

Work Starts Next Week On Northside Fire House

Work will start next week on the new northside fire station by the Burger-Dobbs Construction company of Plymouth, low bidder among seven construction firms which submitted bids on the colonial style building.

Bids on the building were opened January 6 and were considered by the city commission at a special meeting Monday night. Burger-Dobbs submitted a bid of $18,500. They have set their completion date of the building at 90 days.

The northside fire station is to be constructed in Bradner park across from Starkweather school. The city has long been considering a northside station which eliminates the constant danger of fire trucks nosed at the city hall being delayed by trains when there is a fire north of the C&O railroad tracks. A new pumper type fire engine was ordered last fall and will be stationed at the city hall station-house while the present pumper will be placed at the northside station.

Byron Becker, local architect, drew plans for the new fire station. It will be of concrete block construction and will be able to house two trucks if necessary. Straw was placed over the building site last month so that the ground will not be frozen too hard and construction can start immediately.

Besides advertising for basic bids on the fire house, an optional bid was asked on an "apron" to be laid in front of the building. The Burger-Dobbs company bid $450 for the apron, making their total bid $18,950. Bids of the other six companies were:

Wolfe Construction company, Livonia, $18,630, option $495; George Minion Construction company, Ypsilanti, $19,788, option $579; Birkelbaw Construction company, South Lyon, $19,426, option $384; C. D. Grady Construction company, Ypsilanti, $20,545, option $556; R. E. Davis Construction company, Plymouth, $21,772, option $416; and Wallace D. Savage Construction company, Livonia, $37,000, option $960.

Plans are to be worked out yet on how to man the new fire station. Fire Chief Robert McAllister and two officers compose the "regulars" of the present department. The remainder of the fire department is drawn from volunteers.

Methodist Church Plans Two Worship Services

The official board of the First Methodist church of Plymouth voted this week to adopt two Sunday worship services. The Reverend M. I. Johnson stated that the action was prompted by the increasing attendance at the regular 11:00 o'clock services. He added that it was probable that services would be held at 9:00 a. m. and 11:00 a. m. beginning Sunday, January 24, but that final arrangements have not yet been completed to make this official.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC ASSEMBLY opened the Community Appeal phase of the St. Mary hospital drive at the Kick-off meeting at Bird school Monday evening. Attending the half-hour meeting were the many volunteers who began house-to-house solicitations this week. Shown here at the speaker's table are, seated, Russell Isbister, superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Austin Stecker, community appeal chairman. The speaker, standing, Dr. Lance Wright, told the volunteers of the need of the hospital and that the local doctors are behind the campaign 100 per cent.

Bond Issue Saves City $20,000

It is an unusual meeting indeed when it can be reported that the city commission has met and saved $20,000!

City commissioners must of necessity authorize the spending of thousands of dollars each month to pay bills and meet the payroll, but they managed to save at least $20,846.68 when they went into a special session Monday night. That is what will be saved because the city decided to issue its own bonds to pay off its share of the Middle Rouge Interceptor sewer.

The city-at-large share of the sewer project is $97,000. The entire project is costing $3,565,000. The Wayne County Drain commission sold bonds for this amount several weeks ago. Most communities, including Plymouth township, will be paying their "at-large" share to the county treasurer for the next 15 years at an interest rate of six per cent. This interest rate would have cost Plymouth $46,138.93.

City commissioners were advised by City Manager Al Glassford that Plymouth could get by with paying only half that amount of interest by issuing its own bonds. It is believed that the city will be able to sell its bonds at an interest rate of three per cent or less. This would amount to $25,292.25. Thus the net saving of $20,846.

The commission started the legal process of issuing bonds last month when they filed their "notice of intent to issue bonds." The formal resolution to issue bonds was approved Monday night. Next step will be to get the bonding application approved by the Municipal Finance commission. This application is expected to be approved by next Monday. An advertisement for bids on these bonds will be published at the end of this month and the bonds sold on February 8. The final step will be to deliver the bonds to the county treasurer by March 1 which is the deadline for completing this transaction.

While the city-at-large portion of the project is costing $97,000, there still remains an assessment of $79,405 to be paid directly by property owners. The average home owner will pay about $16 for their assessment. This can be paid either over a period of years or in one lump sum.

The city of Plymouth itself paid the assessment on city property last week in a lump sum of $2,192. Factories are being urged to do likewise. Assessments are based on how much the individual parcels of land will use the sewer system.

Also on the agenda Monday night was a communication from the Detroit Municipal Parking Authority asking Plymouth to enter into a petition against private parking lot operators who are opposing municipally owned parking lots. The city commission decided not to enter the controversy since there are no pri-

Hotel Leased To Lorenz

"IT'S ALL YOURS" might be the caption for this picture as Paul Wiedman, president of the board of directors of the Hotel Mayflower, congratulates Manager Ralph Lorenz on the acquisition of a 20-year lease on the hotel. Other board members looking on during the meeting at which the transaction was officially made are: (left to right) William Taylor, Ernest J. Allison, Lorenz and Wiedman, Carl Shear and Edwin Schrader.

1,800 Chest X-rays Given In First Week

Some 1,800 high school students, school personnel and employees of the Evans Products company took advantage of the free chest x-ray program during the Chestmobile's first week in Plymouth.

"The response so far has been gratifying," the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce indicated, but warned that "we are a long way from reaching the goal we have set for ourselves. Let it not be said that other communities are more health conscious than we are."

A goal of 5,300 chest x-rays has been set for the Plymouth visit. The Chestmobile opened its doors here Tuesday at the high school. The drive here is sponsored by the Wayne County Health department and the T. B. and Health society. The Chamber of Commerce has spearheaded the drive locally.

Sam Hudson, general chairman of the campaign, said of the 1,800 who had chest examinations last week, "It seems that these people recognize a bargain when they see one."

The planning committee hopes that residents of Plymouth and Plymouth township will demonstrate that they consider this health test an important step in the protection of their families from T. B.

Free chest x-rays will be given to employees of Whitman & Barnes today and tomorrow and at Burroughs corporation during the following two weeks.

Detailed hours and locations for the public will be announced next week.

School Planners Ask Budget Hike For Sheriff to Aid Safety Program

A resolution commending the Wayne county sheriff's department for its cooperation with the Plymouth Community School Planning group in its school safety program has been sent to the Wayne county board of supervisors—but with a plea to increase the budget for the road patrol so that more patrol cars may be added to curb traffic violators.

The resolution was approved by the planning group at its monthly meeting held last Wednesday night at the Smith elementary school. Paul T. Bolinger, chairman of the traffic safety committee of the community School Planning group, presented a comprehensive report from his committee which suggested the resolution.

It was several months ago that the traffic safety committee was appointed to study traffic safety hazards involving students. A plea was sent to city police, sheriff's department and the state highway patrol to aid in arresting traffic violators, especially near schools when students are going to and from school. The committee has made

City Commissioner Steadily Improving

City Commissioner Henry Fisher, who suffered a stroke on December 30 and has been confined to University hospital in Ann Arbor, is reported to be steadily improving and is now able to walk some.

According to his son, Roy Fisher, the commissioner may be able to return home next week. He was partially paralyzed after suffering the stroke but the paralysis has now passed and he is also regaining use of his voice. The commissioner, 82 years old, has been active in civic affairs for many years.

78 Animals Die In Building Fire

Fire of an undetermined origin destroyed a large chicken house in Plymouth township last Saturday morning and killed 40 chickens and 38 rabbits.

The blaze took place behind the home of Michael Zdanek, 44868 Joy road. Mr. Zdanek said that he went into the building at 8 a. m. and turned on the lights. Fire broke out immediately and the township fire department was summoned. Dry hay and other material aided in hastily spreading the flames and the entire building was in flame before the fire department arrived.

The family placed a loss of $100 on the animals. No estimate was made on the loss of the building or its contents.

The building had formerly been used to raise mink.

Recommends 3rd Police Patrol Car

A recommendation that the city purchase another patrol car for the police department and a speed timing device to trap speeding motorists, was made by the city traffic safety committee at its regular monthly meeting last Saturday morning.

The committee decided that the need for another patrol car should be considered before adding another patrolman to the force. There are two patrol cars now used by the police but the committee believes that a third is needed since one of the cars is often tied up while being repaired or for some other reason.

As for the speed timing device, it is believed that it would be helpful in controlling speeders. Similar devices are now used in many communities.

Further discussion of a traffic light for Starkweather avenue took place. The committee had previously asked the Wayne County Road commission to place a traffic light on Starkweather between Main street and the C & O railroad. This was done by the request of residents of the area who claim that it is difficult to enter Starkweather from Farmer street.

The road commission advised that they considered the traffic too light to place a traffic light on the street. At least 12,000 vehicles daily should be counted on the street with a minimum of 700 entering from side streets. It was suggested that county and city officials meet to correct the visibility at the intersection, perhaps place the "no parking" signs further down the street.

Committee members also considered the problem of motorists who back their vehicles into the Central parking lot stalls. Police have recently ticketed some of these cars. Assistant City Attorney Leo BeGde was asked by the committee if backing into the stalls was a violation. He advised that he could not legally prosecute these motorists but they could be ticketed if they were observed driving the wrong direction in the one-way lanes. It is obvious, he said, that a person has to drive the wrong way in order to back into a stall.

The committee recommended that police discontinue issuing tickets for backing into stalls but that they issue courtesy tickets reminding motorists that the practice is unsafe.

All recommendations will be reported to the city commission by City Manager Al Glassford at the commission's next meeting.

Backing Car Hits Man

Edward Knapp, 85, of 528 Maple, suffered a single fracture of his right leg last week when he was struck by a neighbor's car being backed out of the driveway. Mr. Knapp failed to seek medical attention until later in the day when he decided to have the leg examined. Driver of the car was Erwin Altensman, 754 Maple.

Assumes Full Control For Next Twenty Years

Announcement was made yesterday by the board of directors of The Hotel Mayflower of the leasing of that institution for 20 years to manager Ralph G. Lorenz. According to president Paul J. Wiedman, speaking for the Hotel's stockholders, the move was made to insure the hotel its present management during the next 20 years. He further pointed out

458 Hazards Found in Fire Inspection

Forty-four fire inspectors converged upon Plymouth from all over the state Tuesday and checked 169 public buildings for fire hazards—and they found some.

Working in pairs and guided through the city by 49 Boy Scouts, the inspectors checked every business establishment, and publicly used building in the city and they found a total of 458 possible fire hazards.

According to Frank Westerman, secretary of the Michigan Fire Protection Association, "This may be a little high in comparison with the number of recommendations made in other cities this size, but it doesn't mean too much. We may have been a little more careful in our inspections."

Nearly all of the recommendations are minor, it was found. Fire Chief Robert J. McAllister said that most of the violations were due to wiring in old buildings. The wiring has been added to, patched up and some places had fuses too large for the wiring. The inspection was non-compulsory.

In addition to the inspection, some of the inspectors spoke to a total of 2,550 school children about fire prevention and another 160 adults.

that the move should prove of mutual benefit to the hotel, Mr. Lorenz and the stockholders.

The transaction includes the building and all of its facilities. On March of this year Mr. Lorenz will mark his 15th year as manager of the institution having taken over the management in 1939. Except for a period of 37 months while he served in the Navy during World War II the operation has grown directly as a result of his planning and efforts.

At the time he was made manager of the Mayflower there were 18 employees on the payroll as against 72 today. His remodeling program was intensified in 1946 after he returned from service and plans for the future call for even greater expansion of the hotel and its facilities.

Mr. Lorenz is vice president of the Michigan Hotel Association and active in the work of the National Hotel Association. During the past few years he has had many attractive offers by other hotel groups throughout the country and this was another major factor in influencing members of the board, who felt he was not only entitled to a free reign in the hotel's operation but he should continue to devote his entire energy in the city of Plymouth.

Mr. Lorenz came to Plymouth 32 years ago with his family from Austria and is a graduate of Plymouth high school and the Michigan State Normal school at Ypsilanti. He resides with his wife and four children on west Ann Arbor trail.

At present he is serving his second term as president of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

Family Concert Promises Appeal for Young and Old

A program designed with an eye toward the preferences of the young people and the young in heart has been prepared by the Plymouth Symphony orchestra for presentation at the annual family concert Sunday, January 17. Wayne Dunlap's baton will be raised at the usual 4 p. m. time before the audience in the Plymouth high school auditorium.

Because the young people are getting the nod in this year's family concert, Dunlap urged parents to bring the youngsters so they may take advantage of the opportunity to hear this music. Since the program has been so attractive in the past, he added, patrons are urged to come early in order to get seats in the auditorium.

One of the most popular items in all music repertory included in the program is "Peter and the Wolf" by Prokofiev. Although written during the late 1930's, the work has attained the status of a "classic" because of its immediate appeal to children. The musical fairy tale will be narrated by Wayne Dunlap while Richard Thurston conducts the orchestra.

The first part of the family concert will put the spotlight on the woodwind members of the orchestra. The soloists, all members of the local orchestra, are also, with one exception, faculty members at the University of Michigan.

Nelson Hauenstein has been a member of the Plymouth Symphony for some time, often appearing as a soloist. He has been on the University of Michigan teaching staff for six years.

Theodore Heger is assistant professor of music literature at the University and was first oboist with the Duluth Symphony orchestra for 10 years. He was also a member of the Minneapolis Symphony in 1928-29.

Another of the soloists, William Radant, is clarinet instructor at the University, and played with the Oklahoma Symphony before coming to Ann Arbor.

William Weichlein, instructor in music literature at the University of Michigan, is a bassoonist of much professional experience in Chicago. There he was a member of the Chicago Civic orchestra, the WGN radio orchestra and the orchestra of the Chicago Opera company. The last of the group, Leland Bartholomew, has been a member of the Plymouth Symphony orchestra for the last three seasons. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and has played with numerous professional groups around Detroit. He was in the horn section of the Scandinavian Symphony orchestra on its recent European tour.

Services Held For Walter J Postiff

Funeral services were held last Saturday for Walter J. Postiff, long time a local resident and one of the best known turkey farmers in the area. Mr. Postiff passed away Wednesday, January 6, soon after returning home from visiting his daughter in California.

A graduate of Michigan State college in 1909, Mr. Postiff spent two years working with the United States Bureau of Entomology. On leaving government service he purchased a farm in Greenfield township, and five years later moved to 9163 Lilley road, where he made his home until his death.

Mr. Postiff was formerly a Justice of the Peace for Plymouth township. He was also active in church affairs, being a member of the Calvary Baptist

Charles Huebler Weds Chicago Girl

The marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth Brock and Charles Douglas Huebler was solemnized on Saturday evening, December 19, in the chapel of the Union church in Hinsdale, Illinois. Miss Brock is the daughter of Mrs. Josephine Brock of Hinsdale and Arthur Brock of Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Huebler of Berry road, Plymouth, are the bridegroom's parents.

The Reverend Doctor Vernon Ipscher officiated at the ceremony. In keeping with the Christmas season, a beautiful arrangement of white mums and holly banked the altar. Candelabra and white Christmas trees were placed in the chancel. Earl Hubbard, the soloist sang, "Calm as the Night" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Charles Zoeller, of Hinsdale. She wore a floor length ivory taffeta gown with chapel train. The fitted bodice was trimmed with lace and pearls and the illusion neckline was edged with the pearls. Her lace cap and fingertip length veil were of hand-made lace brought from Belgium by the bride on her recent trip abroad. She carried a cascade of white poinsettias and holly leaves.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Geri Joseph of Clarendon Hills and bridesmaids were Miss Anne Brittain of Hinsdale and Miss Luanna Shafer of Lakeland, Florida. Their gowns were fashioned identically of champagne taffeta in floor length and bolero jackets trimmed with mink. They wore small brown ostrich feather hats with nose veils, white kid gloves, and carried cascades of red poinsettias.

Charles asked his brother, Donald Huebler to assist him as best man. Ushers were another brother, Richard Huebler and Claude Miller of Hinsdale.

Mrs. Brock wore a Dior blue taffeta dress with small white hat

Space Patroller Wins New Bicycle

A local space patroller will be whizzing around town on a new Schwinn Varsity bicycle soon, and all because he named a planet. That is right! Twelve-year-old Cameron Cogsdill of 42430 Lakeland recently received a letter from Buzz Corey, television chief of "Space Patrol," that he had won second prize in a national contest.

