PLENTY OF PEANUTS were eaten in Plymouth last weekend as members of the Kiwanis club turned vendors to help support National Kids Day. Doing their bit for the project are Ruth Hopper and Jeanette Daniels, both of 1815 Haggerty. Norman Atchinson, chairman of the project, shown selling the peanuts, said the sale was very successful and indicated that Kiwanians would line the surrounding highways on the next two weekends taking advantage of traffic to football games for more sales.

No Need Found For Emergency Calls For Doctors

Local doctors met with Chamber of Commerce officials Monday to determine the need for arranging special emergency telephone service for local residents. A survey of local doctors' offices revealed the fact, however, that there are three in town, staffed by two doctors, and in each case one of them is on duty in their particular office at all times.

The meeting also revealed that local physicians have a working agreement among themselves to insure citizens that one or two of their group would remain in the city in case others plan to be away.

No action was taken at the meeting in view of the above conditions but Chamber officials did point out that in case of an emergency the telephone company has an arrangement whereby one of them is to be on duty in the emergency and ask for a doctor. The operator then calls all available doctors in the area until she finds one to respond to the call.

Will Tell of Work With Indian Tribe

Sunday evening, October 11, 7:30 p.m. the sound motion picture, "O For A Thousand Tongues," will be shown at Calvary Baptist church by Dr. Dean Saxton, of the Wycliffe Bible Translators, Inc. This 40 minute beautifully colored documentary sound film portrays the work of Bible translators among primitive tribes of Mexico and Peru. The film was photographed and produced by Irwin Moon of the Moody Bible Institute Science Department. Introduction of the film is made by Dr. Charles E. Fuller, of the Old-Fashioned Revival Hour Radio Broadcast. This challenging missionary film shows the impact of the gospel upon primitive people in their own languages. The witch doctor is seen in a frightening fire dance. A former witch doctor is shown preaching after the Word of God has gripped his soul and translated him out of darkness into light.

Hundreds Watch Fire Demonstration Here

Hundreds of Plymouth citizens warmed themselves up by the heat of burning oil and natural gas as they watched firemen from seven departments battle fire after fire in a chilly Fire Prevention Week demonstration Tuesday night.

The demonstration, held behind the high school, was the third such event held in Plymouth staged by the Mutual Aid Firemen's association. When a match touched off the first blaze of 1,000 gallons of oil at 7 p.m., fire trucks roared to the scene from Plymouth, township, Livonia, Northville, Wayne, Canton township and the Detroit House of Correction.

The demonstration was not only for the education of interested citizens, but it gave firemen and volunteers a realistic practice session. In fact, at least two firemen, one from Northville and another from Plymouth, received minor burns about the face and hands as they battled the natural gas fire.

First of the fires fought was an oil blaze. A deep pit had been dug and partially filled with fuel oil. Firemen from the various departments took turn in extinguishing the fire, using ansul dry chemical extinguishers and high pressure hoses with a fog spray.

The most terrifying battle was against the natural gas fire. A pipe about 15 feet long and containing many holes was buried beneath the surface and the high pressure gas was turned on and ignited. In another event, high pressure gas was directed upon a baffle plate and ignited.

Emergency generators were set up in the field to provide light and the bright orange and yellow fires sent up billows of flame and black smoke high in the air.

As was expected many citizens had not noticed previous announcements about the demonstration or had forgotten about it. Switchboards at the telephone company and the city hall were swamped with calls wanting to know where the fire was. Fire trucks had entered the city from nearly every direction in the realistic demonstration.

Plymouth firemen are continuing today to take their Fire Prevention Week message to the city's young folks. Fire trucks are making a stop at all elementary schools this week in an attempt to get children acquainted with fire equipment. Literature is also given them for their parents about prevention of fires in the home.

Symphony Series Introduces Players

"Meet your Symphony Players" appears in this week's Mail on page 1 of section 2. It's a new feature to run periodically throughout the coming Plymouth Symphony concert season to introduce several members of the orchestra to the public. Featured this week are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Groschke.

The 1953-54 season begins on Sunday, October 25 and practice sessions are currently being conducted by Director Wayne Dunlap each week at the high school. He announced last week that this year's orchestra should number 90 players, the largest ever in the eight year history of the Symphony Society.

NATIONAL PUBLICITY just naturally comes to Plymouth when food or fine eating places are involved. Most recent national recognition of one of Plymouth's outstanding dining places came to Arbor-Lill this month with the current issue of the American Restaurant magazine, which devotes two full pages to the successful operation of Lee Butler, left and Norbert Lofy who have made Arbor-Lill famous in this section for fine foods. The complete story as told by the magazine appears on page six of the fourth section in this issue.

COURT DENIES ARLEN'S RIGHT TO REGAIN COMMISSION SEAT

City Commission Disfavors Power Granted Planners In Proposed Zoning Law

City commissioners joined the ranks of many other citizens Monday night when they objected to the section of the proposed zoning ordinance which would give the city planning commission power to approve or disapprove building plans before a building permit can be issued.

"In view of the opinion of the public, the city attorney and the city commission," commissioners passed a motion Monday night to have the city planners review the language of the section. (15.02). City Attorney Harry Deyo bluntly told the commission that the section giving the planners power to review all building plans is not legal.

Deyo pointed out that a body such as the planning commission which is appointive and not granted police powers cannot pass judgement on plans, even though every one of them were qualified with engineering or construction knowledge. He added that the planning commission is a group whose function is to plan the city, but not to enforce the regulations.

Many citizens, including the Chamber of Commerce, have appeared before the city and planning commissions to object to this section. They argued that it should remain up to the building inspector and fire chief to approve plans as to their compliance with the zoning ordinance, building code and fire regulations.

City commissioners decided to take their first positive action on the traffic research report submitted to them last month by the AAA. First of the recommendations the city will follow will be the painting of lines on streets for smoother traffic movement in the downtown area and at the intersection of North Main street and Starkweather.

A number of parking meters will be taken out to provide extra lanes of traffic and the meters will be installed on Fralick, according to a motion of the commissioners. The Penniman and Main street intersection will be undergoing the most change. Six meters on the west side of Main, north of Penniman will be removed so that a left-turn lane can be marked. Four meters will be removed on the east side of Main street north of Penniman since cars parking and leaving these places delay much traffic, the report states.

Commissioners each submitted names for a traffic safety committee which the survey recommends. However, Mayor Russell Daane said that naming of the committee will be postponed until consideration is given to those proposed.

Rathburn Tribute Being Constructed At Township Hall

Construction is underway at the Plymouth Township hall of the Charles H. Rathburn, Jr. memorial which will pay tribute to the man who served as a top political figure in the county and township for 28 years.

The monument is being erected in front of the township hall and is expected to be completed by October 15, the fourth anniversary date of the building of the township hall. According to Martin Schomberger, chairman of the committee in charge of the memorial construction, a 32-foot flag pole is being erected with a white marble monument at the base.

The monument will include a sundial and a plaque with an inscription dedicated to Rathburn, who served as township supervisor since 1925. He died at the age of 69 last June 4, having served on every major committee in county government.

Donations from private citizens are being used to build the memorial.

Possession of Burglar Tools Sends Pair Before Circuit Court

Cases of the two men arrested in Plymouth last month for allegedly breaking into the Roe Lumber company are now in the hands of the Wayne County Circuit Court after their appearance Monday afternoon before Municipal Judge Nandino Perlongo.

Relatives and friends of the accused men filled some of the courtroom seats as the preliminary hearing got underway, first with the case against Ralph H. Smith, 30 River Rouge, followed by the appearance of William Charles Donnelly, alias William Charles Kelly, 21, Detroit.

Smith waived his hearing and was bound over to the circuit court and placed under a $2,000 bond. His partner, Donnelly, decided to have an examination, although he had no attorney.

An assistant prosecutor called two witnesses to the stand. One was Laren Johnson, Plymouth police sergeant, who arrested the pair on September 10 beside the Mackie Mercury building at 402 North Mill street. The other witness was Harry Lee, manager of the Roe Lumber company, who testified that entrance had been gained to the office that same night and about 20 pennies were taken.

Sergeant Johnson told the court how he was making a routine check at the Mackie garage and saw the front door standing open. He then came face to face with Donnelly as he was walking out to the street from beside the garage. Hearing a rattle of stones, he sighted the feet of Smith sticking out from under a car. On Donnelly he found a flashlight, chisel and gloves. Smith, Johnson said, had a knife, pinbar and gloves. The policeman then identified the tools as the prosecutor showed them.

Donnelly attempted to act as his own attorney and asked John son several questions. After asking several with the aid of the judge, Donnelly rested his cross-examination and told the court that he did not want to take the stand himself. (The accused can refuse to take the stand on the grounds of self-incrimination.)

Judge Perlongo granted a motion by the prosecutor's assistant to dismiss the charge of breaking and entering in the night-time against Donnelly. The judge then stated that he found sufficient evidence to warrant a charge of possession of burglary tools against Donnelly. Donnelly, whose criminal record is much longer than Smith's, was then bound over to the circuit court for trial and placed under a bond of $5,000. Both men were returned to the county jail because of insufficient funds to post the bond.

Entrance Gained to Elementary Schools; $41.65 Missing

Burglaries at Smith and Bird Elementary schools sometime Sunday night netted thieves $41.65, Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister reported this week.

Discovery of the burglaries was made by police as they made their routine checks. Police found that entrance to both schools was gained by knocking out windows near a door and opening the door from the inside. Office doors were then opened by kicking in ventilators at the bottom of the doors.

A total of $41.65 was reported missing at Smith school but nothing was taken from Bird.

City, Fralick Group In Court Wednesday

Principles representing the city of Plymouth and a group of Fralick avenue property owners appeared before Circuit Court Judge Murphy in Detroit Wednesday for a hearing of the suit filed by the property owners last July.

The action arose over the objections of the property owners to assessment levies for improvements on Fralick. In their July 7 charge before the city commission here the group stated that the city showed "laxness and negligence" in making up assessment rolls of the improvement program which began in 1942.

School Roll Officially At 3,270 Now

Plymouth Township schools have 224 more students today than they had at the close of school last spring, according to official enrollment figures compiled this week for the State Department of Education.

Total enrollment in the six elementary buildings, the junior high and senior high school now stands at 3,270, the roll shows. Schools closed last June with 3,046 children in classrooms.

A breakdown shows that 1,331 students are in the secondary grades while 1,939 are in the elementary schools. Here is the enrollment by buildings:

Senior high school, 915; junior high school, 416; Allen elementary, 465; Bird elementary, 474; Smith elementary, 436; Starkweather elementary, 433; Bartlett elementary, 66; and Hough elementary, 65.

Enrollment by grades is as follows: Twelfth, 165; eleventh, 222; tenth, 239; ninth, 289; eighth, 210; seventh, 206; sixth, 242; fifth, 241; fourth, 243; third, 262; second, 298; first, 323; kindergarten, 330.

Set Final Plans For Chest Drive

Although the annual Plymouth Community Fund drive does not get underway until October 20, the first contribution for the 1953-54 collection was made this week by the Mayflower Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. "The auxiliary earmarked $25 of their annual budget to our drive and called me Tuesday evening and became our first contributors," said Tom Kent, president of the Community Fund Board.

Official "kick-off" of this year's drive will take place Saturday, October 17 with a Boy Scout demonstration in Kellogg park. On Tuesday the 20th, opening day of the drive, the Plymouth high school band will parade down Main street while members of the senior class distribute posters to merchants.

'Round-Robin' Car Thefts End Happily . . . Almost

Plymouth and Dearborn police are still searching for a prospective car buyer who apparently was so pleased with the performance of the cars he "tried out" in the two cities last Thursday that he never did return them.

However, the whole chain of events almost ended happily for the two automobile dealers involved. They both got their cars back but one was minus a spare tire and radio. The "round-robin" exchange began when a stranger entered Mackie Mercury, 402 North Mill street, and pointed to a 1951 Mercury which caught his eye. It was just the thing he wanted, he insisted, but a spin around the block was needed to clinch the deal. That was at 2 o'clock. The afternoon wore on and Mackie people began to worry. By 5 o'clock they called the police.

In the meantime, a stranger driving a 1951 Mercury drove into Nowac Motor Sales on Michigan avenue in Dearborn. Pointing to a 1952 Ford, he revealed that it was exactly what he was looking for. He would leave his Mercury there and go for a spin around the block just to see how it runs.

A few hours later, Nowac salesmen became suspicious when the stranger failed to return and their report to police of the remaining Mercury corresponded to the one stolen at Mackie. A call came from North Mill street saying that a strange car had been parked there all night—a 1952 Ford. Police investigated and found it was the Nowac car. The thief had helped himself to the spare tire and radio.

Anyone seeing a stranger driving a spare tire down the street with a bull-in radio is requested to report the same to police.

Judge Issues Opinion Backing City's Stand

Former City Commissioner Frank Arlen has lost his court battle to regain his seat on the commission—thus ending a verbal dispute between Arlen and the commission which began last April when his right to a seat on the city body was challenged because of a possible default in his residence qualifications.

Circuit Court Judge Joseph A. Moynihan handed down his decision to dismiss the action against the city of Plymouth Tuesday afternoon after considering briefs submitted by attorneys since the court airing of the case on July 21.

Only by appealing the decision might Arlen have a chance to regain the commission seat, but this course of action remained undecided today. Arlen had not learned of the decision until contacted by The Mail yesterday morning. He said that his attorney is confined to a Detroit hospital and that he would have to consult the attorney before making any statement about an appeal.

In his 13-page opinion submitted with his decision, Judge Moynihan has cited two similar cases, one in Michigan and another in New Jersey. In both of these cases, the judge points out, the officeholder had given up his legal residence. The cases had defined the words "voting residence" as a place where a person "actually resides" and "habitually sleeps and has a lodging."

Arlen had defended himself against charges that he had given up his residence by moving to Northville township by pointing out that he had taken up residence in the Hotel Mayflower. However, a commission resolution of June 12 resolved that "the office of City Commissioner held by Frank Arlen be and it is declared vacant by reason of his removal from the City of Plymouth, Michigan and his failure to reside within the said city as required by State Law and the City Charter."

The city commission charged that Arlen disposed of his home at 735 Burroughs avenue on January 26 and vacated the premises on February 26. They added that he had no residence in the city until April 17 when he claimed residence in the Mayflower and that he discontinued his occupancy of quarters at the Mayflower from June 5 until June 12.

