

A Birthday Worth Noting

With this issue of The Plymouth Mail local residents are presented with a copy of their home newspaper which marks the start of the 68th continuous year of weekly newspaper publication in this community.

Through lean years and fat, through sweltering summer and freezing winter, THE MAIL has been a consistent caller in the homes of local residents bringing them the news of their civic governments, their clubs and fraternal orders, their neighbors and friends and, last but not least, the stores upon which they are dependent for the needs of their families.

On this particular birthday we are unusually proud. Unknown to many of our readers is the fact that through the summer months school teachers have conducted a house to house canvass throughout this entire area to find out how many homes receive THE MAIL each week and what items therein they like or dislike most.

Compilations of this survey are now being made and the positive figures will be released shortly to our readers and advertisers. But, we can give you an inkling now that more than 98 per cent of all of the homes in the Plymouth area, both new and old, in the city and out, RECEIVE A COPY OF THE PLYMOUTH MAIL EACH WEEK.

What greater birthday present could the some 75 members of THE PLYMOUTH MAIL family have than the knowledge that their product, each week, reaches regularly into practically every home in the community. We are grateful for this reception, and we shall not treat it lightly when it comes to the future planning of our efforts, our time and our ultimate product . . . YOUR HOME TOWN NEWSPAPER, THE PLYMOUTH MAIL.

Boasting the greatest (government sworn) circulation it has ever known The Plymouth Mail looks forward to its issues in the future with a determination of bringing you more of the things you have asked for. We will bend every effort to serve you even better in an endeavor to repay in some small way the confidence you have placed in our hands.

We doubt if any other publication in the country can find that it is received so generally in the community it serves. We shall, and are, studying the results of our survey closely so that from the remarks you so generously gave we can provide you with more of the items you like best. Your friendly criticisms will be accepted in the same manner so that those improvements can be made as well.

On our 67th birthday we invite you to inspect our modernized business offices . . . some of the finest in Michigan, we are told. Our plant welcomes your visits and here it might be apropos to report that in the last two years well over a thousand of our grade school kiddies have watched our machines as they pound out your printed material or set type for your newspaper.

As we enter our 68th year we are anticipating the daily arrival of a new type printing press for the benefit of our hundreds of printing customers throughout this section of Michigan. For the first time The Plymouth Mail will offer the complete facilities of OFFSET PRINTING in addition to its regular letter press printing. This is proof further that in the 67th year of our "youth" we shall keep step with the demands of our customers.

Yes . . . beyond all doubt it is our greatest birthday event, and we owe it all to you. Once more let us say, we are proud of our past accomplishments, our awards for excellence, our ability to keep step with the growth of our community but more important to you and to us . . . is our pledge to continue to improve our standards and produce for you and everyone else in this area a newspaper devoted to the best interest of the residents of this community.

HAROLD E. GUENTHER, appointed for the short term vacancy on the city commission, takes a look down Main street at one of the big problems which will soon face the city commission. Commissioners must decide whether or not to go ahead with plans to spend $162,000 for the improvement of Main street from Penniman to Mill.

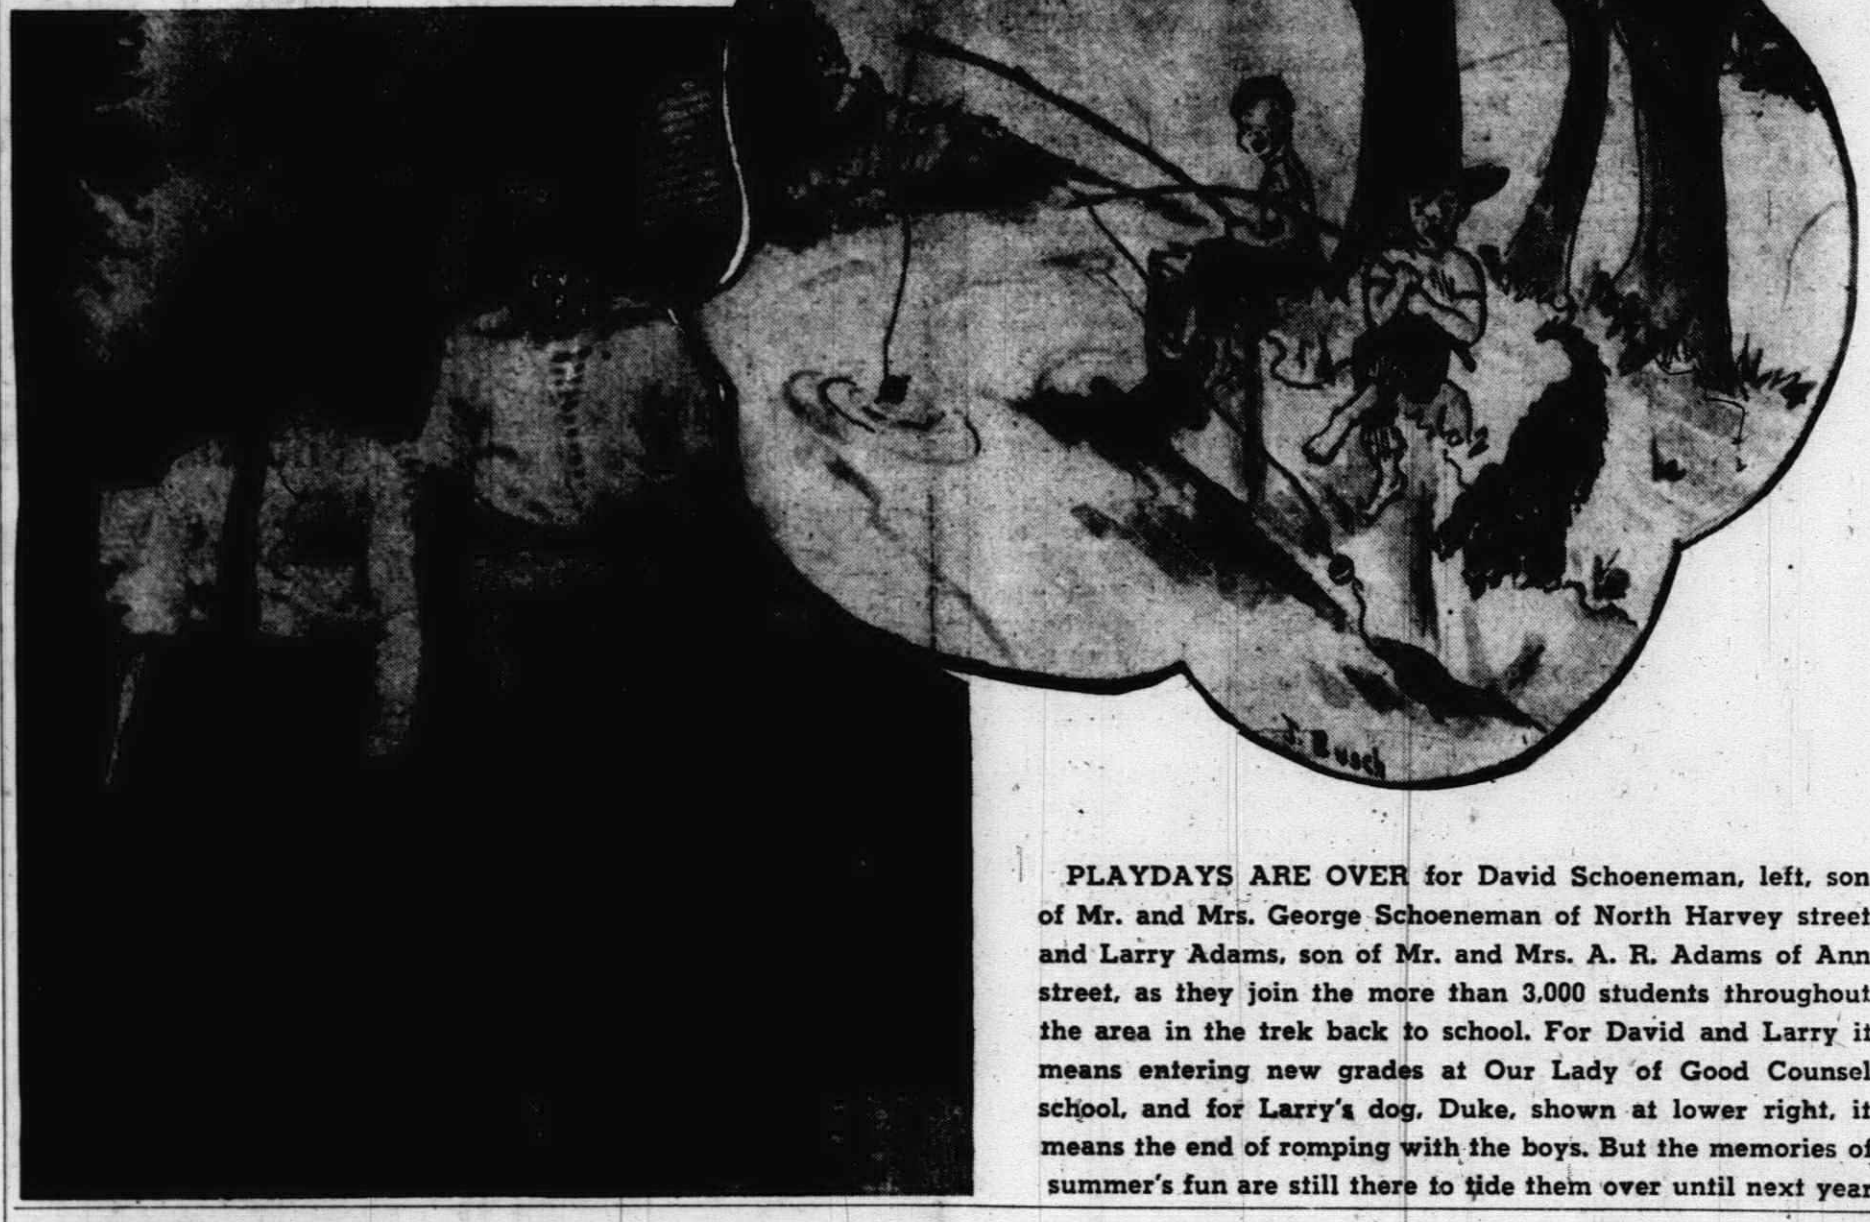

ROBERT SINCOCK, a familiar person to many citizens because of his downtown service station business, will serve the unexpired term of Henry Fisher which ends in 1957. First meeting for the new commissioners will be next Monday night.

Summer days become but dreams...

PLAYDAYS ARE OVER for David Schoeneman, left, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Schoeneman of North Harvey street and Larry Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Adams of Ann street, as they join the more than 3,000 students throughout the area in the trek back to school. For David and Larry it means entering new grades at Our Lady of Good Counsel school, and for Larry's dog, Duke, shown at lower right, it means the end of romping with the boys. But the memories of summer's fun are still there to tide them over until next year.

School Bells To Summon Record 3,350

Another record-breaking year for enrollment in the Plymouth township school system is being predicted this week by school officials as they prepare to welcome 3,350 boys and girls into the classrooms on Thursday, September 9. With 3,190 students enrolled in the public schools as the school year closed last June, school officials are predicting that at least 160 more pupils will crowd into the classrooms when classes begin two weeks from today. Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister believes the estimate is "conservative."

Public to Air Views on Main Street Project

Three street improvement projects costing nearly a quarter of a million dollars will be given their first public airings in the next three weeks, one of them being the Main street widening and paving, an issue which has been facing city officials for many years. City commissioners voted Monday night to hold two of the hearings on Monday, September 13. One will be at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the paving of Amelia street from Main to Farmer streets. A hearing at 8 p.m. the same evening will bring the Main street widening and paving project into the open. Purpose of public hearings is to give the property owners affected by assessments an opportunity to express their objections or support of the projects and to obtain estimates of their financial share.

Public to Air Views on Main Street Project

Unlike last year when the Edna Allen Elementary school was opened to absorb over 420 youngsters, this year's crop of additional students will have to fit into present facilities. High School Principal Carvel Bentley is figuring on 80 more students than he had when school closed three months ago. There were 837 high school students at that time; 80 more would bring enrollment up to 917, or almost a 10 per cent increase. Bentley pointed out that the high school will be taking on about 270 freshmen next month; only 180 seniors graduated.

This will be the second year that schools will receive the big post-war "baby crop." It is recalled that World War II ended in 1946, after which veterans returned and started families.

Superintendent Isbister says that there is no doubt that the Plymouth township school system will be crowded to near capacity this year. Enrollment in Plymouth schools since 1950 has now increased by over 1,000 pupils.

One method of averting an elementary classroom shortage without going into an expensive building program is being studied by the board of education. "Primary units" would be constructed in heavily populated neighborhoods. The "unit" would look like any other type ranch home except that it would contain one or two classrooms. When the classroom shortage passes, the building could be sold for conversion into a private home.

But despite the threat of classroom shortages in future years, Plymouth children are far better off than in many communities throughout the nation where the shortage is a present-day reality. Doubling up of classes in one room and the operation of classes on half-day schedules are two common methods used in classroom-starved systems.

School bells will ring here at 8:30 a.m. for both elementary and secondary students. A full day of classes will be held the first day of school.

Teachers begin their 1954-55 school year on Tuesday, September 7. A pre-school conference will be held in the high school auditorium with a morning program being planned, followed by a luncheon (see story elsewhere).

Fatality Involves Plymouth Driver

A warrant is expected to be signed this week against Albert W. Brown, 61, of 935 York street, who was involved in an automobile collision early last Saturday in Livonia which took the life of a father of four children.

Killed in the mishap was Elmer Y. Leik, 34, of 9915 Merriman road, Livonia.

Livonia police said that Leik was driving his motorcycle northward on Wayne road when Brown "apparently failed to stop his car" at the stop sign while traveling west on Ann Arbor trail. The motorcycle crashed into the side of the skidding car. By coincidence, a Schrader Funeral home ambulance, on another errand, was near the intersection at the time of the collision and it took Leik to the Wayne County General hospital where he died Monday morning. He was on his way home from his job at the Ford-Lincoln-Mercury plant when the accident occurred.

The Plymouth driver was released pending further investigation but Livonia police said that the prosecutor's office will issue a warrant either for negligent homicide or manslaughter with an automobile.

Fill Commission Vacancies

Robert J. Sincock, a service station owner-operator, and Harold E. Guenther, small industrial plant owner, have been appointed to fill two unexpired terms on the Plymouth city commission.

Five commissioners named Sincock and Guenther at their regular meeting last Monday night after lengthy debate on over a dozen possibilities.

Both men have accepted the appointments. Sincock, who is owner and operator of Bob's Standard Service station, Main street and Ann Arbor trail, will fill the unexpired term of Henry J. Fisher which ends April 1957.

Guenther was named to succeed Floyd Tibbitts whose term will expire in April 1955. He is co-owner of E-Z Sew Enterprises, Inc., 340 North Main street.

The two appointees will officially take office upon signing their oath of office sometime before next Monday when a special meeting of the city commission is scheduled. The two resigned commissioners, Tibbitts and Fisher, offered their resignations on July 19 and the resignations were accepted August 2. City charter required the vacancies to be filled within 30 days after the resignations were accepted.

Guenther has been a resident of Plymouth since 1944, coming here from Highland Park. His home is at 1142 North Holbrook where he has a family of four boys, three in school and one of pre-school age.

Mr. Guenther has been serving on the city's personnel appeal board, a board which hears grievances of city employees. He is also a member of the Plymouth Rotary club and the Chamber of Commerce.

"I am indeed pleased and most happy to be selected for this office," Guenther declared. "I hope to soon overcome my inadequacies and I assure those responsible for this appointment and citizens that I will try to perform the job to the best of my ability."

Mr. and Mrs. Sincock, a young son, 2, and a daughter, 6, live at 309 Auburn. The new commissioner has lived in Plymouth 12 years. He is a native of Calumet, Michigan.

Mr. Sincock is a member of Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic church, is financial secretary of the Knights of Columbus and belongs to the Rotary club.

"I feel quite honored to be given this opportunity to serve our community," Sincock asserted. "I will try to do the best I can for the good of our citizens and for our community."

Parched Green Meadows May Try for Annexation

A desperate need for water may soon result in the opening of a movement to annex Green Meadows to the city of Plymouth, according to the statements made by several residents of that area who appeared before the city commission Monday night.

Although the western half of the subdivision already has city water, the eastern half has been relying on private wells, most of which have gone dry in the past several years.

