City Manager Answers Question

Why Are So Many Streets Still Unpaved in Plymouth?

"Why does Plymouth still have so many punk streets?" That's a blunt question to ask a city official but City Manager Albert Glassford is used to it.

New residents are especially puzzled as to why they must bump along instead of roll along the city's streets when everything else about the city seems so pleasant.

Glassford first points out that city fathers would gladly like to pave every last inch of city streets. One of the most outstanding advocates of getting streets paved is Commissioner Eleanor Hammond.

Complaints about Plymouth's streets have actually fallen off in the past few years ever since the planned street improvement program has gotten underway.

It is apparent that the same thing holds the city up that holds up the individual citizen from getting everything accomplished—lack of money.

The big thorn in the side of the public improvement program was removed in 1951 when the city re-wrote its charter. Until then, there was a law which said that property owners could not be assessed more than 25 per cent of the property's valuation and that all property owners involved in a project should be assessed equally.

In other words, if property owners along a block petitioned to have their street paved and there was a vacant lot in that block, those owning homes would not have to pay any more assessment than the person owning the vacant lot.

This was a fine arrangement for property owners. But the city-at-large, which ended up paying the major portion of the bill, could soon be up to its neck in debt. It was necessary to ask voters to approve bond issues to provide this extra money.

A big bond issue for some $425,000 was on the ballot in 1949 which would have provided for pavement of a major share of the city's streets, but this was defeated.

When the 'new charter was adopted in 1951, the 25 per cent assessment clause was tossed out. Today, the property owner pays for the entire cost of the project (except for intersections) and they can even pay for it on yearly installments.

Bond issues voted by the people are no longer needed to finance these projects. When property owners accept their assessment and agree to pay it either immediately or on time payments, the city can get money to start the project immediately by borrowing money from bonding companies.

Getting home owners to ask for these improvements is not always easy, Glassford explains. With many people living along the city's streets today still paying for their homes, they often prefer not to go into additional debt. It has been the city commission's policy not to force improvement projects on to home owners unless they are considered of public necessity.

Commissioners will approve an improvement if the majority of affected property owners indicate their support. One recent exception was the decision to widen Main street despite the objections of a majority of property owners. Commissioners considered this project of public necessity.

The sidewalk program, for instance, is nearly completed because the city has considered it necessary for sidewalks to be continuous down a street, Glassford stated.

Many of the streets in the south end of the city remain unpaved yet because there is no sanitary sewer system. Some streets in that area, however, are receiving curb and gutter. Those that have paved streets have easements at the rear of the lots where the sewer can be laid later on. It may not be too many years before sewers are laid in the south end, Glassford points out, because talks are now going on with the county.

New Firm Plans Huge Expansion

An amazing expansion program which is taking place almost before the business begins was announced this week by John M. Campbell, president of the newly formed Campbell Distributing corporation of 33825 Plymouth road.

Campbell, who formerly headed one of the largest plumbing contractor firms in Western Wayne county, five weeks ago officially entered the wholesale plumbing, heating and industrial supply business with the opening of his new warehouse and display building which covers some 6000 square feet.

This week he announced a proposed $100,000 expansion plan which will double the floor space and permit the corporation to create one of the finest wholesale distributing houses of its kind.

Having grown in one decade from a plumber with but a single truck to the owner of a contracting firm with the largest fleet of service trucks in this entire area, Campbell stated that he is seeking investors "from the area which has built our business" to finance his latest venture.

Campbell sold his contracting interests last year. He said that the rapid growth of the Livonia-Plymouth area makes expansion of his firm necessary to properly provide service.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Campbell the stockholders of the distributing firm are: Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Grimm, Mr. and Mrs. ... Continued on Page 6

Fire Loss Goes Up In Township

Fire losses in Plymouth township increased from $7,856 in 1953 to $13,735 last year, according to a report made by Fire Chief Bud Holmes to the state fire marshal's office.

Though the loss represents a 14 per cent increase, it still was no higher than the cost of an ordinary home. Township firemen answered 72 alarms during the year, eight more than the previous year.

Most serious of the fires was behind the home of Derwald Jewell on Ann Arbor road. A building which was both a workshop and stable was leveled.

Thirty of the alarms were grass fires; nine were auto fires; 13 dwelling fires and 20 other types. Losses were $130 on dwellings, $6,258 on other types of buildings, $5,560 on contents of buildings and dwellings and $1,790 on other types of losses.

Causes of the fires were: one from matches, one from smoking, 24 from burning rubbish; one bonfire against a building; one defective electrical apparatus; one defective wiring, four defective chimneys, one overheated heating device, one sparks on roof, one sparks on other roof, one lightning, five other causes and 10 unknown causes.

Attorney Conducts Course for Police

Plymouth's 11-man police force is brushing up on the law in a course started Monday night conducted by a local attorney.

Dunbar Davis, who has faced city attorneys in court many times while defending clients, is conducting the course which will be held every other Monday night. He will teach patrolmen about court prosecution, conduct in court and proof of evidence. They also will learn more about Plymouth's ordinances and making arrests.

The course will continue for about eight or 10 weeks. It was started after talks between the city manager, chief of police and municipal judge determined that policemen should know more about where they stand when making an arrest.

Police Department Starts Junior Police Organization for Boys Between 11-17

A constructive program to help curb juvenile delinquency has been started by the Plymouth police department with the organization of a group known as the "American Junior Police Organization of Plymouth."

With 150 boys between the ages of 11 and 17 already showing their interest in the group by attending two preliminary meetings, the police department is now going ahead with plans to form the organization.

Captain Kenneth Fisher and Patrolman Maxwell Allen are in charge of the program. Seventy-five boys turned out for the first meeting held two weeks ago and the number was doubled last week. The meetings were held in the city hall fire station but the turnout nearly overflowed the room.

Encouraged by the growing attendance, the two police advisors said that permission has been given them by the city to use the city-owned building in the Central Parking lot which is going unused. If the program turns into a complete success, they added, the building may be permanently donated for Junior Police activities.

The Junior Police program was originated several years ago in Muskegon and nearly 2,500 boys have enrolled there. Purpose of the corporation of American Junior Police is this: "To promote, through organization and cooperation of other agencies, the opportunity for boys to do things for themselves and others, to train them in sportsmanship, patriotism, courage and self-reliance, using methods now in use by Junior Police, placing emphasis upon good citizenship and fair play."

To achieve the purposes of the club, an extensive recreational program will be established. This will include baseball, football, basketball, cageball, boxing and a Junior Rifle club which will be sponsored by the Plymouth police department.

Last week's meeting featured a movie on safe bicycle operation. Tonight's meeting will have a movie on safe walking and driving.

Captain Fisher and Patrolman Allen said they have gone ahead with plans for a Junior Rifle club and have applied for a charter from the National Rifle Association. Assistance in the form of Continued on Page 6

Chorus Needs Soprano Soloist

Is there a singer in town for the soprano role in the March 6 performance of Brahms' "Requiem"? That's what Fred Nelson, director of the Plymouth Civic chorus, would like to know.

Nelson, who is preparing the group for the spring performance, announced that Nat Sibbold would sing the bass role but that of the soprano had yet to be filled. Also, he said, additional voices for the chorus are always in demand. Anyone wishing to audition for the soprano or choral parts may contact Nelson at the high school.

The Plymouth and Livonia Civic Choruses are joining forces with the Plymouth Symphony orchestra for the presentation of Brahms' famous work on Sunday, March 6. The event will be held at 4 p.m. in the Plymouth high school gymnasium with Emil Raab conducting.

Rehearsing separately, Nelson is preparing the Plymouth group while Donald Robinson directs the chorus in Livonia. Local rehearsals are held each Monday night from 7:30 to 9 in Room 3 of the junior high school.

Dentist Changes Offices

Dr. A. E. VanOrnum, who has practiced general dentistry for the past nine years at 821 Penniman avenue, has opened new offices at 322 South Harvey street. Formerly known as the Balfour Clinic, the new offices have been completely remodeled. The new location will also allow more space to conduct his profession.

March on Polio Set for Tonight

Plymouth area residents will be given an opportunity to continue the assault on the dreaded disease of polio tonight when volunteers from several women's organizations and the Plymouth Hi-Y stage their annual "March On Polio" porch-light drive.

Ninety women have volunteered their services for the evening along with 30 members of the Hi-Y organization. Mrs. Harry Bartel, chairman of the Mother's March, said that the women will go from door-to-door starting at 6:30 p.m. tonight (Thursday).

At the same time, the high school boys' club will attempt to cover the entire township in automobiles.

Canton township is also having a porchlight drive tonight starting at 7 o'clock. The drive will be centered in the McIntyre Manor subdivision, according to Mrs. Betty McDonald, chairman of the affair. She is being assisted by Mrs. Wanda Rea.

General Chairman Walter Goodman said that there is no indication of how well Plymouth

Auto Transport Truck, Two Cars Damaged by Train

The tractor of an automobile transport truck and one of the new cars it was carrying were nearly demolished when the truck was struck by a train early last Thursday morning at the Farmer street crossing. Another of the new cars received less serious damage.

Driver of the truck was Frederick A. Jackson, 28, of 42795 Cherry Hill road. He escaped injury.

Police said that Jackson was driving his truck eastward on Farmer street at 5:20 a.m. and that a train was standing on the southbound track just south of the crossing. As Jackson drove his truck across the track, a northbound train, hidden from his view, struck the truck.

Statements obtained by police from witnesses gave conflicting versions of the mishap. Mrs. Jackson was driving a car ahead of her husband. Both she and her husband said that they stopped their vehicles when approaching the crossing but that a brakeman with a green flare signaled for them to proceed.

Mrs. Jackson said she drove across safely but looked in the rear view mirror and saw her husband's truck struck by the locomotive. Mr. Jackson said he knew something was wrong when Continued on Page 6

Family Concert Slated for Sunday

Ten young violinists will make their debut this Sunday as an added attraction to the annual "Family Concert" to be presented at 4:00 p.m. at the high school gymnasium by the Plymouth Symphony orchestra.

Members of the beginners' string class of Donald Morris, the youngsters will play "The Melody" unaccompanied and then will be joined by the orchestra in the presentation of "Merriely."

The concert itself will have as its theme "Magic in Music." All the selections were chosen by Conductor Emil Raab for their relation in some way to magic. A special script for the presentation was prepared by Nelson and Louise Havenstein and will be narrated by Nat Sibbold.

Selections on Sunday's program are: Oberon Overture by Weber; Waltz from "Sleeping Beauty" by Tchaikovsky; Ronde des Princesses from "Firebird Suite" by Stravinsky; Scherzo and March from "Love of Three Oranges" by Prokofiev; Danse Macabre by Saint-Saens; Sorcerer's Apprentice by Dukas; and John Philip Sousa's "Stars and Stripes."

School Planners Inviting Public

All school-minded citizens interested in the future of the Plymouth township school system are being invited to attend an open meeting of the School Community Planning Group to be held next Wednesday night.

Helping the citizen organization and the board of education look into the future will be Paul M. Reid, planning analyst for the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning commission. He will speak on "Future Growth of this Area."

After completion of the talk, the meeting will be thrown open for discussion of Plymouth school needs for the future. Reid is being brought here by the school organization and plant facilities committee of the Planning Group. Harold Fischer is chairman of the committee. Earl West is chairman of the School Community Planning Group.

The meeting will start at 7:45 p.m. in the junior high school auditorium.

Proceeds for the March of Dimes will be given a boost Saturday at Barney's Plymouth Grill on Starkweather avenue as Proprietor H. Phillip Barney will again turn over the day's coffee money to the local drive. This is an annual habit with Barney and last year grossed nearly $100 for the fight against polio.

area citizens have responded to the drive so far. The March of Dimes drive opened January 1 and will end about February 2 when canisters will be collected from business establishments.

A goal of $6,000 has been set for Plymouth city and township, Goodman states. This is $1,000 more than a year ago.

Goodman said that a check of canisters last week revealed that most of them are not half full. The canisters, in the shape of test tubes, are placed on store counters in order that customers may donate their change to the fight against polio.

Polio cases increased in Plymouth last year. At least seven cases were reported in the vicinity. Donations go to provide the best medical care for these children and adults and at the same time to carry on laboratory tests which may bring an end to the disease.

Officers and directors for the American Cancer Society were elected Monday night with Norman Marquis again named as president. This was the group's first annual meeting.

Also re-elected as officers were Mrs. Austin Stecker as vice-president and Mrs. Harry Bartel, secretary-treasurer.

New members of the 15-member board of directors are Mrs. Edgar Hoenecke, R.N., Reverend Melbourne I. Johnson, Dr. L. J. Sallan, Charles Wise, Mrs. Harry Fountain, R.N., and Melvin Blunk.

Board members retained from last year are Mrs. William Norman, Norman Marquis, Mrs. Bartel, Mrs. Margaret Hough, Mrs. Stecker, Mrs. Gustaf Lundquist, Mrs. Betty Korté, Dr. A. E. Van Ornum, and Dr. R. R. Barber.

Dr. Lee Feldcamp has been appointed as new medical chairman. In other business before the group, a discussion took place about the new service, and information center to be located in the former offices of Dr. Van Ornum at 821 Penniman. The center is scheduled to open on February 1.

Symphony Women Meet

The Women's committee of the Plymouth Symphony Society will meet at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesday, February 1, at the home of Mrs. Gerald Fischer, 396 Arthur.

The meeting is being held to formulate plans for the Spring Ball and the Fashion Show in March.

Garden Club To Sponsor Workshops

The Rosedale Gardens branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden association will sponsor the first workshop on February 8 and 9 in connection with a home-gardening education program initiated by the national organization. The program is not restricted to Farm and Garden branches and will be open to all persons interested in gardening.

National Farm and Garden Workshops are conducted by Dr. H. L. H. Chapman of the Cooperative Extension service of Michigan State college. Each workshop covers a two-day period with both morning and afternoon sessions and includes lectures, demonstrations and plant literature for home reference. There will be no charge for these classes.

Workshop No. 1 on February 8 and 9 is designed to give the fundamentals of gardening problems and interests. It will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the club room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association in Sheldon center, Farmington and Plymouth roads. Those attending are requested to bring their own sandwiches, although coffee will be available at the club room.

The Livonia Home Gardeners and the Livonia Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden association are cooperating with the Rosedale branch to make the program series available to the public.

Toupin-Spinella Rites Read in Wayne Church

At a 10 o'clock ceremony held the morning of November 20 in St. Mary's church, Wayne, Joanne Spinella became the bride of Robert Toupin. Joanne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Spinella, 38317 Ford road, Wayne. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Toupin of 14701 Farmington road in Livonia.

Father Burkholder read the service before an altar decorated with baskets of white chrysanthemums. Marge Thomas sang "Ave Maria" and "Pans Angelis" at the morning service.

Given in marriage by her father, Joanne wore a gown of white tulle and chantilly lace over slipper satin, accented by a queen's collar and fitted bodice with long sleeves pointed at the wrist. The full skirt of the gown terminated in a cathedral train. The bridal veil of imported illusion was held by a lace and beaded coronet. A cascade of white roses was carried by the bride.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Harold Young, a sister of the bridegroom. She wore a gown of gold with velvet bodice and tiered tulle skirt. A jacket of matching shade was also worn.

Bridesmaids were Sharon William and Mrs. Leonard Gardner. Their gowns of starlight blue with matching hats were styled similar to that worn by the matron of honor. All attendants carried bouquets of gold baby mums.

Best man for the occasion was Harold Young. Seating the guests were Arthur Spinella and Gerald Boland.

The bride's mother chose a coronation blue dress with white accessories. A navy blue dress with white accessories was selected by Mrs. Toupin. Both wore corsages of white roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Ford Road hall in Garden City. Attending were 250 guests from Chicago, Detroit, Pennsylvania and local vicinities.

For traveling to Chicago the new Mrs. Toupin chose a suit of charcoal gray with neutral-color accessories.

The couple are residing on Holbrook street in Plymouth.

Belleville Resident Becomes Bride of David C. Wilkin

Baskets of snapdragons and chrysanthemums decorated the Sheldon Methodist church, Wayne, on Saturday, January 8, for the marriage of Beryl Carpenter of Belleville and David C. Wilkin of Plymouth.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Carpenter, 45608 Ecorse road, Belleville. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Columbus Wilkin of 7803 Beck road, Plymouth.

The Reverend George Nevin officiated at the double-ring ceremony held at 7:30 o'clock. Presiding at the organ was Miss Valera Haft of Belleville, a friend of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, Beryl wore a ballerina-length gown of white lace over taffeta. Four large panels of lace extended to the hem line of the full skirt of the gown. A bouquet of roses and stephanotis was carried by the bride.

