

Fischer, Tenure Act Win at Polls

Voters in the Plymouth Township School district placed Harold Fischer on the board of education for the next three years and decided to place the Teacher Tenure act into operation here at a school election Monday. Both were given wide majorities.

Although there are an estimated 8,000 eligible voters in the school district which covers Plymouth, Plymouth township and parts of Canton and Northville townships, only 374 people turned out to cast their ballots.

Fischer, operator of a greenhouse at his 40875 Plymouth road home, was given twice the combined votes of his two opponents. Fischer received 248; Stephen Tallian, Sr., 65, and Frank Millington, 58. Three ballots were ruled invalid.

The newly-elected candidate will begin his three-year term of office July 1 and will replace James Gallimore. Fischer has served as chairman of various committees on the School Community Planning Group and has three children in school.

The Tenure act issue was approved by a vote of almost 3-1. There were 270 votes cast favoring the act; 96 votes opposed it.

Purpose of the act is to make it possible for "legally certified and qualified teachers to hold their positions as long as they fill it efficiently." Specifically, it governs the method in which a teacher can be discharged, such as civil service protects government employees from political changes and pressures.

Tenure will not actually go into effect here until the 1956-57 school year. Teachers already have their contracts for the 1955-56 year. Any teacher who has served here two years or more would be under tenure while those serving less than two years would be on probation.

Annex Petitions Go to Committee

Petitions to annex the township to the city and to annex the Cassidy farm to the city were given their first official recognition by the county board of supervisors Tuesday morning. As was expected, it was voted to turn them over to the ways and means committee for study.

The ways and means committee is expected to check the legality of the petitions and ask what dates are preferred for elections. The township annexation election, if approved, will probably be held sometime in August or September. The Cassidy petition for an election will be withdrawn if the township board approves the annexation at their meeting on Wednesday night of this week.

Law Temporarily Closes Carnival

The excitement of the midway and thrill of the rides which go along with every carnival failed to materialize for a while Tuesday night when the Down River Shows, was told by Police Chief Carl Greenlee to close down any games involving gambling. Show owners failed to open any of the carnival.

Chief Greenlee appeared at the special city commission meeting at 8 o'clock Tuesday to report on his action and it was hastily decided that the city manager and police chief inspect each midway game to see if any games of chance were involved. It was noted that the county prosecutor's office has promised a crack-down on all types of gambling.

Going to the midway, Manager Albert Glassford and Chief Greenlee said they found four games which might be considered games of chance and the carnival management agreed to close them down.

The show opened up shortly after and will remain open through Saturday night. It is sponsored by the American Legion and is located behind the high school.

IN HIS EASY CHAIR enjoying his new title as Plymouth Father of the Year is Clarence Bolen. He is surrounded by his daughter, Marie, who wrote the winning entry, his son Richard and his wife. The contest is sponsored yearly by the Chamber of Commerce.

Clarence Bolen Named Dad of '55

Clarence Bolen, 958 Starkweather, was selected Monday as Plymouth's "top pop" for 1955 on the strength of his 13-year-old daughter's entry being judged best in the Chamber of Commerce sponsored Father of the Year contest.

Bolen became king among this city's dads when his daughter, Marie, wrote that he should be chosen because "He's kind, understanding and loves me. He works very hard to support our family. He takes good care of us and is always helping us."

It was the first time that Marie, an eighth grader at Plymouth, had entered and the first time she had won anything. Bolen's son, Richard, 12, a seventh grade student, also entered his father in the contest.

An employee at Daisy Manufacturing company, Plymouth's "Father of '55" will receive a total of 29 gifts from various stores. He won Dunning's a special gift certificate, from Kade's a nylon sport shirt, a Sheaffer Snorkel pen from Pursell's office supply and a travel kit from Community Pharmacy.

Also he receives a nylon sport shirt from Kresge's, a 5x7 portrait from Gaffield studio, a cocktail shaker from Papes' House of Gifts, an electric fan from West Brothers' Appliances, a Father's

Mail Wins Fourth Place In National Competition

Announcement was made Wednesday in Chicago that The Plymouth Mail had placed fourth in the annual National Editorial Association General Excellence contest in which 1406 weekly newspapers representing 45 states were entered.

First place in the contest went to the New Canaan, (Conn.) Advertiser, second to Storm Lake (Iowa) Pilot-Tribune, third to Hillsboro (Ore.) Argus and fourth to The Mail.

This is the first time The Mail has ever entered national competition and is a signal honor along with being named first in general excellence in the Michigan Press Association contest for Michigan papers in January.

The judges made the following comments: "Practically all entries had outstanding features and only after evaluating all of them was it possible to come up with the winners. All papers given consideration had vibrant, well-written local editorials, generous use of well selected pictures and attractive make-up. Advertising enterprise was a big factor in selecting the winners. In the field of mechanical excellence and make-up it was most difficult to evaluate the winning entries."

Testimonial to Honor Head Of County Training School

An estimated 250 of his associates and friends from the community and medical field will honor Dr. Robert Haskell, psychiatrist and medical director of the Wayne County Training School, at a testimonial dinner next Wednesday night. He is retiring from his position at the school after 29 years.

Dr. Haskell became the first director of the school for Wayne county's mentally retarded children after its construction in 1926. Now 70 years old, Dr. Haskell plans to retire to a home in Winterhaven, Florida. Hired by the Training School's administrative board to begin his duties July 1 is Dr. Buonicontio Pasquale, medical supervisor of Delaware State Colony, Stockly, Delaware.

The retiring doctor's home has been on the Training School grounds which is located only a few miles north of Plymouth. There are 760 children now attending the school.

Assembling in the school gymnasium Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. will be between 250 and 300 persons who will pay tribute to the long service of the retiring director. Dr. Malcolm Dade, D.D., president of the administrative board of the school, will preside.

Greetings will be extended from the county by County Auditor Jacob Sumeracki, a member of the board; from the board by James Fritzer, former direc-

Township Loses Court Battle To Prohibit Trailer Park

City Adopts Policy On Outside Water

That important substance called water brought city commissioners together for a special two-hour meeting Tuesday night at which they decided to turn down a township request to furnish water and sewers to the proposed Western Electric plant, but to furnish water to those township homes located along existing mains — only after the new supply is available.

The decision about furnishing water and sewers to the Western Electric plant was put on an official basis after the township board wrote a letter to the commission last week asking for the services. The board was to have given a decision Wednesday night (after The Mail went to press) on whether or not it will allow annexation to the city of the factory site. Western Electric declared that they would not locate here unless the Roderick Cassidy farm site is annexed to the city because only the city can furnish the services.

The township board pointed out to the commission that water is to be furnished to the proposed school on Sheldon road.

In a letter to the township approved by the commission Tuesday night, City Clerk Kenneth Way in part wrote that "the commission recognizes the company's need for said services. It also knows that these services must be paid for by the prospective users in the same manner and to the same extent as other taxpayers in the city pay for their benefits."

"As you know, our school district includes the city of Plymouth, the township of Plymouth, a large part of Canton township and a small part of Northville township. Responding to a request by the school officials, the city has agreed, as a public duty or service, to supply water for the proposed new school in Canton township as same will be a part of our school system. This action cannot, in fairness, be cited in support of any other demand for extension of our water system outside of the city limits.

"The commission recognizes its responsibility to the citizens of Plymouth and its other water users outside of the city. Its duty and primary concern is to furnish water to the city and any territory becoming a part of same. Accordingly the commission on June 14, 1955, adopted a resolution setting forth its water policy. Copy thereof is enclosed for your information. It is believed that this resolution will give assurance to the citizens of the city that their interests will be safeguarded, that it will furnish a guide to

Police Save Injured Boy

Two Plymouth patrolmen were credited with saving the life of a 11-year-old youth whose foot was seriously cut in a power lawnmower Monday morning.

The boy is Soren Pederson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jens Pederson, 4555 Ann Arbor trail, west of Plymouth. He is now in "good" condition in Wayne County General hospital after an operation which successfully saved his left foot.

Police reported that Soren's parents were both at work when the boy was supposed to have gone to the neighbors after finishing his household duties. Instead, he started the power lawnmower in the backyard and somehow got his foot in the blades.

Bleeding profusely, Soren went into the house where, in a weakened condition, he called a local physician. The physician called police and asked that the boy be taken to Sessions hospital. Officers Louis Westfall and Calvin Brown arrived shortly after and found Soren lying on the living room floor near the front door.

Westfall used the boy's belt as a tourniquet and also applied hand pressure to an artery in the upper leg. An ambulance later arrived and at the radio order of sheriff's authorities, the youth was taken to Wayne County Westfall still holding back the bleeding.

"This was one time that some first aid training paid off," Westfall said as he looked back on the incident. The parents have gratefully acknowledged the patrolmen's actions which undoubtedly saved their son's life.

Expect Appeal to Higher Court Of Circuit Judge's Decision

Plymouth township has lost its case in circuit court to prohibit construction of a 102-unit trailer park along Ridge road, but Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay declared that he will follow the wishes of the people and appeal the decision to a higher court.

Plaintiff in the case against the township was Clyde Smith, local auto dealer, who was turned down last October

School is Out! 188 Join Alumni Ranks Tonight

With the cry of "school's out," over 3,300 students poured out of local schools Wednesday noon to start a summer-long vacation. Tonight, 188 will don their caps and gowns, and will become alumni of Plymouth high school.

Some 750 people attended baccalaureate services at the high school last Sunday night and heard an address by the Reverend Patrick Clifford, pastor of Calvary Baptist church. Speaking on "Three Books," he took his subject from verses 1-16, Psalm 19.

Tonight's speaker will be Dr. Glenn Frye of Plymouth, well-known Methodist church official in Michigan. Commencement will start at 8 p.m. and there will be seats for the general public.

Seniors completed their examinations last week while the remainder of high school students took theirs this Tuesday and Wednesday. Schools were dismissed Wednesday noon and all pupils will return Friday to receive their report cards. Most of the elementary children will end the school year with a picnic.

Awards and scholarships to outstanding seniors were presented last week at a recognition assembly. Out of the senior class of 188 graduates, 36 had average grades of 90 or above. Receiving departmental awards were:

Playground Site Purchase Asked At Starkweather

A petition carrying 700 signatures asking that the board of education purchase additional land for playground use has been submitted to the board by the Starkweather Parent-Teacher association.

The petition requests the school board to purchase the St. Peter's Lutheran church property to the north of the school and other property north of that.

School board members appeared to be in accord with the request when they discussed the petition at their meeting Monday night. It is expected that they will look over the proposed playground lots some time this week and perhaps make a decision at a special meeting Friday morning.

P.T.A. members of Starkweather school have been attempting to solve the playground problem for many years. While other elementary schools in the system have about 10 acres of playground, Starkweather school has but approximately an acre and a half. A third of an acre is located on the school level behind the building while one and a fourth acres is located at the foot of a steep hill.

If the board purchases the two proposed properties, there will be a total of about five acres. The church located on the adjoining property will soon be abandoned. Land behind the church is owned by the Plymouth Land company.

The petition points out that additional land east of the school is not available because of future plans for subdividing it into homesites. Homes are located south of the school but the petition recommends that the school board purchase these properties when available for future expansion of the building.

Teachers Honor Gallimore for Board Service

JAMES GALLIMORE, left, receives a gift and resolution from the Plymouth Education association for his many years on the board of education. Melvin Blunk, center, and Harry Reeves represented the teaching organization.

The Plymouth Education' association paid tribute Monday night to James Gallimore, a member of the board of education for over 12 years, who will leave his civic post July 1.

A delegation from the teaching organization appeared at the annual meeting Monday and read a resolution commending the school board president and gave him a gift of a pair of cufflinks.

Gallimore was elected to the board in 1930 and went off in 1936. He ran again in 1949 and was elected for two terms.

The Education association's resolution reads:

"Whereas James J. S. Gallimore has served on the Plymouth Board of Education for many years, and

"Whereas the Plymouth Education association recognizes the worth of Mr. Gallimore's broad understanding and wise counsel, and

"Whereas James J. S. Gallimore has served several terms as president of our board of education, and

"Whereas Mr. Gallimore has contributed so much to the planning of buildings for the increasing number of our girls and boys, and to the operation and improvement of our schools and community,

"Therefore, be it resolved that we the board of directors of the Plymouth Education association, in behalf of the administrators and teachers of the Plymouth Township Public schools, in recognition of many years of faithful service, present this resolution and token of appreciation."

Wivell - Eads Nuptials Read At St. Suzanne Church, Detroit

The St. Suzanne church at 19321 West Chicago boulevard, Detroit, was the setting Saturday morning, June 11, for the nuptial ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Malinda Jean Eads of Livonia and Edward Joseph Wivell of Detroit.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett W. Eads of 11805 Camden, Livonia. Edward is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Wivell.

For her wedding Malinda chose a ballerina-length gown of white lace over satin, styled with Victorian collar and long sleeves. A headpiece trimmed with pearls and sequins secured her fingertip veil. White carnations, centered with a white orchid, white satin streamers and baby carnations formed the bridal bouquet.

Identical gowns of blue crystallite over taffeta with gathered, full skirts, were worn by Catherine Eads, the maid of honor, and the bridesmaid, Virginia Stull. Both are sisters of the bride. Their picture hats were of matching material to that of their gowns. Gloves in matching shade were also worn, and they carried bouquets of yellow carnations.

