There's plenty of tempting values for them as well as women and children. To herald the city-wide event an additional 20,000 circulars were distributed by The Mail throughout the area.

So, if you're interested in saving money, scan through the pages of The Mail and select your bargains. Hurry downtown and join the throngs. It's the biggest January event ever and there are plenty of bargains to go around.

Duplicate First Babies Aren't First After All

Those unpredictable and unreliable people we call "babies" can throw us grown-ups into no end of confusion. There was an example of it last week when it came time for The Plymouth Mail's First Baby contest to come to a close.

Outcome of the confusion was the awarding of duplicate prizes—one set furnished by merchants to Mr. First Baby and another supplied by The Plymouth Mail to Miss First Baby. They are Harold Henry Haywood III and Holly Elizabeth Hicks.

The confusion started at 5 p.m. Tuesday, January 4. That was the deadline for the reporting of new babies. But not a single baby had cooperated by that time. Contest sponsors put their heads together and decided to extend the contest to 5 p.m. the next day.

A telephone call came in the next day telling that young Harold Henry Haywood III had been born at 7:29 p.m. Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Haywood, 666 Pine street. As the Plymouth Mail went to press Wednesday afternoon with this news, a call came from the 11-year-old brother of Holly Elizabeth Hicks telling that she had been born at 6:20 p.m. Tuesday, over an hour earlier than the Haywood baby.

At 5 p.m. Wednesday the contest closed but The Mail had already printed the story about young Harold being the apparent winner. Another hasty huddle by contest sponsors resulted in the offer by The Mail to furnish a second complete set of prizes in order to straighten the matter out.

Had a deadline of 5 p.m. Wednesday not been set, there might be some added confusion. Several other families have notified The Mail that they had babies born even before 6:20 p.m. Tuesday. But since they had waited so long to make their report, they had missed their opportunity to qualify for the contest.

Holly was born at Women's hospital in Detroit to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hicks, 44475 Governor Bradford road. It was their oldest son, Jimmy, who called The Mail to report the birth. They also have a son, Stevie, 7. The Hicks family moved to Plymouth last October from Northville. Mr. Hicks is personnel director for Eaton Manufacturing company in Detroit.

As was reported last week, Mr. First Baby, Harold Haywood, was born at St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor. He is his parent's first child. Mr. Haywood is an insurance auditor and he moved with his wife to Plymouth in September.

MISS FIRST BABY of Plymouth is Holly Elizabeth Hicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hicks, 44475 Governor Bradford road. Mr. Hicks is taking his turn at holding the new arrival after she returned from the hospital. But having two previous children makes him an expert at baby holding.

MR. FIRST BABY of Plymouth, Harold Henry Haywood III, has his first picture taken while in St. Joseph's hospital. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Haywood, 666 Pine street.

THE FIRST ACTUAL WORK on a study which will eventually bring about the establishment of a complete printing and publishing department at Michigan State college got underway in the plant of The Plymouth Mail last Tuesday. Using the model plant of The Mail as a basis for study of equipment and lay-out for the future college plant Michigan State News Editor and Chief Jack Kole, left, and Professor W. F. McIlraith, right, director of all student publications at MSC., examine a section of this week's Mail with Publisher Sterling Esten as it comes off the Mail's newspaper press. It is the hope of college officials that a future building and modern printing plant may house all of the communication and related studies of the college in one major operation where students may actually participate in all phases of the work. When brought to completion it will afford M.S.C. the most complete department of this kind in the world.

School Board Studies Plan to Build Entire School without Hiking Tax Rate

Without raising the tax rate, the Plymouth school district may be able to construct an entire elementary school building on its Sheldon road site this year instead of a five or six-room "wing" as anticipated several weeks ago.

Although many angles of the possible financial arrangement still need investigating, the board of education spent four hours at their Monday night meeting discussing construction of an entire building and they seemed convinced that it could be done.

It was previously announced that the board would have but $120,000 to start a building. This would build enough rooms to help the elementary classroom shortage next year. This $120,000 would come from a one-mill levy voted by the public last spring for "building and site" purposes.

But the board believes it can raise enough money from "surplus millage" to build the entire school. This surplus comes from millage voted in previous years for construction of other buildings.

In simple terms, the millage voted in previous years is returning more in taxes than was expected because city and township valuation figures have gone up several million dollars. With a vote of the public, this "surplus millage" could be transferred to the building and site fund. (Law forbids use of funds voted for bonded indebtedness to be used for anything else unless a change is voted by the public.)

If the public votes a change in the use of this millage, there would be no necessity of raising the present tax rate of 21.95 mills

3 Plymouth Men Hurt in Accident

Four persons were injured, three of them from Plymouth, in an automobile accident at Schoolcraft and Middlebelt at 7:40 a.m. Monday.

Injured seriously was Przemyslaw Kaczynski, 30, Detroit. He was taken to Wayne County General hospital with head and possible spine injuries.

Kaczynski was driver of the car which collided with another driven by Anthony Yorch, 47, of 43916 Joy road. Passengers in Yorch's car were Derward Jewell, 39849 Ann Arbor road, and Delbert Slater, 9073 Ball street. They were released from the hospital after being treated for shock and lacerations.

"Someone tried to beat an amber light," Livonia police reported. The three Plymouth men were on their way to work in Detroit.

Firemen also answered an alarm at 6 a.m. Tuesday on Blunk street. A cigarette had burned a mattress.

Area Building Again Tops $3 Million Mark

Three million dollars was spent for new construction and improvement of buildings in Plymouth and Plymouth township during 1954, according to a summary of building permits issued by the city and township building departments — giving conclusive evidence that there has been no let down in the growth of the two areas.

The actual amount spent on building was $3,142,840, which is about $53,000 less than the 1953 record total. But despite the small decline, money spent for construction in 1954 represented another big year for the building trades and was an indication that population growth is continuing at a steady pace in Plymouth city and township.

Unlike 1953 when city construction figures exceeded that of the township, building in the township surpassed the city last year. Building Inspector Ernest Rossow of the township reported that $1,857,188 was spent on construction in the township, while City Assessor Kenneth Way stated that city building last year cost $1,285,652.

These figures showed a jump in township building over the previous year of $417,000 while city construction fell off by $458,000.

The township continued to take the lead in new home construction. Rossow reported that 109 new homes were built in the township last year compared to 95 during 1953. Their total cost was $1,659,400.

The city assessor found that there were 73 homes and apartments constructed in Plymouth during 1954, one less than the previous year. Total cost of the dwellings was $668,400.

It is estimated that the city now has a population of 7,800 and the township has 5,900. The 1950 census gave the city 6,637 residents and the township, 4,985.

Looking at improvements and additions made to buildings in 1954, 54 permits were taken out in the city with the jobs to cost an estimated $228,399. Largest of the improvement jobs was at the National Bank of Detroit which is costing about $153,000.

In the township, about $58,850 was spent in adding to and altering homes. Some of the other more expensive alterations and additions were at the Elks club, $1,000; Hillside Inn, $15,000; Worden Specialty, $50,000; Plymouth Stamping company, $16,000; and Glen Gapsen shop, $3,500.

Permits were taken out for several new commercial buildings in the city. One is for the Northside fire station, $20,000; St. Peter's Lutheran church, $187,000; and the proposed branch office of Detroit on Ann Arbor road, $25,000.

One new commercial building construction was at Dearborn. In what has been described as the greatest forward step ever taken by any builder in the greater Detroit area, the construction firm proposes to incorporate the famed cottage school plan in its subdivision. Such a plan was recently considered by the Plymouth board of education but was turned down in favor of a standard elementary building.

V. R. Briedenbach, vice-president and general manager, said his company has proposed the erection of from three to four dwelling units to be used as schools in the subdivision. These units would be operated by the Livonia board of education as part of the city's school system.

It is the first time the cottage school plan has been incorporated in a subdivision development in the metropolitan Detroit area.

Around 70 acres are included in the proposed subdivision. The land, formerly used as an airport site, was purchased from Vaughan Smith, former Plymouth police chief, and his sister, Mrs. Helen Goodman. A company spokesman said that construction would not start until spring. The ranch-style homes would be of three or four bedroom size and would cost about $15,000.

The cottage style schools proposed for the subdivision are the same as other homes in the development in every respect, Briedenbach stated. "The difference lies in the fact that partitions have been left out. The school board that approves of the plan stands to lose no money because with a few minor changes, the school becomes a home and in most cases will bring a higher price than the original building cost."

Instead of partitions, there would be a large room, big enough to take care of 25 to 40 children, from kindergarten through the second grade, providing greater safety for the children going to and from school.

The school plan and the subdivision still have not been given official approval.

Mrs. C. A. Root Named License Bureau Manager

Mrs. Charles Root, Jr., 265 Ann street, received a telegram this week confirming her appointment as manager of the local auto license bureau. The change in management is to be effected this week.

Leaving as manager will be Mrs. Frank Rambo, who has held that position since succeeding her husband nearly two years ago. Mr. Rambo had been head of the bureau 17 years and his wife had worked for the bureau 14 years.

Mrs. Root went to Detroit for two days of schooling last week in preparation for her new position. The change in branch managers here and in many other communities is due to the sweep of state offices by Democrats last November.

The new manager is secretary of the Plymouth Democratic club, has served as secretary of the School Community Planning Group, is a member of the election board, and is active in Cub and Girl Scout work and in the Methodist church. She is a graduate of Plymouth high school and has lived here 25 years. Mr. Root works at the Ford plant in Northville.

"I hope to give citizens of this community the same good service at the license bureau that they have been afforded in the past," Mrs. Root declared. She will officially take over her duties when an auditor completes a check of office records, after which she will be sworn in.

The change in managers comes during the office's busiest period. New license plates are now on sale and the deadline is February 28. Mrs. Rambo will remain in the office for a while to help the new manager get acquainted.

The license bureau, now located in the township hall beside Arbor Hill, is expected to change locations to a downtown room at a later date.

Community Chest Directors Named

Four new directors were elected to the Plymouth Community Fund at a public meeting held last Wednesday night at the Veteran's Memorial Center.

Elected were Mrs. L. B. Rice, John Gaffield, Sam Hudson, Marvin Criger and Miss Ruth Erikson. Although only four directors are usually elected each year, Hudson was elected to fill out the unexpired term of the late Robert Smith.

Leaving the board after serving a three-year term are Louis Goddard, Russell Isbister, Harry Larsen. Also expiring was a term to which Criger was appointed to fill a year ago.

Goddard, who has served as president of the board, will preside at the next meeting on February 2 at which new officers will be elected. The meeting will be held at Marquis Toll House.

It's Time to Petition For Improvements

City property owners who want a new street, water mains, sewers or some other improvements should get their petitions into city hall this month, City Manager Albert Glassford said this week.

January is the month that the city commission considers requests for improvements so that they can be added to the budget. Glassford will present city-anticipated improvements at next Monday night's meeting. These improvements have been included in the city's 10-Year Improvement Plan.

Property owners can secure a petition form at city hall or they can draw one up themselves, Glassford said. It is best to have a majority of the affected property owners signing the petition, he added.

Two Injured In Collision

Drivers of two cars were severely injured when their cars collided at Cherry Hill and Canton Center roads last week. One of the drivers was William J. Stone, 49, of 843 Starkweather avenue.

Sheriff's officers said that Stone was driving to work at Willow Run shortly before 9 a.m. last Wednesday when a car driven by Mickey Randolph, 2103 Elsworth, Wayne, failed to stop while traveling east on Cherry Hill and crashed into the side of the Stone car.

Stone's car was rolled over into a fence and both cars were demolished. Randolph, 18, is home on leave from the Marines and was driving his father's car. Both men were taken to Wayne County General hospital and Stone was later transferred to St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor where he is being treated for a broken back and severe lacerations and abrasions of the head.

Randolph, who suffered a broken pelvis, is expected to be taken to a Naval hospital. Sheriff's officers said that Randolph has been ticketed for running a stop sign. He had no insurance.

Mrs. Stone reported that doctors said that her husband's life was probably saved by Don Gottschalk, employee of Daisy Manufacturing, who was a witness of the accident. Several bystanders wanted to move Stone but Gottschalk strongly advised them against it. Stone is not expected to be able to return to work for at least a year.

Tax Deadline Near In City, Township

"It's later than you think," was the reminder which went out today from the offices of Township Treasurer Elizabeth Holmes and city Treasurer Charles Garrett.

Next Wednesday is the last day to pay taxes in the two areas before a four per cent penalty is added. With 3,400 tax statements going out to city land owners and 2,300 in the township, there still remains many unpaid tax bills. City tax payment should net $428,052 and the township collection should be $742,676.

Propose New Subdivision On Triangle Airport Site

Construction of a 250-home subdivision on the former Triangle Airport between Ann Arbor road and Ann Arbor trail east of Plymouth was announced this week by the Lytle Construction company of Dearborn.

In what has been described as the greatest forward step ever taken by any builder in the greater Detroit area, the construction firm proposes to incorporate the famed cottage school plan in its subdivision. Such a plan was recently considered by the Plymouth board of education but was turned down in favor of a standard elementary building.

Power Tool Demonstration At Area Firm Saturday

During the past two years, Cadillac Millwork has acquired the reputation of being one of the largest retailers of power tools in western Wayne County.

