To Observe Veterans Day Monday

Plymouth's tribute to the American veterans of all wars will take place next Monday when the third annual Veterans Day parade moves down Main street at 7 p.m.

Formerly known as Armistice Day, Veterans Day is observed annually on November 11. Since that date falls on Sunday this year, Plymouth and most other communities will observe Veterans Day on Monday.

At least four veterans organizations and their auxiliaries are expected to take part in the parade. They include the Passage-Gayde Post of the American Legion, Mayflower Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Livonia's Myron Beals Post of the Legion and Northville's Lloyd H. Greene Post of the Legion.

Also participating to set the tempo of the parade will be the Plymouth high school band. It is also hoped to have the local Air Force Reserve unit in the march.

The VFW firing squad will head the parade with colorbearers in uniform.

Leaving from the assembly point in the area between the high school and Veterans Memorial building, the parade will move south on Main street to West Ann Arbor Trail, south on Forest avenue, east on Wing street to Main street and then proceed north back to the originating point.

Co-chairmen for the event are Commanders Ernest Koi of the Passage-Gayde post of the Legion and Ray Danol of the VFW.

Commanders Koi and Danol are urging residents and business and commercial establishments of Plymouth to display the United States flag on both

City, Township Stick With GOP

New Development Breaks Ground

If you figure an average of three persons in a family, the township of Plymouth will be richer in population by some 3,600 people within the next two years. They'll be residing in the soon-to-be-opened "Lake Pointe Village" for which the official act of breaking ground was held last Thursday.

The development of 1,200 homes in tri-level and ranch style architecture is located in the area bounded by Schoolcraft, Haggerty, Wilcox and Five Mile roads.

Fred E. Greenspan Building company of Detroit is the developer and builder of this undertaking, the largest ever attempted in the Plymouth area. Sales will be handled by the Frank L. Braun Realty company of Detroit.

First of the model homes will be built on Shadywood lake, a new street with access from Wilcox road. A three bedroom brick, tri-level home featuring the "side-to-side" split floor plan and a three bedroom brick ranch house will be pilot models, completely furnished and decorated by a leading furniture store. Homes will be priced from approximately $17,500 to $20,000, according to Greenspan.

Waring and Johnson, land planners and consultants, have worked with the builder in planning a model community of "no-traffic" curving, paved streets with cul-

Annexation Again Before Committee

Battle stations will be re-manned next Wednesday afternoon when the Ways and Means committee of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors takes another look at the city's annexation petition that was temporarily shelved in September.

The petition involves the annexation of about 270 acres of Plymouth township land east of the city, including the valuable Burroughs corporation property. At a hearing of the committee on September 19, it was found that the legal description of the land to be annexed failed to finish at the point it started.

Action on the petition was then postponed 30 days—and then extended until November 14.

Wednesday's hearing will start at 2 p.m. in the City-County Building.

Since the last hearing, it was learned that the township's petition to incorporate as the city of Plymouth Heights was also invalid. Although the township's petition will not be considered until action of some sort is taken on the city's, the township is not waiting until a hearing to learn of their petition's error (allegedly the same as the city's). A new and corrected petition was filed a month ago.

Canton Supports Ike, Governor

Eighty per cent of Canton township's registered voters turned out for Tuesday's election to give their support to Eisenhower and Williams.

There were 1,807 voters at the polls with 902 at Precinct 1 and 905 at Precinct 2. For many, this was the first time they had used voting machines. Three machines for each precinct were put in use for the first time in the August primary. There was no line-up as polls closed at 8 p.m.

This is the way voting went for major candidates in the township: Presidential: Stevenson (D), 721; Eisenhower (R), 1,074; Governor: Williams (D) 901; Cobo (R) 887.

U. S. Representative: Lesinski (D) 812; Kurtz (R) 964; State Senator Doyle (D) 815; McWilliams (R) 837; State Representative: Beadle (D) 799; Eaton (R) 966.

Voting Records Set; Eaton Wins Race

Because the area is still predominately Republican, the majority of Plymouth city and township electors voted for many losers in Tuesday's presidential balloting.

Except for the office of state representative which was won by Plymouthite Sterling Eaton, the races from governor down through county drain commissioner went to Democrats. Following electors in other parts of the nation, Plymouthites gave President Eisenhower the widest plurality of any race.

Liquor Question Loses in Salem

Salem township electors, besides following the traditional Republican line on the partisan tickets, also voted Tuesday to buy a new $12,500 fire engine and not to allow the sale of "liquor by the glass."

For Salem township voters, the two local issues were of great interest in themselves. They solidly disapproved of the liquor question with a 2-1 majority. The vote was 214 yes, 440 no.

Purchase of the fire truck, however, was overwhelmingly approved. There were 344 yes votes, 158 voting no.

Township Clerk Grant Currie said that 848 out of 960 registered voters turned out for the election. This is almost 89 per cent.

Results in the township for the major offices were: President: Stevenson (D) 238; Eisenhower (R) 595; Governor: Williams (D) 327; Cobo (R) 497. U. S. Representative: Shephard (D) 258; Meader (R) 555; State Senator: Carpenter (D) 263; Christman (R) 552; State Representative: Janowitz (D) 258; Sallade (R) 554.

Tabulations were not completed in several Redford township precincts Wednesday afternoon but there were no indications that the results would be affected.

In brief, the results were these:

Martha Griffiths, serving her first term as U.S. Representative from the 17th district, won easily over her Republican opponent, George E. Smith. The vote was Griffiths, 112,804; Smith, 98,432.

State Senator John Swainson, now a resident of Plymouth, won an uneasy victory of his Republican opponent, George Boos. Swainson was leading, 104,948 to 100,476. Swainson has served one term in the senate.

Some Businesses To Close Monday

Although Veterans Day comes on Sunday this year, the event will be legally observed on Monday and some public offices and businesses will be closed.

The post office will observe the holiday Monday. The post office building will be closed and there will be no delivery of mail.

Also closing will be the National Bank of Detroit and First Federal Savings and Loan association. City hall will close its business offices at noon Monday, but Plymouth township hall will be open as usual.

Western Civic Association To Meet Friday Night

The Western Civic association, a group composed of Plymouth and Canton township residents who are interested in promoting better zoning in the area, will hold a meeting in the Smith school gym this Friday night at 8 o'clock. All persons interested are being invited to attend.

Vets Sell Tags Saturday

Plymouth citizens were reminded this week that members of Veterans of World War I, Benton Parkway Barracks 267, will be selling tags on downtown streets Saturday in conjunction with Veterans day. Money will go for the veterans of World War I confined to area hospitals and sanitariums.

Two Plymouthites Elected

TWO PLYMOUTH RESIDENTS will be representing this area in Lansing for the next two years. John Swainson (left), of 44525 Governor Bradford road, was re-elected state senator while Sterling Eaton, 1294 Maple, was elected to the state legislature. Swainson has lived in Plymouth since September while Eaton has lived here 30 years.

Community Fund Campaign Ends

While Plymouth's $30,000 Community Fund campaign is scheduled to draw to a close today with the goal still $10,000 away, there is still hope that last-minute contributions will not make it necessary to extend the drive.

About $20,000 in cash and pledges has been received so far, according to a treasurer's report read at a meeting of the Community Fund board Monday night. The board expects to meet again next Monday to determine if it will be necessary to extend the drive.

Plymouth has never failed to meet a Community Fund goal. Undoubtedly the weakest source of contributions is in the residential area. Of the 5,000 pledge cards mailed out to householders, only 302 have been returned. Many householders, however, contribute at their place of work.

Campaign Chairmen Sheldon Baker and Mrs. L. B. Rice state that there are perhaps some who never received pledge cards or those who misplaced them. Mailing lists were secured from the telephone directory.

Contributions can be mailed to "Plymouth Community Fund, Box 356, Plymouth, Mich.," or taken directly to the fund treasurer, John Pint, at

Public Invited to Area Cooperation Meeting

Officials from Plymouth city and surrounding townships are being invited to a meeting of the Area Cooperation Group next Tuesday night at which they will be asked to tell the present status and future plans for water and sewer facilities.

The general public is being invited to attend the meeting scheduled for the high school auditorium at 8 p.m. The Area Cooperation Group itself is composed of representatives from dozens of local organizations.

Invited to attend the meeting are Plymouth Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay, Canton Township Supervisor Louis Stein, Northville Township Supervisor Mollie Lawrence; A. W. Schrader, chairman of the Townships of Plymouth and Canton Sewer and Water Authority; and members of the Plymouth city commission.

License Tag Sale Opens Wednesday

"C-A 1001" will be the first license plate sold from the large stacks of Michigan tags that go on sale next Wednesday morning at Plymouth's auto license bureau.

The office will open at 9 a.m. Motorists will then be given until February 28 to purchase the 1957 tags.

Bureau Manager Mrs. Doris Root again points out that two tags will be issued for every vehicle this year—meaning that most motorists will need to install a front license plate bracket. Front plates were eliminated in 1944 but law enforcement agencies have successfully asked for their return.

Lions Open Diabetes Testing Program for Area Sunday

Diabetes Detection Week will start this Sunday in Plymouth with a television message addressed to the people of the community by Dr. R. R. Barber, chairman of the local detection drive.

Dr. Barber, a member of the campaign-sponsoring Plymouth Lions club, will appear as a guest on the Michigan Health Council's "Court of Health" television show Sunday at 9 a.m. over WJBK-TV. He will appear with Dr. Daniel E. Cohn of Detroit to discuss the Diabetic Detection drive in the metropolitan and suburban areas of Detroit.

This will be Plymouth's first detection drive.

Community Claims but One War of '98 Veteran

By Ben Nottingham

It was 10 p.m. and Edward Miller, night editor of the Ohio State Journal in Columbus, Ohio, was looking over out-state news items at his desk in the city room. A telegraph key had been clattering intermittently for some time when Smithson, the operator, stuck his head into the small office.

"Do you know what those damn Spaniards did? They blew up the Battleship Maine!" He paused, listening to the message coming in over the key. "You know what this means," he said, "War."

That was February 15, 1898, and it did mean war.

It meant that Edward Thomson Miller, a lieutenant in the Ohio National Guard, would go to Cuba, to serve in the Spanish-American War as lieutenant of infantry in charge of a signal detachment.

Miller, now Colonel Edward Thomson Miller, retired, lives in a bachelor apartment at 959 Penniman and occupies himself with the genealogy of his family tree. His wife, Bess Watson Miller, passed on 12 years ago.

An agile 86, (his birthday was last Sunday) the colonel came to Plymouth from Oak Park, Illinois, a year ago this fall to be near his son, Edward T. Miller Jr., of 772 Burroughs.

"I was the second person in Columbus," he recalls rather proudly, "to learn that the Maine had been blown up."

Shortly after that historic night, equipped with a sword inscribed, "Presented to Lt. Edward T. Miller by employees of the Ohio State Journal" and riding a horse presented him by the Columbus Board of Trade (predecessor of the Chamber of Commerce) Miller left to serve on the staff of Major General J. Warren Kieffer, a Civil War veteran and commander of the Seventh Corps in Santiago, Cuba. Prior to joining the general's staff he was a first lieutenant in the Fourth Ohio Regiment, U. S. Volunteer Signal Corps, Eighth Company.

'Prank' Wrecks Sheriff's Car

Except for a smashed-up sheriff's road patrol car and a partially-burned shack, things were rather quiet around Plymouth on Halloween night last week.

The damaged patrol car was the result of an ambitious effort. Two utility poles were laid across Warren road, a half-mile west of Beck road.

At 11:35 p.m., a road patrol car driven by Patrolman Jack Boyd was traveling down Warren road to answer a call. The two poles, being the same brown color as the road, suddenly loomed in front of the car only 50 feet away when Boyd saw them. The car smashed into the poles, damaging the front. It was towed away.

Deputies state that they are still working on the case and hope to find the guilty parties.

City firemen answered an alarm Halloween night on the school property north of Blanche street. A shack in the field built by a group of boys had been set afire. Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze.

Antoinette Zakul Becomes Bride of Northville Resident

A 7 o'clock ceremony read at the First Presbyterian church, Northville, Saturday, October 20, solemnized the marriage of Antoinette Zakul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Zakul of 11696 Morgan, and Bruce H. Butler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Obie H. Butler of 46040 Neeson, Northville.

The Reverend John O. Taxis officiated the candlelight rites before palms and altar baskets of white gladioli and mums which formed the chancel setting. Musical selections, "The Greatest of These Is Love" and "The Lord's Prayer," were sung by Marjorie Thomas accompanied by Mrs. Bart Conners at the organ. The bride was given away by her father.

Selection for her wedding gown was a full-length dress of nylon tulle and imported chantilly lace with fitted bodice, scalloped neckline accented with iridescent sequins and pearls, and wrist-point sleeves. The full skirt of nylon tulle featured a scalloped, apron-effect of lace and swept gracefully to a cathedral-length train. Her French illusion veil was of fingertip length and attached to a cap of nylon tulle and lace embroidered with iridescent sequins and pearls. The bride carried a Bible centered with white fugi mums, green and white ivy and stephanotis tied with white ribbon streamers.

She was preceded down the aisle by her sister, Ilene, as maid of honor, Elaine Butler, sister of the bridegroom, and Marjorie Byers, a friend, as bridesmaids.

The attendants were gowned identically in ballerina-length dresses of coral crystalite, styled with draped bodice and full skirt with pleating insert at front. Their headpieces were bands of daisies holding a small veil which was tied in back with a velvet bow. They carried bouquets of white fugi mums with white ribbon streamers.

A princess-style dress of beige lace over taffeta, beige and black accessories and yellow and bronze mums corsage was worn by Mrs. Zakul while the bridegroom's mother selected a street-length dress of dusty rose lace over taffeta, black and white accessories and corsage of white mums for her attire.

Donald Graham was best man with Huston Butler, brother of the bridegroom, and Richard Gray as ushers.

Wayne County Conservation clubhouse was the setting for the wedding reception attended by 300 guests from Detroit, Wayne, Northville, Dearborn and Plymouth.

The couple are living at 8445 Lilley road following a Kentucky honeymoon. The bride wore a three-piece camel brown ensemble with matching shoes and purse for her going-away outfit.

A 1953 graduate of Plymouth high school, the bride is employed as switchboard operator at the Plymouth branch, National Bank of Detroit. The bridegroom served four years with the U.S. Air Force following graduation from Northville high school in 1951. He is employed by Leo Arnold, local contractor.

Rosedale Club Schedules Tea

Tuesday, November 13, Rosedale branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association will hold its international tea at Rosedale clubhouse, 9611 Hubbard avenue, Livonia at 1 p.m.

Mrs. Hagberg has traveled to Egypt and across Europe and has made many trips to Guatemala. She will bring costumes from there which will be modeled by members of the club.

International Tea hostess will be Mrs. Alfred Shauhenessy. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Indiana Rites Unite Couple

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. John McMann of Birmingham and the late Mr. McMann. The Reverend Terry E. Everett performed the rites at 4 p.m. Saturday, October 6. Attending from Plymouth were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hoath of Five Mile road, friends of the bridegroom's family.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Patricia Boots. John R. McMann of Livonia, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The newly-weds are making their home in Battle Creek where the bridegroom is stationed with the U.S. Air Force. He attended Plymouth high school before entering service in 1947.

One Hundred Hear Authoress At Woman's Club Program

Approximately 100 members and guests of the Plymouth Woman's club heard a humorous and interesting review of feminine characters taken from the stories, plays and books of Melba Marlett, in an autobiographical address given by the Berkley authoress Friday afternoon in the Masonic temple.

Taking "Women Are People Too" as her topic, the guest speaker highlighted her talk with review of a novelette she had written for "The Woman's Home Companion" magazine in 1947, which appears in her latest book, "The Frightened Ones," a collection of short stories published in February 1956 by Doubleday and Company, Inc.

Since publication of her first book, "Death Has a Thousand Doors," in 1941, Mrs. Marlett has authored five mystery books, two plays and a full-length novel, "Tomorrow Will Be Monday," published in 1947. A University of Michigan graduate, she has taught English and dramatics in Detroit. Writing of a 400-page novel currently shares the authoress' time with her duties as housewife and mother.

Making their debut at this meeting was the club's newly organized string trio composed of Mrs. Forest Morgeson, violinist; Mrs. Herbert Woolweaver, cellist; and Mrs. Lewis Litzberg, pianist. Their selections were Victor Herbert's "Italian Street Song" and

"Romany Life" with "Kiss Me Again" as encore.

Mrs. Morgeson was a member of the symphony orchestra in her home-town of Columbus, Indiana, while Mrs. Woolweaver is currently appearing with the Plymouth Symphony orchestra. Mrs. Litzberg received her training in piano music at the Baldwin-Wallace conservatory.

"Parcels for Peace," items of clothing were also brought and donated to the United Church Women's observance of World Community Day.

A request was made by Mrs. Gustaf Lundquist, chairman of the Northville State Hospital committee, for members to bring a ladies' dollar gift, unwrapped but with wrapping paper included with the gift, or $1 to furnish a Christmas gift for a woman patient at the hospital, to the club's December meeting. The group volunteers its services to a woman's ward at the state hospital.

Mrs. John Robison was program chairman for the day. Tea chairman was Mrs. Walter Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson were in Detroit, Saturday morning to attend the wedding of her grandson, Arthur White, son of Mrs. Rose White of Detroit, and Jean Slattery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Slattery also of Detroit, in St. Mary's church on Grand River avenue and breakfast following at Dearborn Inn.

Two Bingo Games Curtailed in City

Plymouth city officials have asked a halt to further bingo games in the city.

Two bingo games have been operating in the city for charitable purposes and on a donation basis for the past several weeks. But a legal opinion requested from the city attorney declared that there is no legal way of operating bingo because of the state amendment approved by voters two years ago.

The request to curtail further playing was made by police two weeks ago. Sponsors were the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Knights of Columbus.

Bingo playing was a big issue in Michigan two years ago when voters were asked to decide on the state amendment outlawing games of chance. At a January 20, 1955 meeting of the city commission, commissioners verbally agreed that the amendment should be enforced in Plymouth. The game, however, has been played in many places throughout the country on a "donation" basis on the premise that donations received during the evening are apart from the game of bingo.

Scout Troop Opens Annual Wreath Sale

Boy Scout Troop P-4, sponsored by the Plymouth Presbyterian church, announced the kick-off of their annual Christmas wreath sale at a troop meeting held Monday evening, November 5.

The wreaths are hand-made by the Scouts. Scouts are now taking orders for the wreaths and delivery will be made December 8-11. Proceeds of the sale are used every year to defray the cost of camp-outs and other scouting activities of the troop.

The troop scoutmaster is Paul Steenken. The committee chairman is Gene Crosby.

Any community of individuals can get along if it has some unselfish leaders.

Theatre Guild to Mark Opening of Eighth Season

Plymouth Theatre Guild will open its eighth season of bringing to the community live theatre productions for enjoyment of its residents with presentation of "Strange Boarders," three act mystery-comedy, November 28, 29 and December 1 at the high school.

Organized in the spring of 1948 by the Plymouth Recreation department as a cultural endeavor for those interested in amateur theatrical work and as a worthy community enterprise, the Guild has produced some 14 shows to date.

The organization's first play, a one-act called "The Group Photographer," was directed by Mrs. Maude Laury who is still an active member of the Guild and has appeared in many of its productions.

The first full-length play, "John Loves Mary" was produced in March 1950. Since then the Guild has presented 11 other full-length productions: "Blithe Spirit," "I Like It Here," "Two Blind Mice," "January Thaw," "Lo, and Behold," "Mr. Barry's Etchings," "My Three Angels," "Time Out for Ginger," "Dial M for Murder," "George Washington Slept Here" and "Here Today." A bill of one-acts, "The Hitchhiker" and "When Shakespeare's Ladies Meet" was also presented in April 1955.

