

Daane Re-elected For Third Term

Russell M. Daane, Plymouth's mayor since April 1952, was elected to that post for the third time Monday night as the re-organized city commission held its first meeting.

The new two-year term will keep Daane as the city's chief executive until April 1957 when he will have completed three terms as commissioner and will be ineligible to run again.

City Manager Albert Glassford served as temporary chairman as the commission convened Monday night. The meeting was the first for two newly-elected commissioners, Harry Roberts and J. Rusling Cutler.

Commissioner Ernest Henry was the first nomination for mayor. A member of the commission since April 1951, he had served as mayor pro tem the past two years. Henry, however, stated that "for reasons best known to myself, I must decline."

Henry in turn nominated Commissioner Daane "to carry on the several big projects which have been started during his term as mayor." Nominations were closed and Daane was unanimously selected.

Commissioner Henry was then the unanimous choice for mayor pro tem.

It is believed that other commissioners have also been elected mayor for three terms, but terms lasted but one year previous to 1951. When Mayor Daane finishes his term of office, he will therefore have served in the office of mayor longer than any of his predecessors.

Elected to the city commission on October 1, 1951, Mayor Daane was elected mayor in the spring of 1952 for a one-year term as the new charter went into effect. He was re-elected for the standard two-year term in April 1953.

Pianist Closes Concert Season

Bringing to a close the Plymouth Symphony orchestra's ninth season was the appearance of 20-year-old William Doppmann as guest soloist for the final concert Sunday afternoon in the Plymouth high school.

An enthusiastic audience of local and out-of-town residents greeted the young pianist who had previously appeared on Symphony concert programs. A junior music student at the University of Michigan, Doppmann has studied at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and is well-known throughout the country for his brilliant performances.

Opening with the presentation of "A Short Overture" by Leslie Bassett, instructor of composition at the University of Michigan, the program included the performance of Beethoven's Concerto No. 3 in C Minor and Brahms' Symphony No. 1 in C Minor.

Enthusiastic applause by the audience followed the presentation of both the relatively new composition and well-known works of the German composers. Written in the summer of 1950, the Bassett composition had its first performance at Fresno State college.

During the intermission President Gerald Fischer of the Plymouth Symphony Society, expressed appreciation on behalf of the Society to Emil Raab, who has been conducting the 85-piece symphony orchestra in the absence of its regular conductor, Wayne Dunlap. Dunlap has been on leave of absence this year to study in Vienna.

Teachers, Other Personnel Get Wage Increases

Teachers, custodians and other personnel in the Plymouth Township School system have been granted a four per cent wage increase. The pay hikes were approved at a special meeting of the board of education last Wednesday night.

A $200 a year across-the-board wage hike was offered the teaching staff. The Plymouth Education association, local teachers' organization, had requested a $400 increase for teachers with bachelor degrees and up to $750 a year for teachers with master degrees. Their request was based on "suggestions expressed by our teachers" and a comparison with salary schedules of neighboring schools.

Custodians and maintenance workers, who also had asked for salary adjustments, were given pay hikes using the formula of approximately four per cent. Custodian salaries will be increased from a $3,180 minimum and $3,680 maximum to a $3,300 minimum and a $3,800 maximum.

Maintenance men will be increased from a $3,360 minimum and a $3,860 maximum to a $3,500 minimum and a $4,000 maximum.

The superintendent has also been instructed to give pay increases to clerks, secretaries, bus drivers and cafeteria personnel.

With the $200 increase, teachers with an A.B. degree will have a $3,800 minimum and a $5,800 maximum. Teachers holding a M.A. degree will have a $4,000 minimum and a $6,000 maximum. The maximums are reached in nine years.

Two other requests from the Plymouth Education association were considered by the board. One request asked that teachers be given an extra day of sick leave each year for vital periods.

Night of Shopping Costs City $61,000

City commissioners went shopping Monday night and spent over $61,000. For this money they will receive a new pump house for the city's new well, two police cars, road oil and a cash register.

The well house with its giant pump and stand-by diesel engine composed the major share of the expenditure. Bids were opened for each of the items last Friday.

There were four divisions in the well house bidding. The Burger Construction company of Plymouth was the low bidder for the house itself. Their bid was $16,740. Furnishing piping will be the Ray D. Baker company of Detroit at a cost of $23,775. The chlorinator contract went to Fischer & Porter company, Ferndale, for $2,490. Furnishing the pump and stand-by motor at a cost of $10,674 is William A. DaLee, Inc., Detroit.

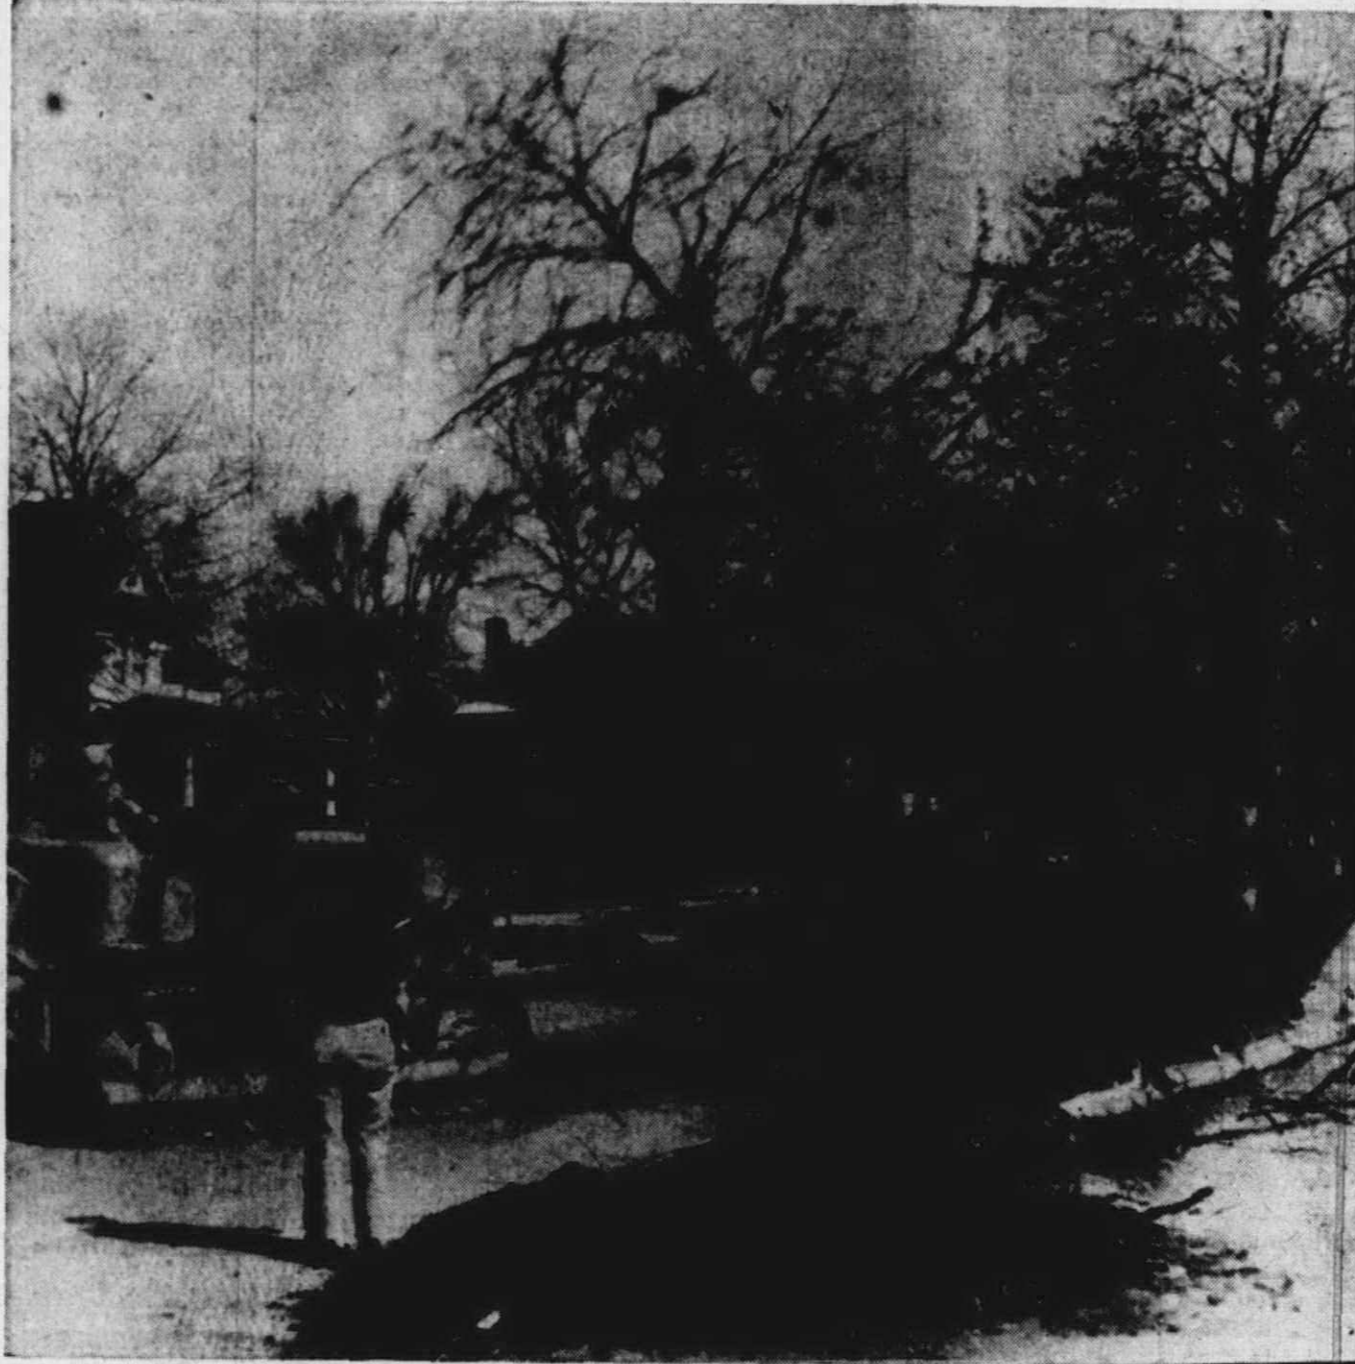

Salesmen for the DaLee company and a competitor, Detroit Air Conditioning company, staged a debate for commissioners concerning the merits of their pumps and the corrosive resistance of the metal they use. Because of the technicality of the specifications, commissioners took the advice of their consulting engineers, McNamee, Porter & Seelye, and selected the DaLee company bid.

Two Ford agencies and two Plymouth agencies offered bids on two police cars. The low bidder was Chalfonte Sales & Service of Detroit, a Plymouth agency. Their bid of $1,738 for two cars with trade-ins was $72 per car cheaper than the bid of Forest Motor Sales of Plymouth.

Several commissioners argued, however, that the savings offered

NO SHOUTS OF "timber-r-r-r" were heard this week as trees by the dozen were felled along the Main street improvement route, but there was plenty of action. Spectators watched in amazement at the rapidity of the work. Pictured is a bulldozer pulling over a partially-cut tree. With power saws, the trees are quickly cut up and hauled away. Voters in 2 Canton School Districts to Decide If They Want to Join with Plymouth Schools

Annexation of two Canton township school districts to the Plymouth Township district has been approved by the board of education, but it will take a vote by citizens of the two districts to make a final decision.

Both of the small districts have already scheduled special elections next week. Residents of Canton District No. 6, which operates Truesdell school on Haggerty road, will vote at the school Monday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. An election will take place Tuesday in Canton District No. 4 which operates Canton Center school on Canton Center road. This election will be at 8 p.m.

The Plymouth board made their decision at a special meeting held Wednesday of last week. According to Mrs. William Har-

Arrest of Five Plymouth Men Solves Series of Burglaries Netting $15,000

Twenty-two burglaries — including three safe crackings at the Hillside Inn — were cleared up by the Wayne County Sheriff's detectives with the arrest of five Plymouth men.

The five have admitted taking part in all or some of the 22 burglaries over a period of one year. Following a preliminary examination last week before Justice of the Peace John Mokersky of Dearborn township, each was released under bond. They are:

William Waldecker, 23, of 1103 North Mill; William McCants, 31, of 814 York; Jack Carter, 26, of 921 Sutherland; James Joyner, 31, of 646 South Main; and Phillip Deering, 23, of 300 South Main. McCants was arrested at the Detroit House of Correction where he is serving a 90-day sentence for non-support.

Detectives said that McCants and Carter had admitted taking part in all of the thefts. Joyner and Deering participated "in quite a few" while Waldecker was involved in one. McCants and Joyner are the only ones with felony records, having been involved in a safe theft at the Plymouth Elks club over a year ago.

Bars, hardware stores, lumberyards and restaurants were the targets of the burglaries. Continued on Page 8

Picture Quiz to Feature Photos of 103 Businessmen

If you enjoy picture quiz games, there's plenty of fun awaiting you in the next six editions of The Plymouth Mail. Through the sponsorship of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Detroit, 103 pictures of prominent local businessmen will be published for your identification. Prizes totaling more than $150 will be offered by First Federal Savings for persons submitting the greatest number of correct identifications.

There's just one catch! Most of these pictures were taken many, many years ago. In fact, some are of the "baby picture" variety. Like the sample picture of the gentleman accompanying this article, each picture will carry a hint to make your job easier.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Richwine of the First Federal Plymouth branch are responsible for gathering this unique collection of pictures. In some cases, we suspect that to obtain the snapshot a great deal of cooperation from the wife of the unsuspecting businessman was necessary!

Prison Sentences Given 3 Youths Involved in Thefts

William Moore and Lawrence Tillotson of Plymouth and John Spencer of Midland were sentenced Monday in Saginaw to terms of two to 15 years in prison for burglaries they committed in Plymouth and other Michigan cities.

Another companion, Donald Northcote of Clarkston, received his sentence Tuesday in Midland on a charge of issuing bad checks. He was placed on probation five years, was given 60 days in Bay county jail and is to pay $250 court costs and $250 for restitution.

Judge James O'Neil pronounced the sentence Monday in Saginaw where Moore, Tillotson and Spencer have been held since their arrest February 27. Sheriff's officers said yesterday that the three will probably be transferred to Jackson state prison next week where they will remain 30 days. After that, they are expected to be taken to the state prison at Ionia where most of the younger men serve their sentence.

The trio will be eligible for parole after serving the minimum sentence of two years.

All four of the youths are 19 years old and were sophomores at Central Michigan college in Mt. Pleasant.

Forming what they called "Tillmore Enterprises," they started on an almost unbelievable road of crime. In Plymouth, Spencer, Moore and Tillotson were involved in the $1,500 theft of clothing from Davis and Lent; Northcote, Moore and Tillotson took photographic equipment from Gafield Studio; and Moore and Tillotson stole a tape recorder, record player and books from Dunning library.

Gallimore Not Entering 1955 School Board Race

James Gallimore, a member of the Plymouth Township School District Board of Education for 12 years, announced this week that he will not run for re-election at the June 13 election.

Nominating petitions are now available for persons wanting to enter the 1955 school board race. Gallimore's term is the only one expiring this year.

Superintendent Russell Isbister said that petitions can be secured at his office. They must be filed by Saturday, May 14, one month before the election which falls this year on Monday, June 13.

Gallimore, who is currently president of the board of education, told The Mail this week that he has decided not to seek re-election. "There are lots of good men that can fill the job," he added.

The retiring board member has led a colorful life in Plymouth's public scene. Born in England 70

Set Assessment Hearings For 3 Street Projects

Public hearings on the assessment roll for the Main street improvement, Pearl street paving and Forest avenue alley opening will take place at the next regular city commission meeting on May 2.

The Main street assessment hearing is expected to draw the major share of interest. Any property owner who wishes to question the amount of his assessment is able to make his opinion known at this meeting.

Two of the projects, the Pearl street paving and storm sewer and the Forest avenue alley opening, are already completed. The Main street widening and paving, from Penniman to Mill, is getting underway this week.

The public hearings will start at 7:30. Property owners can study the assessment rolls at city hall now.

Meanwhile, commissioners listened Monday night to two automobile dealers who are faced with problems concerning the erection of signs. Paul J. Wiedman and Ernest Allison both told how they are building used car lots but are unable to legally place a sign even near the present building lines because of a zoning ordinance which restricts any kind of construction beyond the "set-back" line.

