

A HOT CARGO of trash was discovered by the sanitation department Wednesday morning as they worked downtown. Smoke started billowing from the truck's load and water from firemen's hose failed to penetrate. So Chief Robert McAllister had the truck driven across town to the city garage where the load was dumped and the fire extinguished. As the burning truck raced across town pursued by the fire truck, some citizens scratched their heads. The truck is being loaned to the city by a manufacturer until a new one is delivered.

Planners' Survey Shows Township Outgrows City During Five Years

Plymouth city has had a 21.8 per cent increase in the number of occupied dwelling units since 1950 and Plymouth township has a 33.9 per cent increase, according to figures released by the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission. In a survey taken in all of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties plus four eastern Washtenaw county townships, the Regional Planning Commission found that the average growth of the entire region was 20.8 per cent. "During the past five years, urbanization of the Detroit region has proceeded at an amazing rate," said W. P. Edmonson, assistant director of the commission. "From April 1950 to July 1, 1955 the number of occupied homes increased over 174,000 in the territory. This increase would provide living quarters for a population the 1950 size of Buffalo or Houston." Plymouth city had 2,012 dwelling units in April 1950; today there are 2,450, or an increase of 438. Plymouth township had 1,000 in 1950; an estimated 1,460 today, or an increase of 370. Plymouth's neighbor to the south, Canton township, had 1,051 units in 1950; 1,300 today, an increase of 249 or 23.7 per cent. Salem township on the west had 431 in 1950; 540 today, an increase of 109 units or 25.3 per cent. Northville city had 895 in 1950; 980 today, an increase of 85 or 9.5 per cent. Northville township had 586 in 1950; 770 today, an increase of 184 or 31.4 per cent. Livonia, to the east had 4,832 units in 1950; 10,500 today, an increase of 5,558 or 117.3 per cent. Oak Park in Oakland county with a 432 per cent gain led all communities in rate of growth. Riverview Village and Redford township led in Wayne county and St. Clair Shores in Macomb county. Of the 50 units of government with high numerical gains, 20 were townships. In addition, six new cities and villages have been incorporated in the region in the past three years.

Detroit Boy Seriously Injured in Accident

A five-year-old boy was seriously injured and two drivers received more minor injuries in a collision at 7:50 a.m. Tuesday on Ann Arbor road near Ridge. State police said that James Kamppinen, 13572 Foust, Detroit, is in "critical" condition at Wayne County General hospital with a fractured skull and a possible fractured spine. His mother, Ella Kamppinen, received internal injuries. The driver of the other car in the accident, Charles Burleigh, 2002 Shadford road, Ann Arbor, was treated and X-rayed at St. Joseph's hospital. Mrs. Kamppinen was driving west on Ann Arbor road, police said when she came over a small hill upon an unidentified car making a left turn onto Ridge road. She applied the brakes and swerved into the eastbound lane into the path of the Burleigh car.

A Grim Reminder

Those who recall the Labor Day weekend of a year ago will remember that it was one of the worst the Plymouth area ever had. Two area men were fatally injured in auto accidents, a 14-year-old girl drowned while swimming in a Salem township gravel pit and a young Plymouth mother drowned in Lake Erie after falling from a boat. With another long Labor Day weekend starting tomorrow night, law enforcement officials in Plymouth and the sheriff's office are reminding everyone that accidental death respects no one. "It has happened to your neighbor - it can happen to you. Be careful."

'Lost' Brother Returns after 45 Years

Seven brothers and a sister ranging in age between 62 and 76 were brought together in Plymouth last Sunday for the first time in 45 years. Seven of the eight lived in Michigan but one brother, Herman Rudick, 70, left for Montana 45 years ago and has not been heard of for 34 years. Hosts for the family reunion were Mr. and Mrs. William Rudick, 912 Simpson. Some 32 members of the family gathered Sunday at the Veteran's Memorial building. Married in 1909, Herman headed for Montana to set up a home-stand. His last letter was written in 1921 and the following year he moved to the state of Washington. Now living in Yakima, he had done ranching in various parts of the state and was custodian of a school in Sunnyside for 10 years until his retirement a year ago. His Plymouth brother drove through Montana five years ago in search of Herman. Recently, Herman's children ran across pictures of the family and urged him to try to contact them. Besides 70-year-old Herman and William who is 66, there are Mrs. William (Minnie) Kempf, 76, Grand Rapids; Emil, 72, Scottville; Albert, 64, Detroit; and Robert, 62, Detroit. Herman's wife died in 1948 and he has three daughters and a son. One daughter, Loretta, accompanied her father here on the plane trip. They expect to visit relatives for a month.

St. Mary Hospital Efforts Renewed

Foremen Picket As Others Return

Seven foremen and three office girls continued their picketing today of the Champion Corrugated Container company on Sheldon road after some 75 other employees returned to work Tuesday morning.

The foremen went out on strike Saturday morning on the grounds that the company opposed their joining of the Foremen's Association of America Inc. Other workers in the plant, all of whom belong to the United Paper Workers of America, CIO, refused to cross the picket line Monday.

In a meeting called by union officers Tuesday morning at the Oddfellows hall, workers decided to ignore the picket line and go back to work immediately.

Meanwhile, R. F. Griley, president of the small firm, said that the company would seek an injunction against the foremen and officers of the association in order that the court can regulate picketing.

Griley said that the association is not affiliated with any organization recognized by the government, so that the company also is not able to recognize it for bargaining purposes. "Foremen are part of management," Griley said, "and management can't have a union." The company president said that he told other workers at their Tuesday morning meeting that if management had a union, he would be the first to join for then he could legally strike and close down the plant whenever he had a grievance against the employees.

Griley said that he is sure that the 75 other employees would have come to work Monday except that they received "threats" advising them not to. The CIO workers also decided to return to work after a telegram was received from their national president, Harry Savre.

It read: "The United Paper Workers of America disclaims any responsibility for the failure of the company employees to report to work. We recognize that we have a legal and binding agreement with your company and have not authorized any work stoppage, strike or refusal to report to work."

The pickets have formed their line along Sheldon road. Among the signs are "I was fired because I joined the union."

Griley said that one foreman was fired because he walked off the job. Two others were discharged for reasons not connected with the strike. The others, he

Starkweather Not Serving Lunches

Children attending Starkweather elementary school who cannot return home for their noon lunch will need to bring their lunch until the kitchen construction is completed, Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister announced this week.

It is now apparent that the kitchen modernization will not be completed in time for the school opening next Thursday. The superintendent said that children normally eating lunch at school will need to carry their lunches for about a week. Milk will be sold at the school.

All other cafeterias in other schools will be serving hot lunches the first day of school. Modernization work is also progressing in the high school chemistry laboratory but this, too, will not be completed for opening day. Everything else, however, seems to be in readiness for the opening day. Pupils will report at 8:30 a.m. next Thursday and a full day of classes will be held the first day. With few exceptions, bus routes will remain the same.

High school pupils wanting to purchase textbooks before opening day can do so at the bookstore this Tuesday and Wednesday. Teachers will attend their pre-school conferences also this Tuesday and Wednesday.

Returns from Hospital

Robert O. Wesley, 505 McKinley, returned home last week after being confined to Ridgewood Osteopathic hospital for five weeks with a heart condition. Wesley is director of advertising and sales for the Daisy Manufacturing company.

said, will be welcome to return to work.

Plymouth police have had at least one man in a patrol car at the plant entrance during the strike. There have been no disturbances.

Union workers in the plant recently voted to change from the AF of L to the CIO. Griley said in a statement that with the signing of the new contract, employees have wage rates that are at the top of the industry. "We're not a big company, it's privately owned. If a major strike would have lasted very long, I would have locked the doors for we can't afford it."

New Lincoln Plant May Bring Labor Market Demand

How much effect a proposed $30,000,000 Lincoln division assembly plant in Novi township will have on the Plymouth area labor market is still to be determined by Gordon Packard, local manager of the Michigan Employment Security commission.

The Lincoln division of the Ford Motor company will employ between 4,000 and 5,000 persons, according to an announcement, and there is an anticipated annual payroll of between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000.

Packard said that Novi township is part of the large area covered by the Plymouth employment office, but that no information has been released by Ford officials telling how many workers will be transferred from other Lincoln plants.

At present, there is an ample labor supply in this area, Packard declared, except for skilled workers. By 1957 when the multi-million dollar plant is completed, it is hard to estimate what the labor situation will be, he added.

In any case, many people living in the Plymouth vicinity will probably someday become employees of the proposed factory.

Ford Motor company has taken option on a 225 acre site for the plant located on the north side of the proposed Farmington to Brighton expressway, west of Wixom road.

Water is to be supplied the plant from wells on the property and the factory will have its own sewerage disposal plant. The plant is located along the C & O railroad and will undoubtedly increase train traffic through Plymouth.

Although the industry will be in Novi township, it will be just inside the Walled Lake school district instead of Novi district.

Local Volunteers Assist At State Hospital Fair

Three volunteer groups from Plymouth assisted in the sponsorship of the third annual All-Patient Fair at Northville State Hospital on Tuesday of this week.

The Plymouth Birthday Ladies, Woman's club of Plymouth and local members of the Northville State Hospital Volunteer and Gray Lady Services were among the 14 volunteer groups and hospital personnel who manned the 16 booths at the fair and furnished some 6500 prizes won by patients in the various carnival games.

Members of the Plymouth Birthday Ladies assisting at the event were: May Schuler, Hildegarde Champe, Eva McAllister, Ann Penhale, Zada Burrows, Jessie Bake, Lynette Griffith, Marion McLaren and Ivah Pint.

From the Plymouth Woman's club participants were: Jean Rice, Pearl Lundquist, Cora Springer, Emma Lorenz, Ruth West, Margaret Daniel and Evelyn Brockleburst.

Also present at the event were: Mary Wick of Northville State Hospital Gray Lady Service and

Refuse Violation Tickets Issued At 200 Homes

Two hundred violation notices were issued Monday to city householders who have failed to comply with the new refuse ordinance. Many more notices are expected to be issued on Wednesday and Friday pick-up routes.

City Manager Albert Glassford traveled with the rubbish pick-up trucks Monday to personally see how the public is complying with the ordinance. He said that he could easily see why it sometimes took so long for the refuse crew to get their job done.

"We found homes where there were up to a half dozen five-gallon cans filled with refuse," Glassford stated. "We picked up one garbage can and the bottom fell out. Cans that were too small overflowed."

The city started its new refuse collection service a week ago and at the same time started using the sanitary land fill site in Salem township. Garbage and rubbish collections were combined since both are now dumped in the same place, and also as an economy measure to eliminate two collections a week.

A new rubbish truck was scheduled for delivery two weeks ago but a strike at the International plant has delayed delivery indefinitely.

The city manager declared that householders receiving a second violation notice are subject to a ticket from the police department.

There are eight possible violations listed on the sanitation department's notice. They are:

Garbage not properly wrapped; lid not tight on container; container not legal size; container unfit for use; container and contents overweight; container not properly located; paper bags and cartons used as containers; spilled refuse.

To Hear Report On Air Sirens

A meeting will be held Tuesday, September 13 at the Livonia Court House for area Civil Defense directors at which they will hear a report on the siren warning survey.

A conference was held last May 31 at which CD directors from Plymouth and other surrounding communities attended. The CD directors were informed by the Wayne County Civil Defense office that an air attack warning system is possible for northwest Wayne county.

Chrysler corporation offered to make a survey of the number of sirens needed. Half of the cost would be paid by the government and the other half by local communities. It had been suggested that a tenth-mill levy be placed on a ballot to finance the sirens.

Starting time for the Livonia meeting is 7:30 p.m., according to Leo F. Flowers, township CD director.

First Administrator Appointed, Preparing Progress Report

Efforts to get the proposed St. Mary hospital under construction were renewed at a meeting held last week at which was appointed the hospital's first administrator, Sister Mary Columbine.

The open meeting held at the Felician Sisters Convent at Madonna college was attended by several Plymouth residents.

The drive for funds was opened two years ago. The proposed 100-bed hospital would be located at Five Mile and Levan roads in Livonia and would serve the Plymouth, Livonia, Northville, Farmington and Redford area.

In the course of her address last week, Sister Mary Columbine reassured the assembly that the hospital shall be built for the exclusive use of the public, regardless of race, color or creed, and that "the hospital shall be a public institution in the fullest sense of the word."

It was announced that a financial and statistical report will be ready for publication in next week's issue of The Mail.

In concluding statements, the new administrator announced that a medical staff meeting of physicians interested in the hospital would be held in the near future. She also announced that a Ladies' Auxiliary would be organized within the next few weeks. With a promise that the public will be informed at all times of the progress of St. Mary Hospital, she turned the meeting over to Mr. McNeely of the Community Counseling Service, who briefly analyzed the Fund Raising campaign.

The hospital, now incorporated by the state, would cost about $2,500,000. This is an average of $25,000 per bed.

Sister Mary Columbine, a registered nurse, holds a bachelor of science degree from St. Mary's college, Notre Dame, and a master of science degree in hospital administration from Columbia university, New York. She has had previous experience in hospital administrative work and in the Felician Sisters hospital in Canada. She has been a health coordinator for the Felician Sisters of the Detroit Province for five years.

So two barricades made of utility poles were placed in the lawn by Mr. Bartel himself and they have withstood the efforts of many cars to reach the house.

At 1:15 a.m. Monday, John F. Spence, 372 South Mill street, was driving a car which struck one of the turn sign posts, crashed through the log barricades, struck the house and swung around to a stop against the foundation. Part of the foundation was knocked apart, shingles torn off and part of the porch ripped away from the house.

Spence told sheriff's authorities that he was not familiar with the road and that there was fog. Although he appeared injured, deputies said that Spence refused medical aid. He had no insurance.

One member of the family circle, Richard Pfister, was sitting in the livingroom when he saw the car crashing across the lawn. He ran into another room. Other occupants of the home were nearly jolted from bed.

For Spence's car, it was truly the "end of the road." It was demolished.

Navy Recruiting Officer Returns to Plymouth

After many years of absence from Plymouth, the U. S. Navy Recruiting service will have an officer here two days a week, it was announced by Chief Yeoman Francis J. Secord.

A Navy recruiter will be in the basement of the post office each Monday and Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. to accept applications. Men 17 to 30 years of age are eligible.

Chief Secord said that the main recruiting office in the area is in the Municipal Court building in Dearborn. "The Navy will give you an opportunity to learn while you earn," the chief declared, "and a chance for advancement, good pay and early retirement. There is no waiting list."

Bank Branch Opens

Hundreds of Plymouth area people are expected to attend the open house today, Thursday, September 1, of the Ann Arbor road-Harvey street office of the National Bank of Detroit.

The new office with its drive-in windows will begin the open house at 10 a.m. and will close at 3 p.m.

Kenneth H. Groth Succumbs at 43

Kenneth Harold Groth, for 16 years operator of Ken and Ork's Hamburger shop on Penningman avenue, died Tuesday evening at his 550 Pacific avenue home. He was 43.

Prolonged illness forced Mr. Groth to sell his business last January. He and Orlo Owen formed the business which bore their nicknames and it became a near tradition with many coffee and doughnut fans. Owen sold his share of the business to his partner two years after it was formed.

Mr. Groth was born August 16, 1912 in Plymouth to Paul and Martha Groth. They survive along with his widow, Marian, and a son, Kenneth Harold, Jr., and a brother, Harold of Grand Rapids. He was married on December 19, 1939.

A life-long resident of Plymouth, Mr. Groth was a former member of the Michigan Restaurant association, the Plymouth Rotary club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce, of which he was a charter member. He is a member of St. Peter's Lutheran church.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Schrader Funeral home. The Reverend Edgar Hoenecke, pastor of St. Peter's, will officiate. Interment will be in Riverside cemetery.