"We're desperate for water," said Mrs. Luther Grady, 8841 Oakview, spokesman for the group. She said that many of her neighbors haul their water from the Northville spring. Others have to get it from neighbors who either have city water or still have active wells.

Mrs. Grady said that she has one well which produces water unfit to drink. Another well was drilled dry. As a result, she must buy her drinking water from a neighbor who has city water.

The city commission turned down a petition from some of the residents several weeks ago which asked that city water be extended to their homes. The commission has been adhering to a policy of "no more water to out of town homes until additional Home once again after a three-day run-away journey which took him as far as Toledo, Ohio is thirteen-year-old Michael Kelley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen S. Kelley, 498 Pacific.

Local police had asked citizens to join in a search for young Michael after his parents reported he failed to come home for dinner Tuesday evening. He had withdrawn about $8 from his savings account.

Police Chief Carl Greenlee said that the boy turned himself in to authorities at Adrian last Friday morning and word was received here from State Police reporting the boy was safe.

To Continue Friday Night City Hall Hours

City hall business offices will now be open each Friday night and closed Saturday morning, according to a new permanent schedule approved by city commissioners Monday night.

The Friday night opening was given a trial this summer and proved successful enough to become permanent, commissioners decided. It gives citizens working days and Saturdays an opportunity to transact city hall business in the evening. Hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Friday.

As owner of the Plymouth Hardware, 515 Forest avenue, Mr. Rose became widely known throughout the area. He started in the hardware business 18 years ago on Liberty street. Years later, he moved the store into a South Main street location. The move into the present modern building was in November 1950. The Roses moved into their

William A. Rose home at 16460 Homer road, Northville township, a year ago. It was 27 years ago this Wednesday that Mr. and Mrs. Rose were united in marriage.

He was born in Cleveland, Ohio on December 15, 1896, the son of Alexander and Esther Rose. Mr. Rose was a member of the Marine Corps during World War I, serving in Panama, Cuba and the Caribbean Sea area.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Elma A. Rose; two daughters, Mrs. Doris Arline Myers, Plymouth, and Mrs. Patricia Lynn, Olmstead Falls, Ohio; a son, Richard Allen Rose, Plymouth; and five grandchildren.

Report Narcotics Theft from Doctor

Theft of narcotics from the car of a local physician and the theft of clothing from the home of Fire Chief Robert McAllister are two crimes committed this week in Plymouth which police still have under investigation.

Twelve cubic centimeters of morphine and a syringe were taken from the bag of Dr. Frederick E. Bentley at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The bag was on the back seat of his car which was parked behind the Bentley Clinic, 851 South Main street.

The daring mid-day theft was performed by a man of about 40 years old, according to a description obtained from clinic personnel. The suspected man first came into the office of Dr. Frederick Foust, dentist, and asked for an immediate appointment. He was refused and left the office.

It was about 8:30 Monday night that a neighbor of Fire Chief McAllister heard the tinkle of breaking glass, but he thought no more about it. Another neighbor, Ted Campbell, went to the McAllister home at 685 Jener street and found a window broken. He called police when he found that the McAllisters were not home.

Missing from the home were one suit, four pairs of pants and seven shirts, all belonging to the chief. "I didn't know I was considered by someone as the best-dressed man in town," the chief said as he looked over his depleted wardrobe.

Herbert Anderson - Joan Batten Wed in Candlelight Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Anderson

Airman Second Class and Mrs. Herbert G. Anderson are "at home" at 14253 Eckles road following a ten day honeymoon through the Cumberland Mountains, Smoky Mountains and Illinois.

Mrs. Anderson is the former Joan Mary Batten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Batten of Eckles road, and the Irving Andersons of Sciota, Illinois, are the bridegroom's parents.

The Reverend Woodrow Woolly officiated at the eight o'clock candlelight ceremony on Saturday evening, August 7, in the Rosedale Garden Presbyterian church.

The altar was banked with bouquets of white gladioli and palms flanked on either side with tiers of lighted tapers. Miss Margery Thomas sang "Through the Years," "I Love You Truly" and the "Lord's Prayer." James Marshall presided at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, Joan selected a gown of rosepoint lace over satin. Mrs. Howard Carson

Howard Carson-Donelda Lewis Wed at St. Raphael's Church

Five bridal attendants in ballerina length gowns of nylon chiffon preceded Donelda Patricia Lewis down the aisle of St. Raphael's Roman Catholic church in Garden City, Saturday morning, August 21, when she became the bride of Howard Clark Carson.

The ten o'clock double ring nuptial Mass was read by the Reverend Father Thaddaus Samson before the altar which was graced with vases of white gladioli. Mary Ann Derda presided at the organ and sang "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus" and "The Mass of the Shepherd."

Donalda is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. E. Lewis, 39149 Ford road, Wayne, and the Howard E. Carsons of Bassett drive, Livonia, are the bridegroom's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, Donelda was radiant in a chapel length gown of white nylon tulle over satin with a field of Schiffli embroidered applique. Her two-tiered veil of French silk illusion was attached to a dainty petal-motif crown fashioned of French illusion veiling and highlighted with rhinestones and stephanotis. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis and wore a single strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

Shirley Lewis was her sister's maid of honor. She wore aqua chiffon with softly draped bodice and neckline. Bridesmaids were Betty Logie of Walled Lake, Sue Carson, sister of the bridegroom, of Livonia, Kathleen Beuerle of Detroit, and Lillian Nahabetean of Lincoln Park. Their gowns were of turquoise chiffon and fashioned like that of the maid of honor. All attendants wore pale pink velvet hats and carried cascades of pink carnations. Shirley's bouquet was of pink and white carnations.

Little Diane Carson of Dearborn, cousin of the bridegroom, was the flower girl and Harold Carson, brother of the bridegroom, was the ring bearer. Diane wore a shell pink nylon chiffon dress with a miniature cascade of pink and white carnations.

William Eteau of Berwyn, Illinois, served his cousin as best man. Ushers were Robert Keeney and David Travis of Ann Arbor, and Donald Moore and Edward Klinske of Plymouth.

Mrs. Lewis chose a two-piece navy blue silk dress with navy accessories, white hat and gloves, for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of American Beauty roses. Mrs. Carson's shantung gown was of peacock blue in ballerina length with which she wore black velvet accessories and a corsage of yellow tea roses.

At twelve o'clock noon, a buffet brunch was served at the Veteran's Memorial Hall in Wayne with 180 guests attending from Plymouth, Livonia, Ann Arbor, Richmond, Detroit, Northville, St. Clair Shores, River Rouge, Ferndale, Lincoln Park, Walled Lake, Fen-ton, Toledo, Ecorse, Dearborn, Windsor, Berwyn, Illinois, Allen Park and Dayton, Ohio.

The young couple are honeymooning in northern Michigan and Canada for ten days. For traveling, Mrs. Carson selected a three-piece blue suit with which she wore pink accessories, a blue hat, and the orchids from her bridal bouquet.

Donalda graduated from Plymouth high school and received her state limited teaching certificate from Michigan State Normal college. Howard also graduated from Plymouth high school and will enter Michigan State Normal college this fall for his senior year. He is affiliated with Sigma Tau Gamma.

After August 31, the Carsons will be "at home" to their many friends at 420 W. Forest avenue, Ypsilanti, where Mrs. Carson will teach at the Thorne school.

SOCIAL NOTES

INSPECTION OF JOAN'S TEETH is a part of the complete physical examination given the new kindergartner. Joan's check-up, being watched by her brother, Bobby, and sister, Mary, is being given by her father, Dr. Lee Feldkamp, local physician. Although only kindergartners are required to have physical exams, Dr. Feldkamp thinks it's a good idea for his other children, too.

Health Exams for Kindergartens

When the school doors open again this fall, there will be hundreds of new kindergartners entering the classroom for the first time. Since good health is the key to good school work, parents are required to see that the new kindergartner students receive a complete medical examination before starting in.

The examination blanks, which are to be given to the doctor, may be obtained at the grade school office at the time of registration. Testing of the child's sight and hearing is particularly important since any failing in either of these may seriously slow down his learning.

The doctor probably won't find anything wrong when he looks over the youngster, but if he does, catching the trouble early and correcting it right away may save much trouble.

Parents see their children so much that they may not notice the gradual development of a defect or recognize the signs of possible trouble which the doctor can quickly spot and treat.

The close association of children on the playgrounds and in the classrooms makes it particularly important that your child be immunized against contagious diseases. Shots received as an infant often wear off before the child enters school. Booster shots will continue the immunization.

It is likewise important that the new kindergartner's teeth be thoroughly checked to determine whether the second teeth are coming through straight and even, and whether any dental work is needed.

Attention to the child's health before school begins may save him from losing many valuable days of school during the term. Parents of older children are also urged to see that their child is given a physical examination to make sure he is in tip-top shape for the busy school days ahead.

Issue Dog Law Violation Tickets

At least eight Plymouth township citizens are scheduled to appear before Justice of the Peace Martin Schomberger this Friday night because they neglected to purchase licenses for their dogs.

The "get tough" policy of issuing violation tickets has "greatly shocked" most of those who received them, according to Supervisor Roy Lindsay. But he pointed out that township citizens "have been given ample opportunity to buy their dog licenses."

Lindsay asserted that many township dog owners claim they don't know about the new dog ordinance. "We've posted and printed all kinds of notices for the past several months," he added, and we've given people plenty of opportunity to get the licenses.

The ordinance went into effect July 1 and is a substitute for a county ordinance under which the township has been operating. By enacting an ordinance of its own, the township can also enforce it itself.

"People have been asking for a dog ordinance for years," the township supervisor said, "and now that we have it, only a few seem to want to abide by it. We will keep on giving violation tickets no matter how prominent the violator is."

At least eight tickets had been issued by the three township constables by Tuesday, Lindsay said. Justice court is held Friday nights at the township hall.

County, Detroit Open Lease Bids

Bids for mineral rights on the Wayne County Training school and Detroit House of Correction properties were opened recently with the Pure Oil Company and the Woodson Oil company of Fort Worth, Texas as high bidders.

Pure Oil bid $13,600 for the oil and gas lease rights on the Wayne County Training school's property in Northville township. Other bidders were Woodson Oil company, $10,772, and Sun Oil company, $10,010.

Woodson offered the high bid of $19,703 for the DeHoCo leases. The only other bidder was Pure Oil with a close $19,700. The lease will be granted following further investigations of each concern's history and financial strength in the oil industry. Part of the DeHoCo 1,192 acres is in Plymouth township.

The Sun Oil company was issued a lease on the 905-acre Maybury Sanatorium by the City of Detroit Common Council. Sun was the lower of two bids offered for the property.

School Book Store Does Big Business

Re-opening of the Plymouth township school system on September 9 also means the re-opening of a $12,000 a year business within the school.

It is the school book store, located in the high school building, which last year grossed some $12,000 from September through June. But despite the five digit figure, no one makes money in the store since the books and supplies are sold at cost.

The store will open Tuesday, September 7, for those students wanting to purchase their books before school starts. Plenty of time will be given, however, for students to purchase books during the first few days of school. Principal Carvel Bentley stated. Hours of the book store will be from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The principal said that, as usual, teachers will allow their students time to buy the books before starting studies.

Only students in the upper grades need to purchase books. Elementary pupils are furnished their books but must buy necessary pencils, erasers, rulers, etc. Principal Bentley said that there appears to be no increase in the price of books this year.

If a student does not want to buy new books, he can purchase a used one from the used book store operated by the "Pilgrim Prints," the high school newspaper. The used book store was started last year and proved successful. The store is a "clearing house" for students wanting to sell their books and others wanting to buy used books.

Previously, students obtained used books by seeking out pupils who took the course the year before. At the used book store, a pupil can place his book on a shelf and if it is sold, he can receive perhaps half the amount he paid for it new.

Modern Look Hits Starkweather, Junior High Buildings this Summer

Youngsters who return to the Junior high and Starkweather elementary buildings next month will still be going to school in two of the oldest buildings in the Plymouth township school system, but their classrooms will be far from being dingy.

A "new look" has come to the two schools over the summer. It took a considerable chunk of money to do it, but classrooms in the two schools now look as modern as any in the country.

The old incandescent lighting fixtures were torn out and in their places were installed fluorescent lights. Modern acoustical ceiling tile was also installed in all of the rooms. A fresh coat of paint, plus the usual summer floor and desk cleaning jobs, finished off the modernization plans.

The work is part of the improvement plan outlined by the Board of Education last spring when voters approved extra millage to finance the modernization and improvement of the system's schools. Since Starkweather and the Junior high buildings were the most needy in the system, they were completed this summer. Projects at other schools as well as more at the two older buildings will be completed in future summers as money becomes available.

Bartlett school will have sanitary facilities for the first time this fall. The septic tank installation was completed this summer along with the painting of the building and of its neighbor, Hough school.

2-Car Collision Critically Hurts Plymouth Man

A Plymouth man, Roy McIntosh, 303 Elizabeth street, is in critical condition in Wayne County General hospital after suffering multiple injuries in a two-car collision last Friday noon at Ford and Canton Center roads.

Also in critical condition is Ida E. Gillow, 74, Detroit. Because the two injured drivers have been unable to give statements, the Sheriff's Road patrol said that witnesses believed Mrs. Gillow was driving west on Ford road and McIntosh was driving east. They said that it appeared that Mrs. Gillow made a left turn in front of the Plymouth man's car. McIntosh, an employee of the Detroit Diesel company, is suffering a fractured skull, a punctured lung, chest, stomach and arm injuries. Mrs. Gillow was not as seriously hurt but received a number of broken bones and lacerations.

The front ends of both cars were demolished. Mrs. Gillow's car careened into a cyclone fence on the southeast corner of the intersection.

Mr. McIntosh's family reports that he is slowly improving although still in critical condition.

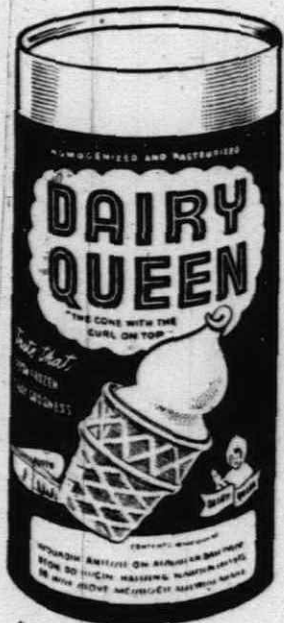

HALF OF THE RESULT of a two-car collision at Canon Center and Ford roads last Friday is shown here. It is the car driven by Ida Gillow of Detroit. Similarly damaged was the car driven by Roy McIntosh of Plymouth. Neighbors living in the area claim that they have been trying to have a traffic light installed at the intersection for over five years because of the great number of accidents. The front of the car shown is pushed against a cyclone fence.

Public to Air

 tion of the project will have an estimated cost of $27,088.

But the most controversy is expected to arise over the improvement of Main street from Penniman to Mill. There appears to be no one who doesn't think that the street needs paving, but many will disagree that it should be widened. Plans call for the street to be widened to 44 feet (four, 11-foot lanes). This would necessitate the cutting of many trees along the street and would place the street nearer to the homes and buildings.

City Manager Albert Glassford presented a revised report on the Main street project at Monday night's meeting. Its estimated cost has been revised upward from $147,000 to $162,832.

Property owners would pay for the improvement according to their frontage. Plans ask that property owners on each side of the street pay for one-third of the street and the city the remaining third. Since the city owns some of the land along the street and would be paying for intersections, the city's share of the project would be about one-half.

Parched Green

water supplies are secured and city needs are assured."

There is one method, however, which would require the city to extend its water mains into the waterless part of Green Meadows. If the Plymouth township subdivision were annexed to the city, a petition for water from the residents could not be turned down.

At the request of the Green Meadows representatives at Monday's meeting, the city attorney was directed to draft a petition for annexation.

"I really think it's worth trying," Mrs. Grady stated. "Some of the people we talked to about annexation at first didn't want it. But after they learned of the benefits such as water, sewerage and police protection, they changed their minds."

Meanwhile, city commissioners took another big step forward Monday night to obtain an additional water supply. They approved the purchase of a well field site on Six Mile road owned by G. H. Wines, Farmington real estate dealer. Two test holes drilled on the site have both proved favorable, according to Drury, McNamee and Porter, consulting engineers.

Commissioners approved a motion to advertise for bidders on the work necessary to develop the new well field. A 16-inch hole will be drilled. Also necessary will be pumps, well house, piping and control devices—all of which will cost an estimated $61,000. The consulting engineers have estimated the capacity of the new well to be 2,000,000 gallons per day. This will bring maximum yield of the two well field plants to over 4,000,000 gallons per day.

