Kite Disrupts Power for 400 Users in Area

A kite flying adventure was a little more exciting than usual last Sunday afternoon for a Starkweather avenue man and his grandson. Their kite shorted out a high-voltage line, disrupting power for nearly 400 electric users in the city and township.

Many telephone calls were received by the police and Detroit Edison company when power suddenly went off at 1:26 p.m. An investigation by police found that Alex LaDoux, 642 Starkweather, had been flying a kite for his grandson when the kite hit a power line in the alley near Starkweather avenue and Liberty street.

The kite string used was the type found at Christmas time. It had copper thread running through it. The shorted power line snapped and LaDoux received an electrical charge, but was not hurt.

A Detroit Edison spokesman said that it is a miracle that LaDoux was not killed. Kite flying Continued on Page 8

Commission Opposes New Liquor License for City

An indirect rejection of a liquor license application, discussion about abandoning rented parking lots and still more discussion about zoning rules were among the highlights of Tuesday night's city commission meeting.

Although the commission's regular meeting night is Monday, it was held Tuesday this week to coincide with their job of canvassing the election returns. Looking over poll books, the commission passed a resolution certifying the results.

A letter from the State Liquor Control commission asked the city commission if they favored approval of a new license for Plymouth. It was filed by John F. Johnston and Robert Richter who said they would operate an establishment in the South Main street and Ann Arbor road area.

Chief of Police Carl Greenlee said that he would not favor another tavern for the city. He declared that he talked with the owner of the present three license holders (Mayflower Tap Room, Box Bar and Marquis Toll House) and found that there was hardly enough business to keep them busy. Commissioners voted unanimously to write the Liquor commission that they would not favor a fourth license in the city.

Three parking lots which the city "rents" are being considered for abandonment following a recommendation by the city manager. The three are the I.O.O.F. lot on Ann Arbor trail, the A. C. Williams lot on Ann Arbor trail and Harvey street, and the Schrader lot on Fralick avenue. The city has been maintaining and paying partial taxes on these public parking lots, but City Attorney Harry Deyo declared that this procedure is illegal. While several commissioners recommended that the parking lots be turned back to their owners immediately, others argued that they should be kept until the East Central parking lot is completed. Result of the discussion was a motion to have the city manager

Waldecker Again Defeated by Stein

Robert Waldecker, who was defeated two years ago by Republican Louis Stein by a one-vote margin, failed again to regain his one-time job as Canton township supervisor last Monday when Stein was given a 25-vote plural.

While the township maintains its Republican supervisor, it will also keep its Democratic clerk. Andrew Smith, who won over his opponent, Henrietta Burch, by 29 votes. Smith won 560 votes and Miss Burch, 531.

Votes for other candidates were:

Resident Elected State Treasurer At DAR Meeting

Mrs. Robert D. Willoughby of Plymouth was elected state treasurer of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the 55th state conference of the organization held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week at the Sheraton-Cadillac hotel, Detroit.

Mrs. Harry Deyo, regent of the local Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter of the D.A.R., was appointed state chairman of the honor roll. The state organization will be headed by Mrs. Clarence W. Wacker, newly-elected regent.

The three-day conference was marked by attendance of nearly 500 national and state D.A.R. officers, chapter regents and guests from many states.

Principal speaker at the Tuesday night banquet was Miss Gertrude S. Carraway, president general of the D.A.R.

Addressing the group on "Americanism and the D.A.R.," Miss Carraway stated that "Ever since the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, was started its principles have been the same. Our objectives from 1890 to the present day have remained identical—word for word in our by-laws; historical appreciation, patriotic service and education training. All stand for the preservation of the American Way of Life."

"These D.A.R. purposes are similar to those for which our Revolutionary forefathers risked their lives and fortunes: the freedom and independence of our Nation, individual liberty and a form of self-government based on the rights and responsibilities of its constituents."

"Even more importantly," Miss Carraway added, "the D.A.R. seeks to imbue the nation's child."

Highlift Operator Injured at Bathey

A 22-year-old highlift operator at the Bathey Manufacturing company is reported in "fair" condition after a mishap Monday afternoon in which he suffered a skull fracture.

Ollie B. Reed, 12313 Stark road, Livonia, was operating the highlift in the company yards when it either struck a chuckhole or a rock. Reed was thrown to the ground and the highlift backed down an incline and rolled over his head.

It was necessary to pry up the highlift to remove the victim, police said. The machine is said to weigh a ton or more.

An ambulance rushed him to the University hospital in Ann Arbor where authorities report him in fair condition with a "closed head injury" and skull fracture.

The accident happened at about 5:15 p.m.

Piano Blues

If you're suffering from the "old piano blues," you can start smiling right now. This advertisement in the classified columns of last week's Mail brought eight immediate calls:

Rauch Retires from Daisy Position after 42 Years

Chauncey H. Rauch has retired from the Daisy Manufacturing company after 42 years of service. Tribute to the veteran employee was paid by office employees of the plant with a going-away party last Friday.

A life-long Plymouth resident, Rauch was first employed at his father's dry-goods establishment on Main street. He then spent many years with the Plymouth Telephone company, and later rose to the post of general superintendent of interstate lines for the Home Telephone company of Detroit.

As one of his earliest telephone "jobs" in Plymouth, Rauch installed "Plymouth 1" for E. C. Hough, vice-president and treasurer of the Daisy company, at the latter's residence. "Plymouth 1" is still the E. C. Hough phone number.

After resigning his telephone company post in 1913, he came to Daisy and was first assigned to move and set up operations for a razor-strop company whose assets and patents had been purchased by Daisy for manufacturing in Plymouth. When the venture was sold by Daisy in 1918, Rauch went "on the road" 23 years, selling Daisy air rifles throughout the Eastern and Midwest states.

Since 1938 he has been manager of Daisy's service department which he organized in 1917 as an adjunct to the sales office.

Now 79 years old, Rauch will continue to make his home at the Mayflower hotel where he has lived for over 20 years. He plans to travel a good deal in the years to come. "Cars and driving have always been my hobby," he explained.

A floor lamp and other gifts were given Rauch during the going-away party Friday.

IT'S SO-LONG to the Daisy Manufacturing company for Chauncey Rauch, left, who has ended 42 years of service with the firm. E. C. Hough, vice-president and treasurer, adds his farewell to Rauch at a "going-away" party Friday. Rauch installed Plymouth's first telephone in Hough's home.

Nancy, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of chantilly-type calais lace and tulle over soft-glow satin, styled with tight bodice and small collar. The long sleeves of the gown extended to a point at the wrist. Nancy's fingertip veil of illusion was caught by a coronet crown of pearls and irridescent. A bouquet of stephanotis and orange blossoms, centered with two white orchids was carried by the bride.

Miss Sally Gyde, maid of honor, wore a floor-length gown of light blue nylon net over taffeta, with matching crystallite bolero jacket and sash extending to the floor. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and carnations.

Bridesmaids were Miss Mona Rippee, cousin of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Lois Eby, cousin of the bride. Their gowns were of identical style to that of the maid of honor but in a deeper shade of blue. All wore small, French hats.

Colonial bouquets of roses and carnations in a delicate shade of pink were carried by the bridesmaids.

Miss Melanie Robinson, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl and Ricky Busha, the bride's nephew, was ringbearer for the ceremony. Melanie was dressed in light blue organza and carried a colonial bouquet of roses, carnations and stephanotis.

Local Chapter Releases Latest Facts on Cancer

The Plymouth chapter of the American Cancer Society recently released information of interest to the public regarding the Society's current nationwide program to present facts on cancer to physicians and the public.

Plymouth is participating in the educational campaign to be held throughout April, and will observe the third week of this month as Cancer Week.

Charles Wyse, chairman of the local drive, stated that cancer, as the nation's no. 2 killer, took an estimated death toll of 230,000 Americans last year and threatens to invade most homes by attacking approximately one out of every four of the nation's people at some time in life.

Wyse pointed out that everyone can participate in the continuing drive against the disease by making sure that every member of his or her family has a complete physical examination each year.

"More than 75,000 persons in this country are saved from dying of cancer each year," Wyse explained. "Twice that many could be saved, if the presence of the disease were discovered in time. Early diagnosis is our most powerful implement for saving lives today, and doctors know this. Fewer surgeons die of cancer than individuals in other walks of life because they are more alert to the presence of early symptoms, recognition of which in a beginning stage makes cure possible."

The following symptoms may indicate the presence of cancer and should be brought to the attention of a physician:

1. Any sore that does not heal.

2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
4. Any change in a wart or mole.
5. Persistent indigestion or difficulty in breathing.
6. Persistent hoarseness or cough.
7. Any change in normal bowel habits.

During the April educational campaign there will be no solicitations or fund raising whatsoever, Wyse added. As part of the campaign, two films, "Breast Self-Examination" and "Man Alive" will be shown in the following communities at the times indicated:

Livonia: Sheldon Center, First Federal Savings and Loan building, 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 20; Plymouth Penn Theatre, Thursday, April 21, 1 p.m. Northville: Methodist Church, 109 West Dunlap, Friday, April 22, 1:30 p.m.

One of the newest agencies of the Plymouth Community Fund, the local chapter serves as an information center and provides cancer dressings for patients in Northville, Livonia and Plymouth.

Residents are urged to avail themselves of the booklets and pamphlets on cancer available at the chapter office, 821 Penniman avenue. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Volunteers are needed to assist with the chapter's work. Anyone interested in helping out with this worthwhile service may call the Penniman office.

Easter Seal Donations Short of Goal Despite Good Returns from Lily Sale

Plymouth's Easter lily sale last Saturday boosted local campaign funds as the Easter Seal drive entered its fourth and final week. Still contributions have fallen short of the $3000 goal set for this community as returns thus far show only $748.75. The drive closes this Sunday.

Local shoppers contributed $555 to a host of volunteer school boys and girls who were distributing the paper lilies on the streets of Plymouth. Campaign chairman Frank Allison this week reminded residents that the anticipated goal has not yet been attained.

"With only three days left in the drive," said Allison, "we hope those who have not yet mailed in their contributions will do so this week." These donations are the only means of support for the Wayne Out-County Chapter, Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

The Plymouth lily sale was one of 13 such sales held throughout southwestern Michigan to help raise funds. An over-all goal of $25,000 was set for the area during this, the 22nd, annual drive.

Services extended by this organization include transportation to clinics for handicapped individuals, occupational therapy to the homebound and a recreational program for all ages including the month-long Easter Seal day camp.

Lorenz Honored At Hotel Show

Ralph G. Lorenz, manager of Plymouth's Mayflower hotel, gained national recognition at the Midwest International Hotel Show in Chicago last weekend. For his outstanding record Lorenz was one of eight nominated for the "Hotel Man of the Year" honors. The selection is made from throughout the country. Winner in the final balloting was Albert Pick, Jr.

Attending the Palmer House convention with his wife, Lorenz was cited for his "package improvement program" which has resulted in modern rooms with television accommodations throughout the hotel. His food operation has become legend in the hotel industry and has resulted in a three-installment article currently being published in the American Automobile Association's "Let's Stop Here" publication.

Next week Lorenz will address the Southern Hotel Exposition at Atlanta. At this convention, where he will speak on "Importance of Holiday and Sunday Sales," Lorenz will again contend for national honors when the choice for the nation's "Restaurant Man of the Year" will be made. His record of promotion and food service gains has made him one of the leading contenders for this award.

Miss Elaine Lietz of Sheridan avenue has returned to Michigan State college after vacationing in Miami, Florida. She was accompanied by Mrs. Nancy Newsted of Livonia.

