Home Visited By Convicts Now Normal

All is quiet in the household of Donald and Irene Tapp, 44505 Governor Bradford road, after a weekend which brought two escaped convicts, a dozen newspaper reporters and photographers, a score of policemen and detectives and untold numbers of neighbors and friends to their home.

It all began Friday night when two Detroit House of Correction trustees, James Banks, 40, Flint, and Robert Simmons, 28, Detroit, fled from their prison farm cottage and made their way to the Tapp home in Plymouth Colony.

Set $4000 Goal For 1954 Easter Seal Campaign

A goal of $4000 for the 1954 Plymouth Easter Seal campaign conducted by local Rotarians for the Wayne Out-County Chapter, Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, was announced today by Earl West, campaign chairman.

In announcing the quota West stressed that the goal was a minimum target and hoped the citizens of Plymouth would greatly over-subscribe it to enable the Easter Seal Society to carry on its work and enable them to increase their direct services to 21 individuals in the area.

Appeal letters and sheets of Easter Seals were sent out to local residents last week. West was assisted by his committee, Charles H. Bennett, Elmer S. Anderson, Thomas Kennedy and Robert D. Willoughby.

Contributions of $3324 in last year's drive helped the chapter purchase a new station wagon which transported 274 persons to clinics and treatment centers. It made 1094 home visits to arrange for special services for crippled children.

Sixty-six persons received occupational therapy during the past twelve months. A large number will require therapy over a long period of time.

"We are providing services for more crippled children than ever before," West commented, and because of increased costs, it is necessary to raise our goal over last year.

Another appeal for funds will be made by the Rotary Anns with their annual Easter Lily sale on Saturday, April 10. The paper lilies are sold by children on the street corners on that day.

This month-long drive began March 18, and will continue through Easter Sunday, April 18. The Wayne Out-County Chapter is a unit of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults which carries on a three-point program of research, education and direct services for the benefit of cripples.

Nat Sibbold, executive secretary; and Ralph Lorenz, Chamber president. The speaker expressed his views in favor of lifting tariffs (within limitations). He had recently returned from a trip through Europe to study trade relations.

Name Community Relations Head At Burroughs

Appointment of Russell K. Creel to the newly created post of community relations supervisor for Burroughs corporation's Plymouth plant was announced today.

Burroughs has more than doubled its manufacturing facilities in Plymouth since the original plant went into operation in 1939. The number of people employed there has risen to nearly 4,000, bringing about increased responsibilities to the growing Plymouth community, a spokesman said.

Creel will be responsible for assisting plant management in carrying out public relations functions in accordance with Burroughs policies.

The new community relations supervisor joined Burroughs public relations division in 1951 as a writer and associate editor of the employee magazine. He was made editor of the magazine in 1952 and was appointed supervisor of publicity and special publications last year.

Prior to 1951 he held various positions on the advertising staff of Carboly division of General Electric company, including advertising production manager and publicity coordinator. He is a World War II veteran, having served five years in the Army in the U. S. and Europe.

Chamber Dinner Speaker Tells Value of Free Trade

Strongly urging that the United States lift most tariffs in order to maintain a "free trade," Edward Littlejohn, associate director of public relations for the Burroughs corporation, spoke to 110 members of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce Monday night.

The speaker added that when a foreign manufacturer sells his goods in America, there is no other place he can spend that money except in America. Thus looking at the entire U. S. economic picture, there is no loss, he stressed.

The meeting held in the Mayflower hotel was preceded by a dinner with Reverend Melbourne Johnson, D.D., pastor of First Methodist church, delivering the invocation.

Ralph Lorenz, president of the Chamber, opened the program with introductory remarks, while Don Burleson, vice-president of the Chamber, introduced the speaker.

Mr. Littlejohn, a native of Sydney, Australia, has served as a university lecturer, a wartime procurement officer for Australia, as Australia vice-consul in New York and third secretary of the Australian Embassy in Washington. He joined Burroughs in 1948.

Township Begins Drive for Civil Defense Workers

Movies showing the work done by the civil defense network following the tornado which devastated an area of Flint last year will be the first step in a campaign by Plymouth township to recruit civil defense workers. The films will be shown at the Plymouth Township Hall at 8 p.m. on both Monday and Tuesday evenings, according to township Civil Defense director John Miller.

The township civil defense group is seeking to enroll volunteers as block wardens, for the rescue squad, auxiliary police force and first aid workers. In order to show sufficient preparedness in the case of disaster considerably more workers are needed than have already volunteered.

The township has been divided into districts by the chief block warden, Lewis Foster. This will necessitate having both district leaders as well as many persons to act as the block wardens.

Volunteers in first aid to work under Mrs. Willard DePriest will be trained in techniques of an emergency. Both men and women are urged to enlist in this branch of the civil defense work.

Twenty-five auxiliary policemen are needed to give the emergency police force sufficient number to handle an emergency. A like number is also needed by the civil defense rescue squad.

Those attending the showing of the film will be given an opportunity to enroll as volunteers in the civil defense network. The township is working closely with the City Civil Defense office in order to achieve the maximum preparedness for the Plymouth area.

Chorus Cancels 'Requiem' Concert

Announcement was made this week that the Brahms "Requiem" will not be given as a part of the Creative Arts Festival as was originally planned. The announcement was made jointly by Civic Chorus director Fred C. Nelson and Plymouth Symphony orchestra conductor Wayne Dunlap.

The Chorus and orchestra were scheduled to perform the famous work on April 23 as an opening for the Arts Festival. Because the April 23 date conflicted with previous engagements of choral groups which were to assist the Civic Chorus, the work cannot be performed this year. Nelson stated, however, that the "Requiem" will be presented next spring by the local groups.

The season's final concert of the Plymouth Symphony orchestra, Dunlap said, will be given at the finale of the Arts Festival on Sunday, April 25. Evelyn Woods will appear as soloist.

Sets School Levy Voting For May 10

A resolution approved by the Plymouth township Board of Education has set Monday, May 10 as the day that voters in the school district will go to the poll to vote for or against two proposals which would provide additional revenue to finance salary increases, school improvements and additional construction.

Value of New Gas Well Discovery Still Not Known

What could be a major natural gas well was discovered last week on the Frank Wilson farm west of Northville, but according to a spokesman for W. C. Taggart, Big Rapids wildcat driller, the value of the new find still remains a big "IF."

Drillers have estimated that the gas well has a potential capacity of 5,000,000 cubic feet, which is considered good since gas wells rarely have a capacity of more than 8,000,000 cubic feet.

But whether the well will live up to expectations or not can only be determined when it is hooked up and produces, the spokesman said. Even then there is some doubt if the well will be usable. It must first be determined if this is the same gas which provides pressure for the existing nearby Roy LeMaster well or other potential wells in the area. If it is, state regulations will forbid tapping the gas well.

The gas find was discovered at 4,224 feet. Oil on the LeMaster farm was found 4,397 feet.

The rotary drilling rig was taken down over the weekend and is being reassembled on the LeMaster farm over another drilling site. Because of the road weight restrictions, workmen hauled the rig over fields. Drilling at the new site will begin in a day or two.

Another well being drilled near Novi by Ferguson & Ferguson and one being drilled in Salem by William Albers are both reported down to about 600 feet.

Flash Fire Hits Plant

A flash fire at Barnes-Gibson-Raymond and plenty of grass fires have kept the fire departments of Plymouth township and Plymouth busy during the past two weeks.

Township firemen quenched a fire at the Barnes-Gibson-Raymond plant Tuesday night after plant workers had used six carbon dioxide extinguishers on the blaze without results. Chief Bud Holmes said that an oil dip tank containing about 500 gallons of oil was set ablaze and carbon collected in an overhanging exhaust stack then started to burn.

Damage was confined to the stack, Chief Holmes said, and the loss is estimated at $50. It was not determined yet how the blaze started.

Township firemen answered nine other alarms during the past two weeks. Seven of the nine were grass fires, all of them last week when grass was extremely dry. Two other alarms, both minor, were due to a burned out chimney and an overheated furnace.

Plymouth Chief Robert McAllister also reports a busy season. There were three grass fires in the city last week, one of them following a run to the old Dunn Steel Products plant on Amelia street. A pile of oil-soaked metal filings had been ignited behind the building by a nearby trash fire, but no damage was recorded. A false alarm was answered Saturday.

Although the city's financial fire loss has been small yet this year, the department is running well ahead of last year in fire runs. There were a total of 39 alarms during 1953 while there have been 15 so far this year.

Search for Tenor on TV Leaves City in Confusion

Hundreds of Plymouth television viewers strained their eyes and ears last Sunday night for sight and sound of the "Pride of Plymouth," Fred Kendall, who was publicized a few hours earlier as a feature on the "Colgate Comedy Hour."

Telephone wires grew hot around the town shortly after a WWJ-TV announcer stated that Detroit's Fred Kendall would sing on the nation-wide TV program. Friends called neighbors and neighbors called relatives.

By 8 p.m. the citizenry had stationed themselves before their screens and were all ready for the show—that is, everyone except Kendall himself. Far from being in Hollywood, Fred and wife Evelyn were quietly visiting friends in a TV-less Plymouth home.

bar stools and across coffee counters, the dispute arose. "Which guy was Fred Kendall?" Many observers argued that Fred wasn't even on the show. Others argued that Fred appeared "big as life" near the end of the show singing in some type of Arab costume. Some of those believing they saw the WJR tenor were highly indignant that Fred never got a mention for his "short but splendid" performance.

Determined to end the controversy, a Plymouth Mail reporter called both Kendall and the television station. Fred categorically denied the charge made by some friends that "the rascal must have slipped out of town into the big time without letting anyone know." The radio star claimed the thing was just a big mistake.

And so it was. According to Bob Kates of the WWJ-TV promotion department, (Continued on page 6)

Dearborn Man to Head Cancer Crusade in Area

Joseph Cardinal, secretary-manager of the Dearborn Chamber of Commerce, has been appointed chairman of the 1954 Cancer Crusade of the Southeastern Michigan Division of the American Cancer Society. The Cancer Crusade will open here on April 1.

The National Crusade, held every April, which is proclaimed Cancer Control Month, will be devoted to an intensive educational campaign to inform the public of important facts about cancer.

Cardinal will head up Crusade activities in the area which includes Dearborn, Plymouth, Wayne, Garden City, Northville, Belleville, Livonia, and Redford Township.

In accepting the appointment, Cardinal said, "I am deeply aware of the important responsibility it entails. Cancer now ranks second among America's killers and the annual death toll from the disease is on the increase."

"Last year," he pointed out, "73,000 American cancer victims were saved whose cases received prompt, effective treatment. The tragedy is that 73,000 others who died, could have been saved if they had seen their doctors earlier and received adequate treatment in time."

"That is why the ACS is conducting such an intensive educational campaign to make known to everyone the seven cancer danger signals and the advisability of having yearly physical check-ups even if no cancer symptoms are suspected."

Cardinal, who has been a resident of Dearborn since 1917, served as deputy city clerk of the city for 22 years prior to accepting his present position with the Chamber of Commerce in 1951.

He is vice president of the Dearborn Community Health Council; a member of the advisory board of the Dearborn Division of the United Foundation; past-president of the Dearborn Good Cheer Club of which he has been a director for 16 years; a member of the City Beautiful Commission, the Optimist Club, Loyal Order of Moose, Pioneers Club of Dearborn, and the Dearborn Sportsman's Club.

Conferences will be held on all phases of P.T.A. work. Among those conducting these conferences will be Mrs. Wilbert West of Plymouth, assistant district director, who will hold the conference on program, publications and magazines.

A dinner will be served in the school cafeteria at 6 p.m., and the meeting will continue through the evening.

Highways Claim 126 Lives During January in State

There were 126 persons killed and 4,360 injured in 17,474 traffic accidents in Michigan during January, according to the State Police monthly report.

The number killed was 13 less than the number killed in January last year, but considerably higher than the 100 average for the same month during the seven year period of 1946-1952.

Injuries and total number of accidents exceeded all previous records for January, but this was attributed in part to more complete reporting.

The figures show, however, that while there was a nine per cent drop in deaths, 139 down to 126, injuries increased 10 per cent, or from 3,954 in 1953 to 4,360 in 1954, and accidents gained 15 per cent, or from 15,152 to 17,474.