Ribar-Wohn Nuptial Ceremony Read at Lutheran Church

Miss Patricia Wohn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wohn of 1193 Simpson, Plymouth became the bride of Orin Ribar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Ribar of Plymouth, at an impressive double-ring, candlelight ceremony held Saturday evening, August 20, in St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church.

For the seven o'clock nuptial service, read by the Reverend Edgar Hoenecke, the bride wore a white ballerina-length gown of lace and net over slipper satin. Her veil of fingertip length was fastened to a crown of small white flowers. A bouquet of white gladioli centered with red rosebuds was carried by the bride. She was given in marriage by her father.

The maid of honor, Mary Carless, wore an aqua, ballerina-length gown of silk shantung with matching jacket and aqua net hat. She carried a cascade of white carnations.

Bridesmaids were Deanna Wohn, sister of the bride, who was dressed in an ice-blue, embroidered crystalette gown with matching net hat; and Angelina Ribar, the bridegroom's sister, who wore a shrimp gown, styled identically to that of Miss Wohn, with matching net hat. White carnations were carried by both attendants.

Phil Goebel, cousin of the bridegroom, assisted as best man. Seating the guests were Robert Ribar, the bridegroom's brother, John Ribar and Tom Goebel, cousins of the bridegroom.

Over 250 guests attended the reception held at the home of the bride's parents. The out-of-town guests included those from Saginaw, Dearborn, Detroit, Ann Arbor, Canada, Northville and Pontiac.

Following their wedding trip, a two-week's tour of northern

Mrs. Orin Ribar

Michigan, the couple will reside in Plymouth.

The bride graduated from Plymouth high school in 1954 and is employed at Daisy Manufacturing company, Service department. Mr. Ribar graduated from Michigan Lutheran Seminary, Saginaw, Michigan, in 1953. He is also an employee of the local firm.

The First Baptist Church Men's club will hold a meeting on Tuesday evening, September 6, at the church beginning at 7:30 p.m. The program for the evening is going to be a very unusual one with the theme "Barrel of Information." Lunch will be served following the meeting.

Carol Avery Repeats Vows At Sheldon Methodist Church

Mr. and Mrs. Mafrican Beasley

A candlelight ceremony held Saturday, August 13, in the Sheldon Methodist church united in marriage, Miss Carol Avery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Avery of 6133 Canton Center road, and Mafrican Beasley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Beasley of 9284 Brookline street.

The nuptial service was read at 7:30 p.m. by the Reverend George Nevin before baskets of flowers, palms and candelabra which decorated the church altar for the occasion.

Soloist was Keith Avery who sang "With This Ring" and "O Perfect Love" accompanied by Mrs. Edna O'Connor at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was dressed in a gown of chantilly lace over satin, fashioned with Queen Anne collar and floor-length skirt of net with inserts of lace. A coronation crown trimmed with seed pearls and sequins held her fingertip veil of illusion. The bridal bouquet was of white roses centered with a lavender orchid.

Maid of honor was Shirley Place who wore a strapless, floor-length gown of aqua crystalette with matching stole. She carried a bouquet of aqua carnations.

Jean Klinske and Sandra Singer were bridesmaids. They were dressed in crystalette gowns styled identically to that of the maid of honor and wore matching stoles and headbands. Miss Klinske's gown was of Nile green while Miss Singer's dress was of shrimp color. Each carried a bouquet of carnations matching the shade of her dress.

Calvin Thomas performed the services of best man for the occasion. Guests were seated by Gerald Klinske and Eugene Hornback.

The bride's mother chose a blue street-length dress with white accessories. A beige dress of street length was selected by the bridegroom's mother. Each wore a white rose corsage.

Many out-of-town guests attended the reception which was held in the church parlors.

For her going-away outfit, the new Mrs. Beasley chose a blue suit with white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet as her corsage.

The couple are making their home at Orr Lake, Michigan.

SOCIAL NOTES

Dons Organdy Gown For MSU Chapel Rites

For her marriage to Richard Van Allenstein of Minneapolis, Minnesota on Saturday, August 27, Miss Sally Marie Gustafson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Knut A. Gustafson, 472 Adams, Plymouth, selected a floor-length gown of white embroidered organdy fashioned with a four-tiered skirt, fitted bodice and short sleeves.

The square neckline of the gown was outlined with the cut embroidered edge of the organdy. The bride wore a single strand of pearls. Her gauntlets were of the same fabric as the wedding gown. A half-cap of embroidered organdy trimmed with seed pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion in place. She carried a bouquet of white daisy mums and ivy.

The ceremony was read by the Reverend John H. Morgan of the Congregational-Unitarian church of Flint, Michigan, at 4:30 p.m. in the Alumni Memorial chapel, Michigan State university, East Lansing. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Jack Craig of Flint, tenor soloist, was accompanied at the organ by Ruth Outland of Flint. Selections were "The Greatest of These Is Love" and "How Do I Love Thee?"

Maid of honor was Miss Norma Ver Hage of Zeeland, Michigan, who wore a floor-length gown of turquoise nylon tricot styled with a tucked bodice, empire waistline of the tucked fabric and a full skirt. Her headband was of yellow daisy mums and she carried a mixture of white and yellow daisy mums.

Bridesmaids were Miss Lois Deacon of Flint, Michigan and Mrs. Elverna Harelson of Minneapolis, Minnesota, sister of the bridegroom. Their dresses and headbands were identical to that of the maid of honor and they carried bouquets of all-yellow daisy mums.

Robert A. Kegel of Bradley Beach, New Jersey was best man. Ushers were Marvin Grosselein of Minneapolis and Donald Clement of West Bend, Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. Straley

Oscar Straleys Mark Golden Wedding Date

A dinner party at the Mayflower hotel followed by an open house celebration at their residence this Saturday evening will officially mark the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. Straley, 869 Sutherland.

Mr. and Mrs. Straley were married September 3, 1905 in Maytown, (Lancaster county), Pennsylvania. She is the former Catharine E. Otto. The couple came to Plymouth six years ago following Mr. Straley's retirement from the Pennsylvania railroad company, for whom he had worked 46 years.

The residents have two sons and a daughter living in the metropolitan area; Lloyd and Eugene of Detroit and Mrs. Herbert Barlow of Lincoln Park.

Open house festivities will get underway at the Straley home at 7 o'clock Saturday evening. Among the many relatives and friends expected from out-of-town, special guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mills and Miss Faye Carter of Dennison, Ohio.

TOWERING OVER George Hesse, despite the fact that he stands on a ladder next to it, is this 16-foot sunflower that is still growing in his yard. The soaring sunflower was planted from seed by Hesse, 11727 Russell, the middle of last May and has since sprung to its great height. Three years ago, Hesse had another sunflower that grew to be 14 feet tall.

Drompp on Committee For GOP Conference

Arthur F. Drompp, chairman of the 17th Congressional District Republican committee, has been named a member of the Reservations committee for the GOP Conference at Mackinac Island September 17-18.

"Everyone interested is invited to attend the conference, which will feature nationally-known speakers and workshops on political action and state governmental questions," Drompp said.

The conference will begin Saturday morning with registration and a get-acquainted mixer. First formal meeting will be a luncheon on Saturday.

Michigan members of President Eisenhower's Cabinet, other high administration officials from Michigan and members of the Congressional delegation will attend.

Social Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Spicer, Mrs. Jesse Tritten and Mrs. Louis Norman attended the funeral of their uncle, Frank G. Seaman, last Friday in Marshall, Michigan. Mr. Seaman, 100 years old last February 4th, was Marshall's oldest resident, also oldest druggist in the state, also the oldest living in Mason. The drug store which he purchased in 1881 is still operated by his only son and grandson.

Mrs. Edna O'Connor of Palmer avenue, spent an interesting and pleasant week last week at Green Lake, Wisconsin, where she attended the Church Music Conference.

Fred Toy of Ispeping arrived at the home of Mrs. George Smith this week. Mr. Toy will teach at the Stark school.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Smith and family were Wednesday evening dinner guests of the Donald Sutherlands who are vacationing at their summer home on Lake Huron.

Mrs. Bernice Thomas of Plymouth, Mrs. Mary Lyon and Mrs. Dora Last of Napier road, spent 3 days last week at the Extension Camp held at North Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. James Nicholson of Florida have been spending this week with their daughter and husband, the Joseph Allor family of Warren road.

Kathy and Karen Olson returned to their home in Homer, Michigan, Monday, after spending a week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kahler of Fair street.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Good and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keel, Jr., enjoyed dinner at Hillside Inn, and later dancing to the Tony Pastor orchestra on Saturday, August 20. The occasion was the Keel's 6th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sponseller of Parkside drive were weekend visitors in Bucyrus, Ohio.

The Junior Bridge Club held their monthly picnic at the home of Mrs. Lyle Alexander of N. Mill street last Thursday evening.

On Tuesday the Plymouth Women's Club visited the Northville State hospital where they helped with a fair and in the serving of refreshments to their adopted ward.

Mrs. Roy Lindsay of McClumpha road was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. White of Birmingham last Tuesday. They enjoyed dinner at Devon Gables, later attending "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker" at the Will-O-Way Playhouse.

Arthur J. Donnelly of 1298 West Ann Arbor trail was one of 15 winners awarded calendar savings banks by the New York Life Insurance company at the Wayne County 4-H Fair in Belleville last week. The insurance firm sponsored a booth at the 4-H event.

Local Winners Compete In 4-H Show at Lansing

Seventeen Plymouth residents, all first-place winners at last week's county 4-H fair in Belleville, are representing the Wayne county 4-H clubs this week at the 40th annual 4-H state show. The event started Tuesday on the Michigan State university campus, East Lansing, and will close tomorrow, September 2.

Plymouthites and exhibits they are entering in the state show are as follows:

Sally Jo Mathias, wild flower panel, Dale and David Hauk, individual vegetable baskets; Nancy Eaton, floral arrangement of gladioli; Sharon Beyer, basket of meal accessories; Judy Hough, personal grooming display.

Wayne county entrant in the Baking Four project is Ella Plant.

Sharlene Moers, representing Wayne county clubs as judge candidate, will compete against 4-H members from throughout the state in the foods judging division at the state show. She was the sole candidate chosen from the county organization to serve as its representative in this event.

Competing in the equestrian events at the show are the following residents:

Bob Ramp, working stock class, riding "Tina Joe"; Ellen Cogwill, girl's working stock class, riding "Baby"; and Sue Sempliner, girl's pleasure class, on "Nugget". Bob Franklin, on "Sky High", will

Plymouth Area Civil Defense News

C. D. Director Leo Flowers has announced the appointment of Terry R. Danol as the new Township C. D. rescue-squad leader. Rescue squad classes will start in the near future and as soon as details are available, time and place of the meetings will be noted in this column. Those interested in this course may register now by calling Danol at Plymouth 1241-M. Flowers stated that the American Legion and V. F. W. have their own rescue-squad leaders.

Your local and federal Civil Defense is campaigning to familiarize the public with "Conelrad." Spot announcements to make the public "Conelrad conscious" are being beamed at Americans over some 2,700 standard AM radio stations. Unlike most commercials, these lively 30 second "spots" could be a life or death matter. Purpose is to publicize the federal C. D. Conelrad radio system for warning civilians of impending danger, and how to survive.

"Conelrad" is of effective import to the suburban areas. It would warn the civilian population to take cover or evacuate if necessary, from areas threatened with heavy radio-active fallout, etc. Flowers urges local residents to acquaint themselves with the "Conelrad" broadcasts and avail themselves of the valuable information given by this broadcast. For those who may not know the "Conelrad" broadcast bank, it is 640 and 1240 on the standard radio dial.

Forty-Two Attend Firemen's Barbecue

A group of 42 firemen and their families were on hand Sunday afternoon for the Canton Fire Department's barbecue chicken dinner held at 1 p.m. in the township hall. The event was the first in four years to be sponsored by the township department.

Following the feast, horseshoe pitching, croquet and other games highlighted the afternoon's entertainment.

Co-chairmen of the event were John Flodin and George Simons. Chief of the Canton Fire department is Dean McClue.

Set Next January as Completion Date For $4,000,000 Michigan State Library

The huge new Michigan State university library, nation's fifth largest university library in floor space, may be ready for full use when winter quarter classes begin January 6, 1956.

University officials hope construction schedules, delayed both by tardy steel deliveries and a jurisdictional labor dispute, will be completed soon enough to allow time for the tremendous job of moving a mountain of books from the old library building. Librarian Jackson E. Towne estimates M.S.U. building and grounds crewmen will be able to transfer some 20,000 volumes a day to the new building.

With more than 370,000 volumes to be piled on book "stretchers," trucked a short distance across campus and reassembled in the new library departments, the task will require at least three weeks.

The impressive $4 million library building must be finished and equipped at least by December 13 if it is to be ready for second quarter use. It was begun in November, 1953.

Michigan State freshmen traditionally write their investigative paper in communication skills in February, during the second quarter. More than 4,000 are expected to descend upon the M.S.U. campus this fall.

"In recent years it has been like a subway jam when the freshmen come in to do their research," Towne commented.

Cause of the jam at the single book counter was an enrollment grown beyond 15,000 students and 1,500 faculty members, all seeking books and materials in a 3-year-old library designed for an enrollment of but 2,500.

The new library, which contains the latest in indirect lighting, air conditioning and glare-reducing window materials, will have the added convenience of departmentalization.

That means M.S.U. students and faculty may go directly to separate library collections on various floors of the five-story building without having to secure their books through a centralized main circulation desk. The various subject groupings will include open and closed stack areas in addition to spacious reading room facilities.

Tentative plans call for social science and literature to be located on the first floor; business and public service, fine arts and education on the second floor; physical science, biological and applied science, and open stack overflow on the third floor.

The ground floor, designed to contain thousands of U.S. and U.N. documents, microfilm, bound general periodicals, fiction and biography, already holds on a temporary basis materials from the recently demolished library annex. Reserve assigned reading books, current periodicals, home economics, juveniles, textbooks and religious books were moved there in June.

The fourth floor, which may not be immediately finished, will offer a lecture room, faculty study facilities, seminars and a staff room.

Held to its present form by budget limitations, the ingeniously-designed library has expandable wall sections which easily may be moved out in future years to increase stack space by 200,000 volumes, Towne points out.

The old library building will house the university museum eventually.

PROUD WINNER of a brand new Evans bicycle is eight-year-old George Taylor (at right) as his brother Dennis, 2½, admires the newly won prize. George, son of Mr. and Mrs. Landon Taylor, 402 Pacific, was awarded the bike when he correctly answered a bicycle-riding safety question asked by phone from the "Sagebrush Shorty" television program. George had written to the TV show about making a trip to visit there and instead he was selected as one of the youngsters who is called upon to answer a question.

ONE FOR THE RECORDS is this fine smallmouth bass which Mike Schuster of 1373 Sheridan recently took from Lake Leelanau while fishing with nightcrawlers. Schuster displays his winner which weighed in at four pounds, 13 ounces and measured 20½ inches in length. No fancy equipment was needed to land the prize catch—just a common everyday canopole.

Newburg News

Mrs. Emil LaPointe,
Garfield 1-2029

The Newburg Methodist church choir will begin its regular Thursday evening practice sessions tonight, September 1, at 7:30 p.m. All former and present members are asked to resume their duties as usual and new members are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil LaPointe and children, Bruce, David, Mark and Nan, have returned to their home on Joy road after spending a delightful two weeks in northern Michigan. Among the spectacular sights they viewed were the "Soo" locks and the building of the new bridge across the Straits. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown on Hammond's Bay and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bailey of Gaylord, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil LaPointe entertained the following guests at their home on Joy road on Sunday, August 28: Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Weiss, Sr., of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Staffeld, also of Detroit; and Reverend Kuhlman of Crescent Park, Florida. Reverend Kuhlman was pastor of Mrs. LaPointe's former church and has been a friend of the family for 32 years.

The Canasta Clan will meet on Tuesday, September 6, at the home of Mrs. Claude Desmond on Joy road at 8 o'clock for their regular monthly evening of playing cards. All members are urged to contact Mrs. Desmond if they cannot come.