Oldest Principles of Bridge Construction Employed in Mackinac Straits Span

Two of the world's oldest principles of bridge building will go into the modern new Mackinac Straits bridge now under construction between Michigan's upper and lower peninsulas.

Dr. C. L. Shermer, professor of civil engineering at Michigan State College, says the suspension and beam-span features of the new bridge are among the world's oldest and most useful.

"Thousands of years ago the Chinese constructed bridges by building walkways on ropes or 'suspending' walkways from ropes which they had strung across a river or a gorge," he said. "Our suspension bridges today differ only in that modern construction materials and scientific knowledge enable us to build longer spans."

Although the dominant feature of the Straits Bridge is the suspended portion, this section comprises less than a third of the total length of the project, Dr. Shermer explained. Two-thirds of the length of the bridge consists of shorter spans extending from one pedestal or pier to another over the water.

"This beam-span principle is perhaps the earliest one employed in bridge building," he said. "A log across a stream is a beam bridge. Instead of logs we now use beams of steel or concrete or, for longer spans, we use trusses. Probably 99 per cent of all bridges built today are of this basic type."

The ancients learned to lengthen the span of a bridge by projecting a cantilever over the water from each bank much as a diving board projects over a pool. Then the center distance between the ends of these cantilevers is bridged with a span which is thus much shorter than the over-all length of the bridge. The famous Quebec Bridge, across the St. Lawrence river, with a clear span of almost 2,000 feet, is of this cantilever type.

Dr. Shermer says the pontoon bridge, still in use today, is another bridge which dates back to the pre-Christian era. Darius, the Persian, crossed the treacherous Bosphorus by anchoring boats closely together and laying his bridge floor across these boats.

Dr. Shermer believes that "most of us become conscious of bridges only when the sign, 'Bridge Out - Detour', looms up on the highway. Like good health, we usually notice a bridge more by its absence than by its presence."

The new state president of the organization is Mrs. Harvey Maisner of Marshall, Michigan. Charles Goerner of East Lansing was elected the new junior president. Bi-law revisions were adopted at the conference to permit junior state officers to be elected rather than appointed.

An embroidered state flag was presented at the luncheon to the Michigan society of the C.A.R. as the gift of Mrs. Henry B. Joy in honor of her 10 great grandchildren. The presentation was made by Mrs. Norman R. Smith of Ann Arbor, junior national vice president.

The convention was under the direction of Mrs. Robert D. Willoughby, as C.A.R. state president. Margaret Maisner of Marshall, Michigan, junior president of the state C.A.R., presided during the meeting.

Flagbearer for the ceremony was Jimmy Cutler. The C.A.R. creed was led by Mary Ellen and Jack Crusoe. In attendance as representatives of the Plymouth Corners society were Betsy Merriam and Becky Coolman.

A stunt night, featuring six acts by C.A.R. members, was planned for the entertainment program Friday night. Janet Willoughby was awarded first prize for her pantomime act.

The O-Wash-To-Nong society of the C.A.R., assisted by the Grand Rapids D.A.R., hosted the state meeting.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS

The Youth Activities Committee reports that the deadline for the poster contest has been extended until April 9! Boys and girls, you still have time to get your entries in to Chairman, Loretta Young!

April has been designated throughout the country as Cancer Control month! High point in the crusade will be April 22 when volunteers will distribute tags imprinted with the seven danger signals of cancer. No contributions will be asked; the tags are merely to familiarize the public with the nature of the disease that strikes one in every four persons. Our cancer chairman, Betty Krumm, and her committee will have charge of distributing these tags on that day. She still needs more volunteers to work that day!

News of another Fish Fry the Post is presenting on Friday, April 8, at our Post Hall. This is a benefit dinner, the proceeds going to the Plymouth Junior Police Drill Squad. Dinners will be served from 5:30 till 7:30. Tickets are available by calling 1553W or from any Post member!

Are you remembering to save articles for the Rummage Sale April 22 and 23 at our Post Hall? Anything is being accepted, particularly furniture. Phone 1553W for pickup. You may also bring your rummage to our meetings.

Marion Dickie stressed Auxiliary cooperation and reminds everyone that Poppy Day will soon be here. All members will be notified at a later date as to their individual duties. The Poppy Drive has always been one of the most important drives of the year!

A speedy recovery to one of our Auxiliary members, Rosemary Lyke who is on the sick list! Hope to see you at our next meeting, Rosemary! Also, best wishes to Lucinda Archer who underwent a leg operation last week and should be recovering at home now. Cards to both of these members would probably be most welcome!

Small-time Horse Thief

Why someone would break into a house and steal an iron horse statue, it is difficult to say.

That's what happened one night this week at the home of Mrs. Susie Gunsolly, 235 Amelia street. The statue stood on a platter rail behind the television set. Since the item had some sentimental value, they are asking that police be notified if anyone is seen with the statue or trying to sell it.

Congresswoman Talk Scheduled

Final arrangements have been made for the appearance here Saturday of Martha Griffiths, U.S. Representative from the 17th district. She will speak at a public meeting of the Chamber of Commerce State and National Affairs committee at the Mayflower hotel.

During World War II she was a contract negotiator for the Ordnance department of the Army. She served from 1949 to 1952 in the Michigan Legislature. During that time, she was selected by the press as one of Michigan's ten best legislators.

In April 1953, Mrs. Griffiths was appointed recorder and judge of Recorder's court, the first woman ever to be given a major judicial appointment in Michigan. In November of 1953, she was elected to this position for a six-week term, receiving 82 per cent of the votes cast for that office.

George Bowles is chairman of the State and National Affairs committee. The general public is being invited to attend. Starting at 9:30 a.m., it will last about one hour.

All-Male Cast Taking over Commission

For the first time in 21 years, the Plymouth city commission will be without a woman in its midst. Mrs. Eleanor Hammond, along with George Bauer, will officially end their terms of office next Monday.

It was back in 1934 that Mrs. Austin Whipple was first elected to the city commission and she stayed on into 1949. From that time on, Mrs. Hammond has served on the legislative body.

Mrs. Whipple first served on the commission in 1932, appointed to serve out a vacancy. She was defeated in her first try for re-election.

Mrs. Hammond was elected to the city commission in the fall of 1949 for a short term until April 1950. She was then re-elected to a two-year term and then a three-year term. On April 24, 1950, she was appointed to the Wayne county board of supervisors.

George Bauer has been on the commission four years, being elected to two two-year terms. Both Bauer and Mrs. Hammond could not have run for re-election this year if they had wanted to. The new city charter prohibits more than two successive terms.

There appears to be no reason why the lineage of woman commissioners has stopped. There just weren't any female candidates in the running this year. It may be a long time before one hears that familiar address: "Gentleman and madam commissioners."

MEN IN SERVICE

Plymouthites Win Blue Ribbons At 4-H Event

Corporal Robert Gow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gow of Penniman avenue, arrived home last week following his recent discharge from service with the U.S. Army.

Robert spent one and a half years in Germany as a tank driver. He was also active on basketball and baseball teams with his unit over there.

Several interesting articles from Germany, including an unusual stein, were brought home by the Plymouthite.

Matchbooks Link Distant Reader To Hobbyist Here

Distance means nothing when it comes to hobbyists who share a common interest.

A letter was recently received by Mrs. Lester Couets, new resident of 1190 Simpson, from Mrs. Edward Kellenberg of Burbank, California, former Plymouthite, in which she wrote that she had seen the newcomers picture in the February 3 issue of The Mail.

Noting that young Jerry Couets was an avid match collector, Mrs. Kellenberg wrote:

"I was interested in your Jerry's Cub Scout hobby, insofar as I have quite a number of match book covers that we have picked up along the way. Under separate cover I will send them to Jerry and trust that he may get some happy moments looking them over."

The former Helen Van DeCar, Mrs. Kellenberg wrote that she had lived in California for 30 years but there would always be a warm spot in her heart for the old home town. She mentioned several Plymouthites whom she hoped the newcomers would meet: Norma Cassidy, Austin Whipple, Robert Beyer and Madeline Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Kellenberg revisited Plymouth in June 1953 when they attended the reunion of her high school class of 1913. The Kellenbergs, who reside at 915 East Harvard road, Burbank, California, have one married daughter, Ebris Ann, and three grandchildren.

Twenty-seven blue ribbons were awarded to members of the Plymouth 4-H clubs at the 4-H Achievement Day, held Friday at the UAW-CIO hall on Michigan avenue.

The following local blue-ribbons winners were reported: Leatherscraft club, under the direction of Mrs. Leona Hull: Betty Weberlein and James Magraw; Peppy Stitches, directed by Mrs. Gordon Vetel: Jean Rowe, Ella Plant, Susan Campbell, Marilyn Outman, Janet West, Marjorie Reddeman and Mary Travis.

Under the direction of Mrs. Claude Eaton, Green Thumb winners were Janet Spigarelli, Mary Jean West, Nancy Eaton, Sally Jo Mathias, Raymond Eaton, Pat and David Hauk; Snip, Snap and Eat club of St. Peter's Lutheran school, directed by Mrs. Leonard Arnison: Nancy Arnison; Knit Witt club of the local school, directed by Mrs. Ralph Wagenschutz: Leslie Moberg, Jean Wagenschutz, Mary Cruseo and Joan Ferch.

Nimble Needles, supervised by Mrs. Jean Rowe: Peggy Davidson, Paula Guertin, Sharon Hoffman, Judy Rowe, Karen Kehoe and Sylvia Godwin.

Four-H projects of Sharlene Moers and Jean Rowe were displayed at a special achievement booth designating their proficiency in 4-H work.

Approximately 200 persons attended the event which featured winter-project work done by the 4-H clubs of Plymouth, Sheldon, Denton and Wayne. Exhibits were on display during Friday morning and judged that afternoon.

A review of clothing made and modeled by 4-H members was held as part of the afternoon program. A fun festival featuring an amateur show was included as entertainment for parents and friends at the event.

A significant factor in the growth of Michigan as a center of the automobile industry was its one-time leadership in the production of marine engines and carriages.

 dren with a love of this country's history. Last year D.A.R. members took 27,000 children on historical tours and gave more than 5200 history prizes.
 Concluding the guest speaker stressed the need for detailed studies in American history, the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence in the public schools.
 Among the resolutions adopted at the conference were:
 1) That the D.A.R. of Michigan urge passage of a Constitutional amendment a) to prevent any treaty in conflict with the Constitution from having any force or effect; and b) to prevent any treaty from becoming internal law except through valid legislation.
 2) That each member of the D.A.R. of Michigan write to the U.S. senators from Michigan, opposing any revision of the United Nations charter that will in any way strengthen it into any form of world government, or give it control of armaments.
 Special guests at the conference were Mrs. James B. Patton, past president general of the D.A.R., who addressed the gathering Monday evening, and State Regent Mrs. Ralph W. Newland. Chapter regents and state officers were entertained by Mrs. Newland at a luncheon on Tuesday.

The local chapter was one of seven D.A.R. chapters hosting the three-day event. Letters of commendation were received by Regent Mrs. Harry Deyo from national and state officers for the success of the conference. Special mention was made of the outstanding decorations which were under the direction of Mrs. Frazer Carmichael of Plymouth in cooperation with the hotel flower shop.

near power lines still remains one of the electric industry's biggest problems. He said that lives are still taken each year due to careless kite flying and it is especially dangerous if the string is wet.