No figures were available on travel mileage for the month and the death rate per 100 million vehicle miles.

Border Guard Home on Leave

After being stationed since September three miles from the "Iron Curtain," Calvin Becker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manford Becker, 575 Pacific, has returned home for a leave.

The border situation is now considered "good" the Plymouth youth reported. He is in the 14th armored cavalry at Badharsfeld, Germany which is a tank outfit ready for any "incident" which might occur along the border.

The border zone which Becker's outfit helps guard is nearly 200 miles long. He reports that Germans pass freely back and forth between the two zones but that persons driving into the Russian zone must pay a road use tax of 10 marks ($2.50).

Calvin arrived home March 7 after flying all the way by Air Force transport and commercial lines. He expects to leave here next month and will remain in Germany until August 1955. A 1950 graduate of Plymouth high school, Calvin has been in the Army two years.

Allen P.T.A. Sees Class in Action

A typical day in the sixth grade was demonstrated to members of the Allen elementary school Parent-Teacher association at their monthly meeting Tuesday night.

A dozen pupils of Earl T. Gibson, sixth grade teacher at Allen, sat at desks on the auditorium stage and ran through a condensed day of school.

Other activities at the meeting included a discussion of some of the present school problems and planning of the forthcoming school carnival. The carnival has been set for May 22. Members volunteered for the various committees at Tuesday's meeting.

Further planning for the cub pack to be sponsored by the P.T.A. also took place. Leonard Cole has accepted the job as cubmaster.

Feed Lawn in Spring As Frost Leaves

When frost comes out of the ground in the early spring, one of the first garden tasks should be to feed the lawn. There is a stage in the thawing process when the shrinking soil is perforated with small holes, which go deep into the ground, producing an effect often compared to a honeycomb. Plant food applied then is dissolved and carried down to the grass roots more quickly than at any other time.

A complete balanced plant food should be spread evenly over the turf, at the rate of 3 to 4 pounds for each 100 square feet. At the same time perennial borders can be given like treatment, since honeycomb soil gives the same opportunity to deliver food directly to the root area of these plants. Trees and shrubs also may be fed with the main plant food application of the season.

Commercial plant foods have an effect on plant growth when soil temperatures are still low; organic materials such as manure, sludge, and the like, must first be broken down by bacteria which do not become active until the soil warms up.

Seed to repair thin or bare spaces in the lawn can be sown on honeycomb soil; and will find cover without the top dressing which would be needed later. The making of new lawns should wait until the soil dries out sufficiently to be worked.

Alternate freezing and thawing in the spring shrinks and expands the soil, creating a heaving action which may push lawn turf upwards out of contact with the ground beneath it. If this is not corrected the sod may dry out and die. The remedy is to roll the lawn with a light roller, just heavy enough to press the sod back in contact with the soil. Do not attempt this while the sod is wet, but wait until it has dried out sufficiently.

Rolling should not be used to make the lawn level. The right way to reduce a high spot is to take up the sod, remove excess soil, rake level and replace the sod. A low spot should be filled in with soil applied beneath the sod, which is first lifted, then replaced.

Cultivation of lawns to loosen the soil and allow air and water to reach the roots requires special tools. Everything should be done by the home owner to avoid need for them.

Requests Street Name Change In Honor of Dunn Steel Founder

Consideration of three rezoning requests and a discussion on a change of name for part of Hardenberg street formed the major part of the agenda when the city planning commission met last Thursday night.

A request last-month from the Dunn Steel Products company to rename a portion of Hardenberg street in honor of the company's founder and past president, Andrew Dunn, has been under study by the planners. They had agreed that renaming of the entire street was not wanted since Hardenberg was a famous pioneer name here and the family home is still located on that street.

However, a new portion of Hardenberg was recently opened. It ran from Mill street to the new Dunn Steel Products plant on Cherry street. Mr. Dunn, now a resident of Florida, is a past member of the city planning commission and founded the Dunn Steel plant, one of the community's first big industries. The planning commission has set the final hearing on the request for April 15.

Another request was received from the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad for rezoning of their lots located north of Junction street near the railroad. The new zoning ordinance places the lots in the two-family residential area. The railroad wants light manufacturing restrictions.

The C & O request stated that they purchased the properties in 1929 for railroad purposes and that any homes in the area were built subsequent to that time.

They also argued that area adjoining to the east of the properties is zoned industrial and that the properties are the only vacant railroad lots in the city. "The only use the company has in this property are those contemplated under the industrial classification and we believe such uses will prove to be in the eventual general interest of the community as well as our company."

Five lots in the Junction street area owned by Dan Mills and Son, Plymouth builders are also under consideration. Mills submitted a petition asking that the lots be rezoned from R-2 to general industrial. Hearing on his petition was set for the next meeting.

Mrs. Blanche Richardson, operator of a rest home at 336 West Ann Arbor trail, appeared again before the commission seeking a change of her zoning from R-2 to professional residential so that she can enlarge her home. She was instructed to have plans of the proposed addition ready for the next meeting.

She Becomes Irish St. Patrick's Day

President Eisenhower became an honorary Irishman last week at the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick dinner. It came about when Howard W. Kacy, president of the Irish organization and brother of Plymouthite Mrs. Otto J. Meier of Ann Arbor road, hung a green ribbon and medal around his neck.

The event occurred at a reception in the East Room of Washington's Mayflower hotel. Kacy was seated at the President's left at the speaker's table.

The President became an "adopted member" of the society, the third President so honored in the 200 years of the organization. Kacy, on placing the ribbon around Eisenhower's neck, observed that George Washington, "also a great general" was adopted in 1781. President Truman was similarly honored in 1945.

Kacy, who resides in Washington, is vice-president of the Acacia Mutual Life Insurance company.

Theatre Guild Begins Rehearsals of Play

Rehearsals are underway for the late April presentation of "Mr. Barry's Etchings" by the Plymouth Theatre Guild. The play will be given on April 27, 28 and 29 with the local Kiwanis club as sponsor.

Directing the production again this season is William Merrill of Will-O-Way playhouse in Bloomfield Hills. The cast for the play was selected last week, the names will be announced at a later date.

Last year the Theatre Guild cooperated with Kiwanis in the presentation of "January Thaw" which met with much local success. The Guild also put on "Lo and Behold" last fall.

Sets Hearing on Permit Violations

Two charges of selling or serving intoxicants to minors will be heard next Tuesday against Rusceak's Rustic Tavern, 9779 North Territorial road, when a Department of Liquor Control board convenes in Detroit.

The Washtenaw county sheriff's department filed charges against the tavern owners last August 27 and again on November 11, according to an announcement from the hearing board. One hearing is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. and the other for 2 p.m. at the Cadillac square building.

Five other holders of liquor permits will be heard during the day on various charges.

Good Soybean Seed Supply Scarce Says Michigan State Authority

Michigan farmers who expect to grow soybeans this year should take an early delivery on their seed, because good seed is scarce.

That's advice from Leyton V. Nelson, extension farm crops specialist at Michigan State College. He points out that germination tests for Michigan certified soybean seed are all above 90 per cent, generally better than tests in most states. But the supply is limited.

He says reports of low germination in soybean seed are very common this spring. Last fall's dry weather was the cause.

The National Soybean Improvement Council suggests that those growers having an extra supply of soybeans of any of the good, recommended varieties should:

Have their seed tested for germination at once.

Handle the seed carefully during cleaning operations.

If the germination is 70 per cent or better, advertise the seed for sale. If a soybean grower expects to buy seed for his planting, he should get it done.

A list of certified soybean growers in Michigan can be obtained from the county agricultural agent or from the Michigan Crop Improvement Association, East Lansing. Growers have certified seed of Blackhawk and Hawkeye varieties available.

DO YOU KNOW?

DO YOU KNOW there is a large segment of our population which fails to comprehend the necessity of Civil Defense organization and training? These people live under the delusion we cannot be attacked because we have not been attacked in the last 140 years.

DO YOU KNOW basically Civil Defense is, a fourth arm of national defense with co-equal status with the army, navy and air force? That through the air raid warning service, the air force warns Civil Defense authorities when an attack is coming.

DO YOU KNOW that Scientists have contended that the atom bomb produces more radiation than all the radium that has ever been available to man? Some are true rays, that is they can neither be seen, felt nor can they be weighed. Others are solids and can be weighed and seen through a microscope.

DO YOU KNOW that people who have been exposed to radiation become "walking stoves" emitting radiation to all those with whom they come in contact?

DO YOU KNOW that chemical and biological warfare is simply a special pin of attack? It can be used against people, livestock, or food crops, but it could not wipe out our nation or our town if the people know the facts and work together. During a chemical or biological warfare every local citizen must know how to keep chemicals, germs, and toxins from getting on or inside the body where they cause harm. Your only sure answer is your local Civil Defense First Aid Course.

DO YOU KNOW that there are ten major volunteer services in Civil Defense, all of them vital? Warden, Fire, Police, Medical, Welfare, Engineering, Rescue-Communication, Transportation and our staff.

Macks Celebrate 50th Anniversary

The regular Wednesday evening service of the First Baptist church on March 24, was directed toward the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Mack of 439 North Mill street. The Reverend David Rieder stressed the event in his program for the evening and a special solo was sung in the couple's honor.

The Macks were married on March 23, 1904 in Delta, Ohio. They have three children, Miss Agnes Mack of Plymouth, H. Haley Mack of Chicago and Norman Mack of Birmingham, and two grandchildren. They have been Plymouth residents since 1929.

Mr. Mack is the custodian of the First Baptist church.

my P P PET PEEVE
 by Mike Bennett

DON'T be kidded by anyone. It isn't smart to have your name appear in the paper. True, it's great to know that extra dozen copies you bought will enhance your standing with any future grandchildren—but, is it worth it? Ponder the situation well before you have a baby, get a divorce, shoot someone, or inherit a million dollars.

Get your name in print and you are fair prey for "name-snippers." Have a baby, for instance, and you're flooded with mail reminding that you need: money, "for those terrific hospital bills;" Burr's Baby Food "which, under special agreement, we offer at wholesale prices; insurance policies; baby clothes and "you couldn't have timed your blessed event with our big sale any better;" insurance policies; bassinets; and insurance policies.

Shoot someone and you only get two types of letters from snippers. From those who think the victim deserved it and from those who think the victim didn't. So I am told, I haven't shot anyone since my bean shooter days.

If you're still determined to get your name in print at the first opportunity then take this advice: have a baby, shoot someone, or get a divorce before you inherit a million dollars from a distant relative. Get your name in the paper in this fashion and you find the world populated with name-snippers who are all helplessly bound with financial and family problems and therefore in excellent position to best share your sudden good fortune with you.

It's much easier to shoot someone and wait to see if the victim was popular or unpopular.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From H. V. Clark, Hot Springs, Montana: I remember over fifty years ago at Flew, Missouri, when folks in our neighborhood, including ourselves didn't bother to gather eggs except for family use.

The stores would pay two and one-half cents per dozen and that would have to be taken in trade. The kids over the countryside would take eggs to the store and accept candy in trade.

Most of the people didn't let many hens set in the chicken house, as enough hid their nests outside to keep the increase needed for the size flock they wanted to keep.

From George Tucker, Tallulah, Louisiana: I remember years ago, as a little boy in Faunsdale, Alabama, there were no iron-beam plows. All were wood except the point which was hand-made of steel. My twin brother would "drive" and I would hold the plow.

From Mrs. Sybil Fendery, Cincinnati, Ohio: I remember my childhood on a Mississippi farm when mother took two ears of corn and made two lovely dolls for twin sister and me. She left the bright colored corn silk on the cob for the hair. We were so delighted we ran down to the road and waited for the mailman to drive up in his horse and buggy so we could show the dolls to him. I also remember our large family sitting around an open fireplace, harmonizing in song.

 An announcer read a "promo" at 6:30 which was to inform viewers that Detroit's Fred Darian was to have a part in the show. The radio man mistakenly said Fred Kendall in his first mention of the appearance but two lines later named the correct Fred. The announcer said he failed to remember the slip.

