March of Dimes Drive Sets Sights on $6,000

Efforts to raise money for the March of Dimes drive will be in full swing here today. The drive is being conducted by the local chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which is headed by Mrs. Harry Bartel.

Fire Demon Roams Streets Tuesday

"Are you the fire demon?" These words, said to the right person, can mean $5 to you. The existence of the fire demon on Plymouth streets is an added promotion for the Fire Inspection Day being held here on Tuesday, January 12.

Robert Jolliffe Sees Rice Game

Michigan's first baby for 1954 was born at 7:27 a.m. Saturday, January 2, at St. Joseph hospital. Deborah Ann, she's not only Plymouth's "first for '54" but also the Newsted's first child.

March will get underway on Thursday, January 23, under the leadership of Mrs. Harry Bartel. Coordinating the activities of the local drive again this year is William Goodwin, teacher at Plymouth high school. Goodwin has led the drive for five years.

No definite goal has been set for Plymouth. Goodwin pointed out, however, that at least $6,000 will be needed. Last year's drive was set at $1,800, he said, and the community went well over the goal with $5,000 being collected.

Large contributions are requested through the porch light campaign staged by the mothers. Mrs. Bartel has requested that the women wishing to contribute to the March of Dimes should turn in their porch light the evening of January 28. Collections will be made by members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, who volunteered for the job.

The V.F.W. auxiliary has also planned a fund-raising card party for Wednesday, January 13, at the V.F.W. home across from Arsenal. Proceeds will all be turned over to the March of Dimes drive. The annual March of Dimes Ball, scheduled for Saturday, January 30, will also aid in the drive's receipts.

Persons intending to mail in donations are requested to address their envelopes to March of Dimes, P. O. Box 356, Plymouth. Goodwin also stated that it is possible the special March of Dimes envelopes mailed out since the Plymouth box number in their better mailing, so that credit will be given by mail.

The work accomplished by the March of Dimes money has been tremendous. Not only have great strides been made in the search for a cure for the disease, but just last year 88,000 victims of polio received March of Dimes aid. Five out of five victims of the 1953 epidemic received help from the March of Dimes.

Last year, Michigan ranked seventh in the nation in number of cases to 100,000 population. Although the polio threat is forgotten at this time of the year, it is a good idea to know that should an epidemic strike in the late summer the victims can be treated properly. That is the work of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which conducts the drive.

LOOKING OVER THE CANISTERS which will be only one phase of the local March of Dimes campaign are, left to right, Brian Kidston, in charge of canister distribution; Walter Goodwin, chairman of the drive; and Mrs. Harry Bartel, who will head the Mothers' March. Collections for polio research and care will continue throughout the month of January. (Ply-Mail photo)

Earl Gray Named Odd-Fellow Head

Earl Gray will be installed as Noble Grand of Tompash Lodge No. 32 of the Independent Order of Odd-Fellows on Tuesday, January 12.

Other active officers who will be installed at the same time are Donald Drews, vice-grand; Leroy Wetall, recording secretary; Fred Wagenschutz, financial secretary; and Charles Robinson, treasurer.

Preceding the ceremonies the members and friends will unite in a 6:30 p.m. potluck supper. Thomas Pousley, Grand Herald of the Grand Lodge of Michigan will be guest speaker.

Local Fire Inspection Day Aims at Increasing Safety

Plymouth will try to break last year's all time low record of two losses by being even safer from fires this year. This may be partially accomplished, January 12—Fire Inspection Day.

Plymouth has been fortunate in obtaining the services of the Michigan Fire Prevention association whose 50 inspectors from throughout the state will conduct the inspection of local schools, churches and business places. The association visits only nine cities per year, and then only on the request of the cities. Backed by the Chamber of Commerce and city officials, the Inspection Day is under the chairmanship of insurance agent Roy A. Fisher.

Plymouth Fire Chief Robert McAllister stated that application was made more than a year ago to obtain this program for Plymouth and that through the efforts of the local fire department and the Plymouth Association of Insurance Agents local businesses will benefit greatly from an all-out fire inspection day. "The program will not only help our department and the insurance agents, but it will also prove beneficial to businessmen and the city alike," said McAllister.

Headquarters for the inspection while in Plymouth will be the City Hall. With the assistance of local Boy Scouts they will begin inspection at 9 a.m., pausing for lunch at St. John's Episcopal church at 12:30 p.m. Inspections and reports will continue until the dinner meeting sponsored by the local Kiwanis club for the remaining inspectors.

In the inspection, the field men will move systematically through a building, point out the fire hazards, submit the report to the owner and will suggest remedies.

Inspection of homes will be conducted by the school children themselves. Students will be given folders on dangers of fires in homes, and a descriptive fire inspection blank, which they will fill out while inspecting their homes. (Continued on page 6)

Letter Ends Hope That Soldier Son Alive in Korea

A long period of uncertainty was brought to an end this week for Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Beasley of 9284 Brookline road when they received a letter from the department of the army declaring their son officially dead. Private first class Morris F. Beasley has been missing in action in Korea since September 4, 1950.

Beasley, as far as it is known, is the only Plymouth man who was killed in the Korean conflict. He had been in Korea less than a month when reported missing.

For his family, the registered letter ended their hopes that their son might still be alive. By an order of Congress, all soldiers missing for more than 12 months were to be declared dead on December 31, 1953. The army stated in its letter that though the case had been carefully reviewed, no information had been received since Beasley was reported missing.

The young man entered the army in June, 1949, only after he repeatedly begged to be allowed to join the army. He was only 16 years of age, a junior at Plymouth high school, when his parents gave their permission. He was sent to Korea with a tank supply outfit in an armored division. In his last letter to his parents, he said that fighting was intense, and bullets were whizzing around the truck. He was only 17 when he presumably met death.

The Beasleys long sustained the hope that their son might have been a prisoner of war. When prisoners were released, however, and their son was not among them, the parents became reconciled to the fact that Morris made "the supreme sacrifice in the service of his country."

Mr. and Mrs. Beasley have one other son, Marion, 19.

City Commissioner's Condition Better

An "improved" condition was reported yesterday for City Commissioner Henry Fisher who suffered a stroke at 6:45 p.m. on December 30 as he sat in a chair at his home.

The Commissioner's right side was paralyzed by the stroke but the paralysis has now passed, according to his son, Roy Fisher, local insurance agent. The commissioner, however, is still unable to speak. He is 82 years old. Mr. Fisher is confined to University hospital in Ann Arbor, Room 5106.

Stanley Corbett Sells Electrical Business Here

Announcement of the retirement of Stanley T. Corbett, Plymouth electrician for the past 30 years, and the purchase of his business by three of his employees, was made this week.

The Corbett Electric company, 799 Blunk, became the Arrow-smith-Francis Electric corporation on January 1. The owners and officers of the new corporation are Matthew Arrow-smith, Detroit, president; Francis Mitchell, 49429 Joy road, vice-president; and Roland Francis, 9205 Marlowe, Plymouth, secretary-treasurer.

Arrow-smith has been with the Corbett company 27 years, Francis nine years and Mitchell five years.

Mr. Corbett has been an electrician for 40 years, the past 30 years being spent in Plymouth. He had a retail electrical store in several locations in the city during many of his years here, but confined his work during the past 12 years to industrial work only. Most of the manufacturers in this area have had the Corbett company for electrical installation or maintenance work.

The retiring electrician plans to move permanently to Florida in the future. He has a daughter living in Detroit.

Mr. Corbett's years here have led him into several positions of public office. He had served as mayor of Plymouth and as a city commissioner. He has been serving during recent years on the electrical board of the city. (See picture on page 3.)

Rose Bowl Movies To Be Shown Tuesday

Films of the Rose Bowl game and the Tournament of Roses parade will be shown at the meeting of the Michigan State Alumni club on Thursday evening, January 14 in the Newburg Methodist church hall. The public is invited to the showing of the color films.

A potluck supper will be served at 7 p.m., followed by the movies which will begin at 8 p.m.

Communities Attempt Solving Garbage Disposal Problems

What to do with garbage and rubbish appears to be one of the big problems facing Plymouth and Plymouth township officials during the new year and it appears to be an expensive problem.

Officials of the two governments met recently at the Dearborn township hall with officials from 10 other western Wayne county communities in hopes to solve the garbage and rubbish problem mutually. Appearing before the group was Robert H. Stellwagen, a Detroit consulting engineer specializing in the field of waste disposal.

The engineer presented detailed reports on the problems of each area and was able to give each community an estimate of the cost of the undertaking. He placed Plymouth, Plymouth township, Northville, Northville township and Livonia in one mutual area. An incinerator large enough to burn all garbage for this area would cost about $864,000.

Broken down by communities, Plymouth's share would be $121,500; Plymouth township, $84,375; Northville, $67,500; Plymouth township, $84,375; Northville township, $67,500; Northville township, $84,375; and Livonia, $506,250.

City Manager Al Glassford states that the city has but six months in which to do something about its garbage problem. The city's garbage is now fed to hogs but a state law recently enacted forbids this unless the garbage is cooked to eliminate the possibility of disease among the hogs. The city then received a "stay of execution" from the state last fall to give some time to get a new disposal means in motion.

Before the city decides to enter into a mutual disposal plan, they will first examine several other disposal ways. Glassford says that the garbage cooking method will be examined along with a burial method. The latter method which utilizes a bulldozer to dig trenches and bury the garbage, is practically eliminated in most communities because of the zoning laws, Glassford says. No community wants garbage burial grounds.

Officials will get another report from the consulting engineer in three or four weeks. It would take a 390 ton furnace to handle garbage of the five communities in the Plymouth area.

ABOVE—PROUD PARENTS of Plymouth's first baby for 1954 are shown as Robert Newsted of 11251 Ridge road visits his wife at Ann Arbor's St. Joseph hospital. "Miss Plymouth for 1954" was born at 7:27 a.m. Saturday, January 2, at St. Joseph hospital. Deborah Ann, she's not only Plymouth's "first for '54" but also the Newsted's first child. Newsted, who resides in Plymouth but works for the Ann Arbor fire department, was "ticked to death" with his new daughter. "She wasn't supposed to arrive for two more weeks," he said as he expressed surprise at winning the "first baby contest."

RIGHT—"THE WINNER" who will get a host of prizes from eight Plymouth merchants, rests peacefully in her crib. Deborah Ann won out over three other girls (boys didn't even come close). The runners-up were: Linda Louise, born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Hovorka of 48383 Hanford road at 11:22 a.m. January 1 at New Grace hospital; Cynthia Beth, born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Zak of 42365 Schoolcraft at 8:40 p.m. January 1 at Mt. Carmel hospital; and Vickie Lee, born to Mr. and Mrs. William Dyer of 290 Pearl hospital. Deborah Ann will receive the following prizes: a portrait from Gaffield Studio; a car seat from Plymouth Hardware; 2 cases of Gerber's baby food from Stop and Shop; a pair of baby shoes from Fisher's; a complete layette from Kresge's; a blanket from Minerva's; 30 quarts of milk from Cloverdale Farms Dairy; and a nurse set plus baby oil, powder, cream and pants from Beyers Rexall Drugs.

Contest Winners Bask In Bermuda Sunshine

Basking in the warm sunshine along the sandy shores of Bermuda today are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mielbeck of Plymouth, winners of the "Shop in Plymouth" campaign staged by the Chamber of Commerce during the Christmas shopping season.

The Mielbecks, accompanied by another couple, arrived in Bermuda within five hours and 20 minutes after leaving Willow Run airport early yesterday morning. They will be on the popular vacation island in the middle of the Atlantic for a full six days—all expenses paid.

Northwest airlines flew the contest winners to New York City's Idlewild airport in two hours and 40 minutes. They were taken by limousine to LaGuardia airport where they boarded a Colonial airlines plane. In another one and a half hours they were in Bermuda. In Bermuda the Mielbecks are staying at Pomander Gate, one of the most fashionable hotels on the island.

The return flight will begin at 4:45 p.m. on January 12 and they will step off the plane at Willow Run at 11 p.m.

The Mielbecks stepped into the first place spot when the first place winner failed to make himself known by noon, Tuesday, December 29. Up to that time the Mielbecks were the second place winners and heirs to an alarm wristwatch. The original first place winner has still not been found, but he has now relinquished all right to any of the prizes anyhow.

Eight persons have claimed prizes so far. The prizes consist of an alarm wristwatch for second, a bicycle for third and $10 gift certificates for the following eight. The second prize has gone to S. E. Gady, 44845 Cherry Hill road; third to Jim Brown, Belleville; and consolation prizes to Edward Choss, 620 Penniman, John Kelly, 49471 West Ann Arbor road; John Goodman, 8835 Elmhurst; Harvey Pankow, 551 Arthur; and Mrs. Larry Livingston, 1456 Sheridan.

Train Hits Car Stalled at Main Street Crossing

A Livonia housewife could only stand by and watch her stalled car being struck by a freight train last Wednesday morning at the North Main street crossing.

She was Mrs. Christina Shaw, 15674 Stanford, who was driving south across the Chesapeake & Ohio crossing when the bell sounded and flashers started blinking. Becoming excited, Mrs. Shaw applied the brakes, tried to start it and then stalled the car. Not being able to start it right away, she fled from her car and watched the diesel locomotive strike the right side of the car, pushing it off the tracks.