Judge Moynihan's opinion contains much of the city commission minutes which carried the vacancy argument. It pointed out that at the June 15 meeting, Commissioner Henry Fisher made a motion to declare the office vacant. Arlen then spoke, reaffirming an earlier statement he made April 20 by saying, "I am a taxpayer maintaining residence in the city of Plymouth and intend to continue doing so." He then offered to resign and a short recess was taken to permit the preparation of the resignation. After the recess Commissioner Arlen returned but did not choose to file his resignation with the clerk. The original resolution was made again by Commissioner Fisher and passed unanimously.

At a special meeting of the city commission on July 8, Marvin E. Terry was approved to fill the vacancy and he took office a few minutes later.

"Many questions are raised with respect to the issues involved," Judge Moynihan writes in his opinion. "The defendant City Commission is a legislative body and, under its charter and state law, is the sole judge of the qualifications of its members." (Continued on Page 8)

Dodge Offers New Royal V-8 for 1954

Highlight of the 1954 Dodge line is the new super deluxe series known as the Royal V-8. A completely new interior styling is keyed to harmonize with 11 different body colors and 14 two-tone combinations. The Royal V-8 series is keynoted by Jacquard upholstery fabric, previously used only for rich tapestries and expensive furniture. On the exterior, a new spear-like chrome moulding accents the low, sweeping lines and lends a smooth, modern look. There also is a new grille design and treatment of headlights, taillights and wheel covers. The 1954 Dodge line also introduces such engineering advancements as PowerFlite, a new fully-automatic transmission; the economy-and-endurance tested Red Ram V-8 engine stepped up to 150 h.p. and 7.5 to 1 compression ratio; and a new type full-time power steering unit. The Coronet Six and Meadowbrook Six have been stepped up to 110 h.p. and 7.25 to 1 compression ratio.

Wayne Woman Hurt Tuesday In Three-Car Collision

One person was slightly injured in two accidents near the Burroughs corporation plant on Plymouth road Tuesday, the Wayne county sheriff's road patrol reports.

Mrs. Erma Porth, Wyandotte, received a bruised kneecap in a three-car pile-up near Haggerty highway. A car driven by William Anderson, Highland, Michigan, and one driven by her husband had stopped when a car came from behind and crashed into the rear of the Porth auto. The third car was driven by Vincent Russell, Wayne.

The other mishap occurred in the Burroughs parking lot. Cars driven by Christina Gac, Detroit, and Geanie B. Caton, Wayne, collided at right angles.

Early Training Suggested to Stop Dangerous Accidents by Youngsters

Begin early to protect your youngsters against accidents and to teach them to protect themselves.

Last year in Michigan 341 boys and girls under five-years-old were killed in accidents, the Michigan Department of Health reports, and over half—55 per cent—in mishaps around the home.

"Mechanical suffocation"—usually smothering in bedclothes—was said to take the heaviest toll in the home, claiming the lives of 61. There is, however, considerable speculation as to this as a cause of death. Studies indicate that many babies thought to have died of suffocation may actually have died of illness, signs of which had gone unnoticed in the days preceding death.

Choking from food, putting beans or marbles up the nose, or other instances of breathing in or swallowing of objects causing obstruction or suffocation claimed 47 lives.

Fires and explosions—mostly fires—claimed the lives of 46 youngsters of preschool age; 18 met death from burns from hot substances, such as steam and boiling liquids; 76 were killed in motor vehicles accidents—47 as passengers, 29 as pedestrians; 33 were drowned; 19 died as a result of falls and 13 from accidental poisoning.

Prevention of accidents to preschool aged youngsters is largely the responsibility of parents, but "over-protection" is not the answer. Teaching the youngster to protect himself should begin during the earliest years. The need for such early training is proved by the fact that accidents lead as a cause of death among boys and girls between 5-14 years of age.

Local Club Hears Powers Girl Tell Secrets of Charm

"Charm is a state of mind," Mrs. Madonna Moffatt, representative of the John Robert Powers school of the Woman's club at their October meeting. The members met for luncheon last Friday at the Western Golf and Country club.

Mrs. Moffatt stressed posture in her discussion of charm. It is important to walk, sit and stand correctly, she said, and to make down rather than make up the face. Mrs. Moffatt was herself an example that even the busiest women can be charming. She is the mother of six children and is active in Parent-Teacher associations as well.

The next meeting of the club will be held on November 6, when the Reverend Henry J. Walsh, D.D. will show pictures of his recent trip to Europe and the Holy Land.

AAUW Plans Meeting

The American Association of University Women has scheduled Miss Jean Haring, Northville hospital psychiatric social worker, as speaker for the next meeting. The group will meet next Thursday, October 15, at 7:45 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Robert Nulty on Park Place.

Colors Attract Many to North

A region rich in historic and scenic color becomes more beautiful at this season of the year. More than at any other time, color photography enthusiasts in the Upper Peninsula take to the outdoors with high hopes of capturing, with the camera, some of the awe-inspiring colors on every side. Bird and small game hunters, are finding the heavy foliage a disadvantage, but probably will enjoy their trips into the woods when they see the leaves in all their gaudy hues. Man for centuries has developed materials to produce brilliant and superb colors in painting, architecture and printing. But no pigments ever have been manufactured whose result is as awe-inspiring as that found during "Indian Summer" in the upper peninsula and other north-eastern sections of the United States and Canada. Nowhere else in the world are weather and woods conditions just right to produce such a brilliant, almost unbelievable, array of colors. An interesting phenomenon that makes an autumn visit to the Peninsula a worthwhile experience, the process is a simple yet complex one of nature. Robing of Upper Michigan's forests with vari-colored dress begins with the cold spells that send the thermometer dipping below the freezing point. Then the leaves on poplar, maple, aspen, birch and other hardwood trees begin changing to red, yellow, purple, gold and myriad other hues that, mixed with the verdant green of coniferous and evergreen softwoods, presents a flashing, gorgeous panorama unrivalled in the most brilliant of man's works of art. The translucent atmosphere and yellow and mellow sunshine of Indian summer follow those early frosts, bringing with it warm, lazy days that make an outing in comfortable fall togs a pleasure. Along peninsula roadsides and in distant hills, the process of altering green vistas into spectacular and vivid portraits is in full swing. The most brilliant colors are perhaps found along the Brockway Mountain drive in the Copper Country, the Cliffs drive in Marquette county, Chicagoan Lake Drive in Iron county the Porcupine Mountain area, the Tahquamenon region and shore drives along Lake Superior. But Chambers of Commerce in all sections are ready to offer their guests assistance in planning trips where autumn coloring is most resplendent. Most resorts are still open and will continue operating until after the deer hunting season in November. Uncrowded highways and elimination of detours following completion of summer construction projects will enable motorists to better enjoy this marvelous work of nature that is autumn in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

Society to Honor Past Presidents

The regular monthly meeting of the Holy Name Society of Our Lady of Good Counsel Parish will be held Wednesday, October 14th at 8:30 p.m. in the Parish Hall. This month marks the 41st anniversary of the founding of the Society in Plymouth. In commemoration of the milestone, tribute will be paid to the men who have served as presidents of the organization through the years. The contribution of these men in effort and time has been invaluable and the present membership wishes to express its appreciation. The Executive Secretary of the Detroit Archdiocesan Union of Holy Name Societies, Joseph Lester has agreed to join in this token of gratitude to the leaders of the Society in previous years. Mr. Lester is charged with administering to the needs of parish units in the entire Archdiocese and his time is at a premium. However he has eagerly consented to take the trouble and time to visit Plymouth in order to add his acclaim to the honored guests of the evening, many of whom he has worked with in the past. In addition, movies have been promised—the nature of which have been termed only a "surprise showing," by the program chairman for the meeting. Sunday the 11, of course is Communion Sunday for the Society. All members of the Holy Name Society are asked to offer their Mass and Holy Communion in thanksgiving for our benefits as members of the Mystical Body and to dedicate themselves to the task of enlarging our monument to the Most High by a strong, vibrant Society in every parish of the Archdiocese. Immediately after the 8:00 Mass, the members of the Society are invited downstairs to the Parish Hall for coffee and doughnuts. This is by way of an anniversary observance and will not be accompanied by any program. This informal snack will merely provide a chance for the members to meet together in a sociable vein. This Sunday morning social is in addition to the regular monthly meeting to take place the following Wednesday evening. There are a few men who served as presidents in former years who have not been located. In the hope that they may be within the range of this newspaper it is desired to utilize the opportunity afforded of notifying these past presidents of the intention to honor them at the October meeting. Those who have been contacted are asked to aid in informing the others.

Christian Youth Members Hear Dr. Dean Saxton

Members of the Plymouth Voice of Christian Youth met in the basement of the First Presbyterian church on Wednesday, October 7. Dr. Dean Saxton, representing the Wycliffe Translators, Inc., was the guest speaker. Over 40 young people have been meeting together on Wednesdays at 11:30 to become better acquainted with the Bible and the teachings of Christ. Presiding over the first fall meeting were the new officers: president, Judy Marshall; sponsor, Sally Canning; vice president, Ruth Ann Carr; secretary, Marilyn Paul and treasurer, Rene Anderson. On Monday evening, October 5, resident Judy Marshall attended a council meeting in Detroit and was elected recording secretary for the City Council.

Pilgrim Shrine No. 55 held a ceremonial meeting Monday evening, with the new officers putting on the work for the first time. A social evening followed the meeting. Contact with a high-minded woman is good for the life of any man.—Henry Vincent.

Farmington Township Passes Hunting Ban

"A majority of the electors, voting in a special election held in Farmington township on Monday, approved a bill banning hunting in or upon any lands or premises in the township," announced the Citizens' committee. Forty per cent of the registered voters turned out to hand the hunting ban a 780 to 382 victory. Speculations on such a ban has been observed for the Plymouth area, thus serving as a warning to visiting hunters to use better judgment if they wish to retain open hunting areas. We know some Plymouth men who can hear pleasure knocking with a feather, but who couldn't hear duty knock if she used an axe.

IN LOVING MEMORY of a dear wife and mother Stella Simons who passed away two years ago, October 12, 1951. The voice we loved is still. The wife who worked so hard for me. Ever remembered by her loving husband, son and daughter-in-law. Marlin Simons 28-1tp

Special Deputy Detail To Control Parties in Park

"We're going to stop these beer parties among teen-agers in our public parks!" a spokesman for the Wayne County sheriff's road patrol at Wayne declared yesterday in an interview by The Mail.

The statement was made as a warning to all teen-agers in the Plymouth area who so far have not been found guilty of any of the recent wild parties which have been going on in the Middle Rouge Parkway. A special detail of deputies has been placed in the park each day from 8 p.m. until 4 a.m. to check the hayrides and wiener roasts which turn into rowdy affairs, some of them near Plymouth.

A group of 50 Detroit teen-agers were rounded up last Friday night in the park of which two will appear in court on charges of illegal possession of alcoholic beverages. According to a new state law, no minor under 21 years of age can have intoxicants in their possession.

Taken to the road patrol station, the group was lectured and their parents notified to pick them up. Three full cases of beer were found and many empty bottles. The two boys held on charges were drivers of cars which carried the cases of beer. Another arrest, was made Saturday night when 30 youngsters were found on a drinking spree.

All of these picked up so far are from Detroit, the road patrol reported, and many of them have been chased out of Detroit parks where they attempted to drink.

"They're now trying to move into the out-county parks for their wild parties," the spokesman stated, "but we can be as tough or tougher than city police in controlling them."

"We're all for wiener roasts and hayrides," the deputy said, "but we are going to crack down on the few who think that no party is a success without bringing a case of beer or a bottle on the hip."

Ages of the youths involved have been between 14 and 20 years.

Black satin is being widely used (instead of velvet) for accents on wool suits and dresses, and, in fact, for entire late-day costumes, including evening suits.

A bale of cotton, believed to be the oldest in existence, now is preserved in a glass case on the floor of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange. It was produced in 1862 by John Peden of Oktibbeha County, Mississippi.

Complete First Home On Birch Estates Subdivision

With the completion of the first home on the Birch Estates last week, Plymouth saw the formal opening of its newest subdivision. Two more homes are nearing completion on the 22-acre site currently being developed by the Lundblad company of Dearborn.

Excavations on the property owned by the Ernest A. Kandt Lumber company were begun in April by Floyd G. Sikes. Completion of the four homes started by Sikes was delayed by Sikes' recent death. The Lundblad company took over the construction early in September.

Will Tell

The operation of two-way radios whereby the daring pioneers keep in touch with the mission base is also pictured.

Primitive Indian converts by the scores are shown in radiant joy over having been released from sin and superstition through "the book that tells about God" in the languages in which they were born. "O For A Thousand Tongues" arouses a real yearning that the thousand languages that have not yet received the Bible may soon be given the Word of God.

Dr. and Mrs. Dean Saxton, who are showing the film, are missionaries to the Papago Indians of southern Arizona and Mexico. Dr. Saxton, the son of a Plymouth feed merchant, is a veterinarian trained at Michigan State college, appropriate training for work among a cattle raising tribe of Indians. He is also a graduate of Fuller Theological Seminary of California. Mrs. Saxton is a registered nurse, a graduate of Cooper hospital and Shelton college, of New Jersey.

They have studied in the summer Institute of Linguistics of the University of Oklahoma and have been assigned the task by the Wycliffe Bible Translators of translating the New Testament for the Papago Indians. This tribe of 8,000, few of whom speak English, have never had the Bible in their own language.

The public is cordially invited to hear this local young man tell of the work of translation that he will be engaged in during the coming year.

Mary Anne Watson of 1103 Penniman street, Plymouth, a freshman at Madonna college, places the tassel of her graduation cap in "Freshman position" as they check their "new look" after Investiture ceremonies held on Sunday, October 4. Martha comes from Agana, Guam. Also standing by is Marjorie Krist from Detroit.

Junior Achievement Program Scheduled to Start Here Soon

A Tuesday evening committee meeting of the newly organized Plymouth Junior Achievement program brought forth a promise that the wheels would begin rolling here within the next two weeks. Program Chairman James Mitchell stated that six companies composed of approximately 15 teen-agers each would start functioning in the highly-touted business preparation program to be conducted at 204 South Main street.

The Junior Achievement program was organized to enable youngsters to learn American business methods. Mitchell stated that each of the six companies will run a business of its own. "They will be organized under the sponsorship of individual firms. These firms will be represented by three advisors who, as a team, will direct their company in sales, production and general business practices," Mitchell said. Sponsoring firms already signed-up for the project are Barnes - Gibson - Raymond, Daisy Manufacturing, Evans Products and Michigan Bell Telephone company.

"Nearly 200 students expressed interest in the program after it was introduced at a high school assembly last spring," Mitchell said. Two companies a night will meet each week with Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings being set aside for meetings. In addition to forming their companies, electing officers, isuing stock and deciding upon a product to manufacture, the groups will prepare a annual report at the end of the year and issue dividends, if possible.

