

Mitchell and Stecker Win Board Election

Austin Stecker and James Mitchell, running as a team for the board of education and backed by a well-organized group of township citizens, will take their seats with the board this Monday night while President Carl Caplin and Vice-President Horton Booth step aside.

The two men scored a clear-cut victory among five candidates in the race for two board vacancies. Although record books were not checked, the 917 who went to the polls is believed to be an all-time high.

Results of the election were: Stecker, 543; Mitchell, 442; Caplin, 378; Booth, 234; and Lester Upton, 162. Also on the ballot was a minor proposition concerning the trading of one tenth acre of land behind Starkweather school. It was approved 785 to 95.

Election workers, looking at the voting turn-out during the past few years when around 380 electors cast their ballots, found themselves tallying results until 10:30 Monday night. They had expected to be finished by 9 o'clock, an hour after the polling place closed.

A steady stream of voters entered the poll from the time it opened at 7 a. m. The school board was in session in a nearby room while votes were being counted. Newly-elected members in previous years never took office until the new school year started on July 1, but new state laws will allow Stecker and Mitchell to begin their duties at a special meeting this Monday.

The meeting will be for the purpose of re-organizing and electing officers. Unlike previous school board elections where very little campaigning took place among the non-partisan candidates, the two winners spared no punches in their bid for election. Meetings were held among township people to attract interest in voting and to organize workers. A telephone campaign took place on election day and handbills were used.

Issues dating back to a year ago when three Canton school districts were annexed with the Plymouth district were in the picture. Mitchell and Stecker both campaigned against expanding the school district any further. They also advocated that politics be divorced from the school board—pointing to the annexation issue last fall in which the school board supported the Western Electric Annexation and several members served on the city-appointed study committee.

A more recent issue is the one concerning the new Gallimore elementary school. Many parents in the western part of the township are disturbed because their children were scheduled to be moved from Bird and Smith schools to the new school. The winning candidates expressed their interest in "carrying out the original plans of adding rooms to the present Bird, Smith and Allen schools."

The losing incumbent candidates, Booth and Caplin, were both elected for the first time (Continued on Page 8)

New Junior High Named; Ceremony Breaks Ground

"Plymouth Community Junior High School" is the name given to the system's new school which was started Wednesday morning with a brief ground-breaking ceremony.

Retiring board member and President Carl Caplin turned over the first spadeful of ground while a small group of school, township and city officials, contractors and the architect watched.

The board of education voted Monday night to name the new school Plymouth Community Junior High school. The 18-acre site is located in the southeast corner of the city behind the V.F.W. home on Lilley road. It is expected to house 1,000 students and a completion date of September 1957 has been set.

Superintendent Russell Isbister conducted the ceremony under the hot morning sun in the middle of the big field. The Reverend David Davies, pastor of St. John's Episcopal church, opened the ceremony with a prayer, followed by remarks from Mark Jaroszewicz of the architectural firm of Eberle M. Smith Associates, and Arthur J. Alford, principal of the junior high.

"This will be a monument to the city of Plymouth, the township, and to the boys and girls of the area," Principal Alford stated. He commended the board for the many hours of work throughout the past year and a half in planning the school and visiting many other junior highs.

Caplin, noting that this would be his last official act and citing this as an example of what a community can do in a cooperative effort, took the gold-gilt spade and turned over a healthy clump of the dry soil.

The shovel is the same one which broke ground for Bird, Smith, Allen and the Gallimore schools.

Commission Sees Costly Library Addition Plans

City commissioners looked longingly at two different plans for a new building extension of the Wayne County Library, but where to get the money—between $64,000 and $120,000—appeared to be the question of the hour.

A special meeting of the commission was held Monday night at which they were shown drawings by Wheeler & Becker, Architects. The meeting also brought a lively discussion about an assistant director of public works, more talk about the sale of bonds for the airport, a discussion on purchasing land for another park and authorization to take bids for a tractor.

Architect Byron Becker of Plymouth was present to explain the two plans. Also sitting in as interested parties were Mrs. Bessie Dunning and daughter, Margaret Dunning, donors of the original building for library use and Walter Kaiser, county librarian.

By carrying through the contemporary architecture used on the present rear of the library, Becker estimated the front addition would cost a minimum of $64,403. This would be one floor with a basement room for the Plymouth Historical Society.

Variations of this plan including such things as air conditioning would run the cost up to $78,000. But the more expensive colonial sketch appeared to draw the commission's fancy. Prices for this two-story and basement building would range from $95,000 to $120,000.

While costs of maintaining the library are distributed among the communities using the facility, upkeep and capital improvements are the city's responsibilities. "Can't others participate in these capital investments?" Mayor Russell Daane asked the county librarian.

Kaiser doubted that the board of supervisors would make such arrangements and recommended that the city and township get together and split the costs. The mayor answered that such a proposition was asked but that the township had refused.

Outcome of the long discussion was the request by commissioners to study the plans for a few weeks. There was some discussion about floating a bond issue and placing it before the public at an election.

A new position, that of assistant superintendent of public works, was created Monday at the recommendation of the city manager. The position has not yet been filled.

Still Seek Body Of Plymouthite At Mackinac

Rudolph Koppen drove his son's car back home to Plymouth from St. Ignace last Tuesday, still carrying hopes that they will find the body of the 28-year-old father of four who was killed last Wednesday afternoon in a plunge from a tower of the Mackinac Straits Bridge.

Although some newspapers published reports that Robert Koppen's body had been found, his weary father made the long drive home to tell the victim's wife, Deloris, and mother that all efforts to locate the body have so far failed.

The three left last night for the Straits to look at the scene. Widely-known in Plymouth, Robert had gone on the job at the bridge at noon last Wednesday, the father learned. The tragedy happened two hours later. A mooring holding a catwalk snapped, sending Robert and Jack Baker of Pagosa Springs, Colorado, to the water 540 feet below. Three other men survived by holding on to the catwalk.

Robert, who had worked in numerous Detroit area industries as a rigger and handler of machinery, had never before worked on such a project. He had learned of the job at the Riggers Union hall on Monday and arrived in St. Ignace Tuesday. After necessary paper work and physicals he was given the job.

Dr. Edwin Rice of Plymouth drove the elder Koppen to St. Ignace after news of the mishap reached here. Koppen stayed in St. Ignace five days, talking with workers who saw the accident, going up on the tower to see where it occurred and joining in the dragging operations.

"I have found out that Bob was in good company when the accident happened," Koppen said upon his return. "He had the foreman and assistant superintendent with him—all experienced men. They still don't see how such a thing could happen."

"The state, the company and men have been wonderful to me," he continued. "Those men are rough but they have hearts of gold. They have been working at their jobs all day and spending the night dragging the water."

A diver has been searching the water around the base of the north tower, with the belief that the body lodged in the debris in the water. Once the diver's lines became fouled and he almost lost his life. A more experienced diver is now being brought in and a helicopter is flying overhead.

Water in the Straits is treacherous, moving east an hour and then moving west an hour. Baker's body was found.

Witnesses told Koppen that his son was trying to take off the heavy safety belt with tools as he fell toward the water. A test with a cement block showed that the fall took but 10 seconds.

Mail Wins National Honors

Competing against 1728 newspapers from 45 states and Hawaii, The Plymouth Mail was one of 177 winners announced at the National Editorial Association's Better Newspaper Awards Night banquet in Louisville, Kentucky, last week.

It marked the second consecutive year The Mail has won national honors. Winning state awards in general excellence is a habit The Mail has continued for many years.

The Mail's latest prize came in excellence in typography. This classification covers the general appearance of the newspaper; its attention to balance, type display, theme presentation and quality of printing. In competition with weeklies whose circulation is more than 6,000, The Mail won honorable mention. Other winners in order of their standing were: Birmingham (Mich.) Eccentric, Wyandotte (Mich.) Tribune, Dearborn (Mich.) Guide, Hollywood (Fla.) Sun-Tattler and Detroit (Mich.) West Side Courier.

In making their decision the judges stated: "Competition among the large weeklies was keen and the final choice was most difficult. The all around balance displayed by the winners impressed the judges a great deal."

New Petition Filed by City

Plymouth city is "back in business" once again in its efforts to annex the Burroughs corporation plant and other land. A new petition was filed last Thursday noon with the county clerk after it was learned that a technicality would make the first petition invalid.

The county prosecutor's office had revealed that the first petition was invalid because the deed to 11.7 acres of land in Riverside park was not recorded in 1925. The land, which was leased to the county for 99 years, was part of the property included in the annexation petition.

City officials learned of the technicality Monday and hurriedly recorded the deed Tuesday. New petitions were in circulation by late Wednesday afternoon and were filed by City Manager Albert Glassford with County Clerk Edgar Branigan shortly after noon Thursday.

Action was taken by the city commission at a special meeting on Wednesday night of last week to authorize the city clerk and mayor to sign petitions in behalf of the city. A resolution to authorize the signatures was needed with the vote 4-1 in favor. Commissioner Harry Roberts dissented and Marvin Terry and Robert Sincock were absent.

Most of the signatures on the new petition were obtained Wednesday night. There were signatures of 179 city and 24 township residents on the petitions. On the first petition submitted May 2 there were 164 city and 20 township signers.

Gallimore Hospitalized

James J. S. Gallimore, immediate past president of the board of education and the man for whom the new elementary school is being named, is in the hospital recovering from two coronary attacks.

The first was suffered two weeks ago today, but he remained home until he suffered another last Thursday. After cardiographic tests, he was admitted to Ridgewood Osteopathic hospital on Geddes road near Ypsilanti. It is not known when he will be able to return home. Gallimore is 72.

Twenty-six-year-old Joseph Joyner is in Plymouth city jail today nervously awaiting word about whether the woman he shot twice Tuesday afternoon will live or die.

The victim was Mrs. William Garrett, 52, of 708 Church street, who only last Friday had rented a room to Joyner's wife and two young children. Joyner told police and an assistant prosecutor yesterday morning that he had entered the home brandishing a gun "just to scare my wife".

He shot once at his wife and missed, then fired two shots into the chest and stomach of Mrs. Garrett. A few minutes later, Patrolman Dan Johnson arrived and Joyner held him at gunpoint for five minutes before the 22-year-old officer wrestled the gun away.

The shooting took place at about 3:20 p. m. Pupils at the nearby high school were dismissed 15 minutes later and hundreds of students watched when Mrs. Garrett was taken away by ambulance and Joyner, handcuffed, was led to a police car.

A report from University hospital yesterday noon listed the victim as very serious. She underwent surgery which ended at 3 a. m. Wednesday.

Joyner is being held for "investigation of felonious assault," pending the outcome of his victim's condition.

Although no statement has yet been taken from the victim, police have most of the crime pieced together. Joyner and his teen-age wife, Faye, had been living in a Ford road apartment. The husband's drinking and lack of work are believed to have been the chief factors leading to their split-up last Friday. Mrs. Joyner took a room in the Garrett home with her two children, Ricky, 21 months, and Debra Kay, 6 months.

The husband stopped early one morning this weekend and attempted to be troublesome then, Police Chief Kenneth Fisher declared. He stopped Tuesday morning again and wanted to take his wife for a ride, but she refused, she said, because he had been drinking.

Sometime after 3 o'clock that afternoon, Joyner entered the home with the Colt .22 automatic pistol which he had taken sometime from his father's home. "I just wanted to scare her," he told police. He beat and kicked his wife while in the large kitchen of the home and took a shot at her. The slug was found imbedded in a door. He then turned the gun on Mrs. Garrett.

The wounded woman made her way to a nearby telephone and called police. "For God's sake, call someone. I've been shot," she pleaded to Mrs. Leona Lyons, police switchboard operator.

A radio alarm went out and first to arrive was Officer Johnson who was riding a motorcycle at the time. Entering the door, he first saw Mr. Garrett, an invalid for many years, in the porch-living room. Hearing noise in the next room, he entered, saw Mrs. Garrett on her hands and knees and moaning.

Johnson stepped into the room where he met Joyner pointing the gun. "He told me not to move or he would shoot me. I didn't move," Johnson later told.

"I asked him to give me his gun two or three times and he refused by saying that I shouldn't move; that he had already shot somebody and that one or two more would not make any difference to him."

SOBBING and near hysterics, Faye Joyner, the gunman's wife, is shown attempting to explain to police what happened. This picture was taken shortly after her husband was jailed.

Trailer Park Appeal Lost by Township

Michigan's Supreme Court has upheld a lower court's decision which will allow the construction of a 102-unit trailer park in western Plymouth township.

The higher court's judgement was received here last week and the winning plaintiffs in the case, Clyde and Beryle

Smith, have already resumed work on the project by starting the drilling of wells.

Defendant in the original case was the Plymouth township building inspector, Ernest Rosow, who in October 1954 denied the Smiths a building permit. The brothers then sought a writ of mandamus to compel the building inspector to issue the permit. Trial was held late in 1954 in the court of Circuit Court Judge Wade McCree and several months later he issued a judgement in favor of the Smiths.

The township board then appealed the case to the State Supreme Court and the review took place April 10. Judge McCree's opinion was upheld by the higher court on every question.

Clyde Smith, spokesman for the partnership, stated that he soon expects to get approval from the county to tap into the county interceptor sewer. After the State Department of Health approves water and sewer plans, he will again ask for a building permit. The ground will then be graded, sewers and water lines laid, and roads and concrete patios built.

Smith hopes to have the park ready for occupancy by late fall. He adds that interest by trailer owners indicates that the 102 units should be filled within a few months after completion.

The proposed park is on the west side of Ridge road between Five Mile and North Territorial roads. Of the 25 acre site, 10 acres will be for trailer parking and the remaining 15 will be recreational area. Each trailer parking lot will be 40 by 60 feet with a concrete slab for the trailer, a concrete patio and crushed stone driveway.

There were three questions presented in the township's appeal. The first asked, "Did the plaintiffs pursue a proper remedy in the form of a petition for the (Continued on Page 8)"

Former Publisher Eaton Files for Legislature

Sterling Eaton, former publisher of The Plymouth Mail and The Livonian, became the first candidate to file his petition for state representative from the 21st district.

Eaton filed the petition with County Clerk Edgar Branigan Wednesday morning. A Republican, the Plymouthite has no known opposition with his party for the nomination but several Democrats are expected to file. The deadline is next Tuesday.

Among those at the ground-breaking ceremonies Wednesday morning for the new junior high school on Lilley road were these six present and incoming school board members. From left: Warren Smith; Harold Fischer; Mrs. Esther Hulsing; Carl Caplin, outgoing member; Austin Stecker; and James Mitchell. Stecker and Mitchell are incoming members. Horton Booth, another outgoing member, was not present.

Son Earns Clifford Smith '56 Father-of-Year Title

THOUGH DAD wasn't home at the time to receive the news, his wife Dorothy, son Lary, 14, and daughter Janeien, 10, were joyous to learn Clifford "Tip" Smith, 977 Dewey, was Plymouth's Father of the Year for 1956. Smith (inset) was in Big Rapids Monday attending his father who had been stricken by a heart attack. It was Lary's entry in the annual Father contest that brought the honors to his dad.

Because 14-year-old Lary Smith hopes-among other things- to be like his father, Clifford "Tip" Smith, 977 Dewey, this week became Plymouth's top-ranked son for 1956 in the annual Chamber of Commerce sponsored Father of the Year contest.

By virtue of his son's entry being judged best in the third Father event, the elder Smith will be showered with 28 various appropriate gifts, all of which were donated by as many local merchants.

But elation for the Smith family was preceded by sudden sadness with the news that Clifford's father, Glenn, had been stricken by a heart attack. The latter event occurred only hours before the announcement that Clifford had been named Plymouth's "Father."

Thus Tip was in Big Rapids with his father when his wife called to inform him that he was the 1956 winner. Tip was speechless. His wife, Dorothy, said she didn't hear a thing from him when she told him.

Lary's complete winning entry read: "He does so much for us. He is a good man that boys should copy. I hope to be like him." Contestants, about 50 children all under 17 years of age, had to complete in 25 words or less the sentence: "I believe my father should be chosen Plymouth's Father of the Year because..."

Although the new Father was not available for comment, the other members of his family expressed his views on winning. Said Mr. Smith, "It's quite a thrill for all of us."

"I still can't believe it," remarked Lary, whose entry did the trick. Lary's sister, Janeien, 10, was joyous. She also wanted to know if her Daddy's picture would be in the paper, too.

Lary is an eighth grader who works hard at many things including his music lessons. He plays a basson, a saxophone and a baritone sax and is a member of the junior high band. He would like to be an electrical engineer when he grows up.

His father, known as "Tip" for so long that friends look for him in the phone book under that name, is a life-long resident of Plymouth. He is presently division accountant for the Townsend company, Dunn Steel division.

Tip's father, Glenn, is the former owner of Smitty's restaurant here. He was living at his summer home in Bitley, Michigan, when stricken.

The Clifford Smith family had just returned last week end from a 10-day vacation into seven southern states. Along their route they visited such scenic points as the Smokey Mountains, Mammoth caves and Abraham Lincoln's home.

