Mr. Claus Visits Town Saturday

Although Christmas remains only a dozen days away and Santa Claus must be as busy as all-get-out, he's taking a day off this Saturday to visit Plymouth!

He will arrive in Kellogg park at 1:30 p.m. and on hand to greet him during the afternoon will be between 1,000 and 1,500 kiddies.

Santa is again being brought here through the cooperation of the Plymouth Benevolent and Protective Order of the Elks. They are making all of the plans to see that St. Nick arrives in Plymouth by plane and that each youngster visiting him gets a bag of candy.

There are 1,500 bags of candy, oranges and nuts being prepared for the afternoon. This is about the number of youngsters who have turned out in years past to tell their desires to Santa. Of course, the turn-out depends much upon the weather. Bitter cold temperatures have discouraged some children—or more accurately—parents from bringing their children in a few past years.

The city is furnishing a tent in which Santa will make his headquarters during the afternoon in Kellogg park.

Santa will fly into Plymouth again this year. He will arrive at Mettetal airport at 1 p.m. after buzzing over the city. Roy Hartman will pilot the plane that is being furnished by Airport Manager Robert Mettetal.

After landing, Santa will be driven to the park. Because it is not known if snow will be handy, the B.P.O. Elks state that obtaining a sleigh for Santa would be a gamble.

Santa is expected to remain in Plymouth until children quit coming. This may be around 4:30 p.m.

The annual visit of Santa is one of the B.P.O. Elk's big community projects of the year. It is held in cooperation with the community's overall holiday plans made by the Chamber of Commerce. The Youth Activity Committee of the Elks is in charge of the affair.

More Help, Longer Hours Step Up Yule Mail Delivery

Sixty clerks and carriers will be at work by the end of this week at the Plymouth post office to handle the cascade of mail which floods the mailboxes every Christmas.

Longer opening hours for the parcel post and stamp windows will start tomorrow and Sunday deliveries are scheduled for the next two Sundays.

Postmaster George Timpona states that the stamp and parcel post windows will be open Mondays through Fridays from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. and on Saturdays until 6 p.m. These hours are in effect only until Christmas.

The money order window will be open during regular hours, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. and on Saturdays until noon.

The deluge of Christmas cards and packages is expected to start in earnest next Monday, although the postmaster reports that it appears that many people are mailing earlier this year. "We certainly appreciate the response to our plea of mailing early," Timpona declared.

Because mail carriers usually work themselves into a "hole" over the weekend by not delivering on Sunday, there will be delivery both this Sunday and the following Sunday.

While citizens seem to be responding to other pleas in order to help facilitate the flow of mail, the postmaster stated this week that those expecting parcel post packages should not call the post office to find out if the packages have arrived. "Most all of the parcel post is being sorted in a rented building where there is no telephone," Timpona pointed out, "and we have no way of finding out if a package has arrived."

He added that in ordinary times the post office does offer

Burglar Enters Factory

A burglar went to a lot of trouble to break into a small Plymouth factory last Saturday night but his work brought him only petty cash.

Vico Products, 325 Pearl street, was entered sometime during the night, police said by prying open a side window. Some change was taken from a desk, but apparently nothing else was taken, police reported. A storage cabinet also had been pried open and papers scattered about.

Police followed footprints from the building to Starkweather avenue where the burglar crossed the street and further prints were lost.

Auto Dealers Offering Yule Lighting Prizes

Four $50 savings bonds will be offered as prizes in a Christmas decoration contest being sponsored by the automobile dealers of Plymouth. The annual contest is being held in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce. Judging will take place during the weekend before Christmas.

The four winners will receive equal prizes of $50 savings bonds. There are no specific categories, but judging will be based on originality and artistic ability. Judges will be furnished by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Plymouth Woman's club.

Yuletide decorations are rapidly appearing in the area as the holiday gets closer. Only residence will be eligible to enter the contest.

Chamber Manager Edward Hart states that those wanting to enter merely need to have their decorations lighted at night during the weekend before Christmas.

No entry blanks will be needed this year. The judges will tour all populated areas. Those (Continued on Page 8)

IN HONOR OF those who died on December 7, 1941 at Pearl Harbor, a wreath was placed at Plymouth Rock in Kellogg Park last Friday by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary. Chaplain Mrs. Catherine Cline is shown placing the wreath. It was the 15th anniversary of the fateful day.

Requests Bring Back Hansel & Gretel Opera

The same production of "Hansel and Gretel" that pleased over 2,000 people last year will be repeated this Sunday afternoon by the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra and chorus of singers at the high school.

Starting at 4 p.m. in the high school gymnasium, the opera performed traditionally at Christmas time proved such a success last year that a strong demand was made for its repetition. It will take a cast of 175 to present the opera.

A new seating arrangement is being provided to accommodate more people. With doors opening at 3 p.m., the public is being advised to come early.

"Hansel and Gretel" tells in music the delightful fairy tale known for so many generations of young people all over the world. The opera requires Hansel, played by Joan Luecke; Gretel, played by Ana Martinez-Casado; the father, played by Robert FRIGHTENED as they travel through the woods are the two lead performers in the opera "Hansel and Gretel," being given Sunday at the high school. Ana Martinez-Casado, left, is Gretel and Joan Zapf Luecke, plays Hansel.

U. S. Weather Bureau Outlook
Temperatures will be near normal, minimum of 23, maximum of 35.
THURSDAY—Snow. Low 22, high 30.
FRIDAY—Snow flurries. Low 18, high 25.
SATURDAY—Cloudy. Low 23, high 32.
SUNDAY—Snow flurries and warmer. Low 25, high 38.

Waterstripe; the mother and witch (who eats children), played by Carolyn Austin; and the Sandman, played by Ann Welch.

Conductor Wayne Dunlap states that with one exception, the cast will be the same as that of last year. Carolyn Austin, who played the part of only the mother last year, will double this Sunday as both the mother and witch. Mrs. Austin was in "Oklahoma!" on Broadway and has had leading roles in many of the operas given at the University of Michigan.

Miss Martinez-Casado is a leading television star in Havana and will leave Plymouth directly after "Hansel and Gretel" to sing several leading roles in the Havana opera season. Her husband is attending the U. of M.

Mrs. Luecke, who is from Princeton, New Jersey, had several important roles in the operas given at the U. of M., including the role of Hansel which she will recreate for the Plymouth audience. Waterstripe is a music faculty member at Eastern Michigan college and a professional singer of wide experience. Miss Welch, a teacher at Starkweather school, will again play the role of Sandman.

In addition, there are Gingerbread children played by Charles Ellis, Kenneth Fischer, Thomas Lock, Susan Tichy, Susan Larkin and Marcie Woolweaver. Also assisting in the production will be the Bird School sixth (Continued on Page 8)

Junior Symphony Plays Tonight

While the "big league" Plymouth Symphony Orchestra is expected to draw more than 2,000 to its concert this Sunday, the Plymouth Junior Symphony will also attract its share of people tonight as it presents its first concert of the season.

Composed of 25 Plymouth area boys and girls, the Junior Symphony is sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony board.

Tonight's concert will take place in the high school auditorium beginning at 8 o'clock. This is the second year for the Junior Symphony. Donald Morris is the director.

Glen Norton will be the piano soloist on tonight's program. The program includes Rhythmical Sketch by George Dasch, Sonata in F by Mozart, Merry Wives of Windsor by Nicholas, Processional March by Donizetti, Tin Soldiers by Pierce, Evening Prayer by Humperdinck and two of the famous Strauss Waltzes.

Also appearing will be the high school Triple Trio. There is no admission charge.

Old Newsboys Ready With 5,000 'Extras'

Nearly 100 Old Newsboys-Goodfellows are taking part this Saturday in the annual newspaper sale which is aimed at making Christmas bright for several dozen of the Plymouth area's neediest families.

The Plymouth Mail will print 5,000 extra copies of a special section for the Goodfellows to sell. While no charge is being set for the newspaper, the Goodfellows hope that citizens will again open their hearts to the cause and make their donations generous.

All important street intersections and downtown locations will be manned by the Old Newsboys during the day. The Old Newsboys - Goodfellows is composed of men from all walks of life. This year's president of the Goodfellows is Leo Kowalcik, chief of maintenance for the Plymouth Community schools.

Last year 21 needy families were aided by money collected through the sale of the special newspaper edition. The $1,770 was used to purchase clothing such as shoes, sweaters, coats and gloves; complete Christmas dinners and some extra food for other days; and toys for the youngsters.

A committee each year investigates the need of families in the community. In most cases, the father is either ill or unemployed.

To warm themselves up for an expected chilly day, the group will have coffee at 8:30 a.m. at Barney's Plymouth Grill and will parade from the city hall to their posts at 8:45.

The following places are where the Goodfellows will be stationed. Each will serve a two-hour shift either at 9 or 11 a.m.

National Bank of Detroit corner, David Taylor, Harry Reeves, Conner corner, George Howell, Harold Stevens.

Post office, Roy Salow, Fred Drews.

Postoffice to Main street, Melvin Blunk, Robert Fitzner.

Jewell corner to theatre, Earl Gray, Quenton Bolander.

Plymouth Mail to Penniman, Ray Creith, Bud Holmes, Marvin Terry.

Kroger to Ann Arbor Trail, Les Beyer.

While the Salk polio vaccine is gradually stamping out the oft-fatal ailment, the March of Dimes is needed to provide care, treatment and rehabilitation of America's tens of thousands of polio patients, Mrs. Bartel declared.

"We can't claim victory over polio," she said, "until we have helped these people find the road back to full and useful lives."

Funds are sought also, she added, to train much needed specialists in the care of the disabled and to finance research like that which produced the Salk vaccine.

"Many will be pleased to hear that Salk vaccine is now available to adults as well as children of all ages," Mrs. Bartel declared. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has announced the store because it was an example of modern hardware planning.

Beyer purchased the building, plus all assets of the hardware store, from Mrs. Elmira Rose, widow of the late William Rose. The building was constructed and opened by Rose in 1950 and both of the present businesses have been located there since.

Beyer states that he will not operate the hardware but intends to sell it. Following the hardware's opening, classes from the University of Michigan visited the store because it was an example of modern hardware planning.

Robert Beyer Purchases Forest Avenue Building

Purchase of the building on Forest avenue containing Beyer Rexall Drugs and the Plymouth Hardware was announced this week by Robert Beyer, operator of the city's two Beyer drug stores.

Beyer purchased the building, plus all assets of the hardware store, from Mrs. Elmira Rose, widow of the late William Rose. The building was constructed and opened by Rose in 1950 and both of the present businesses have been located there since.

Plan Relieves Overcrowding Except at Starkweather

Part of the committee recommendations made to the board of education concerning the re-drawing of boundary lines between elementary schools were unanimously approved by the board at its meeting Monday night. And the board added a proposal of its own—to move all sixth grades from Bird elementary school to the new James Gallimore school during the spring semester.

A committee of parents and principals formed last June offered nine recommendations to the board last October. The first seven of these recommendations, which shape the school boundaries until September 1958, were approved.

The board's action will undoubtedly draw comments of dissatisfaction from many parents, especially those living in the Bird district. The western boundaries of both Bird and Smith schools are being relocated eastward from the county line to McClumpha road. All of those west of McClumpha will be transported to Gallimore school.

Movement of all three sixth grades from Bird school to Gallimore was not in the committee's recommendations, but the board claims that it is the only way to give relief to the school's overcrowding this coming semester. Approval of the recommendations means that all elementary schools except Starkweather will have near normal enrollment starting in February.

To help Starkweather's heavily-enrolled first, second and third grades, the board approved a motion Monday to hire an extra teacher who will work with the time-consuming reading groups.

These are the recommendations as approved by the board: In February, McClumpha will become the western boundary for Smith and Bird. The middle of Elm street will be the boundary between Bird and Smith, as it now is. Starkweather district will remain intact. The western boundary for Allen school will be Lilley road, south of Joy road. (Allen school now extends into the western part of the township and into Canton township). The boundary between Smith and Gallimore will be the middle of Jackson.

In September 1957, the loads in all elementary schools can be reduced by moving sixth grades, if necessary, to the new junior high school. Physical educations will be re-established in the elementary schools.

Not considered by the board were two recommendations for September 1958. This would include a new elementary building in the northeast section of the township and moving some of the Bird school children in the Harvey-Adams street area to the Starkweather district. A petition has already been filed objecting to this latter proposal.

Barrels of Salt to Aid Motorists on Icy Hills

Assistant Public Works Superintendent Joseph Bida said this week that barrels containing salt and sand will be placed at various spots in the city where icy conditions are most dangerous.

The barrels will contain a small shovel for the motorist to spread the salt and sand in emergency use until spreader trucks arrive.

Bida said that the first barrels will be placed at the hill on Holbrook near Plymouth road and on both sides of the Farmer street railroad crossing. Other barrels will be placed later.

The county has already put barrels of salt on the hill near Hillside Inn where icy conditions tangle up traffic several times every winter.

Garden Club To Sell Holiday Greens Friday

Holiday greens, wreaths, decorated pine cones—and a tempting assortment of baked goods—will be the lures offered by Plymouth's Farm and Garden Club to entice customers to West Brothers Nash Friday.

There's another inducement to purchase, too, and it is perhaps even more compelling. Profits from the sale will go into a local scholarship fund which will be used to send a student to college. The project is an annual one, and thus far seven girls have received similar scholarships. All of the girls major in some type of home economics.

Months of preparation by club members precede the sale. Greens are obtained and woven into wreaths, centerpiece and other decorations. Pine cones are gathered and decorated.

The Plymouth Farm and Garden Club was organized in May, 1936 under the leadership of Mrs. Paul Wiedman as a branch of the National Farm and Garden Club. The aims are "beautification, education and conservation." In addition to the scholarship fund, the Plymouth Club spends hundreds of dollars to beautify the city—this year a national award was won for the local "Litterbug" campaign.

This will be the 10th annual Greens and Bake Sale. West Brothers Nash is on Forest Ave., Plymouth.

FEW PEOPLE are aware that Plymouth has a Junior Symphony Orchestra, but they can be heard tonight at the high school auditorium in their first concert of the season. They are shown practicing for the concert.

Clarke F. Thackers Return From Eastern Wedding Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Fisk Thacker are new residents of 9055 Ball street, Plymouth, the couple having recently returned from a wedding trip to Virginia, the New England states and Canada.

Mrs. Thacker is the former Barbara Grace Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Smith of Ann street, while her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Thacker of Shadyside, Livonia.

They were united in marriage at a 7:30 candlelight ceremony read Saturday evening, November 3, in the First Presbyterian church of Plymouth.

The bride designed her own gown of imported white Italian bridal satin, which featured a French lace yoke, jeweled with pearls and Sabrina neckline. The waist was basque style, ending in scallops with a floor-length skirt flowing in inverted pleats from it. The bride wore a veil of French tulle and carried a bouquet of white carnations and roses. She was given in marriage by her father.

Dressed identically in ballerina-length forest green gowns with tulle basque bodices and bouffant taffeta skirts were Maid of Honor Mary Lou Thacker, sister of the bridegroom, Barbara Gibson and Madeline Jones, bridesmaids. They wore velvet crowns and short veils matching their dresses, and carried Fuji mum bouquets in shades of rust and gold.

The bride's mother wore a shirt-waist gown with beige, tucked satin bodice and soft brown skirt of peau de soie. A navy blue two-piece dress with fur scarf was worn by the bridegroom's mother.

The ceremony was performed by the Reverend Henry J. Walsh against an altar setting of white mums, carnations and lighted tapers. Fred Nelson accompanied Miss Judy Richwine while she sang "The Lords Prayer" and "Through the Years."

Richard Estro assisted Clarke as best man. The bride's brothers, Jon and Eric, were ushers.

The reception which followed in the church dining-room was attended by guests from Plymouth, Detroit, Howell, Port Huron, Ferndale, Fort Lauderdale, Florida and Massachusetts.

The bride's going-away outfit consisted of a black and white tweed suit with red accessories and matching coat.

The bride graduated from Plymouth high school and is presently employed in the Instaloan department at Plymouth branch, National Bank of Detroit. Her husband, a Bentley high school graduate, is employed in the Design department at Ford Motor company, Dearborn.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Teynten attended the Kiwanis Knight Klub party as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Saxton.

Kathryn Ruby, MSU Senior Plan Marriage

Kathryn Ruby

Joan M. McBride

Former PHS Student Engaged to Marry

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Kathryn Ruby, daughter of Mrs. Roy Sanders of Los Angeles, California and Kenneth Ruby of Seattle, Washington, to Bruce Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Green of 9465 Ball street.

A 1956 graduate of St. Helens (Oregon) high school, the bride-elect is employed at Burroughs Plymouth plant. Her fiancé graduated in 1953 from Plymouth high school and is enrolled in his senior year at Michigan State university.

Date for the wedding has not been set.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest McBride of North York avenue, Dearborn, announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan Marie, former Plymouth high school student, to Ray Richard Klopke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Klopke of Dearborn.

The bride-elect was graduated from Dearborn high school and is attending Central Michigan college. Her fiancé, a Fordson high school graduate, is now a student at Henry Ford Community college.

Janet Beyer Engaged To Vermont Resident

Janet M. Beyer

Janet Marilyn Beyer's engagement to John R. Goltant, son of Adolf Goltant of Windsor, Vermont and the late Mrs. Victoria Goltant, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beyer of 324 Sheldon, Plymouth.

Miss Beyer is on the teaching staff at Plymouth high school, instructing courses in homemaking and geography. Her fiancé recently entered service with the U.S. Army. Both are June graduates of Michigan State university in East Lansing.

No definite date has been set for the wedding.

Carol J. Stratton

Carol Joanne Stratton, March Bride-Elect

The betrothal of Carol Joanne Stratton to Stanley Nalepka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nalepka of Garden City, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Stratton of 357 Blunk avenue.

Carol is a 1955 graduate of Plymouth high school while her fiancé graduated from Garden City high school in 1953.

The couple are planning a March wedding.

The empty honors that the world bestows do not last beyond the grave.

Schomberger-Kelley Troth Announced

A May wedding is planned by Mary Kelley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kelley of 5115 Dixboro, Ann Arbor, whose engagement to Louis Schomberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Schomberger, 40810 East Ann Arbor trail, was announced this week.

Mary Kelley

Miss Kelley is a graduate of Wayne high school, class of 1956, and is presently employed at the Michigan Bell Telephone office in Plymouth. Mr. Schomberger, who has been serving with the U.S. Navy the past three years, is stationed in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, at the present time. He was graduated from Plymouth high school in 1953.

Return from Florida, Cuba Vacation Trip

Recently returned from a two and a half weeks vacation trip to Florida and the island of Cuba are Mrs. Erma McLean of Oakview and Mrs. Elma Renwick of Simpson.

Highlighting their tour was a visit with Mrs. Renwick's son at the air base in Pensacola, Florida. While in Cuba the pair went on a guided tour through the civic buildings in the Cuban capital of Havana, visited cigar, perfume and leather factories, a rum distillery, sugar cane plantations and orange groves in the suburban areas. A visit was also paid to the Tropicana open air night club of TV star, Desi Arnez, fame.

The pair drove south, taking a plane flight from Key West for their Cuban tour. On the return trip home they stopped to see the Cyclorama, depicting the Civil War, in Atlanta, Georgia.

Then, there are the people who tell you when you ask them, how they feel.

Word comes from Tampa, Florida that Oscar Curtis, of Ann street who was taken ill there after Thanksgiving Day, is improving slowly in the St. Joseph hospital in that city. His daughter, Mrs. Wilber Hill of this city is with him and his other children have been to see him since taken ill. They will bring him home as soon as the doctors feel he is able to stand the plane trip.

Mrs. William Farley entertained two tables at cards Saturday evening in her home on Adams street.

Symphony Ball Tickets on Sale

Betty Brown, Vocalist For Symphony Ball

Tickets for the Symphony Ball, annual highlight of Plymouth's Christmas season, are going on sale this week at three downtown centers, Cassidy's, Beyer's drugstores and the Mayflower hotel desk, announced Mrs. Thomas Adams, general chairman. Plans are well underway for the event, scheduled Saturday, December 29 from 9:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the high school auditorium. Engaged as featured accompanists for the dance is the Bernie Vogel orchestra, starring Betty Brown as soloist, from Detroit.

Held yearly between Christmas and New Years, the Symphony Ball is considered one of the social highlights of the community. The event is sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony Society as benefit for the local symphony orchestra fund.

Mrs. Adams is being assisted on plans for the event by Mr. and Mrs. George Hudson, in charge of decorations, and Mrs. Margaret Hough, tickets chairman.

150 Attend Music Party

Approximately 150 persons attended an invitational party and entertainment program given by Smith Music company last Wednesday evening at the store's headquarters, 504 South Main street.

Guest artist was Jerry Gerard, well-known theatre organist from England now associated with Baldwin Piano company. Following a presentation of musical selections at the organ, refreshments were served those attending.

The following Plymouth cousins of Mrs. Archie McLaughlin of Carleton attended her funeral Monday which was held in the Baker Funeral Home in that city; Mr. and Mrs. Merle Rorabacher, Mrs. LeRoy Jewell, Mrs. Otto Reamer and Manfred Becker.

Members of the Emanon club, Mrs. John Ramsey, Mrs. Earl Gray, Mrs. Dean Johnson, Mrs. Otto Meier, Mrs. William Michael, Mrs. Maurice Evans, Mrs. William Grammel and Mrs. Ray Farrant, will have their annual Christmas party this Thursday with a luncheon and afternoon of cards at the Livonia Inn on Plymouth road.

The Stitch and Chatter group will have its Christmas party on Tuesday with a luncheon at the Mayflower Hotel and tea afterward in the home of Mrs. G. A. Smith on Sheridan avenue. Covers will be laid for Mrs. Ernest Thrall, Mrs. Carl Shear, Mrs. Frank Burrows, Mrs. Emily Dodge, Mrs. Allen Horton, Miss Rose Hawthorne and Mrs. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. John Monteith of Adams street were hosts at a rehearsal buffet dinner for the Monteith-Pomeroy wedding party on Friday evening, Nov. 30. The wedding took place on Saturday, Dec. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ziegler of Huntington, Indiana, were weekend guests in the home of his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ziegler on Evergreen street.

Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Rutenbar of Holbrook avenue spent the week-end in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Smith in Mayville, returning home Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Eberlin of Chillicothe, Missouri, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Thorpe of Spring street and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Salisbury of Sunset avenue.

Mrs. John Ridley celebrated her eighty-fifth birthday in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Dean Saxton, last Thursday. Highlight of the day was a phone call from Tucson, Arizona, announcing the birth of her sixth great grandchild, a son, to Dr. and Mrs. Dean P. Saxton, Jr. On Saturday a birthday luncheon was held in her honor with three grandchildren attending: Mrs. Donald Carrie, Mrs. John Weick, William E. Saxton and their families which included three great grandchildren, Alan, Craig Robert and Karen Elizabeth Saxton.

Hobby Pays Off For Resident

Proving that hobbies do "pay off," Mrs. James Moore of 575 Irving is the possessor of a blue ribbon award, a spanking new combination radio-phonograph and a crisp ten spot for her prize-winning entries in the National Doll Dressing contest held recently in New York.

Outfitting dolls for her little girl plus a hobby interest in collecting and dressing antique dolls in period costumes, has so sharpened Mrs. Moore's skill in the miniature dressmaking line that she was able to walk off with third regional prize in competition with 10,000 entries at the national contest sponsored by nationwide five-and-ten-cent chain-stores.

The blue ribbon and radio-phonograph awards were won at the event by her "Dolly Madison" doll with a mustached and bearded Arabian number netting her the $10 award. Both entries are still on display in New York. Besides these, the local homemaker has some 62 miniature representatives of peoples of the United Nations for her small daughter.

People are dying every day on the highway, trying to find out how fast they can make the trip.

BIRTHS

Because there are so many hospitals in the area which are utilized by Plymouth citizens, it is impossible for The Mail to accurately obtain reports of all births. We therefore must rely on parents or relatives to kindly supply us with this information as soon as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Sellman of Hartsough avenue announce the birth of a son, John Robert on November 22 at Henry Ford hospital, Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Stokes of 12731 Beck road are the proud parents of an eight pound eight ounce son, Jace Wilfred, born on December 8 in Beyer Memorial hospital, Ypsilanti.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burk of Garden City are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, David Joseph, on December 9 in Garden City hospital. The young lad weighed in at six and three-quarter pounds. Mrs. Burk is the former Mary Ann Barker of Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. James Powers,

Joy road, announce the birth of a seven pound 10 ounce son on December 2 in Beyer Memorial hospital, Ypsilanti. He has been named James Edward, Jr. Mrs. Powers is the former Gladys Robertson.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Miller of Middlebury, Indiana, announce the arrival of Rene Lynette, born Tuesday, December 4 weighing five pounds 12 ounces. Mrs. Miller is the former Marion Donahue.

Word has been received from Santa Rosa, California, of the birth of a son on December 2. Dr. and Mrs. John Pennington of that city. Mrs. Pennington is the former Maxine Martin.

Mrs. Wiedman Cited for Club's Woman of Achievement Award

Cited for her many civic activities, Mrs. Paul J. Wiedman of 4750 North Territorial road will be guest of honor of the Business and Professional Women's club as recipient of its "Woman of Achievement" honors for December at the club's 6:30 dinner meeting Monday evening in the Mayflower hotel.

Since first coming to Plymouth 35 years ago, December's Woman of Achievement has been an active participant in community life, holding such offices in civic organizations as secretary-treasurer of the Wayne County library board and treasurer of the League of Women Voters.

President of Plymouth's first Parent Teachers association, the Central PTA, Mrs. Wiedman was also first president of the Plymouth branch, Women's National Farm and Garden association following its organization on May 4, 1936.

Her services to the Garden Club include council membership in the national organization and present chairmanship of the local club's extension committee, in charge of organizing new branches. In this connection she has been instrumental in setting up the Northville, Livonia, Rose-dale Gardens and Nankin branches of the WNFGA. Mrs. Wiedman has also served the Women's Club as vice president. In addition to civic and club organizations, this Woman of Achievement has also devoted her time and talents to church activities, serving as treasurer of the Presbyterian Women's association and member of its various committees.

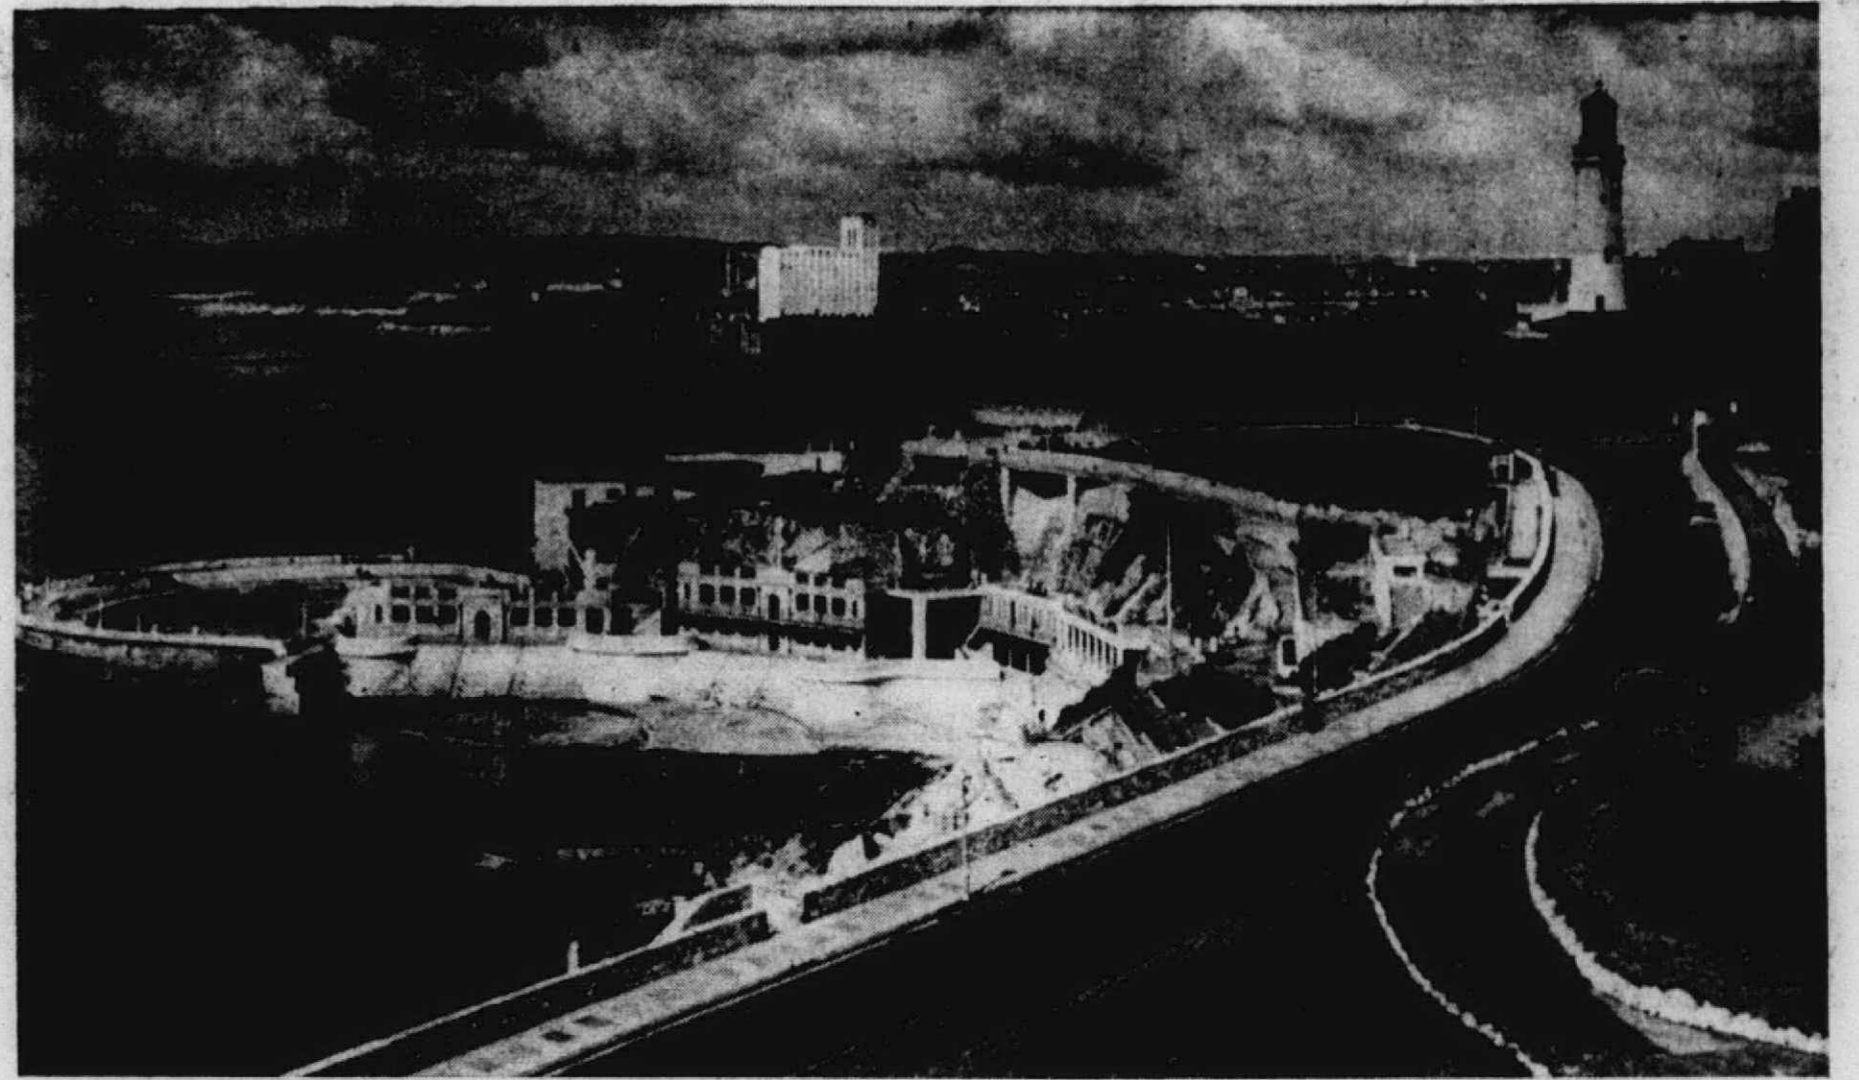

Fortunately for the many groups with which she is associated, an illness which confined her to bed some years ago gave her an opportunity to develop an unusual gift for creating floral arrangements and decorations. Since then this artistic talent has been made available to the civic club, church and individual groups with which she has been affiliated.

Friday night Mrs. Wiedman was guest speaker for a meeting of 150 Smith school first-graders and their parents for a talk and demonstration on Christmas decorations. A unique display of Yuletide greens in colonial arrangement made by Mrs. Wiedman decks the Miles Standish room of the Mayflower hotel.

The "Wiedman touch" will also be seen among the Christmas wreaths and other items featured at the Garden club's annual Greens and Bake sale tomorrow.

Mrs. Paul J. Wiedman, Business and Professional Women's selection for "Woman of Achievement" honors, is shown with seasonal products of her floral decorations hobby. Yule displays on table are destined for the Miles Standish room of the Mayflower hotel.

ONE OF PLYMOUTH, England's historic spots is The Hoe, where Sir Francis Drake is said to have bowled on the green before sailing against the Spanish Armada. Drake is known to Americans as the first to circumnavigate the world. The lighthouse was once in the English Channel. This photo is another sent to The Mail by Roy Westlake, well-known Plymouth, England photographer.

HAIRDOS . . . "Mary Stuart" (lower) and "Biedermeier" are two new coiffures exhibited at Berlin show by 40 hairdressers from Germany, Yugoslavia and Austria.

Dear Santa:

Dear Santa Claus,
I want a doll for Christmas. I would like some roller skates too. I want an adding machine because I need help in my arithmetic. I would like a china set and a toy vacuum, cleaner. I would like a phone set and some shoes for my father and for my mother. I would like to give her a new purse for Christmas. A pair of beads for her and for dad another pair of shoes.

With love,
Jana Zaboras,
12701 Dunn Ct.

Dear Santa Claus,
I want a gas station and a Mickey Mouse motorcycle. I want a squirrel and a police car. I want a talking telephone and a Ricky Riesters and his son. I want a gun for Christmas and a bag of army men and an army truck and a wheel barrel. I want a Cadillac car and a Mickey Mouse ears and my sister and brother want one too. I want an army tank.

Bobby Zaboras

Dear Santa,
I want a bow-arrow, a train set, a dump truck, a car with a motor.

Mike Zaboras

Dear Santa,
I want a fire engine pumper. If you think I am old enough for one, because I want one. I have a whole set except the fire pumper. I also would like some road building equipment. I go to Smith school and I am in the first grade. I'm 6 years old and will be a good boy.

Craig Notebaert
1321 Hartsough

Dear Santa,
I want a doll for Christmas. I also want a buggy. My name is Michelle and I am five years old. My mother is writing this letter for me. I will try to be a real good girl. If you think I should have a bathinette please bring me one.

EVER WONDER what Plymouth, England looks like? It's hardly a sleepy little English village, as indicated by this photo taken in the downtown area. Roy Westlake, Plymouth, England photographer who several weeks ago sent The Mail a picture of the harbor

Much of Plymouth was rebuilt after World War II due

B-G-R Honors Retired, 25-Year Employees

Doors of the Barnes-Gibson-Raymond plant on Plymouth road swung open last Friday to greet 12 Old Timers for a day to remember. The 12 are all past employees who worked for B-G-R anywhere from eight to 28 years and who have been retired.

The day's festivities began with these "youngsters" going into the plant and greeting their friends and previous fellow workers. Some had not seen each other for many years and they renewed old friendships with handshakes and embraces.

At noon the group had a dinner with General Manager C. J. Stofko, and his planning committee. Also at this dinner the appreciation awards (watches) of 25 years of service were given to five employees. The Certificates of Appreciation for the retired employees were also presented at this time.

Alois Ignatowicz had the greatest years of service standing at 28.1 years. Max, as he is known to his friends, came to work at B-G-R in 1928 as a tool and die maker and worked continuously from that time until he retired in August of this year. The oldest Old Timer was Vincent Kowalczyk who was 79 years young and who worked as a sweeper from 1943 until he retired in 1951. The two ladies who have retired were Agnes Kooy and Clara Linsell.

After dinner the group returned to the plant for more visits with their friends and returned to their homes late in the afternoon. It was evident by the smiles and handshakes that all of the Old Timers were looking forward to another day back at the plant a year from now.

The Canasta club composed of Mrs. Dean Johnson, Mrs. Josephine Hammond, Mrs. Mary Sackett, Mrs. Henry Johnson, Mrs. John C. Miller and Mrs. Zelma Smith enjoyed dinner, Tuesday evening, at the Livonia Inn after which they went to the home of Mrs. Miller on Maple avenue for their Christmas card party and exchange of gifts.

Motorist Appeals Jury's Decision

One of Plymouth's rare municipal court jury trials took place Monday at city hall and resulted in a decision of guilty in the case of an 18-year-old youth who was charged with driving after his license was revoked.

The youth is Allen S. Walton, 183 Union street, whose attorney had requested a trial before a jury instead of the judge alone.

Following the jury decision, Walton was sentenced to 90 days in the Detroit House of Correction. But by Monday night his attorney had appealed the case to circuit court and Walton was released under an appeal bond. Police said that Walton had his license first revoked in Detroit last summer. He was later convicted on a breaking and entering charge and the jail term suspended. But one of the conditions of the probation was that of no driving.

On November 24 Walton was caught driving by Plymouth police and arrested. This arrest resulted in Monday's trial.

Ladywood Mom's Dad's Clubs Elect

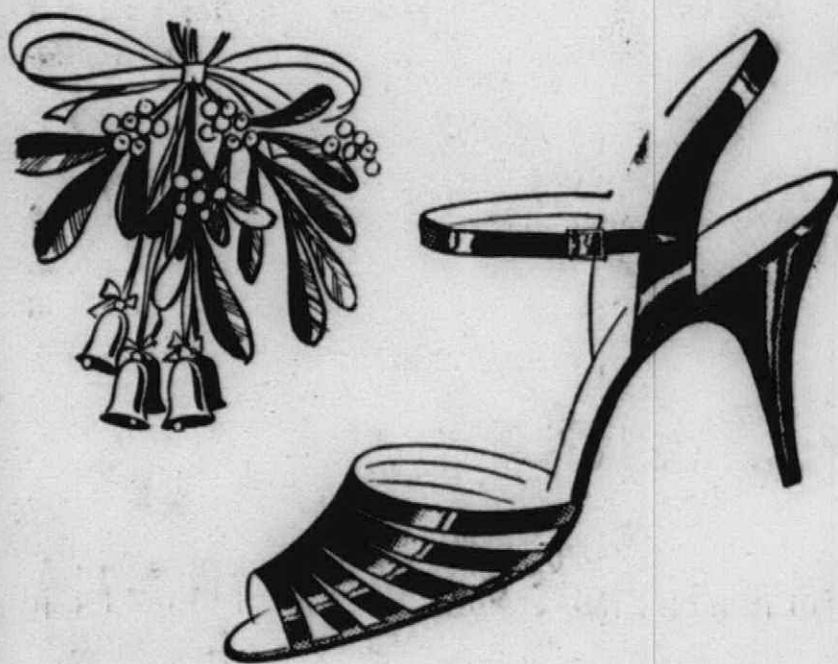

Elections for the Mom's and Dad's clubs recently took place at Ladywood high school for the school year 1956-57.

Those elected were as follows: president, William Sickies; vice president, Edison Empey; secretary, George Schorr; treasurer, Frank Oakes; executive committee, Edward H. Clark, Peter Kenny, Joseph O'Malley.

Officers for the Mom's club are: President; Mrs. Frank Oakes; first vice president, Mrs. Joseph O'Malley; second vice president, Mrs. Andrew Grant; recording secretary, Mrs. Michael Camilleri; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ralph Wilkins; financial secretary, Mrs. Joseph Handslik; treasurer, Mrs. Neil Pierce.

The Ladies of St. Peter's Lutheran church are again packing "Christmas Cheer" for the residents at Eloise hospital. They will pack at the church on December 14, (Friday) at 7:30 p.m. All ladies are asked to have their cookies at the church by that time. The packages will be distributed on Sunday afternoon, December 16, leaving the church at 1:30 p.m. sharp.

Birmingham Madrigal Singers Entertain Woman's Club

Nearly 70 members of the Plymouth Woman's club heard the story of the Nativity presented in an unusual musical and dialogue setting by the Birmingham Madrigal Singers, guests of the organization at its annual Christmas program held Friday afternoon in the Plymouth Masonic temple.

The Birmingham group appeared in colorful costumes representative of traditional Elizabethan madrigals for their presentation entitled, "The Christmas Story." The program was narrated by Mrs. Harriet Toomey with Mary Ellen and Martha Gates, daughters of Club Member Mrs. David Gates, as the youthful listeners.

Dialogue and arrangement of the choral music in plainsong set to contemporary styling was by the Madrigals' director, Mrs. Harold L. Walker of Detroit. The presentation included a blending of both new and traditional Christmas songs with portions devoted to solo as well as choral roles.

The Madrigals, in their seventh season, have appeared before many music clubs throughout the state. All are members of the Birmingham Musicals. Their director, Mrs. Walker, was graduated from Kansas State Teachers college School of Music as a well-known concert and oratorio artist. Prior to her present position as soprano-soloist at Christ Church, Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills, she was vocal music teacher in the Detroit public schools system for several years.

A Christmas tea followed the musical presentation, with table decorations of lighted candelabra, greens and tinsel balls to carry out the Yuletide theme. Two large floor trees decked in Christmas finery added further emphasis to the seasonal motif.

Christmas gifts and a monetary donation of $14 were collected at the meeting for the Northville State hospital ward sponsored by the Woman's club. Mrs. Gustaf Lundquist is hospital service chairman.

Program chairman for the meeting was Mrs. Edward Dobbs. Mrs. Walter Beglinger was in charge of decorations, assisted by Mrs. Philip Theobald and Mrs. William Hartloff. Tea-chairman was Mrs. Meredith Smith.

300 Area Young People Attend Military Meeting in Livonia

The youth of Plymouth, Livonia and Redford Township were advised to obtain as much education as possible before attempting to fulfill their obligation for military service at a "Military Meeting" sponsored by the Livonia Chamber of Commerce Monday evening at Bentley High School.

Col. Irving Greenbaum, Commandant of the Detroit Army Reserve School, pleaded, "Be sure to finish your high school courses. Then, if at all possible, go on to college. For this education will help you when you enter the service. The military arm of the country needs the smartest men it can get and it is vitally necessary that you complete your education."

Col. Greenbaum then outlined the various methods by which this education could be obtained as part of a well laid plan for schooling and military service. Approximately 300 young folks and their parents listened.

Following this message the mass meeting was broken into a dozen small meetings in which each branch of the service has private rooms to conduct interviews. All of the meetings were well attended.

"This was the first organized military meeting we have had", they chorused at the finish. The same was true of many of the parents who sought out chamber officials and thanked them for the opportunity to become better acquainted with the rules and laws governing the services.

"This type of meeting does a lot of good," one of the Army officials stated, "and from the start you folks gave it tonight, this should become an annual affair that will take a high place in the community activities."

The schools that joined with the Chamber of Commerce were Bentley High School, Plymouth High School, Northville High School, Clarenceville High School, and Thurston High School.

The folks were welcomed to the meeting by Cecil Alford, principal of Bentley, and the official welcome of the city was given by mayor William Brashear after which W. W. Edgar, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, handled the affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Barton Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Saxton and Mrs. John Ridley were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Teynten of Detroit followed by an evening of entertainment at the Detroit Yacht club.

PLYMOUTH is not noted for producing hockey players, but on the Michigan State hockey team for the second season is Rodger Carl Peterson, (right), son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson, 12049 Amherst court. Rodger played in an exhibition game against the Red Wings Tuesday night. The 6 foot 3 inch sophomore played hockey in the Detroit Recreation League and is being groomed for a defensive position. Coach Amo Bessone, left, states that Rodger possesses a hard shot and should develop as the season progresses.

