

THE ACTUAL PAVING of Plymouth's newly widened Main street got underway Monday with company officials reporting that the resurfacing should be completed this week. Pictured above the hot-mix asphalt is being fed into the paving machine, which in turn spreads it onto the street. Prior to the smooth finished surface, a wedge of rough asphalt was laid in order to level the old street off to meet uniformly with the newer widened portion. Temperature of the asphalt is about 300 degrees.

Expect Completion of Main Street Project This Week As Paving Starts

All paving work on the Main street improvement project is expected to be completed this week, a few days after the August 1 completion target.

The asphalt paving work started Monday morning between the railroad and Mill street. By Tuesday afternoon, the binder coat had been completed as far as city hall.

Herald Hamill, engineer for the project, said that a one-inch top coat will then be laid over the entire street. After that, the job which began last April will be completed except for adjustments to be made in lawns and sidewalk completions.

Traffic is being rerouted this week as the black asphalt is dumped into the asphalt spreader. Trucks bringing the asphalt come from a plant on Levan road in Livonia. The spreader is able to lay but one lane at a time.

City commissioners are already faced with a major decision to make in regards to the new street. They must decide if parking is to be allowed on the street or if the four lanes are open at all times. Several businessmen have asked that cars be allowed to park in front of their establishments.

The A. J. Brighton company of Farmington was in charge of construction of the street. They submitted the low bid of $102,905. The actual cost will be considerably higher than that, however, after engineering, right-of-way and other hidden costs are figured.

Car Taken While Attending Church

A top candidate for the title of "meanest thief in town" goes this week to the person who not only stole a car while the owners were in church — but he removed some of a baby's prized possessions which were in it.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Welton, 696 Holbrook, were attending the Church of the Nazarene on East Ann Arbor trail Sunday morning when the theft of their car took place. At 8:45 that night, it was found on Koppernick road near Hix.

Taken from the car were a play pen, stroller, golf clubs, ball gloves and ball shoes, spotlight, mirror and sun visor.

The Weltons said that the car was loaded for a trip they planned to take that day. Sheriff's officers are still investigating.

Preliminary Junior High Plan Shown

What possibly may be the final plan for the $1,500,000 junior high building was shown Monday night by architects to members of the junior high planning committee and several board of education members.

A representative from the firm of Eberle M. Smith Associates, Inc., presented the plan after listening to the committee in recent meetings tell what they thought was needed in the school.

Two items not included in the proposed school which some citizens had hoped for are an auditorium and a swimming pool. A number of citizens had spoken in favor of an auditorium which would be large enough to handle any large community program.

But the planning committee found out that after construction and furnishing an adequate number of classrooms, there would not be enough money remaining in the budgeted $1,500,000 to build the auditorium. On the plan, however, are sites designated "future auditorium" and "future pool."

The planning committee seemed enthusiastic about the unique plan submitted by architects. The school board will take a look at it Monday night.

There are 33 "teaching stations" in the plan, enough to handle 1,000 pupils. Superintendent Russell Isbister said that there may be that number of students in the seventh and eighth grades in five years.

There are three distinct sections of the one-floor plan, each reached by hallways. The main section would have 24 classrooms.

Each two classrooms would be in a "block" by itself and divided from another group of two by a court. Between each of the two rooms in the block would be a small consultation room. Also included in this main section of the plan are the art and homemaking departments, library, office and other special rooms.

Another "cluster" of rooms in a wing east of the main section would include all "noisy" activities such as band, shop, the cafeteria and kitchen. West of the main section would be a wing containing the gymnasium, locker rooms and the future pool.

To Build Ramp to New Starkweather Play Area

Members of the board of education met Monday night with a committee from the Starkweather Parent-Teachers association to discuss the best means of getting to and from the additional playground area recently purchased.

About four acres of land were purchased at the foot of a hill behind the elementary school. The best means for children to get up and down the hill was the point of discussion.

Outcome of the meeting was a decision to build a hard surfaced ramp instead of steps. The ramp would have a 15 per cent grade and would have a railing. The school board is expected to discuss the project further at their regular meeting this Monday.

Denies Legal Action Against Petitions

A possibility of legal action to forestall a vote on two annexation petitions now pending before the Wayne County Board of Supervisors was denied Wednesday by Supervisor Roy Lindsay.

It was learned that a group of township citizens met with the township board this week to urge court action which might halt or delay a vote on annexation of the township to the city and the Roderick Cassidy farm to the city. Lindsay said that it was not a "regular meeting" but there had been some "talk" about legal action.

He added, however, that there is no possibility of court action.

Contractor Starts Home Building

After numerous delays in securing approval of plans from the city planning commission, Turk & Ramsey, Builders, are starting construction this week on their 100-home development located in the southeast section of the city.

The firm announced that an L-shaped ranch home will be their first unit and that others will soon get underway. Plans for street construction are still being drawn.

Announcement of the development was made last March. It is the most ambitious home construction program ever attempted by a local builder. Cost of the development is nearly $2,000,000.

The semi-custom homes will be of the modern ranch style. Turk & Ramsey have constructed many homes in the nearby Rocker subdivision in Plymouth township as well as others in Bloomfield Hills and Franklin Village.

Location of the 28-acre site is northwest of the Ann Arbor road and Mill street intersection and will adjoin the proposed junior high school.

Merchants Hold Vote On Monday Hours

Retail merchant members of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce are voting this week to decide whether or not local stores should remain open Monday evenings. The poll came about as a result of a meeting held last week by some 25 merchants.

Chairman of the store-hour sub-committee is James Houk. Along with Richard Papes, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce retail merchants' division, Houk was this week distributing ballots to all merchants. If the vote should win approval, the stores would remain open until 9:00 p.m. on Mondays and Fridays and close on other days at 5:30 p.m. Daily opening hour would be 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. Robert Stevenson of Maple avenue and her niece, Mrs. Karl Pandorf of Cincinnati, Ohio, returned from Ashville, North Carolina, where they attended the Lytle-Burgin reunion held in that city. Enroute home they visited in Richmond and Lexington, Kentucky, where they helped Mrs. Stevenson's mother celebrate her birthday.

City, Township Examining $1,800,000 Sewer Plan

Bonamici to Manage New National Bank Branch

Rapid progress is being made on the construction of the new Ann Arbor road-Harvey street neighborhood office of the National Bank of Detroit, with completion and occupancy scheduled for Thursday, September 1, Floyd A. Kehrl, vice-president in charge of the bank's Plymouth and Livonia operations, said today.

Roland R. Bonamici will be manager of the new office. He has had many years experience in banking, having been associated in various capacities with the former First National Bank of Plymouth and later with the National Bank of Detroit, following its merger with First National in 1952. Bonamici is a resident of Plymouth and lives with his wife and two children at 1045 Sutherland street.

The Ann Arbor road-Harvey office will have the latest in banking facilities and will provide complete banking and trust services. There will be five customer windows, a night depository, a large safe deposit vault, and the latest in modern banking services — drive-in banking.

With drive-in banking, customers whose time is limited may take care of routine banking quickly, without leaving their automobiles. Two drive-in banking windows are located on the west side of the building with entrance from Harvey street.

The bank building is of contemporary design. The exterior is of red brick and the interior will be finished in natural birch and soft pastel shades, with matching drapes at the picture windows. A large lobby and management area, fluorescent lighting, air-conditioning, and ample adjacent paved parking will be features of the new office. The grounds will be fully landscaped.

Commenting on this new financial addition to Plymouth, Kehrl said, "The erection of the new Ann Arbor road-Harvey office, together with the recent enlargement and modernization of our office at Main and Penniman, and the establishment of our Installment office at 833 Penniman avenue, have been made necessary by the bank's rapidly increasing business in Plymouth. These new and improved banking facilities will enable us to provide the best in banking services, and permit us to keep step with Plymouth's fast-growing progress. They are also tangible evidence of our belief in the future of this community."

May Call Meeting For Annex Vote

A special meeting of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors at which they will consider annexation petitions is expected to be called for this Tuesday.

Although no official notice of the meeting has yet been received by supervisors, it has been reported from the City-County building that the special session will be called so that the entire body can vote on recommendations of the Ways and Means committee.

The committee voted last Wednesday to set November 1 as an election date on petitions to annex Plymouth township to the city and the Roderick Cassidy farm to the city. As a rule, the board of supervisors follows the committee recommendations.

Meanwhile, city commissioners officially accepted the report filed by the Plymouth Community Study Committee. Appointed by the commission last February, the study committee was given until August 1 to file its report. Thomas Adams, a member of the committee, was present at Monday's meeting to answer questions from the commission. The report recommended consolidation of the city and township governments.

Commissioners praised the committee for its efforts and passed a resolution to be sent to each member to thank them for their work. The resolution also discharged and dissolved the committee.

County 4-H Fair Honors Plymouth On August 18th

Summertime is county fair time in most parts of the nation and Plymouth folks will have an opportunity to visit one of these popular events this month when the Wayne County 4-H Fair in Belleville holds "Plymouth Day" on Thursday, August 18.

Although competition is limited to 4-H boys and girls, there will be plenty to see and do for young and old alike. A midway with all the rides will be included in the fair.

There are between 4,000 and 5,000 4-H youngsters in Wayne county, including Detroit. The urban boys and girls are limited to handicraft, however. Many of the young contestants will be from the Plymouth area.

Tentative plans call for a parade to start at 2 p.m. on Plymouth Day. Local merchants are being invited to enter floats in the parade. Implement dealers will also take an active part. City officials will be invited to ride on horses to lead the parade, according to Robert Waldecker, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee and treasurer of the fair board.

The 4-H fair will start Tuesday, August 16 and will end Sunday, August 21. "Belleville Day" will be held on Wednesday of the fair week. Rides on midway attractions will be half price until 5 p.m. during the Plymouth and Belleville days, it was announced.

Each year the Wayne County 4-H Fair has grown. New buildings are constructed each year. Local service clubs have financed and helped build some of these structures. The Western Wayne County Auto Dealers have recently moved a building to the grounds for their display which was formerly the Lincoln car display at the state fair.

Engineer's Report Advises Joint Authority Creation

A 22-mile-long sewer project costing an estimated $1,800,000 will be studied by officials of Plymouth and Canton townships and Plymouth city as a possible solution to the area's sewer problems.

Herald Hamill, whose engineering firm has been hired by both Plymouth city and township to make preliminary estimates of the proposed project, submitted his findings and drawings to the city and two township governments. The next step, he reports, is to employ legal and financial counsel.

Hamill proposes that a joint authority be formed to operate the "community sewerage disposal system" in its entirety. This would "eliminate the problems of administration and policy, allocation of costs, collections of income, overlapping of responsibility and duplication of effort."

City commissioners were given their first look at the preliminary drawings Monday night and the Plymouth township board, of which Hamill is a member, will undoubtedly discuss the project at their meeting Wednesday night. The city commission voted to file the report and a committee is expected to meet with Hamill for detailed discussions.

Whether or not the city and township will be able to get together to form a sewer authority remains debatable at this point. Because of the annexation and incorporation petitions now pending, relations between officials of the two governments remain rather strained.

The board of education, however, is hoping for quick action on the project. They want to start building an elementary school on Sheldon road, south of Joy road, but health officials say they will not allow the school to open unless it has an outside sewer outlet. They will permit a septic tank system to be used for a while if they have definite assurances that an outside sewer outlet is forthcoming.

Plymouth township, which has no sewers, is seeking sewers for the congested areas in the south portions of the township between Ann Arbor road and Joy road. Plymouth city needs sewers for homes in the southern third of the city. Canton township is also interested because the proposed sewer would be able to service some homes and buildings south of Joy road, permitting further development of that area.

Hamill proposes that a 30 inch sanitary trunk sewer be laid along Joy and Ann Arbor roads; a 25 inch sub-trunk be laid along South Harvey to Tonquish Creek, along the creek to Sheldon road; an 18 inch line up Sheldon road to the C & O railroad; and an 18 inch branch south on Sheldon to Joy and to the proposed school site.

All principal sewers would be sized to provide adequate capacity. Continued on Page 8

Accidental Deaths Drop 5 Per Cent from 1953

Five thousand Americans won reprieves from death last year. These lucky Americans would have died violently, along with 90,000 of their fellow citizens, if accidental deaths had not dropped 5 per cent from the year before.

The death rate in 1954 was 55.8 per 100,000 persons — a 7 per cent decrease from the 1953 rate and the lowest rate on record.

This decrease in accidental deaths occurred despite an increase in population, high employment and booming motor vehicle travel, according to the 1955 edition of "Accident Facts," the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook.