The train, traveling at a slow speed, stopped a few feet beyond the crossing. The train was "broken" to allow traffic to keep moving.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reeves were New Year's eve hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Becker, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Minehart and Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Watson.

Plymouth Boys Involved in Case Of Missing Girls

Parents of two Livonia girls have left for Mineola, New York where they will claim their daughters, ages 14 and 16, after the two were taken to the New York town last week by two Plymouth youths.

Mineola police identified the boys as Herman E. Parmenter, 20, of 674 Maple street, and Jack Helmer, 19, Five Mile rd. Reports indicated that the two would be arraigned on abduction charges.

The girls were reported missing by their parents Tuesday of last week. First indications were that the pair had perhaps been kidnapped but Livonia police now believe that the girls had gone willingly and had not been forced by the boys. The girls will probably be questioned when they return, police said.

Parmenter is said to be absent without leave from the Army. It was reported that Helmer has been working in an aircraft plant near Mineola and had returned to Plymouth for the Christmas holidays. While here, he and Parmenter and the girls decided to return to New York with him.

Car Forces Local Motorist off Road

A Plymouth motorist escaped injury last Sunday evening when his car crashed through a fence into a field after being forced off the road by an oncoming car.

William Vanata, 480 Pacific, was returning home on Ann Arbor trail west of the city at 6:30 p.m. when a car with only its parking lights on swung to the left side of the road toward the Vanata car. Mr. Vanata was forced to swerve his car off the highway to avoid a collision. The car smashed through a fence and sustained about $400 in damages.

The Wayne county sheriff's road patrol was notified about the incident but without an accurate description of the oncoming car, they were unable to locate it.

Too Much Steam

Plymouth firemen responded to their first fire alarm of 1954 last Tuesday morning but there was no fire available. It was steam.

The call came from the Maple Lawn Dairy, 809 Ann Arbor road, at 7:40 a.m. A thermostat on the hot water heating system had failed to operate properly, causing steam to back up in the pipes. When the hot water was turned on, steam filled the building.

own residences. Poster and essay contests are being sponsored in the public and parochial schools on the theme of fire inspection. Judging will take place on Fire Inspection Day, with Frank Westerman, secretary of the Michigan Fire Prevention association, and other inspectors as judges. Prizes will be awarded by the Western Actuarial Bureau.

The Michigan Fire Prevention association conducts the inspections, visiting nine cities each year. Inspections are made only at the request of the cities.

Plymouth is one of the most fortunate cities in the state when it comes to fire losses. According to estimates of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, nearly 1,100 fires occur in homes daily—and they average $600 loss per fire.

Fire claims 11,000 lives in the nation each year and a fire breaks out every 36 seconds, according to the board. The range of causes for fires is almost infinite, but here are the five greatest causes:

1. Careless handling of cigarettes and matches.
2. Misuse of electrical equipment and defective wiring.
3. Defective heating equipment.
4. Defective or overheated chimneys or flues.
5. Careless handling of old clothes, papers and magazines—in other words, bad housekeeping.

There are some odd causes too, according to the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Static electricity from a man's body was blamed for a fire in an Indianapolis paint factory. When the man opened a lacquer thinner valve, flames shot out into the room.

A drop of sweat from a workman's face is thought to have caused a serious fire in a British plant. It fell on a piece of sodium as the metal was being placed into an ether tank. The heat which it generated ignited the ether vapor.

A fire in a New Jersey radio store was found to have been caused by sunlight concentrated through the magnifying lens attached to a television set in a window.

Plymouth plans to practice preventive medicine here January 12, the Chamber of Commerce tells. One blaze could send Plymouth's average skyrocketing. The Michigan Fire Prevention association is quick to remind you, however, that every day should be fire inspection day and fire prevention day.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Francis and son, Severn, of Brookline street visited their children, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Francis and son of Detroit and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. Kujat and children of Roseville. They enjoyed Christmas dinner at another daughter's home. Mrs. Al Jeffery and daughters. The same group were at the Francis home on Saturday where they enjoyed dinner and a gift exchange. Mr. and Mrs. F. Shannon and daughter of St. Claire Shores, brother and sister-in-law, of Mrs. Francis, also attended.

Township Civil Defense Director Names Chairmen

Chairmen of civil defense committees were appointed by Plymouth township civil defense director John C. Miller at the meeting in the township hall Tuesday evening, January 5.

Representatives from surrounding areas also attended the meeting to see the work being accomplished by the newly formed township group. Among these were Ernest Henry, Plymouth civil defense director, Captain Lodge and Major Perkins of the Civil Air Patrol, Ashley Coburn, Canton township civil defense director, and Harry Hunter and Ed Gollinger, Detroit House of Correction. William Seibert, director of the Wayne County civil defense office, was present to answer questions.

Heading the township committees are: Leo Flowers, deputy director; Chief Bud Holmes, fire department; Willard DePriest, auxiliary police department; Louis Foster, chief warden; Mrs. Willard DePriest, first aid, health and welfare; Clayton Koch, rescue squad and Mrs. Robert Tremaine, publicity.

The next meeting of the organization will be held Thursday, January 14, at 8 p.m. in the Plymouth township hall. Anyone interested may attend.

Area Construction

(Continued from Page 1) The Plymouth area seems to be coming more popular each year. Many families are attracted here by the good schools, real estate agents have found, but there is some real competition coming from Livonia where taxes are extremely low. It is predicted by real estate agents that if and when the Riverside park drain arrives in the township, there will be a tremendous development of that area. Building lots are becoming more scarce each year in Plymouth, they point out, while the township can offer properties for any size home.

Census officials estimated that there was a population of 7,400 in Plymouth last year, nearly 800 over the 1950 official census. This placed 3,895 people in each of the city's 1.9 square miles.

Plymouth township is believed to have increased its population from 4,945 in 1950 to 5,600 last year. This gives a population density of 345 per square mile. The township has 16.25 square miles. In 1950, Plymouth had 2,054 dwelling units and Plymouth township had 1,154.

Issuing building permits in Plymouth township is Ernest Rossow, township building inspector. Kenneth Way, city assessor, issues permits in Plymouth.

New Year's day dinner guests of Mrs. Charles Rathburn, in her home on Haggerty highway were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stringer and Mrs. Clyde Stringer, of Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. George Bloss of West Branch; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McAllep of Detroit; and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown of Plymouth.

Kiwanis Initiates Officers For 1954

The Plymouth Kiwanis club began the new year with the initiation of its new officers Tuesday evening at the Mayflower hotel. Presiding over the ceremonies was James Gallimore, club president in 1953.

Gallimore praised the work of immediate past president Dean Saxton and called upon the first president of the Plymouth Kiwanis club, Ernest Allison, to place the retiring president's pin on Saxton's lapel.

Edward Campbell, president-elect, was lauded by Gallimore for his work in Kiwanis during the past year pointing to his record as assurance of a successful year ahead for the local club. Taking the gavel from Saxton, Campbell called upon the club to "pull together" in a united effort to make each club project succeed. Norman Atchinson and Fred Foust are vice-presidents elect, while George Burr and Ernest Henry resume their jobs as treasurer and secretary, respectively.

Next Tuesday evening the Kiwanis club will be host to a group of visiting fire inspectors who will take part in "Fire Inspection Day" in Plymouth.

Michigan WCTU To Hold Meetings In Local Home

The Michigan Woman's Christian Temperance Union will sponsor a three day School of Methods to be held at the home of Mrs. Clara P. Todd, 207 West Ann Arbor trail, on January 13, 14 and 15, beginning at 10 a.m. each morning and closing at 4 p.m., with a noon recess from 12 until 1:30.

One of the tasks of the union is to work toward the strengthening of their program in such a way that they may build up a personal conscience against the personal use of beverage alcohol.

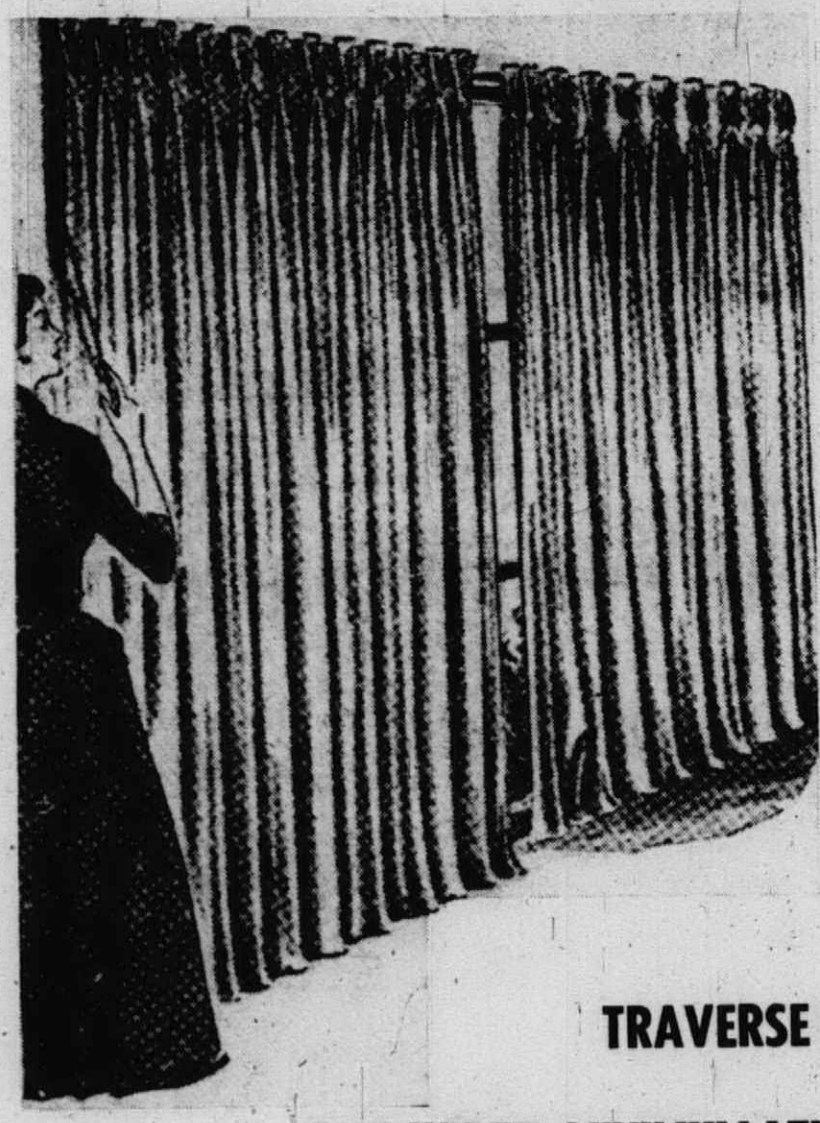

The three greatest institutions, the home, the school and the church, hold the key to the gigantic problem. The organization has been specializing in department work that will provide scientific facts for teachers and pupils as well as shape a moral position through the church and Sunday school that will provide a clear and consistent reasort against the use of beverage alcohol as a phase of American culture and social prominence.

Mrs. A. J. Houle, national secretary of the work with children, from the national headquarters in Evanston, Illinois; Mrs. Ruth Losie, of Port Huron and Mrs. Paul Kenworthy, of Detroit, state secretary of the Youth Temperance Councils, will have charge of the sessions.

Sunday school teachers as well as all others that are interested in such a program are invited to attend the sessions as they are aimed to provide information that holds the key to a way to present the topic in an acceptable manner as well as the key to this momentous problem.

Former Minister Writes Meditation For Upper Room

The Reverend Stanford S. Closson, a former Plymouth Methodist minister and now pastor of the Methodist church in Manistee, Michigan, was the author of the meditation which was used on Monday, January 4 by an estimated seven million people who are readers of "The Upper Room." "The Upper Room," a devotional guide under the editorship of Dr. J. Manning Potts, has a circulation of more than two and a half million copies in the English edition published here. It is published in Braille and two other English editions, as well as in 17 other languages.

The Reverend Closson based his meditation on Ecclesiastes 12:1 "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth." In telling of the return trip from a two-day conference on Christian vocations with five teen-agers he says in part: "For three hours they had been carrying on, as teen-agers will. We were on the home stretch. Then it happened. Kay said, 'Let's turn off the radio and thank God for these wonderful two days and for bringing us home safely.' Then followed five simple earnest prayers. We thank God for young people the world over who are being nurtured in the Christian faith and are taking Christ with them into their chosen fields of work." The meditation was concluded with a prayer and a thought for the day.

Because of the wide readership and popularity of "The Upper Room" it is considered a high honor to have a meditation selected and published in the world's most widely used devotional guide. Dr. Potts, the editor points out that each meditation appears not only in English but each of the other language editions including: Arabic, Italian, Armenian, Hindi, Japanese, Thai, Korean, Greek, Spanish, Swedish, Persian Urdu, Portuguese, Tagalog, Ilocano, Telegu and Norwegian. Chaplains report that a special pocket sized edition is the item of religious literature most often requested by men and women in the military services.

Reverend Closson's meditation, with the others in the January, February issue, is a part of the ministry of 60,000 churches in the United States and Canada. These churches represent every Protestant denomination.

Father Maestrini To Direct Day Of Recollection

"The Adventure of Christian Living" will be the theme of Father Nicholas Maestrini, P.I.M.E., U. S. Regional Superior of the SS. Peter and Paul Missionaries, when he directs the Day of Recollection for the women of Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic church, to be held from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday, January 17, in the church hall at the corner of Arthur and William avenues.

