

Largest School Vote in History Swamps Addition Issue

What turned out to be the largest vote in the history of local school elections brought defeat Monday to a proposition that would have given the board of education the discretion to use money for constructing additions to present elementary schools instead of an entire new building.

The official tally showed 436 electors favoring the proposal; 1,121 disapproving.

There were 1,557 votes cast during the day, surpassing the previous record school election of 1,149. The former record was established in 1949 when electors voted on a bond issue for new schools.

There was another unusual aspect of the election. While 1,557 turned out to decide if up to $460,000 of a $3,000,000 bond issue could be used for additions, only 682 voters cast ballots last year when the $3,000,000 bond issue was approved.

There was a line of people waiting at the high school poll most of the day. When the poll closed at 8 p.m., there were about 150 people in a line that stretched down the entire west hallway of the high school. All those in line at 8 p.m. were allowed to vote.

While many people expressed an offhand opinion prior to the election that the proposal would be turned down, none predicted an overwhelming defeat.

The board of education, which was split in their opinions on additions, was holding its regular monthly meeting in a nearby room when results were brought to the door by City Clerk-Assessor Kenneth Way. Superintendent Russell Isbister read the results and the board accepted the news with silence.

Rarely has the Plymouth school electorate turned down a proposal, especially by such a large margin. Causes for the large turnout and their many reasons for rejecting the proposal would be difficult to determine. In general, those advocating additions pointed out the savings involved. Those opposed noted the advantages of smaller schools and less bus riding for pupils.

The question was placed on the ballot because law states that money derived from a bond issue must be spent for the purpose specified, unless that purpose is changed by public consent.

Hundreds of people who undoubtedly never before voted in a school election went to the poll Monday. While campaigning was not allowed in or near the school on election day, one woman was heard leaving the voting booth singing "No, No a Thousand Times No."

Because of the anticipated large crowds, school officials decided to change from the usual paper ballots to voting machines. Three machines were borrowed from the city, but even then, there was a line. The lag was blamed, however, on the necessity of checking names in the many poll record books from Plymouth city and Plymouth, Canton and Northville townships. Only registered electors who were tax-paying property owners were allowed to vote.

Since the public has now expressed their opinion that they do not want additions to present buildings, it is expected that the board of education will proceed with the original plan of constructing a second elementary school with the remaining money. The site for the second school has not yet been approved, but the board wants a site between Five Mile and Schoolcraft roads on property owned by the Fred E. Greenspan Building company.

Greenspan plans to construct 1,000 homes on 280 acres in the northeast corner of Plymouth township. While Greenspan has indicated that he is willing to sell the site, negotiations have not been completed. This area is now in the Starkweather school district.

Sift Clues In Death Of Infant

Wayne County Road Patrol detectives are today attempting to piece together meager clues in a mystery surrounding the death of an infant boy whose body was found only 15 yards from Plymouth road near the Edward Hines drive overpass.

Two anonymous telephone calls to Plymouth police Tuesday afternoon led Patrolman Louis Westfall to the body wrapped in a green towel and newspapers.

An inquest is being held by Wayne county medical examiners to learn more about the infant, which so far has been unidentified as to name and exact age. Because of the decomposition of the body, its age has tentatively been set between newly born and a month old.

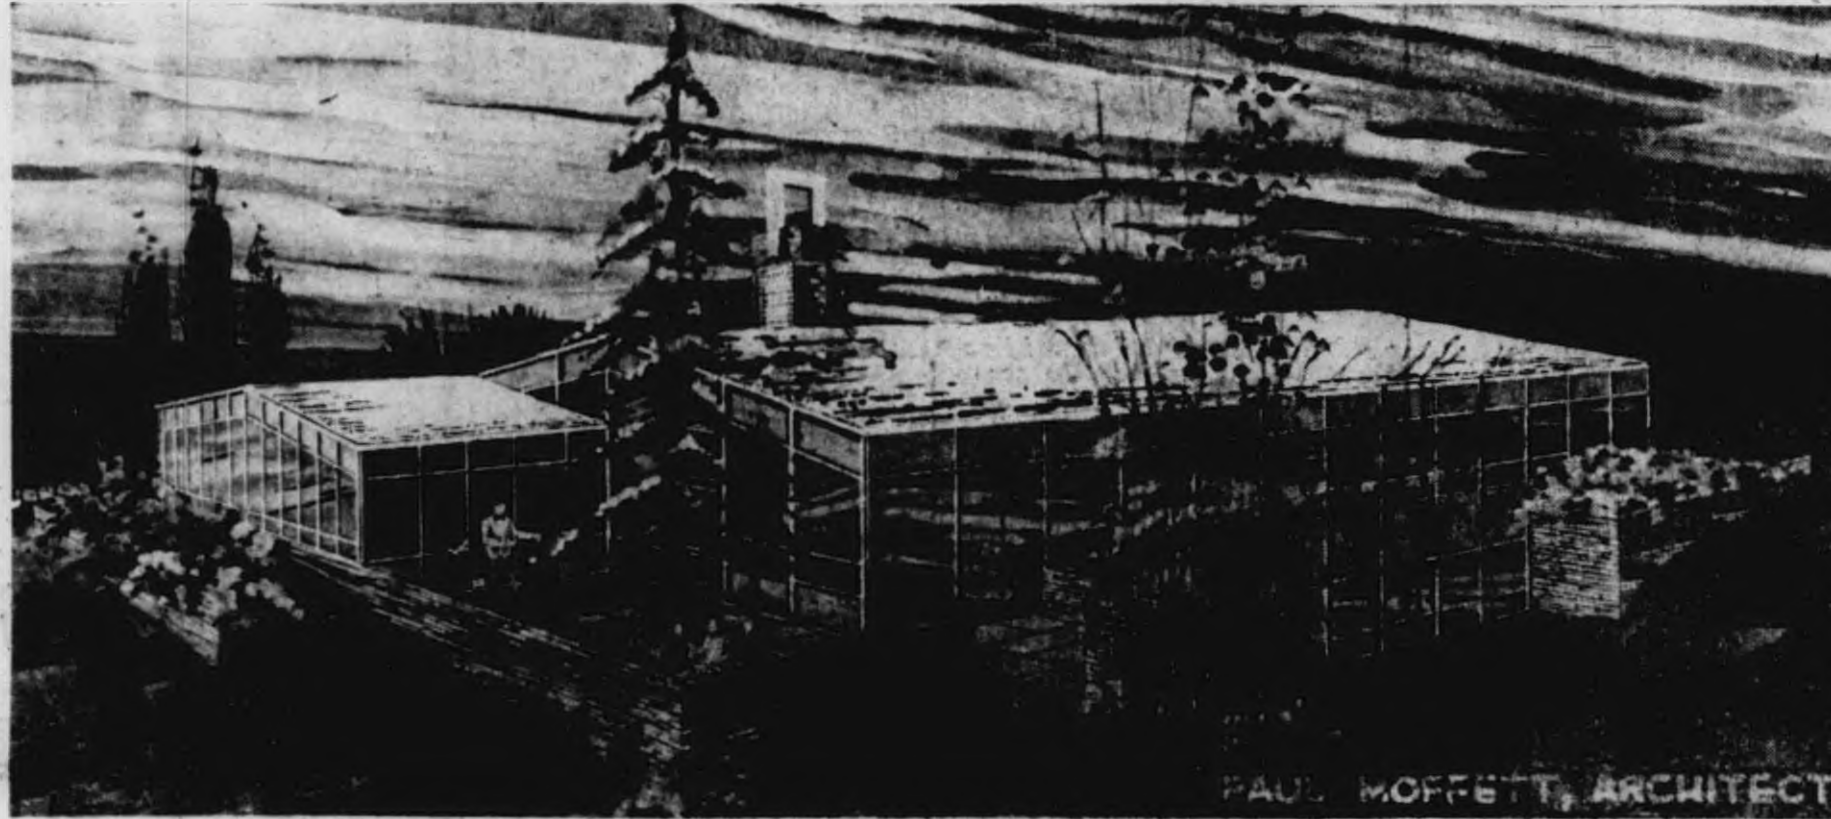

The first mysterious phone call was received by the police department operator at 12:01 p.m. Refusing to identify himself, a man told the general location of the body. Patrolman Westfall began his search on the north side of Plymouth road without any trace of the body.

Forty-two minutes later, switchboard operator Mrs. Leona Lyons received another call stating that the patrolman was looking in the wrong place—that the body was south of the road.

Westfall was given the new location and found the infant at the foot of an embankment at the south edge of the Hillside parking lot. Sheriff's officers, detectives and identification men were dispatched to the scene.

Detectives said they arrested two suspects but both were released after questioning.

A green towel and newspapers were wrapped around the infant. The newspapers contained the

Fire Show On Main Street Tonight

A change in plans for tonight's Fire Prevention Week program will move the affair to downtown Plymouth and is expected to attract many more hundreds of spectators.

Firemen and equipment from seven departments will take part in the demonstration that begins at 7 p.m. on Main street, facing Kellogg park. Last week's plans had the demonstration site behind the high school and only the Plymouth city and township fire departments participating.

But the expanded program with the location moved downtown is expected to bring many more people to the educational program.

Among the added features will be free theatre tickets for the first 105 children who, accompanied by a parent, visit the display booths.

The booths will be open and the fire trucks will be demonstrated from 7 to 8 p.m.

From 8 to 9 p.m., there will be a display of fire-fighting techniques and equipment found in the area. Participating besides Plymouth township and city firemen will be departments from Salem, Superior, Northville and Canton townships and the Wayne County Training School.

With the aid of a sound truck to describe the operations, firemen will lay hose lines, erect and climb ladders on downtown business buildings, carry hose over rooftops, demonstrate resuscitator equipment, breathing apparatus and perform salvage work.

There will also be a display of nozzles and streams from three-quarter, one and one half and two and a half inch hoses and the deluge gun.

Fire prevention pamphlets will be available at the display booths, courtesy of the Plymouth Association of Insurance Agents. The theatre passes to Saturday's matinee, "Fastest Man with a Gun," are being donated by the Penn Theatre management.

City firemen have been presenting the fire prevention story to elementary school youngsters this week by taking fire equipment to each building. A fire prevention "check list" was given each child and those returning the list signed by a parent will receive a fire helmet and fire chief's badge.

Nineteen youngsters will be honored tonight at a dinner at the Hotel Mayflower. They were selected by the fire department and school system for being the "outstanding citizens and booster of fire prevention." The dinners, furnished by the hotel management, are going to the following:

Allen school, Ida Rea, Scott Hall, James Johnson; Starkweather school, Otto Dobos, Judy Bell, Tom Nunez; Our Lady of Good Counsel, Marvin Soleau, Donna Kenzior, Diane Warner; Lutheran Day school, Carol Jean Reynolds; Kent Rowland; Smith school, Allen Stroud, Fay Dyer.

William Harding Named New Junior High School Principal

William Harding, a teacher in the Plymouth Community schools since 1952, was appointed as the new junior high school principal Monday night by the board of education.

He succeeds Arthur Alford who died September 29 after a long illness. Harding served as acting principal during Alford's absence. A native of Iron Mountain, Harding was an eighth grade history pupil of the late principal when he taught in the Upper Peninsula city.

Harding has been a science and mathematics teacher in the junior high since his arrival in Plymouth. He also was on the high school football and basketball coaching staff.

The new principal graduated from the University of Michigan in 1950 and taught a year at Dexter before coming to Plymouth. He is now working on his master's degree at the U of M and expects to complete the work in a year and a half.

A resident of Redford township, Harding is married and has one child, William Alan, 5.

As the new junior high principal, Harding is looking forward to a new building that is to be completed in September 1957. The junior high now has 573 pupils.

Church Canvass Successful

Plymouth pastors termed last Sunday's house-to-house canvass "highly successful," according to the chairman of the project, Reverend Melbourne I. Johnson.

Workers from most of Plymouth's churches visited every home in the community where it was known that there was no local church affiliation. While it was found that almost a third of the population was not at home, the canvass still proved satisfactory.

Cards were sorted immediately after their return according to church preference. They were then turned over to the pastors. No check was kept of how many cards were distributed to the pastors. More is expected to be learned when the ministers meet today.

Reverend Johnson, who is pastor of First Methodist church, cited an example that 220 cards indicated preference for the Methodist denomination and it is presumed that the city's other larger denominations had a similar number.

"Most people called upon were very cordial," Reverend Johnson reported, "but of course a few showed no interest or total rejection."

Ministers will now use the cards to extend invitations to those who indicated their church preference. While local churches previously knew that there were about 3,000 homes whose occupants had no church home here, Reverend Johnson stated that it was found that most of this number held church memberships elsewhere.

Revive PHS Homecoming Celebration

Homecoming for Plymouth high school graduates—complete with a pep rally, snake parade, a queen and dance—is being planned for Friday, October 19 when the Rocks are host to the Redford Union squad.

Revival of the homecoming event is stemming from student groups. The half-time intermission will be lengthened to handle the ceremony of announcing and crowning the queen.

The Student Council and high school executive board will jointly elect one girl from the freshman, sophomore and junior classes to serve on the queen's court. Four girls will also be nominated from the senior class for the queen election. The student body will vote for the queen, the remaining three to serve on the court.

Plans call for the queen to be selected for her all-around citizenship and as a "representative"

Construction of commercial buildings and an apartment development within the city's eastern boundary along Plymouth road at a cost of well over $1,000,000, was announced Tuesday at a dinner-meeting arranged by the developers, the Parkway Supercenter corporation.

Excavation for the eight-acre project has already been completed and plans call for the first unit—the home office building for two related insurance firms—to be occupied by the end of next year. Included in the big project will be:

1. The home offices for the American Medical Hospital Benefit company and Community Life Insurance company.
2. Two structures that will be occupied by a number of retail stores.
3. A 20-family apartment building.
4. Parking lot for 500 cars.

While plans for the insurance building have already been approved and construction is to start early next spring, work on other units has not yet reached the drafting board. Neither has it been determined what stores will be located in the center. It is hoped, however, that one will be a major food market.

The project, to be known as the Parkway Supercenter, is located on the north side of Plymouth road, between Holbrook avenue and Edward Hines drive. It will have a frontage along Plymouth road of 650 feet and depth of 550 feet.

Attending Tuesday's announcement meeting at the Mayflower hotel were officials of the city, Plymouth township, the Parkway Supercenter corporation, the insurance companies, Chamber of Commerce, industry, the school system and The Plymouth Mail.

Two Plymouth men are playing a vital role in developing the project. They are David Mather, president of the Plymouth Lumber & Coal company, and Frank Arlen, former city commissioner and president of Century Metal Products company. Mather has owned the land for a number of years and has envisioned such a project since the property was purchased. He serves as an officer of the Parkway Supercenter corporation of which Arlen is president.

Others in the corporation are Miss Catherine Mazy of Detroit, secretary-treasurer; John Wilson, Detroit; Mrs. Gwen Batey, Detroit; and Franklin Hepburn, Grosse Pointe. The offices are in the Penobscot building.

About 100 persons will be employed in the offices of the American Medical Hospital Benefit and Community Life Insurance companies, their president, John J. Temple, announced. The firms are separate companies but they are under the direction of nearly the same officers and directors.

The insurance firms now have their offices at 1300 Buhl building

Frank Henderson Elected Rotary District Governor

Frank E. Henderson, partner in the Plymouth Plating Works and a former mayor, has been elected governor of District 223 of Rotary International. He will take office July 1, 1957.

Announcement of his election came Monday when ballots from the 38 clubs in the district were tallied. District 223 encompasses southeastern Michigan and the western portion of Ontario.

Henderson, who lives at 401 Sunset, will be among the governors-elect who will attend Rotary's International convention in Switzerland next May.

He became a member of the Plymouth Rotary club in 1945 and served as its president in 1949-50. During his membership, he has served on all major committees and last year was chairman of the local club's observance of Rotary's Golden Anniversary. He has attended four Rotary International conventions, Detroit, Seattle, Chicago and Philadelphia.

Her husband is in his junior year at the University of Michigan School of Medicine.

Mrs. Hulsing To Host DAR

Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing of 1010 Church street will be hostess to a meeting of the Sarah Ann Cochran chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Plymouth and Northville, at 1 p.m. Monday, October 15.

Highlighting the gathering will be a review of the humorous yet informative book, "How We Elect Our Presidents" by Will Rogers Jr., to be given by Mrs. T. N. Kampf, Jr.

Members have been asked to bring clothing and gifts for approved schools to this meeting by Mrs. Walter Hammond, committee chairman. Mrs. John Litsenberger, chairman of American Indians committee, reminds members to bring beads for work in this field.

Refreshments will be served by the social committee, composed of Mrs. Sterling Eaton, Mrs. Irving Blunk and Mrs. Hulsing.

50 Local Scouts Head for Outing

Approximately 50 Boy Scouts representing two Scout troops from Plymouth will spend this weekend at Kensington Park near Brighton at the Fall Camporee sponsored by the Sunset District of the Detroit Area Boy Scout Council.

Over 500 Scouts and 75 adult leaders from western Wayne county are expected to attend the camporee which begins Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The camporee program will have a western round-up motif with contests testing rodeo skills such as lassoing. Also featured for this weekend outing will be nature hikes, a nature scavenger hunt, a tug-of-war and other games. The program includes a council campfire Saturday night and church services for all faiths on Sunday morning.

The Scout programs emphasize living and working together in the out-of-doors. District campouts such as these are arranged to stimulate interest in outdoor living and to provide training in skills required for successful camping. Sharing these outdoor experiences also develops the attributes of leadership and teamwork as the boys learn to work and play together in patrols or troops under their own boy scout leaders. Adult scouters attending these camp-outs provide only the necessary supervision and coordination of the program.

Library to Begin Film, Story Hour Programs

Plymouth branch, Wayne County library, has announced starting dates for its fall film program and children's story hour.

Wednesday, October 17, has been marked for the first film presentation which will be held at 7 p.m. in the library rooms. The program includes "America Bows," "Fundamentals of Track and Field" and color reel on "Tribe of the Turquoise Waters." The series of 10 film presentations will briefly recess over the Christmas holidays before continuing through March 19.

The children's story hour program will begin Saturday, October 27, to continue through December 15. Opening the series will be a Halloween tale. The story hour is conducted at 11 a.m. Saturday mornings at the library, lasting approximately 45 minutes.

Dixboro to Open Drive

The Dixboro Area Community Chest will open its drive for funds October 15.

Benefiting from gifts will be the Boy Scout, Girl Scout and needy families of the area. The collection is made in eight school districts.

Mrs. Dean Johnson of north Mill street will entertain members of the Emanons club at a noon luncheon on Thursday, October 18.

King-Waterman Ceremony Read at Northville Church

At an eight o'clock ceremony Saturday evening, September 29, in the First Presbyterian church of Northville, Gail Ann Waterman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Waterman of Six Mile road, Northville became the bride of Billy Dean King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy King of 116 South Rogers, Northville.

The double-ring service was read by the Reverend John O. Taxis in a chancel decorated with palms, candelabra and arrangements of white mums and gladioli. Selections of "Because" and "The Lords Prayer" were sung by Mr. W. G. Williams accompanied by Mrs. Barton Connors at the organ.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white, hand clipped tulle with applique and scalloped lace neckline. She wore a single strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom. The bride carried a white Bible centered with two white orchids surrounded by stephanotis and ivy.

The maid of honor, Shirley Adcox, cousin of the bride groom, wore a ballerina-length gown of blue crystalet. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses and yellow mums.

Bridesmaids Mrs. William Maxwell, cousin of the bride, and Miss

Janice Owens, friend of the bride, wore ballerina-length dresses of rose taffeta and carried colonial bouquets of hibbard roses and bronze mums.

Bonnie Krumm, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She was dressed in a long pink taffeta gown and carried a bouquet of pink roses and white mums.

For his best man the bridegroom chose his brother, Aubrey King. Larry Gotts, cousin of the bride, Cliff Napier, Robert Schock and Ronnie Weber were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Waterman selected a beige Italian silk sheath dress with brown accessories. Mrs. King, the bridegroom's mother, chose a cocoa brown silk dress with rose and brown accessories. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

A reception for more than 200 guests was held at the Northville Community building following the ceremony. Guests came from Northville, Plymouth, Bay City, Livonia, Allen Park, and Detroit.

For going away, the new Mrs. King changed to a blue velvet suit. Following their honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and through the Eastern states, the couple will live in Downing apartment on West Seven Mile road.

