

What Happens Next?

A comparative calm seems to have fallen over the annexation and incorporation plans of city and township leaders which reached a high boiling point this spring after Western Electric announced plans to locate a factory in this area.

While the calm is actually nothing more than a "waiting period" for both sides, it might be well to recap what has gone on before and look at the developments which must take place before a decision can be reached in the city-township tussle.

The area-wide bombshell burst on May 3rd when Western Electric company officials announced that an option had been taken on the 5-acre Roderick Cassady farm on Sheldon road to construct a 600-employee factory. The explosion was really caused by company stipulation that the property must be annexed to the city so that water, sewer and other facilities would be available.

Immediate reaction in the township was to call for incorporation of the township to halt "piecemeal grabbing." Subsequently a township citizens' committee decided upon the name "Charleston" for its new city. Still later the committee filed the required petition with the Wayne County Board of Supervisors defining the boundaries of its newly proposed city and requesting an election date to vote on incorporation.

Meanwhile the city was not standing still. Even before the township petition was filed the Wayne County Board received an annexation petition from the city for all of the township excluding the Cassady property; at the same time Cassady filed a petition requesting annexation of his complete 85-acre farm.

While the city seems to be leading in the "race of petitions," none of the barrage has progressed farther than the ways and means committee of the Wayne County Board.

Action has been taken, however, on two other petitions. One signed by both city and township residents asked for a census of both areas. This census has been taken. Cassady also filed a petition with the township board asking for release of his property for annexation to the city. Although the board took neither positive nor negative action on this petition, it is assumed that it is tabled forever unless the city drops its annexation plans for the township.

What does this all mean to residents of Plymouth and Plymouth township? Will Western Electric bring its huge plant to our area? Or will Charleston surround Plymouth? Odder still, could the city's petition to bring in all of the township except the Cassady property gain a winning vote while the Cassady petition was neglected? This would leave Mr. Cassady with an 85-acre domain of his own!

We have no crystal ball nor can we find any area official who is willing to hazard a guess. From where we sit, however, it appears that the Cassady petition, which would require an approving vote by city-dwellers and by Mr. and Mrs. Cassady (as residents of the property to be annexed), holds first place in the petition derby. Should this be true, we might find that the township will remain township (minus the Cassady property); that the city will gain 35-acres and a factory; and that peace and quiet (?) will again return to a small city with big growing pains.

Commissioners Hopefully Examine Sewer Plans for Western Electric

Hopeful that the Western Electric company will be able to someday construct their plant here, the city commission held a special session Monday night to examine plans for extending sewers to the Sheldon road site. Approval, of course, will depend on whether or not the property is first annexed to the city.

Engineer Herald Hamill, hired by the commission to draw plans for sanitary and storm sewers, appeared before the group. The proposed sewers would cost about $40,000, part of which would be paid by the company. Hamill's plans would also provide a sewer large enough to allow service for other future homes or buildings in the area. Some commissioners suggested that the plan be enlarged to include a sewer south on Sheldon road where several subdivisions are expected to develop.

No action was taken on the proposal. Hamill is to bring estimates to next week's meeting on how costs of the sewer could be defrayed by future property owners.

The fate of the Western Electric company factory construction here is still undecided. It will be up to the ways and means committee of the county board of supervisors to approve the petition of Roderick Cassady for annexation of his property.

Starkweather Playground Site Purchased

Carl Caplin Elected President Of Local Board of Education

Some 700 people who signed a petition asking that the Starkweather elementary school playground be enlarged saw their desire carried out this week when the board of education voted to purchase a tract of land east of the school.

The board also selected Carl Caplin as president for the next fiscal year. Other officers elected were Horton Booth, vice-president; Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing, secretary; and Warren L. Smith, treasurer. Harold Fischer elected to the board at last month's election, will serve as trustee.

Trio Admits Four Local Burglaries, 46 Elsewhere

Three men who have been involved in over 50 burglaries from Ohio to the tip of the Thumb — including four in the Plymouth area — will be sentenced today in Bad Axe.

Two are brothers from Nankin township, Neil Farver, 25, and Leon, 19, of 38720 Belview. Their companion was Aaron Dunn, 30, of Washington, Michigan.

The trio was responsible for taking over $200 from Roberts Supply, about $10 from Strasen & Diederick Service station, $56 from Kelseys Gulf Service, and tools from West Brothers Nash and West Brothers Implements.

The three were arrested July 1 in Huron county for breaking and entering. Livonia detectives traveled to Bad Axe last week and talked to the men and discovered that they were involved in numerous Wayne county thefts.

It is estimated that they have taken money and merchandise valued between $8,000 and $10,000.

Their arrest closed 25 breaking and entering cases in Wayne county alone. Besides solving the three in the city for police and one in the township for sheriff's officers, it closed the books on 11 cases in Livonia, 10 for the Michigan State Police, one for Ohio State Police, one for Oakland county sheriff's officers and about 22 in other parts of Michigan.

Livonia police brought the three men to the Livonia jail this week for questioning, during which Plymouth police talked to the men. Local police said that the men had burglarized so many places that they remembered the names of only a few of the establishments.

A circuit court judge in Bad Axe is to sentence the trio tomorrow. They have already pleaded guilty. Although they can be sentenced for the crimes committed in Huron county, the other thefts will serve as a determining factor in the extent of the sentence.

Caplin is a downtown clothier and has one son in high school and another in college.

In other business before the board, four bids were received on a new school but no action was taken.

Motorcyclist, 57, Hurt in Collision

A Northville motorcycle rider is in "acute" condition at Wayne County General hospital following a crash last Saturday morning at Sheldon road and Ann Arbor trail.

James R. Norris, 57, who rooms at 121 High street, Northville, was driving his motorcycle south on Sheldon when it crashed into the side of a car traveling west on Ann Arbor trail driven by Robert Bailey, 1091 Starkweather. It is believed that Norris failed to heed a stop sign.

Plymouth police and sheriff's deputies were both at the accident scene. It occurred at 7:11 a.m.

Norris has no relatives in this part of the nation. Friends said that this is his third serious motorcycle accident in the past few years. Hospital authorities reported that he is suffering a broken arm, a leg fractured in two places and multiple cuts and bruises.

A Plymouth youth, Richard Burden, 143 South Union, was injured in a head-on collision at 8:30 p.m. last Friday on Ford road near Newburg. Burden was making a left turn off Ford road when his car was struck head-on by a car driven by James C. Maddox, 751 Lowew, Ypsilanti. Deputies said that both drivers were unable to state how the mishap occurred. Both cars were heavily damaged. Burden was driving a car only two weeks old.

Plymouth Woman Seeks Dog Lost In Fatal Crash

Mrs. Jesse F. Tritten, 41840 East Ann Arbor trail, relative of Charles Clayborn of Marshall, Michigan, who was killed early Saturday morning in a Livonia auto accident, is asking for help in locating the year-old Beagle puppy belonging to Clayborn's son which escaped at the time of the accident.

The four-year-old youngster, Charles Jr., now residing with his grandparents in Battle Creek, refuses to eat after the tragic loss of his father and now, his pet dog. Description of "Spotty" is as follows: Male, black and white, brown markings on ears and head and dark skin spots underlying white hair on body. Anyone finding the dog should contact Mrs. Tritten.

According to the local relatives, the mishap occurred at 3 a.m. Saturday at Plymouth and Stark roads, Livonia, while the Clayborns, their three children and a friend of their daughter's were enroute home after vacationing in Canada. The driver, 17-year-old Robert Thorson of Marshall, fell asleep behind the wheel and the car crashed into a post at the side of the road. Clayborn was pinned beneath the automobile and died shortly after the accident occurred. Thorson sustained only minor injuries.

Mrs. Clayborn suffered a broken arm and other internal injuries; her daughter, Norma, 13, a broken jaw with complications. Both were taken to Wayne County General hospital, where they underwent surgery Monday. The Clayborn's other daughter, Mary Sue, 8, suffered a broken arm in the crash and is staying with her brother, Charles, at the grandparents home. Charles received only bruises from the accident.

CARL CAPLIN, second from right, was elected president of the board of education last Monday night. The five members will have the responsibility of starting planning for construction of a new elementary and junior high during the new fiscal year. Others, from left, are Harold Fischer, trustee; Horton Booth, vice-president; Warren Smith, treasurer; Caplin; and Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing, secretary.

Elm Disease on Increase

Thirty-five elm trees in Plymouth and its fringe area have been declared suspected victims of Dutch elm disease, it was reported this week by an inspector for the Bureau of Plant Industry.

William Derderian, Dutch elm disease inspector for the bureau, completed his check of all elm trees in the vicinity last Friday and reported that samples from 35 trees have been sent into Lansing for a conclusive analysis.

Last year's check by a state inspector turned up about a half dozen diseased trees. It therefore appears that the beetle infestation is on the increase here.

The state bureau will write a letter to property owners who have infected trees. It will instruct them to remove the tree within 10 days. It will also tell the method of removal, either by burning on the spot or spraying the tree before it is hauled away.

Derderian said that there will be a check to see if the order is complied with. If not, court action will be taken.

Hugh McAuley, the Plymouth parks foreman, accompanied Derderian on the inspection which included all elms in the city and a quarter mile fringe. McAuley conducted a spraying program this past spring while trees were in bud and a second round of spraying began Monday. Derderian declared that spraying is not a 100 per cent protection but that he is sure that it has saved many Plymouth elms.

All trees on city property will be sprayed. Persons having trees on their own property can have them sprayed at $1 each by calling city hall.

The center of the Dutch elm disease spread into Michigan is the Grosse Pointe area. There are some 35,000 elms in the Pointe communities which comprises 80 per cent of the tree population. Thousands of trees are infected.

The disease is a fungus carried by the elm bark beetle. It spreads through tiny holes bored in the bark by the beetle in search of sap. The fungi spores then enter the nutrient in the tissues just under the bark and it is these epidermal tissues which carry life sustaining water to the branches. As the spore matures, it becomes sticky, clogging up the water supply. Branches wither and die.

Experts say that the beetle will not feed on infected trees. He jumps to another tree and a single case may infect trees in the entire block within a few weeks. It takes about 10 days for verification of a diseased tree from Lansing, making it possible for the disease to spread quite far before a tree is condemned.

Church Dedication Set For Autumn

The date of Sunday, September 11 has been set for the ceremony which will dedicate the new St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church on Penniman avenue.

A completion date had originally been set in June by the builder but this deadline could not be met, the Reverend Edgar Hoenecke stated. Since many people are now on vacation, the dedication date has been postponed until fall.

Reverend Hoenecke said that the extended date will also give members an opportunity to do much of the finishing work themselves. Members are expected to lay tile, paint, do the landscaping and other small jobs this summer.

The new St. Peter's church is located on Penniman at Garfield. Location of their present building is at the east end of Spring street, beside Starkweather school.

Local Family Gives Memorial Fund For Crippled Children Headquarters

The memorial fund contributed by friends and relatives of Mrs. Verna Rice Kreger, who passed away last year, has been accepted by the Wayne Out-County Chapter of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Mrs. Kreger was the young wife of Arthur Kreger and only child of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Rice. She was severely hurt in an auto crash several years ago, and though she seemingly recovered from those injuries, hidden nerve damage led to another disability that caused her death.

The money will be used to buy office furniture for the new one-story building being planned for the Easter Seal Society by Bennett and Straight, Dearborn architects.

The site for the new building will be in the center of Wayne County at Michigan and Middle Belt. Facilities will include a covered driveway, glassed-in central corridor, multi-use area, storage, special boys' and girls' rooms, a model kitchen, waiting room, clerical office, executive office and conference room.

At the present time, the Society occupies a room at the County Health Department headquarters, and its equipment consists of two desks and a typewriter. Executive Secretary, Mrs. Herma Taylor, R. N., and her co-workers use Health Department files. With this meager equipment they administer Easter Seal funds to supplement the services of tax-supported agencies.

According to Mrs. Taylor, the Society can operate with more flexibility than is possible for the government agencies with their set legal controls. In this way, services to the needy can be rounded out to fit individual human cases better.

Some of these extra services that the Society gives are transportation to clinics, volunteer drivers, Easter Seal station wagon, payment of a diagnostic examination if the patient can't afford it, and referral to Michigan Crippled Children's Commission. Sometimes Easter Seal money buys smaller items, such as special shoes.

Other services which require central planning, office personnel and equipment are outings for the handicapped, Crippled Children's Day Camp offers crafts, group singing, pony rides, amateur shows and even a visit from the local fire departments for the younger children. The Happy Friendship Club offers such thrills as trips to the Flat Rock hot-rod races for teen-agers. Adults also have their get-togethers and expeditions. One highlight for them last winter was a trip to Cinerama.

Township Zoner Resigns

F. E. "Jake" Hines, a member of the township zoning board since the summer of 1953, has submitted his resignation. The township board has not yet filled the vacancy.

Hines said that he is resigning in order that he can take care of other matters which will take him away from Plymouth much of the time. He said he is going into semi-retirement and will spend much time in other parts of the state and perhaps in Florida.

Remaining as members of the board are Carl Hartwick, Thomas Zak and Harold Belch.

BEATING THE HEAT last week was no problem to these youngsters, who doused themselves adequately in the Stanley Hough swimming pool, 40106 Gilbert street, in Robinson Subdivision. Built last summer by Hough for just such pleasure as pictured here, the pool was well-populated as the temperature soared toward the 90's. The two children in the front row from left are

Carol Oldenburg Becomes Bride at Methodist Church

At a nuptial ceremony read by the Reverend P. Ray Norton in the First Methodist church on Saturday afternoon, July 2, Carol Oldenburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Oldenburg of 418 Blunk avenue, became the bride of Joseph William Vorbeck, Jr. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vorbeck of 15911 Deering, Livonia.

Baskets of white gladioli, stephanotis, palms and candelabra decorated the church altar for the four o'clock ceremony. The organist, Mrs. Joyce Beglarian, accompanied Miss Mary Lou Hartwick who sang "Through The Years" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Carol was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of white satin and Lohengren lace. The lace-fashioned yoke was outlined in seed pearls and extended down over the fitted bodice to form a peplum at the waist. Panels of lace extended over the full skirt and through the train of cathedral length.

The bride's fingertip veil of illusion was secured by a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Lee A. Owens, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Donald E. Moore and Mrs. Robert Sanderson. All were gowned in white and carried spray bouquets of red happiness rosebuds with streamers of green ivy. Their dresses were fashioned of nylon net with crystalline bodice and cummerbund.

Flower girl for the nuptial ceremony was Miss Linda Kirkwood, niece of the bridegroom. Her dress was of blue taffeta with overskirt of white dotted swiss. Gary Vorbeck, brother of the bridegroom, was the ringbearer.

The services of best man were performed by Gerald Vorbeck, brother of the bridegroom. Seating the guests were Richard Klason and Ralph LeBlanc.

For Carol's wedding, Mrs. Oldenburg chose a rose dress with white accessories and corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother selected a navy dress with white accessories and pink carnation corsage.

Two hundred guests attended the buffet supper in the church dining room following the ceremony. Mrs. Ralph Diedrick, sister of the bride, cut the wedding cake. The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Kenneth Kirkwood, was in charge of the guest book. The out-of-town guest list included those from Farmington, Northville, Walled Lake, Livonia, Wayne, Dearborn, Ann Arbor, Garden City, California, Florida and New York State.

For her motor trip through the Eastern states the new Mrs. Vorbeck changed to a blue linen suit with white hat and gloves and honey-colored shoes and purse.

Bachelorette - Warrenner Rites Solemnized in Ontonagon, Mich.

Nuptial vows were exchanged by Miss Marjorie Ann Warrenner of Ontonagon, Michigan and John C. Bachelorette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bachelorette of 157 South Main street, Plymouth, at a double-ring ceremony held at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, June 25, in The Methodist church of Ontonagon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald G. Warrenner of 110 East River street, Ontonagon.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Warrenner wore a gown of candlelight satin, fashioned with fitted bodice, a yoke of lace with tiny collar trimmed in seed pearls and long sleeves traditionally pointed at the wrist. The full floor-length skirt swept into a short train and was detailed with a scalloped front panel of chantilly lace over satin. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught by a lace tiara trimmed with seed pearls. Miss Warrenner wore a strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom, and carried a cascade bouquet of fringed chrysanthemums and English ivy.

Joan Redd to Marry Plymouth Serviceman

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Redd of 48305 Hanford announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan, to Gordon Campbell, United States Navy, son of Mrs. Allan Campbell of 45110 Joy road, and the late Allen W. Campbell.

New Farmers' Market, Roadside Stands Doing Brisk Business

THE FARMERS' MARKET opened in Plymouth this Monday with a moderate amount of business for the three sellers. Mrs. Burton Rich, 9500 Brookville road, is purchasing corn from Mary Angevine. Others are Martha Kliniski, left, and Robert Kliniski.

Whether or not the Farmers' Market idea will materialize in Plymouth is still unknown, but there is no doubt that the large number of vegetable and fruit growers in the area are in for another big year.

Three growers set up their stands last Monday as the Farmers' Market got underway at South Main and Wing streets. Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee, the market is being given a test to determine how much interest there is in such an idea by growers and consumers.