Following is a list of gifts the new Plymouth Father of the Year will receive along with the various donors:

Bob's Handy Hardware, garden shovel; Western Auto, car wash brush; Blunk's, card table; Penn Theatre, five free passes; Davis & Lent, Stetson hat; Carl Caplin, choice of sport shirt; Plymouth Hardware, Stanley hammer.

The bride is the daughter of the Swedish Consul and Mrs. Edward Johansson of Briarcliff road.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Parisian lace over satin, a creation specially made in Sweden. She also wore the traditional Swedish gold crown and carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride's attendants wore waltz-length gowns of white eyelet organza over pink taffeta and pink sashes. They carried bouquets of pink baby roses and lilies of the valley.

Betty Lee, former classmate of the bride at Liggett school and Albion college, was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Caroline Tuffor, cousin of the bride; Mrs. James A. Lee, Jr. of Detroit; Andrea Maurer of Indiana; and Lola Fischer of Chicago. Carol Lee Cato of Wilmington, Delaware, niece of the groom, was junior bridesmaid and Berit Johansson, the bride's sister, was flower girl.

Mrs. Johansson, the bride's mother, wore a gown of pale green lace over taffeta and Mrs. Garber wore beige lace over taffeta. A reception was held after the ceremony at the Dearborn Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. James Garber will spend their honeymoon in Sweden and upon their return will make their home in Ann Arbor where Mr. Garber will continue his law studies at the University of Michigan.

by Carl Peterson

Well, we can't let the 17th of June (Father's Day) drop into history without a syllable or two in reference to the fellow who pays the bills. Did you ever notice that when some word expert picks the ten most beautiful words in the English language, "Mother" is always high up on the list... but "Father" gets about as many votes as a skunk at a picnic?

Pop is strictly for laughs... thanks to radio, TV and film writers who make him about as smart as a three-toed sloth. In cartoons Dad is always the chump who paints himself into a corner or who is hanging on a chandelier calling for Mom's help. But a lot of fathers are a little smarter than that... and there isn't one of them who doesn't appreciate a little recognition.

An English minister fines brides who keep an impatient groom waiting for the word expert picks a minute after the first two minutes. Looks like all repenting will have to be done after the ceremony... Speaking of young marrieds reminds us of babies... and of our complete stocks of baby goods, from baby oils and shampoos to powders and a complete line of medicinal supplies. For your baby's health, see us. Remember, someone you know, knows me.

Remember... "someone you know, knows me."

Airport Mechanics Mark Anniversary By Converting Plane into Crop-Duster

It's anniversary time for Joe Stuky, 1364 South Harvey, and Tom Demyon, of Detroit, youthful co-owners of D and S Aircraft Service, 8508 Lilley road. They celebrated one year in business on June 1.

Stuky and Demyon, both 28, operate an aircraft maintenance and conversion outfit at Mettetal Airport. They're the fellows that grease, gas and service light aircraft hangered or stopped over at Mettetal's.

The two men assumed the responsibility of aircraft maintenance at the nearby airport on June 1, 1955, after having worked for Robert Mettetal about two years. They formed their own company and operate as an individual unit of the overall air terminal.

Stuky, who is married and the father of one boy, has lived in Plymouth a little over a year. Demyon, who is single hails from Detroit.

Both have entertained life-long interests in planes, from the flying and the servicing standpoint. Stuky graduated from Aero Mechanics school at the Detroit City Airport with the class of '49. Demyon is a '54 grad of the same school.

Stuky was in an Army liaison section as a mechanic on planes in Korea. Demyon was on an aircraft carrier in Air Division during World War II. In addition to both being top-notch airplane mechanics, they also are pilots. Stuky has 500 air hours, Demyon 200.

Although the two spend most of their time during their six-day work week busy servicing and repairing planes, they pride themselves with their ability to convert aircraft from one type to another.

An example of this novel facet of their business was the conversion of a Boeing Pt-17 (primary trainer of World War II vintage) into a crop-duster and spraying plane for Robert Schmidt of Belleville.

Originally the Boeing was a two-seater, one-engine bi-plane. The two youthful quick-change artists installed a 450-horsepower engine in place of the 220-hp engine the craft started out with.

They eliminated the front seat, putting in its place a 220-gallon combination dust and spray container. The plane's dimensions are: 35-foot wing span, 10-foot height and 30-foot length.

Stuky and Demyon then devised a custom built instrument panel for the Boeing-turned-crop-duster and installed it. The addition of a crash pad for the low-flying plane insured further safety for crop-dusting pilots.

Other major changes included the addition of a special baggage compartment to the rear of the cockpit and spray booms on the bottom parts of the wing.

On top of these many major conversion items, the two had to rebuild numerous smaller items to make way for the larger accessories necessary.

Crop-dusters battle such pests as the gypsy moth and insects which cause the Dutch Elm tree disease. The pilots follow the bugs in season over cotton, wheat and forests from the deep south up into Canada.

And Stuky and Demyon chase bugs, too—the kind that cause minor repair jobs on planes at D and S Aircraft Service, 8508 Lilley road. They also celebrate anniversaries there.

LOCAL VIVIANS last week presented the Wayne out-county chapter of the society for crippled children and adults with a wheel chair for use by crippled persons. The presentation is pictured here. Mrs. Walsh, retiring Vivians president, hands the check for payment on the wheel chair to Mrs. Taylor, who is secretary and representative of the society. Mrs. Lat ure is incoming president of Vivians and Mrs. Lidgard is retiring vice-president. Other new Vivians officers include: Phyllis Anderson, vice-president; Elizabeth Cutler, recording secretary; Shirley Berry, corresponding secretary; Jean Schoen, treasure; Alice Rensel, chaplain; Esther Powell, sergeant-at-arms; Martha George, Ruth Woods and Margaret Walsh, members at large.

School Group Moves to Delay New Boundaries

Members of the newly formed committee to iron-out school boundary problems met Friday evening for the first time. The group, composed of two parents from each school, came up with a compromise proposal that would delay any change in school lines.

Action which led to the formation of the committee was set-off at the school board meeting last week when parents protested newly proposed boundary lines which will become necessary at the completion of the James Gallimore school on Sheldon road.

Meeting with Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister, Principals Ruth Erikson, Mrs. Nancy Tanager and Earl Gibson and school board members, Harold Fischer and Warren Smith, the committee first raised the question of how soon the new school would be completed. Superintendent Isbister pointed out that construction was scheduled for completion in January, 1957, but it was unrealistic to believe that necessary sewer facilities would be ready by that date.

Taking the position that the school would not be ready for occupancy during the 1956-57 school year, the committee asked the administrative staff to come up with a plan for keeping the present school boundaries. They suggested that new teachers hired for Gallimore school be used in the present schools throughout the year. It is expected that by using all available room in the elementary schools no class would be larger than 48 pupils. Kindergarten would probably have to be split into three sessions daily instead of two.

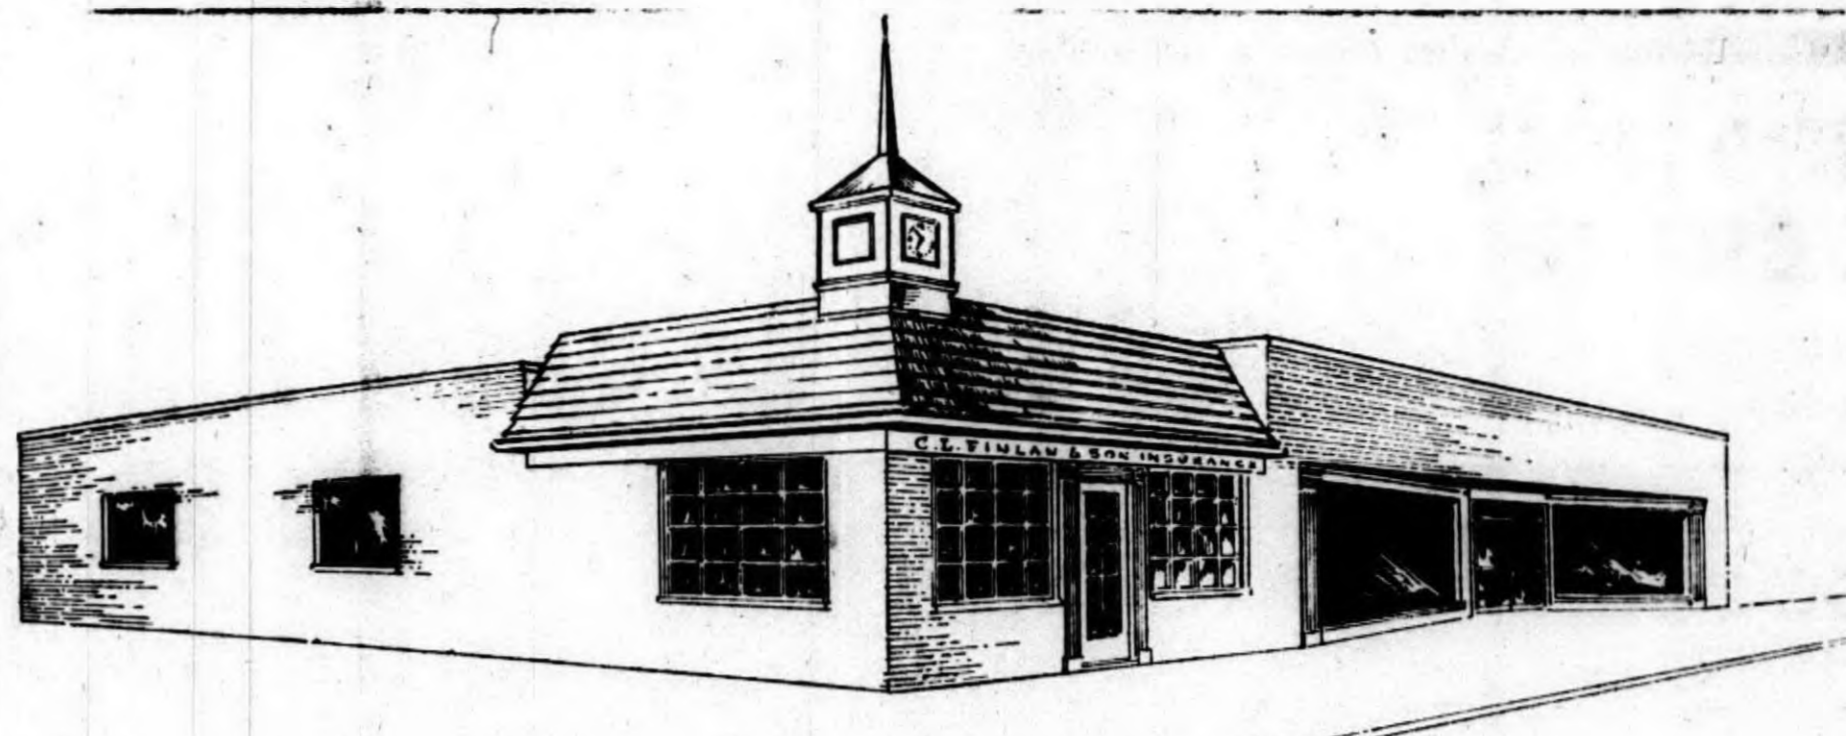

Committee members agreed that to use present school space would be more advisable than renting temporary buildings that might not prove adequate during the winter months.

Thus the problem of drawing new boundary lines for the schools will still be facing the new school board within the coming year. Biggest complaint to the proposed boundary change made last week came from residents of the northwest section of the township. Their children would have to ride by bus to the new Gallimore school even though their homes would be nearer to both Smith and Bird schools. The Gallimore school will accommodate approximately 440 children who must be transferred from areas now attending Allen, Bird and Smith.

The committee will meet again this Friday evening at the high school to hear the findings of the administrative staff. Should the plan be adopted it will be presented to the school board meeting on Monday evening.

Parents serving on the committee are: William Lyons and Ralph Lorenz from Bird; Mrs. Ervin Franklin and Harry Larsen from Smith; Mrs. Russell Magraw and Gene Overholt from Allen; and William Harden and Kenneth Rosecrans from Starkweather.

If all the new inventions and discoveries that we read about come true, the present gadgets of mankind will become just so much junk. The time to start saving for your old age is today; you will never begin at some time in the future. A hero is a soldier who does his job with benefit of publicity.

AN ARTIST'S SKETCH of the new downtown building being constructed by the C. L. Finlan Insurance firm is reproduced here. The insurance company will occupy room on the left while the other half will be rented to other business.

Williams Accepts Bid for July 4th

Governor G. Mennen Williams has accepted the invitation to appear at Plymouth's July 4th program but there has been no word yet from the other side of the political fence—Mayor Albert Cobo.

Chamber Manager Edward Hart said that the governor's office this week confirmed his visit here during the evening of July 4th. The governor has been a regular visitor at the big affair almost annually.

More girls than last year have already been signed up for the Miss Plymouth contest. Twenty-five young beauties have agreed to compete and several more are expected to enter. Last year there were 24. James Thornton is chairman of this feature, assisted by the Jaycees.

Two attendants will be selected this year. Among the prizes lined up for the winner are two tickets to a Will-O-Way production, a try-out for a part and two dinners at Hillside Inn. Other prizes are still being selected.

Those planning to enter floats, antique cars or groups in the parade are urged to contact the Chamber office. Many horses are again expected in the parade and to enter a horsemanship contest in the afternoon.

Kiddies will again have an opportunity to win prizes in contests. The big list of prizes is headed by three bicycles. One of the big attractions during the day and three days following July 4th will be the carnival. Motor States Shows has returned to Plymouth each year with a wide variety of rides and games.

Details of the evening show are still not completed by Chairman Harold Young, but TV and radio talent, plus the bathing beauty show, and fireworks will be some of the headline events.

The time to start saving for your old age is today; you will never begin at some time in the future. A hero is a soldier who does his job with benefit of publicity.

New Main Street Building Started

Ground was broken Tuesday for downtown Plymouth's first major business building in many years. C. L. Finlan and Son Insurance has announced that it will construct a building on South Main street that will contain both its offices and another business.

The building will be in the 500 block of South Main street where the former office of Dr. R. R. Barber stood.

Construction of the new building is taking place during the 40th year of the insurance firm in Plymouth. Charles C. Finlan started the insurance company 40 years ago, first operating in a private home on Arthur street and then successive locations in stores now occupied by Caplin's Clothing, the Wine Shop and the Photographic Center.

C. L. Finlan and Son has been at the present location at Ann Arbor trail and Forest avenue for about 15 years.

The new building will be of colonial design, conforming with the Chamber of Commerce plan to "colonialize" the city. Half of the 25 by 55 foot building will be occupied by the insurance firm and the other half will be rented to other business.

The Mission Society of St. Peters Lutheran church will meet in the church at 2 o'clock on Wednesday, June 20, for their regular monthly meeting.

Four to Attend U-M Girls State

Four Plymouth high school girls will attend Wolverine Girl's State to be held on the University of Michigan campus, June 19 to 26. The delegates, and their sponsors are: Roberta Lidgard, BPO Elks; Patricia Hauk, Business and Professional Woman's Club; Carol Clarke, Woman's Club of Plymouth and Sally Williams, Passage-Gayde Auxiliary No. 391.

Wolverine Girl's State was established in 1941 as a project of the American Legion auxiliary. It was dedicated to the training and development of girls with qualities of leadership. Primary objective of Girl's State is to stimulate girls to take a deep interest in the development of home and community life and to encourage them to be better citizens of tomorrow.

Wolverine Girl's State brings to those attending, a knowledge of national, state and local government through actual practice. It gives them a state of their own, a session governing themselves through democratic procedures. Officials of towns, county and states are elected by delegates an opportunity to understand the workings of government.

Girls may be sponsored by civic, social, fraternal and patriotic organizations, as well as by American Legion posts and auxiliaries. Selection is based on a list procured from the high school principal of eligible girls in their third year in senior high school or their junior year.

PATROLMAN DAN JOHNSON points out where he bent over to aid Mrs. William Garrett while Joseph Joyner stood over him with the gun that shot her twice. The telephone beside the chair was used by the victim to call police. Johnson, 22, has been on the force only since November. WWJ-TV newsreel cameramen interviewed him Wednesday morning.

Husband Guns for Wife

 and giving her blows with his fist. Her lip was bleeding and a nose were scratched.
 Johnson pleaded with Joyner to allow him to help the injured woman. Joyner finally consented but kept the gun aimed at the officer. "I got down on the floor and felt the woman's stomach and chest and found two holes in her chest," Johnson added. "I grabbed a dish towel and stuffed it inside her dress to cover the holes."
 "I then stood up and asked the man to allow me to call a doctor and ambulance. He refused."
 "No one is going to come in the house and no one is going to stay," Joyner was quoted as saying.
 The young patrolman, who has been on the force only since November, continued his story by telling that they then heard a siren. "We looked out the window and saw the emergency fire truck." Assistant Chief George Schoeneman got out and headed for the house. Joyner crossed the room behind Johnson, cocked the gun and pointed it toward Schoeneman. "You'd better tell me I'll kill him if he tries to come in," Joyner told the officer.