Needless to say, Manager Richard Gedd is proud of the record established and is determined to increase sales and make Livonia more power tool conscious each year.

Cadillac received word this month that their sales of DeWalt during 1954 had shown almost a 200 percent increase over the previous 12 months.

English-Teaching Program Told to Kiwanians

In its first regular meeting of the new year the Plymouth Kiwanis club Tuesday evening heard John Weir of the English Language Institute of the University of Michigan describe the function of this organization.

Completely independent from the university as far as credits are concerned, the language institute was established during the war to provide English instruction to the great influx of foreign students, unable to study in Europe. Weir said that in eight intensive weeks of study, the students, predominantly Spanish-speaking, are able to speak and understand English well enough to attend schools in America or apply for jobs which require English-speaking ability. Some 5000 foreign students have taken this course since 1943 and even today, Weir stated, foreign-speaking students studying at universities throughout the country come to Michigan for this special course before returning to their respective schools for study.

Weir was introduced by Program Chairman Miller Ross.

Two modern little girls coming home from Sunday school were solemnly discussing the lesson. "Do you believe there is a devil?" asked one. "No," replied the other promptly, "of course not. It's just like Santa Claus. He's your father."

Clyde E. Alexander Heads Realtors Board

Clyde E. Alexander of Plymouth will be installed as president of the Western Wayne County Board of Realtors at a meeting of the organization on Monday, January 17, at the Arbor-Lill restaurant.

Others to be installed at the 6:30 dinner meeting are Leon L. Merriman of Plymouth, vice president; Edward G. Martin of Wayne, treasurer; and Livonia resident, Gertrude Patton, as secretary.

An invitation to attend this meeting has been extended to all realtors whether or not they are members of the organization.

Many Book Deals Ending in Court

Plymouth people who sign contracts for ordering sets of encyclopedias and then change their minds about buying them are getting to be regular customers in municipal court, Judge Nandino Perlongo said this week.

The judge claims there has been an increasing number of cases filed in his court against citizens who have decided they don't want the encyclopedias. The contracts are quite legal and binding, Judge Perlongo points out, so the buyer has to make a settlement.

Though the encyclopedia manufacturer may be reputable, the salesmen often win their sale with glowing claims about 10-year payments and opportunities to buy the books now at low prices, the judge stated.

The buyer then finds in the contract that the payments must be concluded in two years. The contract also states that claims made by salesmen are not binding.

Often, after a housewife later talks the deal over with her husband or a buyer gets to thinking about the need for an encyclopedia set, their minds are changed and they decide to write the company and cancel the order. Their refusal to go through with the deal results in court action and an almost impossible chance of the buyer escaping from the contract.

The judge advised that it would be wise for any prospective buyer to "think it over" a day or two before deciding to buy these kind of things. If you decide you definitely want the books, be sure to read the contract thoroughly before signing. The safest method, however, is to buy books from a reliable book store, the judge added.

Dip cooled cupcakes in corn syrup, then swirl in chopped nuts and shredded coconut. It's easy and good.

Plymouth Cagers Down Northville

The Rocks are in a rut against Northville—a very pleasant one! The Plymouth hoopsters can't seem to score less than 60 points against the Mustangs. They topped the 60 mark for the second time this season against the Villagers, pounding out a 68-38 win in a game played at Plymouth Tuesday.

Coach John Sandmann's once beaten quintet racked up its fifth victory of the season in such easy fashion that Northville might just have well have gone home midway through the second quarter. The Rocks held an 18-10 advantage after the initial eight minutes of play, but in the second period they really turned the heat on, netting 25 counters to hold a 43-19 halftime lead. At that point Plymouth had five more points than Northville was to get all night.

The sharp-hitting Rocks got big scoring from a quartet of boys, who accounted for 49 points between them. Danny Clifford topped the rest of his teammates by scoring 13 counters, but the well-balanced locals also got 12-point efforts from Dick Day, Larry Wilhelm and Dick Davidson.

As warning to the league teams they will soon encounter, the Rocks hit on 41% of their shots from the floor to show that they are ready to take up the title chase again. From an all-around standpoint, this was probably the best game that Plymouth has played to date. They shot well, rebounded well and the scoring was evenly distributed.

In the preliminary contest Plymouth's reserves romped over the Northville five, 65 to 31. Kenny Calhoun led the way with 17 points, while Jerry King added 14.

Tomorrow night in the Plymouth gym, the Rock bucketeers start all over again to try to untangle the congested 6-B League race. Coach Sandmann's quintet hosts cellar-dwelling Allen Park in their third league tilt. As of now, Plymouth is in a four-way tie for first place with Bentley, Trenton, and Belleville. The quartet should be more spread out after Friday's action.

The Rocks are boasting a four-game winning streak since Bentley handed them a 42-38 loss in their league opener, having taken the measure of Trenton, Walled Lake, Redford Union and Northville since the lone setback.

The Junior Varsity contest will begin at 7:00, with the Varsity match scheduled for about 8:00.

Almost Proud
Judge: "Aren't you ashamed to be seen here in court so often?"
Prisoner: "Why no, your honor, I always thought it was a very respectable place."

Attention: Mr. Sterling Eaton,
Editor

As 1954 ends for the Community Fund organization we take inventory of our assets. The list, in part, reads something like this:

The largest goal ever aimed at in Plymouth.
The gradual growth of the fund.

The last minute thrill of success as the goal was passed.

A large roster of supporters.
A host of friends who headed committees and worked so diligently and unselfishly.

The Board and officers of the Plymouth Community Fund has asked me to extend our thanks to your paper for the fine publicity you gave the campaign. We especially want to thank Jim Sponseller for his good cooperation — we know we never would have made this year's goal if we had not had your fine support.

Thank you again, and best wishes for the New Year.

Organic Gardening, Farming Club to Meet

Wayne County Organic Gardening and Farming Club will hold its next meeting on Saturday, January 15, at 8 p.m., returning to the regular meeting date which is the third Saturday of the month. The meeting place is Romulus Township firehouse, located on the east side of Middlebelt Road one half block south of Ecorse road.

Farming magazine to secure this film. The film tells the story of the little known race of Hunzas inhabiting a mountain region in India. The Hunzas, stalwart people of the Himalaya region, are said to owe their extraordinary health and vigor to a wise choice of food. To live over 100 years of age is commonplace in this isolated section of the world. The officers and members of the Wayne County Gardening and Farming club invite everyone interested to investigate their way to health—the use of organic foods.

Felician Sisters Celebrate 100th Year Since Founding in Poland

"All through the Immaculate Heart of Mary in honor of the Most Blessed Sacrament"—this was the motto and soul of the life of Mother Mary Angela Truszkowska, foundress of the Felician Sisters, who are now observing the 100th year since their founding.

Just released for the occasion of the centenary is a biographical-historical sketch of the life of Mother Angela written by Sister Mary Tullia, CSSF, of Madonna College.

The history of the Felician Sisters began in Warsaw, Poland, in 1855 when Sophia Truszkowska, the later Mother Mary Angela, dedicated herself to a life of contemplation and charity.

Born on May 16, 1825 in Kalisz, Russian-held Poland, Sophia already in her early youth exhibited a tender pity for the poor whom she wished to help by alms and kind words.

When she became a Franciscan tertiary and enrolled in the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, she deepened her spiritual life and extended her charity to the needy inhabitants of Warsaw.

Gathering a few orphans and disabled elderly women in a small flat, Mother gave rise to the first contemplative-active religious community for women in Poland. The Capuchin, Father Honorat Kozminski, Sophia's spiritual director, became the co-founder and director of the new congregation.

Organized under the Franciscan Rule, the new Sisterhood devoted itself to an intensive life of prayer and penance, adding also numerous works of mercy in orphanages, homes for the aged, schools, hospitals, catechumenates and social centers.

The normal development of the young Community was interrupted in 1864 by a Russian order for disbandment, a lot shared by most religious orders and communities in Poland following the unsuccessful revolt of Poles in 1863 against their oppressors. The Felician Sisters were forced to return to their families as seculars, but they continued their work secretly.

After a year of trial, the Congregation was re-established in Cracow, then under Austrian rule. A Mass, celebrated on Nov. 21, 1865, marked the rebirth of the Congregation.

As Superior General, Mother Angela guided the development of the Community in this new territory during the first years. Because of failing health, however, she begged to be released from office in 1869.

Spreading through Austrian Poland, the Congregation continued all its charitable work in the spirit of its Foundress. Here the sisters conducted schools, nurseries, student resident homes, sewing centers, orphanages, asylums, and catechetical centers.

The rapid growth of the Congregation in Poland led to the organization of three provinces in Cracow, Lwow and Warsaw. In 1874 the Congregation planted its roots in America, where it was soon to outgrow the mother community.

During the two world wars, the sisters in Poland assisted the wounded in hospitals and asylums and gave shelter to refugees and children in their institutions.

The second World War came to a formal end in 1945, but Poland was soon enveloped by the iron curtain of Communism. In time, the sisters were barred from teaching in all schools with the exception of their private high school and junior college adjoining their motherhouse in suburban Warsaw. Their apostolate, however, continues until today in a number of orphanages, nurseries, homes for the aged, and in centers for catechetical instruction and social work.

In 1950, the refusal of the Communist government to renew visas of American-born Mother Mary Simplicita, the Superior-General of the Felician Sisters, and of three other American members of the general council, led to the temporary transfer of the general motherhouse of the Congregation to Ponca City, Okla.

In August 1953, came the final transfer of the general motherhouse to permanent headquarters in Rome, from where the Superior General guides the 4,500 Felician Sisters in their service to God and souls.

The story of the Felician Sisters in America began in Polonia, Wis., on Nov. 21, 1874, when the five pioneer Sisters opened the first Felician foundation in the United States.

On Dec. 3, 1874, only two weeks after their arrival in the States, the sisters opened the doors of their first school in America, at the Sacred Heart parish in Polonia. Soon they were called to take charge of other schools and institutions in LaSalle, Ill., Bay City, Mich., Detroit, Mich., Otis, Ind., and Buffalo, N.Y.

Because of the rapid spread of the Community throughout the states, the provincial motherhouse was transferred from Polonia to Detroit in 1882. At this time, there were 400 sisters conducting schools and institutions in 18 states. Today, there are more than 3,500 Felician Sisters in America doing apostolic work in 30 states.

There are seven provinces in the United States with provincial motherhouses located in: Livonia (Province first established in Polonia in 1874, transferred to Detroit in 1882, and again to Livonia in 1936), Buffalo (1900), Chicago (1910), Lodi, N. J. (1913), Coropolis, Pa. (1920), Enfield, Conn. (1932), and Ponca City, Okla. (1953).

The Sisters' major work is education-nursery through senior college. Early in their educational ventures, the sisters planned a course of studies for use in their schools and wrote and printed approximately 45 textbooks between 1877 and 1904.

The first half century they concentrated on elementary education. But in 1915, the opening of a ninth grade at St. Joseph school, Detroit, marked the entrance of the Felician Sisters into the field of parochial secondary education.

Through the years, the Sisters' apostolate in America has grown in range of activities to meet the various needs of the times. Today they conduct 250 elementary schools, 28 high schools, one senior college for women (Madonna College, Livonia), seven orphanages, eight hospitals, six day nurseries, a home for the mentally handicapped, a psychological and child guidance clinic, two remedial reading clinics, a diocesan maternity and nursery home, two residence homes for working girls and two homes for the aged.

In 1927, the sisters extended their apostolate to Ontario, Canada, where they now staff six catechetical and social service centers.

In 1950, the sisters established a mission center in yet another continent, South America.

LETTER BOX

To the Citizens of Plymouth:

After reading last week's paper and the trouble the young boys caused Plymouth it seems that our youth are badly in need of a little more spiritual help instead of all material things. If we could have a full time psychiatrist in our school as they do in many towns this size to help these badly mixed up children many more good citizens would be graduating even though they might not have the best auditorium, school building, or swimming pool with hair dryers attached. Perhaps if we adults weren't so material minded our children wouldn't be going to the extent of robbing to secure the money they would like. A very good article in Woman's Home Companion written by a school teacher might help all of us mothers and dads, it's called "My 40 Children," and she quotes "that every unhappy, maladjusted delinquent she has known came from either an unhappy home or a broken home." Also which may make many of we parents feel better as we do get most of the blame, she states—that the teachers are just as important in a child's life as any parent so we must all examine ourselves.

So, before we judge these boys, let us be sure we know the facts and are trained to understand why these children go astray. And let us remember that beating them won't help, you can't beat something out of a person, nor can society help by turning against them. We must all remember that for every good or bad incident or person in a small way we are all responsible so let's start by doing our part by not judging but by trying to employ a competent psychiatrist who is qualified to judge and help these unfortunate boys.

Announce Sale Of Ken & Orks

Sale of the Ken & Ork Hamburger shop at 794 Penniman was announced this week by Kenneth Groth, owner of the shop for the past 16 years. The new owner is Phillip Young, 9939 Ball street, former employee of West Bros. Inc.

At the same time Young announced that the shop will be called "Jack's Burgers" after the change in ownership is completed January 16.

Ken & Orks, which has become a near tradition with coffee and doughnut fans, was started 16 years ago by Groth and Orlo Owen. They used their own nicknames to form the shop's name. Owen sold his share of the business to Groth two years later.

