

AN ARCHITECT'S sketch of the proposed elementary school on Sheldon road is shown here. Drawn by Wheeler and Becker, Architects, the plans have been approved by the school board. The school differs from the three newest grade schools which have their classrooms in three wings. This type is called the "double-loaded corridor" type because rooms are located on both sides of a single corridor. Buses will load and unload at covered port on right.

Area Building in 6 Months Soars Over $1.5 Million

The actual construction figure of the city and township is $1,605,848, according to reports made by Ernest Ross, township building inspector, and Kenneth Way, city clerk-assessor.

Construction in the township is nearly double that in the city. Many of the new township homes are going into the several subdivisions which surround the city. The new plans for several new subdivisions in the city but no work has yet begun.

The largest permit issued in the township went to Pilgrim school, 104 permits of all kinds with a total estimated cost of $1,482,262. The largest permit in the city was estimated at $557,500.

Water Restriction Hailed A Success

The partial water restrictions asked by the city last Saturday were a complete success, City Engineer Stanley Besse said this week.

All water users were asked to not use water for lawns or washing clothes last Saturday while a valve was added to the main water line.

Water pressure did not slacken during the day, Besse said. Water in the towers was lowered from 20 feet to about 22 to 25 feet.

Commission Adopts Set-Back-Line Ordinance, Listens to Complaints

City commissioners gave their second and final reading Monday night to an ordinance which governs setback lines for all properties, heard complaints about stalling and model airplanes and approved an agreement with the school system to furnish water to the proposed school on Sheldon road.

The new ordinance "to protect and enforce building lines" is designed to "put teeth" into the master plan which requires buildings to be constructed a certain distance from the street lines.

The city fathers approved an agreement to lay a water main to the proposed Sheldon road school. The total cost of the project is $22,000, of which the city will pay $8,900 and the school $13,034.

At the high school, work is already underway to modernize the chemistry laboratory. It formerly could accommodate but 24 students. Its capacity will be increased to 32 through the use of more modern work tables.

Start 3 School Projects Costing Over $63,800

The new courts will be used for ice skating during the winter months. A number of trees will be removed for the parking lot construction which is being done by the Plymouth Paving company for a total of $12,208.

Wheeler and Becker, Architects, have drawn plans for both of these projects. A third large project has started behind the high school. The parking lot is being blacktopped.

The present tennis courts are being converted into parking space and four new courts will be built north of the present ones.

With the formation of a Plymouth chapter of the National Federation of Independent Businesses came the announcement this week of the appointment of Earl West as local chairman.

The announcement was made by George E. Mackey, district manager of the Federation. West operates the West Bros. Appliance store on South Main street.

Fourth Celebration Success Despite Heat, Storm Threat

Chamber to Begin 'Farmers' Market' Trial Monday

A "farmers' market" at which local vegetable and fruit growers will be able to sell directly to the consumer is being given a trial in Plymouth starting this Monday morning.

Promoted by the chamber of commerce, the market's location will be on a vacant lot bounded by South Main and Wines streets.

Edward Hart, executive secretary of the Chamber, stated that the market will be open each Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 8:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. The closing date for the season will be October 31.

This will be the first time that the farmers' market idea will be attempted in Plymouth, but it has met with success in the few communities where it has been attempted.

A grower who wishes to use a stand will need to pay a rental of 50 cents for each day he occupies, according to plans of the committee. Use of the market will be limited to growers in this area, the Chamber secretary pointed out.

Many farmers and growers find it difficult to get rid of their wares by setting up stands along the road. The market will provide an outlet directly to the consumer without keeping roadside stands open all day long.

Welcome Committee Foiled by Governor

While a delegation of 20 Chamber of Commerce and city officials, state and local police waited patiently at Mettetal airport Monday evening for the arrival of the plane of Governor Williams, the state's chief executive suddenly appeared at the Mayflower hotel.

Williams, who was making a close-schedule tour of the state's celebrations, landed at Willow Run airport instead of Mettetal. A state highway patrol car from the Ypsilanti post was called to the airport to take the governor to Plymouth. Meanwhile, a patrol car from the Redford post was waiting here.

When the governor arrived at the hotel, a phone call was made to Mettetal airport to inform the greeting party. Patrol cars and shiny convertibles beat a hasty trail back to the hotel where Williams and Lieutenant Governor Phil Hart were waiting for things to begin.

Jail Detroit Boys After Disturbance

Four Detroit youths have been released under $300 bond after being jailed Monday night on a number of charges. The four were:

Leon E. Foley, 16, of 17353 Stansbury; Norman VanRiper, 17, of 10677 Stansbury; Robert Wagoner, 18, of 15748 Stansbury; and Robert Ruff, 19, of 16680 Snowden.

Police said that the four were causing a disturbance at the Mapleway Dairy Drive-In by insulting the help. One allegedly used profane language over the loud-speaker system after owners called police. The four left and drove down Forest avenue. A beer bottle was thrown out of the car onto the street while a police car followed.

Patrolmen pursued the car down Ann Arbor trail to Pennington where another patrol car cut off the speeding vehicle. The boys face charges of possessing and buying beer and disorderly conduct and the driver will be charged with reckless driving.

Judges Pick Juanita Lee As '55 Miss Plymouth

Scorching hot and stormy weather seemed to have little effect on the attendance at Plymouth's Independence day celebration Monday as throngs watched a morning parade move down Main street, witnessed a dozen events in the afternoon and saw Juanita Lee as Miss Roberts Supply crowned Miss Plymouth of 1955.

School Opening Big Bond Sale Of $3,000,000

A $3,000,000 bond issue, the largest in the history of the school system, is being offered for sale by the board of education to prospective bidders. The notice of sale is being published in various publications to attract bidders. Bids will be opened at 8 p.m. on July 19.

Voters approved the $3,000,000 issue at a special election last spring. The money will go to the construction and equipping of two elementary buildings, a junior high, conversion of the present junior high into high school facilities and school sites. Six hundred and eighty-two voters went to the polls at the election and approved the issue with a five to one majority.

Three thousand bonds will be issued at $1,000 each. Numbers one through 655 maturing in the years 1956 to 1960 will not be subject to redemption prior to maturity. Bonds numbered 656 through 3,000 may be redeemed prior to maturity at the option of the school board. The last payment on the bonds is scheduled for 1973.

Out of the two dozen girls who were picked for the contest, Shirley Thom (Miss Box Boy), Nancy West (Miss Step & Show), Marjorie M. Johnson (Gladys), and Juanita Lee (Miss Gladys) and Miss Roberts were selected for the finals.

Pat Johnson, Miss Plymouth of 1954, crowned the new Miss Plymouth. The new queen was a member of the school board and presented with a number of gifts including a matched set of Saks' suitcases, a necklace, and a tiara to the Melody Club. She also received a tiara and Miss Roberts' sash.

A group from the Women's club, who have adopted a ward in the Mental hospital at Northville, and other volunteer groups, including the Gray Ladies, were guests on Ladies Day over TV last Wednesday.

Besides the appearance of TV personalities Bob Maxwell, Marjorie Bailey and Riekey, the Crown the crowd was introduced to Miss Martha Smith of Redford, Michigan's candidate in the Miss Universe contest, and Lieutenant Jack Conroy, the National Guard flyer who recently ate breakfast in California, lunch in New York and dinner in California on the same day.

Dr. J.M. Robinson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, introduced Lieutenant Governor Philip Hart and Governor Williams. The governor paid tribute to the forerunners "whose foresight set up this country of liberty." Also introduced were Leonard E. Wood, state representative from this area, and George Bowles of Plymouth, chairman of the state labor mediation board.

Some 475 people participated in the morning parade while the street temperature stood at 97 degrees. Chaired by Roy Rex, the parade included fire trucks from Plymouth and Canton townships and Plymouth city, various commercial trucks, floats entered by the summer playgrounds, business and industry, horses, old cars, farm machinery and the bathing beauties riding in convertibles.

First, second and third place prizes were given in seven classes in the horse-ransip contest. Over 50 horses appeared in the parade.

Fire Destroys Farm Buildings

Canton township firemen ate more than their usual share of smoke last week when they battled a $20,000 tavern blaze and large dump fire on Monday (reported in last week's Mail) and then barn and shed fires Wednesday.

The Canton foremen, aided by the Superior township department, fought a blaze at 2 p.m. Wednesday which destroyed a storage shed on the Stanley West farm, 703 Ridge road. The loss was estimated at $200.

As the fire trucks left the scene, Chief Max Markham of Superior township stopped and said that he thought he saw smoke coming from a barn owned by Henry Hauk, 801 Ridge road. Firemen investigated and found the barn ablaze inside. The Hauks had been watching the fire on the West farm.

With 500 bales of hay placed in the barn the day before, firemen were unable to extinguish the fire. The water tank truck from Plymouth township was dispatched to the scene. Destroyed along with the barn were a trailer, grain drill, and several thousand peck baskets. Loss was estimated at $4,000.

Canton fire department officials believed that a spark from the first fire started the second fire. A corncrib with about 4,000 bushels of corn located beside the burning barn was saved. Cause of the shed fire was not determined.

Advertising is not a racket, regardless of what some high pressure sellers of alleged publicity may tell you.

SOME BEACH

The Arab met an American tourist clad only in bathing trunks, plodding through the Sahara. "Where are you going, effendi?" asked the Arab? "For a swim," the American answered. "For a swim," echoed the Arab in astonishment. "But the ocean is a thousand miles from here." "A thousand miles?" gasped the American tourist. "Gee, this is sure some beach!"

TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT

One of the duties of a college administrative officer is to write letters of recommendation. Once one of these administrators was at a loss to know what to write concerning a doubtful applicant. A retired faculty member suggested that he write as follows: "Dear Sir: When you come to know the applicant as we know him, you will come to appreciate him as we appreciate him."

Without police protection there would be comparatively little civilization.

Thousands Enjoy Day-Long Fourth of July Celebration

THIS QUARTET OF CELEBRITIES are pictured in the lobby of the Mayflower hotel prior to the dinner there Monday evening. From left are: Lieutenant Jack Conroy, National Guard jet pilot who recently flew from California to New York and back again in record time; Michigan's Lieutenant Governor Phillip Hart; Governor C. Mennen Williams; and Michigan's entry in the Miss Universe beauty contest, Miss Martha Smith of Redford.

Plymouth's annual Fourth of July celebration proved again to be the biggest event of the year locally—for young and old alike. The whirl of activities kept The Mail photographer busy from the time of the downtown parade at 11:00 a.m. until the evening crowning of Miss Plymouth.

In most cases we were able to be at the "right place at the right time," but alas, the winning individual float escaped our lenses. It was a dandy, too! Manned by a tribe of young Davy Crockett enthusiasts beating tom-toms and paying tribute to their hero, the float was entered by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roberts of McKinley avenue.

Despite the 90-plus heat, thousands lined the streets to witness the parade, while an overflow crowd packed the stands and football field for the evening activities. All in all, it was a great contribution by the Chamber of Commerce and Robert Beyer's committee towards making the holiday weekend in Plymouth safer and more enjoyable.

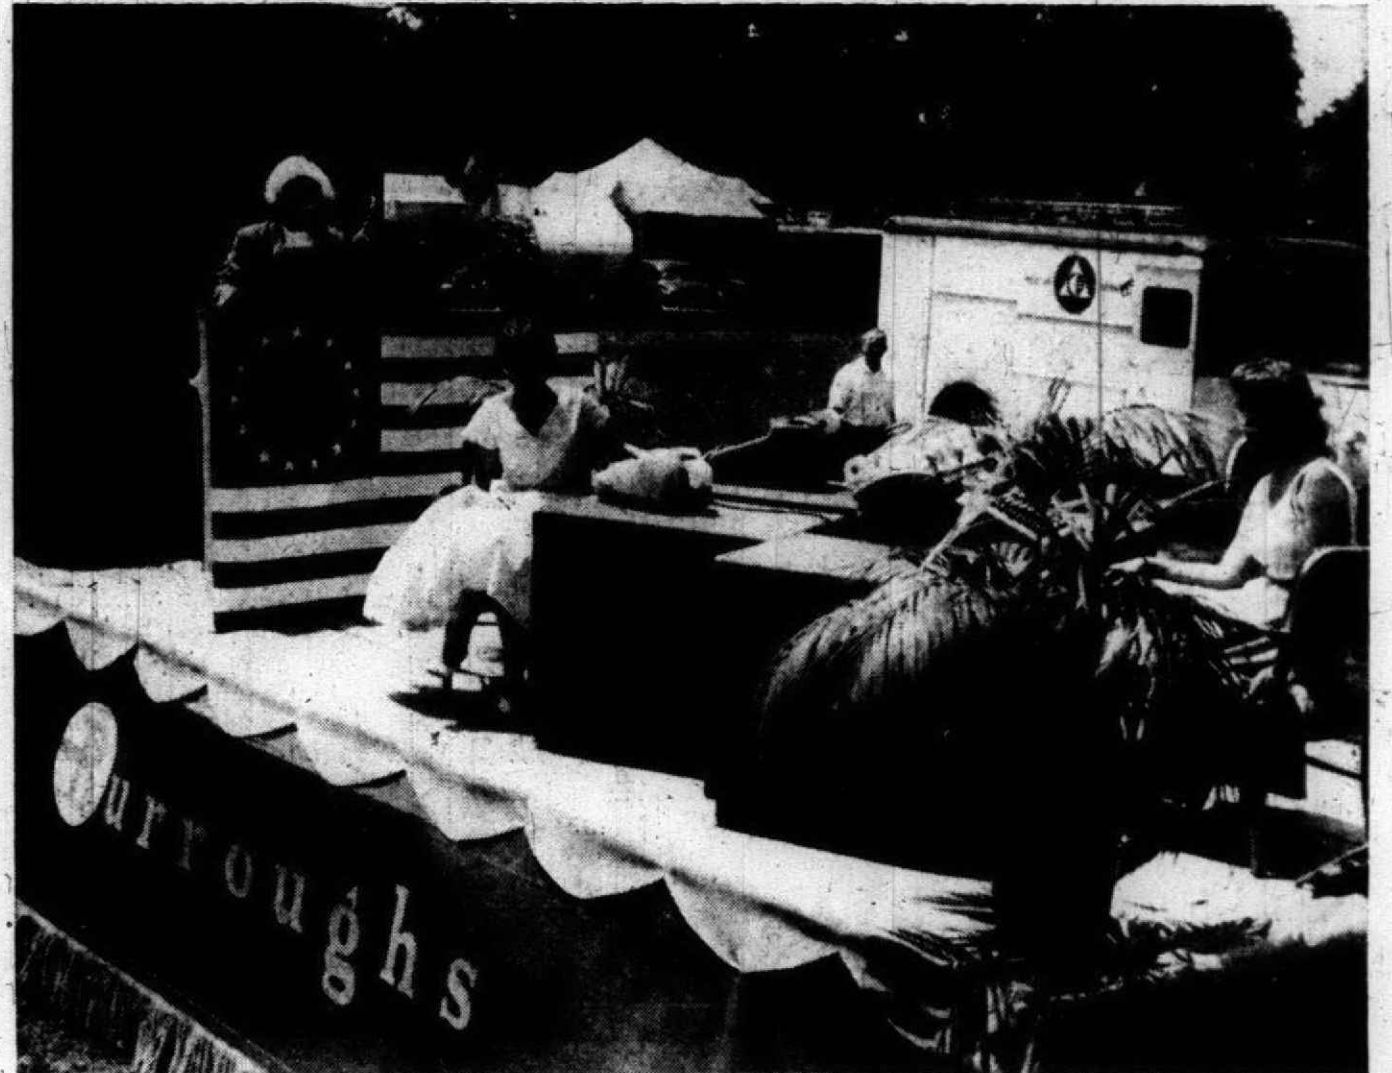

TOP PRIZE WINNERS in the kiddies' draw event Monday afternoon were these four youths that held lucky numbered tickets and took home with them three bicycles and a portable radio. The trio of first place winners, with their newly won bikes, are (from left) Laura Meisner, Myron Hopper and Vickie Kuivanen, while Marlene Bassett holds her second place prize, a Westinghouse portable radio.

