

Open Lutheran Church Sunday

Dedicatory services for the new St. Peter's Lutheran church, Penniman avenue at Garfield, will begin with a formal door-opening ceremony this Sunday morning at 9:45 o'clock. The impressive edifice of early American style is one of the first churches built within the city for a number of years.

Following the outside service, the assembled congregation will be admitted to the church proper for the dedicatory service at 10 o'clock. The Reverend Edgar Hoenecke, pastor of the church for 26 years, will officiate at both services. Delivering the dedicatory message will be the Reverend Karl Krauss of Lansing. Richard Scharf will be at the organ.

A children's service will be held at 3 p.m. at which the pastor's father, Professor O. J. R. Hoenecke of Saginaw, will speak on the importance of the church among children and young people. Robert Bartel will be organist at this service.

An evening song service beginning at 7:30 p.m. will mark the dedication of the new church organ and bells. Several numbers will be played by Edgar Backer of Saginaw and choral numbers will be sung by the combined Lutheran choirs of neighboring churches. Reverend Theodore Sauer of Livonia will deliver a short address on the place and value of music in the Christian church.

The new structure is the climax of a major expansion and relocation program begun in 1942 with the purchase of three lots for the new site. In 1945 the members undertook the building of the Lutheran Day School, largely with volunteer labor. The school now has an enrollment of 100 children.

On March 21, 1954, the school mortgage was formally burned. On July 13 of the same year, the congregation resolved to build the new church immediately, authorizing the floating of a bond issue not to exceed $200,000. The performance of the members was so good that in spite of the costs of $254,000, not all of the bond issue has had to be sold.

The ground breaking ceremony took place on August 15 of last year and the cornerstone laying on October 31.

The church auditorium has a capacity of 550. Of this number the main floor will hold 450 and the balcony 100. The choir and the organ will be in the balcony.

Rift oak furnishings and a burgundy color carpet add to the beauty of the interior. Besides the main auditorium, the main floor contains the sacristy and vestry rooms. Above these are the publications room and a file room. The basement includes a large fellowship room, which can be subdivided for Sunday school classes, a kitchen, ladies lounge, (Continued on Page 8)

Opening of Bank Branch Attracts Many Visitors

Several hundred friends and customers visited Plymouth's newest and most modern banking office, the Ann Arbor road-Harvey office of the National Bank of Detroit, during open house last Thursday.

Manager Roland R. Bonamici, assisted by a group of young bank girls, was host. Visitors were particularly interested in the drive-in banking service where customers can take care of routine banking quickly without leaving their cars. They also showed interest in the large safe deposit vault and the large paved parking lot.

Other features of the new bank include five inside customer windows, a spacious lobby and management area, fluorescent lighting and air conditioning.

The outside is of contemporary design, finished in red brick. The interior woodwork is natural birch and the walls are in soft pastel shades, with mat-hung drapes at the picture windows. The grounds will be fully landscaped.

Banking hours will be the same as the downtown office, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and until 6 p.m. on Fridays.

Commenting on the new office, Floyd Kehrl, vice-president in charge of the bank's Plymouth-Livonia operations, said, "National Bank of Detroit is playing an important part in the steady development of Plymouth and we will continue to do all we can to encourage the continued balanced growth of this fine community."

Opening of the Ann Arbor road-Harvey office completes three major projects undertaken by National Bank of Detroit during the past year. The office at 306 South Main street was recently enlarged and modernized and the bank building on Penniman avenue was remodeled to house the Instaloan department.

Five communities have participated in the financial campaign to build the $2,500,000 structure at Five Mile and Levan roads in Livonia. It would serve Farmington, Livonia, Northville, Farmington and Redford township. Plymouth is leading all others in pledges, the report indicates.

Of the 578 Plymouth donors, $85,047 has been pledged and $51,886 has been paid in cash. The total amount received in pledges is $327,089; in cash, $170,122. There have been a total of 1,717 pledges.

Pledges and cash paid in other communities are:

Farmington, $56,613 pledged, $24,291 paid, 266 pledgers; Livonia, $64,229 pledged, $26,298 paid, 608 pledgers; Northville, $27,857 pledged, $12,023 paid, 183 pledgers; Redford township and Detroit area, $32,610 pledged, $15,862 paid, 24 pledgers.

In addition, friends of the Felician Sisters have pledged $10,721 paid $9,970. The Felician Sisters order itself has pledged $50,000 and paid $29,790. This is in addition to the $80,000 tract of land donated and expenses of $37,000.

The financial drive for the 100-bed hospital opened two years ago. Sister Mary Columbine states that "The preparation of this financial report to the friends of St. Mary Hospital is a welcome task for it provides me with an opportunity of giving you the information I know you want. It will no doubt clear up many questions you may have concerning the financial status of the hospital project."

"I hope that the periodical reports we shall issue from our office in the future," the administrator continued, "will become a two-way affair in which we tell our friends what is being done and they in turn tell us what we can improve."

In expressing her gratitude for the gifts in the past, Sister Mary Columbine stated that "I count on their continuing financial and moral support to bring about the affairs of St. Mary Hospital to the announcement of its beginning date."

There have been $17,936 worth of expenses connected with the hospital drive so far. These expenses include brochures, sal-

St. Mary Hospital Issues Financial Report to Public

A total of $497,211, or about one-fifth of the money needed to construct the proposed St. Mary Hospital, has been pledged or received in cash, according to a financial report issued this week by Sister Mary Columbine, the hospital's administrator.

9 Streets to Get Seal Coat Paving

Nine Plymouth streets are in line for paving after a contract for $10,615 is signed with the Detroit Concrete Paving company.

The paving will be with the seal coat and chip process with which many streets were paved last year. This type of paving is considered "temporary" by the city and is not assessed to the property owners.

The seal coat process is applied mostly to unpaved streets. Streets scheduled for the coating are: Blanche from Adams to Sheldon.

Ross from Harvey to Lincoln. Hartsough from Harvey to Lincoln.

Forest from Wing to Sutherland. Farmer from C & O railroad to Starkweather.

Fairground from Ann Arbor trail to Fair street.

Harding from Edison to Burroughs.

All Riverside Cemetery drives. Streets in Garling Subdivision No. 2.

City commissioners approved the Detroit Concrete Paving company's bid at Tuesday night's meeting.

ITS TALL SPIRE gleaming in the sunlight, St. Peter's Lutheran church is opening its doors for worship this Sunday morning. The day school, located next door, was built 10 years ago.

Symphony Joins Groups Planning Observance of UN Anniversary

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, celebrating its 10th anniversary this season, will pay tribute at its first program on Sunday, October 16 to another organization with a 10th birthday — the United Nations.

Many other local organizations are also making plans to observe the UN anniversary with special programs. Representatives of all interested groups are to meet with the UN 10th Anniversary Committee at the high school on Tuesday, September 13 at 7:30 p.m.

Conductor Wayne Dunlap has announced that the first program will be of the international level and music will be on the themes of human brotherhood and freedom.

Speaking during the intermission will be Dr. Robert C. Angell, sociology professor at the University of Michigan and formerly active in UN activities.

About 30 organizations have signified their intentions to send representatives to the September 13 meeting. The 10th Anniversary Committee was appointed during the summer by Mayor Russell Daane. An All-City program will be discussed and progress reports will be heard from the fraternal, service and religious organizations. The theme of the week will be "The United Nations Works for You."

Any group not already contacted is being urged by the committee to attend the meeting. On the steering committee are:

Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister; Reverend M. I. Johnson, president of the Ministerial association; Father Francis

Area Holiday Weekend Free of Fatalities

Unlike a year ago when four Plymouth area people died in Labor Day weekend mishaps there were no local fatalities this past weekend.

Although the warning to be careful was seemingly heeded by everyone last weekend, Chief of Police Kenneth Fisher is extending his warning this week as schools start.

"We promise to be rough on fast drivers," the chief declared. Close checks will be kept of traffic near schools.

No major mishaps occurred in the Plymouth area over the weekend, according to reports from the police department and the Wayne County sheriff's office. Last year two men died in auto accidents and two young women drowned.

Signs 3,000 Times, Gets $3,000,000

The Plymouth Township School system now has the $3,000,000 with which to build its new schools, but it took 3,000 signatures by two school board members to get the money.

Board President Carl Caplin, Secretary Esther Hulsing and Treasurer Warren Smith had to fly to Chicago to complete the transaction with Halsey, Stuart & Company, Inc., purchasers of the bonds. Each of the 3,000 bonds of $1,000 denomination required the signatures of the board president and secretary.

It sounded like an all-day job, but the bonding company made it easy with two machines with which the Plymouthites could sign 18 bonds at a time. The task required about one and a quarter hours.

Handed a $3,000,000 check, the trio flew back home without any fear of robbery. "Who would be able to cash a check for $3,000,000 without suspicion?" Caplin declared.

The money now rests safely in the Michigan National Bank of Flint.

Gift to Complete Land Acquisition For Parking Lot

A $500 gift from the National Bank of Detroit will clear the way for development of the East Central parking lot from the rear of the Penn Theatre to Dodge street.

City commissioners accepted the gift at their Tuesday night meeting. It will be used to purchase the rear portion of a parcel owned by Claude Buzzard, 233 South Main street, the last piece of land needed to develop the parking area.

The city has been offering no more than 50 cents a square foot for properties to develop the lot. Several property owners asked for more and some businessmen have made contributions to make up the difference.

Work has already begun to clear off some of the properties. Consulting Engineer Herald Hamill has been hired to draw up plans for a drainage system which will cost an estimated $9,000.

In other business before the commission, a new three-wheeled motorcycle is being purchased for the police department. The 1950 model now in use was purchased second-hand for $750 and has been in use four years.

The Harley-Davidson company submitted the only bid for a new cycle. They asked $1,500 for a radio-equipped cycle minus trade-in. The bid was approved.

Commissioners also approved the bid of the Utility Installation company of Clawson to construct a water main from the city to the proposed elementary school on Sheldon road. Their bid was $20,567.

A letter was read from the Chamber of Commerce which thanked him for his efforts and equipment which provides music in Kellogg park. The city and Chamber cooperated in the project and the judge loaned his technical knowledge as well as some equipment.

Settle Strike Quickly At Champion Plant

The strike by seven foremen and three office girls at Champion Corrugated Container corporation on Sheldon road last week was short-lived. According to Plant Manager John McFaid, work was back to normal this week and the company's stand was adhered to.

The trouble arose over the company's dismissal of one office employee and two foremen. Plant workers, members of the United Paper Workers of America, CIO, ignored the strikers' picket line and the union headquarters agreed with the company's position in the dispute.

South Side of Penniman Ave., Other Areas Also Restricted

Six parking limitations—including no parking on Main street from Penniman avenue to Mill street—were announced Tuesday night to city commissioners by Chief of Police Kenneth Fisher. The other five are:

It's S-Day For Area's Youngsters

This is it — S-Day.

That means school day for those not in the know. Sidewalks are again full of youngsters trekking back to the halls of learning and busses are again making their rounds.

There are an estimated 3,800 boys and girls in the Plymouth Township School District today, but an accurate count won't be available until early next week. That amount of pupils is a few hundred more than will attend Michigan State Normal school this year.

Congresswoman Martha Griffiths was the speaker Tuesday morning when over 140 teachers attended the general session of the Pre-School Conference at the high school. She spoke on "Atoms for Peace" and related her experiences at the Nevada A-bomb tests. She also showed movies of the blast.

Superintendent Russell Isbister and Board President Carl Caplin both extended their greetings to the faculty. New teachers from each school were introduced by the principals. Earl Gibson, president of the Plymouth Education association, also addressed the group. A luncheon was served at the high school cafeteria at noon. Teachers then went to their individual schools for more conferences.

The Lutheran Day school opened its doors yesterday while Our Lady of Good Counsel opens today.

Police Seek Thirsty Thief

Anyone found staggering down the street may be just the person police are looking for this week. They are seeking a thirsty thief who entered a Holbrook avenue home sometime over the holiday weekend and took five bottles of liquor.

The theft took place at the Everett Ervin home, 323 North Holbrook. Entrance was gained through a bedroom window. The visitor ignored money but carried away three one-fifths and two half pints of spirits.

The heaviest traffic loads come between 9 and 10 a.m., and 3 and 5 p.m. Between 4 and 5 p.m. on Saturday there were 2,779 cars on the street.

Traffic counts were also made at Main and Fralick avenue and at Main and Amelia street.

1. No parking on the south side of Penniman from Main to Harvey.

2. No parking on the west side of South Main from Wing street to Brush street.

3. No parking on north side of Union street from North Main to Daisy Manufacturing.

4. One-hour parking on both sides of Amelia from North Main to Blanche and from North Main to Rose.

The six restrictions will go into effect as soon as signs are erected. The chief of police has permission to erect any type of traffic and parking signs throughout the city but the city commission can ask for signs to be removed after 30 days of trial.

Two of the seven commissioners appeared not in accord with several of the chief's recommendations. Commissioner Marvin Terry said that as a businessman he would not favor banning of parking on Main street from Penniman to Mill or on Penniman from Main to Harvey.

Commissioner Harold Guenther said that he would like to see some facts to back up the need for some of the parking limitations.

The Main street parking restriction has been a controversial subject ever since the improvement project began. Several businessmen along the route have stated their objections to a parking ban due to the lack of off-street parking facilities.

Some businessmen are also expected to protest the no parking along the south side of Penniman avenue from Main to Harvey.

Results of a traffic survey made at three points along Main street from Penniman to Mill have been released by Chief Fisher. The survey was made from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 18, 19 and 20. Southbound and northbound traffic was measured separately.

In front of city hall, total traffic on Thursday was 13,552, Friday it was 17,335 and Saturday, 19,269. An average of over 1000 cars an hour moved past the check point. Chief Fisher said that when the new traffic check was compared with a check made two years ago by the AAA, there are over 100 more cars an hour on the street.

Traffic counts were also made at Main and Fralick avenue and at Main and Amelia street.

Beware of Main Street Speeding

Widening and paving of Main street has made driving a great deal smoother, but the police department is attempting to keep it from becoming faster too.

With the aid of their electric timing device, police issued 15 tickets for speeding on two days last week. The electric timer was purchased over a year ago but has not been put to too much use. Chief of Police Kenneth Fisher hopes to use the device more than ever and is warning drivers that speed checks will be constantly made.

Plymouth's 25-mile-an-hour speed limit has been almost forgotten by some drivers when they get on the new asphalt Main street. There is no indication from city hall that greater speeds will be allowed on the street.