BIRTHS

Flag Presentation to Take Place At United Nations Day Meeting

The Plymouth United Nations Day committee has announced that a presentation of a UN flag to the Plymouth branch of the Wayne County Library will be a feature of the evening at the high school auditorium on Wednesday, October 24.

The flag is to be displayed with the American flag at civic and cultural programs which depict the international relations and American responsibilities in the United Nations.

Mayor Russell Daane will present the flag in the name of the many organizations and individuals which are contributing to its purchase. It will be accepted for the library by Mrs. Agnes Pauline, head librarian.

Measuring three by five feet, the flag will be for indoor use. It will be equipped with a staff and floor socket. Instructions for its proper display with the American flag will be available.

The committee also announced that a brief talk will be given at the program by Charles Westover, a high school student who recently represented his school at a mock UN session at Hillsdale college. He will talk on his impressions there and on youth's stake in the UN.

Both of these features will precede the main address of the evening.

Sophomore Hop Slated

Plymouth high school sophomores will sponsor a "Harvest Hop" tomorrow night, October 12, from 8-11 in the auditorium of the high school.

Featured will be the "Day Dreamers" vocal quartette. Dancing will be to recorded music. Emceeding the affair is Disc Jockey Lanny West of WPAG, Ann Arbor.

ning by Mrs. Philip Gentile of Detroit, popular lecturer on the UN and an official observer.

Plymouth is following the national theme for the 11th anniversary of the UN. "The United Nations is Your Business." The program for the public will begin at 8 o'clock.

Lenora Bassett Becomes Bride of Richard E. Tallman

Marriage vows were spoken by Lenora Louise Bassett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Rice, 1028 Hix road, Wayne and Richard Edwin Tallman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tallman, 6095 Huff road, Wayne at a candlelight ceremony in the First Presbyterian church of Garden City, Saturday, September 15.

The bride was given in marriage by her father at the rites performed at 7:30 before chancel decorations of palms, white gladioli, mums and roses.

The bridal gown of ivory chantilly lace over satin was designed with lace-peplum bodice, Peter Pan collar and wrist-point sleeves. The full satin skirt swept gracefully into a cathedral-length train. A cascade bouquet of white roses and carnations with lily of the valley streamers was carried by the bride. An elbow-length veil of illusion fell from the seed pearl crown adorning her head while a pearl necklace was worn as jewelry accent.

Gowned in a ballerina-length dress of turquoise tulle and satin with pearl necklace and white gloves was maid of honor, Anita Rae Peterson. She carried a white rose and coral mum bouquet. The bridesmaids, Jean McCartney, Donna Arnold, Nancy and Rosemary Tallman, were dressed identically but in coral shade with white rose and turquoise mum bouquets.

Linda Rice, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and wore a ballerina-length gown of coral tulle and satin with white gloves, pearl necklace and floral accent the same as the bridesmaids. A floor-length, yellow tulle gown with white gloves was worn by the bride's other sister, Lora Rice, as flower girl. She carried a pink rose bouquet.

Darryl St. John, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer with Donald Roe, another cousin, as train bearer.

Mrs. Rice's ensemble was a gray, princess-styled dress with pink accessories, the bridegroom's mother wearing a peacock blue dress with black accessories. Their corsages were pink roses and white mums.

Mrs. George Kerstetter was organist for the wedding ceremony, accompanying Ginger Freyman who sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because". The Reverend Reives performed the rites.

Serving as best man was Charles Tallman while Richard Hines, George Lomas, William Tallman and Larry Kunkel were ushers.

Attending the reception in the church parlors following the ceremony were 200 guests from Plymouth, Detroit, Wayne, Livonia, Garden City, Ypsilanti, Pontiac, Gass Lake, Flint and northern Michigan as well as Manitowoc, Wisconsin.

For a trip through Canada to Niagara Falls and New York City, the new Mrs. Tallman selected a charcoal brown fitted suit with pink accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple are temporarily residing in Wayne until their new home is completed on Elias road.

The bride is a 1956 graduate of Plymouth high school, the bridegroom graduating from the same school the year previously.

Thomas E. Lucases Return From Florida Wedding Trip

New residents of 332 Liberty street are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Edward Lucas who recently returned from their Florida wedding trip.

The couple were married September 15 in St. Matthew Lutheran church, Garden City, at a candlelight ceremony performed by the Reverend Eugene Friedrich, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beyer of 324 Sheldon road, Plymouth are parents of the bride. The bridegroom's parents are both deceased.

For the 8 o'clock rites the bride wore a floor-length gown of net and lace over satin, the bodice designed with lace embroidered sweetheart neckline studded with sequins and sleeves terminating at wrist-point length. The bouffant skirt of two layers of net was styled with lace insert. A pillbox of pleated net with embroidered rose motif and sequins held her fingertip veil. She carried white mums centered with an orchid corsage and wore a strand of pearls complemented with pearl earrings as her only jewelry. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her twin sister, Mrs. Lois Eggenberger. She wore a waltz length gown of mint green crystalite with permanent pleat inserts at the skirt front and bodice top.

Bridesmaids at the ceremony were Mary Heskett, friend of the bride, and Betty Lucas, sister of the bridegroom. Their gowns were the same as the above except gold in color. Linda Steeneken, flower girl, wore a full-length dress of gold crystalite with miniature daisy inserts.

Mrs. Beyer wore a waltz-length, dusty rose lace dress with black accessories and white mum corsage for her daughter's wedding.

"Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Phil Sharrsmith accompanied by Jean Ferrer at the organ. Baskets of white chrysanthemums formed the altar setting for the wedding rites.

Services of best man were performed by William Comai, Jr. while William Eggenberger and John Golmant were ushers for the ceremony.

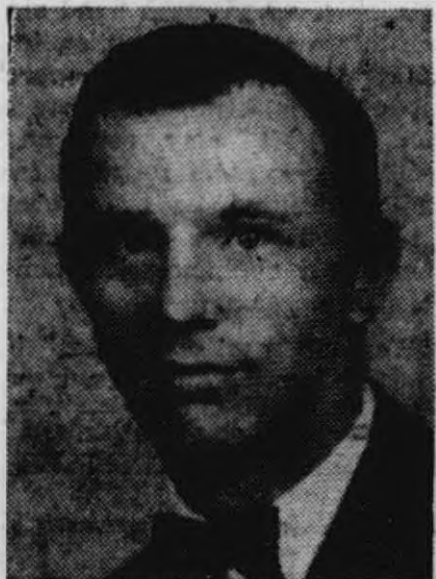

Present to congratulate the couple at the reception held in the American Legion hall in Newburg, were 200 guests from Detroit, Farmington, Garden City, Fenton, Britton, Allen Park and Plymouth. Afterwards the bride changed to a dark brown sheath dress with brown and white accessories and the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet for the honeymoon trip to Florida.

The bride graduated from Lowrey high school, Dearborn, in 1954 and is presently employed at the Plymouth branch, National Bank of Detroit. The bridegroom, who attended Chadsey high school in Detroit, is employed by Moore Production Tool Specialty, Inc. in Farmington.

Mrs. Springel to Head Bartlett Mother's Club

Mrs. William Springel was elected president of the Bartlett School Mother's club at the re-organizational meeting. Assisting her for the year will be Mrs. Dorothy Wilkie, vice-president; Mrs. Eugene Armstrong, secretary; Mrs. Roger Smith, treasurer; and Mrs. Elmer Krause, corresponding secretary.

A hard times party was held at the October meeting held yesterday at the school. The refreshment committee was Mrs. Dorothy Wilkie, Mrs. Koppen and Mrs. Larrick.

The extreme fashions exhibited in today's fashion magazine induce us to suspect the female mentality is overrated.

SOCIAL NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Miner, who had visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lehn Potter in their home on Ann street for a week, returned to their home in Deep River, Iowa, Tuesday.

Mrs. R. W. Spayth will entertain the Neighborhood club of ladies at sewing Thursday evening. The ladies meet every other week and at this time are making cancer pads.

Mr. and Mrs. George Macauley of Grand Rapids spent from Thursday until Monday in the home of their cousin, Mrs. George Cramer on North Harvey street. Mrs. Cramer accompanied them home and returned to her home Tuesday evening.

Nicol Wins Mail Football Contest

First winner of the Plymouth Mail's annual football contest this year is Max Nicol of 9223 Morrison, who was presented with a $15 check for picking all but two winners out of 15 games last week.

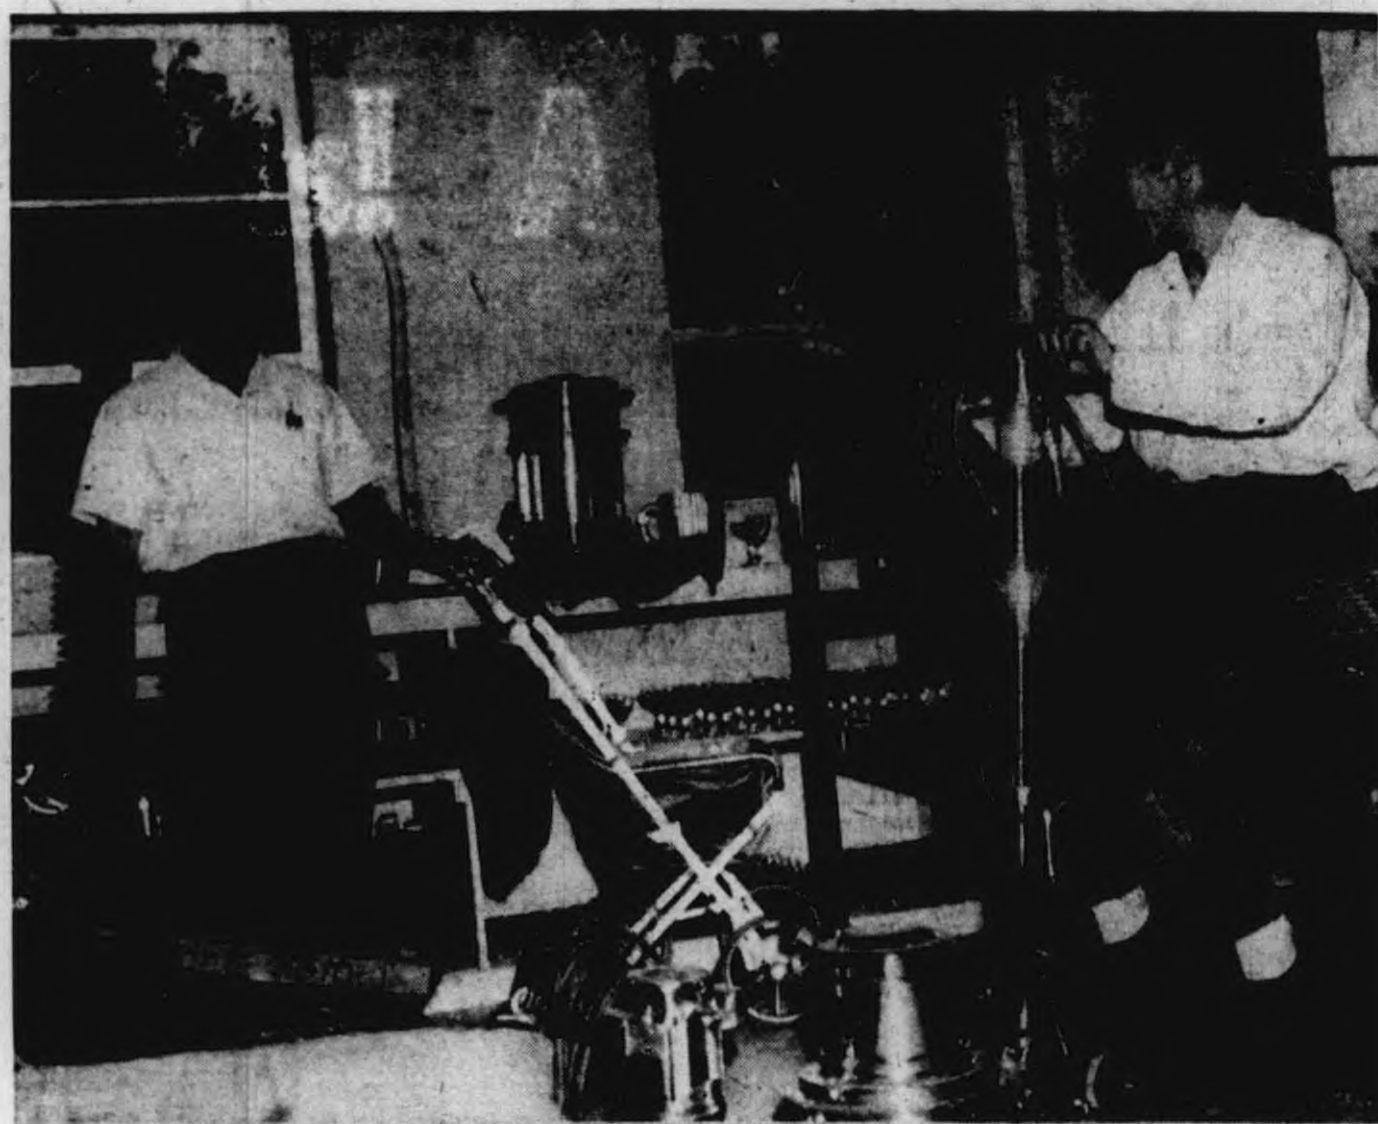

Nicol is a football, golfing and boating fan who has never played organized football himself. He is a keen student of the game, however.

Second place winner, presented with $7, was Eino Hayskar of 1434 Penniman, who finished very close to Nicol. Hayskar, a former "big ten" football player himself and a winner last year, also picked all but two of the top teams last week. He missed the score of the Lions-Baltimore game by a wider margin than Nicol to give the winner a slight edge.

In third place last week was Gilbert Minock of 1330 Ross, who took home a check for $3 as a consolation prize for picking 12 out of the 15 possible winners. What with the World Series games going on last week and the opening games of the football season getting underway, things were a little hectic at the Nicol residence, Mrs. Nicol laughingly reported.

"I'm a baseball fan and my husband is a football fan" she remarked, "and we had quite a time keeping track of both sports."

Football fans who wish to enter the Plymouth Mail's football contest and, perhaps, win $15, $7 or $3 in prizes, may do so by clipping out a score sheet from the Mail, checking choices, filling in their name and address and dropping the sheet off at the Mail office.

Secretary of State Hare Speaks in Salem Area

Secretary of State James M. Hare was guest of Salem township democrats at an informal gathering Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Agnes Fitzgerald of Seven Mile road. The hostess is candidate for Registrar of Deeds in Washtenaw county.

Hare was introduced to the group by Viola Blunkenburg, Washtenaw County Democratic Club chairman. Following a talk on the state campaign and its issues, the guest answered questions from the floor. Also present for the meeting was Wayne H. Predmore, Sr., candidate for office of Washtenaw county drain commissioner. Approximately 40 persons attended the meeting.

Two kittens were watching a tennis match. One said to the other proudly: "My mother is in that racket."

THE READER SPEAKS UP

To the Editor:

The great majority of voters at the school election are pleased with the result. More than 400 voters are disappointed. But many of the "yes" voters misunderstood the issue, since heretofore a "yes" vote customarily represented a desire for progress, while a "no" vote indicated either satisfaction with the status quo or a technical objection to the ways and means proposed to reach a common objective.

"To the victors belong the spoils"—but in this case even the losers gain, for their children will be the big winners. Proximity of school-houses to residential areas is a dominant factor in comfortable family conduct, in real estate values, in transportation, in everything important to a realistic body politic. Well placed schools are a vital element in the orderly growth of a community.

Congratulations to the great majority who took the long view. Reassurance to the minority that their children and THEIR children (how time flies!) will continue to find an open door to education in Plymouth, with convenient facilities, maintained equipment, superior teachers and a tolerant, sympathetic attitude toward the exceptional case of the individual parent or pupil.

It will take a little courage, some sacrifice, a lot of patience and plenty of TEAMWORK to meet the mounting problems of your Board of Education. Suggestions, constructive criticism and voluntary effort spell TEAMWORK. Yea, Team!

Esther Hulsing.

SOCIAL NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haubner have returned to their home on Bradner road after a three thousand mile motor trip through the Southern states and California. They returned by plane.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Dix of Lake Linden spent two days last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Moorhead on Ann street. Recent guests also were Mr. and Mrs. Watson Clawson of Exeter, California.

STARKWEATHER SCHOOL CHILDREN listen to a talk on fire prevention given by members of the Plymouth Fire Department last Tuesday afternoon prior to inspecting the five pieces of moving equipment drawn up before the school. Six local schools were visited and all children who filled out forms on fire prevention were given fire helmets and badges to make them safety conscious during Fire Prevention Week.

STARTING SUNDAY a week-long "Neighbor-to-Neighbor" educational drive will be conducted by the American Cancer Society in conjunction with the Plymouth Community fund. The area bounded by Main street, C & O railroad, Sheldon and Penniman, has been pinpointed for the initial campaign, with other areas of the city covered later. Shown with sample material which ACS volunteers will distribute at the end of each street to be passed on from neighbor to neighbor until all homes are reached, are left, Mrs. M. I. Johnson, 680 Church, and Mrs. E. J. Carless, school nurse and ACS public education director who heads the drive. Mrs. Clifton Tillotson is co-chairman. Plymouth Girl Scouts will assist with preparation of materials.

WSCS Plans Annual Bazaar SOCIAL NOTES

Plans are underway for the annual bazaar sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service, First Methodist church, it was announced by Mrs. John Birckelbaw and Mrs. James Hopkins, as co-chairman for this year's 1956 event. ## Fashions Reviewed At Woman's Club Gathering

Before a gathering of 124 members and guests of the Plymouth Woman's club, some 50 selections of the latest fall fashions were displayed in a presentation by the Hutzel shops of Ann Arbor Friday afternoon at the Barton Hills Country club of that city.

The fashion show followed a 12:30 luncheon as opening event to the Plymouth organization's autumn activities.

Selected are one of the 10 models for the show was Plymouthite Mrs. J. C. Weed, member of the local Woman's club. Featured in Hutzel's 1956 fall collection were a variety of fashionable attire ranging from smartly-styled suits for street and dresswear to coats, cocktail gowns and formals.

Creations and styling by such noted designers as Oleg Cassini, Anne Fogarty, Cecil Chapman, Peter Lennox and Don Loper were represented in the fashion display. Predominating the exhibit were the new fall tones of loden green, copper, taupe and mink, displayed in tweeds of English import, lame, peau-de-soie, sealskin and fur-type fabrics.

Representative of the diversification of the fashions exhibit were the ensembles modeled by Mrs. Weed. These included a tiled red tweed and angora suit, styled with fitted jacket over a fan-pleated skirt; a slim, dark brown jersey dress with bloused back and crystal-embroidered neckline over which was worn a long, wool coat of antique gold and brown with paneled back.

Others modeled by the Plymouthite were a black persey dress ensemble topped with black and copper striped jacket; a two-piece, wool knit import in grayed green, and black crepe dress of slender styling with lace inset emphasizing an empire midriff.

Mrs. Harrison Moore heads the 1956-57 program committee while Mrs. Edwin Schrader was program chairman for the day.

Presiding over the meeting was President-elect Mrs. David Wood. Invocation at the luncheon was given by Mrs. Leslie Daniel, immediate past president. A period of silence was observed at the event in memory of Mrs. Ray Collins, club member who passed away August 31 of this year.

To Sponsor Bake Sale

The Opti-Mrs. Club has announced plans for a bake sale following a meeting held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. William Aluia on West Ann Arbor trail.

The event is slated for Saturday, October 20, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the S. S. Kresge store on Main street. Eleven members of this Optimist club auxiliary unit were present at the meeting.

by Carl Peterson

It's mighty easy for us spectators to criticize the efforts of a perspiring football or baseball player, but I'd like to remind you of Mike Grady, Mike was the old time Giant third baseman who is credited with six errors on one play.

Bases were full when Mike fumbled a ball hit to him. Then he flung it over the first baseman's head. When the first sacker recovered and threw the ball back, Mike dropped it. He then wild-pitched to home plate, and the catcher couldn't have reached it with radar. Another runner dashed for third, so back went the ball to Mike . . . who dropped it like a hot brick. This allowed the last man to score standing up. Fortunately the remarks of Grady and the spectators were never recorded.

Something new is being added at Peterson's! We'll have further details for you in this column next week! Watch for the news!

In Wichita Falls, Texas, somebody stole a 30-foot telephone pole. Probably he wanted it for people he wouldn't touch with a 10-foot pole. Here at PETERSON DRUG, we like to see people at close range, new friends and old. Come in soon, for the finest in cosmetics, gift items and medical needs.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Alma Nagel

Mrs. Alma Nagel, 69, of Clinton, Michigan, passed away Tuesday night, October 9, at Bixby Hospital, Adrian, after a short illness.