Another discussion about water supply took place when Julius Honeyman of Detroit asked that the city allow water taps for homes which he plans to build in Plymouth Gardens, a new subdivision to be constructed off Schoolcraft road. He took over the Plymouth Gardens project from another Detroit, Otto Hasse, whose request for water was turned down twice. Commissioners also voted to turn down Honeyman's request. Honeyman said that he would drill a well for each of his homes.

Good Counsel School Opens September 9

Our Lady of Good Counsel school will reopen Thursday, September 9, and classes will be held for half days on both September 9 and 10. Starting Monday, September 13, classes will resume for the full day.

Enrollment this year has topped that of last year, according to Sister Mary Suzanna, Mother Superior at the school. Approximately 325 youngsters have enrolled to date, compared with 317 at this time last year.

Five Sisters of the St. Joseph order and two lay teachers will instruct the children. First to eighth grades are taught at the school, and both seventh and eighth grades are taught by the same teacher.

Registration for the most part took place at the end of the school year, but youngsters may still register prior to the opening of school this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Goebel and family of Auburn avenue spent Sunday with Mrs. Goebel's mother, Mrs. John Hazlett, in Temperance, Michigan.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST

10:30 Sunday morning service.
10:30 Sunday school.
Classes for pupils up to 20 years of age.

Christ Jesus' mission to reveal divine healing which overcomes sin, sickness, and sorrow in every age, will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christ Jesus" will include the account as given in Matthew of Jesus' response to the followers of John the Baptist who asked if he was the Messiah (11:4,5). . . Go and show John again those things which ye do hear and see: The blind receive their sight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, and the poor have the gospel preached to them."

The following correlative passage will be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (131:26-30):

"The mission of Jesus confirmed prophecy, and explained the so-called miracles of olden time as natural demonstrations of the divine power, demonstrations which were not understood. Jesus' works established his claim to the Messiahship."
The Golden Text is from John (1:17): "The law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ."

Mr. Randal Penhale will preach next Sunday, August 29. His sermon theme is, "The New Commandment." Mr. Penhale is a clear thinker and a forceful speaker. Those who hear him in the adult Bible Class each Sunday morning during the fall and winter months cannot speak too highly of him.
Our regular Sunday services will go back to 9:45 a.m. for Sunday School and 11 a.m. for Divine Worship on Sunday, September 5.
The first choir practice under the direction of Mr. Urey Arnold will be held on Wednesday, September 8, at 7:30 p.m., for the Adult choir and on Saturday, September 11, at 10 a.m. for the Junior choir.
Elaborate plans are being considered to make our Junior Church an even more effective instrument for training boys and girls to appreciate the experience of worship. This will call for an organization set-up similar to that found in the adult worship service.
When attendance builds up again to warrant two services we will return to them. Two new Methodist families expressed their desire to become associated with our Church this week. It is quite natural that the biggest single Protestant Denomination in the U.S.A. should have a large share of the new Protestant families coming to our community. We urge them to identify themselves upon arrival. Phone the pastor at 1173 and he will help in every way possible.

Madonna College Begins Semester On September 13

The fall semester at Madonna will begin with Freshman Days scheduled for September 13-15. New resident students will arrive on campus Sunday evening, September 12, before 8 p.m. Commuters will report Monday before 9 a.m.

Upperclass resident students will arrive on the campus Tuesday evening, September 14, before 8 p.m., and commuters the following morning before 9 a.m.

Registration will be held that day for upperclassmen in the morning and for Freshmen in the afternoon. Regular classes at Madonna College will begin Thursday, September 16, at 8:45 a.m.

The three-day Freshman program is designed to welcome the new student, help her adjust to the routine of college life, and make her an active member of the student community. Arranged for these days are guided tours of the campus, lectures on curriculum requirements and dorm regulations, tests for counseling and placement purposes, and a number of get-acquainted activities, as a wiener roast, a hike, and a student-faculty tea.

A Layman Says:

Blessed are they that keep his testimonies, and seek him with the whole heart. Psalm 119:2.

The half-hearted policy of present day Christians in trusting their God with a half-trust, and believing their Scriptures with a half-faith, has led to their being half and half all around and whole-hearted in nothing. A true-hearted belief in God and the Bible would not only result in a worthy testimony to a Christian faith, but would bring untold joy to the hearts and lives of believers themselves. (ATS)

Peal out the watchword, silence it never, Song of our spirits, rejoicing and free!

"Truehearted, wholehearted, now and forever, King of our lives, by Thy grace we will be!"

Moscow recently announced that what is now known as the American bicycle was invented in 1803 by a Russian serf named Artamanov in the Ural Mountains. The first American bike was manufactured in Hartford, Conn., in 1877.

Following a major eruption of Krakatau volcano, in the strait between Hava and Sumatra, in 1883, abnormally long twilights and remarkably colored sunsets occurred throughout the world for two years.

SCHOOL BUS TRANSPORTATION

All bus routes will maintain the same schedule as last year for at least the first two weeks of school. In a few instances, the number on the school bus will be different but the time and route schedule will remain the same.

CHILDREN in the third grade and above attending the Smith Elementary School, living in the Green Meadows Subdivision and who were transported last year will be asked to walk.

CHILDREN in the third grade and above attending the Bird Elementary School, living in the area north of Farmer Street and east of Arthur Street and who were transported last year will be asked to walk.

CHILDREN in the third grade and above attending the Allen Elementary School living in the Robinson Subdivision will be asked to walk.

In the above-mentioned areas, children in the kindergarten, first and second grades will be transported.

It is the policy to transport only those children who live more than a mile from school. The designated bus stops will be determined by the Director of Transportation, in order to accommodate the greatest number of children.

The cooperation of students and parents in observing some very simple rules will make transportation efficient and safe. They are as follows:

1. Students will remain in their seats at all times.
2. Students will refrain from throwing paper and trash on the floor of the buses or out the bus windows.
3. Students will refrain from putting limbs and heads out of the bus windows.
4. Students will refrain from yelling at passing motorists and pedestrians.
5. Students will obey the driver's instructions.

The cooperation of the parents in bringing these rules to the attention of their children is most urgently needed.

"Back to School" Issue This Week

What appeared to be two-and-one-half long months of play and fun has come to an end all too soon for over 3,300 local youngsters, and within two weeks they'll be classroom bound again.

For the children it will mean meeting new friends and new teachers, discovering who's in the class, and beginning again the novelty of going to school. The new kindergartener is looking toward going to school with a mixture of fear and joy, but after all "he's a big boy now."

A sure sign that "back to school" days are taking over the community mind is seen in just strolling through the downtown area. Mothers are rushing back and forth with the youngsters in tow, selecting what Junior will wear for his school-going duties.

As an aid to parents and children as well, The Plymouth Mail has designated this week's edition as the annual "Back to School" issue. Local merchants have offered suggestions on its pages for the best in school wear in order to simplify the job of busy parents.

In this section attention is given to the shoe needs of the school student. Three local merchants tell readers their suggestions for comfort and style in shoes for the kindergartener all the way up to the college student. They realize that good fit is important for the school child who does a lot of walking.

Throughout the pages of The Mail you will also find the registration time for public and parochial schools, the calendar for the school year, a message from the School Board, a run-down on the new teacher roster, and a raft of pictures of local schools and school children.

It is suggested to parents that they read thoroughly all the school information presented on these pages, clipping the school calendar for future reference. The special advertisements as well should be carefully consulted before you shop so you might take advantage of the outstanding "back to school" bargains offered you by the local merchants.

WHAT'S STYLISH IN TEEN-AGE SHOES is being shown to Plymouth high school senior "Rusty" Crane by Stan Kirach of Fashion Shoes. Saddle shoes and loafers will again be popular for school wear among the high school crowd, while dressier flats will take over in the evening. "Rusty" is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Crane of 1494 Penniman.

Wider Choice of Shoes Now Awaits Boys, Girls

The leather tanners and the shoe manufacturers have gotten together to make life light, gay and colorful underfoot for all the children.

A quick look in the shop windows—now brimming over with sturdy new back-to-school shoes—reveals more highly styled footwear, much of it lighter in weight and more grown up than ever.

There's been a revolution in children's footwear, reports the National Shoe Institute. High shoes and oxfords used to tell the whole story. But now, there are as many choices for the boy or girl as there are for dad and mother.

Grown up fashions have, in fact inspired the new styles for children.

The big trend in girls' shoes is toward the graceful, simple line—with emphasis upon the double or single strap. One-strap shells in smooth or suede leather, two straps in plain or asymmetric treatment, the T-strap (an idea borrowed from the ladies), and crossed straps have all become increasingly popular.

New oxfords are also making an appearance on the young feet scene. The ghillie and kiltie oxfords go especially well with this year's tweeds. Saddle shoes too, are getting a facelift, in the form of new color treatment. Red or blue with white promises to become a popular fad.

Also in the sport group are the moccasin-toe oxford with a single strap; some two-toned shoes in either suede or smooth leather; and a sabot-type pump, patterned after a little Dutch girl's shoe, with elasticized sides to hold it firmly in place.

Borrowed from the boys are the slip-on patterns, now a hit with girls of all ages.

Calf is still the favorite material, but there are new softer grains that take a nice polish.

There are more blacks this fall, but most of the shoes are in the tans or browns. There are some navies and increasing numbers of Benedictine colors. Red is moving up as an important color.

Boys' shoes are being patterned after men's shoes. They are still rugged, but not so heavy as in the past few seasons.

The oxford is the leading boys' style, but something new has been added—the two-eyelet oxford and the gored slip-on. The two-eyelet blucher can be had in plain toe, moccasin and mud-guard treatments.

In laceless shoes, the tassel moc is popular, in blue or black as well as brown. Monk types and the military type of shoe are also high on the "best seller" list.

Children's Foot Health Depends On Proper Shoes

Medical studies prove that your child's foot health, in adult life depends on the care his feet receive now. But does every parent know the specific factors that contribute most to foot health?

Because the bone structure in children's feet is still soft, their shoes must combine the utmost in protection and freedom. This calls for a shoe that is flexible and strong enough to stand up under the pounding punishment children give their shoes. That means all-leather construction. Leather is unrivalled in flexibility, absorbency and pliant strength—properties vital in shoes to insure the growth of sound, sturdy feet.

What's more, leather breathes. By a process of transpiration, excess foot moisture is passed out from the inside of the shoe. Thus leather inhibits the growth of fungi and bacteria that flourish in dampness and are the source of so many foot ailments.

The wrong choice of shoes can have a lasting effect on your child's foot development. The right choice is the soundest investment you can make today in promoting the foot health of your children tomorrow.

Lutheran Day School Starts September 8

The Lutheran Day school at 1309 Penniman avenue will open its classroom doors for the fall semester on Wednesday, September 8. Registration for kindergarten students took place in the spring, and now that the fall registration figures are almost complete, Richard Scharf, principal, reports an approximate enrollment of 100 students at the school. This figure is about the same as that of last year.

Teaching kindergarten and grades one and two will be Miss Arlene Hertzberg. Miss Dolores Becker will teach the intermediate grades, three, four and five, while Scharf will instruct grades six, seven and eight.

Davis & Lent Loses 3-2 Tourney Tilt

Last week the Davis & Lent Class E recreation team advanced as far as the semi-finals in the state tournament at Saginaw, and then bowed out the hard way in an extra-inning contest to the team that went on to become state champions. Saginaw, the new Class E title-holder, had to go 9 innings to dispose of manager Eugene Carter's scrappy 16-year-old-and-under lads and beat Plymouth by a 3 to 2 score. The Davis & Lent nine had gained the semi-finals by shutting out the Ann Arbor entry by a 2 to 0 count.

Saginaw scored two runs in the opening inning on an error, a single and a theft of home. Jerry Drews started for Plymouth in this game, but yielded to Dick Day in the first inning after one runner had crossed the plate and another had reached third. Dick Day then came on, and the runner on third promptly stole home. Day went on to hurl splendid ball and allowed only two hits the rest of the game.

The winners counted their victory run in the second extra inning on a hit, a sacrifice and an error.

The Davis & Lent lads scored one run in the fifth inning, and another in the seventh to tie the game up. The local boys had 5 hits to Saginaw's 3 safeties. Cliff Tait had 2, Ken Fairbanks, two, and Jerry Foreman one single.

Saginaw went on to defeat Wayne in the finals 2 to 0 to become state champs.

In the first round game where Plymouth defeated Ann Arbor

2 to 0 to make it three tourney games without being scored on, Dick Day tossed a nifty two-hitter to shut out Ann Arbor. Plymouth was able to garner only three hits, but errors and clutch hits enabled the local nine to get a run in the first inning, which was enough to win the game.

In this game the three hits were made by Cliff Tait, Ken Fairbanks and Dick Day.

This ended the season for the Davis & Lent boys, one of the most successful in local Class E history. Manager Eugene Carter and Coach Bill Venetta spent a lot of time in readying this team for the good season play, and along with the boys, deserves a lot of credit for the showing the team made.

SPORTS FLASHES

The Sporting News by J. & Taylor Spink

The Davis & Lent team went to the semi-finals in the recent state Class E recreational baseball tournament at Saginaw, and but for an unfortunate error might have brought home the state trophy. The 16 and under lads battled Saginaw right down to the wire only to lose in extra innings when the third baseman threw what he thought was his first baseman, but it turned out to be the rival first base coach. There were no coaching lines and the coach was close to the bag causing the faulty play. This error paved the way for the winning run.

The lads played a magnificent game all the way, and a record of three tournament games without being scored upon is unique for this age-limit ball. Good fielding and pitching and some clutch hitting carried the team near the top goal. Tournament observers remarked it was one of the best teams ever to enter a state Class E tournament.

This year's all-star softball team representing Plymouth is a very good one, and one that could easily go through the four-city tourney without a loss. There is hitting power with most of the sluggers and clutch hitters in the Men's league on it, and two of the best twirlers in Gabby Street of Olds and Joe Thibodeau of Cavalcade. A truly powerful outfit!

It sure seemed good to see another horseshoe tournament in Plymouth. The local tourney conducted Sunday was a most interesting one, and many enthusiastic oldsters and a few youngsters took part, while many more just looked on. This should become an annual affair, and next year should see around a hundred competing for the right to go to the Michigan State Fair to enter the state finals.

Many nice remarks were heard from those present, and I'll wager that you will see a revival of horseshoe pitching on the local courts, in back yards, and everywhere as a result of this new interest in the sport.

Three old-timers are showing the youngsters how to play baseball in the major leagues this season. Bob Feller, Stan Musial and Ted Williams are the ones who are playing like kids, and all three are having a great season. Feller, who only hurls about once a week now has a 11 won and 2 lost record; he doesn't strike out as many as he once did, but uses his head. Ted Williams is near the top in batting, runs batted in, and home runs even though he missed the first month or so due to injuries. Musial, long one of the powers in the National League is also near the top in all batting departments.

All these players are near the end of the trail, and it is good to see them having such a good season.

The Boston Red Sox really took the sails out of the Yankee clippers last weekend by drubbing the defending champs in three straight games. All indications pointed to a Yankee collapse because of their pitching staff, which hasn't been holding together too well this year. Now they have bought Jim Konstanty from the National League to help bolster it—even though they have had success with these castoffs in former years, I don't look for them to repeat as champions this year. Those Indians aren't folding this year, and as I said before I wouldn't be surprised to see the Yankees slip badly the last month, and the White Sox grab second place. We'll see.

Coach Charles Ketterer is back from the resort north and will be on the practice field next Monday preparing his boys for another 6-B League season. The lads will be sweating out on the field next week taking off the extra pounds put on during the summer, and readying themselves for the tough season ahead.

Coach Ketterer has had successful seasons since coming to Plymouth three years ago. His boys have won one league title outright and shared in another. He has a lot of lettermen back this year, but could still use some beefy lads up front.

More than 40,000,000 young Americans have come of age in the last 18 years; at the present rate of growth, our country will have more than 3,000,000,000 people in it by 1999.

Merchants Need Final Win For Playoffs

The Plymouth Merchants lost an opportunity to cinch a playoff spot last Sunday as they went down to a 10 to 9 defeat at the hands of River Rouge in extra innings. This loss makes it necessary for the local nine to defeat Wayne this Sunday in order to gain the championship playoffs which begin the first Sunday in September.