Flower girl for the ceremony was Mary Wimer, niece of the groom. Her dress was of net over pink crystallite with full, tiered skirt. She carried a basket of yellow daisies and mock orange blossoms.

Assisting Edward as best man was Kenneth Kempel. Usher for the occasion was Russell Armstrong.

A toast crystallite gown with white accessories was worn by Mrs. Eads for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of white carnations.

The 11 o'clock nuptial rites were read by Father McWilliams before baskets of white gladioli and mums which decorated the altar of the Detroit church. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for 250 guests at the V.F.W. Post hall, 10120 Plymouth road, Detroit. Friends and relatives attending the event came from Plymouth, Livonia, Detroit, Royal Oak, Ontario and California. Members of the Lieutenant L. J. Owens Auxiliary, V.F.W. of Livonia, with which Malinda is affiliated, assisted with the serving at the reception.

A beige suit with white accessories was selected by the bride for her wedding trip through the eastern states.

Upon their return the couple will reside at 8656 Dumbarton, Detroit.

Kiwanians Hear German Student

The recuperative ability of Germany was described to Plymouth Kiwanians Tuesday evening at an inter-club meeting with Redford Kiwanis at the Mayflower hotel. First hand information was related the Kiwanians by Chris Krueger, adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wiedman of Territorial road, whose home is in Germany.

Krueger, who first visited Plymouth for one year under the Rotary club's exchange student plan, returned to the Wiedman home one year ago and is now a law student at the University of Michigan.

High in his praise for West Germany's Dr. Konrad Adenauer, Krueger said that Germany has made such a complete recovery in its 10 years since the close of World War II that many Germans now send CARE packages to England. Krueger said that Adenauer's age (79) was the one stumbling block in the way of continued recovery for West Germany. He expressed the fear of a socialistic German government which would favor neutrality rather than Adenauer's definite support of the Western countries.

Program chairman for the inter-club meeting was Harry Reeves.

Mark Sixtieth Anniversary

The 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Roe was marked Saturday at their residence on 624 Dodge street. Because of Mr. Roe's ill health, a special celebration had not been planned. A family dinner with their daughter, Helen, of Detroit, was held at the Roe home in honor of the event. The local couple were married June 11, 1895, at the home of Mrs. Roe's sister in Detroit, following which they came to Plymouth. Mr. Roe was born here, while his wife is a former resident of Redford. Employed for 40 years at Conner Hardware company, 816 Pennington, Mr. Roe retired from the local firm about six years ago. Besides their daughter, the Roes have a son, Elton, of Detroit.

School Treasury Ends Fiscal Year

Approval of the financial report for the past school year, raising of the salaries of the board of education, and approval of a 10-month school year were among the items of business transacted at the annual meeting of the board of education and qualified voters of the Plymouth Township School district. Twenty-three persons attended the meeting — a large turnout compared to past years. Purpose of the annual meeting is to hear reports of the board and listen to any citizen who has something to say about school operations. The school system will end up "in the black" when the school year ends on June 30, according to a financial report delivered by Warren L. Smith, treasurer of the board. His report estimated that there would be a balance of $100,613 in the treasury at the end of the fiscal year. From July 1, 1954 to May 31, 1955, the board had $1,237,553 to work with. During this period, expenditures were as follows: Administration, $34,598; instruction (principals' and teachers' salaries, supplies, books), $631,136; operation of school plant, $128,693; maintenance, $37,472; fixed charges (insurance), $4,989; transportation, health, recreation, $61,823; capital outlay, $12,799; non-budget expenditures, $85,658. The school system now has $1,190,000 in outstanding bonds. In the bond fund there is now $308,709. Most of these excess fund monies are drawing interest in various banks.

The board has spent a lot of time discussing teacher pay raises, but the situation took a turn Monday night when teacher Harry Reeves suggested that salaries of the board be raised. A total of $1,500 was allotted for the five board members last year ($300 each). Reeves suggested that the board salary fund be raised to $2,000 ($400 each) because of the increasing number of meetings and duties of the board. The motion was made and approved. Some discussion took place on setting the length of the school year. Set at 10 months in the past, some members of the board had suggested that teacher salaries be increased next year by increasing the school year or providing additional work. It was decided to again set the term at 10 months and turn the problem over to the School Community Planning Group for study next year. Byron Becker, architect for the proposed elementary school, showed a drawing of the new building to be erected on Sheldon road. A discussion of the sewer problem there also took place. Mrs. Nellie Bird presented a problem dealing with the approach of school buses to Bird school. She cited the danger to Safety Patrol boys along Sheridan avenue and noted the danger of allowing loading and unloading along Sheldon road. The problem will be placed on the board agenda.

A Readers Digest subscription was given Sally Morgan for scholarship and the yearbook award was made to Janet Denhoff and Sandy Newingham. For their scholastic ability, Foster Brown, 644 Blunk, received a $150 grant from Antioch college, Yellow Springs, Ohio; Thomas Rowe, 39936 Ford, received the U of M Regents scholarship; Joan Donnelly, 1289 Ann, received the Alma college academic achievement scholarship. Mildred Green, 6121 Lotz, won the $125 Plymouth U of M club scholarship; Doris Rowe, 1985 Al Smith, won the farm and garden scholarship presented by the Plymouth Garden club; Kathy Bernash, 125 South Harvey, won the Michigan board of education scholarship to a teachers college; and Sally Morgan, 659 Ann, won the local and state Elks club Leadership contest award. In his baccalaureate address Sunday, Reverend Clifford first spoke on the "book of nature" which reveals the graciousness and glory of God. This was based on verses one through six of Psalm 19.

The next five verses, the "book of the Lord," can "reveal to man the goodness and grace of God which can help in the time of need." Reverend Clifford pointed out. The third book, the "book of human experience," shows that man is unable to live a holy life apart from the help of God. When man sees his failure, the speaker told the graduates, he appeals for the help of God.

City Adopts Policy on Water

persons outside of the city who desire to obtain water and that it will eliminate many misconceptions to the ultimate benefit of all concerned. Commissioners decided to adopt a formal resolution concerning a water policy after a disagreement last week in which a Plymouth Colony resident who is building a home found that he could not obtain city water even though a main ran in front of his home. Members of the commission disagreed with each other about former policy concerning out-of-city taps. Although water was granted outside the city in past years, no additional taps were allowed for about the last year. Nearly $64,000 is now being spent in developing a new well which should be turned into the water mains around July 15.

The water resolution pointed out that the city has developed a water system representing an investment of more than $1,220,000 for the benefit of its inhabitants, "all of whom have contributed to the acquisition and improvement of said asset, and

"WHEREAS, said water supply of the City of Plymouth must be used for the benefit of the city's inhabitants, and

"WHEREAS, water has been supplied in the past to certain users through mains extended or lying outside of the city limits, and this service has resulted in increasing requests or demands for water, the granting of which has had to be denied for a period of time for the benefit and protection of the people of Plymouth, and

"WHEREAS, it appears some people have purchased property outside of the city believing they were entitled to city water and upon failure to obtain same have suffered loss or hardship and it would appear such persons should be properly advised and forewarned, and

"WHEREAS, the City is making available to the Plymouth School District, of which the City is a part, water for a school in Canton Township, within said school district, at a cost to the City and the School District as a service to the entire school system, and

"WHEREAS, a statement of policy relative to the use and development of the water supply of the City of Plymouth appears to be in the best interests of the people of the City, those users outside of the City, and those persons living without the city who desire to obtain water, now therefore "BE IT RESOLVED that the City hereby adopts the policy of making no further extensions of its water mains for the purpose of supplying water beyond its city limits.

Township Loses

day, Supervisor Lindsay was asked if the township will appeal the decision. He answered that there will be an appeal because "that's what the people want and that is what we will do."

Smith said that the township should spend its money to write an ordinance providing for trailer camps with very high restrictions. "I believe my park will be the finest in Michigan," he asserted. He said that state health department officials were very enthusiastic about his plan and its unique features. The auto dealer said that since his plan was first offered, he has discovered that a county interceptor sewer is available for his park and that he will not need an underground disposal system. The proposed park is located on the west side of Ridge road, between Territorial and Five Mile roads. Of the 25-acre site, 10 acres would be used for trailers and the remaining 15 would be recreational area. Each trailer parking lot would be 40 by 50 feet, Smith declared, "as large as some home building lots." There would be a concrete drive for each trailer, a concrete patio and crushed stone drive for cars so that there would be no cars on the streets. Smith's plans call for 57 lots nearest Ridge road to be used for couples without children while 42 lots farthest from the road would be for couples with children. Between the two areas would be a "green belt." Picnic and playground areas would be a part of the plan, he added.

April Traffic Death Toll Highest for That Month

Michigan's April traffic death toll of 954 was the highest for any April on record and 35 more than for the same month last year, the State Police monthly report shows.

Besides the 154 killed, 4,316 persons were injured in 13,831 accidents. Compared with the same month last year, deaths gained 29 per cent, injuries were up 548, or 15 per cent, and accidents increased 861, or seven per cent.

The record for the first four months of 1955 shows 534 deaths, 16,221 injuries and 59,750 accidents. Compared with the same period in 1954, deaths and injuries increased 12 and three per cent, respectively, while accidents decreased one per cent.

Estimated travel the first three months of this year, the latest information available, totaled 6.35 billion miles, an increase of nine per cent over 5.82 billion in the same period last year. The death rate of 6.0 per 100 million miles of travel, however, was down one per cent from 6.1 for the same period in 1954.

Get Social Security For Summer Jobs

Harry Baltuck, manager of the Detroit-Northwest Social Security office offered the following information to students who will be working this summer:

(1) You will need a social security card.

(2) If you have lost your card apply now for a duplicate card which will show your original number.

(3) Be sure to show the card to your employer. He can then copy your name and number exactly as they are on the card. This will insure the proper crediting of your earnings to your account.

(4) If you change your name be sure to take your card to the social security office to get a card showing your new name but the same number. You need only one number throughout your lifetime.

The Detroit-Northwest office is located at 14600 Grand River, Detroit 27, Michigan. The office is open between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The Commerce Department has reported that more than 40 per cent of American families have incomes exceeding $5,000 a year.

Five Plymouth Youths to Participate in 18th Annual Boys State Assembly

Passage-Gayde Post No. 391, American Legion, has announced that five boys from Plymouth have been selected for the 18th annual Wolverine Boys State assembly to be held at Michigan State college, East Lansing, from June 18 to June 25, inclusive.

Attending from Plymouth are Jack Carter, sponsored by the Elks club; Hal Becker and Lee Huber, Kiwanis club; Charles Moiso, Rotary club, and Raymond Spigarelli, Passage-Gayde Post. Representatives have been selected on the basis of high moral character, good sportsmanship and potential leadership ability.

The annual event is sponsored by the state American Legion for the development of leadership and good citizenship among Michigan youth. Designed as a practical experience in problems of self-government, Wolverine Boys State enables boys to put into practice theories of American government as taught in the classroom through actual control of the city, county and state offices organized under the plans of the mythical "49th State."

The Legion believes that by such a program youth may be prepared and trained to effectively preserve and perpetuate the American heritage of free government and be ready to assume the trust and responsibilities that go with American citizenship.

The boys will publish a daily newspaper known as the "Whirligig" during the period of their assembly. Papers will be available to friends and sponsors at a small charge, and will be mailed as long as copies last.

Activities during the event will be centered in the Frederick Cowles Johnson Men's gymnasium and fieldhouse. The boys will assemble as private citizens at 9 a.m. on Saturday, June 18, and the State will be dismissed after luncheon on Saturday, June 25, at approximately 3 p.m.

Sunday, June 19, will be Sponsors and Visitors Day to the 1955 Wolverine Boys State assembly. The forenoon will be given over to church services for the assembled delegates.

Parents are urged to visit the boys on visiting day; however, no boys will be permitted to leave the campus. Dinner will be served to parents at nominal cost.

Meals throughout the Boys State event will be prepared and served under the direction of the Home Economics and Hotel departments of the college with experienced dietitians and chefs in charge.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS

Youth Activities committee reports that the Auxiliary is planning to send a local girl to Camp Norcom during the last two weeks in June. Also the VFW-sponsored Girl Scout troop under the leadership of Mrs. Sheldon Baker, is taking a camping trip to Highland, Michigan, for four days beginning June 19. Have fun, girls! The troop also presented our auxiliary with a new leather flag strap to use in our parades!

June 25 is the date set for the Bake Sale, sponsored by Beverly Brown and the Hospital committee. A meeting of her committee will be called some time this week!

On Sunday, June 12, Gertrude Danol, Marion Luttermoser, Kay Coolman, Mildred White and Beverly Brown made a regular trip to the veterans of Maybury sanitarium, taking cigarettes, candy, razor blades, etc. If every girl could see how pleased and glad the men are to see us and how grateful they are for the little gifts we bring them, there would be no refusals for these hospital trips. It's very gratifying to see how appreciative they are of these small favors.

Deepest sympathy from the Post and Auxiliary to the family of charter member Helen Burgett.

National Encampment dates are set for August 28 through September 2, in Boston, Massachusetts.

Our Department encampment will be held this weekend in Traverse City, Michigan. Quite a number of our Post and Auxiliary members are planning on attending, including the president and commander and their officers!

National Home Fund committee has been very active this month. They prepared and served the Class of 1935 Reunion dinner at our Post hall on Saturday, June 11. The Auxiliary also donated cookies to the dedication of the new Housemothers Cottage at the National Home. Monetary graduation gifts were sent to the 14 graduate students of the Eaton Rapids high school, four of whom were from the State of Michigan!

