

Argues Airport Bond Proposal

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a series of two articles designed to acquaint city voters with the $500,000 airport bond proposal being placed on next Tuesday's ballot. Last week we presented a short history of the issue. Today we have asked the airport committee to explain in a few words why the airport is needed and Canton township officials to tell why the airport is not wanted. We trust that these arguments will help citizens decide.

Yes!

The voters of Plymouth are at the crossroads of decision. Either they vote in favor of permitting the city to back a $500,000 bond issue with its faith and credit on August 7, or they postpone the inevitable to a day when a municipal airport will cost many, many times more than it will today.

It is as simple as that. The present Mettetal airport, and its adjacent property is the last remaining site in Western Wayne County suitable for an airport development.

Facilities at Willow Run and Wayne Major airports are overcrowded to a point where these facilities can no longer handle additional aircraft.

Plymouth needs an adequate municipal airport facility. It needs it now and the need will grow acutely in the years to come. Why? Because, first of all, America is becoming more and more air-minded, both industrially and culturally, and second, because the city desperately needs more industry—and the fourth most important requirement of industry in seeking a location is the presence of adequate airport facilities in the community.

The proposed facility will make Mettetal one of the safest airports in the country for industrial and private aircraft. Previous accidents at the field could have been avoided had the runways and other facilities been adequate.

The Michigan Department of Aeronautics in its report concerning this airport says: "With the closing of many privately owned airports in the Detroit Metropolitan area because of residential and industrial expansion there is an increasing need for the individual local government to provide airport facilities for the many executive type aircraft, flying professional men and private flyers who are now using the facilities of these private fields."

At the time of the last inspection there were 81 of this type of airplane based at Mettetal Airport. If facilities were provided this number could be increased to as many as 250 planes with the influx coming from other fields being closed, the increase in the number of corporations owning their own aircraft and the desire of professional and businessmen to move their flying operations away from the crowded conditions of the larger airports, which cater mainly to commercial and military flying.

"Since the City of Plymouth is located in the heart of a highly industrial and thickly populated area, there is a great need for an airport of the 'Secondary' or 'Feeder' class within reasonable road distances of the manufacturers, business and professional men and private individuals who use aircraft to expedite

No!

The citizens of Canton Township and the members of the Canton Township Board wish to go on record as opposing the proposed purchase of the Mettetal Airport by the City of Plymouth and the expansion of their airport.

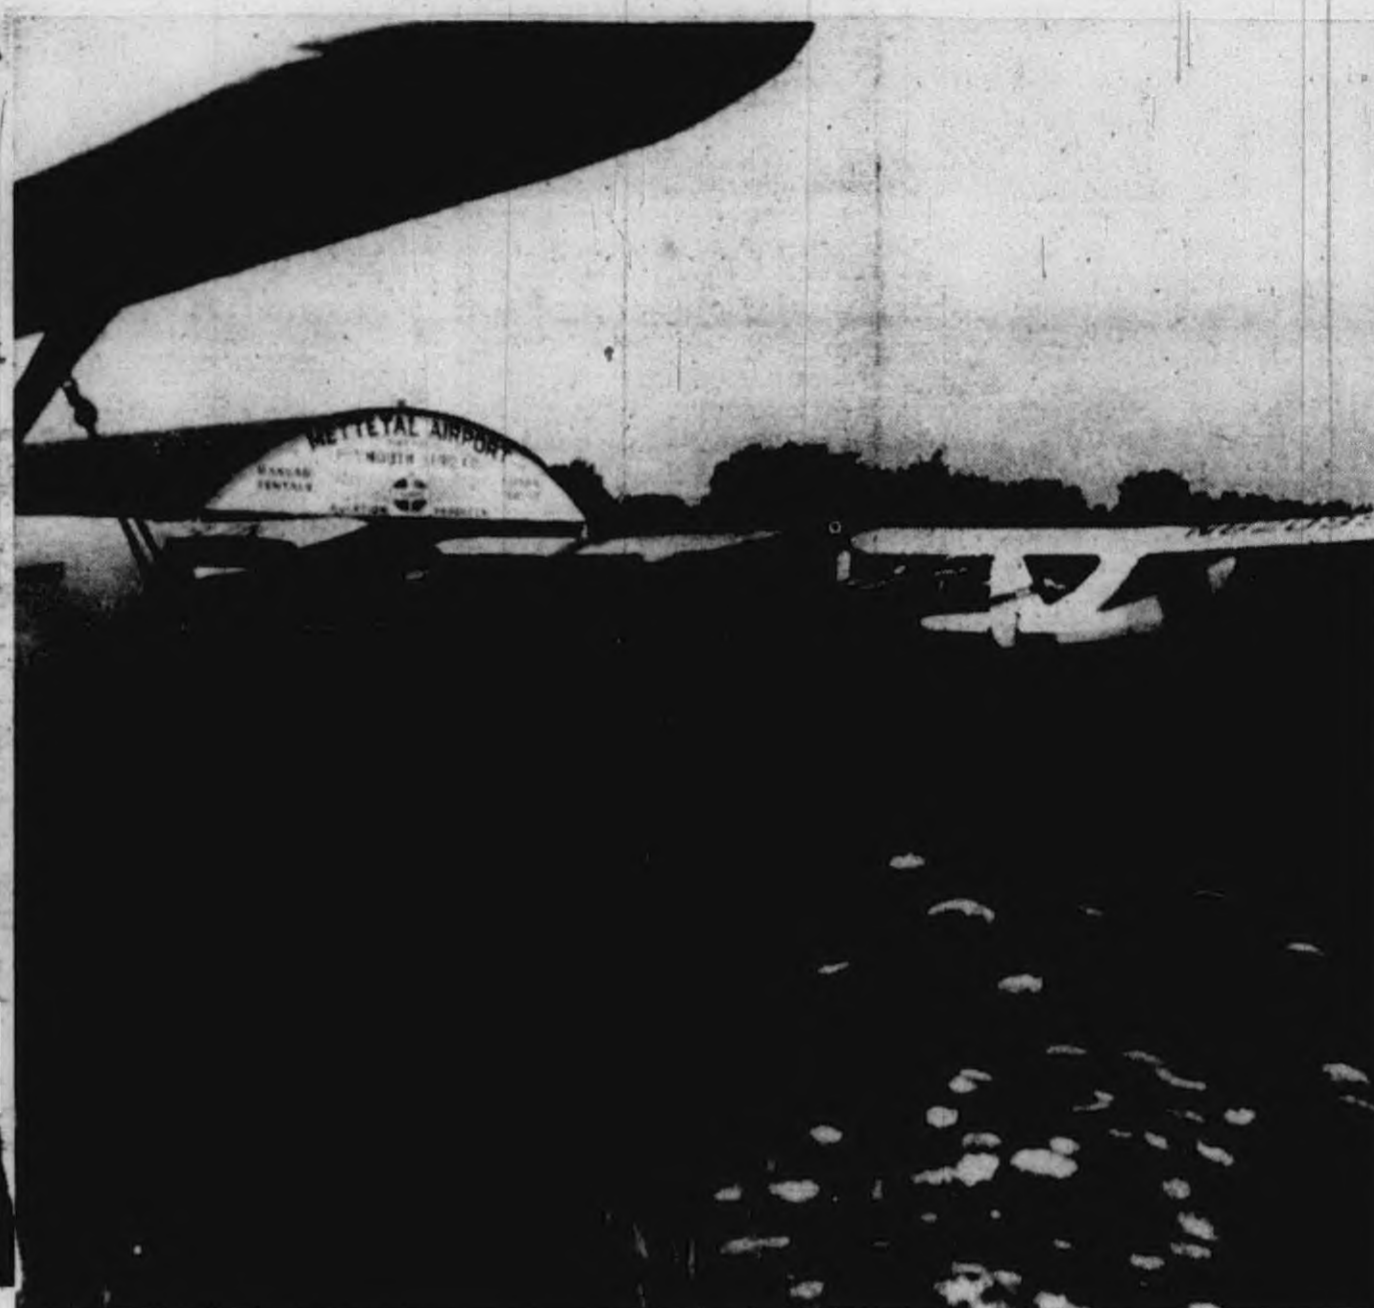

Canton Township opposes this plan because it would blight a large area of our township for future development and poses a serious threat to our present plans for sewer and water. It would also strongly affect a housing development planned for that area. The Federal Housing Authority has found that airports depreciate the area around them from one to two miles to the degree that they are affected by the airport.

The enlargement of Mettetal Airport will also affect the land values and people of Plymouth. We suggest that the people of the City of Plymouth examine this proposed City of Plymouth Airport which your elected officials approved and are sponsoring. Do you approve the placing of this larger airport with its longer runway just a half mile from your city limits? This will require every plane that uses this airport to come directly over your city either in landing or take off. The present plan for expansion calls for a north and south runway parallel with Lilley Road between Joy Road and Warren Road. This is the major runway to be black-top paved and built to accommodate the larger two-motor planes. Who are the people in Plymouth that will benefit by this airport? Is it worth the added tax burden which they propose to place in the budget for the operation of the airport?

All of us in Wayne County have been taxed for the Wayne County Airport. Millions of our tax dollars have been spent on this County Airport and we have watched this airport fight with the air lines and try to force them to use its facilities and thereby justify its spending of the millions of dollars. To date it has had little success and this vast port with its modern facilities lies virtually unused. Now comes the Plymouth manager with a plan with the approval of mayor and a majority of the council to build a city airport to compete in a sense with the county airport.

Your city council, under the direction of your mayor and city manager, appointed a committee and called several meetings of citizens and leaders of industry in and around Plymouth. The purpose of these meetings was to interest industrial leaders in the area to purchase $500,000.00 worth of bonds for the purchase and development of the airport. Their plan was a complete failure. Industrial leaders completely rejected their plan and we may assume that intelligent business

SUBJECT OF MUCH controversy during the past months is Mettetal airport, pictured here with some of its 80 or more planes and its main hangar. The city wants to purchase the field, located in Canton township, plus other nearby land for expansion.

Strike Mediators 'Making Progress'

An optimistic view that negotiations between Champion Containers, Inc., and the union will soon result in settlement was given yesterday by the state labor mediator—but talks which took place Monday and Tuesday will not be resumed until next Wednesday.

Meeting in the State labor mediation office in Detroit, union and management spent from 2 until 10 p.m. Monday in session and all day Tuesday.

But the company's vice-president in charge of industrial relations, Nicholas George, asked that further talks be postponed until August 8.

Stanley Dobry, the state mediator, said that George gave no reason for the postponement but it is presumed that he was called away on other company business. Champion is owned by the Ohio Boxboard company which has a number of other plants.

"I would say that we made satisfactory progress on parts of the agreement," Dobry declared. "Both parties seem willing to get down to business." He added that both he and the federal mediator, Harry Caton, believe that there are no questions which can't be resolved.

The United Paper Worker's strike against Champion is one month old. It began on July 5.

An assault and battery case against the local's president, Robert Fennimore, was postponed from Monday until August 13. Fennimore was charged with pulling a plant engineer from his car on July 6 while searching for printing dies which pickets believed were being smuggled

Boys on Scooter Injured by Car

Two teen-age boys were hospitalized Monday when the motor scooter on which they were riding was struck by a car in front of city hall.

The boys were Jerry Johncox, 15, of 43732 Shearer drive, driver of the scooter, and Lawrence Judd, 14, of 769 Holbrook. Driving the car that struck the scooter was Suzanne Stecker, 18, of 45455 North Territorial road.

Police said that Jerry received a broken right leg while Lawrence had a severed artery in his right forearm.

The accident occurred at 12:08 p.m. and a large lunch-hour crowd gathered around the scene as Jerry lay on the pavement awaiting an ambulance.

According to police reports, Miss Stecker said that she was stopped on Church street for a red signal light. When it changed to green, she added, she started to turn left and couldn't stop in time to avoid hitting the south-bound scooter.

The scooter driver said that he looked at the light and that it was on amber and he thought that it was a blinker light. The youth was given a traffic ticket for not observing the signal.

Paper is Sold To Bill Sliger

Announcement was made this week by Glenn H. Cummings, publisher of the Northville Record and Novi News, of the sale of his publications to William C. Sliger. Active management of the papers was taken by Sliger on Thursday, August 2.

Sliger, general manager of The Mail, came to Plymouth in 1951 from the Merced (California) Sun-Star. For two years he served as advertising manager of The Mail before assuming the general management. In recent weeks Sliger has also acted as business manager of The Livonian and Redford Observer, associate publications of The Mail.

The new publisher has been active in Plymouth business and civic organizations as a member of the Kiwanis club, director of the Symphony Society, secretary of the Plymouth Community Stamp corporation and Chairman of Commerce committees. Mr. and Mrs. Sliger and two children reside at 1451 Sheridan, Plymouth. They plan to move to Northville in the near future.

Band to Participate in Convention Parade

For the third year, the Plymouth high school band under the direction of Laurence Livingston will have the honor of participating in the American Legion State Convention parade, the 1956 event to be held at 3 p.m. Saturday, August 4, in Lansing.

The local band, the only high school group in the parade, will lead the procession with the American Legion's 17th district, of which Passage-Gayde post No. 391 and its auxiliary are members. The Legion's state championship Drum and Bugle corps and marching units from Legion posts and auxiliaries throughout the state will follow in the event.

Official delegates and members of the local Legion unit are already in Lansing for the August 2-5 convention.

Candidates, Issues Face Voters Tuesday

Will Find Candidate Information Inside

Plymouth area citizens will be voting next Tuesday on candidates who will represent them in their state and national capitals. Selection of these men and women is difficult without some knowledge of their background.

On Page 5 of this section will be found information about Republican and Democratic candidates who are seeking nominations for the U.S. house of representatives, state senate and state legislature. Their biographies and statements should help you become a little more acquainted with these candidates.

Truck-load of Pipe Taken at School

Police have but a few meager clues as they continue their investigation of the theft of $3,000 worth of sewer pipe and fittings taken from the junior high school construction site.

"A very noisy" red truck was the description given by one neighbor who saw the vehicle enter the grounds from the south end of Fairground street on the night of July 19. Mrs. Fred Kohler, 297 Fair, said that she saw a red truck from her kitchen window enter the school grounds with its lights out. It was later believed seen leaving the grounds and turning south on Mill street.

Missing is 1,525 feet of pipe and 130 fittings. They have a retail value of $3,000, according to the sub-contractor, Kenneth Anderson company. The wholesale value of the pipe was $1,918.

Such a loss by theft is not suffered by the school, but by the contractors. Not until the school is completed and turned over to the school board is the school district responsible for losses.

Livonia Police Chief Harmon Fired by Mayor

Livonia's police chief was fired by Mayor William Brashear Tuesday. The mayor made 45 specific charges against Chief George Harmon, who had headed the police department in this neighboring community since the city was incorporated six years ago.