Summing up the situation, one Plymouth televiewer stated that "before I ever go looking for Fred Kendall on that screen again, I'm getting a 27-inch tube. My eyes are still bloodshot from strain."

 Community Planning Group president, James Hardiman, has appointed representatives to each school P. T. A. to organize school committees. These committee members are expected to make personal contacts with voters to explain the needs of the school system.

If the two proposals are approved, the teachers, administrators and clerical help would receive their pay increases next September. The special election is being called as soon as possible in order that present teachers can know what the 1953-54 salary schedule is before they consider their new contracts. Contracts will not be issued until after the election.

Aboard the Good Ship MAYFLOWER

Arrived from Hemsted, Holland: Mr. Ted Vandenberg on his semi-yearly trip. He says that those tulip bulbs are selling so fast in this area that the landscapp should be very colorful around Plymouth this spring.

The Mayflower's skipper is busy looking over pictures and photographs of scenes from Plymouth, Massachusetts. He's also talking business with an artist who will be commissioned to do some oil paintings from these same scenes in the town of the Pilgrims. We're all speculating where these new pictures or murals will be used in the hotel. New room or some such?

Harold Masters of Utilities Line Construction Company has been on board this week while working with Harry Roberts of the local branch of that company. While here he was a guest at the fine dinner meeting of the Chamber of Commerce in the Mayflower Room Monday evening. Said he enjoyed the talk on economics very much because of verification of the facts in Philadelphia. He said some nice things about our Chamber of Commerce and Nat Sibbold, too.

Headline: "$43.60 Tax Rate Forecast for Plymouth." Don't worry—it was in the Plymouth, Massachusetts paper to which the hotel subscribes. Makes us feel pretty good that it costs less to operate our own Plymouth than theirs.

Took a couple of our hotel guests over to Northland Shopping center Sunday to do a little exploring. Said one of our guests: "In the many times I've been in Plymouth I never had to walk so far from parking to a store as that." Very kind words from a most welcome visitor.

 Recapture of the convicts in a Toledo hotel meant more work for the Tapps. At 9 a.m. Tuesday they had to appear at the Detroit police headquarters and identify the fugitives in a "line-up." They will also have to be present at the arraignment and trial of the pair who are being charged with armed robbery.

Simmons was serving three to 15 years for attempted robbery while Banks was serving two to 14 years for passing worthless checks.

The convicts were quite "courteous and apologetic" the Tapps reported. When the couple was bound to the bed, Simmons placed 10-day-old Joy Tapp beside her mother. Two-year-old Terry Tapp slept peacefully in a nearby room.

The escapees demanded money and clothes for their escape. They took Mr. Tapp's clothes but found only $5. Asking for whiskey, Mrs. Tapp told them that they were Methodists and didn't drink. Mr. Tapp is assistant superintendent of the Sunday school at First Methodist church here.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Tapp are natives of Belleville.

Rotarians Hear Splendid Address

Rotarians heard a very fine address last Friday presented by Dr. Harvey M. Merker, Director of Scientific Relations, of the Parke, Davis Company of Detroit. The speaker was brought to Plymouth through the efforts of Dr. Walter Hammond of this city and most local doctors were guests of the club to enjoy the program.

Dr. Merker traced the growth of medicine from about 1890 when he stated the real developments started being made that has brought all of the wonderful progress that the profession has made. He told of the various discoveries made by medical men and the peculiar ways that most of them came about. The talk proved one of the best heard before the club in recent months.

A New Englander was enjoying the wonder of California as pointed out by a native. "What beautiful grapefruit," exclaimed the easterner as they passed a citrus orchard. "Grapefruit!" replied the native sneeringly. "Why they are just small lemons."

Gazing at some huge sunflowers, the visitor asked, "And what are those enormous blossoms in that big field?" "Just dandelions," the native replied disinterestedly.

A few minutes later they came to the Los Angeles river. "Ah," said the Yankee, "I see someone's radiator is leaking."

Dunn Steel Now In New Building

Moving operations from their old plant to their new plant have been practically completed, it was announced this week by John G. Spruhan, general manager of the Dunn Steel Products company.

Dunn Steel, a division of the Townsend company, had outgrown their buildings on Amelia street and a larger and modern factory has been constructed on Cherry street, a block east of the Mill street and Starkweather avenue intersection.

Construction on the new half-million-dollar building was started last August and all manufacturing operations have now been transferred from the old building. The Amelia street building will be sold.

Spruhan said that the formal public opening of the new plant will not be held until later in the spring.

Colorama Attracts Over 250

Farmers, Average Age On Decline

The average age of Michigan farmers is going down, contrary to popular notions. A survey by E. B. Hill, Michigan State College agricultural economist, shows that the average age has declined almost one year in the past decade to 49.9 years.

Thirty-seven per cent of Michigan farmers are now under 45 years of age an increase of 6 per cent since 1940. The number of farmers over 65 has remained at the same figure since 1930.

There was some variation in the ages of farmers in the economic areas throughout the state. The western half of the Upper Peninsula had the largest proportion of farmers over 65 and was among the lowest in the number under 45.

The largest percentage of younger farmers is in the "Thumb" area of Michigan. Forty per cent of them were under 45 and had the smallest proportion over 65.

The three 10-year age groups, 35-44, 45-54, and 55-64, had each about 22 per cent of the farmers throughout the state.

According to Hill's survey, the younger farmers operate the larger farms. There may be some tie-in between age and energy says Hill, and the fact that this young group has the growing family and the large debt may be reason for their having larger farms.

The older farmers are still inclined toward the poultry farm. The average age of poultry farmers was five and one-half years above the overall average. The specialized crop farmers average the youngest in age.

AN unheralded and mostly unnoticed "shift" has been taking place in the United States since the early days of World War II. What has happened—and is still happening; our national research burden has greatly increased and the major cost shifted from industry to the federal government. President Eisenhower has indicated that this shift will continue by stating that research is "our surest promise of expanding economic opportunities."

Industry and the federal government have spent $30 billion in applied and basic research since 1941. During 1953 alone, working side by side, government, industry, and a number of non-profit institutions invested about $4 billion dollars in research. Indications are that the government alone will provide more than half that amount in each of the next two fiscal years. It goes without saying that military research accounted for the lion's share of the $30 billion spent since 1941 and will account for the majority of future expenditures.

More than half the federal funds spent for research are used to purchase the research activities of industry, while less than a third are spent at federal facilities. The rest is distributed to non-profit institutions such as colleges and universities, hospitals, and independent research groups.

Comparing the 1941 expense figures with those of 1953, we find that in 1941 the government spent $370 million and industry spent $510 million. In 1953 the government figure rose to $2.5 billion, while industry accounted for $1.4 billion.

In Our Churches

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST

10:30 Sunday morning service.
10:30 Sunday school.
Classes for pupils up to 20 years of age.
The value of humility, patience, and obedience in learning the nature of spiritual reality and in experiencing the divine healing power will be stressed at Christian Science services Sunday. The Lesson - Sermon is entitled "Reality."
The challenging definition of worship given by the prophet Micah (6:6,8) will be included in the readings from the Bible: "Wherewith shall I come before the Lord, and bow myself before the high God? shall I come before him with burnt offerings, with calves of a year old? He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?"

Among the selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be the following:
"What we most need is the prayer of fervent desire for growth in grace, expressed in patience, meekness, love and good deeds. To keep the commandments of our Master and follow his example, is our proper debt to him and the only worthy evidence of our gratitude for all that he has done. Outward worship is not of itself sufficient to express loyal and heartfelt gratitude, since he has said: 'If ye love me, keep my commandments'" (4:3).

BURIAL CLUBS

One of the earliest forms of mutual insurance in the U.S. were the "burial clubs"-associations of friends, neighbors, co-workers or other groups who banded together and through equal contributions, assured fellow members (and themselves) of dignified burial. These clubs made this possible to large numbers of persons who could not have afforded it on an individual basis.

WHAT? Up to 40 Miles a Gallon?

yes...and 40 thrills a minute when you drive it!

Home Economics Called New Field Of Bright Future for Young Women

Home economics in business is a field in which there is increasing opportunity for young women to open new frontiers, according to a new booklet published by the American Home Economics Association. Purpose of the booklet is to tell high school seniors and college students about the possibilities for business home economists and how to prepare for positions in business home economics.

"The application of home economics training to the field of business is expanding constantly," the booklet states. "As women generally control more of the buying power of the country, business becomes more and more aware of the importance of woman consumers."

"The home economist in business performs a dual role: She interprets the woman consumer and her needs to her company; and she represents her company and its products to the woman consumer."

Different sections of the booklet give descriptions of jobs in these areas—advertising, consulting, equipment, foods, home service, journalism and editorial work, public relations, radio and television, restaurant and hotel management, textiles, apparel, and home planning and furnishing.

A good basic course in home economics is the best preparation for the business career in home economics, states the booklet. In addition, special courses in the major area of interest are valuable. Personal requirements include a good appearance, physical endurance, poise and ability to work under pressure, and a sense of responsibility.

The booklet was prepared by a special committee of the home economics in business department of the American Home Economics Association under the chairmanship of Miss Mercedes A. Bates, advertising food consultant in Los Angeles. This department, which has a membership of 1710 business home economists, has as its chairman Miss Iris Davenport, editor of the woman's department of Farm and Ranch-Southern Agriculturist.

Title of the booklet is "Career Opportunities in Home Economics in Business." It may be ordered from the American Home Economics Association, 1600 Twentieth Street, N. W., Washington 9, D. C. Price of the 20-page, two-color booklet is 35 cents.

The U. S. Air Force became an independent service on September 18, 1947. Previously it was a branch of the Army known as the Army Air Force.

Kiwanians See Day Camp Films

Films of the activities of the crippled children attending the summer day camp at the Kiwanis Girl Scout Lodge last summer were shown Tuesday evening to members of the Plymouth Kiwanis club. Mrs. Les Taylor, executive secretary of the Wayne Oue-County chapter of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children narrated the films.

Mrs. Taylor described the trips to zoos, parks, ball games, etc., taken by the children by volunteer drivers and helpers. "The children look forward each year to day camp and the fun they are able to enjoy together," said Mrs. Taylor. She stated that they had formed a "Happy Friendship" club and correspond with each other during the winter months planning for day-camp days ahead.

As an added attraction to Tuesday evening's meeting the Plymouth Woman's Glee Club under the direction of Mrs. Gerald Hondorp sang several selections.

Who's New In Plymouth

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE HEARING Mommy read a story—that seems to be the combined opinion of three-year-old Nancy Fowlkes and her sister, Martha, aged two. The J. William Fowlkes family of 9415 Rocker came to Plymouth in August from Fremont, Ohio. Mr. Fowlkes is employed in Detroit as a salesman for Pocahontas Fuel. The family attends the First Methodist church here, and Mrs. Fowlkes is a member of the local P.E.O. sisterhood.

Merchants Greet Arrival of Spring

The robins aren't the only harbingers of spring here in Plymouth. . . just look in the store windows! Spring put in its official appearance last Saturday, bringing with it sunny skies, a brisk breeze and thoughts of Easter bonnets.

The appearance of garden rakes, hoes and other tools of the green thumb trade marked spring's arrival in the local stores. The thawing of the ground will soon find a lot of Plymouth's population a' digging and a' planting.

The ladies budding out in cotton dresses and straw hats is certainly as much a sign of spring as budding trees. You can't walk down Plymouth's streets without noticing the warm-weather coats, dresses and sports clothes which are on display.

Baseball and golf are not being left behind for sports equipment is again creating a lot of local enthusiasm. Spring's appearance to the golf links and tennis courts is always accompanied by a rush to the stores to see what's new in the equipment line.

Shoes that are light and airy are another indication of the new season. Local women will be prepared to step out in the quickened spring trend. And, of course, convertibles are again getting the rush at this time of year.

Not to forget that spring drags spring housecleaning along with it, the stores have stocked in supplies of cleaning fluid, paint, wallpaper, mops, rug cleaner and everything else imaginable to remove the winter grime from local homes.

This week's issue of The Plymouth Mail is helping the merchants throw open their doors to welcome spring. By porusing the features and advertisements readers can find out just how thoroughly spring has invaded the local stores. Throughout the paper are special suggestions by the merchants for spring buying. So look them over, and who knows, you might even find a cure for our local epidemic—spring fever.