Another Junior High Bid Let

A contract for food laboratory cabinets and sinks for the new junior high school homemaking department was let by the board of education at their meeting Monday night.

Winning the contract was the Peninsula Slate company whose bid of $4,175 was the lowest among four bidders. Bids ranged up to $5,264.

In other business before the board, approval was given to a motion to purchase an insurance policy for fire, extended coverage and vandalism from the Merriman Agency. The $406,427 policy will cost $1,857.37 over a period of five years. This policy is one of several covering school buildings and held by various agencies. Purchase from the Merriman Agency was recommended by the Plymouth Association of Insurance Agents.

Boiler insurance for Gallimore school was also purchased from the Gray Mutual company of Dearborn.

Because the school board recently appointed a School Personnel Policies Committee, representatives of the Plymouth Education association appeared before the board to ask what this new group's position is in regard to their salary study committee. The board decided that while the policy committee's study of salaries is a long-range one, the PEA would be in order to have a salary study committee at work to determine the short-term salary needs.

The School Personnel Policies Committee is composed of administrators, teachers and citizens whose job it is to study salaries, along with other school problems.

Mrs. William Farley, Mrs. James Houk, Mrs. Robert Lane and baby, all of Plymouth, and Mrs. Norma Tower of Ann Arbor, visited Mrs. Farley's cousin, Ona LeBarron in Ypsilanti, Friday, on her ninety-fourth birthday.

Planners to Discuss Storm Sewer Law, Street Names

A proposed change in the city's subdivision ordinance which could mean a savings of $80 to most builders of new homes and more consideration to street name changes are two items on the agenda for next Thursday's meeting of the city planning commission.

The present subdivision ordinance requires every new home to have a storm sewer costs about $80. Because only a small portion of the homes actually are connected to the storm sewer, the tap fee is wasted.

City Manager Albert Glassford said that a change in the law would give the city discretionary powers to determine if a home should be connected to the storm sewer or not. If soil is clay and water does not penetrate the ground, water which runs off the roofs should go into the storm sewer, the manager said.

He added that most people prefer to run the water onto the yards because it helps the yard and also keeps the water table higher. Water going into a storm sewer flows into the county sewer, then the lake and eventually the ocean, never being of benefit here.

Board of Education

boundaries has been a difficult one for the board. At a meeting last June, 75 parents turned out to object to a proposal that would move their children to Gallimore school and would make Smith and Bird schools within walking distance of all pupils. Because of the complaint of citizens, the study committee was formed.

After their recommendations were filed, a group living west of McClumpha in the Bird district filed a petition of objection and in detail listed counter-proposals. Many citizens voiced opinions at a public hearing held last month at the high school attended by 130. Since then, the school board has been taking all proposals under advisement.

It was pointed out that the movement of Bird school's sixth grades is for the coming semester only. Some may be left there next fall when sixth grades in all the schools will be considered for movement to the junior high. The three present Bird school sixth grades will be moved in fact, including the teacher, to Gallimore school. They will not, however, still be considered Bird school children as proposed by petitioners.

For the past year and a half, most of the schools have been using all spare room for classrooms. This year, all four of the large elementary schools have been using their multi-purpose auditoriums, libraries, teacher lounges and special service rooms for classes.

The present elementary buildings are designed for 420 pupils. When Gallimore school opens and the changes approved by the board are made, the total enrollment in each building will be:

Allen, 385; Bird, 411; Gallimore, 430; Smith, 400; Starkweather, 480. In addition, the so-called outlying schools will have: Bartlett, 46; Canton Center, 32; Cherry Hill, 52; Hough, 51; Truesdell, 76.

Total enrollment in all elementary buildings in February will be about 2,363.

Everybody is for economy in government until they need an appropriation for a pet project of their own.

Three more street name changes are being considered at a public hearing next Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. The first is to change the names of Elm, Wing and Joy streets to one single name. The three are continuous across the city, but assume different names at various points. A name for the single street has not been chosen.

Also being considered is changing the name of McKinley avenue located in Garling Subdivision No. 1 to South Evergreen. Change of Ann Arbor street to Ann Arbor trail is also under discussion. The term "trail" has been in use many years but was never officially changed.

Here's Treat Featured at Scout Sale Saturday

Senior Girl Scout Troop 5 is taking over the recipe spotlight this week with some snack treats to be featured at their bake sale this Saturday, held during store hours at Kroger's on Forest avenue.

Proceeds will help the Scouts realize their goal of a camping trip next summer at Prince Edward Island. The nine-member troop is headed by Miss Cynthia Baker, fourth-grade Smith school teacher, as leader and Mrs. Kenneth L. Hulsing co-leader.

Featured among the delicious baked goods assortment at the event, all Scout-made, will be

"Darn Goods" Recipe for this snack treat was picked up by Troop member, Jane Hardimon, while attending the alternate Girl Scout Roundup at Three Rivers this summer, and made a big hit when introduced to other Troop members on a later camping trip.

"Darn Goods," described as "the hole in the middle of a doughnut" are tasty served with cocoa or as an after-game or outing snack. They can be prepared quickly and should be served while hot. Leftovers, usually few and far between, may be warmed up in the oven before serving the next day.

"Darn Goods"
3 cups prepared biscuit mix
1 cup milk or water
Mix ingredients, form dough into small balls about an inch in diameter or drop from end of teaspoon. Fry until brown in hot fat 375 degrees temperature. Roll in granulated sugar and cinnamon. Recipe makes about 3-4 dozen.

Gay, Imaginative Wraps, Trims Add Extra Sparkle to Yule Gifts

One of the prettiest and most exciting sights of Christmas is the helter-skelter mound of beautifully wrapped gifts piled under the Christmas tree! There is the promise of happy surprises in store... there is the thoughtfulness that went into the selection of each gift... and there is the love and imagination that went into each gala wrapping.

Decking each gift in a joyous wrapping is half the fun of gift giving! But just as important as doing your gift shopping early is allowing plenty of time for your gift wrapping. The fun is spoiled if this part of Christmas is allowed to come a hurried, last-minute chore.

Each year there are more and more novel ideas incorporated into gift wrapping. This is due partly to the greater selection of gift wrappings available in the stores and also to the imaginative use of simple and inexpensive materials found around the house.

The ingenuity that is evident in any display of Christmas gifts goes beyond the use of novel wrappings. More and more clever cut-outs and trims are being added to gift packages.

It is wise to adapt these package motifs to the gift. Children are doubly thrilled when their gift box boasts a perky Santa, a red Christmas stocking or a tree. These can be made from red or green construction paper with painted or crayon trim or can be cut-outs from last year's cards.

A very dainty gift for a woman is even lovelier when the gift wrapping is glamorized with a trim of gold lace doilies, glued-on sequins or a sweet little angel cut-out.

A man will get an extra lift of spirits when his package is personalized with a clever motif that ties in with his hobby. For example, if he's a gardening enthusiast, tie his package with raffia that can be used later for tying plants and use gay packets of seeds for decoration.

Start early to collect the materials you'll need to add novel touches to your gift packages. Let your imagination have full sway and you'll find a clever idea to highlight each gift wrapping.

For pretty Christmas gift packages, just as important as the handsome or jolly decoration is to start with an attractive package. Here are a few simple rules that can make anyone an expert gift wrapper:

First: Always use a box to be sure of having a neat package.

Second: Place box on the gift paper and cut paper, allowing just enough margin at each end for folding.

Third: Center box on paper and make a neat overlay. Tape in at the corners, bring under edge up over top edge and tape.

Fourth: Fold edges of paper in at the corners, bring under edge up over top edge and tape.

Grange Cleanings

There was a splendid attendance of over 70 members at the Grange meeting last Thursday night. A wonderful supper, a good meeting and a nice program. Mr. Stevens' two solos were much enjoyed. Readings by Evelyn Fisher and Mrs. Vealey were followed by a monologue by Bessie Salow that was appreciated by everyone. Then our double quartette gave several numbers that were good. Several new members were elected to receive their degrees in January.

Our next meeting on December 20 will be the Christmas party. A tree, Santa Claus, a program and everything. Those who bring children should bring gifts for them, but there will be no exchange of adult gifts this year. A special program is planned.

Oscar Curtis is seriously ill in a hospital in Tampa, Florida, his daughter and son-in-law went down there about two weeks ago or bring him home, if possible, but he cannot be moved yet.

Sam Spicer, John Oldenburg, Lloyd Fillmore and Kenneth Lunn came Saturday night and helped to relieve the monotony of Ernie Vealey by a few games of Euchre. He appreciated their visit a great deal as he is not able to get out very much.

Owing to his failing health, Mr. Vealey has had to give up the work of caring for the Grange hall which he has done for seven years. We have a new janitor now, William Squires, who lives near the hall at 173 Union street. His telephone number is 428-W, so from now on those wishing to rent the hall must contact that number. It is with real regret that Mr. Vealey has had to give up the job he enjoyed the work and made many pleasant contacts through it.

Mr. Borchart, one of our newer members, is very ill in White Hall Convalescent home on Ten Mile road, corner of Novi road. Mrs. Borchart is alone every evening and it would be kind if some of our members would go to call on her at 1120 West Maple.

Use sour cream as the liquid in making veal or lamb gravy. Bay leaves cooked in the pan with roast pork or braised pork chops produce a tasty flavor.

DAR Christmas Party Monday

Annual Christmas festivities are in the offing for members of Sarah Ann Cochran chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Plymouth and Northville, their special Yule program to take place Monday, December 17, at 1 p.m. with Mrs. Carroll J. Milligan of 42565 Eight Mile road, Northville as hostess.

Mrs. Ada Murray will present "Christmas at the Tremble" by Ruth McEnry Stewart as part of the annual Christmas program. Other highlights will include a musical program directed by Mrs.

Drake Older. Featured selections will be "I Wonder as I Wander," "At Christmastime" and "Go Tell It on the Mountains" with Mrs. Ruth Jerome as guest soloist. She will be accompanied by Mrs. William G. Williams at the piano, who will also accompany Miss Julie Older, flutist, in presentation of the "Suite in A Major for Flute and Piano."

Concluding the afternoon's program will be a Christmas tea under the direction of the chapter's social hostess, Mrs. Kenneth L. Hulsing.

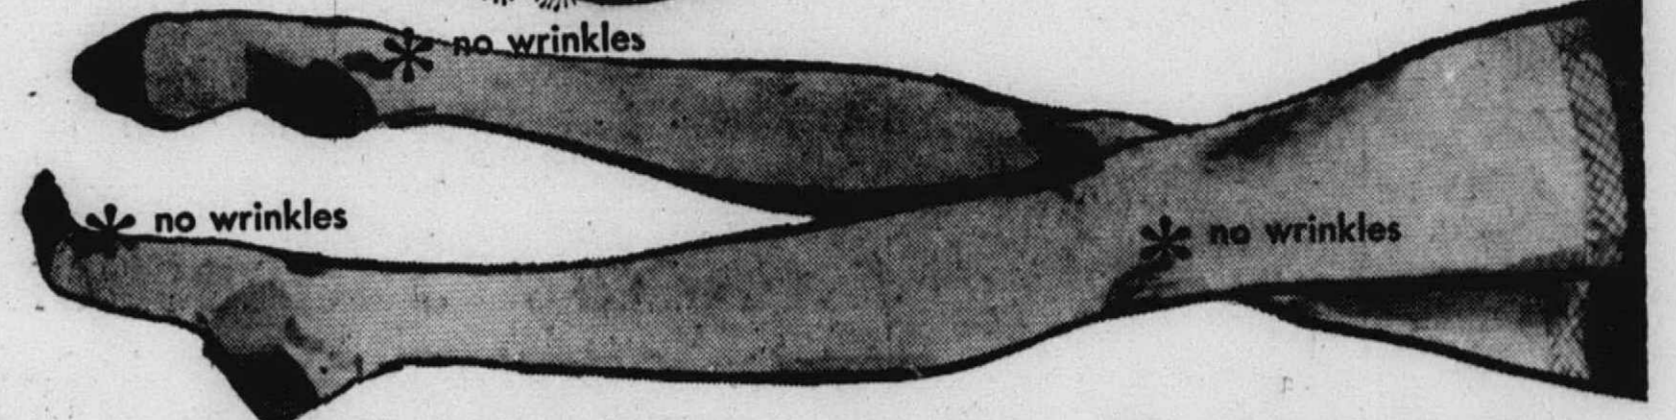

PEO Holds Gathering

Members of the PEO Sisterhood held a gathering Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Harold Stevens on Church street. Co-hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Eric Anderson and Mrs. J. W. Fowlkes.

Following the business meeting, the membership adjourned to the recreation room of the Stevens home where a bazaar was held under the chairmanship of Mrs. Paul Simmons.

A Christmas party has been scheduled by PEO for December 21, the festivities to take place in the home of Mrs. H. W. Blomberg at 7:30 p.m.

Deck Home Tinsel-Bright In Keeping with Holiday Spirit

Nothing in this world adds quite the merriness to a Merry Christmas like a house so gaily decorated for the holidays that it fairly sings a greeting to all who enter.

Every little touch of holiday decor thrills the children and makes the season doubly exciting. Bright, candlelight decorations lend a festive air to all your Yuletide entertaining and give a special lift to everyone's Christmas spirit.

The family Christmas tree is, of course, the focal point of all the holiday decorations. Whether it is a floor-to-ceiling beauty like Grandfather always had or an apartment-sized tree, the way you decorate it can become a family tradition.

Family preference and the decor of your home should determine whether your tree is decorated in the colorful, traditional manner or in the one-color, white tree modern mood.

Since the time for enjoying the beloved Christmas tree always seems much too brief, why not have a second table-size tree in the dining room? This tree can be given a whimsical touch by decorating it with fruit, gilded nuts, or cellophane wrapped candy tied on with a myriad of little red bows.

If you are fortunate enough to have a fireplace and mantel, this area ranks second in importance, decoration-wise, at Christmas-time.

The most effective means of dramatizing the mantel is with glowing candles. An attractive mantel decoration is created by using a group of tall red candles in graduated heights at each end of the mantel. Place boughs of evergreen around the base of the candles and tuck bright berries into the greenery.

Or, frame the mantel with a garland of evergreens and center a wreath over it. At each side, place a grouping of pine cones, greens and candles.

If you prefer your mantel decor to reflect the true meaning of Christmas, place a figurine of the Madonna and Child on a raised wooden block with sweeping pine branches as a background. Set candles at each side of the figure.

A Nativity scene, a Madonna figurine, a grouping of candle angels or choir boys is also a lovely decoration for an occasional table or the top of a book shelf.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TABLES

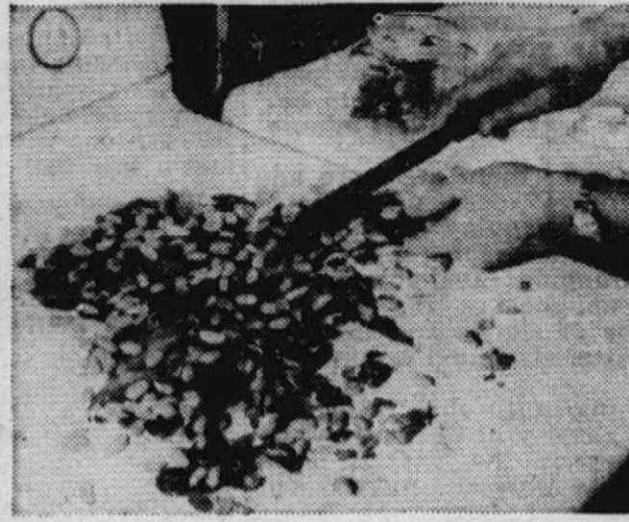

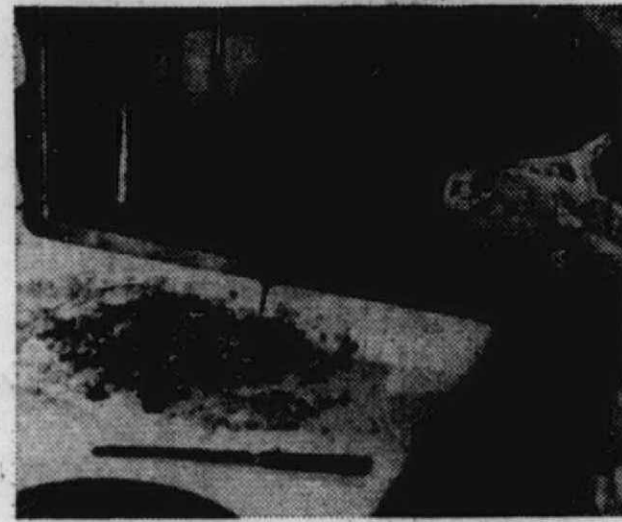

To carry the cheery spirit of Christmas throughout your home, direct your attention next to your dining room table. The possibilities for festive decorations are unlimited!

Flowers, fruit, Christmas greens, and candles, Santa in a tiny, gift-filled sleigh, a group of clever little Christmas candles are just a few of the ideas you can work out for your table.

Try making your table look like a huge gift package! Run lengths of wide red ribbon lengthwise and across your white table cloth and place a huge in the center. Add candles and sprigs of holly to complete the effect.

If your holiday decor is modern, use heaped blue and silver balls on whitened boughs in a long arrangement down the center of the table.

Loading your family washing machine to the maximum may save time on washday which is a busy day for all homemakers, but your clothes and linens will come out cleaner if the machine is given a lighter load. Most washing machines carry a maximum load of about nine pounds, but in general, a load of six or seven pounds will result in better soil removal and more even washing than the heavier load.

1-2-3-4 HOLIDAY PEANUT BRITTLE is simple to make and good to eat. (UPPER LEFT) Butter the porcelain surface of your range and sprinkle it with 1/2 cup or more of unsalted peanuts. Melt two cups of granulated sugar in a heavy skillet, stirring constantly with a wooden handled fork. No liquid is needed. (UPPER RIGHT) When the mixture is a caramel-colored liquid, smooth out any lumps. Now act quickly! (LOWER LEFT) Pour the syrup over the nuts and spread it with a spatula.

It hardens in a matter of minutes. (LOWER RIGHT) When it is brittle, crack the candy into pieces and store in tightly covered containers. Decorated candy jars or coffee cans make perfect gift containers.

Culinary Suggestions For Christmas-Giving

For the family on your Christmas list who has everything, why not give a fruit cake . . . perhaps from a treasured family recipe?

Or a pan of special rolls that the hostess will be able to pop into the oven on Christmas morning, and serve with pride.

These gifts will be especially enjoyed by the homemaker who has little time to bake. Such gifts are also appreciated because you are giving of yourself, your time and talents, and mean more than something you might hurriedly purchase. You can prepare these gifts now and have them in the freezer.

Here are some ways to improve the attractiveness of fruit cakes with decoration and glazes. First of all, wait until the cakes are cool before glazing. You might like to use an apricot glaze or just plain corn syrup is always good. Simply brush the cooled cakes with the hot glaze. Decorate and then brush again with the glaze. Glazes add a pleasing flavor to fruit cake.

FOR DECORATING, perfect whole blanched almonds, pecan halves, candied fruits and moist candied citron are most commonly used. Candied cherries may be left whole, cut in halves or in petal-shape pieces to make designs resembling poinsettias. Then, too, the cherries could be coarsely chopped, and a number of pieces used together in little bunches resembling holly berries. Moist candied citron may be sliced thin, cut into shapes of berries and leaves to form wreaths of holly and mistletoe.

Some of the citron should be colored for this.

Plan your design first on paper. Brush the hot glaze on your cake, let it dry slightly and place the nuts and fruit on according to your plan. Then brush or put a little more hot glaze over the fruit being careful not to disturb the design. When the glaze is thoroughly dry, wrap and store the cakes until you are ready to use them.

Fruit cakes are best stored in a tin box or a stone crock, of course, they must be wrapped first! Let the cake ripen in a cool place but NOT where it will freeze.

Christmas Quickies

Hot Christmas muffins may be made by adding cranberries to any good plain whole wheat or bran muffin recipe that you have. Use the raw berries, either ground or whole. Add about one cup of berries to two cups of flour.

Monogrammed napkins, matches or coasters are good gift suggestions for that person on your shopping list who has everything.

Prepare for the holiday rush now. Pack ice-box cookie dough in small, well-greased soup cans; store in freezer until ready to bake. Then cut out the bottom of the can; push out dough and slice it.

Serve Nuts For Holiday Entertaining

Nuts of all kinds have scores of uses in holiday cooking and baking.

Use them uncracked, in a nut bowl for between meal snacks. They add good texture to stuffing for holiday turkeys and spark up cooked vegetables such as green beans, broccoli and brussel sprouts.

Nuts also enhance pies, biscuits, muffins, waffles, quick breads, cookies, fruit cake, salads and sandwich fillings; declare food specialists. They remind that shelled nuts keep best in airtight containers in a cool dark place and that shelled nuts don't keep as long as nuts in the shell. Salted nuts are even more perishable.

Shelled nuts do keep well in tight containers for a year in a freezer. If you package your own for freezer storage, be sure to package them in usable amounts.

If your recipe calls for blanched brazil nuts or almonds, cover the shelled nuts with cold water. Bring to a boil and simmer two or three minutes. Drain; add cold water; drain again. Pinch each nut to slip the skins. Filberts should be placed in a shallow pan in an oven set at 250 degrees or 275 degrees for about 20 minutes or until skins loosen. Rub them with a coarse towel or with your fingers. Toasting improves their flavor as well as making them more easily sliced.

If you want to serve nuts salted, put one cup of whole nuts or nutmeat bits in a pan with one tablespoon butter. Brown them in a moderate oven 350 degrees F., stirring often. Drain them on paper towels and salt them while warm.

Yule Cards Make Pretty Decor

Every Christmas more and more people are using the show-off of colorful Christmas cards they receive as an attractive feature in their holiday decor.

There are a multitude of clever ways these friendly greetings can be displayed to give your cards extra significance during the Yuletide season.

FRAME A DOORWAY by attaching your cards all around the archway or door with cellophane tape.

MAKE A WREATH of gay cards to hang over your mantel or on the wall above a table. Make a background wreath of evergreen boughs and attach your cards all around.