Legislative Chairman Kay Coolman would like to remind everyone of their obligation concerning the plan to revise the system in regard to Veterans benefits now in progress in Washington. They are striving for more generous and deserving benefits to the needy veterans and their families. We are urged to write our Congressmen and express our views in regards to these plans!

Wayne County Council is having as their guests 75 children from our National Home and will entertain them at the Detroit Yacht club and Jefferson beach. Each Auxiliary is asked to donate toward the day's outing for these boys and girls!

Adah Langmaid To Head Legion District Auxiliary

Adah Langmaid of Plymouth was named president of the American Legion's 17th District Association auxiliary at the organization's annual meeting and election of officers on Friday evening.

Others elected to official posts for the ensuing year were: vice president, Jean Massingill, Livonia; treasurer, Lena Hammond, Northville; historian, Gwen Holcombe, Plymouth; chaplain, Beatrice Clark, Redford township. Mrs. Hammond and Mrs. Clark were re-elected to serve second terms. Secretary and sergeant-at-arms will be appointed at a later date by the president-elect.

Fern Burleson of Plymouth, Virginia Burnham, Northville, and Betty Wilcox, Livonia, were elected to serve on the executive board. President Kidle was elected to serve as delegate to the national convention and Adah Langmaid was elected to serve as alternate.

Attending the meeting as representatives from the Plymouth Auxiliary were Gwen Holcombe, Gertrude Simonetti, Adah Langmaid, Maxine Kunz and Fern Burleson.

The meeting was held at the home of retiring president, Marie Lyons Kidle, in Rosedale Park. Next meeting of the 17th District Auxiliary will be in September.

Picnic Closes Club Year

The local Business and Professional Women's club will close its activities for the present fiscal year with a picnic supper on Monday, June 20.

Plans are to hold the get-together at 6:30 p.m. in Plymouth-Riverside park. Retiring officers of the club are in charge of arrangements for the event.

If public speakers would prepare their speeches better, more people might listen to them.

Scriptural selections from the King James Version of the Bible stress the supremacy of spiritual power and include the account of Christ Jesus feeding the multitude as recorded by Matthew (14:14-20) and John's account (6:16-21) of Jesus walking on the sea.

Among the correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be the following (273:21-26): "God never ordained a material law to annul the spiritual law. If there were such a material law, it would oppose the supremacy of Spirit, God, and impugn the wisdom of the creator. Jesus walked on the waves, fed the multitude, healed the sick, and raised the dead in direct opposition to material laws."

Bible, Top Non-Fiction Best Seller, Survey Finds

The often-repeated statement that the Bible is the best-selling book of all time is confirmed by the appearance for the third consecutive year of the revised standard version of the Bible at the top of the non-fiction list of best-sellers of 1954, according to information just received at Dunning library.

The list of the 20 best-selling books of 1954 in U.S. bookstores, from a survey by Publishers Weekly, the American book trade journal, includes 10 fiction and 10 non-fiction books, all of which are available at the local library.

The novel selling the most copies during the year was "Not As a Stranger," by Morton Thompson, pointing up the perennial interest in doctor stories. The other six novels on the best-selling list were:

"Mary Anne" by Daphne Du Maurier, "Love Is Eternal" by Irving Stone, "The Royal Box" by Frances Parkinson Keyes, "Sweet Thursday" by John Steinbeck, "Never Victorious, Never Defeated" by Taylor Caldwell and "Benton's Row" by Frank Yerby.

"No Time for Sergeants" by Mac Hyman, Hamilton Basso's "The View from Pompey's Head" and a re-issue of Waltari's "The Egyptian," which came out at the time the movie was released complete the fiction list.

In addition to the Bible, there were three other non-fiction best sellers of religious interest: "The Power of Positive Thinking" by Norman Vincent Peale, "The Prayers of Peter Marshall" edited by Katherine Marshall, and "This I Believe: Second Series" edited by Raymond Swing. Two autobiographies, "The Tumult and the Shouting" by late sports columnist, Grantland Rice, and "I'll Cry Tomorrow" by Lillian Roth, were included.

The only book on current affairs on the list was "But We Were Born Free" by Elmer Davis, while two new cookbooks were high on the list, "The Better Homes and Gardens New Cook Book" and "Betty Crocker's Good and Easy Cook Book." Tenth on the list of best selling non-fiction was "The Saturday Evening Post Treasury."

Offers Remedy For Architects' Biggest Mistake

Most housewives in the country would probably agree with the U.S. government's recent report that lack of closet space in new homes was the largest single mistake made by today's architects.

Miss Edith Sorenson, Goodwill representative here, has an answer for housewives in this area whose homes lack necessary closet space. Although not offering to build any new rooms, she promises that if every housewife during cleaning operations would take out the clothes that are either moth-eaten, out-of-style or outgrown and give them to Goodwill Industries, they would be surprised at the added space they would have for everyday needs.

Miss Sorenson also asked that men of the household go through their garages and take out broken or old tools and toys and save them for Goodwill.

Goodwill trucks will make their next visit to Plymouth, Northville and Rosedale Gardens on Monday, June 20. Arrangements to have the truck stop by your home may be made by calling Miss Sorenson at Northville 571.

Burroughs Plant Wins Food Award

The Burroughs corporation's Plymouth plant was given an honor award in the Ninth Annual National Food Service contest conducted by Institutions Magazine for excellence of its employee cafeteria. The magazine is the official publication of the National Restaurant association.

Specifically, the award was presented for "Highest Standards of Sanitation and for Superlative Achievement in Storing, Handling, Preparing, and Serving Food."

Represented in the contest were the best kitchens and dining rooms among restaurants, hotels, hospitals, industrial plants, schools, colleges, and other types of feeding establishments. Award winners came from all areas of the United States and Canada. Competing entries in the contest were judged by leading authorities in various segments of the mass feeding field. Judgments were based on highest standards of sanitation, superior efficiency and superlative achievement in storing, handling, preparing and serving food.

Robert A. Niemi, manager of Burroughs Plymouth plant, stated that "we are naturally happy that our employee cafeteria has achieved national recognition. It is our policy to provide top quality food to employees at reasonable prices, served in pleasant, relaxing surroundings. We are constantly seeking ways to improve this employee facility and hope that our efforts in this direction may always be counted among the best."

The award, a handsome bronze plaque, mounted on a walnut base, gives credit to the Great Lakes Supply company, the General Conveyor company, the Food Service, Maintenance and Plant Layout Divisions of the Burroughs corporation, and the Harding-Williams corporations for contributing to the award-winning combination.

The cafeteria went into operation on May 10, 1954. It seats over 700 diners at one time and serves them at the rate of 48 a minute through four serving lines. This super-fast service is made possible through an ingenious arrangement of automatic self-service equipment. Soup bowls, cups and glasses are delivered at just the right height by automatic lowerators. Soup, bread slices, and coffee are self-served from automatic dispensers. An automatic conveyor carries soiled trays to an automatic dish washer in the dish washing room.

Unique in the operation of the cafeteria is the fact that diners are not expected to stay in a continuous serving line. They are encouraged to go directly to the counters containing items they wish to purchase, by-passing items in which they are not interested.

According to Mr. Niemi, "This system has proved completely successful in the past 13 months of operation."

The cafeteria is lighted with fluorescent lamps which spread a soft shadowless glow through a translucent ceiling. It is decorated in soft Chinese red and light yellow colors with matching draperies.

Dinner music is played over an acoustically engineered sound system during lunch hours.

EBER READMAN, assistant manager of the Burroughs corporation's Plymouth plant, receives the Honor Award presented by Institutions Magazine for overall excellence of the plant's employee cafeteria, from George M. Post, Auxiliary Elect Officers For Coming Year

Other new post officers are: Senior vice commander, Quentin Bolander; junior vice commander, Dorothy Koi; finance officer, Martin Schomberger; chaplain, Walter Hocklowski, and sergeant-at-arms, Tony DeRusso. Raymond Gardner was re-elected to serve as historian. Commander-elect Holcombe appointed Ernest Koi as adjutant.

Lay members elected to serve on the executive committee were William Langmaid and Harold Wilson. Delegates to the state convention are Holcombe, Harry Burleson and Robert Wilson.

In the Auxiliary, two officers, Gwen Holcombe, secretary, and Gertrude Simonetti, historian, were re-elected to serve second terms.

Newly-elected officers were: Senior vice president, Virginia Fann; treasurer, Fern Burleson; chaplain, Freda Beeley, and sergeant-at-arms, Marilyn Moore. Joint installation ceremonies will be held on Wednesday, July 13.

Ypsi Firm Sponsors Music Program Here

Grinnell Brothers of Ypsilanti has announced plans for the sponsorship of a program of organ music in the Plymouth high school auditorium on Thursday evening, June 23. First of its kind to be offered locally by the Ypsilanti firm, Grinnell's has expressed the hope that the event would become an annual affair.

On display and demonstrated as part of the Thursday night program will be the latest-model organs now on the market. The demonstration will be conducted by Marti Burkert of the Ypsilanti firm.

There will be no admission charge for the 8 o'clock program which is open to the public. Refreshments will be served.

Dick King, Grinnell representative for this area, is in charge of arrangements for the event.

National Magazine Devotes 4-Page Article to Pease

An article lauding the accomplishments of Jerry Pease in building up a substantial paint and wallpaper business in Plymouth over a four-year period appeared in the June issue of the American Paint and Wallpaper Dealer, national trade magazine of the paint, wallpaper, and allied products industries.

Contained in the four-page article were pictures of the exterior of Pease Paint and Wallpaper store at 570 South Main, as well as interior shots of paint-mixing operations and customer consultation service provided by the local store.

Pease was cited for having "one of the most modern, up-to-date and successful retail paint and wallpaper businesses in the Midwest."

The article went on to say that "with one idea and one method of operating, Mr. Pease started the Pease Paint and Wallpaper store in Plymouth, Michigan, in 1950. The idea—sell color. The method—personal calls in customer's homes. The result—in four years nearly a 300% increase in gross business. In 1951, his first full year in business, the store grossed $46,000, and last year it topped $115,000."

"An idea born in a rented store with a 14-foot front today lives in its own building with a 40-foot front and 4000 square feet of floor space with a paved parking lot 47x140 feet."

The local storeowner's method of serving his customers through personal calls was described. Together with gathering information on the home itself, Pease jots down the customer's color preferences, even as to the home-owner's car, type of furniture he owns, etc., before making a complete recommendation which will include every room in the home.

The interior of the store was described with its "separate consultation rooms built as part of the store and each furnished in different period styles, modern traditional, provincial. . . . The mixing table which is in full view of all the customers . . . proves to be one of the most interesting and fascinating spots in the store. . . . Customers are invited to watch the mixing and sometimes to participate to make sure the exact shade is made."

In referring to Pease as a member of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, and chairman of its Retail Merchants division, the article stated:

"Jerry does a good job—both for the Chamber and for his store. One of his least known public relations programs is the work he does at Christmas. Each year he has a party in his store after hours and invites the children of all his customers. He had more than 200 last year with a Santa and presents for all. There's no commercialism connected with it. It's a sincere, honest effort. Jerry just likes kids. As a matter of fact, he has a year-round surprise package for every youngster who comes into the store—a barrel of bundles they can dig into."

Interest in making a separate story of Pease's yearly Colorama was expressed by the national magazine, which requested details on the event, method of operation and pictures. The local store sponsors, as a service to the community, the appearance of decorating and paint specialists for the Colorama held each spring in the high school auditorium.

Enforces Food, Sanitation Laws

Arrival of the summer season brings added problems to the Bureau of Foods and Standards of the Michigan Department of Agriculture which enforces the state's rigid food laws and the sanitation of all food handling establishments.

Even fairs, circuses, carnivals and resorts come under the law, which also takes in any places where food is processed, stored, offered for sale or sold.

Representatives of this bureau within the Agricultural department pay particular attention to the housekeeping end of food handling, particularly the protection of foods from contamination. Misrepresentation of foods as to quality and quantity is also checked carefully.

Products are looked over for proper identification especially if artificially flavored or colored. In some cases itinerant concession operators have gotten into difficulties for not complying with food and sanitary requirements. Fresh buttered popcorn has turned out to be popcorn flavored with a vegetable oil preparation. In some instances oleomargarine was served in eating places without use of the notice required by state law.

Merchants Suffer Over Weekend

The Plymouth Merchants' sandlot ballclub had its troubles over the past week-end as first a tough opponent white-washed the locals last Friday and then the pouring rains drenched out another contest slated Sunday.

Starting off the poor weekend, the Merchants could manage only one meager hit against a trio of pitchers from Wayne's Hargrave's Heating club Friday. The Plymouth team also contributed 12 strikeouts as the Heating squad goose-egged the locals, 4-0.

This contest, an abbreviated seven-inning affair, was the Merchants' initial encounter in the newly organized Tri-City baseball league. Bill Runge went the route on the mound and was tagged with the loss.

Only one of the victor's four tallies was scored as an earned run with the three other tallies for the Hargrave's nine coming on the heels of a pair of errors committed by the locals.

Handling the pitching chores for the Wayne team, a trio of hurlers, Springfield, Schraw and Giddens, handcuffed the Merchants securely. Lone base knock counted by the locals was a single by Al Moers off Springfield in the second inning.

Runge allowed only four hits, fanned three and walked three while the Hargrave's hurlers allowed three free base passes and also notched their dozen strikeouts.

