THIS CORNER at South Harvey street and Ann Arbor road will take on a new look in the near future. Formerly the residence of Dr. Ted Cavell, veterinarian, it was purchased this week by The National Bank of Detroit as the new site of a drive-in branch office. The one-and-three-quarters acre plot was formerly the Sutherland farm. For map showing exact location see page six of this section.

Also Plan Remodeling Of Downtown Locations

The first step in an extensive expansion program in Plymouth was made public this week by The National Bank of Detroit.

- 1. The purchase of property at the northeast corner of Harvey street and Ann Arbor road for construction of a branch bank; 2. Remodeling plans for the existing two branches on Main street and Penniman avenue.

Engineers Tell City to Seek New Water Field

A recommendation that Plymouth look for new well field sites in order to maintain service to present customers in the future was submitted by consulting engineers to the city commission Monday night.

But whether or not Plymouth has enough water to immediately supply additional out-of-town consumers still remains a question today even after city commissioners heard in the engineers' report that the well field cannot support more outside customers.

The water survey question arose a month ago when a Detroit man, Otto Hasse, asked the city to extend water service to his proposed subdivision, Plymouth Gardens, on Schoolcraft road.

Lindsay Watches Senate as Assassins Shoot Congressmen

When Congressman Alvin Bentley of Owosso and four of his colleagues were shot by four Puerto Rican assassins Monday afternoon in the House chamber, Plymouth Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay was sitting in the gallery of the Senate chamber.

Lindsay stopped off at the capital building to see the Senate in session. Suddenly the gallery audience was told to leave. Looking out the window in the hallway, Lindsay saw ambulances in front of the building and men being carried out on stretchers.

Accompanied by his sister-in-law who lives in Washington, Lindsay then went to the Senate restaurant where they ate some of the famous bean soup. In a short while all visitors were also asked to leave the restaurant and building.

The property purchase was consummated last weekend. It includes 182 ft. frontage on Ann Arbor road and runs 300 ft. deep on Harvey. Owned by Dr. Ted Cavell, veterinarian now residing in East Tawas, a large house and a building used to house animal patients stand on the property.

The official announcement made Wednesday by The National Bank reads as follows:

"The National Bank of Detroit has purchased property at the northeast corner of Harvey street and Ann Arbor road in Plymouth and has approved construction of a branch banking office there, Floyd E. Kehrl and Harry O. Mohrman, vice presidents of the bank, announced today.

"The new office will be completely modern in design and will provide convenient banking services including a large parking lot and drive-in windows," the bankers said. They also announced that the existing two branches in Plymouth will be extensively remodeled.

Corbett Given Party On Retirement by 25 Old Business Associates

A group of old friends and business associates of Stanley Corbett were guests at a surprise dinner held for him last Wednesday evening. Some 25 were in attendance at the affair which was given by McNaughton and McKay, a wholesale electrical supply firm of Detroit, where Mr. Corbett had secured his supplies for the last 40 years.

The Farmington Fish and Hunt club was the scene of the event and after the dinner Mr. Corbett was presented with the newest model of portable radios as a farewell gift.

Mr. Corbett and his daughter Lorraine left Plymouth Thursday for their new residence at New Smyrna Beach, Florida where they will make their permanent home in the future.

CinemaScope Set To Appear Here At Penn Theatre

Next week local moviegoers will get their first view of CinemaScope, the new motion picture process, at the Penn Theatre when Twentieth Century-Fox's CinemaScope production of "The Robe" in color by Technicolor makes its debut on Wednesday, March 10.

In order to show this CinemaScope production, which offers a screen approximately two and one-half times wider than the customary motion picture size, the Penn Theatre has been reconstructed with a new panoramic screen and special projection equipment.

"CinemaScope achieves the illusion of depth without the use of glasses," Mr. Lush explained. "It's life-like, panoramic scope plus stereophonic sound combine (Continued on page 6)

Blizzard Snarls Traffic As March Lion Roars

March lived up to its tradition this week when it roared in like a ferocious lion—bringing a blizzard which has seriously hampered all modes of transportation and kept hundreds of Plymouth area people home from work and school.

Plymouth schools were open Wednesday morning when the snow storm accompanied by high winds roared across the state. But many seats were empty. Buses soon found that they could no longer travel down secondary roads, so picked up only children along the main roads.

At Bird Elementary school, for instance, there were 150 children absent from the classrooms. A heavy snowfall had fallen Monday, but by Tuesday most of the snow disappeared under the warm sunshine.

Oil Well Drilling On Ralph Wilson Farm Continues

While oil drilling activity on the Ralph Wilson farm in Salem township continued this week, reports that other oil companies are scheduling drilling have been persistent.

The week's oil news from Salem township also brought the word that the W. C. Taggart well on the Roy LeMaster farm is flowing with more force than ever. Formerly producing about 200 barrels daily, the well has recently begun to flow at 270 barrels. This is despite a "choke" which is required on all flowing wells under state conservation regulations.

The event will mark the fifth annual appearance in Plymouth of Mrs. Charles Dengler of Jackson, president of the Women's auxiliary of the diocese of Michigan. Mrs. Dengler will review "A Passage in the Night" by Sholem Asch. She has the rare talent for bringing out the drama and color of the book she reviews.

Following the book review a tea will be served. Mrs. Richard Krave of Northville is general chairman of the event. Tickets may be reserved by calling Mrs. Walter Sumner at Plymouth 542-J.

McAllister Reports On Fire School

"Finest school I ever attended," Fire Chief Robert J. McAllister said Monday night to city commissioners in a report of his trip last week to Memphis, Tennessee to attend the National Fire Inspector's school. He was accompanied on the trip by Fire Chief Bud Holmes of the Plymouth township department.

Fire Chief McAllister was one of the four Michigan representatives to serve on a board previous to the meeting which drew up a new manual for fire departments. Tuesday, first day of the school, was "Michigan Day" because it presented talks by a University of Michigan faculty member and by Chiefs McAllister and Calvin Roberts of Livonia.

Chief McAllister told about the fighting of the General Motors Transmission plant fire while Chief Roberts told about the conclusions fire inspectors drew from the fire. Later, Memphis Ford Motor company plant officials invited McAllister and Roberts to inspect their buildings.

The 1,724 men registered at the meeting attended school in the afternoons and evenings, seeing demonstrations of ladder and hose use, the latest in fire fighting apparatus and saw Memphis firemen extinguish several fires which were set in old houses.

Find of Inflammable Liquid In Sewer Brings Warning

A warning and plea not to pour inflammable liquids into the sewer went out today to Plymouth citizens from Fire Chief Robert McAllister as the fire department continued its investigation to locate the source of lacquer thinner which has been detected in the sewers.

"A pint of gasoline or other inflammable liquid in a sewer can blow up a house and blocks of a street if ignited," the chief warned.

The gasoline itself may not be as dangerous as the fumes, Chief McAllister pointed out. Fumes from the inflammable substances can back into a basement. These fumes are then easily ignited by the flames in the hot water heater or furnace.

Many cities have had entire blocks of streets blow up because of some person's ignorance in pouring these liquids into the sewer. Even a small amount is dangerous, he warned.

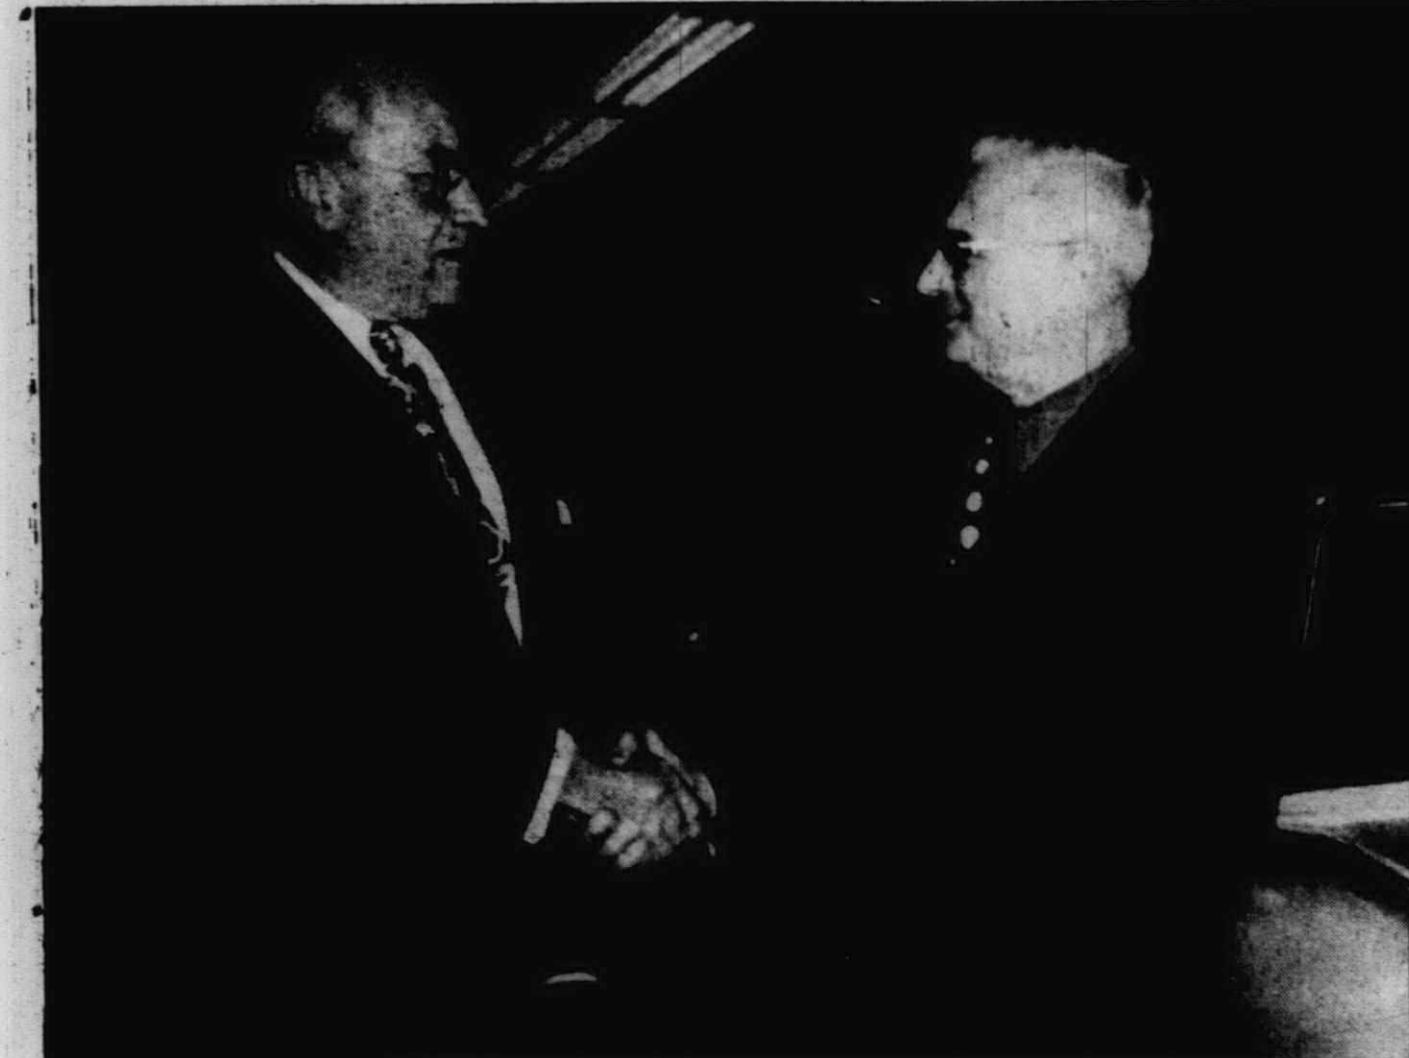

The fire department investigation has not located the source of the liquid now in the sewer believed to be lacquer thinner. "With spring coming and many

Rail Express Industry Starts 115th Year Today

LOCAL EMPLOYEES of the Railway Express Agency are joining in the observance of the 115th anniversary of the rail express industry. Pictured are (left to right): Murray Lucus of Northville, freight handler; Leonard E. Millross, manager of the Plymouth office since 1929; and Mrs. Gladys Robbins of Plymouth, cashier for nine years. Shipments shown are destined for such well-known stores as Blunks, Capitol Shirts, Minerva's, Cassady's and Daisy.

One hundred and fifteen years ago today the railroad express industry had its beginning.

And joining in the observance are the five employees of the local Railway Express Agency headed by Leonard Millross who has managed the Plymouth office since 1929.

It was in 1839, twenty-one years before the first pony express riders, that an imaginative young railroad conductor, William F. Harnden, first conceived the railroad express idea.

Working under Harnden before branching out on their own were such well known men as Henry F. Wells, William Fargo, George Pomeroy and Alvin F. Adams.

When the United States plunged into the first World War, the railroads were placed under government control and the director general ordered the seven express companies to merge into one. The combined operation was known as the American Railway Express company.

In 1929, the leading railroads of the country purchased the company and formed Railway Express Agency, Inc. Its offices now span every corner of the nation.

Millross, who lives at 10540 Joy road, has thus been head of the local Railway Express Agency since it assumed that name in 1929. He points out that "The Railway Express Agency has grown to a size which requires the skills and efforts of 45,000 express people, 15,200 offices serving 23,000 communities and about 16,000 vehicles. It operates over 320,000 miles of rail steamship, motor carrier and air lines, transporting over 90,000,000 shipments a year."

February 28 marked the end of a 25-year contract between the Railroad Express and its railroad owners. A new agreement was ratified for a period of almost 20 years, effective March 1.

Millross believes that the Air Express service offered by the agency is the largest advancement made by his company in recent years. Though the small local office is always bulging with packages, there always seems to be a speedy and smooth delivery service. One of the most unusual shipments to come through the Plymouth office was a buffalo which was being delivered to the Schrader Buffalo Ranch. Millross vividly recalls the animal kicking out some of the slats from the crate, giving employees and uneasy time.

Millross likes to retell the story which his fellow expressman have been telling. It is about the speedy service of the company. It seems that two rabbits were shipped across the nation from California. When the shipment arrived, there were still two rabbits. "And that's real speed," they add.

The little things help morale. You never see a suicide with newly trimmed toe nails.

Box Elders Present Buggy Problem for Commission

Are you going buggy with bugs?
Some Plymouth folks are, and their plight due to the Box-elder bug has grown so serious that city commissioners are thinking of doing something about them. The question is, "What?"
Both Commissioner Eleanor Hammond and Mayor Russell Daane say that they have received complaints about the box-elder bug which multiplied and re-multiplied during the unseasonable warm weather recently.