USE A CLEVER CUT-OUT of a sleigh or Christmas tree, hang on the wall and mount the cards on it.

COVER A SCREEN with bright gift wrapping paper in a solid color and mount the cards for a gay holiday screen.

MAKE A SWAG of evergreens for over the mantel and fasten the cards to this graceful decoration. These are just a few of the ways you can display and share your cards with your guests.

You'll have no sore fingers or short tempers if you keep an old button hook in the front closet for pulling up zippers on snow shoes, boots and suits.

Is a good night's sleep worth 2¢?

That's all it costs—2¢—to give you cozy warmth all night long.

With an automatic blanket you can have all-over warmth—as much or as little as you like. You select it . . . a thermostat does the rest to keep you comfortable.

Automatic blankets really save you money because you need only one blanket for each bed. No need to have that extra blanket handy. Just one blanket to launder, one blanket to store.

Saves on heating, too. Set the house thermostat lower during the night. Under your automatic blanket you're always cozy warm, no matter how cool the room.

The '57 Pontiac is America's Number 1 Road Car!

Months ago, Pontiac set its '57 sights on producing an engineering classic—the greatest road car in automotive history! How well did they succeed? One answer is pictured here, the all-new '57 Pontiac itself, a car so advanced in concept that other new cars merely emphasize its outstanding design, its brilliant array of first-time features! The other answer is the public's response to this road-ruling beauty. From every quarter of the nation has come wave after wave of confirming praise. Praise for Pontiac's styling—its crisp, colorful lines and flowing contours that accent beauty built in, not hung on! Praise for new Level-Line Ride—the advanced suspension system that cradles you in cloud-soft comfort. Praise for Pontiac's ease of handling! Praise for the brisk and eager response of its all-new Strato-Streak V-8 engine! And underlying this tremendous voice of approval is the confidence felt in a car which has undergone the greatest road test in history . . . Pontiac's grueling 100,000-Mile Marathon Run! Yes, this year it's Pontiac all the way! Come in and see it! Come take the wheel of America's No. 1 Road Car!

Madonna Readies For Yule Season

"Twas the week before Christmas, when all through the house every creature was stirring. . . There will be many a creature stirring before the Christmas recess will silence the campus on Dec. 18. Highlighting the traditional Nativity celebrations will be the lighting of the outdoor crib Sunday Dec. 16, 7 p.m. Mother H. Annuncia, CSSF, president of the College Board of Trustees, will pull the switch that will light the manger scene greeting auto-goers on Schoolcraft highway.

Much stirring on campus will take place the following day. A candlelight procession will take place in the late afternoon.

Leading the group with a candle lit from the sanctuary lamp, Theresa Sternicki, president, will direct the students to De Sales auditorium. Here, class representatives will extend their Christmas greetings.

College rings will mark the fingers of the seniors that same evening. Father James T. Shannon, head of the Theology and Philosophy department, will be celebrant at the ceremony. The traditional Christmas dinner will follow.

The stockings were hung by the chimney with care. . . And Saint Nicholas will certainly come the evening of Dec. 17 as Madonnites exchange gifts beneath the Christmas tree.

Preparing the way for the festivities in the preceding weeks will be the annual Advent wreath ceremony. Unlike preceding years, the wreath will not be placed in the dining room but on the first floor hall of the dorm. The lighting of the candles and recitation of prayers will take place every evening before bedtime. Majorie Krist, Sodality prefect, will direct the ceremony.

Following traditional customs, Madonna's carolers will spread the glad tidings by their songs of Christmas hope and joy.

As Madonnites leave campus Tuesday noon, Dec. 18, a familiar echo will resound throughout the halls, "Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good night!"

What's it Got that Everyone's After?

We figured folks would go for the '57 Buick—and big. But we sure didn't figure this—the most rousing reception we've ever seen in all our years of selling new Buicks.

We're getting more enthusiastic talk—along with the signed orders—than ever before. And, neighbor, if you want to know why—listen!

This '57 Buick has that sleek low-sweep styling that today's moderns want—and it's here in extra-long measure, in the lowest Buick yet.

It has the room they want—for Buick's new wide-frame chassis permits a sports-car silhouette with more interior roominess than even last year's spacious Buicks.

It has newness everywhere, and newness that's wanted.

A smart new panoramic windshield of vaster dimensions and greater visibility.

The sweet, solid surety of a new "nested" ride. A brilliant new handling and cornering and levelized braking that come of an ingenious new ball-joint suspension. It even has the modern answer for today's driving—a new Safety-Minder* that watches your miles-per-hour for you.

But even more important, this rakish sweep of automobile has a new kind of instant response—and that's the biggest reason for the soaring popularity of the newest Buick yet.

For here is performance—smooth as spun silk—unleashed by a totally new V8 engine 364 cubic inches big, and with the highest compression, torque and horsepower in Buick annals.

And here, to deliver that might, is the power-pitch action of an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflo.* A Dynaflo of such instantaneous obedience, such smooth and versatile control in "Drive"—the need for "Low" is virtually ended.

In all truth, you've never bossed a car so keenly alive, so smooth in motion, so solid in feel. It's ahead of its time, ahead of the industry—even ahead of your great expectations.

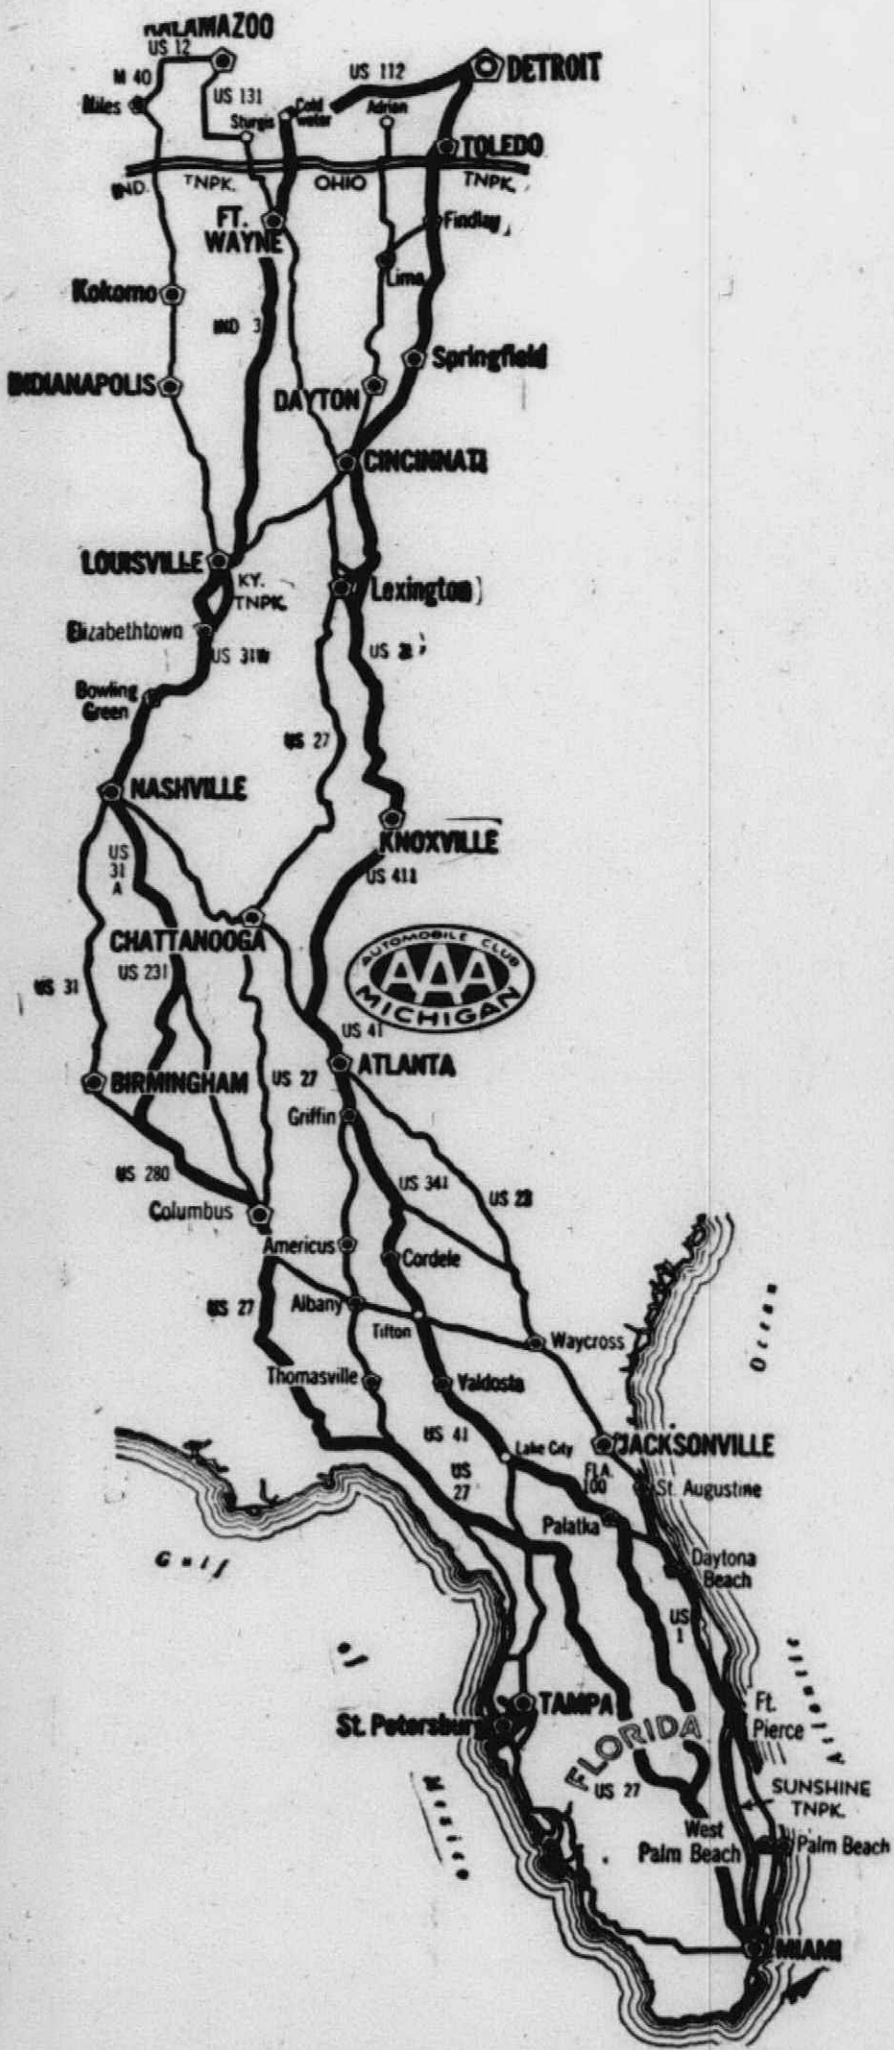

Come check up on all this for yourself. Come drive this shoulder-high sweetheart with the strong he-and-she appeal. Come be our guest—today.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special. Safety-Minder standard on Roadmaster, optional other Series.

MORE THAN 330,000 Michiganians will use these two main routes to Florida this year. Automobile Club of Michigan predicts. Eastern route covers 1,425 miles from Detroit to Miami and includes some mountain driving. Western route is longer by 125 miles but requires only 35 minutes more to drive. No major detours or construction are reported on either route.

Evans' Velocipede Operation Moved to West Branch Plant

Evans Products Company of Plymouth is leasing a modern plant at West Branch, Mich., for production of velocipedes, E. S. Evans, Jr., president, announced today.

Leased from the Miller Manufacturing Company of Detroit, the new plant will be capable of producing up to 500,000 units annually.

Evans said the velocipede operation now at Plymouth will be transferred to West Branch. He said production at the new plant is anticipated to begin late in the first quarter of 1957. Velocipedes produced at the new site will encompass a complete line ranging from cab tire models to tangent spoke models, he pointed out.

The West Branch plant, a modern facility only a few years old, has a railroad siding and truck loading ramps. One reason the site was selected is because of its convenient trucking distance from Plymouth. Stocks of velocipedes will be carried at Plymouth as well as at West Branch.

In addition to being leaders in the production of high-quality velocipedes and bicycles, the Evans Products Company is the nation's leading manufacturer of railroad freight damage-prevention equipment, such as the familiar DF Loader, a load-securing device installed in freight cars. Evans also makes the famous Auto Loader which secures automobiles in freight cars to prevent damage in transit. The company also makes truck and bus heaters, at its Plymouth plant. At its five West Coast plants, Evans produces hardboard, fir plywood, battery separators as well as other wood products.

OUT ON THE farm is always thought of as a good place to grow up. So the youngsters enrolled in the Children's Farm Nursery near Plymouth, shown playing games, are rural residents during the day, mostly city dwellers at night.

A Farm that Raises Children

While most farms are designed to raise animals and crops, there is a farm west of Plymouth principally interested in raising children.

Called the Children's Farm Nursery School, it is located at Joy and Ridge roads. Mrs. Joseph C. Richards is operator of the nursery, assisted by Mrs. Jess Underwood. Mr. Richards, whom the children call Uncle Joe, also lends a hand at times.

Some nursery schools are situated in crowded neighborhoods, but the Farm Nursery School believes it is unique because it is in "the wide open spaces."

There are usually between 10 and 20 youngsters enrolled in the school between the ages of 2 to 5 years. Most are children whose parents both work during the day. One of the rigid rules requires parents, and no one else, to pick up the child.

All of the day's activities aren't always confined to the farm. The youngsters are taken on tours such as the Ford Rotunda and shopping trips into Plymouth. Of course there will be a big Christmas party in a few weeks.

Like the older boys and girls who graduate from various schools, Farm Nursery youngsters also get diplomas when they leave.

Maccabee News

Our Christmas party will be held at the home of Doris Curtis, 640 Ross, Tuesday, December 18, at 8 p.m. Everyone is asked to bring a wrapped gift with xmas card and name inside, price not to exceed one dollar. These gifts will be taken to the ladies in the Maccabee home at Alma.

Hereafter, all of our meetings will start at 7:30 p.m. so let's begin the New Year right, by attending our next meeting on January 2, at 7:30 p.m.

Sociology Class Plans Fete for Handicapped

Miss Neva Lovewell's sociology class at Plymouth high school will again sponsor its annual Christmas party for handicapped teenagers served by the Wayne Out-County chapter, Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc.

This year's event will be held Saturday, December 15, from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Kiwanis-Girl Scout lodge. Guests of local class members will be the Happy Friendship club from the Crippled Children's society. Decorations for the party will be furnished by the Plymouth Kiwanis club.

You get better looking in a '57 Chevrolet!

Chevy gives you a whole new outlook behind the wheel. And isn't that new instrument panel a honey!

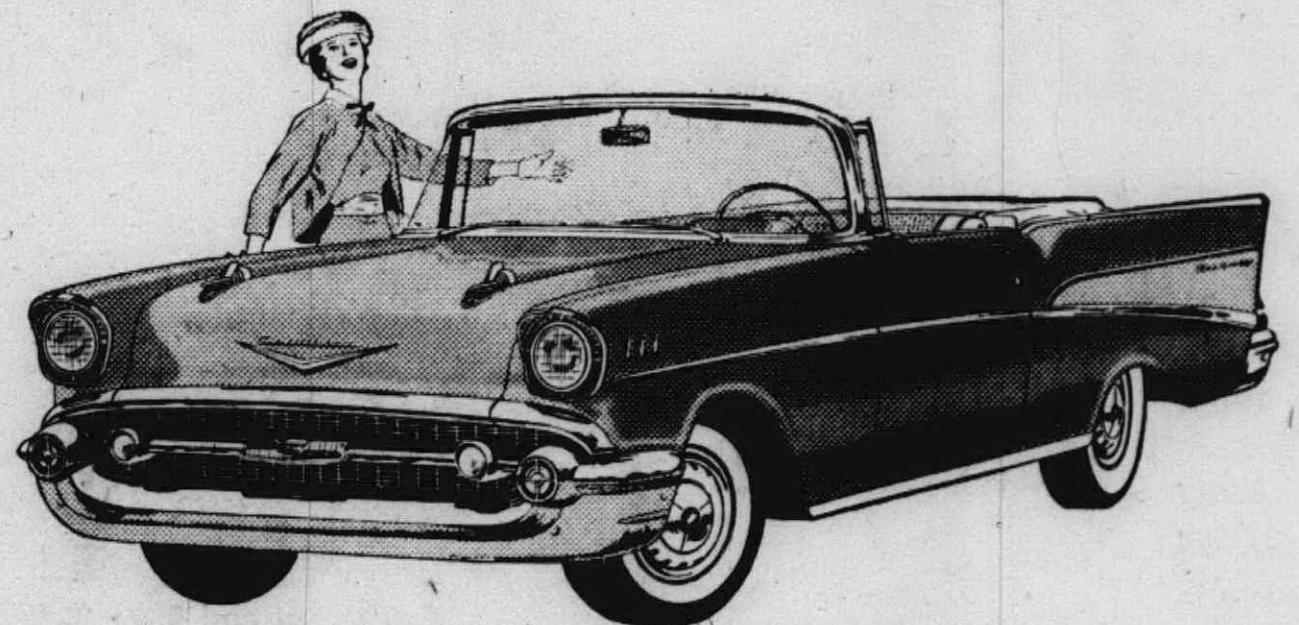

You feel for all the world like you're viewing one of these new wide-screen movies when you first look through that '57 Chevrolet windshield. Its new, deeper design gives you better, safer seeing. The whole outdoors seems to surround you in its crystal curve.

Glance down—just a bit—and your eyes rest on the sweetest instrument panel a car ever had. Gauges are shielded against sun-glare in a deeply hooded cove.

You have an exciting sense of full command—an urge to curl your fingers around that slimly sculptured steering wheel and find out if the going's as good as the looking.

It's even better. You make that happy discovery in a few smooth-flowing miles. Chevy's full of vinegar (horsepower ranges up to 245*), and so well behaved that it gives you a whole new outlook on driving. Come in and see.

Sweet, smooth and sassy! The Bel Air Convertible. Body by Fisher, of course.

It's Open Season For Monoxide Poison Victims

This is the time of year when carbon monoxide declares open season on human beings, the Michigan Department of Health warned today.

Carbon monoxide is a dangerous and silent killer. It sneaks up on its victims and suffocates them before they realize they are being attacked.

Accidental deaths from carbon monoxide poisoning show a sharp increase when the weather turns cold, the health department said.

A leading contributor of the seasonal upsurge is the habit—often fatal—some people have of running their car's engine inside the garage with the garage doors closed.

Other leading causes of accidental carbon monoxide poisoning are faulty mufflers and tailpipes on cars and trucks, improper venting of home space heaters, and improper ventilation of factories and workshops.

If the amount of carbon monoxide in the air being breathed is small, a person may notice a tight feeling across the forehead. This is followed by a throbbing headache, dizziness, a flushed face and redness of the eyeballs. The person may become sick enough to vomit.

Finally he passes out and, if he continues to breathe the gas, dies. Carbon monoxide poisoning can be avoided by following a few simple rules, the health department said. These include:

1. Open the garage doors before starting a car inside a garage.

2. Check the muffler and tailpipe of your car or truck for leaks. In winter, drive with at least one window partially open. It is particularly important to open windows when parking with the engine running.

3. Vent all space heaters to the outside.

4. Always ventilate a room in which a gas space heater is being used.

5. Don't burn propane or butane gases in stoves designed for natural gas, or vice versa.

6. Check furnaces annually for leaks and poor fittings.

7. In factories and other indoor work areas, take air samples frequently.

Northville State Hospital Honors Local Volunteers

Northville State Hospital recently observed its 3rd Annual Volunteer Day in the hospital auditorium. Certificates of Appreciation were presented to 70 individuals who represent a total of more than 20,000 hours of service which have volunteered in the patients' behalf during the past year.

The presentation was made by one of the patients, who is chairman of the Patients' Representative Council, which is composed of elected representatives from each ward in the hospital.

Abraham Brickner, formerly of the staff, was guest speaker. A tea in the cafeteria followed and Mrs. Philip N. Brown, and Mrs. Joseph J. Gill poured.

Local individuals and groups honored were: Mrs. Pearl Lundquist, chairman Northville State Volunteer Group of The Plymouth Woman's Club, 348 Auburn Avenue; Mrs. Betty Packard, 1465 Penniman, vice-chairman Plymouth Birthday Ladies; Mrs. Vivian Champion, 493 North Harvey, chairman, Northville State Hospital Volunteer Service Council; Mrs. Lucille Tanner, 16400 Northville Road; Gray Ladies were Mrs. Lorain Barber, 478 Arthur; Mrs. Mary Wick, 292 North Holbrook; Mrs. Sarah Yeoman, 14269 Minehart Drive and Mrs. Dorothy Yeoman, 14269 Minehart Drive.

Local Draft Board Split

Two new draft boards have been established in southwestern Wayne county as the result of splitting Local Board No. 102 located in Plymouth.

The Plymouth local board, with more than 23,000 registrants, was one of the largest draft boards in the nation, according to the Michigan State Selective Service headquarters. It is located at 328 North Main Street.

New local boards will be established at Trenton and Wayne as a result of the split. All registrants transferred to the new local boards at Trenton and Wayne have been advised by mail.

Wayne board 219 will have jurisdiction over the townships of Nankin and Dearborn, exclusive of the City of Dearborn.

Trenton board 222 will include Brownstown, Grosse Ile, Huron, Monguagon, Romulus, Sumpter and Van Buren townships.

The Plymouth board will retain jurisdiction over the townships and cities of Canton, Northville, Plymouth, Redford and Livonia. Judge John L. Mokersky of Board No. 102, assisted by Leonard Broquet of Detroit and Harry L. Hunter of Plymouth.

State Selective Service Director Colonel Arthur Holmes states that the split was necessary to improve services to registrants in this fast-growing area.

Moved by Comm. Roberts and supported by Comm. Sincok that the proposed ordinance to amend Ordinance No. 182, Zoning Ordinance, be passed its first reading. Carried unanimously.

Moved by Comm. Cutler and supported by Comm. Roberts that the Mayor and Clerk be authorized to execute a license with the C & O Railway Company for installation of the sanitary sewer under the railroad at S. Mill Street. Carried unanimously.