The Tri-City loop consists of five teams from neighboring cities including entries from Belleville, Wayne and Plymouth. Next game for the locals in this league is Wednesday evening on the diamond behind the high school when the Merchants go against Ralph Ellsworth's nine from Wayne. Game time is 6:00 p.m.

Sunday the drenching rains that soaked this area shackled virtually every team in the Inner-county league. Merchants sat by and watched the downpour soak out their scheduled contest with Allen Park on the AP diamond. No other games in the league were played to a finish.

CHAMPIONS OF THE grade school softball league on the strength of a play-off victory over Starkweather is this team from Catholic's Our Lady of Good Counsel school. A 4-1 win over Starkweather Tuesday, June 7, broke a deadlock between these two schools for first place and earned sole possession of the title for Catholic. Pictured left to right front row are: R. Klinske, W. Lenaghan, B. Gilles, D. Schoenneman and J. Lockwood. Second row from left are: Team coach Leonard Budnik, D. Stremick, T. Hinckley, P. McConnell, M. Kisabeth and R. Campbell. Third row from left are: C. Degenhardt, T. Garchow, P. Lomonaco, K. Bever and J. Dennany.

Wildlife Young Require No Help

Let wildlife youngsters alone. Each year through the land lifts the veil that this cuddle-some fawn or that baby bunny will perish without human help. But the history of animals "helped" indicates that nature still knows more about such things than humans.

Fawns are one of the biggest problems. Left on their own, deer raise fawns through birth and critical growth periods without undue trouble.

However, does often leave fawns in secluded glens during the day or in time of danger. When found, the little ones present such forlorn, motherless sights as to invoke sympathy from even the most granite-hearted.

If "rescued" and taken home, trouble invariably develops. First, it's against the law to keep wild game animals in that way. Second, sweet little things grow up and become nuisances, often dangerous. Beyond this, feeding wild animals is a complex and costly business.

But worst of all, when wild animals are tamed they lose their fear of man and forget how to survive in the wild. A grown tame deer, returned to the wilderness, is at sharp disadvantage against native wild animals.

In these weeks when young of nearly every species are being born, the best answer is a strict "hands off" policy.

HOT STUFF
"Grace tells me she's taking hot baths regularly to get her weight down."
"Yes, she calls it the scorched girth policy."

Big Pheasant Crop Predicted for Hunters

A progress report on this year's crop of ring-necked pheasants indicates another bumper year is in store for Michigan hunters.

Crowing counts, mail carrier checks and other studies show a high ratio of cock birds to hens and a generally high over-all population.

Also, a warm April this year got the birds off to an early start in the nesting season.

"Chances are pretty good that hunters will have as good or better shooting this fall as pheasants provided last year," says Ralph Blouch, Conservation Department game bird specialist. "Hunters bagged 1,226,000 in 1953 and probably were close to that figure last fall. We'll know more about that when our post-card poll is completed. Anyway, this fall we expect hunting will be quite good."

Blouch says the grain harvest was late last fall so pheasants had more cover than usual. "This, he adds, made for a lower-than-expected harvest."

Catholic Earns Softball Title

Catholic day school, on the strength of a 4-1 win over Starkweather last week, earned sole possession of the league championship in elementary softball action this season.

Prior to this play-off contest, these same two teams had been deadlocked for first place at the close of the regular schedule of play. Each had seven wins and three losses.

Big blow for the Catholic team came in the third inning off the bat of second-sacker Bryan Gilles, who slammed out a bases-loaded triple to clinch the win for his squad. The game was played Tuesday, June 7, on the diamond behind the high school.

Receiving credit for the win was Catholic's Pete Lomanoco, who allowed only one hit. Loser was Roe who went the route on the mound for Starkweather.

Catholic plated one run in the second inning when it tied together a walk and two put-outs, each advancing the runner, and a single by Garchow driving home the score.

Then in the third frame hurler Lomanoco led off with a single followed by Schoenneman's single. Lenaghan was out but Murray loaded up the sacks with a walk, setting the stage for Gilles and his triple.

Starkweather managed to score its lone run in the fourth inning, but did not threaten any other time.

'55 Bass Season Opens Saturday

The 1955 bass fishing season opens June 18, the last major game fish to be removed from the closed list this year.

Conservation Department fisheries workers expect a large number of anglers to take part in the opening.

Largemouth and smallmouth black bass are common in Lower Peninsula lakes while Upper Peninsula lakes have few largemouths but a fair proportion of smallmouths.

"Fishing in Michigan," a state publication, points out that the usual method of angling for largemouths is to cast plugs, spinners and live bait into areas of lily pads and other aquatic plants in shallow lake waters.

Smallmouths are also often taken in this way, or by trolling with spinners and live bait in moderately deep waters. Both species are often caught during the late evening or at night.

The Michigan record largemouth weighed 11 pounds, 15 ounces and the record smallmouth tipped the scales at 9¼ pounds.

Decathlon Swimming Meet Ends Sport's Year

The sports scene at Plymouth high school issued its last futile squirm last week before being pushed into hibernation for the vacation months.

In the final athletic event of the fading season, swimmers from the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth grades, plus the varsity tankers participated in the second annual swim decathlon.

Seven five-event champions, from as many classes of entry, were crowned by swimming coach John McFall at the end of the meet. In addition 41 other boys and girls won medals or ribbons for their efforts.

The different winners in their respective classes were: Boys' competition — Jim Carney, seventh grade; Jack Vincent, eighth grade; Jim Cash, ninth and tenth grades; Mariann Palmer, seventh grade; Judy Laury, ninth and tenth. The varsity decathlon champ was Bill Brandell.

The seventh and eighth grade students had separate classes of competition, while the ninth and tenth graders combined to meet in one class. The varsity tankers competed among themselves.

Events participated in, were the free stroke, back stroke, elementary stroke, side stroke, under-water swim, breast stroke and medley swim. The events in the different classes varied with the grade of the competitors.

Curtain Raised On Softball Card

The curtain went up on the 1955 Plymouth recreation softball program last week and found five games being completed in the two leagues with two contests rained out.

Four tilts were played in the "A" (Open) loop and one in the "B" (Oldtimer's), with a pair washed away to be rescheduled in the latter.

Getting things underway in the Open loop on Tuesday, June 6, Cavalcade eked out a close win over Evans, 1-0. Lowe was the winning pitcher and Stevens the loser.

The second contest that evening under the lights on the revamped softball field behind the high school was Beglinger Olds stopping the Box-Eagles in 10 innings, 12-7. Thibideau gained credit for the victory for the Oldsmen, while Kearny was tagged with the loss.

Big blow for the winners in this battle was Muggs Hunt's home run in the tenth with two on to turn the tide in favor of the Beglinger squad. At the end of nine regular frames the score was deadlocked at 5-5.

Other action in the Open "A" league featured Beglinger shutting out Evans, on Thursday night, 4-0. Thibideau won his second game of the week and Stevens lost his second decision.

Closing out the baseball battling in the "A" loop, the Box-Eagles trounced Cavalcade, 7-1, behind the "four-hit" pitching shaped by Kearney for the winners. Secord suffered his first loss, being relieved by Barnes in the ninth.

Although two games were rained out Wednesday, June 8, in the "B" Oldtimer's league one contest was recorded Tuesday evening, June 7, to get this loop into gear.

Plymouth Stamping decided the Wall Wire nine in an easy manner, 9-3. Thomas was the winning hurler as his teammates ganged up on Wall Wire's Ron-ayne to pin the loss on him. Nine walks aided the victors.

Coming games in the Open league this next week are Beglingers vs. Evancade and the Box-Eagles vs. Cavalcade on Monday. Thursday Box-Eagles and Evans square off and Cavalcade meets Beglinger's.

In the Oldtimer's league next week Tuesday Daisy is matched up against Wall Wire, while Barnes-Gibson-Raymond meets Beglingers on Wednesday as the Independents battle Plymouth Stamping that same evening.

All games are played on the softball field behind the high school with the first game starting at 6:30 p.m.

June 22 Deadline Set For Police Candidates

Candidates for the Michigan State Police have until Wednesday, June 22, to get their applications in for a state civil service examination to be held July 9, the last examination date currently scheduled.

Because of a new ruling lowering the minimum height requirement to five feet, nine inches, a great many more men have become eligible to join the department. Weight and physical build must be in proportion to height.

Other requirements are that candidates must be between 21 and 29 years of age, inclusive, in good health, of excellent character, and have a high school education or its equivalent. Married men as well as single are accepted.

Full information may be obtained at any State Police post or by writing to the State Civil Service Commission or the Michigan State Police at Lansing.

Michigan Bell Plans $125,000,000 Stock Issuance

Michigan Bell Telephone company has announced the filing of application with the Public Service commission for authority to issue $125,000,000 in common stock.

Clifton W. Phalen, president, said the additional capital is needed to help finance the company's construction and improvement program for the 3-year period starting January 1, 1956.

Phalen estimated growth in the company's territory during the 3-year period will approximate 390,000 telephones. New capital also is needed, he said, for conversion of most of the company's remaining manual exchanges to dial, new buildings, clearing up the backlog of orders for new service and higher grades of service, additional long distance facilities, service improvements including special facilities for direct distance dialing at Ann Arbor, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Pontiac, and Saginaw, and for military and defense demands.

The application said the company has more than 34,000 unfilled orders for higher grades of service but did not place orders. As of April 30, there were nearly 8,400 held orders for new service.

In the summer of 1953 a uranium rush started in Canada's Blind River district east of Sault Ste. Marie. Within a few weeks 10,000 claims were staked.

West Virginia, the nation's top coal producing state, also has the top coal producing county—Logan—with an annual output of 23 million tons yearly.

Lack of Understanding in Michigan Cause of Deer Herd Control Loss

Commenting this week on the Conservation Commission's loss of control of the deer herd, Director Gerald E. Eddy said: "Despite all-out efforts of our department, sportsmen's clubs, farm groups, outdoor writers and many others, the basic story of deer management did not get across to the people."

"There is little doubt in my mind that had the fundamental principles of deer control been more widely understood, the legislature would have again granted discretionary authority to the Commission."

"Somehow we failed to convince enough people of the fact that in deer management today we can have our cake and eat it too," continued the director. "This was not true 15 or 20 years ago when deer range was at its peak."

Then, new growth which followed heavy logging and which was protected against widespread fires was lush and in easy reach of the animals. This was a one-in-a-civilization, circumstance. It never occurred before; chances are, it will never occur again. That excellent range of years ago is now a tall forest; out-of-reach of hungry deer.

"Our deer range today is not ruined, however; far from it. But it is limited. It can support a herd of about 600,000 animals. This herd has a natural resilience which permits hunters to harvest 20 percent of the total each year. Under the one-buck law, they take 10 percent."

The herd must be in balance with its range and so starvation maintains that balance. To these "extra" animals a bullet is the most merciful kind of death. This, essentially, is the story that apparently failed to reach most of the people of our state," concluded Director Eddy.

The American Heart Association says that prompt treatment of "strep throat" infections with penicillin, under a doctor's direction, may prevent development of rheumatic heart disease.

STANDING QUIETLY at home plate, players and fans clustered around him, the late Harry Heilmann presented a stirring sight as he modestly accepted the gifts of an appreciative citizenry for his many years as a Detroit baseball star and, later, Tigers' radio announcer.

If memory serves correctly, it was 1949 and Harry was given a shiny, new Chrysler and a $300 camel hair overcoat. The latter was a gift of the players, who chipped in when they learned that all his life Harry had wanted such a coat.

What brings this to mind is the Cristante Night June 3, when Tiger relief hurler Leo Cristante was honored at pre-game ceremonies by the Oakwood Blue Jackets, Southwest Detroit athletic club with whom Cristante got his start.

TRADED WITH FAIN

Big Leo, who won 24 and lost 7 with Atlanta of the Southern Association last season, coming to the Tigers in the winter in the Ferris Fain deal, received a number of gifts and a lot of cheers from 500 of the Blue Jackets' 1,500 members sitting together in the stands.

Leo was the Blue Jackets' star pitcher in 1947 in Class B of the Detroit Baseball Federation, winning 10 and losing none, striking out 102 in 80 innings and posting a 1.9 earned run average. He made his professional debut with Terre Haute of the Class B Three-I League, the same club Ol' Diz started with.

Ball players are deeply appreciative of tributes by the fans. Al Kaline was overwhelmed a few weeks ago by the presentation from the Holy Name Society in his native Baltimore.

He was given a movie projector, gold watch, traveling case and a silver set for his wife, but these are comparatively insignificant to what the fans will someday shower upon him if he keeps up his phenomenal performances.

PROUD DAY

Certainly the most impressive present to a player is an automobile. I remember how I felt when I was honored with a new Pontiac in August, 1950, together with an outboard motor and $400 in silver dollars.

People from all over the state had moiled in dimes and quarters for the presents.

I was all at once proud and humble and deeply appreciative. To this day I treasure the many letters I received and the pictures taken of the occasion.

As a sidelight, back in 1949 George Kell was playing a sterling third base for the Tigers and some man running for mayor in suburban Chicago arranged a "Kell Day" in Comiskey Park.

The man gave George a traveling case and a gold watch. The resulting Hickory and Horsehide publicity was so effective that the candidate won his mayoral race with ease.

BROADCASTING and telecasting Tiger baseball games is not as simple a task as many fans believe. Van Patrick and Ol' Diz are at the ball park long before the game begins.