The greatest reductions were in industry, which achieved a 7 per cent reduction in fatal accidents, and in motor vehicle deaths, which dropped 6 per cent. Home deaths were down 5 per cent and public (non-motor vehicle) deaths showed a 3 per cent reduction.

Dozes at Stop Sign

There have been numerous occasions when it seems like we have waited forever to get past a through street after waiting at a stop sign—but that could hardly be the excuse at 3 o'clock in the morning. Yet, police found a motorist at that hour last Friday who had gone to sleep while waiting at a stop sign. Receiving a report of a car standing in the middle of Ann Street at the Farmer street intersection, police investigated. They found the driver dozing behind the wheel. He had halted his car at the stop sign, he said, and had apparently fallen asleep. At the recommendation of police, the drowsy motorist parked his car and slept.

Veteran Farmer Fred Palmer, 78, Remains Active

So you feel like you're getting old at 50, eh?

Then maybe you had better follow around a fellow named Fred Palmer, 5777 Beck road. Soon to be celebrating his 79th birthday, he is still doing much of the farm work he did when he was a young man a half century ago.

Fred is among the oldest of land tillers in the Plymouth area. Born in Canton township on Nov-ember 13, 1876, he has lived in the same vicinity all of his life.

Shortly after bringing his young bride from near Buffalo, New York to Canton township, he purchased the 90 acres of land he now farms with his son, Ther-on. Price of the land was but $22 per acre which is but a fraction of the money yielded from a good crop on an acre.

Although Fred does not work much anymore with the large dairy herd on the farm, he does drive tractor and keeps busy with a multitude of other jobs. He once supplied Detroit's largest chain grocery with its sweet corn each year.

Mrs. Palmer passed away a year ago. Besides, Theron, two other sons have nearby farms.

HOISTING A BAG of sweetcorn on his shoulder is Fred Palmer, one of the oldest active farmers in the area. He was born on a Canton township farm and has lived on the present Beck road property for over a half century.

★ MEN IN SERVICE ★

Army Reservist M/Sgt. Wallace R. Brandon, whose wife, Merlyn, lives at 1883 Oakfield, Ortonville, recently completed two weeks of active training at Fort Riley, Kansas.

Sergeant Brandon's unit, the 8849th Military Police Unit Training Center, has its head-quarters at Detroit.

Air Reservists To Hear Address

With organizational activities now past, Flight A of the 9632nd Air Reserve Squadron will begin regular meetings this Tuesday by inviting a U of M professor to speak on the Far East.

Dr. Russell Fifield will de-liver the address to the group which meets at 7:30 p.m. at the Veteran's Memorial home. Flight A was recently organized for the convenience of Air Force Re-serve Airmen and officers and will hold regular two-hour train-ing in meetings with movies and speakers. All reservists are in-vented to attend.

Future activities will include a wives' night and a speaker on "The Reservist and His Commu-nity." It is pointed out that re-servists should join a unit now if they want to keep their reserve status along with the retirement and training benefits that accrue to the reservist, since recent legis-lation requires that the reservist participate in a unit or be drop-ped from the rosters.

Questions may be answered by calling Joe Scarpulla or Larry Ransom of Plymouth.

JUSTICE SWOOPED swiftly down upon Ivan Vincent, 38, who up until last week had been operating a bootleg whiskey still in a large chicken coop on the back grounds of his isolated Nankin Township farm. United States Treasury agents struck in an early morning raid and smashed his outlay of equipment that included a 275-gallon home distillery, 40 fifty-gallon barrels containing more than 1100 gallons of mash and also 12 gallons of moonshine found in a receiving vat. Above treasury agents stand amid the remains of the storage barrels, while below are pictured the battered still and receiving vat that Vincent had just finished working earlier that morning. He manufactured whiskey at an estimated cost of 50 cents a gallon and sold it for a price that ranged from seven to 10 dollars per gallon on the bootleg market. Quiet-spoken Vincent, who submitted without argument when faced by the special agents, had his 1954 Oldsmobile Holiday confiscated along with the 700 pounds of cracked corn in the trunk compartment. The government was being defrauded out of $10.50 tax receipts on each gallon produced by the man who was reportedly a builder by day in near-by Wayne and a bootlegger by night. He was taken into custody facing both a fine and a prison sentence.

Agriculture Ranks High In Accidental Deaths

Does crossing a city street leave you a nervous wreck? Do you long for the safety of farm life?

Well, you had better think twice. For the 1955 edition of the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook, "Accident Facts," shows that agriculture ranks among the most dangerous of industries.

Only high hazard occupations such as construction and mining surpass the accidental death rate of farm workers.

Financial advice: Save money now; it will be worth having a few years from now.

Flaxidyl Used in Deer Tagging Experiment

Michigan wildlife workers are developing a new method of catching deer and if it works, they will have solved one of the most bothersome problems in deer research.

The method depends on a new drug, flaxidyl, and a special carbon dioxide gun. The drug knocks out the deer temporarily. Placed in a special hypodermic cartridge and fired from the gun, the drug can be used to catch deer in the woods without injury.

The problem of tagging and studying deer with the usual box-shaped live trap is the deer's own thrashing reluctance to cooperate. While this sort of tagging goes on, wildlife workers have to handle the animals with great caution to prevent injury to themselves and the deer.

So if the method proves out, wildlife workers will be able to go afield armed with their gas guns, choose their targets and accomplish the whole study procedure quickly and with little danger.

The method is being studied at the Conservation Department's Houghton Lake wildlife station.

Office Help Suffers 25,000 Injuries Yearly

About 25,000 office workers suffer disabling injuries each year, according to the 1955 edition of "Accident Facts," the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook. Nondisabling injuries probably run to hundreds of thousands.

However, the injury rate for office workers is not high. Among nearly 200 separate work classifications, injury rates for office workers are among the lowest.

The Council said the injury total is large because there are so many office workers — about 8,000,000.

Township Firemen Have Two Calls in One Day

Firemen of Plymouth township answered two alarms Wednesday of last week, one fire being caused by grease on the stove and the other by lightning.

Damages estimated between $35 and $40 was caused at the home of J. Marsoe, 39499 Schoolcraft road, at 11:18 a.m. Mrs. Marsoe had placed some cooking grease in a pan, turned on the fire and went outside, forgetting about the stove. She later came in and found the grease burning and smoking heavily.

Firemen said that she threw water on the fire, causing it to spread. The fire, however had burned itself out when firemen arrived.

A storm carrying lots of lightning struck the area Wednesday afternoon. One of the lightning bolts struck the home of Joe Mandel, 39775 Joy road. The lightning carried along the home's electrical wires, setting fire to wiring leading to the electric hot water heater. The fire was out when firemen arrived.

Suggests Start of Fisheries In Remote Wooded Areas

The U.S. Forest Service has suggested that north central states try starting colonies of fishers in remote areas.

Fishers are members of the weasel family and the Forest Service wants them around to control populations of porcupines, notorious chewers of pine trees.

Weighing in at 12-15 pounds, the fisher is generally able to conquer the porky, weighing 10-12 pounds, but a wrestling match between the two is no shoo-in for either side. The fisher probably gets a paw under the porky and flips him over to get at his exposed underside.

Back in the old days, man placed on the porky the mantle of universal protection. The needy slowpokes are easily captured and a man lost in the wilds could always count on porcupine meat for breakfast, lunch and dinner if necessary. Such fare would drive any man from the woods.

But now the porky is merely a pine-tree chewer. Besides modern search methods make it hard for a hunter to stay lost for long these days, so the wraps are off.

The fisher, for his side of it, would be a welcome addition, in some ways, to Michigan's wildlife scene. For one thing, he is a former resident that was pushed out by civilization. His fur is valuable. Wildlife workers would like to study him.

Just at present, however, Conservation Department officials are taking no action on the Forest Service suggestion. For one thing, no ready source of fishers is available. Also, state workers want first to see what happens to the pine marten colony started recently in Porcupine Mountains state park. Martens and fishers are close cousins.

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN (above) battle one of the numerous grass fires that have occurred in Plymouth and the surrounding communities in recent weeks. The blaze pictured burned out a wide area of dry grass south of Ann Arbor trail along the railroad tracks last

Adolescents Need Firm Guidance, Sentiment To Adjust to 'Crazy, Mixed-Up Adult World'

When does an idealistic adolescent become a cynical, uncaring, or disgruntled adult?

This question suggests an interesting research project to Dr. Ralph D. Rabinovitch, chief of Children's Service in the University of Michigan Neuropsychiatric Institute.

Far from being crazy, mixed-up kids, adolescents find themselves in a crazy mixed-up world. According to the U-M child psychiatrist, "With all his problems, the adolescent has priceless assets which given proper nurture far outweigh the negatives."

In other words, adolescents seem to have more to offer the world than the world offers them. "But in recent years," declared Dr. Rabinovitch, "I have been much impressed by the loss of so many of our pupils."

It is a loss which borders on psychic automation, breeds in the cold, impersonal corridors of modern life, and at the sound of a bell, shuttles from room to room with no apparent purpose.

"We mustn't blame the teachers," said Dr. Rabinovitch, "but something is wrong when we continue to design schools which weaken rather than strengthen the teacher-student relationship."

In an article entitled, "Our Adolescents and Their World," which appeared recently in the English Journal, published by the University of Chicago press, Dr. Rabinovitch then gets down to cases, picks up a few child psychology chestnuts and replants them in the soil of common sense. For example:

1) "Give the boy his head." Parents nowadays tend to take the adolescent's striving for independence so seriously that they pull the family rug of security out from under their children.

"In some families," declared Dr. Rabinovitch, "it is as though parents no longer dare to direct a child after he has reached the magic age of 16."

The U-M doctor added: "It is certainly nice to grow up with one's children, but it is also wise to be more mature than one's children."

2) "Make the amenities fun." It is perhaps quite appropriate, according to Dr. Rabinovitch, to want your child to become a graceful ballroom dancer at 16. But teachers must stand firm against growing pressure that such social graces be forced on 11 or even 10-year-olds.

Said the doctor: "No matter how we try to stretch their squeaking ego, this age group is definitely not ready for this kind of involvement."

He added: "The children themselves are often ready, in fact anxious, to be reasonable in these matters, and where the parent's social standards foster superficiality and phoniness, it is all the more the school's job to stand firmly for real enduring values."

3) "Comic books are the evil of the times." Actually life itself is more gruesome than the comic books. And it turns out that the really gruesome comic books are more often read by adults than by children.

Dr. Rabinovitch says he doesn't doubt that some horror comics are unsavory and disturbing to children, but states that modern pogies such as housing scandals, tax frauds, and professional liars in government are far worse because the children have no escape from them.

"At least," said the doctor, "in Superman and Mighty Mouse the child knows that good triumphs over evil."

4) "Give adolescents solid courses in sex education." Like most panaceas, this one represents a gross over-simplification.

It is helpful but not enough, declared Dr. Rabinovitch, to teach children the anatomy and physiology of sexual functions. Furthermore, such is actually of secondary importance.

"The primary elements of sex education are found in family relationships, in feeling tones between parents, and in feeling tones between parent and child," said the U-M child specialist.

"After all," he added, "sex education is education in living."

5) "It's all because of momism." Today the tendency is to equate masculinity with toughness or with lack of feeling.

"Well," speculates the U-M psychiatrist, "if our aim is to raise gangsters, then, of course, we must avoid sentiment at all cost."

But, he added, "If we want to produce thinking, feeling young citizens capable of spotting potential despots, then sentiment, far from being a sign of weakness, has an important place in the school experience."

The school, concludes Dr. Rabinovitch, is the repository of fine literature, and it is in literature that children learn a respect for individuality, for creativity, and for originality.

The doctor added a postscript:

"By literature I do not mean only the voices of cold decadence and avant-garde impersonal schizophrenic — or worse, phony schizophrenic — outpourings, but writing that evokes a deep emotional response through its genuine warmth and understanding of human values."

Rabbit, Pheasant Kills Show Slight Drop

Michigan's rabbit and pheasant kills dropped slightly last year, but the two species still were most popular with state hunters.

The Conservation Department's annual summary of hunting information, based on posts-card polls and voluntary hunter reports, was released this week and shows that 1,115,000 pheasants and 1,430,000 rabbits were taken last fall and winter. The previous year, 1,126,000 pheasants and 1,634,000 rabbits were bagged.

Hunters took 570,000 fox squirrels, 474,000 ducks and 395,000 ruffed grouse. The previous year, hunters bagged 684,000 squirrels, 489,000 ducks and 700,000 grouse. The sharp decline in the grouse bag was expected and is in keeping with the usual 10-year cycle of high and low populations.