Moved by Comm. Roberts and supported by Comm. Guenther that the City Manager be authorized to purchase $5,000 worth of City of Plymouth water bonds, due in 1976, at $4,296.18, including accrued interest, the money to come from the Water Improvement Fund. Carried unanimously.

The following resolution was offered by Comm. Cutler and supported by Comm. Terry:

Resolved, that in consideration of the granting of construction permits by the Wayne County Road Commission to the City of Plymouth Contractor Rocco Ferrera & Co., a co-partnership, for the construction of storm sewers, a portion of which traverses roads under the jurisdiction of said Wayne County Road Commission, the City of Plymouth hereby agrees to withhold 10% due said contractor by the municipality, until construction has been completed and a written release obtained from the Wayne County Road Commission, provided, this meets with the approval of the contractor. Carried unanimously.

Moved by Comm. Guenther and supported by Comm. Cutler that the meeting be adjourned. Carried unanimously.

Time of adjournment was 10:06 P.M.
Monday, November 26, 1956
A special meeting of the City Commission was held in the Commission Chamber of the City Hall on Monday, November 26, 1956 at 7:30 p.m. to consider the following:

1. To consider and let bids for a sanitary sewer for the Gallimore School.

PRESENT: Comm. Cutler, Guenther, Henry, Sincok, Terry and Mayor Daane.

ABSENT: Comm. Roberts.
Due to his being ill, Comm. Roberts' absence was excused by the commission.

Herald Hamill presented a tabulation of bids for the sanitary sewer to the bid of the Boam Company of Livonia, in the amount of $25,953.40.

Moved by Comm. Cutler and supported by Comm. Terry that the bid of the Boam Company of Livonia in the amount of $25,953.40, as recommended by Herald Hamill and the Plymouth Community School District Board, be accepted and the Mayor and Clerk be authorized to sign the contract. Carried unanimously.

Moved by Comm. Terry and supported by Comm. Cutler that the meeting be adjourned. Carried unanimously.

Time of adjournment was 7:45 P.M.

Army Offers Enlistment Plan With Holiday Leave

Local Army Recruiter SFC Hank Zalewski has announced a new plan for Army enlistments during the coming holiday period. Young men may be enlisted after December 15 and placed on furlough at once at their homes until after New Year's Day when they will leave for basic training.

For the leave period at home they will receive full Army pay, allowances and benefits.

SFC Zalewski said that parents of local young men are urged to attend the "Military Information Night" at Bentley High school at 8 p.m. on December 10. Complete information on present military obligations and the reserve forces will be available.

The sergeant is in Plymouth at the Junior Achievement building on Mondays and Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Information can be obtained at other hours by calling Vermont 5-3243 or at the recruiting office at Grand River and Southfield.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
City Planning Commission
City of Plymouth, Michigan

At a regular meeting of the City Planning Commission to be held on Thursday, December 20, 1956, at 7:30 P.M. in the Commission Chambers of the City Hall, a public hearing will be held to consider the following street name changes:

1. From Pine St. to Harding St.
2. Elm, Wing and Joy Streets to one like, continuing name.
3. From McKinley Avenue, of Garling Subdivision No. 1, to S. Evergreen Avenue.
4. From Ann Arbor Street to Ann Arbor Trail.

All interested parties will be given ample opportunity to participate in the hearing and, at the close of the hearing, the comments and suggestions of those citizens participating will be considered by the Planning Commission before making its decision.

Rock Lining Halts Water Heater Rust

A principle long used in building bridges has proved itself just as valuable in the construction of water heaters for the home. This isn't so far-fetched as it sounds. In bridge-building, when a steel shaft is sunk in water, it is encased with concrete. The steel alone would rust, but the concrete seals the corrosive water out. The sides and tops of some water heaters, the Coleman Heating Institute points out, are lined with a similar rock-like material that keeps the tanks from rusting. Tank bottoms are lined with vitreous enamel for rapid transfer of heat. The name "vit-rock" has been given to the process.

Built-in Pine Cabinetwork Stretches Attic Floor Space

The top sketch shows how to make the most of limited floor space when finishing an attic. Bottom, mineral wool insulation is installed between rafters.

When a family outgrows its present quarters, the attic may be the answer to its space needs. The sketch above shows a simple, economical plan for turning a bare attic into an attractive bedroom-study for two boys or girls. Maximum floor area is preserved by building twin cabinets or chests of drawers into the walls under the eaves, and setting desks and bunk beds against the walls. Stock cabinets of ponderosa pine are available, knocked down, or fully assembled, which are easy to build in under the roof rafters.

The window seat should have a lift-up top so that it can double as a storage box for toys and sports equipment. Storage drawers are built under the bunks, too. A large double-hung window unit of ponderosa pine lets in all the air and light needed to make the room cheerful and comfortable. The smooth, light surface of this wood can be painted, stained or clear-finished to go with the decorative colors of the walls and furniture. When a change of color is desired, or when youngsters soil the frame and sash past the washable stage, the wood can readily be refinished. To maintain a healthy temperature in a finished attic, complete insulation is a "must." The first step, before walls and ceiling are put in, is to install mineral wool bats or blankets between the roof rafters, as shown in the bottom drawing. This insulation will pay for itself in a few winters through lower fuel bills, and will help to keep the attic cool and comfortable in the summer.

Don't Believe Older Builder Was Better

Don't believe the old complaint that houses today aren't as good as they used to be. In most important respects they're much better.

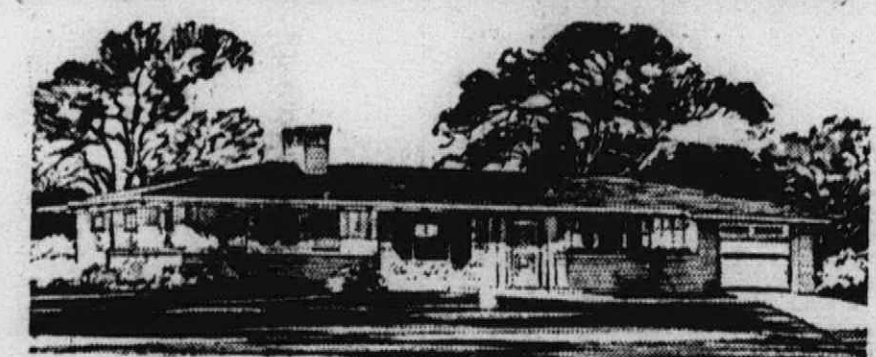

One example of the superiority of the modern house is the widespread use of preservative-treated millwork—windows, panel doors, and cabinets. Chemically treated millwork, generally made of ponderosa pine, will last at least four or five times as long as the wood used in the so-called "golden age" of home building. Basically, preservatives do two things. They poison the fungus that causes decay. They also reduce the absorption of moisture in wood.

The ability to keep out moisture means that ponderosa pine windows and panel doors are free from sticking in any kind of weather. Sticking is caused when wood swells after absorbing moisture. Later, during dry weather, the wood shrinks. Preservative-treated wood, for all practical purposes, does not swell or shrink. Preservatives improve wood's natural affinity for paint. They prevent paint failures such as bubbling, cracking, and peeling, which are caused by the presence of moisture beneath the painted surface.

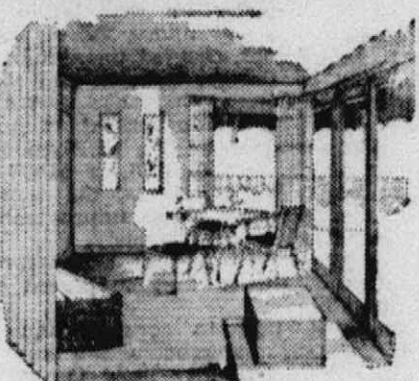

Seal Knot in Board
A loose knot in a board need not be a troublesome. The knot should be pushed out and coated with clear cellulose cement. Replaced in the knothole, it will remain firmly in the board.

The best way to cut bamboo draperies is with sheet metal shears or a pair of heavy scissors.

House of Open Planning From Small Homes Guide

This is the bedroom facing the living-terrace at the rear of the home. With folding door closed, the large master bedroom is divided, providing a guest room—with its own closet. Or, this extra room can be used as a den, as a TV room, game room—in short, an all-purpose additional room.

The living-terrace photo snapped by the magazine's photographer for the cover of the 34th edition of SMALL HOMES GUIDE looked so inviting that the editors asked Architect Elmer Gylleck to design a special house, with a patio area just like the one on the cover.

Here is the house Architect Gylleck came up with. The plan is for a three-bedroom home, two of the bedrooms being separated by a folding door that allows them to open up into one big room. Open planning is strongly featured in the living-dining area. There is a low planting wall between the breakfast nook and the dining room, enhancing this feeling of openness. Another feature is living room access to the front bedroom, permitting it to be used without disturbing other rooms. Although the house does have a basement, the laundry has been brought up into a more convenient location for the housewife—near the kitchen. Additional bath facilities have been provided with a washroom off the utility room. Note the special small room provided at the end of the garage for homeowners with green thumbs. This plant room can be a cheerful place, full of greenery and blooms. A door gives quick access to the outside garden area in the summertime. The floor area of this house is 1,613 sq. ft. For information on blueprints and their cost, write to SMALL HOMES GUIDE, Dept. 1613, 621 N. Dearborn Street, Chicago 10, Ill.

BUILDING and REMODELING NEWS FOR EVERY HOME

Pointers in Planning Kitchen Arrangements

In planning for the kitchen in a new home, you should ask yourself these questions: 1. Will it have ample storage space? There should be about 10 square feet of storage space for every member in the family. 2. Will the appliances be placed properly to make them convenient to each other? For example, the refrigerator door should open next to the work counter, not away from it. 3. Will the room be surfaced with a durable yet easily cleaned material such as ceramic tile which also is fireproof and waterproof? 4. Will there be a large window? The window area should be at least one-tenth as large as the floor and preferably look out over the children's play area.

Then Wear It Again?
A man's sock makes a good applicator for waxing a floor. Fill the sock with paste wax, then run it lightly over the floor. The light pressure is sufficient to release enough wax for an even job.

HOME OWNERS QUESTION BOX

Q—Is there any way to overcome binding when sawing wood?
A—Binding is most likely to occur in long cuts, particularly if the wood is damp or green. The end of a screw driver or a wedge-shaped piece of wood should be inserted in the cut, after the saw. This will minimize binding.

Q—I have a chicken coop that's built on top of wood posts. How can I insulate the floor of the coop?
A—The insulation should be installed on the underside of the flooring. Lay mineral wool blankets between the floor joists with the vapor barrier side next to the flooring. Chicken wire should be laid under the blankets and fastened to the joists by wood strips. The wire will hold the insulation in place.

Q—What are the common causes of damp basement walls?
A—There are three frequent causes. First, the bricks or cement blocks of the foundation may be faulty, or they may be joined in a faulty way. Second, there may be cracks in the wall that were formed as the building settled and uneven weight was placed on various parts of the foundation. Last, the pressure of water on the outside of the foundation may be so great that water is forced through the pores of the foundation.

Q—My step railing is rusted. I'd like to paint it, but I'm afraid the rust will eat through the paint. Is there any kind of paint primer that will hold back the rust?
A—Scrape off the loose particles of rust, then paint the metal with red lead. Give the red lead four or five days to dry. It can then be covered with enamel. The red lead will check the rust.

December Heavens

As Christmas-time grows near, the minds of many mortals are turned toward the sky, and we are indebted to the University of Michigan astronomy department this week for a scientific description of the December heavens.

Hazel M. Losh, an associate professor, contends that "any exact astronomical explanation or timing of the Star of Bethlehem's appearance are out of the question." She says we don't have enough accurate description of the event, nor can we count on the early calendars' accuracy.

"But the bright planets are always promising and alluring," the professor adds.

"Mercury, reaching its greatest angular distance from the Sun on Christmas Day, Venus, Saturn, Mars, Jupiter—all bright planets during December—each could easily have been the Christmas star."

The constellations of December are perhaps the most striking of the whole year. "Fittingly the Northern Cross is steadily moving toward the west and may be seen to splendid advantage on Christmas Eve," the professor says. "After dark, it will stand upright against the western sky, a beautiful symbol of the Christmas season."

Sirius, in the constellation of Canis Major and brightest of all stars, will also be prominent this month. "From time immemorial," Professor Losh explains, "Sirius has been watched, admired, and revered, rising as it does in the early evening around Christmas time. It was the 'star of the east', pointed to by 'Three Wise Men' of Orion."

Appearing the brightest of all the stars, it ranks sixth in order of distance from the Earth, the light taking more than eight years to reach us. "It is about 27 times more luminous than our Sun," the professor declares.

With Christmas comes winter, which will officially open this year on Friday, Dec. 21, at 4:00 p.m. On this date, the Sun will reach the winter solstice, the most southerly point of its apparent yearly journey around the Earth.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Just Call Me Cupid

The counter down at Pete's was full yesterday, except for three seats near the end, so I plunked myself down on the middle one. As I took my first sip of coffee a cute young couple came in—a girl in her early twenties followed by a fellow perhaps a year or two older. Without saying a word, they took the only two seats left—on either side of me. Remembering my younger days, I insisted the young man take my seat so's they could be together. He hesitated at first, then finally he shrugged, grinned and said to the girl, "Well, let's make him happy. My name's 'Ricky'. What's yours?" From where I sit, there was no harm done that time, but jumping to conclusions can be embarrassing. In fact, it's sometimes mean and intolerant—like the way some folks jump to the conclusion a man's "wrong" to prefer a glass of beer over another beverage. Lack of facts coupled with lack of judgment introduces trouble.

A Policeman's Lot Is Not a Happy One

★ THINKING OUT LOUD ★

One question, sometimes controversial, sometimes personal is asked each week by The Mail of four pedestrians along Plymouth's downtown streets. This week's guests are "thinking out loud" on the question:

"In February a new state law will go into effect requiring youngsters between 16 and 18 years of age to take a driver training course to obtain a license to drive. What do you think about this requirement?"

PATRICIA TAYER, 8784 Shari: "I think it's a good idea. When you are in a school classroom you pay better attention and learn more. I'm going to take it next September when I'm 16."

FARRIEL GRADY, 180 Hamilton: "I learned how to drive from my dad on the farm when I was 13 years old, but I think learning through a driving course would be better. You can learn more about it the right way. Besides, you get a full credit."

GAIL BOWEN, 8691 Terri Drive: "If you're not taught in a proper way, you won't drive in a proper way. A teacher would have more patience than my father. I wanted to take the course this year but couldn't get it in my schedule."

BILL RUEHR, 689 N. Mill: "I'm for it. I guess my dad could teach me but it would be better if I had someone else. The instructor has gone to school to learn how to teach it. In school you don't have to pay to learn."

A large four-engine KC-97 recently took off on a 90,000-mile trip around the world. Equipped with a cosmic ray monitor, the plane will study the magnetic forces around the earth.

THE INVESTORS' FORUM

Times Are Good For Money Holders

Holders of dollars are fortunate people these days. The present demand for capital is the greatest in 25 years. That is why interest rates are soaring, much to the delight of millions of thrifty savers whose dollars have been earning too little for a long time.

This condition of affairs should lead to two important events: (1) thrift and savings habits should again be enthroned in many thrifless homes, (2) a vast amount of reinvestment should take place.

Not in three decades have savings banks, building and loan associations, and commercial banks with savings departments had a more propitious time than at present to preach the economic gospel of thrift and saving.

During my years of service with the United States Treasury Department, scores of savings societies in schools, offices, factories and industrial plants were organized. This work accomplished two great ends: (1) it taught people to be financially self-reliant, and (2) it raised money the government needed in its operations.

The big commercial bank in New York City where I served my apprenticeship maintained a dynamic public relations department. Its function was to promote not only the welfare of the institution itself but also the economic society surrounding the bank.

I think today every financial institution in America, interested as it should be in furthering the virtues of thrift and savings, should have on its executive staff a public relations officer responsible for such work. In these inflationary days, when full employment at high wages is apt to dull the thrift sense of millions of workers, it is a mistake not to promote very actively those plans that will teach people careless spending is most harmful.

In 1956-7-8-9-60, popular public talks by public relations bank officers on money and the economics of money in every important community in America would lay the foundation of a sounder country. A talk each month from October through June every year would awaken almost entirely in dollar deposits should know diversification is one of the key laws of intelligent dollar management.

Adult education in the fields of spending and saving, earning and investing is greatly needed everywhere. And what institutions can better give such instruction than banks?

Consumers' loans are over $40,000,000,000. Right in the very center of this situation are millions of people who are total strangers to thrift and saving and investment. Many of them do not realize they are riding on an economic fall.

Higher interest rates are causing so many dollar hoarders to awaken. Just as many workers in America have too few dollars in savings institutions, so are there great numbers who have too many.

Almost everybody should have a savings account where a reserve fund should always be maintained. But those thrifty people whose wealth is

TELEPHONE lines

HOW MANY TELEPHONE companies beside Michigan Bell would you say there are in this state? Five, ten, fifty? More than that; a lot more. Actually there are 121 telephone companies here, and they serve some 250,000 subscribers. These phone companies, operating in areas throughout the state, help to link your telephone to all the others in Michigan.

IT IS OFTEN SAID that the best gifts you can give are those you'd like to receive yourself. Wouldn't you like to receive, as a Christmas present, a bedroom or kitchen phone, or a phone for the den or workshop? Then wouldn't they make great gifts for Mother, Dad, or the teen-agers in your family? We can tell they've become popular as Christmas gifts because we're receiving more orders than ever before. And the cost is only a few cents a day after a small installation charge. To order beautifully packaged gift telephones for delivery before Christmas (to be placed under trees), just call your telephone Business Office.

CHRISTMAS IS GETTING closer and closer and you probably have a hundred and one things to do—presents to buy, holiday parties to plan, and lots of errands to run. Just the spot for your telephone to come to the rescue. You can shop around by phone and find out if certain items are still available and what they cost. And for planning holiday get-togethers, there's no faster, easier way than doing it by phone. Holidays and every day, there's just no end to your telephone's usefulness.

1/2 cup salad oil or shortening
1/4 cup small cooked onions (one 1 lb. can)
2 cans cream of chicken soup
1 can water
1 cup sour cream
Coat meat with mixture of flour and paprika. Pound mixture into meat: Cut in two inch cubes. Brown in oil in skillet. Transfer to 13x9x2 inch pan or large casserole. Add onions.
Combine one can cream of chicken soup and the water in skillet used for browning. Bring to boil and pour over meat.
Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 45 minutes until meat is tender. Top with 14 to 16 butter crumb dumplings. Increase oven temperature to 425 degrees. Bake for 20 to 25 minutes until deep golden brown. Serve with sauce made by heating one can cream of chicken soup and sour cream just to boiling. Serves eight.

CRIPPLED YOUNGSTERS, ages 3-12, will be recipients of the Christmas gift assortment displayed above by Patricia Ann Bishop and Louis McLean, students of Miss Neva Lovewell's freshman civics class at the high school which annually collects and donates gifts for Wayne Out-County chapter, Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults. Handicapped teenagers will be guests of Miss Lovewell's senior sociology class at an annual Christmas party to be held this Saturday from 1-4 p.m. at the Kiwanis-Girl Scout lodge.

MAKING TOYS for homeless and needy children for over 20 years has been Leo Flowers, 9055 Ball street. This year's toys will go to an orphan's home near Farmington. Flowers started many years ago making toys for his own children and when they grew up, he continued making them for needy youngsters. Flowers is shown in his basement workshop with his toys, some of which have been reconditioned, others created.

School Finance Report Heard by Planning Group

An explanation of the finances of the Plymouth Community School district highlighted the meeting last week of the Community School Planning Group at the high school.

Superintendent Russell Isbister and Business Manager Melvin Blunk explained in detail the many financial phases of school operation.

They told, for instance, that the present budget is $1,431,525 for which 3.9 percent goes for administration, 72.3 per cent for instruction, 12 per cent for operation, 1.4 per cent for maintenance, 4 per cent as fixed charges, 6.2 as auxiliary charges and 3.8 per cent for capital outlay.

Of the total receipts this year, about $666,947.98 is expected from state aid while the remaining $754,242 will come from local taxes.

Mrs. Esther Franklin gave a report as representative to the Area Cooperation Group and the membership of two more committees was announced. These committees are the Curriculum committee and the Extended Educational Opportunities committee. Jay DeMott is chairman of the Curriculum committee while Robert Dirlam is temporary chairman of the Extended Opportunities group.

There was also a report from the School Personnel Policies committee with minutes of the first two meetings presented. This committee was appointed by the board of education to discuss and summarize "the most effective school opportunities for our children by exploring and recommending school personnel policies that will promote the most effective teaching and administration."

The next meeting of the planners will be in the junior high on January 2.

Plymouth will boom when the citizens of Plymouth forget themselves long enough to work for the good of the community.

FAIRYLAND OF FAITH

by Carl Peterson

When you stop to think about some of the hazards we're all facing in the next three weeks, it's enough to make you want to disappear until it's all over. There's the collapse of the ladder just as you're hanging the star at the top of the tree... the broken ribs you get in the last-minute shopping mobs... the acute indigestion after too much plum pudding. Better check for loose bricks in the chimney, too... no use having a lawsuit from Santa on your hands!

Seriously, though... too many tragedies strike just at the time when they hurt the most: during the holiday season. Let's all strive to keep those heart-rending statistics from climbing. Watch your driving... and watch the other fellow, too.

Remember, what profit a man if he gain the whole road yet lose his own life or cause another to lose theirs.

A man who was picked up in Toronto for setting buildings on fire said he did it because "Nobody loves me." Well, I can't say I'm surprised.

A welcome gift for anyone on your list... famous White & Wyckoff personal stationery is luxuriously packaged for Christmas giving. See the "Madeira" engraved initial boxes, either in note size or full sheets.

Daisy Representative Talks on B-B Gun Shoot

A talk on how to hold a B-B gun shoot was given at the monthly dinner meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday night by David Gates of the Daisy Manufacturing company.

The club is interested in sponsoring such a shoot for youngsters between the ages of eight and 15 sometime in the spring.

Jay Hanna, chairman of the fruit cake sales reports that cakes are still available and may be obtained by calling 2784-J.