Johnson went to the front door just as Schoeneman opened the door and told him "there is a man in here with a gun" and to get help.
 Schoeneman went back to the truck and radioed for aid.
 After the fireman left, Johnson noticed that Joyner had quit pointing the gun at him. "I just grabbed for the gun and got it," he later told. The patrolman then slapped on handcuffs and led Joyner out to the truck, putting him inside. A few minutes later Calvin Brown arrived and the prisoner was led to the police car.
 Chief Fisher praised the work of the young patrolman. "We feel especially happy that no one else was hurt."
 Dr. Lee Feldkamp administered sedatives to the wounded woman. Still conscious, Mrs. Garrett told Patrolman Brown, "Joe shot me and he's killed Faye too."
 Mrs. Joyner, nearly hysterical, later sat at the kitchen table, attempting to tell police what happened. But 21-month-old Rickey took great delight in the strange company—not realizing that one of Plymouth's most serious crimes in recent years had been committed.

Still Seek Body

 on Tuesday was received Thursday.
 Robert was born in Dearborn on October 23, 1928. The family later moved to Plymouth where he attended high school. Ten years ago next month he was married. Still awaiting their father's return are Carol Ann, 9, Robert, 7, and Lynn Gail, 4. Another child, Frederick, is but four months old.
 Young Robert and his family had lived with his parents at Ford and Maben roads until just last Sunday when they moved into a partially-completed home across the orchard. The Riggers union state that they will complete the home.
 Robert had worked in several Plymouth establishments during his high school days—Krogers, Standard Oil, the Mayflower hotel and at the James Julien service station at Ford and Canton Center roads.

Mitchell, Stecker

 three years ago. Upton, who received the least number of votes, reportedly received support from many teachers.
 Mitchell, 25, is personnel director of Barnes-Gibson-Raymond and lives at 12075 Amherst. Stecker, 46, resides at 45455 North Territorial road and is manager of the Ford Valve plant in Northville.
 The separate proposition on the ballot was left blank by 37 voters. Although it involved only one-tenth acre, the school board cannot trade or sell land without the consent of the public. The trade will take place with the Plymouth Lumber and Coal company, owners of adjacent land, for the purpose of "squaring off" the two parcels.
 The new board will have three township residents, Harold Fischer, Stecker and Mitchell; two city residents, Mrs. Esther Hulsing and Warren Smith.
 The working force of the Mitchell-Stecker team was the Plymouth Township Citizens committee. It is headed by John Welsher and Walter Sumner, co-chairmen; Mrs. Austin Stecker, secretary; Clark Finley, treasurer; Clayton Koch and George DeGroat.
 In a letter sent out by the committee Tuesday, it was noted that "For a third time within seven months our organization has won a decisive victory at the election polls. It was made possible only by the enthusiastic and unselfish work of more than 50 of us operating as one united and well directed team.

 "Our future prospects for constructive service to promote the welfare of the Plymouth area are tremendous. Of course we must steer clear from any partisan or petty group politics and confine our efforts to the benefit of the Plymouth area as a whole."

National Bank to Host ACS Slide Program

Plymouthites will be given an opportunity to view a series of slides on cancer and its seven danger signals next week at the local branch, National Bank of Detroit, as a public service performed by the American Cancer society, locally headquartered at 821 Penniman avenue.
 An automatic projector has been procured by ACS for the program to start Monday, June 18, and continue throughout the week. The material was made available through contributions to the Plymouth Community fund, from which the local ACS partially derives its support.
 Mr. and Mrs. Harold Behler and Mrs. Dale Behler of Irvin street and Mrs. Leonard Hanson of Arkansas attended the graduation exercises at Michigan State university Sunday where Dale Behler received a bachelor of arts degree.

Commission Sees

 strongly was opposed to the creation of an assistant to DPW Superintendent Stanley Besse. He advocated that better men be hired who can serve as foremen and that Besse himself should demonstrate more discipline. After lengthy discussion, a vote was taken with the motion approved 4-1. Not present were Commissioners Ernest Henry and Robert Sincok.
 A report on the airport was heard by commissioners and the drive for $500,000 worth of bond solicitations among industries was found sadly lacking. A Cleveland firm, however, has shown interest in purchasing the entire amount at interest between 4 and 4 1/2 per cent. It was agreed to investigate the financial reports of nearby city-owned airports to determine more accurately how much profit can be expected.
 It was proposed that instead of using the state and federal governments contributions to pay off e-ly maturing bonds, that the money be used to build hangars for rental.
 Commissioners took a tour before the meeting along Tonquish creek between Church street and Penniman avenue. The Christian Scientist church and Dr. Westover have indicated their willingness to sell the properties and the city may turn them into a park.
 City Manager Albert Glassford was given authorization to advertise for bids on either a new or used small tractor.

Township Loses

 writ of mandamus?" The township claimed that the Smiths were not entitled to mandamus because they did not file an application for a permit with the state health commissioner.
 But before they could file for the permit, they had to have the signature of the township clerk on the application, which he refused to do. The Supreme Court upheld Judge McCree's point that the township could not object under these circumstances.
 The second question concerned the township's objection that the park would endanger the health, safety and morals of its inhabitants. The Supreme Court cited the lower court's opinion that the township has experienced the smallest growth of all townships in the metropolitan area and that the proposed park is near only a few farms and the Detroit House of Correction.
 A third question considered asked if the zoning ordinance complied with the statutory requirements. "The zoning ordinance of the township of Plymouth prohibits trailer court parks, and then provides a special procedure whereby a township board may make exceptions. Under the ordinance the township board was the final determiner."

Scout Round-Up Draws 4 Local Girls, Television

Four Plymouth girl scouts or their alternates will be among the hundreds present at the Senior Girl Scout Roundup, the first national encampment of girl scouts, which will be held at the Highland State Recreation area from June 20 to July 11.

The round-up delegates from Plymouth are Diane Hever, Christine Baker, Betsy Edgar and Carole North. The alternates, who will take the place of any regulars unable to attend, include Susan Campbell, Georgette Graham, Joann Nagy and Ann Taylor.

In anticipation of the Roundup and its numerous scouting activities, the NBC-TV network will devote 20 minutes of Home Show television program on June 20 between 11 and noon to the event. At that time a Roundup patrol will demonstrate skills and equipment, such as pitching a tent.

TV-Personality Arlene Francis will interview Dorothy Fields, author of "Annie Get Your Gun" and other Broadway musicals. Miss Field's latest spectacular is entitled "The Girl Scout Story."

Following the actual roundup and its conclusion, the Home Show will present films taken during the event. The films will be shown on July 16, 18 and 20 and will include camping activities and the American festival portion of the Roundup.

Scholarship Winner Graduates from MSU

Janet Beyer of 324 Sheldon road, Plymouth, 4-H club member and recipient of a four-year scholarship sponsored by the Rosedale Gardens branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden association, graduated Sunday, June 10, from Michigan State university where she majored in home economics. Miss Beyer will teach in the Plymouth school system this fall.

The Rosedale Gardens branch received an honorary award in education for sponsorship of the scholarship from the Women's National Farm and Garden association at a recent state meeting in Birmingham. The merit award, given for participation in state activities, was achieved through efforts of a club membership of 58.

The 4-H scholarship fund is raised through the annual Greens Market sale held at the Rosedale Gardens Civic club house at Christmas-time. Grants are given promising students for one or more years of college work.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Goddard and daughter, Ann, of Beck road leave today (Thursday) on a trip to Ohio and Pennsylvania to visit colleges and decide later where Ann will attend.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made by the Session of the First Presbyterian church Sunday of the appointment of the Reverend Norman Stanhope as assistant minister. Rev. Stanhope's primary responsibility will be the Christian education program. He comes to Plymouth from the Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian church in Detroit. Rev. Stanhope replaces Rev. Thomas Keefe who accepted a similar position in Buffalo, New York. Dr. Henry Walch, minister of the local church, stated that Rev. Stanhope will assume his duties on August 16.

For All Emergencies

Emergency equipment is, of course, not always necessary when an ambulance is required, but the availability of emergency equipment — even if not needed — is most reassuring. The Schrader Cadillac ambulance, available at any hour of the day or night, is completely equipped for any emergency.

'Trees a Crowd' for Gardeners who Overplant

The week-end gardener continually planting things because he can't resist adding just one more "choice" bit of greenery can turn his dream castle grounds into a horticultural nightmare.

Overplanting is one of the prime mistakes in do-it-yourself landscaping. Many home owners are influenced more by whim than by master plans for grounds beautification.

To help guide property owners to more enjoyment from more beautiful grounds, here is a list of six fundamental "do's and don'ts."

1. Don't overplant or hesitate to remove unneeded trees. A few good specimens are better than a large number of overcrowded beanpoles.
2. Don't plant flowering shrubs perennials, annuals or vegetables in heavy shaded areas.
3. Do plant (or keep) trees that will shade the terrace, breezeway or porch and the children's play area in the afternoon.
4. Do plant evergreens, shrubs and decorative trees where they will shield private areas from public view.
5. Don't conceal the front of your home with dense plantings of long hanging trees or evergreens.
6. Do plant trees in locations where they will soften the sharp angles of buildings.

Choose Nineteen to Staff Plymouth Summer Play Areas

A tentative 19-member staff has been named by Louise Cigile, playground supervisor, to man the 10 play areas in and around Plymouth during the summer vacation months. The regular playground session begins Tuesday, June 19.

Featured at the various areas will be recreational facilities for youngsters who will be under adult supervision. In addition an arts and crafts teacher and a music specialist will travel around the play circuit instructing at each area over the course of the session.

The staff and respective play locations are: John Sandmann and Jan Ponto at Central; Bill Foster and Ella Plant at Starkweather; Bill Harding and Janet Wickens at Allen; Mac Pierce and Nancy Vincent at Bird; Mike Hoben and Dee Brandell at Smith.

Also: Jim Brown and Pat Lidgard at Green Meadows; Mrs. Rowe at Hough; Margaret Fotovitch and Dolores McLennan at Cherry Hill and Truesdell; Dick Manion at Hamilton; and Jean Rowe at Auburn.

Playgrounds, depending on their locations, will be either open from 12:30 to 8 p.m. or from 12 noon to 4 p.m. For further information call the Plymouth recreation office at phone 895.

Among the various activities offered at the play areas for children five years of age and over are: braiding, weaving, leather-craft and other simple crafts plus many types of games such as zellball, pingpong, softball and croquet.

American Legion News

The 14th District Memorial service will be held Sunday, June 17, in Northville. Those attending will meet at the Lloyd H. Greene Post home and, weather permitting, an out-door service will be conducted at the Veterans post in Rural Hill cemetery. These are the services held in memory of District Legionnaires and Auxiliaries who have passed away during the past year.

Post and Auxiliary Poppy Chairmen Dorothy Koi and Dorothy Knapp wish to thank each and everyone who helped on the day of poppies.

The Auxiliary will have their election of officers on Thursday, June 21. Nominations were held Wednesday, June 6. Let's have a good turnout!

Auxiliary Rehabilitation Chairman Mildred Hower reports that nine birthday cards, each with a dollar enclosed, were sent to Waybury Sanitarium to the Veterans whose birthdays occurred in June.

Our carnival is in full swing. There are still three nights left and if you can spare some time to come out and help in the ticket booths, contact Commander Holcombe or come out to the grounds. Starting time is around 6:30 p.m. each evening.

The Post's new color guard will take part in the Flag Day ceremonies which will be held this evening at 8 p.m. at the E.K.s club.

Use Newspaper Lorenz Tells Hotel Managers

"Your newspaper can help you build your sales."

That advice was given to the Great Lakes Hotel Conference at Michigan State University last week by Ralph G. Lorenz, manager of the Mayflower hotel.

Many tips for additional hotel and restaurant business can be gleaned through the careful reading and clipping of your newspaper, he told them. He reported that his staff conscientiously reads each column looking for leads. Lorenz cited these examples:

The article about the fire chief attending a district convention of chiefs can be followed up by a hotel manager, suggesting that the chief invite the group to your town for their next meeting.

The story about a new industrial executive can put into action a Chamber of Commerce committee to set up a welcome breakfast to greet the new community leader.

The birthday column can provide mailing lists to invite families and parties to the hotel dining room.

A story about a community movement can indicate the need for a meeting room, a need for volunteer leadership. Lorenz urged the hotel people to be active in civic-service ventures "for the good of the community—and their own good too."

Who's New in Plymouth

'Solid Gold Cadillac' Is Next at Will-O-Way

Part of the heritage of American humor is to poke fun at the powers that be and George S. Kaufman, dean of Broadway playwrights, has injected all the subtlety of his ribald wit into "Solid Gold Cadillac" as his particular contribution to "wit Americanus". "Solid Gold Cadillac", that spins at Will-O-Way Playhouse June 19, spins the humorous yarn of how a little old lady with 10 shares of stock in a large corporation is able to upset the routine and tweek the dignity of the moguls by insisting upon a voice in the policies of this mythical industrial empire. "Solid Gold Cadillac" will ably sustain the laughter that re-ounds nightly in the Will-O-Way apple orchard from "Anniversary Waltz" that is now playing through June 17.

Advertising, we repeat for the umpteenth time, is the cheapest salesman a business can employ.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

The Girl Scout lodge was the scene of a Brownie Fly-up service on Wednesday evening, June 6, when the Brownies of Troop 26 received their wings. During the candlelight investiture service, each girl repeated one of the Girl Scout laws. After the investiture, the Fly-ups waved goodbye to their Brownie days and looked forward to Scouting by singing "Girl Scouts Together." Mothers and fathers were guests at the ceremony, as well as Mrs. James Lyons who told a story in keeping with the occasion. Mrs. Charles Zoet and Mrs. Helen Spence are troop leaders. Judy Lowe is the reporter.

Members of Brownie Troop 17 became Fly-ups at a ceremony on Thursday afternoon, June 7, at the Methodist church. Mothers were present to see the girls receive their wings. Mrs. Earl Luefing and Mrs. Clifford Lightstone are troop leaders.

Brownie Troop 9 met at the Veterans Memorial home on Wednesday, June 6, opening the meeting with the flag ceremony. The Pledge of Allegiance and Brownie Promise were recited. A treat was furnished by Kathie Mills, after which the troop went outside to play games. Members then went to the Dairy Queen for a treat and returned to the meeting room to close with a Friendship circle.

On Tuesday, June 12, the Intermediate Scouts of Troop 2 held their final meeting of the year. Mrs. Stanley Wilt presented the Scouts with their second class badges. The troop used this occasion to present Mrs. Wilt with a gift as a token of their appreciation for her leadership during the past three years. She has served as their Brownie leader for two years and as their Scout leader for one year. Mrs. Ralph Fluckey and Mrs. Bernard Curtis will be troop leaders next year.

Delia Bradley reports that on Friday, June 1, Intermediate Scout Troop 6 had an overnight camp-out in Mrs. Jack Taylor's back yard on Six Mile road. On Monday, June 11, the troop held a Court of Awards at Our Lady of Good Counsel school. Troop members were presented with badges earned since January. Janet Graham received her second-class badge. Mothers of the troop members were present for the ceremony. Mrs. Woodrow Tichy and Mrs. M. Canine are troop leaders.

Troop 21 held their final meeting of the summer on Monday evening, June 4, at the Girl Scout lodge. Troop members and their families enjoyed a potluck supper, after which the Scouts were presented with awards earned during the year. Mrs. Lloyd England and Mrs. Wayne Rubey are troop leaders. Sandra Keefe is reporter.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex M. Adams

Adams-Dwyer Ceremony Solemnized Recently in Livonia

At rites performed by the Reverend Reuel Johnson on Friday, March 23 at the First Presbyterian church of Livonia, Marjorie Louise Dwyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Dwyer, 2212 Home, Independence, Missouri, became the bride of Rex M. Adams, son of Mrs. John C. Livorno, Livonia.

The double-ring ceremony was read at 8 p.m. before a setting of white snapdragons and ferns lighted by tall tapers in candelabra. The wedding music was played by Miss Elizabeth Williams who also accompanied Miss Rosemary Dysart as she sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown fashioned with bodice of Chantilly lace with long sleeves which tapered to points over the hands. The three-tiers of the floor-length skirt were edged with lace. Her finger-tip veil cascaded from a bandeau. The bride carried a cascade arrangement of pink gladioli.

Mrs. Robert A. Fitzpatrick was matron of honor, and Mrs. Everett Chapman, cousin of the bride, and Miss Mary Ann Taylor were bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns of emerald green iridescent antique taffeta, styled with empire waistline, scalloped necklines and sleeves. The full skirts were worn over hoops. The attendants carried cascade bouquets of pink carnations.

Robert Adams assisted his cousin as best man. Robert Fitzpatrick and Everett Chapman were groomsmen. Ushers were Bob Reeves and Joe Paschal.