Also, firearm hunters bagged 67,000 deer, 205,000 snowshoe hares, 96,000 raccoons, 54,000 gray squirrels, 54,000 coots, 55,000 woodcock and about 20,000 prairie chickens and sharp-tailed grouse, all totals which were below the previous year's bag.

Hunters took 23,000 geese, 1200 bear, 21,000 red foxes, 700 bobcats and 3700 coyotes, all totals which showed a slight increase from 1953-54.

Here's Hot Weather Fishing Tips By University of Michigan Expert

Fish lose their zest for food during hot spells, but since they have to eat to live a fisherman can make his catch by being in the right place at the right time.

So says a University of Michigan fisheries expert, Prof. Kirk F. Lagler. And he has some hints to offer about best times and places for making that hot weather strike.

"Don't switch from one lake or stream to another constantly," he advises, pointing out that it is better to know two lakes extremely well than 10 vaguely. And the most logical times to catch fish during hot weather are near sunrise and sunset, and sometime between 10 p.m. and 2 a.m., he adds.

Once you've decided on time and place the question is, what to offer them? And Professor Lagler has some words here too: When the water is calm, give them a topwater lure, working it lazily.

"You've got to convince them that this is an easy meal, some small creature that's hurt, and can't get away," he says. And you can use the same strategy after dark, he continues, but wait almost twice as long before retrieving your lure.

"Fish can be expected to have a hard time seeing in the dark, too, and they'll have to come searching where they heard it fall," he explains.

If you don't have any luck near the surface, try a lure that'll go through shallow cover, and then one that'll plumb the depths. Professor Lagler suggests as a last resort attaching a small, live frog, with a weight, to your line and trolling slowly while it bumps the bottom of the deeper holes.

"Keep alert," he cautions, because the viciousness of the strikes will amaze you. When a fish does strike, strike back hard! Don't allow slack in your line, and strike hard again, he says, and play your fish carefully!

"Once you've landed him watch out for teeth, if he has them, and by all means remember that a lively fish with a face full of hooks is a first class menace flopping around in your boat," the professor concludes.

3 Local Youths Battle Pontiac in Table Tennis

In an effort to build a following locally in the sport of table tennis, three Plymouth boys journeyed to Pontiac last week to compete against a group of Pontiac junior table tennis champions.

Despite a fine showing against their opponents, Earl Robertson, Richard Morrison and Dennis Bonnette, all Plymouth high school students succeeded in turning in only one game win out of the six matches played.

A future match with the Pontiac players is being arranged now, according to the three Plymouthites, at which time the trio hopes to do better. The matches are being arranged by P.A. Seccord, six-time state table tennis champ.

Rookie halfback Richie Wolt of the Detroit Lions scored 57 touchdowns during his four-year grid career at Arkansas State.

Detroit Injured In Auto Accident

A 63-year-old Detroit man received lacerations of the head and right arm in an auto-truck collision that occurred late last Monday afternoon near the intersection of Ford and Lotz roads.

Injured was Emory D. Holmes, 15383 Cloverlawn. He was a passenger in a delivery van truck that was driven by Charles L. Jackson, 24, of 14901 Cherrylawn, Detroit.

Wayne county sheriff's officers reported that the truck was making a left hand turn off Ford road when the auto, driven east by Calvin Burns Double, 33, 8615 Hubbell, Detroit, struck the left side of the van.

Double claimed that the truck started to make the left turn just as he pulled out in an attempt to pass.

The truck driver, Jackson, was issued a violation ticket for not being able to produce an operator's or chauffeur's license.

Vacating Petition Rejected by City

Because of objections from prospective home builders, city commissioners voted Monday night not to vacate George street and adjoining alleys.

A Detroit couple who plan to build a home at the east end of Union street near where the unconstructed George street and alleys are located, did not object to their vacation but to a detail thrown in by the city planning commission. The planners wanted a turn-around circle constructed at the end of Union which would be a dead-end street.

This turn-around would require some land from the future home builders, who claimed that their plans would not allow donation of any land for this purpose.

Commissioners then voted to turn down the entire proposal and send the problem of vacation back to the planning commission.

In other business before the commission, a letter was read from the Liquor Control Commission stating that the Beyer Rex all drug store on Liberty street had requested an SDM license (carry-out beer and wine) in addition to a renewal of their SDD (liquor) license. The city commission, which must first approve the new license before the state issues it, gave their permission.

Commissioners approved a letter of appreciation which will be sent to Attorney Dunbar Davis who has been conducting an evening course for Plymouth policemen. The course has taught them facts on court procedure, warrants and other legal details. The local attorney taught the class without pay.

City Attorney Harry Deyo reported that everything has been settled in a court action involving the school board, city and the building firm of Turk & Ramsey. The disagreement involved the vacation of certain streets and alleys in Maple Croft subdivision where the contractor is to build.

Authorization was given to construct sidewalks in various sections of the city.

Officers, Enlisted Men Invited to Air Meetings

Reserve officers and enlisted men of this area have been invited to attend meetings of flight A of the 9632nd Air Reserve Squadron, it was announced recently. The meetings are held at 7:30 p.m. on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month at the Veteran's Memorial building in Plymouth. The next meeting is August 9.

A new Air Force reserve program offers reserve officers an indefinite appointment in the Air Force. Those local men taking this appointment will be able to meet requirements by attending the meetings held in the local Veteran's Memorial building.

The mountain has labored all summer and brought forth a mouse. At the cost of countless beautiful and irreplaceable trees, highway traffic can now line up three abreast while waiting for switching freights to clear. This is progress?

Every citizen knows that the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor holds a torch in her upraised right hand. But not many know what her left hand holds—the Declaration of Independence—or what lies at her feet—the broken chains of tyranny.

During World War II, it was possible to soothe our feelings while waiting for a long train with the reflection that times load of material to clear a cross like those called for forbearance all round. With the emergency past, I find it a little hard to understand why a purely commercial operation should be permitted to constitute itself quite such a nuisance to the public. This feeling is not softened by the railroad's evident intention of abandoning its passenger service as fast as it can do so, in spite of the fact that today's exodus from Detroit makes such service more vitally needed than ever before. The train from Detroit each evening is now so jam-packed, as far as Plymouth, that many often have to stand.

For 14 years this month, I have wondered how long it would take Plymouth to awake to the need for grade separations. As an outsider and non-taxpayer, I have no right to complain. But the many Plymouth business firms which are deprived of trade rightfully theirs do have such a right, and they should be exercising it now.

The interviewee who was quoted last week as feeling that Plymouth is in no urgent need of further public improvements must travel in an orbit which happily misses all the railroad crossings. As a resident of the area northeast of Plymouth proper, having occasion to enter town often, and to cross tracks at least four times on each round trip, I'd like to submit, as my idea of the most-needed public improvement, separation of some of those grades.

I am sure that a lot of people in my neighborhood hoped, when they saw the preparations for widening Main street, that grade separation was included in the project. Since separation will cost substantially more as a separate undertaking than it would have cost if combined with the widening, failure to include it is anything but reassuring. It seems, in fact, to imply that Plymouth is quite resigned to its status as one of the most sadly railroad-ridden towns in Michigan.

I say "sadly", because Plymouth is really the principal loser when dollars that should go there are being spent somewhere else. It is less convenient for us folks northeast of town whose logical trading center is Plymouth, to run over to Northville or Livonia when we need groceries, hardware, building materials, floor coverings and so forth; but with Plymouth's industrial expansion going steadily forward, and street tie-ups by switching trains more and more frequent, I for one, never enter Plymouth when I can avoid it. And I am by no means the only one of whom this is true.

Mr. Sterling Eaton, The Plymouth Mail, Plymouth, Michigan Dear Sterling:

The interviewee who was quoted last week as feeling that Plymouth is in no urgent need of further public improvements must travel in an orbit which happily misses all the railroad crossings. And I am by no means the only one of whom this is true.

During World War II, it was possible to soothe our feelings while waiting for a long train with the reflection that times load of material to clear a cross like those called for forbearance all round. With the emergency past, I find it a little hard to understand why a purely commercial operation should be permitted to constitute itself quite such a nuisance to the public. This feeling is not softened by the railroad's evident intention of abandoning its passenger service as fast as it can do so, in spite of the fact that today's exodus from Detroit makes such service more vitally needed than ever before. The train from Detroit each evening is now so jam-packed, as far as Plymouth, that many often have to stand.

For 14 years this month, I have wondered how long it would take Plymouth to awake to the need for grade separations. As an outsider and non-taxpayer, I have no right to complain. But the many Plymouth business firms which are deprived of trade rightfully theirs do have such a right, and they should be exercising it now.

The mountain has labored all summer and brought forth a mouse. At the cost of countless beautiful and irreplaceable trees, highway traffic can now line up three abreast while waiting for switching freights to clear. This is progress?

Every citizen knows that the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor holds a torch in her upraised right hand. But not many know what her left hand holds—the Declaration of Independence—or what lies at her feet—the broken chains of tyranny.

Official Proceedings of the Plymouth City Commission

Monday, July 18, 1955
A regular meeting of the City Commission was held in the Commission Chamber of the City Hall on Monday, July 18, 1955 at 7:30 p.m.

City, Township

city for future extension, the report declared.

The sewerage would flow into the Middle Rouge Interceptor sewer in Riverside park by running a line between Haggerty and Eckles roads. Including lateral installations, there would be about 21 miles of sewers. The engineer proposed that lateral sewers be constructed first where there is more development.

The report suggests that revenue bonds finance the project with property owners not immediately affected by the initial installation be required to defray cost of the trunk sewers.

Of the 2,400 acres in the sewer area, about 2,217 acres are residential, 53 acres are commercial and 130 acres are industrial. The report also shows that 680 acres are abutting the sewers and 1,537 acres are not.

In concluding, the engineer states that "in order to assure full use of the sewer project, an adequate water system should be constructed in conjunction with the sewer project."

New Ordinance

any description shall be placed in an uncovered receptacle, the new law states.

New days for pick-up will be assigned most streets. These new pick-up days will be published in several weeks.

The ordinance was brought about by the recent purchase of an abandoned stone quarry in Salem township into which the city will dump their refuse and cover it up with a bulldozer. Making one pick-up a week instead of two will serve as an economy measure, city officials point out.

ABSENT: Comms. Henry, Roberts and Sincok. (Comm. Henry arrived at 8:28 p.m.)

A lengthy resolution here appears in the minutes authorizing the issuance of special assessment bonds in the amount of $105,000.00 in anticipation of collection of special assessments on special assessment rolls for the several special assessment districts in which street improvements have been provided. In addition to pledging the income from special assessments for payment of the bonds, the faith and credit of the city is also pledged in the event that the special assessment collections are not adequate to pay the principal and interest on the bonds as they become due.

The bonds are to be of $1000 denomination, $85,000.00 of which, maturing in the years 1956 to 1962, are not subject to redemption. Those maturing in the years 1963 and 1964 may be redeemed prior to maturity. The resolution further prescribes the accounts necessary to establish the form of the bonds and the form of the notice of sale of the bonds.

Bonds in the amount of $25,000.00, maturing in the years 1955 to 1969, may be redeemed prior to maturity. ### On-Job Mishap Rate Lowest Last Year

The good old days weren't as good as right now when it comes to work accidents.

The on-the-job accident rate for 1954 was the best on record, according to the 1955 edition of the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook, "Accident Facts."

It marked the eighth consecutive year in which the accident frequency rate of the Council's industrial members has come down. The 1954 rate is less than a fourth of the 1926 rate.

Classes for pupils up to 20 years of age.
The fact that spiritual understanding of God results in practical goodness, health, and power will be stressed at Christian Science services Sunday.
Readings from the King James Version of the Bible and "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy comprise the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Spirit."
Among the passages to be read from Science and Health is the following (99:23): "The calm, strong currents of true spirituality, the manifestations of which are health, purity, and self-im-molation, must deepen human experience, until the beliefs of material existence are seen to be a bald imposture, and sin, disease, and death give everlasting place to the scientific demonstration of divine Spirit and to God's spiritual, perfect man."
The Golden Text is from Epethians (5:9): "The fruit of the Spirit is in all goodness and righteousness and truth."

Call For Clothes For World Day

The Plymouth Council of United Church Women is starting its initial preparation for the coming World Community Day, it was announced this week by Mrs. T.
P. Bateman, chairman of the local portion of the event.
She asked that the people of Plymouth begin now to save clothing for needy men and boys 16 years and older. Suits and overcoats that may go into discard would be greatly appreciated for this worthy event, she explained.
She requested that any "parcels for peace" prepared be delivered at the Salvation Army church on November 4.

Speaks Sunday At Kingdom Hall

South Union street.
The subject will deal with the trinity, a mystery or a myth, cov-

the other beliefs along this line

State, Federal Government To Operate Shiawassee Project

The Shiawassee Flats Wildlife Management Area, a 31-square mile, crescent-shaped stretch of marsh and river bottomland southwest of Saginaw, has become a physical reality.