Starting line-ups must be obtained from home and visiting team managers. Cards have to be compiled on individual batting averages and defensive positions. Note must be made of visiting delegations for later acknowledgment on the air. Voice levels have to be checked before air time.

Moreover, as Ol' Diz shuttles about, gathering data, I'm stopped by fans who want to say hello. Not that I mind. I love to chat with the fans, but it does cut into my time, so I try to arrive at the ball park with the players at 10:30 a.m.

Several mornings a week Ol' Diz pitches batting practice to the Tigers, thus sparing a regular pitcher for afternoon duty. I still have a locker in the clubhouse and my old uniform, number 11.

WORK APART

As for the broadcasts, Van and I have separate microphones. When I do the "color" between innings, I take my cue from engineer Howard Stitzel, who's been handling Tigercasts eight years, when we're only on radio, or from producer Ralph Rust when we're also doing television.

Signaling me to speak, they simply point a finger in my direction, meaning, "You're on."

I try not to interrupt Van's play-by-play unless I have some extremely important sidelight to add. Then I signal him by a light touch.

When we have something to say to each other, Van or I can press cut-off buttons on our mikes that takes us off the air for a few seconds. It happens so fast that fans rarely are aware that we're off.

Telecasting is considerably more complex than broadcasting. The picture and Van's narration have to be in harmony. We have a TV monitor in our booth, which hangs down from the second deck between home and first, to help us. But producer Rust is kept hopping to select which of three pictures on his big monitor best fits in with Van's description.

DIFFERENT VIEWS

Each of the three cameras—behind home plate, to the right of our booth and to the left of the visiting announcer's booth, between home and third—is trained on a different action. One may show the pitcher, another may be on the batter and the third may take in both.

Crowd noise is picked up by a mike hanging from our booth.

Van, who possesses an excellent vocabulary, stumps me once in a while. But I look up the word in my pocket dictionary and remember it. However, I'm still a man of simple words and intend to continue that way as long as I'm broadcasting the Hickory and Horsehide game.

Protein fiber made from peanut hulls is used in the manufacture of synthetic fabrics such as upholstery material and draperies. It has also been used in making bathing suits.

Chips from the ROCK

We have known for a long time Plymouth can boast some of the best cooks in the country and certainly many of the recipes presented on our woman's page have been blue ribbon winners.

Last Sunday we were guests of friends in Northville for dinner and finished off our meal with the most wonderful strawberry pie I had ever tasted. To our surprise the hostess told us it was made from the recipe in last week's Mail supplied by Mrs. Myrtle Adkins of General drive. The hostess told us she had made one on Friday and it was so good she had also made others Saturday and Sunday.

Because this is the height of the strawberry season we thought it well worth our time to call your attention to this marvelous recipe and to further bear out our own opinion we cite the following interesting observation.

Last Saturday afternoon Mrs. Arthur Meyers commented to her neighbor Mrs. Matland Duffy that she had a lot of strawberries on hand that she just had to use up but her family were pretty well filled up on short cake. Mrs. Duffy suggested she try the recipe in The Mail saying it sounded real good. Mrs. Meyer made the pie then answered her door bell to find Mrs. Duffy who wanted to borrow Mrs. Meyer's Plymouth Mail because she had lost her copy of the recipe. As the two talked in the Meyer's yard another neighbor, Mrs. F. V. Morgeson joined the two saying she had just baked the most delicious strawberry pie from Mrs. Adkin's recipe. All three agreed it was the best pie they had ever tasted.

Just in case you didn't save your copy of the recipe we present it here again so that your family, too, can enjoy this delicious treat.

- 1 baked 9-inch pastry shell
- 4 cups (2 pints) hulled, washed strawberries
- 3/4 cup of water
- 3/4 cup of sugar
- 3 tablespoons of cornstarch
- 1/4 teaspoon of salt
- 1/2 cup of cream for whipping
- 1 tablespoon of sugar (for cream)

Prepare baked pastry shell, using your favorite recipe. Next, crush one cup of strawberries in small sauce pan; add water, bring to boil and let simmer three minutes.

Strain juice from cooked strawberries; add water, if needed, to make one cup of juice, reserve.

Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in same saucepan. Slowly add reserved strawberry juice, stirring until smooth. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Cook three minutes or until thick and clear. Cool slightly.

Arrange remaining three cups of strawberries in baked pastry shell. Spoon glaze over berries, being careful to coat each one. Chill pie.

Just before serving, whip cream, sweeten, and spoon in ring on top of pie.

We've heard of some pretty hilarious golf games and of some friendly betting resulting in small sums of money changing hands. None can compare with the story they're telling about Mayflower Manager Ralph Lorenz. It happened last weekend at Washtenaw country club where Lorenz was just starting a game with Rex Purkey and Herb Pedler of Champion Corrugated and Mike Sonk from Wayne. It seems that at Purkey's suggestion Lorenz was enticed into driving a mobile cart instead of using a caddie to carry the bags. Following their drives off the first tee, Lorenz took the controls of the caddie wagon and, with Purkey as his passenger, zoomed across a bridge over a small creek. At the far end of the bridge another foursome of golfers had left their caddie carts and bags standing in the path of the oncoming Lorenz. Startled at the sight of the approaching collision, Purkey jumped out of the mobile wagon as Lorenz hit the brakes and got no response. The result was one broken cart and a harrassed owner looking angrily at Lorenz and exclaiming "why did you have to do that . . . I would have moved it!" A quick apology and an equally quick settlement left Lorenz with but one comment: "I've only hit one shot and already I'm out $34.00!"

★ THINKING OUT LOUD ★

One question, sometimes controversial, sometimes personal is asked each week by The Mail of four pedestrians along Plymouth's downtown streets. This week's guests are "thinking out loud" on the question:

"This Thursday is graduation day in Plymouth. When you got out of high school, you probably had many dreams of what you were going to do and going to be. Would you say that you have realized these dreams?"

LEROY CRIFE, 11100 Southworth: "I went into the Army just after getting out of high school. This was right before Pearl Harbor and I didn't get out until 1945, so that took care of any plans I had for quite a few years. I was nervous and jumpy for a long time but I found that I was out in the world on my own and had to support my mother too, so I had to get some kind of work right away."

EUGENE KING, 117 S. Rogers, Northville: "When I came out of school I wanted to follow in my father's footsteps and be an engineer. I started going to Cass Tech every night but found that I wasn't interested enough. I then started a business course at the Detroit Business college and went to work in an office. But sitting inside didn't please me. Now I'm a Northville policeman. When I was a kid I wanted to be an Army officer or policeman, so my present job fell in with my childhood ambition."

LARRY PFLIEGER, 11300 Brookfield, Livonia: "I wanted to be an accountant when I graduated and that is what I am. I'm getting my master's degree from the University of Detroit this week after attending night school, so I'd say that I came pretty close to my goal."

J. DAVIS, 840 Penniman: "I think that most graduates can get what they want if they work hard enough at it. I lit out to be a farmer and wound up working in a factory. But I'm happy in my job just the same."

Are News Blackouts Good?

To show the effect of a news blackout, we need only go as far as Detroit where technically there has been a blackout on all UAW negotiations with Ford and General Motors. The auto companies and the union mutually agreed on the "sealed lips" policy.

But alas, few are the humans who can keep from talking. Union conferees were especially willing to let word get out that they were making headway. Enterprising newsmen from the three Detroit newspapers relied on contacts built up through the years to get information about what was going on behind the negotiation curtain.

A correspondent for Christian Science Monitor, along with dozens of other out-of-town newsmen, reported that he found himself out in the cold because he had none of these old-time contacts. The Associated Press found itself quoting the Times, Free Press and News as the source of information. The Monitor's correspondent did not condemn the Detroit papers for their enterprising methods, but instead pointed out that "hardest hit of all is the public, which at this point, is getting misinformation by leakage."

"The news leaks are proving, in the main, accurate in substance but inaccurate in detail," the Monitor writer declared.

Which all points up to the stand that The Mail and every other newspaper has taken — that attempts to suppress news only leads to rumor, misinformation and contradiction. Whether it's a story on the national level or of local interest only, it is soon learned that a news blackout is not the way to get things done. Secret meetings are always under suspect. Keeping the public ignorant of what is going on is NOT the American way.

State Parties Taking Legislation Bows

CITIZENS ALREADY paying new taxes and obeying new laws are being bombarded from all sides by legislators seeking to make political hay out of the record.

Republicans claim they control the legislature and have given Michigan a hatful of wonderful new laws.

Democrats say the Republicans would not have rolled up their 1955 record had there not been minority party members there with a club, forcing them to act.

"The majority must be just as responsible for the things that were not accomplished," snapped Senator Patrick H. Doyle (D-Deerborn).

SENATOR CREIGHTON R. COLEMAN (R-Battle Creek), majority caucus chairman, issued his annual record-of-accomplishment statement as the legislature waited to adjourn.

He said the legislature was responsible for:

1. A $35,000,000 highway construction program which will concentrate on four-lane divided highways in the arterial road system. It is financed with a 1 1/2 cent increase in the gasoline tax.
2. A $28,000,000 budget-balancing tax program which will increase the load on business but not directly on consumers. It is an increase in the $30,000,000 Business Activities Tax.

3. Lifetime incomes for workers totally and permanently disabled on the job and increases in the maximum unemployment compensation benefits of from $42 to $54 for men with families. The $30 weekly maximum for single workers idled remains unchanged.

4. A new Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) to bar discrimination in employment by reason of race, creed, color, national origin or ancestry.

Increased budgets for mental health, public health, more Michigan State Police, additional probation and parole officers — all were part of the legislative record.

GOV. WILLIAMS praised the legislature on the last night of the session, saying they had done a good job but had fallen below his hopes.

"Perhaps I'm a perfectionist," he said. Williams had asked for more money for mental health and once held a special meeting to pressure the legislature. The increases granted, he said, will handle only part of the natural expansion.

WHILE REFUSING TO KILL or cripple the controversial Michigan Turnpike Authority, the Senate dealt it a blow when it ousted William E. Slaughter, Jr., as its chairman.

The move leaves the five-member authority with two vacancies (one member, R. M. McConnell, of Detroit, died recently), and a third, Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler, who has exhibited reluctant interest in turnpikes.

INSIDERS SAID IT WAS THE DEATH KNEEL of turnpikes in Michigan, at least temporarily. Bond houses and other financiers are reticent about dealing with authorities with two vacancies, and which have stirred up controversy.

MOTORISTS have been hit by two gasoline price increases within a month and everybody wants an investigation.

The first boost of 1 1/2 cents a gallon came before the state tax increase added another 1 1/2 cents. Neither refineries nor wholesalers said they were in a position to absorb the new tax.

Senator William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak), chairman of a legislative investigation two years ago, said he would favor another this year. His 1953 findings, however, are sobering.

"WE FOUND THE STATE COULDN'T do anything about gasoline prices," he said. The committee went to Washington, was politely snubbed and told that refineries, if controlled at all, are under the jurisdiction of the Federal government.

With the latest increase, Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh started his own check in cooperation with Gov. Williams.

REPRESENTATIVES of major refineries met with Kavanagh but the results were not disclosed.

Kavanagh and others are interested in determining whether refineries operating in Michigan can be regulated by the Michigan Public Service Commission, which now controls utilities.

Some decision on the legal phases of the idea are expected before the summer is ended, but Broomfield said it would repeat his 1953 findings: Motorists will have to pay the higher prices.

MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE will become Michigan State University July 1, the date fixed by the legislature for the long-sought name change.

The change will come in the midst of celebrations of the college's 100th anniversary as the nation's first agricultural institution of higher learning.

Since those early days, it has become one of the country's leading liberal arts and engineering colleges and ranks among the foremost universities in the United States.

Roger Babson

U.S. Prosperity Unbelievable

Babson Park, Mass., June 16.—

I wonder if you realize that a far greater social and economic revolution is taking place right under your nose than has taken place in Russia. This is a revolution that should put Russia to shame.

LOOK AT YOURSELF

Take a look at what has happened to you. As little as 10 years ago did you expect to own a home such as you probably have today? Did you ever expect to have the kind of car that is yours, to go to the places and do the things you've been doing lately? To own the household appliances that are yours? To be able to send your children to college?

A young Babson Institute senior who will graduate this June has had a number of job interviews and several offers. One company offered him an especially good opportunity and we supposed he had accepted their job offer. Upon inquiry, he hedged and said he had not because they were not paying enough. He wanted more than their $300 per month to start because some of his classmates were getting offers of from $325 up. It is nothing short of fantastic the number of technical and business administration college men who will start out this June not with just a diploma, but with a wife, perhaps a child, a car, and a $4,000-a-year job!

WHO IS BENEFITING TODAY?

Since 1947 there has been a 70% increase in the number of families with incomes over $4,000. Back in 1944 the average family earned $4,027. Today the average for the American family, including both farmers and those living in the cities, is $5,330. And the average city family today earns over $6,000 annually! But most startling of all is the fact that a whopping 44% of all non-farm families earn between $5,000 and $10,000 a year. At the other end of the scale, only 30% of all families, including the traditionally low farm-income group, earn less than $3,000. Only 15% of the city families are today found in this group. But keep in mind that these figures apply to families living under the same roof, not necessarily to individuals.