Last week's speed checks were made both on North and South Main streets. The timing device measures the car's speed from one point to another and records it on a clock-like instrument. Within an instant police are able to tell how fast a car is traveling and can radio to a patrol car down the street to halt the speeding vehicle.

MARY STROUD'S letter to The Mail last week brought quick results and a happy ending to her sad story. Twelve-year-old Mary lost her much-prized bicycle when it was stolen from her home at 653 South Harvey street. In a note to The Mail she urged the thief to return it because her father had passed away this year and there wasn't money enough to purchase a new bicycle. An alert official of Evans Products company immediately sent Mary a brand new Evans-Coison bicycle, which she is shown happily receiving from Bruce Kidston, employee of the local firm.

Kimbrough - Horan Ceremony Read at First Baptist Church

Before baskets of white gladioli and candelabra which decorated the altar of the First Baptist Church, Plymouth, Miss Coralee Patricia Horan exchanged marriage vows with Edwin Lee Kimbrough at a candlelight ceremony held Friday evening, September 2.

Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Horan of Higginsville, Missouri and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lee Kimbrough, former Plymouth residents now living in Van Buren, Arkansas.

Garden Club Meets Tuesday

The Rosedale branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden association will hold its first meeting of the season on Tuesday, September 13, at 1:15 p.m. in the community room of First Federal Savings and Loan association, Sheldon center.

Mrs. Leslie Daniels, membership chairman, will welcome new members and guests.

Mrs. Earl O'Harra, program chairman, announced that Mrs. A. T. M. Peterson will be in charge of a Flower Show for this meeting. Entries will be limited to members only, and arrangements may consist of fresh or dried material, also miniature arrangements.

Tea will be served by Mrs. James Lynch and Mrs. Charles Cook.

her father, wore a ballerina-length gown of white nylon lace over taffeta and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her fingertip veil of illusion was secured by a tiara of nylon net and chantilly lace.

Miss Joyce Horan of Higginsville, Missouri was the bride's only attendant. She wore a salmon pink taffeta gown of ballerina-length with white accessories and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Donald Kimbrough assisted his brother as best man. Ushers were Charles Arnold and Marvin Cranford, both of Plymouth.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Horan chose a navy blue, taffeta dress with ping accessories and corsage of pink gladiolus. The bridegroom's mink selected a powder-blue lace dress with pink accessories and yellow gladiolus corsage.

The reception, held at the Kimbrough home, 607 South Main, was attended by many out-of-town guests including those from Iowa, Missouri and Arkansas.

A navy blue suit with white accessories was chosen by the new Mrs. Kimbrough as her going-away outfit. A visit to Niagara Falls, New York and tour of Canada was planned for the wedding trip.

The couple will make their home at 607 South Main street.

The bride is a graduate of Lexington (Missouri) high school, class of 1955. The bridegroom attended grade schools in Plymouth and graduated this June from Wentworth Military academy in Lexington, Missouri. He is presently employed at the Ford transmission plant in Livonia.

Couple Marks Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William Sutherland of 1142 South Main celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Monday, September 5. The day was quietly spent in visiting with relatives and friends who called to congratulate the couple.

Several beautiful bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums and yellow roses were presented the Sutherlands in honor of the occasion. Light refreshments were served.

PLANNING THE ANNUAL luncheon, card party and bazaar to be sponsored by Pilgrim Shrine No. 55 next week is this trio composed of (l. to r.) Who's New in Plymouth

ARCHERY ENTHUSIAST. Roy Alford, Jr. displays some of his hobby gear, a 28-pound target and hunting bow, to members of the family as they relax in their new home at 15120 Bradner road. Enjoying the demonstration are the 8-year-old's parents and grandfather. Originally from Harlan, Kentucky, the Alford family moved to Plymouth in July. Mr. Alford is employed at the Ford Transmission plant in Livonia. His wife will teach third-grade at Cooper school in Garden City this fall.

Schooner J. T. Wing Scheduled For Final Closing October 30

The Schooner J. T. Wing, which for six years has been the home of the Museum of Great Lakes History, a branch of the Detroit Historical Museum, will be closed to visitors after October 30, it was announced this week by Henry D. Brown, director of the Detroit Historical Museum. The next two months will probably be the last chance for Plymouthites to visit this, the last sailing schooner on the Great Lakes.

The Wing has served as a Museum since July 2, 1949, after the ship was donated to the City by Grant H. Piggott, of the J. T. Wing Company, and Joseph Braun, of the Braun Lumber Company. Over 350,000 Detroiters and tourists have visited this Museum of Great Lakes History. To operate another season, extensive repairs would be needed.

The Wing has had a long and interesting career. She was built in 1919 at Weymouth, Nova Scotia, and her first name was the Charles F. Gordon.

According to Captain Joseph E. Johnston, Curator of the Museum of Great Lakes History, she began her eventful life by sailing the Atlantic Coast to the coast of Florida. Here she kept alive, along with other ships the old sailing days when adventurous men sailed around Florida, Cuba and the Bahamas.

"On the night of March 12, 1923," Captain Johnston declared, "She ran aground on the Island of Key Sal in the Bahamas. She was declared a total loss," the Captain continued.

The injured ship was sold to J. O. Webster, of Miami, Florida for $450. Webster towed the ship to Miami with his small salvage vessel, the Salvor. She was re-rigged and renamed the J. O. Webster. She carried cement and lumber up and down the gulf coast and for awhile brought material for bridges which were being constructed at the Florida Keys.

Proposals are under consideration by the Detroit Historical Commission for a permanent Museum of Great Lakes History on the present site of the Wing. A committee of citizens interested in the Great Lakes and her shipping has been suggested by organizations concerned with Marine history and activities.

In 1925, the Wing was sold to Alexander, Lewis and Stockwell, of Boston. While under the company's ownership, tragedy rode in the wake of a storm off Cape Cod when the Webster lost three of her original six crew members. According to newspaper accounts, Captain Beryn Bradford, Master of the ship, was forced to watch his son drown in the wild windswept sea.

Working out of New York and Boston, the ship became a familiar sight along the eastern sea coast, until she ran aground for the second time at Norwalk Island, Connecticut. She was sold to the United States Marshall for the price of the repair bill.

In 1935, the old Webster was bought by Grant H. Piggott. She was renamed the J. T. Wing in honor of Jefferson Thurber Wing, who was president of the J. T. Wing company and a business associate of Piggott.

From 1936 to 1943, she served on the Great Lakes and for the most part carried lumber and logs except for two years, 1937 and 1938, when she sailed under the name of the Oliver H. Perry and was a Sea Scout training ship.

In 1943, the Wing came to an end of her sailing days on the Great Lakes. She had only one voyage after that, when on July 24, 1948, Detroit's birthday, she was taken to what has become her last resting place, the south shore of Belle Isle.

OBITUARY

Joseph Grammel Services were held at 1 p.m. Tuesday in the Schrader Funeral home for Joseph Grammel, retired farmer of this area, who passed away Friday, September 2, at his home on 50875 Proctor road, Ypsilanti.

Mr. Grammel was born in Germany on May 12, 1866. His wife, Lottie, preceded him in death on September 10, 1949.

Four children survive: William Grammel and Mrs. Ruth Gardner, both of Plymouth; Spencer Grammel of Ypsilanti and Mrs. Louise Tillman of Mt. Clemens, also five grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

The Reverend Melbourne I. Johnson officiated at the services for Mr. Grammel. Pallbearers were Sylvester Shear, Edward Maas, Walter Hesse, Gus Petoskey, Herman Nankee and Victor May. Interment was in Grandlawn cemetery, Detroit.

Most forest fires now are caused by smokers and trash burners, says Linton Carter of the forestry department at Michigan State University.

PLYMOUTHITES USED Plymouth products at the National Rifle association matches at Camp Perry, Ohio. Several dozen Plymouth Junior Police and their advisors visited the match to see how the nation's best shoot. While there, they visited the Daisy Manufacturing company's exhibit and tried out some of their air rifles.

Fred Palmer Dies Suddenly

A heart ailment caused the sudden death of Fred Palmer, 5777 Beck road, one of the oldest active farmers in the Plymouth area. He was 78.

His death came at midnight last Friday, September 2, at his home. Mr. Palmer was recently the subject of a Plymouth Mail article which told of his active farm life in Canton township through the years. He has specialized in garden and dairy farming.

Born on November 13, 1876 in Canton township, he was the son of George and Maria Suggitt Palmer. He was united in marriage on November 9, 1898 to Odelia M. Palmer, who died on July 11 of last year.

Surviving are three children, Warren Palmer, Mrs. Gladys Salley and Theron Palmer, all of Plymouth; two sisters, Mrs. Stella Dickerson of Wayne and Mrs. Florence Jenks of Jackson; six grandchildren and four great

Former Plymouth Businessman Can Now Rate As Authority in Field of Sweet Potato Growing

A former Plymouth appliance dealer who moved to an Arkansas farm three years ago — but knew nothing about farming — returned here for a visit last week bearing the reputation of being "sweet potato king" of his state.

He is Richard Kimbrough, better known as "Dick" to Plymouthites. Three years ago he decided to leave his Plymouth business and return to his birthplace near Van Buren, Arkansas (Bob Burns country). With his son, Donald, they purchased a farm. "Not knowing anything about farming, we decided to specialize in something because we couldn't quickly learn how to grow every crop," Dick explained.

Their area had once been a sweet potato growing center, but it had died out about 15 years ago. So the father and son decided to learn everything they could about sweet potatoes. They traveled to nearly every university in the south where sweet potato experiments were carried on. They read literature.

At the University of Oklahoma they discovered a new "all gold" sweet potato "with nut brown jacket and deep color flesh." Unlike the common Puerto Rican sweet potato which requires aging before eating, the all-gold can be eaten right away.

The crops during their first two years were a success. Soon, nearby farmers who had been tilling the soil all their lives were asking the Kimbroughs about their techniques. "Imagine them consulting us," Dick asserted.

Irrigation is one secret of their success. About 100,000 gallons of water are used in 24 hours. In case the mountain stream should dry up, the Kimbroughs have built a five acre lake up to 27 feet deep "just for insurance."

They now have 50 acres of sweet potatoes under cultivation, which would be equal in work to something like 400 acres of another crop. It takes 12,000 plants, individually set, for one acre.

One of the big markets the Kimbroughs have are the Kroger stores of Missouri. Some are also shipped into Kansas and Oklahoma. Now, Plymouthites will be able to eat Kimbroughs' new sweet potatoes at Stop & Shop market which has placed an order.

Dick wastes no time in calling on his buyers. He has owned a three passenger plane for several years and uses this almost exclusively to call on his trade. The plane has its own hanger and landing strip on their Arkansas farm.

SWEET POTATOES grown by a former Plymouthite, Dick Kimbrough, right, will soon go on sale at Stop and Shop market. Joseph Rucker, one of the market's owners, examines one of Kimbrough's samples.

Your felt hat can be blocked into a new shape. Because commercial hat blocks are hard to buy try using a saucepan, mixing bowl or flower pot. If it does not measure the correct headsize (usually 21-22½ inches) pad it with strips of cotton cloth. Be sure the padding is smooth and firm, say clothing specialists.

A successful person always encounters petty jealousies, especially among his childhood acquaintances.

Home Gardeners "Harvest Show" Set for Weekend

Members of the Livonia Home Gardeners club invite fellow gardeners in and around Livonia to enter and visit their Harvest Show this Saturday, September 10, in the Bentley high school.

Juniors up to 15 years of age are eligible to participate and win prizes. The schedule in the Young Farmers class of this division is the same as the one set up for adults which includes almost every known vegetable.

Young homemakers are invited to make entries of canned fruits, pickles, vegetables, jellies and jams in the junior division.

For children with imagination, there is a section of the program of exhibits where they can show vegetables or fruits which resemble animal forms. Boys can enter bugs as a collection to be judged.

The adults have set up some very interesting classes for themselves. At the end of the vegetable section is a class for a collection of vegetables in a garden hat and a non-competitive class for an exhibit of freak vegetables or oddities.

Other adult horticultural sections have been set up for fruits, canning, annuals, hardy perennials, roses, dahlias and house plants.

There will also be an arrangement section for both adults and juniors.

There is no admission charge to the show, which will be open from 2 to 8:30 p.m.

General chairman of the event is Mrs. A. Ruckstahl, Jr. of Livonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Honey of Detroit and Mrs. Henry Fisher were Monday guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Honey of Adams street.

Great Features back up Chevrolet Performance: Anti-Dive Braking—Ball-Race Steering—Outrigger Rear Springs—Body by Fisher—12-Volt Electrical System—Nine Engine-Drive Choices in all models—and, finally, the great scientific, technical and engineering resources of General Motors.

A lightning-quick power punch that makes your driving safer! That's one of the reasons for Chevrolet's winning stock car record—but it's not the only one. Not by a long shot!

Astonishing performance—the sizzling acceleration of Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8"—it takes that to win stock car races. But it takes a lot more besides. Cornering and handling qualities really count on the NASCAR® Short Track circuit where Chevrolet's king—just as they count for safer and more pleasant highway driving. And even the high-priced cars don't slice through a tight turn as neatly—or handle as sweetly—as this beauty. The record proves it! Ron Brink, Marv Terry Earn First, Second Flight Honors

Lorenz Defends Championship Against McAllister in Finals

First and second flight champions in the annual Plymouth city golf tournament were decided last weekend at Hilltop golf course as Ron Brink captured the first division trophy and Marv Terry hauled down second flight honors.

Playing in a foursome over the Labor Day jammed par-72 layout, Brink edged Ed Wingard, 1-up, and Terry turned back Walter Vloch, 2-1.

The Saturday before all four of these men had notched third-round victories to land in the final round of elimination match play, which decided the winners in these two flights.

In downing Wingard, Brink turned his front nine holding a comfortable two-hole advantage and succeeded in losing back only one of these holes in the back nine to wind up a one-hole victor.

Brink carded a seven-over-par 42 as against Wingard's 44 in the opening round and then listed 44 over the final nine, while Wingard added a 43 to his total. Brink's win came on the 18th, when he cannaed a five-foot putt to halve the hole.

Terry's decision over Vloch found both second flight golfers turning in creditable championship flight scores. Terry clipped off a 77 for 17 holes and Vloch turned in a 79 over the same distance. Their match was settled on the 17th when both pulled one-over-par fives to split the hole.

Terry fell two holes down to Vloch after three holes of play in the opening round, but then captured the fifth and sixth with pars to even the match. He lost the seventh to Vloch's par and then once again squared things with a par on eight.