By now, most folks realize that it is almost impossible to bump off the bugs by spraying, so there remains only one thing to do—chop down their maternity wards.
According to City Attorney Harry Deyo—and he drew his information from radio story-teller Bud Guest—the box-elder bug hatches only in the female box elder (proving that the female is more lousy than the male, according to Guest). So can the city outlaw all lady box elder trees?
There is a law forbidding the planting of any new box elders, commissioners pointed out. But what can be done about the old ones?
"I've got one in my back yard and its shade really feels good in the summer time," City Manager Al Glassford stated. Undoubtedly many householders with a box elder in their yard share the same opinion since it is the neighbors who have voiced their objections to commissioners.
The city lawmakers kicked the issue around a while attempting to determine if a bug-producing tree could be classified as a nuisance. The city attorney advised that the city wouldn't legally be able to ask a person to cut down his box elder tree, but that a neighbor could bring suit against the tree owner.
Commissioners then turned to other business of the evening—leaving the box-elder bug still a law-abiding citizen.

Wayne Dunlap Speaks Before Optimist Club

Dunlap spoke briefly and interestingly on "The Value of Music to a Community," and outlined the organization and activities for the remainder of the year of the Plymouth Symphony.

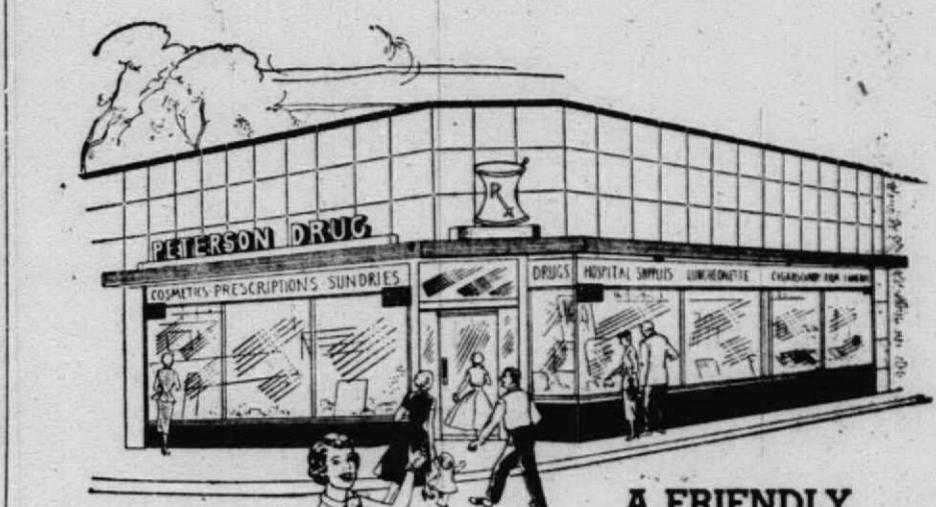

Canton Township Buys Fire Truck

Purchase of a 1,200-gallon fire truck was announced this week by the Canton township board, bringing the Canton fire department's water carrying capacity up to 1,700 gallons.
Bids for the new truck were received until February 9 but the transaction was not completed until last Friday when the contracts were signed with Paul J. Wiedman, Inc., local Ford agency, and the General Fire Truck Company of Detroit. Wiedman is furnishing the truck while the tank and pump are being ordered from the Detroit firm. Price of the unit is about $8,000.
The township board said that it was getting impossible for the present 500-gallon fire truck to supply enough water for a fire because the dropping water table emptied many wells and cisterns on farms from which the truck drew water. Delivery date of the new truck is within 60 days.
Dean McClure is chief of the Canton township fire department. He is assisted by Fred Korte, Jr.

Asked to Head County Schools

Dr. Charles E. Brake, 299 Ann street, has been appointed as county superintendent of schools effective July 1, according to an announcement last week from the Wayne County Board of Education.
The Plymouth resident, if he accepts the appointment, will succeed Dr. Fred C. Fischer who is retiring from the county superintendent's post after heading the department since its formation in 1914.
A resident of Plymouth 12 years, Dr. Brake has served as deputy superintendent under Fischer since 1935. He has also served as superintendent of schools at Grosse Ile from 1924 to 1935 and as principal of Mt. Pleasant high school from 1922 to 1924.
Dr. Fischer, 74, resides in Belleville and was awarded an honorary doctor of science degree in education 1948 for his work in improving teacher and health education services in the county.

THREE HUNDRED railroad, automobile and newspaper representatives saw the unveiling of the new Evans Products 6-Car Auto Loader last week. Every automobile manufacturer and major railroad in the country was represented at the showing. The new loader carries six autos instead of the usual four and is hailed as a milestone in railroad car efficiency. Above is the car as it was pushed into the warehouse showroom before the crowd. All auto manufacturers furnished cars for the demonstration. Writers were present representing the United Press, "Wall Street Journal," "Wards Reports," "Motor Age," "Modern Railroads," "Time" and "Life." Coffee and doughnuts were served the visitors as they entered the showroom. The railroad car was first unloaded, reloaded and then partially unloaded before the guests swarmed over the car for a close inspection.

A TRAFFIC LIGHT change-over was made last Friday in front of city hall when a new controller system was installed to allow the light to switch to a flashing unit except when children are coming or going to school. The city paid for the new controller while the county road commission performed the work with their special traffic light truck shown above. The new installation was one of the suggestions made in the AAA traffic survey. The flashing light is supposed to make traffic flow more smoothly.

THE ADDITION TO THE DUNNING Library, shown here from the side, will be dedicated this Sunday, March 7, at 3 p.m. in a formal ceremony. The library addition was completed at the end of 1953, and has been in use since the first of this year. It is joined to the old library building with an inside passageway. The public is invited to attend the dedication. See story, page 1.

"SHOVEL YOUR SIDEWALK MISTER?" was a familiar question asked by some ambitious boys Wednesday as a blizzard struck Plymouth. The boy pictured above was shoveling a sidewalk in front of a downtown store but wind soon covered up traces of his hard labor. Winds up to 50 miles an hour caused drifting of snow and hampered road travel throughout the state.

CinemaScope

to make the audience experience complete engulfment and participation in the action. "Actually CinemaScope is a multiple process. It consists of an anamorphic lens, a curved screen specially designed to reflect greater light and stereophonic sound.

"To further enhance the startling effect of CinemaScope on the audience Twentieth Century Fox also has developed a new single stereophonic sound system which lazes four sound tracks on one strip of picture film. This makes it possible to pick up dialogue or sound effects from its point of origin on the panoramic screen. "CinemaScope is not an enlargement of a regular 35 mm. film but an entirely new method of filming and projecting a motion picture, and its impact is really astounding."

"The Robe," which was produced by Frank Ross and directed by Henry Kostler, has a cast of thousands with Richard Burton, Jean Simmons, Victor Mature and Michael Rennie in starring roles. Heading a prominent supporting cast are Jay Robinson, Dean Jagger, Torin Thatcher, Richard Boone, Betta St. John, Jeff Morrow, Ernest Thesiger, Dawn Addams and Leon Askin.

The man who used to jump out of the frying pan into the fire now dodges a passenger car to land under a truck.

THE BLACKED OUT area in the above map indicates the property purchased by The National Bank of Detroit as the proposed site of a new branch bank. See story on page one.

Engineers Tell

(Continued from page 1) commissioners asked for the survey of the present supply and that the water level for future supply be estimated.

The engineering firm of Dury, McNamee and Porter found that during one month, 45,000,000 gallons of water had been pumped. "On the basis of this fact," they reported, "we cannot recommend that additional outside consumers be offered water service." Since then, the city water department has found that the pump has been pumping air instead of water—6,000,000 gallons worth a month.

Whether this error will give the city enough water to supply Plymouth Gardens is still not known since the engineers will have to revise their survey and make another report.

Commissioners disagreed about granting Hasse water service, but all seemed to agree that a new well field site is needed. Work on securing a new site is now being started. The engineers stated three reasons why the water table level has gone down three feet: 1. increased pumpage; 2. deficiency in precipitation; 3. operation of a gravel company in the area.

Hasse's request for water service was tabled at the January 18 meeting. A motion to take the request "off the table" for a vote was offered by Commissioner Ernest Henry but it failed four to three.

In other business before the commission, one new appointment was made to both the Zoning Board of Appeals and Board of Assessment and Review. Filling a vacancy on the Zoning Board of Appeals was Thomas C. Kent, 1340 Elm. His term will expire December 1, 1956. A vacancy on the review board created by the resignation of Henry Penhale has been filled by John D. McLaren, 1008 Roosevelt. That term will expire January 1957.

A second and final reading of the Disorderly Persons Ordinance was given approval by the legislative group. It is patterned after Detroit's "Masher Ordinance" with the exception that the local law includes window peeping. It becomes effective March 22.

A petition was received from Ross street residents wanting curb and gutter installed from Harvey to Lincoln.

ORDINANCE NO. 184

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND ORDINANCE NO. 174 ENTITLED "AN ORDINANCE TO DEFINE DISORDERLY PERSONS, TO PROVIDE FOR THE PUNISHMENT THEREOF AND TO REPEAL CERTAIN ORDINANCES."

THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

Section 1. Ordinance No. 174 entitled "An Ordinance to define disorderly persons, to provide for the punishment thereof and to repeal certain ordinances" is hereby amended by the addition of a new section numbered Section 2A to read as follows:

Section 2A. No person shall windowpeep nor shall any person use indecent or immoral language nor shall any person improperly, lewdly, wantonly or wrongfully accost, ogle, insult, annoy, follow, pursue, lay hand on, or by gesture, movement of body or otherwise wrongfully molest any person in any public street, lane, alley, square, park, public vehicle, or space in said city.

Section 2. This ordinance shall become operative and effective on the 22nd day of March, 1954.

Made, passed and adopted by the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, Michigan this 1st day of March, 1954.

Russell M. Daane, Mayor
Lamont C. BeGole, City Clerk

To Dedicate

Later the city offered the library free quarters in the city hall where it occupied some three rooms. Then on February 28, 1945 the library moved to its present location into the building which was the gift of Mrs. Bessie Dunning. In appreciation the library was renamed the Dunning Branch of the Wayne County Library.

Through these years the library has accumulated a large number of volumes which are made available to local residents as well as of surrounding areas.

Both the new building and the building facing the street are in use by the library now to provide the maximum in space for the library's resources. Plans for the old building call for turning its rooms into a music room, a place for films and children's story hours, and a magazine room to serve as a quiet reading area. At present some of the adult collection is still housed in this part. The new building, designed by architect Byron Becker, is done in a modernistic tone, with special shelves for the children and comfortable reading areas for adults. Contractor for the addition was Dan Mills.

Particularly honored for their contributions to the library will be Mrs. Bessie Dunning and her daughter Margaret for the donation of the property; Edward C. Hough for the furniture, the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's club for the slipcovers, the William Wood Insurance agency, which donated the draperies, and the Plymouth Woman's club for its donation toward the record player. The public is invited to attend the dedication.

That permanent peace and harmony are within the reach of mankind through the spiritual growth that reveals the true, spiritual nature of man in God's likeness will be emphasized in the Lesson - Sermon entitled "Man" which will be read at Christian Science services Sunday.
Selections from the King James version of the Bible include this citation from Romans: "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are called according to his purpose" (8:28).
The following passage will be among those read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual, -- they must hear the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite, -- in order that sin and mortality may be put off."
"This scientific sense of being, forsaking matter for Spirit, by no means suggests man's absorption into Deity and the loss of his identity, but confers upon man enlarged individuality, a wider sphere of thought and action, a more expansive love, a higher and more permanent peace" (265:5-15).
The Golden Text is from Psalms: "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace" (37:37).

The Newburg Methodist church Youth Fellowship group was host to 80 young people from several neighboring churches at an inter-church youth rally on Sunday, February 28. Lim discussed in his talk entitled "Brotherhood" the terrific squalor and the needs of his native land. He was assisted by four other university students.

Township Fire Trucks Getting Two-way Radios

Plymouth township's modern fire department will get an even newer appearance this year when two-way radio equipment is installed.

An order for the equipment costing $2,275 has been placed by the township board with the Motorola corporation, largest manufacturer of mobile radio equipment. The two-way radios will be placed in each of the three fire trucks with the home unit being installed in the fire department office.

Half of the cost of the equipment is being paid by the Office of Civil Defense and the other half by the township. No delivery date for the equipment has been set.

The township fire department radio frequency is the same as the frequencies used by Livonia, Nankin township, Inkster, Van Buren and Ypsilanti fire department transmitters.

Two-way radios in fire trucks are important when one of the trucks is sent to a fire and more help is needed. The township department can also radio to other departments for help in case outside help is needed, according to Fire Chief Bud Holmes and Supervisor Roy Lindsay.

A tower will be erected at the township hall for the radio installation.

No difference how hard times are, there are always colds for everyone.

Township Civil Defense To Bring Blood Bank

The Plymouth Township Civil Defense department recently announced that future plans have been made to bring a Red Cross blood bank to the area. This bank would be available in case of emergency in the Plymouth area. Arrangements are in the charge of Ernest Henry, Plymouth civil defense director, and Louis Foster, township chief warden.

A short wave set has also been ordered by the civil defense office through a government plan.

Insurance is what a Plymouth husband works his head off to keep up so his wife's second husband can have things pretty easy.

Hold Discussion On Weed Killer

Ever hear of MCP, DNOSAP or KOCN? Well, these are but a few of the chemical weed killers on the market today. These chemical weed killers can be very helpful and useful or they can contribute little.

Dr. B. H. Grigsby, professor of botany at Michigan State college will discuss chemical weed control at 7:30 p.m., Monday, March 8, at the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service building, 3930 Newberry street, Wayne.

Those attending may bring any troublesome weed specimens for identification. In bringing these specimens bring the whole plant, especially the root system.

SPRING MADE A BRIEF VISIT to Plymouth last week, looked around, and then went skittering off somewhere. The unseasonable weather brought out thoughts of spring housecleaning, and found Eldridge Raven, assistant funeral director, enjoying the sunshine while raking leaves in front of the Schrader Funeral home. The work he accomplished, however, soon was well hidden from all eyes when winter reappeared complete with a couple inches of snow.

Hold Grand Opening At Western Auto

A grand opening event will be celebrated in the Western Auto Associates store at 844 Penniman avenue on Friday and Saturday, March 5 and 6.

Alvin Collins took over the business from O. E. Rooker at the first of the year, when Rooker retired. He remodeled the store and opened for business a few weeks later, with the grand opening set for March.

Collins was in the garage business with Collins and Son for 21 years prior to buying the Western Auto Associates business.

The event will be celebrated with special gifts for the visitors with prizes of a table model radio, scales and wagon to be awarded.

White Goods Drive Meeting With Success

The white goods drive which got underway in Plymouth last week under the auspices of the local unit of the American Cancer society has been very successful, announced Mrs. William Norman, publicity chairman of the group.

She stated that new collection depots for the goods have been set up in the Detroit Edison office and at Cunningham's in Livonia. Other depots are in the local elementary schools.