The last nine full-length productions have been under the direction of William W. Merrill of Will-O-Way playhouse, Bloomfield Hills. Five Guild members have also appeared in Will-O-Way productions at his request.

An exception to the previous directorship will be the Guild's 1956 opening production, "Strange Boarders," which will be under the direction of 1955-57 Guild President Jack Scott. Scott brings to the director's role a well-rounded background of stage experience gained in Detroit-area little theatre groups and U.S. Armed Forces production overseas. A model stage of the coming production, "Strange Boarders," has been placed on display in the Mayflower hotel lobby.

Sponsorship of the Plymouth Theatre Guild was transferred in the fall of 1951 to the Adult Education department of Plymouth schools to enable more residents of the community to avail themselves of the educational and cultural opportunities offered by this organization. Many individual patrons, business and industrial firms also support the Guild's activities.

Christmas Seals to Arrive In Local Homes Next Week

Green and white Christmas Seals will begin their errand of mercy next week as they go into 500,000 homes in Plymouth, Detroit and Wayne County, Irving L. Goldman, seal chairman, announced Wednesday.

Designed in Christmas colors the stamps bear the picture of a little boy and a little girl both carrying a red double-barred cross, symbol of the continued fight against tuberculosis in the United States. The campaign which opens November 15 continues to the end of the year.

Here in Wayne County the money raised by Christmas Seals supports the entire program of both the Detroit Tuberculosis Sanatorium and the Tuberculosis and Health Society in their important tuberculosis control work.

It is the first year that the two organizations have combined their fund-raising activities completely and will depend on one Christmas Seal for their 1957 activities. Previously, each organization had sold its own Seal.

Neither organization benefits from the Torch Drive. Christmas Seals are a traditional part of the holiday season and will depend on one Christmas Seal for their 1957 activities. Previous, each organization had sold its own Seal.

The 1956 campaign marks the 50th year that these "Seals of Mercy" have been raising money to aid in cutting down the number of tuberculosis cases and helping TB patients in the United States. When the first Seal was held in 1907 most people believed that little could be done about tuberculosis. However, when the first issue of Seals were sold in Delaware, people enthusiastically bought $300 worth to support an experimental tuberculosis hospital to keep it from closing because of financial difficulties.

Today, that first Christmas Seal Sale has grown until last year, 3,000 tuberculosis associations raised $26,000,000 for their anti-TB programs.

Modern science has changed people's ideas about TB. We know now that tuberculosis can be cured if it is found early enough. Modern drugs have cut the average hospital stay to only eight months. With such modern tools as the chest X-ray and tuberculin test, in addition to new drugs, TB can be spotted early.

Christmas Seal funds are helping to find tuberculosis early when it can be easily treated, through promotion of chest X-ray programs. A large part of the funds now being used by the Southeastern Michigan TB Detection Project are supplied by Christmas Seal funds.

The Christmas Seal Camp at Chelsea which yearly sees 500

Buy and Use Christmas Seals

Fight Tuberculosis

children enjoy its healthful regime is part of the Christmas Seal service.

Helping patients while they are in the hospital with their personal and family problems is done with Christmas Seal funds. Helping patients after they leave the hospital to find jobs and return to their normal lives is also a part of the program.

The best way we have to defeat tuberculosis at present is to stop it before it starts by not giving it a chance to develop. Approximately 60,000,000 people in the United States carry tuberculosis germs in their bodies. Most of these will never become ill because they will have enough resistance to disease to keep the germs inactive. By educating young people in good health habits, Christmas Seal funds are doing a preventative job on tuberculosis. Professionally trained public health educators work with schools and with civic groups in forming health programs.

Grange Gleanings

The meeting of last Thursday evening was splendid and everything went along fine. The supper was very good, of course, as it always is. Mr. Hartom, our former worthy master, conducted the installation of new officers in his usual pleasing manner.

There had to be several substitutes for those who were absent. There were so many who were reported on the sick list. Albert Groth is still in the hospital, also Bert Kahl and Bert Coverdill. Ernie Vealey is confined to his home and not so well lately. Mrs. Thiele is also in the hospital.

Mabel Loomis had a very bad fall one day last week and was badly bruised and shaken up but still thankful that no bones were broken.

George Huebler has been quite seriously ill with a siege of shingles but is getting better with the help of "shots" from the doctor twice a week.

Don't forget that Pomona meets here with us next Tuesday, November 13. There will be lunch after the meeting—sandwiches, cake or cookies and coffee. Every member of the Grange is welcome to come.

A weather bureau study shows that the southwestern drought is the worst in 60 years. Congress will take up drought help the first thing in January.

The first Grange was organized in New York state on April 16, 1888. The Grange has come a long way since then and has accomplished much good—benefit to the farmers as well as to the entire country. The more service it can give to the community the better are its chances to grow.

According to some of the rumors I hear, there ought to be a revolution in the kitchen in the next ten years. Now, before the gentlemen in the audience get worried . . . I'm only referring to all the new appliances that are forecast for the home. Industrial designers are planning taps that will give a choice of water, soda, or hot coffee. Another gadget is a kitchen incinerator that will destroy combustible materials without odor, smoke or ash.

Then there's the ultrasonic oven that will bake a cake in two minutes . . . and a flock of other miracles that will cut down on household drudgery and give the lady of the house more leisure. In fact, one designer is afraid the ladies will have too much leisure. Do I hear any objection?

Driver of the car Vivian Linton of Wayne said she was traveling west on Plymouth Road at 35 miles an hour when her car, a '53 Ford, began to pull hard to the left and skidded into a '51 Ford stake truck driven by Joseph Hester of Detroit.

Hester said he saw the car go out of control and stopped in his own lane, the car skidding into him. Taken to Wayne County General Hospital by Schrader's ambulance were Vivian Linton, 31, driver of the car who was shaken up; Charmaine Linton, 19, with a broken right leg; Joan Van Hatten, 28, with a stiff neck and bruises; and Gloria Pottit, 28, with hip and leg injuries. Dealer Plans Open House Announced this week were plans for an open house event at Jack Selle Buick, 200 Ann Arbor road, on Friday and Saturday, November 9 and 10.

In addition to display of the new model cars, the event will feature gifts and refreshments for visitors according to Owner Jack Selle.

'But I Don't Have A Thing to Wear!'

Like many women on many occasions, Barbara Smith, of 644 Ann Street, was afraid she wouldn't have a thing to wear for a very special occasion. The occasion was her wedding to Clarke Thacker, of Livonia, last Saturday.

Her friend and neighbor, Mrs. William Morgan, 659 Ann, had just finished making her wedding dress when a basement fire broke out in her home October 24. Smoke stained the dress and gave it an odor more reminiscent of burning furniture than orange blossoms.

It seemed no one could have the dress cleaned in time for the wedding. Telling her problem, almost tearfully, to a fellow worker at the Plymouth branch of the National Bank of Detroit, she found hope.

Mark M. Moses, an adjuster at the bank, promised to help. His wife, Olivia, is a buyer and manager for Ray's Bridal Shop in Detroit, so he turned the problem over to her. It was a happy thought.

The gown was glistening, the odor was orange blossoms, and the lady is now Mrs. Clarke Thacker, married by Reverend Henry J. Walsh at the First Presbyterian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Post were Friday visitors in the home of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Vealey.

The bride wore a waltz-length gown of chantilly lace over taffeta with sweetheart neckline trimmed with pearls and short sleeves as bodice styling. Her flowers were white roses and ivy.

Attending as matron of honor was the bride's sister, Barbara J. Walker, who wore a princess-styled, street-length dress of iridescent blue taffeta and carried yellow mums. Gowned identically but carrying bronze mum bouquets were the bridesmaids, Carol Stratton and Carol Sutton.

Each with a pink rose corsage as floral accent, the bride's mother and Mrs. Furr were gowned in mink brown and aqua crepe dresses, respectively.

Best man for the candlelight ceremony read by the Reverend Henry Welch was the bridegroom's brother, Ronald. Ushers were Robert Sass and Stan Nalepka.

Nat Sibbold was soloist for the "musical presentations of 'Because' and 'The Lord's Prayer.'" Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church dining-room for 150 guests. Attending were friends and relatives from Ohio, Detroit, Royal Oak and Plymouth.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Buffalo, the new Mrs. Furr changed to a beige sheath dress with brown accessories. They will reside at 8834 Sheldon road, Plymouth upon their return.

The bride graduated from Plymouth high school, her husband from Cody high school.

Chamber Hears Railroad Head

Illness of the scheduled speaker brought a change in program for last night's Chamber of Commerce annual dinner meeting held at First Presbyterian church.

Howard Skidmore, director of public relations for the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, was to speak. Because of his illness at his Cleveland home, he was forced to cancel his engagement. Notification was received last Friday.

Taking his place was David E. Smucker, president of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railroad. (Details of Smucker's address will be published next week.)

Smucker, with offices in Dearborn, began his railroad career with the Pennsylvania railroad in Philadelphia in 1929. He later served with the Pennsy at Baltimore, Ft. Wayne, Toledo, Chicago, Indianapolis, Pittsburg and Washington, D. C.

In 1948 Smucker was named general manager of the Long Island railroad and in 1950-51 was trustee, chief operator and consultant for that road. He returned to the Pennsylvania railroad in 1951-52 as assistant chief engineer. Late in 1952 Smucker was director of the railroad transportation division of the Defense Transportation Administration. He became president of the DT&I in 1953.

Mrs. Nellie Stopher of Detroit is visiting Mrs. Brant Warner for a few days in her home on North Harvey street.

Dr. Cyrus Stimson of Cleveland, Ohio, will be the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Beman Newbeck over the week-end in their home on Ann Arbor road.

Consider the dry cleaning costs of that new fashionable car coat that may lure you with its low purchase price, suggest M.S.U. clothing specialists. Some coats made of leather are lined with a paisley print, metallic-stripe taffeta, wool or alpaca. Such combinations create a cleaning problem. Coats made of water-repellent materials have to be re-treated after dry cleaning to restore the finish.

If only Burbank could have lived to see how many gallons of orangeade one can make.

Registered Pharmacist

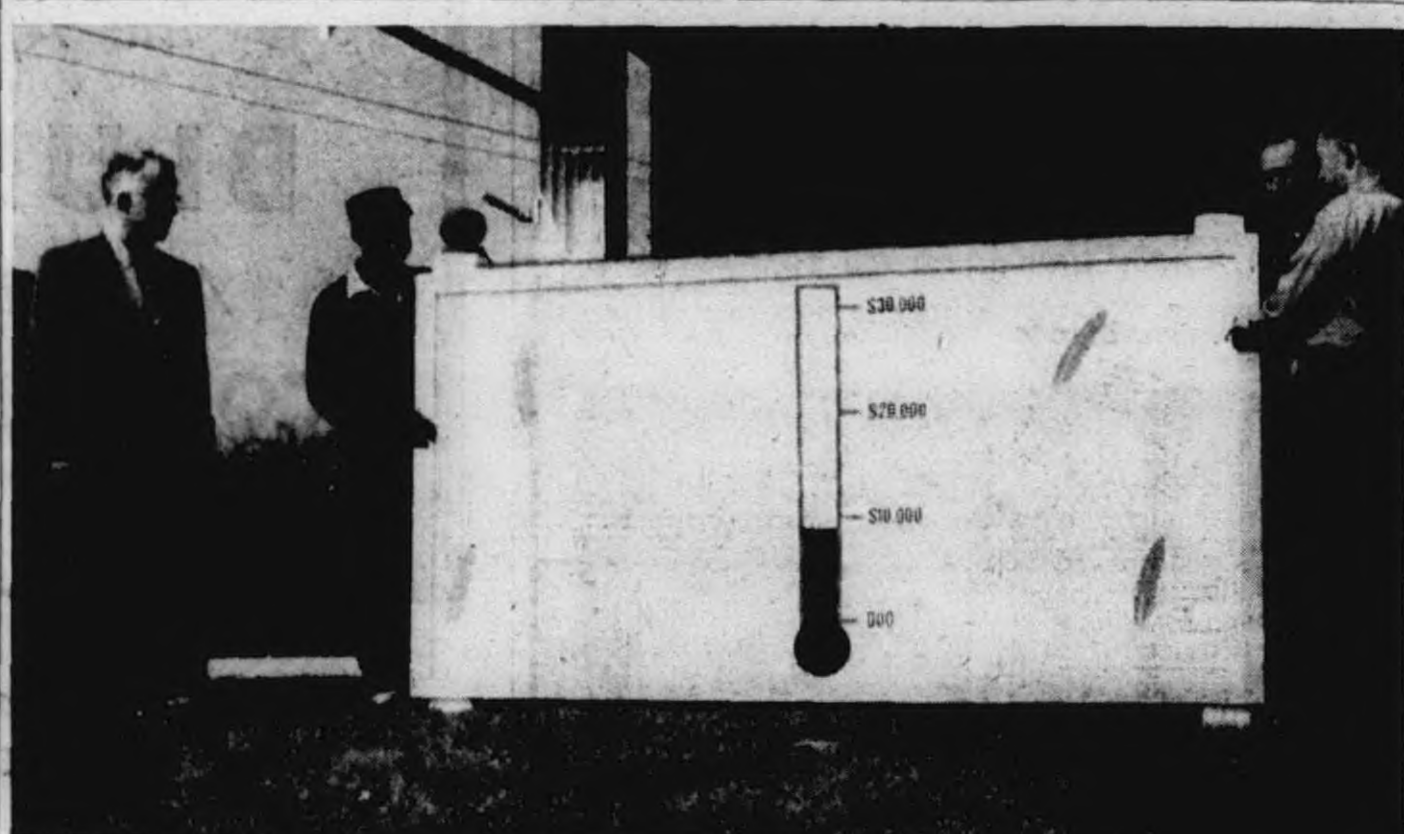

When your prescription was written, your physician had a definite purpose in mind. He has selected the best possible medicine to meet your requirements.

Some prescriptions provide relief from pain, or irritation; some prescriptions make up for a "lack" within your body. Other prescriptions provide you with protection. Many prescriptions, in effect, buy time. The ingredients will temporarily stall and hold back the growth of invading bacteria and provide your body with "time" to build up antibodies and marshal its natural defenses.

Or, a prescription may give your body the "timely" help it needs to get through a particularly difficult period. Once through this period, the recuperative mechanisms of the body will be able to cope with the problem. Some prescriptions actually buy "time" for the patient who could not survive without the medication. Each year these people survive is "bought" with the continued use of drugs.

Your pharmacist supplies the most valuable commodity in the world—Time.

This is another in a series of informative advertisements appearing in this paper each week, presented by Community Pharmacy, 390 S. Main.

A THERMOMETER indicating the progress of Plymouth's Community Fund has been set up in front of the Veterans Memorial Center on North Main street. Others from left, are Richard Davis, Stan Belanger and Fred Hembrey, all of the Training school.

New kind of Ford makes record run of decisive importance to '57 car buyers!

A new 1957 Ford traveled 50,000 miles at an average speed of better than 108 mph . . . including all pit stops . . . to smash 458 National and International records in a single test! Never before has any car been so severely tested . . . so successfully proved!

20 days. One averaged 108.16 mph for the entire run . . . the other over 107 mph. These averages include time for all pit stops.

The test shows without qualification what Ford's new Thunderbird V-8 engines* will do. But this was no mere demonstration of speed! It was a convincing demonstration of the superior quality of the whole Ford car.

It shows the superior endurance of Ford's running gear, brakes, body materials, steering—every part of the car. For without such built-in stamina, Ford could never possibly survive such torturous treatment.

Such a test can't help but make the decision easier for people who prize truly outstanding performance and durability in a new automobile . . . and who want the fullest possible value from their new-car dollars.

*Available in a wide range of horsepower to meet every need. Includes a special 270-hp. Thunderbird 312 Super V-8 engine available at extra cost. Also, an extra-high-performance Thunderbird 312 Super V-8 engine delivering up to 255 hp.

Just recently—on the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah, two new '57 Fords completed the most exhaustive endurance test in history—under supervision of the United States Auto Club and the Federation Internationale de Automobile. They were Ford-prepared pre-production models, exact duplicates of models which your Ford Dealer now has for sale.

These Fords completed the 50,000 mile run in less than

Beautiful Fireplace

DISTINCTIVE new beauty for a fireplace of outmoded or rundown appearance can be provided by covering it with marble-pattern Marlite, a tempered hardboard with baked plastic finish.

Faithfully reproducing the coloring and patterns of rare imported stones, this paneling gives the effect of the natural material at a fraction of its cost. A choice of five patterns makes the paneling suitable for various decorating plans. A 4x6-foot or 4x8-foot sheet, obtained from a lumber yard, is readily cut to size with a regular crosscut saw. The paneling is applied with adhesive right over the old surface after removal of excessive soil and loose material. Matching nail-on moldings protect exposed corners and edges and complete the joints. The smooth, durable baked plastic surface over a tempered Presdwood base resists heat, soot and soil and is easy to clean.

PUMPKIN-CARVING champs at Wednesday night's Halloween party sponsored by Salem Township Firemen were Gerald Hirth, 13, left, and Fred Runstrom, 12. The annual event featured a costume parade, games and refreshments for all of the township's youngsters.

past commander of the Illinois Commanderie of the Naval and Military Order of the Spanish-American War. Though he is the only Spanish-American War veteran in the Plymouth area, and one of the few left in the state, Colonel Miller has no specific plans for Veterans Day (formerly Armistice Day) this Sunday. He says he will probably take part in some ceremony as he usually does, however. After the talk of wars, campaigns and newspapers was finished, the old ex-editor accompanied the Plymouth Mail reporter to the door of his neat study.

"Well, son" he said, "you have all the information there and you can write it up any way you want, but," he added gently, "don't spread it on too thick."

"YOU KNOW WHAT THOSE—SPANIARDS DID? They blew up the Battleship Maine!" Those were the words of Edward T. Miller's wire operator when he was night editor of the Ohio State Journal on February 15, 1898 at 10 p.m. Shortly after, Miller, shown above in his study at 959 Penniman, was off for the Spanish-American War.

For tin roofs a brown or red iron oxide paint is generally recommended. They are both attractive and durable. Paints of the type known as trim-and-trellis can also be used for the purpose, if other colors are desired.

Regular cleaning with soap and water will keep faucets of bathroom fixtures shiny and new. Never use harsh abrasives. Rough, gritty cleaning compounds will scratch the fittings.

Boundary Line Proposal To Get Public Hearing

A public hearing on the realignment of school boundary lines will be conducted by the board of education at 8 p.m. on Monday, November 19. The hearing will be held in the homelike room of the high school.

Changes in the boundary lines between elementary schools were recommended at a board meeting last month. The report suggested changes for next February when the James Gallimore school is ready for occupancy, in September 1957 when school re opens and in September 1958 when another elementary school is proposed for opening.

The boundary committee, composed of two parents and the principal from each elementary building, was formed last June after a group of parents balked at the proposal to move their children to other schools. At that time the Gallimore school opening was expected in September.

the city was Precinct 3 at the high school. An even 1,000 voted there. Precinct 1 had 777 voters; Precinct 2, 788; Precinct 4, 933; and Precinct 5, 407.

In general, the voting in both the township and city was 2-1 in favor of Republican candidates. Eisenhower, however, came close to winning a 3-1 margin in the city, the same as given him four years ago. His margin in the township was slightly higher than 2-1.