Along with Benjamin Franklin, LaDoux is among the lucky kite flyers who escaped injury when danger was near. Franklin, it is remembered, discovered electricity by flying a kite in an electrical storm.

Balanced Budget Given Commission

A balanced budget for the 1955-56 fiscal year was presented by City Manager Albert Glassford to the city commission Tuesday night.

The commission is now being asked to take the 32-page document under consideration, make suggested changes, and adopt it no later than the first meeting in May. Glassford estimates that the city will have $29,780 more to work with during the fiscal year which begins July 1 than this year. About $16,940 of this amount will come from added real and personal property assessments and $13,000 is a surplus for this year's budget.

The total amount expected to be spent is $391,020.

Public works, which includes the maintenance and repair of streets, is due for an increased allocation of $8,000. There was $48,322 budgeted for the highway fund this year.

No salary increases for city employees have been provided for except for those who receive their usual merit increases. Money has been set aside, however, for an increase should the Michigan Municipal League recommend salary adjustments.

The league has been invited to make a salary survey here to determine if Plymouth city employee salaries are comparable to standard wages in other cities.

had lost, were steadily gaining votes. Both the city and township election boards finished their work Monday night.

Two men who were candidates for the city commission in 1953 failed to gain office again in this election. Sheldon Baker and George Witkowski were both candidates two years ago. They were defeated then by Henry Fisher, Ernest Henry, Russell Daane and George Bauer.

As in most spring elections, voting was light in Plymouth. The biggest rush came after 5 p.m. when workers returned home. There were 612 men voting in the city and 502 women. By precincts, the vote was:

Precinct 1, city hall, 226; precinct 2, Northside fire station, 168; precinct 3, high school, 403; precinct 4, Smith school, 317.

For most of the state offices there were candidates of the Prohibition, Socialist Labor and Socialist Workers parties. There were but a few votes cast for these candidates by local voters.

I am afraid this column will be lacking in news for a couple of weeks. It seems that with the closing of Lent most people have curtailed their social activities and are concentrating on their religious obligations.

One item I might mention is the Bake Sale that was held last Sunday in St. Michael's school. It was sponsored by the mothers of the fourth and fifth-grade children with the able help of the Sisters. Everything looked so good it was hard to decide what to buy and there was the largest variety I have ever seen. One had their choice of muffins, rolls, coffee cake, bread, cookies, cakes and pies. We haven't heard what the profits were but judging from the attendance it must have been a huge success.

We just want to remind you again about the Livonia Creative Arts Exhibit at Bentley high school on Friday and Saturday, April 15 and 16. Admission is free and it should be well worth your time to stop and see the exhibits.

St. Michael's Cub Scout Pack No. 271 will brighten the day for the patients at the Livonia hospital on Easter Sunday.

Their February handicraft project was a Wishing Well Planter. Made from a coffee can, some twine and a couple of pieces of wood the boys did a real professional job. Each boy put a pretty plant in his "Well" and is presenting it to the elderly patients at the Livonia hospital for Easter.

Madonna Students Elect Officers

The final elections of Student Association officers of Madonna College for the 1955-1956 school year took place Wednesday, March 23. The newly elected officers are Leona Wisniewski, president; Eileen Murphy, vice-president; Patricia Okray, secretary, and Shirley Prusinski, treasurer.

Formal installation of the new officers will take place at the annual Honors Convocation to be held in the latter part of May. Until that time, officers will be initiated into their duties during a period of indoctrination and orientation. They will formally undertake these duties at the last assembly held this year.

The new president, Leona Wisniewski, a junior majoring in history, is a graduate of Catholic Central, Alpena, Mich. In her new office, she will preside at all student assemblies and Executive Council meetings. She will also be an ex-officio member of all committees on campus, and the representative of the student body in campus and intercollegiate functions.

It takes TCP to get the full power from High Octane Gasoline

Cars being made today are the most powerful ever built. And with this extra power you also get extra economy—more miles per gallon.

The reason for these benefits is that today's engines are high compression engines and make more complete use of the power available in today's higher octane gasolines.

But did you know that the kind of driving most people do most of the time—local driving—can, in a short time, create a condition that offsets the extra power and economy that these engines should get from high octane gasoline.

Why? Because this kind of driving increases the build-up of certain combustion chamber deposits—the root of most power and gasoline waste. And to overcome these deposits you need a gasoline with a special kind of additive.

What happens is this:

As your engine warms up, these deposits warm up, too—glow red hot. And these glowing particles act like hot coals—ignite the gasoline mixture ahead of time... before the pistons reach proper firing position. This is called pre-firing and means that power works against you instead of for you.

In addition, these same deposits have another power-wasting effect: They foul spark plugs, causing your engine to miss.

Engineers will tell you there's nothing more wasteful of power and gasoline than pre-firing and spark plug "miss."

But there is an answer—there's one high octane gasoline that gives you all the advantages of high octane without the power-crippling effects of these deposits—Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP*.

TCP, the Shell-developed additive, fireproofs the deposits so that they no longer cause pre-firing. No longer can they glow red hot and ignite the gasoline mixture. And TCP stops spark plug "miss," too. Your spark plugs do the job they are supposed to do.

Start getting the full power built into your engine. Get Shell Premium with TCP. It's the most powerful gasoline your car can use!

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

Only Shell Premium Gasoline has both TCP and High Octane!

Plymouth Police Lieutenant Roger Vanderveen of Plymouth gets a special preview look at the City of Dearborn's 23 new "Goldenrod Yellow" interceptor police cars. Dearborn's Mayor Orville L. Hubbard (right) happily points out another in its weapons against debris on the highways. Mayor Hubbard explained that the famed slogan on the doors of the 1954 red cars "Be Nice To People" is being replaced as of April 1 by "Keep Dearborn Clean. $100 fine to throw trash on street." The unusual preview, presented, recently at the Ford Rotunda, attracted Mayors, Police Chiefs and other officials from 25 cities and towns in Wayne County.

Michigan has four times as much water-covered area as any other state—11,537 inland lakes, 36,350 miles of streams and 3-121 miles of Great Lakes shoreline.

In addition to passenger cars, Michigan stands first in the manufacture of gray iron, cutting tools, woodworking machinery, and salt and cereal preparations.

Speech Classes Plan Assembly Program

The students of the speech classes have been planning for the last couple of weeks an assembly program for the junior high school to be presented April 4, sixth hour.

The main idea behind the assembly is to interest the eighth graders, who will become freshmen next year, in the speech program offered by the high school. The presentation is entirely under the supervision of a student-planning committee. Selected members of the different speech classes will present the program.

The program will consist of short speeches, skits, dramatic readings and perhaps a little debate.

Complete and official figures show that again in 1954—for the 19th straight year—
MORE PEOPLE BOUGHT CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER CAR

No other low-priced car even comes close to matching these important Chevrolet advantages...

If you're planning to buy a new car, the one you just can't afford to miss seeing is Chevrolet—for 19 straight years America's best-selling car. The Motoramic Chevrolet offers you so much more than the other low-priced cars that it's hardly fair to compare them. And even the high-priced cars don't have all the advantages that today's Chevrolet offers you.

The Body's by Fisher!
No other low-priced car has a Body by Fisher—but many of the high-priced cars do. That fact alone tells you there must be something extra special about the style, quality and construction of Body by Fisher. And there is! You can see it, feel it and even hear it when you slam the door.

Today's most modern engines!
That goes for Chevrolet's new V8 and two new sixes as well. For example, all Chevrolet engines bring you a modern 12-volt electrical system—double the voltage of other low-priced cars. This means quicker cold weather starting and a greater electrical reserve. Then Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8" has the shortest piston stroke in the industry.

and develops the highest power per pound of any V8 in the low-price field. It takes valve-in-head leadership like Chevrolet's to bring you truly modern engines like these!

A drive to suit your driving!
You can take your choice of three different drives—and every one's as modern as this minute. There's silky, peppery Powerglide, new Overdrive (both extra-cost options), and a new Synchro-Mesh transmission that's as smooth as they come.

All the power helpers you want!
Windows, seat, steering, brakes—all are available with built-in "muscles" to make driving as effortless as you wish.

And you can even have air conditioning if you like. These things are extra-cost options, of course, but they more than repay you with extra pleasure.

Fun is "standard equipment"!
You find that out the first time you take the wheel of a new Chevrolet. Here, you discover, is a car that takes the curves like it's on rails, that steers like it's reading your mind. It seems simply to ignore bumps—and when you stop suddenly, there's no excessive lurching or diving, either. There has never been such a difference in low-priced cars as there is today—or so many good reasons why you should drive a new Chevrolet. Come in and take the key.

Over Ten Million Chevrolet owners—Two Million more than any other car!

LAKELAND, Fla.—The first day of spring training for major league baseball teams generally start with a brief meeting in the clubhouse, where training rules are detailed.

As usual, our Detroit Tigers have a midnight curfew for all players, stars and rookies alike, and a 7 a.m. waking time. Also, no serious gambling is allowed, such as poker playing or shooting dice, but the boys are permitted to play such mild card games as hearts and fan tan. The purpose, of course, is to prevent the loss of thousands of dollars by players who can't afford it, such as occasionally occurred in another era in baseball.

Lockers are assigned by the clubhouse boy, John Hand. The fellows with the club longest get what are considered the best lockers, up front. Rookies get those far in the rear.

Up front also is the manager's office, an eight-by-ten cubicle that has served Mickey Cochrane, Del Baker, Steve O'Neill, Red Rolfe, Fred Hutchinson and now Bucky Harris. Bucky's last man-geral tour with the Tigers ended the season before they moved to Lakeland in 1934.

Real Workout
During these early days, calisthenics are part of the daily routine. They're good for loosening up the muscles, and a ball player uses just about every muscle there is.

Batting practice is also essential, right from the beginning. During the early training days, the batters just try to meet the ball, getting their batting eyes, and the pitchers merely lob up the ball, intent on working on their control. The infielders get a good chance to work on their defensive skills by fielding batting practice balls.

Divided Squad
Because of the unusually large size of the squad this year—45 players in all—it has been split into two groups from the outset, a procedure that normally doesn't occur until sometime later in the training program. One squad is made up largely of the regulars, the other of what we in baseball term the "scrubbies," the rookie and utility players.

I can remember when I was a member of the "scrubbies." It was 1927, and I was a brash, 19-year-old pitcher from Indianapolis, where I had compiled an 8-7 record. I was a cocky kid, with just two years of baseball experience, and I thought I could get ahead faster by shooting my mouth off. I could throw pretty good but I didn't have sufficient experience. I lasted until just before the training season ended.

When I came back in 1939, with a 22-6 record with Beaumont, Texas, I had quieted down somewhat and I stayed. Fortunately for baseball, most youngsters coming up are not as boisterous as I was. They're a serious young bunch, intent on doing a thorough job.

Golfers Start Outdoor Drills

With the weather finally breaking, another of Plymouth's athletic squads swung into action during the past week. The Rock golfers took advantage of the balmy spring temperatures to start practice for their campaign.

Coach John Sandmann took his young golf team out on the links for the first time Monday to prepare for the 13-match schedule. In defending the league championship the linksters shared in 1954, Coach Sandmann will have only two returning lettermen to build his squad around. Captain Dave Beagle and Tom Carmichael are the only holdovers from the quartet that tied for the league title last season. From the remaining eight candidates, Al Kolak, Tom Sawyer, Bill Rambo, Don Carney, Bob Isbister, Mike Todd, Roger Beers and Staten Lorenz, Coach Sandmann will have to uncover another pair of respectable golfers if he is to challenge for the championship again.