The meeting was held at the Mayflower hotel.

Reservists Learn Of Civil Defense

In one of its two regular monthly meetings, the local flight of the U.S. Air Force Reserve Squadron enjoyed the hospitality of Plymouth's fire department. Normally the group meets in the Veterans Memorial building, but on the first Tuesday meeting for December, Chief Robert McAllister invited the men to get first hand information on some of the facilities Plymouth fire department has for Civilian Defense, first aid and rescue, as well as fire fighting.

Assistant Chief Charles Groth, aided by Paul Sanders, explained and demonstrated the equipment carried in the rescue squad truck. Later Chief McAllister discussed general fire fighting techniques and strategy. Future joint meetings are planned between the Air Force Reserve unit and the Plymouth fire department for both offer a great measure of security to Plymouth citizens—the fire department for community safety and the Air Reserve for national security. Former Air Force men would enjoy the program scheduled for the local unit on two Tuesdays each month, Veterans Memorial Building, 7:30 p.m.

Men In Service

Roderic B. Willard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Willard of 1163 Junction, Plymouth, Mich., has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.

Relatives and friends of many of the new Marines were on hand to witness the graduation ceremonies. The 12-week training schedule included drill, bayonet training, physical conditioning, parades and ceremonies, and other military subjects. Three weeks were spent on the rifle range where the recruits fired the M-1 rifle and received instruction in basic Marine infantry weapons.

Marines Still Looking for Toys

The popular picture of Santa Claus is of a man in a red suit rimmed with white fur—but the busy "Santas" in the Plymouth area are young men who wear green uniforms, many of them trimmed with campaign ribbons. That's because members of the 15th Special Infantry Company of the United States Marine Corps Reserve are again collecting "Toys For Tots"—toys that will say, "Merry Christmas" to less fortunate children in our area. Right now, these spare-time Marines—men who work, live or go to school in the Plymouth area—are busy getting together the games, dolls, toy trucks, and other gifts which will mean happy holidays for children who might otherwise find Christmas "just another day". Aiding the Marine Reservists in this mammoth collection activity is the Reverend Charles Holland of the United Lutheran church, phone 1695-M. Once the toys donated by the generous citizens of the area are collected at the Marine Corps Reserve Training Center in Dearborn, and sorted according to the specific needs of welfare groups, hospitals and orphanages, they will be distributed. The Marine Reservists have set up collecting stations at most all Shell Oil Co. gas stations in the area.

SOCIAL NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing will be hosts Saturday evening to members of their contract bridge group following dinner. Those attending are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allison Mr. and Mrs. George Bauer, Mr. and Mrs. David Wood, Mr. and Mrs. David Math-

TELL US YOUR PROBLEM

AND LET US PASS IT ON TO HELP OTHERS IN SOLVING THEIRS

BY JOHN and JANE STRICKLAND

FOR FIVE years George Waters had been in charge of a department for his firm that had kept his mind occupied day and night, even in his dreams. Naturally after some 60 months of constant application to one subject, he had got to the point where he neither lived, ate nor slept like a normal man. In fact, he had little appetite, slept fitfully, and hardly knew whether or not he was living. His disposition, too, suffered, and through it, his wife and children. He was fast becoming like the man whom he had replaced in the job, and who when he retired was known by his neighbors as "that Old Crank Patterson."

One day he saw "that Old Crank Patterson" and there came to him this thought, "There unless the Grace of God intervenes, am I!" But he saw no solution to the solving of his problem. As he came near the old man, he stopped and talked to him, finding him, as always, interested to know how George was getting along in the job. George found that this worn-out older man was proud of one thing: when he had retired, he hadn't had a vacation for twenty years!

Now that he had stopped, he not only didn't know how to enjoy his leisure, but he wasn't physically able to enjoy it if he had known. He was a very disgruntled man.

George left him with the determination that he was not going to be like his predecessor. He wanted to pass a flower shop. He had always liked flowers, so he stopped and gazed at the potted plants, decided he'd buy one. He also bought some plant food.

Every night he looked at that plant, feeding and watering it at regular intervals. Spring came shortly and he put his plant out of doors and gave it some neighbors of its own kind. Before summer was over George had a lovely flower garden. And for some reason, he was sleeping better, his appetite had returned and his wife was taking a most pleasurable interest in his flowers.

Then, all of a sudden, he realized what had happened. Working in his garden had brought relaxation, a change of scene and thought.

Not only that, but his business acumen had increased because of his absenting himself from the thought of business for at least a part of the time.

TIPS for TEENS

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Are you a party-girl? You've probably discovered that you can't be a party-goer and enjoy the fun of your friends' parties unless you're a party-giver sometimes, too. One of the first rules of etiquette—good manners—is to entertain those who have entertained you. It's easier and more successful if you plan your party in advance. If this is your first one, ask a friend to help you organize it and run things, as a sort of assistant-hostess, if you like. Your parents should be there, but not always in the room where the party is held.

Guests—Make a guest-list, for it's important to invite people who have invited you to their parties and not leave out good friends. Try to invite boys and girls who know each other . . . the right number for your home and budget.

Invitations—Invite the guests when you see them or by telephone, by note, card or with invitations that you make in the theme of the party. . . winter sports, kids, come-as-you were, etc. It's a good idea to ask the boys verbally first, then send each guest an invitation with your telephone number on it. Invite them a week or two in advance.

Entertainment—Plan and prepare it ahead with enough variety in games, record-playing, and conversation to keep things going. Make dancing the highlight, if possible. When the party lags and boys gather in a group or couples begin to get ideas about necking, begin another game or dance that you have ready in reserve—a lively one! Or serve refreshments.

As hostess—You greet guests first when they arrive. If they come in couples, speak to the girl first, then the boy. In introductions, always introduce the boy to the girl—"Sue, this is Bob Smith. Bob—Sue Brown." Introduce a group to a girl and a boy to the group. Help shy ones get into the act. Make each guest feel that the red carpet is out for him or her.

(For free printed tips on games for party fun, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.)

Council Earmarks Funds For CARE, Hungarian Aid

Twenty dollars will be donated to CARE and the Hungarian Relief fund by the Plymouth high school student council, it was decided at the December 5 meeting of the group.

Ten dollars will go to the Care Crusade which operates through U. S. Government surplus and another $10 to the Hungarian Relief fund, whose contributions will finance a refugee camp on the Austro-Hungarian borders.

The Christmas assembly will be presented fourth, fifth, and sixth hours for the ninth, 10th, 11th and 12th grades, respectively. It will feature a song fest, an all-school play, skits and entertainment by teachers and selections by the high school choir, under the direction of Fred Nelson.

Students Painting Santa Mail Box For Kellogg Park

Gary Wilson, George Davis, and Sam Gregory have been busy this past week painting a "Letter to Santa" mail box. All are students of Mrs. Frances Overton, high school art teacher.

When completed the box will be placed in Kellogg Park, where children can put their letters to Santa in it. The box is white, with holly around it and the base post. The design is a blocked-in technique with yellow highlights and black shadows.

There are two shades of flesh tones on the Santa face, the beard and cap in white with blue shadows. Everything is outlined in black.

Also getting ready for Christmas is the 6th hour advanced art class. They are painting their own designs on wooden objects such as candle sticks, trays, bowls, and jewelry boxes. First the design is painted on, then shellacked and sanded three times. Finally it is varnished or lacquered.

Annual Staff in Charge Of Game Concessions

The Annual staff will take charge of the concessions committee for the coming basketball game tomorrow, December 14, with Belleville.

Other groups taking charge of concessions will be the Future Nurses club on January 11 with Trenton; FHA club on January 25 with Allen Park; Pilgrim Prints staff on February 8 with Bentley.

Also, there will be a game February 25 against Redford Union, Y-Teens taking concessions.

The Chess club will take charge of concessions for the March 1 game against Hamtramck; the choir will take charge of concessions with the last game here, March 8 with Monroe.

Groups in charge of concessions will use their money for several school activities.

Seventh, Eighth Graders Sponsor "Santa's Swing"

Santa's Swing was the theme for the seventh and eighth graders' junior high dance, held Friday, December 7, from 8-10 in the high school auditorium.

Advisors for the dance were seventh and eighth grade English teachers, Mrs. Mary Jane Cook, Mrs. Lois Neil and Mrs. Barbara Birmingham.

The junior high students danced to recorded music and enjoyed cookies and punch for refreshments.

Volleyball Tournament, New After-School Activity for GAA

A volleyball tournament is a new activity for members of the Girls' Athletic Association of Plymouth high school for their after-school sport, Monday afternoon from 3:30 to 4:30.

The first part of the hour is spent for practicing and at 4:50 the game begins. The girls play for 20 minutes at the end of which half time is called and the teams change courts. For the remainder of the period the second half is played. Nine members of the team must play or the team is disqualified.

Manager for volleyball is Sandra Davis. The following were chosen the first afternoon of playing: Nancy Eaton, Julie Stecker, Linda Jordahl, Joy Kalmbach, Sally Mathias and Karen West.

Future plans for the club consist of a teacher's playday when the girls will challenge the teachers to a game in some sport; a playday with another school which is not a member of the GAA league; a special meeting where awards will be given out to members who have earned letters; and scheduled playdays with Bellville, Redford Union and Allen Park.

The following girls attended a squad playday at Bentley high school on December 4: Barbara Booth, Nancy Alford, Marilyn Walters, Marie Bolen, Judy Henry, Gloria Bowles, Judy Nagy, Sue Horvath, Carleen Allen and Sue Nather. Sponsor for the club is Mrs. Louise Cigile.

Home Economics Class Set for Turkey Dinner

Mrs. Pauline Morgan's junior high home economics first-hour class will have a turkey dinner Wednesday, December 13.

The girls will prepare the dinner themselves in the junior high home-making room.

Money for the dinner was raised by sponsoring a bake sale for which the class baked their own pastries and candies. The event was held Tuesday, November 27.

New Arrivals in the School Library

Many new books have been arriving at the Plymouth high school library lately. In the military school category there are "Annapolis-The Life of a Midshipman", a picture story by Jack Engeman; and "Cadet Gray", a pictorial history of life at West Point by Frederick P. Todd, Col. U.S.A.R.

"Keen Teens" by Stookie Allen shows a hundred and one ways for teen-agers to earn money. "Dick Button on Skates" is an autobiographical book describing the skating champion's climb to success and gives simple instructions on how to skate.

Two more "how to" books are "Introduction to Cartooning", by R. Taylor, giving down-to-earth instructions; and "Our Language", story of the words we use, by Sloise Lambert.

The life and music of George Gershwin are told in "A Journey to Greatness" by David Eweb. "America's First Cowgirl", by Beth Day, tells the story of Lucille Mulhall, the world's champion ropier and one of America's greatest horsewomen.

"Deliver Us From Evil", by Thomas A. Dooley, M.D., tells the fantastic experiences of a navy doctor among the terrorized Vietnamese victims of the Communists. Anti-G suits, thermal barrier, and ejection seats are explained in "Survival in the Sky", by Charles Coombs.

Three new fiction books are also in the library. "Green Door to the Sea," by Erick Berry tells how a girl with polio learned to depend on herself and found her way back to health and happiness.

"Hank Winton, Smokechaser" by Montgomery M. Atwater, is the story of a newcomer to the ranks who finds life in the forest service exciting, dangerous and rewarding. "The Smiling Rebel" is a novel based on the life of Belle Boyd by Harnett Kane.

Provide Shopping Services For Hospitalized Vets

Christmas gift shops where everything is free, even gift-wrapping and mailing, have opened in hospitals throughout the nation where sick and disabled war veterans are confined as part of the American Legion Auxiliary's rehabilitation program.

Mrs. Mildred Hewer, rehabilitation chairman of Passage-Gay-De unit of the Auxiliary, reported that more than 200 such hospital shops are now being operated by the Auxiliary for benefit of the disabled war veterans who will select gifts to be sent home to their families. Those not able to come to the shops will make selections from hospital carts loaded with gift articles wheeled to their bedsides by Auxiliary volunteer workers.

The local Auxiliary unit has contributed to gift shops operated at the VA hospital in Ann Arbor and supplied volunteer workers for the gift shop at the VA hospital in Dearborn. Articles for the hospital's gift shop were recently distributed by Mildred Hewer and Fern Burselon.

"Auxiliary Units throughout the country have been working for months, raising the money, making and purchasing the gifts with which to stock the shops," said Mrs. Hewer. "Gifts for children and women predominate. The hospitals provide rooms, which we decorate as gaily as any store at Christmas time. They only operate for a week or so until all of our 'customers' have completed their shopping, but they bring to the hospitalized veterans the joy of Christmas giving, which is the most appreciated Christmas gift we can give them."

"Last year, the Auxiliary operated 223 gift shops, expending $436,231.76 in the activity as part of our Christmas remembrance for men who defended America."

HEALTH & BEAUTY

SKIN CAN BE IMPROVED

A thick, tough looking skin is one of the greatest detriments to good looks short of an unsightly skin disease, that there is.

Some people are born with lovely, almost translucent complexions. Others come into the world with thick, greasy looking skin that are a trial to them all their lives. Art can do something to camouflage such unsightliness but knowledge and a determination to improve the condition can sometimes transform the ugly duckling into a very personable and good looking individual.

Skins that look tough and rough as a rule have been neglected. The circulation is sluggish and the pores are not functioning well. Sometimes they are choked with black-heads which give the face a very dirty look. If you run your fingers over the surface it feels rough and bumpy. Sometimes these conditions are brought on by constipation, which means wrong diet. Loaded, stagnating colons where the rotting fecal matter lies until forced out by drastic drugs, keep the intestinal tract constantly inflamed and irritated. Such colons constantly absorb poisons through the surface of the mucous membranes.

To improve a skin caused by such a condition, the sufferer must cure constipation. A diet consisting entirely of starches and meats produces stubborn constipation especially when the starches are composed of white flour, polished rice, or grits, and denatured foods of that kind.

They not only fail to furnish nutriment, but they are almost destitute of minerals and vitamin. All animals need abundant roughage in the diet such as the bran in whole wheat, the fibers of vegetables and the juices of fruits, all of which encourage the bowels to act normally daily, and to carry out the poisons with the fecal matter.

The constant taking of cathartics not only keeps the intestines irritated but liquifies the fecal matter, thus rendering it more absorbable. It is easily taken up by the body and poisons the whole system. As a rule this results in a thick, muddy, unhealthy looking complexion.

Clear up the constipation by proper diet and take a certain amount of exercise daily in the open air. A little healthy sweating will open the pores, enabling them to pour out their stagnating contents and thus clean themselves.

A daily morning bath or shower is very beneficial, especially if the body is briskly rubbed with a bath brush. This is not only very exhilarating, but it starts the blood racing through the lungs where it drops its load of poisons to be breathed out and then takes on its load of life giving oxygen that helps to burn up the impurities.

After the bath, a few setting up exercises and another glass of water (take the first on rising) all help to invigorate the body and carry off poisons. If the diet is correct the bowels will move normally, unless years of disease and bad habits have rendered them too lazy and torpid.

Of course, the thick, ugly skin must also receive local treatment. Scrubbing every morning either with a crash wash cloth or a complexion brush that is not injured by water. The brush is best. Use a mild soap and plenty of it. Rinse all the soap off, and then use plenty of cold water, to tone up the sluggish skin. After the above treatment, massage your face well with a cream, and wipe it all off thoroughly. Much dirt will come with it. Lastly, smooth on a thin layer of greaseless lotion. Leave on a few moments, remove excess with a soft cloth, then put on your make up.

Prices, it appears, have heard that there's more room at the top.

Urges Student Vaccination Against Polio

The incidence of polio in high school students is great stated Mrs. Mary Carless, school nurse, who urges all students to have the Salk vaccine.

Everyone can obtain the vaccine from his family doctor, she continued. The vaccine is given in three shots, the second dose to be given within one to 12 months after the first, while the third is not given until at least six months after the second.

Millions of doses of vaccine have been given in Michigan with good results. Reported statistics show that polio vaccine can prevent paralysis eight or nine times out of ten.

The vaccine will greatly reduce the likelihood of crippling damage; however it will not protect against getting polio. It is not yet known how long the protection will last, but it is expected to last for several years.

Students Take Tour Of Recorder's Court

A visit to Recorder's court in Wayne was taken yesterday, December 12, by Mrs. Crystena Soule's Home and Family Living class. The students were at the court all day, touring and observing the methods of crime detection and courtroom procedure.

Only divorce cases, murders, robberies and similar crimes are tried at Recorder's court. The class spent most of its time sitting in on different courts. Family problems and divorce cases were of main interest to the students.

The trip also included a tour of Wayne County jail and the fingerprinting department.

Rosedale Gardens

Eight Year Olds Stay Up Late for Party . .

Nancy Loucks, Cranston, celebrated her birthday with a dinner for several friends last week. Present were Peggy and Carolyn Core, Patty Lou Bollman, Susan Dowell, Janis Rich, Barbara and Martha Nabrezy and Connie Sullivan.

Greg Arnold, 9837 Westmore, celebrated his 8th birthday Wednesday, December 5th with a party from 7 to 9 p.m. Staying up "late" were: Michael Bradford, Pricilla Jenkins, John Larson, Susan Linabury, Diana McLaren, Thomas Pickles, Patricia Randall, Karen Stanley, David Falsetti and Tyra Hilgers.

Mr. and Mrs. Talmadge Creswell and their two children are newcomers to Rosedale Gardens. They have just moved in at 9911 Westmore.

The 4th grade Brownie troop at Grant School is disbanding, we hear, because several of its members have been transferred to Garfield School.

A farewell party was given Tuesday, December 4th for Mary Louise Hess, formerly of Westmore street, who has moved to Dearborn Township. The party was held at the home of Rosemary Hilgers, also of Westmore, and Marlene Allen, Rosemary, Jackie Sechin, Shirley Meade and the guest of honor all had an enjoyable evening, and the girls gave Mary Louise a farewell present.

Sixth graders, under the direction of their teachers, Mrs. Clara Lutz and Jack Young, gave a Christmas tableau with acting and music as the program for Rosedale School's P.T.A. meeting Wednesday, December 4th.

Jean and Stan Gizowski, Vermont street, celebrated their 12th wedding anniversary last week, and Stan really showed his appreciation for a good wife, by cooking dinner of barbecued chicken. Wouldn't this be a fine custom for all the men in Rosedale Gardens to adopt? And, really, men, hamburgers would do, or anything at all as long as the dishes were done, too!

Leo Shultz, 10, celebrated his birthday Friday, December 7th with a few friends in for a party.

There was a potluck dinner at Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church December 2nd from 6 to 7 p.m. for the three choirs—junior high, girls and adult. The groups sang carols in the sanctuary prior to the dinner, and Mrs. Washburn was the speaker, speaking on Symbols of Advent.

Sandra Stewart 4, Louisiana st., had a birthday party Tuesday, December 4th. Small guests included Carol Roberts, Mary Roberts, Susan Wendt, Cliff Durfee, Wally Gardner, and brother Bobby Stewart.

Sorry to hear that the Schroeder's little boy fell down the basement stairs last week and had to go to the hospital, and will be glad to hear how he is getting along. The Schroeders live on Oregon.

The Junior High Group at Rosedale Presbyterian Church met December 2nd from 2 to 5 for a short weekly meeting. The boys and girls played games and made plans for future meetings. Ginny Klenk talked to them on the meaning of the symbols of Advent, which is the 4 week period before Christmas.

Donna and Diana Felice, 6 year old twins who live on Westmore, celebrated their birthday December 4th with a small party at their home.

Nancy and Ed Roberts of Louisiana have a new baby girl—Angela Mae—born at Providence Hospital last week. Angela weighed 8 pounds. The Roberts have 4 other children—3 girls and 1 boy.

Virginia Kobiata, Vermont street, entertained her Pinochle club at her home Thursday evening, November 29th.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Duncan, Vermont street, are the proud parents of a son, Robert Hollan, born at Harper Hospital Thursday, November 29th.

The "Cup and Saucer Collectors" Pinochle club met at the home of Marge Boss on Mayfield Monday evening, December 3rd. Betty Holman was first prize winner.

The Altar Society of St. Michael Church had its Christmas pot luck dinner at the church hall December 2nd at 6:30 p.m., with a record breaking attendance of 285 women. After the dinner there was a party, and grab bag gifts for all. Novena devotions were held.

The Couples' Club of Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church held their monthly meeting Friday in the church basement with a square dance. All age groups are welcome, and if you can't dance, don't stay away, because Bob Carson, caller from Plymouth and his wife Betty instruct so well that you're dancing like old timers in no time at all!

Anyone interested in baby sitting is asked to register with Rosedale Presbyterian church. Call GA. 2-0494.

Marilyn Pomroy, Vermont street, celebrated her 14th birthday Thursday, December 6th with a family dinner. Present were Mom and Pop, Grandpa and Grandma Ogden, of Nankin Township, brother Don, sister Leslie, and friend Connie Conway. Marilyn received many lovely gifts, a rousing chorus of "Happy Birthday to You" and we served her favorite fruit—pork-chops!

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Snowberger, Oregon street, entertained their couples' bridge club Saturday, December 3rd. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Culver, Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Beerbower, Northville, and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Sheppard, Birmingham.

Wayne Conway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Quick of Vermont street, attended the Junior Prom at Bentley High Saturday night, December 1st and took Annmay Johnson as his date. Annmay looked lovely in a gown of red velvet and net. Before the couple left for the prom Wayne's aunt, Jackie Sheldon, took colored movies of them, which we sure hope we get to see! After the Prom Wayne and Annmay had dinner at Paul's.

Dick Sheldon, Louisiana street, brought home the "bacon" from the hunting trip last week in the form of a buck.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hess, formerly of Westmore street, and their two little sons are now living in their new home in Dearborn Township.

Mrs. Quick, Vermont street, entertained her aunt, Mrs. Edward Willman of Felch, Michigan, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lantz of Iron Mountain, Michigan and her sister Jackie Shelden and Jackie's two little girls at her home Tuesday, December 4th at a luncheon. Mr. and Mrs. Lantz are spending the winter in this area, visiting their various children.