It took 12 innings Sunday for the Rouge outfit to win. The Merchants had tied the game up in the eighth inning at 8-all, and each team had an opportunity to win it before the last inning. In the 12th an error and a wild pitch put a runner on second base with one down, the next batter flied out for the second out, but then a single scored what proved to be the winning run when Plymouth could not score in the last turn at bat.

The game started out to be a free-swinging one sprinkled with a number of errors. Each team scored in the first three innings, and Plymouth was ahead 6 to 4 as the fifth opened. Chuck McIlhargey, who started on the mound for the Merchants, weakened in the fifth, and with one run in, and runners on first and third, was replaced by Ed Hock, who walked the first man to face him and allowed two singles to score four runs in the fifth. Hock pitched a good game from then on and allowed only two more runs, and reached top performance in the 10th when Dapsi, who had 8 straight hits until retired on a fly in the 12th, led off with a booming triple, but stayed there as Hock retired the next three batters in order.

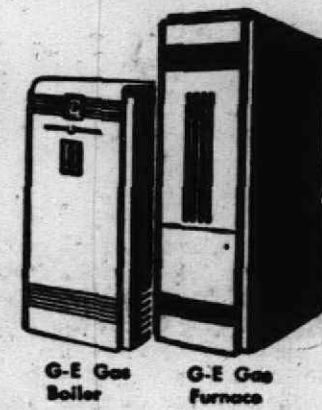

River Rouge made a total of 20 hits off McIlhargey and Hock, while Plymouth garnered 13 safeties. Dapsi had 6 sound binges for the winners, while Pete Collura and Harold DeWulf led the Merchants attack with three a piece; Kubitsky, Al Moers, and Hock each collected two hits.

Sunday Wayne comes to Riverside Park for a game beginning at 8:30 p.m. Wayne has a record of 10 wins and 7 losses for the season, and Plymouth lost to Wayne by an 8 to 4 score earlier in the season.

Olds 9 Wins State District Softball Title

The Beglinger Olds team will be playing in the state Class B recreational tournament this weekend as a result of winning the district tourney at Ypsilanti last week. The state tourney is being held at Wyandotte tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday where all district winners will convene to determine a state champion.

Olds won over Adrian 3 to 2 in the district finals after disposing of Ann Arbor 12 to 2 in an earlier game. Joe Thibodeau, whom Olds borrowed from Cavalcade for the state tourney, hurled the final and allowed only three hits. The batting hero was Howard Hunt, who socked a home run to break a two-all tie in the fifth inning to win the game for Olds.

Plymouth counted twice in the first inning as John Wilkie was safe on an error, Henry Schultz received a base on balls and Bill Stout came through with a ringing double to score both runners. Adrian tied it up in the third on a walk, an error, and a hit. Hunt's homer concluded the scoring for the night.

Olds made a total of 5 hits—2 by Wilkie, and one each by Hunt, Stout and Liechtweis.

In the first game, Gabby Street hurled two-hit ball to win over Ann Arbor 12 to 2. Olds scored most of their runs in the first three innings with Manager Doug Egloff leading the way with four hits in four times at bat.

The Plymouth Men's League champs will be playing tomorrow night in the first round of the state tournament.

8 Teams Cinch Playoff Berths In Inter-County

Eight of the fourteen teams in the Inter-County league have cinched playoff berths, and two more have a chance to get in the championship tourney if they win Sunday. The two are Plymouth's Merchants and Food Fair; both need a win this weekend to bring them up to the necessary .500 percentage. Food Fair plays league-leading Taylor while Plymouth takes on Wayne, who is tied for second place; the latter game is at Riverside Park at 3:30 p.m.

The race for top positions this year is a close one with Taylor enjoying a one-game margin over five other clubs who are tied for second place.

Last Sunday Plymouth lost to River Rouge in extra innings 10 to 9; Northville beat Detroit 6 to 4, Farris drubbed the hapless Cubs 28 to 2. Wayne handed first-place Taylor a 6 to 3 beating, Dearborn edged Grandale 1 to 0. Teamsters disposed of Wyandotte 7 to 2, and Auto Club scored two runs in the last inning to nip Food Fair 6 to 5.

Beglinger Plays Soo In Tourney Opener

This Friday, Beglinger Olds opens play in the State Recreational Class B softball tournament against Sault Ste. Marie at 7:00 p.m. at Pulaski Park in Wyandotte. The park is located on 15th street off Fort avenue.

Should Beglinger's win this game, the schedule calls for the second tilt to be played at the same park at 10 a.m. Saturday. If beaten in Friday's game, Beglinger's plays at noon Saturday at Wyandotte Chemical in the two-game elimination tournament.

Local Horseshoe Pitchers Provide Excellent Show

The ancient game of horseshoe pitching came back to Plymouth Sunday when a tournament was held in Riverside Park to determine a winner to represent Plymouth at the Michigan State Fair in the state finals. The tourney, under the able management of Lovell Fulton, was a huge success. The event was sponsored by the local recreation department in connection with the Detroit Free Press.

Edward Foreman emerged the winner over 40 other aspirants. Sixteen appeared at the Riverside courts, and another 24 had played an elimination tourney at the Northville State Hospital with the two finalists coming to the Plymouth tournament. Foreman, who is 47 years of age, and lives with his wife, Clara, at 298 Ann Street in Plymouth, has been pitching shoes since a kid, but has never entered a tournament before. He easily disposed of Richard Davis in the finals.

Four men reached the semi-finals without too much trouble. They were: David Ellis, Delbert Larrick, Foreman and Davis. Del Larrick gave Foreman the stiffest competition in a semi-final game and lost two out of three matches by scores of 23 to 9; 8 to 24; and 23 to 17. Each contestant had 33 ringers in the three games with Larrick getting 14 and Foreman 17 in the final game between the two. Dick Davis disposed of Ellis in his semi-final match 21-13, 4-21, 21-18. Foreman shutout Davis in the finals 26-0, 26-0, and ended both games with a double ringer.

In the quarter-finals Larrick won over Ken Keith, Foreman over Henry Pankow, Davis over Leonard Millross, and Ellis over Hugo Kummer.

Winner Foreman will compete in the state finals at the Michigan State Fair on September 3, 4 and 5.

Most of the contestants were middle-aged, and of a group that has not actively participated in the recreation athletic program. This year's tourney was received so enthusiastically that a bigger and better one is in prospect for next summer.

Local All Stars Out To Repeat As Titleholders

The second annual all-star tournament will get underway next week with champion teams from Wayne, Garden City, Inkster and Plymouth competing against each other in the double elimination tourney. These all-star teams were picked by the managers of teams in each league. The local all-star outfit is made up of representatives from five of the seven teams that comprised the Plymouth Men's League with the winning Beglinger Olds team leading with seven players.

The thirteen-man team is composed of the following players: Walter Londeau, of Cavalcade at first base; John Slessor of Olds at second; Merle Seriver of LaFountain at third; Henry Schultz of Olds at shortstop; Don Liechtweis of Olds, Bill Stout of Olds, and Howard Hunt of Olds make up the outfield; Gabby Street and Joe Thibodeau are the pitchers; Jess Asher of Cavalcade and Ron Johnson of the Plymouth Merchants are the catchers, and the two utility players are Tom Fairbanks of Evans and Carl Pursell of Olds. Charles Dudley of LaFountain is the team manager.

Londeau, Street, Hunt and Liechtweis were unanimous choices by all the team managers. Individual trophies will be awarded all players on the winning and the second place teams. Olds opens against Wayne next Monday night at 8 p.m. at Wayne.

Inkster plays Garden City the same night also Wayne at 9:30 p.m. The games Wednesday will be held at Garden City with the two above losers playing at eight o'clock, and the two winners going against each other at 9:30.

Thursday will see the two teams with one loss playing at eight, and the final game to determine the winner will be played Friday night at eight o'clock.

Learning Tools Play Big Part In School Life

It's the tools that a child uses for learning that play an important part in his attitude toward his work. Most children relish having pen and pencil sets, crayons, notebooks, rulers, and a fancy school bag in which to carry all their fancy equipment.

Chosen very carefully to stimulate a pride in the things with which he works, they can be the perfect introduction to orderly habits and they also can help make school tasks a pleasure.

Educators recognize this principle and urge parents to heed it especially at the beginning of the new school term, in order to give the child a fresh and inspiring start.

Basic to the school child's tool kit is the school bag which has come a long way from the old fashioned straps and drawstrings. Now Junior may have one similar to dad's own brief bag and in equally attractive and sturdy leather. Sister may prefer one of fabric to match her favorite plaid.

There is a wide variety of practical bags to allow children a chance to exercise choice while parents give their attention to durable quality.

Choosing pen and pencil sets and notebooks offers similar opportunity for the child to participate in the selection. Obviously the youngster will work most happily and therefore best, with the thing he likes.

Basic tools used by school children can be amplified with benefit to learning. A good dictionary is a must in every house where there is a school child.

A globe and an atlas, or both, also are mighty useful tools especially in this modern age. They are comparatively inexpensive and will serve for years.

Choose Summer For Tree Care

Trees that need operations should get them now.

Tree doctors prefer to do their surgery during the summer because their patients are apt to respond more quickly and look better. Healing bark has time to fully cover the edges of the wound during the same growing season.

In recent years, the average individual operation is a much smaller one. This simply reflects the nation's appreciation of its beautiful shade trees and the success of preventive tree care practices.

If your tree has a small cavity, don't wait until it gets really large before you call the arboreal medico. Then it may be too late for him to pull the patient through. The smaller operation is better for your tree and your pocketbook. If the tree has to be taken down, this probably will cost more than the minor surgery required in the early stages of decay. Once decay spreads far into the tree, even the most skillful scalpel wielder may be unable to save it, no matter how much you are willing to spend.

WHEN YOU ARE GOING all the way to Harvard university it takes a pretty big trunk to hold all your things. That's what Dean Palmer of 5187 Beck road is just beginning to discover as he readies for school. Palmer won a scholarship to the Eastern school while a senior at Plymouth high school last spring.

City's Oldest Home Built Elsewhere

PLYMOUTH'S OLDEST HOUSE, though moved here from Waterford, is occupied by Police Chief Carl Greenlee at 356 North Main street. The house is approximately 170 years old.

The oldest house in Plymouth, still serving as a residence, was not built in Plymouth at all. This fact was the most interesting of many learned by your reporter in a search for information concerning our town's oldest homes.

This house of which we speak, and now occupied by Carl Greenlee, Plymouth police chief, stands today at 356 North Main street and is roughly 170 years old.

Built originally in Waterford about 1783, it was moved to Plymouth and it's present site in 1850. Oxen were used in the operation but their number and the time consumed would now be merely conjecture. However, it would certainly be safe to say that it was quite a task. Especially so when we stop to consider that there were no paved roads way back then as we know them today.

Solidly constructed, (and what homes weren't in those days?) the original black walnut studding is still doing its work and the passing years have given it the appearance of ebony.

Louis Westfall, another member of our police force, recalls living there as a boy in 1904. The rent was $5.00 a month.

Plymouth's oldest home that was built right here in town, and is still standing, is located at 941 West Ann Arbor trail, next to the Professional Center, and is the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. Fletcher Campbell.

Built in 1835 by John Kellogg, one of Plymouth's earliest residents and wealthiest landowners, we learned that laborers and craftsmen were brought in from Detroit to aid in its construction.

Mr. Campbell informs us, however, that when he moved there as a boy with his family in 1908 the landscaping on the property left something to be desired. He recalls vividly how he and his brothers became lost in the weeds in the back yard.

Much of an old grape-arbor that grew in the back of the home is still intact and is still bearing fruit, and we were also informed that the original siding is still on the house.

Although the passing of time has seen quite extensive alterations on the interior, the first foundation is still there as are many of the old rafters. (What's the price of solid oak and black walnut in a home today?)

An historical note of interest concerning the Campbell residence is that the abstract to the property is signed by John Quincy Adams.

Both of these two old houses have many stories and many secrets which they guard jealously and well. And perhaps that is as it should be. Certainly the dignity that goes with their age entitles them to something.

But whatever the case, it is apparent that they represent the best of Plymouth's past, present and future.

MEN IN SERVICE

Remo Cogo
I Corps, Korea—Sergeant Remo Cogo, son of Mrs. Desolina Cogo, 20275 Parkville, Livonia, recently took part in ceremonies dedicating a new government office for the citizens of Sangu-ri, Korea.

Cogo is a section chief in Battery A of the 836th Field Artillery Battalion, which is helping with construction projects under the Armed Forces Assistance to Korea program.

In the Far East since July 1953, he entered the Army in January 1953 and completed basic training at Camp Chaffee, Arkansas.

Don F. Ream
I Corps, Korea—Private Don F. Ream, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Ream, 378 South Harvey street, Plymouth is now serving in Korea with I Corps.

The I Corps, one of three in the Eighth Army, coordinates an intensive post-truce training program for UN units under its control.

Private Ream entered the Army in February 1954 and was stationed at Fort Knox, Kentucky, before arriving in Korea last month.

FROM 300 FEET down in Lake Superior came this 35 pound trout which Don Packard, 47380 Territorial road, holds. Mrs. Packard, center, fortunately has a deep freeze to hold the big fish along with the "little" 15-pounder held by daughter Thelma. Eleven trout were caught during the day by the Packard family 21 miles off Munising. Mr. Packard's 44-inch specimen was the largest lake trout caught out of Munising this year. Others on the trip last week were children Barbara, Louis and Dennis.

Seeks Closer School-Citizen Relationships

Closer cooperation between citizen-parents and their local schools was urged in the final program of Michigan State College's summer "Educational Series."

Dr. H. M. Hamlin, chairman of the division of agricultural education at the University of Illinois and a national authority on the community's role in education, warned: "The philosophy of a school system cannot be developed by the school staff alone."

Declaring that there should be no segregation of teachers and citizens in a community, Dr. Hamlin said schools should actively seek participation of parents and citizens in school affairs.

Three basic questions which the public raises about education, he said, are these: What is expected of the schools? What are the schools doing? and what ways and means must the public provide?

"Any organization set up to gain public participation must be prepared objectively and realistically to look at these three basic problems," he said.

Also speaking on the "Educational Series" program, sponsored by M.S.C.'s School of Education, was Midland School Supt. Ernest Britton, president-elect of the Michigan association of school administrators. "If the schools belong to the people, are built and served for their children, and if we expect to have good schools," he asked, "how can we have them without parents participating?"

Devil's Punch Bowl, near Newport, Oregon, is a tide-worn, unroofed cavern where incoming Pacific Ocean tidal waters rush through two openings into a gigantic cauldron, which in the beginning had been a cave.

An Eastern railway is using an electronic device to inspect rail joints. The device indicates imperfections that may develop in the joints long before they become visible to the eye.

