heat from the house itself keeps them warm.

The planter is filled with evergreens in the winter, thus giving it year-round loveliness. She pointed out that she may try winter poses in there this year as well.

Lovely trees are also a highlight of the Veresh yard. A mountain ash, about eight years old, has shown its first berries this year. Mrs. Veresh said that they are very proud on the brilliant orange berries on the front yard tree. Sycamores, birch and locust are also found.

Mrs. Veresh, in commenting on the multitude of petunias in the planter, said that she planted it full this year to give the right effect. She added that "Petunias certainly reward you for the amount of care you expend." The lovely planting box is evidence of that.

Nultys Back From Alaska; Tell of Wonderful Fishing

The sights of western Canada and Alaska can best be seen by airplane, or so the Robert Nultys have discovered. Mr. and Mrs. Nulty and their two children spent from August 14 to September 6 seeing the northland in their C-54 plane.

Nulty does all the flying himself, so he covered a good bit of ground on this trip. Mr. Nulty said that it is the longest trip they have made thus far, and also one of the most enjoyable.

Starting out on the 14th they flew to Saskatoon, Saskatchewan the first day. The second day, on to Fort Nelson, British Columbia where bad weather grounded them for a day and a half. When the skies cleared they continued on to Fairbanks and White Horse. In good weather, however, Mrs. Nulty said the trip could be made in three days.

While in Fairbanks the group attended the State Fair, where a remarkable variety of garden materials was displayed. There were cabbages weighing up to 26 pounds and multitudes of other giant vegetables, Mrs. Nulty said. The extra long growing days, she explained, are responsible for the huge sizes.

The Nultys flew up to the Arctic Circle Hot Springs while touring Alaska. This is located almost on the Arctic circle, said Mrs. Nulty. Here they found food prices a little higher than elsewhere on the trip.

On the whole, however, the party found meal prices quite reasonable, averaging between $1.35 to $1.75 for each. At Hot Springs they paid $2.25. Gasoline prices were considerably higher than United States prices, she added.

With a licensed guide, required in British Columbia, the Nultys put in 10 days of fishing and hunting about 100 miles from Fort Nelson. It was a little too early in the season for good hunting, Mrs. Nulty said, but the fishing was wonderful.

The fish, mostly gray trout, were of a good size, none weighing less than five pounds. The largest catch during the expedition was a 13-pound trout. The group camped out in tents at night and did all their own cooking while on the camping trip.

Mrs. Nulty described the weather as good, though the party wore woolen clothing throughout the tour. This was necessitated by the fact that it snowed in the mountains at night.

Eskimos were in evidence, though Mrs. Nulty said they looked just like Indians. In fact, the guide for their fishing trip was a half-breed, she added.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

RELAX

"No, when I get my dinner I begin instruction in sports. It is basketball now."

"You should rest a while after dinner. When you have taught all day, you cannot properly digest your food unless you rest and relax at least for a short period after you eat. What time do you retire?"

"Oh, around 11 or 12 o'clock most of the time. You see I must correct papers at night."

"No wonder you are nervous. You are burning the candle at both ends."

This young woman, like thousands of others, does not know the importance of relaxation. Do you realize that the heart beats 4,000 times an hour, day and night. Every organ of the body is active, if they were not, the body would not function right and we would suffer.

Relax, rest a while every day. This is essential to the well-being of the mind and body. Go to bed at a reasonable hour and try to get at least eight hours of sleep every night.

Don't say that you are too busy. You won't be to busy to take time out to go to bed when you are too ill to move a step further, and you'll find time to die and remain in the grave a long time when your body, to which you gave so little consideration, is too worn out to function any longer.

Take time out now to relax, to think, and to pray.

Hints for Plymouth Homemakers

Fabric Terms Guide Homemakers

With so many new fabrics and finishes in the stores, many new terms have come into use, each signifying an important characteristic in the beauty or serviceability of the material. So for wise buying, better brush up on the terms and read the labels carefully when you make your selection.

Described here are some of the more widely used decorative fabrics, which you will be buying for draperies, slipcovers and bedspreads for the new season:

Antique satin: Antiqued satin is woven with slubbed yarn, that is yarn with soft, uneven places put there intentionally. This gives an interesting textured surface, resistant to soil and wear. Satin is a basic weave which has a smooth surface, a lustrous face and a dull back.

Chromspun taffeta: Taffeta from acetate yarns, in many beautiful colors; an unusually lustrous and beautiful fabric that is fast to laundering, dry cleaning, sunlight and atmospheric fumes.

Clipper sailcloth: A very strong, beautifully woven canvas type of weave, in a wide color range. Excellent decorative fabric for hard use as well as colorful beauty.

Documentary print: A print design that is an exact replica of a pattern of early days. Usually the more classical patterns of the early 18th Century are reproduced.

Glazed chintz: A good quality chintz which has been treated with a patented resin that produces a finish and a glaze durable to repeated laundering and dry cleaning. This finishing process reduces shrinkage to less than 2% and increases soil-resistance and durability.

Mergerized: A treatment with caustic soda, which makes cottons very lustrous, stronger, and more absorbent. Much used today.

Plisse: A thin cotton fabric, chemically treated to shrink part of the material to give it a crinkled effect. This crinkling is not removed by repeated launderings. Plisse only needs pressing after it is dry to help shape it and straighten out double thicknesses such as at hems.

Provincial design: A neat, well-spaced design consisting of simple but usually conventionalized motifs, such as stylized flowers. This type of design rises from folk art, and has the characteristic flavor of the region from which it springs, such as New England, Pennsylvania, the Southern Highlands, France or England.

Nonfat Dry Milk Solids Are Easy and Handy for Cooking

The ease and convenience of using the powder form of nonfat dry milk solids, as well as the high food value, justifies its place along with flour, sugar, and salt on the pantry shelf.

Nonfat dry milk solids is equal in food value to fresh skim milk. Housewives will find dry milk solids an especially handy item to have on hand.

The use of nonfat dry milk solids calls for little, if any, change in a recipe. It is most conveniently used in the dry form by mixing it with the dry ingredients, then using water as the liquid. However, in a few recipes such as custards, omelets, chocolate milk, and ice creams, it is better to reconstitute the milk solids. Hot water increases the tendency to lump.

If large amounts are used in products such as cakes, cookies, breads, it may be necessary to modify the recipe by reducing the flour and sugar, or slightly increasing liquid or fat.

Nonfat dry milk solids will have a good shelf life if stored with a few precautions. Dry milk may absorb moisture and become lumpy. Therefore it should be kept in a tightly closed container and stored in a cool place, as high storage temperatures favor the development of off-flavors. Due to the low fat content, it doesn't become rancid readily.