Mrs. Dwyer chose a navy blue faille dress with black and white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of red carnations. The bridegroom's mother selected a dusty rose lace dress with black accessories and corsage of white carnations.

After the reception which followed the ceremony, the bride changed to a blue linen suit with black accessories for the wedding trip, a tour of the Ozarks and southern states. The couple will be at home at Hinesville, Georgia following the honeymoon.

The bride, a graduate of William Chrisman high school in 1954, attended Drury college in Springfield. The bridegroom graduated from Bentley high school in Livonia and is now stationed with the U. S. Army at Camp Stewart, Georgia.

Summer Classes In Art Offered

With the present-day emphasis on automation and talk of the future with a possible 35 or even a 30 hour work week, relaxation is of the utmost importance to our physical well-being—and one of the ways which one can relax is through art.

Art classes for adults as well as high school students will be held this summer as part of the extended school year program. There will be three sessions a day of two hours each to accommodate those interested and classes will meet five days a week for eight weeks.

There will be no charge for students and a charge of $10 for adults. All will furnish his own supplies. Classes will meet in room 17 of the junior high from 8 to 10 a.m., 10 a.m. until noon and 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. Here are a few of the possible courses:

Beginning art (sketching, shading, composition, color appreciation); advanced art (composition, water color, oil painting, mixed media, perspective); sculpture

(plaster of paris, cement, building blocks, clay, etc.); water colors, advanced course, (still life, landscapes, modern, non-objective); oil painting, advanced course (same as water color); adult class (understanding, importance, community and school projects, applying to interior decorations or learning how to sketch or paint); jewelry making, automotive design, fashion design and architecture.

From the time we get up in the morning we are constantly in contact with art in its many forms, Instructor Heinz Dittmar explains. "The summer art program has been planned not only to afford a means of relaxation and enjoyment, but as a preparation for the future of everyone concerned, the student, school and the home and community."

Sandra Lee Davis spent from Friday to Sunday in Allen Park as the guest of Janice Hurst, who resides on Warwick avenue.

CHARLES E. TODD, son of Mrs. Harold Todd of Clemons drive, received his bachelor of arts degree in industrial design from Art Institute of Chicago last weekend. He was awarded the Anna Louise Raymond honorary fourth year scholarship last year. Todd plans to spend the summer in Mexico.

Answer: Under Social Security law a father or mother employed by a son or daughter is excluded from coverage. This family employment is not covered under the law.

Rocks Record 43 Wins, 30 Defeats For .589 Average During '55-'56

Although Plymouth high school's 1955-56 varsity athletic teams failed to reach the pinnacle of success enjoyed a year earlier, the Rocks never-the-less turned in a highly creditable won-loss record over the course of the recently completed sports season.

The locals entered the winners' circle a total of 43 times in 73 athletic contests to shape an overall victory percentage of .589. In 1954-55 the average stood at .625.

Along the road in Suburban Six league competition Rocks' teams captured two second place finishes, three thirds and a fourth. The swimming team was not entered in a league race. There was no cross-country squad this past fall.

However none of the three major sports contingents (football, basketball and baseball) were able to retain the league crowns captured in an unprecedented triple-sweep engineered by the Rocks in 1954-55.

But on the other hand the two sports groups that wound up with relatively poor records a year ago this season executed much improved records. Tennis at 4-4 this spring and third in the circuit rose above the 3-7 mark of 1955. Golf, too, was more successful with a 5-8 showing and impressive advance over 1955 when the end result was 2-1-6.

Highlighting the past sports season was a severe shuffle in the Rocks' coaching staff. Big news was the arrival of John "Mike" Hoben from Cheyboygan to take the varsity football reins from Charlie Ketterer.

Ketterer, as he released his hold at the grid helm, nimbly stepped into the shoes of basketball coach John Sandmann, who in turn retired to the semi-seclusion of only Plymouth high school athletic director.

Ketterer also moved in as varsity baseball mentor replacing Gustav Gorkuz, who retired from this capacity to devote full time to administrative matters.

The other front-line coaches on the Rocks' staff included John McFall (swimming and assistant in track), Bob Smith (tennis) and Keith Baughman (head of track).

Starting the parade of sports at Plymouth was the football team last fall. Hoben arrived in time to accept a slender roster, well depleted by graduation, and proceeded to shape an extremely efficient grid machine.

The Rocks put together three opening victories before Trenton, one of the top-ranked teams in the state, derailed them 18-7 early in October. Allen Park stopped Plymouth two weeks later 13-7 for the locals only other defeat.

Thrills were provided when Captain Lindy Mills blasted over from six yards out late in the Belleville game to eke out a close 6-0 nod over the Tigers. The locals took pride in the 34-13 mauling of arch-rival Bentley, pre-season title favorites.

Backfield workhorses were Mills, Dick Davidson, George Pine, Jack Carter and Ken Calhoun. The line offered stonewall defense in front of the Plymouth ballcarriers to further aid the cause.

The Rocks stunned Walled Lake early in November for their sixth victory, 27-7. A league card of 3-2 earned the gridders third in the circuit. Most valuable player was Mills. Co-captains for this coming season will be Calhoun and Fred Aldrich.

The Plymouth basketball quintet had its ups and downs over the course of the cage schedule, eventually winding up with an overall mark of seven wins and eight defeats. A 4-6 record in league play brought home fourth place in the Suburban loop.

A nerve-tangling 69-68 final edge over Redford Union in the closing eight seconds shook Plymouth fans considerably in one of the highlights of the season's cage play. Tall Tom Ferguson tossed in a pair of free throws to eke out the win, but the big noise was Dick Davidson's 27-point scoring spree, a threat to the school mark of 31.

Ferguson was selected as most valuable. Jack Carter acted as team captain.

At the same time, the Plymouth swimmers were enjoying another brilliant session. After suffering losses in two of their first three meets the tankers put together a string of eight victories in the last nine contests to wind up 9-3, the same mark carded a year earlier.

Bill Brandell's 10 points and Art Losse's one point earned the tankers a ninth place finish in the state class "A" meet. Thirty-three teams were entered.

It was Brandell who sparked the swimmers through the year. He won 11 of 12 200-yard freestyle races in dual meet tests and was clocked in 2:02 once, thereby threatening the state standard of 2:01. By virtue of his efforts he was selected as one of the recipients of an All-American award, highest high school athletic honor.

Consequently he was chosen MVP. Gary Wright will be captain next year, taking over the position held by Brandell this past campaign.

Stand-out golfer this spring was slender Tom Carmichael, who became the scourge of other Suburban Six circuit links-men. He continually hauled down dual meet medalist honors and aided in boosting the Rocks to a final five-win and eight-loss card. Plymouth took second in the league meet.

The golfers finished seventh in the regional meet out of 14 entries. Carmichael was both MVP and team captain. He will act as captain again next spring. Other golfers who aided and abetted the Rocks efforts included Station Lorenz, Kurt Atkinson, Bill Rambo and Gary Wilson.

The last minute uncovering of a tennis coach in the form of Bob Smith, physics and chemistry teacher, enabled the Plymouth netmen to record one of their best cards in recent sessions. Paced by Jerry Steele, captain, the locals whipped their way to a 4-4 finish and third in the league. Steele was also MVP.

Others who toiled on the courts for the Rocks were Fred Labbing, Doug Rowe, Jim Gibson, George Losse, Bob Kennitz, Chuck Moiso, Lee Huber, Mike Stickney and Dave Tillotson.

The Plymouth track team posted a 3-2 dual-meet result and finished third in the league behind the tutoring of Coach Keith Baughman and the MVP efforts of Tom Ferguson, captain. Paul Cummings set a new league record in the high jump with a leap of 5' 10". The locals wound up sixth out of seven entries in the regionals. Dick Showers was selected captain for 1957.

Charlie Ketterer's baseball team split its first six diamond contests and then proceeded to win six in a row, eventually capturing second place in the loop on a 6-3 result. Final overall showing was a fine 9-3 analysis. Jack Carter was captain.

John Thomas was elected captain of the 1957 diamond team and Carter was voted most valuable.

Plymouth Ends Baseball Year With 9th Win

Plymouth's baseball team wrapped up the 1956 season Wednesday, June 6, with a 7-1 victory over Northville as Bob Cloar hurled his sixth mound win. The Mustangs eased Cloar's job considerably by committing seven errors afield.

The Rocks thus captured their ninth diamond contest of the campaign against three losses. It was also the locals sixth straight victory.

Northville managed only three hits off the twirling of Cloar. However Bob retired in favor of Ken Knipschild in the sixth and Knipschild in turn was replaced by Biff Tait in the seventh. Neither Tait nor Knipschild allowed the Northville nine any hits or runs.

Plymouth, as the visiting team batting in the top half of the first, punched over one run on John Thomas' single, his steal of second and errors which allowed him to score. In the second it was the same story.

Jerry Foreman gained base, advanced to second on an error and rode home on Harv Wells' single. Cloar, Paul Cummings and Thomas each garnered additional singles to round out the Rocks' five-hit assault.

In the fourth frame the locals enjoyed their biggest spurge. A hit, two walks, two errors and a hit batsmen presented Plymouth with five more runs and sewed things up. Northville scored off Cloar in the third. He also gave up Northville's three basehits.

Losing hurler was "Cap" Peters, elongated Mustang basketball center turned pitcher.

Six Errors Bring Merchants First Loss

Six errors - one of which led directly to the winning runs - sent the Plymouth Merchants' Inter-County sandlot baseball team down to its first defeat of the current season as Lincoln Park nipped the locals, 7-5, Sunday in Riverside Park.

Thus Merchants fell from second place in the circuit a week ago to fourth position with a league card of two wins and one loss. Prior to the loss Sunday Merchants stood 2-0 one step below the top.

Merchants' deluge of errors, which netted Lincoln Park six unearned runs to go with one earned run, hit a high note in the second frame. The Parkers plated four runs with the benefit of as many errors to step out in front 4-1.

Merchants, with one tally in the first and two in the bottom of the second, pared the Parkers' lead to 4-3 in that inning. Lincoln Park moved to a 5-3 advantage in the fifth with another score.

The locals earned themselves brief reprieve with single tallies in the sixth and eighth to deadlock the game, thereby setting the stage for Lincoln Park's rally in the top of the ninth to win.

At that point, Merchants' hurler Ed Hock put away the first two men to face him in short order. But the next batter lofted a high fly to right which dropped for a two-base error. A triple and a single in succession showed home what proved to be the game-deciding runs.

Lincoln Park scored seven runs on nine hits and the aid of six errors. Merchants tallied five times on eight hits and two miscues. Winner was Hensen, on the hill for Lincoln Park, while Hock suffered the defeat. He struck out 11. It was his first failure against two victories.

Recreation Softball Gets Underway As "A", "B" Circuits Play 11 Games

Recreation softball got underway with a bang last week as the class "A" and "B" leagues inaugurated their respective seasons with a combined total of 11 games being played. The "A" circuit featured six tilts, the "B" conference held five.

As the dust cleared from the first week of play, the Beglinger and Livonia Office Supply clubs shared first place in the "A" standings, each with one win and a tie. Facing the "B" loop is a tight knot of five teams each with lone victories. They are: Daisy Mfg., Whitman and Barnes, Northville VFW, Chevrolet Spring and Bumper and King Furniture.

The scores in "A": Beglinger 6, Evans 0; Chevrolet 5, Cavalcade 1; Box Bar 2, Livonia Office 10; Chevrolet 1, Box Bar 4; Livonia 3, Beglinger 3 (tie); Evans 0, Cavalcade 15.

The scores in "B": Daisy 23, Evans 7, Whitman and Barnes 14, Main and Mill 12; Northville VFW 14, Garden City 3; Chevrolet 15, Price Brothers 8; Wall Wire 2, King 10.

Class "A" Games

Beglinger tied Livonia 3-3 after Livonia had shaped a 3-0 lead at the end of the fourth. Beglinger came back with one run in the fifth and two in the sixth, sending the contest into overtime. The game was called at the end of 11. Gabby Street, pitcher for Beglingers, smacked out a home run. Lowe was on the mound for Livonia.

Cavalcade on four runs in the first, three in the second, five in the third and three in the fourth mastered hapless Evans, which forfeited in the fourth frame. Cavalcade got only six hits but were shoved along by 13 walks, two homers (Robinson and Seccord) and two triples. Winner was Marshall. Loser was Marsh. Score was 15-0.

Box-Bar's three runs in the first stood up and gained a 4-1 decision over Chevrolet. Both teams got only three hits as Kearney was the winner. Tiliski the loser. A single by Walucky with two men on base in the first served as the big blow. Four errors helped.

Chevrolet's Tiliski had his strike out pitch in full gear as he fanned 15 Cavalcade batsmen and helped the Chevy bunch to a 5-2 nod. Secord was the loser. Four runs in the fourth did the job for Chevrolet, with errors aiding the cause.

Livonia Office entered the win column via a 10-2 nod over Box-Bar as Lowe was the winner on the mound for Livonia and Kearney suffered the defeat. Turner with two singles and a triple, was Livonia's heavy hitter.

Gabby Street, on the hill for Beglinger, allowed Evans no basehits in stacking up a 6-0 victory for the Beglinger crew. Four successive singles in the first inning garnered two runs and more than enough to put down the Evans club.

Class "B" Games

Norm-Fulton, on the hill for Price Brothers, gave away 10 hits and 15 runs to Chevrolet batsman as the Chevy squad racked up a 15-8 victory. Winning hurler was McNamara. Crogan hit a home run for Chevrolet.

King Furniture climbed on Wall Wire's pitcher Thomas for seven runs in the first two innings and went on to a 10-2 decision as John Sandmann was the winner. Sandmann also contributed two singles, a double and a home run in four trips to the plate. Wall Wire got only four hits, King 13.

An 11-run first inning shaped substantial margin for Northville VFW's decision over Garden City. Final score was 19-3 as Atchison was the winner and Porter the loser. Wagenschultz, Lash, Light and Funk each tripled for the winners as Breakey slammed a three-bagger for Garden City.

Daisy racked up 23 runs on as many hits, including 17 runs in the second, to pummel Evans 23-7. Milz was the winner, Goodman the loser. Milz also contributed four hits and Bud Nedry hit two homers for the winners. Bonga slammed one for the Evans squad.

Whitman and Barnes toiled ediously against Main and Mill standard service, finally eking out a 14-12 win despite a five-run rally by the Main and Mill bunch in the seventh. Nagy was the winning hurler and MacIntyre the loser. Hughes smacked two doubles and a single to pace the winners at the plate.

PAINTING FROM his lofty platform is Herb Gilbert, owner of Rainbo Painting Service. With his soaring spray paint rig, Gilbert was giving a coat of vinyl plastic paint to Plymouth Nurseries, 38901 East Ann Arbor road, last week.

BIRDS EYE VIEW of the truck on the ground is furnished by The Mail's camera, through the steel framework of the hydraulic arm. In right hand corner is Plymouth Nurseries building. Note shadow of camera man and painter cast on ground to right of truck.

AN OVERALL picture of the hydraulic arm lift shows the convenience of the rig. At right on the crest of the roof is Herb Gilbert, painting. The arm, when elevated to its uppermost position, stretches out 70 feet in the air. The Mail was up there. It's a long ways down.

Spray Rig Gives Mail High Ride

A huge soaring spray rig took The Mail's camera on a ride high in the clouds last week. The outfit, which is at work painting Plymouth Nurseries, 38901 East Ann Arbor road, is a small boy's erector set dream.

The rig consists of a 70-foot hydraulic arm lift mounted on a one and one-half ton truck which in turn is equipped with balancing outriggers. The hydraulic power is furnished by a seven horsepower gasoline engine on the truck.

The arm lift is made of jointed and fitted steel framework. At the far end of the arm is the painter's platform which swings easily into place for convenient access to high towers, roofs and tall buildings.

The Mail took a dizzy ride, swooping high in the air over Peter Christensen's Plymouth Nurseries. Far in the distance tiny cars crawled along Ann Arbor road. Huge trees below appeared as little saplings. The Mail was impressed. The Mail also wanted to get down.

Owner of the spraying outfit is Herb Gilbert, 35, of Indiana. He calls his lofty business the Rainbo Painting Service. Gilbert, who has worked with this sort of painting rig for about two years, has owned it about three weeks.

He says: "A person gets to see a lot of things that he never would otherwise in this racket." Gilbert added, "A guy gets to look at things from a very different angle." So did The Mail from an altitude of 70 feet and no parachute.

To Form Marine Unit from Area

The Marine Corps announced plans today for the formation of a unit composed entirely of young men from this area for charter air shipment on June 29 and training as a group at San Diego, California.

Enlistments in this group will be for two, three or four years and will make available the many technical schools offered by the Marine Corps in addition to academic courses available through the Armed Forces and Marine Corps Institutes.

The plan will afford youths of this area the opportunity of training and serving with friends and classmates and they may take their physical and mental examinations any time prior to the shipping date.