It was reported that the three growers who set up stands Monday were completely sold out and had to return home for more produce. The market is to be open each Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. through October 31.

The numerous vegetable sellers in the Plymouth area are reporting big yields of nearly every garden crop. The sweet corn harvest began in earnest this week and the yellow and white varieties are making their way to nearly every dinner table nowadays.

One needs only to ride down the roads in any direction from Plymouth to find several roadside stands. Hundreds of cars are attracted to the countryside during the weekends because of the vegetable stands alone. Residents from Detroit and many other communities often make trips to this part of the county to visit the stands around Plymouth, Northville and Livonia.

OBITUARY

John L. Wilhelmi

The rosary will be recited at 9 this evening in the Wilkie Funeral home, West Outer drive and Lahser road, Detroit, for John L. Wilhelmi of 703 Adams street, Plymouth. Mr. Wilhelmi, age 69, succumbed from a heart attack Tuesday morning, July 12, at University hospital in Ann Arbor.

Services will be held at Our Lady of Good Counsel church tomorrow morning at 9:30 with the Reverend Francis C. Byrne officiating. Interment will be in Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

The deceased came to Plymouth 10 years ago from Nekoma, North Dakota, where he had engaged in farming. An employee of the former Allen Industries for approximately eight years, Mr. Wilhelmi had retired two years ago.

He was a member of Our Lady of Good Counsel church and of the Holy Name Society.

Besides his wife, Elizabeth, the deceased is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Marie Johnson of Plymouth and Mrs. Lucille Wilkie of Detroit; and one son, Arthur, of Nekoma, North Dakota. Three sisters, Mrs. Josephine Peterson of Loma, North Dakota, Mrs. Anna Lorenz of Nekoma, North Dakota, and Mrs. Rose Kertz of Langdon, North Dakota; and seven grandchildren also survive.

Pallbearers will be nephews of the deceased: Joseph, Adam and Michael Wilhelmi, Ben and Francis Stahl, and Jack Spanier. Honorary pallbearer will be Ralph and Henry Lorenz, John Liebersbach, Pete Delvo, Ralph Howitz and John Wohn.

Michigan Bell Contributes to School Fund

Michigan Bell Telephone Company will make a record contribution of $8,286,000 to the Primary School Fund this year.

A check for $4,143,000 covering the company's half-year payment has been turned over to Louis M. Nims, state revenue commissioner, by Courtney W. Eidt, assistant treasurer of the company. Another check of like amount will be paid Oct. 31.

The 1955 payments will exceed the tax of a year ago by more than $1,000,000. Payments this year, Eidt said, will raise the company's total contribution to more than $128,000,000 since 1908 when the Primary School Fund provision was embodied in the state constitution.

The company's tax is allocated to school districts throughout the state on the basis of the school census. Michigan Bell is the largest single contributor to the Primary School Fund.

Payments Made to Area Customers

June 30th earnings paid to savings customers totaled more than $1,200,000, reports Walter Gehrke, president of First Federal Savings of Detroit.

Earnings payments are made each June 30th and December 31st; this is First Federal's 42nd semi-annual payment. With gains in savings totals averaging about 20% a year for the past several years, earnings payments have kept pace. Earnings paid in 1953 were $1,328,118.56; in 1954, $2,195,421.90. First Federal has more than 80,000 savings customers.

Headquarters of First Federal of Detroit are at Griswold and Lafayette, across from Detroit's City Hall. Branch offices are at Woodward at McLean, Woodward at 9 mile, Penniman Ave., Plymouth, Gratiot at 7 Mile, Grand River at McNichols and Sheldon Center in Livonia.

High Death Toll For State Roads Certain in '55

If current trends continue, 2,000 this year as compared with 1,785 in 1954, an increase of 12 per cent. It would be the third time on record that this occurred.

The gloomy forecast is contained in the monthly traffic accident report compiled by the State Police. It shows that in May 157 persons were killed and 5,428 injured in 15,237 reported accidents. There were eight more deaths than in May last year, an increase of five per cent. Injuries increased 651, or 14 per cent, and accidents went up 979, or seven per cent.

It was the third consecutive month that deaths increased. The record for the first five months of this year is 691 persons killed, a gain of 11 per cent over the same period a year ago, 21,649 persons injured, an increase of five per cent, and 74,987 accidents, up one per cent.

Mileage traveled the first four months of this year, the latest figures available, totaled 8.9 billion, an increase of nearly nine per cent over 8.2 billion during the same period in 1954. The death rate of 6.0 per 100 million miles of travel was up three per cent over 5.8.

There are only two other years on record in which the death toll was more than 2,000. The first was 1937, with the all time high of 2,175. Next highest was in 1941 with 2,133.

The first law making pasteurization of milk compulsory was enacted in Chicago 47 years ago.

Only two countries, the United States and New Zealand, have a generally established 40-hour week; a 48-hour week prevails in most other industrial countries.

Mighty Salmon Disappearing From United States Waters

Formerly this salmon was one of the more important food and game fishes from Delaware north along the Atlantic Coast. Now it has practically vanished from the waters of the United States.

Its disappearance may well be due to a large extent to the pollution of the streams in which it bred, to the erection of dams beyond which it could not go to its breeding spots and to unwise harvest of the crop by men who could profit by taking them.

Atlantic salmon have become resident in some lakes and there may be taken by sportsmen acting under practices definitely designed to maintain a supply.

measure to 4 feet and weigh to 74 pounds.

The eggs are heavy and not sticky. With water at 57 degrees F. they may hatch in 22 days and under ideal conditions may at a temperature of 63 degrees F. grow an inch a month for awhile. Young parr feed much as do trout on aquatic insects but they are more inclined to be bottom feeders.

SPORTS FISHERMEN commonly take their salmon on artificial flies. The fish are more deliberate about taking flies than are trout ordinarily and because of this the strike is more delayed than that practiced by the trout fisherman.

Commonly salmon are taken in waters so clear that the fish may be seen in the act of taking the bait. Atlantic salmon are taken commercially in Canadian waters and the fish may be bought for food in some eastern fish markets.

So involved is the task of maintaining a supply of these fishes that it challenges the best in fish managers. Politics, ethics and financial interests are involved, and commercial interests clash with recreation, with carelessness and with fate. The results have not been universally gratifying to the National Wildlife Federation and to other groups interested in the welfare of fish and wildlife.

Memorial Resolution

WHEREAS, the husband and parents of the late Verna Rice Kreger are desirous of perpetuating the memory of said loved one in a manner which would serve to benefit a cause which she held so dear to her heart, namely the helping hand of assistance to crippled children, and

WHEREAS, through the generosity and kindness of the said husband and parents of Verna Rice Kreger a sum has been given by them—sufficient to provide office equipment for the headquarters of the Wayne Out-County Chapter of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, That the Board of Directors of the Wayne Out-County Chapter of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults does hereby accept with heartfelt thanks and appreciation the sum so contributed as aforesaid and does hereby direct that the office equipment purchased with such funds shall bear a plate inscribed with the words "In Memory of Verna Rice Kreger," and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Board of Directors does hereby express to Arthur J. Kreger, and to Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Rice, her parents the sincere thanks of the Chapter for this splendid memorial.

Sees No Water Restrictions Here

While most Wayne county communities are worrying about water restrictions, Plymouth water users have been supplied with all the water they need and there appears no need to fear that there will be a shortage.

City Manager Albert Glassford said that the year's peak was reached last Saturday when 2,500,000 gallons were pumped. Some householders will find that pumping this amount of water has its objections. An alga, which most people term as rust, is found in the water.

Glassford said that a supplementary well located near Wilcox lake is used when water pumpage is high. This well contains the alga and the substance continues to grow in the mains when the well is not used.

Use of this well is expected to be less frequent when the new well on Five Mile road is tied in to the water system. This is not expected to be completed for another month or more.

Most Wayne county communities use Detroit water and are subject to summer-long water restrictions. Even further restrictions were threatened last week. Plymouth receives its water from wells.

Commissioners Examine

(Continued from Page 1) election on the issue. If the election is approved, a date will be set and only the Cassadys and qualified voters in the city will go to the polls.

Western Electric has asked that the Cassidy farm site be annexed to the city before they build. The township board recently turned down a petition from Cassidy asking that the property be released for annexation to the city. For this reason, Cassidy is resorting to the "long" method of election.

Holds Street Dance In Garling Subdivision

A street dance is something seldom seen in Plymouth but one was held last Friday night for members of the Parkview Circle Home-owners association and their guests.

Under a streetlight at Parkview and Garling drives, square and round dancing music was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carson, well-known local square dance callers and instructors. The couple appeared at the dance in appreciation for the large number of association members who participated in their square dance classes last winter.

Several of the homes were thrown open for refreshments during the evening.

Township Firemen Extinguish Small Blaze

A mattress fire at the Johnson residence, 40314 Joy road, was extinguished by township firemen early Monday morning. All three trucks were on the scene.

Fire department officials said that the cause of the fire is unknown. Although the fire was confined to the mattress, there is some smoke damage which must be figured into the loss.

Firemen made a more pleasant trip on Wednesday of last week when they traveled to the Crippled Children's Day camp on Plymouth road. Each of the children was allowed to handle the low pressure hoses. A demonstration of the various pieces of fire fighting equipment was also given.

Plymouth Women Hurt

Mrs. Marion Greathouse, 15708 Park street, suffered lacerations of the lower lip and shock in a three-car collision in Northville Monday night.

Northville police said that Fred O. Koester, 11414 Nathline, Detroit, had stopped to make a left turn. Behind him was Richard Willis, 254 Liriden, Northville, who also was going to turn left. Mrs. Greathouse told police that she had stopped for the signal light and then started when she ran into the Willis car, which in turn crashed into the Koester car.

Rates Drop

Agent Jim Moore of the State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance company announced this week that approval of the new auto insurance rates by the Michigan Commissioner of Insurance would enable his company to lower its rates immediately. State motorists over 25 driving pleasure cars will receive most benefit from the lowered rates, he said.

Miss Ruth Popovich, Miss Barbara Noe and Frank Beach, all of Plymouth, joined the Fireside Forum group of the Methodist church, Ann Arbor, on an outing at Lake James near Angola, Indiana, over last weekend. The party of 15 enjoyed swimming, sailing and hiking while at the cottage of Pat Fritz, a member of the Ann Arbor group.

Kiwanis Hears Wayne Dunlap

His impressions and experiences in Austria during the past year were described to members of the Plymouth Kiwanis club Tuesday evening at its regular Mayflower hotel meeting by Wayne Dunlap. The conductor of the Plymouth Symphony orchestra recently returned from Vienna where he studied under a Fulbright scholarship.

Dunlap observed that communist strength in Austria is slipping but that the country's proximity to Russia accounts for a certain amount of fear among the people. "The Russians, as the liberators, had an excellent opportunity to make a good impression on the Austrians but failed to do so," said Dunlap.

While Dunlap had little praise for the medical care one received in Austria, he pointed to the school system as very good. He said that working conditions were not good from a wage standpoint and that aside from concerts, rugby and skiing there was very little recreation or social activity in Austria.

A special guest at the meeting was George Haas, one of the charter members of Kiwanis International which was organized in 1914. Now a resident of Coral Gables, Florida, Haas formerly resided in Plymouth and was a member of the local club. He is known internationally as "Kiwanian No. 2."

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bisbee and children, David, Brian and Cheryl have returned from a week's stay at their cottage on Big Star Lake near Baldwin. Guests during the week were Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Marshall and son Richard, of Detroit.

CD Director Confined

Leo F. Flowers, director of the Plymouth Township Civil Defense unit, was admitted to St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor last Saturday night after suffering nervous exhaustion.

The breakdown was believed a result of his participation in the July 4th activities. Mrs. Flowers said that the heat "got the best of him" during the day. He became ill on Wednesday and he continued sick through the week. The CD director is reported somewhat improved.

He never is crown'd to follow With immortality, who fears Where airy voices lead. —Keats.

It's Vacationtime For Area Plants

While the Plymouth area is enjoying its highest employment peak in history, employees of most of these industries are also in the midst of enjoying their annual vacations.

Gordon Packard, manager of the local Plymouth office of the Michigan Employment Security commission, said that some plants will be closing down production and retaining skeleton crews while others maintain production by staggering vacations of their employees.

The area's largest employer, Burroughs corporation, will suspend production the last two weeks of July. Manufacturing will cease at the end of the July 15 night shift and will resume Monday morning, August 1. About 400 employees will remain, of which 175 will take inventory.

Daisy Manufacturing has been closed the past two weeks to allow its production workers a vacation.

While workers enjoy their trips or just stay at home, more jobs are opening up for skilled personnel, Packard declared. Tool and die workers, engineers and skilled clerical help are in demand, but most other classifications are rapidly being filled. The employment office manager said that there has been a large influx of migrants from the Southern states during the past 30 days. Some of these people have found jobs, but many are still looking, Packard asserted.

Another bright spot in the labor picture is the enactment of new unemployment benefits which go into effect July 23. The benefits will increase only for those with dependents.

Canines Go to College at Strope Cherry Hill Kennels

That well-known adage about not being able to teach an old dog new tricks doesn't hold true, claims Vern Strope, 47857 Cherry Hill. And Vern would know.

A tall and lanky ex-Kansas, Strope owns the Town and Country dog kennels, where he and his 15-year-old son, Larry, train dogs of all ages, sizes and shapes to be well-mannered and good hunting canines.

This summer marks the second season that the elder Strope, 38, is taking time off from his regular job as an auto salesman to train man's best friend.

A fancier of dogs all his life, Strope carried his boy-hood interest over into recent years. In May of 1954 he built the large kennel on his land at Cherry Hill road with the prime intent of training dogs. The kennel, surrounded by a seven-foot fence, is fire proof and escape proof, and will house 30 dogs, each in individual runs.

He and his son advertise as dog trainers in national magazines and other outdoorsman publications. This year the pair have received letters requesting their services from all parts of the United States. Strope boards the dog for as long as the training program requires.

The main reasons behind the training program are simple, explained Strope. Either the dog won't obey his master properly in the case of need for obedience training, or else it does not know how to point a bird while on the hunt.

For hunting and pointing, the dogs are taught, through long hours of patient repetition by both Larry and his father, how to stand staunch on point. The dog must come to a point and remain while the hunter goes on ahead, flushes the bird and kills it. Then the dog is taught to retrieve.

For obedience the dog is taught to obey his master by both verbal and hand commands that order him to stop, heel, stay, sit, or follow close at the master's leg. The dog must be able to obey equally well either on or off the master's leash.

Strope explained that patience and continuous repetition are the secrets of proper dog training. It is almost necessary to make a careful study of the dog, because each one is a little different from the others.

In most cases, Strope added, it isn't right to train or break the dog in too short a time. This tends to make him cow too much to his master and causes the animal to become mechanical with the individual style. It is the style of a hunting or obedience dog that makes it stand out from others.

The Strope kennel has an outlay of pointers, setters, spaniels and other dogs that would show a fine dog show. Each of the dogs are pure-bred with registered papers and recorded family blood lines.

The training season for hunting dogs, in order to agree with the bird-game laws, lasts from July 15 until October 20. For obedience training the season is year-round.

A training fee for hunting dogs, including the price of boarding him, is $50.00 per month, while the training program for teaching the dog to obey properly costs $75.00 monthly.

Strope's interest in dogs does not stop at the close of their training program. In fact as an owner himself, he has won several trophies and ribbons in Michigan dog show competition and exhibition.

Says Strope of his unusual occupation, "There's a lot of personal satisfaction in training dogs. You get an honest lift out of taking your dog through from a novice to its completed state of training and seeing the finished product."

IN THE FIELD teaching a dog the proper manner in which to point while on a hunt, the father-son duo exercise great patience and repetition to drill the fundamentals into the student. Here Vern and Larry stand quietly watching Bush, an English Pointer, hold a beginner's point.

MURPHY, 10-MONTH-OLD Bassett hound, looks upward patiently at his master, Larry Strope, who by a slow hand signal and a quietly worded command, orders the dog to sit.

VERN STROPE snaps his fingers and Dixie, a peppy young English Pointer, leaps high in the air for her master. This is one of the modern individual dog runs in the 20-house Town and Country kennels.

Harold Wilson Wins District Legion Post

At the election meeting of the 17th District association held Friday evening at the Redford-Detroit Post Home, Harold "Red" Wilson of Passage-Gayde Post No. 291 of Plymouth was elected to the office of Junior vice commander. Wilson has served the local post in several capacities and was Commander for two successive terms in 1950-51 and 1951-52.

William Langmaid, past commander of both the local post and the district, was elected delegate-at-large to the District Executive committee.

Other newly elected 17th District officers are commander, Paul Burnham of the Northville post; senior vice commander, R. Massingill of the Livonia post; finance officer, G. Shannon of Redford-Detroit post; chaplain, M. Allen of Redford Township post; historian, R. Kelso of Rosedale Park post; and sergeant-at-arms, K. Parent of Redford Township post.

Commander-elect Burnham has tentatively scheduled the installation ceremonies for Friday evening, August, 19, at the Lloyd H. Greene Post in Northville.

The scope of the problem of the aged in the United States is indicated in a study which reports that since 1900 the number of persons 65 and over has quadrupled while the total population has only doubled.