This and additional information and special recipes for using non-fat dry milk solids, is contained in the Michigan State College Bulletin 212, available through all extension offices.

Use Metal Foil Very Carefully In Your Oven

One of the many ways homemakers are using aluminum foil these days is in the oven under pies or other baking dishes to catch any possible run-over of food.

Use a piece of foil only slightly larger than the pan or dish holding the food. Turn foil edges up and place it on a rack directly under the pan or dish.

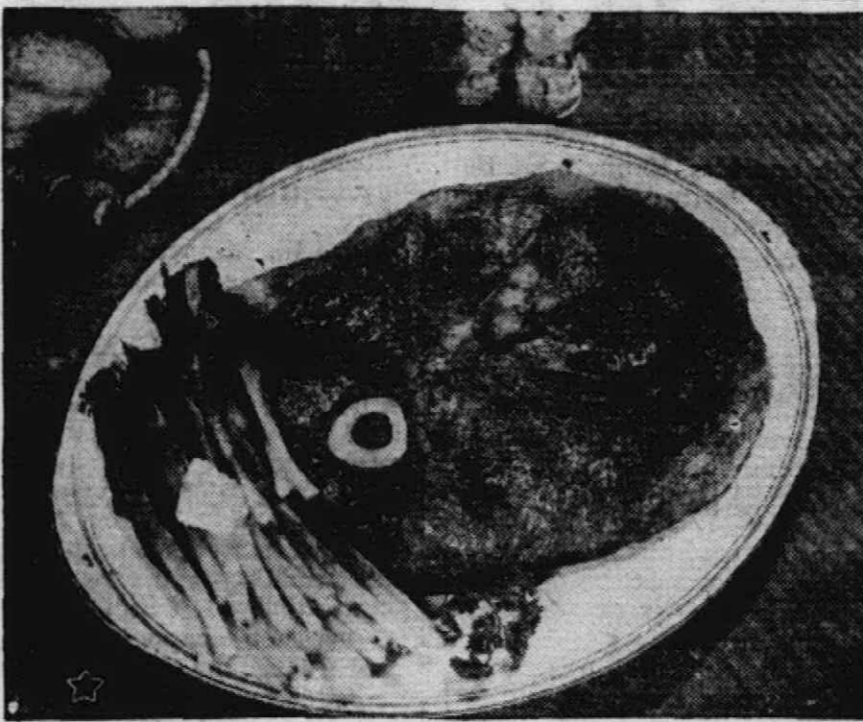

Authorities caution against covering the entire bottom of the oven with foil because this cuts off circulation of heat and prevents proper cooking.

Also, the heat given off by electric units or gas burners will be reflected back by the foil. This will overheat electric units, possibly causing them to burn out. With gas burners, it will cause incomplete combustion of gas which requires air circulation to burn properly.

Another precaution — foil should never touch open heating wires in any electric appliance because it is likely to cause a short circuit.

If you use synthetic detergents in your washing you may add chlorine bleach to the wash water just as you use flake bluing. But do not use the new powdered chlorine bleaches with soap. There are new perborate bleaches on the market which are safe for regular bleaching without danger of damage to fabric or color.

Round Steak with Onions

Round steak, tender and juicy, is a leading choice on many persons' "good eating" list. Green onions are cooked along with braised steak for an especially flavorsome combination.

With the coming of the first touch of the fall season what could be more appropriate for dinner than a tender braised steak? Braised dishes fit well into many meal plans because they may be prepared equally as well by range-top cooking or by oven cooking.

Braised beef dishes may have vegetables cooked right along with them. In fact, the beef lends a tempting flavor to the vegetables. Add them to the meat only long enough before the end of cooking so they will be done and yet retain their shape and color.

For best results follow these steps. First, brown the meat in 3 or 4 tablespoons of lard or drippings in a heavy frying-pan. Do this slowly and thoroughly so the meat will retain the golden brown color after the liquid is added. When browned, add only a small amount of liquid. It is best to start with from 1/3 to 1/2 cup. Add more liquid during cooking only if it is necessary to keep the meat from sticking.

Next, cover the meat closely. Then let it cook quite slowly until tender. This will be from 1 to 1 1/2 hours, depending upon the thickness of the round or arm steak. Add the green onions about 20 minutes before the steak is done.

Vary your braised steak dish by adding a different liquid to the meat. Sour cream, milk, canned tomatoes, tomato sauce, soup or juice, mushroom soup are all possible liquids. For seasoning interest, dill, thyme, marjoram, basil, parsley, chives, garlic, mustard, might be added to the meat.

The problem of fish odors on hands or dishes is easily solved. Just rub your hands and dishes well with moistened salt, then rinse with hot water before washing with soap and water.

Record Output Of Meat Slated For This Year

The largest peace-time production of meat in the nation's history is in prospect for this year, according to the National Live Stock and Meat Board. The Board reports that the 1953 meat output is expected to reach 24 billion, 100 million pounds, an amount exceeded only in 1943 and 1944, or during World War II.

Of this total, beef will account for 11 billion, 900 million pounds. This beef output will top the 1952 production by more than 2 billion pounds, and will set an all-time high record.

On the other hand, the 1953 production of pork estimated at 10 billion pounds, will be 1 1/2 billion pounds below a year ago. Veal production is forecast at 1 1/2 billion pounds, or 327 million pounds above the 1952 output. A production of 700 million pounds of lamb and mutton is predicted, or 52 million pounds above last year's tonnage.

The Board pointed out that the increase in output of meat this year will provide an average of 148 pounds per capita, which is 4 pounds over last year. There will be nearly 12 pounds more beef per capita than in 1952, more veal and more lamb, but 9.6 pounds less pork per capita.

Helpful Hints Concerning Building, Remodeling, Repairing & Redecorating

BUILD
or
REMODEL

MAKING A NEW HOUSE FROM AN OLD ONE is one of the hobbies of Mrs. Arthur Kidston. An old Plymouth landmark, at 1107 West Ann Arbor trail, is currently feeling the touch of Mrs. Kidston's modernizations. The house will be completely renovated, the old plaster removed and replaced by new, the outside steps will be taken down, floors are being sanded—and the results will give the Kidston's one of Plymouth's modern homes.

Building Page to Continue Bringing Home Features

Although the Building Page was to have been strictly a summer-months' feature of The Mail, it has become so popular with our readers that it has been decided to continue it indefinitely.