On June 27 Mayor Brashear had suspended Harmon for two weeks without pay and placed him on three months probation. Harmon was told at that time that he had to put his department "in order."

At the end of his suspension, the police chief was on duty for just three days before entering the hospital.

Lt. Dennis Swift has been serving as acting chief, but he is starting his vacation. Brashear said that Lt. Francis Murphy, who was called back from retirement following Harmon's suspension would serve as acting chief of the department.

A new chief will be selected through Civil Service.

Little Tommy Holloway of Ypsilanti is spending this week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Rorabacher on Rock drive while his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Robert K. Holloway are vacationing.

$500,000 Airport Plan May Draw Many to City Polls

While voters all over Michigan will go to the polls next Tuesday to narrow down competition within the Democratic and Republican parties for offices from governor down to precinct delegate, Plymouth city voters will also need to decide if they want to approve a $500,000 bond issue for the purchase and expansion of a municipal airport.

Relatively few of the city and township's registered voters have turned out for primary elections in past years and this year is expected to be no exception — unless last-minute campaigning stirs up more interest.

New Precincts Created Since Last Election

There were but 746 voting in the 1954 primary in the city and 429 in the township. But the presidential election year of 1952 saw 1,409 turn out for the primary in the city and 765 in the township. This being another presidential year may see the 1952 figures met or exceeded.

While Democrats will have no trouble in selecting their candidate for governor because of Mennen Williams is unopposed, Republicans have a choice between Albert E. Cobo and Donald S. Leonard.

Democrats and Republicans will each find the name of one Plymouth man on the ballot. Both are seeking nominations for the state legislature. They are Sterling Eaton, former publisher, who is seeking the Republican nomination, and Orville Tungate, American Airlines employee, who is competing for the nomination as a Democrat.

Other offices involved in the primary are lieutenant governor, U. S. representative, State senator, and county prosecuting attorney, sheriff, clerk, treasurer, register of deeds, auditor and train commissioner.

Also found on the voting machines will be a non-partisan race for a circuit court vacancy and precinct delegate jobs.

While Plymouth township voters will have no special issues on the ballot, city voters will have two. Besides the airport bond proposal, they will vote on whether land located in front of Starkweather elementary school should be sold by the city to the school. This land, thought by most people to be the school's front lawn, was actually land donated to the city many years ago for park use. The school board would now like to own it but the law requires that voters first approve the sale.

The city's $500,000 general obligation bond issue looked like an uphill battle this week as more and more people openly told their opinions. Even though the opinions sounded equally divided, this will not be enough to swing the proposal. A three-fifths majority is needed to approve the issue.

The proposal asks for a $500,000 bond sale for the purchase of the present Mettetal airport and additional land that would provide a 3,600 foot north-south runway. Once the land is purchased, the state government will pay 25 per cent of improvement costs while the federal government will pay 50 per cent of land purchase and improvement costs. With this money, the city proposes to purchase hangars, gasoline sales and land leases are expected to pay off the bonds.

Chief opposition to the airport has come from Canton township officials and those living in the vicinity of the airfield.

Wins Kresge Doll Contest

Ten-year-old Nancy McCartney of 7272 Newburg, Plymouth was announced winner of the doll contest sponsored recently by the local S. S. Kresge store.

Nancy's prize was a 23-inch bride doll which she won for her views on "What My Dolly Means to Me." Approximately 35 youngsters entered the contest which closed July 13.

Irvin Nance is manager of the Plymouth Kresge store.

Northville Police Pursue Porker

Northville police were routed early Sunday morning on an unusual call—pigs!

It seems the Herman Gabriel, 109 South Wing street, were awakened by sounds unique in the downtown area. A glance out the window revealed the source. Two brown pigs were rooting up their front lawn and flower bed. A hurried call to the police station across the street brought what was believed to be a quick end to the trouble—patrolmen with a dog catcher's noose.

Snared, the first porker made a firm stand by sinking his sharp feet into the ground. A tug-of-war ensued, the pig at one end, the police at the other. The stalemate was finally broken when police dragged the pig to the side walk, eliminating the line of defense. He ended up in the jailhouse across the street.

The other pig, witnessing his accomplice's fate, decided to make a run for it. Down Wing street he went, next to Cady, then headed for the cemetery, a patrol car in hot pursuit. Cornered at the cemetery gate, the porker proved adept as a boxer in sidestepping and reversing his field to outwit his opponents; then, taking off on a circuitous route, he gave his pursuers the slip.

Last seen headed for the racetrack, police are still in a quandary as to the vanishing pig's whereabouts.

MANY NEW AND unusual classes were added to the Plymouth school system's summer program, such as this class for special children who never before attended school. Meeting each weekday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., they followed academic, handicraft and playground activities. Six of the class's nine children are shown with their teacher, Miss Shirley Krueger. They played each day with other children who were taking special reading and arithmetic instruction in another class.

VIOLIN PLAYING, almost extinct among Plymouth's youngsters, was suddenly revived this summer when Wayne Dunlap, left, was hired by the board of education to help teach instrumental music. A violin class of 18 boys and girls played in a "graduation" concert last week. Most of the summer classes have now ended.

WOOD SHOP was another of the new summer classes established by the school board. From left are Michael Boofy, Michael Davis, Terry Taylor and instructor Frank Sullivan. There are also other classes in such subjects as art, science, Spanish, French, typing, driver training and swimming.

WEATHER FORECASTS courtesy the Plymouth Township Civil Defense unit and the weather bureau are now being furnished customers of Dely's Market on Ann Arbor road. CD Director Leo Flowers, right, is shown writing the latest report while store operator, Norbert DeLoroque, watches. Flowers says that the county Civil Defense department is considering the service for other establishments.

One of the first to recognize the potentialities of aluminum was Napoleon III. Visualizing it as lightweight equipment for his soldiers, the French Emperor subsidized the French scientist Henri Sainte-Claire Deville in his efforts to find a low-cost method of production.

Township Now Provides Free Dumping Privileges

Plymouth township residents will now be able to take loads of rubbish to the township's dump without paying, it was announced this week by Clerk Rosalind Broome.

It will be necessary, however, to obtain a permit from the township hall before going to the dump along Haggerty road, north of the C & O railroad. A metal tag will be given to the householder at township hall and it must be given to the dump attendant. A fee of 25 cents a load was formerly paid.

The new system applies only to residential users of the dump. Commercial users will follow the usual procedure, Mrs. Broome states.

Recreation Department Seeks Home for Netherland Visitor

Mrs. Boersma Smit, short for Hendrika Wilhelmina Boersma Smit of Deurloostraat, Amsterdam in the Netherlands, will be visiting and observing the Plymouth Recreation Department from August 8-22. Plymouth's Recreation Department was the point chosen for Mrs. Boersma Smit who was sent here by the cooperative community recreation project to introduce American activities to the visiting lady.

"Our responsibility here in Plymouth is to provide sleeping quarters, and preferably in a private home. If anyone is interested in having this interesting lady from the Netherlands as a guest for part of her two week stay here please call the recreation office at Plymouth 895 and arrangements will be made if possible for her to stay with you," was the statement issued by recreation director Herbert Woolweaver.

Mrs. Boersman Smit taught briefly, before marrying a Dutch reformed clergyman, she was active in social and cultural work, in the parish until her husband's death in 1944. She is now on the executive committee of the Netherlands Cultural Council and was the unanimous choice of this group for recommendation to this program.

She is president of "Filmcentrum," an organization promoting good films, and stimulating film education; she is also one of the film censors appointed by the government and a member of the board of Ecumenical Film Centre, an International organization with offices in Paris. She is secretary of a national society for creative dramatics, member of a committee, appointed by the government, for the aesthetic education of youth, and president of a committee, stimulating creative expression in school and youth work.

She is on the editorial staff of several daily and monthly papers, mainly in the cultural field, and has published many articles on cultural subjects, amateur dramatics and the developments of women's interests in cultural subjects. In the course of her work she is called upon to give many lectures. She has been a delegate to many European and British conferences and has many times been a leader of youth camps in Switzerland and in Italy.

She is exceedingly personable and is very strongly recommended. Her English is not perfect but very good. It is perhaps significant that the Netherlands Cultural Contact, which she serves on the executive committee, is a national coordinating society for cultural activities and recreation, which is attempting to bridge the division on religious lines; the members are of various faiths.

Here Are Candidates to Vote on Tuesday

Citizens League Lists Favorites

Three candidates in the local race for state representative and state senator have been given "preferred" ratings by the Detroit Citizens League in the Aug. 7 primary election.

Sterling Eaton, Republican for state representative, John Swainson, Democrat for state senator, and George Boos, Republican for state senator, were so designated.

The ratings of the Detroit Citizens League:

State Senator—18th district—Democratic: Preferred—John B. Swainson, candidate for re-election. Qualified—D. Thomas Kavanagh, tax consultant. Republican: Preferred—George F. Boos, former police commissioner. Qualified—James A. Hague, investment salesman.

State Representative—21st district—Democratic: Qualified—Charles Walker, factory inspector. Republican Preferred—Sterling Eaton, retired newspaper publisher.

Next Election

Although many people will go to the polls this Tuesday to vote in the primary election, their job will only be half finished. The "big" one is still ahead.

This being another so-called presidential election year, more people than ever are expected to vote here.

The general election will be held Tuesday, November 6.

For those who failed to register for the primary election next week, the last date to register for the general election will be October 8.

U. S.

House of Representatives

MARTHA W. GRIFFITHS

Unopposed for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the 17th District is incumbent Martha W. Griffiths, 16603 Warwick.

Mrs. Griffiths, 44, was first elected to Congress in 1954, after serving as Judge of Recorder's Court in 1953. Formerly a member of the state House of Representatives, Mrs. Griffiths received her education at the University of Missouri and the University of Michigan. She was admitted to the practice of law in Michigan in 1941.

Mrs. Griffiths also serves as the Michigan legal advisor for the Business and Professional Women's Clubs and belongs to the Detroit Historical Society, Michigan Bar Association, Women's City Club and the Eastern Star.

"The major issue of the 1956 election," Mrs. Griffiths believes, "is the urgent need to rescue the machinery of the executive branch of the federal government from the hands of those who place the self interest of the few above the needs of the many."

ALLEN M. BOSWORTH

An attorney and member of the consulting faculty of Wayne State University, Allen Bosworth, 19003 Labser Road, is seeking the Republican nomination for Congress from the 17th Congressional District.

Bosworth, 29, is a graduate of Redford High School and attended the University of Michigan, where he received B.B.A., M.B.A., and L.L.B. degrees. He is a member of the Michigan Alumni Club, Michigan State Bar, Detroit Bar Association and Alpha Kappa Psi, Professional Business Fraternity.

A former special agent of the FBI, from June, 1954 to April, 1955, Bosworth also served as assistant vice president in charge of Labor relations, Briggs Manufacturing Company.

"The primary issue facing the American people . . . is whether the nation shall continue its course toward ever-increasing federal governmental control or shall revert to more effective government by state and local agencies," Bosworth said.

AVAILABLE

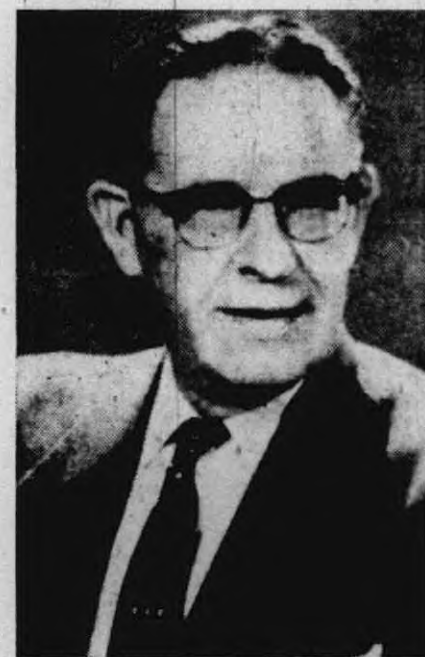

GREGORY M. PILLON

The candidate running probably the most intensive campaign in the 17th District is Gregory M. Pillon, who is seeking the Republican nomination for Congress, although he is a resident of the 15th District.

Pillon, 35, lives at 17345 Cherry-lawn with his wife and six children. He is a practicing attorney, having attended Wayne University, the University of Detroit and the Detroit College of Law, from where he graduated.

He was twice before nominated for Congress on the Republican ticket in the 15th District, and plans to move shortly to the 17th District, he says.

"Waste and duplication uses up unnecessary tax monies," Pillon says in describing what he feels to be the main issue of the day. "If elected, I will specialize in trying to get the recommendations of the Hoover-Farley Commission adopted," he said.

GEORGE E. SMITH

George E. Smith, 14940 Lauder, is a Republican candidate for Congress from the 17th District. "A 30-year resident of the 17th District," Smith said, "I was the 1954 nominee for state legislature from the 10th legislative district."

Smith is 54 years old and a cum laude graduate of the Detroit College of Law. During 1942 and 1943, he was a member of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, having been appointed by Frank Cody, then Detroit Councilman and former chairman of the Detroit Board of Education.

He has served as the president of the Strathmoor Business Association, Northwest War Council, the chairman of the Northwest Detroit Community Fund Drive, and a lecturer for the American Bankers' Association.

"The tremendous tax burden" is what Smith considers the most important issue today, and he promises "individual relief for homeowners."

RICHARD WAKEFIELD

A Republican candidate for Congress from the 17th Congressional District is Richard Wakefield, 8900 E. Jefferson.

Wakefield, a self-employed public relations man, is a former professional ball player for the Detroit Tigers and a graduate of the University of Michigan. He is a member of the Young Republicans Club.

"I rely, with confidence and hope, that the man chosen by the free choice of the folks in the District will be that person who will most effectively represent the true purposes and values which we really believe as Republicans," Wakefield said.

Among the many issues of the day, Wakefield feels, "the philosophy and purpose of the Republican party is above the petty politics and attitude of politicians; that with principles and dedication directed toward the 'greatest good for the greatest number,' is the only approach to economic well being."

D. THOMAS KAVANAGH

"I have a definite program to better the lives of the residents of the 18th District, which I propose to fight for if elected," states D. Thomas Kavanagh, candidate for the Democratic nomination for State Senator from the 18th District.

Kavanagh, 38, lives at 17014 Woodworth in Redford Township. A private tax consultant, he received his training at the University of Notre Dame, University of Detroit and the Detroit College of Law. He is a veteran of World War II, and is active in the West Glendale Civic Improvement Association.

Increased aid to schools is one of Kavanagh's main planks in his platform. Other issues with which he is concerned are job protection for reservists, increased labor and unemployment benefits, increased old age assistance, state aid for flood control, improved housing and sanitation for migratory workers and greater highway safety, he says.