Wallace Fleming, executive director of Junior Achievement from Detroit, and Harry Simanek, who will be program supervisor for Plymouth, attended the Tuesday evening meeting along with local committee members Mitchell, Mark Purple, Earl West and Bill Slinger. Other members of the local committee are Cass Hough, Pat McGuire and George Mayhew.

Mr. Cass Flesher and other executives of The Industrial Wire Products Co. of Wayne held a sales meeting in the quiet privacy of the wood paneled Captain's Quarters Saturday evening.

Mayor Russel Daane and Cass S. Hough entertained a half-score of German Industrialists in The Mayflower Room for lunch last week. The here visiting the Daisy's half-score of German industrial.

The Hillman Michigan High school band which traveled further than any other to the Michigan game Saturday comes from the far north of Michigan's lower peninsula. The band's members were guests at the Mayflower for the week-end. More noteworthy than the distance they came or the fine music they rendered is the fact that here is a group of well-mannered teen-agers. Their parents and their school can be proud of them, and The Mayflower will always welcome such fine young ladies and gentlemen.

Bob Sincock's Standard Service across the street served 50 or 60 cars with Standard Oil emblems on their doors one morning last week. At first appearance it would seem that Bob has won a popularity contest within his own company. That's as it should be, but the event that drew them to Plymouth was an all day sales meeting and dinner at The Mayflower.

We cornered Chris Burghardt in The Pilgrim Room to ask him if the rumor about his winter sports program out at Hilltop Golf Course was true. He says, "Could be." Scuttlebut has it that he is giving more than a passing thought to ice-skating under lights as well as day-times. Toboggan and ski runs are a possibility, too.

After a wedding for Miss Joan Adamcheck and Mr. Chester Gorczyk the party enjoyed a reception last Saturday at 11 in The Mayflower room.

Speaking of parties, your Bo's'n's Mate is astounded at the 3-D pictures that photographer John Gaffield makes of such events. The pictures are so real that they practically live. John states that he has been using this medium for "product-presentation" for various months now. Such graphic and dramatic showmanship is better for selling than showing the actual product. And much lighter to carry than a jig, a die, or other product. R'mm—it's unbelievable.

Meet Your Symphony Players

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Groschke

(Editor's note: In order to better acquaint local residents with their Symphony orchestra, The Plymouth Mail will introduce several members of the orchestra through this new series. With the Symphony season set to open in a few weeks, readers should find the articles of particular interest. The features will appear intermittently throughout the season.)

Two of the charter members of the Plymouth Symphony orchestra are a husband and wife team, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Groschke. Mrs. Groschke plays the piano for the orchestra, and Groschke is heard on the bass fiddle.

Before the orchestra took definite shape as the Plymouth Symphony society, the Groschkes started out with a musical group in their home. This was the original group which, in 1947, became the Plymouth Symphony orchestra.

Known professionally as Evelyn Woods, Mrs. Groschke served the newly organized orchestra as its first soloist. She has since been heard often in that capacity.

Music is not only a pleasant pastime for the Groschkes, but it also is their business. Groschke, for instance, is the proprietor of the Plymouth Music Center, while Mrs. Groschke teaches piano to local youngsters' and adults.

Groschke said that as a family they believe in the slogan, "The family that plays together stays together." Their ten-year-old son, James, plays the trumpet, thus giving the family their own private orchestra as well. The Groschkes live at 1051 North Mill street.

West Germans Study Daisy Benefit Plan

Twelve visitors from western Germany left Plymouth last Thursday highly impressed not only with the manufacturing methods of Daisy Manufacturing company, but also with the city of Plymouth.

As members of the German Productivity Incentive Systems Study Group the visitors were principally interested in the Daisy employment benefit plan. Personnel Director Tom Kent stated that the group represented management, labor, social welfare, government interests, editors of industrial trade journals and the West German government federal ministry for economics. Kent said that the group questioned both management and union officials.

"It was most interesting the way the meetings were conducted," said Kent. "Most of the visitors were unable to speak or understand English so it was necessary for everyone to wear headsets and use a public address system." "Two interpreters kept everyone informed," he added.

In America since September 15 the study group has also visited Ford Motor company, American Velvet, Swartout company, Lincoln Electric company and Bundy Tubing. Kent said that between morning and afternoon meetings the group lunched at the Hotel Mayflower.

Kirkpatrick's Collections Discussed in Magazine

The hobby of collecting old Pere Marquette railway archives has gained for R. A. Kirkpatrick of 357 Auburn recognition in the Chesapeake and Ohio's railway magazine "Tracks." The September edition of the magazine bears the article entitled "Kirkpatrick's Collections" along with a picture of Kirkpatrick himself.

The article tells that his collection includes a complete set of the issues of the old Pere Marquette magazine, annual reports of the F & PM, copies of "Appleton's Railway Guide," and a collection of 1,000 railway passes, some dated as early as 1864.

"The story of Kirkpatrick's Colossal Collections actually begins with the passes. Forty years ago, when he was a claims adjuster for the PM at Saginaw, he found 175 old passes in an out-of-the-way corner of the depot. They had been issued to William B. Seares, first chief engineer of the F&PM, the PM's predecessor company. With that whetting of the collector's appetite, a hobby was born."

The article goes on to describe some of the more unusual items in his collection. "The general claim agent's oldest pass is an F&PM, dated 1864. He's got an old C&O pass dated 1875 and signed by General Williams C. Wickham, one of the railroad's early presidents. There's a New York Central pass signed by Chauncey M. Depew, an 1875 Pullman pass, and a complete set of the passes issued from 1890 to 1900 to W. H. "Sugar Bill"

Wallace, former superintendent of the old Saginaw, Tuscola and Huron, later a part of the Pere Marquette."

The old passes are fancifully engraved and bear illustrations of all kinds. One, in fact, has the bearer's name hand embossed on it.

When asked what he intends to do with his collection, Kirkpatrick said, "Well, I suppose I'll eventually give them to the C&O's archives for preservation."

AND WHEN YOU STRAIGHTEN YOUR LEGS, you'll see the difference! Mojud's extra "spring-back" (it's right in the knit) means no bagging at the knee... no sagging... no wrinkles ever. Instead, you get the clinging fit that means longer wear, and more dazzling legs.

High School Homemaking Section To Hold Most Modern Equipment

By John Small
There will be no reason for Plymouth's girls to become poor cooks in the near future," Carvel Bentley, principal of the high school, remarked after conducting the reporter on a tour of the unique and very modern homemaking rooms and cafeteria kitchens.

Remodeling of the rooms began when bids were placed by local contractors. Although construction began in mid-June of this year, no definite date has been set for the completion of the project.

To help benefit the students' knowledge in the homemaking profession six-unit kitchens, all equipped with large roomy cupboards, electric or gas ranges, and formica topped sinks have been installed.

Dolphins Discuss Year's Activities

Tom Rutherford presided at the Dolphin club meeting last Monday afternoon, September 23. Other officers are as follows: Larry Davis, vice president; Chuck McKenna, secretary; Jim Gage, treasurer; and Don Wallace, sergeant-at-arms.

This year will be the club's first full year of activity since it was organized at the end of last year's swimming season when a few members of the team and their coach, John McFall, started the organization.

Duties of the members include taking care of all swimming events that come to Plymouth such as the A.A.U. meets, University of Michigan exhibitions, and all swimming dual meets. They also will sponsor a dance and other school activities during the school year.

The massive, glass display window equipped with modern traverse rod draperies, is one of the newest and most helpful articles placed in the remodeling project. It is to display articles that the students make and to exhibit table displays at Christmas, Thanksgiving and other special days.

An extension to the homemaking department is the cafeteria kitchen, where the school lunches

Assembly Held to Explain Organization Of Local Junior Achievement Program

The purpose of the senior high assembly Monday, September 28, was to introduce to the students a new experiment, Junior Achievement.

The plan is very simple. The idea behind Junior Achievement is that students will have the opportunity to work together in creating a product which they feel will sell and earn a profit.

Girls Athletic Group Holds First Fall Dance

The Disc Jockey Jump sponsored by the Girls Athletic association, was held October 2 at 8 p.m. in the high school gymnasium for all Plymouth High school students and their guests. This dance was the first activity undertaken by the girls this year.

Miss Louise Cigile, the girls' athletic instructor who is also the club's advisor said that the group plans to have a picnic or a hayride in the near future, although no definite date has been set. Other projects will include the playdays which will be held here or at other 6-B League schools.

Plymouth Band Schedules Shows For Remaining Rock Grid Contests

Along with 100 other high school bands from different outlying areas, Plymouth band attended University of Michigan annual Band Day Saturday, October 3, in Ann Arbor. This is the first time in three years Plymouth has attended this annual celebration although they have been invited each year, but have been unable to attend.

For the remaining four home football games Plymouth will be presenting a Band Show for the enjoyment of the spectators. These shows will be similar to the one performed at the game, September 25.

Some of the future plans of the band will be to journey to Ypsilanti to march in the annual Homecoming Parade, October 24. The group is also planning for their annual Band Show which will take place early in December with no definite date set for the occasion.

Another activity will be going to the Masonic Temple to hear the Garde Republic Band from Paris, France; a band which is the greatest of its kind in the world.

Plythean Staff Studies Plans For '54 Annual

By Jan Ponto
Plans are now underway for the 1954 Plythean with Janet Mulholland and Jeannie Walker sharing the responsibility of co-editors. Business manager will be Sally Morgan, and Janet Kowalcik, with Donna Reed as her assistant, will be editor of activities. The girls' sports editor will be Jan Ponto with Shirley Carter as assistant. Ken Kisabeth will edit the boys' sports.

The senior class committee will be headed by Sally Shuttleworth, Ann Sumner, and Doranne Wilton, all working as co-editors. Heading the junior class will be Janet Denhoff with Sandra Newingham helping. The sophomore class editor will be Dale Houghton with Ray Eaton as assistant. Lura Puckett will be the freshman class editor with Sandra Penny helping. The eighth grade class editor will be Mariana Jensen, assisted by Gayle Griffiths, and Sandra Reusch as seventh grade class editor will have Jim Cutler helping.

Mrs. Nancy Coates, the new Plythean advisor, informed the staff at a meeting Wednesday noon that the group would be in charge of concessions at the October 23rd football game along with the F.H.A. club.

A theme for the annual has not been chosen but a suggestion box will soon be put out and any ideas will be appreciated. Pictures for the annual will be taken sometime later by Powell Studio. The Plythean will be published by Myers and Company Incorporated in Topeka, Kansas, and will probably return around May 29.

Chicago Studio Takes Pictures of Classes

School pictures of grades 7-9 were taken on September 30, and grades 10 and 11 will have their pictures taken on October 8 by All-State Studios of Chicago.

When a representative of the studio returns on October 8 to finish taking pictures he will also photograph those students who were absent on September 30 and those seniors who wish to have their pictures taken.

Pictures will be distributed to homerooms according to the same plan used last year. No definite date has been set for the return of pictures. All-State Studio has taken school pictures for the last few years.

Hobo Barn Binge Held

The Willoughby farm was the scene of the Hobo Barn Binge for the Hi-Y Saturday night, October 3. It was the first party of the year for the Hi-Y club.

The Hi-Y members and guests attended the party with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Willoughby as chaperones. They square danced, ate, and drank cider out of their new Hi-Y mugs.

The club activities are varied. In the future the group plans to have two night meetings a month. The Hi-Y, affiliated with the Metropolitan YMCA organization, does school and community services and ushers for different meetings and organizations. They also campaign for the March of Dimes. In general the Hi-Y is a youth service club with Christian ideals as a goal.

EDITORS OF THE 1954 PLYTHEAN, Plymouth High school annual, are preparing to begin work on the yearly publication. The group is shown here looking over former editions to get ideas for the one which will be published this term. Left to right are Sally Morgan, Janet Mulholland, Jeannie Walker, Jan Ponto, Janice Kowalcik and Kenneth Kisabeth.

The Reverend David Rieder officiated at the lovely three o'clock wedding on Saturday, October 3.

Mrs. Preston Long, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was the matron of honor. Her gown was of lavender net over taffeta and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Preston Long served his brother as best man.

IF YOU OUAKE AND QUIVER at the thought of having a tooth extracted, imagine how the monodon monoceros feels. The monodon monoceros, better known as the narwhal, has a tooth that grows spirally out of his upper lip to a length of nine and one-quarter feet. Local dentist, Dr. Ralph Snoke, has acquired one of these mammoth teeth, perhaps as an object lesson to his patients that their toothaches are nothing in comparison with the poor narwhal's.

HOW FIRE INSURANCE HELPS YOU TO buy wisely

The Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., sponsored by the capital stock fire insurance companies as a public service, has tested more than 375,000 products to protect you from fires caused by defective materials or faulty design. The "U.L." label on any product means it has met recognized safety standards.

This is only one of the public services performed by capital stock fire insurance—a private enterprise—of which the insurance agent is an important part. OUTDOOR NOTES

From The
MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Thirty-nine hunting weapons, confiscated by conservation officers while working in the field, are being offered to any qualified highest bidder under a coming "sealed bid" sale, the conservation department notes.

Bids will all be opened at the department's central repair shop in Gaylord on October 9, with each shotgun, rifle or bow going to the top qualified bidder at that time.

A complete list of the weapons, together with notation of their condition and the appraised value, will be mailed upon request from the department's field administration division in Lansing or from the Gaylord repair shop.

The lists also tell how bids should be submitted and give details of the coming sale. Somewhere along the line there's been a slip-up, and conservation department field men are warning all hunters to take note here:

Hunting licenses are different this year than they were in 1952, and one of the major differences is that the Game Report Card is no longer attached to the license itself. Report Cards this year are separate from the license and are supposed to be secured by the hunter when he buys his hunting permit. But a number of department field reports indicate that either the hunter or the license dealer is not fulfilling his job in distribution of the cards.

It's the hunter's responsibility to see that he gets a report card when he buys his license; Report Cards are required from every hunter by the end of each season. Failure to report hunting activities constitutes a misdemeanor, punishable by fines and imprisonment.

On October 1, hunters and trappers in Michigan start their annual harvest of a game and fur crop that last year was valued at $15.8 million in meat and hides alone.

There is in addition the vast but undetermined recreational value earned by hunters and trappers in making use of Michigan's woods, waters and wildlife.

A total of nearly 10,000 tons of meat were taken from the woods by hunters enough to provide food for one year for an estimated 28,500 average-sized families.

The fur crop alone in 1952 brought almost $2 million. Enough muskrat, beaver and mink were taken to make an estimated 14,600 fur coats and other garments.