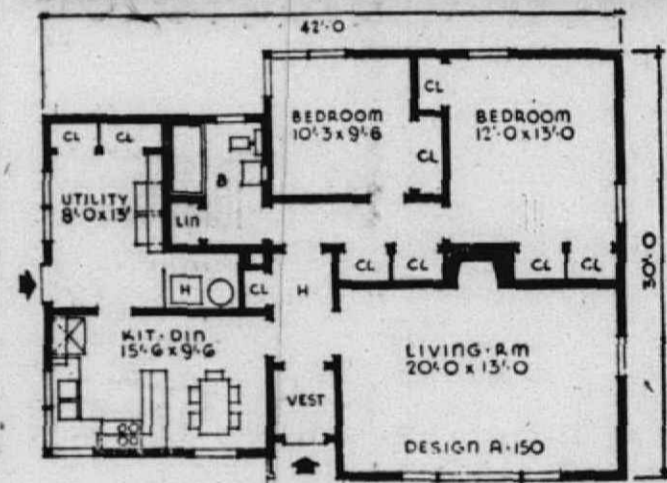

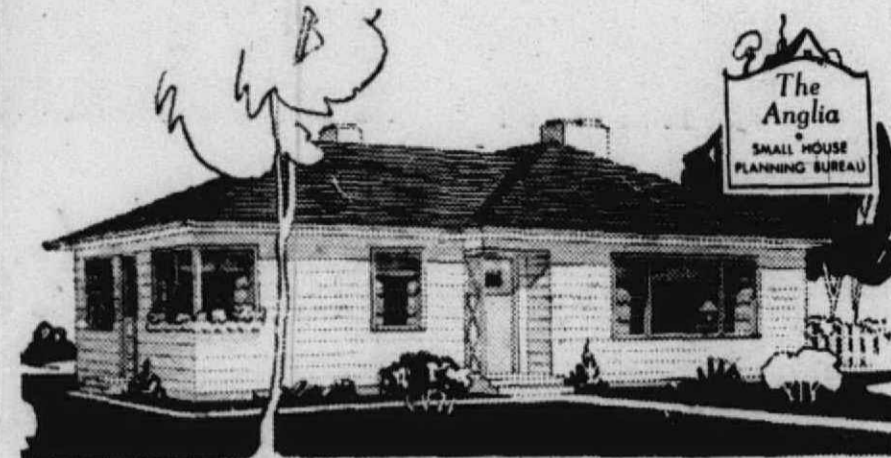

Most of the credit for this home news page must go to the sponsors, the advertisers on the page. They not only support it, but contribute greatly to its news contents.

We have found that nearly every home-owner, or prospective owner, is interested in house plans, remodeling suggestions and fix-it tips. It has been the aim of our Building Editor to keep the reader up to date on the latest developments in the field of home improvements. He welcomes the questions, as well as suggestions, that you may have.

Just address them to The Building Editor, The Plymouth Mail.

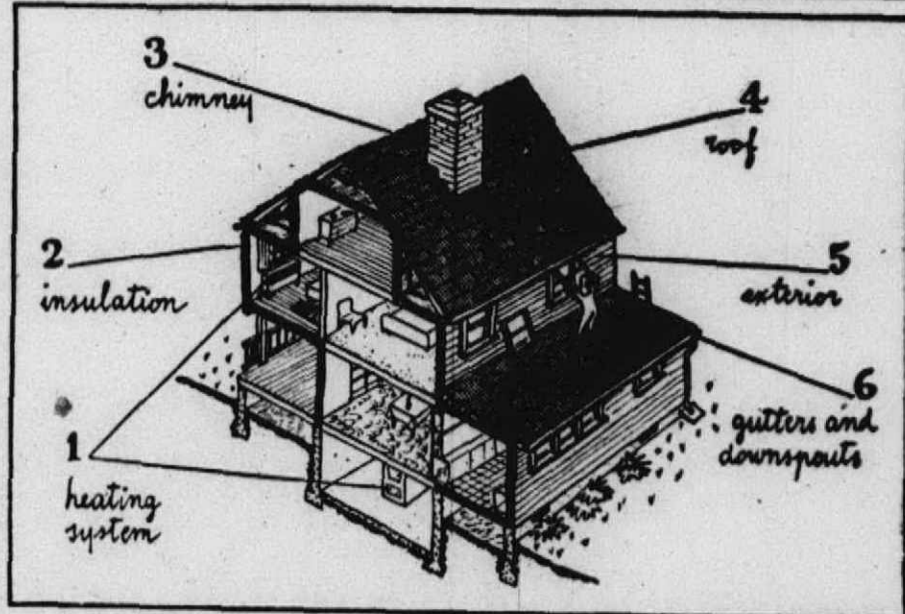

Throughout the fall and winter the Building Page will feature suggestions for interior improvement and maintenance. It will also provide a wealth of building and remodeling information for those planning changes in the spring.

We believe that it is an important fact for the reader to remember that all materials, repair suggestions and building techniques are available, or may be performed, by local concerns appearing on the Building Page. We sincerely hope that you will consider this along with the fact that you can get better service at home, when you plan home improvements.

THE ANGLIA has the living room and kitchen facing the front of the house with the two bedrooms and bath in the rear opening into a small hall. Adjoining the bathroom and kitchen is the utility room with an alcove for the hot water heater and furnace. The first floor is an insulated concrete slab laid on either a gravel or cinder fill, to be covered with composition flooring or carpeting. Closets are provided for in the hall, bathroom, all bedrooms and in the utility room. Plans call for frame construction, insulated walls and ceiling, wide siding and asphalt shingles. Dimensions are 42 feet by 30 feet. The floor area is 1,162 square feet, with cubage being 14,525 cubic feet. For further information about THE ANGLIA, write the Building Editor, The Plymouth Mail.

How to Banish Winter Worries

To prepare for a snug, comfortable winter, check carefully the following: 1. Heating system—check grates; boiler and fire box for cracks or leaks; covering of pipes; 2. Insulation—full-thick mineral wool insulation, cuts fuel costs up to 40 per cent; 3. Chimney—check to see that flue is clean, if chimney needs pointing and if cement is sound around smokepipe; woodwork adjoining chimney should be fire-proofed; 4. Roof—check from inside for holes; check for missing or broken tiles, shingles, etc.; check all flashings for rust or displacement; 5. Exterior—inspect woodwork for warping, cracking, rotting; look for holes or cracks at window sills; check steps for structural defects, masonry for cracks, spalling and wear; 6. Gutters and downspouts—clean out leaves and rubbish that may block gutters and downspouts; clear out strainers; check to see if painting or replacement is necessary. A checkup now will save dollars and insure comfort in blustery winter weather.

Color Vital To Decoration Of Exterior

"Exterior decoration" is taking its place with "interior decoration" as a familiar household term. An ever-increasing variety of colorful materials now permits the home-owner to style the outside of his house, as well as the inside, in keeping with his own individual taste.