School Board

meeting of the Planning Group's school organization and plant facilities committee has been set for Thursday night at which the proposal will be considered.

"It is necessary that the board act fast on this matter in order to get the project underway as soon as possible," Superintendent Russell Isbister stated. There is little hope that any type of building could be completed by next fall but crowded classrooms could be tolerated until it is finished later in the school year.

Two architects have been hired by the school board, one to draw up preliminary plans for an elementary building and another to submit preliminary plans for a junior high building. Although the elementary building project has priority, the board is looking forward to the day when a new junior high building will be necessary, Superintendent Isbister declared.

Wheeler and Becker, Archiitects, have been hired for the elementary school job while the junior high drawings will be made by Eberle & Smith Associates. The latter firm was architect for the Allen, Bird, and Smith schools and high school addition.

Education, Recreation Commission to Meet

Invitations have gone out to officers of local service clubs, as well as to P.T.A., Board of Education and industry representatives, to attend the next meeting of the Plymouth Adult Education and Recreation commission on Wednesday, January 19, at 7:30 p.m. in Room 14 of the high school.

The commission is meeting with the various groups to discuss past programs and to gain suggestions for future activities.

HEALTH & BEAUTY

Medical science makes new discoveries every day. Many new types of treatment and medications are developed so rapidly it is hard to keep up with them.

Serpasil is a new preparation derived from a plant. It is used in cases of hypertension and nervous disorders.

Chlorpromazine is related to the antihistamines and aids in relaxing muscles, relieving itching and lowering body temperature. It acts as a sedative but does not confuse or depress the patient.

Trevidal is a boon to ulcer patients but is still somewhat in the experimental stage.

Hydrocortisone is a modification of cortisone. It brings relief to arthritis victims and can be injected directly into painful joints.

All these new drugs are administered only by a doctor and, when using them, your doctor's directions must be followed to the letter.

Library Journal Tells of Two-Step Building Plan for Plymouth Library

"Planning for the Future" is the title of an article appearing in the magazine "Library Journal" which tells about Plymouth's Dunning Branch library and its recent addition.

A floor plan and two pictures of the new unit are included in the two-page article. A complete new library is being built in two steps, the first wing being dedicated last March 7. Cost of this section was $41,000.

Future plans call for the frame house to be torn down and a modern section erected in its place. The article lauds the two-step planning by stating:

"Given a branch library operating in a converted house located on a narrow, residential, center lot with not one inch more of stack space available; and a building in need of extensive repairs; but only $40,000 available; the solution is to continue operation of the library in the existing wooden structure and construct the first step of a new library to the rear of, and connected to, the present building.

"The geographic location of the library is ideal because it is within one block of both the junior and senior high schools. A municipal parking lot to the rear of the building makes it convenient for adult patrons who drive to the library.

"The property located one block from the business district on a valuable center lot, narrow and long, limited the variety of design and made it necessary to use a clerestory plan in order to attain any degree of natural lighting in the reading room. By placing the building on the north property line and allowing six feet for a walkway on the south side of the building it was possible to attain clerestory lighting in the reading room."

The article goes on to describe the type of construction used in the building. Designer of the building is Byron H. Becker of Wheeler and Becker, Architects.

Area Building

constructed in the township was the Pure Oil service station which cost $14,000.

Construction of garages is another category included in the building reports. Permits for 50 garages were issued in Plymouth, their total cost estimated at $40,353. Forty-five garage permits were issued in the township with the cost of $43,269.

A total of 208 permits was issued in the township and 191 in the city.

Area Firemen Meet

Plymouth township firemen were host last Thursday night to 140 firemen of the Mutual Aid Fire association at which one of the nation's outstanding fire fighting authorities was the speaker.

The meeting was held at the V.F.W. hall. Members attending represented 23 departments. The speaker was Emmet Cox, representative of the Western Actuary Bureau of Chicago. He showed movies on fog fire fighting techniques.

Refreshments were served the group to conclude the evening.

UNWRITTEN LAWS

When shopping is heavy down town, and you notice a couple of dozen pedestrians standing in the street waiting at the red light, watch out. A small child, whose mother is holding its hand, may suddenly break loose and step out into traffic. Jostling in the crowd may push somebody forward.

Going past a crowd of pedestrians at 25 miles per hour and missing them by only a foot or two is as foolish as standing on a railroad track and stepping off just a foot or two before the train arrives. It is a set-up for disaster. So, slow down for crowds of pedestrians. Don't pass too close to them — be prepared to stop quickly — dodge quickly.

We are very sorry we didn't have the information early enough to print before the paper went to press last Thursday, but we would like to announce that the Rosedale Gardens Branch of the Livonia Farm and Garden Assoc. held its annual international tea on Tuesday, January 11, at 1:15 p.m. in the clubhouse at 9611 Hubbard. An illustrated talk was given by a Farm Youth Exchange student, Mrs. Harry Boorman of 9836 Ingram was chairman of the day and Mr. Robert Bruce of 11420 Arden was hospitality chairman.

The Rosedale Gardens Civic association will hold their January meeting on Thursday, January 13, in the clubhouse at 9611 Hubbard. After a short business meeting the Livonia Civic Theatre will present a one-act comedy, "Cup of Tea" under the direction of Mrs. Milton Secor.

What is "Berwick's" loss is "Hubbard's" gain and what is Hubbard's loss is West Chicago's gain. To explain this mixed-up quotation, we, who live on Berwick are very sorry to see Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackman and their family moving to 9800 Hubbard. They have been wonderful neighbors and we all wish them luck in their new home and are happy to know they are still in Rosedale Gardens. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Moelke's neighbors will be sorry to see them leave but happy to know they also will still be in Rosedale Gardens and will live on West Chicago. Good luck to them, too, in their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Maloney of 9840 Ingram entertained Mrs. Maloney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Keller, from Milwaukee, Wisconsin last weekend.

The K. P. Klinks of 11432 Berwick have just arrived home from a three week vacation in Bradenton, Florida, where they were visiting Mrs. Klink's parents. They were the envy of their neighbors when they told about their fishing, swimming, etc. while we slushed through rain and mud.

Those of you who happened to be looking out your window on Wednesday, January 12, around 11:30 a.m. may have seen several little people entering 9826 Auburndale. Some of the children attending were: Tommy Pickles, John Larson, Pat Talbot, Norman Fischer, Susan Linabury, Wendy Wilhelmson. All had loads of fun helping the twins blow out their cake and open their presents. As you know if you have ever been to a children's birthday party each child wants the host or hostess to think his or her present is the very best.

The installation of officers in the Presbyterian church took place on Wednesday, January 12, at 8 p.m. Congratulations to the following women:

President, Mrs. Sidney Bagnall; First vice-president, Mrs. Thomas Hartsell; second vice-president, Mrs. Maxwell Lau; treasurer, Mrs. Jack Brown; secretary, Mrs. John Sullivan; financial secretary, Mrs. Donald Pickles.

Woman's Club Plans Annual Benefit Event

Following a tradition in the Woman's club, plans for the annual benefit luncheon on January 21 have fallen to the new members of that organization. Arrangements have been made to hold the event at 12:30 p.m. in the Masonic temple.

"Luncheon is Served" will be the theme of the occasion and will feature a short program by Jane Payne of Detroit. Displayed for sale at the luncheon will be "white elephant" articles collected from the various members of the club. Prizes will also be awarded at the event.

Co-chairmen of the benefit luncheon are Mrs. Guy Higley and Mrs. Harold E. Niles. Mrs. Ray Collins and Mrs. William Downing are supervising the white elephant table. On the committee in charge of prizes are Mrs. Downing and Mrs. William Hartloff. Mrs. Forest Morgeson is making arrangements for the sale of tickets.

Tickets for the luncheon, which is open to the public, should be obtained in advance. They may be bought from any committee or board member of the Woman's club. Proceeds of the event will go towards the support of various social charities.

Grange Cleanings

The meeting of the Grange on last Thursday evening was unusually well attended and it was a good meeting, too. Mrs. Myers who was pinching for Anna Nash, our lecturer, had secured a trio of high school students to come and give us some music. We all enjoyed their music very much as most of the selections were familiar favorites, not "long hair" stuff that seems to be mostly noise and not much tune. They were very good and we hope they will come again.

Everyone was pleased and happy to see the fine new electric clock hanging on the wall through the kindness of the Wood Insurance agency.

Arrangements were made for a card party to take place Saturday, January 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the Grange hall. Come on everybody, fill a table, invite your friends and neighbors, fill two tables. Remember you may play any game you want to-table prizes for high score. Refreshments will be served after play-downstairs.

We are very sorry to report that Roy Amrhein is seriously ill in St. Joseph's hospital, Ann Arbor, Room 205.

The Lily Club on Monday evening had a very nice party. There were five tables of 500, two tables of pedro and one table of cribbage, which would seem to prove that many would prefer playing 500. The committee was Mr. and Mrs. Groth and Mollie assisted by Bertha Tiffin.

Be sure to come to the next Lily club which will be on February 14. The committee will be announced later.

Mrs. Mary Henry is at home again from St. Joseph's hospital and is a little better.

Silence is the best resolve for him who distrusts himself.

D.A.R. Chapter Plans Birthday Luncheon

Celebrating their 28th birthday this Monday is the Sarah Ann Cochran chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Plymouth and Northville. Members will gather in honor of the event at 1 p.m. in the Mayflower Hotel for the organization's annual luncheon.

Present for the occasion will be regents of the various D.A.R. chapters in Royal Oak, Birmingham, Pontiac, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor and Detroit.

The special program will feature the Reverend Robert D. Richards as guest speaker. His topic will be "An American's Creed."

Reservations for the luncheon should be made with Mrs. Lawrence E. Mack by Friday, January 14.

Starkweathers Endorse Raisin Filled Cookies

PROOF that she hasn't lost her touch with the family's favorite recipe, is this scene of 88-year-old Mrs. Emma Feigley helping her daughter, Mrs. Karl Starkweather, whip up a batch of raisin-filled cookies.

With changes and additions made in the family's favorite cookies' recipe over a period of 30 years, it's no wonder that Mrs. Karl Starkweather's raisin-filled cookies have attained a high degree of perfection.

Mrs. Starkweather has found them to be a favorite treat with the many friends and relatives who visit the 711 Starkweather home, and after you've once tried them, we bet you'll heartily endorse them, too!

Raisin-Filled Cookies

- 1 1/2 cups of shortening
- 1 1/2 cups of white sugar
- 1 1/2 cups of brown sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup of sour milk or buttermilk
- Enough all-purpose flour to make batter stiff (4 to 5 cups)
- 1 teaspoon of baking powder
- 1 teaspoon of salt
- 1 heaping teaspoon of nutmeg

Combine first five ingredients. Add baking powder, salt and nutmeg which have been sifted together with the flour. Roll batter out on well-floured board until it is about 1/8-inch thick. Cut out cookies. Place a good teaspoonful of filling on top of the cut cookies. Gently press a second cookie on top of the first with the filling in between. Bake in moderate oven about 10 to 15 minutes. Makes approximately four to five dozen three-inch cookies.

Filling:

- Grind 1 pound of raisins
- Add 1 cup of water
- 1 cup of sugar (brown or white)
- 2 tablespoons of corn starch
- 1 tablespoon of lemon juice with portion of grated lemon rind

Cook above ingredients for five minutes. Let stand until cool.

A variation of the filling might be the substitution of pitted dates for the raisins and vanilla for the lemon juice.

APPEARANCES CAN BE DECEIVING as shown by an outside shot, right, of this attractive Oldford home of the William M. Shorrows, 1344 West Ann Arbor trail. A first glance at the brick veneer and Tennessee ledger rock exterior would hardly lead one to believe that the Shorrows home possessed three spacious bedrooms and TV den. Above, birch-panelling creates a cozy atmosphere in the TV den located at the back of this attractive home.

Browsing with BARBARA

Frankly, folks, you'll just have to see it yourself to believe it! Because this is what happened when I was out gathering material for this column yesterday: I was browsing over at Eckles Coal and Supply company at 882 Holbrook where they gave me a pamphlet on a new type of insulating material that just came in. Confidently I hopped into my car and drove back to The Mail, sat down at my desk—the deadline was moments away—and proceeded to read up on Infra according to multiple aluminum. Everything was perfectly clear as to this tricky little item coming in aluminum strips which spread out like a fan and insulate against heat, vapor, condensation and timber rot. That was O.K. with me. Then I decided I needed more information to tell you folks about it, and opened up the pamphlet and peeked inside. What a sight! There my eyes met gobbs of technical language, statistics and phrasing utterly beyond my comprehension. What was I to do? Well I struggled and wrestled with the manufacturer's description of the wonders of his product for some 15 or 20 minutes, and became more confused than ever. The deadline was approaching, I had to have something for the column, so in a desperate effort I called Eckles. The product was new, they told me, and they hadn't received complete information on it themselves, but if I could hold off for another week they'd be sure to see that it was all carefully explained to me. Well, I appreciated their efforts to enlighten me, but knew that I was in a bad predicament. With the deadline moments away, how was I going to fill that blank space on the building page usually occupied by "Browsing?" I went back to the pamphlet, tore through it frantically and decid to make a clean sweep of it and tell you folks my sad tale of woe. But this much I did learn about the product—everyone will be much more comfortable in both winter and summer by insulating their homes with Infra. Also, that Infra is made up of multiple layers of compartmented air spaces, is permanent, fire-retardant and easily installed. It's clean and you don't need to use wire, furring or lath strips as a supporting foundation. I'm sure it's a very good item—it says so right in the advertisement. Beyond that, folks, you'll just have to see it to believe it!

