Ask Citizen Aid In Baby Mystery

Plymouth residents were today asked to volunteer information that may help the Wayne County Road Patrol detectives solve the mysterious death of an infant boy whose body was found near the Plymouth road bridge over Edward Hines drive.

The body was found October 9 by Plymouth police after receiving two anonymous telephone tips concerning its location.

Detectives Frank VanWulfen and Richard Novak of the Road Patrol this week told how citizens may help them locate the person guilty of placing the baby in the underbrush.

Persons who know of a woman who should have had a baby, but now has no newly-born baby to show, are being asked to give this information to the detectives. The baby was believed born between October 1 and 9.

All information will be held confidential, the detectives said. Information can be phoned either to the detectives at Parkway 1-2222, the Plymouth police or this newspaper.

The exact age and cause of death are still unknown, the detectives said. It is believed, however, that the baby could not have been more than four days old and had not been left in the underbrush for more than 24 to 48 hours.

It was described as a "full-term" baby, dark hair and 21 inches long.

Whether the child was dead before being abandoned is not known.

A man placed the two anonymous telephone calls with Plymouth police. Patrolman Louis Westfall started his search on the north side of Plymouth road. A half hour later, police received another call stating that the officer was looking in the wrong place—that the body was on the south side of the road.

Westfall found the body wrapped in a green towel and newspaper. A pink and white blanket was nearby. The body was at the foot of a hill at the west end of the Hillside Inn parking lot.

County Returns $100 Fine, City Looks for More

The Wayne county treasurer finally came through with $100 in fine money that the city of Plymouth laid claim to last August. And City Manager Albert Glassford states that he believes the county owes Plymouth more.

A report on fine money in the controversy between the city and county was made by Glassford to the city commission Monday night.

Letters had been written to various county officers last August asking that the county return fines collected by the Wayne county circuit court in ordinance cases appealed from Plymouth's municipal court.

In the letters, the city outlined just one case. It was of a drunk driver who was fined $100 by Municipal Judge Nardino Perlongo last year. The driver appealed the case to the circuit court and the higher court upheld Judge Perlongo's decision. The county also collected the $100 fine, but the city never saw the money.

The Wayne county treasurer returned the $100 to the city last week. But Glassford said that this was just an example. He said that an investigation of records is now going on to find other cases of unreturned fines.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McClumpha of Tribes Hill, New York, are guests in Plymouth visiting in the homes of Mrs. M. G. Blunk on Blunk and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Blunk on Arthur street.

Commission, School Sign Sewer Pact

The last legal hurdle remaining in the way of constructing a sanitary sewer from the Plymouth city limits to the James Gallimore elementary school was eliminated Monday night when the board of education and the city commission both approved the agreement between the two bodies.

Both the city commission and school board were holding meetings Monday night and both had the agreement approval on their agendas.

The city of Plymouth will actually perform all the paper work necessary to build the sewer. They will secure engineering plans, advertise for bids and award the contract for construction. The board of education, however, will pay all costs. Cost of the sewer project is estimated at $32,000.

Rights of way must still be secured over certain properties to the Canton township site. Since the Gallimore school is to be completed around the first of the year, the school board is hoping that the sewer will be also completed at that time. The school cannot open unless a sewer outlet is a reality.

Mayor Russell Daane pointed out at the city commission meeting that contrary to some rumor, there will be no other taps allowed on the school line. The line is four inches in diameter and sewage will be pumped from the school through the line because of the lack of gravity flow.

After the sewer is completed, it will become the property of the city and will be maintained by the department of public works. Lack of a sewer for the school has presented a problem to the board of education for the past year and a half. The school was scheduled for completion last September, but it was not started early enough because of the lack of a sewer.

Shuffleboard Gets Commission Nod

First it was music in Kellogg park—just like Northland. Now it's going to be shuffleboard in the park—just like Florida.

City commissioners approved a motion Monday night to accept an offer from local builder Stewart Oldford to donate a shuffleboard court for Kellogg Park. Oldford noted that shuffleboard in public places has been a popular sport in Florida, especially for the older folks. Why not try it in Plymouth?

Commissioners agreed and Oldford will donate the first court. Construction is expected to start next spring.

P.H.S. Homecoming Events Set

Voting took place in Plymouth high school Tuesday to select the Queen who will reign at tomorrow night's homecoming festivities.

To be crowned during the half-time of the Plymouth-Redford Union game, the queen will later reign at the homecoming dance held in the high school. All graduates of Plymouth high school are being urged to attend the evening's activities.

Identity of the Homecoming Queen will not be announced until she is ready to be crowned. Her selection was not based on beauty or popularity, but on extra-curricular work performed at school, her all-around citizenship and as a representative type of girl from Plymouth high.

Four senior girls competed for the title. They are Kay Porter, Judy Heric, Sally Williams and Carol Clarke. The three not selected as queen will serve on the court.

Also on the court are Maureen Hanson, freshman; Jeanette Ridley, sophomore; and Ann Cooper, junior.

The candidates were selected by the Student council and high school executive board. Homecoming is being revived after a long absence at Plymouth high school. The Future Home-makers of America is giving a tea for parents of football players at 6 p.m. Friday, followed by a bonfire and pep rally at the football field at 6:30. The crowd will then form a snake parade through town and return to the field for the start of the game at 8 p.m. Alumni must obtain a permit at the assistant principal's office to attend the evening dance.

Street Opening Hearing Planned

What may be an interesting and perhaps a heated session will take place Monday, October 29 when the board of education, city commission and city planning commission hold a joint meeting to discuss the opening of Edison street for junior high school use.

Although the junior high will not be open for another year, the school board is now making arrangements for roadways to the building being built in the southeast corner of the city. One of the two entrances being considered is a continuation of Edison street from the west.

Several residents of Maplecroft subdivision have told the board that they disfavor the use of Edison as an entrance because of the increased traffic in their neighborhood. The school board has replied that if Edison is opened for the school, traffic would be somehow limited to school use only.

To bring the discussion to a head, the three governmental bodies concerned are meeting in the city commission chambers at 8 p.m. on October 29. The meeting is open to the public.

Public Observance of U.N. Day Takes Place Next Wednesday

Plymouth will commemorate the 11th anniversary of the United Nations next Wednesday night with a program in the high school auditorium in which an experienced observer of U.N. affairs will be the guest speaker.

Mrs. Philip Gentile of Detroit, U.N. observer for the Ford Foundation, will discuss recent achievements of the United Nations and current problems.

Starting at 8 p.m., the U.N. Day program is open to the public and is free of charge. The program is the result of effort of a committee appointed last August by Mayor Russell Daane naming Mrs. Henry Jensen as chairman.

Mrs. Jensen will introduce the evening's program that will open with an invocation by the Reverend David Davies of St. John's Episcopal church. There will be a U.N. flag presentation to the local library and high school student Charles Westover will relate highlights of a mock U.N. assembly that he and other Michigan students attended this year at Hillsdale college.

The principal speaker, Mrs. Gentile, has made the United Nations and the improvement of international relations her major civic interest for several years. While her approach is broadly educational in scope, it has also been a congenial subject from the standpoint of her church responsibilities and her concern as the wife of a minister.

Her own educational training was in the field of education. She attended Michigan Normal college at Ypsilanti for her teaching certificate, received her B.S. degree in education at Wayne university and later earned her master's degree at the U of M.

Mrs. Philip Gentile

Mrs. Gentile recently served as official delegate to the United States commission to the U.N. from the regional conferences of UNESCO, held every four years. She is a lecturer much in demand from the Extension Department of the U of M.

Her talk will also deal with the 11 year record of the U.N. and will tell what it can and cannot do in terms of the kind of crises which face our statesmen.

Ushers will collect written questions from the audience to be answered by the speaker. She will also remain after the program to answer questions.

Last year was the first local observance of U.N. day. The 10th anniversary celebration attracted several hundred visitors to a banquet-meeting at the high school.

$30,000 Community Fund Drive Opens

Resident Brings Plant Noise To Commission

One of the Elizabeth street residents who has been engaged in the current battle against the alleged noise from the nearby Broen Metal Products company brought a tape recording to the city commission meeting Monday night to give commissioners an idea of how noisy it is.

Mrs. Gladys Baker, 210 Elizabeth, said that she took the recording at 8 a.m. on October 2 and 3 from the window of her home. As commissioners listened, they heard pounding, sawing and a number of other undistinguishable noises which Mrs. Baker said came from the plant.

While commissioners appeared sympathetic to the plight of the neighbors, both City Attorney Harry Deyo and Commissioner Rusling Cutler, an attorney, pointed out that such a recording would not be made admissible as evidence in court because of the variations that could be made in the recorder's volume controls.

Commissioners did, however, decide to take a walk around the plant after their meeting. They first browsed around the Hamilton street building in the darkness and then decided to go through the building. Inside, a plant foreman welcomed the group. Commissioners looked and

Volunteers, Contributors Face Highest Goal in Fund History

Plymouth's $30,000 Community Fund campaign opened with a surge of generosity during its opening hours Tuesday when $1,530 in cash and checks, donated mostly by business and industry, began to trickle into the fund treasury.

The community's united effort opened Tuesday morning with a "kick-off breakfast" at the Hotel Mayflower. Attending were Community Fund board members, volunteer workers from the Woman's club and representatives from other groups.

Citizens are faced with the largest goal in the history of the Community Fund. Of the $30,000, some 85 per cent will go to 10 local organizations, while the remainder will be distributed to other charitable groups, administered through the United Foundation.

The Utilities Lines Construction company picked up the check for the kick-off breakfast Tuesday. Immediately after the breakfast, 31 volunteers from the Woman's club started making calls to retail businesses in the community.

At the same time, all householders in the community were receiving literature in the mail which explained the Community Fund's objective and included a pledge card and return envelope. Workers hope to close the campaign by November 8—three weeks from today.

Also being solicited are professional people, industries and school children.

Names of all contributors who donate $10 or more to the drive will be published in The Mail unless the contributor requests that his name be omitted.

A check for $500 delivered by Mayor Russell Daane for the Daisy Manufacturing company was the first contribution received by the Fund Tuesday morning at the kick-off breakfast. Two other donations later received were $500 from E. C. Hough and $40 from the Vivians.

While the first half of the money always comes easy, the Plymouth Community Fund has had a difficult time in recent years in obtaining the last few thousand dollars to reach the goal. But the local Community Fund has always maintained its record by meeting or exceeding the goal.

Because hundreds of Plymouth people work in the Detroit area where donations are asked for the United Foundation, arrangements have been made to have their donations through the company diverted to the Plymouth Fund. Most local plants give employees a choice of cards to fill out for designating their donation. Detroit area plants have only United Foundation cards and on the face of the card must be written something like: "Please send to Plymouth Community Fund."

Mrs. Edwin Rice and Sheldon Baker are co-chairmen of this year's campaign. They point out that because the Community Fund budget has gone up 12 per cent this year, citizens should consider increasing their donations.

Boundary Line Committee Files Recommendations

Formed after a stormy meeting with the board of education last June over the question of re-drawing boundary lines between elementary schools, a committee of parents and principals offered its final report to the school board Monday night.

The proposed change in boundary lines was due to the construction of the James Gallimore elementary school on Sheldon road. A crowd of 75 parents turned out for a school board meeting last June 4 to protest the proposed moving of their children from one school to another.

As a result of that meeting, two parents and the principal from each elementary school were appointed to a committee to study the situation. Since then, they have met periodically and the results of their meetings were presented in a report given to the board Monday by Superintendent Russell Isbister.

The report was taken under advisement by the board.

Presented in three parts, the report proposes moves to be taken next February when the Gallimore school is completed, when school starts in September, 1957, and when another elementary school is opened in September 1958.

- The February 1957 proposal is:
1. Make McClumpha road the western boundary for both Smith and Bird schools.
 2. Make the middle of Elm street the boundary between Bird and Smith schools.
 3. Keep Starkweather school boundaries intact.
 4. Make Lilley road, south of Joy road, the western boundary for Allen school. Keep other boundaries intact.
 5. Make the middle of Judson the boundary between Smith and Gallimore schools. Make the middle of Main street, south of Judson, the boundary between Smith and Gallimore.
- In September 1957 it is proposed that:

Boundary Line Committee Files Recommendations

1. Loads in each of the elementary schools be reduced by moving the sixth grades, if necessary, to the new Junior high school.

2. Re-establish physical education programs in elementary schools.

The September 1958 program includes:

1. Opening a new elementary school in northeast Plymouth township.
2. Make a re-alignment of elementary attendance areas. The major change will be made by detaching a segment of Bird area and attaching it to the Starkweather area. It is opposed that

Symphony Opens 11th Season

Opening its 11th season this Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m. will be the 90-piece Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

Held in the Plymouth high school auditorium-gymnasium, the opening concert will feature William Doppmann, brilliant 21-year-old pianist from the University of Michigan, as the guest soloist.

Gaining in popularity each year, the Plymouth Symphony concerts still remain open to the public without charge. Sunday's concert is the first of six during the 1956-57 season.

The music to be played on the first concert will be the "Concerto for Orchestra" by C.P.E. Bach, "Concerto for Piano and Orchestra No. 23" by Mozart, "March Joyeuse" by Chambrier, "White Peacock" by Griffes, and "Rhapsody in Blue" by Gershwin.