Chief among colorful exterior materials is roofing. Asphalt shingles, which are used on 8 of 10 new homes built today, are made in numerous solid and blended colors, which range from soft pastels to more familiar hues.

Here are some suggestions on roof color use: In new construction or when the exterior of an older house is being reconditioned, the procedure used by professional color designers is to choose the roof color first and then select other colors to go with it. The roof is considered to be a permanent "background" color for the exterior.

Color is useful in achieving uniformity of appearance in a group of buildings. A house and a garage, or the buildings in a farmstead, should have matching roofs. Light-color roofing makes a house seem taller, and darker roofing makes it seem lower. These effects are helpful in improving poor architectural proportions.

For houses in the country, earthy red colors and foliage greens—colors of nature—are often selected. For a house in an industrial area, remember that slate grays and gray-greens don't readily show dirt.

Ponderosa Pine grows from Washington to the Black Hills and southward in the Rocky Mountain Pacific coast regions.

Continuous timber production programs are rapidly being adopted by the Western Pine industry.

Careful Attention To Roof Repairs Aids Pocketbook, Preserves Home

Even the man on the proverbial galloping horse can see that it's important to check up on your roof at regular intervals. It follows logically, that its just as important to make necessary repairs promptly and to use good roof coatings and other protective materials when the need for them becomes evident. Needless to say, it will save you money in the long run. If you don't know what kind of coating is best for your roof, consult your local paint dealer or roofing contractor. It's wise, incidentally, to have trained roof men inspect your roof periodically so they can spot small trouble spots before they become big ones.

What are roof coatings? The trade usually groups them into these categories: asbestos roof cement, asbestos roof coating, asphalt emulsion, metal roof paint and non-fibred roof coating. All are designed for specific purposes, and for this reason, care should be used to see that the right kind of coating is selected for the type of roof for which it was manufactured.

Flat roofs are often built of felt and asphalt. These roofs, like all others, require periodic check-ups to see how they're wearing. Just as soon as cracks begin to appear in the asphalt, they should be repaired. If they're not, invading moisture will rot the felt and cause structural damage as well as disfiguring wall and ceiling surfaces.

If you have a wood shingle roof, the shingles should be re-stained at regular intervals. Before restaining, be sure to repair all leaks and replace all damaged shingles. New wood shingles should be dipped in stain before they are laid. Stain can be applied to the roof either by spray or brush.

Metal roofs require special treatment, too. Before painting a galvanized metal roof, it should be coated with a primer made for galvanized metal. This can be followed by subsequent coats of first quality, durable roof paint. Tin-coated metal roofs are unusually subject to rust. For this reason, they must be inspected regularly, kept in good repair and painted promptly when the need for it appears. If painting tin-coated metal for the first time, be sure to wipe it clean with a cloth dipped in petroleum paint thinner or turpentine to remove the palm oil dressing, then paint.

While your roof is being checked, cornices, flashings, gutters and downspouts should be carefully inspected. These can all cause serious trouble if not properly cared for.

Keeping your roof in good condition will save you money in the long run. A good roof coating or roof paint not only preserves and protects, but can add smartness and harmonious color to the structure it surmounts.

Handy Jim's FIX-UP TIPS
For Farm and Home

Around the farm, hauling is a constant problem. Sometimes the two-wheel auto trailer is the right size, but other times it's too small.

The illustration shows a way of doubling the capacity of a trailer by constructing a demountable box, which simply fits on top of the trailer bed.

Using scrap lumber, form two rectangular frameworks the size of the trailer box. Cover the sides with Masonite quarter-inch Tempered Presdwood, a tough material that will stand lots of abuse.

Now nail, as shown, four two-by-fours to the inner framework. These will then fit into some iron strapping that should be bolted into the trailer. Then the trailer-on-a-trailer is complete. When not needed, it is easily removed and stored.

A series of and about residents of Plymouth at home, at work or at play
This Week — EVELYN STANIBLE

You are likely to be met by a big friendly smile, whenever you step into the main office room of the Plymouth city hall. Behind that smile is friendly Miss Evelyn Stanible, who makes everyone feel at home in her presence.

Miss Stanible who works under Mr. Garlett, city treasurer, is the accountant clerk for the water department. She has held this position for the last 10 years, working formerly under Albert Glassford, Mr. Garlett's predecessor. Her duties include numerous secretarial jobs in addition to her main work of checking water accounts.

Miss Stanible's leisure hours in the evenings and week-ends are filled with sewing and gardening. Evidently a woman with a green thumb, Miss Stanible grows a garden that blossoms every summer with choice flowers, a pride and joy to her and a beautiful ornament for the adjoining home.

A resident of Plymouth all her life, Miss Stanible lives at 583 North Harvey street with her mother. Having graduated from Plymouth High school, Miss Stanible attended the Acme Business college in Lansing, Michigan, to prepare herself for an accountant's position. Upon graduation she obtained her present employment with the city.

Home is the best place according to Miss Stanible. But comes the summer vacation, she gets the traveling urge. Just to be on the road is her desire as she sets out for her long well-planned trips. In the past years she has toured most of the eastern states and the southern coast of the country. Miss Stanible would be the first to tell all tourists, "It's America for me."

E. J. Norris had the misfortune to lose a valuable horse last week. He got away with a harness on, ran into a wire fence, fell over it and broke his neck.

David Allen called our attention the other day to the fact that the farmers should be cautioned against the fast spreading wild carrot, now growing in this vicinity. It is a weed that has already obtained a strong foothold and unless eradicated will soon cover every inch of ground. Farmers who have the weeds growing on their premises will take due notice and begin its destruction before the damage becomes too great.

A representative of the Michigan Electric company was here yesterday and by direction of President Robinson, located the places for electric street lights. The setting of poles and stringing of wires will then be begun at once.

Frank W. Beals will be glad to sell you a $1.00 per month Health and Accident policy or a three year fire insurance policy, or a new subscription to Youth's Companion. Can promise November and December copies of the Companion free to those who subscribe now. Call at Harry Jolliffe's red brick house, North Village.

All kinds of grain taken in exchange for flour at the Plymouth Mills.

B. A. Lee, who was reported last week as having purchased A. D. Prout's barber business, asked to be released from his bargain and Mr. Prout will continue the business as heretofore.

Had the Plymouth fair occurred this year either one week before or one week after the State fair as usual it would have experienced the worst kind of weather.

Edward Sidley, residence everywhere, was arrested Sunday morning by Officer Springer as a suspicious character and possibly a Grand Rapids jail breaker, who was wanted in that city. He was placed in the village lock-up until Monday forenoon when he was arraigned before Justice Valentine as a disorderly. He pleaded guilty.