JOHN SWAINSON

Seeking re-election to his second term in the State Senate from the 18th District is incumbent Senator John Swainson, 20452 Olympia, Redford Township. An attorney, Swainson attended Olivet College and earned his degree at the University of North Carolina.

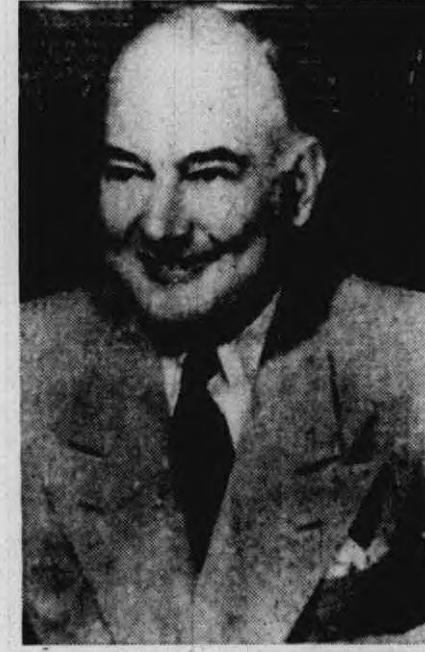

Swainson is a member of the Redford Township Citizens' Forum, Redford Lions Club, Northwest Youth, Inc., Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion and the Amvets. He served as Judge Advocate of the Michigan Department, Disabled American Veterans.

Civil Defense, veterans' legislation and traffic safety top the list of current issues which Swainson is concerned with. He "fully endorses Governor Williams' progressive program of more hospital beds for the mentally ill and increased unemployment insurance benefits." He supported the Governor's school aid and F. E. P. C. Programs while in the state senate. "I maintained a perfect attendance record while in Lansing," Swainson said.

GEORGE F. BOOS

Former Detroit Police Commissioner George F. Boos, a resident of northwest Detroit at 19129 Lancashire Road, is seeking the Republican nomination for State Senator from the 18th District.

Boos was educated in Detroit Public Schools and is a graduate of Detroit Central High School. He is 59 years old. Appointed to the United States Secret Service after serving with the Marines, Boos has the distinction of having protected Presidents Harding, Coolidge, Eisenhower and Franklin Roosevelt.

Other dignitaries under his protection included former Vice President Henry Wallace and the King and Queen of England.

He served as Detroit Police Commissioner from 1950 to 1952. A highway construction program is one of the major issues of the day, according to Boos, who pledges "to work for more adequate highways if elected."

JAMES A. HAGUE

Seeking the Republican nomination for State Senator from the 18th District is Detroit resident James A. Hague, 33, who lives at 15309 Piedmont.

A broker with the firm of Smith, Hague and Noble, Hague is a graduate of Redford High School. He received degrees in engineering and business administration at the University of Michigan.

Active in Republican politics in the 17th District, Hague is a member of the Young Republicans, a precinct delegate, a member of the GOP State Central Committee, and a member of the 15-man 17th District Committee. He is also an advisor for Junior Achievement and a director of the Northwest Civic Federation.

"Politicians seem to think that they have to create a lot of reckless spending to stay in office," Hague states. "My program will be to get more values from each tax dollar spent," he said.

EDISON A. REID

Another of the three candidates seeking the Republican Party nomination for State Senator from the 18th District is Edison A. Reid of Detroit.

Reid, 31, resides at 16141 Appoline Ave. He attended Redford High School and received a veteran's diploma from Detroit Northern High School. Presently employed as a salesman, Reid also attended Wayne University.

An active member of the Young Republicans Club, Reid has never held office. This is his first crack at a political campaign.

More education and recreational facilities for children to combat the current wave of juvenile delinquency is what Reid feels to be the main issue of the day. "All schools in general should adopt a program," Reid said, "to combat this problem of delinquency."

HARVEY J. BEADLE

A second attempt to win the Democratic nomination for State Representative from the 21st District is being made this year by Harvey J. Beadle, 41, is a resident of Redford Township, residing at 19467 Wakenden.

An elected Redford Township Trustee since 1955, Beadle received his education at Owendale High School in Owendale, Michigan. He owns his own general insurance business in Redford Township and is a real estate broker. Beadle is also chairman of the Redford Township Zoning Board of Appeals. He is a member of the Redford Lions Club and the Redford Exchange, and served three years in the Merchant Marines.

Unemployment ranks first among the issues which Beadle thinks should be given top priority. "I feel that we should implement Governor Williams' unemployment program," he said, "and also begin working toward a 32-hour week."

ORVILLE TUNGATE

Probably the youngest candidate seeking office in this area in the August 7th primaries is Orville Tungate, 26, who is running for the Democratic nomination for state representative from the 21st District.

Tungate resides at 9433 Brookline in Plymouth. A veteran of three year's service in the South Pacific, he was honorably discharged from the U.S. Army in 1949. He is employed by American Airlines as a customer service agent in the Operations Department.

An active party member in the 17th Congressional District, Tungate has served as chairman of the Plymouth Democratic Party for the past year.

Mr. Tungate says his interest in politics stems from a strong desire to serve the community and to carry forward the principles of the Democratic Party, which he is "firmly convinced answers the needs and desires of all the people."

CHARLES WALKER

Charles Walker of Livonia is seeking the Democratic nomination for State Representative from the 21st District. He lives at 12904 Stark.

A graduate of Woodrow Wilson High School in Beckley, West Virginia, Walker took one year of law at Charleston, West Virginia. He is presently employed as a quality control inspector by the Rockwell Spring and Axle Company.

Walker ran for the same office in 1954 and won the Democratic nomination. He was a Livonia city constable in 1955 and 1956. He was president of the Municipal Monitors, a Livonia organization, Walker is also on the executive board of the Livonia Democratic Club. He has been active in union affairs.

Walker feels that the main issue of the day is "increased revenue to Redford Township and Livonia from the state, to supplement gas and weight tax returns."

STERLING EATON

A former newspaper publisher for more than 25 years, Sterling Eaton of Plymouth is seeking the Republican nomination for State Representative from the 21st District.

Formerly the owner of the Plymouth Mail and The Livonian, Eaton is a graduate of Lansing High School and of George Washington University.

Eaton served on the Plymouth Board of Education for a period of six years, but this is his first attempt to win nomination for a state office. He is a member of the Plymouth Rotary Club and of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

Calling himself "the only real Republican candidate for nomination from this district," Eaton charged that "the 21st district has had no serious representation for the past several years." This, he believes, is the major issue of the day for voters in the 21st District.

LEONARD E. WOOD

A third attempt to win the Republican nomination for State Representative from the 21st District is being made by Leonard Wood, 9568 Nathaline, Redford Township. Wood has served in the legislature since 1952.

Formerly the head illustrator for the Wayne County Road Commission, Wood received his education at Christ School in Asheville, North Carolina and took a four-year advertising art course at Meininger's Art School in Detroit.

A member of the official Republican Club of Redford Township, Wood says he is on the executive committee of the Wayne County Republican Committee.

Unemployment is one of the major issues of the day, Wood feels. Although "unemployment benefits should be raised if necessary," he thinks "Governor Williams' program went too far." While in the legislature, he sponsored a bill which provided that drivers' licenses expire on one's birthday.

STATE SENATOR JOHN B. SWAINSON'S ANTI-LABOR VOTING RECORD EXPOSED!

When the bills listed below were before the State Senate FOR FINAL PASSAGE, and Mr. Swainson's vote was needed by Labor, he did not vote "YES" on these bills, but actually fought their passage!

- HOUSE BILL 186 — ← Mediation for Public Employees.
Desired by State, County and Municipal Employees, Unions, Firefighters, Motor Coach Operators, Etc.
- SENATE BILL 1117 — ← Unemployment & Workmen's Compensation for Truck Drivers.

- HOUSE BILL 130 — ← The Motor Carrier Leasing Act for the Protection of Common and Contract Carriers.
This act was for the protection of Michigan Truck Drivers and their jobs. Swainson voted to kill the bill by sending it back to committee, where it died.
- SENATE BILL 1245 — ← Amendment of Title of Motor Carrier Act to Conform With a State Supreme Court Decision.
This act was to assure the safety and protect the jobs of Michigan Truck Drivers in much the same way as House Bill 130 (above) which succeeded it.
- SENATE BILL 1193 — ← Amendments to State Workmen's Compensation Law.
This bill provided for increased payments, across the board, for workers injured on the job.
- HOUSE BILL 130 — ← The Motor Carrier Leasing Act for the Protection of Common and Contract Carriers.

- SENATE BILL 1266 — ← The Warehouse Bill.
To exempt from Personal Property Tax, goods stored in public warehouses while in transit. This bill was designed to induce shippers to use the Port of Detroit in conjunction with the St. Lawrence Seaway, thereby aiding in the development of Detroit as a world port.

Tradition

By C. C. Wiltse
Registered Pharmacist

Behind the pharmacist and all his works is a long tradition. His skill in ministering to human needs is as ancient as his skill in compounding pain-relieving or life-saving medicaments.

Long before the Bible was written, it was the medicine man who dared the horrors of wild beasts and wilder elements in a never-ending search for the roots and herbs and minerals with which to brew magical healing potions.

Long before man's earliest days as a gregarious individual, it was the medicine man who took unimaginable risks in order to try out the efficacy of the potions he devised.

To this day, the concept of trial and error is the primary force in research. Even modern scientific research performs its miracles so much through trial and error as it does through high-powered organization.

With his ancient tradition to inspire him, the pharmacist is ever ready to serve his community with the same resourcefulness . . . the same courage . . . the same disregard for self . . . that his progenitors displayed so many eons ago.

This is another in a series of informative advertisements appearing in this paper each week, presented by Community Pharmacy, 330 S. Main.

Merchants Go For No. Five

Four weeks ago the Plymouth Merchants had a dismal 2-4 record and was pretty deep in the inter-county league standings, but after action ceased in the circuit this week the locals were in possession of a 6-4 record, and were challenging the league leaders.

The Merchants racked up their fourth straight victory at the expense of "swindling" last place Pressler Club 4-2 on a fine pitching performance by the newly acquired Richard Shepard. Pressler tied up the game in the fourth 1-1 only to have the Merchants break the deadlock again in the fifth with two runs. The visitors made three base hits in the sixth but only one run scored.

Norm Mahrley came to bat with the score standing at 3-2 in favor of the Merchants in the top half of the last inning and blasted a 400 foot bases empty home run to run the score to the 4-2 final. The win was the first for Shroeder against no losses. Hank Bonga, a local lad was charged with the loss. Doug Fairbanks had two hits in four tries to the plate to pace the winners. Ron Bender also collected two safeties but his hits were outshined by the elusiveness of the ball which caused him all five of the Merchants errors.

The Merchants will play an afternoon exhibition game against the local 182 union team from the Ford tank plant this Saturday, at 5:00 on the local diamond. The regularly scheduled game will be played this Sunday, at 3:30 on the home field against the league leading Romulus team.

Marilyn Walsh and Doris Spangler were joint hostesses Tuesday evening at a lovely miscellaneous shower for Arlene Dowling, daughter of Mrs. Patrick Dowling. It was held in the home of the former on South Main street. Games were played with the opening of the gifts afterward and later a buffet lunch served. The color scheme was carried out in pink with a bridal basket filled with pink flowers centering the table flanked by pink tapers. There were about twenty-five guests from Detroit, Livonia, Buchanan and Plymouth present.

Even though this is an election year and the nation's lawmakers are anxious to get to work on their political fences back home, there's been a rumor around that Congress might be called back for a summer session to tie up a lot of loose ends in the web of international and domestic affairs.

Anyone spreading such a rumor in Washington right now is sure to get an argument. Vacation fever hits all of us around this time of year, including Congressmen . . . but in an election year the fever spreads through the House and Senate like a brush fire in a high wind. There's an old saying in Washington that a Congressman's first duty is to get re-elected . . . and most of them figure the way to do that is get back home and remind the voters who they're supposed to vote for.

A group of scientists in Pennsylvania are trying to track down an animal that may be 300 million years older than the dinosaur. That's a hunt we find it hard to get enthused about . . . If you've been on the trail of supplies to take along on your vacation, you'll find a lot of the things you need in our stocks . . . from sun tan lotion to first aid supplies. We have everything in drugs, toiletries and sundries.

Airport: No

considered this type of financing unsound. Now your council has placed on the ballot for your approval or rejection a proposal to raise by taxation half a million dollars ($500,000) for the purchase and development of the Mettetal Airport.

A large portion of our people in Canton Township has always looked to Plymouth as our trading center. We have no bank, no newspaper, no drugstore and we cannot by a new automobile, a suit of clothes nor even a pair of overalls in all of Canton Township. For these things and many more we have looked to the Plymouth businessmen to supply. You are our merchants and we are your customers. Your church as are our churches and we have a common school system. It has been a very satisfactory relationship through the years and we would like it to continue. All we ask is that you treat us as good businessmen treat good customers. Certainly the ill will and resentment that this project is creating among us, your neighbors in Canton Township, is worthy of your consideration. After careful consideration of this plan we ask you to reject this proposal by voting "no" on the airport bond issue.

Grange Cleanings

All aboard for the third Grange picnic! Where? Up at Willoughby Wisely's farm where he has promised us a feed of sweet corn. So let's hope the corn is ready to be picked.

Just in case some of the folks are not sure of the way to get there, here are the directions. Go West on Territorial road about three miles past Webster Church corner to Mast road, turn right on that to Strawberry Lake road, turn right again or east on that to the second house on the north or left side of the road.

Everyone is expected to bring their own table service and a dish to share as it is pot luck of course. It is planned, for those who can do so, to start as near six o'clock as possible. There will be some who can not get away that early, so they will just get there as soon as they can.

Mrs. Ernie Vealey and Mrs. Mollie Tracy were luncheon guests of Mrs. Vealey's niece in Oxford last Thursday. They also visited her sister in Orion.

Nazarene Church Pastor Leaves

A four-year pastorate at the Church of the Nazarene in Plymouth will close for the Reverend E. T. Hadwin who leaves this Saturday, for appointment to a similar congregation in the Los Angeles area of California.

Selection of a new pastor for the church located at 41550 East Ann Arbor trail will be made at a meeting of the church board, membership and district superintendent of the denomination on Wednesday, August 8.

His fifth pastorate, Reverend Hadwin came to the Plymouth church following a two-year ministry at the Calvary Church of the Nazarene in Detroit. He has also held pastorates in Eaton Rapids, Cadillac and Lansing, Michigan. Reverend Hadwin received his education at Olivet Nazarene college in Kankakee, Illinois.

The local Nazarene church, housed in a building completed two years ago, is in the process of a $300,000 construction plan for a new sanctuary, activities, house and parsonage. The present building was constructed for the purpose of converting to an educational unit when the future sanctuary is completed.