AN UNRULY MOUNT and the soaring temperature caused tiny Patty Lickfeldt, entered in the morning's horse show, to clap her hand to her brow in youthful disgust. Although she failed to win a top award in the show, Patty did win her struggle for superiority with the horse.

THE BEST JUDGED commercial float in the Fourth of July parade was this entry from Burroughs corporation, which received the top honors in its class for being the most in the spirit of the day. As pictured the float portrayed both the signing of the Declaration of Independence along with exhibiting many Burroughs products.

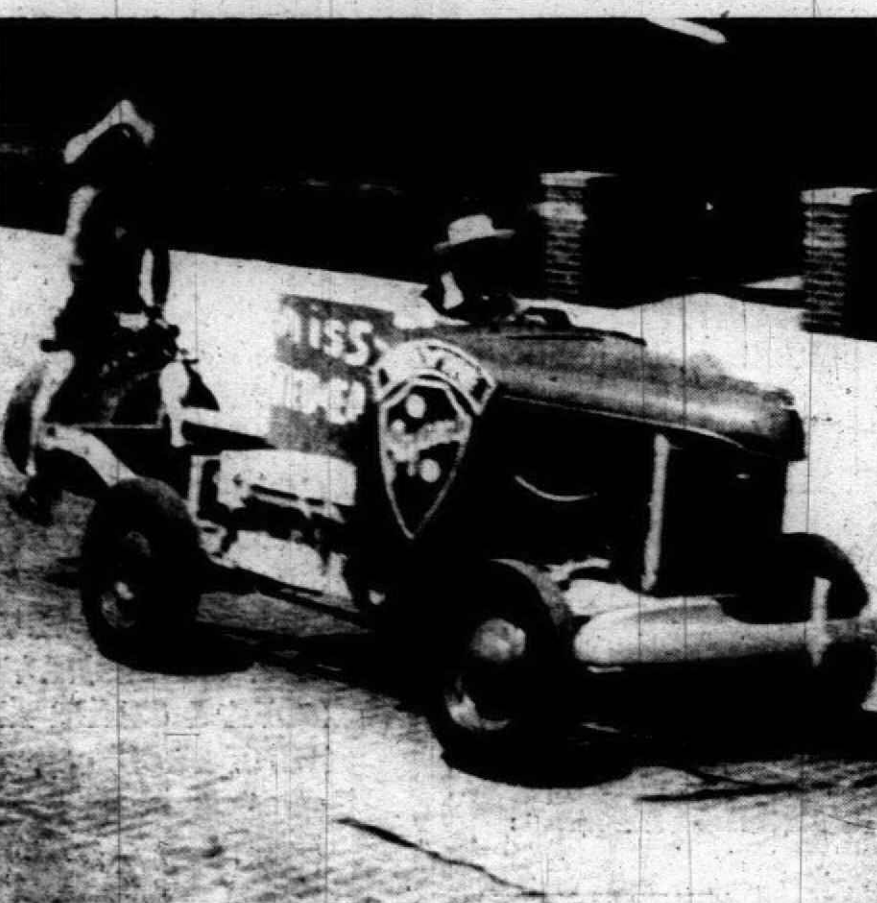

PLYMOUTH'S OLDER CITIZENS were perhaps taken back through the years as they viewed this 1900 model of the Oldsmobile automobile, entered by Beglinger Olds in the big parade. One of several antique autos that chugged down Main street Monday morning, this one held up under the rigors of the journey and was seen later in the day touring the rest of the city.

SECOND PLACE WINNING FLOAT in the commercial class was judged to be the Davis and Lent entry, pictured here. Third place went to local magician Roy Rew's entry, which had the dummy of a woman sawed in half and resting on the top of the float.

KIDDIE PRIZE WINNERS from the parade pose for The Mail photographer behind the high school Monday afternoon where Hollywood Cowboy David Laird (at right) gave out the awards. Prizes were handed out to those children with the prettiest costume, funniest costume, most original costume, prettiest bicycle and most original bicycle. With Laird is his famous horse Gray Spook.

THIS BUCKING BUGGY, entered by Ted and Earl's service station, amused parade watchers with its jumping and leaping antics during the big march through downtown Plymouth. Seated on the barrel is George Gorney, absorbing all the punishment that driver Perry Points can furnish with his wild maneuvering down Main street.

THESE YOUNGSTERS got a free ride in the parade atop the Johnson's Farm Service float, one of five commercial entries in the long march. A few of the youths rest on the straw stacks, while one tiny boy exhibits the usefulness of a tractor umbrella as shade from the hot sun.

HEADING UP THE parade was this group of Plymouth Junior Police—19 strong—complete with drum and bugle corps. Marching proudly the junior police, recently organized in this city, led the long parade down Main street and back of the high school for further festivities.

THESE FIVE YOUNGSTERS were part of a small skit presented at Allen playground last week as the first days of playground activities got underway. The play, presented by several boys and girls to the rest of the children at the playground, evolved around the theme of safety week. First of several various themes selected for the summer playground period by director Louise Cigile. Some of the children in the skit read the lines from books, while others acted out the parts on a small stage with the aid of rag dolls. From left are Rocky Davis, Kitty Eckstrom, Nancy Miller, Jill Dunlap and Dennis Tonkich.

Playgrounds Begin Activities With Elections, Relays, Games

Starkweather playground last week held its elections, picking as mayor for the summer Tony Hunt, with the councilmen to be Linda Park, John Park, Nancy Herter and Dennis Robertson.

In the events field Dennis Robertson copped the box hockey championship in a tournament last Thursday, which found Bonnie Hunt, Linda Park and Donna Cook as close runners-up.

Bean bag champs for the week were Tom Goodman, Sharon Stremich and Linda Park. The art exhibit included entries from Shirly Lee, Gary Glass, Tookie Dobus, Jerry Lee, Jack Ransom, Carol Glass, Phil Brewer, Tam Koszarski and Roseanne Rieder.

Action at the Bird school playground was held last week despite the rain that forced the contests and relays to be held in the school gymnasium. Bean bag champs were Kathy Mills, Stevie Bowles and Richard Brenneck. Carol Otwell won the musical chairs contest.

The "Cat Tails" relay squad, consisting of Frank Bowles, Bob Roberts, Virginia Fisser, Richard Brenneck and Linda Brenneck, won the running relay, while the "Blue Jays" team, made up of Kevin Huntington, Richard Brenneck, Sara Stout, Sandra Dale, Ann Mills and Carol Otwell, won the walking and the ball-between-the-legs relays.

The skipping relay was dominated by the "Robins" squad with Virginia Fisser, Clifford Caldwell, Frank Bowles, Stevie Bowles, Sue Kelley and Tom Donnelly as members on the team.

playground, raked the dry grass off the area.

A kool-aid party was held with four girls, Patricia Susa, Nancy Mettetal, Sherry Burton and Nancy Brehmer, serving the rest of the youngsters.

Officers elected at Allen playground last week were Kitty Eckstrom for Mayor and Terry Kat, Rocky Davis and Danny Hartford as junior police officers.

The first day the children had a kool-aid party and later presented a skit with a safety week theme. The skit consisted of sock dolls worked by some of the children on a small stage, while other children read the lines of the play from books.

Central playground elected junior police officers, Byron Brown and Tom Lock, and had a box croquet tourney which was won by John Gilles and Tom Bender in the 5-7 age group, Byron Brown in the 8-10 age group and Dave Fehlig and Jim Lockwood in the 11-13 age group.

At Smith playground dash winners last week were David Agnew, Craig Granger and Jack Vincent, while broad jump victors were David Agnew, Mike Kenyon and Jack Vincent.

The bean bag toss was won by Bitch Thomas, with Tom Garchow and Mike Kenyon as runners-up.

Fisher's Shoes Wins 4th in Row

In class "F" recreation baseball action last week, Fisher's Shoes ran its victory skein to four straight by virtue of two lopsided wins. The locals turned back Livonia Oil, 12-4, and stopped Northville, 10-1.

Despite 12 walks to Livonia batsmen the Fisher's squad had an easy road to victory as the local's moundsmen, Thompson and Wells, combined to shape a sparkling two-hitter. Fisher's padded their twirlers job with nine hits, included among which were a double and triple by Lon Hadwin.

Thompson started for the Fisher's nine and Wells relieved in the second frame to be credited with the victory, his first of the season. Losing pitcher was Toupin, who went all the way on the hill for the visitors.

Against Northville Fisher's Knipschild notched a fine one-hitter, striking out 16 on his way to the win. It was Knipschild's second decision of the season.

Urquhart and Hadwin were the big guns, both homering to pace the Fisher's nine hit attack. Goodrich was tagged with the loss for Northville.

In the Fourth of July contest staged behind the high school as part of the big week-end celebration, Fisher's erupted to a 5-0 lead over Cooper school from Livonia in a regular league game.

But this game was cut short at the end of three frames because of the storm warnings which preceded the afternoon rains. The game will be completed later in the season.

The Eisenhower Administration may have to go to Congress for an additional $2,000,000,000 appropriation this year for farm price supports because of huge surpluses.

Oldtimers Erupt in Softball League To Score 54 Runs in Three Contests

The pitchers in the class "B" league were treated harshly by opposing batsmen throughout the three games recorded in the loop's battling last week.

The six different ball clubs combined to score 54 runs on 72 hits with Northville whipping Barnes-Gibson-Raymond, 9-3, Independents trouncing Wall Wire 13-5, and Begingers edging Plymouth Stamping, 13-11.

Kicking off the wild hitting and scoring spree last week, Northville VFW was out-slugged 11 hits to seven by BGR, but still the Northville team managed an easy 9-3 decision. Ash paced the winners with a double and a single while Clark, with three singles, led the losers at the plate.

Winning hurler was Atchinson while Sparks was tagged with the loss for BGR.

The Independents slammed out 14 hits to tally 13 runs against Wall Wire and eke out an easy 13-5 win. Weage absorbed the loss for Wall Wire while the victory went to Villerot on the mound for the Independents.

A home run, two doubles and a single off the booming bat of the Independents' Dickerson was the big difference as he paced the winner's attack from the plate. Cowal contributed two singles and a double in a losing cause.

In a close, hard-fought battle Begingers managed a tight 13-11 decision over Plymouth Stamping, who rose up in the last three innings and scored nine runs in a futile rally.

While Plymouth Stamping was counting nine runs, the Oldsmen were off-setting this uprising with five of their own to insure the victory.

Sand-Lotters Split In Tri-City League

In Tri-City league action last week the Plymouth Merchants' sandlot baseball team broke even in two contests, with the one win being the local's first victory in more than two weeks.

The victory came over Hargraves Wednesday, June 29, when the Merchants hung on to card a slender 4-3 decision. Last Friday evening the locals were edged, 5-4, by Ellsworth, who last Sunday tripped up the Merchants, 4-0 in Inter-county league competition.

D & L Decisions Clarenceville, 8-5

Davis and Lent decided Clarenceville, 8-5, last week behind the four-hit hurling of Robert Jenkins to notch its third straight win in class "E" recreation baseball.

John Thomas' three singles paced the local's attack at the plate which performed smoothly enough to push across three runs in the first frame and five more in the third thereby carding the win.

Davis and Lent committed three errors in the fourth inning allowing four of the five Clarenceville runs to come across. The four hits that the visitors managed off Jenkins were a triple, double and two singles. Losing pitcher was Kuza for Northville.

Merchants Suffer Poor Week-end as Ellsworth, Wallaceville Hand Locals Pair of Defeats

The Fourth of July week-end held no gala festivities for the Plymouth Merchants' sandlot baseball team. The locals suffered a pair of decisive losses in Inter-County league action Sunday and Monday and thereby slipped deeper into the loop's second division.

Ralph Ellsworth's entry in the league white-washed the Merchants, 4-0, Sunday, as the locals could muster only five singles. Then on Monday Wallaceville trimmed the Merchants in a wild slugfest, 12-7.

The pair of losses to the locals brought their season record to four wins and six losses and pushed the Merchants into seventh place on the ladder of league standings.

Ellsworth in the holiday week-end opener pounded out 12 hits off the hurling of the Merchants' Eddie Hock. Ellsworth coasted to the win when Hock's teammates could only garner five singles at the plate.

Hock went the route on the mound for the locals despite the pummeling the Ellsworth squad handed him. Tagged with the loss, he fanned six and walked two.

McIntyre was the winner for Ellsworth, going all the way and allowing a pair of singles each to Merchants' Fritzie Kessler and Shoner and one lone single to Harold Williams. McIntyre struck out nine and walked none.

Ellsworth scored two runs on a homer, which turned out to be not a homer, by Warmas in the fourth with two men on the base paths. Actually Warmas' circuit clout was nullified and he was credited with only a single when he failed to touch second base.

In the fifth the Ellsworth nine added a pair of insurance runs when they strung together five straight singles. The fourth and fifth innings were the only frames where Hock was in difficulty and still he managed to weather the storms in fairly good shape.

Merchants engaged in a slugging duel Monday against the Wallaceville entry, when the two teams combined to slam out 35 hits and score 19 runs. Wallaceville earned a 12-7 edge.

In a battle interrupted by showers, the Merchants sent three hurlers to the mound. Seidl got things under way and was relieved by Runge in the fifth, with Basset coming on the scene in the seventh. Runge was credited with the loss.

Orloske twirled until the seventh for the Wallaceville team, at which time Shepherd came on to earn the victory when his teammates erupted with three runs in their half of that frame.

Dewulf paced the Merchants at the plate with three singles in five trips, while Wallaceville's Byberg slammed out four hits and drove in five runs.

Pitching for the locals was kicked off by Seidl who gave up seven hits, four walks and seven runs. Runge came on in the fifth and allowed six hits and three runs. Basset relieved Runge in the seventh and was credited with seven hits and two runs.

Merchants had built up a 5-3 lead in the first three innings, when Wallaceville erupted for four scores in the fifth and three more in the seventh to notch the win.

Sunday the Merchants met Lincoln Park on the Riverside park diamond. Game time is 3:00 p.m.