But this is not all of the story. The real eye opener is found in the great economic leveling process that has been at work these past dozen years. Fewer and fewer families are making over $10,000. Only 9.8% of our city families make over $10,000. In short, we have broadened our market base with a greatly increased number of potential buyers of goods and services. This expanded market base in itself should help to keep us prosperous. This, then is a revolution in earning power. It has already increased the middle-class group of wage earners so that we today have nearly achieved a one-class, middle-class society, with little poverty and few extremely wealthy persons.

IMPORTANCE OF ADVERTISING

Certainly I would be one of the first to admit that pent-up war demand was responsible for the spurt in business right after the war. But, that was over by 1950. What keeps us rolling, now in 1955? Consumer confidence! How people feel about their local, state and national governments, how they feel about the future, whether they have confidence in Washington — these psychological factors have had a great deal to do with our good business. Newspaper advertising has created a climate of confidence in which

English Recipe Makes "Nifty" Dish for Party

From the pages of a 50-year-old book on English cookery comes this recipe of Mrs. Arthur L. Mills, 264 North Harvey street.

Salmon Loaf, her favorite selection from the book, has been enjoyed by the Mills family for a number of years. Especially handy is the fact that this "dressy" dish can be prepared a day ahead of serving time, leaving the hostess free to attend to other details if she's planning a luncheon party or what have you.

Using a can of pink or red salmon, here are the easy directions as given in the book:

SALMON LOAF (Serves 4)

"Pick red salmon into flakes, mix two cupfuls with the yolks of two hard-boiled eggs, a tablespoon of minced parsley, two of lemon juice, and one of capers. Season highly (salt and pepper). Pour a cupful of veal or chicken stock (heated) over half a box of gelatine; stir in the fish.

"Decorate a buttered mould with slices of egg and olives, pour in the mixture and let it get perfectly cold. Garnish with lettuce leaves."

The California resident was here on a few days' visit in the area.

Members of the P.E.O. marked their last official meeting until fall recently at the home of Lorene Hammill in Farmington. A dinner highlighted the gathering with Mary Simmons serving as chairman for the event. Mystery sisters were revealed to those attending this last get-together.

Find Well-Chosen Meals Can Lengthen Life, Delay Aging

The "middle years" start around age 35. They end with the beginning of old age, which may be at 45 or 105, depending largely on how the years are lived, says a Wayne County home agent.

Old age has ceased to mean simply years. Signs of advancing age may occur at 40 or not for another half century.

The first steps in lengthening the middle years and shortening old age must be taken in young adulthood. Planning meals for adults has become the topic of the hour since population trends have shown that one-third of the people of the United States are over 45 years of age.

One important way to help keep in tip-top vigor is to make sure that we have well-chosen meals through adult years as well as during childhood. A modern, protective diet has been shown to add an extra 10 years or so to the life span. Planning menus for a day is like selecting a costume—it's the over-all effect that counts.

Since body machinery, in general, slows down after 30 and many adults are not so active as in their earlier days, less energy food is needed. The tendency to add pounds is a natural one. Overweight makes extra work for the heart and other organs. A careful counting of calories, until new food habits have been formed, may be necessary. Foods that furnish only energy without carrying vitamins, minerals, or protein are those to be scorned (sugar, candy, cake, cookies, pastry, gravies, oil salad dressings, fried foods and rich desserts).

Of course, junior must have his fruits and vegetables, but so must his mother and his grandfather. Fruits and vegetables are excellent sources of vitamins and minerals, and, since absorption may not be efficient in later years, larger quantities may be needed.

Milk is a "must." A pint or more of milk should be included in everyone's daily diet. The calcium in milk helps fortify bones against breakage. Cheddar cheese and cottage cheese lend themselves to many delicious dishes and will add calcium in a different form.

A liberal amount of high-quality protein from milk, cheese, eggs, fish and meats should be provided in the diets of all age groups. There should be two or more servings of protein food besides milk included every day. Modern science has proved that protein and the B vitamins actually delay aging. Since meats are excellent sources of both protein and B vitamins, they should be included in some form in the diets of old and young.

To make fluted cucumber slices, draw the tines of a fork lengthwise on the cucumber. Then cut it into thin slices.

Brides-To-Be Get Linen List From Experts

June, the traditional month of weddings, brings some good news to young brides-to-be.

Experts report that the girls who wed in 1955 will have the greatest and most attractive selection of household linens of any brides in history. Towels, sheets, and other household cottons actually have become decorator items, with colors and designs to harmonize with any decor a new homemaker might plan.

MAKE SHOPPING EASIER

To make shopping easier for the uninitiated, specialists have outlined this suggested linen trousseau for a new home. This is a minimum list in most cases, they note, for making a comfortable home and for allowing a supply sufficient to rotate linens for longer wear.

Bedroom linens suggested are: six sheets for each bed and six pillow cases for each pillow (most brides prefer percale); one pair winter blankets; one pair summer cotton blankets; two bedspreads for each bed; and also pillows, comforters, mattress pads, mattress protectors, and blanket covers.

For the bathroom, these items are recommended: 12 terry bath towels; 18 matching terry face or hand towels; 18 matching wash cloths; 12 terry fringed miniatures or huck towels; three bath mats; two cotton floor rugs; and two shower curtains.

FOR THE KITCHEN

Kitchen articles suggested are: 12 cotton towels for drying utensils; 12 cotton glass or dish towels; 12 small terries for kitchen hand towels; 12 dish cloths; six cleaning or utility cloths; six pot-holders; dusters and polishing cloths for silver and window cleaning.

For the dining room, linens will naturally vary with the type of life the couple leads. If they plan frequent formal entertaining, several party cloths will be needed, along with a number of cotton cloths and mats for everyday family meals and informal dining. It's also a good idea to have a variety of gay cloths for small luncheons, afternoon bridge parties, and other special entertaining.

A New Version of Sausage and Pancakes

JUST add apple—and what a fresh, new flavor this classic combination of sausage and pancakes takes on. Then roll them up, and you've got a gourmet dish to please brunch guests, or buffet supper, breakfast, or luncheon guests. Easy to do, too. Here's the recipe for:

Sausage Apple Roll-Ups
1 pound pork sausage links
1/4 cup milk
1 egg, beaten
2 cups pancake mix

Place sausages in cold skillet; cook slowly over low heat, turning often, until brown and crisp. Meanwhile add milk and egg to pancake mix; beat smooth. Stir in melted butter and grated apples. Pour batter on hot griddle, making pancakes about 4-inches in diameter. Cook until brown underneath and bubbly on top. Turn; brown other side. Drain sausages on absorbent paper. Roll each link in a pancake. Serve with maple syrup. Makes about 12 roll-ups.

Before peeling or cutting vegetables for canning, wash them well. But nutrition experts say, "Don't let them soak; they lose food value."

Savory cabbage is a fine home garden vegetable. It is not often found in markets though its crinkled leaves have a special flavor.

Here's Way To Safeguard Winter Clothing

Are you putting away winter clothes? If so, have the woolen articles cleaned and then spray thoroughly to moth-proof them. This way you will be able to face summer with the assurance that your clothes will be undamaged when autumn arrives.

Actually, moths do not damage the year round. It is only in the larvae or worm stage that they are actually destructive. However, the adult moths are the ones you must destroy to lay the culprits to rest.

The adult moths lay eggs in the nap of clothing, rugs and furniture upholstery. Even in the cracks of floors. This is especially true if some cat fur or dog's hair has caught there.

The eggs hatch in four to eight days in the summer. During cooler weather, it usually takes from three to four weeks.

Effective moth-proofing should be applied directly to the article. Read the directions on the liquid to be applied. You will find that various articles take varying amounts.

Hand-spraying will do very well for clothing. However, upholstery, rugs and blankets should be power-sprayed. This type spraying will penetrate more deeply and can be done with a modern vacuum cleaner.

Fluorescent light tubes provide three to four times as much light per watt as incandescent bulbs and produce less heat.

Let Kids Help Plan Vacation Wardrobe

Moms and Dads all over Michigan will soon be packing the kids in the car and heading for their vacation at the cottage.

It's usually up to Mom to make the decision on what clothes to take for the children. This takes planning, points out the head of the home management and child development department at Michigan State.

She believes it is a good idea to let the children help plan what they want to take. Let them take some responsibility for getting their clothes together and seeing that they are packed. Probably Bobby will first think of his bathing suit. The expert adds some of the other necessities to the list.

Sunsuits are fine for sunny days, but be sure to include overalls and shirts for chilly days and evenings. She points out that jersey T-shirts are easy to pack and to launder. A broadrimmed hat will likely come in handy many times. Also suggested is a pair of stout walking shoes besides a pair of the popular sneakers.

A jacket or sweater for cool evenings or damp, cool days is something you won't want to be without. And for real rainy days, you might pack a raincoat and boots.

The specialist reminds that nights on the lake are apt to be cool so take warm sleeping clothes such as flannel pajamas. And, she adds, a robe and slippers are mighty comfortable to slip into in the morning or late evening.

Finally, she cautions: Don't forget the usual soap and towels, oil or cream for sunburn, insect repellent, plenty of paper tissue and a simple first-aid kit.

With a little planning, she declares, you can add a lot more pleasure to your vacation.

Orange juice can be substituted for the vinegar in Harvard beets to give a tangy, different flavor.

Hottest-Selling Buick in History
No wonder you see so many '55 Buicks on the highway—they're rolling up bigger sales than ever before in history—capping the popularity that has already moved Buick into the top circle of America's best sellers.

THIS is a Buick—a 2-door, 6-passenger SPECIAL Sedan.

It packs a walloping 188-hp V8 engine under the hood—is carried on a strapping 122-inch wheelbase—rides with the luxury cushioning of all-coil springing, the solid steadiness of a full-length torque-tube drive, the extra safety and silence of tubeless tires.

It's big and brawny and road-steady and roomy—each seat cushion measures over five feet in width.

Yet this broad beauty—as the price we show here proves—delivers locally for just about the price of the well-known smaller cars—even below some models of those very same cars.

Buick Sales Are Soaring To New Best-Seller Highs
That, for sure, is one reason why

Buick sales go higher and higher and higher. More and more people are finding that you can buy a Buick for the price of a smaller car, so more and more people are getting this bigger buy for their money.

They want the bigger package of sheer automobile for the money that they get in Buick—bigger in power thrill, in roomy comfort, in riding steadiness, in structural solidity.

They want the added prestige and pleasure of owning Buick styling and size—and the added safety and sureness of Buick roadability and handling ease.

They want, too, the spectacular performance and better gas mileage of Variable Pitch Dynaflo†—easily yours at modest extra cost.

And they certainly want the choice Buick offers of a car in every price range, with each one the buy in its field—the low-price SPECIAL, the supremely-powered CENTURY, the extra-roomy SUPER, and the custom-built ROADMASTER.

Why don't you come in for a visit and see how much real automobile your money can buy here?

†Dynaflo Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

DID YOU KNOW

- ★ that the Buick SPECIAL is priced below any other car of 188 horsepower and 122-inch wheelbase?
- ★ that the Buick SPECIAL is priced below some models of the three most well-known smaller cars?
- ★ that the Buick SPECIAL gives you more pounds of automobile than any other car at its low price?

Helpful Hints Concerning Building, Remodeling, Repairing & Redecorating

ANOTHER MODERN housing project being built in the neighboring area is the Country Homes subdivision located at the corner of Wayne and Plymouth roads in Livonia. Total number of homes eventually constructed will be 632, each selling at approximately $16,000. Pictured are three of the homes in the subdivision. Each lot has a minimum frontage of 60', while other descriptive points of the homes are the automatic heating, full basements, large recreation areas, picture windows and birch paneled breakfast nooks.

Color Clues Offer Home Decor Guide

In planning the interior decoration of your home, it is well to keep in mind that different colors do different things to your rooms and to you.

Blues, greens and blue-greens are cool and restful. They are generally considered receding colors that "push" walls back, making rooms appear to be larger.

Warm colors like red, red-orange, yellow-orange and yellow are cheerful and warm. They are considered advancing colors that can make your walls seem closer and rooms appear smaller.

BRIGHTEN COPPER SCREENS

Copper screens that have become black and lusterless after long exposure to the weather can be restored to their original sunny look by rubbing with a solution of salt and vinegar.

SUGGESTIONS RE. STAIRS

Replace treads and balusters, broaden staircase to second floor, cover stair treads.

How To Install Wood Wall Panels

Rich, wood-paneled walls are the latest trend in home decoration. They give warmth and luxurious beauty to every room, traditional or modern. Now, anyone who can handle an ordinary hammer can install oak panels, easily and quickly, with professional-looking results.

First, measure height and width of your walls to make sure you get the right amount of oak paneling. Oak paneling is now available in do-it-yourself kit form. Each kit includes specially grooved furring strips, a supply of patented metal application clips, and enough easy-to-handle, 8-foot plywood planks, in random widths, to panel 96 square feet of wall.