The day's instructions and meditations will be directed toward: (1) The Basic Values of Christianity; (2) True Neighborly Love; and (3) The Meaning of the Interior Life. Sufficient time will be allowed between the discourses for prayer, spiritual reading and consultation with the director. The retreat will close with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Born, educated and ordained in Perugia, Italy, just a few miles from Assisi, made famous by the beloved Saint Francis, Father Maestrini was sent, immediately after his ordination, to China, where he remained for 20 years. In Hong Kong, in 1935, as a direct answer to Communism, he founded the Chinese Catholic Truth Society as a means of spreading Catholic Truths. He started and for many years edited the Sunday Examiner, the only Catholic paper in English in the Far East. He also edited its Chinese counterpart.

Father Maestrini was one of the first missionaries to make use of lay people for active missionary work on the professional level (journalists, nurses, social workers, and so on.) He organized associations of lay people to help the poor by conducting shelters for derelict coolies and administering to homeless families.

Missionary To Africa Will Speak At Local Church

One of the few white men who are masters of the Swahili dialect of the Belgian Congo, and the editor and translator of a hymn-book into that language, is the Reverend Henry T. Wheeler, Methodist missionary in Tunda, British Columbia, Africa, who will be the guest speaker at the Plymouth Methodist church on Sunday, January 10 at 7:30 p.m. Reverend Wheeler is now on furlough from the Congo, but expects to return there shortly.

When Reverend Wheeler first arrived in Africa in 1928 to take charge of the evangelistic work in Tunda and in neighboring villages, there were only two or three African pastors and less than a dozen centers for preaching. He built up the work until today there are 50 Methodist pastors, trained in mission schools, conducting services in the villages. Great throngs come to hear them whenever meetings are announced by means of the African drum.

Finding the roads were almost impassable in that district, Reverend Wheeler pioneered in a road building program and was instrumental in persuading government officials to authorize building many of the fine roads there now. He also developed the mission's educational department and has erected the building of the Lewis Memorial hospital at Tunda.

Reverend Wheeler was born in Lashmeet, West Virginia, in 1895. He received his B.A. degree from Asbury college, Wilmore, Kentucky, in 1926 and a theological diploma from the seminary there. In 1925 he married Laura Neel, of Shepherdstown, West Virginia, also a graduate of Asbury.

KEYS TO THE WESTERN AUTO association store at 844 Penniman avenue are being turned over to the new owner, Alvin (Rip) Collins, right, by former proprietor, O. E. Rooker. Collins took over the business this week from Rooker, who has been owner for 13 years. Mr. and Mrs. Rooker are now planning a Florida vacation. (Ply-Mail photo)

Rooker Sells Out To "Rip" Collins

The announcement was made recently that the Western Auto Association at 844 Penniman avenue was purchased from Orla E. Rooker by Alvin Rip Collins. Rooker was owner of the business since 1940.

Collins took over the business this week, though the grand opening will not be held for another week, while the store is redecorated. Collins, who is a native Plymouthite, was proprietor of Collins and Son for 21 years. He sold out about two and one-half years ago. Collins lives with his family at 546 Roe street.

When Rooker first opened his business here the store was located in the office now housing the Plymouth Taxi company. In May 1951 the store was opened at its present location.

Mr. and Mrs. Rooker will retain their home at 1348 Sheridan, though they are currently planning a trip to Florida.

Belle Farley Murray To Address Vivians

Belle Farley Murray will be the featured speaker at the meeting of the Vivians tonight, January 7, at 8 p.m. in the Elks Temple on Ann Arbor road. Mrs. Murray is a child psychologist with the University of Michigan Extension service. She has chosen "Child Care" as her topic. Mrs. Murray is well known to local residents, since she has spoken to groups here before.

Tonight's meeting will also be guest night, so all interested persons are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

City Commissioners Await Resolution To Sell Bonds for Interceptor Sewer

A special meeting of the city commission is expected to be called within the next week to approve a resolution to sell $97,000 worth of bonds to finance Plymouth's share of the Middle Rouge Interceptor sewer. The commission was prepared to vote on the resolution at its regular meeting Monday night but bonding attorneys had not completed the drafting of the resolution.

The commission publicly filed its intent to issue the bonds 30 days ago. When it approves the bond resolution, bids will be taken on the bonds and the cash turned over to the county for payment-in-full of Plymouth's share of the sewer project. By issuing its own bonds, the commission hopes to cut interest payments from six to about three per cent. Even though the county drain commission has sold its bonds for the project at 3.08 per cent, state law demands that drainage assessments must be paid with an interest rate of six per cent.

(Plymouth township is being assessed $111,009 but township governments cannot issue their own bonds like the municipalities. The township will therefore pay the full six per cent interest.)

The city of Plymouth itself relieved itself of any interest payments when commissioners heard Monday night to pay the interceptor sewer assessment on all city property in one lump sum instead of yearly installments for 15 years, such as most property owners will do. The city assessment is $2,192 which was paid from the contingent fund.

Monday's hour and a half meeting also included a lengthy discussion on the leasing of a city owned store room now rented by Beitner Jewelry. Fred Beitner appeared before the commission to ask that the present lease be redrawn. The tenants signed a lease several years ago agreeing to pay rent of five per cent on gross sales or $85 per month, whichever is greater. Beitner said that it was not his intent at that time to include miscellaneous income and repair in the gross sales, but that the city has been including all income.

Commissioners argued that gross sales would include all income, and concluded that since the lease runs out June 30, that the present lease should remain in effect and new terms be included when a new lease is considered. Two members of the electrical board were reappointed by Mayor Russell Daane. They were James Hones and S. T. Corbett. The terms are to expire January 15 and their new terms will continue one year. In the "citizens' suggestions" department, commissioners heard a vigorous protest from Vito Simonetti, 392 Farmer street, who objected to the noise at night caused by pumps at the Standard Oil company bulk station at Farmer and Amelia streets.

Canton Center Farm Bureau Holds Meeting

Members of the Canton Center Farm Bureau group will hold a meeting Friday, January 8, at 8 p.m. in the home of Floyd Fulton of 451 Lotz road.

Subject of the evening's discussion will be publicly owned lands and local taxation.

NOT EVERY "Welcome" sign at Plymouth's entrances is being held by a couple of young and beautiful maidens, but The Mail thought it would be worth a try in hopes that such a scheme might attract more business and residents. Since the temperature was 20 degrees at the time, Miss Peggy Wingard, left, and Miss Dorothy Keene decided to turn the sign holding job over to the colonial type post. The new signs are being placed on the outskirts by the Chamber of Commerce. (Ply-Mail photo)

Church Members Hold Full Week of Activities

Members and friends of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, enjoyed a full week of activities, starting with the Year End service on December 27. The Plymouth congregation was host to approximately 100 members and friends of the Ann Arbor, Wayne and Redford congregations.

McClaine was guest speaker. Following the sermon the colored movie entitled, "Unto All Creatures" was shown. This picture is not representative of the work done by the denomination but was extremely interested in that it depicted the work being done by missionaries in South America. A social hour followed with refreshments served by the Women's Circle.

Wednesday evening prayer service was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Perkins. The relationship of the young people, home from school for the holidays was enjoyed by all. Thursday evening the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. William Burger was enjoyed in their home for a New Year's eve party. During the midnight luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Russell Knight were surprised by being honored on their 26th wedding anniversary. The week's activities culminated in the members participating in the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper on the first Sunday of the New Year.

The evening service of January 3 was important and beautiful wherein two members of the congregation who had been called to the Priesthood were ordained. One of the outstanding features of this service was that all members of the Priesthood of Plymouth were present on the rostrum.

Warren Perkins was ordained to the office of Priest by Elder Athol Packer and Elder Noble Gault. Dale Parker was ordained to the office of Deacon by Elder Gerald Fitch and Elder Streling.

He watched the clock.
He was always late.
He was forever grumbling and complaining.
He only half did things.
He didn't study up on his job.
He associated with his inferiors.
He did not strive for promotion.
He didn't have to.
He was the president of the company.

To Begin Canvass of Homes For St. Mary Hospital Drive

The door-to-door campaign for funds for St. Mary hospital will begin January 11 in the communities of Plymouth, Livonia, Farmington, Northville, and Redford Township. Teams of volunteer workers who are unselfishly giving of their time and convenience, and even money, will visit the homes through the area, soliciting financial contributions.

Mrs. Austin Stecker, chairman of the Plymouth Community Appeal Committee, urges all to be courteous to the workers when they make their calls. "Their job is difficult enough," Mrs. Stecker said, "without doors being slammed in their faces. We are confident that the folks realize their responsibility to do something about this appalling shortage of adequate hospital facilities."

The campaign committee is confident that the residents of Plymouth, as well as the other communities in the area, of service of St. Mary hospital, will support this drive generously. After all, they have pointed out, this will not be an annual or periodic drive, but will take place once. It will be a once-in-a-lifetime campaign.

An indication of the communities interest is the number of civic and fraternal organizations which have endorsed the campaign. They are as follows: The Plymouth Woman's club, Western Wayne County Conservation association, Plymouth Branch of American association of University Women, Unit 16 MOMS of America, Inc., Stark-Newburg P.T.A., Plymouth Business and Professional Women's club, Plymouth Girl Scout Council, Plymouth Lions club, Plymouth V.F.W. Auxiliary, Farmington Ground Observer Corps, Farmington Business and Professional Women's club, Farmington Branch of American association of University Women, Blue Star Mothers, Girl Scout Troop Committee of Farmington, Farmington Kiwanis club, Farmington Auxiliary to Post No. 4033 V.F.W., Livonia P.T.A. Council, Bell Creek Farms association, Rosedale Gardens Civic association, Livonia Business and Professional Women's club, Livonia Chamber of Commerce, Livonia Junior Chamber of Commerce, Melody Manor Residents' association, Greenbriar Woods Civic association, Northville Business and Professional Women's club, and the Keeler School Mothers' club, Don Sherman, Hubert Post No. 345 V.F.W., and Chamber of Commerce of Redford Township.

White Plains Finds Meter Parking Lots Best Plan

Metered, off-street parking lots scattered strategically throughout the business section of White Plains, New York are credited with bringing the city of 50,000 the highest per capita retail business of any city its size on the United States.

Two-thirds of the city's shoppers come from the surrounding countryside, a recent Chamber of Commerce survey shows. Convenient, inexpensive parking has been a major magnet in attracting these buyers, businessmen report.

Inability to park easily is not only reducing value of centrally located, city properties and strangling retail trade, but it poses a threat to continued automobile sales.

Studies so far reveal that a dozen cities, approaching the problem in different ways, have found that solution of their parking problem is possible at reasonable cost and that it pays rich dollars and cents dividends. As in White Plains, many cities find their parking lots are self-liquidating.

White Plains, county seat of Westchester county just north of New York City, opened what it believes was the first metered parking lot in the country in May, 1946. The lot was placed under control of a five-man parking authority which sought to operate lots without incurring bonded indebtedness and in such a manner as to pay for themselves and others as needed. To get started, funds were loaned from the city's capital reserve to repay with interest out of receipts.

Since then, the number of such lots has grown to 13, with three more planned.

In addition to substantially increased retail business, these results are reported:

1. Traffic congestion has been materially reduced, a survey of one main street revealing a flow of 900 cars an hour now as compared to 350 cars an hour three years ago.

2. Meter collections, taken in a five cent charge for two hour parking, brought revenue of $149,000. It is expected indebtedness to the city's reserve fund will be paid in three years.

3. Capacity parking on the first lot, which had 94 meters geared for two hour parking, was achieved two years after opening. Experience has proven no lot wins immediate acceptance as the public must become accustomed gradually to the new convenience.

4. Downtown retail business volume since 1939 and a fifty per cent population increase in twenty years, the city's streets have comfortably handled the greater traffic volume. This has been a factor in influencing A. T. & T., General Foods, Union Carbide, Nestle's, and other business giants to move or plan to move their offices from New York City to White Plains.

5. Partly because of its parking lots, the White Plains trade area has a population of 250,000 and the competition of small outlying shopping districts, which have dealt heavy blows to business property in many cities, has been forestalled.

6. The city has become so parking conscious that clubs, churches, and apartments, among others, must provide off-street parking before building permits are approved. New apartments, for instance, must provide one space for each apartment and it is proposed now to demand this space be increased by fifteen per cent to provide for cars of guests.

7. Experience has proven no more than $800 per space should be spent if the cost is to be recovered in ten to fifteen years. White Plains' second lot, to care for 208 cars, cost about $71,000 including grading, paving, meters, lighting, signs, and incidentals or just under $340 per space.

"Making a beginning—wisely planned, the results will prove so valuable there will be no stopping," one businessman advised.

Research has developed a map-holder of transparent plastic for the use of motorists. The unit hooks across the back of any automobile seat.

Chicken-hearted people are always hatching excuses.

Henry dislikes being bathed and argues with his mother over and over every square inch of his four-year-old anatomy.

One night, when his patience was especially tried by what he considered wholly unnecessary work, he exclaimed: "Oh Mamma, couldn't you just skip my stomach? Nobody ever sees my stomach."

Wisdom gets a great deal of credit to which luck is entitled.