White goods are used in the making of cancer dressings for cancer patients. Large bags, dry cleaners and grocery bags are also needed.

Who's New In Plymouth

Urge Plymouth Girls to Apply For Student Nurse Scholarship

One of the worthwhile scholarships given out to Plymouth high school graduates has been ignored for the last year, according to Dr. Walter Hammond. Each year a Plymouth girl is to be granted a monetary scholarship for a career in nursing. Last year, however, Plymouth had no applicants.

Dr. Hammond urged that students in the 1954 senior class give serious thought to becoming nurses, since the need is currently so great. Help can be given one of these girls through this scholarship grant.

The Student Nurse scholarship fund was set up in 1950 with money left over from a former hospital drive. Dr. Hammond, Walter L. Couse and Dr. R. M. Atchison both of Northville serve as trustees for the fund. They consider the scholarship applicants and each year select one Plymouth and one Northville high school graduate to receive the scholarship.

The scholarship, which is for $100, is given in two installments; $50 when the student first enters the school, and the remaining $50 at the end of six months if her work has been satisfactory.

The first of the scholarships granted went to Marcella D'Haene of 112 North Harvey street. Marcella received her R. N. last September from the Ann Arbor unit of the St. Joseph Mercy hospital of Detroit.

In showing the way her scholarship money was used, Marcella said that on entering St. Joseph's she paid a $250 tuition fee. This amount took her through the three years of nurses training, including food, room, supplies, uniforms and other things. The $100 she received through the scholarship helped her meet this fee.

Other local girls who have received the scholarships are Betty Salmon of 718 Pine street and Helen Harmon of 15606 Benson road.

Dr. Hammond urged parents to familiarize themselves with the nurses-training program so that they might discuss it with their children.

Then application blanks can be secured from Dr. Hammond or from the school nurse. On these routine information is requested, concerning graduating date, age, why you have chosen nursing, what school of nursing you plan to enter, and so on.

Scholarship in high school, interest, need and general physical ability are considered in granting the scholarship. One of the trustees will have a brief interview with the applicant. Before the scholarship can be awarded, the girl must have been accepted in some school of nursing.

The award will be presented in June, Dr. Hammond said. It is hoped that one of the former recipients might present the scholarship each year to the girl about to enter nursing.

College Students Hear Glassford Discuss Leadership Qualities

Madonna Press Club To Hold Bake Sale

The Madonna College Press club will hold a bake sale Saturday, March 6 at two Plymouth stores, Kresge's located on Main street and Kroger's on Forest street. All made cakes consist of home-made cakes, pies and cookies.

The affair is being sponsored to provide funds for the publishing of "The Madonna Herald," the campus paper. "The Madonna Herald" appears monthly for eight consecutive months of the school year.

The public is welcome to purchase these home-made goods and enable the journalists to continue their work.

his talk, he pointed out that everyone should be willing to accept a small part in leadership, whatever it may be.

"If you are interested in something, you will volunteer to act," Glassford observed, "and although it takes time, you must always remember that service to others come before service to self." The speaker also stressed that leaders have responsibility. Their ideas, programs and follow-up of activities are important.

Two films, "Government Is Your Business," a Christopher film, and "Ticket to Freedom" were shown in conclusion of the workshop.

AUGUST J. SCHULTZ of 49780 Hanford road has trapped six foxes this year on his farm, the most he has taken there yet in a single winter. With the six already taken, he said that there are still more foxes roaming around, for one killed a goose only recently. He lays his traps out in bunches of five and six, he explained, which has been very successful. Schultz added that he receives a bounty of $5 for each fox he traps.

Speed Limit Set at 7 Miles Per Hour In Plymouth (80 Years Ago Tomorrow)

Effective March 5—Plymouth's speed limit will be seven miles per hour!

That was the law passed 80 years ago tomorrow by the Plymouth village council to slow down the reckless drivers of that era. Instead of streamlined 200-horsepower automobiles, the village constable had to cope with one and two horse-power wagons and buggies. The law read:

"No person or persons shall run, race or drive any horse, horse, animal or animals anywhere, whether attached to a wagon, vehicle or cart at a faster rate than 7 miles per hour at any time or place within the bounds of this village." The fine was $5 and costs.

Looking through the city's old ordinance books in the city hall vaults, one can find many such laws which now seem amusing. But these were real problems in those days and they called for serious thinking by members of the village council. No typewriters in those days, village clerks penned the ordinances in the record books with some of the handwriting almost illegible. Enacted at the same time as the speed limit for animals was an ordinance forbidding the turning of teams of horses loose on the streets. This called for a $30 fine.

Animals and children seemed to be the subject of many of the early laws. In 1867 the village fathers adopted an ordinance making it unlawful to let cattle roam at large after 8 o'clock at night until 5 a.m. and between the dates of November 15 and April 15. Any other time, cattle were vagabonds.

Other animals were not as lucky as the cows. An ordinance at this time made it unlawful to "let any swine, horses, mules or other stock, except cows, run at large in the highways or streets within the corporate limits." The fine for impounding these other animals if found on the streets was $1 per day per head.

On April 24, 1869 the horse took another defeat. An ordinance was passed saying that "Any person or persons who shall hitch a horse, mule or other animal to any fruit, or shade tree, or ornamental tree or hitch to the stake under any shade, fruit or ornamental tree within said village, shall be punished with a fine of not more than $5 and costs." Leading or driving a horse on a sidewalk was also worth a $5 fine.

If an 1890 law were enforced today, it would keep children out of most Plymouth supermarkets, groceries and restaurants. It read: "That no minor child under 16 years of age shall be permitted in any saloon, bar room or any other place where any spirituous or intoxicating liquor, beer or malt liquor is sold, given away or furnished; or in any room used for the purpose of playing billiards, nine pins, cards, dice or any other lawful games or betting in any manner."

But undoubtedly a more unhappy day for the village's young folks was March 21, 1881 when the council passed an ordinance making it "unlawful for any person to obstruct sidewalks in the corporation by playing marbles or rolling balls of any kind." It was also made unlawful to ride a bicycle or velocipede on the plank sidewalks.

Possibly the first building code ever enacted in Plymouth was passed by councilmen in 1874 when standards for plank sidewalks were set up. It provided that no plank sidewalk shall be less than four or no more than eight feet wide and must not be less than one and a half inch thick. Under the walk, the law stated, 3 by 4 inch "stringers" were necessary. On December 2, 1874, a law was made requiring every householder to sweep the sidewalk in front of his premises by at least 8:30 a.m. each day.

If today's youngsters think parent's are too strict, they should have lived early in this century when a curfew ordinance was passed. On May 11, 1915, an ordinance was approved requiring children under 16 years old to not "loiter, stroll, or idly remain upon any street, alley or public place in the village."

From March 1 to August 31, children could remain on the streets until 8:30 in the evening. From September 1 to March 31, the young folk were indoors by 7:30 o'clock, unless accompanied by an elder. Five minutes before the curfew hour, the whistle on the municipal electric light plant had to blow, according to the ordinance.

Then there was the day of May 11, 1915. Councilmen passed a law to prohibit saloons. But that is a dry story!

A cancer benefit card party is going to be held at the post hall, across from Arbor-Lill, March 23 at 8 p.m. Marion Luttmoser, auxiliary cancer chairman is in charge of the event. Marion would like to remind the auxiliary of the city-wide drive for white goods for the Cancer Society of Plymouth. White goods are used in the making of cancer dressings. She would like to receive old white goods, large grocery bags, and dry cleaner bags. All who donate, will receive a plastic red sword pin representing the Cancer Society symbol, the "Sword of Hope." The pin when worn will serve as a reminder to save up the before mentioned articles and act as a public interest gesture. Call Marion, 886, daytimes, Monday through Saturdays. All proceeds from the card party will be turned over to the "Fight Cancer" Crusade.

Reports from Carvel Bentley, Plymouth high school principal, remind us that the essay contest now in progress is being received very well by the students.

What a time was had by all who attended Hobo-Hullabaloo last Saturday evening. Janet and Jim McClean were chosen King and Queen of the Hoboes.

Have you tried to contact a new member? This is the time to do just that. A big square dance, a real honest to goodness "hoe down," is being planned for March 13. Music will be "live." There will be round dancing, also.

PUBLIC LETTER BOX

March 1, 1954
To the Plymouth Mail
Dear Editor:

To refute any wrong impression any one may have gained from reading this Column let us first make it clear that we have not been intimidated or coerced by any union or any individual, otherwise we have no disagreement with any one.

Our Union tried to make our position clear in a paid advertisement, apparently your readers and our good customers understood it, certainly we have had no strike with our patrons, who for the most part are workers who receive a standard of pay generally prevailing in the trade area of this and surrounding cities and communities. So do our patrons in the professions and other service trades receive the generally accepted fees for the area in which they operate. We do not disagree with that, but seek them out when we need their services, if they did not respect their own efforts and skill, neither would we.

We do respect our own skill and are keeping that and our service in harmony with the highest standards, we thus have every confidence that our services are worth the standard prices, and that our customers would no more ask us to reduce our earnings than we would ask them to do so. So again we have no disagreements.

If we have barbers that feel their services and skill do not warrant charging the standard fees for their service, we are willing to let them be the judge, if they do not think it is, neither do we. Agreement on that score, no disagreement.

If we have Barbers who want their customers to believe they are offering services cheaper, purely from a charitable point of view, we will not disagree with that either, but we will not try to tell our customers that. We do not believe they are that naive.

LOCAL GIRL SCOUTS will climax Girl Scout Week on Sunday, March 14, with a Scouts Own rally in the Plymouth high school auditorium at 4 p.m. Shown here looking over the program for the event are Betsy Edgar, junior high intermediate Scout; Jeri Gulbransen, Brownie; Mrs. William Edgar, chairman of the rally; and Sharon Baker, intermediate Scout. The observance of Girl Scout Week began on Sunday, March 7.

Girl Scout Week in Plymouth

The many Girl Scouts of Plymouth will join with the more than two million Scouts throughout the country in celebrating Girl Scout Week, March 7 to 13. March 12 will mark the 42nd anniversary of Girl Scouting in the United States.

According to Mrs. Eber Readman, local commissioner, Girl Scout Week was formerly held in October, but by a vote of the National Convention last fall the dates were changed to coincide with the annual celebration of the Girl Scout anniversary on March 12.

On Sunday, March 14, each girl will attend the church of her choice, where space is being reserved so that the Brownies, Scouts, and adult Scouts may sit together. These arrangements were made with the help of the Plymouth Ministerial association.

The week's big event will be a "Scouts Own" to be held on the afternoon of March 14. The program beginning in the auditorium at 4 p.m. will include a patriotic pageant and presentation of First Class and Curved Bar awards. All the local Scout troops will take part in this rally, with Mrs. J. H. Lodge and Mrs. William Edgar in charge. The troops have extended invitations to all parents of Brownies and Scouts as well as friends of Scouting to attend.

Girl Scout will mark the 42nd anniversary of the day in 1912 when the late Juliette Gordon Lowe called together a group of girls in Savannah, Georgia to hear about the Girl Guide movement in England. Twelve of the girls formed the first Girl Scout troop in the United States.

Monday, March 8 has been designated as Homemaking day; Tuesday, Citizenship day will be celebrated; Wednesday, marks Health and Safety day; Thursday will be International Friendship day; Friday, March 12, will serve a double purpose; the 42nd birthday of Girl Scouting and Arts and Crafts day. Saturday, March 13, is designated as Out-of-Doors day.

"Know your neighbors—know your nation" is the theme for the 42nd Girl Scout Birthday and Girl Scout Week.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Troop reporter, Marlene Sharland, states that Brownies of Troop 18 have been learning about Girl Scouts in other countries and have opened 24 windows in their poster of the Swiss Chalet. They are learning the Girl Scout laws. New officers are chairman, Susan Larkin; secretary, Shirley Meyers; treasurer, Carolyn Czeryba; publicity, Ann Tillotson and Sunshine, Karen Kaunisto. Mrs. Thomas Adams and Mrs. William Edgar are the leaders.

Brownie Troop 20 enjoyed a tour of the telephone company on Monday, February 22. Seventeen Brownies accompanied by their leaders, Mrs. Stanley Wilt, Mrs. Clifford Smith and Mrs. J. D. McLaren attended. Cynthia McLaren is the troop reporter.

Gloria Bowles reports that troop 19 has adopted two patients from the Maybury Sanatorium. They are Jacqueline Cannon and Betty Gatewell. The Scouts are sending them books, cards and other remembrances. New officers of Troop 19 are: Roxanna Smith, president; Gloria Bowles, vice-president; Mavis Williams, secretary; and Nancy Alford, treasurer. Mrs. Thomas Thorpe is the leader.

Members of Troop 5 will meet at the Claude Eaton home on Canton Center road for a hayride on Monday, March 8. They will return to Eatons' for refreshments following the ride.

As a fitting climax the entire troop with their fathers as guests will attend the Detroit Red Wing hockey game at Olympia on Saturday, March 13. Troop leaders are Mrs. H. D. Jensen, Mrs. William Congdon and Mrs. J. R. Witwer.

An overnight trip to the Girl Scout Cabin was enjoyed by 10 members of Troop 2 with their leader, Mrs. Lance Wright on Friday, February 26. The families of the members were entertained in the evening with a program followed by refreshments. Mrs. Wright was assisted by Mrs. Louis Niedermeyer.

The Girl Scout Leaders club will meet on Monday, March 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the Veterans' Memorial building. Mrs. Anthony Kreeger will present a troop committee training session. Leaders are asked to bring their troop committee members.

It's Bottoms Up In Egg Packing

Just how important it is to pack eggs with their large ends up was shown in recent tests by Michigan State college's poultry department.

The test started with eggs grading 50 per cent "AA" and 50 per cent "A". Nearly all of the eggs which were packed with large ends up were still of "A" quality as determined by candling at the end of 14 days. But those packed with the small end up averaged a "B" quality.

The interior quality of eggs which can be determined by candling is an important factor in wholesale grading, the poultrymen explain. To grade "A" or better, an egg must have a well-centered yolk. And the yolk has a tendency to rise in an egg packed with the small end up. This causes the egg to grade lower when it is candled. That means a lower price.

SOME TIPS on how to hold your badminton racket are being given out by William Baker to Sandy Noll and Georgette Graham. The badminton nights, Mondays, are open to all persons wishing to get a little exercise by enjoying a rousing game of badminton in the Plymouth high school gymnasium. The teen-age group meets at 7:30 p.m. while the adults begin their games at 9 p.m.