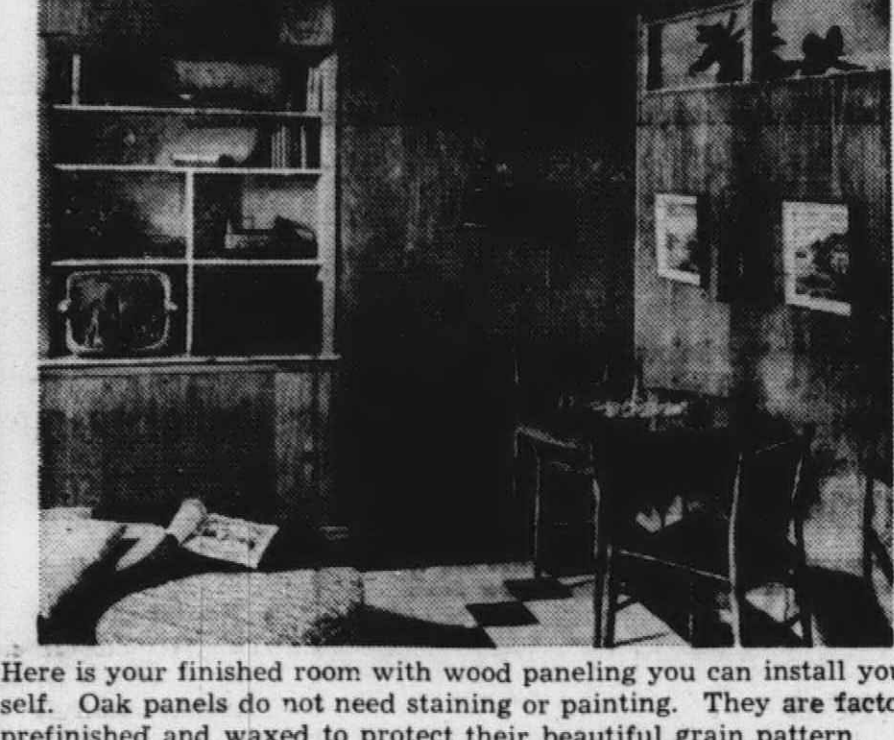

Here are simple, do-it-yourself steps suggested by Plymouth engineers and local building supply dealers to install your own paneling.

Nail special furring strips horizontally to wall studs. Insert patented clip in groove of each furring strip.

Lock panels firmly to row of clips. Finish your paneling with moldings and trim of matching oak.

Here is your finished room with wood paneling you can install yourself. Oak panels do not need staining or painting. They are factory prefinished and waxed to protect their beautiful grain pattern.

Cramped for Closet Space? Here Is How to Build a Cedar Storage Room

Like the idea of having a convenient cedar storage room in the attic or basement? Then tackle it as a weekend do-it-yourself project. The job is not difficult if planned in advance, and the room will be a welcome addition to any home.

If help is needed to lay out a plan, seek advice from a neighbor or relative who has successfully survived more complex projects. With a good plan to follow, almost any one who can cut a straight line with a saw and hit a nail on the head with a hammer can complete the room in his spare time.

Aromatic red cedar closet lining is recommended for several reasons. The wood gives off fumes that repel moths, so cedar closet lining protects fine furs, other clothing and bedding from moth damage. Any person who has ever had a suit damaged by moths will appreciate this feature.

In addition, cedar closet lining is attractive and requires little maintenance. In fact, cedar needs no paint or varnish. Leave the wood's finish in its natural state, so that its fumes can escape and provide moth protection. The only regular maintenance is dusting. If a slight film appears on the wood's surface after a few years, it may be removed quickly by a light sanding.

When laying out the room on paper, plan to build in the corner of an existing room, basement or attic. Then it is necessary to build only two new walls, saving time and material. The new walls may be framed off with 2x4's spaced 16 inches on centers.

If the two existing walls are made of concrete, such as those of a basement, apply 1x2 inch furring strips to them. In an attic or utility room, the cedar closet lining may be nailed directly to existing studs or wall covering—anything that will hold a nail.

When the room is to be located in a damp basement, plan to build a floor that is about 4 inches above the concrete base. The same type of cedar closet lining that is used on walls and ceiling of the room may serve as flooring.

Applying the cedar is the simple part of this job, for the wood is ready-made for use by amateur carpenters. The product is available at Plymouth lumber yards in packages which contain enough pieces of cedar to cover at least 32 square feet of area, the pieces measuring from 2 to 4 inches in width and up to 8 feet in length. All cedar pieces are tongued and grooved at sides and ends. Just fit them together and nail to studs or furring strips.

For maximum beauty and moth-repellency, it is a good idea to line both sides of the two new walls with cedar. If economy is an important factor, however, apply the cedar to the outer sides of the 2x4 framing members, leaving the inner sides exposed to view from inside the storage room.

Hanging the door of the storage room is probably the most complicated part of this project. Here again, seek advice, before attempting it. A tight-fitting door is essential in building the moth-proof room. It will seal-in the protective cedar aroma.

When the room is completed, go one step further. Using tape measure, paper and pencil, draw a plan for placement of shelves, hooks, poles and other accessories. Place them where they will be most accessible and occupy a minimum of space.

DESIGN H-68

Designed to meet the changing needs of many families, this 1 1/2 story home with basement can be constructed on a 40' lot (without garage). With a petite and charming exterior, this home offers superb value in living. The comfort of a spacious living room is featured here with optional fireplace and space for dining in either the roomy kitchen or dining area. The lavatory and extra closets on the first floor add to the convenience. For further information write the Building Editor, The Plymouth Mail.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Q—In making some repairs in the house, I accidentally dented our best table. Is there any way of removing the dent?

A—Yes. First remove any polish or finish from the dented area. Then put a few drops of water on the area to swell the wood fibers to their original shape. If this proves inadequate, wet the dent again and cover it with a damp cloth. Hold a warm iron close to the cloth to expand the damp wood fibers. It may take several treatments. The section can be repolished or refinished once the dent has been removed.

leakage would result in having to tear up the floor for repairs to the pipe.

KEEP BASEMENT DRY

Basements can be protected from dampness by using one of the water-repellent compounds which are painted on with a large brush.

Most steel kitchen wall cabinets are approximately 13 inches deep—a good depth, studies show, for storing kitchen supplies or equipment within convenient reach.

Here's How to... Strip Concrete Forms

The uses of concrete are endless—and so are the handyman tricks that go with it. One trick is to lay a concrete walk so that the wooden forms around it can be stripped up afterwards without gouging the soil. To do this, Plymouth area building material and supply dealers suggest nailing steel loops to the forms beforehand. Then, once the concrete hardens, the worker can quickly remove them by placing a pole through the loops and lifting, as in the illustration. The forms will come up without trouble, particularly if the steel loops have been greased on the inside of the forms.

ADD STORAGE SPACE
Build closet under stairway; build or install storage wall; build storage units in utility room or garage, window seat storage units, toy storage units in children's rooms.

PLAYROOM CONVENIENCE
A child's playroom should be so outfitted that it requires little housekeeping. A clay tile floor is suggested, because it needs only a quick mopping, using hot, sudsy water.

WORK BENCH TIP
A good way to prevent a work bench from wobbling is to install rubber heels on the legs. These will compensate for uneven floors or bench legs and lessen power-tool vibrations.

Protect plastic surfaces in the kitchen from hot dishes by using a piece of 1/4" Masonite Tempered Presdwood. The same board makes a wonderful cutting surface.

Scout Troops Win Honors At District "Camporee"

Honors went to Plymouth Boy Scouts from Troops P-1, P-3 and P-4 participating in competitive events at the recent Scouts' District 7 "Spring Camporee" at Camp D-Bar-A in Metamora, Michigan.

Close to 600 Scouts and 100 leaders attended the Camporee, held May 3 to 5, making it the largest ever sponsored by the organization. Approximately 80 boys made up the Plymouth contingent.

Prizes in the Scouting competition which included signaling, first aid, axmanship, knot-tying, judging, nature and equipment, were awarded the following Plymouth troops:

P-3, under the direction of Scoutmaster Ferris Mathias, first place for its Frontiersmen patrol and fourth for the troop's Covered Wagon patrol; Rattlesnake patrol of P-4, directed by Frank Beach, scoutmaster, fifth place.

In the explorer events, first and third places were won by the Black Arrow and Wolverine patrols of P-3, respectively. Second place was won by a combined team of P-1 and P-4 explorers. Scoutmaster of P-1 is William Baker.

Sidney Strong, chairman of special events for District 7, drew up the compass courses for the Camporee. Announcement of awards was made by George Conover, camping chairman. LOST CAUSE

After a convivial evening with friends, he was making his weaving way home when he ran into a tree. Cautiously he backed off and tried again. Again he collided. Tightening his jaw, he made another attempt; then another. It was no use. Each time his wobbling feet brought him back up against that tree. Finally he sank to the base of the tree, a dejected huddle, muttering: "Losh, losh, in an impenetrable forest!"

The Girl Scout lodge has been much in demand in May. In addition to meetings held almost daily, it has been filled to capacity for weekend overnights. Troops 17, 6, 18 and 20 from Plymouth have spent the night as

Girl Scout News

A campfire at the home of their leader, Mrs. William Edgar, followed by an evening of starduty was the second class badge for members of Troop 3. Cecil Packard and Woodrow Tichy provided telescopes and instruction for the Scouts. A family pot-luck was held recently at the Kiwanis Girl Scout lodge. At a Court of Awards after dinner, 15 girls received their second class badges. Proficiency badges were presented to 11 members in addition to the second class. Mrs. E. P. Light also assists with the troop.

Members of Troop 19 were honored by their sponsoring organization, the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist church, at a tea on June 14. The sponsors also provided badges which the girls have earned recently. They were presented at a Court of Awards at the tea. Brownie Troop 20 will also be guests of the W.S.C.S. A camp-craft badge was completed by an overnight camp-out on June 10. Mrs. Thomas Thorpe was the leader, assisted by Mrs. Eldridge Raven.

Trade Magazine Lauds Lorenz

An address at the Southern Hotel Exposition in Atlanta, Georgia, in April has made a "cover boy" out of Plymouth Mayflower Hotel Manager Ralph G. Lorenz.

The May edition of the nationally-circulated "Southern Hotel Journal" carries a picture of Lorenz taken while he was addressing the convention on the subject of food promotion.

Entitled "Don't Wink in the Dark," Lorenz' address is going to be carried in three installments in the publication. This is the editor's preface comment of the article: "Ralph Lorenz has a food volume of $300,000 a year at his 54-room hotel in Plymouth, Michigan. His first step in promoting his food department was to compile a mailing list of 12,000 to 14,000 names. This is the story of how Lorenz compiled his list of names and addresses. It is one of the best stories ever published by this magazine. Sequels will follow in future issues. This series derives from material Lorenz developed in connection with his appearance at the Southern Hotel Exposition. This is must reading for operators of smaller hotels."

Whether or not Plymouth will be involved in a Civil Defense mock bomb attack on June 15 and 16 was still not known early this week by the Plymouth Township Office of Civil Defense.
Director Leo Flowers declared that Flint will definitely take part in the bomb test. It is a strong possibility that one other Michigan city will receive a surprise mock attack, Flowers said, either Detroit or Dearborn. If either of these cities are included, they will need quick access to all out-county Civil Defense units, Flowers said.
The CD director reported that a meeting of elected officials and CD directors held in Livonia last week brought a 100 per cent endorsement of the plan to have the Chrysler corporation survey this area to determine how many air warning sirens will be needed.
The auto making firm has offered to make the survey free of charge. Mobile tests of sirens may take place any day in this area, Flowers indicated. To finance the sirens, which will cost about $4,000 each, it has been proposed that they be paid for on a county-wide basis with a one-mill proposal being placed on the ballot next fall.
Flowers said that his office has received word from Major General Clyde E. Dougherty asking that a complete and detailed inventory be made of all mechanized or motorized equipment in the area. This information, he stated, is vital in planning for all phases of evacuation, traffic control and disaster relief.

The CD director reported that a meeting of elected officials and CD directors held in Livonia last week brought a 100 per cent endorsement of the plan to have the Chrysler corporation survey this area to determine how many air warning sirens will be needed.
The auto making firm has offered to make the survey free of charge. Mobile tests of sirens may take place any day in this area, Flowers indicated. To finance the sirens, which will cost about $4,000 each, it has been proposed that they be paid for on a county-wide basis with a one-mill proposal being placed on the ballot next fall.
Flowers said that his office has received word from Major General Clyde E. Dougherty asking that a complete and detailed inventory be made of all mechanized or motorized equipment in the area. This information, he stated, is vital in planning for all phases of evacuation, traffic control and disaster relief.

Plymouth ACS Chapter Releases Cancer Bulletin

The Plymouth chapter of the American Cancer society released this week an additional bulletin on cancer of interest to the public.

Particularly stressed was the need for awareness that cancer, the uncontrolled growth of cells or tissues anywhere in the body, is not primarily a woman's disease but that as many men die of cancer as women.

This misconception, the bulletin disclosed, is due to the frequency of cancer of the breast and reproductive organs in women in comparison with the more varied occurrence of the disease in men.

Cancer which affects men is often more difficult to detect. Common types are those of the digestive and respiratory systems, reproductive organs, skin, lips and mouth.

Unless properly treated in time, the bulletin warned, cancer means certain death. One of the most dangerous aspects of the disease in this regard is that pain is seldom an early symptom. By the time it is felt it is often too late to save the patient.

Cancer cells multiply fast and travel widely, the release warned. So long as the growth is limited to one area it can usually be removed or destroyed. The family doctor can spot most forms of cancer in the early stage without the use of elaborate equipment.

For protection of the individual and his family the chapter urged that the following measures be taken:

1. Have a thorough check up (including a rectal examination) by your family physician once a year. This is particularly important if the individual is in the danger period—from age 40 and up. Men over 45 should have a chest x-ray twice a year.
2. Learn the seven danger signals which may mean cancer.