Floor-To-Ceiling
Steam from showers and baths often causes the walls above clay tile wainscoting to "bubble" out and peel. That's one good reason why the trend in bathrooms today is for architects to specify steamproof clay tile extended all the way from floor to ceiling. Another good reason is tile's fresh, natural beauty that never, never fades; it comes in 200 different colors that fit any design.

Kitchen Value
Builders today know that the kitchen is the showcase of the house. Value is concentrated there. Streamlined plumbing, automatic fixtures like garbage disposers and dishwashers, and life-lasting clay tile surfacing for floors, walls, and countertops distinguish the modern kitchen. In addition, the kitchen will often have extra room for such activities as informal entertaining or hobbies.

The fiber board which forms the base for insulating siding is one of the most effective of all insulating materials.

No Payment for Year Required On FHA Farm Improvement Loan

The farmer who wants to put a new roof on a barn or other building gets a break in terms for repaying a Title I loan guaranteed by the Federal Housing Administration. He has up to 42 months to make the first payment after borrowing the money.

This provision in the loan regulations enables a farmer to produce and market his crops at least once before any payment is due. The urban dweller, who presumably has a more regular income, isn't able to do this.

The farmer-borrower may repay a Title I property improvement loan in annual, instead of the customary monthly, installments if at least 51 percent of his income is "derived directly from the sale of agricultural crops, commodities, or livestock produced by him."

A property improvement loan may be as high as $2,500; with up to three years to pay. The FHA itself does not lend money. It insures loans made by banks or other lending institutions under the FHA program.

Timely repairs financed by Title I loans are good business because farm buildings are a means of livelihood to the farmer. Money spent on their upkeep is an investment that can pay off in increased business and profits.

For example, a barn may have a worn, battered roof. If allowed to deteriorate further, the old roof will expose the barn's contents, as well as its structure, to the weather. Protecting the barn with a new roof of weathertight, fire-resistant asphalt shingles—and doing it before leaks start—will safeguard the farmer's investment in the building, equipment, livestock, and crops.

Home Wood Lots Can Be Made More Enjoyable

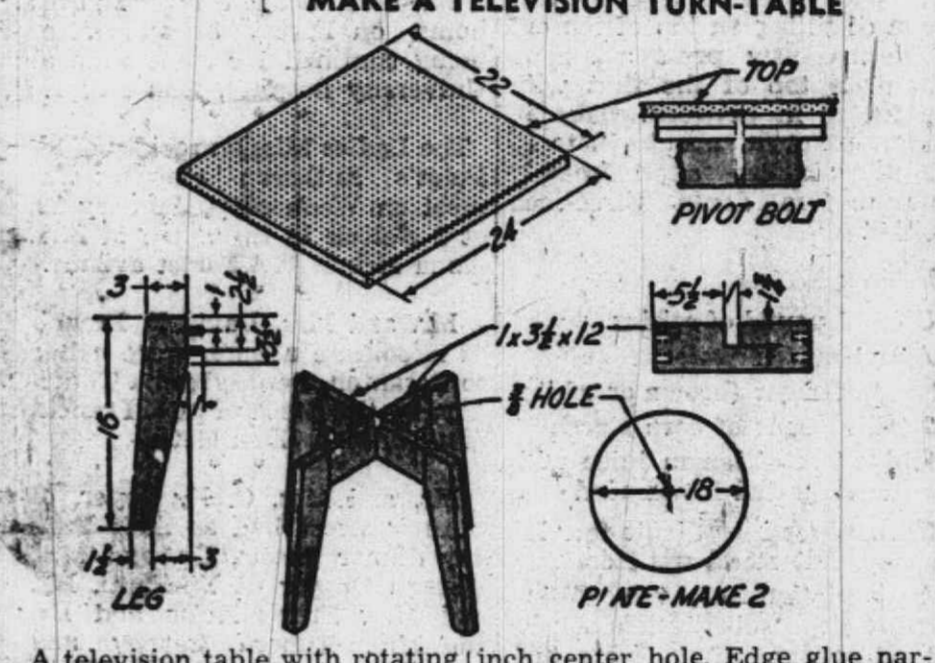

The "Back to the Trees" movement is gobbling up wooded acres for new home sites. As the boom to Suburbia gains momentum, some home owners are lucky enough to locate their dream castles in the heart of virtual woodlands.

But Nature can be given an assist in making the wood lot even more desirable, says J. M. McNees, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co. It's all in the point of view—and the point of view is a vista. A vista to the tree man means cutting an opening through the wooded tract, to disclose a distant pleasing scene.

The wood lot can be kept neat and trim and still look natural and unspoiled. Thinning out undesirable species along with dead and hazardous trees is a good start. Then, too, the cleaning up of unsightly windfalls, which also are fire menaces, aids the splendor of the acreage.

The wood lot can contribute much to the enjoyment of outdoor living. Clearing away of low-hanging branches that are dead and gradually removing the less desirable sorts will give the better kinds a chance to develop properly.

HERE'S HOW . . . MAKE A TELEVISION TURN-TABLE

A television table with rotating top allows the set to be turned to best advantage.

All lumber used is 1-inch stock. The legs are shaped from 1 by 4-inch boards, as are the leg supports. A slot is cut in the center of each support and the pieces are glued into a right-angle cross. The dowel holes are 3/8-inch in diameter.

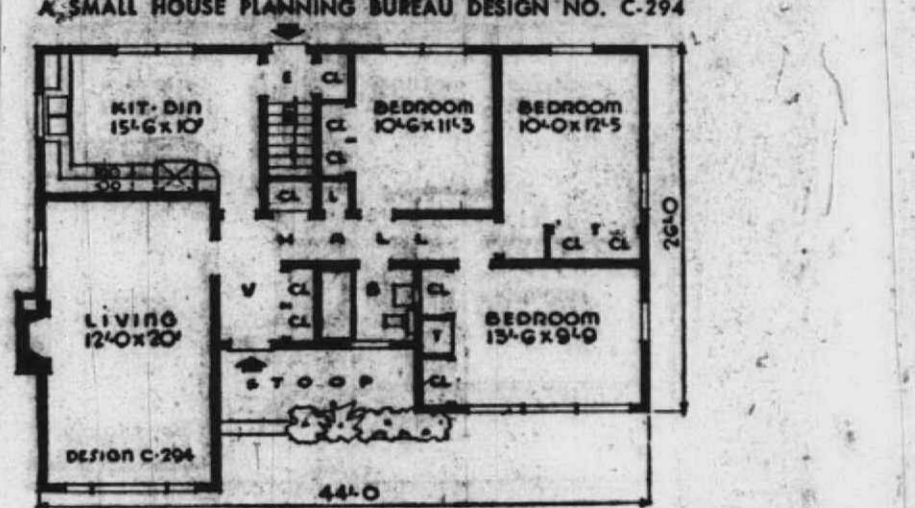

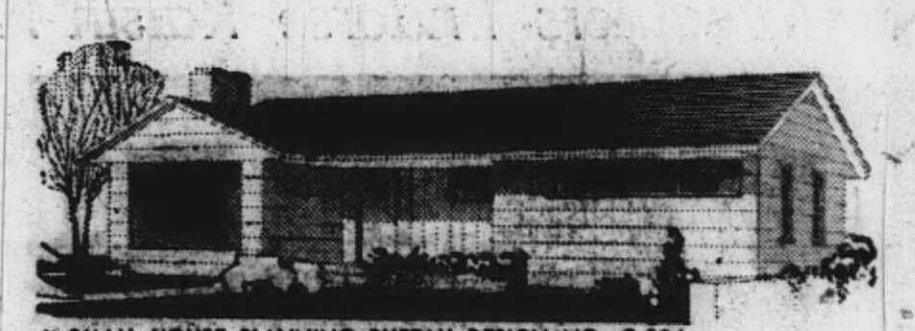

Complete the leg assembly by inserting and gluing the dowels and clamping it until the glue sets. Then bore a 3/8-inch hole down through the center of the leg support.

The turn-table plates are 18 inches in diameter, with a 3/4-inch center hole. Edge glue narrower stock to produce a surface from which the plates may be cut. Sand the plates smooth on both faces.

Insert a 5-inch carriage bolt in the center of one plate. Bore a hole in the center of the under side of the table for the bolt head. Fasten the plate beneath the table top with glue and 1/4-inch screws, countersunk.

Mount the other plate on the leg assembly with glue and screws.

The table-top assembly is placed on the leg assembly with the bolt serving as a pivot. Lubricate the plates with soap.

DESIGN C-294. Circulation between rooms is excellent in this plan and all rooms can be reached from the front entrance. All three bedrooms have twin wardrobe closets; the one in the front bedroom has trays built in. Kitchen cabinets are arranged to leave a large dining space under the rear double windows. The living room has a double glazed picture window, fireplace and plentiful wall space. Exterior finish includes shingle siding, vertical redwood siding, asphalt shingles, covered front entrance and high windows in front bedroom and bath. Floor area is 1139 sq. ft. and cubage is 21,585 cubic feet. For further information about DESIGN C-294, write the Building Editor, The Plymouth Mail.

Sleeping Insects Spend Winter in Various Forms

What home owners can't see does bother them, at least as far as their landscape is concerned. Even in winter, the weekend gardener is interested in his winged enemies—those pests that devastate the back yard landscaping.

"Where are the insects that will be swooping down on our trees and other plantings come spring?"

The answer varies with the kinds of insects. Some sleep through the winter in adult, larval or pupal stages. Others lay their eggs and complete the life cycle with the coming of cold weather. A very few migrate to warmer climes.

One of the most destructive of the insects that hibernate as adults is the elm leaf beetle. This pest seeks refuge in homes, garages and other warm places for its winter comf. It has a built-in alarm that wakes it about the time leaves unfold. Then it is off on its leaf-chewing machinations.

The brown tail moth, the codling moth or apple worm and the European pine shoot moth are among these that hibernate in the larval stage and emerge as moths in summer. The elm bark beetle, carrier of the dread Dutch elm disease, is the most notorious of the slumberers in larval stage. The spring cankerworm overwinters in the pupal stage, the one between larva and adult.

LETTER BOX

Mr. Sterling Eaton
The Plymouth Mail
Plymouth, Michigan
Dear Sterling:

It was nice to see you yesterday at the Rotary Club. I think about you often, and shall never forget the many things which you did for me while I was stationed in Plymouth. In fact, if I had any success there, I feel that much of it was due to the great interest which you took in the Salvation Army and in me.

I just wanted to reiterate this morning what I told you yesterday, that one of the most welcome visitors in our home each week is the Plymouth Mail. I scan its pages from one end to the other, trying to keep up on what's taking place in that wonderful little city. While my wife and I are no longer stationed there, we kind of feel like it's our home because of the many friends that we have there.

I noted by yesterday's paper that you're going to be taking a little trip this week. I hope that you and your wife will have a good rest and an enjoyable time. Best regards to all of the "Mail Family."

Sincerely yours,
William H. Roberts
Captain

Dear Mr. Eaton:

We would like to thank you for aiding us in our annual Christmas Seal Sale.

With tuberculosis such an important public health problem which must be the concern of everyone, it is only with the help of people like you that we can get the message across to the public. It is the individual who must defeat TB through his financial support of Christmas Seal drives and his annual chest X-ray to make sure he is free of infection himself.

We are happy with the outcome of our 1954 Seal Sale and want to thank everyone who has made its success possible.

Yours for good health,
Richard L. Lea

Winter Scouting Event Planned

"Trail of the Huskies" is the name of the 14th annual outdoor winter event for Boy Scouts and Explorers. The running with their home-made Eskimo-type sledges will take place Sunday afternoon, 12:30 to 4 p.m., January 16, at Warren Valley Golf Course, Warren road east of Inkster road. The public is invited.

General chairman of the event is Sidney D. Strong, special field commissioner of Plymouth, who originated the event 14 years ago. He has designed a special souvenir map giving Yukon Territory or Alaskan names to various points about the golf course which will be visited by the "sledge drivers" and their "huskies."

The events, glamorized in Arctic terms, will give the boys an opportunity to demonstrate their skill in use of compass, using a watch as a compass, proper clothing for Arctic wear, frosty first aid treatment, use of ropes, tent pitching, fire building, and outdoor cooking.

The Scouts are hoping there will be plenty of snow for the event, but the program goes on regardless of weather.

Strong will use about 60 Scout leaders and dads of boys to help stage these events. He still needs a few volunteers.

First place winner last year was Troop BL-1, Belleville; second place by Troop P-298, Canton Center; and third place by Troop LU-271, St. Michael's Catholic church, Livonia.

Nature is right in her choice of color for snow, according to 97 per cent of the folks who bought artificial snow in aerosol containers last year. While the synthetic flakes were offered in a variety of colors, the overwhelming majority of buyers preferred them in white.

When you want to Go - You're gonna Go!

No ifs, ands or buts about it.