Badminton Provides Recreation for Adults

One of the evening activities open to all Plymouthites is the badminton night for students and adults in the Plymouth high school gymnasium. The groups meet on Monday evenings under the leadership of Louise Cigile, physical education teacher. Badminton provides a good opportunity for working girls to get exercise, Mrs. Cigile pointed out. The student response has been excellent, she said, but for some reason women are somewhat lacking in the adult groups. She urged that any interested women come to the badminton night. Equipment is furnished, but those participating are required to wear gym shoes. The student group meets each Monday evening from 7:30 to 9 p.m., while the adults take over from 9 to 10:30 p.m. Beginners at the game will receive instructions, and more advanced players can get right into games. Currently there is a ladder tournament running at each of the meetings. This is carried on by challenging someone above you to a game, and should you win, you take over the higher position on the ladder of winners. Currently leading the junior high group are Betty Worth, first place, and Sandy Noll, second; senior high girls, Carol Karnatz and Kay Gorton; senior high boys, Tony Cousino and Tony Worth; men's, Bill Bateman and Larry Fest; men's doubles, the team of Bill Bateman and Larry Fest, and second, the team of Bill Baker and Bill Saxton. The tournament continues each week with the leader frequently being replaced.

Trenton Presents Talent Show for Local Exchange Assembly Thursday

Plymouth students were entertained by Trenton talent during an exchange assembly fifth hour Thursday, February 25. The twenty-two piece band, including eight pretty violinists, was supposedly composed of professional men in the band business such as: Ray Anthony, Benny Goodman, Harry James, Pee Wee Hunt, Tommy Dorsey, and other great musicians. The biggest surprise was the music. When Jim Kent, the Master of Ceremonies and band leader, raised his baton to begin "Alexander's Ragtime Band" but instead of the band playing, they did a pantomime to a record. Famous singing stars were pantomimed by the following: Connie Shoemate as Joni James singing "I Won't Stand in Your Way," Jean Sullivan as Jo Stafford singing "Make Love to Me," Marsha Bastine as Teresa Brewer singing "Baby, Baby, Baby," and then tall, willowy Janet Boyd, imitating Ertha Kitt, sang "Ce Si Bon." The male vocalist who was

Chuck Raisin as Eddie Fisher, sang "Oh Mein Papa." Harry Dierdorff, Maner Stiffen, Nick Mans, and Bob Cummings imitated the Four Aces singing "Heart and Soul." The popular comedy team Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis were portrayed by Wally Leaper and Jim Sprodlin. Dean tried to sing "That's Amore" while Jerry went through his crazy antics. Various versions of the Bunny Hop were shown by Janet Sunquist, and Virginia Viemo. The Tennessee Wigwalk was danced in bare-feet by Marsha Britton and Mildred Elliot. From the beginning of the show until the end two old ladies, Bea Landell and Bea Britton, pestered the band to let them sing. They finally got their chance. With pantaloons showing they took a guitar from the band and sang "Too Old to Cut the Mustard Anymore." The assembly ended while the band played "Dancing in the Dark."

Junior High to Hold First Carnival To Raise Funds for Projector

Plans are currently being discussed for a carnival to be held by the junior high school Parent-Teacher-Student association on Saturday, March 27. Called the "Spring Swing," the carnival will raise money for the purchase of a movie projector and other instructional supplies for the school. Heading the carnival committee as general chairman is Mrs. Earl West. She will be assisted by the following committee chairman: tickets, Mrs. Lester Reddeman; check room, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Baker; telescope, Mrs. Kenneth Packard; dance, Mr. and Mrs. Theron Palmer; fashion show, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing.

Talent show, Mrs. Edwin Wingard; movies, Mrs. James Hardiman; shop, Mrs. Wilbert West; fortune telling, Mrs. Henry Jensen; cake walk, Mrs. Warren Bassett; candy, Mrs. Foster Brown; fish pond, Mrs. Clarence Bolen; barber and background music, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Noll. Games for little children, Mrs. Clyde Wood; games, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Epps; spook house, Mrs. Derward Jewell; shooting gallery, Mr. and Mrs. Elmore Carney; programs, Esther Puckett; hall decorations, Student Council; snack bar, Mrs. Pieter Schipper; popcorn, Mrs. Sam Dibble; and ginger ale, Mr. and Mrs. Ferris Mathias. The next meeting will be held in the office of Mr. Alford on Tuesday, March 9, at 3:30 p.m.

Plan City's First Water Ballet

Barbara Smith as King Neptune, Faye Lietz as Neptune's Queen, and Sara Leet and Gayle Lietz as the Prince and Princess will swim the starring roles in the 1954 Water Ballet to be held May 14 and 15. Presented by the junior and senior high Water Waves' clubs and directed by Mrs. Dolores Caldwell, girls' swimming instructor and Water Waves' advisor, the show will be entitled "King Neptune's Court."

It will begin with reality with a Mother and her two children seated beside the pool. The Mother is reading the children a fairy tale of the sea and as she finishes and leaves, the children drift into dreamland where they see the fairy tale portrayed by the swimmers. Drawn by sea horses, the King and Queen enter and set up court in the pool. All the animals and fish of the sea come to pay homage to the King and numbers are swum by the porpoises, penguins, sea horses, and octopi. The Prince comes to Neptune to ask permission to marry the Princess and the joyous couple swim a duet indicating the King has approved the Prince. The court jesters played by Shirley Carter, Susan Dunn, Susan Daly and Judy Kelly also play leading roles in the ballet.

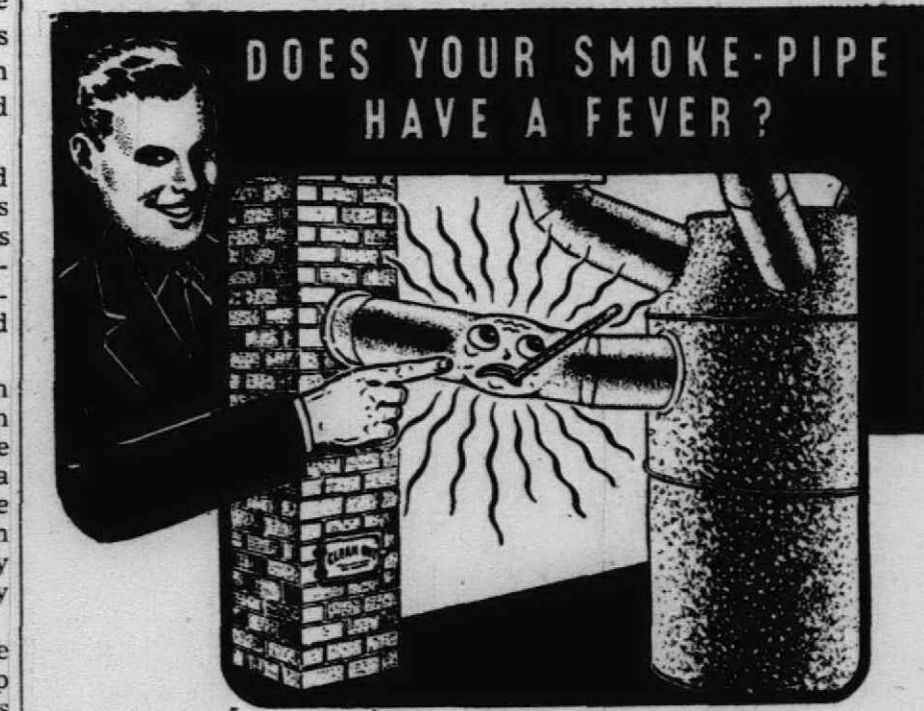

Choral Concert To Be Presented On March 16

All those who enjoy good music, are invited to the choral concert, on Tuesday, March 16, at 8 p.m. The vocal groups of Plymouth high directed by Fred Nelson will present a program of choice selections in the auditorium. "Charlottown," "Prayer," "I See The Moon," and "Chopsticks" will be sung by the Freshman Chorus. Those numbers chosen for the Choir are "Surely He Hath Borne Our Grief," "Wonderous Cool," "Thou Woodland Quiet," "Oh Susanna," "Whoopie Ti Yi Yo," "Onward Ye Peoples," and "Fantasy On Negro Spirituals."

"Song of The Brook," "Say Where Is He Born," "Say It With Music," "Yours Is My Heart Alone," and "S Wonderful," will be presented by the Glee Club. Such old favorites as "Star Dust," "Praise Ye The Lord," "Because," and "Can't Help Lovin' That Man," are the selections for Triple Trios. The annual district Choir and Glee Club Festival will be held on Wednesday, March 17, at Ypsilanti. Those songs mentioned above with the exception of "I See the Moon" and "Chopsticks" will be sung. All nearby high schools will participate and will be judged good, fair and poor.

Choose Theme For Senior Prom

With the selection of the theme and name, work is already beginning on the Senior Prom. Representing a modernistic, unreal atmosphere, the single word "Improvisation" was chosen. A special meeting was held February 19 to choose the theme. Among those voting on the issue were the co-chairman of the Prom, the committees, and the senior executive board. The idea for the 1954 Senior Prom is completely different from anything attempted previously.

Because of the busy, activity-filled schedule, the senior dance scheduled for February 19 was cancelled.

Considering the idea of having Baccalaureate in the various churches in the community, the group discarded the idea. The annual senior event will be held in the high school gymnasium as it has been in previous years. A class meeting proved necessary for the entire class to decide on the place to hold this religious part of their graduation exercises.

Favor Tractors
To Crush Rocks
In Cage Tourney

The Plymouth high school cagers will come up against the foremost foe they have met all season when they tangle with the Fordson Tractors in the state class A regional tournament next Wednesday night. Fordson is the class A state champion and will begin defense of that crown when they bump into the Rocks. The game will begin at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday evening at the local gymnasium, where the tournament is being held for the second straight year.

Seven teams will compete for the right to advance to the state quarter-finals against other regional winners. The semi-finals and finals will be held at East Lansing next week Friday and Saturday. The seven competing here are: Fordson, Lincoln Park, Dearborn, Plymouth, Detroit Catholic Central, Detroit St. Joseph and Detroit St. Anthony. Fordson and Dearborn must be conceded as having the best chance of winning this tourney because of their season records. St. Anthony, who went to the finals of the Catholic First Division, has an outside chance.

Next Thursday the Catholic Central-Lincoln Park winner will play the Plymouth-Fordson winner, while St. Anthony, drawing the first round bye, will play the St. Joseph-Dearborn winner. Finals are scheduled for Saturday, March 13 at 8 p.m.

Fordson lost some of the better players from last year's championship outfit, but still is rated in the top ten teams in the state. They lack height, but make up for it with accurate shooting. Catholic Central, a power in the past, has had an average season winning more games than they have lost. St. Joseph and St. Anthony have had better than average seasons, while Lincoln Park has another weak team this year. Plymouth won over Lincoln Park last year in the first round. This local tournament drew capacity crowds each night last

Reserves Drop
Overtime Thriller

In a game that had the capacity crowd in a frenzy at the finish, the high school junior varsity lost a heart-breaker to the Bentley reserves last Friday evening in overtime by a one-point margin, 46 to 45. The Rocks had fought back and came from behind to tie the score up in regulation time only to lose when Harold Belcher sank two free throws for Bentley in overtime.

Plymouth was on the short end of a 39 to 33 count as the last quarter began, and immediately went about to tie the game up at 42-all as the final buzzer sounded. In the hectic overtime, Dick Davidson sank a shot from the floor as did Regal for Bentley, and then Belcher was awarded two charity tosses and promptly made them both good. Later in the game Jack Carter had a chance to tie it up on two foul shots, but made only one.

Dick Davidson was high for the locals with 18 points made on 8 baskets and 2 foul shots; Tom Ferguson had 11, Jack Carter 6; Linden Mills 4 and Henry Bonga and Smith 2. Belcher was high for Bentley with 15 points; Blankegagen had 10.

The Rocks made good on 11 of 20 free throws, while the Bulldogs had 6 of 24 good free throws. The Junior Varsity ended the season with a 9 won and 5 lost record against all competition; and a 5-5 record in league play.

Allen Graders Trip
Starkweather Cagers

A big first quarter in which they scored 10 points enabled the Allen grade school team to hand the first-place Starkweather school its first defeat of the season to highlight this league last week. Allen held on to nip the league-leaders 21 to 20. Allen jumped off to an early 10 to 3 lead and increased it to 15 to 7 at halftime. Starkweather kept whittling away at that lead until the final whistle, but couldn't quite overcome that early lead of Allen.

Alan DePorter scored 13 points for the winners with both Farriel Grady and Art Nelson having 4. David Timcoe and Duke Wooley each had 7 for the losers, and Eugene Micol, Tom Hinderliner and Dennis Smith each had 2 points.

Catholic defeated Lutheran 8 to 5 in another game. The winners held an 8 to 3 lead at the half, and even though they were unable to score again held on to win. Gulbrandson and McConnell divided the scoring for the winners each getting four points. Norman Lehnhardt scored all three points for Lutheran.

Bird School edged Catholic 16 to 13 in another contest. Burden was high with 5 for Bird with Williams having 4, Rank 3, Mynt 3, and Wood 1. McConnell scored 8 of the losers total with Gulbrandson having 4 and Wahn 1 point.

The Bird reserves swamped the Catholic youngsters 22 to 3 in a preliminary game. Porter and Hayskar were the scoring twins for the winners, each getting 10 points. Hammond had 2. For the losers, McConnell had 2 and Conrad 1.

The standing in the grade league is as follows:

	W	L
Starkweather	6	1
Allen	5	2
Smith	4	2

Bentley Cops 6-B Title
Second Year in Row

For the second straight year Bentley high school emerged as winner of the 6-B Suburban League in basketball. This is the first time that any school has won two consecutive outright titles in any sport since this league was revised a few years ago. The Bulldogs have been consistent all year, and their confidence paid off by winning the title Trenton finished in the second slot, and three teams tied for third, fourth and fifth. Redford Union did not win a single contest and finished at the bottom of the heap.

On offense, Bentley also edged Plymouth by two points. Allen Park had the best defensive record—one that matched their offensive right to the point.

In the final games last week, Bentley trounced Plymouth 61 to 46; Trenton won over Allen Park 42 to 34; while Belleville smothered Redford Union 60 to 27.

In other games in this area, Southfield defeated Walled Lake 44 to 36; Catholic Central took care of Wayne 56 to 49; Northville won the Oakland-Wayne title by edging Keego Harbor 63 to 60. Lansing Eastern won over Ypsilanti 60 to 53; Lansing Sexton over Ann Arbor 52 to 32, and Fordson slipped by Monroe 46 to 42.

Final 6-B League standings with points scored for and against were as follows:

	W	L	PF	PA
Bentley	8	2	477	380
Trenton	7	3	426	375
Plymouth	5	5	475	452
Belleville	5	5	432	421

DOES EXPENSE OF SPRING TRAINING PAY OFF?
Why does spring training take so long? Seven weeks is a large hunk of time to reacquaint players with the positions of bases. Is it run for publicity, or for training? Does it pay off?

According to The Sporting News there are as many opinions as there are baseball officials. George Weiss, Yankee general manager, is a straight training guy. No ballyhoo.

"The publicity is secondary," Weiss states. Spring training should be what the term implies, without stunts or extended trips. Seven weeks is about right for a manager to size up new material, and the older player to work into shape without forcing himself."