Nearing its expected completion date of September 1 is the basement unit for the sanctuary which will be used for classrooms this fall. Construction of the activities house and parsonage will precede the building of the sanctuary which will have a seating capacity of 500.

The Nazarene church was formerly located at Pearl and Holbrook streets.

Three Attend BPW Meeting In East Lansing

Three members of the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's club attended a state leadership meeting of the BPW, Saturday, July 28, at the Kellogg center on the Michigan State university campus in East Lansing.

Representing the local club were Mrs. Ada Watson, president; Miss Barbara Cushman, vice president and program co-ordinator; and Mrs. Roberta Steele, committee chairman for the Small Business clinic. The latter event, sponsored jointly by Michigan State university and the Business and Professional Women's clubs, is held each October on the MSU campus. A clinic was conducted at Saturday's meeting by Miss Viola Wolfe, second vice president of the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs.

Speaker for the convention dinner Saturday evening was Miss Olive Huston of the Ohio Federation. Her topic was "Going Steady with BPW."

A good joke is heard far and wide and for many years.

To Attend Conservation Camp

Mrs. Garnette Hoover, first-grade teacher at Jackson School in Livonia, will attend the Conservation Training school at Higgins Lake the week of August 12-18.

Mrs. Hoover is being sponsored by the Rosedale branch, Women's National Farm and Garden association.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS

The regular meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District was held in the homeroom of the high school on June 11, 1956.

Present: Mr. Booth, Mr. Caplin, Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Smith, Mr. Blunk and Mr. Ishister.

Absent: None.

Mr. Blunk made a progress report on the insurance program pointing out the need for a systematic appraisal of the school properties. He also noted the alternate proposals for builders' risk policies on new construction and that the insurable value of the new Gallimore School building approximated $250,000. Mr. Brocklehurst and Mr. Merriman, representing the Plymouth Association of Insurance Agents, suggested a five year builders' risk policy which could be cancelled and converted to a standard form policy upon completion of the building. The use of this plan would result in savings to the district.

It was moved by Mr. Fischer and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing to delegate to Mr. Blunk the responsibility for adequate coverage on builders' risk insurance.

Ayes: Mr. Booth, Mr. Caplin, Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, and Mr. Smith.

Nays: None.

Mr. Blunk presented for consideration four bids from appraisal companies and a description of the services offered. Listed below are the companies and the amounts of the bids:

The Industrial Appraisal Co.	$4,400
Floyd Thomas Co.	6,480
Fidelity Appraisal Co.	2,200
American Appraisal Co.	3,500

After considerable discussion it was decided to give this matter further study before contracting for this service.

Mr. Sando and Mr. Becker, representing Wheeler and Becker Associates, Architects and Engineers, pointed out that Michigan Consolidated Gas Company was unable to provide gas for heating purposes in the new Gallimore School. They noted that a light oil burner might be installed temporarily until gas was available or the other possibility was to install the heavy oil burner in accordance with Alternates No. 14 and 15 as submitted by Norman D. Nelson and Son, mechanical contractors, and Alternate No. 14 as submitted by Allstate Electric Company, electrical contractors.

It was moved by Mr. Fischer and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing to accept Alternates No. 14 and 15 in the amount of $4,650. (Alternate No. 14, $4,200 plus Alternate No. 15, $398) as submitted by Norman D. Nelson and Son, mechanical contractors, and Alternate No. 14 in the amount of $150 as submitted by Allstate Electric Company, electrical contractors, for oil heating in the Gallimore School.

Ayes: Mr. Booth, Mr. Caplin, Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, and Mr. Smith.

Nays: None.

Mr. Merchant and Mr. Latture appeared before the Board to request an interpretation of the non-resident student policy. They requested that an eleventh grade student, now living in the Plymouth Community School District, be permitted to finish high school when his parents move into a district from which no additional non-resident students are now being accepted. No action was taken.

It was moved by Mr. Fischer and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing to officially name the new junior high the Plymouth Community Junior High School.

Ayes: Mr. Booth, Mr. Caplin, Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, and Mr. Smith.

Nays: None.

It was moved by Mr. Fischer and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing to adjust the administrative salaries for 1956-57 upward by ten per cent.

Ayes: Mr. Booth, Mr. Caplin, Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, and Mr. Smith.

Nays: None.

Above, they look over plans for their trip to the West Coast this summer. He is with Heichman Sand and Gravel company in Northville and found the three mile distance from his Plymouth residence, 15667 Portis, a distinct advantage over a former 21-mile trip. They moved here June 16.

The Cincinnati Zoo is the only place in the nation where there is a regular season of grand opera during the summer.

The club spent the day with their hostess and brought with them a potluck dinner. On Sunday 12 relatives came from Plymouth and Detroit to extend congratulations to Mrs. Dunning and enjoyed a birthday dinner with her.

Beglinger Wins, VFW Unbeaten

Beglingers, who had dropped three of their last four games, made two impressive wins in the A softball competition this week to maintain their position at the top of the league. The first decision was against the squad from Cavalcade 8-1, with Street hurling a two hitter. The second was an excellent no-hitter by Thibodeau, who shut out Box Bar 6-0. Livonia managed to keep their second place position with one win and a tie.

Northville V. F. W. continued their undefeated season in the B softball league with a 7-3 romp of Wall Wire. King Furniture dumped Daisy 14-9 in a 31 hit barrage between the two teams. Then King played another game with Price Bros. to make up a rainout ballgame and gained their second win of the week 7-4. Daisy avenged their set back with a 16-3 trouncing of Chevy Spr. & B.

A LEAGUE

Beglingers countered eight times on seven hits to romp Cavalcade 8-1. Gabby Street got credit for the win as he allowed the losers only two hits. Likewiss cleared the bases in the third inning with a circuit blow to put Beglingers ahead 5-0. The pace setters tallied three times in the fifth inning to account for the eight runs. Ron Bender singled home Cavalcades lone run in the fourth inning. Pringle was charged with the loss. Street pitched in going the distance.

Thibodeau twirled a sparkling no hitter as Beglinger shut out the Box Bar nine 6-0. Four of Beglingers six hits came in the third inning as they scored three runs for the second straight inning. Thibodeau-who has been pitching superbly all season-allowed only two men to reach base one came in the third on a hit batter, the second came in the next inning when he walked the third batter to face him. Box Bar used three pitchers in their vain effort to stop Thibodeau, who struck out ten batters.

Livonia Office and Cavalcade were all tied up at the end of regulation play and had to go into extra innings when they remained tied until the umpire called the game because of time. At the bottom of the regular seven innings neither team had crossed the plate, then in the top half of the ninth inning Livonia tallied for two runs which seemed quite a feat until the Cavalcade team took the bat to hand and matched the two runs on one lone hit. Doolin paced both teams with two hits in five times to the plate. Mac Pierce had the only perfect day with one hit in one official time to bat as he collected three straight walks. Pringle went the distance for Cavalcade as Wellman and Lowe shared the work for Livonia.

In the second game of the week Livonia squeaked by Chevy Spr. & B. 1-0 on a three hitter by Lowe. Chevy's Tiliski gave up only two hits but one of them was placed with a bad pitch that hit a batter and a perfectly timed sacrifice fly to score the single run of the contest. Chevy threatened in the last inning when Lowe walked two batters in succession, but he remedied that by striking out the final batter and give Livonia the win.

Box Bar picked an easy win as the fellas from Evans forfeited to give Box Bar a 7-0 win.

Chevy Spr. & B. exploded for three runs in the fourth inning to set up their 4-1 margin over Evans Products team. The three runs were scored on a single two doubles, and hit batsman along with an error. Evans run came in the last inning on walk, a single and an error. Stevens was charged with the loss as Tiliski picked up the win.

with double runs in the fifth and sixth inning to pair with their three early runs to coast to an easy victory and to keep their eight game streak running. Bob Hudson lead the batting attack with three hits in three times to the plate, one was a three bagger that scored Wall Wires only run. Thomas was charged with the loss.

Daisy just didn't have the chance to score the runs set up by all the hits they collected as they out hit King Furniture 16-15 but still came out on the short end of the scoring department 14-9. Daisy broke the ice in the top half of the first inning as they jumped to a seven run edge. King could only dent the opponents for one run in their half of the inning. Daisy tallied another in the second to run the score to an 8-1 lead for the rifle-men. King went into the bottom of the fifth at the short end of a 9-4 score but they went into a six hit attack that was good for eight runs and a 12-9 lead. King scored again in the sixth to account for the final 14-9 finale. John Sandmann was the winning pitcher as he aided his own cause with a home run and two walks in four times to the plate. King had a total of 23 bases against Milz. Campbell had two hits along with his four bagger for the losers. Nedry and Wriska also had three hits apiece in four times to the plate.

Whitman & Barnes broke up a 10-10 tie in the final inning as Devine singled home Breckinridge who was on third base with a triple.

Williams overcame his wildness to receive credit for the win, he walked seven of the opposing batters. The 11-10 margin was Whitmans third win of the season.

Playing games that had been rained out previously found King Furniture dumping Price Bros. 7-4. Daisy's smearing Chevy Spr. & B. 16-3. Scoresheets weren't available for these games so further information could not be given.

State Park Directory

Automobile Club of Michigan this week will begin distribution of its 1956 Michigan State Parks booklet, L. B. Rice, Plymouth division manager, announced today.

The 36-page booklet lists the 61 state parks and recreation areas, gives their location and describes facilities for tourists, campers and fishermen. Also included is a listing of state forest camp and picnic grounds, metropolitan and Wayne County parks.

Michigan parks and recreation areas should set new attendance records this year, Rice predicted. In 1955, they entertained nearly 18 million visitors while over 99,000 campers enjoyed the state-owned facilities.

Library Helpful
In Planning
Club Programs

With most Plymouth organizations resuming regular meetings next month, the Plymouth branch, Wayne County Library, has called the attention of club leaders to helpful books and other material on organization work at the library.

"The library has numerous handbooks that offer suggestions on such matters as the duties of officers, the work of committees, parliamentary practice and program planning," said Mrs. Agnes Pauline, head librarian.

Many of the books, such as Helen Avery's "The Clubwoman's Book," and Arthur Lieber's "How to Organize and Run a Club," give a wide range of information and advice on club programming, administration, finance, committees and membership.

More detailed instructions for planning and conducting interesting and worthwhile meetings are outlined in handbooks such as "The Program Encyclopedia" by Duran, "Stern's 101 Ideas for Clubs" and Avery and Nye's "The Clubwoman's Book."

Techniques of procedure and strategy for meetings are treated in "Parliamentary Law for the Layman," "Practical Parliamentary Law," "How to be a Successful Leader," "Guide Lines for Group Leaders" and others.

Also available is material on publicity, discussion techniques and public speaking. In addition, the library maintains a directory of local organizations and their officers.

STAREWAY TO THE STARS: Rita Hayworth autographing the dollar bill she handed the Sherry Netherlands doorman as she departed for Girville. . . Rocky Marciano telling us he wants to be a fight manager. . . Shelley Winters wearing stocking embroidered around the ankle. "Win With Adlai." . . Diana Dors, the British siren, making a pretty good dent in this town before checking into H'wood. . . Johnny Ray and Latin Quarter show gal Sandy Preston taking a horse and buggy ride around Central Park. . . Model Nancy Berg explaining how only $50 an hour models can afford $25 an hour psychiatrists. . . Elvis Presley leaping out of a Cadillac convertible, throwing the keys to the NBC doorman and telling him, "Here, man, hold my horse!"

BEAU BROADWAY: Judy Garland swiped Faye Emerson's hairdresser Bernie Adler. Brought him out to Las Vegas to dress her tresses before each show at the Tropicana there. . . Roddy McDowall, featured in "No Time for Sergeants," just started his vacation. The first night he had free in almost a year he bought tickets to see "No Time for Sergeants." . . Jo Sullivan, clicking in "The Most Happy Fella," was a Godfrey loser. . . F. Hugh Herbert's new play (for the fall) "The Best House in Naples," has already sold from 60 to 70 theater parties. (Entire houses sold to charities who then re-sell the tickets at a higher price.) Meaning: Before even going into rehearsal the show has made a profit. . . Saw Rocky Graziano at the premiere of "Somebody Up There Likes Me" (a good picture) and he explained how he's helped cut down juvenile delinquency: "I grew up."

PARAGRAPHIC: Got a letter asking just how good a producer Mike Todd is? That's a hard one to answer. He's very clever, but like every other top man he's made mistakes. Fr' example: When the Theater Guild produced "Oklahoma" it went on the road for a tryout and was panned by the critics. They ran out of money and needed $1,200 to bring it to New York. The Guild offered to sell Todd ten percent interest in the show for the needed $1,200. It was a fabulous deal if the show turned out to be good. Todd went up to New Haven to see the play, returned to New York and wired the producer, "No gags, no girls, no chance!" The show limped into New York and you know what happened. It was a sensation. The head of the Guild sent Todd a wire, "No tickets."

SHOW FOLK: Mae West is worth about $5,000,000. . . Bullets Durgom (Gleason's manager) couldn't stand the telephones anymore so he shipped out for three weeks on a banana boat. . . Berlie's gained a little weight. . . Pearl Bailey signed with Arthur Murray for six guest shots for $39,000. . . Look magazine is doing a story on Sid Caesar's visits to the psychiatrist. . . We're hearing nothing but raves about Marilyn in "Bus Stop." . . Looks like Rex Harrison will really marry Kay Kendall just as soon as his wife Lilli Palmer lets go. . . Grace Kelly may be a Princess now, but she still aspires to be a Queen of the B'way stage. An intimate of hers tells us she'd rather do that than make another movie. . . Eva Marie Saint's favorite joke is an oldie. It's about the starlet who asked the late John Barrymore for a date. "Why should I share ME with you?"

SMALL TALK: When Mrs. Clark Gable's little four-year-old daughter heard that the King was in on the deal to buy the Detroit Tigers she got all excited and ran out to tell her chums, "My daddy's going to buy a zoo in Detroit."

THE MYSTERY GUESTS: The well-known B'way actor who received a "Past Due" bill from a midtown florist. With it came a forget-me-not. . . The TV femme singer who is referred to as "Lisa Koch" by the cast of the show who wish she'd stop rating on the boss. . . The male singer whose racing around town trying to borrow $15,000 against earnings from an option on his show which hasn't been picked up, yet.

PERSONAL OPINIONS: Just from my own observations it looks like Jerry Lewis is harder to live with than Dean Martin. . . Watching TV I'm beginning to tire of Alfred Hitchcock's bits. He thinks he's too, too clever. . . Talking to Kim Novak we don't get the impression she's much of a brain, but Jayne Mansfield is surprising. When she knocks off the dumb-blonde act she makes a lot of sense. . . Saw "The King and I" and I just want to tell you that I think Yul Brynner is a genius. . . Arthur Miller's answers to the press are smug, pompous and insipid, to say the least. The fellow ought to accept the fact that he married a girl whose dowry is the American Public and for a while they're going to want to know what's going on. She handles them beautifully, but he's doing her no good at all.