Seek 7 Missing Members Of Plymouth Class of '42

The call is out for seven lost members of the Plymouth high school class of 1942. A committee is organizing a class reunion dinner dance, but seven members of the class cannot be located. The reunion is set for June 26 at 7 p.m. in the V.F.W. hall.

Missing classmates are Margaret Bellfleur, Evangeline Denson, Ina Jean Gorton, Jeanne Judd, Guy Mudge, Agnes Zimba and Bud (Dan) O'Leary. Any information about their whereabouts would be appreciated by Mrs. Lloyd Clark, phone 2889-M, or Mrs. Donald Pankow, 1802-R.

Shrub Planting Near in Plymouth

The planting season for trees and shrubs already has started in the south and is gradually moving northward. Home planting can begin wherever the ground is soft enough to dig holes to receive the plants, according to members of the American Association of Nurserymen.

Spring frosts will not damage hardy trees and shrubs, as they do annual vegetable and flower plants. Most nurserymen will tag plants for home owners right in the nursery, to be dug and delivered when the ground thaws out enough to dig them. In this way, the purchaser has a better choice of plants.

Nurseries in all parts of the country are fairly well stocked with all kinds of flowering trees and shrubs, fruit trees, roses, perennials, and broadleaved and coniferous evergreens, according to the nurserymen's association, though there are shortages of shade trees especially in the larger sizes and those contemplating such purchases should select them early. Certain types of hollies also are in rather short supply. On the whole, however, the nursery industry has kept pace with the heavy increase in demand of recent years.

One of the problems of nurserymen in recent years has been the prompt filling of orders in the concentrated spring sales season. Early ordering by some home owners not only will help solve this problem to considerable degree, the Association says, but the early purchaser will have a better selection from which to choose.

Y-Teen Club Initiates Nine New Members in Impressive Service

At the present time the Y-Teen Club is engaged in many activities which claim their attention. Nine girls became members at an impressive service last Thursday noon. At the close of the program each new member was presented with a copy of the service and a Y-Teen pin. New members are Ellean Wilton, Sue Stecker, Joanne Pankow, Judy Richwine, Joyce Cook, Dorothy Mandi, Ann Sumner and Roberta Paulson.

On the same evening both old and new members gathered at the home of Pat Lidgard for a "Song Fest". Here they learned many of the Y-Teen songs.

6B League Student Council To Hold Meetings Here

Plans are underway for a 6-B League Student Council Conference March 26, at which Plymouth will play the role of host.

Belleville, Bentley, Redford Union, Allen Park, and Trenton high schools have been invited to this annual get-together for 6-B League councils at which Principal Carvel Bentley, and School Mayor, Ty Caplin will offer greetings. Also representing Plymouth will be R. G. Lorenz, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Nat Sibbold, executive secretary of the same organization.

Committees and chairmen for the conference are as follows: program, Chuck McKenna and Dick Root with a sub-committee headed by Pieter Schiepper to conduct a tour through the school; publicity, Jane Nulty and Elaine Rich; refreshments and entertainment, Jerry Kelly and Danny Clifford; and reception, Betty Bowden.

Individual discussion groups and a general meeting will highlight the event.

Currently the local high school council is also investigating possibilities for an intra-mural sports program in which club members would participate. It is hoped that a program of this type would create interest in school organizations.

Chess Club Wins Its First Match

The Plymouth high chess club in the first match in the history of the school defeated Walled Lake high school in 6 out of 7 matches on March 16 at 7:30 in the Plymouth high school. The winners for Plymouth were Edwin Rossow, Lee Huber, Brian Oliver, Steve Veresh, John Vos, and Dave Augustine. The only loser for the meet was the club president, Charles Oliver.

Just as other Plymouth high school clubs, the Chess club has the privilege of sponsoring a dance or concessions. The members of the club are looking toward the picnic this spring.

Loren Grieves, Chess club adviser and also Plymouth high school geometry teacher, started these matches a year ago when he met Don Yerkes, mathematics instructor at Walled Lake. When the two instructors found out that they both liked chess they decided to get together and have some small tournaments where only the fun of meeting and playing the game is achieved.

Later on in the spring the Plymouth high and Walled Lake schools will have a return match.

Girls who want to go in for nursing have the opportunity to apply for several scholarships, one of which is from the Wayne University College of Nursing. This school offers four scholarships of $850 each to cover the cost of tuition and fees for the entire eight semesters of the program.

These four scholarships are to be given to young people of outstanding personal and professional promise to be admitted to the College of Nursing basic degree program in September, 1954, in order to offset the cost of the 44-month program of study in nursing.

Excellent Ratings Given to School Singing Groups

Excellent ratings were received by the high school Choir, Freshman Chorus, and Girls Glee club at McKenney Hall in Ypsilanti on Wednesday, March 17 at the District Choir and Glee Club Festival.

The Choir selections were "Onward Ye Peoples" by Sibelius and "Wonderous Cool Thou Woodland Quiet" by Brahms. "God Most Glorious" was the song sight-read by the Choir in the sight-reading room.

"Prayer" by Guion and "Charlottown" by Bryan were the pieces performed by the Freshman Chorus. In the sight-reading room the Chorus attempted to read through "Shepherds, Hark the Song".

The Girls' Glee club presented their rendition of "Song of the Brook" by Schubert and "Say Where is He Born" by Mendelssohn for the contest and read through "O Lovely Peace" in the sight-reading room.

Judges for the contest, Haydn Morgan, Maynard Klein, and Wayne Dunlap, thought Plymouth's high school vocal groups had improved a great deal since last year's performance. The sight-reading judge was Robert Hoffelt. The students left the high school at 8:30 a.m. and returned at 3:25 p.m.

Sally Morgan Wins VFW Essay Contest

Another activity that the club is planning is a volleyball tournament for all of the high school clubs. The contest will be held April 1 at 11:45.

Last Saturday, March 20, Lynn Becker's house was the scene of the Hi-Y club's party.

U.S. WORKERS INSURED

Although the United States was the last major country in the world to adopt workmen's compensation laws, it now has more workers covered and receiving larger claims than any country in the world. The first compensation law was put into effect in Germany in 1884 and it was not until 1911 that the first such law was upheld in the United States.

Kranish Has First Hand View of Behind-the-Scenes Television

Most people have had the desire at some time or other to sit in on the Arthur Godfrey show, or maybe find themselves a spot behind the scenes of the Robert Montgomery playhouse. For one Plymouthite at least, Carl Kranish, high school speech instructor, these television wonders have been opened.

It all came about when Kranish was awarded a Ford Foundation Fellowship last spring for study of educational television. A portion of his time was spent in studying theory at the University of Michigan and at Michigan State college.

Another important phase of his study is the visiting of television studios to see the actual production techniques. The first leg of his journey took him to the east and the American School Administrators convention at Atlantic City, New Jersey. A week in New York took him back stage of some of the major TV shows.

Arthur Godfrey was in Florida when Kranish was sitting in on rehearsals for the Wednesday night Godfrey show. He was particularly impressed by the scenery which costs from $3000 to $8000 a week. He added that color television will really do wonders for these sets, since they are beautifully done.

He spent a day with the Robert Montgomery show looking over the director's shoulder as he called his shots. The lights are what are terrific, Kranish commented, for their heat is so great it has the makeup running in just a few minutes. Even more of these huge lights will be needed with color television, he added.

The television stage is built with an apron and a runway for the camera extending out from it. That is why it is so easy for the cameras to turn out upon the audience.

Right now Kranish is readying for his trip out to the West coast for further study of television problems. With March 27 tentatively set as the date the Kranishes will leave, he said they would see television stations in Chicago and the Chicago Teachers college, then to the University of Illinois, St. Louis, Houston, Texas, Phoenix and Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle. On the return trip he will stop at Iowa City and Ames, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Kranish will return in time for him to enroll in the summer session at Michigan State college. On completion of his fellowship work, Kranish said he will return to Plymouth high school in his instructor capacity and will apply his experiences in his teaching. With the field of television growing bigger every day, some training can be given at the high school level, he said.

American Legion Auxiliary

All students interested in scholarships should inquire about those offered each year at this time by the American Legion Auxiliary. There are many available if your qualify. The Passage-Gayde Auxiliary has a memorial scholarship each year. Applications with five letters and a health certificate must be in before April 15.

Once again Wolverine Girls' State will be held from June 15 to 23 at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. This is one of the many programs sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. Girls' State brings to the girls a knowledge of the fundamental principals of American government through actual practice and control. We hope this will encourage them to become better citizens for the nation of tomorrow.

Civic, social and fraternal orders, as well as American Legion posts, units of the American Legion Auxiliary, and other patriotic organizations are invited to sponsor girls. Our chairman has contacted eight groups in Plymouth. The Business and Professional Women's club, B.P.O. Elks and Passage-Gayde Post Auxiliary have made reservations to sponsor girls. We hope that next year Plymouth will be able to send more girls to Girls' State. The quota for Michigan is 300 girls, and reservations must be made by May 1.

The high school has cooperated in helping us pick eligible girls. These girls must have a high sense of duty and morality, mental alertness, honesty, sportsmanship, enthusiasm, attractive personality, qualities of potential leadership and good health.

It is required that each girl attending report back to her sponsoring group and describe her experiences. Any interested group that has not been contacted may call Dorothy Knapp at 627-J.

Do not forget our rummage sale on Friday, March 26, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Saturday, March 27, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Veterans' Memorial building.

Capitol Shirts Bows To Monroe In District Play

Capitol Shirts, winner of the local Men's basketball league, bowed out of the state district tourney held in Plymouth last week as they lost to Monroe 58 to 47. Monroe gained the finals but lost to Ann Arbor in overtime. Ann Arbor will advance to the state tourney at Battle Creek this weekend.

Capitol played its opponents on even terms the first half, but a big third quarter provided the winners the punch necessary to win. Capitol was out in front at the end of the first quarter 14 to 12, but fell behind 23 to 21 at intermission time. Monroe counted 20 times in the productive third period as Capitol could only score 6 times. The locals did count 20 points in the final stanza, but could not quite make up the deficit.

Dave Parks was high for Capitol Shirts with 13 points, the others were evenly distributed with McIntyre having 8, Kissabeth 8, Jacobus 6, Pursell 6 and Levering 4. Roger Kaiser was high for the winners with 20 points. Joe Barron had 10.

Other games saw Ann Arbor romping over Roseville 82 to 38; Ann Arbor also downing Wayne 58 to 43, and then Ann Arbor winning over Monroe in an overtime game to take the district title. There was no trophy award in this tourney.

Tait's Cleaners, the runnerup in the local league this year, is currently playing in an inter-city tourney at Highland Park, and Tuesday played Hamtramck in the first round.

The Sporting News by J. G. Taylor Spink

VEECK'S L. A. MAJOR ROCKET SIZZLING

Bill Veeck, baseball's man in motion, is working slowly and quietly on a new and fabulous plan to bring major league ball to the Pacific Coast—and specifically Los Angeles—by 1956 “and not later than 1957.”

According to a story in The Sporting News, Veeck, it is said, will attempt to raise $4,000,000 from the advance sales of parking space privileges and radio and television rights for Los Angeles games. This would enable him to “go into business” in buying out Wrigley's interest in the Pacific Coast League club and satisfy any claims against the territory, and also renovate the park and increase the capacity to 55,000 by the addition of 28,000 more seats.

Veeck is reported to have received the assurance of the American League, possibly through the help of Del Webb of the Yankees, that two more clubs will be taken on, thus making it a ten-club circuit, if the A.L. agrees to place franchises in Los Angeles and San Francisco. This assurance is said to have come to The Sport Shirt, says The Sporting News, despite the fact that the American League was reported to have shelved a proposal, made during the Atlanta meetings, to expand to ten clubs.

If the elaborate plan jells according to formula, Webb eventually would take over the Los Angeles holdings, once Veeck has developed the entire setup, and with funds derived from this sale, Bill would move on to San Francisco, where he would put into operation the tenth American League franchise to comply with the stipulation that the A.L. will go west only if two cities are thrown open to it.

