

Mrs. Ruth Whipple

Mrs. Austin Whipple, Former Mayor, Dies

Mrs. Ruth Whipple, Plymouth's only woman mayor and a servant of the public in a half dozen other offices for nearly two decades, died at Henry Ford hospital at 5 p.m. Tuesday after an illness of over a year. She was 59.

Born and living nearly her entire life in Plymouth, Ruth Whipple had served on the city commission, the planning commission, Wayne county board of supervisors, board of education and the library board between the years 1932 and 1950.

Funeral services will be at 1 p.m. Saturday from the Schrader funeral home with the Reverend Henry Walsh, D.D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. Interment will be in Riverside cemetery.

A cerebral hemorrhage in September 1953 followed by a number of strokes resulted in her death. It was only two weeks ago that she was an honored guest of the Plymouth Historical Society.

She also was a member of other groups such as the Business and Professional Women, the American Association of University Women, the Women's club and the Garden club.

But it was her years in the local political scene which brought her name into homes here and elsewhere.

She was married to Austin Whipple, who survives with two sons, Edson, with the Army at Ft. Riley, and Elmer, a student at the University of Michigan. Also surviving are her father, Edson Huston, and a brother, Oscar Huston, both of Plymouth. The Whipple home is at 939 Penman.

Mr. Whipple has requested that donations be made to the cancer fund instead of sending flowers.

Burglars Again Hit Hillside Safe

Burglars successfully cracked open a safe at the Hillside Inn early Wednesday morning after removing it from the building and rolling it down a hill behind the building to break it open.

Breaking through a kitchen door, the thieves caused about $250 damage to the building and the safe, detectives said. An estimated $50 was taken from the building and about $150 from the safe itself.

The Hillside safe was cracked open several times last year. Detectives said they are still investigating Wednesday morning's theft and have not yet made any arrests.

Attribute Home Explosion To Dynamite Cap in Coal

The Salem Fire department was summoned early Thursday morning as a result of a furnace explosion in the W. E. Fletcher home on West Six Mile road, Salem township. The blast completely demolished the hot air heating system, but left the house otherwise intact.

Department officials attributed the 7 a.m. explosion to a dynamite cap which might have become mixed with the coal during the process of mining.

Now Eight Wells In Area Oil Field

At the end of its first year, a progress report from the Northville oil field shows that eight wells in operation during November produced about 9,400 barrels of oil.

In addition, two gas wells are in production and eight others containing varying amounts of gas and oil have been shut in for one reason or another.

The field is located northwest of Plymouth and the discovery well was opened about one year ago.

Since then, 49 wells have been drilled within about five miles of the pilot operation. A number of others are contemplated.

Eight Enter Commission Race

Kenneth Way, left, is taking over city clerk duties from Lamont BeGole who is showing Way some of the record books he must keep. BeGole resigned to become director of public safety for Novi township.

Township Trustee Office Draws Seven Candidates

Twenty-eight men have filed their nominating petitions in Plymouth city and township — setting the scene for the biennial "grass roots" elections at which citizens will elect candidates to run their local governments.

Kenneth Way Fills City Clerk Post

Kenneth E. Way, Plymouth's assessor for the past year and a half, has been appointed as city clerk to succeed Lamont BeGole who submitted his resignation two weeks ago.

Way, who lives at 302 North Holbrook, came to Plymouth in October 1952. He later served as a clerk in the engineer's department before his appointment as assessor.

Merging of the offices of city clerk and city assessor will mean the hiring of at least one assistant in the combined department. Way is completing his third and final year of an accounting course at Walsh Institute in Detroit.

License Bureau Changes Planned

A change in the politics of Michigan's secretary of state due to the Democratic sweep of state offices last November will mean a change in the management of the local auto license bureau.

Mrs. Frank Rambo has received word that she will be replaced with a Democratic choice sometime this month. She has worked in the license bureau 14 years, taking over the management formerly held by her husband who died nearly two years ago.

It was also reported that the license bureau will be relocated from the Plymouth township hall. Site of the new location has not been disclosed.

"We have appreciated the attitude the public has held toward this office and their cooperation with us," Mrs. Rambo stated.

Sell Gayde Building

Sale of the Gayde building at 181 West Liberty street to Claude Stratton of Plymouth Softener Service was announced this week by Robert Beyer, administrator of the Gayde estate.

The offices of the Softener Service were formerly located at 459 South Main street. This space has been taken over by Consumers Power company which, according to District Manager W. L. Whitfield, will remodel and join the office to its present next-door location to provide greater office facilities.

Constructing Office

A building for a builder is being constructed at 1270 South Main street by Stewart Oldford & Son, local contractor.

The new building will serve as the office for the building firm. The Oldford home at 9825 Beck road has been used as the office. Size of the new office building is 20 by 30 feet. Oldford estimates that he will be able to move into the office sometime around March 1.

Oldford has been building homes in the Plymouth area since 1948. He was a contractor in and around Detroit previous to that time, since 1928.

Harold Henry Haywood III Named Plymouth's First Baby of New Year

At 7:29 p.m. Tuesday, January 4, Harold Henry Haywood III was born at St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor and immediately became a Plymouth celebrity.

At press time the Haywoods were the only family to report a new baby. Under the contest rules January 4 was the deadline.

This restriction had the judges highly concerned and a hurried conference resulted in an extension of the deadline. Right at this point the Haywoods reported the arrival of Harold Henry III.

Contest managers hadn't counted on Sir Stork being so slow in visiting Plymouth this year.

For Mr. and Mrs. Haywood winning the contest came as a complete surprise. Harold Henry wasn't scheduled to arrive until January 15. Winning the contest

Merchants Plan Clearance Sales

If anyone should get the idea that things are rather quiet in Plymouth these days, it might well be the lull before a tremendous storm—of sales.

It's no secret that January is perennially the month merchants clear their shelves by slashing prices where possible to make room for new spring merchandise. But probably never before in the history of Plymouth has a more concerted effort been made by retail merchants of the Chamber of Commerce to bring area shoppers savings in nearly every type of store.

Approximately 20 merchants will begin their giant January clearance sales next week. In one or two cases, sales have already begun. In cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce committee headed by Walter Rensel The Plymouth Mail will publish a special "clearance sale" advertising bulletin next week covering more than 20,000 homes in the surrounding area.

The regular edition of The Mail will also carry the advertising messages of the merchants.

Capture of Youths Solves Recent Burglary Rash

Three youths captured by police on Thursday morning solved most of the recent rash of burglaries in Plymouth during the past few weeks.

Two 15-year-olds, 15 years old were taken by police only a week ago after taking $140 at Plymouth High school. The other two were 12 years old. All three were turned over to juvenile authorities in Detroit and are being held in their homes in Plymouth to await a hearing.

Because of their ages, police are following the policy of withholding their names.

The youths admitted breaking into the home of the Penman-Alton T. where they took about $300, breaking into Bird element store where they caused $100 of damage, estimated between $300 and $400, breaking into the Cleaners, Starks, Washburn and a Twin Pine dance.

Still involved in Plymouth is a theft of the Wayne county library where a record player and tape recorder were taken and at Davis & Lett mens store where $100 in goods were stolen.

Wayne county sheriff's detectives are looking for a thief at Goodrich Market, 395 West Ann Arbor road, One Detroit and three Plymouth youths have admitted theft of five cases of beer, a case of wine and hot dogs at the Market on Tuesday night of last week.

Two nights later they were arrested by police as they attempted to break into Farmington store. They have been taken to the Farmington jail where they are now in the waiting section.

The youths are Robert Buck, 14, Detroit; Richard, 17, Plymouth; and Robert Lewis, 15, Farmington.

A police force Wednesday made a last effort to halt the burglaries which took place at 7 a.m. It was 2:15 a.m. Thursday in a Maple street

Plymouth March of Dimes Drive Opens

A goal of $1000 has been set for Plymouth's March of Dimes campaign which opened January 1 and will continue throughout the month, it was announced this week by Walter Goodman, chairman of the drive. Last year's goal was $1,000 less.

Cannister displays in the shape of test tubes have already been placed in most business places in the vicinity. Citizens will be given an opportunity to give their donations in the cannisters and to volunteers who will conduct a house-to-house porchlight campaign on January 27.

At least seven polo cases were reported in the Plymouth area this year, higher than last year. It has struck adults and children alike. It will not be until later this spring that the medical world will find out if gamma globulin is capable of preventing the dreaded disease.

Mrs. Harry Bartel, 12700 Dunn Court, has been named chairman of this year's "Mothers March on Polio" scheduled for January 27. Cooperating in the march will be women from the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliaries, Navy Mothers and Mom's Club. Other groups wishing to help can contact either Mrs. Bartel or Mrs. Charles E. Olson.

While the women conduct the porchlight drive in the city, 26 members of the Hi-Y club of Plymouth high school will conduct a drive in Plymouth township the same night. The township will be divided into districts and a squad of four boys will cover each district. Leading the Hi-Y this year is Tom Rowe.

Hi-Y members were also responsible for distributing the cannisters.

GIVING THE FIRST donation in the Plymouth March of Dimes drive appropriately is the campaign chairman, Walter Goodman, (right). Tom Rowe, (left), is president of the Hi-Y club which will conduct a house-to-house campaign in the township while Mrs. Harry Bartel will lead the Women's March on Polio later this month.

FREE PARKING ACROSS THE STREET

Year's Work Goes into Youth's Dream of Glimpsing Moon, Stars

The first rocket ship to the moon will no doubt have on board one Plymouth resident. And that passenger will be 16-year-old William Taylor of 135 North Holbrook.

Outside of his schoolwork and part-time job at the Liberty Street Hardware, the Plymouth high school junior busies himself with making maps of the moon and the building of a telescope on his own to bring into focus the millions of planets circling out in space.

It all started back in the third grade when Bill first got interested in maps to the extent that he wore out one world globe and an atlas in the process. After making hundreds of maps of cities, counties, states and countries over the years, Bill has reached out into space.

At present a map of the moon, with its 330 to 340 known features each carefully numbered, stands posted over his bureau. Bill keeps a corresponding key to the numbers so that each spot may be identified by its proper name. With the new telescope he's building he'll be able to sketch in the shadows on the surface of the moon as well as features of other planets.

Interested in astronomy since the eighth grade, Bill began construction of his own telescope last spring, reading up on the instruments at the library. In a storage room in the Taylor's basement, perched high on an old oil drum is the young astronomer's workbench. Bill has made a wood framework on top of the drum to form a level surface for his work, placing damp newspapers over the wood apparatus to keep the glass pieces from sliding.

When he's ready to start grinding the mirror for the telescope in his homemade laboratory, he places the "tool," a convex piece of glass, on top of the wooden base, moistens it with water and spreads arborundum over the surface. Then the mirror, a flat piece of Pyrex glass six inches in diameter and one inch thick, is ground slowly against the carborundum-covered tool until the correct curve is hollowed out in the mirror's surface.

Grinding is a lengthy process since there are seven stages to the operation, each one requiring a different grade of carborundum. The biggest danger comes from particles of dirt getting on the surface of the tool which would mar the mirror. In fact, Mrs. Taylor can't even dust in the vicinity of the oil drum for fear of stirring up some tiny particles which would play havoc with the project.

After the desired curve has been obtained in the mirror's surface, it will be polished to remove the microscopic surface pits caused by the abrasive action of the carborundum.

Polishing brings its own special problems, too, since the temperature must remain nearly constant. A variation of more than five degrees either way on the thermometer will cause the glass in the mirror to expand or contract and thus destroy the curve. Work on the mirror was delayed over the summer months because of the temperature changes, but with the winter weather remaining more consistent, Bill hopes to be able to complete the polishing process.