To stave off the most serious threats this year, Redford Union and Bentley, the Rock golfers certainly could use a pair of lads to compare with the co-captains of last year's squad. When Fred Benson and Ty Caplin were lost through graduation, it left a big gap in the Plymouth line-up. Benson and Caplin each played three years of good golf for the locals, topping off their careers with the championship last season, and of some of the best high school golf played in the state.

As of now, the site and date of the league meet is undecided, but the rest of the schedule has been drawn up.

New Golfing Season Begins Officially As Country Club, Hilltop Open Links

CHRIS BURGHARDT (left), manager of Hilltop golf course, watches one of his first golfers on opening day, as Bill Comey of Inkster gets set to tee off.

Hilltop and Plymouth Country Club golf courses opened up last Saturday with the appropriate arrival of seemingly spring and summer weather. According to both club managers, the two links are in good condition for so early in the current season.

Casey Partridge, pro-manager at Country Club, reports no work yet on the course itself due to the poor weather so far this year. But he says that in two or three weeks it will have been rolled, partially resodded and well-groomed for use by local golfers.

In addition Partridge pointed out that the clubhouse basement is soon to be renovated into an attractive party room and the new men's and ladies' locker rooms will be started shortly.

Fees and memberships will remain at about the same price.

Chris Burghardt, pro-manager at Hilltop, said on opening day, "The course is in pretty good shape for this early in the year, but there is a little water along the second fairway." He reported no major changes in the course.

Burghardt plans to have the men's and ladies' locker rooms done over shortly. In addition he will carry a complete line of junior golf equipment for the youngsters and a junior membership for children up to 16 years is slated with regular fees up slightly.

Both courses will be filled up with league golfers during the week nights, but open golf will hold sway on week-ends.

CASEY PARTRIDGE, pro-manager at Plymouth Country Club, checks his caddy carts in preparation for the new link's season which began last Saturday.

22 Hopeful Vie For Tennis Team

Invasion of the local Riverside tennis courts for the first time this year, the Rock netmen began full scale practice for the coming season last Monday.

With 22 boys already signed up for the squad, Coach John McFall is putting the score of candidates through their paces in preparation for the bid-lifter with Trenton on April 22. After less than three weeks of practice, the Plymouth racketeers will open the nine-match schedule against the powerful Trojans on the Riverside courts.

The bulk of the responsibility this year will rest on the four returning lettermen from the 1954 season. The quartet of veterans will be headed by Jim Zukosky, last year's most valuable tennis player. In addition to Zukosky, Bob Bateman, Jerry Steele and Art Losse will be the only boys with any competition under their belts.

The remaining 18 candidates are: Ed Stretanski, Dave Zimmer, Doug Rowe, Bob Kemnitz, Bob Laible, Reed Mason, Fred Libbing, Chuck Moisis, Frank Boyd, Mel Stephenson, Larry Strope, Doug Lock, John Carr, Lee Huber, Tom Rowe, Bill Brandell, Jim Gibson and Dick Bennett. From this list Coach McFall will have to find the best prospects to back up the four returning lettermen.

The nine matches the netmen will play this year:

April 22	Trenton (H)
April 28	Belleville (A)
May 2	Northville (A)
May 5	Bentley (H)
May 9	Trenton (A)
May 12	Southfield (H)
May 18	Northville (H)
May 24	Belleville (H)
May 26	Bentley (A)

All of Plymouth's home matches will be played on the Riverside courts, starting at 4:00.

Softball Managers to Meet

The initial meeting of the managers of the local recreation "A" and "B" softball leagues is slated to be held in the Plymouth recreation offices April 13. At that time Director Herb Woolweaver and the team managers will discuss the set-up and rules of the coming softball season.

Better Softball Lighting Seen for Local Diamond

One of the finest softball diamonds in the state is the hope of Plymouth recreation officials this week as plans are being made to improve the lighting facilities on the playing field behind the high school. The hopes hinge on the approval of the cost of the new lighting by the board of education.

In its meeting last week, the local recreation commission voted to allot sufficient funds in order to finance the cost of the improvement. If the board of education approves the move at its meeting later this month, work will begin immediately so as to have the additional lighting ready for the new season which begins May 30.

According to Plymouth Recreation Director Herb Woolweaver the improvements will consist of two new lighting poles in the outfield, plus adding new lamps to the six poles that already stand at the side-lines. This improvement will eliminate the switching of the lights from the football field to the softball diamond each year.

By doing away with the switch of lights annually the new lighting set-up will be able to pay for itself eventually. Woolweaver explained how the cost of the change of lights ran close to $115 each time it was undertaken. With the new set-up, illumination of a night of softball will cost between six and eight dollars.

"We've been planning this new lighting for five or six years," said Woolweaver last week. "We've been saving our nickels literally." He expressed a hope that the plan can be completed by May 15.

"The recreation department has been indebted to the sponsors for some time," he added, "and with a properly lighted field we can show our appreciation for their support in our recreation program."

TEXAS PROPAGANDA?

Dallas, Texas.—On a letter which recently showed up at the Dallas Post Office, addressed to "St. Peter, Pearly Gates, Heaven," a postal clerk had scrawled, "Try Texas." The letter was postmarked, "Gatlinburg, Tenn."

The first railroad to be built in the United States west of the Alleghenies was located in Michigan. In 1836 the Erie and Kalamazoo Railroad completed a 35-mile line between Toledo—then a Michigan city—and Adrina.

COELACANTH CAUGHT

Paris.—What is believed to be the first full-grown female coelacanth—the fish that has come down virtually unchanged from prehistoric ages—was recently caught off Anjouan Island of the Comores group in the Indian Ocean. The 67-inch-long specimen, complete with 60 eggs, was delivered in perfect condition to scientists at Tananarive, capital of Madagascar.

Besides being the motor capital of the world, Detroit is also the salt center of the United States. Located in the city as well, are some of the country's largest drug and rubber manufacturing plants.

Ford Reprimands Monroe Strikers

Disciplinary action against 41 employees held responsible for an unauthorized work stoppage March 23 at the Monroe, Mich. parts plant of Ford Motor Company was announced today by Ford Motor Company.

The company stated: "On March 23, 1955, a group of employees at the Ford Motor Company Monroe plant left their jobs without authorization—and without having filed a grievance either orally or in writing—and established a picket line, thus preventing other employees from reporting for work. "This stoppage was in direct violation of the company's contract with the UAW-CIO and was denounced by both the international union and Local 723, UAW-CIO, as unauthorized and unsanctioned.

"As a result of this stoppage, the company today discharged 15 employees and imposed one-week disciplinary layoffs against 26 other employees responsible for the stoppage.

"The March 23 stoppage was the 23rd unauthorized work interruption at the Monroe plant since 1950, giving it one of the worst labor records of any Ford Motor Company plant."

Easter Hope

Dr. Glenn M. Frye

Assistant to Bishop Marshall R. Reed of Michigan Methodism

When evil has done its worst, things are not out of hand with God. That is one fact the crucifixion and resurrection mean to me.

Jesus was a promising but brash young man who offended the leaders of his Nation and paid the death penalty for it, so wagging heads thought on that sad Friday. Though He had bet his life that Love was at the center of the universe, He had lost.

Even his disillusioned followers believed their hopes dashed for a new kingdom of the Jews on earth, and went back to their old job of fishing.

But the grave could not contain Him, who did the perfect will of His Father God. Great stones and imperial seals were not able to keep Love confined.

Evil had its day of violence but He, the incarnation of beauty, truth and righteousness, was the very stuff of God's own Being.

"Though the cause of evil prosper,
Yet 'tis truth alone is strong;
Though her portion be the scaffold,
And upon the throne be wrong;
Yet that scaffold sways the future,
And, behind the dim unknown,
Standeth God within the shadow

As in creation, God said, "Let there be light, and there was light." God now said, "Stand forth, released from the chains of body, time and space!" Jesus rose!

His spirit walks abroad everywhere. To every penitent soul He comes with forgiveness. To every crushed spirit he inspires courage. To every faithful dying he brings life.

When the world's evil has done its worst with His Son things were not out of hand with God. That's the Christian's Easter hope.

But note, evil can do its worst.

Our immortal spirits live in a material, animal-like body. Accidents can befall us and our loved ones. Diseases can maim and kill. Christians can suffer. These are not marks of God's displeasure. For by faith we can be true in the darkness as well as in the light.

Wicked men can rob us of our wealth, depression can sweep away our savings, war can bring untold loss and suffering.

Even secularization and atheistic disbelief can, for a time, wear down the love of God and Kingdom service. Evil can do its worst.

But when evil has done its worst, things are not out of hand with God.

Great souls rise above diseased bodies. A victim of spinal paralysis in a small Illinois town, by letter writing, raised over $20,000 in fifteen years. She helped nearly half a hundred native students through College in their own lands. Countless modern heroes of faith have risen above financial loss and bereavement to prove that it is not what happens to a person that defeats him but what happens in him.

After the world has done its worst to us, things are not out of hand with God if we are in God's hand.

How do we place ourselves in God's care and keeping? Some feel that they can do it by going to church alone. There is a great resurgence of interest in spiritual things, in religion and in worship today in America. Going to church without change in life, cannot place us in God's hands.

There is a simple and profound way. Turn from living with self at the center and turn to Christ's will and purpose for life, as we read in Scripture and know right from wrong. This turning from sin and self to God is repentance. It brings us home to God. We are forgiven. There is nothing now between us and the Father heart. Reconciled, guilt gone, joy in His fellowship reigns supreme.

There is a second step. Commitment. When we put our bodies, brain, powers, family, possessions, all in His hands by an act of surrender, He accepts it. When we promise Him that all of these possessions shall be used from each detail to large issues, only in obedience to the Inner Voice, which comes through Scripture, worship and prayer, He comes.

When we repent He forgives. When we commit our lives to Him the spirit of the Father and the Son comes and takes His home in our hearts. Those who are hosts to His spirit are in His hands.

This commitment is the death of self-will. "Except a grain of wheat fall into the ground and die it cannot bring forth life." But how much we gain. This is a hope of Easter. When the world has done its worst with us, things are not out of hand with God, for we are in His hands.

More, we become his agents. His spirit now witnessing to the great Easter hope in all we say and do, through all our vocation, grows in other human hearts.

Even the hydrogen bomb holds no terrors for those who witness to His truth. Their witness changes those who use bombs. This vast power of God now becomes a blessing, a constructive good, rather than an evil with the blight of universal death. Our puny strength cannot accomplish these wondrous things. It is God's spirit within us.

"Not by might, nor by power, but by Thy spirit," does such hope come.

Forgiven, forgiving, obedient, as Christ-men we can become victorious, radiant, invincible.

This is hope at Easter time.

Better Value

The March issue of Fortune carries an item about retail prospects for the immediate future. Most retailers, it seems, expect a huge volume of business.

But this does not mean that retailers think moving merchandise will be an automatic or easy process—or that the anticipated heavy consumer demand will make it possible for them to increase the small percentage of profits that they now get from each dollar of sales. Fortune says: "There is very little disposition to add to markups. Competition is keen so the policy is 'Increase the volume, watch the overhead.' Manufacturers are not raising their prices either."

This is good news to all consumers. More than that, it provides an excellent example of how the free enterprise system works. Our purchasing power is at or near an all-time high. Consumer buying of every kind of merchandise is running at enormous levels. Yet, vast as the consumption is, our production and distribution systems keep up with it as a matter of routine and in some cases exceed it. When that is the case no manufacturer and no seller can earn more than a moderate profit. For, if he tries to run his prices up, his competitors will undercut him and take away his business.