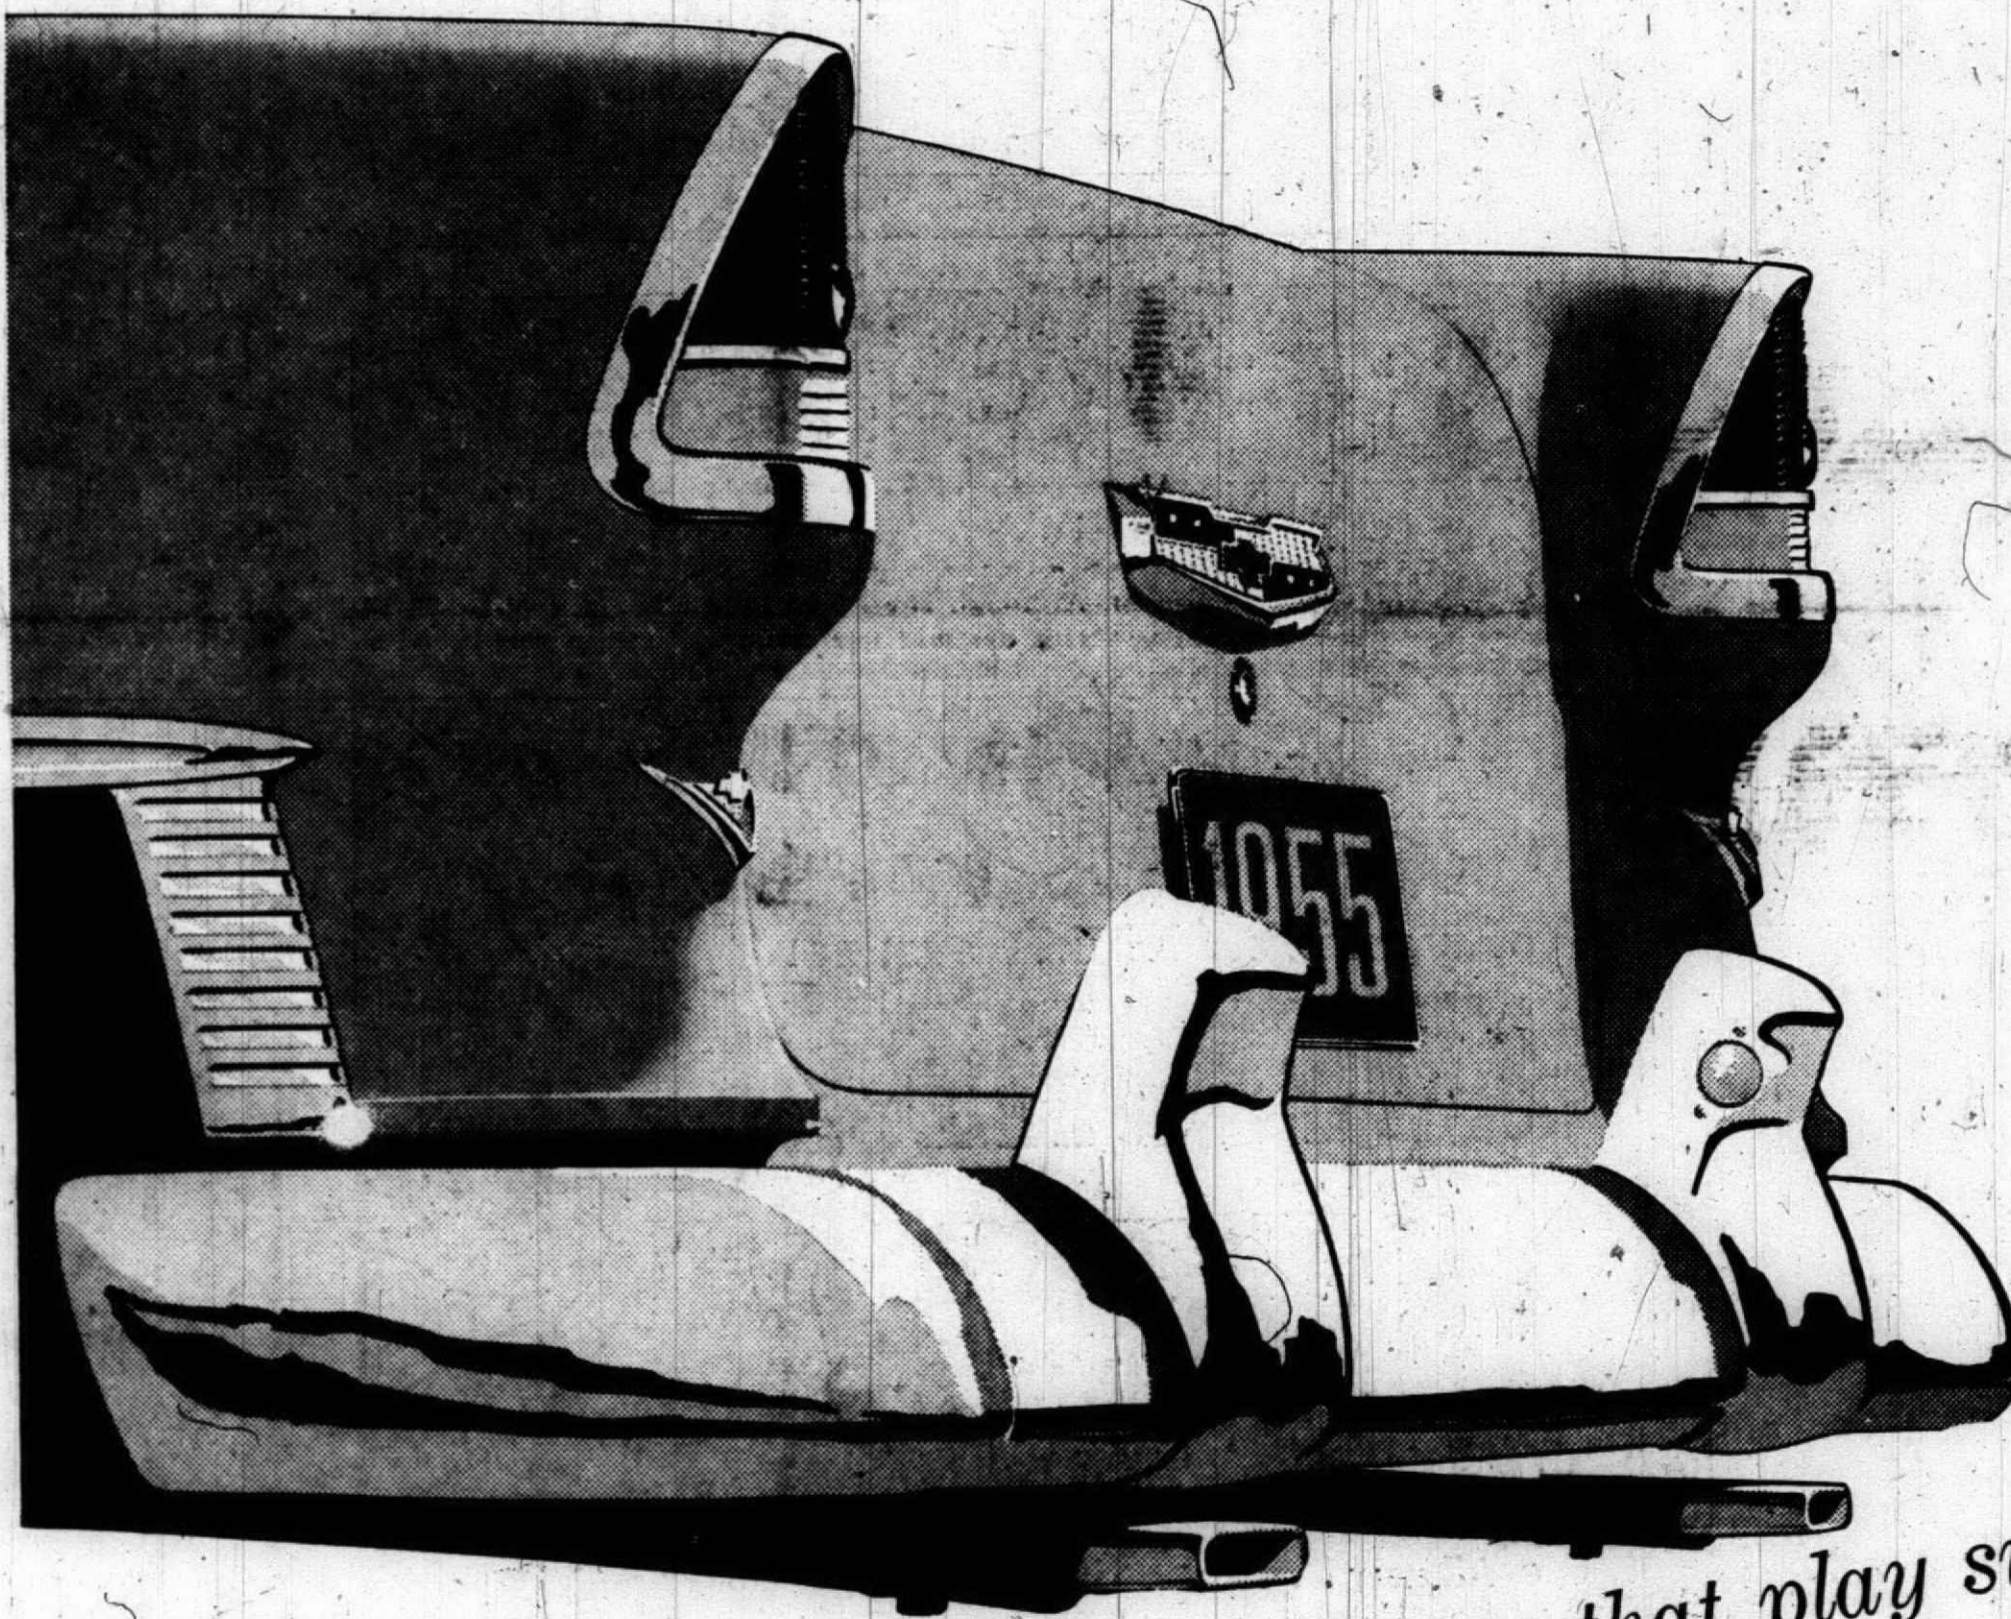

Intermediate Swimmers Offered Instruction

A recreation swimming class for intermediate swimmers, anyone who can swim or has his Red Cross beginner's card, will start July 18 and last through four weeks of instruction, it was announced recently.

To register for this class, which is for both boys and girls and will be held each week day between the hours of 11 and noon, youngsters are requested to apply in person at the swimming pool. There is no fee for the class.

Taught by high school swimming coach John McFall, the class is large enough to handle 55 boys and girls. McFall asked that enrollees in the class be sure to attend each meeting during the four week course, unless it is absolutely necessary for the student to stay away.

Wings to Improve Adams Tells Kiwanis

"The Red Wings of next year will be twenty-five per cent stronger than last year's team." This was the promise of the man who should know, Detroit Red Wing Hockey Manager Jack Adams.

The veteran sports figure made his prediction to the Plymouth Kiwanis club at its regular meeting at the Mayflower hotel Tuesday evening. Before showing films of last year's playoff games during which the Red Wings won the Stanley Cup, Adams explained that it was the Detroit management's policy to strive for youth on its teams. "We like to maintain an average of about 23 to 24 years of age on our teams," he stated. Despite the trading away of Terry Sawchuck, the league's top goalie, Adams predicted better things for the Detroit club next year.

Adams' appearance was sponsored by the Stroh's Brewing company and he was introduced by Program Chairman Ed Campbell.

Wayne Dunlaps Relate Family Experiences Following Year's Study in Vienna, Austria

Peanut butter, baked beans and similar American fare were never more appreciated than they are today by the Wayne Dunlaps of 676 Burroughs after being without these common grocery items for close to a year.

However, the conductor of the Plymouth symphony orchestra and his family agree that spending nine months on the European continent far outweighs the lack of such ingredients of the American diet in terms of their experiences and knowledge gained while abroad.

A Fulbright grant awarded Dunlap last fall enabled him to take his wife and two young children with him for a year's study at the Royal Academy in Vienna, Austria. The family left September 27 and returned to their Plymouth home on June 23.

Dunlap's purpose was to absorb the style and spirit of German symphonic music at its source — Vienna. There he was able to examine the original scores of such masters as Beethoven, Gluck, Hayden, Mozart, Strauss, etc., and to visit their birthplaces in the area surrounding Vienna.

Through a friend he was able to secure an orchestra of his own which he conducted in two concert presentations in Linz, Austria and another in Vienna. The experience with the orchestra proved valuable since its members, all Austrian, still played the famous compositions almost as they had been originally written.

While picking up some of Vienna's musical culture, Dunlap at the same time managed to introduce a group of Austrians to vocal renditions of American folksongs at the U. S. Information center in the Austrian capital.

Mrs. Dunlap, who had studied ballet in New York and taught similar classes at Texas Christian University, also enrolled at the Academy to observe the techniques of the various Austrian dance forms.

Popular with the Dunlaps' two youngsters, David, 5, and Mary Beth, 3, was the kindergarten in Vienna which children attend as soon as they can walk. An all-day affair, the school offered a second breakfast, noon meal and afternoon snack, interspersed with the making of all their own toys, party decorations, etc., at a low cost of $2.25 a week for both children.

David made the trip to the kindergarten dressed like the other Austrian children — in "lederhosen." These little leather trousers are never washed, last indefinitely, and are customarily handed down from generation to generation. Another routine of interest to the young Dunlaps was the practice of removing their shoes at the school door and spending the rest of the day walking about in slipper soles.

Because both operas and orchestras are subsidized by Austria's socialist government, the Dunlaps found it inexpensive to attend performances at Vienna's two opera houses or the hundreds of concert presentations that went on each night. To hear any one of Europe's great artists would cost no more than 16 for the cheapest seat and $1 for the best.

Prices in Austria varied. Maids and baby-sitters could be had for 20 cents an hour, furniture, leather and handicraft items were comparatively cheap, but food averaged about what it did in America.

Lack of supermarkets and refrigerators made the grocery shopping a daily routine. In Austria all food is sold in separate stores so that consumers must make eight or ten stops before completing their grocery list. Paper sacks are unavailable and each shopper provides her own means of transporting the food home.

When it came to medicine, the Dunlaps found that various shots given children as a matter of course in the States were difficult to secure in Austria. Healthwise, the Austrians adhere more to the theory of building up one's resistance to disease rather than the use of preventative medicines. In terms of the medical field as a whole, the Dunlaps felt that Austria was possibly ten years behind us due to the war years when research was brought to a standstill and many of Austria's best doctors forced to flee to other countries.

As far as life behind the Iron Curtain went, the Dunlaps were almost unaware of it in their trips through the Russian sector. Russian soldiers could be seen at their officers' clubs, but by and large kept pretty much to themselves. They were extremely unpopular with the Austrian people who showed considerable fear of them.

The reason was all the more evident to the Dunlaps whose Vienna home bore marks of its three-year occupation by Russian soldiers. Wondering why their furniture was so battered and what caused the odd hole in the mantel clock, the landlady replied that the Russians had jokingly shot at her, intentionally missing their target.

Along with 18th century Meissen china and countless other items, perhaps the biggest "souvenir" of their year abroad could be considered the Volkswagen which the Dunlaps bought in Germany and later toured Italy, Switzerland and France.

Dunlap also brought back a number of musical scores, including parts for the Plymouth symphony orchestra. When the symphony season starts this fall he hopes to introduce some of the lesser-known works of Johann Strauss and other famous composers.

Looking ahead to the family concert in January he plans to include on the program a demonstration of music he heard while in Austria, particularly those of the peasant bands and compositions heard in the inns.

In this way he hopes to share with Plymouth some of his experiences and knowledge gained during his year in Austria.

The nerve of the borrowers is exceeded at times only by the faith of the lenders.

Q. How many fingerprints are on file at Federal Bureau of Investigation headquarters?
A. As of April 11, 1954 — more than a year ago — there were 130,460,252 fingerprint cards on file with the F.B.I. Identification Division. When J. Edgar Hoover took office in 1924, there was no centralized fingerprint collection. One of his first moves was to bring together the collection housed at Fort Leavenworth by the Federal Government and the fingerprints being maintained by the International Association of Police Chiefs in Washington. Starting with a nucleus of slightly more than 810 fingerprints, the file contained 10,000,000 prints by 1939.

Q. What is the fee for registering a "trade mark"?
A. The fee for the original application is $25, and for renewals, $25, with lesser fees for corrections, amendments, abstracts of title and other services. Trade marks are registered for 20 years and may be renewed for period of 20 years if still in use in commerce regulated by Congress, unless previously cancelled or surrendered. A trade mark is defined by Act of Congress as "any word, name, symbol, or device, or any combination thereof, adopted and used by a manufacturer or merchant to identify his goods and distinguish them from those manufactured or sold by others."

Q. Who wrote "The American Creed"?
A. It was written by William Tyler Page, Clerk of the U. S. House of Representatives in 1917, an adopted and promulgated by the Government's Committee on Publication. Accepted by the House of Representatives on behalf of the American people, April 3, 1948.

Conservation Department Offers Few Changes In Game Hunt Laws

The Conservation Department has recommended little change in small game hunting regulations for this fall.

Reduced bag limits on ruffed grouse, prairie chickens and sharp-tails are about the most important changes being considered.

The Conservation Commission will study the Department's recommendations when it meets July 6-7 at Higgins Lake training school.