THE STRANGE OBJECT of Gary Clement's attention in the picture above is a five-inch long Praying Mantis insect, reportedly a rare item to be found in the state of Michigan. Gary, 12, and his brother Fred discovered the creature last Friday morning sunning itself in the drive-way of the Clement home at 301 West Liberty. They captured the sinister-appearing yet harmless insect, and have been feeding it crickets and grasshoppers. The creature is named Praying Mantis because of the manner in which its fore-legs suggest hands folded in prayer. It feeds upon other insects and is beneficial to man.

Newburg Church Circle To Meet This Tuesday

The Lydia Circle of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Newburg Methodist church will hold their first meeting of the fall season on Tuesday, September 6, at the home of Mrs. George Hembree, 9309 Newburg road.

The meeting will begin at 12:30 with the usual potluck luncheon. The program will be under the direction of Mrs. Raymond Bower. All members and friends are cordially invited to attend.

Chevrolet to Expand Willow Run Plant

A new truck assembly plant which will augment present production facilities is being set up by Chevrolet Motor Division on its Willow Run property, T. H. Keating, general manager, announced.

Preliminary work to equip the plant for assembly operations already has started. The line is scheduled to begin operating in the first quarter of 1956, Keating said.

The one-story structure, formerly used for warehousing and storage, contains 479,000 square feet. It is located on a 101-acre tract bordered by the Willow Run Expressway, Tyler road and the entrance drive to the airport terminal.

When in operation, the plant will employ from 600 to 700 persons, Keating said.

Envy explains many things that happen in life which otherwise have no explanations.

Grange Cleanings

Yes! It is Grange night when we again meet and greet our brother and sister patrons. Our usual potluck supper at 6:30, followed by the business meeting and program, which is in charge of Louise Tritton, so you may be sure it will be worth while. The speaker is Dr. Howard Cadwell, who is Director of Wayne Co. Health department. Come and hear him.

Be sure to keep in mind the sewing contest, crocheted rugs of any material, pillow cases, embroidered or with crocheted edge, kitchen curtains and handkerchiefs with crocheted edge, they must be of linen. The contest will end at the October 20 meeting.

Remember the Rummage sale on September 10 at the Grange hall from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Call Mrs. Albert Groth 1713-M for information as she is chairman of the sale.

This is Blue Cross time again so please bring your dues to the September 15 meeting and pay by check if possible. The new members of the Grange who wish to take the Blue Cross may make their application now; October is "Registration month" but the cards may be filled out any time.

The Grange hall was the haven for the Oldenburg reunion on Sunday as the rain spoiled their plan of going to the park. About 120 relatives and friends enjoyed the picnic dinner and the afternoon of visiting. These family gatherings are very much worth while and mean a great deal.

Two National Meetings Slated for MSU This Fall

More than 4,000 will come from across the nation to participate in two educational conferences at Michigan State University during the first half of September. Both events are being held at East Lansing in celebration of the Michigan State Centennial.

Twenty-four national biological societies will join for the annual meeting of the American Institute of Biological Science at M.S.U. September 5-9. More than 3,000 are expected.

An estimated 1,200 will attend the National County Agents conference, September 12-16.

Lives have been spent, and lost, at the card table.

National Guard to Patrol Traffic Over Busy Labor Day Weekend

More than 450 National Guards ordered out by Governor G. Mennen Williams, will team up with State Police and sheriffs to patrol what is expected to be the heaviest traffic in history on Michigan's highways over the Labor Day weekend.

State Police will use 243 Guardsmen, of whom four will be pilots, and 206 are being assigned to sheriffs. There also will be eight Guard supervisory officers.

Pass days of all State Police officers have been cancelled to further increase patrols and special attention will be given to high accident sections on state trunk lines. In addition, State Police will use 10 planes for aerial observation, including two which belong to the department, three from the department of aeronautics, one from the conservation department and four from the National Guard.

A special warning to drivers to be unusually alert and cautious was issued by State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs.

"Hundreds of thousands are going to take advantage of this last long weekend for their final trip of the summer," he said. "Depending on the way they drive, we will have a bad accident record or a good one. We can have a good one if drivers do what they should.

"The figures show we are heading for more than 2,000 traffic deaths in Michigan this year compared to 1,785 in 1954, but, conversely, our holiday, weekend death toll has been less than on the average summer weekend with more than 20 and is under that of a year ago. There were 18 killed over Memorial Day weekend and 19 over the Fourth of July. This indicates drivers can do better when they want to, and over this Labor Day weekend they should determine to do the very best they can.

"To be safe just use common sense and courtesy. And don't be in such a hurry. Slow down and live."

The National Guard was first ordered out by Governor Williams to help patrol traffic over the Labor Day weekend a year ago and he again authorized their use over Memorial Day, Fourth of July and Labor Day weekends this year.

Last year 26 died in Labor Day weekend accidents.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Hattie M. Smith

Services were held at 1 p.m. Saturday, August 27, in the Schrader Funeral home for Mrs. Hattie M. Smith of 2255 Meech road, Williamston, Michigan, who passed away Thursday, August 25, at the above address. She had been in ill health for the past three years.

Mrs. Smith will be remembered by many residents as a member of the First Methodist church, Plymouth.

The deceased was born June 20, 1870 in Redford township, the daughter of Henry and Louisa Spencer Ferrington. Her husband, John Q. Smith, preceded her in death in November, 1938.

A son, Wesley D. Smith of Williamston and two grandchildren are the only survivors.

The Reverend Melbourne I. Johnson officiated at services for Mrs. Smith. Pallbearers were George Ferrington, L. W. Kingsley, Robert Bredin, Clifton Tiltonson, James and Harry Ries. Burial was in Redford cemetery.

Last year following disasters approximately 62,000 persons were given Red Cross emergency mass care, which included free feeding and sleeping accommodations.

The belief that carelessness and speed cause highway casualties are reflected in statistics showing that three out of four traffic accidents happen in clear weather on dry roads.

Lodge Meets Wednesday

The Maccabees will hold their first meeting of the fall season on Wednesday, September 7, in the Odd Fellows hall, Elizabeth street. A 6:30 potluck supper to be followed by the regular meeting at 8 p.m. has been planned for the initial gathering.

Don't Count on Cold Winter Ahead Just Because We Have Hot Summer

Old wives' tales to the contrary, you just can't predict a cold-cold winter coming up because of our hot-hot summer, says a University of Michigan meteorologist.

In fact, meteorologists aren't even sure yet that this will measure up statistically to be an exceptionally hot summer — the prevailing man in the street notwithstanding!

So says A. Nelson Dingle, research associate in the University of Michigan's Engineering Research Institute, who looks on summer and winter as separate entities significantly separated by the fall season during which anything can happen atmospherically, and usually does.

He explains this by pointing out that although there may be some continuity in weather pattern during the summer, a time of relatively few storms, changes in air temperature and other atmospheric gyrations make fall a turbulent period, disrupting what little order there might have been in the pattern.

Spring is the same kind of unpredictable season with a rapidly warming atmosphere making its weather changeable, he says.

"For some strange reason people expect the atmosphere to be a simple thing producing weather that follows logically day after day," Dingle states, "but it is actually highly complex, huge, and influenced by many forces—some of which we don't even know about."

Weather prediction beyond a few days is a pretty risky business, he declares, since "weather persistence," as it is called, can't be counted on as a guide for longer than this period.

"The weather seems to remember what it was doing yesterday and be guided by this, but only for a couple of days," he states.

A popular topic for speculation when the mercury sits above 90 is the general warming trend evidenced all over the world in the past centuries. There are several possible reasons advanced for clares, and cites two theories. Continuation of this, Dingle de-

One is based on the increasing amount of carbon dioxide in the air caused by man's burning of fossil fuels like oil and coal, and the other rests on the idea that as the glacial areas in the northern hemisphere decrease there is less of a source for cold air, and refrigerating capacities decrease.

But, he says, these are only theories and some meteorologists have already begun predicting a reversal of this trend.

Speaking of Michigan's weather and warming trend, Dingle says that if the pattern continues this area may find itself inclining toward the tropical. But, he concludes, there's no need for anyone around now to worry about it — it'll take years, hundreds of them.

Hoben Shows Films To Kiwanis Club

Plymouth high school's new football coach, John "Mike" Hoben, showed members of the Kiwanis club Tuesday evening color films taken during his year in Korea. As a captain in the marine corps, Hoben headed an artillery combat unit.

Hoben narrated the films describing the difficult conditions under which our troops fought in Korea. He pointed out the ruggedness of the mountainous terrain over which the troops fought. "The north Korean soldiers were able to stand the rigors of fighting and living on fish heads and rice very well," he said. Hoben added that American soldiers were well fed except when on duty at a forward outpost. His unit suffered a direct hit from an enemy barrage on the first day Hoben took command. The films showed how the attack rendered his unit completely useless. Hoben was introduced by Dean Saxton, program chairman. On September 20 the Kiwanis club will have its annual family picnic dinner at the Girl Scout Lodge.

Local Adult Education Program Begins First Week in October

The Plymouth adult education program, with initial classes slated to begin the first week in October, will hold registration the week of September 19, announced Adult Education Director Herb Woolweaver recently.

This year's schedule of classes has been listed in a printed directory entitled "Things to Do in the Plymouth Community Schools." The directory, put out by the Adult Education and Recreation commission, Plymouth Township School District, may be obtained through the recreation office in the high school, at the Wayne county library, at the chamber of commerce office and at the city hall.

The pamphlet gives general information on the adult school program including who may register, when activities begin, when and where classes meet, how the classes are formed and what office to contact for any further information requested.

Registration, as designated by the directory, may be done by any one of three methods.

Evening registration takes place from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. during the week of September 19 in the adult education office in the high school.

Day registration takes place from 8:00 to 5:00 in the adult education office in the high school.

The third manner of registration is by mail whereby persons may send a check, name and address, phone number, course title, to the adult education office, Plymouth high school.

The various classes offered in the adult education schooling program are:

ARTS and CRAFTS - Fly tying, leather craft, military, oil painting, sewing and tailoring.

BUSINESS EDUCATION - Bookkeeping, business English, negotiable instruments, stock market fundamentals.

HOME and FAMILY LIVING - Mental health, cake decorating, meats, rug hooking, salads, slip covers and draperies, silk screening and upholstery.

SPECIAL CLASSES - Bridge, conservation lectures, dog obedience training, driver training, English for new Americans, know your government, philosophy-practical wisdom, practical speech and conversational Spanish.

VOCATIONAL TRADE CLASSES - Blue print reading, shop mathematics, shorthand by Gregg, typing, welding.

ADULT ACTIVITIES - Bowling for women, badminton, basketball, community chorus, ballroom dancing, square dance class, square dance club, swimming, symphony orchestra, theater guild, men's barber shop chorus, Swedish gymnastics for women.

Any person not enrolled in a regular day school may take part in the adult education system. Most of the classes will meet one evening a week from seven to nine for a 10-week period. There are no classes that will be accredited as college credits.

Call the adult education office, phone 895, for additional details.

Cub Scout Pack 4 Starts Program Of Fall Activities

Fall activities of Cub Scout Pack 4, sponsored by the First Presbyterian church, will get underway next week with a meeting of Cub Scout Committee members and Den mothers slated for Tuesday, September 6, at 8 p.m. in the home of Cubmaster Samuel Hudson, 44951 North Territorial road.

Plans will be made for the first Pack meeting to be held at the church on Friday, September 30, at 7:30 p.m.

Den meetings will begin the week of September 12 at the homes of the following Den mothers: Den 2, Mrs. Robert McAllister, 685 Jener; Den 3, Mrs. George Bowles, Plymouth Colony; Den 4, Mrs. Ed Carney, 238 South Main, and Mrs. Walter Hall, 297 North Harvey; Den 5, Mrs. Edgar Brown, 197 Amelia.

Boys 8-10 years of age who are interested in applying for membership in this Cub Scout group may call Assistant Cubmaster John Wallace at 1677-W.

Inspections, Alert Drivers Keeping School Bus Operation Safe Here

A tragedy in Tennessee several weeks ago in which a number of children died in a school bus which was struck by a train, probably brought anxiety to many Plymouth area parents whose children will soon ride a bus each day.

Can such an incident happen here?

School authorities answer this by stating that every way possible is tried to keep equipment above safety standards and to keep alert and safety-minded drivers.

Robert Houghton, director of bus transportation in the Plymouth Township School system, proudly points out that to his recollection, there have been but two minor school bus mishaps, one of which had no children aboard at the time and the other where there were but a few.

This safety record is in the face of some 121,000 miles covered each year by the bus fleet. It has been 230,000 miles since the last mishap—a record that few automobile drivers could match in their lifetimes.

An average bus driver will travel about 10,000 miles a year; several drive up to 49,000 miles.

But just because there have been no serious accidents in the past, school officials and drivers are not letting their guard down. Bus drivers will again be reminded this year by school officials: "We don't care how late you are—just bring them in safe." It is felt that a driver who will not be reprimanded because their bus is late, will certainly take no chances.

There will be 15 buses in the fleet this year, three of them new. The two oldest will be in their ninth year of service, but mechanically they are better than one being taken out of service.

this year which is but six years old, Houghton points out.

Each summer the entire fleet is taken to one of several garages where mechanics must check on 32 points. Three copies of the signed check sheets are sent to Lansing, one going to state police who personally arrive at some surprise moment and inspect each point themselves.

Houghton stated that state police often follow busses during the year and when they are empty, go over them to check for safety. Insurance companies also have a habit of following busses to make sure the driver is using safe operating practices, Houghton added.

On the chassis, an inspection is made of the brakes, lights, bumpers, steering mechanism, wheels, tires, muffler, springs and fuel system. The body is checked for general condition, appearance, body mounting, service door, emergency door, steps, seats, glass, windshield, windshield wiper, windows, mirrors, defroster, heater, fire extinguisher, bus color and identification, stop arm, first aid kit, flares and horn.