Of these numbers, only "White Peacock" has been previously performed by the Plymouth Symphony. Doppmann will be the soloist in the popular and well-known "Rhapsody in Blue" and the brilliant "Concerto" by Mozart.

William Doppmann, who appeared with the Plymouth Symphony with great success two years ago, was a child prodigy, appearing with the Cincinnati Symphony at the age of 10. In 1954 he won both the coveted Walter W. Namburg Musical Foundation Award and the Michaels Memorial Award. In addition, he won the Town hall performance award where critics labeled his performance as "brilliant" and "literally spine-tingling". Doppmann, who is still a student at the University of Michigan, appears this year with the Cincinnati, Battle Creek, Grand Rapids, Muskegon and South Bend Symphonies.

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra begins its 11th season, the sixth under the direction of its conductor, Wayne Dunlap, with 90 players. Among the new members of the orchestra are several string instrument players, including an exchange student from Austria and a harpist.

Instruments this season include 18 first violins, 17 second violins, eight violas, 10 cellos, six basses, three flutes, two oboes, three clarinets, two bassoons, four french horns, three trumpets, four trombones, three percussion players, and one each of a piccolo, English horn, tuba, timpani, piano and harp.

Outside of the professional Detroit Symphony, many have rated the Plymouth Symphony as the largest and best symphony orchestra in Michigan.

Historical Society Sees Documentary Farm Life Movie

Movies of "Life on the Farm" were shown at a meeting of the Plymouth Historical Society in the Veteran's Memorial building. There were about 45 members and guests present, including a couple from Pennsylvania.

Angus Diack, local businessman, showed the colored movies depicting actual farm life. The picture was filmed during a six-year period on the farm of his in-laws in Arenac county, Michigan.

From the first scene which shows the ringing of the alarm clock in the morning and the arising of the farmer in his night-shirt, the film depicted a hard-working farm family of the old school.

Scenes including cooking over the old wood stove, the early morning cock crowing, feeding the animals, gathering eggs, plowing and fitting the land, seeding, cultivating, harvesting, threshing, butchering, making apple butter, woodcutting, sawing ice from the pond and stowing it away, selecting the Christmas tree from the woods, stringing cranberries and the mid-week prayer-meeting.

Also on the program was a solo by member Austin Whipple. He sang "Hey Rube," a never-ending number representing the trials and tribulations of a country rube coming to town to see the circus. The tune had been a popular song sung by Cal Hillmer at social gatherings in Plymouth more than 60 years ago.

President Lawrence Money presided at the short business session.

The bridal gown was a floor-length dress of white brocaded lace over pleated net with fitted bodice, scalloped sweetheart neckline and short sleeves. Her fingertip veil was caught by a cap of lace and net, and she carried a bouquet of white roses. Mr. Foote gave his daughter, in marriage.

A gown of dusty rose crystal-ette was worn by Mrs. Shirley Kamin of Romulus, matron of honor, who carried a bouquet of pink baby mums. The bride's mother selected a blue crystal-ette dress with white and blue accessories for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a brown and gold taffeta dress with yellow accessories.

Mrs. Gale H. Mills

Calvary Baptist Nuptials Unite Gale Mills, Betty Salmon

Local pastor, Reverend Patrick Clifford, and Reverend Charles Cohagen of Ward Memorial Presbyterian church, officiated a ceremony uniting in marriage Betty Lou Salmon and Gale H. Mills, at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, October 13, in the Calvary Baptist church of Plymouth.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Salmon of 718 Pine street and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel S. Mills, 9287 South Main.

The bride approached an altar setting of mums, pompoms and autumn leaves following presentation of vocal selections, "I Love Thee Truly," "The Lord's Prayer" and "Oh Perfect Love," by Miss Shirley Plant. The soloist was accompanied at the organ by Miss Elizabeth True, cousin of the bridegroom.

The floor-length bridal gown with satin underskirt featured a bodice of nylon tulle and lace with pointed sleeves, mandarin collar, and bouffant, tiered skirt. A pearl tiara held the bride's fingertip veil, and she carried white button and fuji mums.

The bride, a graduate of Henry Ford Hospital School of Nursing, was attended by two of her former classmates as bridesmaids and her sister, Mrs. Robert Panzica, as matron of honor. The latter was gowned in an emerald green crystaletta dress, ballerina-length, with matching headpiece and slippers of satin brocade. Her flowers were yellow and bronze button mums.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Albert McRuer of Detroit and Janet Sue Paulson of Cadillac, wore tangerine and rust crystaletta dresses, respectively, styled identically to Mrs. Panzica's. Mrs. McRuer's flowers were bronze button mums while Miss Paulson carried yellow button mums.

A silk dress in cinnamon brown with matching accessories was the ensemble chosen by the bride's mother for the wedding ceremony. The bridegroom's mother wore a two-piece silk dress of bronze and pink with matching accessories.

George Harrison assisted the bridegroom as best man. Hoyt Mills, Warren E. Hicks, Kay Voss and Robert Panzica were ushers. The reception in the church parlors was attended by 300 guests from Grant, Ferndale, Lansing, Hillsdale, Eaton Rapids, Rochester, Port Huron, Howell, Detroit and Plymouth.

For the honeymoon trip to the Smokey Mountains, the bride selected a beige suit with brown accessories. The couple's new home will be at 5006 Dixboro road, Ann Arbor.

Rotarians Fly 460 Miles to Meeting

Nine Plymouth Rotary club members using three airplanes traveled nearly 460 miles by air last Thursday to attend a Rotary meeting at Suttons Bay, Michigan.

Plymouthite Evered Joffe, operator of a summer resort at Suttons Bay, located north of Traverse City, was host to the group, along with the Suttons Bay Rotary club.

Leaving from Willow Run at 8 a.m., they were met at Traverse City Airport. The group returned at 6:30 p.m. In the group were Charles Finlan, Walter Rense, Harold Guenther, Gerald Pease, James Taylor, Roderick Cassady, Carl Caplin, Donald Sutherland, Carl Shear and Frank Arlen.

Mrs. Charles Carter and son, Michael of Los Angeles, California, are visiting with Plymouth and Wayne relatives. They are staying with Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Knapp of Irvin street and a brother John Urban of Simpson avenue. Mrs. Carter is the former Rose Niedospal.

Bride Selects All-White Theme For Recent Lutheran Rites

An all-white theme, carried out in floral decorations, bridal gown and dresses of attendants, was the selection of Fern Irene Thatcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Thatcher of 33458 Richland Livonia, for her recent marriage to Rodney Jay Juve, son of Mrs. Mae Juve of 40870 Joy road and the late Elroy Juve.

The ceremony was set at St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church, Plymouth, against an altar background of white gladioli, mums, carnations and ferns.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white chantilly lace, styled with scalloped neckline embroidered with pearls and iridescent sequins, wrist-length sleeves and ruffle-pleated skirt with chapel train. A pearl-studded pillbox held her fingertip veil. White carnations centered with bittersweet roses and white streamers composed the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Geraldine Ribar, sister of the bride and matron of honor, wore a ballerina-length, white nylon chiffon gown with draped neckline crossing in front and continuing down the back in hemline streamers. She carried dark green carnations with green-velvet streamers and ivy.

Gowned identically with bouquets of shaded green carnations, white lace hats and gloves were Bridesmaids Nancy Martin, cousin of the bride, Constance Kunkel, Cheri Agnew, Barbara Brooks and Rosalind Juve, junior bridesmaid. Daniel Westphal, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

Best man for the 7 o'clock ceremony performed August 25 was the bridegroom's brother, Lee. Guests were seated by Arthur Trost, Larry Wilhelm, John Agnew, James Dey and James Troutman.

Mrs. Thatcher selected a mink brown, street-length taffeta dress and pink accessories while a steel blue crepe sheath with matching accessories was the choice of the bridegroom's mother. Each wore a pink orchid corsage.

The reception at the VFW hall was attended by 400 guests, many coming from out of state. For going-away the bride selected a dark brown three-piece suit, brown and bittersweet accessories and the rose corsage from her bridal bouquet. The couple took a 10-day trip through Wisconsin and northern Michigan.

The bride graduated from Bentley high school, Livonia and is now employed at Evans Products.

Cherry Hill Church, Scene Of Clark - Gustin Ceremony

Elizabeth Jean Gustin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gustin of 800 Ridge road, Plymouth and Kenneth Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clark, Jr., 5821 Beck road, Belleville, were married in a ceremony performed at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, October 13, at Cherry Hill Methodist church. The Reverend George T. Nevins officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Church decorations for the candlelight ceremony were baskets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli. Organist was Everett Burrell, uncle of the bride, who accompanied Mrs. Stanley Atwell in the vocal selections of "I Love Thee Truly" and "Because."

The bridal gown of chantilly lace over nylon tulle was fashioned with fitted bodice, portrait neckline and wrist-point sleeves, its bouffant skirt terminating in a chapel-length train. The bride's finger-tip veil was secured by a pearl and sequin-studded crown. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Donald Hansen, sister of the bride, wore a gown of coral net over taffeta, styled with cummerbund, and face veil attached to a matching crown. She carried blue mums.

Bridesmaids were Lee Clark, sister of the bridegroom, Joyce Gots, and Edith Tillotson of Adrian. They wore gowns of blue net over taffeta fashioned the same as the matron of honor's, with matching crowns, and carried yellow mum bouquets.

Flower girl was Christine Loobestael, cousin of the bride, wearing a blue nylon over taffeta dress and carrying a pink basket of rose petals. Ring bearer was Michael Hansen, nephew of the bride. Ushers were David Loobestael and Charles Arnold, cousins of the bride, and Thomas Clark, brother of the bridegroom. Donald Hansen was best man.

The bride's mother wore a blue lace dress with black accessories and a deep pink rose corsage.

Mrs. Clark chose a champagne brocade dress with brown accessories and deep red, rose corsage. The reception followed in the church parlors for 150 guests from Adrian, Detroit, Plymouth, Bloomfield township, Belleville and Ypsilanti.

The bride graduated from Plymouth high school in June 1956. The bridegroom, a U.S. Army veteran, served in the Korean war.

The couple have taken an apartment at 119 North Adams street in Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Henry Ehrensberger will entertain members of her pinocchio club today (Thursday) in her home on Joy road. Guests will be Mrs. Don Grenger, Mrs. Arnold Heidt, Mrs. Ray Rorabacher, Mrs. Vern Kahler, Mrs. Norman Schweizer, of this city, and Mrs. Charles Wade and Mrs. Robert J. Sumption of Salem.

Mrs. William Monteith entertained her 500 club on Tuesday evening of last week in her home on Adams street.

Mrs. Sam Hudson has returned from New York City where she accompanied her mother, Mrs. David Welsh, who left Idlewild Airport for her home in Glasgow, Scotland after a six month's visit in this country. Enroute home Mrs. Hudson visited with the Reverend and Mrs. Thomas Keefe of Buffalo, New York, formerly of Plymouth.

by Carl Peterson

Well, that wasn't early snow falling alongside the nation's railroad tracks and on the runways of the airports during the past few weeks. It was just flurries of discarded speeches launched from train and plane windows by the Presidential and V.P. candidates. There may be some disagreement on universal military training between the candidates but they all agree on the value of railroad training. They've talked from the back platforms of so many trains, they never had a chance to see where they were going, they only knew where they'd been.

A Perfect Gift for Sweetest Day Saturday, Oct. 20

After whirling around the country at such a pace, you'd almost expect a fellow to start campaigning for a few years' vacation. Come to think of it, that's exactly what a couple of them are going to end up with. A San Antonio man who was turned down for a driving license because of poor eyesight told officials he worked as a car jockey in a parking lot. Probably does a bang-up job, too. More people suffer from poor foresight than from poor eyesight. With a little foresight, you'll find it pays to keep stocked ahead on many home medical supplies. Make up your want-list tonight, and bring it to us tomorrow for quality products.

It's Fair Time At Smith School

Hundreds of people are expected this Saturday night at the annual Country Fair at Smith elementary school.

Starting at 5:30 p.m., the fair will have all of the features of past years, plus a little bit more, according to Robert Minock, chairman.

The newest attraction will be the spook house. There will also be the pie walk, cake walk, fish pond, game rooms, country store and movies.

A family supper menu headed by chicken legs will be available. In addition, an Evans-Colson bicycle will be given away.

The Parent-Teacher association sponsors the annual affair. Profits from the fair go to the P.T.A. projects carried on throughout the year.

Resident on Goodwill Antique Show Committee

Participating in Junior Goodwill's 9th annual Antique show to be held October 21-24 at Goodwill Industries headquarters, Brush street, Detroit, will be Mrs. George Schmeman of North Territorial road.

The resident will assist in the Americana Room where luncheon, dinners and light snacks will be served visitors throughout the four-day event, as well as be one of the hostesses for the benefit affair. The show starts Sunday noon and will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily. Dealers from throughout the U. S. will have antiques displayed for sale in various booths.