The largest single item was meat from the deer herd, estimated at $8.5 million in value. Running second and third were the pheasant and cottontail rabbit meat crops, each valued at somewhat more than $1 million.

Muskrat pelts brought more than $800,000, mink pelts about $430,000 and beaver hides about $280,000.

When compared with agricultural income, wildlife proved worth nearly as much as Michigan's entire sugar beet, rye, barley and soybean crops, valued in total at slightly more than $15.8 million last year.

PREVIEW OF MICHIGAN BELL Telephone company's new $400,000 Livonia central office building is afforded by architect's drawing. To be located on Merriman road, north of Plymouth road, the structure will house latest type dial switching equipment. Completion is scheduled for the middle of 1954.

Michigan Bell Breaks Ground On Livonia Office

Keeping step with the tremendous growth of Livonia, the Michigan Bell Telephone company this week broke ground for a new $2,500,000 dial telephone system to serve the community. First step in the huge project will be the construction of a new central office building on Merriman road to house the most modern type of dial switching equipment available.

Work on the new structure is already under way. To cost about $400,000 the building is being constructed by the Palmer-Smith company, general contractors, of Detroit.

Measuring 102 feet by 120 feet, the new office will be of masonry construction and will consist of two floors and basement, with a one-floor and basement utility wing.

The building is expected to be ready to house the intricate dial equipment next summer.

Dean A. Sipson, manager here for Michigan Bell, said the huge project climaxes the company's efforts to keep up with the demand for service in Livonia.

The Livonia exchange has mushroomed from about 600 telephones to nearly 5,000 in a little over 10 years," Sipson pointed out.

"Two additions to our present building, along with more dial switching equipment and outside plant has cost a total of $830,000 since VJ-Day.

"Completion of our new, modern, and greatly-expanded dial system will bring the total expenditures in the local community to over $3,300,000 in 10 years."

Sipson said the new dial plant, called a "Number 5 Crossbar System" by telephone engineers, would provide wider range dialing for Livonia subscribers. The system is expected to be ready to be placed in service early in 1955.

When the average Plymouth man prays to be delivered from temptation he usually keeps one eye open to see if the temptation is taking her powder puff out of her purse.

Two reports and a historical paper will highlight the meeting of the Plymouth Historical society slated for tonight, October 8, in the Veterans' Memorial building. Hostesses for the event are Mrs. Roy Clark, Mrs. Ada Murray, Mrs. Ivah Bentley and Mrs. Harold Todd.

Roderick Cassidy will speak on the State Historical society's trip to Fairlane, while Earl DeLavernie will report on the convention of that group. The paper, which will deal with early Plymouth artist Miss Lily Fairman, will be read by Roy Fisher.

The Johnsons will honor their parents with an open house on Sunday, October 11 from 2 to 8 p.m. They would enjoy meeting their many friends on that day.

"The Bridges of Toko-Ri," A. J. Cronin's "Beyond This Place" and Albert Spalding's "A Fiddle, A Sword and A Lady."

In "Beyond This Place" Dr. Cronin turns to a son and his father, to a bond of loyalty that reached across 15 years toward a man broken and forgotten behind prison walls. The son fights for his father's freedom through countless set-backs.

The rich background of 18th century Italy forms the setting for "A Fiddle, A Sword and A Lady." Albert Spalding recounts with style and pageantry the romance and adventures of young Giuseppe Tartini, violinist, composer and swordsman.

Other books on the list include "Guns In the Saddle" by Peter Field, Zane Grey's "Wyoming", "Billy the Kid" by Edwin Corle, "Lost Shepherd" by Agnes Sanford, "Case File, FBI" by the Gordons, Charlotte Murray Russell's "Market for Murder" and "Country Dance" by Katharine Morris.

More books are "Homecoming" by Adline McElfrseh, "The Candle's Glory" by Sylvia Thompson, "Cancel All Our Vows" by John D. MacDonald, Robert Lund's "The Alaskan" and Geoffrey Cotterell's "Westward the Sun."

CHURCHES OF OUR AREA Salem Congregational Church

REVEREND LUCIA STROH, pastor of the Salem Congregational church for 30 years, closes the door to her church (at left) for the last time Sunday as she prepared to begin duties at a new parish. She became pastor of the church when her brother became ill and she filled the pulpit in his absence. At right, Reverend Stroh is in the same pulpit 30 years later.

PLY-MAIL PHOTOS

Reverend Lucia Stroh Leaves Salem Church After 30 Years

Michigan's first woman Congregationalist minister, Mrs. Lucia M. Stroh, was bade farewell by her congregation at Salem last Sunday after serving there 30 years. She will become pastor of a large and active church in New Haven, Michigan north of Mt. Clemens.

Reverend Stroh preached her farewell sermon Sunday morning, while an evening social session was planned by the congregation in her honor.

Looking out over her flock Sunday morning, Reverend Stroh could well recall when the congregation numbered up to 250 members. Old families in the community have passed on or moved away during the past 30 years and the membership roll has now shrunk to 75 names.

The woman pastor has high hopes for the congregation she is leaving. Someday she predicts there will be a building of the community along Six Mile road. Salem Congregational church and parsonage, which occupies a block along Six Mile, Church and Dickinson streets, will have a valuable spot for that growth, she adds.

It was through the deaths of her husband and brother that Mrs. Stroh became pastor of the Salem church. She and her husband became ordained ministers together at the Rochester Bible Institute and following his death some time later, she came to Salem in 1922 with her infant child to reside with her brother, Reverend Phillip Wittich, who was serving as pastor of the Salem congregation.

Her brother then became ill that year and Mrs. Stroh filled the pulpit in his absence. Reverend Wittich died in September and Mrs. Stroh was asked by the congregation to remain as their pastor. She then became the first woman pastor of a Congregationalist church in Michigan. Today there are four woman pastors in the state. In the East, where Congregationalist churches are more numerous, there are many women ministers.

Besides her husband and the brother already mentioned, Reverend Stroh has many others in her family who have or are serving as Congregationalist pastors. Her eldest brother died in Africa as a pioneer missionary. Another brother, Reverend F. B. Wittich, lives in Detroit, while a sister, Mrs. L. J. Vici of Birmingham, is also an ordained minister. She also has an uncle and a number of cousins in the ministry. Her grandfather was a Lutheran pastor.

Reverend Stroh has announced that a young minister will replace her in Salem.

The Salem congregation had its birth in 1856 in a church located at Seven Mile road and Napier road. It was called the Summit congregation at that time. The present church structure was erected in 1886. Records of the church were taken one day many years ago from the buggy of a former minister, Mrs. Stroh reports.

Six young men have gone out from this church in the last 30 years to be ministers and missionaries.

The Congregational Christian church is a combination of the Congregational and Christian churches which merged in 1931 at Seattle, Washington. Congregationalism dates back to the Pilgrim Fathers. It was founded in the United States in 1620 in Plymouth, Massachusetts under the leadership of William Brewster, William Bradford and Edward Winslow. The Christian churches date back to Wesleyan and revival movements at the end of the 18th century.

Today the Congregational Christians have a membership of over 1,185,000 across the nation belonging to 5,715 churches. Headquarters for the denomination are in New York City and Boston.

The early churches were organized into the state conference at Jackson in 1842. At present the conference consists of 250 churches of which Dr. H. N. Skidmore of East Lansing is the superintendent.

Congregationalism rests upon three foundation stones—faith, fellowship and freedom. "The three responses to God as He came in the Christian revelation are Father, Son and Holy Spirit. Congregationalism is faith in God the Father, fellowship in Christ and freedom in the Spirit."

The Salem Congregational church belongs to the Jackson Association. All 29 churches in the association are in Washtenaw county.

SECRETARY OF STATE OWEN J. CLEARY DISCUSSES NEWS FROM INSIDE THE CAPITOL

Michigan's new driver license law, effective October 3, is hailed as the most forward step in the field of driver law administration that has been taken in Michigan in years. The new law which centralizes all driver licensing in the secretary of state's office followed the recommendation of the Little Hoover Committee in its studies of most state departments. It also was recommended by the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators and the first Michigan Highway Safety Seminar at East Lansing in the fall of 1950.

Under the new law a division of driver and vehicle services within the secretary of state's office will handle all driver licensing functions. Secretary of State Owen J. Cleary has named Lee C. Richardson as director of the division. Richardson has been with the department since 1932 and since 1939 has been director of the motor vehicle division which is replaced by the new expanded division. He is a past president of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators.

To implement and carry out the provision of the new law the secretary of state has requested the state civil service commission to establish 17 new positions consisting of 14 supervising examiners, a chief examiner and two assistant chief examiners to replace members of the Michigan state police who will after the effective date of the law be transferred to other duties within the police agency. In addition to the new positions approximately 50 clerks, typists and stenographers will be recruited from the civil service registers.

Richardson said he is making arrangements with the motor vehicle administrators association and the traffic institute of Northwestern University for the training school during the month of October.

The new law for licensing car drivers will probably make little difference to most motorists, but traffic experts are counting on it to make Michigan's highways safer.

Its chief purpose, they explain, is to unify the responsibility for examining applicants issuing licenses and maintaining a central file in Lansing on all drivers that get into trouble on the highways. That job is being handed to one agency—a new division of driver and vehicles services.

New License Law Effects Everyone Says Police Chief

All drivers in Plymouth were advised this week by Police Chief Carl Greenlee to take a careful look at the expiration dates on their driver's licenses. A new law, which takes effect this month, will change renewal time for virtually every Michigan driver. Basic idea of new legislation, which is expected to greatly reduce loss of life and property from traffic accidents, is to make sure all people who hold licenses are qualified drivers. It sets up strict testing for new applicants and a central file at Lansing where all moving violations and accidents will be marked on driver records. It also provides that, henceforth, licenses will expire at three year intervals on the date of the driver's birthday. Chief Greenlee said that it may take several years for all aspects of the new law to become effective but that the expiration provisions will be complied with immediately. Changing to the new system will give some people more than three years under their present licenses; will allow less for others, said the chief. The rule works like this: Your license expires on your birthday in the same year that it is already marked for expiration. Admittedly this will cause difficulty until everyone has a license under the new system. Greenlee warned that a driver whose birthday occurs after the expiration date on his license might have trouble in other states where policemen are not familiar with Michigan's situation. He urged drivers in this category to come to his office where he can mark the new expiration date in ink to conform with the birthday and sign the change. A woman seldom wants to be better than her neighbors. All she wants is to be better off, better dressed and better looking.

Rocks Meet Allen Park Here Friday

Playing under the arc lights tomorrow night on their home field, the Plymouth Rocks meet a strong Allen Park squad.

Allen Park is picked along with Trenton as one of the best teams in the 6-B league. The Parkers had 107 candidates report for their first practice. Last year Plymouth downed Allen Park 16 to 0 in a game marred by many illegal tactics and a glare of rough-tough football. Last Friday a good Belleville team lost to Allen Park 18 to 0. Thus far this year, Melvindale has beaten the Parkers 12-6, while the following week they downed Redford Union 25 to 6. This game promises to be very exciting and a key game to the Rocks' defense of the Suburban 6-B League crown. In the other 6-B League game Trenton crushed Bentley 39 to 12.

Other games in the area saw Ann Arbor keep its undefeated string going as they beat a strong Flint Northern team 20-14, while Keego Harbor downed Clarkston 14 to 0; Holly crushed Brighton 25-6, Northville kept its scoreless games going by stunning Milford 36-0 and Lowry smashed Garden City 20 to 0.

This An' That

Every day now, that is every Saturday, more and more of the big teams are having bad luck on the gridiron. The first upset and really hard luck story of the season was when Mississippi Southern upset mighty Alabama 25-19 . . . The five-in-a-row pennant parade of the New York Yankees is unprecedented in major league baseball. No other club in either league had been able to win more than four straight flags until Casey Stengel's men made the grade this year. Incidentally, Stengel is reported to have said recently that next year's team will be his greatest . . . The Yankees won their first flag under Miller Huggins in 1921. The win this year makes it their 20th . . . With the Dodgers in possession of the National League pennant, do you remember what some of the managers of this league had to say about the race in the spring? Charlie Grimm, Milwaukee Braves: "Brooklyn will never-never, I say—have another year like last year." And Leo Durocher: "This could be a big year for us."

Red Wings Open Season Tonight

The hockey season will take up where the major league baseball season left off in providing thrills for sports fans in the Metropolitan area. The Detroit Red Wings, perennial contenders for the league title, open their season tonight at Olympia against the New York Rangers. The Red Wings have been practicing for three weeks throughout Canada and have a record of four wins and two ties in five exhibition games.

Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay, two of the most feared forwards in hockey will have a rookie teaming up with them this year on the front line. Earl Reibel has been doing very well at center and is working in nicely with the two star forwards. Two other rookies will be starting their first professional season for Detroit in Al Arbour, who is a defenseman man, and Bill Dineen on right wing. Terry Sawchuk is again his old nimble self in protecting the nets, and is looking forward to another great season.

The Wings will be seeking their sixth straight National Hockey League championship this year. Last year they were beaten out of the playoffs, which were won by Montreal. This season they are co-favorites with Montreal for the title.

The game tonight will be televised at 10 o'clock.

Improved Plymouth Eleven Downs Redford Union for First Win of '53

Scoring its first victory of the season, the Plymouth Rock football squad swamped Redford Union 27 to 0 on the Panthers' home field last Friday.

The Rocks won the toss of the coin and chose to receive the kick at the western end of the field. Captain Jerry Kelly took the kick on the nine yard line and scampered 91 yards unmolested behind six key blocks to start the Rockmen rolling. Dick Davidson added the extra point to give the Rocks a 7-0 lead in the opening seconds.

Redford Union, after Plymouth kicked off, failed to get the necessary yardage for a first down and punted out of trouble. The Rocks picked up two quick first downs but the Panthers held on the next series of plays and forced Kelly to punt. On the punt the Panthers fumbled and Plymouth recovered. They picked up three first downs which carried the ball to the five yard stripe. Kelly again smashed into the end zone just as the gun sounded to end the quarter. Davidson added the extra point to give Plymouth a 14-0 lead at the end of the first stanza.

Plymouth kicked off to start the second period and forced Redford Union to punt. The Rocks rambled for a quick first down but were held on the next series of plays and the Panthers took over. Redford Union fumbled on the first play and Plymouth recovered. They garnered a first down and with three minutes and 45 seconds left before the half Lee Juve smashed into the end zone from the one yard line. Davidson's extra point attempt was blocked which left the score 20-0. Garry Gothard's kick was taken on the 10 yard line and run back to the 17. The Ketteranian coached eleven forced the Panthers to punt. The Rockmen ran three plays and picked up six yards before Kelly punted out of trouble as the half ended still leaving the score at 20 to 0.