Durable Homes: There are wood-framed homes still occupied in America today that were built in 1640 and 1660, the West Coast Lumbermen's Association reports. On the west coast, one of the oldest buildings constructed of Douglas fir lumber is Old College Hall on Pacific University campus, Forest Grove, Oregon, built in 1850. The wood sills, frame, siding and flooring is as sound as the day the building was erected.

A Frame That Lasts: The frame of a house is seldom out-of-date. Nearly one half of the 45 million U. S. homes have been framed in durable woods like Douglas fir and west coast hemlock. They will stand modernizing, for they will last for a century or more. Selecting proper framing lumber is one of the most important steps in new home construction.

NBC Making Film Of 'Uncommitted' Nations of Asia

An NBC task force is en route to Southeast Asia to make an hour-and-a-half color film covering six of the area's seven "uncommitted" nations, Davidson Taylor, NBC Vice President in charge of Public Affairs, announced today. The film will be titled "Assignment: Southeast Asia." Taylor said that Robert D. Graff would be producer and director of the film. Graff was associate producer and director of "Assignment India," the documentary study of present-day India which won a Peabody Award for the network earlier this year. He is producer of the continuing series of filmed "Conversations" with elder wise men.

The first members of the NBC film unit are already in Southeast Asia, Mr. Taylor said. The remainder of the task force and the rest of the equipment will follow shortly. Present plans call for filming in Burma, Malaya, Thailand, Vietnam, Indonesia and Cambodia, with concentration on Indonesia and Thailand as representative of the area. Filming will begin in August and continue for about three months. NBC is still negotiating with the Soviet Union to make a film inside that country, Taylor said, but negotiations have not progressed far enough to make production of the film possible in Russia this summer. "We have therefore decided to go ahead with 'Assignment: Southeast Asia,'" he said. "Negotiations with the Russians are continuing, and it is our hope that 'Assignment: Soviet Union' will be the third program in an 'Assignment' series."

The two camera-and-sound crews which will operate concurrently in Southeast Asia will be composed of many of the same persons who were involved in production of the India film, Mr. Graff said. "In this film the cameras will range from the small rural villages to the new industrial centers, from the lower schools to the high places of government. We will visit, in addition, the beautiful dancers of Bali, and the elephants of the teak forests of Burma," he said. "We will concentrate on the two most representative countries, Thailand, the oldest free nation in the area and a friend of the West, and Indonesia, one of the newest nations and, after the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R., the third richest nation in the world in raw materials. We shall look briefly at the other nations to see the essential similarities of their problems with one or the other of our key countries, and some of the differences."

Offers 21 Rules To Help in Wise Used Car Buying

Buying a used car? An estimated 12 to 15 million Americans do each year but very few really know how to shop for the car they want, according to a large automobile company.

Too few customers take a thorough demonstration ride when selecting their purchase, it was pointed out by S. P. Hutchins, Dodge used vehicle manager. To point up some of the things a customer should consider, the following 21 rules for buying have been offered:

- 1) Oil pressure: should be in the mid-range on the indicator and hold steady under acceleration.
- 2) Tire wear: Check both the outside and inside outer casings for cuts and undue wear. Tread patterns should be even across the tire, indicating proper wheel alignment.
- 3) Upholstery and general appearance: interior should not be unduly soiled or torn. Seat covers may be indication of the previous owner's care and pride but can also hide bad rips and stains.
- 4) Brakes: should have a firm pressure and be well up from the floor.
- 5) Steering: car should travel straight ahead without weave or sway.
- 6) Clutch travel: in a standard transmission type car, clutch should engage in gear smoothly with clutch approximately halfway out. If an automatic transmission, performance should be smooth and quiet.
- 7) Engine starting: should start quickly and easily when engine is cold. When temperature gauge shows warm, car should start more quickly.
- 8) Windows: check all windows for operation and discoloration.
- 9) Radio: play radio on at least two stations.
- 10) Foot pedal pads: should not be unduly worn. Floor mats should be in reasonable condition.
- 11) Heater and defroster: don't fail to check operation, even in summer.
- 12) Amp-meter gauge: should indicate no more than three-quarter charge when driving and should discharge only slightly at engine idle.
- 13) Oil filter: check to see if car has replacement type filter. If so, this can save the owner money.
- 14) Lights: check lights in park, dim and driving ranges. Also check stop lights and tail lights for operation.
- 15) Rust: very extensive rust will reduce pride of ownership, and can cost you money.
- 16) Oil: pull oil stick and check for clear oil. Presence of water bubbles in oil samples indicates probability of big repair bills in the near future.
- 17) Shock absorbers: test by driving over reasonably rough road. Clanking noises accompany unbound shock absorbers.
- 18) Engine compartment: lift hood and check for unusual amount of dirt, grime or caked oil residue.
- 19) Trunk: open trunk for appearance check and examine the spare tire for cuts and breaks.
- 20) Body: rain gutter over top of doors should be straight. Look down the side of the car to make sure body metal is smooth. A wavy gutter or side panels are the result of reworking a car after an accident.
- 21) Battery: check battery to make sure it does not have dried or cracked plates or that excessive acid deposits have destroyed battery frame.

OUTDOOR NOTES From The MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Sterling-Monroe state park on Lake Erie will be closed, except for weekends, starting Sunday night, July 22, until mid-August, and then will be closed completely for the remainder of the season.

The state Conservation Department said today that trucks will use the park road system during the next four weeks, carrying topsoil in the continuing park improvement program. About 30,000 yards of topsoil will be moved by mid-August. Weekends, however, the park will be available for public use.

But after mid-August, Sterling-Monroe will have to be closed for the remainder of the season to accommodate dredging operations now under way. The dredge will cut across the main entrance road after this date and begin work in the north lobe of the park.

To date this year, 536,000 persons have entered the park. Park officials, reluctant to close during the peak of the season, said the work had to be done this summer to continue the park development on schedule.

Contracts awarded thus far for improvement of the park total 1,120,000.

Michigan State Police troopers will visit state parks during routine patrols this summer to help calm the enthusiasm of rowdies and vandals.

The State Police recently agreed to take on the patrols to help beleaguered park managers, most of whom work alone and unarmed. In cases of trouble, local police are often summoned, but park officials feel the occasional presence of state troopers will do much to ease tensions that sometimes arise, especially in the more crowded parks.

The 42 recruit conservation officers now taking part in the Conservation Department's six-month training program have been assigned to districts throughout the state for two weeks of field seasoning with veteran officers.

The recruit class got under way July 1 at Higgins Lake training school and for the first two weeks spent most of its time studying law, firearms, field methods and related subjects.

The 42 recruits were picked from a field of several hundred applicants and had to pass stiff physical, mental and character tests before being chosen for the training.

Should all recruits successfully complete the training course and no vacancies occur in the meantime, the Department will have a full complement of 200 officers working in the field at the end of the year.

A bear recently stole a beaver live trap, containing a beaver, from a backwoods area of the Newberry district. State trapper John Arduin, Newberry, says this is the third time this has happened in the last three years.

The state Conservation Department decided to do a little harmless bragging recently when it learned that its publication "LAND, Our Basic Resource," had found its way to the desk of the superintendent of the Whitehorse, Alaska, high school.

The booklet was first published a few months ago and has been so popular that a reprinting will soon be necessary, probably in September.

Articles in the booklet first appeared as a year-long theme on land in the Department's magazine, "Michigan Conservation," during 1955, then were collected under one cover early this year.

Southern Michigan farmers have shown a growing willingness to make use of the Conservation Department's farm game habitat program.

The Department provides free trees, shrubs, grasses and other plantings to farmers to make more cover and food for small game.

Sportsmen pay for the plantings out of taxes they pay on sporting arms and ammunition.

But farmers, who know a good bet when they see it, find the cover plantings serve not only wildlife, but farm purposes as well. Trees form windbreaks, shrubs and grasses halt erosion, other plantings help hold water on the land.

At present, 4700 southern Michigan farms have planting programs under way and requests from others are received in Department offices daily.

The plantings come with no strings attached, except an obligation on the part of the farmer to see that the plants get into the ground and receive reasonable protection in getting started. But the farmer doesn't have to let hunters use his land, nor is he under obligation to pay, at any time, for the plantings. The program is long range and based on the theory that what's good for the land is good for wildlife and people combined, including farmers, hunters and anyone else interested in the problems and products of agriculture and conservation.

Anyone having five acres or more of rural land in southern Michigan, below the Bay City-Muskegon line, is eligible for participation in the program.

A postcard request to the Conservation Department's game division at Lansing, 26, will get the farmer under way on the program, and it's still early enough to get plantings for this fall.

Stops Rattles, Starts Fire

Township firemen were summoned last Friday afternoon to Edward Hines drive to extinguish a blaze beneath a car. But they found that the driver, Andrew M. Santanna, 8829 Canton, Center road, had already jacked up the car and put out the fire with water from nearby Wilcox lake.

Firemen said that the fire was caused by the burning of rubber inertube and tar paper used to wrap around part of the tailpipe to keep it from rattling.

Veterans of Foreign Wars

Tuesday, July 24, President Helen Bowring and Community Service Chairman Adele Stevens attended the meeting at Plymouth high school of the new group being organized to bring about community harmony.

Five members of the Post and Auxiliary housing committees met at the Post Hall Monday, July 23. Due to the small attendance a regular business meeting was not held.

We were very sorry to learn of the death of Marlyn Wiltse's brother, James Glatius. We would like to extend our most sincere sympathy to Marlyn and Jim Wiltse.

Congratulations to Dick and Bettie Neal who celebrated their wedding anniversary on July 30. Please remember to bring your canned goods to the next meeting for the trip to the National Home which is scheduled for the latter part of this month.

Husband of Local Girl Fatally Hurt

Funeral services were held on Tuesday of last week for Harry H. Rice, 24, of Flint, husband of the former Shirley Augenbaugh of Plymouth. He was killed on Friday, July 20 when his car hit head-on with another.

As an employee of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, Mr. Rice lived in Plymouth a short time two years ago where he met his future wife. He had been with the signal division of the railroad six years and was promoted to foreman two months ago.

Moving to Flint on March 1, Mr. Rice was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rice of Baldwin. He was born July 27, 1931 in Osceola county. He graduated from high school in Baldwin in 1949 and was married on June 29, 1954.

Surviving with his wife and parents are a daughter, Joyce Lynne, 15 months; two sisters and five brothers. Funeral services were held in Reed City and interment was in Deer Lake cemetery.

He bid high for the parrot, and finally it was knocked down to him. Paying over his $50, he asked: "Does this parrot talk?" "Who do you think was bidding against you?" the parrot inquired.

Favorite Recipes

Plymouth's Kitchens

Mrs. Dick Dooley slices fudge cake topped with chocolate powdered-sugar icing. For variation, the family also likes caramel frosting on their favorite dessert.

Dooleys Rate Fudge Cake Top Dessert

Here's a cake that's been packed and sent to such far-away places as Florida and Alaska, always rating a return message for more of the same.

Mrs. Dick Dooley of 499 Pacific offers us her recipe for "Chocolate Fudge Cake," a favorite in her family for 20 years and still on the top spot as far as family members are concerned. In fact, at the request of her son she'll soon be sending one off to Germany where Dick Jr. is stationed with the armed forces. Others have gone to relatives living out of state.

Here's the recipe:
CHOCOLATE FUDGE CAKE
3/4 cup shortening
2 cups brown sugar
2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup buttermilk
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1 teaspoon vanilla.
Cream shortening and sugar. Sift flour, soda and salt together. Add dry ingredients to shortening, alternating with milk. Add chocolate and vanilla. Bake in layer pans 25 minutes at 375 degrees. Use favorite icing.

Spare Auto Tire Makes Effective Life Preserver

If you're vacationing on a lake or seashore this summer, don't forget that your automobile is equipped with a handy, effective life preserver.
According to safety authorities, the spare auto wheel and tire fully inflated can be used as a satisfactory life-saving ring preserver. It can be used as a life raft for several persons from an upset boat, for tests show it will readily support three or four persons. It can be quickly rolled from car to water and pushed out to reach a swimmer in trouble.

Emphasis on Texture, Color
For Galaxy of Fall Fashions

Your new fall ensemble is more than likely to have definite texture that is apparent to the eye as well as the hand.

The single biggest fabric news this year is the reappearance of surface interest, announces an extension clothing specialist at Michigan State university. Texture will dominate all fabrics regardless of fiber, type or use. You can see the use of texture by watching for enlarged weaves, ribbon weaves, closely grained weaves, flattened surfaces and crepes. Crepes are being revived in a big way — not only in silks, but in wool jerseys, wool suitings and dresses and acetates. Magnified patterns, big, big classic checks, stripes and plaids will play an important part of the fashion scene.

The specialist goes on to say that in color, it's black plus five big families. Not just black but "textured black" as a carrier of new weaves and new surfaces will spark fashions. First in color is the entire brown family including beige and taupe. Greeny taupes will be high fashion; camels for suits, coats, separates and dresses; and beiges for formal and cocktail dresses.

Second in importance will be red. These will be hot and blue tones. Number three will be true, blue blues. There will be no purple, grey or green in them, but they will be clear blues which are pure and intense, yet not vibrant.

The green family ranks fourth on the color hit parade. These will include yellowed greens, blue-greens, sage-greens and bronze-greens. The fifth color group is that of antique coin tones: gold, brass, copper and deep rust. These coin colors are expected to be used in sportswear and coats more than any other else.

To dazzle the eye for late-day fashion, the clothing specialist declares there will be paper-thin and soft-as-chiffon taffetas. Satins will be so sheer you'd think they were chiffons and brocades will be loaded with metal (though lightweight) and truly monotone at first glance. Bartheles and peas are being given pronounced weave interest, and velvet, as always, will be high fashion.

Rounding out the fashions forecast for fall, the expert points out that tweeds are in for their biggest year. They will have smoother surfaces, monotone colors and weightlessness despite frequent bulkiness. Something to look for right now are the dark rich colored silk tweeds.