She is survived by her husband, Hugo Nagel, three daughters, Mrs. Betty Lea, 1912 Marlow, Plymouth, Miss Ruth Nagel, 1107 West Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, Mrs. Loretta Ritchie, of Clinton and a son, Richard Nagel, also of Clinton.

Other survivors are two sisters, Helen Marks, of Palmyra, and Ella Duerr, of Adrian, and six grandchildren.

The deceased is at the Fred Casterline Funeral Home, Northville. Services will be held at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Northville, Friday, October 12, at 3:30 p.m. The Reverend Pankow officiating.

Interment will be at Glenn Eden Cemetery.

Community School Planners To Study 7 - Member Board

Whether the Plymouth Community School district should have a seven-member board of education will be one of the new subjects to be studied by the School Community Planning Group which opened its sixth year of meetings October 3.

The re-organizational meeting also included an election of Dr. Fred Foust as the new chairman and Mrs. William Lyons as secretary. The retiring chairman is Mrs. Esther Franklin.

Because of the present size of the school district, it is now entitled to seven members on the school board if it so desires, instead of five, Board President Harold Fischer, in making a welcoming talk to the planners, offered the suggestion for a larger board.

Local Student Reins on Court

Another honor has been given Miss Mary Lou Hartwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hartwick of Plymouth. She will serve on the Homecoming Queen's court at Alma college this weekend.

Every year of her four years at Alma, Mary Lou has gained some type of beauty honor. As a freshman, she was selected Queen of the Campus. She served on the court of the Campus Queen the following year.

Last year, Mary Lou was elected Homecoming Queen. This year she is on the court.

Queen of the Homecoming this year is Miss Elsie McClure of Alma. On the court with Mary Lou are Lois Welberry, Milford; Katie Tilson, Rudyard; and Connie McCall, Alma.

The queen and her court are chosen by the vote of the entire student body from among the junior and senior women. The crowning of the queen will come at halftime of the game with Hillsdale college. There will be a homecoming parade at 10 a.m. Saturday.

The freshman class is charged with the responsibility of constructing the float on which the queen and her court will ride. Included in the parade will be the famous Alma College Kiltie Band. The day will honor Florence Steward, head of the college sociology department and member of the faculty for 30 years.

Jr Police See Fancy Shooting

Wided-eyed youngsters and some amazed adults too watched Lt. Lester M. Coykendall of the Michigan State Police put on a fancy shooting demonstration last week.

Appearing before the Junior Police Organization, the crack marksman of the patrol not only showed some straight shooting, but informed his young audience on the art of safely handling fire arms. He shot various kinds of revolvers and a Thompson sub-machinegun.

The affair took place in the Junior Police building located in the Central Parking lot.

This was one of the first major activities of the Junior Police this year. The group of youngsters from 11 through 17 years of age opened its second year of activities two weeks ago.

But the young organization has run into some financial difficulties, according to a treasurer's report made by the supervisory board recently. While the group is due for some money from the Plymouth Community Fund after the first of the year, it will need about $300 to operate until then.

An attempt is being made to find a way to raise the money.

The Reverend and Mrs. Lynn B. Stout have returned from Fort Campbell, Kentucky, where they visited with their son, Private Robert Stout, Enroute home they visited relatives in Tennessee.

Whoever would not die to preserve his honor would be infamous.—Blaise Pascal.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

The 1957 Girl Scout calendar will go on sale this week. Any Brownie or Girl Scout may be contacted for one of these calendars. Each troop keeps the profits from the sale of these calendars for activities within the troop.

Senior Scout troop 1 went on a camping trip to Bishop Lake Saturday and Sunday, October 5 and 6. This troop has been busy stuffing envelopes for the Community Fund drive as they did last year. They worked Thursday evening, October 4, and finished the job on Monday evening, October 8, after a dinner meeting.

The girls have started making plans for a trip which they hope to make to Washington, D. C., this coming spring. Mrs. Sheldon Baker is troop leader.

At their October 1 meeting in the Presbyterian church, Intermediate Scout Troop 21 was presented with an American flag from the Veterans of Foreign Wars by Mrs. Robert Diekman. Also at this meeting, Jane Valier, one of the Scouts, showed the wild rabbits which she had discovered in her back yard.

The troop is planning an overnight at the Girl Scout lodge on October 19. Mrs. Charles Breardsee and Mrs. Walter Gothe are troop leaders.

On Thursday, October 4, Intermediate troop 30 held a meeting at the Methodist church at which the following officers were elected: Noraleen Reauar, president; Susan Williams, vice president; Susan Cooper, secretary; Judy Ely, treasurer; Linda Luelling, sunshine—firstaid; Laura Edmonds, publicity.

The girls chose the Star of Bethlehem for their troop crest. Mrs. Marvin Criger and Mrs. Earl Luelfing are troop leaders.

Habit of Complaint
"I suppose you were thankful for the heavy rain."

Salem Real Estate To Open on Fralick

Opening its headquarters this week in the former Giles Real Estate office at 861 Fralick is the Salem Realty company under ownership of George J. Schmeman, 7095 North Territorial road.

The firm, located at the Schmeman home since its organization in May 1955, will have four on its sales staff in addition to the owner. They are Mrs. Louella Cutler and Edward Szmurlo, both of Plymouth, and Coda Savery and Mrs. Schmeman of Salem township.

The former Giles building has been repainted with a bright red exterior. Additional plans call for window-box decorations and landscaping of the immediate lawn surface. Salem Realty will cover the areas of Plymouth, Wayne, Livonia, Northville, Salem, Washnetaw, Livingston and Superior townships.

Veterans of Foreign Wars

Congratulations are again in order for Hilda Rogabacher. She is the first lady to pay her 1957 dues this year in the auxiliary. Let's remember that the membership drive is on and all pay their dues promptly.

Plans are being completed for the Smorgasbord dinner November 4. Tickets are available at the Linda Lee shop or reservations can be made by calling 886. Marion Dickie is ticket chairman. It is asked that when you call for your reservation you designate the time that you wish to eat. Dinner will be served hourly from 1-5 p.m.

Realism in Art

Blake—That man Sphagatello is certainly a naturalistic singer.
Blair—What do you mean by that?
Blake—Why, last night he sang "Rolling Waves" with such realism that twenty people out of the audience had to leave on account of seasickness.

Million Dollar Project Announced

in Detroit. They have been at this location since the hospitalization company was formed in 1938. In his address to the group Tuesday, Temple stated that the American Medical Hospital Benefit company is the largest individual company in this field in the nation issuing hospitalization and surgical insurance.

In 1947 the Community Life Insurance company was formed. Both confine their operations to Michigan at present.

The two-story insurance building will be "functional" in design. Its designer is the architectural firm of Paul Moffett, Birmingham.

According to Temple, there were several factors which brought about the decision to select Plymouth as the office site. Over 100 communities were considered. He noted that Plymouth has rail and highway transportation and nearby airport facilities.

"We were impressed by the friendly atmosphere of the community, and especially by the co-operation we received from the manager of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce," the insurance company president added.

Much credit was given Tuesday to Chamber Manager Edward Hart who helped "sell" Plymouth to the insurance company officials. First contact was made a year ago.

Hart served as master of ceremonies for the hotel meeting. Greetings were extended to the insurance companies by Donald Burleson, president of the Chamber; David Mather; Paul Chandler, publisher of The Mail; Mayor Russell Daane and Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay.

Mather noted that he has always felt that Plymouth should have an entrance from the east that should present a beautiful appearance for visitors. He added that this project will have that appearance. He also asserted that the township as well as the city will benefit because many of the officials and employees of the companies will want to build homes nearby.

Parkway Supercenter corporation officials said that they hope to have other units of the project under construction sometime next year. Hub of the center will be a retail outlet building covering 16,000 square feet. West of this will be another building for retail stores of 8,400 square feet.

The insurance building will be east of the hub, overlooking Riverside Park and on the site where a home now stands. The home is to be moved this year.

The apartment building will be located at the rear of the property while parking will occupy much of the remaining area.

Apartments will be of the "luxury" class.

Four acres of the original property was sold by Mather to the school board a year ago for playground use by Starkweather school children.

Officers and directors of the two insurance firms are: John Temple, president; Charles Engstrom, George Barnes, Kenneth Koppin, W. D. McClintock, Frank D. McAllister, Harold McCracken, Jr. Malcolm MacQueen, Willie Werner, Lester Dickinson, Joseph Reault, Harold Doid, and Ray Larimer. McAllister, Werner and Reault are with the community Life Insurance company only.

date line of September 23, indicating that the infant had been there at least since that date. In the absence of a medical examiner, Dr. R. R. Barber was brought to the scene and estimated that death had occurred two weeks ago.

A short distance away was a pink and white blanket and the remainder of the newspaper.

Detectives said that a warrant will not be issued until the cause of death is determined.

of all the girls at Plymouth high." Name of the queen will not be known until half-time.

All students are being asked to wear the school colors of blue and white throughout the day. Cheerleaders will preside over a pep assembly during the last hour of the afternoon with majorettes and the band performing.

At 6 p.m., the Future Homemakers of America will give a tea for the parents of all football players. They will then be ushered at 6:30 to a big bonfire at the north end of the football field for a pep rally. Alumni are being urged to join this part of the celebration.

A snake parade will start from the school, including the band, queen candidates in convertibles and students. After the parade through town, the crowd will take their seats at the game for the Plymouth-Redford Union battle.

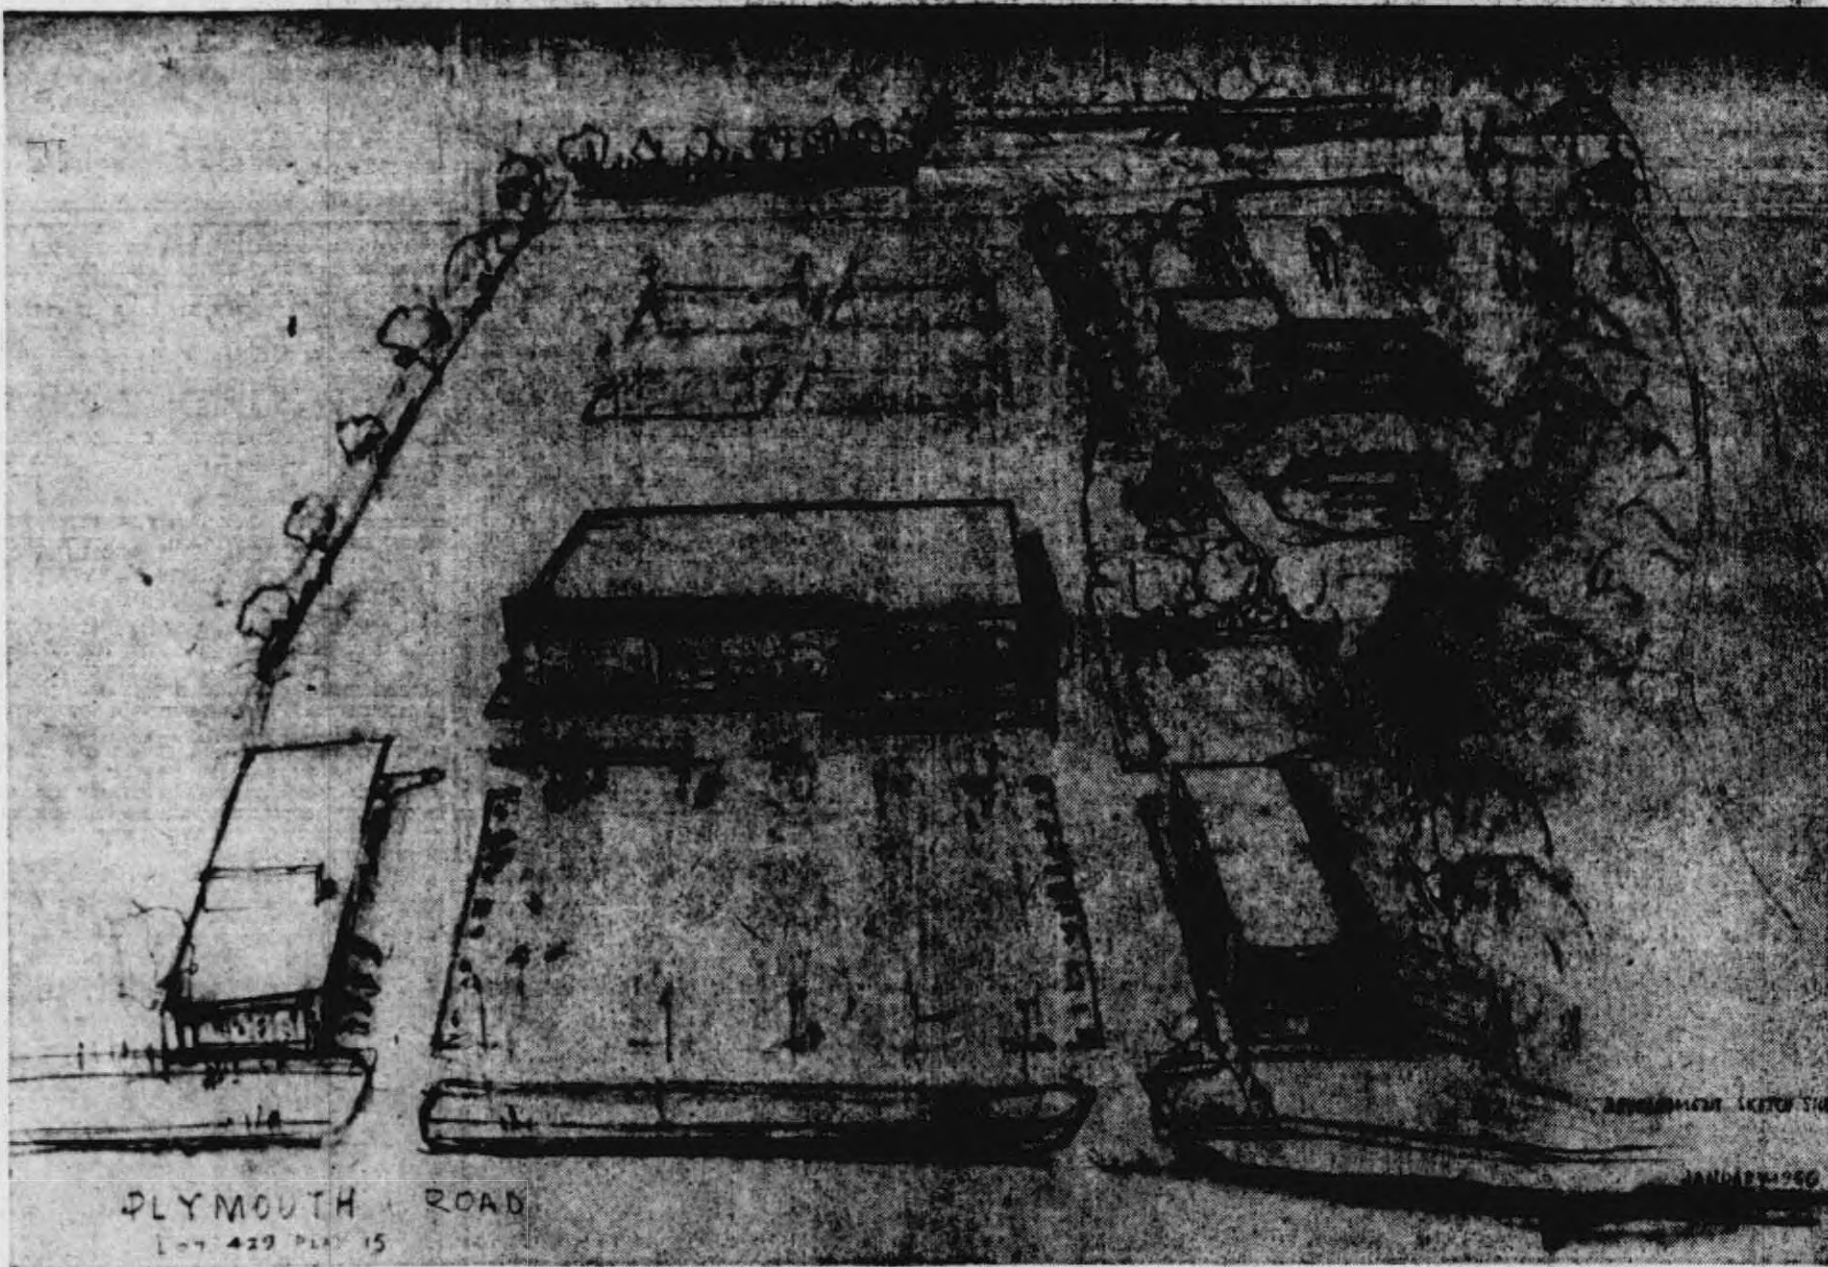

There will be a dance after the game for alumni. Alums must obtain guest permits at the assistant principal's office.

Fire Show Tonight

Brenda Newberry; Bird school, Susan Haws, Donald Darling, Connie Paulger; Cherry Hill, Kerry Bordin; and Truesdell, Rickey Fellows.

Main street will be blocked off for the demonstration tonight from Fralick to Maple. Making arrangements for the affair are Captain Louis Norman of the Plymouth township department and Assistant Chief Charles Groth of the city department.

ROUGH SKETCH of the Parkway Supercenter project gives a birdseye view of how it will look. The building in the center and one at left will contain a number of retail stores. At right front is the proposed insurance building, while behind that will be a 20-family apartment building. The project is on the north side of Plymouth road, just inside the city limits.

Open Symphony Cookbook Sale

A cookbook sale for benefit of the Plymouth Symphony orchestra will be launched this evening at the downtown Kroger's store by members of the Women's committee of the local Symphony society, sponsor of the event.

Available to shoppers will be an attractively-bound copy of over 360 recipe favorites submitted by local homemakers in an edition called "Symphony for Pots and Pans by Plymouth Cooks." The sale will be continued Friday and Saturday at Stop and Shop as well as Kroger's.

Next week the book will be on sale at Cassidy's, D. Galin & Son, Beiter's Jewelry, Early American Shop, Mayflower Wine Shop and Dickerson's Market.

Mrs. James Warren is general chairman of the event, assisted by Mrs. Margaret Hough. Committee appointments are as follows:

Soliciting and collection of recipes. Mrs. Gerald Fischer, Mrs. Wayne Dunlap, Mrs. A. E. Van Ornum; correcting and checking recipes. Mrs. George Conover, Mrs. David Johnson, Mrs. W. E. Ackerman, Mrs. Robert Webber; typists, Doris Van Gorp, Detroit; artist, Marion E. Sober; letterer, Sarah Wesley; sales, Mrs. Samuel Hudson, Norma Cassidy, and Assistant Chief Charles Groth of the city department.

Bull Romps Through Cattle-egg Park

Maybe it was just one bull, but it seemed like a thundering herd Tuesday night in Plymouth police who had the job of rounding up a bull that escaped from a truck in the middle of town.

The bull, belonging to Denver Cockrum of North Territorial road, was being transported with fellow animals when two started a fight. Fortunately, only one escaped, but that was enough.

Romping through Kellogg park, the bull led three patrolmen and some self-appointed cowhands a lively chase from 7 to 8 p.m. The tour of the city included a route down the main trail to Harvey, and a winding back downtown in the Central Parking lot, across Perry to Penniman and out Penniman to Arthur.

The jig was finally up in the back yard of Dr. John Salan, 199 Arthur street, cornered by fences in the back yard. The bull fought all the way until he hit a truck.

To Open New Downtown Men's Clothing Store this Weekend

Today is the grand opening of a new store in Plymouth. Famous Stores, owned and operated by Bernard Morrison, who has operated a store by the same name in Northville for over two years, has opened a Plymouth branch at West Ann Arbor Trail and Forest avenue.

Morrison, who was a buyer for the Sam's Store in Detroit for several years after his graduation from Wayne University, will handle the Plymouth store in person. A manager will operate the Northville store.

Famous Stores specialize in men's and boys' wear of name brands and moderate price tags. This includes suits, coats, sweaters, sports wear, pajamas and other items as well as socks, shirts, ties and belts.

The Morrissons, Bernard, his wife Lois and daughter Patti, 5, live on Cherrylawn avenue in Detroit.

"We plan to give Plymouth people the same friendly, personal service that has made our Northville store so popular," Morrison says.