Young men interested in the plan may contact T. Sgt. Gerald E. Ruppel at the Employment Security Commission, 535 West Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth or T. Sgt. Leonard L. Smith in Room 14, Unity Building, 32 North Washington in Ypsilanti.

DOG SAVES BABY

Fiomicina, Italy.—A dog who found a 10-month-old baby boy, who had been buried by his mother in a foot-deep hole on the beach, is credited with saving the baby's life. Two hunters followed their dog to the spot where they found part of the baby's head and one hand exposed after the dog had pawed away the sand. Emergency treatment restored the child to normal. The mother was quoted as saying she did it because "I had nothing to give him."

ABOUT YOUR LAWN AND GARDEN.

Here's Best Way to Apply Plant Food

Few suburban gardens have soil so rich that no added plant food is required. But with modern knowledge of plant requirements, and the improved plant foods now available, fertility need not be a problem.

Any porous top soil into which a small amount of organic matter or compost can be spaded each spring can be made rich by adding to it an adequate amount of commercial plant food.

Four or five pounds of balanced plant food mixture to each 100 square feet of garden area will be sufficient in most cases. To give an extra finish to the crop, do not hesitate to use more, applied as maturity approaches. If during the season plants show signs of deficiency, this should be corrected.

Deficiency symptoms include the following: When leaves turn light green or yellow, but do not fall off, nitrogen is lacking. When leaf margins brown, especially the lower leaves, potash is needed. Plants stunted in growth probably need more phosphorus.

The point is being stressed that well-fed crops do not reduce the amount of humus in the soil. Since more humus is produced by the roots of plants than by their tops, a heavy crop, fed by any sort of plant food, will leave more humus than it found.

The heaviest application of plant food should be made at the beginning of the season, and here commercial plant food has a distinct advantage. It is available to plants at low temperatures and will stimulate growth during the cool weather.

Organic plant food has to be broken down by bacteria before the plants can use it, and this requires a temperature of at least 70 degrees.

To get the most out of plant food, the following methods of application are recommended by researchers:

1. On soils which are acid, testing below pH6, plant food should be concentrated in bands or pockets, not touching plant roots but within easy reach.

2. On sweet soils, testing above pH6, spade plant food thoroughly into the soil, evenly and deeply.

To apply the first method stretch the line to mark the row in which seeds are to be planted. Then, not less than two inches away on either side, make a furrow four inches deep. Pour plant food into each furrow at the rate of one pound (or pint) for 50 feet, and cover it with earth. Then make the drill in which seed are to be sown and proceed with planting as usual.

★ COLOR

The famous old wedding jingle "Something old, something new, etc." can be adapted to home color schemes by substituting "Something dull, something bright, something dark and something light." This rhyme is a reminder that color contrasts have their place.

ACS to Loan Sickroom Aids

A wide range of sickroom supplies, gathered up as a "loan closet," is now available for cancer patients within the Plymouth area. It was announced this week by the local unit of the American Cancer society, 821 Penniman avenue.

The "closet" consists of such sickroom aids as rubber sheets, wheel chair, bed pans, bed tables, two complete hospital beds and hospital gowns. Anyone desiring use of these articles should contact the ACS office on Penniman, open between the hours of 1 and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. Dressings of assorted size, made by volunteer workers, are also available for cancer victims. Special size dressings will be prepared upon request.

Literature pertaining to various types of cancer may be obtained at the Plymouth ACS unit. Other material is available in local doctors' and dentists' offices, placed there each month by the volunteer staff which is headed by Mrs. Charles Wyse and Mrs. Ray Barber.

Property for Park Use Turned Over to City

A parcel of property which was part of the western end of Elm street has been conveyed to the city for park purposes by the Hough Park Homesites corporation.

The lot, 122 by 120 feet, will be used for a park or playground in the future. Elm street was closed off recently in order to curve the street into the new Hough Park Subdivision No. 2 and to eliminate too many exits onto Sheldon road. Plans call for Beech street to be extended to Sheldon at a later date.

Buick Special
6-Door Buick

WANT SOME QUICK FACTS on the big news in automobiles today—news that can guide you to a smart move and a real smart buy?

Then listen—it won't take long.

The 1956 Buick has so many new developments—in styling—in power—in performance—in ride and handling—that it is, literally, the best Buick yet. That's Fact No. 1.

And Fact No. 2 proves it: Buick today is more strongly entrenched than ever in the top three of the nation's best sellers—outselling all other cars in America except two of the well-known smaller cars.

One big reason for this success is the strapping new Buick SPECIAL—like the one pictured here.

It's priced right close to those smaller cars—but, like every '56 Buick, it's a whale of a lot more new car for the money.

It cradles a big, new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine that's record-high in power and compression, and crammed with engineering news even the costly cars can't claim.

It makes the most of every bit of power with a new version of Variable Pitch Dynaflo* that's the most efficient yet. With a new development the engineers call "double regeneration," Dynaflo gives you great new acceleration from the first thrifty inch of pedal pressure. Even before you switch the pitch.

And this '56 Buick cushions you in the softest ride ever. Shows an uncanny sense of direction on every curve and turn. Puts a whole new feeling of safety, security and solidity into every mile you drive.

So before you buy any car—catch up on the latest news. Come try a '56 Buick. When you see how much new automobile you can buy, we don't think you'll ever settle for less.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Named Board Member

William Sempliner, 40633 Ford road, was recently appointed to the position of advising attorney or the board of directors of the Wayne out-county chapter of the Michigan society for crippled children and adults, it was announced Monday.

The appointment was made April 23. At that same time Miss Neva Lovewell, high school teacher, was also appointed to a position on the board. Thus Plymouthites hold four positions on the 20-member director board for the society.

Sempliner and Miss Lovewell join Harold Guenther and Mrs. Herma Taylor, Guenther was elected to the board in October. Mrs. Taylor serves as secretary to the board.

Study may provide intelligence but it takes thinking to develop wisdom.

Building Accident Seriously Injures Plymouth Man

Suffering serious multiple injuries in a construction job mishap near Wayne recently was Ray McCullough, 139 East Pearl, who was in Wayne County General hospital recovering Monday. The accident in which he was injured occurred Tuesday morning, June 5.

According to his wife, McCullough, 32, was at work installing a concrete slab roof on a building at the corner of Venoy and Glenwood streets in Wayne. The slabs, each weighing about 2000 pounds, were balanced on an overhanging atop the brick building.

McCullough was standing on the overhang with another man, Bill Beardea, 19, of Northville.

The removal of similar slabs at the opposite side of the overhang caused the ones nearest McCullough and Beardea to become unbalanced. As the slabs started to fall, the two men jumped, McCullough leaping back towards the ground 15 feet below.

He fell on his left ankle and back. Injuries, said his wife, included a crushed left instep, cracked back bone, fractured disc in his spine and pinched nerves. She said he will be placed in a back cast this week. An operation will be required to repair his foot.

McCullough, the father of two children, is employed by Price Brothers, a contracting concern that constructs the concrete slab roofs. Mrs. McCullough said it appears he will be out of work three months.

Beardea also was in Wayne County General recovering from injuries sustained in the fall.

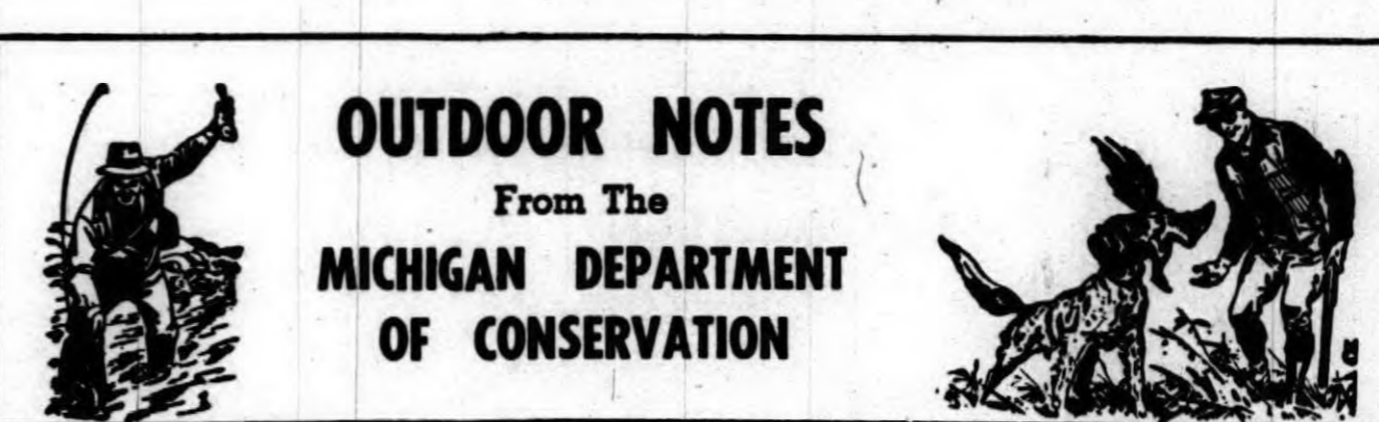

Police Investigating False Fire Alarm Call

Township Fire Chief Howard Holmes said this week that the fire alarm sounded on Tuesday evening, May 29, was a false alarm. State police have been investigating the case but have not yet found the person making the report.

A phone call to the fire department at 8:15 p.m. told about a fire at Ball and Judson streets. Fire trucks piled back and forth on the roads but found nothing.

The phone call was traced to a telephone in the yard of the Marquis Iron and Metal company, 215 Ann Arbor road. The receiver was found off the hook. State Police believe that boys who had been seen in the yard recently had placed the false alarm call.

Every community, including Plymouth has some local nabobs who think that the law was made for others to obey.

OUTDOOR NOTES From The MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

A new group camp dormitory is being built at Proud Lake recreation area in Oakland county to meet some of the growing demand for recreational facilities of this type.

The dormitory is being constructed by Conservation Department personnel and inmate labor from the Brighton correction-conservation camp.

At present, the Proud Lake group camp consists of a dormitory, a kitchen and a dining hall. The new dormitory will double the camp's capacity.

Arthur C. Elmer, chief of the Conservation Department's parks and recreation division, said the Proud Lake group camp eventually will have four dormitories capable of accommodating 120 children.

Group camping facilities are in great demand by youth organizations, such as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, 4-H clubs and church groups. Group camp facilities are provided at several state parks and recreation areas.

Conservation law convictions reported last week cost 71 violators a total of $1187 in fines and court costs. Fines, which go to the state library fund, amounted to $645.

Fish law violations, particularly fishing without a license, led the list in number of convictions. Illegal possession of live game also resulted in convictions.

Two Forsyth residents each paid $22.40 in fines and court costs for breaking laws governing possession of live game. One was convicted of selling a bear cub and the other of possessing a bear cub without a permit or breeder's license.

A Lincoln Park man was convicted on a similar violation for possession of a live pheasant without a permit.

Fishermen can do a big favor for themselves and others by giving their full support to forest fire prevention.

It's often difficult to realize the danger of forest fires this early in the year, particularly since frequent rains seem to have kept the ground moist. Nevertheless, in some areas brush fires may start easily from a carelessly thrown match or cigarette not crushed out before it is discarded.

M. M. Bergman, in charge of the Conservation Department's forest fire section, urges anglers to be extremely alert in preventing fires.

Forest fires not only destroy the habitat of the state's wild animals and game birds, but burn the soil as well. Burned soil does not encourage plant growth for some time and where the sheltering growth of bushes and tall grass no longer exists, brooks are exposed to hot sunlight. This may result in the water becoming too warm to support trout. In some cases the brooks may even dry up.

Fifteen fires were reported in Michigan last week with damage to 36 acres of state and private forests and grasslands. Heaviest damage was in the northern lower peninsula where nine fires damaged 29 acres. Two fires in the southern portion of the peninsula burned four acres while four fires damaged three acres in the U.P.

So far this year, 302 fires have been reported in the state and 1996 acres have been damaged. The upper peninsula has the best fire record with only 375 acres damaged. The northern lower peninsula has had 696 acres damaged while the southern lower peninsula total is 925 acres.

Excessive curiosity is one indication of excessively bad manners.

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

Puerto Rican Dish, Excellent For Buffet Meal

Out of a book on Puerto Rican cookery written by a relative of Mrs. Richard Newton, 576 Garfield, comes her suggestion for a dish that's a natural for the buffet supper table and sure-fire hit with guests.

Going under the fancy name of "Albondigas," which sounds a bit dismaying, the recipe given below is in reality most easy to concoct for even the novice cook and yields delicious meatballs done in the Puerto Rican fashion. Here it is:

- Albondigas
(Puerto Rican Meatballs)
- 2 pounds finely ground round steak
 - 8 slices bread finely crumbled and soaked in milk
 - 3 well beaten eggs
 - 1 tablespoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
 - 3 drops tabasco
 - 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
 - 2 tablespoons (or more) vegetable shortening for frying
- Mixing first eight ingredients with hands, make meatballs soft as possible to keep shape. Brown in shortening, removing to dish when done. Prepare the following sauce in same frying pan:
- Brown two tablespoons (or more) of flour in fat with 2 cans consomme and three cans tomato sauce. Add gradually to browned flour, 2 tablespoons catsup or chili sauce, 2 bay leaves (remove later).
- Above may be kept overnight. Place in tureen or large dish to be served over cooked spaghetti. Have dish of grated parmesan cheese to serve as topping.

Serving "Albondigas" from the chafing dish is Mrs. Richard Newton of 576 Garfield while looking on are Richard, 2, and Nancy 5.

Apple Specialties That Take to Picnic Setting

With backyards growing barbecues as prolifically as weeds, who can say anymore where a picnic will locate? Weekend suppers may be served on the patio or on the beach. Lunches run an equal chance of being at-home affairs or picnics in the park. It's one of the nicer aspects of this mobile world that a picnic may be enjoyed far from a crowd, or if the road's too crowded, right at home.

Ever since Adam and Eve munched the apple in the bright sunlight of the Garden of Eden, apple dishes and apple drinks have been well-enjoyed picnic standbys. Here are some suggestions for apple specialties that will be equally satisfying to enjoy and convenient to serve at home in the yard or by the side of a running brook. These have the added advantage of being quick and simple to prepare because they're made with canned apple sauce and apple juice all ready to drink.

Let's begin with a cocktail dip of apple sauce combined with coarsely shredded American cheddar cheese—two cups of canned apple sauce to one cup of shredded cheese—with saltines or rye bread on hand to dip with.

Even a picnic meal calls for a piece of resistance; picnicking and warm weather require energy! What about frankfurters on rolls with nutmeg apple sauce on the side? Serve the apple sauce right from the jar or can in paper cups and add a dusting of nutmeg.

Another nutritious meat dish, which may be prepared in the cool of the evening before, is an apple sauce meat loaf which remains moist and juicy until time to slice and eat. Take it along to the picnic in the baking pan and serve it cold in hearty sandwiches fixed on the spot. (You'll avoid the fuss of making and wrapping individual sandwiches ahead of time and the food will taste even better made up at the last minute.)

PICNIC MEAT LOAF
1 cup dry bread crumbs
1 cup canned apple sauce
1/2 teaspoon sage
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup ketchup
2 lbs. ground beef
Mix together crumbs, apple sauce, sage, salt and ketchup; add beef. Mix well. Form into loaf shape on baking pan, or place in loaf pan. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375° F. 1 1/2 hours, or until done.

Drip-Dry Dresses, Asset for Vacationers

There are many beautiful dresses on the market today that carry that magic tag — No Ironing Necessary. These three words mean a lot to the woman staying at home or vacationing.

No one wants to be bothered with laundry or carrying along lots of dresses on vacation. The biggest assist that has come our way is the drip-dry dresses. These new dresses do not look at all like the first nylon dresses that were so sheer that you felt that you must wear three slips under them. The new fabric has been made more porous and thus are not as hot as the old nylon numbers.

A soap-and-water diet seems to make dresses of Darcon and bastiste and other wonder combinations thrive. Today's version of the pleated dress takes packing and wearing with the greatest of ease. There is no worrying about expensive cleaning bills.

A Sunny Dessert With Fragrant Coffee

CELEBRATE the sunny season with an elegant Orange Marmalade Pie and a pot of hot, fragrant coffee. Here's a combination that makes a perfect ending to a fine dinner.

Try Orange Marmalade Pie For Warm Weather Treat

Orange Marmalade Pie is a dessert with a tangy difference. It shines most brightly, served with cups of steaming coffee, as the finishing touch to an elegant dinner. Those who have been used to more conventional pies may find a whole new pie-eating horizon when they taste this delicate creation.

As its name indicates, Orange Marmalade Pie has a subtly tart-sweet flavor. A layer of marmalade is spread on the bottom of a baked pie shell, while more marmalade is beaten in with egg yolks and fluffy egg whites to make a delectable chiffon-like mixture. Whipped cream adds its note of lightness and orange juice concentrate lends a sunny flavor and color.