If the Commission goes along with Department recommendations, bag limits on grouse will be reduced from five per day, 10 in possession and 25 for the season to three per day, six in possession and 15 for the season.

Regulations on rabbits, hares, muskrats and raccoons would be the same as last year. Last year's regulations on fox and gray squirrels, skunks, badgers, oppos-sums and mink would also stand for this year.

Beaver Island would be closed to woodchuck hunting, otherwise the season would be the same. Pheasant hunting rules stand substantially unchanged, with the usual season dates and bag limits recommended. No change in daily hunting hours is recommended.

A small area in northeast Chippewa county would be closed to protect prairie chickens, but apart from that, season dates and open areas would coincide with last year.

Deer regulations probably will not be discussed until the August meeting.

The federal government will set up the framework of regulations on ducks, geese and other migratory waterfowl later in July, so little discussion is expected at this meeting.

ORDINANCE No. 193

AN ORDINANCE TO PROTECT AND ENFORCE BUILDING LINES ESTABLISHED BY ANY MASTER PLAN OR ADOPTED PLAT, TO PROVIDE FOR APPEALS AND TO PROVIDE REMEDIES FOR VIOLATION OF SUCH ORDINANCE.

THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

Section 1. For the purpose of accomplishing a coordinated, adjusted and harmonious development of the municipality and its environs which will, in accordance with present and future needs, best promote health, safety, morals, order, convenience, prosperity, and general welfare, as well as efficiency and economy in the process of development; including among other things, adequate provision for traffic, the promotion of safety from fire and other dangers, adequate provision for light and air, the promotion of the healthful and convenient distribution of population, the promotion of good civic design and arrangement, wise and efficient expenditure of public funds, and the adequate provision of public utilities and other public requirements, no permit shall be issued for, and no building or structure or part thereof shall be erected on any land located within the proposed future outside lines of any new, extended or widened street, avenue, place or other public way, or of any park, playground or other public grounds or extension thereof shown on any master plan or adopted plat.

Section 2. The Board of Appeals on Zoning, created by Ordinance No. 182, Zoning Ordinance of the City of Plymouth shall have the power on appeal filed with it by the owner of such land to authorize the granting of a permit for and the erection of a building, or structure, or part thereof, within the lines of any such mapped street, park, playground, or other public ground in any case in which such board finds, upon the evidence and arguments presented to it on such appeal, (a) that the entire property of the appellant located in whole, or in part, within the lines of such mapped street, park, playground, or other public ground cannot yield a reasonable return to the owner unless such permit be granted, and (b) that, balancing the interest of the municipality in preserving the integrity of the adopted map, and the interest of the owner of the property in the use and benefits of his property, the granting of such permit is required by considerations of justice and equity. Before taking any such action, the board of appeals shall hold a public hearing thereon, at least 10 days' notice of the time and place of which shall be given to the appellant by mail at the address specified by the appellant in his appeal petition. In the event that the board of appeals decides to authorize a building permit and erection, it shall have the power to specify the exact location, ground area, height, and other details and conditions of size, character and construction, and also the duration of the building, structure, or part thereof to be permitted. Fees on appeal and procedure by said board shall be as provided in said ordinance insofar as applicable.

Section 3. Compliance with the outside lines or set-back lines established by any master plan or adopted plat may be enforced by proceedings for injunction, prohibitory or mandatory, and the same shall be deemed a cumulative remedy and not a bar to prosecution under any other ordinance.

Section 4. This ordinance shall become operative and effective on the 28th day of July, 1955.

Made, passed and adopted this 5th day of July, 1955.

 most of which competed in the contest. Prize winners were: Junior class, nine years and under: Cindy Hull, first; Lauren Campbell, second; Ginny Franklin, third. 4-H class: Jim Magraw, first; Bob Franklin, second; Sharlene Moers, third.

 Parade class: Gus Habitz, first; Pat Frazer, second; William Woehly, third. Pony class: Lowell Dunn, first; Dennis Dunn, second; Nellie Dunn, third.
 The judge was Chester A. Mendez of Farmington. Robert Waldecker was chairman of the horse show. Presenting the prizes was David Laird, Hollywood horsemanship instructor, who also gave a show during the afternoon.
 Bird elementary school playground children were awarded first prize in the children's float contest conducted by the Recreation Department. Second prize went to Green Meadows; third, Allen school; fourth, Starkweather school; fifth, Central school; sixth, Smith school.
 Dressed as a Japanese girl, Jeanne Keller won first prize in the prettiest costume competition. Second was Cynthia Allen (trapeze girl and third was Lisa Christy Miss Liberty).
 The Funniest costume award went to Larry Albright (fire cracker); second prize was Dennis Keller (Tom Sawyer); third, Diane Daja (Rickey the Clown).
 Most original costume: Dick Lorenz (Liberty Bell); Marcie Woolweaver and Karen McGinas (King and Queen of Hearts) and Carol Lee, Overholt (hula girl).
 Prettiest bike, Krisam Fluckey, first; second, Bill Henry; third, Jeanne Russell.
 Most original bike: first, Kirk Lorenz; second, Jerry Hoelt; third, Ronny Ocault.
 Burroughs corporation entered the winning float in the parade, followed by Davis & Lent and Rew the Magician. A prize for the best independent float went to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roberts whose wagonload of children depicted Davey Crockett and a bunch of wild frontiersmen.
 Three bicycles were awarded during the kiddies draw event in the afternoon. They went to Vickie Kuivanen, Myron Hopper and Laura Meisner. A portable radio was won by Marlene Bassett. Other prizes, all furnished by the Chamber of Commerce, went to: Rods and reels, Duane Cornell and Lynn Livingston; table tennis set, John Parmenter; 10 theatre tickets, Tommy Roberts; archery set, Susan Bassett; badminton set, Cynthia McClaren; school sweater, John Williams; two season tickets for school swimming pool, Elizabeth Collier; swim fins and mask, Bonnie Gibson.

 The storm which blew up at 3 o'clock closed down the carnival for a while. Strong winds made it necessary for the carnival people to close up their tents and lash them securely. Only a small amount of rain fell and the weather cleared into a cool evening.
 The Civil Defense portion of the evening show gave the public an insight into the needs of getting ready for H-bomb attack. Low flying planes simulated an attack and two fires broke out. Fire trucks and an ambulance rushed to the scene while the first aid crew gave medical care to a "casualty". The Plymouth Township Civil Defense unit also provided a first aid station and members aided in handling the crowds.
 The Ted Cavanaugh quartet provided music during the evening show. Came time for the band to provide background music for the bathing beauty contest, the quartet couldn't be found. They were discovered in the high school rehearsing with vocalists Maureen Bailey, MC Bob Maxwell kept things going, however, despite the lack of a band. Rickie the Clown and his garbage can full of tricks were a delight for the youngsters.
 Selfridge field jets buzzed Plymouth for 15 minutes during the afternoon and shook the city with their speed. Most folks mistakenly thought the jets had just lost their way to the air show at nearby Wayne, Major airport.
 Some real fancy diving was seen by a capacity crowd at the high school swimming pool. Three Detroit high school diving champs and a National AAU star showed about every dive in the book.
 A half hour of fireworks starting at 10 o'clock ended the program. Although thousands were in the stands or stood along on the athletic field, perhaps thousands more sat in cars or on the lawns of their homes watching the aerial display.
 Although there were no known casualties because of the sun, two of the top officials of the day felt ill effects. They were Bob Beyer, general chairman, and Edward Hart, the Chamber secretary.
 At least 20 manufacturing companies today cater to the educated appetites of U. S. household pets. Dog food alone marked up $200 million sales in 1953.

Historical Society Visits Landmarks of Plymouth

A 1900 Olds driven by Ray Thompson was the escort car for an entourage of 40 members from the Plymouth Historical Society on their recent tour of landmarks famous in the annals of the city and surrounding area.
 First stop was the Newburg cemetery, where one of the two Revolutionary soldiers buried there, Salmon Kingsley, Jr., was an ancestor of Mrs. Ada Murray, present member of the Historical Society. Kingsley's son, Joseph, who fought in the War of 1812, was also buried there.
 The group next visited the old cemetery located at the end of Pearl street, which was formerly used as the sacred burial ground by the Indians of this locality. The cemetery was founded June 19, 1845 on an acre of land bought from Bethuel Noyes, first village president, and was taken over by the city on August 18, 1931.
 It was here that Indian chiefs conducted worship some 120 years ago. Henry Holbrook, who bought the village of Plymouth, and a Mr. Schoolcraft saw the stone altar before which the Indians used to meet.
 Many Plymouth settlers were buried in the Pearl street cemetery as well as soldiers who fought in the Black Hawk War and others from the military company that was established in Plymouth in 1827. Names famous in Plymouth's history which have been attached to its streets and landmarks may be found on the old gravestones. Among these are the ancestors of Karl Starkweather, who came here in 1814 from Livingston county, New York. Starkweather is a member of the local Society.
 The last stop on the tour was made at the Wilcox house, site of the old Wilcox Mill. The home, well over 100 years old, is presently owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Guenther. The original house remains intact although the Guenthers have modernized and added onto the dwelling.
 Afterwards the group returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Todd for a potluck supper. Celebrated at that time were the birthdays of Grace Brown, former president of the Society, Clara Todd and Margaret Dunning.
 Mrs. Katharine Todd and Leonard Millross were in charge of the tour. Last year the group visited the Detroit museum but hopes to make the Plymouth tour an annual event.

Commission Adopts not proper advertising. Monday night's hearing brought only one protest. It was from Ralph Lorenz, Mayflower hotel manager.

 The hotel is one of the properties affected by the alley assessment. Lorenz objected to the fact that abutting owners had to pay the entire cost. He also said that former commissioners had in mind to turn the alley route beside Cloverdale's dairy to Forest avenue instead of building it straight through to Ann Arbor trail. Despite his protests, commissioners approved both assessments.
 City Manager Albert Glassford read a communication from the Wayne County Health Department. It asked that they be notified when carnivals come to town so that health officials can check for proper sanitation.
 Commissioners heard a report on the Michigan Personnel Service's survey on salaries of city employees. Although commissioners did nothing with the survey Monday night, they voted to allow policemen overtime pay for their extra work performed in recent weeks. Policemen, it was pointed out, have been placed on extra duty to check the Forest avenue juvenile situation and have worked at special events.
 Mayor Pro-tem Ernest Henry presided at the meeting while Mayor Russell Daane vacations.

H. V. KALTENBORN, well-known lecturer, once told me that if a salesman only realized what a laugh, or even a smile, could do for him he could double his sales. And he spoke from a wealth of experience—and from the depths of his heart, as he recalled when a laugh and not a sales-talk made sales for him.
 As a young man, he was in Paris where he wanted to stay—at least for a time. But he was definitely up against it for he had no money. Being in France and without money is not an enviable position. But he had one advantage that could counter-balance those two disadvantages: Determination.
 He was determined to find a way to stay in France a little longer. So he pawned his camera and advertised for a job. "Any kind of job," the advertisement ran. After a day or two came a reply. A firm selling stereoscopes wanted a salesman—on a commission basis!
 So if H. V. Kaltenborn took that job and collected any revenue he had to make sales. To whom was he supposed to sell? Why, to the French housewives whose doorbells he rang. And beyond a few tourist expressions, he could speak no French. But he wrote out a sales talk in English and got a friend to translate it into French. Then he started on his rounds. The very first day he learned the value of a laugh. When a French Madame opened the door, he began his spiel. She gasped, looked at him, and laughed. He laughed, too. And they sorta got to like each other over that laugh. Then he showed his stereoscope. She hesitated but she bought! So did several other French housewives.
 Since Mr. Kaltenborn could economize, he stayed in France until he was ready to go home.

Caught Taking Gasoline

Two boys, ages 17 and 16, were apprehended while syphoning gasoline on Wednesday night of last week. John Fouyrousse, 17, of 6394 Rosemont, Detroit, was jailed overnight while his 16-year-old companion was released to his parents.
 Police received a call from an Auburn avenue resident at 11:45 p.m. stating that two suspicious men had parked their car and walked up the street. Officers arrived as the syphoning was going on.
 The jailed youth is being charged with petty larceny under the disorderly persons ordinance. His companion is still a juvenile.

 Stop worrying about what your neighbor does and you might be able to take better care of yourself.

If so, then the way will grow brighter 'unto the perfect day.' Your fruits will prove what the understanding of God brings to man" (496: 9 Ask-14).
 The Golden Text is from Leviticus (19:2): "Speak unto all the congregation of the children of Israel, and say unto them, Ye shall be holy: for I the Lord your God am holy."

 Highlighting the youth crusade will be special, colored movie films shown by the Reverend Mel Jennings, speaker for the crusade. The films show the life of the youth of the Philippine Islands, in Manila the capital city and in the various areas of the island of Luzon. All films were photographed by Jennings who served in the Pacific as an Army chaplain during World War II and for some time following the close of the Pacific campaign.
 The evangelist, Reverend Jennings, will also be singing nightly and playing his golden-tone saxophone.
 The crusade meetings continue nightly at 7:45, except Saturday and Monday nights, through July 17.
 The public is cordially invited to attend the crusade.

Veterans of Foreign Wars

Our Post members participated in the Civil Defense program executed at the Fourth of July celebration in town. Thanks to all who attended and took part in this demonstration!
 Our Legislative chairman, Kay Coolman, reports that there are many important legislative programs before congress in regard to our veterans and their benefits. The following three bills have been proposed:
 1. In regard to dental care the veteran is entitled to outpatient care within a year following his discharge.
 2. A bill authorizing loans on farm homes the same as loans available on residential houses.
 3. A proposal to extend the two-year period during which disabled veterans may receive financial assistance, particularly those requiring specially-equipped automobiles as a result of war-injuries.

Also a survey in our locality is taking place to determine how many air raid sirens will be needed in this area. Chrysler corporation has volunteered to complete such a much-needed survey.
 This year, as in past years, we in the auxiliary and post are vitally interested in the constant rise of juvenile delinquents in our community and believe that our work in the home, school, youth in groups, church groups and all activity classes plays an important part in helping our youths grow into happy, well adjusted, useful citizens. Our Youth Activities program will always continue to be one of our most important committees. The majority of our nation-wide 375,000 members are engaged in some form of work on this program. We make regular flag presentations to schools and classes to encourage the boys and girls to realize how important their part is in the building of the nation's future since they will be the future citizens and veterans of this land. We pledge our earnest support in combatting juvenile delinquency, one of our nation's biggest problems.
 A reminder once more of the August trip to the National Home. Please be collecting canned goods to take to the boys and girls there. Chairman for the trip will be Gertrude Danol.
 Please keep your publicity chairman informed as to all activities your particular committee is engaged in. We would like to keep all our members informed as to Post and Auxiliary projects.

The Senate Banking Committee's "friendly study" of the stock market will be continued by a sub-committee, to be appointed.

Michiganders Like Home State When It Comes To Planning Vacation

Nearly 2,000,000 Michigan families will make vacation trips in 1955. Automobile Club of Michigan predicts. More than half of the Michiganders will spend their entire vacation in resort areas of their home state.

Popular objectives for others will be the New England area, Florida, Colorado, Wyoming and western circle tours which take in national parks and monuments enroute to the West Coast. Southwestern United States will predominate as a tour area.
 More than 20,000 Michigan residents will go abroad this year, with the greatest percentage heading for Europe. Passports applications from the State already show a 14 percent gain over a similar period last year. Out-of-staters and foreign visitors will swell the number of travelers to and through Michigan this year to 9,000,000. Tourist revenue for the state will approach $600 million.

National figures, compiled by the American Automobile Association, show that more than 65,000,000 Americans will help bring travel this year to record-breaking highs. Cars will furnish transportation for 85 percent of the vacationers with each vehicle averaging about 1,200 miles, carrying three passengers. Each family will spend about $400 on the trip at the rate of $27 to $33 daily over a 12 to 15 day period.