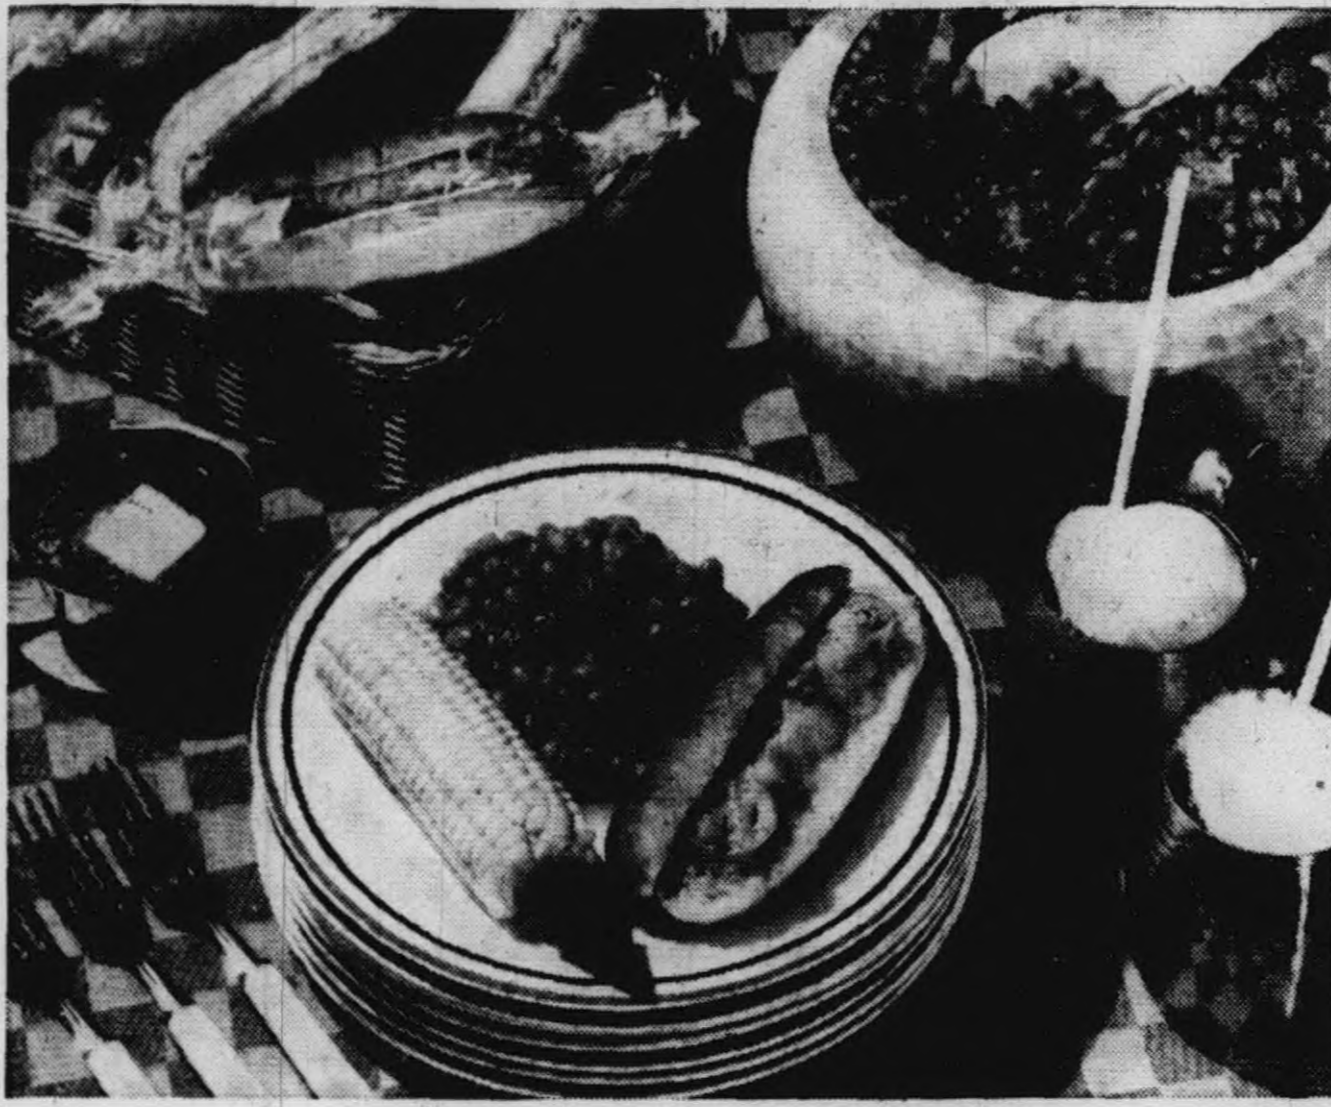

Tips on Wear in Care Of Fabric Gloves

Gloves that are pulled on by cuff will soon lose their shape. The fingers of the glove should be worked on simultaneously with a sliding motion. Afterwards the thumb should be slipped on and the wrist should be drawn into place. In removing gloves, pull each finger a little at the tip, and gradually ease the glove off the hand. Don't roll them off by pulling at the cuff so that you turn them wrong side out.

Laundry washable fabric gloves by squeezing soap suds of a mild soap through the gloves. Do not scrub or wring. A cellulose sponge or brush is good to remove spots that require extra attention. Rinse well. Roll the gloves in a towel to remove excess moisture. Pull them into shape and dry them on a flat surface.

Color in gloves makes a difference, too. The subdued hues such as gray, black, navy, brown, dark beige and luggage make the hands appear smaller and more delicate.

"For Those Backyard Picnics"

PICNICS CAN BE FUN FOR MAMA

Whether you hold them in your own backyard or in front of the fireplace in the living or recreation room, picnics can be year-round fun. Yes, for Mama too!

Choose a menu for which you can make up most dishes in the morning or even the day before. Then just before picnic time pop food into the oven.

Here's an easy menu that will allow Mom to enjoy the picnic too—ham and cheese stuffed rolls, hot Boston baked or chili beans, buttered corn on the cob (fresh or frozen), relishes, "black cows" for dessert.

CHEESE AND HAM STUFFED ROLLS

- 6 to 8 frankfurter rolls
- 1 cup ground cooked ham or canned luncheon meat
- 1/4 cup chopped sweet cucumber pickles or sliced stuffed green olives
- 1 tablespoon grated onion
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 6 tablespoons mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing
- 2 cups shredded American Cheddar Cheese

Combine ham with all the other ingredients. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Cut slice off top of each roll, scoop out center (dry for crumbs). Spread with softened butter.

Fill hollow of each roll with mixture. Replace top. Wrap each in aluminum foil, parchment or heavy waxed paper. Refrigerate till needed.

To heat: If rolls are in foil and cooking is being done outside, place on rack over very low coals until roll is heated through. Or with any wrap, place in heated Dutch oven long enough to heat through. Keep over low coals or other heat. Of course, these wrapped rolls may be placed in a moderately slow oven (325 degrees) for heating. Serve in wrappers.

Planning Series of Daily Goals Helps Homemaker Avoid Fatigue

We are told that often the things we did not accomplish take more out of us than the things we did. It is possible that doing not so much, but too little, can cause collapsing fatigue at the end of an ordinary day.

For example, you plan a project and hope to get it done but never get around to it. The incidental activities that too; its place can make you very weary. There is a very important and necessary feeling that comes with attaining private daily goals.

Have you ever noticed how the days get away from you when you put your list of stimulating and necessary extras at the bottom of your desk drawer. Don't let this happen, as it is this kind of frustration that wears you out. This is a very easy trap for the housewife to fall into. It takes all the pleasure out of homemaking.

Try making a list of the activities around the house that you would feel proud to be doing. Assign to each day one of these projects or part of it. It is sometimes necessary to take a long-range view of certain projects. Learn to be happy if you are working toward a goal. It may be a beautiful yard, an attractively decorated home or the ability to sew with skill.

Take into account your minimum daily requirements in house-keeping, and add to these necessary basic activities something you really have been "wanting to do." Give this firm preference over any incidentals.

One of the most valuable lessons you can learn is to plan your day instead of letting your day plan you.

Try This Attractive Fruit Arrangement

- FRUIT PLATTER
- 2 honeydew melons
 - 1 No. 2 can sliced pineapple
 - 3 bananas
 - 3 oranges
 - 1 grapefruit
 - 1 quart strawberries
 - Juice of 1 lime
 - 1/2 cup shredded coconut

Chill melons thoroughly; cut in halves and remove seeds and fiber. With a spoon cut into pieces. Cut the pineapple and bananas in pieces. Remove the sections from the oranges and grapefruit. Wash and hull the strawberries, reserving 1/2 cup to use in the dressing.

Blend the fruits and arrange in the honeydew shells. Sprinkle the lime juice over the fruit. Toast the coconut and place on the edges of the melon. Arrange the shells on a large platter and serve with a bowl of strawberry dressing.

CLEAN DRAPES EVERY YEAR

Better take a good look at the drapes in your home if a year or more has passed since they were last cleaned! Past experience has shown that draperies should be thoroughly cleaned at least every nine months to a year, otherwise they will fade and the fabric becomes streaked with yellowish or brownish stains. The streaks are caused by dust, steam, moisture, and furnace heat which permeates the fabric and results in stains when exposed to the sun.

Remember, proper cleaning within the suggested time period will make your drapes last two to three times as long as if they are neglected! Be careful of open windows in rainy weather. If the rain soaks your drapes or if they get too damp they are likely to become water damaged and streaked. Water streaks can only be removed by wetcleaning which carries the possibility of shrinkage. And drapes which have been wet-cleaned never seem to hang as well as they did before wetcleaning.

Househunters Should Keep These Features in Mind

If you're house-hunting, don't let attractive incidentals prevent your looking for fundamental features. It's a good idea to make a list of those features before setting out. Don't forget to look for such things as good insulation in walls and floors, plenty of storage space, carefully finished moldings, halls with good width.

You can be years ahead right now!

Probation Given In Shooting Case

A plea of guilty to a charge of "having in his possession and carelessly firing a fire arm while drunk" was entered in the hearing of a Plymouth township resident who allegedly shot at a neighbor woman.

Charles C. Shaw, 11840 Butter-nut, entered the guilty plea before Justice of the Peace John Mokersky of Inkster. Sheriff's detectives said that Mrs. Doris Abrams, the person at whom Shaw allegedly fired, did not want to file a complaint so the authorities signed a complaint on the lesser charge.

Shaw was placed on probation for a year during which time he is not to drink intoxicants. He was also fined $25 and costs and warned not to molest his neighbors.

Shaw fired the gun on July 7 when Mrs. Abrams, who lived across the street, was climbing the steps of her home. She was said to have attempted to tell Shaw that she was not the person who had called sheriff's deputies earlier. Some neighbors had signed a petition protesting the crowded conditions of Shaw's rooming house and Shaw had visited the neighbors during the afternoon to register his protest. Someone then called the sheriff's office who went to the home to warn Shaw to leave his neighbors alone.

7 Billion Reported Spent On Home Improvement This Year

The home improvement and remodeling market again may reach a volume of $7 billion, according to estimates based on market studies made by the Insulating Siding Association.

"In the past estimates on the size of the home remodeling market have varied widely," says R. G. Breden, Jr., manager of the association. "The Commerce Department said $4.5 billion was spent in 1952, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce estimated $6.5 billion.

"Regardless of which figures you accept, studies made by the Insulating Siding Association indicate that volume will be substantially higher. Several factors are responsible for this forecast.

"Experience shows that the home owner is most likely to make major improvements between three and five years after he buys his home. 1950 was the biggest year in history for new homes, with almost one million, four hundred thousand being built. Owners of those 1950 homes will be in the modernization market together with those who bought in 1948 and 1949, also big home-building years.

"The fact that almost 25 million families own their homes also increases the prospects for modernization. They express pride in ownership by improving their homes.

"Another important influence is the fact that almost 250 billion dollars of disposable income are available after taxes. The expected cut in income taxes will add even more to the disposable income. The logical place to spend it is in home improvement or expansion — adding a room, building a garage, installing a new bathroom, putting on new siding, adding insulation," Breden said.

The association manager said that about 20 per cent of the estimated $7 billion would be spent on siding, roofing and insulation. He stated that manufacturers of insulating siding, long a favorite material for modernizing outside walls, expected to sell enough siding to cover more than a quarter million American homes.

BUILDING AND REMODELING — NEWS — FOR EVERY HOME

From Old Hall To Modern Foyer

It is hard to believe that this charming modern foyer, large enough to double as a second sitting room for the family, formerly was the antiquated entrance hall pictured at right. The transformation from an old-fashioned entry with outmoded, dust-catching decor, to a room that gives visitors a bright and spacious first impression of the home, was achieved by using new, improved building materials at a comparatively small cost.

The unusual modernization plan of the foyer was designed by Kim Hoffman and Stephen Heidrich, nationally known interior designers, who used the rich sunset colors of creamy beige, Etruscan red, gunmetal and antique gold to establish an atmosphere of friendliness and simple dignity.

The overly ornate paneling of the walls was covered with Georgia-Pacific Ripplewood, textured 4'x8' panels which were installed easily and quickly. This textured plywood paneling also was used to encase the heavily carved staircase and to modernize the entrance door, replacing the overabundance of decorative details with a clean contemporary look.

The rich natural grain texture of the Ripplewood was finished in a soft two-tone beige and white paint combination, making an effective background for the rest of the decor scheme. These panels can be installed by a do-it-yourself home craftsman during leisure hours, and a two-tone paint finish applied by any adult who can wield a brush.

The finishing procedure is simple. First, a coat of creamy beige paint was applied to the paneling and allowed to dry thoroughly. Then a second coat of stark white paint was brushed on, and partially wiped off before it dried.

By using the modern lines of the newel post as the center of interest for the design of resilient flooring, which radiates in bold widening strips of gunmetal, Etruscan red and creamy beige, the designers proved that a fireplace is not necessarily the only focal point in a room.

The stairway handrail and newel post top were painted Etruscan red. A painting with an antique gold finished frame hangs over the weathered brick fireplace and slate flagstone hearth, lit by a pair of antique gold lacquered cone lamps. The antique gold chandelier cones are pierced by numerous small holes to diffuse the light.

Plywood was used for the base of the mica-black tile coffee table, and for the legs and frame of the mustard gold upholstered contour sofa.

Predicts Big Year For Home Modernization

William Waldman, elected to a second term as president of the Insulating Siding Association, predicted that the home modernization market would increase at least 10 per cent during 1954 and that at least 1,000,000 new homes would be built during the year.

Waldman, president of the Brixite Manufacturing Company, South Kearney, N. J., said that market studies by siding and roofing manufacturers indicated that more than seven billion dollars would be spent on home modernization in 1954. Of that total, more than 20 per cent will be spent on roofing, siding and insulation, Waldman said.

Waldman said that insulating siding sales as reported by the U. S. Department of Commerce for the first 8 months of 1953 were 7.4 per cent below 1952, the second highest year in the industry's history. However, even at the lower rate, sidewalls of more than 210,000 homes will be covered with insulating siding this year, according to Waldman.