Maid of honor was Claire Carpenter, sister of the bride. She wore a ballerina-length gown of plum-colored rayon acetate with matching gauntlets, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Assisting David as best man was Dale Wilkin, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Donald F. Carpenter and Lynn L. Carpenter, brothers of the bride.

For the occasion Mrs. Carpenter chose a dress of light blue lace over taffeta with navy accessories. The bridegroom's mother selected a navy blue dress of faille with pink accessories. Both wore corsages of pink roses and carnations.

A reception attended by 200 guests was held following the ceremony. Sherry Brehmer of Wayne, cousin of the bride, presided at the punchbowl while Mary Ellen Klawson of Belleville, a friend of the bride, cut the wedding cake.

Out-of-town guests included those from Belleville, Wayne, Ypsilanti, Onstead, Ceresco, Willis, Plymouth, Battle Creek, Inkster, Romulus, Ann Arbor, Dixboro, Detroit, Manchester and Milan, Michigan.

Mrs. William Bartel will entertain the members of her Thursday evening bridge club this week at her home on Plymouth road.

Theatre Guild Holds Try-Outs Tomorrow Night

Postponed from Monday, the casting night for the Theatre Guild's spring play, "Time Out for Ginger," will be held tomorrow night, January 28, at 8 p.m. in the Veterans Memorial center. Director William Merrill of Will-O-Way Playhouse, Bloomfield Hills, will be on hand to select the cast.

Mrs. Adele Miller, president of the organization, stressed the fact that the try-outs are open to everyone. Parts in the play include those of the mother and father, a maid, high school principal, bank president, three daughters of high school age and two high school boys.

The spring production will be sponsored by the Kiwanis club to raise funds for the support of the Girl Scout Lodge maintained by the organization.

"Time Out for Ginger," written by Ronald Alexander, was produced last spring in Detroit, starring Melvyn Douglas. Released within the last few weeks for production by community theatres, the Guild will be the first little theatre group in Michigan to present the play. Plans are also under way to produce the show at Will-O-Way during the summer season.

Edson L. Higgins

A fatal heart attack which occurred on his birthday, January 21, took the life of Edson L. Higgins, a resident of 20 years in the Plymouth area. Mr. Higgins passed away at his 208 South Main street home, where he had been confined due to his inability to walk.

The son of Scott and Jennie Murphy Higgins, Mr. Higgins was born in Nova Scotia in 1873.

Coming to Plymouth in 1934 from Detroit, Mr. Higgins had been a tool grinder at Dunn Steel Products company until the time of his retirement in June 1954.

He was a member of the Knights of Pythias, Plymouth Lodge No. 238.

Besides his wife, Mary Ellen, one sister survives, Mrs. Maria Brown of Edgewood, Nova Scotia. The Reverend Melbourne I. Johnson officiated at the services held Monday at 9:30 a.m. from the Schrader Funeral home. Pallbearers, all fellow employees at Dunn Steel, were Richard Powell, Peter Yost, Curtis Copeland, John Monteith, George Caldwell and Bert Van Loo.

Interment was made in Oakview cemetery, Royal Oak.

Lyman Farrand

Funeral services were held at the Schrader Funeral home on Monday, January 24, at 1 p.m. for Lyman Farrand, who passed away January 19 in Tarpon Springs, Florida following a long illness.

Mr. Farrand was born July 13, 1875 in Inkster, Michigan, the son of Augustus and Emma Lyons Farrand. A resident of Farmington, Michigan since 1915, Mr. Farrand had retired from the carpentering trade and had resided on Ruth street.

Survivors include his wife, Amelia; three step-children, Gwen Lancaster of Farmington, Irving Lancaster of White Lake, Milford, Michigan and Mrs. Dorothy Willoby, South Haven, Michigan. Four brothers, William, Charles, Robert and Theodore Farrand; and one sister, Anna Wright, preceded him in death.

The Reverend M. I. Johnson officiated at the services Monday. Interment was made in Riverside cemetery.

Mrs. Nettie Blanche Bovee

Funeral services were held last Friday at 1 p.m. for Mrs. Nettie Blanch Bovee, 85, who passed away January 17. Her home was at 36280 East Ann Arbor trail in Newburg.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Bovee worked from 1927 to 1949 at the Women's City club in Detroit.

Born on March 28, 1869, she is survived by two children, Mrs. Bonnell Frazho, who resides at the Ann Arbor trail address, and Howard Bovee, Detroit. Also surviving are two grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

The Fred Wood Funeral home, 8540 Plymouth road, was in charge of funeral arrangements. Interment was in Newburg cemetery.

Otto Herman Roddenberg

Otto Herman Roddenberg passed away at his residence, 30784 Ann Arbor trail, on Thursday, January 20, after an illness of several months.

Mr. Roddenberg was born September 16, 1887 in Germany and had resided and farmed in this area for over 50 years.

He is survived by his wife,

Bertha; three sons, Orville, Melvin and Howard, all of Nankin township; two daughters, Violet and Margaret Roddenberg; both of this area; five grandchildren, three brothers, Paul of Plymouth, William and John of Garden City; two sisters, Mrs. Amanda Linderman of Cass City, Michigan and Mrs. Augusta Stutzman of Garden City.

Mr. Roddenberg rested at the Caldwell Funeral home, 29611 Ford road in Garden City. Services were held Monday, January 24, at 1 p.m. in the Peace Evangelical Lutheran church, Livonia with the Reverend John Westendorf officiating. Interment was made in Riverside cemetery.

The search for truth is still the great goal of mankind, although it appears some people aren't very interested in finding it.

HARDLY NOTICEABLE is the change which is going on in the business of directing funerals. The change has come in the color of the hearse. The Schrader Funeral home of Plymouth purchased a blue one several weeks ago, the first in their half-century history which was not black. Funeral directors can get almost any color hearse they want nowadays.

Committee Discusses Early American Plan

February 17 is the date set by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce Early American committee to meet with a group of merchants and property owners to discuss the possibilities of colonizing their store fronts. The program is part of the Chamber's plan to promote colonization of Plymouth's business district along the lines of the original Plymouth, Massachusetts.

Chairman of the Early American committee is Miss Margaret Dunning. First meeting of the year of the group was held last week at which time members discussed most economic ways of remodeling store fronts along colonial lines and the advantages in appearance and merchandising gained by doing so.

Any businessman contemplating remodeling his place of business was urged by the committee to meet with their group for architectural advice which is offered without charge.

Members of Miss Dunning's committee are: Byron Becker, Charles Finlan, David Mather, Charles Sawyer, Walter Schultz, Bill Sliger and Dr. Ralph Skohe.

If you attempt to see all the pictures and read all the books that reviewers call "musts" you will have to quit work.

Commission, Civic Leaders Hold Meeting

The Plymouth Adult Education and Recreation commission met Wednesday with representatives from local service clubs, the school board and industry.

Guests at the meeting were Jorgen Andraesen of Denmark, a Fulbright student on U. S. Government grant to study adult education programs in this country, and Professor Watson Dickerman, University of Michigan professor in the Community Adult Education department.

At the meeting it was stressed that community organizations help plan and promote the adult education program by reflecting needs of the community and its response to the program.

The Chamber of Commerce currently sponsors classes in business English, security investments and practical speech, courses requested by local industrial leaders.

The Plymouth Woman's club would like to sponsor a course in philosophy of living. If sufficient interest is shown in the subject, arrangements could be made with the Reverend Henry Walch, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, to teach the course.

The adult education program is set up in the interests of the people in the community. Those unable to afford tuition fee for a course are permitted to enroll without charge. Courses in such subjects as citizenship would be given regardless if there were only one enrollee.

Band Carnival Nets Over $900

The Band Parents association cleared over $900 at its Saturday night carnival to raise funds for some 135 new band uniforms. Band Director Laurence Livingston announced today. Goal of the organization is $5000 to finance the project.

Over 1,000 Plymouthites turned out for the event which featured a host of attractions ranging from pancake suppers in the high school auditorium to square dancing in the big gym.

Winner of the clock radio prize awarded during the evening was Kirk Barnes, a student of the seventh grade. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lexie A. Barnes of 1096 Palmer.

To help the drive along, local merchants made the following donations to the carnival: S. S. Kresge company, 350 articles for the fish pond; Fursell Office Supply, tickets for the pancake supper; Jersey-Belle Dairy, orange drink and milk supplied at low cost.

Police Department

guns, ammunition and shooting supplies has been promised by the director of civilian marksmanship in Washington, D. C.

Promotions will be given to Junior Police members through the merit system. For instance, merits will be given for attendance in church, Sunday school, Boy Scouts, Junior Police meetings, catechism, Rifle club and Y.M.C.A.

One of the main drawbacks to club growth at present is the lack of funds, according to the police officers. Several civic and fraternal organizations may lend their support to the group. The Optimist club donated popcorn for the last meeting and the Twin Pines dairy donated orange drink.

City and school officials have already given their wholehearted approval to the club. The organization is open to boys from 11 to 17 regardless of race, creed or color and he does not need to live in the city of Plymouth.

This is the pledge taken by each member:

"I promise and agree as a young man to pledge allegiance to the flag; to be faithful to religious duties of my church; to obey my parents, be courteous to others; to be upright and honest and by my actions endeavor to influence other boys to respect the law."

Fisher and Allen named at least nine items which will be needed to provide activities for club members. These items include ping-pong tables and equipment, basketball equipment, ammunition and gun supplies for the rifle team, uniforms, badges, boxing equipment, refreshments at the meetings, transportation for inter-city competition and educational field trips and operational expenses for club meeting place to carry on the indoor activities.

Auto Transport

he started across when he saw the brakeman run from the tracks.

Lewis Dean, the brakeman, said he was 150 feet north of the crossing and had signaled with his green flare for his train not to go. He told police that he then saw traffic start to cross and attempted to signal for them to stop.

The transport truck did not upset when struck. It was carrying 1955 Dodges.

Why Are So Many Streets

drain commission for a new sewer system.

"What about upkeep of the city's unpaved streets?"

There are many people who would be satisfied without paved streets if only the gravel streets were kept up. But this upkeep is not only difficult — it's also costly, the city manager declared.

Glassford points out that the city grader has been trying to keep up with the work when weather permits but many of the unpaved streets don't have a gravel base — just dirt. It is the improper drainage and the increasing flow of traffic which causes "potholes" in the street. More and more catch basins are being installed each year where possible.

A load of gravel costs about $15, the city manager asserted, but one load doesn't go very far. Three years ago something new was tried — sealcoating. This "tar and chip" composition was applied to many unpaved streets and proved to be quite satisfactory. Its cost is not being assessed to the property owner because it is far from being permanent. But it has at least temporarily eliminated many potholes and the need for oiling the dirt streets.

In the older sections of the city, Glassford states, the storm sewer system is very inadequate. The storm drainage in former years was designed only to take off water from dirt streets. Much more water flows down a sewer on a paved street. This sewer system is now starting to be replaced.

There's another angle to think of when you talk about fixing up all the streets, Glassford said. "You have to be sure you don't get the city too far into debt with bonds." If a city goes into bonded indebtedness five per cent of its valuation, it better watch out, Glassford said. Going into debt 10 per cent is very dangerous. Plymouth's indebtedness is now one and a quarter per cent of its valuation. This will nearly be doubled this year when bonds are sold for reconstruction of Main street.

Since 1950, at least 13 streets have "gotten out of the mud," Glassford points out. They include Auburn, Sunset, Harding, Evergreen, Dunn, Pearl and parts of Arthur, Irvin, Liberty, Jener, Simpson, Dewey and Holbrook.

One recent ordinance which will greatly help the city's proper development in the future is a law concerning construction of new subdivisions. The city manager explains that each new subdivision must have roads with a good gravel base, sidewalks, water and storm and sanitary sewers if an outlet is available.

An outstanding example of this is Garling Subdivision No. 2, east of Mill street, where all improvements, including a paved street, were installed before most of the houses were constructed.

"Paul Bunyan" Dance

The 4-H clubs of Salem township will sponsor a "Paul Bunyan" dance tomorrow night, January 28, at the Salem town hall. Caller for the square dancing will be Frank Gendron, 4-H county agent.

MSC Hotel Seniors Study Mayflower Plan

Seventeen seniors of the Michigan State college school of hotel management last week chose the Mayflower hotel of Plymouth as the site for their class to study hotel operation first hand. With B. R. Proulx, head of the department at the college, they spent last Friday evening as guests of Manager Ralph Lorenz observing food and room service procedure.

WITH PLYMOUTHITES IN THE SERVICE

Brief items of interest about Plymouthites in the services are welcomed in this column, providing the information does not conflict with press security policies.

Roger C. Gault

Army Corporal Roger C. Gault, 21, son of Noble C. Gault, 18475 Floral, Livonia, is participating in "Exercise Snow Bird," a joint Army-Air Force training maneuver, in Alaska.

Airborne units, ground troops and equipment are being tested in the exercise for operation in temperatures as low as 50 degrees below zero.

Corporal Gault, a squad leader in Company A of the 71st Infantry Division's 53d Regiment, entered the Army in September 1953 and arrived in Alaska last July.

He is a 1953 graduate of Grace-land College in Lamoni, Iowa. His wife, Georgia, is with him in Alaska.

Edwin L. Grosjean

Private Edwin L. Grosjean, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Grosjean, 8300 Newburg road, Plymouth, is nearing completion of basic infantry training at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri with a unit of the 6th Armored Division.

After induction into the Army at his home station, Private Grosjean processed through the 5045th ASU Reception Station at Fort Leonard Wood.

In the first eight weeks, he is being taught the basic elements of military life, how to defend himself individually and with a unit, how to live with other soldiers, basic infantry techniques, and other fundamental facts important to his success in the military service.

Upon completion of the eight-week infantry training cycle at the Missouri base he will receive a leave before beginning eight weeks of advance basic training at Fort Devens, Massachusetts with the Army Security Agency Administration.

Frederick Pringle

Airman First Class Frederick Pringle has just completed advanced training at Scott Air Force Base in Illinois as an Air Force Personnel Technician, it was announced today by the base commander, Colonel C. I. Ferris.

Pringle, 3659 Knolson street Plymouth, has returned to his permanent station, March Air Force Base, California, where he will supervise other personnel involved in maintenance of records, testing, interviewing and counseling, management procedures, etc.

Rotarians Hear District Governor

Gordon R. Eaton, governor of the 223rd district of Rotary International, was the guest speaker at the Friday noon luncheon of the Plymouth Rotary club last week. He is making his official visit to each of the 38 Rotary clubs in Ontario and Michigan within the district in connection with the golden anniversary of the organization.

The speaker gave Rotarians a look at their world organization as seen by a district governor. He related his experience of attending the 10-day briefing session for district governors at Lake Placid, New York. Only three governors in the world were unable to attend.

Eaton stressed the efficiency which he found in the Rotary organization. He also pointed out the objectives of Rotary and talked about its advantages, particularly in the educational field.

There are now 396,000 Rotarians in 89 nations, the district governor said. Over 1,500,000 has been given for student fellowships in other countries, one of the methods by which Rotary is able to promote world understanding. There have been 606 fellowships granted in 57 countries.

American Legion News

Local Legionnaires may be interested to know that in the 84th Congress, there are 60 war veterans among the 96 Senators, 59 of whom are members of the American Legion. Of the 434 (one vacancy) House members, 250 are veterans, 236 of whom belong to the Legion.

Imagination will pay dividends in a travelogue contest being conducted by the American Legion Auxiliary as part of its study of the Latin American republics, according to Mrs. Marilyn Moore, local chairman of the Auxiliary's Pan-American Study Committee. In the contest, travelogues of up to 1,000 words are to be written about a trip to the Republic of Panama, but any Auxiliary member who has been to Panama is barred from competition. The trip must be entirely imaginary, with the imagination helped only by study of the country from books and travel pamphlets. Winners in the contest, open only to American Legion Auxiliary members, will be rewarded by state and national prizes. For more detailed information on this, members may contact Mrs. Fern Burleson.

Final examinations in the Civil Defense First Aid class, which has been meeting at the Township hall for the past several weeks, will be held on Monday evening, January 31.

We hope all the comparatively new members of the Post and Auxiliary will remember our Get-Acquainted Social on Saturday evening, January 29, at the Memorial home at 8 p.m. Try to make some arrangements so that you may come, if only for an hour or so that we may get to meet and know all of you better — all of us older members are quite well acquainted with each other. You will all receive notice of this through the mails and through the Auxiliary.

Kent T. Lundgren, state American Legion commander, announced that the Veterans Administration has declared 1955 dividends for holders of NSLI and USGLI insurance policies. Two hundred million dollars will be paid to some five million NSLI holders and $26 million to USGLI holders. Payments will start shortly after the anniversary date of each policy beginning in January, 1955.