The trend to shorter and more frequent vacations is continuing this year. Travelers are seeking more for their vacation dollars and finding it in family-plan rates offered by transportation facilities and hotels. Many are discovering that it's less expensive to enjoy an off-season vacation, while others are stretching their money on camping trips.
 Despite these economy measures, Americans will spend a total of $15 billion dollars on vacations this year with $3 billion going for foreign travel. Canada will get over $300 million, Mexico $200 million and European countries the greatest share of the remainder. Hawaii, which got $50 million from American tourists last year, is bidding strongly for an even larger share in 1955. In the last 18 months, Hawaii has increased hotel accommodations by 40 percent, with more under construction.

Burroughs Makes Personnel Changes

Appointment of managerial personnel to direct operations of Burroughs Corporation's newly acquired Tireman avenue plant, Tireman west of Schaefer, has been announced by William J. Delahanty, vice president in charge of manufacturing.

Edward W. Schening, manager of defense products at Burroughs' Plymouth plant, has been named plant manager; Herbert DeBorde, technical assistant to the Detroit plant manager, has been appointed production manager; Marvin G. Schaar, defense products design engineer, Plymouth plant, has been appointed chief project engineer; and Aurile T. Smith, assistant superintendent of quality control, Plymouth, will be supervisor of quality control.

Delahanty pointed out that although it is expected that nearly 1,000 people will be employed in the plant when the plant reaches full capacity, the initial organization will consist of plant headquarters, product design engineering, production engineering, production control, plant maintenance and layout and product assembly.

Schening has been with Burroughs for 20 years, starting at the Main plant as a tool and die trainee.

Assuming the post of assistant chief tool designer in 1944, Schening was appointed supervisor of production design engineering in 1948. He was transferred to Plymouth as chief engineer, defense products engineering, in 1953, and was appointed manager of defense products in 1954. He will continue to be responsible for the design engineering of defense products manufactured at Plymouth.

DeBorde, an electrical production engineer, joined Burroughs in 1951 as a technical assistant at Plymouth. Later that year he was appointed a divisional superintendent. In 1952 he was appointed superintendent of defense products and the following year was named manager of defense products. He transferred to his Detroit post in 1954.

Smith began with Burroughs in 1918 as a tool and die maker. He has subsequently been an assistant foreman, foreman and divisional superintendent before being appointed as superintendent of calibration and testing of defense products at Plymouth in 1951.

Schaar joined Burroughs as a layout draftsman in 1949. He has been a group leader in electrical test equipment design for defense work and for the past year has been serving as chief design engineer on defense products.

The Tireman avenue plant will produce defense materials.

Did You Ever Hear the One About the Dairy Farmer?

If you haven't, you should make the acquaintance of your Dairy Farmer! He furnishes about a fourth of your food every day and does so for a sixth of what you pay for the other three quarters. Ask any dietician.

This morning, as they do every morning 365 days a year, 13,000 dairy farmers arose at the crack of dawn, fed, watered and milked a quarter of a million tested cows, shipped 2,895 tons of pure, fresh milk to Detroit. That's 2.2 million quarts, including a surplus over table needs going into ice cream, cottage cheese and other healthful dairy products.

Putting on call an abundant daily supply of milk requires production and marketing efficiency of the highest order. The milk assembly line starts with a heifer. It's a line, 3 years long, you can't stop or start with a push-button. Besides, your dairy farmer cooperatively owns plants, laboratories and transport equipment for receiving, testing, conveying and processing his milk shipments.

He supports industry-wide research for the improvement of his product and its uses. He employs management, scientists, technical personnel, stenographers, and truck drivers, in getting his milk from farm to market.

When you meet this farmer, he'll tell you truthfully that he earns less than factory wages for the time and money spent, but he'll say you'll get your milk, fresh from the farm, tomorrow morning.

Vacation Vacation

Every summer about this time the same thing happens. The childish chant, "No more pencils, no more books!" gives way to the plaintive refrain, "What can we do now?" If the answer has you stumped, here's a constructive suggestion: Why not let your youngsters help with the family food shopping at A&P? It's a pleasant and profitable pastime. Pleasant because children enjoy being treated as courteously as grown-ups... and that's how they always are treated at A&P! Profitable because responsibility tends to make them more self-reliant and dependable. In fact, you'll probably be surprised to discover what a big help small marketers can be. Try it and see!

4 ounce package of egg noodles
2 cups of cooked chicken or turkey

Melt fat, add flour and seasonings and stock. (These first six ingredients may be increased by 1 1/2 times to make it more moist). Cook over low heat until thick, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat, add cream or cream of mushroom soup, sherry flavoring, mushrooms, almonds and parsley.

Into a greased two-quart baking dish place a layer of noodles, layer of chicken, then sauce. Top with Parmesan cheese.

Bake for 45 minutes at 350 degrees.

Tetraxzini can be made a day ahead and baked just before serving.

Troop 6 Scouts Leave for Ranch

Twenty-nine Scouts and two leaders of Troop 6, sponsored by the Plymouth Lions club, left Sunday for a week of camping at the D-Bar-A Scout Ranch near Metamora, Michigan.

The camp will be under the leadership of Scoutmaster Edward T. Miller and Assistant Scoutmaster Robert T. Johnson. Assisting them will be a staff of junior assistant scoutmasters, Tom Ferguson, Larry Kunkel, and Richard Parker; acting senior patrol leader, Fred Smith; and patrol leaders, Harry McConnell, Sam Barnes, Ronald Bondie and Wayne Sparkman.

Due to the fact that almost half of the group are first-class Scouts, the program will feature advanced scout activities, such as the building of a "monkey" bridge from rope, swimming, life-saving, canoeing instruction, an "orientering" race, a conservation project and long-range signalling projects. At the same time the younger boys will be engaged in activities to help them win the coveted first-class badge, which will enable them to participate in the advanced activities of the troop.

American Legion News

The joint social meeting of the Passage-Gayde Post No. 291 and its Auxiliary was held Wednesday evening, June 29, at 8 p.m. at the Community center. There was an excellent turnout to hear the students give a brief report on their activities at Girls' and Boys' States respectively.

The Misses Ann Higley, Carol Partridge and Pat Clifford gave a day-by-day account of their doing at Girls State which was held on the U. of M. campus from June 14 to June 22. Pat Clifford was elected to the office of auditor-general of the 1955 Girls' State.

With Ray Spigerelli acting as spokesman for Jack Carter, Hal Becker, Lee Huber, and Charles Moiso, the boys conducted an informal round-table discussion of Boys' State by a selection of different activities. Boys' State was held on the MSC campus from June 18 to June 25.

The manner in which these students presented their reports had the audience interested and they all felt they had learned some of the good that these students obtain from attending the respective assemblies. The Passage-Gayde Post and Auxiliary wish at this time to thank the Women's club, Elks club, Rotary club, Kiwanis club and their own members for sponsoring these deserving youngsters and giving them the opportunity to attend these States, which they very much enjoyed and appreciated.

Next regular business meeting of the 17th District association will be held on Friday evening at 8 p.m. at the Lloyd H. Green Post Home in Northville. Election of District Officers for the forthcoming year will be the order of business. Let's have our usual good attendance of Plymouth Legionnaires and Auxiliaries!

We wish to remind all Legionnaires and Auxiliaries to plan to attend the Joint Installation ceremonies which will be held during the second week of July. The exact date will be printed next week. Present plans are to have ritual terms for the program and to have the ceremonies open to the public.

Our recent carnival was one of the most successful we have had in the past few years. A portion of the credit must go to the weatherman but Commander Burleson and President Thompson wish to thank all those members who did come out evenings and give of their time to really make the carnival the success it was.

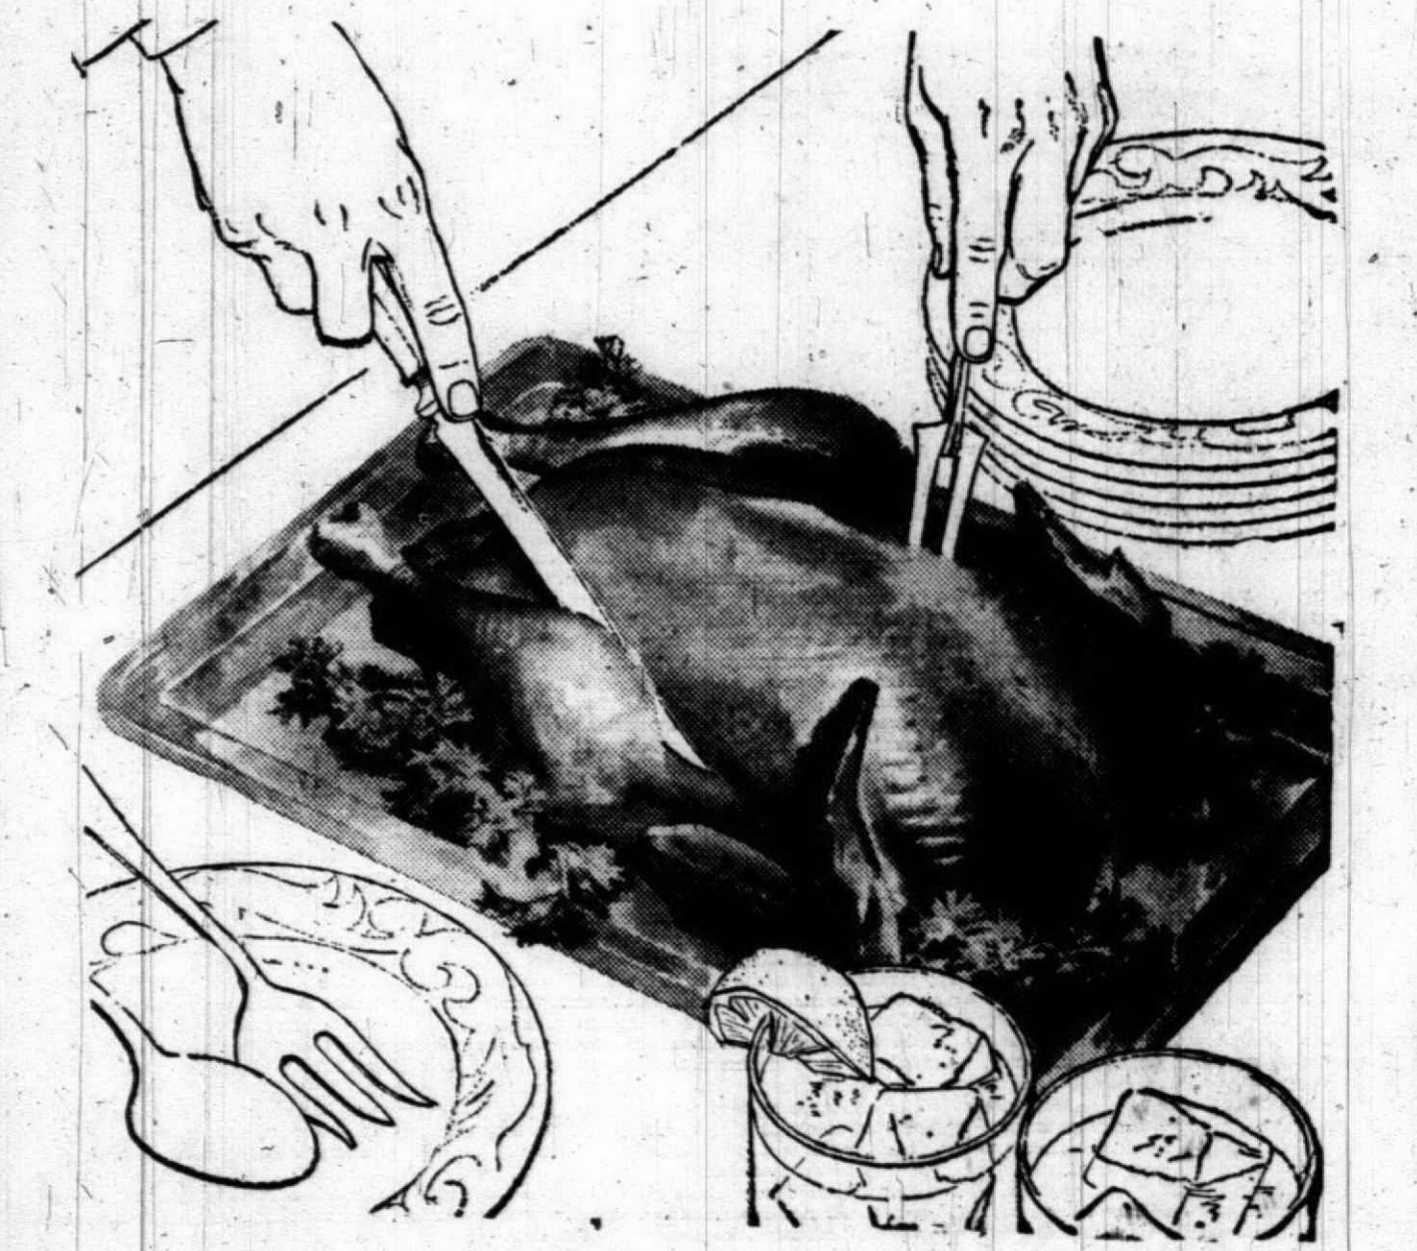

We are pleased to hear that Bill Taylor is up and around and back to work after his recent operation. Vern Miller has been at St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor since Friday, June 29. He is feeling better and it would be nice if some of us would go over and visit with him — Room 4003, Hall A. Bill Langmaid has two ailing children at home and we are sure that they also would appreciate a card or two to break their long days.

Turkey, bargain-priced in December, tastes especially good in July. Thanks to a home food freezer, poultry (and practically anything else) will retain all its natural flavor.

No matter how you serve it—cold and sliced, in a salad, or piping hot with all the trimmings—your turkey will be as fresh and tasty as it was the very day you put it away in your home food freezer. And here's a hint—with a freezer you can convert leftovers to "planned-overs." In your freezer they'll stay as tasty as when first prepared.

County Agent Gives Tips To Aid Traveling Vacationers

Planning a vacation? Here are some special travel tips from a Wayne County Home Agent that are designed to make traveling easier.

A number of plastic bags of various sizes can be put to good use in packing lingerie, hose, gloves, shoes, purses and cosmetics. One yard of plastic will make any number of small bags. Simply cut plastic in sizes you want and fuse edges together with an iron and stitching necessary. You may find a larger bag useful for bringing back soiled articles.

Instead of throwing a worn towel into the rag bag, cut it into squares and use them as wash cloths in hotels and on trips. Discard them as you change to a new location.

When you are packing sweaters for travel, fold in the sleeves and roll the sweaters to prevent ridges. They take less space this way, too. When packing dresses, pin pocket flaps and fancy collars and cuffs in place—they'll look neater when you take them out of your bag. Always use lots of tissue paper along the folds in the garments. This will help prevent them from being crushed.

Cut down on the amount of luggage you take. Careful planning is the secret. Sometimes a basic suit or dress and a simple hat like a pill box can be made to do double or triple duty. Vary this outfit with veils of different colors and an artificial flower or a neck scarf to match each veil. A hat box is a handy piece of luggage for articles like this which should not be crushed.

Select fabrics that travel well. Dacron blouses and men's shirts can be worn without ironing after being packed for as much as two weeks. Dacron, orlon and nylon garments can be easily rinsed out between wearings. They dry rapidly. If drip dried (hung on hangers without wringing), they can be worn without ironing. If collars and cuffs need touching up, press with low temperature iron.

Jersey is another good travel fabric. Jerseys are now available in nylon as well as the rayons.

Don't forget those little extras like needle and thread, solid cologne, emery boards, bandaids, a small clothes brush, kleenex, scissors, etc. By the way, an emery board is handy to touch up shiny spots on suede purse or shoes.

Put some paste wax in a small empty cold cream jar and keep it in your bag in case you want to give your leather shoes or purse a quick shine. Give new luggage a protective coat of paste wax, too, and don't forget the metal fittings. If you need to do a cleaning job on your luggage, use a liquid cleaning and polishing wax.