No wonder this great '55 Pontiac is setting all-time sales records!

It's bigger, smarter and more powerful than any other car at anything like the price!

A sales success like Pontiac's starts on the drawing boards—with engineers and designers who have been schooled for years in the Pontiac idea of giving more people more car for less money.

With its long 122" or 124" wheelbase and extra, big-car heft, Pontiac provides road-hugging comfort you get in no other car near it in price! Now take this big, roomy car and surround it with the distinction of Twin-Streak styling and Vogue Two-Toning—beauty that obviously is calling the turn on the future—and you have another reason for Pontiac's phenomenal sales success.

That alone would be enough for most cars—but not for Pontiac! Pontiac corners the market on value with the most powerful engine within hundreds of dollars of its price. The sensational 200-horsepower

Strato-Streak V-8 with four-barrel carburetor* is the most modern power you can buy. You're on even terms with anything on the road—and you enjoy the greatest economy and dependability in Pontiac history.

If by now you're thinking "This is what I've wanted all along!", we suggest you stop in and talk dollars and cents. That's when you'll get the final reason for Pontiac's record popularity—the fact that you can fit a big, powerful, future-fashioned Pontiac into any new-car budget! You'll never find it easier to get into the fine-car class than right now! *Low extra cost option

Plan for Plenty of Lawn Faucets Around House, Yard and Garage

Nothing contributes so much to the convenience of lawn care and gardening as having plenty of water conveniently accessible, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Right now, the Bureau says, is a good time to plan for more lawn faucets around the house, yard, or garage so that they will be available when hot weather starts in earnest.

With plenty of lawn faucets at conveniently accessible locations it will be unnecessary to drag long lengths of hose around the yard or garden.

The use of a number of sprinklers at different locations simultaneously is possible when hoses can be connected to different faucets.

Thus the installation of additional lawn faucets is a desirable modernization project which adds convenience and livability to a house far in excess of its modest cost.

In planning the plumbing for a new house, the location of lawn faucets should be given careful consideration.

When lawn faucets are installed in colder climates, they should be equipped with a stop and drain valve so that they can be shut off and drained when freezing weather arrives.

Some of the newer types of lawn faucets are so constructed as to be non-freezing. With this type of valve, no draining is necessary.

Health and Beauty

Eternal vigilance is the price of prolonged youth and health that must go with it. Your body and your skin will respond to proper care, but on the other hand it quickly shows neglect or abuse.

The fur of an animal and the feathers of a bird gleam and glisten when their owners are properly fed and cared for. Observe the satin coat of the tenderly nurtured, scientifically fed, well groomed race horse, and compare with the dead-looking, ragged coat of the untended, neglected horse. Here you have a striking example of what judicious, intelligent care will do for all living things.

The face suffers most from exposure, hence ages more quickly than any other part of the body. This is due to want of protection from biting winds and burning sands. Discretion in caring for it, will, to a large extent overcome the evil effects of exposure to the changing elements and keep the complexion in good condition.

The body is a poison factory. The emunctories, or organs, for removing these pernicious substances, are the liver, kidneys, bowels, lungs and skin. If waste is not properly cared for, but allowed to accumulate in the body, the skin suffers and presents an unhealthy appearance.

Many people drink too little water, and the moisture that should exude through the skin to the amount of two or three pints a day, is greatly lessened. The perspiration becomes so concentrated and acid that the skin is irritated. The pores are stopped by viscid secretions. Blackheads and pimples naturally follow.

Some persons carry a smiling face while suffering from hidden diseases, but no matter how brave a front one wears, nor how he smiles, if his skin has a diseased appearance, he neither conceals his condition, nor presents an attractive appearance.

Wise Spending Can Help Sell Old House

A little money can get you a lot when you sell an older home. That little, real estate men say, should be invested in some remodeling and redecorating that will give the house a smart, up-to-date look. Since you have lived with the home yourself and become used to its faults, you'll probably need some outside help before you go ahead. Here are some pointers:

1. Ask someone acquainted with the housing market to go over the place with you. He'll be able to point out ways of spending money wisely so that it will be returned, with dividends, when the house is sold.

2. Use color. Attractive color will enhance the appearance of any room and make the house easier to sell. In a small house, you can give the appearance of greater space by using the same shade in all rooms.

3. Remodel an out-of-date bathroom. New fixtures and ceramic tile to make walls and floor waterproof can often add double their cost to the selling price of the house. Avoid black trim for the ceramic tilework, as it dates a bath.

4. Paint gloomy woodwork to match walls. Dark woodwork dates a house and makes a bad initial impression on any buyer.

5. Refinish old floors. Usually they can be sanded and refinished to look like new. If they are left in bad shape, prospects will start figuring the cost of floor coverings and won't want to pay as much for the house.

6. Look over your lighting fixtures carefully. If they are 20 or 30 years old they probably date your house badly. Any money spent modernizing them will usually be well spent.

7. Don't over-do. You may be tempted to tear out some features that you realize, on second thought, will help sell the house. Don't close up a fireplace, for instance. A simple mantel is worth saving and good woodwork may enhance even while dating, a house.

Playroom

It's a wise parent who realizes that his children will need a playroom this winter and builds it now, while they are away to camp or spending their time outdoors. If he's doubly wise, he'll finish a basement playroom with a ceramic tile floor, colorful enough to dress up the room and durable enough for the roughest play, even roller skating. If the space is small, it can be made to seem larger by the use of small tile units known as ceramic mosaics. If it's large, quarry tile is a fine choice.

UNWRITTEN LAWS

No. 73 GET INTO PASSING POSITION EARLY

The old adage of the carpenter "measure twice and cut once" has a neat parallel in traffic. The carpenter who measures only once may make a mistake and have to cut twice. In passing, the motorist who measures the oncoming car only once may make a mistake and not have a second chance.

The smart thing is to pull left into the lane in which you are going to pass as early as possible. This gives you a lot more time to measure the situation ahead carefully and decide whether or not it is safe to pass. A careful study of the situation ahead pays big dividends. So measure twice and pass once—safely. And, remember the slogan: "SLOW DOWN AND LIVE!"

Who's New in Plymouth

TRYING OUT the new piano at their residence on 1279 West Ann Arbor trail are the Robert A. McNeillys, newcomers from Detroit. Suzanne, 13, takes a turn on a few numbers before her parents and 12-year-old brother, Scott, as audience. Originally from Boston, Massachusetts, McNeilly is employed as a mechanical engineer at American Metal Products, Detroit. Mrs. McNeilly is also a former New Englander and claims Waterbury, Connecticut as her home town. The family moved to Plymouth on July 1.

Jeannine Tidwell's Engagement Told

Miss Jeannine Tidwell

Jeannine Tidwell's engagement to Stanley James Dahlager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noble Dahlager of 839 Grace street, Northville, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Tidwell of 589 Starkweather avenue, Plymouth.

A September wedding is being planned. The West isn't always where it is supposed to be; Virginia extends many miles further west than any part of Virginia and Los Angeles lies east of Reno, Nevada, by one and a half degrees of longitude.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS

On Sunday, July 10, the Post and Auxiliary held a pot-luck dinner at the Post hall honoring Georgia and Joe Elliott, who are here in Plymouth on vacation from California. We had a nice turnout for the occasion and it seemed like old times having two such good members as the Elliotts back visiting us again; Have a nice trip back, Georgia and Joe and come back again soon!

Geraldine and Eddie Olsen's little son, Chuck, is going into the hospital again for observance and check-up.

Past Commander Dick Neale has been in the hospital with a back injury. He is home now and recovering nicely. Why don't you drop in and say hello!

On Sunday, July 3, Hospital Chairman Beverly Brown and the following girls made another trip to Maybury sanitarium: Helen Bowring, Lucinda Archer, Grace Burley and Hilda Rorabacher. They took the usual cigarettes and miscellaneous items to the veterans there.

Don't forget the National Home trip on Sunday, August 21. Please bring canned goods to the next meeting so that we can take same to the boys and girls at the home on that day. Chairman for the trip is Gertrude Danol. Call her for any further information!

Our next regular business meeting is on Tuesday, July 19. We need your presence to carry on our auxiliary activities.

The Auxiliary under the chairmanship of Helen Bowring served dinner to the Class of 1948 Reunion. Our thanks to all who served and worked on the dinner. We appreciated the girls turning out to help for the affair.

Mr. and Mrs. John Maxwell and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Maxwell and son, Bobbie, of Joy road, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Redies at their cottage on Portage lake.

Ralph Walchman of Reverend and Mrs. Henry Walch, is convalescing at his home on Church street, after a painful injury received while at work with the Wayne County Parks System last week.

SOCIAL NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Bateman of West Ann Arbor trail and their son, Bill, and Miss Edna Carlson, spent last weekend at their cottage on Little Loon Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Williams entertained members of their Saturday evening bridge club at a picnic supper last week at their home, on West Ann Arbor trail. Guests attending were Dr. and Mrs. Elmore Carney, Mr. and Mrs. George Farwell, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. John Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dobbs, all of Plymouth; and Mrs. Raymond Highfield and son, Gregory, of Limestone, Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stubbs of Detroit were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fay Brown of North Mill street.

Miss Pamela Stokes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Stokes of Beck road has returned from a two week's stay at Camp Cedar Lake.

First Lieutenant Larry Finney flew from Quantico, Virginia, to Grosse Ile, to spend the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Finney of Arthur street.

Miss Janice Valaika arrived Sunday to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Spanier, 569 North Harvey street. Janice has been teaching in the San Diego, California, schools for the past year.

Mrs. Louisa Rewald has returned to her home on North Mill street, after being confined to the hospital in Ann Arbor for a week.

Mrs. William Farley of Adams street is confined to University hospital, Ann Arbor suffering from a broken leg following a fall.

Mr. and Mrs. John Maxwell and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Maxwell and son, Bobbie, of Joy road, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Redies at their cottage on Portage lake.

Ralph Walchman of Reverend and Mrs. Henry Walch, is convalescing at his home on Church street, after a painful injury received while at work with the Wayne County Parks System last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McConnell of North Harvey street visited friends, Mr. and Mrs. John Hauk in South Lyon last Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. John Sunderman has returned to her home at 979 Palmer avenue after being confined to the Bowling Green, Ohio, hospital for several weeks.

The Plymouth Grange held its first picnic of the summer season last Thursday at Riverside park. Featured during the afternoon was potluck dinner, songs and other entertainment.

Guests in the E.F. Benton home on Deer street over the July 4th holiday weekend were Mr. and Mrs. James Cannady, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Benton, of Plymouth; Mr. and Mrs. Jole Rudifal of Lafayette, Indiana; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Todd of Arkansas; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Todd and two daughters of Grand Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Law and their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Donna Law were Sunday visitors of Dr. and Mrs. Harry C. Balfour at their cottage on Base Lake.

Legion, FCSC Seek Info on Former POW's

The Passage-Gayde post of the American Legion is cooperating with the Foreign Claims Settlement commission in its attempt to locate and obtain information on some 233 former prisoners of war in Korea, announced Commander Albert Holcombe of the local post.

Many of these POW's or their next of kin may be entitled to POW benefits, Holcombe said, applications for which must be filed with the FCSC by August 21, 1955. In the past, the FCSC has had letters returned to it from a given address and in other cases, it has no address on record for these POW's.

Plymouth area residents who know of former POW's or their next of kin are asked to contact either Holcombe or Harry Burleson of the local post, or to write directly to the Foreign Claims Settlement commission, Washington 25, D.C., Attention: Mrs. Stanley D. Pace.

Legion Post, Auxiliary Hold Installation

At ceremonies held last evening in the Veterans Community center, Albert Holcombe and Melva Gardner were installed as the new commander and president, respectively, of the Passage-Gayde Post No. 291, American Legion, and its Auxiliary.

The following new post officers for 1955-56 were installed during the program which was in charge of Harry Burleson, retiring commander. Quentin Bolander, senior vice commander; Dorothy Koi, junior vice commander; Martin Schomberger, Jr., finance officer; Walter Hocklowski, chaplain; Raymond Gardner, historian; and Tony DeRusso, sergeant-at-arms.

Immediately following the post installation the Auxiliary, with Dorothy Knapp in charge of ceremonies, installed its new officers. Installed with President Melva Gardner were Senior Vice President, Virginia Pann, Secretary

Gwen Holcombe, Treasurer Fern Burleson, Historian Gertrude Simonetti, Chaplain, Freda Beelley and Sergeant-at-arms Marilyn Moore. Marie Thompson is the retiring president of the organization.

"Operator! This is an emergency!"

Mrs. Florence Russell Mrs. Shirley Golze Mrs. Stowe and Vicky Lyn

Mrs. James K. Stowe, of Northville, was in the kitchen when she heard Vicky Lyn scream.

The 17-month-old baby had climbed to the top of the stairs. By the time Mrs. Stowe reached her, the baby had fallen to the bottom, injuring herself badly.

The frantic mother rushed to the telephone. She knew she must get someone to take them to the hospital.

When the operator, Mrs. Shirley Golze, heard Mrs. Stowe's excited voice she quickly called the Service Assistant, Mrs. Florence Russell, in case extra help was needed.

Mrs. Stowe declined the operators' offer to call the police. After making several unsuccessful calls to relatives, she finally reached her aunt, Mrs. Lester Kitchen. She sped to the house and took the Stowes to the hospital.

There little Vicky Lyn's injuries were treated and Mrs. Stowe took her home.

Mrs. Stowe wrote to Michigan Bell:

"The operators were so nice, even though they could hardly hear me. My baby was crying and I was so upset I could hardly speak. Thank you for your wonderful assistance when I needed help so badly."

 Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (215:12): "Whatever is governed by God, is never for an instant deprived of the light and might of intelligence and Life."
 The life-giving power of God is also set forth in passages from the Bible including the following (Psalms 27:1,4): "The Lord is my light and my salvation: whom shall I fear? The Lord is the strength of my life: of whom shall I be afraid? . . . One thing have I desired of the Lord, that will I seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord, and to enquire in his temple."

Revival Meetings Launch Drive For New Church

A drive to start a Southern Baptist church in Plymouth is getting underway, with a series of nightly tent revival meetings at the location of Lilley road north of Ann Arbor road serving as the mustering force behind the campaign.

Sponsored by the First Southern Baptist church of Ypsilanti, the meetings started last week and will continue through the next two weeks.
 The Reverend Sam Cathey, pastor of the Ypsilanti church and preacher for the revival, said that his group hopes to contact every Southern Baptist and unenlisted family in this area and invite them to be a part of the proposed new church.
 The tent revival meetings, held each evening at 8, are being conducted this week by the Reverend Royall Martin while Cathey is participating in a youth revival in Detroit. Cathey will preach at the Lilley road location this Sunday and will conduct the remainder of the revival meetings during the next two weeks.
 Sunday school will be conducted under the tent Sunday morning at 10. The worship services will begin at 11 a.m.

Name Pat Clifford "Quizzer of Year"

As high score winner of Bible quizzes conducted among the 45 high school Bible clubs in the Detroit area, Pat Clifford was named "Quizzer of the Year" and awarded a Bible and wrist watch Saturday night at the Masonic Temple by the Voice of Christian Youth, sponsors of the event.

She is the daughter of the Reverend and Mrs. Patrick Clifford of 452 Maple street.
 Pat won perfect scores on five out of the six Bible quizzes conducted among the club teams from October through April. Further qualifications for the title of "Quizzer of the Year" were those of leadership, personality and participation in extra-curricular and church activities. Selection was based on letters received from the high school principal and parents of the contestant.
 The Voice of Christian Youth is affiliated with Youth for Christ, international nondenominational organization.

Pat Clifford admires her Bible quiz awards.

Troop 6 Scouts Win Top Honors At D-Bar-A Camp

Scouts of Troop Six, sponsored by the Plymouth Lions club, returned from the troop's summer camp at the D-Bar-A Scout Ranch last Saturday with every reason to feel proud of themselves.
 They took first place in the Ranch water carnival for the second year, won 23 merit badges and eight advancements in rank, successfully carried through a tree conservation project, and received compliments from the Ranch Staff on the smoothness and efficiency with which the Troop carried out its assignments.
 Scouts and merit badges they won are as follows:

Sam Barnes, forestry; Ronald Bondie, forestry, reptile study and swimming; Donald Cash, canoeing, forestry and reptile study; Tom Ferguson, rowing; David Green, swimming; Harry McConnell, canoeing, forestry, reptile study and swimming; Dennis Parker, forestry and reptile study; Richard Parker, rowing; Ronald Sawyer, forestry; William Schwartz, forestry; Thomas Simmons, canoeing and swimming; Fred Smith, horsemanship and canoeing; and Richard Wells, forestry.
 David Green, Gary Ross and David Stokes achieved first-class rank; and Edward Davis, Franklin Edison, Donald Jordan, Sam Steele and Ronald Wahn, second-class rank. All other scouts made substantial progress toward higher rank.
 The troop, which meets at Smith Elementary school, has now suspended formal meetings until early in September. There will be a limited number of vacancies in the membership in the fall. Parents of boys desiring to join should get in touch with the Scoutmaster, E. T. Miller of Plymouth as early as possible.