Commander Lundgren also wishes to inform all service men and veterans holding either U. S. Savings Bonds or savings through service deposits that they must report interest earnings when filing income tax returns. Regulations permit interest on savings bonds to be reported yearly or when the holder actually paid in cash for total amount of interest earned. On the other hand, interest paid on service deposits is reportable in year actually paid. As a point of information for service men and their families, Commander Lundgren states that reduced furlough rates on the nation's railroads for military personnel traveling in uniform at their own expense have been extended from January 31, 1955 to January 31, 1956.

Canton Township March On Polio Starts Tonight

Canton township's Mother's March on Polio will start promptly at 7 this evening. Plans are to cover the McIntyre Manor subdivision completely as well as most of the surrounding territory. Mrs. Betty McDonald, chairman, and Co-Chairman Mrs. Wanda Sue Rea request all residents to cooperate by turning on their porchlights for the drive volunteers.

Those participating in the Mother's March are: Mrs. Edith Aton, Mrs. Eunice Burks, Mrs. Zada Burke, Mrs. Juanita Pier, Mrs. Mary Aton, Mrs. Annie Lampton, Mrs. Minnie Davis, Mrs. Bertha Bookout, Mrs. Irma Larrick, Mrs. Nina Reeder, Mrs. Ann Markovich, Mrs. Margaret McDowell, Mrs. Ann Ritter; Mrs. Virginia Walbridge, Mrs. Helen King, Mrs. Betty Ferguson, Mrs. Edith Thompson, Mrs. Ruth Caksacker, Mrs. Marie McMullen, Mrs. Deaton Hargrove, Mrs. Mildred Bishop, Mrs. Mamie Provel, Mrs. Marge White, Mrs. Donna Richards, Miss Barbara Richards and Miss Jane Thompson.

Vivians to Hear Talk By Miss Neva Lovewell

"Women in Aviation" will be the subject of a book review given by Miss Neva Lovewell at the Vivians' meeting on Thursday, February 3. Members will gather at 8 p.m. in the Elks temple to hear this topic discussed by the Plymouth high school teacher.

Mrs. Lillian Fulton is in charge of the refreshments for the February meeting.

Postmaster Announces Sale of New Stamp

The new three-cent stamp commemorating the anniversary of Michigan State college and Pennsylvania State university will be placed on sale at the Plymouth post office on February 13. Postmaster George Timpona announced today.

Both Michigan and Pennsylvania State were the first land grant institutions to be founded.

LITTER'S END!

The last of our "puppy dogs" has been sold. The remaining sale merchandise from the SPORTING GOODS DEPARTMENT has been placed on a large table on the main floor to add to the organized confusion of DOG DAYS, Thursday, Friday & Saturday. The Sporting Goods department will be open for regular business. DAVIS & LENT, 336 S. Main st., Plymouth.

Who's New in Plymouth

POSING FOR A FAMILY picture in the living room of their 1180 Carol street home are Mr. and Mrs. O. Dwaine Shupp and 20-month-old Michael. Originally from Iowa, the newcomers came to Plymouth from Lansing on November 8, where Shupp was affiliated with the S. S. Kresge company. At present he is assistant manager of the company's store in Plymouth.

Plymouth Area Women Participate in Concert

Two residents of the Plymouth area will participate in the opening concert of the Detroit Women's Symphony orchestra's 1954-1955 season tomorrow evening. They are Mrs. Herbert E. Woolweaver of 11015 Auburndale, Livonia, a member of the cello section; and first flute player, Mrs. John Oestrike, 11421 Inkster.

The concert will be held in the auditorium of the Detroit Institute of Arts at 8:30 p.m. Featured artist at this first concert will be Hungarian-born pianist, Gizi Szanto.

Miss Szanto started piano study at six and was playing in public at the age of nine. As a child prodigy she came to the United States in 1921. Well known in Detroit music circles both as a concert artist and as a teacher of piano, she is currently head of the piano department of the Detroit Conservatory of Music.

At the debut of The Detroit Women's Symphony Orchestra on May 7, 1948, Miss Szanto was soloist and she is thus making her second appearance with the group as guest artist. At the forthcoming concert on January 28, she will play the Mozart D Minor Concerto.

In addition to the Mozart Concerto, the program on January 28 will also feature Haydn's "Symphony in G Major," "Capriol Suite for Strings" by Warlock, MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose," and "Scherzo from Symphony No. 2" by Schumann.

Now in its eighth season, the Detroit Women's Symphony orchestra is sponsored by the Tuesday Musicales of Detroit, one of Michigan's pioneer musicale groups, and by other organizations and individuals. The orchestra is composed entirely of women and specializes in "little symphony" type music. Victor Kojar, internationally-known conductor, composer and teacher, has served as conductor of the orchestra throughout its existence.

The second concert of the season on Friday evening, April 29, at the Detroit Institute of Arts will feature Virginia Person, soprano, and Thomas W. Cole, tenor, as joint guest artists.

SOCIAL NOTES

The Misses Nancy Brannon, Barbara Noe and Frank Beach of Plymouth, with members of the Ann Arbor Ski club, spent the weekend at Cadillac enjoying the winter sports.

Mrs. Bev Smith returned to her home in Palm Beach, Florida, Sunday, after spending 10 days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Johnson of Marlowe avenue. She was accompanied by Win Schrader, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schrader, who will visit with his grandmother, Mrs. Maud Schrader, in West Palm Beach.

On Thursday of last week, Mrs. Frazer Carmichael entertained the members of her bridge club at her home on Blunk street, following dinner at the Mayflower Hotel.

Mrs. Kot, den mother of Cub Scout Pack 743, Den 1, took the members of her troop to the Evans Products plant on Tuesday, January 18, where they visited the bicycle assembly line.

Veterans of Foreign Wars

Our Auxiliary would like to thank Helen Bowring and Betty Marquis and all the girls who helped on the Daisy Credit Union dinner which was held on Wednesday, January 26. The dinner was a huge success and the guests spent an enjoyable evening. This is the second dinner the Auxiliary girls have prepared and served for the Daisy employees.

This week is National Veterans of Foreign Wars Week! National President Agnes S. Holz is requesting that all Auxiliaries join in the observance of V.F.W. week, January 23 through 29. This is the week in which we are to devote ourselves exclusively to the job of telling the world about the Veterans of Foreign Wars! There are a number of public-spirited citizens as well as eligible veterans who know very little about the accomplishments of our organization. Every Post and Auxiliary member is asked to do their part in the observance of this week!

Our Get-Well wishes to Rosemary Lyke who is reported to be ill. Hope to see you at our meetings very soon, Rosemary!

The Mothers March on Polio will take place this evening, Thursday, January 27. Arrangements are in charge of Chairman Virginia Bartel and Geraldine Olson. However, without the help of all our members and also the members of other organizations and the many local citizens, the Mothers March could never be a profitable one. Our efforts are well rewarded when we read and hear just what is accomplished through the March of Dimes program!

Don't forget the Post's Dedication program on Sunday, February 20. This is the dedication of the new Post Hall which we are very proud to show to the public. The Post members have worked hard for this occasion and feel that this Post Memorial hall is something everyone will be interested in seeing. Every member is urged to call John Schwartz if you wish your name to appear on the Booster page of the Dedication Yearbook.

Don't forget our next regular business meeting, Tuesday, February 1. We need your attendance for a successful auxiliary!

You can travel a thousand miles and you won't find any better people than those living around you right now.

CLOTHING FROM PLYMOUTH is being distributed above by Army Corporal Joseph Tate to children of the Puchon orphanage in Korea. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kowalcik of North Main street. Plymouth's First Baptist church and Michigan Bell's traffic department sent 36 boxes of clothing in answer to Tate's request for Christmas gifts for the Korean orphans.

A very successful Annual Parish Meeting was held last Saturday evening at St. John's Episcopal Church with a fine representation of the parishioners present. The meeting was presided by a fine potluck supper which was planned by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Henderson. One important order of business was the election of five new Vestrymen to replace the following vestrymen who retired at this time: Messrs. LeRoy Hull, Harry J. Christensen, James E. Hardimon, Kenneth L. Hulsing and Robert D. Willoughby. The newly elected Vestrymen are: Messrs. J. W. Cheatham, Dr. John Vos, William Scott, William Boon and Douglas Berry. The reports presented real progress both from the standpoint of membership and financial support during the past year; also real progress has been made in the Building Fund of the church.

Divine Love's inexhaustible supply of good for man will be brought out in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Love" at Christian Science services Sunday.

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (494:10):

"Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need. It is not well to imagine that Jesus demonstrated the divine power to heal only for a select number or for a limited period of time, since to all mankind and in every hour, divine Love supplies all good."

Among the passages to be read from the Bible is the following from Psalms (103:2-4): "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases; Who redeemeth thy life from destruction; who crowneth thee with loving kindness and tender mercies."

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Brownie Troop 9 has been having a very active program starting with a Dad and Daughter Date Night at the Veterans Memorial building. A pot-luck dinner was served to 34 by committee mothers assisted by students from the high school home economics department. The tables were decorated with candleholders made by the Brownies. The troop with its leaders, Mrs. William Lyons, Mrs. Charles Ketterer, Mrs. John Sandman and Mrs. William Fehlig, were guests of the troop's sponsor, the Plymouth Lions club, for dessert at the Mayflower hotel. A brief program was given by the Brownies explaining the Girl Scout program. William Fehlig presented the troop with an American flag, a gift from the Lions club. At their last regular meeting the Brownies packed a box for the Holy Childhood school, an Indian school at Harbor Springs, Michigan. They took the package to the post office, where as guests of Postmaster George Timpona, they saw their gift box weighed and processed through the local office and on its way.

Susan Tichy reports that Mrs. Edward Ayres has been helping the Scouts in Troop 6 with their first aid requirements for the second class badge. Mrs. Woodrow Tichy and Mrs. Robert Barbour are the leaders.

Brownies of Troop 10 had their regular meeting and dinner at the Kiwanis-Girl Scout Lodge on Wednesday, January 19. They were accompanied by their leaders, Mrs. Al McClow and Mrs. H. C. Burley.

Lynn Marzoff states that Troop 18 wishes to thank their sponsors, the Episcopal Church, for the Christmas gifts. Frances Rudick was elected president of the troop at the last regular meeting. Mrs. Thomas Adams and Mrs. Wayne Marzoff are the leaders.

The troop recently visited the local Michigan Bell telephone office. Mrs. Bush of that office took the members where they could watch operators plating calls. Transportation for the trip was provided by Mrs. Micol and Mrs. Mynatt.

Troop 22 under the leadership of Mrs. Hugo Russell has been working on a sewing project. They recently completed draw-string purses and did some sequin and rhinestone embroidery. They are presently engaged in making Valentine gifts for their mothers.

Troop 19 is very pleased to have received an American flag from the V.F.W. Auxiliary. They are doing work on a Troop Dramatics badge to be followed by one on good grooming. The troop plans to attend the ice show at Olympia on February 12. Mrs. Thomas Thorpe and Mrs. Eldridge Raven are the leaders.

Junior high Scouts in Troop 14, under the leadership of Mrs. Carl Wall, enjoyed a visit from Ralph Seyfried of Seyfried Jewellers, at a recent meeting. Mr. Seyfried gave a most interesting talk on silver and silver plate as well as gold and diamonds. He told the Scouts the difference in china and pottery and showed many lovely samples. At the Jan-

Local Churches Plan For World Day of Prayer

Plans are in motion by local churches for observance of World Day of Prayer on Friday, February 25. Arrangements have been made to hold the services this year at the Church of the Nazarene, 4155 East Ann Arbor trail, at 1:30 p.m.

The annual event is being marked by special services in churches throughout the nation and world on February 25.

A Layman Says...

THEY TESTIMONIES ARE WONDERFUL. THEREFORE DOTH MY SOUL KEEP THEM." Psalm 119:129.

The Holy Bible is the most wonderful of all books. The writings of man are being discarded by the train load as each succeeding generation disproves much that has been penned, and discounts more. Very little that man writes is long remembered. Not so with the Bible. It continues to be the world's best seller year after year. Translated in parts into over one thousand languages and dialects, its pages have girdled the globe and invaded every zone and clime. It has challenged sinners of every race and has led to the conversion of multitudes. As the wonders of a gem is revealed by gazing at it, so the wonders of the Scriptures become apparent to those who search their pages.

Its light, descending from above.
Our gloomy world to cheer,
Displays a Saviour's boundless love,
And brings His glories near.

The world's largest known animal—bigger than the biggest of the extinct dinosaurs—is the blue whale, sometimes 100 feet long. Smallest is a one-celled animal called Oicomonas, found in fresh water and salt, about 1/500th of an inch long.

SPORTS FLASHES

The Sporting News by J. G. Taylor Spaul

Robin Freeman, who has taken over where Bobo, Cassidy & Co. left off with Ohio state sport fans, is packing them into the ancient, drafty Fairgrounds Coliseum at Columbus by the thousands every time the Bucks play at home.

He's a 20-year-old junior from Cincinnati, and the shy, scholarly (3.2 average) has patented a shot that former Buckeye All-American Jimmy Hull describes as "the greatest I've ever seen."

In the endless practice sessions he developed the shot that has all the collegiate cage people who have seen him talking in admiration.

"I guess I got the idea by watching Paul Arizin when he played with the All-Stars against the Globetrotters in the Cincinnati Gardens in 1950," Freeman confided to The Sporting News.

This an' That

The first light heavyweight championship fight was held on April 22, 1903, when Jack Root outpointed Kid McCoy at Detroit. . . . Chas. Lea, winner of the 1953 Santa Anita Derby, earned $146,625 during his career. . . . The Wimbledon Tennis championships, largest of the world's leading tournaments, made a net profit of about $272,000 in 1954. . . . Michigan State halfback Glen Burgett can claim to be a real Spartan. He kills from Sparta, Michigan. . . . A 25 1/2 pound salmon won a fishing derby in Eureka, California. It was caught by J. E. Ron Roberts

Freeman isn't eloquent in describing the shot himself. Let's listen to how Dr. Hull, a Freeman fan and Ohio State All-American in 1936, sees the court caper.

"He goes up in the air, controlling the ball with two hands, then flips it with one hand in a wrist action that has almost unbelievable accuracy. . . . Part of it is perfect muscular co-ordination, but one of the big things is peripheral vision second only to that possessed by Otto Graham, in my opinion," Dr. Hull explains.

Ed Hickey of St. Louis University inferred that Freeman was a better basketball player than Paul Ebert, last year's Buck cage star, after the Ohioans had upset the Billikens, 91 to 86. Freeman poured through 37 points that night to run his three-game total to 117 and please the 8,223 fans who filled the Coliseum.

Hickey says Ebert was a great shot, but could be stopped, and added that Freeman has more shooting ability, moves around the court better, and has the ability to pass off well when bottled by a two-man offense.

Alumni To Honor Championship Football Squad

Plymouth's championship football squad will be honored next Monday night by members of the Plymouth Athletic Alumni association and other team boosters with a dinner in the high school auditorium.

Several prominent sports figures will be among the guests. Don Lund, former Tiger outfielder and now a scout in the Tiger farm system, will be the toastmaster.

A spaghetti dinner will be served starting at 6:30 p.m. Tickets have been limited to 150, according to Bob Champe, secretary of the association. Dave Gates is president of the group.

Also attending the dinner will be Bob Neiman, who was also a favorite on the Tiger roster. Lund played football, baseball and basketball while at the University of Michigan.

One of the highlights of the program will be the showing of the Michigan State College Rose Bowl film. The film shows M. S. C.'s defeat of U. C. L. A. Special awards will also be made to some of the 1954 Plymouth high school squad. The team won its third straight 6-B League championship last fall.

Hopper Leads Juniors To 29-15 Victory

Hitting for eight points in each of the first three quarters and adding five more in the final stanza, Plymouth's junior high bucket squad capped its third win in a quintet of starts by dumping Belleville's littlest Tigers 29-15 Friday on Plymouth's court in a game that preceded the frosh tilt between teams from the same two schools.

Myron Hopper put on a one man show by hitting for fifteen points of his own to equal the total of the entire Belleville team. Hopper has been the Junior Highers' big gun all season but this was his top point total to date.

The visiting seventh and eighth graders were close in only the first quarter, when they trailed by two, 8-6. Plymouth then proceeded to put the game out of reach when they took a 16-8 halftime lead and stretched the advantage to 24-12 at the three-quarter mark, before letting down from their eight point rut to score five and end the game at its final 29-15 score.

Following Hopper in the scoring, Lon Hadwin and Jim Urquhart contributed five points apiece to the Plymouth total. The best Belleville could get in the way of scoring was a pair of four-point efforts from Hedrickson and Pitcher.

Today Coach Gus Gorguz takes his lads to Bentley in search of their fourth win as opposed to two losses and the second victory over Bentley's junior high. Bentley fell by a 34-18 score when they met the first time.