Then Vloch regained his lead of the afternoon with a par on the tough 388-yard ninth.

Finally Terry evened the match on the 11th, went one up on the 13th with a par and increased his lead to a two-hole advantage on the 16th when Vloch pulled a bogey. The split on the 17th closed it out.

These four finalists emerged Saturday as the remaining entrants in a field of 32 in the two flights. All of them had to battle their way through three earlier matchings.

On Saturday in first flight Brink had clipped Bill Lyon 5-4 and Wingard had defeated Bruce Turnbull by the same score. In second flight Vloch stopped Larry Jolliffe 4-3, while Terry nipped Ken Olds 3-2.

In addition to their individual trophies, both Terry, as second flight champ, and Brink, winner of first flight, received a set of matched irons as their prizes. The runners-up, Wingard, Vloch, Olds and Jolliffe, each won an oil change for their automobiles.

Meanwhile, as the first and second flight champs were being decided with little trouble save for playing the matches, the championship flight, which decides Plymouth's 1955 golf champion, has continually run into road blocks and obstacles since the halfway point was reached two weekends ago.

Finally, however, the two finalists have emerged through the haze of confusion.

Ralph Lorenz, defending champion from last year, managed to oust Elwood Russell, 2-1, last week after Russell had eliminated former champion Harper Stephens in the second round pairings.

Facing Lorenz in the deciding match will be youthful Jim McAllister, a not-so-dark-horse entry at this point. McAllister nudged out Ty Caplin in the third round championship meetings on Saturday by a 3-2 score. Caplin earlier had humbled four-time champ Tom Locke, 6-5.

Lorenz and McAllister are scheduled to meet Sunday afternoon at two o'clock to decide the championship. Their Labor Day meeting was postponed when Lorenz was called out of town.

Clash Sunday for Title

Ralph Lorenz

Jim McAllister

PLYMOUTH'S 1955 golf championship will be decided by these two finalists. Defending Champ Ralph Lorenz and Challenger Jim McAllister. The pair will face each other in the concluding match of the annual city tournament this Sunday at Hilltop golf course. Tee off time is two p.m.

2 Local Teams In Recreation Golf Tourney

The Plymouth recreation department will send both a men's and a women's golf squad to compete in the annual Michigan Recreation Golf Tournament, play in which will take place this Saturday.

The women's meet will be held at Groesbeck golf course in Lansing, while the men's tourney is to be fielded at Currie Municipal golf course in Midland. Both meets will be decided in 18 holes of medal play golf.

On the local five-member team in the women's battling are Mrs. Jane Carmichael, Mrs. George Todd, Mrs. Casey Partridge, Mrs. William Rambo and Mrs. Beverly Everson. The women's meet will begin at 11:30 in the morning.

The five men, who will begin play at 10:00 a.m., include Ty Caplin, Bill Benjamin, Jerry Walsh, Tom Carmichael and Elton McAllister. Jim McAllister will act as an alternate member.

This marks the first year since 1951 that the women's division is once again a part of the MRA tourney. In that year, when the action was run off in Pontiac, the Plymouth entry copped the title.

Last year, the Plymouth men's team finished a mediocre fourth out of a total of eight teams battling. Dearborn captured low honors then with a 79 total, while the locals were hitting 401.

Caplin, Benjamin and both McAllister brothers return this year as veterans of the MRA tourney. All four were on the 1954 Plymouth team.

Prizes to the men's winning team include individual awards to each member, while the women's winning squad will capture a team trophy in addition to the individual trophies.

Fires Ace

Another hole-in-one at Hilltop golf course was registered Sunday, when C. W. Toay, 15371 Heyden, Detroit, ace the par three, 130-yard, fourth hole using a six iron. It helped him to a 105 total for 18 holes.

Merchants Face Tournament KO

The Plymouth Merchants' sandlot baseball team was quite likely eliminated from further action in the post-season Inter-County league tournament last weekend as the locals absorbed a pair of defeats in the two-game knock out tourney.

The Merchants were edged, 6-5 by Lincoln Park in the opening round of action Sunday, and then on Monday, neighboring Northville trounced the locals, 10-3, for the second loss in the play-off.

Only if the league's official governing body should decide in favor of the Merchants with regard to a protest of the Lincoln Park contest will they be able to remain in contention. The Merchants' manager Johnny Schwartz filed a protesting complaint with the league officials when it was noted that Lincoln Park reportedly used two or three ineligible players in the Sunday game.

Against Lincoln Park, Merchants battled back from a five-run deficit only to have the LP squad chase across a run in the top of the ninth to notch the win.

The locals were on the short end of a 5-0 score when they erupted in the fifth with four runs and plated one more in the sixth to deadlock the game at five-all. In the LP ninth, Merchants' hurler cut down the first two batsmen only to have the next one walk, steal second and score the winning run on a fluke single over the first baseman's head.

Losing pitcher was Eddie Hock, who was replaced by Seidl in the third after giving up five runs. Winner was Main. The Locals got eight hits.

Then facing Northville, Merchants were slammed around with ease as the neighboring club racked up a 10-3 victory and virtually pushed Plymouth out of the play-offs.

Local Gridders Show Promise Despite Slender Roster of 33

Despite the fact that the Plymouth high school football varsity lists only a total of 33 players this week, new grid mentor John "Mike" Hoben reports that his hopefuls are "shaping up very well."

"The team is starting to show real progress," explained Hoben recently after his team had finished the first five days of practice and working out behind the high school.

The locals have until September 16 to round themselves into fit condition. On that date Plymouth's gridgers throw open their 1955 football curtain with a non-league contest against neighboring Northville, who, along with Bentley high, has provided the Rocks with prime rivalry for years.

The Plymouth club started off the practice season boasting a slender roster of 43 boys on the varsity roster two weeks ago. But now due to drop-outs and injuries the list has dwindled to the present 33, a far cry from years previous when as many as 100 showed up.

Two players have already been laid up by injuries sustained in workouts. Tom Cogwell suffered a severely sprained knee and is expected to be out for two or three weeks, while Harv Wells sustained a slightly injured foot to place him on the inactive list for a short time.

In addition several of the original number of 43 have been dropped back to the junior varsity squad, while a few others have returned their uniforms.

Hoben explained that the team is working hard at their job of shaping up in time for the Northville opener. He added, "The timing is off on the line and in the backfield, but this is bound to smooth off shortly."

Prior to the onset of the new school year, the locals were working out twice a day, once in the morning and again under the lights at night. But now practice sessions will be confined to one a day in the afternoon after school.

Hoben plans to work the core of his plays off a tight "T" formation, with a gradual shift into a split "T" later in the season when the team becomes used to this type of football.

Previously Plymouth, under the now retired Charlie Ketterer, ran off the major portion of its plays from a single wing formation. It is a matter of question as to which of the two types of football, single wing or "T" formation, can produce the highest results.

Hoben explained that the "T" style is designed so that if each block, both at the line and down field, is made correctly, the ball carrier will be freed to go all the way. At the same time the single wing formation is designed for constant short yardage gain, planned to eventually send the runner into the end zone.

Following the opening battle with Northville on September 16, Plymouth's gridgers place their 6-B league championship on the block on the five following Fridays as they face their entire league opponents then. The complete schedule is:

DATE	OPPONENT	PLACE
Sept. 16	Northville	A
23	Belleville	H
30	Bentley	H
Oct. 7	Trenton	H
14	Redford U.	A
21	Allen Park	H
28	Garden City H
Nov. 4	Walled Lake A

DISPLAYING their individual winner's trophies after capturing first and second flight honors in the city golf tourney are Marv Terry (left), who nosed Walter Vloch for second flight championship and Ron Brink, victor over Ed Wingard to earn the first flight title.

Local Barbers Invited To Enter Golf Tourney

Plymouth and neighboring area barbers, who attack curly locks on weekdays and golf courses on weekends, have been invited to compete in the State Barber's golf championship to be held Wednesday, September 21, at Glen Oaks golf club, corner of Middlebelt and 13 Mile roads.

The 36-hole event, with initial tee-off time set for 8 a.m., will determine the best golfing and licensed barber in Michigan. Both union and non-union barbers are eligible to enter the tourney.

There will be two divisions of play in the annual event with men 50 years or older in the senior division, while the younger barbers will be entered in the junior division.

Play Areas Draw 13,614 Children

The attendance report from the Plymouth summer playgrounds submitted this week to the Board of Education by Louise Cigle, playground supervisor, showed a total of 13,614 youngsters participated in the various 1955 play programs.

In addition, the boys and girls this year enjoyed 22 field trips to such places as Kent Lake, Greenfield Village and Bob-Lo Island. The Plymouth library and the Detroit Zoo were also visited by some of the children during their playground activities. An overall figure of 1,019 tots were included in the travels.

Broken down into Playgrounds, Starkweather led the six eight-week long play-areas from a total attendance stand-point. Starkweather was attended by 2,817 children. The original registration at this play area was 209.

The five other eight-week long play areas enjoyed similarly high attendance. Figures for the five other playgrounds are: Central, 2,444; Smith, 2,403; Allen, 1,851; Greenmeadows, 1,805; Bird, 1,798.

The seventh playground, Hough, located at Warren and Haggerty roads, was open for only a four-week period during the vacation months. Its total attendance was 196 youngsters, while actual registration listed 42 children from the neighborhood.

Plymouthites Win Honors At 4-H State Competition

Plymouth residents walked off with a variety of honors as representatives of the Wayne county 4-H clubs at the 40th annual 4-H state show held on Michigan State campus in East Lansing last week.

Local exhibitors and awards they received are as follows:

Nancy Eaton, first place, floral arrangement of gladioli; Ernest Reddeman, second, production chickens; Sally Jo Mathias, second, wild flower panel; David Hawk, second, individual vegetable basket; Judy Hough, second, personal grooming display; Dale Hawk, third, individual vegetable basket; and Sharon Beyer, third, meal accessories.

Competing against some 50 contestants, Sharlene Moers, Wayne county's representative, took sixth place in the foods judging event. Sixth place in the tractor operating and eighth in the tractor plowing contests were won by Don Wilkin. Second-place winner in the Baking 4 competition was Ella Plant.

In the equestrian events, Plymouth winners were:

Bob Ramp, first place in boy's pleasure class; Sue Sempliner, older-girl's pleasure horse class; Ellen Cowgill, second, girl's working stock horse class; Bob Franklin, second place in horsemanship contest; fifth in boy's working stock and sixth in model class;

First place in the equestrian county group was won for the Wayne area by Bob Franklin, Sue Sempliner, both of Plymouth; and Debby Flock of Wyandotte.

In the dairy competition, Jean Ofchar's entry placed first in the junior heifer calf, Holstein. Sue Campbell won sixth place in Jersey showmanship and 16th in the yearling heifer class for her entries. Dave Brinks had two entries in the Guernsey class, placing eighth, and ninth with his three-year-old and aged cow, respectively.

Wayne county had some 100 exhibits among the 3,000 displayed at the annual 4-H state event. The show was held Tuesday through Friday of last week.

THIRTEEN-YEAR-OLD Daniel Kelly plays with the pedigree cocker spaniel puppy he won recently in a contest sponsored on the Cowboy Justice Colt TV show. The pup's name is Esquire.

Local Boy Wins Puppy in Contest

A thrilled 13-year-old Plymouth boy came home Monday night with a pedigree cocker spaniel that he won in a contest sponsored on the Cowboy Justice Colt TV show.

He is Daniel Kelly, 585 south Hamilton, who was presented the puppy at a ceremony at 5 p.m. Monday at Edgewater Park.

Dan wrote in 25 words why he wanted to own a pedigree puppy and pointed out that he had taken many homeless dogs into his home but never owned one for himself.

Out of the thousands of entries, Dan won the first prize puppy. The puppy was given by the Michigan Humane Society. A year's supply of dog food was also included.

Dan is an eighth grade pupil this year.

The report also shows the increasing need for a hospital in the area. Population increases since 1950 were shown. Percentage increases were:

Plymouth 18 per cent; Farmington 30 per cent; Livonia 70 per cent; Northville 7.3 per cent and Redford township 127 per cent.

A comparison was made of the number of families in each community and the number of pledges. Plymouth has 3,500 families and had 578 pledges; Farmington, 4,500 families, 266 pledges; Livonia, 7,500 families, 608 pledges; Northville 1,962 families, 183 pledges; Redford township 10,750 families, 57 pledges.

Visitor Hurt by Drop Into Downtown Manhole

Detroit's Anton Gerigk, 47, was walking in downtown Plymouth at 11 o'clock Monday night when he suddenly disappeared almost from view. A manhole cover gave way and he fell in almost up to his shoulders.

Police said that the mishap occurred in front of the Photographic Center. Gerigk received bruised ribs and legs but refused medical attention. The manhole belongs to the Detroit Edison company.

Labor Day weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stephens of Farmer street were Mr. Stephens' mother, Martha Lee Stephens of Nashville, Tennessee, also Mrs. Rachael Miskie and Messrs. Henry and Jack Steinman, all of New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. David Galin were among the guests Tuesday night attending the National Radio-TV Week Kick-off banquet held in the grand ballroom of the Sheraton-Cadillac hotel. It was sponsored by the Philco corporation.

Two Men Named To New Jobs At Burroughs

Robert A. Niemi, general manager of the newly designated Plymouth division of the Burroughs Corporation, has announced the appointment of two Plymouth Plant men to new executive positions.

John E. Brown, who has been production manager at the plant for the past 13 months, has been named manager of manufacturing. He will be responsible for all manufacturing and related staff operations in the 3500-man plant, including defense work.

Eber J. Readman, who has been assistant plant manager since January 1953, has been named coordinator of new products. Readman will be responsible for all the pre-production phases of introducing new products.

"These appointments were made to provide leadership for new and realigned functions resulting from the recent divisionalization of Burroughs' Plymouth operation," Niemi said.

Burroughs' Plymouth Plant was made a separate division last week as part of the company's long-range plans to decentralize its manufacturing units.

Brown joined Burroughs in 1948 as foreman in charge of plant layout at the Detroit Main Plant. He was transferred to the Plymouth Plant in January 1953, as assistant to the plant manager. In January 1954, he was appointed general superintendent of production control and engineering services, the position he held until becoming production manager.

Readman joined Burroughs in 1934 as a stock tracer in the Detroit Plant. He was promoted to foreman of the internal traffic department in 1937, and was made superintendent of the production control division for the Detroit Plant in 1947. In 1949, he was made director of production control for all Burroughs plants, the position he held until his appointment in 1951 as Asst. Manager of the Plymouth Plant.