The contest to "Name the Planet" was put on by the Ralston Purina company, sponsors of the show. Since this was the first time he had entered a contest of this kind, Cameron was practically speechless when he learned that second place honors were his.

Cameron's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cogsdill of the Cogsdill Tool Supply.

Dr. Michela Gomez, a student at the University of Michigan, spent last weekend as the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Miller Ross and family of Ann Arbor road.

Almanacs Available At Telephone Office

Time again for the telephone almanac. Now available in the local business office of the Michigan Bell Telephone company, the almanac for 1954 deals with the vast contributions made by business and trade to the building of civilization and to the part played by communications. A picture series goes back to the time when business depended on mud-pies—or baked brick—records of transactions.

It also covers the work that went on in colonial counting houses and plantation offices in America, calling attention to Betsy Lucas, later Mrs. Pickney of Charleston, South Carolina, as an outstanding candidate for the title of first woman office manager on this continent.

Oh, yes, the almanac includes timetables for the sun and moon and chronicles some historical event for each day, all in true almanac tradition.

Airman Ferguson and Bride Go To Texas

At a quiet informal ceremony performed on Monday, January 11, Patricia Ann Farnum became the bride of Airman Fred R. Ferguson. Patricia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Farnum of Cadillac road and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ferguson of Maple street are the bridegroom's parents.

The ceremony was read by the Reverend Harvey E. Shoup in Angola, Indiana. Patricia chose a three-quarter length dress of white net over taffeta with pleated skirt and lace bodice. A small lace bolero completed her ensemble. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

The young couple were attended by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Farnum, Alfred Ferguson and Thomas Esterwood. Alfred served his brother as best man.

Following the ceremony the couple returned to Plymouth where a reception for the immediate families was held in the home of the bridegroom's parents on Maple street.

Airman and Mrs. Ferguson will leave shortly for Texas where he is stationed with the Air Force at Gary Air Force base.

Knifing Charges Dropped Against Railroad Worker

Abraham Moreno, former section hand for the C & O railroad here, was given a suspended sentence of 49 days in the Detroit House of Correction when he appeared before Municipal Judge Nandino Perlongo this week on a charge of assault and battery. He formerly was charged with felonious assault after allegedly stabbing a fellow employee.

Moreno and several friends had been drinking in a tavern near Plymouth last November 22 and after returning to Plymouth, Moreno and Pedro Lazona got in an argument, during which Lazona was stabbed several times with a knife. He has since been released from the hospital.

Moreno was charged with assault and bound over to circuit court. After serving 49 days in the county jail while awaiting a hearing, Circuit Court Judge Ira Jayne dismissed the felonious assault charge due to lack of evidence and Moreno was returned here to face assault and battery charges. Judge Perlongo sentenced Moreno to 49 days in DeHoCo but the sentence was suspended.

Canton Firemen Fight Two Blazes

Canton township firemen fought a midnight fire last week which caused damage estimated at $1,500 to the home of Hagbord Berg, 48652 Michigan avenue.

The blaze was believed started by a worn belt on the furnace fan which ignited some dust. Flames shot through the hot air conduits. A daughter working nights at the Wayne County Training school returned home at that time and discovered the kitchen in flames. She called the Ypsilanti fire department which arrived and discovered the fire was in Canton township. However, the Ypsilanti department fought the blaze until the Canton township firemen arrived.

Sheriff's authorities carried aged grandparents from the home, but no one was injured.

The Canton township department answered another call Sunday at 12:15 p.m. A Detroit couple who had recently purchased a home on Canton Center road near Ford had come to the house to work on its remodeling and started a fire in the fireplace. Flames crept between the partition above the fireplace but they were extinguished in time to check any extensive damage.

Mrs. Jesse Tritten was in Lansing last week where she appeared on the Grange program over station WKAR. She was the luncheon guest of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sheldon and family of Lansing that day.

Dr. Walch Hears Case Against "Red" Minister

Dr. Henry J. Walch, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, is continuing this week to serve as chairman of a special judicial commission appointed by the Presbytery of Detroit to hear the proceedings against the Reverend Claude Williams, Presbyterian minister accused of being a Communist.

The proceedings started last week at the Fort Street Presbyterian church in Detroit. Serving with Dr. Walch on the commission are the Reverend John Arthur Visser, minister of Westminster church, Detroit, and the Reverend W. Glen Harris, minister of the First Presbyterian church, Birmingham.

Reverend Williams has been accused by Gerald L. K. Smith, Elizabeth Dilling and Representative Velje (Rep.-Ill.). He has been a member of the Presbytery since 1943 when he came to Detroit as a wartime industrial chaplain. He has since been conducting a "grass roots" program of social evangelism in the South with headquarters in Helena, Alabama.

Capitol Shirts Quintet Leader In Men's League

A keen struggle is being waged between Capitol Shirts and Tait's Cleaners for the leadership of the Men's Basketball League in the Plymouth Recreational winter program. The Capitol Shirt five are undefeated, while Tait's have lost only one game—that by a two-point margin to the league leaders. The LaFontaine Erection team from Livonia, composed mostly of Bentley high school teachers, are also in the running. This eight team league appeared more evenly matched this year than in the past.

These eight teams are sponsored by local firms, who provide the suits and other essentials necessary to promote a team in this fast league. The firms sponsoring teams are: Beglinger Olds, First National Bank of Detroit, Capitol Shirts, Tait's Cleaners, Box Bar, Lightfoot Heating, Ford Local 182, and the LaFontaine Erection company of Livonia.

Games are played on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week at the Plymouth high school gymnasium and the Bentley high school gymnasium. Two complete rounds will be played, and then a double elimination playoff will begin on Tuesday, March 2, for all teams with a 500 per cent or better average. All playoff games will take place at Plymouth.

Tonight at the Plymouth gymnasium, First National plays Capitol Shirts at 8 p.m., and Ford Local plays Olds at 9:30 p.m. Next Wednesday Ford plays Tait's, and LaFontaine plays Box Bar at Bentley high school.

With the season one third over, the standings are as follows:

Team	W	L
Capitol Shirts	5	0
Tait's Cleaners	4	1
LaFontaine	3	2
First National	2	2
Lightfoots	2	3
Box Bar	1	3
Beglinger Olds	1	3
Ford Local 182	0	4

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Daniel and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Minoock enjoyed dinner last Saturday evening at Al's Italian restaurant followed by canasta at the Minoock home on Ross street.

Former Polio Patient Mary Witwer Tells Story of Fight for Full Recovery

An article appropriate for January, discussing a bout with bulbar polio, was published this month in "The American Journal of Nursing" by Mary Ann Witwer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Witwer of 593 Edison. With the emphasis this month on giving to the March of Dimes to find a adequate polio vaccine, the article should prove a valuable one for all residents to read.

Miss Witwer was stricken with polio in 1952. Following a year's recuperation she is now a second-year student at the Michigan State college Department of Nursing Education.

Her article entitled "One of the 58,000" is reprinted here in full.

"Someone told me that to be a good nurse one should be on the receiving end, as a patient, at one time or another, for then one can really understand the patient's problems and fears. If this is an important pre-requisite for becoming a good nurse—and I think it is—I can qualify. In August, 1952, I was one of the 58,000 people who, in that year, were stricken with polio.

"The symptoms—stiff neck, fever, nausea, and headache—which I had heard about during polio season every year since I can remember, were all undeniably and awesomely present. Even before the diagnosis was confirmed by the results of a spinal tap, I knew I had polio!

"Strange as it seems to me now, I had no particular fear—only a feeling of frustration because my nursing education, and especially my summer school work, would have to be interrupted. But words like gavage tube, respirator, hot packs, tracheotomy, and bulbar, suddenly were full of meaning to me—not just unfamiliar terms I had read somewhere.

"By early evening of that memorable day when my diagnosis was confirmed my throat became paralyzed and I was unable to swallow. I was not afraid when the doctor told me he had decided to do a tracheotomy, and explained the complete procedure to me. I was interested enough to look around the operating room before my eyes were covered, and the longest 20 minutes of my life began. The local anaesthetic stopped any feeling of pain. But feel I did the cutting of the trachea, the cold touch of the hemostats against my neck, the strange sensation of breathing from my neck instead of from my nose. However, once I got used to the tube in my neck, it did not bother me. In fact, I became so used to putting a finger over the tube to talk and covering it with my hand when I sneezed, that I had trouble breaking myself of these habits when the tube was finally removed.

"Never again will I take a 'beauty slant,' even though the experts say that putting the feet higher than the head is an excellent way to relax. It will always remind me of the uncomfortable days I spent in the Trendelenburg position and the pressure on my aching shoulders. This position promoted drainage and made it possible for the nurses to suction the profuse drainage of mucus from my 'trach tube' and mouth. In a few days I was generally sore, all over—even the weight of my head on the pillow caused my head and ears to throb continually.

"After several days, intravenous feedings were discontinued and a gavage tube became my means of getting nourishment until I could swallow again. Never tasting any food for a month was another hard thing in those days of adjustment. At least, I was always asked 'what kind of juice I wanted to eat' and the thought of how it would taste helped a little. Nothing, however, will ever be as wonderful as the first chocolate milk shake that I was able to swallow.

"Hot packs are a very necessary part of polio treatment. They are steam heated and put on as hot as the patient can tolerate them. This article attire of full length, smelly, wooly material is not my idea of what to wear on a hot summer day, or on any other day, but it, with the help of physical therapy, did the important job of limbering up my tight muscles. When the physical therapist gave me muscle-stretching exercises, I found them very painful. I learned that patience and recovery go hand in hand; patience to wait until disabled muscles begin to return and then more patience to coax the involved muscles back to normal by persistent exercise. I learned that the patient cannot do it all for herself. She is but one member of a team which includes doctors, nurses, physical therapists, occupational therapists, social workers, and certainly her family. With everyone working together, team work in the true sense of the word is achieved, and the victory—the patient's ultimate recovery—belongs to all of them.

"The frightening choking that accompanies the use of throat muscles that are not yet normal, the aching and twitching of muscles when one starts to use them again, accepting the curious looks one gets while using crutches and a wheelchair in public—all these were things I had to adjust to in my bout with bulbar polio. Through it all, my parents stood by to help me over these and many other rough spots.

"Although I was not placed in a respirator, the huge machine which engulfs all but the head of its occupant, I came to recognize it as a kindly friend in disguise which is always there at the flick of a switch to serve those whose lives depend on it. Dickie had one. Many times I was lulled to sleep by the comforting sound of his respirator, knowing that without this mechanical aid, I would never have known this little boy or enjoyed our friendly arguments over who would win the baseball pennant that year.

"Knowing little about polio, I had no conception of how long my convalescence would take. When I should have felt most grateful that I had passed the critical stage and would, in time, be able to continue my career in nursing, I was devastated to learn that I would not be able to go back to school that fall. That was one of the hardest things I had to face. After a year of convalescence, however, I returned to school in September, 1953. It is a wonderful feeling to be back again and I am thankful that I am able to live a normal active life. I still have some weakness in my left arm and shoulder, but it will not prevent me from continuing in the nursing program.

"In June my classmates and I will be 'capped' and then we will start our clinical experience after seven terms of academic work.

"Through my illness I learned many things, had many experiences, and made many friends. All of these I shall never forget. And I'm grateful to be one of the luckier ones. I think I will be able to live and understand other patients better because of my own experience."

BRINGING HOME A BIBLE was the last thing Vernon Summerville, 45245 Joy road, expected to do when he went hunting near Plymouth during the hunting season. But that is what he found as he tramped in the fields. Taking it home and drying its pages, the seven-inch thick volume was a "revision" published in 1885 and between its pages were found a tax receipt from Enfield, Maine, a March 1906 calendar and an old picture of a man. Exactly what it was doing in a field, still remains a mystery. Each page of the Bible contained Scripture in the King James version and in the revised version. ## Band Carnival Planned For January 22

Plans for the Band Carnival to be held in Plymouth high school on Friday, January 22, are almost completed. The proceeds of the event will be used to aid the band.

So far, plans call for a pancake supper starting at 6 p.m. There will also be an attic treasures booth, with an added attraction of many homemade aprons. Pie and cake walks as well as a fish pond will also be included in the evening's festivities.

Character Research Group Hears Talk by Reverend Charles Lovell

The Reverend Charles W. Lovell was the guest speaker at the Character Research group meeting which took place Monday, January 11 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Guenther. Mr. Lovell is an associate pastor to Dr. Henry Hitt Crane and holds the position of Minister of Education at Central Methodist church in Detroit. He was co-author with Kearney Kirkby of the article, "A Project and How It Works," which appeared in the August 23, 1951 issue of the Michigan Christian Advocate.

Reverend Lovell talked of the elements in the personality of Jesus which made it possible for Him to devote His life to the service of others and to face death on the Cross as a final expression of His love for humanity. The first of these elements is the kind of courage which helps one to stand firmly by his convictions in the face of opposition, discouragement and even danger. Next is the Christian reaction to injustice which includes the concept of overcoming evil with good. Then Reverend Lovell spoke of the ideals behind Jesus' sacrifice, the kind of selflessness which makes men lose themselves in great causes, the power which can come from doing good to a person, who by his own actions could only expect harm, the recognition that this power is stronger and nobler than physical force and finally, the lasting effect of loving one's enemies which is the meaning of the Cross itself.

Reverend Lovell ended his talk with a discussion of the practical methods by which leaders could approach these ideals. These include an active willingness to serve other people, the skills of great leadership such as the effective use of words and the emotional stability necessary for moral courage, the courage to move steadfastly towards a goal and the vision of what that goal could be in terms of human progress.

Producing a generation of adults who can show this kind of leadership is the long range goal of the Character Research group as members teach their children the lessons of the Vicarious Sacrifice Unit during the next 12 weeks. The steps which can be taken at each age level towards these goals will be discussed by mothers and teachers of the group at a morning coffee hour meeting on Wednesday, January 20 at the home of Mrs. Barry Alford.

It was also announced on Monday night that Dr. Ernest Ligon will address the group at the Veterans' Memorial hall on the evening of February 16. Dr. Ligon is the head of the Character Research Project of the Department of Psychology, Union college, Schenectady, New York. This project sponsors the educational material used by the local group.

It is much better to be able to blame an auto accident on a poor eye than on poor rye.

Gives Suggestions for Poultry Vaccination

Although there are no set rules on vaccination of poultry for all poultry farmers, there are some precautions that every poultryman should follow, notes P. R. Biebesheimer, Wayne County Agricultural Agent.

He quotes Dr. S. C. Schmittle, poultry pathologist at Michigan State college on the subject:

Dr. Schmittle advises that there should be vaccination on farms where pox, Newcastle disease or bronchitis have appeared in past years, or in those areas where these diseases are a threat.

Never use two live vaccines at one time, either mixed together or separately—with these exceptions: Laryngotracheitis vaccine can be given at the same time with another vaccine. A booster vaccine may be used at the same time as another vaccine. A killed virus Newcastle vaccine can be used at the same time as a live virus vaccine.

Use vaccines according to the manufacturers' instructions. Never try to stretch the vaccine for more birds than the number of doses in the bottle. And pay attention to the expiration date printed on each box containing vaccine.

Vaccinate only birds in good condition. Most of the live virus vaccines produce a reaction in the flock, which only healthy birds can withstand.

Always remember that most of the live vaccines are capable of producing the disease in non-vaccinated birds.

Keep in mind that immunity resulting from vaccinating young chicks will not last as long as in older birds. It is often necessary to re-vaccinate replacement flocks a second time.

OFF FOR BERMUDA last week were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mielbeck of Plymouth who are shown here as they prepared to board a Colonial airlines plane in New York for the vacation island. The Mielbecks won the "Shop in Plymouth" contest which was sponsored by local Merchants during the Christmas shopping season. The pair are scheduled to return this week.

Disaster Training Offered by Civil Defense Group

Training for medical aid in case of a disaster will be given to all interested city and township residents as one of the projects of the newly-organized Plymouth Township Civil Defense program. Scheduled to cover 30 hours of work, the weekly class in medical aid is being organized by Mrs. Willard DePriest.

The course is an advanced one, and will not cover the rudimentary techniques of first aid. It is aimed at giving disaster training, and will cover such things as blood transfusions, care for the wounded, and so on. As such, it is designed to prepare a corps of workers to take over in the event of an attack.

No preliminary course is necessary, as any adult may enroll. A doctor from the Wayne County Medical Society will give the instruction. Upon completion a certificate will be given as proof of proficiency in disaster care.