Redford Union took the kick-off to start the second half. The Rockmen held the Panthers and took over after Redford Union punted. Plymouth picked up a first down, but on the next play the Rocks were penalized 15 yards for clipping. With first down and 25 yards to go the Rocks made 21 yards in three plays and Kelly punted to the Redford 23 yard line. The rest of the third quarter was a seesaw battle in the Panthers' zone.

A spirited Redford Union team took control of the ball at the start of the last stanza. They dominated the first part of the period picking up three quick first downs and carried the ball to the Plymouth 29. A very determined Rock squad held the Panthers at that point. On a sustained drive the Rocks carried the ball to the Panther nine yard line. They stiffened and pushed the Rocks back to the 18. With fourth down and 18 to go Denny Luker sprinted for the final touchdown with only five minutes and 20 seconds remaining in the game. Davidson added the extra point and the Rocks led 27-0.

In the remaining minutes Redford Union picked up three quick first downs but was halted on the 23 yard line where the Rocks took over and advanced on a 25 yard run by Hilton Walasky, a 14 yard dash by Ken Pelchat, and Bob Gobiell's sprint of 21 yards.

KUENN AND GILLIAM NAMED TOP ROOKIES BY THE SPORTING NEWS

Harvey Kuenn, shortstop of the Tigers, and James (Junior) Gilliam, second baseman of the Dodgers, were named the Rookies of the Year in the American and National Leagues, respectively, in the eighth annual selections by The Sporting News, national baseball weekly, following a canvass of sports writers, players and umpires.

Publisher J. G. Taylor Spink, in making the awards, established a clear-cut definition for a major league rookie as a player who has not had more than 45 days of service in the big leagues, regardless of the number of games played.

Kuenn, who was signed out of the University of Wisconsin by Detroit for a handsome bonus, spread-eagled the American League field. He rolled up 194 votes out of a possible 217, with only three other players receiving consideration. Tom Umphlett, Red Sox outfielder, was second with 17. Bill Hunter, Browns' shortstop, collected four votes and his teammate, Pitcher Don Larsen, two. Gilliam, in the senior circuit balloting for the Sporting News award, also had a decisive margin, 116 votes to 53 for his nearest competitor, Harvey Haddix, southpaw of the Cardinals. Another Redbird, Outfielder Rip Depulski, garnered 11 votes and a third, Third Baseman Ray Jablonski, had eight. The division of opinion about the Cardinals' outstanding rookie was a factor in making Gilliam's triumph so clear cut.

Others who collected votes in the National League were Billy Bruton of the Braves, 10; Jim Greengrass, Redlegs, 6; Ruben Gomez, Giants, 3; Bob Buhl, Braves, 1; Fred Baczewski, Redlegs, 1; Ted Kazanski, Phillies, 1.

In the interest of even more equitable awards in the rookie classification, The Sporting News next year will follow the same dual selection policy that is used in The Sporting News Player of the Year awards.

In 1954 two Rookies of the Year accolades will be bestowed in each league, one for a regular player and one for a pitcher.

The hurlers frequently are sidetracked in the balloting because they are not "every-day" players. Only three pitchers have won Rookie awards in the eight years of selections made by The Sporting News.

BRATKOWSKI OF GEORGIA RATED TOP QUARTERBACK

Deep Dixie, long the loud booster of America's finest football, claims the world's best quarterbacking, according to The Quarterback section of The Sporting News.

As a case in point, the South cites Zeke Bratkowski of Georgia.

Bratkowski, a senior, is shooting for the all-time national collegiate passing yardage record of 2,005 yards, set in 1948 by Nevada's Stan Heath. He hit for 196 yards against Villanova in the season's lidlifter and needed 183 yards per game for the remainder of the season to break it, points out The Quarterback. In the Bulldogs' second game against Tulane, Bratkowski was handicapped by a steady rain and tossed only occasionally as he engineered a 16 to 14 triumph.

Coach Wallace Butts predicts his man will smash the standard and adds, "He is the finest precision passer I have seen in 25 years of coaching."

Zeke is an import from the Midwest — Danville, Ill., but is strictly Georgia developed. The Hungarian-Polish-American kid played fullback at Schlarman High. He was second-string freshman quarterback in 1949 and did not play the next season because he ran counter to Butts' rebella for overhand passing, The Quarterback story recalls.

Bratkowski broke the sidearm habit in his year of bohunkery and emerged in 1951 as a 1,578-yard producer. He came back in '52 with 1,824 yards on 131 completions in 262 throws.

The 6-2, 200-pounder hit for 297 yards against Miami last year "Best I've ever seen," said Andy Gustafson, coach of the Hurricanes. "He throws a fast ball right on the target. His passes are so hard they're almost impossible to break up or intercept."

The Quarterback admits Zeke is no great shakes at stomping when trapped. But he is a superb field general, fine punter (38.3 average) and ball handler.

The best example of his off-field conduct, reports The Quarterback, is as the guy who could be campus king—but pitches in to help freshman cafeteria waiters when personnel is low.

Frosh Gridders Stop Trenton, 13-0

Plymouth's freshmen football squad crushed the Trenton frosh 13 to 0 in their first encounter of the season last Thursday on the local's home field.

The young Rocks started things rolling as Gerry Herald set up the first touchdown on a key run. Jerry King punched over from the seven yard line, but extra point attempt was stopped. The game was a seesaw battle with exchanges of punts for the rest of the first half. The halftime score was 6 to 0.

In the second half the McFall-coached frosh waited until the final stanza before Jerry King bowled over from the three-yard line. Eddie Ward scored the extra point to give a well-earned 13 to 0 victory. Plymouth dominated the game completely and gave Trenton only one first down.

The freshman team plays Redford Union at Redford Union today. Last year's seventh and eighth grade team which composes the nucleus of the present frosh squad lost to Redford Union junior high team 25 to 6.

FOOTBALL CONTEST WINNER Henry O. Schwartz receives the first check in the weekly "Pick-the-Winners" contest from Mrs. Norman Marquis, representing Marquis' Toll House, one of the sponsoring firms of the contest. Schwartz picked all eight winners correctly and came up with the score of 27 to 18 for the Detroit Lions-Baltimore game. For other winners see story on this page.

Junior High Footballers Down Trenton 13-6

Traveling to Trenton for its initial encounter of the year, the junior high football team won 13-6 Wednesday, September 30. Plymouth failed to score in the first half of the game and trailed 6 to 0. A 70-yard run in the first half by Joe Barraco was called back because of a clipping penalty. Trenton completely dominated the first half of the ball game. Early in the third stanza Barraco scored the first Rock touchdown to knot the score at 6-all. A few minutes later Dick Anderson rambled into the end zone and Wayne Jordahl added the extra point to give the youthful Rocks a 13-6 lead which held the rest of the ball game. Coach Frank Sullivan stated, "The boys have a chance to win them all if they keep up the work they have been doing and continue their high spirits."

A reformer is a fellow who itches to enforce the law, no matter how many laws you have to break to do so.

Football Judges Perplexed As 27 Choose All Winners

There's no shortage of football experts in Plymouth! That was proven in the first week's results of the "Pick-the-Winners" football contest. No less than 27 contestants turned in entries with eight correct selections. That means that the befuddled judges had to turn to the Detroit Lions-Baltimore game to see which contestants picked the closest score to the final 27 to 17 win racked up by the Lions. The winner turned out to be Henry O. Schwartz of 9114 Brookline. In addition to picking all eight winners correctly, Schwartz took 27 to 18 as his program choice. A sports fan who also pitches softball in the summer, Schwartz said it was the first football contest he had ever won. He is pictured on this page getting his $10 prize from Mrs. Norman Marquis' representing Marquis' Toll House, one of the sponsoring firms of the contest.

Jerry Steele of 44951 Territorial, a 14-year-old Plymouth high school student, won $7 for second place with an all-correct selection and a score of 31 to 17. Third place was shared by Charles Ketterer, 325 S. Harvey, and Leslie Ferenczi of 47111 Ann Arbor trail. They picked a score of 34 to 17 for the Lion-Baltimore game. Ketterer showed he had faith in himself and his team by picking the Plymouth Rocks to win. (He's the Plymouth high school football coach!) Ketterer and Ferenczi split the $3 third prize. It's time again for another contest. Whether you win or not, try again. If you didn't enter last week, get out your pencil and check your selections in the contest on this page. The judges have vowed that there won't be 27 correct entries again! "We'll make it tougher," they mumbled as they checked and rechecked last week's huge stack of entries.

Bird Wins Thriller, 6-0 In Grade Grid Game

With Bird school downing Our Lady of Good Counsel 6-0 on a last second touchdown the local grade school touch football league got underway for the third season last Thursday. Deadlocked in a scoreless tie going into the last six seconds of the game the Catholic team was forced to punt. The punt was picked up on the 35 yard line by the Bird school and run back for a touchdown behind professional-like blocks. Call 1600 for classified ads.

Each week the high school team is getting better and better. Coach Ketterer has brought this "green" team along nicely after that dismal showing against Northville in the season's opener. They have improved tremendously the past couple weeks, and the game against Allen Park tomorrow night should be something to see. The latter team is a good one this year and they are co-favored with Trenton to battle it out for the league crown. If our lads keep charging, tackling, improving and continue to show the spirit they have shown in the last two outings they will give Allen Park a hard battle.

The high school band is again doing a splendid job this year. Under the direction of Lawrence Livingston they have performed in great style in their first two appearances on the football field. The band seems to get better each year, even though Plymouth has always been noted for good bands.

The cheerleaders also play an important part at each football game and add color to the contest. These girls go all out trying to coax yells from the fans attending the games. They are under the direction of Mrs. Louise Cigile, a new teacher this year in the physical education department.

Both the band and the cheerleaders deserve a big hand for the job they are doing.

Our family attended the football game at Ann Arbor last weekend and saw Michigan whip Tulane. We got a little damp when the skies opened up in the last quarter, but thoroughly enjoyed the contest. Our two youngsters were thrilled by the 105 high school bands present, and it was really something to watch those some 6,000 young musicians go through their show. Michigan didn't look too powerful that afternoon with the exception of a couple long broken-field runs. They have a fair team, but probably not of championship caliber, however, they are on the way up again and I look for them to be more powerful the next few years.

At last a booklet has been published on how to watch a football game. The booklet entitled "How to Watch Football" is being distributed by the Oldsmobile company. It tells all the important things one should look for at a game, and is very thorough in detail. If anyone wishes to secure one of these worthwhile books, he may do so by calling at the Beglinger Oldsmobile agency in Plymouth.

Did you ever stop to think of the sacrifices people have to make to attain anything worthwhile? Athletes have to sacrifice many things they might want to do to play and practice sports. Many a boy or girl work their way through college, and have to forego many things they would like to do in order to graduate. Parents also sacrifice many things in the rearing and educating of their children. Thousands of young men have sacrificed years of peaceful living, and many have given their lives, that we might keep our freedom.

I greatly admire a person who has made some sacrifice to help either himself or others—if done unselfishly and with humility it is a satisfying experience and will make him a better person.

The high school athletic department took some motion pictures of the first few games of football. I saw one of these and can't help but think that they played an important part in helping the boys perfect their style of play the last couple of games. The movie shows up clearly the mistakes that were made, and when the boys see for themselves how they did something wrong they can go about correcting it in practice.

Some people have remarked that they must be going "big time," but I don't think so as many schools do this, and I think if we are going to have inter-scholastic sports as set up throughout the educational systems of this land one might as well go all out in trying to give the fans the best possible teams. I'll always believe that a coach's value to a school and a community isn't measured in wins or losses, but in the inspiration and character building traits he instills in the boys. Plymouth is fortunate in having a coaching staff that does just that for its youth.

I can't understand why a school this size has only 32 boys out for football. Recently I saw where three small schools with less than 300 in the upper four grades had over 50 lads out for football, and Plymouth has over 900 in those same grades. I don't think it is because our boys are more timid, but that this is an industrial area and the opportunity for work is much greater here than in a rural area. However, some of those farmer boys practice two hours a day on sports and then go home and do chores until after dark, and also get up and do them in the morning before daylight—and get no money for it! I know as I was one of the latter. Sometimes I think people measure everything in the value of dollars and cents, and as a result the material things become the important things in life to these people—there are a lot of other values of much more importance.

If you attend the game tomorrow night eat lots of hot dogs, drink lots of cider and coffee—the profits go to the senior class to defray expenses connected with graduation this year. Oh, yes, we will have peanuts also.

Magazine Acclaims Allen School As Final Stage in New Trend

Plymouth's half-million dollar Allen Elementary school has been heralded in the magazine, "The Nation's Schools," as the final step in a new trend to eliminate the use of corridors in schools.

Two pages of text and sketches are devoted to the Allen school in the article written by Eberle M. Smith of Eberle M. Smith Associates, Inc., Detroit architects.

The first part of his article tells how Andrew Jackson school in Ferndale made partial use of the corridors for classrooms. The wall between the classrooms and halls had not been completed when school began. Teachers and students began to like the added classroom space, and after the walls were finally built, a movement began to eliminate most of the wall when a new wing was added.

The Plymouth school and one being built in Livonia eliminated corridors altogether. When a person enters one of the three wings at the Allen school, they will note that there are four classrooms in each wing. Between each of two classrooms there is a "utility core" which consists of toilets and storage rooms.

At the south side of each room are the doors leading to neighboring rooms. A corridor can be arranged by the teachers by placing a row of storage cabinets for children's coats several feet away from the wall.

The article points out that this type of classroom not only provides more space for less money, but that it offers at least two important gains. "One, the close proximity of each other fosters a greater integration of the community of children which makes up an elementary school, especially within the building wing. Two, the child moving from one part of the building to another is under the constant supervision of not only teachers but of his schoolmates as well. This comes, the closest to the social pressures existing upon an adult as he lives his life in the community where he is known, recognized and wants to be respected."

Fashion Show Plans Go Into Final Stages

Plans for the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary-sponsored Fashion show, which is scheduled to start at 8 p.m., October 21 in the Central High school gymnasium, are completed, and all is in readiness for the event.

The local merchants have selected their models and the type of apparel to be worn in the show. Local girls will do the modeling.

The program that has been planned will be a pleasant surprise to all who attend. Secrecy shrouds part of the entertainment, but it will prove to be highly entertaining, chairman Marion Dickie said.

Dick King, organist from Grinnell's in Ypsilanti who plays Fridays and Saturdays at Blunks', will play during the show's entirety. King is a veteran entertainer, as he has played in many clubs throughout this section of the county. He is a University of Michigan graduate.

Pat Tobin, television star of the Pat and Johnny show, will do the commentary work. She has charmed the TV lanes the past few years.