Playground Notes

Races, Poster Contest, Bike Derby Featured in Playground Activities

STARKWEATHER
Starkweather playground held a poster contest last week, as Tom Goodman took first prize with his "Come to Starkweather" poster. Second place went to Dennis Robertson, while Jim Ebersole was awarded third.

Jerry Lee took the blue ribbon for his patriotic poster, and Roseanne Reider and Carol Glass placed second and third respectively. On Friday nine girls from the playground entered a doll show at the school, while the boys judged the entries.

The doll judged most beautiful was Linda Park's with second place awarded to Carol Glass, and third going to Roseanne Reider.

In the balloon-bust races Friday afternoon, Laura Raafab took the first place for the girls-under-eight class, second went to Roseanne Reider and third to Chris McMullen. In the boys-under-eight class, John Park was first, Jack Ransom second and Phil Brewer third.

Today, Thursday, July 14, the Starkweather playground will hold a pet show, while tomorrow the younger children will take a trip to the Detroit Zoo.

week at Allen playground were: Kitty Eckstrom in Zellball, Sharon Buttermore in Box Hockey and the Bean Bag contest and Kitty Eckstrom in checkers.

Next Monday the group will have more awardings of ribbons to tourney winners and on Tuesday the youngsters will go on a nature hike and on a swimming party.

GREEN MEADOWS
A clean-up committee, headed by Danny Grady and Coty Yorck, as chairmen, cleaned up the Green Meadows playground area last week, following which the youngsters enjoyed a 'kool-aid party. Bobby Brooks served the other children, while Bonny Grady furnished the last minute sugar.

During this present week, Coty Yorck has been acting as the Green Meadows' Sheriff, with Danny Grady as his helper. Other activities slated for this week include trips and a pet show. The pet show is planned so that the children will bring their pets from home and compete among each other for top pet honors.

BIRD
Winner of the top prize for best decorated bicycle in the Bird playground bike derby was Sue Roberts. Bobby Roberts' bike, decorated with bow ties and labeled "Soapy Williams", won top honors for the most original.

In the various bike races included in the bicycle derby, the winner in the clothes pin drop was Roger Beukeme with Skippy Otwell coming in second.

Joanne Wood won the balloon race with Skippy Otwell placing second and Ted Roberts third. The bicycle creeping race, to see which child could ride the slowest, was won by Ted Roberts.

CENTRAL
Captains selected for Central playground's treasure hunt last week were Ronnie Soleau and Joyce Mynatt for the Blues and Byron Brown and Patty Fehlig for the Red team.

A croquet journey for the five to eight year olds last week found Johnny Gilles capturing the first place slot, with Glenn Soleau and Bobby Wellman taking second and third respectively.

The softball game with Smith playground, which Central won, 22-7, had the following starting line-up: first, Mike Knapp; second, Brian Gilles; third, Del McAllister; shortstop, Randy Egloff; pitcher, Pete Lomonaco; outfield, Bob Monteith, Ed Soleau, and Bill Jones, with Jared Stevens behind the plate.

Activities for this week so far included a pet show, scavenger hunt and a finger painting session.

Rousseaux Homers, Merchants Win, 5-2

A three-run outburst in the eighth inning coupled with Elmer Rousseaux's home run blast with a mate aboard in the third earned the Plymouth Merchants' sandlot baseball team a 5-2 win over visiting Lincoln Park last Sunday in an Inter-County league contest.

The victory, Merchants' fifth of the current season against six defeats, went to hurler Eddie Hock, who, though pummeled for eight hits by LP batters, managed to withstand the attack and record the decision.

Behind Hock the Merchants could muster only five hits at the plate, but were aided by five walks from a pair of opposing moundsmen and three errors a-field by the LP players.

Merchants jumped off to a two-run bulge in the third when Munderinger walked and rode home on Rousseaux's circuit clout. Rousseaux's round-tripper, his second of the season, was only the Merchant's second base-hit up to that time. Dewulf's first inning single was the other base-knock.

Lincoln Park got back one of the two runs in the top of the fourth when Jenkins tripled and was driven home by Nemeth, with a perfect squeeze bunt. Then in the top of the eighth the visitors tied up the contest when Main, second twirler to work for LP, homered.

But the Merchants broke out with their trio of scores in the bottom half of the eighth to cinch the win. Schwartz led off with a walk and Rousseaux beat out a bunt to put runners at first and second.

Kessler advanced both his team-mates with a sacrifice and Joe Gatterer laid down a squeeze bunt which resulted in an error on the play at first and put across two runs for the Merchants and placed Gatterer on second.

SMITH PLAYGROUND
Smith Playground trounced Starkweather's softball squad last week, 18-3, in one of the opening contests of the Plymouth recreation playground softball season.

Handling the mound duties for Smith was Tommy Garchow, who was credited with his first win, while Dennis Robertson was tagged with the loss.

Routs Starkweather With 34-0 Victory

Central playground's softball squad routed the neighboring Starkweather playground team, 34-0, Monday, July 11, behind the no-hit twirling of Pete Lomonaco and the bases-jammed home run off the bat of Stevens. Losing pitcher was Ebersole for the Starkweather diamond team.

Last week Central also beat the Smith entry, 22-7, with Lomonaco racking up his second decision of the season against no losses.

Daisy Runs Win Streak to Four

Daisy Air Rifle ran its consecutive victory skein in the Oldtimer's class "B" recreation softball league to four straight with a 10-5 win over Independents to stand alone at the top of the loop.

Daisy was out hit at the plate by the Independents, seven baseknocks to ten, but the winners bunched their hits in the seventh frame to more than insure the decision. In the seventh Daisy sent eight men to bat and played five runs on three singles, two doubles and a walk.

This outburst of tallies coupled with five runs scored earlier turned the tide in favor of Daisy. Winning hurler was H. Williams while the loser was Villerot.

Big gun for the victors was Davis with a triple and a double scoring four runs, while Sandmann's home run, triple and single paced the losers.

Other action in the Oldtimer's league found Begingers romping to an 18-6 win over Wall Wire. Begingers smashed out 18 hits off three Wall Wire hurlers and scored nine runs in the first frame and five more in the fifth.

Davis and Lent Cops 3 Decisions In "E" Baseball

A forfeit win over Boy's Republic from Redford coupled with a 31-0 white-wash of Wroten Riding stable from Livonia stretched Davis and Lent's "E" recreation baseball win streak to six consecutive victories last week.

In the shut-out of Wroten's ball club the locals last Thursday coasted along behind the five-hit pitching of Marvin Hopper, who handled the mound duties for Davis and Lent, striking out seven and walking none.

The locals broke the scoring ice in the first frame when a single, an out that advanced the runner and Thomas' hit plated one score. Then in the third D & L upped its edge to 3 runs, when a single by DeCoster, a double by King and a single by Cloar chased home the final runs of the contest.

Davis and Lent garnered three runs on nine hits and a walk and pinned the loss on Wroten's Bombach. It marked the second time this season that the locals have nosed Bombach.

Boy's Republic provided the Plymouth entry in the "E" loop with an easy victory, when the visitors failed to show up with enough ball players Friday afternoon, thereby allowing Davis & Lent a 7-0 forfeit decision.

Earlier last week, Davis and Lent romped to its fourth win as Sam Hat Market was made an easy 31-0 victim when the locals pounded out 13 hits, Tuesday, July 5.

Jerry Foreman's home run clout in the fifth inning with the bases jammed provided the Davis and Lent hurler, Robert Cloar, more than enough margin to coast to his decision.

Cloar, unmindful of the sky-high run collection his teammates were totaling, bore down and faced only 22 opposing batsmen in his seven inning mound stint. He allowed no hits until the final batter in the seventh frame slammed out a single to mar Cloar's bid for a perfect no-hit, no-run victory.

The locals plated four runs in the first, second, third and sixth frames, and tallied five more in the fifth and one in the seventh. They reached their high point in the fourth frame when they counted nine more runs.

hickory AND horsehide

When they're on the road, baseball players find themselves with a lot of time on their hands between games. Far away from friends and families, they while away idle hours in a variety of pursuits.

But card playing (for small stakes) and movie-going are the two most popular forms of recreation on any ball club.

Among the Tigers, bridge is popular with Frank House, Bubba Phillips, Bill Tuttle, Ferris Fain and coach Billy Hitchcock, and you'll always see a game going among four of them.

Al Aber joins with Al Kaline, George Zuverink and Harry Malmberg in fantan, which is highly popular with ball players.

Ray Boone and Steve Gromek are in a seemingly constant gin rummy game.

Poker is not permitted by the Detroit management.

When he's not "knocking with two" against Gromek, Boone reads a lot of fiction and enjoys Western movies, Randolph Scott being his favorite actor. He also devotes considerable time to browsing around sporting goods stores.

Gromek also likes Westerns, but John Wayne is his favorite. He enjoys reading Zane Grey Western novels.

Red Wilson is a cross-word puzzle fan. Paul Foytack likes card playing and going to the movies. Jim Delsing enjoys playing hearts.

Ned Garver does a lot of reading and writing. He answers all his fan mail and business correspondence on the road. He also works cross-word puzzles, assisted by Reno Bertoia, who also likes the movies.

Fain, in addition to card playing, similarly works cross-word puzzles and reads outdoor magazines. Harvey Kuenn likes playing cards such as hearts and window shopping, but most of all he prefers to just plain sleep.

Billy Hoelt enjoys cards while Jack Phillips prefers movies of any kind. New bonus player Jim Small gets a kick out of sitting in the hotel lobby and watching people come and go.

Werner Birrer reads and writes a tremendous volume of letters to former service buddies. An amateur photographer, he has pictures he's taken all over the country.

Chuck Maxwell, who's a number painting addict, works on the paintings all the time he's on the

Beglinger Paces "A" Softball Loop

Beglinger Olds improved its grip on first place in the Open class "A" recreation softball league last week as Cavalcade bar was made an easy 3-0 white-wash victim. This decision ran the Oldsmen's season card to nine wins as against only one loss.

Likewiess' home run clout in the third inning against Cavalcade produced the margin of victory for the winning hurler, Gabby Street, who allowed only six opposing batsmen to reach base.

In addition to Likewiess' circuit smash, Huelbler slammed out three straight singles and Gow garnered two doubles to pace the winners at the plate. Losing hurler was Cavalcade's Barnes.

Other action found Evans products wrestling a scant 4-3 decision from the Box-Eagles as the Evans men shoved across three big runs in the bottom of the sixth to insure the victory.

Evans made ten hits on the way to the win, while Box-Eagles could produce only three hits. Stevens was the winner and Dool in the loser.

Fisher's Registers Shut-Out Decision For 5th Straight

Fisher's Shoes' baseball nine last week pummeled the Clarenceville entry in the "F" recreation hardball league to the tune of 19-0 on 11 hits and seven errors, while Kenzie Knipschild limited the visitors to two lone singles.

It was the locals' fifth straight win in the seven team loop and placed them high atop the league's ladder of standings.

The booming bats of the Fisher's club slammed out a home run, three triple-base hits and a double to more than provide Knipschild with a proper margin for victory.

Biggest blow for the locals was Art Lenaghan's circuit, clout in the third with the bags empty.

Catcher Larry Wells banged out a pair of triples to drive home three runs and Fred Jones doubled and tripled, chasing in four more tallies.

Losing hurler was Hanaford, who went the route on the mound for the Clarenceville team. Hanaford, in defeat, allowed eleven hits, struck out three, and walked four. The battle was called at the end of the sixth inning on account of darkness.

Knipschild was in perfect control throughout the contest except in the second frame when Clarenceville's Blouet and Woods put together back-to-back singles for the only base-hits the visitors could muster.

Fishers reached a high point in the game as far as scoring goes, when eight runs came across in the fourth inning. Other runs scored just as freely as the locals counted five in the first, two in the second and three in the sixth.

Recreation Booklet Available at AAA Here

Automobile Club of Michigan this week will begin distribution of its 1955 Michigan State Parks booklet, L. B. Rice, Plymouth division manager, announced today.

The 32-page booklet lists the 65 State parks and recreation areas, gives their location and describes facilities for tourists, campers and fishermen. Also included is a listing of State Forest camp and picnic grounds and Wayne County parks.

Michigan parks and recreation areas should set new attendance records this year, Rice predicted. In 1954, they entertained more than 15 million visitors while over 80,000 campers enjoyed the state-owned facilities.

As a public service, the booklet will be made available to all Plymouth area motorists through the Auto Club office.

Privacy Gets More Difficult to Find As Even Black Bears Can't Hide

Live-trapping and handling wild black bears is routine work at the Conservation Department's Casino wildlife station, but it wasn't always that way.

For a long time, game workers have wanted to know more about the bear and his habits, but even the game of woodsmen would have a tough job keeping tabs on a rambling wild bear.

In 1952, biologists at the upper peninsula research station devised a way to get information from the bear himself.

They constructed a live-trap from a section of large-diameter metal road culvert jammed against a hill. The culvert was anchored firmly and fitted with a wooden trap door.

The first bear to come along took not only bait but front door as well. A stronger door, was built and the second time the trap worked. But then came the question: What now? The bear was big and fighting mad and showed no appreciation for the whole business. You might say it was sort of like having a bear by the tail.

But finally, after a few brisk rounds, the front door was plugged and anaesthetic squirted in. The bear slumbered. He slumbered until midway through the weigh-in when he suddenly came alive and scattered game men left and right.

Back went the biologists to build a better bear trap and on the third round, success crowned their efforts. A bear was trapped, put to sleep, weighed, measured, tagged and one claw clipped so he could be traced from tracks.

Since then, game men have trapped and tagged about a dozen bears. One taken recently weighed 350 pounds. Another, trapped in 1953, was removed six miles and freed. A short time later, he was taken a second time in the same trap.

A third was shot several miles from the trap by a hunter during the regular open season.

Movement and changes in weight were studied. The work is continuing.

Plymouth Area Civil Defense News

Leo Flowers announces that the Township Civil Defense personnel are resuming their survey of Township homes. This survey is considered a necessary and vital function of C. D. and in the event of any type of catastrophe, the information at hand from this survey will be of vital importance.

At this time, Flowers wished to thank all Plymouth Area C. D. and First Aid personnel for their fine turnout and splendid cooperation in the C. D. exhibitions during the July 4th evening program.

Director Flowers reminds all personnel who have not received their C. D. identification cards to see Deputy Director Mrs. Stephen Tallian, Sr. or call her at 1904.

Alford Truax, Sector Warden of the Parkview Circle Homeowners Association has his area well organized and lined up to cope with most emergencies in their area. It is the aim of the National C. D. authorities to impress the populace of the need for all localities to have active C. D. units ready to function in a case of emergency, whether it be military or natural.

Flowers also announces that the Red Cross First Aid Classes of instruction will again be held starting in September. Definite opening class date will be announced at a future time.

Sand-letters Lose Two

Plymouth Merchants, in their baseball battling in the Tri-city league, suffered a pair of decisive defeats last week as Hargaves Heating shackled the locals, 2-0, Friday evening, and the Dietrich entry nosed them, 6-1, two nights earlier.

Hargaves nine is the same squad that the Merchants will square off against this Sunday afternoon in Inter-County league action.

Betting Up From '54 At Northville Downs

Northville Downs, with an average nightly pari-mutuels handle of $252,070 for the first 14 nights, seems heading for its best season since the pioneer harness track opened 12 years ago.

The nightly average is $20,213 more than it was last year and $12,236 above the 1953 figure, the highest previous record. In 1954 the average was $231,857 and in 1953 it was $239,834.

Spot Wild Turkey Brood

A hen wild turkey and her brood of nine youngsters were observed in Allegan state forest last week.

Charles Friley, biologist in charge of the Swan Creek wildlife station, scared up the birds while working the area.

He observed them about two hours, during which time they moved from an alfalfa field to a woods and back again to feed.

During the observation, the birds were flushed a second time and scattered into the trees. It took the hen about 20 minutes to reassemble her brood and get them back to food hunting.

Wild turkeys were first released in the forest in the spring of 1954 and some appear to be taking hold.

OBITUARIES

Orilla Caroline Barrett
Orilla Caroline Barrett of 750 West street, South Lyon, succumbed at midnight, Saturday, July 9, after an illness of seven years.

Mrs. Barrett had lived in and around South Lyon about 15 years and passed away at her home there.

The deceased was born in Livonia on September 9, 1874, one of nine children of John and Mary Burden Pelkey. On December 11, 1890, she became the bride of Grant Barrett.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ealey of Wing street traveled by their cruiser to Grand Bend, Ontario, Canada over the weekend of July 4th.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wortman of Dunlap spent the July Fourth weekend at Houghton Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. William St. Lawrence of Sheldon road spent the Fourth of July at Hansen where they attended the rodeo.

Trust you had a fine Fourth of July weekend, last week and that you came through it safely and sanely. Which is another way of saying I hoped you enjoyed safe driving and will continue to the rest of the summer. With the number of cars on the road, and unfortunately, the ever-increasing number of accidents, that well-known slogan just cannot be printed often enough: "Drive carefully! The life you save may be your own."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Loucks entertained a group of their friends with an outdoor supper on Saturday evening, July 2, at their home on 10006 Cranston. Some of the friends attending were Catherine and Dick Castle, Marion and Fred Bourgon, Grace and Bill Poppenger, Edith and Virgil Feldman, Gwen and Bob Jackman, and Miriam and Curt Shook.