Buddy Burleson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Burleson of Ross street celebrated his fifth birthday on Saturday with a party attended by 10 of his little playmates including Steven and Johnny Holmes, Cheryl and Eddie Daniels, Kathy and David Sibbold, Randy Kenyon, Robert Forster and David Pocklington. TWO HIGH SCHOOL FRESHMEN, Dave Green and Jim Herter, won first and second place, respectively, in the Plymouth Mail football contest last week. Presenting Dave with a check for $15 (above left) is Wendell Lent. Robert Willoughby (right) gives Jim his check for $7. Third place winner was Fred Statezni of 300 North Mill.

Plymouth High Freshman Wins Football Contest

Two Plymouth High School freshmen took first and second place honors in the Plymouth Mail football contest last week by picking 12 winners out of a possible 13. (Two 0-0 ties cancelled out two games on all entries).

First place winner was Dave Green, 13, of 595 Simpson. Dave, a junior varsity footballer himself, is currently recuperating from a broken arm received at a scout meeting two weeks ago.

Second place winner was Jim Herter, 14, of 15559 Bradner. Jim is a repeat winner, having won first prize two years ago and second prize last year.

Wendell Lent, of the Davis and Lent Store, presented Dave with his $15 first place check and Robert Willoughby, of the Willoughby Shoe Store, gave Jim a $7 check for second place.

Dave also received the equivalent of three cheers and a tiger from his sister's girl scout troop which was meeting at his home when the Mail called to tell him he had won the contest.

Both boys had only one wrong choice but Dave picked the Lions over the Rams and came pretty close to the correct score, while Jim the Rams over the Lions.

The most consistent misses last week were the S.M.U.—Duke game in which most people picked S.M.U. and the Navy-Tulane contest, with most people choosing Navy.

Third place winner last week was Fred Statezni, of 300 North Mill, who also picked twelve winning teams but missed the Lions-Rams score by a greater margin than the other two boys.

To enter the Plymouth Mail football contest and become eligible for the prize money and the prestige of out-guessing the experts, you need only clip the entry blank from this paper, fill in your choice, along with your name and address, and either mail or drop the blank off at this office.

PLYMOUTH GIRL SCOUTS launched their annual calendar sale this week, proceeds of which will go to individual troop activities. Shown with the 1957 calendar, three of which have been distributed to every member of Plymouth's 27 Scout troops, are Julie Lent of 594 Edison, Troop 27 Scout and Mrs. Sheldon Baker, chairman of the sale which ends November 15.

Papes to Mark Grand Opening This Weekend

A grand opening in its new location coinciding with a fourth anniversary celebration, will be observed this weekend by Papes House of Gifts of West Ann Arbor trail.

Owner Richard Papes announced that the three-day grand opening of the store's new headquarters, 852 West Ann Arbor trail, would feature many "specials" for visitors including a free Grand Opening gift.

The store was first opened by Papes' father, Theodore, four years ago this weekend, in October 1952, directly across the street from the present location.

tion by that percentage. Last year's goal was $27,500.

In his talk to volunteers Tuesday morning, Fund Board President Marvin Criger noted this year's goal is 10 times what it was 10 years ago. Only three years ago, the goal was $18,500 and two years ago it went up to $24,500.

"I feel that every one of the 10 local organizations receiving money from this effort deserve public support and the goal is not beyond reach," Criger declared. "As Plymouth grows around the edges and new industry comes in, the future of the Community Fund will be more demanding."

Philip Barney, chairman of professional solicitations and co-chairman of commercial, business and school solicitations, told the volunteers that the Plymouth Community Fund is getting closer to becoming a "once for all" campaign. Two groups still hold their own house-to-house drives, he added. They are for muscular dystrophy and polio. "Some day," he added, "we hope to include these."

The 10 local agencies benefiting from the drive and the amounts they are to receive are:

Boy Scouts, $3,000; Girl Scouts, $2,270; Salvation Army, $6,000; Visiting Nurse association, $1,400; Adult Education and Recreation Commission, $4,000; Veterans Memorial Center, $1,750; Plymouth Dental Fund, $700; American Red Cross, $3,650; Plymouth Cancer Society, $2,000.

The remaining $4,400 will go to the United Foundation agencies.

listened. Someone remarked that the night shift seemed to be smaller than usual. The noise, they noted, wasn't too noisy.

In other business before the commission, the city commission voted to sell the 60 by 200-foot plot of land in front of Starkweather school to the school board for the sum of $1. Voters approved this sale in the August primary election.

Mayor Russell Daane held that the cost of the curb and gutter which was originally paid by the city should be included in the sale price, but his vote against the $1 fee stood alone.

The city manager was authorized to arrange for purchase of 2.37 acres of land from Dr. Charles Westover at a price of $9,000. The land is located along Tonquish creek, just west of the Harvey street entrance of the Central Parking lot. The city has been looking at the land for several months with hopes of using it for future park purposes.

A motion was passed to trade in a 1956 Plymouth police car for a new car. The manager was authorized to take bids.

Notice

Some residents have questioned The Plymouth Mail recently about clipped news stories about themselves that they receive through the mail encased in plastic. Payment for some of these "preserved" stories is asked by the sender.

The Mail has absolutely no connection with this type of business, nor has it authorized others to perform the "service". Various types of news clipping services, operating as private firms, are numerous throughout the nation and are within the law.

Post office officials state that those receiving clippings or any other unordered items through the mail are not required to make payment or return the item.

Theatre Guild Entertained

Russell Smith, Wayne University instructor in stage make-up, and William Smith of Monroe, lead player in numerous Will-O-Way Playhouse production at Bloomfield Hills, were guests of the Plymouth Theatre Guild meeting Monday evening in the junior high school gym.

A demonstration of stage characterization through application of make-up was given by the Wayne faculty member, using John Lodge and Carol Stratton, principals in the Guild's November play, for the study. Stressed were goals of stage make-up its effect under lighting, properties of color reflection and use in accenting facial structure to create youthful or aging impressions.

A vivid and humorous interpretation of McKeeever, Washington businessman in "Solid Gold Cadillac" reciting his high school oration, "Sparticus to the Gladiators," was given by the other guest speaker, William Smith. Over 60 persons attended the Guild meeting.

Ugly stains on white painted exterior walls often come from corrosion of screens, gutters, hinges and other outside hardware on your house. Painting or varnishing of these metal surfaces this fall will aid in eliminating such unsightly blemishes.

The ability of a material to stand up under intense heat for long periods of time is the true test of its fire safety, according to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association. The fact that wood is combustible, while steel is noncombustible, has led to the popular misconception that steel is safer, the lumbermen point out.

A hayride was given by Terry Duchesneau and Bill Clark at Bill's farm on Eight Mile road, Saturday, October 13. A weiner roast followed the hayride for the 11 couples attending.

Houseguests for last week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Heard on Franklin were their cousin, Miss Mary Dean, and her girl friend, Miss Carol Grice from Ontario, Canada.

One of Northville's young new voters, Mrs. Tom Shrake of Eight Mile road, is celebrating her 21st birthday today, October 13. Mrs. Shrake is the former Joanne Forsee of Plymouth.

EISENHOWER ADMINISTRATION HELPS SMALL BUSINESS

Albert E. Cobo, Republican candidate for governor, said yesterday in a special interview, "Today small-business concerns, in general, are much better off than they were in the early part of 1953 when President Eisenhower took office." Cobo continued to explain that this improvement has been accomplished despite the more highly competitive civilian markets of the past 2 years.

Mayor Cobo pointed out that much progress has been made in solving the problems encountered by small business in particular areas such as financing, Government procurement, protection from monopolies and discriminatory practices in the market place.

Cobo advised that critics of the president's small-business program should know the truth. He said, "The truth is the first peace-time Small-Business Administration was created by the Eisenhower Administration and, to date, has loaned $227,000,000 to support small business firms, help them to get started, grow and expand."

Conclusive proof of the fine small-business program of the Eisenhower Administration is demonstrated by our economy which is currently operating at record levels, far above anything contemplated by even the most optimistic persons 10 or even 5 years ago.

Cobo pointed out, "Our economy is in a period of prosperity with the people of the United States enjoying the highest standard of living ever experienced in our history or anywhere in the world. Small business concerns have participated in and contributed to this prosperous economy."

American Legion News

Seven representatives of Passage-Gayde post and its Auxiliary attended the Fall State conference of the American Legion held recently at the Hotel Vincent, Post headquarters, and Hotel Whitcomb, Auxiliary headquarters, in Benton Harbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Koi, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gardner, Adah Langmaid and Maxine Kunz attended the two-day sessions. Adah Langmaid as Department chairman served as instructor on Pan-American Study. Maxine Kunz attended the sessions in national security, Girls State and secretary.

Department officers will conduct schools for the benefit of post and Auxiliary officers to inform them of their duties and responsibilities. A Child Welfare breakfast was held at the Vincent hotel Saturday morning and the annual conference banquet at the Elks Temple Saturday evening. Both were well attended.

When you are attending the University of Michigan football games this fall, stop in at the Erwin Prieskorn post to satisfy your appetite. To further the rehabilitation and child welfare work in the community, the Auxiliary unit serves luncheons and dinners at a nominal price on all Saturdays of home football games. So let's help them carry on their program.

The Juniors held their meeting Wednesday, October 17, with good attendance. As they did last year, the Juniors are making poppy wreaths for the deceased veterans' graves and will have to buy more poppies this year to complete the program.

Remember this Saturday, October 20, the "S.O.S. Dinner" will be served from 5 to 8 p.m. Featured prize is a $25 bond. All proceeds will go to our Building fund so let's have a wonderful sellout.

Contact Maxine Kunz to pick up any items for our Rummage sale being held in Veterans Community center basement on Friday and Saturday, October 26-27. Her phone is 550R.

Thursday, October 25, is our monthly visit to the V. A. hospital in Ann Arbor. Keep this date open.

Auxiliary to Launch Enrollment Campaign

Re-enrollment of all its members for 1957 will be the goal of an intensive membership campaign, beginning October 20, to be conducted by the Passage-Gayde Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary. The enrollment of new members also will be sought during the campaign which will continue until Veterans' Day, November 11.

"We hope to have our membership ranks for 1957 filled by Veterans' Day, so that from then on we can concentrate our efforts on the constructive service work of our organization," said Mrs. Gwen Holcombe, Membership chairman, who will direct the campaign.

OUTDOOR NOTES

From The
MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Michigan's 1956 hunting seasons got off to a warm, but fairly successful, start.

Waterfowl and grouse hunters had fair to good success, though generally hampered by warm weather.

Archery deer hunters reported little success. Woods were generally dry and noisy.

The upper peninsula had about the same number of waterfowl for the opener as last year, mostly local mallards and blacks. Hunter numbers were about the same.

Grouse hunters reported a few more birds in the west end this year, with fewer hunters throughout the region. Foliage was still too heavy for good hunting.

In the northern lower peninsula, 1754 hunters contacted had 1513 ducks and one lone jack-snipe. The ducks were mostly local birds—blacks, mallards and bluewings. Waterfowl numbers were same to fewer than last year, hunter numbers were same to fewer, success was same to poorer.

Grouse numbers were the same to fewer than last year, hunter numbers were same to fewer, success was poorer. Weather was too warm and foliage too thick for good hunting.

In the southern lower peninsula, about the same number of hunters as last year took fewer waterfowl in the Kalamazoo marshes and the Fenville area.

At Pointe Mouillee marshes south of Detroit, 375 hunters bagged 541 ducks—mostly blue and green-winged teal, blacks and mallards—and 129 coots. Last year, 298 hunters took 1001 ducks and coots.

On St. Clair Flats, more birds, more hunters and better success was noted. Department field men counted 483 hunters with 281 ducks, mostly teal, mallards and blacks.

In the Sebawaing-Wildfowl Bay area, 460 hunters contacted had 587 ducks, slightly poorer success than 1955.

Michigan's fall hunting seasons usually mean outdoor enjoyment for the man of the house, but also can cause anxious moments for the wife unfamiliar with methods of cooking game meat.

"Good Eating from Woods and Fields," a free, 24-page booklet of game recipes, can be a boon companion to bewildered housewives. The popular booklet again is available from the Conservation Department as hunting seasons get underway.

The publication lists a variety of recipes for such small game as pheasant, rabbit, duck, goose, grouse, woodcock, squirrel, beaver, raccoon, opossum, woodchuck and muskrat. Methods of dressing, preparing and preserving game meat are included.

The booklet was published in cooperation with Michigan State University and can be obtained by a post card request to Conservation Department Publications, Lansing 26.

More than 50,000 applications for special deer season hunting permits have been received by the Conservation Department, one week before the October 10 deadline.

A total of 65,340 permits will be issued for the "any deer" seasons in 22 starvation and crop damage areas.

Requests for permits have exceeded quotas in two areas and are close to filling quotas in several other areas. More than 14,000 applications have poured in for the 4500 permits to be issued in Area 2, the Lake-Newaygo county area. Approximately 100 applications have been made for the 40 permits in Area 17—Bois Blanc Island.

In any area where applications exceed quotas, a drawing will be held to determine distribution of the permits. Permits are needed in Areas 2 and 17 only to hunt deer other than legal bucks during the regular November 15-30 season.

Area 8, the Roscommon-Auburn unit, also is popular with special season applicants. More than 4000 applications already are in for the area, where 4500 permits will be issued.

Applications for Areas 4 and 6, the Gladwin and Tawas units, also are numerous. Approximately 2400 applications have been made for the 4000 Gladwin permits and some 1200 deer hunters have made application for the 1800 Tawas area permits.