SUMMER FIRST-AID FOR HAIR

LUCY SAYS:

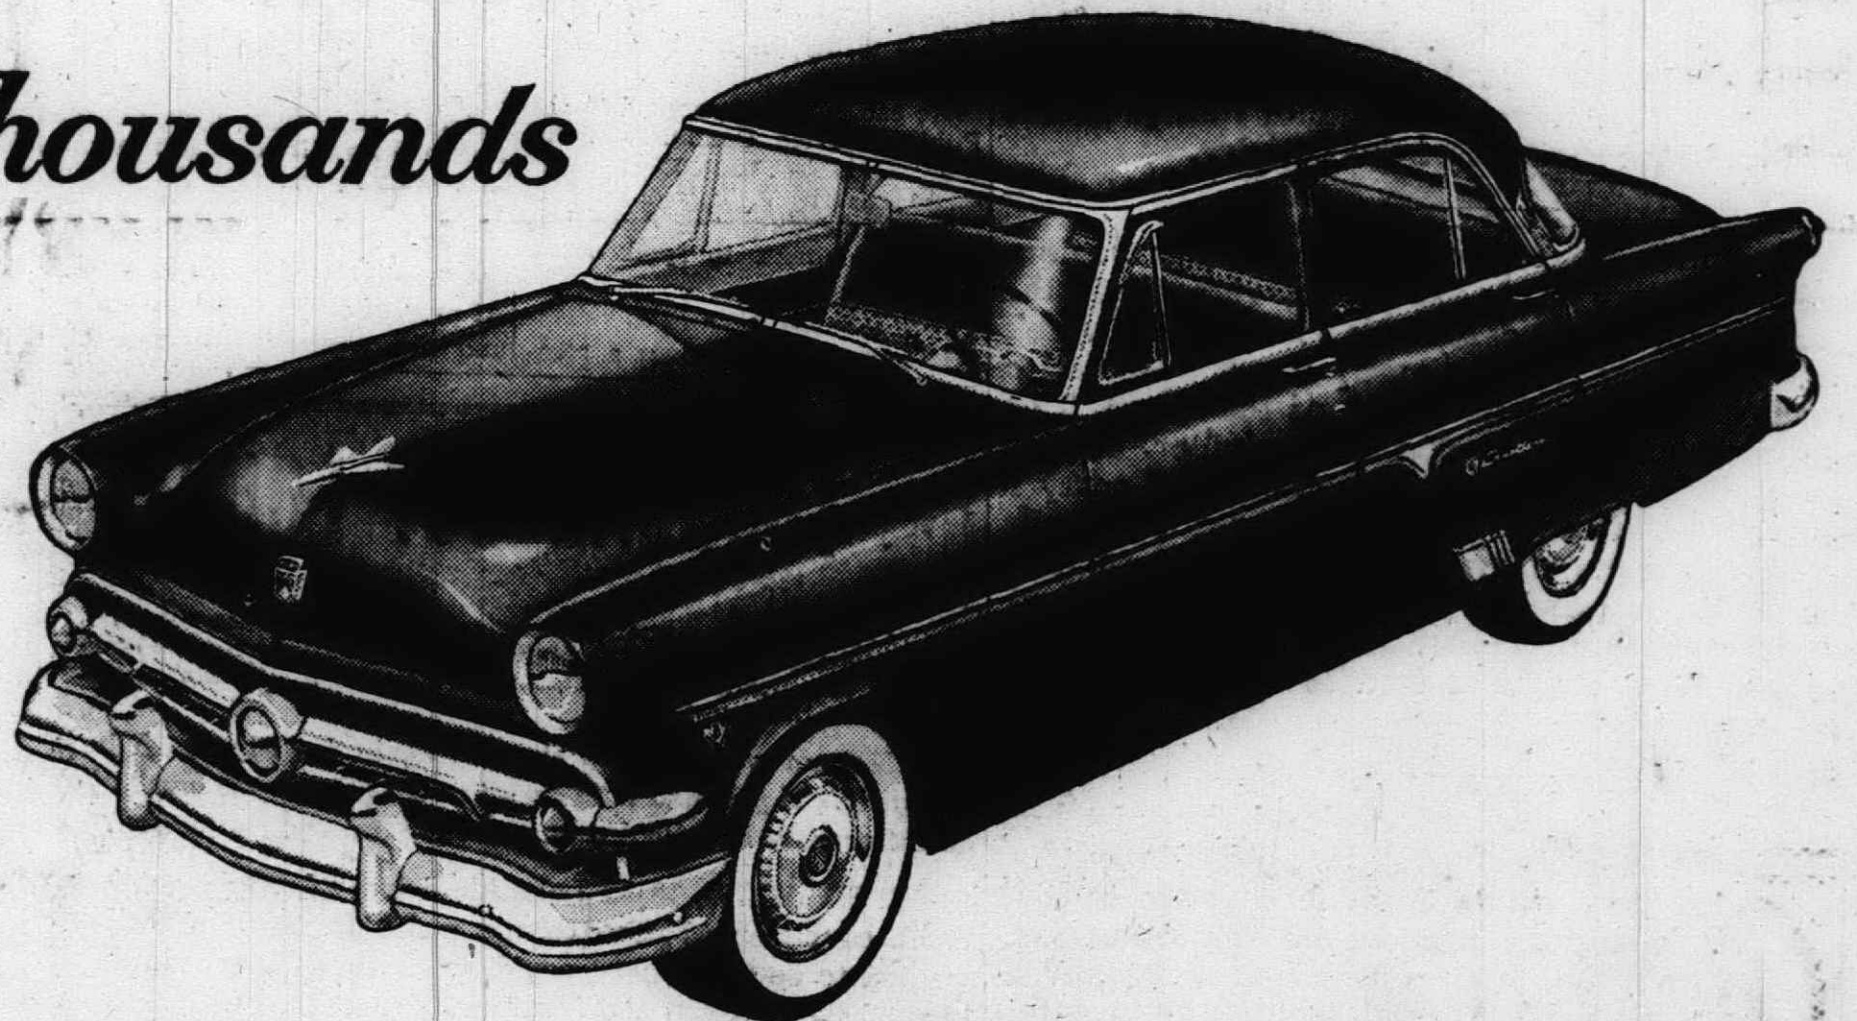

If you've been enjoying the summer sun — and who hasn't for awhile, anyway — your hair is pretty well dried out, streaked, drab, and needs some first-aid by now. Why not wash some fresh color into your hair with any one of the fine color shampoos on the market — Cara Nome, Roun, Blensol, etc., or tone up with Rubenstein color tone shampoo (not a dye). Of course, one can always freshen up with a rinse, tone up, tone down, brighten, even up the streaks and create magic in your own hair.

Have you heard of the new Rubenstein hair touch-up stick, perfect for in-a-hurry touch-ups! Wet the stick and rub across the gray smatterings, eight colors to choose from. Washes out — only temporary.

Want to go festive? Give your hair the "jewel treatment" — silver or gold. Easy to apply, you can have a bold streak, a glittering tip or a halo. Boost your ego and net complimentary results from a small investment. For further information come in and talk it over with us at BEYER REX-ALL DRUGS, 505 Forest Ave., or 165 Liberty St., Plymouth.

Chips from the ROCK

Only a few more days separate vacation time from back-to-school, back-to-work time. It has been a glorious summer for Americans and 67 per cent more cars were scooting over highways this year than ever before. Plymouth cannot boast of the fact that no local lives were lost in the appalling, climbing death rate on the highway as can some other municipalities.

We can however, as the last few vacation days loom before us along with the Labor Day weekend, take stock of ourselves as we prepare for any last minute vacation excursion. State authorities are placing at strategic places on Michigan's highways, in addition to State Police, members of the military police of the National Guard, to provide extra protection for you and your families as you travel.

They are to remind you to take extra precautions as you drive. They are to help enforce Michigan's traffic laws in an all-out effort to cut down the number of traffic accidents which, by all predictions, will set an all-time high. You can help and perhaps save your life by observing all of the rules of good driving in these few remaining days. You can help keep Plymouth's list of fatalities where it now stands IF YOU will use extra precaution as you drive. Let's determine now to keep Plymouth's name from the usual Monday morning listings in the state of weekend traffic accidents.

Funny things happen in this great country of ours. There is no question but what there is much to be desired in untangling the every day workings of our income tax department. The Internal Revenue Department is unpredictable, and how many of its decisions are finally arrived at is sometimes beyond comprehension. Through contact with the department we have learned from our attorneys at various times that in many instances there are no set formulas, and what the final and correct way to arrive at answers may be no one knows.

No one can censure any individual or group of Revenue Department agents. They, at all times, proceed honestly at what in their judgment is in the best interest of their department, but a structure so large and so complicated develops peculiar rulings in like cases in different sections of the country.

For instance... a friend of mine from a western state tells the story of his experience recently in the settlement of the estate of his wife's family. The wife's mother and father had for many years operated a drug store on the western side of Michigan. Two years ago the mother died and the father, too old and mentally unfit to run the business, did carry it on however. As losses in the business started to pile up it became necessary to have the courts appoint the daughter as administratrix of the father's affairs. This being done an immediate move was made to dispose of the business and the building which housed it.

About a year after a Cleveland druggist had purchased the business Revenue agents leveled a claim against the estate from the years of 1942 through 1950 in unpaid taxes in the amount of $52,000.00. The daughter had realized only $40,000.00 from the sale and the father at the time had only the records of the business kept by his wife and nothing further since he had dissipated whatever funds he previously had.

After a year's quibbling government authorities agreed to settle with her attorneys for $11,000 which was promptly paid leaving the daughter some $26,000.00, after tax and attorney fees, to support her father the rest of his days.

About two weeks after the settlement was made members of the family read in daily newspapers the following item in regard to another case which had been settled about the same time in Wisconsin. The Bureau had leveled an assessment of $187,127.10 against a Fort Madison individual for unpaid taxes during the years of 1945, '46, '47 and '48.

This individual claimed his books and working papers for all four years had been "lost or destroyed" in a way which he had no knowledge. Withstanding the fact he was still capable of conducting a business and his records for those years had been "lost" the $187,127.10 claim was settled for a paltry $5,210.42 which should make all of us once again wonder how the big money earners who owe the government such large amounts get away with paying such insignificant amounts... when Joe Doaks, you and I, if assessed, must pay through the nose... Doesn't make sense, does it?

The fact that the Supreme Court is planning on reviewing several cases of tax evasion, on the "net worth formula" should be encouraging to all of us and it is hoped they will review many more. The "net worth" formula is an indirect method of proof based on circumstantial evidence. The taxpayer that declares a few thousand dollars income yet maintains a yacht and lives in a cozy Park Avenue apartment had better watch out. This formula could send him to jail. It is used extensively where taxpayers records are sketchy, or perhaps nonexistent.

WITH RELUCTANT FOOTSTEPS DRAGGING

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Gene Alleman
Secy. Mich. Press Ass'n.

Think you were treated unfairly by a mover? The gas or electric company? Do you think the telephone company should give better service for the rate you pay?

If your sentiment is justified, you have a powerful ally to enforce a fair settlement.

Standing guard over the rights of individuals in such cases is the state Public Service Commission.

When a consumer becomes dissatisfied with a grocery or hardware store, he can trade else where. When he is dissatisfied with a utility, he has no such alternative.

He can, however, appeal to the Public Service Commission. All they ask is that the complaint be made in writing. This eliminates misunderstanding and requires the complainant to spell out a specific charge.

If investigation proves a complaint to be groundless, the person who originated it receives a letter to that effect. But if there is reason to believe that it is justified, the Commission can order the agency involved to make adjustments. PSC can also make new regulations that will prevent repetition.

But the Public Service Commission is designed to be fair to the agency serving the public as well. In addition to controlling utilities, PSC has jurisdiction of motor transportation: bus and freight lines that serve more than one municipal area.

Besides making regulations to protect public safety, the Commission sets rates which shall be charged and must approve the financial stability of organizations that want to deal with the public.

Law provides for three commissioners appointed by the governor. At present only two are in office, and the vacancy will probably exist until after the fall election.

The law also provides that the Senate must approve the appointments. It is natural to assume that the governor would appoint a Democrat while the Senate would prefer a Republican. No qualified person has turned up who will run the risk of a temporary appointment.

Issues could be deadlocked with only two commissioners, should each vote differently on an issue, but this has not caused serious trouble.

Commission verdicts can be taken to the courts if a party feels them to be unfair. They are considered in Ingham County Circuit Court or in State Supreme Court.

Judges can confirm, reverse the Commission's ruling, or send it back to PSC with a recommendation for restudy. The third road can be a face saving device.

Chairman of the Commission is John H. McCarthy, a Democrat from Mt. Clemens. Maurice E. Hunt, a Sault Ste. Marie businessman and a Republican, is the other member. Both now live in Lansing because the job requires a full working schedule.

Secretary of PSC is Sophus Lund, who has held the position since 1939 except for one year. He supervises the recording of the Commission's rulings and manages personnel.

"In general, the firms we control are most cooperative," said Mr. Lund. He described as an example, the activities of telephone companies. "Although there are more than 140 telephone companies doing business in Michigan," he said, "nearly 90% is done by the three big ones—Bell, General and Union."

"Sometimes, a very small firm will want to sell out and cannot find a buyer," he continued. "We can contact one of the big companies. They will establish a fair price, and make the purchase."

Application for rate changes, which usually means increases, must be approved by the Commission.

Commissioners set times for hearings and interested parties—from attorneys for large cities to individual customers—are allowed to present their views.

Michigan Bell applied for a rate increase in July, 1953. It was refused last month after much study and testimony. A new application will soon be filed for reconsideration.

The Commission can also order rebates and sometimes does. In 1945 a general rebate to Bell's customers was ordered. It totaled $10 million and took years to complete.

Enforcement officers of PSC patrol the roads. They stop trucks to be sure haulers are moving loads according to legal conditions.

The Commission thinks the motor transit operators welcome this enforcement. It protects the legitimate lines from "fly by night" truckers offering unfair competition because they do not observe the standards of safety or other requirements of the Commission.

The eastern end of Long Island was once important cattle country. As early as 1660, "cow keepers" tended herds of grazing animals and from two to six thousand head ranged there until the end of the 1800's.

The Appalachian Trail in the eastern United States winds through 14 states, eight national forests and two national parks.

ROGER BABSON SAYS:

BABSON DISCUSSES OUR FOREIGN POLICY

Gloucester, Massachusetts. I am disturbed by the recent trend in our foreign relations. Despite the expenditure of billions of dollars abroad in military and economic aid, we have not been having much success in selling America and American ideals to other peoples.

Our foreign relief and rehabilitation programs, including the great Marshall Plan which, together with Point Four, did so much to put Western Europe back on its feet, were good ideas. They stimulated economic activity here at home and they aided countless millions of people in Europe and Asia. But they served also to antagonize some people abroad and to create mistrust.

POOR SALES WORK

In other words, our Government spent much time, effort, and money on a big promotional campaign that almost fizzled. Why? I think we failed because our official personnel abroad—our salesmen, if you will—did not know exactly what they were selling and did not trouble to ascertain the real needs of the foreign countries which were their "customers." That was not good diplomacy, or good politics, or good business. Although we are a mighty nation, we cannot afford such poor "sales performance."

Our foreign policy has been directed by a number of very capable men. I do not blame them for the fact that it has backfired so often in recent years. They have had hard sledding, with crisis following upon crisis. They improvised, and perhaps did the best they could. Meanwhile, the State Department has provided good berths for generous contributors to political party "war chests."

MORE EFFICIENT FOREIGN SERVICE NEEDED

We need more efficiency and ability in the State Department, AND PARTICULARLY IN THE CONDUCT OF ITS OVERSEAS OPERATIONS. Next year, Congress should give careful study to effecting improvements. It could provide for recruiting Foreign Service personnel by establishing scholarship training programs somewhat like the one which has worked so well for the Navy's Reserve Officer Training Corps.

An alternate measure would be the founding of a Foreign Service Academy to train men and women especially for overseas service in the diplomatic field. This new academy would be supervised carefully by the Government itself. Its standards would be comparable to those of West Point or Annapolis, which have had great success in their respective fields. Money will not secure promotion in either of these institutions.

INCENTIVES ARE LACKING

While we are waiting for Congress to decide how best to recruit and train Foreign Service officers, something should be done about improving the morale and performance of those who now represent our interests abroad. I am told that the Foreign Service Officer Corps is at the lowest numerical strength in five years—and this at a time when world tensions are very high. Promotions among these men are too uncommon. Few incentives for doing a better job are offered to them.

Men have served in the Foreign Service for as long as 20 years without having passed more than two years of that service in the United States itself. Such a condition of exile is poor policy. These men cannot be effective exponents of the American way of life unless they are given frequent opportunities to come back home. How else are they to obtain really first-hand knowledge of the needs which should shape our national policy?

LET'S FACE REALITY

We have developed a dynamic domestic economy which has met many challenges. We should also have a dynamic foreign policy. Our frontiers now lie well beyond our shores. There must be a way to attract our best men to work for our interests abroad. We must find that way if we are to preserve our own freedom and get our share of the world's raw materials, of which we stand so much in need. Our national security itself lies in the balance and depends upon more friendly allies.

I forecast that the State Department will be reorganized and operated as carefully as the Army, Navy, or Air Force Departments. No one can become a recognized general or admiral by making a monetary contribution to a political party. Some day, I forecast, the State Department will cease being used to pay off political debts to large party contributors, or to help support lame-duck politicians.

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

Sandra Reber, daughter of Mrs. Edwin Reber of 399 Auburn, is shown above helping her mother sift the flour for one of the family's favorite recipes.

Date, Nut Bread

Mrs. Edwin Reber of 399 Auburn likes to serve this delicious date and nut bread to guests dropping in for the afternoon or evening. It's not only popular with guests, but is easy to make, too!

Date and Nut Bread
3 cups pastry flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups sweet milk
1 cup walnut meats
1/4 cup dates

Beat eggs, add sugar, milk and dry ingredients sifted together, add nuts and dates. Mix well. Turn into greased bread pan. Let stand 20 minutes. Bake 45 to 60 minutes in a 325 degree oven.