Literature on the latest cancer facts and figures are available at the local A.C.S. office, 821 Penniman, Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Home seems a safe enough place until you study the statistics about how many accidents happen in the home. According to a recent survey made by a group of foot doctors, you are safer crossing a busy intersection than you are in your own kitchen.

More than half of all home accidents are ankle sprains and foot injuries resulting from falls off ladders or slipping on waxed floors or stairs.

The study showed that most home accidents occur late in the day as a result of fatigue. The doctors state that, if women would wear the proper footwear around the home, accidents would be cut down. Rubber soles in contact with wet or highly polished asphalt rubber tile or linoleum floors may skid in the same way rubber tires skid on contact with wet highways. The doctors recommended a low-heeled walking shoe, with a broad heel, flexible leather soles and supporting leather uppers.

It seems that the closed toe is as important in the kitchen as steel capped safety shoes are in an industrial plant. Many a housewife has suffered a bruised or fractured toe when a can fell off the shelf.

A tired pair of feet can make you look and feel tired all over. Save your high heeled sandals for an occasion, never wear them for housework. Discard that worn pair of house slippers for the right kind of shoe.

If you have trouble with your arches, try exercise. Pick up marbles with your toes or stand up a bottle with your toes. You will feel the muscles pulling. Make sure your shoes and your stockings fit correctly.

He who would marry is on the road to repentance.—Philemon.

ABOUT YOUR LAWN AND GARDEN

Gardeners Need To Know Ways Of Water in Soil

An amateur gardener with a garden hose practices irrigation just as truly as a farmer who irrigates field crops. Both should understand the behavior of water in the soil.

Ideas about soil water are often vague, and likely to confuse the action of water in a lake or pond with that applied to the soil. There are few points of resemblance.

A Leaky Canvas Hose Serves as an Irrigation Ditch.

Water applied to the soil does not seek its own level. If the soil is dry, the soil particles attract water to themselves and hold it against the pull of gravity. Not until the water holding capacity of the top soil particles has been filled can additional water find its way to lower levels. There is never a substantial lateral movement of water in the soil.

It produces the best results with most garden plants.

If sufficient water is applied to dry soil to wet it to a depth of 4 inches, the soil below that will remain dry, and the top soil will dry from the top down. Root growth cannot be active below the moisture and thus even liberal watering may confine roots to this shallow level.

To tell when more water is needed an instrument called a tensiometer may be used, which measures the tension with which the soil particles hold water. When this tension at a certain depth is sufficient to prevent roots from feeding, the instrument shows it.

To send moisture 8 inches deep, almost twice as much water must be applied, sufficient to fill soil holding capacity to that depth. One way to make sure of deep irrigation is to turn the hose on after a good rain, providing water for soil deeper than the rain could reach.

Amateurs can keep informed about underground conditions by digging a hole in the vegetable garden, or a flower border adjoining the lawn, which receives the same amount of water. Dig this after watering, to determine the depth which has been reached by moisture, then fill it up. Keep the space clear so you can dig again, to see when the soil has dried down sufficiently and needs another soaking. A 6 to 8 inch depth at each soaking should be the minimum.

Soil holds its water with considerable tension, but roots exert a counter pull, and when the moisture is plentiful can take it away. But as the soil dries, its hold on moisture becomes stronger until the point is reached where the roots cannot take it.

This kind of irrigation can only be successful on well drained, porous soil. A porous soil allows both air and water to pass through it, after its water holding capacity has been filled. If the soil particles are so small and compacted that excess water cannot escape, air cannot enter, and plant roots which need oxygen are unable to function for lack of it, not even to take up the water which surrounds them. As a result the top growth may die of drought, while the roots are flooded with water.

As the top soil reaches this point roots will lengthen to find moisture at lower levels. The deeper the moisture, the longer the roots, enlarging the area over which the plant can obtain both food and water. This increases the vigor of the plant and its ability to withstand dry weather. It keeps lawns green in midsummer and makes flowers, fruit and vegetables grow faster and larger.

Water should be applied to the lawn and garden areas as evenly as possible. Use a sprinkler which spreads it slowly so there is no run off. Vegetables and

Good practice permits the water to dry down, rather than keeping the top soil constantly moist, so long roots are developed. But when drying has reached the half-way point, more water should be applied. Tests have shown that this practice flowers should be watered without wetting their leaves, if practical. Avoid allowing plant leaves to be wet at night, as this will spread disease.

A canvas hose, which leaks all along its length, is an excellent device for irrigating row crops, or borders, serving as a portable irrigation ditch.

Local Newsboys Win Trip to Washington

A four-day trip to Washington, D.C., with all expenses paid was won recently by three newsboys designated by the Detroit Free Press as its top subscription salesmen in Plymouth.

Awarded the trip were Donald Conover of 279 Blunk, Ronald Turbett, 600 Pacific, and John Hadwin, 472 North Holbrook. They were judged on the number of subscriptions sold since fall.

Among a group of 50 such winners, the local boys left June 9 by train for their tour of the nation's capital. The all-expense trip included transportation, sight-seeing throughout the city and hotel accommodations. The party returned by train to Michigan on Sunday.

Heat Bother You? Just Remember Ice Covered State

If you're bothered by summer's heat, it may be a relief to know that at one time a tremendous Ice Age glacier covered a large part of Michigan.

The last ice of that sort disappeared from this region only about 30,000 years ago, says Russell C. Hussey, professor of geology at the University of Michigan.

He even pin-points the front of the glacier enough to say that it stopped on the U of M campus right about where the Student Health Service and the Dental Buildings are now.

However, not a soul inhabited this region during the warm inter-glacial periods, he says, although other parts of the United States were occupied.

But tremendous elephants and mastodons did roam around Michigan then. The ancestral home of these creatures, many millions of years ago, was Africa, and they migrated to the United States by way of some old land bridge, which has since disappeared.

As a protection against the cold, the animals developed a layer of fat just beneath the skin, and on the outside a heavy layer of matted wool, and long, coarse, reddish-brown hair, Professor Hussey says.

The mastodon was especially common around Ann Arbor, and its bones have been found in many of the swamps and bogs near the city. These animals survived in Michigan long after the ice had melted from this region, and only a few thousand years ago they must have been a very common sight. The bones of the mastodon are frequently found showing marks made by the teeth of wolves or other predatory animals that were accustomed to feed upon the carcasses, states the geologist.

Complete bodies of the woolly elephant, similar to the ones that lived in Michigan, have been found frozen into the soil and ice of Siberia, where they have remained in cold storage for centuries, with the flesh preserved in such a fresh condition that dogs were able to eat it after the body had been exposed.

OUTDOOR NOTES

From The
MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Fourteen reported fires burned 15 acres of Michigan forests last week.

To date, 640 fires have damaged 3640 acres this year.

Michigan's muskrat take last winter was the lowest in at least 20 years.

About 13,500 trappers purchased licenses and 310,000 'rats' were taken. The previous record low was 344,000 'rats', taken in 1942. The record high take was 1,000,000 taken in 1943.

Conservation Department field workers said that pelt prices were low this year and trapper interest ebbed accordingly. Also, dry conditions on inland marshes made for poor trapping conditions.

Muskrat populations this spring have been high on Saginaw Bay, Lake St. Clair and Lake Erie marshes, but are still reported low on inland waters.

The Conservation Department is ordering 1,700,000 hunting licenses in anticipation of the coming fall seasons.

The order this year is about the same as last year.

About 1,200,000 of the licenses were sold last year and state workers anticipate little change from that total this year.

Michigan fishermen will watch the Conservation Department's musky rearing experiment with interest this year in hopes the big game fish can be established in various parts of the state.

But state fish workers are making no promises about turning Michigan into a musky-fishing paradise.

One of the biggest problems is that Michigan has so many pike. Pike and muskies are natural enemies and pike have an advantage in spawning dates. By the date in the spring when young muskies are just hatched, young pike and other predator fish are well started in life and eating everything small enough, including the tiny musky fry.

Also, proposed plantings in certain southern Michigan lakes will help answer other questions about the musky. Water temperatures, lakebed vegetation and animal life in waters where the musky will have to live will determine whether he can be established throughout the state.

Michigan already has fair musky fishing in a few places, such as the Indian River in Cheboygan county, Torch River in Antrim and Kalkaska counties, on Elk and Round Lakes in Antrim and Grand Traverse counties and on the "flats" of Lake St. Clair.

Last year, the department was unable to hatch more than a handful of muskies, none of which survived. This year, 400,000 have been hatched and are in

Search Fishing Site For Indian Remains

A public fishing site on the Thornapple and Grand Rivers 10 miles east of Grand Rapids will be probed in the near future for remains of an Indian campground and trading post believed to date from 500 B.C.

Michigan Archaeological Society President Edmund P. Gibson of Grand Rapids says Indians probably used the site from the Early Woodland period of 500 B. C. to about 1860.

Gibson says members of the Archaeological Society want to trench certain sections of the fishing site to look for the trading post, pottery and other remains. The Conservation Department approved the society's request, provided all antiquities be made part of some public museum.

Trenching is expected to be done this summer and will not interfere with normal fishing activity at the site.

rearing ponds at Wolf Lake and Drayton Plains hatcheries. If natural foods such as insects and water mites are abundant, a fair percentage of these will survive; otherwise only a small percentage will live through the summer.

But the state is well embarked on its program of finding out about the musky. With skill, patience and a certain amount of good luck, some of these hatchery fish will become established and provide angling in areas where they are now totally absent.

Plan Numerous C.D. Activities

A general Civil Defense meeting was held on Tuesday evening, June 7, at the Plymouth township hall. Leo Flowers conducted the meeting and appointed Robert F. Wilson as deputy director of schools for C.D., and Mrs. Helen Meyers and Ernest Koi as co-publicity chairmen. Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Tallian, Sr., are general deputy directors.

The purchase of air raid sirens, participation in the 4th of July celebration, the mock bomb attack scheduled for Plymouth on June 15 and 16 were discussed at this meeting. Mathew Zak's first aid class will cooperate with the C.D. unit to put on a demonstration at the 4th of July celebration. The American Legion was asked to furnish auxiliary policemen to help at the day's activities.

Present at the combined C.D. meeting held Thursday evening, June 9, at the township hall were official representatives of Plymouth, Plymouth township and Canton Center, as well as a number of citizens. The purchase and procurement of medicine and medical supplies were discussed. These supplies would be used to furnish the three care stations, St. John's Seminary, Plymouth high school, and Bird school. William Siebert, Wayne county coordinator of C.D., suggested that he obtain costs of these supplies and report back to this group at a future meeting. This action was agreed upon and the meeting was adjourned.

Mathew Zak's advanced first aid class will convene for its final meeting on Thursday evening, June 16, at the township hall at 7:30 p.m. These first aid classes work hand in hand with Civil Defense.

A C.D. representative will be making calls on homes in the township for the purpose of obtaining necessary information to coordinate plans in case of any emergency. Among the Parkview Circle Homeowners Association, Alfred Truax will be making the survey.

Quick-grown, young vegetables are the best, and only the home garden, where they may be harvested as needed, can provide them.

American Legion News

At our regular business meeting on Thursday evening, June 9, Melva Gardner acted as president in the absence of Marie Thompson. Congratulations to all new officers who were elected at the meeting. The nominating committee was composed of Gertrude Simonetti, Mildred Hower and Dorothy Knapp. Mrs. Knapp served as chairman of the committee. All committee chairmen gave their annual reports which proved very interesting. Refreshments were served after the meeting by Mrs. Mildred Hower.

President Marie Thompson accompanied her husband to Wisconsin to attend the funeral of Mr. Thompson's mother.

Twelve birthday cards, each with a dollar bill enclosed, were sent to veterans at Eastlawn and Maybury sanitariums whose birthdays occurred during the month of June.

Remember girls, our Apron Social, scheduled for June 25 has been cancelled in favor of a Joint Social to be held Wednesday, June 29, at the Veterans Community center. The delegates sent to Boys and Girls State will all be back and will attend this meeting and give a brief resume of their experiences. Invitations are being extended to the parents of these youngsters and chairmen of their sponsoring organizations to attend this meeting. Any organization interested in sponsoring a youngster in future years is also cordially invited to attend the meeting. Refreshments will be served.

Has Its Own Vocabulary!

Over the years there has come into being what amounts virtually to a special Cadillac vocabulary. Certain words and phrases have so long and so often been used in association with Cadillac that they almost automatically call the car to mind. When the talk is of motor cars, who can hear the word "prestige" without thinking of Cadillac? It is likewise true of "distinction" . . . of "luxury" . . . of "pride of ownership" . . . of "satisfaction" . . . of "comfort" . . . of "long life and dependability" . . . of "beauty" . . . of "impressiveness" . . . of "value" — and of dozens of other words used to denote superiority. In a sense, these are Cadillac words—and they actually sound strange when employed in any other connection. Even when used in the promotion of another automobile, they still suggest the "car of cars". Naturally, words like these can become inseparable only from a product which deserves them. In the case of Cadillac, it has taken half a century of the strictest adherence to the highest automotive standards to win this public approval. Eternal vigilance is the price of this reputation. Most people, of course, realize that these wonderful words apply to Cadillac. But too many have not yet personally found out why. If you are among these—come in and see us today. We will give you the keys to a new 1955 Cadillac—and you'll know in a single hour why Cadillac has its own vocabulary. You'll know, from personal experience, that when you speak of "prestige" and "distinction" and "luxury" and "pride of possession" and "value"—you are speaking of the Standard of the World. We have the keys—and the car—and a real welcome waiting for you.