Quotas in many other areas are far from being filled, including Area 9, the Hanson-Dead Stream unit; the Fife Lake-Copemish unit; Area 11, the fruit country of Leelanau and surrounding counties; Area 12, the Torch Lake unit; and Area 16, the Alpena-Presque Isle county unit.

In each of the five upper peninsula special areas, applications have been made for only one-quarter of the permits to be issued.

Between now and election day, the candidates will be courting the favor of special groups, and there's no telling what will be said.

Here's what put the magic in the new kind of FORD!

It started with the "Inner Ford." When Ford planned this baby, they thought in terms of a car through-and-through new.

The wheels got smaller. This Ford is so new that even the wheels have changed. Now smaller and broader, they help you take off quickly.

The wheelbase got longer . . . so now you can choose between a Ford that's over 16 ft. long—or one over 17 ft. long!

The frame got wider. Side rails bow out to give a more stable, safer riding platform . . . a lower, sleeker silhouette.

The ride got smoother. With new suspension, new springing front and rear, the ride this new Ford gives is the smoothest ever.

The handling got easier. Poised and balanced like a panther, this car has swept-back front suspension that works its magic when you need it most.

The power got hotter. There's a wide range of Silver Anniversary V-8's to fit every horsepower need* . . . plus a new Mileage Maker Six.

"Six or V-8 the going is great"

What put the magic in the new kind of FORD?

The new Ford Fairlane 500 (118-inch wheelbase). Longer, lower, larger than many medium-priced cars, yet lower in price than most of them!

The roof got lower. And it's designed to let you make the easy entries and graceful exits you've always known.

The body got quieter. It's the strongest body built for a low-priced car. No car in Ford's field has such generous sound-proofing.

The room got bigger. There's head room to spare for a tycoon-type hat. There's real stretch-out leg room, too.

The lines got sweeter. They have the Touch of Tomorrow. Each graceful contour says, "Let's go!"

The style got smarter. With this new-look Ford you have a car that belongs anywhere! All Fairlane models look like hardtops.

The value got greater . . . the price is still Ford-low.

Merchants Lose in Final Game-Romulus Champs

The Plymouth Merchants fell only one game short of an inter-county baseball league championship when they lost to Romulus 6-0 in the final play-off game last Sunday.

"Of course, we would like to have taken the championship" coach and utility player John Schwartz said, "but we still think we've done pretty well—especially after the slow start we had at the beginning of the season, when we dropped four in a row."

Eddie Hock pitched the entire game for Plymouth, giving up four runs in the first inning on three hits and a home run plus two runs in the second on three hits and a wild pitch.

Hock settled down and pitched scoreless ball for the rest of the game but his team mates couldn't supply him any runs, their only hits being singles in the fourth, sixth and eighth by Harold Dewulf, Jack Dobbs and Ronnie Bender.

Rocks Meet Panthers For League Closer

The Plymouth Rocks will be looking for their third win of the season tomorrow night when the Redford Union Panthers come to town to wind up Suburban-Six League play.

Coached by Don Gill in his first year as head football mentor, the Panthers operate out of both "T" and "single wing" formations.

Fifteen returning lettermen have not been much help to coach Gill, the Panthers having lost all their games so far. They lost to Allen Park Friday night 28-12.

Last year the Rocks topped Redford 13-6 to finish the season in third place, one step above the Panthers.

"Redford is a win-hungry team" coach Mike Hoben remarked yesterday, "and we don't intend to take them lightly."

"Andy" Anderson pitched a complete game for Romulus also, giving up only three scattered singles. Anderson's "junk-ball" style of pitching proved too much for the Merchants to figure out.

Regulars on the Merchant team include Kessler, Dewulf and Thomson on first, second and third base, Fairbanks, Mahrley and Bender in right, center and left field, Dobbs at short stop, Tomlinson catching and Hock and Shepard, both pitchers. Basset, Newstead and Schwartz all acted as coaches and utility players.

"Our prospects look good for next year" Schwartz remarked, "and we should have a good season. We would like to thank all our sponsors and fans for the fine support they have given us throughout this season."

Howard "Hopalong" Cassidy of the Detroit Lions scored 34 touchdowns during his four year Ohio State career, fifteen in his final season.

Decoster Leads Cross Country Team to Win Over Trenton, 21-36

The long winded Plymouth cross country team, led by Dave Decoster, chalked up another win Friday afternoon as they showed their heels to the Trenton Trojans to take their fourth meet in a row, 21-36.

Decoster set an unofficial course record as he led the pack over the leaf strewn two-mile-plus trail to finish first with a time of eleven minutes and one second. The record is "unofficial" because John Balough posted a shorter course four years ago.

John Sandmann, athletic director and cross country coach, estimates the present course to be at least 150 yards longer than the one on which the old record was set. Added to the end of a gruelling two mile race, this should make Decoster the faster man by about 30 seconds.

Dave Decoster of Plymouth finished first in 11:01, second was LaFleur of Trenton with 11:11, Tony Monte of Plymouth ran third in 11:26, Charlie Westover of Plymouth was fourth with 11:45 and Jim Dzurus ran sixth in 11:51.

Finishing seventh, ninth and thirteenth were Williams, Bufe and Urquhart of Plymouth.

The Rock Harriers have their sights set on the league meet next on October 19, after which comes the regional meet October 27 and the state meet in Ypsilanti November 3.

Rocks Pull Up Sox, Battle League Leading Trenton to Scoreless Tie

Plymouth Band Plays at Game

Plymouth high school's 65-piece marching band will join 170 other Michigan bands this Saturday for a half-time performance at the Northwestern - Michigan football game. A total of 10,500 performers will be in action during the eighth annual band day. This will be under last year's record-breaking performance when 181 high school bands and 11,500 performers took part.

The reduction is intentional, according to William Revelli, conductor of the University bands. Last year's turnout proved to be too big to fit nicely into the football field.

Lights will be on early in Plymouth and many Michigan towns as the high school musicians roll out early in order to reach Ann Arbor by 8:15 a.m. Rehearsal will start 30 minutes later. Bands will start entering the stadium at 11:45 a.m.

Seven numbers will be played: Stars and Stripes Forever, Mister Touchdown, U.S.A., Whiffenpoof Song, Anchors Aweigh, Marines Hymn, U.S. Field Artillery March and Drums and Bells.

There are many ways in which people try to have their cake and eat it, too.

A fired-up Plymouth football team, apparently unimpressed by the record of their unbeaten, league leading opponent, pulled up their sox Friday night and battled a highly regarded Trenton squad to a scoreless tie.

"It was primarily a defensive battle" Plymouth coach Mike Hoben said, "and it could have gone either way. The boys played a tight game."

An unusually large crowd of Plymouth fans made the 70 mile round trip to Trenton in perfect football weather. They were rewarded with one of the best defensive games of the prep school season.

Plymouth twice ground toward pay dirt in Trenton territory, only to have the Trojani line stiffen and hold on the crucial play. Trenton found they had no monopoly on a determined line, however, when Plymouth matched their line play by stopping two Trojan drives short of the uprights.

Drobeck and Ward were singled out as the outstanding Rock defensive players by coach Hoben, who picked Calhoun and Schacht as the offensive sparkplugs of Friday's game.

Game statistics (which are often misleading) give an accurate picture of the scoreless battle waged in Trenton. Plymouth made 10 first downs to Trenton's 9, rushing 173 yards to The Trojans' 189, and passing 32 yards to 40. Plymouth gained a total of 210 yards while yielding 229 to their foes. The Rocks threw ten passes, completed two and intercepted none. The Trojans tossed eleven, completed one and intercepted two.

In other league games Friday, Allen Park beat Redford Union 28-12 and Bentley outscored Belleville 19-14. This leaves Bentley tied for first place with Trenton, Allen Park second, Plymouth third, Belleville fourth and Redford Union in the basement.

Bentley and Trenton will wage war for first place tomorrow night as Allen Park meets Belleville and Plymouth plays host to Redford Union in the last league game of the season.

The Rocks wind up football for the year with a game against Garden City here on October 26, and a final tilt with Ypsilanti on Ypsi ground.

"Touch" Teams on a White-wash Spree

Five teams were white-washed last week as the grade school touch football program neared mid-season.

Allen school beat Smith 7-0, Bird topped Canton Hill (outlying schools) 6-0, Allen won again over Canton Hill 6-0, Bird took another game by beating Starkweather 7-0 and Our Lady of Good Counsel blanked Smith 6-0.

So far every game played has resulted in a whitewash, which attests to the good defensive play on the part of the fifth and sixth graders.

Both Bird School and Our Lady of Good Counsel have won three games while losing none. Bird beating Smith, Canton Hill and Starkweather with Our Lady of Good Counsel victorious over Canton Hill, Starkweather and Smith.

Plymouth Coon Hunt of 1830's Ends in Frightening Experience

The coon hunting season that opened in Michigan October 20 is not quite the same as it was over 100 years ago in the Plymouth area when the sport for early settlers sometimes ended in an all-out screaming adventure.

Reminiscences of a coon hunt in the 1830's by the Reverend Barton Taylor, who in his youth lived on land now in the city of Plymouth, tell of a coon hunt. The account is in the possession of the University of Michigan Historical collections.

"It was a dark cloudy night with no stars to guide us. John carried the axe, James the torch, and I the pocket compass and a rifle. We had ventured more than half a mile in to the woods when suddenly the dog came running as though for his life. I knew a once he had met something he was afraid of.

He continues, "Near by I saw a large hollow maple stub. The tree had broken off twenty feet from the ground. James thrust the torch into the hollow and in a few minutes the flames were shooting among the tree tops, roaring like distant thunder.

"In that moment we heard an almost plaintive sound in the direction we had come. This was answered by another in another direction and we found ourselves entirely surrounded by a choir of serenading wolves. We enjoyed a grand, wild concert then, the roaring flames playing among the mighty trees and the circle of wild, weird voices echoing through the forest.

"We spent most of the night chopping wood and keeping up a great fire. We kept poles with one end in the fire so that we would have fire-brands as well as guns to fight with. Every little while we would see the wolf forms moving about us and see their eyes glaring in the fire-light.

"Later in the night" he goes on "they seemed to leave us. We could hear their voices growing more and more distant, all moving in one direction. They were gone about one hour when they returned and continued their serenade until daylight and then moved off in the direction of the swamp, their voices growing fainter in the distance."

Concluding the account of the savage concert, the Reverend Taylor writes: "On reaching home we learned the occasion of the midnight interruption of our serenade. The whole drove visited our house at that time, had several fights with the cattle in the yard, clambered over the fence, howled around the sheep pen, and scampered about the dooryard.

"My father, I learned, had stepped out onto the front steps, closing the door behind him and by the light which shone through the window put a rifle bullet into the head of one animal that stood looking at the light. There he lay in the morning—a great gray wolf seven feet long from the tip of his nose to the end of his tail.

Handicapped Give 'Success' Award to Senator Swainson

State Senator John B. Swainson, a World War II double amputee, was named "Mr. Success of 1956" last week by the American Federation of the Physically Handicapped. He is now a resident of Plymouth.

Swainson, who represents the 18th State Senatorial District, was honored at a banquet at Carsons, Woodward and Burroughs Thursday night (Oct. 11) by the AFPH as a highlight of National Employment of the Physically Handicapped Week (Oct. 7-13).

The youthful solon grew up in Port Huron where he was an Eagle Scout, fullback and captain of the Port Huron High School football team. He joined the army in 1943.

While serving as a combat infantryman near Metz, France, he lost both legs in a land mine explosion during a night patrol.

After his discharge, Swainson attended Olivet College and University of North Carolina where he earned his law degree. He represented the University of North Carolina at a United Nations session and was elected president of the University Law School Association.

Swainson has law offices at 3001 Cadillac Tower. He takes part in service club activities and is a member of the VFW, American Legion, and Amvets. He serves as Judge Advocate, Michigan Department, Disabled American Veterans.

Swainson is married. He attends Bethesda Lutheran Church with his wife, Alice, and sons, Steve and Peter. He owns his own home.

In spite of his handicap, Swainson is one of the few legislators with a perfect attendance record. He has not missed a session since his election in 1954.

Northville, Site of Annual District Scouters Meeting

Scouting achievements in 1956 and objectives for 1957 are to be reviewed at the annual meeting of adult scouters of the Sunset District on Thursday, November 1, at the Northville Community center. The meeting is to be preceded by a buffet dinner for approximately 400 scouters and their ladies. All institutional representatives of sponsoring organizations, troop, pack, or post committee chairmen and all other adult leaders have been invited to attend this important and festive event.

The Sunset District is the largest of the Detroit Area Council, largest Boy Scout Council in the U. S. The district, named for its location on the western side of Wayne county, includes all of Wayne county west of Inkster road with a jog to the east to include all of the Village of Inkster.

Administration of the scouting program within this district rests with the 130 members of the District Committee representing the 70 organizations who sponsor Boy,

Cub or Explorer Scout units. The committee is assisted by 25 volunteer commissioners, a professional executive, Wendell Henry, and his assistant, R. Chockley, in guiding and aiding more than 100 Scouting units now active in this rapidly-growing area.