Library Hopes Children Will Keep Reading Habit

Summer's almost over, but let's hope that's not the end of the reading habit established by many Plymouth youngsters over the summer months. These are the sentiments of the librarians at Dunning library, and they point out that their shelves are stocked full of many worthwhile books for young readers.

Not only are these books of value by themselves, but they will furnish background information on school subjects and make schoolwork more interesting. The "Landmark" books, in particular, are excellent in subject matter and are written by well-known authors. Guaranteed to make history "live" for young readers is "Daniel Boone and the Opening of the Wilderness," a Landmark book, "The Voyages of Christopher Columbus" by Sperry, and Garst's "Jim Bridger."

A regular thriller, covering the life of Captain John Smith, is "The Sword and the Compass" by Leighton. There is a whole children's section devoted exclusively to famous people, and the many books here will give an insight into the lives and backgrounds of these persons as well as prove an inspiration to young readers.

Learning history the "painless" way can be done with such books as "Westward the Course" by Hildegard Hawthorne, a fictionalized story of the Lewis and Clark Expedition, and "Michel's Island" by Hunt. American history comes to life in such Landmark books as "The Monitor and The Merrimac" by Pratt, and Tallant's "Louisiana Purchase." Balch's "Indian Fur" is also recommended for young readers.

"Arithmetic Can Be Fun" according to Munro Leaf, and it is just that when this noted author goes about it in a book under that title. Freeman, too, has taken the drudgery out of arithmetic in his book entitled "Fun With Figures."

Mentioning only a few of the science books which help to make this subject both more interesting and understandable, are "You Among the Stars," covering astronomy, and "You and Atomic Energy and Its Wonderful Uses" by John Lewellen.

The nature and craft books, too, at Dunning library will help to keep little hands busy when school is over for the day, as well as provide ideas for the Brownie, Cub or Scout troop.

Local Members Attend Legion Meeting in Capital

Several Plymouthites were among the 146 Michigan American Legion delegates who left this week for the 36th annual national Legion convention in Washington, D.C., August 30 through September 2. Among the delegates were William Langmaid, 7655 Koppernick, Elton D. Knapp, 798 Pacific, and Lisle H. Alexander, 210 North Mill.

Langmaid was recently elected by Legion members of his Congressional district to officially represent them on national business matters to affect some 3,000,000 world-wide Legionnaires.

President Eisenhower will share the spotlight with Dr. Konrad Adenauer, chancellor of the Federal Republic of Germany, in addressing the opening session of 3,510 national delegates. Other notable speakers will include Francis Cardinal Spellman; Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff; Walter B. Reuther, president, CIO; Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to United Nations; Miss Maurine Walker, president national education association; and Harvey Higley, administrator, Veterans Administration.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

A beautiful sultan can be very becoming. However, don't get carried away. Sunshine, in moderation, is healthy and beneficial to your skin. In over-doses, it is quite a different matter.

All kinds of complications can come from over-exposure. The least serious is a painful sunburn. In extreme cases, sun-poisoning and scarred tissue is the result.

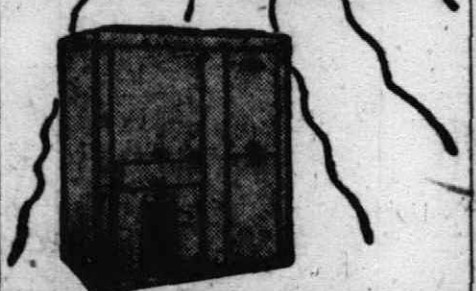

Prolonged exposure over a period of years results in a thickening of the outside layer of skin. This makes a coarse-looking complexion. It will cause skin to age much faster than necessary. This will not concern the men greatly. For the ladies it is most important.

American women spend millions each year on creams to help keep themselves as young-looking as possible. Yet, each summer, many of these same women expose their skin and hair to the strong sunlight for more than is good for them.

The early fall finds many women frantically using creams and lotions on their hair and skin in an effort to eradicate the destructive effects of the sun. Bleaching creams are in wide use to help rid their skin of freckles and the unattractive color of their fading sun tan.

All this expense and trouble seems foolish. It would be far wiser to limit the amount of sun one gets in the first place.

Beads Top Fashion List

Beads are fashion news now and will continue to be throughout the fall and winter months. You will see beads wound, looped and flaunted at the throat with all types of clothes.

Pearls are always good. This year they will be big, round and mock-baroque ones. Often they will be linked with rhinestones and different colored beads for more formal occasions.

Even shoes will be beaded. Jeweled sweaters will be more popular and ornate than ever before. Clear plastic and jeweled accessories will be unusual and beautiful. Trailing evening handkerchiefs, attached to rhinestone and pearl bracelets, are being featured with evening dresses.

A single color, worn tone on tone from head to toe, will be considered smart. Gray with gray, red with red, blue with blue, etc., will be something new.

In the past this has been frowned upon by the fashion big-wigs. However, tone on tone makes a very pleasing picture and is most flattering, if the color chosen is becoming to you.

The man-tailored shirt will be even more popular this year than last. Middy-collared pulldowns will be seen on and off the campus.

Double-breasted suits and dresses for all occasions will be good. Detail, color and rich fabric will give this old favorite a new look.

This is the best time of year to put eggs into your home freezer. Eggs are top-quality, the supply is good and prices are probably the best you'll find for some time.

Winter Cottons To See 'Round The-Clock Use

There's a new depth of texture to cottons styled for winter wear. Warmth is a feature of the heavy suitings, the cotton tweeds with a hand-woven look and the homespun types.

Also in this winter-warm category are the corduroys and velveteens. Versatile corduroys run the gamut of prints and flocked surfaces—from the "baby" look of tiny white flowers flocked on a white ground to severe menswear stripes.

Wide-wale corduroy is printed for the first time this year, with the newest look seen in the white or light grounds illuminated by black or pastel prints.

Many of the season's velveteens are printed in such a manner they almost look hand painted. These prints compete for approval with a wide luxurious range of plain colors which include the season's favorite jewel tones, American beauty, vivid blues, browns and many shades of red.

Opulent Cottons Highlighted also is the "opulent" look of cotton jacquards, brocades, tapestries and fawnes. Feather-like patterns, tiny florals, handsome designs of roses are shown in brilliant red, stark black, frosted grey.

Quilted cottons or cottons with a quilted look are featured for daytime clothes. A double-duty jumper, designed for day or date, depending upon whether or not it is paired up with a blouse, is made in quilted plaid gingham. Quilt-like embroidery on cotton flannel is used for twopiece suits. Young cottons like, these are style-right additions to college and career wardrobes.

Cotton "Car" Coats "Car" coats rate high fashion in cotton. The coolie-styled coat in striped grey and white cotton poplin is lined with quilted gold-colored cotton flannel. The seventh-length trench coat, belted in back, comes in water-repellent white poplin.

Cotton separates have been given many original fashion touches by top American designers. Black corduroy is the choice of one designer who trims it with black lace. Pedal pushers, skirt and guimpe with curved suspenders and shaped midriff all boast their touch of lace trim.

Butter is just one of the many dairy products made from the "almost perfect food"—milk. It contains the fat and Vitamin A of milk and has some Vitamin D, too. Because it is a fat, it is a good energy food and USDA nutritionists say each person should have one pound of butter or other fat each week for a well balanced diet.

Don't buy green pineapples thinking they'll ripen into a sweeter fruit. Pineapples do not increase in sweetness after they are harvested.

SANDWICHES TO SUIT YOUR CONVENIENCE

by Marguerite Mickelson

The basic principles for preparing sandwiches for storage either in the freezing unit of a refrigerator or in a freezer cabinet are much the same as for any sandwich. However, the exceptions to this are important and should be noted carefully.

Use a variety of ready-sliced breads and rolls. They will all freeze satisfactorily.

Use the two slices of bread that lie next to each other in the loaf so that the sandwiches will have even edges and be easier to cut and wrap.

Leave crusts on to save food value and to help the sandwich retain its shape.

Line up slices of bread in pairs on a cleared work space.

Use soft butter or margarine and spread all slices of bread at one time being careful to spread it evenly to the edges to prevent the filling from soaking into the bread.

Use a variety of sandwich fillings. Spread like fillings on alternate rows of bread with a flexible-bladed spatula. Make all of one sandwich variety at the same time, then proceed to the next filling.

The best fillings for frozen sandwiches are peanut butter, Roquefort or Bleu or cream cheese, sliced or ground meat, fish or chicken, hard-cooked egg yolks.

Wrap each sandwich individually to prevent flavors from mingling.

If sandwiches are to be frozen do not include chopped egg whites as zero storage toughens this food, and do not include vegetables such as lettuce, tomatoes, celery and carrots, as these do not withstand freezing "cold". They can be served as sandwich accompaniments to good advantage.

Adds Zip To Meat, Fish Menu

Meat and fish—poultry, too—cooked with fruit have an excellent and surprisingly pleasant variety of flavor. The choice of the fruit should be made carefully to give blends that bring out the best of the meat.

Fruits in these recipes add zip to meat and fish.

Upside-Down Orange Ham loaf; 1/2 cup brown sugar; 1/4 cup butter or margarine; thinly cut orange slices; 1 1/2 pounds lean pork shoulder, ground; 1 1/2 pounds smoked ham, ground; 1 1/2 cups milk; 2 eggs, well beaten; 1 1/2 cups soft bread crumbs; 1/2 teaspoon pepper.

Combine sugar and butter or margarine. Blend thoroughly. Spread evenly in shallow baking pan. Cover with orange slices. Combine remaining ingredients in order given. Blend thoroughly. Place on top of orange slices. Form a thin loaf by pressing meat down evenly. Bake in moderate oven (350°) about 1 hour. Invert on serving plate. Cut in squares to serve.

Pineapple Pork Chops: 1 No. 2 1/2 can (3 1/2 cups) sauerkraut; 1 (8Z Tall) can (1 cup) chunk pineapple; 4 medium pork chops, browned.

Drain juices from sauerkraut and pineapple. Cover bottom of well-oiled casserole with thick layer of sauerkraut. Add layer of pineapple. Add two untrimmed pork chops. Repeat sauerkraut and pineapple layers. Place remaining chops on top. Combine juices. Pour 1 cup liquid over chops. Bake in moderate oven (350° F) 1 hour.

Fish Fillets with Lemon Sauce: 1 small onion; 2 medium carrots, diced; 1 1/2 quarts cold water; 1 1/2 teaspoons salt; few grains pepper; 3 pounds fish fillets; 1 cup fish liquor; 4 tablespoons butter or margarine; 2 tablespoons flour; 3 eggs, well beaten; 1/2 cup milk; 4 teaspoons lemon juice; parsley.

Place onion and carrots in water. Bring to boil. Season each fillet with salt and pepper. Roll lengthwise. Fasten with toothpicks. Place in boiling water. Cover. Simmer 10 minutes. Drain. Reserve 1/2 cup fish liquor. Melt butter or margarine. Add flour. Blend. Combine eggs with milk. Blend. Add liquor and lemon juice. Combine with flour mixture. Blend. Season. Blend. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick. Pour over fillets. Garnish with parsley.

An old bird cage, particularly an ornate antique one, looks fresh if filled with growing plants. It may be hung up high in a room with ivy or other vines trailing down its sides.

New Slipcover Ideas Will Give Home a "Lift"

Slipcovers, once as standardized as the 3-piece living-room suite, now have personality and are creatively designed.

For a sleek, modern look, tailor a chair slipcover with buttons like a man's suit. Finish the side closings with buttons and self-bound buttonholes. Sew a side pocket for cigarettes and magazines. Instead of buttons, finish a chair with lacing at the front and back seams. Lace thick cording through plastic rings. Stout Chevy Chase whipcord and Clipper sailcloth are excellent cottons for these slipcovers.

Many people slipcover modern chairs just to the end of the upholstery, letting the legs show. A unique effect can be achieved on a modern square piece by slipcovering only the arms and top of the back with an unusual modern print.

A plain couch cover can be given a 19th Century air by draping the skirt with swags. Make the swags separately to snap off and on easily for cleaning. Glazed chintz is appropriate for this faintly formal style.

On a candy-stripe slipcover, applique a monogram cut from solid-color fabric. Use the solid color for welting. Finish the skirt with a notched border. With carousell chintz stripes, use solid-color fabric in a color to match the brilliant stripes.

To give the eye a rest from too much pattern, combine design with solid color on a large chair or sofa. Try the pinaflore treatment: plain fabric over all, except on the inside back, flounce and top of cushion. On a solid-color cover, use pattern only for the flounce. Or make a panel inset for the inside back and on the sides.

All the fabrics mentioned here are available at Plymouth stores in ready-made draperies, if you want to match your slipcovers.

The Peach Dessert
That's Truly Delicious

Fresh Peach Dessert
1/2 lb marshmallows
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup gingerale
1 cup cream whipped
1/2 cup chopped nut meats
8 peaches peeled and sliced
Sponge cake

With wet scissors cut the marshmallows into quarters. Add to the orange juice and stir over hot water until the marshmallows are softened. Cool slightly and add gingerale. When the mixture begins to congeal, fold in the cream and nuts. Line a tray or spring form pan with waxed paper and in it arrange strips of the sponge cake, a layer of the marshmallow mixture. Repeat the layers and complete with 1 more layer of cake. Chill in the refrigerator overnight. Unmold when ready to serve and garnish with peaches.

Heat milk, add fat and peanut butter. Mix until blended. Remove from heat and pour over rolled oats. Let stand 3 minutes. Add well beaten eggs. To flour add baking powder, salt and sugar. Sift. For Home Modernizing Projects Here Are 14 Suggested Steps

The current edition of Home Modernizing magazine lists this step-by-step procedure for any home improvement project:

1. Think it over... talk it over. Get a clear idea of what your house needs to make it a home. Let the entire family in on the project.
2. Get planning help. Take time to collect ideas from publications on the subject, manufacturers, etc.
3. Organize your projects. Decide which will bring the greatest benefits in comfort and efficiency, and make them your first priority enterprises.
4. Make sketches. Put your plan on paper. Measure the area to be modernized, draw up its present layout and sketch in the changes you want.
5. Employ an architect if you can. On a big project, he'll save more money than his fee.
6. Check local rules—building codes and zoning regulations to see if they permit your project.

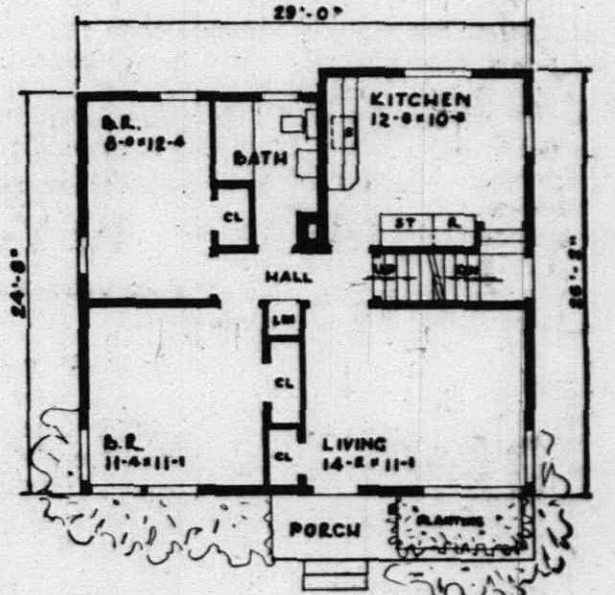

7. Select materials and equipment.
8. Divide the work—separate jobs to be done, breaking them down by types of skills needed. Note which you will do yourself.
9. Get cost estimates. Find out what the contractors or workmen will charge.
10. Get financing, if necessary. Your present mortgage holder is a good prospect.
11. Schedule your projects. Arrange the timetable to allow for weather, family requirements and your own free time.
12. Get your workmen. If you employ a contractor, he will hire workmen. If you don't, be sure that you have liability insurance to protect you in case a workman is injured.
13. Buy materials and equipment, and arrange for delivery in accordance with your timetable.
14. Get set... get ready. Clear the decks for action. Move furniture out of the way, disconnect appliances, etc. Avoid damage to your prized possessions.

Story-&-A-Half Home— Design H-203

If you're dreaming of the security of a home of your own, it will be worth your time to consider this charming design. Here you could easily have a third bedroom by finishing the upstairs in the future. Take a look at the roomy living area and the big square-shaped kitchen with easy access to the basement. For complete plans, send $8.75 and design number to HomOgraf Co., 11711 E. Eight Mile Road, E. Detroit, Michigan.