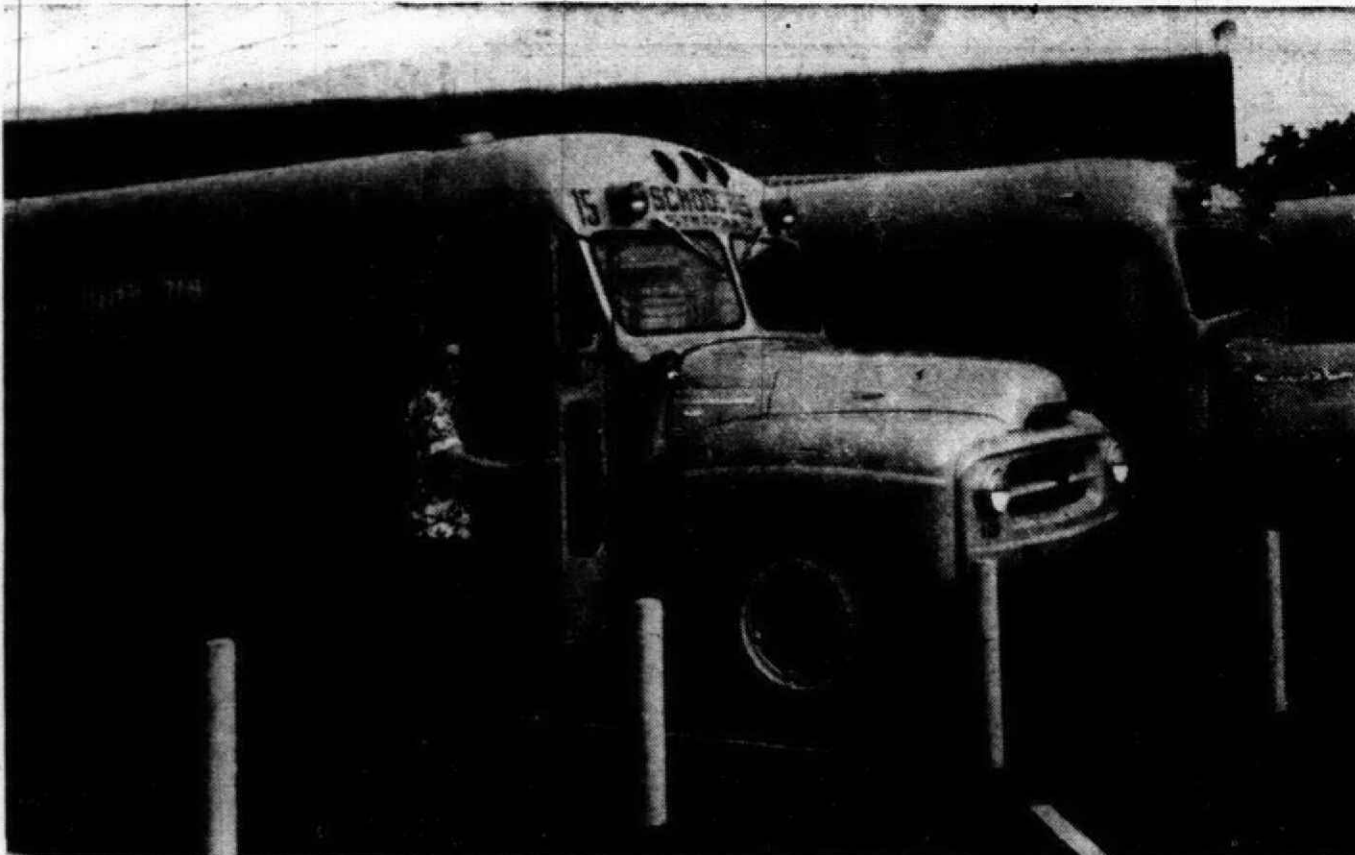

Many driver applicants are turned down each year because of the screening each are given. The transportation director checks on each applicant's driving records wherever they lived, and neighbors are asked if they would want their children to drive with the applicant. They undergo a physical check-up each year, are given x-rays and must pass a test for a chauffeur's license. They must be 21 years old or older.

One of the more common complaints registered by parents is the charge that busses are being overloaded. Houghton claims that loading is governed by state law and that a 60 passenger bus can have at least six people standing, according to law. Three children are supposed to be in each seat, but that many often do not fit, or is quite uncomfortable. So they choose to stand, giving the appearance that the bus is crowded to standing room only.

There are some instances when it is raining that students who are not supposed to ride, get on the bus and cause an overcrowding, the bus director stated. Whether or not to put an unscheduled youngster off in the rain is one of the many problems of the bus director.

One safety factor uncontrolled by school officials is the motorist. Most drivers show respect for the school bus and courteously wait while children are loaded or discharged. Parents, of course, must also help the safety record by warning their children of the danger of crossing roads. Their actions in the bus so as not to distract the driver are also important.

Some parents wonder about the ability of woman bus drivers, of which there are now three. "Some of us men would hate to match our ability against theirs," Houghton declared. One woman driver has driven her bus about 17,000 miles a year for five years and has never scraped a fender. Another woman with a little less service has the same safety record.

ALL TYPES OF safety features are included in the new school busses being added to the fleet this year. Robert Houghton, director of transportation, is shown boarding one of the new buses. A new parking lot is being constructed along Mill street at the junior high school site.

Local Burroughs Plant Becomes Separate Division

Establishment of the manufacturing plant at Plymouth as a separate operating division and appointment of Robert A. Niemi as general manager were announced today by John S. Coleman, president of Burroughs Corporation.

Primary responsibility of the new division is the manufacture of Sensimatic accounting machines and associated products. The division also manufactures aircraft instruments and other precision equipment for the armed services.

First plant units at Plymouth were built in 1937. Since that time, other buildings have been added until at present there are more than 660,000 square feet of manufacturing space. About 3,500 persons are presently employed there.

Niemi has been manager of the plant since January 1953. He was first employed by Burroughs as an apprentice tool and die maker in 1935. After four years he became a journeyman die maker, and in 1944, when the Plymouth plant was wholly engaged in defense work, he was made an assistant foreman in the tool room.

Other supervisory jobs followed and in 1949 he was made director of industrial engineering at the Detroit plant, a position he held until he became manager at Plymouth. He resides in Northville with his wife and two young sons.

Mrs. Irving Blunk entertained the members of her Priscilla sewing club Tuesday at her lovely cottage on Silver Lake.

Lawton "Slim" Williams returned to Fort Worth, Texas Tuesday morning after visiting several days with his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Williams on Brush street, also his mother and other Plymouth friends.

SOCIAL NOTES

Mrs. Gladys Britt of Detroit and Mrs. Kate Corbishly of Sandusky, vacationing at Clear Lake, were dinner guests Tuesday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Hix at their home on Warren road.

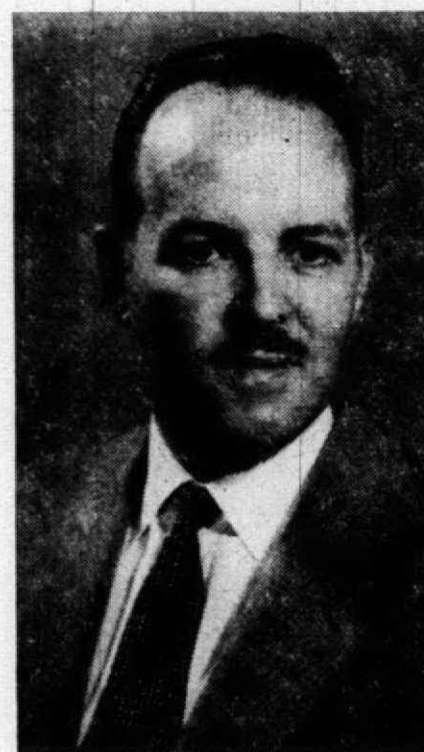

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rudick and Joyce of Ann Arbor road; Mr. and Mrs. William Rudick, Sr. of Simpson; Mr. and Mrs. William Rudick, Jr., and family of Main street, and Mrs. Darryl Speers of Ann Arbor road were among those from Plymouth who attended the Rudick reunion at the VFW Memorial hall on Main street last Sunday.

Mrs. Bert Mansfield and Mrs. Floyd Bland of Detroit were luncheon guests of their sister, Mrs. Paul Wiedman, on Tuesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Spicer, Mrs. Jesse Tritton and Mrs. Louis Norman and daughter, Marilyn, attended a reception in Detroit last Saturday evening honoring Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ferguson of Kansas City, Missouri, at the home of Mrs. Ferguson's mother, Mrs. Clifford M. Toohy.

The Navy Mother's club will start their Fall schedule with a linen demonstration at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, September 14, at the Veteran's Memorial home on South Main street. The public is invited and urged to attend. Proceeds from this meeting will go to the club's hospital work. Fun and refreshments have been promised by the committee in charge.

On Thursday and Friday of last week, Hanna Strasen attended a piano teacher's workshop in Kalamazoo. About 75 teachers from a number of states were in attendance. Miss Frances Clark, known for her interesting teaching methods throughout the country, was the lecturer and demonstrating teacher. Miss Clark used a completely new approach for teaching the piano with a very interesting appeal to the child. Miss Clark and her assistants will soon be leaving for the Westminster Choir School in Princeton, New Jersey, where they will be carrying out their new teaching ideas.

10:30 Sunday morning service.
10:30 Sunday school.
Classes for pupils up to 20 years of age.
Man's real spiritual status as a son of God, not subject to sin and disease, will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Man."

The account will be read from the King James Version of the Bible of Christ Jesus' healing of the man "which had the withered hand," including the following passage (Luke 6:10): "And looking round about upon them all, He said unto the man, Stretch forth thy hand. And he did so; and his hand was restored whole as the other."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following selection will be among those read (317:18-20): "The understanding of His spiritual individuality makes man more real, more formidable in truth, and enables him to conquer sin, disease and death."

The Golden Text is from Romans (8:14) "As many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God."

Who's New in Plymouth

ENJOYING THEIR new son, three-months-old Thomas Craig, are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd J. Tucker of 751 Irvin. The newcomers moved here July 3 after a year's residence in Detroit. Formerly of Adrian, the Tuckers chose Plymouth for its community atmosphere, appearance and many features which reminded them of their hometown. With good commuting service between here and Detroit, Tucker finds he can work in the city and still enjoy the advantages of suburban living. He is employed by Traveler's Insurance company, Detroit.

Noted Evangelist To Speak Here

The Reverend Jack Van Impe

The Reverend Jack Van Impe of Pontiac will speak at the Sunday evening service, September 4, in Calvary Baptist church, 496 West Ann Arbor trail.

Evangelist Van Impe is an accomplished accordionist and has appeared frequently on television programs in Detroit and other cities. Mrs. Van Impe, a soprano soloist, will also provide musical numbers for the service.

The public is cordially invited to enjoy this service, which will begin at 7 p.m.

O. E. S. NEWS

Plymouth Chapter No. 115 will hold its regular meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 6 at 7:30 p.m.

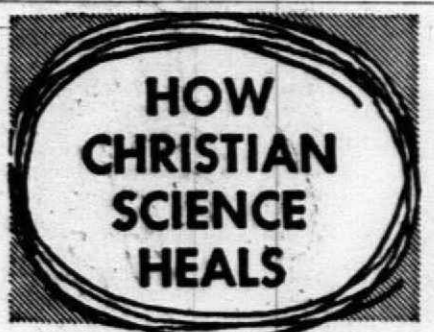

We will hold our special meeting on September 20 with Memorial services at 7:30 p.m. and advanced officers at 7:45 p.m. Refreshments will be served after each of these meetings.

Sister Fanny Judd is in Sessions hospital recovering from an operation. Brother Maury Harvey is in Beyer hospital in Ypsilanti after having surgery.

We extend our sympathy to the family of Sister Ida Thomas who passed away on August 9.

Please remember these people in some way.

We hope everyone has had a pleasant summer and will be coming to the meetings again.

This man has many bosses...

This man works for only one company — your gas company. But his "bosses" are many — you — our customers and our stockholders. Chances are that if you and your neighbors are not direct owners of our company, you share in our ownership through your investment in insurance policies. Insurance companies are heavy investors in the securities of this and other privately-owned, tax-paying gas companies.

What's the reason for this investment? To earn dividends — which, incidentally, from one of the smallest items in your gas company's operating dollar.

And what do you receive as a customer? You get top-notch, around-the-clock gas service to make your living better. And with all this, gas service is one of the biggest bargains in your daily budget.

Favorite Recipes

From
Plymouth's Kitchens

Here's Recipe for Making Delicious "Pizza Pie"

"Discovered" by the young set first as a delicious late-evening snack, Pizza Pie has rapidly become a national favorite, establishing itself on the dinner menus of countless American families.

The recipe for the fast Italian dish comes this week from Mrs. Nat Sibbold of 1149 Ross, who finds pizza popular with every member of the family, including even her tiny tot, one-year-old Linda.

A meal in itself, Mrs. Sibbold often serves her Pizza Pie with just a tossed salad for accompaniment. For variation in the dish, she sometimes uses salami as a substitute for the ground beef. Here's the recipe:

Supper Pizza

2 tablespoons of bacon drippings
 1/2 green pepper, grated
 1 large onion, grated
 1 pound of ground beef
 1 can of tomato paste
 2 cans of water
 2 teaspoons of oregano
 1/2 teaspoon of parsley
 1 1/2 teaspoons of garlic juice
 salt and pepper to taste
 1 package of hot roll mix
 1/2 pound of sharp cheese

Saute onion and green pepper in bacon drippings until tender. Add beef, cook, stirring often until meat loses red color. Add tomato paste, water and next five ingredients; simmer for one hour. Follow recipe for pizza dough on package of hot roll mix. Dough will cover two cookie sheets. Spread meat sauce over dough. Top with grated cheese. Bake immediately for 15 to 20 minutes at 450 degrees. (Pizzas may be prepared ahead of time and frozen. In this case, add grated cheese just before baking.) Serve with tossed salad.

Tossed Salad

1/2 head of lettuce
 1 tomato
 2 teaspoons of onion, chopped fine
 2 teaspoons of green pepper, chopped fine
 8 stuffed olives, sliced
 2 teaspoons of chopped cold meat
 Serve with oil and wine vinegar dressing.

Social Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Zimmerman of South Harvey have just returned from visiting their daughter and family, the B. T. Peoples, at Thomason Park, Triangle, Virginia.

Mrs. George Bowles of Turkey Run, Plymouth Colony, was called to St. Paul, Minnesota, last week due to the death of her mother, Mrs. W. A. James.

Miss Bertha Anderson has returned to her home on Blunk street after spending the summer with her mother at L'Anse, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ash and daughter, Donna, Dewey street, and Mrs. Ash's mother, Mrs. Milo Corwin of Cherry Hill, spent several days last week at Niagara Falls. The first day out was Donna's 11th birthday which she celebrated in Port Huron. While at the falls, the Ashs visited the Boy Scout Camp located at Niagara-on-the-lake. Approximately 10,000 boys were attending the camp from all parts of the world. They found it most interesting to see the various flags and banners flying from the tops of the tents, also the native dress of the boys, and to hear them conversing in their own language.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. William Sakrisca on Koppnick road, September 7. A pot-luck dinner will be served at noon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Garber of North Territorial road, who were vacationing in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, were called home on Saturday, August twenty-seventh, due to the death of Mrs. Garber's father. Burial was on Monday, August 29th, at Highland cemetery, Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Enos Hayskar was hostess at an informal tea last Thursday afternoon in her home on Penniman avenue honoring Miss Marjorie Alford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Alford of Dewey street, and Miss Susan Wesley, daughter of the Robert Wesleys of McKinley street, who will attend Albion college for the coming year. Guests included the following alumni of Albion: Mrs. Russell Atchison of Northville; Mrs. Max Ellison, Mrs. Woodrow Ross and Mrs. Hagar Green, all of Plymouth. Also present was Margaret Burr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Burr of Sheridan avenue, who now attends the college.

Mrs. Eugene Orndorf has returned to her home on Northville road after spending 10 days in Harrodsburg and Louisville, Kentucky, with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bernash and daughter, Martha, of North Harvey street have just returned from a vacation on Black Lake near Onaway.

Miss Susan Hayskar spent this week visiting at Concord, Michigan, as the guest of Miss Eva Doolittle.

Mr. and Mrs. William Morgan and daughter, Sally, and James Trolz of Jackson, spent from Wednesday until Monday at Pine Island, Canada, as the guests of Miss Neva Lovewell.

Mrs. Cleo Mack of Irvin street returned recently from a vacation in San Diego, California. Among places of interest she visited were Tijuana, Mexico, Mission San Juan Capistrano and Disneyland.

Mrs. I. N. Dickerson left Sunday for Oakley, Kansas, where she will make her home with the Kenneys, sister and brother-in-law. Her many Plymouth friends wish her much happiness in her new home.

Miss Patricia Hyatt of Detroit is spending 10 days with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hartwick and daughter, Mary Lou, of Northville road.

Jack Wingard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Wingard, and Tom Stremich, son of Mrs. Margaret Stremich of Liberty street, will return Saturday from a five week's trip to California. Seventy boys were in the group. According to news received from the boys they have already appeared on the Art Linkletter television program, visited Tennessee Ernie's radio show and had dinner with Debbie Reynolds, movie star.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Howard and son, Roger, of North Mill street, have just returned from a month's vacation at their cottage on Mullet Lake.

Houseguest in the Stewart Oldford home on Beck road this past week was Mrs. Leslie White of Grand Falls, Newfoundland. Mrs. White, a distant cousin of Mr. Oldford, made her first trip to Michigan.