This is a good warm-weather dessert since only the pie shell has to be baked. All the filling needs is a sojourn in the refrigerator. This allows plenty of time to make a bounteous supply of coffee. Brewed full-strength and fragrant, coffee always complements every fine dessert—including Orange Marmalade Pie.

ORANGE MARMALADE PIE
1/2 cup orange marmalade, divided
1 9-inch baked pie shell
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
2 eggs, separated
3/4 cup sugar, divided
1 can frozen orange juice concentrate
1 cup whipping cream

Spread 1/4 cup orange marmalade on bottom of baked pie shell. Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve over hot water. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Beat in 1/2 cup sugar and orange juice concentrate. Fold in remaining marmalade and half the dissolved gelatin. Beat egg whites until they form soft peaks. Beat in remaining sugar. Whip cream and fold into egg whites with remaining dissolved gelatin. Fold the two mixtures together lightly. Spoon into pie shell. Garnish top with orange shreds of marmalade. Chill until firm.

Serve Steak On Day Dad's Guest of Honor

There's never a dull appetite around the house when steak is scheduled for the menu. Since June 17th is Father's Day, the family is especially conscious of His likes and dislikes.

Chances are steak ranks high on the list of Dad's favorites, so honor him this day with his choice, perhaps a club steak, porterhouse or sirloin.

Club steaks are a convenient meat cut for a Father's Day treat since each is usually considered an individual serving. Porterhouse and T-bone steaks are suitable for serving 2 to 3 persons, and a sirloin steak is adequate for 4 to 6 persons depending on the thickness.

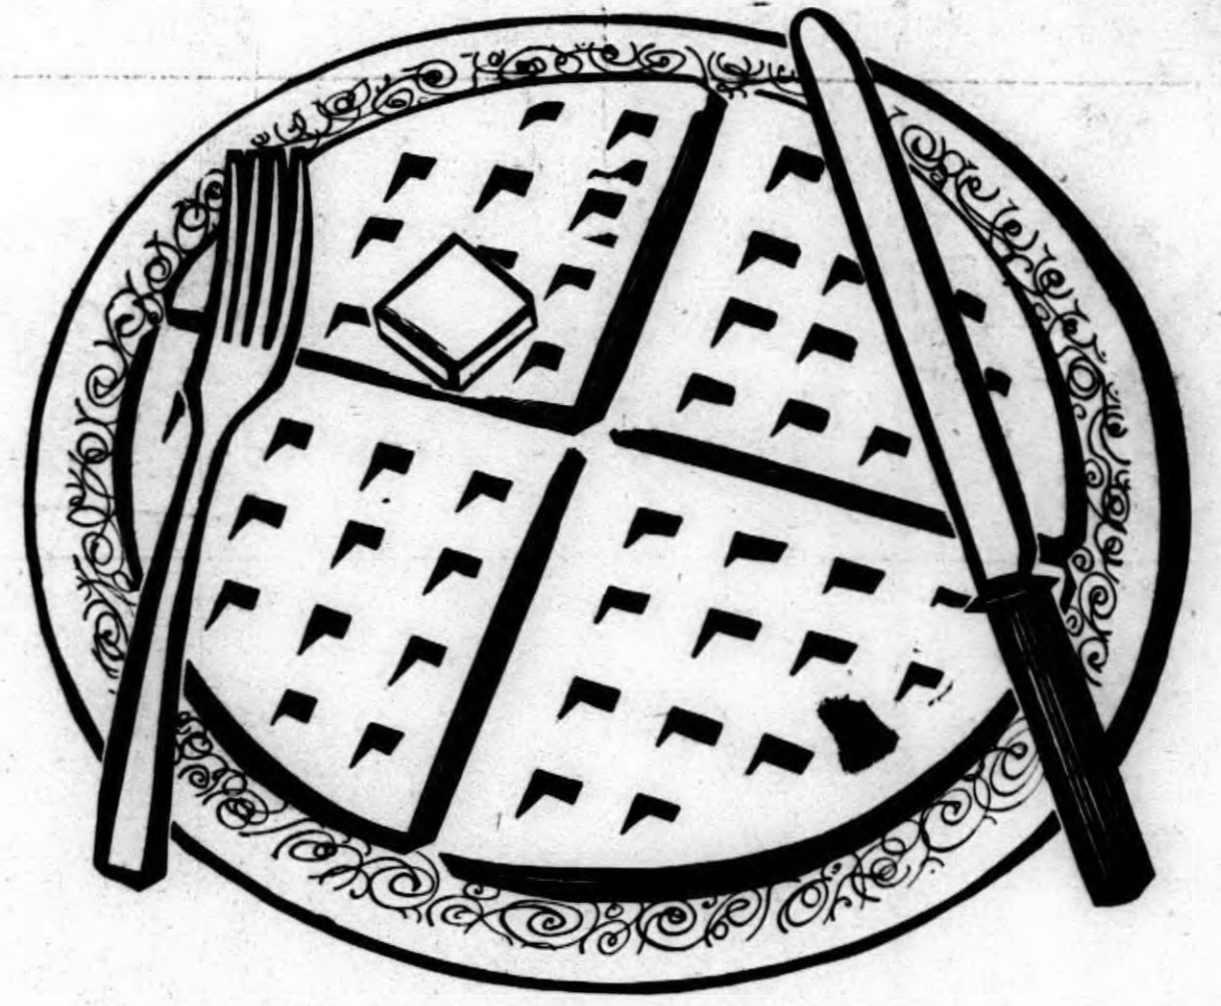

Broiling Produces Juiciness
The words "steaks" and "broiling" are almost synonymous. Porterhouse, club, T-bone, tenderloin and other tender steaks cut from 3/4 to 1 inch thick may be pan broiled. But the steaks cut from 1 to 2 inches thick are usually broiled. In either case, the procedure employed is a dry heat method of meat cookery.

Whether you like steaks rare, medium or well-done, the doneness depends on the length of cooking time.

To broil a steak cut 1 to 2 inches thick, simply set your range regulator to broil and place the steaks on the broiler rack so the top of a 1-inch steak is 2 inches from the heat and a 2-inch steak is 3 inches from the heat. When one side is browned, season with salt and pepper, turn and finish cooking on the second side.

Steaks cut 1 inch thick require 18 to 20 minutes for rare steaks and 20 to 25 minutes for medium done steaks. Steaks cut 2 inches thick will need 30 to 35 minutes for rare steak and 35 to 45 minutes for medium-done steak.

EVER SINCE "barn raising" days, one of the best things about rural life is that you can always count on the neighbors to pitch in and help in an emergency. In the same spirit, your Michigan Bell "neighbors" showed up when tornadoes hit Michigan recently. The winds had barely died down when telephone people from nearby towns started arriving, bringing trucks loaded with material, to help local telephone folks get the phones working again. HAVE YOU been watching the new Bell System TV show, "Telephone Time"? John Nesbitt, the famous storyteller, who won so many awards for his well-known "Passing Parade" films, is the host. His stories on "Telephone Time" are all true. They're fascinating accounts of everyday people, past and present, who for a brief moment rise to great heights. Your whole family will enjoy watching "Telephone Time." It's on CBS-TV every Sunday, at 5 P.M.

To Sew Well ... Sit Well!

Maybe it's your posture that's making your home sewing a tiring chore instead of an enjoyable one.

Experts warn that posture has a lot to do with the rate the body tires. Here are some suggestions for better posture and conditions which will reduce body fatigue while you sew.

You can work faster and with less tiring if you do your hand sewing on a table rather than on your lap. In fact, if a table is in front of you, you will be more comfortable because you will be more inclined to sit straighter. If the fabric is on a table, your arms and hands don't have the extra strain of lifting the fabric. This is especially true if the garment is large, heavy or slippery. Also, you will have better control of the fabric while sewing in intricate places if it is on a flat surface.

The specialists remind us that it should go without saying that your chair should be comfortable allowing you to sit straight with your feet flat on the floor. Pull the chair close to the sewing machine so you can sit with your back straight and your nose in line with the needle bar. Be sure the machine is at a comfortable height for you.

With these facts about posture in mind improve your sewing arrangement and your home sewing will be less fatiguing.

Clothes Close-ups

By D. C. P.

EVEN YEHUDI COULDN'T SEE ...

the stain on your garment or household fabric! And this is why: Many substances contain reducing sugars. These cause stains when they contact your clothing or household articles. But you cannot see these stains! These substances appear as brown spots. 1. When your clothes hang in your closet for a long period of time, or 2. From the heat necessary to clean and finish a garment. The sugar caramelizes, just as sugar caramelizes when you make your favorite peanut brittle or caramels candy.

CAN THEY BE REMOVED:

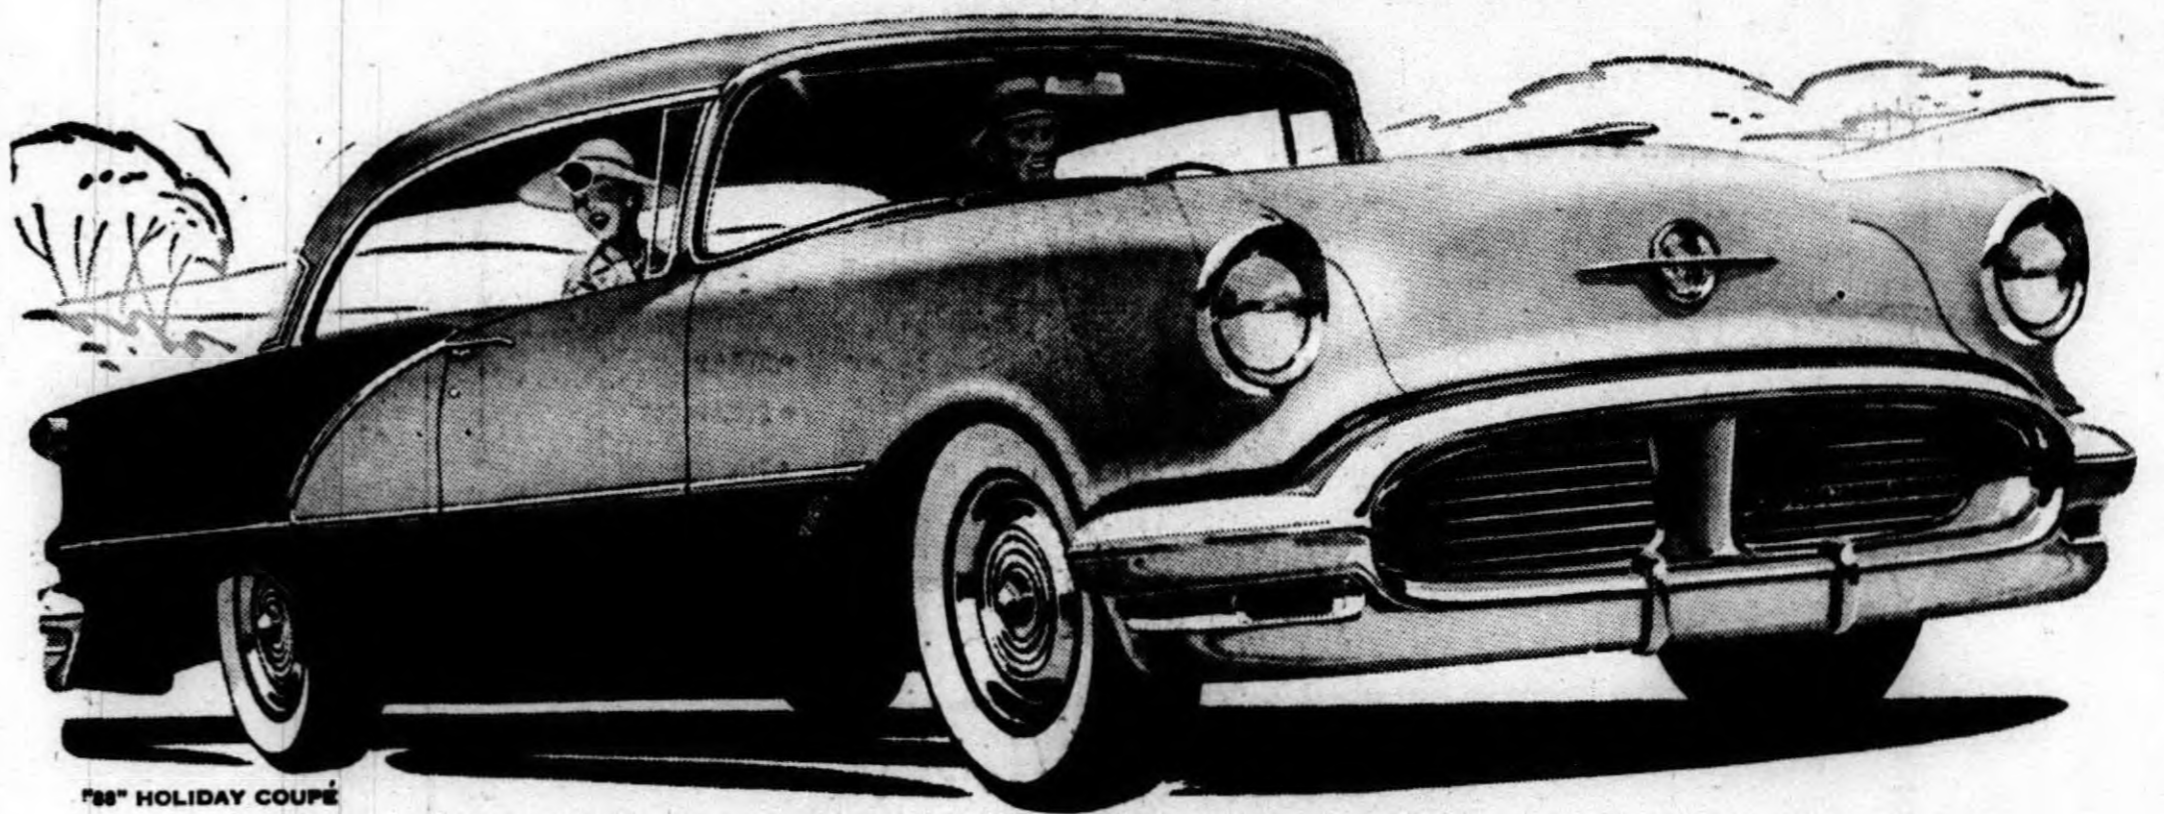

On silk, wool and nylon fabrics the brown stains cannot be removed unless the fabrics are white and can be bleached. On other fabrics, success in removing the stain depends on the fastness of the dye. Reducing sugars that cause brown spots are found in juices from oranges, grapefruit, lemons, apples, peaches, watermelons; in artificially sweetened substances such as gingerale, soft drinks, Tom Collins Mix; sweetened substances such as beer, ale, cocktails.

If you know that you have spilled one of these substances on your garment, inform your cleaner of this fact. He will then be able to give you better service.

AMONG THE FIRST Plymouth beauties to become candidates for the Miss Plymouth title of 1956 are Sandy Bowers, (left) 11139 Gold Arbor, and Jane Pierce, 38052 Joy. The chairman of the Chamber of Commerce sponsored event, Jim Thornton, could not resist the opportunity to snap a few informal shots of the girls. Assisting Thornton is Jack Young, contest committee member with Ray Tisch (not pictured.) The event is the annual bathing beauty contest, which highlights the Fourth of July celebration. Miss Plymouth of 1955 was Juanita Lee.

Chin Up You Plymouthites For Summer's on Its Way

Summer, that wonderful season when sunbathing and bathing beaches boast of over-population, is scheduled soon once again to make its astronomical arrival. It's due this year at 5:24 a.m. on Thursday, June 21.

But so far there haven't been any guarantees about the appropriate accompanying temperatures. To date most of the usual displays of approaching summer have carefully eluded this area.

However there are indications of summer, never-the-less. On June 21 we'll have our longest amount of daylight, 15 hours of the stuff, and the shortest night, nine hours. And the sun has been climbing steadily north toward us ever since that cold day last August when winter took over.

In addition Chief Airport Meteorologist Ernest Williams at the Willow Run weather bureau said Monday that the outlook for June consists of temperatures only about a degree below the norm for that 30-day period. And the norm has a maximum average of 77 degrees, no less.

Furthermore Williams wouldn't spoof a fellow Plymouthite. He is one and lives at 11919 Amherst court.

On top of what amounts to an almost favorable heat wave in comparison to recent temperatures, the rains are on the way out for a while. Willow Run predicts subnormal amounts of rain this month in Michigan. The norm is 3.26 inches, but less than three inches are forecast.

Guess who's getting the rain we're missing? Florida! Also New England.

Even though May seemed like a miserable month by most standards, Willow Run generously gave it the benefit of the doubt last week. The thermometer rose to an average of 56.8 degrees in May, only 1.4 degrees below normal.

We floundered under .89 inches more rain than was average and were able to enjoy only eight absolutely rain-free days. The total rainfall was 4.33 inches, far surpassing the nearest other total of recent years, 3.31 in May, 1951.