Cordia Pursell Weds Ronald Huettner In New Year's Eve Candlelight Ceremony

Johnson united in marriage Cordia Mae Pursell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pursell of South Main street, and Ronald Alfred Huettner, Ronald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Huettner of Cherry Hill road, Plymouth.

The altar was flanked with white poinsettias. Organ music was played by Mrs. Edna O'Connor.

Given in marriage by her father, Cordia was radiant in a pastel blue suit with which she wore matching accessories and a corsage of pink and white roses.

The bride's sister, Joanne Pursell, was the maid of honor. She wore a steel grey suit with matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Rex Bennett served Ronald as best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for the immediate relatives and a few close friends. The wedding cake centered the table, flanked by tall white candles tied with pink bows, and white poinsettias.

The young couple will make their home temporarily in Wayne, following their honeymoon to Niagara Falls, Ontario.

Family Concert-Date Moved to January 17

The downbeat beginning the third annual family concert of the Plymouth Symphony orchestra will be heard a week earlier than scheduled, according to an announcement by Wayne Dunlap, conductor of the orchestra. The concert will be given at 4 p.m. Sunday, January 17, instead of January 24, in the Plymouth high school auditorium.

Dunlap has selected a program of music which should have appeal for every member of the family, including the children. The woodwind instruments of the orchestra will be featured, along with some local junior high school musicians.

Because of the popularity of this concert in the past and the large audiences at previous concerts this year, Dunlap has urged families to come early if they wish seats in the auditorium. The public is invited to attend without charge.

The symphony concert will open with the "Tick Tack Polka from The Fledermaus" by Johann Strauss; the First Movement of the "Clarinet Concerto in A Major" by Mozart, featuring William Radant; "Sohloquy for Flute and Orchestra" by Rogers, with Nelson Havenstein; and the Last Movement of the "Symphony Concertante for Oboe, Clarinet, Horn and Bassoon" by Mozart, featuring Heodore Heger, oboe, William Radant, clarinet, William Weichlein, bassoon, and Leland Bartholomew, horn.

Following the intermission the orchestra will present the Wedding March and Scherzo from the "Incidental Music to a Midsummer Night's Dream" by Mendelssohn, "Peter and the Wolf" by Prokofieff, and "Clear Track Galop" by Eduard Strauss.

All of the soloists with one exception are faculty members of the University of Michigan. Leland Bartholomew, horn soloist, is a graduate of the University of Michigan and is now doing graduate study at Wayne University.

MICHIGAN'S PRIZE-WINNING FLOAT—First prize in the classification of States and Territories was awarded by the Tournament of Roses New Year's Day to "Michigan—Water Wonderland," the state's entry which also represented the Big Ten conference and its Rose Bowl representative, Michigan State. Parade watchers agreed that love liest of the 200,000 flowers was MSC's American Beauty, Donna Mae (Dee) Means, shown riding in her role as "Miss Big Ten."

Says Rose Parade Most Spectacular

By Cynthia Eaton

When we arrived in Los Angeles many members of the team were at the hotel to greet the Spartan rooters. It was a thrilling and confusing time but I wouldn't have missed it for the world.

Tuesday noon we attended a banquet for student leaders given by the U.C.L.A. student government. It was really nice. There were about sixty people there including the presidents and deans of both colleges. After the luncheon we were taken on a tour of Los Angeles, Beverly Hills, Santa Monica and of course the U.C.L.A. campus which is very lovely.

Tuesday night was the Big 10 banquet, which all students were invited to attend. It was really great and Bob Hope was master of ceremonies and at his best. After a tap dance act by Arthur Duncan, Bob Hope had half back Billy Wells come up on the stage and do a soft shoe dance he does often on our campus. While he was dancing Debby Reynolds came up behind him and he really was surprised. One reason Wells said he was anxious to go to the Rose Bowl was so that he could have a date with Debby Reynolds. He has one... New Years Night...

Also featured on the banquet program was Bob Crosby with his Bob-Cats and Modernaires. They played a jazzed-up, New Orleans style version of the M.S.C. fight song. Everybody went mad over it... really funny.

State Captain Don Dahoney was presented with a telegram at the banquet from 3,600 State students wishing the team good luck. It was the longest telegram ever received in Pasadena and took 4 1/2 hours to complete.

Also at the banquet the president of the Southern California M.S.C. alumni association presented coach Biggie Munn with a four leaf clover mounted in a plastic key chain. The clover was one Munn had picked during a practice session in East Lansing in September and had given to the Californian who was visiting there at the time. He told Munn he would save it and in case State came to the Rose Bowl he would give it back.

Pershing Square, which is two blocks from the hotel, has been the source of much interest and amusement for the students. Religious orators stand all over the square on boxes and preach for hours and they get awfully excited. It's quite a sight and it's also free.

Haven't seen too many of the Plymouth kids. On the way for our tickets yesterday we bumped into Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Schrader from Northville who flew out to the game. On our train coming out was Mary Olin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Olin former Plymouth residents. Ran into Bill Cowgill and Bob Arlen this afternoon and they said they had just completed a tour of Hollywood. Elaine Leitz sat two rows behind me at the game and Keith Miller who has a three day pass from Fort Knox is expected to arrive here tomorrow to see the game.

We are really excited about that game tomorrow. All student tickets are between the 30 and 50 yard lines.

Students bounded into the streets at 6:30 a.m. today to catch our busses for the Tournament of Roses. Busses as usual were an hour late so we all sang songs on the corner. By the time we finally got to the parade which was still an hour off people were lined four deep and were standing on buildings, ladders, chairs, tables etc. Some even strapped themselves to trees and poles and for a $1.00 you could buy a special homemade strap hanger to hold you on to a tree.

The parade itself was a sight to see. Many of the floats, especially those covered with roses, looked like they were done in velvet. It certainly was spectacular.

In the stadium I think the thing State students enjoyed most was the beautiful flash card section of the U.C.L.A. student body. They were magnificent but we did a pretty good job with the 3,000 pennants we had on hand.

Spartan spirits were at a low ebb at the half but took a turn for the better in the 3rd quarter.

During the fourth quarter the loud speaker made many requests for people to stay off the field after the game. This didn't do much good however because as the gun sounded in seconds the goal posts were down and being broken to shreds for souvenirs.

Spartan players were no doubt tired from their part of the game but certainly Spartan rooters were equally exhausted from stamping their feet which made a tremendous noise on the bleachers. Although exhausted from a gay week and a thrill packed game students kept up a continual stream of songs during the two hour bus ride back to the hotel where most of them, me included, collapsed to wait for the special trains leaving at ten in the morning.

Sport Glances

by "Professor" Edgar Brown

True to form, Michigan State came back in the second half to win the game of all games, the Rose Bowl contest, held on the first day of this year in California. The first half the Spartans looked mediocre and were behind 14 to 7 at intermission time, but they looked like an entirely different team when the whistle blew for the start of the final half, and came to life with a "bang" to win going away 28 to 20. During the second half they looked just as good as they did back the first part of the contest. The blocking was off during the early part of the game, but sharpened up considerably after the half.

Local Teams Resume Play

The Plymouth high school athletic teams will again resume activity after the holiday lay-off when the swimming and basketball squads go into action this week. A swimming meet will take place here today with the strong Ypsilanti Central squad providing the competition. The meet will be held at 4 p.m. with admittance to the natatorium from the parking lot behind the school.

The frosh swimming team will conclude their brief two-meet schedule next Monday with a duel meet at Highland Park. The Parkers beat the Rock frosh last month at Plymouth.

In basketball, the Rock varsity squad journeys to Allen Park for its third league game tomorrow night. They currently sport a one-one record with a loss to Trenton and a win over Redford Union. Allen Park has not lost a league game this year and holds wins over Belleville and Redford Union, and have held their opponents to less than 30 points per game by playing a controlled type of basketball.

Last year the Rocks edged the Jaguars by a 59 to 56 score there and humiliated them at home 70 to 43. Next Tuesday Plymouth goes to Southfield for the lone game of the year against that opponent. The next home game is with Belleville on the evening of Friday, January 15.

The Reserves play the same

Hole-in-One at Washtenaw

Washtenaw country club at Ypsilanti laid claim this week to the first hole-in-one for 1954 in Michigan—and who knows, perhaps the nation!

The trick was turned by Merle "Doc" Hutton, longtime Washtenaw member, on the par 3, 145-yard 13th hole Saturday, Jan. 2. It was Hutton's first ace in 35 years of golf—and it developed into a most profitable one. Playing with a regular group of "year-around" golfers, 13 in all, Hutton's hole-in-one was worth five skins per opponent—or 60 points for one hole alone! (Most golfers know what this would mean, monetarily speaking.)

Among those playing with Hutton were Larry Pentik, former Washtenaw pro, former club president Jim Roy, and Fred Young, club director.

COBB RECALLS GREAT PLAYERS OF HIS DAY

Major League players of today could be every bit as good as they were 35 or 40 years ago, if they would only apply their talents and capitalize on their opportunities, Ty Cobb relates in The Sporting News. The Hall of Fame outfielder, who is regarded as the greatest player in the history of the game, makes a number of interesting observations in the story.

He says the modern players don't go all-out to attain their full potentials and neglect base running, the hit-and-run and the sacrifice, as well as the psychological aspects of the game.

Years ago, Cobb points out, there was no distinction between banjo hitters and home run sluggers—all of them knew how to take care of themselves on the bases. As an example, he cites Sam (Wahoo) Crawford, who twice won the home run championship and, if he had played in the lively ball era, would have challenged Babe Ruth. Yet, Sam also stole 367 bases in his major league career, including 41 in one season alone.

The second installment of Cobb's story, as told to Lowell Reidenbaugh, will appear in the January 6 issue of The Sporting News.

LISTING FORMER MAJOR LEAGUERS IN MINORS

The Sporting News reports the following managerial assignments in the minor league for ex-major leaguers: Bob Sturgeon (Cubs) for Edmonton in the Western International... Ernie White (Cardinals) for Columbia in the Sally League... Jo Jo White (Tigers, Athletics and Reds) has signed with Keokuk of the Three-I League... Travis Jackson (Giants) has been named manager of Lawton in the Sooner State League... Hillis Layne, who had several trials with Washington gets the post at San Angelo in the Longhorn League and Cliff Dapper, who was in the Dodger system for years takes the helm at Billings in the Pioneer League.

FUEL FOR THE HOT STOVE LEAGUE

The major leagues will have their first real policeman in many years, when Duke Markell reports to the Philadelphia Phillies next spring, The Sporting News points out. The righthander who pitched for Syracuse (International League) in 1953, is a cop in New York during the off-season... A total of 61 night games, a record high for metropolitan New York, will be played by the Yankees, Giants and Dodgers in the coming season. The Dodgers have scheduled 26, the Giants 19 and the Yankees 16... Park rentals from pro football teams proved a big help this year to the treasuries of several major league baseball clubs. Despite the drop in attendance at Detroit, the Tigers broke even on the year as a result of the money they received from the football Lions for use of Briggs Stadium. The White Sox, Cubs and Senators also have pro grid clubs as tenants of their parks... Maury McDermott, the young Red Sox lefthander who was recently traded to the Senators, led all major league hurlers in night-game performance last season, winning 10 straight without defeat, The Sporting News discloses.

LUNA SHIVERS IN ST. LOUIS COLD

Guillermo (Memo) Luna, the little 23-year-old Pacific Coast lefthander bought by the Cardinals from San Diego suffered more from the cold than anything else in his first visit to St. Louis, reports The Sporting News.

The Mexican, who had finished pitching winter ball in Cuba, was brought to St. Louis for a physical check-up as a precautionary measure. The Redbirds are committed to $90,000 in cash or players for his contract.

Luna found during his visit to the club physician that (1) he's in good shape, (2) he's got one bad tooth and (3) that St. Louis isn't Mexico.

The temperature was only eight degrees above zero.

WILBER SOCKS HOMERS IN PINCH

Del Wilber of the Red Sox was the No. 1 home run belter in a substitute role, socking four drives out of the lot, reports The Sporting News in a story on pinch-hitters. Wilber's total was only one short of the American League mark, set by Joe Cronin in 1943.

Athletic Alumni Group Organizes

Many of the former high school athletes and students home for the holidays from college, the service and other cities expressed personal satisfaction in the fact that there is being formed in Plymouth an athletic alumni association, according to temporary chairman David Gates.

The groundwork has been laid by Mr. Gates and his co-workers for the past few weeks, and a number of former athletes and those interested in the promotion of athletics in Plymouth have indicated a desire to be active in such an organization. Over 50 have already signed up as interested, and many more are expected before the next meeting which is scheduled for Sunday, January 17, in the high school gymnasium.

At the last meeting in December it was decided to open the group to anyone interested in encouraging boys to participate in athletic programs. A few possible functions discussed were: to set up a cash aid or scholarship for needy boys going to college; an annual reunion outing; an annual reunion dance; assist in the running of athletic contests; assist needy boys in procuring necessary equipment so that they can go out for an athletic team; sponsor an all-sports banquet; award trophy to the best all-around student and athlete; seek a representative on the School-Community Planning Group.

Anyone not attending the last meeting and interested in learning more about this organization should attend the meeting a week from this coming Sunday. More information about this can be obtained from Mr. Gates, or any coach in the athletic office at the high school.