In the last two years, prices in general have been exceptionally stable—the indicators have varied only one or two per cent. At the same time, there have been significant improvements in a great many of the things we buy—which is another result of intense competition. The consumer gets better value all the time.

We Repeat

ANTIGO, WISC., DAILY JOURNAL: "Giving something familiar a new name tends either to commend it or to arouse new fears. The word 'automaton,' for instance, suggests a brand new class of machines—different from any which we have ever had before, and, according to U. S. Steel Chairman Benjamin F. Fairless, it 'conjures up visions of a wholly automatic factory where machines with super-brains will grind out products without any human payroll whatever.' Speaking before the annual dinner of the Greater Johnstown Chamber of Commerce he said 'there are no such factories and no such machines; nor will there ever be either in my time or yours.'"

ST. JOHN, KAN., NEWS: "Time was, not so long ago, when the storekeeper braced himself for Saturday, knowing that he would make his weekly monetary kill that day . . . Saturday was the big buying day. Barbers scraped and clipped early and late, movies were jammed, cars were stacked all over the place . . . Trading habits have changed with home freezers, and automobiles for every day shopping . . ."

MANSFIELD, O., NEWS-JOURNAL: "A salutary New York law, passed last year, requires all state officials with an interest of $10,000 or more in a state-regulated business to file this information with the secretary of state . . . Legislators sometimes do have a financial interest in matters coming before them, and in some cases unfortunately fail to reveal the fact. It is no mere desire to snoop that gives this information public interest."

Results Speak

Seventeen states now have right-to-work laws which permit a worker to decide for himself whether to join or not to join a union, without coercion from either the union or the employer, and without union membership being necessary to his employment.

A survey has been made of the nine states which passed right-to-work laws in 1947, 1948 and 1949, and so have had them long enough to know the results. Between 1947 and 1953 non-agricultural employment in these states increased 21 per cent as against 14 per cent for the nation as a whole. The number of business establishments increased 24 per cent, as against 15 per cent nationally. And wages and salaries were up 69 per cent as against 59 per cent for the entire country.

Q—Is the so-called Hoover Commission a bi-partisan Commission?
A—Technically it is bi-partisan, the legal entity as set up by Congress including six Democrats and six Republicans with Mr. Hoover as Chairman. However the resolution also calls for a vice chairman who has never been elected, and Solomon Hollister, a Republican, acts as executive director. The first Hoover Commission named by President Truman operated under Mr. Hoover as chairman and Mr. Dean Acheson, a Democrat, as vice-chairman. But there is a private organization, privately financed, known as the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report, which is not considered bipartisan, and which issues releases concerning the work of the Hoover Commission which are far from bi-partisan.

AGE-OLD EASTER MESSAGE

Roger Babson

Check Locale of Retirement Spot Carefully

Babson Park, Massachusetts. This time of year I get many letters as to the best place to live from people about to be pensioned. They seem to favor Florida, California, Arizona, and other Southern States. They appear to be tiring of cold winters.

WHERE TO GO?

Localities which are attractive and have good business during the winter months may be unpleasant and unprofitable during the summer. The reverse is also true. Certainly no state or county or community has all the advantages. The birds learned this after millions of years' experience! I selected summer headquarters in New England and winter headquarters in Florida—even before man had joined the birds in air transportation. A warm climate would doubtless be desirable for an older couple; but it may not be wise for a young couple with children. There is something debilitating and enervating in climates that are too warm, especially when the heat is of long duration. Statistics published by Yale University show that the most energetic and intelligent people develop under marked contrast of climate. The "terrible weather changes" of New England may have created the energy which financed so many farms and cities and built railroads across the United States.

IMPORTANCE OF INCOME

The much-advertised growth of such states as Florida, California, and Arizona does not stem from new babies, or agricultural producers. "Newcomers" are moving in to retire and take it easy. They must be sure a check will come from the North each month to use as a nest egg or backlog. I refer to pension money, insurance, rents on northern property—or dividends on stocks or interest on bonds or mortgages. Social Security checks are a help, but they will not pay all the bills in any state to which people are now flocking.

Don't expect a big dip in living costs in these delightful winter climates. You may not need so much fuel or electricity or clothing, but food and rents cost as much, considering what you get. There is no reduction in doctors' or dentists' or hospital bills; while beauty-parlor bills are reported to be higher! Florida does give homestead tax exemption or property up to $5,000. Different states and cities have different ways of collecting taxes, but in the end they add up to about the same.

A JOB OR A BUSINESS

Many retired men get restless after a while. If you want a job, get work in something in which you are trained. If considering a business of your own, work on salary before buying. Caretakers' Service, Collection Agencies, Tree Nurseries, Diaper Services, Frozen-Food Deliveries, Clothes Repairing and Pressing, Manufacturers' representatives, Spraying, estate, to get the feeling! Real-Estate look best to me.

What about buying a home? This is not a bad idea but there are certain qualifications you should consider: Near stores and churches; with land for a vegetable garden and possible future sale of an extra lot; and in a section which is improving and not declining. Better live in a community a year before buying real estate, to get the feeling! Real-estate values are determined by feelings and not figures.

FINAL ADVICE

You can select a state to which to move by studying maps, real-estate booklets, and other propaganda. Then write to the STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE located at the capital of the state that you are thinking of moving to. Tell them you would appreciate information regarding different localities, climate, and opportunities. But do not select any locality of that state without first visiting it, even if you need a leave-of-absence from your job in order to do this. In closing, just a word of financial advice: IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR ACREAGE, BUY LAND ADJOINING SOME OWNED BY THE UNITED STATES AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT AND USED AS AN EXPERIMENT STATION. THIS SHOULD BE GOOD LAND AND EASY TO DISPOSE OF IF YOU EVER WISH TO SELL AT A PROFIT. THIS APPLIES TO ALL STATES.

QUOTES

CLARENCE FAUST, president, Fund for the Advancement of Education: "A liberal education in a true sense is the capacity to think profitably about important questions and to liberate the mind from prejudices."

IRENE MDIVANI, Princess of Soviet Socialist Republic of Georgia: "The American woman worries too much about staying young"

THELMA STEVENS, executive secretary, Woman's Division, Methodist Board of Missions: "The word 'peace' is in disrepute because it has become a propaganda word of the Communists."

DWIGHT CULVER, Purdue University professor: "The Christian churches, Roman Catholic and Protestant, are the most segregated institutions in America."

WILLIAM O. DOUGLAS, Supreme Court Justice: "The ultimate political settlement of the China problem involves recognition of two Chinas and the grant of seats in the United Nations to both of them."

ARMY SECRETARY STEVENS: "Large-scale hot wars may, if proper precautions are taken, become suicidal for the aggressor."

College Bulge Worries State

MASS PRODUCTION EDUCATION is getting a lot of attention from those shocked at statistics. College presidents tell the legislature that the 100,000 students on over-crowded Michigan campuses will grow to 200,000 by 1970. They present figures showing that $150,000,000 will be needed to enlarge the four year colleges to handle the flood.

That's the point where Senator Don VanderWerp (R-Fremont) stepped in.

"We simply must not build vast empires at Michigan State College and the University of Michigan," he said.

VanderWerp, a former weekly newspaper publisher who never lost his ability for a direct, well-considered attack at the heart of a problem, figures that if education is to become big business, then big businessmen should be consulted.

He takes a dark view of educators building campuses when their training is for building character in scholars and courses in curricula.

So, VanderWerp is pushing his proposal to organize a committee of business and industrial executives to tell the state how to build a statewide educational plant.

First, he wants Michigan State and the University to concentrate on the last two years of work and offer advanced courses, leaving the first two years mainly to others.

His tentative plan calls for state aid to community and junior colleges in all parts of the state, financial assistance to church-connected colleges according to the number of students taught.

"I can see no danger to the theory that the church and state should be separated," he said.

Preliminary findings indicate to VanderWerp that the state could save up to $50,000,000 to the estimated $150,000,000 the college presidents seek if his plan is carried out.

State aid would go only to those community and junior and church-connected colleges offering courses directing a student toward the larger schools and advanced work.

From a personal standpoint, he figures that it will be easier for a student fresh out of high school to get his first two years of college nearer home.

Some do not have the ready money, he said, to embark on a costlier try at the bigger schools. They could budget their cash—a sum for the first two years, but the bulk to be spent on advanced work—when and if they go on.

"These four-year colleges don't specialize anyway in the first two years," he said.

VanderWerp told of enrolling at the University of Michigan and telling his advisor that he wanted to specialize in economics.

"He told me rather curtly that I had two years of college work to complete before I could specialize," VanderWerp said. "I could just as well have taken that two years nearer home and at less expense."

VanderWerp feels deeply about the problem. He is chairman of the Senate committee on education.

He feels that students from small communities could get "lost on the big campuses where there are thousands of others" before getting their start in college work on a local level.

VanderWerp said he would not advocate expanding the number of community and junior colleges—just build them up with state aid to the point where they could handle the first two years.

Going a step farther, Senator Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo) is interested in expanding the teacher's colleges to take the strain off the two major state institutions at Ann Arbor and East Lansing.

Joining with VanderWerp, he suggests making community colleges regional—enabling nearby counties to send their students for the first two years to a campus nearer home.

Whether VanderWerp's ideas will be adopted despite heavy pressure to immediately start building at Ann Arbor and East Lansing is still in doubt.

However, he and others have sponsored a proposal to organize a committee of business and industrial executives to get started on plans for "decentralized education" in Michigan.

Top educators will be enlisted as "advisors" to the committee, VanderWerp said, adding:

"Educators are specialists with one-track minds. They're like doctors and lawyers. We wouldn't hire doctors to teach agriculture or a doctor to try a case in court."

"By the same token, we should be smart enough to get businessmen and builders to plan construction projects. We can save money and get a better product."

★ THINKING OUT LOUD ★

One question, sometimes controversial, sometimes personal is asked each week by The Mail of four pedestrians along Plymouth's downtown streets. This week's guests are "thinking out loud" on the question:

"With this being spring housecleaning time, it would be a good time to ask your opinion about the amount of work done by you compared with your mother or grandmother. Some argue that modern-day women work as hard while others say that women today really have it soft. What is your opinion?"

MRS. R. C. LOUNSBURY, 638 S. Harvey: "I don't see why we should have as much hard work when we have all these electric appliances. A woman should have much more spare time today with the help of these wonderful things."

MRS. HAROLD JOUSMA, 674 Evergreen: "I don't think we have as much to do because we save work with modern appliances. The modern woman can give much more time to other activities than their grandmothers."

Mrs. Lounsbury Mrs. Jousma Mrs. Daley Mrs. Turnbow

MRS. BEATRICE DALY, 11670 Brownell: "We have more time now that we have modern facilities such as refrigerators, washers and dryers. But we use our time in doing other things such as working in church circles, charity and other activities."

MRS. BONNIE TURNBOW, 4240 Parkhurst: "Women have more time to go out in public than ever before because of the modern conveniences. Because they have this extra time, more women than ever hold jobs like I do. Although we keep just as busy, our mothers and grandmothers actually did harder physical labor."

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

Mrs. Milton Laible busily whips up the family's favorite one-dish meal, "Macaroni Soup."

Milton Laibles Recommend German Dish

A German recipe that provides an entire meal in one, tasty dish has been recommended by Mrs. Milton Laible of 107 South Main street as a top favorite with members of her family.