Congratulations to George D. Haller of 11030 Hubbard who was made the new city attorney last week. Mr. Haller lives in Rosedale Gardens with his wife and two children, Penny and Peter. He has had many years experience as a lawyer and is now a professor of law at the Detroit College of Law.

If you happened to drive down Melrose between West Chicago and Orangelawn on Sunday afternoon between 2 and 6 p.m. you may have wondered if something was wrong when you noticed so many parked cars. It was merely a pot luck get-together of neighbors and friends of Marion and Del Kernohan of 9829 Melrose. It was one of those parties where you start out to invite a few couples over and then everyone invites a friend and soon there is a large friendly gathering. Those who enjoyed the fried chicken and baked beans, etc., were Lil and Ed Hoffman and family, Marie Jo and John Maloney and children, Jack, Pat and Mary Jo, Fran and Ruby Merriam and boys, Shirley and Bob Conroy, Kay and Chuck Cowell, Mary and Stan Krogulecki, Vic and Velma Nestor and Lil Hoff.

The men on the St. Michael's Athletic committee are very grateful to the members of the Detroit Race course for their present of $2,625 to Father John Contway to build a new fence for St. Michael's Athletic Field. With this boost in their funds they can use some of the money they have made to buy more and bet-

Mr. and Mrs. Emil LaPointe and their children, Bruce, David, Mark and Nan of Joy road, spent Sunday, July 10, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Weiss, Jr., of Belleville, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hessler of Warren road, Plymouth have just returned to their home after spending six days touring lower and upper Michigan. They began their trip on Saturday, July 2. Their tour included stop-offs at Cross Village, Charlevoix, Petoskey, Traverse City and Mackinac Island. The highlight of the trip was their stay at Sault Ste. Marie, where they witnessed some of the celebration in connection with the Centennial of the Sault Ste. Marie locks. A pageant depicting the story of the locks was a marvelous spectacle. It was their privilege to meet and talk with Miss Myrtle Elliott, a member of the Chamber of Commerce of Sault Ste. Marie, who was very gracious to the Hesslers and made their stay in this historic place all the more delightful.

A disappointing turn-out at the Rhoda circle picnic on Tuesday, July 5, has made it necessary for the executive committee of this group to decide that they will not meet again until September. Mrs. Robert Richards, chairman of the circle, will announce the place of the fall meeting at a later date. This circle, affiliated with the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Newburg Methodist church, is planning a fur style show to be held sometime in October.

Bruce LaPointe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil LaPointe of Joy road and a Boy Scout of Troop 279, Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian church, has just returned after completing two of his required 25-mile bicycle trips, preparatory to earning his Cycling merit badge. He left his home on Thursday, July 7, with his ultimate destination being about five miles south of Belleville. After staying overnight at his aunt and uncle's home, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Weiss, Jr., he returned home via Romulus and Wayne.

Miss Sherrill Outon, former resident of Joy road, now residing in Northville, was a house guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Howden of Joy road. Sherrill and the Howden's daughter, Donna, were schoolmates at the Riley junior high school.

Chips from the ROCK

Only last week we reprinted portions of a letter from a high school coach to his athletes concerning their behavior during the summer months. At the risk of becoming stereotyped we are again publishing a letter—this time from a young college student to her parents at the completion of her academic career.

When we were given a copy of this letter by Stop & Shop's Bill Rucker, we asked his permission to reprint it. After you read it we think you will know why.

Incidentally, the girl has just been graduated from the University of Wisconsin and her father is a Detroit wholesale grocery executive.

Dear Mom & Dad:

Now finding myself at the conclusion of an exceedingly fruitful and glorious college education, I look back upon my 18 years of schooling and 21 years of life and find only the lingering happy memories of the past; looking to the future wide-eyed, light-hearted, hoping for a wonderful one ahead.

All I hold now in my memories and all that I have in my immediate environment I shall never forget and always cherish.

These past four years at college have been an experience I shall never forget and only hope to benefit by.

To climax my college career stands before me a trip to Europe which I truthfully and sincerely can say, hold all the excitement and grandeur that awaits me.

And to the individuals who made all this possible I consider it a privilege to have them as parents. Believe me, from what I have seen, known and experienced it is truly a privilege to have such a wonderful mother and father.

Through my childhood and adolescence the guidance and confidence which you have given me, may not have been taken too willingly at first—but now as I enter into adulthood I am so gratified and appreciative that I did listen to your words of wisdom.

A home and family such as I have known is the joy of life—that which is worth living—the humbleness, sincerity—and humor all in one.

Shakespeare couldn't have written a more perfect play—for what is life?—an act of living, but it's the way in which one lives it that counts.

I desire only to be allowed to give my children the happiness that you both have given me. You brought me into this world never suspecting what you would have to contend with; as a character and personality I stand alone. I presume I shall always be this way, my personality will never change for it has grown to its fullest maturity. I shall always be a clown—but with a heart, too.

I just ask that God will give me a full life and hope with all my heart that I have pleased you as a daughter, and will give you great pleasure in the future, with its many years to come. Life is too short that it is imperative that one makes the most of it. To cram into one day, one week, all that can be accomplished is my ambition.

"May God bless and keep you and may his countenance shine upon you."

I remain always, your loving daughter,

Harriet

★ THINKING OUT LOUD ★

One question, sometimes controversial, sometimes personal is asked each week by The Mail of four pedestrians along Plymouth's downtown streets. This week's guests are "thinking out loud" on the question:

"The Chamber of Commerce is attempting to start a Farmers' Market in Plymouth where area growers can sell their produce. What do you think of the idea?"

MRS. SHIRLEY CALOIA, 9261 Marlow: "I would much rather buy my farm produce by going to a roadside stand than a store, so I think this is a good idea. I like to buy things from stands for you have a larger pick of things that are nice and fresh."

MRS. ELIZABETH WILHELMI, 11253 Gold Arbor: "I should think it would be a good idea. We like to go out to the farms and get fresh things. If they are all in one place, it would save lots of driving."

Mrs. Caloia Mrs. Wilhelmi Mrs. Wall Mrs. Agdorny

MRS. FRANCIS WALL, 46141 Warren: "I read about that and I think it's nice. I've never experienced buying at a Farmers' Market but I think I would like it. You wouldn't need to go out into the country or to every store to find what you wanted. I would like to see the idea go over."

MRS. SALLY AGDORNY, Livonia: "I do most of my shopping in Plymouth and I think it's a wonderful idea. There is a need for something like that here. When I lived in Detroit there was a market at Livernois and Warren. It seems like you have a bigger selection of fresh things and they taste better."

Editors Give Opinions on Solving Juvenile Delinquency

Perhaps here in Plymouth we have no acute juvenile delinquency problem, but there are times when the situation seems a bit frightening to us. There is a certain group of youngsters who habitually manage to keep themselves in trouble. A few others are first offenders and learn their lessons.

Although delinquency breeds most frequently where the standard of living is the lowest, a child in the richest family can also go astray. For this reason, we claim that every parent or interested adult should read the results of a questionnaire sent to country editors in every state by the American Press Magazine. The editors were asked to state their opinions on the cause and the remedy for delinquency. Here are their opinions:

WHAT PARENTS CAN DO:

1. Set good example for children—don't do things you would object to their doing.
2. Exercise more control over use of the family car.
3. Take children to church and Sunday school regularly.
4. Control what children see in the movies and on television.
5. Accept more personal responsibility for building the child's character—don't depend upon schools and other organizations to do the job for you.
6. Don't put your own social life above life with children.
7. Give children more chores to do — make them earn their spending money.
8. Hold family gatherings as often as possible.
9. Insist children stay home certain nights each week and you stay home with them.
10. Control hours at which children come home at night and know where they are and what they are doing.
11. Channel children's energy into constructive work.
12. Encourage children to join wholesome organizations.

13. Dress children neatly so they will have pride in their appearance.
14. Establish more "pal" relationships between father and son.
15. Do more things with young people instead of for them.

HOW TO GET PARENTS TO ACT:

1. Sentence parents as well as children for juvenile crimes.
2. Put parents on parole when child commits a crime.
3. Publish names of parents of delinquents.
4. Force parents to be in court when their children's cases are heard.
5. Hold education courses on marriage to help prevent broken homes.

WHAT COMMUNITIES CAN DO:

1. Provide wholesome recreation for children — playgrounds, swimming pools, dances, baseball organizations and fields.
2. But avoid pushing public recreation to point where it takes children away from their homes too much.
3. Spend more tax money for homes for juvenile delinquents.
4. Better salaries for policemen — to attract type who can gain respect of teen-agers.
5. Employ more night patrolmen.
6. Urge churches to plan more activities to attract teen-agers.
7. Plan family programs where parents and children mingle.

WHAT SCHOOLS CAN DO:

1. Provide more homework.
2. Pay teachers better — and expect them to spend more spare time with children.
3. Give religious training in grammar school.
4. Ban wearing of sloppy clothes to school.
5. Conduct classes for adults on raising children.

WHAT POLICE, LAWMAKERS CAN DO:

1. Provide harsh treatment for those who contribute toward delinquency of minor.
2. Provide less "protection" for juvenile delinquents.
3. Arrange for more police check-ups on hangouts and on late-at-night drivers.
4. Provide more drastic punishments for habitual delinquents.
5. More strict enforcement of motor vehicle laws.
6. Enact new law limiting driving of 16-18 year-olds to daylight hours; 18-21 year-olds to midnight.
7. Insist on closer check-ups on sale of liquor and beer to minors.
8. Show more willingness to send incorrigibles to correction institutions.

Plymouth's Junior Achievers

If there was ever a worthy project in our midst, it is the Junior Achievement program which has been operating in Plymouth for the past two seasons. Three nights a week during the school year the JA Center on South Main street is the scene of busy minds and hands. JA is more than just a diversion to keep our high school boys and girls off the street.

The Junior Achievement purpose is to show young people how our economic system works by practicing it. They form their own companies, select a product which they will manufacture, sell stock, make and sell their products, fill out simulated tax reports, dissolve their firm and pay dividends. What they learn about business operations in the few short months is something that every adult should also know.

The New York News reported that two independent surveys this spring covering more than 5,000 high school seniors revealed that today's young people have some curious and alarming ideas about our economic system. The survey showed that only 40 per cent thought our economic system would curl up and die if the profit motive were removed.

Some 56 per cent of the high school seniors believed that we can best improve our standards of living, not by producing more, but only by giving workers more profits of business. More than 80 per cent think the average business or industrial concern makes above 10 per cent profit; 20 per cent said these profits reach 50 per cent.

Whether a youth plans to enter business or work on an assembly line, it is a wonderful experience if he or she can see how business works by joining a JA company. Unfortunately, the program here and in most cities is so popular that only a portion of those wanting to join can do so. Each company is sponsored by a full-fledged industry and experienced men and women turn out at each meeting to advise the youngsters.

During the past year in the Southeastern Michigan Junior Achievement area, there were 236 JA firms operating. Of these, 206 paid dividends to investors ranging from one to 10 per cent. Thirteen firms broke even, returning an even 50 cents per share to investors. Another 13 firms could not return the par value of the stock and four were bankrupt and were unable to return a single cent to investors.

We can thank five local firms for backing the Plymouth JA program. They are Burroughs corporation, Daisy Manufacturing, Barnes-Gibson-Raymond, Michigan Bell Telephone company and Evans Products company. We hold the hope that these firms can keep up the job and will be joined by other industries, businesses and individuals in helping to teach our youngsters the principle of free enterprise.

A Good Citizen Becomes 92

As the years go by and we find ourselves living in a community blessed in many ways, we can point to the deeds of Charles H. Bennett as one of the many factors which have gone into making this a good place to live. Celebrating his 92nd birthday recently, Mr. Bennett has been confined to his home during recent years.

While being visited by a number of people on the occasion of his birthday, Mr. Bennett said that one of the Detroit newspapers called him that day in regards to an interview. "I don't know what I could have done," the spry little gentleman exclaimed, "I haven't even been out of the house."

But staying at home has not kept the Daisy Manufacturing president from doing good for others. Nearly every church in the area has been helped by Mr. Bennett when they attempted to raise money for improvements. Numerous other organizations and projects have also received his financial aid. Some of these gifts remain anonymous.

Born in Plymouth during the Civil War, he started with Daisy Manufacturing as a salesman in 1888. Since then, his accomplishments and activities in the community as well as the business world have multiplied manifold. We therefore join other citizens in wishing him a continuance of the full and rich life which he deserves.

Politicos Argue Labor Laws

Industry and labor have turned politics and laws topsy-turvy in Lansing. Republicans increased weekly benefits to idle workers from $42 to $54 maximum keeping the $30 maximum for single men. Gov. Williams signed the bill but didn't like it.

Williams said Democratic plans would have given workers — all workers — 50 per cent of their regular earnings during idle periods. Republicans say their plan already does that.

Realists and those with adding machines say both are right, except that Williams is referring to take-home pay and Republicans to gross wages.

Republicans say the benefit increase gives Michigan the "best unemployment compensation law in any industrial state." Williams calls it "pitiful" and says the average part is 71 cents.

That part of the argument is natural. Labor and management in Detroit, by negotiating modified guaranteed annual wage settlements at General Motors and Ford, set new scenery for attitudes.

The new contracts allow idle employees to collect state unemployment benefits, then the companies add in a percentage to give the idle worker a certain percentage of his weekly wage.

There is a need for legislation to erase the ban against recipients of unemployment receiving income while idle. Republicans are in favor of the changes.

Williams hinted at the possibility of Republicans raising benefits next year, so the proportionate share of the industries will be less when the benefit claims come in.

Williams, always in favor of higher benefits, said he might be joined by Republicans in the legislature who, he claims, have ignored his appeals for increases.

"It will demonstrate again the tender regard of the Republican party for big business," he said. The fortunate participants in the controversy are the workers. Whatever happens now, they will benefit under any version of the plan — and most workers vote on election day.

Resort areas depending upon tourists in all seasons of the year for their existence had some welcome news this week.

The Michigan Tourist Council told legislators it would use the full 44,000 increase in its 1956-57 budget for advertising and promotional activities.

Ralph W. Budd, president of Great Lakes Greyhound Lines and three-time chairman of the council, said:

"We want to assure the legislature the money will be spent as we promised when the increase was granted."

While working on the general summer tourist season at the normal concentration, the council said it would work toward extending the season in the early spring and late summer.

Another idea will be to concentrate more on winter sport areas, to make Michigan a year-round vacation area.

Michigan State College is now Michigan State University but the change still is making.

The legislature changed the name effective July 1 to give the first agricultural college in the nation the stature MSU has earned in its 100 years.

Dr. John A. Hannah, president of the new university, has ordered that stationery supplies, cafeteria dishes and other items bearing the old name be used up before the new-name replacements are requisitioned.

The Alma Mater and the Spartan Fight Song have been changed to rhyme and still carry the university designation. Otherwise, there was no celebration along the banks of the Red Cedar when the change became official.

"We've long been a university and there's little cause for celebration at getting what we deserve," said one student.

Aud. Gen. Victor Targonski just received an unprecedented grant of legal power.

Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanaugh ruled that Targonski could cancel an annual county land tax sale if the treasurer failed to make the bidding competitive and sell each parcel separately.

Without pointing a finger, Targonski hinted broadly that some treasurers were selling large parcels of land to friends without competitive bidding.

Kavanaugh also ruled that if a tax sale were cancelled, the land would revert to the state, the treasurer and his bondsman would be liable for the cost of re-advertising the subsequent sale and for the interest which the state lost by the delay.

As a crowning opinion, Kavanaugh said that if treasurers failed to follow the letter of the tax sale law, a petition would be started for their removal.

BORBA, Yugoslav official newspaper:

"We can hardly imagine that anyone in the world, if he really stands for peace, can come out against the results of the Soviet-Yugoslav meeting."

Blind Possess Extraordinary Qualifications

Babson Park, Mass., July 7. Since returning from my winter in Florida, I have often been asked how I used my time while there. Unfortunately, I do not play golf or indoor games, including cards. My exercise consists of walking and working in my garden. I, however, have made a practice of selecting some one subject to study each winter, as a sort of "post-graduate course." It has been interesting and helpful to myself and others.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR THE BLIND

Much is being done by the Federal Government, the State Government, and private organizations toward helping the blind. Sometimes I think that a blind person has better prospects than those of us with eyesight, because we do not appreciate our eyesight and use it as we should. Those who are interested in this subject should write the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, Washington 25, D.C. for a copy of their pamphlet entitled OPPORTUNITIES FOR THE BLIND. This pamphlet lists agencies in each of the forty-eight states and the territories of the U. S. which specialize in such vocational rehabilitation. Job opportunities are often available for the blind in the various professions, trades, retail establishments, factory occupations, and clerical and personal service positions. Many of these categories I have personally checked this past winter and find that blind persons are successfully engaged in these different lines of work.

EMPLOYMENT FOR THE HANDICAPPED

As heretofore indicated, I have been studying this past winter the problem of the physically handicapped, but not the problem of the mentally retarded. This latter is in a class by itself. Only trained psychologists, therapists, and others engaged in mental rehabilitation should attempt to help with this mental problem. My studies have been devoted to those physically handicapped through faulty birth, accidents, war, polio, and other diseases, but who have good brains and the ability to rise to the top in almost any business or profession.