When you give the gun to a 1955 Buick with Dynaflo Drive,* you move.

In the instant you push down the pedal, you get the action you've called for—immediate getaway from a standing start, or immediate safety-surge out of a tight spot on the highway.

It's not magic, this thrilling and pulse-quickening response—though it feels like the closest thing to it.

It's a principle of the modern airplane, brought for the first time to an automotive transmission.

Twenty "variable pitch propellers" inside the Dynaflo unit itself can change their angle—like the propeller of the airliner can change its pitch from take-off position to cruising position.

And what this brings to you—at the wheel of a 1955 Buick—is the nearest thing to flight on wheels. Far better gas mileage in your normal driving and cruising. Spectacular new response when you want it for extra quick getaway or emergency acceleration.

But all this, mind you, with the absolute smoothness that is constant in Dynaflo Drive.

Surely, a demonstration of Variable Pitch Dynaflo is a Buick must this year. We'll be happy to do the honors—and show you, in the doing, what a whale of a buy you make here. Drop in this week, won't you?

*Dynaflo Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Thrill of the year is Buick

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

NO WEeping TOWEL was needed by Colin White, center, who rolled a 297 last November 5 at the Arbor-Lill alleys. For his near perfect game, he received a gold plaque from the Detroit Bowling association. He is shown receiving the plaque last Friday from Brownie Sudol of the association's executive committee while Norbert Lofey, owner of Arbor-Lill, looks on. White bowls Friday nights for the Plymouth Wayne County Roads league. He lives at 11721 Vaughn, Detroit.

Cagers Tie for 6-B Lead, Redford Downed, 55-47

Bob Middleton hit for the biggest total of his varsity career and the rest of the Rocks came through when they had to in the final quarter to overcome a Redford Union lead and hand the Panthers their second league loss, 55-47.

The game, played at Redford Union last Friday, saw the Rocks take a big lead, blow it, and then come back in the last eight minutes to completely overwhelm the Panthers with an 18 point spurge. At the end of the third stanza, R. U. held a 39-37 advantage and was doing its best to hold it. Plymouth had different ideas, though, and when Danny Clifford, Larry Wilhelm, Bob Middleton and Dick Davidson each hit for two points within a few minutes to put the game out of Redford's reach with about four minutes left, the Rocks held on to salvage their second league win in three starts.

Middleton was the big gun on the basis of his 24 points, the highest total any Rock has scored since Kenny Kisabeth notched 30 a year ago. Middleton was terrific in the first half as he kept the Rocks going almost single-handedly by accounting for fourteen of his points. Much credit must also be given to Dick Davidson, who got hot in the final quarter when Plymouth really needed it to kick it with eight vital counters, Danny Clifford dropped in ten and Larry Wilhelm eight more to supplement Middleton and Davidson's total.

Jim Rantanen was high for the Panthers with fourteen counters and Alec McArthur kept the host team going in the third quarter with eight of his ten points, but in the final period, R. U. could not but eight points while the Rocks were racking up eighteen for their final 55-47 margin.

The win put the Rocks in a tie for first place with Belleville, Trenton and previously unbeaten Bentley, which fell to Trenton. Tomorrow night the Rocks will try to untangle that first place tie when Belleville invades the Plymouth gym. The big job that faces Coach John Sandmann's

King's 17 Points Wasted As Reserve Cagers Lose

Despite a 17-inch effort by Jerry King, Plymouth's Junior Varsity quintet suffered its third setback in five games when Redford Union's Jay Vees inflicted a 56-43 drubbing on the younger Rocks last Friday.

The local J. V. five traveled to the Panther's den in vain search of their third win, but was hurriedly awakened by the fast-hitting home team. Redford Union unleashed a well-balanced scoring attack and jumped off to a 15-8 first quarter lead. After that the Jay Vees never even threatened but had to watch the young Panthers add 18 more points to their first quarter total while holding Coach Bill Harding's charges to 10 in the second eight minutes to roll up a 33-18 margin at halftime.

The third stanza was a little better than the Plymouth standpoint, as the Harding-coached quintet netted fourteen counters to ten for the Panthers. That was the only period in which the young Rocks outscored R. U., however, as the host team rolled up thirteen more in the final period to complete their 56 point total, while Plymouth hit for eleven to end up thirteen points behind the Panthers.

quintet is that of stopping Belleville's Cinderella Boy, George Thompson who has won the last three games for the Tigers in the final seconds.

Tuesday Plymouth hosted Northville in a rematch. In their opening game of the season, the Rocks trounced the Mustangs 65-37. See section one for results of this game.

Redford Frosh Trips Local 5

Falling victim to a 24-point scoring spurge of Redford Union's Bob Teegardind, Plymouth's ill-fated Frosh couldn't even match the scoring efforts of the high scoring Redford hoopsster and suffered their second loss in a trio of tilts, as the young Panthers doled out a 43-23 drubbing to the local Freshmen last Friday at Plymouth.

The inability of the ninth graders to check the Panther quintet, especially Teegardind, in the first and last quarters proved to be the downfall for Coach Charles Ketterer's squad. Redford Union notched 14 counters in the initial period, 12 of which Teegardind personally accounted for. The Rocks improved enough in the middle two stanzas to score eleven points to twelve for the visitors and remain on the short end of a 26-19 score going into the final eight minutes. Redford's Fresh then put the game on ice with a 17 point outburst. However, in that final quarter the Rocks did succeed in holding R.U.'s big gun to a mere six points.

Dave Walasky was the only Plymouth courtman who did any scoring of note. He dropped in ten counters, but was given no additional help in the scoring department.

Tomorrow the young Rocks travel to Belleville in quest of the win that will even their record at 2-2. The game will be played as the second feature in the Junior High-Frosh double header.

Aside from King, who got eleven of his seventeen points via the free throw line, the Rocks were very impotent in the scoring department. The big gun in the previous four games, Kenny Calhoun, was held to eight counters, his lowest point total of the season, and well below his fourteen point average before this game.

Three of Redford Union's hoopssters combined for 38 points to almost equal the total of the entire Rock team. Ray Crenshaw topped both teams in scoring when he dropped in a field goal in the final quarter to give him an eighteen point total and top King by one for individual honors. Ross Hartley and Bill Gibson added eleven and nine points, respectively, to complete the total of Redford's big three.

Tomorrow the Jay Vees will attempt to gain their second win over a league opponent when they play host to Belleville's Reserves at 7:00.

Splashers Swamp Ypsi For 5th Straight Victory

Picking up in 1955 where they left off in '54, Plymouth's high-flying tankmen swept to their fifth straight victory as Ypsilanti Central fell to the Rocks for the second time this season. The final score of the meet, held last Thursday in Plymouth's pool, was 66-18.

Coach John McFall's charges copped every first place in the nine event program and added five seconds in the seven individual events to reach that total. Captain Chuck McKenna got things off to a fast start when he opened the trounce by topping the 50-yd. freestylers in the initial event. McKenna's time of 26.2 seconds, a new team record, was nearly matched by runner-up Dave Beegle, who finished in 26.6. After Mike Conrad and Mike Todd added eight more points to the Plymouth score by finishing one-two in the 100-yd. breaststroke, Bill Brandled kept alive his unbeaten streak in the 200-yd. freestyle with Gary Wright pushing him in second place. Bob Packard won the 100-yd. backstroke and John Gregory finished but a sliver of a second behind him in second place to add eight more counters to the Plymouth advantage, before Ypsi got its first second place of the meet. Dick Showers won the 100-yd. freestyle in 60.0 seconds, but John Williams was nudged out for the runner-up slot by a Central swimmer.

In the diving Art Losse continued on his merry way as he piled up fifteen points more than his nearest competitor to take top honors. Tom Rutherford added a third in the same event. Then Jim Zukosky splashed through the 150-yd. individual medley in 1:50.8 to lower his own team record by two seconds. Jack Taylor nosed out Ypsi's hope for second place, giving the Rocks a point total of 52 to 11 for the visitors before the final pair of events, the two relays.

When the 150-yd. medley relay team of Jimmy Archer, George Losse, and Dennis Baker won its event, and Don Carney, Art Losse, John Walker, and Gary Strasen copped the 200-yd. freestyle relay, the Rocks had their fifth win in as many starts to their credit.

Having defeated Birmingham, Lincoln Park, and Allen Park, in addition to the pair of decisions over Ypsi, the Rocks must now face the greatest threat to their unblemished record that they have met so far this season. Coach McFall faces the task of whipping his team into condition to beat powerful Ann Arbor, perennial swim champs of the 6-A League. The meet will come off tomorrow night at the campus town's Tappan Pool at 7:30.

The tankers fine record must be influencing the local sport fans, for more witnessed the Ypsi meet than saw the other pair of home meets combined. Plymouth takes on Adrian next Tuesday in the Rock's next home tilt, giving the fans a chance to see the swimmers in action soon.

While the United States has a highly dynamic economy, Sweden has had a higher rate of economic growth during the last 70 years in per capita income and has suffered less from cyclical setbacks.

Lon Hadwin provided the big punch in the Plymouth attack, scoring eleven points on four field goals and three free throws. Farrell Grady added nine more to give the Junior Highers all but four of the final total. Hagen of R.U. paced his mates with nine counters, followed by Alexander and Fortner, who each accounted for eight.

With their record standing at two wins and one loss, Coach Gorguz's lads travel to Belleville tomorrow in search of their third win. The team has six more encounters after the Belleville tussle.

Resume Action In 'A' League After Holidays

After a week's lay-off between the holidays, the Plymouth Recreation department "A" basketball league bounced back into action last week with George Tripp squad remaining in lead position with a resounding 99-52 win over Northville Recreation.

In other games of the week, Goulds Cleaners topped Northville State Hospital A.F.L., 32-20; LaFontaine outscored Taits Cleaners, 54-33, and Beglinger Olds nosed out Ford Local, 47-42.

It was the fifth straight win for the George Tripp team since the league opened five weeks ago. Beglinger Olds and LaFontaine still remained in hot pursuit in the standings, each dropping one game.

High scorers on the Tripp squad last week were Pursell with 28 points, Heaton with 25, Huelber with 17 and Becker, 18. Straub of Northville Recreation scored 23.

It was a close game all the way when Beglinger Olds and Ford Local 182 met up. Top scorers for Beglinger were Bob Norman, 12; Bahen, 10; and Schomberger, 8. M. Kennedy scored 19 tallies for Ford Local.

Field goals came few and far between in the Goulds Cleaners-Northville State Hospital game. It was Goulds 5 and State Hospital 3 at the end of the first quarter. Both teams gave every-one a chance at the basket so no high scorers were produced. Half time score was 13-5 in favor of Goulds.

McDonald scored 12 points to lead the LaFontaine Erektion quintet to victory over Taits Cleaners. Taits trailed throughout the game with the half-time score being 27-17. Bud Lanphear racked up 16 of Taits' 33 points.

Frosh Tankers Sink Parkers

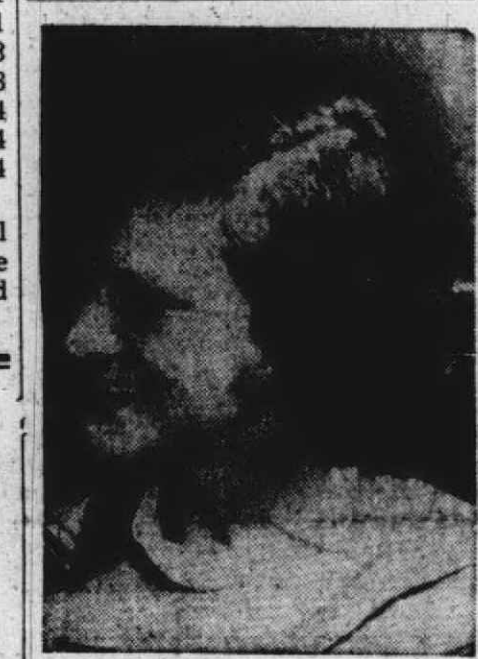

A Plymouth tank team composed entirely of freshmen, plus an eighth grade relay team, smashed Highland Park's frosh swimmers by a 50-24 score in a meet held in Plymouth's pool Wednesday, January 5.

Although the Rocks have been competing as a Junior Varsity team, Highland Park had no J.V. squad, forcing Coach Frank Sullivan to keep the sophomores and juniors on his reserve team under wraps. It didn't hurt Plymouth much though, as the locals took seven firsts in the eight-event contest. The only loss came in the final 200-yd. freestyle relay, when Plymouth entered a quartet of eighth graders against the Parkers' freshmen. Even in losing the Junior High four gave a good account of themselves as Bruce Woods, Jim Carney, Jim Meyers, and Jack Vincent finished a scant two seconds behind the older Park lads.

Don Carney and Mike Todd, a pair of freshmen who have competed in varsity meets, each racked up a first place in the initial two events. Carney won the 50-yd. freestyle in 26.7, and Todd copped the 50-yd. breaststroke in a time of 36-1. Don Cash and Bruce Curtis finished one-two in the backstroke, and then Carney came back to win the 75-yd. freestyle. Johnny Walker was far and away the cream of the divers, with Mike Blum as runner-up in the same event. Cash returned in the individual medley to take his second blue ribbon of the meet with Bob Isbister placing second. The medley relay team of Curtis, Todd and Dick Anderson swam away from their opponents in that event, setting the stage for the final relay in which the eighth graders did so well, only to suffer the only defeat the Rocks suffered all day.