In addition to these adults, the scouting program in the district requires adult leadership in each troop, pack or post in roles of scoutmaster, assistant scoutmasters, and troop committeemen. Over 1,000 adults are now engaged in Scouting activities within the Sunset District.

$100 Tickets Selling Fast

At $100 a place, 700 tickets have been sold for a Stevenson-Kefauver "television dinner" that will be held at Detroit's Hotel Statler next Saturday, a committee reported today.

Gov. Ed Muskie of Maine is the guest of honor. Thomas H. E. Quimby, of Lansing, national Democratic committeeman, will be the toastmaster. Donald M. D. Thurber is dinner chairman.

Part of the program will consist of closed-circuit television, the show originating from various cities where similar dinners are being held. Broadway and Hollywood stars will participate, among them Henry Fonda, Frank Sinatra, Robert Ryan, Paul Douglas, Marlon Brando, Mitch Miller, Bette Davis, Geraldine Fitzgerald and Harry Belafonte.

Seven hundred tickets sold would mean $70,000 collected. Committee headquarters are at 2347 National Bank Building, W.O. 5-7493. Two dining rooms have been reserved.

Burt Boyar IN NEW YORK

The Joker Is Mild !!!

As Joe E. Lewis says of himself, "I'm not really a comedian. I'm an osteopath. Worked around joints all my life." Everyone knows that Joe is the cutest and funniest man alive. It's common knowledge that he's a charitable man, the sole support of many institutions. It's easy to understand how Las Vegas pays such high salaries to actors when you know that it is really Joe E. Lewis who is paying them. Joe is also a military man ("a full colonel in Calvert Reserve"). These things are well known, but what I wanted to find out is what does the night club king do during the day.

Lewis

I CALLED JOE and explained that I wanted to shadow him around town. "C'mon up," he said. Then added, "What're you wearing?" I told him I was seen inside a sport jacket. "Very good," said Joe E. The Well Dressed Man, "I'll be wearing my usual kimono."

He opened the door, wearing his usual kimono which had shrunk down so (these on-the-road laundries are murder!) that it looked like a pair of shorts. "C'MON AND HAVE SOME BREAKFAST," he invited. It was three in the afternoon, reminding us of his line, "You don't know what it is to work in night clubs. You don't understand what it means to have oatmeal at six in the evening." I sat down at the table with him, poured some coffee and looked around. It was a normal breakfast table such as you'd see in any home; a piece of melon, crackers, toast, cream cheese and the morning paper bringing news of important world events from Belmont, Atlantic City and as far away as Epsom Downs.

JOE WAS GOING through the mail. "Here's a letter from Sam Briskin. He's producing my picture, you know 'The Joker Is Wild!' Sam wants me to come out and be a technical director." He shrugged. "He's got the wrong man and I'll have to write and tell him so. The technical director for this movie should be the bartender at the Copa."

The phone rang. It was Eli Basse, his noted writer. They discussed a particular "tag line" Joe needed for one of his songs. Basse went back to work on it and they hung up. "Lemme take a shower and get dressed and we'll go out," Joe said, walking across the room in his shorts and little woolly sluffs.

I HAD A CHANCE to inspect the room. The walls were paneled, two huge mirrors were on opposite sides. Under the glass top of a lamp table Joe had slipped pictures of his "family"—one showed Dan Arstein, the taxi tycoon, with Joe and Swifty Morgan. The other was of him with Maurice Chevalier and Jack Dempsey. A miniature Scotch bottle (empty) was on the fireplace ledge. I called in and asked, "Can I use your phone?" He told me to go right ahead. I picked up the receiver and the operator expecting the usual voice said, "Yes, my sweetheart?" That's how they feel about him. It's very dull. Everyone does.

THE KING of the Comics walked into the room, adjusting his clothes. "Let me show you around," he said. We went to one corner of the room. "This is the library," he explained. He took a Raebing Manual, some old Morning Telegraphs and other important related data out of a drawer. "Now," he said, "we leave the library and in one step we are at the bar. Very cozy and intimate." He opened a cabinet and showed some bottles. We walked across the room, "This is the studio," he said. He pointed to a reproduction of Gainsborough on the wall. "I did that in my early days." He said, "That reminds me when I was in Las Vegas and they gave Guy McAfee (owner of the Golden Nugget) a birthday party and presented him with a bust of himself. I told his wife, 'June, why didn't you let me make that bust?' She said she didn't know I was a sculptor. I was very insulted. I told her 'June, honey, I've been a sculptor all my life.' She looked at me kinda hard, so I was forced to admit that I am not exactly a sculptor. More what you'd call a chiseler."

WE LEFT THE HOTEL. As we strolled down Sixth Avenue I told him I hoped I wasn't imposing upon him. "I'm glad to have the company," he said. I wondered out loud, "I would think you'd have to push people away with bats." He shook his head negatively. "I don't know. I guess I'm the retiring type." As we walked toward Broadway and 48th people nudged one another, pointed to him, waved, smiled and walked up to shake his hand.

WE WENT UPSTAIRS in the Brill Building (Tin Pan Alley headquarters) to the offices of Dr. Peter Mogul. Joe introduced us. "Mr. Boyar is a friend of mine with a newspaper. We came up to interview you." He got into the chair, slipped off his shoes and socks and said, "And while we're doing this interview, you know, you can fix me up a little bit." The doctor sprayed Joe's feet, clipped his nails and asked, "Did you see mama, Joe?" The comedian answered, "Yeah, sure!" like "what the hell d'ya think?" . . . The doctor pointed to a picture of a dog. "I did some orthopedic work on him and saved him from being destroyed." Joe stared at the picture. "Beautiful," he said. "Beautiful dog. Looks like Jessel."

JOE LOOKED AT HIS FEET and said, "You know there's no nail on that pinky toe so I think I should get ten per cent off." The doctor didn't figure he'd better laugh very hard. To laugh might be to start a new trend. Joe kept needing him, "The manicurist gives me ten per cent off for this thumb." He had a band-aid wrapped around it. "I smashed it in Beldon Kattelman's Thunderbird in Vegas and the nail fell off." I winced, thinking of the pain. Joe waved. "It didn't hurt. I was stiff."

Dr. Mogul turned on the vibrator. Joe purred, "This is what I like. I have to be annoyed with the rest of the routine to get it, but this is what I like." Dr. Mogul shook his head, "You're not the only one. Look at Arnold Reuben. On his feet for hours. He takes a taxi over here, gets the vibrator and then he walks back to the restaurant."

WE LEFT THE CHIROPODIST. We walked ten blocks toward his dental appointment. Joe reminisced how he'd spent his youth hanging around the Strand Building. "We used to go to the music publishers and get free professional copies of the new songs. That was the racket in those days."

I was getting winded. It had been a lot of walking for me. "Walking's the only exercise I get," said Joe, mercifully hailing a taxi. We drove over to the Squibb Building. "It was nice having you with me," he said. "Let's do it again." I told him, sincerely, how nothing could suit me better. Such a nice, warm guy. He waved and walked into the crowd of office workers going home. He flipped a quarter, or a half or maybe even a silver dollar to a tiny old lady who sold him some chewing gum. Joe went up to the dentist. It was five p.m. Pretty soon it would be time for lunch.

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

Well worth preparing once you've sampled the results are these "Hot Butterscotch-Pecan Rolls" which Mrs. Charles Dickey starts above.

Butterscotch Pecan Rolls Top Popularity Poll

Got some extra time on your hands and want to surprise family or guests with a really special treat? Then this recipe, submitted by Mrs. Charles Dickey, 45480 Five Mile road, is right up your alley. It's the makin' for some truly delicious yeast rolls which will up your popularity rating wherever you serve them, in the family circle, to the coffee klatch crowd or what have you. Hard to resist are these light and tender yeast rolls laced with a gooey, caramel, pecan-laden mixture. Here's Mrs. Dickey's recipe for this special treat:

Hot Butterscotch-Pecan Rolls
Dough:
1 cake fresh or 1 pkg. granular yeast
1 cup lukewarm milk.
1/4 cup sugar
1-teaspoon salt
2 well-beaten eggs
1 1/2 cups enriched flour
1/4 cup melted butter or shortening

Crumble yeast into mixing bowl. Stir in lukewarm milk, sugar and salt. Let stand until yeast is dissolved. Stir in well-beaten eggs. Add 1/2 of the flour. Beat until mixture drops from spoon in "sheets"—five to 10 minutes. Stir in remaining flour with hand, adding just enough to make a soft dough. Mix well. Then knead until smooth and elastic. Round up; place in greased bowl. Cover with damp cloth. Let rise in warm place (82 degrees) until double, about two hours. Punch down. Let rise again until almost double, about 45 minutes. Cover with damp cloth; let rest 10 minutes. Roll to rectangle 1/4-inch thick and twice as long as it is wide.

Brush rectangle with soft butter; sprinkle with 1/4 cup sugar mixed with 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Roll up, starting from long end, pinch to seal.

Place 1-inch slices in this mixture: Melt 2 tablespoons butter; add 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1/4 cup dark corn syrup, heat to dissolve sugar. Sprinkle with 1/2 cup pecans, 1/4 cup raisins.

Place rolls in 9-inch square or round baking pan. Let rise about 30 minutes. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes. Turn onto rack or cookie sheet.

Jack Frost Needs Hot, Cold Setting For Painting Freedom Colorama

Autumn artist Jack Frost can't be expected to paint masterpieces in your yard unless he is fired with solar energy.

Jack needs sunshine as well as cold nights for his best efforts, according to tree experts. Warm, bright days and cool nights below 45 degrees—but not necessarily with frost—are the combination needed to produce brilliant red and orange autumn leaves.

Sunshine helps leaves manufacture a good deal of sugar. When daytime warmth is followed by a sudden temperature drop, sugar and other materials are trapped in the leaves. And the accumulation of these materials produces the pigment for fall's freedom colorama.

The discriminating tree buyer can choose his back yard color scheme in advance, but he should be careful to plant on the sunny side of the lot. Here is a more colorful assortment of trees to grace your landscape:

For red foliage: Flowering dogwood, Franklinia, Japanese Maple, red maple, sugar maple, pin-oak, scarlet oak, white oak, sourwood, shadbowl, serviceberry, American sweetgum and black tupelo.

For orange foliage: Cockspur hawthorn, American Hornbeam, sugar maple, black oak, common sassafras and Tatarian maple.

For yellow foliage: White oak, Kentucky coffeetree, ginkgo, common honeylocust, American redbud, tuliptree and black walnut.

Correct Color Can Help Accentuate Your Home

Good use of paint-color can show your house at its best. It can accentuate the best architectural features and conceal the less attractive ones so they will hardly be noticed.

If the windows and doors are well placed and in good proportion, they can be painted a color that contrasts to the body of the house. If they are too large, too small, or awkwardly placed, a matching color will bring them into better line.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

If you are still wearing your brows in a thin, artificially pencilled line, your lips in a cupid's bow, your rouge in round dots over each cheek, you are doing yourself a great injustice. Learn now to apply makeup so that it looks natural and plays up your best features.

Make your eyes as interesting as you can. Mascara is a boon to drab eyelashes. Use a water-proof type and apply to the upper lashes only. After the mascara has dried, brush through lashes with a clean dry eyelash brush to prevent a beady appearance.

Choose your foundation with consideration to your coloring and the texture of your skin. Never let there be an obvious line of demarcation below the chin. Work your foundation upward from the base of your neck.

Determine the shape of your face and place your rouge so it will compliment your face. There are three types of rouge to choose from—cream, liquid and dry. Most women prefer the cream type for the natural look of color it gives. However, if your skin is oily, you should use the dry or fluid type.

It is a good idea to put all rouge under your foundation unless directions with the rouge say different.

After you have applied your foundation and rouge and one application of lipstick and blotted the lipstick well, it is time to apply powder. The color and the weight of powder are both important. Most women look best when they use a light-weight powder. Apply a dusting of loose powder to the entire face and neck area—lips included. Use a clean puff to brush away the extra amounts of powder.

Now apply your last coat of lipstick and allow it to set for a few minutes while you complete your makeup.

Brush any excess powder from your hairline and from brows and lashes. Now use mascara or a bit of oil on your lashes and eyelids. If you are going to use eye-shadow, do not put oil on your lids.

If you must, now is the time to change or enhance your brow line. Use a soft crayon pencil to fill in the brow and then brush over with a light touch of oil to give gloss.

Grange Cleanings

The big day, our bazaar, is over and a very successful day it was in every way. Wonderful weather, warm and bright. A fine lot of nice things were brought into the bazaar and the dinner was superb. Everything was so well cooked and seasoned just right. The ham was especially delicious, a large crowd came for the dinner. There would have been more if there had been room for them.

After the football game why not have friends stop by your home for a bite to eat? Here's a snappy serving that will satisfy hearty appetites—Sausage-Muffin Surprises.

Plump sausage links are used for this open-face sandwich. Allow 3 or 4 per serving. Place the sausage links in a frying-pan. Add 2 or 3 tablespoons of water. Cover and let them stand for 8 minutes. Then remove the cover and lightly brown the sausage links.