New York Trip Drawing Saturday at Sheldon Center

Some lucky couple will win a week end at New York's Waldorf Hotel, someone else will win a half-carat diamond ring and scores of other prizes will be handed out Saturday when a drawing will be held at Sheldon Shopping Center, Plymouth and Farmington Roads, Livonia.

Sary Celebration by Sheldon Center business places.

The all-expense trip for two to New York City will be made via American Airlines and will include a stay at the Waldorf, dinner at the Latin Quarter, a top theatrical production and sight seeing.

Shelden customers are under no obligation to enter this contest. All they need do is contact one of the Center's stores for details. The half-carat diamond will be second prize and other awards will include scores of valuable gifts from bicycles to silk stockings.

Shelden Shopping Center was opened just three years ago. Its short history has been one of amazing success. Sales for the Center stores have increased tremendously each year of its operation and the Center is one of the most successful in its size bracket in the country.

Future plans call for the addition of a major department store and another whole section of business establishments. Shelden Center stores are appropriately decorated for this 3rd birthday bargain event and throngs have been taking advantage of the outstanding values each day of the sale.

Warren Shelden, president of the Sheldon Land Co., developers of the Center, along with the various storeowners and managers, continually are striving to promote the shopping center and make it the best possible place for people in this area to shop.

There is still time! Visit your favorite Sheldon Center store and enter the giant contest that may bring you an all-expense trip for two to New York City.

Saturday is the final day of the anniversary celebration.

IT LOOKS like the buffalo skin coat will never regain its popularity. More than 60 per cent of the nation's fur dollar was spent for mink last year. Among the different colors of mink, women preferred dark ranch, autumn haze and tulle. Alaskan seal was second in demand, followed in order by beaver, Persian lamb and sheared racoon.

Concord, Mass., has been termed "The American Town." Even today its population is less than 9,000, but it was the home of such writers as Emerson, the Alcotts, Thoreau and Hawthorne. Its covered bridge was the scene of the first battle of the American Revolution, April 19, 1775, when a hundred minutemen, under Captain Minot, fired "the shot heard round the world."

Comparatively few bird watchers have the opportunity to observe the depredations of the Condor, a very large South American vulturine bird of prey. Condors, some of the largest with a wing spread of 11 feet, attack old horses, cows and smaller domestic animals. Rarely do they attack man. They can be caught with a lasso while gorging themselves, even though the condor seems to have the most powerful eyesight of all birds.

Applesauce spice tarts with spiced whipped cream: In place of almond flavoring, sweeten whipped cream with brown sugar and flavor with cinnamon.

LINE DRIVE

By MEL OTT

IF THE TIGERS are to return to first division respectability next season, help is needed either from the farm system or in the form of trades.

Trading can bolster a club substantially if the club is lucky enough to get what it needs without giving up a key player in return. Too frequently, however, one position must be weakened to strengthen another.

Much more preferable is the development of capable material in the farmlands.

Thus the Tigers look to their number one farm club, Charleston, for help in the next campaign. The pickings aren't exactly heavy but there might be just enough ripe fruit on the vine to satisfy the Bengals' hunger.

Detroit is hungriest for pitchers, and it so happens that a couple of young left-handers are doing a fine job with the sixth-place club in the Class AAA American Association.

Hal Woodeschick, a 6-foot-3, 200-pounder, is the possessor of a highly respectable 9-and-4 record as of this writing. Just 21 years old, he won his last five in a row and his record might be even more impressive had he not been out for a month with a bad elbow.

Gene "Twinkle" Host, who was looked over by the Tigers last spring, owns a 12-12 record and his fast ball has looked good. A strong thrower, he stands 5 feet, 9 inches and weighs 195 pounds.

Their receiver is Charlie Lau, probably the most promising player on the Charleston team, according to farm director Johnny McHale.

His 268 batting average is deceptive, reports McHale, because Lau got a bad start after jumping from a Class B team and most of his hitting has been achieved in the last two months.

The former Romulus school-boy's timely hitting has been an important factor in Charleston's surge from the basement and his 10 home runs give promise of progressively greater power at the plate.

Duke Maas, who had trouble winning for the Tigers, is thriving since his return to the farm. He has a 4-1 record there.

Showing Improvement
 Larry Donovan, the 22-year-old redhead from Ionia, is likewise doing well while on option to Buffalo. As of now, he's won 9 against 5 defeats.

Reno Bertoia, whom the Tigers sent out for seasoning once his bonus probation had expired, is showing fine improvement at Charleston. Playing third base, he's hitting .289 but many of these hits have been when they were needed most, with men on base.

Harry Byrd, whom the Tigers acquired in the trade that sent Jim Delsing to Chicago, is making a spirited bid to return to the major leagues. His Charleston record so far reads 7-6.

Further down in the farms, at places like Augusta, Idaho Falls and Valdosta, players who may someday wear Tiger livery are coming along impressively. But they're several years away yet.

If immediate help is forthcoming, it must come from Charleston.

CONTINUING WITH the frolicsome antics of Casey Stengel when he managed the former Daffy Dodgers in the National League, Ol' Case would sometimes go to extremes to prove a point.

Once, in the days before artificially lighted ball parks, the Dodgers were leading by a slender margin and it was getting dark. Casey wanted the umpire to call the game. The Dodgers, of course, would be declared winners of the abbreviated contest.

The umpire refused. So the very next inning Ol' Case trudged from the dugout with a flashlight in his hand, searching for his place in the third base coaching box.

Dressed for the Occasion
 Then there was the time Stengel wanted the game called because it was raining. Again his team was leading, a custom he enjoyed only occasionally in those days. Again the ump refused.

This time the irritated Mr. Stengel took to the field in hip boots, raincoat and rain hat in an attempt to prove his point.

Nowadays, of course, Casey doesn't have to resort to such antics. He manages a team that has a habit of winning.

Who's Got the Ball?
 Around Boston, they still talk of the time early this season when one of the Tigers smashed a hard line drive to Billy Klaus at third. Klaus stopped the ball but it suddenly disappeared.

He looked all over in utter bewilderment as the runner safely reached first on what should have been a routine out. Finally he found that the ball had somehow popped inside his shirt.

Early Wynn, the Cleveland pitcher, was accidentally struck in the face by a ball thrown by Jose Valdevelso in Washington and wound up with 21 stitches. Shortly thereafter a friend gave Wynn a fencing mask and he wore it while warming up along the sidelines before a game.

"Fun at First"
 Wynn might have become somewhat "gun shy" from his injury, for he intensely dislikes balls being hit through the box. In fact, once when a sizzling liner went through him, he reacted with dispatch.

With the batter on first, Wynn called his first baseman over and confided, "I'm going to throw the ball to first but don't you catch it. I want that guy to feel what it's like to have a ball whizzing by his head."

Earl Torgeson pulled what Minnie Minoso thought was a dirty trick, although it was perfectly legal and smart thinking.

Minoso had reached base in a swirl of dust on a single. Torgy told him to get off for a moment so he could dust off the bag. The unsuspecting Minoso raised his foot and Earl tagged him with the ball he had hidden in his glove.

M-14 New Number For Plymouth Road

A series of changes in state trunkline designations in the Detroit-Ypsilanti-Ann Arbor area that became effective Nov. 1, have been announced by Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler.

The Edsel Ford expressway west from Woodward avenue in Detroit, the Detroit Industrial expressway and the new Ann Arbor south by-pass are now US-12. The Detroit Industrial expressway had previously been designated M-112. The new route of US-12 joins previous US-12 west of Ann Arbor.

Plymouth road, formerly designated as US-12, is now M-14, and extends from Grand River avenue in Detroit to US-12 west of Ann Arbor.

US-12 branches off Michigan avenue north of the Willow Run Airport and follows the expressway to the junction of US-112 route southwest of Ypsilanti.

M-17 (Ecorse road) follows its previous route to a point southeast of Ypsilanti, then present M-17 business route through Ypsilanti and terminates at the junction of US-23 just east of Ann Arbor.

Stadium boulevard in Ann Arbor, previous route of M-17 to the junction with US-12 west of that city, has been discontinued as part of the state trunkline system.

New route designation signs and markers carrying out the above changes have been installed.

Know Where M-14 is Located? Most people haven't noticed, but route U.S. 12 which ran along the city's south boundary between Ann Arbor and Detroit has been changed to M-14. The Willow Run Expressway is now U.S. 12.

Redford Lions Club voted $390 to the Pontiac Nursery at their last board meeting. This represents one month's payment on a heating plant.

Detective Lt. Glenn Bennett of the Detroit Arson Squad was guest speaker and related many interesting experiences at the Tuesday meeting, Sunday, Nov. 4 was designated as the day the Lions would attend Sunday School at Covenant Community Church; a good representation was reported.

Everyone is looking forward to the Past President's Ball tonight in honor of Chester President Al Leggat at Western. Charlie Robb is chairman assisted by Andy Sinelli.

ACROSS THE DESK

ideas from other editors

From the Catskill Mountain Star, Saugerties, N. Y.: One of the amazing facets of modern life is the failure of many people—men, women, and even children—to take a personal interest in the development of a happy, safe and intelligent family.

Men who are wizards in the business world often make miserable failures as husbands and fathers. Mothers, who are attractive in looks and intelligent in activities, also often fail dismally in making their homes duplicate these attributes. Children who amaze strangers by their good qualities rarely exhibit these virtues within the family circle.

Let us make it plain that we are not talking about dissolute, profligate or worthless people. We are referring to the people who are considered the backbone of local society and the pace-setters of local affairs in their communities. Nor do we intend to assert that charming family life does not exist in this area. What we call attention to is that, too often, it is not to be found in the homes where one would expect to find the utmost felicity.

There will be some people who read this and realize that their family, as a social unit, is happy, harmonious, cooperative and eminently successful by any standard. These families are to be admired. Whether they know it or not, they are a great deal more fortunate than many others. There will be other men and women who will instantly admit to themselves that their own home life and its development of admirable family traits is not as it might have been or could be. What is the reason?

Boiled down, let's call it plain selfishness, and then think the problem through on this basis. The solution of many a family feud and the end of many blood-bath will be the result of such solid, sincere thinking, and a determination to do something about it.

From the Waverly Sun, Waverly, N. Y.: There were few jurisdictional worries in colonial times, if a man's home was attacked by Indians, he and his family had to fight for their lives with what help they could get from neighbors.

Then came the age of specialization and delegation. The trend of responsibility was away from the family and community.

War and disaster were among the problems delegated to the specialists. We felt the impact in multiplying crosses in national cemeteries, but war's destruction, for all except those who served, was no closer than a movie screen.

Advice to Pipe Smokers

By Anita Colby

Many of the young men going to college this Fall will go through the pipe-smoking phase. Most, I guess, will be seeking something that will lend them an air of scholarly distinction—and make them attractive to co-eds.

But some won't realize that exuding an air of distinction requires more than exuding clouds of smoke. They'll soon give up pipes and try raising beards—the newest fad—instead.

I don't know if any men will be willing to take tips on pipe-smoking from a woman. But, judging from the pained looks I've seen on many hostesses' faces when one of you hauls out your blackened boiler, I figure a few ideas from the woman's point of view might be in order.

Besides, since the attitude of your feminine friends is highly important in the making or breaking of you as a polished, permanent puffer, I feel entitled to speak out.

I don't smoke a pipe myself, you understand, but I researched many of my facts by observing my friend Bing Crosby—a man who handles a pipe as smoothly as he handles a ballad. I've seen Bing even recording a popular song while puffing up a storm.

Most women believe they can trust a man with a pipe. They feel instinctively that pipes are on the side of law and order. They might be right, too. Sherlock Holmes, for instance, smokes a pipe while movie villains never do.

The accumulation of an air of distinction begins, it seems to me, with the filling of the pipe. Many of you would-be Crosbys or Gabrels ruin your chances right there. I've seen many of you tip the pouch and try to pour tobacco into your pipe. This tip-and-pour technique results in your constantly having to make excuses to annoyed hostesses for the tobacco you've sprinkled on their rugs. The only really acceptable loading method, I have discovered, is to fill your pipe inside the pouch while you gaze off into the middle distance, demonstrating your mastery of the situation. Use your right forefinger to scoop tobacco into the bowl.

If your finger becomes caught in the bowl, a few twists of the pipe should serve to extricate it. In this event, your finger may be covered with soot. But you'll be stamped as gauche if you haul out a handkerchief to wipe it clean. Keep your handkerchief in the same pocket with your matches, then when you reach for a light you can surreptitiously wipe off your finger on the hanky inside the pocket.

Some smokers keep fruit skins or potato peelings in their pouches to moisten the tobacco. But this practice is not recommended for novices. A piece of potato peeling unwittingly scooped into the pipe bowl and set alight can dismay the most tolerant hostesses. Besides, it ruins the effect created by a fine filling technique and tends to disconcert the smoker, as well as his friends.

After you've filled your pipe the next step is to put it in your mouth. Good technique at this point, top smokers tell me, requires that the teeth not be seen. And you must now be careful to breathe only through your nose, for exhaling through your mouth would cause a most unfortunate shower of flaked tobacco. Therefore, it behooves those of you with adenoids not to delay lighting up.

After you've lit your pipe and have it drawing well, you should leave it in your mouth as long as you can, withdrawing it only for use in emphasizing points of view. It is considered bad form in the best smoking circles to keep popping it in and out.

One further detail: you must keep your pipe clean. Although the look on your face when you realize from the taste in your mouth that you haven't cleaned your pipe recently is sometimes mistaken for a look of deep thought, it is not something to be depended on. And never, never, never slurp.

Halloween Parties Highlight Gardens News

BY EARLEEN POMROY
GA. 1-5231

The Junior Civic Teen Age Club met at the clubhouse Sunday evening, Oct. 28 for a Fireside Party. The clubhouse was decorated in a gay Halloween theme, with streamers and pumpkins and over the mantel the round mirror was converted into a huge black cat. A huge moon hung on the curtain of the stage, and a witch in silhouette rode a broomstick across it. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hansz were the creators of the cat and witch. The flames burned merrily in the fireplace while the teenagers danced, played games and ping-pong.

Mr. Ammerman, Bentley teacher, was present, also committee members Mr. and Mrs. Button, Mr. and Mrs. Kerras, and Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs.

Pete Castle, 9224 Mayfield, was elected president of the club. It was decided to hold meetings every other Sunday evening. Mr. Zoet, another Bentley teacher, will be present at the net meeting, Nov. 4.

This club is open to Senior High students whose parents are members of Rosedale Gardens Civic Association. Don Randall, Berwick, is president, and Gail Gibson, Cranston St., secretary-treasurer.

Janet Lee Quick, 32700 Vermont, had a birthday party Sunday, Oct. 28. Janet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Quick, was nine years old. The party was held in the recreation room which was decorated in a Halloween theme. Children present were: Cheryl Beagan, Dale Forrest, Randy and Blaine Sheldon, Gary Rimer, Pamela Heaton, Vicki Nattieu, Susan Hunter, Laurie and Kristie Dana, Bobby Rutherford, Carol Allen, Leslie Pomroy, Gail Sheldon, Sharon and Richard Olson and Laura Yadlosky.

The Rosedale Gardens Civic Association held its monthly dance, a Halloween masquerade, Saturday night, Oct. 27th at the clubhouse on Hubbard. Fifty-one couples attended, and enjoyed an evening of dancing to the hi-fi. Just about everyone came in costumes, and this reporter talked to quite a few people all evening without recognizing them, their costumes being so confusing.

Prizes were given to the "most handsome" couple—Peg and Bob Jenkins, 9827 Berwick, who were dressed as an Arab sheik and a harem dancing girl, and the most "original" couple—Dorothy and Jerry Hopp, 9823 Mayfield, who were dressed as a pair of most convincing cannibals. Funniest man prize was awarded to John Harte, 11314 Cranston, as a man with a very bad hangover, and funniest woman prize went to a man, of all things, William Seigh, 9828 Mayfield, who was dressed as a famous ad of a dream.

Betty Dana, 32711 Vermont, a glamorous witch with gold hair and broom, pulled names out of a pumpkin for the door prize, which went to Oscar Heitner, 11320 Berwick. Next month's dance will be the last Saturday of November, and is open to all members and their guests.

Lucille McNulty, 11034 Ingram, planned a nice, quiet luncheon this week and invited Jean Gizowsky, Vermont, and her two children Skippy and Lee as her guests. Freddy McNulty was also present.

However, the best laid plans, etc. The kids went out to play in the backyard and somehow got the power mower going around the yard and couldn't get it stopped. Around and round it sped with children screaming and both mothers tore out to stop the thing but found they couldn't stop it, either.

As they hung on and went up and down and around the yard Freddy decided that pressing a tin can against the motor might be just the thing to stop it and proceeded to do just that. This, of course, wasn't sound engineering and everyone got a shock. The can flew up in the air followed by Skippy's shoes, and on the mower charged. Finally, still hanging onto the belt, they ran it out to the front yard and up against a tree where the monster solved the problem by running out of gas! This was fine luncheon entertainment, Lucille, but what on earth do you provide for an Encore? ??

The box for used records for the patients in Northville Hospital is still open for business at the Hi Fi Record Shop next door to the postoffice. Mrs. Blankenhagen donated a record player to make sure the patients would get a chance to listen to all the music that is being so generously donated, but they still could use more equipment. Any kind of player will do, including players that just play 78s, and surely there must be some gathering dust in your basements. Call Nelson Rich at Ga. 1-3916.

The Woman's Club held their annual card party at the clubhouse on Hubbard Thursday night, Nov. 1, and had a large crowd attending. Newburg News

Audience of 300 Applauds Newburg Minstrel Show

With the Newburg Methodist church hall ringing with laughter and applause, the curtain was drawn on two successful performances of the Newburg Minstrel show, Friday evening. Over 300 persons attended the November 1-2 presentation, making possible a profit of approximately $250 for the Men's club, sponsoring the program.

Between jokes by Mr. Interlocutor, Paul Nixon, and end men, Ray Bowser, Graham Bennett, Leonard Ritzler, David Thompson, Fred Bird and Joe Achor, there were dance routines, solos, the Newburg Quartette and Newburg Chorus. Mrs. Robert Shier sang "Stay in Your Own Back Yard" by Leonard Ritzler, "Bill Bailey Won't You Please Come Home" while church pastor, Reverend Richards, held the audience with his rendition of "Old Man River" and Paul Nixon with "Asleep in the Deep." The Quartette sang, "The Old Ark's a Mooverin'", "Little Brown Jug" and "I Had a Dream Dear."

Dance routines, done by the Earl School of Dance on Ann Arbor trail, had as their participants, Enid, Linda and Connie Stamnitz, Anne York, Sandra Simion, Janet Hocking, Janice Kenner and Ann Pregitzer. David Joy did a tap routine to "Mr. Banjo" and "Chocolate Soldier". The "Banjo Kings" former Bird school Cub Scouts, presented their well-known banjo and wooden dancing act. Holding the children spellbound was Jim Mitchell with his impersonation of Uncle Remus, telling stories to an attentive young man, Marlin Reid.

If you missed seeing the minstrels this time, you will have another opportunity to see them sometime during the month of December and to see the very same production under the able direction of Edward Reid. Accompanist for the show was Mrs. Paul Nixon, with Mrs. Enid Stamnitz in charge of the dances and Mrs. Franklyn York in charge of scenery.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grosjean of Newburg road have received an announcement of the birth of a baby girl to their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Grosjean, in Manheim, Germany. The Grosjean's son is serving in the armed forces. No other statistics as to weight, name or date of birth are available at this time.

Dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil LaPointe of Joy road on Thursday, November 1, were Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Weiss, Sr. of Graham road, Detroit. The dinner was given in honor of Mr. LaPointe's birthday.