Gas Line Break

Traffic along Plymouth road just inside the city limits was blocked off last Thursday morning when a hole was accidentally drilled through a natural gas pipeline.

It took over five and a half hours for Consumers Power company workmen to get the repair job completed, according to W. L. Whitfield, manager of the local Consumers office.

The break took place at 8:15 a.m. when a Utilities Line Construction company crew was drilling along Plymouth road to place a utility pole. The large auger mounted on a truck struck the "feeder" pipeline and the high pressure gas blew dirt over 100 feet into the air.

resident of Plymouth and became a partner in the plating firm in 1923. He was on the city commission and served as mayor in 1948-49. His activities have also included work with the Chamber of Commerce, Junior Achievement, the Salvation Army Citizen Advisory board, and the Knights of Pythias, of which he served as past grand chancellor for the state of Michigan.

He has held most lay offices of St. John's Episcopal church and is currently chairman of its building fund.

Except for the few international offices, election to the district governorship is considered the highest honor one can achieve in Rotary. George A. Smith, former superintendent of Plymouth's schools, was the only other local Rotarian to receive the honor. That was in the 1930's. Smith was the local club's first president.

Northville Mothers Club To Sponsor Bake Sale Friday

The Northville Mother's club is having a bake sale Friday, October 12, at Merritt's Insurance Agency on Main street. The sale is from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The home of Mrs. Clifton Hill of Beck Road was the scene of a party held Friday, October 5, for members of the Spanish club from Ypsilanti State Normal college. About 50 members attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wagner, Jr. of La Salle road had as their guest for two weeks, Mrs. Wagner's mother, Mrs. Hila Denise of Clawson.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hollis, Sr. and son Arnold of Northville road spent Sunday, September 30, in Lansing helping their new daughter-in-law, Patricia, celebrate her birthday. Others at the dinner party were Patricia's husband, Earl, Jr.; and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Curtis of Wayne.

The Mother's club of Northville honored the Northville teachers and their guests at the annual Teachers Night Monday evening at Amerman school. Guest soloists, Miss Jane Purdy and John Swift, were invited to entertain for the event.

Mrs. William Kirkpatrick and daughter, Judy of Evanston, Illinois, arrived Wednesday for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blunk on Haggerty road. Mr. Kirkpatrick and son, Billy, will join them here Saturday and in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick plan to attend the Army-Michigan football game in Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Robert Richardson of Morrison avenue will attend a house warming, Thursday evening, in the home of her cousin, Mrs. Emil Schilawski, in Detroit.

Mrs. Roy Hallock and children were guests of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter Wagner, Jr. of La Salle road, last week-end while their husbands went duck hunting in Sebawaing.

On Monday, October 8, the Garden club held their meeting at the home of Mrs. Froger on Sheldon road. Guest speaker was Mrs. Clarence Johnson who gave a speech on "What Garden Clubs Do for Highway Beautification."

On October 5, the Northville Women's club held their opening meeting with a luncheon at Meadowbrook Country club.

Mrs. Margaret Sterne, assistant professor of history at Wayne university, presented a speech entitled "Are European Women Different?" Past presidents and life members were honored.

Leading the Youth Fellowship service at the Northville Presbyterian church last Sunday evening was Hedi Trithart, exchange student from Austria. "Is There Any Hope?" was her topic.

The Rotary club of Northville is sponsoring Hedi who is living with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jones of Horten avenue.

The next Girl Scout Council meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Carl Karg, 717 Spring drive, on Tuesday, October 16, at 8 p.m.

New officers for Girl Scout Troop 12 were elected at its first fall meeting.

Holding office are: Sandy Phillips, president; Judy Lambert, vice-president; Peggy Dresslehouse, treasurer; Sarah Mellen, secretary; and Susie Whittlesey, scribe.

The First Presbyterian church of Northville sponsors the troop. Mrs. Jean Langtry is leader.

Smith Challenges Democrat Claims About Congress

George F. Smith, Republican candidate for Congress, today questioned Democrats who are campaigning on the basis of their alleged support of President Eisenhower's program. Smith points out that there is a long list of legislation which the Democrat-controlled 84th Congress failed to enact in spite of President Eisenhower's urgent request for support.

Smith said, "The following partial list of legislation which the Democrats failed to support is an indictment of their so-called 'special consciousness':"

- Federal aid program for school construction
- A civil rights program
- Legislation to revise and liberalize the immigration law
- Legislation to improve the Refugee Relief Act
- Expansion of private health insurance policies through reinsurance
- Federal aid for medical school teaching facilities
- Amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act, including requirements for employers to take noncommunist oath and giving strikers in labor disputes the right to vote in labor elections
- Extension of the minimum wage coverage
- Redevelopment for economically depressed areas
- Revision of eight-hour laws in Government contracts
- Occupational safety program
- Equal pay for equal work legislation
- Social Security coverage for Federal civilian employees
- Atomic energy insurance legislation
- Postal rate increases
- Atomic-powered peace display ship
- Mortgage insurance for construction of hospitals and other medical facilities
- Requirements of registration and disclosure of employee welfare pension plans
- Medical care insurance for Federal civilian employees
- U. S. membership in the Organization for Trade Cooperation
- Home Rule for District of Columbia
- Statehood for Hawaii
- Niagara power development
- Partnership power projects, particularly the Cougar and Green Peter Dams in Oregon and the John Day Dam on the Columbia between Washington and Oregon
- Frynggan-Arkansas water resource project"

Smith concluded, "It is vitally important that the people send a Republican majority to Congress to give President Eisenhower the support he needs to complete his crusade."

Add History Instructor To Madonna College
 Thomas Karwaki, history instructor, has recently been added to the faculty of Madonna College. Besides teaching history, political science and social psychology courses, Karwaki is also moderator of the International Relations Club on Campus.

Born in Buffalo where he also taught high school, Karwaki received his bachelor's degree from the State University of New York. He received his master's degree from Western Reserve college, where he was formerly a history instructor.

A member of the American History Association and of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, Karwaki has plans for setting up a Internship in Government Program at Madonna. Such a program would include a course involving field work giving students the opportunity to work with suburban communities in helping to solve administrative and governmental problems.

PEO Opens Fall Season
 PEO Sisterhood opened its fall activities Friday evening at a meeting in the home of Miss Mabel Bowers of Stark road, Livonia. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Harold Stevens and Miss Marian Gorton.

A musical program highlighted the gathering, with selections on organ and piano by Miss Bowers who was also accompanist for the group singing.

Next meeting of PEO will be held Friday, October 19, at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Harold Stevens, 998 Church street.

Northville Optimists To Hear Hudson Veep
 John W. Paynter, vice-president and controller of the J. L. Hudson company, has been secured to address the Northville Optimist club on the subject "Hudsons-From the Inside Out", on October 17 at the Lutheran Church house on Elm street.

Paynter is a Member of the board of Directors of The J. L. Hudson Company, having been made assistant controller in 1946, and in 1948 he was appointed controller. In April, 1956 he was made vice president of the firm.

Interested Plymouth people are invited to attend the Northville Optimist Club meetings on Wednesday nights at 6:30 p.m. at the Lutheran Church house, 201 Elm street, Northville.

Without money honor is nothing but a malady.—Jean Racine.

Wayne Prof. To Address Theatre

Professor Russell Smith of the Department of Drama, Wayne University, will be guest speaker for a meeting of the Plymouth Theatre Guild on Monday, October 15, at 8 p.m. in the junior high school gym.

A lecture and demonstration on "Characterizations and Make-up" will be given by Smith who instructs courses in theatrical make-up at Wayne. The public is cordially invited to attend. Membership in the Theatre Guild is open to all adult residents of Plymouth and surrounding communities.

Guild President Jack Scott announced that tickets were still available for the Masquerade Ball to be sponsored by the organization Saturday, October 27, at 9 p.m. in the Plymouth Masonic Temple. A limited number of tickets have been issued due to fire regulations. Featured at the ball will be the Hal Young Quintet, Roy Rev., local magician, and floor show presented by an all-Guild talent cast. Refreshments will also be served.
 Tickets may be purchased from any Guild member, at the Mayflower hotel, Smith Music company or the Photographic Center.

Hunters sometimes get the shot that was intended for the game. Probably this is what makes it a real sport.

Newburg Methodist Church
Plans Minstrel Show, Bazaar

Reserve the following dates on your calendar of coming events for the whole family to enjoy at the Newburg Methodist church: November 1-2, presentation of a minstrel show by the Men's Club. This is sure to be an evening full of good music, fun and fellowship. On Saturday, November 10, the annual fall bazaar will be held. There will be booths with many articles on display to help make your Christmas shopping easier. Games of every type have been planned for the children, and there will also be a harvest dinner served from 5-7. Entire proceeds from this event will go to the church building fund.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John Ross on the arrival of a little miss at their home on Richland avenue by the name of Kathleen Elizabeth.

A surprise birthday party was held for Robert Jernigan at his home on 11th road Saturday evening, attended by approximately 15 relatives and friends. Coming from Niles to celebrate the occasion were Mr. Jernigan's mother, Mrs. Nellie Jernigan, and his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Smith.

Who's New in Plymouth

DISTINCTIVE FEATURE of the S. C. Slifkin home at 9284 Morrison is its diversified art collection, part of which is shown above with the Plymouth newcomers. In foreground is a watercolor by Madson, Milwaukee, Wisconsin artist, and bronze bull from Paris by the Spaniard DeLaTorre. Directly behind stands an oil from Pebble Beach, California, painted by Feleiborn, Carmel-by-the-Sea artist. Traveling extensively in connection with his job, Slifkin has brought back sculptures in addition to paintings and other art objects from various parts of Europe and the U.S. He is president of Production Research and Developing company, division of Reproduction Products company, Detroit. The couple came the end of February from their hometown of Milwaukee.

Neighboring Cities Confused By Store - Managing Twins

The Shupp brothers, Dwaine and Dean, have been causing a certain amount of confusion hereabouts lately. For almost a year, Dwaine is assistant manager of the Plymouth Kresge store and Dean is assistant manager of the Livonia Kresge store at Sheldon Shopping Center. That's not too confusing.

But the brothers are identical twins and it's a rare person who can tell them apart. They also visit each other's stores occasionally. That can be confusing.

Dwaine (Plymouth store) lives at 1180 Carol, Plymouth, with his wife, Lilá, and their three-year-old son Michael. Dean (Livonia store) lives in Detroit with his wife, Eleanor, and sons Dwaine, 9, Garry, 7, and Jeffrey, eight weeks.

To start at the beginning, the Shupp brothers were born in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, some 32 years ago. They were born almost simultaneously . . . almost, but not quite.

"I didn't have my watch on at the time," Dwaine says, "but I understand Dean was born about 20 minutes before me."

In private conversation, Dean sometimes hints that he is the smartest because he is the oldest. Dwaine occasionally implies that his better looks may be attributed to his youth.

The only mix-up they recall from their childhood is the time one of them got two doses of "Castoria" in succession and the other one got fed twice. Dwaine thinks he got the double dose of "Castoria" and Dean the extra "how because Dean is a little the heaviest today."

Through grade and high school there were limitless chances for them to switch seats and classes, Dwaine says, but they seldom bothered. Since no one could tell them apart anyway, it didn't make any difference. They do tell of the time they switched dates three times in one evening, however, with no one but themselves the wiser.

Of course, there were some interesting episodes when they left high school and went into the Seaboard. Dwaine started things off by dating an officer's girl friend. The lieutenant couldn't tell which one had taken her out so he solved the problem by giving them both extra duty.

But Dean got even. There was a rule about "no seconds" at the mess hall and Dean, in another company, always went through the line first. When Dwaine would come through he got sarcastic remarks and half portions or less. He began losing weight and finally had to make Dean stand up beside him in the mess hall to clear things up.

Then there was Dean's appendix operation in a Naval hospital. A sailor in his ward was constantly bragging about how tough he was, how well he had stood the operation and how soon he was going back on duty. The morning Dean went to surgery, Dwaine waited outside the operating room until he got a satisfactory report, then walked back through the ward on his way out. It gave the tough guy quite a jolt. He called a corpsman over.

"Hey, isn't that the one that was operated on this morning?" he asked. The corpsman didn't understand it either but he was fed up with the guy's bragging and he didn't let the chance slip by.

"Sure" he said disgustedly, "he's no panty-waist, he's going back on duty this afternoon."

There were some eyebrows raised at Iowa State College when the boys enrolled there after getting out of the service. Dean married first and was living with his wife in a married housing project on campus when their first baby came, Dwaine, still single, though accompanied by his wife-to-be, visited his brother several times while his sister-in-law was in the hospital. The neighbors, not knowing the twins, got pretty disgusted about the fellow walking in and holding hands with another woman while his wife was in the hospital having a baby.

They were ever more indignant when Dean moved out, with his wife and son and Dwaine moved into the same apartment with his new bride the same weekend.

Speaking of their college days, Dwaine says that fooling the professors was easy. The difficult part was keeping things straightened out.

Dean started his training with the Kresge Company in Cedar Rapids a year before Dwaine and had been transferred to another city by the time Dwaine started training at the same store. Dwaine says he received quite a bit of condescending sympathy at first, most of the employees thinking he was Dean, demoted and sent back for more training.

Once when Dean was working in a Detroit store and Dwaine in Lansing, a salesman left Dean's store and drove directly to Dwaine's Lansing store. He thought he had made pretty good time on the road too, until he walked into the Lansing store and saw Dwaine standing calmly at a counter.

"What did you do?" he asked, "fly down here?"

Every time one of the boys visits his brother's store a new clerk is likely to ask him the price of a new item or how late he wants her to work. Dwaine stopped at the Livonia store shortly after Dean's son Jeffrey was born and several clerks asked him questions pertaining to vital statistics. Dwaine answered them, and accepted the congratulations.

"It's easier than trying to explain" he says, "and people usually don't believe you any way."

So if you happen to visit both the Plymouth and Livonia Kresge stores, going directly from one to the other, and see the same man both places, don't panic. His car isn't faster than yours and your glasses don't need changing. You're just another victim of the Shupp brothers.

"It's twice as much trouble but it's twice as much fun too" they say.

Vivians Meet Tonight To Hold First Meeting

The Vivians club, Elks Lodge No. 1780, will open its season tonight, October 11, at 8 p.m. in the Elks temple with a program featuring Mrs. Effie Kuisel, well known for her many performances with the Plymouth Theatre Guild.

Subject of Mrs. Kuisel's presentation will be "Monologue". Members and guests are invited to attend.

Members are reminded to bring pajamas and shirts for donation to Maybury sanatorium. Also, tickets are now on sale for the Halloween Masquerade dance to be sponsored by the Vivians Saturday, October 27, at the Elks Temple.

Navy Mothers Plan "Mrs. Santa" Party

Plymouth Navy Mothers have announced plans for a Mrs. Santa Claus Club party to be held Thursday, November 1, at the Veterans Memorial center. Gift items for sale will be on display all day long at the event which will be open to the public. Included in the display will be toys for all age groups, children's clothing, accessories and cosmetics. Barbara Lothamer, noted teacher of ceramics, will have on exhibit many of her own creations. The party will be for benefit of the veterans in the Ann Arbor hospital.

Mrs. Joan Sackett, local club delegate to the national Navy Mothers convention held recently in New Orleans, gave a report at the organization's last meeting. Highlight of the event was a tea aboard the USS Saipan.

Rosedale Gardens

Council Approves Sidewalk Construction for West Chicago

The city council voted to proceed with the sidewalks along West Chicago for students of Grant and Whitman schools. Our thanks to the many public-spirited citizens who signed our petition and special thanks to the ones who took the time and trouble to attend council meetings in regard to this urgent matter. It is nice to know our youngsters won't have to be wading in mud or dodging trucks four times a day in the future!

Laurie Dana, 32711 Vermont, was seven years old Sunday, October 7, and a party was held in her honor. Those on the guest list were Janet Quick, Vicki Natiu, Leslie Pomroy, Cheri Stewart, Marie Padgett, Mary Ann Beagan, John and Kristine Dana, and Suzan Hunter and Aileen and Nancy Briggs. Laurie received many lovely gifts, plus a party dress made by her mother and a doll dressed in an identical costume.

The monthly Hi-Fi dance was held September 30 at the clubhouse. It was a big success with 56 couples attending. The football season set the theme for decorations and everyone coming in was given a pennant in which to place the name of his college. Even the House of Correction pennant was there, but no one knows just who the former student was! Residents of Rosedale Gardens who are not members of the Civic association should join at once so as not to miss out on the fun. Anyone wishing to join may contact Bob Durivage, GA. 1-1090.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dana and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gilday, both of Vermont street, attended the Michigan State-Michigan football game at Ann Arbor, Saturday, stopping off on the way back to have dinner.

An auction given by the Women's Club was held Thursday, October 4, at 8:30 p.m. at the clubhouse. Various items of clothing, household goods and toys were sold by Auctioneer Ross Gibson, 11309 Cranston. Committee members for the affair were Jo Ballert, Dorothy Day, Virginia McDevitt, Maree Crossett and Irene Koteles. Coffee and cookies were served at the end of the evening.

The Rosedale Garden Presbyterian Couples club held their first square dance of the season October 5 at 8:30 p.m. Bob and Betty Carson of Plymouth were the callers and a good-sized crowd turned out to sashay 'round. A supper was served at the close of the evening's fun. Those working on the committee were Mrs. Richeson, Mrs. Moelke, and Mrs. Pierce.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Klenk, 32900 Vermont, have as their guest Mr. Klenk's mother, Mrs. Lillian Klenk of Berwyn, Illinois.

Gregory Ochs, 32729 West Chicago, and Robert Summerlee, 32630 West Chicago, have received their gold and silver badges for completion of their wolf books. The boys belong to pack 1, den 6 of the Cub Scouts.

John Yadlosky, 32811 Vermont, attended a Square Club dinner Wednesday evening. Les Bingham, former Detroit Lions player, was guest speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pomroy, 32724 Vermont, attended the season's first square dance Saturday night at their club in Berkley. Mr. and Mrs. Holwig of Livonia were their guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard White, 9330 Woodring, are the parents of a baby boy born September 27. Richard Junior weighed in at 10 pounds, 6 1/2 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Oliver of West Chicago street are the parents of a son, Douglas Keith, born at Highland Park General hospital Monday, October 1. The baby weighed eight pounds.

The Women's Club is holding a book review and potluck at the clubhouse Thursday, October 18, at 7 p.m. The reviewer will be Mrs. Agnes Pauline, Plymouth librarian. Hostesses will be Jean Hines, Peggy Williams, Dee Eaton, Lorraine Ellerholz, Jerry Jendron and Jayne Summerlee, who is chairman. If you are planning to come please call GA. 1-4906 in regards to what is needed for the potluck.

We are hoping that new residents in the new section of Rosedale Gardens will call GA. 1-5231

Couple Featured At Rally Service

The Reverend and Mrs. Clarence Betts have been announced as featured guests for the Rally Day service to be held at Calvary Baptist church, 496 West Ann Arbor trail, this Sunday morning. There will be a combined meeting of the Bible school and church service at 10:30 a.m.

Reverend and Mrs. Betts play such unusual instruments as 435 sleigh bells, 32 cow bells, 4 1/2 octave concert marimba, also vibraphone, the singing saw, electric Hawaiian guitar and the mandolin. These and vocal numbers will be presented at the program.

Come and bring the entire family to this service.

Dr. Slosson to Speak At Men's Brotherhood

Dr. Preston Slosson of the University of Michigan, internationally-recognized authority on history and world affairs, will address the Presbyterian Men's Brotherhood at their potluck supper meeting to be held Wednesday, October 17, at 7 p.m. in the dining-room of the Presbyterian church.

So that others may have an opportunity to hear this distinguished speaker, the Brotherhood cordially invites any interested men or women to attend the lecture which will be given immediately after the supper.

The subject of Dr. Slosson's lecture will be "The Political Issues Facing the Nation on the Eve of Election."

WIN $250.00 CASH AT THE END OF THE CONTEST, WITH THE MOST RIGHT ANSWERS

This aerial photo is the twenty-fourth in a series taken of various farms within a ten mile radius of Plymouth for the BEGLINGER OLDSMOBILE-CADILLAC Agency, Inc.

The identity of the farms in this aerial-photo series is completely unknown to anyone, including ourselves. . . so it's up to you, the readers of this paper, to identify the "Mystery Farm."

A series of 52 farm photographs will appear in the Plymouth Mail during the ensuing 52 weeks. The FIRST person to correctly identify the "Mystery Farm" each week, and sign the register at Beglinger's, will receive $10 CASH, plus points toward the Grand Prize at the end of the contest.