Dates for the beginning of the course will be published in a later issue. However, anyone desiring to enroll should contact Mrs. DePriest at Plymouth 1860.

FIRE INSPECTION DAY saw 44 insurance company inspectors enter the city to check all possible dangers from fire in public places. Shown above is Frank Westerman (right), secretary of the Michigan Fire Protection association, showing Mrs. Florence Wood, local insurance agent, and Joseph Rucker, one of the proprietors of Stop & Shop, what can go wrong with an electrical cord leading to one of the store's floor-type deep freezers. Mrs. Wood along with Fire Chief Robert McAllister were two of the people making arrangements for the inspection day. (Ply-Mail photo)

458 Hazards

Plymouth is one of nine Michigan cities to have a complete fire inspection of its business houses this year. The inspection was sponsored by the local insurance agents association and the Chamber of Commerce and was conducted by fire inspectors from 35 different insurance companies who are sent here by their organizations.

A luncheon was held for 107 inspectors, local insurance agents, Boy Scouts and civic leaders at the St. John's Episcopal church at noon at which greetings were extended to the group by Mayor Russell Daane, City Manager Al Glassford, Chamber Vice-president George Mayhew and the insurance association president, Roy Fisher.

A survey of the findings of the group also brought to light that Plymouth was much like any other Michigan city except that the businessman was perhaps a little more fire conscious here than in the average town. Westerman said that the local cooperation was excellent, "far beyond our expectations." Inspectors stated they found local businessmen anxious to take any corrective steps necessary to help eliminate the danger of fire.

Fire chief Robert McAllister stated he thought the survey most worth while in that it was another constant reminder of the necessity of keeping trash from accumulating and doing a few minor improvements in cellars and attics which would prevent fires in the future. Inspectors also pointed out that the local fire department has done an excellent job in the past in helping local businessmen eliminate those things which start most fires.

An address concerning the inspection was given to the Kiwanis club Tuesday night by Don Gray, member of the association. He told of the work of the association members who give one day a month to inspections such as these and receive no extra pay. A dozen Plymouth school teachers were guests of the Kiwanis club. They have been working with the club's boys and girls committee and the safety committee.

Dad Plymouth says he isn't hunting a remedy for rheumatism because he doesn't care to lose his best weather forecaster.

To enable your boy to overcome that shy and retiring disposition, get him a job driving a five-ton truck.

Paying cash for what you want is a mighty good way to break yourself of wanting so much.

Bond Issue

vately owned commercial parking lots in Plymouth.

Detroit is now facing legal action every time the city attempts to construct a parking lot. Private lot owners issue a "writ of prohibition" against any move to start a municipal lot, thus entangling the city in drawn-out court action. Ann Arbor is one of the municipalities joining in to attempt securing some legislation which would halt "interference" from private lot owners.

Duty Sentenced

Haggerty and failed to stop at Ann Arbor road. Traveling at an estimated 80 miles per hour, the Duty car collided with the Montgomery auto. Duty told authorities that he and Pinion had two bottles of beer before the mishap and were on their way to have "a few more."

Duty's attorneys attempted to prove at the trial that the defendant was not driving when the collision took place since Duty was thrown out the right side of the car and Pinion was found behind the wheel.

Duty's Plymouth home was at 1344 Sheldon road.

Telephones in U S Exceed 84 Million

Recent statistics released by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company show that the present number of telephones in the world exceeds 84,000,000.

There were nearly 5,000,000 telephones added to the global network during 1952, to bring the world total to 79,400,000. AT&T explained that it takes more than a year to gather information for its annual world telephone count, hence all of its figures quoted are as of January 1, 1953.

More than half the increase in telephones was in the United States, which has only six per cent of the world's inhabitants. The U. S. tabulation shows one telephone for every three persons in the country, compared with average of only three for every 100 persons in other countries.

New York City, with 3,531,916 telephones, had more than any other city in the world. Among the foreign cities, London, with 1,766,000 telephones ranked first. Washington, D. C., had the greatest density of telephones per population with 65 for every 100 persons. Atlantic City was second with 57, and San Francisco was third with about 55. The foreign city reporting the greatest telephone saturation was Stockholm with almost 51 telephones per 100 persons.

Canadians averaged 389 telephone conversations per person for the year, the highest per capita calling rate reported. The United States ranks second in this respect with approximately 382 conversations.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST, Sunday morning services, 10:30 a.m. Sunday school, 10:30 a.m. for pupils up to 20 years of age. That harmony in daily affairs demands obedience to God's laws will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday. The Lesson - Sermon entitled "Life" includes the following account of counsel by Christ Jesus from the Bible: "And, behold, one came and said unto him, Good Master, what good thing shall I do, that I may have eternal life? And he said unto him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, that is, God; but if thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments" (Matthew 19:16,17). The following correlative passage will be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We apprehend Life in divine Science only as we live above corporeal sense and correct it. Our proportionate admission of the claims of good or of evil determines the harmony of our existence,—our health, our longevity, and our Christianity" (167:6).

Dr. Henry Hitt Crane to Address Methodist Men's Rally Next Week

The men of the First Methodist church will play host to delegates from Methodist churches in the eastern half of the Ann Arbor district at the Methodist Men's rally Thursday, January 21. Speaker for the occasion will be Dr. Henry Hitt Crane, minister of the Central Methodist church in Detroit.

Dr. Crane's address will follow the banquet being served at 6:30 p.m. A graduate of Wesleyan university, Dr. Crane took his seminary work at the Boston University School of Theology and his graduate work at Harvard. The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon him by DePauw university and likewise by Wesleyan university. Recently, Florida Southern college conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Laws.

After serving long pastorates in the east, Dr. Crane was appointed to the Central Methodist church in 1938 where he has remained to this day. A popular speaker, Dr. Crane averages better than one address a day, not only in the Detroit area but throughout the country. He is probably best known for his work among colleges, having lectured in about 200 different academic institutions. In his travels Dr. Crane has

Prayer Heals All Problems Says Noted Lecturer

The healing of physical disease is an essential element of Christianity. Ella H. Hay of Indianapolis, Indiana, told a large audience at Eighth Church of Christ, Scientist, Detroit, on Sunday, January 10. Today, as in the days of the early Christians, healing by prayer is being demonstrated as a vital part of Christianity, Mrs. Hay declared. She said Christian Scientists throughout the world are proving increasingly the effectiveness of prayer based on scientific knowledge of God's laws.

On nationwide tour as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Mrs. Hay spoke on "Christian Science: Its Awakening and Healing Mission," and she was introduced by A. Paul Bencks, First Reader of Eighth Church.

Mrs. Hay emphasized that true Christianity is a way of life, and that the benefits one receives from it depend on the qualities of thought that one brings to daily situations. She told of a woman healed of pneumonia through prayer, and told what this prayer included.

She pointed out that Christ Jesus called upon his followers to "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature." "Heal the sick." She described health as "wholly spiritual," and stated that spiritual awakening is the need for health.

She said that, to the Christian Scientist, "sickness is not a reality but a belief; hence the healing occurs in human consciousness, not in matter. To be sure, physical healing appears as changed bodily conditions, but the actual process is the operation of divine law in human consciousness, before which sin and disease lose their reality and disappear. The process is as simple and natural as the replacement of darkness with light."

To illustrate this she told of an instantaneous healing of a serious case of pneumonia through spiritual means alone, as taught in Christian Science.

She said the student's efforts, through prayer, to lift her thought above suffering to spiritual light and healing led her to review the eleventh chapter of Hebrews in the Bible, where are recorded the triumphs of many spiritually-minded men of the Old Testament. Mrs. Hay said the student also pondered this statement by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science: "Rise in the strength of Spirit to resist all that is unlike good. God has made man capable of this, and nothing can vitiate the ability and power divinely bestowed on man."

Anyone interested in joining the chorus is invited to attend. Plymouth parents will do well to teach their boys that well-digging is about the only profession in which you can start from the top.

"The first element of the healing prayer in the experiences just related is seen to be faith," she said. "The student had strengthened her faith through contemplation of Scriptural references and statements of truth from the Christian Science textbook, 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures' by Mrs. Eddy. A measure of spiritual understanding, which Mrs. Eddy names as the second element of healing prayer, was evidenced in the student's clear reasoning, separation of the real from the unreal, and in the rejection of fear. Unselfed love, the third element in healing prayer, was manifested in her desire to be about her Father's business. Faith, spiritual understanding, and unselfed love are evidences of the Christ-consciousness."

"When . . . we watch our thoughts, reject error, and entertain the Christ in our consciousness, we waken to the health and satisfaction which comes from knowing God and recognizing true selfhood."

Theatre Guild Meets Monday

Members of the Plymouth Theatre Guild will hear a report on the latest play "Lo and Behold" at the regular meeting to be held Monday, January 18, in the Veterans' Memorial building at 8 p.m.

Guest speaker for the event will be a representative of the Dearborn Players. The topic of discussion will concern the background of the players group and reports on plays which a group the size of the local Theatre Guild can perform.

Anyone interested in the various aspects of theatre work is urged to attend the meeting to get acquainted with other members.

OPEN EVENINGS

Veterans of Foreign Wars Plans Open Discussion of Legislation

A meeting that should be of interest to every citizen in Plymouth, especially the veteran, his wife, mother, and sister, will take place at the VFW hall, January 27, at 8 p.m. The meeting will hold an extensive discussion on an important present-day problem of all veterans.

Much has been printed and said of these problems that are facing the American veterans. Congress is reportedly on the threshold of cancelling many veterans' benefits and "slicing" the pensions that are now being given them. Several representatives in Washington are striving to cut down and even disperse with certain veterans' benefits.

"We in Michigan are particularly aware of the veterans' hospital situation," a spokesman for the V. F. W. pointed out. "The closing of said hospital and certain sections of other veteran rehabilitation centers are appalling facts. The general picture of this problem reveals that there are many, many veterans who need additional assistance. The veteran who needs a helping hand, whether it be financial or physical aid, is not a welfare or charity case, but instead, they are men who fought to protect this country against alien forces—they fought so that we may live healthier and happier."

The Veterans of Foreign Wars exists for one important purpose: it is to aid the veteran, his family or widow. One does not have to be in a certain organization or club to help, to get a clear overall picture of the veterans' problem of today. Don Draher, department junior vice commander, and Bill McQuinn, rehabilitation officer, will discuss the situation. There will be an open discussion period with the audience. All questions will be answered.

City officials, including Mayor Russell Daane, will also be present.

The V. F. W. urges that interested citizens remember the date, January 27, 8 p.m. at the V. F. W. hall, 1426 South Mill street, at the corner of Ann Arbor and Mill (Lilley) roads.

Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Wife: I'll make you sorry you ever quarreled with me.

Husband: What will you do, go home to your mother?

Wife: No. I'll bring mother here.

"Have you had any experience as a chauffeur?"

"Well, I can show you the receipts for all the fines I have paid."

Visitor—Those are wonderful strawberries you have there. Do you use fertilizer on them?"

Farmer—"No, just cream and sugar."

Fancy Sport Cars Provide Thrills For Young and Old at Ford Museum

The peers of the realm of sports cars, foreign and American, are now on display in the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn.

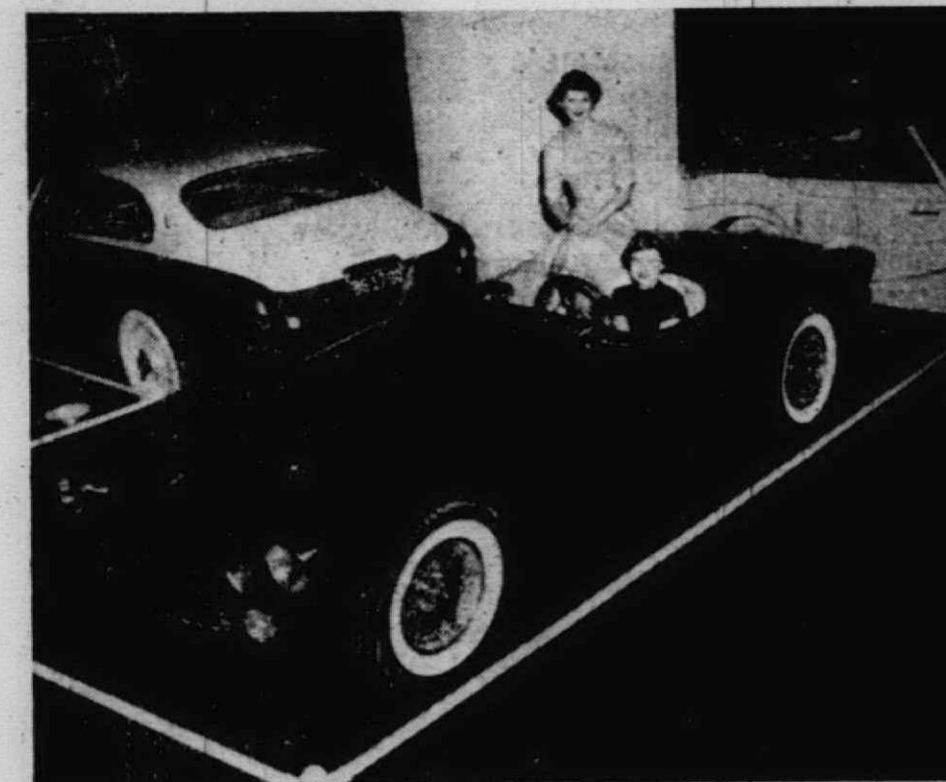

The exhibit, entitled "Sports Cars Unlimited," emphasizes future trends in sports car development, notably in the field of plastic bodies. Models not previously shown in this country are included among the 50 odd models selected for exhibit.

Classic sports cars of the past are also shown to lend historical perspective to the display in an attempt to illustrate the evolution, purpose and popularity of sports cars through the years.

Photographs and paintings of outstanding sports car events and competitions and artists' conceptions of the cars of the future form a backdrop for the cars on display.

Pictured above is the Ferrari America the only V-12 being built in the world today. It is manufactured entirely by hand in a small factory in Modena, Italy at a cost of $12,000 per car. This particular model has a top speed of 150 miles per hour.

This fancy model is the 300 SL Mercedes, a pure-blooded sports car with perfect combination of the finest ingredients: superb handling, aerodynamic body and a precision-built, high performance engine almost without equal.

Other modern versions include the only production plastic sports car built in the U.S., the Chevrolet Corvette, together with the Kaiser Darrin, the Edwards hybrid using a Lincoln engine, shortened Ford chassis and fiberglass body; the Cunningham, considered by many to be the only true American production sports car; and two Chrysler experimental sports cars, the DeSoto Adventurer and the Dodge Firearrow will also be on display.

"Sports Cars Unlimited" is the second annual exhibition of sports cars in the Henry Ford Museum. The 1954 edition will cover more than 20,000 square feet of floor space. The show will be open 9 a.m. until 5 p.m., daily and weekends, and will last until February 1.

Grange Gleanings

Last Thursday night was the first meeting of the year and a fine crowd sat down to the usual birthday supper at 7 p.m. with the seven honorees at the birthday table. The supper was unusually good, and the highlight was the beautiful birthday cake made by Milly Rianas. It was just as delicious in taste as it was in looks. An interesting meeting followed.

The card party was a decided success. A splendid crowd filled the hall and everyone enjoyed themselves at the various games that were played. On February 6 there will be another party, and we hope all of those who came to the one just past will come again and bring their friends.

The Lily club was held at the hall Monday night with about the usual number in attendance. The new members should feel that it is their club too, and we hope they will come next time.

The Sympathy of the Grange members goes out to Mrs. Finton and her family because of the loss of her husband who passed away on Sunday. They have been Grange members for some time, but owing to his very poor health were not able to attend the meetings.

And do not forget the dance on January 23. Come and bring your friends to have a good time.

V.F.W. News

Be sure to read the legislative article elsewhere in this issue. The Veterans of Foreign Wars Post has announced the following social dates: another fun night has been planned for the evening of January 16, at 8 p.m. There will be another party on January 22 at 8 p.m. A flag dedication will take place on January 24. More details on this event later.

A big Valentine party will be held February 13. An orchestra has been contacted for the soiree. Keep that date in mind.

Remember, Virginia Bartel, who is heading the Plymouth Polio Mother's March, January 23, needs more volunteer workers for that evening. You don't have to be an Auxiliary member. Any woman can have the privilege of assisting in this very worthy effort. Phone 1842-W if you are interested.