OAK IN RANDOM WIDTHS FORMS DISTINCTIVE FLOOR

Oak floors in the distinctive random width plank style are favored by many home owners today for the note of individuality which they lend to rooms. In some instances they are used throughout a house, in others they are employed in conjunction with strip or block floors.

Laced-Together Panels Useful

A variety of useful items for the home may be tied together by means of twine, leather thongs, shoe laces or ribbon. For the parts, use Masonite "Peg-Board" panels, cut to any desired size, since the holes are located strategically for the lacing.

Here are some suggested laced-together projects:

Wastebaskets, desk basket, wall file for bills, mending basket, laundry hamper, trash bin or knick-knack tray.

In cutting the "Peg-Board" panel for the parts, leave a row of holes near each edge to facilitate the lacing. This versatile hardboard can be painted like other Masonite products, first using a primer and then one or two finish coats.

A hardboard that's both useful and ornamental is Masonite "Peg-Board" paneling. Metal fixtures fitting any of the holes will support shelves and a variety of storage items.

Modernizing - New Trend

The best buy in '56 may be a home built many years ago.

Modernization of older homes in the United States is now a major enterprise. Almost as much money is being spent on keeping these homes in top condition as in new housing construction. Estimates run as high as $13,000,000,000 this year going into the home repair and remodeling market.

Government, industry and private sources all support efforts to conserve and improve existing homes. The upkeep of housing and neighborhoods is now universally regarded as essential to good business and living conditions.

People looking for homes to buy are becoming increasingly aware of the opportunities in the older-home field. This is especially true for young, budget-conscious couples looking for their first home to buy. They'll find, too, that these homes have been built for long-range economy. The presence of quality materials such as clay tile in kitchens and bathrooms, hardwood finishes, and thorough insulation, attest to this.

The variety of these older, well-kept homes is tremendous. They come in all sizes and architectural styles and are to be found readily in all parts of the country. Happily, most of them are priced well within reach of today's wage-earner. The alert home-hunter will find that he can buy such a home, equipped with modern conveniences, for a price often well under that of a new house of similar size.

Modernization features upgrading the value of these older homes include recent exterior painting, a check on plumbing and heating fixtures, and the increased use of quality materials such as durable clay tile in bathrooms and kitchens. These two rooms should always figure in modernization because of their heavy family use. The extension of clay tile over floors, walls and countertops is always a reliable indication that the home is basically sound and has been well cared for.

A New Home At The Old Address

The magic of modernization makes this possible.

Reluctance to leave the old home with its years of association, its nearness to friends, and its convenience to transportation are factors that count heavily in favor of Operation Home Improvement.

Because an old vintage bathroom, with out-moded fixtures, definitely dates a house, it is here that the most striking changes can be effected.

Bathroom modernization naturally starts with the fixtures. It is in the design of plumbing fixtures that the most striking improvements have been made in recent years. Because plumbing contractors are familiar with the different styles and types of fixtures, it is advisable to consult with a plumbing contractor before launching on a modernization program.

Many plumbing contractors are in a position to offer a package bathroom remodeling program to simplify modernization projects. They will assume the responsibility for the services of other craftsmen involved in the carpenter work, the electrical work, and the decorating.

From Unused Attic to Studio Room

The cluttered attic at right was converted into the charming, modern studio above. The transformation, made in spare time by a home craftsman, provides added family living space for a comparatively small investment. Prefabricated paneling, nailed to the bare attic studs, was used for walls and ceiling. A fabulous pirate's map makes a pictorial scene of one entire cable, giving color and spaciousness to the room, and ending in a scenic pirate's beach with landing boats. Floor covering is easily maintained, sturdy, scuff-proof Kenflor vinyl tile in crisp kerry green, willow green and white marbled tiles. The green and white stylized fish themes, which appear to be swimming in a shining sea, are echoed in the vibrant fish mobile suspended from the ceiling. Ample storage space is provided by the large desk, roomy bookshelves and big storage closets built beneath windows and under eaves. White slab twin beds are extended into end tables and the functional upholstery of their mattresses and bolsters continue the Caribbean Sea color scheme of the room.

Old Home Gets New Look

There's something carefree about country living — a way of life close to the heart of America.

Joe K. Anderson, of St. Charles, Illinois — Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and their five children, four boys and a girl — were accustomed to the city. But like many another American family, they set their eyes on a place in the country where they could enjoy the outdoors and have space for their children to romp and grow. They settled on a 235-acre tract only six miles from St. Charles on a black-top road.

Location-wise, the setting is perfect. Mr. Anderson, who is in the ice cream business in St. Charles, commutes to his work. School buses go by the door and take children to a consolidated school.

Rural living since the days of the country's founders has been centered in and around the home. In the case of the Andersons, "home" is a roomy frame farmhouse circa 1880. To bring it up to today's standards of decoration and convenience required alterations to both the interior and exterior.

New studding was put in to raise walls which had sagged under the weight of years. The kitchen was completely modernized, and new walls and partitions at strategic points in the house added to the feeling of livability.

The old dining room was remodeled into a combination study, play and TV room. Several layers of paint were removed from the floor, revealing a beautiful inlaid floor of walnut and mahogany — much to everyone's delight.

Modernizing plans also called for some exterior changes and a fresh paint job. Small windows restricted the entrance of daylight and view and gave the entire house a "boxed-in" look. These were removed and big picture windows installed in their place. Thermopane was chosen for glazing the windows because of its insulating value. Its sealed-in air space minimizes heat loss in winter and acts as a barrier against the inflow of the sun's heat in summer.

The resultant change from the addition of the large windows was both appealing and highly functional. The house took on a modern look, and the owners were afforded a clear, unbroken view of nature's ever-changing outdoor beauty. Increased amounts of natural daylight were admitted, giving the interior a more cheerful, livable atmosphere.

The modernized home is a comfortable retreat in a world of rural serenity. Mrs. Anderson and the children have all the advantages of their former city home with the big outdoors added — flowers and a garden and the vista of a rolling countryside. And Mr. Anderson can't miss his farm to work, raising beef cattle and hogs as a side line in addition to the usual farm crops.

Modern Split-Level

HERE is a home in the modern manner—a brick and siding, split-level beauty. There's a maximum of living comforts packed into this design. The huge living room is complemented by a rear picture window and the cheerful fireplace. The separate dining room adjoins the kitchen-dinette. Up a short flight of stairs there are three bedrooms. Besides having its own private bathroom, the master bedroom has a closet along one entire wall. For relaxation, entertaining or watching TV, there is a playroom, only a few steps away from the living area. There is another fireplace in this room and an entrance to the outdoors. An extra bedroom and bath on this level is ideal for a maid or guests. Don't overlook that large basement, so handy for storage, hobbies, or a workshop.

A king-sized sketch plan of this house is available to readers. Simply send 25¢ in coin to Modern Plan Service, Department 118, Lincoln Building, Mt. Vernon, N.Y.

Area: 1,790 sq. ft. Cubage: 34,000 cu. ft.

Split Level Home Gives Much Needed Space

An easily maintained family room, as an extra living-room, is one of the advantages provided in the split-level house design now in great demand. The family room usually occupies the space behind the garage on the lower ground level. It is usually connected to the living-room by a short stairway. At small expense, a family room can be incorporated into new or remodeled houses, to be enjoyed daily by both grown-ups and children.

If the room is located in excavated ground, as is usually the case in the split-level house, walls and floor should be protected from water seepage by a lining of 3 or 4 plies of felt or tar-paper covered with cement. The lawn grade should slope away from the house so water will drain away from the foundation.

The wall between garage and family room should be fireproofed with insulation material, or metal lath covered with gypsum plaster. If there is a connecting door from garage to family room, this should be self-closing, tight-fitting and metal-clad to block off dangerous gasoline fumes.

Tough, waterproof flooring such as resilient tile will bear up under foot-scurffing, falling toys and spilled liquids, and will simplify cleaning. If windows are double-hung, they should contain spring-operated sash balances rather than the old-fashioned sash cord and weights. Quarter-inch panes of glass are more durable than 21-oz. glass. Exterior blinds at the windows give privacy when desired.

For attractive walls that resist scratching and marring, a new textured plywood paneling can be installed at low cost. This Wedgewood paneling is made from hard upland Western hemlock. Its hard surface, in natural-grain finish, does not show up scratches.

The 4'x8' panels, 5/16" thick, can be nailed quickly to studding and the grained surface texture hides panel joints. Base and ceiling moldings can be used as with other wall covering materials.

In an existing house, any seldom-used room such as the rumpus or guest-room can be converted into a family room for daily use as an extra living-room. Cover worn plaster walls with the textured wood paneling, nailing it through the plaster to the studs. The same paneling in 3/4" thickness is excellent material for cabinet and closet doors. It cleans easily with a vacuum cleaner.

Simple built-in storage space for toys, games and hobby equipment should be provided in the family room. A long, low cupboard against one wall, with sliding doors and waterproof countertop, combines storage space with snack bar.

A TV and music center is desirable in the family room. The television set can occupy the top of a music cabinet containing radio, phonograph and record player.

Seasonal Decorating

Like to change drapery and upholstery fabric to suit the season? Wall paneling of natural-finished Douglas fir or west coast hemlock will furnish a golden-beige neutral background for any decorative scheme. Chintz-like spring fabrics in blues, turquoises and pinks will be softened by the subtly textured fir or hemlock; and more formal brocades in deep reds, maroons and greens find the necessary richness in wood paneling.

COLORED OAK FLOORS

Striking color effects can be achieved with oak floors today through use of pigmented wood filler and colored floor seal. Still leading in popularity, however, are natural finishes which harmonize with any color plan.

ATTENTION Allergy Victims!

Your hopes of permanent relief from coughing and sneezing can be realized. An ELECTRO-AIR electronic air cleaner, attached to your warm air furnace, eliminates dust and pollen from the rooms, lets you enjoy coughless nights and sneezeless days.

Rise In Repair - Modernization

Remodeling of older homes, a multi-billion dollar industry, will see an even bigger year, trade reports indicate.

A spokesman for one of the nation's leading organizations of lending institutions declares that home owners are becoming increasingly conscious of the need for maintaining their properties in good condition in order to preserve their value.

Many persons, he says, have postponed various improvements for several years in anticipation of a substantial price drop. Now they are coming to the conclusion that present price levels are here to stay for some time. Consequently they are planning to go ahead with repairs and improvements they have been putting off.

SOUND INVESTMENTS

Some improvements, remodeling experts point out, should be classified as investments rather than expenses. They not only add to the attractiveness, soundness and safety of a home, increasing its resale value, but they also operate to reduce maintenance costs.

In this category, for example, is the re-siding of an older home with such permanent products as asbestos-cement siding shingles. Besides giving new beauty and appeal to a home with a worn, unsightly exterior, asbestos siding shingles provide fire-safety and save the home owner hundreds of dollars of maintenance every few years. The shingles are made of asbestos fibers and portland cement, both of which are non-combustible and immune to rot and decay. Thus the shingles last indefinitely with little or no upkeep.

Re-roofing with asbestos-cement shingles is another improvement that will bring important savings in upkeep. The shingles are immune to the ordinary causes of deterioration and once in place become a permanent part of the house. Their incombustibility is a valuable safeguard, since sparks on burnable roofs are among the major fire hazards.

EXPECT 19 PER CENT RISE

Indicative of the growing volume of home remodeling is the fact that in 1952 member institutions of the lending agency organization advanced 315-million dollars to home owners for modernization and repair. This represented a 30 per cent increase over the 1951 figure. In 1953 the volume rose to 375-million dollars, a rise of 19 per cent over the previous year.

That, of course, represents just a fraction of the amount being spent for home remodeling. The trade magazine Practical Builder estimates the total at between $3,250,000,000 and $3,900,000,000. A private research organization recently published in its reports, that 16 per cent of all American families spending $100 or more on a single purchase used the money for building materials, remodeling or repairs.

Mount Trophies on Quickly-Made Plywood Shelves

A plaque or rack of hardwood plywood will provide an ideal background for setting off a trophy on the den or game room wall.

Plywood is well suited for this purpose because it is easily obtained, will not split, and is worked easily with ordinary tools by the home craftsman. The beauty of the genuine hardwood grain will make the prized object look all the more impressive.

To mount a cup or a model, attach to the plaque a semi-circular stand made of the same type of plywood as the plaque. It can be supported by wood brackets.

Many prized objects can be mounted on small dowels stained to match the plywood plaque. A unique treatment is to inset small powerful permanent magnets into the hardwood plaque if the object to be mounted is of metal with a steel or iron base. The advantage of using magnets or dowels is that the mounted object can be plucked off its resting place for quick use or to allow admiring friends to examine it more closely.

Magnets can often be used with materials other than metal by inserting in them a small steel spline, as might be done with the wood handle of an antique pistol. The pistol would be supported by two magnets, one at the barrel and one at the handle, opposite the spline, with a dowel through the trigger guard for added support.

The plaque should be made of hardwood plywood which is at least 3/4-inch thick. If magnets are to be used, they should be recessed 3/4 inch. In that case, a piece of plywood 1/4 inch thick should be glued to the plaque to provide backing. The edges of the plywood plaque should be beveled.

Home Owners Plan Heat Modernization

Surveys show that more than 32 million homes in the United States are 20 years old or far past that age.

So once again this summer, home modernization and repair loom as major problems for millions of property owners. And among the most important considerations in these aging dwellings is the replacement or upgrading of 1920-vintage heating systems.

The studies of representative areas, where winter weather dictates full-scale home heating plants, indicate that at least 20 per cent of the home owners plan to remodel heating systems.

Lack of control, bulkiness, excessive fuel bills, and dirty heat are among the most common faults of the older heating plants. A properly-designed system can eliminate all of these difficulties.

By up-grading the heat-distribution units on some systems it's often possible to correct the heating deficiencies without replacing the entire plant.

This frequently is the case with "wet"—hot water or steam—heating systems employing old-fashioned cast iron radiators. The system may not be so ancient that the boilers have to be replaced, yet it still may be guilty of all the above-mentioned heating faults.

In such cases, it often is practical to replace the radiators with modern, streamlined convectors and add thermostatic control to the system.

Convectors are sensitive to thermostat regulation because of the use of aluminum or copper in their heating elements, metals which react instantly to heat demands. The elimination of heating lag and overrun provides more even room temperatures and less fuel consumption.

At the same time, convectors modernize a hot water or steam system from a decorative standpoint. Equipped with attractively-louvered steel enclosures, convector units may be installed flush against the wall or recessed to varying degrees in the wall, erasing the bulkiness found in old-style systems.

The convector enclosure can be painted to match or blend with the room interior. Furniture can be placed close to the unit, if desired, without danger of damage or dust-streaking because of the gentle heat diffusion provided by the convection heating principle.