Atop an old oil-drum in his basement laboratory William Taylor, 16, grinds the mirror for his future telescope.

After the polishing's done, the mirror will be coated with an aluminum compound to give it reflective power. Then Bill will mount it at one end of the six-inch telescope tube he still has to make. The wooden tube will be square with open sides, set up similar to the steel mounting on the world's largest telescope at Mt. Palomar in California.

When the mirror's in place, another diagonal mirror will be placed at an appropriate distance higher up in the tube. Light rays from planets and other celestial bodies will then hit the mirror, bounce up to the diagonal, one and be brought into focus by an eyepiece set on the side of the tube.

With the completion of his telescope late this spring, the young Plymouth resident is looking forward to scanning the skies for many of the "landmarks" he hopes to see one day from a spaceship enroute to the moon.

Kiwanis Installs Officers for 1955

New officers of the Plymouth Kiwanis club were officially installed Tuesday evening by the immediate past-governor of this Kiwanis district, Ralph C. Keyes of Ann Arbor. Norman Atchinson took over the gavel from Edward Campbell as president of the service organization for 1955.

Keyes and Master of Ceremonies Edwin Schrader praised Campbell for his record during the past year and cited the outstanding contribution to club activities made by Atchinson as assurance of another year of progress. Officers installed along with Atchinson were: Dr. Fred Foust, first vice-president; Robert Lidgard, second vice-president; Ernest Henry, secretary; George Burr, treasurer; and board members Harry Larsen; Harry Christensen, Harold Eisner and John Blossom.

The installation was attended by 150 members and wives at Arbor-Lill.

Grange Cleanings

Tonight is our usual supper meeting, the first meeting of the New Year, so we hope those members who have not been attending meetings as they should will "turn over that new leaf" and do better in 1955—Come on to a meeting and see what a good brand of citizens are members of our Grange, you might like us. It is quite important that all of those having Blue Cross memberships should be present tonight as there is an important question regarding B.C. to be discussed and must be decided tonight.

The silver wedding reception honoring Charlie and Milly Riemas last Sunday afternoon was a very lovely party. The table looked beautiful with the silver tea and coffee service at each end and the beautiful flowers in the center. Cake, coffee and tea were served with Mrs. Hartom and Betty Norman pouring. There were guests from Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Milford, Chelsea and Harbor Springs. Also other places.

Everyone enjoyed the afternoon visiting as it was such a happy occasion, Milly looked very sweet as usual only a little more so, wearing a beautiful white orchid on her shoulder.

Plymouth Grange is saddened by the loss of our sister Ara Fellig. She was a faithful, helpful member as far as her frail health would permit. She enjoyed coming to the Grange meetings and other social functions. We shall miss her.

Pomona meeting next Tuesday evening, January 11, at Webster hall. The lecturer there has planned a "Fun Night" and hopes to have each Grange do some stunt.

Light refreshments served after the meeting. The Washtenaw county agent, Mr. Johnson, will be present and talk on subjects of interest to the Grange.

Every line of history inspires a confidence that we shall not go far wrong; that things mend.

HEART OF THE ELECTRONIC system which controls operation of the world's largest bumper plating facility at Chevrolet's new Livonia Spring and Bumper Plant is a series of upright illuminated panels like the one above. There is a control panel like this for each of the three automatic lines. A total of 710 miles of wiring connects points on the control panels to some 25,000 electrically actuated parts of the plating machines. Simply by using a test probe on the panel, as above, an electrician can check on the operation of any one of these 25,000 parts.

Chevrolet Unwraps Production Activities At New Spring & Bumper Plant in Livonia

The largest automatic plating facility in the world, capable of producing an automobile bumper every three seconds, is now in full operation on the edge of Plymouth township. It is Chevrolet's new Spring and Bumper plant on Eckles road, Livonia.

Chevrolet took the wraps off its production activities at the new plant this week when it told newspapers in the area of production data. Many Plymouth area people are employed at the plant.

The ultra-modern installation plates raw stock in three straight line machines that total nearly a third of a mile in length. On carrier loads of 335 tons each, the steel bars go through a two-and-a-half-hour, 31-step process of cleanings, washings, rinsing and platings. They are loaded at the start by hand and unloaded at the end, but pass through the plating procedure automatically in a unique application of elevators and shuttles.

The three lines operate independently of each other and can turn out a total of four acres of plated surface in 16 hours. Each machine is 535 feet long, 17 feet wide and 25 feet high.

Heart of the automatic operation is an "electronic detective" that uses 710 miles of wiring to keep a finger on approximately 25,000 control points along the lines.

Upright illuminated panels carry a complete diagram of the electrical layout controlling each plating machine. Each point on the diagram represents one of the 25,000 control points and is wired directly to that part of the machine.

Simply by using a test probe, much like a telephone operator working at a giant illuminated switchboard, an electrician can "tune in" instantly on any one of the thousands of points and tell how that part of the machine is performing. This eliminates traveling the length of the machine to locate trouble. Checking can also be done with power on. The plating plant, installed and engineered by the George L. Nankervis Co. of Detroit, is on two levels and covers an area equal to three football fields.

On the first level is accessory equipment such as pumps, heat exchangers, filters, air washers, storage, mixing and skim tanks. The second level contains plating machines and tanks, motor-generator sets, electrical control equipment and blowers. Plating and storage tanks hold a volume equivalent to 109 railroad tank cars.

The outlay continuously agitates, constantly filters and keeps solutions at exact temperatures. Actual plating is done at mid-point between the two levels. Tanks extend but 30 inches above the second floor, allowing for easy accessibility, clear observation of the process and easy maintenance.

Each automatic line has a completely independent copper-nickel section and a chromium section. Bumpers go through 20 pre-cleaning and plating sequences in the copper-nickel sections, enter one of 15 copper plating tanks, are nickel-plated in 12 tanks, buffed and sent through 10 sequences in the chrome sections.

Two automatic flat polishing machines polish, wash, bonderize and lubricate the sheet metal prior to forming. From there, the material is transferred to six gigantic presses where bumpers are formed in advance of plating. Each press weighs 930,000 pounds and exerts up to 2,500 tons of pressure. After this, the parts pass through a series of trimming and punching presses and on to a series of automatic buffing machines. An elaborate exhaust system carries buffing residue to huge washing machines which operate like sluice boxes in mining to collect the waste particles.

The 814,000-square foot Livonia plant is more than a plating installation, according to Edward H. Kelley, general manufacturing manager of Chevrolet, the plant also houses sufficient coil and leaf spring manufacturing facilities to supply all of Chevrolet needs. Kelley revealed the plant can turn out from 5,000 to 7,000 leaf springs an hour, starting with raw stock. The spring process includes grinding, coiling and forming, quenching, heat-treating, drawing, shot-peening and testing.

A fully equipped testing and chemical laboratory contains all the technical facilities for control of the bumper plating and spring manufacturing materials and processes, Kelley said.

Spring and bumper fabrication formerly was part of the Chevrolet-Detroit Forge Plant. The Livonia plant has been completed without loss of production.

The reason why the race of man moves slowly is because it must move all together.

—Thomas B. Reed.

Don't forget the St. Michael's Blood Bank. Two hundred donors are needed to make the drive a success, so if you can spare the time the Red Cross will tell you if you can spare the blood when you go to St. Michael's school on Monday, January 10, 1955 anytime from 3 to 9 p.m.

The Rosedale Women's club of the Civic Association will greet the New Year with a potluck dinner and book review on January 6 at the Clubhouse. Lucille Shirmer is in charge of the potluck assisted by Martha Spears, Marian Kilkia and Mozette Campbell. The dinner is scheduled for 6:30 p.m.

The woman's club is fortunate to secure Miss Nancy Brannan, a graduate of Western Michigan college and the University of Illinois, and present assistant librarian at the Plymouth branch, Wayne County Library, to give the review. Miss Brannan has selected several books: "Inside Nantucket" by Frank Gibbreth, story of an inn on Nantucket Island and the amusing incidents that occur; "No Time for Sergeants" by Mac Hyma one of the funniest books of the season, depicting the misadventures of a boy from Georgia in the Air Force; and "Tomorrow" by Philip Wylie, a realistic but fictional account of a pressing problem of all of us-civilian defense.

A great many people enjoyed celebrating New Year's eve close to home. The Rosedale Gardens Civic association had a New Year's dance at the clubhouse for members and their guests. Mike DeFoggi's orchestra played from 10 till 2:30 with a short intermission at 12:30 so everyone could enjoy the delicious supper catered by Blacks of Northville.

A special thanks to the committee that worked so hard to make the hall look so festive. The committee consists of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Larson, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Bewely Priestman and Mr. and Mrs. John Haas.

Another group of neighbors and friends had a combination potluck dinner and square dance at the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian church. About 60 members and their guests enjoyed the square dancing with Robert Carson doing the calling. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Rich, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pierce and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Haab worked very hard on the committee and their friends certainly appreciated it.

After driving up and down the streets in Rosedale Gardens until they were dizzy, the judges finally awarded the prizes for outside decorations to the following people:

Religious: First prize, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Talbot, Jr., 9901 Berwick; Second, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Benson, 9806 Berwick; and Third, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hanson, 11324 Cranston.

Christmas: First prize, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Day, 11315 Cranston; Second, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Ericson, 9900 Blackburn; and Third, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hoffman, 9837 Ingram.

Original: First prize, Mr. and Mrs. V. Olive, 9905 Shadyside; Second, Mr. and Mrs. James Valrance, Jr., 11034 Berwick; and Third, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney C. Hay, Jr., 9628 Woodring.

Prizes will be awarded to the various individuals at the First Civic Association Meeting.

AWARDED FIRST PRIZE in the recent yuletide decorations contest sponsored by the Rosedale Gardens Civic association were the following homes of that community: Above, 9905 Shadyside, home of Mr. and Mrs. Vertis Olive, for the most original display; left, the 11315 Cranston street home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Day for its Christmas theme; and for the best religious display, pictured below, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Talbot, 9901 Berwick. Outside judges were called in for the annual event which was held between December 25 and 31.

U of M Collection Helps Authors

Five books published in 1954 contain materials from the Michigan Historical Collections of the University of Michigan.

Gerald Carson, author of "The Old Country Store" (Oxford University Press) found in merchants' account books pertinent information for his volume. Now engaged in writing another book, Carson returned to the Collections for source materials.

The Henry B. Joy Papers provided information for Allan Nevins' "Ford: The Times, The Man, The Company" (Scribners). Joy was president of the Packard Motor Company, and his papers contain correspondence relating to the early development of the automobile industry in Detroit.

F. Clever Bald, author of "Michigan in Four Centuries," drew on the correspondence, diaries, account books, and printed materials in the Collections in writing his book. Bald is assistant director of the Collections.

In the "Letters of Theodore Roosevelt," edited by Elting E. Morison (Harvard University Press), a number of letters written by T. R. to Chase S. Osborn are published. The originals are in the huge collections of Osborn Papers. For many years Osborn was an admirer of Roosevelt, and, in 1912, he was the leader of the seven liberal governors who prevailed upon him to run for President.

Evans Bicycle Production Makes Plymouth One Of Few Cycle Manufacturing Cities in Country

An assembly line which started moving last summer at Evans Products company is today making Plymouth one of the few bicycle and tricycle manufacturing cities in the country.

A full-fledged assembly line, similar to ones used in the automobile industry with its overhead conveyor system, has some of the most modern equipment used in any bicycle manufacturing plant.