Next, cut large English muffins in half and butter lightly. Then place the muffins on a cookie sheet or broiler pan. On each muffin place a half slice of American cheese and top with 3 or 4 of the cooked sausage links. Spread with a tablespoon of catsup and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Then slip them in your broiler—about 3 inches from heat—and broil for 5 minutes or until the cheese is bubbly.

Allow 2 sandwiches per person. Serve with a big bowl of potato chips or French fried onion rings. Add a tray of relishes or a tossed salad. For dessert you might like a basket of big red apples and doughnuts.

Does your child's lunch bucket rate "A"? It does if it is generous, that is, contains one third of his food requirements for the day; if it is well balanced, including protein, fruit, bread and butter; if it looks good, containing little things such as napkins, salt and pepper and neatly packaged food; if it tastes good, keeping in mind that youngsters like desserts, such as cake or pie, fruits and jam, jelly and other spreads.

Clean Storage Comes First In Clothes Care

The first step in storing away those summer clothes is to clean them thoroughly. It pays off to put them away clean, because the longer spots and stains remain on the fabrics, the more likely they are to become set and hard to remove.

It's wise, too, to remove any pins or metal ornaments that might leave marks on fabrics in storage, points out an extension clothing specialist at Michigan State university. You will save time if you put away washable summer clothes "rough dried."

Other garments, such as men's summer suits or coats will keep in best shape if carefully placed on hangers in clothes bags to keep off dust.

All boxes or paper dress bags should be labeled giving the description of the contents such as "Mary's spring coat." Then, if you should want to find a specific garment in the middle of the winter for a warm-weather vacation, you will know just where to look.

Any fabric that you are afraid may stretch, or a garment that is heavily trimmed, should be packed flat. Pad it well to keep its shape and to avoid sharp creases that weaken the fibers. For suits and dresses that will hang all winter, place on padded hanger to help keep the shoulder line in place.

Old socks or bags made of scraps are handy to use around those summer white shoes to protect them and the things with which they are stored. Cottons and linens can be stored without starch and unironed. Nylons and silks need no special treatment, says the specialist, except to store them free of wrinkles. Nylon can be stored indefinitely without deterioration of the fiber.

Try This Quintette Of Homemaking Tips

If you need to patch pajamas, use the pajama pockets as a source of material. They're used seldom and the material matches perfectly.

Insert a piece of wrapping paper underneath the seams and darts on the garment you're sewing. It avoids the ridges showing on the right side of the garment.

When you have sheets to mend, place on a table, cut a patch to fit, then hold the patch in place with pieces of cellophane tape while you sew. The tape is easily removed and leaves no marks.

When you wash plastic curtains and place on the line, clip clothes pins on the lower edge of the curtain so they do not curl as the plastic dries.

If you have a lumpy, old cot mattress, cover with sturdy denim and let the youngsters use it for tumbling and jumping activities on days they can't go outside to play.

Cooked green peas or carrots, fresh green pepper squares, parsley or red pimento slices mixed into white cooked rice add gay colors to rice rings or mounds of rice.

Food Sense -- Not Nonsense

On the Surface -- It's a Treasure

Another treasure uncovered by science which has proved effective in substantially reducing tooth decay is not one to be brushed aside. This treasure — with a name that is a mouthful, too — is sodium lauryl sarcosinate, a "miracle drug." Its action takes place on tooth surfaces and when added to a dentifrice, it performs equally well whether teeth are brushed in the morning and evening only or after each meal.

These results revealed by a two-year research project have recently been published by Dr. L. S. Fosdick of Northwestern University. Young adults in industry and students at three different universities had co-operated to test the effectiveness of the new product.

Behind this research is the belief that decay is caused by acids which attack the surface enamel of teeth. These acids are produced rapidly when bacteria act on foods with a high sugar content. Carbohydrate foods which contain starch — such as enriched bread, cereals, or potatoes — have not been a dental threat, however, since the action of bacteria on these foods is so slow that saliva can easily neutralize any acids which are formed. Bacteria need direction in attacking tooth enamel — support from substances called enzymes. By slowing down the effectiveness of enzymes with the new "miracle drug," acids are prevented from attacking enamel.

"Digging" beneath the surface, dental scientists continue to emphasize, however, that good nutrition — the real treasure — is basic to the formation of strong, healthy teeth. A varied diet which includes enriched bread and cereals, milk, meat, fruits and vegetables is important for everyone, but particularly so for the pregnant woman and the growing child. With a legacy of good nutrition as a starter, care of tooth surfaces assumes its place in maintaining dental health.

Do's, Don'ts For Automatic Clothes Dryers

"It's not what you do, but the way that you do it" certainly applies to using your automatic clothes dryer. To get best service from it, Wayne County Home Demonstration agent suggests, be sure clothes are thoroughly rinsed before they go into the dryer. This prevents the possibility of yellowing from detergent left in the fabric.

DON'T OVERLOAD YOUR DRYER. This increases the drying time, prevents uniform drying and causes clothes to wrinkle, making ironing more difficult. Though a dryer, like a washer, may take 8 or 9 pounds (dry weight) of clothes, research shows that a lighter load of about 6 pounds washes better and dries faster.

When the automatic dryer turns off, it pays to take out the clothes promptly to prevent wrinkles. Careful timing pays, too, because over-drying causes wrinkles and uses more electricity than necessary.

WHEN YOU SORT CLOTHES FOR THE WASHER, start thinking ahead to the dryer, because it's more convenient to transfer the load directly from washer to dryer than to sort the damp load.

Consider the weight of fabric for greater drying efficiency and ease of handling loads. Turkish towels or other heavy fabrics, for example, take considerably longer in the dryer than lightweight nylons. By drying heavier articles first, heat will be built up and reduce drying time for lighter articles.

Time needed to dry a load depends on the kind of fabric, the weight, size of the load and amount of moisture in the clothes. If you wish to feel the dryness of clothes, pull them out into the air, because they will feel moist in the dryer. Remember that clothes don't have to get "bone dry" in the dryer, in fact, it's usually better for the fabric if they don't. Clothes come out hot and the heat left in them gives the final drying outside the dryer.

Carve meat across the grain. Roasts are more easily carved if allowed to "set" for about 20 minutes after they come from the oven.

Use Dominant Color, Pattern to Unify Room

Coordinated fabrics help to unify a room, much as coordinated clothes emphasize a single aspect of a woman's personality.

In expressing this opinion, a noted fashion director says that one basic theme should be expressed in redecorating a room. Similar cotton fabrics repeated in all, can be used throughout the room, she advises. This technique is especially useful for unifying a difficult, poorly integrated room.

House hold cottons and dress fabrics tend to follow similar style trends, the expert reports.

In both, the "polished" look is featured this season. Cotton satins and chintzes have lustrous shining surfaces which reflect the light, add their own gleaming color and pattern interest to every room in the house.

Variety of Patterns Patterns and colors featured include luxurious formal types as well as gay bright patterns that add cheer to a kitchen or bathroom window.

The luxury look of the all-over pattern is shown in a damask-type print on cotton satin. Beautiful colorings of reds on pink, blues on pale blue ground, mauve tones on a pastel mauve ground are featured. Huge chandeliers, done in a modern splatter technique, make a formal pattern on cotton satin in subtle color schemes, such as charcoal, mauve and blue.

Coordinated to the many printed cotton satins are plain colors which make it easy for home decorators to pair-up drapes, bedspreads, dressing table skirts, slippers and pillows.

Fabric Coordination In the coordinated theme is a flower-printed chintz which can be combined with a correlated check and with plain-colored chintz. Still another coordination is achieved by a sheer lawn which comes in the same flower print as the chintz, and which can be used for curtains.

A large-scaled scenic wall covering contributes strong character to the room, even substituting its design for pictures.

Bleaching Damage The "wrinkle resistant" type of cotton garments, so popular this season have given some plantowners quite a headache.

A number of these blouses and shirts which fell apart during pressing were studied. It was found that the damage, in most cases, can be traced to excessive bleaching at home.

These cottons acquire this "wrinkle resistant" quality after being treated with some types of resin. Unfortunately, such resin picks up chlorine in home bleach such as Chlorox, Oxol, or Lincon, and cannot be rinsed out. Furthermore, when these garments are ironed at home, the resin does not get hot enough to release the chlorine held. If these garments are then taken to a laundry, and are dried thoroughly during pressing, the chlorine will be released, causing the garments to fall apart.

Colorful Fall Fare--Mexican Peppers

When the Summer whirl is ended, children return to school, and life reverts back to its normal routine, what could be more timely than a dinner featuring hearty, inexpensive, simple stuffed green peppers?

The green peppers, golden corn, and crimson tomatoes, contrasted with fluffy white rice, make this dish as bright as an Autumn day — one that will certainly satisfy those hearty appetites stimulated by brisk Autumn weather! Called Mexican Peppers, here's a main dish both easy on the budget and easy to make — when you use packaged pre-cooked rice. Serve with a crisp salad. Result? A delicious combination, bringing the magic of Fall colors right to your table!

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1 1/2 cups (5-ounce package) packaged pre-cooked rice | 1 1/2 cups drained canned whole kernel corn |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt | 1 cup grated Cheddar cheese |
| 1 1/2 cups boiling water | 1 tablespoon grated onion |
| 5 green peppers | 1 1/2 teaspoons salt |
| 2 tablespoons butter | Dash of pepper |
| 3 eggs, slightly beaten | 3 tomatoes, sliced |
- Melted butter

Add rice and 1/2 teaspoon salt to boiling water in saucepan. Mix just to moisten all rice. Cover and remove from heat. Let stand 13 minutes.

Cut peppers in half lengthwise and remove seeds. Cook the peppers in boiling salted water 5 minutes, or until tender. Drain. Place peppers, cut side up, in baking dish. Sprinkle lightly with salt. Combine the rice, butter, eggs, corn, cheese, onion, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, and the pepper. Mix well. Fill pepper halves with rice mixture and top each with a slice of tomato and brush with melted butter. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 35 minutes, or until filling is firm. Makes 5 servings.

For the price of a laundry basket* you can do 50 loads in your electric clothes dryer. An electric dryer saves you work, too. No more heavy clothes baskets to lug outdoors. Just turn the dial to get soft, fluffy laundry every time. No wonder smart homemakers say:

"You can Live Better ::: Electrically"

Dream House Has 2nd Parlor

American housewives are demanding a revival of the old-fashioned "back parlor" as a peaceful retreat from noisy children and household chores.

Many are converting little-used dining rooms into "family" living rooms, convenient to the kitchen where the kids can watch television, hold dances, play games and generally raise a ruckus. The living room is then turned into a back parlor and a refuge from clatter and bang.

This trend appeared evident during a conference of "100 housewives" called by Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole in Washington this year. In a series of discussion groups, the women gave their ideas for the dream home of the future.

Madonna College Grad Writes Of School System in France

(Gloria Laginess, a native of Belleville and graduate of nearby Madonna college last June, has been writing of her experiences as an International Farm Youth Exchange Delegate in France. This letter to The Mail tells of the school system there.)

In America, school bells ring early in September and all the kiddies are off to school for another year of study. But here in France, school starts in October.

In my visits to various schools and teaching in several agricultural centers, I found that every village has a well-constructed school, but poorly furnished. The classrooms are small with long wooden tables and benches or desks. In the middle of every room sits a big stove and a basket of wood. The windows are usually high with very poor lighting facilities.

Along the front of the room is a chalk board and the teacher's desk which sits up on a high platform. Usually there are three pupils to one bench with their books piled neatly on the floor. Every pupil has a black slate board and chalk for writing. This takes the place of a pencil and notebook.

School begins at 9 a.m., leaving time for children to help with the chores. Lunch starts at noon and classes begin again at 2 p.m. and end at 4. There is no bus service in most parts of France.

Only in very small villages do boys and girls attend classes together. Otherwise, they go to separate schools. In a small village there may be 40 to 50 pupils in one classroom. They may be of all ages and grades.

There is no school on Thursdays and Sundays, but Saturday is a regular school day. All holidays are celebrated with two weeks off for Christmas and Easter.

Summer vacation starts in July and many pupils attend summer classes in the evening.

I was happy to have the opportunity to teach at various agricultural centers, both Catholic and public, during the summer. Summer sessions are voluntary. I showed slides and movies on American agricultural and answered questions on life in America. At first it was difficult trying to explain things in French, but I found the children are very good teachers. They weren't always on time for classes and many times I answered the same questions over and over.

In general, I found children are eager to learn and spend a lot of time studying. Before entering secondary schools at 14, they must pass a stiff examination. School is obligatory up until 14 years of age.

At the age of 18, many girls and boys become teachers of primary grades, but in order to teach in secondary classes they must attend an extra year of school.

There are very few, if any, extra curricular activities in French schools. It is my opinion that the pupils receive a good, sound education, but are missing much by not having music, arts and sports like our American schools.

EIGHT ACRES of nearly barren land now exists where a $1,000,000 project is to be erected on Plymouth's eastern edge. This view is looking southeast from the rear of Starkweather school. The home at left faces Plymouth road and will be the site for the building that will house two insurance firms. Riverside park is at far left. Announcement of the project was made last week.

Fall Weather is Ideal for painting

Early fall — mid-September through October — is considered by most experts to be the ideal time for house painters to set up their ladders and go to it. It's the time of the year, they say, when the days are likely to be dry and clear and the temperature in the safety zone for painting, that is above 40°. When the mercury dips below that figure, look out, for the coating may stay soft and collect dirt.