Walter O'Malley, Dodger president, thinks of the dollar back home.

He says: "With advance ticket sales aimed at $500,000 breaking into late February, a club must have a publicity springboard, which the training season provides."

O'Malley makes a point in The Sporting News article. "Pro athletes can get into condition in much less time. But we need seven weeks to play games, which are vital to give every man a fair chance and let the manager get a good feel of his entire squad."

Frank Lane, White Sox general manager, is more hard-boiled. "Three weeks is plenty. You justify the rest on your publicity building up. A club spends about $75,000 on the average, and only the top-box-office draw can get back more than half in the exhibitions. But it's worth it."

NIEMAN GETS COMPETITION FROM TUTTLE
Detroit is curious about the improvement Bob Nieman, who opens training as the No. 1 left fielder, reports The Sporting News.

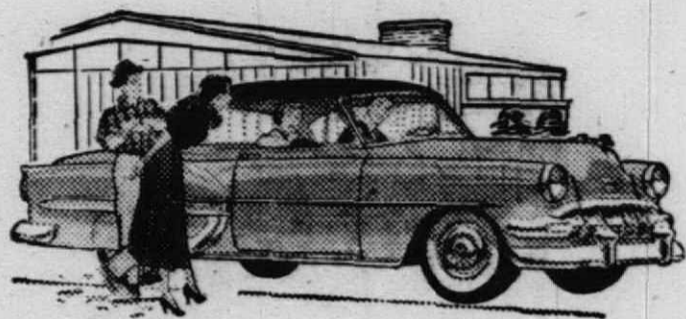

"I've stayed in good shape this winter—only six pounds above my playing weight," Nieman reported. "But I want to nail down that job."

The Tiger strategists agree that Nieman has earned a long look in camp. His primary contention in left field comes from Bill Tuttle, whose defensive speed and base-running savvy mark him as the most exciting rookie outfielder in the Detroit camp.

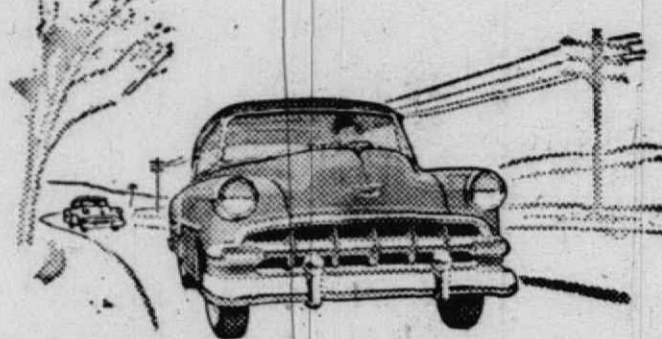

Nieman adherents point out to their man's record. In his second season in the American League and first in Detroit uniform, Nieman batted .281 and smashed 15 home runs. The comparison is made with premier hitters. In his second year in the league Mickey Vernon, the batting champion, hit .271. As a sophomore George Kell settled for .272 and Al Rosen hit .265.

SHORT STUFF FROM THE SPORTING NEWS

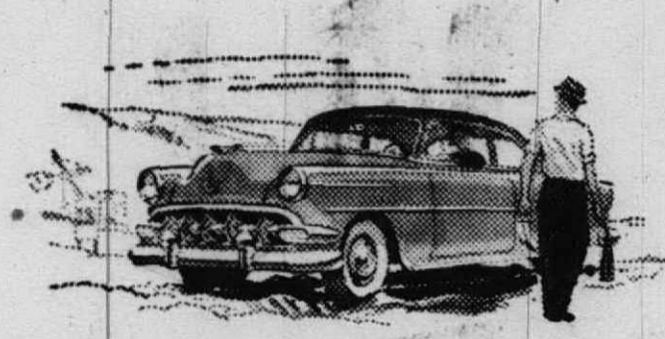

The Phils' Jim Konstanty is proving to be the most outspoken ball player in captivity, says The Sporting News. His recent blast at the Phillies management makes it clear that he was leveling when he said he wanted to be traded. And don't be surprised if he winds up with the Pirates... Outspoken Mickey Grasso of the Cleveland Indians declares that all ball players have a beef against Bob Porterfield, who accepted a $19,500 salary from the Washington club. "He set players salaries back ten years," says Grasso. "The club owners can now point to Porterfield's salary and use it as a scale."... main interest on the Cincinnati club this year will be the pitching. That is the department in which last year's fine hitting and fielding club was the weakest.

Sport Glances

by "Professor" Edgar Brown

I guess I sort of under-estimated something or other when I predicted that the Rocks would take Bentley last Friday night. I learned one thing for sure and that is one should never predict the outcome of a basketball game, because so many things can enter in that are unforeseen.

I can predict this—the Rocks will have to look a lot better than they did the other night to even come close to giving Fordson the game that they did last year. We all know that they are capable of playing much better ball than was displayed the other night.

They bowed out of 6-B league competition the way they entered it this year—the Bentley game compared to that played at Trenton in the first game, but they did play some good games in between. If they had played like they did in some of those games they could have beaten Bentley. Maybe they are saving up for Fordson—could be.

Bentley won the 6-B league title all alone for the second straight year. At the present time I think that Belleville is the best team in the league—they beat Bentley this second round also, and on the Bentley floor. Belleville lost the first four 6-B league games they played, and after that beat everyone except Trenton, who won in overtime after Belleville had the game sewed up, or seemingly so, in regulation time.

Nevertheless Bentley came out on top, and not taking any credit away from the Bulldogs, their steady play carried them to the top. King and Cole carried the load.

Fordson and Dearborn should come together in the final of the regional Class A tourney here next week if everything goes accordingly to Hoyle. I don't think Fordson will come close to repeating as state champions for I look for Highland Park or Lansing Sexton to be at the top when it is all over—right now I'll pick Highland Park.

One can never tell about these rated teams—I believe that 5 of the 8 teams in the finals in all classes last year were not rated in the first five teams all year.

Tournament time is always exciting and brings crowds of loyal supporters to cheer their teams on—a lot of color, noise and some good basketball. I like these meets, and never miss any of them including the state finals at East Lansing. They are a fitting climax to the cage season.

We saw the Barbara Ann Scott ice show Saturday night, and I must say that it was quite a spectacle. The kids enjoyed it immensely, particularly the clowning parts—I like the humorous part also even though the entire show was wonderful. Many thousands see this every year, and they have to considering the great expense it must take to outfit the huge cast, and maintain the large staff necessary to stage such a production.

The Detroit Tigers are hard at work again down in sunny Florida. Manager Freddie Hutchinson will have his hands full in trying to mold a contender into shape from the talent he has at his command—all he can do is the best he can with what he has to work with.

The pitching staff will have to be bolstered, and I don't see too many Reynolds, Roberts or Fellers among the moundmen who have reported so far. It will be swell if a few of those untried rookies prove another Robin Roberts, but right now it looks sort of dismal. Looks like another second division club to me, but who am I to predict anything.

What I can't understand is why three of the hurlers are holding out for more money—Garver, Branca and Gromek.

Junior Cagers Win at Bentley

The Plymouth junior high cagers concluded the 1954 season last Friday afternoon with a win over Bentley Junior High by a 31 to 25 count. This win reversed a previous loss to the Bulldogs.

The teen-age Rocks won 4 games while losing 6 during the season. They met each 6-B League team twice. Two of the losses were in overtime contests.

Last week the victory was paced by Walasky and Knipschild each having 12 points; Alsboro had 4 with Sherrick getting 3 points. King was high for Bentley with 15 markers.

Plymouth made good on 5 of 14 free throw tosses, while their opponents made good on 9 of 12 charity tosses.

Curtain Falls on Rock Five As Bentley Wins Finale

In a dismal showing last Friday night, the high school cagers concluded the regular season with a 61 to 46 defeat handed them by the neighboring Bentley high cagers. After a close first quarter which ended with the Bulldogs on top 14 to 12, the Rocks displayed some mediocre basketball to allow Bentley to take a commanding lead at the half. The winners just coasted from there to the end of a drab contest.

Inability to stop the under basket shots of King and Cole, plus some lax defense proved the difference in the two teams. The jittery Rocks could not get going after the game started and often passed into their opponents hands.

The halftime score was 37 to 22, and the final quarter began with Bentley ahead 55 to 31. With Bentley subs in the lineup the Rocks did pick up a few points to keep the score respectable.

Jerry Kelly was high for Plymouth with 12 points and was followed by Middleton with 10, Agnew, Wilhelm and Juve with 6 each, Day with 4 and Clifford with 2. King was high with 20 points for the winners and Ron Cole had 15.

This game ended the season for the Rocks with an overall record of 9 wins and 5 losses—and a 5 won and 5 lost record in 6-B competition. They tied for third place with Allen Park and Belleville.

Next Wednesday Plymouth meets Fordson at 7:30 in the first round of the state regional tourney here in the local gym.

Bentley Frosh Down Plymouth

After defeating the Bentley Frosh by 5 points earlier in the season, the Plymouth Frosh dropped the last game of the season by the same margin last Friday afternoon when they were defeated 37 to 32 in a contest over at Bentley.

The game was close throughout with the Bulldogs having a slight advantage during the second half—the score at intermission was 17 to 16 in favor of the Plymouth lads.

Jerry King and Ken Calhoun were high for the young Rocks with 10 points each, Bob Jenkins had 8, with Cliff Tait and John Thomas each contributing 2 points. Petro was high for Bentley with 12 points.

Plymouth made good on 10 of 18 free throw attempts, while the winners could only toss in 3 of 10 attempts.

The local Frosh ended the season with a 6 won 4 lost records, one of the losses being by a forfeit after winning the game when an ineligible player was discovered.

Relay Enables Pontiac to Edge Swimmers 43-41

A mere six inches meant the difference between victory and defeat for the local swimming team last Thursday for it was by that short distance that the high school medley relay team was nipped by Pontiac. The winning of that race meant a 43 to 41 victory for the Oakland county lads in one of the closest meets of the year for the Rocks.

Plymouth won four first places to five for Pontiac. Dick Wallace took a first and Gary Wright a second in the 50 yard free style; David Beegle a first and Dick Zukosky a third in the 100 yard free style; Art Losse a first and Tom Rutherford a third in the 200 yard free style; and the free style relay team of Wallace, McKenna, Beegle and Wright beat out Pontiac for the other first place. The latter established a team record and came within 4 of a second of a new pool record.

Second places were taken by Lee Rowe in the 200 yard-free style and Bob Packard in the backstroke. Paul Daoust had a third in the breast stroke; McKenna a third in the 200 free style; Mike Conrad one in the individual medley. Don Gregory also had a third in the backstroke.

Gregory, Daoust and Zukosky swam in the decisive medley relay.

The last meet of the year will take place today when the Rocks go to Ypsilanti Roosevelt. The state swimming meet will be held at Ann Arbor on March 12 and 13.

won the second contest of the year by beating Beglinger Olds 54 to 51 in another game last week. Two forfeits rounded out the last couple games of the regular season as Ford forfeited to Tait's Cleaners and National Bank forfeited to Lightfoots—neither team could muster five men to play the winners.

Three teams qualified for the playoffs—Capitol Shirts, Tait's Cleaners and LaFontaine. The latter team may forego the tourney because of district and regional basketball tournaments at Bentley high school. The LaFontaine team is composed entirely of Bentley coaches and faculty. The playoffs began this past Tuesday.

In the Capitol Shirts-National Bank game, Carl Pursell and Ken Kisabeth led the winners with 20 and 19 points respectively. Ron Brink had 13 for the losers.

Bob Carlton led Ford to their second win of the year with 19 points; Carlson also had 19 for Loser Olds.

If you noticed that bandage on shoeman Bob Willoughby's finger recently it wasn't because he wanted to lose part of his finger it was just because he wanted to keep it. It seems while tattooing some cattle recently one steer smashed Willoughby's hand into the stall and actually severed the tip of his finger. Not daunted by the accident Mr. Willoughby picked up the finger portion and brought it to a local doctor who doubted the advisability of replacing the same but did so at the owner's insistence. Off on a vacation jaunt which was to end up in Bermuda several days later the local shoeman was forced to return to Plymouth from New York for repairs on a badly infected finger which at this writing is now improving.

Just returned from a Florida vacation is realtor Howard Stark who now gives his future vacation address as Homestead, Florida. Completely taken by this fast growing city and area Mr. Stark says it is as interesting a place as he has ever visited and when he leaves for future vacations his destination is automatically predetermined. Located in southern Florida the area is the largest crop producing section of the state. Fields of beans, tomatoes and peas are so big they extend farther than the eye can see and planes are used to dust and fertilize the plants. In addition to all of the fresh vegetables and fruits a Homestead visitor desires, it is no problem to catch more Red Snapper than you could ever eat and all within a stone's throw from the city limits Mr. Stark points out.

Another Plymouthite, recently home from Florida, had little good to say for the red tide which is infecting the beaches on Florida's west coast. It was so irritating to the George Merriweathers that after taking every known cough syrup to stop the continual throat irritation they moved down to Key West where they feasted for several days on many of the fish delicacies featured there. Mr. Merriweather gave us a tip however by saying that this is his last trip to Florida and that Arizona would be their future headquarters. Perhaps it's the slot machines in Stucky's Florida-Georgia state line store that proved too much for the local nurseryman who has made annual contributions there, going and coming, for too many years.

Of interest, too, was our timely arrival home! On Monday morning our unusually efficient Bill Slinger went all to pieces over the fact that he had subscribed to three magazines in November and just realized that as yet he hadn't received any copies of the same. So after writing and mailing a long letter to the publishers he went home for lunch and mentioned to his wife what he had done. She seemed quite surprised and reminded him that he had been reading the three publications for the last two months whenever he had a quiet evening at home... We suggested an immediate Florida visit for him too...

A card received this morning from Norman J. Schweizer, who resides here at 11835 Morgan street, tells us that we have never really seen Florida until we visit in the central part of the state where Lake county is located. We'll make a note of that Mr. Schweizer, and perhaps next year we'll come to Minneola for a conducted tour of your area... at any rate we just couldn't cover the whole state this year and when you get home come in and we'll chat about that sunny southland.

We had to drive way back home from the Ringing Circus grounds at Sarasota to learn that insurance man Clayton Stokes and his wife of Plymouth sat only a few seats behind us at one of the shows we witnessed. After the show they tried to hail us but we got lost in the crowds and therefore didn't have a chance to say hello to another local couple vacationing in the south. Small world, isn't it.