Little Linda Trombley of Farmington is spending this week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Fisher of Forest avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. James Thrasher of Lakeland Court spent last weekend with Mrs. Thrasher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. St. John in Springfield, Ohio. David Thrasher, who had been spending the past week with his grandparents, returned to his home with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Morris of Leetonia, Ohio, were guests last Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. James Thrasher of Lakeland Court.

Mrs. Miller Ross and daughters, Beverly and Betsy, of Ann Arbor road, will go to Niagara Falls, on Saturday where they will meet Miss Micaela Gomez of Cuba, who will visit with the Ross family for two weeks. Miss Gomez, who attended the University of Michigan, spent some time at the Ross home two years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Wood and son of Greenway, Arkansas, were guests during this week in the home of Mrs. Wood's cousin, Carl Hartwick of Northville road.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS

Auxiliary member, Sarah McLellan, has been one of those chosen to assist in the organization of a Red Cross Polio station in Texas. She will remain there for approximately six weeks as a registered nurse helping to organize an emergency Polio Ward, having worked on various polio cases at the University hospital in Ann Arbor.

Our annual picnic trip was made on Sunday, August 21, taking an assortment of canned goods to our V.F.W. National Home at Eaton Rapids, Michigan. The following members attended: Hal and Loretta Young, Howard and Helen Bowring, Art and Vivian Haar and Margaret Stremich. The group made a tour of the grounds and buildings and were very impressed with the many modern comforts and conveniences the different cottages had, including a beautiful swimming pool and gymnasium. Indiana tops the United States with four cottages. Michigan runs second with three. We wish to thank those who were able to make the trip, those who donated food, and Vivian Haar who took over in the absence of National Home Chairman, Gertrude Danol.

Don't forget, boys and girls, the deadline for the Pet Contest entries is this Thursday, September 1. You still have time to get your entries in to Marie Norman, chairman. The winners will be announced in next week's column.

Don't forget our next business meeting on Tuesday, September 6. All chairmen and officers, in the future, will you please call your president if you are not able to attend these regular meetings so that she may obtain a substitute to fill your position. This will greatly help the president in planning these meetings!

Hospital trip this Sunday, September 4. Chairman Beverly Brown needs all the help she can get, so how about calling her and planning to make this trip?

Our Legislative committee reports that over 14 bills pertaining to veteran's benefits were passed before the session of Congress adjourned. To date over 10 letters have been turned over to Chairman Kay Coolman in the form of responses to the members' requests to investigate various bills of interest to veterans. By this, we know that our efforts in this department are not totally in vain. If you receive an answer to your letter to your Congressman, please see that Kay Coolman gets it before the year is over.

OUR PRESCRIPTION DEPARTMENT IS THE HEART OF OUR BUSINESS

American Legion News

Maxine Kunz, who was called to Asheville, North Carolina on August 18 by the death of her father, has been visiting there for the past several days.

The next regular business meeting of the Post will be Wednesday, September 7, at 8 p.m. in the Veteran's Community center. Commander Holcombe is requesting that we have a large turnout for this meeting as some important business, concerning all the membership, will be discussed.

Members are hereby reminded that as of the last business meeting, the regular meeting night has been changed to the first Wednesday of the month.

On Thursday evening, August 25, Commander Holcombe and President Gardner called an emergency meeting of the two executive committees and the Building Fund committee for the purpose of presenting for their consideration, a land site for a future Legion Home. Details of this conference will be heard at the respective meetings.

Mrs. Percy A. Lainson of Council Bluffs, Iowa, national president of the American Legion Auxiliary who visited Europe this summer and traveled as close to the Iron Curtain countries as possible, urged auxiliary women to contribute as much money as they can to the American venture, "Radio Free Europe." She saw enough to make her feel that it is doing "a magnificent job" of telling Europeans about America's effort to protect their free countries from "Red" encroachment.

As to broadening of its child welfare program, Mrs. Lainson announced that the auxiliary has pledged $75,000 to the American Legion's new Child Welfare foundation. Part of the sum is going for research, specifically this year to help support work of a police officer's training school at the University of Southern California. Students in the school will have training in how to deal with juvenile "gangs" and delinquents as contributory to cutting down child crime and delinquency.

Mrs. Lainson also announced that last year, the auxiliary gave $75,000 to the wooden churches, Catholic, Protestant and Jewish, on the border of Iron Curtain countries.

For Party Whirl, Designers Feature Host of Glittering Cottons

All that glitters is not gold, for the newly shaped dance dresses glisten in embroidered corduroys, jewel-toned velveteens, and lustrous cotton satins.

For the girl that likes to sparkle, there's no color quite like spotlight red, and no fabric quite like embroidered corduroy. Casting a spell is the one shouldered blouse and full skirt that's covered with gold embroidery for oriental splendor.

Also in date tempo are the tailored dresses made in luxurious cottons. A shirtdress in creme corduroy glistens with gold embroidered panels in scattered printed velveteen. One style right in the heart of fashion has a princess-line sheath with its own finger-tip jacket. Other theatre suits are fashioned in beige and black velveteen or corduroy, and some are glamorized with mink collars.

Getting a big rush—a dramatic flower-printed corduroy date dress. The neckline dips low, the collar wide, and the skirt is flared for a party-fling.

Check Label Before Buying That Raincoat!

Girls who are starting to collect a school wardrobe for fall probably have "raincoat" down on that shopping list.

Clothing specialists offer these tips to help you select the kind of rainwear you want:

If the label says "waterproof," you'll know that the fabric has been treated to shed water completely... even in a driving rain. Plastic coats and "slickers" come in that class. But, remember... that treatment also closed the "pores" of the fabric so no air can penetrate. And some people find this type hot and uncomfortable.

"Water repellent" raincoats are comfortable because they maintain their porous quality. They have been chemically treated to make them resistant to wetting. They shed water satisfactorily except in a prolonged, hard rain.

The specialists urge you to look for a close, firm weave if you buy a water repellent raincoat—whether made of cotton, rayon, silk, nylon or a blend of fibers. Look, too, for the tag that indicates whether the water repellent finish is durable or non-durable.

A non-durable water repellent finish would mean that you must have the finish restored with each dry cleaning or laundering—an expensive process.

Take time to read the labels before you buy—your raincoat is a year-round investment.

MSU Bulletin Aids Quantity Food Planners

Do you have a big family picnic coming up? Or, are you wondering, perhaps, how you're going to handle a community project of feeding hundreds of people?

The answer to your large quantity cookery problems is easy. A listing of quantity food service literature has just been brought up to date and lists over 250 bulletins prepared by commercial companies to help in any community feeding project.

The listing, which was prepared by members of the Tourist and Resort program at MSU, tells you just where the material can be obtained, the cost and a little about the contents of each bulletin.

All of the publications listed are free or low cost. You can get the "Bibliography—Quantity Food Service Literature" by writing to Tourist and Resort Program, Quantity Food Service, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Michigan. This list might be just the thing your church group or women's club needs for their community projects.

Children with hearty appetites at mealtimes and who eat a good variety of foods, often are genuinely hungry by mid-morning or afternoon. They need an "extra meal"—a sandwich of enriched bread and a glass of milk or some fruit—eaten at mid-morning or after school to supply required nutrients and energy.

New foods or new ways of serving well-liked foods can help keep mealtime interest high. To avoid an "I won't eat it" storm, only one new food is offered at a time. Only small portions of it are served the first time.

It should be kept in mind that children like simple, colorful foods—foods neither too strongly flavored nor highly spiced.

Youngsters' attitudes follow the course set by mother and dad. Dad's frown or ill-timed comment about a food can bring on a crisis, with mother's plans going awry. Happy parents keep family meals a pleasant adventure—in quiet harbors—by steering clear of possible "stormy weather."

Heed The Storm Signals

By heeding storm signals one can avoid a deluge of small fry stubborn "No's!" which may rival a hurricane for upsetting mealtime atmosphere. Knowing how to recognize the forerunners of "table time storms" is almost a necessity for parents.

Youngsters and appetites easily are parted—a fact to remember when otherwise healthy children dawdle over food. The best food can fail to appeal if emotions are in a turmoil. Where meals are peaceful, stubborn feeding problems are not so apt to occur. The dining room should never turn into a court of appeals with father forced to play judge and mother is on the jury. Excitement of any kind—particularly anger, fear or other intense emotions—hinders digestion.

The overly hungry, overly tired child does not enjoy his food. School age children, constantly on the go, should have a few minutes rest or quiet before meals.

Children with hearty appetites at mealtimes and who eat a good variety of foods, often are genuinely hungry by mid-morning or afternoon. They need an "extra meal"—a sandwich of enriched bread and a glass of milk or some fruit—eaten at mid-morning or after school to supply required nutrients and energy.

New foods or new ways of serving well-liked foods can help keep mealtime interest high. To avoid an "I won't eat it" storm, only one new food is offered at a time. Only small portions of it are served the first time.

It should be kept in mind that children like simple, colorful foods—foods neither too strongly flavored nor highly spiced.

Youngsters' attitudes follow the course set by mother and dad. Dad's frown or ill-timed comment about a food can bring on a crisis, with mother's plans going awry. Happy parents keep family meals a pleasant adventure—in quiet harbors—by steering clear of possible "stormy weather."

Here's Way To Get Most Out of Chicken

Young broiler-fryer chickens, 1½ to 3 lbs. ready-to-cook weight, now account for a big share of chicken on the market. Experts find that in many families the meaty pieces—legs and breast—are the most popular in broiling, frying and barbecuing, but that the necks, backs and wings often are problems to homemakers as well as retailers.

In answer to this problem, home economists suggest broiling or frying the meaty pieces for one meal and using moist cooking for the bony pieces in another meal's menu. Cover the bony parts with water, add a little chopped onion, celery or other vegetables or herbs for flavor. Simmer about an hour, or until the meat easily comes loose from the bone.

The meat and thickened broth can be used to serve over toast, rice or dumplings—maybe with some mushrooms added, or it can be used for chicken a la king or salad or sandwich filling. Bony parts of a 3-lb. (ready-to-serve) bird should give enough meat for two servings of any of the dishes suggested, and best of all, the meat will be tender, juicy and flavorful.

The New ANN ARBOR ROAD - HARVEY OFFICE of National Bank of Detroit

We're opening our new, modern banking office at Ann Arbor Road and Harvey in Plymouth on Thursday, September 1. You are cordially invited to attend Open House and inspect the building between 10:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. on that day.

The new office has the most modern facilities to speed customer service and make banking more pleasant. These include:

- ... two drive-in banking windows where you can take care of many routine banking transactions quickly without leaving your car.
- ... a big next-door parking area for your use while banking.
- ... a modern safe deposit vault with safe deposit boxes in all convenient sizes. These facilities are provided by the Safe Deposit Company of Detroit, capital stock of which is owned by the National Bank of Detroit.
- ... five customer windows inside the bank for fast service ... an attractive, spacious lobby ... air conditioning ... fluorescent lighting ... night depository ... and many more features.

Here are some of the ways we can serve you—

A Personal Checking Account will simplify your bill-paying and keep your money safe. You have a choice of either a regular checking account or the special "20 checks for $2" type of account. We'll be glad to help you decide which would be most economical for you.

A Savings Account will assure a ready cash reserve when you need it.

An Installoan (instalment loan) can help you own now some of the things on your "most wanted" list.

Trust Services are available and we will be glad to discuss them with you.

We hope our facilities will make your banking much more convenient. It will be a pleasure to welcome you at the new office.

THIS MODERN 3 BEDROOM brick ranch home, at 42531 Lakeland, is typical of the homes which have been built in the Plymouth area by Finch L. Roberts, custom builder. This home has a distinctive, studio-type ceiling with mahogany beam running full length, spacious kitchen with natural mahogany cupboards, touch-latch hardware, and built-in range and oven. It also features a full basement with an eleven-block ceiling, gasinator, and automatic oil heat, ceramic tile bath. Roberts' homes are in the $17,000 to $20,000 price range.

Natural Air-Conditioning Thru Use of Trees, Plants Insures Cooler House in Summer

Ever step into a home shaded from the hot sun by trees? Such a home is ten or fifteen degrees cooler in the hot summer months, according to the American Association of Nurserymen. The coolness is natural and inviting, and when the shade trees are deciduous (shed their leaves in winter) they allow the winter sun to shine on the house when you need all the warmth you can get.

Natural air-conditioning by means of trees and shrubs and grass requires very little maintenance cost. It keeps the outside grounds of your home properly cool and comfortable, as well as indoors.

There are several rules for planting to obtain "natural" air-conditioning, as follows:

1. Observe the path of the sun in the hot summer months. You will notice that the hottest part of the day usually is in the afternoon when the direct rays of the sun are from the west. Plant your tree or trees so they will be certain to intercept the sun and at the same time shade the walls of your home. You want the shade to strike the houses directly, not off to one side, or too short of the house to do the job. Allow for the growth of the tree.

2. Where homes are uncomfortable in the morning, of course, shade should also be on the east, but usually it is the west sun that causes the most discomfort.

3. Liberal use of grass, shrubs, and vines will help to keep the property immediately surrounding the home cooler than it otherwise would be.

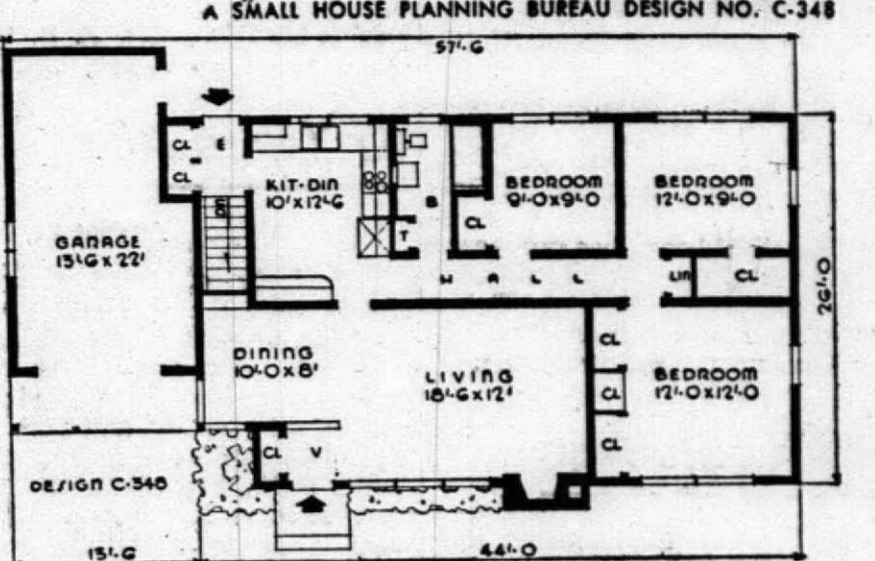

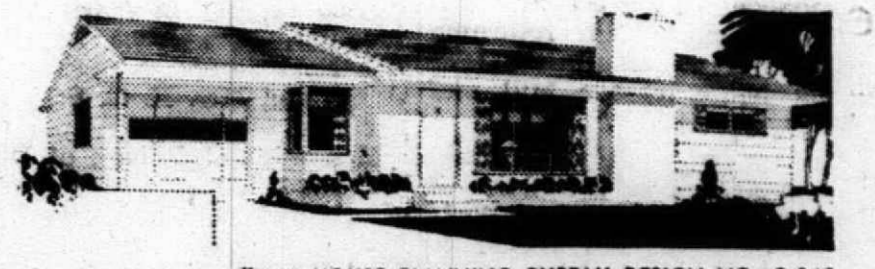

Proof that any home can be air-conditioned by plants is evidenced merely by walking into the shade of a grove of trees, where the temperature is always cool in hot weather.

Trees around the home also reduce traffic and other outside noises.