The low temperature recorded last month was 34 on the eighth and sixteenth. The mercury hit 86 twice, once May 22 and again May 30.

The University of Michigan department of astronomy furnished further information of the nearness of those anticipated hot-weather days.

The peak heat of the summer season usually comes from four to six weeks after the solstice, June 21. The reason is because the temperature continues to rise as long as more heat is received during the daytime than is given off at night.

Strangely we are farthest from the sun during the summer and nearest to it during the winter, U of M reported. Thus our seasons are a little milder than those of the southern hemisphere.

Heart Murmurs

The average young doctors who first begin to practice medicine are distressed when the stethoscope reveals heart murmurs. They fear that the patients will soon give some indication of failing health. As time goes on, they learn that not nearly all heart murmurs are of a serious nature. In a recent issue of a National magazine there was an informative article on heart murmurs.

Quoting from this article: "Many people whose doctors had told them that they had cardiac disease because they heard murmurs over their hearts had no heart disorder at all. In fact, out of 631 that were sent to Bellevue with such a diagnosis, after being examined by cardiac specialists, were found to have nothing wrong with their hearts." The physicians had been misled by murmurs over the chest.

It is a common occurrence for patients to present themselves to physicians with the announcement that they have heart disease. A careful examination reveals that they are mistaken.

Doctors are sometimes misled by high blood pressure and murmurs of various kinds that are really harmless. They are known as functional, while organic sounds are often of a serious nature and really point to cardiac disorders.

Syphilis is often mistaken for heart disorders and indeed, like some other diseases, syphilis of the heart is not uncommon.

Mistakes in diagnosis often cause much anxiety and sometimes real damage to the patient. The one who really has a serious cardiac condition should learn how to take care of his health. This will undoubtedly prolong his life.

Angina pectoris is a much dreaded and dangerous disease.

It is found only in adult life. It is more common among men than women. It occurs among those who have aortic insufficiency and other forms of heart disease. True angina is characterized by agonizing vise-like pains in the heart that run down the arms. The sufferer feels as though he is going to die.

There are many causes that bring on an attack of angina pectoris. Indiscreet eating that produces flatulence is one of them. Cold is another—even a sudden splash into cold water or getting out of bed into a very chilly room. Heart trouble sometimes follows flu.

The sufferer from heart disease should lead a life that is free from dissipation. His habits should be quiet. Excessive eating and drinking will certainly shorten his life.

Cedar-Lined Closet In Summer Cottage

Summer cottages will soon be undergoing improvements designed to increase their convenience and value. Many cottage owners are planning to do some of the work themselves on weekends and vacations.

One improvement which will increase the value and pleasure of a summer home is a cedar storage closet to protect blankets and other woollens. Most families keep blankets and warm clothing in their cottage the year around for unexpected winter weekends or cold spells in the summer. Unless protected, these woollens may be ravaged by moths.

Some families prefer to line an existing closet with aromatic red cedar closet lining, while others need to build additional storage space. If more closets or a larger storage room are planned, consider the fact that aromatic red cedar closet lining costs little or no more to install than other wall coverings.

Most lumber dealers stock handy packages of the cedar lining. Each package of the red cedar contains enough pieces of the wood to cover at least 32 square feet of wall space. Aromatic red cedar closet lining is tongued and grooved for easy installation and snug fit.

Cedar has a beautiful rose color that blends well with the decor in most cottages. Its moth-repelling will protect woolen clothing and blankets when they are not in use.

Modern Compartment Type Bath Ends Family Traffic Congestion

If the morning traffic in your bathroom makes it seem like a bargain basement during a clearance sale, take a hint from the builders of modern homes and compartmentalize it to reduce the confusion.

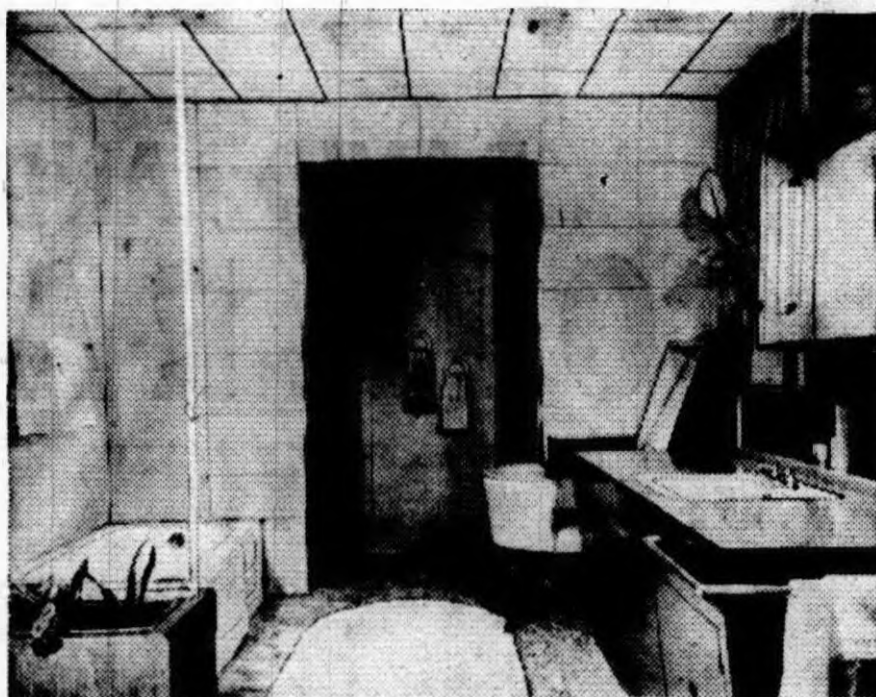

It has been pointed out that 50 per cent of the nation's 45 million dwellings are 25 years old or older. Most of these homes were not built for the larger families of today and, consequently, not many of them have a second bath.

In many cases a second bathroom isn't necessary. The single bath would be adequate, if its room by another. At the base of the patterned glass divider, a planter for a note of gaiety might be nice.

The shower and bath can be segregated with enclosures of "Securitized" patterned glass. This heat tempered glass is from three to five times as strong as nontempered glass of the same thickness and, while it provides privacy, it lets through an abundance of diffused light.

For the walls a colorful, opaque structural glass would be appropriate and decorative. Called "Vitrolite," this material is available in eight colors ranging facilities were separated so each could be used privately at the same time.

The bathrooms of the older homes are generally spacious enough, but the abundance of room is nullified by the lack of separation of the toilet area, bath and sink, and the inadequate storage space.

To begin, the addition of a vanity sink or two sinks in a vanity counter is advisable.

Many of the small medicine cabinets in older homes are so jammed with sister's make-up dad's shaving gear, first aid supplies and an assortment of bottles and tubes, that getting something out without upsetting half a dozen bottles is a real feat.

Each member of the family may have his or her drawer in the vanity and the medicine cabinet won't look like Fibber McGee's closet.

A wall-to-wall mirror over the vanity will end peering around and over shoulders, contribute to good grooming by affording a better view of oneself, and will add spaciousness and light to the room.

A dropped ceiling with built-in lighting fixtures over the vanity will lend smartness and afford even, uniform light.

A divider of patterned glass available in many patterns including lined, louvred and checkered . . . from counter level to the ceiling will obscure vision effectively while it permits light to be borrowed from one section of the black and white.

Vitrolite's color will not fade or its luster dull because Vitrolite has all the characteristics of other types of glass. It will not rot or rust; it is impervious to all liquids except the strongest acids; it does not shrink, warp, scuff or craze, and is easily cleaned with a damp cloth.

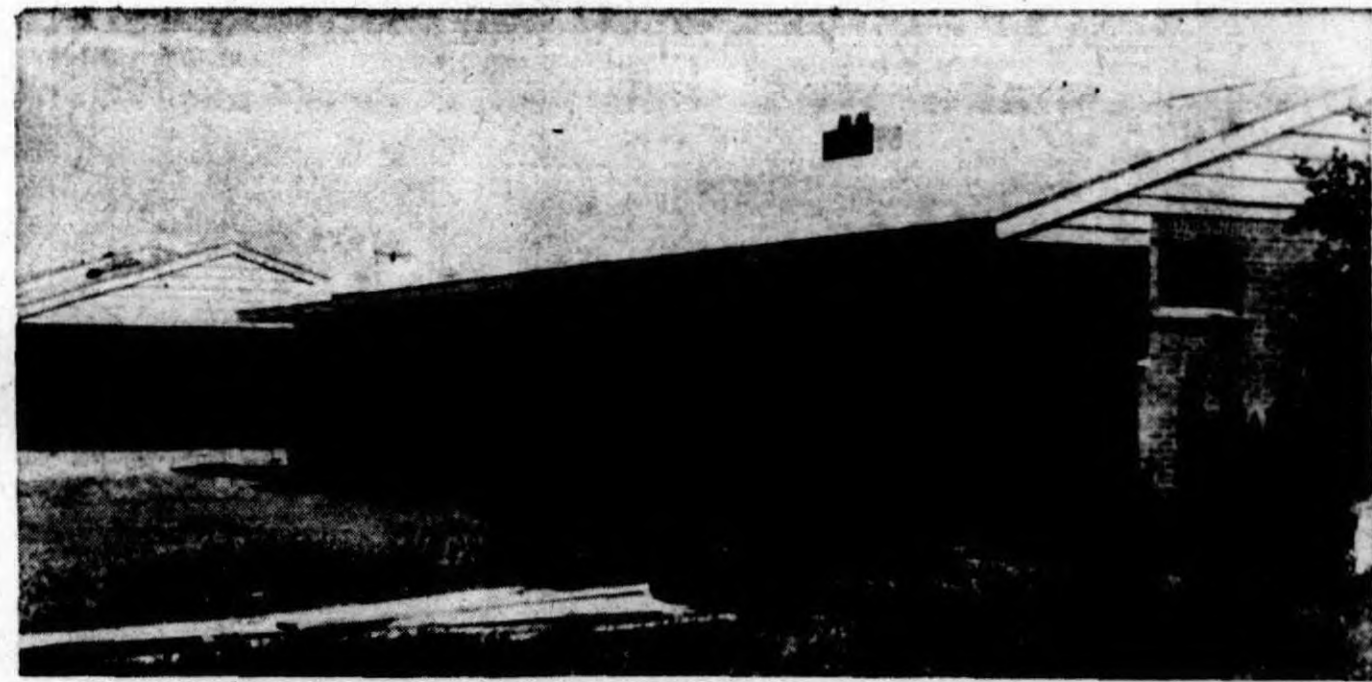

As a final touch, install a full length mirror on the back of the bathroom door as a grooming aid.

The efficient use of the facilities in the single bath will put an end to the "boarding house line" outside the bathroom door.

For families who do not have the room or who cannot afford the extensive plumbing necessary for a second bathroom, the compartment bathroom is often the answer.

A STITCH IN TIME

When doing a paint job the home-owner should never get careless and increase the fire hazard. Be sure all brushes are cleaned thoroughly. Dispose of newspapers, rags or rubbish accumulated while painting. It does not take a match or a spark to ignite oily waste or cloths. If these materials are exposed to heat they may take fire from spontaneous combustion. It is well to have a special place for painting equipment. Immediate care after use is wise.

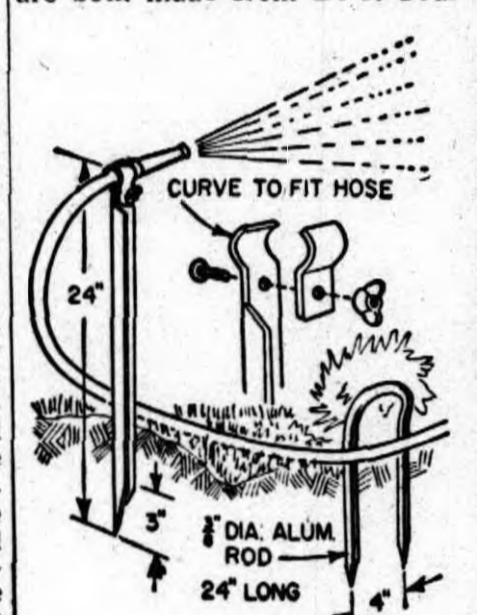

JUST TWO OF THE MANY NEW HOMES being built this spring, in and around Plymouth, are pictured above being built by Bill Foreman, local contractor. The homes are located on Micol Street near the corner of Ann Arbor trail and Haggerty. They will sell for approximately $17,000, plus lot.

Some of the outstanding features incorporated in these attractive homes are lowered, screened vents under thermopane picture windows in front and back, spacious attached two-car garage and modern living room corner fireplace with planter.

Windows throughout the homes will be either one or one-half inch thermopane with an extra large roof overhang in front and back to give maximum sun shade in summer. Natural birch, hand rubbed cabinets, disposall and fan are to be found in the conveniently arranged kitchen, and there is a separate laundry and utility room.

Nozzle Support And Shrub Shield Are Garden Aids

Care for your lawn with a stake to hold a sprinkling nozzle and a guard for bushes. The nozzle support with its sharp point allows you to direct a spray to any location easily. The bent rod keeps the hose from brushing into shrubs and flowers. They are both made from Do-It-Yourself aluminum, so they will never rust or need painting.

Cut a 2 ft. length of 3/4" x 3/4" aluminum angle and point one end. Cut a section of one flange away as shown. Do-It-Yourself aluminum can be cut easily with ordinary woodworking tools. Bend the remaining flange and the loose pieces to fit around the nozzle. Drill a 13/64" hole for the No. 10 aluminum machine screw and wing-nut.

Bend the plant guard like a croquet wicket except only 4" apart. Bend the top loop over slightly away from the plants.

House Kept in Good Repair Will Maintain Its Value

The cash value of all American homes, numbering approximately 48 millions, has been estimated at a total around $250 billion. Yet one in every ten residential units in the United States is sub-standard housing. Four out of every ten need repairs and improvement, and the balance require regular maintenance to keep their full value, says the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information.

Probably there isn't a home in the country that doesn't require some kind of spring repairs, inside and outside. Sharp temperature changes and seasonal storms loosen roof shingles, crack mortar, make paint dingy, and cause other minor flaws in the outer shell of the structure. None of these is serious if given prompt attention.

Inside the house, the daily wear and tear of family living also have taken a toll. Walls and woodwork are soiled by winter grime and children's fingers, upholstery and draperies need cleaning or replacing, and floor coverings need repairs or renewal. Spring is the season of the year when every home owner should make a thorough inspection and check-up of his house, from cellar to attic, and from foundation walls to chimneys. Small repairs can be made by the owner himself, larger ones may require professional help.

Check walls and ceilings for any evidence of dampness or leakage. Inspect all visible plumbing pipes for signs of moisture that indicate cracks or faulty joints.

Have the heating plant given a thorough cleaning and check-up. An inexpensive level will show if sagging sills and floors need insuring. Check all floor beams to insure their soundness. If strip or parquet flooring is loose, re nail thoroughly to make it solid and smooth.

Then install resilient tile flooring, such as Kentile asphalt tile, which will give lasting beauty, durability and underfoot ease to your home. Asphalt tile increases the family's protection against fire and flood. The asbestos fibers do not support flames, and water cannot harm the smooth surface and rich color of these tiles.

Select new wallpaper or paint that harmonizes with the crisp colors of the asphalt tile, and give your home interior an entirely fresh appearance for spring and summer. If the outside hasn't been painted within three years, new paint will work wonders there, too.

New Paint Color Invention To Be Demonstrated Here

On the wave of color-consciousness which is sweeping the country, a fabulous new machine which makes myriads of colors automatically has just arrived in town. Now on display and being demonstrated locally is the paint color invention, called the Automatic Color Carousel. It promises to attract a great deal of attention, especially from amateur decorators as well as professionals, who seem to be eternally on the hunt for "that personal color combination" in the home.

The range of colors which it is possible to produce on this machine runs into the millions—beyond the ability of the human eye to tell them apart. For practical purposes, however, over 500 shades have been pre-selected by the manufacturers, Standard-Toch Chemicals, Inc., hundred-year-old firm of New York and Chicago, and are assembled in a display piece which is called the Color Vision Selector. These 500-plus shades are said to take care of the demand for special, individual colors. Practically all of the popular colors in rugs, drapery fabrics and wallpapers today can be found on the Selector. The colors are arranged "monochromatically and by color intensity" to make it easy for the customer to decide.

The machine itself is a thing of wonder. No bigger than a large home refrigerator, it has a revolving, vari-colored drum containing specially formulated liquid colorants which are automatically blended into countless distinct shades of paint. The controls consist of dials and push buttons alongside the drum. When the paint-buyer picks a color, its code numbers are set on the dials, the starter button is pressed, and the machine takes over. The measuring and blending operation is automatic, and when finished a light flashes and a bell rings. All this happens in about the length of time it takes to set and wind your watch.

Nor is the customer limited to one type of paint. Wall enamels in flat, semi-gloss and gloss are available; different types of paint for different purposes, even non-suff floor enamel. Decorators can carry their color combinations outside (exterior house paint, too) if they wish.