The Rosedale Gardens Civic Association met Thursday, December 6th at 8:30 p.m. at the clubhouse on Hubbard. There was a brief business meeting, and then Ed Bradford, area representative to the Traffic Commission, spoke on traffic plans and problems of the area. At 9:30 a movie "Our Mr. Sun" was shown. This movie was a nation wide T.V. spectacular a few weeks ago, and was in full color, using actors and animated characters and animation and filmed scenes from all over the world. The presentation of this fine film was made possible by the program chairman, Bob Page. After the film refreshments were served by the Nursery School mothers.

The Rosedale Gardens Civic Association New Year's Eve Dance plans are complete, and from what we hear this is going to be the best one ever! Danny Del Grosso's orchestra from Dearborn is going to play from 10:00 to 2:00 and the caterers for the midnight supper are Karl and Lucille.

Members of the civic association can get tickets from Bob Clogg, Les Core, Bob Durivage, Oscar Heitner, Peg Jenkins, Bob Page, and Rita Seelinger and they will cost $10 per couple. That's right, ten dollars, which seems like a big bargain to us, especially when you consider that you'll be practically home at the end of the dance, and will have no traffic problem, which at best on New Year's Eve isn't good.

On, but not before, December 15th you will be able to get tickets for guest couples. These will cost $12.50.

The annual Christmas decoration contest time is here, so get your house and grounds all decorated up in the Christmas theme and see if you can win a prize! The three categories will be most original, yuletide, and religious, and judging will take place during Christmas week. Even if we can't all win prizes, it sure would be nice to all make an effort to make Rosedale Gardens a show-place at Christmas time, so THINK!

The Grant P.T.A. met Wednesday, December 5th in the multipurpose room and newly elected officers were sworn into office. Mrs. Sperry, principal, and the teaching staff gave the new president, Aline Hultquist, a beautiful orchid, and Mrs. Sperry presented her with a shiny new and be-ribboned gavel.

The meeting then broke up into various circles—membership, publicity, ways and means, program, and hospitality, to exchange ideas and arrive at plans for the future along these lines.

Committee chairmen are: Pat Bowers, membership; Betty Dana, publicity; Vern Patterson, ways and means; Larry Rosenthal, program; and Lenore La Pyrne, hospitality. The business meeting adjourned at 9:00 p.m. and coffee and cookies were served by the 2nd grade mothers, and everyone enjoyed a social hour with timely background music of Christmas carols sung by a choir from St. Andrews Episcopal church.

Tonight is the night when the Women's Club is holding their annual Smorgasbord and Christmas decorating party at the clubhouse. The last we heard, there were still a very few tickets left, but we don't guarantee that they still are. This affair is open to members of Rosedale Gardens Civic Association only, and we will be there, and report more on it next week.

A Boy Scout Explorer Post is being formed under the sponsorship of the Civic Association. Call Les Core for details—GA. 1-1654.

Just about everyone you talk to these days is getting "shot" on account of the diptheria scare, and the Pomroy family went en masse—Grandma and Grandpa, Mom and Pop, Don, Marilyn, and Leslie. Leslie, the fearless, who never cries or complains at the doctor's office, surprised one and all by walking out of the doctor's lab, declaring it didn't hurt a bit, and fainting dead away, resulting in a king-size jump on the noggin, and a trip back into the inner sanctum to be revived. We're not sure that this had a very good effect on the children in the waiting room—they must have thought that the doctor sure was handing out powerful shots!

We are very glad to hear that Carson Johnston, Cranston street, is recovering from his illness. Mr. Johnston, as probably every body knows, is Chairman of the Sewer and Water Board, and has been ill for quite some time. Welcome home, Mr. Johnston, everyone has missed you and hopes to see you at Civic soon!

Anyone want to buy a sturdy table for their recreation room real cheap? The tables in the clubhouse basement are being sold at $5.00 each, and will be sold singly or in lots. These would be good for Sunday Schools, too, and are well worth investigating. Call Bob Clogg, GA. 1-8525. The reason for selling these, we guess, is that we don't need the tables, and we do need some money for a refrigerator.

By the way, Membership Committee report has it that the Civic Association now has 320 names on the roster in the Clubhouse. Bob Durivage is certainly to be congratulated for a job well done! Well, I guess that just about ties it up for another week, and since it looks like you're going to be hearing from me regularly from now on, how about phoning me some news of your "doings" at GA. 1-5231.

REPORT, British Medical Journal: "The evidence must be accepted as indicating beyond doubt that giving up smoking does diminish the liability of a smoker to subsequent development of lung cancer."

Theatre Guild Set For Yule Party

Plymouth Theatre Guild will mark the season with its annual Christmas party scheduled for tomorrow night, December 14, replacing the customary meeting date of December 17.

Festivities will get underway at 8 p.m. at the L & J Ranch, 37910 Amrhein road, Livonia. Highlighting the affair will be a Smorgasbord buffet to be followed by an entertainment program and dancing. Colored slides of the Guild's first fall production, "Strange Boarders," will also be shown.

Inactive members wishing to attend may call Mrs. Lloyd England, chairman of the event. Additional card tables are also being sought. Anyone wishing to donate theirs for the evening may call Mrs. England. The chairman is being assisted by Jean Fronk, Rosemary Koolman, Alice Wright and Jean Scott.

From the East Oklahoma Tribune, Vian, Oklahoma: Like a giant, threadbare ball that's been pummeled unmercifully, the civilized world seems to be splitting at the seams.

Russia has been the Captain of one team, the Satellites. Uncle Sam has been calling signals for the Western power squad.

But now we find both sides breaking training rules. In a single urge the players on both sides seem to have begun throwing dust in the eyes of their respective captains.

Poland and Hungary laid down the law to their Big Bear coach until he can no longer control their plays peaceably, so he's trying other tactics.

John Bull and France called a special huddle and came up with fantastic plays, deliberately calculated to catch their trusting captain unawares. On one end play they teamed together to run interference for Israel, and in effect, became the aggressors in what may touch off disastrous losses.

Incidentally, these two team mates which Uncle Sam has trusted so faithfully, have diverted world attention from a losing Big Bear squad to this unheard of revolt against their captain and confidant. If they lose the crucial game, it will be because they beat themselves. They not only disregarded their captain's caution, but defied his coaching brazenly. Deep down, Uncle Sam has spoiled his adopted brats as well as half the people of the crazy spinning universe. He's laddled out billions to them, including some of the gear used in this new contest. Sadly, their gratitude has turned to deceit and scorn . . .

From the Dove Creek Press, Dove Creek, Colorado: Judging by news reports of automobile accidents, modern cars with their multi-hundred horsepower engines and super-sonic speeds react in strange ways to the temperaments of their drivers. Almost daily one reads "car left highway on curve, crashed into tree and killed driver." Or "car pulled out of traffic line without warning, struck oncoming car head-on—occupants of both cars dead." Or "car went out of control and rolled over bank into river—bodies not yet found."

Owners must be protected from the irresponsible actions of cars or it will soon be suicide to drive one of them. One way to show your car you are boss when it shows signs of taking the "bit into its teeth" is to cut its feed supply and spur it with well adjusted brakes—that might teach it a lesson, if you live through the experiment.

'Rabbit Legs' Win Another for Plymouth High Cagers

Contest Winners Bask in Florida Sunshine

Although they had won the trip last June, Mr. and Mrs. John Schwartz, 8157 Lily road, decided to wait until they could more fully appreciate the weather while visiting in Florida as guests of the Plymouth Community Stamp company.

Two Florida trips for two were second prizes in the $10,000 Community Stamp contest which ran during the first half of this year. Mr. and Mrs. James Davis, 11896 Jurell, won the other trip and took it last fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz left by plane from Willow Run last Saturday morning and will be gone a week. Their all-expense paid trip included a stay at the Delano hotel at Miami Beach, Rent-A-Car service and $50 in spending money.

The contest required contestants to tell why they liked Community Stamps.

Allen Park Worn Out, 65 to 54

Just call the men of the Plymouth High basketball squad "rabbit legs."

They wore down another opponent, Allen Park, there Friday night to take a 65 to 54 victory, coming from behind to do it. The only logical analysis was that Allen Park simply folded under the pressure of the Rocks' restless running style.

That made it two victories and no defeats for Plymouth for the season, with Belleville coming here to open home competition this Friday night.

Allen Park led, 21 to 14 after one quarter and 37 to 33 at half-time, but they were being worn down. They had consumed all but one of their legal timeouts before the halftime intermission. When the Allen Park squad reported to the floor five minutes late after the recess, Plymouth Coach Charley Ketterer asked the Allen Park coach, "How come you're late? You want some extra rest?" He replied, "We need it." Quipped Ketterer, "Maybe you do, but I don't want you to have it."

In the second half, Plymouth outscored Allen Park by 32 to 17. The significance was that the pattern of attack was the same as Plymouth employed in defeating Northville the previous week. Plymouth players stayed on the floor for only three or four minutes at a stretch with instructions to go at top speed at all times. Then they were replaced by men who had been freshening-up on the bench.

Plymouth's shooting eyes were more accurate in the later stages of the game than at the start. They finished with a 37 percent mark; 25 field goals on 67 shots. Allen Park had 36 percent on 18 baskets in 50 shots, but Allen Park only was able to get 13 shots during the whole second half.

Senior Bob Jenkins was the leading Plymouth scorer with 16 points. Ken Calhoun netted 11 and seven others shared in the accumulation. For Allen Park, the leader was Tom Tresh (son of the old big league baseball catcher, Mike Tresh) with 7 field goals and 8 free throws for 22 points.

SPORTS CORNER

YOUNG CHAMP . . . NEW York's Floyd Patterson, 21, knocked out Archie Moore, 39, in 5th round of Chicago bout to become youngest world's heavyweight champion.

This an' That

The first Brooklyn Dodger to ink a contract for the next baseball season was the ever-popular Pee Wee Reese, who signed for a figure estimated at close to $40,000. The oldest player in the National League in point of service (since ageless Enos Slaughter transferred to the American League) Pee Wee had one of his best years in 1956, despite a spring training back injury which hampered him considerably at the start of the season. The 38-year-old Reese has been with the Dodgers for 14 seasons, not counting three years spent in military service . . . Charles Peete, the Omaha Cardinals baseball player killed in a Venezuelan plane crash, was set for a major league chance next year. Peete was the Triple-A American Association batting champion last year with a .350 batting average. He had been placed on the spring training roster by the parent St. Louis Cardinals and was on his way to join

Rock Swimmers Sink Belleville

Plymouth High swimmers swept first place in every individual event on the card and submerged Belleville, 60 to 32, in a dual meet here Thursday.

Belleville took the two relay events, however. They won the 200 yard medley relay on a disqualification to Plymouth for missing a turn and captured the 200 yard freestyle when their quartet finished a tenth of a second faster than the Rocks.

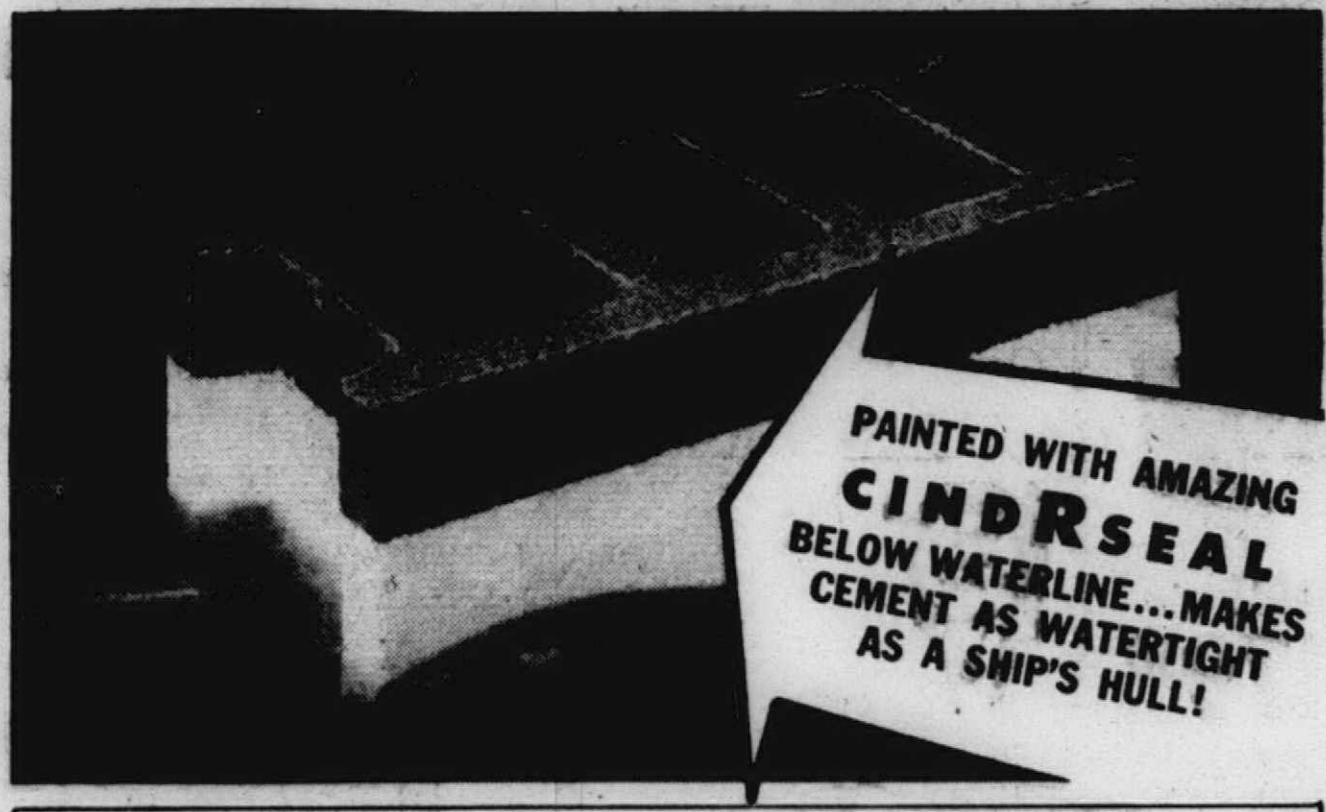

Jack Vincent was a double winner, surging to the finish line first in both the 50 and 100 yard freestyle.

Bob Isbister won the butterfly breaststroke; Jim Carney the 200 yard freestyle; Bruce Curtis the 100 yard backstroke; Mike Todd the 100 yard breaststroke; Dick Moulton the diving; and Ed Stretanski the 150 yard individual medley.

Todd's clocking of 1:16.1 in the breaststroke was a team record. Plymouth swimmers finished one-two in five of the eight individual events.

NEW CINDRSEAL KEEPS BASEMENTS DRY So Watertight It Makes Cement Block Float!

WATER-REPELLANT AGENT IN CINDR-SEAL proves 100% effective in this dramatic test. Photograph shows how one coat of CINDR-SEAL applied to ordinary cement block actually seals pores so tightly that heavy block floats in water.

Decorator Colors Bring Life To Basement Walls

Home decorators who have long despised the warping colors on basement walls they enjoy in upstairs rooms have a pleasant surprise coming from CINDR-SEAL. The color chart for CINDR-SEAL reads like a Painters' Field Day. It offers such mouth watering hues as Citron, Sandalwood, Straw, Aquamarine, Starlight, Mint, Carnation, and Sage—plus white, of course. In less flowery language, these exotic shades are smart decorator pastels—delicate blues and greens, dusty pink, beige, sunshine yellow. They offer an infinite variety of decorative schemes for the basement . . . bring life and light where it is needed most. Now for the first time, you can give your imagination free rein . . . devise a decorative scheme for your recreation room walls to match the wonderful color selection available in tiled floors. And these glowing wall colors will not streak or fade.

CINDRSEAL Resists Mildew, Fungus, Alkali and Lime

Since basement walls are inherently damp and prone to mildew, the makers of CINDR-SEAL have formulated an anti-fungus agent right into the paint. They have also made CINDR-SEAL lime proof to resist the chemical action of the masonry wall. Thus CINDR-SEAL'S beautiful colors will not fade or burn out as a result of lime seepage, salts or alkali conditions. Moreover, the walls can be washed and scrubbed time after time without harming the paint in any way. Most water-mixed paints cannot.

Do-It-Yourself! home decorators know that the cost of paint is only half the story. Labor is an important factor, too. And even though the non-professional's time is "free," any paint that saves work and man hours is worth a few cents more in price. Right here is where CINDR-SEAL pays a double dividend. A POLY-RESINOL BASE CINDR-SEAL PAINT JOB COSTS NO MORE THAN AN ORDINARY WATER-MIXED PAINT JOB. True, CINDR-SEAL costs more per gallon, but only one coat is required instead of two coats of water-mixed paint. So costwise there is little difference. But from the labor-saving standpoint, CINDR-SEAL is miles ahead! It requires no messy stirring or mixing, no wetting down, of basement walls before or after use. You can paint without wearing hip boots or a raincoat. CINDR-SEAL goes on without lap marks. You can stop and start anytime.

CINDRSEAL Truly A "Paint That Breathes" Water Won't Collect Behind Paint Film To Cause Blisters, Chipping or Peeling

The best way to explain technical terms to a woman is to use comparisons she understands. CINDR-SEAL compares with old-fashioned masonry paints the same way a modern giraffe compares with an ancient camel. The camel had rigid steel stays with no "give." The modern giraffe is a miracle of lightness and elasticity; it restrains bulges, but yields under stress and allows breathing.

Got A Scientific Mind? Read This!

The sensational new ingredient that sets CINDR-SEAL apart in a class by itself is called POLY-PALE-PICCOLASTIC RESIN. It has a formulated base that is highly water repellent, plus characteristic that allow for elasticity without shrinkage. POLY-PALE-PICCOLASTIC RESIN is a magic ingredient found only in this ready-mixed basement wall paint. Its unique properties are what give CINDR-SEAL the exclusive qualities we have mentioned above . . . and why there is nothing else remotely resembling CINDR-SEAL on the market. One word of caution: CINDR-SEAL is a specialized product developed exclusively for basement walls and nothing else. Don't expect it to be a "Jack-of-all-trades." It's the best product in the world for the job it is designed to do—KEEPING BASEMENTS DRY.

Miracle "Heavy Paint" Discovery Developed Exclusively To Protect Basement Walls

CINDRSEAL Only Ready Mixed Ready-to-use Basement Wall Paint
CINDRSEAL Covers Any Basement Wall Wet or Dry, Painted or Unpainted, In One Easily Applied Coat

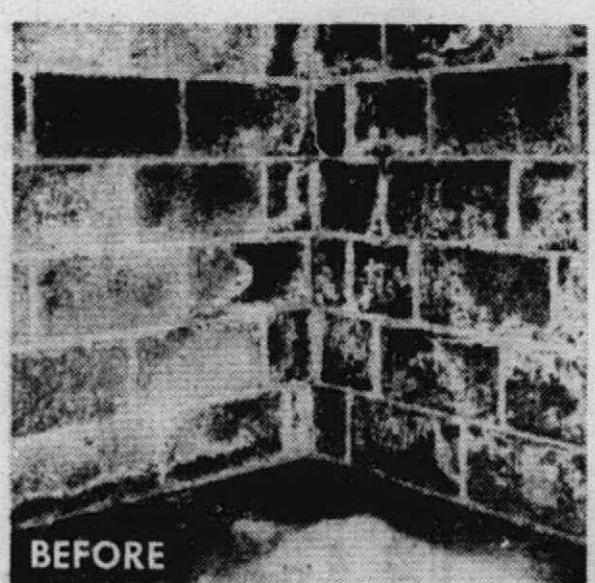

Score another triumph for Science Paint chemistry that converted a brand new "test tube miracle" into a practical commercial product eagerly awaited by thousands of home owners. CINDR-SEAL, amazing new "heavy paint" discovery, actually accomplishes what all previous "water resistant" and "moisture resistant" paints have never quite been able to: In one easily applied coat, without messy mixing, stirring or soaking, it fills and seals the pores in cinder block or concrete walls so tightly and thoroughly that no water can come through.

In fact, as the photograph above shows, a cement block that normally would sink to the bottom like a stone has actually been made to float . . . simply by painting it with CINDR-SEAL below the water line, sealing the pores in the cement and making the block as buoyant as a ship's hull!

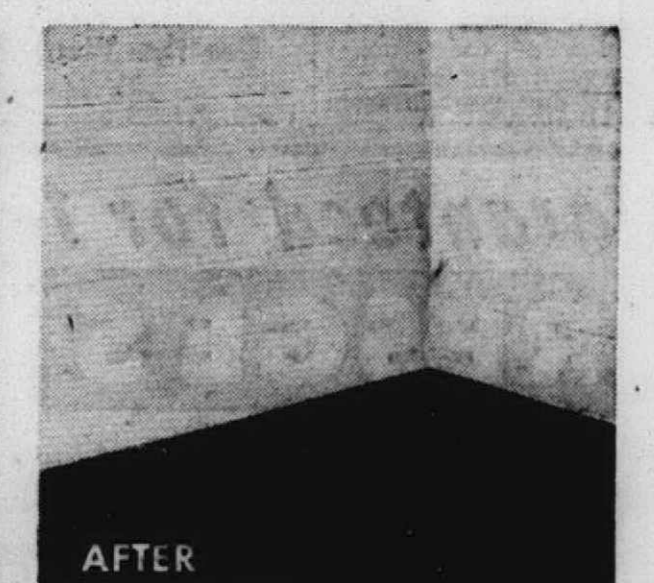

CINDR-SEAL does not pretend to be a "cure-all" for use on any surface anywhere. It was developed exclusively for basement walls . . . and for this purpose it has no equal. It is the ONLY ready-mixed oil base basement wall paint on the market.

And unlike many water-mixed paints which cannot be used on painted surfaces, CINDR-SEAL can be applied to ANY masonry surface—painted or unpainted—wet or dry—without special preparation. You simply open the can and start painting. For "Do It Yourself" decorators with asphalt-tiled basement floors, where soaking the walls is a problem, CINDR-SEAL'S ease of application is a boon. It goes on as smoothly as butter—from brush or roller—right out of the can.

CINDRSEAL HAS NO EQUAL ANYWHERE
There is nothing else like it on the market!