Installation of convectors in place of cast iron radiators can be accomplished where the original piping was properly laid out, simply by extending the pipes at point of connection with the convector. This is to compensate for the fact a convector is smaller than an old-fashioned radiator of similar heating capacity.

Profits Higher On Well Kept Homes

Home owners who want to trade their present homes in on newer ones can make a better trade if they modernize their old homes first, according to the Insulating Siding Association.

Building contractors in most sections of the country are now willing to accept an old home as partial payment on a new one. It's a better arrangement for the home owner because he doesn't have to worry about disposing of the old home. That worry goes to the builder, just as it does to the automobile dealer when you trade the family car in on a new one.

"You spruce up the family car and put it in top condition before you take it down for a trade-in," the Insulating Siding Association points out. "It makes just as much sense to make the family homestead as attractive as possible. Often $500 spent on home repairs adds $1500 to the trade-in or sales value."

"Studies made by the Association show that a builder is much more eager to accept homes that have already been modernized. He can figure his profit margin more accurately since he doesn't have to allow for money spent on improvements for the older home. Consequently, he's usually willing to give a bigger trade-in allowance."

"We have dozens of cases in our files where this has already happened when insulating siding was used to modernize a home. Two or three dollars was added to the value for every dollar spent on siding."

Similar gains in value can be realized by modernizing the kitchen, adding a porch, painting the trim a color to contrast or match the new siding, repainting the interior, or planting some new shrubbery, the Association reported.

TO CALK WIDE CRACKS

Wide cracks are a problem when calking. One solution is to stuff mineral wool filler into the crack, then shoot calking on top of it. This gives the calking something to hang on to.

BUILDING AND REMODELING - NEWS - FOR EVERY HOME

I.S.A. Lists 5 Helpful Hints for Modernization

Now that home modernization activity is at an all-time high and promises to go even higher, the Insulating Siding Association offers a brief review of the basic methods available for financing home modernization. These are the plans that have been used successfully by the millions of home owners who have modernized their homes with insulating siding. They can be used just as conveniently for other types of home modernization.

1. Regular bank loan — Most banks consider home improvement loans as good risks. They have plans already arranged to fit the home owner's pocketbook. Most banks offer the additional protection of safeguarding the owner's interest by giving advice on materials and the credit rating of the contractor doing the job.

2. F. H. A. Title I modernization loans — As with bank loans, the term of the loan is fairly short. It's never more than three years under F. H. A. so the monthly payments may be large. It's best to get an F. H. A. loan through your regular lending institution. There you can obtain a full explanation of the terms.

3. Open end mortgage — This method has become increasingly popular during recent years. The cost of the improvements simply are added to the principle of the mortgage. Monthly payments are kept at the present level, but the term of the mortgage is extended. For families with tight budgets, this undoubtedly is the best plan.

4. Dealer financing — The dealer sells the plumbing, siding or lumber, the labor and the financing all in one package. The home owner deals only with the dealer or a contractor who supplies materials, labor and financing. Make sure he's reputable and you understand the terms thoroughly.

5. Mortgage refinancing — If much of the original mortgage is paid off, it may be that the best terms can be arranged by refinancing the mortgage to include the amount of the improvement project. This results in an entirely new mortgage whereas the open end loan is an addition to the existing mortgage.

The Insulating Siding Association points out that there are numerous variations of these plans. It warns the home owner to select the financing best suited to his means and to select just as carefully as he picks materials.

AN EDITORIAL

Representative of What?

As a general thing this newspaper does not believe in passing opinions on candidates in a primary election. In a big field, there are a host of qualified men and the job of sifting the list belongs to the voters of each party, not to a newspaper which primarily is seeking to give fair, complete and objective coverage to candidates and members of all parties.

Nevertheless, there is one candidate seeking a nomination next week with so shifty a performance record that this newspaper urges strongly he be ignored by thinking citizens interested in responsible representatives.

That individual, of course, is Leonard Wood, the sometimes-Republican. He will be recalled as the man who leaped during his past term out somewhere into a twilight world between the Republicans and Democrats, waited until the last minute to decide this time on which ticket to run, and finally picked the GOP. It was a decision that undoubtedly made the Democrats a great deal happier than it did most Republican leaders.

Wood also might be remembered as the candidate for Redford Township supervisor who polled 199 votes of a total of 4,207 cast in a Republican primary on Feb. 21, 1955. He was a mutilated thrid in a field of three.

The best that can said for him is that his political record is erratic. As a state representative, he automatically creates a question, "Representative of what?"

Beyond that, he has conducted a campaign in the past few weeks that warrants the respect of nobody. It has been constructed around a single theme: attempt to defame and discredit the character of an opponent. In so doing, he has brazenly locked arms with a ruthless business opponent of ours, who has purposes of his own.

There are candidates for this same office in both parties with superior qualifications to those of a political kangaroo who bounds over political fences upon whim and who campaigns on a basis of casually assailing the good name of others. Any of them is preferable.

Lesson from the Sea—and Air

Even sitting here in Wayne County, many hundred land miles from the sea, we feel the horror of the night of panic suffered last week by the passengers of the liners Andrea Doria and the Stockholm.

And we join the side of those the world over who now are clamoring for a hard-going investigation that will determine exactly how it happened and punish any who are guilty of bad judgment or negligence.

In this age of seamanship by radar, there simply was no way for the men on watch on the big ships not to have been aware of the presence of the other. Radar may not yet be a precise tool in terms of measuring inches when ships are at very close range, but it doesn't miss huge ships on an open sea.

That being the case, the best guess is that there was some kind of contest, disagreement or misunderstanding between ships as to who had right-of-way—either that, or downright careless watch duty. The "rules of the road" at sea are ancient and reliable. Men have sailed on water for centuries, and the laws are the product of all that time, known and understood by sailing men around the world.

Either carelessness or violation of the "rules of the road" are ghastly crimes afloat. Stern punishment is the only intelligent response to such deeds.

of two super airliners in the western U. S., coming not long behind the violent crash there is a tendency to compare the two mishaps. Actually, they are similar. Both proved that one human's miscalculation can wreak terrible damage on thousands of others. Aerial navigation is much like sea navigation and the risks are similar.

Another thought is that airliners should not be allowed to fly in foul weather unless equipped with radar gear that would permit spotting other ships in the clouds. The voice of the sea adds, of course, that radar alone is not enough.

Perhaps the biggest lesson from the tragedies for us at home is to realize anew the truth that man, at his best, is a weak figure standing against the eternal power of nature and the universe.

GI's Paying Their Loans

The Veterans Administration recently reported that, as of April 25th, full payment had been made on 853,541 GI home loans. This represents about twenty per cent of the GI home loans made since the program began in 1944.

We think this is an excellent record, and speaks well for the GI home loan program. At the same time, the VA reported that the percentage of repayment of GI farm and business loans is much higher, because most of these loans were made on shorter terms.

More than half of these loans had been repaid as of April of this year, according to VA figures.

Interesting is the figure released by the VA showing that 18,500 GI home loans were repaid in full during the month of April, of this year. During the same month, about 43,000 new GI home loans were made.

Considering the fact that most of these GI home loans were for periods of twenty years, or more, the fact that twenty per cent have been paid up only twelve years after having been made speaks well for the program. As a service to its veterans, this program seems to have justified itself, and extended opportunities to service men who otherwise might not have been considered good home loan risks.

DALE CARNEGIE

Ask Questions to Succeed

JAMES ROBERTS, St. Louis, Missouri, having been in service for three years, graduated from college later than most of the men he would be competing against for advancement.

So he set to thinking how he might advance more readily. One thing that he had failed to gain while going to college was public speaking and the ability to work with other people.

A friend of his told him a story about Frank Bettger, an extremely successful insurance man, and how he improved his ability to raise himself in the business world.

It was the system that had worked for Benjamin Franklin in his youth, and it meant picking thirteen points that he felt necessary to gain the desired goal and sticking to them, three important ones being:

1. Think in terms of the other fellow.
2. Ask questions in conversation.
3. Have a full knowledge of your business.

He concentrated on one objective each week, and he completed these three points in a three week period. From that he went to his other objectives. This system made a big job seem small.

He says he thinks that anybody who sincerely wants to get ahead in life, both in happiness and in financial gains, can pick a similar method and profit by it.

Weeklies Better Than Ever, Particularly in Suburbs

They used to be called "country weeklies." Nowadays many weekly newspapers are less rural than suburban. The weekly—in an electronic age—is not simply surviving; it is, on the whole, doing very well.

This we learn from an item about the current state of weekly newspapers in a recent Advertising & Marketing column. It said that although the number of weeklies in the United States has been declining in the past seven years (last year 115 went out of business) the circulation of the existing 9,831 has been rising steadily. Weeklies' paid circulation increased last year by 200,000 to 20,927,000.

Most people have an idea that daily newspapers outnumber weeklies. One of our office theorists suggests this is because folks rarely see or hear about a weekly other than the one they read themselves, whereas the names of a number of daily newspapers are familiar to people all over America.

The fact is—according to the Ayer Directory of Newspapers and Periodicals, from which our news item about weeklies was compiled—there were last year 1,984 daily newspapers in the United States. Weeklies outnumber them about five to one. Some weeklies have circulations that can only be described as impressive.

Perhaps twenty-five years ago—our departmental theorist says—scarcely anybody thought that in 1956 there still would be more than 9,000 weekly newspapers. But few persons then foresaw the great surge to suburbs that occurred between then and now. Suburban developments, in most instances, have helped to increase circulation of weeklies in their areas. People who once read only metropolitan dailies find themselves—once having moved into the suburbs—reading their dailies and a weekly, too. The reason (continued our theorist) is pretty obvious.

The suburbanite's daily newspaper, he said, continues to give him the foreign and metropolitan news he requires to understand—in part, anyway—what is going on in the world, nation, state, and city. But living in the suburbs this reader, while working in the city, is not really of it. Home is where the heart is, and his heart is in the suburbs; his weekly is his "home" newspaper.

His daily paper will tell him what President Eisenhower said yesterday and what his plans are for tomorrow, what Messrs. Stevenson and Kefauver are going to do next or what is happening in Cyprus. But it does not—cannot—always tell him what his county, township, or borough officials propose to do about schools or, taxes, or both. The metropolitan daily may omit (inadvertently, the news that is telling of the old elm on suburbia's South Street is being vigorously opposed, but the weekly may record it, properly, on page one.

The weekly newspaper will keep its readers informed concerning proposed zoning changes—a warm subject, as suburban apartment projects increase and as "old" residents of perhaps ten years standing strive to retain at least a semblance of rustic life amid expanding commercial developments. The average suburbanite is not likely to find his name in the metropolitan daily—but here is where the weekly excels: it is filled with names, when a headline says "Twenty Gave Talks on Various Aspects of Community Life," the weekly's reader may be sure that all twenty speakers' names will be listed. Here are children's names, teenagers' names, parents' names. Even the names of pets. As people have names there will be—we hope—the weekly newspaper.

HEALTH & BEAUTY

Warts, so often found on children, can be embarrassing and dangerous. They should be removed scientifically. All too often people get the idea that warts can be removed with various kinds of witchery—salt pork rind, a dish mop, which must be stolen on a moonlight night, axle grease, a string tied around the base of the wart, etc., etc.

These methods are not just a joke but may be harmful. The quick, sure way to get rid of warts is to take them to your doctor. He can remove them promptly with acid, X-ray or electro-surgery.

A wart on the sole of the foot demands immediate attention because it can become deeply imbedded and painful if neglected. Moles and birthmarks should have medical attention—the sooner the better. No type of home remedy should ever be attempted under any circumstances on either a mole or a birthmark.

Moles can be removed by electrolysis if they are benign and this condition can only be determined, after careful observation, by a doctor. If a mole is active your family doctor or dermatologist will excise it. It is also recommended that moles at points of friction be removed, as constant irritation can cause them to become cancerous.

Most birthmarks, unless very large, are neither dangerous to health nor hard to treat. If you do not wish to have them removed, it is possible to cover them with a blemish-covering cream to match your skin. There are several fine ones on the market developed just for such conditions.

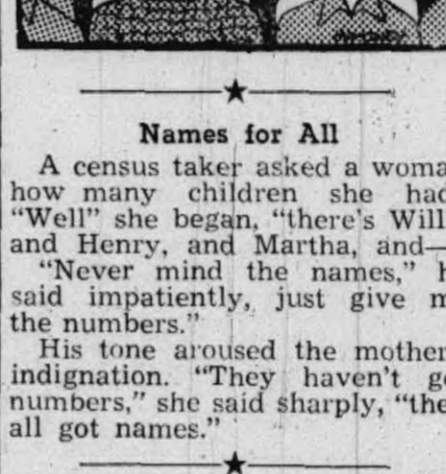

There is one type of birthmark that can be very dangerous. This is the flat, bluish-black, or slate-colored mole. Never, under any circumstances, try any home remedies on it.

LOW UPKEEP, LONG LIFE SPELL FLOORING ECONOMY

In choosing floors for a home, builders advise, don't be guided entirely by the initial cost. A fine oak floor, for example, may not be the cheapest available, but is extremely economical in the long run because of its low upkeep and life time service.

OAK'S 'BUILT-IN' BEAUTY

A major factor in the traditional preference for oak floors is the fact that their natural "built-in" beauty can be restored after many years of wear or neglect.

★ THINKING OUT LOUD ★

One question, sometimes controversial, sometimes personal is asked each week by The Mail of four pedestrians along Plymouth's downtown streets. This week's guests are "thinking out loud" on the question:

"If you were given the chance to order your favorite foods for one meal, what would you order?"

ANN MARIE SCHOENEMAN, 357 North Harvey: "I have two favorite main dishes—fried oysters and chicken. Along with one of these I would order spinach, and for dessert—let's see... I'd say cherry pie with ice cream."

MARK DUNN, 345 West Ann Arbor Trail: "My favorite meal would be fried chicken with macaroni salad. For dessert I'd like apple pie a-la-mode. I would have ice tea to drink."

LINDA PEARSON, 43229 Shearer drive: "I believe I would want noodles, fresh tomatoes, the kind of baked beans that you don't have to bake... and I'd take some vanilla ice cream for dessert, and some tapoca and pumpkin pie. And I would have Coca-Cola to drink."

RICHARD GRETZINGER, 679 North Harvey: "Grilled cheese sandwiches are my favorite meal. I have them once or twice a week. If I could get what I wanted, I would also have a chocolate malted with the sandwiches and pumpkin pie."

THERE WERE ABOUT 3,900,000 persons working on the farms of the nation as of the week of June 17-23, according to the Department of Agriculture.

WOULD YOU LET THE HANDYMAN TAKE OUT YOUR APPENDIX? That's a rather terrifying thought, isn't it? And yet, many people prescribe their insurance—A BULWARK OF THEIR PERSONAL SECURITY—for themselves... without the help and experienced advice of a qualified insurance agent.