The set-back line was established to prohibit construction too near the streets. In downtown construction, a builder following regulations might find his building 10 or 12 feet farther back than the old, neighboring building.

Wiedman's attorney, Perry Richwine, urged the commission to seek an opinion from the attorney general about the legality of set-back lines. After considerable discussion, commissioners voted to have the city attorney ask for the opinion.

Mrs. Paul Jones of Arcadia, California, was the weekend houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Packer of Sunset avenue.

date of the vaccine, local health officials have been only able to tentatively plan the inoculations. Parent consent forms were sent home with the first and second graders Monday and it is being urged that they be returned as soon as possible.

Here is the tentative schedule: Monday morning, Allen and Hough children at Allen school; Monday afternoon, Bartlett, Canton Center, Truesdell and Smith children at Smith school;

Friday morning, Starkweather children at Starkweather; Friday afternoon, Lutheran and Catholic parochial and Bird children at Bird school.

Only those children whose parents have signed the consent forms will be inoculated, it was pointed out by Dr. R. R. Barber, the city health officer. Assisting Dr. Barber with the plans is Dr. Frederick Bentley, the township health officer.

All Plymouth physicians will assist with the inoculations, Dr. Barber said. There are about 700 first and second grade children eligible to receive the shots.

About four weeks after the first inoculation, the second shot will be given. No information has been received about the "booster" shot to be given in about seven months. It is possible that this one will not be free.

In a press conference held last Friday, Dr. Howard Cadwell, director of the County Department of Health, told The Mail that the State Health Department in Lansing will wire him as soon as the vaccine is ready. The county department is to receive 37,920 cubic centimeters as their first allotment.

Detroit, Dearborn, Hamtramck and Highland Park have organized their own vaccination set-up while the remainder of Wayne county will receive their supply through the County Department of Health at Wayne. For each of the 102 clinics in the county department's jurisdiction, there will be a nurse furnished.

Dr. Cadwell said that if a child is absent from school during the day of inoculation, the child will probably need to wait until the local doctors have their own supply of the vaccine.

Two Youngsters Struck By Cars over Weekend

Two Plymouth youngsters escaped serious injury last weekend when they were struck by cars in separate mishaps.

The first occurred Saturday at 7:35 p.m. when Peter Tillotson, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Tillotson, 607 Polk, ran in front of a car. Police said that the boy ran across the street when following his dog. He was struck by a car driven by William Epps, 1004 Junction. Peter sustained a cut lip.

At 5:57 p.m. Sunday, Trenton Taylor, 7, received an abrasion on his back and suffered shock when struck by a car on Penniman avenue. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Landon Taylor, 402 Pacific. Police reported that Trenton rode his bicycle out of a driveway across Penniman into the path of a car driven by Harvey Meyer, 1805 Elsmere, Detroit. Both drivers were absolved of blame.

Tells Youths to Join Service or Face Jail

Two Plymouth youths found guilty of breaking into a service station have been ordered by the circuit court judge to join the armed forces or else face prosecution, it was reported this week by Plymouth police.

The two boys, Roy D. Moyer 20, of 15525 Marilyn road, and Donald Houghton, 17, of 9253 South Main, were told either to get into the service or return to court. A third youth involved in the theft, Arthur Secord, 19, of 671 Jenner, remains in county jail with "hold orders" being placed on him by the Army and the state police.

Local police said that Secord is already in the Army and will face prosecution by them or the state police.

and you will be given two weeks following each group of pictures to submit your answers to the First Federal Savings office at 843 Penniman. In addition to appearing in The Mail, each group of pictures will also be posted at First Federal. Full details and rules will be published next week.

First Federal Savings plans to go "all out" to make this "What's My Name" quiz interesting as well as entertaining. A $100 Savings Bond will be offered as first prize, while a $25 Savings Bond and 25 pen and pencil sets will be awarded the next best entries.

Approximately 17 pictures will be published each week during the six weeks' of the quiz game. Some of the pictures you'll recognize at once. Others may be more difficult. We think you should know the well-known Plymouthite whose picture appears with this article. The line "You ought'a know my name" is a clue to his identity. As a starter, we'll tell you his name next week—but after that you'll be strictly on your own!

Civic Theatre President Speaks At Guild Meeting

David Sellers, president of the Ann Arbor Civic Theatre, was guest speaker for the Monday night meeting of the Plymouth Theatre Guild.

As president of the 25-year-old organization, Sellers told of the growth of the Civic Theatre from its start to present-day membership of 700. He discussed ways in which interest in community-sponsored theatres could be increased. Performances before clubs and organizations helped in this regard, Sellers added, as well as building up a season membership list.

Production of one-act plays, he felt, served as a means by which groups could develop talent within their organization. "First-timers" in this way get a chance to learn acting skills in the short plays, develop confidence, and later perform in main productions.

A question and answer period on mutual problems followed Sellers' talk.

At the meeting a nominating committee was set up for the election of board members. Those named to the committee were Mabel Dicks, Lois Mitchell and Jeannine Tidwell. The annual meeting for the election of board members will be held May 16, with election of officers by the board held later.

Plans for the after-glow party on April 29 were announced. The event will be open to those participating in the production that night, their husbands and wives.

Theatre Guild Offers Public Two Free Shows

To show its appreciation to the community for its support in the past and for the benefit of patrons of the organization, the Plymouth Theatre Guild has announced that it will present two one-act plays on Friday, April 29, for which there will be no admission charge.

The twin bill offers an evening's entertainment with a suspense drama and comedy slated for production. Scheduled for presentation are Lucille Fletcher's thriller, "The Hitchhiker," and "When Shakespeare's Ladies Meet," comedy by Charles George. The show will start at 8:15 in the high school auditorium.

Both plays will be directed by Theatre Guild members. John Lodge has been announced director for "The Hitchhiker" while Dorothy Jean Smith will direct the George play.

Entertainment during intermission will be furnished by members of the Guild. Jim Mitchell will provide the piano selections and Cathy Creel, the violin solos.

Remains of City's Founders Believed Uncovered by Church Excavators

Due to a rather strange turn of events, the remains of Plymouth's pioneer family are believed to have been uncovered last week as a power shovel scooped into the earth behind the First Presbyterian church.

The family is that of William Starkweather, who established himself on March 11, 1825 on 240 acres of land that is now the heart of Plymouth.

In the early 1830's a cemetery was established behind the Presbyterian church, the spot where excavation was started several weeks ago for a new church educational unit. But as far as most everybody knew, all bodies had been removed 39 years ago and placed in Riverside cemetery.

There was at least one Plymouth resident, however, who knew that five or even more bodies remained in the cemetery. He was Karl Starkweather, 711 Starkweather avenue. As a descendant of the founding family and also an ardent student of Plymouth history, he was able to recount some of the background of the Starkweather family and the Presbyterian cemetery.

William Starkweather was the first to pass on, in 1844 at the age of 48. His wife, Kezia, died two years later at 47. A son, Albert, died two months after his father at the age of 20. The other son, Dwight, died in 1847 at 16. Also buried in the family plot in 1879 was an unnamed granddaughter who died in infancy.

It was decided to abandon the cemetery in 1916 so the village government, through contract, took action to have all monuments and remains removed and re-interred to new sites in Riverside cemetery. A public hearing was held at which no descendants voiced objections to the move.

But for some unknown reason, Karl Starkweather recalls, some of his relatives removed the tombstones of the founding family before the re-interments began and set them up on Starkweather

Climbing Roses Add All-Around Beauty to Garden

Trailing, climbing and pillar roses, trained to grow on buildings, arbors, pergolas, fences, walls and rocky slopes, can lay claim to versatility as well as to beauty, according to Harlow O. Whittemore, professor of landscape architecture at the University of Michigan.

Just remember two things in selecting the support material, he says:

1) "Roses do not take kindly to drastic changes in temperatures. They dislike a metal surface, and to a lesser extent, a stone or brick surface, because these do not retain an even temperature. Wood is the best and unpainted wood preferable.

2) "Because of the danger of mildew roses require free circulation of air through their foliage. Therefore, if the rose is to be trained on a wall, it should be fastened to supports set away from the wall so that there is a space between the wall and the foliage. The south side of the building is preferable to the north, since a southern exposure will aid in the rapid drying of the rose after rain.

"The climbing rose, covering a high, screening fence or trellis, is especially suitable for downtown properties where you wish to hide a taller building. A fence, well covered with roses, can sometimes be made as high as twelve feet," according to the landscape architect.

Most vigorous of the commonly known climbers is the Dr. Van Fleet rose. Also well known are Silver Moon and Marechal Niel.

He suggests that pillar roses be supported in one of two ways: 1) "Tie the rose to the wooden pegs or arms of a post, which has been set three feet in the ground preferably on a cement foundation and treated to prevent decay. The post should be between six and ten feet high—the normal length the canes of the plant attain; 2) Or set the rose plant in the midst of four slender poles placed an inch and one-half apart, and tie the tops of the poles together. The old canes need to be removed every year.

"Pillar roses make an arresting accent when used to punctuate a border of other flowers. They can also be ingeniously used to form a sort of avenue of roses, or be placed on either side of a pathway. You can vary the effect of the pathway by interposing, at intervals, wooden arches over which the more vigorous climbers, or even ramblers, may be trained. Good pillar roses are the Paul Scarlet climber and the new Giant Scarlet."

Professor Whittemore points out that roses can be used to cover an arbor or a pergola, although they are not particularly effective for shade. "You could, however, train the vines on the supporting framework, and employ some other vine as shade for the top of the arbor," he says.

"This brings up the question of a fence. A low fence (four feet high) of wood or wire is particularly suitable for growing the more delicate types of climbers so trained as to produce a rose hedge. The roses should be planted close together so that they form a completely solid hedge.

"A tall fence (seven to ten feet high) of either wood or wire screening the edge of the property, is well adapted to the climbing type of rose." Since only the upper part of the fence would be well covered with roses, he suggests that some evergreen vine, such as wintercreeper, be used to cover the lower part of it.

Professor Whittemore suggests that trailing roses make an excellent groundcover. Used on a slope, they also prevent soil erosion. For best results, choose a sunny bank with a south, southeast or southwest exposure, and preferably one with a good, loamy soil—part clay and humus, and enriched.

"Especially adapted to this treatment are all the Dorothy Perkins type roses, and some of the small-flowered cluster roses with rapidly growing stems. They will also trail over stone piles, stumps, or natural rock formations.

"Once started, these should be left alone and no attempt should be made to remove the old canes," the landscape architect advises.

'Communism' Is Common Word Today But Do You Know What It Means?

(Editor's Note: Dr. Leland E. Traywick, associate professor of economics at M.S.C., holds his Ph.D. degree from the University of Illinois. His field of instruction includes courses in capitalism, socialism; and private enterprise and public policy. In this article Dr. Traywick lists communism's basic beliefs and explains why its global aims must fail.)

By Dr. Leland E. Traywick
Associate Professor of Economics
Michigan State College

Perhaps one of the most frequently used words in the English language nowadays is "communism." Yet, few people understand what it means.

Generally, this one word sums up the Russian or Chinese dictatorships. Or, perhaps it signifies an American who wishes to overthrow the government of the United States by violence. Actually, these meanings are misleading. The dictatorships in Russia and China are not nearly as communistic as they would like to have their countrymen believe. Nor is the violent overthrow of a government exclusively a communistic idea.

What, then, does communism mean? What are the principal ideas and ideals—these beliefs that drive men to scheme for a world wide revolution? If we would really understand something of communism, we must look to its centers of gravity and not just the outward appearances. Marxism is of utmost importance here.

ONE—Paramount among Karl Marx's ideas was his teaching that all history was a history of the class struggle. This meant that the poor, downtrodden, propertyless workman (proletariat) was constantly being exploited by the propertied, capitalistic, ruling classes, according to Marx.

The end of this struggle, however, was determined. This is why this doctrine is called "economic determinism," or as Marx put it, "dialectical materialism." The proletariat would eventually win this age-long fight and the capitalists would disappear. The state would then own and operate all capital tools, equipment, land and raw material.

TWO—The second major doctrine of Marx was his labor theory of prices and costs. Every thing of value was created only by labor and hence only labor had a right to get paid. Capital did not, because capital (that is, tools and machines) was not productive in itself and if productive was so only because of the labor it took to create it in the first place.

Land, and raw materials were not productive either unless worked on them. In any event, no one had a right to sell natural resources, because nature had provided them and hence they belonged to everyone. Thus, according to Marx, only labor was productive and had a right to a wage.

THREE—Following from this was the third proposition—"exploitation." This was what Marx called his doctrine of "surplus value." It went this way: Labor created all value. But propertied owners of capital and land took money away from labor in the form of profits, interest, and rent. They did this by the right of ownership which the law enforced and which was written in the law by the capitalists. These returns to the capitalists were called surplus value and represented "exploitation," according to Marx.

FOUR—To what did all this lead? The fourth concept was one of results. There would be the concentration of economic power in the hands of fewer and fewer capitalists (the belief that "one capitalist kills many"). Terrible business cycles would occur.

Seeking a way out of depressions, the capitalists would resort to imperialism and even war to find an outlet for their glutted and depressed markets. Meanwhile, the exploitation of the proletariat would be intensified so as to maintain a high rate of profit, interest and rent.

FIVE—The fifth doctrine was one of revolution. The proletariat would stand the exploitation no longer and would revolt. Blood would flow in the streets.

SIX—Finally came the reforming of the economy. A classlike commonwealth would eventually grow in place of the former economy, rampant with its economic struggles. Private property (working for one's self) made men evil and selfish. Therefore, they must work for the state.

By centralized economic planning and government ownership and operation of all business, the state would be highly productive. Plenty would abound, ending selfishness and greedy economic struggles. The state as a restraining force would eventually wither away and in this sort of utopia all would be bliss.

This, then, is communism. Will it succeed in its global aims? No. Communism will fail because of its impossible administrative task of trying to plan everything; its atheism; and its doctrine that the state is everything and the individual is nothing.

Progressive and democratic capitalism can be successful in many parts of the world because it does not have Marxian communism's inborn mistakes.

For Early Yield, Start Vegetables In Cold Frame

So you're interested in gardening this summer. Why not start now and build a cold frame to get your plants growing right away?

The frame for the sash can be built right on top of the ground and should be five or six feet wide and as long as you need. Build the back side up to 18 inches and slant it toward the sun. Glazed cold frame sash three feet by six feet can be purchased, or you can build your own frames and cover them with heavy gauze-polyethylene film.

Seed of lettuce and many flowering plants can be sown directly in the cold frame and give adequate spacing when they are one to two inches tall.

Muskmelon, cucumber, watermelon and even sweet corn can be planted in a cold frame either the last week in April or the first week in May, depending on whether you live in the north or south of Michigan. Seeds of these crops must be planted in clay or paper pots or veneer bands as their roots must not be disturbed during transplanting to the garden, caution horticulturists.

If your cold frame is large enough, an early planting of radishes, lettuce and even onion sets can be made in April for use right out of the frame in late May. These crops can be followed by a planting of cabbage, broccoli and cauliflower seed for setting out in the garden in late June or early July. Your cold frame operation can be an interesting and profitable venture from April to after the first of July.

DALE CARNEGIE

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"

Here's a brief and to the point story, told me by George Visson Everts, of 1327 Concourse, New York City.

He didn't feel well so he called his doctor and was told that he had ulcers of the stomach. That could be bad, often it was. Sometimes even a forerunner of Cancer. So he went to the hospital and had the usual tests and treatment, all the time worrying about what would happen to his wife and two children if worse came to worst. His two aging parents, he was their only child, what a blow might be inflicted on them; they would have no one to lean on now.

They did not give him much to eat at the hospital, but he did not want even what he was allowed. For five days and five nights he lay there worrying, worrying. Not a happy thought entered his head. When his wife came—his parents were not physically able to make the trip—he hated to look her in the face. He wished they had saved more, that his insurance was larger. He slept only when given a sedative.

On the fifth day, the doctors—two of them—came to him. They looked at him, as he thought, a bit scornfully. "Get up from there, you Bum," said the one he had known since childhood, "get up and go home; relax, take plenty of outdoor exercise. Forget you have any nerves. AND STOP WORRYING, for that's all that is the matter with you."

And that's the end of the story! says George Everts.

Elks Announce Contest Winners, Present Awards

Winners of the Elks Youth Leadership contest were announced and awards made at Thursday night's teenage dance sponsored by the local organization.

Over 200 teenagers were on hand to see the presentation of the awards to contest winners.