A young dancer, Rickey Speer, who at 17 has already appeared on nation-wide television shows, will also provide some of the evening's entertainment.

Clothes which will be modeled for the annual show, will all be products sold in Plymouth stores. Tickets are being sold in advance by members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary and many local merchants.

There will be no doubt that, for the two hours, the show will be entertaining and refreshing, Mrs. Dickie said. A buffet luncheon will be served, as an added attraction.

Sweet Chunk Pickles

For Mrs. Norman Atchinson of 397 North Harvey street canning of fruits and vegetables is a favorite fall project. Each year she preserves from 150 to 200 jars. She pointed out that such canning is not only saving on the budget, but gives a feeling of accomplishment to the homemaker.

Mrs. Atchinson has two children, Kurt, age 12, and Jill, who is eight years old. Besides her busy life at home she is active in the Plymouth Girl Scouting program.

Of the many preserves put up each year, one of the favorites of the Atchinson family is sweet chunk pickles. Mrs. Atchinson says that the recipe is simple, though it involves quite a bit of time. Anyone experienced at canning, she added, will find it relatively easy to prepare.

- 1 peck 4 inch cucumbers
- 8 cups salt
- 4 tablespoons powdered alum
- 1 bottle horseradish

Wash the cucumbers and place in a heavy brine (8 cups salt and water to cover). Let stand for one week. Drain and cover with boiling water and leave overnight. In the morning cut cucumbers into large pieces, add the alum and horseradish, and cover with boiling water. Let it stand overnight. The next morning drain and cover with boiling syrup made from the following:

Mrs. Norman Atchinson tightens the cover on her sweet chunk pickles.

2 quarts vinegar
12 pounds sugar
1/2 box celery seed
1/2 box stick cinnamon

Put the heated syrup on the cucumbers for four mornings, reheating it each morning. On the final morning can the cucumbers. The yield will be 18 pints.

Fall Is Ideal For Outdoor Suppers

Thick charcoal-broiled steak and a great pot of fragrant coffee—these you have the two indispensables for the best of all outdoor meals. A slice of succulent steak, basted with garlic butter and done to a turn over glowing coals, is something to dream about. And true picnic-style coffee, properly steeped, can be as good as any you ever tasted.

Before the warm weather finally passes, then, why not take advantage of these long summer-into fall evenings and plan an outdoor steak supper?

For easy eating, prepare steak sandwiches in the following manner. Select a steak one and a half inches thick. Brush it on both sides with garlic butter and grill over hot coals, turning several times and brushing with garlic butter each time. (To make garlic butter, you mash a clove of garlic, add it to a quarter of a pound of melted butter and heat gently for ten minutes.) When the steak reaches the desired degree of "doneness," cut into half-inch strips, place each strip in a hot frankfurter roll, and serve.

On the side, have an accessory tray set with relishes, mustard and so on; a platter of sliced tomatoes, onions and cucumbers, and a bowl of scallions, radishes and carrot sticks. The best dessert to follow such a feast is an assortment of fresh fruit, thoroughly chilled.

The whole meal should be accompanied, from start to finish, with oodles of perfectly made steeped coffee, served from an outside pot. Here's the way to be sure of producing a superb brew.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef arm or round bone pot-roast.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It comes from the beef chuck. This cut has a round bone and cross sections of 3 to 5 ribs.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By braising. Dredge the meat with seasoned flour if desired. Then brown on both sides in a small amount of lard or drippings. When well browned, add from 1/2 to 3/4 cup of liquid, cover and cook slowly until tender. This pot-roast requires 3 to 4 hours cooking.

Steeped Coffee

Boil as much fresh water as you will need in a big, clean pot, using as a guide the fact that a quart and a half of water will make about eight servings. (Three-quarters of a measuring cup of water is required for each serving.) Then move the pot to one side so that the water remains very hot but is not quite boiling. Add one standard coffee measure, or two level measuring tablespoons, of coffee for each serving. Stir vigorously for half a minute, then let the brew stand for ten minutes to steep and settle. Don't let it boil! A few drops of cold water will settle the grounds. Serve immediately.

Vicara Blends Give Sweater Cashmere Feel

Vicara, "the fiber that improves the blend," is a boon to coeds with modest budgets but cashmere tastes in sweaters.

This fiber, made from the protein of corn, is never used alone because it lacks strength. It is most useful in blends—gives wool a soft, cashmere-like feel, lends softness and elasticity to cotton and rayon blends, makes nylon more absorbent.

And, if sweaters contain enough Vicara, they won't have the tendency to cling to the body, since Vicara is almost free from static.

If you are allergic to wool, Vicara-blend sweaters offer special benefits to you. Mixed with other man-made fibers, Vicara gives the appearance of wool without irritating sensitive skins.

Besides its economy, Vicara's moth-resistant and mildew-resistant properties are factors contributing to its popularity in blends.

Methods of care for Vicara-blend fabrics should be guided by the other fibers in the blend. When it blended with nylon, launder as you would nylon. Use all-wool laundry procedures for wool-Vicara blends.

Here is an interesting way to cook beef liver: Dip slices of young beef liver in flour which has been seasoned with dry mustard and chili powder. Fry in shortening or bacon drippings until browned, four to five minutes per side.

With fall just around the corner, it is interesting to learn that pleats and more pleats are in the fashion picture. Not only are skirts pleated from waist to hem, but bodices and even sleeves are following the trend.

Calico was first made at Calicut, India, where it was hand-printed with wooden blocks.

Steak Finger Sandwiches And Coffee

Simple, Luxurious, Outdoor Supper

JUICY slices of garlic-flavored buttered steak, served casual-style between hot frankfurter rolls, make an outdoor supper that's easily prepared, but hard to beat for sheer luxury. The perfect accompaniment is steeped coffee, made right over the grill in true outdoor fashion.

Fall Bedspread Trend Favors Luxury Look With Durability

The new fall trend in bedspreads stresses the luxury look as well as durability and easy up-keep. This is in line with the decorator emphasis on making the bed the focal point of bedroom decoration. Elegance is the vogue, from master bedroom to child's room. Decorator perfection and tailoring, also important, are seen in the use of jumbo welting where top and flounce join, and in the application of band, cuff or cording, as a smart trim for the flounce.

Excellent examples of the present trend are found in the new fall collection of finely tailored chromspun spreads. Available in decorator styles, there are spreads suitable for every type room from modern to period. The color fast spreads have a lustrous taffeta weave, come in a wide choice of jewel-like colors, and are moderately priced.

Several interesting spreads, with tops quilted in the single diamond pattern, are offered in a lighter or "universal" weight of chromspun. One attractive tailored spread in this group has a plain shirred flounce dropping from the quilted top. Another charming bedspread has applied floral motif of fine proportions, centered on the quilting between pillow and foot of the bed, and on the portion covering the pillow.

There is also a quilted coverlet with graceful, scalloped border and a plain dust ruffle trimmed with the fashionable cording. All these spreads come in solid but soft tones of blue raspberry, green, yellow, tearose, and creamy white.

There are also spreads that have the double diamond or channel patterns in the quilting. Some are entirely in solid color, while others combine solid color tops with striped flounces or dust ruffles. Solid color spreads can be had in a choice of nine tones: beige, raspberry, chartreuse, rose, dark green, light green, yellow, sky-blue and tearose. When flounce or dust ruffle is striped, the tops come in a choice of six plain colors: gold, rose, beige, green, raspberry, and blue. The stripes of the coordinated flounce or dust ruffle combine gold with olive, rose with cocoa, beige with brown, dark and light green, dark and light raspberry, and dark and light blue.

Very unusual is the one-piece tailored and quilted spread with a ruffle of seederchrom introducing texture contrast in its uneven somewhat nubby surface, and creating color variation in irregular seeds, or flecks, of darker tone. The quilted top has a boxed, one inch drop at sides and foot and an attached flounce of the same depth, creating a very different style.

Spots on rugs should be removed immediately. A safe, non-flammable cleaner can be used to remove grease. Give spots due to ink and other liquids immediate attention. Spread blotting paper torn in bits—or powder, cornstarch or talcum powder—over the stain while still wet to absorb it. Never try to rub a spilled liquid from a rug or carpet; rubbing tends to drive it into the fabric.

In place of beef rolls prepare liver rolls. Have liver sliced at your market about 1/4 inch thick. Cut into pieces 3 by 3 inches. Shape sausage into small rolls and wrap each with liver slice. Fasten with round wooden picks, place them in a baking dish, cover and bake for 45 minutes in a moderate oven. During the last 15 minutes uncover the meat to allow it to brown.

After laundering and starching cottons, smooth and shake them before hanging to dry. This prevents a concentration of starch in seams, collars, and cuffs.

Saddle Soap is Best Leather Chair Cleaner

Steer clear of furniture polish when caring for leather upholstery—or for imitation leather or plastic!

Follow these rules for proper care of leather upholstery:

Dust regularly with an untreated dust cloth. Never apply furniture polish to leather. A slightly dampened cloth may be used about every fourth time to remove soil.

When leather becomes soiled, clean with saddle soap. Select a soap that conditions as well as cleans the leather. Apply a heavy lather with a slightly moist sponge or cloth. Allow to dry thoroughly. Then wipe and polish with a soft dry cloth. Cream furniture waxes are also good on leather and plastic upholstery.

Regular care for imitation leather or plastic is the same as for leather.

When the surface of imitation or plastic becomes soiled, clean with a cloth wrung out of warm suds made by using a mild soap or synthetic detergent. Rinse with a cloth wrung out of clear warm water. Wipe with a dry cloth.

To prepare the "slightly dampened" cloth used in so many cleaning chores, dip one-third of a soft cloth in water; wring slightly. Fold the cloth in thirds, so that the dampened portion is between the dry portions. Wring the folded cloth until the moisture is evenly distributed throughout.

Women have a stake in losses being highlighted during Fire Prevention Week, October 4-10. The National Fire Protection association and the U. S. Department of Agriculture estimate farm fire losses for 1952 at $133 million.

Pep up your "better breakfasts" program this fall with an apple sauce treat. Combine 2 1/2 cups apple sauce with 1/4 cup brown sugar, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon and 1/3 cup seedless raisins. Serve hot.

Add Interest to Your Meats With Variety Meals on Menu

You are missing a wonderful opportunity for adding interest to your meals if you overlook tongue, heart, liver and the other variety meats. The same as porterhouse steak, lamb chops or other meat cuts, they are a leading source of body-building protein and vital minerals.

Treat these meats the same as other meat cuts you prepare so often. For instance, serve smoked tongue with a raisin sauce, a sweet sour or an orange sauce, the same as ham. To prepare tongue simmer it in water to cover, allowing one hour to the pound. Slice and reheat in the fruit sauce.

The same as veal or lamb fricassee, serve heart fricassee. When buying heart consider that a beef heart will make 10-12 servings, lamb heart individual servings, pork one or two servings and veal 2 servings. Prepare heart for fricassee by slicing across the grain, then dredging the slices with flour, seasoned with 2 teaspoons salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Brown them in lard or drippings. Add 1/2 cup of sliced onions and brown, then add 1 cup canned tomatoes. Cover and simmer for 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 hours.

Helpful Hints Concerning Building, Remodeling, Repairing & Redecorating

PLY-MAIL PHOTOS

THE BIRCH ESTATES SUBDIVISION opened last week with the completion of construction on the first house there. The house, completed by the Lundblad company, is located on the corner of Ross and Simpson streets. Finished throughout with birch woodwork, the house features Anderson windows, marble fireplace, three bedrooms, sliding doors on the closets and oil heat—in short, all-around comfortable living. The new home is currently open to the public until 9 each evening. See story on page 1.

Sue Takes You On A Window Shopping Tour

(Editor's note: With this issue a new series is initiated on the building page to point out what's new in building and home products being offered by local businesses. Sue Stratton will keep readers up to date on the many new home ideas that can be found right here in Plymouth.)

It's amazing how many things you can see while wandering around town window-shopping—particularly if you have something in mind, like your home. It's a good idea to always keep a wary eye out for any new product that will make things easier or prettier.

Well anyway, I happened to walk by Eger-Jacksons and an unusual window display caught my eye. Swatches of material which were half red and half blue. When you can't figure something like that out, the best idea is to go in and ask, so I did. Turned out to be samples of that Fab-Spray you hear so much about these days. Seems to be pretty wonderful for an economy-minded homeowner—just spray it on and have furniture that looks new again.

They had a furniture cleaner there too that I hadn't heard so much about. Called it Fab-Clean, and you just dissolve a package of the powder in water and apply with a bristle brush. Sounds like just what I've always been looking for, because it isn't sudsy and messy.

By the way, have you happened to notice the lamps by Lightolier at Blunk's. What particularly caught my eye was a black modernistic floor lamp that had three separate lights and black shades. You can direct them anywhere you want, which can solve a lot of problems for a reading family. They had one directed toward an oil painting, providing a perfect accent for it. It would be swell for television viewing too.

Stopped in at Pease Paint and Wallpaper the other day. Now there's a fellow who really knows his decorating, and the story behind it too. When I got curious over some wallpaper that looked hand-woven, Jerry Pease explained that it was Japanese grass cloth. It's made over there out of honeysuckle vines. The Japanese peel them with their long pointed fingernails, tie them, and then weave them on old-fashioned looms. They're dyed domestically and paper backing is put on. The finished paper has a rough, handmade appearance, and the colors are muted and very lovely. But it could do wonders for a vestibule or hallway.

Furniture Refinishing Made Easy With Proper Method & Materials

Furniture refinishing is an interesting hobby. Many housewives refinish furniture from time to time in line with redecorations.

To do an adequate refinishing job the one who plans to "do over" a piece of furniture must know exactly how to go about it.

The broad subject of refinishing furniture cannot possibly be explained in one article. Some people want a stained varnish finish, others a lacquered or blonde finish; still others want to enamel or antique their furniture.

In many cases it is necessary to remove the old finish before proceeding with the refinishing operation; however, if the present surface is in good condition, certain jobs need merely to be sanded smooth and recoated with the type of material selected.

As a start, let us discuss the problem of refinishing stained and varnished furniture. The first step in refinishing is to remove the old finish with a paste varnish remover which will not run off of upright surfaces. Apply the remover to a small section at a time; let it set until the varnish softens and then scrape with a wide blade scraper. After you have removed all the material, you can apply another coat of remover and scour with No. 2/0 steelwool. It is then necessary to remove any waxy substance deposited by the remover, by washing the surface with a cloth saturated with alcohol or benzine.