Don Carney and Don Cash each racked up ten points on the basis of winning two events apiece to pace the scoring. Mike Todd added seven to the Rock cause.

The next meet for Coach Frank Sullivan's splashers will be a junior varsity affair with Trenton Monday, January 17, in Plymouth's pool.

Veterans of Foreign Wars

Plans are in progress for the Mother's March on Polio the month of March and the Porchlight March on January 27. Chairman of the March is Chaplain Virginia Bartel. Anyone interested in participating in this Polio March, please call Virginia Bartel or Gerry Olson for further information.

All Auxiliary girls are asked to read the January issue of our bulletin. An announcement is made of the membership contest. Any girl who brings in five or more members is entitled to a prize of an Auxiliary compact. See page 17 of the bulletin for further details of the contest. Their motto is "Strive for 5 in '55!"

President Marie Norman wishes to inform all those who purchased Yearbook officers pictures are entitled to a 25c refund as the price of the pictures was misquoted. Call her for further information!

Our Auxiliary is starting the 1955 year by purchasing a United States Saving Bond. Civilian Defense Chairman Alba Van Meter is sponsoring this purchase with part of a collection of pennies taken at each of our regular business meetings.

Our Legislative Chairman, Issabelle Lueke, suggests our reading articles in the Michigan Mirror, to give us insight as to what our State of Michigan government is planning. On January 5, 1955, the first day of the 84th Congress, there was to be drafted and introduced a bill for our national security. The Veterans of Foreign Wars and its auxiliaries, were one of 25 National Veterans patriotic organizations which met in Washington, D.C. in December to approve such a bill.

Don't forget our next regular meeting on January 18. We need your attendance!

We are pleased to welcome Mildred Dely and Helen Dely as new members of our Auxiliary! We hope to see them both at our next meeting!

DELIVERING THE MAIL is a cinch for Postman Harvey Kreimes, shown above with the new cart he received as a New Year's gift from residents along his route. With him are two contributors to the project: Mrs. Joseph Calleja of 209 Irvin center, who originated the idea; and Mrs. Richard Herter, holding son Carl, residents of 466 Arthur. In the foreground are Patty Herter and Joe Calleja.

January is a double header, a month when we start the New Year right by publicizing the work of two of our standing committees Legislation and National Security.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith of St. John's were among the distinguished guests at the 17th District association's meeting at the Lloyd H. Greene Post at Northville on Friday evening, January 7. Don Smith is an active candidate for department commander for next year. Another guest, Mrs. Florence Hinspeter, auxiliary vice president of the third zone, announced that the 17th District auxiliary had won the Dorothy Schramm trophy. This trophy is presented to the district which enrolls the highest percentage of their membership quota by December 15 and was held by the sixth district for the past year. Congratulations to the members of the local Unit for their concerted effort in helping the district achieve this honor.

Chips from the ROCK

From the rumor department comes news that a deal is underway to move the license bureau office from the Township Hall to the Ted Box residence next to the Box Bar on Ann Arbor Trail. Plans are being drawn to remodel the house into modern offices.

Corn growing farmers are bemoaning the fact that their fields are still so wet they haven't been able to get machinery in them to pick last fall's corn crop. "If it doesn't freeze up pretty quick I'll be as bad off this year as I was five years ago when on June third I finally was able to pick the previous year's crop," says farmer-politician Robert Waldecker. Not only did he pick his corn on the third day of June that year but the next day he plowed his fields and the following day he planted the seed for his next crop.

Dorothy Remington, A & P's cashier, came up with a good suggestion regarding local bus service which should please a lot of late Friday night shoppers. It seems local stores close at 9 p.m. and the closest bus leaving for Detroit is at 8:15. The next one doesn't leave town until 10:15 p.m. necessitating an hour and fifteen minute wait for anyone staying to the closing hour. She suggests a 9:30 bus to accommodate clerks and shoppers as well.

Ford Motor Company's Lou Earl knows Plymouth Mail classifieds really pack a wallop. Some local wag inserted his unlisted phone number in a cash classified ad giving his Livonia residence for rent. Needless to say there was no rest in the Earl home over the weekend.

The Pease Paint and Wallpaper store invoice read "saloon doors" and one might well think it was sent to "Joe's" or some other well known watering place. It wasn't however. The respectable firm of Sutherland and Robison, C.P.A.'s received the same as part of their billing for material used in their newly remodeled reception room where many of their customers come out swinging but not for the same reason as they might at Joe's!

As the Christmas flurry at the post office clears away new totals in almost every department are marked on the wall but Postmaster George Timpona says the best record of all was the wonderful cooperation given his busy office by the residents of this community. "It was a wonderful thing as far as we were concerned, the way local people cooperated in properly labeling and tying their holiday packages. Without their help we never would have been able to have everything delivered on time," he said.

And in the Christmas round-up department one of the nicest gifts received at the Elmer Anderson residence on Sheldon road was a letter from Camp Merriewood Harrison in Richmond, Virginia saying friends of theirs had as a Christmas gift to a child, who could not otherwise attend, made arrangements for a vacation for the child at the camp next summer.

According to Hi-12 members their new quartet composed of Howard Sharpley, Clarence Schuler, Don Ryder and Russell Kirkpatrick is fast becoming popular throughout this particular Hi-12 district and have been appropriately named the "Four Sour Notes."

Mink cuffs are the thing for the gentler sex and Mink ties are new for the men. Wall Wire's V.P. Earl Russell supports the fanciest one in town which has recently been taken out of moth balls and readied for a glamorous season on the desert of rolling Arizona.

WINTER COMES TO SUBURBIA

Roger Babson Says:

BABSON DISCUSSES "FINDING FORTUNES"

New York City, I have just been asked by a Wall Street banker to help him get some so-called "worthless" securities away from the readers of this column for a few cents a certificate (not per share).

"WORTHLESS" STOCKS MAY NOW BE AVAILABLE

I hear that for every fifty certificates which this broker buys, he finds that forty-nine are now worthless; but one is worth perhaps $1,000. This would be a certificate which some company needs in order to dissolve or consolidate without any outstanding obligations or complications. Of course, it would be unfair to my readers for me to advise them what to do. But, I do urge you to throw nothing away which looks like a stock certificate even if your father or brother says it is "valueless and just cluttering up his desk or safe deposit box." Please do not send me any certificates to look at, but show them to your regular banker, if you wish.

URANIUM IS RECOVERING VALUES

Most of these "worthless" certificates in your attic or desk drawers are of old mining companies. They may never have been any good, or are of mines which have completely "petered out." The company did not have the money to dissolve legally, but some rancher has paid the taxes for the privilege of using the land for pasture. Hence, the company was forgotten after the stockholders were told it was no good. The land is still useless for getting gold or silver, copper or lead; but uranium may have been found! As a result, the land could increase in value in one week from $5.00 per acre to $50,000 per acre! Some old-timer who remembers the old company has found a list of the old stockholders and has written them a letter offering $10.00 a share. As the envelope containing these certificates was marked "valueless," the family sold them for $10.00 per share while today they are really worth $1,000 a share.

STOCKHOLDERS TOO OFTEN MOVE AWAY

When you move from one house to another and especially from one city to another, be sure to write the company in which you hold any stock of your new address. Don't ever look at a "valueless" certificate and say it is not worth a 3-cent postage stamp and the time required for writing such a letter. After too many changes of address, your envelope comes back marked "unknown" and the company marks you "dead."

One of the companies in which my family has very large holdings (United Stores Common, selling on the American Stock Exchange for $3 to $4) has nearly 100 such stockholders who cannot be located. Perhaps you are one of these stockholders. There probably are hundreds of other companies just like United Stores. This stock could easily double or treble in value.

NEVER SELL DEFAULTED BONDS

When a stock stops paying dividends the price of the stock may gradually decline, but no one gets panicky. The stockholders hope for a resumption of dividends. When, however, a bond defaults—especially a foreign bond—most bondholders think this is the end. The price of the bond then suddenly drops from around par to fifty cents on the dollar. Discouraged bondholders have rushed to sell their bonds and the price has dropped to twenty or even less. But, in the course of years, many of these bonds returned in value to $1,000.

Some of the hotels in the famous Sheraton Chain were built in the gay nineties. The bonds were sold for $1,000 each. Then they defaulted and kicked about at perhaps $200 for years. Finally, one of Boston's most courageous financiers, Ernest Henderson, had faith in the hotel business and bought up these bonds. They have since been paid off at par.

WHAT YOU SHOULD DO

Before selling any "worthless stock" or defaulted bond, you can send $2.00 to the Information Center at New Boston, New Hampshire. This gives no investment advice but has lists of 40,000 such stocks and will pass along to you what report it has on file. This is a non-profit educational association to help deserving people on business problems. The $2.00 will cover a full year's inquiry. In other words, you can write again about the same stock or bond anytime within 12 months without further cost to you.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Gene Alleman Secy. Mich. Press Ass'n.

REPUBLICANS ARE CLEARING AWAY THE SHABBIES OF DEFEAT

in the November election and making ready to live with Democrats in control of the state administration. Bitterness has been replaced by a determined move in the House to outshine the Democrats. House Speaker Wade VanValkenberg (R-Kalamazoo) is the chief sounding board of the new theory. Following a caucus of Republicans, he said:

"We've got to stop being anti-Democratic and be more pro-public. We're interested in developing a better program."

Signs multiplied as legislators gathered for the 1955 session that Republican majority leaders would take a close look at Gov. Williams' recommendations, then draft their own goals.

Already, one Republican senator is working up a highway bond issue proposal, grabbing the ball back after Williams intercepted it during the 1954 campaign.

Senator Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson) has sponsored a proposed constitutional amendment for a $500,000,000 bond issue for highway construction.

The controversy started last year when Senator Joseph A. Cloon (R-Wakefield) sponsored the idea. After it was kicked around, Williams pleaded for its passage on the last day of the session.

Republicans ignored him to await a complete survey of Michigan's highway needs, the first since 1947. Williams made it a campaign issue on a "do-it-now" platform and the issue remains.

Republicans are still determined to wait for the survey now being made by the Automotive Safety Foundation. Williams still wants immediate action.

Senator Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek), majority caucus chairman, said immediate action is impossible and insists on a detailed plan to finance the bond issue.

"Without a financing plan, it's a fraud on the public," he said.

FOOD FOR THE NEEDY

in Michigan has been flowing into the state from Federal surplus commodity warehouses for the past five months.

Official figures show the market value of the free food has reached $2,185,161.

The food goes to the people who need it most—those on the relief rolls," said a state official. The program was started as a means to prevent spoilage and deterioration of Federal surpluses and to improve the diet of those getting public assistance anyway.

In the shipments of the first five months, the state has received 835,200 pounds of print butter; 455,585 pounds of bulk butter; 504,000 cans of beef and gravy; 540,000 pounds of process cheese and 206,386 pounds of natural cheese.

Welfare officials are jubilant about the program, which improves their services to the needy without additional loads on the taxpayer. The taxpayer? He's happy, too, to know that surpluses from the farm price support program are not going to waste.

ANOTHER BOON FOR welfare clients is in the making as the legislature meets for the 1955 session.

Already drafted is a bill which would increase the maximum Old Age Assistance checks from $70 to $80 a month, the first increase since a $10 boost in 1952. "Some of these people just can't live on $70 a month," said Welfare Director W. J. Maxey.

The maximum goes to those over 65 years old who have no other income and, Maxey said, the increasing costs of rent and medical care make the increase "only close to adequate."

In addition, the increase for old age recipients is a forerunner of a general increase for those receiving aid to the blind and aid to the disabled.

The cost to the state is expected to reach $2,500,000 a year. The Federal government contributes the first $35 to $55 of the present $70 a month maximum grant.

IT HAPPENS

at least once every year, the flag flies over the Capitol upside down.

It's never planned that way, though. Some sleepy custodian makes a mistake and all sorts of bad jokes are made—because the upside-down flag is an international signal of distress. Ask any sailor.

It happened again, just two days after the Nov. 2 election. "Maybe the Republicans were in distress, but it was still a mistake," said one Capitol employee.

★ THINKING OUT LOUD ★

"One question, sometimes controversial, sometimes personal, is asked each week by The Mail of four pedestrians along Plymouth's downtown streets. This week's guests are "thinking out loud" on the question:

"Are there any types of programs on television you think there should be more of or any types there should be less of?"

CHARLES ZOET, 380 West Liberty: "I don't like the blood and thunder kind of programs they have on for kids. I prefer the historical type program, a good theatrical program such as the Hallmark program or sports programs: As for variety entertainment, I can take them or leave them."

JOHN WALKER, 390 Sunset: "I prefer the scientific programs like The Medic or historical shows and comedy. Programs I don't like are the operas or musical shows."

MRS. WILLIAM SCOTT, 601 Auburn: "I don't think I have seen many shows on television that I don't think should be shown. Of course, we have lots of competition from the children who like to see mystery shows such as Dragnet."

DICK REAMER, 1350 Junction: "There's a pretty good variety of programs on television. My favorites are Ed Sullivan and Jackie Gleason and the night fights."