Receiving first prize of $25 were Miss Sally Morgan and Dave Beagle. Awards of $5 as contestants in the event were presented to Miss Dee Brandell, Bob Danol, and Northville residents, Miss Gayle Ashburn and Miss Mary Lovewell.

Contestants were picked by judges for their outstanding qualities of leadership and citizenship. Presentation of awards was made by Thomas Argo, chairman of the local Elks' youth activities committee.

Miss Morgan recently won the state-wide youth leadership contest in which she was awarded $100 by the Michigan Elks association. She will compete in the national contest, winners of which will be announced in June.

As state winner, Miss Morgan will be guest of honor for the annual Elks Youth Day to be held at Michigan State college, East Lansing on May 7. Also attending will be 50 members of the Plymouth high school band.

Addressing the crowd of 10,000 to 15,000 Michigan youth expected to attend the event will be Governor G. Mennen Williams, principal speaker of the day. Tours of the capitol will be made and activities planned on the college campus.

Pruning of climbing and trailing roses should be done only for the purpose of directing their growth, the experts add. However, in the case of the pillar roses, the two-year-old canes (main stems) should be removed completely. If the ends of the twigs are attacked by borers or other insects, they will have to be cut back and burned.

Winter care in the case of climbers is not a serious problem because they are apt to be fairly hardy. However, there are some very excellent varieties which should be mulched to protect the roots from freezing. The mulch should be put on before the ground freezes because it might harbor mice which will live off the bark of the twigs and kill the plant.

The specialists point out that roses, when in bloom, draw very heavily upon fertilizer and should be watered with fertilizer in solution—dissolved fertilizer at the rate of two ounces to the gallon. This will boost the plant during its blooming period.

If your soil is heavy clay, poorly drained, it will be necessary to dig a bed or hole to a depth of two feet, eight inches and make a drainage basin of coarse gravel, or broken brick. To keep the soil from washing down into that, cover the bottom with sod upside-down, and then with prepared soil.

The mulch should be put on before the ground freezes because it might harbor mice which will live off the bark of the twigs and kill the plant.

The specialists point out that roses, when in bloom, draw very heavily upon fertilizer and should be watered with fertilizer in solution—dissolved fertilizer at the rate of two ounces to the gallon. This will boost the plant during its blooming period.

If your soil is heavy clay, poorly drained, it will be necessary to dig a bed or hole to a depth of two feet, eight inches and make a drainage basin of coarse gravel, or broken brick. To keep the soil from washing down into that, cover the bottom with sod upside-down, and then with prepared soil.

Pruning of climbing and trailing roses should be done only for the purpose of directing their growth, the experts add. However, in the case of the pillar roses, the two-year-old canes (main stems) should be removed completely. If the ends of the twigs are attacked by borers or other insects, they will have to be cut back and burned.

Winter care in the case of climbers is not a serious problem because they are apt to be fairly hardy. However, there are some very excellent varieties which should be mulched to protect the roots from freezing. The mulch should be put on before the ground freezes because it might harbor mice which will live off the bark of the twigs and kill the plant.

Climbing, Pillar Roses Ideal For Planting in Small Home Garden

Ideal for the small home gardener are climbing and pillar roses whose great vigor makes them easily adapted to a variety of soil conditions.

However, these, like all roses, prefer a clay-loam soil, well-drained, warm, and with a generous amount of humus.

Let's assume you have clay soil—too dense even for roses. Experts suggest that you break this up by excavating to a depth of two feet and then replace the soil with clay mixed with sand or with sifted coal ashes or black swamp muck, with some powdered dolomite added. The latter neutralizes the acidity of the muck.

In general soil needs for roses include nitrogen, phosphorus, potash and magnesium. These can be supplied by means of a chemical fertilizer containing about six per cent available nitrate, about 12 per cent available phosphorus, and about four per cent available potash, to which should be added powdered dolomite, about 2/3 calcium carbonate and 1/3 magnesium carbonate.

Available trace minerals, such as iron, copper, and manganese are desirable and can be added if not present in the soil. They can be obtained from any store selling farm fertilizers.

The specialists point out that roses, when in bloom, draw very heavily upon fertilizer and should be watered with fertilizer in solution—dissolved fertilizer at the rate of two ounces to the gallon. This will boost the plant during its blooming period.

Dr. Feldkamp to Speak At Bird School PTA

The April meeting of the Bird School P.T.A. will be held in the multi-purpose room Tuesday evening, April 26, at 7:45 o'clock.

A film entitled "146,000 Could Live," on the prevention and cure of cancer, with a talk by Dr. Lee E. Feldkamp, local physician, will highlight the evening's program. The above program is sponsored by the Plymouth Unit of the Cancer Society to alert the public to the preventative measures possible to alleviate suffering now caused by the disease.

A question and answer period will follow.

Also featured on the evening's program will be songs by the Bird School Junior Chorus, and a skit by the Brownie Troop which is sponsored by Bird School P.T.A.

Social hour will follow.

"If you can't do more work, I shall have to get another maid." "Yes, I could do with an assistant."

Police Chief Asks Motorists to Aid Optimist Program

Police Chief Carl Greenlee today appealed to motorists to do their share in making the current Bike Safety program of the Plymouth Optimist club a complete success.

Optimists are sponsoring a Bicycle Rodeo this Saturday when bicycles owned by Plymouth youngsters will be inspected and judged for prize awards. Riding skill contests will also be featured at the event.

Grand prize will be a boy's or girl's bike, with 19 other awards in the line of sports equipment to be made at the competition.

The event will start at 8:30 a.m. in the football field back of the high school. In case of rain, the rodeo will be staged at the junior police headquarters, central parking lot back of Kresge's.

In connection with the observance of Bike Safety Week, Greenlee added, "Any effective bike safety program must have the co-operation of both motorists and bike riders."

He reminded motorists that even when the heedless conduct of bike riders puts a driver in a spot, the driver is not justified in retaliating. "Remember," he said, "the odds always favor the motorist. A bike is no match for a 3,000 pound vehicle."

Greenlee believes that most drivers and bike riders display a co-operative attitude in traffic. "No rider," he said, "deliberately gets run down, nor does a driver run a bike down with deliberate malice."

"Most difficulties between drivers and bike riders result from heedlessness on the part of one or both, or from stubborn determination by someone to have his own way," Greenlee said.

He advised motorists to make it a habit to give the bike rider the right of way, even when he's not entitled to it. He also urged them to be on the alert so that they can compensate for any carelessness on the part of riders.

"Drivers should always slow down near schools and playgrounds, or anywhere where children congregate on their bikes," he warned. "Children are impulsive and unpredictable. It's better not to take chances on what you think they'll do next."

The prospective customer was looking a little dubiously at the battery radio set offered for sale in the second-hand shop. Noticing the trailing wires she meekly said:

"I should think one might get a shock from it."

"No, lady," confidentially replied the salesman. "At least not until you've heard a few programs."

War Photographer To Show Pix at H-12

Alex Taylor, chief photographer for Lord Mountbatten during World War II, will be principal speaker at a meeting of the Plymouth Hi-12 on Wednesday, April 27.

The former war photographer, now with the U.S. Rubber company in Detroit, will show pictures taken on the scene of battle during his service in Burma.

The meeting will be held at 8:30 p.m. in the Arbor-Lill restaurant.

For their program last night, Hi-12 had Dr. Alex Gotz of Ann Arbor as guest speaker. His topic was "Diseases of the Heart."

Hum of Bees Brings Inspectors

Recent warm days of spring have stirred Michigan's bee colonies to activity and has sent out on the road 28 apiary inspectors of the Michigan Department of Agriculture's bureau of agricultural industry.

The busy little bee in spring-time isn't just something for the poets to write about. In Michigan he is mighty important. He produces $2 million worth of honey and beeswax annually. What is of even more concern is the fact that he pollinates about $50 million worth of fruit and field crops that are grown on 518,000 acres of land in the state.

So the health of Michigan's 185,000 colonies of bees is of more than esthetic interest. It is just as important that the many colonies of bees that are brought into Michigan on a rental basis to help on this job of pollination are healthy too. Orchardists particularly rent bee colonies for their fruit crops.

Apiary inspectors of the Michigan Department of Agriculture during April and May will confine their work mainly to the lower half of the southern peninsula. After weather becomes more stable, inspections will begin in the more northerly areas.

They will search mostly for American foulbrood, a disease that affects the young or brood of the bee. Death of the young destroys future adults that do the job of pollinating and honey gathering.

Through this inspection service American foulbrood has not only been brought under control, but has been eliminated from 27 counties. During the 1954 season 7,320 apiaries were inspected in 94 counties. Inspectors found only 1,856 infected colonies out of 72,405 colonies examined. The percentage was 2 1/2 per cent, the lowest year on record in Michigan.

Jerry McSafety Visits Local Schools Friday

Once again popular Jerry McSafety is back in town with his master, Wayne Fernelius, to entertain and instruct the children of Plymouth's parochial schools. The little policeman-ventriloquist will make his appearance tomorrow, April 22, under the sponsorship of Paul J. Wiedman, Inc., of 470 South Main. After his school talks which begin at 10 a.m., "Jerry McSafety" will appear at the local dealer's showroom to entertain the public.

Jerry McSafety's illustrated lectures have proved popular with youngsters. He demonstrates with songs, stories and fascinating charts the practical, common-sense safety rules for children of every age.

Fernelius and his wooden but quick-witted brain child have appeared at schools, lodges, churches and many other groups to dramatize the need for careful observance of approved safety rules.

Rosary Society Sponsors Bake Sale This Sunday

For Full Benefits of High Octane Gasoline you need Shell Premium with TCP

If certain engine deposits did not form inside your combustion chambers as a result of your daily, short-haul driving, any good high octane gasoline would do very well.

But because this kind of driving increases the build-up of these deposits, you need a gasoline with a special kind of additive.

The reason is simply this:

As your engine warms up, these deposits warm up, too—glow red hot. And these glowing particles act like hot coals—ignite the gasoline mixture ahead of time... before the pistons reach proper firing position. This is called pre-firing and means that power works against you instead of for you.

In addition, these same deposits have another power-wasting effect: They foul spark plugs, causing your engine to miss.

Engineers will tell you there's nothing more wasteful of power and gasoline than pre-firing and spark plug "miss."

But there is an answer—there's one high octane gasoline that gives you all the advantages of high octane without the power-crippling effects of these deposits—Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP*.

TCP, the Shell-developed additive, fireproofs the deposits so that they no longer cause pre-firing. No longer can they glow red hot and ignite the gasoline mixture. And TCP stops spark plug "miss," too. Your spark plugs do the job they are supposed to do.

Start getting the full power built into your engine. Get Shell Premium with TCP. It's the most powerful gasoline your car can use!

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

Only Shell Premium Gasoline has both TCP and High Octane!

Film Program Highlights Plymouth Cancer Week

Highlighting the current observance of Plymouth Cancer Week will be a special film program and discussion on cancer to be held at 1:00 this afternoon in the Penn Theatre. The program is being sponsored by the local chapter of the American Cancer Society and is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harry Bartel.

Films to be shown are "Breast Self-Examination" and "Man Alive." Presentation of the movies will be followed by talks from medical experts and a question-and-answer period. Principal speaker for the program will be Dr. Harry M. Nelson, gynecologist from Detroit, who is president of the Southeastern division of the American Cancer Society. Dr. Lee Feldkamp, local physician, will also participate in the panel discussion.

The life-saving film, "Breast Self-Examination," which teaches how to detect early symptoms of breast cancer, has been screened for more than 3,000,000 women over the age of 35 throughout the United States.

In this community where the film has had three previous showings, it is estimated that over 400 women have seen the presentation. Many more should take advantage of this afternoon's program, stated Chairman Mrs. Harry Bartel. Cancer of the breast causes more deaths in women than any other type of the disease. Each year about 50,000 women develop cancer in this site. To reach all women over 35 with the message on "Breast Self-Examination" is one of the major educational goals of the American Cancer Society for this year. The film was produced in cooperation with the government's National Cancer Institute.

Listens to Early Report on Sewers

Members of the Plymouth Township Study Group heard a preliminary report Monday night by Herald Hammil, consulting engineer who has been hired by the township to make a survey on a sewer system.

The proposed sewer, which would connect with the Parkway interceptor drain, would be of service to the eastern and southern part of the township. It would also serve the southern third of the city and would travel along the C & O railroad as far west as Beck road.

One of Hammil's jobs is to determine about how much a sewer would cost each home or building owner. In a preliminary estimate, Hammil told the study group that it might cost each home-owner $22 a year. This cost was estimated by comparing the local situation with sewer users in Livonia.

The study group also voted to send a letter to the city asking that they examine the possibility of furnishing water to the Green Meadows homes who are now without an outside supply. Half of the subdivision has city supply but the other half depends upon their own wells.

The city manager was authorized to purchase a cash register from the National Cash Register company at a cost of about $3,750. Besides the three Hillside Inn thefts, other local thefts took place at the Plymouth Wholesale company and Hoffman & Holdsworth Implement company. A number of Northville establishments were also burglarized including two lumber companies.

Plymouth police played a major part in clearing up the burglaries. The "tip" came on Sunday, April 10 when Waldecker was accused by his wife of viciously beating her at North Main and Mill street. When police accompanied her home so that she could pack her clothing, she showed them an antique dueling pistol that her husband had brought home. The pistol, it was learned, had been stolen from Eddie's Bar on Michigan avenue.

Wayne. Questioning of Waldecker by sheriff's detectives then led to the breaking of the case.

Threat of Black Market Accompanies Polio Report

The University of Michigan was unquestionably the medical center of the world last week.

Every parent who for the past few years worried all summer long whether his child would be the next polio victim waited for the first official report from Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., U-M professor of epidemiology, on the value of the Salk Polio Vaccine.

When the word came, it rang throughout the world. Newsmen went wild, mothers and fathers actually wept, and physicians felt as if a boulder had been lifted from their hearts.

"The vaccine works. . . it is safe, effective, and potent." This was the message, and it was as clear as a swiftly running trout stream.

The meat of the Francis Report on the polio vaccine is found in a few paragraphs at the end. These paragraphs are undoubtedly the most widely quoted in all of scientific literature.

"From these data it is not possible to select a single value giving numerical expression in a complete sense to the effectiveness of vaccine as a total experience. . . (But) if the results from the observed areas are employed, the vaccine could be considered to have been 60-80 per cent effective against paralytic poliomyelitis."

The report continued: "There is, however, greater confidence in the results obtained from the strictly controlled study areas. On this basis, it may be suggested that vaccination was 80-90 per cent effective against paralytic poliomyelitis."

That was it. This meant that one of the world's most widely-known medical experts on epidemic diseases, Dr. Francis, had decided that a child given the vaccine could expect an excellent protection against paralytic polio.

The 80-90 per cent really means that eight to nine youngsters out of every ten could be inoculated safely and effectively against the dreaded disease.

There is no one way to describe the sensation which vibrated in every human being when this news was announced. Actually the Francis Report, concerned with one disease, turned out to cure another. The years of summer waiting and worrying had produced a national neurosis over polio.

The Francis report in a sense was a cure itself. It said to parents, "Now, stop worrying. Things are going to be all right!" Now that the Francis Report is medical history, not soon to be forgotten, the future is something to wonder about. The report nowhere said polio had been licked; it merely stated that paralysis from polio may become a thing of the past.

But like a sudden shift of wind, the frenzied enthusiasm over the report shifted to Washington, D.C. The question now is, Will there be a black-market in the vaccine? The problem weighs heavily on the Federal Government, the family physicians, and local health officials.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, having purchased $9,000,000 worth of the vaccine in advance as "a calculated risk", has promised to inoculate all children free who participated in the field trials but who received "dummy shots."

The University of Michigan, however, through Dr. Francis and his staff, has done its job. And citizens of Michigan can be very proud.

Proper lighting at the entrance of the home is an important safety consideration.

World's first State Police radio system was established in Michigan in 1929. Now State Police Planes, Patrol Cars, 8 District Headquarters and 45 Posts are coordinated by two-way radio.

THIS QUARTET of Kiwanians is doing a little practicing for the annual Kiwanis Pancake Feed scheduled as an all-day event at the Masonic Temple on Saturday, April 30. (L. to R.) Ralph Taylor, Chairman Bob Lidgard, Norm Atchinson and John Wallace apparently are learning to press pancakes and cut sausages. They promise that anyone with a yen for good old fashioned pancakes, sausages and maple syrup can eat all they want at the April 30 event. All proceeds go to local Kiwanis charitable activities.

It's WHERE you buy a used car that counts and You can DEPEND on FORD DEALER USED CARS and TRUCKS

It stands to reason a Dealer you can trust sells a used car you can trust.