Representing the state of Michigan, Conservation Department director Gerald E. Eddy early this week signed a cooperative state-federal agreement that breathes life into the long-anticipated project.

Fish and Wildlife Service director John L. Farley signed the agreement earlier for the federal government.

The agreement sets up a joint responsibility between state and federal authorities for land acquisition, development, administration and maintenance of the 20,000-acre area. At present, 35 per cent of the land inside the project boundaries is in state and federal ownership. The remainder will be purchased as it becomes available.

The project has three main purposes. First, it establishes a large, inland refuge area for waterfowl. The Fish and Wildlife Service will administer this section, in general to be located in the east half of the area.

Second, the state portion will provide a large public hunting area within easy motoring distance of several large eastern Michigan cities.

Third, if the area is included in any future flood control program, portions of the wildlife area can be used as temporary storage basins until water can flow off gradually to Saginaw Bay through the narrow Saginaw River.

The project first took shape about 10 years ago when an engineer, W. C. Hoard, studied the area and suggested in his report that a joint wildlife-flood control project would be advisable.

Traffic Accidents Claim 36,000 Victims in 1954

Nineteen times as many persons were killed in motor vehicle accidents in 1954 as in 1910 — but there were 123 times as many vehicles on the highways and they traveled faster and farther. In addition to 36,000 killed, 1,250,000 persons were injured in motor vehicle accidents last year.

The 1955 edition of "Accident Facts," the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook shows that Americans drove 560,000,000,000 miles.

This Is Season To Kill Poison Ivy

Poison ivy is for the birds. Our feathered friends have a penchant for the berries of this weed. They enjoy the white or cream colored berries as a delicacy, one of the main reasons this noxious pest is lush along fences where birds are likely to roost.

State highway department are now making every effort to chemically eliminate the plant. The home owner having valuable trees, shrubs and flowers should go all-out at this time, too to rid his grounds of the ivy.

Mid-summer is ideal to start the war of complete eradication. That's because the dry heat from now on discourages regrowth, after application of weed killers.

Extreme caution should be used in applying the chemical eradicators. They should be mixed in minimum quantities according to manufacturers directions and sprayed directly on the offending ivy.

Roots often survive a single application. Complete eradication will require two or more sprayings before the growing season is over. Since no one really is immune to poison ivy, those who attempt handpicking of roots as a final resort should be properly dressed. This means wearing high-top boots, leather gloves and adequate clothing.

1/3 of College Injuries Caused by Athletics

Dying for dear old Rutgers may be an exaggeration, but college athletics do account for almost one out of three injuries to college students.

That was revealed by a special study of student injuries at 11 colleges made by the National Safety Council and the American College Health Association and reported in the 1955 edition of the Council's statistical yearbook, "Accident Facts."

The study showed that an average of one out of nine students was injured during the school year. Athletics led the list of causes, with residence accidents, recreation, motor vehicle and laboratory the next most important causes.

Almost anyone can tell you how to live your life.

Cadillac

The Great Practical Luxury!

This message is addressed particularly to those who have been thinking about purchasing a Cadillac—but who, for one reason or another, have not considered acting on the impulse this year.

For you, there is interesting and valuable information in the paragraphs which follow.

In the first place, there is no reason why anyone should ever put off ordering a Cadillac—once the decision for ownership has been made. For a Cadillac represents one of the soundest and most practical investments in the automotive world.

You can become the owner of a 1955 Cadillac for little more than you would pay for many so-called medium-price cars.

And this is only half the picture, insofar as cost is concerned. For when the time comes to sell your Cadillac, you will find that the car has held its value far beyond anything you could logically expect.

Authoritative price figures, based on year-after-year studies, reveal that a Cadillac may be expected to return its owner a larger share of his original investment than any other motor car built in the land.

And then consider Cadillac's economy of operation. The car will run as far on a gallon of gasoline as most standard automobiles—and it is so soundly built and so soundly engineered that it is all but free from any save routine service requirements.

And here is the most interesting news of all: If you act quickly, the chances are that you can get early delivery of a 1955 Cadillac.

True, we have a backlog of Cadillac orders—but many of these are for future delivery or for special combinations not now available.

So—if you have thought of owning a Cadillac—come in now. Because of our low used car inventory, we are in an excellent position to make you a liberal allowance on your present car.

We have a Cadillac waiting to give you the most thrilling demonstration of your life. Why not make it today?

The resident of 14308 Northville road recommends it, too, as a tasty lunch-box filler or snack-time treat. Often she will serve it buttered with jelly or another favorite spread.

Here's the quick and easy method for its preparation:

- Grape Nut Bread
- 1/2 cup of grape nuts (do not use flakes)
  - 1 1/2 cups of buttermilk
  - 1 teaspoon of baking soda
- Mix above together and let stand while mixing other ingredients, then add:
- 3/4 cup of white sugar
  - 1 teaspoon of salt
  - 2 cups of sifted flour
  - 2 tablespoons of melted shortening
  - 1 teaspoon of baking powder
- Place in greased and floured loaf tin. Bake at 375 degrees for one hour. (Recipe makes one loaf.)

Mrs. Eugene Orndorff of 14308 Northville road takes the final step in the preparation of "Grape Nut Bread" as she readies the batter for its trip to the oven.

Health and Beauty

HOW TO KEEP FIT

The conscientious physician is the only professional man who is always laboring to train people to dispense with his services. By painstakingly educating the public in the principles of hygiene and healthful living he renders humanity in inestimable service. At the same time, he is busily engaged in reducing his own income, for the knowledge which he so generously imparts enables many people to keep well and to dispense with the services of doctor.

The road to health, though pleasant, is not always easy. It requires will power in order to live hygienically and biologically as nature intended. Neglect your exercise and you invite disease, which promptly accepts the invitation. Begin your health training when you awaken in the morning. Drink a glass of water on rising.

Wash your face in cold water, then stand before an open window and take deep breaths. Rise on your toes, raise the arms over your head and breathe in, inflating your lungs to the utmost capacity. Slowly descend at the same time lowering the arms and breathing out. Repeat five or six times.

Rest and relax a moment. Repeat as before, only hold the breath for a moment while you percuss the chest and abdomen. Breathe out with resistance. This is done by trying to hold the breath back, letting it out very slowly while you are breathing out. This is a good exercise, though a little difficult at first, it becomes easy with practice. This exercise brings the body erect, and the chest forward. The deep breathing invigorates the entire body.

We know that oxygen cleanses the blood and that through deep breathing we obtain the greatest amount of it.

Another exercise that is especially beneficial is produced by tensing the muscles. Standing erect, extending the arms horizontally upon the shoulders, tense the whole body and turn from side to side, at the same time keeping the muscles tensed. The tensing begins with the legs below the knee and gradually extends until it embraces the entire person. Rest and relax when tired. Drink another glass of water.

"One more step and there'll be trouble!"
"Oh yeah? Well, that sounds like a step in the riot direction to me."

American Legion News

August is "Convention Month" gates to conventions held earlier on the Auxiliary's Calendar of activities. It is the time when many departments hold their conventions, and the time when delegates to conventions held earlier make reports to their Units.

What is a Convention? Webster defines it as "A body of delegates, representatives, members, or the like, periodically convened for a common purpose.

Mrs. Percy A. Lanson, National President of the American Legion Auxiliary, will be in Detroit for the opening of the Michigan State Auxiliary convention, Aug. 4th through Aug. 7th at the Hotel Statler. She has a background of some 30 year service with the organization. Social highlight of the convention will be a reception honoring Mrs. Lanson on the opening day, in the Statler's Bagley room.

Mrs. Lee E. Taylor, of Brooklyn, Michigan, State President, will accept for Michigan Department a National Award for its "outstanding" legislative program. Highlighting the closing convention session Sunday, Aug. 7th, Miss Helen Liew Kalsbeek of Grand Rapids, teen-age Chinese girl who has been an American citizen for almost two years, will speak on "What Democracy Means to Me."

Mr. and Mrs. William Langmaid and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burleson attended the 98th performance of the Lowell Showboat July 28th which was designated as American Legion night. Invitations were extended to all Posts and Auxiliaries. This is an annual project sponsored by the Charles W. Clark Post in Lowell, Michigan. The performance was wonderful to see. The Showboat is incorporated as a non-profit organization and the surplus monies are given to such community projects as the American Legion Building Fund, the 4-H and the Community Development Corporation.

Service packages were delivered at Maybury Sanitarium for the Veterans by several ladies from Livonia, and Northville Units on July 28th. Gwen Holcombe and Fern Burleson represented our Unit. The veterans seemed very grateful.

Remember all chairmen!!! Get your annual reports ready for our next business meeting Aug. 11th, 8:00 p.m. Veterans Memorial Home.

Remember our Annual Picnic Aug. 21st, Sun. Meeting place usual one at Nankin Mills. More details will follow at a later date.

Read a good book regularly, even at the risk of straining your mind.

Here's Way to Keep Hubby's Wardrobe Looking Top-Notch

Most wives have the responsibility of keeping their husband's wardrobe in top-notch shape. If your husband likes to have you help him select his clothes, this is a real compliment, so always take the time. You may have the type man that doesn't care how he looks and never wants to spend the money or time to buy or choose his clothes. It is the wife's problem to help her husband see and understand the importance of being as well-dressed as his income warrants. Although the clothes do not make the man, it is true that your appearance is the first clue strangers have to the type person you are. If it is at all important for your husband to make a good first impression in his work, then it is your duty to see he looks neat and well-groomed.

Go through your husband's pockets regularly and sort the contents, throwing away all the things he doesn't need to carry. Constant overloading of pockets spoils the lines of a suit and causes it to wear out faster.

Turn back the trouser cuffs and brush all the dirt from the fold. Dirt and dust allowed to collect in this fold makes a perfect breeding place for moths and silverfish.

Before you put away a suit for storage, it is a good idea to go over the entire suit with your vacuum cleaner's upholstery attachment.

Air suits frequently. Hang them in an open window and let the fresh air and sunlight wash away unpleasant odors.

Keep all the buttons on tight and mend any rips in the suit or pockets. To keep zippers in working order, touch the metal teeth with a small amount of candle wax. Then glide the slid fastener back and forth to spread the wax.

Have you made iced tea by the refrigerator method? Use two teaspoons of tea for each cup of water. Pour cold water over the tea and let it stand overnight in a covered jar in the refrigerator. Strain and pour over ice.

Try These Ideas for Cool, Summer Drinks

Cool and beautiful — that's what you should aim for when you plan beverages for meals or for refreshments on hot summer days. Here are some suggestions on how to do it.

Iced beverages are sure "coolers". Fruit punch is a certain remedy when your guests begin to wilt — do you include ginger-ale in yours? This will give it an extra zip! Why not try a frost-fruit sherbet — a scoop of cool sherbet with any of the juices you might have on hand. Place it in a frosted glass for serving.

The electric mixer whips up tasty milk shakes which are nutritious as well as cooling. Ice cream blended with soft drinks in the mixer is delicious. Try ice cream with gingerale or orange soda. For an extra treat add crushed pineapple to the ice cream and gingerale — top with whipped cream and a spear or two of fresh pineapple. Then settle back for the compliments.

With meals many may prefer iced tea or coffee. And don't forget milk — add an ice cube to it, too. During the hot days of summer there is an increase in the water losses of our body. This loss is necessary to keep body temperatures from rising in hot weather. But, this water must be replaced. Summer is a good time to increase the amount of liquid food served with meals. Be sure the juice served as an appetizer is well chilled.

Ice cubes made of frozen juices with a sprig of mint and a maraschino cherry frozen inside flavor an otherwise ordinary glass of iced tea or gingerale. For iced coffee, freeze cubes of clear coffee, a bit of grated lemon peel in each cube. For tomato juice, a pearl onion in each cube of frozen tomato juice.

For your punch bowl, you may like to make an attractive ice ring. Arrange mint leaves and small fruits such as berries and pineapple tidbits in a ring mold. Fill with water or a light colored fruit juice. A tea base punch will be your most economical choice for serving a large group.

Speed Meals For Summer

A summer meal featuring an appetizing soup and a cold platter of potato salad, cheese and cold meats leaves you cool, calm and collected. This easy combination is a treat for either family or company.

Variety is limitless both for the soup selection and the platter. A long list of canned soups . . . cream, vegetable, meat, chicken or chowder . . . are yours for the choosing. Serve them hot or cold with a pretty garnish.