Allen School Leads Elementary League

Bird Elementary school is leading the Elementary Basketball league which got underway January 10. The Allen cagers have won both of the two games they have played.

Six games were played up until last Friday. On January 10, Bird school defeated the Our Lady of Good Counsel squad, 17-11. Allen won over Starkweather 17-5 on January 12. The following day, Smith squeaked St. Peter's Lutheran school, 21-3.

On Monday, January 17, Allen downed Bird, 18-11. Starkweather played Smith on January 19 and won 11-1. On January 20, Bird toppled the Lutherans, 20-9.

The standings are:

Allen	2	0
Bird	2	1
Smith	1	1
Starkweather	1	1
Catholic	0	1
Lutheran	0	2

Rocks Keep League Lead; Win 66-43 at Belleville

Polishing off a team that was supposed to be a strong test, Plymouth handed an outclassed Belleville five a 66-43 drubbing to keep its place on top of the 6-B League heap along with Trenton.

Bob Middleton was the biggest reason why the Rocks outscored the Tigers by so great a margin as the big center got hot in the second half to rack up sixteen of the 24 points he dropped through the net in gaining high point honors for the night. Middleton couldn't miss on his jump shots from the pivot and sank six straight shots during one stretch in the third quarter and part of the fourth.

The Rocks traveled to Belleville's little gym last Friday in a three-way tie for first place in league play, needing a win to keep up with Trenton and Bentley. Coach John Sandman's quintet got that win in such an overwhelming fashion that it seems they are ready to take on anybody in the league. Plymouth was handed an unexpected break when the results of the other games showed that previously winless Allen Park upset co-leader Bentley to loosen up the title chase a little bit.

Belleville started out as though they were going to give the Rocks a hard time, matching Plymouth almost point for point in the initial period and trailing by only two, 13-11, at the end of that eight minutes of play. Paced by Middleton's eight points in the second stanza, the Rocks started to show their superiority when they took a respectable 29-18 advantage at halftime.

In the second half it was strictly no contest, with the Sandmann-coached squad pulling away to a 50-23 third quarter lead and finally coasting through the final period to the 66-43 score at the end. In those final two periods Plymouth was alternately hot and cold in hitting on shots from the floor.

Middleton got lots of help in the scoring department from a flock of teammates. Larry Wilhelm followed Bob with ten counters, while Jack Carter had eight, Lee Juve had seven, and Dick Day added six more. However, the biggest basket, in the eyes of the Plymouth fans, was a free throw that was sunk in the dying minutes of the final quarter when the game was already on ice. John Agnew provided the crowd with that thrill when the injury-ridden senior got into a game for the first time this season and sank his only shot, a free throw. Agnew, who was high scorer for the junior varsity in his sophomore year and saw considerable action last season, has been plagued with a knee injury and was unable to compete before this game.

George Thompson popped in seventeen counters in a losing cause. Allen Park's shocking victory over Bentley, by a close 42-40 score, put Plymouth in a first place tie with Trenton, which kept pace by virtue of a 46-35 win at the expense of Redford Union. Bentley now has sole possession of third place with a 3-2 record behind the once-beaten leaders. Belleville is holding down the fourth slot, with Allen Park and Redford Union fighting it out for the dubious honor of the cellar position.

After eight games so far this year, Bob Middleton has dumped in 121 points to lead the Rocks in scoring. Dan Clifford is runner-up to Middleton in point production, accounting for 72. Then comes Dick Day, Lee Juve, Larry Wilhelm and Dick Davidson with 64, 43, 41, and 38, respectively. Middleton's average of 15.1 is also tops among the Rocks.

Rocks Meet Bentley In Tilt Here Tonight

In a game that was moved one day ahead because of the semester ending and no school Friday, tonight Plymouth will try to remain atop the 6-B League standings, but must beat the team that handed them their only loss to date.

The Rocks play host to Bentley, 42-38 winner over Plymouth in the second tilt of the season. Since that defeat Plymouth has won six straight and gained a good spot to shoot for title honors. But to do so they must whip Bentley. In that last game the Rocks blew a nine point lead in the final quarter. Should a repeat performance occur tonight, Plymouth's title hopes would be greatly hampered. The Junior Varsity game starts at 7:00 with the varsity tussle to follow at about 8:00.

Reserve Cagers Keep First Place

Plymouth's potent-scoring junior varsity quintet, which had racked up the astounding total of 140 points in its previous pair of games, kept both a winning and a high-scoring streak going as Coach Bill Harding's Jay Vees trounced Belleville's reserve quintet 58-30, at Belleville last Friday.

The Junior Rocks started out big by pumping 22 points through the hoop in the initial period, while holding their hosts to nine. The Rocks kept right on rolling, too, as they added 18 more in the second quarter and 15 in the third before letting up in the final eight minutes to coast to their fifth win against three defeats.

The Big three for Plymouth was a trio of sophomores — Bob Jenkins, Kenny Calhoun and Jerry King, who accounted for 48 of the 58 points between them. Jenkins turned in the highest scoring feat of any Jay Vee this year when Bob, hitting on shots from all over the court, racked up 21 points. Calhoun, the leading scorer for the season, added 16 more to raise his over-all total to 113, a fourteen point average. Jerry King, the second high season scorer for the junior varsity, supplemented the 48 total with an 11-point effort.

It was probable that Coach Harding's starting quintet could have hit its 70-point average had they stayed in the game, but after the Rocks had built up a 40-19 halftime lead, they coasted and the entire squad saw action. Calhoun and Jenkins netted 12 points each in the first half alone, with King hitting for ten of his total. Tonight the Jay Vees host Bentley's junior varsity in an effort to gain revenge for the 57-36 drubbing the Bulldogs inflicted on them the last time the two teams met.

Two Points Beat Reserve Tankers

The junior varsity swimming squad couldn't win either of the last two relays and, as a result, fell to Birmingham's team by a 43-41 score last Thursday at Birmingham.

The 150-yd. medley relay trio of Jim Cash, George Losse and Gary Strasen lost its event after the team had built up a 34-29 lead. The winner of the meet was still in doubt until Birmingham's 200-yd. freestyle relay team edged out John Vos, Norman Terry, Jim Preston and Dick Anderson. Coach Frank Sullivan's squad took four firsts; Dennis Baker in the 50-yd. freestyle, George Losse in the 100-yd. breaststroke, Jim Archer in the 100-yd. backstroke, and John Walker in the diving.

Other junior varsity tankers who scored were John Vos, third in the 50-yd. freestyle; Henry Mende, third in the 200-yd. freestyle; Jim Cash, third in the backstroke; Strasen and Baker, second and third in the 100-yd. freestyle; Paul Enley, second in the diving; and Ed Stretanski and Dave Zimmer, second and third in the 150-yd. individual medley.

Up until 1845, six nations claimed all or part of the present area of Kansas. These were Spain, France, England, the United States, Mexico and the Republic of Texas.

OWNER OF MICHIGAN'S champion two-year-old trotter, Belle Two, is Mrs. Pearl Hunt Steward, 9440 McClumpha, shown above with the trophy she received last week in Detroit from the Michigan Harness Horse association. Raised in Plymouth and trained at Northville Downs, Belle Two won the most trotting races in Michigan during 1954. His time is 2:14.2.

Frosh Bucketees Find Tough Sledding, 40-31

Plymouth's frosh basketball team continued on its losing way by dropping the fourth of five tilts this season. Belleville was the victor this time, as the Tiger Freshmen racked up a 40-31 win at the expense of Coach Charlie Ketterer's ninth graders on Plymouth's court Friday.

Plymouth made a belated bid for victory in the fourth quarter when the Rock frosh hit for 12 counters, but the game was already out of reach. Belleville started out by taking the lead in the opening minutes of the game and never relinquished the lead through the rest of the contest. The visitors jumped to a 10-7 first quarter lead, but were played to a standstill in the following eight minutes, leading by a 17-13 margin at halftime. In the third stanza Plymouth lost the game when the Tigers cut loose to notch up 17 more points to add to its intermission total, while holding the young Rocks to a mere six. That gave Belleville a 34-19 lead going into the final period and that was an advantage that withstood Plymouth's futile attack in the closing minutes.

Snodgrass of Belleville was high point man for the game on the strength of the thirteen counters he poured through the basket. Dave Walasky hit for nine scores to pace the frosh and Wayne Jordahl chipped in with six more to keep Plymouth close. Because there is no school Friday the frosh travel to Bentley today for a return encounter with the Bulldog ninth graders. Plymouth suffered a 34-29 defeat when these two teams met last time.

Watching TV Director Can Be Exciting Evening

By James Sponseller

It would be unwise for an avid hockey fan to tag along to the Olympia Arena to see a match with Mort Walton, 315 North Mill street. The fan is liable to get so wrapped up in watching Mort at work that he would miss the game.

As director of all remote telecasts for WXYZ-TV, it's Mort's job to see that the televised portion of the matches gets back to the WXYZ studios, and watching the Plymouthite at work can be as exciting as the match itself.

Directing the televising of hockey games over channel 7 is one of the more routine jobs for Mort. His out-of-the-studio telecasts take him to hot rod speedways, golf tournaments, boxing matches, the state fairgrounds, bowling alleys and many other special events.

I followed Mort around Olympia a week ago when the Red Wings defeated the New York Rangers, 3-0. Although the televised third period does not go on the air until 10 p.m., we left Plymouth three hours earlier and arrived at Olympia well before game time.

Three TV cameras have already been set up overlooking the ice and a half ton of other equipment is being readied in a part-time dressing room some 30 feet from the arena proper.

The press box is our first stop. Two cameras operate from this position side-by-side. Each camera has three lenses that are quickly interchanged by turning a crank on the back of the camera. One lens gives a wide-angle view of the arena, another gives a much closer view and the third gives a telephoto view. When the lenses are changed, the cameraman must quickly turn another handle on the side of the camera which places the picture in focus.

The ice, I learn, has a green tint in order to lessen the picture contrast for benefit of the television audience.

"Anybody have a script?" Mort inquires as we sit down beside the cameras to watch the start of the game. No one has seen a script yet. "Probably Bud has it," Mort says in an unconcerned voice. Bud Lynch, well-known Detroit sportscaster, has not yet arrived as the game begins but it doesn't make much difference. Statistician Frank Gallagher is busy keeping an accurate account of the game.

Milling about the press box is Fred Huber, public relations man for the Red Wings who usually appears on each telecast to explain rules of the game to inquiring viewers. (On TV, Huber appears to be of slight build but he actually towers above my six-foot-one height.)

Bud finally arrives bearing the script. The script, I find, is not too important on this kind of program. It tells Bud what to say as a cue to start the beer advertisement. He then reads a few lines about the product while a picture of the foaming brew is taken at the studio in the Maccabee building.

Two cameramen make their appearance and sit down to enjoy the game. Also arriving is Harry Elton who carries the title of floor manager. Now there are two stagehands joining the growing crowd. It's their job to move all equipment.

They also set up the "studio" from which Huber does his stint. This studio is actually a stage set containing two walls which are erected in a small corner of the pressbox. One of the two pressbox cameras is carried up a few steps to televise Huber and his guests.

Mort points to a separate little room in the pressbox where two men are at work. "That's the WJBK radio crew describing the game," Mort asserts. "They need one announcer and one engineer here and a few men back at the studio. We have 12 men here at Olympia and another dozen or so at the studio."

In a nutshell, that is the difference between the cost of producing a radio and a television show. It takes four or five times the manpower and a tremendous investment to get a television station rolling. One camera and its monitor, for instance, costs about $25,000, Mort explains.

We now move to a new vantage point for the second period—the organ loft. Camera No. 3 with its high-power telephoto lens shares this small nest above one of the goals with the gaily-painted organ and its veteran organist.

"It takes about an hour for the cameras to get warmed up," the cameraman explains. He is more or less following the game with the camera so that the boys down in the "control room" can see what is going on and at the same time get the picture into adjustment.

"How in the world do you keep track of that puck when you look at that little picture?" I inquired. The picture seen by the cameraman on the back of the camera is about three by four inches.

"Well, there's lots of times we lose it," the cameraman admits. "The boys in the pressbox look over the top of their cameras 50 per cent of the game." It is estimated that a puck travels up to 120 miles per hour, making hockey the toughest of all remote assignments, according to Mort.

"It's time to go to work," Mort motions to me as he looks at his watch. We descend from the organ loft and go downstairs to the room where monitors and other complicated looking pieces of equipment are set up in a rack. In a few weeks this same space room will be used for a dressing room for Barbara Ann Scott of the Hollywood Ice Revue.

I am introduced to the technical director, video operator and audio (sound) operator who are making last-minute adjustments of the maze of dials and switches.

Five television screens glare in the semi-darkness—three of which are monitors showing what each camera is seeing, one which shows the picture being sent back to the studio and another a standard television set to make sure the station itself is not having technical difficulties.

On most remote telecasts, this equipment is placed in a truck stationed outside the building and the picture is beamed back to the studio through the air. But the telephone company has now laid coaxial cables to many public buildings and auditoriums in Detroit, making it possible to bring the equipment inside.

"We once figured there are 400 tubes in this equipment," Mort declares. "When we're in the truck they make enough heat to keep the place warm in the winter."

But now it is nearing time to go on the air. Each man slips on a headphone similar to that used by telephone operators. This includes each cameraman and the floor manager who sits beside the announcer.

Mort takes his place behind the technicians at a little desk on which is an inter-communications speaker. This speaker is used to talk with Lyle Rees, the studio director.

Usually, Fred Huber gets his question and answer period on before play begins, but the game moved along swiftly tonight and Mort decides hurriedly that there is not enough time. He tells the floor manager to tell Bud Lynch to talk a little longer than usual before game time.

"One minute to straight up," Mort informs his crew over the communications system. At 10 o'clock a filmed fanfare opens the show from the studio to announce the hockey game and to give a brief commercial. Mort decides on camera No. 1 for the lead-off shot of the ice, so he tells the technical director to "take 1."

The technical director has three talented fingers. He keeps them on buttons numbered 1, 2 and 3, one for each camera. He must push one of the three at the instant of Mort's command. Now the commercial is over and the studio switches to the Olympia line.

As camera No. 1 televises the ice, No. 2 is already trained on Bud Lynch who a few seconds later is in the picture giving a resume of the first two periods. Someone holds an ordinary floodlight on Bud while he is being televised.

"Ready for No. 7," comes a voice from the studio. They are referring to commercial No. 7 which they want to get on before the period starts. Mort informs the floor manager in the pressbox that No. 7 commercial is coming up. The floor manager holds up a card with this information so that Bud can read it. Bud finishes his talk about the game, giving a pre-arranged cue like "And now folks," and a film in the studio is started concerning the beer while Bud narrates. Sometimes a studio announcer does the commercials, technical difficulties.

Now the game begins and the cameramen aim their lenses at the puck.

It takes a man of quick decision to call the shots. Mort follows the play on all three camera monitors and the master monitor. His commands come every 15 seconds or less: "Take one . . . ready two . . . take two . . . take three . . . take one . . . still on one . . . ready two . . . take two . . ."

The change-over from one camera to another is instantaneous. When the technician pushes button 1, it automatically ejects button 2 so that there is no possibility of a double image.

Calmly and softly, Mort talks to his crew and sometimes throws in little quips. He and the studio director have a commercial ready after the next whistle for an infraction, but the referee doesn't tell the nature of the infraction immediately, so the commercial is delayed. "Already got the beer poured boys?" Mort inquires of the studio. He even makes a few comments about the game itself when some exciting shots are made by players.

The Red Wings score twice in the first few minutes of the final period. "They've been waiting for television," Technical Director Paul Jantke informs his fellow workers over their phones.

Mort is liberal with his compliments when one of his cameramen gets a good shot. Words like "Nice shot, Danny," or "that-a-boy," keeps the crew happily at work.

The crew is especially happy tonight with the performance of the station's new "electronic wiper." This complicated and expensive device, I learn, is the first one in Detroit. It can take a picture apart, super-impose pictures or put images from several cameras on one final picture.

In 45 minutes the show is wrapped up. "You're program director has been Mort Walton," the audience is informed as Bud Lynch signs off.

This is Mort's only job for the day. It didn't take long for the show but it has taken a keen sense of organizing and hundreds of decisions. By 11:30 we are back in Plymouth.

Mort, who has all the composure and much of the appearance of Edward R. Murrow, has spent much of his life looking at pictures. He worked several years in Astoria, Long Island making feature movies, even before the days of sound. He also was a photographer for the Associated Press and for the Detroit Free Press immediately before entering the young television industry.

"I sometimes wonder myself how we manage to get a program on the air," Mort observed as he looked back on the complicated job of getting a picture and sound to millions of homes.