Careful preparation of the surfaces to be painted is just as important as good weather. Actually the job of painting your house starts with this preparation. As it is quite logical to expect, the end result can be only as good as its foundation. The surface on which new paint is to be applied must be sound, smooth and — if they are iron or steel — rust-free. To achieve this, all loose dirt should be removed with a dusting brush; all rust on the metal surfaces eliminated with the aid of a wire brush and steel wool. Where putty around window panes has cracked or loosened, it should be replaced. Cracks and holes around window and door frames, and between flashing and bricks, should be carefully caulked.

If the old paint has scaled, cracked or blistered, it may be necessary to remove it entirely. This can sometimes be done with liquid paint remover or with an electric paint remover. If it's a job which requires use of a blow-torch, better have a professional come in for this because of the fire hazard involved.

Where portions of wood have been replaced or where rust has been removed from the metal, a priming coat should be applied without delay. The primer will block moisture entrance into the wood and protect the metal from further rusting. Before actual painting is begun with an oil base paint, be sure that the surfaces to be painted are absolutely dry.

If your house is in the small or medium category — one or two stories — firmly placed ladders will serve. On larger homes, scaffolding, erected by professionals who know how, will be required. In this latter case, you would be wise to let the painting contractor do all the hard-to-reach high places, while you do the lower, easy-to-reach areas. Often in such arrangements, the painting contractor will demonstrate a variety of methods of application and give the home owner advice on proper painting procedure.

Needless to say you will get the best results if you use brushes and paint products of the best quality — products that are especially devised for the surfaces on which you use them. Properly chosen and properly applied, these products will give the longest service and keep your cost of "paint insurance" at a minimum. Remember, it's thriffter

Roof Line Adds Appeal

A welcome departure from long, unbroken roof lines is the key to the exterior charm of this efficient, six-room home designed by Rudolph A. Matern, Jamaica, N.Y., architect.

The gabled front, set off by a broad stone chimney, combines with a roof break between the house and cupola-topped garage to create the look of individuality so desirable in today's homes.

Inside, an open, 32-foot living-dining room boasts a wood-burning fireplace and a 12-foot-wide picture window. The three bedrooms are well-separated from the working and entertaining areas of the house, and the kitchen has table space plus a step-saving U-shaped work area.

The effect of the unusual roof is heightened by the use of light-colored asphalt shingles. The stone chimney is both decorative and functional, with a stone planter extending from

The reason you sometimes hear more "news" on the street corner than you see in the newspaper is because the newspaper has to stand behind what it prints for all to read.

Plan Your Bathroom Early

Advance planning and the proper selection of fixtures are important to a successful bathroom modernization or expansion program.

Before modernizing, the existing bathroom should be examined to decide whether more "elbow room" can be obtained by re-arranging the fixtures. Space-saving fixtures now on the market will add precious inches and avoid that cramped, crowded appearance so characteristic of old-fashioned bathrooms.

If you plan to add a bathroom, it is wise to look around the house for a good, convenient location. Many average-size homes offer space possibilities for a second or third bathroom. A "waste" area under the stairs, an unused closet, an unnecessary pantry, or even a portion of a large bedroom might well hold the key to extra facilities.

You should also consider the number of people who will be using the new bath. Careful selection of fixtures can reduce bathroom congestion and give lasting satisfaction to the entire family.

The Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers Association says that twin, countertop lavatories will permit mother and father to wash while a dental lavatory will keep the children busy brushing their teeth. Placing toilets and bathtubs within separate compartments will provide privacy for still more persons. Besides beautifying the bathroom, these extra fixtures will enable speedier grooming during morning and evening rush hours.

The little extra time spent in advance planning of your bathroom will be well worthwhile. Above all, give careful thought to the fixtures; they are the basic foundation of a beautiful and comfortable bathroom.

There has never been anything cuter than your child.

Fortunes of Fame

It was the day of the big cricket match. The famous batsman arrived with full escort of fans. One sprightly urchin dashed up to the hero and presented an autograph album and pencil. "Let's have yer name here, will yer?" and he departed with the prize scrawl.

The game went opposite to expectations, the hero was a thorough miff, the favorites lost. All the players finished and the hero filed out of the dressing room. The urchin piped up from the crowd: "Hi there! Got an eraser?"

Effectiveness of home improvement projects can be multiplied when carried out on a neighborhood or community basis. Your picture window may look out on a neighbor's unpainted porch, or in his garbage cans. In some spots whole communities have adopted the gas incinerator, saving all the nuisances and health hazards presented by the garbage and trash problem.

Lighting Tips for New Home

The following are questions most frequently asked of General Electric Lamp Division Residential Lighting authorities by families who are buying or building a new home.

"What shall I look for when selecting lighting fixtures for a new home or when remodeling an older one?"

To avoid the same harsh lighting effect of bare, unshielded bulbs, choose lighting fixtures with frosted, ceramic-enameled or opal glassware. These types of glass shields softly diffuse the light for most comfortable, easy-on-the-eyes lighting.

Close or thinly frosted glass can't possibly "smooth" the light and conceal the bare bulb. Avoid those heavy, paneled or other heavy glassware that are so dense the light actually can't get through.

"How much should I spend on lighting fixtures for my new home?"

That, of course, depends upon what price home you are buying. However, a good rule of thumb is to allow a minimum of at least one and a half per cent of the cost of the house for lighting fixtures, including valance lighting for the living room.

Remember, lighting fixtures, like plumbing fixtures aren't replaced as frequently as your floor and table lamps so don't be penny wise and pound foolish. Small, inexpensive and inefficient lighting fixtures are no bargain. The nighttime appearance of your home is dependent upon the lighting fixtures you give it. Choose only those that can give service and provide most comfortable and attractive lighting for family living.

"How can I be sure when a new house has sufficient electrical outlets for my family's needs?"

First of all, visualize your furnishings, both new and old, in the room. If possible, measure furniture and make cut-out patterns to scale. Then, if you don't have a set of plans for your house, borrow them from your builder. Arrange furniture on plans to help locate the outlets so you can enjoy balanced lighting with furniture arrangements and others where you'll really need them. This helps avoid finding yourself with outlets behind heavy pieces of furniture such as sofas, beds or refrigerators. Be sure to show your cutouts and plan to your electrical contractor when deciding where outlets should be placed.

Good guide to follow is that on unbroken wall spaces, no point switch should be more than six feet from an outlet. Also, any unbroken wall space of three or more feet should have an outlet while every four feet of kitchen counter space requires its own outlet. Large appliances require their own outlets, of course.

We do not mind being classed as favorable to labor, organized and unorganized, but we are old-fashioned enough to think that a pay-check is entitled to respect, expressed in work.

Eating between meals will, at least, make less important what is placed on the table.

City, Township Register 900 For Election

There will be about 900 new voters eligible to go to the polls for the November 6 presidential election in Plymouth city and township, according to reports from clerks of the two political subdivisions.

Since the August primary election, Township Clerk Rosalind Broome estimates that between 400 and 500 registrations have been completed. Of that number, 75 were taken at a special registration at the Kresge store Friday and Saturday, Oct. 5, 6.

City Clerk-Assessor Kenneth Way estimates that his office has registered 450; of which 225 were completed at the downtown booth. The special registration booth was the second drive of its type to be held in Plymouth this election year. A pre-primary effort for city residents only resulted in 151 registrations.

Mrs. Broome handled township registration at the booth downtown while city registration was headed by Mrs. Dorothy Franks, vice-chairman of the Plymouth Democratic club. Assisting them were seven other members of the Democratic organization.

Democratic club Chairman Orville Tungate joined with Mrs. Franks in expressing satisfaction with the results of the combined efforts of the city, township clerks, the Kresge management and the club membership. Monday, Oct. 8 was the deadline for registering.

Local Seminary Has Open House Sunday Afternoon

Plymouthites are being invited to attend an open house this Sunday at the nearby St. John's Seminary at Five Mile and Sheldon roads.

Father Lyman A. Fenn, rector of the seminary, said that the public will be guided by students through the grounds and buildings from 1 to 6 p.m. Open House Day is held annually at the seminary.

Crowds as large as 20,000 have gone through the seminary at the open houses. Last year, because of a heavy rain, the number was reduced to 9,000. Most of the visitors come from the Detroit area, but some come as far away as Grand Rapids, Father Fenn said. Students receive the last four years of their priesthood at St. John's. There are now 170 students enrolled.

Father Fenn has been with the seminary since it was opened in September 1949.

Bed Remains Best Place to Treat Common Cold

There's very little that the traditional hot toddy or any other treatment except bed rest can do for a cold.

That's the word from Dr. F. S. Leeder, disease control director for the Michigan Department of Health.

"The common cold probably will be with us for many years to come," Dr. Leeder said. "We now know that groups of viruses cause the colds but we don't know exactly how. About all we can do is to avoid upsetting the body's equilibrium and go to bed as soon as a cold starts. Hot toddies and other home remedies provide no benefit."

Colds usually occur in three waves in Michigan—first after the season's initial severe temperature drop in late October or early November, then again around Thanksgiving or Christmas, and for the third time in the early spring.

Temperature drops have no direct effect on the viruses, Dr. Leeder said. But they do lower a person's resistance and indirectly enable the virus to invade the human body through the mucous membranes of the nose and throat.

"Anything that upsets the body's equilibrium such as sudden chilling, fatigue, overeating or emotional upset causes a drop in the mucous membranes' resistance to the cold virus. The result," Dr. Leeder said, "is that another person falls victim to a cold."

Colds are most infectious during the first 24 hours after onset, Dr. Leeder said. Effects of the virus end after 48 hours. Then secondary bacterial infections take over. Two types of cold are recognized: The sneezing and nasal variety of the fall and spring, and the winter type with symptoms of sore throat, irritated nasal membranes, and inflamed eyes.

"Vaccines which may afford protection against colds are now available," Dr. Leeder said. "But most scientific workers doubt that the vaccines will give more than temporary protection. Colds work on the surface of the respiratory system and do not create a long-lasting immunity."

"Antibiotics so far haven't been effective against the viruses although they do offer relief against the bacteria causing secondary infections."

"The average Michigan resident misses three days of work or school each year because of colds," Dr. Leeder said. He said the best way of avoiding colds and lost time is to keep in good physical condition, maintain the body's health equilibrium and avoid sudden temperature changes.

Avoiding contact with persons who have colds will help but it isn't a surefire guarantee because colds can be transmitted by persons who are non-symptomatic carriers of the cold viruses.

"Proper diet, lots of rest, plenty of liquids and dressing according to the weather seem to comprise the best formula for reducing the chances of catching cold," Dr. Leeder said.

Following two weeks leave, graduates report to shipboard duties or service schools depending on the qualifications each has demonstrated.

TIPS for TEENS

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Here's a high school boy in a date-daze — a date, accidentally, with two girls for the same night! It could happen to you. How would you solve this date puzzle?

Q.—"Dear Elinor: It is my belief that a boy I have been dating has committed a social blunder. I'll describe it to you. George, on the 9th, asked Ann for a date to go dancing on the 23rd. About the same time, he asked Dorothy to a party on the 16th. The party for the 16th, however was postponed until the 23d. This left George with two dates for the same night. With which girl should he have kept the date? (I've changed the names involved)."

A.—There doesn't seem to be an answer to this date-dilemma in the etiquette books. So perhaps it's a matter of opinion and possibly there could be two opinions:

- 1—The prior date was for the 16th (in the sense that the 16th comes before the 23d), so he could explain to the second girl that he couldn't go to the dance on the 23d, because an earlier event had been postponed to that date.
- 2—The most reasonable solution, to me, however, is for him to bow regretfully out of the party originally planned for the 16th, explaining when the date was changed to the 23d that he could not go because he already had plans for the 23d. It seems more logical to give up the date that was changed (the change of date couldn't be expected to be convenient for everybody) than to disrupt plans already made for the 23d.

Whichever he did, this boy should date the disappointed girl as soon as possible to prove his good intentions and that he really did want to be with her... this is not only good dating strategy but also good manners!

(For free printed tips on "Date Manners for Boys," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.)

Plymouth Students Get Vacation While Teachers Attend Conference

Next Tuesday and Wednesday will be a holiday for Plymouth school youngsters, but not for the faculty of more than 140 local teachers. They will be attending the regional meeting of the Michigan Education association.

Held at Temple Baptist church on Grand River, the conference is for all schools in Wayne county outside of Detroit. The two-day conference is being held Tuesday and Wednesday this year instead of the traditional Thursday and Friday dates.

Several Plymouth people will lead group meetings. Herbert Woolweaver, director of the Adult Education and Recreation department, will be chairman of the adult education group Tuesday afternoon.

F. Walter Goodwin, high school math instructor, will be chairman of the mathematics group; and Mrs. Wilbur West will be chairman of the parent-teacher group discussion.

One of the speakers Tuesday at a session on retired public school teachers and employees will be Senator John B. Swainson of Plymouth, representing the 18th state senatorial district. He will speak on "Future Pensions."

Speakers at the conference include Clair L. Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction; Mary Titus, consultant for local associations; National Education association; Francis Beedon, president of the 45,000 member M. E. A.; Charles L. Anspache, president, Central Michigan college; and Dennis Glenn Cooper, popular photographer and lecturer, who will give his "Touring Glorious Michigan" lecture Wednesday afternoon.