The Sporting News story states that even if Bill fails in his efforts to convince American League club owners to expand to ten clubs, The Sport Shirt reportedly believes that by that time he is ready to make the big move, there will be a possibility that one of the two current A.L. franchise owners, The Philadelphia Athletics and the Baltimore Orioles, will be willing to shift to the Coast.

TODAY'S YOUTHS HAVE BETTER CHANCE

“Kids have a better chance of making good in the majors today than at any time since I've been connected with baseball,” said Carl Hubbell, New York Giants' farm director and former Giant pitching great.

“But they've got to hustle,” he continued in The Sporting News. “Sheer ability isn't enough. Many youngsters are missing their big chance because they're not putting in enough time studying their profession, not thinking about how they can improve from day to day or game to game.”

“The door to the majors is wide open to the boy with ability, confidence and the right bear-down attitude.”

SIGNED 13 YEARS AGO. IN CAMP FOR FIRST TIME

Thirteen years ago Pitcher Pete Wojciechowski (Wojey) was signed by the Dodgers for their farm system. And only now is he getting a chance to make the majors with the varsity, reports The Sporting News.

Actually, Wojey hasn't been beating around the minors for those 13 years since 1941. His playing span in the lower leagues stretches over an eight-year period, for he spent nearly five years in Uncle Sam's Signal Corps.

SHORT NOTES FROM THE SPORTING NEWS

In winter calculations, The Detroit Tigers considered changing into an outfielder their 1953 “golden boy,” John Baumgartner, who opened the season at third base. The idea has been shelved and Baumgartner is working at second and third bases. He is swinging for another chance after wandering a good deal around the Detroit minor league system last year.

In an exhibition game against the Giants, which the Cleveland Indians eventually won, 23 to 10, the Tribe infield made four successive errors behind Pitcher Bob Chakales. The Tribe was leading by a large margin at the time and Chakales called his infield together for a very brief meeting, says The Sporting News. “Tell me fellows,” he asked. “Is the fix on?”

Al Rosen, the American League's most valuable player, had a case of his new canned soft drink “Beverich” delivered to the Cleveland training camp. The day it arrived, he took a swig for the benefit of photographers and then hit his first home run, a grand-slammer, says The Sporting News.

Buck Newsom's television sponsors in Baltimore are reported by The Sporting News to have told him to try to be erudite—that's what the man said—and to stay Buck Newsom.

Starkweather 5 Grade Champions

Starkweather grade school sewed up the league basketball title last week when they downed the Catholic School 35 to 5 in a one-sided ball game. This win enabled them to finish in first place two games ahead of the second place school. The winners lost only once during the season and that by a close one-point margin to Allen.

In the clincher game, Starkweather romped to a 28 to 2 first-half lead, and used substitutes the rest of the game. Wooley and Micoi were high for the winners, the former having 13 points and the latter 12. Brown had 3, Timcoe 4 and Norgrove 2. Wahn had 3 for the losers with McConnell having 2.

In another game Smith defeated Bird 24 to 7. Wayne Sparkman was high with 12 points. Six boys each had 2 points: Dick Wells, Lee Witt, Sawyer, Simpson, Schwartz and Peer. Minnot had 3 and Williams 2 for the losers with Wood and Alsboro each counting once.

Lutheran took the measure of Bird 19 to 6 with Jay Selle scoring 8 points, Randy Egloff 4, Gerac Simmons 3 and Jared Stevens and Hartloff 2 each. Mymatt, Livingston and Burden each had 2 for the losers.

In another game Allen edged Smith 25 to 17 by scoring 8 points in the final quarter. Farriell Grady was high with 12 points. Alan DePorter had 9 and Clayton Parmenter and Bob Cole 2 each. For the losers Wayne Sparkman had 8 points, Witt 5 and Simpson and Wells 2 each.

The Smith Reserves turned the tables on Allen though and blanked them 10 to 0. McLaren had 4 points to lead his mates.

Lutheran won another tight game last week as they edged Allen 10 to 9 in a well-played game. Norman Lehnhardt was high with 5 points and his free throw in the last quarter was the margin of victory. Randy Egloff had 2 as did Jay Selle; Simmons had 1 point. Art Nelson had 4 for the losers.

Final standings in this league were:

Sport Glances

Again this year two of my four picks came through as state champions in basketball. River Rouge went all the way to gain the Class B title and Lansing St. Mary's easily took the Class C crown. My other choices were upset in the semi-finals—Detroit All-Saints by Gobles, who went on to take the title, and the upset of upsets—that of Highland Park by darkhorse Muskegon Heights. Highland Park and Lansing Sexton were foremost choices by everyone before the tournament began. The Parkers had won every game this year by nearly 20 points and had not been extended, but they were behind all the way against a scrappy Muskegon Heights team, that won the Class A trophy in an overtime thriller from Flint Northern.

A capacity crowd witnessed the finals last Saturday in the afternoon and evening at East Lansing. The games were not as good as those of last year when most of the games were won by close scores. Fordson, the local regional winner, was knocked out in the very next game by Jackson, who in turn lost to Flint Northern.

One Detroit City league coach said at least four Detroit teams could have beaten any of the teams in the semi-finals and finals this year. I'll take issue with him—unless this year is an exception, I think that most Class B teams could lick the best teams in Detroit. I attended some of the championship games a couple years ago and they looked mediocre to me.

How about the rated teams in tournament play? One Detroit paper had Muskegon Heights rated as the fifth best team in the state at the end of the regular season; River Rouge was rated the third best team with Holland Christian and Ludington rated above them. Rouge beat both teams by small margins. Lansing St. Mary's was rated first all year in Class C—only two of the 20 rated teams in the state got past the regionals; six teams in the quarter-finals in Class C were not even rated during the season including Marine City who got as far as the finals. Gobles the winner in Class D was rated in eighth spot by this same paper.

Regular season and tournament basketball are quite different. A team can get fired up and go through to the state championship even though it enjoyed a mediocre season. The team with the spirit and the will to win can go a long way. Spirit displayed by St. Anthony in the quarter-final here against River Rouge nearly carried them on. Yes, spirit can make up for a lack of ability in some instances.

Every now and then one hears of some young person going astray and being sent to prison. I think that a prison sentence is a pathetic thing for a young person. Somehow, I believe that society is at fault if one in the community goes wrong—someone, somewhere could have helped that person.

People are quick to say, “Oh, that boy is headed straight for the penitentiary,” but do little about helping the situation other than giving him a gentle push.

by “Professor” Edgar Brown

Understanding human nature is a prized gift of life. More people should try to understand the other fellow. I know some who feel they might offend a person if help is offered or feel that a certain person does not want advice, but that confused person may be searching for someone to confide in and really wants help.

To me a prison sentence isn't the answer to many problems. I'd rather see society work on the causes of these things and try to remedy the situation before a prison term is needed.

Coach Keith Baughman has his kids working out in the long hall in the gymnasium preparing themselves for the track season ahead. Plymouth has had good track teams for a number of years now, and there is reason to believe that this team will be up there again. Jerry Kelly, who scored a fourth and a fifth in the two dashes in Class A competition at the state meet last year, is back to head this year's hopefuls.

Several local residents were spared future embarrassment from the Income Tax Collector by the supervisory employees at the local post office. As the payment deadline approached there were several letters mailed to the collector without stamps or return address. Through the generosity of the local group at the post office they paid for the stamps out of their own pockets thereby keeping the letters from ending up in the dead letter office in Detroit.

Doctors at Harper Hospital have a new thought in keeping patients happy as they recover from their sicknesses as a result of Neva Lovewell's visits to her ailing mother in that institution. It seems while passing time in the hospital Miss Lovewell soon became acquainted with every patient on the floor where her mother was confined, and her frequent visits to their rooms added a new ray of sunshine to their troubles. Sensing the value of such a person in the institution started the Doctors thinking about the practical value of such an addition to the hospital staff.

Acknowledgment is made to Mrs. Harold Brisbois, now of Flint, for her kind remarks in saying she thought the Plymouth Mail was as good as it ever could be while she was a resident here, but that she was surprised and pleased with the terrific improvements that had been made. Her husband did add however that when we ran pictures of local bathing beauties sitting on the edges of Florida pools we should make them larger.

Further acknowledgment is made to Mrs. Ralph Garber, a comparatively new Plymouth resident and wife of the assistant Wayne County Prosecutor who stated that The Plymouth Mail had become so welcome a visitor in their home each week that the entire family eagerly awaited its arrival, and that as unusual as it may seem, it took precedent over the Detroit papers which they had read for many, many years.

And also, to William Otwell who says he gets the best free vacations by reading about our travels and wishes we would do it more often. THAT'S a mutual feeling, too!

Right out of the kitchen of architect Byron Becker's home came this quip which is well worth mentioning. It seems young son Bub, was busy poaching an egg for his breakfast under his mother's direction to help him qualify for a Boy Scout merit badge. Dad also in the kitchen started giving his impression of how to do the job but was quickly silenced by his better half who politely said, "listen chum, you bring home the bacon... I'll fry it!"

Our mention of Church bells last week reminded Mrs. Joe Fluery of her famous brother, Walter Fuller, Detroit News Fraternal editor, whose nostalgia reached an all time high at a family reunion in Richmond, Michigan a few years ago. Just before dinner was to be served Fuller excused himself from the group to walk over to the old Richmond Congregational Church nearby where as a youth he rang the bells for many years. When dinner was ready his sister went to call him and found him clutching a rope in each hand standing in deep reminiscence with tears streaming down his face.

Roger Babson Says

BABSON DISCUSSES TRUTH ABOUT STOCK MARKET AND EMPLOYMENT

Babson Park, Fla. You have seen recent newspaper headlines: STOCK MARKET TOUCHES HIGHEST IN 25 YEARS. Yet, when many of you check your list of good stocks owned, you find this is not true as to your portfolio. Now let me tell you the truth.

DOW-JONES AVERAGES EXPLAINED

There are about 1,500 stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Of these 1,500, only 65 are taken to prepare the Dow-

Jones Averages, so-called. Furthermore, these are divided into three groups: (1) The Industrial Group containing 30 stocks; (2) The Railroad Group containing 20 stocks; and (3) The Utilities Group containing 15 stocks.

As a practical matter, most investors do not bother with the second and third groups. They look at only the Industrial Group. When the Industrial Group of 30 stocks goes up, they think the entire market of 1,500 stocks goes up. When this Industrial Group goes down, they think all the 1,500 have gone down. Hence, the newspaper headlines mentioned above, reporting the market at its "25-year high," really applied only to the Industrial Group of 30 stocks—not to the real average of the entire market—or probably not to the stocks which you own.

IS THE DOW-JONES BAROMETER FAIR?

I answer this very frankly by replying that it is unfair to act on these averages. The truth is: (1) that this Industrial Group is made up of the top big-company stocks; (2) that banks and trustees—perhaps partly to protect themselves against later suits—prefer to buy, for trusts and pension funds, the stocks of these top companies; (3) that this concentrated buying, with little selling, sends these 30 stocks up above the true market average; and (4) that the buying of Mutual Funds is a great factor in boosting the Dow Industrial Average.

Let me say something about these Mutual Funds. They are worthy of careful consideration for small investors. They give wide diversification and honest management. These Funds are being sold today by thousands of salesmen who get a commission of about 5%. When you buy the stock of a Mutual Fund, your money is probably used to buy the stocks of top industrials. Hence, thousands of salesmen are on the road indirectly selling the stocks of these 30 Industrials, for which selling they get 5%—while the rest of the $1,500 stocks are neglected, for the selling of which they would get only 1/2% of 1%.

STOCK MARKET AND EMPLOYMENT

It is unjust to say that the stock market should be a fair barometer of general business, which determines your employment. The stock market as a whole does represent the composite opinion of the business leaders of the nation. Although this composite opinion may be wrong, it is worthy of careful consideration by every reader of this newspaper.

But the Dow-Jones Industrial Average does not necessarily represent the opinion of leading businessmen as to employment conditions. Hence, it may be very unfair to you for any manufacturer, or his employment manager, to base his opinions and hence his "firing and hiring" program on the Dow-Jones Average. Manufacturers should study the average prices of all the 1,500 stocks, properly adjusted as to volume, and not depend solely on what 30 stocks indicate.