Window Shopping With Sue

After talking for months about the various products for the home being sold in the local stores, I thought for a change I might take a look at just how these things look when installed. An actual example of the remodeling wonders that can be accomplished is certainly demonstrated in the kitchen of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Anstice of 209 Ann street. The Anstices made a plan of how they wanted the kitchen to look and then went right ahead to make their dream a reality.

The kitchen, which was comparatively small in the first place, was made even smaller by a door leading out onto a side porch. That meant that three different doors were taking up the needed wall space. One of their first ideas was to close up the door and rearrange the sink and appliances for the most convenience. This meant doing away with all the built in wooden cupboards.

Dave Galin over at Galin & Son Appliances showed the Anstices how a Youngstown kitchen could revamp the kitchen's appearance. Corners were given usefulness by the installation of two lazy Susan cabinets. A double basin sink was put in just underneath the kitchen window thus providing the necessary light at the sink. One corner of the room was perfect for a breakfast bar.

The Anstices had hoped to retain the painted plaster walls, but when the cupboards were torn out they discovered the plaster would require extensive repair work. Instead they had mahogany paneling in a natural finish put on the walls, adding greatly to the room's appearance. New linoleum and Formica counter tops were installed by Blunk's Inc. and the finished product gave Mrs. Anstice a kitchen with a truly modern air.

It's Not Necessary to Tolerate Those Home Heating Headaches

People who have been raised in homes with old-fashioned heating equipment sometimes come to look upon discomfort as the normal situation. They put up with it without realizing, perhaps, that there is something wrong or that something can be done about it. Something can be done to remedy heating discomfort in any home, according to Home Modernizing magazine, and often at little expense. The three most common complaints are that the heating plant snouts off while the house is still cold, that it runs so long that the house gets overheated or that it heats the house adequately, but at a large cost in fuel consumption. The cause, the magazine states, normally lies in the thermostat. Perhaps a more sensitive thermostat is needed, or maybe the present one should be moved. To properly regulate heat, a thermostat should never be located on an outside wall or in some other spot where it may be affected by heat or cold that isn't general throughout the house, such as over a TV set or lamp. Another common problem is uneven distribution of heat, which indicates the system is not balanced properly. Have a heating expert study the problem. He may recommend new air vents if you have a steam system. With hot water or warm air systems, he may simply adjust the valves or dampers and solve the problem. High fuel bills may indicate the heating plant isn't getting enough air for proper combustion. If it is in a closet or small enclosure, make sure it is ventilated—and provide a source for outside air to keep the house from becoming stuffy.

THE REMODELED KITCHEN in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Anstice of 209 Ann combines all the modern conveniences of the up-to-date kitchen. Mrs. Anstice is shown standing beside the Youngstown Kitchen unit which was installed by Dave Galin & Son Appliances. The end of the counter unit features a rounded end-cabinet, ideal for plants or cookbooks, and it dresses up the appearance of the kitchen too. Counter tops are of Formica, and woodwork is painted frost green. Blunk's installed new linoleum to carry through the green color scheme. Walls of the room are in natural finish mahogany paneling. A breakfast snack bar makes excellent utilization of a small corner space.

Livability and Appearance of Home Can Be Helped By Extra Touches

Little extra touches in a home can reap big dividends in added livability or glamor. The pictures below give four such ideas from Home Modernizing magazine.

Big panes of glass are effective, even in a kitchen. Note water fountain by the door. Open shelves high on the wall provide storage without interfering with furniture placement.

Open stairs can be a dramatic decorative asset, especially with an arrangement of plants like this under the stairs. A wide roof overhang gives a modern look, shelters patio. Corrugated translucent plastic doesn't block light.

There's still plenty of good building weather ahead!

Wayne citizens who cracked up their acetylene street lights to the Plymouth council a year or more ago, are now disgusted with the system and will hold a special election September 12 to vote on bonds for an electric lighting plant. Shows Fluorine Present in Most Water Supplies

Fluoridation seldom adds anything new to a municipal water supply, a recent Michigan study shows.

The study, evaluated by Dr. Fred Wertheimer, showed that fluoridation, to prevent tooth decay, merely adds a little more of an element already there.

Dr. Wertheimer, Chief of the Public Health Dentistry section of the Michigan Department of Health, says the fact that fluorine is present in small amounts in most water systems is not generally known.

But actually, Dr. Wertheimer continues, analyses of public water supplies in Michigan for natural fluorine content reveal that most communities have trace amounts of fluorine present in the water supply. But, he emphasizes, not enough to give adequate protection against tooth decay.

Twenty-nine Michigan communities naturally have a fluoride concentration of from 0.5 to 0.7 parts per million, Dr. Wertheimer continues. In these communities, he points out, the fluorine concentration is merely raised to one part per million, the optimum or most favorable quantity of fluorine needed for good teeth.

Roughly, adding one part of fluorine to one million parts of water is like filling a bath-tub full of water then with an eye dropper adding three drops of fluorine.

And, Dr. Wertheimer adds, there are fifteen communities where the fluorine content in the water is from 0.7 to 1.5 parts per million. Since these communities already have the optimum amounts, fluoridation is not needed.

In three other Michigan communities, he continues, the water supplies have more than 1.5 parts per million of fluorine. Here, he says, the fluorine concentration should be reduced to prevent possible mottling or staining of the teeth.

But, Dr. Wertheimer concludes, fluorine added to a municipal water supply to bring the content to one part per million is a safe, inexpensive and very practical way to protect dental health in communities that nature has not adequately supplied with fluorine.

Look at Law Before Planting Wheat This Fall

Before you plant wheat this fall better take a closer look at the new "cross-compliance" provisions of the farm price support law.

Under this ruling you will have to stay within your acreage allotment of all crops on your farm in 1955 to be eligible for supports on any crop. That is emphasized by Clarence Prentice, Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation administrator.

For example, this year if your wheat quota was ten acres, you could still sell a 15-acre crop, but without price supports. Now however, if you exceed your wheat quota you won't be able to get support prices on corn or any other supportable crop.

Total acreage allotments will also be in effect for all farms which have more than ten diverted acres in 1955. Diverted acres are those which have been forced out of production of cash crops by allotment restrictions.

For example, if you had to cut down more than ten acres on your wheat crop you won't be able to shift those acres over to another cash crop. You will not be able to have more acres of cash crops this year than last.

You will have to leave the diverted acres idle or put them into hay, grass, or some other forage. The Agricultural Conservation Program is helping farmers with cost-sharing to put these acres into soil building crops.

Here again, a farmer will have to stay within the total acreage allotments for his farm to be eligible for any supports. Prentice adds that state ASC officials do not know as yet whether there will be other crops under allotment other than wheat and corn for 1955.

Former Plymouthite Wins Honors As Front Line Correspondent

Marine Technical Sergeant Earl Wilson, 32, son of Mrs. Mary A. Wilson, formerly of 681 Deer street, Plymouth, has been awarded the Commendation Medal with Combat "V" during ceremonies held in Santa Ana, California recently.

Presented with full honors, the decoration was awarded for meritorious achievement in the performance of his duties during operations against the enemy in Korea. The citation reads in part: "Serving as a Combat Correspondent, Technical Sergeant Wilson displayed outstanding ability and professional skill. Attached to several front line units, he worked tirelessly to ensure the accurate and factual reporting of all action."

"Time and again during fierce actions, he managed to obtain prompt and accurate information for the civilian news media that would otherwise have not been available."

"On several occasions he expressed complete disregard for his own personal safety and exposed himself to intense enemy fire to aid and assist in the evacuation of the wounded."

It was during one of these fierce actions towards the end of hostilities that Technical Sergeant Wilson was wounded by enemy counter-battery fire, for which he received the Purple Heart Medal.

"Through his tireless efforts and devotion to duty, he was directly responsible for the reporting of the division's activities to the American public."

Technical Sergeant Wilson's leadership and conduct throughout served as an inspiration to all who observed him and were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

A graduate of Plymouth High school in 1940, Earl enlisted in The United States Marine Corps following the outbreak of World War II.

He served with the famed Second Marine Division in the Pacific, participating in the campaigns for Tarawa, Saipan, and Tinian.

A graduate of the Naval School of Journalism, Earl served as Sports Editor of the Camp Lejeune newspaper, "The Globe," and as Public Information Section Chief of the Second Marine Division at Camp Lejeune, N. C., prior to his assignment to Korea.

Sergeant Wilson is currently serving as assistant editor of the "Flight Jacket," newspaper of the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station.

He is married to the former Miss L. Ethelene Graham of Virginia. They have four children, Barry, 7; Larry, 5; Harold, 3; and Cheryl, 2. They now reside in Santa Ana, California.

Predicts Larger Ragweed Crop For August 1954

Ragweed is in bloom on schedule. And there will be a large crop this year, the Michigan Department of Health says. A greater amount of ragweed is anticipated in 1954, the Health Department continues, because vegetation is generally abundant due to increased rainfall. And, the Department adds, hay fever sufferers all marked August 15.

From July 15 to August 15, the chief pollens are grasses and plantain, according to the State Health Department. But after August 15, ragweed is the most prevalent pollen, constituting around 95 percent of the total count.

Goldenrod, the department adds, is still blamed for hay fever, but that's because the big, yellow flowers attract attention. Actually, goldenrod pollen is large and sticky and doesn't float through the air. Insects carry it from one flower to another.

In contrast, the State Health Department continues, the tiny flower of the ragweed attracts neither by color, size nor odor. Its pollen distribution depends upon the wind, and therefore much more pollen is produced than is actually needed in pollination.

Two kinds of ragweed are found in Michigan, the State Health Department adds; the common or lesser ragweed that is found abundantly in farm lands, idle fields, backyards, vacant city lots, and along highways and the giant ragweed that thrives in damp or even wet soil along lakes, streams and marshes.

All this, of course, is bad news for the sniffle and sneeze set. But, the Department continues, Michigan has long been a haven for hay fever sufferers. Relief from the effect of ragweed pollen can usually be found in the Upper Peninsula and the northern half of the lower peninsula.

However, the State Health Department concludes, for those who can't get away, there is only temporary relief through medication until the first killing frost of fall.

Pressures and worry apparently contribute to the development of coronary heart troubles. Learning to relax will help to prevent these conditions. It may be better for the executive who worries to take several short vacations a year rather than one long one, and a short nap after lunch might also help. Those persons who are fortunate enough to be able to take a 15-minute nap after lunch each day seldom develop coronary heart disease.

Local Playground Attendance Sets New Record This Year

The Plymouth Recreation department has closed out its summer activities with a season's attendance record surpassing even that of last year. In all, some

Thirsty Tree Apt To Be Target Of Borer Attack

The dog days are dangerous days for dogwoods.

That's the time borers move in on their favorite hosts. The searing, dry heat of peak summer depletes these trees and other favorite targets, such as lindens, apples and poplars. Borers usually attack weakened trees. There isn't much you can do once borers move in. Best protection against them is to keep your tree free of dead and dying wood, well watered and well fed.

Pruning eliminates the dead and dying wood where the borers often breed. Frequent deep watering reduces chances of trouble. The tree low in water content is more susceptible to borer invasion. Feeding with a tree food high in nitrogen content invigorates the tree and encourages root growth. An efficient root system absorbs moisture more rapidly and helps the tree withstand drought periods.

Borer injury may not show up until the following growing season, but infestation is likely to take place now if trees are severely weakened.

Many boring insects are not called borers. A major one is the inevitable elm bark beetle, Dutch elm disease carrier. The larval stage is spent as a borer and the adult as a winged insect.

Poking into borer holes with wires or inserting chemicals and sealing off the holes with putty are laborious methods of getting the insects. They occasionally do more harm than good.

General Motors has 118 plants in 63 cities in the United States, six plants in Canada, and assembly and manufacturing operations in 18 other countries.

450 children took part in the playground activities—enough to make up an average size grade-school.

Some of the increase, stated director Herbert Woolweaver, may be due to the addition of the Allen school playground this year to the regular five. Allen, however, had the smallest attendance totals.

The increase was particularly evident at the Central and Green Meadows playgrounds. Woolweaver said, while attendance at the Bird playground fell off. Many of the mothers kept their children home toward the end of the season, he explained, because they feared polo.

Woolweaver set the grand total at 8,733 children, counting them each day of the playground season. Breaking down these totals, he said that Central had 1,615; Starkweather, 1,453; Green Meadows, 1,339; Smith, 1,173; Bird, 693; Allen, 680; and tennis at the high school and Riverside park, 1,380.

The swimming program of the Recreation department had an unusually high attendance. Woolweaver pointed out, during its 39-day season. A report from John McFall, physical education instructor, set the total number of swimmers during the summer at 17,567. Of these there were 7,721 girls, 9,030 boys and 814 adults. The pool averaged 451 swimmers per day.

Ninety-seven youngsters were awarded their Red Cross beginners cards, which is just about double the number who received them last year, Woolweaver said. In this the boys again led the girls, receiving 61 of the certificates issued.

Red Cross life saving certificates were issued to 37 persons, 33 of which were junior life savers and three, senior life savers.

Since a small charge is made for the swimming program, McFall set his total receipts at $1700.75, expenses at $1270, thus netting a profit of $430.75.

Commenting on the high attendance at the pool, Woolweaver said a lot of it was due to the lack of summer jobs for high school students. They had more time to utilize the recreational facilities offered at the school, he said.

Kiwanians See Film On Atom Precautions

What to do in case of fire or atom bomb attack was shown Plymouth Kiwanians last week in a film presented by City Manager Al Glassford.

The film pointed out that numerous preparations may be made in the home to prevent serious injury from atom attack and that knowledge of these precautions could save thousands of lives. City Manager Glassford lauded Plymouth's fire department for its efficient emergency training program which would enable it to cope with any possible local disaster.

Harold Fischer, chairman of the Kiwanis club Boys and Girls committee, announced that starting in September local Kiwanians will conduct a weekly peanut sale in Plymouth. Profit derived from this sale will be used for local youth activities, Fischer said.

Experts Suggest Fall Fertilizing

Move the clock back? In a sense you can—by applying fertilizer this fall. Hours saved in the autumn, when labor and equipment are relatively free, will give a boost to essential springtime work.

It's been found that the soil acts as a storehouse for mineral nutrients. Very little leaching accompanies winter weather and spring thaws. What's more, the ground is usually firmer in the fall so that there is less chance that heavy equipment will damage the seed bed or growing crops.

Agronomists at Michigan State college are widely and strongly recommending fall applications of fertilizer on leguminous hay and pasture crops. Legumes need an extra "shot in the arm" to carry them over the cold months in good shape and to make them productive as early as possible.

Fertilizer can also be applied in the fall to land which will be planted the following year to corn and sugar beets. Agronomists point out, however, that such applications should be plowed under to be fully effective. On overwintering small grains, plant foods are, as a general rule, applied in the fall anyway.

Price of School Lunch Unchanged

An attempt to "hold the line" of the price of standard school lunches is being made this year as school cafeteria dietitians plan to satisfy hundreds of hungry youngsters each day.

The price of a noonday lunch will be 30 cents, the same as last year, school officials announced. Teachers will again pay a dime more.

Superintendent Russell Isbister stated that lunches will be served the first day of school, September 9, so children need not bring their lunches. All children, however, still can bring their lunch if they desire and eat in the school cafeterias.

There will be no changes in cafeteria appearances this year. Last year, the high school kitchen was rebuilt and re-equipped. The superintendent said that Starkweather school kitchen is due for some modernization, perhaps next summer.

All Plymouth schools now operate their own cafeterias.

Carl Kranish to Address Teachers At Two-Day Pre-School Conference

Carl Kranish, instructor of speech and recipient of a Ford Foundation fellowship for the study of educational television, will be one of the principal speakers that Plymouth school teachers will hear during the two-day Pre-School Conference held September 7 and 8.

The conference will be held this year in the high school auditorium beginning at 9 a.m. on Tuesday with coffee and a get-acquainted session for teachers.

Greetings will be extended to the faculty by Superintendent Russell Isbister, after which principals of the six schools will introduce the new teachers in their respective buildings.

The program will continue with group singing led by Merry Lynn Schroeder, instructor of music. James J. S. Gallimore, president of the Board of Education, will then greet the group, followed by greetings by Nat Sibbold, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

"Implications of Television for Education" will be the subject of the address given by Kranish. He was given a leave of absence last year to "go behind the scenes" in TV studios and study television uses, problems and techniques.

Superintendent Isbister will then talk on "The Years Ahead."