Those of you who have friends, children, brothers, or sisters in high school, tell them to see their English teacher for details on the essay contest that is now in effect. There are many wonderful prizes. Local prizes will be given by the Auxiliary, the state prizes amount to hundreds of dollars.

There will be three local winners. More details will be published at a later date.

Christmas cards that you no longer care to keep can be put to very good use by the children who are confined to the Maybury Sanatorium. Bring them to the Post Hall.

Have you sent a letter to Senator Ferguson or to Representative Charles Oakman in Washington referring to the veteran problem? Isabelle Lueke, Legislative chairman, is stressing the Auxiliary cooperation in this effort.

Spring Adult Education Program To Offer Several New Courses

Several new courses as well as the established ones have been entered on the ledger for the spring program of the local Adult Education department, announced Herbert Woodweaver, director. The activities and classes are offered to adults and persons out of school in Plymouth and surrounding areas.

Registration for the classes will be held from February 1 to 5, by calling the Adult Education office or seeing Woodweaver personally. Minimum for any class is 10 persons. Registration, therefore, will be accepted after the deadline only if enough persons have already enrolled.

One of the new courses being offered is motherhood training, a class planned for prospective mothers and other interested women. Taught by Mrs. Lance Wright, the course will be based on Dr. Reed's method and the training program of Yale university. Mrs. Wright will receive assistance from her husband, Dr. Wright. The eight-week class will be held on Wednesday evenings at 7 p. m.

A course in practical communication for executives and administrators is also being offered under the co-sponsorship of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce. Taught by Dr. A. L. Thurman of Michigan State college, the eight-week course begins on Thursday, February 11, at 7 p. m.

Among the other courses being taught for adults are Americanization, an eight-week course designed to teach the foreign born to read and write; the basic principles of first aid, offered as a civil defense measure; and conservation, a five-week film and lecture series, open to the public.

In the crafts and avocations field, 14 courses will be offered this spring. Only one six-week course is among these, that being the basic principles of electricity for household use, taught by Henry Løse. Eight-week courses being planned are blue print reading, with instructor Bob Ingram; ceramics, instructor Mr. Jackson; jewelry and metal tooling, "Bee" Ware; leather craft, Dorothy Lucas; millinery, Joyce Dalian; rug hooking, Mrs. F. Wilson; and elementary gas and electric welding, K. Baughman. Classes scheduled for 10 weeks are: sewing, Mrs. Humphries; shop math, Mr. Grieves; beginning and advanced shorthand, Mrs. Baker; and beginning and advanced typing, Mrs. Baker.

The area of music and drama included in the spring Adult Education program offers music appreciation, a 10-week series taught by Wayne Dunlap, and the season-long Plymouth Symphony orchestra and Plymouth Theatre Guild.

Golf is again taking the spotlight in recreation classes with classes being given by Chris Burghardt for six weeks starting February 8 in the junior high school gymnasium, and Sally Sessions taking over for another class beginning on May 3 at the Lilac Golf range. Badminton for students and adults will go on every Monday night through the season in the high school gymnasium, with Louise Cigile instructing.

Chris Witwer will again teach her eight-week course in Swedish gymnastics, health and exercise to music, on Thursday evenings. Palmer and Carson will handle the beginning and advanced square dancing every Thursday evening throughout the season.

High Rating of High School Band Reflects Work of Director Livingston

By Ed Brown

Plymouth music lovers are indeed fortunate by having such a high-caliber band for entertainment as the Plymouth high school band affords. These young musicians didn't become recognized as one of the best bands in the state overnight, but because of years of community interest and good leadership. A few years ago the Rotary club, as well as other service clubs, waged a campaign to buy attractive uniforms so that this band could appear in public and look as neat as other bands in this area.

Today Plymouth has one of the best bands it has ever had, and much favorable comment has been heard on all occasions when the band has performed in public. Much of the credit for the high rating of the present band must go to its director, Lawrence Livingston, who is in his third year as its conductor.

Livingston's band has performed in great style at the football games, where they put on some top-notch shows between the halves. The group has also done outstanding work for various parades staged in connection with civic celebrations, and recently put on a band show at the high school before a crowd of over 1000 people which was really something to see.

Larry, as he is known to his friends, is a home town boy who graduated from the local high school in 1929. He was born on a farm near Elkton, Michigan in 1911, and came to Plymouth with his parents in 1922. After graduating from the high school, Larry worked his way through the Michigan State Normal college by playing in dance orchestras. While in college he also played clarinet in the Normal College Symphony and was a member of the Zeta Chi Sigma fraternity.

In 1933 he wrote the "Huron's Fight Song" which was adopted as the official M.S.N.C. song in that year. After graduation in 1934, he traveled with dance bands until 1935, and then secured a teaching position in Utica for two years, later going to Clawson for the next five years. During the war he worked at the Vickers corporation, and in 1945 opened a private studio and arranged music for bands throughout the United States on a correspondence basis.

In 1950 he returned to Clawson, and came to Plymouth in 1951. Larry received his Master of Education degree from Wayne University in 1952. He says his hobbies are composing music, photography and recording. He is a member of the Phi Delta Kappa national honorary society at Wayne University.

Larry and Mrs. Livingston live with their sons, Dale and Larry, Jr., 8 and 11 years old respectively, in their new home at 1456 Sheridan. He says he is happy to be back in Plymouth again because he has always felt it a splendid community in which to live.

Plymouth Annual Puts On Steam

Plans are going ahead for the 1953-54 Plythean. Pictures were taken of the clubs and organizations in Plymouth high school and junior high school on January 6 and 7, by Powell Studios of Detroit.

Recently the seniors finished filling out forms of their activities during grades 9 through 12. The senior editors are beginning work on the quotations.

The annual staff made $350 on the all-school picture sale in December. Also on January 8 the staff sponsored a dance with the committees led by Sally Morgan, tickets; Dale Houghton, refreshments; Jan Ponto, entertainment and Janet Mulholland, publicity.

The concessions during the reserve and varsity basketball games on January 15 will also be sponsored by the annual staff.

The annual this year will be blue and white with music as its theme. This year the annual will cost the same with orders being taken in late January and early February. The Plythean is printed by Meyers and company in Topeka, Kansas.

Constructing Sidewalk to Allen School Turns Into Knotty Problem

Everyone Recognizes Need for Walk But No One Knows How to Get It

NO SIDEWALK LEADING to school for these three youngsters means they must be more careful walking and the motorist must be more careful driving. The two boys walk to and from school with the small girl in order to avoid possible accidents. From left to right, they are Larry Krause, 46555 Maben, Nancy Ann Miller, 11021 Haggerty, and James Magraw, 48667 Warren. (Ply-Mail photo)

Everyone wants it—but nobody can do anything about it. That sums up the problem facing Plymouth school officials at the Allen Elementary school where many children must walk on a busy highway to and from school because of the lack of a sidewalk.

For some 1,400 feet between Ann Arbor trail and the school, the small students can be seen walking along the shoulder of Haggerty road. Most everyone agrees that there should be a sidewalk but nobody seems to have come up with the solution of how to get one.

There is a similar problem at Bird Elementary school where there is an absence of sidewalks on Sheldon road from Territorial road to the school. And there have been numerous requests for more sidewalks leading to Smith school.

The School Community Planning group has been working for the Allen school sidewalk this year. First of all, everyone agrees that the property owners owning the land east of Haggerty road where the sidewalk should be built would hardly be expected to stand the expense. Unofficial estimates of the cost of such a sidewalk have been set at several thousand dollars.

The School Community Planning group turned to the Plymouth township board for a possible solution. Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay had to seek advice from the Wayne county prosecuting attorney's office and the assistant prosecutor returned two pages of law on the matter. He pointed out that the township board has no authority to construct sidewalks outside corporate limits and has no authority to spend money for sidewalk construction in the township without creation of a special assessment district and issuing bonds for the construction.

The county itself said that they can legally build the sidewalk but only a fourth of the cost would be paid by the township-at-large while the remainder would be assessed to the property owners affected. Again the property owner would get no benefit from a sidewalk built through a field.

School board president James Gallimore said that he can see no way to get the sidewalk built until land in that area is developed for homes.

The county road commission suggested to the school planning group that the road between Ann Arbor and Ann Arbor trail be blocked off while children are going to and from school. The planners turned this suggestion down since many parents bring their children to school in their own cars.

So that is the problem and it does not look like it is going to be solved right away.

Some of them may not be physically perfect, but no Plymouth girl ever contracted fallen arches from standing too long in front of a dish pan.

Honorary Journalism Society Prepares to Initiate Members

By Ella Plant

An initiation ceremony for the new members of the Quill and Scroll, the International Honorary Society of high school Journalists, to be held in the near future is being planned by Betty Bowden, president; Dean Palmer, vice-president; and Ty Caplin, secretary-treasurer.

Those new members in the junior class joining the society are as follows: Tom Sawyer, Sally Morgan, Thalia Bairas, Ella Plant, Saisy Gyde, Betty Simmons, Jane Smith and Chuck McKenna. Senior students becoming members are: Ann Sumner, Marilyn Sheere, Doranne Wilton, Luce Merillat, Jeanne Walker, Janet Mulholland and Pat Wendland.

At least 50 published inches of journalistic or creative writing are required by the journalism department. Also it is necessary for the potential members to be in the upper third of his class. Besides these requirements, candidates must do superior work in journalism, be recommended by their adviser, and approved by the executive secretary. All new members will send in their best article for a critical analysis by the society.

When joining the members pay a fee which pays for a year's subscription to the Quill and Scroll magazine, a gold badge, and a membership certificate. No dues are collected during the course of the year.

Formed on April 10, 1926 to encourage more initiative and better writing, the society has benefitted the staffs of different high schools in judging its publications and elevating its standards. Since it would be impossible to have a national conference, the country is divided into several districts with a representative officer for each.

Honorary members such as Sir Phillips Gibbs, Edwin Markham, Vachel Lindsay, Ellen Glasgow, Robert Frost, George McManus, and Eugene Meyer have been presented with membership certificates in the past.

The Quill and Scroll magazine is published to present advisory articles dealing with international problems on magazines, year-books, and newspapers. The magazine holds contests during the months of November, January, and March on headline writing, ad writing, news judgment, news writing, feature writing, sports writing, copy reading, editorial writing, and current news. Winners of contests are eligible to compete for the President's Scholarship worth $500.

The Plymouth high school, Edna M. Allen chapter of the Quill and Scroll will have concessions and sponsor the dime-dance after the basketball game with Bellville, Friday, January 15.

Miss Elizabeth McDonald has been adviser to the society since 1948. Maybe the reason older citizens of Plymouth used to call tomatoes "love apples" is because they soon got rotten.

Class Sings Gilbert And Sullivan Songs

Music was floating through the halls of Plymouth high school last Thursday morning.

This is how it came about. When the twelfth grade first hour literature classes had been studying writings by Gilbert, Dick Root jokingly said, "Dean Palmer will play some Gilbert and Sullivan music." In return Dean said "If I play this music Dick will sing the words for you."

That evening the boys planned a program to present to the class the next day. Helping with the program were Doranne Wilton at the piano, Mary Lou Truesdell, Ann Sumner, Bob Willoughby, Vern Diederick and Pat Lidgard. As an added attraction Vern played his saxophone and Pat sang a solo.

The whole class joined in singing selections from "H. M. S. Pinafore" and "Mikado."

A brass band once visited a small village, and the people were delighted with it, but they couldn't make out the trombone, so they sent old Cyrus to investigate.

Old Cyrus watched the performance of the trombone player for sometime. Then, he said, with a sneer, "Take no notice of him, fellows. There's a trick to it; he don't swallow the dum thing."

"DID IT HURT?" asked a Plymouth high school boy as he stood in line to enter the Chestmobile last week and spied a fellow student coming out. "Shot me right through the chest," replied the fellow student. Everyone knows, of course, that the subject does get "shot" through the chest by the x-ray camera but the few seconds it takes to have the x-ray taken may be a life-saving precaution. The Chestmobile spent two days at the high school. Shown here is student Roberta Paulson, 9715 Joy road, being lined up for the "shot" by Al Chilson technician for the Wayne County Health department. Looking on are two of the Plymouth drive's committeemen, L. P. McGuire, industrial chairman, and Sam Hudson (right), general chairman.

Adult Education Schedules Class For Executives

A new course for executives and administrators has been planned this year as part of the program offered by the local Adult Education department. Dr. A. L. Thurman, associate professor of communication skills at Michigan State college, will teach the class in practical communication.

The course will cover the communication needs of executives with emphasis on speaking, writing, reading and listening. Dr. Thurman will discuss the techniques of oral reporting, public speaking, conferences with employees, among other things.

The eight-week course will begin on Thursday, February 11. Registration at the Adult Education office will be held on February 1 to 5. A class of 30 is expected.

Development of an effective vaccine against the three varieties of poliomyelitis virus appears close at hand. Among contributing factors developed recently were: Success in growing at least one virus strain in incubated eggs, perfection of a relatively simple test for polio infection and immunity, and the finding that the virus does not invade the central nervous system immediately upon entrance into the body, which is important because it might make vaccine treatment more effective.

SPORTS FLASHES

from
The Sporting News by J. G. Taylor Spink

LOW-DOWN ON MAJORS' BIG SHOTS

In a confidential poll of more than 100 writers who cover major league teams, The Sporting News has given the nation's fans an informative insight into the public and private lives of the game's players—and it's straight from the shoulder!

The scribes were asked to evaluate the stars on 44 different counts ranging from mechanical skill and team value through living habits and personalities. Under the cloak of anonymity, none of the writers pulled his punches.

Who are the most temperamental players, the least friendly to fans and the press, the most cooperative, the most generous, and the least, the most conceited, the most serious-minded? The poll names names on all these, and more.

Here are the stars viewed by the writers in The Sporting News poll as being the most temperamental: National League—Russ Meyer, Dodgers; Eddie Mathews, Braves; Eddie Stanky, Cardinals; Gran Hamner, Phillies; Jim Hearn, Giants; Jim Greengrass, Reds; Eddie Miksis, Cubs; and Carlos Bernier, Pirates. American League—Gene Woodling, Yankees; Larry Doby, Indians; Ferris Fain, White Sox; Ted Williams, Red Sox; Mickey Grasso, Senators; Matt Batts, Tigers; Harry Byrd, Athletics (traded to the Yankees since the poll), and Satchel Paige, Orioles.

Williams was not only rated the most temperamental player on the Red Sox, but also the least cooperative with writers and the least friendly to the fans, as well as his club's most valuable star, most feared hitter, its magnet at the gate, earliest riser, most lavish spender, best businessman, best student of the game, most helpful to rookies and best physique.

Stan Musial of the Cardinals was voted a raft of compliments, including best clutch-hitter on his club, most valuable player, fastest runner, No. 1 box-office attraction, best all-around athlete, best-dressed, most cooperative with the writers, most generous, best businessman, most helpful to new players and most popular off the field.

NO. 1 MEN, NO. 1 THRILL, NO. 1 EVENT

The Sporting News, which has already named President Lou Perini of the Braves, Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees and Third Baseman Al Rosen of the Indians as the No. 1 Men of the Year in baseball, has also made its selections of the top thrill of the 1953 season and the most important event.

The thrill of the year, as voted by many of the nation's leading sportswriters and broadcasters, was Carl Erskine's achievement in setting a new World's Series record of 14 strikeouts as he pitched the Dodgers to a 3 to 2 victory over the Yankees.

Heading the list of the most important occurrences in the opinion of The Sporting News was the decision of the United States Supreme Court affirming the ruling by Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes in 1922 that baseball was a sport rather than an interstate business.

LIONS CONVERT CASTOFFS INTO CHAMPS

What does it take to build up a professional football championship team? Money might do it and beating the collegiate bushes for the best young talent helps, but the Detroit Lions have the simple answer: win with castoffs!

The National Football League title-holders, who copied their second straight championship by defeating the Cleveland Browns, are a team of castoffs, even including Coach Buddy Parker himself, The Sporting News points out.

"Most of our players have come from other clubs," the calm Texan draws. "What's so strange about that? After all, they do it somewhat in baseball. Many fellows get their second wind after a trade. We happen to have been lucky that way."