I once assumed that being physically handicapped often retarded memory or judgment; but scientists, psychologists, and the medical profession tell me that I am wrong in this. They insist that those "born with" ambition, persistence and talent still have them after any accident; while those who apparently lacked these qualities before an accident seldom have them after one. This is true in the case of blindness, which I am discussing this week.

WHAT IS BLINDNESS?

There are two kinds of blindness, namely, legal blindness and total blindness. A person with legal blindness can see at a distance of only twenty feet what the normal person can see at two hundred feet. So-called blind people who you see feeling their way along with a cane, or holding certain jobs with the aid of powerful eyeglasses, are often able to see somewhat, although they are legally blind. I, of course, am interested in these, but I am especially interested in the totally blind, believing that they may have the best opportunities.

LESSONS FOR US WHO CAN SEE

When I was in college, most of the totally blind learned Braille—that is, reading with their fingers. Babson Park, with its Institute and Research Plants, is within a few miles of the Perkins Institution, which is one of the best schools for the blind in America. Since the development of the radio, phonograph, and especially the "talking books," fewer blind people have been interested in learning Braille. Let me say, however, that every blind person should at least be able to use the Braille alphabet and numbering system, in order to be able to keep records of names and telephone numbers and short memos. This enables one to serve as a secretary, or a sales clerk, or even an executive.

We wonder about the marvels of the airplane, the radio, television, atomic energy, automation, cybernetics, and robots, which some magazines say will revolutionize employment, production, and sales. None of these things upon which the great laboratories are working compare with the machine which each one of us has in our heads. Therefore, I forecast that there will develop thousands of Edisons and Ketterings, Van Dykes and Rembrandts, Longfellow and Tchaikovsky's. The present number of inventors, writers, scientists, and musicians should increase. Many of the blind are now developing such brains. A few of us who can see are attempting the same, and my appeal is that all of us should appreciate our eyes more. Let us not waste our eyesight on nonsense, but use it constructively. If we do, I believe that we will not only gain in character and satisfaction but will also get increased promotions, — far greater than we ever hoped.

In many positions they are doing better work than those who can see. They have more time to listen; meditate, pray, and plan; they are better able to concentrate and arrive quickly at a correct decision; they are more creative and offer their employer more and better ideas, methods, and processes. These qualifications — some of which are distinctly based upon spiritual power — are often possessed by the blind to a degree exceeding those of the normal person. In fact, the future of a blind person who is given proper opportunities can exceed that of a normal person, provided he or she has natural memory, judgment, and ambition; but this brings me back to the third paragraph of this column. Blind people instinctively learn to sacrifice, which is the basis of success.

I sometimes wonder whether, when Jesus "restored the sight of the blind and made the lame walk," he changed them physically, or rather aroused in them a spirit to overcome their handicap. Just a word, in closing, to my readers who have normal eyesight, hearing, and speech, with full use of all limbs. This includes ninety-five per cent of those who read this column. The principal thing I have learned from my winter studies has been the great value and possibilities of these wonderful machines that we all carry in our heads, technically known as our "brains." As I pass through an office or factory or even down the street, I am impressed with how little realizing people have of their opportunities and of the possibilities to be derived from their most powerful and miraculous brain.

HELEN KELLER, now 75, blind from youth, speaking to 5-year-old blind girl:

"Never bend your head. Always hold it high. Look the world straight in the face."

CLARK GABLE, actor:

"Africa's the most fascinating country I've ever seen."

IRVING IVES, U.S. Senator from New York:

"If the Republicans in Congress want him (Eisenhower) to run, they had better get back of his program."

HOOVER COMMISSION report:

"It would be false and dangerous economy to hold the research and development appropriations at a level too low to permit a volume of effort essential to effective (defense) programs."

AMANA GATEWOOD, 103-year-old Kentucky woman; refusing airplane ride:

"When I fly I will go to heaven. And I'm going to heaven because I have always lived right, done right, helped poor people."

SINCLAIR WEEKS, Secretary of Commerce: "We have a good chance of pulling up the best year in our history in 1955."

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

No scene of a duel, this picture, but the preparation of delicious "Shish Kabobs." Alternating pieces of lamb and other ingredients on skewers are the Ralph G. Lorenz children, Dickie, Stacion and Sheila, while Mrs. Lorenz supervises the operation.

"Shish Kabobs," Specialty of Lorenz Family

Good eatin' as well as lots of fun for guests to assemble themselves and cook over the charcoal grill in the backyard are these "Shish Kabobs" recommended by Mrs. Ralph G. Lorenz.

The marinade for this particular recipe was developed by Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz at their home on 45885 Ann Arbor trail.

First sampling "Shish Kabobs" at the Omar Khayyam in San Francisco, the Lorenzes ran across this Middle Eastern dish again in a restaurant in Williamsburg, Virginia. So intrigued were they with the flavor of the "Shish Kabobs" that they requested the recipe from the Williamsburg restaurant. Given a polite refusal, the Lorenzes were told that the recipe, now 1200 years old, was one which was traditionally made known to only the eldest daughter of the family and thus hanted down from generation to generation.

Undaunted, the Lorenzes decided to concoct their own formula for the marinade, secret of the dish. After dining on "Shish Kabobs" for five nights in a row at the Williamsburg restaurant and later tasting countless experimental recipes of their own, the Lorenzes finally arrived at one which they believe most nearly approximates that of the Williamsburg "Shish Kabobs."

and add lamb. Let mixture cool and place in refrigerator overnight. (Lamb may remain in marinade for as long as 48 hours without adverse effect.)

Then alternate on skewers groups of lamb with the following ingredients: Green pepper, Bermuda onion, red tomatoes and mushrooms.

Cook about 10 to 12 minutes on each side over charcoal grill. When done, lamb should be juicy and pink on the inside. For serving, slip ingredients off skewer and onto plate. Makes a delicious one-dish meal.

Because most grills aren't large enough to accommodate the number of "Shish Kabobs" prepared, the Lorenzes recommend cooking them about eight minutes over the grill and finishing up the process under the broiler, basting them with the remaining marinade.

Here it is:
Marinade for Shish Kabobs
1 cup of claret or other sour wine
3/4 cup of salad oil
1/4 teaspoon of pepper
1/4 teaspoon of salt
1 1/4 teaspoons of oregano
1 1/4 tablespoons of rosemary powder
1 teaspoon of marjoram
1/4 teaspoon of sweet basil
1/4 teaspoon of ginger
1 clove of garlic, crushed

And here's the way to make eight delicious "Shish Kabobs":
The evening before you plan to serve this dish, take a six to eight-pound leg of lamb (only this particular cut should be used), thoroughly trim meat, removing all fat and tendons, and cut into two or three-inch cubes.
Heat marinade just short of the boiling point, remove from stove

McMann, Graham Rites Read Recently

Barbara Anne Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Graham of Edison street, Plymouth, and Airman First Class Allen J. McMann, son of Mrs. Dorothy L. McMann of Birmingham, and the late John McMann, were joined in holy matrimony Sunday afternoon, June 26, in the First Presbyterian church by the Reverend Henry Walch.

A small reception for about 50 people was held at the home of the bride. Guests included the bridegroom's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William Watson from Vancouver, B.C. Other out-of-town guests were from Birmingham, Amherstburg, Ontario, Detroit, Royal Oak, Clawson, and many were from Livonia and Plymouth.

Barbara was given in marriage by her father. Her only attendant was Margaret Fisher of Plymouth. Morris Beaver was the best man.

Airman McMann is currently stationed in Alaska where he is assigned to the Seventh Weather Group. Barbara will join him there in December of this year.

Grange Gleanings

Is everyone who is going to "Show Boat" ready for our trip tomorrow night? Those who are driving should pick up their passengers and leave Plymouth about 7 p.m. Take your picnic supper and we'll all eat together when we get there.

We are very sorry to report that Mrs. Farley had the sad misfortune to fall downstairs last week, Tuesday, breaking her leg. She is in University hospital. It was a great disappointment as she was leaving on Saturday for Nevada to visit her daughter who lives there. It is just too bad.

As there will be no Grange meetings in July and August the reporter will appreciate any one having any items of interest. Call and report them to her at 1852-R. Items about Grange members and their families, of course.

Those who attended the Grange picnic last Thursday evening declare that it was a very pleasant affair. It was a very hot day but it was really quite cool down in the park. Mr. and Mrs. Mole were there from Scio Grange. She played her accordion and George Curtis played his guitar, so some of the group managed to get a set going for a square dance. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis sang a couple of duets. There was also group singing, so altogether everyone had a real good time.

There will be another picnic on July 21 — same time and same place so be sure to come and enjoy the fun. We have the promises of some music for that date, too. Come and bring your family and friends.

And remember the Tri-County picnic next Sunday, July 17, at Milan at the Community building the same as last year. There will be a program with some special speaker no doubt.

SUNSET DISTRICT Scoutleaders, along with other business and professional people, helped the Detroit Area Council dedicate a new $100,000 pool at the Charles Howell Scout Reservation last Saturday. The pool, financed by gifts made through the Metropolitan Detroit Building Fund, was opened just in time for the Reservation's Summer Camping season, serving 600 campers each week. NO cooking is needed to make this pretty Strawberry Dome Cake. It's one of those summer-time helpers, a refrigerator dessert. Plenty of fragrant hot coffee to go with it is a refreshing summer-time "must."

Try Strawberry Dome Cake For Delicious, Summer Treat

Easy-to-make desserts — that's what we need for summer! But easily-made doesn't rule out the possibility that it will be easy on the eyes, too, and a Strawberry Dome Cake is certainly that. Surrounded by cups of fresh and fragrant coffee, it's a pretty and welcome sight on a warm day.

You'd never believe, just by looking at it, how very easy this dessert is to put together. Baker's sponge, a package of instant pudding mix (we suggest vanilla, but you can use your own favorite flavor), fresh strawberries, some whipping cream. There's nothing to cook, no special mold required. Strawberry Dome Cake is chilled right in the mixing bowl it is made in, turned out straight onto the serving platter.

From then on, all you have to do is frost it with whipped cream, make fresh hot coffee to go with it — and eat it! Then see if you don't agree that this quickly made and decorative dessert is every bit as delicious as it looks.

STRAWBERRY DOME CAKE
1 pkg. baker's sponge cake (2 layers)
1 pkg. instant vanilla pudding
1 cup whipping cream
1 qt. strawberries, sliced and sweetened

Split sponge cake layers in half to make 4 round layers. Prepare pudding and let set as directed on package. Press one of the cake layers into a medium sized mixing bowl. Spread with one-third of the pudding. Add second layer and another third of the pudding. Repeat with third layer and remaining pudding. Top with fourth layer. Chill several hours or overnight. Unmold on serving dish. Whip cream. Spread over surface of cake. Surround with sliced, sweetened berries. Garnish top with a few whole berries, if desired. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Spiced Carrot Sticks

3 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 1/2 cups hot water
1/2 medium carrots, cut in thin strips
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
4 whole cloves
2 bay leaves

Melt butter, add cornstarch and stir to a smooth paste. Add water. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick. Pour over carrots. Add salt, pepper, clove and bay leaves. Cover pan and simmer about five minutes or until carrots are tender. Remove cloves and bay leaves.

Clothes Trouble Laid to Wrong Diet, Posture

If nothing in your wardrobe looks well on you, the trouble may not be with your clothes. Maybe it is your figure and posture that is to blame.

The first step is to check your weight for your height and age. If you are more than a couple of pounds off one way or the other, here is the place to begin.

You can lose weight without starving yourself. Go at weight-lossing sensibly. Don't starve yourself, keep in mind that it takes time to lose weight. Keep foods like sweets, potato chips, salted peanuts, gravies, and soft drinks to a minimum.

For good health, and beauty, eat the following every day: A green and a yellow vegetable, two fruits (one citrus) a serving of meat, fish, poultry, or cheese (cheese not on a diet to lose), a pint of milk, a serving of whole-grain cereal or bread, some butter or margarine, six to eight glasses of water, and three to five eggs each week.

If you need to lose weight, take smaller servings, if you need to gain, drink extra milk and eat larger servings.

Check your body measurements. If they need streamlining (this can apply to fat and thin people alike) take exercises. Make sure your posture is what it should be. If necessary, practice correct posture until it becomes natural with you.

Homemakers Invited to MSU Conference

Everyone needs a vacation — including homemakers. A vacation combining education and fun is what Emma DuBord, Wayne county home demonstration agent, prescribes to give you a mid-summer pick-up.

The 28th annual Homemaker's Conferences will be held July 19-22 on the Michigan State University campus. Any Michigan homemaker who can "untie her apron strings" and leave the family for one to four days is invited to attend.

Besides listening to nationally known speakers and taking part in recreational activities such as square dancing, movies and tours, Mrs. Homemaker will be able to attend one of her choice of 20 classes. Each subject will be taught in three sessions one day from Wednesday through Friday. For those who can only attend the conference one day, special one-session classes will be held.

Featured speakers will be Edwin C. Kemper, special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation; Dr. Cleo Dawson, popular psychologist; and Dr. David E. Molyneux, First Presbyterian church, Flint. Mary Tjepke, home lighting specialist with the Detroit Edison company, will discuss "There is Light in Your Future."

The featured entertainment for the conference is Thursday evening when Doraine and Ellis, a musical team will present "Romance in Song." Their program is described as "costumed cameos of famous musicals."

SANDWICH CUTTING CUES

Sandwiches that are to be wrapped and carried for picnic eating may be cut in as many interesting ways as those to be served for a more formal meal at home. The type of filling to a large degree will determine the way it should be cut. The diagrams below indicate seven ways to cut sliced bread sandwiches and the usual way to cut a sandwich made with hamburger buns. Hold the sandwich together with the thumb and first finger of one hand, then with a very sharp knife in the other hand, cut the sandwich in desired sections. Two or three sandwiches may be stacked and cut all at one time if desired.

Use baker's sliced bread. Take the two slices of bread that lie next to each other in the loaf. Matched slices will assure even edges. Leave crusts on bread to help hold the sandwich together.

Butter or margarine should be at room temperature (not melted) before being used. Melted fats soak into the bread and do not form the protective coating needed to prevent moist fillings from soaking into the bread.

Use a spatula for spreading soft fillings because the flexibility of the blade makes spreading easier. Spread both butter and filling to the edge of the bread. All sandwiches should be prepared quickly and carefully under sanitary conditions. If they are to be made up in advance of use to be stored in a mechanical refrigerator or an icebox, they should not be held for more than twelve hours. In the event that they are to be frozen and held until the picnic day, they may be kept in the Vegetable salads can be garnished with watercress, mint, parsley, pimento, grated raw carrot or sliced olives.

Fluffy Mashed Potatoes Easy With Dried Milk

If you are an advocate of "A meal is not complete without mashed potatoes," here's a suggestion for you.

A home demonstration agent in Wayne county declares that using dry milk solids makes it possible to give mashed potatoes just the degree of fluffiness you want. You need add only the amount of liquid necessary and still have all the nutrients you would have in fluid skim milk.

After the potatoes are cooked as usual in boiling water, she says to drain them and save the liquid to use later. Break them up with a masher or beater and add a little of the cooking liquid, salt and dry milk solids. Allow about 1/2 to one tablespoon of the dry milk solids per serving portion.

Then, the agent continues, whip the mixture well and add more hot cooking water to make the potatoes the desired consistency. Butter may be added during the mixing or may be used to garnish the potatoes when they are served. The expert adds that a little chopped parsley adds color and extra flavor.

To remove a gelatin salad from the mold, dip the mold into hot water and then turn out the salad onto the serving plate.

Tips to Ease Kitchen Chores

Line the bottom of your vegetable crisper with waxed paper or aluminum foil to keep it neat. Vegetables and fruits will not stain the container and it's easier to discard the paper or foil than to scrub it clean.

Kitchen floor areas which have to take a great deal of wear should have a floor mat on them. You might try one at the back entrance, as well as a fatigue or cushioned mat at the sink where you spend much time.

If your dishpan is too low for you to wash dishes comfortably, get a plastic rectangular container on which to place it, thus raising it to a better working height.

When your sink becomes stained, use a diluted chlorine bleach in it for a few minutes to whiten it. This is also a good time to bleach the dish cloth or stained towels since they can sit in the same solution.

Is it possible to over-wash clothing, homemakers often ask. It certainly is — when dirt has been loosened from garments, in a reasonable length of time, only harm can result from continued motion in the soiled water. Over-bleaching and over-washing are two laundry sins which many homemakers confess they want to overcome. Following directions given with the washer and with the bleach used will help.

Food in Tubes to Grace Picnic Tables Soon

Millions of American picnickers may soon find the fun of their favorite summer pastime greatly enhanced by adopting an old European custom — the use of food spreads in fold-up metal tubes for outdoor meals.

Europeans have been able to buy a number of food products in metal tubes for many years. In fact, 90 per cent of all mustard sold in Switzerland is packaged in this manner, as well as cream cheese and butter. Other tube-packaged foods available abroad are meat and fish pastes, cheese spreads, caviar, mayonnaise, horseradish, catsup, honey and chocolate syrup.