In the event the removed surface requires bleaching, a solution of 1/4 pound of oxalic acid to one quart of boiling water should be applied to the surface. Bleaching action is completed when a sugar-like film appears on the surface. When dry, this bleach must be neutralized with a 50% vinegar and water wash. When the furniture is thoroughly dry, the surface must be properly prepared so that the refinishing job may begin.

The surface must now receive its preliminary sanding with No. 2/0 sandpaper. If there are open cracks, they may be filled with a paste or water-mixed crack filler. Small dents and scratches may be filled with stick shellac, colored to match wood, and then sanded smooth. If you wish to darken the color of the wood, one of two types of stains may be applied. . . spirit stain or oil stain, the latter being the easiest to work with. You need only to brush it on and then wipe off the freshly stained surface with a soft cloth.

On open grained wood such as oak, walnut, ash and mahogany, fill the wood grain with a paste or liquid filler. Brush filler into pores in the direction of the grain and after it has set about 20 minutes, wipe off surplus against the grain with burlap or coarse cloth and allow to dry overnight. The furniture must again be carefully sanded with the grain and thoroughly dusted.

The next step is to apply a first coat of shellac, thinned one-third with alcohol . . . and when dry, sandpaper lightly. If a gloss finish is desired, two coats of high grade gloss varnish should be applied, sanding lightly between coats. In order to eliminate any possible dust specks, it is desirable to wipe furniture with a tack rag after sanding and just before applying the varnish. The finish coat of varnish should be flowed in the direction of the grain of the wood. If a satin finish is desired, it can be obtained in any of three ways. After a coat of gloss varnish has been applied, a flat or satin finish varnish may be used for the final coat. In the event that a more durable varnish is desired, a high grade rubbing varnish may be applied for the finish coat and after about 48 hours, can be rubbed with rubbing compound or a mixture of pumice stone and paraffin oil. The third method of producing a satin finish on furniture is to apply a paste furniture wax and polish to a rich lustre.

While there are many short cuts and other methods of refinishing furniture, the manner described in this article has been used in the trade for many years and can safely be recommended to any one who wants advice on furniture refinishing. In subsequent issues, other furniture refinishing problems will be discussed.

THE DURAND working drawings call for frame construction throughout, full basement, wide siding, brick fireplace, asphalt shingles, concrete steps, and wrought iron railings. By placing a dormer in the rear, two bedrooms can be finished on the second floor, in addition to those shown on the first floor. The kitchen, with cross light and ventilation, is located in the front, convenient to the entrance and opening into the bedroom hall. There is ample space for dining in the kitchen. The sink is under the windows, refrigerator on the inside wall and stove at the end of the kitchen counter. Closet space is provided by the wardrobe type closets in the bedrooms, coat closets for the entrances and the linen closet in the bedroom hall. Dimensions are 34 feet by 24 feet. Area equals 881 square feet, cubage 19,727 cubic feet. For further information about THE DURAND, write the Building Editor, The Plymouth Mail.

Simple Plywood Box Makes Attractive Planter For Home

Dodge Sun
If you're painting the outside of a house, don't begin painting in the morning until the dew has dried from the surface. Then follow the shade, if possible. It's easier on you—and on the paint.

Plants brighten any home—but often routine care of a plant creates an unattractive mess. The built-in plywood box below, from Home Modernizing magazine, ends that problem.

Construction details are shown in the drawing at the left. Dimensions are determined by the size of the plant tub and the receptacle (a garbage can is ideal) in which it sits. The plant tub should be raised above the bottom of the garbage can—here done with bricks.

Home Improvement
Bigger dollar volume of home improvement loans insured by FHA last year was for additions and alterations. But the greatest number of loans were for insulation work.

"Pickling" Pine
A pickled pine finish can be obtained by using a coat of gray stain and rubbing the surface, when it is dry, with a soft rag dipped in a little white paint. A varnish or shellac coat may then be used to protect the finish.

For Masonry
For brick, stucco or other masonry, you have a choice of paints. Either cementbase water paints or house paints of the oil type will do an excellent job. Before applying the cement-base paint, dampen the surface thoroughly. This insures the proper binding of the paint to the surface. Before applying an oil paint, make sure that the surface is thoroughly dry.

Wood Floors Eventually Need Work; Here Are Tips on Reconditioning
Occasionally—depending on the finish, amount of maintenance and traffic—wood floors need reconditioning.
The photographs below give pointers from Home Modernizing magazine on how to proceed.

Sink protruding nail heads with hammer and nail set, then fill holes; eliminate squeaks by nailing to joist nearest the squeaks.

Next, sand the floor with a drum-type sander; make first strokes at an angle to the boards, the second strokes at right angles to first.

A disk-type sander like this one is used for small areas that the drum-type sander can't reach, such as around walls, stairways.

Finish by rubbing with steel wool, sweeping and then applying two coats of the finish—floor seal, varnish or shellac.

The Plymouth Mail Presents

A series of and about residents of Plymouth at home, at work or at play
This Week—MARY SACKETT

PLY-MAIL PHOTOS

"I'll be 45 years since I came to Plymouth," said Mrs. Mary Sackett of the Plymouth Taxi service at 796 Penniman street. "When I first came here, there was a lot of water and many lakes, and there were very few stores." Such were the comments that came from her as she went on to give a picture of the early city.

Mrs. Sackett was born in the small city of Canton, Michigan. In 1909, she made her first step into Plymouth. This step proved to be a very important one for since then, she has been a resident of the city. She resides at 219 Elizabeth street and has four grown-up children.

Her day's work is taken up by sitting at the desk in the office of the Plymouth Taxi service. But that isn't all. She is a radio dispatcher. Answering calls, recording them in a book and delivering the messages to the taxi drivers over the dispatcher are some of her tasks. For the past seven years, in these pleasant surroundings, she has served the public of her community.

"In a small city, you know all the people more intimately because they're all your neighbors," she stated.

She gave this as her reason for being completely satisfied with Plymouth as her home town.

There wasn't any such thing as "snap judgment" back in the days when a Plymouth man would get out his knife and whittle awhile before venturing an opinion on any subject.

A Buffalo man tried to commit suicide by jumping in front of an automobile. He might have had better success if he had stood still.

Accident Mark Set in August

Although the death toll was slightly less than in the same month a year ago, more persons were injured in traffic accidents in Michigan during August than in any previous month on record. The State Police monthly statistical report shows 5,523 persons injured in 14,920 accidents. This was an increase of 20 per cent over 4,625 injured in August a year ago and a gain of 13 per cent over 13,196 accidents. Deaths totalled 180, or four less than in the same month of 1952 but 30 higher than the average for August during the post war years of 1946 to 1952. The record for the first eight months of this year includes 1,168 persons killed, 36,806 injured and 116,783 accidents. Deaths increased 10 per cent, injured 20 per cent and accidents 13 per cent over the same period last year. Estimated mileage for the first seven months of this year, the latest information available, is 15.1 billion, a gain of 10 per cent over 13.7 billion for the same period in 1952. The death rate of 6.6 per 100 million miles of travel was up three per cent over 6.4.

Cigarette Causes Fire in Chair

To illustrate the danger of lighted cigarettes in the home, Plymouth firemen during this Fire Prevention Week have only to point to last Thursday when the living room chair in a Plymouth home was destroyed when it was set ablaze by a cigarette.

The fire took place in the home of William Upton, 798 South Harvey street. A cigarette had been placed on the edge of an ashtray and left there. A few minutes later it fell into the chair. Burning stuffing in the chair caused much smoke in the house.

The chair was carried to the front lawn and was extinguished by water from the firetruck.

Cadillac

Special Favorite of the Ladies!

When a Cadillac comes into the service of a family that has never owned one before, it is—quite naturally—a source of great pride and happiness to the entire family group.

But we have noticed, through the years, that the car is a very special favorite with the ladies. For, most assuredly, a Cadillac does some very wonderful and extraordinary things for a lady.

First of all, she looks her loveliest when she is seated behind its wheel. Every time she takes to the highway, she finds herself the focal point in a perfectly gorgeous picture.

And she feels just as wonderful as she looks.

The car's deep, luxurious cushions cradle her in magnificent comfort throughout the longest journey. The great responsiveness of the quiet, powerful engine gives her a marvelous sense of command. The car steers and brakes and drives with such miraculous ease that she actually rests and relaxes as she rides.

Of course, there are a great many other satisfactions which a lady finds in a new Cadillac car.

There is, for instance, her delight at seeing her family surrounded with every comfort and safeguard known to the science of motor car design. And there is the deep and rewarding sense of fulfillment which comes with ownership of such a prized and sought-after possession. Even parked in her driveway, the car is a tribute to her good taste and judgment . . . and a wonderful complement to the beauty and graciousness of her home.

To any gentleman reading this advertisement—we would like to make a suggestion:

Some day, soon—when the sky is bright and the time is right—ask your lady if she wouldn't like to take a ride in a 1953 Cadillac.

We think we know what the answer will be—and we'll be happy to see you, indeed.

ARBOR-LILL SUCCESS RELATED IN MAGAZINE ARTICLE

Another of Plymouth's restaurants has been honored with nationwide recognition—this time the Arbor-Lill on Ann Arbor road. The "American Restaurant Magazine" this month carried an article by Arbor-Lill owner Norbert E. Lofy describing the growth and operation of the restaurant-bowling alley-cocktail lounge combination. Interior and exterior shots of the establishment accompany the article.

For interested Plymouth readers The Mail reprints the text of the article here.

"What spells success for a new restaurant?"

The operation of three separate and distinct units—an excellent dining room, a smart cocktail lounge, and an eight-lane bowling alley—each of which feeds into the other—plus careful attention to sound-proofing have played an important part in the successful establishment of the Arbor-Lill, opened about a year and a half ago near Plymouth, Michigan.

With the year's business, the three-way combination has been very popular, with the dining room as the main drawing card and moneymaker.

The Arbor-Lill is located at the intersection of Ann Arbor and Lilley Roads (hence the name) about 20 miles from Detroit. A little over a year ago the 60 by 190 foot building was a factory, processing pie-apples for bakeries. The structure was leased and remodeled.

The restaurant is very quiet despite the bowling alley. Because it was felt that noise can cost an operator an enormous loss of business, the first thing done after laying out the new floor plan was to sound-deaden every partition in the building. For this vermiculite fill, six inches thick, was used. The east wall of concrete block was furred out, and eight inches of the material was poured in there. Vermiculite was also poured between the joists over the entire ceiling area, not only to prevent sound - transmission along the beams, but to eliminate the need for summer air-conditioning equipment. Ceilings inside the rooms were acoustically treated.

The effectiveness of these measures has been remarkable.

We're continually amazed at the quietness. Our dining rooms are usually filled to capacity, but they are never noisy. We can serve a Salvation Army group, have a stag party going on in the next room, and show television in the cocktail lounge without the slightest conflict. The other night we counted 92 bowlers, all laughing and yelling, especially when a pot was at stake. You couldn't hear them in the other rooms. These partitions really stop the noise from coming through.

I'd say that soundproofing for a restaurant is more important than the food, because it brings trade in. It isn't only that people want to talk to each other while they enjoy a good meal. Restaurants are becoming more and more popular for business conferences, and it's surprising how many deals are closed over the coffee or a bottle of beer in a quiet dining room.

The main dining room of the Arbor-Lill seats 80; the private dining room 75; the cocktail lounge 65. The restaurant operates seven days a week, serving lunch and dinner. It is open from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 a.m. weekdays, and from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. on Sundays.

The decor is of a sophisticated cottage type with colorful sliding window drapes, light fixtures in the form of old-fashioned oil lamps, and asphalt tile floors. Yellow and brown table linen matches the natural wood of the furnishings, and the chairs were built for comfort. A planting box forms a screen for the main entrance door which opens into a pretty little glass-enclosed foyer.

Prices range from 65c to $1.60 for lunch, and from $1.85 to $3.65 for dinner. The standing feature on Sunday is prime ribs of beef on which there is a large volume of business. Wednesday night the specialty is fried chicken, family style; and Thursday is corned beef and cabbage night, prepared from a special recipe. Up until Christmas, only fresh vegetables are served. After that, frozen products are substituted until the next seasonable crop is on the market.

Portions are large all the way through. Steaks average a pound or better; corned beef, eight ounces; cutlets, six to eight ounces. A slice of prime ribs, always served with the bone, weighs a pound. Patrons may have all the fried chicken they can eat. Butter and coffee are served in unlimited quantities; cream, in a large pitcher on each table. Drinks contain 1½ ounces of liquor.

The Arbor-Lill does a big party business, afternoons as well as evenings, for the free parking lot with its capacity of 1,500 cars, watched over by an attendant, attracts many women patrons for group luncheons and teas. The private dining room is usually booked six months ahead.

Because of the large turnover here is no waste, and left-overs are no problem.

We sell everything. We never have anything left for hash, croquettes, or meat loaf. Our patties are one of our best sellers because the public knows they're made with freshly ground meat. Harvey told me when I was with him in Kansas City. "Son," he said, "Never be ashamed to tell a patron that you're out of an item. Feel bad if you have a lot of it, because you won't know what to do with it the next day!"

THE PANELLED WARM atmosphere of the popular Arbor-Lill dining room has attracted countless customers since its opening less than two years ago. Its fast and successful growth gained national prominence recently in a magazine article reprinted on this page.

Special sources of supply are maintained for beef, pork, veal and lamb are purchased locally. A half-carload of beef is constantly being aged in a warehouse where space is rented. Chickens are brought in freshly dressed by a supplier who raises them on wire. Butter is purchased pre-cut, 72 pieces to the pound.

Food costs run around 46% of sale price; payroll, 28% for two cooks, two dishwashers, and six waitresses. This crew has been with the restaurant for the past seven years.

We gave a great deal of thought to laying out the kitchen and the dining rooms to make the work easier. As a rule, kitchens involve so much walking that the girl is all tired out before she gets a complete order. Here, everything is in reaching distance. She gets her meat and potato order from the steam table; helps herself to the soup, vegetables and baked goods. The pantry gives her salads, relishes.

The wording of your menu is part of the battle in this food business. We start selling the customer the minute he picks up the menu. I never say, "Roast Beef." I say, "Roast Top Sirloin of Beef with Natural Gravy." Not just "Clam Chowder," but "Seashore Clam Chowder Rockaway," or "Coney Island." If it sounds good, the customer will order it.

I estimate closely because I've never forgotten something Fred etc. The cream is always on the table. The dishwasher is just inside the kitchen door, and the four dining room stations are conveniently located. With this set-up, one waitress can take care of a lot of people. This is the only kitchen I've ever worked in where we have daylight all day long. There isn't a light burning in it during the day.

The gas range is a Garland, and all kitchen equipment is stainless steel. Garbage disposal is pickup, because septic tanks must be used in this outlying area. Like the other rooms, the kitchen is thoroughly sound-proofed with vermiculite, because we feel there's nothing more nerve-racking than the noise of slamming dishes.