NO AMATEUR job is the oil well drilling being carried on near Salem on the Roy LeMaster farm. Top photo shows the heart of the drilling rig with the rotating bit now extending more than 3,200 feet below the ground. An oil well worker is at left at the controls of the diesel motor which turns the drill, while Mr. LeMaster looks on. At left is a view of the rig as it looks from the LeMaster barn.

Search for Oil Nears City

Is Plymouth headed for an oil boom?

Chances are that the city will never become an oil town but there is at least one Michigan oil drilling firm that is attempting to strike "black gold" in this area.

With their drilling now down to 3,300 feet, the William C. Taggart company of Big Rapids hopes to find oil at around 4,000 feet on the farm of Roy LeMaster, 9243 Napier road. The farm is located eight miles north-west of here.

Twenty-four hours a day the giant rotary drill digs into the crust of the earth. A visit to the drilling site by The Mail this week presented a peculiar picture to a Michigan native who is unaccustomed to seeing a towering oil derrick sitting in the middle of a farm. The drilling project is located several hundred yards behind the LeMaster barn in a small gully.

When the drilling reaches 4,000 feet (there are 5,280 feet in a mile), the drill bit will be in the "Trenton formation" which is a limestone found in Ohio, eastern Indiana and Michigan sometimes rich in oil.

It was only several weeks ago that the Taggart company made a "significant" strike in southwestern Washtenaw county. After reaching a depth of only 1,000 feet, oil was found. It is believed to be the largest potential production of any shallow well ever dug in southeastern Michigan. Early reports indicate the well is capable of producing at a rate of 40 barrels an hour or about 1,000 barrels a day.

Hovering over the drilling apparatus on the LeMaster farm is a derrick 92 feet high. Every four to eight hours the bit which has been chewing into rock since the 400 foot depth, near to be changed. This means that the entire length of drilling shank must be pulled out of the ground and a new bit inserted. The shank breaks up into 75-foot lengths and is hoisted to the top of the derrick. It takes about three-hours to change a bit.

Three shifts of four men each work around the clock on the drilling. Before the drilling started, it was necessary to drill a well to provide water. The water is pumped into a small pond, the pond saturated with a sealing chemical which is then poured into the shaft. Cracks or earth are thereby sealed up, preventing water from continually flowing into the shaft.

A ground testing center called the Hycalog company moved a trailer onto the site last week. They now have a crew working around the clock making tests of the material found at the various levels. A casing 12 inches in diameter was sunk into the shaft down to 400 feet. Below that, there is just an eight inch sealed hole.

Not far from the LeMaster farm is a gas well drilled to 4,052 feet. There was a new gas well drilled in Oakland county between South Lyon and Northville last October by William J. Morriss of Highland Park. The recent gas well makes five producible wells in that area, one deep well and four shallow wells, according to W. L. Daoust, acting state geologist.

homa edged first-place Maryland in the Orange bowl by a 7 to 0 score. This was no surprise to me as I have never considered Maryland as the number one team in the country even though they ended up in that place according to the polls. Maryland just did not play the tough schedule that Notre Dame, Oklahoma, and many other teams did, and I honestly believe that three or four teams could have beaten the Terps on any given Saturday.

MSC will be back strong again next year as they don't lose too many top-notchers, but I don't look for them to repeat as Big Ten champions. Look out for Iowa next year! They had a team predominantly composed of sophomores this year and tied Notre Dame, lost to Michigan by one point, and to MSC by a few points. Yes, Iowa will be in the thick of it next season, and I'll wager that they will go to the Rose Bowl either next fall or the following season.

The University of Michigan will have a good basketball team this year—something that is a rarity at the Maize and Blue institution. Coach Bill Perigo has introduced some real offensive basketball at Ann Arbor since he took over last year.

So far this season the Wolverines have lost three games—all close ones, but have averaged nearly 80 points a game. Saturday night they dropped a close two-point game to last year's national champions, Indiana, 68 to 66. The teams were tied until the final 7 seconds when Indiana whipped in the deciding basket. The latter team are again favorites to win the Big Ten crown, but Michigan, Minnesota and a few others will give them a tussle, and it will be a close race.

Much of the old-time Christmas spirit was in evidence this year preceding the best of all holidays. The Chamber of Commerce Christmas decoration committee did a swell job, as they always do, and the women's club who decorated the lamp posts with boughs are to be complimented on a grand job. Also the Elks lodge for the part they played in bringing Santa Claus here with all the sacks of candy to give to the hundreds of youngsters. Wasn't it nice to hear of the family who went out Christmas caroling to their neighbors' homes? More families should do the very same thing and try to be more neighborly in every way. If we could only spread the Christmas' feeling out over 52 weeks instead of a couple! I believe we could if we gave it a little positive thinking.

Many fishermen were observed moving their shanties out of town last weekend to the nearby abounding lakes for some good old winter ice fishing. Many reported good catches of bluegills and perch. Some who didn't have a shanty, but just knocked a hole in the ice and fished in the open reported good catches also. Last weekend was really the first time the ice was solid enough to fish with any amount of success.

The Detroit Red Wings are currently tied for the lead in hockey with the Montreal Canadiens. The Red Wings have won the last 6 league titles only to falter, for the most part, in the playoffs. This year, I don't believe the Red Wings will win the league crown, but that the fast-stepping Montreal Canadiens will come out on top. The Canadiens have been playing most of the season without the services of their star rookie, Jean Beliveau, who is now back and is expected to give them much added strength in the stretch run. The Canadiens should also win the Stanley Cup playoffs—I think it will be between them and the Red Wings for the cup.

The measure of a man is determined by how much it takes to get his goat.

A paper out in Northwestern Kansas tells of a pious old farmer who has the habit of gazing at the rafters in his dining room when saying grace. One day while so engaged he forgot himself, and his grace sounded something like this: "We thank thee for this food, and —by Joe! there's that darned gimlet I've been looking for for the last six months. I'll have Jim go up there and get it. Thou hast been gracious to us, O Lord, and again we thank thee. Amen!"

Michigan Population May Increase Up to Million and Half by 1956

Michigan's population shows no signs of leveling off. In fact, there may be as many as a million and a half more people in the Wolverine State by 1960.

Michigan State college Sociologists, J. Allen Beegel and J. F. Thaden, reached that conclusion after an extensive study of population changes in Michigan from 1940 to 1950. They published their findings in a M. S. C. special bulletin.

Back in 1940 rural birth rates were higher in the urban population, and the increasing migration of people from farm to city was believed to be the thing that would tend to level off the population. But that belief was proved unfounded, according to the sociologists. By 1950 the birth rate in cities was substantially greater than for rural areas.

And in 1940, people in the lower economic strata of the rural population had the most children. But by 1950, those in the high income brackets were the most prolific.

Other population changes in the decade which Beegel and Thaden term the most significant:

A great movement of people from cities to the suburbs—far greater in number than people moving from rural areas to the cities. That's despite the fact that Michigan's farm population was reduced from more than three and a half million to about 856,000 during the past 30 years. Increases in the rural parts of the state numbered 263,000 from 1940 to 1950—nearly 15 per cent of the rural population. At the same time increases in the urban parts numbered 66,000—about two per cent of the 1940 urban population.

The vast increase in the rural population has led some experts to predict that by the year 2000 the southern portion of Michigan will be made up of cities and suburbs and only a sprinkling of farms.

Industrial expansion in the 40's attracted people from other states as well as from Michigan's rural areas. Between 1939 and 1947, the number of manufacturing establishments increased by 66 per cent and the number of production workers by 58 per cent.

Only loss in population in the state came to the Upper Peninsula and the northern part of the lower peninsula. All areas to the south gained, the heaviest gains being the metropolitan areas.

Detroit increased its population by 257,000. The population of the state was increased by one-fifth in the past decade.

IT TOOK A PLYMOUTH DENTIST to cause traffic congestion on the main streets of Omaha, Nebraska during the holiday week with his unusual holiday decorations in the rear window of his car. Dr. S. N. Thams, visiting his son and daughter-in-law, Captain and Mrs. R. W. Thams, in that city used his spare time to build the attractive holiday scene pictured above in the rear window of his car. When he parked on the streets or passed another motorist Dr. Thams would flash the light in the Santa Claus and the church which caused no little interest among the residents of the Nebraska city.

"Chief Fire Marshal" Badges Given 78 Young Best Citizens

Seventy-eight youngsters in five of the city's public and parochial elementary schools have received badges from the city fire department designating them as "Chief Fire Marshal." Fire Chief Robert J. McAllister also gave out "Fire Marshal" cards to those children who completed a fire inspection of their home during Fire Prevention Week.

The Chief Fire Marshal badges were given to a boy and a girl in each elementary class for being selected by their classmates as the "best citizen." This is the first year that such awards were given, McAllister stated. Not included in the program this year was Allen Elementary school.

NAM Claims Nation Can Support 190 Million Persons by 1975

The United States has a potential capacity to support a population of 190 million persons by 1975 at a level about 72 per cent above current living standards, the National Association of Manufacturers reported here today.

The NAM, in compiling data on the nation's probable population growth during the next 22 years and on its possibilities for better satisfying the needs of its citizens, found indications that by 1975 this country may have:

1. With a 190 million population, 33 million more persons than in 1952.
2. A work force of 88.6 million, 22.1 million more than in 1952.
3. Physical, human and other production resources, if properly utilized, to permit a per capita income of $3,200 a year, about 72 per cent above the 1952 average of $1,860.

Presbyterians Consider Need For More Space

The building committee of the First Presbyterian church was recently expanded to study the needs for additional space to handle the increasing membership of the church and Sunday school. Church services and Sunday schools are now held at both 9:30 and 11 a.m. each Sunday. The average Sunday school attendance has increased from 199 in 1950 to the present 316, an increase of 59 per cent.

R. Douglas Shaw, who is general chairman of the committee, announced the appointment of the following sub-committee chairmen at a meeting held in the church on December 16: study, Richard Daniel; plans and construction, Eugene Light; finance, Elvin Taylor; and publicity, Robert Webber.

Grange Gleanings

Tonight's meeting is the first meeting of the New Year, and we hope to see a fine crowd there. It is especially important that those who have Blue Cross insurance must pay their Grange dues now in order to be protected. The usual pot luck supper will be held at 7 p.m. with the meeting following.

The card party Saturday night comes next, and let's make that a success too. There will be prizes as usual and lunch will be served downstairs.

Monday evening is Lily club too, so bring your friends and come. Bring sandwiches and/or cake.

Pomona Grange meets Tuesday night. Several Granges will be represented, and a good crowd is hoped for. Lunch will be served after the meeting.

U-M Club Hosts Wrestling Coach

University of Michigan wrestling coach Cliff Keen will present a film and demonstration of wrestling at the meeting of the Plymouth University of Michigan club on Wednesday, January 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the Plymouth high school gymnasium. All interested persons are invited to attend.

The program will begin with a 15-minute movie on wrestling, followed by a 45-minute demonstration of wrestling techniques by members of the university wrestling team.

Keen, who is also assistant coach of the Michigan football squad, coached his wrestlers to the championship of the Big Ten last year. For 28 years Keen has been turning out top-notch squads, his teams winning the Big Ten title five times and finishing no lower than third on 23 other occasions. He has also developed a number of individual conference, national and Olympic champions, the most notable being Ed Don George, Olympic titlist and later world's professional king.

Keen also served as manager of the 1945 United States Olympic wrestling team and was active in the preparation of the 1952 team.

The high school band will play at the beginning of the program.

The term "Swiss Navy" used to be a joke because Switzerland didn't have any warships or merchant marine. However, it isn't a joke any more because the mountainous little country has a merchant fleet of 33 vessels, 22 of which are ocean-going. The Swiss fleet came into being in World War II, because the country didn't wish to be dependent on belligerent ships for supplies.

The post New Year's Eve party was a huge success. The limited amount of tickets sold proved to be an asset to the party fun-making. A very good time was had by one and all.

The polio drive is being observed this month by the Auxiliary by assisting in the Mothers' March in Plymouth. Virginia Bartel will be in charge of the March that is to be held January 28. A polio card party will be held at the post home, across from Arbor-Lill, January 13 at 8 p.m. Special prizes and gimmicks are promised. If you do not have tickets, phone 1842-W or go to the Linda Lee shop.

The Mothers' March in conjunction with the polio drive is going to be a bigger and better endeavor than ever before. More thorough coverage of the city is being planned. The Auxiliary has been duly notified and has complied to assist in this very worthy effort. Anyone, regardless of membership in any organization or club, wishing to help, please contact Virginia Bartel, 1842-W. Remember, this is a nationwide campaign, and all of us should do our part.

Workmen began the final job of removing the last traces of Christmas in Plymouth last Sunday morning. Trucks started the removal of the Christmas greens and lights which were put up by the Chamber of Commerce and in this respect a pat on the back is due the C of C and its decorating committee for the job this year. Plymouth was not overdone from a decoration standpoint and many people were heard to remark on the good taste used in putting up the greens, lights and figures. The pattern followed this year will be extended in the years ahead and for the first time permanent lighting connections have been installed to eliminate repetition year after year.

Another pat on the back is due the employees in the local post office for the tremendous job they did in handling the multitude of mail which set new records in Plymouth this year. According to postmaster George Timpona every letter and package that arrived in the city before or on Christmas was delivered before the holiday was over. He and his staff, we are sure, deserve much credit for the grand job they did.