Because several stores, such as drugs, are already open every evening, the total of businesses open on Mondays will actually be more than twenty-seven. The Chamber of Commerce list of merchants opening for the first time on Monday is as follows:

D. H. Agnew, Better Homes, Bill's Market, Blunk's, Bob's Handy Hardware, Bluford Jewelers, Capitol Shirt Shops, Carl Caplin Clothes, D & C Stores, Inc. Davis & Lent, Fashion Shoes, Fisher Shoes, D. A unique feature of the church auditorium is the "mothers' room" located at the back of the church. Sitting in the room, parents with small children will be able to see the service through a large window and hear the service through a public address system.

There are many gifts of dedication. One of the larger ones include the bells, dedicated to charter member Peter Gayde and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Beyer and Mr. and Mrs. William Gayde; carrillon organ to Mrs. Floyd Burgett; altar to Mr. and Mrs. William Bakhaus; lectern to Mrs. Freda Wendland and baptismal font to Mrs. Elsie Bartel.

One unusual feature of the church is the spire of baked porcelain enamel. The Fowser organ is the result of studies and designs carried out by Mr. Fowser in connection with the organ department of the University of Michigan. Pipes for the organ are the product of a famous old German organ builder.

As in the case of the school construction, church members formed volunteer crews to finish painting, tiling, carpentry and landscaping of the church. This personal labor and the sacrifices on the part of the people in and outside the church caused one man to state, "For me, this isn't only a beautiful building, it is above all a monument of love of people for their God and Savior."

The vital importance of understanding God as the source of all true substance will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Substance" will include the following passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (335:12): "Spirit is the only substance, the invisible and indivisible infinite God. Things spiritual and eternal are substantial. Things material and temporal are insubstantial."

The indestructible nature of spiritual substance is also stressed in selections to be read from the Bible, including the following: "I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever; nothing can be put to it, nor anything taken from it" (Ecc. 3:14 to 2d.).

The Golden Text is from John (6:27): "Labour not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth into everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you: for him hath God the Father sealed."

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Melbourne Irvin Johnson, D.D., Minister
Mrs. Joyce Heaney Beglarian, Organist
Urey Arnold, Choir Director
Robert Ingram, Church School Superintendent
Donald Tapp, Assistant Superintendent

Sunday, September 11, 1955
9:30 a.m. — Sunday School.
9:30 and 11 a.m. — Worship services. Sermon theme is "What Can the Christian Do Now?"

Please note the BEGINNING of the fall schedule. Parents of little children are very appreciative of the 9:30 a.m. service as it enables them to attend the first worship service while their children are in Sunday school. Taking children to church is the only way to fully convince them that father and mother believe in the church.

Our two fine choirs will provide special music for the regular services from Sept. 11 on.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Reverend Henry J. Walch, D.D., Minister
Reverend Thomas Keefe, Minister of Christian Education
Richard Daniel, Superintendent Church School

10:00 a.m. Morning Worship.

Arrangements will be made to take care of small children during the church service. Parents are encouraged to bring their children to the church services with them during the summer months.

The September 9th Presbyterial meeting at Escorse Presbyterian Church is a special one for all Association officers and circle chairmen. Both the morning and afternoon sessions are presenting an overall picture and look at the needs of the Presbyterian church in 1956. Mrs. Charles Olds, executive committee member, National Council of Presbyterian Women, is the featured speaker. It is hoped all officers as well as other interested persons will make a reservation to attend; reservations must be made by 10:00 a.m. Wednesday, September 7th, with Mrs. E. C. Robinson.

The Women's Association resumes its meetings on Wednesday, September 14th, in the church parlors at 1:00 p.m. The program theme is "We Proclaim Christ is the Way Thru Our Work Among the Youth." The Reverend Thomas Keefe will be the moderator of this meeting and it promises to be one of our outstanding programs. Reservations for the tea should be made with Mrs. W. Ackerman by 6:00 p.m. Monday, September 12.

We shall not be able to resume our double schedule of services in Church School or morning worship until Sunday, September 25th, at which time we hope we may accommodate our schedule with as much of our new building as may be completed. In the meantime, we shall continue on our summer schedule of service, with morning worship at ten o'clock.

The Church School secretary is attempting to make a complete enrollment and office record of each child in the church school. A letter has been mailed to the parents of every child whose name appears on the enrollment list. If you did not receive a letter and you wish your child enrolled, please call Mrs. Eugene Light and make the enrollment. We wish to have our enrollment completed by September 11.

The Reverend Mr. Keefe wants the names of those young people who will be in college this fall, together with the name of the school they will attend, and their school address as soon as it is available. From this record we may keep in touch with them from the church and may also make them known to the Westminster Foundation at the school they will attend.

FLORERAMA

A "Florerama" has been slated for the first fall meeting of the Plymouth branch, Michigan, division of the Women's National Farm and Garden association, scheduled to take place Monday, September 12, at 1 p.m. Hostess for the initial gathering will be Mrs. Paul J. Wiedman of 47650 North Teritorial road.

Members have been asked to come to the event wearing military which has been decorated with fresh flowers, fruits or vegetables, and to bring either a floral arrangement, plant specimen or sample of their hobby for exhibition.

Plymouth Cancer Unit Announces Meeting

The local branch of the American Cancer society has announced plans for a meeting of all civic-minded women interested in the work and activities of the Plymouth ACS unit. The event has been scheduled for Thursday, September 15, at 8 p.m. in Marquis' Toll house, 335 North Main street.

The program will include the presentation of a short, documentary film entitled "To Save These Lives," and a review of the aims, purposes and activities of the Plymouth chapter. Refreshments will be served.

Dr. A. E. Van Ornum is in charge of the meeting.

Doctors and lawyers have a job to do in protecting the reputation of their professions.

Garden Club Holds First Fall Meeting

A "Florerama" has been slated for the first fall meeting of the Plymouth branch, Michigan, division of the Women's National Farm and Garden association, scheduled to take place Monday, September 12, at 1 p.m. Hostess for the initial gathering will be Mrs. Paul J. Wiedman of 47650 North Teritorial road.

Members have been asked to come to the event wearing military which has been decorated with fresh flowers, fruits or vegetables, and to bring either a floral arrangement, plant specimen or sample of their hobby for exhibition.

A new feature which the Garden club is incorporating in its program this year is the "ten-minute extra," a short talk given by one of the members prior to the main meeting. Subject for the brief discussion will be the flower of the month, illustrated in a floral arrangement. The "ten-minute extra" for the September 12 meeting will be "Asters," given by Mrs. Albert Pint.

Tea chairman for the meeting is Mrs. Raymond Bachelder. She will be assisted by the following committee:

Mrs. Wilson Augustine, Mrs. William S. Bake, Mrs. Henry Baker, Mrs. Otto Beyer and Mrs. Donald Burleson.

Area Women Assist With Democrat Social

Four Plymouth-area women are assisting with plans for a coffee and cake social to be sponsored by the 17th District Democratic Women's committee on Wednesday, September 14, at 8:30 p.m. in the Carpenter's hall, 22521 Grand River.

Serving on the various committees are Mrs. George Bowles, Mrs. Janet Roberts, Miss Helen Beavers, all of Plymouth; and Mrs. Frances Gazla of Northville.

Women of the Plymouth area are invited to attend the event for which there is no charge. Honored guests will include Congresswoman Martha W. Griffiths and State Senator John Swainson. Mrs. Elsie Gilmore of Livonia, first woman to become chairman of the Wayne County Democratic committee, will also be a special guest.

Announces Afternoon Evening Course List

Madonna college, 36800 Schoolcraft, has announced the following schedule of late afternoon and evening classes for the fall term:

Monday at 6:30 p.m.: Social problems, art appreciation.

Monday and Wednesdays at 4 p.m. Elementary number theory.

Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4 p.m.: Contemporary poetry, differential calculus, child growth and development. (Credits in the latter course may apply in either education or sociology.)

Wednesday at 6:30 p.m.: Painting.

All courses, with the exception of painting, which is a two semester-hour course, carry three semester hours of credit. Registration date is September 16 from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Courses begin September 20.

New Books at Dunning Library

Murder mystery enthusiasts will find several books to their liking in this week's shipment of new publications to the Dunning library.

Added to the collection were "Moonmilk and Murder," Aaron M. Stein's crime tale set in France; Ruth Fenison's "Widow's Plight," and "The Tooth and the Nail," suspense novel by Bill S. Ballinger.

Three new westerns also arrived in the new shipment. They are "Forbidden Valley" by Allan V. Elston, E. E. Halleran's "Blazing Border" and "Rawhide Rider" by Peter Field.

Other new books are "We Shall March Again," Gerhard Kramers novel about wartime Germany; Evelyn Anthony's "Far Flies the Eagle," historical novel concerning Alexander, czar of the Russias; "The Case of Mrs. Surratt," her controversial trial and execution for conspiracy in the Lincoln assassination, by Guy W. Moore; and Lionel Shapiro's World War II novel, "The Sixth of June."

The following circuit books have now become part of the library's permanent collection: "The Rommel Papers" by Manfred Rommel; Gertrude Noar's "The Junior High School, Today and Tomorrow," concerning teaching and organizing procedures for development of junior high school curriculum; and James P. Warburg's "Germany, Key to Peace."

Loaned to the library for three months is the new circuit book, "Ireland and the Irish" by Charles Duff.

INTERIOR of St. Peter's Lutheran church is shown here as it neared completion last week. The church is being dedicated this Sunday morning. An afternoon children's service and an evening song service dedicating the organ and carillon are also on the day's program. For full story, see page one, section one.

Grange Cleanings

Where were all the Grange members last Thursday night? There were a great many who were conspicuous by their absence. It was the first meeting of the fall season when we should have had a splendid attendance. However, it was good to see those who were there and we will expect a better showing at our next meeting which will be on September 15. It is "Booster Night" and is an open meeting so you may invite your neighbors to come with you. Mrs. Nash will have a program for your entertainment, so come and meet your old friends and help make it a "booster" for the range.

Angie Blunk had the misfortune to fall and break her left arm some time ago. She will soon have the cast off and be as good as new again.

Be sure to come to the Rummage sale on Saturday, September 10, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Grange hall. You may bring your Rummage articles on Friday night to the Grange hall about 7:30 or about 9:30 Saturday a.m.

Seeks White Goods

The Plymouth chapter of the American Cancer society has announced that white goods are urgently needed to maintain its supply of dressings to cancer patients of this area.

Anyone wishing to donate for this purpose may leave their materials at the local ACS unit, 821 Penniman. The office is open daily from 1 to 4 p.m.

Vivians Meet Tonight

Plans have been completed for the first fall meeting of the Vivians which will be held at 8 tonight in the Elks Temple on Ann Arbor road.

A "get-acquainted" social hour will be the main feature of the evening's program. An invitation is extended to the wives of all members of B.P.O.E. 1780 to attend this initial meeting.

It is strange how other people can tell you how to run your business, and why.

Attorney: Paul H. Schulz, 2126 David Stott Bldg., Detroit

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Wayne, ss. J. 157

At a session of the Probate Court for said County of Wayne, held at the Probate Court Room in the City of Detroit, on the twelfth day of August, in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifty-five.

Present Joseph A. Murphy, Judge of Probate. In the Matter of the Estate of WILLIAM EDWARD MATHE-SON, Deceased.

Theone E. Secord, Administratrix with the will annexed of said estate, having rendered to this Court her first and final account in said matter and filed therewith her petition praying that the fee as set forth in said account be allowed and that the residue of said estate be assigned in accordance with the provisions of the last will and testament of said deceased:

It is ordered: That the Twelfth day of October, next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon before Judge Thomas C. Murphy, at said Court Room be appointed for examining and allowing said account and hearing said petition.

And it is further Ordered, that a copy of this order be published once in each week for three weeks consecutively previous to said time of hearing, in the Plymouth Mail, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County of Wayne.

I do hereby certify that I have compared the foregoing copy with the original record thereof and have found the same to be a correct transcript of such original record.

Dated August 12, 1955. Wilbur H. Rader, Deputy Probate Register

Benefits of Consolidation

Babson Park, Mass. Just now "split-ups" and "consolidations" are the fad on Wall Street. The two don't seem to go together too well; in fact, they appear to be contradictory. However, many other things today are very inconsistent.

Automobile Consolidations
Every reader knows that the Hudson and Nash companies have consolidated into a new company called "American Motors." Also that the Studebaker and Packard companies have combined. But all the consolidations have not been of "sick babies." Remington-Rand and the Sperry Corporation have been lively and prosperous; yet they have just consolidated.

Many consolidations have been due to the intensive competition of today — too many in the same business, resulting in cut-throat prices. Such consolidations should benefit an entire industry. Another reason is the death of the founder. The heirs find they must sell the business to pay estate taxes. This explains why certain banks are consolidating, including the very largest. A final reason is to get the tax benefits which one of the companies has accumulated through losses.

Possible Chain Store Consolidations
I expect someday to see a large consolidation of chain stores of various kinds. The present sight of a Woolworth, McCrory, Kresge, and some other of the big "5 and 10 cent" chains close together on the same street is silly. They have the same colored signs, same red fronts, and same show windows; yes, and the same prices. Such useless duplication results in higher prices for the public. As the best department stores have federated into big organizations, I forecast a similar movement in connection with many chains. Fairness to the public demands such federation with a Central Committee to pass on new locations and encourage more warehouses.

Importance of Advertising
Advertising has been one of the most important forces causing and holding our present prosperity. Unfortunately, a large company has a great advertising advantage. Not only must a national advertiser be large to afford $25,000 for one week's ad in Life Magazine and corresponding costs for other magazines, radio, television, and newspaper splurges; but there is something more to remember. The large company gets the space or the radio and TV time for the same price as a small company. This is a handicap to small companies.

I go further and say that unless some practical help can be given these small companies, our era of prosperity may slide off. Color advertising came just in time to save the day in 1946; while television advertising gave business another "shot in the arm" two years ago. Perhaps the able advertising agencies have something else "up their sleeve" to use as another stimulant to business when needed. The only one I can now think of is extending financial help to small companies so they can afford heavy advertising appropriations.

What About Main Street?
Forget the big consolidations and think of your own home town. In every one of the 405 cities carrying my weekly column, there are concerns which are entitled to help. These may be factories or garages or even law offices! The banks know the names of these concerns, and they should have the courage to advise such consolidations.