The Evans bicycle operation was recently given six pages of pictures and description in "American Bicyclist," a magazine prominent in the nation's bicycle business.

Evans Products got into the bicycle field a year ago when they purchased the Cycle division of the Colson Corporation in Elyria, Ohio. The Eckles road plant was already keeping busy with the manufacturing of equipment for railroad cars, connecting rods for airplanes, bus and truck heaters and stamped products. But Evans officials wanted to look ahead to the day when military contracts would end.

It took a great deal of planning, work and headaches to make room for the start of wheel goods manufacture. Wheeler Associates, a Cleveland firm, was brought here to help plan and set up assembly lines. Most of Colson's key sales personnel were then brought here to help plan and set up assembly lines. Most of Colson's key sales personnel were then brought to Plymouth.

Another important step taken by Evans before starting manufacture was the designing of an outstanding product. Evans hired Harley Earl of General Motors to turn his talents toward velocipedes and bikes. Earl is father of the new look in GM cars and appliances and the Chevrolet Corvette.

One of Earl's early designs was the Imperial velocipede which was a success at the Toy Show in New York last spring. His bicycle designs are still undisclosed.

Evans buys its rims, coaster brakes, saddles, tires, spokes, pedals, sprockets, handlebar grips and accessories in assembled or finished form. Brought in from mills are tube stock for frames and handlebars. The Plymouth plant does the stamping of all fenders, brackets, etc.

Bicycle making, of course, was a new experience not only for the plant but for Evans employees. Covering one wall is a parts board containing every part and identifying numbers which go into the 42 bicycle models and 19 velocipede models. The board makes employees familiar with the maze of parts and serves as a standardization check to eliminate need for excessive gages.

There is also a master color chart. Electronic welding machines insure uniform strong welds. Frame and joint welds tested in the company's laboratory have withstood 10,000 pounds pull tests and a down-bearing pressure on the seat post of 3,650 pounds.

After welding, frames go through a wash and into an electrostatic painting booth. Nearly 98 per cent of paint sprayed in the booth gets on the work. Unlike ordinary paint booths, no one enters this one for there's 90,000 volts kicking around. A conveyor carries the work between two charged grids and the paint literally leaps on to the parts. None falls to the floor.

The painted parts then enter a 350-degree oven for about 10 minutes. One operation which depends on human skill is the striping of the frame. A silk screen and masking process is used. An assembly line thickly populated with workers then assembles the bicycles piece by piece as it rolls down the line.

An inspection crew thoroughly checks each bicycle before the bicycle is cartoned.

Bicycle manufacturing seems like a far cry from World War II days when the plant made 65 military items such as gun mounts, air cargo tie-down equipment, rocket motor bodies, special heating and ventilating equipment, plane parts and stampings.

Evans was founded over 30 years ago when it first produced a wood chock for bracing automobiles on flat cars. Today it has become a leading producer of railroad loading equipment which prevents box car loads from shifting. Its newest product is a new kind of freight car which will carry six automobiles instead of the usual four. The company recently worked with the Navy in designing and installing a marine cargo dunnage system in one hold of the USS Diamond Head.

Evans has three west coast plants, Coos Bay, Oregon, Roseburg, Oregon and Vancouver, British Columbia. They are the largest producers of wood battery separators and a leading fir plywood producer.

Survey by U of M Staff Doctor Shows Even Hospitals have Slow Seasons

When is the best time to go to a hospital? When you are sick, of course.

However, efficiency studies conducted by members of the University of Michigan Hospital administrative staff indicate that factors other than illness determine hospital admissions. Such influences as weather, holidays, distance from Ann Arbor, and family plans often determine when a patient is admitted.

Dr. Sabih K. Djazzar, an administrative intern from Syria, has tabulated occupancy factors, and he reports that his findings agree with conditions which exist at hospitals other than University Hospital. He found that:

1) Three days, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, show the greatest number of patients in the hospital;

2) The lowest occupancy day is New Year's Day;

3) The lowest occupancy period is between Christmas and New Years, and the next lowest is July 4th to July 5th;

4) The lowest month of occupancy is July, the highest is October;

Dr. Djazzar also reports that the average length of stay of a patient at the University Hospital is 12.64 days. This compares with 13.6 days, a figure for hospitals with 500 or more beds.

Though there will be no city candidates on the primary ballot, city and township voters will both need to vote on other candidates such as judges and college trustees.

The newest candidates to file for the commission, Vallier and Cutler, waited until the last minute to announce their candidacy. The Valliers with their two daughters live at 1338 Penman. Vallier moved to Plymouth four years ago and is an engineer in the Ford Motor company engineering division.

Cutler has served the city in two other offices. He was municipal judge from 1941 until 1949 and assistant city attorney from 1949 until 1953. A resident of Plymouth since 1924, he is a Plymouth high school graduate. He established his law practice here in 1933. The Cutlers live at 193 North Main street and have four daughters and a son.

tween 10 and 15 seconds after starting its descent.

The Main street gates are lowered in 13 seconds, according to the Signal department.

Although the railroad's letter to the city commission did not explain the reason for the regulation, commissioners expressed their belief that a uniform regulation with a short gate lowering time would make motorists stop when they see the flashers, instead of trying to beat the gates if they knew that the gates did not lower for 15 seconds or longer.

In other business before the commission, Mayor Russell Daane made two appointments to the Electrical Board of Examiners and one to the zoning commission. Reappointed to the electrical board were James Honey, Sr., and Robert L. Gillis. Renamed as planning commissioner was Walter Rensel. His term will expire in November 1957.

A letter was read to city commissioners from city employees thanking them for the money allowed for a pre-Christmas party held at city hall. Although much of the food was furnished by local merchants, commissioners allowed up to $30 for the party at which more than 50 city workers attended.

A Layman Says...

"MANY SHALL FOLLOW THEIR PERNICIOUS WAYS: BY REASON OF WHOM THE WAY OF TRUTH SHALL BE EVIL SPOKEN OF." 2 Peter 2:2.
"Ought ye not to walk in the fear of our God because of the reproach of the heathen?" Nehemiah 5:9.
Ordinary magnets attract iron, but the repulsive magnet repels iron. It seemed unnatural to us to see a steel plate held up in the air, several inches away from the magnet, by the repellant force of another magnet. God wants His people to be magnets for Christ; we are called to draw men to Him and introduce others to Him. Sometimes instead of being attractive magnets for the Lord we are repelling magnets. Our lives can be so sloppy and inconsistent that they actually drive people away from Christ. Let us live so closely to Christ that we will be stepping stones to Him rather than stumbling stones. It is only as we follow Him that He makes us fishers of men.
So this I wish I always wish, the prayer I ever pray. Let my life help the other lives it touches by the way.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Brownie Troop 10 with its leaders, Mrs. Al McCloy and Mrs. Herbert Burley, ushered in the holiday season with a caroling party. They called at the home of each Brownie to deliver a gift they had made. They enjoyed refreshments at the home of Jeanne McCloy following the caroling. As another Christmas project they collected canned goods and gifts for a needy family.

Fly-up Scouts of Troop 3 spent Wednesday and Thursday of last week at the Girl Scout lodge. During the day they worked on their First Aid badge and in the evening held a Christmas party. Mrs. William Edgar, Mrs. E. P. Light and Mrs. H. D. Jensen accompanied the troop.

Girl Scouts of Troop 1 would like to thank the people who helped make our Christmas merry by giving much time and cooperation to our various projects. The mothers who provided food, cooked and washed dishes for our dinner party—the dads for our transportation to Maybury Sanatorium for our caroling—parents, friends and our sponsor, the V.F.W. Auxiliary, for the clothing, food and toys given for our Christmas family and to the Goodfellows who gave them the necessities we were unable to provide.

Plymouth Girl Scout Council will meet at the home of Mrs. K. L. Hulsing, 1010 Church street, on Monday, January 10, at 1:30 p.m. Professional worker, Mrs. George Bauer of Wayne, will lead a discussion on the functions of a council. All members are urged to attend this important meeting.

Who's New In Plymouth

A STORM seems to be brewing in the Joseph Pekarek family of 485 Parkview drive as they settle down for a reading from their favorite storybook. Chris, left, is contemplating a strategic move to wrest the book from Joseph's lap but is apparently headed for trouble. Gleefully watching the antics from his mother's lap is Geoff while Dad is apparently oblivious to the impending danger. The newcomers arrived in Plymouth last August following residence in Flint. Pekarek is employed at the Fisher body plant in Livonia and the family attends the Methodist church.

Northville Church Has New Pastor

The Reverend John O. Taxis, Bethesda, Maryland, was given a unanimous call to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church, Northville, by action of the parish Sunday. Dr. Harold E. Fredsell of Detroit was pastor for 13 years before resigning last July to become director of church extension, Detroit presbytery.
John W. Blackburn, elder of the Northville church, is chairman of the pulpits committee. Moderator of the vacant church is Dr. Henry J. Walsh, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Plymouth.
A graduate of Union Theological seminary, Richmond, Virginia, the new pastor now serves a suburban church in Washington D.C.

How Christian Science Heals "A Proof That Prayer Heals"

Richwine Renamed To Bar Committee

Perry W. Richwine, who is both an attorney and vice-president of the First Federal Savings & Loan association office here, has been renamed to the real property law committee of the State Bar of Michigan, it was announced this week.

This is the fourth time Richwine has been appointed to the committee. Terms are of one year duration.

Meeting periodically in Lansing, the committee reviews real property laws and possible changes and makes recommendations to the State Bar. State Bar recommendations are then usually enacted into law by legislators. The committee also serves in an advisory capacity to attorneys throughout Michigan who have problems dealing with real property.

LUCKY WINNER at last week's Teenage Hop is Margie Alford, shown above receiving her prize of four records from CKLW Disc Jockey "Bud" Davies, featured guest at the event. Looking on is Meredith Smith, chairman of the student planning committee. The dance was sponsored by Plymouth teenagers and the local Optimist club.

THIRTEEN DEER are seen hanging behind these two Plymouth men in a South Dakota hunting camp. The men are Ossie Hinote of Plymouth Portable Welding (left) and Frank Weller of Plymouth. Cliff Boyd of Northville was also in the party. The lodge is located at Deadwood in the Black Hills. The local men were gone 10 days.

American Legion News

Next regular business meeting of Passage-Gayde Post No. 391 is at 8:30 p.m. at the Memorial home on Wednesday, January 12. Commander Burleson would be very pleased to have a large number in attendance at this meeting.
The Auxiliary will hold its regular business meeting at 8 p.m. at the Memorial home on Thursday, January 13.
The 17th District Association meeting will be hosted at the Lloyd H. Green Post at Northville on Friday evening, January 7.
Passage-Gayde Post received two national citations from the National Headquarters of the American Legion. One was received for the year 1953-54. Past Commander Robert Wilson was Americanism chairman during the period. The Post also received a membership citation for having re-enrolled their 1954 membership for 1955 before Veterans Day, November 11, 1954.
The Post wished to remind the public that their Service and Welfare program includes a service formerly carried on by the Ex-Servicemens Club, the one of furnishing available hospital beds and crutches to those who are in need of them when these items are not in use. Vernon Miller is Service and Welfare officer.

Several local Legionnaires and their groups attended the New Year's dance at the Newburg road home of the Myron H. Beals Post of Livonia. Later the Rudy Kunz served a New Year's Day breakfast at their home for the local members.