At least a dozen Lions-saw service elsewhere before they were blended into Parker's championship machine. Among them are Earl (Jug) Girard (Green Bay Packers), Jim Martin (Cleveland), Bobby Layne (Chicago Bears), Jim Cain and Vince Banonis (Chicago Cardinals), Cloyce Box (Washington Redskins) and Sherman Gandee (Dallas Texans). Gandee was a Detroit discard who came back to the club and did a solid job as a regular end this year.

Belleville "5" Meets Rocks Here Friday

The Belleville high school basketball team, which has not won a 6-B league victory this year, comes to Plymouth tomorrow night for a contest with the local quintet. However, all the Belleville losses have been by close margins, and both the league leaders, Allen Park and Trenton, beat the Tigers by only a few points.

The Rocks, sporting a 1-2 record will be gunning for the .500 mark with a win over the Tigers. Last year these two outfits played two close tilts with the Rocks emerging victorious in each by a 53 to 48 score in the first and a slim 55 to 54 count in the second. The junior varsity won both games easily last year. They will play the preliminary game beginning at 7 p.m.

Next Tuesday, the Rocks play a return engagement with the Garden City team, which they defeated 61 to 34 in an earlier tilt this year. Both games will be played here.

The 6-B league is fast becoming a four-team fight for first place—any one of the first four teams could win the crown—those being Allen Park, Trenton, Bentley and Plymouth. Last weekend found Trenton winning from Belleville 47 to 41; Bentley downing Redford Union 57 to 37; and Plymouth bowing to Allen Park 46 to 42. Other area scores found Ypsilanti, who is rated in the first 10 Class A teams in the state, trouncing Battle Creek 47 to 35; Southfield taking Waterford 54 to 29; Farmington over Walled Lake 50 to 38; Catholic Central winning from Wayne 52 to 45; Inkster defeating Garden City 50 to 29, and Northville downing Clarenceville 57 to 29.

Frosh Win, Juniors Lose Cage Games

In a double-header played at the high school last Friday afternoon, the Plymouth junior high team lost to the Allen Park five by a 25 to 10 score, while the local frosh team upset Allen Park 53 to 38.

In the smaller boys game, the junior high scored 6 points in the first quarter to be one point behind at that time, but could not score another point until the final quarter. In the meantime Allen Park had built up a commanding lead to win going-away.

In this game Alsborg and Baggett scored all the points with 6 and 4 respectively. Horvath was high for the winners with 9 markers and Adeline had 7. Plymouth made no free throws out of 3 attempts.

In the frosh game, Plymouth forged to the front in the second quarter and was never headed thereafter. They had a 28 to 18 lead at the halftime intermission.

Jerry King had 14 points to lead his mates; Cliff Tait and Ken Calhoun each had 12. Bob Brown had 12 for Allen Park. Plymouth counted on 5 of 17 free throws attempts, while Allen Park made good on none in 6 tries.

Tomorrow these two local teams journey to Belleville for a game beginning at 3 p.m.

Allen Park 'Control' Five Downs Rocks 46-42

In a thrill-packed last quarter when the high school varsity cagers threatened to overtake the Allen Park Jaguars time ran out and the Rocks went down to their second league defeat by a score of 46 to 42 last Friday night at Allen Park. The winners were ahead throughout the contest with the exception of two occasions when the locals tied the score in the early stages of the game.

Allen Park played a controlled type of game, which confused the locals at times. Play was close during the first quarter with the host team enjoying an 8 to 4 lead at the end of that stanza, and they had a 21 to 18 halftime lead. The Rocks were behind 34 to 25 as the last period began, and came within a couple of points of tying it at one stage, but opportunities to go ahead were muffed. The winners presented a tricky out-of-bounds play under their own basket, and as a result scored a basket by quick thinking as the play confused the Rock defense. Jerry McNew had the ball out of bounds, and the team lined up in a straight line under the basket out to the foul line. A Plymouth player, next to McNew, turned his back on the latter to guard the player back of him, and McNew bounced the ball off the Rock's back, grabbed the rebound and tossed in a basket for a decisive two points.

The spurt put on by the Rocks in the last quarter had the crowd on its feet most of the time, and play was tense, but the losers couldn't quite make up the deficit before the final gun.

Ken Kisabeth was high for the Rocks with 13 points scored on 6 baskets and one free throw. Captain Jerry Kelly was next with 8; Bob Middleton had 7, Tyler Caplin 6, and Dick Day and Lee Juve 4 each. Plymouth made good on 12 of 20 free throws, and made all those attempted in the first half foot. They had 7 of 8 tries by the time the last quarter began. Allen Park had 8 of 21 shots good.

Gil Wolfe led Allen Park with 13 points, McNew had 11 and Wiers 10.

In a preliminary game the Plymouth junior varsity edged out Allen Park in a tight game, 38 to 37. The reserves were ahead all the way after the first quarter, but were nearly nipped at the final gun. The half-time saw them enjoying a 21 to 11 lead, which had been cut to four points by the time the last quarter began.

Dick Davidson, who has been on the sick list, entered the game in the second quarter and was high point man for the night with 13 points. Ferguson had 11, Smith 7, Kalah, Bonga and Mills 2 each, and Carter one point. The young Rocks made good on 8 of 19 free throws and Allen Park 7 of 17, which made the difference in the one-point win. Each team had 15 baskets. Bill Howard was high for the losers with 11 points.

"Beef" Matheson To Address Athletic Group

One of the most popular coaches ever to have charge of the Plymouth high school athletic teams has been secured to speak at the organizational meeting of the newly formed high school Athletic Alumni Association this coming Sunday at 3 p.m. in the high school gymnasium. Kenneth "Beef" Matheson, who coached all sports here from 1929 to 1938, and is now located at the new Cody high school in Detroit as athletic director, will be on hand to renew old acquaintances and help the group get off to a good start.

"At this first formal meeting temporary chairman David Gates will read the proposed by-laws which have been set up by his committee. After a brief discussion a permanent set of by-laws will be adopted to serve as a guide for the group in furthering their aims. Some of these aims are the awarding of a scholarship to a needy athlete, an annual reunion outing, an annual dance, being available to help in any way possible with the athletic program, and sponsoring an all-sports banquet.

Membership will be open to any former athlete at the high school, or to anyone interested in athletics in general. Many local fans attend most athletic events, but do not have a boy competing; they are most welcome to join this group. At a previous informal meeting athletes from as far back as 1923 were present, and so far it appears that well over 50 interested persons will be on hand at this meeting Sunday. This will afford many a chance of renewing old friendships and keeping in closer contact with each other.

Breaks Out Window But Nothing Taken

Police are investigating what was apparently an attempted breaking and entering of the Roberts Supply company, 639 South Mill street.

Although the owners have found nothing missing from the office, a piece of concrete was hurled through a side window, making it appear that someone had burglary in mind.

The broken window was found as police made a routine check of the office at 4:50 a.m. last Monday.

Sport Glances

by "Professor" Edgar Brown

The Plymouth high cagers lost another close one in the 6-B league last week. Allen Park playing the control type of ball, new to 6-B play, dominated and confused the Rocks all evening. The 6-B league is fairly well matched this year. Plymouth has a stronger team, but so has Allen Park, Trenton and Bentley, although the latter is not as strong as last year. These four teams will wage an interesting battle down to the wire.

The three top-teams will have a battle on their hands when they come to play in the large gymnasium at the local high school, and both of the previous reverses could very well be avenged. Bentley and Plymouth are the only two schools in the conference that have large courts, and it makes a difference in play.

This Plymouth team has a lot of possibilities, but just can't seem to click all the time. They haven't approached the style of play in their season's opener against Northville. I'll wager that the team who wins the 6-B this year will lose at least one game and maybe two—the top teams are that evenly matched.

It will be a warm home-coming for "Beef" Matheson when he appears this Sunday to speak at the Athletic Alumni meeting. Many of his former players are still in this vicinity, and will be happy to see and hear him again. "Beef" was one of the most-liked coaches to ever teach at Plymouth—he taught more than just the game and many a local athlete owes him a lot for setting him straight on a lot of things. All I have ever talked to say they are a much better person for having known the congenial coach. This meeting takes place at the high school gym at 3 p.m. Sunday, and anyone who is interested in athletics can become a member of this organization by just being there.

The University of Michigan is beginning to promote big-time track meets. This coming June 11 and 12 the National Intercollegiate track meet will be held in Ann Arbor. This is one you track fans won't want to miss for you will see the cream of the crop in the United States. I'll be there. The Big Ten-Pacific Coast meet was held in Ann Arbor last year and was well attended—many of the best track stars come from these two conferences.

If you are interested in track, the winter meets will be starting soon at Ann Arbor, and they have some good ones lined up this season.

Conservation Series To Be Started Here

A free conservation series which will enlighten local residents on wild life and natural resources of Michigan is being planned by the Adult Education department in conjunction with the Western Wayne County Conservation association. The five-week series will combine films with lectures by members of the State Department of Conservation at Lansing.

The new series is open to the whole community, and parents are urged to bring their children as well. No special enrollment is necessary, but those interested should arrive before the 7:30 p.m. starting time.

President and secretary of the Conservation club, Gayle Brewer and James J. Turk, are making arrangements to have the series publicized by Mort Neff on his television program.

"Game Management in Michigan" has been chosen as the topic for the first of the series on Wednesday evening, February 10. The film being shown is "The Web of Life" with Merrill Petosky, district game supervisor of the game division of the Conservation department, as speaker.

An illustrated lecture, "South-eastern Michigan: 10,000 Years Ago and Now" will be given on February 17. Helen M. Martin, research geologist of the Geological Survey division of the Conservation department, will be the speaker.

February 24's topic will be "Conservation Education: Not A Schoolhouse In Sight" with the film "Wisdom Grows Outdoors." Walter F. Van Dien, conservation education consultant of the Educational Division of the Department of Conservation, is speaker.

On March 3 the film "Yours Is The Land" will illustrate the topic "Responsibility of the Com-

P.T.S.A. to Hear School Principal

Gene Maybie, principal of Tappan junior high school in Ann Arbor and recognized as one of the outstanding school leaders in Michigan, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Plymouth Junior High Parent-Teacher-Student association to be held Tuesday, January 19 at 7:30 p.m.

Principal Maybie will speak on the subject, "Values of the Junior High School." Besides being widely known in the education field, the principal is an outstanding Ann Arbor civic leader.

Members of the Future Homemakers of America club under the direction of Mrs. Jean Ross will conduct a panel discussion. Refreshments will be served following the program.

Swimmers Lose to Ypsi

Ypsilanti Central swimmers set three new pool records and tied another as they swam to a 50 to 32 victory over Plymouth last Thursday evening before a capacity crowd in the natatorium at the high school. The new marks were posted in the 50-yard free style at 26 seconds flat; the 150-yard medley relay in 2:40; and the 200-yard free style in 2:12.3. The 100-yard backstroke record was tied with a time of 1:03.6.

The visitors got off to a fast 21 to 6 lead in the first three events, and continued to pile up points from there on. The Rocks were able to garner two first places when Tom Rutherford picked up his first win in the diving event, and the Rock 200 yard relay team won that event by a half a pool length over the Ypsi boys. David Beegle took a third in the 50 yard free style; Paul Daoust and Walter Abate a second and a third in the 100 yard breast stroke; Lee Rowe a third in the 200 yard free style; Packard a second in the back stroke. Bill McKenna had a second and Bill Braendel a third in the 100 yard free style; Mike Conrad swam second in the 150 yard individual medley relay; and the Plymouth medley relay finished second.

Today a fast Ann Arbor high school swimming team will come here for a meet at 4:30 p.m. Next Tuesday the Plymouth swimmers will journey to Adrian for a duel meet there beginning at 4 p.m.

It's the Dividends that make it Worth More

RIDE DIVIDEND

New Ball-Joint Front Suspension

This revolutionary new suspension is the greatest chassis advance in 20 years... and it's exclusive to Ford in its field. It gives front wheels greater up and down travel to smooth out the going on rough roads. And it helps keep the wheels in true alignment for consistently easy handling. Movement of the wheels is on ball joints whether up and down, as wheels travel over rough spots, or in steering as wheels turn right or left. Ball joints are sealed against dirt and water.

DIVIDEND IN DRIVING EASE

Ford offers five optional power assists* you might expect to find only in America's costliest cars

Master-Guide power steering does up to 75% of your steering work, yet leaves you with natural steering "feel" on the straightaways. Swift Sure Power Brakes do up to one-third of the work in stopping. Fordomatic Drive gives torque converter smoothness and the "Go" of automatic mechanical gears. And only Ford in its field offers Power-Lift Windows, both front and rear, that open or close at a button's touch... and a 4-Way Power Seat that adjusts up and down, as well as front and back, at a touch of the controls. They're all worth-while optional extras available in the 1954 Ford!

New 130-h.p. Y-BLOCK V-8

An extra-deep skirt extending below crankshaft gives greater rigidity for smoother, quieter operation, longer engine life. Free-turning overhead valves, low-friction design, Double-Deck Intake Manifold and high-turbulence combustion chambers give brilliant new responsiveness... 18% more power, greater economy.

New 115-h.p. I-BLOCK SIX

This new Six has an extra-deep block for greater rigidity, smoother, quieter performance, longer engine life. Free-turning overhead valves, high-turbulence combustion chambers, low-friction design and Ford's Automatic Power Pilot help produce 14% more power—with finer performance on even less gas.

No car in the low-price field has ever offered so many "Worth More" features as the '54 Ford. In addition to all the features that have already established Ford as the "Worth More" car, you now get a host of brand new dividends. These include a choice of two new deep-block engines... the most modern engines in the industry. You also get Ford's new Ball-Joint Front Suspension... beautiful new interiors... and styling that will make your heart beat faster.

And, remember, Ford also makes available to you all the optional power assists... features you might expect to find only in the costliest cars.

Stiff Uniform Traffic Fine Schedule Goes Into Effect in Plymouth

So you think you will get by with a $2 fine for running that stop sign. Not anymore. From now on you will hand out at least $5 and perhaps up to $21 if other odds are against you.

A new and tougher traffic fine schedule went into effect in Plymouth last week which will more than double most fines for traffic violations. It is the "Michigan Uniform Fine Schedule" which is being adopted by more and more cities throughout the state.

Along with the new schedule, the police department has a new type of ticket which provides an "easy to check" list of violations. For the most common violations, the ticket arranges the seriousness of the violation into the $5, $10, and $15 columns.

For instance, if a motorist is cited for making an improper left turn, he will get a check mark in the $5 column if he gave no signal, if he cuts the corner, he gets checked in the $10 column, and if he turned from the wrong lane, he will make the $15 column.

It was only two weeks ago that a person disobeying a stop sign got a $2 fine. Now, if he failed to stop at the wrong place, he gets a $5 fine. If he traveled past the sign at walking speed, he gets a $10 fine. If he traveled faster than a walking speed, then it will be a $15 fine.

Then there is another bracket the patrolman can jump his pencil to. If there was snow on the street when the motorist breezed past a stop sign, that will be $2 more. If it was night, that adds up $2 extra. If there was traffic in the intersected street, two dollars more. If a pedestrian had to dodge his car, that will be $4. If this motorist's car missed having an accident with another car by a foot, that will be another $4. If the car actually is involved in an accident, this hapless motorist jumps into the $6 bracket.

The only old violation fine remaining unchanged is the $1 overtime parking fine.

It is pointed out by police that the new schedule covers only the minor violations. Anything more serious will be referred to Municipal Judge Nardino Perlongo. For instance if a motorist makes an improper turn and it results in an accident, the patrolman may cite the motorist for reckless driving. The driver must then appear in court. Judge Perlongo has maintained a schedule of stiff fines equal or even greater than the new uniform schedule for several years.

Here is the complete list of fines for all violations which are to be paid at the police department:

- BLOCKADING
Alleys, crosswalks, or drive-ways $5.00
Traffic $3.00
- DRIVING

Exceeding one-half the legal rate of speed on turning corners $10.00

Banker Jack Taylor tells of the gentleman that stopped him in front of the bank one noon last week and asked where he could find an attorney. Being anxious to help he ushered him politely into Perry Richwine's office next door to the bank only to find Mr. Richwine had several times during the morning led the same inebriated gentleman out of his office and on to the street.

The James Hinkleys received three alarm clocks for Christmas. Tossing in bed one night shortly thereafter, Mr. Hinkley got up, set the three new clocks and his old one about a minute apart in different places around the bedroom. "Never before was my wife up, and so active early in the morning as she was when all four got under motion," he said.