First 20 persons to correctly identify the mystery farm each week will receive an appropriate number of points toward the grand prize at the conclusion of the contest.

Highest total accumulated points for the 52 weeks of the contest will decide the winner of the GRAND PRIZE regardless of how many times the final grand prize winner may have placed first during the contest.

Everyone 18 years of age, or older, is eligible to win, except Beglinger Oldsmobile and Plymouth Mail employees and their families.

Dinner Guests Here and Away

Mrs. John Johnson, Phone 2525 Mrs. Lucy Albright from Chicago is staying with her son, Floyd Albright of Brookline, and will be with the family while Mrs. Albright is in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Austin and daughter Carol of Brookline spent Sunday, September 30, at the home of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Downing in Northville, and to be with their grandson, Chuckie, who was one year old Sunday.

Mr. Mrs. Karl Beard and children of Brookline spent Sunday, September 30, in Horton visiting his sister, Mrs. William Crampton, in her new home. Mrs. Walkup, who has been visiting there for the past two weeks, returned home with them.

George Evans of Livonia is spending a few days with his brother, Ernest Evans of Oakview.

Mrs. Blanche Beard of Elmhurst accompanied her son and family to Horton last Sunday and will be spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. William Crampton, who recently purchased a new home there.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Vern Miller of Plymouth were Saturday evening visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hoelt on Brookline, September 29.

William Saxton of Brookline has been bow and arrow hunting in Onaway for the past week and expects to be home Sunday, October 7, and we hope with a deer.

Mrs. Wayman Smith from Union City, Tennessee, is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Floyd Albright of Brookline, who has been sick for some time and will enter the hospital this week for an operation.

Mrs. Sheldon Barlow and Mrs. Lucy Frizzell of Royal Oak were dinner guests Wednesday, October 3, at the home of their niece, Mrs. Charles Austin of Brookline, and then visited their sister, Mrs. Williams, who is in St. Joseph hospital, Ann Arbor.

George Evans of Livonia had dinner with his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Smith of Sunset, on Thursday, October 4.

Mr. and Mrs. David Francis of Brookline had their children and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. David Francis, Jr., Mical and David from Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kujat and Michele and Keith from Roseville, as dinner guests Sunday, September 30.

Miss Fay Nicks of Brookline was among the young folks who enjoyed a hay ride Saturday night, September 29, sponsored by the Church of Christ in Plymouth. Approximately 100 persons attended the event.

Jerry Hoelt of Brookline, who was out of school this week because of an ear infection, hopes to be back this week.

Paula Sue Nolan of Commerce, 17-month-old niece of Mrs. William Burton of Elmhurst, had the misfortune of pulling a pot of hot coffee over her and was scalded quite badly Thursday evening. She is in Wayne General hospital with first degree burns. Her mother is the former Bessie Shoebridge, Mrs. Burton's sister.

A farewell party was held September 30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Allen of Brookline for her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Roberts of Elmhurst, who left Monday, Oct. 1, to make their home near Los Angeles, California. Guests were present from Ypsilanti, Belleville, Pontiac, Wayne, Detroit and Plymouth. They received a purse and many good wishes for happiness in their new location.

Randy Roberts was guest of honor at a farewell party given for him Saturday, September 29, by his cousin, Donnie Stamper of Brookline. His pals and playmates enjoyed a weenie roast with marshmallows and soft drinks. They all had a good time, wished Randy good luck and gave him a card with $5.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Roberts of Brookline were Mrs. Roberts' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pangborn, and her sister, Judy, of Bad Axe.

O. E. S. NEWS

Mrs. Gladys Colgan will become the new worthy matron of Plymouth chapter No. 115, Order of Eastern Star, succeeding Mrs. Helen Ingram, at installation ceremonies to be held Tuesday, October 16, at 8 p.m. in the Masonic temple.

A new and retiring officers practice in advance of the installation has been scheduled for 2 p.m. this Sunday at the Masonic temple. All members have been urged to attend.

SCHOOL BOARD MINUTES

The regular meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District was held in the home-making room of the high school on Monday, August 13, 1956.

Present: Mr. Fischer, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Smith, Mr. Stecker, and Administrative Assistant Mr. Blunk. Absent: Mrs. Hulsing.

Also present: Mr. Becker, Mr. Greenspan, Mr. Staub, Mr. Cook, Mr. Merriman, Mr. Brocklehurst, Mr. Thornton, Mrs. Boerama, and Mr. Woolweaver. The meeting was called to order by President Fischer at 8:00 p.m.

Mr. Greenspan, Mr. Staub, and Mr. Cook, representing the Fred E. Greenspan Building Company, described the proposed building site submitted to the Board of Education in the letter of July 26, 1956. After much discussion it was the decision of the Board of Education that the site proposed by the Greenspan Building Company was not acceptable as a site for an elementary school.

Mr. Thornton provided an explanation of the student accident insurance. It was moved by Mr. Stecker and seconded by Mr. Smith that student accident insurance be offered to all students of the Plymouth Community School District on a voluntary basis and that this insurance be written by the National Casualty Company, the company recommended by the Plymouth Association of Insurance Agents.

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Stecker. Nays: None. Mr. Brocklehurst explained the bid for insurance on the Plymouth Community Junior High School and the purposes and function of their Association.

Mr. Becker of Wheeler and Becker, Architects, explained the possible use of 12 1/2% glass in the Gallimore Elementary School and provided a sample of 12 1/2% glass for inspection by the Board of Education.

Mr. Becker discussed the changes made in library plans of the Gallimore Elementary School. It was moved by Mr. Stecker and seconded by Mr. Mitchell that the Board of Education accept the architect's recommendation of removing the library workroom partition as requested by the elementary librarian, but leave cabinets and sink as originally planned.

School Annual Staff Prepares 112-Page, 900-Copy Edition

The Plythean staff is again busying itself at preparing the school Annual which will be ready for students about the last of May or the first of June.

This year for the first time in the history of Plymouth High School, the Annual Staff is meeting as a class every fourth hour. Miss Joan Petro, adviser of the Staff, said that this is only an experiment. If it does not work out as she has planned, there will be no class next year.

Clubs, sports, individual pictures of students and teachers will occupy the 112 pages shared also by the Junior High School. The Annual Staff has a contract for 900 copies at a cost of about $2,740.

The dance, September 28, started off the Annual sales. The books were also sold October 1 through 3 on the first floor of the high school building and on October 4 and 5 the books were sold in Room 38.

Used Book Store Does $1,200 Gross Business

Sponsored by Pilgrim Prints, high school newspaper, Plymouth High's Used Bookstore handled over $1,200 worth of used books during its first semester.

The Used Bookstore is a means by which students may sell their old books so other students may make use of them. Before the store was developed many books were destroyed.

Headed this year by Junior Annie Denny and backed by Pilgrim Prints' advisor, Miss Elizabeth McDonald, the store grossed approximately $300 profit, handling $1,200 worth of books, $900 of that sum being returned to the students.

The present book store made its debut in 1954, its purpose being to raise money to help publish Pilgrim Prints. It is located in a made-over storeroom on the second floor of the high school.

Events continually refute the fortune-tellers, but that doesn't seem to hurt their business.

College Question Night Offered

Representatives from 18 well-known colleges and universities will attend a "college night" in Redford on November 1 at which parents as well as youngsters can have questions about higher education answered.

The Guidance departments of Plymouth, Garden City, Clarenceville, Redford Union, Bentley and Lee Thurston schools are again participating in the program. It will begin at 8 p.m. at Lee Thurston high school on Schoolcraft road.

There will be a brief general meeting in the gymnasium at 8 p.m., according to Miss Ruth E. Butts, Plymouth counselor. Afterwards, students and parents will be able to talk with the college representatives. There is no admission and visitors can leave anytime they wish.

Questions expected to be asked most frequently concern requirements for admission, steps in application, cost of courses, books and supplies, rate of tuition, cost of room and board, courses and scholarships.

Miss Butts also has announced that time is growing short for seniors to register for the scholarship qualifying test. Many scholarships are being offered under the single qualifying test that will be offered in the school auditorium on Wednesday, October 24 at 8:30 a.m.

Touch Football, Tennis Being Played by GAA

The most discussed topic of most Girls' Athletic Association members is the coming initiation to be held November 1 in the high school gym where any girl interested in joining the club may do so.

The club now has two sports starting off this year. They are tennis, managed by Marianna Jensen and Jane Harmon, and touch football, managed by Lela Irwin and Mary Jane West. These sports are played every Monday night from 3:30 to 4:30 with each girl receiving ten points a night.

Officers for this year are Kay Fisher, president; Nancy Eaton, vice president; Diane Fuelling, secretary; and Mary Jane West, treasurer.

New Reading At School Library

The high school library has several new books which may prove interesting for fellow book readers. Some new books are: "An Inheritance of Poetry" by Gladys L. Adthead and Annis Duff; "The Different One" by Pauline H. Coleman; "Quest of the Snow Leopard" by Roy Chapman Andrews; and "The New York Giants" by Frank Graham.

The library also has six different newspapers, three dailies, which are the Detroit News, The Detroit Free Press, and the Christian Science Monitor. The library also receives one Sunday paper, the New York Times and one weekly paper, the Plymouth Mail.

Some suggestions of books for girls to read are: "Wait for Marcy" by Rosamond Du Jardin, and "Betsy and the Great World" by Maud Hart Lovelace. Also some suggestions for boys are: "Mr. Fullback" by William C. Gault, and "The Phantom Backfield" by Howard M. Brier.

The library also has over fifty subscriptions to magazines among which are: Seventeen, Life, Scientific American, and Good Housekeeping.

Mr. Patrick Butler, the high school librarian, welcomes all students back to the library, and extends a cordial invitation to the ninth graders to come and explore the usefulness of the library in their school.

Writing Contest Again Offered Upper Grade Pupils

The Detroit News will again sponsor the annual Scholastic Writing Award program this year.

The program is open to public, private, and parochial school students, 6 through 12 grades, in Lenawee, Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, Washtenaw, and Wayne counties.

The senior division is for students in grades 10, 11, and 12. The junior division is for students in grades 6, 7, 8, and 9.

The entry deadline is Friday, January 25, 1957. Selected manuscripts will be forwarded to New York for judging in National Competition.

Each Team Wins One 'Half', But Bentley Scores, 6 to 0

Plymouth High Beaten; Livonia in Title Race

Livonia Bentley is the prep football team in this belt of Wayne County with the light heart today, while Plymouth suffers the agony that comes with wondering, "How'd we lose that one?"

But lose it Plymouth did, 6 to 0, on a lighted field jammed with spectators behind Plymouth High School Friday night. About half the crowd came from Livonia and it was their shrieks of glee that split the quiet night air when it ended at 9:58 p.m.

And where the tough, speedy Bentley boys now are stoutly in the running for a league championship with a season record of 2-0-1, the Rocks have become just another entry who tried, their up-to-date mark being 1-2-0.

Trenton is Livonia's title foe—Trenton's record is 3-0-0.

Bentley's two victories, incidentally, have been wrought from Plymouth and Redford Union, the two schools which geographically flank it to east and west, and that entitles Coach Jack Hudnut's men to the 1956 "Neighborhood Championship," if nothing better happens.

The look of gloom that darkens the face of Coach Mike Hoben has been recurring all week—every time Big Mike recalls that the Bentley game was the first time in 11 years of coaching when a team of his has been blanked.

Not a point went up in score board lights under Plymouth's name, though the advantage in "statistics" belonged to the Rocks—14 first downs to 5, for instance; and 251 yards total offensive gain to 124 yards.

The smiles that shine on the face of Coach Jack Hudnut of Bentley are there because he knows that it was a contest where normal "statistics" were without importance. His team was pushed around roughly the first half but brilliantly reversed the pattern in the last two periods. Thus it came out one half apiece for each squad, and that's a better picture of the sharp, well-played contest than any other "statistic."

During "their half" the Bentley men made the lone touchdown. It was the result of crisp offensive march of 58 yards, commencing with the moment the Bulldogs took the third period kickoff. Dick Clark scored the TD by slicing seven yards off his right tackle—however, there was a key pass on the preceding play that is more memorable.

It was fourth down for Livonia on the Plymouth 18, and there were signs that the drive had sputtered to a halt. Coach Hudnut sent in a new quarterback, Jerry Holman, with signals and an assignment. The play was one which technicians call the "trans-continental," because it involves a pass from the far right, flung on a diagonal to the far left. Fullback Eric Goodwill took the pass from center, rushed to the line, handed the ball back to Holman. The latter athlete tossed it to Clark, who was dashing for the right sideline. Holman, relieved of the ball, ran to his left. There was a pause, a halt, and Clark was flinging the ball right back to Holman. He grabbed it and struggled to a first down, from whence the touchdown was scored.

On their march down to the field, Bentley spent almost all its effort crashing over Plymouth's left tackle. Goodwill provided most of the power running.

Aside from this one success, Bentley had only two other faint opportunities to score in the entire game. The Bulldogs pushed down to the Plymouth eight later in the third period, but were frustrated at that time by a 15 yard penalty and an intercepted pass. They also probed to the 26 in the fourth period and were tossed back on downs.

Bentley's line showed itself again to be probably the quickest and the most precise unit in the Suburban Six League. Plymouth runners were being hauled down from behind by Livonia guards, tackles and line-backers. The Livonia secondary was stout defensively in the first half—particularly Clark.

Plymouth's "half" was the first one, where the Rocks outrushed Livonia 169 yards to 24 and made nine first downs while the opponent had none. Ken Calhoun and John Thomas were robust runners during this span of time—Thomas affording some kind of surprise by appearing as a ball-carrying quarterback, and a fast one, too.

Backfield fumbles stopped two Plymouth scoring drives in the first half, one on the 20 and another on the 34. On a third occasion the Rocks crunched to the 30, only to lose the ball on downs. In the second half, Plymouth never crossed midfield until the final minute of the contest. The Rocks didn't have much chance; Livonia controlled the ball most of the time.

Possibly the telling flaw for Plymouth was the total absence of a forward passing attack. The Rocks got only four passes into the air all evening, and none were successful. Such a weakness gives a defense excessive freedom to concentrate on repulsing the runners.

Grade School Touch Football Gets Underway

The fifteen game Grade School Touch football program, sponsored by the Plymouth Recreation Department, got underway last week with games being played. Bird School beat the Smith School graders 13-0. Our Lady of Good Counsel topped Canton Hill (outlying schools) 7-0 and repeated the feat to win over Starkweather School 6-0.

There are six teams in the Grade School Touch Football League. In addition to the five mentioned above is Smith School. All games are played on the practice football field behind Plymouth High School. Two games are played each Monday, one at 4 and one at 5 p. m. and one each Thursday at 4:30 p. m.

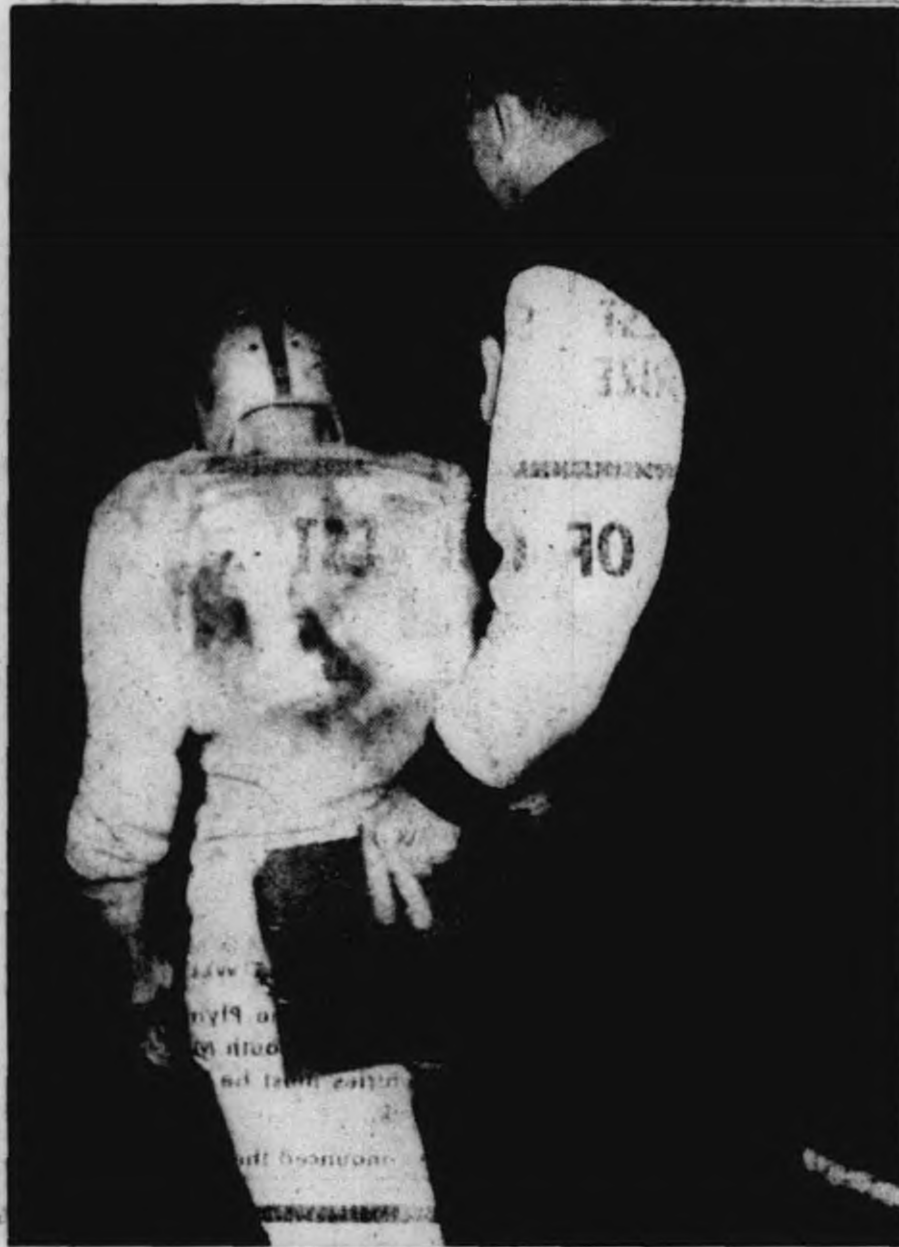

AT THE LINE OF SCRIMMAGE, Plymouth has the ball and Bentley is poised on defense. The quick-charging Bentley Linemen did a lot of destruction to the Rocks' attack during the evening.

BY THE SMILES, it's possible to guess who's band this is. It's Bentley's band, in a gay mood after the Livonia team scored the only touchdown of the game to win, 6 to 0.

PLYMOUTH'S CHEER LEADERS were a hard-working crew—and so was the football team—but it just wasn't Plymouth's night to conquer.

COACH MIKE HOBEN, who never before in his coaching career had suffered an evening when his team failed to score, sends Quarterback Larry Thomas back into the contest, after a strategy conference on the sidelines.

PLYMOUTH'S SMARTLY-UNIFORMED American Legion color guard hoists the flag before the game.

On a 1950 visit of the Detroit Lions to Dallas, a young Lion fan got a job as helper to the Lions' equipment man. Now six years later, the youngster is one of the top rookies in camp... his name, Don McIlhenny, the Lions' third draft choice from Southern Methodist.

It's Merchants Vs. Romulus In Playoff Finale this Sunday

As the Yanks and Brooklyn battled in New York for the World's Series crown last Sunday afternoon, the Plymouth Merchants and Romulus were at work on a local diamond to determine the winner of the Inter-County Baseball League's post-season playoffs.

While Romulus could have captured the title by winning the game, they were defeated by the Merchants 4-3 and thereby brought on another playoff game set for this Sunday.

The two-game "knockout" tournament was being led by Romulus without a defeat. Plymouth had lost one game earlier in the play—and that was to Romulus. The score of that tight game was 2-1.

Now that both teams have lost one game each, Sunday's contest will finish the playoffs. Game time is 2:30 at Romulus. The toss of a coin last Sunday determined the game site.

Errors played a major role in deciding the game. Plymouth bobbled four while Romulus erred twice.

In the first inning, Romulus scored once with a hit and error. Don Thompson of Plymouth tied it up with a home run.

A hit and two more errors brought in two more Romulus runs in the second inning. Not until the last of the eighth did Plymouth pull the game out of the fire. Their three hits and an error scored three runs.