We Ford Dealers are established businessmen. We don't depend upon used car profits to stay in business, and we can price our used cars at rock bottom. Actually it's good business for us to keep prices low. For we have to make room for a constant stream of trade-ins.

First and second prize awards in the recent Legion Auxiliary sponsored Essay contest, were presented to Lea Raye Crane and Foster Brown at the regular Auxiliary meeting on Thursday evening, April 14, at the Veterans Memorial home. Subject for the essays was "The Master Link—Our Constitution." Miss Crane's essay has been entered in the 17th District contest. Winners will be announced as soon as information is received.

Marilyn Moore gave a very interesting and informative talk on the Republic of Panama in observance of Pan-American Day, April 14. Mrs. Moore also deserves a big hand for her wonderful job of selling greeting cards and cleaning fluid. These are fund-raising projects of the Auxiliary. Another excellent offer is available to everyone—mochakas. For further information, call Melva Gardner at 1989-R. While you have her on the phone, place your order for needed Stanley Products.

Post and Auxiliary members are hereby notified that another first-aid class will be starting shortly. Members interested in participating should contact Adah Langmaid at 86J3. In all reality, every Post and Auxiliary member should take this course—this would be the least that we could do toward the Civil Defense effort.

All members are reminded that our Card Party is this Saturday evening, April 23, at 8 p.m. at the Veterans Memorial home. The general public is cordially invited. There will be favors for all and also prizes. All proceeds to go into the fund for Community projects.

Oscar Hammond of the Northville Post and 17th District representative on the State Legion Civil Defense committee was guest at the Posts' business meeting on Wednesday evening, April 13, at the Veterans Memorial home. Hammond gave a brief report on the campaign of Ad Wagner as National Commander for next year.

Passage-Gayde Post and Auxiliary extend their heartfelt sympathies to the Legionaires of Lloyd H. Greene Post of Northville in the death of their Post Commander, Robin Corey. Commander Corey died Saturday, April 16.

Many a man will read the colored comics without being interested in the improvement of social conditions in his own city.

wait a minute! don't make out another marketing list till you compare and see how low A&P prices are!

WRITE IN PRICES YOU'VE BEEN PAYING... SEE WHAT A&P SAVES YOU!

Before you do any more marketing compare the prices advertised here with what you've been paying! Why? Because when you see how these low prices can cut your weekly food bill... you'll want to buy everything you need at A&P. That's what thousands upon thousands of thrifty folks are doing every day. Comparison has convinced them that they get more low prices on more items, more days of the week at A&P. We think it will convince you of this fact, too. So fill in the box beside each low A&P price with the price you've seen or paid elsewhere for the same brand or quality... Then add up both columns and compare the totals! The difference will show you why everybody's saying, "Come see... come save at A&P!"

Customers' Corner

Subtractions that Add Up!

We've been doing a lot of subtracting at A&P since the first of the year...reducing the prices of hundreds of grocery items. And you don't have to be a mathematician to figure out how these subtractions can add up to big savings for you. The solution is simple: Just choose your favorites from the hundreds of popular foods... frozen, canned, packaged and in glass... that A&P is now featuring at reduced prices. Then compare and see how much lower your total bill is!

The PLYMOUTH MAIL

AFTER MORE THAN 29 years of service to the telephone company, Kay Carr (cutting the cake) retired last week. At left is Mrs. Daisy Chavey, evening chief operator, while Ethel Allen, chief operator, and Mrs. Grace Hansen, operator, also look on. Kay, who was the assistant chief operator at the Plymouth telephone office, was feted at a party complete with presents and ice cream. She will spend her time now with her horse "Jitterbug," a palomino mare which is the latest in a long list of equine pets, her hobby.

Local Assistant Chief Operator Retires After 29 Years of Telephone Service

No longer will "numbah puh-teez" sound as key words in the life of Miss Kay Carr, assistant chief operator at the Plymouth telephone office. Carr, who completed 29 years of telephone service last Labor day, retired Friday to appreciate Alexander Bell's invention only from the receiver's end. A party was held in the local offices last week honoring Kay. The rest of the operators feted her with presents, cake and ice cream. Even Detroit telephone officials came out to bid farewell. Although Kay, who lives at 14457 Eckles road, gives 1926 as her official starting date she recorded about a year of work as an operator for a small telephone company in 1919. She worked from 1926 until 1936 with Bell telephone of Pennsylvania at which time she transferred to Detroit. In 1943 she joined the Women's Legion and announced plans for benefit card party. A card party for the benefit of its community projects fund will be sponsored Saturday evening April 23, by the Passage-Gayde Post No. 391 of the American Legion. Open to the public, the event will start at 8 p.m. in the veterans Community home. There will be prizes and favors for the guests.

The most interesting occurrence though was when she spent three hours trying to locate a French Canadian up in the wilds of Canada for a long distance caller. Although everyone she talked to spoke French she finally contacted the party. There should be few complaints about 1955 business. It has been better than the forecasters predicted.

Business Women Elect Officers

Following the business meeting a fun hour was enjoyed by the group.

And deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage."
Among the correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following (426:18) "When it is learned that disease cannot destroy life, and that mortals are not saved from sin or sickness by death, this understanding will quicken into newness of life. It will master either a desire to die or a dread of the grave, and thus destroy the great fear that besets mortal existence."

The nine-foot wing spread of the California condor is larger than that of any other North American land bird. These huge birds inhabit only a narrow, isolated area in the California mountains and there are only about 60 of them left.

TWO MAJOR structures are headed for completion in Plymouth this spring. At top is St. Peter's Lutheran church on Penniman avenue. Below is the Ann Arbor road branch of the National Bank of Detroit. Started in January, this modern building will feature drive-in banking windows.

Urge Home Food Stock To Prepare for Disaster

"What can I do to prepare for an atomic attack?" That is a question commonly asked by citizens today as they become more Civil Defense-minded. In Plymouth, for instance, the Plymouth Township Civil Defense unit is making rapid strides in preparing for attack or some other disaster.
Providing a home food reserve is one of the steps necessary to prepare yourself. Atomic attack would probably interrupt electricity, gas, water supply and transportation. This will obviously make it very difficult for people whose homes escape serious damage to obtain and prepare food until normal conditions are restored.
According to the Michigan Office of Civil Defense in Lansing, the homeless will be fed in mass emergency feeding centers. But for others whose homes are still inhabitable, the CD office advises a food reserve sufficient to feed a household for four or five days. "This does not mean" that hoarding need be done," the officials declared. "There are tremendous food reserves for everyone in our country which would be available as soon as transportation is restored. This might be within a few days after an attack."
The canned and packaged food habitually kept on pantry shelves by the average household should be counted as part of the home reserve, as well as food in the refrigerator. If gas, electricity and ice supply is interrupted, contents of the refrigerator should be consumed first before the food spoils. It should also be remembered that after an attack it may not be possible to cook raw food for lack of adequate heat or water.
Canned and well-packaged foods constitute the best form of emergency reserve, but even these may deteriorate and lose quality with long storage. So as the household makes its regular food purchases and buys an item the same or similar to a food item in the reserve, it should put the new item in reserve and eat the older food.

Presbyterians Hear Fred Waring Soloist

Leonard Kranendonk, soloist with the Fred Waring glee club for many years, was guest soloist at the First Presbyterian church here last Sunday.
His daughter, Mrs. Barbara Masse, is a regular member of the choir. She lives in Livonia. The guest baritone sang "The Lord is My Light."
The Waring glee club and band is in Michigan this week, appearing in Lansing Tuesday and at the University of Michigan on Wednesday.
The Gordon Home, one of the oldest homes in Savannah, Georgia, and the birthplace of Juliette Gordon Low, founder of the Girl Scouts, will be made into a national Girl Scout center.

Foster Parents Plan Gives Local Family an 'Adopted' Son in Germany

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sutherland, 1312 South Harvey street, have "adopted" an eight-year-old Russian boy by pledging financial support and correspondence through an agency known as Foster Parents' Plan for War Children, Inc.
The foster parents plan has cared for more than 75,000 war children and is now operating in Belgium, England, France, West-Germany, Greece, Holland, Italy and Korea to help unfortunate and impoverished children of 19 different nationalities without regard to race or creed.
"Adoption" is financial, not legal. The parent merely promises to contribute $15 monthly towards the child's support for at least a year. In return, the foster parent receives a brief history of the child and a photograph. Correspondence through the plan of office is encouraged since the children need the feeling of being loved and belonging to someone, someplace.

Ivan Baran
assistance total $51.47 a month. From this they pay rent, fuel, gas and light amounting to $16.46 a month.
Relatives of Mrs. Baran also live on public assistance in Germany. One sister emigrated to the United States and does not even write. Through the assistance of a former foster parent, the blue-eyed, blond Ivan received extra food and clothes he needed.
International headquarters for the organization is at 43 West 61st Street, New York, 23, New York.

Although the Tigers' record in spring training games has been nothing sensational, I think fans will be pleased with this year's team.

Bucky Harris has done a lot of experimenting with the line-up in practice contests, trying to learn all about his material, but now that we have come to the regular season and the chips are down, our best players will be on the field every day.

The Tigers are essentially a young team and an exceptionally fast one. We may be a little short on power, perhaps, but I believe this will be overcome by tremendous speed on the base paths and considerable defensive ability.

You won't find a faster, better throwing outfield in either major league. Not many balls will drop for cheap hits on Al Kaline, Bill Tuttle and the rookie, Jay Porter, nor will many base runners take liberties with them.

Better Hitting
Porter, who can really blast a ball, has added power to our team, and Al Kaline's much-improved slugging provides that much more to our potential.

Of course, we know what dependable Ray Boone can do, and with the addition of first baseman Ferris Fain the Tigers are blessed with another consistent hitter.

Finally, with our pitching apparently improved over last season, I feel that Detroit will be fighting it out with Chicago and maybe Boston for third place. I think the Tigers should beat Boston for at least fourth, for we're a sounder team than the Red Sox.

Naturally, I look for the Indians and the Yankees again to fight it out for the pennant. I pick the Indians to repeat because they look even stronger than last year. For one thing, their pitching is more stable.

Tougher Competition
The Yankees should chase them all the way to the wire, but I doubt if both teams once more will go over the 100-victory mark. Boston isn't likely again to drop 20 out of 22 games to the Indians, and Baltimore and Kansas City are not going to be such push-overs.

Incidentally, I look for Kansas City to be an improved ball club. Their move from Philadelphia should help them. Baltimore, too, seems a little stronger, but it appears that the Orioles and the Athletics still will be fighting to keep out of the cellar.

As for Washington, I expect the Nats to be giving someone a tough time for fifth place in the Hickory and Horsehide League.

Including production of sand and gravel, Michigan has mineral industries in all but 4 of its 83 counties.

PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL'S varsity baseball nine will square off against the Trenton Trojans tomorrow afternoon on the local diamond in the current season's initial contest. Pictured here is mentor Gustav Georguze showing the fundamentals of bunting properly to second baseman Danny Clifford, right-fielder Ed Wall and catcher Gary Minard. Last year the Rocks compiled a 6-5 record and finished third in the league. With 12 lettermen returning the locals should improve on that card.

Better Softball Lighting Facilities Approved by Board of Education

Work on the improved lighting facilities for the softball diamond behind the high school got underway last week as recreation officials foresee one of the best-lighted fields in the state for local ball clubs.

With the recent official approval of the job's financing by the board of education, the contract was awarded to low bidding Hubbs and Gilles electrical contracting firm. Recreation director Herb Woolweaver estimated the total cost of the improvements at about $4500.

"Barring the unforeseen," said Woolweaver, "the work will be finished by May 15. It will be a well-lighted and very convenient area." The mid-May completion date will be in plenty of time for the opening games slated for May 30.

Entire improvement plans call for 40 new individual lamps on the six poles already in place plus adding two new 6-lamp poles to the outfield. Permanent lamps will be added to the three poles down the left field line thereby eliminating the switching around of the football lights each season. This switch each year cost around $115.

Additional lamps will be added to the right field poles which will better illuminate the outfield. The warm-up practice area will also have more lighting to insure the safety of the players while they are getting ready to take the field.

The underground conduit-enclosed wiring is already laid in place at this date. Further plans for bettering the softball diamond, according to Woolweaver, are the placing of a four foot snow fence around the outfield to act as boundaries.

The American Heart Association estimates that 152,000,000 mandays are lost yearly because of diseases of the circulation.

Ford's worth more when you sell it... and used car prices prove it! For years, Ford cars have returned a higher proportion of their original cost at resale than any other low-priced car. And that's further proof that Ford's first in all-round, long-lasting value.

Grange Cleanings

Tonight is Grange night and we hope there will be a good attendance. Why belong to an organization if you never attend any of the meetings? Each one should be willing to do their part, however small it may be, to make our Grange a success. We are to have a film tonight "America The Beautiful" and that should be worth seeing.

There was a good crowd at the meeting of Pomona last Tuesday night with members from Pittsfield, Ann Arbor, Stoney Creek, Scio and other Granges present. Ed Stewart of Plymouth, whom most of us know, was the speaker of the evening. He told much of the past history of Plymouth schools. He has been an engineer at the high school for about 20 years and declares that our school system is second to none anywhere.

Let us all bear in mind our Rummage and Bake sale on Friday, May 20, at the Grange hall. Bring your rummage in by Thursday night and be sure to have your baked goods in by 10 a.m. on Friday. We hope for a generous response.

900 Attend Livonia's First Arts Exhibit

Plans to hold a similar show next year and possible formation of an Artists Guild in Livonia have been brought about by the enthusiastic reception of Livonia's first Creative Arts Exhibit, held Friday and Saturday at Bentley high school.

Mrs. A. T. M. Petersen, chairman of the Arts Exhibit, said the show had been highly successful and had gone over so well that it was hoped a similar event could be planned for another year. It was one of the largest projects ever undertaken by the community.

The chairman added that plans for the organization of an Artists Guild, as a result of interest shown in the exhibit, are still in the formative stage and will probably not materialize until next fall. Mrs. Hilma Aubert is heading the planning group.

Approximately 900 visitors attended the two-day show to see the artistic work done by friends, neighbors and residents of the surrounding area. On display were some 1,000 entries, with the paintings the predominate exhibit at the show.

One of the high-lights of the event was the Doll Style show. Featured at this unusual display were numerous types of doll clothing ranging from bathing suits and sportswear to formal evening dresses. The miniature outfits were made by Lucille Smith of Auburndale.

Among the types of creative work displayed were hand-painted china, leather and metal craft, flower arrangements, cake decorations, hooked rugs, puppets, wood carving, ceramics and quilting.

The exhibit was sponsored by the Rosedale Gardens branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association in cooperation with the Department of Parks and Recreation, City of Livonia.

Over twenty sparkling blue lakes can be seen in a glance from the twin observation towers of the Irish Hills near Detroit.

Got an itch to switch the pitch?

Here's the New Hit in Hardtops—the 4-Door Riviera

Want to do what a pilot does when he clears for take-off?

Want to feel the pulse-quickening thrill that comes of giving the gun to a high-powered automobile with the world's first airplane-inspired transmission?

Want to try Buick's Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—the spectacular new wonder drive that's the talk of car makers and car buyers alike—and the drive that's sending Buick sales soaring to new record-breaking highs?

Well, sir—be our test-pilot guest at the wheel of a '55 Buick and let today's Dynaflow do the honors.

When you press the pedal as you normally would, you move ahead in velvety smoothness, getting plenty of miles from each gallon of gas...

Because twenty propeller-like blades inside the Dynaflow unit, spinning in oil, have an angle of "pitch" for top economy—like the modern plane's propellers when cruising in the air.

But comes the need for emergency acceleration, and—like a pilot does for quick take-off and climb—you switch the pitch of those Dynaflow propellers for action, just by pressing the pedal all the way down.

Instantly, you get full-power response for split-second getaway, or for a sudden safety-surge to get out of a tight spot on the highway.

It's a response thrilling beyond all previous experience—because there's never been anything like it before in any car.

And we'd like you to try it—along with the walloping new V8 power, the cruiser-steady ride, the fine handling ease, and the true big-car roominess that are all part and parcel of every Buick.

Can you come in today—this week, for sure—and test pilot the hottest Buick yet built?

Rid Fruit Trees Of Disease Now,

Sick trees in that backyard can't be expected to produce healthy fruit for tasty pies. So make like a tree doctor and start operating on those diseased fruit trees.