Make Homework A Real Pleasure

The bane of the school child's existence, homework, can be downright drudgery in awkward surroundings. The dining room table, situated in the mainstream of family traffic, is hardly the best place to concentrate.

Parents concerned with getting their children to apply themselves to their work, will do well to check up now, before the school term starts, on home study facilities.

Educators agree that one of the most important items is a desk the child can call his own. Obviously the best place for that desk to be located is in the privacy of the child's own room.

Not that the desk need be an expensive one. It can in fact be home made if dad is a devotee of doing things himself. It's size and appointment can be significant however.

The study suggests a desk of at least two feet by four in area, 25 to 30 inches from the floor, and with a surface from which the light will not be reflected brightly.

A straight back chair high enough to bring the child's eyes 14 inches above the desk top, and an approved study lamp with semi-direct lighting and a good size shade are also recommended.

Drawers should be sufficient to hold papers, pencils and other working tools which the child will organize to his own satisfaction.

Grade School Gets White Collar Girls

The white collar—indicative of the career girl—will invade the grade schools this fall. Big puritans, tiny Peter Pans, sailor collars, and others will top the grade school fashion list for 1954.

Broadcloth, pique, even ribbed cotton knit make bright white collars that are removable for washing and thus approved by mothers who may formerly have avoided white. Even white leather is present, and well received, because it can be washed clean with a damp cloth.

Coats and jackets share in white collar crispness as a followup to the grownup fashion for white overcollars. These, in textured rayons and heavier cottons, are also detachable with buttons or snaps.

Seven Attend Lansing Workshop

The importance of the home in the character education of children will be stressed at the mid-west Character Research Project Workshop, to be held at Michigan State college, August 26 to 29.

The following members of the local Character Research group will represent Plymouth at the conference, Mrs. Neal Bowen of Penniman; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Richard, South Main; Mrs. Harold Fischer, Plymouth road; Fred Van Dyke, Joy road; Mrs. Richard Wernette, Adams street; Mrs. Paul Simmons, Edison street; and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson, Hudson street, Ypsilanti.

Registrations have been received from nine Michigan communities and also from Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, and Wisconsin. The Michigan arrangements are being co-ordinated by Mrs. Neal Bowen, Plymouth; the Reverend Charles W. Lovell, Detroit; the Reverend James Whitehurst, Lansing; and Mrs. Betty Spaulding, Detroit.

The conference, new this year in the midwest, has been developed for ministers, church teachers, and parents who are using the Union College Character Research Project plan. Dr. Ernest M. Ligon, of the Union college faculty, Schenectady, New York, and founder of this religious educational plan, will be the key leader at the conference. He will deliver major lectures Saturday night, August 28, and Sunday afternoon, August 29.

Miss Esther Middlewood, director of mental health education, Michigan Department of Mental Health, will address the group Friday afternoon, August 27.

In addition to the workshop discussions and lectures, the conference will offer a morning worship service, Sunday, August 29, in the M. S. C. Memorial Chapel.

Michigan groups using the Character Research Project plan and those expecting to have delegates present include parents groups at Plymouth, Battle Creek, Wayne, and Chelsea, the Central Woodward Christian, Central Methodist and Greenfield Methodist churches at Detroit, First Methodist at Ann Arbor, Central Methodist at Muskegon, Central Methodist at Lansing, and Fountain Street Baptist at Grand Rapids.

Shows 30 Per Cent Of School-Age Youngsters Do Need Eye Care

Children of today are less reluctant to wear glasses, fortunately, which makes it a great deal easier for parents to solve the vision problems of their youngsters before the school term starts.

Need for constant alertness on the part of parents to these problems is indicated by surveys which show that nearly 30 per cent of America's school age children would benefit from eye care.

Periodic eye examinations are recommended as an important safeguard against the inevitable penalty of poor vision, poor grades and, worse, inability to absorb the learning for which children go to school.

Perhaps the fact that adults, especially women, have discovered that well-chosen frames can prove as decorative as carefully prescribed lenses, has had something to do with the greater acceptance of glasses by children. The example set by their elders is usually followed.

Nowadays rugged young lads who should be wearing glasses balk less when they learn that they can have masculine shatter-proof lenses mounted in frames duplicating those of their fathers.

Sister, too, finds glasses more acceptable when she sees that mother and the older girls she admires no longer hesitate to flaunt their modish specs in public.

Teen agers and co-eds, reared during a period when importance of good vision has been dimmed into them and during which, also, fashion put its magic touch on glasses, actually want more than one pair—casuals for classroom and a dress-up model for dates.

Tests and interviews with thousands of school children of all ages reveal the need for parents to be aware of signs indicating that the youngsters need professional eye care.

Among such signs are frowns, rubbing of eyes, holding books too close to the eyes, covering one eye, headaches, a distaste for reading, and suddenly lowered grades on report cards.

Glasses may not be necessary, but its best to be on the safe side, for unattended eye problems can lead to worse than temporarily poor grades. It can mean handicapping personality development for years to come.

Proper home lighting conditions, so young eyes need not strain over their homework, will do much to eliminate the early need of glasses. Consult an electrical supply dealer about proper lighting for the home.

Nearly one-fifth of the population of the United States (more than 30 million persons) are physically handicapped in one way or another. Rehabilitation centers are working overtime to return badly hurt persons to jobs in industry but many more clinics are needed to complete the task.

The musk ox of the far north is not really an ox at all, but a member of the sheep family.

Boys Will Pick Informal Wear

If you give a boy his own rein in choosing his clothes for the coming school season, you can bet he'll go informal. The casual and rugged separates are the things the young set will be wearing.

But remind him of the special festive occasions that will be scheduled during the coming term and he'll start thinking about what the older folks might have referred to as the "Sunday Suit," and he will also surely want a party sports coat.

These are as essential to his wardrobe, as, say, sweaters—on two counts. First, he must be fitted out to present a good front on party occasions; and second, choosing and wearing these garments tends to teach him good grooming habits.

In looking for suits, the square cut, three button coat is recommended as best choice for boys size twelve and under. Two button coats tend to look unkept on younger lads because of their activeness.

The junior high school and high school lads, however, have stretched out to the point where the two button coat is justifiably a favorite.

Suits should be chosen as carefully for their fabric as for their fit. Handsome patterns in worsted flannels, hard finished worsteds and colorful wool tweeds offer a wide selection and the latter offers, in addition, a certain amount of versatility.

Parents Must Detect Their Child's Impaired Hearing

It is unfortunate, in the current year of 1954 with its many wonders and marvels of science, that so many problems in the field of hearing are caused by carelessness and ignorance. Especially is this true in the case of children.

Most children are born with normal hearing and yet by the time they have grown up, many of them are subject to hearing losses of various degrees. A critical age level in which hearing problems develop is from 2½ to 10 years.

Why is it that hearing problems seem to be easier to ignore than injuries to the limbs or vision? If an arm or leg is injured, something should be done immediately and usually is. If a child holds a book close to his face or squints when looking at something, it is usually indicative of vision difficulty.

Could it be that a hearing problem does not lend itself to such obvious scrutiny? That too many factors enter the picture? Perhaps he did not hear because he was not paying attention. Or maybe the other person was not speaking clearly. Or there might have been noises in the background that interfered.

What are some of the signs that would indicate impaired hearing?

One might be if a child frequently asks for a repetition of things said to him. Another could be failure to respond when spoken to. He might give irrelevant answers to questions addressed to him. He might tend to turn one ear towards the speaker, to "hear" better when he is looking at the speaker. He might have certain voice or speech peculiarities. Continued failures in school might be another indication of hearing loss.

Two very important signs of possible hearing complications are ear-aches and running ears. A physician should be consulted immediately. If one tries to treat this condition at home, he might cause permanent damage.

What are some of the things that might cause deafness? One area is that of childhood diseases such as chicken-pox, scarlet fever, measles and mumps. Another is the common cold which can cause the middle ear region to become infected. Diseased tonsils and adenoids as well as foreign objects can cause serious consequences to the hearing process.

A child who has a hearing loss lives in a strange world. Many things spoken to him are not heard at all, others are heard only in part. If he does not hear adequately it is doubtful that he will be able to learn to speak normally. He is unable to understand others. It is difficult, if not impossible, for others to understand him. His whole educational and social processes are interfered with and prevented from developing in the way they should. It is not surprising, in view of this over-all picture that some children are mistakenly believed to be mentally retarded and consequently treated in that way.

Do not take a chance with a possible hearing problem. Consult your physician as soon as possible. Early medical help may overcome a serious handicap and help restore hearing.

Local Music Teacher's Summer Job Is Subject of News Feature

Feature of an article appearing in Sunday's Detroit News recently was Mrs. Maude Laury, local music teacher, whose chore it is to take care of some 500 lost children each summer at Metropolitan beach along Lake St. Clair.

Mrs. Laury and her husband, Wallace, who live at 40301 East Ann Arbor trail, are both employed by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority. Mr. Laury is the beach's director of water safety and special activities.

The article points out Mrs. Laury's technique in handling the children while they await the arrival of their anxious parents. One of the music teacher's main attractions for the misplaced youngsters is an autoharp on which she often gives the children a lesson.

Pool Closes, Reopens On September 13

The Plymouth high-school swimming pool was officially closed Friday, August 13, and will reopen Monday, September 13, according to Herbert Woolweaver, director of the recreation department.

Following a busy summer season, this period will be used for putting new locks on the lockers and refinishing the shower-rooms in preparation for the opening of school this fall. On September 13 the pool will again be open to the public and will maintain the regular night schedule, which has been popular with Plymouthites.

Starting at 7:30 p.m., the schedule is as follows, Monday-family, Tuesday - ladies, Wednesday-father-son, Thursday-adults, and Friday-teenagers.

OUTDOOR NOTES From The MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

A special one-day any-deer hunting season will be held on December 1 this year in three areas north of the lower peninsula's east-west highway route M-55, the conservation department reports.

Limited numbers of hunters, to be chosen by a drawing, will be permitted to hunt in each of the special areas.

In addition, the conservation commission, in a recent meeting, authorized the regular archery and firearm seasons to be held the same dates and in the same areas as last year; October 1-November 5, inclusive, for archers and November 15-30, inclusive, for firearm hunters.

The commission, after more than an hour of discussion, approved the game division's recommendations for the special season with only one minor boundary change.

As established, the special season areas and quotas of hunters are as follows:

"Area D-54," southernmost of the three areas, includes all land between M-55 and M-72 from Harrisville to Acme. That area is from Lakes Huron to Michigan and includes the Leelanau Peninsula. From the list of those who apply, 40,000 names will be given hunting permits for the December 1 season.

"Area B-54" includes the area between M-72 and M-32 from Lake Huron west to where those highways bisect the north-south highway US-131 in Antrim and Kalkaska counties. A total of 20,000 permits will be issued for hunting in that area.

"Area A-54" includes, generally, all the territory in the northeast corner of the lower peninsula. The boundary line runs from the City of Cheboygan south on M-33 to M-68, then west and south through Afton to Wolverine and south on US-27 to M-32, the southernmost border of the area. In this area, 21,000 permits will be issued.

No special hunting will be permitted in the remaining unnamed area, which takes in about 890 square miles in the northwest corner of the peninsula. Deer populations in that area are considered not high enough to warrant a special season this year. Game workers expect hunters to take a total harvest of about 15,000 deer in the three areas during the special season.

Applications for hunting permits for Michigan's special any-deer season on December 1 in the northern lower peninsula must be postmarked not later than October 10, the conservation department emphasizes.

The drawing will take place "on or about October 20," Gerald E. Eddy, director of conservation announces.

Applicants must: (1) purchase a regular firearm deer-hunting license; (2) obtain application forms from the license dealer; (3) file the form, as instructed, giving first and second choices of hunting areas desired.

Complete details of how and where to apply will be provided with the application blanks. The applications must be completely and accurately filled out or they will not be considered in the drawings.

Complete details of how and where to apply will be provided with the application blanks. The applications must be completely and accurately filled out or they will not be considered in the drawings.

Application forms, scheduled for printing within the next few weeks, will be available from license dealers probably sometime in September.

For the Allegan special season, applications should be made the same as in previous years, and should be postmarked not later than October 1—as in past years.

About 50 miles of trout streams in Michigan will be placed under experimental and management basis fishing restrictions on January 1, 1955, as a result of recent conservation commission action.

In general, the restrictions involve "flies only" or increased size limit regulations on portions of seven state streams.

The streams affected include five miles of the East Branch of the Fox River in Schoolcraft county, four miles of the Boardman River in Grand Traverse county, 4.6 miles on the Little South Branch of the Pere Marquette in Newaygo county, 16.4 miles on the South Branch of the AuSable in Crawford county and six miles on the North Branch of the AuSable in Crawford county. All these are slated on an experimental basis.

Also, 4.7 miles on the North Branch of the AuSable River in Crawford county and eight miles on the Main Stream of the AuSable in Crawford county will be under the restrictions on a management basis.

Details of the restrictions will be listed in the 1955 fish law digest, slated for publication later this year.

Waterfowl seasons in Michigan this year will be about the same as last year with few minor changes, the conservation department reports.

The conservation commission, acting on a series of choices offered by federal migratory bird authorities, set the general hunting season on ducks, geese, brant, coot, sora and other rails and gallinules for October 1-November 24, inclusive.

The Wilson snipe (jacksnipe) season will be, as last year, October 1-15, inclusive, and bag limits will again be eight birds daily and eight in possession.

Woodcock season dates and bag limits will be the same as last year. In the upper peninsula, the season will run October 1-November 1, inclusive. In the northern lower peninsula, the season will run October 1-November 9, inclusive, and in the southern lower peninsula, the season is slated October 20-November 9. Bag limits are four daily and eight in possession.

Bag limits on waterfowl and coots are changed this year. Last year, hunters were allowed four ducks of any species including one wood duck, plus 25 red-breasted or American merganser, plus one hooded merganser. This year, hunters are allowed four ducks total, which may include one hooded merganser and any combination of other ducks—except the wood duck—and including red-breasted and American mergansers. The wood duck population is marginal this year and "no hunting" has been ordered on this species.

The reduction in the merganser bag limit is of little importance, game workers say. In general, the birds are only hunted incidental to other species and hunters seldom count them a prized target.

Hunting hours will run from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, the same as last year.

The conservation commission made the choice of seasons and bag limits during a recent meeting. Publication of regulations for the entire country is expected within a few weeks.

Who's The Best Driver?

Who are the best drivers—men or women?

The ladies may be gratified to learn that the National Safety Council's yearbook reveals that 10 times as many men as women drivers are involved in fatal accidents.

But just a minute, ladies! It goes on to say that while 41,700 men and only 4,100 women were mixed up in fatal accidents last year, more than twice as many men were driving, they drove farther per driver, and they drove more in all kinds of weather and conditions than the women.

"So," the Council says, "no one can really tell who's the best driver, a man or a woman."

Study as if you were to live forever. Live as if you were to die tomorrow.—Isidore of Seville.

Waterfowl Hunting Regulations Given for This Year's Season

Waterfowl hunting seasons and regulations will be about the same this fall as they were last year, a recent announcement from federal wildlife authorities indicates.

In the announcement, the Fish and Wildlife Service provided flyway states with a choice of certain regulations and dates of seasons. After all states report their selections, the federal agency will publish complete regulations for the entire country.

The changes from last year that affect Michigan are as follows:

1. The shooting hour for waterfowl and coots shall again begin one-half hour before sunrise, but a choice is offered in the closing hour, which may be sunset or one hour before sunset. Last year, sunset was established as the closing hour.

2. Bag limits on waterfowl and coots are unchanged from last year, except that the one hooded merganser allowed must be included in the regular limit on ducks, and any red-breasted or American merganser taken must be included in the regular limit of ducks. Formerly, hunters could shoot 25 red-breasted or American mergansers, plus one hooded merganser, plus four other game ducks. This year, hunters may bag four ducks per day, including mergansers.

Other regulations offered Michigan are the same as the choices given last year. These include:

1. A general season opening date of October 1 or later on waterfowl, woodcock and jacksnipe.

2. A waterfowl and coot season running 55 consecutive days or two periods of 25 days each, so long as the season does not end after January 10, 1955.

3. A woodcock season of 40 days, to end not later than the close of the waterfowl season.

4. A jacksnipe season of 15 consecutive days, ending not later than January 10, 1955.

5. A bag limit of four birds daily and eight in possession on woodcock.

6. A bag limit of eight birds daily and eight in possession on jacksnipe.

The conservation commission is expected to make a final selection of choices offered during its August 12-13 meeting.