The small farmers now receive help. You may own a farm. Although you feel in your heart that the Benson Price Program is sound, you know it will reduce your income and profits. Put your pride in your pocket; call upon your neighbor farmer and suggest that you stop cutting each other and co-operate. Remember that of all luxuries, pride is the most expensive. Pride is the chief cause of business failures.

What About the Consumers?
In the last analysis, whether you are big business, or small manufacturers, or shopkeepers, or farmers, your own welfare will ultimately depend upon the welfare of the nation's consumers. If President Eisenhower were here, he would add, "Yes, upon the welfare of the world." Let us all get behind the consolidation program. Certainly it must come about in order to profit from automation or atomic power.

Bartlett Mothers to Meet
The Bartlett Mother club will hold its next meeting on Wednesday, September 14, at 8 p.m. at the school.
On the food committee are Mrs. Delbert Larrick, Mrs. Richard Hoffman and Mrs. John Henry.

Oldfords Endorse Steam Pudding Dessert

A delicious, steamed pudding gets the most votes from members of the Stewart Oldford household, 9825 Beck road.

This favorite dish can be made in any one of three ways, by pressure cooker, in boiling water, or placed on top of vegetables during the preparation of a boiled dinner. The last method, Mrs. Oldford says, is the customary way Newfoundlanders prepare the pudding and one which she learned from her husband's family who hail from that area.

Here's the recipe for the Oldfords' favorite dessert:

Steamed Pudding

- 1 cup of sugar
- 1 egg
- ½ cup of suet, chopped (shortening may be used)
- ½ cup of molasses
- ½ cup of milk
- 1 cup of raisins
- ½ cup of apples, chopped
- ½ cup of currants
- 1½ cups of flour
- ½ teaspoon of salt
- ½ teaspoon of soda
- 1½ teaspoons of baking powder
- ½ teaspoon of allspice
- ½ teaspoon of cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon of nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon of cloves
- ½ cup of walnuts, chopped

Combine sugar, egg, suet, apples, currants, molasses, milk. Sift all dry ingredients and add gradually. Mix well; add nuts. Mix; turn into buttered bowl and cover with wax paper. Set in pressure cooker. Allow steam to flow from vent for few minutes; then cook for 60 minutes at 15 pounds. (For the boiled method, place pudding in cloth and cook in boiling water for one hour.)

- ### Sauce
- 1½ cups of sugar
 - 2 tablespoons of flour

Mrs. Stewart Oldford of 9825 Beck road gets underway with preparations for Steamed Pudding.

- 1 teaspoon of nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon of salt
- 2 tablespoons of butter
- 2 tablespoons of vinegar

Add ½ to ¾ cup of boiling water and bring mixture to boil. Pour over pudding. (Sauce is also good on spice cake or gingerbread.)

American Legion News

The Auxiliary's first business meeting of the year will be held tonight at 8 p.m. in the Veterans Memorial home. Come on, girls, let's all be there.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Holcombe and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burleson attended the farewell party in honor of Dick Massingill, past commander of Myron Beals post, Livonia, on August 20 at the Post's home. He is leaving to take a teaching position in California and his family will follow him there at a later date. We wish them success in their move.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Holcombe and family spent the last weekend with an old member of the post, Ivan Campbell and family, who now reside in Howell, Michigan.

Mildred Hewer, rehabilitation chairman of the Auxiliary, announced that several units are planning a birthday party for the veterans at Fort Custer in Battle Creek tonight. There will be entertainment and refreshments served. The boys really enjoy these projects.

Girls! Have you forgotten your coin cards?? Mrs. Gertrude Simonetti is the first to return hers filled. We have a little surprise for her.

Local units of the American Legion Auxiliary are now active in practically every community in the United States, its territories and in a number of foreign countries, a report received by Mrs. Melva Gardner, president of the Passage-Gayde unit here, shows a total of 234 new Auxiliary units have been chartered this year, giving the Auxiliary 14,016 local units on active status.

"Wherever members of the American Legion Auxiliary travel, they will find Auxiliary units at work carrying out the same programs we carry out in our own unit here," said Mrs. Gardner. "There is hardly a town or village in the 48 states which does not have its Auxiliary unit. In Alaska there are 20 units, in Hawaii there are 23, in the Panama Canal Zone there are 6, and in Puerto Rico, 49.

"Travelers to Europe will find American Legion Auxiliary units in England, France, Germany and Denmark. There is a unit on the island of Bermuda in mid-Atlantic, and one on the island of Guam in mid-Pacific. There are six units in the Philippines, and three in the West Indies. Canada has three units and there is a thriving unit in Mexico City.

"The number of women enrolled in the Auxiliary's 14,016 units for 1955 has almost reached the one-million mark and we expect that mark to be passed before the end of the year."

Rx For Community Growth VITAMINS G-A-S

Good gas service and plenty of it — around-the-clock and around-the-year — can be just what the doctor ordered to make your community grow.

It's a prescription your gas company seeks to live up to — for the availability of gas for industrial processing often is important in the location of new industry.

However, additional gas supply and the underground mains and other facilities needed to deliver it to you can't be provided overnight.

That's why your privately-owned, tax-paying gas company must risk investments in new manpower and expanded facilities today for your industrial, business and home needs of tomorrow. These investments make sure you'll always have vitamins G-A-S available for your community's growth.

Kitchen Ventilation, Lighting Affect Morale, Safety of Cook

Proper ventilation and lighting can do wonders for your kitchen safety and your morale. Install a fan ventilation system to remove grease, heat and cooking odors. It should be located as near as possible to the stove.

The fan should exhaust to the outside through the wall or roof, and must be equipped with a built-in shutter to prevent any back drafts or any bugs from entering the house when the fan is not in operation.

Good lighting is more important in the kitchen than possibly any other room in the home. Proper lighting can do away with fatigue and cut kitchen accidents to almost nothing.

Both natural and artificial light should give the kitchen good over-all illumination. Additional lights are needed at work areas.

Avoid glare in the kitchen from exposed bulbs and highly polished materials. If sunlight streams into your kitchen window and into your eyes, it will cause you to become tired much sooner than you would otherwise. Use curtains, blinds or an exterior overhang to prevent this glare.

When wiring the kitchen, provide enough circuits to accommodate all the equipment you will need and prevent the fire hazard of over-loading. In most cases, two circuits are necessary. You will need separate circuits for major equipment, such as the range and freezer. A convenience is to have an outlet located above each counter.

If you are building a new home, the best advice in the world is not to cut too many corners in the kitchen. The kitchen is where the average housewife spends a good deal of her time. It should be an attractive room with as good equipment as she can afford.

Decide how much room you will need in the way of counter space, storage space, and space for major equipment. Keep in mind that a kitchen too small or a kitchen too big will cause you a lot of extra work.

For a whipped topping lower in calories than either whipped cream or whipped evaporated milk, use nonfat dry milk solids. To make 2½ cups of topping, add ½ cup dry milk powder to ½ cup water and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Whip until it is stiff and beat in 2 tablespoons sugar and ¼ teaspoon vanilla. Chill and then use promptly.

Have Summer Duds Cleaned Before Storing

American homemakers in the midst of fall housecleaning and bringing out those fall and winter clothes should also pay some attention to those summer clothes they're now beginning to put into storage.

Summer weight blankets and jackets aren't the only things to be careful of when storing. Woolens should be laundered, put in moth crystals and sealed for the winter; cottons and synthetic fibers should be laundered and packed.

Laundering before fall storage of any fabrics is important because of stains, soil, body oils and perspiration which may become "set" in the fabric and are almost impossible to remove when the garment is ready to be worn next season.

Stains such as catsup, mustard, berries and grass are particularly difficult to remove once they are "set." Body oil stains on the inside collar are impossible to remove without special treatment and also will pick up dust in storage if the garments aren't covered.

When sent to the laundry, the summer's clothes are returned clean, pressed and like new. If they are carefully packed in closed containers they will be ready for wearing when warmer weather comes again.

Summer clothes should be stored in a dry place so that mildew won't damage them. They should also be packed loosely so that there are fewer wrinkles when the time comes for the garments to be worn again.

SWEET-SOUR SAUSAGE WITH RICE

Here is that really different meal-in-itself you have been looking for as a special treat for your favorite family.

A happy combination that is sure to please both the family—because it's so delicious—and you—because it's so simple to prepare and so easy on the pocketbook.

- 1 14-ounce can pineapple tidbits
- 1 pound sausage links
- 1 medium-sized onion, thinly sliced
- 1 cup sliced green pepper
- 1 cup beef broth
- 8 tablespoons cornstarch
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ teaspoon dry mustard
- ½ cup sugar

- ¼ cup vinegar
- 3 cups hot cooked rice

Drain pineapple, reserving ¼ cup of the syrup. Brown sausage; remove from drippings and keep warm.

Cook onions and green pepper in 2 tablespoons of the drippings until soft, but not browned. Stir in beef broth. Make a smooth paste of cornstarch and part of the pineapple syrup; add to beef broth with remaining pineapple syrup. Add sugar, salt, pepper, and mustard, and cook until thickened and clear, stirring frequently. Add vinegar and sausage and cook about 5 minutes longer. Serve over hot fluffy rice. Yield: Six ¼-cup servings.

Peanut Butter, Good Menu Item For Those on Limited Budget

Peanut butter is a valuable ally to the meal planner. Because of its inexpensive supply of proteins it is valuable to the limited food budget. The user adds a source of iron, phosphorus and oils to the menu. Peanuts are only a fair source of calcium, but this deficiency is compensated when peanut butter is used as a cooking ingredient by balancing it with such a dairy product as milk.

Here are a few recipe suggestions:

- Plantation Milk Shake
 - ¼ cup peanut butter
 - 2 tablespoons sugar
 - Salt
 - ¼ teaspoon vanilla
 - 2 cups milk
- Place peanut butter, sugar and salt in a bowl, add ¼ of the milk. Whip with rotary beater or electric mixer until smooth. Add remaining milk gradually; beat until smooth. Add vanilla. Chill in covered jar in refrigerator until ready to use. When serving top each glass with a dash of nutmeg.

- Peanut Butter Shortbread
 - 1½ cups pastry flour
 - ½ cup sugar
 - ½ teaspoon salt
 - ½ cup peanut butter
 - ½ cup butter, chilled
 - 2 tablespoons light corn syrup

Sift flour once, measure. Add sugar and salt, sift again. Cut in peanut butter and butter with pastry blender or two knives until mixture looks like coarse meal. Add corn syrup. Mix thoroughly. Shape in 1½-inch rolls. Cut in ¼-inch slices. Bake on greased sheets in an oven (325 degrees) for 20 minutes or until a light brown. Makes 50. This mixture may be stored in the refrigerator by wrapping rolls light in waxed paper and baked when needed.

- Peanut Butter Bread Pudding
 - 1 cup stale soft bread crumbs
 - 2 cups milk, scalded
 - ½ cup peanut butter
 - ½ cup cold milk
 - 1 egg slightly beaten

Hubby Getting Chubby? Here's Clothing Tips

With vests for men so popular for the last couple of years, and it looks like they will be in favor for some time to come, many wives have been faced with the problem of letting out the seams to make room for newly-gained weight.

It need not be a hard job. Here is a way to add a good two inches across the stomach—where the strain is often the greatest. Open the seam of the lining along the back of the neck and examine the inside of the vest. Usually, there is plenty of material in the under-arm seams, so you can take these seams out and re-sew, allowing a quarter-inch seam only.

If this extra width isn't enough, let out the center back seam three-fourths of the way up from the bottom. Re-sew the seam, tapering it off at the top. This will add another half-inch.

Another method is to set in pieces of the material or similar material under the arms or at the back center seam. Cut a small cone from the back of the vest, using the back seam as the center. Now set in the new piece of the same shape but wider. The narrow point of the cone should point toward the neck.

If you would prefer you can cut a long oval piece, tapered to points at both ends. This should be inserted about two inches from the bottom of the vest at the center back. At the underarm seams set in pieces an inch from the bottom.

These set in pieces must always be lined. Press your work to make it lie flat and fit in with the other part of the vest smoothly with the rest of the vest. Before you decide which method to use to enlarge your husband's vest, try it on him and choose which method will give fullness in the right place.

If your carpeting is installed wall-to-wall, it's a good idea to consult your cleaner before taking it up for a Spring sprucing. It's possible he could do it for you right on the floor.

Small-Fry Fashion Change

There have been more changes in children's fashions during the last year and the present fall season than during the last fifteen years.

Three important style notes are: (1) A modern version of the quaint dresses worn by French convent children. They are designed with a dropped waistline shape with wide box pleats from shoulder to hem over which a wide flat belt is loosely set at the neckline. (2) The over-blouse look which is no more than a great-granddaughter of the Peter Thompson school uniform. (3) The pleated smock dress is back. It looks like the French school smock worn by little ones in France. The American version is much gayer, however.

For party time bright velveteen is the thing. It is used for whole dresses, jumpers and as cummerbunds on winter cottons. Other popular fabrics will be pastel moire cottons, satins, silk and cotton mixtures that look like party taffetas. Especially pretty will be nylon embroidered dresses belling out over petticoats.

New winter coats for little girls will have a little boy look and be the overcoat type. Others will be along princess lines, trimmed with velvet.

No Doubt In His Mind This Time!

This happy gentleman has just taken title to his seventh motor car.

And while he would probably have difficulty recalling all the different makes and models he has purchased through the years, there is one thing he knows with absolute certainty: He never felt like this before when he took the keys and made for the open road.

For this is his first Cadillac! And what a glorious feeling it is to know he has chosen the "car of cars"!

Gone are the doubt . . . and the worry . . . and the wonder. This time he knows he's right!

And how quickly the evidence will assemble in support of his sentiment!

First of all, there will be the eloquent testimony of the car itself—its magnificent performance . . . its marvelous comfort and ride . . . and its incredible ease of steering and handling.

And then, as he travels the boulevard, there will be those quick glances of approval from his fellow motorists to tell him that he is not alone in his judgment.

And, finally, there will be that assembly of family and friends that awaits him at journey's end . . . offering final confirmation of the wisdom of his choice.

Of course, the man who takes title to a new Cadillac today enjoys the double satisfaction of having made the wisest possible choice at the wisest possible time.

Because of Cadillac's increased year-end production, for instance, he will find that he can have surprisingly prompt delivery on his new Cadillac.

And, as if this were not sufficient in itself, we are also in a position—because of our low inventory of used cars—to offer him a most generous allowance on his present automobile.

Why not come in soon—and spend an hour at the wheel—and let us acquaint you more fully with this unique opportunity?