Here are some prescriptions from Dr. Edward Klos, Michigan State college plant pathologist:

Black knot of plums: Cut off small limbs four inches below the visible signs—black warty outgrowths on branches—and chisel out knots on the trunk and larger limbs one inch beyond the knots. Again in May, inspect the trees and re-prune them. Above all—burn all pruned material so the disease doesn't spread.

This treatment should do the trick for the backyard orchardist. But a dormant spray may be needed for serious outbreaks. Then use 6-8-100 Bordeaux in a dormant oil spray.

Peach leaf curl: This year there's a new dormant spray—Ferbam—that takes good care of the disease. Klos mentions that the disease is widespread in Michigan. Use 1½ pounds of Ferbam, or Bordeaux 6-6-100 in 100 gallons of water or lime sulfur at the rate of one gallon to 20 gallons of spray.

Explains How Social Security Law Applies to Totally-Disabled Persons

Released this week was a report from the district Social Security office regarding the application of the new Social Security law to old-age and survivors insurance rights of persons who become totally disabled through injury, physical or mental illness.

Persons whose disability is expected to last indefinitely can apply to have their earnings record "frozen" while unable to work, the office stated. This procedure means that the disability period will not decrease the amount of payment at age 65. However, it does not provide cash disability payments before 65.

The earnings record may be frozen if:

1. The disability is serious enough to keep the person from working and has lasted more than six months.
2. The person became disabled before reaching age 65 and is still disabled at the time of filing.
3. The person has social security credit for five years of work out of the last ten years before the disability began.
4. The person has social security credit for one and one-half of the three years before becoming disabled.

Retired workers who meet these requirements may also apply to have their social security benefits refigured.

Further information about the disability provision is available at the Detroit-Northwest district Social Security office, 14600 Grand River, Detroit 27, Michigan.

and is a well-built "easy-to-live-in" one floor full basement brick home. Front and rear center hall entrances eliminate the disadvantage found in most houses now being built of having to "traipse" through the dining room or living room each time you want to go into the kitchen, bath, or bedroom area. The living room and kitchen are at the left of the center hall, the bedrooms and baths at the right. Dad can come home from work and will find it easier to put his hat and coat in the closet than to drop them on the nearest chair! Junior can come in the rear door and find himself practically in the bathroom. And best of all, mother has an "easy-do" kitchen with no lost cabinet corners, plenty of work space, an out-of-the-way breakfast nook and easy access to the dining room, bedrooms, and baths. Her NU-TONE hooded exhaust fan will quickly remove cooking odors and grease and will eliminate the drudgery of washing walls every few weeks. The counter between the range and refrigerator will do away with the age-old problem of juggling pots and pans, milk bottles and butter, lettuce and lunchmeat all over the place trying to find a spot to work in! The well lighted full basement has plenty of room for all the family activities, laundry, recreation, and hobbies. The forced air perimeter heating system will guard you against cold exterior walls and drafty floors in the coldest of weather.

Dr. Robert J. Scott of the Maybury Sanatorium probably has the cleanest cat in Northville. His pretty wife lifted a huge load of clothes into the automatic washer in their kitchen and started the cycle. Several minutes later a strange pounding in the machine made her stop it to investigate the trouble and find Tabby stretched around the interior. Strange as it may seem two hours after the scalding bath the cat was back to normal.

Hotel man Ralph Lorenz unleashed a bag of tricks on members of the National Hotel Association in Atlanta, Georgia last Friday afternoon which reports indicate helped him steal the annual convention show. To clearly illustrate his address before the group he passed out huge printed envelopes containing samples of all the many mailing pieces and promotional advertising materials he has used at the Mayflower during the past several years. As he presented his talk members in attendance could pull samples from the bag and see at first hand the promotions he has used here so successfully. To further interest his audience each envelope contained a huge Hotel Mayflower cigar, book of matches and a Mayflower pencil for making notes on his presentation.

Realtor Howard Stark always has been a good fisherman and now he carries around a receipt for fish given away during a recent Florida fishing trip. No one on the bay was catching any fish this particular day except Stark and he had landed a half dozen Sheephead, many more than he could use, so he gave two of them away to a fellow fisherman who promptly wrote out a penned receipt for Stark to carry home proving he had made an excellent catch in the midst of a famine for all other fishermen.

Local Smelt fishermen are bringing the silvery taste delights home by the bushel from almost anywhere they travel this week. Those who traveled to Pointe Pelee reported such an abundance of Smelt there that many times the fishermen were unable to haul in their drag nets along the shore because they were so loaded with fish. Experts predict dipping will hit its peak this weekend.

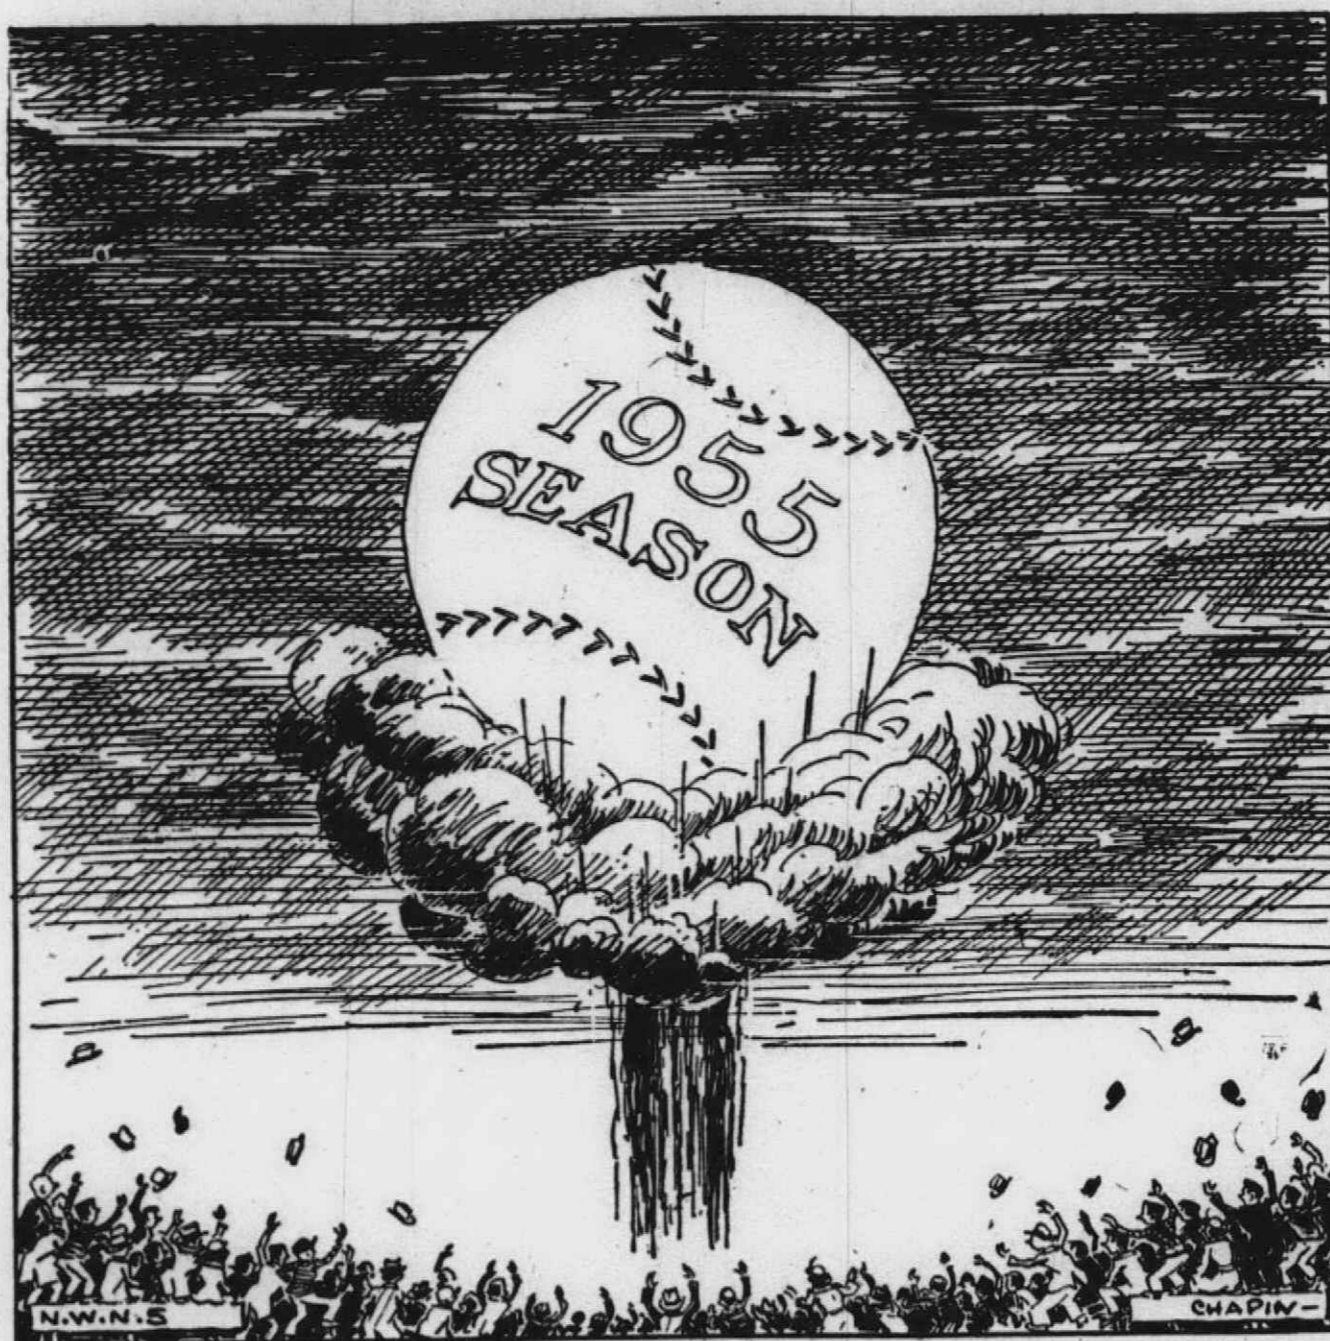

Local seed outlets are having a harvest right now at the expense of four members of The Plymouth Mail's staff. New home purchasers at The Mail are James Sponseller, Sam Stevens, Walter and Chester Jendrycka. The foursome have planted everything from oats to bluegrass on their newly graded lawns and the results of their individual efforts will be watched with more than usual interest.

Newburg's witty Methodist parson, the Rev. Robert Richards, tells how he led with his chin and got properly slapped as he stopped a sermon to call back a young mother who was taking her crying baby out of Church. Said Richards, "Mother come back and sit down, the baby's crying isn't bothering me" . . . "That may be," said the frustrated mother "but you're bothering the baby" . . . !

- Q-Can you give briefly what the law on labeling furs provides?
A-The Fur Products Labeling Act, is enforced generally by the Federal Trade Commission and prohibits misbranding fur products by falsely labeling them as to the country of origin of imported furs; the label must show the actual name of the fur used; that the product contains paws, tails, bellies or waste furs when it is wholly or substantially made of them; that it contains used or artificially colored fur.
- Q-What is the difference between the 21-gun presidential salute and the salute to the Union?
A-A presidential salute is fired when the president visits a military post or upon his death. The Salute to the Union consists of one gun fired for each state in the Union, and it is fired only at noon July 4. When a President dies, a presidential salute is fired at half-hour intervals from reveille to retreat. This may be followed by a salute to the Union.
- Q-Can a member of House or Senate be reached by telephone while either house is in session?
A-Yes, if he cares to answer the phone, by calling either the Democratic or Republican cloakrooms in house or senate.
- Q-Can you give the amount of government loans or loan guarantees outstanding?
A-A recent figure shows approximately $34 billion from about 32 government lending agencies.
- Q-Will the St. Lawrence Seaway increase tonnage shipments or merely provide cheaper freight transportation?
A-The estimate is that it will do both; that freight tonnages will increase from present seasonal shipments of about 10,000,000 tons to some 50,000,000 tons during the shipping season. Grain and iron ore are expected to dominate the tonnage.

READING THE MAIL

Mail by Rocket

The United States Post Office is said to be convinced that mail by rocket is probable in the near future. At the present time rockets available would make mail delivery too costly, but at least three countries are now experimenting with such a form of mail delivery.

John Reddin, a former Assistant Postmaster General, recently told the National Parcel Post Association that rocket mail was a probability for the years immediately ahead—not the distant future. Reddin even said it was possible that such delivery service would be in operation before 1960.

Initial rocket mail delivery would probably utilize rockets fired across large bodies of water, such as the Atlantic Ocean. As the rocket neared its destination, a control station at the receiving end would take over and guide the rocket down.

Using such rockets, a mail delivery schedule of three or four hours to cross the Atlantic would be possible.

A Note on Fishing

Now that fishing weather is getting better and better, we will take this occasion to point out to fishermen that they are now permitted by society to practice the sport without doing damage to their reputations. What brought this thought to mind was a recent statement from the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests.

That statement recalled that, many years ago, fishing was thought to be strictly for the peasants. The statement says that fishing once was frowned upon "by the upper crust and the so-called elite."

In some countries, fishing was a misdemeanor and those who were caught fishing were put in the same classification as mischief-makers. The only respectable fishing was done by small boys, and the rest of it was done by hoboes, village cut-ups and misfits.

The uptown hy-bred society gentleman did not mingle with the sport at all, for he feared social ostracism from the cookie-pushing strata of society. All of which goes to prove that today's fishing, and all its pleasures, which bring no reproof from society, are a sign of progress.

In fact, in today's fast pace of living, fishing fulfills a role—breaking the tension in everyday life—which is vital to millions of Americans. And now that we have fully justified that in our minds, we will end this rather quickly and head for the water.

Grass Roots Opinion

INDIO, CALIF., NEWS: "There is no good way for the Government to control the day-to-day affairs of a free people. Attempts to do so inevitably create greater and more menacing problems."

BOOTHBAY HARBOR, ME., REGISTER: "Many administrative positions in government do require men who have been especially trained. But it is not true that every aspect of government should be run by experts, by the select few. Those who would have it so lack faith in the people. They would turn their backs on democratic ways and would open wide the doors to totalitarianism and dictatorship."

HILLSBORO, ORE., ARGUS: "There is a great deal of logic in President Eisenhower's belief that terms of office of members of the U.S. house of representatives should be for four years instead of the present two. On a four-year-term basis the congressmen would be in a position to do a better job because under present conditions they must devote too much of their time to campaigning and give too much thought to what effect their votes on issues will have on their re-elections."

Roger Babson

Business Wastes Storehouse of Brainpower

Babson Park, Massachusetts. This week we will forget the stock market and consider something much more important, namely, some very valuable brain power which is going to waste. I have in mind especially the BRAINS of some of the so-called "physically handicapped." 1,000,000 WHEEL CHAIRS, CRUTCHES, AND CANES

There are 165,000,000 people in the U.S. I estimate that about 500,000 of these are handicapped from polio and other diseases; 1,500,000 are living disabled veterans from World Wars I and II; over 1,000,000 are crippled from accidents; and about 150,000 are totally blind. There are many more suffering from total deafness and even inability to speak. These add up to 3,150,000, of which at least 1,000,000 have not the opportunity to make full use of their inherent talents.

Although they have pretty much been supplied with jobs of a kind, these 1,000,000 have not—as a rule—such jobs as will enable them to use their BRAINS as they would like. This especially applies to those in wheel chairs and on crutches because—quoting an employer: "A wheel chair messes up the routine of the office or factory." In these days of keen competition management fears anything which might interfere with the flow of products or sales.

MONEY VERSUS OPPORTUNITIES
The situation is becoming worse every year due to increasing automobile accidents, of which 36,000 resulted last year in deaths for which there were total awards of perhaps $400,000,000. Some will say that the non-fatal accidents and even polio can be offset by insurance, as are certain veteran incapacities, but there is no insurance which gives new limbs, new eyes, or even a fair chance to use one's brain. Yet, our brains are our most wonderful and valuable asset.

It is not more Government money these physically handicapped need, but more opportunity to do creative intellectual work. Remember that in the above figures I am not including any medical or emotional mental cases. I am interested here in those who have distinct talents. Although the many unselfish agents and counselors of the Federal and State Governments are doing excellent work with the funds available, they deserve much more help.