Chips from the ROCK

There is no better way to start a New Year than by sticking ones neck out and asking for another dose of poison that is bound to stir up the old ulcers, and get them boiling again. Since this has been one of my weaknesses during the past twenty-five years in Plymouth, I readily fall victim to all comers and, regardless of the dosage, when the smoke has all cleared away there appears to be no permanent after effects that have left me permanently disabled.

Chamber of Commerce secretary, Nat Sibbold, is the last one to come up with a prescription for 1955 and, having tried more acid solutions than the one he proposed, I immediately succumbed to his ministrations. Starting back with the chairmanship of the committee appointed by Paul Wiedman, during his Rotary year, to raise some $20,000 for a lighted football field, through the years there have been many difficult assignments. The last came to a climax last year with my taking on the job of raising funds for the badly needed St. Mary's hospital which I believe will be started next summer.

And, speaking of the hospital, it was interesting to note in the Livingston County Press of Howell, a week or so ago, the fact that Medics and Osteopaths of that community have agreed to jointly use the facilities of the new McPherson Health Center. According to the article, under the arrangement, patients will have free choice of physician. "The result of the discussions," director Dr. J. J. Hendren stated, "was that there would be a wholehearted cooperation between the two groups and that both will work together in the new hospital for the purpose of better serving the people of the hospital community." Not a bad way to start a New Year!

A serious look at Sibbold's prescription for "55" (previously mentioned) reads very simply and reveals no implications of the reactions of the medicine during the months ahead. . . . "Chairman the Area Planning Committee" . . . purpose (or dosage) — "to preside at round table meetings of various civic and governmental leaders in the community where discussion will be held regarding mutual problems, legislative programs of mutual benefit, sewers, water, zoning and perhaps annexation."

The first dose of the prescription was most pleasant. Accompanying me to the hospital (or serving on my committee) will be school superintendent Russell Isbister, school board president James Gallimore, chamber president Dr. John Robison, township supervisor Roy Lindsay, township fire captain Harry Miller, mayor Russell Daane, city manager Al Glassford and, of course, secretary Sibbold.

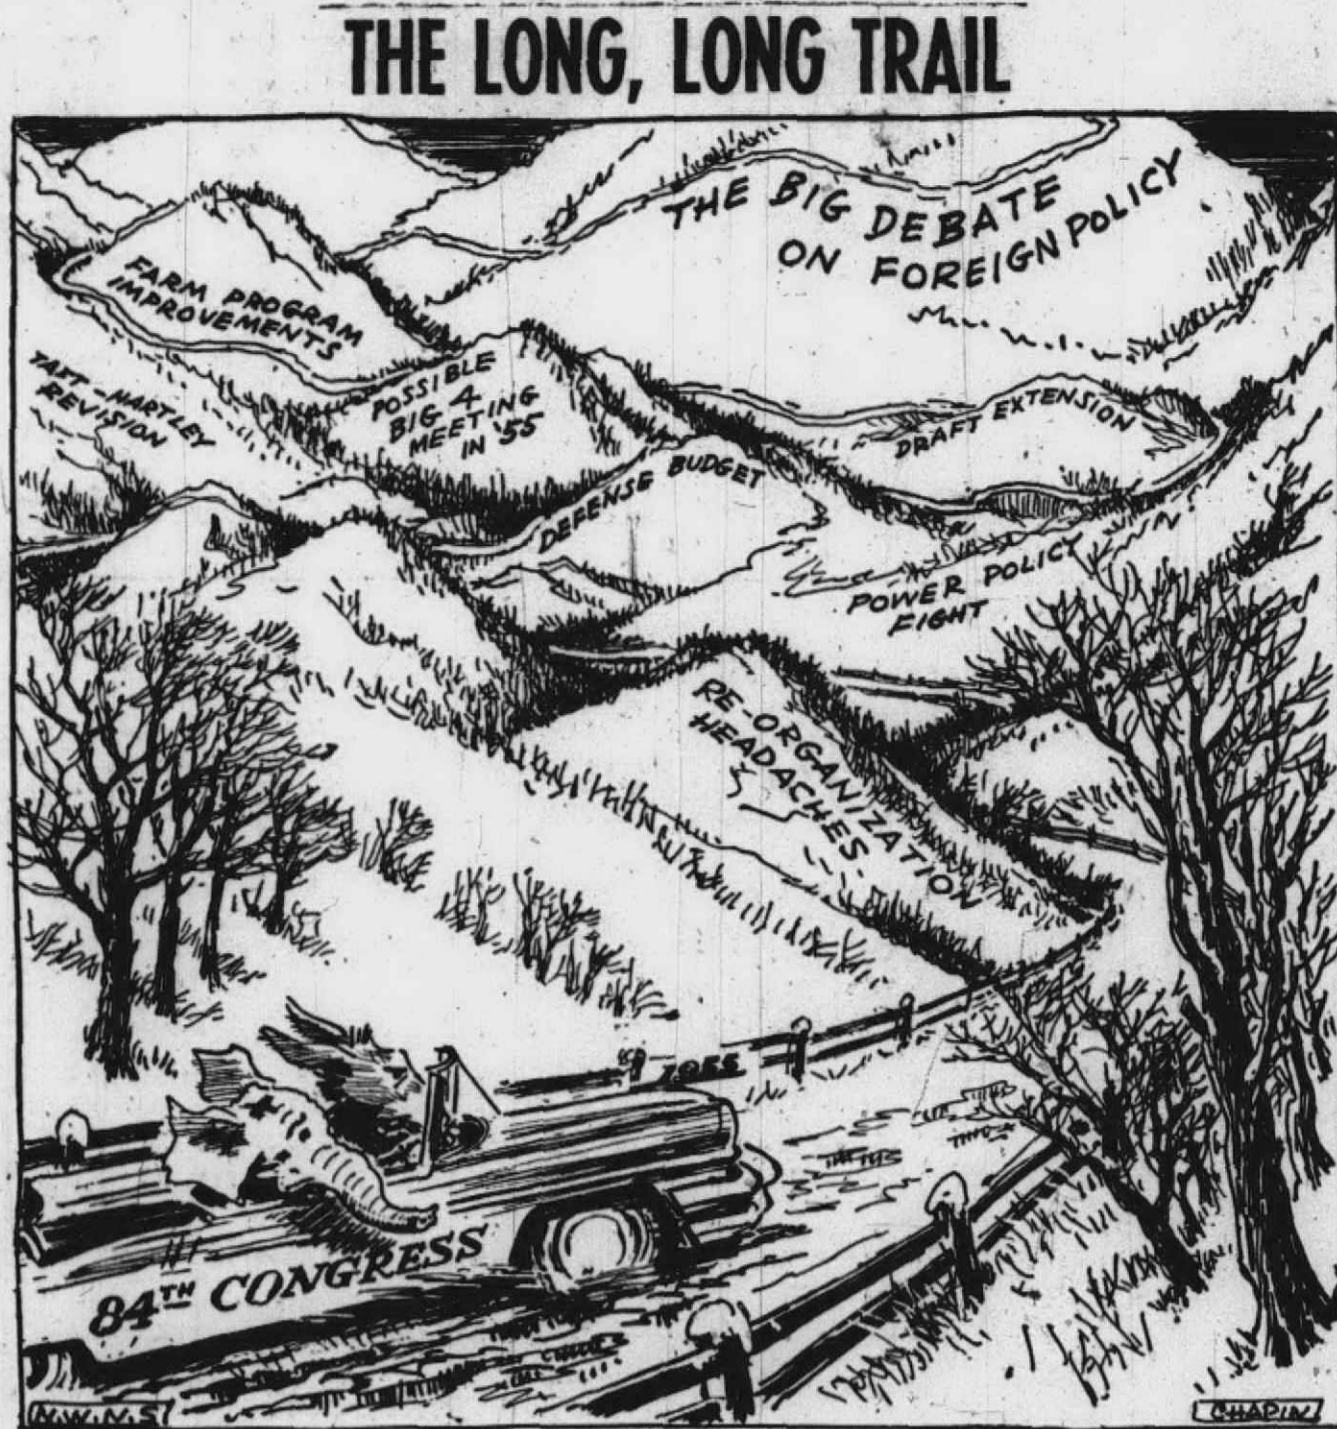

"Actually there is no special project for this committee to consider," said Sibbold. "The aim is for the group to discuss problems then influence other groups to take action for the overall benefit of all of the residents," he continued. "Actually the whole thing is intangible but through this groups effort we hope to get better cooperation and better coordination from all concerned. Last year the committee wanted to discuss annexation but it found itself at a stalemate on the subject, so no effort was made to get on to this problem," he concluded.

In the chamber secretary's last statement lays the basis, no doubt, of the entire prescription and it doesn't take anyone with 20-20 vision to see it. However, there is no doubt the City of Plymouth is at an economic point of strangulation . . . annexation may be the only solution which will provide more tax dollars and secure for the business firms of the area a planned growth which will insure them of more business in the years ahead.

It well may be a wise move for not only the city but township residents as well . . . THIS HOWEVER IS A MATTER OF CONJECTURE and at the present time there are most certainly two distinct lines of thought on the matter. Some residents of the township are in favor of annexation and some are opposed. The same is true in the city. Township officials are frank to state that if the city can offer them benefits that they now don't have, or if they can show them any real benefit that might come to township residents from annexation, they would be glad to listen.

Certainly this particular problem is a most important one and city and township officials must have many things to discuss, pro and con, before any definite recommendation can be made by this committee. It is with this thought in mind that I am most happy to accept the chairmanship of this important group. From these meetings I can, and will, inform the residents of the overall area the thinking, the good things and the bad, that come from these meetings. If this particular item should be the main discussion problem, and I am guessing it will, I shall find myself in a most enviable position to find out for myself the proper solution and relay to you the findings of this impressive group of civic leaders.

The first meeting of this group will be Monday noon, January 10th. I am told it will be strictly social and plans will be laid for the work which will be undertaken during the months ahead. Since I am aware of some of the physical reactions to medicine of this kind, I shall plan to leave Plymouth shortly after the 10th, and join my newspaper friends in St. Petersburg for the annual National Editorial Association convention then tour with them Haiti and Jamaica where I may gather subsequent material for this column.

Also those southern sojourners from Plymouth who weren't pictured here last year we hope will be visited in the land of sun this year, while we loaf a few weeks, soaking up vitamins and vitality to carry us through the interesting days ahead.

★ THINKING OUT LOUD ★

One question, sometimes controversial, sometimes personal, is asked each week by The Mail of four pedestrians along Plymouth's downtown streets. This week's guests are "thinking out loud" on the question:

"What New Year's resolutions have you made for 1955?"

MEREDITH SMITH, 1352 West Ann Arbor trail: "I've resolved to do better in school. I'm a junior. I've spent too much time doing other things, like the other night I was chairman of a dance. I've decided to do more home work. I also am not going to drive my car as much in 1955. It costs too much."

GAYLE GRIFFITHS, 40162 Gilbert: "My resolution is to get along better with my younger brother. I hope he makes a resolution to get along with me better too. That's my only resolution."

MRS. ERVIN KNUDSON, 328 South Harvey: "I have made a resolution that my husband and I will stay in one place. We moved five times this year, from state to state. Our home was originally in North Dakota. We hope to settle down in Plymouth. My husband is a pipefitter. Outside of that, I haven't made any resolutions because they don't seem to do much good anyway."

CLIFFORD FISBECK, 4080 Berry road: "I seem to be going along all right without making any resolutions. I never made a habit of making any and I don't think I'll start now. Everyone I knew who made resolutions forgot all about them by the second week in January."

STATE GOVERNMENT reform movement under the "Little Hoover" Commission have taken a new turn.