Where the home is located so that it bears the full force of winter winds, the indoors can be made more comfortable by the use of a windbreak. Consult with your local nurseryman as to the type of trees to use. You merely plant the windbreak on the side of the house from which the cold winds come. The windbreak will effectively break the force of the wind for a distance up to eight times the height of the trees, so it should not be too close to the home. In this case, of course, evergreen trees are used which keep their dense foliage all year round. In a United States Department of Agriculture test, a properly located windbreak in the midwest saved 22 per cent in the amount of fuel used. It takes as much fuel to heat an average home at 32 degrees F., with a 12-mile wind as it does at zero temperature with only a three mile wind. So if you cut down the cold winds with evergreen trees, you'll not only save fuel but be more comfortable both inside the home and in your yard.

Natural air-conditioning is healthy and comfortable, while maintenance costs are so low as to be practically nil. Trees and windbreaks likewise are widely being recommended to reduce the operating costs of mechanical air-conditioning, especially in hot weather, since the shaded house requires less power to cool it.

DESIGN C-348. The sturdiness of the low roof, wide overhanging eaves and horizontal lines of this spacious home is further emphasized by the wide face brick chimney in front. The living room has an entrance vestibule with a coat closet, a picture window, fireplace and dining alcove with corner windows. This lovely alcove is in addition to the dining space available in the kitchen. Other plan features of this house include three bedrooms, large linen and towel cabinets, and generous closet space. The kitchen is very efficiently laid out. Also included are an attached garage and full basement. Floor area is 1128 square feet, cubage is 21,432 cubic feet, not including the garage. For further information about DESIGN C-348, write the Building Editor, The Plymouth Mail.

House and Site Must Blend Well for Best Effect

"Eighteenth century French and Italian homes extended their architectural lines and construction materials to outdoor living areas as we are doing today," says Robert Hale Ellis, Jr., prominent western landscape architect.

"You can find the same character of design and materials in balcony balustrades, terraces and garden retaining walls as was used in these charming European interiors," Ellis points out, "and this marriage of house and grounds is the effect designers and landscape artists strive for in the contemporary residence."

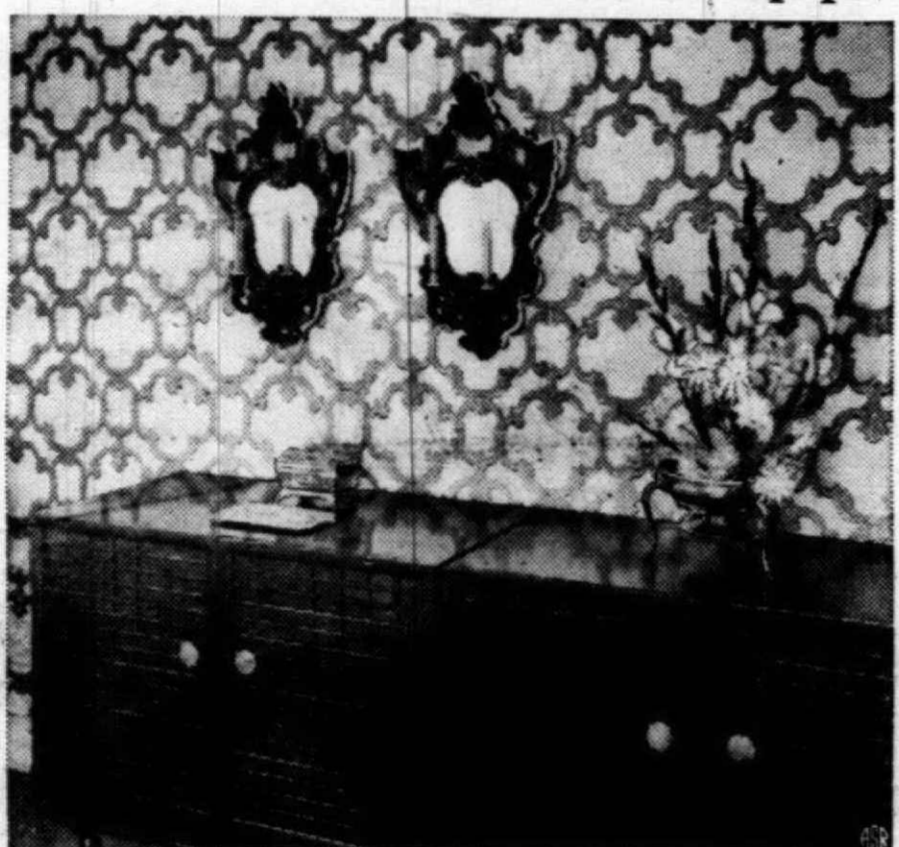

Wood is extremely popular in modern home construction, Ellis states, and blends beautifully with almost any homestyle. Shrubs, climbing vines and plantings of almost any variety are enhanced by Douglas fir or western red cedar fences and screen sections.

The living is easier in today's homes, for families are discovering the outdoors as an added living space. Here again, Ellis asserts, where maintenance must be kept at a minimum, sundecks built of fir 2x4s, laid on their sides with spaces between, can be built on a problem lawn where the terrain slopes or grass refuses to grow. Just hose it off for a quick cleaning job.

Ellis suggests screens for dividing use sections or for separating various patio levels. Built of cedar louver or designed similarly to the home's exterior siding, these screens plot kiddies play area and entertaining spots for the grown-ups.

Wood is beautiful. Wood is utilitarian. Stained or left to weather naturally it complements other building materials and blends with growing things. Its texture is pleasing and its flexibility allows it to perform tasks no other material may accomplish.

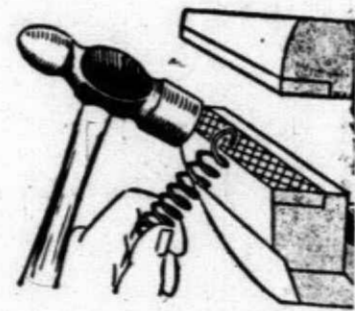

You Can Do Wonders With Wallpaper

This season's wallpapers are so highly imaginative, it would seem they could solve almost any decorating problem. With the homemaker's need for more space, light and a feeling of wide-openness, wallpaper patterns now do much more than make a room lovelier. They do special "jobs" within a room or from room to room. As shown above, the traditional-in-feeling papers can soften the severe lines of modern furniture and give warmth and drama to a dark foyer area. To give light to small dark rooms, there are increasing numbers of open-spaced patterns on light backgrounds. And, some of the new "trellis" designs create a feeling of infinite space. Semi-scenic patterns such as lightly sketched bridges, courtly buildings, trees and foliage carry the eye far into the "beyond." There are patterns with rich color accents on softly textured light backgrounds for "blended" room schemes. Also these papers can be used to set apart a special area in the living room for televisioning or for dining. The tricks with wallpaper are endless. There is so much that wallpaper can do for the homemaker, and so inexpensively, that one well-known home furnishings stylist remarked, "Nothing in the world decorates like wallpaper."

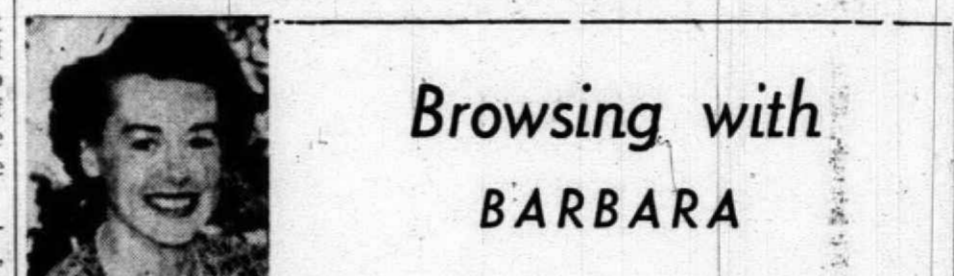

Fixin' - up Tips

When a new hook is needed on the end of a coil spring, the simplest method is to place the spring on the corner of a vise or anvil and use a hammer.

This procedure is far easier than using a pliers.

Place the last coil of the spring over the corner and hammer it at right angles to the axis of the spring. While hammering, move the spring slightly to avoid cutting the wire on the edge of the vise jaw.

Browsing with BARBARA

A brand-new item on display this week at Robert's Supply Company, 639 South Mill, are "Homeward" steps, a prefabricated building unit designed to add beauty as well as safety, to the entrances of your home.

Presenting a stone-like appearance, this cement step unit is steel reinforced and really sturdy in construction. "Homeward" steps are available in units of one to six risers, with or without the porch which comes in four, five or six-foot widths. Wrought iron railings may also be purchased to go along with the unit.

If you've got a replacement job to do on those old, worn-out steps and at the same time want to revamp the exterior of your home to give it a more modern, attractive appearance, it'd really be worth your while to stop by Robert's and take a look at these slick, new step units.

Also available at Roberts is a new random-width plywood paneling called "Savannah Oak." This low-cost hardwood wallcovering has been prefinished in a rich, honey tone and requires no additional decoration. It comes in planks 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 inches in width and eight feet long.

"Savannah Oak" paneling can be applied directly to exposed stud walls on new construction or can be used as an economical way of remodeling the older home. Grooved furring stripes and retaining clips make for quick and easy installation of the paneling by the do-it-yourself fan.

Also available are prefinished oak moldings to match the paneling. With the smooth wall surface provided by "Savannah Oak," moldings may be installed direct to the face of the paneling without cracks between moulding and paneling.

Another new paneling worth looking into at Robert's is "Calico," a prefinished wall covering that resembles a textured paper, having a basket-weave appearance. Unlike wallpaper, the paneling will last a lifetime and presents no cleaning problems or danger of being torn by contact with hard objects. "Calico" planks are available in sheets 4x8 12x12 and 16x16.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Question: I intend to color the walks of cement in front of my home, instead of using flagstone, the color will be red. Does this have a tendency to fade even though the walk is on the north side?

Answer: If you use standard cement in place of mortar cement which contains 10% lime, you won't be bothered with color fading. It is the lime, not light, which fades the metallic oxide colors used in cement. If you mix the coloring into the top half inch of cement, the color will last as long as the walk.

Question: If I paint the wood shingles of my barn with used car oil, will it rot the shingles or have some ill effect on them? Is there something I can mix with the oil to act as a preservative?

Answer: We'd advise against the use of car oil at all on wood shingles. This makes a fire hazard greater than the wood shingles unprotected. While the oil will not hurt the shingles, and since it prevents water penetration — it might be considered a preservative. You'd better use the safer creosote stain, linseed oil or even lemon oil with which the hazard of spontaneous combustion is not present.

These Events Were News

50 Years Ago

September 8, 1905

William Sutherland and Miss Augusta Heide were married in Detroit Tuesday and left on their honeymoon for Woodstock and Toronto, Canada. On returning they will be at home in the Jake Streng house, corner Mill and Liberty streets.

A seven pound baby girl made her appearance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Riggs Wednesday morning, and Walter is the happiest man in town.

Allan Geer and Miss Hattie Bassett were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Bassett, at Newburg, yesterday afternoon at four o'clock, by the Reverend H. Goldie.

The school board has purchased a new flag for the school-house flag staff, and Janitor Baker flung the banner to the breeze on Monday for the first time.

MSU Originates "Mobile Homes" Degree Program

Michigan State university next fall will establish the nation's first four-year university program concerned with mobile homes.

The degree program was made possible by a $45,000 grant from the makers and sellers of trailer or mobile homes, members of Mobile Homes Manufacturers association and of Mobile Homes Dealers National association.

The curriculum will be designed to train personnel in manufacturing, distribution and park management phases of the mobile homes industry.

The grant also provides for short courses and workshops to be conducted for personnel now a part of the mobile homes industry. Dr. Alexis J. Panshin, head of the department of agriculture, will be in charge of the program.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

August 31, 1945

Our Lady of Good Counsel church was the scene Saturday morning, August 25, of the nuptial high mass and double-ring ceremony uniting Amalia Zielasko, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zielasko of Newburg, and James P. Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy of Pinckney.

At 7 o'clock Friday evening, August 24, the marriage of Doris E. Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lee, to Private First Class Sydney M. Friday, son of Reverend and Mrs. G. I. Friday of Port Huron, took place in the home of the bride on Dewey street with Reverend Friday performing the double-ring ceremony.

The First Presbyterian church of Northville was the scene Friday evening, August 24, of the marriage of Dormalee Tranbarger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Tranbarger of Conrad, Iowa, and Norwood R. Dickinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Dickinson of Napier road.

A farewell party was given Tuesday afternoon for Elaine Gulden, who will soon move with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Gulden, to Ann Arbor, the hostesses being Dorothy Curtis and Beverly Hokenson in the latter's home.

About 20 guests were entertained last Friday evening at a wedding reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Ulp at their home on Union street for their son, Staff Sergeant Bill G. Young, and his bride who arrived Wednesday from her home in California.

One reason newspaper advertising is better, and more effective, than any other kind is that it is never rammed down your throat; those who read such advertising do so because they want to.

The main trouble with the younger generation is that it has too many contacts with the older generation.

New Books at Dunning Library

Perhaps readers would be interested to know that the library has some 80 magazine publications available for their use.

If you're hobby-minded, there are "Antiques," "Spinning Wheel," "Model Airplane News," and "Flying," to mention a few. Sportsmen can find reading material to their liking in such publications as "Ring" (boxing), "Outdoor Life," "Field and Stream," "Hunting and Fishing," "Nature" and "Sports Illustrated."

Others will find their interest lies along "Design," an art publication; "Etude," for music-lovers; "Theatre Art," "Atlantic Monthly," or "Saturday Review." Planning to redo your home? Good ideas can be had in such magazines as "Homecraft and Homeowner," "House Beautiful," "Living for Young Homemakers" and "Interiors." If it's a household appliance you're buying, you can check the performance of various brands in "Consumer Report."

What's going on in Paris? Take a glance through the French pictorial magazine, "Realities." You won't have any trouble reading it, either, since it's thoughtfully been printed in English.

For young folks there are "Boy's Life," "Child Life," "Jack and Jill," "Junior Natural History," "Seventeen" and "Plays" (skits youngsters can enact).

Women will enjoy such fashion magazines as "Mademoiselle," and "Today's Health."

Other readers will find "Fortune," "Travel," "Inside Michigan," "National Geographic" or "American Heritage" of interest. The latest newspapers, of course, are always available at the library, and you can browse through the "New York Times" or "Christian Science Monitor" while relaxing in one of the library's comfortable chairs.

Just a sprinkling of new books came into Dunning library this week and here they are:

"Small-Fruit Culture" by James Sheldon Shoemaker, a text for instruction and reference, also a guide for field practice to fit the needs of individual gardeners or commercial fruit growers; Elizabeth G. Vining's "The Virginia Exiles," novel about a Quaker group banished from their home during the Revolutionary War.

Also received by Dunning library this week was the 1955-56 bulletin of the University of Southern California, College of Letters, Arts and Sciences. Concluding the shipment was Irvin A. Hermann's "Office Methods, Systems and Procedures."

A smile is a cheap investment, paying a big dividend.

Hitler's Car on Display

Adolph Hitler's personal armored automobile, the "Great Mercedes" will be shown at the Michigan State Fair in Detroit September 2 through 11.

For protection against assassins, the car has bulletproof glass, ½ inch thick armor plate inside the regular heavy body, specially constructed pistol compartments, and a movable metal shield which could be raised or dropped out of sight.

The car is almost 20 feet long, has a capacity of 56 gallons and gets from three to four miles to the gallon.

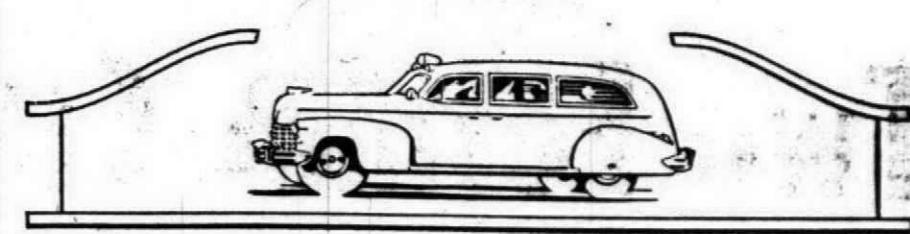

It is easier to get into a war than to get out of it, once entangled, and that little thought is pertinent today.