LET US SAVE OVER $2,000,000,000 PER YEAR
I estimate that of the above groups, one million adults are today able to use fully their brains and talents. However, much of this creative brain power and special talent is being overlooked. This is unfair to the nation, as well as to these people. Just think, with one million of these brains now idle, 8,000,000 working hours are lost daily, or more than 2,000,000,000 are lost each year. Based on only one dollar per hour, this means a loss of over $2,000,000,000 per year.

To understand what the loss of these one million adult workers means, consider any city of about 3,000,000 population, such as Detroit, Boston, San Francisco, or Pittsburgh, any one of which has 1,000,000 adult workers. This means the loss of as much creative brain power as is now engaged in the entire production work of one of the above cities. In saying this, I include bankers, merchants, professional men, as well as wageworkers.

PRaise FOR PRIVATE ORGANIZATIONS

Let me applaud all those private organizations now engaged in helping unfortunates. I particularly have in mind certain Societies to Help the Blind, the National T.B. Association, the National Association for Infantile Paralysis, the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, the American Heart Association, the American Hearing Society, the Disabled Veterans Organizations, the U. S. and State Employment Services, and the Goodwill Industries of America, founded on a shoestring by a personal friend of mine, and now distributing annually the equivalent of $25,000,000 in useful work. The public little realizes the rewards which would come to the nation by activating these one million creative brains and submerged talents.

I forecast that these submerged physically handicapped, who are mentally talented and alert, can truly become "gold mines." I only wish I were younger and could devote my life to harnessing these brains, talents, imaginations, and visions. Many of them could become inventors of great note, from which the nation as a whole would benefit.

Political Predictions Plentiful in State

PARTISAN POLITICIANS looked at 1956 through bifocal crystal balls this week.

Republicans and Democrats came out of one of the roughest spring elections in Michigan history with predictions of the future as divergent as their campaign claims.

Pending recounts, Democrats won five and Republicans three of the contested offices, upsetting the springtime tradition that elections are Republican property.

The results led Gov. Williams to predict even greater victories in 1956 in Michigan than the 1954 sweep of all but two state administrative board offices.

Republicans countered with a statement from Senator Charles E. Potter that his party's losses were not significant and the picture would change in 1956.

"The year 1956 promises to be one of the greatest turning points in Michigan politics," said Williams.

It is no secret that Republicans alienated the liberals in their own party with campaign charges that the CIO would take over control of the school system and the Michigan Supreme Court.

The claims were variations on the theme since Williams first took office in 1949 that the union bosses in Detroit were sitting on his shoulder, directing things in Lansing.

Democrats said they won through organization of local precincts. State Chairman Neil J. Staebler said it marked the start of an onslaught on county and township offices by his party.

Democrats played on the theme that Michigan's school system is in a mess and Republicans are responsible.

They played it softly and people didn't have time to wonder if Republicans were exclusively responsible for the birth rate which has overcrowded classrooms and made expansion necessary.

Observers in capitol corridors, knowing the results of the April 3 election, are uncertain who was right in the campaign, but one rather mundane result appeared to be a cinch: Said one:
"Whatever happened, both parties are leading into 1956 with one of the most interesting tasks in history."

MONEY PROBLEMS are again plaguing state government, even as you and I.

Both sides of the capitol are irritated at the slowness with which the legislature has tackled its major problems of 1955 and tax issues are in the top drawer.

Legislators have known since Jan. 12 they would have to pour more cash into the treasury to pay for the next fiscal year. Up to now, almost nothing has been accomplished.

Within a week, a 60 member citizen's advisory group is expected to make recommendations to the Senate tax committee on how to raise between $15,000,000 and $25,000,000 to cover the gap between existing revenue and estimated spending for next year.

The best bet now is an increase in the $30,000,000 business activities tax. As stated by Senator Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo), tax committee chairman:

"It's about the only tax in state government that hasn't brought a flood of complaints." A move is on to bring the 1955 session to a close June 3—and that will be the date when Michigan will know whether it has a tax program or will return to deficit spending.

LOCAL RECREATION PROGRAMS continue to grow in importance. This spring three one-day work shops will give community leaders excellent pointers on how to conduct a program. The workshops are open, at no charge, to anyone interested in handling sports, crafts, story telling, swimming or camping. They are under the direction of Ernest V. Blohm, executive secretary of the Michigan Inter-Agency Council for Recreation.

Two workshops will be held on April 30. One headed by Prof. Russell B. Daubert, at Michigan State College, the other by Prof. Thomas C. Slaughter at Western Michigan College in Kalamazoo. Prof. C. V. Money, Northern Michigan College in Marquette, will lead a third conference there on May 23. Inquiries for information should be directed to the workshop leader at his institution.

THE LAST 50 youths in prison with hardened criminals will be segregated into Ionia State Reformatory within a week.

It will be a victory for penologists and social workers who have long contended that young people cannot benefit from the prison process if allowed to mingle with the oldtimers.

Last year the legislature approved a $400,000 project at Ionia, construction of a 234-man dormitory to increase the 1,340 capacity and put the youths in a "better climate for reform."

Corrections officials for years have deplored the need for putting young first-offenders in Jackson "merely because there was not another place for them," said Corrections Director Gus Harrison.

The new dormitory at Ionia, for the first time in years, will give prison officials room to make the change. Youths from now on will be given a chance to build a life for the future—away from the damaging influences of prison with adults.

HITCHHIKING has become the latest gimmick for politicians.

Senator Charles S. Blundy (D-Detroit), the owner of two cars and collector of a pretty handsome annual income, has been thumbing his way to sessions in Lansing since January.

"You really get to know the people that way," he said. "I'd recommend it to every public official."

★ THINKING OUT LOUD ★

One question, sometimes controversial, sometimes personal is asked each week by The Mail of four pedestrians along Plymouth's downtown streets. This week's guests are "thinking out loud" on the question:

"Although the city has already passed an ordinance forbidding Sunday sales of cars, appliances, TV and radio sets, furniture and floor coverings, there has been comment from some that this law is discriminatory. What do you think about this ordinance?"

BOB PROVOST, 9558 Mercedes, Redford: "I work in Plymouth six days a week and Sunday is one day I get off. I would like to see a few stores stay open on Sunday so I could do a little shopping. I can't see anything wrong with it."

IRVIN RUTENBAR, 142 West Pearl: "I wouldn't say anything against it, particularly. Sunday openings would give some people who don't have a chance to do shopping other days to do it on Sunday. I don't believe the law is unfair, however."

Provost Rutenbar Mrs. Shaw Mrs. Harrison

MRS. VIRGINIA SHAW, 824 Forest: "I think it's a good idea to keep stores closed Sunday. If they want to open up, it should be up to them but I don't see why they should. I work myself and six days a week is enough for anybody."

MRS. WILLIAM HARRISON, 965 Lotz: "Personally I do my shopping the other six days of the week, but to some, Sunday openings would be an asset. If stores want to remain open, I don't think it would be wrong. In Plymouth it wouldn't pay."

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

"Onion Pie" Takes Place Of Bread, Rolls

An unusual dish which takes the place of bread or rolls on the dinner menu has been suggested by Mrs. Paul Wiedman of 47650 North Territorial road.

The Plymouth resident is well known for her recipe for "Mother Wiedman's Onion Pie," top favorite with her own family as well as with her many friends who have tasted the delicious dish.

One word of caution—even though the recipe calls for a custard it should not be served as a dessert.

Mother Wiedman's Onion Pie
Prepare a three-egg custard (3 eggs, 2 cups of milk), but do not use any sugar. Add ½ teaspoon of salt to three cups of thinly sliced onions which have been steamed in butter or margarine. Do not brown the onions.

Fold into custard and place mixture in a 9-inch unbaked pie shell. Bake in slow oven (350 degrees) until custard is set. Takes approximately 40 minutes. For those summer picnics coming up, Mrs. Wiedman points out that the onion pie is delicious with German potato salad and hot dogs.

Interested spectator during the preparation of onion pie is Mrs. Wiedman's five-year-old granddaughter, Janeen Minock, shown above at the Wiedman home on North Territorial road.

A cabbage pie is also a tasty variation of this same recipe. For this substitute, grate cabbage, add salt and pepper, and saute in butter. Then fold in custard as above.

Cadillac

What The Doctor Ordered... For Himself!

The doctor had owned his new Cadillac for about a month—and he was talking to a friend.

"About the only recreation I get," he said, "is at the wheel of my motor car—driving to and from the hospital, my office, and the homes of patients."

"Other doctors, of course, have the same situation—and some of them kept telling me what a big 'lift' they were getting out of their Cadillacs."

"I decided to see for myself—and they were certainly right. I actually approach the day with a lot more zest—knowing that I am going to spend a couple of hours driving my Cadillac."

The doctor is, experiencing, of course, what so many other professional and business men are experiencing—the wonderful lift to the spirits that a Cadillac brings a man.

Try it sometime—and see for yourself.

You'll find there's something about the way you feel as you take the wheel. You know there's a car under you! Solid, substantial, capable and protective. Just to sit there gives you a wonderful feeling of confidence and well-being.

And when you start to move, the thrill is continuous. You almost never hear the great engine, except when it answers a smart touch to the throttle. Steering is little more than the response to your thought. You just ride and relax.

We hear it every day: "I drive my Cadillac for rest and relaxation."

Why not come in today—and make the test yourself. We'll give you the keys and a Cadillac—and the "rest" is up to you!

P.S. It's only fair to warn you: You probably won't find it easy to give up the keys. Some people simply refuse!

Newcomer to Gelatin Family Makes Perfect Salad, Dessert

Newest flavor in the gelatin family comes from our oldest known fruit... the apple. Apple gelatin at market now, makes a perfect molded salad or dessert with either fruits or vegetables. It's a handsome amber color and that tangy apple flavor is right in the gelatin.

- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
  - 2 ripe bananas
  - 2 unpeeled red apples
  - 1/4 cup diced celery
  - 1/4 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
- Use fully ripe bananas... yellow peel flecked with brown.
- Dissolve apple-flavored gelatin in hot water. Add cold water and lemon juice, stirring until well-mixed. Chill until mixture is slightly thickened. Peel and slice bananas. Core and dice apples. Lightly fold bananas, apples, celery and walnuts into mixture. Turn into 1 quart mold or into 4 to 6 individual molds. Chill until firm. When ready to serve, unmold. Garnish with slices of ripe banana, apple and nuts, if desired. Serve with mayonnaise or salad dressing. Makes 4 to 6 servings.
- Suggestion: This salad can double as dessert if celery is omitted. Serve plain or topped with cream, custard sauce or fruit sauce.

Experts Stress Careful Buying Of Tot's Shoes

The shoes you buy for your pre-school children may play a big part in whether they have foot trouble in later years. This is explained by an authority on the foods and nutrition staff at Michigan State college. She says children grow so fast that by the time they are 6 to 8 years old the foot bones have formed and the characteristics of their feet have developed.

Because youngster's feet are so important, their shoes must be carefully selected. Here are a few items to look for when you go shoe shopping with your children.

Put on and lace up both shoes on the child. Have him stand on both feet. If the shoes are wide enough, you will be able to pinch a small fold of leather across the top of the shoe at its widest part. If the shoes bulge along the sole line, they are too narrow and if the leather wrinkles, they are too wide.

Make sure the shoe is long enough: there should be room for the width of your thumb at the end of the shoe. And make sure the little toe has its fair share of space, too.

For best support in walking, be sure you note the heel-shank area. When your child raises his heel from the floor, as in walking, the heel of the shoe should follow the foot and neither gap at the sides or the back.

Finally, the expert says, be sure you have the family doctor check your child's feet. If necessary he can prescribe corrective measures.

THE only thing that isn't mysterious about a Mystery Mocha Cake is the fun you'll have making it and the enjoyment your family will get out of eating it. Plentiful helpings of fragrant coffee will, as usual, add to the enjoyment.

Touch of "Abracadabra" Goes Into This Dessert

Do you find, somehow, that an air of mystery is just about the hardest thing in the world to impart to your baking activities? Cookery, these days, is a brisk and business-like affair. But sometimes, it's fun to baffle the family with a muttered "abracadabra" and a mysterious culinary effect. When this Houdini-like mood steals over you, that's the time to set the stage for a Mystery Mocha Cake.

Begin your act by inviting everybody into the kitchen and showing them that you have nothing up your sleeve. Then let them observe you pouring a perfectly plain cake-batter into an everyday, unmythical ring mold. Sprinkle sugar and cocoa on top before their very eyes, then boldly pour a cup of coffee over all before you pop the cake into the oven.

When the baking is finished, just turn the cake out with a dramatic flourish. There's the cake, and lavishly and deliciously distributed over it is a thick, rich mocha sauce. Who made it? You didn't, and they didn't! It made itself! In addition to being lots of fun, this is really the most labor-saving way to make a sauce we have ever heard about.

Coffee ice-cream piled high in the hollow center of the cake after it is turned out onto the serving platter makes this the most "a la mode" mystery around. And we can assure you that it's truly luscious. You'll need a generous pot full of hot, fragrant coffee to "go with" of course.

MYSTERY MOCHA RING

- 1 pkg. spice cake mix
  - 2/3 cup brown sugar
  - 2/3 cup sugar
  - 5 tablespoons cocoa
  - 1 1/4 cups strong cold coffee
  - 1 quart coffee ice cream
- Prepare cake mix as directed on package. Spoon evenly into well-greased 10-inch ring mold. Combine brown sugar, sugar and cocoa and sprinkle over cake batter. Pour coffee over all. Bake in moderate oven, 350° F., 50 to 60 minutes. Invert at once on large plate, preferably with a "well" to receive sauce that forms during baking. Fill center with coffee ice cream. Serve at once. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Heat-resistant glass means it can be subjected to extreme temperatures. So you can use it in the refrigerator or in the oven. There are two kinds—flameware and ovenware. Flameware can be used on top of the stove as well as in the oven. Ovenware is limited to baking.

Pick Permanent Which Gives Hair Soft Curl

Summer is on the way and with the longer hair styles becoming so popular, you are probably thinking about having a new permanent.

Soft waves are the thing you will want to aim for. The tightly-curling head is a thing of the past. A skillful cut and a good permanent are more important than ever before.

There are three kinds of permanent waves you can choose from. First the machine wave which uses electrical heat—next; the machineless wave which uses chemically treated pads to generate heat—and the cold wave which uses a chemical action generating no heat.

The two methods that employ heat are generally better for coarse hair. The cold method is better for fine hair. All three methods can be used for medium-weight hair with equal success.

If you decide to give yourself a home permanent, be sure to follow the instructions to the letter. If you are not able to do this, let a professional operator do the job. Don't let the waving lotion get in your eyes.

Put off having a permanent if you have any cuts, scratches, or irritations on your scalp or neck. The waving lotion can be absorbed through them into the skin. Postpone if you have dyed or bleached your hair recently. Always make a test of one curl before the whole head is permanent.

Choose a fashionable but becoming hair style for your new permanent. Don't let yourself be talked into a style because it is the latest thing unless it really does something for you.

New, Stretch-to-Size Nylons, Make Debut

This season, leading hosiery manufacturers are introducing a stretch stocking in sheer nylon—full-proportioned, and constructed to fit the leg "like a second skin."

These stockings stretch to your exact foot and leg shape, and to your desired gartering length.

They are featured in sizes to fit short, average and tall.

The word "cereal" is derived from the picturesque Roman ceremonies known as "the cerealia" celebrated in honor of Ceres, Goddess of Grain. These festivals, celebrated in mid-April, were instituted about 500 B.C. to solicit protection for the growing grain crops.

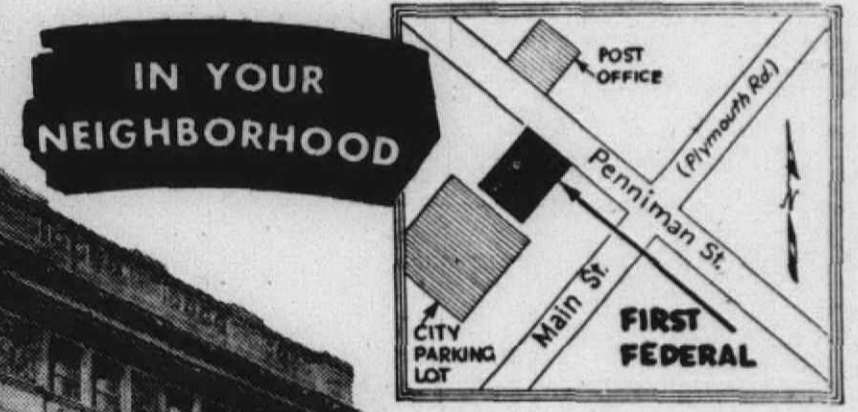

Sweet Potato Boats serve as garnish.
Garnish a ham or pork roast apple mixed with a little sugar with sweet potato boats. Simmer and lemon juice. Brush the boats the sweet potatoes until tender, with melted butter or margarine then skin and hollow them. Fill and return to the oven to heat the boats with crushed pine-through.