The various types of paint which can be made up in these myriad colors on the Automatic Color Carousel have been especially formulated by Standard-Toch Chemicals, Inc. With alkyl resin bases, they are said to be long-lasting, washable and free from the usual "painty" odor.

COFFEE BREAK FOR DAD

What happens to the old gas range when the home improver provides a shiny new one for the kitchen? The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association recommends a cellar spot for the old one. It will be ready for coffee breaks for the improver himself when he's at workbench tasks, or for his wife when she's at the laundry or other cellar chores. The extra cooking capacity fits in when the guest list outruns even the spacious modern gas range.

Trim Insulation Slightly Oversize

Proper installation of mineral wool batts and blankets is important to attain the highest insulating value of the material. Batts or blankets should be trimmed slightly greater than the exact size of the space to be insulated so that the space will be tightly filled. To do this, lay the insulation on a flat surface with the vapor barrier down and cut it with a sharp knife. Leave enough of the vapor barrier to make a flange. Wedge the batt or blanket into place and staple the flange to the stud or rafter.

★ THINKING OUT LOUD ★

One question, sometimes controversial, sometimes personal is asked each week by The Mail of four pedestrians along Plymouth's downtown streets. This week's guests are "thinking out loud" on the question:

"Perhaps you are not familiar with the controversial Green River Ordinance which is effective in many American cities, but in a few words, it prohibits all house-to-house peddling. Would you be in favor of such a law?"

MRS. ALICE GUSTIN, Ridge Rd.: "I do feel that there are many peddlers that you can't depend upon and are not reliable. But those who are deserving and have a worthwhile product should be allowed. Some people make their entire living that way. There should be a way to screen the individuals."

MRS. IRENE STROSCHEIN, 15563 Marilyn: "I believe it would be a big relief to get rid of the house-to-house salesmen—especially the high-pressure ones."

Mrs. Gustin Mrs. Stroschein Mrs. Tracy Mrs. Schultz

MRS. JOSEPH TRACY, 900 Church: "I do think we need something like that. Unfortunately, some people have to make their living that way. There should be some way to make others ineligible to peddle."

MRS. LEO SCHULTZ, 12055 Nicholas: "I certainly would be in favor. I feel that they are a nuisance and that usually the merchandise they have can be found in our stores. Even in Plymouth Hills we get salesmen with storm windows, building equipment and similar things."

Success Over Polio

Vic Wertz, who plays first base for the Cleveland Indians in the American League, is having himself a good year at the plate, currently batting over .300, and as this is written, having slammed over a half dozen home runs.

The reason we mention this in the editorial columns is the fact that Wertz was struck down by polio last August. It was assumed by many that his playing days were over and it certainly was a shock to the erstwhile highly-successful athlete.

Wertz worked hard all winter, trying to overcome his setback, and it wasn't until about two months ago that he knew he had the disease licked. That moment arrived, he says, when he hit one of the longest balls he had ever hit in his career.

The example of Wertz, fighting polio (the non-paralytic type), and overcoming it and returning to active and successful participation in sports, is highly encouraging. It should be inspiring to those who might have similar attacks, either polio or some other disease.

What About College?

Schools are closing all over the nation and numbers of young people will go into the business world in the hope of making money. Too many of them will stop their scholastic training at the end of high school days without realizing the tremendous advantages that will come to them by pursuing their way through college.

We do not recommend a college course for every graduate of a high school. There was a time when people thought this was a good idea, but, undoubtedly, there are some boys and girls who will not take advantage of the educational opportunities they can obtain. These young people might as well go to work, whether they are the sons and daughters of rich or poor parents.

At the same time, we would urge all students who are completing their high school courses this summer, to give serious thought to the possibility of attending some college. The right institution, and the right personal application, could make all the difference in your future life.

If a college education seems impossible to some young people—because of financial reasons—let us remind them that "where there's a will, there's always a way." Scholarships, loans and aid of various kinds are available to the student who sincerely desires an education.

Economy Unchanged in Election Years

Babson Park, Mass., I have been studying the record of business and the stock market in election years since the turn of the century. Is there a definite pattern which we can use to find out where we stand at the present time—historically? Can we use this knowledge to estimate what conditions we should expect for 1956?

NO DRASTIC CHANGES

Fourteen elections have come and gone since I graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The outcome of the elections—whether the victor was Democratic or Republican, whether the result was a surprise or cut-and-dried, whether we were at war or at peace—seemed to make little difference. Political parties spend millions of dollars to arouse the voters to the tremendous consequences of failing to vote the right way. Yet the spending habits of the people have continued undisturbed by the turmoil. Consequently, it seems useless to get too excited about election years. Political activity does not appear to cause any drastic changes in the economy. If business has been good, it tends to continue good. Spotty business continues to be spotty. The Nation's economy seems to disregard politics. It depends, instead, upon fundamentals such as the impatience of people to buy merchandise, the willingness of industrialists to expand their plants, the eagerness of bankers to loan money. As a result, I forecast that the volume of business transacted this year will show no substantial change, either up or down, from 1955 levels.

WILL THE BOOM CONTINUE?

Most of my friends who work for a living tell me they "never had it so good." Reports from the rest of the 165 million population tell the same story, plenty of work at good wages. Even the farmers who have seen their gross take decline still make fairly substantial tax payments to Uncle Sam. How much longer can these good times keep up? When will Newton's Law of Action and Reaction catch up with this decade of high prosperity?

I forecast that there will be no collapse of the nation's economy this year. Much publicity has been given to the so-called "built-in stabilizers"—social security, public works, and road-bonding. Stimulators of business, such as "no-money-down" selling and defense work, are said to be the answer to any anticipated letdown in business. All these stimulants will work—for a while. They can provide the necessary push to keep the nation's economy rolling along in high gear through 1956 if the Washington managers find they are needed! They however, cannot be successful in rolling back a tide of Reaction—permanently.

SHOULD EXCITING MARKETS BE EXPECTED

Careful scrutiny of the stock market during the past fourteen election years reveals no standard pattern. Election of Republican "trust-buster" Theodore Roosevelt in 1904, and of Taft in 1908 occurred in years of strong bull markets. Harding, a Republican, in 1920 saw a weak market; while Coolidge in 1924 enjoyed rising stock prices. Hoover, perhaps the best economist of all, also saw rising prices, but subsequently witnessed a great collapse. Franklin Roosevelt's election years showed mixed trends. Truman in 1948, saw no definite stockmarket trend. The situation in general appears to be: Since the nation's businessmen and investors prefer conservative thinking in Washington, we are more likely to see expanding business and a more buoyant stock market when the Republicans are in office,—but this is not always true.

As long as President Eisenhower's health continues to improve, and provided there is no radical change in the international situation, I can see no serious threat to business or the stock market during 1956. But I cannot visualize a new boom this year on top of the long-extended period of prosperity we have already had. I forecast that we may well see one or two breaks in the market, interrupted by a series of equally sharp rallies. Certain groups of securities may even reach new high levels,—while other groups may decline to new lows. Election years, however, offer no sure clue to business prospects or stock-market profits.

Q—Who would become President if the President-elect died or is disqualified for any reason before the date of his inauguration?

A—The Vice President-elect becomes president in case of death. If the president-elect is disqualified for any reason, the vice president-elect acts as president "until a president shall have qualified."

Q—What has become of the move in Congress for a probe into the meat and food industries?

A—The subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary on anti-trust violations has until December 31 to look into this subject. Senator O'Mahoney, Wyoming, chairman of the subcommittee, has indicated that he will conduct a full scale probe in the meat packing industry and on milk and dairy products. There is evidence that investigators for the committee may already be in Chicago and other cities looking into mass buying techniques to depress prices and other techniques which may come under scrutiny of the committee.

Q—Has a negro ever served in the United States Senate?

A—Yes, two. Both were from Mississippi. Senator Hiram R. Revels served from February 1870 to May 1871, and Senator Blanche Kelso Bruce from 1875 to 1881.

Q—Who picked the sites for the White House and the Capitol Building?

A—George Washington.

Q—Was any President a bachelor?

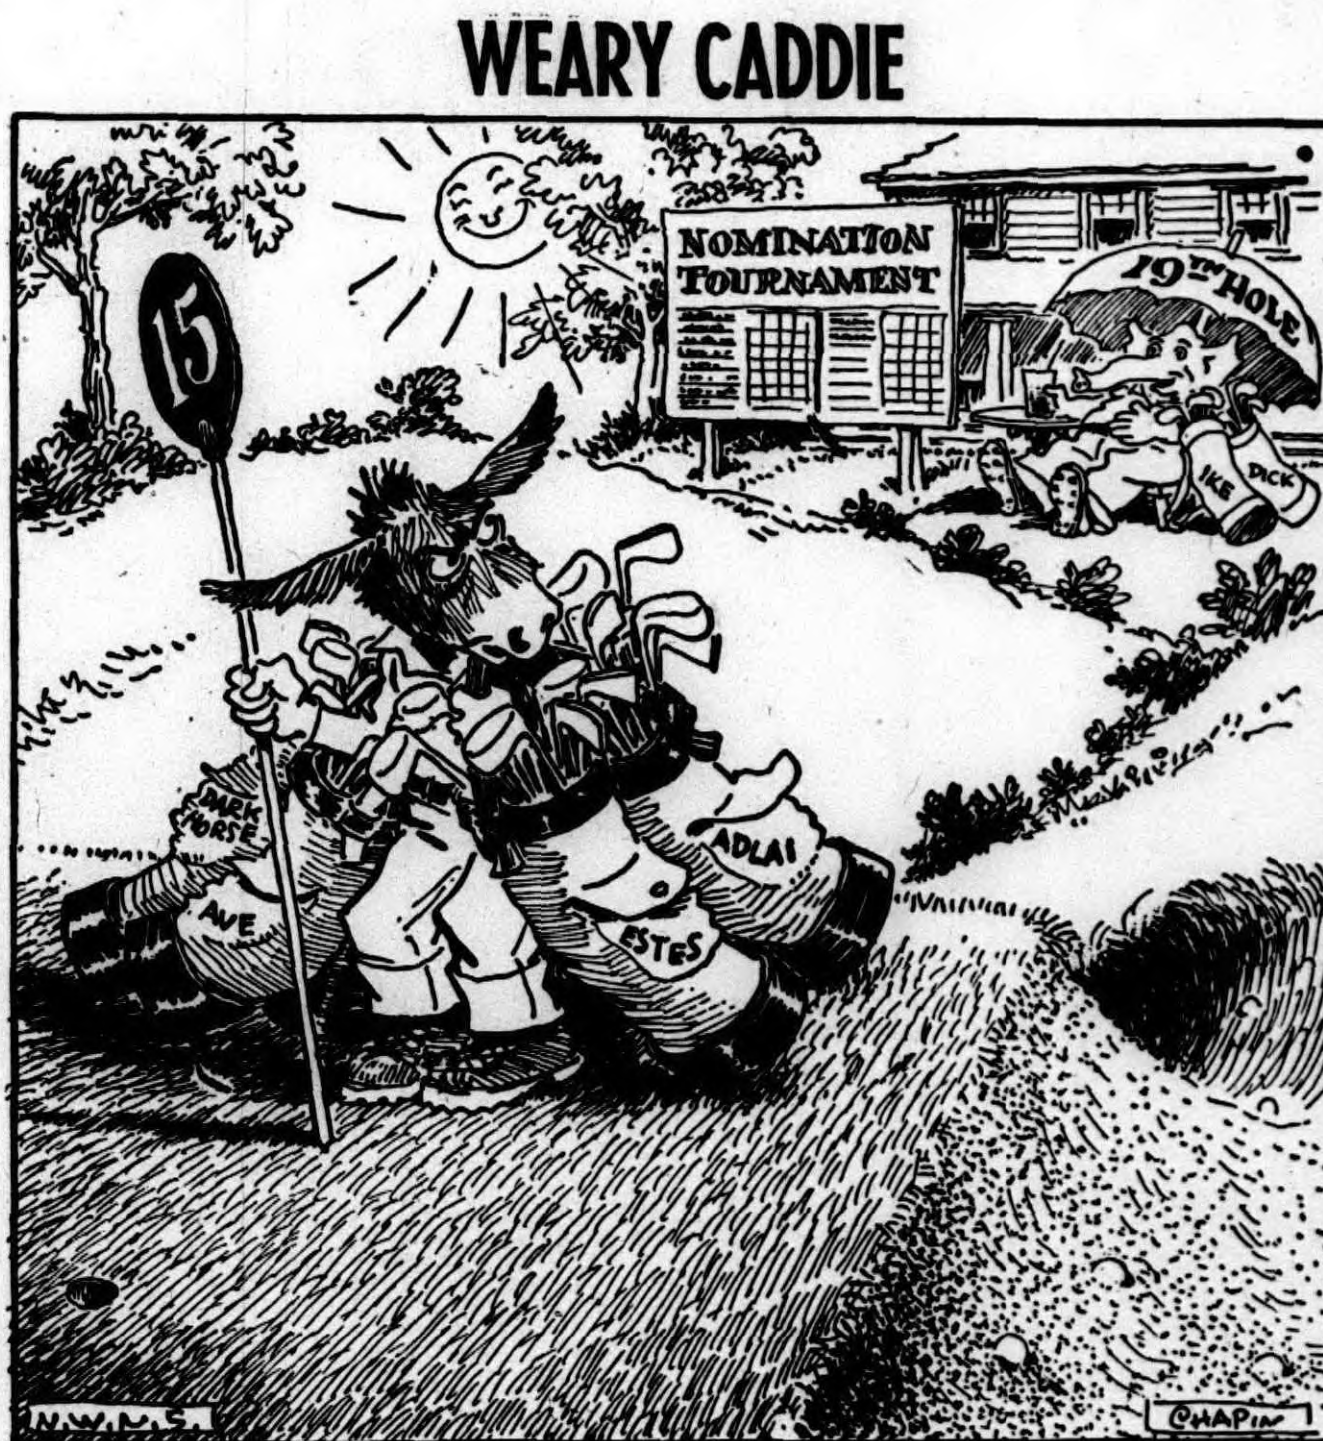

A—Yes. President James Buchanan never married. President Grover Cleveland was a bachelor at the time of his first election. During his first term he married Frances Folsom, of Buffalo, the daughter of his law partner.

Q—When was the first national political convention to nominate a president?

A—In 1832 at Baltimore. It was called by President Andrew Jackson. Nominations prior to that time were made by Congressional caucuses. Jackson, who was unpopular in Congress, contended the people should choose delegates for nomination of presidential candidates instead of the nomination being made by congressmen. Since 1832 all presidents have been nominated by convention.

Q—Who furnishes uniform and equipment for the National Guard?

A—They are provided by the Federal Government to enlisted men free. Officers are entitled to buy uniforms from the Federal Government at cost.

Quotes

JOSEPH McCaffrey, veteran Washington correspondent: "The time has come for the United States to sell democracy directly, even if it will be a risk."

STUART R. SYMINGTON, U.S. Senator from Missouri: "It is a fact that in a free society, censorship per se (in itself) can constitute grave danger to national security."

NIKITA S. KHRUSHCHEV, Communist Party leader: "It remains a fact that we were the first to explode an H-bomb from an airplane."

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER: "We have the most powerful Navy in the world. There is no navy that even approaches it in power, and it features one thing power, and it features one thing, air power."

PAPER CAN BE AS STRONG AS STEEL...

The paper in your insurance policies can be, for example, if those policies are correctly written to custom fit your particular needs. They will give you complete protection against tragic loss and — again if they are correctly written — there are no "ifs, ands or buts" about that protection.

Such strong-as-steel protection can be built for you against the disaster loss of your cherished possessions — homes and property — and against their loss through liability. But, be sure that this protection is built for you by an insurance expert, not by a firm who handles insurance as a sideline and offers you one kind of policy at so-called bargain prices.

There is a way to be sure. Call in a qualified, independent insurance agent for an analysis of your insurance position... a professional man whose business is insurance and a man who represents the leading insurance companies of America making it possible for him to choose for you the right insurance at the right price.

Such counsel is always available from this office without obligation. We urge you to take this means of being SURE that you are SAFE... before you have a loss.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Just the Facts, Ma'am!

Having a red-hot crime wave in town. Specs McGuire and Buck Hanson were caught taking money out of parking meters — again. I was at Police Headquarters when a nice old lady rushed in to report them.

"It was dark but I saw their faces in the flashlight beam," she said breathlessly. "You can't trust anybody these days!"

She got flustered when Chief Benson explained that Specs and Buck are authorized collectors—working nights after their regular jobs. "Have to get 'em uniforms," said Benson. "Third time they've been turned in!"

From where I sit, we ought to guard against accusing anyone of being "wrong" just because that's the way it looks to us. For instance, I've heard people talk against a neighbor because they didn't approve of his choice of beverage! (They liked tea, or something, while he preferred a glass of beer.) Be sure you have a case before you lay down the law.

Joe Marsh