After five years the State Legislative Committee on State Government Reorganization disbanded; turned over 30 reports to the full legislature.

"Our job is finished and it's now up to the legislature," said Senator Frank Andrews (R-Hillman).

Reforms in every major facet of government were proposed in the study which started with researchers who dug out the facts and passed them on with recommendations to a citizens' advisory committee.

The group of citizens—all leaders in labor, industry, education, and business—worked over the reports from the researchers and passed on the modified recommendations to the legislative group.

Lawmakers gave the reports a third screening, then recommended them as statutes.

Major reforms have been few and far between, but both Democrats and Republicans agree that those which did become law have made state government more efficient and have realized some economies.

"An example is the records center, which saves office space and makes old records available in a central filing system," Andrews said. "This alone is saving thousands of dollars each year."

Among important recommendations ignored so far by the legislature are abolition of the elective auditor-general in favor of a legislative auditor; the centering of all administrative power in the governor.

Andrews said he would ask for a special legislative committee to press for all the reforms recommended by the commission.

PRISON INMATES were given a testimonial turkey dinner for working overtime to finish a $45,000 farm dormitory at Jackson State Prison.

The building was one of several spread over the prison system to ease the overcrowding crisis.

Prison officials wanted the building completed before the first of the year. They used inmate labor to trim the costs and to speed up the work.

By working overtime and during lunch periods and on their free days, the more than 30 prisoners finished the job well ahead of schedule.

"They worked hard for us and we want to show them that we appreciate it," said John J. Spencer, assistant corrections director in charge of institutions.

THE DEAN of Michigan prisoners, Tony Duley, is starting his 48th year behind bars for a 1907 murder in Oscoda.

He has long since been eligible for commutation of his sentence by the governor, the first step toward freedom. He is 69 years old.

Now feeble and frail, Duley has been promised a home for the rest of his days by a South Haven family, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Baron, who became his first visitors in 10 years in 1952.

There have been roadblocks to Tony's release, but he is still hopeful. Prison officials say he has paid his penalty and law enforcement officers have no objections to his release, probably in June.

Until then, Tony is "just waiting for another chance," hoping it won't come too late.

MICHIGAN IS RALLYING its people for the annual week in which the state's products are promoted, from the crops grown on the farm to the automobiles built in the cities.

Veterans organizations and the state's 1,200 service clubs are the latest to pledge their help.

Merrill Graham, of Concord, is chairman of the Michigan Week Council of Service Clubs. A regular speaker before service clubs and a Michigan booster, he said: "We want to mobilize the service clubs throughout the state as a tremendous force in the 1955 Michigan Week Campaign."

"Michigan Week (May 15-21) is intended to build loyalty and pride in our state and greater knowledge of its wonderful advantages. We want to mobilize every county."

Graham started work on his part in the project with top men from the following clubs:

Zonta International; Kiwanis International; Altrusa International; Michigan Association of High Twelve Clubs; Toastmasters International; Michigan State Exchange Club; Civitan International; Optimist International; Michigan Business and Professional Womens' Clubs; Rotary International; Lions Clubs; and the Michigan Pilor Club.

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

Sauerbraten's Easy To Make!

Removing excess fat from the meat is a primary step in the preparation of Mrs. Harrison Moore's favorite Sauerbraten recipe. Above, the Priscilla Lane resident starts making the German dish.

After a round of turkey dinners, a meal of delicious Sauerbraten will provide a welcome change in the family menu.

Mrs. Harrison Moore of 11732 Priscilla Lane has a favorite recipe for this German dish which she heartily recommends for the family dinner on these chilly January evenings. You'll be glad to know that this particular recipe doesn't involve marinating the meat for 48 hours nor basting it every 30 minutes, which is usually the case with Sauerbraten. Here's her quick and easy method for preparing it:

Sauerbraten
3 pounds of beef (round, chuck or sirloin)
2 onions
1 clove garlic
4 whole allspice
4 bay leaves
8 peppercorns
1 cup vinegar
½ cup water
10 ginger snaps

Wipe the meat with a damp cloth and trim off excess fat; rub with salt and pepper. Place in heavy skillet on top of stove, add all the ingredients, except ginger snaps. Cover tightly, start on high heat until cooking well, then turn heat very low and simmer for 4 hours.

Remove meat and make gravy as follows: Strain the spices from the liquid, crumble the ginger snaps in a mixing bowl and make a smooth paste with ¼ cup vinegar, add to the liquid and cook for a few minutes. If the gravy is too thick or sour, add water; if not sour enough, add vinegar to taste. Sweet or sour cream may be added to the gravy before serving.

Good accompaniments to the dish are potato dumplings, or potato pancakes; marinated cucumber salad, green or yellow beans and cheese cake for dessert.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

NEURITIS
Patients often come into the offices of physicians, complaining of rheumatism. A careful examination frequently disclosed the fact that the trouble is neuritis which means inflammation of nerve or nerves.

The nerves run from the brain and spinal cord to all parts of the body. There are two different kinds of nerves, those of feeling (sensory) and those of motion (motor). Every function of the body is controlled by nerves, even the sweat glands and the blood vessels.

Nearly all nerves are made up of bundles of fibers, some of which are sensory and some motor. That is why a sore nerve usually causes pain as well as muscle weakness. If a motor nerve is much affected, the muscles which it supplies do not function properly, they are either wholly or partially paralyzed. If the sick nerve is sensory, the symptoms will be pain, prickling and tenderness.

There are two types of neuritis: the local, in which one nerve or those contiguous to it are affected, or the multiple in which all the nerves of the body are involved.

Local neuritis may develop in any part of the body. It is often brought about by cold and exposure.

For instance, a person may get chilled while riding in a motor car with a cold wind blowing on his face. He will probably have a dull pain on the side of his face after a night of sleep. This may continue for a day or two. The pain is slight so he pays no attention to it. On looking in the mirror, however, he is amazed to see his mouth twisted to one side. Bye and bye he discovers that his eyelid droops, and he has no control over it. Eating is a humiliating performance, for the food has a tendency to drop out of his mouth. He is exceedingly alarmed, for one side of his face is paralyzed.

This is a paralysis of a motor nerve that supplies half of his face. With proper treatment he will recover usually without leaving a trace of the deformity. There is little or no pain in the face during the attack because it is a motor, and not a sensory nerve that is affected.

Then there is a large nerve that comes out low in the back and runs down the leg. It is called the sciatic nerve. When it is inflamed, it is very painful and renders walking difficult and often impossible.

There are many causes for neuritis, chief of which is infection. Ella—When are you to be married? Stella—Whenever the man in the case gets his salary raised to a point where he will not find the alimony I expect prohibitive.

New Food Process Utilizes Freezing, Partial Dehydration

If you were to look into a crystal ball you might see the future food market featuring "dehydrofrozen" fruits and vegetables.

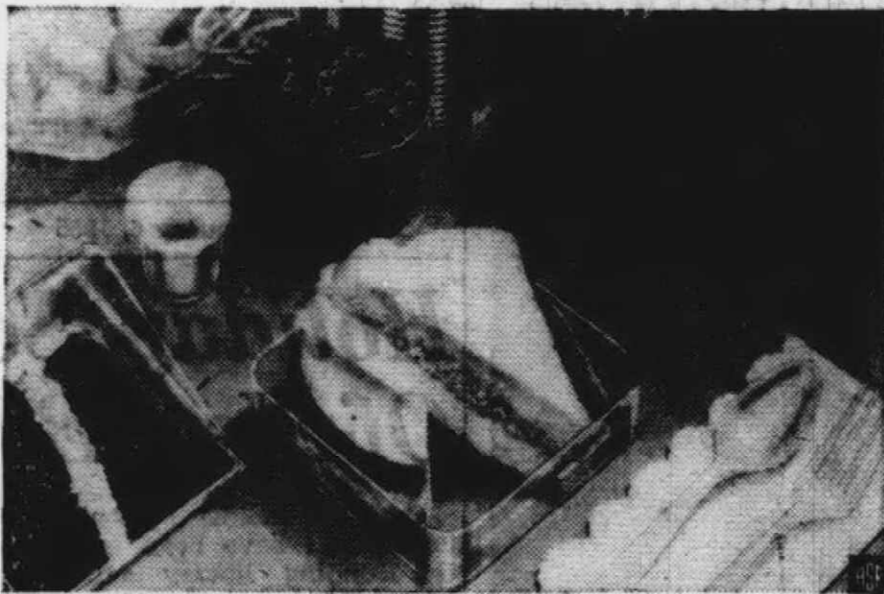

"Dehydrofreezing" is a process combining freezing and partial dehydration and is now being used by large-scale food users. But, before long this new process, developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is expected to be used for packages bought by homemakers.

Dehydrofreezing, already in use by six commercial firms, is being used with apples, apricots, peas and pimientos. The process offers several advantages over other methods of food preservation. The dehydrofrozen fruits and vegetables weigh less and take less space than the same quantity of food prepared by ordinary freezing. Then too, the flavor and texture are more natural than those resulting from conventional dehydration. In some cases "dehydrofrozen" products are superior to those that are fresh frozen.

Ordinary freezing, USDA food preservation experts explain, tends to rupture cellular structure. That's why some foods break down in texture after thawing. Partial dehydration helps the cells stand up better under the freezing process. And, in the partial-drying step, temperatures are kept low enough to prevent flavor changes which usually occur in ordinary dried foods.

The 'Eyes' Have It For Lunch

It is what does meet the eye that is important when a school child opens his lunch box. Foods need to be as attractive as when packed.

- Chili Con Carne
- Bologna-Cheese Sandwiches (with)
- Lettuce and Mayonnaise
- Cake Wedge
- Fresh Fruit
- Beverage

It's what does meet the eye that is important to your child as he daily spreads his lunch upon the school desk. A small investment in containers and efficient wrappings to add attractiveness is also an investment in time saving in packing the lunch. Well designed containers can make it easier to vary the menu—now, chili, carried in spoon-mouthed vacuum bottle may accompany sandwiches. Bread, cakes and pastries, so appealing when purchased at the bakery or food shop, are just as inviting at lunch time, if protected when carried.

Sandwiches will remain fresh and appealing if the bread is well buttered to prevent fillings from being absorbed, if fresh vegetables—as lettuce—are packed separately and if the sandwich is boxed or wrapped to prevent mashing. This mainstay of the lunch box will carry the major portion of needed protein and energy. Several tasty sandwiches, made with Bologna-Cheese filling, should be included.

- Bologna-Cheese Sandwich Filling
- 1/2 cup ground Bologna
- 1/2 cup grated sharp cheese
- Combine Bologna, cheese, onion and mayonnaise.
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing

Yield: 1 cup, or filling for 5 sandwiches

Latin Americans Favor Delicious Coffee Pinocha

Among the Latin-American Republics, one of the favorite sweetmeats is a candy called Dolce de Leite. Sometimes, on the many occasions when "cafezinho"—tiny cups of fragrant black coffee—are being served, a platter of this popular candy takes the place of any other snack.

Let's take inspiration from South of the Border, Amigos! We give you Panocha A Cafe De Brazil-Brazilian Coffee Pinocha—a direct descendant of Dolce de Leite. We adapted the basic recipe to North American tastes. It's smooth, creamy, delicately coffee-flavored and as different as can be.

If you're the adventurous type, we suggest that you go all the way and serve it with black coffee, demi-tasse. But whether served with coffee black or coffee white, the Panocha A Cafe De Brazil will bring a "Bravo!" from the hardest-to-please candy fancier.