Roger Babson Says

BABSON DISCUSSES THE SCHOOL PROBLEM
Babson Park, Massachusetts. Do not miss the series of articles starting in Collier's about our schools. These well documented articles offer proof that our schools need overhauling. I am glad to have the good company of this magazine for the reform which I have been urging for some time. If I understand the educational process at all, it seems only logical that before a teacher can teach anybody anything he must command respect. DISCIPLINE COMES FIRST

I can take you into classrooms in one of our large eastern cities where last year several teachers had nervous breakdowns; substitute teachers stayed a day or two, then left. The problem—poor discipline. Finally, one determined, old-fashioned substitute took over. The principal urged her to send the misbehavers to him. She felt any such action on her part would be an acknowledgment of her own inadequacy. Finally, in despair, she did send a dozen pupils a day to the principal who in turn flogged them one by one. But it was too late. They had gone too far too long. Even the good disciplinarian could not take it. She bowed out too because she had to spend all her time trying to maintain a semblance of order and never did get around to teaching anything.

Or, I can tell you about a reasonably plush prep school where the headmaster decided to teach some of the boys how to read. After all they had reached the tenth grade and it was time they knew how! Well, believe it or not, the headmaster failed to show up about half the time; the boys did not make it the other half. The program just fizzled out. These are symptoms of a problem, and it is more widespread than you realize. I have said before in this column, and I will say it again: if delinquency is on the increase, and our young people are hard and callous, it is because their teachers and parents are getting soft and careless.

THEN, SOME BASIC FUNDAMENTALS
These magazine articles suggest that the brain trusters (Professors in Schools of Education, I assume) have sold the schools down the river. When our kids graduate, not only from public high school, but from many of our preparatory schools, they cannot properly read or write. They cannot do eighth grade arithmetic. I am told of a batch of freshmen from widely divergent parts of the country to prove my points. Yet, these kids were admitted to college because the principals recommended them as being well qualified.

Many of these boys have already flunked out of college. Both father and son have been shortchanged by the public and private schools. When a son is graduated from secondary school, both father and son are made to believe son was somebody he really was not at all—and all because the school worshipped too long before the false shrine of mediocrity. Schools, and colleges too, need to take a closer look at their standards and values. This is a national problem. How can we develop good leaders in business, or how can we even hope to hold our own, internationally, if all we have to offer is mediocrity?

AND FINALLY, COMPETITION
I have been shocked to discover the number of school principals and superintendents who seem to think there is something heathen, something un-Christian, something damaging about individual competition. They develop report cards that attempt to tell a parent how the child is doing in terms of his own ability, but hush-hush his relative standing in the group. Schools also too often measure their teachers in terms of extra summer courses taken or advanced degrees, and not often enough do they use the yardstick of classroom discipline.

I ask you, what spurs an individual on to do his best? Is it not, fundamentally, the struggle for recognition and achievement? The individual wants to prove he is a man among men, that he counts, whether he be a teacher or preacher doing for others, an inventor conquering technical frontiers, or a salesman satisfying our wants and needs. We need to rekindle this spirit of competition in the classroom. Superintendent Philip J. Hickey of St. Louis has made a good start in this direction.

Michigan Week, to be held May 2-8, may provide an answer to critics who charge that Michigan's tax structure is too high to hold present industry and to attract new factories.

The impressive list of plant expansion already scheduled for Michigan is headed by the General Motors three-fourths of a billion dollar program and includes many other sizable installations underway or about to get underway.

Voters may get a chance to decide on spending $500 million for highways during the next five years by bond issue. They may also get a chance to vote bonuses for veterans—an $80 million item which will probably be financed from cigarette taxes. Both subjects are under consideration in the legislature for reference to the people.

The state has already approved a bond issue of $99,800,000 to pay for the Mackinac Straits Bridge. This venture is to be paid back by revenue from toll charges.

State Residents have an important job to do in addition to determining the tax structure under which industry must function, say ardent boosters of Michigan.

That's where Michigan Week comes in. Michigan Week is concerned with a healthy economic atmosphere that can be created by a general understanding of the state's economic machinery.

Importance of the "atmosphere" was outlined by Michigan Week's chairman Jay D. Runkle, when he introduced the program to a group of newspaper people. Now days when an industry is looking for a new location they check to see whether there is the proper type environment for their people and their plant. We want to help every community develop that kind of human atmosphere which will provide favorable conditions for economic growth.

Residents should hear about Michigan Week from local groups in this community. Organizations of every type are taking active part in the program. The list includes church, PTA, veteran, labor, business, industry and civic groups.

Schools will acquaint the state's youth with the observance through channels directed from the department of public instruction at Lansing.

Important point in the plan is to provide a state-wide opportunity for Michigan people to become more conscious and appreciative of the state's economic factors: its resources, industry and commerce; its problems and opportunities.

Some well known citizens are shaping the program. Sponsor of Michigan Week is a non-profit corporation devoted to the state's improvement called Greater Michigan, Inc. The president is Walter L. Cislser, who is also president of Detroit Edison Co. Chairman of the Michigan Week Committee is Mr. Runkle, general manager of Detroit's Crowley Milner & Co. Serving with him are 28 civic leaders from every field of society, representing all parts of the state.

They hope to make every person living in Michigan a salesman for his area. Direct result, the hope is, will be the desired atmosphere in Michigan for economic development.

Celebrations will be controlled in your area by a committee now being set up on a county basis. Four to six people will act as a clearing point for plans coming out of the state committee. They will decide the best way to apply the general idea in their own communities.

In most cases the committee will consist of the county school superintendent, county agricultural agent, a chamber of commerce secretary and the newspaper publisher in the county. Much of the work at the state level is handled through the Michigan Economic Development Department and its director, Don C. Weeks.

Specific promotions are suggested to fit the needs for every group from agricultural to youth organizations. They include programs, contests, pageants, displays, special editions of newspapers and recreational events.

Any man who can keep up appearances and keep down expenses while still wearing a smile may be classed this day and time as a success.

It appears the American people are divided into two great classes: those who think they are as good as anybody and those who think they are better.

By Les Wilson

In our effort to touch on just about all phases of photography in this column, we would like to take a quick look at the field of architectural photography. Although his work is used in varying amounts by home developers, designers, ad agencies and many concerns whose products are designed for home, business and industrial use, the problems of the architectural photographer are as little appreciated as those of an orchid grower at the North Pole.

This art is pretty much one of perspective and focus. A judicious use of angles is a necessary tool to provide the feeling a picture may require. Interior work often poses the problem of sufficient space to compose the picture well, and pleasing proportions and masses are a headache to be coped with.

The press camera is ideally suited to this type of work as it boasts the swings and tilts necessary to control focus and perspective.

Whether you are a professional taking perspective shots, or an amateur taking pictures of Aunt Mary, we have just the equipment you need. Come to THE PHOTOGRAPHIC CENTER and, after your first roll of film, you'll SEE THE DIFFERENCE! Remember too that we also do EXPERT CAMERA REPAIRING.

Orange Sponge Cake

Each of the members of the Floyd Reddeman family of 325 Blunk has his favorite cake, but the one that appeals to Mr. and Mrs. Reddeman is this recipe for orange sponge cake. In fact it is the preferred birthday cake for Mr. Reddeman.

Orange Sponge Cake
3 eggs
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 cup granulated sugar
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
1/3 cup orange juice
1 1/4 cup pastry flour
1 1/2 teaspoon double action baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt

Separate eggs. Beat whites and cream of tartar until stiff and add yolks one at a time, beating well before the addition of yolks. Add sugar gradually, still beating with egg beater. Remove beater. Add grated rind and orange juice. Fold in flour sifted with baking powder and salt. Bake in two layer cake pans in moderate oven at 350 degrees for 25 minutes.

Orange Cream Filling
1/4 cup sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
1/2 cup orange juice
1 egg yolk
2 teaspoons butter
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Put sugar, flour and salt in top of double boiler and mix; add orange rind and juice. Add butter and egg yolk; cook until smooth and thick. Remove from fire and add lemon juice. Spread between layers.

Mrs. Floyd Reddeman spreads the filling on the first layer of her orange sponge cake.

Frosting
2 egg whites, unbeaten
1 1/2 cups sugar
5 tablespoons cold water
1 1/2 teaspoons light corn syrup
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice

Put egg whites, sugar, water and corn syrup in upper part of double boiler. Beat with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed.

Place over rapidly boiling water and beat constantly with rotary beater, cooking for seven minutes or until frosting stands in peaks. Remove from fire and add vanilla and beat until thick enough to spread. Frost the cake. Sprinkle with small amount of grated orange rind.

Mrs. Reddeman said that those who prefer may sprinkle the cake with powdered sugar in place of the frosting.

Lauds Chamber for Work In Successful X-ray Drive

A letter commending the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce for its efforts in promoting the successful chest x-ray campaign has been received by the Chamber secretary, Nat Sibbold, from the Tuberculosis and Health society.

Attendance in the 1954 campaign more than tripled as compared to the previous drive held here two years ago. According to the final report, a total of 9,209 persons received the x-rays in the campaign which ended here February 19. Of these, 2,732 were given in the community and 6,477 in industry.

"A major share of the success of this year's program," the letter stated, "is due to the wise and careful selection of the over-all chairman as well as committee chairmen, which were recruited through the membership of the Chamber of Commerce."

"Plymouth residents can well be proud of the fact," the letter continued, "that 9,209 adults participated in this important health program, by having their chest x-rays taken between January 5 and February 19."

Sam Hudson of Evans Products served as general chairman of this year's drive. Working with him were: Mrs. Ralph Lorenz, home calls chairman for Plymouth township; Mrs. Gladys Tillotson, home calls chairman for the city; Mrs. Mowry Arnold, chairman of registration; Mrs. Mary Strassen, Plymouth schools activities chairman.

Others were: Dean Sison of Michigan Bell, publicity chairman; Walter Rensel of Blunks, retail merchants activities; and Nat Sibbold who coordinated the campaign for the Chamber. L. P. McGuire was industrial chairman.

Raab, Courte Get Ovation At Symphony Performance

The Plymouth Symphony orchestra turned in another successful concert before a near capacity crowd in the high school auditorium last Sunday. The audience thrilled to the work of Robert Courte, solo violinist, and Emil Raab, solo violist, and were called back several times to take their bows.

This fifth concert of the current season began with a work specially commissioned by the Symphony Society for performance at this concert. The first performance of this work, "Divertimento for Wind Instruments" by Will Gay Bottje, was beautifully presented by the local orchestra.

Raab and Courte took the limelight as solists with the "Sinfonia Concertante for Violin and Viola" by Mozart. Both men were on tour with the Stanley Quartet of the University of Michigan when this concert engagement came up, so flew back from the East to play with the Plymouth Symphony.

Courte, a world-renowned violinist, is a native of Belgium, having received his musical training in Brussels. He toured for many years with the Paganini String Quartet before taking up his present position on the University of Michigan faculty.

Raab, who also serves on the university faculty, is a graduate of the National Orchestra' association of New York and of the University of Michigan. Climaxing the recent concert was the performance of "Harold in Italy" by Berlioz. Robert Courte again appeared as soloist for the Berlioz symphony. The four movements, "Harold in the Mountains," "March of the Pilgrims," "Serenade" and "Orgy of the Brigands" were performed with excellence bringing the concert to a stirring climax.

Upstairs - Downstairs ALL AROUND THE HOME Try Brunswick Beans

A touch of the southland will brighten a cold winter evening. Garden fresh baby limas simmered gently with tomatoes, corn, onion and seasonings will go well with spareribs, pork chops or good old southern fried chicken! A colorful dish and so easy to serve—and you have three delicious vegetables all in one dish!

1 package frozen green baby lima beans
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups stewed tomatoes
1 cup cooked frozen cut corn
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion salt, pepper, and Worcestershire sauce to taste.

Drop solidly frozen green baby lima beans into 1 cup boiling water with 1 teaspoon salt. Bring rapidly to second boil. Cover. Cook about 18 minutes or until beans are tender. Drain. Combine with tomatoes, corn and the 2 tablespoons of onions which have been slowly browned in butter. Simmer gently a few minutes to blend flavors. Season rather highly with salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Serves 3 to 4.

All of the raw materials that are used in the making of fine American handmade glass are found in the United States.

Select Foods That You Like When Dieting

The current interest in overweight should lead to public health improvement. Diseases of the heart, cancer and diseases of blood vessels, which are the three leading causes of death in the United States, are closely related to nutrition. An excessive intake of calories, or more food than the body burns, is associated with the increase and the severity of these diseases. For the senior citizen the person over 60, the relation of diet to health becomes more important as the life span is extended.

A good reducing diet for young and senior citizen alike should include a variety of foods from the basic food groups. These foods can be ones the individual or family consider normal and well-liked. When familiar foods are eaten, the weight adjustment is more likely to be permanent and satisfying.

The daily food essentials are milk; green and yellow vegetables; citrus and other fruit; eggs; meat, fish, poultry or cheese; cereal and bread; and fats. Some of these essentials can be eaten in unlimited quantities because they are very low in calorie count; others must be eaten in limited amount because they are fattening. The bathroom scale can be your calorie-counter. If you weigh more than your normal poundage, you are probably eating too much sugar, fat, fried foods, rich gravies and sauces; or you are eating second helpings or snacks of a high-calorie count.

In planning menus around the daily food essentials, start with a good breakfast. If you have a skimpy breakfast, it is more difficult to stay within bounds at other meals and certain food essentials may be skipped all together.

A half hour before mealtime to allay the feeling of hunger, take an envelope of unflavored gelatin in a glass of fruit juice, skim milk, water or in hot bouillon. Just stir the gelatin into the cold liquid. For the bouillon, add the envelope of gelatin and bouillon cube to ¾ cup of water over low heat to serving temperature. This unflavored gelatin drink before meals will take the edge off appetite and supply protein in a low-calorie way.

To appease the desire for butter on toast, put a soft cooked or poached egg over toast. Because of the fat content of the egg yolk you will not be conscious of the lack of butter. Use vinegar, lemon juice or tomato juice in low-calorie dressing on salads. Season vegetables with herbs or spices or Tabasco if you need to whet your appetite to enjoy vegetables.

Thrifty Dish Teams Lamb Shanks - Rice

When looking for something new and different to serve your family choose lamb shanks. Slow cooking in moisture makes these individual servings of lamb tender and tasty.

Here is how to prepare them in a casserole with rice. Brown the shanks in lard or drippings. Do this slowly and thoroughly so they will retain their well browned color after the liquid is added. Add 2 cups of water to the meat and season with salt and pepper. Let the meat cook covered for about 1 ½ hours or until tender. Keep the meat at the simmering stage, below boiling, until the meat is tender.

Next, remove the meat from the broth. When the shanks are cool enough to handle, remove bones. In the meantime, cook ¾ pound of rice in the lamb broth, adding water as necessary. When tender, drain the rice, saving broth. Add ½ cup chopped celery and place in a baking dish. Add gravy made by thickening the remaining lamb broth. Place lamb shanks on top. Heat thoroughly in a slow oven (300° F.).