"Macaroni Soup" was a specialty of Mr. Laible's grandmother, Mrs. Laible of Saginaw, the recipe for which has been handed down to the present third generation cook.

Macaroni Soup
Cube large slice of round steak (approximately 2 pounds). Brown meat in skillet, using either suet or butter. Add one good-sized onion, chopped, one quart of canned tomatoes, and 1 tablespoon of sugar.

Let simmer until meat is very tender. Place in large saucepan and add one quart of milk, 1/2 pound of butter, salt and pepper to taste and a package of hot, cooked macaroni. Mix together. Serves 8.

Variations on the recipe include the addition of a stalk of celery in place of the onion, or using a combination of the two ingredients. A tablespoon of vinegar may also be added to the meat.

Leftovers are also good and may be used as a casserole dish by removing the liquid, sprinkling cheese over the top of the mixture and baking it in the oven.

Auxiliary Units To Aid Program On Child Welfare

Solution to the nation's child welfare problems which are mounting in seriousness as the child population increases will be sought through the newly established American Legion Child Welfare Foundation, Mrs. Melva Gardner, Child Welfare chairman of the Passage-Gayde unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, has announced.

The Auxiliary is raising $50,000 to contribute to the Foundation as a special national project for 1955. This fund is coming from donations from the Auxiliary's 14,000 local units throughout the country, with no public appeal being made. The money will enable the Foundation to begin research and surveys aimed toward finding answers to questions regarding the welfare of children of war veterans.

"With approximately sixty per cent of America's children, now being children of veterans, The American Legion and Auxiliary are carrying a heavy load in fulfilling their responsibilities for the welfare of these children," said Mrs. Gardner. "We feel that old methods are not adequate for meeting the new problems that are arising, and we are seeking a broader approach to these problems. We are hoping that the projects to be sponsored by the new Foundation will show us ways to serve more effectively for the physical, mental, emotional and spiritual welfare of veterans' children and all children."

"The changed conditions under which children of today are growing up call for increased attention to character development, emotional and spiritual growth. The home chores which formerly kept children busy and gave them a sense of worth and importance have largely disappeared in this age of push-button living. They must find other outlets for their abundant energies, and too many of them are finding outlets in directions which lead to juvenile courts. This is just one of the many problems to which we hope to find a satisfactory solution through intensive study and research made possible by the Legion's new Foundation."

Lamp Should Fulfill Purpose Of Supplying Light, Charm

A table lamp may add charm to your living room, but if it does not give enough light, it does not serve its real purpose.

To remedy this light problem, experts in the home management and child development at Michigan State college suggest using the new R-40 "white" light bulb.

They explain that it is more expensive than ordinary bulbs because of an extra coating of powder on the inside and so is worth the extra cost.

This coating makes for greater diffusion of light and often eliminates the need for a bowl in the lamp. The experts explain that the more light is diffused, the better the quality of light. The "white" light bulb also has less glare when looking at it directly than an ordinary bulb.

To use the new "white" light you may have to remove the metal support for the shade and replace it with a broad harp support. For good lighting the base of table lamps should be 25 inches or more in height and open-top shades should have a bottom diameter of 16 inches.

The new "white" light bulbs are available in 80,100, and 150 watts and a 50-100-150 watt three-way bulb. They can also be used in pin-to-the-wall lamps and the small floor type lamps.

When you cook eggs use low heat to insure the best flavor and texture.

Dry Milk Offers Needed Foods At Low Cost

Everyone needs his milk. A good way to get the right amount of milk nutrients in your diet is to use non-fat dry milk solids.

According to Michigan State College foods specialists, the two big advantages in using non-fat dry milk solids are these: First, the low cost enables more people to buy the essential food nutrients for less. And second, it reduces waste and gives more efficient use of the milk produced.

Dry milk may absorb moisture and become lumpy. To prevent this, keep it in a tightly closed container in a cool place. Warm temperatures tempt the development of off-flavors. Because of the low fat content, dry milk does not tend to become rancid fast, and should have good shelf life.

Dry milk solids usually do not have to be made into a fluid before using. Use the dry form by combining it with the other dry ingredients and adding the water as you would fluid milk. Some dishes require the fluid milk. When reconstituted, non-fat dry milk solids can be used exactly as fluid milk.

Leftover Lamb Fits Into Menu For Easter Time

With roast lamb left from dinner, you have ideal "makings" for savory lamb pies. Perhaps this will be your choice for Easter Sunday night supper.

In preparing six servings you will need 2 cups of cooked, diced lamb. Brown the meat along with one onion, which has been sliced, in 2 tablespoons of lard or drippings. When browned, add 1 can of condensed vegetable soup, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper to season and ¼ cup of water. Cover the meat and simmer for 10 minutes.

At the end of this time, pour the hot mixture into a casserole or in individual casseroles if you like. Top the meat with pimiento biscuit rings. You can mix the dry ingredients and lard for the biscuit in advance, then for supper you simply need to add the milk and pimiento. Cut the dough with a doughnut cutter and place a ring on each meat pie. Bake in a 400° F. oven for 15 minutes. Serve with a crisp salad and a simple dessert.

Heat apple cider with a small stick of cinnamon, some whole cloves and whole allspice; add brown sugar to taste. Serve piping hot in mugs topped with freshly-ground nutmeg. Delicious with crackers and a cheddar cheese spread.

Hospitality Shines on Easter Morning

Begin the Easter brunch with Hot Cross Buns, fresh fruit and coffee while the Springtime Casserole bakes and sausages cook.

Easter Sunday is meant to be observed in the morning. The very name is thought to have come, in part, from the word meaning "down" in Sanskrit, an ancient language.

This year, your Easter brunch can be served leisurely. Hearty appetites brought home from sunrise services can be satisfied immediately with Hot Cross Buns, oven warmed while the coffee perks. The spice of the buns traditionally typifies the spices brought by the faithful women to the tomb on that first Easter morning.

With the buns, serve a refreshing surprise—fresh pineapple and strawberries—designed for eating at ease. While your family and guests are enjoying the first course you will have time to combine and bake the entrée—Springtime Casserole—a cloud-light fondue which features cheese and bread cubes folded into beaten egg whites. Most of the kitchen time can be taken care of the day before by grating the cheese, cubing the bread and preparing the fruit.

Springtime Casserole
3 tablespoons shortening or margarine
4½ tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
Dash cayenne pepper
1½ cups milk
¾ cup (¼ pound) grated processed cheese
3 egg yolks, beaten
1½ cups soft ½" bread cubes
3 egg whites

Melt shortening in a small saucepan. Blend in flour, salt and cayenne pepper. Add milk and cook until thick. Add cheese and stir until melted. Gradually add cheese sauce to beaten egg yolks. Add soft bread cubes and mix well. Beat egg whites until stiff and dry. Fold into cheese mixture. Pour into a greased 1½ quart casserole. Set casserole in a pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven (325° F.) for one hour. Serve immediately. YIELD: 6 servings.

Textile Experts Give Clothing, Household Tips

Spring thaws and dirty water on sidewalks and streets that result from them easily cause spots on trouser legs and long skirts. Take care of them right away, warn research technicians of the laundry industry. If spots are allowed to "set" they may permanently stain. Tackle them by brushing off the loose soil, then gently spot the stain with soap and water. Above all never press the spotted garment, for the heat of the iron will make the stain permanent. Do what you can to remove the spots, then send the garment to your laundry.

If you are wearing white gloves this spring, keeping them in a plastic freezer bag will keep them clean, fresh and ready for use in your purse. They'll retain their shape, whiteness and new appearance lots longer! It's also wise, say laundry technicians to wear them only once, then have them laundered. Keep a spare pair so that it will be easier to have both pairs neat and clean.

Winter blankets ready for storage over the summer should be sent to your local laundry. By washing them at home excess damage from shrinkage and felting will result because home washers spin too hard and too fast and because washing formulas and water temperatures are not accurate. The local laundry has special blanket washing equipment and washing formulas developed especially for the bedcover. Laundries also mothproof and pack blankets for safe storage.

It's easier to prevent mildew than remove its stains, beside being easier on the fabric! No magic has yet been devised for removal of the greyish stains caused by the mildew parasite that feeds on warm, damp fabrics. Since damage usually results from even scientific efforts to re-

In freezing egg whites, home economists say it is important to avoid getting even a drop of yolk in the whites. If a bit should get in, remove it with the tip of a spoon. Otherwise they won't whip as well.

Often round steak is cut into two parts called top round and bottom round.

SOUP SCOOPS

KIDDIE cooks will thrill with pride when Mother lets them prepare the main dish. One they can make... Eggs à la King. It's also timely, for there are more eggs in the stores these days than can be found in the land of the Easter Bunny.

This recipe for Eggs à la King is "child's play" because the sauce is made with condensed soup. Cream of chicken or mushroom will do. A bit of help from Mother, when it comes to cooking and slicing eggs. Then the lad or lassie can take over.

Eggs à la King
1 can (1½ cups) condensed cream of chicken or mushroom soup
¾ cup milk
4 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
¼ cup finely chopped pimiento
4 slices buttered toast

Blend soup and milk; heat. Add eggs and pimiento; stir gently. Serve on toast. 4 servings.

Fashion World Salutes Navy This Spring

Navy blue with frosty touches of white has become almost a fashion synonym for spring. And in this spring of 1955 this is truer than ever!

Throughout the fashion picture navy emerges as the overwhelming color choice.

In all types of ready-to-wear—dresses, coats, suits, costume and sportswear—navy is so far ahead of other colors that it easily captures the '55 spring color crown.

Navy lends itself beautifully to color accessorizing. The fashion-wise woman loves to punctuate her navy outfit with crisp touches of white or eye-catching notes of gay red, pink, vivid green, or soft yellow. For this reason, most of the navy blue suits for spring are shown unadorned to allow a wide scope in color accents.

Navy coats are a three-to-one choice for spring. One important reason is that costume-minded women can team a navy coat with a navy background print for a smart duo.

Giving the spring showing of navy gresses a special 1955 look is the lavish use of lace frosting! Necklines are the focal point of interest with Flemish collars, lace-outlined scoop necklines, capelets, and small high collars adding an extra note of elegance to slimlined navy frocks.

Organdie, linen, pique, and satin are also used to add that pring-fresh accent.

Matching lace cuffs appear often on these lovely Easter mind-dresses to add that important fashion "plus" to spring navy.

All pockets in or on wool clothing should be reinforced with wigan or muslin to ease the strain on the fabric.

Three Basic Types Will Meet Most Needs As Reflected in Current Building Trends

Typical of most popular trends in small home construction as reflected from the activities of the Small House Planning Bureau of St. Cloud, Minn., are the three homes pictured below with elevation sketches that sparked their construction.

The pictures present the split level, single level and the story and a half types accounting for the major part of today's voluminous activity in the small house field.

Each represents a functional meeting of its owner's requirements as described in terms of size and character of the home site, living habits of the family, its building budget and other pertinent factors.

The problem of the owner of the split-level home (Design B-

Ground area is 951 sq. ft. and cubage is 16,883 cu. ft. for Plan B-284 and 12,071 sq. ft. for Plan B-284-A.

The owner of the house built from Design D-222 found in this plan the answer to his need for a large attic, which can later be finished off into a third bedroom as the growing needs of his family may dictate.

The elevation sketch shows how closely the plans were followed and indicates how attractive even a small rectangular house can be made by inexpensive means.