It is with sincere regret we read elsewhere in this issue of the retirement of Stanley Corbett, who announces the sale of his business and his intention of moving to Florida where he will make his future home. Plymouth's loss will be Florida's gain as the sharp tongued, quick witted Irish electrician moves to New Smyrna Beach where he will make his future home and bask in the sunshine with his daughter Lorraine.

A Monday morning call from Edward C. Hough informed us that he had noted our particular Christmas card problem during the past year and that he thought he had an unusual happening this year when two of his grandsons, one in Miami, Florida and the other in Ann Arbor should each have selected the same Christmas cards for their mailing this year. Of further interest, Mr. Hough stated, he received his annual card from Rotarian Frederick C. P. Cole of Plymouth, England, the latter an acquaintance made at the Rotary International convention in Austerlitz, Belgium in 1927. To cap off his holiday card incidents was a most welcome telephone call from his daughter Athalie in Durban, South Africa on Saturday which came through as clearly as if it had been made here in town.

Local civic leaders pin pointed some of the problems that face the resident of this area in 1954 in the columns of last week's Mail. Among them were the widening of Main street, provisions for more parking, better downtown street lighting, adoption of a broader and revised zoning ordinance in the township, the need for more schools, etc.

Each problem, almost as important as the other, and all an immediate necessity for the steady economic growth and development of the community. City officials, township officials, civic leaders and businessmen can not be urged too strongly to support these projects and bring pressure to bear to see to it that action is forthcoming.

As the community grows and the problems of city and township become more entwined, it is inevitable that sometime in the future these two units of government must unite for the good of all concerned. To start a new year, one which has all of the promise of 1954, seems a most opportune time to start the study of area problems, hand in hand, with township and city residents, leaders, manufacturers and businessmen conducting a survey of the needs of the overall locality.

The school serves the entire area well and they have set a pattern which city and township officials could copy in the creation of a study commission, made up equally by city and township residents, to recommend those moves which would be most advantageous to all, and which would go farthest in bringing about the most orderly, economically-wise and soundest steps to be taken for the good of all concerned. This also should be a first for 1954 and from this unified effort the city and township could and would benefit far more than our greatest expectations today.

Roger Babson Says

MESSAGE TO SOLDIERS' WIVES

Babson Discusses Jobs For Servicemen
Babson Park, Mass., Jan 7. Let me start 1954 by writing to the many servicemen's wives. So many are wondering what their husbands are to do after discharge. Certainly, don't wait until your man gets back before you and he discuss the future. Why not devote to this subject your very next letter to him enclosing this message from me.

FORMER EMPLOYERS WILL BE HELPFUL

If your husband had a job when he was drafted, the chances are that his former employer will be proud to take him back. I wonder, however, if your husband will be content to be a mere cog in a big wheel again after he returns? Men differ. Some are born to work for others and will be happier doing so; while some men will do better in a little business by themselves. Some prefer large cities; while others like small cities and towns. Don't try to make your soldier boy over into someone else. Try to find out what he likes best, for what he is best fitted—and then help him make good.

OPPORTUNITIES EVERYWHERE

Opportunities exist today which may not exist a year or more hence. I see them everywhere—vacant stores, closed real estate offices, rundown garages, vacant gas stations, etc. As an illustration, consider the closed automobile sales agencies. To buy one of these now, properly located, where a family can live on the property, may be like finding money.

Small stores and lunchrooms, where the owner can live upstairs or adjoining, are now for sale cheap. They will be in demand again some day. No one will get rich in such a place; but it gives independence and assures work to all the family. The same applies to scores of little businesses, from barber shops to repair shops of all kinds. There will always be good opportunities for anyone who knows more about any one thing than anyone else in his neighborhood.

PARKING LAND IS GOOD INSURANCE

I think that a piece of land will appeal to many returning soldiers. Incidentally, the best buy in every community is that adjoining or near a parking lot. If you and your husband came from a farm and want to go back to the same home farm, this is wonderful. However, unless you know farming, you had better be content with an acre of good land located near schools, stores, and a church. Latest scientific agricultural experiments indicate that you can feed your family on a very small plot, provided your husband has some "job on the side" to get spending money. Have you read my recent column on "New Inventions and New Discoveries"? Those contemplating land for farming should buy adjoining a State or U. S. Agricultural Experiment Station.

BUY MERCHANDISE AND BANK STOCKS

In almost every community

there are several "chain stores." They may be grocery chains, or variety chains, such as the "5 cents to 5 dollars" kind. Ask your local banker to tell you which of these in your town has its stock listed on the New Year Stock Exchange. Buy a few shares. This might even help your husband in getting a job with one of these growing merchandising concerns.

Perhaps before buying a chain store stock, it would be well to buy a few shares of stock in your local bank. Banks are doing well right now, and it may help your husband get started right to have a few shares of local bank stock and to know the men who run the bank.

PARENTS SHOULD HELP MORE

Soldiers who have been overseas are coming home with better ideas than when they left. Many are realizing that the only things worthwhile for a family or a nation are: (1) good land; (2) good babies; (3) good education; and (4) good character.

I trust that fathers and mothers, as well as wives and sweethearts, will encourage these sensible ideas. Parents, especially, should help their young people get started right when they return. But begin to plan for them NOW; remember, "shrouds don't have pockets."

"Possible financial disaster" is in store for Michigan unless present sales tax diversion provisions are changed, says Rep. Rollo G. Conlin, Lenawee Republican.

He expects to present a proposal to the Legislature, which meets January 13, to remove the risk. It will be an amendment to the Constitution. To become law, it must first be approved by the legislature and ratified in the next election by the people of the state.

Always complicated, state financial problems are difficult to understand; even more difficult to explain to others. People directly affected are likely to oppose change on general principles, unless there is no question that they will benefit.

Many people are affected in the case of sales tax diversion and much is at stake.

Sales tax income is big money. In the fiscal year ending in June, 1953, the sales tax pie amounted to nearly $262 million. It is sliced into several sections. Under present law, one half must be returned to local governments. This is allotted on a per capita basis.

Another half penny of each three goes to school districts. An additional amount is also set aside for schools as computed by an involved formula. The formula requires that 44.77% of sales tax returns go to schools.

Time could be the villain in this system. Under present law, legislatures must appropriate the coming year's funds based on last year's returns... permitting a two year lag.

"What would happen if a sudden recession caused sales to drop off substantially with a resulting reduction in money collected?" asks Rep. Conlin. "The legislature might be forced by law to pay an amount based on figures from a good year but with income from a poor year. It is even possible that the law would require a payment larger ed to the elections campaigns in the fall—and how they will be affected by action in the legislature.

A big problem will be finance. It usually is.

The coming session is held in what used to be an "off year". Then it was decided that the legislature would meet annually—only briefly in off years to consider the budget and appropriations.

It hasn't worked out that way. More than 300 bills are reported to be in some stage of preparation. They cover a wide range of subjects: ice box doors, bonuses for Korean veterans, speed limits, capital punishment, a multitude of matters.

These other subjects give opportunity for legislators to make a record for themselves and their parties to be used in the coming campaign.

The governor can be expected to play a naturally leading role. His message will recommend specific laws and appropriations. The manner in which legislators deal with these recommendations will also provide campaign material.

Much is at stake for each party. Much is at stake for many politicians as individuals.

With chips down, everyone will be attempting to catch the opponent off balance, without dropping his guard himself.

Present political plans can set the stage for first phases of the campaign battle.

"It the baby strong?"
"Well rather, you know what a tremendous voice he has."
"Yes."
"Well he lifts that five or six times an hour."

By Les Wilson

The taking of action pictures—good ones, that is—is mainly a case of practice and the ability to anticipate peak physical action. The equipment you need is simple enough; any camera that can be focused, that has a sharp lens and shutter speeds of 1/200 second or more, can handle the job.

For certain pictures there is often just one instant when the story can be effectively told. As a result you may find yourself snapping a batch of shots that may not miss completely, but simply do not tell the story exactly as you intended. This is where the ability to anticipate action and capture it through the proper sense of timing will pay big dividends.

Go where the action is, practice and experiment. Some of your shots will be as meaningless as a teeter-totter in an old folk's home, some will hit the bullseye, but—good or bad—you will be learning.

Your shots are more likely to hit the bullseye though if you have perfectly synchronized equipment to start with—and that's where we shine more brightly than the North Star! For EXPERT CAMERA REPAIRS come to THE PHOTOGRAPHIC CENTER, at 821 West Ann Arbor Trail TODAY!

A helpful hint to color picture-takers... we can provide you with the fastest possible service on processing your color film. In addition, we have an extremely large assortment of color film to meet all your photographic needs.

Creamy Dream Fudge

A holiday treat that is a treat the whole year round is the dream fudge prepared by Mrs. James Diener of 346 Irvin. The fudge is especially appreciated

Dream Fudge
4½ cups sugar
1 large can evaporated milk
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 pound milk chocolate bar
3 8-ounce packages chocolate bits
8 ounce jar marshmallow cream or whip
1½ cups chopped walnuts

Mrs. James Diener and Christine put away some of the dream fudge.

pounds, which though it sounds like a lot, is quickly eaten, Mrs. Diener, however, generally gives some of the delicious fudge away to friends.

Mix sugar, salt, milk, and butter and bring to the boiling point, and then cook over medium heat, stirring constantly to prevent scorching for 4½ minutes. (Clock time exactly).

Break chocolate bar into pieces, and mix with chocolate bits, marshmallow cream and vanilla in a large bowl. Pour hot mixture over the chocolate mixture and beat thoroughly. When very creamy add nuts and mix. Turn into a 10 by 14 buttered pan. The fudge will keep moist indefinitely if packed in a tight container.

by the Diener's young daughter Christine. It was one of the favorite foods enjoyed by the children who attended Christine's sixth birthday party recently.

The nicest feature about the fudge, Mrs. Diener said, is that it stays creamy, and thus can be kept for some time. She added that it is ideal for sending overseas for it arrives in the same condition as if it had been freshly made.

George A. Peek To Be Speaker At Woman's Club

A discussion of Senate loyalty investigations in Michigan will be given by George A. Peek, assistant professor in political science at the University of Michigan, at the meeting of the Plymouth Woman's club on Friday, January 8. The group will meet at 1 p.m. in St. John's Episcopal church.

Peek received the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1940, Master of Arts in 1941 and Doctor of Philosophy in 1948, all from the University of Virginia. He joined the faculty of the University of Michigan in 1948 as an instructor in political science.

Peek is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Delta Tau Delta, Alpha Kappa Psi and the Raven society. Tea chairman for the meeting will be Mrs. Elmore Carney. Mrs. Frank Allison, Mrs. C. M. Bentley, Mrs. Otto Beyer, Mrs. C. H. Buzzard, Mrs. Ray Covell, Mrs. David Davies, Mrs. Arthur Donnelly, Mrs. William Herbold, Mrs. Jess Hines and Mrs. E. D. Kenyon will serve as hostesses.

Cliff Swallow Builds Bulky Nest Which Is More Obvious Than Bird

In some areas this relatively common swallow is known as the eaves swallow. The names suggest that the birds may nest under the eaves of buildings or on cliffs. The nests are often more obvious than the birds. They are usually gourd-shaped structures of mud with a lining of grass, leaves, feathers and wool. Of course, they differ from the burrows of the bank swallows and the mud nests of the barn swallows.

The National Wildlife Federation is interested in all kinds of wildlife whether this refers to game species or not and would welcome observations made on these birds. The cliff swallow, "Petrochelidon pyrrhonota," is about six inches long with a wingspread of just over one foot and a tail about 2½ inches long. The sexes are about equal in size. The most distinguishing field character is the light brown to buffy rump and the square-tipped tail. The upper parts are steel blue, much like those of the barn swallow. While the bank swallow has a whitish throat patch, the throat of the cliff swallow is dark.

There are three subspecies of the cliff swallow recognized: the Northern, the Mexican and the Lesser. Of these, the Northern has as its breeding ground the region from central Alaska to Cape Breton Island south through the United States except for Florida and the Rio Grande Valley. In winter, the birds migrate south through Florida and Central America to Brazil and the Argentine returning to the North in time for the Spring breeding season.

In the nest the female cliff swallow lays four or five white or creamy and pinkish eggs that are marked with dark brown or reddish brown. The eggs are about 4/5 inch by two-thirds inch at their maximum and it would take 16 of them to reach a weight of one ounce. There is but one annual brood and the incubation and the care of the young is shared by both parents. Incubation takes from 12 to 14 days.

The fact that cliff swallows nest in colonies is often to their advantage. Such colonies are bound to attract attention and survival in any species is more likely if attention of potential enemies is avoided.

In the nest-making, muddy materials may be dropped to the porch floors beneath the eaves and this creates a condition that is not appreciated by tidy folk. The result of course is that the cause is removed. This is unfortunate both for the swallows and for the men involved. The food of these swallows is almost exclusively insects. Among the insects found in some of 275 stomachs of these birds were the following whose names are likely to raise the ire of farmers and those whose living depends on the raising of plant crops: alfalfa weevils, chinch bugs, rice weevils, and cotton boll weevils. With them were spiders and now and then a few wild berries.

One should not evaluate all of nature solely on an economic basis and anyone who has taken the opportunity of studying cliff swallows or other swallows for that matter need not be enlightened by lists of noxious creatures that enter the diet of the birds to become their champions. The birds are just good, ordinary, beautiful neighbors and as such they deserve our friendship and cooperation.