On Halloween night, Mrs. Harold Mackinder of Hanon avenue, Livonia, treated at the Newburg Methodist church choir to pizza, at the close of the group's regular practice. It was much appreciated by all who partook of the treat.

Kathy Gennis was hostess to a group of young people for a square dance and weiner roast at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gennis of Joy road, on Saturday, November 3. Guests present for the evening were Ann Pregitzer, Carol LaBelle, Janice Kenner, Janet Hocking, Sandra Simion, Dale DeCoster, Susan Overmyer, Karen Peterson, Helen Belanger, Diane Grind, Bruce LaPointe, Butch Sheldon, Roger Kenner, Bob Pregitzer, Richard Kemnitz, Arnold and Jerry Heilmann, Dennis DeCoster and Jim Hocking.

Mrs. Anna Labadie of Ann Arbor trail is home after undergoing extensive eye surgery at St. Joseph's Mercy hospital in Ann Arbor.

Mrs. James Eatmon of Angeline circle is in St. Joseph's Mercy hospital in Ann Arbor. Cards from neighbors and friends would be most cheerful at this time.

The Men's Club of the Newburg Methodist church are having as their special guest, Monday, November 12, Roger Leatherman from the University of Michigan who will speak on "Atoms for Peace". The meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. with dinner served by the women of the Sarah Circle of the Women's Society of Christian Service.

St. Michael's Defenders played their final football game Sunday, November 4, and emerged victorious by defeating St. Andrews of Detroit, 25-7. Outstanding plays were made by Stan Krogulecki, Dick Sofoli, David Jones, Ed McCarthy and David LaPointe. All were contributing factors in the team's victory.

Ed McCarthy carried the ball for approximately 65 yards, a long run for a young boy; David Jones, a bench warmer until this game, intercepted a pass in the last quarter and drove 10 yards for the T.D.; David LaPointe, also a bench warmer for the other 6 games, recovered a fumble in the last minutes of the game to insure the victory for the Defenders.

Parents and cheer leaders on the sidelines gave the team their much needed moral support. Considering that only 6th, 7th and 8th grade boys are on this team, the coaching staff is to be congratulated for their wonderful work and training with the boys. As award for their earnest efforts the entire team have been presented tickets for the annual Soup Bowl game in Detroit, Sunday, November 11.

Because of the untimely death of Father John E. Contway, pastor of St. Michael's Catholic church, and because of a period of mourning to be observed, the scheduled bazaar to be held November 16-18 will be postponed until sometime after the first of the year.

Janet Pregitzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pregitzer of Richland avenue, Livonia, is in Sessions hospital, Northville, recuperating from an emergency appendectomy.

At the Madison school Halloween party on Friday, October 26, Kathy and Roger Omar, chairman of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Omar of Schoolcraft, received first and third prize, respectively, for their costumes. The party was sponsored by the Livonia Youth Organization, Livonia Police Department and the Department of Parks and Recreation for the city. Kathy came dressed as Santa Claus and Roger wore every conceivable piece of kitchen utensil that his young body could carry.

At the Newburg Methodist church hall, Ann Arbor trail and Newburg road, on Saturday, November 10, the Women's Society of Christian Service of the church will present their annual Fall Bazaar and Harvest dinner. The bazaar will open at 1 p.m. with the chicken dinner to be served between 5 and 7 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the door. However, Mrs. Earl Waack, chairman of the dinner, would appreciate a call at Garfield 1-6944 to make your reservations in advance. At the bazaar there will be something of interest for everyone—everything from dolls to doughnuts. There will be booths with candy, baked goods, needlework, pillow cases, aprons, dolls and stuffed toys, handmade dresses for little girls and a snack bar serving cider and doughnuts.

This will be a fine opportunity for you to do your Christmas shopping and at the same time to help swell the building fund for the new church. The young folks can take part in games of many kinds; fish pond, clown toss, merry-go-round and balloons for sale. The Men's club is providing a shooting gallery and there will also be movies. Hope to see you all Saturday, November 10, at the Newburg church bazaar and supper.

Immediately following the 11 a.m. church service this Sunday, members of the Fidelis class, Newburg Methodist church, will meet for a potluck dinner in the hall basement. After the dinner the members will wrap boxes to send to men in service. Those who plan on attending are requested to bring Christmas wrapping paper, stickers and ribbon for the packages.

- One person in every 75 is a diabetic.
- Diabetes is a chronic disease which develops when the body can't utilize some of the food you eat, especially sugars and starches.
- You may be a diabetic without being aware of it.
- Of the more than 2,000,000 diabetics in the United States, about 1,000,000 don't know they have the ailment.
- About 4,750,000 other persons living today will develop diabetes sometime during their lives. It is estimated that 65,000 persons become diabetic each year.
- Neglect of diabetes can lead to serious or even fatal complications.
- Discovered early and with proper medical treatment, a diabetic may live a practically normal life.
- Diabetes Week is the time when every man, woman and child should be tested for diabetes.
- The diabetes detection test is simple, and only takes a few minutes.

It is to be emphasized that there is absolutely no cost for this service to any participant except the cost of a 3c stamp and the effort that it will take to comply with the instructions on the testing material.

PROTECT YOUR HEALTH AND THE HEALTH OF YOUR FAMILY BY MAKING THIS SIMPLE DIABETIC TEST IN YOUR OWN HOME . . . AT NO COST TO YOURSELF . . . except a 3c stamp.

The Diabetic check will be conducted through the use of the Dreypak.

Within the envelope there is a slip of paper to which is attached a chemically treated paper tape. Upon this slip of paper there is provided on one side, space for your name, address and age. Two questions are also found in this space requesting information as to whether there is diabetes in your immediate family and whether you yourself are a known diabetic. On the other side of the slip of paper there is space provided for the name and address of your family physician.

The front face of the envelope is blank—please leave it blank since this space will be used by the testing teams for statistical purposes. The back face of the envelope has space for your return address and a box for a 3c stamp.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS:

1. The Dreypak will be available for all students in the school where they attend. For adults and pre-school children, the pack will be available, free of cost, in any of the six drug stores within the city limits of Plymouth, as listed below.

5. At the end of the Drive (ending Nov. 17) the cartons will be picked up and the tapes tested in a laboratory.
6. You will receive a letter reporting the findings of your test.

He Shakes Hands With the Stars
Earl Wilson's column reads like a "who's who" in show business. He gives you fresh, revealing glimpses of stage, screen, radio, TV stars the world over. He's frank and he's witty. When asked why he travels around so much, Wilson says, "Some of the best folks are outside New York. I want to find out what they're laughing about... and report it to my readers." Meet the stars in Wilson's column. It happens! Last night it began in the Detroit Free Press on Sunday, Nov. 11.

Claims Daily Grind May Help Preserve Health
Dad may not like his daily grind at the office, but it may be doing wonders to preserve his health, according to a University of Michigan expert in problems of aging.

One of the principal problems of persons who retire, says Wilma T. Donahue, is the relief from pressure and routine of business life. This often results in a vague feeling of malaise—a sense that something's wrong, even though no specific symptoms of sickness are present.
In part, she adds, this feeling may be traced to changes in the body's delicate chemical balance.
"Many of us may awaken in the morning feeling tired and blue," she explains, "but when we remember an interesting assignment or event that's coming up, we perk up and regain our sense of well being. The retired person may lack this stimulus and remain in the dumps all day."
From a social standpoint, she continues, the person who retires is cut off from a good deal of income and, equally important, is no longer in a position to enjoy the esteem of his associates at work. Other significant activities, like raising children, may begin to decline at the same time.
The impact of retirement may hit business executives especially hard, she continues, since their status is changed overnight from leadership of an important majority group to a membership in a minority group whose characteristics lack widespread social approval.
Outside interests, such as participation in civic and voluntary organizations, can be an important help in crossing the retirement hurdle, she continues.
"The older person has the time to become a full, practicing senior citizen," the U-M expert says. "He can bring about changes of great social significance to his community and stimulate interest in the cultural arts and the values of society generally."
"When these expanded roles of older people are recognized by society, we will have gone a long way in making certain there will be opportunities for the retired worker to continue to contribute to his new status through new activities," she concludes.

Calvary Baptist Begins Week-long Series Sunday

Ralph W. Mitchell

Under the leadership of Ralph W. Mitchell, eight days of evangelistic meetings will be conducted at Calvary Baptist Church Sunday, November 11, through Sunday, November 18.

Dr. Mitchell, a native of Scotland, is a graduate of Spurgeon's College of London, England. He has conducted successful evangelistic campaigns in United States, Britain, Canada and Australia. He is now spiritual counsellor of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association. In addition to his vital Bible ministry Mr. Mitchell will show several films of the Billy Graham Crusades in such countries as Scotland, England, India and several European meetings.

Special music will be provided by James Reese of Grand Rapids, as soloist and trombonist. Gary Moore of Detroit, an outstanding baritone soloist, will provide musical numbers on Monday and Friday nights. Wendell Holmes, tenor soloist of Detroit, will be a guest vocalist during these services.

Sunday services are held at 9:45 a.m., 11 a.m., 7 p.m.; Week night services at 7:30 p.m.
The public is invited to the programs.

To Fete Northville Chief of Police

Optimist Week is being celebrated by the Northville Optimist Club in the naming of Police Chief Joe Denton as "Optimist of the Year." Chief Denton is being honored for his many activities in the boys work field.
Joe Denton was born in England and joined the Army during the South African War in 1903, serving as a Bugler Boy in the South African Mounted Police.
After the war he came to Western Canada in March, 1904 and joined the Royal Northwest Mounted Police.

He joined the regular Army during World War I and served for approximately 14 years, during which time he became a Major. He came to the United States in 1921 and spent two years on a stock farm near Northville and several years with Farmerest Dairy.

Chief Denton has been with the Northville Police Department for 13 years. He instigated and supervises the Junior Police activities of the Northville boys, and also has charge of the training and establishing of the School Traffic Police.

Since he started his work with the Junior Police, 675 boys have gone through Joe Denton's capable hands. There are approximately 100 boys active at the present time. He has organized such activities as trips to Detroit for Ball Games, Police Field Day and the Circus, and each year holds a Christmas Party for all Junior Police.

The Northville Optimist Club will meet with the Northwest Detroit Optimist Club in honoring Chief Denton, when he will be presented with an engraved copy of the Optimist's Creed as well as a plaque honoring the occasion.
The meeting will be held at 17321
W. McNichols rd., (Manzo's Dining Room) at 6:15 p.m. Monday, November 12.

Happy Students Like 'New Look'

American youngsters like the "new look" in their schools, says a Michigan State University professor of education.

Dr. Donald J. Leu asserts that youngsters are beginning to really like going to school because of the trend away from "institutional look" in school buildings.

The education consultant admits that this "new attitude" is far from universal, but he lists it as one of the trends he has noted in his educational planning work in local community schools.

Light colors, more glass and modern movable furniture are some of the factors making new schools "friendly, informal and inviting to the student," Dr. Leu said.
He noted there is evidence that students who learn "under threat" usually memorize matterial, repeat it and then probably forget it.
"Old, institutionalized-appearing structures can be part of that threat," he explained.
The modern trend, he added, is to one-story buildings with larger classrooms. School sites, once planned on 10-acre tracts or less, often range from 22 to 100 acres.

Legion Auxiliary To Begin 1957 Enrollment Drive

Enrollment of members for a new year of service to America and its disabled war veterans will be begun by the American Legion Auxiliary here on November 11. Mrs. Melva Gardner, president of the Passage-Gayde unit, announced today.

Because of increasing need for the type of work carried out by the Auxiliary due to the present national danger, increased enrollment will be sought for 1957. Mrs. Gardner said, invitations to join the Auxiliary will be extended to women of war service families throughout the city during an intensive membership effort.

The campaign will be directed by Mrs. Gwen Holcombe, Unit Membership chairman, assisted by all officers of the unit and members of her committee. Working with the committee will be a large group of other members who will give personal invitations to join the Auxiliary to eligible women.

"With our country in continuing danger from the world-wide threat of communism, there is growing need for the services the Auxiliary is organized to perform," said Mrs. Gardner. "We need the help of every woman who is eligible and we hope to enroll a greatly increased number for our activities of 1957."

Assessment Roll Approved by City; Car Purchased

Public hearings on assessment rolls, awarding of a contract for a new police car and approval of an alley for the master thoro fare plan were some of the items on Monday's agenda for the city commission.

The alley under consideration would be located behind buildings along South Main street, from Fraick avenue to the Detroit Edison office property. The proposal would make the present Detroit Edison drive the eastern outlet for the alley.

City commissioners approved the master thoro fare plan amendment after considerable discussion. The plan had been recommended by the city planning commission. The alley cannot go straight onto Church street because of city-owned property designated as a park. The parcel was given to the city with the stipulation that it not be used for any other purpose than for a park.

There were no objections to the assessment rolls for the Northwest and Southwest area storm sewers. A representative from the Western Electric company was present because the Northwest project affects their proposed plant on Sheldon road. Construction on the project is expected to start soon.

A net bid of $1,219.70 from Paul J. Wiedman Inc. for a Ford police car was approved. The only other bid received was from Bill Brown Sales, Inc., for $1,288.95.

A written report to the commission was delivered by City Manager Albert Glassford concerning the need for flashers or gates at the Starkweather avenue railroad crossing. There is a watchman now at the crossing.

Glassford reported that a meeting of eight railroad officials and two city officials on September 28 brought to light that there is a possibility of installing manually-operated flashers and half-roadway gates. But the railroad is considering the installation of a centralized traffic control system which may make manually-operated system obsolete in a year or so, Glassford said. It was recommended that the city wait until the railroad decides about its new system.

Commissioners approved the payment of $95,381.95 to George A. Odien, Inc., for its work on the sanitary sewer.

How did the fool and his money ever get together in the first place?

UNIFORMS DO NOT MAKE A FOOTBALL TEAM but plenty of talent does, as this picture of the Bird School touch football team shows. Bird School won four games, lost none and tied one to make the Plymouth Recreation Department grade school touch football championship last week. Coached by Mac Pierce, a teacher at Bird Elementary School, (back row, left) the fifth and sixth graders turned out for the team in numbers that many a small college might envy. Final standings: Bird 4-0-1, Catholic (Our Lady of Good Counsel) 3-0-2, Allen 2-2-1, Starkweather 2-2-1, Smith 1-3-1 and Canton Hill (outlying schools) 0-5-0.

Basketball Team Begins Workouts

The Plymouth High basketball team, under coach Charlie Ketterer, started drills last Monday afternoon to get in shape for the '56-57 season and their opening game with Northville on the Mustang court November 30.

Five returning lettermen bolster the Rock hoopers as practice begins. They are: Ken King, forward, 5'9"; Jerry King, guard, 5'10"; Dave Decoster, guard, 5'8"; Biff Tait, forward-center, 5'10"; and Bob Jenkins, forward-guard, 5'9".

Last year's team won a total of seven games while losing eight for a near 500 season. Coach Ketterer expects a better season this year, though he is concerned about the lack of height on the Rock cage squad.

"We have some taller boys on the junior varsity that could help," Ketterer said, "but they'll have to hustle to make first string, size alone doesn't get them a varsity letter."

Thirteen games are scheduled for the '56-57 season. Each of the suburban-six teams are played twice, once home and once away, for a total of ten league games plus three non-league tilts. Northville, November 30, (season opener) Hamtramck, March 1, and Monroe, March 8, (season closers) are the three non-league games.

Plymouth Harriers Place Sixth in State Meet to End Finest Year

The Plymouth High School cross country team took sixth place in the state class A cross country meet at Ypsilanti last Saturday, running against 18 of the best "two mile" teams in Michigan and beating out a powerful Wyandotte team that had bested them in the regional meet a week before.

Rock Swimmers Begin Practice

The Plymouth High School swimming team, under coach John McFall, started high workouts last Monday in preparation for their first meet with Lincoln Park, November 29, in the Plymouth pool.

"We have last year's complete team back" McFall said, "and they should be better than ever." Rock natators won nine while losing three last year and placed ninth in the state.

Included in last year's team were free styler Bill Brandell, Jack Taylor, Don Carney, Dick Showers, Gary Wright, Dennis Baker, Bob Drobbeck, Don Walker, Jon Williams and Bill Stertanski. Other swimmers are breaststroker Mike Todd and Bob Isister, back stroker John Gregory and Jim Archer and divers Arthur Losse and John Walker.

Nearly 50 boys have turned out for the team, coach McFall says, and there will be some competition for varsity positions before the Lincoln Park meet. There are 14 meets on the Rock schedule this year, including the Cereal Bowl Relays at Battle Creek December 8, and the state meet at East Lansing March 15.

In finishing sixth among the best of Michigan's cross country teams, this year's squad placed the highest of any Plymouth team ever to enter the state meet. The present team is also notable in other respects.

Without a cross country team at all in 1955, the Rock Harriers swept through the regular season undefeated and then beat all their league opponents at once in a league meet at Idyl Wyld Golf Course.

In the regional meet, running against 14 teams from the Detroit area at Thurston, Coach John Sandmann's squad placed second only to Wyandotte. They reversed this defeat by beating Wyandotte in last Saturday's event, placing sixth while Wyandotte tied for ninth with Grand Rapids Central.

For a green team with a new coach, this is little short of a sensational record.

In addition to the seven Rock regulars listed above, coach Sandmann mentions Paul Cummings, Ron Markham and Dick Harms as generous contributors to the fine record chalked up by the Plymouth team this year.

Three members of this year's league champion team have run their last cross country race for Plymouth High School. Captain Dave Decoster, Charlie Westover and Dick Manion are all seniors graduating in June. Their last season is one they may remember with pride.

Rocks End Season Bowing to Ypsi

The Plymouth football team ran into trouble at Ypsilanti Friday night and barely managed to avoid being whitewashed as they bowed to Ypsilanti 39-6 in their worst defeat of the season.

Coach Mike Hoben dressed 36 men for the game and played 28 of them, including four freshmen, in an attempt to stem the powerful Ypsilanti tide.

Plymouth's only score came in the last period on a seven yard run by John Thomas. Four boys scored for the Ypsilanti squad, two of them crossing the goal line twice. Smith and Beaudette each made two touchdowns plus one by Perry and one by Adkins.

The score by periods:
	Ypsi	Plymouth
1st quarter	6	0
2nd quarter	20	0
3rd quarter	0	0
4th quarter	13	6

"They were the better team," Hoben said after the contest, "but our offense was way off. We should have scored more than we did."

He singled out Ken Calhoun as a standout on the defensive team, estimating that fullback Calhoun made nearly 80 percent of the defensive tackles. Good defensive games were also played by Thomas, Alsbro, Ward and Tait.

Ypsilanti made 14 first downs for a total of 320 yards while Plymouth managed only six first downs and a 112 yard total. The Rocks air attack was no more effective than their ground game. They attempted 15 passes and completed five as compared to seven passes with three completions for Ypsi. There were no interceptions.

Even with last night's loss, the Rock gridmen had a winning season. They beat Northville, Belleville, Redford Union and Garden City, losing to Allen Park, Bentley and Ypsilanti Central. They also gained a moral victory over Trenton by battling them to a scoreless tie.

Coach Hoben will be looking to his junior varsity team for talent next fall to replace the 15 varsity men who will graduate this June.

Seniors who played their final game in the blue and white uniform of Plymouth High last Friday are Biff Tait, Tom Caldwell, Larry Keith, Dick Grabowski, George Davis, Larry Gavigan, Carroll Cannady and Bob Cloer.

Others are Ed Ward, Jerry King, John Thomas, Ken Calhoun, Jerry Hearl, Leroy Schacht and Dick Showers.

This leaves only ten lettermen out of 25 to return next year.