Two Hundred Attend Fortnighters' Event

About 200 parents and children attended an open house Twelfth Night celebration on Friday, January 5, as guests of Fortnighters, Presbyterian Church. They met at 6:30 for a pot luck supper then gathered in the parking lot for a campfire of Christmas Trees.

Director of Music, Fred Nelson, lead the choir and group in singing appropriate music and carols. The committee in charge were Dr. and Mrs. Henry J. Walch, the Reverend and Mrs. Tom Keefe, and Mr. and Mrs. Eins Hayskar.

Richly Browned Spareribs Enliven Family Dinners

Everyone in the family will enjoy homey meals featuring richly-browned spareribs. Everyday good foods such as sauerkraut just, naturally and deliciously go well with spareribs.

Braising and roasting (baking) are the methods of preparing spareribs advocated by meat experts. These methods develop the delicious pork flavors.

To braise spareribs, cut into individual servings, then brown them slowly on both sides in a frying-pan. Add a small amount of liquid and seasonings. Cover the pan tightly and simmer (don't let the liquid boil) about 1 1/2 hours, or until the meat is tender. If the liquid cooks away, add a little more. You can braise spareribs either on top of the range or in a 350° F. oven.

To roast spareribs, place the seasoned spareribs on a rack in an open roasting pan or in a baking dish. You may wish to fill them with such complimentary stuffings as apples and raisins or sauerkraut. When you're using your oven to cook spareribs, it's a thrifty idea to plan your menus so that you can bake other foods at the same time. Vegetables, some cakes and quick breads and baked puddings are some suggestions to take advantage of oven heat.

Cranberry Puffs Make Tasty Snack

Almost every homemaker wants to have a surprise around the kitchen for those hungry youngsters when they arrive home after school. A favorite for a snack is a tasty doughnut dipped in cinnamon sugar. But since this is the cranberry season, why not try making these cranberry doughnut puffs? You'll find them mighty tasty and a special treat for all the family.

- Cranberry Doughnut Puffs
- 1 cup fresh cranberries
 - 1 cup water
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1/4 cup shortening
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1 package yeast, compressed or dry
 - 1/4 cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
 - 3/4 cups sifted enriched flour (about)
 - 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 2 eggs
 - Fat for frying
 - Cinnamon sugar
- Combine cranberries, 1 cup water and sugar in saucepan. Bring to boil, reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes. Pour into mixing bowl. Add shortening and salt and cool to lukewarm. While mixture is cooling, soften yeast in 1/4 cup water. Add 2 cups flour and cinnamon to cranberry mixture and beat well. Add softened yeast and eggs. Beat well. Add more flour to make a stiff batter. Beat thoroughly. Cover and let rise until bubbly (about 1 hour). When light, stir down. Let rest and fry until golden brown, turning frequently. Drain on absorbent paper. When slightly cooled dip in cinnamon sugar. Makes 3 dozen 2 inch doughnut puffs.

KETTLE FULL-O-GUMBO

Gumbo, southern style, is a dish worth coming home to in any part of the country. Traditionally, it is a thick soup made of a combination of okra, tomatoes, seafood or chicken and a little cured pork for flavor.

This kettle full of gumbo is made with a fat young stewing chicken.

- Chicken Gumbo
- 4 pound stewing chicken
 - 1/4 pound cured bacon or jowl
 - 1 medium onion, chopped
 - 3 cups cut okra, canned or frozen
 - 2 cups canned tomatoes
 - 1 tablespoon salt
 - 7 cups hot water
 - 1 bay leaf
 - 2 small red pepper pods
 - 1/2 clove garlic
 - 1 tablespoon dry parsley
 - 1/2 teaspoon thyme
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 - 3/2 teaspoon brown sugar
 - 1 cup uncooked rice

Cut chicken into serving pieces. Dredge in flour. Dice bacon or jowl and fry until crisp. Remove from kettle.

Brown chicken in bacon fat. Add bacon and remaining ingredients except rice. Simmer for three to four hours. Add water as needed.

About one hour before serving time add the rice. Stir occasionally.

Serve Hot

Chicken gumbo is a complete meal. Serve it thick and hot, making sure that each bowl has a generous piece of chicken.

Crisp crackers or corn bread are good to eat with this luscious Creole dish.

If the folks at your house are diet conscious, don't cut milk out of your menus. The U.S. Department of Agriculture recommends skim milk, buttermilk, or nonfat dry milk for these individuals. They are lower in calories and in vitamin A than whole milk, but are higher in protein, minerals and riboflavin—good choices for people who need to hold their weight down.

Syrup drained from canned fruits may be saved for use in fruit punches, gelatin salads, dessert sauces, sherbets, ices and sauces for meat.

Career Gal Cooks Dish Day Ahead

Combining a career with home-making presents some meal preparation problems. For instance how can you plan quick-to-prepare meals and still be on friendly terms with your food budget?

There are many meats which are both time and money-savers. They can be prepared in several ways, so you won't have a monotony problem.

Even though roasts and pot-roasts usually take more than an hour to cook, they can appear in your weekday meals—you can cook them the night before. Their preparation will not tie you to the kitchen all evening. The next night you can take your choice of the way you serve the meat. The cooked meat can be combined in endless variety with sauces, seasonings, quick breads, cooked vegetables and starchy foods such as potatoes and macaroni.

If you've been yearning for a stew, there's no reason why you can't prepare stews and other braised meats the night before. Then they can be cooled, stored in the refrigerator and re-heated the next night.

Ground meat is a handy standby. There's an imposing variety of canned meats and ready-to-serve meats which can save you time, too. It's wise to keep some on hand all the time.

Terry Toweling Adds Decorative Bathroom Touch

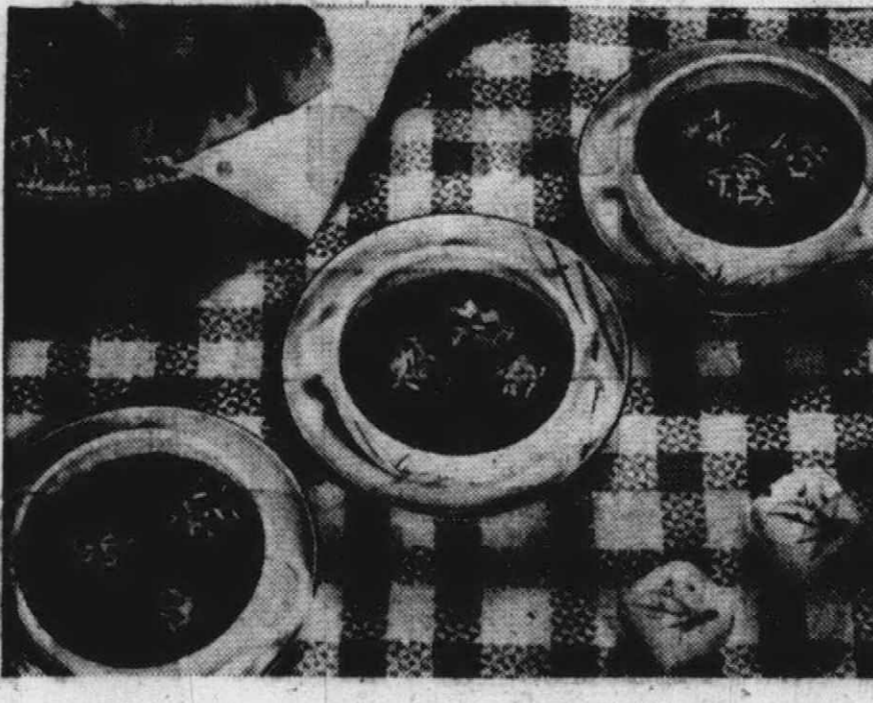

Cotton terry toweling makes for a warm and novel decorative treatment of the bathroom. Use striped terry to make matching window curtains and shower curtain which also match your bath towels.

Shower curtain can be made of two or three long bath towels with hooks for rings sewed along the top hem.

Matching window curtains may be stretched taut between rods at top and bottom of window for a novel effect.

What's a spring-form pan? It is a high, round, two-piece pan used for baking delicate cheesecakes and tortes. During baking, an interlocking spring and pin hold the 3-inch-high side of the pan securely to the bottom. When the baked cake is cool, the pin is removed and the side of the pan springs away from the cake. A combination angel food, torte and cheesecake pan is now available.

RICE PORCUPINE SOUP

- A luncheon menu that knows no season is soup and sandwiches. The soup is all-important in a meal of this type, and you can't go wrong when you serve this Rice Porcupine Soup.
- 1/2 cup diced carrots
 - 1/2 cup diced celery
 - 1 10-ounce can condensed tomato soup
 - 4 cups water
 - 1 small bay leaf

Combine meat, rice, and half of the onions, salt, and pepper. Mix thoroughly. Shape into 18 small balls. Brown in heated shortening.

Place meat balls in 4-quart kettle. Add carrots, celery, tomato soup, water, bay leaf, and remaining onions, salt, and pepper. Bring to a boil. Lower heat and simmer slowly about 45 minutes. Remove bay leaf.

- 1/2 pound ground beef
- 1/2 cup uncooked rice
- 1/2 cup minced onions
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons shortening

Serve piping hot with crackers or hard rolls. Yield: Six servings

Note Trend In Spring Fashions

Spring clothes are being shown to buyers all over the country. It seems prints will be very much in vogue. Printed shoes, bags and hats will be very smart.

Sandals are once again the top choice for Spring and Summer footwear. There are all kinds of color combination here. Clear plastic combined with leather and fabric will be popular.

Hat designers seem to think short hair is here for another season. Judging from their designs. They definitely call for a tailored hairline.

Jewelry will be cool and comfortable. White on black still a fashion-note.

There will be several new fabrics on the market. They are less transparent than nylon but have many of its easy-to-care-for traits.

Via the press and radio, you have often heard what "Chiquita Banana has come to say." One exception should be added to the "never store bananas in the refrigerator" portion of the commercial, however. Ripe bananas—those flecked with brown—may be wrapped in a plastic bag and stored in the refrigerator. Bananas that are green tipped or yellow need to ripen completely at room temperature. Refrigerating bananas before they have ripened fully prevents proper ripening and impairs flavor.

AN ENTIRELY different method of printing is employed by The Mail's new off-set press. Instead of impressions made from common type, the off-set press uses an aluminum plate on which pictures and type are engraved at the same time. Pressman Herb Allen (above) was given a week of instruction by Miehle company representatives. The machine at right etches the impression on the plates.

Latest Type Press Added by The Mail

Another step forward in the field of printing has taken place at The Plymouth Mail with the addition of a modern, high-speed offset press capable of printing 5,000 impressions an hour.

The Plymouth Mail's printing plant has become the first in western Wayne county to install a complete offset department which both makes "plates" and prints.

Unlike ordinary job presses which use metal type to make the impressions, an offset press prints from a smooth aluminum plate upon which an impression had been chemically engraved. Both the engraving and printing processes are fast and easy, making it possible for The Mail to offer fast and economical printing to its customers for many jobs.

The new press is manufactured by the Miehle Printing Press & Manufacturing company, one of the most widely-known companies in the industry.

Although the offset press will not eliminate use of other types of presses, it will be used for many of the "short-run" jobs such as letterheads, all types of business forms, price lists, flyers, throw aways, catalog sheets, bulletins, house organs, etc. It utilizes color ink as well as black and white.

One of the great advantages of the offset press is its economy in reproducing pictures. An ordinary press needs engraved "cuts" if a picture is to be reproduced. These cuts are made either on zinc or on plastic such as The Plymouth Mail uses for pictures reproduced in its newspaper. Such cuts are costly.

But the offset process can reproduce pictures as cheaply and easily as type since the entire printing plate is fundamentally a "cut." The Miehle Lithoprint press will print up to 14 by 20 inches.

The thin aluminum plate can be mounted on the press in a few seconds. Sheets of paper are picked up from the pile by a blast of air and by tilting rubber suckers which advance the sheet to the rollers. Since the press operator at such high speed, ingenious detectors are needed to stop the flow of paper should a sheet fail to reach the guides evenly or at the right time.

Did you know that about seventy-five Americans are dying on the highways today?

The world is literally yours for a smile.

"Where Your Money's Well Spent"

LAST MINUTE TOUCHES prior to tonight's Style Show at the high school are made by models (l. to r.) Barbara Blanton, Ellen Travis, Pat Rensel and Valois Frye. Starting at 8 p.m. the annual event will feature fashionable attire created and modeled by students in Mrs. Woodrow Ross' home-making courses.

Students to Hold Fashion Show At School Tonight

In preparation for the 1955 fashion show which will be held this evening at 8 p.m., the home-making girls sat down to their machines last week to put the final touches on their garments. Spectators in the Plymouth high school auditorium will watch them walk with pride across the stage tonight modeling their dresses, formals, skirts and pajamas.

The five scenes will consist of: Sports with Ellen Travis as commentator; the children's scene with commentator Beverly Harris, and a dress scene described by Sandra Penny. Martha Langford will serve as commentator of the pajama scene, with Pat Calkins closing the program with descriptions of the formal scene.

Entertaining between scenes will be Marilyn Cash, Elenore Skaggs, Jack Pomeroy, Nancy Lock, Mary Lou Foote, Ella Plant, Mildred Green and Connie Jewell, commonly known as the Triple Trios. They will be accompanied by Joan Ebersole. There will be no admission for this program.