The first floor comprises a living room, two bedrooms, combination kitchen-dining and bathroom. Adjoining bathroom and kitchen with laundry directly below, reduce the cost of the plumbing installation.

Exterior finish is wide siding, asphalt shingles and planting area under the picture window.

Ground area is 832 sq. ft. with cubage of 17,888 cu. ft.

The largest percentage of homes being built today call for three bedrooms, and Design C-132 meets this requirement in a house that has all living facilities on one level.

The side on which this house was built is a corner lot and the owner added a breezeway connecting the utility room with a garage, with driveway from the side street. Otherwise the working drawings were faithfully followed except for the minor details of omitting shutters on the bedroom window and using a paneled front door.

Features of the plan include fireplace with bookshelves, living-dining room combination, vestibule with coat closet, corner sink, kitchen dining space and ample closet space. Exterior finish includes stone facing, wide siding and asphalt shingles. Ground area is 1,319 cu. ft. and cubage is 25,572 cu. ft.

DESIGN H-304

A large picture window and a natural fireplace add charm to the living room of this attractive one-story brick ranch home. The dining room is separate with good window area and a built-in china cabinet. The kitchen provides ample eating space under a front window. There are three good sized bedrooms with plenty of closet space and an extra closet located on either side of the hall linen closet. For further information about DESIGN H-304, write the Building Editor, The Plymouth Mail.

Banish Moisture From Crawl Space

According to a recent survey, over half of all new one-story houses are built without a basement. Many of these have left crawl spaces of only 18 inches to 4 feet between the floor and the ground. In such areas, moisture may be drawn to the surface of the ground by capillary action and evaporated into the atmosphere between the floor and the ground. As a consequence, the water vapor in this space usually becomes excessive. This moisture often finds its way into the interior of the wall space and causes damage to the wood structure. Moisture from this source, as a matter of fact, may be greater than from all other sources combined.

Proper drainage of the crawl space should be provided so that water will not collect in this area. Surfacing the crawl space with waterproof concrete or a layer of heavy 55 lb. coated roll roofing, lapped 3 inches, will prevent the moisture from getting into the space between the ground and the house.

Paint Averts "Evil Eye"

Fishermen of Caparica, Portugal, have no wish to draw the "evil eye" in the direction of their endeavors. To avert any such bad luck, they paint eyes on the prows of their fishing boats — a precaution also taken by the Phoenicians centuries ago.

LARGE AND SPACIOUS is this beautiful fireplace that is the center of attraction in the living room of the Leo Arnold home at 8975 Beck road. A built-in arrangement surrounded by Tennessee ledge rock, also featured is a small raised hearth. In addition to the left of the fireplace is a smart planter box set in the step of the ledge rock.

Stacked Storage
The three-dimension kitchen of today stacks the storage instead of the pots and pans. Here is handy 3-D stacked storage in a kitchen built of west coast hemlock. Note how every bit of space is utilized: storage trays use all space in this opening and sliding vertical drawers provide easy-to-reach hanging room for pots, frying pans, long-handled tools. The nice thing about building a kitchen of wood is that you can use your individual ideas and take advantage of every foot of space because wood is so flexible.
For ornamental copper and brass pieces that are not used for food or beverages, Wayne county home agents suggest covering with a clear lacquer for a permanent luster. This saves time spent in removing tarnish.

Face Lifting Old Wall
Tired of the same old papered or plastered walls? It is easy to have lovely grained paneled walls of west coast hemlock or even Douglas fir. Take narrow strips of fir lumber, 1x2, 1x3 or 1x4 inches, called furring strips. To give even backing for your wall panel boards and also nailing surface, place the furring strips over the old wall parallel to the floor at about two foot intervals. Top and bottom strips should be along floor and ceiling line. Try to nail furring strips to studs. You can tap around with your hammer until you find location of each stud line. Now you have good even surface for nailing paneling boards.

284) was to build a four-bed room house on a narrow, level lot without making it two stories. A one-story plan with four bedrooms would require an area out of proportion to the lot. He therefore chose Design B-284, a four-level plan with a ground area of only 951 square feet. This gave him the four bedrooms he needed along with space for laundry and rumpus room in the basement under the living room and kitchen.

Changes in details included the elimination of the fireplace and vertical redwood on the front of the house and the substitution of a different type of picture window.

Ground floor plan B-284-R affords an alternate choice, when two bedrooms will suffice. In this version, there are three levels, with basement under the bedroom wing only. The living room and kitchen are on a concrete slab.

Exterior finish of this house, as set forth in the original specifications, includes bevel siding, vertical redwood, asphalt shingles and face brick chimney and planter. All rooms are reached from the rear hall and entry, and storage space is provided in wardrobe closets, linen and coat closets.

Browsing with BARBARA

You folks with the forward look can really take advantage of the spring's "in-between" period experienced now by heating and air-conditioning suppliers.

Take "Doc" Otwell's Heating on 265 West Ann Arbor road, for instance. Right now is their slow period when they're offering really good discounts on most of their items.

Seems to me that a smart homeowner would take advantage of the times and plan ahead for the family's summer and winter comfort by picking up a combination heating and air conditioning unit at reduced price.

Along this line you can get through Otwell's the Carrier Residential Weathermaker, a combination unit designed to keep your home comfortably cool in summer and cozy next winter. The flick of a small lever alternates it from the air conditioner to the winter heater.

A compact unit, the Carrier Weathermaker takes up less than 10 square feet of floor space and can be easily installed in utility rooms, basement, attic and even in closets adjoining bedrooms—it's that quiet.

Weathermakers are also available for stores, offices and restaurants, and you know the advantages to be gained customer-wise by installing air-conditioning.

ABOUT YOUR LAWN AND GARDEN

Get Soil Ready For Planting

Spading or plowing in the spring is the best way to prepare soil for planting. This is the conclusion of researchers, after considering all the objections to these time tried practices.

Since plowing is impractical in small areas, the home gardener is advised to use the spade, but with judgement. Do not try to turn over the whole garden in one day, unless your muscles are hardened to this kind of work.

One hour a day for eight days will turn over to spade depth 1,500 square feet, and leave its owner without even sore muscles. It is important that you do not skimp on the depth of spading. Drive the blade straight down, never at an angle, so that you get full benefit of its 12-inch blade. Limit the area that you spade each day rather than the depth to which the soil is turned.

To organize the spading operation, mark out the day's stint—one hour's work. At one end of the area open a trench, piling the soil removed to one side. Then dig an adjoining trench, with the spade at right angles to the first, throwing the soil removed into the first trench to fill it. Continue this until the last trench completes the day's quota of toil, filling the last trench with the pile of soil removed from the first.

Spading loosens the soil, lets air into it, and leaves it in the best condition for both water and air to enter. Spading also can be used to mix with the soil coarse materials which will improve its condition.

Depth of spading has long been a subject for debate. English gardeners, with the experience of centuries behind them, are strong for "trenching" which means turning over the soil two spade lengths, or two feet deep.

One hour's easy work for 8 days will turn over 1,500 square feet.

For roses, perennials, and some annual crops, private gardeners in this country often practice trenching. It is a good way to prepare a perennial bed, where the plants are to grow for several years without disturbance.

But for vegetables, and annual flowers, trenching seems not necessary.

Spacious Living Room Awaits Visitors

This spacious living room greets Plymouth visitors who take time to stop and say hello to former Plymouth residents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew C. Dunn, in their mountain-top home in Asheville, North Carolina. As a wind-up of The Mail's travelling reporter's winter trip, these pictures were brought back for Plymouthites to see and get a first hand view of the Dunn's beautiful home.

Located on the north side of the city atop Horizon Hill in the Beaver Lake area the home commands an inspiring view of the valley far below. The interior is designed somewhat after the former local industrialist's Plymouth home on Burroughs street, but it features a circular living room window where visitors can drink their fill of the beauty of the surrounding landscape.

From a rugged mountain top the five acre site was cut in the hillside and completely planted to complement the beautiful house itself. Future travellers should know that most of the city's good motels are on the north approach to the town and as they sleep in any of them they will awake in the morning to find themselves some few short blocks directly below the inviting Dunn home. And . . . in this conjunction we were asked to remember the Duns to all of their former Plymouth friends and extend an invitation for a visit whenever they might be in the vicinity of Asheville. Mr. Dunn will be remembered here as the founder and president of the Dunn Steel Products which he sold a few years ago to the Townsend Company of Pennsylvania.

Buick's 4-Door Riviera

THIS brand-new kind of automobile—the sensation of all the Auto Shows this year—is now rolling off the Buick assembly lines in volume numbers. That's the first news.

And the second is just as wonderful—this dramatic new model is very definitely everything that eager buyers hoped it would be.

For the 4-Door Riviera is the first "hardtop" ever available with separate doors for rear-seat passengers—plus rear-compartment room big as a Buick-size family sedan.

It comes breezing in with all the low-lined sweep and wide open visibility of Buick's original 2-Door Riviera—and luxurious new spaciousness in its full-length 4-door body.

With windows down, no posts appear for the rear doors, and you get a completely unobstructed view at both sides.

You find rear doors are hinged at their front edges to swing wide and free, and assure easy entrance and exit.

And you'll find legroom, headroom and hip-room extra-generous both front and rear—with interiors tailored in fabrics and patterns specially reserved for the 4-Door Riviera.

Best of all, this new Buick beauty comes off the line in both the low-price SPECIAL Series and the high-powered CENTURY Series.

So you can pick your 4-Door Riviera with the potent performance of a 188-hp or 236-hp Buick V8 engine—the swift getaway and gas saving of Variable Pitch Dynaflo*—the velvet stride of the Million Dollar Ride—the long list of Buick bonus features at no extra cost—and all at "great buy" prices that have helped move Buick into America's "Big Three" of best sellers.

But—better come see us about the 4-Door Riviera now.

With all-out production—and a prompt order—this newest excitement in cars will be yours that much sooner.

Oldest Farm Organization Still Active in Plymouth

If Hial Sly, founder of the Plymouth Grange, could slip into one of the organization's meetings at the Elizabeth street hall today, he would be surprised to find how the organization has grown, changed and yet adhered to many of the principles for which it was originally founded.

The idea to form a Grange was initiated back in 1867 by Oliver Hudson Kelley of Elk River, Minnesota, who with six other like-minded individuals decided to form a fraternal organization in which farmers and their entire families could participate. The group would also serve as a representative body for rural interests in state and national governmental matters.

Patterned along the work of the Masons, the Grange was set up in degree teams, the first four degrees to be the local or subordinate Grange; fifth, the Pomona or county Grange; the sixth, the state; and seventh, the national organization.

On April 10, 1874 Hial Sly organized a local branch of the national organization here in Plymouth, which received its official charter on April 23 of that year. Sly, as first master of the organization, had a nucleus of 55 charter members.

Except for a low spot in the 1890's, when only 16 Grangers could be found in town, membership grew as the years rolled by. By 1914 an all-time high was established with 249 on the membership list.

Activities at the Plymouth Grange Hall also took on a new slant, when in the 1900's a cooperative enterprise was started in which farm materials such as seed, machinery, fence posts, binder twine, etc. were bought and sold on contract at great saving to members of the organization.

Over the years, as a subordinate branch of the national organization, the local Grange backed such legislation as the establishment of a Department of Agriculture, Rural Free delivery and parcel post, which the national Grange was largely instrumental in securing.

Among other national projects were the founding of land grant colleges; agricultural extension service; teaching of vocational agriculture in schools; setting up the Interstate Commerce Commission, Pure Food and Drug Act; sponsoring of 4-H clubs and first national youth movement.