It's men like Mort Walton, of course, whose ingenuity is making television one of the biggest businesses in the nation.

MACCABEE NEWS . . .

Ladies, don't forget the pot-luck supper Wednesday evening, February 2, at 6:30 p.m. Let's have a good turn out. Entertainment is planned to follow the business meeting.

We had a good number out at our last meeting for installation of officers. Refreshments and entertainment followed, and all had a good time. District Manager Pearl Callan did a fine job of installing the officers for the ensuing year, and thanks to Carrie Gladstone for acting as Supreme Mistress of Arms.

U of M Glee Club Presents Concert This Weekend

The University of Michigan Alumni club of Northville will sponsor a concert by the U of M Men's Glee club this Saturday evening, January 29, at the Northville Community building. The event will start at 8:30 p.m.

Program selections include: "Laudes Atque Carmina," "Now Thank We All Our God," "Hymn to the Eternal," "Good Fellows, Be Merry," "The Day Isn't Long Enough," "Where did Robinson Crusoe Go with Friday on Saturday Night?" "The Vagabond," "In the Silence of Night," "Is Mr. Team Ploughing?", "My Good Old Man," "Pirate Song," "Blow, Gabriel, Blow."

Following intermission songs of Broadway will be heard. Selections are: "It's a Grand Night for Singing," "I'm Falling in Love with Someone," "If There Is Someone Lovelier Than You," "Who," "All The Things You Are," "I Know That You Know," "Good Night, Sweetheart," "Some Enchanted Evening," "I Got Rhythm."

Other Glee club renditions will be "They Go Wild Over Me," and the quartette from "Rigoletto." College songs from Amherst, Army, Georgia Tech, Columbia and a Michigan medley will also be heard.

Mount Whitney, the topmost peak in the Sierra Nevada range is highest in the United States—14,495 feet.

For the big story on Mercury power—

let's begin at the end

NEW 1955 MERCURY MONTCLAIR AND MONTEREY—FIRST CARS IN THEIR PRICE CLASS WITH DUAL EXHAUST AS STANDARD EQUIPMENT

What turns Mercury's high horsepower into brilliant performance? To begin at the end of the car—the new dual-exhaust system that's built right into the massive rear bumper assembly. Dual-exhaust performance is something you found as standard equipment only on the most expensive cars—up to now. But now it's yours at no extra cost on every Mercury Montclair and Monterey.

This dual exhaust—plus new developments in Mercury's vacuum-controlled 4-barrel carburetor—helps set new performance standards with the new 198-hp and 188-hp SUPER-TORQUE V-8 engines. And to let you use that power with greater safety—there are further improvements in Mercury's ball-joint front suspension, for even easier, steadier turning and cornering, even greater road stability.

At hundreds of Mercury showrooms all over the country, public enthusiasm for Mercury power is matched by admiration for Mercury's all-new styling for 1955. With entirely new bodies on a new chassis—Mercury is lower, longer and wider. Mercury's clean, classic lines make it a car that will look new for years to come. Come in and get the full story—at our showroom now!

Rosedale Gardens

Mrs. Joseph R. Talbot, Jr. Phone Liv. 3193

It gives one a sense of belonging to a neighborhood when one moves into a new house and a few days later receives a visitor who presents them with a little gift and information on churches, clubs, schools, stores, etc. Mrs. Paul Harsha of 32410 West Chicago is very busy these days calling on the new residents of Rosedale Gardens and vicinity. Mrs. Harsha is the Welcome Wagon representative for this area. She also informed us that she tries to call on people celebrating 50th wedding anniversaries, births, weddings, 16th birthdays, etc. and presents them with a gift. These gifts are donations from the merchants in the city and it gives you a nice warm feeling to know someone is interested in making your celebration a happy one.

The Rosedale Gardens Womens club held their meeting in the clubhouse on Thursday, January 20, and everyone had a wonderful time. The committee planned a surprise party and why is it that when you are playing a game, to think of proverbs or the name of a character in a book, your mind goes completely blank? After the party you can think of a million. A few of our more intelligent members did manage to go home with prizes and we all enjoyed the cake and coffee served by Dorothy Day, Virginia McDevitt, and Irene Koteles. Special mention should be given to the entertainment committee, Phyllis Anschuetz, Mae Blankenhagen, Eleanor Ctrle, Eleanor Button, and Coretta Randall, for a job well done.

The Cub Scouts of Troop No. 271, St. Michael's school, held their pack meeting in the school on Friday, January 21. As usual there was a good turnout of parents, brothers and sisters. It was announced that the annual Blue and Gold dinner will be held on February 16, with Mrs. U. S. Vots assuming the chairmanship. We'll give you more of the details later.

Mrs. George Enot of 9816 Cranston entertained her Circle at her home on Tuesday evening, January 18. Among the women who attended were Mrs. Donald Esper, Mrs. Jerome Livornois, Mrs. Eugene Goupie, Mrs. Ferd Bourgon, Mrs. Carl Rosati, Mrs. Louis Mirjal, Mrs. Lee Bondie, Mrs. H. Taylor and Mrs. Richard Rupp.

Mr. and Mrs. John Maloney of 9840 Ingram entertained Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoffman and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maloney of Detroit on Thursday evening, January 20.

Salem Township

Mrs. Burton Rich, Phone 1942-W1

Mrs. Stanley Hawker and Mrs. William Compton attended the graduation exercises of the Practical Nursing School at the Jones School auditorium in Ann Arbor last Thursday evening. Dr. Frederick House of St. Joseph's hospital was the speaker for the ceremony. A reception for the 30 graduates was held in the library following the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Wheeler of Salem are a little improved from their recent illness. Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Wheeler of Ypsilanti are staying at the Wheeler home.

Deborah Dianne Rich, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth M. Rich of Salem, came home from Nankin hospital in Wayne on Monday of this week. Little Deborah, born November 14, now weighs 4½ pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Taft of Salem returned last weekend from their vacation in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Meridel Gyde of Pinckney spent last Wednesday at the Robert Bulmon home on Pontiac trail.

Jackie Bain, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bender of West Five Mile road, is recuperating from a recent tonsillectomy.

George Roberts of Salem has been ill the past few days.

Mary Louise Rich of Brookville road spent the weekend with Ethel Mae Petersmark in Detroit.

Mrs. Dan Barrett and Elmer King of North Territorial road visited their sister, Mrs. Myrtle Kime, in Detroit Sunday.

Newburg News

Mrs. Emil LaPointe, Phone 55-3

On Sunday, February 6, there will also be baptism and reception of members at the 11 a.m. service. Anyone wishing to receive either of these two sacraments is advised to contact the pastor, the Reverend Richards.

Miss Sandra Detloff, a second grade student at the Stark school, along with her mother, Mrs. Detloff of Standish avenue, Livonia have been enjoying their all-expense paid trip to Jamaica. They were winners in the recent contest sponsored by Sheldon Center merchants. Sandra has been keeping her schoolmates advised as to what a fine time she is having by means of post cards.

The Fellowship class of the Newburg Methodist church is having a pancake supper on Saturday, February 5, from 5 to 7 p.m. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Miss Carmella Ciccirelli and her parents are making an extensive tour of Italy and Carmella has been writing back to her classmates in the third grade at the Stark school to tell them about everything she is seeing. To quote Carmella, "everything is so old-fashioned."

The Kindergarten class of the Patchen school with their teacher, Mrs. M. Batelle, visited the Humane Society in Dixboro, Michigan on Friday, January 21.

Miss Patricia Simon of Joy road, who is a fourth-grade student in the Newburg school, has been confined to her home with chicken pox.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dickie of Ravine drive are pleased to announce the arrival of a new daughter. She was born on Thursday, January 20, at the Florence Crittendon hospital in Detroit.

On Wednesday, January 19, Mrs. William Richmond of Horton avenue, Livonia visited the Stark school. She showed the children of the fifth grade her slides covering the Northeastern states. This is in conjunction with the studies of the class in geography.

Sunday afternoon, January 23, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nida and children, Robert and Gail visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil LaPointe on Joy road.

The Patchen community club of the Patchen school met on Thursday, January 20, at the school with 23 members present. The group played Bunco during the evening and first prize was won by Clara Nesbitt. Second prize was won by Mrs. L. Westlake and Mrs. Arthur Gennis was the recipient of the consolation prize. The mystery prize was won by Bess Green. At the close of the meeting delightful refreshments were served to the group.

The junior group of the Patchen Recreation club was formed on Monday, January 17, at the Civic hall at Newburg and Ford roads. Plans were formulated for future activities and there was also election of officers. President elected was Rosemary Tallman, vice-president, Bill Patton; secretary, Bob Lancaster; and treasurer, Anita Peterson. On Wednesday evening, January 19, the group enjoyed themselves with roller skating at the Riverside Arena.

The Sacred Heart circle of St. Michael's Catholic church held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday, January 20, at the home of Mrs. L. Levandowski on Newburg road. There were six members present: Mrs. T. Levandowski, Mrs. Stanley Belanger, Mrs. Wilford LaBelle, Mrs. E. Fagen, and Mrs. Niel Suddendorf. After their opening study lesson, led by Chairman Mrs. LaBelle, the usual business followed. It was the decision of the group to hold their meeting on the third Wednesday of every month from now on. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Stanley Belanger on Ravine drive on Wednesday, February 16. All ladies in the Joy road-Newburg road area interested in belonging to this circle are cordially invited to attend.

The Boy Scouts of troop 270 of the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian church were privileged to go on another hike with their leaders on Saturday, January 22. Their destination was again a farm out on Joy road where they engaged in several activities concerned with passing tests and just generally having a good time. Boys who attended from the Newburg area were Richard Kennitz and Paul Overmyer from the Thunderbird patrol.

Mrs. Patrick Fegan was hostess for a baby shower honoring her sister-in-law, Mrs. Kenneth Anderson of 824 South Main street, Plymouth. The party was held at the Fegan home, 7955 Newburg road, on January 20. Guests present were from Wayne, Plymouth, Dearborn and Livonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nixon and their children, Carol and David of Wadsworth avenue, Livonia were dinner guests in the home of the Reverend and Mrs. G. M. Jones of Utica, Michigan on Sunday, January 23.

The Bazaar committee of the Newburg Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. Hazen Barringer on Schoolcraft road on Tuesday, January 18. The meeting began at 12 noon with the hostess serving luncheon to the group assembled. They were: Mrs. Paul Nixon, chairman; Mrs. Roy Wheeler, Mrs. William Schmidt, Mrs. Agnes MacIntyre, Mrs. Floyd Mahl, Mrs. Earl Waack, Mrs. Raymond Deja, Mrs. Harold Mackinder and Mrs. Emil LaPointe and daughter, Nan.

The regular monthly meeting of Pack 270 of the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian church was held on Friday, January 21, at the church. The "railroading" theme for the month of January was carried out with clever skits by three dens and attractive displays exhibiting the various phases of railroading were shown by some of the other dens. Den No. 1 received the award pennant for the most original display and Den No. 6 received the attendance pennant for 100 per cent attendance. Bob Wetherholt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wetherholt, received his Webelos award for having completed his cubbing and gone on into the work of the Boy Scouts. Other awards were given to Chris Allworth, Dennis DeCoster, Jim Scofield, Eddie Smith, Ted Peterson and Jerry Heilmann. Announcements made by committee chairman Bill Black told of a forthcoming tour through the Sealtest Dairy in Detroit on Saturday, January 29, and also that during the Christmas season the Pack purchased a phonograph which they gave to the Children's hospital in Farmington, Michigan. The next scheduled event is that of the Blue and Gold banquet to be held sometime in February.

On Tuesday, January 18, in the evening, Richard Kennitz, Paul Overmyer, Arnold Heilmann, Robert Pregitzer, Jr., and Bruce LaPointe, Boy Scouts in the Thunderbird patrol of Scout troop 270 of the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian church along with their patrol father, Emil LaPointe, went to the Henry Ford museum in Greenfield Village, Dearborn to see the "Sports Cars Internationale" on display. The treat was given to the boys for having received second prize in a chariot race at a recent Scout camporee.

The regular monthly meeting of the Stark-Newburg P. T. A. was held at the Newburg school on Tuesday, January 25, at 8 p.m. Program Chairman James Otto presented the program of the evening which included a record by Dr. Spock on "Child Development." Also, Ross Cox, instructor at Wayne university, was present to answer any questions presented by the parents since he has specialized in the field of elementary education. Refreshments were served by the fathers of the organization.

On Sunday, February 6, the Newburg Methodist church will welcome as their organist and choir director, Henry Sill from the University of Michigan who is in his first year of study for the doctorate. Also in conjunction with the Newburg church is the fact that the Junior church and choir is also going again under the able direction of Mrs. Robert Richards. The Junior church goes on during the 11 a.m. service in the hall adjacent to the church.

Local Youngsters Observe Junior Achievement Week

Plymouth's seven Junior Achievement companies will next week celebrate National Junior Achievement Week along with 4,500 other boys and girls from the Southeastern Michigan unit who learn about the American way of doing business by practicing it.

The seven firms operate their business from the 204 South Main street J. A. center which was established in October 1953 when the program was brought to Plymouth. Last year there were six companies, this year there are seven.

Boys and girls alike work hard to make their companies a success. They spend one night a week at the center. It is their job to decide on a product, raise operating capital through the sale of stock, manufacture their product and sell it and at the end of the year, liquidate the firm and pay dividends to their stockholders, if possible.

The Burroughs corporation is responsible for sponsoring three of the firms here this year. They are the J. A. Novel-Ites, makers of T.V. tables; Kustom Kraft, makers of chopping boards; and Tepsi Tra company, makers of a glass carrying tray.

Daisy Manufacturing sponsors the Ply-Hy Products company, maker of a memo-pad and jewelry case; Evans Products sponsors the Home Products company, manufacturers of utility baskets; Barnes-Gibson-Raymond sponsors Wudco Products, makers of a utility stool; and Michigan Bell sponsors Bel Products, makers of a telephone base lamp.

Because of the popularity of the J. A. program, there are always many boys and girls who don't get to join the program. Size of each company must be limited. Present facilities also limit the number of companies which can function during a week's time.

Each sponsoring firm sends three advisors to the center each week. They are experts in sales, management and production. These same sponsoring industries, along with several other business firms, pay the expense of operating the center. Besides usual renting expenses, the center is equipped with "manufacturing" tools such as a circular saw, band saw, sander, drill press and buffer, along with hand tools. Each company has its own cabinet space in which they store their material.

Heading the Plymouth Junior Achievement program since its start has been James Mitchell of Barnes-Gibson-Raymond. A total of 236 J. A. firms operate in the Southeastern Michigan area, the largest in the nation.

Junior Achievement was started in 1919 by Horace A. Moses, chairman of the Strathmore Paper company, together with Theodore Vail, former American Telephone and Telegraph company president, and the late Senator Murray Crane of Massachusetts. J. A. was incorporated on November 29, 1926. The program was introduced in Southeastern Michigan in 1949.

Other firms in this part of the state operate in Detroit, Highland Park, Ferndale, Dearborn, Hamtramck, Ann Arbor, Birmingham, Monroe, Pontiac, Wayne, Wyandotte, Allen Park, Ecorse, Lincoln Park, Melvindale and River Rouge.

Achievement Week Proclaimed

WHEREAS, the economic security of the citizens of Plymouth depends on their ability to successfully operate their business enterprises and maintain consistently high levels of employment; and

WHEREAS, loyalty to the ideal that every law abiding citizen has the right and dignity to set up and own and operate his own business; to employ or be employed without discrimination as to race, color or creed; and

WHEREAS, the appreciation of this ideal, and the understanding of the economic of business life is of vital importance to our youth who are the workers, managers, employers and voters of the future; and

WHEREAS, Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan, Inc., a non-profit organization, fosters these ideals and gives to the youth of Plymouth an understanding of business procedures through its learn-by-doing program;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Mayor of Plymouth, Russell M. Daane under and by virtue of the authority vested in me do hereby designate January 30 through February 5 JUNIOR ACHIEVEMENT WEEK, and do set aside that week as an occasion for recognition of the services rendered to the youth of Plymouth by their volunteer advisers in the Junior Achievement learn-by-doing program.

Two From Local D.A.R. Attend Detroit Meeting

Regent Mrs. Harry Deyo and Mrs. Earl Mastick, registrar, of the local Sarah Ann Codranch chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, attended the recent D. A. R. meeting at the Sheraton-Cadillac hotel in Detroit.

The event was held to formulate plans for the organization's state conference in Detroit on March 28, 29 and 30. In attendance were representatives from the various chapters hosting the state conference.

New Air Force Changes Made

A recent change in requirements has resulted in many openings for aircraft observer flight training according to Staff Sergeant Charles R. Bowman, head of the local Air Force Recruiting Station, at city hall, here.