Geography Class Studies World Communications

The students of Miss Gertrude Feigel's world geography classes have for the last week been studying a text unit that deals with the travel and communications of the world today and the world facilities of bygone days.

Stressed is the point that many of the inventions people said could never be, are in use today, such as the telephone and the airplane. Students are learning that the difficult is accomplished right away but the impossible just takes a little longer.

As a means of study, reports are given, comparisons are made, and text materials are covered. The next unit to be taken up by the class will be "Good Neighbors of the North," an excerpt dealing with Canada.

Trade at home whenever possible; the dollar you spend may find its way back to you.

Council Organizes New Committee

The organizing of a welcoming committee was one of the topics of Plymouth high school's student council at a meeting held Thursday, January 6.

The project will go into effect next semester. Four members from each grade were chosen to serve on the committee. The job of these students will be to show new students around the building and acquaint them with their classes.

Twelfth-grade students chosen were: Sally Black, Tom Rowe, Terry West, and Karen Rossow. From the eleventh grade were David Grow, Linda Minock, John Small, and Madeleine Jones; and, from the tenth, Carol Clarke, Joan Bassett, Jerry Hotchkin and Jerry King. Ninth graders were Janet Spigarelli, Sharilyn Watson, Randy Eaton and Jim Gotfard.

Four students were also elected to attend a meeting with representatives of the faculty to determine awards for students' scholastic achievement. Jim Zuckosky and Sally Black were elected from the council with Pat Goeke and John Small from the student body.

The council was also asked to discuss and seek a solution to complaints received from shoppers and store owners about congestion and noise in the Plymouth shopping area where students gather at noontime.

Fifteen Students Graduate This Month

Fifteen seniors will finish school at the end of the first semester in January but will return for the official graduation exercises in June.

January graduates are: Martha Carley, Tom Davis, Larry Davis, Shirley Koehler, Oliver Manwaring, Pat Rensel, Joyce Richardson, Vaughn Tillotson, Ron Trahan, Walter Wilczewski, Tom Rutherford, Jerry Reeder, Betty Simmons, Cheri Ritter, and James Angevine.

The seniors who are leaving are entitled to all class activities such as the senior trip, senior mixers and the junior-senior farewell.

Some students classified as juniors in September have obtained enough credits to be classified as seniors this January, thereby expanding the senior class.

Chess Club to Sponsor Booth at Basketball Game

The Chess club will have a refreshment booth at the Plymouth high school gymnasium tomorrow night, January 14, during the Plymouth-Allen Park basketball game.

Concessions are assigned to the various clubs to help clubs earn money and to provide refreshments for the spectators at the games.

Refreshments are not to be eaten in the gymnasium but are restricted to the corridor.

Students Learn To Correct Speech Faults

Correction of difficulties in their own speech is being undertaken by students of Speech I class at the high school.

Under the instruction of Teacher Carl Kranish, students are learning that the voice has a great deal to do with their personalities and that they unconsciously judge others and are judged themselves by their voices.

The class has learned that examination of the speech of college freshmen, high school graduates of yesterday, shows that less than 10 per cent have pure voices and clear-cut speech; that only 48 per cent have even satisfactory speech and that 52 per cent must be classified as unsatisfactory. Qualities of the latter are nasal, flat, monotonous, muffled, shrill or raucous.

Some students have blurred articulation and can be understood only with difficulty. Others are "ear-marked" by lip-laziness, jaw-laziness and tongue-laziness. These difficulties can be overcome with practice. Plans are for each student in the class to analyze his voice, learn its faults and learn how to correct the latter. Later, the students will study "Our American Pronunciations," a textbook chapter dealing with the conflict between letters and sounds, and learn pronunciation of words in the best present usage.

High School Students To Take Exams Soon

With the first semester ending January 28, the semester examinations will be given soon to hundreds of Plymouth high school students.

Fourth, fifth and sixth hour classes will have examinations on Wednesday, January 26. Examinations given for the first, second and third hours will be Thursday, January 27. All exams will be given during the regular class periods.

Following the morning examinations on Thursday, students will be excused from school for the afternoon and all-day Friday. At this time teachers will correct papers and complete final marks for the semester.

At 8:30 Monday, January 31, all students will go to their home-rooms to receive first semester credit slips and a copy of their second semester schedule.

Anyone having class-scheduling difficulty should see Miss Ruth Butts, Plymouth High School's guidance counselor.

Experts Say Many Speech Defects Cured with Proper Instruction

"He can't say some letters." Parents make that complaint every day. What they really mean is that their child has difficulty making some of the sounds of our language, and that consequently, some of the words in which these sounds appear are unintelligible.

Speech is defective whenever the listener pays more attention to how the speaker speaks than to what the speaker is saying. If, for instance, the speaker is putting a "w" sound in place of the "r" sound and says "wabbits can wun vevy wapidly" he is defective in his speech because it is difficult for some people to understand what he is saying. Or he may make a "th" sound for the "s" sound and say "Thuthy liketh to play in my thand bokth" (Susy likes to play in my sand box). Speech correctionists call this kind of speech a defect of articulation.

There are, of course, other kinds of speech defects. Everyone can identify stuttering. Many people recognize cleft palate speech, the speech of the hard-of-hearing, the speech of the child with cerebral palsy. These are the common kinds of defective speech found in children.

We know about many of the reasons why a child may develop faulty articulation. We know what causes cleft palate speech, hard-of-hearing speech, and cerebral palsy speech. We don't know too much about what causes stuttering.

Speech is something we learn, and, all things being equal, most children can be taught acceptable speech if the child can be given proper instruction. The chief cause of poor articulation is probably faulty learning. If the cause is faulty learning, it means that the child's speech can be made normal if he is properly taught by a person who understands the problems and the techniques. It is possible that the child is incapable of learning, or that his speech mechanism will not work as it should. If poor speech is caused by either of these two reasons the case may be hopeless.

The first place that the parent can turn for help is the public schools. If the schools employ a trained speech therapist the parent can get expert advice and help for the child. If there is no such person in the town the parent should contact the nearest university speech clinic. All of our state supported colleges and universities maintain such clinics and the services of the clinics are available to residents of the state.

A word of advice to parents. The sooner you can get help for your child's speech the better it is for the child. That doesn't mean that you're to worry if your one-year-old doesn't yet talk. Even if your child is four or five years of age and doesn't talk plainly, the speech therapist may advise you to wait a year or so before giving him speech therapy because your child may not have matured enough yet. But even if you're advised to wait you'll know that you have done your bit and that if the child doesn't correct his own speech you will know where you can get help.

Sometimes a fool has talent, but never judgment.

FRIEND IN NEED

Ever have your car break down on the highway in the dead of night, miles from the nearest town or service station?

If you have, the odds are heavy that it was a truck driver who came to your rescue. For up and down this great State of ours, with its miles upon miles of fine roads, the truck driver has rightfully earned a reputation as the gentleman of the highway. He brings you all the things you eat, wear, and use, yes—but he also serves as your friend in need when trouble catches up with you on the road.

He stops when others pass you by.

A WEEKEND VISITOR in Plymouth was W. A. Kirkpatrick of Tulsa, Oklahoma. Bill, as he is better known by in the city, stopped to say hello to his mother and dad, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Kirkpatrick of 357 Auburn street, on his way to Chicago where he will assume the responsibilities of his new office as manager of the Crude Oil Coordination department of the Standard Oil Company. For the last seven years he represented a Standard Oil subsidiary in Oklahoma.

EDUCATION STUDENTS at Western Michigan college in Kalamazoo getting their first licks at practice teaching from this area are: Arlene Dowling, daughter of Mrs. Anna M. Dowling of 1316 Sheridan; Barbara Nisley, daughter of Mrs. W. H. Nisley of 11419 Melrose in Livonia; and A. Ann Waldecker, daughter of Mrs. Avis E. Waldecker of 391 Joy street.

A SERIES OF concerts and plays, all featuring outstanding celebrities, started last Sunday at the University of Detroit Memorial building. For Plymouthites interested in fine artists it's well-worth the small admission and 45-minute drive. The series was opened by Dorothy Kirsten and Jim Hawthorne. Next comes Marge and Gower Champion with Harry Belafonte in "Three for Tonight" on January 30. Each performance is at 3:00 p.m. on Sundays.

Renews Warning Of Mail Order Insurance Plans

Mail order insurance—a scheme which may mean a financial loss to the public unless they are careful—was reviewed this week by the Plymouth Association of Insurance Agents and the Community Protection Service committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Practically none of the clubs, associations and companies now waging an aggressive mail campaign are licensed by the Michigan Department of Insurance, according to word received by the groups from Commissioner Joseph A. Navarre.

Commissioner Navarre explained that the legal limitations of his office made it extremely difficult to combat mail solicitation by unlicensed organizations. He added that his Department had no knowledge of the affairs of any alleged insurance company which attempted to operate without an official license.

Individuals who purchase insurance from unlicensed companies must do so at their own risk and consequently deprive themselves of the protection and assistance which the Insurance Department might render. Commissioner Navarre observed that the best interests of all Michigan citizens would be best served by dealing only with licensed insurance companies and their authorized agents.

The Commissioner urged individuals solicited for insurance solely by mail to contact his office or the established local insurance agent in their community for information on the status of any insurance organization. While most insurance companies and agents use mail advertising to an extent, Commissioner Navarre cautioned against mail order proposals which fail to designate the name and address of a licensed Michigan agent.

W. O. Hildebrand, manager of the Agents' association, sounded an additional warning to purchasers of automobile insurance in unlicensed companies. Such contracts are not acceptable to the state and therefore fail to satisfy the requirements of Michigan's financial responsibility law.

According to Hildebrand, the present intensive mail campaign by unlicensed organizations involves every kind of insurance; all of which is readily available in licensed companies through well known and capable authorized local agents.

OUTDOOR NOTES

From The MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

A test court case to see who owns what on the Great Lakes bottomlands may develop out of an order issued late last week by the conservation department against a group of firms and individuals placing sheet piling on and filling in submerged lands in Lake St. Clair.

The department order cites Act 171, Public Acts of 1899, which sets aside all submerged Great Lakes' bottomlands as public hunting grounds and makes it an act of trespass against the state to fill in such submerged lands. The waterline fluctuates, of course, in dry or wet periods, but according to an opinion from the attorney general, the state holds in trust all submerged lands regardless of water fluctuation.

If this interpretation is correct, the group of firms and individuals, since they are building on submerged lands, are in violation of the law.

A question on the law was raised recently whether or not the state owned only beyond the low water mark. If such is the case, the public stands to lose a large chunk of its presently-usable recreational lands. Water level fluctuations where water is shallow may involve hundreds of square miles of publicly-owned waterfowl hunting grounds.

The department order requires the firms and individuals to stop placing any more pilings on the submerged lands and to remove all construction within 60 days.

From 75 to 100 fisheries workers from Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin will exchange fish management information at Higgins Lake training school on January 17-18 during the 10th annual Tri-State Fisheries conference.

Representatives from the conservation departments of the three states and from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service are expected to attend.

Seventy-two Michigan counties will receive a total of $389,081 in the next few weeks as tax payments on state-owned lands in each of the counties.

Most of the money will go to upper and northern lower peninsula counties. In addition, an estimated $50,000-60,000 will be distributed to counties in the southern lower peninsula under a somewhat different distribution of tax money.

Luce county will receive the highest tax payment, nearly $28,800 while other upper peninsula counties will get somewhat smaller amounts.

Nearly 10,000 Michigan deer hunters will receive post cards this week asking about their hunting success—or lack of it—during the recent firearm deer season.

Another 500 hunters will receive the final shipment of the cards within a few weeks, to complete statistical requirements of the survey.

The cards are being mailed a month earlier than usual and state conservation workers say that although deer hunters are generally very cooperative, it will be March of April before all cards are returned, and the results analyzed.

The information provides a close estimate of the total kill, distribution of hunting and other basic data used in setting hunting regulations and for other aspects of herd management.

Apply now if you want spring, summer and fall employment as a conservation department forest fire lookout or park ranger.

Applications may be obtained from the state civil service commission or from the conservation department, both in Lansing, and must be filled out and postmarked not later than January 28.

Applicants for the position of park ranger must be at least 18 years of age and must have completed the 8th grade of school. Fire lookout applicants must be 18 and must have graduated from high school. The work is open only for men.

A written test for the work will be given February 12 at several cities in the state. Fire lookouts will be employed from early spring to late fall and rangers from about Memorial Day to Labor Day.

For additional information, write either of the two agencies.

And then—out on the open road—the full proof of Cadillac's greatness will begin to unfold itself! He'll discover it's incredible ease-of steering and handling—so marvelous that the car seems almost to read his mind.

He'll discover its amazing smoothness and levelness of ride—so great that even the road's roughest spots are difficult to perceive.

And he'll discover its marvelous balance on the curves and corners—its incredible quietness of operation—its extraordinary agility in the traffic lanes—and the reassuring action of its big, powerful brakes.

Yes, the evidence will be abundant—and the verdict without question: This is the greatest motor car performance of all time!

If you haven't as yet taken a drive in a 1955 Cadillac, you ought to do so soon.

It's really an education in all the things a motor car should be and do—and we think you owe it to yourself to get the report firsthand.