Here we have Creamy Potato Salad, Vienna sausage and alternate slices of cheese and canned ham on the tempting platter. Other keep-on-hand choices may be canned luncheon meat, corned beef and sardines. Toasted hard rolls, iced tea, and melon for dessert would complete the menu.

CREAMY POTATO SALAD

- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
  - 2 tbsps. prepared mustard
  - 2 cans (16 oz. each) white potatoes
  - 3 hard cooked eggs
  - 1/4 cup chopped ripe olives
  - 2 tablespoons pimiento strips
  - 1 cup thinly sliced celery
  - 1 small onion
  - Seasoned salt
  - Freshly ground pepper
- Combine mayonnaise and mustard; add drained potatoes, cut in cubes. Chill 2 to 3 hours to blend flavors. Add coarsely cut eggs, olives, pimiento, celery and diced onion. Season to taste. Chill. Serve on crisp greens. Six generous servings.

Experts Find Canning Best For Tomatoes

Canning, rather than freezing, still seems to be the best way of preserving tomatoes.

According to research recently completed by foods and nutrition experts at a well-known university, frozen tomatoes are hard to handle and not very attractive. While thawing they leak and after being cut for serving, fall apart quite quickly.

The specialists found it better to rely on canning for keeping tomatoes and to put individually wrapped green tomatoes in cool storage in the fall to lengthen the season a month or two.

In the tests three varieties of tomatoes were used — Marglobe, Rutgers and Big Boy. They were blanched in boiling water, cooled, wrapped individually and stored in a freezer for one, two and one-half, four and six months. All varieties of tomatoes gave about the same overall results. Although none of the tests showed good texture or appearance, they did not deteriorate in flavor, odor or color with length of storage.

In testing, the tomatoes were thawed at room temperature for 2 to 2 1/2 hours, unwrapped, cut into sixths and served at once to a taste panel. The panel judged them on general appearance, color, odor, flavor, texture and general acceptability.

Go easy with the heat when you cook cheese. Cooked too quickly, cheese gets tough and stringy.

MSU Event to Feature Kitchens, Old and New

Calling all brides, homemakers with young children, homemakers with teen-age and college-age offspring and homemakers who have reached middle years. The dream kitchen especially suited to you will be exhibited at the Centennial of Farm Mechanization to be held on the Michigan State University campus August 15-20.

A display of modern kitchens from the most spacious to the compact trailer-size has been planned by the College of Home Economics at M.S.U. Viewers will be able to trace ranges, vacuum cleaners, refrigerators, electric irons and many other appliances from their beginnings a century ago to the most modern up-to-date time-savers of today.

Besides the series of modern kitchens, three authentic historical kitchens will be on exhibit. One will be the pioneer kitchen of 1805 complete with loom, spinning wheel, pewter containers fire place and a 108 year old cast-iron waffle maker.

The second period kitchen will depict life in a town during the year 1855. The kitchen, modeled after the kitchen in Greenfield Village near Detroit, will boast a black cast iron coal and wood range. It is about two feet high and gives viewers a chance to compare it to the convenient height of today's ranges and ovens.

The third kitchen will be that of a town family in 1905. The Hoosier kitchen cabinet, the wooden ice box and gas light will bring back childhood memories to the thousands of people who are expected to be on campus for the week-long event of M.S.U.'s Centennial year.

Clean flower vases quickly and thoroughly with hot water and vinegar or household ammonia.

IN KEEPING with Plymouth's colonial atmosphere is the nearly completed Robert Sincock home at 1370 Penniman. A two-story colonial style residence, the house (above) is finished brightly outside in white woodwork and red face brick. The main floor has three rooms and a den, while the second story is complete with four bedrooms. Two and one-half baths are an added feature of the home, built by Gould Homes, Inc. Modern conveniences include a built-in stove and oven, a dishwasher, garbage disposal unit and an exhaust ventilating fan located in the attic. Ample recreation and storage space are found in the full basement. Work was begun on the new home about May 1.

A CONNECTING breezeway extending off the den makes convenient entrance to the Sincock's double garage (at right), which matches the main building's white wood work and red brick construction scheme.

HELP FOR AIR CONDITIONER After you install air conditioning in your home, don't ease-up on your time-tested home cooling techniques, such as drawing the curtains on the sunny side of your house. This tactic will help take the strain off the air conditioning system, make it cheaper to operate.

KITCHEN TREND

There's a new trend in kitchens: Initial food preparation is done in the kitchen proper, but cooking and serving are done on a barbecue range in the living room area. Both areas are near each other and related through the use of a practical yet decorative material like ceramic tile, which is both fireproof and waterproof. The arrangement gives added space to the living room area and creates an air of informality and friendly warmth.

Tattle-tale

The bathroom can tell you a lot about that older home you consider buying. Fill the bathtub, for instance. If the water is rusty, pipes are not in good condition. Check the wall and floor finishes. A quality home will have ceramic tile on the bathroom floor and walls, to make them waterproof. Drop a cigaret in the water closet and flush it. It should flush completely and the bowl should refill quickly. If it is noisy, be sure sounds do not carry to other parts of the house.

HERE'S HOW...

MAKE WINDOW SHELVES

House plants get the benefit of summer sun and are attractive window ornaments if placed on window shelves.

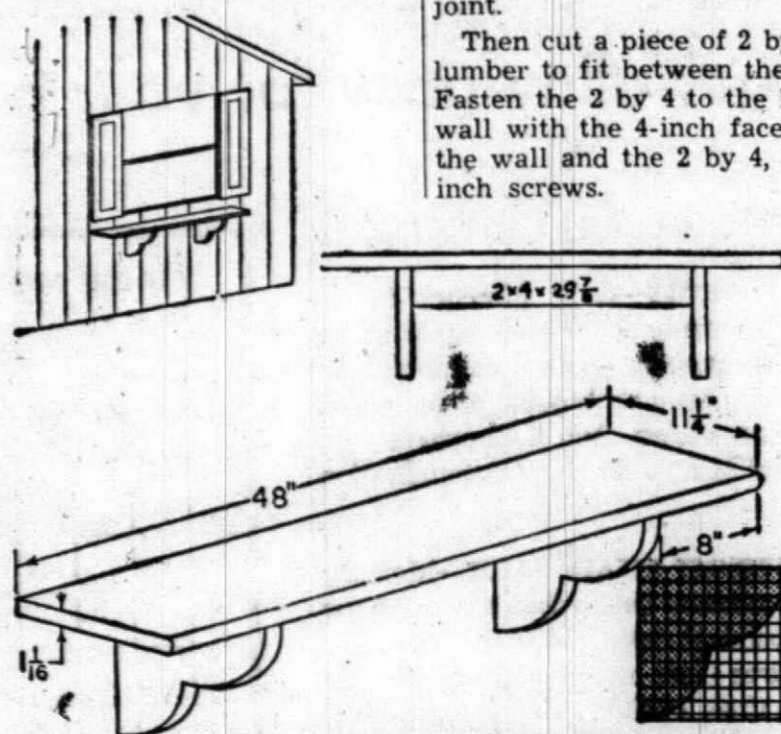

Each shelf is made of a piece of stepping, 48 inches long, with one rounded or "nosed" edge. Round the two ends by rasping and sanding to match the nosed edge.

For the braces, make two squares 11 1/4 by 11 1/4 inches, and lay off a grid of 1-inch squares, as shown in the drawing. Copy the curved pattern of the braces in pencil. Cut out the braces with a jig saw or coping saw. With a rasp and sandpaper, smooth the curves and round the sharp edges.

Attach the braces 8 inches from each end of the shelf, using three No. 10 flathead wood screws, 2 inches long, at each joint.

Then cut a piece of 2 by 4-inch lumber to fit between the braces. Fasten the 2 by 4 to the building wall with the 2-inch face against the wall and the 2 by 4, using 2-inch screws.

Control of Indoor Humidity Helps Ease Summer Cooling Cost, Reduces Excessive Moisture in Home

"It isn't the heat, it's the humidity" is a common summertime comment used by folks to explain the cause of that sticky, clammy, uncomfortable feeling experienced on hot summer days.

And they're right. In fact, the secret of summer air conditioning comfort lies in the fact that the central air conditioner reduces not only the temperature of the indoor air but the amount of humidity, or water vapor, in it. Humidity embodies what air conditioning engineers term "latent heat" and, therefore, constitutes a definite part of the "heat load" which the air conditioning machine must handle. Naturally, the less humidity in the air, the less hard the air conditioner will have to work. Translated into economic terms this means less cost of operation.

While the homeowner can't too well exercise any control over those humidifying sources outside home which supply water vapor to the air, he can, with a little effort, control those sources of moisture inside the house which can add even more humidity to the inside air and, consequently, a heavier load on his air conditioning equipment.

Tests by the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning Association have established the chief inside-the-house sources of this extra moisture and also methods for controlling or counteracting their water vapor production. They are as follows:

CAUSE	CORRECTION
DRYING CLOTHES INDOORS	INSTALL AN EXHAUST FAN
SHOWER BATH (STEAM)	INSTALL AN EXHAUST FAN
SHOWER CURTAINS WET	USE NON-ABSORBENT MATERIAL FOR CURTAIN
UNVENTED DRYER	ADD VENT-PIPE
WET BASEMENT	WATER-PROOF BASEMENT
DAMP CRAWL SPACE	INSTALL MOISTURE BARRIER ON FLOOR OF CRAWL SPACE
WASHING, COOKING, FLOOR-SCRUBBING	VENTILATE WHILE WORKING

DRYING CLOTHES indoors puts their moisture into the home air. Use an exhaust fan.

A SHOWER-BATH's steam does likewise. Use an exhaust fan or open the bathroom window an inch, top and bottom.

A SOAKED cotton shower curtain will give off its water to the house for two or three hours. Use a non-absorbent curtain material.

RUNNING an automatic clothes dryer without a vent is one of the worst offending practices for adding moisture to inside air. Vent it.

A WET BASEMENT fills the house above with humidity. Use a dehumidifier or exhaust fan. Repair the leaks causing the wetness.

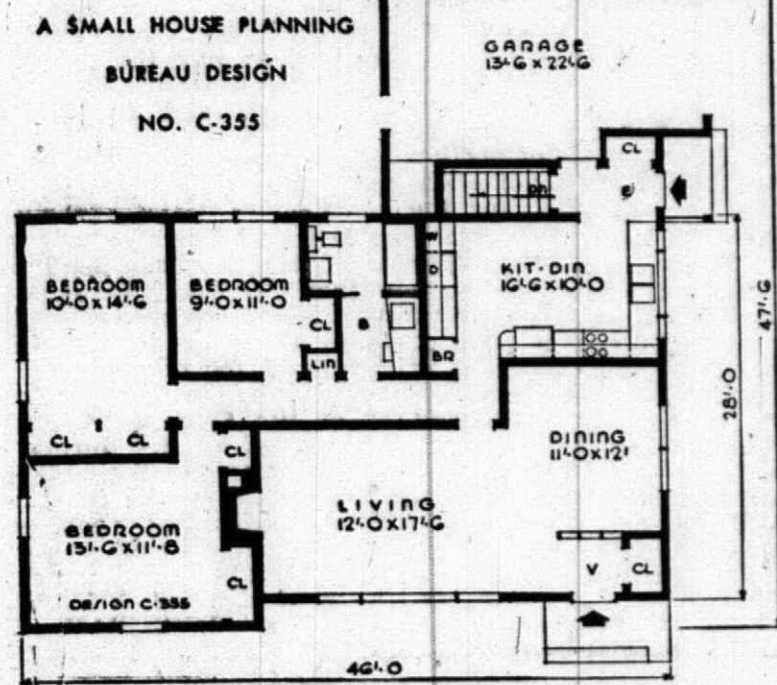

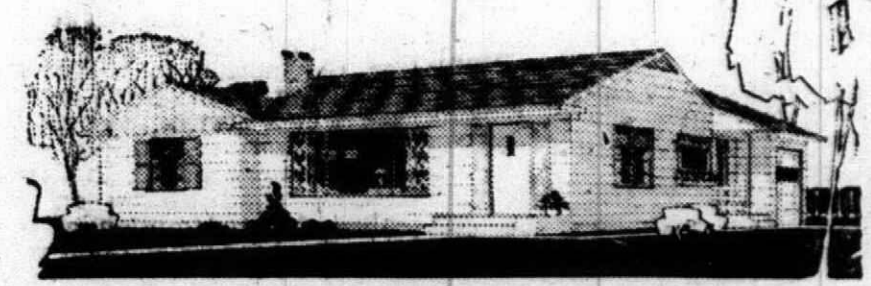

A DAMP CRAWL SPACE can be a fountainhead of moisture. One was recorded that caused bed sheets to mildew. Even a crawl space that looks dry can give off moisture. Seal the crawl space surface with a moisture membrane.