Ed Hock of Plymouth pitched the entire game, giving up eight hits, striking out five and walking two. The Romulus hurler, Martin, gave up seven hits, struck out seven and walked three. Martin is a former minor league pitcher.

Rocks to Face Trojans Friday

The Plymouth grid squad travels to Trenton tomorrow night to take on the league leading Trojans, who were undefeated last year and have continued their win streak through their first three games this season.

The Rocks are due to win this week if their win one, lose one, schedule holds up. So far they have beaten Northville, lost to Allen Park, beaten Belleville and lost to Bentley. Another win is due tomorrow night.

Coach Mike Hoben's Team will face a highly regarded Trojan eleven directed by Neil Van Riper, a veteran of six years on the Trenton coaching staff. Fourteen returning letter men bolster the Trenton team, which has not tasted defeat in league play since 1954.

So far this season Trenton has beaten Belleville 7-6, Redford Union 31-13 and Allen Park 12-6. The Trojans, like the Rocks, operate out of a "T" formation. When the whistle blows tomorrow night Plymouth will be looking to snap the Trenton win streak as well as avenge the 18-6 loss they suffered at the hands of the Trojans last year.

Jim Doran, veteran Detroit Lion end and "gentleman farmer" from Iowa, eagerly looks forward to football each year. "Those government subsidies get me all confused. I always want to get back to something I know and can understand... football."

Crowd Finds Big Shortage Of Bleachers

Hundreds of spectators stood throughout the entire night at the Plymouth-Bentley football game Friday, a tribute to their endurance but a reflection on the facilities offered by the host school. The crowd encircled the gridiron for its entire distance and at times blocked the vision of the players on the benches. Tickets sold for 75 cents at the gate.

About half the crowd came from Livonia and those persons doubtless were most aware of the lack of seats. Bentley has a field with about triple the seating capacity, plus a new set of lights that was contributed to Bentley by the Livonia Rotary Club.

Additional bleachers for the field might provide a satisfying prospect for a Plymouth service club.

Additional handicaps for following the game were yard markers that are too small; lined yardlines that were barely visible; and an acute shortage of programs with which to check player numbers.

It was a cracking-good high school football game, however.

Bentley's 6-0 victory broke a string of five consecutive annual defeats Plymouth had given its Livonia neighbor.

Plymouth so completely dominated the first half of the game that it had 9 first downs to 0 for Bentley; 169 yards by rushing to 30 for Bentley. The second half was almost even—statistically—but Livonia got the only touchdown of the night.

ONE OF the top prospects of the University of Delaware football squad this year is Denny Luker, son of former Plymouthites Mr. and Mrs. Finis Luker. The Lukers moved to Cranford, New Jersey about two years ago. Denny, who starred with the Plymouth high school team, is a top sophomore prospect for left halfback. His picture recently appeared in newspapers after his outstanding showing in scrimmage with Army.

SUSAN GODDARD, senior at Stephens college in Columbia, Missouri, has been elected to represent her residence, Fielding Smith hall, on the Bural Evaluations committee. Bural is the religious program at Stephens. Miss Goddard is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Goddard, 12221 Beck road.

FORMERLY RESIDENTS of Plymouth and Northville, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hiler, now of White Cloud, Michigan, sent along a picture taken from the Fremont, (Mich.) Times-Indicator showing that they grow big puffball mushrooms up there too. They had seen the picture in The Mail several weeks ago of the puffball found by a Plymouthite and wanted to report that they have eaten them by frying them in butter and seasoning like mushrooms.

AWARDED an all-expense trip to St. Paul in November to participate in the diamond anniversary jubilee of Brown & Bigelow was Edward Harrington, 14061 Ridgewood drive. A representative of the world's largest calendar house, Harrington and his wife will see some of the country's leading entertainers as well as figures in the graphic arts and sales fields.

Club Promoting Benefit Luncheon

The Warren Extension club is promoting a luncheon to be held at the Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds in Belleville, Wednesday, October 17, at 1 p.m. for benefit of the 4-H kitchen project.

The present kitchen, housed in a large building on the fairgrounds, is inadequately equipped to serve the upwards of 1,000 dinners necessary during the annual 4-H fairs held in August. All 4-H clubs in Wayne county display their year's achievements including cooking, sewing, many handicrafts, horse judging and showmanship entries, at this time with 95 per cent of the 4-H youngsters eating at the "extension" kitchen. Proceeds from the sale of luncheon tickets will help provide adequate cooking and serving facilities in the kitchen which is still incomplete at this time.

A delicious menu, prizes and gifts from manufacturers will be included in the price of luncheon tickets which may be obtained from any member of the Warren Extension group or from Mrs.

William Norman, general chairman, at Plymouth 1553-W.

With Plymouthites In Service

Patrick M. Roedding, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Roedding of 675 Sunset, Plymouth, Mich., graduated from recruit training September 22 at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The nine weeks of "boot camp" included drill and instruction in seamanship, gunnery, life saving, sea survival, boat handling, and the use of small arms.

Following two weeks leave, graduates will report to shipboard duties or service schools depending on the qualifications each has demonstrated.

Buyers of Plymouth should try to keep their money in Plymouth as long as possible. Every little bit helps.

Burt Boyar IN NEW YORK

The First First Night!!!!

The limousines draw up to the Ambassador Theater... Out hop the tuxedos and black slouch hats... Behind them gaily trip the little evening dresses cuddled with furs and jewels... Crowds of sight-seers, held back by the police, glimpse the Lucky Ones—Paul Douglas, Billy Rose, The Ed Sullivans, Dave Garroway, Anne Miller, and Walter Winchell, just a few of the First Nighters who arrive all shined up for the 1956 Broadway Season... The critics, among them John Chapman in a light grey flannel suit with black satin tuxedo lapels, bounce smilingly back to work, waving at each other, laughing, hello-ing old pals. Their club is in session again... "The Loud Red Patrick" is the occasion. The first play of the year... No event attracts such a chic crowd as a play opening... The ladies compete with each other with the help of Dior and Givenchy and little items such as a mink lined mink. Yes, you read it right. Brown on the outside and snowy white within. (Satin is so common!)

THE BUZZER SOUNDED... Backstage the actors were kissing one another for good luck, crossing their fingers, their eyes their hearts, anything, just so it's a hit... The stage manager acts stern... He calls, "Places Places, please!"... Someone's gotta be in control of himself... Telegrams from Hammersteins, Berlins, Porters, Shuberts, Kaufmans, Harts and flowers keep pouring in... Out front the producer is being wished well by his friends... He hears the warning buzzer and his stomach drops a mile... The house lights fade and the curtain rises... This is it!... $100,000 it at stake... $100,000?... How about the weeks and weeks of sixteen hours-a-day work that are about to do or die?... How about the name on a marquee? Will it stay there?... In the little 20 foot lobby he walks miles... He's seen his show a hundred times in rehearsal, at out of town tryouts... He's eaten it, slept it, drunk it... What's the point in seeing it again? He can't tell anything anymore. Too close to it... Besides, who can sit still in a seat?

He waits for the laughs... They come on schedule... He holds his breath, "It's going all right"... Suddenly there's a laugh they didn't expect... He wonders what's wrong... and worse, yet, the audience didn't even notice the funniest line in the play... The curtain goes down on Act I... The crowd comes pouring out for intermission... Someone who looks like William Paley is caught in the subway-like crowd, "I don't want a cigarette this bad," he says... The producer mingles with the crowd, hoping to catch an opinion... He strains in every direction tuning into three conversations at once... They're saying, "That dress Sally is wearing is from last year," "We have a table at Morocco and why don't you join us after this is over"... The audience goes back in again, and out again and in again and finally, for the last time they leave their seats.

Friends pat him on the back, grab his hand and while pumping it, say, "Looks like you've got a hit on your hands"... "I don't know about these crazy critics, but if they didn't like this one then something's wrong somewhere"... The producer has said this himself... And, at every hit... At every flop that ever came to Broadway... The show's press agent stands with the producer as the crowd thins out... the porter is sweeping the now-empty lobby... Char-women are pushing all the seats up, looking for lost gloves, picking up crumpled Playbills... The house lights go out... The curtain is up... Only a single work light in the middle of the empty stage illuminates the theater... The producer and his family leave for a place where most of the cast and production staff will assemble to wait for the notices... The press agent tells them he'll join them later and that he'll call them with the first news he can get... He knows someone on the city desk who'll read him the critic's review as soon as it's turned in to be set in type.

At Sardi's they wait out the crisis... They laugh, eat, drink, but mostly they wait... Finally, at 1:30, Valentine, the maitre d', runs in with the first copies of the New York Times under his arm, still wet from the presses next door... The page on which the review appears is marked on the front of the paper... They grab for them and begin reading... Someone reads out loud for the benefit of those who don't have a paper... "Last night at the Ambassador Theater 'The Loud Red Patrick' opened. Arthur Kennedy and David Wayne, the stars of this... Everyone is reading or listening... Well, almost everyone... At another table a sugar daddy doesn't even notice these crazy people. He's too busy convincing his date, "Now, look doll, of course I'll buy you that mink..."

NEW BOOKS At The Wayne County

Added this week to the collection at Plymouth branch, Wayne County library, were some 18 new books. The list includes: Joseph McSorley's "Outline History of the Church by Centuries," Glenn Tucker's biographical account of "Tecumseh: Vision of Glory," "Community Planning" edited by Herbert L. Marx, Jr., 34th edition of "Heating, Ventilating, Air conditioning Guide, 1956"

Grange Cleanings

We expect to have a big crowd at the bazaar and the dinner tomorrow-have you bought your ticket yet? Serving at 5 and 6 p.m. or as near that time as is possible. The hall will be open on Thursday evening at seven o'clock for a while, so those who wish to bring in their articles for the Bazaar may do so.

Our National Grange Monthly has both the presidential parties farm "planks" explained in detail and they are well worth studying. Maintenance of world peace is a major Grange objective and for 90-years it has been a great force for the betterment of its members and mankind.

At our next meeting on October 18 we are to have something different in the line of a program, so be sure to come and see what it is. It will give you a pleasant evening.

Those who wish to take out Blue Cross insurance must sign the application cards this month. Apply at the home of the Blue Cross secretary, Mrs. E. Vealey.

Plan Weekend Campout

Kent Lake will be the destination of Boy Scout Troop P-3, sponsored by the Plymouth Rotary club, which has a campout planned for this weekend. The troop is headed by Ferris Mathias as scoutmaster.

Four from the troop were chosen to usher with other Plymouth Scouts at the Michigan-Michigan State football game in Ann Arbor last Saturday, their election based on ability in wig-wag signaling.

Other newcomers included "Social Security, Fact and Fancy" by Dillard Stokes, Leonard L. Levinson's "The Complete Book of Low Calorie Cooking," "The Face of New York," photo account of the city as it was and is today by Andreas Feininger;

Pocket book edition of Moses Hadas' "History of Rome," its origins to 529 A.D. based on writings of Roman historians; Yates and Anderson's "Synchronized Swimming" and Joan P. Priolo's "Designs and How to Use Them." Library patrons will also find "Dear Mad'm" by Stella W. Patterson, D. W. Brogan's "Politics in America," our political system and how it works today; "Interior Electric Wiring and Estimating, Part II, Industrial," American Technical Society book by Kenneth C. Graham.

Concluding the shipment were Eagle on the Sun," novel of the Mexican War by Julia Davis; "Illustrated History of England" by G. M. Trevelyan, Frank G. Slaughter's "The Scarlet Cord," concerning the woman of Jericho; "A Handweaver's Workbook" by Heather G. Thorpe.

Grange Re-Elects Nearly All 5 Officers

With the exception of one, Plymouth Grange No. 389 re-elected its entire slate of 1955-56 officers to preside over the organization's activities during the coming year. Newcomer to the list of previous officers was Minnie McConnell, who will serve as lecturer. The local Grange again will be headed by John Oldenberg as worthy master. Other officers are as follows:

Kenneth Lunn, worthy overseer; George Loomis, steward; Charles Riemas, assistant steward; Mollie Tracy, chaplain; Harold Gates, gate keeper; Hilda Lunn, secretary; Vivian Wise, treasurer; Loretta Wilson, Ceres; Evelyn Fischer, Pomona; Emma Schifle, Flora; Bessie Salow, lady assistant steward. The annual election was held last Thursday evening in the Grange hall. Installation will take place in November.

National Observance Urges Letter Writing

National Letter Writing Week is again being celebrated in Plymouth and the nation this week. Postmaster George Timpona said today. Each year since 1938 the event has been observed as a reminder of the real meaning of a personal letter. "We all know the human importance of letter writing," the postmaster declared, "the way in which it holds scattered families together, of giving comfort and love and news to all the people of the land. We in America have the privilege of uncensored and unlimited means of communication. With this in mind, I am urging all citizens to join in this national observance."

Serve Guests
This Delicious
"Mystery Cake"

Taking the spotlight this week is a "Mystery Cake," favorite in the Sylvester Cooper household at 11691 Amherst court in Plymouth Hills.

Noteworthy is the delicious flavoring of this dessert, which falls in the spice cake category, and its creamy smooth frosting. Homemakers who find themselves caught short on a glance at the recipe box will be glad to know here's a recipe they can whip up without benefit of this ingredient usually required in cakes. Biggest surprise of all is the can of tomato soup, mainstay of the recipe which is given below:

Mystery Cake

- 1 cup sugar
  - 2 tablespoons butter or vegetable shortening
  - 1 can tomato soup
  - 1 teaspoon soda
  - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
  - 1 teaspoon cloves
  - 1 teaspoon nutmeg
  - 1/2 cups flour
  - 1/2 cup of nutmeats
  - 1 cup raisins
- Cream together butter and sugar, add soup. Add dry ingredients sifted three times. Beat well and add raisins and nuts. Bake 30 minutes at 375 degrees.

Preparing "Mystery Cake" from a recipe which belonged to her mother is Mrs. Sylvester Cooper of 11691 Amherst court.

Cream Cheese Frosting
3-ounce package of Philadelphia cream cheese
1 cup powdered sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
Let cheese stand until soft. Add powdered sugar and cream together, then add vanilla.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Koi, Harold Wilson, Robert Wilson, Gwen Holcombe, Adah Langmaid, Maxine Kunz and Marie Thompson attended the 17th District meeting at the Livonia Myron Beals post on Friday, October 5. Guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Burr on Department level. Burr, is department chairman of Education and Scholarship in the past and Mrs. Burr, Auxiliary Department chaplain. Marie Kidie is Third Zone vice president.

Several members of the post and unit will attend the Fall conference held at Benton Harbor, October 12-13. Also attending will be Department President Ann Gilman and Department Secretary Catherine Wassall.

Remember tonight is the Auxiliary meeting at 8 p.m. in the Veterans Community center. Important meeting, so plan to attend.

Next Juniors meeting will be October 17, 3:30 p.m. in the Sunroom at the Veterans Community center. The Juniors are planning a Halloween party for all the post and auxiliary children (all ages) on Saturday, October 27, from 3 to 5 p.m. Let's have a good turnout for the kids party. It will be held in the basement rooms of the Veterans center. The Juniors are also planning a Silent Auction sale in conjunction with the Auxiliary Linen party, Thursday October 25, at 8 p.m. in the Veterans Community center. The Juniors are a small group and do not have many ways to make money, so we hope this project will go over big.

Let's have a good crowd at the auxiliary's Linen party, October 25. Many lovely items are to be shown. Mrs. Hazel Quisenbury will again be hostess. This is also open to the public, and they are cordially welcomed.

Dinner is being served! Have you gotten your tickets yet? The price is reasonable for our "S.O.S." Dinner! Featured prize is a $25 bond. Make this dinner a success, see you there October 20.

Remember our Auxiliary Rummage sale, on October 26-27, at the veterans center in the basement.

Remember the visit to Ann Arbor V.A. hospital. Meet at 7:30, usual place. Let's see more of you boys! We had a wonderful visit last month.

The post and unit will have a Halloween party Saturday, October 27, starting at 9. More details later. It will be held in the basement at the Vets center.

"Vote November 6!" This is the appeal being made by Americanism Chairman Mrs. Bern Burleson and Robert Wilson. The auxiliary is working with the American Legion and other patriotic and civic organizations to make all citizens realize that voting is a primary duty of American citizenship.

"If you don't vote, you aren't counted and don't count as much of an American" emphasize the chairmen.

★ ROTC Cadet Honored

Robert W. Middleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Ryder, 9225 Joy Road, Plymouth, was one of the eighty-six ROTC cadets at Western Michigan College, Kalamazoo, who received an academic achievement wreath denoting a 3.00 average during the last year.

Middleton, a sophomore, will wear the wreath on his ROTC uniform during the next year.

WORKING among the mums in her garden is Mrs. William Haas, who started with a small garden in Detroit and expanded it in Plymouth. She keeps all of her plants accurately labeled.

Son's Death Led to Start
Of Quarter-Acre Garden

Her son's death in World War II has probably made Mrs. William Haas, 15594 Bradner road, the community's most enthusiastic flower gardener. She can only hazard a guess as to how many plants she has in her quarter-acre garden behind her home. She had planted 1,500 new mums alone this year and now has 50 varieties. Besides the mums which are now in bloom, she has asters, day lilies, regel lilies, cinderella daisies and her late son's favorite—iris. Mrs. Haas' son, James Lee Varier, gave her a start of the iris when the family lived in west Detroit. While in the Army, he wrote that he would send enough money home each pay for his mother to buy more iris. James never came home. But his monthly insurance checks did and from that money Mrs. Haas purchased more and more iris bulbs. Five years ago Mr. and Mrs. Haas moved to the half-acre lot and home on Bradner road and Mrs. Haas brought along her iris. Now she has "thousands." "First I had just a little garden," she recalled, "and each year it got bigger and bigger and the lawn got smaller." Weed pulling, of course, is the big part of the job. Now that she all of the flowers, Mrs. Haas is wondering what to do next. She is now seriously thinking of going into the flower selling business, but by living on a secondary road, she doesn't expect much business. But after all, when one enjoys a hobby, lack of business fails to dampen the enthusiasm.

Basic Dress, Answer To "Budget Problem"

Consider the basic dress as the new addition to your wardrobe this season. It may be your answer to the budget problem.

Actually, a basic dress is just what the word "basic" implies, claims Nina Lou Baird, Wayne County Home Demonstration agent. The basic dress is one which goes equally well to a football game, to church, to tea or to dinner. In other words, it is a dress with a great deal of versatility... dressed up or down as you may wish by accessories.

She points out that the truly basic dress will be one with simple lines and without noticeable decorative detail. It will not have a novelty collar, or important pockets, or contrasting buttons. So, you see, it is a garment that is not remembered. It will have sleeves, or else a matching jacket or bolero. So, that with the jacket it is appropriate for street wear. Without the jacket, the dress could be just what you might want for dinner and an evening out.

If the "basic" dress has a classic line, it will not look dated for many years. That is a help for any clothing budget.

Most certainly a basic dress is an addition to a wardrobe that serves both convenience and economy. It is excellent for the traveler, for the working woman... in fact, any woman could find such a dress a convenient wardrobe item.

Colors for basics, as a general rule, will be dull and/or dark. Many of this fall's sober colors are especially good for a basic dress. The colors most popular are black, beige, brown, dark gray and dull green. All of these are wise choices for a basic dress, providing the color is a becoming one to your complexion.

For a basic dress, some of the transitional cottons are satisfactory. So are the woolen jerseys and soft-ribbed fabrics, as well as the woolen broadcloths and wool crepes... to mention a few possibilities open to you.

Madonna Grad Writes of Farm Life in France

EDITOR'S NOTE: Gloria Laginess, 1956 Madonna College graduate, has been staying in four regions of France over the summer time as an International Farm Youth Exchange delegate. Below she relates some of her experiences on a farm near Panjas, approximately 20 miles from Spain.

"My new family, Mama and Papa Dabadie, and their 23-year-old daughter, Christine, were eagerly awaiting my arrival. This is the Basque Pyrenees country and most beautiful. All the farms are built on the mountain tops with their grainfields spread below. Along the tiny trails grow huge pine trees, large green ferns and many wild berries and flowers.

"I arrived just in time to help with the bean harvesting, which is a chief crop in this area. The beans are spread out on canopies in the sun where they are beat with long poles to break them loose from their shell. They are then turned over and over, by hand, and beat several times again. This is continued for three days, the beans finally being separated and bagged for market.