New Sleep Fashions Copy Playwear Styles

Carefree! Cool! Short! These are the buy-words of new into-summer sleepwear! Whatever you sleep in—whether shirt, pj or gown—it's a short, short, story.

Yes, brevity is the spice of dunk, dry and wear, fitted shorty gowns, romper, p.j.'s, bloomer sets, shirt'n boy short duos, chemise-like gowns.

New styles in "sleep" fashions pose the question whether they are meant for indoors or outdoors as they pick-up fabrics from daytime wear, styling from playwear, and are most often manufactured by leading makers of sleep wear!

Oriental influences invade the sleep and lounge scene, as Chinese collars, kimona-like sleeves, slit sides, tapestry prints and mandarin coats take their bows!

Vary that gelatin dessert by using grape juice instead of water. Gingerale, used in place of water, is another way of adding zip to molded salads. It is particularly good with pear, peach or apricot combinations.

New Method of Sizing Results in Better Fit

If you're shopping for the "H" line (across the hip interest) and you find that it just doesn't hit at the right spot—don't give up.

This season brings on a new era of more specialized sizing: a greater variety of spanking-new fashions to fit the greatest variety of figures.

There are "Briefs" and "Petites"—for the diminutive size 8 to 16, who needs a higher-waisted, shorter-skirted number... there the Half-Sizes for the more mature figure. Tall—for the "king-sized" queen... plus the regular misses; and junior sizes that start with a "half-pint size" seven!

Remember—these are the special sizes that will help save you time, temper and alteration costs!

Adhesive Method

Thanks to the new adhesive method of installing ceramic tile on walls and floors, economy-minded homemakers can now have extensive areas in their new or remodeled homes surfaced with the time-tested, waterproof and durable material. Any adhesive which bears the U. S. department of Commerce hallmark CS181-52 can be recommended for use with tile on dry wall construction. Since something like half of the new homes going up today are of dry wall construction, the adhesive method has come into great popular use.

Helpful Hints Concerning Building, Remodeling, Repairing & Redecorating

BUILD

THE BIGGER PORTION of this colonial designed two-story duplex home was built by local electrician Ed Campbell in his spare time. Although not quite finished the home's colonial lines show in the wrought iron posts on the porch, with a stylish balcony railing around the front still to be added. Featured inside the home is an electric heating arrangement that includes three thermostats on each floor to control individual room temperatures. The bathrooms and kitchens have electric glass heating which operates on a radiating current principle. Designed by Charles Sawyer, Plymouth architect, the house has aluminum windows of the true-sealed, jalousie type, which crank open and shut effortlessly.

Keep Humidity Down

The modern trend in tighter house construction, with crawl space instead of basement under the house, or with cement floors in contact with the ground, tends to create a higher indoor relative humidity in winter.

To determine the amount of moisture that may safely be maintained inside a house without endangering its structural welfare, the Engineering Experiment Station of the University of Minnesota conducted a series of tests. According to their findings, the indoor relative humidity in winter should never be higher than 40% for an indoor air temperature of 70°F, when the outdoor temperature is above 10°F.

Triple Value

Quality kitchens really pay off for active families because they can serve as work and play areas, too. You can design such a kitchen for your new home or include it in your older home remodeling plans. Many families find the U-shape plan most suitable. Range, counter tops surfaced with durable clay tile, sink and refrigerator form the U part of the kitchen. At the open end of the design provide space for the children's play area and father's hobby bench. Built-in storage and a floor of rugged but handsome quarry tile complete the picture.

Decorator's Notebook

Soon it will be time to store the winter woollens. A cedar chest is the most likely and safest item of furniture for this purpose.

Today, it is possible to have a cedar chest in your home wherever you want it most. The modern cedar chest is attractively styled in a manner that doesn't set it apart from the rest of your home furnishings.

The cedar chest shown above is one of the most contemporary cedar chests. It resembles none of its predecessors. New design features, both inside and out, offer greater convenience, and safer protection for blankets, favorite cashmeres, and other special wintertime furnishings and apparel.

The base is of coffee table height and is made of alternating strips of maple and walnut. The accordion-hinge doors are maple wood, and glide on a special dust sealing metal rail. For color contrast the case frame is made of cherry wood. The maple doors are edged in ebony. Naturally, the inside wood is protective cedar.

Mounting Interest in Home and Family Life Reflected in Current Building Trends

The thumping boom in home building, by far the brightest spot in the economic picture, continues full speed ahead, spearheading the sustained upward surge of general industrial activity.

This mounting demand for new houses follows logically the rapidly accelerating marriage and birth rates in recent years. Even more significantly, it reflects a growing emphasis on the home and family as the keystone of our American way of life.

The urge to really sink down roots in a community, the desire for more living space both inside and outside the home, the need for permanent protection against rent increases, a keen awareness of the sound economics of home ownership, have all played their part in zooming to new heights the erection of new homes.

The desire for more space is perhaps the most important spur to home-building. Whereas the rented apartments in most areas will be found to average three to four rooms, owner-occupied homes in the same localities will average five rooms plus, with the average still mounting.

Another strong incentive to home-ownership is the desire to "belong" to a community, to a participant in civic interests and responsibilities to a degree seldom if ever possible to a renter.

From the dollars and cents point of view, the advantages of home ownership are equally gratifying. The home buyer's month-by-month payments (on the direct reduction mortgage plan) may be comparable with what he would pay in rent—give or take a few dollars one way or the other.

The important difference (in the home buyer's favor) is that an ever-increasing proportion of what he pays out goes to reduce the size of his mortgage, becomes part of his equity in the home. At the end of 15 or 20 years he owns the house free and clear and thenceforth lives rent free (with the exception of taxes).

What the renter pays out, however, is gone forever; he'll never have anything to show for his money but a bundle of rent receipts.

The Federal tax laws (and many state laws) give the homeowner another important advantage over the renter. The former can deduct on his tax returns the amounts paid in interest on the mortgage and in local real estate taxes. These can add to a very sizeable tax saving.

Design-wise, the split-level residence appears to be the one currently most favored, with the ranch-style (single-level) unit a close second. A recent survey showed that 38.7 percent of prospective buyers were after a split-level home, while 34.9 percent sought the ranch-style. Only 17.4 percent wanted a conventional two-story house.

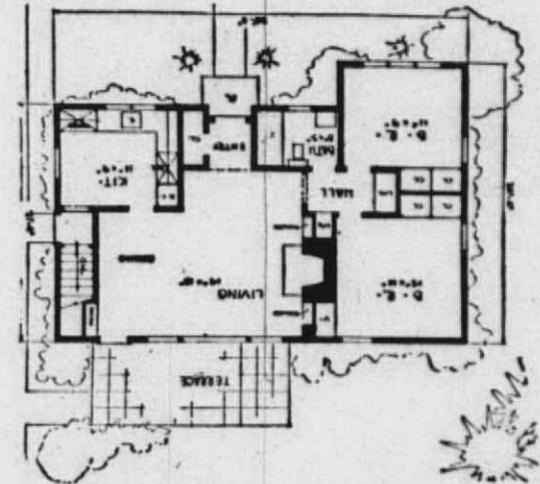

The balance was made up of 4.4 percent who preferred a Cape Cod dwelling, and 4.6 percent modern contemporary.

For the house itself, bedroom requirements were as follows: Two bedrooms, 12.2 percent; three bedrooms, 69.4 percent; four bedrooms 16.5 percent, and over four, 1.9 percent. Those wanting 1½ baths topped the list with 45.4 percent, followed by two baths with 30.7 percent; one bath 12.6 percent; 11.3 percent wanted 2½ baths.

Finally, on plot size, the survey pointed up the trend in recent years to much larger home sites. A total of 38.2 percent look for ¼-acre site; 27.1 percent seek 1/3-acre; another 16.5 percent want ½-acre, and 13.3 percent a full acre. Only 4.9 percent demand more than an acre.

DESIGN H-45

This small home with its unique arrangement and spacious rooms is a fine example of what can be accomplished by proper planning. The separate entry hall leads into a large living room which includes bookcases built in on either side of the fireplace. There are lots of extra closets and a pleasant and roomy kitchen in the front corner of the house with entry to the basement or side door. Windows in the living room face a lovely rear terrace. ## Buying Home? Experts Warn to Check 4 Factors

If you're buying a house your list of things to check should include location, structural condition, functional arrangement and orientation.

These are four main factors to consider, according to specialists.

Location is probably the most important item, he pointed out. This includes nearness to schools, churches and playgrounds; condition of the surrounding structures; rezoning possibilities, and probable changes and general stability of the neighborhood.

Any possible unusual situations, such as undesirable odors from adjacent sections because of prevailing winds, also should be investigated.

"All pertinent structural items should be checked, from the cause of plaster cracks—which may involve settlement—to the number of electrical outlets and their location," he said. "All utilities should be examined as to type, age and size to determine their adequacy." Experts suggest that a complete check list be made up and followed.

How livable the house is, experts emphasize, "will be determined largely by how well the various sizes and layouts of rooms and equipment have been devised to provide the best functional arrangement.

In addition valuable information should be obtained at the various county and city offices. This information should include the year the house was built, the assessed valuation, previous taxes and other matters of interest to the prospective buyer.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Question: I intend installing a septic system with leaching pools since I do not have room for tile drains. These will be located 75 feet from my water supply well, which is 142 feet deep. The soil is medium course sand down to 85 feet. Will the septic system contaminate the water supply?

Answer: If your well is a seal-pipe system (and most drilled wells are) you'll have no trouble. Rule-of-thumb calculation is that water purifies itself in 20 feet through the soil. While not to be relied on in all cases, you need not worry about contaminating your water source.

Question: About one-third of my asphalt driveway was laid during a rain. Now, six months later, that section is breaking up. Could this be due to the fact that the road bed was wet at the time?

Answer: More than likely the footing is inadequate and gave way under the impact of traffic. Thereafter, water enters under the surface and causes further damage. If frozen the water expands and heaves the slab, further cracking it. Inadequate drainage at the edges of the slab may have contributed further to this series of events.

Question: I am interested in removing some inlaid linoleum which has cracked. It was laid directly on the wood floor without felt underneath. What suggestions have you for removing this old linoleum?

Answer: This is really tough work since not many substances soften the adhesive. You can do a fair job cutting it up with a broad-bladed chisel and hammer. Soak the edge of the cut with hot water to help somewhat. Mineral spirits, turpentine, lacquer solvent all have some effect on various types of adhesive, but must be used carefully near a flame, or in a confined space.

Guard Against Termites

Guard against these destroyers when you build. Proper construction methods and the use of wood treated under pressure with a good preservative will often obviate the need for costly repairs later.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS OF YOUR BOARD OF EDUCATION

BOARD OF EDUCATION MEETING PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP SCHOOL DISTRICT PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN MINUTES

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Township School District was held in the business office on Monday, January 10, 1955. The minutes of the last regular and intervening special minutes were approved. Mrs. Lane appeared before the Board to express her concern about the teaching of reading in the early elementary grades. She suggested three books which she felt would be helpful in the implementation of the program. Superintendent Isbister was instructed to discuss the procedure with the instructional leaders who are responsible for the program of reading in the schools. Letters of resignation from the following teachers were read: Patricia Barbour, Mary Fenske, Rhoda Hohenel, Florence Kihm, Marion Mathews, Vivian Thorson. ### PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP SCHOOL DISTRICT PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN

The regular meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Township School District was held in the high school library on March 14, 1955. Present: Mr. Booth, Mr. Caplin, Mr. Gallimore, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Smith and Superintendent Isbister. Minutes of the last regular and intervening special meetings were read and approved. Others attending were: Elementary Principals: Ruth Erickson, Mildred Field, Donald Rank and Nancy Tanger; Architect: Mr. Becker; Attorney: Mr. Perlongo; Realtor: Mr. Latture; Insurance Agent: Mr. Fluckey, Subdivision Developer - Mr. Ramseyer; and Maintenance and Custodial Personnel of the Plymouth Township Schools. Archibon Becker presented for consideration three sketches for the new elementary school. Plan A would provide for a double loaded corridor with classrooms on either side. Plan B would provide for a multi-purpose room in the center to serve as part of the corridor space. Plan C would provide for a cloister arrangement of classrooms connected by corridors to the main services. While everyone thought Plan C type would be preferable, the construction cost of the scattered rooms in the building appeared to be prohibitive. Mr. Becker was authorized to proceed with further development of Plan B. The Maintenance and Custodial Personnel requested a change in their salary schedule for next year. They urged the Board to raise the minimum salary from $3,180 to $3,500 and the maximum from $3,680 to $4,000, per year. The Board took the requests under advisement and promised to study the problem. Mr. Ramseyer appeared before the Board for the purpose of working out an exchange of some of the property on the west of the proposed school site for the north portion, thus permitting Edison Street to be opened straight through to Mill Street and making the school property more rectangular. It was moved by Mr. Smith and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing that the Board work out satisfactory arrangements with Mr. Ramseyer so that the school property can be bounded by rectangular lines. Ayes: Mr. Booth, Mr. Caplin, Mr. Gallimore, Mrs. Hulsing and Mr. Smith. Nays: None. Mr. Fluckey, President of Insurance Agents of Plymouth, discussed the insurance program. He indicated a desire on the part of the local agents to work out a plan of blanket coverage to include employee risks, the handling and transfer of money, burglary, etc. A letter from Mrs. Fritz, Secretary of the Plymouth Education Association, urging the Board to change the present policy, which prohibits the employment of both husband and wife on the staff, was read. After careful consideration the Board denied the request. A letter from Mrs. Runge relative to the annexation of Canton Township School District No. 4 was read. Superintendent Isbister was directed to invite Mrs. Runge and the school board from that district to be present at the regular monthly meeting on April 14, 1955. It was moved by Mr. Smith and seconded by Mr. Caplin to pay the following bills? Paid Bills Voucher No. 6600 and 6601 $76,142.01 Unpaid Bills Voucher No. 6602 and 6754 16,322.88 Ayes: Mr. Booth, Mr. Caplin, Mr. Gallimore, Mrs. Hulsing and Mr. Smith. Nays: None. The meeting adjourned at 11:30 p.m. Respectfully submitted, Carl Caplin, Secretary

A Special Meeting of the Board of Education was held on March 29, 1955 in the business office of the Plymouth Township School District. Present: Mr. Booth, Mr. Caplin, Mr. Gallimore, Mrs. Hulsing and Mr. Smith and Superintendent Isbister. Also: Miss Anderson, Mr. Foster, Mrs. Hurlik, Mrs. Kelly, Mr. Mack, Mr. Smith and Mrs. Stein representing the Plymouth Education Association. President Gallimore called the meeting to order at 8:00 p.m. Mrs. Kelley, speaking in behalf of the Plymouth Education Association, pointed out that the teachers have been studying the salary situation and other factors of the employment policy in Plymouth. She noted that the group had under consideration four areas of study to which she asked the Board to give attention. They are as follows:

1. Raise both the minimum and maximum in the present salary schedule.
  2. Provide for a greater differentiation in salary between teachers with a B.A. and M.A. degrees.
  3. Grant partial payment for hours of credit earned toward the Masters degree.
  4. A general discussion followed, between the Board and the Committee, on such subjects as professional standards of teachers, the status of the teaching profession, the extended school year, the salary schedule, recruitment and training of teachers, etc.
- The Board agreed to give further study and consideration to the four areas suggested by Mrs. Kelly. It was moved by Mr. Smith and seconded by Mr. Caplin to amend the original purchase agreement with Mr. Perry Richwine to include a strip of land 33' wide and 186' deep facing Mill street along the north side of the property. The new purchase price including the original 5.3 acres is to be $15,000. Ayes: Mr. Booth, Mr. Caplin, Mr. Gallimore, Mrs. Hulsing and Mr. Smith. Nays: None. It was moved by Mr. Smith and seconded by Mr. Caplin to amend the original purchase agreement with John E. and Mabel S. Johnson to include all of their land facing Mill Street, the house, barn and other buildings. The new purchase price including the original acreage is to be $43,441.54. Ayes: Mr. Booth, Mr. Caplin, Mr. Gallimore, Mrs. Hulsing and Mr. Smith. Nays: None. ## Protect Trees From Air Attack

An airborne army has invaded treeland. Only prompt chemical warfare can prevent casualties. The enemy troop are fungi, so small that they can't be seen unless magnified 100 to 200 times. Their spores or seeds are spread throughout the country by spring winds and rains. Though the average home owner doesn't know they exist, these fungous spores will soon be floating in the air according to tree experts. When they land on trees, the fungi cause disease. Some of the fungi are partial to certain types of tree. Others aren't so particular and cause damage wherever they happen to land. Best means of killing fungous diseases before they kill decorative foliage is by spraying leaves with a chemical fungicide. One of the chemicals used for this purpose is ferbam, an organic iron salt. When this is spread over the leaf surface harmful fungi are killed on coming in contact with it. Despite their tremendous value, fungicidal sprays have been ignored by many home owners because repeated applications are required and the diseases themselves often go unnoticed until the damage is done. But fruit growers consider fungicide spraying so important that they use up to 12 or more such sprays per season. No tree can be healthy without healthy foliage. Fungous diseases are most prevalent in the more humid sections of the country, such as Kentucky, Maryland, District of Columbia, southern Ohio and Pennsylvania, and parts of Illinois and Indiana. Repeated defoliation of a tree can weaken it so that it becomes an easy target for hungry insects and dies a slow death. Fungous disease can destroy all the leaves on a tree in a single season.