Ida: Yes, that is Mrs. Snoot. Her husband is a famous coach. May: That's a good combination. She's a regular nag.

MSC TV to Carry Own Sport Program

Thirty-five hours of "live" programs a week will be telecast by WKAR-TV when the Michigan State college television station goes on the air on channel 60-UHF in mid-January.

This program of "live" shows will be more than is produced by CBS Television City in Hollywood, according to James B. Tintera, production manager at WKAR-TV.

In addition to the regular schedule of studio telecast programs, Tintera states that the production department will have overall supervision of programs which will originate from WKAR-TV's mobile unit. Coverage of 13 sports events will be done on-the-spot. Also, events of wide public interest will be brought to the listeners of WKAR-TV within a 65-mile radius of East Lansing.

Tintera points out that the production department of WKAR-TV will have closest contact with the people who will participate in the programs. He describes the complex nature of the television production—requiring 10 times as many persons as for a similar radio program—as a selecting and integrating of such varying factors as scenery, lighting, cameras, make-up, crews, properties, graphic arts, audio, and directors.

Productions manager Tintera says that such items as make-up for men, matters of dress appropriate to television, and the use of mechanical methods of prompting will have the close attention of his production staff.

In summarizing the part played by the production department, Tintera said, "Production is the culmination of all the planning and all the programming; it is what the viewer sees, and it is the product by which he will evaluate the effectiveness of the station."

Mr. Tintera was appointed production manager of WKAR-TV in July 1, 1952. He originally came to M.S.C. as an instructor in the department of speech, drama, and radio education in 1949. Holding the B.A. and M.A. degrees from Northwestern University, Mr. Tintera worked as an announcer and assistant program director in Chicago, and during World War II, he was station manager of the Armed Forces Network, Heidelberg, Germany.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Alcoholics and Highly Seasoned Foods

People who habitually eat highly seasoned foods, not only eventually lose their taste for plain, simple foods, but many of them, accustomed to the constant stimulation, acquire a craving for alcohol.

The regular ingestion of condiments such as hot peppers, mustards, spices and too much salt causes a large amount of liver diseases, including (cirrhosis), hardening of the liver, which is incurable.

Do not imagine that gall stones, and gall bladder infections, can exist without involving, and sometimes to a very serious extent, the whole liver. That is one reason why removing the gall stones, often fails to give the expected relief.

You cannot restore a badly diseased liver by surgery, any more than you can cure any other vital organ by removing a part of it. As you cannot exist at all without your liver, would it not be exercising common sense to treat that badly abused and suffering organ with some consideration, before it is so diseased and crippled that it ceases to function properly, and gives you constant discomfort?

In all cases of gall bladder disturbances, the intelligent physician forbids the patient the use of mustard, pepper, pepper sauce, spices and condiments, including horse radish and other flavorings that sting and burn. Alcohol is also "verboten" (forbidden), as the Germans say.

Now, if by eating highly-seasoned foods, you can scarcely get along with a crippled liver, wouldn't it be much better to avoid eating such foods when you are well, and not run the risk of bringing on disagreeable and fatal liver troubles? Learn to enjoy the natural taste of your food, undisguised by unwholesome condiments.

Experiments have proved that condiments in the long run instead of improving digestion, often ruin the stomach as well as the liver.

VACATION FROM SCHOOL means many things to many children, but to most ice-skating takes one of the top positions. Local youngsters donned their skates to try their skill on the various local ponds open to the winter activity. Four of these who were found flashing around the skating area at Wilcox pond are shown here ready to take off again. Left to right, they are Larry and Margo Hall, children of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hall; Karen Rank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rank; and Jill Clarke, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Clarke. The '54 BUICK's got it—
The BIG CHANGE you've been hoping for!

Exemplar of the 1954 Buick's years-from-now styling is this stunning new Super Riviera

THE instant you see these 1954 Buicks, you'll know that something sensational has happened in automobile styling.

Here is vastly more than the usual model changeover. Here is vastly more than could be done just by warming over what Buick had before. Here is something accomplished by going far beyond artful face-lifting. Here is that rarity of rarities—a completely new line of automobiles.

But Buick didn't stop with the bolder, fresher, swifter-lined beauty you see in raised and lengthened fender sweep—in the huge and back-swept expanse of windshield—in the lowered roofline—in the host more glamor features of exterior modernity.

They upped all horsepowers to the highest in Buick history.

They engineered a new V8 for the SPECIAL—and in the process came up with new Power-Head Pistons that boost gasoline mileage in every engine.

BUICK

the beautiful buy

They brought to market a sparkling newcomer with a famous name, the Buick CENTURY—a car with phenomenal horsepower for its weight and price—a car with more pure thrill per dollar than any Buick ever built.

And they did all this without change of the price structure which, for years, has made Buick the most popular car at its price in the world.

We invite you to come in and inspect these great beauties, these great performers, these great buys. Then you'll see why the Detroit reviewers are already saying, "Buick's the beautiful buy!"

When better automobiles are built Buick will build them

Oven Dinner Perfect for Homemaker

Time for meal preparation at a premium? If that is the case in your home here is an idea to help you out in the emergency. It's an oven menu.

The advantage of this meal is that it needs little watching—you're free to do the many other tasks that require your attention. The meal is cooked at one time in the oven and with it you simply serve a green vegetable and an easy salad.

The main course features Beef Cubes in Sour Cream Sauce. For this serving purchase boneless beef cubes—the meat cubes you choose for stews. You will need 1 1/2 pounds for six generous servings. First dredge the meat with flour. An easy way to do this is to place the flour, seasoned with salt and pepper, in a paper bag. Then add the meat cubes and shake the bag vigorously. The cubes come from the bag floured and ready for browning in lard or drippings.

When the meat is well browned add 2 medium onions, sliced, 1/2 cup sour cream and 1/2 cup water. Cover the meat tightly and let it cook in a slow oven (300° F.) for 1 1/2 to 2 hours or until tender. Bake potatoes at the same time. Place them in the oven about one hour before dinner time. Baked apples might be your choice of dessert. Fill the center of each apple with mince-meat for a seasonal treat. Add a lettuce salad—with a favorite dressing, a hot green vegetable and your meal is complete.

Bake your ground beef mixture in muffin pans. This gives you quick and easy-to-serve individual meat loaves, ideal for a summer day.

Famous Apple Gourmet Pancakes

OLD-TIME German restaurants in New York serve this apple pancake day after day, but especially in the months when the apple harvest is at its best. With fresh-tasting crop apples pouring in from the markets everywhere these days, the apple pancakes are favorites with chefs and their customers. Here's the recipe, home-tested for you.

- Apple Pancake (illustrated)
- 1 lb. tart apples
 - 1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
 - 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 2 large eggs
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 1/2 cup sifted enriched flour
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon melted butter or margarine
 - 1/4 cup sugar

Pare and core apples; cut in thin slices; cook in 1/2 cup butter or margarine 5 minutes. Combine 1/2 cup-sugar, nutmeg and cinnamon; add to apples; cover; cook over low heat 10 minutes longer, or until apples are crispy tender. Remove from heat; cool to lukewarm. Combine eggs, milk, flour and salt; beat with rotary egg beater or electric mixer 2 to 3 minutes (batter will be very thin). Heat 1 tablespoon of remaining butter or margarine in 10-inch frying pan. When hot, pour batter into pan.

Bake in hot oven, 450° F., 15 minutes. As soon as batter puffs up in center (about 3 minutes) puncture with skewer or fork, repeating as often as necessary. Lower heat to moderate, 350° F.; bake 10 minutes longer or until golden brown and crisp. (Batter will creep up on sides of pan, forming a shell.) Remove from oven; pour half the remaining butter over surface, sprinkle with half the remaining sugar. Spread apple mixture over half the surface; fold as for an omelet; remove to hot platter. Pour remaining butter on top; sprinkle with remaining sugar. Makes 6 servings.

Apple Ambrosia

- 3 large red apples
- 2 ripe bananas
- 2 cups grapefruit sections
- Sugar
- 1 cup moist-pack shredded coconut

Core apples, do not pare; cut into thin slices. Slice bananas. Combine apples, bananas and grapefruit sections; sweeten to taste with fine sugar. Arrange in dessert dishes; top with coconut. Makes 6 servings.

Learn to Hang Pictures Properly

More errors are made in hanging pictures than perhaps in any other phase of home decoration. Eye-level is about the correct height. They should not be hung up near the ceiling, nor so low that you have to bend to see them.

Pictures should be in scale with the furniture over which they are hung. If you have no picture of sufficient size, use a grouping of related subjects framed alike, so that their overall effect will be in scale with the furniture below them. A tiny picture over a large piece of furniture, or placed on one wall by itself may give the entire room a disjointed look.

Balance pictures, too, on opposite walls; or with some high pieces of furniture such as a highboy, tall bookcases or a chest over which you have hung a handsome fabric to give it importance and contrast with the picture opposite. This gives an interesting effect of different textures.

When your pictures are too small to be effective, they can be made better proportioned when framed with wide mats and narrow frames; or with very wide flat wood frames, usually in light colors or gilt. A series of small black and white prints of the same subjects are stunning framed with a wide mat of red and gilt narrow striped chintz. A narrow natural wood frame would be handsome in combination with this material too.

A row of these pictures set in a line over the bed in a girl's room, or a group arranged over a table or chest in a country living room will add a colorful note.

Old maps framed in narrow black frames are excellent for a boy's room or library. Many feminine subjects, such as French costume or Godey prints are lovely with wide mats of velvet in harmonizing colors set in shadow box frames.

Etchings, of course, must always have their margins left on. Otherwise, their value is lost. They look well in black frames, although color can be used in some rooms. Colored prints are decorative when the frames complement the most important color of the design.

Women Love Creamed Meat Dish on Menu

Much attention is centered on the food favorites of men. But what do women like? It has been said that they are fans of creamed meat dishes. And here is an interesting variation of a creamed dish—Ham Souffle. This is an excellent way of using that last bit of ham left from Sunday's roast.

- Ham Souffle
- 2 cups ground cooked ham
 - 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
 - 2 tablespoons enriched flour
 - 2 cups milk
 - 3 eggs
 - 1 cup dry bread crumbs
 - 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
 - Salt
 - Pepper
- Melt lard or drippings. Add flour, stirring until smooth. Add milk and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Separate the egg yolks and whites and beat each well. Combine bread crumbs, egg yolks, ham and cream sauce. Add parsley. Season. Fold in beaten egg whites. Turn into a greased baking dish. Bake in a slow oven (350° F.) for about 1 hour, or until set in center. Serve immediately. 4 to 6 servings.

Barbecued cubed beef steaks make a quick and delightful serving for a cold day. Dredge the steaks with seasoned flour, then brown them thoroughly on both sides. Add a favorite barbecue sauce, cover and cook slowly until the meat is tender, about 35 minutes.

Groom's Family Gives Glassware

According to the latest statistics, young people in America are marrying today at the highest rate on record. This means there is an almost universal question of what the groom's father and mother should give the bride couple to start their new home. It is a time-honored tradition that the bridegroom's parents give American handmade glassware.

Today, the purchaser can select glass by the piece or by the dozen. Or, as more and more people are doing, by the place-setting which is really an excellent method. Start the young couple off with a perfect table service of glass for six or eight. Should the new home be more elaborate, twelve or more of each type glass will meet the entertaining needs. Many patterns come in a wide range of shapes styles and colors. You can select matching tumblers for every day; stemware for festive tables; and accessory and decorative pieces, such as candelabra, vases and bowls, book-ends, centerpieces, and so forth. In addition, there are the handy "little pieces," such as jam jars, relish dishes, covered candy dishes that add to the table settings a bride is so proud of in her new home.

As with all other purchases, the way of life should determine the choice of a particular glass pattern, and type of glass ornaments you choose for the couple. It is important to the young couple that the glassware you select is available in open stock so that they can add to their collection at any time.

A good general plan is to start the selection with a small plate, seven or eight inches in diameter, for desserts or salads. Used by itself, it serves many purposes, and under a stemmed sherbert glass, is guaranteed to dress up the plainest dessert. Next, choose a versatile water tumbler, which may be footed or not, in keeping with the tastes and the style of the new interior decorations of the home. Long-stemmed crystal is considered more formal, though low, short-stemmed glasses are in equally good taste, and some formal modern patterns have long-stemmed lines. Add to this an iced-tea glass, and a small glass for orange, tomato and other juices. This is the accepted five-piece place setting. Six or eight of these for the bride will answer most every day and entertaining needs.

Give milk-glass, hand-cut crystal in a Colonial pattern, candlewick and other "homespun" designs to go with Provincial or Early American interiors. For Eighteenth Century furnishings select a more formal pattern of American handmade glass such as a lovely rose motif or other etched decorations. Form, brilliance and clarity are prime considerations in modern settings. Make sure when shopping for glass that you select pieces with brilliance and lustre, as good quality glassware is beautiful and lasts longer.

Here's one more tempting use for that canned favorite, corned beef hash. Prepare a ring mold and serve centered with buttered green peas or whole kernel corn. To make the mold, combine two No. 2 cans of the canned meat with a mixture of 2 beaten eggs and 1 cup of milk. Pack the meat mixture into a well-greased 9-inch mold and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 minutes. Turn out on a hot platter and serve with desired vegetables.