As the youngsters troop off to school, be a peach. Mom . . . put surprises in their lunchboxes! Pear and apple sandwiches . . . half an apple, half a pear, joined with a toothpick. A vacuum bottle with hot tomato soup . . . in it a hot dog attached to a string for easy take-out. (Be sure to stick a bun in the lunchbox, too!)

For tiny tots, cut sandwich bread with animal cookie cutters, so they can look for a bunny, duck, or chicken. And use different breads . . . raisin, cracked wheat, date-nut. The hot food . . . soup! Match your electric washer with an electric clothes dryer

Wash day becomes extra easy when you add a new electric clothes dryer to your electric washer. Here's why: There's no heavy wet wash to haul up the stairs and hang on the line. You have only to load the dryer and flip a switch. Out comes the laundry, fluffy-dry, sparkling clean. Old-fashioned line drying can't compare with the carefree, modern way to dry clothes—electrically!

Helpful Hints Concerning Building, Remodeling, Repairing & Redecorating

ONE OF THE MANY attractive features of the Jack Gage home at 42501 Clemons is this photographic wall mural located in the dining ell and depicting an inviting outdoors scene, perhaps in northern Michigan. The wrought iron pull-down ceiling chandelier adds modern flavor to the beautiful home. Further points of interest in the Gage residence are a wide picture window in the living room, a den and a terrace in the back yard.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Question: You recently mentioned building a patio with bricks laid in sand. Can I pack earth between the bricks instead of sand, and slow clover between the bricks? If so, what are the disadvantages over sand? G.G., Kew Garden Hills, New York.

Answer: So long as you have a firm base, you can put earth instead of sand between the bricks. Leave at least 1/2 inch between bricks to give the clover room to grow. The only disadvantage may be that eventually the clover roots will become strong enough, and by growing beneath the bricks, dislodge them somewhat. If you plant a low-growing clover, such as Dutch White, you'll have less trouble cutting it.

Question: I have an 11-room house of brick veneer. It is an old house, and in several places the brick is loose from the frame. Would it be practical to remove all the brick and apply wood siding? Could you give me some helpful suggestions? R.B., White Bear Lake, Minn.

Answer: If the brick is bulging outward this may indicate a wall in danger of collapse and removal of the bricks is the best solution. You would expose sheathing of some sort which, when first covered with tarpaper, is the base for new siding to be nailed to. It is possible, of course, that water has seeped into the space between veneer and sheathing, and that the sheathing has rotted. In that case, you may have to replace the sheathing after removal of the brick in order to have a solid base for new siding. You may have some trouble at doors and windows unless they are recessed in the veneer, since reducing the wall thickness by 4 inches would leave them protruding. About the only solution in that case would be to take them out and reset them.

Question: I want to install an exhaust fan over the kitchen stove making a connection into an unused flue at that point. Flue is 3 1/2 x 6 7/8 inches. Would this be satisfactory? Would there be any danger of the flue filling with grease and dust? What size fan should be used?

Answer: You can't discharge a fan into a flue that size. You would set up a back-draft that would quickly burn out the fan by forcing the blades against the motor. You can make use of the flue for exhaust without the fan at all by putting a hood over the stove with the sides sloping upward and terminating at the flue. Since the exhausted air is hot, it will rise through the flue automatically. You will have a little or no trouble with grease or dust. However, it would be a good idea to provide a cover for the flue opening to keep it closed when not in use.

Question: How does one go about making a fence on a slope and on uneven ground? How do you know if all posts are placed equal distances in the ground?

Answer: On slopes, you can either follow the ground contour setting each post into a measured hole, and letting the top and bottom rails parallel the ground surface, or set the posts in measured holes, placing the rails level. In the latter cases, the bottom rail if first placed against the uphill post at ground level, then leveled off and attached to the downhill post. The upper rail is then spaced an equal distance from the bottom one on both posts. This sometimes requires posts of varying length. To cross a depression with a fence, set up a post on opposite high spots, run a cord across their tops to a level line, then set posts in the depressed area long enough to bring them up to the cord. Set all posts an equal distance in the ground.

Natural Beauty, Variety of Wood Lends Richness, Warmth to the Modern Home

With today's rapidly increasing interest in the natural beauty of wood, and the wide variety of interesting wood figure types being used by furniture designers, you're probably wondering how the wood can look so different in two tables of the same wood. Wood is a natural material, and no two trees ever produce the identical veneer pattern, which is part of the great charm of the fine hardwoods used in furniture. The various wood grain and figure patterns can, however, be broken down into general classifications, as shown in the accompanying illustration. A brief knowledge of these wood types will add to your enjoyment of fine furniture.

There are three principal sources for the great variety of beautiful figures found in choice cabinet-woods:

1. The part of the tree from which the wood is cut. For example: the crotch, or part just below where the trunk forks; the stumpwood, from the base of the tree; the longwood, or trunk of the tree, and burls, or wartlike growths on the trunk. Each of these parts of the tree produces a distinctive type of veneer.

2. The method of cutting. For example: flat slicing, quarter slicing, rotary slicing, and the less common half-round slicing. In the accompanying illustration, note the different appearance of the quartered, flat cut and rotary walnut veneers, all cut from the trunk of a walnut tree.
3. The species of tree, of course, makes a great deal of difference. A few species, such as walnut and mahogany, produce a number of figure types. Most species produce only one or two figure types.

Ten New Ideas to Make Rooms Appear Larger, More Graceful

Every homemaker sooner or later is faced with the problem of making a small room do a big job. Regardless of how tiny a room is, an appearance of greater spaciousness can be achieved by these ten new ideas, says the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information.

Uniformity of color, either white or pastel, will make any room seem larger. Ceiling, walls, woodwork and exposed radiator should be finished in the same color, for added depth.

Use low, small-scale furniture. This gives the effect of delicacy and grace, and fits surroundings better than large, bulky pieces.

Curtains and draperies should be treated as a part of the room's background for quiet, spacious effects. Avoid splashy patterns and bold colors, and use vertical stripes or textured materials. Hang curtains and draperies to let in every bit of natural light.

Use vertical bamboo, textured straw cloth or lattice type blinds or shades rather than horizontal venetian blinds which abbreviate the size of a room. If windows are badly spaced or of different sizes, use sheer glass curtains without draperies to make this unevenness as inconspicuous as possible.

Install smooth-surface floor coverings, such as Kenflex, the new vinyl-asbestos tile. It is available in a wide shade of decorator colors, and also monochromatic natural cork tones. It can be used above or below grade, in every room of the house. By using directional lines and decorative inserts rooms can be made to look wider.

Place mirrors on opposite long walls to widen a narrow room with reflected depth and perspective.

Upholstery and slipcovers should be small-patterned and unobtrusive, or of textured fabrics in colors keyed to other shades in the decor color scheme. Remove doors, unless needed for privacy, or replace with folding or all glass doors. Doors which are kept open should be painted the same color as the room into which they open.

High ceilings in small rooms can be brought down into proper proportion by painting them a darker color than the walls, and continuing this deeper shade in a broad band around the top of the walls.

If a fireplace is small or badly shaped, paint it to match the walls, and make it less conspicuous. If it is in the middle of a long wall, paint it black or a contrasting color to break the line.

Veneer figure is determined largely by the part of the tree from which the veneer is cut. There are four major sections used for veneers.

1. First, there is the trunk of the tree, which is known as Longwood.
2. Next, is Stumpwood. When cut, it reveals a pattern that is most attractive.
3. The third is Crotch, that section of the tree just below the point where it forks. Here the fibers of the wood have been crushed and twisted between two limbs.
4. The fourth is a wartlike, deformed growth on the side of the tree. Known as Burl, this growth develops an unusual and exceptionally fine figure that is highly prized.

DESIGN C-387. Here is a roomy plan with features that are desirable for either city or farm. The small room off the side entry has a toilet, lavatory and large closet. However, there is still room for a freezer, washer and dryer, if necessary. There are lots of closets, well distributed throughout the house; a large storage closet and others for coats and linens. The kitchen is compact and well arranged and has a larger than usual dinette and a china cabinet. The center bedroom could be used as a den, workroom, or even be converted into a dining room by leaving out the partition. The exterior finish combines wide siding and stone with wide eaves. Floor area is 1415 sq. ft. with a cubage of 26,838 cu. ft. including the full basement. For further information about DESIGN C-387, write the Building Editor, The Plymouth Mail.

Nothing offers quite as much fashion, function and satisfaction to a well-organized homemaker as the new corner bed units which have been created for use in either a living or sleeping area. In a guest den or a small studio apartment, these units have a round-the-clock function.

Designed to be part of an entire living grouping, they include a "built-in" storage corner piece, which in addition to holding pillows and other bedding, fills in the corner very attractively. It has an expansive surface which may be decoratively treated with an attractive reading lamp, and otherwise accessorized with knick knacks to make a comfortable lounge, reading nook.

The storage unit is easily accessible from the top and without disarranging the corner setting. This one is accented with cane which is an extremely popular furniture fashion note this year. Other matching pieces here, are a coffee table, which may have either a marble or plastic surface, and a lounge chair, which may be covered with a fabric of your choice.

These Events Were News

50 Years Ago

September 15, 1905

South Lyon is excited over the discovery within its corporate limits of a large bed of iron. Mining experts have examined the rock and pronounced it 90 per cent pure. A syndicate is being formed to make extensive investigation. We hope our neighbor may have "struck it rich."

The Hamilton factory is running nights to keep up with orders.

Edgar A. Burgess of Belleville and Miss Bernice Austin were married a day or two ago.

Miss Amelia Gayde is visiting her sister, Mrs. O. F. Beyer, in Detroit this week.

The old Bennett fanning mill site is about cleaned up and work on Messrs. Bennetts' new residence will begin as soon as possible.

Mrs. Henry Goebel of Wayne visited her sister-in-law, Mrs. George Springer, over Sunday.

Mrs. G. E. Brownell left yesterday for Chicago where she will visit relatives for a time.

P. Y. Yorton, manager of the lumber yard here, will move his family from Holly into the new house on Church street, owned by W. O. Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Williams announce the marriage of their son, Corporal Phillip Williams to Laurice Kasnarall. The wedding took place September 2 in the St. Joseph Cathedral in Cairo, Egypt.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thomas are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary by having an open house on Sunday afternoon, September 9.

The wedding of Ruth Nan Parmalee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Parmalee of Sheridan avenue, and Wilfred Robinson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Robinson of Powell road, was solemnized at 7 o'clock Saturday evening in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Von Stein, their neighbor, in the presence of 80 relatives and friends.

Jack Taylor's cottage at Base Lake Sunday will be the scene of the annual picnic of the Western Wayne County Conservation association.

Mrs. Walter Ruterbusch will be hostess at a bridge party this Friday evening with guests as follows: Mrs. Marvin Terry, Mrs. Charles Wolfe, Mrs. Don Rank, Mrs. James Ross, Mrs. Ray Danol, Mrs. Norman Bamber and Mrs. Jack Palmer.

Clifford Tait spent the weekend in Mecosta. He was accompanied home by Mrs. Tait and children who have been visiting there with the Glenn Jewells.

Plant Trees, Shrubs Now For Foliage Next Spring

In the fall months, with a full summer growth behind them under ideal conditions in nurseries, trees and shrubs are at their peak physical condition. When planted in the fall they are able to take greater advantage of late winter and very early spring growth and they will produce their full complement of spring and summer foliage and flowers.

Plants generally do most of their growing in the spring and early summer and become dormant in the fall even when, like evergreens, they still have full foliage. Deciduous trees and shrubs of course shed their foliage and renew it the following season. But whether evergreen or deciduous, fall planting is desirable and often preferred by many nurserymen. There are only a few plants that are better planted in the spring and your nurseryman will advise with respect to them.

The fall months offer cool days when the home owner usually is not crowded with other chores, and has time to fill out his foundation planting with new shrubs, or to establish a rose garden. He can plant a space for an outdoor living room, or put in a wind-break, or plant a hedge and trees for more privacy. Most home fruits, both the large fruits and the small fruits like raspberries and strawberries may be planted in the fall. Late summer and very early fall are excellent times to study what you need in the way of plants to make your home grounds more livable and enjoyable. The summer days are not long past and you know better what you would have liked in order to improve your outdoor living and the appearance of the property. Good landscaping and planting offers a more respectable look both to the home property and the neighborhood. If well done, it will far more than pay for itself by increasing the resale value of the property approximately 20 per cent, in addition to providing better living.

So efficient have transplanting methods become that trees and shrubs can be transferred from the nursery to the home grounds at any time of the year except in areas where the ground is too solidly frozen to dig a hole for the plant. New methods of balling and burlapping plants, the growing and sale of certain shrubs and trees in containers, and the development of new polyethylene wrapping that permits the roots to "breathe", all have contributed to making all-year planting feasible in all parts of the country. New sprays that reduce the transpiration of moisture through the leaves also have helped to make transplanting more successful in what used to be called the off-seasons. Of course fall planting has always been favored for many plants.

One thing all plants need when being transplanted is plenty of water to keep the roots from drying out. They should be heavily watered at transplanting time and then watered every few days at least until they become established and there is enough natural rainfall to take over the watering job. In periods of drouth, practically all plant life needs a thorough hosing periodically, usually every week or two. While many trees and shrubs will survive heavy drouth, sometimes under such conditions the flower and leaf buds which form in the summer for the following season will not mature fully. Regular hosing during a summer drouth will keep plants stronger and thus help them to keep healthy in the winter months. Sufficient water at all times of the year, including late fall and winter is as important as good soil, although plants should not be over-watered. Good rule is to soak the soil around the roots with water and then wait until it becomes fairly dry just below the surface. Then water again.

Suggestion for Men: Start Raising Bees

A state park manager recently was called on to give a woman visitor first aid for a bee sting.

But unlike most stings, this one was inside the woman; she was talking and the bee flew in and stung her throat. It stopped her talking.

The manager pointed out that there probably wasn't much to be done for an internal sting. He suggested rest.

Cheered by the news, the woman's husband happily led away his voiceless wife. It was the first time in 10 years, he said, when she couldn't have the last word on anything.

New U-M Institute Starts Study of Human Behavior

A new type scientist has invaded the University of Michigan.

Called "generalist" (as opposed to specialist), the new scientist is interested in a general theory which will explain why man behaves the way he does.

Dr. James G. Miller, recently appointed chief of the U-M's new Mental Health Research Institute, says that the group he will head is composed of investigators from several academic fields, all working together on human behavior.

A psychiatrist as well as former chairman of the University of Chicago Department of Psychology, Dr. Miller explains the term, "generalist."