The Air Force hopes to secure a number of fully qualified observer aviation cadets before the end of February. These men who qualify can expect placement in a flight observer class within the next four months. The observer program includes training in such specialties as navigation, meteorology, electronics, and bombardment.

Observer aviation cadets are given approximately one year of training and upon graduation they will receive commissions as second lieutenants, Sergeant Bowman added. They will then begin a three year tour of active service with pay over $5,000 a year.

Qualified men between the ages of 19 and 28½ who are interested in knowing more about the aviation observer program should contact Sergeant Bowman at the city hall, Plymouth, Monday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

He that hears much and speaks not at all shall be welcome both in bower and hall. —John Ray.

C.D. Medical Director Calls Staff Meeting

Dr. Frederick E. Bentley, medical director of Civil Defense for Plymouth and Plymouth township, has called a meeting of the medical and lay personnel of the Casualty Care Stations in this area, to be held at the Plymouth Township Hall on Thursday, February 3, at 9 p.m.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Dr. Walter Hammond, who will discuss the surgical problems encountered in caring for casualties following a disaster.

Anyone who is interested in serving at any of the three Casualty Care Stations established at the present time is urged to attend this meeting.

Resumes Film Programs

Dunning library will resume its film program starting Wednesday, February 2, to continue through Wednesday, April 6.

Scheduled for the February 2 program will be a showing of the film, "The Golden Twenties."

All programs start at 7 p.m. and are held in the Dunning library.

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

Pineapple Upside Down Cake

The recipe that gets the most votes in the David L. Rieder family is one that Mrs. Rieder has for Pineapple Upside Down cake. Originally from the recipe box of Mrs. Rieder's mother, this delicious and attractive dessert has been a favorite for many years at 494 North Mill, home of the Rieder family.

PINEAPPLE UPSIDE DOWN CAKE

1/3 cup of shortening
1/4 teaspoon of salt
1 teaspoon of vanilla
1/2 cup of sugar
1 egg, unbeaten
1 1/4 cups of sifted flour
1 1/2 teaspoons of baking powder
1/2 cup of pineapple juice

Topping:
1/3 cup of melted margarine
1/2 cup of brown sugar, packed firmly
5 to 7 slices pineapple
maraschino cherries
walnut meats

Combine shortening, salt and vanilla. Add sugar gradually and cream well. Add egg and beat thoroughly. Add baking powder to flour. Then add small amounts of flour to creamed mixture alternately with pineapple juice.

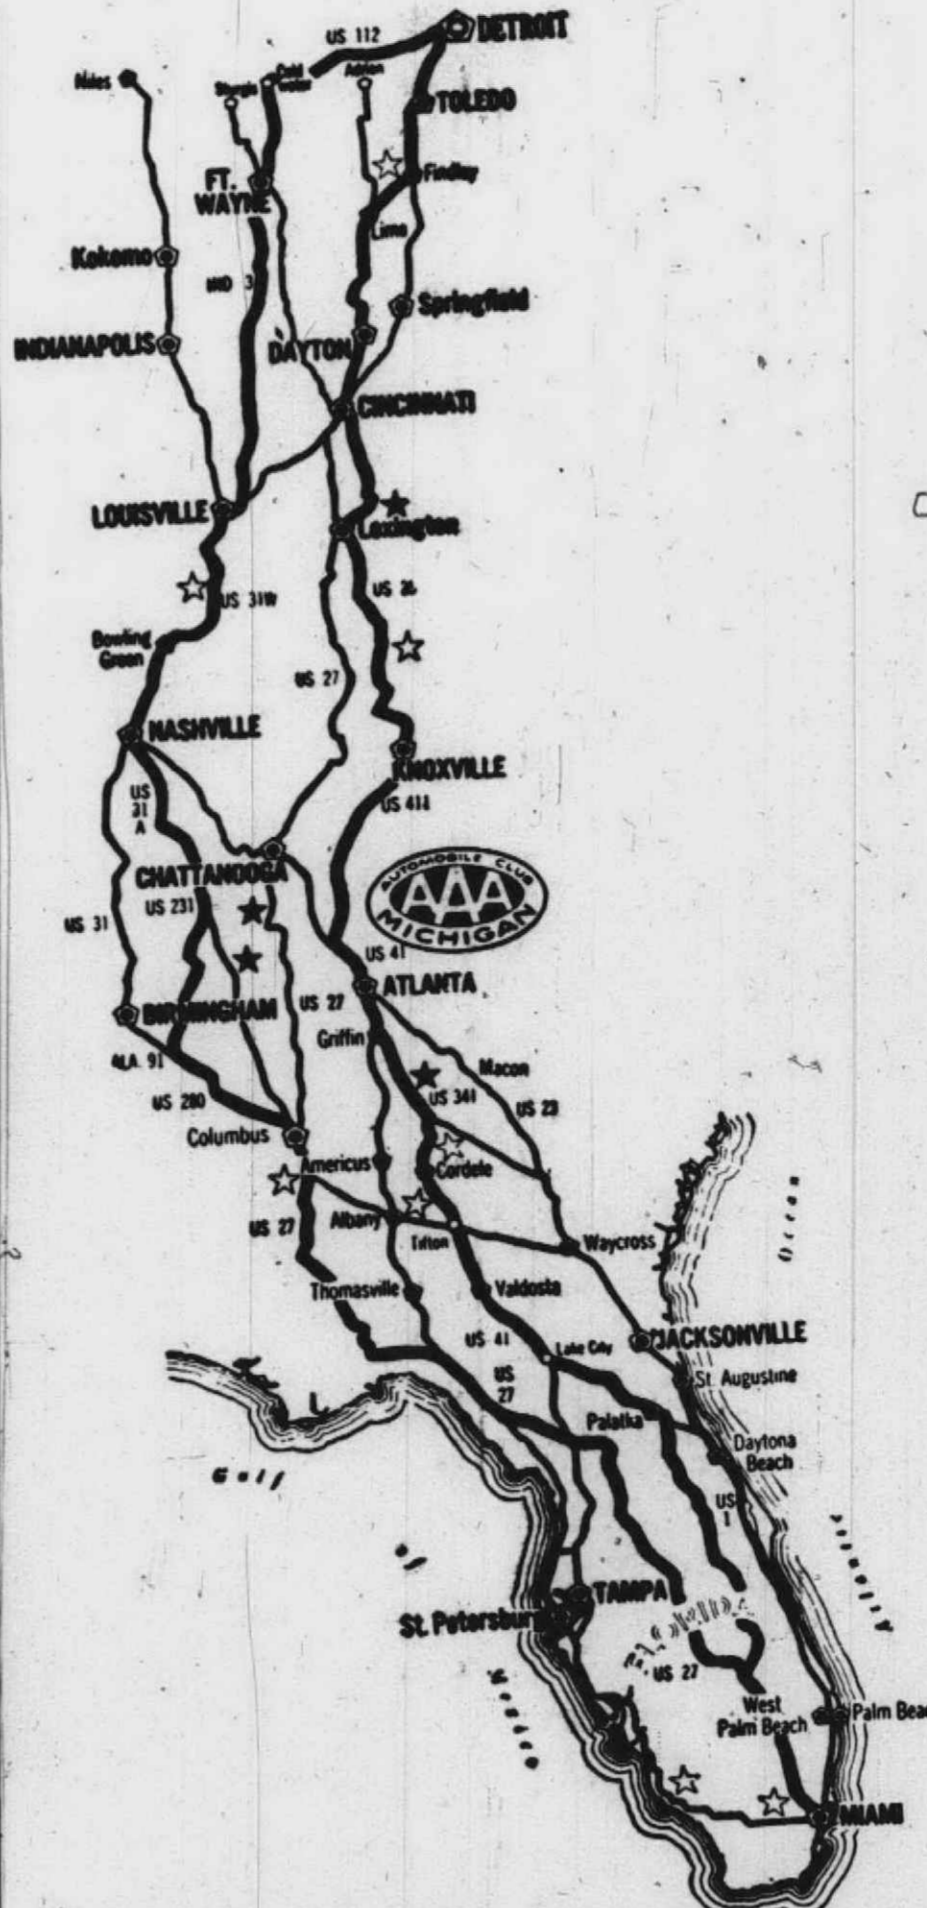

Melt 1/3 cup of margarine in bottom of heavy skillet. Sprinkle brown sugar over it and arrange pineapple on sugar. Place cherries in center of pineapple slices and pour batter over mixture.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 45 to 50 minutes. Turn upside down while warm. Serve with whipped cream.

A GOOD VARIETY of routes to Florida are outlined by Automobile Club of Michigan. The heavy lines indicate the routes preferred by most motorists. They are the picturesque Eastern Route, which winds through 100 miles of mountainous country; and the longer Western Route, suggested for families hauling trailers and those disliking mountainous driving. The Western Route, while 125 miles longer, requires about the same amount of driving time.

The discovery of Vitamin A in 1913 by Dr. E. V. McCollum in Wisconsin paved the way for nutrition research that has established milk and dairy products firmly in the human diet.

Fewer Detours to Make Traveling Easier For State's Florida Bound Vacationers

Fewer detours on roads to Florida will speed the journey of some 600,000 Michiganders motoring to the Sunshine State this winter. That's the report of Automobile Club of Michigan Travel Services Director Harry N. Rogan, who predicts that 200,000 state automobiles will travel to Florida in 1955.

All major routes will be almost completely free of detours. In addition, the new Sunshine Skyway in the Tampa-St. Petersburg area is open to travel. Other developments include removal of the toll on the Overseas Highway to the Florida Keys.

Motorists can choose a variety of good routes, says Rogan. The Eastern Route takes them through Cincinnati, Lexington, Knoxville and Atlanta. A good alternate goes from Lexington via Chattanooga to Atlanta. The Western Route goes through Louisville, Nashville and Columbus, Georgia. Florida's central highway bypasses cities and generally carries less traffic. However U. S. 1, the East Coast Route, and U. S. 41, the Gulf Coast Route, are popular with "first timers."

Rogan says the non-mountainous Western Route is about 125 miles longer than its Eastern counterpart, but requires about the same number of hours of travel. He recommends the Western Route to the increasing number of families who haul trailers. Driving time to Miami is four days at an estimated 375 miles a day. St. Petersburg and Tampa can be reached in three and one-half days and Jacksonville in three days.

A family of four will average $250 in traveling expenses for the journey. This amount includes lodgings, meals and car operational costs.

Once down in Florida, travelers will have the widest choice of accommodations in history. More than 650,000 rooms are available, an increase of 74,000 over last year. Almost 14,500 restaurants will compete for tourist trade.

Rogan finds a marked increase in the number of persons taking side trips from Florida. "Requests for reservations to the Caribbean area have jumped as high as 70 percent over last year," he reports.

"There is also a trend toward year-round travel to Florida. Summer time is almost as busy as the winter season in many areas."

An increase in the number of radar-patrolled speed zones is in effect in the South, Rogan advises. "It behooves motorists to watch speeds carefully throughout the journey," he warns.

Pot Roast Offers Homemaker Wealth of Menu Suggestions

Beef pot-roasts can pop up on your menus in as many different ways as your imagination will stretch. In the first place, there are so many shapes and sizes of pot-roasts from which to choose—arm, blade, triangle, boneless chuck and rump pot-roasts. You can also vary them by the seasonings and by the liquid and vegetables with which they are cooked.

Braising is the method recommended by meat experts for producing tender, juicy pot-roasts. Use a heavy kettle which has a tight fitting lid. Add about two tablespoons of lard or drippings, unless there is considerable fat on the meat itself. Brown meat slowly on all sides. The meat may be floured before browning, if desired. Season with salt and pepper. Any other desired seasoning may be added. Add a small amount of liquid, not more than 1/2 cup; more may be added later, if necessary, a little at a time. Cover closely, reduce the temperature and continue cooking until the meat is tender.

If you wish to cook the meat in the oven, use the same procedure. Brown meat on top of the range, add liquid and cover. Then transfer to 300° F. oven and cook until meat is tender.

CHILEAN POT-ROAST

- 3 to 4-pound beef arm or blade pot-roast
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon chili powder
- 1/2 cup juice from tomatoes
- 1 No. 303 can tomatoes, drained
- 1 No. 303 can kidney beans
- 1/2 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 cup water

Brown the pot-roast slowly in lard or drippings. Season. Add tomato juice. Cover closely and

Of all the foods children like, spaghetti is a top favorite. And often it's a favorite with mothers, too, for it's a "quickie" to prepare. Next time you open a can of spaghetti for the family, add sausage and lima beans and see what a toothsome dish you'll have. This is a good recipe to suggest when Sis is cooking the meal, for steps are simple and the finished product has a "professional" look.

So-Good Spaghetti

- 1/2 pound sausage (link or bulk)
- 1 can (15 1/4-ounce size) (1 1/2 cups) spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese
- 1 cup drained cooked lima beans

Cook sausage until lightly browned; pour off fat. Add spaghetti and lima beans. Heat, stirring occasionally. 3 servings. FNS simmer 2 1/2 hours or until almost tender, on top of range or in a slow oven (300° F.). Add additional liquid if necessary. Add tomatoes and kidney beans and simmer for 15 minutes. Remove meat and vegetables. Blend flour with water and thicken cooking liquid, allowing 2 tablespoons flour for each cup liquid. 6 to 8 servings.

Spiced Bananas Make Tasty Game Relish

The bounty of the hunting season lasts practically as long as one likes, now that game is put safely in the freezer. A steak of venison. Wild duck done to a turn. These are great dishes in anyone's language. But what to serve with them can be puzzling, particularly to the new game cook. Wild rice is classic. But, these meats with somewhat "heavier" flavors call for "light" flavored accompaniments. Current jelly often furnishes this flavor flourish. A new candidate for the role is Spiced Bananas. It's a game accompaniment easy to prepare yet deliciously right with venison or other game.

Cooked bananas make interesting main course accompaniments to serve as vegetable or as relish. For cooking, choose less-ripe bananas that have all-yellow or slightly green-tipped peel, as they will stay firm, and they are less sweet in flavor.

SPICED BANANAS

- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 16 whole cloves
- 6 whole allspice
- 1 stick cinnamon
- 2 firm bananas*

*Use all-yellow or slightly green-tipped bananas. Combine vinegar, sugar, cloves, allspice and cinnamon in large frying pan. Bring to boiling temperature and cook 10 minutes. Peel bananas and cut in halves crosswise. Add bananas to syrup and cook over low heat about 5 minutes or until bananas are tender... easily pierced with a fork. Turn bananas frequently to glaze in the syrup. Serve hot or cold with meat or poultry. Makes 4 servings.

Oxtails from prime or choice beef will be more tender when cooked than from lower grades. The self-service packages of oxtails are not graded as to quality—prime, choice, good, commercial, or utility. So to be assured of top quality, buy oxtails from a market that sells only prime or choice beef. Oxtails need to be simmered in a covered utensil for 3 to 4 hours. Do not rush them!

Small tears in net curtains can be mended by applying a thin coat of colorless nail polish to the tear and pressing the frayed edges together with the fingers until the polish dries.

YOUR popularity with the coffee-break set—and that's just about everybody—will go 'way up when you give them a crispy Snap 'n' Rattle to go with their coffee. A great favorite in England, the snacks are easy to make, rich and chewy to the taste, and they keep well.

Treat Coffee Klatschers To Snap 'n' Rattles

The English have a way of saying things a bit differently than we say them. "Elevenes," for example, is their term for the coffee-break. Delicious little fruit balls, often eaten with coffee, are called "Snap 'n' Rattle." These, a cross between cookie and pastry, are a great favorite in the English Midlands, so we're told.

It's not hard to explain the popularity of Snap 'n' Rattles. They're easy to make, fine eating any hour of the day when a snack is called for and they keep well. Nice and chewy too, — and at the same time, crisp!

You'll find it worth your while to bake these unusual sweets in fairly large batches. They make a tasty addition to lunch-boxes packed for school or office. And of course, you'll want to have some on hand for your own "elevenes." Incidentally, be sure you make your coffee at its delicious best — hot, strong, full of flavor. And by all means, make plenty. Experience shows that if anything improves the cook's popularity even faster than having home-made cookies on hand, it's always having enough coffee for seconds all around.

SNAP 'N' RATTLE

- 1 package pie crust mix
- 1/4 cup seedless raisins
- 3/4 cup mixed diced candied fruits and peels
- 3 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

Roll out pastry in long rectangle, 1/8-inch thick. Combine

Good Breakfast Helps Dieter Lose Weight

To lose weight and feel cheerful while reducing, the senior citizen needs the encouragement of a hearty breakfast.

That "hearty" means a wonderful, old-fashioned breakfast with a goodly amount of protein foods. The menu includes fruit, cereal and milk, or eggs, maybe crisp bacon, toast with butter and a beverage. Such a meal truly breaks the fast the body has known since the previous evening meal, and provides strength and energy.