Two Former City Champs Eliminated from Golf Tourney Play

Medalist Qualifiers Oust Locke, Stephens

Two former city golfing champions were eliminated from further play in the 1955 Plymouth golf tourney last Sunday as the championship flight was reduced to four semi-finalists, including last year's winner, Ralph Lorenz.

At the half-way mark, Lorenz, who nudged Bill Benjamin 1-up, remains as the only previous champion in the field of four. He stands a chance of being the first victor to win the trophy twice in a row since Harper Stephens turned the trick in 1951 and 1952.

The three other semi-finalists are Elwood Russell and Tyler Caplin, who shared qualifying honors two weekends ago, and Jim McAllister, the dark horse, in this year's run for the title.

It was Russell, a 34-year-old Burrough's employee, who KO'd former champ Stephens, as Caplin, 19-year-old college sophomore, completely humbled four-time winner Tom Locke. McAllister managed to oust Jerry Walsh, previously favored by some to go all the way.

The smiling Russell made a story-book come-back to down Stephens. Russell, after enjoying a two-hole lead at the close of the 11th, tossed his advantage away with two successive bogies on the 12th and 13th, while Stephens turned in a birdie and a par.

Previously, Stephens, whose only weakness in an otherwise near-frozen expression was constant gum-chewing and quiet whistling, had run up a two-hole lead in the first five holes and then fell even on the sixth and ninth, when Russell canned birdie putts.

With their match dead-locked coming into the 16th, Russell hashed two shots out of bounds and finally wound up conceding the hole, allowing Stephens a one-up advantage.

Then on the par four 17th, Russell holed out a 90-yard approach for an eagle two to once more bring the match even. On the 18th both men took par fours, although Stephens had a good chance at a bird when his second shot landed nine feet shy of the cup.

In the first over-time hole, Russell drove to the foot of a bushy pine tree, while Stephens wound up three yards short of the green. Russell's second scattered six feet and his chip shot fell twelve feet shy of the pin.

Stephens chipped to within ten feet of the cup and had another excellent chance to close out the match. But Russell, after careful study, canned his long putt for a four and Stephens two-putted by inches to send the match one hole further.

On the elongated 566-yard par five second, both men got off good drives and stood even after their second shots. But Stephens' approach sailed off the left edge of the green and Russell dropped his 15 feet to the right of the pin and on the green.

Stephens, perhaps tiring after nearly 20 holes of high-pressure golf, chipped past the cup by eight feet and Russell putted to within three feet. Stephens' bid for a par rolled high and Russell closed out the match when he canned his short putt.

In the other afternoon round, Caplin versus Locke, the youthful collegian exhibited such torrid putting that Lock never stood a chance despite his consistency. After an opening nine of 33 for a three-up lead, Caplin pressed the advantage by widening his margin to five up and five to go on the 13th. When the two halved 14 their match was ended.

Caplin, on his opening tour, took the first hole, lost to Locke on the second, won the next two and closed with another on the ninth. His 33 could well have been 30 had two birdie attempts and an eagle bid dropped in on the fourth, fifth and sixth.

Locke captured the second hole with a birdie to even the match after two holes and failed to win another. He carded 38 in the first round and stood one over par in his second tour at the close of their match on the 14th.

As Locke was being humbled in the afternoon, Lorenz was hard-pressed to eke out a 1-up victory over scurrying Bill Benjamin in the morning. Benjamin jumped off to a three-hole lead in the first four frames to open what seemed to be a rout of last year's champ.

But Lorenz, only one down when he reached the end of the first round of play, whittled away and finally went one up on the par four 17th when he holed out a 75-foot approach shot. It was a lead that Lorenz did not relinquish. The two men halved the last hole to end their contest.

Lorenz tied together a front-nine 38 and a back-nine 33 for a 71 total while Benjamin, who hustled his way around the par-70 Hilltop layout as quickly as possible, carded a pair of 36's for 72.

Lorenz described the match as "the best one I've ever played in." Both golfers turned in excellent rounds despite the intermittent downpours that shrouded them on and off throughout their morning battling.

The fourth championship flight pairing, which was the other half of the Lorenz-Benjamin foursome, found Jerry Walsh and Jim McAllister locked up in a tightly fought duel. McAllister eventually turned in a victory, two holes up with one remaining.

But his edge came on the wings of a complete blow-up by Walsh, who held a two-up lead going into the 14th. At this point McAllister took 14, 15, 16 and 17 to win going away. Walsh also had enjoyed a two-hole advantage at the end of eight but watched it trimmed by McAllister on the ninth to only a 1-up lead.

McAllister notched 36-36 for 72 while Walsh, recently discharged from the service, carded 37-38 for a 75 total.

In addition to Locke and Stephens, both former finalists, being eliminated in the championship flight, George Todd, who also captured the city championship a few years back, was cut from play in the first flight. Todd was pushed out by Bill Lyon, 1-up in 19 holes.

Play Sunday started off raggedly in the morning due to the rains that fell most of the forenoon. But by the time all the results save those from the Caplin-Locke and Russell-Stephens matches were in, the sun had broken through to allow golfers an ideal afternoon for assault on par at the 6132-yard Hilltop courses.

The day before, Saturday, the field of 48 original qualifiers was pared in half as the contestants plowed through their opening round matches. Eliminations in Saturday's round left 24 golfers to battle Sunday while the division of winners and losers on Sunday cut the list to a total of 12 semi-finalists in the three flights.

Remaining contestants in first flight are Ron Brink, Bill Lyon, Bruce Turnbull and Ed Wingard, while the second flight semi-finalists consist of Larry Jolliffe, Walter Vloch, Ken Olds and Marv Terry.

Results of play on Saturday were:

Davy Crockett Had Nothing On These State Conservationists

Conservation department workers in the upper peninsula wrestled a 315-pound male bear to a standstill last week, weighed him, put a tag on his ear and turned him loose.

To the uninitiated — and practically nobody's had much practice at it — tackling a fighting mad, wild, full-grown black bear isn't quite like fighting a lion with a flyswatter, but there are similarities.

This story started when the Cusino wildlife station learned a "cub" bear was caught in a trap near Grand Marais. A small crew was dispatched to eartag the little fellow and turn him loose as part of the station's continuing bear study.

But when it arrived, the crew found the "cub" had grown considerably. Still, they traveled a long way and now wanted to finish the job.

In the dust and confusion, it wasn't quite clear how it happened, but somehow the critter was hogtied, laid out and finally put to sleep with ether.

Unlike many other animals, bears often don't fight steel traps and are seldom seriously injured when caught. In this case, after his weigh in and tagging, the bruin was released and ambled off to the woods, lugging his deflated ego and woozy from the ether, but otherwise unharmed.

In addition to this bear, 16 others have been captured, tagged, examined and released this year. Most were captured in special steel-culvert live traps that made for easier use of anesthetic and fairly standard handling methods. Two small bears were taken earlier in steel traps.

Of the 17 this year, 14 were males. Five were trapped prior to this year's work. Several of the tagged animals have been bagged by hunters and a few have been retrapped.

The Department learns bear habits, patterns of movement, growth development and other information from the work.

Northville Wins "B" Post-Season Softball Tourney

Northville VFW's softball squad whipped up a decisive 9-5 win over Beglinger Oldsmobile last week to capture the post-season crown in the class "B" Old-timer's play-off. This contest was the final match of the tournament and either team could have won the post-season title as each had been beaten previously.

Northville jumped off to a two run lead in the top of the second when Slessor singled with one out and Meyers drove him home with a sacrifice fly. But Beglinger's regained one of these runs in the bottom half on the wings of J. Petrucci's towering home run blast.

Northville pieced together three hits in the third for another run and Beglingers tied the score 3-all in their half with three more hits good for a pair of tallies. Northville edged out in front again in the fourth with a run via two singles split by a walk.

But the tide was really turned in the top of the fifth by the Northville club, when it chased home three tallies on four base-knocks, all singles. Despite Beglingers' two runs in the bottom of the fifth the game was already decided then. Northville added single insurance runs in both the sixth and seventh.

Winning hurler was Atchinson who went the route and gave up 10 hits. Searfoss was tagged with the defeat as he allowed the VFW club 13 hits and all nine runs.

Meyers paced the attack at the plate with a triple, double and a single, while scoring three runs for the winners. Petrucci's homer and a single later was the best individual contribution at the plate for the losers.

18,748 Attend Swim Program

Attendance figures for the summer swimming program held at the Plymouth high school pool listed a total of 18,748 persons participating in the program, which lasted 48 days over the summer vacation period.

These figures were taken from a report submitted to the board of education by John McFall, in charge of the summer recreation swimming program.

Other statistics indicated that more boys than girls took part in the vacation-long swimming program. The report showed that a total of 10,379 out of the over-all number of participants were boys. The remainder of persons swimming were girls (7,364) and adults (1,013).

The average attendance per day for the 48-day program was 391. This included the persons from both the morning, afternoon and evening gatherings.

One hundred eleven red cross beginner's cards were issued by McFall to youngsters who passed the 75-foot minimum swimming distance. In addition 28 intermediate cards were given out, seven swimmer's cards and six junior life saving cards.

Also many of the youngsters learned to over-come their fear of the water, while many more learned the fundamentals of swimming and others learned to swim a little, but not well enough to be awarded the red cross beginner's cards.

Merchants End Season Action In 7th Place

Rains stopped short all action in the Inter-County baseball league last Sunday as the nine teams were readying themselves for final meetings with each other prior to a post-season play-off.

As a result the standings, with the exception of Northville who perhaps will attempt to move into the top division by playing off one of its rained out contests, are identical to the week previous.

The nine clubs now will do battle in a post-season tourney, which pits top division clubs, those with a 500 average or better, against each other. The lower bracket teams will also meet in a play-off that will determine season end honors. The schedule of games in this play-off has not yet been decided.

Final standings in the Inter-County league are as follows:

TEAM	WON	LOST	PCT.
Garden City	10	2	.833
Allen Park	12	4	.750
Hargraves (Wayne)	10	4	.714
Grandale	9	5	.643
Dietrich (Wayne)	9	6	.600
Northville*	7	8	.466
Plymouth	5	10	.333
Lincoln Park	5	11	.312
Wallaceville	3	12	.200

*Northville may play off one of its rained out league contests this week, as permitted by the league officials, in order to possibly gain a 500 season standing and therefore move into the top division post-season tournament.

Here's why
A SECOND CAR
is a NECESSITY!

For getting children to school there's nothing like having a second car . . . especially when you have little ones or the school is not close by.

To enjoy your hobbies a second car is almost a must. With a second car, the men in the family can go fishing, hunting, golfing—and the girls can go about their activities—without leaving other members of the family stranded without transportation.

In case of an emergency a second car enables you to go wherever you must in a hurry. And it's always a comfort to know your second car is there—just in case.

For grocery shopping, and all other shopping too, how can you manage without a car? A second car lets Mother suit her shopping to her own schedule and convenience.

So the young folks can go, too. Young people have their own friends and interests—which are usually not the same as Mother's and Dad's. With two cars in the family, both youngsters and oldsters can come and go as they wish.

JAMES GALLIMORE, former president of the Plymouth Board of Education, comes up with this safety suggestion. He points out that the base of the railroad signal abatements at Mill and Ann Arbor trail should be re-painted. "The stripes should be drawn to lead the driver AWAY from the signals, rather than inward," he suggests. Sounds reasonable, like vertical stripes on a suit to make a man appear taller!

Tourist Council Disfavors Drop Of License Slogan

Possible elimination of the state's "Water Wonderland" slogan from 1957 auto license plates is being looked upon with disfavor by the Michigan Tourist Council.

Executive Secretary Robert J. Furlong said such action would be premature in light of what other states are doing. He also questioned the current reasoning behind the anticipated move.

"In 1947 when the Council first became interested in having the slogan put on Michigan license plates, only nine other states carried similar promotional material," said Furlong. "A few years before that there were only six. Now there are 22, including Michigan and the District of Columbia, which carry a slogan, picture or some other evidence of state pride."

The slogan question arose recently with the announcement that a committee of experts studying the operations of the Department of State would probably recommend elimination of the slogan from Michigan plates because they will be slightly smaller in the future. It has also been reported that the National Safety Council has urged all states to drop license plate slogans.

According to Furlong, however, a recent letter from General Manager George C. Stewart clearly states that the Safety Council has not made any recommendations on the question of slogans on automobile license plates. Furlong also said that Michigan law enforcement officials have assured him on several occasions that the slogan on present license plates does not hamper identification or other enforcement activities.

Laughter Defined

Pupils (to learned professor)—What causes laughter?
Professor — My boy, a laugh is a peculiar contortion of the human countenance, voluntary or involuntary, superinduced by a combination of external circumstances, seen or heard of a ridiculous, ludicrous, jocular, mirthful, funny, facetious or fanciful nature, and accompanied by a cackle, chortle, cackinnation, giggle, gurgle, guffaw, or roar.

OUTDOOR NOTES From The MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Conservation Department officials say 2300 acres were burned in a two-day forest fire that raged across a four-mile strip of woodland northeast of Grayling recently.

It was the largest fire to hit Michigan in several years and highlighted a tinder-dry, fire-splashed week that wore Department crews and equipment thin.

The fire started on the National Guard artillery range east of Hartwick Pines state park and in short order jumped a plowed fire-line and two truck trails and continued east and south toward the North Branch of the Au Sable River.

Both Department fire officer Robert Erickson of Grayling and a prison inmate helping him were burned on the face and hands when the fire swept over them. The two men were trying to plow a line around the blaze when the incident occurred and their tractor-plow unit was destroyed.

Late the first night, the spread of the fire was stopped with backfires and the following day it was declared under control. All of the burn was contained within the Guard's artillery range and no private or state-owned land was damaged.

U.S. Forest Service and Department crews cooperate closely on such work and in this fire, state officials said Forest Service crews turned in a particularly creditable performance.

During the week, 69 fires burned 388 acres of public and private land. One fire south of Hartwick Pines state park burned 200 acres and fires north of Atlanta and Cadillac were particularly stubborn and hard to control.

Department officials said unless rain relieves the high hazard condition soon, they will ask Governor Williams to issue a proclamation for public and private support of prevention and suppression work.

recently presented Grand Haven state park manager Louis Haney with a resuscitator for summer use on the park beach.

The expensive piece of equipment will be an important emergency aid in case of near-drownings at the state's second most popular park beach.

The apparatus will be stationed at the Grand Haven high school swimming pool during winter months.

Conservation Department director Gerald E. Eddy wrote the club an official letter of appreciation for the public-spirited gesture.

A long-range study of ground water reserves in the upper peninsula, necessary for new cities, industries and conservation work, is now under way.

Conservation Department geologists are cooperating with the U. S. Geological Survey in summarizing and bringing up to date basic information about water availability and potential north of the Straits.

The survey is expected to extend over several years and will be invaluable in the peninsula's long-range economic development.

Research by Michigan's Conservation Department is gaining fame around the world.

Conservationists behind the Iron Curtain in Czechoslovakia, in New Zealand and in distant Thailand have asked for fish research findings of the Department.

Also during the last year, two Australian conservationists visited and studied Michigan installations and at present, a sub-committee from the Florida Legislature is making plans for a similar study-visit.

Records of trout releases made in Michigan lakes in 1954 are available on request from the Conservation Department.

The lake name, location and type of trout released are listed for about 350 lakes throughout the state.

Trout stocking follows about the same pattern each year, so the lists can stand as an approximate guide for releases this year.

A postcard request to the Department's fish division at Lansing 26, will bring the list.

"Findings and Recommendations of the Michigan Natural Resources Conference," a 56-page booklet, is available while the supply lasts from the Conservation Division, Michigan State University.

The booklet sums up the thinking of Michigan's resource leaders who met at Lansing early this year for a two-day, full-dress conference on the state's long-range conservation problems.