A private office is strategically located in the rear of the cash register, just inside the main entrance. The kitchen is on the other side of the south partition, and a sliding door in it enables a check to be kept on what is going on or permits talk with employees without any waste motion."

City Manager Returns After Western Tour

City Manager Al Glassford returned to his desk last Friday after he and his family returned from a trip of over three weeks which took them to the west coast where the city manager attended the international convention of the City Managers association.

Clarence Elliott, former Plymouth city manager and now holding that position at Kalamazoo, presided over the convention held at the Statler Hotel in Los Angeles. There were 325 city managers and 288 others attending the convention. In his opening address, Elliott stressed the need of city governments to support cultural advancements in their community.

George E. Bean, former city manager at Grand Rapids, Pontiac and Port Huron, and now manager in Peoria, Illinois, was elected as the association's new president. William K. Willman, Pontiac city manager, is the new vice-president. Elected as vice-president of the Northeastern district was Harold Cheek, former Plymouth city manager and now manager at Niagara Falls, New York.

The Glassfords spent a week and a half in traveling to the west coast. They traveled through Illinois, South Dakota, Wyoming, the Black Hills, Yellowstone and Yosemite National parks, Reno, Nevada, Fresno, and back through the southern route seeing Grand Canyon.

They spent some time with Donald and Dorothy Munro, former Plymouth residents now living in Los Angeles. They visited the Los Angeles County fair where Mrs. Munro had winning entries in the baking contest. They also visited the M-G-M studios.

The city manager combined a two-weeks vacation with a nine-day leave granted him to attend the convention.

Grange Cleanings

The Grange meeting of October 1 was well attended and the supper was much enjoyed by everybody.

The meeting was called to order about 8 p.m. and after a few smaller items were taken care of, the business of the evening was the election of officers for the ensuing year. A tedious affair.

The election resulted as follows: worthy master, Elbert Hartom; overseer, John Oldenburg; lecturer, Mollie Tracey; steward, Kenneth Lunn; assistant steward, Charles Rienas; lady assistant S., Mildred Rienas; chaplain, Jessie Vealey; treasurer, Isabel Taylor; secretary, Hilda Lunn; gate keeper, George Loomis; Ceres, Emma Schaufle; Pomona, Evelyn Fisher; Flora, Gladys Hartom; and pianist, Bessie Toles; they are a very satisfactory staff of officers who will do their best through the coming year.

A dance is scheduled for October 31 and all Grangers are expected to come and bring a couple of friends, more if you can.

The Lily club will meet at the hall on Monday evening October 12 with the McConnell's and the Swegles as the hosts. Bring cake or sandwiches and your own dishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ehrenberger and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Vealey were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mettetal at their home on the shore of Oakland lake near Pontiac. Ray is recovering nicely from his recent operation and is able to be about again.

Remember the date of the "Fair" at the Grange Hall, November 13 with the usual booths to suit everybody. Hot dogs and coffee will be sold also. Our "County Fair" last year was very successful so we hope this year will do as well.

dispensable necessity. You feel the need of knowing whether your business is healthy. You realize the wisdom of checking any unhealthy trend or practice before it develops to a dangerous extent. An inventory costs money and time—more money and time than a similar inquiry into your physical health would cost. Is your business worth more to you than your life and health?

PREVENTATIVE MEDICINE

It is alarming to know that many of our young men of draft age are being turned down after medical examinations, because of physical unfitness. Ignorance is very costly and is the direct cause of thousands of untimely deaths.

A business magazine, Phoenix Flame, has run a series along the line of preventative medicine. A quotation from one of them by a well-known physician, is as follows:

"I am acutely aware of the fact that you, Mr. and Mrs. Average Person, resent my assertions that you are primarily responsible for a majority of the ills and discomforts which beset you. I know that your ego has been insulted by my previous declarations that you employ more of your time in efforts to improve your golf stance or your bridge technique than you devote to getting acquainted with yourself, and my suggestion that even if you did possess a reasonable amount of knowledge about yourself, you are so much a slave to self-indulgence, habits, fads, fancies and foolishness that you would go right on mistreating yourself to the end of your days.

"Your personal doctor would not dare to talk to you as I have, because if he did he would cease to be your personal doctor. You would be surprised, however, if you knew how often your doctor is tempted to talk to you very much as I am doing.

"If you possessed a machine that was in any way as delicate and intricate as your body machine and one that operated 24 hours a day, year in and year out, I am sure you would periodically call in an expert to look it over, test it, and determine whether it needed even some slight readjustment or repair. But if your personal doctor suggested that you submit to a thorough physical examination once a year, you would probably get the idea that he was not motivated altogether by an altruistic intention.

"If you are engaged in any sort of business, you doubtless consider an annual inventory an indispensable necessity. You feel the need of knowing whether your business is healthy. You realize the wisdom of checking any unhealthy trend or practice before it develops to a dangerous extent. An inventory costs money and time—more money and time than a similar inquiry into your physical health would cost. Is your business worth more to you than your life and health?

"Remember this, many a breakdown could be prevented by a checking-up on the little things. Even cancer can be cured by finding and treating it in time.

"You take out insurance on your house, your car, and your other valuable possessions, but you don't bother to guard your health by sane and biological living. You could buy another car, perhaps another house; but you can't buy health. When your body is diseased beyond redemption, you can never recover the health that you have squandered.

"Are you such a slave to self-indulgence that you are too spineless to work for health? If you are, then it is useless for you to go to your doctor for a physical checkup.

"If you want to be well, go to your physician and let him examine you. If you are found to be sound, then you must avoid all health-destroying habits and keep yourself well. Cooperate with nature and she will reward you, break her laws and you will suffer."

Nat Sibbold was telling Rotarians David Mather, David Galin and Harry Draper he noted in Mexico that Mexicans became very disgusted with Americans at their bull fights especially when the Yanks cheered loudly for the bull and not the toreador. The Americans were certainly right, said Mr. Galin, because in his estimation the bull was the smarter of the two anyway.

William Morgan and Fred Rhead have changed their usual deer hunting plans this year and have agreed to make camp somewhere near the railroad and Ridewood drive, east of Plymouth, where last weekend they saw a huge buck cross the road in the vicinity of the site of cleaner Clifford Tail's new home.

No mean chef is banker Floyd Kehrl, who is fast making a name for himself at local gatherings where he completes the festive occasion to every detail including his chef's cap. However at the Halvor Blomberg housewarming last Thursday night, given by original First National employees, assistant chef Jack Taylor presided over the piece de resistance (ham to you) and carved so delicately and deftly that he even drew the praise of the master chef himself.

Many people and even the Detroit newspapers seemed surprised when Dr. A. C. Kerlikowske of the U of M hospital was elevated to the presidency of the elite group of the American College of Hospital Administrators. Knowing "Kerli" for nearly 25 years we might mention that the fancy society will find at the end of his term that they never have had a better president or a more fruitful year than the one they will enjoy under his direction.

It is interesting to note how well material printed in The Mail is scanned by our readers. Young farmer Gordon Campbell, who resides at 45110 Joy road with his mother, Heloise Campbell, came in to inform us that you can't adjust a corn picker when hooked to a tractor by throwing it "into" gear as we stated last week. The alert young man took us to task saying his cousin Ivan got his hand caught in one last year and that to make an adjustment you must throw the tractor OUT of gear.

Our fifty years ago column last week mentioned the closing of the old Tonquish postoffice and so many people have questioned us about its location, a weekend was devoted to finding out just where it was located here. Of all the people we contacted only Mrs. Helen Stevens could help us in our search, and it was because, as a young girl, she used to be sent to the office by her family to collect the family mail. The office was located on Ford road at the railroad track in a small grocery store that had been there for many, many years. Mrs. Stevens couldn't remember the name of the store, but she recalled that on the other side of the track and across the road the Proctor family operated a thriving saw mill, which several years later passed out of business as the timber was cut off from the land in that area.

Even errors can be made in the offices of first class accounting firms, but one of the most confusing, at least to the 11 members of the Ply-Nor Investment company, came from C.P.A. Donald Sutherland's headquarters last week. In sending out an announcement of a meeting on 2 cent post cards, the Sutherland clerk addressed each card to its rightful member then again repeated his name on the other side stating the fact that the meeting would be held at his residence. When a couple of the local members were having lunch they parted saying "I'll see you at my house Monday night. From there on in you can imagine the scramble. Local members of the firm are attorney George Bowles, accountant Don Sutherland, Buick dealer Jack Selle, banker Harry Larsen, Clarence Jetter and Walter Gibson.

TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE

Roger Babson Says

Babson Park, Massachusetts. More than 17 million marriages have taken place. More than 30 million babies have been born. More than one-third of all present families in the U. S. have been formed. Of the more than 150 million people in the U.S. today, 63 per cent do not remember World War I. Until this year, 52 per cent did not remember a Republican Administration in the White House.

REASONS FOR THE EXPECTED INCREASE
The first reason is that there now are more births. The second reason is that there now are fewer deaths proportionately. Deaths among babies are much fewer while almost everyone is living longer, due to better food, shorter hours, saner habits, and improved medical care. Also the following statistics given me by the Editor of MASS TRANSPORTATION are suggestive. Since 1940, which was only 13 years ago, a new "public" has come into being. Fourteen million old customers have died.

DON'T BE FOOLED BY FIGURES
All the above now results in one baby being born every eight seconds and someone dying every twenty-one seconds. In addition, one immigrant enters the U. S. every two minutes and one emigrant leaves every seventeen minutes. I have no figures on the probable increase in the number of families; but this will be very much less.

HIGHER TAXES POSSIBLE SOME DAY
The population increase which comes from living longer presents a problem for our children. When parents or grandparents receive Old-Age Assistance, or Pensions, or even Social Security, the money does not come "from the blue sky." All such benefits must be paid for by the younger people in the form of taxes or a higher price for the goods they are to buy. Taxes should decline somewhat next year, but the decline will not be permanent.

CONSERVATION AND CHARACTER
To have this large increase in population with a high standard of living, we must conserve our natural resources. This means avoiding waste of everything, from oil to trees. Our woodlands and soils must especially be protected—yes, and even the fish of the oceans. It is utterly foolish to talk about "great future prosperity due to increased population" unless we train our children to be less wasteful.

Plymouthites Hurt in Two-Car Collision
A Plymouth father and his son were injured in a collision on Wednesday, September 30 at the intersection of Ann Arbor road and the Edward N. Hines drive.

Will a party boss system return to Michigan if proposed changes in methods of nominating state officials take effect?
That is one fear of those who oppose the pre-primary plan now under study by the Republican State Central Committee. And the fear is without foundation according to Harold O. Love, Detroit's tax attorney.

Mr. Love advocates a program where responsible party members study qualifications of candidates and either approve or disapprove. Names of approved candidates would appear on the ballot as endorsed by the party; unapproved candidates could still run as Republicans, but without party endorsement.

Bitter experience of the party is directly responsible for Mr. Love's campaign to change Republican nomination methods. He believes that GOP candidates lost the last two races for governor because of battles that developed in primary campaigns. Wounds resulting from intra-party campaigning could not be healed in time for general balloting. Resulting disunity prevented the organized effort that might have won the election.

Simply stated, Mr. Love's plan amounts to this: members of the Republican party would select the candidate they think best fitted and most likely to win. He would be given the party stamp of approval and the support of the organization.

Much agreement exists that a new system is required. D. Hale Brake, state treasurer and respected by many for his astute understanding of state politics, agrees that there are many advantages to party endorsed candidates. "This would eliminate a situation which has existed at least twice in recent years," he said, "where Republican candidates for governor publicly state that they owed no debt to the party they represented." But Mr. Brake feels that now is not the time to drop the present system in favor of another.

No immediate change is expected. Members of the Republican State Central Committee considered the pre-primary plan at a recent confab and voted not to put it into effect. They agreed to keep the subject under study. Mr. Love, who presented his ideas at the meeting, was somewhat disappointed that they were not adopted—and somewhat dismayed by what he considered to be "lack of understanding of the basic principles involved." The Detroit attorney says he will continue promoting his plan at state level and attempt to sell it to as many precinct or county organizations as he can.

Biggest gain from a party standpoint is that a "pre-convention" agreement would establish party responsibility for candidates. From the public's standpoint, Mr. Love believes that higher caliber candidates could be attracted into campaigns and that better qualified candidates would be party-endorsed. He explains: "An inferior candidate could too easily be rejected at the polls."

Need for improvement of the present primary system has been felt for many years. The idea has been supported at intervals for the past 30 years.

Fate of a pre-primary system may depend a good deal upon the outcome of the next gubernatorial election. If the Republicans win under the present method, it is certain there will be less agitation to change systems than if they lose. And if a sharp fight develops between primary candidates during the campaign, Harold Love's plan would receive some keen re-examination.

Much opportunity exists for hard feeling in the coming race. With five prominent Republicans mentioned again and again as candidates, and with no means to select the one to meet the Democrat candidate except a full scale primary campaign, few will be surprised if hard feelings between the contestants and their supporters develop.

Daniel Receives Doctor Of Philosophy Degree

Robert L. Daniel, 11401 Melrose, Plymouth, was among the 570 students who received their undergraduate and graduate degrees this fall as the result of their final scholastic work in the 1953 summer session of the University of Wisconsin. It was announced today by the State University registrar's office. Daniel received a Doctor of Philosophy degree.

Of the total of 579 degrees awarded this fall, 247 were bachelor degrees and 323 were higher degrees. Of the higher degrees, 107 were doctorates, maintaining Wisconsin's high place among the nation's universities in the number of doctor of philosophy degrees conferred.

"The Doggie in the Window"
"Can be the canine in a fine batch of pictures if you handle the family pet in much the same manner as you would a child. Like a child, a dog is seldom patient; so choose your setting and arrange your props and, if necessary, lights beforehand.

A plain background that does not steal interest from the subject is best. Naturally you will pose a taffy-colored cocker against a dark background and show off a black Scotty against white or pastel colors. Emphasize the pooh by shooting from a low or equal level. Use his favorite toy to attract his attention. This will provide an alert expression. And any picture including both the dog and a child will amount to an unbeatable combination.

A speed of about 1/50 sec. is suitable, but adjustable cameras with 1/100 sec. or faster will stop sudden movement. For indoor work, photoflash is your best illumination as you can shoot with short exposures, but whether you shoot indoors or out, we can be of help to you for we have the most complete stock of photographic equipment in Plymouth . . . and we repair cameras also. So, for buying, or browsing, photographically speaking, make THE PHOTOGRAPHIC CENTER your headquarters.