Another way to get protein bounty into breakfast, dissolve an envelope of unflavored gelatine in the glass of orange or tomato juice served. This unflavored gelatine is all-protein, no sugar is added, so it has the low count of 28 calories per envelope.

True, the hearty breakfast has more calories than the beverage and rolls eaten by some reducers. But the food value of this latter breakfast comes mostly from carbohydrates which the body quickly burns. After such a breakfast, or by omitting breakfast, one tends to eat double portions at other meals or to snack between meals. This way, the total calories for the day mount beyond the reducing level.

The senior citizen eating citrus fruits at breakfast also gets vitamin C less likely obtained at later meals. And finally, a satisfying breakfast makes it easier to face luncheon and dinner reducing restrictions. Here again, an envelope of unflavored gelatine in water or fruit juice a half hour before meal time will supply protein and take the edge off hunger.

When cutting marshmallows, use scissors, dipping them into hot water, and they will not stick to the blade.

There's a new zip to Dynaflow* — and better gas mileage to boot!

This is something you really ought to try. Even though you may be familiar with earlier versions of Dynaflow Drive—either from personal experience or from hearsay—you owe it to yourself to press the pedal of a 1955 Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflow. Just as simple as ever to operate—easier, in fact, with the new positioning of the lever. Just as smooth as ever, with nary a lag, halt or hesitation throughout the speed range. But brother!—hang on to your hat when you call for action! Because that's what you get, instantly.

Because twenty power blades inside the very heart of this wondrous automatic transmission switch their pitch for getaway performance—much like the airplane's propeller is angled for take-off. It's as simple as that—but far more thrilling than words can tell. And it's a big boon to your gasoline money, too. For, just as the plane's propeller changes pitch aloft for greater fuel efficiency in cruising, so the Dynaflow "propellers" change pitch to deliver a lot more miles per gallon in normal driving and cruising. Come in and try it—this week. You'll find it harnessed to the highest V8 horsepowers in Buick history—and housed in the bold new styling that says Buick and nothing but. *Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

REMODEL

AN UNUSUAL AND ATTRACTIVE FEATURE in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hedrick, 801 Irvin street, Plymouth, is shown above. This view is from the kitchen looking through the California-style serving window to the living room at the far end of the house. A built-in birch buffet is located just on the other side of the serving window, which is constructed of 3/4" fir plywood. The sink is enclosed by a border of beautiful Fontana marble. The remainder of the newly remodeled kitchen (not shown here) is finished in knotty pine paneling, installed by Hedrick, himself.

Turn Buffet Into Snack Bar With Fiber Glass and Plastic

Don't throw out that old buffet or bureau in your basement. According to lumber and building supply dealers in the Plymouth area, you can turn it into a handsome, upholstered snack bar or soda fountain very easily.

By using a double thickness of superfine fiber glass as padding and a durable, water and scuff resistant plastic upholstery material as a covering, local dealers say an amateur can turn out a professional looking piece of furniture which will enhance any recreation or game room.

Although superfine fiber glass is primarily an insulating material, its resiliency, light weight and ease with which it can be used as padding make it ideal for this job.

Here are the simple steps to follow to turn that old eyesore into a useful piece of furniture:

1. Cover the back and sides of the bureau with plywood. Apply beads of rubber cement every six inches along the top, sides and bottom edges of a strip of super-fine cut to fit around the sides and back of the bureau.

2. The second layer of fiber glass may be attached to the underlayer with rubber cement applied in the same manner as the first thickness was attached to the buffet.

3. Fit the Textileather around the buffet as shown. Using finishing nails, tack a molding strip across the top to hold the plastic in place. Use brass-headed nails to fasten the plastic along edges.

4. Draw diagonal chalk lines on the plastic from top to lower corners across the back and both sides of the bar. Drive in brass-headed nails at regular intervals along the chalk lines. Fold the plastic under the bottom edge of the plywood backing along the back and sides and tack it to the inner surface of the plywood.

House Specially Designed to Suit Any Lot

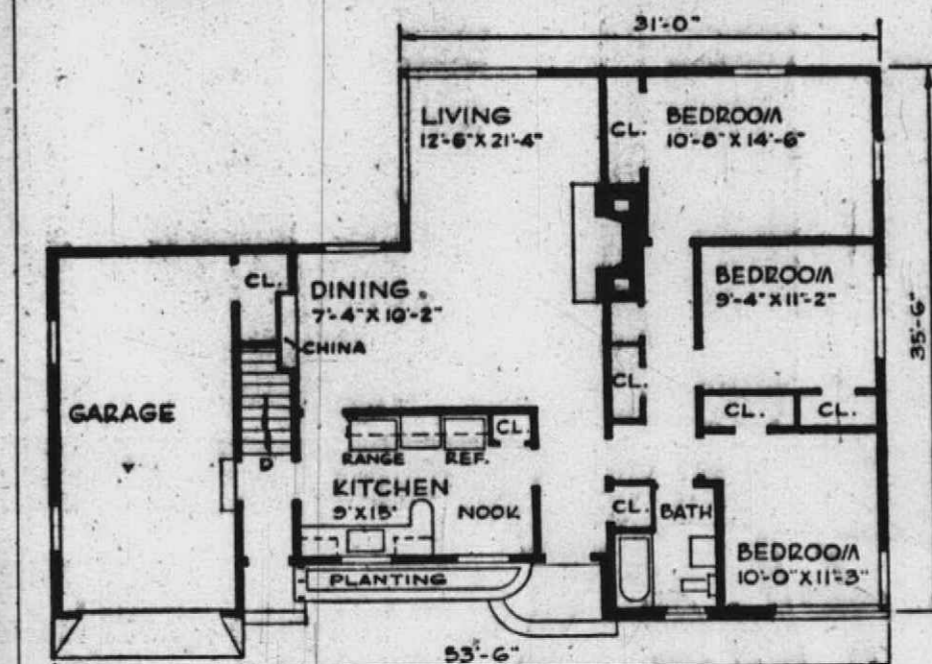

This three-bedroom ranch home suits either a level or sloping lot. It is Plan AB195N, from American Builder magazine.

The plan as shown is for a sloping lot, with the rear basement wall exposed. The large basement is devoted to recreation. On a level lot, the dinette window can be changed to a French door for access to a back porch or patio.

American Builder notes that the stone facing on the front "enriches the exterior." The overhead wood panel garage door and the shutters are painted a cool green to contrast with the pale green sidewalls and pastel gray asphalt shingle roof specified by the architect.

Two picture windows meet at a corner of the living room. The Detailed building plans are available by writing your requests to the Building Editor, The Plymouth Mail.

The area of the house is 1,385 square feet, a figure useful in estimating construction costs.

Your hardwood floor should wear evenly. Ask your architect to state in the specifications that the floors shall be of one species only—not a mixture of the species. The hardness tests for hardwoods used for flooring rank Northern Hard Maple, first; Beech, second; Birch, third. A mixture of these species will, therefore, not wear evenly.

Browsing with BARBARA

With all the bad weather coming on, I hope you folks have a good door on your garage that works easily, keeps snow and ice from leaking in and one that doesn't freeze shut in the zero weather.

If you haven't, chances are you're interested in the Berry Garage Doors available through Roberts Supply company at 639 South Mill. In just about one hour you mechanically-minded souls can have your old door out and the new Berry door in.

Available in a wide range of different sizes, the Berry doors are designed so they can be put together to form double doors. And you can get either the fully receding type or the canopy door, whichever you prefer.

Made of steel, the Berry door is fully rust-proof, having been given three layers of protective coating at the factory. Opening and closing the door is a cinch and can be done by a mere flick of the wrist. Also, you can adjust the door tension to your own liking.

To cut down on noise, the area between the framing and the door has been filled with thick sponge rubber insulation blocks giving the door an almost silent operation. The nylon rollers on the "Safety Lock" V-track also help to make for quiet, easy operation.

Other features you'll want to look at in the new Berry doors are the diagonal grid design on the inside of the door and the stabilizing arms along the side which do away with all side sway. Also the special latch locks the door on both the outside and inside.

Most important feature for the winter months is the weather seal system on the Berry door. Side-jamb weatherstrips extend from top to bottom. And the adjustable bottom weather seal has a special plastic edge that won't freeze to snow or ice.

Moreover, the Berry door presents a smart, modern appearance from the outside. You can get the automobile type rubber-mounted windows on the doors, too, which are waterproof, rattle-proof and easily replaced if broken.

Color Crowns Low Roofs

Drawing shows how felt underlayment is applied to roof deck in preparation for application of three-tab, square-but asphalt strip shingles on a gently pitched roof.

Color is modern. So are gently pitched roofs on houses. A way to combine the two has been found by the construction engineers who have just developed the first method of applying colorful roofing on a low-slope roof deck.

The method calls for the use of asphalt shingles, which are made in an extensive variety of solid and blended colors to suit any general exterior color scheme or anyone's personal taste.

Three-tab square-but strip shingles are the type for which the new application specification has been written. Previously, 4 inches of rise per foot of horizontal run was the lowest pitch for which asphalt shingles were recommended. The new method gives a watertight, wind-tight roof on slopes as low as 2 inches per foot. In addition to application detail recommended for more steeply pitched roofs, the method calls for only three precautions:

- 1—A double layer of 15-lb. asphalt-saturated felt is laid on the roof deck before any shingles are applied. Each 36-inch strip of this material is lapped 19 inches over the one previously laid.
- 2—In areas where the January daily average temperature is 25 degrees F. or less, the two layers of felt are cemented together from the eaves line up the roof to a point 24 inches beyond the inside wall line.
- 3—All shingles tabs are cemented down with quick-setting asphalt cement.

Huston, and Company received a large shipment of cutters yesterday.

A little baby came last Thursday night to bless the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gates.

Mrs. Dunning, of Beach, has been spending a few days this week with her brother, W. T. Rattenbury.

A sleigh load of Newburg people surprised Mr. and Mrs. Mark Joy last Friday night. An oyster supper was served and all were most happily entertained.

Charles Granger quit his job at the village lighting plant and has gone to work on the railroad. The council held a meeting last night to appoint a new man for the place. It pays $50 per month.

Burglars entered D. A. Jolliffe's store Wednesday night by unlocking Gleason's shoe shop and then boring a hole through Jolliffe's door and then unlocked it. They went through the money till but got no money. Mr. Jolliffe only missed fifty cents worth of stamps.

It cost the village some $60 to repair the broken water main. The cost is trifling to the amount of damage caused by the shutting down of factories and power plant, to say nothing of the inconvenience to householders. The permanent closing of the water supply would be a calamity hard to contemplate.

Mrs. Charles Merritt gave a flinch party Wednesday evening in honor of her guest, Miss Kate Merritt of South Haven.

The Misses Queava are at home to their friends now at 581 Maple street.

The first meeting of the Contract Bridge Club was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Carmichael on Tuesday of this week. The next meeting will take place on February 11th, at the home of Mrs. Luther Peck.

Misses Grace Lee and Winifred Draper attended the Sigma Nu Phi sorority party in the Masonic Temple, Ypsilanti, last Friday evening. Miss Lee is a member of the sorority.

The next meeting of the Plymouth Nutrition class will be held at the home of Miss Bertha Warner, 287 Ann street, February 1. The subject will be vegetable cookery, and will be given by the local leaders, Mrs. George Cramer and Mrs. Bruce Woodbury.

Monday evening, January 20, Marie and Theodore Johnson entertained 40 guests in the crystal dining room of the Hotel Mayflower in honor of the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson. Mrs. Alice Johnson of Lyons, the bridegroom's mother, came to the party. At a late hour all departed wishing the honored couple many happy years ahead.

Mrs. Louise Tucker, 155 Blum avenue, entertained on Tuesday at luncheon, her daughter, Mrs. Verne W. Tucker of Sherwood Forest, Detroit, and friends, Mrs. J. J. Daley and Mrs. Kenneth Spain, also of Detroit.

Little Barbara Jean Holmes of Detroit, spent a few days last week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Chambers.

10 Years Ago

January 26, 1945

The birthday anniversary of Mrs. Frank Pierce was celebrated Tuesday with a surprise luncheon at Hillside. The friends planning the party were Mrs. James Thrasher, Mrs. Albert Pint and Mrs. Carl Hartwick.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Measel, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huebler of Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. Roy LeMaster of Northville and Mr. and Mrs. George Fuller of Detroit attended the Potentate Ball held at the Hotel Statler last Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rathburn entertained at dinner and cards Saturday evening for Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Jewell, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mumby, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown.

For the first time in the 30 years of its business at the corner of Main and Penniman, Smitty's Restaurant closed on Sunday last week. Mr. Smith, in making the announcement, blamed the manpower situation.

Mrs. John Henderson, president of the Woman's Club of Plymouth, Mrs. Edwin Bolton, Mrs. Paul Christensen, Mrs. Frank Dunn, and Mrs. Walter Sumner were among those from the Plymouth club who acted as hostesses Thursday at the Golden Jubilee of the Detroit Federation of Women's clubs in the Detroit club house.

The Reverend John Paton, newly appointed pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, makes his first appearance in the pulpit at the church at Elizabeth street and Ann Arbor trail Sunday.

The photographers who volunteered and participated in photographing 40 family groups in their Christmas surroundings to send to their loved ones overseas were: Harry Miller, Wallace Osgood, William Schnell, Max Todd, H. F. Enterline, C. M. Loomis and Kenneth Corey.

You Haven't Got Asthma, Madam! Prof Says Its Disinterested Husband

"All that wheezes is not asthma," said Dr. John M. Sheldon, University of Michigan professor of internal medicine in charge of the University Hospital's allergy unit.

"There are actually hundreds of things which make persons wheeze," added Dr. Sheldon. These "hundreds of things" range from pollen, to a foreign body in the lungs, an infected bronchial system, or a disinterested husband.

The point was emphasized at a recent meeting of the U-M Medical School's Allergy Journal Club which met to discuss "Psychotherapy in Allergy."

"Most allergists today," indicated Dr. Sheldon, "agree that asthma is neither all pollen-sensitivity nor all emotional sensitivity." The doctor declared that many allergy conditions turn out to be a mixture of mind and matter. He also said that fear, worry, and anxiety may well intensify the allergic person's condition.

Felician Sister Leaves for Brazil

The missionary lands of sunny Brazil is beckoning to Sister M. De Porres, a Felician Sister, from Livonia, who is setting sail for South America January 28. She is leaving from New York in the company of two other Felician missionaries, Sister M. Modesta and Sister M. Immaculata, of the Lodi, N. J. province.

This little band was preceded a few weeks ago by four other Felician Sisters, who left for Brazil on last December 30. Leading this group was Sister M. Gualberta, of Buffalo, one of the pioneer missionaries who was in Brazil since the opening of the mission in 1950, and who was now returning to her post after a few months' rest in the states. With her went Sister M. Samuel and Sister M. Agnes, also of Buffalo, and Sister M. Elfrida of Enfield, Conn.

An additional two Sisters, S. M. Bronislawa and S. M. Ursula of Coraopolis, Pa. will conclude this year's contribution of the Felician American Provinces to the Brazilian missions, bringing the total missionaries to 16.

Sister De Porres is destined for the main missionary headquarters of the Sisters in Niteroi, across the bay from Rio de Janeiro. There she will receive her appointment to one of the four mission places conducted by the Sisters.

Originally from Posen, Mich., Sister De Porres entered the Felician Sisters Congregation in 1922.

but that emotions are known to intensify nearly every illness.

Dr. Sheldon applied this point of view to the well-known condition of blushing. "Embarrassment causes some persons to blush," he commented. "This is emotional."

But there is also another form of blushing, called "vasomotor rhinitis," or inflammation of the mucous membranes of the nose. This form of blushing is due to foreign-body irritation in the nose.

"I think we must all agree that a person with a scratchy, running, irritated nose is a good candidate for sensitization tests," said the U-M allergist. "He may even be a candidate for emotional counseling," added Dr. Sheldon.

"But," he stated, "no amount of psychiatric counseling will reduce the patient's sensitivity to such physical irritants as dust, pollen or food."

The point is, according to this University specialist in allergy, that wheezing, sneezing, and scratching are not exclusively psychosomatic, although most reputable allergists today recognize that patients with these conditions often suffer an accompanying emotional reaction.

He Knows His Manners

A Cockney merchant had made a lot of money and decided to spend some of it on a castle in the Highlands of Scotland. On the first evening, the butler approached him and said: "Would you care to have the pipers at dinner, sir?"

"No, thanks," was the casual reply, "but you can take 'em to the other room, and I'll read 'em later."

Each person in the United States uses about 400 pounds of paper made from wood in a year's time.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Many adults fail to understand why teen-agers tire easily. When you take into consideration the tremendous physical growth taking place and the emotional strain of this period, it is easy to understand.