So Easy . . . So Good Meal

Have you discovered the magic of casserole cooking? This tantalizing flavor-blend of pork chop, condensed cream of chicken, or mushroom soup, with a juicy pork chop for each member of the family is an excellent example. It's the modern, easy-way to get a meal and what is more it's a penny saver. Check the ingredients needed to make flavorful soups for baked casserole dishes, and see the saving when condensed soups are used for the sauce.

Pork Chop Corn Bake

1 can condensed cream of chicken, or mushroom soup
2 12-oz. cans whole kernel corn
4 pork chops (½ inch thick)
Salt and pepper
2 bay leaves, or onion slices
Combine soup and corn in a baking dish. Sprinkle pork chops with salt and pepper. Arrange on top of the soup-corn mixture, placing a half bay leaf under each chop. Bake covered in a slow oven (325° F.) about 1 hour. Uncover and continue to bake about 15 minutes until chops are brown. Four servings.
TRY using drained canned peas, mixed vegetables, or green or wax beans instead of corn.

Slow Cooking Is Good Rule When You Braise Beef Steak

With abundant supplies of beef coming to market, wise homemakers are including the many different cuts of beef in their menus often. Braised beef steak, tender and golden brown, is sure to be one of the family favorites. Here is how to prepare the perfect braised steak.

First of all, dredge the meat with seasoned flour. Then place the meat in a heavy frying-pan with two or three tablespoons of lard or drippings. Brown the meat thoroughly on both sides. Next, add a small amount of liquid, starting with about ¼ cup. Then cover the meat and let it cook slowly until tender.

From the time the liquid is added until the meat is cooked, it is highly important that the temperature be kept low. This is in order to keep the meat at the simmering stage, not boiling. Slow cooking is important from both an economic and flavor standpoint. When cooked at a low temperature, there is less meat shrinkage, meaning more meat to serve. Likewise, when cooked slowly the meat is more flavorful and more attractive to serve.

For a tossed fruit salad, combine pears, apple cubes, banana slices, pineapple cubes and crisp salad greens. Toss lightly with mayonnaise. Sprinkle with toasted almonds.

This New Approach Will Bring Beautiful Flower Arrangements

Make the most of cut flowers by arranging them with imagination; and by showing them in interesting containers. A famous expert on flower arranging suggests this new idea: use two or three unrelated flower shapes, such as field daisies and bachelor's buttons. Let the stems become a part of the decoration by placing the whole thing in a large clear glass vase or pitcher. The stems, visible through the glass, give a balance to the flowers.

A small bouquet of garden flowers has a Victorian charm. This is very appealing in a glass vase of fine quality. Select one of the beautiful clear colors in which American handmade glassware is being made today. Even a few stray flowering branches, such as apple, peach or dogwood become important if handled with understanding. Fan them out upright in a shallow glass holder by means of a wire or mesh holder. On the table at the base of the bowl, arrange some seashells and a single amethyst glass goblet. The pale coloring of flowers and shells combining with the beautiful, jewel-like emethyst of the hand-made American glass will form a lovely still-life picture.

The first step is to make sure that the color of the bouquet is at peace with the colors of the background of your room. In a room whose walls or chief color accents is Williamsburg green almost any color flower may be chosen.

A good rule to follow in selecting flowers is to keep bouquets simple if there are patterned wallpapers; white pale, delicate walls enhance Victorian bouquets and color harmonies. Many of today's homes have white painted walls, and are modern in mood and furnishings. For these, choose a dramatic splashing of reds or deep purples for flower tones.

One of the most versatile of flower arrangements for any type luncheon or buffet party is a piece of driftwood with white or colored candles stuck in it with nails. Arrange dried grasses, bronze or green foliage which can be gotten at the florists', around the edges, and place on each side a smoky chartreuse tumbler of American handmade glass. Fill these with a small bouquet of button chrysanthemums in harmonizing shades.

Another successful centerpiece, for a dinner party, would be a crescent design of carnations and snapdragons in a low container of clear, crystal glass.

For any occasion, a delightful flower arrangement mixes blue cornflowers, pale pink larkspur and deep pink aster in the stark white of a milk glass spoon holder.

In any event, make sure that the glass you are using is handmade and is beautiful in itself, to make part of your color harmony. The simplest arrangements may prove exceptionally enchanting, if done with harmonizing effects.

Helpful Hints Concerning Building, Remodeling, Repairing & Redecorating

THIS COLONIAL FIREPLACE was one of the features added during the complete remodeling of the home of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Foust at 9072 South Main street. A large living room was made by knocking out the partition between a bedroom and the original living room, thus lengthening it considerably. The fireplace was put in at the end of the room, formerly the bedroom, with paneling of redwood painted white for the Colonial look. Architect for the remodeling was Byron Becker, while Dan Mills was the contractor. The Foust children shown here are, left to right, Brian, Carol and Craig.

Handyman Hints On Successful Paneling Of Basement Recreation Room Explained

The most difficult part of paneling a basement room becomes easy when the home handyman learns how to fasten studs and nailing strips to the cinderblock or concrete foundation walls. Once the basic framework is provided, the rest of the job consists only of fastening the panels in place.

How to nail to concrete or cinderblock? The answer lies in the use of cut nails, blunt-pointed and case hardened. They smash their way through the foundation walls, their square sides providing holding power that is not possible with ordinary wire nails, which couldn't be pounded into the concrete in the first place. These nails are now available at hardware stores and building supply dealers.

In placing the studs or verticle 2x4's against the wall, the overhead basement joist is the starting point. The studs are nailed to the joists, as well as to the wall. Since basement walls, particularly in older homes, were not originally designed to carry wood paneling, there may be slight bulges which will complicate the job a little bit, but not much. Ideally, if walls were perfect, the handyman would have only to place his 2x4's flush against the wall. But to be sure of a straight finished panel side wall, it is necessary to provide straight line nailing strips. Measure out two inches from the wall on each end joist, a nail at the 2-inch marks, and stretch a string along the bottom of the joists, from nail to nail. If the wall is straight all along, there will be just room enough between the string and the wall to place a 2x4 snugly. However, if there is any appreciable bulge in the wall, the string may have to be moved out to allow a 2 x 4 to be placed at this point. This provides the new location of the string line. When "furring" strips are of 1x3 material. These are nailed to the studs, using ordinary wire nails. When full-length wood paneling is to be used, only three nailing strips are necessary for the average basement height—one at the floor, one against the joists, and one in the middle to prevent sag.

The placement of the studs and nailing strips as described above allows an air space behind the paneling. If the walls are damp, or inclined to collect condensation water, small air vents, top and bottom, will provide circulation of air and help reduce the moisture.

As for the panels themselves; here the handyman has a wide choice of wood, depending upon the effect he wishes to produce. Any well finished wood panel has a pleasing appearance. All improve with age. Waxing or varnishing or painting are subject to the home-owner's choice.

Before the panels are put in place, they should be stored in the basement, with the heat turned on, until they season to normal basement temperature and moisture content. This will prevent shrinking in place. Your lumber dealer when he supplies you with the wood will be able to give you first hand advice as to seasoning.

Warm Closets Favored Dining Spots for Moths

The favored dining spots of clothes moths during their larvae stage are warm, dark closets where they can feast on woolens and furs. It is estimated that before reaching adulthood, the insects consume about 11 times their final weight. Newly hatched larvae, however, become paralyzed and die of starvation when exposed to the fumes of cedarwood oil. That explains the effectiveness of cedar closets in protecting garments against moth damage.

Baseboards, 2x4's, 2x2's, moulding strips and the like are sold by the lineal feet. Most other lumber is sold by the board foot, which is a square foot or its equivalent one inch thick.

You will buy nails by the pound. Two-penny nails are one inch long. Sizes progress by quarter inches up to the 10-penny size, which is three inches long. Larger sizes are: 12-penny, 3 1/2 inches; 16-penny, 3 3/4 inches; 20-penny, 4 inches; and 30-penny, 4 1/2 inches.

Asbestos-cement board, wallboards and other panel materials are sold by the square foot. Standard size panels usually are 4x8 feet. Bat, blanket and board insulations also are on a square foot sales basis.

Glassmaking in the United States began at Jamestown, Virginia, in 1908, a little more than a year after the first English colonists arrived. Glass was our first, and today continues to be our leading handmade industry.

a 2 x 4 must be placed where the wall is slightly concave it may be necessary to place thin strips or "shims" between the 2 x 4 and the wall.

The 2 x 4 studs, extending from the side of the joists to the basement floor are then nailed securely to the wall, using the bluntpointed nails.

How to Order Materials When Building A New Home

When buying materials for home improvements or workshop projects it's a good idea to know how to order them. Being familiar with the proper terms will save time and avert mistakes.

Roofing and siding materials, such as asbestos-cement shingles, are ordered by the square. A square of material will provide coverage for 100 square feet of area. That includes an allowance for overlapping the shingles in accordance with the manufacturer's instructions.

Concrete is purchased by the cubic yard. Remember there are 27 cubic feet in a cubic yard.

Hardwood flooring is sold by the board foot, with the price usually quoted in terms of 1,000 board feet. Footage is figured on the width of strips before they are tongued and grooved, so an additional amount over the actual floor size must be ordered. For 2 1/2" strips, the most common size, order an extra 33 1/3 per cent, plus 5 per cent more for waste.

like ball pen hammers can also produce an embossed design. An etched pattern can be achieved chemically by blocking out the surface you wish to remain shiny with "T" asphaltum or black stove polish, and then etching with muriatic acid and water or household lye. The aluminum can also be painted, enameled or lacquered if the surface is cleaned first.

The number of projects presented by the Do-It-Yourself Aluminum is vast. Some of these things you could make quite easily are: fish landing net, spice rack, fishing rod case, dog house, occasional table, ash trays, lamp shades, lawn chairs, tool boxes, and many other things. Actually the possibilities are endless.

It is particularly important, if you are going to use your own design, that you plan it out on paper or cardboard before-hand. These can be bent and folded into the desired pattern and then you can use it to lay out the actual project on aluminum. A pencil, crayon or sharp nail can be used for marking.

Don't permit paint to cover more than half the length of the bristles when dipping your paint brush, says the National Bureau of Standards. Deeper dipping wastes paint and may ruin a good brush by permitting hardened paint to accumulate in the heel, according to the Bureau's Circular 489.

Window Shopping With Sue

A new product over at Eger-Jackson's should set the family handy man's mind to racing—it's Do-It-Yourself Aluminum, a product of the Reynolds Metals company. You'll find that you can make a multitude of things with the aluminum and hand or power tools.

The Do-It-Yourself Aluminum is softer than tool steel, so all ordinary hand tools can be applied to it in the same way as to materials classified as "wood." For example, an ordinary wood plane is suitable for planing the edges for the aluminum sheet, bar or angle stock. Sandpaper, emery paper and steel wool may be used to smooth or to produce novelty surface effects as well.

There are all kinds of different effects that can be achieved with the aluminum. A rolled edge can be achieved, for instance, by sawing a slot lengthwise in a dowel rod or broom handle of desired size. Then insert the sheet in the slot and wrap around by hand.

Or you can select a design which you wish to appear on the aluminum and rub it with sandpaper, or other abrasives. Tools can be used for marking.

Pass-Through Saves Time

A pass-through between the kitchen and the dining area saves many dozens of steps a day in serving meals. The pass-through illustrated here has a convenient hanging cupboard above the usual counter. All the dishes and silver needed for a meal can be laid on the counter from the kitchen side and then can be easily reached from the dining room side later. A hanging cupboard of this type can have doors on both sides.

Furniture Best Away From Heat
Furniture is greatly affected by the atmosphere of a room. Wooden pieces placed near a radiator will dry out and shrink, and eventually the joints will loosen. On the other hand, pieces kept in a damp room will buckle and swell. The only way to prevent either of these conditions is to control the heat, cold and humidity of a room.
Oil finishes on furniture should be renewed once a year to counteract the drying effect of atmosphere. It is also wise to oil woods from time to time within the year, using an oil dust-cloth.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Eating for Health and Beauty

You cannot keep beauty long if you break the laws of health, even though nature bestowed it upon you at birth.

In order that creams and powders may do effective work, they must have as a foundation a good skin. The hair must be glossy, the eyes sparkling and the teeth clean and white. The person must be neat and well-groomed.

Above all no one can possess a charming personality who is not kind, unselfish and thoughtful. Goodness is the crowning glory that cannot be worn as a garment to be put off and on at will. Pretense never deceives anyone. The counterfeit will always be discovered, and disgust will take the place of admiration.

Three things are necessary for the beauty-seeker — plenty of sleep, sufficient exercises and the right diet.

The list requires knowledge which you may acquire by earnest study. It is most unfortunate, even tragic, that the American diet has been so denatured and devitalized by million processes that most of the calcium, vitamins, and minerals have been removed from our breads and cereals.

For example, people are paying large prices for vitamins in pills and tablets, because they contain vitamins that are lacking in many foods besides the white flour, bread, and polished rice that constitute such a large part of their diet.

True the claim is made that some vitamins are put back into the flour. This, they say, makes fortified bread, but you'd better beware. It is much safer to eat bread of all kinds in which the whole grains have been merely ground up, and from which nothing has been removed, than to risk making bread from which practically everything has been taken except starch, even though the claim is made that some vitamins have been added to the flour. Why not do your cooking with whole wheat flour that contains the proteins, the minerals

Social Security Payments Due By March 15

While most Plymouth taxpayers recognize March 15 as the deadline day for filing of income taxes, it is also the day to pay social security taxes for people who are in business for themselves.

According to Harry Baltuck manager of the Detroit-Northwest social security office which serves Plymouth, Northville, Livonia and northwest Detroit, many calls have been received lately from self-employed persons asking about this tax, so he is passing along a few essential facts about social security as it pertains to them.

The main points Baltuck brings out are:

1. A two and one-fourth per cent tax on net earnings up to $3,600 must be paid at the same time as the final 1953 income tax report is filed, no later than March 15.
2. The report will be made on "Schedule C" which is available in offices of the Director of Internal Revenue.
3. If the net earnings are not at least $400, make no report.
4. People who pay the tax will be building social security old-age and survivors benefits for themselves just as people employed in jobs covered by social security have for years.
5. You will need a personal social security account number. If you do not have an account card already, call your social security office.
6. There are some occupations which are not covered by the social security law. If in doubt as to whether or not your business is excluded, contact the social security office for more information. It is located at 14600 Grand River, Detroit 27, Michigan.

Plymouth One of 20,000 Nation's Cities Observing World Prayer Day

When the united church women of Plymouth attend the World Day of Prayer program tomorrow night at the Salvation Army Citadel, they will represent just one of the 20,000 United States communities joining in the prayer for world peace.

The prayers will rise in more than 100 countries around the world and in that many languages and dialects. They will ask that the "churches speak the word of healing to this troubled world," that the United Nations may "be given the grace to work together," and that the "leaders of the nations around the world may be given wisdom to work for peace."

The Friday evening service will start at 8 p.m. in the Citadel. Speaking will be the Reverend Mrs. Hazel Mason, missionary to South Africa.