ALL WASHING, COOKING, FLOOR SCRUBBING will give off measures of moisture. A kitchen or laundry exhaust fan running during these operations will get rid of much of it.

Most of these supplies of extra humidity can be controlled so the moisture can be directed out of the house. And it will help you to enjoy the full comfort benefits of your summer air conditioning system at a lower operating cost.

HUMIDITY DAMAGE

A three-ton air conditioner takes 64 quarts of water from the atmosphere of the average six-to-eight-room home, Minneapolis-Honeywell engineers report. Removing this moisture and thereby lowering the relative humidity in the home greatly lessens the chances of damage to the house and household equipment.

DESIGN C-355. This attractive plan, designed for a corner lot, has an attached garage and drive-in from the side. The combination living-dining room occupies the corner, with its dining area facing the side street and a large picture window in the living room facing the front. The living room also includes a fireplace, vestibule screen, and a large coat closet. There is a full basement, but space is available in one end of the kitchen for an automatic washer and dryer. In addition there are three bedrooms, all with wardrobe type closets, a linen cabinet and a bathroom with two lavatories and a dressing table. Frame construction is used with wide siding and vertical siding in the front gable. The floor area is 1402 square feet, and cubage is 26,638 cubic feet, not including the garage. For further information about DESIGN C-355, write the Building Editor, The Plymouth Mail.

SUBURBAN HOME

The modern home in the suburbs has at least three bedrooms, one and one-half to two bathrooms, a larger built-in kitchen, and an indoor family recreation room. The typical suburban home is nearing the 1500-square-foot mark in interior space. Quality materials, once hard to get, are now being used as a matter of routine. Bathrooms and kitchens, for instance, are now being surfaced with such tested materials as ceramic tile for floors, walls and countertops. It's suburban living which has stimulated the wider use of glass, hardwood finishes and the use of other honest, natural materials, such as brick and stone. Besides quality housing, the suburbs often offer cheaper building lots, lower taxes, better schools, younger neighborhoods.

August 3, 1945
A committee member asked if this was a good policy. With a parallel situation facing Plymouth township, Lindsay took the floor and declared that this type of thing "is the old shake-down."

"Why don't they say that 'We'll give you water to help you develop and progress?'" Lindsay asked. He added that the city could make money by selling the township water but that they have failed to cooperate.

A Redford supervisor said that he did not like the stand that Detroit has taken which demands that Redford become a part of Detroit because Detroit water is furnished them. A Taylor township supervisor said, however, that his township would gladly annex to any community that could furnish them water. The Flat Rock representative then pointed out that a look at the books would show that money can't be made by selling water.

With the Ways and Means committee finally approving the Flat Rock petition, the group turned its attention to the two Plymouth issues. Legal opinions were first read from the prosecutor's office. One allowed Cassady's amended petition to be filed. Cassady circulated a new and amended petition which cleared up legal technicalities not covered in the original petition.

The prosecutor's office also issued an opinion on the township

Here's Details of the Committee Hearing Which Set Date for Annexation Election

It appeared for a while that the Ways and Means committee of the County Board of Supervisors would table petitions to annex the Roderick Cassady farm and the township to the city when hearings were held last Wednesday afternoon.

Legal technicalities in the Cassady petition were alleged by the township attorney, Earl Demel, as the hour-long hearings took place in the new City-County building. A committee member suggested that the petitions again be tabled "due to the confusion." The committee voted, however, to approve the two petitions and to set an election date on November 1.

The two petitions must now be approved by the entire board of supervisors and this may take place at a special meeting sometime in August.

Although hearings on the Plymouth township and Cassady farm annexations were not scheduled to begin until 2 o'clock, Supervisor Roy Lindsay of the township got in a punch while the committee was still considering an annexation proposal facing Flat Rock. A Flat Rock village spokesman had declared that the community was not granting water to outside areas anymore unless they annexed to the village.

George E. Bowles, attorney representing the Cassady's, told the committee how the annexation of the Cassady property had been attempted by petitioning the township board, but that it was not acted upon.

Supervisor Lindsay then introduced Attorney Demel who started the group with the statement that the law demands that if a petition is once denied by the board of supervisors, it cannot be acted upon for two years. He then pointed out that the group had denied the petition at its last hearing.

Demel also declared that the Cassady's were the only township residents who should have signed the petition, but instead, there were about 100 others—besides the city residents.

The prosecutor's representative then stated that Attorney Demel was under a misapprehension. He pointed out that the petition can not to be considered again for two years if it is rejected by the board of supervisors. "This is just a committee, not the entire board," the county attorney said. He also indicated that it made little difference if the Cassady's wanted to get more names than they needed on their petition.

"There seems to be more and more confusion about these petitions," a committee member then stated. "I believe we should table this whole matter until the parties concerned can resolve themselves as to what they want."

Attorney Bowles then took the floor and said that every way known has been tried in solving the questions, but that all have failed. "I believe that this body should allow the election to solve the question."

When a committee member asked how the township felt about the annexation petitions,

Supervisor Lindsay declared: "Naturally we oppose any annexations." He added that he takes this stand because people in the township don't want annexation. The township is in the process of drilling wells and providing sewers and the city itself finds it must cooperate with the township to provide sewers for much of the city which is still without sewers. "Annexation isn't the answer," Lindsay asserted, "it's cooperation."

Mayor Russell Daane of Plymouth then introduced Harry Deyo, the city attorney. "Being aware that there are several members of the committee who are capable attorneys, let's look into the legal aspects of the case," Deyo began. "I believe we will find the prosecutor correct."

Deyo cited three cases of law which found that the board of supervisors had no right in questioning the petitions.

"Both petitions leave no voids," a committee member observed after Deyo finished. The only way to resolve these questions is to find out what the voters want."

Detroit Councilman Louis Mariani then made a motion to bring the petitions to a vote. It carried unanimously.

Chairman Blanche Parent Wise

then asked what date for election would be suitable. Mayor Daane said that the city would like a date in October, preferably October 11. Supervisor Lindsay suggested November 17. A compromise of November 1 was reached.

This was the first meeting of a board of supervisor's group in the new City-County building. As the storm inside raged, a storm came up outside which was seen for miles through the wall to ceiling windows on the 13th floor. As lightning flashed and thundering crashed, Dearborn's capering mayor Hubbard got up, headed for the exit and declared: "I'm getting out of here before the d--- building blows over."

A few minutes later as the meeting ended, officials of the city and township left by different exits.

(The Mail was able to print a bulletin last week about the Ways and Means committee hearing on the annexation petitions. The above was the complete story on the important meeting which will touch off much controversy until the November 1 election.)

New Books at Dunning Library

Most recent shipment of books to the Dunning Wayne county library, Plymouth branch, last week included six brand new publications and five circuit list releases. The latter group of books will remain on the shelves at the library for three months.

At the top of the list of new books is the humorous best-seller entitled "Auntie Mame," by Patrick Dennis. Others include two editions of poetry, "The Forms of Poetry," by Louis Untermeyer, and "The New Modern American and Modern British Poetry," edited by Untermeyer, Shapiro and Wilbur.

The first of these two poetry compilations is a listing of poetic terms, poetic forms and an outline to English poetry, while the second book includes modern American and British poetic works by the top poets of the times.

Also included in the new book list is "All About Austria," edited by Virginia Creed. This is another in The New Europe Guides series. "The Personnel of Fairland," by K. M. Briggs, presents a short account of Great Britain's fairy people for those persons who engage in telling bed-time stories to children.

"Home Improvement Ideas," published by The American Home Magazine is also on the new book list. It is a portfolio of remodeled houses, improvements and decorating ideas for every budget.

Circuit books just in are: "The Journals of Lewis and Clark," edited by Bernard DeVoto; "Children's Toys Throughout the Ages," by Leslie Daiken; "The Floating World," by James A. Michener.

Also: "A Treasury of American Gardening," edited by John Whiting; and "Chiung Kai-Shek," a close biography by Emily Hahn, who also has written "The Soon Sisters."

OUTDOOR NOTES From The MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Only slight changes will be made in hunting regulations for woodcock, snipe, rails and gallinules this year.

The Department of the Interior recently announced a framework of basic regulations on these migratory birds. Now it's up to each state to choose its own season dates within the limits of the framework.

Bag limits this year on woodcock are four per day and eight in possession, same as last year, and a 40-day season total somewhere between October 1 and January 20 is authorized. Michigan will use the same dates as last year, namely: October 1-November 1 in the upper peninsula, October 1-November 9 in the northern lower peninsula and October 20-November 9 in the southern lower peninsula.

A bag limit of 15 per day and 15 in possession on sora rails and 25 per day and 25 in possession on gallinules and other rails also was authorized. The season on these birds will coincide with regulations on waterfowl, to be announced later.

Hunting hours will be the same as last year, starting one-half hour before sunrise and running until sunset.

Michigan and Wisconsin watershed development work will be featured in the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Yearbook this year, an unusual occurrence in the huge statistical book.

The section will include a short essay on the work and a number of pictures, principally showing

43 Thousand Drivers Involved in Fatalities

Forty-three thousand of the 72,000,000 licensed drivers in the United States were involved in fatal motor vehicle accidents last year, in which 36,000 persons were killed.

The 1955 edition of "Accident Facts," the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook, also shows that 1,350,000 drivers were involved in nonfatal injury accidents.

work done on Michigan's Rifle River.

The two states were chosen because of the variety and advancement of their work in this field.

Publication of the yearbook is expected in August or September.

The death of Rex P. Grant, 50, of Lansing removes a devoted conservationist and a man of wide friendship from the Michigan scene.

Grant died in his sleep at his cottage on Blue Lake, Mecosta county, Saturday night, apparently of a heart attack. He had been active until the end, though it was known his heart had troubled him in recent years. He graduated from Michigan State College in 1932 and joined the Conservation Department in 1934, working most of the years since then as a petroleum geologist.

He was a member of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists; the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters; the Michigan chapter of Sigma Gamma Epsilon and the American Petroleum Institute. He was past president and secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Geological Society.

His wife, Freda, and daughters, Sarah, 18, and Cynthia, 13, survive. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Grant of Portland, Oregon, were visiting the Grant cottage at the time of death. Brothers Ralph and Russell and a sister, Mrs. E. C. Metzger, all of Oregon, also survive.

The funeral is scheduled Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. from Gorsline-Runciman funeral home. Pallbearers will be Conservation Department director Gerald E. Eddy; W. L. Daoust, H. J. Hardenburg and L. W. Price, all of the Department's geological survey division; L. C. Edington, a close personal friend from Lansing and Norman Billings of the state Water Resources board.

Honorary pallbearers include Dr. S. G. Berquist, head of the Michigan State University department of geology; Dr. Richard A. Smith of Lansing, former state geologist; Kurt H. deCousser of Lansing, chairman of the state Oil Advisory Board; George Lindberg, geologist from Toledo; Burlyn B. Bradley of Lansing, member of the Michigan Retirement Board; Hubert D. Crider of the Muskegon Development Commission; R. Lee Browning, a Mt. Pleasant attorney and Lee S.

Miller, consulting geologist from East Lansing.

Michigan conservation, it turns out, has gained international fame via the London-to-Scotland fish lorry.

Dr. T. J. Peterle, formerly a member of the Conservation Department's game division, recently returned from a year's Fulbright study in Aberdeen, Scotland.

While there, Scotch friends became interested in knowing more about Peterle's Michigan. They were surprised to hear, for example, that in the U.S., hunting and fishing are sports available to everyone. In Scotland, only the wealthy are able to hunt and fish.

So Peterle requested Department films and they were shipped. In London, the rail strike held up the shipment, but finally the film cans arrived at Aberdeen aboard the weekly fish lorry. So the films were shown in color, sound AND smell, to the cheery delight of Peterle's Scotch wildlife friends.

The annual mid-summer mail carrier count of pheasant broods started this week in 43 southern lower peninsula counties.

About 800 rural and star route mail carriers will count pheasants they see during regular mail runs in the next two weeks.

So far, Conservation Department surveys indicate Michigan is headed for another bumper pheasant crop. An early hatch has given the birds a good start this year and nesting was reported as generally successful.

Several serious fires in the Newberry district hiked the state's forest fire loss last week to 4480 acres for the year.

Forty-one fires burned 949 acres during the week.

Playground Notes

"Come and See" Theme of Play Areas As Visitors Watch Games, Activities

GREENMEADOWS

A talent show was one of the events at Greenmeadows playground area last week, as several of the youngsters entertained the audience with jokes and acting. Following the show the children and mothers enjoyed a picnic lunch at which time the winners of the talent show were announced. These winners will enter the big talent show at the high school later this summer.