Who says dream cars never come true?

Dynamite from Detroit

Coming! America's first production dream car— it will influence the shape of cars for years to come.

The old Detroit rule was to introduce new features gradually, to make little changes each year. Sometimes a new grille, an engine improvement, or new colors and trim.

We broke that rule. In fact, we broke all the rules. This is dynamite!

For you are not the only one who has dreamed of a totally modern car, a car that has everything you find at automobile shows, in illustrations, and in custom-built experimental cars.

Detroit has had that dream, too. And that's why the 1957 Mercury is the car that has honestly excited the most car-jaded, the most sophisticated of Detroit's automotive experts.

When you see the new 1957 Mercury, you'll see America's first full-production dream car—a car that will influence the shape of cars for years to come.

You'll see a dream car you can own and drive—a car that has far more than startling years-ahead beauty.

THE BIG M for '57 boasts dream-car features never before found outside a designer's dreambook: a Keyboard Control that makes ordinary push-button driving old-fashioned; an exclusive Floating Ride with a revolutionary new cushioning action you have to feel to believe. There are Mercury "firsts" everywhere you look. A Power-Booster Engine Fan in the Montclair series that saves horsepower other cars waste. And many more Mercury exclusives.

You'll see THE BIG M—the new Mercury for 1957—soon. You'll see it. You'll drive it. The first dream car that can be yours. The dynamite is on its way from Detroit to your dealer's—now!

More Mail Football Money Goes to Plymouth Frosh

Plymouth High School Freshmen continued their monopoly in the Plymouth Mail football contest this week.

Jim Haynes, 14, 1146 Simpson, and John Nance, 14, 9715 Joy Road, both picked 14 winners out of 15. Each boy missed on the Illinois-Purdue game but Jim guessed very close to the 17-13 Detroit-San Francisco score to give him first place.

Third place winner was Jerry Smith of 289 East Pearl Street. Jim, with a $15 check in his jeans, and John, with a check for $7, both toyed with various ideas for spending the money before admitting they would probably put it in the bank for Christmas shopping.

This is the fourth week that freshmen from the local high school have figured in the money in the Mail contest. When asked their secret, this week's winners said they look over the expert's choices in the papers, compared them with past team performances, then just hauled off and took a guess.

In previous weeks high schoolers Gary Weiermiller and Gary Hondorp took top money, Kurt Atchinson, a local freshman, was first with Mrs. Francis Schwartz second, and Dave Green and Jim Herter, more Plymouth Frosh, placed one-two.

Veterans Foreign Wars

Chairman Mildred Dely and Co-chairmen Marion Warner and Beverly Brown would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who participated in any way in the Smorgasbord dinner this year. It is only through the fine cooperation of all the girls who worked, of everyone who donated food, and of all the people who came out to eat that an affair of this type can be called a success. We would like to thank the Plymouth Mail for the splendid help they gave us during the past two weeks, especially, to help bring the news of the dinner before the public. Without the wonderful help of each and every one of you we would not have been able to say that our time and efforts were well spent and that the Smorgasbord dinner was a huge success.

Marie Norman and Virginia Bartel attended the District rally at Ecorse November 4.

Plans are in progress for the next Post dance to be held December 1, and for the annual Children's Christmas party to be held Sunday, December 16. Watch for further information on this.

Question For Today

Newest Buick Yet

1957 BUICK
Now on Display

YOU know all that talk you've been hearing about the 1957 new car models being really new?

Well, in the case of the 1957 Buicks it's true—gospel true.

We mean these 1957 Buicks are new in the precise and literal sense. We mean new from the ground up, and from gleaming grille to sassy taillights.

We mean new lowness, new styling, new bodies, new windshields, new controls, new safety-padded instrument panels, new safety steering wheels, new seating, new fabrics, new colors.

We mean new front end, new rear end, new frame, new braking, new steering, new handling, new riding, new roadability—a whole new chassis of greater solidity and safety.

We mean V8 engines new from the crankshaft up—engines that deliver an all-time high in horsepower and compression from their 364-cubic-inch displacement.

And we mean, most of all, an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflo®—so instant in the starting range—so utterly smooth and so totally full-range in "Drive"—that your need for "Low" is practically eliminated.

So come take in these low-silhouette, these boldly beautiful, these instantly obedient Buicks for 1957.

Then you'll see why you can't blame us for being so fired up about it all—and how catching this excitement can be.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Concession Stand Business Thrives at Football Games

The selling of concessions at football games is a money-making project for the various classes at Plymouth High as well as a means by which to satisfy the crowd.

The freshmen class with Class President Jim Herter as student chairman sold peanuts, hot dogs, cider and coffee at the Garden City game on October 26. With the help of faculty members Edgar Brown, Urey Arnold, Mrs. Jane Maddox, Robert Smith, Mrs. Elaine Hegestrom and Miss Gertrude Fiegel, the class made $36.10.

Sophomore Janet West was the student in charge of concessions at the Bentley game October 5. The tenth graders sold peanuts, hot dogs, coffee and cider making $118.64 while PHS teachers Robert Southgate and Mrs. Frances Overton gave their assistance.

The Junior class, for the first time, very successfully sold hot chocolate at the Homecoming game with Redford Union on October 19. Walter Godwin and Miss Virginia Ormstead, faculty members, assisted Ann Hulsing, Mary Lou Tidwell, Marianna Jensen, chairman of concessions stand, hot drinks and bleachers respectively. The 11th graders sold hot dogs, peanuts, and coffee besides hot chocolate making $140.00.

Making profits totaling $156.10 was the senior class selling hot dogs, coffee, peanuts, cider and pop under the direction of the senior Executive Board with Dave DeCoster, class president. Faculty advisors were Loren Grievens and Raymond Homer.

Faculty Advisors Begin 3rd Year

Headed by Chairman Barton Rogers, the Faculty Advisory Committee held its second meeting of the school year on Tuesday, October 30, in the high school library.

The committee, whose purpose is to establish policies and procedures for the improvement of Plymouth high school, has as the vice-chairman, Urey Arnold; Ed Brown is the secretary. The vice-chairman is the only elected officer. After serving for one year the vice-chairman shall automatically assume the office of chairman. The secretary is appointed by the chairman.

A few of the decisions reached in past years by the committee are the new method of marking report cards in the classrooms instead of the library; the elimination of requiring students to return their report cards at the end of each marking period; and the discontinuing of the marking period honor roll and establishing the semester honor roll.

Past chairmen of the committee are Robert Smith, 1953-54; Miss Elizabeth McDonald, 1954-55; Mrs. Virginia Calligari, 1955-56; and Barton Rogers, 1956-57 (present chairman).

To Offer New Scholarships

Many recent scholarships have been announced by Miss Ruth Butts at the guidance office for students interested.

An alumnae scholarship for Art students is available at Nathan College in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, with the tuition of $800. Some new scholarships are being offered by Kalamazoo College which are available to students who have done good work. Also the student may have a loan up to $500 a year with no interest until after the student has graduated.

The Rotary Club is also offering two scholarships to senior students who would like to enter Wayne University. Several other colleges are offering different types of scholarships, one college being Milwaukee-Downer College which offers The Endowed General Scholarships, $1,200 and The Lynde Bradley Scholarships for $400 and several others.

Art Class Assignment Includes Scribbling Too

"Working in dark and light and perspective is the current project of the three beginners art classes," stated Mrs. Frances Overton, high school art teacher.

Outside sketching was a recent task but next week the group is to start in color while next on the program is the study of the color wheel and color harmony. From there, the students will go into design, abstracts, and natural drawings.

Original compositions and scribble will be next on the list, where most all the drawings are taken from scribbles. The student first just scribbles all over the paper, then he looks for little objects in the scribbles like a cat, or a hand or maybe a person's face. He picks out the object, draws it in clearer, erases the rest of the scribbles, adds dark and light, and then he has a finished picture all from scribbles.

Pilgrim Prints Writers Attend Area Conference

Karla Herbold, assistant editor of the Pilgrim Prints, was chairman of a news gathering and writing group at a conference held in Bentley High School on October 30. Sue Love served as recorder.

A general assembly was held in which Lee Marks and Dick Snyder, both seniors at the University of Michigan, were guest speakers. Snyder, editor of the Michigan Daily, the University's newspaper, and Marks, the city editor of the same paper, talked about their paper. This was followed by a discussion period with students asking questions.

From the general assembly students representing all the schools in the Suburban 6 League broke up into such groups as news, sports, photography, business managers, feature writing, and editor sections.

After lunch another general assembly was held in which the results of the group discussions were given. Other members attending the conference from Plymouth high school were Elizabeth Sarah, Joyce Schomberger, Arlene Gobel, Diane Bever, Faith Hennings, Annie Denney, Dick Manion, Bill Huber, and Henry Mende accompanied by Miss Elizabeth McDonald, Pilgrim Prints adviser.

Three Attend State Future Nurses Meeting

Three girls from Plymouth High School, Joyce Sackett, secretary-treasurer; Kenneth Thompson and Betty Carless, attend the State Future Nurses meeting at Grand Rapids recently. Six hundred girls from all over Michigan were represented at the conference.

At the next meeting of the club, November 6, the girls will make pads for the National Cancer Society.

A speaker from the Detroit Visiting Nurses Association will speak to the girls, November 27, on the Visiting Nurses Association. Mrs. Mary Carless, school nurse, sponsors the local group.

Four Local Delegates Attend Student Council Conference at Ann Arbor

Student Council members Hale Huber, sophomore; Janet Spigeriali, junior; Sally Williams, senior; and Gustave Gorguze, assistant principal, attended the Twelfth Annual Michigan Conference of Student Councils at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor on Tuesday, October 30.

The meeting was held for student representatives and faculty advisers of the Student Councils or student bodies of all secondary schools in the state.

Held at the Horace H. Rackham School of Graduate Studies, the conference was sponsored by the University of Michigan with the assistance of the Students and Faculties of the Secondary Schools of the State.

The purpose of this meeting was to discuss and to try to solve problems which some schools had. Some of the problems discussed were delegating authority to the Student Council, improving school morale; improving Student Council reports to the student body; and developing better relations between schools.

Hale Huber who was one of the group leaders said that he found that Plymouth High School had little or none of these problems. He also stated that the student body of Plymouth High School should be very proud of its school.

Attendance of students and advisers totaled 1,300. These were divided into 12 groups of students and five groups of advisers. Plymouth Student Council members have attended these meetings for the last five years.

Chess Games Flourish At Noon Hour

Chess Club tournament games played between members each noon have been playing havoc with the club standings. Members vie for higher positions by challenging other members one or two places above them.

If the challenger wins, the challenged is moved down to the former place of the challenger, and the challenger is moved up. Another way to be moved up in the standings is to challenge someone, and if that person doesn't play the game within a week's time, he automatically forfeits his place.

The Chess Club standings as of Thursday, November 1 were as follows:

1. Jim Houk 12; 2. Wally Bulard 12; 3. Otto Bufe 11; 4. John Pernicaro 12; 5. Wayne Huber 12; 6. Jim Overmyer 11; 7. John VanDyke 11; 8. Larry Daly 10; 9. Larry Daly 11; 10. Bill Mandt 12; 11. Hale Huber 10; 12. Martha Shoemaker 11; 13. Art Losse 12; 14. Mike Kelley 10; 15. Terry Haws 9; 16. Marilyn Fry 12; 17. Mike Stickney 11; 18. Dieter Dietrich 12; 19. Sylvia Robertson 10.

No definite plans have been made for inter-school tournaments. Although a letter was sent to Walled Lake high school challenging them to a game, no reply has been yet received.

Winners Declared In Girls Gym Soccer Tourney

Christine Baker, Jeanne Whitebread, Ann Taylor, and Elaine Moran were captains of the teams capturing first place in the soccer tournament held between the girls swimming and gym classes.

First hour, tied for first place, Christine Baker and Jeanne Whitebread; second place, Linda Williams; and a three way tie for third place between Claudia Kessler, Janice Keil, and Sandy Kissabeth.

The captains and official referees have been chosen to lead the girls out on the courts. The 16 captains of the teams are: first hour Claudia Kessler, Pat Baggett, Pat Clixby, Janice Irett, Edie Dribble, Karen Lent, Gladys Bennett, Chris Baker with Barbara Petty and Sue Robinson as official referees; second hour, Joy Kalmback, Pat Humphrey, Bette Anno, Delphine Glumb, Doreen Flack, Donna Hartig, Mary Divinnie and Sylvia Chingwy. Official Minutes of Your Board of Education

MINUTES

The regular meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District was held in the homeroom of the high school on Monday, September 10, 1956, at 8 p.m.

Present: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Smith, Mr. Stecker, Administrative Assistant Blunk, and Superintendent Isbister. Absent: None.

Also present: Mr. Jaroszewicz, of Eberle Smith Associates, Inc.; Mr. Adams, Mr. Ash, Mr. Larsen, and Mr. Truer of Maplecroft Subdivision; Mr. Rew, Mr. McVeigh, of Peninsular State Company; Mr. Obeys, of Oglesby Equipment Company.

President Fischer called the meeting to order at 8:00 p.m. Bids for homeroom and art room equipment in the new junior high school were opened and read as follows:

Contractors	Bond or Check	Base Bid A (Wood)	Base Bid B (Metal)
W. D. Glardon	Bond	$11,700.00	$10,640.00
Clyde Bickel Co.	Check—$561.75	11,235.00	11,040.00
Oglesby Equipment	Bond	9,485.00	11,000.00
Peninsular State	Bond
Home Improvement	Bond

Mr. Jaroszewicz and Mr. Blunk were asked to investigate the bids and quality of equipment and present their recommendation at a later meeting.

Mr. Adams, Mr. Ash, Mr. Larsen, and Mr. Truer urged the Board to consider carefully the problem of traffic control on Edison Street, if the street became an access route for vehicular traffic to the new junior high school. They recommended that the street be kept closed to vehicular traffic from the subdivision to the school. They were concerned for the safety of children. They noted with alarm the use of the street as a public thoroughfare for traffic from Main Street to Mill Street.

It was pointed out by Board members that there was no provision for a street leading from the school property line on the west to Mill Street. However, it was necessary to have a driveway between these points and that in all probability the driveway could be constructed so it would discourage vehicular traffic. It was agreed that the problem deserved further study.

Mr. Rew explained a program of education and entertainment which he has presented in many schools of this area. He asked that favorable consideration be given to the inclusion of the program in the Plymouth schools.

Mr. Woodward of Fidelity Appraisal Company appeared before the Board to answer questions about his bid for the appraisal of school properties. He pointed out that the purposes of an appraisal were:

- (1) To make sure that the properties are adequately covered with insurance.
- (2) To establish a claim in case of a major loss.
- (3) To protect the Board of Education and the taxpayers of the school district.

It was moved by Mr. Mitchell and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing to approve the assignment of payments in the contract between the Plymouth Community School District and Daniel W. LaFontaine d/b/a LaFontaine Equipment Company to the Interior Steel Equipment Company, 2355 East 6th Street, Cleveland, Ohio. This assignment will be made only on the advice of Eberle M. Smith, Associates, and Mr. Perlongo, Attorney for the School District.

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Stecker. Nays: None.

It was moved by Mr. Mitchell and seconded by Mr. Stecker to call a special election on Monday, October 8, 1956, for the purpose of voting on the following proposal:

"Shall a portion of the remaining funds previously approved by the electors of the Plymouth Community School District at a special election held on March 28, 1955, for the purpose of erecting and furnishing a Junior High School building and two elementary schoolhouses, acquiring additional land for site purposes and remodeling the central school buildings, now be used to build additions to present elementary schools?"

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Stecker. Nays: None.

It was moved by Mr. Stecker and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing to approve the following tax levies in the respective taxing units within the school district:

Present: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Stecker; Administrative Assistant Mr. Blunk, and School Attorney Mr. Perlongo. Also present: Mr. Spensler, Mr. and Mrs. Lutter, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith, Mrs. Popp, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gothe, Mr. Hulse, and Mr. F. L. Braum.

Mr. Blunk was requested to see what might be done regarding having a doctor at all football games. Mr. Fischer was requested to call the special board meeting at the request of Mr. Smith and Mr. Mitchell.

Mr. Smith presented his reasons for calling the special meeting. Mr. Perlongo was asked his opinion regarding his interpretation of the proposal, specifically whether or not a favorable vote would be a mandate that all the remaining funds be used for additions. His opinion was that this was not so.

After a discussion of the proposal to be voted on at the special election to be held October 8, 1956, School Attorney Mr. Perlongo and Mrs. Hulsing were delighted to rewrite the proposal for the constitution of the board. Mr. Perlongo and Mrs. Hulsing submitted the following proposal:

"Shall any portion of the remaining funds previously approved by the electors of the Plymouth Community School District at a special election held on March 28, 1955, for the purpose of erecting and furnishing a Junior High School building and two elementary schoolhouses, acquiring additional land for site purposes and remodeling the central school buildings, now be used, if found expedient and in the discretion of the Board, to build additions to present elementary schools?"

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Stecker. Nays: None.

It was moved by Mr. Mitchell and seconded by Mr. Stecker to call a special election on Monday, October 8, 1956, for the purpose of voting on the following proposal:

"Shall a portion of the remaining funds previously approved by the electors of the Plymouth Community School District at a special election held on March 28, 1955, for the purpose of erecting and furnishing a Junior High School building and two elementary schoolhouses, acquiring additional land for site purposes and remodeling the central school buildings, now be used to build additions to present elementary schools in the discretion of the Board?"

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Stecker. Nays: None.

It was moved by Mr. Mitchell and seconded by Mr. Smith to approve for payment Building and Site check No. 269 in the amount of $5,660.34.

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Stecker. Nays: None.

The letter dated September 25, 1956, from the Greenspan Building Company was read by Mrs. Hulsing. It was moved by Mr. Mitchell and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing that the letter from the Greenspan Building Company, dated September 25, 1956, be made a part of the minutes of the meeting.

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Stecker. Nays: None.

Mr. Perlongo requested to present each member of the Board of Education with a copy of a letter from the Attorney General regarding the granting of plots to school boards. It was moved by Mr. Mitchell and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing that the meeting be adjourned.

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Stecker. Nays: None. Meeting adjourned 10:25 p.m.

Respectfully submitted, Esther L. Hulsing, Secretary

Resorts Lengthen Season

Bigger profits from lower prices is the new trend in Michigan resorting. The "trick" is a longer tourist season which enables resort owners to spread their cost of operation a good deal thinner.

Common complaint in the past is "We only work a five month year." This refers to the period from May to September when vacationers abound. But it leaves many towns and areas with virtually no livelihood for the balance of the year.

A positive approach is now evident. In several areas of the state things are taking place which will improve the "off season" bugaboo. These, naturally enough, are encouraged, stimulated and tabulated with a good deal of satisfaction by the Michigan Tourist Council.

Skating and other winter sports offer Michigan resort owners an opportunity to build business during seasons when things used to be "dead." Interest in skating is picking up rapidly. In 1954-55, it is estimated that 65,000 people journeyed north to ski. In 1955-56 the number increased to 80,000.

This winter more than 100,000 snow enthusiasts are expected to visit Michigan's "winter wonderland," and to spend up to $10 million dollars.

Outstanding in its efforts to develop skiing as a local industry is Cadillac community. There a band of local people organized one of the state's most popular ski attractions. It is called Caberfae and it brings a growing number of skiers into the Cadillac area each winter.

Caberfae enjoys fantastic success. If favored with suitable weather, this year will see more people than ever before on its slopes. Caberfae is expanding too. This winter skiers will find three new slopes (a total of 28), new tows, electrically lighted play areas, a new lounge and ski shop. In short, everything is modernized and improved.