Announcing — America's newest, lowest, smartest 4-door Sedan

Newest model in Mercury's Montclair Series lets you enjoy "hardtop" beauty with 4-door convenience

It's the newest Mercury of them all—the Montclair 4-door Sedan, and the photograph shows you that not one bit of the original Montclair hardtop beauty has been lost. It has the same dramatic lowness—only 58 1/2 inches from road to roof. And see how convenient it is to get in and out. Everyone who admires hardtop styling, but wants the roominess and convenience of a 4-door model, can now eat his cake, and have it too!

198-hp Super-Torque V-8 with dual exhausts Seldom has an engine caused as much enthusiastic comment from auto editors. And once you drive a Montclair, you'll see why. It gives you instant, on-the-spot pickup at every speed—from zero to super-highway limits. A four-barrel carburetor, unique new high-compression spark plugs, and dual exhausts are yours at no extra cost. Features like these are usually extra on medium-priced cars.

Exclusive new power lubrication gives Mercury widest choice of power features The Mercury Montclair offers a new optional power feature—power lubrication. And it's exclusive with Mercury in the medium-price field. You push a button on the dashboard and vital parts of your car are automatically lubricated. You can also choose optional power steering, power windows, power brakes, 4-way power seat and Merc-O-Matic Drive. Why not come in and see this newest Mercury? It costs a lot less than you think. And your present car is worth a lot more than you think on a trade-in at your Mercury dealer's.

ABOUT YOUR LAWN AND GARDEN

Plan Garden Which Meets Family Needs

Even a small home vegetable garden should be planned, to balance production with the family needs.

Without a planned production schedule, it is a common experience to harvest an over-abundance of quick growing crops in the early summer, and have none at all later in the season.

This can be avoided by estimating in advance how much of each crop your family can use during the period when its quality is high. Then several plantings can be made, so that when the first crop has passed its prime, another will be ready to harvest.

In the table above, the time it takes each of twelve popular vegetables to reach table size is stated, with the period it remains in prime condition in the garden. It also tells how much space in the row is required to produce one serving of each vegetable for the average family of four.

You must supply the fourth factor in figuring a schedule, which is the number of servings your family will desire from each sowing. Then sow enough to produce the family needs for the period of good harvest, and plan repeated sowings, timed so your needs are provided all season.

There is another class of vegetables, which require only one sowing for the summer. But the space allotted each should be balanced with the family use. Data for estimating the garden space required for these crops, follows:

Hardy Crops
Grow for a family serving
Broccoli ... 70 days 2 ft. in row
Celery ... 140 days 1 ft. in row

Hardy crops should be sown as soon as the ground can be worked, regardless of frequent frosts. Tender crops, and all plants started under protection, should not be sown or set out in the garden before danger of frost is over.

To obtain the yields for tomatoes and cucumbers estimated in the table, both must be trained on stakes or fences, to reduce the ground space occupied.

Pageant to Tell 100-Year History Of Farm, Home Mechanization

The story of farm and home mechanization in the past 100 years will be told next summer in a blaze of pageantry and in the most complete assembly of farm and home equipment ever made in this country.

The story will be revealed on the Michigan State college campus from August 15 through 20. The college is expecting a quarter of a million people to see the pageant, demonstrations and exhibits that industry is helping the institution to assemble.

Sixty acres of outdoor exhibits near Mt. Hope Road and Farm Lane on the college farm will be filled with exhibits from more than 300 exhibitors. Four large indoor exhibits will be housed in the auditorium, stadium demonstration hall and the agricultural engineering buildings.

This will be a part of Michigan State's year-long Centennial celebration. The college—first to teach agriculture as a science—was established in 1855.

Taking on the atmosphere of a world's fair, the large outdoor exhibit area will have machines of the past to compare with the modern and those the public will see for the first time. Foreign machines will also be in the display.

Combines, cotton pickers, trenching and earth moving machines, spray equipment, advanced type engines and power transmitting equipment are a few of the items to be demonstrated.

Then there will be special buildings—grain, hay, fruit storages, machine sheds, farm shops, dairy barns and silos of the latest design. Along with these appliances and other electric equipment of many kinds—lighting, heating, and labor saving units—will be shown. A complete range of irrigation sprinkler equipment and all kinds of irrigation pumps, drainage pumps and drainage tile will be on hand.

Of great interest to women will be the home equipment exhibit in the auditorium which will show the development of kitchens, sewing machines, vacuum cleaners, home lighting and other home equipment.

To make the story of farm mechanization complete, farm equipment companies, historical associations and museums will furnish tools, machines and items that trace the advance of labor saving ideas up to the present. The pageant will be a one and a half hour show each day to dramatize this historical achievement.

Among the themes the pageant will develop: tillage of soil from the crooked stick plow to modern once-over tillage; the old sod house will be transformed into the modern farm home.

City Plants 400 Trees in Past Two Years; Here's Advice on Taking Care of Them

With the city planting over 400 trees along the streets during the past two years and many other people planting trees on their own property, advice on how to take care of new trees was given this week by Hugh McAuley, foreman of the city's parks and forestry department.

Hard and sugar maples have been planted by the city along all of the newly-developed streets this year and last year, but it is up to the homeowner to see that the tree survives. It is impossible for the city to come around regularly to water the trees.

If you want your new trees to survive, here are some facts and rules. In order to grow and maintain healthy trees, they, like men, must have light, food, water and air, McAuley stated. Unfortunately, most homeowners think that because trees in the woods have always grown without any help from man, the ornamental trees about our residences should do the same.

In the forest, the leaves are dropped and form a loose, spongy mulch over the roots. These decayed leaves supply food for the tree. In maintaining trees upon our lawns and along our streets, therefore, we should provide them with food.

Experience over a long period of years tends to show that the relative ratio of the value to tree growth is about four parts nitrogen, two parts phosphorus and one part potassium. Of course, there can be no hard and fast ratio that would meet all conditions, McAuley asserted. Any good commercial fertilizer which supplies these elements will help, providing it is applied properly. Fertilizer is best applied at about the time the buds begin to swell, about a quarter of a pound of good fertilizer for each one inch of diameter of the tree.

This may be applied broadcast if the tree stands on bare soil, but if it is on a lawn, it would be better to punch holes 12 to 15 inches deep and put a handful of fertilizer in each hole. Fertilizer should not be placed close to the trunk of the tree, but out under the tips of the branches, forming a circle about it. On large trees several rings of holes may be necessary. The holes are usually spaced 24 to 30 inches apart. This has already been done to the city-trees planted this spring, but it should be repeated in July and again in late fall.

Before any food is available to a plant it must be in solution with water, he added. Therefore, to have healthy growth it must have an abundance of water. By watering our trees at intervals we can supply them with sufficient moisture. It is best to water very thoroughly once or twice a week rather than to sprinkle every few hours. Frequently the soil becomes so hard that the water tends to run off. To avoid this it is best to water slowly for a long period, letting all the water soak in.

Light watering usually produces shallow roots, which are more easily injured by drought and frost, whereas thorough watering tends to cause the roots of the tree to go deeper, where they are not so easily injured. Where possible, frequent cultivation over the roots will keep the soil surface loose, conserve moisture, and stimulate root action.

We should not forget that the plant breathes in the roots as well as in the leaves. Therefore, the roots require oxygen as well as the leaves and upper parts of the trees. When soil becomes packed by tramping, rolling of lawns, or similar operations, there is very little chance of the roots to obtain sufficient oxygen, and the carbon dioxide which is thrown off by the plant roots and soil bacteria accumulates, producing a condition toxic to the plants and retarding root growth.

Having taken care of the essentials of plant growth, McAuley concluded, we have done much to make our trees immune to parasites, since healthy trees are less likely to be attacked and are better able to overcome the injury, while a sickly tree is susceptible to all manner of parasites. These may come in the form of insects, fungi or bacterial diseases.

McAuley was hired several weeks ago by the city to maintain a park and forestry department. Their present job is the spraying of all city-owned elm trees.

Ernest Haycox' novel, "The Adventuress," has now been added to the library's collection as well as "The Last Gamble" by Winston Graham, a novel about Cornwall in the days of smugglers; Donald R. Barton's novel, "Once in Aleppo;" "Now Is The Time" by Lillian Smith, a book concerning segregation, the Supreme Court and democracy.

Other new additions are "The Pleasure Is Mine," a story of escape from an Iron Curtain embassy in Washington told in a humorous vein by Mircea Vasiliu, Romanian diplomat; George Simenon's two novels, "The Magician" and "The Widow;" and two cookbooks on holiday candies and cookies published by the Peter Pauper Press.

The library also received "Four Stages of Renaissance Styles; Transformations in Art and Literature, 1400-1700" by Wylie Sypher; Jim Corbett's "The Temple Tiger" and "More Manners of Kumaon," second edition of Longwell, Knopf, and Flint's "Textbook of Geology, Part I" covering physical geology; "Aircraft Recognition Manual" by C. H. Gibbs-Smith and Czerzi Ormonde's novel, "Solomon and the Queen of Sheba."

In addition, readers will find Marvin Leffler's "How to Become A Successful Manufacturer's Representative," "Innocent under The Elms" by Louise Dickinson Rich, the "Better Homes and Gardens Diet Book," "Synchronized Swimming" by Fern Yates and Theresa W. Anderson, Jeffrey Livingstone's "Build Your Own Summer Camp or Cabin," and "Weapons," a pictorial history by Edwin Tunis.

HEALTH & BEAUTY

Surgery is the best treatment for hernia and many victims endanger their chance for complete recovery by putting off an operation. Some people have heard of failures or are afraid of any kind of operation. There was some reason for this attitude fifty years ago, but not today!

Modern surgery has brought the mortality rate down lower than ever before. This is true in all age groups. Anaesthetics are safer, and more skill and knowledge in administering them is used. Modern surgeons are trained thoroughly and techniques are better established.

Most hernias grow larger as they remain neglected. There is a serious chance of strangulation as long as the condition exists. The longer the bulge remains, the weaker the abdominal wall becomes. The overstretched tissues lose their elasticity, thus leaving little body for the surgeon to work on.

Large and long standing hernias are not beyond repair today, thanks to the development of metallic and plastic materials that can be sewed into the muscle to hold in the protrusion. Tantalum gauze is one of the most often used of these substances.

The metallic mesh is inserted at the time of the operation. It is nonabsorbable and nonirritating. It acts as a scaffolding for the normal growth of fibrous tissue. By the end of one year the fibers have completely infiltrated into the mesh. This covering has great strength. Meanwhile, the metallic mesh disintegrates.

TREES CAUSE 90% OF ELECTRIC SERVICE INTERRUPTIONS DURING STORMS

High winds, ice, and sleet are the indirect reasons for most power failures. The damage is done by broken branches, or trees that are split by nature's tantrums. And when there's no power, there are no lights—the refrigerator, clock, radio, furnace, won't work. In your home, and homes all up and down the street, things come to a standstill.

Edison has a tree control program that guards against such interruptions to your electric service. Crews, under trained foresters, work round the calendar. Their job? Keeping 81,000 miles of lines in service!

These men trim or remove trees growing under or near power lines. (Telephone and police and fire department signal lines are very often on the same poles as are electric lines. Interrupted service on these lines is extremely serious, too.)

Edison crews travel from neighborhood to neighborhood. When they are in your area, they will contact you and request permission to work on any of your trees that may need attention. You will find that these men try very hard to maintain the beauty of your trees. The tree control crew in your neighborhood is there to help you!

keeping in touch

THE UNIVERSITY of Michigan's drama season gets underway May 9 with the appearance of Eva LeGallienne in "The Southwest Corner" at the Lydia Mendelssohn theatre. Each of the five productions of the season will run from Monday through Saturday. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. with 2:30 p.m. matinees on Thursday and Saturday. Helen Hayes and Faye Emerson are other well known personalities scheduled to appear in subsequent plays.

GARDEN ENTHUSIASTS can have a field day at the Ford Rotunda. From now until May 1 the latest in spring fashions and colors as well as dream garden displays will be open for public viewing. One grouping of more than 1800 tulips is the hit of the show.

FOR A PLEASANT Sunday afternoon treat for the family — especially if there's a small boy or two — take a short drive to the Northville Fish Hatcheries. It's always exciting and a pleasant change of pace.

OUTDOOR NOTES From The MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Fires swept 1640 acres of Michigan forests and grasslands recently as continuing dry weather sent the spring fire hazard sky-high.

Field reports list total losses thus far this year at 2010 acres in 260 fires.

In 1954, only 3884 acres were damaged, a record low. This year's off-and-running start spells trouble ahead, conservation department officials warn, unless all play a part in squelching the fire menace.

"With fishing seasons approaching, sportsmen are asked to observe safe fire rules carefully," says M. M. Bergman, in charge of state fire control.

Bergman says matches, tobacco and campfires are potential trouble-makers and should be used cautiously. Uncontrolled fires, he points out, waste game, forests, scenery and other natural resources and gain the outdoorsman nothing.

More than 11,000,000 wall-eyed pike eggs are being treated at Wolf Lake and Drayton Plains hatcheries. The eggs were taken from mature walleyes late last week and will be reared at two southern Michigan hatcheries.

Also, northern pike eggs will be collected in the near future, as will musky eggs. Some of this work will be done at Hastings hatchery.

The three warm-water fish types will be reared for hatchery research and for some public waters where fisheries specialists believe introductions will benefit fishing.

Fishing sites on Lloyd's Bayou near Grand Haven and Gratiot Lake in Keweenaw county were considered for purchase when the conservation commission met in Lansing, April 14-15.

The question of a September bear season in a few areas of the upper peninsula also was considered. Park and game land acquisition was studied, as were land exchanges, timber permits and other general business.

Thousands of Michigan anglers are enjoying the fruits of perch-spawning time on streams, rivers and drainage ditches along Michigan's Great Lakes shores these days.

The fish are reported small, but success has been good. Youngsters, especially, enjoy the rapid-catch angling. Most activity is on streams feeding Saginaw Bay and the Lake Huron and Lake Michigan shorelines.

Continued mild spring weather throughout Michigan dissolved threats of further deer starvation. Conservation department field sources say the herd is now scattered over most of its summer range.

Dog training in open fields is prohibited from April 15 to July 15, conservation field workers warn.

Game birds and animals are nesting during that period and should not be molested. The law provides penalties for owners of hunting dogs who violate this statute.

Twenty-nine names were included on the conservation department's weekly summary of law violators.

Four paid fines and costs for setting fire to grasslands and 17 violated fishing laws. The others broke various forest and game laws.

Proud Lake group camp south west of Pontiac will be ready for public use in May. The new camp will accommodate 66 persons, including campers, staff and helpers.

Conservation department parks officials and others say the recently-constructed camp is one of the best in the United States. The two camp buildings command low, rolling hills overlooking the Huron River in the Proud Lake recreation area.

Group camps are used year-around by school, church and other groups. Michigan has 16 of these camps. To emphasize nature study, entire classes move to these camps for periods of one or two weeks during the school year. In the summer, church and other groups use the camps to give city youngsters inexpensive country vacations.

Michigan's controlled search for dead deer got going in earnest this week.

Conservation department crews started the survey in the seven-county Baldwin district last week, but weather hampered work elsewhere. This week, however, six four-man crews are surveying Gladwin, Mio and Gaylord districts as well.