Individual games last week at the play area were made more fun by holding them under the large shade trees at the playground in order to escape the heat.

Allen playground entertained the Greenmeadows play group last week on Wednesday at which time the youngsters enjoyed a sprinkling party and refreshing kool-aid afterwards. All the Greenmeadows children extended thanks to the Allen group for a fine time.

BIRD

As a part of last week's activities, which centered around the "Come and See" theme, numerous mothers visited the Bird playground to watch the youngsters, meet the playground supervisors and to make baskets for use in their homes.

Miss Jo Ann Petro assisted the mothers in making the baskets. After many of the baskets were started, watermelon was served to the group, compliments of the playground supervisor, Mary Jane Cook.

Many mothers expressed their hopes to return again. This plan will be carried out in the closing weeks of the playground activities if time permits.

A toe-dancer, a wedding and a master of ceremonies played a large part in the playground's doll show last week. Dick Brenneke, emcee for the show, hosted an array of dolls ranging in size from tiny ones to huge ones. A toe-dancing doll, owned by Sue Lacy, took top honors in the beauty contest, while a wedding of the dolls took place later in the program.

ALLEN

The big event at Allen playground last week was the doll show, in which the youngsters entered nearly 60 dolls. The children had so many beautiful entries, that judges had difficulty deciding which were winners.

Prizes went to the following people, with the divisions in which their respective dolls were entered:

Cutest and Prettiest: first, Diane Deja; second Sharon Buttermore; third, Mary Jo Arnold. Largest: first, Dawney Miller; second, Mary Jo Arnold; third, Barbara Adams. Smallest: first, Dawney Miller; second, Bebe Herberger; third, Mary Jo Arnold.

Oldest: first, Dawney Miller; second, Mary Jo Arnold; third, Barbara Adams. Most Beautiful: first, Kitty Miller; second, Gail Vincent; third, Bebe Herberger. Most Dolls: first, Barbara Adams; second, Mary Jo Arnold; third, Judy Pinkerton and Pat Easley.

Most Unusual: first, Barbara Adams; second, Mary Jo Arnold. Prettiest dress: first, Judy Stratton; second, Pat Easley; third, Judy Pinkerton and Sally Gibson. Beautiful bride dolls: first, Judy Pinkerton; second, Dawney Miller; third, Alice Graye. Following the doll show the

STARKWEATHER

A treasure hunt behind the school grounds was a highlight of last week's play at Starkweather playground, despite the fact that rain interrupted the final searchings for treasure. But later the treasure was uncovered and enjoyed by both teams. The two teams were led by Danny Cook and Tommy Hadwin.

Starkweather also had several story hours, during which the children chose to have read three books, including "Horton Hatches the Egg," "The King's Stilts," and "The Loudest Noise in the World."

Youngsters brought some new games to the area and all the children are enjoying themselves playing carroms, chess and monopoly. The carrom board was furnished by Jerry Beltinck, while Danny Cook brought his chess set. The playground children themselves purchased the monopoly set out of playground funds.

Champs in carrom battling were Jerry Beltinck, Danny Stremich and Denny Robertson. Checkers competition was dominated by the play of Judy Lowe and Bonnie McMullen. Box Hoc victors were Nancy Herter, Tam and Tim Rosecrans and several other children.

The monopoly game has been the biggest hit with John Cook, Margorie Johnson, Tom and Jimmy Hadwin and Denny Robertson, who are competing for the title of monopoly champ at the playground.

HOUGH

Top daily attendance at Hough play area was 29 children, who enjoyed themselves at several games and other activities. Paper sculpture was one of the events last week on Monday at which time the youngsters also played several group games.

Homemade clay was made by the tots on Tuesday using sawdust, flour and water. Then the group modeled little animals, with Joe Hubbard's alligator, selected as the best work.

A scavenger hunt, won by Joe Hubbard's group, was a big feature last week Wednesday. On his team were Vick Allor and Larry Bruner.

Other activities last week at Hough play area included a cook show, where all the girls brought cookies, cupcakes and fudge to the area. The other youngsters enjoyed a feast, while Vicky Allor won the "best cook award" with her fudge plate.

SMITH

A tiny tornado injected some excitement into the youngsters last week at Smith playground. It was seen by several children carrying weeds and hay along about 200 feet in the air.

Other interesting affairs included a fishing excursion to Wilcox Lake, where the youngsters ate their lunches and fished hopefully. Two small fish were hooked by Denny Smith for the only catch of the day, but the rest of the boys and girls were not discouraged.

An open house was held Friday at the play area for parents and other visitors. The guests participated in the various games with the children and then enjoyed watermelon, which was furnished by the youngsters.

CENTRAL

As a part of the open house featured last week at Central playground, the fathers of the boys and girls battled with the Central softball team last week. The playground team won, although three fathers slammed out home runs.

Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn Lytle cut and served watermelon slices for the ball players and the other guests following the ball game. Plans for this week include a Weiner roast and a basket weaving party with the children's parents.

Five rookies from the Detroit Lions' 1955 draft roster are members of the College All-Star squad. Included are halfback Dave Middleton of Auburn, guard Jim Salsbury of UCLA, tackle Darris McCord of Tennessee, halfback Gordon Malloy of Miami, and guard Bud Brooks of Arkansas.

Horseshoe Tournament Scheduled for August 14

A horseshoe pitching tournament, slated for Sunday, August 14, has been announced by the Plymouth recreation department for local enthusiasts of this sport. Starting time of the first pitching will be 10:00 a.m.

The tourney, second of its kind locally, is divided into two age classes in order to equally match contestants against each other in the pairings. The first division is the junior class for entrants 16 years and younger, while the senior division includes all older contestants.

It will be held at the horseshoe courts near the main comfort station in Riverside park. Final contestants will be eligible to compete in the Detroit Free Press sponsored state tournament scheduled for September 2 and 3 at the Michigan State Fair grounds in Detroit.

For the local event, tournament procedure includes matching players against each other by way of a huge drawing. Then the entrants will be assigned respective courts. Each player will pitch 50 horseshoes per game until the final three or four contestants.

Following the first round elimination, all entrants will be seeded so as to match them equally for the second round of play. The single elimination bracket will be made at this time. The draw-method will be employed in the second round pairings after half of the field is eliminated. National horseshoe pitching rules for scoring will be applied and players competing on the same court will be avoided if possible.

Following is an entry blank for readers to use in order to compete in the horseshoe pitching tourney:

In 7th, Idle Merchants Aided As 5th, 6th Place Teams Lose

Idle in Inter-County baseball battling last Sunday, the Plymouth Merchants' sand-lot squad watched three other games register on the league's scoreboard, two of which aided the locals in their scramble to emerge from the loop's lower depths.

The Merchants, scuttled to seventh place two week-ends ago by Grandale, were one full game out of sixth, which is occupied by the Northville entry in the league. But as a result of Northville's recent loss to Lincoln Park, 3-1, the locals stand only one half notch behind neighboring Northville.

On the sixth rung of the ladder, Northville rests with a six win and eight loss record, while Plymouth clings just below its near-by opponents with a five win and eight loss card.

Other action in the Inter-County league found fifth place Dietrich Buick Sales being submerged completely by third-running Allen Park, 17-2. On the mound for the losers was ex-Plymouth high school hurler Wally Dzuris, who absorbed the defeat.

This loss to Dietrich brings its season standing to eight wins and five losses and drops it to within striking distance of the ever-hopful Plymouth nine, two steps in arrears.

The third battle of the week was four-place Grandale's whipping of Wallaceville, 11-1. Wallaceville was driven deeper into the cellar and would rest as doormat if it were not for Ypsilanti, who dropped out of the league recently and therefore occupies the loop's last notch by virtue of its withdrawal.

Plymouth, with four games remaining on its schedule, stands a mathematical chance of gaining a 500 card for the season if it can garner victories over Allen Park (third), Dietrich (fifth), Northville (sixth), and Wallaceville (ninth) on successive Sundays.

A post-season play-off will be held at the campaign's close with teams carrying a 500 average or better competing among themselves and the lower ball clubs battling in a separate tourney.

The league standings are:

TEAM	WON	LOST
Garden City	9	2
Wayne Hargraves Htg.	10	3
Allen Park	10	4
Grandale	8	4
Dietrich Buick	8	5
Northville Mrchts.	6	8
Plymouth Mrchts.	5	8
Lincoln Park	4	10
Wallaceville	3	11
Ypsilanti (dropped out)	1	0

Softball Play-offs Swing into Action

Post season play-offs in the two local recreation softball leagues had a full round of action last week, as the class "A" Open loop registered two battles and the class "B" Oldtimer's league carded four contests.

Following close on the heels of the completion of regular season play, these tournament tilts will eventually decide a play-off champion. The regular season's titlists have already been determined with Daisy Beglinger Olds hauling down the "A" flag.

In the season-end tourney last week, "B" division winners were Northville VFW over Beglinger Olds, 13-8; Daisy over the Independents, 5-2. Independents over Plymouth Stamping, 10-1; and Wall Wire over Barnes-Gibson-Raymond, 9-2.

The victories in the "A" league went to Beglingers, who whipped Evans, 9-2, and Box-Eagles, who turned back Cavalcade Inn, 1-0.

In both tournaments, two games lost constitute an elimination from the play-offs, scheduled to continue through next week before the final remaining team emerges in both leagues.

The thriller in "A" battling was Box-Eagles' conquest of the Cavalcade Inn team. Box-Eagles finished the regular season tied for last place, while the Innmen wrestled with Beglingers for league superiority through part of the regular campaign.

Both clubs were able to manage only three hits apiece off opposing hurlers, Pat Kearney for the Eagles and Jim Lowe for the Innmen. But Box-Eagles tied two of their hits together in the fourth frame and with the aid of a walk chased across the only and winning score of the game.

L. Rutenbar, left off with a walk, stole second and rode home on successive singles by George and Pierce. Kearney was credited with the win and Lowe was pinned with the loss. Both twirlers went the route.

The second game in "A" tourney action found Beglinger Olds erupting with seven runs in the third frame to crown Evans Products' hopes. The Evans' squad had shaped an early 2-1 lead over the regular season title-winners.

Likewise's three-run homer in the third provided Gabby Street with enough margin for victory. After allowing two hits in the second, Street set his opponents down hitless over the remaining innings. Loser was Frank Graczyk, who gave up a total of eight base-hits to the Oldsmen.

Meanwhile in the Oldtimer's class "B" play-offs, Daisy Air Rifle turned in a neat win over the Independents, who had chased close after the riflemen all through the regular season of play. Daisy won the flag with a 6 and 0 record, while Independents shaped a 5 and 1 card.

Behind heavy hitting that included two doubles and five singles in the first four frames, Daisy ran up a 4-0 lead before the Independents could dent the plate. The Independents did tally one run in the fourth and another in the sixth, but the winners added an insurance score in the fifth and then squelched a last inning rally to gain the nod. Final score was 5-2.

Winning hurler was Harold Williams, who gave up only five hits. The defeat was tagged to Villerot.

As Daisy turned back the Independents with seeming ease, the Independents just as easily notched a 10-1 victory over Plymouth Stamping in another play-off battle last week. At the plate the Independents slugged out 12 safeties, including a homer and double by John Sandmann that scored five runs.

Villerot came out on the winning end this time as the loss went to Thomas. In defeat, Thomas led his team-mates at the plate with two singles in two trips.

Wall Wire and Barnes-Gibson-Raymond engaged in a close-scoring affair as the Wall Wire club edged BGR, 8-6. The winners exploded for seven runs in the sixth inning to wipe out a five run lead that BGR had shaped earlier.

Eleven men went to bat in the big sixth for Wall Wire that earned Ronye the victory on the mound for the winners, while Pulliam suffered the loss. Offensively Weadge was the big man for the winners as he clipped off three successive singles, while team-mate Ronk's base-loaded single in the sixth scored two runs.

The fourth contest in the "B" tourney found Northville VFW carding a 13-8 win over Beglinger Olds as both teams combined to pound out 29 hits at the plate.

Seven runs in the final frame for the Northville squad was the turning point despite the fact that they had put together a 6-5 lead prior to that time. Beglingers came back to score three runs in the bottom of the seventh, but the rally was stopped when Kolak was caught stealing third.

Perry was the winning hurler and Seafors absorbed the defeat. Leading the attack for the winners was Larue with a home run, a pair of singles and a walk in five trips to the plate.

Following are the standings for both leagues in the post-season tourney, in which two games lost results in an elimination from the play-offs.