At least nine other ski areas are developing rapidly. They are Ward Hills, Ludington; Brule area, Iron River; Black Mountain near Cheboygan; Gay-El-Rancho near Gaylord; Snow Bowl at Houghton Lake; Lovell's and Lake Valley, both in the Grayling area; Pioneer Hills, Roscommon; Holly area in Bloomfield Hills.

"Stretching the season" to include the entire year is another solution to winter problems. Leo Murray, owner of the Murray Inn at White Lake, in West Michigan, met with wide interest when he announced the opening of new balcony apartments. These he is offering to summer guests who want a place to stay while they return to enjoy fall, winter or spring seasons. Rooms are similar to motels but include kitchenettes.

Murray's idea received attention from the Bay City Times, which editorialized: "Old hands in resort areas have known for years that some of the finest vacations are those that come in the so-called off-season. Maybe it's only a weekend, but returning to a favorite haunt or exploring a new one can be a most pleasant experience in winter as much as any season."

Resort experts think Michigan's new trend will pay big dividends. They point to a growing tendency for people to take vacations in months other than summer. With more people, more spare time, longer vacations; with advantages of "off season" vacations promoted and made more economical than previously, they predict that resort areas are on their way up. Resort operation will become 10 or 12 month business each year instead of offering an income for only five months.

Your trees are in danger of dying of thirst, warned Karl Dressel, professor of forestry at Michigan State University. Expressing grim concern over fall drought conditions, Prof. Dressel said that thousands of trees will not last through the winter unless there is much natural moisture soon. Homeowners can protect trees on their property by liberal watering during the next two weeks, he said. Prof. Dressel emphasized that bushes, shrubs and all trees, particularly evergreens, need this care if they are to be properly prepared for winter.

Michigan's stringent laws for processing of sausage may cause "innocent violators" headaches but there is one redeeming feature. Michigan's consumption of sausage is higher than that of any other state.

Two suspensions of sausage operations were announced by the Michigan Department of Agriculture. They were the first such penalties in several years.

One company was ordered to keep its products off the market for 10 days because they showed insufficient amounts of protein. The other suspension was for two days. This was the penalty against the company whose product showed excess water, ascorbic acid, cereal and stomach tissue in cold meats.

Companies involved serve the Kalamazoo, Coldwater, Pontiac, Caro and Benton Harbor areas.

More demanding than Federal law, Michigan's strict regulations permit only skeletal meat to be used in sausage. This means that packers in nearby states must take special care to ship into Michigan only sausage especially prepared to meet these higher standards. Now and then, a mix up in a shipping department can cause an "innocent violation."

Recommended procedure for people who want to be sure they have sausage products prepared according to highest standards, says the Michigan Department of Agriculture, is for them to always buy products made within state boundaries.

Legion Juniors Busy With Host Of Activities

A full program of activities for Junior members of the American Legion Auxiliary for the fall and winter season was announced today by Vicki Gardner, president of the Junior group, Passage-Gayde unit of the Auxiliary. The Auxiliary Juniors will have meetings of their own and will carry out patriotic and service activities similar to those of the adult organization.

"We are now enrolling our Junior members for 1957," said Vickie, "and we are hoping many new members will be with us for the interesting activities which are ahead. Eligible to join are daughters and sisters of those who gave their lives in the World Wars or Korean War or who have died since honorable discharge from war service. Our Junior group includes girls up to 18 years of age, after which they become senior members."

"We even have a place in our organization for very small girls—the Tiny Tots, we call them—and sometimes they become members almost as soon as they are born. When they become big enough we have things for them to do, such as helping us make place cards and party favors for the veterans in the hospitals, and taking part in other parts of our work."

"Our fall program began with a Halloween party for Post members' children. We also made favors in the Halloween theme for the veterans that the Post visits at Ann Arbor Veterans hospital in October. In November we will have installation of officers and initiation for new members and again will make favors in the Thanksgiving theme for the veterans. Helping make the Christmas season happy for the disabled veterans and unfortunate children will be our big activity for December."

"We hope to reach every eligible girl in town with an invitation to join our Junior Auxiliary because we are sure they will enjoy its activities as we do."

Madonna College Day Program Set for Sunday

The annual College Day at Madonna will take place early this year—this Sunday, from 2:30 to 5:00 p.m. On that day the college will play host to high school senior girls and their parents and friends.

Schools in Detroit, Plymouth, Livonia and vicinity have been invited to participate. Delegations are also expected from out of town high schools conducted by the Felician Sisters.

Any high school senior girl interested in a college education is invited to attend. Her parents are also welcome. Madonna College is located on Schoolcraft at Newburgh Rd. (just west of Farmington road) in Livonia.

Sister M. Assumpta, CSSF, president, will welcome the group in the DeSales auditorium opening the afternoon program. The guest speaker, Father Raymond J. Schneider, S. J., will follow the president's address. Joan Petro, '54, teacher at Plymouth high school will be program chairman.

A student panel group will discuss the objectives and course offerings of the College. Following the program, the guests will be taken on a general tour of the building. Each department will set up exhibits in the lower corridor, explaining the advantages of pursuing a given field and requirements for majors and minors.

Traditional tea and cookies will wind up the tour at a reception graced by student hostesses.

Madonna College is participating in several College Night programs this month. James Forner, Madonna public relations director, and Madonna students, will represent the college. On November 15 the representatives attended a program at Lee Thurston high school in Redford at which area students, including those from Plymouth, attended. Tonight there is a meeting at Walled Lake and on November 15 is another meeting at Denby high in Detroit.

"The Role of Michigan in American Education" is the theme of the panel discussion to be sponsored by the education classes at Madonna College Friday, November 16 at 1 p.m. in DeSales auditorium.

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

Mrs. Rudick's regular audience of five sits in on preparations for a family favorite, "Raisin Bread," which will be baked in tin cans on table. From left are Barbara, 3; Darlene, 4; Janice, 7; William, 4 months; and Frances, 11.

'Raisin Bread' Has Unusual Baking Feature

Mrs. William Rudick of 1031 South Main finds "Raisin Bread" takes top spot as far as preferences go in her family of five children. This particular recipe is quick and economical and has an intriguing feature to it—it's baked in tin cans!

bread in flavor and appearance, the recipe can pinch hit for cake in the lunch box, as breakfast coffee-cake, or makes tasty sandwiches when spread with butter or creamed cheese. Menfolk seem to like it, too.

With such a large family, Mrs. Rudick finds it's more economical and practical if she doubles the recipe, wraps the extra rolls of Raisin Bread in waxed paper and stores them in the refrigerator for future use. They keep well by this method.

Here's this unusual recipe:

Raisin Bread
Combine and bring to a boil, then cool:
1½ cups raisins

1½ cups water
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
Stir in:
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift together then add to above mixture, stirring only until ingredients are combined:

2-2/3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons soda

Fill three well-greased No. 2 cans half full. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, one half hour. Note: ½ cup of sliced dates and a cup of raisins may be substituted for the 1½ cups of raisins called for in the recipe.

What the Red Cross Has Done for One American

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles telling about the agencies receiving money from the Plymouth Community Fund. The American Red Cross drive was merged with the Community Fund last year. While everyone knows about the deeds of the Red Cross because of its long history, the following is a letter written to the Red Cross by John Haigwood of Atlanta, Georgia.)

"It is improbable that man has devised a greater institution for the relief of suffering and misery than the American Red Cross. It is also doubtful that man has ever heaped more unjust criticism on any organization than that afforded the American Red Cross.

"To one who owes a goodly share of his well-being . . . and perhaps of his life . . . to the Red Cross, such unfounded abuse is ranking. It shall never pass unchallenged.

"Rather than attempt to refute the many accusations of laxity, graft, and profiteering leveled against the Red Cross (not one of which have I ever seen justified), I shall merely point out some of the things this organization has done for me. The record should speak eloquently for itself.

"My first contact with the Red Cross services occurred a few minutes after I was sworn into the Army at Ft. Bliss, Texas, on February 8, 1941. Each recruit was presented with an assortment of toilet articles, which came in very handy in the two weeks before we were allowed a partial pay.

"For the next year or so, having no need for Red Cross aid, I came again to think of it as just another charitable institution. By that time we were well into World War II and fighting a losing battle against the Japanese in the Philippines. I was then assigned to an anti-aircraft regiment on the island of Corregidor. There and on Bataan, the food supply problem had become serious, due to the effectiveness of the Japanese naval blockade.

"A ship load of cracked wheat shipped earlier by the Red Cross, and intended as a gift from the American people to the starving people of China, was a welcome supplement to our slim rations.

"May 5, 1942, marked the end of our resistance in the Philippines and our contact with the outside world. For the next three and one-half years that contact was to remain broken except for a trickle of mail and the delivery of Red Cross packages to the prison camps to which we were committed. Three times during those many months, the Japanese allowed Red Cross inspection teams to enter the camps where I was, but we were warned not to address them under threat of severe punishment.

"The Japanese authorities refused to allow the Philippine Red Cross to aid any of the prisoners, saying that under the care of the conquering army they needed no help. This, in spite of the fact that American and Philippine soldiers were dying by the thousands from malnutrition and disease.

"It required more than two years for the Red Cross to break down this stubborn barrier. Then, late in 1944, some TEN TIOU-SAND Red Cross food packages were delivered to our camp in Mukden, Manchuria. They were intended for distribution to approximately 1,400 prisoners. Each box of food weighed 11 pounds and contained meat, milk, eggs, cheese, jam, butter, sugar, candy, and cigarettes.

"The packages were a godsend. Aside from the fact that the rich foods were chock full of desperately needed vitamins, nothing could have been more stimulating to our jaded morale. It also proved to the amazed and envious Japanese what we had been telling them all along . . . that America took care of her own, if humanly possible, no matter where on earth they might be.

"A couple of months later, we ourselves were amazed by the delivery of huge crates of Red Cross clothing. There was enough for each man to have several articles, including overcoat, shoes, sweater, cap, socks, underwear, handkerchiefs, towels, et cetera. There were also several hundred badly needed, miracle-working sewing kits.

"The saddest day of those years for us was the third anniversary of Pearl Harbor. A large flight of B-29's raided a war plant only a few hundred yards from our camp in Mukden. Though the temperature was 15 or 20 below zero, everyone stood outside and cheered those Yank planes. One of the planes wavered out of formation as though damaged. A few seconds later, two of the bombs landed inside the prison compound. One was a dud, but the other exploded in the midst of a group of prisoners. Nineteen men were killed and as many more wounded.

"Here again the Red Cross extended a helping hand from halfway round the world. For in the crates delivered to us earlier were blood plasma, penicillin and other medical supplies, without which more of our buddies would have died.

"After the Russians had overrun Manchuria in 1945, we were able to begin our long journey back home. Arriving by train in Dairen just after dark, the first thing we saw was a huge white ship's funnel; and on its side, a large, neon-lighted red cross. On board were good food, beds with white sheets, pretty nurses. And there, too, were the morale-building little things like cigarettes and soap and shaving lotion that everyone else overlooks . . . and ever-present, ever-welcome gift from the Red Cross.

"Five days later in Okinawa, I had my first Coke in almost four years . . . at a Red Cross canteen. There were doughnuts, too, and candy, books, cards, chewing gum, and cigarettes.

"The next day, a thousand air miles south in Manila, we loaded up at another Red Cross canteen with peanuts, cigars, beer, cookies, and all the hot coffee we could drink.

"Three weeks out of Manila, we stepped moist-eyed on the dock in San Francisco to the tune of 'God Bless America' and Red Cross coffee and doughnuts. A short bus ride to Letterman General Hospital and a smiling Lady in Gray handed me my first bottle of fresh milk in almost four years.

"That same night I walked over to the central telephone exchange and asked for several dollars in change for a call to my family. I was told the change would not be necessary. My first phone call would be paid for by the Red Cross.

"Those are some of the things the American Red Cross has done for me. So, don't try to tell me the outfit's no good, or that they have refused you or anyone else the benefit of their many services when seriously needed.

"Wait! On second thought, DO tell me your gripes, and your tall tales, and your rumors. I would like to repay a little of my debt to the Red Cross by helping run down those stories. Five will get you seven even we'll find them untrue."

Local Volunteers Tour Northville State Hospital

Representatives from numerous organizations active in its volunteer program, made a complete tour of Northville State Hospital last week.

The bus ride around the grounds and visits to newly-opened buildings was arranged by Vivian Champion, 493 North Harvey, who is chairman of the Northville State Hospital Volunteer Service Council, as part of the "continuing orientation" for hospital volunteers.

The ride in the hospital's "Hill-topper" bus was the first occasion that anyone but patients had been driven around on the grounds since its presentation to the hospital, in August 1955, by the Citizens' Auxiliary Committee for Northville State Hospital, a group of relatives and friends of the patients.

Mrs. Champion conducted tours of the Geriatrics buildings, newly-opened adult buildings, the Children's Unit and the Service Building where supplies are stored and a large cafeteria feeds 400 of the hospital's 2,000 patients. Al Whyte, the chief storekeeper, talked to the group and explained some of the problems in stocking food, clothing and other essential supplies, for patient care, hospital maintenance and administration.

A tour of the main building was conducted by one of the patients who is assigned to the social service department through the hospital's work therapy program. She is one of five patients who do clerical and administrative work in the social service reception office and work under the direction of Selma Schnute of Northville, who is secretary to Mrs. Carolyn Seefeldt, director of social service. Since this office co-ordinated voluntary activities, these patients assist in the community program and are very aware of the important part the volunteer plays in a state hospital program.

Local volunteers, in addition to Mrs. Champion, included: Mrs. Ralph Lorenz, Mrs. James Lature, Mrs. Richard Jones, and Mrs. Pat McGuire, all of the Plymouth Woman's Club; Mrs. Hildegard Champe, Mrs. Lenetta Griffith, Mrs. Marion McLaren, Mrs. L. E. Wilson and Mrs. H. R. Penhale, of the Plymouth Birthday Ladies; Mrs. Lucille Tanner of 16400 Northville Road, and Mrs. Roma Hallock of 9326 Rocker, both individual volunteers.

Wayne County Agent Gives Clothing Tips for Moms-To-Be

Ask any young mother expecting her second child and she will tell you that maternity clothes have a psychological importance, as well as physiological. Mrs. Nina Lou Baird, Wayne County Home Demonstration agent, offers the following tips on style, color and fabrics for your special needs.

When do you start wearing maternity clothes? If you start too early you may become tired of them (unless you or your husband rejoice in proclaiming your happy news.) Some young women manage nicely with sweaters and adjustable skirts for several months.

Colors need not be drab. If you are employed you will choose darker colors to minimize your figure changes. If you are at home colors you like, and your most becoming colors... those that flatter your skin and make your eyes bright. Consider medium values such as neutral gray and beige. If you wear a dark skirt under a light colored overblouse, be sure the overblouse is heavy enough so the skirt will not show through.

What style? You have three main choices: Smock or full top with straight skirt, dress and jacket combination, or one-piece dress. Cut-out skirt fronts or adjustable fronts in skirts and slacks and shorts, elasticized waistlines and panel fronts, all permit adjustment to your figure changes.

Smart tip—Back fullness in your dress or smock gives balance to your new figure. A tentlike flare from the shoulder or fullness from a yoke at the back gives a flattering line. Keep the interest high on your figure with clever necklines and trimming.

Fabrics. The smart crisp fabrics and accordion-pleated fabrics now in high fashion are a boon to your maternity wardrobes, says Mrs. Baird. Fabrics that do not cling, conceal your new figure and give you a sense of being smartly dressed. Consider the wrinkle-resistant materials as you will be able to wear them many more times with less cleaning expense and less care.

To have a larger wardrobe for the money, plan coordinating outfits. Perhaps several jackets will go equally well with a tweed skirt. A little planning will give you many interesting combinations. By a change of jewelry and accessories you can change your dress. Remember now is the time for you to look your prettiest.

Undergarments important. Your girdle and your brassiere are important items in your maternity wardrobe, too. The brassiere, properly fitted by a trained person, is essential for the last five months of waiting. The cotton brassiere with extra elastic and removable elastic, can be sterilized. Correct fitting will not only help your appearance but will help you regain your figure soon after your baby arrives. Your physician will advise you concerning your girdle.

Gives Tips For Unusual Table Settings

To spotlight your table settings, use a dash of imagination, a pinch of atmosphere, a few interesting accessories.

The centerpiece can be the focal point, coordinating it with the motif of the tablecloth.

Here are some other ideas:

1. For a seashore theme, it's fun to use memorabilia brought back from summer vacations: seashells, driftwood, or a piece of fishnet.

2. Flowers make wonderful centerpieces. Silver, brass or crystal antiques make lovely bases on which to build a formal arrangement. Simple pottery or dishware makes a fun centerpiece, using clay, colored pebbles and bright tall flowers to set the pace. Carry out the coordinated look by selecting blossoms which harmonize with the colors of the tablecloth.

Main Dish Pastries Answer Need For "Extra Special" Jiffy Dinner

Main dish pastry is a wonderful "ace in the hole" when it comes to devising something different for the family dinner or creating a "company" dish in a hurry. Fortunately, the flaky golden crust that can make a regal repast out of lowly leftovers, is a "cinch" with prepared pie crust mix. One 10-ounce package makes ample pie crust for an 8, 9 or even "king size" 10-inch double crust meat pie. Or you can use it for six individual pies, nine turnovers or six large dumplings.

Here are some foolproof main dish suggestions: jiffy-quick meat pies made with canned beef stew, flaky "picture window" dinner dumplings to glamorize leftovers, and melt-in-your-mouth lamb curry pie. Below are the recipes:

Dinner Dumplings
1 10 ounce package prepared pie crust mix

1 1/2 cups cooked meat, cubed
1 can mixed vegetables, drained (2 cups)
1/2 cup cold gravy
1/2 teaspoon mustard

Prepare mix as for a double-crust pie. Roll pie crust into rectangular 12" x 18". Cut into 6" squares. Combine meat, mixed vegetables, gravy and mustard; and place 1/2 cup mixture on each square. Moisten edges with water and bring corners up and over center of top. Close completely and prick crust to permit escape of steam, or fold back the points for attractive "picture frame" effect. Pinch sides together. Place on ungreased pan 2 inches apart. Bake at 400° (hot oven) about 40 minutes. Serve with hot gravy or other sauce. Makes 6 large dumplings.

Quick Mix Meat Pie

1 10-ounce package pie crust mix
1 (1 1/2 lb.) can beef stew

Prepare mix as for a 9-inch double-crust pie. Line bottom of pie pan with pastry. Empty contents of canned beef stew into pastry-lined pie pan. Before placing top crust on pie, make four 4" cuts across center of crust. Place over pie. Turn points back and flute edges. Bake at 425° (hot oven) 35 to 40 minutes. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

Tuna Curry Pie

1 10-ounce package pie crust mix
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1/2 cup finely chopped celery
1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper

6 tablespoons butter
1-1/4 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon curry powder (or to taste)
1/2 cup toasted almond slivers (optional)
2 hard cooked eggs, coarsely chopped
1/2 lb. cooked lamb, diced
1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup flour

Prepare mix as for a 9-inch double-crust pie. Line bottom of pie pan with pastry.

Saute onion, celery, green pepper in 2 tablespoons butter. Add remaining butter and allow to melt. Add 1/2 cup flour and blend well. Gradually add 1 1/2 cups milk, and stir well until mixture thickens. Remove from heat, add remaining ingredients and blend well. Turn into pie shell, cover with top crust, pricked to allow escape of steam, and seal and flute pie. Bake at 425° (hot oven) for 30 to 35 minutes. Serves 6.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef Arm Pot-Roast.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It is a less-tender cut of beef cut from the chuck. It has a round bone and cross sections of 3 to 5 ribs. A small round muscle near the round bone is surrounded by connective tissue.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By braising—the beef cut is browned slowly in lard or drippings. Pour off the drippings, add a small amount of water, cover tightly and simmer for 3 to 4 hours, or until tender.