- Panocha A Cafe De Brazil
- 3 cups light brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1 cup strong coffee
- 2 tablespoons white corn syrup
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 cup chopped Brazil nuts

Combine sugar, coffee and corn syrup in saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, to 238°F., or until a little of the mixture dropped in cold water forms a soft ball. Remove from the heat, drop in butter (do not stir). Cool, without stirring, to 110°F., or until the candy is lukewarm. Add vanilla; beat with a spoon or electric beater at medium speed until the mixture loses its gloss, and a small amount dropped from a spoon will hold its shape. Stir in nuts; pour into lightly buttered 8 x 8 x 2-inch pan. When cold, cut into squares. Makes about 1-1-3 lbs.

For hearty luncheon toast, or as a delicious snack, spread bread with a layer of deviled ham, sprinkle with grated cheese and place under the broiler until bubbling. Serve immediately.

HAVE the holidays upset your budget? Then you'll want to cut food expenses by planning meals around items that are plentiful now, and thus less expensive.

Ground beef is an excellent buy, and it goes into lots of dishes the family likes, among which the ever-popular hamburger stands out. Dress up hamburgers by cooking the meat in onion soup. The result is a tasty combination, one whiff of which will make the kiddies come a'running.

- Souper Burgers
 - 1 pound ground beef
 - 2 tablespoons flour
 - 1 can (1 1/2 cups) condensed onion soup
 - 8 buns, toasted
- Brown meat in a heavy skillet, stirring to separate meat particles. Sprinkle flour over meat; stir until well mixed with meat. Add onion soup; cook until thoroughly heated and slightly thickened. Serve on hot buns (or toast). Enough "filling" for eight sandwiches; garnish with relish if desired. FMS

Plan Menu To Include Egg Dish

Eggs carry every food element the human body needs and especially vitamin D which occurs so rarely in our everyday foods. Many think of eggs only in terms of breakfast, but the alert homemaker knows that she may use eggs from appetizers to desserts.

Here are some delicious ways of serving them to add interest and delight to the family menu.

- Egg Salad Filling for Celery
- 2 hard cooked eggs minced
- 1 tablespoon chopped pickle
- 1 teaspoon chili sauce
- 6 small stuffed olives chopped
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
- Mix ingredients and fill celery.

- Fried Eggs in Potato Patties
 - 2 cups mashed potatoes
 - Salt and pepper
 - 1/4 cup grated cheese
 - Butter
 - 1 1/2 cups cooked tomatoes
 - 1/4 cup chopped onion
 - 6 eggs
- Season potatoes with salt and pepper and mix with cheese. Shape into 6 patties and brown in butter. Cook tomatoes and onions together to make a thick sauce. Fry eggs. Place each on a potato patty and cover with tomato sauce.

- Baked Eggs on Spanish Rice
- 1 cup uncooked rice
- 2 1/2 cups cooked tomatoes
- 1/2 small onion sliced
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 bay leaf, 2 cloves
- 2 tablespoons melted butter
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 6 eggs
- 2 tablespoons grated cheese
- 1/2 cup buttered bread crumbs.

Cook rice. Simmer tomatoes, onion, salt, bay leaf and cloves together for 10 minutes. Strain. Blend butter with flour in a saucepan and add strained tomatoes, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened. Arrange a layer of rice in a greased casserole and make 6 depressions in the rice. Place an egg in each depression. Pour tomato sauce over all and sprinkle with cheese and bread crumbs. Bake in an oven 350 degrees about 15 minutes or until eggs are firm.

- Eggs and Asparagus Double-Decker
 - 12 slices toast
 - 1 recipe creamed eggs
 - 3 dozen cooked asparagus tips
- Cover half the toast with creamed eggs, place 3 asparagus tips on each and top with second layer of toast, eggs and asparagus. Serves 6. This is a complete luncheon.

When you use slices or wedges of banana for winter fruit plates, be sure to dip the banana in lemon juice so it won't darken.

Keeping Home Stylish Needn't Prove Expensive

There are almost as many "style trends" in home decoration as there are in women's fashions. Home decoration changes are a good bit more expensive than changes made in your clothes. For this reason, it is most important to go about selecting the furniture with great care.

Look at the many changes in the popularity of various designs of furniture found in the last twelve to fifteen years. About twelve years ago almost every woman who could afford it spent a good deal of her leisure time antiquing. The two most popular designs were Early Victorian and Early American.

As these two designs began to wane, French Provincial came in to favor. This had a somewhat short span of popularity as a big seller.

The latest thing in modern furniture. This type, in the more expensive lines, is quite good because the lines are simple and the effect is uncluttered and restful.

Very few of us can discard the pieces of furniture we have collected over a period of years. However, our homes need not look dated. There are so many little things you can do to make your home stylish that will cost you only a few dollars.

Lamps are taller, brighter colors are being used, drapes are not the heavy, ornamental things they were in the past. Study the various magazines and you will find endless little things you can do to make your home newer and younger looking.

Here's a trick to remember in making tomato soup. To keep the acid of the tomatoes from curdling the milk, add the tomatoes to the flour and fat thickening, then gradually add the milk.

Make sure that the handles of your saucepans and skillets never stick out over the edge of your range when you are cooking. You can easily brush against such carelessly placed handles so that you tip the utensils and burn yourself with the hot food in them.

'Twas the day before Christmas

A deep snow had blanketed the streets of Ironwood. Indoors, families were making plans for the festive season. The telephone company, too, was making its preparations for the busiest night of the year.

That was when Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Thomas, whose home is pictured above, found their telephone was "dead." They called the telephone company from a neighbor's house. As Mr. Thomas later wrote: "In spite of the fact that this was the day before Christmas, with the added obstacle of a fresh, deep snow, a repairman* arrived in twenty minutes. Within one hour from the time the trouble was reported, he had new lines up and the telephone working.

"If this earnest and sincere workman reflects the training policy of your company, then Michigan Bell Telephone Company certainly is doing a most remarkable job."

HERE'S A BEAUTIFUL NEW KITCHEN, DESIGNED IN THE MODERN MANNER, and isn't it bright and cheerful! The sliding cupboard doors are made of Flutex fused glass so you can tell at a glance what is on each shelf. The Anderson Flexvent window lets in plenty of light. Black wrought iron hardware lends a decorative touch to this kitchen in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ramseyer, 203 Morrison, Plymouth. The counter tops are made of ceramic tile and the flooring material is vinyl tile.

Insulating Windows Reduce Heat Loss In Winter Minimize Heat Gain From Outdoors In Summer

Double-glass windows can save as much as two tons of coal a winter for an average home, or the equivalent in gas or oil, according to a circular on "Insulating Windows and Screens" just issued by the Small Homes Council at the University of Illinois.

The savings are for a typical midwest home having 20 average-sized windows. The comparable saving in oil was 340 gallons, and in gas 415 therms. The savings is only one of the benefits of insulating windows. Greater comfort is another.

Storm sash, storm panels, and sealed double—or triple—glass are various types of insulating windows. Some of these are year-around installations which, in summer, reduce heat gain from outdoors. These also can reduce the size of the air conditioning plant required for a home.

Insulating windows reduce heat loss from the house in winter and also reduce heat gain from the outdoors in summer. Such windows consist of two layers of glass separated by an air space. (Three layers are sometimes used in an extremely cold climate.) Heat flows easily through the glass but is retarded by the air space which acts as insulation.

The air space can be achieved by the installation of a second sash (storm sash) or by sealing the edges of two panes of glass together at the factory. The type of insulating window to be used should be determined when windows for the house are selected.

is warmer. As a result, less body heat is lost to the glass, and the air moving down from the window to the floor is warmer.

Insulating windows can result in fuel savings of 20 per cent or more, depending on the climate and the amount of insulation and glass used in the house.

Moisture condensation: Since the inside surface of an insulating window is warmer than that of a single-glazed window, the tendency of water vapor in the air to condense on the inside glass is lessened. If moisture condensation appears on this glass, there is too much moisture in the house and the amount should be reduced to avoid possible damage by condensation within the structure.

Heat Gain: Because insulating windows help to keep summer heat out of the house, they are particularly desirable for air-conditioned houses. Their use may allow a reduction in the size of the air-conditioning equipment needed. In any case, insulating windows reduce the number of hours the equipment must be operated.

Infiltration of Air, Dust and Soot: Storm sash are the only insulating windows which help to reduce the infiltration of cold air, dust, and soot occurring around the sash of operating windows. Because storm sash, even when used, are not ordinarily in place the year around, it is recommended that all operating windows be weatherstripped (that is, the space around the sash be closed with strips of rubber, spring metal or other material). When windows are weatherstripped, heat loss is about the same for all types of double-glazed windows.

DESIGN C-300. In addition to three bedrooms and bath, this plan also includes a living room-dining room with a coat closet, book shelves and corner window, a combination kitchen-dinette, linen and towel cabinets, wardrobe closets, recessed tub and a full basement. The center bedroom, connected to the kitchen, is ideal for use as a workroom, den or playroom. Exterior finish consists of a hip roof with asphalt shingles, shingle siding, vertical redwood, planter and brick facing in front. Floor area is 1120 sq. ft. with cubage of 21,280 cu. ft. Asphalt Roofing, Wood Windows 'Engineered' for Modern Home

"Engineered" materials are one of the biggest advances in home construction since World War II. Although new, factory-made materials might be smaller, thinner, or lighter in weight than some older materials, they work as well or better and frequently are less expensive. Technological processes have given them all the qualities they require for the function they serve.

New heating equipment is an example. The bulky old furnace has been replaced by units that are compact and clean in operation. The small size of a modern heating plant enables it to be installed in a first-floor utility room, accounting for much of the feasibility of basementless house design.

Roofing material is another example. Most homes being built today are roofed with asphalt shingles, a man-made fire-resistant material. Asphalt shingles also possess the necessary qualities of "weathering ability," durability, and the quality—new to roofing—of built-in color. Colorful exterior materials in general. Some "engineered" materials are simply older "natural" ones that have been greatly improved. An instance of this kind is the ponderosa pine window unit, in which the sash and the frame are made expressly for each other, resulting in less air infiltration and smoother operation. Formerly, the sash and the frame were separate items, and a window had to be assembled from pieces on the job.

Birch hardwood flooring has a fine sheen due to the tight grain and linings of the pores. It shows a sparkling luster when treated with a penetrating sealer finishing product.

Heat loss: From the standpoints of comfort and heating costs, insulating windows are recommended for areas where the average January temperature is 35° F. or colder.

A house which has insulating windows is more comfortable for the occupants than one which does not because the inside glass

Now that the holidays are over and most folks are beginning to dig in for the winter there'll be a lot of us who'll be taking to cellar workshops for work on those needed home improvements.

To make the job easier and more professional, you couldn't invest in anything more worth while than some of the Black and Decker portable electric tools available at Plymouth Lumber and Coal company on North Main. For the home handyman there's a sander to smooth off wood, metal composition or plastic surfaces. You'll find it indispensable for refinishing furniture, touching up those floors or cleaning up surfaces for painting or varnishing.

Other useful items put out by Black and Decker are the portable six-inch electric saw, electric drill and jig saw—all available at Plymouth Lumber. The jig saw is dandy for cutting out scalloped wood surfaces and it'll even cut leather.

After you've got those surfaces all satin smooth and clean you'll want to keep them that way. The North Main street store has just the thing to help you accomplish this—"Platon," a new wood finish.

Platon comes in glossy or satin finish. Once you've got it on your woodwork, hardwood flooring or panelling, you'll never have to wax, polish or scrub that surface again—which means you're saving on maintenance.