CLASS "A" OPEN LEAGUE	TEAM	WON	LOST

Chips from the ROCK

If any one should ask . . . I think I would honestly say that after summering for nearly 15 years on Lake Huron we sure picked the wrong summer to sell our vacation hide-out. There was one thing about that old lake, no matter how hot the day might have been or no matter how many flies were blown out of the woods by an off-shore breeze you always could jump in the water and lower your blood temperature some fifteen to twenty degrees.

We, I suppose, like everyone else have attempted to keep cool by staying out of the sun and jumping from one air-conditioned spot to another and then in complete desperation jumped into a cold tub and let the rest of the world go by. If you haven't tried it, you might.

From over in Wayne comes word from School Board President Norman Stockmeyer about our two recent columns concerning teen-ager's summer habits, and the letter from the girl college graduate. For as busy a personality as the recent president of the Detroit Real Estate Board to take time out to read these two columns to his children, then tell us how great he thought they were makes this punitive effort worth while each week no matter what the temperatures may be. We're indebted to Bill Rucker and the coach for the material.

The current issue of Time magazine certainly provides some thought provoking material about the value of factories to communities such as Plymouth. While this area is awaiting the outcome of the present Westinghouse jumble, Time tells what is happening to other communities around the nation which are being built up with new homes and have no industrial plants to pay the increased load on the schools.

Time says: "Every town around Chicago, like scores of expanding suburbs across the U.S., was suffering from the plague of too many new houses and too few schools. One school group erected the following sign . . . 'School Crisis. Our schools are filled. No money to build new schools. School taxes at maximum allowed.'"

"One reason for all of the poverty is that without industrial plants and offices, most suburbs cannot begin to collect enough property taxes. Officials estimate that behind each pupil there should be taxable property assessed at at least $20,000.00." continued the article.

The article further pointed out that some towns around Chicago had a child assessment average as low as six to twelve thousand dollars. Most averaged about $12,000.00 and were in distress. . . . ISN'T THAT AMAZING? . . . DO YOU KNOW WHAT THE ASSESSMENT IS BEHIND EACH PLYMOUTH CHILD . . . ? ? ? . . . IT'S $12,000.00 today.

Is there any wonder local school officials are doing everything in their power to help Westinghouse locate in Plymouth? Is there anyone who can honestly say Plymouth doesn't want or need industry? Give this area a couple of big new subdivisions, and we are going to have them because plans are already under way, and we'll have two shifts in our schools, and use gymnasiums and libraries and everything else for class rooms because the school board just won't have the money to care for all of our children.

Those are cold facts as printed in last week's Time magazine, and it seems to me they certainly reach right home.

Perhaps you read in a Detroit paper about the little girl from St. Clair who is suffering with a heart ailment and lost her dog. At least one Plymouthite did and was so sorry for the child that he made an attempt to give her one of his new collie puppies to take the place of her lost pet. The donor C. W. Clair of Five Mile road hasn't given the pup yet, but as soon as her family can be reached a Plymouth-bred puppy will be on his way to St. Clair.

I would have liked to have been in the Ann Arbor police station the other night when staid Tommy Francis and his wife and Dr. and Mrs. Ron Fox, all of our neighboring University city and well known here, had to appear to bring home their teen-age boys who had wandered into Ann Arbor's arboretum to heckle neckers in the area. The Francis' appeared in formal attire just home from a wedding. For your information he was the doctor who made the Salk Polio study last year and Dr. Fox has many Plymouth patients. . . . Oh well, boys will be boys and these things can happen in the best of families.

The city of Dearborn spares no effort to attract visitors to the city. In all of the ads the city places in various tourist magazines the following line appears . . . "In Dearborn our police issue 'courtesy tickets' instead of violation tickets to visitors who park overtime." . . . Not bad merchandizing and an excellent way to attract more business for the merchants, wouldn't you say?

Seek Children's Mental Hospital Site

A summer-long search for a place to build a children's mental hospital is underway.

The quest is a "halfway" answer by the legislature to the issue which stirred weeks of cloak-room debate during the last session.

About 1,100 mentally deficient children who need care and treatment have not been admitted to Michigan's three institutions because of overcrowding, said Charles F. Wagg, state mental health director. This is a pressing condition which concerns many lawmakers.

Dr. Harry C. August, of the mental health commission, said the proposed hospital should be in or near a metropolitan area near the source of a staff and in the area which draws most patients. Commenting on the long waiting list, Dr. August said: "Some of the courts have stopped committing children because it has become only a gesture."

The commission is casting an eye on the Wayne County Home and Training School, which now has 750 patients, and an area in Grand Rapids. These seem to be the two most promising sites.

Dr. August said the new hospital should be large enough to accommodate 3,500.

Last winter, the mental health commission rounded up some legislative support — but not enough to take over a tuberculosis hospital as a mental health institution.

It was blocked by health officials who said that, despite the fact that some of the tuberculosis hospital beds are vacant, "we're just now gaining on the disease."

So the legislature ordered the study and expects a report on Michigan's answer to the mentally deficient next winter.

Toll roads which augment, instead of compete with free highways—that is the pledge of Michigan's newly-constituted turnpike authority.

George N. Higgins, former state senator and now authority chairman, conferred at length with highway officials on the problem.

For months, the authority fought the idea that Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler would build a free superhighway parallel to the 113-mile Flat Rock to Saginaw toll road route.

With Higgins now chairman, the authority will work with the highway department to provide the state with a combination of highways, for all kinds of users.

Retail gasoline dealers of Michigan are anxious to improve their lot in life — particularly as re-companies that supply them with goods their relations with oil the products they sell.

National Congress of Petroleum Retailers, an organization of station operators, will most likely be spearheading the campaign. They are holding their annual convention in the Motor City Aug. 21-24.

The "average" gas station owner works for $1.02 per hour according to a survey undertaken by a Toledo CPA. He puts in more than 80 hours per week to earn about $4,283. Allowing interest of 6% on the average amount invested, he earns more like $1.18 per hour (for an 80 hour week.)

CPA figures also show that the gas station operator actually loses money on the gas he pumps and must count on income from service and sales of TBA (tires, batteries and accessories) to make a living.

Rub of the trouble, retailers feel, is that they are tied up too tightly by gasoline companies. The large companies, in most instances, own the station and lease it to the "owner." Lease provisions permit periodic increase in

Accidents, Crime Decreasing

It is too bad that the newspapers and broadcasters feel obliged to present so much bad news — about crime, foreign complications, and even auto accidents. Every impartial statistician must be an optimist, to ferret out the facts.

ALWAYS CONSIDER OUR POPULATION GROWTH

It is true that these three unfortunate things are on the increase, and churches and schools are getting the blame for it. But when crime and accidents are reduced to a per-capita basis, the figures are not so bad. Our population is growing so fast that in reality there has been a decrease in crime and accidents when adjusted to the population growth.

Just think, since Hoover was in the White House the net population of the United States has increased over 40,000,000! This is almost equivalent to the entire population of Great Britain. In other words, if, say, the total population of Great Britain had been dumped into the United States in the last 25 years, would we not expect to have even more crime and trouble than we have today?

AUTOMOBILE NUISANCE

I admit that parking problems are terrible. Unless our city fathers remedy these very soon, our merchants will suffer. When their sales decrease, manufacturers cannot sell as many goods and unemployment increases. But — considering the number of automobiles, it is remarkable that we can find any place to park our cars!

Yet, should we blame the automobiles or the ignorance and short-sightedness of our municipal governments? What would any city do today without the automobile business? Close up the dealers, garages, gas stations, and repair shops, and what would we have left? A few blacksmiths would be shoeing horses and there would be dealers in hay and oats — but the life of our cities would be gone. However, we should have both the auto industry and sufficient free parking.

BOUNTIES OF NATURE

We not only have wonderful crops; but we have a billion bushels of grain in storage. In addition we have tons of eggs, butter, and other products in storage. No country in the world begins to have our blessings. This applies even to the wealth of the sea and the trees of the forests. Each week as I read a large Sunday paper I regret the acres of splendid woodland which were destroyed to give me the newspaper. Yet, I am assured that the new growth exceeds the destruction.

When I learn of the great rivers which have not yet been harnessed, of the supplies of coal and oil which will last for centuries, and of other God-given natural resources, I am both humble and thankful. And we are just now learning about the power of uranium which may be found anywhere and a pound of which may do the work of 2½ million pounds of coal. It seems wicked for any of us to complain about anything. We perhaps are wasting precious time even bothering to look at stock-market quotations or concerning ourselves about investigations. Speaking of "time," this is the only thing of which there is no surplus. Our TIME is the one thing which we cannot replace when it is wasted.

FREEDOM FROM WAR

Of all our blessings, perhaps the greatest is our freedom from war — and the possibility that World Wars may be at an end. Upon the highest military authority, I forecast that the hydrogen bomb may be a blessing in disguise. At any rate, we know that the draft calls are being reduced, and the orders for much military equipment are being canceled.

I grant that it makes some people pessimistic to read the newspapers; but the very fact that the newspapers publish no more about crime and accidents proves that the bad news is becoming proportionately less. Whenever I get pessimistic, which is very seldom, I read the history of England or of some other country. This shows that the world is getting better fast and that my job is to keep up with it. If you have any difficulty being optimistic, read each day one of the Psalms of David. There are 150 of these, so they will keep you busy for 5 months. They will be the best pills you can take.

★ THINKING OUT LOUD ★

One question, sometimes controversial, sometimes personal is asked each week by The Mail of four pedestrians along Plymouth's downtown streets. This week's guests are "thinking out loud" on the question:

"Would you favor the opening of Plymouth's stores on Monday nights as well as the usual Friday nights?"

MRS. PAULINE EWING, 8880 Ford: "I think it would be nice. I probably would do some of my shopping on Monday. Sometimes I shop on Friday night. I don't know how others would like Mondays. I live close to Ypsilanti but like to do my shopping in Plymouth because it's easy to find a parking place here."

MRS. JUNE PFISTER, 574 Sunset: "Personally, I work from 5 to 11 each night at the telephone company and I don't get the same nights off. Usually I can't get any shopping done on Friday nights so I would like to see stores open another night."

Mrs. Ewing Mrs. Pfister Mrs. McConnell Mrs. Kelly

MRS. THOMAS McCONNELL, 660 Burroughs: "I rarely shop in the evenings because it seems like we just don't get done with our meal in time. So to me it wouldn't make any difference. I don't know of many of my neighbors who shop in the evenings either."

MRS. T. J. KELLY, 1103 Penniman: "It seems to me that just the groceries would need to keep open on extra nights. I do just my grocery shopping on Friday nights. Maybe working people would like other stores to keep open Mondays but housewives can usually get out to shop any time."

TOO HOT FOR COMFORT

rent, so if the proprietor does a good job, his lease payments are increased.

Station operators are not free to handle TBA of their choice. They must deal with brands approved by gasoline suppliers and within terms set down by them. Station proprietors feel sure the large companies benefit financially from this arrangement. They are also sure they could do much better if gas companies left them a free hand to buy and sell tires, batteries and accessories under open market conditions.

Fried turkey? That's right. This is another way of preparing one of Michigan's fancier fowl foods. Donald C. Miller, secretary of the Michigan Turkey Association, says fried turkeys have been served for four or five years, and are now getting more and more public attention.

Miller might be called "Mr. Turkey" in Michigan. In addition to his work with the state's 1,000 plus growers, he is a poultry professor at MSU.

Washington Quiz:

- Q—How many committees are there now in Congress?
- A—The Reorganization Act of 1946 cut the standing committees in Congress from 81 to 34. However today, by a process of fission and pressure there are some 230 committees and sub-committees. This does not count the great number of special committees which have been named by the President. Besides the 34 standing committees there are 10 joint committees with members from both House and Senate; five special committees, such as the House and Senate Small Business Committees, and some 180 standing sub-committees. So this makes a total of about 230 possible chairmanships. This is the reason there are frequently "one-man committees."
- Q—Does the President ever wear a uniform?
- A—No, although Commander and chief of armed services, tradition forbids him to wear a uniform.
- Q—Does the President indicate the time-of-day when he signs a bill passed by Congress?
- A—Not unless the time element is important, or the legislation may be of extraordinary significance.
- Q—Can you tell me if my GI allowance will be cut off if my boss gives me pay increase for a fully trained worker under my Korean on-the-job training?
- A—Not necessarily. Your GI allowance will not stop so long as it is an established fact that you are still a trainee in all respects except pay.
- Q—Congress has been in session for three months. Can you tell me the highlight of this 84th Congress so far?
- A—Congress has made no record as yet, but insofar as the country is concerned, Congress has gone on record by large majorities in both houses in support of almost anything the President might decide to do in the Far East.
- Q—Have the Chinese reds complied with their signed truce agreements in Korea and in North Vietnam?
- A—No. In both countries there have been frequent and flagrant violations of truce agreements.