Asked when he was leaving for his usual Florida vacation, laundryman Ken Corey made one brief statement. "To answer any such kind of a question all you have to have is a son in Germany... In the last few weeks I have been called on to send money for a German Volks Wagon... money for a honeymoon and shortly after, money for six month's rent of an apartment... and I should think about going to Florida!" Son Tom, serving with the Army is located in Karlsruhe, Germany.

Harry Draper of the Plymouth Wholesale company is the most confused practical joker in town at this writing. For a spot of fun last month he mailed Harry Christensen at Dunn Steel Products a pair of phony Rose Bowl tickets. Waiting until a few days before the game he ran into Christensen on the street and asked when he was leaving. "I'm going to fly out tomorrow," the latter said. Not actually believing he was going two days later Draper called the Dunn offices and asked for Christensen and was told he was in California. Not believing this, Draper had a friend nonchalantly call Mrs. Christensen and ask how her husband was... oh... he's fine but he's away you know. This led to more confusion and three days later a letter came from Pasadena with two Rose Bowl stubs from Christensen saying it was a wonderful game and he was sorry Draper couldn't have been along. If Mr. Christensen didn't go to the bowl game, he has all of their mutual friends posted to such an extent that it is now driving Mr. Draper crazy to find out for sure. He even went so far this weekend to involve this columnist in a bribe attempt to have us call Christensen and get an interview on what he thought of the game and rose parade.

Lois McAllister couldn't believe her ears or hardly stay in her cage one day recently in the corner bank when a customer told her he would like to open a Christmas Club account. What denomination she politely asked the customer who promptly answered... Protestant.

When Ralph Lorenz took over the Mayflower as its sole operator Monday noon the proverbial keys for such a ceremony were not in the ritual. It seems that there are no keys! The Mayflower hasn't had a key to the front door, not even a lock, for some twenty-five years. The doors are always open to serve guests at any time of day or night. It's probably the only local institution that can boast round-the-clock hospitality, the jail-house excepted.

Michigan Mirror

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Legislators convene in Lansing this week to consider Michigan's business for the coming year. As always, there are problems to solve; decisions to reach; policies to determine. Public needs, being many and varied, can never be completely satisfied. In preparing to deal with problems of this session, lawmakers have good reasons to feel encouraged over progress made during 1953.

Taxpayers can relax this year, for the first time in many months, without worrying whether they will be affected by a new tax.

"Financial condition of the state is good," said Auditor General John B. Martin. "During the previous 12 months, Michigan has dug itself out of its monetary mess and now expects to pay all its bills on time... including those due schools and other local governments."

Schools were swamped with increased enrollment resulting from babies born in the post war period. There were problems to find high schools for students in rural areas, elementary schools in most areas, teacher payrolls generally.

Enrollment went from 1,190,000 to 1,250,000, an increase of 60,000. These additional children required 2,000 additional teachers and 2,000 additional classrooms.

Older teachers were brought back, special teaching certificates were issued; the need partly satisfied. Pay scales were increased to an average of $4,000 per year to encourage teachers to remain in the profession.

College enrollment in 1953 increased about 12% to 100,000, a total demanding more building by educational institutions.

The birthrate continued up last year; the death rate decreased. Michigan citizens, as a group were healthier.

An all time low was realized in deaths—less than nine per 1,000 people. Maternity deaths dropped to the lowest ever—less than .5% per 1,000 live births. There was virtually no change in the infant death rate.

About 160,000 babies were born in Michigan during 1953, some 2,165 more than 1952 record high of 177,835.

The marriage rate declined somewhat, but the divorce frequency also fell off.

A $28 million building program saw 26 buildings completed and work started on 10 more.

The Lewis Cass building, which was ruined by fire and water in 1951, was ready to accommodate many of the state offices forced to seek temporary quarters at that time. A second state building named in honor of Steven T. Mason was also completed and immediately occupied.

Hospitals and schools make up the majority of other structures on the list. Fifteen are already in use as addition to mental institutions. Wayne University has a new $4 million medical science building in Detroit; Michigan College of Mines at Houghton and Northern Michigan College of Education at Marquette have additions to the campuses.

Highway construction, a field that dropped behind during the war and was never able to catch up, totaled $37,655,000. Contracts for this amount were let in 1953. Sixty seven new bridges and 51 railroad crossing flashers were built, and 24 crossings reconstructed.

There were 108 miles of concrete pavement installed during 1953. Surfacing, smoothing and rehabilitating completed on hundreds more.

Peoples' pocketbooks as well as that of the state, showed promising bludges on Jan. 1. Part of the balances were accumulated during 1953.

Busiest year in the last 10 was experienced by the state banking department. Some 114 state banks were authorized to complete capital increases totaling $9,113,200. Six new banks were chartered; 17 branch offices established; 28 new small loan offices licensed.

Total resources of Michigan's 354 banks and trust companies, including their 191 branches, amounted to an estimated $3,650,000,000, about $27 million more per month over 1952.

An increase of $850,000 in earnings from state investments was reported by Treasurer D. Hale Brake. These funds earned about $5,800,000 last year alone. By re-arranging certain methods of depositing monies from auto licenses and liquor transactions, the treasurer was able to help establish this record.

About 300,000 winter visitors are expected to leave some $30 million at northern Michigan winter resorts this season according to Robert J. Furlong, executive secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council.

Owners spent an estimated $215,000 last summer alone in improving the area's 38 ski centers. About $3,250,000 of resort owners capital is invested in winter recreational facilities, says Furlong. Thousands more are invested in municipal and community skating rinks or toboggan slides.

Among more spectacular attractions, is the 100,000 gallon, heated, outdoor swimming pool at Boyne Mountain Lodge. A completely new ski resort was built in the Missaukee mountain's winter park near Laké City.

More tourist events are scheduled for February than in June says Furlong, "a situation brought about by the many people who visit northern Michigan for skiing, fishing, hunting, sliding and skating."

Why is it that nobody seems to have a hobby out of minding his own business?

Toothache in Sky Air Age Problem Says U-M Dentist

At 30,000 feet, traveling some 300 mph, the least of an aviator's problems should be his teeth.

Yet, Dr. Floyd A. Peyton, professor of dentistry at the University of Michigan's School of Dentistry, indicates that the toothache in the sky is one of the serious problems dentists will have to face in the future.

A flyer may take off feeling great as far as his teeth are concerned. But, as he sails into the clouds the change in atmospheric pressure may produce an extremely painful toothache.

Also, a perfectly fitting set of dentures on the ground has been known to drop in the aviator's lap at high altitudes.

This has all led to a new word for the layman: "aerodontalgia," or, a toothache at high altitudes. That is why, facing the predictions of an air age, dentists have for some time been at work on an approach to dental problems which would be as effective in the upper strata as it is on the street level.

The education of dental students, too, includes serious considerations of problems which accompany the expansion of air travel.

Dr. Peyton refers to certain experimental findings in the field of air dentistry as the basis for a continuous program of study:

1. Air Force studies have revealed that a diseased tooth may decay faster at high altitudes. True, it will take more than a quick trip to New York via an airline to uncover a bad tooth. But repeated exposure to high altitudes, such as is experienced by the pilot himself, may create a variety of future dental difficulties.

2. The very condition of anxiety which some suffer while flying causes grinding of the teeth. This in itself suggests the need for dental work which will withstand "air jitters."

3. Dentures have been known to drop into the lap of airmen. Studies indicate that at 30,000 feet there is as much as a 50 per cent loss of retention of dental plates.

"The Air Force recognizes that it can hardly ground a man because he happens to have had a tooth filled," says Dr. Peyton.

"Yet that one tooth may conceal a hidden, otherwise painless air pocket which can cause a great deal of discomfort up in the clouds," he declares.

Saxton Attends Dealer Meetings

Dean Saxton, proprietor of the Saxton Farm Supply, has just returned from Columbus, Ohio, where he attended a new machine introductory meeting for dealers in the Massey-Harris Columbus branch territory.

Saxton told of an impressive line-up of new machines dealers will be introducing to farmers all over the country within the next 30 days. More than 20 new time and labor-saving tools are in production for 1954, he said.

A progress report and latest development in the Massey-Harris-Ferguson amalgamation, announced in the fall, was given by C. W. Lindsey, manager of the Columbus branch. Saxton also previewed the firm's recently released tractor movie, "Seven Keys to Power."

New Show Case At Madonna

When Madonna students returned from their Christmas vacations, they found a new biological exhibit case located in the hallway adjoining the assembly room. Madonna College has acquired an extensive collection of rocks, minerals, shells, petrified and agatized wood, stuffed birds and animals.

Carefully labeled and arranged according to types, the objects present an interesting display.

The late Rev. Francis Czelusta, former pastor of St. Stan is laus parish in Toledo, Ohio, was the original owner of this unique collection. From the very opening of the Presentation Junior College, until his death Fr. Czelusta has been a constant benefactor. He has donated a varied collection of books for the library as well as the shell exhibit case in the Biology laboratory. Mother M. Pan-cratia, of the Felician Sisters, is Fr. Czelusta's sister.

Rev. Michael Robaskiewicz, present pastor of St. Stanislaus parish in Toledo, bequeathed the entire collection and exhibit case to Madonna College. He wished to place the objects where they could be exhibited for the advantage and knowledge of the students.

The display was set up by Sister M. Petronia, librarian. She was aided by Sister M. Georgiana, who helped identify the objects and Sister M. Ignatius who printed the labels. Mr. John Dodge of St. Michael parish assembled and revarnished the case.

The shell collection includes specimens from the East Indies, Australia, Philippines and various polished iridescent univalves including a giant 14-inch pearly white bivalve and dainty mexew shell from the shores of Japan.

One separate shelf contains the ores of the more common metals, copper, lead pure and sedimentary mica, granite and quartz.

Illustrating the skill of the Indian craftsmen of this country, there are pottery bowls of greatly diversified shapes, a genuine Indian tomahawk, a miniature totem pole, implements and jewelry in complex pattern and other examples of primitive art. From the Bahamas and Solomon Islands, came many rare and curious crabs and fossils. One onyx stalactite is displayed from the Mammoth Caves in Virginia.

Particularly interesting among the objects on exhibition are the birds which include the Prairie Falcon and the Spoonbill Duck.

This collection will be of especial interest to students of the natural sciences.

Hamilton Searfoss of West Ann Arbor trail is in Session's hospital, Northville, suffering from an attack while at work at the Burroughs Corporation.

Although enthusiasts will tell you that anyone can take good stereo pictures, a little know-how and special technique will help to keep your efforts in the consistently good class. There are a few simple rules which govern binocular vision, and stereo photographs do require certain compositional features.

For one thing, the practice of throwing backgrounds out of focus is often highly effective in two-dimensional shots but usually ruinous in a stereo shot. Do not attempt stereo closer than eight feet, and if the subject is further than six hundred feet you are approaching the maximum distance at which the stereo effect can be held. Double exposures and montages are well nigh impossible. It is a good practice to include as many separate planes (not the flying variety) as possible in stereo shots.

And it's also a good practice to come to THE PHOTOGRAPHIC CENTER before you buy any Photo Supplies. We have the most complete stock in Plymouth and PHOTOGRAPHICALLY SPEAKING, can satisfy your requirements as easily as skating downhill in a high wind!

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

Mrs. Matthew Fortney, watched by son Stephen, mixes the hamburger.

Escalloped Hamburger

A dish that is thrifty and easy to prepare is the one recommended by Mrs. Matthew Fortney of 1042 Maple avenue. Mrs. Fortney said that her recipe for escalloped hamburger is one of her favorites and also makes a hit with her husband too. Little Stephen, who is only a year old, is too young to be initiated into eating the hamburger dish.

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 small onion, minced
- 1 small green pepper, minced
- 8 raw potatoes, sliced thin
- 1/2 can tomato soup
- 1/4 can water
- Salt and pepper
- 1 can peas (if desired)

Preheat covered roaster, with removable cooking well in place, for about 20 minutes with the temperature control at 450 degrees. Mix ground beef with onion and green pepper. Grease the bottom of the roaster, and cover with a layer of potatoes. Top with a layer of meat. Mix the soup and water and season with salt and pepper. Pour over the meat and potatoes. Turn the temperature control down to 300 degrees and cook for 1 1/2 hours.

University Group To Hear Talk On Study Grants

The next meeting of the American Association of University Women is scheduled for Thursday, January 21, in the home of Mrs. J. R. Witwer, at 593 Edison, at 8 p.m. The Fellowship group, headed by Mrs. C. C. Wiltse, has arranged to have Mrs. Chester E. Jorgenson of Detroit, State Fellowship chairman, address the members.

The meeting will be of special interest to all members and prospective members because the first purpose of the founders of A.A.U.W. was the opening of opportunities for higher education to women. To further this, the fellowship program was started in 1890, and since that time a million dollar endowment fund has been gathered together.

In 1945 the membership expanded their fellowship program by adding the International Study Grant and Reconstruction Aid program. Since that time over 200 women from 23 European and Far Eastern countries have been brought to the United States on fellowship grants for study.

Mrs. Jorgenson will present further information with regard to this program at the meeting.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Worry and Health Are Strangers

When one is fretting, worrying, or grieving, the whole being is upset and sick. The appetite for food fails and all the digestive functions are impaired. Digestion begins in the saliva of the mouth, and the glands that manufacture it practically fail to secrete normally. The mouth feels dry and the food tasteless. In Proverbs 17:22 we read, "A merry heart doeth good like a medicine, but a broken spirit drieth the bones."

Despondency and depression are among man's worst enemies. Disease germs are always in our systems ready to spring out on us. If we are happy and our bodies are functioning normally it discourages them from actually attacking us and they are inclined to remain dormant and leave us in peace.

One of the greatest mistakes that people make is allowing their minds to brood on real or fancied wrongs that have been done to them. That wraps the mind and sours the spirit. We have all met goodness and kindness along the way. Thinking of these things makes us happy and gives us a desire to rise above sordid thoughts, such as getting even or revenge for real or imaginary acts of unkindness done to us.

As we go about our daily lives we meet many who are discouraged or cast down. Sometimes a word of encouragement or cheer from a friend will lift a weight of woe from a troubled heart, and change his gloom into sunlight. Proverbs 12:25 says "Heaviness in the heart of man maketh it stoop; but good words maketh it glad."

Human nature has not changed a bit since the creation. Man had put on a little veneer of civilization, and crack-pot evolutionists were preaching and teaching that man had come up on the road to perfection so far that in the process of evolution he would evolve himself into perfection.

More than one Plymouth man has learned that the only way to keep some people from knowing your business is not to have any business.

H. G. Wells was an exponent of such doctrines. He lived to see Hitler, Stalin, Mussolini, and others ordering human beings to death by the millions. H. G. Wells died a disillusioned man, but not before predicting a most awful fate for human kind. Nothing but obedience to God's word has ever lifted man above the savage, and yet our Supreme Court has ruled that God's word must not be taught in public schools. Are we to return to complete paganism? It is not forbidden to teach in our public schools the soul destroying doctrine of evolution that cannot be proved. Wake up, America, before you find yourself lost in the hopeless morass of pessimism, unbelief, and misery. Our only hope for peace and happiness is in God. Without belief in Him and obedience to His word, human beings cannot be normal, physically or mentally.

Three Motorists Appear in Court

Cases against three motorists were heard by Municipal Judge Nandino Perlongo last week. All three pleaded guilty and were fined.

Ruby Stevens, Levan road, was cited for improper overtaking and passing of another vehicle which resulted in a collision with a bus on Main street. She received a fine of $50.

A charge of reckless driving was made against Robert Miller, 8870 Brookline. Police said that he was driving fast down Harvey street where school was being dismissed and then failed to stop in time to avoid running into the rear of another car waiting at Ann Arbor road. Miller paid a $75 fine.

The third offender was Glenn Sheppard, Romulus, cited for driving through a red light on Main street at Church. He received a $17 fine under the new fine system.

Beef Pies Make Dinner News

When looking for a different serving for dinner choose individual meat pies. Simply join tender cubes of beef with bite-size portions of vegetables in a gravy and top with a pastry or biscuit crust. These will be sure conversation pieces at the table. Meat pies may be made from the "start" or you can double your beef stew recipe using half for a second day meat pie. Vegetables may be fresh, canned or frozen.