"In the sense in which the family physician must be acquainted with the whole field of medicine, so the behavioral scientist must acquaint himself with many different viewpoints of mental health research."

The group consisting of Dr. Miller, Dr. Ralph W. Gerard, and Anatol Rapoport, will be members of the research section of the U-M Neuropsychiatric Institute, under the directorship of Dr. Raymond W. Waggoner.

States Dr. Waggoner, "Because

modern man seems to know more about things than about himself, legislative support for research in the field of human behavior is not only unique, it should produce some much needed solutions to the problem of mental health."

The Michigan Legislature appropriated $175,000 to establish the Mental Health Research Institute at the University.

Behavioral scientists include physicians, biologists, and social scientists. They also work with engineers, mathematicians, and physicists.

Dr. Miller and his associates formed a Committee on Behavioral Science in 1951 at the University of Chicago as the result of a casual question which an atomic physicist asked.

"Why, I wonder," asked the physicist, "hasn't the same intellect which fashioned the atomic bomb been as successful in helping man live a healthy, creative life?"

"That was a serious and annoying question," declares Dr. Miller, "so a group of us decided to try to find an answer."

"We reasoned that if there are laws of nature capable of being controlled by the physicist, then these must be related to laws of human nature capable of being understood by social scientists."

In effect the behavioral scientists agreed among themselves that there are laws which explain human activity just as there are laws which explain a falling apple or a speeding automobile.

Dr. Miller cites the engineer's ability to determine how much stress and strain a steel bridge can withstand. By similar methods of reasoning more is being learned about man's ability to withstand emotional stress, he declares.

Behavioral scientists, he continues, seek laws and theories which can be applied just as productively to the world of people as they are now being applied to the world of machines.

"We don't mean that man is a machine," he states. "But we are interested in why some machines seem almost human and why some humans act like machines."

The new mental health research chief indicates his group will concentrate primarily on research in mental health, rather than on the treatment of specific emotional diseases. "We are seeking explanations and causes, and we hope that this research will directly help improve the care of the mentally-ill patient," he adds.

The new U-M investigators will establish laboratories similar to those found in the physical sciences, so that the laws of human behavior will be studied under rigid scientific conditions.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL held recently at Calvary Baptist church had an enrollment of 368 boys and girls, the largest group ever taking part in the week of schooling. The school was headed by Reverend and Mrs. Patrick Clifford and was held each morning from Monday through Friday, August 26. A program was presented by the group Sunday evening, August 28.

Salvation Army Provides Relief For Flood Area

More than 30 major cities in six northeastern states became centers for Salvation Army emergency relief work following the recent flood disasters, it was reported by Senior Major Harliffe Nicholls, head of the Plymouth Citadel.

The local Army has helped provide funds for the big relief job. Drawing on its reservoirs of experience in times of disaster, The Salvation Army went into immediate action to relieve the worst of the suffering. A giant mobile feeding unit constructed last year for use in just such an emergency was rushed to Waterbury, Connecticut from New York. It provided hot meals and beverages for thousands.

At all other locations, canteens were brought into use and station wagons and trucks converted into feeding stations.

Urgent requests to the public for donated equipment were met rapidly and shipments of supplies to the disaster areas were quickly effected. Canned goods, clothing, electric hot plates, baby clothes and blankets were among the many items distributed among the homeless.

In addition to meeting the demands for food, the Salvation Army also provided places where temporary living arrangements could be had until other arrangements could be made.

tionists are providing relief are Waltham, Worcester, Farmington, Holyoke, Springfield and Norwood, Massachusetts; Waterbury, Winsted, Seymour, Bristol, Ansonia, Tarrington, Naugatuck, Danbury, Putnam, Norwalk and Sudbury, Connecticut; Trenton, New Jersey; Port Jervis, New York; Stroudsburg, Scranton, Allentown, Pottstown, Bethlehem, Easton, Morristown and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; and Woonsocket, Rhode Island.

Read Fine Print On Food Labels

To conserve the family food dollar when buying pre-packaged meat it is well always to read the fine print on the container and it is also profitable to do some comparative figuring.

This is the advice to cost-conscious housewives from G. S. McIntyre, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. The responsibility of food sanitation, proper labeling of edibles, grading and marketing is entrusted to the Bureau of Foods & Standards within the Department.

Department inspectors are currently encountering a rash of cases where ground beef or hamburger is being pre-packaged and sold as "steaks." Often fanciful descriptions and coined names crop out on the labels.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture is demanding proper identification of the pre-packaged product and proper labeling. But the housewife can do something about this herself. She can carefully read all the print on the package. Declaration of contents plus net weight or numerical count must show.

Under the general food laws of Michigan, the use of any statement, design or device that is false or misleading in any particular is illegal, according to Miles A. Nelson, chief of the Department's Bureau of Foods & Standards.

Sometimes an attractive picture of a steak is used on a package when actually the contents are ground beef or hamburger. Occasionally the word "steak" on the label is preceded by some glowing adjective or ritzy word. Read the fine print, advise McIntyre and Nelson.

The first free diagnostic cancer clinic in the United States was opened in Columbus, Ohio, in 1921. Today hospitals at the State Health Center on the campus of Ohio State University admit more than 2,000 cancer patients a year.

Note Whales Once Swam Great Lakes

It may come as a surprise to Michigan land lubbers to learn that whales once cavorted in the Great Lakes!

Russell C. Hussey, professor of geology at the University of Michigan, points out that whale skeletons have been found in the Lower Peninsula.

And in case you think this is just a tall tale about "the big one that got away," several finds have been made. "One whale skeleton was found near the town of Oscoda where an excavation was being made for a new high school; another was made near Flint, and still another near Tecumseh. A portion of a fourth skeleton was found in a swamp south of Ann Arbor," the professor says.

"These bones were in place. They showed no evidence of having been brought in by the ice of prehistoric glaciers and there was no possibility that they had been carried by human beings," he continues.

Whales are marine animals today and cannot live long in fresh water. The question immediately arises, how did they get from the ocean to Michigan?

According to the University geologist, the problem may not be so difficult after all.

"When the ice started to melt, great quantities of water poured out from the ice front, and collected in depressions on the land surface, eventually forming a great system of glacial lakes. This water covered portions of Michigan and drained into the Atlantic ocean by a variety of channels that formed at different times.

"There was, then, after the Ice Age, a fairly direct water way between this state and the ocean, and the big sea-rangers followed up one of these old water connections and eventually reached Michigan where they perished of starvation," he concludes.

The number of motor vehicles operating in the Ryukyu Islands (southwest of Japan) has increased from 300 before World War II to 4,300 now owned and run by islanders.

Autumn Begins September 23

The sun will reach the autumnal equinox Friday, September 23, at 2:42 p.m., crossing the equator on its way south. This is the day autumn begins.

University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh points out, however, that the day when darkness and light are of equal length will not come until September 26. She explains this by saying that on the 23rd, although the sun will be above and below the horizon for equal lengths of time, it will appear to be above the horizon for about 10 minutes longer.

"Atmospheric refraction, the bending of the sun's rays by the Earth's atmosphere, permits us to see the sun before it actually comes up over the horizon and for the same reason delays its setting," she says.

By the 26th the decrease in length of the sun's hours above the horizon will balance this atmospheric effect and day and night will be equal. From then on the day will grow shorter.

Outstanding among the September constellations will be the Great Square of Pegasus, according to Professor Losh. It will rise almost directly in the east in the early evening.

And another point of interest will be the famous Andromeda nebula known since the tenth century. To the unaided eye it looks like a small luminous cloud or misty star but binoculars or telescope reveal it as an elliptical spot about two degrees in length, above the second star from the corner of the Pegasus square.

"Only on photographs with large telescopes does its true character appear — it's really made of billions of stars and bright and dark gasses. It's believed to be a universe or galaxy like ours about one and one-half millions of light years away," Professor Losh explains.

This is the most distant object the human eye can distinguish unaided, she adds.

HEALTH and BEAUTY

"Character is the individuality which is the product of nature, habits and environment; an individual conceived of in the abstract as a personality embodying distinctive characteristics and habits."

We inherit our natures, but they are shaped and moulded largely by environment. Proper surroundings and teachings in childhood, provided the child has a good inheritance, will usually develop him into an individual of good character.

He will be a valuable and useful citizen. He is dependable, sincere and honest. When he sets himself a task, he applies all his energies to its execution, with determination and fixedness of purpose. He may have many difficulties to surmount, but he does not become faint of heart. He refuses to yield to discouragement.

Hate, malice, vindictiveness and treachery are qualities which are not found in the heart of a man with an admirable character. He is patient, understanding and forgiving in his nature.

Not thinking alone of self, he is always ready to share his time and means for the betterment of his fellowmen. He finds contentment of soul, and he is loved and honored by those who know him well.

The Palmist says, "Mark the perfect man and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace." This is a picture of a man of true and upright character. It is beautiful and ennobling. We love to contemplate it.

Now we turn to another picture which is just the opposite. It is a representation of a bad character. Deceit and dissimulation are engraved upon it. We find that, instead of honesty, there is dishonesty, cruelty and unkindness. We turn away from such a character as from a venomous reptile.

None of us is perfect. We are all mixtures to some extent of the good and bad, but we can all strive to supplant the evil traits with good ones.

William was graduated in 1949 from the University of Michigan and has worked for G.E. in Lockland, Ohio; Philadelphia, Pa.; and at the present division in Lynn. Mr. and Mrs. Schultz, the former Marie Ann Miller of Plymouth, reside at Lynnfield, Mass.

EARL GIBSON of Plymouth and Clare Ebersole of Livonia, as representatives of this area, attended the Michigan Education association Leadership Training conference at St. Mary's lake near Battle Creek recently.

WANT TO LOSE WEIGHT? The American Red Cross says it's easier if you join a group faced with the same problem. A THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK: Real thinkers forget about themselves in thinking.—Max Wertheimer.

One hundred and fifty wild turkeys will be released in two wild areas of Lake county, northwest of Baldwin soon. The birds were hatched from Pennsylvania wild stock eggs and raised at the Conservation Department's game farm near Mason.

A number of areas in the northern lower peninsula were studied as possible release points, but the Lake county sites appeared best as turkey habitat. Also, experience from past releases made by clubs, individuals and the Department in various other northern areas helped eliminate all but the Lake county region. The sites are remote, have some water and a good stand of oak trees, all of which are important for turkeys.

The releases are an extension of the Department's current attempt to re-establish the big wild birds in Michigan.

Two hundred were released in Allegan state forest last year and a number of broods of young have been observed there this year. Turkeys formerly were common in the state but disappeared about the turn of the century.

Both farmers and hunters have parts to play in improving farmer-sportsman relations, and neither group is without blame when those relations are seriously strained.

Dan Reed, Michigan Farm Bureau official, pointed out this joint responsibility when 250 farmers and sportsmen got together near Lapeer to discuss the problem last week.

He said farmers often fail to call law enforcement officials when hunters trespass on their lands. Law officers cannot invoke the Horton trespass law without a request from the land-owner. When such activity goes unpunished, it serves only to deepen the wedge between the two groups.

Hunters are responsible, Reed said, for respecting property rights and for exhibiting common courtesy when hunting in farm country.

The group had a picnic dinner at the County Center building in Lapeer, was rained out of a proposed field trip, held a lively round-table discussion of their problems and concluded with slides on the state's farm-game habitat program.

Hunters came from Detroit, Pontiac, Flint, Port Huron and Monroe county. Most of the farmers were from Lapeer county.

Reed termed the meeting "another successful step toward better farmer-sportsman relations" and said that only through such individual and group action would the problem be solved.

Conservation Commissioner Frank E. Burch of Detroit attended the meeting and spoke briefly. Parts of the meeting were filmed and will be used on the Conservation Department's weekly television show, "Michigan Conservation," used on 12 TV stations in Michigan, Ohio, Ontario and Wisconsin.

Thirty-five fires burned 699 acres of Michigan forests and grasslands last week. To date this year, 972 fires have damaged 4760 acres of state land. The total does not include land administered by the federal government.

The proper student of zoology might be surprised to hear that Scotch tape is necessary to his work, but such seems the case.

A mowing machine partially destroyed a wild turkey nest in Allegan county this spring and four of the eight eggs were badly crushed. All, however, were taken to the Department's game farm near Mason.

Roy M. Hunt, in charge of the farm, taped the cracked eggs back together and began incubation.

When the incubation period ended, five of the eggs hatched into healthy, wild poult, including two of the Scotch-taped eggs.

The birds, now well on their way to adulthood, will be released in the Allegan area in the near future.

A revised and updated list of information about Michigan's 20 largest lakes is available free from the Conservation Department's fish division at Lansing 26. Houghton Lake with 20,044 acres is largest in the state, followed in order by Torch, Charlevoix, Burt, Mullet, Gogebic, Manistique and Black Lakes. All these are 10,000 or more acres in size. Torch Lake is deepest, going down 285 feet while the Michigamme Reservoir in Iron county, 17th in size, has 78 miles of shoreline, by a wide margin the longest of the group.

The information was gleaned from the Department's continuing lake mapping work.

MOMS News

Friday, September 16, is the date set for the MOMS Tag Day. The money will be used for veterans in hospitals, their comfort and needs, also, packing of Christmas boxes for the boys in service. Hope our collections are good. Mrs. Hazel Norgrove is chairman and will be assisted by Mrs. Carrie Gladstone.

The first business meeting of the new year will be Monday, September 12, at 8 p.m. in the Veteran's Community center.

MSU Specialist Develops New Variety of Lettuce

A new variety of leaf lettuce that will boost yield — both in the home garden and greenhouse — has been developed at Michigan State University.

Horticulturist S. H. Wittwer, who developed the variety, said the new lettuce combines the good features of both the Grand Rapids and Bibb varieties. He has dubbed the vegetable "Tendergreen."

Wittwer pointed out that no other variety compares with Tendergreen's yield in the greenhouse during the short days and cloudy weather of fall and winter in Michigan. Fall plantings harvested in midwinter have exceeded yields of the Grand Rapids variety by 35 per cent.

Wittwer recommended seeding Tendergreen in greenhouses from September through November for harvest during January and February.