Until recently, anchovy paste was just about the only food on the American market packed in metal tubes. Now, due to a successful experiment in Chicago, there's a new tubed item booming in popularity here — jelly. It is available already in the East.

At the National Packaging show held in April in Chicago, jelly in tubes caught the eye of food processors and packers and was served on the breakfast menus of a number of leading hotels in that city. Since then, the Collapsible Tube Manufacturers Council has been cooperating with food industry people to develop a variety of tubed foods for domestic use. Besides their obvious advantages for picnickers, the lightweight, sanitary tubes of food are fine for school and work lunchboxes and for hiking and camping trips.

With the current efforts of the tube and food industries, it looks like Americans will soon be joining the swing to greater convenience and ease in outdoor eating.

Helpful Hints Concerning Building, Remodeling, Repairing & Redecorating

BUILT IN 1875, the Karl Starkweather home at 711 Starkweather avenue has been repaired several times over the past years in order to keep it modern and up to date, but the most recent improvements were just completed. Alfred Austin and Associates, exterior and interior home remodeling contractors from Detroit, rejuvenated the 80-year-old residence by trimming up the house's exterior. The home now has a newly glassed and screened-in porch with asphalt floor tiling and the exterior walls have been covered with a modern rough finish asphalt siding. In addition to new shutters, there are several new window sills, new eaves in many places, and other modern improvements in the exterior wood work. The home will eventually have bright metal awnings on many of the windows in both front and at the back sides. The landmark is presently being painted to add new luster to the three-quarter century old residence.

Kitchen Floor Plans Have 4 Basic Styles, Can Be Coordinated Efficiently with Cabinets

There are four basic patterns for kitchen floor plans and regardless of the one you select, wooden or steel kitchen cabinets can be fitted efficiently and economically into the layout.

Variations of all types can be found, of course, because of the architectural limitations of some homes, but the four primary kitchen plans are the U. L. one-wall or I, and parallel-wall or corridor layouts.

The U-shape kitchen arranges the major appliances, storage, and work surfaces along three walls, the L-shape plan along just two adjacent walls. In either case, a continuous alignment of range-counter-sink-counter-refrigerator normally is utilized, with wall cabinets coordinated above, to provide sufficient counter and storage space for each of the kitchen work centers.

All equipment is lined up along one wall, as the name implies, in the one-wall or I-shape kitchen, while cabinets, appliances, and sink are on opposite walls in the corridor or parallel wall arrangement. Irregular kitchens, in which wall or floor space is broken into odd lengths by doors and windows, require variations of these four basic kitchen plans.

The U and L-shape kitchens are the most efficient and convenient layouts, home designers say, because they bring the range, refrigerator, and sink work centers closer together in conjunction with storage units.

In any of these kitchen stylings, however, it is possible to attain an attractive and practical combination of storage facilities and appliances by using wooden or steel cabinets because of the tremendous variety of ready-tailored sizes and styles of such cabinets.

Steel cabinets have been standardized in three-inch multiples to make combinations possible for almost all wall and floor spaces. In addition, some steel cabinet manufacturers will design custom-built units to exact measurement if desired.

Wooden cabinets can be just as versatile, and may be built as a "Do-It-Yourself" project with the aid and advice of a local building supply dealer.

The sink area, of course, should be the pivot around which the rest of the kitchen equipment is grouped. Undersink cabinets are fashioned to match sinks ranging from 15 to 96 inches wide and modular-styled base and wall cabinets enable easy layout of the remainder of the kitchen.

Base cabinets are fashioned in widths from 9 to 42 inches, for example, and wall cabinets in widths from 12 to 66 inches. In addition, wall cabinet heights vary from 15 to 36 inches so even the wall space above refrigerator, sink, and range can be utilized with the shorter units if you wish.

A multitude of door, drawer, and shelf arrangements gives complete flexibility to cabinet storage space, too, and there are special-purpose cabinets which may be purchased or built for giving your kitchen individuality and efficiency.

Intriguing corner cabinets equipped with rotary shelves, for instance, give complete accessibility to corner space in U and L-shape kitchens. Curved-door quarter-round cabinets and rounded, open-shelf units offer decorative as well as space utilization advantages at the end of a row of base or wall cabinets.

It's just a matter of planning the layout to fit your kitchen's dimensions, then selecting the cabinets that carry out your plan. And the wide variety of wooden or steel cabinet styles permits a selection to fit your budget, too.

This attractive tri-level home offers excellent traffic circulation because of its well divided areas. The ground level includes a large living room with a fireplace at one end and the kitchen and dining area. The upper level holds three bedrooms with large closets and a bath. The lower level features a large recreation room, laundry, and furnace room. For further information about Design H-302, write the Building Editor, The Plymouth Mail.

Shade Trees Getting Scarcer In Building Boom

With the continued high level of home building, a serious shade tree shortage looms.

This warning is sounded by an expert who says it is getting much more difficult to find suitable "collected" trees to augment dwindling nursery stock.

The authority foresees good shade trees in short supply for at least ten years. One of the reasons is that nurseries find that it takes six to ten years or more to produce from seed, salable trees of very modest size. Another is that only a small percentage of wild growing trees are desirable for transplanting.

And collectors are running into ever-increasing scarcities. One rich source for good shade trees has been the old estates, broken up for developments. Today not too many more estates are left.

As a result, there are few trees remaining within a reasonable hauling distance of major cities where the suburban rush has been on.

The answer to this problem follows the traditional pattern, according to the tree expert. It is the prospect of higher stock prices that will entice more growers into greater efforts to meet the demand.

He urges home owners planning landscape additions to visit their local nurseries now, look over the available stock and reserve favored shade trees for early spring delivery.

Comfort Seen Cue To Fuel Savings

Your own sweet comfort is one of the best yardsticks for judging fuel savings resulting from a home insulated with mineral wool. This may sound strange, but actually home comfort and economy go hand in hand.

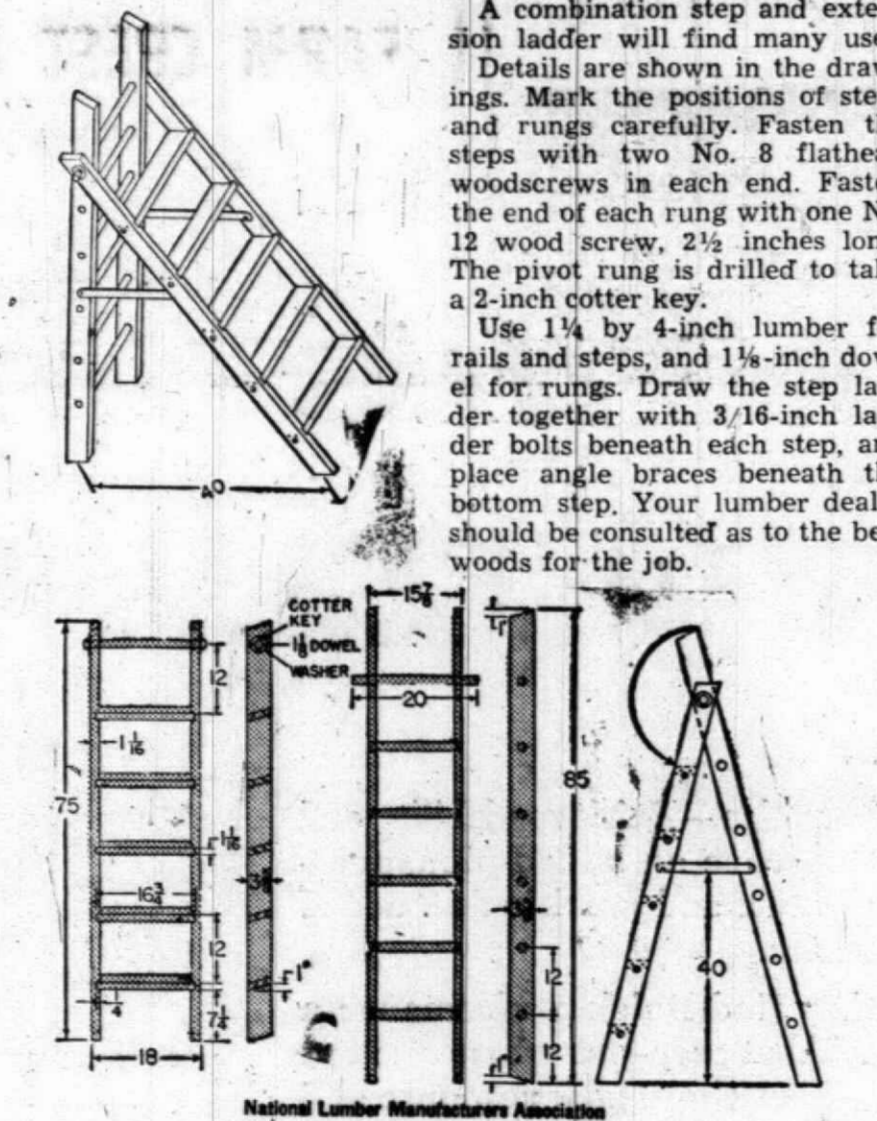

A complete mineral wool installation not only saves up to 40 per cent in fuel, but cuts down on chilling drafts and body-to-wall radiation, which can seriously affect a person's comfort. A comfortable home-owner, therefore, is saving money.

More than 10 percent of the nation's output of finished steel is used in Detroit.

"TOOTH" DESIRABLE

Should you be painting over an old coating that is chipping and peeling, make sure that all loose paint is removed with a wire brush, steel wool or coarse sandpaper. Next, sand the surface smooth — especially the edges of patches of old paint. If some of the old coating is still glossy in spots, reach again for your sandpaper. A new coating will adhere more efficiently if the surface to which it is applied has "tooth," as they say in the trade.

HERE'S HOW... MAKE A STEP-EXTENSION LADDER

A combination step and extension ladder will find many uses. Details are shown in the drawings. Mark the positions of steps and rungs carefully. Fasten the steps with two No. 8 flathead wood screws in each end. Fasten the end of each rung with one No. 12 wood screw, 2 1/2 inches long. The pivot rung is drilled to take a 2-inch cotter key.

Use 1 1/4 by 4-inch lumber for rails and steps, and 1 1/2-inch dowel for rungs. Draw the step ladder together with 3/16-inch ladder bolts beneath each step, and place angle braces beneath the bottom step. Your lumber dealer should be consulted as to the best woods for the job.

Outdoor Lighting Tips

If you're bothered by night insects, try using the new yellow enameled bulbs for outdoor lighting. These new bulbs are ideal for porches, over picnic tables, doorways and gardens, where you want to discourage night-flying insects.

There's no magic in the yellow bulb, but according to General Electric lighting specialists insect pests are less attracted to a yellow lamp than to a white bulb of equal wattage. Available in both 60- and 100-watt sizes, the bulbs have a glass coating which is "fixed" on the bulb so it won't wear or wash off.

BENEFITS SHOW

Often it is possible to improve the appearance of a house greatly by repainting the ceiling, railing, pillars and floor of the porch — even though the rest of the house is not done at the same time. Hollow pillars and the spindles on railings are often moisture-traps that can cause trouble if they do not have adequate paint protection.

COLORFUL OPPORTUNITY

Now that new eye-pleasing colors are being used more and more on the surfaces of kitchen appliances, there is greater opportunity than ever for attractive paint-color schemes for kitchen walls, ceilings and woodwork.

Soft Water Rinse Prevents Spotting When Dishes Dry

If you expect dishes to dry spotless in the automatic dishwasher, make sure your water supply is soft. The Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau says.

Dishwashing compounds tie up the hardness satisfactorily during the washing cycle. The trouble occurs when raw, unsoftened water is used in the rinsing cycle.

Hard rinse water deposits its mineral content — calcium and magnesium salts, in the main — on dishes, glassware, and silverware. The dull, gray coating remaining after they dry is hard to remove, even with vigorous toweling.

The best way to control hard water film is to take out all of the hardness where the water supply enters the home — with a water softener. Home water softening equipment can be purchased outright from a plumbing contractor, or rented by the month from a water softening service organization.

Not only is softened water needed for better dishwashing results. It is equally necessary to protect the piping system, the Bureau points out. Hot water service lines, in particular, rapidly become scale-clogged from hard water.

This causes a condition of creeping pipeline paralysis, with reduced pressure at faucet outlets. Sooner or later the piping system has to be cleaned out, to renew normal flow and pressure, an expensive undertaking. Hard water in the dishwasher may cause the valves to become hopelessly clogged. When this happens, there will be a complete breakdown until the equipment has been properly serviced.

Dad's Domain

A compact wardrobe-dressing room can make dad's hasty exit in the morning much more pleasant. This one, built of level-toned Douglas fir, is a dream. Every thing dad wears is within arm's reach. Mirrors back up each door which closes snugly as part of the wall panels when not in use.

Attends World Optimist Convention as Guest

Miss Florence Panatoni, 967 Palmer, attended the Optimist International convention at Montreal, Canada as a guest of the Northville Optimist club. She was awarded the trip by the club in appreciation for coaching the boys who participated in the Optimist Oratorical contest. The Northville contestant, Brodie Humphries, who took first place in the 17th District contest, was entitled to participate in the International Optimist Oratorical contest.

While in Montreal, Miss Panatoni attended the convention meetings and social activities, toured the historical points of interest in the cities of Montreal and Quebec. On her return home she visited Niagara Falls.

Proper Highways Reduce Accidents

Safety can be built into modern highways. Recently completed traffic studies again have established that adequately designed highways can sharply reduce accidents which annually take 36,000 lives and maim another 1,300,000 persons in the United States.

Controlled access four-lane, divided expressways of the type Michigan will build under new legislation already have proved safety records. Detroit's heavily used expressways, for example, average only 3.0 deaths per 100 million miles of travel compared with a 7.3 fatality rate on major metropolitan streets.

Some congested Detroit streets produce as much as 400 per cent more accidents than the nearby expressways, studies show.

Safety-minded traffic engineers have selected concrete for 73.3 per cent of the nation's rural and urban expressways. Concrete's gritty surface decreases danger of skidding and permits quicker, safer braking. In addition its light color reflects more than four times as much light and makes night driving safer and easier for motorists.

A just decision is one that lets us win.

First Of DeHoCo's Air Observers Honored At Chicken Dinner Tonight

They're throwing a big chicken dinner at the Detroit House of Correction tonight and the guest of honor will be Anthony "Tex" Ankiel, one of the institution's long-term "guests."

The occasion is the third anniversary of the 24-hour operation of the Detroit House of Correction's Ground Observation Post (Golf Nectar Two Two Red), an operation which has been carried on for three years by convicts without a minute's break.

When "Operation Skywatch" got underway in July, 1952 at the request of the Continental Air Defense Command, Tex already was in DeHoCo on a forgery count and he became the post's first observer when Warden Edward B. Gardiner inaugurated the system.

Tex will be honored not only because he is a charter member of the observation post, but also because he will be released July 24, just 10 days from now, after having done his time. He is one of the 365 inmates who have kept the watch in this odd lot of the 13,000 posts across the country.

The chicken dinner is a milestone in the Detroit House of Correction and to the men on the line who watch each day move slowly across their personal calendars. As Tex puts it — each observer reckons his time in terms of the chicken dinners he has coming before he gets out, or whether or not he's going to be out before the next one.

Not that Tex will be sorry to leave on the 24th, because every NOW—Biggest Trade-in Deals ever on the Biggest-Selling Buicks in History! Come in and see!

You can sit this pretty for only $2251⁸⁸* delivered locally!

We'll mince no words. You can buy a Buick SPECIAL like the one shown here if you can buy any new car. You can boss this big and brawny Buick Sedan for just about the price of the smaller cars—even for less than some models of the three most widely known smaller cars. The price we show here proves that. But you can't get anywhere else for the money what you get in this Buick, or any other new Buick—and that's something you really ought to look into. For Buick sales are soaring to all-time best-seller highs this year just because more and more people are discovering how much more automobile their dollars buy in a Buick than the same dollars buy elsewhere. They find Buick a bigger package of sheer automobile for the money—bigger in power thrill, in stretch-out comfort, in ride steadiness, in structural solidity. They find Buick size and styling an added prestige—Buick roadability and handling ease an added pleasure—Buick brawn and precision an added reassurance. And they find Buick performance a thrill without peer—for where else can you get the whip-quick response and bettered gas mileage of Variable Pitch Dynaflo?

Maybe you'd better drop in for a visit and see how much real automobile and fun and deep-down satisfaction your money buys in Buick. Whether you want the low-priced SPECIAL, the high-powered CENTURY, the extra-roomy SUPER, or the custom-built ROADMASTER—you'll find the price more than right and the trade-in deal terrific. Can you make it today?

*Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at modest extra cost on other Series.

DID YOU KNOW—

- ★ that the Buick SPECIAL is priced below any other car of 188 horsepower and 122-inch wheelbase?
- ★ that the Buick SPECIAL is priced below some models of the three well-known smaller cars?
- ★ that the Buick SPECIAL includes as standard equipment at no extra cost a long list of items usually charged for as "extras" by other cars—items such as direction signals, automatic lighting of glove compartment, variable speed windshield wipers with vacuum booster, and so on?
- ★ that the Buick SPECIAL gives you more pounds of automobile than any other car at its low price?