The Platon gives a good, hard and resistant surface which won't chip off like varnish when struck by hard objects. And Platon's a snap to apply, too. You can put it on with a brush, lamb's wool applicator, spray gun or by dipping.

Keeps Fuel Bills Low

To keep fuel bills to a minimum, replace Dust Stop furnace filters at the beginning of the season and at least once during the winter. In most makes of furnace, it's not much harder than dropping a piece of bread into the toaster.

Grange Gleanings

We hope all the Grange members are preparing to start the New Year right and attend our Grange meeting tonight. This is a supper meeting, of course, so bring a dish to pass and your own dishes and silver. It is especially important that all those who have Blue Cross insurance be present at this meeting. An important question will be taken care of at this time so don't "crab" at any decision that is made, if you are not there to voice your opinion. And while we are speaking of Blue Cross it is the duty of the B. C. secretary to send each member a card when it is time to pay the quarterly dues, which is right now. It is very much to the interest of the subscriber to take care of that matter on time, and some day there will be someone who is too slow or careless to do so and they will be left out because these dues must be paid on time.

The members of our Grange are grieved at the loss of member Ara Fehlig, she was a faithful and helpful member as much as her frail health would permit and we shall miss her.

A reception was held at the Grange hall on Sunday in honor of the 25th anniversary of Charlie and Milly Rienas. The party was given by their Grange.

SCHOOL BOARD MINUTES

BOARD OF EDUCATION MEETING PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP SCHOOL DISTRICT

The meeting was called to order by Mr. Gallimore at 8:00 p.m., on November 9 in the business office.

Present: Mr. Booth, Mr. Caplin, Mr. Gallimore, Mrs. Hulsing and Mr. Smith. Also Elementary Principals; Miss Eriksson, Miss Field, Mr. Rank and Mrs. Tanager; Charles Finlan of the Finlan Insurance Agency and Mr. Ed Rayler of the Rayder Oil Drilling Company.

Mr. Rayder discussed, with the Board, the terms of an oil and natural gas lease which he requested for the Allen and Bird Schools' property. He noted that he was leasing the property in the area of these schools. He asked the Board to approve a lease for a period of three years at the rate of $1.00 per acre. He indicated that, in addition to usual rights of the owner under the regular leases, he would provide gas free to the Allen or Bird school should a strike be found in or near one of these sites.

The Board asked Mr. Rayder to prepare a lease and it would be referred to their Attorney for review.

It was moved by Mrs. Hulsing and second by Mr. Booth to approve the minutes of the last meeting.

Ayes: Mr. Booth, Mr. Caplin, Mr. Gallimore, Mrs. Hulsing and Mr. Smith.

Nays: None.

A letter from Mrs. Virginia Troyer, Secretary-Plymouth Girl Scout Council and addressed to Mr. Carl Caplin, Secretary-Plymouth Board of Education, was read. Mrs. Troyer urged the Board to reconsider the present policy forbidding the use of school buses for Girl Scout activities. The request is to be studied.

Superintendent Isbister suggested a further change in extra pay for extra work schedule. This change would permit payment of $250 for the assistant varsity swimming coach instead of the $200, as approved at the last board meeting. The change was approved by acclamation.

The elementary principals presented a detailed analysis of the present enrollments in their schools and the projected enrollments for next year. They noted, with alarm, the crowded situations in their buildings. Superintendent Isbister suggests that the Board consider selling tax anticipated notes after July 1, 1955 to be issued against the building and site levy for the next two years in the amount of $80,000. This amount together with the present levy of $40,000 would make available $120,000 for building purposes.

Various plans are to be studied by the Board and the School Facilities Committee of the School Community Planning Group to meet the crowded situation in the elementary schools. Some of the alternatives are:

1. Building neighborhood primary units of one and two rooms each; or
2. Add rooms to the present elementary schools; or
3. Add rooms to the Allen School and build neighborhood primary units in other areas; or
4. Build a new elementary school and change boundaries of the present elementary schools to accommodate the new unit.

It was moved by Mr. Caplin and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing to grant permission to the elementary principals, the high school principal and the band director attendance at the national conferences.

Ayes: Mr. Booth, Mr. Caplin, Mr. Gallimore, Mrs. Hulsing and Mr. Smith.

Nays: None.

Charles Finlan appeared before the Board to explain the bid submitted by his Agency for the boiler insurance.

Mrs. Hulsing reported on the Conference of the School Board Association which she attended in East Lansing.

Reservations are to be made for the next conference to be held on November 30, December 1 and 2. The request of the cafeteria workers for an adjustment in salaries was denied.

It was moved by Mr. Caplin and seconded by Mr. Booth to approve for payment the following bills: Paid bills for October $79,945.42
Unpaid bills 26,625.94
1949 Debt Retirement Fund 259.00
1952 Building and Site Fund 17.33
Nichols Trust Fund 107.91
Ayes: Mr. Booth, Mr. Caplin, Mr. Gallimore, Mrs. Hulsing, and Mr. Smith.

Nays: None.

The special meeting of the Board was called for Wednesday, November 17, at 8:00 p.m. Meeting adjourned at 11:20 p.m. Respectfully submitted, Carl Caplin, Secretary

Let yourself go - it's only $2244.88* delivered locally!

MAYBE you didn't know that the price of this 1955 Buick SPECIAL 2-door, 6-passenger Sedan has moved still closer to those of the so-called "low-price three."

And maybe you didn't know that now you can boss this broad and brawny new beauty for even fewer dollars than some models of those very same "three."

So we proudly show our price here to prove it.

But no simple dollar figures can ever tell you how much more sheer automobile you get for your money in this '55 Buick. You have to discover that firsthand.

You have to look into the record-high V8 power that puts the whip to this dazzler—and see by sampling what that means in the lift and life and joy you feel in driving.

You have to judge for yourself how much more luxury and comfort and stability so little more money buys here—more room, more visibility, more frame strength, more tread width, more ride steadiness.

And you have to learn by doing what a rich fine feeling it is to travel in the boldest new styling of the times—in beauty that's long and low and sports-car smart—and as definitely distinctive as the name on the hood.

Come in for a demonstration of Buick for '55. We promise you the thrill—and the buy—of the year.

FIRST CHANCE to use those Christmas sleds came last week for hundreds of Plymouth youngsters as evidenced by this group taking advantage of the new-fallen snow at Riverside park Friday afternoon. Unfortunately the winter wonderland was shortlived, and as higher temperatures moved in over the weekend turning the snow to slush, disappointed kiddies were forced to put their sleds away once more.

Advises Against Highly Competitive Sports for All Children Under 12

Should Plymouth parents allow their young children to engage in highly-competitive sports? No, according to scientific research conducted by analysts on the physiology of exercise.

Dr. C. D. Lowman, distinguished orthopaedic surgeon at the Orthopaedic hospital in Los Angeles, and for years medical consultant for the schools of that city, makes the following statement:

"I consider the movements to encourage highly organized competitive activity for boys and girls below the high school age to be especially dangerous because neither skeletal growth, cartilages or joints, to say nothing of muscles, are sufficiently developed. Furthermore, the emotional pressures of practice periods before the game, followed by either victory or defeat, cannot be withstood because of immaturity."

Plymouth has grade school competition, but Herb Woolweaver, director of the Plymouth Recreation department, declares that "the score of the games or emphasis on winning is under constant surveillance."

"The department is not opposed to grade school sports," Woolweaver states, "but we are very much in favor of strong and sturdy supervision of these activities."

The main objectives of grade school competition, Woolweaver states, are the mass participation (none on the bench too long); development of game skills; development of character by emphasis on control of temper, politeness, clean speech, respect for others, training habits and sportsmanship; and development of a philosophy of living that will help in building a better citizen.

"We attempt to practice and encourage the philosophy of play for fun and learn while you play," Woolweaver added.

Another authority on the physiology of exercise is Dr. Laurence Morehouse of the University of Southern California. These are some of his observations:

Children under 12 years of age appear to possess a highly active sympathetic nervous system which predisposes high heart rate and an easily depleted capacity for endurance activities such as running. Children under 12 do not have the capacity to utilize oxygen that older boys do because of a relatively smaller stroke volume of the heart and consequent smaller capacity for increased circulation of blood through the lungs.

The physiological processes involving the brain, nerves, heart, lungs, kidneys and spleen are strengthened during puberty. The ability of the body to respond and recover from exercise and other stresses does not reach a peak until about 14 years of age. Younger boys possess a lesser supply of carbohydrate fuel. Mechanical efficiency in grade walking, for instance, would be lower in younger boys. Ten to 12 years old boys require more oxygen than 13-year olds for given output of energy of the muscles.

SPORTS FLASHES

The Sporting News by J. G. Taylor Spink

Beat 'em and make 'em like it! Probably no team in major league history accomplished this more often than the Washington Senators in the days of Walter Johnson and the comedy team of Nick Altrock and Al Schacht. When Clark Griffith took his club on the road, during that era of 1919 to 1934, he had the recipe for making everyone happy, including himself. Johnson as likely as not would shut out the home team and the antics of Altrock and Schacht would leave the fans laughing.

Altrock was a natural clown. Gifted with a funny face and elephantine ears, he accentuated the comic aspect by wearing his cap askew. Schacht wore a top hat and donned a frock coat over his baseball uniform.

With pantomime as their way of entertainment, they brought their act to a high degree of artistry. Mostly it was sheer buffoonery, with Schacht the foil for his partner. The two were famous for their slow-motion takeoffs on such headline events of their era as the Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney long count, the Suzanne Lenglen-Helen Wills tennis match and the Gertrude Ederle channel swim.

They mimicked the great stars of the game and had a special sort of license even to invade the dignity of the umpire. That was one of Altrock's better acts, aping the actions of the umpire in burlesque while that worthy's back was turned and then assuming an air of complete innocence when suspected. Or, before the start of a game, Nick would ostentatiously help the umpire whisk off home plate, but would heap more dirt on it with his spikes, until chased away by the seemingly enraged arbiter.

But Altrock and Schacht were not with the Senators merely for laughs. They earned their pay otherwise, Altrock as coach of pitchers and Schacht as third base coach. Nick had been one of the pitching greats of the White Sox "hitless wonders" of 1906. Schacht was a pitcher, too, although lacking Altrock's eminence, but he did win six games for Washington in 1920 before hurting his arm.

Altrock's clowning career started quite by accident in 1912 when he was on the coaching lines for the Senators at Cleveland. The Cleveland hero at the time was Johnny Kilbane, feat herweight boxing champion, who was introduced at the game. Altrock assumed a pugilistic pose as a gag and went into a shadow-boxing act, imitating Kilbane. I ended with Altrock knocking himself out, and the fans roared for more. Nick found he had hit upon sure-fire comedy, added a one-man wrestling match and soon found he was in demand. He did a solo with his clowning until Schacht arrived on the scene seven years later.

However, in the best traditions of comedy acts, the two partners eventually fell out. Although they continued their clowning until Schacht left the Senators in 1933, their association developed into a bristling hatred.

The enduring feud—they have not spoken to each other in almost 20 years—has been a deep wound to their old employer Griffith. "I count them both among my best friends," he says. "Both are fine men, loyal and generous. It grieves me that I have not been able to arrange the handshake that would make all of us feel better."

Since Government Mints in the U. S. first started minting five-cent pieces on May 19, 1866, they have turned out more than four and one-half billion of them. Although commonly referred to as "nickels" the five-cent coins contain only 25 per cent nickel, the balance being copper.

Facts are better than dreams, if pleasant.