Above all, forget your worries and have fun!

Here's Way To Launder Cotton, Linen

From the Consumer Service department of a well-known washing machine manufacturer come some worthwhile hints for wash-day.

Here are some tips for the special laundering of cottons and linens.

LINENS: No starching is required for real linens or so-called "permanent-finished" fabrics. Novelty cottons with a linen feel, however, should have a light starching rinse.

ORGANDIES, VOILES AND SHEERS: After washing, roll in turkish towel to absorb excess moisture and press immediately. If unable to press immediately, allow to dry and sprinkle later before pressing. Heavier things should be hung out to dry, keeping them away from direct sunlight if colored. After drying, sprinkle with warm water and roll up until evenly damp. Organandy that does not have a "permanent" finish is improved by light starching.

SEERSUCKERS: After washing, squeeze as dry as possible and shake out well. To reshape seersuckers, pull along all seams and stitching. Pad shoulders with paper toweling, hang over a line or on rust-proof hanger and dry in shade. Ironing isn't necessary, but if you prefer, simply press with low heat when dry on a padded board.

COTTON JERSEY: Squeeze as dry as possible and shake out well. Press lightly when almost dry. Always hang jersey with the weight evenly distributed to retain its shape.

CORDUROY AND VELVET: Squeeze lightly to remove excess moisture—never wring or twist. Hang in shade to dry. Most corduroys and velveteens today can be ironed. Press on the wrong side while slightly damp or when dry using a steam iron. Brushing the pile will improve the appearance.

CHENILLE: This material can be washed in your machine. Spin-dry or wring by hand. Your dryer does a wonderful job—otherwise stretch smoothly over line to avoid ironing. Hang wrong side out with square corners. Brush tufts, when dry, with small stiff brush.

Take Breakfast to the Park

Avoid crowded picnic areas by picnicking at breakfast time. Early risers know that picnics are more enjoyable if the surroundings are uncluttered with people—or things.

Breakfast is an easy meal to take on a picnic. Ready-to-eat cereals are just right—no cooking is necessary—merely pack the cereal box in the picnic hamper. This breakfast takes just a few minutes to pack.

MENU
Shredded Wheat
with
Fresh Sliced Peaches and Milk
Pecan Rolls
Butter
Chocolate Milk

The peaches could be sliced and sugared at home. Additional sugar would not be necessary with the sweetened peaches. Pecan rolls are a favorite—butter probably would be unnecessary.

Colorful plastic spoons, paper plates (except the cereal bowls) and gay bandannas for napkins add a festive note to the outdoor breakfast.

Another way to vary the way you serve that all important meal—breakfast—is to serve it on trays that can be carried to the porch or patio.

Doctors and dietitians agree that a basic breakfast of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter will provide one-fourth of the daily nutritional requirement. You and your family will feel better and work better, especially in the late morning hours, if you eat a basic breakfast the year round.

Three Factors Important When Teaching Child to Help Himself

Teaching a young child a skill takes time, patience and planning. A child will more easily learn the skill you are trying to teach him if you can get his cooperation. Making a child feel happy about what he does or tries to do will help to get his cooperation according to the experts.

Before you start to teach any skill such as taking off wraps and hanging them up, putting on pajamas or putting on shoes think over your plan. You will need to decide what equipment you might need to make the skill easily taught and learned. Go through the plan, step by step, and make any changes that you think might help make it fit the child better.

Three things should be kept in mind while making a plan for teaching a small child a skill. First, you do some things, because you know the child can't. Second, the child does some things by himself. . . you know he can. Third, you and the child do some things together. You know that, with some help, he can do part of the job.

Let us take the example of teaching a child two and one-half to three and one-half to take off his clothes. First, you start in on your jobs, the things you know he is unable to do. You untie his shoes. You unbutton his outer garments or start zippers.

Now it's the child's turn to do the things he is able to do by himself. Step back and let him do all the things he can. These might be taking off shoes and socks and removing outer shirt and pants.

Now you, and the child can work on the undershirt together. Since this must slip off over the head, he will need help to get it started. Help him to pull his arms out first. Then start the garment over his head and let him pull it off. Encourage him with words. Suggest that he can do hard things. Children like to feel that they are "growing up."

If you thrill with the child in his growing independence, if you wish for self-care as a part of his growing up, you'll be able to say to him with real feeling, "I'm proud of you. You can do hard things." It is very important, in every routine skill that you try to teach, that you be consistent in the jobs you do for the child and your willingness to help the child himself.

Cottage Cheese Voted Dieter's Best Friend

Refreshing cottage cheese is one dish that is as much at home in a cabin or a castle. It is high in protein and low in calorie count. This makes it the dieter's best friend. Good cooks tell us it is a wonderful mixer.

For warm-weather salads and desserts, cottage cheese is tops.

Cottage cheese is made from skim milk. Usually some cream is mixed with the cheese curd. Dieters will be interested to learn that if the cheese contains four per cent, or more of fat, it is called creamed cottage cheese.

A delicious combination with almost all fruits and berries, cottage cheese can be tossed lightly in a green salad or served on lettuce as a salad by itself. An especially attractive way to serve cottage cheese is to make cheese balls rolled in chopped nuts and placed on a pineapple slice or a peach half.

Cottage cheese can be used as a base of a salad mixture, for stuffing celery or making sandwiches. A very good mixture that can be used for either combines one cup cottage cheese, one-half teaspoon bottled horseradish, one tablespoon finely minced onion, one-fourth cup chopped stuffed olives, salt and pepper to taste.

As a dessert, try making cottage cheese ice cream by adding two tablespoons sugar and one-half teaspoon vanilla to each cup of cottage cheese. Freeze in a refrigerator tray. Top with fresh fruit.

In schools taking part in the National School Milk program, children are drinking at least 50 per cent more milk than they did last year. Be sure there's enough milk at home to satisfy their increased appetites.

Any kind of meat, from steaks or and quality which meat has at meats for freezing to assure best results. Meat to be frozen should be wrapped tightly in moisture-vapor-proof paper, with air excluded as much as possible.

BRIDES these days are three jumps ahead of their grandmothers. For research has given them foods and appliances unheard of when grandma was a bride. Frozen soups are the latest discovery in the food field. And leave it to granddaughter to make the most of them. She includes them in casseroles, molded salads, and sauces, or serves them "just so." And every time they show up on the dinner table, she gets a great big compliment from the lucky guy she married. Here's a recipe he especially likes.

Bride's Shrimp Surprise
1 can (1 1/2 cups) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup
2 cup milk
2 cup shredded sharp process cheese
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/4 beaten toast triangles
Heat cream of shrimp soup and milk in double boiler or over low heat until soup is completely defrosted; stir frequently. Add cheese and Worcestershire sauce; heat until cheese melts and rabbit is smooth and slightly thickened. Serve over toast. 4 servings.

One Thing Men Agree Upon!

It is in the nature of things for men to hold opinions and to argue and dispute.

Football, baseball, politics—guns, golf clubs breeds in dogs... name a best, and you have an argument.

And so it goes through boats and trains—and horses and tennis and makes of planes.

But when the discussion turns to motor cars, you'll seldom get an argument if you name CADILLAC as the car of cars.

That's about as close as men come to universal agreement. And with good reason.

Who could look about him at the various styles in motor cars—and not give the nod to Cadillac for its great dignified silhouette?

Who could take the wheel of this dynamic performer—and not crown it the king of the highway?

Who could relax in its luxurious comfort for a mile or five hundred—and fail to recognize it as the finest riding car on the world's highways?

And who could look back over its illustrious past—or look about him at the people who own it and drive it today—and not acclaim it as the most distinguished car in the whole automotive world?

We feel assured that you, yourself, are aware that Cadillac is the car of cars. But that is but part of the wonderful Cadillac story.

There are economy—and value—and dependability. And there are all the other sound, practical reasons for owning a Cadillac.

Come in and see us. Thirty minutes at the wheel... and you'll understand why there's no argument about a Cadillac!

A really new item in the furniture line that's bound to make a hit with today's homeowners has just come in at Blunk's furniture store on Penniman avenue. It's the new Expand-O-Matic line put out by Saginaw Furniture company of Chicago, Illinois.

Ideal for today's smaller homes with their combined living and dining areas, the Expand-O-Matic looks from all outside appearances like a smartly-designed desk or console, depending on which type you buy. The real trick is that these furniture pieces conceal the makings of a full-size dinner table.

By means of a patented metal slide, a table suitable for serving up to eight persons can be rolled from the Expand-O-Matic by merely pulling out the top drawer of this furniture item.

Although it has no visible center support, the Expand-O-Matic table is really sturdy. The metal slide feature together with wood ribbing the entire length of the table makes it strong enough to support an adult's weight.

The surface of the table presents an attractive effect similar to rush-weed weaving and has been treated with a synthetic material to make it resistant to scratches, heat, alcohol, moisture and acids.

Standing 30 inches high, Expand-O-Matics in themselves are unusually attractive pieces of furniture and may be had in modern, 18th century or early American design. The line comes in all popular woods and finishes such as hued oak, mahogany, cherry, walnut and black enamel.

Knee-hole desk types may be had in either one or two-pedestal models. The three drawers in each pedestal offer ample space for storage, the top one coming complete with dividers for silver.

In the console type you can have your pick of one large drawer for silver, linens, etc., with storage space below for holding the folding chairs available for Expand-O-Matics, or the other type containing three deep drawers.

The folding chairs are a neat item in themselves and come with upholstered seats. Another article also available are china cabinets in matching woods to go on top of the Expand-O-Matics.

In addition Saginaw puts out the Expandway, which works on the same principle but comes with table leaves and center support. Expandways are available in the different models, woods and finishes and have the added advantage of being able to accommodate eight to 10 persons.

Moderately priced, this new line of furniture is really worth looking into. It's the answer to the homeowner's need today for furniture which can play a multipurpose role.

REAL ESTATE REMINDERS—ARCHITECTS' CREDO

Key theory underlying all of modern building is the form-function principle. Leading architects express it this way: The esthetic of a building should be honestly derived from the building's function, and the function must be intimately related to the form, or appearance, of the building. The same principle holds for private homes and the building materials that go into private homes. A most historic example by way of materials is that of ceramic tile. This natural material is honestly and openly what it is: a life-lasting surfacing material whose beauty springs without fakery from its practical function.

Air Cooling Usually Cheaper With 'Wet Bulb' Condenser

The key to operating cost of central home air conditioning is the way used to dispose of the heat taken out of the home. Heat disposal is done by the system's condensing unit—and one type of condenser may cost twice as much as another to do the same cooling job.

Local dealers that specialize in selling, installing and servicing air conditioning equipment for the home, explain that four kinds of condensers are in general use—air-cooled (dry-bulb type), air-cooled (wet-bulb type, cooling tower, and waste-water.

In areas where there is plenty of water, where water rates are low, and where there are no restrictions on dumping the water after it is used, a waste-water condenser usually costs less to run. These conditions, however, are found in very few communities.

With this type of system, water is drained off at an average rate of 90 gallons an hour for each ton of refrigeration. Since a small- or medium-sized house will usually have either a two-ton or three-ton system, the amount of water consumed may run between 43,200 and 64,800 gallons a month.

An air-cooled system of the dry-bulb type eliminates water bills, but it may substantially increase electric bills since the compressor motor must work harder and harder as the outside temperature becomes hotter. This method is most practical in areas fortunate enough to have unusually low electric rates combined with mild summer temperatures.

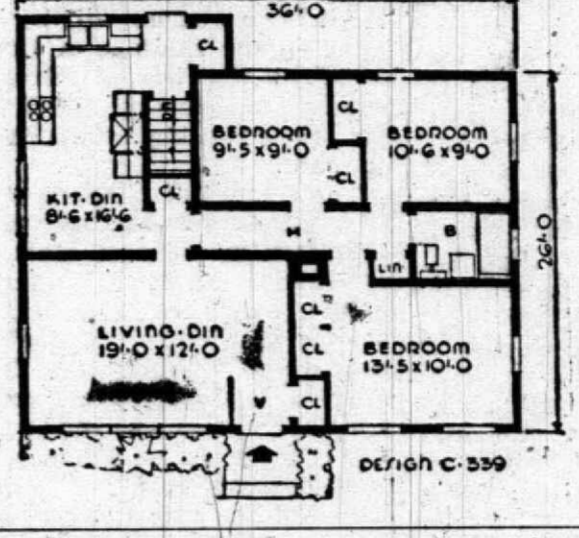

The two other methods employ water conservation devices—the cooling tower and air-cooled condenser of the wet-bulb type. Both re-use water over and over again. The cooling tower, located outside, cools the water by letting outside air pass through it: However, dirt and other debris in the air are collected by the water and are carried along back with it to be trapped in the refrigeration machine, necessitating periodic cleaning.

The air-cooled condenser of the wet-bulb type—or evaporative condenser—forces a fine spray of water across the coil to remove the heat by evaporation. Aside from a small amount lost through evaporation and a small amount allowed to bleed off to carry away any air-borne debris, the water is used over and over again. Compared with a waste-water system's use of 90 gallons an hour for each ton of refrigeration, the evaporative condenser uses three gallons.

The evaporative condenser shows its greatest advantage in areas where the temperatures are high over long periods of time. However, as a general rule, it will always give the cheapest operating costs of any of the four systems except where an ample supply of cheap water is available for a waste-water system and there are no restrictions against dumping the used water.

Windows Important In Home Insulation

Some really hot day, when the mercury is sizzling in the 90's touch the outside of a window frame or sash. It will be warm, but not unbearably hot. Then feel the inside of the same wood and you'll find it much cooler, or about room temperature.

This test indicates a factor in home insulation that is generally overlooked—the important role played by windows.

A well-insulated house is generally considered to be one with three inches of mineral wool in the walls and four inches in ceilings. But in addition, all windows should be made of wood.

As the "touch test" shows, most of the heat hitting the outside of the wood is stopped "cold" before it can get inside and affect room temperature. This is because ponderosa pine, the wood generally used for windows, is a poor conductor of heat, and therefore a good insulator.

Conversely, in the winter, the outside of the wood sash will be colder than the inside, but still not freezing to the touch. This indicates that room heat is not being dissipated through the frame and sash to any noticeable extent.

If the amount of wood in a window seems a small and unimportant factor in a well-insulated home, basic arithmetic will prove otherwise. Figure out the area of wood surface in one window (both frame and sash), and multiply that figure by the number of windows in the house. The total area is surprisingly large, and a definite factor in home comfort.

Modernization Means More When Colors Are Right

"Good color is just as important to an old house as to a new one," says Practical Builder magazine. "In fact, 'modernization' is just a name without real significance if it fails to include an attractive color-styling job on the remodeled house; without good color, the house simply can't be truly modern."

"Home-owners can be as colorful as they wish without running up remodeling costs. A white roof costs little more than a black one, and icy green asphalt shingles about the same as mist blue or smoky gray. Some of the deep tones in paint are more expensive than white, but the difference isn't prohibitive—and what is true of roofing and paint is true of most building materials. Color costs so little more, so why not use it?"

First step in color styling, according to the magazine, is to select the roof color, as "the roof generally is the largest single area visible to the eye."

"A light, bright roof makes a house appear taller than it is. A dark roof makes the house seem lower. Use light-colored asphalt shingles on one-story houses, deeper colors on two- or three-story houses."

Next step is to choose the siding color. Practical Builder suggests, "If the roof is light in color, keep side walls light. If the roof is medium to dark, keep walls the same. In general, there should be but not for windows. Windows are eyes to homes. Keep them warm and inviting. Paint sash and frames in the trim color, not the accent color. Exception: picture windows are frequently painted in the accent color.

WINDOWS TREATED

Ponderosa pine wood windows are given a water-repellent treatment of a special wood preservative that reduces swelling, warping, shrinking, and rotting to a negligible minimum. Treated windows open and close smoothly and practically eliminate air infiltration.