A box lunch will be served at a luncheon in the Temple Baptist auditorium Tuesday. Commercial exhibits will also be set up.

Notice Of Public Hearing City Planning Commission City Of Plymouth, Michigan

At a regular meeting of the City Planning Commission to be held October 18, 1956 at 7:30 P.M. in the Commission Chamber of the City Hall, a Public Hearing will be held to consider the following change in zoning:

Lots 54, 55, 56 and 21 through 26, both inclusive, in the Gravel Hill Subdivision, located on the east side of Amelia Street from Farmer south to the alley at the rear of the lots facing North Main St. from R-2 (two family residential) to M-1 (light industrial.)

All interested parties will be given ample opportunity to participate in the hearing and, at the close of the hearing, the comments and suggestions of those citizens participating will be considered by the Planning Commission before making its decision.

EDITORIAL

Let the Giver Beware, Too

There has been much discussion, at times, about officials in the Wayne County area, and elsewhere, accepting fees or other benefits for negotiating with agencies on behalf of themselves, or others. Certainly, such conduct on the part of those official positions is reprehensible.

Somebody has suggested that the "open palm" has become the symbol, not only of some officials but of many connected with private business enterprises. In fact, the vice is prevalent in business, as well as in governmental circles.

There have been instances where businessmen have related, with considerable pride, how they obtained extra favors or concessions by the simple device of "greasing the palm" or extending special favors to the person in a position to deliver the wanted "goods."

While every effort should be made to stamp out graft and corruption wherever they exist, one cannot solve the problem by denouncing those who accept bribes and gratuities. The blame must likewise be extended to those who are willing to buy their wares and use such means to gain an advantage over their competitors and associates.

What's Your Question on World Affairs?

"How and when did the Donkey and the Elephant become the respective symbols of the two American parties?" (P. S. M., Chocorua, New Hampshire)

The cartoonist, Thomas Nast, seems to have invented both for Harper's Weekly. In 1870, Nast pictured a "Democrat donkey" labeled "Copperhead Press," kicking a Republican lion. Almost five years later, in November, 1874, he depicted the Republicans as a timorous and unwieldy elephant. Both symbols gradually became accepted by the respective parties and endowed with virtues which they supposed the animals to embody at their best.

"Can you tell me what amendment to the Constitution pertains to women's voting?" (Mrs. P. L. Houghton, Eugene, Ore.)

The Nineteenth Amendment, which came into effect Aug. 26, 1920.

Joseph Van Ness, Nutley, N. J., writes: "Your column, 'Curb on Trips to Red China Violates Civil Rights,' was hitting the nail on the head for a lot of us families who lost dear ones in the Korean war."

Thanks. We need support on this point if increasing organization and international complications are not to serve as justification for further whittling down the rights of citizens.

"In what year was the Social Security Act passed and what were the respective Democratic and Republican votes on it? Did a Democratic or a Republican Congress vote the recent added benefits to it?" (Mrs. S. L. Klein, Queen's Village, N. Y.)

The President signed the Act on Aug. 14, 1935. In the Senate, 60 Democrats and 15 Republicans voted Yea, one Democrat and five Republicans Nay. In the House, 238 Democrats and 77 Republicans said Yea, while 13 Democrats and 18 Republicans were against. A Democratic Congress added the increased benefits.

"I gather from your writing that you think it was pressure from Britain that prevented this country from sending armed forces to defend Indochina. Presuming that there was no such pressure, would this country have acted differently? I say No. I don't think Eisenhower had any plans to become involved in the fighting and therefore the fiasco in Indochina was as much his responsibility as Britain's Eisenhower and his wing of the Republican Party were making a great point of fact that for the first time in years there were no American soldiers fighting anywhere in the world." (Mrs. Isabel Grumman, Toledo, Ohio)

Your points are well taken but you may be wrong in your conclusion. The British did want the French to yield half of Indochina to get peace, hence no American intervention. The French wanted intervention, but limited, to help them get better terms, not intending to keep all of that country. Eisenhower and his advisers were against intervention partly for party reasons, partly because the President is so totally devoted to peace and is willing to compromise to get it.

But Vice President Nixon, a large number of influential Senators, and the Secretary of State were in favor of not letting communism take any more of Asia. So was Admiral Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who had everything prepared for an American air strike at Dienbienphu. The President hesitated, and without British pressure he might have consented. I think he would have. Many State Department officials still feel that not saving North Vietnam was a mistake which one day will be paid for dearly.

Send your own question on world affairs to Edgar Ansel Mowrer in care of this newspaper and receive a prompt and impartial answer.

"Every Senator and Congressman that comes back from Europe says the same thing: that Europe is getting along O.K. and needs no help. Then why does President Eisenhower try to ram down Congress's throat increased aid for Europe?" (Albert Rogers, Philadelphia)

Europe is undoubtedly better off. The living standard is probably half as high as ours here. But Europe is not rich enough to maintain this standard and support the costs of a sizeable military force. Without U. S. help, either that standard would drop or Europe would become defenseless. U.S. Congressmen, some of whom are isolationists, and all of whom want the votes of people like you, emphasize the improvement. The President, responsible for the safety of our country which depends in part upon the strength of Europe, emphasizes the need for continuing military defense, and tries to persuade Congress to provide the money for it.

When You Retire

Ike's Teacher Content

BY ROBERT PETERSON
Miss Addie Over, 83, of Abilene, Kansas, credits President Dwight D. Eisenhower with adding some spice to her retirement.

"I was his teacher when he was in the sixth grade," Miss Over told me when I stopped at her home in Abilene recently. "Now that he's President I seldom have a dull moment—folks are always stopping by to ask what Ike was like as a boy."

I admitted that this was exactly what I wanted to ask. She laughed and sat back in her rocker. "Well," mused this vivacious, silver-haired spinster, "Dwight was just a normal, average boy—no different from the others. Everyone asks if there was anything that made him stand out from his brothers or the rest of the students—anything to indicate what a brilliant future he was to have. But I can't honestly say there was. I figured he'd go into business or take up farming right here in Abilene like most students do."

Did she have any souvenirs relating to Ike? "Let me show you an old picture," she said hopping up from her rocker and scurrying into the next room. She rummaged through a bureau drawer and returned a few moments later with a large, brown photograph. "Here's my sixth grade class some 55 years ago. See anyone you know?" I studied the assorted faces of boys and girls lined up on the stone steps of a school building. Standing in the middle of the front row was a youngster with a tanned and friendly face. He was wearing overalls and was nonchalantly picking his teeth. It was unquestionably Ike.

Miss Over—described by the President as "my beloved teacher"—finds retirement an exciting and satisfying time of life. "I belong to lots of organizations and I know just about everybody in town," she said. "I'm fortunate the Lord let me teach a boy who was to become President. It gives me a nice thrill to think that maybe I helped just a little."

What's the highest age man has reached? I put this question to two physicians last week who, after checking the records, said that the 152 years racked up by one Thomas Parr of England is probably the record.

Of course we can't be sure. Parr died way back in 1635 when birth records were mighty haphazard. Yet many scientists regard the age attributed to him as generally accurate because Dr. William Harvey, one of the great pioneers in medicine and the discoverer of the circulation of the blood, examined Parr's body following his death and was inclined to accept the current belief as to his age.

King Charles I of England apparently brought on Parr's death, intrigued by the numerous tales he had heard about Thomas Parr and his long life. The King asked that the old man be brought to London from his home in Sallop County. Parr came to London, was entertained by the King, but the excitement was too great. He died two days later. The British, however, officially recognized his age as 152 years and buried him in Westminster Abbey where a stone plate marks his grave.

Mr. George T., 67, a Retired engineer, writes "I've heard it said that retirement hastens death. Is this true?"

ANSWER: No. There are no data which support this belief. Retirement specialists have observed, however, that retired people who become bored and discontented do not last as long as those who make a satisfactory adjustment to retirement.

The Soviet Union will give Indonesia a long-term credit that Indonesia will repay in ten to twelve years with raw materials. The Soviet Union, for its part, will send Indonesia machinery, manufactured goods and technical assistance. The amount of the credit was reported to be about $100,000,000.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Barnyard "WHOODONIT"

The Barn Owl Controversy still rages in our town. One group claims owls should be protected because they eat vermin. The other faction holds that those little howlers also eat chickens... and should be shot.

Now Pops Parker claims both parties are right. All owls clean up vermin. Some owls also clean out an occasional hen yard.

The way to spot a bad owl, according to Pops, is to put up a 10-foot pole in the chicken run with a No. 2 trap on it. A marauding bird generally perches to look over the situation before he strikes, giving you your evidence, and the culprit!

From where I sit, I doubt if this will end the owl argument. People have different opinions on the subject—just as they have different opinions about whether beer, tea or what-have-you makes the best thirst quencher. Examine the facts and make up your own mind, I say... and be thankful we live where that's possible.

Ike Wins, On Today's Babsonpoll

President Eisenhower appears to have halted—at least temporarily—the strong Stevenson tide that ran against him in the first Babsonpoll tabulations.

With approximately 25% of this year's Babsonpoll survey completed, a projection of poll figures to a national vote level would show Ike back in the lead on a popular-vote basis—but by a very slim margin. Biggest pickups by the President since last week's report were in the Middle Atlantic states and in the industrial Midwest. Some gains were noted also in the farm states—possibly a result of the Eisenhower trip into that area.

It is in the farm region and in the South that the Babson survey shows Ike's biggest drop from the vote totals he achieved in 1952. Fortunately for the GOP nominee, however, he can afford popular-vote losses in these areas without drastic inroads being made into his electoral-vote possibilities. Of the four Southern states taken by the President in 1952, this week's Babsonpoll shows Stevenson with a comfortable lead in two (Tennessee and Texas) and a slight advantage in one other (Virginia). Eisenhower is clinging to a thin majority in Florida. All other Southern states are safely in the Stevenson column.

Most of the farm states were taken by Ike in 1952 by wide margins. It does not appear today that he will take any of them by the six-to-four ratio of four years ago. However, he still maintains a rather substantial advantage in Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, and South Dakota. The Ike lead in Iowa and Minnesota is so small that both of those states must today be considered doubtful.

Despite the narrowness of Eisenhower's popular-vote lead, the Babson survey shows that his electoral-vote count would be proportionately greater if the election were held today. That's because of (1) the "wasting" of vast numbers of Stevenson votes in the big Democratic majorities built up in the South and (2) the strategically fortunate distribution of the losses in states in which he had "votes to spare."

This week's state-by-state Babsonpoll tabulation shows Eisenhower ahead with a comfortable majority in 18 states with an electoral-vote total of 213. Stevenson shows a similarly wide margin in 13 states with 141 electoral votes.

Ike holds a narrow and vulnerable lead in nine states having an electoral-vote count of 112... and Stevenson is very slightly ahead in six states with 58 electoral votes. The remaining seven votes are rated "toss-up." By grouping the "safe" and "leaning" states, the Babsonpoll now shows Eisenhower ahead in states having 325 electoral votes and Stevenson leading in states with an electoral-vote count of 199. A majority of 266 is necessary to elect.

★ THINKING OUT LOUD ★

One question, sometimes controversial, sometimes personal is asked each week by The Mail of four pedestrians along Plymouth's downtown streets. This week's guests are "thinking out loud" on the question:

There has been some informal discussion on banning hunting in all or part of Plymouth Township because of increasing population. Would you be in favor of such a ban?

FRED HIGHFIELD, 344 Amelia: "I believe so. A man got shot in the leg by a stray bullet last week out where I'm doing some building on Shearer Drive. I think it's dangerous for them to have guns around here."

JAMES SCULLY, 525 West Ann Arbor Trail: "Well, I'm not a hunter, but I'd hate to question the other fellows right to hunt. I think it should be regulated very carefully though."

Fred Highfield James Scully Edna Allen Edith Eklund

EDNA ALLEN, 305 Arthur: "Well, those things all depend on the fellow that's doing it. If a man is careful and prudent, he can hunt almost anywhere safely. I'd rather see them ban b-b guns myself."

EDITH EKLUND, 443 Adams: "I don't think so. I don't believe it's too dangerous if they go out far enough. It should be banned close to the city limits though."

WHAT'S IN A SIGNATURE?

If it's an autograph secured at a stage door... or the signature on a run-of-mine letter... it's not very important.

BUT, if it's the signature on your insurance policy and on the covering letters that accompany it, it's ALL IMPORTANT. Those are the names of the companies and the men who stand behind you as your protection against crippling loss.

The signature of your insurance agent is particularly important. He is the man who stakes his professional reputation on the insurance coverage he has written for you. He is the man who intercedes for and represents YOU when you suffer loss.

Ask yourself now, "Whose signature is protecting me?" If it is the name of a reputable, ethical agent, breathe easy. Your insurance is in the hands of an expert—a professional man who will be there when you need him. IF NOT, think now before it is too late—have you bought a "bargain" when you really meant to buy complete, thorough protection?

We will analyze your insurance position without obligation. Such analysis reassures—and, more than that, it very often reveals a chance for sensible savings or more insurance coverage for the same money. Why not call us today and be sure?