Carving is simplified if the roast is firm. Accomplish this by allowing a small roast to set in a warm place for about 15 minutes after roasting and before carving; a large roast from 30 to 45 minutes.

Lining Remodeled Closet With Cedar Provides 'Do-It-Yourself' Project

Here is a tip for the "do-it-yourself" fan: to find a fascinating project, just look in the closets of your home.

Converting a dull, dark closet into a "cedar chest you can walk into" is an easy, fast job anyone can do, according to local lumber dealers. It is simply a matter of lining the closet interior with mothrepellent red cedar, a moderately priced material produced in tongued and grooved strips for snug fit and quick application.

The beauty and protection of cedar paneling can make your closets as sweet smelling and attractive, as a fine aromatic cedar chest," a handicraft editor points out in a recent article. "Cedar is that wood with the pleasant aroma which serves a double purpose in your closets—it preserves and it beautifies. It's pleasant and enjoyable to work with cedar."

Cedar closet lining may be obtained at most lumber yards. It is 3/8-inch thick and comes in random lengths up to 8 feet. There is a choice of widths from 2 to 4 inches. Some home craftsmen prefer the narrower widths. They make a tight, snug wall and may cost less. The strips are bundled, with each package containing coverage for 30 square feet.

The first step is to remove old braces and hooks from the walls. The wall studs can be located by punching holes in the plaster with a thin nail. Each wall is then built up from the bottom with cedar strips, fastened to the studs with four-penny nails. Set the nails slightly. It is not necessary that end joints occur over the studding. The interlocking action will hold in place any short pieces that may come between the nailing bases.

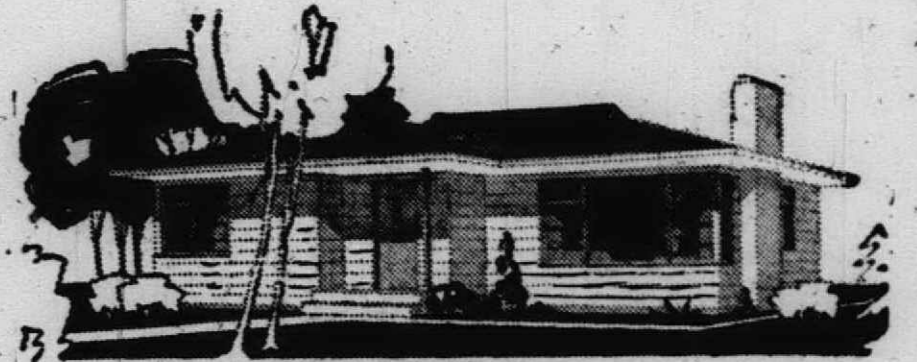

Screws for shelves, hooks and hanger rails should penetrate well into the studs for extra strength.

When no corner molding is used, the joints should be measured carefully to insure a tight fit. If there are any outside corners, the strips at such points may be sawed off evenly after they are nailed up. It is not necessary to miter outside corner joints. The workability of cedar allows you to overlap one board on the other, leaving an edge which can be sanded to smoothness.

Red cedar closet lining should never be sealed or painted. Paint, varnish or other finish of any kind will destroy the pleasant aroma and protective properties of your cedar lined closet. An occasional dusting with a dry cloth is all the attention it requires. To obtain maximum protection, the door should be weatherstripped or otherwise made reasonably snug fitting.

For complete protection and beauty, the door, floor and ceiling should also be lined with cedar.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-255

DESIGN C-255. Among the desirable features found in the plan shown here are the covered front entrance, vestibule with coat closet, living room with fireplace, corner windows and double glazed picture window, three bedrooms, bathroom, combination kitchen-dinette and full basement. The kitchen-dinette is a large pleasant room, with ample dining space, storage cabinet and refrigerator on inside wall, sink and range in the cabinets on outside walls. The center bedroom, connected to the kitchen, can also serve as a work or play room. The exterior is finished with siding and asphalt shingles. Floor area is 1,153 sq. ft. and cubage is 21,834-cu. ft. For further information about DESIGN C-255, write the Building Editor, The Plymouth Mail.

The whole family will cheer the "do it yourself" fan who converts a dull, ordinary closet into a colorful cedar closet. Aromatic red cedar is the wood with the pleasant aroma that does two jobs—it preserves and beautifies. Cedar closet lining, available at lumber stores, is tongued and grooved for snug fit and easy application. It's a pleasure to work with cedar. Just fit panels in place and nail through plaster or wallboard to wall studs. Line ceiling, floor and door, too. Don't paint, varnish or otherwise finish the cedar—that seals in the aroma which so effectively protects against moths.

Vapor Can Cause High House Damage

The fragrance from a bottle of perfume left open in one corner of a room will soon permeate the entire room. In the same fashion, moisture vapor formed in one room of a house by cooking, laundering or bathing will tend to permeate the entire house until all the air contains the same proportion of water vapor.

If the building is tightly constructed and insufficiently ventilated, the moisture may condense within the walls and cause costly damage to the structure. If a structure is properly ventilated, excessive water vapor pressure and much of the water vapor escapes through such openings.

Convactor heating units are supplied in a baked-on prime coat, which permits finishing the units in any color to match room decorations.

For added comfort and fuel savings in basementless houses, authorities recommend floor insulation—or, in the case of houses built on concrete slabs, properly installed edge insulation.

Window Shopping With Sue

You know it's remarkable the number of things you can do yourself with just a little time and ingenuity—particularly around the home. There's a trend these days toward doing your own work, which is not only less expensive but gives you a certain feeling of pride when you're all done.

Now most of these "Do It Yourself" ideas are carefully explained to the amateur, so that he can do a professional-like job his first try.

Take for example the TV snack table you can make out of fir plywood. The table is a take-apart outfit, which means the parts can all be stored flat or the tray used separately when the table is not assembled. To make the table you get a plywood cutting schedule which not only tells you the exact sizes to cut each part but also explains which grade plywood you will need. In this case it is one piece of one-fourth inch interior A-A plywood. You can also find helpful hints on how to saw, drill, sand, plane and nail your plywood. Even tips on how to finish and paint the plywood are included, so that you can scarcely fail in your undertaking.

On a little different plane, but still something which will make your home more attractive, is the installation of flooring. With objects in this line, directions are always very simplified to make the project a sure success. For instance, you might consider Metowee stone is a natural product which shows the natural cleave of the rock, and comes in colors ranging from shades of green, gray, purple and black.

Then the procedure for laying the stone is suggested, with the recommendation that it be laid on a concrete base. Step by step they carry you through the spreading of the mortar, laying of the stones, filling the joints, and so on, until the finished product has made your home more beautiful.

These were just two examples, but they show just how much can be done by the workman at home.

Family Handyman Questions And Answers

Question: I have a problem common in our section of the country. The winds are heavy, and blow open or slam shut combination storm-and-screen doors. Standard door catches are torn out of the wood, and the doors slam against the walls or rails and fall apart. Just what can we use to keep the doors from being torn apart?

Answer: We'd suggest using door closers—a device with a fixed arm, compression chamber and spring, which stops the door from opening too far—saving the house wall and railing—and at the same time forcing it shut slowly enough not to slam, but closing it regardless of wind. Since these devices are adjustable, you need only adjust yours to fit circumstances. While a trifle expensive they are by no means as costly as a new door.

THE CLEAN PLATE club at the Hotel Mayflower's Pilgrim Room does wonders for its members, it appears. Manager Ralph Lorenz relates the story of the small tot who took nearly two hours to complete his meal so that he could gain membership into the "Johnny Billington" group. After the meal the boy's parents (a family from out of town) told Lorenz it was the first time in two years the boy had eaten a complete dinner. Seems the boy just does not like food—the doctors have a name for it—but he was determined and mighty proud of his official membership card!

Grow Orchids In Your Home

With just a little coaxing, orchids will prove themselves adaptable house plants and will bring you exotic hints of far-away lands.

Some attention, however, must be given to such simple requirements as watering, humidity, fresh air, temperature changes and cleanliness.

Perhaps the most rewarding plants to start with would be some of the cheaper varieties of Cattleyas and Laelias, according to Walter F. Kleinschmidt, superintendent of the University of Michigan Botanical Gardens. Once you have the plants, put them by a south window, so that they can obtain full benefit of the sunlight. Cut down direct sunlight in middle and late afternoon. Venetian blinds are ideal for this.

It's advisable to keep the plants on a small table. Then you can move them away from the cold at night. Put trays filled with moist gravel on the table, and set the potted plants on slats or screens just above the gravel, which should be kept moist.

Evaporation from the gravel usually will keep the plants healthy. But if yours is a steam-heated house, it's wise to syringe them regularly. Be careful not to over-water. If the room lacks sufficient moisture, a small humidifier may be attached to the radiator.

Orchids need fresh air. You can open any window except the one near the plants. Let in just enough air to keep the room from being stuffy. Kleinschmidt warns, since sudden, drastic changes in temperature can be disastrous to orchids.

Cleanliness is important. Wipe the leaves once or twice a week with a soft, damp cloth. Occasionally add several drops of vegetable oil emulsion insecticide to a pint of lukewarm water, and sponge the foliage to remove dust and dirt from the stomata, or breathing pores.

Do not use a DDT insecticide, as it will injure the plants. You can obtain a good orchid spray from any orchid grower. Your local florist can refer you to the proper dealer.

No. 10: Cars and Bars

Placing a tavern on the edge of a high speed highway is like standing close to a high tension wire. The situation is potentially dangerous.

With traffic going by at normal highway speeds of 50-60 miles per hour even a small error in judgment can be fatal.

It is hard enough to get into such an establishment safely—especially if you have to walk in front of cars bearing down on you at high speed. Even making a left turn in front of highway traffic to get into a parking lot can be a tricky business.

Obviously a person leaving such an establishment needs all of his mental facilities to deal with drivers who can't stop in a hurry.

OUTDOOR NOTES

From The
MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Divided opinion sparked a meeting of conservationists working out plans for revamping Michigan's fish law code as it relates to trout fishing, the conservation department reports.

A five-point program of proposed regulations, aimed at giving the trout a better chance for survival against the growing army of Michigan fishermen, met with various reactions at a meeting at Higgins Lake training school near Roscommon this week.

The program was first presented at the December conservation commission meeting. Fish committee chairman Donald B. McLouth of Detroit said at that time the proposals were designed only to open discussions and that all the ideas would be subject to wide-open discussion by the public and by specialists in the department. Participating in the Higgins Lake meeting were field and research fisheries workers and law enforcement personnel.

The group was trying to iron out principles and details of a program slated for presentation at a public hearing of the issues, scheduled January 22 at Higgins Lake.

Thieves, by gad! A crew of hungry, webfooted, feather-preening, renegade ducks make occasional winter raids on conservation department trout hatchery ponds, so the report goes.

Mostly the culprits are mergansers and goldeneyes, and fisheries workers say they make off with tasty young trout from the spring-fed, ice-free hatchery ponds during severe winter months.

Workers shoo the birds away and have even erected wire gratings over pond waters, but sometimes those measures don't work so well. Last winter, for example, a pond at one hatchery was nearly picked clean. In the past, the problem has been so serious that special permits have been issued so fish men could shoot the birds.

Parks managers are finding plenty of work to keep them occupied these early days of winter, the conservation department notes.

All during winter months, workmen maintain the thousands of acres scattered in the 58 state parks and recreation areas of the state.

As winter approached this year, many chores facing these men were not much different from past years.

A few projects, however, were unusual.

At Warren Dunes state park, an abandoned dwelling was being razed to prevent children from being injured while playing in the area.

About 150 "big" trees—four to six inches in trunk diameter—were being transplanted from wooded areas of little public use to provide shade in picnic and campground areas. This work is being done at Algonac and Lakeport state parks and at Waterloo, Pickney, Brighton and Pontiac Lake recreation areas.

An addition to the Kent Lake bathhouse at Island Lake recreation area is being constructed, and workmen are also building a picnic area toilet building in the area, with necessary water system and sewage disposal.

At Interlochen state park, construction has started on a campground area toilet and laundry building, with connecting disposal systems.

About 50,000 young trees, mostly three to six-year old hardwood stock, are also slated for planting in southeastern Michigan parks and recreation areas.

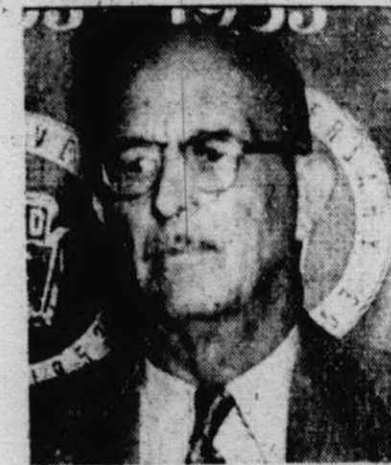

Inmate labor will be used for nearly all the planting work and will mean considerable savings to the state.

Economics Session Held for Farmers

A number of farmers from the Plymouth area attended a "Barnyard Economics" meeting yesterday afternoon at the cooperative extension service office in Wayne. Discussion topics were "Easing the Profit Squeeze," "Agricultural Outlook for 1954" and "Farmers' Income Tax."

The meeting was arranged primarily for farmers who are feeling the squeeze of paying higher prices on things bought and getting lower prices for things sold. The speakers were Jim Nielson and Warren Vincent, farm management specialists.