WHAT IS THE PRESENT OUTLOOK

The truth is that the stock market is very confusing to any honest employment manager today. The Dow-Jones Industrial Average indicates one thing; while the entire stock market indicates an opposite thing. Certain good stocks are now abnormally high; while other good stocks are abnormally low. Before you are fired by any employment manager, he should study other factors, rather than look solely at the stock market.

Michigan's 1954 primary election campaign is off to a roaring start.

And as usual, all of the primary fireworks are expected in the Republican contest for the gubernatorial nomination.

So far, five candidates have tossed their hats in the ring for the GOP nomination. The field may be reduced by one or possibly two contenders by the time voters go to the polls Aug. 3.

Already there are rumors that this candidate or that candidate plans to drop out of the race if the right "deal" comes along. But publicly they all say: "I'm in to the finish."

All five GOP hopefuls are "name" candidates.

They include D. Hale Brake of Stanton, Owen J. Cleary of Ypsilanti, George N. Higgins of Ferndale, Eugene C. Keyes of Dearborn and Donald S. Leonard of Detroit.

Brake, 63, has been state treasurer since 1953. Known as Michigan's "Mr. Republican," Brake has wanted to run for governor for years but held off each time in favor of someone else who party leaders believed had better chance of beating Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams. Brake will stay in the race to finish.

Cleary, 54, is completing first term as secretary of state. Active in Civil Defense during World War II, he rose to rank of brigadier general in Michigan State troops. Cleary served on state Liquor Control Commission with Williams in 1947-48 and was chosen chairman GOP State Central Committee in 1949.

Higgins, 53, has been in state legislatures since 1938 except for two years after his unsuccessful bid for Republican nomination for lieutenant governor in 1946. Author of the highly-publicized Business Receipts Tax, which is credited with getting state out of red, Higgins is only non-lawyer among candidates. He's an auto dealer.

Keyes, 63, Dearborn's doctor-dentist-lawyer, has been on state primary ballot every two years since when he first ran for lieutenant governor. He has served as state's No. 2 official—1943-44 and 1946-47—and was unsuccessful GOP primary candidate for governor in 1950 and U. S. Senator in 1952.

Leonard, 50, is making his second bid to carry the Republican banner in final election for governor. He ran second behind Fred M. Alger, Jr., in 1952 primary as best known as former State Police Commissioner. He has been Detroit Police Commissioner since 1953, headed state Civil Defense during World War II.

In many ways, this year's primary looks much like repeat of 1950 when five candidates fought for Republican gubernatorial nomination with Harry F. Kelley getting the nod.

Five-way race this year is something Republican leaders have dreaded for months because each additional candidate lessens chance of complete party unity in final campaign when it is needed.

Many Republicans contend Williams would have been bumped off in 1950 or 1952 if it had not been for multi-candidate GOP primaries in those years which split party into many factions. Wounds inflicted during primary are hard to heal.

Republican candidates have agreed not to attack each other but one or two of them may forget agreement as campaign picks up steam.

One of the reasons Gov. Williams has not announced whether he will run for U. S. senator or governor is this:

As Governor of Michigan, he gets a lot of free radio and television time each week. But he'll be forced to pay for this time the minute he becomes a candidate. It pays for him to wait until the last possible moment to toss his hat in the political arena.

Most people agree the announcement of pay raises for 24,000 state employees was poorly timed. It came just as the Legislature began consideration of appropriation bills which finance committees had labored on for two months.

Few lawmakers were happy about the prospect of juggling figures at the last minute to appropriate funds to cover the cost-of-living wage hike. They felt the Commission could have let them know about it earlier.

Actually, the announcement could easily have come at a much worse time. Originally, the Civil Service Commission planned to say nothing about the pay increase until they were approved. The Commission plans to approve the increases at its next meeting—April 8-9. The Legislature adjourns April 9.

First Aid Class To Be Offered By Civil Defense

Another first aid class co-sponsored by Plymouth and Plymouth township Civil Defense departments began this week in the City Hall. The class, taught by a Red Cross instructor from Detroit, will be held each Tuesday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. for 11 successive weeks.

Enrollment in the class will be open until the next class meeting on Tuesday evening, March 30. Anyone interested in participating may call Mrs. Willard Depriest at 1860-W, township first aid chairman, or Mrs. Lee Coolman, 1297-M, Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary civil defense chairman.

First aid instruction is open to the public, free of charge. Meetings are held in the commission room of the City Hall.

"No wonder the Communists don't like us. They're afraid we'll give everything away before they can steal it from our children."

To get good baby pictures you have to dig down deep in your bag of tricks, apply a double portion of patience and work with your fingers crossed at all times. However, there's no denying that if the results are good at all, they're sensational. You have to remember that the diaper brigade is quick to recognize whether the photographer is friendly. If the small one decides that the party behind the camera is on the right team, the reaction is quick and satisfying.

Babies are natural imitators. To generate a little animation usually, all that is necessary is to make a face or wave your arms and the baby goes along with the gag.

The use of electronic flash will "stop" the action you desire without unduly startling the subject. Also, the elimination of floods will allow a cooler, more comfortable, and longer shooting time.

If you supply the baby THE PHOTOGRAPHIC CENTER will supply the rest! We have a MOST complete stock and we give you the MOST for your money, so make it a MUST to come to 821 West Ann Arbor Trail. Remember, we also do expert CAMERA REPAIRING.

Curried Fruit Bake

Two dishes that Mrs. Carvel Bentley of 1381 Sheridan likes to serve together on a menu are curried fruit bake and ham loaf. The curried fruit, served hot, is a delicious complement to the easily made ham loaf.

Mrs. Bentley, who collects recipes as a hobby, recommends these two to local cooks for interesting new dishes to serve.

Ham Loaf

- 1 pound ground veal
- 1 pound ground smoked ham
- 4 tablespoons catsup
- 3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1 cup dry bread crumbs
- 1 can condensed mushroom soup
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper

Mix ingredients well. Place in pan and bake at 350 degrees for about one and one-half hours.

Curried Fruit Bake

- 1/3 cup butter or margarine
- 3/4 cup brown sugar, packed
- 2 teaspoons curry powder
- 1 No. 1 tall can pear halves
- 5 maraschino cherries
- 1 No. 1 tall can cling peaches or apricot halves
- 1 No. 2 can pineapple slices or chunks

Drain and dry fruit. Place in 1 1/2 quart casserole. Mix butter, sugar and curry powder together and add to fruit. Bake for one hour at 325 degrees. The curried fruit may be made the day before serving if so desired and refrigerated. Before serving reheat it in the oven. Mrs. Bentley stated that up to 4 teaspoons of curry powder may be added, depending on individual preference. This recipe will serve 12.

Mrs. Carvel Bentley prepares the curried fruit bake to serve with her ham loaf.

City Wide Event Offers Special Gift

Four giant sale days the likes of which Plymouth area shoppers haven't seen in many a moon are scheduled for next week. Beginning Wednesday, March 31 and continuing through Saturday, April 3 most of Plymouth's stores will be celebrating DOUBLE FEATURE DAYS!

Sponsored by the Retail Merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce the promotion was steered into being by a committee composed of A. Gerald Pease, Robert Beyer, Urban Holland, Earl West, Wendell Lent, Miss Margaret Dunning, Walter Rensel, Dick Papes, Ralph Rostow and Dave Gallin.

The BIG FEATURE of the DOUBLE FEATURE is an all-purpose household stool which is to be given away with the accumulation of $50 in sales slips. All the shopper has to do is save the sales slips obtained at any of the stores participating in the promotion. When a total of $50 has been attained the slips may be turned in at either Better Home Furniture & Appliances, Blunks, Inc., or Liberty Street Hardware and the shopper will be given this dandy stool. Sales slips must be dated either March 31, April 1, 2 or 3.

Of course, the other feature of the event is special bargain prices on new items for Spring. The merchants are most enthusiastic about this promotion and are going "all out" to make it a big success. A special section of The Mail will be sent to all residents of surrounding areas to encourage them to shop in Plymouth for this event. DOUBLE FEATURE banners and pennants will be displayed at each participating store. The cover page of the special section will list all the stores taking part in the promotion. This page will also appear in the regular edition of The Mail along with the advertising messages of the merchants.

Shown above is the all-purpose stool which will be given Plymouth shoppers during Double Feature Days next week. The attractive stool is strongly constructed of wrought iron with plastic covered seat and back.

AAUW Elects New Officers

Mrs. Raymond Collins was elected president of the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University women at its meeting last Thursday in the Veterans' Memorial building. Elected to assist Mrs. Collins were Mrs. Arthur Gulick, first vice-president; Mrs. William Clark, second vice-president; Mrs. William Sliger, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. John Barnes, recording secretary.

Speaker for the evening was Miss Marian Livingston, district children's consultant, who spoke on "The Legal Structure of Child Welfare." She urged all to know about their juvenile court. The program was arranged by the social studies committee with Mrs. Warren Worth as chairman.

P.E.O. NEWS

Three charter members were honored at the 18th birthday celebration of the P.E.O. Sisterhood, Chapter A. I. The meeting was held last week in the home of Mrs. Harold Curtis on South Harvey street.

Charter members who were present for the occasion were Neil Currie, Hope Hill and Helen Stevens. Piano solos were played by Jane Nulty and Susan Simmons, daughters of two of the members.

The table was graced with bouquets of Marguerites and yellow candles. A birthday cake was served.

Clothing Mingles with Books as Pupils Make Contributions for "Bundle Week"

Armloads of shoes and warm clothing were mingled with school books this week as Plymouth students brought their contributions for needy children to school during Save-the-Children "Bundle Week."

The clothing will be used to aid needy children in Korea, in the war-depleted countries of Europe and the Middle East, and in isolated rural areas of the United States. It is distributed by Save the Children Federation, a child service organization with national headquarters at the Carnegie Endowment International Center in New York City.

According to Superintendent of Schools Russell L. Isbister, the Plymouth school system goal is to provide 3,300 pounds of sturdy, warm, clean clothing. "In Europe, the children are still suffering from the ravages of war," Superintendent Isbister said. "The need in Korea is even greater. Nine million victims of Communist aggression in Korea have been torn from their homes. They have only rags in which to clothe themselves."

The superintendent pointed out that a second objective of the drive is to teach our own children a valuable lesson in the importance of thinking of others.

Most needed is warm clothing—heavy underwear, wool skirts, suits, sweaters and coats. Bundle Week clothing goes to people whose first need is warmth—not style. If the clothing is warm, even adult sizes can be cut down and gratefully used.

Children's shoes are next in importance. Even though scuffed, America's outgrown shoes still have miles of use left in them. Here again adult sizes can be used. However, high heeled women's shoes are of no use either to mothers or children in areas serviced by the Federation, and should not be included.

Superintendent Isbister stressed the importance of having all clothing gifts clean and in as good repair as possible "because these gifts will be symbols of new hope to many needy children."

Grange Gleanings

The Grange meeting of March 18 was not as well attended as it should have been. Why? Let us hope that the next one on April 1 will be much better. It will be a supper meeting as usual at 6:45 p.m.

Much planning and discussion is due just now relative to the important event which is to take place on April 23, when our Grange will observe its 80th birthday. There will be a banquet in the evening followed by a program which will be worth while, you may be sure.

The State Master, William Brake, will be present, also some of the other state officers. All members who plan to attend the banquet must send in their reservations by note or telephone to Mrs. E. C. Vealey, 1852-R, in order that the committee may know how many will come. Every family will be solicited, so be ready to respond. Come and help make this occasion a wonderful, unforgettable success.

Joe Tracy is at home from St. Joseph's hospital and is feeling much better.

Mrs. Belle Farley Murray To Address Smith P. T. A.

Mrs. Belle Farley Murray, well-known in Plymouth as a speaker on child psychology, will address members of the Smith school Parent-Teacher association at its meeting on Tuesday, March 30. The meeting, to which all interested persons are invited, will be held at the Smith school at 7:30 p.m.

A graduate of Michigan State college, Mrs. Murray also did undergraduate and graduate work at Merrill-Palmer in Detroit, where she was a teacher as well. She has been associated with the University of Michigan Extension Service since 1941, during which time she has traveled all over the state giving talks.