Princess Pat, owned by Dr. A. E. Patterson, of this place, won the 2:20 pace at the Northville fair, Wednesday, in three straight heats.

About 35 relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anderson last Saturday evening, September 15, to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary.

A serious automobile accident took place last Sunday night about 9 p.m. when a Buick sedan driven by Carl Sage, of this place, went into the ditch and hit a cement culvert on the Ecorse road, a quarter of a mile east of Wayne road. With him were his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sauve, both of Chicago boulevard. Mr. Sauve was killed instantly and Mr. and Mrs. Sage were injured seriously, while Mrs. Sauve suffered minor injuries.

George Rapp, 61 years of age, of French road, Detroit, was struck and killed at 7 p.m. Sunday evening by an automobile as he attempted to cross the pavement at the Triangle Flying Field, on the Ann Arbor road, east of this village. Rapp had accompanied his son, Julius C. Rapp, president and treasurer of the Rapp Printing company, and the latter's wife and three children on a visit to the flying field.

Allan Strong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney D. Strong left last Sunday for Baltimore, Maryland, where he will take a gas engineering course in Johns Hopkins University.

Edward Gayde has been named as a member of the Wayne County Republican committee for a term of two years.

Lyman Judson was one of the summer school students at the University of Michigan who attained all A's in his summer's work.

Plymouth students who have been attending freshman week at the University of Michigan are the Misses Dorothy Hillman and Ruth Allison. Others who are continuing work at the University this fall are Juanita Coe, Katherine Wilcox, Edwin Schrader, Lyman Judson and Frederick and James Lundrum.

Miss Barbara Horton left Monday evening for Bradford, Massachusetts, where she will attend Bradford Academy the ensuing year.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gates, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Gates, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Fillmore and son, Wellman, spent last week-end at the Gates' cottage at Wolverine Lake.

Dads! Don't throw away your old neckties any more. Maybe you slopped some soup on 'em. Even though you did, a Plymouth school girl has found a way to make old ties serve another good purpose. Reva Hopper, a ninth grade student and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hopper of Rose street, now and then wears a most attractive skirt that she has made out of silk neckties that had been discarded by her father.

Mrs. Ada Watson of Coolidge street has been appointed as 4-H Club agent for Wayne county to succeed Dean Gordon of Adrian.

Golfers, it appears, just naturally go in foursomes—even to war. The four leading golf professionals in the Plymouth area will appear for their physical examinations for Army service on September 25, it was announced this week by selective service officials. They are Casey Partidge, professional at the Plymouth Country club, who is the first father to apply for immediate induction into the service, which is tantamount to enlistment, and will enter the engineers; Victor Kingsley of Hawthorne, Ernie Shave of Meadowbrook and Robert Jonas of Northville.

Hundreds of chickens were suffocated and considerable damage was done to feed supplies, and to other stock and to the building occupied by the Saxton

Feed store Saturday night by a fire of undetermined origin.

Mrs. Wilford Bunyea was invited by Austin Grant, well known WWJ radio commentator, to take part in an interview on a radio program Wednesday afternoon. She was interviewed by Fran Harris on the subject of "Farm Products."

Dr. J. M. Robison whose offices are located on Penniman avenue announced this week that he had accepted a commission as a first lieutenant in the Army and would discontinue his practice here.

Don Boyd, son of Mrs. Grace Boyd of South Main street, arrived home from Washington, D. C. Wednesday where he has just completed a course of naval study in fire control. He was awarded his chief petty officer's commission and will report Monday to Boston, where he will be given his naval assignment.

A LABOR DAY PAINTING BEE was the project undertaken by some 27 loyal members of the Church of Christ on South Main street. Shown above is the group headed by Chairman Clark Finley. Armed with paint brushes the church members painted both the outside and inside of the building. Reverend Robert Hampton, pastor of the church, pitched in and painted also. The women got into the act by preparing a huge potluck dinner for the hungry workers.

Many Older Persons Need Protection Against Accidents

Constantly Plymouth residents are pondering over the problem of what can be done to protect older persons against the rising tide of home and public accidents. This is a question now engaging the attention of more than three million families throughout the country who have relatives over 65 living with them.

Recent achievements in public health and medicine have reduced the death rate by disease in older age brackets, but the accident rate continues to increase. Accidents principally around the home, result in death or permanent crippling injury for more than 300,000 oldsters each year. Falls comprise the worse hazard type of all, and account for more than 75 per cent of these mishaps. Fifty-eight per cent of the falls occur on home stairways and strangely enough on level walk surfaces too.

- Some of the more important measures that can be taken to safeguard your loved ones over 65 are:
- (1) Provide "one-floor living" for them whenever possible.
 - (2) Provide bright, shadow-free lighting in all rooms used by them. Night lights are recommended in bedrooms, hallway and bath.
 - (3) Try to provide assistance to oldsters when stairways must be used; keep stairs free of obstructions and well lighted. Handrails are a must on all stairs and steps.
 - (4) Store all moconly used household items, such as dishes and utensils in easily reached places so that climbing or over-reaching is unnecessary.
 - (5) Show them how to operate any of the newer electrical or gas appliances, stove or heaters in your home.
 - (6) Keep your home "fire safe". Remember that danger

Game Men Warn Of Bear Danger

"Never trust a bear" is one of the soundest bits of wildlife advice conservation department game men have to offer. Bears are notoriously treacherous, and even animals long believed tame have been known to display wild, brute tendencies.

Smoking Rules Eliminate Many Fires in Homes

Plymouth residents should be ever mindful that careless smoking causes about 30 per cent of the home fires. Firemen report that fires do not occur in homes where smoking materials are disposed of properly and where smoking is limited to safe areas. Some common sense smoking hints are as follows:

- (1) Smoke in safe places. "No Smoking" areas in the home should include such places as beds, closets, attics and work benches when wood shavings or inflammable materials are around.
- (2) Place ash trays conveniently for use. Plenty of ash trays distributed for easy use, contribute to the safety and pleasure of smoking.
- (3) Dispose of ash tray refuse safely so fires won't start. The silent butler or any other metal covered container is a safe place to empty ash trays.
- (4) Be extremely careful when using matches. When "lighting up" out of doors and in other areas where ash trays are not available, it is a good idea not to discard the match until the head is cool enough to touch.
- (5) Keep awake while smoking. Too many lives are lost and homes destroyed by sleepy smokers whose cigarettes fall on their clothes, bedding or upholstered furniture.