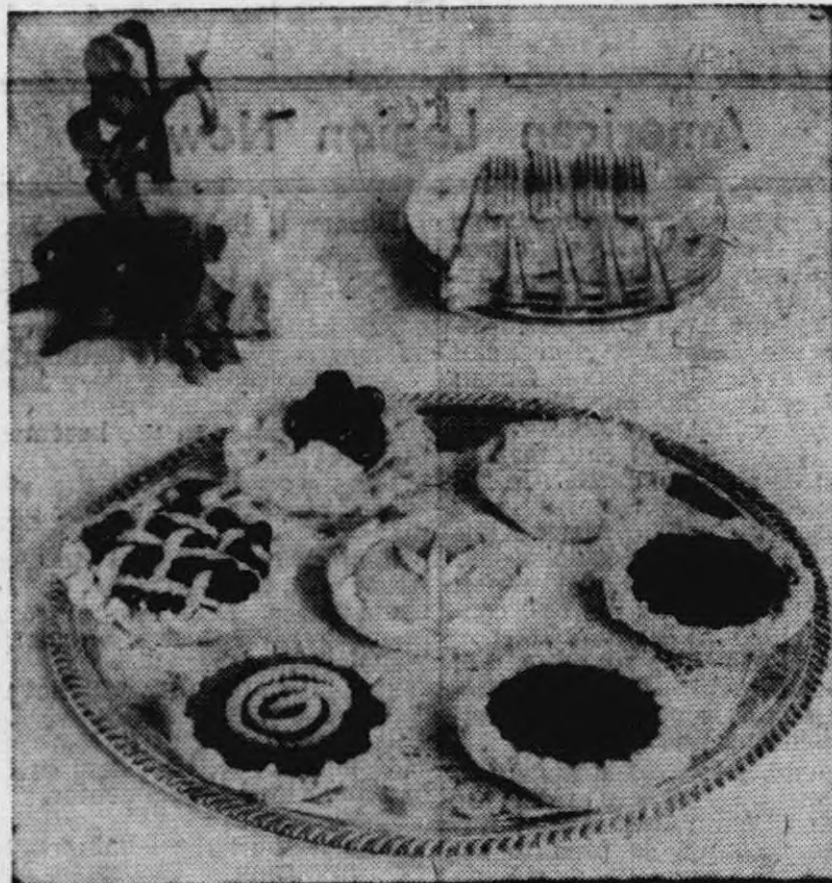

"Homes in the south are very different from other sections of France. They have huge cement slab floors and large wooden beams for ceilings, in the kitchen, a long wooden table with benches along the side. On one side of the room is their cooking range with a huge oven built in the cement wall. A standard in every home is a big grandfather clock which extends from the floor to the ceiling, and a front view window enclosed with big, heavy shutters.

"Mama has very little time for cooking, so one hot meal is prepared a day and the evening meal is eaten cold. Mama, who is Spanish, wasn't too keen about having an American living in her home. At first she couldn't see why I didn't drink wine like the rest, but after I complimented her on her delicious pastry, she forgot about the wine and thinks Americans are pretty nice people after all.

"Washing of clothes is a most interesting process, one I think an American housewife might find rather difficult. First the clothes are scrubbed with soap on a big board or stone slab. Afterwards they are carried about a half a mile to a creek where they are rinsed five times by ringing them out and slapping them against the stones.

"It is spring water and as cold as ice, but the clothes are very clean and white looking when finished. We then carry them back to the yard where they are hung on lines to dry. It may be necessary to make two or three trips to the creek before a washing is completed. Most homes have electric irons, but I have never seen an ironing board—a table serves the purpose."

Mayonnaise that has separated can be blended into a smooth mixture once again by beating up a whole egg or egg yolk and very gradually adding the separated mayonnaise to it.

Harvest Tables Welcome Golden Pastry Shell Desserts

Autumn time is harvest time and during the season when tables abound with good things from golden fields, dainty desserts in flaky, golden pastry are especially welcome at the end of a meal. Individual pies, filled to their tender brims with pumpkin, for example—or with seasonal fruits, can be made, not only to please the palate, but to delight the eye as well.

There are infinite ways to give eye-appeal to these sweet varieties: Surround their rims with overlapping pastry rounds, pastry petal cut-outs or a pastry braid and bake to a rich golden brown. Fill the shells with delicate cream fillings — butterscotch, almond, vanilla or chocolate—and sprinkle the light creams with flaked coconut, the dark creams with shaved chocolate. Family and guests can be fancy free in their selections.

Whether your pies are large or small, two-crust, lattice-topped or open-faced, they should be made with rich, tender, delicious pastry. The following recipe for golden pastry makes four 3-3/4 inch two-crust pies or eight 3-3/4 inch one-crust pies or baked shells.

GOLDEN PASTRY
2 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour
3/4 cup golden vegetable shortening
1 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons water

In a mixing bowl combine flour and salt. With a pastry blender or two knives cut in shortening until mixture looks like coarse cornmeal. Sprinkle water over mixture, one tablespoon at a time, and mix lightly with fork until all flour is moistened. With the hands gather dough into a ball and divide it in half.

LATTICE-TOPPED TARTS
On a lightly-floured board roll out half the pastry at a time 1/4 inch thick and cut it into 6 inch rounds. Line small pie pans with pastry rounds, leaving pastry overhanging edge of pans by 1/4 inch. Fill pans with sliced fruit or berries and sprinkle the fruit with a mixture of sugar and flour, using about 2 tablespoons sugar and 1 teaspoon flour for each tiny pie. Add a little grated lemon rind, a sprinkle of lemon juice and a dash of nutmeg or cinnamon. Weave thin strips of pastry over fruit and trim. Turn over, hanging pastry over ends of strips and flute the edge. Bake at 400° F. for about 20 minutes, or until fruit is tender and pastry is golden brown.

GOLDEN TART SHELLS
On a lightly-floured board roll out half the pastry at a time 1/4 inch thick and cut it into 6 inch rounds. Line small pie pans with pastry rounds, leaving pastry overhanging edge of pans by 1/4 inch. Turn edge under and press it against edge of pans. The edge if moistened with cold water, may be decorated with pastry cutouts. Three thin strands of pastry, twisted into a braid make an attractive edging. Prick pastry with fork tines and bake at 400° F. for 10 to 12 minutes, or until golden brown. Cool and fill with one of the following creams.

VANILLA CREAM
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
2 tablespoons cornstarch
3 egg yolks
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2/3 cup sugar
1 tablespoon golden shortening

Blend flour, cornstarch, salt and sugar in a saucepan. Stir in milk and bring to a boil over low heat. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Stir in the egg yolks lightly beaten with a little of the hot sauce and cook, stirring over low heat for 2 minutes. Stir in vanilla and shortening. Cool slightly and pour into baked tart shells.

PUMPKIN CREAM
Use Vanilla Cream recipe above but stir in 1 cup canned pumpkin alternately with the milk. One half teaspoon each of nutmeg and ginger may be added.

CHOCOLATE CREAM
Use Vanilla Cream recipe above but increase sugar to 3/4 cup and add 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, shaved, along with the milk.

BUTTERSCOTCH CREAM
Use Vanilla Cream recipe above but use 3/4 cup brown sugar in place of the 2/3 cup sugar.

Cotton Correct For Formal, Informal Room

Color balance is the secret of unity in living room interiors, according to a well-known New York designer.

"At least a suggestion of the dominant color should be repeated in various parts of the room," he advises.

The New York interior designer who has created decorative schemes for hotels, restaurants, theaters and executives' homes on both sides of the Atlantic, says the basic color should be selected by the client rather than by a consultant.

"The people who live in the house should decide the color they want," he says.

Single Color for Unity

"Unity is achieved by having all the walls and ceiling the same color and by proper use of fabrics with an eye to color balance," the expert states. "The room would be unbalanced if the most conspicuous colors were concentrated in only one area. You should repeat at least a suggestion of the same color in other parts of the room, so that the room won't look top-heavy."

While each room should have unity in itself, it is not necessary to carry the same colors throughout the house in order to produce a balanced interior, the designer adds.

Either formal or informal decor can be appropriate in the living room, and cotton is correct for either style.

Cotton Is Favorite

"Cotton is a favorite of mine," the interior designer says. "I use it for both formal and informal schemes. Cotton prints, for example, are said to make a room informal, but I don't agree; they are effective for rooms of great style and formality."

"Printed cottons also are as effective for key fabrics in a formal setting as any other type fabric. Cottons do not automatically make a room formal or informal. The nature of the design determines, formality or informality not the nature of the fabric itself."

In addition to the high styling of contemporary cotton fabrics, the advantage of cotton for home decoration is its easy washability, according to the specialist.

Take Good Look at Hangtags Before Buying New Garments

Hangtags on new garments should be carefully studied, according to experts at research and educational center for the professional laundry industry.

With the growing popularity of cotton in sportswear, the problems of chlorine retentive finishes continue to grow. Garments whose hangtags warn against bleaching in chlorine bleaches probably will be ruined if the directions are not followed.

Wrinkle-resistant finishes especially should be watched. White garments must be bleached to retain their whiteness. If they have been finished to be "wrinkle resistant" they should be bleached with a perborate type bleach. These bleaches can be identified by the label marking "Safe for Wools and Silks."

The ease in caring for "minimum care" garments can be questioned. Textile and laundering authorities point out that many hangtags on these garments are as extensive as text books. Some tags carry seven-or-eight step washing directions and run from 100 to 200 words. The results promised on the tag usually are Housewives are advised that highly qualified.

Bleaching Damage
The "wrinkle resistant" type of cotton garments, so popular this season have given some plantowners quite a headache.

A number of these blouses and shirts which fell apart during pressing were studied. It was found that the damage, in most cases, can be traced to excessive bleaching at home.

These cottons acquire this "wrinkle resistant" quality after being treated with some types of resin. Unfortunately, such resin picks up chlorine in home bleach such as Chlorox, Oxol, or Lincon, and cannot be rinsed out. Furthermore, when these garments are ironed at home, the resin does not get hot enough to release the chlorine held. If these garments are then taken to a laundry, and are dried thoroughly during pressing, the chlorine will be released, causing the garments to fall apart.

Cathedral Window Dramatic

A 12-foot-high ponderosa pine cathedral window and a large, roofed patio are among the unique features of this contemporary design by Rudolph A. Matern.

The window, located in the living room, dominates the whole house. It gives a pervasive feeling of spaciousness and luxury.

The living room occupies a separate wing, for gracious entertaining. It has the added charm of a wood-burning fireplace and an open-beam ceiling.

The work and sleeping areas are set apart for quiet and privacy. The bedrooms can be entered from the front entrance without crossing the living room. One room opens directly off the foyer, and can be used as a den, play room, or family room.

The kitchen's "L" shaped work area saves time and steps. There is a breakfast nook and a separate lavatory. The lavatory serves not only the kitchen, but the basement and outdoors, important when there are small children. The patio is ideally suited for summer entertaining. It can be entered directly from the dining room or living room and is close to the kitchen for convenient serving of food.

The cathedral window is the focal point of the exterior. It is flanked by a stone veneer wall on one side and a vertical-boarded entrance on the other. The long roof overhang lends greater "dimension" to the house, while the lighter color of the fire-resistant asphalt shingle roof gives added "height."

The architect suggests that the open-beam cathedral ceiling be insulated with 3-inch-thick mineral wool blankets to keep out the heat of the sun in summer and keep in costly warmth in winter.

This house is from the Home-Master Plan Book. Blueprints are available from Rudolph A. Matern, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 32, L. I., N. Y. Refer to Plan No. 9451T.

Plan Windows Early in Building

Because windows affect the comfort of people both physically and psychologically, they deserve much consideration in the early planning stages of a house, according to the University of Illinois Small Homes Council in a new circular, "Window Planning Principles."

The first of a series of three publications on windows, this circular sets forth principles for their selection and placement from the standpoint of daylight, ventilation, view and appearance. Its suggestions include:

- Provide glass areas in excess of 20 per cent of the floor area of each room.
- Place principal window areas toward the south.
- Group window openings in the wall to eliminate undesirable contrasts in brightness.
- Use windows in more than one wall for greater admission and better distribution of daylight.
- Place the window as high in the wall as possible to lengthen the depth of light penetration into the room.
- Do not specify corner windows or bay windows as a means to increase daylight effectiveness of the window.
- Screen only those parts of the window that open for ventilation — full screens can absorb as much as 50 per cent of available daylight; half screens only 15 per cent.
- Finish ceilings and walls in light colors to take advantage of light distribution by reflection.
- Mount draperies, curtains, shades, and other window hangings above the head and to the side of the window frame.
- Provide ventilation openings in excess of 10 per cent of the floor area of a room.
- Locate the horizontal ventilation opening to take full advantage of prevailing breezes.
- Locate windows to effect best air movement across the room and within the level where occupants sit and stand.
- Plan landscaping, interior partitions, and furniture so they do not interfere with air movement.
- Minimize obstructions in the line of sight by using fixed glass except where ventilation must be provided.
- Determine sill heights on the basis of room use and furniture arrangement.

The Council suggests the use of fixed glass in combination with one or more operating units to achieve unobstructed view, effective means of ventilation, good daylighting, and pleasing appearance.

The window planning circular presents results of a study financed by the Lumber Dealers Research Council. Walter H. Lewis is author of the circular, with Director James T. Lendum, Prof. Rudard A. Jones, and Prof. William H. Kapple as consultants; Maxine Kennedy, editor; and J. J. Sorbie, illustrator.

Antique That Old Piece to Mellow it

Antiquing or glazing a surface to give it a mellow look, is done by applying a tinted glazing liquid to a painted, enameled or stained surface. The glazing liquid, mixed with a little raw or burnt umber — depending upon the tone you want — is usually brushed on, then blended out with a piece of cheesecloth.

The uneven areas, where there is moulding or carving, are often left darker. Flat areas are highlighted by removing the glazing liquid from them almost entirely. Before beginning a major project, better practice a little on a small unimportant area. Or, if you happen to have an old piece of furniture you don't like, use it for practice. You'll be pleasantly surprised with the results.

QUACK GRASS
After your garden is fairly clear is a good time to get rid of quackgrass. The use of dalapon as a herbicide is recommended, but only where you do not want to save any plantings. Dalapon kills lawn grasses and most vegetation. For best results the quack should be green and growing when dalapon is applied as a spray. It has a residual action of 3-4 weeks and nothing should be sown in treated soil during this period. A fall garden application followed by a spring pre-spading treatment should effectively control quack grass.

Ladies, Take a Bow!
72% of the paint used to bring color to the interior of homes is selected by the mother or daughter of the family. Father and son are way down the line with 18.7%. The landlord and painting contractor account for the remaining 9.3%.

Heating Plant For Action Soon; Checked it Lately?

The average home heating system north of the Mason-Dixon line will be in operation 2,010 hours this winter, or approximately 10 times longer than the average homeowner's car.

The official heating season in the typical northern city lasts 257 days from September 21 to June 4, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau. During this period, the average homeowner will run his automobile only 195 hours, yet he will spend considerably more time servicing his car than his heating system.

The Bureau cites this comparison as a means of emphasizing the importance of servicing for the heating system and the necessity of keeping the system in good operating condition for the long run ahead.

The comparison between heating plants and automobiles also highlights the fact that too many prospective buyers take the heating plant for granted, failing to check carefully into merits and demerits of the heating plant when debating purchase of a home.

Not infrequently a buyer will take over an older house without even having asked to see the heating plant, or having inquired into its functioning. Located in the basement or utility room where it is out of sight, the heating plant does not have the color or glamor of some other features of a house.

Discriminating purchasers of new homes appreciate the fact that a forced circulation hot water heating system offers many exclusive advantages. The flow of water through the system can be accurately controlled to provide exactly the degree of indoor temperature desired. In many cases the same pipes can be used for the circulation of chilled water for cooling in the summer.

Lavatory Enclosure
AN ENCLOSURE for a lavatory not only will enhance the appearance of the bathroom but will provide additional storage space.

In the plan illustrated, the inside of the door is faced with a Masonite "Peg-Board" panel.

Various items can be stored on it by means of metal hooks and fixtures which fit into the various holes. Both the perforated panel and fixtures are available at lumber yards.

The "Peg-Board" panel serves also to keep the enclosure ventilated.

Sides and bottom of the cabinet are Masonite Tempered Presdwood, a material which withstands wear and the high humidities of bathrooms.

VISIT: OUR YARD and NEW DISPLAY ROOM . . . CHUCK FULL OF IDEAS for EVERY NEED.

HOME OWNERS QUESTION BOX

Q—Our house has high ceilings and large rooms. Can I do anything to improve its appearance without making structural changes?
A—Yes. Paint the ceilings dark. In the same way that a dark roof of asphalt shingles gives a tall house a lower look, so will a dark paint lower a ceiling. Pattered wallpaper can make rooms seem smaller, too. If you do use wallpaper, pick your ceiling color from the paper, using a dark tone for high ceilings.

Q—I am finishing my expansion attic into two rooms but don't know how to heat it. The furnace doesn't have sufficient capacity for all this extra space. Do I have to buy a new furnace or is there some other kind of equipment that could be used?
A—A wall heater is a good solution to this frequently encountered problem. Engineers at the Coleman Heating Institute, Wichita, Kan., suggest a "dual-wall" model, which fits in the partition between two rooms and delivers heat on both sides. The amount of heat that is delivered to each room can be controlled. Each room can get half, or one room can get as much as 80 percent while 20 percent goes to the other. The wall heater fits between studs, takes no floor space.

Q—What is the best way to clean a flagstone floor?
A—Wash the flagstone with a 5 percent solution of muriatic acid, being careful to use rubber gloves and a wood-handled brush. Then rinse with clear water and wax.

Q—The latch on our front door doesn't catch when we close the door, although it seems to work with the door open. How can we fix it?
A—The door has probably shrunk. You should remove the door and hinges from the frame, then insert pieces of hard cardboard or thin wood between the hinges and the frame. When you replace the hinges, use longer screws to make up for the added thickness.

Q—What area will one roll of wallpaper cover?
A—In figured paper, you can usually estimate that a single roll will cover 30 square feet.

Health and Beauty

CANCERS OF THE SKIN
You have all seen people with patches of various sizes over their faces. You found out later that they were suffering from skin cancers from which some of them eventually died.

Most of these people at first had neglected sores or rough places on their skin. Instead of consulting trained, intelligent physicians they had gone to quacks, who had likely applied irritating salves or ointments to the lesions, and thus set them on the road to an eating cancer.

At first, such conditions are precancerous and, in the right hands could be cured with comparative ease. If you have a mole on your person that becomes easily irritated, or a small growth, or a sore spot of any kind that does not heal, go at once to a physician. Remember that procrastination could cost you a lingering death.

Research workers have produced skin cancers on mice by applying irritant substances such as tar, acrid oil, tobacco, and other substances.

Farmers and sailors whose skin is constantly exposed to the sunlight are prone to suffer from skin cancers. The actinic rays of the sun can prove very detrimental to the skins of white people, especially blondes. This is because they lack the protective pigment in their skin, which is supplied so abundantly to the African race.

It is very stupid and even dangerous to expose the bodies of infants and tender young children to prolonged and direct sunlight. Sunshine in moderation is conducive to health, but the sun-tan fad, carried to extremes can prove very painful and even dangerous when improperly administered.

Watch scars, burns, and sores which do not heal. They are all potential cancers.

There are numerous cancers among clay-pipe smokers, due to the heat of the stem and the irritating properties of nicotine. Cancer of the throat and lungs is not uncommon among smokers.

Beware of advertisements for cancer cures. Many a poor sufferer has thrown his money away when at a time when there was still enough time for a cure.

Do not neglect injuries or burns to the skin no matter how trivial. A neglected cigarette burn, especially to the lip, has been known to cause cancer.

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

What goes on under HIS flat-top crew-cut?

If girls with date-doubts could only read their boyfriends' minds, it might prevent a lot of wishing and wondering. In today's mail, a girl asks.

Q—"Dear Elinor: I want with a boy for four and a half months. We broke up about three weeks ago. Since then, he hasn't been going with any special girl and has called me a few times. I am not sure that he still likes me. How can I find out if he likes me and how much? I'd appreciate your help because I like him very much."

A—He still calls you, so he must like you. Boys don't call girls they don't like!

So why worry about it—or wonder "how much?"

Just take things as they come, with this boy, because it sounds as if he might not yet be sure how he feels, either. Although you two no longer "go steady," apparently he hasn't yet found a girl he likes more than you.

So be casual, but friendly, when he calls. Let him know that it's nice to hear from him and that you enjoy talking with him, but don't try to pin him down to a definite "going steady" arrangement.