Her talk for the P.T.A. meeting will be based around a representative list of questions that have been turned in by the Smith school teachers. She will also be happy to discuss any questions that may be asked during the meeting itself.

Refreshments will be served.

Offer 30 Minute Meat Ideas for Career Girl

Meal planning is a bit different for the career girl or for the homemaker who works. However, she need not serve monotonous meals. Even in her limited time there are scores of dishes she can prepare. Here is a partial list of meat dishes that can be ready for the dinner table in approximately 30 minutes time.

Range-top Cooked Meats— Ground beef and lamb patties, meat balls, barbecued beef, ground beef and canned spaghetti, mock chicken legs, corned beef hash patties, canned luncheon loaf slices, Vienna sausages, creamed chipped beef, cubed steaks, sliced beef liver, pork sausage patties, sausage links, country-style sausage, frankfurters, lamb shoulder chops, lamb leg steaks, ham slice, bacon, thin beef loin steaks.

Broiler Cooked Meats— Ground beef and lamb patties; veal or lamb liver or kidneys; mixed grill of lamb patties, bacon, tomato halves; mixed grill of bacon, banana, pineapple; meat en brochette such as lamb steak cubes with mushrooms or top beef round steak cubes with bacon, pickle; beef porterhouse, t-bone, sirloin, club, rib steaks; lamb shoulder, rib or loin chops, lamb leg steaks; ham slice; bacon.

Oven Cooked Meats— Meat loaf mixture molded in muffin pans or custard cups. Prepared the evening before, then refrigerated, the following meats may be cooked or reheated in the oven in this limited time—meat casseroles, meat stews and pies, corned beef, beef short ribs, smoked shoulder butt.

Bean Dishes Good for Lent

Lent is here and often it's a problem to plan hearty main dishes for your family. Here is an old favorite, dressed up in new ways that meet Lenten requirements and make hearty, well-balanced dishes.

BEAN NESTS

Cut circle 2 inches in diameter from top crust of bun. Hollow center and make nest large enough to hold 1/4 cup baked beans. Break an egg on top of beans, season with salt and pepper. Place bun on baking sheet and bake in moderate oven (350°) 40 minutes. Toast removed rounds and serve with this cold weather dish!

BEAN RABBIT

3 16-oz. cans baked beans in tomato sauce
3 T chili sauce
1 T finely chopped onion
1 T cream style horseradish
4 slices American cheese
4 green pepper rings
chili sauce

Place beans in casserole. Add the 3 tablespoons chili sauce, the onion and horseradish and mix well. Arrange slices of cheese on beans. Bake in moderate oven, (325°) 35 minutes. Top each slice of cheese with a green pepper ring and fill each ring with chili sauce. Eight servings.

BAKED BEAN FRITTERS

Sift together 1/4 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1-1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt. Beat yolks of 2 eggs. Add contents of a tin of baked beans (vegetarian-style) 1/2 teaspoon pepper and flour mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Fry like pancakes on well-greased, moderately hot griddle. Serve with ketchup. (makes 10 to 12 fritters.)

Try Pow Wow Pork Chops on Your Menu

You'll find Pow Wow Pork Chops will put your young Indians on the path to the dinner table. And the savory aroma of these saucy chops cannot compare with the delight experienced with the first bite. They're juicy, tender, and terrific.

Pow Wow Pork Chops
6 pork chops (1 1/2-inch thick)
Dash black pepper
6 slices onion
1 can (1 1/2 cups) condensed tomato soup
Brown chops well on both sides; sprinkle with pepper. Pour soup over top; place an onion slice (and a green pepper ring, if desired) on each chop. Cover and simmer about 1 hour or until chops are tender; stir occasionally.

Extra Good Tuna Loaf

When is tuna a good buy? Right now! Not only is it a good penny-stretcher, but its delicate party-flavor makes it a many purpose food. You've probably made dainty tuna sandwiches for parties, and sizeable hearty ones for the lunch box, or for a soup and sandwich home meal. Tuna salad is a favorite the year 'round. Add a can of shrimp or crabmeat for a seafood salad. Hot casseroles of many kinds are made better with tuna. With noodles or rice as a base, it teams well with cheese, vegetables or other seafood.

Tempting Tuna Loaf is extra tasty, easy to make and to serve. It is especially attractive with a self-garnish of mushroom slices.

Tempting Tuna Loaf

1 2-oz. can sliced mushrooms
2 slices bread
1 6 1/2-oz. can grated tuna
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 small onion, diced
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs

Arrange two rows of mushroom slices on the bottom of a greased loaf pan. Cut bread into tiny cubes and mix with remaining drained mushrooms, and other ingredients. Put in pan on top of mushroom slices. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) about 45 minutes, or until firm. Turn out on serving platter. Six servings.

Salmon Loaf: Use an 8-oz. can salmon instead of tuna.

Frozen Peas Go with Corn

Choose garden fresh frozen vegetables for good eating any month of the year. This delicious and unusual combination of peas with corn brings back a taste of mid-summer in a dish that's attractive to look at, tasty to eat! It's a work free, waste free recipe that can be ready in a jiffy.

1 package extra fancy frozen peas.
1 package frozen cut corn salt sugar butter

Cook peas by dropping solidly frozen block into 1/3 cup boiling water to which 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon sugar has been added. Cook for three minutes from second boil. Drop corn in 1/2 cup boiling water with the same amounts salt and sugar, bring to second boil, cover, turn down heat and cook gently for 2 minutes or until tender. Drain and combine, dress with melted butter. Delicious with ham, lamb, or chicken. Serves 6 to 8.

Start Day with Decent Breakfast

Minutes are precious in the morning, so the next time you hear, "I don't have time for breakfast," reexamine that busy schedule. Each day should and can start off with an adequate meal and still not rob us of any of those treasured morning minutes.

You'll be a happier, more pleasant person, too, if you start the day eating an appetizing breakfast such as raisin-pineapple bedecked grapefruit, an egg boiled to your individual liking, slices of hot enriched toast and your favorite warm beverage. Take a few minutes to eat an adequate breakfast and help mother nature add color to your cheeks, make your skin softer, add more lustre to your hair, and don't forget-sparkle to your personality, too.

Follow these suggestions and get your family into a year-round breakfast habit with the right kind of breakfast like this:

A fruit or juice—preferably a citrus fruit. Cereal—hot or cold with milk or cream. An egg at least 5 times a week. Toast with butter or margarine. Milk for the children and coffee for the adults.

Particularly rich in iron are the variety meats. Here's a recipe that makes excellent use of beef or veal heart.

Helpful Hints Concerning Building, Remodeling, Repairing & Redecorating

Proper Application Needed For Roof To Give Long Life

Proper application is necessary to insure that asphalt shingles, a popular roofing material for homes, will give the long-term satisfaction of which they are capable.

Manufacturer's instruction sheets, which are packaged with roofing at the factory, tell what proper application is. They explain how to prepare the roof deck, how to carry out preliminary steps such as application of an "eaves flashing strip," how to place the shingles, and how to fasten them securely.

Instruction sheets are based on many years of practical experience and laboratory research, conducted by individual manufacturers as well as by the National Bureau of Standards and other research and testing organizations. Manufacturers publish instruction sheets because it is to their own vital interest to have their products give good performance through proper application.

Although home-owners do not do their own roofing application, instruction sheets are of value to them because the sheets serve as a guide by which the owner can determine if he is getting an application job as good as the material he has bought.

In the testing machine, shown above called a weather-ometer, asphalt shingles are put under an intense ultra-violet arc light, which compresses a year's sunlight into a few days. Pressure-driven jets of water are used to simulate rain.

DO IT YOURSELF WITH HARDWOOD PLYWOOD A Saddle-Seat Desk for Young Buckaroos

Here's a week-end workshop project that will bring years of pleasure to any child—a saddle-seat desk that won't wobble. Its three legs assure even support. All you need is a few pieces of 3/4 inch hardwood plywood, a length of 3/4-inch base shoe moulding, some corner irons and 3/4-inch No. 9 flat-headed wood screws. Cut the plywood pieces as shown in the bottom drawings, then join the center and end frames at the slots in eggcrate fashion (picture 1). Plane the top edge of the end frame so it has the same slant as the top of the center frame. The assembled unit (picture 2) now is ready to receive the desk top, which is simply an 18x24-inch hardwood plywood rectangle. When edges are exposed lumber core plywood generally is specified. Attach with four 2 1/2" corner irons (picture 3.) Fasten base shoe moulding high across the desk top for a pencil rail, using 1" screws applied from the back. Finally, cut the saddle from a plywood scrap and attach with four 1 1/2" corner irons. A support of loose boards will make this operation easier (picture 4). Give the desk a natural finish to bring out the rich wood beauty and it's ready to delight the heart of any child (picture 5). Hardwood plywood, the same material used in making the finest furniture, is available at modest cost in mahogany, oak, gum, maple, walnut, birch and other species at most Plymouth lumber yards.

Fuse Box Advised For Workshop Tools

You people who have a workshop with power tools will do well to install a fuse box in the workshop to handle the circuits to the power tools. In this way when one of the tools becomes overloaded the fuse in the workshop blows which can be replaced quickly without having to go to the main house fuse box.

Window Shopping With Sue

With spring here officially now—at least according to the calendar—its time to start thinking about spring housecleaning. Oh I admit, the thought is not exactly the kind that brightens up a dreary day, but really there's a lot of satisfaction in having a spic and span house after keeping it shut up all winter.

Spring housecleaning doesn't only mean washing windows and cleaning out closets—though of course they go along—but it also provides an excellent opportunity for a little remodeling and redecorating. Maybe you've admired those floor-to-ceiling windows you see more and more on homes these days. Well, they tell me over at Roberts Supply that you can install one yourself with Lustracrystal. Directions for the installation are provided so that you can turn out a real professional job.

Then of course there's always painting to brighten up your home. If you attended the Pease Colorama on Tuesday you heard about the new colors being shown in the O'Brien paint line. Did you stop to think what one of these might do for your home? And that movie by Better Homes and Gardens set me to visualizing how I might rearrange and redecorate some of my rooms.

Select Right Lumber To Fit Your Project

Neophyte handymen and do-it-yourselfers are usually dismayed and confounded by lumberyard jargon, and end up buying the wrong lumber for the job they have in mind. More often than not, they select higher-priced lumber than they need.

Lumber is graded according to quality and classified as common or select.

To buy select lumber when common will do is to throw away money, and it may amount to several dollars if any sizable quantity is purchased.

For instance, if you were to build shelves for the kitchen, and planned to paint them, it would be foolish to buy top-grade finishing wood for the job. Lower grade wood with sound knots and minor defects will serve the purpose just as well when painted.

A slightly better grade of lumber may be required if a clean finish is to be applied. Lumber clear on one side and imperfect on the other will do nicely in some cases.

A good idea is to pick through the lumber carefully. It's often possible to save money by buying a quantity of low grade lumber, then use only the clear portions between imperfections.

Don't hesitate to consult your lumber dealer. Tell him how you plan to use the wood. He will be glad to save you money, because he knows then you'll be back with more business. And retail lumber-dealers are relying more and more on the "do-it-yourself" trade.

Question: I wish to lay Kentile over my kitchen, at present covered with linoleum which is still in very good condition. Is this possible, or must I remove the linoleum first? Answer: Linoleum is usually protected with wax which would have to be removed before the tile adhesive could be successfully used. Examine the linoleum carefully also for depressed areas, indications of a damaged floor beneath which should be repaired. In this case it would be better to remove the linoleum, repair the wood floor, then lay the tiles directly on it. Incidentally, adding tiles on the linoleum will raise the floor height so that doors swinging over it may have to be trimmed down.

"A fine institution," was the comment of Father Flanagan of Boytown fame after he had made a hurried visit through the Detroit House of Correction Wednesday afternoon. In a talk to 300 women inmates of the prison, the famous juvenile leader of the country urged them when released to appreciate the liberty for which the boys of the nation are fighting and dying to maintain.

Girl Scout News

Girl Scouting in Plymouth is enjoying a most successful year and plans are now underway to make next year an even more effective one. While nearly 250 girls are benefiting from the program, there are many more who would like to become members. Membership is limited solely by the number of adults willing to be come leaders or assistant leaders.