Voters to Decide On Hunting Ban

On October 5 the qualified electors of Farmington township will go to the polls to decide whether or not hunting shall be banned in the township. Enrolled House Bill No. 17 providing that "It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, whether residents of this or any other state, to hunt with firearms in or upon any lands or premises in the Township of Farmington" was approved by both the Michigan House and Senate and signed by the governor following a survey of the township and a public hearing on the proposed legislation. Included in the legislation are provisions for punishment of those found violating the provisions of the act and requiring the approval of the bill by a majority of the electors voting before it can become law. If you have great talents, industry will improve them; if moderate abilities, industry will supply their deficiencies. — Sir Joshua Reynolds.

Experiments May Bring Liberal Fishing Regulations for Anglers

More liberal fishing regulations for warm water anglers is the hoped-for result from a series of three experiments slated soon on nine lakes located throughout Michigan, the conservation department reports.

Most of the lakes are the same ones used in experiments from 1946 to 1950 that led to relaxed regulations on panfish. Those tests showed there was no good reason for size limits on panfish and that season limits on bluegills and sunfish were also unnecessary.

Today, as a result of those experiments, an angler may keep panfish of any size on lakes throughout the state and may fish the year around for bluegills and sunfish.

The new series of tests will be aimed at testing present regulations on bass and wall-eyed and northern pike.

Three of the nine lakes in the tests will be open to year-round fishing for all species of fish. However, present creel and size limits will remain in effect. This test is designed to show whether we can take more big fish from a lake than presently allowed without hurting the parent stock. Bear Lake in Manistee county, Pontiac Lake in Oakland county and Whitmore Lake in Washtenaw and Livingston counties are the lakes chosen for this experiment.

The other two sets of lakes will be used for a study of present size limits. On three of the lakes, anglers will be able to take bass and pike of any size, while on the other three pike under 24 inches long or bass under 16 inches will be protected.

At present, the department has considerable "creel census" data from all lakes involved in the tests, information that will provide comparison with catches anglers make under new experimental regulations. This data has been collected during the last seven years.

The three lakes on which size limits on bass and pike will be removed are Fine Lake in Barry county, Duck Lake in Calhoun county and Big Portage Lake in Jackson county. Creel and season limits, however, will remain in effect on these three lakes. Five Lake in Grand Traverse and Kalkaska counties, Minnewaukon Lake in St. Joseph county and Sugarloaf lake in Washtenaw county have been chosen to test the regulation on larger size limits. Season and creel limits will remain the same as at present on these lakes, also.

FOR A FEW WEEKS, a familiar sight to Plymouthites will be the United States Marine Corps Recruiting Sub-Station, located on Penniman avenue in front of the post office. Alcohol Problem Gets New Angle in State Class

A new approach to the Alcohol problem will be attempted in Michigan this year—a classroom approach.

A ten-session, non-credit course in "Alcohol—Society's Problem" will be offered Monday evenings between September 28 and November 30 in the Michigan State evening college at Michigan State college.

Co-sponsors are the State Board of Alcoholism and Michigan State college's police administration department.

Factual material about the problem will be presented in the course with no attempt to influence anyone's opinions, according to the instructor, Ralph F. Turner, associate professor of police administration.

Such an experiment in educating the public is a new idea in Michigan, Turner said. He added that the Board of Alcoholism may offer similar courses elsewhere in the state if the first is well received.

Motion pictures, panels and discussions will cover the history of the problem and the psychological, physiological, therapeutic and rehabilitative aspects. Liquor controls at the national, state and local levels will be discussed as well as public attitudes and thinking.

The course, in which any adult may enroll, also will feature talks by visiting authorities on the problems of alcoholism.

Professor Turner has had extensive experience in the study of alcoholic intoxication in relation to police work. The National Safety Council this year will publish his findings from a four-year research study of the tests for alcoholic intoxication.

Michigan Parks Greatly Plagued By Vandalism

Vandalism in state parks is again costing the citizens of Michigan undue dollars this year. Each week park managers report upturned tables, shattered windows, broken and stolen water pumps and a variety of other damages. Added to the damage done this year, is a series of thefts, stolen tents, automobiles, and auto accessories. Park concession stands have also fallen into the hands of burglars.

Some park's problems can be checked and kept under careful control by watchful managers, custodians and rangers. Guided by a set of park rules and regulations, the workers each year quell unruly activities such as traffic violations, use of fireworks, trespassing, drunkenness and illegal swimming.

In spite of all the precautions taken, vandalism still prevails.

Be ye strong therefore, and let not your hands be weak; for your work shall be rewarded.—II Chon. 15:7.

Increased Broods Of Pheasant May Improve Hunting

Local hunters who didn't get that pheasant last year have a pretty good chance of improving their luck this year. The Michigan Conservation department reports that there are a whopping 32 per cent more brood this year than last. More than 585 rural mail carriers participated in the midsummer census of pheasants.

The counts were made in 38 counties of the southern lower peninsula while the carriers drove their rural mail routes. A total of nearly 5,000 broods were seen.

The size of the broods differed little from previous years, with each averaging about six birds. Birds seen in 80 per cent of the broods were one-half to three-fourths grown, higher than the 75 per cent counted in that age group last year. This bears out spring reports that nesting was somewhat earlier this year.

This increase in population was evident generally throughout the pheasant range.

The thumb counties, as last year, showed the highest population, registering a 36 per cent increase over the 1952 count. Ot-tawa and Allegan counties were second again this year, though the increase was not too evident here.

The southeastern counties placed third, while the central counties of the southern lower peninsula placed fourth in total population and showed a 30 per cent increase in broods.

The poorest area was the southwestern counties, though these too showed a good increase in the number of broods counted.

Come in and see... value check... and test drive a Ford today!

No doubt about it... Ford's the one fine car in the low-price field!

Feature after feature... part after part...
Ford is as fine as the finest...
yet it's priced with the lowest.

No car ever built has won such enthusiastic and growing preference as the '53 Ford... and no wonder. For no other car with such a wealth of fine-car features costs so little as Ford.

Yes, Ford, with all its fine-car quality, is offered at a price that's easy to pay.

You can have a Ford with a V-8 engine—the same type of engine that powers America's most expensive cars—for hundreds less than many Six-cylinder cars. And a Ford powered with the high-compression Mileage Maker Six costs even less.

Then, too, Ford's body is built like the best, with steel body panels of the same quality and thickness as in the most expensive cars.

Ford also proves that a car doesn't need to carry gas-thirsty extra weight to "gentle" you over the bumpiest roads! For Ford's smooth, level ride blots out the bumps... cuts front end road shock alone up to 80%!

Also, you can have your Ford V-8 with Master-Guide, the last word in power steering. Master-Guide cuts up to 75% of turning effort yet it leaves you with the natural "feel" of steering on the straightaway.