The World Day of Prayer, held on the first Friday in Lent each year, is an observance that dates back to 1887, when a Presbyterian woman in Boston called for a nationwide day of prayer for home missions.

Today the World Day of Prayer is observed by people of almost every Christian church around the globe. It is sponsored in this country by the United Church Women, a general department of the national Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and by state and local councils of church women and special prayer groups across the country.

Services in this country are held in churches, schools, hospitals, and other institutions; in fields where migratory farm workers are going out to pick the crops; in trailer camps spread around new defense installations. The day itself is marked in many places by proclamations from mayors and governors, by the ringing of church bells and the closing of business establishments, and sometimes by public prayer in streets and square.

The Day of Prayer takes on deep meaning; in the city of Hiroshima, where hundreds of high school girls pray that no one would suffer again as their city had suffered; in orphanages and shelters in Korea, where the prayer is for peace and a rebuilt country; in a leper village in the Belgian Congo, where a crippled hand turns the pages of the service, even behind the Iron Curtain, people gather for prayer in Czechoslovakia and East Germany.

The service, written each year in a different country, is adopted and translated for use in each area. For the blind, the service is available in Braille from the John Milton Society.

This year's service comes from India—written by a woman who is one of the new republic's leaders. She is Miss Sarah Chakko, a member of the 1,600-year-old Syrian Orthodox Church of Malabar, president of Isabella Thoburn College in Lucknow and one of the presidents of the World Council of Churches.

In addition to prayers for peace among nations, the service this year has other petitions; that in areas of racial tensions, the love of God may bring "the love of women; to help develop a woman's department in Cameroon Christian College, in French West Africa; to aid a woman's training program in the Belgian Congo; to support the American McAll Association program for nurse-evangelists in France; and to aid in developing Christian home and family life around the world.

Ready to Help "Gyped" Citizens

Members of the Community Protection Service committee of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce reminded citizens today that they are on hand to help those who are suspicious of unknown firms which sell their services or commodities in Plymouth.

Headed by Attorney J. Rusling Cutler, the committee receives about five complaints or inquiries a week from people wanting to know the reputation of a company or complain of "being gyped."

The majority of complaints are received from people answering advertisements or who purchased something through a door-to-door salesman. Only last week the committee received a complaint from a woman who had signed a promissory note for several hundred dollars for services a company was to render in securing her a particular job. She was unable to back out of the deal once signing the note.

"We're here to help citizens in these matters," Chamber Secretary Nat Sibbold said. Although the committee is not able to settle all complaints, they use all possible facilities to investigate the inquiries using current information received on advertising and rackets.

200-Horsepower Performance and priced far below it.

Illustrated is the rakish Buick CENTURY Riviera "hardtop" model.

The Look of Tomorrow is in every '54 BUICK Today
With completely new "years-away" styling — key-noted by the dream-car design of the panoramic sweep-back windshield.

Come drive the CENTURY biggest horsepower bargain of 1954!

THE invitation you see headlined there calls for action — and comparison.

For you have to see and drive the 200-horsepower CENTURY — and check its local delivered price — to know how it puts other automobiles in this Buick's dollar class on the spot.

Look for yourself — and you'll see what we mean.

Look at styling, new-day features, visibility, interior modernity, ride comfort, handling ease — we believe you will find nothing on the automotive horizon to equal the CENTURY on all counts.

But what will prove to be the most eye-opening news of all is the power buy you make in this spectacular Buick.

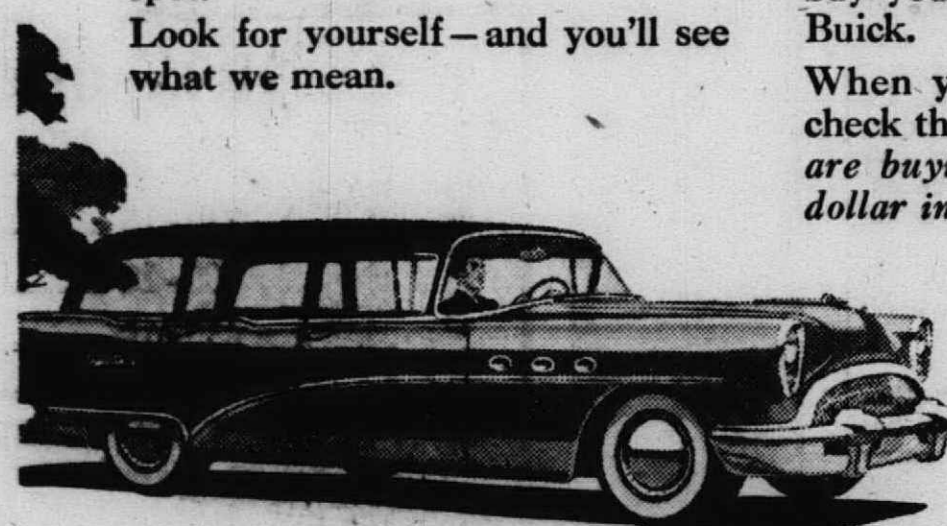

When you compare — when you check the facts — you find that you are buying more horsepower per dollar in a CENTURY than you get in any other standard-production American automobile, bar none.

And it is horsepower that gives you brilliant performance, greater economy, new safety — for here you get the highest power-to-weight ratio in all Buick history.

Why not come in and see the whole story come alive when you take the wheel of a Buick CENTURY?

We know of no better way to prove to you that this gorgeous, glamorous sweep of automobile is the power buy of the year — by far.

Now you can buy the famed Buick Estate Wagon at new low prices — for this all-new, all-steel beauty is now available in Buick's lowest-priced SPECIAL Series, and in the sensationally powered CENTURY Series.

The Weight of Public Opinion is Against the Excise Tax on Telephone Service

"Which Federal excise tax do you personally object to most?"

That question was asked recently in a public poll conducted by Opinion Research Corporation. They wanted to learn how people personally felt about Federal excise taxes. These were their findings: THE EXCISE TAX THAT INCURRED THE MOST RESENTMENT AND IRRITATION WAS THE TAX ON TELEPHONE SERVICE.

Of the people interviewed, 59% objected most to this tax. It was more objectionable than the Federal excise taxes on gasoline, automobiles, tires, railroad tickets, cigarettes, movie tickets, and many other things.

This high percentage of objection to telephone excise taxes is understandable. Each month they add 15% to your telephone bill for local service, and 25% to your bill for long distance calls costing 25 cents or more. For excise tax purposes, it's as though your telephone were a luxury, like jewelry or furs.

We recognize the Government's need for adequate income and for balancing the budget. But if Congress is to consider any excise tax reductions, we believe the excise taxes on telephone service should be among the first to get attention.

All the savings from a reduction or repeal of these taxes would go to telephone users—not to the telephone company.

THREE OF AMERICA'S best known artists are represented in a new "Work in Progress" exhibition opening March 9 at the Detroit Institute of Art. The painters are Ben Shahn, Charles Sheeler and Joe Jones. The exhibition runs through April 11. Shahn won fame for his war posters! Sheeler for painting man-made things; and Jones for interpreting nature's moods in water color landscapes.

"PETER AND THE WOLF" will be narrated by Basil Rathbone this Saturday at 11 a.m. at the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's final Young People's concert at the Masonic auditorium. Local concert goers will remember this Prokofiev's selection being done by the Plymouth Symphony orchestra at the Family Concert this year.

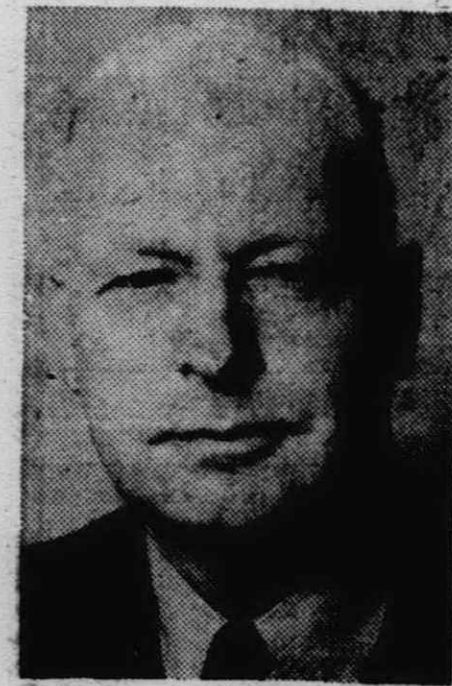

IF YOU'RE INTERESTED in art you may join the workshop at the Detroit Institute of Arts beginning this evening and running every Thursday through March. It covers introductory in clay, graphic arts, construction and design. It's for untrained and inexperienced persons and costs but $2.

FROM ART TO WRESTLING . . . and for a good cause! In April—the 10th to be exact—the local Lions club will again sponsor its annual wrestling show featuring professional grunt and groan men. Proceeds go to help the blind. Bob Erdelyi heads the program this year. More details in later issues of The Mail.

Barrett To Give Final Conservation Lecture

Final lecturer with the current conservation series will be Paul M. Barrett, extension specialist in Land Use and Conservation with Michigan State college, Wednesday, March 10. His illustrated talk on "Your Outdoor Michigan" will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

PAUL M. BARRETT

Barrett is employed by the Conservation Department as well as the college, working on programs and problems of mutual concern. His experience in Michigan, in addition to farming for five years, serving as county agricultural agent for eight years, and working for 12 years at his present job, have given him knowledge and a feeling for the land and its related resources. Miss Mildred Field, principal of Starkweather school, will introduce Barrett.

The free series of conservation lectures was offered this year for the first time through the Adult Education department and the Western Wayne County Conservation association. Public enthusiasm for the series has been evidenced by the large number of persons attending each of the lectures. Opportunities for questions or group discussions follow each meeting.

The five lectures have covered "Game Management in Michigan," "Southeastern Michigan, 10,000 Years Ago and Now," "Conservation Education; Not A Schoolhouse in Sight," "The Responsibility of the Community toward its Natural Resources," and next week's lecture on "Your Outdoor Michigan."

Experience is about the only thing in this world that you can't buy on the easy installment plan.

OUTDOOR NOTES

From The
MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Memories, visions and visions of the north country generally include such mental images as snowy wastelands, vaguely howling wolves and bitterly cold weather.

Through such scenes, bearded trappers occasionally are seen to struggle along on snowshoes, looking tiny against the vast wild backdrop of the north. Now and then, dog teams mush past, harried by lonely, Yukon-bound masters.

It is now necessary to note that, in some respects at least, those sort of mental images need considerable overhauling.

Ernest Ruecker, conservation department employe at Newberry, points out that northland travel has changed to keep pace with the gadget age.

Today in the north country, wilderness silence is often shattered by the clatter of airplanes, hopping from frozen lake surface to frozen lake surface on skis.

"Sno-Cats," light, bug-shaped, tracked vehicles rattle through forests, down steep slopes, over lakes and rivers.

Heavy tractors, equipped with extra-wide wooden plates on tread tracks, grind through deep snow hauling heavy sled trailers carrying men and equipment.

Propeller-driven sleds have become common, too; they make enough noise to raise sleeping bears, but they get mechanized northlanders where they have to go.

Of course, snowshoes and skis are still most common forms of transportation, but these methods are reserved for shorter distances while mechanical methods take the work out of longer overland journeys.

Ingenuity, as much as necessity, often must serve as the mother of invention.

Joe Kern, conservation department employe at Dodge Four state park southwest of Pontiac, saw the possibility of building an air compressor unit for use in the park garage.

Scraps of salvaged material lay at hand, so he set to work.

An old refrigerator power unit and a small water tank provided the basic necessities. Bits of pipe and some old fittings were put to work and before long the park had a new compressor unit.

It is being used to service trucks and other power tools in use at the park.

Anyone for dancing?
Certain mixed up spruce grouse in the upper peninsula don't seem to realize it's the middle of winter.

Spruce grouse are supposed to go into their act only in the springtime, but conservation field workers recently found a flock of the birds holding a ball in a snow-covered Luce county spruce thicket.

The female grouse were parked around in trees nearby to keep from getting trampled on while males provided the show. They would raise their plumage, lower their heads and then shake tail feathers rapidly back and forth to produce a "clicking" sound.

In the spring, this sort of dancing and courtship ritual entrances the female to the point where little spruce grouse result, but it's something of a wildlife question mark what it means in the middle of February.

Perhaps, like humans, they prefer to be occasionally inconsistent.

A fisherman recently speared a herring that had a seven-inch lamprey eel attached to it, Brimley state park manager David Balbough reports.

The fish was caught in the park channel off Whitefish Bay, Lake Superior.

The herring was little bigger than the eel, a somewhat unusual situation, fisheries workers say.

Ordinarily, the parasitic lamprey attaches itself to bigger fish and, most commonly, to the lake trout.

Efforts to retrieve an automobile that dropped through the ice of Wampiers Lake in W. J. Hayes state park near Onsted were continuing this week, park manager Minor Oliver reports.

The car went through the ice late last week. Three men riding in the vehicle were luckily able to free themselves as the car settled in 5½ feet of water about 1000 feet from shore.

Ice on the lake is rotting and salvage work is proving difficult.

Generally warmer weather over the state in recent days has wrecked ice fishing in many areas and made the sport dangerous in others.

Reports of cars and shanties slipping through into water below have been frequent in conservation department offices.

Saginaw Bay claimed several cars as sun and rain softened shore ice last week.

Meanwhile, fishing has been fair, with pike and perch claiming most angler attention.

Two major and 40 minor wild-life flooding projects were completed in Michigan last year, the conservation department reports.

The projects were designed to improve habitat for wild-fowl fish, muskrats and other types of swamp and marsh-dwelling creatures.

The two major projects were on the Rainy River in Montmorency county and on Mud Creek in Marquette county.

The Rainy River project includes a dam backing up water over 285 acres. The Mud Creek dam floods 190 acres, also raises and holds the level of Mud Lake in the county.

To date, under the wildlife habitat improvement program, 93 dams have been constructed, flooding a total of 7836 acres. Twenty-six of these are major dam projects, backing up water over 7311 acres. The remaining 67 are small water impoundments flooding a total of 525 acres.

By damming and flooding areas, more water also soaks into soil to recharge ground water supplies. Erosion and siltation are reduced and flood waters are held back.

Chestmobile In Canton Township

The Wayne county Chestmobile opened its doors today for Canton township citizens.

Employees of the Trilex corporation, Yost road, received their x-rays from 3 to 9 p.m. On Friday the Chestmobile will be moved to the township hall on Canton Center road at Cherry Hill. Hours there will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Sponsored by the Wayne County Health and Tuberculosis society, the Chestmobile completed a month's tour of Plymouth and Plymouth township locations two weeks ago with 9,209 x-rays taken.

"What kind of a fellow is Brown?" asked Smith.

"Well," replied Jones, "if you see him carrying an umbrella you are safe in betting the owner of the rainstick is getting wet."