Sections on land, water, minerals, recreation, wildlife and wood are included.

The conference and the booklet were sponsored by the state's two universities and the College of Mining and Technology at Houghton.

Here's one for Michigan anglers to shoot at:

A new world's record was reported established recently when an 11-pound, 15-ounce small-mouth black bass was taken on hook and line in a Tennessee lake. The fish was 13 years old and 27 inches in length.

The previous record small-mouth was taken in Alabama and weighed 10½ pounds.

It's pretty hard to realize that summer is over and that schools will open their doors next week. As a matter of fact if our young son hadn't mentioned... "gee, Dad, the summer is almost over and I haven't even been to a lake swimming," we probably wouldn't have given it another thought.

That's all it took and here we are at Bay De Noc in the upper peninsula nearly 500 miles away from Plymouth. The noon weather report from WJR in Detroit says it is 90 degrees there while it is 74 here with a nice wind blowing in off the bay.

We spent the first night at Petoskey where it was brought to our attention so vividly the great fortune Plymouth has in being able to boast of its Bert Lofy, Margaret Stremich and Ralph Lorenz. Though the town has two or three not bad looking restaurants, they certainly are lacking in the courteous attention the above three shower on any of their guests.

For dinner we stood at the cashier's counter at the entrance of one of the restaurants about ten minutes. The place was full except for two single tables for two. After waiting in front of the owner, who was seated on a stool at the cash register, I finally inquired if it might not be possible to put the two tables together so the four of us could be seated. He grudgingly allowed as how he supposed he could do it and slowly left his stool and pushed the two tables together. It was then that we compared Petoskey with Plymouth.

Some twenty minutes later one of the four harassed waitresses made her appearance at the table and, by way of a friendly greeting, I commented to her on how busy the restaurant was and received in reply a most unfriendly, "yeah." Such opening introductions immediately reduce the size of the tip and no one loses but the waitress. Of course the customer loses enthusiasm and, whatever the meal, the zest is lost before even looking at a menu.

On the other hand it would be unfair to this northern city if I failed to mention the Petoskey Motor Court which provides the traveller with as fine overnight accommodations as you can find anywhere in the country. The court is operated by Mr. and Mrs. John Sibolski, the latter being the first World War I bride to enter this country at the close of the hostilities.

Of further interest is the fact that most northern resort operators are having one of their best vacation seasons. In both Petoskey and Manistique local papers and radio stations carried appeals from the Chambers of Commerce to local residents asking for vacant rooms that could be rented to the tourist overflow. All are looking for a terrific influx of visitors over the coming holiday weekend. Reservations should be a must if you are considering a northern visit on Labor Day.

I haven't been in the upper part of the state for several years and I am amazed at the growth that has taken place along the main highways. Blazing the trail of progress are the gas stations, small groceries and eating places, all now spread about three or four miles apart along the main byways.

Everyone here is of the opinion that the new bridge will make a terrific change in the economics of this country. My newspaper friends here tell me land values have more than doubled since the bridge was started and they expect a new era when it is opened in 1957.

This may be true, but a Birmingham banker and a Detroit attorney I talked to on the ferry crossing the Straits each took a different view of the matter. They were of the opinion that traffic would increase after the bridge was open and the natural beauty of the peninsula would slowly give way to commercial development. Both pointed out the fact that for years they had enjoyed the ferry ride of about an hour as it broke up the monotony of the drive from lower Michigan. They may have a point. Alaska is less wild than it was before the Alcan highway, Goose shooting at Canada's Hammond Bay is no longer the great sport it used to be since airlines and railroads both haul hundreds of hunters to the shooting grounds each year, and again, Dakota's pheasant shooting is no longer what it used to be, all because too many people have made it so. At least it will be interesting to watch.

THOUGHTS FOR THE HOLIDAY

Roger Babson

Must Pay for Prosperity Some Day!

Babson Park, Mass., How sound is our present prosperity? How long can it last? These are questions that many readers have recently asked. These readers are, in some instances people who have been buying a great many things on credit, and in other instances small businessmen who wonder how far they should go on expanding. Just How Prosperous Are We? Back in 1929 there were about 10 million radio sets in the U.S.; today there are 125 million. That is more radios than are owned by all the rest of the world. Today 90% of our homes have mechanical refrigeration; back in '29 only 4% of our families had mechanical refrigeration. Today 42% of our population are high school graduates; in 1929 only 13% had high school diplomas. Today we are spending $15 billion for recreation — three times as much as 25 years ago. Today we have 28 passenger cars for every 100 people, compared with 19 per 100 in '29; and the number of cars per family is rapidly increasing. Perhaps most significant of all is the fact that 25 years ago there was some $84 billions of life insurance in force; today the amount has climbed to $285 billions! It is estimated the total income of all Americans exceeds the total combined income of all the 600 million people in Europe and Russia! With less than 7% of the land area of the globe and little more than 6% of the earth's population, we now manufacture about half the world's goods. It looks as if we never had it so good.

What Causes This Prosperity

Our prosperity started from the tremendous pent-up demand for goods and services that followed World War II. Our prosperity could never have since ballooned to its present size had not our government so greatly expanded our national debt by releasing enormous supplies of money. This keeps the economic machine running smoothly, but in turn taxes us all to the teeth. Some economists have said that if we do not want our heavy debt, with both high prices and high wages, then we cannot have full employment and so-called prosperity.

The thing that makes us appear so prosperous is that we are all living off our rich "Uncle," who, in order to keep up appearances and not let us down, has borrowed so heavily. Some day, however, all of us "relatives" will have to chip in to bail Uncle out. By his heavy borrowing, Uncle made it possible for us to buy homes with little or no down payment and with installments running thirty years; to stockpile agricultural surpluses which the farmer can't sell; to build vast new road systems and other public works projects; to provide military expenditures beyond the comprehension of man. Uncle Sam has done all this by borrowing from the future money which he can never repay. He borrows; he spends; he taxes, and then spends it over again. It's a wild merry-go-round.

Will This Prosperity Continue? In 1953, Joseph Dodge, then Director of the National Budget, said that our national prosperity could be likened to the status of a family that had for years lived well beyond its means; had only three times in twenty years provided itself with more receipts than it had spent; had acquired a debt four times its yearly income; and owed more than a year's income on C.O.D.'s that will have to be paid for on delivery. How good would you consider your own financial condition if yours were such a family? This is the condition of the national family of which we are a part.

There is nothing dishonest about this; it can continue to go on for many years more; but some day there can be a collapse. Our prosperity is in part an artificial prosperity, artificial because it is fed by enormous government expenditures. Should the government withdraw the fantastic amounts spent for stockpiling, subsidies, public works, and the like we can be sure our prosperity would wane. On the other hand, if we choose to continue to live on borrowed money, money which our children some day must pay back, we can continue for a while longer to have good times at our children's expense. Some day, sometime, somehow, someone must "go through the wringer." I repeat, this day may be years ahead; but once in a while I do like to remind my readers that this prosperity game cannot last forever.

One question, sometimes controversial, sometimes personal is asked each week by The Mail of four pedestrians along Plymouth's downtown streets. This week's guests are "thinking out loud" on the question:

"Recent crimes of violence in Michigan have again resulted in some public sentiment favoring the death penalty. Do you believe Michigan should have capital punishment?"

ELMER ROMEIS, 429 Ann: "The quicker we get rid of some of these guys, the better off we will be. It doesn't seem to do much good to keep them in prison. Most of them get out on parole and commit crimes again."

MAC DONNELLY, 550 Sunset: "If someone has a son killed, it won't help any to have the criminal killed. On the other hand, it would permanently get them out of the way. I am not sure that capital punishment discourages others. It would a sensible person. No sensible person would run counter to the death penalty."

ROMEIS, DONNELLY, OLIVER, CURTIS
MAXEY OLIVER, 9907 Shadyside, Livonia: "Capital punishment would most likely discourage some potential violent crimes, maybe the big majority. I would like at least to see it tried."

HAROLD CURTIS, 1134 South Harvey: "In New York and Illinois they have capital punishment and they still have crimes. They've been talking about it in Michigan for 30 years, everytime there's a crime wave, it pops up. I don't think I would like to say yes or no before seeing how serious a crime the law would cover. Perhaps better education would prevent these crimes, but there would always be one out of 100 that it would not affect."

Washington Quiz:

- Q—I am the widow of a World War I veteran and have a sixteen-year-old daughter. I have been unable to get a copy of her birth certificate to apply for death pension. My only record is the family Bible which lists the date of her birth and name. Will that be acceptable to the Veterans Administration?
- A—Yes. A copy of the family Bible record certified by a notary public will be satisfactory. The certification should date in what year the Bible was printed, whether there are erasures, and whether he believes the entry was actually written at the time of your daughter's birth.
- Q. What are functions of the Treasury besides collecting taxes?
- A. The Treasury Department established in 1789, besides collection of national revenue, is responsible for narcotic control, operating the Coast Guard, the Secret Service, control of currency, enforcing tariffs and customs.
- Q. Do Indians own reservation lands individually?
- A. No. The Wheeler Act of 1934 abolished allotment of lands to individuals and restored the lands to tribal ownership, and provided for incentive for development of tribal organizations.
- Q. What agencies have control of the country's public lands?
- A. The Department of Interior and the Forest Service in Department of Agriculture.

Labor Day

Though Labor Day is one of our most widely observed holidays, few people know how the day's observance originated.

The observance was first suggested by Peter J. McQuire in 1882. McQuire was President of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, and he proposed that Labor should select a day for a parade to show its strength and spirit. He suggested also that the parade be followed by a picnic and festival.

McQuire argued that there was no general observance of a day commemorating the spirit of industry and toil in America, and it was that spirit which made the country great. He said there were representative holidays for religious, civil and military occasions, but none which recognized the spirit of labor.

The first state to formally recognize Labor Day was Oregon, which, on February 21, 1887, set apart the first Monday in September as a State holiday in honor of labor. Not long after this action by Oregon, Colorado, Massachusetts, New Jersey and New York followed suit. By 1884, the day was a legal holiday in some thirty states and, in June, of 1884, Congress recognized Labor Day as a legal holiday in the District of Columbia and in the territories.

Labor Day is now observed in every state and falls on the first Monday in September. It is generally considered the last holiday of summer and falling on Monday, it always provides a long weekend for workers in metropolitan areas to get away from the cities.

This year Labor Day falls on September 5th, a day or so later than usual. It is encouraging to note, in observing this day in 1955, that labor in America has reached a point of achievement matched in no other country, both in terms of wages, buying-power and working conditions.

Getting Things Done

There are two ways to get things done. One is through the use of force, coercion and threats. The other is to offer incentive and high hopes. A good example of these diametrical opposites is found in oil production in this country as contrasted with Russia.

Searching for oil is a long-shot proposition. The great majority of wells drilled in new territory turn out dry and worthless. One Texas oilman has actually sunk 196 dry holes in a row. But he's still working and still hoping. For, if the dream of a big strike is realized, he'll be able to reap a good profit in return for the time and money and labor he expended, and the risks he freely took.

In Russia, according to a Soviet geologist who escaped to this country, it's a criminal offense to fail to strike oil. Under Soviet law, a geologist who brings in a dry hole can be, and sometimes is, packed off to forced labor in Siberia.

How do these two systems of getting results work out, comparatively speaking? Here's the answer: American oil men produce close to 6,500,000 barrels of crude oil daily to Russia's 1,000,000 barrels. Putting it another way, we produce 46.3 per cent of the world's oil, while Russia together with all her satellites produces only 11.5 per cent.

You can make a man work by putting a gun in his back—but you'll always get minimum results. Prison labor is less productive than free labor. And that's why an economic system based on free enterprise—on getting results by voluntary action spurred by inducements—is always far more productive than a system based on the power of government to order men and women about.

Making Comeback

According to Representative Bonner of North Carolina, chairman of the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, "Seventy-five per cent of our American-flag fleet will be economically used up by 1965 and the problem of replacing it is one of the most pressing that faces our nation today."

Government and private enterprise have joined to deal constructively with that problem. Six American-flag steamship companies are taking the first step in a vast replacement program that over the next few years will result in expenditures of $3,000,000,000 on new ships and the creation of some 500,000 man-years of employment. This, according to the Committee of American Steamship Lines, is the largest peacetime ship replacement program in our history. In all, some 16 American-flag lines will participate.

Of the $3,000,000,000, about 60 per cent will be furnished by steamship companies and about 40 per cent by government under construction differential payments to shipyards and shipyard labor. Government enters the picture because of the importance of the merchant marine to commerce and national defense—and because the cost of building and operating ships is far higher here, largely as a result of labor costs, than in the foreign maritime nations which compete with us for cargos.

The U. S. has dropped to 10th place among world shipbuilding nations. It's good news that we're starting back up the ladder.

Ballots Bother State Parties

Politicians are already getting that edgy feeling about 1956 and their fates in Michigan.

Presidential and state ballots, separated years ago, are joined again; a situation of much importance in close elections.

Republicans were behind the separation move long ago when Democratic candidates were riding high on the popularity of Franklin D. Roosevelt. They denied politics in the maneuver, however. So did Democrats who fought the change while cashing in on FDR's appeal.

"We honestly felt that it would be fairer if each candidate stood on his own feet," said Senator Clyde H. Geerling (R-Holland). After the Republicans took over the national administration behind the popular President Eisenhower, the ballots in Michigan were again merged.

Again, Republicans, many of whom supported the merger, denied political motives and the advantages of a popular president were the reasons. Some said it would be more economical to print the merged ballot.

Democrats, finding the political shoe on the other foot, are leery in some quarters and downright suspicious in others. They are working hard for a return to the White House in 1956 and would like to hold the state capital.

But they are asking themselves what will happen if a popular GOP president carries the state, piling up votes for a Republican candidate for governor and the rest of his slate. Williams held his own four years ago despite the national sweep for Eisenhower.

Still no word from Williams on his personal plans for 1956 and the signs are still vague.

Two years ago, when the speculation was he would run for the U. S. Senate, the governor waited until the last minute, then announced that his "job as governor is not completed."

It cleared the air, but some seers say it was irritating to have to wait so long for other potential Democratic candidates.

As it turned out, Williams won again, carrying with him the entire slate of candidates, including Senator Patrick V. McNamara, the second-choice candidate after Blair Moody's death.

If Williams waits that long again to decide to go for a national office, he may face trouble with the state organization. But after eight years, maybe the philosophy is, as one party leader stated: "The champ can do no wrong."

Judicial reform is in the air again.

Organized attorneys in statewide and Detroit groups are pitching for the Michigan modification of the "Missouri Plan" for selecting judges.

It works this way: A committee composed of three lawyers, three laymen and one justice of the Michigan Supreme Court, would submit a list of three candidates to the governor. He would pick one for each vacancy.

At the end of a judge's term — six years for circuit and eight for Supreme Court — he would run against his record, with the question put to voters whether he should be retained.

A group in Detroit is already working on a petition to place the issue on the ballot.

The groups cite the obvious political implications of nominating a Supreme Court candidate at state political conventions and the pressures that may or may not follow a man into office.

On the circuit court level, they claim it would be easier to "retire" an aging circuit judge under the plan.

Whatever the benefits or drawbacks, the experts foresee a day when the long-sought program will be adopted in Michigan.

Debt managers will be investigated by a three-member senate committee this fall.

The move for greater controls over one of the relatively new phases of modern finance developed in the legislature during the 1955 session.

Senator William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) was one of the leaders in the campaign.

His idea was that a few out-of-state loan sharks were giving legitimate agencies a bad name by charging exorbitant interest and in some cases, running out with their clients' money.

Debt managers offer to lump the debts of their clients into one sum, enabling the client to pay to only one creditor. It has the attraction of convenience.

Three senators are doing the spade work and promise to come up with new legal controls for the function next year when the legislature convenes.

Committee members are Broomfield and Senators John B. Swainson (D-Detroit) and Lynn O. Francis (R-Midland).