There are many other fine-car features, too! Ford Full-Circle Visibility... foam-rubber cushioned seats front and rear on all models... finishes that are baked on over a complete rust-proofing treatment... to mention a few.

It takes all these features to make a fine car truly fine... worth more when you buy it... and in resale, too! A survey of used car lots proves that people are willing to pay a larger percentage of the original cost for year-old Fords than for any other used cars. No doubt about it, Ford's your best buy!

Worth more when you buy it... worth more when you sell it!

GREAT TV! FORD THEATRE, WWJ-TV, 8:30 p.m., THURSDAY

For many of our readers who in the past, because of some of the things I have said about Arthur Godfrey, felt I didn't like him for some reason or other, I might mention that last Tuesday I attended his hour and a half broadcast at CBS in New York, and was amazed at the congeniality of his show when viewed on stage from a distance of less than ten feet.

In the first place I have nothing against Godfrey and I have only reported what other people have said about him. In this instance, he wasn't at the show, but you felt him close at hand as viewed on the six or seven television screens around the room. His questions were answered by the "Little Godfreys" as if he might be in the room and all and it was a most interesting spectacle.

Tony Marvin didn't surprise me by his wit and vocabulary, seen at close hand as he extemporaneously entertained the 300 people in the audience previous to the show, but his stature and appearance did. The most impeccable personage on the stage was Archie Blyor who in reality looked most natural on the stage if compared to the picture over television. . . . For quick impressions of who affected me I might say, Janette Davis was a most nervous person, Julius La Rosa was careless about his appearance, Marvin was a typical New Yorker, Frank Parker, one serenely happy to have his job, and the Mariners interested in their song and sleepy throughout the rest of the program.

Of Godfrey himself it was easy to see that it was his show and his ingenuity that made it the popular success it has been. It was interesting to note that each member of the show had to at all times listen to each word that he said because none ever knew when he would call on them to answer some quick question he might ask. It was an interesting experience and far different viewed at first hand than the picture seen in the homes of America by television or heard over the radio.

However, far more interesting to me and much more thrilling was the excitement one encountered when you met an incoming steamship carrying your daughter home from a summer tour of Europe. It was a first experience of this kind and though it had its exasperating moments I would never have missed it for a minute and can recommend it for New York visitors even though they haven't anyone in particular to meet.

As you read last week our daughter Cynthia and her college friend Virginia Carter of Fostoria, Ohio (the daughter of Fostoria's Pressed Steel Corporation President Russell J.) were aboard the S. S. Constitution coming back to America.

According to New York papers the ship was to dock at one p.m. and it did, though it had arrived at the Statue of Liberty at seven in the morning it cruised the entrance of the harbor to arrive precisely at the minute scheduled.

We arrived at eleven a.m. to get on the docks at near the place they would disembark. It is no easy job to get through the police on the dock even though it is a member of the family you are going to meet. But persistence usually brings results, and we found ourselves finally fighting our way through throngs of people welcoming friends and relatives from the Italian liner Andrea Doria which had docked earlier that morning.

Since we had two hours to kill we entertained ourselves watching custom inspectors open the bags of Andrea Doria passengers and it was truly amazing the things people carried across the ocean. One Italian man and woman had two large suitcases, one partially filled with lemons and another partially filled with oranges. They also had an old fashioned round top trunk which when opened contained two dresses, two shirts, one pair of pants and about forty round Vai Paese cheeses. Inquiry informed us that they probably had lived on these foods on the boat and would continue doing so until they were established in America. They lost their fruit to customs, however, because you can't bring that into this country.

People traveling tourist and cabin class had less trouble with customs inspectors than did those traveling first class. We saw many large wooden cases, the size of large trunks and smaller, well wired which were passed without opening but the unfortunate first class passengers, in most cases, had the entire contents of their belongings turned topsy turvy for inspection and it was dumped on the dirty pine block floor, formals and all.

When the Constitution docked the passengers were unloaded very promptly and we expected to be on our way shortly thereafter. It isn't that way however, because baggage is thrown on a conveyor from the boat with each piece labeled by a large letter signifying the last name of its owner. Baggage is handled for each class in its turn, first class, cabin class then tourist. As the baggage is dumped, dock hands pick up a piece or two then carry it down to the dock where big cardboard letters of the alphabet hang from the ceiling and each piece is placed under the initial with which it is labeled in their class. And this also is no fun. Foreigners who can't speak English muddle up the detail terrifically.

There is no continuity in the handling of baggage so your first piece may come immediately and your second three or four hours later. So, to be comfortable you stand in the crowd and enjoy everyone else's troubles while you wait for a dock hand to come along with another package that might be yours. In our case it took about three and a half hours to collect our girl's seven items.

After you have all of your luggage then you approach customs and wait for an inspector to give you the once over expecting that you are stuck for another three or four hours, after watching the people that were fortunate to get their one or two suitcases first. In our case we were lucky because touring students get a fast brush off by customs inspectors who know they have little money to buy the luxuries of the continent upon which there would be duty.

The next real problem to be confronted is the securing of a taxi or getting your own car out of the terrific traffic jam that develops in the harbor area when a boat docks. In the excitement of it all you really don't mind it so much. You have seen foreigners crying over sons, mothers or fathers they haven't seen for years. Grandparents carrying on over grandchildren perhaps full grown, they have never met. Tears that almost make you cry yourself. And even the poorest of those there waiting, waving huge, green, waxed paper wrapped bouquets, of red roses which seemed to be a necessity in the welcoming ceremony.

It truly is a sight worth seeing, and, it would be for you. We have never had the opportunity to see anything like this before. We never have stood on the dock of any great American steamship line nor has our daughter ever stood on the deck of any ship before this summer. But to be there and to wave and to see her, knowing that she was back from Europe gave us as much of a thrill as if we had been there ourselves.

To end this column here wouldn't be fair because as we finally left the dock areas we were told by our daughter that there was another package to be picked up at a nearby airport. (Dresden china which couldn't be shipped). This was a discouraging thought as it meant a three hour drive, but it had to be done.

To end our immediate experiences was to pick up a huge wicker basket at the airport which contained (not Dresden china but our new pup) "Mon Petit Bicou" one of the cutest little black French Poodles you have ever seen which was a gift for Mom. (There is something about your children that makes life worth while, ISN'T THERE?)

(Extra Added—If you ever consider visiting the Stork Club in New York ask us first.)
(Also Extra. Extra added—Did you ever have the hood of your car blow open? We did at 85 miles per hour. No damage, other than the hood however.)
(Also interesting—It costs $50.00 to bring a dog from Europe on a boat and only $20.00 by air. There were 17 other dogs at the airport waiting for their owners. Collies, Boxers, Poodles and Poodles.)