You'll Like the Friendly Atmosphere

Did you know that on an average one person dies and four are permanently disabled every 16 minutes as a result of home accidents?

There should be substantial banisters to all steps in a house. Many of the most crippling accidents occur by falling down stairways and even steps of not more than three or four.

It is appalling to see the women who are mounted on high heels and wearing long house coats that trail on the soiled floors. These garments not only gather up germs and filth but they often cause their wearers to trip and fall, sometimes with very serious consequences.

So many accidents occur in the house that someone is temporarily put out of commission every seven seconds. The greater portion of these casualties occur in the kitchen.

Frequently the daily paper reports an explosion caused from lighting a stove from kerosene. Where the person pours the oil directly from the can when ignition, takes place, the flames run into the can. The victim often is burned alive, the house catches fire and a terrible tragedy results.

Even little children often are victims of the carelessness of older people. It is better to use newspapers and a little dry wood or kindling to start a fire. It can be done quickly in this way. If there is a very small flame among the coals, you may not see it, but it will cause the kerosene to blaze and an explosion follows.

Cuts are usually caused from carelessness. Holding the knife toward the person is one frequent cause of severe cuts and dangerous accidents.

Floors that are too highly polished, or a little spot of oil or grease in which the foot slides or slips will often cause a devastating fall. Insurance statistics report 1,500 deaths a year from falls; to say nothing of those who are permanently crippled.

It is easy to turn the handles of pots towards the back of the stove, yet so many cooks leave them sticking out where they are apt to catch in the sleeve or be brushed against. They come down spilling boiling liquid on the unfortunate victim or victims.

Cleaning clothes with an inflammable liquid near the gas stove has been the cause of many serious accidents and burns that sometimes prove fatal. Leaving poisons around the kitchen is a potent and frequent cause of danger.

The person that neglects reading labels on bottles and containers often poisons a whole family by dumping a deadly poison into food that is being prepared for a meal. It is no excuse to say, "I was in a hurry and thought that I knew what I was putting in the food."

Carelessly climbing on chairs or step ladders often causes fearful results. I have known broken bones due to falls that invalidated people for life.

Michigan Counties, Cities to Receive Road Money Payment in October

Michigan counties and cities can expect their first payment of additional road money from the new highway construction program in October, State officials disclosed.

Under the new plan, which went into effect June 1, counties will share an estimated $6,000,000 and cities $3,000,000 more yearly than they are getting now.

Because payments are to be made quarterly, the first of the new money will be distributed sometime in October.

This is in addition to the counties' 37 per cent share and the cities' 19 per cent share of the regular Motor Vehicle Fund.

"There has been some misunderstanding about the allocation of funds to local units of government under the new program and some fear that the counties and cities were being cut," said Senator Haskell L. Nichols, of Jackson, Chairman of the Senate Highway Committee.

"Actually, they will receive more money than they are getting now. The distribution of money under the Motor Vehicle Fund — which includes 4½ cents of the gasoline tax — was not touched by the new program. The same percentage of distribution will apply — 44 per cent to the State Highway Department, 37 per cent to the counties and 19 per cent to the cities.

"The money allocated to counties and cities under the new program is in addition to those funds," Nichols said. "Furthermore, as State trunkline construction comes under the new program, more of the State Highway Department's share of the old funds can be spent on roads not named in the new act.

"Thus, there will be more money all around to build the roads Michigan needs — State trunklines county roads and city

School Boards Confer At Michigan State

School board members from 11 other states will compare notes with Michigan school board members on their duties and problems at the Midwestern States School Board Conference at Michigan State, July 22-24. About 120 are expected from Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Ohio, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota.

The program is being co-ordinated by Sid Sixma, executive secretary of the Michigan School Boards Association, who is officed at Kellogg Center on the M.S.U. campus. The Michigan Association is comprised of 7,700 members of local and county boards of education.

ABOUT YOUR LAWN AND GARDEN

Sow Earliest Vegetables For Fall Yield

Early vegetables should be sown late for a final fall harvest. They must grow fast to mature before frost arrives. Most of them like the cool weather of autumn, and the average quality will be higher, and the harvest longer, as many survive the first frosts, and some endure freezing several times.

Quickest maturing vegetable is the early radish which matures in 20 days; and slowest are onions which require 115 days.

Between these extremes are varieties which may take 40, 60 or 80 days to reach the size and quality which best fits them for table use.

Seed catalogues usually give the period to maturity for each variety listed. From your local weather bureau you can ascertain the average date of the first killing frost in your vicinity. Compare these two, and you can easily avoid crops which have no chance to develop fully before winter.

There are two salad crops which are at their best in the fall—endive and Chinese cabbage. Chinese cabbage which matures in 90 days is difficult to grow in the summer, because it runs to seed, but in the short days of autumn, it makes beautiful, elongated heads of crisp leaves having a suggestion of cabbage flavor which are delicious cooked or raw.

Vegetable crops which should not be sown in June include peas, early radishes, lettuce and spinach. All these require cool weather, and you may sow very early kinds in August, so they will mature in the autumn.

Quick maturing crops include snap beans, beets, carrots, endive, lettuce, kohlrabi, turnips, spinach, peas and radishes. The later you sow, the "earlier" should be the variety you sow. Several vegetables can be left in the garden late into the winter, or all winter long, and harvested as needed, to be thawed out and served.

Kale will provide the table with greens all winter long. Brussels sprouts stands freezing and thawing in the early winter, and frequently remains in good condition until Christmas. Parsnips which freezing makes sweeter, and salify, the vegetable oyster, can be dug up all winter, or dug in the fall, placed in paper bags, one serving to the bag, and stored in a box outdoors where they will freeze. A bag can be taken to the kitchen and thawed out when wanted.

Slow growing vegetables, which need only to be sown once in order to give an all season harvest, enjoy the cool days and more plentiful rainfall of autumn as much as the early types.

Swiss chard should be kept young by cutting off all leaves more than 10 inches long, and encouraging new growth, which will be more tender. New Zealand spinach can be harvested until freezing weather. Peppers and egg plant produce abundantly in the fall, and the late maturing tomatoes and sweet corn combine

Here's Way To Rid Lawn Of Crabgrass

Chlordane with a good grade of kerosene is still the best known crabgrass killer in lawns.

Dr. B. H. Grigsby, a Michigan State University weed specialist, states that one-half pint of 72 per cent chlordane in a gallon of kerosene will do the job in one application. That amount is enough for 1,000 square feet. The chlordane must be the liquid concentrate form, however. The wettable powder kind won't do the job.

Other crabgrass enemies he recommends include a spray oil, potassium cyanate and phenyl mercuric acetate. All three will do the job but more applications are needed than with chlordane and kerosene, he says.

The chlordane should not be used on fescue grasses, however, the weed specialist indicates.

Some new compounds on the market now are being tested by Dr. Grigsby. They are called organic arsenic compounds, or arsonates. The researcher indicates the chemicals will have several advantages over others if they prove to be as effective.

Gone Fishing!

The growing popularity of fishing in Michigan was evident this week in the Conservation Department's report of fishing license sales.

A. L. McNeil, in charge of licensing, said that sales of both resident fishing licenses and trout stamps, appear headed for new records.

To date, dealers have reported selling 115,000 trout stamps and 472,000 fishing licenses. To this date last year, 90,000 trout stamps and 422,000 fishing licenses were reported sold.

Both totals for this date are the highest on record.

In 1954, anglers purchased 216,000 trout stamps and 879,000 fishing licenses.

"Remember, children," father pontificated, "when I was a boy I often went to bed hungry, and seldom had a square meal."

"Well, father," rejoined little Richard, the smart boy of the family, "that shows how much better off you are since you have known us."

Father closed his big mouth, and finished his dinner without any further comment.

First Federal Reports Customer Earnings

June 30th earnings paid to savings customers totaled more than $1,200,000, reports Walter Gehrke, president of First Federal Savings of Detroit.

Earnings payments are made each June 30th and December 31st; this is First Federal's 42nd semi-annual payment. With gains in savings totals averaging about 20 per cent a year for the past several years, earnings payments have kept pace. Earnings paid in 1953 were $1,828,118.56; in 1954, $2,195,421.90. First Federal has more than 80,000 savings customers.

Nationally, it is pointed out that more than 14,000,000 Americans now have their savings in the country's thousands of savings associations. Most of these associations are members of the Federal Home Loan Bank System. Many, like First Federal of Detroit, are members of Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. In such insured associations, savings are insured to $10,000 by a government agency.

Osteopathic Hospital Opens Near Ypsilanti

A new osteopathic hospital at which many Plymouth people will perhaps someday be a patient is having its formal dedication this Sunday. It is the Ridgewood Hospital, 10000 Geddes road, three miles northeast of Ypsilanti.

Dr. A. C. Williams of Plymouth is serving on the board of directors for the new hospital.

Open house will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday. This 100-bed non-profit institution is a division of Garden City Osteopathic Hospital. The building is the former Leland Sanatorium and is located on a 170-acre site. It was purchased last fall by the City Osteopathic Hospital corporation.

The remodeled, newly furnished and decorated building provides completely new surgical, obstetrical and X-ray facilities and a pharmacy. With a staff of 50 osteopathic physicians and surgeons, it will serve a radius of 25 miles.

On the board of directors are Dr. Robert Ogden of Inkster, chairman; Dr. Spencer C. Hilton, of Garden City, secretary-treasurer; Dr. Raymond Ellenfeldt of Dearborn, Dr. Walter B. Stribley of Milan, Robert L. Dice, LL.B., Detroit, and Dr. Williams.

The Garden City Osteopathic Hospital was opened in 1945 as a maternity hospital with 13 beds and a staff of six physicians. In 1951 it was converted to a general hospital with 38 beds and 10 staff doctors. It has experienced a steady development. It is a participating member of the Blue Cross Plan of Michigan.

Members of the Ridgewood-Garden City Women's Auxiliary will serve as hostesses for the open house.

RIDGEWOOD HOSPITAL (osteopathic) will be dedicated this Sunday with an open house and public inspection. Many Plymouth people are expected to be patients at the hospital located three miles northeast of Ypsilanti. The new institution was recently acquired as a division of Garden City Osteopathic Hospital.

Michigan Births, Deaths Increase

Both deaths and births were up in the first months of 1955, according to a report issued today by the Michigan Department of Health. And the health department warned vacation-bound families that accidents rank fourth as a cause of death in the state.

During the first quarter of 1955, health department provisional records show 15,690 Michigan deaths, against 14,951 in the same three months in 1954.

Last year's ten leading killers are still on top, the health department said. These are: heart disease, cancer, vascular lesions, accidents, diabetes, pneumonia and influenza, immaturity, arteriosclerosis, congenital malformations and nephritis and nephrosis.

The continuing high number of deaths caused by accidents should sound a note of caution to vacationers, the health department urged.

"Accidents are needlessly killing about 300 Michigan people each month," said Dr. F. S. Leeder, health department director of disease control and statistics.

He commented that "snap judgment, often leads to quick interment," and said that avoiding "the hasty, hurried impulse or decision" increases the safety margin.

On a more cheerful note, the health department report showed Michigan recorded 73,082 births in the first five months of 1955, about 500 more babies than were born in the same period last year. If the high birth rate continues, Dr. Leeder said Michigan is certain to surpass the record of 190,000 births set last year.

SOME SEEM LIKE THAT!

The other day a contractor went to inspect a row of partly finished cottages he was building. This was a hurry-up job that had to be completed by the first of the month. The prospective owners had paid down their money and were anxious to move in.

Reaching the first house, the contractor stationed his foreman on the other side of a wall, and then called out, "Can you hear me?"

"Yes, I can," rejoined the foreman.

"Can you see me?" the contractor next called out?

"No," replied the foreman.

"That," commented the contractor, "is what I call a good wall!"

Cottage Care

One of the greatest enemies of a cottage by the lake or the shore is moisture. One summer the wooden porch floor of the cottage seems perfect, the next, it's rotten. And the reason — moisture. A good way to remedy the situation is to replace the wooden floor with one of quarry tile. Quarry tile is not affected by water and dampness, and it comes in frostproof types suitable for any climate.

Observer Corps Ends Third Year Of Sky Scanning

Ground Observer Corps posts all over the United States are commemorating the third anniversary of "Operation Skywatch" on July 14.

"Operation Skywatch" is the huge movement which was started July 14, 1952, to enlist the services of civilian volunteers all over the nation to strengthen the country's air defenses warning net. The ground observers supplement the warning coverage of radar.

Because of the unavoidable gaps and weaknesses in our radar defensive screen and the terrific cost of a 100 per cent effective radar net, a practical system of air defense must include a force of ground observers, stationed at posts all over the country, to spot and report all aircraft that fly over our aerial frontiers.

This is where the eyes and ears of the more than 350,000 civilian volunteers of the Ground Observer Corps enter the air defense picture. They plug the unavoidable gaps in our radar detection system.

The two components of the Ground Observer Corps are the observation posts and the filter centers. The primary mission of the Ground Observer Corps is to establish and operate observation posts, for it is here the spotting of air craft by human eyes and ears takes place.

The filter center is a considerably larger installation than the observer post. From 500 to 1,500 persons are needed to man a filter center properly on an around-the-clock basis, whereas an observation post can be run with 25 to 150 persons.

The filter center uses a large map of the geographical area under its jurisdiction to record the positions of aircraft reported by ground observers. Calls from two or more posts establish a "track" on the big map.

Tracks established at the filter centers are passed to an Air Defense Direction Center where this information is correlated with radar and other intelligence gathered and formulated at the direction center. At this center, the track is checked against up-to-the-minute civil and military flight plans.

If the unknown planes cannot be accounted for, the Direction Center orders fighter-interceptors into the air to make positive identification.

The famed U. S. S. Constitution (Old Ironsides) had a sister ship that was launched in 1797 as the U. S. S. United States. Nicknamed "Old Wagon," the United States was slow and heavy, was finally scrapped in 1886.

OUTDOOR NOTES From The MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Michigan's sea lamprey control work will be nearly trebled during the coming fiscal year.

The legislature appropriated $29,000 for weirs, research and other work to battle the fish predator. About $10,000 was appropriated in the previous fiscal year.

The first well in the pilot Lake St. Clair petroleum drilling operation is well under way.

Conservation Department geologists visited the operation about a mile offshore on the Canadian side of the lake recently and reported that pollution from the entire operation appeared to be less than that caused by an ordinary outboard motor.

The well was being drilled from an anchored barge and the operation was down about 1400 feet, aiming at the Niagaran formation about 1500 feet down.

Hunters and trappers bountied 120 coyotes, 46 bobcats and 5564 foxes during May.

The total does not include bobcats bountied by county sheriffs' departments.

The state authorized payment of $30,165 in bounty fees.

Michigan does not have enough state park facilities or land.

This was the conclusion of Arthur C. Elmer, chief of the Conservation Department's parks and recreation division after a recent review of early season attendance totals.

"We're already well ahead of the attendance pace set last year," Elmer said, "and the heavy-use portion of the season is just getting under way."

The parks chief predicted at least 16,000,000 persons would visit state parks and recreation areas this year. Last year a record 15,200,000 persons camped, picnicked, swam or otherwise enjoyed themselves in the 57 areas of the state's public park system.

"Camping is showing the biggest surge in popularity," Elmer added. "Some of our busiest parks, such as Holland, Grand Haven, Bay City and East Tawas, can barely keep ahead of the demand. As soon as one tent comes down or a trailer leaves, there's another in to take its place."

The state legislature recently earmarked $800,000 for new construction and land acquisition for state parks during the coming year. This money, Elmer says, will help considerably in providing necessary facilities.

One of the most promising projects is under way at Sterling state park. The popular southeastern Michigan area saw work-horse service before a brutal Lake Erie storm swamped it in 1951. Now, however, a long-range, multi-million dollar project is reclaiming the area. The legislature specifically set aside $300,000 of the $800,000 to continue work at Sterling.

Elmer has recommended that the remainder of the money be spent on planned projects in 22 other public areas scattered throughout Michigan.

Michigan's Conservation Department will spend about $541,600 of public money during the coming fiscal year to buy land for public use.

Included are expenditures of $386,600 for game and hunting land acquisition, all of which came either from direct or indirect taxation against hunters.

About $75,000 will be used for purchase of land for parks and recreation areas.

Also, the Department will exchange various lands during the year to consolidate public holdings.

Wherever possible, the Department will pursue its longstanding policy of buying only land located inside dedicated public projects, this to block in large areas for convenient public use.

At present, the Department administers about 4,250,000 acres of state-owned land.

Justices and municipal judges in Michigan passed out a total of 205 days in jail sentences to seven conservation law violators in recent court actions.

The Conservation Department's latest weekly summary of violators shows that three men were sentenced for "shining" deer, three for carrying loaded firearms in vehicles and one for possession of game birds and animals out of season.

The list contained names of 87 violators; 18 broke game laws, one left rubbish on state-owned land, the remainder violated fish laws.

Although many sufferers blame the goldenrod, it's actually the pollen from the ragweed that sets hay-fever victims to sneezing. The pollen of the goldenrod is too heavy to ride the wind, while ragweed pollen, on the other hand, spreads even on light breezes.