A CHILD'S BEST FRIENDS—

Tots and toddlers always welcome cuddly stuffed pets to their playtime families. Teen-agers, too, enjoy having them as ornaments in their rooms. This lovable pair, crocheted of double thick cotton and firmly stuffed with cotton batting, will delight members of both the nursery and bobby sock set. The frisky horse and dashing dachshund are done in circus-bright colors of crocheted cotton and felt. Instructions for making them may be obtained from the Needlework Department of this paper. To obtain a copy, simply send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for HORSE AND DOG TOYS, Leaflet No. S-804.

Pick Glasses That Enhance Face, Coloring

The day is past when the lady in the "know" has any complex about wearing glasses. The old couplet to the effect that "men seldom make passes at girls who wear glasses" is no longer true. Girl with less than perfect vision do not resignedly wear "utilitarian" glasses. The modern lass chooses her glasses to "glamorize" her ensemble. Thanks to today's fashion-conscious world, the optician has become a very important cog in the life of the well-dressed woman.

You choose your glasses with many things in mind—the shape of your face, your hairdo, lipstick colors and makeup shades. It is possible to pick glasses that will actually do something to enhance your face and coloring.

The development of plastic substance for eye-glasses frames has made possible many daring innovations in the design and decoration. Many of the new styles are upswep and intriguingly designed. They are decorated with every kind of glitter known to man. In common use by American woman are the frames that have snap on colors for everyday use and snap on jeweled decorations for evening.

Glasses give some women an arresting individuality and chic that might otherwise be impossible for her. Proof of this is the fact that many women with perfect vision wear beautiful and enhancing frames with plain, unground glass.

Optical designers tell us that a woman would not dream of wearing a business suit to a formal dance so why should she feel that it is all right to wear the same pair of glasses to every event in her life?

Area Extension Clubs Attend Craft Program

Homemakers from Extension groups sponsored by Michigan State university will enjoy a Christmas Craft program today, November 8, at St. Paul's Evangelical church, Taylor Center, from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Ideas for Christmas decorations and gifts will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Eleanor Mullikin and Mrs. Nina Baird, Wayne County Home Demonstration agents.

Mrs. George Koths of Inwood Gardens Floral Shop, Taylor Center and Ann Charles of Square Deal Leather, Detroit, will demonstrate the making of Christmas decorations for centerpieces, mantels, mirrors and other home use. Candlemaking and other Christmas projects will be given by members of the local Extension Groups.

An "Igloo" cake, novel door decorations and Christmas card arrangements will be among the ideas on display.

Conversation Piece Found in Pretty Closet

Closets ought to be just as pretty as any other part of the house, according to a specialist from the American Institute of Decorators.

Scores of dismal closets have been transformed into colorful conversation pieces by the authority in her crusade to brighten up the out-of-the-way areas in American homes.

"Once nobody ever cared much about the closets, nobody ever really noticed them," she says. "But today we realize that a pretty closet can be just as decorative as the rest of an apartment or house."

The specialist likes to line closet walls with picturesque wallpaper or washable cotton wall coverings. She decorated one hall closet, for instance, with a vivid "musical Meissen monkey" pattern, then pasted a cutout of one of the monkey characters (the conductor) on the inside of the painted closet door. She mounted toy musical instruments along the edge of the shelf, to serve as hat-racks.

Keep Closets Pretty
"There's good psychology in a pretty closet," she explains. "You want to keep the door open, and you want to keep it looking pretty and tidy."

Closets should be separate entities; yet they should tie in with their surroundings, the expert says. In redecorating a stock broker's apartment, she used blue in the bedroom, repeated some of the same blue in the bathroom wallpaper and used a harmonizing blue pattern in his half of the closet, with the same pattern in pink for his wife's side of the closet.

Glass Doors Show Colors
In doing a linen closet for the Royal York Exhibition of the A.I.D., the decorator used glass doors so as to show off the colors in modern cotton sheets and towels. Some of these items were stacked with the end folds at the shelf edges, and some with the side folds visible. "The variety of colors and the way they are stacked are what makes them pretty," she says.

In one linen closet, the decorator used quilting on the walls and made tiebacks of the same material to loop around each stack of sheets and towels. Blankets and other bulky items which would present solid globs of color were hidden away behind wooden doors in separate compartments at the top and bottom of the closet.

"A pretty closet becomes quite a conversation piece," Mrs. Nicols says. "When some of my clients meet and get to talking, one of the first questions they ask one another is, 'What did you do about your closet?'"

It's speedy to prepare broiled hamburgers if you season the meat and spread it on mustard-buttered split buns and pop into the broiler to cook.

OUTDOOR NOTES

From The
MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Hunters are finding plenty of gray and fox squirrels for targets this year, but next fall the story may be somewhat different.

Severe May frosts the last two springs have nipped budding oaks and reduced acorn production seriously. Sizeable squirrel losses are expected this winter.

The southern lower peninsula will be less hard hit because hickory, walnut and hatternut trees, farmers' corn and grain fields and a somewhat better acorn crop will see the bushytails through.

And upland game hunters in Michigan's north usually concentrate on grouse, woodcock and snowshoe hares, and pay little attention to squirrels.

Thus, with grouse populations still generally low and the weather not yet ripe for snowshoe hunting, Conservation Department biologists suggest now, during the last few days of the season, as a time to harvest squirrels.

Hunting has little over-all effect on squirrel populations. Biggest factors that reduce squirrel numbers are severe winters, acorn crop failures and other widespread problems that beset wildlife.

Fires damaged 306 acres of state and private forests and grasslands during the last week, swelling the damage total for the year to 3188 acres.

Of the 12 Conservation Department districts in the state, only the Escanaba district in the upper peninsula had a record of no fires during the week.

In the upper peninsula, six fires burned 102 acres. The northern lower peninsula reported 39 fires with damage to 77 acres, while 30 fires burned 127 acres in the southern lower peninsula.

Michigan is not the only mid-western state with a pheasant problem this year. Reports from Wisconsin indicate reduced ring-neck populations there also, due to unfavorable weather during the spring nesting season.

Wisconsin farmers and game workers report fewer birds in most areas and a high percentage of roosters that are not fully colored, as a result of the late hatch this year.

The upshot, says the Wisconsin Conservation Department, is that hunters will have somewhat lower success this year than in 1955.

The Department emphasized, however, that the number of roosters taken by hunters this year will have no effect on next year's breeding as long as hunters do not shoot hens.

Michigan pheasant populations are down an estimated 15 percent because of cold, wet weather during the nesting season. The total pheasant bag this year may be as much as 25 percent below the 1955 total, but Michigan hunters probably will take from 900,000 to 1,000,000 ringnecks—just about the average annual kill for the 1951-53 period.

Edward F. Grassl, fish nutritionist, is leaving the Conservation Department for employment in private industry.

Grassl, a Department member for nearly four years, was instrumental in preparation of the pelleted dry fish foods now used in all state hatcheries. The pellet diet, easy to store and high in protein, has saved Michigan an estimated $50,000 a year while producing bigger fish sooner.

Grassl resigns his Department post November 1 and will start

Advices Hunting Best Picture Window View

Planning to build a modern house with a picture window in the near future?

"Care in locating the window to give the best view can not be overstressed," says Harlow O. Whittemore, professor of Landscape Architecture in The University of Michigan College of Architecture and Design.

Professor Whittemore advises, "Study all the views your property affords before making your choice, keeping in mind any possible landscaping improvements before planning your home."

He explains that there are two major views through a picture window. "There is the near one, which is completely within your property, and there is the landscape view beyond your lot."

He continues, "Your near view most likely will be an informal landscape, or a formal pattern of walks, trees, hedges and flower beds. Or it may be a utility area, such as a play yard for the children, a vegetable plot or an orchard."

"If you want to be sure of almost perpetual protection of your view, you will think long and carefully before selecting the site for your house, looking ahead to estimate what may happen to the view in front of the house," he says. "In general, it is advisable to own a rather generous foreground. In that case, if a neighbor's house is built within your view, it will still be far enough away to become just an incident in the total picture."

"A far-flung view is especially enjoyable if you are high enough above the city to enjoy the myriad night lights. In this case distance definitely lends enchantment," Professor Whittemore says.

Here are some suggestions to help you choose the trees and shrubs which can be most helpful in constructing your picture:

"Trees of the canopy type, such as American elm, honeylocust and Bur oak, will frame a large view and cast shade at the same time. Trees with horizontal branches, such as the London plane, Sycamore, Maple and Black Oak will frame a low view. Canopy trees such as crabapples, pears and cherries will frame a garden view nicely.

"Some trees whose branches will stay low and form a complete wall of green are spruces and firs, Swiss mountain pines, Swissstone pine, European beech or linden and pin oak," he continues. "Shrubs such as lilac, Forsythia and honeysuckle can be used to fill in around the trees."

Even in the middle of winter you can have a pleasant picture from your window. "Just choose trees which are decorative in shape all year. And don't think only in terms of foliage masses and bloom when you select the plantings," says Professor Whittemore.

Color and texture are also important. "Pines, spruces and hemlocks keep their green color through the winter where large specimens are needed. The Japanese yew and Black Pyramidal arborvitae can be pruned to scale," the professor says.

If you want to produce the visual illusion of greater depth or distance, there's something you can do about it. "Make the scene from your window appear narrower as it goes toward the rear by using trees that are smaller progressively or by using smaller foiled trees in the distance. You can also capture the feeling of added distance by using strong color foliage nearby and softly blended colors or smoky blues and greys farther away," the professor advises.

We have seldom met a man who didn't have the solution to one or more of the nation's pressing problems.

TIPS for TEENS

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

It happens to almost every girl in her 'teen-time... the problem of the boy who doesn't come back for a second date. It's worrying this girl:—

Q.—"Dear Elinor Williams: I met a very nice boy on a blind date. But we are very bashful, so my girl-friend's steady date made the date for us and they went with us. During the date, we went to a movie and didn't speak to each other. I like him very much, but I haven't heard from him since then. I didn't tell him I had a good time (which I did), because I'm not a big hand at saying so, especially on a first date. What should I do?"

Ans.—How can you expect or hope to have a second date if you didn't let the boy know that you enjoyed the first one?

It's a good idea to be "reserved" about such things as goodnight kisses on your first date, but it's always good manners to let him know you had fun on EVERY date, including the first.

After all, a boy often spends hard-earned or carefully saved money to take you to a movie and to buy a hamburger or a soda for you afterward... and possibly gas for the family car. So it's only natural for him to think that you're brushing him off or want him to get lost if you don't talk to him, tell him that you enjoyed it and say that you were glad to have met him. He could think that you didn't like him, didn't have a good time, didn't appreciate the plans he made and the money he spent for your date.

Next time, remember your manners! Talk to your date. Show interest in him and appreciation for the date-fun.

Under the circumstances, perhaps the next date-making with this boy will have to be done by you. You could invite him to a party, a girl's dance, a young people's event at church, a double-date at your home with another couple he knows... or something similar that he will enjoy.

(For free printed tips on "When a Girl Invites a Boy," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.)

Livonia Couple To Mark 50th Wedding Date

Mr. and Mrs. John Baze of 33107 Five Mile road, Livonia will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, November 11, with a family dinner at their home.

Joining them for the happy occasion will be their daughters, Mrs. Herbert Brock of Wixom and Mrs. Clarence Wolfrom of Warren, seven grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

The couple has lived in Livonia all their married life.

For one word a man is often deemed to be wise, and for one word he is often deemed to be foolish. We ought to be careful indeed what we say.—Confucius.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

The neck is one of the very first spots on the human body where the aging process becomes evident. Too much indulgence in fatty foods or in alcohol soon shows its effect in the double chin.

When too rapid weight reduction occurs, the neck begins to wrinkle. Healthy skin tone fades and the dread deterioration process is in high gear.

Usually if mildy does any exercises for her neck they are placed to the end of the program so they can be overlooked if she feels the least bit tired.

There are a few simple neck exercises that will do wonders toward keeping the neck young looking.

The only equipment necessary is a long leather belt and a hand towel. Exercise number one—place the towel around one end of the belt, that part which will come in contact with your head and hair. Place the towelled end of the belt around your bowed head, just above the ears. Press firmly with your hands on the other end, draw the head backward and forward as far as it will go either way, resisting all the while. Repeat for twenty counts. Rest and repeat for twenty more counts.

Another good exercise is to hang the entire neck and head off the side of a bed, then bring the head up until the chin touches the chest. Repeat slowly for twenty counts.

"Watch Me Suffer" Many people suffer in silence, having first made certain that everybody knows about it and is watching.—The Santa Barbara Daily News.

It is surprising how well you can get along with others if you keep your mouth shut and let somebody else do the talking.

New Books at Dunning Library

Plymouth readers will find a variety of material available for their selection this week as a result of the latest shipment of books to the local branch, Wayne County library.

Run-down on the newcomers includes N. Martin Kramer's first novel, "The Hearth and the Strangeness," "Sigrid Undset," study in Christian Realism by A. H. Winsnes; "State of Michigan General School Laws, Revision of 1955," Robert H. Baker's college and university textbook, "Astronomy."

Others of reader interest are "Red Scare," study in national hysteria, 1919-20 by Robert K. Murray, R. C. Binder's "Mechanics of the Roller Chain Drive and "Design Manual: Roller and Silent Chain Drives" by Jackson and Moreland.

The new shipment also included "The Private Diaries of Stendhal" edited and translated by Robert Sage, a Modern Library edition of "The Prince, Discourses by Niccolò Machiavelli," "Becoming A Mother" by Seidman and Albert.

Insulation Gaps Leak Warm Air

Many home-owners will pay unnecessarily high fuel bills this winter because gaps in the insulation barrier protecting their homes will allow heat to escape like air from a punctured tire. A continuous blanket of insulation must be tucked in all around.

Sometimes an out-of-the-way place such as the floor above an unheated garage, the wall separating the garage from the house itself, or the roof over an exposed porch may be overlooked when a house is insulated. If so, an insulation contractor can blow insulation into these areas without damaging the home.

Attics can be completely insulated in the do-it-yourself tradition. Mineral wool batts or blankets may be stapled between roof rafters and collar joists. The results, however, will not be completely satisfactory if knee walls, gable-end walls, checks or ceilings of dormer windows or other areas are left bare of insulation. A building supply dealer can advise whether batts, blankets, or loose insulation can best be used. It pays to inspect the putty on window sash at regular intervals. Replacing portions that show signs of separating from the glass is good economy. Not only does it forestall complete replacement, but it is good insurance against rot in wood sash and rust on metal sash. Be sure to use a priming coat on all areas that are to be repainted. New putty requires several days drying time before painting.

A nationally known color consultant says that women feel better when surrounded by colors that flatter them. Blue-green walls compliment blondes, he said; brunettes like to be seen near yellow and deep tones; and gray-haired women look best against backgrounds of soft corals, pinks and lavenders.

You can paint better with a good brush because it picks up more paint, which lets you work faster and with less effort because of fewer dips.

The term "hiding power"—used in connection with paint—refers to the capacity of a paint to conceal the surface that lies beneath it.

Old House Hides Unseen Under Modern Roof Line

In believe-it-or-not fashion, the smart, new-looking house, top, grew out of the old house, below, right, that appeared more like a service station than a dwelling. Drawing illustrates how it was done. A new asphalt roof was built to cover the old one, which remains in place. This bold change in roof line was a key to the whole remodeling process.

Why the appearance of a roof deserves primary consideration in remodeling an old home is dramatically shown in these "before" and "after" photographs from Practical Builder magazine. "It's hard to believe," says the magazine, "but this small, squat, unattractive house has been given a smart, up-to-date appearance by only two major changes—the addition of a new wing, plus a new roof built above and over the old roof. The new roof hides ugly lines and creates a home of pleasing architectural proportions. The old roof is still there, exactly as it was before remodeling. An entirely new roof was built, framed, sheathed, and protected with fire-resistant asphalt shingles, not on top of the old roof, but over it."

Keeping the old roof intact eliminated the expense of tearing it off and allowed the owners to live in the house during remodeling, saving the expense and inconvenience of moving out and living elsewhere.

The exterior of the original house was of brick and concrete block. This section of the house was cement-plastered. The exterior of the new wing is of red-wood siding. These materials, with the green asphalt roof for contrast, make a pleasing combination.

Woman's Place is In the Home-Home Workshop, That Is

Look for more and more women working beside their husbands in the home shop! That's the prediction of a top executive of one of the major hardwood plywood producing companies. The advent of power tools, he believes, has opened the way for mass participation by women in the "do-it-yourself" movement.

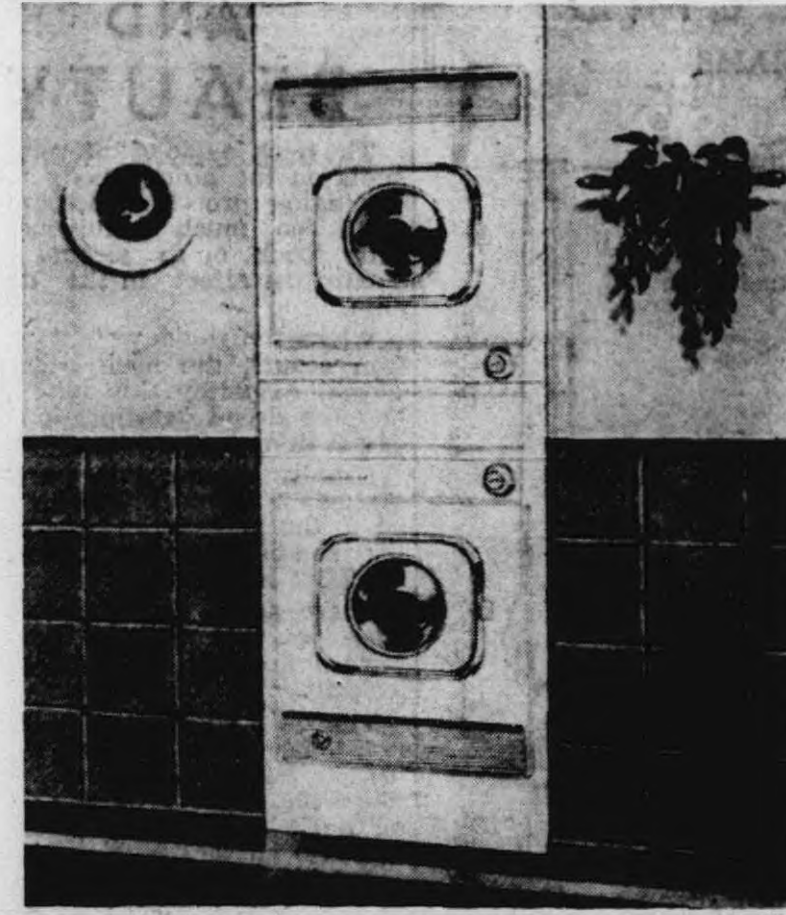

"There is plenty of evidence that women can be as handy around a piece of equipment as a man," he asserts. "Certainly, they are more careful and anyone who can understand the intricacies of a sewing machine and make it work without sewing her fingers together is capable of using most of the home power equipment on the market."

Many women already are helping to panel rooms with hardwood plywood and to put interior finish on other expansion areas, he reports. Finishing hardwood plywood in natural tones usually is easier and quicker than other interior treatments.