Modern Home Designs Feature More Baths

Public demand for more adequate bathroom facilities has brought about a major revolution in modern home planning, points out the Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers Association.

For example, more than one-fourth of all homes being built today are equipped with more than one bathroom. The trend is not confined to moderate or higher-priced homes. Many lower-cost housing developments advertise multiple bathrooms as one of their star attractions.

As recently as seven years ago the proportion of multi-bath homes being constructed was only one in 10.

The added convenience offered by multiple bathrooms has been the reason for their growth in popularity. A second bath or powder room helps eliminate waiting in line for facilities during morning and evening rush hours.

Adequate bathroom facilities also are a great asset to the homeowner if he ever decides to sell or rent his house. Real estate agents report that multi-bath homes sell more quickly, and at higher prices, than do single-bath dwellings. Or in rent, they will bring $10 to $20 a month more.

In home ownership there is only one type of real economy: long-range economy. Temporary savings, especially by way of inferior materials, are illusory. In baths and kitchens, the home's two most essential rooms, a very real economy comes from the use of a life-lasting surfacing material such as waterproof ceramic tile which never needs refinishing and requires virtually no upkeep.

HERE'S HOW... MAKE A HOSE CART

A cart is a handy device for transporting or storing garden hose.

Except for the dowels, the cart may be made from one 1 1/4 by 12 by 72-inch board.

Lay out the shape of the upright back, and cut out the handle. The semi-circular members are made by inscribing a circle, 5 1/2-inch radius, sawing out the disc, and then cutting it in half.

The 10-inch base, the front leg, two 3 by 3-inch braces, and two 5-inch wheels are cut from the remainder of the board.

Hose supports are 7 1/2-inch pieces of 1-inch dowel set 3/4 inch into the semi-circles and the back.

Assemble, using glue and No. 10 screws, 1 3/4-inches long, for all joints.

The axle is also a 1-inch dowel. Plane a flat surface on the 1 1/2-inch portion that butts against the bottom board, and fasten the axle in place with glue and screws.

Place washers on each side of the wheels and bore a small hole through each end of the axle for cotter pins.

The completed cart should be painted or enameled.

These Events Were News

50 Years Ago

July 7, 1905

Seventeen little folks were entertained in a pleasant manner by Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Houston Monday afternoon in honor of their son Oscar's fifth birthday.

Plymouth celebrated the 4th! People who have lived here for many years say it was the most successful celebration ever held. Not an accident occurred, no one injured, not even a runaway. The crowd began to arrive early in the morning, and by ten o'clock the streets and park were alive with people. The streetscars from Northville and Wayne were loaded down with masses of people every trip, and extra cars were run.

The running race was won by Tom Leith, Henderson second, Armstrong third. The potato race was won by Armstrong first, Gray second, Henderson third. High Jump - Germanprey first, Cortrite second, Evans third. Broad Jump - Armstrong first, Leith second, Cortrite third. Sack race - Armstrong first, Shilling second, Gray third. After the conclusion of these sports, people gathered around the band stand where the literary exercises were to take place. After a selection by the band, Reverend T. B. Leith asked the invocation and then President P. W. Voorhies introduced the orator of the day, Judge Robert E. Frager of Detroit.

The people were left to themselves during the dinner hour, but promptly at one o'clock the water battle between the two hose companies came on. W. T. Connor acted as referee and after battling some little time the "fight" was declared a draw.

The "greased" pig was the next amusement, and it was a greasy job for the twelve contestants. It was finally caught by Merritt Hanchett, who grabbed the pig by the front leg. The pig was then sold back to the owner and the money divided.

The band led the march to the ball park, followed by nearly 1,000 spectators. The contest was between Plymouth and South Lyon. Plymouth easily won the game by a score of 7 to 2.

After the ball game, the night shirt race on horses was pulled off on Main street. There were three contestants, Lewis Balko being first, Hubbard second, Byers third.

The big crowd was anxious to see the tug of war, in which 13 members each from Wayne and Plymouth Maccabee teams, were contestants. Wayne gave up after "tugging" for about five or six minutes.

There was nothing doing after this until the Maccabee parade in the evening. The parade was headed by the band, followed by several hundred men. There were two floats, one representing protection and the other non-protection. There was also another float containing 25 girls, each clad in white. The line of march was brilliantly illuminated by red fire carried by the marchers.

After the parade a splendid exhibition of fire works. Those who were not too tired then attended the dance in Penniman hall. Thus the 1905 Fourth of July celebration in Plymouth goes into history as "the best ever."

ABOUT YOUR LAWN AND GARDEN

Food, Water Keep Summer Lawns Green

Nitrogen is as important as water to keep lawns green all summer

All lawn owners will be interested in the findings of turf researchers that lack of nitrogen is as much to blame as lack of water for lawns turning brown in mid-summer.

The amount of nitrogen required by lawn grass has been underestimated in the past. Most owners have been satisfied to fertilize in the early spring, using 3 or 4 pounds of a balanced plant food mixture to 100 square feet. It now appears that all the nitrogen in a feeding of this size has been exhausted by early summer, and grass has entered the most trying period of the year in a half-starved condition.

Golf club experts have always fed greens at frequent intervals all summer, using high analysis soluble forms of nitrogen which require skill to handle safely. But amateurs have been handicapped by a lack of long-lasting forms of this essential food which could be used without danger of burning. Even organic plant foods made from animal wastes and sewage sludge exhaust their nitrogen too soon for the lawn's need.

This year new plant foods will be available which contain forms of nitrogen far more lasting than even the organics. Already on the market is one mixture which, when applied to a test plot in March, was still supplying nitrogen to plants in September. Another new product, to be introduced soon, is based on urea, nitrogen extracted from the air, production of which has been greatly increased in this country. By combining urea with formaldehyde, a plastic, the release of nitrogen for the lawn's use can be controlled so that one application in the early spring will feed the lawn at a regular rate until winter.

While the total amount of nitrogen fed to the lawn must be increased to keep it green all season, and the grass will have to be mowed more often through the summer, the new fertilizer programme will not produce such vigorous growth in the early summer.

At this time weather conditions favor vigorous growth and extra nitrogen is not so necessary, yet the plants have used all that was available in the older forms, growth having it in a spurt of growth which kept the lawn mowers busy, but was followed by a let-down as the food gave out. Continuous growth at a slower pace all summer long will be to the advantage of both lawns and their owners.

How much nitrogen lawn grasses require is a subject which turf experiment stations have investigated for the last two years. Merion blue grass, which has extreme vigor and needs abundant food to sustain it, held a top condition on a diet of 6 pounds of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet for the entire growing season. The maximum feeding given in the experiments was 12 pounds to 1,000 square feet, and while this maintained top quality with no signs of harmful effects, half as much proved sufficient.

Six pounds per 1,000 sq. ft. is about twice as much as even well kept lawns have received in the past. The formula on labels which show the net food content of fertilizer mixtures consists of three figures, such as 5-10-5. First is the percentage of nitrogen contained, second phosphorus, and third potash. Most amateurs have considered that 60 pounds of 5-10-5 or its equivalent for the entire season was high feeding for the lawn. But the nitrogen in this 60 pounds was 5%, or 3 pounds, half enough to insure top growing condition.

The extra nitrogen required need not be applied in a mixture, however, since phosphorus and potash are not consumed by growing grass to the extent that nitrogen is. It is probable that the new forms of nitrogen will soon be available without mixture so that the necessary ration of this food can be applied alone.

It's Official Now! MSC Becomes MSU

The official change in name from college to university became effective for Michigan State on Friday, July 1.

Legislation authorizing the name-change was passed earlier this year by the Michigan legislature. It provided for the full name of Michigan State College of Agriculture and Applied Science to be changed to Michigan State University of Agriculture and Applied Science.

The new name appears on the diplomas mailed out July 1 to the more than 1,800 members of the 1955 graduating class. Members of the class had voted to receive the new name on their diplomas after the change became effective. Commencement exercises for the class were held June 5.

Use of the name in campus supplies is being made gradually, to avoid any waste of materials bearing the name "college," in accordance with a policy adopted by the State Board of Agriculture, Michigan State's governing body.

HEALTH and BEAUTY

Have you just tried on your bathing suit for the first time this season? If you have, chances are good, judging by the American average, you have decided something must be done about those extra pounds you put on during the winter.

You can look forward to enjoying your diet for if you choose the right kind of diet, it need not be a lettuce-leaf and carrot-juice affair.

The best way to burn up fat is to step up your metabolism. The way to do that is to include lots of juicy steaks, thick lamb chops, and sizzling (lean meat) hamburgers in your diet. Other important items are fresh eggs, vegetables and fruits.

If you are on the right type of diet, the food you eat will provide the energy you need without adding more fat in the process. Providing you are in good health, after a few days of a metabolism diet, you will feel better than you have for some time.

Drink plenty of water between meals. Cut down on your salt intake if you use too much to season your food. This is important because salt tends to cause your tissues to take on added water. Take your vitamin pills if you think it necessary.

Use a non-caloric sweetener in your morning coffee and in cooking. Skim milk or butter milk (without butter globs) can be a big help. Eat only a very small amount of fat of any kind, including butter. Fat has more concentrated calories than any other food.

Bonds numbered six hundred fifty-six (656) to three thousand (3,000), inclusive, may be redeemed prior to maturity at the option of the School District in inverse numerical order on any interest payment date on or after April 1, 1960, at par and accrued interest to the date fixed for redemption, plus a premium for each bond so redeemed as follows:

- $25.00 on each bond called for redemption on or after April 1, 1962, but prior to April 1, 1964;
- $15.00 on each bond called for redemption on or after April 1, 1964, but prior to April 1, 1966;
- $10.00 on each bond called for redemption on or after April 1, 1966, but prior to April 1, 1968;
- $ 5.00 on each bond called for redemption on or after April 1, 1968, but prior to April 1, 1971.

No premium on bonds called for redemption on or after April 1, 1971.

Notice of redemption shall be given to the holders of the bonds to be redeemed by publication of such notice not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the State of Michigan which carries, as part of its regular service, notices of sale of municipal bonds.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from August 1, 1955, to the date of maturity for all bonds maturing prior to the year 1972; to April 1, 1962, for all bonds maturing in the year 1972; to April 1, 1963, for all bonds maturing in the year 1972; and deducting therefrom any premium. The amount will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the School District. Each bidder shall state in his bid the interest cost to the School District computed in the manner above specified. No proposal for the purchase of less than all the bonds or at a price less than 100% of their par value will be considered.

The said bonds are payable from ad valorem taxes subject to such limitation upon said taxing power as may result from the provisions of Section 21, Article X of the Michigan Constitution and the Michigan Property Tax Limitation Act.

A certified or cashier's check in an amount of $50,000.00, by a duly incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the School District, must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, Attorneys, P.O. Box 200, Detroit, Michigan, which opinion will be furnished, without expense to the purchaser of the bonds prior to the delivery thereof, approving the legality of the bonds. The purchaser shall furnish bonds ready for execution at his expense. Bonds will be delivered without expense to the purchaser at a place to be designated by the purchaser.

Inquiries with respect to the details of the issue should be addressed to Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, 525 Hollister Building, Lansing 8, Michigan, Attorneys for the School District. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

Envelopes containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for Bonds."

Michigan Once Enjoyed Mild Year-round Climate

Michigan once enjoyed a year-round mild climate with tropical trees growing everywhere.

This paradisaical weather existed millions of years before our present climatic conditions began. Fossils of the fig tree and the date palm, found as far north as Alaska and Greenland, indicate temperatures about like those of our southern states.

In those halcyon days living conditions for both plants and animals must have been a great deal easier than they are today. Our knowledge of the animals that lived in Michigan during those pleasant times is very slight, but there were doubtless many different kinds of strange reptiles and mammals living here that have long since disappeared from the face of the earth.

It is altogether possible that even the dinosaurs and grotesque flying reptiles were inhabitants of our state because they were once extremely common in the western part of the United States. But then a great climatic change began. At first the winters were short, but they slowly grew longer and more severe, and the snow lasted until late in the spring.

Finally a critical stage was reached when the snow that fell during the winter was not all melted in the short summer. This was the first real evidence of the approaching glacial age.

The snowfall in the mountains of Eastern Canada was so heavy that finally these hills were completely buried and the snow line moved slowly westward and southward. This snow gradually turned into the ice of a vast continental glacier that must have been at least two miles thick in many places.

At the time of its greatest extent this amazing ice sheet covered most of Canada, and the United States as far south as the Ohio and Missouri Rivers.

Michigan, which had been covered by warm, tropical seas several times during the course of geologic history, was now completely buried under the ice of a continental glacier.

This condition lasted for several thousand years but finally, for some unknown reason, the climate grew slowly warmer, the ice melted and at last completely disappeared.

But the ice age had not yet ended. After this long, warm period, the climate once more grew colder and again the great glacier came into existence.

This remarkable sequence of events occurred four times and today we are living at the beginning of one of the warm stages which may be followed at some time in the distant future by another remorseless advance of the ice.

This great ice sheet was actually in motion over large areas and as it moved forward much of the soil and loose rubble that was lying around upon the land surface was carried along on the bottom of the glacier or pushed forward by the ice front after the fashion of a great snow plow.

When the ice melted all this loose material was left behind and the present surface of the Southern Peninsula of Michigan is almost entirely the results of deposits that were left by the fourth or Wisconsin glacier.

This 4-Door Beauty is the Newest Hit in Hardtops

You certainly ought to come see why this new kind of hardtop is headed for the best-seller list. It's a Buick Riviera, of course. Which means the low and rakish look of a Convertible—a solid steel roof overhead—and no center posts in the side window areas to obstruct your view. But that's only the beginning. Here you get two rear doors. So no one in the front has to move when someone gets into or out of the rear compartment. Here you get massive half-pillars on either side on which front doors latch and rear doors hinge. (That's why you see no center posts above the doors.)

Here, too, you get wholly new principles in body design and strength that give the extra safety of rock-firm solidity at the top, sides and bottom. And here, bless those Buick engineers!—you get a lot more room in the rear compartment. For the 4-Door Riviera gives you over 9 inches more hiproom and 5 inches more legroom—yet with no increase in wheelbase or over-all car length. So we repeat—you certainly ought to come in and see this stunning new kind of hardtop. It's the last word in beauty, comfort, convenience. It's available in Buick's two lowest-priced Series—the SPECIAL and the CENTURY. Now's the Time To View Comets

If you're interested in comets now's the time to bring out the binoculars for a sweep of the north horizon where a bright one is budding, says a University of Michigan astronomer.

About two-thirds of the way from the bowl of the Big Dipper to the bright star Capella in the constellation Auriga is a comet which is rapidly approaching naked-eye visibility.

Comets revolve around the Sun with their tails pointing away from it and the one now visible has a well-defined nucleus with a misty tail more than one degree in length extending perpendicular to the horizon.

"It's worth while to take a look at it since comets as bright as this one have been rare in the past several years," the astronomer points out.

Now's a good time to look at the Milky Way too. It's almost parallel to the eastern horizon from Cassiopeia in the north through Cepheus and Cygnus, where it conspicuously divides into two branches, the western branch passing through Scorpius and the eastern through Aquila and Sagittarius.

To the unaided eye it's a soft misty light but even binoculars show that it's made up of myriads of faint stars and nebulae.

Another feature of July comes in the fact that the Earth reached its greatest distance from the Sun for the year on July 4. This didn't cool things off in the slightest, says the astronomer, we just weren't that far away.

OUTDOOR NOTES From The MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

The Conservation Department has gone on record as officially opposing to a planned U. S. Army restriction on water traffic in a section of Lake Michigan between Ludington and Muskegon.

Camp Claybanks' Army gunners have practice fired over the water area for two years, but complain that small boats often enter the danger zone and disrupt firing.

The Army recently requested permission to post the entire area, which extends about 20 miles deep and 10 miles wide in the lake.