Even if you're not "going steady," you could invite him to your home (do it casually, and include another couple) or to a party or girls' dance. You can tell by his refusal or acceptance how much he's really interested in you.

(For free printed tips on "When a Girl Invites a Boy," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.)

Does the doctrine of the equality of mankind include the devious religions of men?

Madonna Paper Wins Top Award

"Newspaper of Distinction"—this is how the Madonna Herald has been rated by the Catholic School Press Association, CSPA. Scoring 955 points out of a possible 1000, Herald has also merited the title, "All Catholic."

Evelyn Pikulski, editor-in-chief, led the HERALD staff to the highest CSPA rating merited consecutively for the fourth time. Other members of the editorial staff were: Adrian Sarniecki, Joan Pustelnik, Ann Clor, Marilyn Kutzb, Mary Jane Swieciak, Dolores Kopaczewski and Carol Ann Butcher.

The campus paper scored excellent on such items as: integration of religion with school activities, publication leadership in Catholic Action, enterprise and service to the school and originality and initiative in encouraging school activities.

News coverage and editorial content of the Herald were rated excellent. The publication was also commended for its feature coverage of interesting persons and places, and for the initiative of the staff in digging up feature or human interest stories from around school.

According to the CSPA, the publication is also excellent in adapting editorials from current news and in writing editorials so as to attract the interest of the reader, without resorting to obvious tricks or an overdose of slang.

The physical appearance, typography and layout design were highly rated as presenting a pleasing appearance to the reader. In addition to attractiveness, the Herald was commended for displaying stories according to their editorial importance, to stimulate interest, and to secure harmony and unity.

Other points that merited excellent rating were: uniformity and consistency in writing style, harmony and variety in headline construction, application of art to news and features and photographic display.

Italian Fashion Houses Prosper By Dressing Woman Past Thirty

By Margaret Anderson
Italy's fashion houses are coining money this season dressing the woman past 30.

And in the process Italian Haute Couture is but definitely ending the dictatorship of Paris — and Christian Dior.

Italian designers have cast out Dior's cherished shibboleths—the rising and falling hemline, the alphabet lines, and the mannequin silhouettes.

The result: Women past 30—and this includes most of the women with big money to lay on the line for Haute Couture—are beating a path around Paris and on to Rome.

Italian clothes adorn the woman; Paris creations dominate her. That is the basic distinction.

Roman fashion houses specialize in dressing the woman as she is—not as Paris says she should be. It is no coincidence that Italian fashion is having its biggest year, and Paris its worst.

Leading the revolt against Dior are Rome's three Fontana sisters. Fashionwise, they represent almost all that Dior detests.

The Fontana girls, having ample figures themselves, are partial to the bosom in fashion. They abhor the idea of trying to robotize the female form into A—and Z—lines.

They shun capricious seasonal shifts of style to satisfy, arbitrarily, a designer's vanity and his purse. In brief, the Fontana sisters are what most American males have been praying for to lead their women out of the Dior fashion wilderness.

The background of the Fontana sisters may explain their success. They are the antithesis of the French Haute Couture aristocracy. Essentially, the sisters are getting working girls up from a small town. In fact they worked as needlewomen in Parma until 1939.

On the eve of World War II, they opened a small shop in Rome, doing most of their own sewing. The sisters had a hard time during the war, but they managed to hang on.

Their chance came in 1944, when Italy was knocked out of the war. Paris was still occupied, and Parisian Haute Couture stifled. The Fontana sisters, along with other Roman fashion designers, rushed to fill the Haute Couture vacuum.

By the time Parisian fashion houses could reopen, the Italians, including the sisters Fontana, were too well entrenched to be dislodged.

Rome's houses of high fashion have continued on their even way, stressing excellence of fabrics, quality workmanship and the artistic flair native to the Italian temperament. But the Italians steadfastly have resisted the fashion gimmicks restored to by Dior and his Paris colleagues.

Now the Fontana sisters, along with other Italian designers, are cashing in. Among the Fontana sisters' regular patrons are Ava Gardner, Linda Christian, Clare

Booth Luce, Margaret Truman Daniels and Elizabeth Taylor.

Fontana creations are constantly on the road in the United States, exhibits being held in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago, and San Francisco.

The sisters still shun the pomp of Parisian Haute Couture. Their shop on the Via Liguria is a converted apartment. They have 110 employees, but only five sewing machines. Even so, the sisters still sew occasionally.

The Italians have been careful to avoid Paris' glittering post-war miscue—disdaining the mass market, particularly in America. While Paris has clung snobbishly to the carriage trade, the Italians have hustled after the department store market.

Rome's couturiers reap prestige from dressing American movie sirens and the continent's dwindling aristocracy. But they make their money on large orders from American department stores such as Bergdorf Goodman, B. Altman and Neiman Marcus.

What Paris still insists is impossible, the Romans have accomplished. The "Made in Italy" label has become a "must" for the chic international lady.

Cystic Fibrosis Becomes New Childhood Enemy

Chances are that many Plymouthites never heard of cystic fibrosis. Some doctors are not even familiar with the ailment.

But it is safe to say that the $64 word and its meaning will become better known because present figures indicate that one out of every 1,000 children born in the nation will be a victim.

At least one Plymouth child is known to have the critical disease. There are other known cases in Northville, Livonia, Wayne and other communities are undoubtedly many unknown cases.

The 7½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Runge, 467 Arthur street, is Plymouth's known case. Her ailment was diagnosed when she was 2½ and the pediatrician at that time claimed that there was no chance for survival.

The Runges later found out that constant medication can keep the child alive and they are joining other parents of known cystic fibrosis sufferers in forming a new organization known as The Michigan Cystic Fibrosis Association, Inc.

In brief, the disease is of the pancreas. This organ produces certain chemicals that help reduce fats, starches and proteins to a form that is utilized by the body. When the disease takes effect, the pancreas ducts are clogged with a thick mucus and the child is in danger of literally starving to death.

The child eats two to three times its normal amount. Eventually, the child develops bronchitis with a hacking cough often taken for a cold or pneumonia. The lungs are damaged and the chest is overdeveloped. If the lung damage does not kill, heart strain will.

Not until 1936 was the first case diagnosed. It is believed that most deaths due to the ailment were blamed on pneumonia. Doctors are just now learning about its mysterious ways. It has been definitely ascertained that it is not contagious, but is inherited.

Organizations are now being formed to conduct research and to find a cure. The Michigan Cystic Fibrosis Association was formed only last June.

Two Northville people taking the fight are Mr. and Mrs. William Black, owners of Black's Whitehouse. Their 2-year-old granddaughter died of cystic fibrosis two years ago. On October 27 they are holding a smorgasbord dinner at the Northville Community House with proceeds going to research on the disease.

Endorses Home Improvement

President Eisenhower has endorsed Operation Home Improvement sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. In cooperation with this campaign, August was designated as Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Month by the All-Industry Plumbing and Heating Modernization Committee.

Modernization of heating equipment is one of the first steps in any home improvement project. Special emphasis was being placed during August on longer term financing of heating improvements.

These improvements may involve conversion to automatic firing with oil, or the replacement of an old oil burner with a new and improved burner, or the installation of a complete boiler-burner unit.

Another popular type of heating plant modernization is the replacement of old-style heat distributors with modern baseboards. Because baseboards deliver their heat at a low level, they provide the utmost comfort even during severe outdoor temperature conditions.

Zoning the heating system to make it possible to enjoy different temperatures in different parts of the house is another type of modernization project.

A snow melting system may also be installed with a hot water heating plant. This too, may be financed on easy terms.

HERE'S HOW...

MAKE A PORTABLE WRITING BOARD

A writing board, which can be placed on any arm chair, quickly converts a lounge chair to a temporary desk. It can be used by the youngster for "coloring," the school child for homework, and by grown-ups for letter-writing.

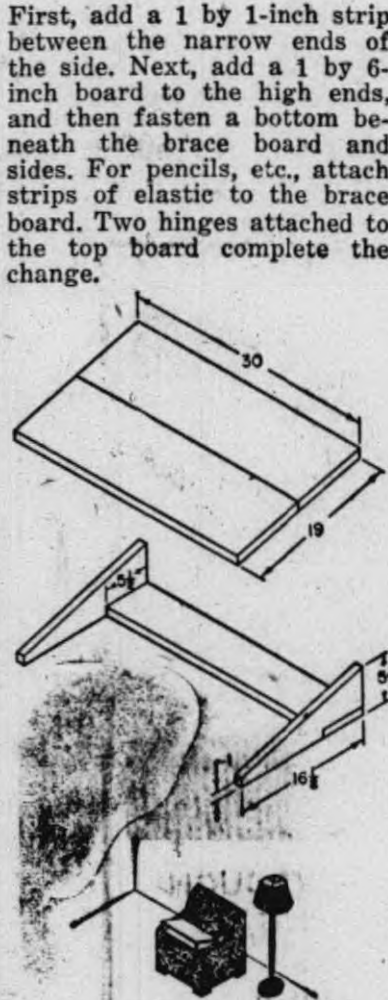

The sides are made of 1 by 6-inch lumber, taper the 16½-inch boards as shown. Notch the sides 25/32-inch deep by 5½-inches wide for the brace board. Use a miter box to assure square edges. Cut the brace board so that it fits tightly in the notches.

The top is made of two pieces of 1 by 10-inch lumber, 30 inches long. The boards are edge-glued; use of dowels is optional. If dowels are used, bore ½-inch holes 1-inch deep in the center of the edge of each board and 2 inches in from each end. Groove the dowel pins for stronger joints. If desired, the top may be a ready-made drawing board.

Assemble with glue and 6-penny finishing nails. Set all nail heads and fill the holes with wood filler. All sharp edges should be rounded.

Paint or stain and varnish. If desired, the writing board can be easily converted to a portable compartment desk.

Development At The Gates

One of the brightest pieces of community news to appear in months glows on Page One of The Mail this week. That's the announcement of a smart, new development that soon will rise on the west side of Plymouth Road, at the junction of the Edward Hines Parkway.

In these days of break-neck construction in this area, a community simply has to cross its fingers and hope for the best when plans for new building are disclosed. Some of it, thrown up in haste for purely commercial motives, produces little but headaches. And some of it is sound, carefully-planned development, wonderful for a community.

Several buildings are contemplated for this particular site, which has a strategic psychological importance to Plymouth because it lies at the gateway of the city. What is seen there will provide a first impression for most of our visitors. The first structure to rise will be a modern brick and glass office building that will serve as a national headquarters for two insurance firms, American Medical Hospital Benefit and Community Life Insurance Co-Designed by a crack architect, Paul Moffett, it will cost about $275,000.

Following that, the next move probably will be the raising of a modern apartment building that will contain 20 swank apartments, all of a high-rent luxury nature, designed for "executives." Following the apartment project will be a small center "island" of stores and another retail building adaptable for use as a clinic, bank, offices, or something similar.

The most meticulous kind of attention seems to have been given to landscaping, parking, and general appearance. The entire setting, if the announced plans are fulfilled, would be a model of how commercial projects can be blended into a landscape as a delight to the eye. Even one of the driveways to a parking lot will be looped around a huge evergreen on either side, the by-pass being made to prevent having to cut down the landmark.

In general, of course, the development will mean new business for Plymouth—construction, more people at work, more activity. Company executives will be looking for housing, and that could mean the sale of, say, $200,000 in private residences. The insurance company will have a total of 100 office workers, which is a new source of employment for our young people.

It also has priceless intangible benefits. The insurance company, using this as a home office, will be advertising the name of Plymouth over a wide range of the nation. The example of this group will serve as a message to others that Plymouth is an excellent place in which to locate.

Many parties must dream, plan, and work to accomplish a move like this. David Mather and Frank Arlen have financial interest in the land corporation which will be the landlord, but beyond that, the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce was a powerful force in swinging the deal this way. Many other communities sought the same project—one was Grosse Pointe Woods—but the "sale" was completed by our C. of C.

Secretary Ed Hart was the prime negotiator, and deserves the prime credit. The operation also is an indication of another phase of the value of a Chamber of Commerce. This was a quiet project, negotiated behind office doors over a period of many months, and something quite different than promotional carnivals with which the C. of C. more often is identified.

In the meantime, may the new buildings rise swiftly . . . and welcome to Plymouth, you insurance folks!

Babsonpoll Shows Swing to Adlai

The Babsonpoll—which correctly predicted an Eisenhower "landslide" in 1952 and Democratic control of Congress in 1954—now reports that Adlai Stevenson has cut deeply into President Eisenhower's former popular-vote strength.

This national poll of pre-election voter sentiment was originated in 1952 and bases its findings on the percentage of switch-voting from previous elections. The poll's high degree of accuracy in that year—correctly predicting the extent of the Eisenhower victory and even naming the four states Ike would take in the South—led to an expansion of the scope of the Babsonpoll in 1954. In that year, with the co-operation of scores of newspapers, the poll again had a perfect batting average—forecasting Democratic capture of the House and calling the battle for control of the Senate a toss-up (Senate control was decided in 1954 by one close election).

This year's first Babsonpoll report, which includes ballots submitted by this newspaper's readers, indicates that the political tide is still running in favor of the Democrats. With less than 5% of expected ballot totals computed, the poll indicates the possibility that the entire Eisenhower majority of 1952 has evaporated.

By projecting current fragmentary returns to the level of expected national vote totals, the Babsonpoll actually shows Stevenson leading by a popular margin of approximately half-a-million votes.

Poll figures indicate that Ike has lost ground in every state in the nation . . . some, of course, more than others. Biggest switch away from the President is showing up in the South and in the Farm Belt. Ike's smallest losses are in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and parts of New England.

Tennessee and Texas—won by Ike in 1952—now record heavy defections to Stevenson . . . more than enough to put their electoral votes in the Democratic column. The same trend is immediately apparent in Delaware, Missouri, and Rhode Island. In several other states—enough to swing the election either way—projected totals are so close that neither candidate has a comfortable lead.

Comments received with ballots from the South and the agricultural states indicated that the heavy Democratic switching in those areas has been prompted by the Supreme Court decision on desegregation and the "failure" of the Benson farm program.

It should be noted, however, that the areas in which Eisenhower's popularity has been undermined to the greatest extent are those in which the President can afford popular-vote losses with the least danger to his electoral-vote count. The loss of the four Southern states which were in the Eisenhower column in 1952 (Fla., Tenn., Tex., and Va.) would amount to only 57 electoral votes and would reduce Ike's 1952 total to 385—still 119 more than a majority.

The next Babsonpoll report will be published one week from today. Readers who have not yet submitted Babsonpoll ballots are invited to participate by clipping and sending the ballot which accompanies this column to the address designated.

People Are Saying

ALFRED M. GRUENTHER, General, retiring Supreme Allied Commander in Europe: "The present Russian 'dictatorship' is as unrelenting as it is relentless."

MISS LOU PAYNE, who advocates electing a woman as Vice-President of the United States: "With a woman acting as the President's right-hand man, housewives would have a better chance for Government recognition."

HOWARD BARLOW, musical director, who wants Grand Opera sung in English: "It's unrealistic to use a language not understood by the audience and, in many cases, by the artists themselves."

Happy Swap

More and more farmers—who badly need hired help sometimes, but can't afford a full-time hand—are making deals with young town workers and the employers they work for.

For instance, young Hap Hooper now lives rent-free on Easy Roberts' farm. In return he works about 100 days a year for Easy—for a farmhand's pay.

The rest of the year Hap works for his "regular" boss . . . Buzz Ellis, the electrician. Buzz just speeds up his business when Hap's on hand—slows it down when he isn't—and, like Easy, pockets healthy savings in wages.

From where I sit, it's great how people with different backgrounds—and different viewpoints—can co-operate. How about more of us trying that? I live in a town—maybe you're a farmer. I'm partial to a good glass of beer—you may prefer coffee or milk. But we can make things pleasanter by ignoring differences and giving each other a "hand."

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Lottie May Breyfogel, Upton, Wyoming: I remember those awful old sunbonnets that the women folks used to wear when I was a girl and the person who invented them should have to wear one until death do us part.

They always reminded me of a horse's bridle with the so-called "blindlers" on either side so that the poor animal could only see straight ahead. And so it was with the sunbonnet. One could only see straight ahead, and couldn't hear too well either, a fact I well remember as I had to wear one of the things until I was nearly grown and finally rebelled.

I remember my mother tying my bonnet on with a hard knot so that I could not untie it (or so she thought, at least). But I often managed to get it undone as soon as mother was out of sight.

Sun tan was something to be avoided in those days, but now we lie on the beaches or elsewhere taking our sunbaths, not only to acquire that lovely tan, but as a health measure as well.

From Eva M. Bell, Touristville, Kentucky: I remember in the fall of the year when Grandma would be in a hurry and want us children to fetch boards and then go to the woods to get a hollow sourwood tree to be used as a trough. Boards were fashioned in a "v" shape and the new ash hopper was ready for the ashes to be dumped in during the winter months.

★ THINKING OUT LOUD ★

One question, sometimes controversial, sometimes personal is asked each week by The Mail of four pedestrians along Plymouth's downtown streets. This week's guests are "thinking out-loud" on the question:

Do you approve of the Halloween custom of "trick or treat" or "begging" in which children in costume go from door to door asking hand-outs on All Hallows' Eve?

MILDRED LIVINGSTON, 529 Jener: "I think it's alright, if they don't go too far with it. It keeps them from being destructive. However, I don't think the older children should do it."

GEORGE VOWLES, 2010 Larch: "No I don't. They get so darn much it makes them sick sometimes, and besides, they drive you crazy at the door. And you get older kids, not from your own neighborhood. Oh . . . it's alright to a certain extent, better than having them tear down fences."

M. Livingston George Vowles Arthur Hanlon Mrs. Prochnow

ARTHUR HANLON, 15735 Southampton: "Yes, I think it's alright. It keeps them out of mischief. You can give them candy or donuts or apples and they enjoy it."

MRS. A. PROCHNOW, 11667 Russell: "No, I don't approve of it. It just teaches them to expect things all the rest of the year. And how do they treat you sometimes, even after you give them something?"

Be your own boss. Have your own business.

Invest With a 'Philosophy'

By Harry C. France

Occasionally in this column I intimate that an investor without a philosophy of investment is like a ship without a rudder. Many people do not understand what I am driving at. For this reason, I am narrating a true story of a person who, without such a philosophy, developed one over a period of time.

She is a high school teacher about to be retired. Years ago, she took $4,000 of her hard-accumulated savings and bought 20 shares of American Telephone and Telegraph. It went to $300 a share and she was pleased. But then the depression came along.

One day she came to see me. Her shares were down to $90 each and her $4,000 investment was worth $1,800. Over and over again she said: "Why did I ever get into the stock market?"

Her experience in it affected her work and her life. She was ready to dump the stock and forget it all.

She admitted that when her shares went from $200 to $300, everything was grand. But when they faded to $90 everything was wrong. The thought of taking a terrific loss in her shares had given her a fear complex.

I said to her: "Instead of having your mind obsessed with selling fears, why not think of buying shares at $90 each?"

Well, she thought about it. And finally she bought ten more shares at $88 each. Soon they went to $80 and she bought ten more around that price. They went to $70 but before she could buy more there, they bounced back.

It took her five years to develop a sound philosophy of investment. But putting together the good and the bad news of her stake in the world's leading public utility corporation gave her a perspective out of which she could build a good philosophy.

What does this philosophy mean to her today? It means everything. And one item of its fruition is revealed in a statement she makes to me from time to time as we discuss the stock market and the social, economic, political and moral forces underlying it.

Often she asks me: "When do you think there will be another big market smash so that I can buy some more telephone stock under $100 a share?"

Today millions of investors are afraid to buy common stocks. They have a fear complex similar to the one this teacher had in 1932 and 1933. And until they get over it and develop a philosophy, they had better not buy shares.

Everything carries risk. Even dollars have been deteriorating for two decades. And they still are.

But when an investor has a sound philosophy of investment, he can ask himself some of these questions: (1) Is America going to continue to grow in population? (2) Is America's standard of living headed higher? (3) Will 50 of the country's leading corporations be right in the center of this economic growth? (4) Should all investors buy some of the shares of these enterprises for income and capital appreciation?

The eloquent answer to all these questions is YES, in capital letters.

THE FORUM

(Q) "A leading service lists three of my good stocks on their sell recommendations. Should I do so?" B. K.

(A) The promiscuous sending out of wholesale buying and selling advice is irresponsible. And I don't care who does it. All investors must have tailor-made advice if their needs are to be met properly.

(Harry C. France will answer one letter each week through this column. If you have any investment questions, write in care of this newspaper.)