Two New Boys' Leagues Opening

Two leagues for boys opened this week under the sponsorship of the Plymouth Recreation department—an "E" league for boys 13 to 16 years old and an "F" league for boys 14 and under.

There was no play in the "A" league last week because of the holidays. Games were resumed this Tuesday and Wednesday night.

Herbert Woolweaver, director of the Recreation department, said that "E" league will begin its season this Wednesday night in the Plymouth high school gym. The Wayne Boys club will play the Northville Scouts at 8 p.m. and the Plymouth Recreation team will play Northville Hardware at 9 p.m. The League's other two teams are both from the Wayne County Training school.

"F" league play also starts Wednesday night. The Lutheran school will play the Wayne County Training school Wednesday. On Saturday morning, Our Lady of Good Counsel School will play Northville Scouts and Plymouth Recreation will play Northville Recreation.

The Elks club of Plymouth is furnishing adult coaches for the Plymouth teams. Each team has an adult advisor or coach. Woolweaver pointed out.

There is no admission to any of the games in the three leagues. Spectators are welcome to attend.

We heard of a man the other day who settled a case in court for five hundred dollars, at the suggestion of the insurance company. The company was covering losses on his automobile, for which he paid $250.

One way to build up other people's opinions of you is to spend a considerable amount of time paying them compliments.

DON'T RUSH for Wilcox lake—this lovely young ice skater won't be found there. She is Barbara Ann Scott, one of the world's best skaters, who stars in the 1955 Hollywood Ice Revue at Olympia Stadium February 4 through February 27. The blonde queen of the ice appears in The Wizard of Oz and two other production numbers. Producer Arthur Writz's ice revue will have 26 performances in Detroit at which many Plymouth people are expected to attend.

What's the NEW news in the '55 cars?

Is it V-8 Power?
Ford has had it since 1932

Ford was first to offer a V-8 engine in a low-priced car. And since the original Ford V-8 was introduced in 1932 more than 14,000,000 Ford V-8's have been built. This is more V-8's than all other manufacturers.

Is it Ball-Joint Suspension?
Ford had it in 1954

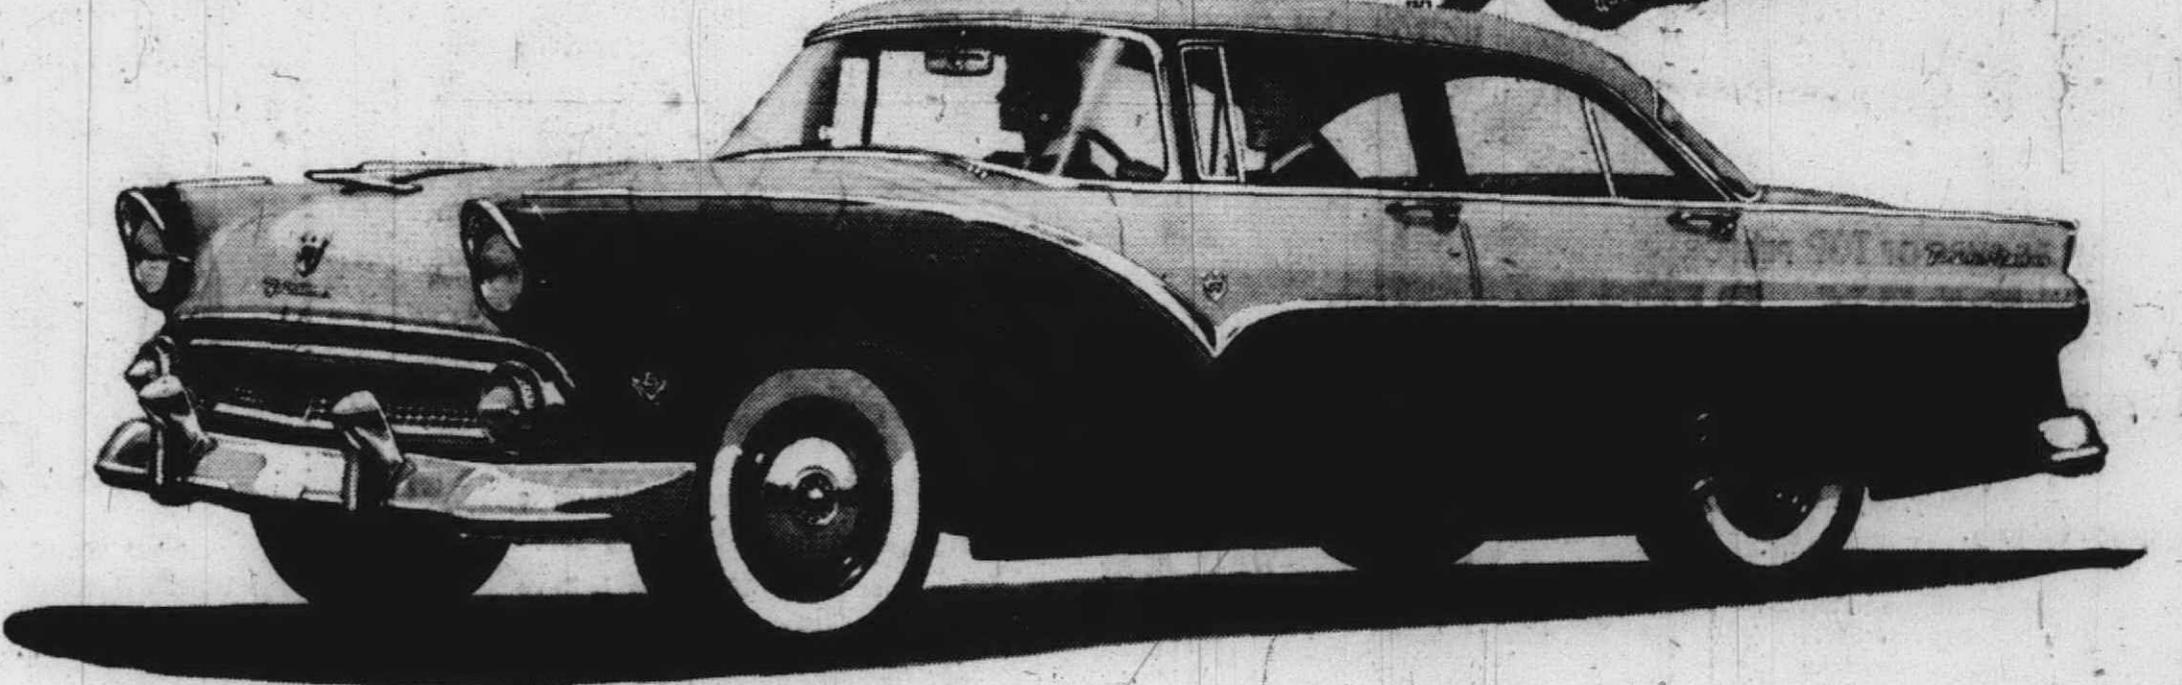

Ford introduced Ball-Joint Front Suspension to the low-price field in 1954. This superior type of suspension has advanced chassis design in 20 years. And now, it's here.

Is it suspended pedals?
Ford introduced them in 1952

Introduced in the 1952 models, Ford was first in the low-price field with suspended pedals. This advanced type of pedals provides extra space for the driver's feet and eliminates dusty, drafty holes in the floorboard. Suspended pedals are extremely easy to adjust.

Is it hood-high fenders?
Ford introduced them in 1952

The 1952 Ford brought a new look to the American car. The long, low look of the car. This styling innovation set the standard for the '50's.

The NEWS is Thunderbird Styling
It's not the look you saw in any of last year's cars. It's the new look inspired by the Thunderbird. And it set the styling for Ford's '55 lines.

The NEWS is Trigger-Torque Power
It's trigger-quick "GO" which can obey your commands in 7/100 of a second—four times faster than you can wink.

The NEWS is Angle-Poised Ride
An advanced form of Ball-Joint Suspension which swallows the big bumps . . . makes even smooth roads ride smoother.

Airport Zoning Effective Here

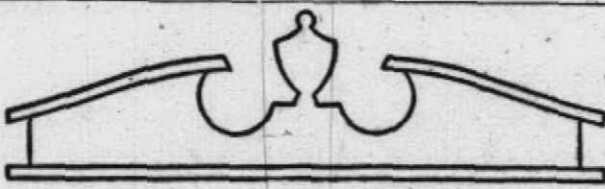

A Plymouthite planning to construct a building or grow a tree higher than 100 feet might be interested in a public hearing going on January 19 in the Ypsilanti township hall. The hearing will concern a proposed zoning ordinance governing land use restrictions within a 10 mile radius of Willow Run airport.

The land involved is located within Washtenaw and Wayne counties and involves the townships of Plymouth, Canton, Livonia, Salem, Nankin, Romulus, Huron, Ann Arbor, Pittsfield, York, Van Buren, Ypsilanti, Superior and Augusta.

A copy of the proposed zoning law is on file in the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce office. Purpose of the law is to govern the construction of tall structures in the airport area which might be a flying obstacle.

In the Plymouth, Canton, Livonia, and Salem township areas, the law says that "a permit must be obtained from the administrative agency before any structures may be erected and any non-conforming tree may be planted or allowed to grow which can reasonable be expected to attain a height in excess of 100 feet."

The public hearing will start at 7:30 p.m. at the township hall at 1165 Ecorse road.

OUTDOOR NOTES From The MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Black bass are legal game fish only through December 31, state conservation officers advise ice fishermen.

Panfish, walleyes, northern pike, herring and sturgeon, other fish popular with winter anglers, will all be legal at least through March 4, and several of these for longer periods.

Officers also ask that fishermen keep the ice free of bottles, cans and other trash. Violators can be prosecuted under state law and particular effort is being made this winter to reduce this problem.

About 50,000 railroad ties—nearly 17 miles worth—will be processed annually at a new Osmore treating plant to be constructed at East Tawas before spring.

The Osmore process of treating roughly triples the life of a railroad tie and has come into commercial use in the last two decades. Important as a conservation method, it provides ties that last up to 30 years.

All ties to be treated at the East Tawas plant will come from Michigan forests. About 40,000 will be oak and remainder white cedar.

Construction of the plant is expected to start in January and will be the only commercial treating plant in the lower peninsula.

Although a similar plant is located near Bessemer in the upper peninsula, most such wood needed in the lower peninsula in recent years has been treated outside of Michigan.

An old resident, the wild pine marten, came back to Michigan last week after an absence of probably more than half a century.

A department of lands and forests forester in the White River area of Ontario, north of Lake Superior, caught one of the quick little tree-living animals and had it shipped to Michigan.

It is being held at Cusino wildlife experiment station in the central upper peninsula.

Several months ago, Michigan conservation department workers set up a project to welcome the marten back and asked help from Ontario in capturing some delegates. The plan was to release enough of the tawny, three-pound, point-eared-features so a colony could get started in some remote upper peninsula woods area.

So far trapping efforts have been limited—"We call this first one the lone pine marten," quipped one game worker—but more work is expected to be done on the project in 1955.

Hunters have returned five ear tags from deer shot in the central upper peninsula and all show that deer, in that area at least, do not travel very far from their place of early life.

The five were bagged within 25 miles of the Cusino wildlife experiment station where all were live-trapped and tagged during the last few years. Each had traveled an average of 15 miles between the time of tagging and the time of being shot.

"Most of our records show deer don't travel much," says S. C. Whitlock, in charge of game research. "The Indians had knowledge of migrations in some areas, such as the western upper peninsula, but our records now show the whitetail doesn't move very far from one area to another."