Three previous requests for similar restricted areas on the Great Lakes have been turned down. Two came in 1948 when the Army wanted range areas restricted in Lake Huron off the Oscoda air base and near the entrance of Saginaw Bay. The third request was made in 1952, when a large restricted zone was asked in Anchor Bay of Lake St. Clair.

Public hearings on all three produced vigorous public protests, after which the Army dropped the range plans.

Director Gerald E. Eddy told Army officials last week that the Department would "reaffirm its opposition to establishment of restricted areas in the Great Lakes" and would voice that opposition in case a public hearing on the Claybanks issue is held.

An estimated 800 archers will attend the annual National Archery Field Tournament, slated in Ludington state park July 25-28.

About 600 attended the tourney in New Hampshire last year. Michigan, with more archers than any other state, each year carts home a large percentage of trophies awarded at the competition.

Channel improvement work has started on a 22-mile stretch of the Huron River in Washtenaw and Wayne counties and on the Pine Creek watershed in Dickinson county.

Also, the Conservation Department reports that work on the Cedar River watershed in Clare and Gladwin counties will be completed this year and that channel work in the upper Manistee system will be continued this summer.

Channel work on the Fox River in Schoolcraft county, which started five years ago, was recently completed.

Also in the last year, 1167 brush shelters were placed in nine lakes throughout the state and 5000 peat bags were placed in Fish Lake of Barry county and 5000 in Devoe Lake of Ogemaw county. Both Fish and Devoe are marl-bottom lakes that support little fish life. The peat bags were planted experimentally to see if aquatic vegetation can be produced to support more fish.

Twenty-six fires burned 29 acres of Michigan forests and grasslands last week, boosting the year's total to 3354 damaged acres.

The Ishpeming suboffice of the J. S. Atomic Energy Commission reports numbers of uranium prospectors asking for information about western upper peninsula counties.

"Some days," says office director L. P. Barrett, "three or four groups of individuals ask for information. If the prospecting fever keeps up at this pace all summer, the quiet of the northlands will be thoroughly shattered."

Conservation Department geologists say no commercial deposits of uranium have been found in Michigan to date. Much of the western upper peninsula, which appears geologically best suited for uranium, has been prospected for ores but to date no indications of important radioactive ore deposits have been reported.

Young-of-the-year walleyed dike are being planted in selected Michigan lakes this week and muskies of the same age will be planted within the next two weeks.

Conservation Department fisheries workers say they would like to keep the young fish a while longer in ponds at Wolf Lake, Hastings and Drayton Plains hatcheries, but a shortage of minnows and other fish food has made the plantings necessary. The walleyes are about two inches long and the muskies range from two to five inches in length.

A number of lakes throughout the state have been studied for food and cover conditions and several will be used for the planting experiments.

Petroleum producers leased 11,414 acres of state lands for oil and gas exploration work at a recent public auction in the state Senate chambers.

The Conservation Department offered 16,091 acres in this small second quarterly sale. Bonuses of $6,824 were paid.

HE SAW FATHER

The veteran character actor, Charles Coburn, liked to remember his boyhood infatuation for the theater and the youthful shifts he made to see as many plays as possible.

His father placed one prohibition on his play-going.

"Son," he warned, "you must never go to the burlesque shows."

"Why not, father?" the younger Coburn wanted to know.

"Because," said his father, "you will see things there that you shouldn't."

Someone asked Coburn, "Did you?"

The veteran actor laughed.

"Yes," he replied, "I saw father."

Declares Dividend

The Board of Directors of the Townsend Company, New Brighton, Pennsylvania, has declared a regular quarterly dividend of thirty cents (30c) per common share, payable August 24, 1955, to holders of record August 3, 1955. Allen Beard, 9904 Berwick, is a special favorite with the neighborhood children. About three years ago Mr. Beard built a garage and side drive, promising the children in the neighborhood that he would buy enough ice cream for cones for everyone if they would keep off the cement until it was dry. They did, and he kept his promise, never realizing he was setting a precedent. Every June it has become a tradition for him to choose one night and dole out cones until everyone is satisfied. I really think that every year each child brings one or two more friends until last Thursday night I counted about 35 children. He'll be sorry he ever became involved.

Isn't it wonderful to have the summer recreation program? It seems that no matter what the age of a child they need some kind of supervised recreation, although it is possible many of them sign up strictly to go swimming. Whatever the reason, it keeps their mind occupied during the long summer days. Too much leisure time just seems to bore them.

Chips from the ROCK

A well known Michigan high school athletic coach took time out from his first week of vacation to write a letter to each one of his possible candidates in school next fall. I was told of the unusual gesture of the coach and the unusual content of the letter, so I made it a point to get a copy and read what he had to say.

I was so impressed with the content of the letter that I felt every teen-age boy in Plymouth and every parent of a teenager should have an opportunity to read it, too. Below are excerpts from the coach's instruction and I commend them to you highly.

"I wanted to write to all of you early in the summer in order to give you some advice that was given to me when I was of your age. This advice helped me a tremendous amount and brought me an abundance of lasting happiness.

"It is important to realize that you are presently developing habits, ideas and ways of life that will effect in many ways your future life. This pattern of life that you are forming is important to realize and to consider. A happy person is often one who realizes he is doing his very best with the qualities and facilities that he possesses. You have heard it said that there is a great deal of happiness and satisfaction in knowing that you are doing your very best. Many times you must make certain sacrifices in order to strengthen your weaknesses so that you can achieve your best effort. Certainly these patterns you are presently developing will be a part of your daily life forever.

"Qualities such as speed, quickness, strength, stamina alertness are important and these can be developed over the summer and during next fall.

"A training program requires a great deal of personal incentive. In most cases what you do this summer will not be observed by me or your teammates. We will not know until next season what you have done to help us. But we must count on everyone to do his part. What ever you do during the summer will be of great help to the team and to you personally in the future. It will help you to build a strong healthy body (and your health largely determines your happiness) and it will bring you happiness because you will realize next year that you have done your very best to prepare yourself for the skills and conditioning that sports require. Think of all the crippled children that would give anything to have the opportunity to train for a sport. They would love to be able to run, to compete and to condition their body. They think about your opportunities hour after hour as they are in bed. Think of the boys with infantile paralysis that have been placed in an iron lung or those with tuberculosis that will never be able to run a step.

"I have been thinking about the coming season and no doubt you have too. We must think of it constantly and realize our responsibility to the school, the team, and to ourselves personally. This responsibility is to have a winning season besides building character. To fulfill this responsibility we all must train conscientiously twenty-four hours a day and in addition set aside at least one-half hour each day to train specifically for the coming season.

"Training twenty-four hours a day means keeping your body in fine tone by having pride in the fact that you are in condition and can call upon your physical capacities to do any job arising in emergency and competition. It is not a task or a sacrifice but a pleasure and enjoyment because the rewards will be overwhelming. Getting the proper amount of sleep each night and eating regular and healthful meals will make the difference on how well you are able to compete against other teams and more important against other men. Regular hours of sleep and getting to bed at the same time every night are as necessary as not eating between meals at all. It is a common tendency for the American boy during the summer to drink soda pop and eat sweets. Refrain from this tradition.

"Training for at least one-half hour a day can be as much profit to you as you are willing to make it. To begin—lay out a cross country course around the block or through some neighboring fields. This should be two miles in length to be of maximum benefit. You all must have either a chinning bar or a tree with some sturdy branches at home. Use these to good advantage by doing dips and chin-ups. Similarly do push-ups for about five minutes every night which will mean doing from 25 to 100. Also of great benefit are general conditioning exercises which should be included. All total these exercises, including your running, generally will not take more than one-half hour. Certainly considering the rewards this is not too much to sacrifice. Of course you can add to this program as much as you like. Not included are things like running to destinations instead of walking or hopping in the car and competing in sports throughout the summer.

Remember that if we are to win next year we must not only have more desire to win but be in greater condition. Through the years most of our opponents have had more natural ability than we and to win we must compensate for this. Superiority in knowledge and desire, it is true, will balance deficiency but they are not enough. We must have physical qualities also. Even if our men have as much natural ability as their opponents it only puts us on a par with them. To win we must be better and to win we must work during the summer. There is no one to encourage and congratulate you for your efforts, as they will only be known next winter, but you individually must see your responsibility and train hard."

Ziegler Plan Settles Storm

UNEASY PEACE REIGNS over Gov. Williams' office and the domain of Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler. But both are keeping their powder dry.

Williams has been heckling Ziegler since last year over Michigan's road system. It was a shambles and Ziegler was slapping on patches rather than building new roads, according to Williams. This session the legislature added 1 1/2 cents to the gasoline tax.

For weeks, Williams and his aides needed Ziegler to get started. Ziegler, one of two remaining Republicans on the State Administrative Board, said the money wasn't yet available, but he would see what could be done.

Then came the strategy. Ziegler popped up with a $1,200,000,000 highway program, complete with a priority schedule to give the state 1,140 miles of major highways and 400 miles of routes in metropolitan areas. It will be completed in 10 years, Ziegler said.

Slightly abashed at the sudden show of progress, Williams called off his running battle with Ziegler. "He has developed a reasonable plan," Williams said.

It has been a long haul since last October when Williams and the Democrats made the highway issue a major plank in the party campaign for election. GOP Party leaders plainly were unhappy that Ziegler declined to come up with answers to toss back at Williams.

Through the legislative session of 1955, Ziegler was a storm center. At one point, there was talk of turning the new highway program to a separate agency.

So now Ziegler comes up with a long-range plan for highways—an impressive presentation showing it must have been in preparation long before the tax bill for $35 million was passed.

Where does that leave politicians next year at the time for vote-gathering?

Republicans can point to Ziegler and take credit for the highway program. Williams will say it wouldn't have been achieved without prodding from Democrats.

That way the motoring public will pay the tax, ride on new roads and accept any explanation they want—if they want one.

FARMERS ARE GETTING another service from the state and Michigan State University.

The state agricultural commission approved a program creating a swine herd inspection system, complete with certification of herds.

And the commission also gave a boost to the promotion of Michigan agricultural products by granting funds to four major organizations for the purpose.

They are the American Farm Economics Association $480, the Benton Harbor Market Board $10,000; the Michigan Bean Shippers Association $1,300; the Michigan Beekeepers Association $240.

CLARK J. ADAMS, a Pontiac attorney, should feel right at home in public life again.

He was appointed by Gov. Williams as the new fourth circuit judge in Oakland county. He will take office January 1, 1956 and be required to face his first election test the next November.

During his career, Adams has served in all three branches of state government, legislative, administrative and judicial.

First, he served three terms as a member of the House from the second Oakland county district; he was Williams' first legal advisor and was later appointed to the Michigan Supreme Court.

Defeated in his try for reelection in 1953, Adams returned to private law practice in Pontiac. He was appointed in the spring to the Michigan Corrections Commission.

He will serve on the commission until he takes the bench as circuit judge next Jan. 1. "Adams has always done a good job wherever he served," said one executive office aide. "He will make a lot of friends for himself and do the public a great service."

LEGISLATORS ARE ORGANIZING a 15-member study committee to work out the future of higher education in Michigan.

There will be five members from each chamber and another five, composed of businessmen, industrial executives and possibly an educator.

Already a difference of opinion has developed. Senator Don Vander Werp (R-Fremont) is anxious to aid junior and community colleges while Senator Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo) goes more for building up four-year colleges.

The committee will hold hearings in the capitol and around the state during the summer and come up with recommendations for the 1956 legislative session.

"We've got to find the answers," Vander Werp said. "This is a $150 million problem."

Burma Companies Offer Sound Plan

Babson Park, Mass., June 30. Last week I showed that Uranium, Aviation, the Telephone, and Television are opening up the entire world to businessmen with vision. I will now offer some suggestions to investors with vision.

J. R. GOVETT

For the past 100 years English and American promoters have sought "concessions" to invest money and do business in foreign countries. These concessions consisted of railroad and trolley lines, electric power plants, manufacturing or merchandizing operations, and later mining and timber rights. Some were unprincipled exploitations, but most have been honestly operated. All, however, have given little attention to the local people of these foreign countries, almost none of whom have had a stock interest.

These "one-sided" agreements have caused many diplomatic misunderstandings and even revolutions "against the white man." Where the "white man" has insisted on his "pound of flesh" and has refused to voluntarily give up anything, he has ultimately lost; but in Burma this has not been the case. I have in mind Burma Mines Limited, Burmah Oil Co., and other foreign developments. Burma has a wonderful climate and faces on the Bay of Bengal midway between Indo-China and India. During World War II Burma was sacked by the Japanese, and Burmese companies were forced to reorganize. J. R. Govett, of 37 Dover Street, London, formulated a plan which will be used world-wide.

THE BURMA PLAN

Mr. Govett's Plan divides stock ownership, and membership on the Board of Directors of the foreign-owned companies between the old stockholders and the foreign government at the start of the reorganization. One half of the stock goes to the old stockholders, and the other half is put in trust in a Rangoon bank to be delivered to the Burmese Government as it contributes labor and native supplies. The Govett Plan insures that the profits henceforth will be divided fifty-fifty. The foreign nation supplies the ore, or oil, or customers if it is a utility, while the English and American investors supply the "know-how" and management.

I not only believe in the future of these Burma "50-50" companies, but I also believe in other companies in Africa, Australia, and Argentina which are considering the Govett Plan. Powerful Standard Oil interests have just adopted a similar plan for the Argentine, and the St. Joseph Lead Company may follow. A great opportunity for the Govett Plan lies with the American & Foreign Power Company which has holdings in Argentina, Brazil, Mexico, Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador, Guatemala, Panama, Chile, Cuba, Costa Rica, and China. Most of these properties I have personally visited, including the Shanghai Power Company.

SHANGHAI POWER COMPANY

This was a most valuable property in a city of 6,000,000 population. When it was expropriated by the Communists, it probably could have been saved by adopting the Govett-Burma Plan; but the American & Foreign Power Company, which owned it, hesitated to make such an offer fearing to set a precedent. As a result, the Shanghai Power Company bonds, sold to U. S. investors originally for $1,000 each, can now be bought for $5 each. The properties are still mentioned in the annual reports, but no capacity, output, or earning figures are included.

This would especially be true if Congress should pass certain tax legislations favoring foreign investments. If however, the Management and Congress are stubborn, this stock could become valueless. Several times I have personally talked this problem over with the Company's famous founder, the late Sidney Mitchell, but it was wasted breath on my part. He was an honest and remarkable man, with technical training and great energy; but he was a hard dictator with very little social vision.

★ THINKING OUT LOUD ★

One question, sometimes controversial, sometimes personal is asked each week by The Mail of four pedestrians along Plymouth's downtown streets. This week's guests are "thinking out loud" on the question:

"There have been recommendations made in Congress that the three cent stamp be raised in price to four cents in order to help bring the post office department 'out of the red.' Would you favor such a raise?"

STANLEY COON, Redford township: "Postal employees are underpaid so I think they should give the extra cent to them. As a citizen, I can't say that I'd like to see the increase, but the post office department should be able to pay its own way."

JACK TAYLOR, 13928 Ridgewood: "I would like to see it raised if it is necessary. But first I would like to see the department run as efficiently as possible. Business people who have a large volume of mail might not like it very much. Other people might notice the extra cent at Christmas time."

Coon Taylor Mrs. Pursell Mrs. O'Reilly MRS. ROY PURSELL, 639 South Main: "There was a raise to four cents in Canada some time ago. Of course none of us like to pay any more than we have to. The extra postage might help to raise the pay of postal employees. Government workers should be paid as much as those working in other jobs, such as in factories. Perhaps minimizing the mailing operation to raise efficiency and cut costs should be tried more. I don't believe that changing many of the postmasters with each change in administration helps efficiency either." MRS. DOROTHY O'REILLY, 11435 General Drive: "We would soon get used to the four cent stamp just like we got used to other changes. There will probably be a lot of griping for a while but I think that the postal department should balance its budget."