A girl or boy often grows six to eight inches in one year. The heart doubles in weight and muscles grow more rapidly than bones, stomach and lungs. Remember this when you see a teen-ager moping about. It is nature's way of slowing down a body under the strain of excessive growth.

Nine to ten hours of sleep each night is essential for a growing child. Make sure your teen-ager has enough of the right kind of food each day.

A quart of milk, a serving of meat or fish, at least one egg, two green vegetables and one yellow vegetable, fruit, including the all-important citrus fruits, whole grain or enriched bread or cereal make up a balanced diet for young people.

Your doctor may advise extra calcium and vitamins be added to the diet. If a growing child's appetite is very poor, be sure a doctor is consulted. Sometimes a teen-ager is very much over-weight. This in itself can cause fatigue.

However, never attempt to put your child on any kind of a diet without first paying a visit to your doctor. Let him tell you how much, if any, weight the child should lose and prescribe the diet.

Pallor often accompanies teen-ager fatigue. This is not always a

New P.T.A. System Gets Vote of Confidence Here

The first Plymouth school to initiate a new P.T.A. system had a chance to evaluate the success of its program this week.

Adopting a system already in practice in Ann Arbor and Royal Oak schools, Smith Elementary started in October to hold meetings of parents and teachers on the classroom level to be followed up by a large P.T.A. meeting of its 450 parents.

The 14 Room Group organizations are made up of parents of each child in the classroom and are headed by a room mother and father as chairmen. Committees meet with the teacher to plan the various programs for the classroom meetings.

Held once a semester, or more often if desired, the meetings may take the form of a discussion of school curricula for that particular grade, child behavior problems of a special group, programs sponsored by children for their parents in connection with classroom studies, etc. The room meetings permit wide flexibility in topics for discussion.

By this method, parents become better acquainted with each other and keep in closer touch with their child's progress. A better relationship is also established between parents and the teacher. In addition, Miss Eriksson felt that the common goal of trying to assure a stable, secure adjustment of the child to school living was furthered by the classroom meetings.

Following the classroom meetings parents get together about four times a year for the large P.T.A. meeting. Issues or problems which have arisen on the classroom level, perhaps by one room organization, may then be discussed for joint consideration by the entire group.

The new system also works to the advantage of both parents and the school since it gives parents a closer contact with the schools' work and at the same time keeps the school posted as to reactions of parents to its program.

Miss Eriksson pointed to almost 100% attendance of the 450 P.T.A. members at the large meetings as evidence of the success of the new program. Attendance is better, she felt, because more parents know each other from the room meetings and interest in the programs is stronger as an outgrowth of discussions on the classroom level.

Plans are now to continue the present system, Miss Eriksson said, which brings with it the possibility of having experts in child study and other related fields come in to speak at the P.T.A. meetings.

"Pilgrim Prints" Announces Staff For Semester

Starting the second semester Joyce Sackett will take over the job of assistant editor of the Plymouth high school newspaper, the "Pilgrim Prints." Harry Mendel will also take over as sports editor.

Reporters are Jim Arnold, Carolyn Batterton, George Ann Bauer, Zita Brokas, Louise Diedrick, Barbara Erdelyi, Tom Ferguson, Betty Finney, Patricia Forester, Bob Franklin, Arlene Gobiell, Dale Houghton, Sharon Irvine, Jean McCartney, Kay Porter, Bob Ramp, Joyce Schomberger and Donald Wallace.

As a school newspaper "Pilgrim Prints" came into existence April 15, 1946. Freeman Hoover was the first editor. It has appeared continuously since that time without missing a deadline.

The Pilgrim Prints is a bi-weekly paper, published by the journalism classes and printed by the Plymouth Mail.

J. A. Companies To Sponsor Hop, Select Miss J. A.

The Platter Hop, sponsored by the Junior Achievement companies of Plymouth, will be held February 19 at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. During the event a Miss J. A. of Plymouth will be selected by the following judges:

Miss Margaret Dunning, owner of Dunning's; Mrs. Marie Norman, president of the Woman's Auxiliary of Veterans of Foreign Wars; Miss Barbara Noe, writer of "Browsing with Barb" in The Plymouth Mail; Captain Kenneth Fisher, of the Plymouth Police department; Robert Pape, owner of Pape's Gift House; Robert O. Beyer, owner of Beyer Rexall drugstores; and Natt Sibbold, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

All contestants must be Junior Achievement members and will be judged on poise, appearance, personality, speech and attractiveness. The winner of this contest will go to Detroit to compete in the state contest with winners from the state contest continuing to national competition.

Entries from local companies are as follows: Bel-Products, Darlene Adams, Joyce Smith and Sharon Irvine; Home-Products, Barbara Carley and Sandra Newingham; J. A. Noven-ites, Irene Zakul, Marilyn Miller and Peggy Ostrowski; Wudo-co, Nancy West and Jane Smith; Custom-Kraft, Linda Minock, Judy Markham and Phyllis Hood.

Future Teachers Club Organized At High School

A Future Teachers club has recently been organized at Plymouth high school for juniors and seniors who are interested in making teaching a career.

Sponsoring the club are Miss Doris Bean and Edgar Brown of the high school faculty who called the first meeting January 6. Advisors will meet with the club each week with the aim of guiding them and obtaining speakers for the meetings.

At present the club has approximately 20 members. The group will visit nearby schools and colleges to study different fields of teaching, college programs and cost of education.

The FTA is a national organization but until this year has not been included in the extra-curricular activities of the school.

Hold Testing Sessions In Gymnastic Divisions

Testing sessions in the gymnastic divisions of the boy's Physical Education classes have been going on for the last few weeks in order to determine final semester marks. These sessions, based on a point and improvement basis, are to be averaged with daily attendance and progress.

The students are tested, for example, on the horse, the parallel and horizontal bars, the rope climb, and the mats and are given so many points for each according to performance perfection.

Distance events such as standing broad jump, the running broad jump, the standing and running hop, skip and jump, are measured and grades determined by other student comparisons.

A wise man loses nothing, if he but save himself. —Montague.

Home, Family Living Classes Visit Court

Thirty students from the Home and Family Living classes taught by Mrs. Christyna Soule visited Recorder's Court in Detroit, Thursday, January 20.

When they arrived a sergeant briefed them on how the court is run. They were led through the tunnel under the street connecting the jail to the court, over the same route prisoners are led when ready for their trial.

Then they went to Judge Kraus's court and saw how the jury was selected. Students also saw the beginning of a murder trial.

Later they went into Judge Ide's court where they were allowed to sit in the jury box and on the prisoners' benches.

Athletic Club Proves Popular Girls Organization

One of the many clubs for girls at Plymouth high school is the 71-member Girls Athletic Association club which is advised by Louise Cigle, girls' physical education teacher.

Purpose of the club is to develop and further an interest in sports and good sportsmanship among the girls of Plymouth high school and to promote individual development through recreational activities and services to the school.

Girls in grades nine through twelve may become a member by making an application at the beginning of the first semester. There are no special requirements except that the members earn 150 points per year. Points may be earned by participating in the various sports.

For the major sports a girl receives 75 points and 25 for minor sports. A record is kept of the number of points each girl earns. When 500 points is reached she is privileged to receive her letter.

The G. A. A. club visits other schools in the 6-B league for playdays, sponsors dances and parties.

Meetings are held the first Monday of every month. Attendance of members at all meetings is required although a member is allowed two unexcused absences and two tardinesses per year. Any girl may lose membership in the club for failure to earn 150 points or may automatically be required to forfeit her membership if at any time action on her part is contrary to the generally accepted code of sportsmanship, ethics and good conduct.

This year's president is Sally Gayer; vice president, Jean Rowe; secretary, Carol Langmaid, and treasurer, Janet Denhoff.

"Pilgrim Prints" Opens Bookstore Today

The Pilgrim Prints bookstore was open for business yesterday and will be open all day today, January 27; Monday, January 31; and Tuesday, February 1, for students to purchase and sell books for new classes.

Books available are economics text books, sociology, government, commercial law, English composition, literature, civics, family living, and advanced math books.

Student salesmen and members of the Pilgrim Prints staff who will be on duty in the bookstore are: Virginia Larkin, Tom Sawyer, Ruth Perry, John Small, Jan Ponto, Paul Rimer, Jim Arnold and Ella Plant. Faculty advisor is Miss Elizabeth McDonald.

Occupational Training Program Serves Students, Community

With a membership of 65, the Occupational Training program under the direction of Melvin Blunk, has begun its 18th year of training students for the job of their choice.

This course is planned for those students who wish to graduate from school but do not intend to go on to college. The credits earned while enrolled in the course may be applied for college entrance the same as other credits earned while in high school.

Because of State laws, age is important in selecting those students to be placed on the job. The minimum age is 15 to 18 before a student may be placed in a training situation. Students who desire to enter the Occupational Training program may do so at any time while enrolled in grades 9B through 12B.

While the trainees are employed they are under the supervision of the school as well as the employer. The hours in school are devoted to subjects required for high school graduation as well as those related to the occupation which the trainee is learning.

A training program of this kind in the public schools offers several advantages to the community:

1. It gives boys and girls an opportunity to work at a job in which they are interested, and an opportunity to study subjects related to the job in which they are working.
2. It gives business and industry an opportunity to train young employees and retain these same employees when they are ready for full-time employment.
3. It enables the school to use the whole community as a "laboratory" where boys and girls may get job training under competent adult supervision. 4. It enables boys and girls to "earn while they learn."

Danish Student Enjoys Choosing School Subjects

It was a big day for Birgit Johansson on December 6 when she arrived in America from Denmark.

Birgit made the trip all by herself by boat, arriving in New York and then taking a train to Buffalo. In Buffalo she transferred trains for Detroit. In Detroit she was met by her mother and younger brother who have been in America for eight years. They drove her to her new home on Parkview in Plymouth where she is now living.

Birgit is enrolled in Plymouth high school as a freshman and has caught on very well to the new way of school. She likes the school and says it's much easier than the schools of Denmark. Here she finds one can even choose their own subjects! Birgit has made many new friends and likes America very much although she misses her relatives who are still in Denmark.

When asked what she noticed different about the girls of Denmark and those of America, she stated, "the girls wear a lot of make-up here; in Denmark we don't wear it until we are about 17 or 18 years old."

Adult Program to Offer Ballroom Dancing Class

A new class in ballroom dancing is being featured in the Adult Education Program for this semester. This will include the waltz, fox-trot, rhumba, tango, samba, and mambo. Don Thompson from the Thompson Dancing school in Ann Arbor will instruct this class in the Smith Elementary School gymnasium on Thursday evenings from 8:30 - 9:30 starting February 3. Registrations are being taken now in the Adult Education office for this 10-week course.

STYLE-CONSCIOUS MOTORISTS are acclaiming the new Chrysler as America's most smartly different car. Longer, and inches lower than other big cars, Chrysler for 1955 exhibits the most striking new car design of recent years... even its new Super-Scenic Windshield (with sweptback posts for greatest, safest vision) enhances the car's sleek look of forward motion. Chrysler looks like the performance car of the year, too, with its new 250 hp V-8 engine and fully-automatic Power-Flite drive. Exclusive Full-time Power Steering... and Power Brakes with a new, safer acting double-width brake pedal... will certainly win a host of new friends. In all, this is a car too good to miss!

JA to Open FundRaising Drive Friday

Plymouth's Junior Achievement program will again depend next year on the success or failure of a fund raising campaign next week conducted among local industries and business.

A campaign to raise $335,000 for the 1955-56 operation of JA in Southeastern Michigan opens tomorrow under the general chairmanship of Harry J. Loynd, president of Parke, Davis & Company. The money will be sought from among 2,400 business and industrial concerns in the area to provide facilities for the operation of 300 business concerns by area teen-agers beginning next October.

Loynd named three chairmen to serve with him: Ray Sullivan, Ford Motor company vice-president; A. vanderZee, Chrysler corporation vice-president; and George M. Watson, director of personnel for Pontiac Motor division.

Watson will be in charge of campaign efforts in Plymouth and eight other communities outside the metropolitan Detroit area.

Loynd pointed out that while 4,500 boys and girls currently operate 236 JA firms here in the nation's largest operating area, this represents only half of the Southeastern Michigan teen-agers who tried to enter the program.

The Detroit metropolitan area includes Detroit, Highland Park, Hamtramck, Ferndale and Dearborn. Suburban units are at Ann Arbor, Birmingham, Plymouth, Monroe, Pontiac, Wayne, Wyandotte, and the downriver cities of Allen Park, Ecorse, Lincoln Park, Melvindale and River Rouge.

County Extension Service To Sponsor Lecture

"Vegetable Insects and Their Control" will be the subject of the February 1 lecture sponsored by the Wayne County Cooperative Extension service together with Michigan State college and the Wayne County Vegetable Growers association.

One of a series of talks to be given over the next few months, the February 1 lecture will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Wayne County Cooperative Extension building, 3930 Newberry street, Wayne. Professor Ray Janes, extension specialist in entomology at Michigan State college, will be the speaker.

OUTDOOR NOTES From The MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Justin W. Leonard, Michigan's conservation department research administrator, was named president of the Wildlife Society.

The Society is a continent-wide organization of fish and game conservationists and includes members from nearly all conservation departments in Canada, the United States and Mexico.

Dr. Daniel Leedy, executive secretary of the Society, announced Leonard's election after a poll of members. The term of office is one year.

Col. Philip K. Fletcher, 65, conservation commissioner from 1931 to 1937, died Friday in Alpena.

Col. Fletcher was president and general manager of the Alpena Power Company. A dam owned by the company on the south branch of the Thunder Bay River backs up water to form Fletcher Flood-water, popular fishing area west of Alpena.

Commissioner Fletcher was born in Alpena and attended the University of Michigan.

Wall-eyed pike will be transferred over the dam at Newaygo again this year.

The conservation commission authorized the annual 15-day or 10,000 walleye lift at a recent meeting.

The power dam on the Muskegon River at Newaygo blocks the walleye spawning run. Some of the fish are dipnetted and lifted into water above the dam each year to extend their run. Last year, netting continued 15-days and 7840 walleyes were taken upstream out of about 140,000 fish estimated in the spawning run.

An accelerated program of tree planting on state forest lands will be considered when the conservation commission meets in Lansing on February 10-11.

Increased revenues from sales of forest products grown on state-owned lands would provide the money needed to finance a bigger planting program. The conservation department's forestry division estimates 200,000-plus acres of land in state forests could be utilized best in growing trees.

The department's reforestation fund reached $853,000 at the end of the last fiscal year.

Robert F. Brevitz of Battle Creek, chairman of the commission's forestry committee, declares: "I believe we should now give consideration to revising our reforestation policy with the thought of accelerating our planting program. Now that we have the money and know the acreage to be planted, I feel that we should arrange to get the known job done within the next 10 years or less."

Michigan's conservation commission re-affirmed its support of department deer management policies during a recent meeting, stating that the job is still in its infancy and has a long way to go.

The commission officially asked the state legislature for continued discretionary power over the lower peninsula deer herd in November. However, after hearing additional game division information at the January meeting, the seven member board again voted unanimously in favor of present deer policies.

Land in Algonac state park and Proud Lake recreation area may be leased to the federal government for national defense purposes.

The conservation commission, after a closed session with army representatives, authorized leases involving 86 acres in the 900-acre Algonac state park and 66 acres in the 3000-acre Proud Lake recreation area. The leases will be handled by the state administrative board.

Maybe someday fishermen in Michigan will be permitted to take 25 bluegills per day.

The conservation commission will ask the state legislature to change the present law, which allows an angler to take not more than 15 bluegills per day. Many Michigan lakes are crowded with stunted bluegills that fisheries workers say should be removed to provide more food and larger fish.

The commission also recommended leaving unchanged the present creel limit of 50 perch per day for sport fishermen in the Great Lakes.

About 700 acres of land in scattered areas of the state were recommended for purchase for use by the public for conservation activities. The total included four public fishing sites, about 200 acres under the Pittman-Robertson game land program and about 500 acres in state forest lands.

The commission voted unanimous approval of Director Gerald E. Eddy's recommendations for administrative operation of the conservation department and voted against inviting an outside authority to study the department's work at the present time. Several commissioners indicated, however, that such a move might be made at some time in the future.

Beaver and other seasons were authorized for this year and are essentially the same as last year.

though in general scheduled about a week later. Some local changes in the regulations were made.

Bluegill fishing on Wolf Lake in Lake county will not be permitted this year from February 15 through June 17. The commission decided to restrict fishing to protect the species in this special, low-production lake.

Park concessions were authorized, sanctuary dedications approved and considerable general business passed.

The next commission meeting is slated February 10-11 at Lansing.