Sometimes, when you take off the old finish from a piece of furniture with paint-and-varnish-remover, the wood is still dark from the original stain. If you wish the wood to be lighter still—so it will harmonize with newly-bought light wood pieces—you can use a bleach, obtainable from your paint dealer.

A tip for handymen: The trick in cutting glass is to use glass blanks that are even-surfaced and have been annealed slowly to assure uniform strength. This enables a householder to "mark" the glass easily, and results in a smooth, straight-line cut.

Laundry Twins Save Space Panel Installation Tips

THE NEW WESTINGHOUSE SPACE-MATES, shown above, are a washer and dryer with the latest in versatility and convenience. Designed to fit into the wall vertically, as in the picture, side by side in the wall or under the counter, or standing free at any place in the room.

Only 25 inches wide, these appliances have load capacities of eight pounds for the laundramat and sixteen for the dryer. Both are available in the five confection colors frosting pink, mint aqua, lemon yellow, nougat gray and sugar white.

Time may be saved by washing one full load while drying another. Space is saved by installing the units flush with the wall.

Two of the most important considerations when installing wall paneling are to check for plumb continually and to make certain that the subsurface is true.

Keep a level handy to check constantly for plumb along the edge of each 4 x 8-foot panel as it goes up. If one panel is out of plumb, each succeeding one will be, too.

Shim out furring strips or fill hollows in sub-walls to make sure that the hardwood plywood will go over a true plane surface.

Turpentine or mineral spirits are used for cleaning off paint splatters, for thinning some oil patterns, enamels and varnishes—also for soaking and cleaning brushes and rollers used in such coating materials.

Laquers are film-forming finishes which dry by solvent evaporation.

Warm Ceilings With Wood

Things are looking up in many American homes—ceilings are getting special attention instead of being the last room surface to be considered as a decorative feature.

One of the interesting new techniques is to cover the ceiling with genuine hardwood. This often takes the form of hardwood plywood parquet squares. These are available prepackaged in two sizes—12 or 16-inch square.

Both sizes are available prefinished, which means that the finish is on the squares before they are applied to the ceiling. Thus, they banish the drippy and back-breaking job of washing or painting the old ceiling.

Decorators are taking to the idea as a means of getting the warm, distinctive grain pattern of natural hardwood into the home in unique decorative fashion. Often, the wood ceiling will be chosen to match an accent wall of hardwood plywood paneling or flush doors of hardwood plywood in the home.

The 12 and 16-inch-squares can be had in a choice of species such as birch, gum, mahogany, maple, oak and walnut.

The job can be done successfully by an amateur craftsman if the standard rules for applying ceiling tile are carefully followed. These would include making sure that the surface is level and keeping the lines straight.

After measuring the job to determine the center line of the room, find out how many rows of squares will be needed to span the ceiling. If it is an even number, the first "tier" of squares should be applied with one edge against the center line, making sure that the beginning and ending square at the edges of the ceiling are to be of the same dimensions. If the number is uneven, the first row should be centered directly over the chalk-marked line.

If the ceiling has a flush level subsurface, such as plywood panels, rock lath or gypsum board, the easiest method of applying the hardwood plywood tiles is with mastic. Put a blob of mastic on the back of each tile, press it to the subsurface and maneuver it into place.

However, if you are starting from scratch, it will be necessary to install furring strips at right angles to the rafters, spaced according to the width of the tiles. Use 1 x 3 lumber and use shim wedges wherever necessary to make sure that the strips present a truly level nailing surface.

HERE'S HOW...

MAKE A PLAYGYM

The homecraftsman can easily build a playgym with bars, swings and crow's nest.

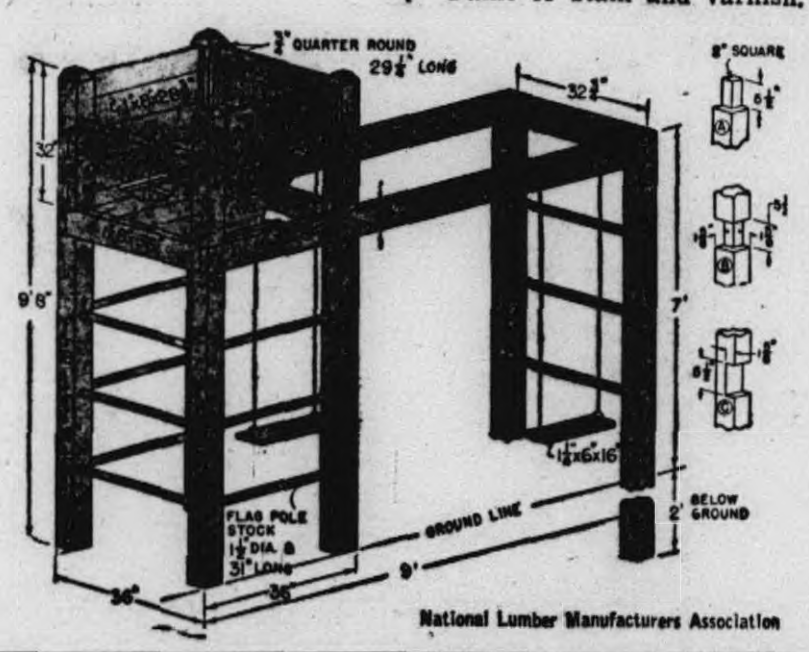

Cut the 4 by 4's to the lengths shown, allowing 2 feet below ground level. Use naturally durable or treated wood. Notch the posts as shown in (A), (B), and (C). Mark the location of dowels, 8 inches apart; the top dowel is 14 inches from the top of posts (B). Bore holes 1 1/2 inches long at each location.

The horizontal frame members are made of 2 by 6-inch lumber.

Next, dig the post holes. Assemble the frame sections using 3/4 by 3 1/2-inch lag screws at each joint. Place the sections in the holes and partly fill the holes to brace the frame. Add the side and interior frame members, and the rungs. Use waterproof glue and finishing nails at dowel joints. Set the post in concrete.

Attach the floor, sides of the crow's nest and moulding.

Attach the swings; set all nails and round all sharp edges. Paint or stain and varnish.

Basements Outmoded?

Basements often cost more than they are worth.

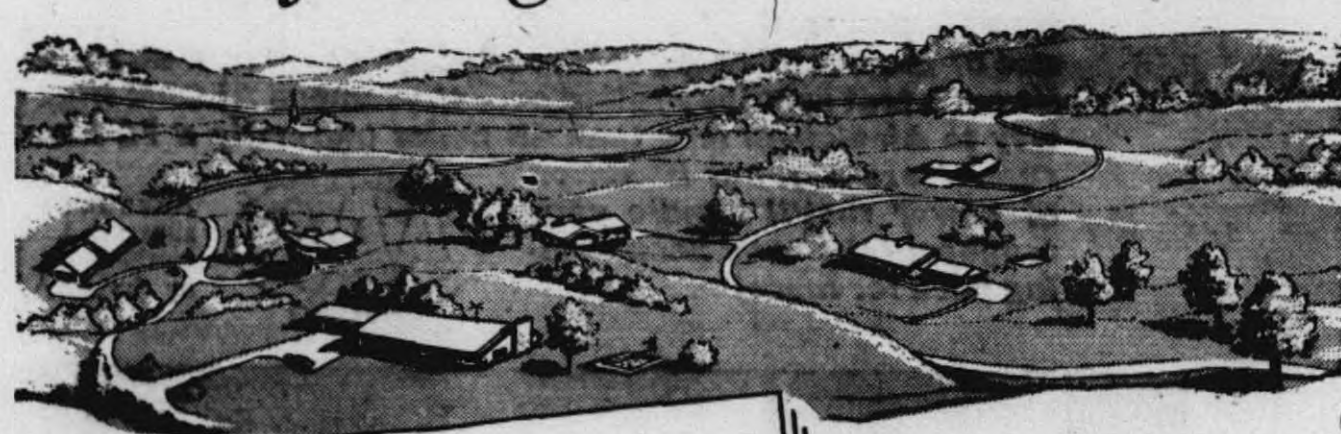

That is the opinion of a group of architects and builders who maintain that basements are a leftover from the days of large heating plants and fuel storage bins. They point out that a basement is often badly lighted, hard to get to, damp, and unsuitable as living quarters.

Yet, rather than spend money to build a recreation room there many architects and builders say that a better policy is to build a first-floor family room. Cost may run just a little higher, but the added utility of the room will be worth it.

A family room is just that—a room for the whole family. On that account, a good idea is to floor it with a material such as ceramic tile, which never needs special care or coverings and which won't be damaged by children's scuffles. A floor of ceramic tile will stand up under roller skating, dancing and even wrestling matches.

U.S. Help for Our Drains

As far as local government out in this area is concerned, the top priority problem over all others, is that of having proper water drainage from the land. It affects Plymouth, Livonia, Redford Township, and surrounding places. The problems of each community are interlocked and similar. The answers in most cases involve the use of common facilities.

Nobody has any really complete solution to the problem, without spending a huge amount of money. Under current laws, the bulk of this cost falls heavily on burdened local residents. There has been, however, considerable study recently of the idea that areas like ours are special and that state and federal government might share in the overall burdens.

With that preface, we publish here a recent statement by Congresswoman Martha Griffiths, of this district, disclosing some of her ideas on drainage and describing at least one project that involves federal assistance for the nagging local nuisance.

A REPORT—FLOOD CONTROL—RIVER ROUGE

"Recently many people have called or written to ask me what is being done by the Federal Government with regard to Flood Control of River Rouge. This subject is of vital concern to many people of my Congressional District.

RIVER ROUGE AND THIS DISTRICT

"The River Rouge has three large branches in addition to the main stem. The main stem runs in a meandering course along the south-westerly limit of the City of Detroit. The Upper Branch of the river flows through Redford Township. The Middle Branch flows through the Cities of Northville, Plymouth and Livonia. The entire drainage basin of the River Rouge is within the metropolitan area of Detroit. The population of the basin according to the 1950 census was about 570,000 persons. This is approximately 30% greater than in 1940.

EXISTING PROBLEMS

"River Rouge is used as an outlet for the sewer system draining the westerly part of the metropolitan area of Detroit. As a result of heavy rains, frequently more than once a year, the river rises above its banks and floods sections of the valley 1,000 feet or more wide. Due to the rise in the river surface, the outlets of the numerous trunk sewers become submerged and the efficiency of these drains is greatly reduced.

"As a result, the sewers are no longer capable of carrying away the storm runoff and water backs up into the basements of residents and business places at all low points in the drainage system, damaging both basements and their contents. As a result of the great increase in the number of residents throughout this area since the late 1930s, the damages caused by the flooding have greatly increased.

"Surface flooding occurs at a number of locations in the basin. It occurs in the City of Plymouth due to the inadequate capacity of the covered drain carrying Tonquish Creek, a tributary of the Middle Branch, through the business section of the city. Minor flooding also occurs frequently along many of the tributaries causing local highway flooding.

"The future expansion of the City of Detroit and its suburbs will greatly increase the amount of damage that will result from future floods. As the area develops, low-lying areas, now idle, will probably be utilized, and in addition, the runoff rate will be accelerated due to new construction and drainage improvements.

WHAT IS BEING DONE

"There are no Federal flood control projects constructed or authorized for the River Rouge at the present time.

"A survey study is the first necessary step in order to obtain a Federal flood control project. The study would include such things as surveying and mapping, hydrology studies, subsurface investigations, stream regulations, design and cost estimates and economic studies.

"The 80th Congress in the Flood Control Act of 1948 authorized a survey study of River Rouge and its tributaries.

"Until this year no funds had been appropriated by Congress to carry out this study. Upon investigation I discovered that the total cost of the required study had been estimated at $60,000, requiring 3 years to complete, but that $10,000 would be adequate to get the survey study underway this year. I took the necessary steps to see that this appropriation was made by the 84th Congress. In the next two years it will be necessary to see that $50,000 more is appropriated to complete the study.

"All possible plans of improvement will be given consideration in the study so that eventually the channel would have sufficient capacity to permit the passage of a discharge slightly exceeding the maximum of record.

"There is a need for an overall plan of improvement to control the flooding throughout the basin and an authority to construct and maintain the improvement. Any plans for improvement in the basin would be coordinated with Federal and State agencies in accordance with established policy."

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLDTIMERS

From Kyle W. Stone, Norfolk, Va.: I remember when as a little boy living on Sulphur Spring Fork not long after my family moved down on the country road from the two-room log cabin up in the hollow.

My mother prepared the meals over the open fireplace, and would take the dish cloth and brush the ashes from the hock-cakes. Father brought her a small two-step wood stove later.

I remember going to school for the first time. My teacher, Mr. Crawford, had but one leg and used crutches. I can still see the children going along the muddy road to the little old one-room school.

Mother would go down the road on wash day where she kept her wash tubs and kettle to boil clothes beneath a big beech tree. On Saturday, if the weather was good, Father would hitch the horses to the wagon and take the family to Woodville—the wagon chugging along over rocks, creek beds and through mudholes.

After wheat threshing was over Father let me go with him to Griffithsville to the mill where we spent most of our time at Lum Osborn's store waiting for the wheat to be ground. Father bought one and two gallon jars for mother to put apple butter in—usually after there had been an apple peeling at our house the night before.

Investors' Forum

Revising Stock Plans

BY HARRY C. FRANCE

Never in the financial history of America has it been more important than now for every investor critically to examine his economic foundation. As I often point out in this column, self-reliant financial security is individually arrived at.

Unquestionably, with stock prices high, thousands of investors with big profits who have financial foundations built on sand should reorganize themselves. My analysis of Bill Barr's financial situation is merely a suggestion of what thousands of others should do.

Bill Barr is 36. In 1947 he took most of his World War II savings (he was a first lieutenant) and bought two good stocks. They have boomed in price. Between 1947 and 1952 he put $8,000 he had saved in sound equities. Now this five-year period has been a good one. And from 1952 to the present his stocks have almost doubled in price.

His experience in the stock market has been glorious. It really has blinded him to the great need for a solid financial foundation. It will be 29 years before he will reach a possible retirement age of 65. That seems an interminable period. And those who urge him to build a firmer base under himself and his family don't get very far.

He says to them: "My $8,000 worth of stocks have increased in value to $26,000 in less than ten years! What is wrong with that?" Superficially there is nothing wrong. But stock prices that go up 300 per cent in nine years afford a young man like Bill Barr, who has never experienced a bear market, a chance to reorganize his financial affairs.

Should he do so? Of course. Bill has a family of four to provide for. He ought to carry $2,000 in savings banks. He ought to have $25,000 of life insurance. What has he? A checking account with average daily balances of $400-$500. And only $2,000 of life insurance.

How many Bill Barrs are there in America? Thousands. Some of them are inexperienced in stock market affairs, having been through steadily rising prices.

Well, the other day the Suez crisis caused one of his good stocks to drop 30 points. He owns 50 shares of it. That $1,500 paper loss gave him a jolt such as he has never had.

He realized as he thought about the market break that booming stock prices are not a one-way street. They can tumble.

THE FORUM

(Q) "Should I take profits?"

From a dozen readers. (A) All profit taking should have solid plans and motives behind it. As with the case of Bill Barr, the necessity of profit taking should be carefully examined. In his case, he needed larger cash reserves, bigger insurance coverage and more dependable income.

What's Your Question On World Affairs?

BY EDGAR ANSEL MOWBRER

"How can you criticize the Secretary of State's noble remark that between the colonial powers and their victims, the United States must remain independent?" (J. M. L. Peoria, Ill.)

When a government like ours decides to be neutral between allies and without winning the second. The "colonial powers" just happen to be our strongest potential allies and I would go slow about offending them.

"Amid the confusing election accusations, and in addition to the world crises, could you essentially outline the United States foreign policy toward the several major nations? How do you rate it in comparison to the previous (Democratic foreign policy?"

Wait till I mop my face. Here goes: Judging by facts and not by speeches, present U.S. foreign policy is essentially one of:

- 1) keeping sufficient military and economic power to deter any major aggressor—meaning the Communists;
2) localizing any minor wars and bumping back any minor aggressor;
3) helping neutrals like India and fake neutrals like Yugoslavia to remain neutral, by supplies of military and economic aid;
4) favoring backward and still colonial peoples by a public policy of aiding them to become free, and helping them develop when free;
5) working toward a situation where major war will really become impossible through (a) disarmament, (b) the righting of international "injustices"; (c) the increasing use of the United Nations in its conciliatory and arbitration aspects as a substitute for armed forces;
6) encouraging the captive peoples to remain anti-Communist until at some future time, the USSR and Co. will have evolved so far from militant Soviet communism that it will consent, or be forced by internal pressures, to set them free, each, to choose its own form of government.

7) talking and preaching as loudly as possible in order to be reelected. The Democrats' policy as of today would be much the same except that (a) they would spend more on armament and on helping backward peoples; (b) would lean more heavily towards Europe and less towards the Far East and the Middle East and (c) as a consequence of (b), would give more support to Israel against the Arabs. This is roughly as I see the situation.

When You Retire Live Well or Die Rich?

BY ROBERT PETERSON

When I visited Mr. Hughes back in 1951 I asked why he didn't buy a television set. "I'm going to wait for color," was his reply. He had been retired for several years and spent much of his time indoors nursing an arthritic knee. Although he had a comfortable income he lived frugally. "Don't you think you'd enjoy black-and-white television?" I asked. "Mebbe," he replied, "but I'd rather wait a couple of years and spend my money on a color set." Unfortunately, Mr. Hughes waited too long. Now that color television is here, Mr. Hughes isn't.

It is a little sad to consider that Mr. Hughes never got acquainted with Ed Sullivan, Sgt. Bilko, and Lucy. There will be those who feel he is just as well off. But I suspect many will agree with me that the bright and lively world of television would have been infinitely more rewarding than the dull creak of the rocker.

When you reach your sixties you should start investing in the pleasures at hand. It is unwise to pamper your pocketbook as Mr. Hughes did and wait for a better investment. If you have always wanted a shiny new car, don't wait until the quality of steel improves. And if you have long dreamed of a flying trip to Europe don't wait until the prices come down.

Of course there is nothing wrong with putting some of your pleasures in cold storage when you are young. Instead of spending every dollar you earn it is wise to drop a few in the piggy bank for the future. Instead of burning the candle at both ends, Mr. Hughes isn't.

It is wise to save some of that youthful energy for future needs. But as a person grows older we should modify his thrift in order to insure that he lives abundantly in the present. Apparently some of us take Ben Franklin's lessons on thrift too seriously.

THINKING OUT LOUD

One question sometimes controversial, sometimes personal is asked each week along local streets. This week's guests are thinking out loud on the question:

Plymouth safety patrol boys have recently been authorized to report motorists who violate traffic laws near schools. Do you think this is a good idea?

MRS. ROBERT ORR, 15650 Norwich: "Yes. I think motorists should have to be more careful, especially around schools. If they violate traffic regulations, they should be reported."

FABE A. MIRTO, 185 Blunk: "I certainly do. I have a boy that is a safety patrol boy. A lot of drivers sneak through lights and stop streets. Perhaps this will make them more careful, around school at least."

Mrs. Orr Mr. Mirto Mr. Hoffman Mrs. Crandell

R. P. HOFFMANN, 760 Burroughs: "Yes and no. It depends on the boys intelligence and maturity as to whether his accusations are reasonable. In another way it's a good thing. It may make drivers more careful near schools."

MRS. A. CRANDELL, 974 Church: "Well, I don't know. I wonder if the boys are old enough and responsible enough to recognize a traffic violation when they see it and make an accurate report."

The high cost of living is being discussed again in the land of opportunity and it will be talked about for some time.