To encourage women to become troop leaders, the training committee under the leadership of Mrs. Earl West offers the following comprehensive training:

Basic leadership of either a Brownie or a Scout troop will be taught by Mrs. Edward Dobbs, Mrs. William Edgar, Mrs. Robert Houston, Mrs. K. S. Hulsing and Mrs. Sheldon Baker. Each session will meet daily from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Girl Scout Cabin on these days: March 30, April 6, April 13 and April 20.

More advanced training than that being offered locally is available at Camp Holly at Holly, Michigan. The training committee urges all qualified leaders to consider attending the basic outdoor workshop from May 14 to 16 or the primitive and advanced camping workshop from May 18 to 20.

It is hoped that the Girl Scout Council will be represented at board members courses in East Lansing April 26 to 30.

Girl Scouting in Plymouth would also be benefited if some qualified adults could attend a leadership course in Elkhorn, Wisconsin, June 6 to 12.

For further information on any of the above courses call Mrs. Earl West at 2151-J.

Marsha Rubey, reporter from Troop 21, tells that Mr. Bartel visited their troop to help them with their agriculture requirements for the second class badge. He showed the girls how to start a plant cutting and gave each girl a plant to care for. They are raising geraniums and kolas. Mrs. Wayne Rubey and Mrs. Ralph Lorenz are the leaders.

At their last regular meeting members of Troop 4 enjoyed a cook-out at the home of their leader, Mrs. Warren Worth. Mrs. K. S. Hulsing is the other leader of the troop.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

The Layman Prescribes
The gullibility of human beings is amazing. I have seen useful and intelligent people who were ill, wasting precious time, being treated by quacks, cranks, and ignorant cultists, when highly educated physicians were ignored.

The medical men spend four years in a medical college, studying the human body in health and disease. Then for two years they serve the sick as interns in hospitals. All this and more in preparation to help humanity.

The doctor's work for the public night and day, sick or well, in season and out, yet many people will even take the advice of a radio hawker, who is advocating some cure-all "for whatever ails you or your family."

Today, I heard a spieler yelling through a loud speaker, extolling the merits of a nostrum. He said that it cured many diseases for only a dollar. He was doing a rushing business.

This speaks badly for the intelligence of the average human being. It is the same sort of superstition that sends the African to the witch doctor.

The highly educated Caucasian is often as foolish. The writer was acquainted with a brilliant lawyer. He was forty-five years of age with a splendid legal practice. He developed a severe pain in his abdomen.

Instead of sending for his doctor, he took the advice of a farm hand and swallowed a large tablespoonful of salts. Next morning, strange to say, he listened to a friend and followed the salts by a tablespoonful of castor oil.

The next day he was rushed to the hospital for an appendectomy. The appendix had burst, pus filled the cavity and peritonitis had set in. He was only another victim of the advice of the ignorant. His helpless family were left to struggle along the best they could.

It is very certain that the laymen who were so ready to tell him what to do did nothing but criticize the mistakes that his inexperienced wife made in trying to straighten out her husband's tangled finances.

Beaver Population Reaches Fifty Year High U of M Says

Michigan's beaver population now at its highest point in 50 years, really is busy this year—constantly building lodges, dams and even canals, according to a University of Michigan scientist.

William Lawrence, research associate in the U-M school of Natural Resources, points out that the animal's rise from near extinction is in part due to legal protection and also to environmental changes. An example of the latter is the aspen stands taking over land formerly occupied by pine forests.

This aspen is not only the animal's favorite food, but also is used as building material, especially in constructing his dams and lodges. These dams then form the ponds where the colony eventually will settle. Once he has selected the dam site, the beaver begins construction of his lodge, which he can build overnight if time demands.

Trees which supply bark for eating and wood for building usually are found on solid ground, Lawrence says. "To get across the boggy lands to the aspen, the beaver cuts himself ditches and swims across. On the return trip he tows the branches and tree trunks through the canal."

With the current high beaver population, about 17,000 beaver were trapped in Michigan last year, he adds. As a result of this current high, the population is faced with problems of disease, one of which is thought to be tularemia.

Lawrence currently is studying ing the disease under sponsorship of a U.S. Public Health grant. This organism has not yet been isolated from Michigan beavers, he explains, but "evidence points to its being the cause of many beaver deaths."

Beaver families usually number about five or six members, Lawrence says, with litters averaging four, being born each spring. These young generally are active shortly after birth, although their diving activities are limited by the air in their fur, he explains. "As a result," he continues, "they sometimes have trouble getting their tails and bases under water."

Beavers are equipped well for their aquatic life, he claims. Their ears and nostrils automatically close under water, and their lips close behind their large incisors, "so that they can chew while swimming—still working like beavers," Lawrence comments.

Selle Employees Take Advanced Courses

Two employees of Jack Selle's Buick, Charles Steinhebel of Northville and James Stein of Wayne, have recently completed courses in advanced automotive service techniques.

Each spent two and one-half days at the Detroit school, one of a nationwide network of 35 training centers being set up by General Motors to keep employees of its car and truck dealerships abreast of new mechanical developments and service techniques.

Steinhebel, a shop foreman, selected the Buick course, taking advanced study in rear axles; while body man Stein took advanced study in 1954 Buick new model program.

Jack Selle, head of the company, said he sent the men to the Detroit center to give his customers the benefit of improved service techniques taught there.

Mr. Glen Truesdell states: "From February 2, 1950 to February 7, 1951, we used 1333 gallons of oil as against our previous high pressure burner average of 2000 gallons per year. Last fall was much colder yet our Winkler low pressure burner saved us 667 gallons which means $89.10 we saved in oil in one year. At this rate our fuel oil savings will pay for the Winkler burner in less than 4 years.

Besides saving money, our home is more comfortable with even temperatures, and there is no odor of oil. Our Winkler Burner should take care of any possible fuel oil restrictions and give us full heating comfort for years to come.

The Look of Tomorrow

lets you see better today

BUICK

the beautiful buy

NEVER before its introduction by Buick did you see a windshield like this on a standard-production automobile.

It comes from the experimental "dream cars" you may have seen pictured from time to time—but it's on every 1954 Buick today.

As you can see, this broadly arching sweep of glass adds new beauty and a definite look of tomorrow to the glamorous new Buick.

Even more, this stunning new windshield treatment gives you 19% more visibility—because it pulls back the corners, lets you see as a pilot sees.

But there's a lot more than "dream car" windshields to the new-day 1954 Buicks.

For these are really new cars—with new bodies, new interiors, new ride features, new handling ease—and, above all, new record-high V8 horsepower.

Come in and look them over—sit in, sample and price one of these breathtaking new Buicks. It's the only way to know what beautiful buys they are in every way.

New Nash Air Conditioning System

Shown is Nash Motors revolutionary All-Weather Eye air conditioning system for its passenger cars, which the company claims will "obsolet" all air cooling units now available in the industry. For the first time, cooling, heating and ventilating have been combined into a single integrated unit, according to H. C. Doss, vice-president in charge of sales. The Nash All-Weather Eye system is a self-contained unit, with all components located forward of the instrument panel. The price, to be announced soon, "will be a 'bomb-shell' in the automotive industry," Doss said.

Warn Plymouth Farmers of New Cattle Disease Which Is Found in Michigan

Of interest to Plymouth dairymen in Michigan is the fact that they now have added to their woes a new form of brucellosis caused by a type of the germ never before found in this state. Dr. I. Forest Huddleson, Michigan State College bacteriologist, reports that it produces a more severe infection than ordinary Bang's disease. There is a noticeable inflammation and thickening of the skin of the udder, he explains, and this condition might be mistaken for a type of mastitis.

The 47-cattle Michigan herd had nine reactors to Bang's disease testing, five suspects and four abortions in less than a year. The first cow aborted in February, 1953. In April and November, blood tests were performed, and while this was being done, the eight other cows reacted and three aborted. The source of the infection never was found.

Turning back 21 years to the reports of Dr. G. S. Wilson of the Institute of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine in London, Dr. Huddleson found a description of some Brucella germs recovered from French cattle. The M.S.C.

bacteriologist recognized the report made in 1933 as the same as for the germs found in Michigan.

"This same type has been isolated by a few of the state health laboratories in recent years from the blood of humans suffering from undulant fever," points out Dr. Huddleson. "It occurred in different sections of the country but no one has succeeded in tracing the source of the infection."

The new Michigan cattle type of Brucella differs from the three classified species but falls into the bovine, or Brucella abortus, species. The other species are Br. suis (swine) and Br. melitensis (goats).

"The new type produces a high abortion rate in cattle," states Dr. Huddleson, "and it also causes visible udder disturbances which would indicate that it is highly pathogenic. It needs watching very carefully. We do not know yet if the present vaccines used to protect cattle against brucellosis will protect them against this new form."

The owner of the infected dairy cows turned to M.S.C. School of Veterinary Medicine for aid when his animals did not improve. Dr. Edward A. White of the surgery and medicine department injected M-vaccine in December. They will not know for several months whether this will prevent the spread of the disease.

M-vaccine was made available to Michigan veterinarians in 1947. It does not produce a permanent blood reaction or an abortion and can be used on adult animals, including cows in pregnancy.

Farmers should contact veterinarians about any cattle that abort-indicating possibility of disease—or show signs of mastitis in udders or milk, suggests Dr. Huddleson.

OUTDOOR NOTES From The MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Michigan license dealers sold about 664,000 resident hunting licenses during 1953, the conservation department reports.

The total sales were about 18,000 above sales made in 1952. The total of all hunting license sales—including all deer and small game types, both resident and nonresident—will be at least 1,140,000.

Final computations for the year will not be completed until June, but A. L. McNeil, in charge of license sales, estimated the total from returns already received.

McNeil said 427,000 resident and 10,870 nonresident firearm deer licenses were sold last year. Also, 27,800 resident and 2370 nonresident bow and arrow deer licenses were sold.

In addition to the 664,000 resident small game license sales, 7200 nonresident permits were sold.

On the side of fishing, sales were very close to those made in 1952.

McNeil says that 843,723 resident license sales have been tallied to date, only slightly below the 1952 sales of 843,788.

In addition, 140,200 temporary nonresident and 163,100 annual nonresident permits were sold during the year.

Trout stamp sales were earlier reported above the 200,000 sale mark, the first time that figure had been reached since the stamps were inaugurated in 1948. At present, total trout stamp sales are listed at close to 205,000.

Ducks, coots and other waterfowl can be expected in a rush soon as the first flush of warm spring air lands on Michigan's southern marsh areas, conservation workers note.

The flood of waterfowl comes suddenly each year, generally in March, the birds stopping briefly in Michigan on their way to northern nesting grounds.

Dogs killed "some" deer in the Baldwin district last week, conservation field workers report, though details of the killings were lacking in game division offices here.

In the Mio district, heavy concentrations of deer have been seen around timber-cutting operations and at private feeding points, one indication that white-tails may be having difficulty finding sufficient wild food.

Some starvation has been reported to game men on private lands in the Mio district in recent weeks and many more fawns there now "appear rough and weakened" because there are too many deer for the existing food supplies. In general, private land owners in the district have not allowed hunting of fawns and does on their property; such hunting has been permitted during the last two seasons on public lands in the northern lower peninsula, where smaller herds are faring better at the present time.

Game men say this is the critical time of year for deer. The animals have used up most reserves of body fat, and natural food supplies are dwindling rapidly. If warm weather brings the spring breakup soon, deer will have passed a relatively uneventful winter. But if more cold weather develops, the herd could suffer some losses.

Late last week, warmer weather was bringing many whitetails out of wintering swamp areas and into open uplands, where feeding is somewhat easier. Game men say the animals are still "yarded" in northern upper peninsula areas, but farther south considerable spring-like movement has been noted.

Carp, suckers, redbone, mullet, dogfish and garpike will be open to spearing in hundreds of state streams from April 1 to May 31 in the lower peninsula and during May in the upper peninsula, the conservation department reports.

The popular spring sport will be open on many trout streams and on most non-trout waters of the state. Artificial lights are permitted on most open waters, while some areas are restricted against use of lights.

Lists of water open during the coming season may be obtained from the department's fish division at Lansing, 26. In case of doubt about local streams, area conservation officers should be consulted.