Whether Michigan will follow the lead of several other states in setting up a fee system for state parks will be decided by the next Legislature.

Until then, and probably long afterwards, the question will be subject for many an argument by many people in many parts of the state.

Foremost of several plans to raise additional money is one requiring windshield stickers for every automobile entering a park. Stickers would be good for a year. Price could be changed from year to year. At present, the fee most often proposed is $1 per year. Other proposals would set a lower amount for each person who enters a park or charge higher rates to out-of-state visitors.

Those who oppose a general "admission" fee suggest higher rates for campers or simply a bigger appropriation from the state treasury.

Tourist business is a big industry in Michigan and the Legislature has been hesitant to do anything that would discourage the annual influx of vacationers.

Endorsement of the fee idea has been made by the Conservation Commission several times, but the Legislature has never acted favorably on the plan.

Conservation Director Gerald E. Eddy says that he understands money raised from admission fees would not be used to cover operating costs. "But we have a serious need for a source of revenue that can produce a predictable amount for capital improvement."

Typical example, he said, is Sterling Park in Monroe. "Improvements there will cost nearly $1 million," he said. "This would be spent over a period of several years, but we can't start a program until we are sure of enough funds to complete it."

Until the Lake Erie beach is improved, everyone, particularly southeast Michigan people are deprived of practical use of the shoreline, he explained.

Survey of park needs in 1946 showed it would cost $17 million to put state recreational facilities in tip-top condition. This included required sanitation, electric, bathhouse, toilet and road installations.

Cost for the same improvements today would probably be $35 million.

Only way conservation officials can see to get extra money is through new charges or fee plan. Hence their support of ideas.

Public reaction in Minnesota state parks will be observed by all interested parties. Fee plan for state parks was put in effect there for the first time this summer. If a sizeable amount is raised without much public objection, it will be a strong argument to start practice in Michigan.

National parks in both United States and Canada have admission charges which are generally well accepted by the public. Several states besides Michigan are now considering fee plans to help finance recreational facilities.

Fairly or Unfairly Michigan's Justice of the Peace system has long been attacked as inadequate. Justices have been charged with illegal actions which resulted according to critics, from ignorance or unethical practices. Included are "paying off" arresting officers, levying excessive fines and court costs.

Roger Babson Says:

BABSON DISCUSSES PROTECTING YOUR FAMILY

Gloucester, Massachusetts. I have been rather disturbed to meet some old friends here who have lost their husbands and are disappointed with the way his estate has been divided. The husband left no Will, and the needy heirs did not get the money. It didn't seem quite fair to leave the same amount to a son who is in good financial condition as was left to a daughter who had had polio. I have already urged the necessity of everyone making a Will under proper legal advice; but I now also urge the use of a local bank for Trust Funds.

PROTECTING YOUR WIDOW

Instead of leaving all or one-third of your estate to your wife outright, leave her portion in Trust with instructions to this effect: "My wife is to receive the income and also to receive some of the principal if, in the Bank's opinion, she at any time needs extra money. When she dies the Bank will distribute the remaining property to my children." Your wife would be of advanced age. She has never bought and sold securities, collected income from investments or filled out income tax returns. By such a Trust the property would be managed by an experienced Trustee. Your widow would then be happier and safer.

When you die your widow will be pestered by people who want to borrow. Some of these may be relatives and friends who would be hard to turn down if the money is left outright. If, however, the money is left in Trust, she can honestly say to these people: "I am sorry but all my money is in Trust, and I cannot do what you want." This may be a Godsend to all the relatives, as well as to her. If the relative or friend is really entitled to the money, there are other places to borrow.

PROTECTING YOUR DAUGHTER

Another reason for leaving property in Trust, especially for a married daughter, is to make sure that at her death, or in case of re-marriage, your grandchildren will someday receive the property. It is very hard for a young wife to refuse her husband if she has money in her own right; but if it is in Trust, her husband cannot lose it and yet would not be offended. Then you can be assured that your grandchildren will receive the property eventually, instead of, perhaps, some persons you have never known.

Your Will could direct that your daughter receive certain income for life, and at the daughter's death, after the children reach a certain age, the property be divided among your daughter's children. Or you may be the owner of a business which you would like to leave to a young son. If so, why don't you leave the business in Trust jointly with a bank and your son? The income could be payable to your wife for life, after paying a fair salary to your son; and at her death, the business go to the son at a certain age. You, of course, would give the two Trustees ample powers to meet all unforeseen changes that may arise.

REMEMBER ESTATE TAXES

The Federal estate tax can often be lessened by leaving property in Trust and eliminating a "second" tax. For instance, if you leave your entire estate outright to your wife or daughter, the Federal estate tax at your death would be considerable and, if she dies more than five years later, leaving to a child all your property, her estate must pay a second Federal estate tax. This second tax could be avoided by leaving your property in Trust, without a "general power of appointment" with the income payable to your wife and/or daughter for life and then going to the grandchildren.

The above tax saving can also be accomplished by "splitting" your entire estate while living, or by leaving it so that only half would be taxed at your death, and the other half at your wife's or daughter's death. Then the Federal estate tax would be very much less. In this case, instead of one Trust for your wife, there would be two. For one of these your wife could hold a "general power of appointment." Then only one of those Trusts would be taxed at her death—namely, the one as to which she held a "general power of appointment." The other Trust, though the property in it would be taxed at her husband's death, would escape tax at her death. In closing let me say I am not a lawyer. I got these general ideas from George L. White, Attorney for and Trust Officer of the Newton-Waltham Bank of Newton, Massachusetts, with which bank I have formed Trusts for my wife, daughter and grandchildren.

Equip B&O Box Cars With Evans Loaders

The Evans Products company today announced it has equipped 125 Baltimore & Ohio box cars with Evans DF Loaders.

All cars have been returned to the B & O and it is understood most of them will be put into use to serve shippers in the automotive industry.

The Evans DF Loaders, now in use in the box cars of 33 Class I American railroads, is a permanently-installed load locking, load-securing device that protects loading from damage caused when shifts in transit. A series of parallel wall belt members, perforated at half inch intervals, are welded to car posts and are spaced from floor to car roof about 18 inches apart. Into these wall belt members fit the locking end fittings of DF Loaders cross members. The cross members are braced against a segment of the car load, then locked into position so the load cannot shift when the car is in motion.

Shippers who have used DF Loader-equipped cars have been able to cut their freight damage claims to virtually nothing. In addition, they have found they can get more lading in a box car fitted with this type of equipment, and they have saved money through elimination of ordinary dunnage which usually is discarded after a single use.