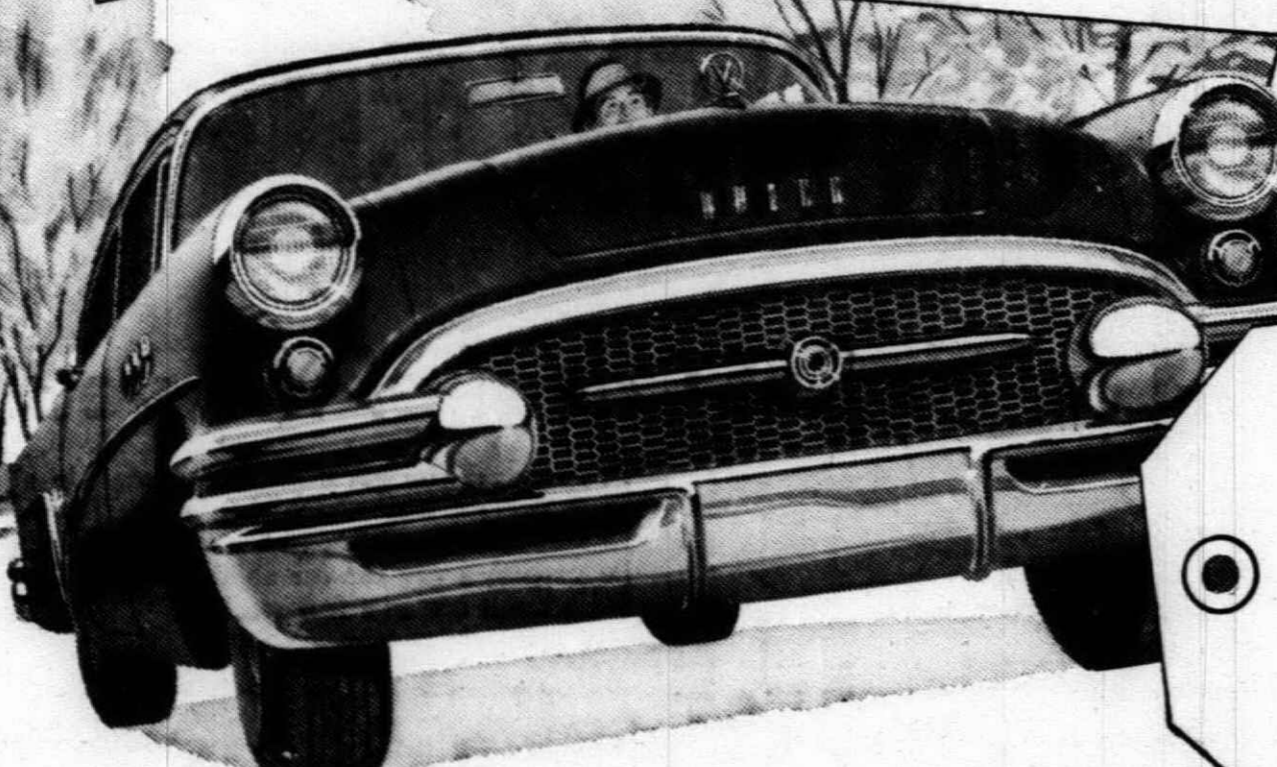

Tests in Grand Rapids and Lansing stores show that consumers prefer Tendergreen over the Grand Rapids variety.

You don't need a "BUNDLE" to wrap up this BONUS-BARGAIN

SOMETIMES, a bargain is measured by how little you pay. Sometimes, it's measured by how much you get. But here's one that's a whopping bargain by both measures. Because right now—for the least money of the year—you can buy the mostest Buick in history. That, Mister, is because we're adding a profit-sharing bonus allowance on top of the long trade-in allowances we've been making all year. And when we say the "mostest" Buick, we mean the most-wanted Buick ever built—the one that has broken every record in the book—outselling by far all other cars except the two most widely known smaller ones. We mean the Buick that brings you the most for your money in terms of mighty V8 Power — of real family-size room—of bold fresh styling. The one that gives you the most buoyant ride ever born of all-coil springing. And we mean the only car blessed by the smooth magic of Variable Pitch Dynaflo®—world's first transmission built on the switch-pitch principle of the modern plane's propeller. Come on in. We're ready and waiting to make you the deal of your life on the most thrilling Buick ever.

* Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, optional at modest extra cost on other Series.

It doesn't pay to get former Perfection Laundry owner Ken Corey mad. Last Wednesday he got his first speeding ticket from Livonia police. It was his first in 27 years of driving in this area and it was given on Ann Arbor Trail where just over a hill Livonia police had their electric ticketing system operating. He was ticketed for going six miles over the limit, he stated, and it made him so mad that Thursday he printed a big sign, hung it on the back of his car and parked in front of the hill. His sign read . . . Speed Trap Ahead, and to make sure drivers wouldn't miss his warning he further stood by the sign and pointed to the warning. The result . . . on Wednesday 157 Plymouth motorists were ticketed at the spot . . . while Corey was on duty, no tickets were issued.

If you haven't been to a State Fair in many years you might find, as did we, that it brings back some of the thrills and memories of your youth which have long past been lost.

Nothing is more American than a State Fair. Nowhere are such normally far-flung incongruities as marmalade and fireworks, farm tractors and cotton candy, cows and dancing girls, so vital to the total product.

It's a star-spangled, flag and bunting bedecked, papier-mache potpourri of flashing, clashing color and sound. It's a combination of education, mystery, camaraderie and fun which tends to defy description.

There is something for both the very young and the very old.

As you prepare to attend the whole family finds there is exciting anticipation. In attending, there is an incomparable thrill. In having attended, there is an unquenchable memory that lingers long after the aching legs and feet, wearied from miles of tramping all over the grounds.

Michigan's State Fair is among the nation's finest and without question one of the most spectacular.

Within its confines can be found a wonderful, living showcase of the myriad facets which make Michigan great, as it serves the nation and itself.

Here are the people of our state, gathered from Plymouth and other cities and the farms, to witness and to exhibit the widely diversified accomplishments of their industry, agriculture, arts, sciences, and just plain Wolverine State living.

It's Michigan, it's America, U.S.A. and it's Plymouth: Proud of its history, enjoying the present and building for tomorrow.

There are but three more days. It takes less than an hour to drive to the grounds. The time spent will certainly be most worthwhile.

Prize quip of the week . . . barber Donald Gray, standing in front of a mirror in his dad's barber shop shaving himself and saying . . . "this razor is so dull it brings tears to my eyes as I shave" . . . ????

Last week I made mention of the Petoskey Motor Court in Petoskey. Only yesterday I noted in the bulletin of the National Editorial Association the following item. "From the edge of Town to Downtown go the Motels to compete with the established hotels. California first with seven percent of motels, Florida second, each have noticed the new trend. Chicago's well known Edgewater Beach Hotel will have competition this fall with the opening of the new Sands Motel, one block away with 90 rooms.

Another observation made in the same bulletin was the encouragement by travel agencies of the development of more roadside table areas for the motoring public. We couldn't help but notice that Michigan highways were generously sprinkled with these convenient spots on our drive last week.

As a matter of fact we haven't seen any other state in our travels that provides the tourist with as many tables as does Michigan. We further noticed that they were constantly in use by the tourists from early morning to night . . . some people just picnicking and others cooking complete meals on the state provided grills or stoves of their own which they carried in their cars.

There most certainly is a trend to this type of travel which allows the tourist to be more selective in his food and also allows him to prepare it in the way he prefers best. Give the modern traveller a small ice carrier, charcoal grill, coffee pot and a couple of pans and he can be in business fast and probably feed his family three meals a day for about half what it would cost to patronize northern restaurants.

Of further interest was our observation that picnickers came from all classes. We observed Cadillacs and jalopies along with all other makes of cars parked at the tables where from two to six people would be found enjoying a quiet breathing spell over a pot of hot coffee and a plate of sandwiches to break up the monotony of the drive. While the parents did the work the kids could romp at will at some scenic roadside spot for an hour or so before taking up the drive again.

Republicans Poised for Conference

State Republicans are rubbing their hands in happy anticipation of their "open to everyone" political get together at Mackinac Island Sept. 17-18.

They watched a similar meeting of Democratic bigwigs last month with some anxiety. But as the session continued, GOP leaders relaxed.

"They are just rehashing the same old chatter," said a leading Republican spokesman. "They just haven't got an issue and they know it. The Republican national administration has given the country peace and prosperity; provided the working man with the best income ever, and will probably balance the budget. Personal attacks on Eisenhower have been getting them nowhere, so they must scrape the bottom of the barrel for anything to criticize."

Truman's appearance failed to produce much interest, according to GOP observers. In fact, they believe that it is Democratic worry about the former President's unpredictable statements that caused him to cancel several campaign speeches this fall — not his health as was announced.

Republicans are billing their meeting as the All Michigan Republican Forward to '56 Conference. Anyone interested in good government is said to be welcome.

Program calls for several nationally known speakers, like Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the national committee, to be present. There will be talks on foreign affairs, finance, domestic problems; panels on such subjects as mental health, education and state economy.

Subdivisions of the GOP will huddle to decide what should be done about winning the state election in 1956. Besides the State Central Committee, which will ponder the same problem, sessions have been scheduled for the Young Republicans, Republican women, Republican war veterans, etc.

"A blue ribbon slate." That's the aim of the GOP and its machinations. They are hoping to find a list of "well qualified, energetic" candidates, with irresistible public appeal. Who they will be — or where they'll be found is not yet certain. In fact, recent trial balloons for candidates for the governor's race indicates that things are very much up in the air.

Peace and Prosperity for the Michigan of Tomorrow. That's the announced theme for the GOP Mackinac meeting. A necessary part of any such plan, from their standpoint at least, means the first big job to be accomplished is the organizing of their own party into a machine that can win Michigan elections.

Organized efforts by many local groups will soon be made in a campaign to urge all eligible voters to register. This is part of a national drive, suggested by President Eisenhower, to get out the vote for coming elections.

Cooperating with the idea, Gov. Williams appointed a state committee to promote the idea through branches of their individual organizations — political, trade, civic, religious, etc.

Constitution Day, Sept. 17, will see the kick off of the seven day drive. The period will be called Citizenship Week. The governor has also issued a proclamation asking for wide spread participation in the promotion to insure registration of all eligible voters.

Various activities will be seen in various areas. In metropolitan areas branch registration offices will be set up, manned by firemen, policemen or other volunteers. In other localities, telephone campaigns will be organized. Bulletin boards will remind people to register. Newspapers, radio and tv will carry the message.

Humorous suggestion was submitted by the editor of a northern weekly newspaper in an open letter to the "New Secretary of State — Whoever You Are."

The editor referred to the running battle about the site of the jet interceptor base in northern Michigan, calling it a "Lazy Susan basis, stopping here and there." He suggested that the matter be left to the U. S. Navy. The base could then be built on an aircraft carrier, which could steam to the area which satisfied the most political pressures. Other advantages of this plan were listed: no roads required; no television towers; no Congressional district boundaries. In the summer it could be moved from the National Music Camp area, because, he says, no enemy would be expected to attack during "music season."

Slogans on license plates describing the wonders of Michigan may be abandoned in 1957.

It all started when Secretary of State James M. Hare assigned a committee to a study of highway safety measures and an anonymous attorney questioned the right of the state to advertise on license plates.

Hare mentioned that the National Safety Council was recommending that states drop the slogans to make the digits more readable.

Then came the dissenters. Robert J. Furlong, executive secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council, asked Hare to spare that slogan until the facts could be gathered. He said he had a letter from the National Safety Council, denying a recommendation one way or the other on the slogans. At the moment, the issue still is unsettled.

- Q.—Please explain what constitutes a pocket veto?
- A.—Under the Constitution the President has 10 days, exclusive of Sundays, from the date of receiving a bill within which to sign the measure? If within that ten-day period Congress should adjourn, and so prevent return of the bill to which the President may object, that bill does not become a law. In many cases a president has taken advantage of this provision and held until after adjournment, a bill which he disapproved, but which for some reason did not wish to return to congress with his objections. This is called a pocket veto. President Franklin D. Roosevelt, in some instances exercised the pocket veto, but wrote on the copy of the bill, "Disapproved and signature withheld." President Roosevelt believed the Congress and the country were entitled to know at least that failure to sign was deliberate.
- Q. Can you tell me what the Congressional appropriations is for Crop Insurance?
- A. It differs annually. In this year's budget the administration asks for $6 million, although the Agricultural department plans to spend $7½ million. Upon recommendation of the Hoover Commission, a bill has been introduced permitting crop insurance administrative costs to be added to the charge to farmers. Heretofore these costs have been paid by government.
- Q. I understand there are vacant beds in veterans hospitals. Are there any new such hospitals being built?
- A. There are some vacant beds in some kinds of hospitals, but waiting lists in others. A contract was only recently let for an addition to the Veterans Hospital in Houston, Texas, at a cost of $3,900,000. It will be a 258-bed neuropsychiatric wing.

★ THINKING OUT LOUD ★

One question, sometimes controversial, sometimes personal is asked each week by The Mail of four pedestrians along Plymouth's downtown streets. This week's guests are "thinking out loud" on the question:

"Now that Main street has been reconstructed to four lanes in width, there has been some controversy as to whether parking should be allowed on the route. Do you believe parking should be permitted?"

DON METTETAL, 46847 Ann Arbor Road: "Here in the main business block parking should be allowed but there should be no parking on this new section. There is too much traffic now. When a car parks, the cars traveling in that lane have to dodge in and out."

DONALD UHRICH, 35300 Joy: "I drive a dump truck often through the city and see cars parked in the afternoons on the main streets that are parked there in the mornings. I believe that the street should be opened to traffic."

MAYFORD SIELOFF, 14805 Haggerty: "It's simple to figure that out. We had two lanes and traffic couldn't do nothing. In front of the Chevrolet garage the other day a car was parked. A car coming up that lane pulled out into the other lane and about had an accident. We should have more off-street parking and definitely no parking on the street. Perhaps after business hours it might be all right. The widened street helps the traffic problem a lot, I believe, it's a great improvement. But parking on the street would put us back where we started."

CHARLES DAVIS, 9011 Ball: "I don't think it should. I work at a service station on Main street and have noticed from experience that one car parked causes others to pull out. Maybe certain hours of parking would be all right."

"PLODS HIS WEARY WAY"

Quotes

DR. ABRAHAM STONE, marriage consultant:

"An hour of pre-marital counselling can do more to insure a happy marriage than a year of counselling with couples whose troubles have already taken root."

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER:

"Without God, there could be no American form of government, nor an American way of life."

MARISA PAVAN, twin sister of Pier Angeli, both movie actresses:

"Even a twin must lead her own life."

ALBERT SCHWEITZER, 80-year-old organist, philosopher, medical missionary, discounting rumor he was losing his eyesight:

"The day when I would need glasses has not yet arrived."