Seasonings added to the meat may give it a completely new flavor. Add marjoram, thyme or basil. A good way is to add the seasoning to the gravy to get just the right amount, then pour it over the meat and vegetables. The final step is to place the meat and vegetables in gravy in the individual casseroles, top them with a pastry or biscuit dough and bake them in a hot oven for 12 to 15 minutes.

Tips on Color-Styling Home To Insure Room Harmony

Many decorators call color the most important ingredient in an attractive room. It is equally important from the psychological point of view for color has a strong emotional effect on the person who lives with it. Therefore, the home decorator should build her color scheme around a favorite color that gives the family real pleasure.

There is no rule that says one color group is right and another wrong. In all colors, there are excellent decorator shades with variations to suit different temperaments and tastes. They also point out the following trends in today's colors: The emphasis is on clear, true colors. Blue and pink are used often. The popular yellows are the sun tones, the golds, the Chinese shades. Favorite greens are spruce, jade, spring-leaf tones, and brilliant Empire emerald. Reds include flame, ruby, barn red, terra cotta and Chinese colorings.

Blue creates a quiet elegance. Delft, indigo, royal and Picasso blues are high-style colors for modern decor. Sky, aqua, turquoise and Picasso blues are good with either traditional or modern. Suggested for a large living room are a dark blue carpet, sky blue or aqua walls, white woodwork, and draperies in a design with white background and fruits in navy, mustard, red and green. In a bedroom, Wedgewood blue and white are refreshing, and sheer draperies are perfect for the windows.

Yellow is a favorite of intellectuals and sunshine lovers. It is smart today to combine lotus, shell or carnation pink with sun-tone yellow. Chinese pink is used with Chinese or mustard yellow. The fashionable browns with yellow include teakwood, cinnamon, coffee, Gaugin, and tobacco. With pale yellow walls, decorators recommend a cinnamon brown carpet and draperies in a design with pink and blue flowers and green leaves on a brown background. They choose the pink for upholstery color and green or blue for accessories.

Active people like red tones, and today red is often used for walls, with upholstery in a matching shade. Black and white are the accent colors, and can be combined in a resilient tile floor and in draperies with a modern design in black and white. More subtle are suggestions to combine ruby red and pink and use jade, emerald, aqua or sky blue as an accessory color.

Green is a smart color for any type of decor. The popular blue-greens, pinks, chartreuse, lilac and some reds. Olive greens are also good in these combinations. Spring green is attractive with chartreuse, deep pink, turquoise, apricot or yellow.

Calories Need Good Company

A well-known food scientist made the statement recently that a "calorie should be judged by the company it keeps." If one is trying to lose weight by cutting down on foods, those calories must be in the good company of proteins, minerals and vitamins.

That non-seen calorie is a term of measuring the energy-giving, or fuel, value of a food. The senior citizen of over 60 years of age who is doing less strenuous work needs fewer calories in a day than when he or she was more active. If more food is eaten than necessary for daily activities, the excess calories are converted into body fat.

Every food has some caloric value. Beverages like water, tea and coffee have none; they get a count from only added foods. The foods with a relatively low caloric count are those with a high amount of water and cellulose or little fat. These, and most are needed daily, include: fruits, vegetables, lean meat, fish with little oil, poultry, skim milk, cottage cheese and eggs. Cereals, and bread made from cereals, are not as low in calories as the foregoing foods. But they are inexpensive sources of energy, supplementary protein, and some of the B vitamins. It's usually the fats and sweeteners used with them that raise their caloric total.

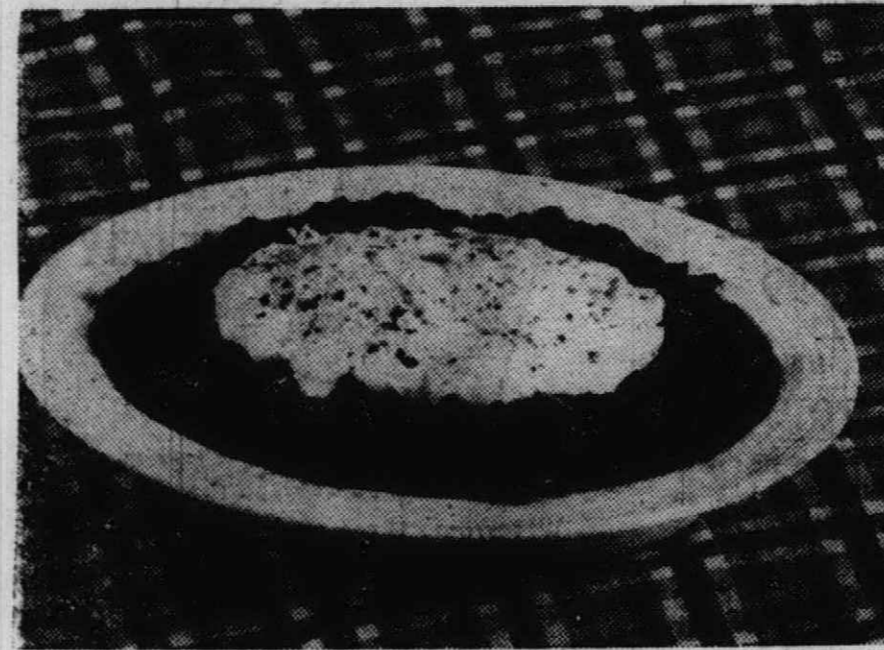

Fats, pastries, frosted cakes and other rich desserts are the weight adders. They should be eaten in moderation and only after protein, mineral and vitamin food needs have been met.

The fewer calories permitted on a weight-watching diet can be maintained if one avoids second helpings. When a person can not be satisfied with a normal serving, part of this ravenous appetite can be appeased by a mid-morning or mid-afternoon snack of unflavored gelatin in fruit juice or water. Unflavored gelatin is all-protein, and an envelope of this gelatin only contains 23 calories. Fruits or salads could start the meal and take the nip off a too hearty appetite.

These fewer calories can also be made more exciting by attractive service. For example, the two cups of milk required a day for the senior citizen can be taken in coffee, tea, egg nog, cream soups or custards.

Spinach Topped With Sour Cream Has International Touch

An international touch to surprise your friends! Dress up whole leaf spinach with a fascinating old world secret. Spoon sour cream on the spinach and grind a dash of grated black pepper on top for flavor and color!

1 package frozen whole leaf spinach
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup thick sour cream
grated black pepper
Drop solidly frozen whole leaf spinach into 1/2 cup boiling water with 1/2 teaspoon salt. Bring to boil, breaking block with fork to hasten thawing. When water is bubbling rapidly in center and around edges of pan, cover and cook 3 to 4 minutes. Drain, place in dish in top with 1/2 cup sour cream. Sprinkle with grated black pepper. Serves 3 to 4.

So many of the wool suits are showing stoles of the same material. The skirts of these suits are usually slim but a kick pleat in the back will give some walking freedom. Jackets lined with material matching the blouse is very good and often lends a gay touch to a somber suit.

Tart-Sweet Way To Start The Day

Fall is the time for cheers, and plenty of them are in praise of the first fine fresh Florida fruit now coming into local markets. Golden grapefruit globes, choicful of tangy flavor, for breakfast halves, thin-skinned juicy oranges perfect for reaming. For the sweet-tooth members of the family, set out the honey jar along with the rest of your tasty breakfast. Here we've a Florida grapefruit half for the water-upper fruit, Canadian bacon and scrambled eggs, and a wonderful hot bread, Florida Orange Honey Muffins.

Florida Orange Honey Muffins
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons honey
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup milk
1/4 cup melted shortening
1/2 Florida orange sections
2 tablespoons sugar
Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Combine honey, egg, milk and shortening and add all at once to flour mixture; stir only until all the flour is dampened. Fill greased 2 1/2-inch muffin pans 3/4 full. Press an orange section into the top of each and sprinkle with the 2 tablespoons sugar. Bake in a hot oven (400° F.) 20 to 25 minutes.
YIELD: 10 to 12 muffins.

Small Family Meat Buying

Homemakers with small families often find it advantageous to purchase a large beef cut and plan on using it for several fresh meat meals rather than have leftover cooked meat for a second meal. Try purchasing a large arm pot-roast and cutting it into three cross sections for three fresh meat meals. For the first meal, use the boneless piece of beef from one end of the pot-roast and cut this into cubes for a beef stew. The second meal can be a pot-roast from the center section, and for the third meal, split the remaining section and prepare it as country-fried steak, Swiss or Italian steak.

Remodeling Supplies Modern Look Greater Comfort In Old House

To give clean, modern lines to a fussy decorated old house is one of the prime purposes of remodeling. The highly satisfactory results that can be achieved are evidenced by the modernized house shown here.

Before remodeling, the house was typical of uncounted thousands of outmoded dwellings which are equally promising candidates for successful modernization. Modern materials offer an economical means of making a new house out of an old one if the building's basic structure is sound.

Removal of the "gingerbread" from the front porch posts eliminated one of the details that gave the old house its out-of-date look. The number of posts was reduced from four to two.

The wall between two old windows was cut out to form a picture window to one side of the main entrance. Horizontal lines of the building were emphasized by adding shutters to other windows. This is one of the factors that make the remodeled dwelling appear better-proportioned than its former self.

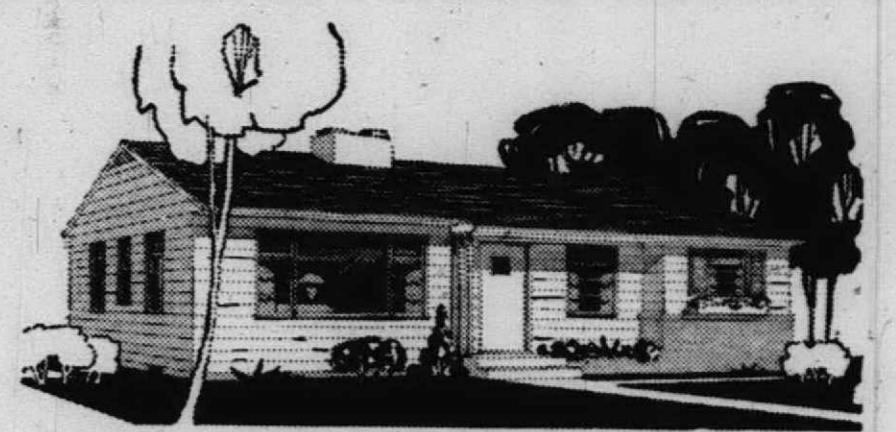

Selection of new roofing material is one of the fundamental steps in any major exterior remodeling project. For this house, blended reddish brown asphalt shingles were chosen.

Shutters were painted green, a color that is complementary to the red-brown of the asphalt roof. Both of these colors are taken from nature—the red-brown from the earth, and the green from foliage—and are well suited to a house in the country.

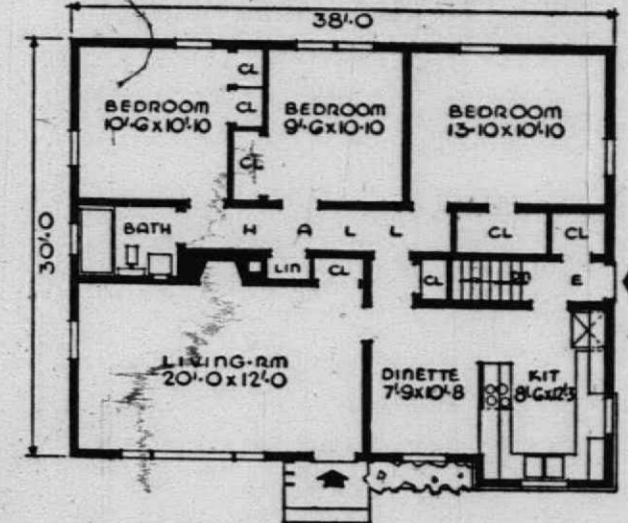

A major interior change was the removal of two partitions to make a 16- by 25-foot living room out of the three smaller rooms. Rearrangement of partitions also resulted in more usable space on the second floor.

Remodeling gave clean, modern lines to the old house shown above in "before" and "after" versions. A new roof of colorful asphalt shingles, new paint for the side-walls, and shutters were major changes.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-227

DESIGN C-227. A buffer zone consisting of the center hall and a row of closets, divides the plan into two sections, the sleeping area in the rear and the living room, dinette and kitchen in front. The kitchen-dinette arrangement is interesting with the counter and cabinet between them opening on both sides, sink under front window and work counter under side window. Stairs to the basement lead down from the side entrance vestibule which also has a large closet. Other features include large walk-in closet in right bedroom, wardrobe closets, linen cabinet, coat closet, picture window, fireplace, plating area, flower boxes and low roof lines with wide eave overhang. Plans call for frame construction, wide siding, asphalt shingles and a colorful touch of brick facing. Floor area is 1,159 sq. ft. with 22,021 cu. ft. ### Ammonia Water Washes Brushes and Brooms

Household brushes and brooms will last longer and do a better job if they are thoroughly washed occasionally. Ammonia water is good for this purpose.

Use two tablespoons of ammonia to a quart of water. Let the brush or broom straws soak for half an hour, then rinse them well and hang them up to dry.

When some Plymouth men are unable to choose between two evils, they hunt up a third.

Window Shopping With Sue

In my discussion last week of the wonders you can work at home with plywood, I missed a good bet in not mentioning those wonderful storage walls. That's just another fine addition to a home which you can build yourself. The wall would be ideal in a den, a basement, or for that matter, even in your living room. One design combines five vertical plywood dividers which run from floor to ceiling. Between these are slipped shelves and box-like units which can hold drawers, a desk, sections with sliding doors, or even a bar. A complete floor to ceiling storage wall is but one idea, since a sectional storage wall can be built, or maybe just an odds and ends cabinet, a demountable music wall, a shelf-door wardrobe or a small size storage wall for a child's room. The ideas are endless, but the result is always the same—increased space to keep all those extras. I'm still plagued with a one-track mind—on the do-it-yourself trend—and am particularly pleased with those Youngstown kitchens. Of course you can't install the whole thing yourself—the dishwasher, garbage disposal, and so on necessitate an electrician—but a lot of it can be your own work. An installation manual comes with the kitchen and illustrates and describes every step in the installation procedure. The wall cabinets are hung on hanger bars secured to the wall with screws, or they can be secured directly to ground strips in the wall. The base cabinets are pushed into place, leveled, and bolted together. What could be simpler?

Besides the usual kitchen units, you can get such things as a rotary corner wall cabinet, which turns at the touch of a finger, making all items placed on its shelves easily accessible. Or you might like a rolling door cabinet for your condiments and small items. The possibilities are endless.

Smart Panel For Fireplace Front Cuts Heat Loss

Your fireplace may be an expensive luxury if you are letting costly heat escape up the flue while the fire is not lighted. You can stop the waste, curb drafts and make your living room more comfortable by building a decorative closure for the fireplace opening. All you need is a panel of 3/4-inch hardwood plywood and some felt weatherstripping.

Hardwood plywood comes in many species, such as oak, maple, birch, gum, mahogany and walnut, so you can choose a hard-line to harmonize with your decor. Cut the panel to fit the opening, with about 3/8-inch of freeway around the edges. Then tack 1-inch felt weatherstripping around all four edges, centering the strip so that it protrudes slightly on both sides. The felt will provide a snug fit for the panel.

If you have a rock fireplace with uneven edges, fit the panel to its shape by scribing its outline on the hardwood plywood panel. Then cut along the outline with a coping saw. Fit the felt to the irregular outline.

To provide a handle and add a decorative touch, glue two short 1 x 1 inch strips of matching or contrasting hardwood to the panel's exposed face. Place them horizontally near the top, parallel and centered. Finish the panel as you would a fine piece of furniture.

Most lumber dealers handle hardwood plywood or get it quickly on order.

Keep Cold Air Out By Locking Windows

A house will be warmer in winter if the windows are kept locked. Locking keeps the sash tightly closed, making the window more airtight.

A window also will close more tightly if all grooves and joints around the sash are kept clean. If windows do not fit properly, they should be weatherstripped.

Hardwood Plywood Meets Many Needs

Hardwood plywoods of the moisture-resistant type are averaging between 13 and 14 cycles of soaking and drying in tests conducted at the industry's laboratory, the Hardwood Plywood Institute reports. That is more than six times the number called for by the Department of Commerce's commercial standard.