Today the Plymouth Grange, headed by Master John M. Oldenburg, has a membership of 154, a slight increase over last year. Only about 10 per cent or less of the Plymouth Grangers are actually farmers. Age of members ranges from 30 on up.

Interest in the Grange runs high among its members with a large percentage of them turning out for the meetings. Three of its members with the longest affiliations are Sam and Alma Spicer, 46 years, and Mrs. Louis Hutton who has been a Granger for 43 years.

Local Grangers meet twice a month, the first and third Thursdays, for potluck suppers and programs which include travelogues, dramatic skits and talks on recent and proposed state and national legislation affecting rural interests.

A subordinate organization within the Plymouth Grange is the Lily club, named in honor of Mrs. Lily Root who directed the organization's degree team years ago. Organized as a social club of co-workers with Mrs. Root, the present-day Lily club serves as a source of revenue for the Grange. Its main activity, offered to all Grangers, are card games such as Pedro and 500.

Also interested in community affairs, the Plymouth Grange has one of its representatives, Overseer Kenneth Lunn, on the advisory committee to the Plymouth Recreation commission.

Local delegates are sent to the annual meetings of the state Grange. Plymouthite Mrs. Jesse Tritten has been chairman of the State Health committee for the past three years and has also been a member of the State Home Economics committee for six years.

Most recent state legislation backed by the Grange has been the passage of the Hubbell-Roy Bill by both house and senate, designating the White Pine as Michigan's state tree. The Grange also sponsors weekly radio programs from Ann Arbor and East Lansing and will be represented at Farmer's Week at Michigan State in East Lansing this summer.

With its headquarters in Washington, D.C. directly across from the White House, the nation's oldest farm organization, which is non-partisan, works with Congress and the Legislature in furthering legislation of interest to rural families and to agriculture.

Much as in the early days of its founding, the principles for which the Grange stands are reflected today in local branches throughout the U.S., Alaska and the Philippines.

HEALTH and BEAUTY

Today's top nutritionists and mental hygienists have exploded the myth of the "jolly fat man." They point to overweight as one of the greatest health problems in the country. They tell us that if we want to enjoy good health in later years, we must watch the amount and kinds of food we eat; beginning in childhood and continuing during our entire life.

Doctors stress a variety of common-sense rules that call for the avoidance of stresses, strains, tensions and fatigue. They emphasize the need for moderation and a philosophic adjustment to life.

There have been successful experiments by endocrinologists to indicate the possibility that the use of hormones may slow down the process of aging. Right now the best thing you can do is to have periodic complete medical examinations to cut down on the ailments which hasten the degenerative process.

All indications are that future advances in lengthening the life span will come not only from medication, but from education.

Learn all you can about taking good care of your mind and body. There have already been great gains in the field of human longevity. The outstanding increase has been the result of the success in reducing mortality rates of infants and children. The new miracle drugs are enabling many people in their early and middle years to survive to later years. Advances in life expectancy in the later years have been small.

The latest shipment also contained "Doctor Jane" by Adeline McElfresh, Ellery Queen's "Queens Bureau of Investigation," "The Face beside The Fire" by Laurens Van Der Post, Maxwell Griffith's novel, "The Gadget Maker," and Richard C. Bowen's "Public Speaking as Listeners Like It!"

iel Benchley, and Albert Payson Terhune's "Lad: A Dog."

Lists 5 Fall-Out Precaution Steps

"What can the average family do to avoid death or injury from radioactive fall-out?"

This is a common question that Civil Defense officials are asked. Ernest Henry, Plymouth CD director, has received a five-point answer as prepared by the Federal Civil Defense Administration. But first, it must be made clear what is meant by "fall-out."

According to Val Peterson, the federal CD administrator, fall-out is created by the fireball of a nuclear weapon exploded near the ground. The explosion sucks millions of tons of radioactive particles of earth and other destroyed matter into the air, where they drift in the upper winds before falling to the ground. In sufficient concentration, these particles, usually visible, cause sickness or death.

Contamination might take several hours to reach its peak, Peterson declares. This would allow time to warn inhabitants to take protective action. Radioactivity from fall-out does not linger indefinitely, but deteriorates rapidly. Even areas of high initial contamination could be evacuated or entered after a few days. And simple decontamination measures probably would remove most of the lingering radioactivity.

Shelter or protective cover can reduce or even eliminate the hazard of radiation. Inside an ordinary frame house, beyond the zone of blast and fire damage, radiation levels would be about one-half the levels out of doors; in a basement shelter, somewhat less than one-tenth. An old-fashioned underground cyclone cellar, with three feet of earth cover, would give virtually complete protection.

What can the average family do to avoid death or injury?

1. Prepare a shelter area in your home whether you live in a city or in the country. A basement shelter is good, but an outdoor shelter is better.
2. Stock your shelter with a three-day supply of emergency food and water.
3. Get a radio, preferably battery-operated, and keep it in a safe place. CD news and instruction would be provided by radio.
4. Don't become panicky and flee aimlessly. Radioactivity disintegrates rapidly and you would be safe in reasonable shelter.
5. If you should be exposed to fall-out, remove outer clothing and wash the exposed parts of the body thoroughly. Unless you have been exposed to serious contamination, it would not be necessary to destroy or discard the clothing, since in most cases it could be rendered safe by laundering or by simple waiting for natural decay of the radioactivity.

OUTDOOR NOTES From The MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Plans for the first statistically-controlled study of winter deer losses were going ahead in conservation department offices this week.

About 110-150 sample strips, each 2 1/2 miles in length, were being spotted on county maps. As soon as weather and road conditions permit, each of the strips will be walked by teams of four men and losses to starvation and other causes will be recorded.

The sample strips are scattered throughout the northern lower peninsula in a statistically-based pattern. When summarized, results of the study will speak for the entire region.

Game workers refused to estimate starvation in advance of the study, but it was known that losses have been heavier than during any of the previous three winters.

A lack of time and money prevent a statistical survey of upper peninsula losses. However, area checks will be made north of the Straits as in past years.

Miners are expected to continue their search for iron ore in the central upper peninsula in the near future. Iron explorations started in the area last fall.

The work thus far has been located north of Escanaba. No mines are in that area at present and nearest production is at Iron Mountain, 50 miles west. Also, all Michigan iron mining now is concentrated in the western upper peninsula.

About 4050 acres of state lands in the northern Delta county area will be offered for lease for iron ore exploration and mining purposes in a sale slated April 5 in the Stevens T. Mason building.

At least this year, it must be sort of frustrating to be a smelt. There are at least a couple hundred million of the little silvery fishes piling up and down at the mouths of Great Lakes streams about now.

They have been waiting several weeks to spawn up these streams, but Depom Winter keeps Michigan's waters frozen tight. Until the ice goes out, these smeltly urges for immortality must be kept someplace—probably in cold storage.

However, when smelt runs do start this spring, conservation department fisheries workers expect peak activity. Commercial fishermen have never had such a productive year as just past. Records of past years indicate a gradual buildup in population has been under way.

Thousands of anglers are expected to get into the dipnet fun when warm weather finally lures the tasty little fish on his annual spawning trek. Lists of waters open to dipnetting and streams usually having heavy runs may be obtained by writing the conservation department's fish division at Lansing, 26.

—State workers have live-trapped about 150 deer this winter in a continuing study of the Michigan whitetail's habits. The work is being done at Casino wildlife station in the central upper peninsula.

The deer are tagged and released; about 30 of those captured this winter were taken in previous years. Movements and changes in weight and growth are recorded.

—No dead raccoons have been reported to conservation department workers for several months. A "distemper-like" disease has killed numbers of Michigan's raccoons during the last three years. However, raccoon populations are still believed relatively high.

—Trappers bountied 47 coyotes, 39 bobcats and 1503 foxes through conservation department offices in February.

One coyote was bountied in Cheboygan county; all the others were reported from the upper peninsula. Bounties are paid on bobcats only in the upper peninsula. Foxes were bountied generally throughout the state. A total of $8515 in bounty fees was paid.

—Michigan's wild turkey experiment is being expanded. Last week, a sportsman's group released some of the big birds in Arenac county and prior to this, a private individual turned some loose in northwestern Oscoda county.

Conservation department workers also hope to expand the official state experiment. To date, releases have been made only in Allegan state forest, but one or more introductions may be made this summer somewhere in the northern lower peninsula.

Heart Disease Death Rate Going Up Among Men, Down Among Women

The risk of dying from heart and blood vessel diseases has gone up nearly 25 per cent among middle-aged men in the past generation, while the risk for women in the same age group has gone down by about the same amount. These opposite trends in the heart disease death rate of men and women between the ages of 45-65 are the most striking piece of new information to be found in the 1955 revision of the statistical handbook, FACTS AND FIGURES ABOUT DISEASES OF THE HEART AND BLOOD VESSELS, which is being distributed throughout the State by the Michigan Heart Association.

"This important booklet," Frank Van Schoick, M.D., Jackson, President of the Michigan Heart Association stated, "emphatically points out the need for continued research in the field of heart and blood vessel diseases. During the current fiscal year," he added, "the Michigan Heart Association is providing over $93,000.00 to 9 medical institutions located in 3 different areas of the State. These research projects, and those being carried out by the American Heart Association and its affiliates in other States throughout the country, offer the best opportunity of developing new methods of diagnosis, control, treatment and possible keys to the cure and prevention of heart disease."

The seriousness of the heart disease problem is dramatized by the 1953 estimated figures showing 794,000 deaths due to cardiovascular diseases, over half of all deaths for that year. More than ninety per cent of the cardiovascular deaths were caused by arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) and hypertension (high blood pressure). Dispelling a popular notion that heart and blood vessel diseases are necessarily associated with old age, the booklet reports that one-third of all deaths from cardiovascular disease occur under the age of 65, and these diseases are responsible for more than one-quarter of the deaths from all causes in the 25-44 age group.

More than nine million persons in the United States are estimated to have some form of cardiovascular disease. These diseases cause a considerable amount of disability after middle life. Another noteworthy aspect of heart diseases, the booklet points out, is that more people die of them in the winter than in any other season.

One of the charts shows an apparent increase in the death rate from diseases of the heart over the past 50 years, but the booklet explains that this is not a real increase in the risk of death from heart disease and is due to three factors. For one thing, more people are living longer and are therefore more apt to develop heart disease as they advance in age. Then, too, more heart cases are being discovered through improved diagnostic techniques. In addition important changes in classification, based on increased knowledge, have taken place, and many causes of death previously classified in non-cardiac categories are now included in heart disease. Actually, the booklet states, the risk of dying from diseases of the heart and circulation has decreased from under 45 during the past three decades.

Much of the decrease in the age groups under 45 is accounted for by the fact that fewer people are dying from rheumatic heart disease.

The sixteen-page booklet was prepared by the American Heart Association in cooperation with the National Heart Institute of the U.S. Public Health Service to present basic facts essential to an understanding of heart and blood vessel diseases as a major health problem. It represents an attempt to provide a uniform picture of the complicated heart statistics by the chief voluntary agency concerned with this problem and the official government agency in the field. The booklet is being distributed by the American Heart Association and its affiliates primarily among professional people and those concerned with informing the public about heart disease.

A million tourists yearly visit the Cascades in Sparks Foundation County Park, Jackson. The waterfalls extend 500 feet, and drop 64 feet in 11 falls. At night, over 1000 magical colored lights floodlight the falls and spouting fountains.