Patching a weathered roof is rarely worthwhile. A more economical procedure is to reroof with asphalt shingles.

Open-End Mortgage Provides Inexpensive Way to Borrow

The open-end mortgage is one of the most inexpensive ways to borrow money for home modernization.

An open-end mortgage is one which enables the home owner, after he has repaid part of the principal of the mortgage on his house, to borrow more money from the mortgage holder and have this additional advance made part of the original mortgage at the original interest rate.

According to a study by the United States Savings & Loan League, in 32 states a lending institution can safely make an additional advance under an open-end mortgage without requiring a new title search. This reduces the amount that the home-owner must pay.

The 32 states are Alabama, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Texas, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

In four states—Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, and Pennsylvania—a new title search, or new title insurance, is required. Additional advances can still be made, however.

In the remaining 12 states, a new title search probably is not necessary. In these states, existing court decisions are generally in favor of giving an additional advance the status of a first lien and thus protecting the lending institution, but the legal issue has not been finally defined.

The interest rate on an open-end mortgage is often lower than the interest rate on any other type of home modernization loan. Usually, the life of the loan is longer, too, keeping monthly payments low.

For example, if a home owner who originally had a $10,000 open-end mortgage to run for 15 years at 4 1/2 percent interest has paid back $2,000 of the principal after five years time, he is free to go to the mortgagee and ask to borrow the $2,000 on any part of it, back again. If the mortgagee agrees, this additional advance is simply added to the $8,000 the home owner still owes. The mortgage still has ten years to run. The interest rate stays at 4 1/2 percent.

Any kind of home modernization can be carried out under an additional advance. The additional advance will cover the cost of application as well as the cost of the new material.

These Events Were News

50 Years Ago

January 8, 1904

A number of narrow escapes from being run over by trains have recently occurred at this place. It seems that people crossing the track ought to have their eyes peeled by this time. Only the other morning one of our thoughtless neighbors and his wife attempted to cross the track in a top buggy, but the horse seeing the oncoming express, running at the rate of 50 miles an hour, suddenly stopped, where upon the driver made a lunge for the whip, when the train flew by, thereby averting what in all probability would have been the sad extermination of the trio.

The new electric street lights are giving great satisfaction to the people. With the installation of a few more, which will be put in later, the town would be perfectly lighted. The people now wonder why they didn't have them long ago.

Miss Angeline Mead, formerly of the Michigan Conservatory of Music, will form a class in violin at the home of Mrs. Chauncey Baker and will be pleased to meet all who think of studying at the above address on January 9, at 10 a.m.

The Detroit Creamery filled their ice house at this place last week, the ice being unusually thick this season, averaging about 18 inches and of very good quality.

A new water main is being put in on South Street, to accommodate the John Betty factory, shut down for lack of water.

There was a wood bee to get wood for the church in C. E. Ryder's woods last Thursday. There will be another there this Saturday afternoon.

A sleigh load of young people from Plymouth came out to Ammon Brown's last Thursday evening and had a most enjoyable time.

Lawrence Kemp Among Students Winning Honors

Lawrence G. Kemp of 46140 North Territorial road, a first year student at Michigan State college, was among a group of "Golden Anniversary" scholarship students honored by the Detroit Edison company Wednesday, December 30, in Detroit.

Kemp was the winner, earlier this year, of one of 50 $200 college study grants awarded in commemoration of Detroit Edison's completion of a half-century of service in southeastern Michigan.

Eastern Colleges Plan Information Day in Detroit

On Saturday, January 16, the Detroit committee for seven eastern women's colleges will hold its eighth annual college information day for prospective college students at the Women's City club, 2110 Park avenue, Detroit from 12 until 4 p.m.

Chairman of the scholarship committee for the alumnae group is Mrs. John C. Finegan who is representing Radcliffe college. Assisting her and representing their colleges are Mrs. Frederick J. Dystra, Barnard college; Mrs. George W. Duffield, Bryn Mawr; Miss Gertha Williams, Mt. Holyoke; Mrs. George A. Jacoby, Vassar and Mrs. Henry C. Kohring, Wellesley.

There will be information concerning entrance requirements, curriculum, campus life, college activities and opportunities for self-help in college. Girls, parents and faculty who are interested in any of these colleges are urged to come and introduce themselves to alumnae representatives present.

The "Golden Anniversary" award winners are at present studying in 25 collegiate institutions, including such large schools as the University of Michigan, Michigan State college, Wayne university, and Michigan State Normal college.

The group entertained in Detroit—students, their parents and friends—numbered more than 100. The visitors were welcomed at the company's Sales auditorium, 2000 Third avenue, by Edison Vice-President Edward T. Gushee and Joseph M. Sullivan, assistant manager of employee relations.

Walker L. Cislis, Edison president, addressed the guests at luncheon.

Other features of the program included the presentation of Fiftieth Anniversary souvenir electric clocks, the showing of a special color-film on atomic energy development, and a tour of the Connors Creek power plant, one of Edison's five big steam-electric generating stations.

Scholarship winners came from some 30 communities throughout Detroit Edison's 7,600-square-mile service area, which extends from the tip of Michigan's thumb to below Monroe, and from Lansing to the state's eastern border.

Businessmen are cutting down on inventories and there is some general slowing of the economy, advises Mauch. Sometimes the winter let-down does not wait until February, and weaknesses in some commodities show it may be on the way. But prices of most farm commodities have been readjusting downward for two years and Mauch considers it unlikely there will be a drastic drop in February.

No Sharp Plunge Predicted For February Prices

February business slumps have become normal—but do not look for a drastic plunge in February prices, advises Arthur Mauch, Michigan State college agricultural economist.

Prices in central markets strengthened on several crop and livestock products in recent weeks, notes Mauch, after the fall marketing peaks passed. The 1953 harvest was only a little below that in 1952, which was the second biggest on record.

Farmers sold 5 per cent more products the first 11 months of 1953 than in the same months of 1952, but prices averaged about 10 per cent lower. Overall receipts of $28 billion were 4 per cent under 1952, the farm economist explains.

February price breaks have been common in recent years. After people do their Christmas shopping, pay bills in January and pay federal income taxes and state and local taxes, they have less to spend. Winter also puts a crimp in industrial production and in road building and construction work.

What about this February?

ONE OF THE MOST ENJOYED features of the holiday entertainment at Northville State hospital was a musical program by Miss Mary Lou Hartwick accompanied by Jon Brake, both of Plymouth. When the couple arrived, they expected to spend an hour at the hospital. However, the response was so enthusiastic that they remained almost three hours. In the above picture, they are shown in one of the wards for elderly female patients. Jon is playing the piano which the American Red Cross has loaned to the hospital.

Catching Snook Is Real Game Since They Put Up Excellent Fight

The intriguing name "Snook" is applied to a number of fishes closely kin to Centropomus undecimalis, a fish related to our fresh-water basses and perch. Snook are found in the warmer seas that border Florida and the coast of the Gulf of Mexico. In the Texas region they may be found in large schools and were formerly abundant in the Everglades area. They run up many coastal streams and sometimes are at their best for sportsmen in brackish waters. A representative of the group is found in the Pacific from Mexico to Peru. As is usually the case the common name is applied to a number of fishes recognized as being different species by fish students. The so-called "Snook" of the coast of Africa is not a close relative. While Snook weighing to over 70 pounds have been taken, the average size is between 5 and 10 pounds. They are excellent fighters when hooked, leaping into the air frequently to free themselves and making strong runs.

The lower jaw of a Snook has a superficial resemblance to that of a pike or pickerel while the rest of the fish bears some resemblance to a perch. The lateral line is black and the dorsal fins are well separated from each other. The tail is moderately forked. Superficially the Snook looks like a green and white or silver fish, the upper parts being green or sometimes brown while the underparts are silvery or white. The dorsal fins are gray.

Farmers who think they are going into the hole financially should take an inventory of their farm business to see just where they stand. An inventory is a good remedy for a touch of the blues.

Amazing Livonia Growth Continues

Home construction in Livonia in 1953 nearly matched the combined total of the two previous years.

The 102 building permits issued during December brought 1953's total to 1,554—only 168 less than the two-year total for 1951 and '52.

Figures released this week by Donald Wilson, Livonia's chief building inspector, show that 1953's new homes are valued at almost $15 million.

The 649 new homes constructed in 1951 were valued at about $6.5 million. In 1952 the 905 homes were worth approximately $9.5 million.

Livonia's steady growth is also reflected by the 84 permits for commercial buildings issued during 1953. The largest commercial permit was for a $107,000 supermarket that will be constructed on Grand River in the northeast corner of the city.

Largest of all new structures in 1953, however, is a huge Chevrolet spring and bumper plant going up on a 130-acre site at Amrhein and Eckles roads.

Construction also began last year on a $389,000 Bell Telephone central exchange building and a $310,000 junior high school.

When completed, the telephone building will house dialing equipment valued at over $2 million. The junior high school, an addition to Bentley high, will contain 12 classrooms.

Collision Injures Plymouth Youth

Two cars collided head-on last week just outside the city on Northville road, injuring one of the drivers and heavily damaging both vehicles.

The Wayne county road patrol said that the mishap occurred at 11:30 p.m. on January 6 as Raymond Crumb, 25, of 1135 Starkweather, was driving south and Vinson Sparks, 20, of Walled Lake, was traveling north. Crumb said that he lost control of his car and it careened into the opposite lane into the path of the Sparks car.

The road patrol said that a citizen took the two drivers to Sessions hospital in Northville where Crumb was confined with an injured ankle and cuts. Sparks was released following examination.

Thousands of Michigan farm folks are expected at the 39th annual Farmers' Week-Michigan's biggest rural life event—at Michigan State college, February 1-5. Many farm organizations will have their annual meetings in conjunction with Farmers' Week.

OUTDOOR NOTES

From The
MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Hear, now, the tale of a rabbit who was no dumb bunny.

Ward Blair, conservation department employe, was working at the group camp area of the Island Lake recreation area last week when he heard a shot and a hound start to bay on the opposite shore of the Huron River, near where he was working.

Shortly after, the harried rabbit—presumably with hunter and hound in hot pursuit—appeared on the river's shore, looked about a few seconds, then dove in and swam toward the camp area where Blair was working.

What makes the rabbit so smart? On Blair's side of the water, hunting is not allowed.

The public hearing on what to do about Michigan's trout fishing will start at Higgins Lake training school at 12:30 p.m. on January 22, the conservation department reports.

The afternoon starting time has been planned so that delegations from all parts of the state will have sufficient time to arrive at the school before the meeting gets under way.

The conservation commission opened the long-anticipated trout-fishing discussions at its December meeting in Lansing. At that time, commissioner Donald B. McLouth of Detroit, as chairman of the fish committee, presented a list of possible changes to be considered at the January public hearing.

The proposed changes include: A ban against so-called "hardware" fishing lures; a regulation against all-night fishing for trout, and an increase in the size limit and a decrease in the creel limit in certain areas. Other lesser regulations also have been proposed, all designed to give the trout more chance for survival against ever-increasing numbers of trout fishermen.

Since the original discussion early in December, commission members have met with field and research workers in the conservation department to further trash out the problems involved in any marked change in regulations. One meeting was held at Higgins Lake, a second at Ann Arbor.

What commission and department members now hope is that delegated spokesmen from all interested sportsmen's clubs, livery operators, and other groups will attend the public hearing to present their views of changes proposed for their sport.

The commission emphasizes that the proposed changes do not imply "fly-fishing only" restrictions on any sizable portion of Michigan's trout streams, nor do they spell a ban in the use of artificial baits on trout lakes or streams open to fall rainbow fishing.

Trappers and hunters bagged nine wolves in the upper peninsula during November, the same number as taken during September, the conservation department reports.

Also bountied were 288 coyotes, all but 28 being taken in the upper peninsula.

A total of $5220 was paid in bounties for the predators.

Three of the wolves—two males and one female—were taken in Baraga county, while one male and one female were taken in Chippewa county. Of the remainder, one each was taken in Delta, Luce, Marquette and Menominee counties.

Iron county produced 42 coyotes, tops in the state during the month, while 36 were bountied in Delta county and 34 in Ontonagon county. Alcona county, with 14 bountied coyotes, led the lower peninsula.

Where she came from, or how she got here must remain a puzzle, but a female pheasant was flushed from some edge cover in an alley about half a block from the Capitol building in downtown Lansing recently, the conservation department reports.

One bent hollyhock stalk and a single vine of nightshade, both covered with the gray dust of an alloy in wintertime, provided the only shelter the bird needed to make herself invisible.

Two men, standing in the alley, were a bit astonished when the bird stormed away nearby from under their feet.

To date, the conservation department's game division has received about 150 letters from the public regarding the recent deer seasons.

Although no accurate comparative count was kept biologist Dave Jenkins, who answers each of the letters, says he believes more hunters had written by this date last year than have thus far this year.

A total of about 1,000 letters was received concerning the 1952 deer season, the last one being stamped in the game division on May 2, 1953.

THE 13TH ANNUAL Detroit Sports, Boat and Travel show will be staged at the State Fairgrounds for one week starting March 13 this year. Among the performers on hand will be Florence Chadwick, star distance swimmer, and Jack Sharkey, former world's heavyweight boxing champion who now tosses a mean fly rod. Michigan's outstanding vacation spots will also be featured.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Marriott, former local residents, now living in California write they were mighty proud to have been from Michigan when they watched the Michigan State College marching band in the tournament of roses parade on New Year's day. Mr. Marriott said the band's half-hour after game performance made a terrific hit with Californians.

"YOU KNOW how we miss The Plymouth Mail," writes Everal Jolliffe who with Mrs. Jolliffe has settled for a spell in Hollywood Beach, Florida. "Had we known just where we were going to locate we could have told you before we left where to send the paper. Do you suppose you could send us the two copies we have missed as well as future copies here until we return back home?"

JUST BACK from a 7,000 mile auto junket Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Darling expected to bring their son Jim, now living in Tennessee, up to date on news in Plymouth but said they found The Plymouth Mail had beaten them to the punch and Jim caught them up on a few things that had happened while they were touring!

The skipper confirmed reservations for a birthday party the other day and then suddenly discovered that no birthday cake was available. The hotel's bakery staff had departed for the day, local bakeries and other sources were not able to help either. While all possible means of obtaining the all-important pastry were being exhausted the skipper's 13-year-old son, Staton, started the ovens in the bakery, whipped up a batter and in one hour's time paraded through the kitchen with a most presentable birthday cake. To the amazement of a host of open-mouthed chefs, waitresses and managing personnel the problem was solved. And that "takes the cake" for resourcefulness!

Arrivals on board: Dick Griley of Champion Corrugated Container Corporation in town to confer with his young and aggressive staff of "boxers."

The Mayflower's dining rooms have been host to most of the members of The Clean Plate Club in the past few weeks. The youngsters were invited by "Johnny Billington" to enjoy a twenty-five cent dinner accompanied by their parents. Outcome of the invitation was the overflow crowds during the entire holiday season. These young folks give their folks no peace until they can eat at The Mayflower and have another chance on that Shetland Pony. Some of the members come from Dearborn, Detroit, Birmingham, Rosedale Gardens, Ann Arbor and places even more remote.

Bill Sliger up at The Plymouth Mail offices bugs us a bit about meeting the paper's deadline with this column. Can't imagine what he's complaining about because we always have it in about five minutes before the paper is "put to bed."

That early-morning street cleaning program put in operation by the City of Plymouth is a life-saver. Less dusting for merchants and a more presentable appearance to greet shoppers and travelers. It does away with the swirling cloud of dust that used to annoy visitors in the down-town area.

To all outward appearances the Mayflower sails serenely along without much fuss and ado, but down in the hold is the most amazing array of practical departments that one can imagine. Bakery, pantry, boiler and power unit, carpentry shop, a mass of electrical gizmos with a huge control panel for the entire hotel, a complete self-contained laundry and the incinerators, etcetera. Mighty busy little empire down there, and efficient, too. And that, mates, is one of the things that makes the Mayflower tick without ostentation.

Of interest to all visitors to the Mayflower are the aerial views of Plymouth, near-by industrial plants and the surrounding countryside. They are a product of Clark Aerial Survey Company and are being displayed in the Hotel as well as in Caplin's Clothing shop just off the foyer. Everyone seems to enjoy picking out his own home or business place in these very professional pictures.

And that's the "Anchors Aweigh" item for this issue.