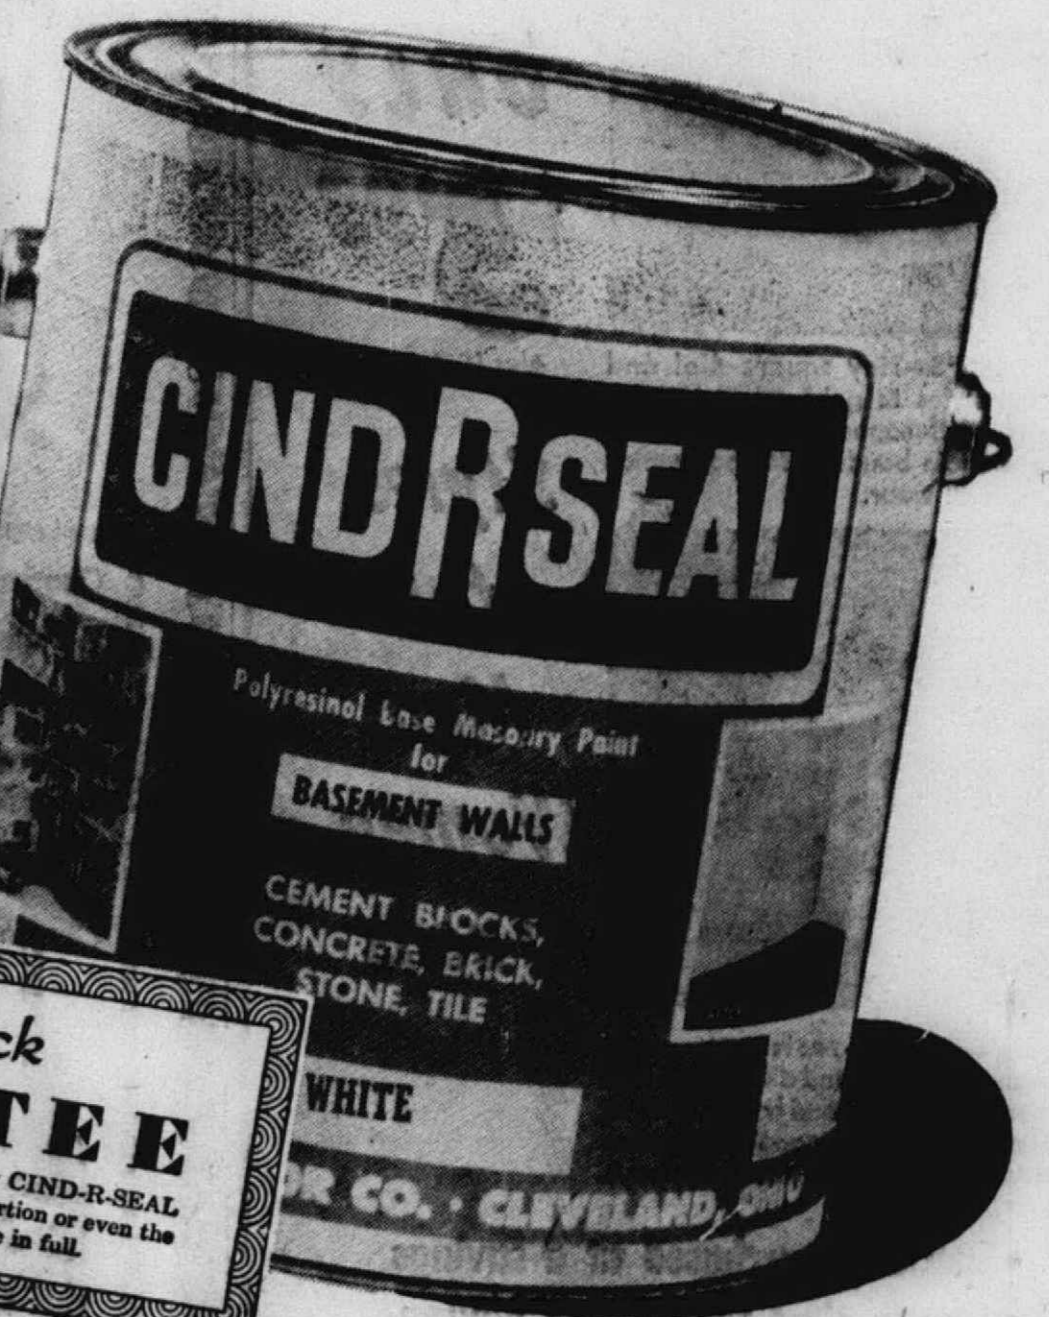

BEFORE

Gives Tips on Selection, Care of the Christmas Tree

Does your Christmas tree shed its needles long before you want to take it down?

An MSU extension forester offers advice on the selection and care of your Christmas tree to help you get the most enjoyment from it.

Some trees hold their needles much longer than others. Red, white and Scotch pines have excellent needle holding ability. In the low humidity and high temperature of your home, you may expect these trees to hold their needles from the second week of December into January. Firs will hold their needles through the holidays; spruce are the first to shed their needles.

Fragrance is one of the most noticeable features of an evergreen. All of the pines, the white pine in particular, have a very pleasant fragrance. Firs have quite a pleasing fragrance but that of spruces is sometimes objectionable.

After deciding whether a pine, spruce or fir best suit our needs, here are a few important things to consider in individual tree selection. The most attractive tree is quite dense and has good balance. Setting for the tree will dictate what type of balance you need.

A tree with three full sides and one rather flat side is perfect to use against a wall. A tree in a corner needs only two full sides while a tree in a picture window must have four attractive sides. A good taper is also important. The sides of a perfect tree taper at a 30 degree angle from the bottom straight to the top. The more closely a tree resembles a symmetrical cone, the more attractive is its shape.

A dark green to blue-green tree is the most beautiful, while a greenish-yellow tree may look pale. Watch for trees that look pressed together; they probably have been cut very early and stored. These trees are not fresh and will not be attractive very long.

The specialist reminds that the average ceiling is eight feet high; when you have to cut the top off to make it fit, the tree looks chopped off. Unless you plan to cut the bottom off to use as foliage, buy a tree that fits the room.

After choosing the right tree, here's how to take care of it.

Cut one and one-half inches from the trunk and place the tree in a pail of water until you are ready to set it up. Use a stand which holds water to keep the tree fresh and safe, and replenish the water frequently. Water is as effective a fire retardant as the latex base sprays.

Even Dogs are Being Visited by Santa Claus.

Even the dog orphans found in city dog pounds will not be forgotten during this Christmas season.

Although Plymouth has no publicly-owned kennel, nearby Livonia's dog pound will be visited by a Santa Claus who will feed the canines tasty tid-bits.

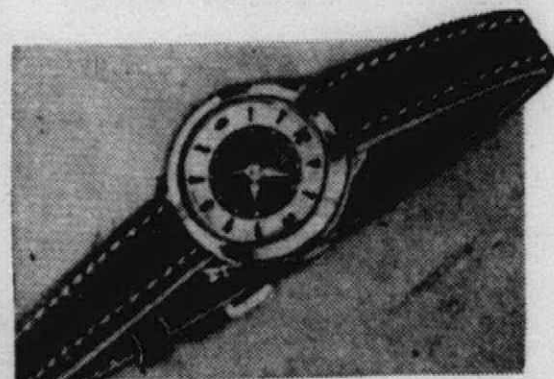

A national firm, the Ken-L-Treats division of the Quaker Oats company, is arranging the Santa visit to dog pounds from

New York to San Francisco. L. B. Tarbutton of Livonia is the firm's representative in this area and will see to it that Livonia's dogs are not forgotten. The dog biscuit in six colors are the canine equivalent of candy.

Will Be Given Away — 42 Each Week From Nov. 29
'Til Christmas! No Purchase Necessary To Win!

ALL YOU NEED IS A LUCKY NUMBER!

Here's How It Works:

1. Check this page of your Plymouth Mail for the special number which will appear in the instruction box inside the Santa Claus picture. Each copy of the Mail will bear a special number like this each week from now to December 20th.
2. Compare the number on your copy of the Mail with the number on the poster in the window of each one of these 42 participating merchants. The numbers on these posters are the lucky numbers, which will be different each week. Only 42 winning numbers will be picked at random each week and each of the 42 participating stores will display 1 number on the poster in the store window.
3. If the number on this page of your copy of the Mail corresponds with any 1 of the numbers which appear on the posters in the store windows you are the winner of the FREE GIFT which will be presented to you by the store
4. Remember, absolutely no purchase is necessary to win the FREE GIFTS and anyone is eligible to win regardless of age or residence. One person may win more than one time, of course.
5. The lucky winning numbers will be displayed in the store windows each Thursday afternoon and winners will have until 9 p.m. Wednesday of the following week to claim their gifts, at which time new numbers will appear in your Plymouth Mail and will be effective for the next week's gifts.
6. Extra numbered copies of the Mail will be available in the Mail office at no charge. Gifts will be given for 3 more weeks so be sure to check your copy of the Mail each week for the winning numbers.

Salvation Army Presents Awards To Ex-Alcoholics

Over forty former alcoholics of "The Avenue" received a welcome pre-Christmas present in the form of Award Cards, from the Salvation Army last weekend. The Award dinner was held in the huge $500,000 Men's Social Service Center at 1220 W. LaFayette, in downtown Detroit.
 Many age groups and a wide range of occupations were represented among the men called forward to be awarded. In tones of deep elation Brigadier Byam Youngman, manager of the Center, announced each man's record: "and he's been sober over 3 months . . . 6 months . . . over 9 months . . . 7 years". Those with a minimum of 3 months sobriety got white cards—6 months received a silver card and over 9 months the highly-prized gold card. The 160 men in residence at the Center who were present at the dinner quietly applauded each recipient's record. They, too, looked forward to when their own names might be posted for similar recognition.
 Here an attorney who lost his practice . . . a 58 year old accountant who skidded the whole way . . . a former parts' supplier who fell flat on his face . . . an ex-farmer whose family life went by the board.
Cards Are Tangible Evidence
 The idea of such award cards originated with Brigadier Youngman. "Such cards," he pointed out, "provide tangible evidence of the successful fight the man is waging on his tough upward climb back to sobriety and useful living. The men receiving them are highly elated."
 Usually there are 265 such problem men in residence in the Center during the rehabilitation program which runs from 3 to 4 months in duration. Each man accepted by the Center for this course, receives a thorough medical checkup. He is then assigned to some type of job for which he seems best fitted.
 During the current year around 2,000 such men will enter the Center for such a rehabilitation program. Of these over fifty percent will progress to where they are returned to outside gainful employment once more.

Reorganized Church Slates Yule Program

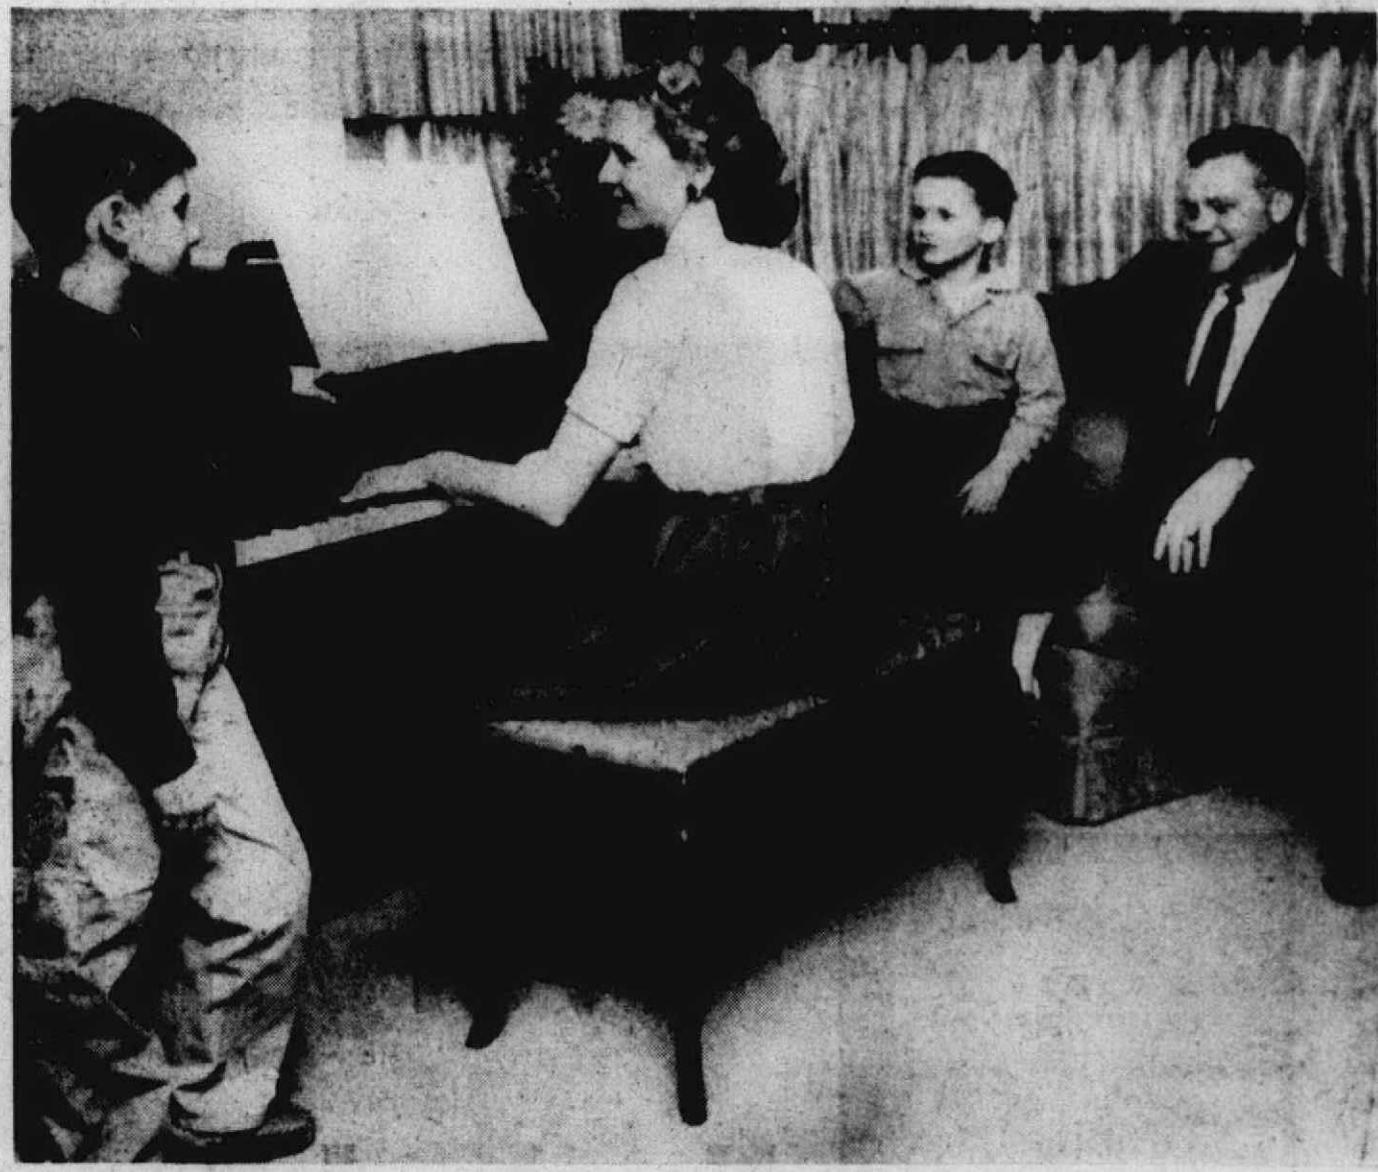

A special Christmas program featuring the children and adult choirs of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will be presented this Sunday evening at 7:30 in the local Masonic Temple.
 The story of the Nativity will be portrayed by the children with the choir singing the traditional Christmas carols. The adult choir will also present several Yuletide songs among which will be "No Candle Was There and No Fire," Soloists will be Emmett Bowen and Mrs. Norton.
 Mrs. Russell Knight is in charge of the Christmas program.

Nazarene Church Choir to Present Christmas Cantata

A 30-voice choir under the direction of Ray Williams will present Norman J. Surdam's Christmas cantata, "Miracle at the Inn," this Sunday evening at 7 at the Church of the Nazarene, 41550 Ann Arbor trail.
 The music, written and arranged by Roger C. Wilson, will be sung by the choir as the drama is enacted by the following cast of 13:
 Jacob, the Innkeeper—Tom Beagan; Leah, his wife—Melva Wasalaski; Matthias, his son—Dan Ide; Ira, a shepherd—Dee Spears; Simon, Guest at the Inn—Bob Roberts; Joseph—Rollin Wolfsberger; Mary—Helen Wolfsberger; Two Shepherds—Bill Wasalaski, David Swain; Three Prophets—William Fisher, Nolan Fredenberg, William Irish; Reader—Reverend Charles Ide.
 Musical selections will include: "Prologue," "The Prophets Sang," "Star of Mystery," "I Shall See Him," "Thou, Bethlehem," "For Unto Us a Child Is Born," "What of the Lambs?" "Glorify to God," "The Coventry Carol," "Oh Come, All Ye Faithful," "Hosanna!" "The Hallelujah Chorus" by Handel.

Who's New in Plymouth

THOUGH DEMANDS of public life limit pursuit of hobby interests for State Senator John Swainson and wife, Alice, Mrs. Swainson enjoys playing the piano, flower arranging and oil painting while her husband's leisure interest is reading. One of Mrs. Swainson's paintings is on view at the Senator's Cadillac Tower office in Detroit. She was also a member of the Redford Garden club where the family resided before moving into 44525 Governor Bradford, September 4. The couple are shown with sons, Steven, 9, and Peter, 7. Swainson attended Olivet college prior to the University of North Carolina, where he received his law degree.

Farm Co-op Plans Member Drive

The Wayne County Farm Bureau has announced that it will conduct its annual membership campaign and roll call during the week of January 3, according to Jay Chamberlain of 30539 South Huron road, president of the Wayne county organization. This membership campaign will take workers into 70 counties and over 1,000 townships in the state of Michigan.
 The Wayne County Farm Bureau hopes to increase its membership to 600 farm families, says Chamberlain, while the state goal is 70,242 families. Several thousand volunteer membership workers will take to the highways all over Michigan during the week to enroll 10,000 or more new members.
 The Wayne County Farm Bureau Board of Directors has appointed Walter H. Scott of the Huron Valley Group, as manager for the big membership and roll call drive in Wayne county.

Mrs. C. Donald Ryder, Mink Scarf Winner at Style Show

Walking off with a four-skin mink scarf given away as prize at Friday night's Fur Style show sponsored by Dorcas circle, Women's Society of Christian Service, Newburg Methodist church, was Mrs. C. Donald Ryder of Ann Arbor trail.

Approximately 250 persons attended the event which netted the church group nearly $175. A variety of furs and the latest woolen fashions were displayed in a Christmas theme setting by professional models and church circle members. Richland Fur company of Blissfield supplied materials for the event, held at Whitman junior high school on West Chicago.

With the nice balmy weather of the past week came an outbreak of chicken pox in the Shier household on Angeline circle and in the LaPointe household on Joy road. Janis and Jimmie Shier and Mark LaPointe were the unfortunate patients. Best wishes for a quick recovery, kids.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Peterson of Ravine drive, Plymouth were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Brenton in Detroit on Monday, December 3.

The Sarah Circle of the Women's Society of Christian Service, Newburg Methodist church, met at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Green's on Warren avenue, Monday, December 3. Mrs. Charles Bowen served as co-hostess and the following members were present:

Mrs. Norman Kerr, Mrs. Dorothy Pringle, Mrs. Earl Waack, Mrs. Juanita Hessler, Mrs. William Kenner, Mrs. Arthur Trost, Mrs. Winford Blanton, Miss Dorothy Blanton, Mrs. David Thompson, Mrs. William Schmidt, Mrs. Ray Bowser, Mrs. Harold Case, Mrs. C. D. Ryder, Mrs. W. Fittery, Mrs. Frank Ayres and Mrs. Henry Mende. A Christmas program was presented by Mrs. Bowser and Mrs. Fittery and an exchange of gifts took place at the close of the program.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mende of Newburg road on Sunday, December 2, were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Clausen of Ecorse and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gallinat and daughter Susan from Detroit.

Weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bennett of Stark road, Livonia were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gordon and children June, Wayne and George of Ridgetown, Ontario, Canada.

Congratulations are in order at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Reid of Angeline circle. A boy, David Charles, was born to the Reids on Sunday, December 9, at St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor. The young man tipped the scales at seven pounds 10 1/2 ounces.

Donna Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bennett of Stark road, along with the entire Bentley high school band, attended and played at Briggs Stadium, Sunday, December 9, during the halftime ceremonies at the Detroit Lions football game.

Over the weekend of December 1-2, a family reunion took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Peterson of Ravine drive, Plymouth. An aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pederson of Berona, North Dakota and a sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Tyson of Fort Ransom, North Dakota along with the following completed the guest list at the Peterson home: Mrs. Emma Durbin, Mr. and Mrs. Lem Peach and daughter Celia of South Lyons, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Durbin and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Card and sons Kenneth and Wallace of Livonia, Mr. and Mrs. Les Durbin and daughters Dixie and Sandra of Plymouth and Norman Whirley of New Boston. The occasion was also a celebration of young Ted Peterson's birthday.

The Rhoda Circle of the Women's Society of Christian Service, Newburg Methodist church, met at the home of Mrs. Carl Lampton on Hix road, Tuesday, December 4. The following members were present for the evening:

Mrs. Paul English, Mrs. John Ross, Mrs. Ray Hermans, Mrs. Emil LaPointe, Mrs. W. Priebe, Mrs. William Eastlake and Mrs. William Dorr. During the course of the evening, a fine candle-light Christmas service was conducted by Mrs. Ross followed by a silent auction and Christmas gift exchange.

Hard at work? You can bet they are. Who? Why the Newburg Methodist church choir. The fourth in a succession of Sunday choir practices was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil LaPointe of Joy road, Sunday, December 9.

Graham Bennett, Leonard Ritzler, Paul Nixon, Ed Reid, Dave Mackinder, Jean Greenwood, Sally Fedus, Muriel Coole, Francis Higgins, Laurel Dorr, Beverly Mende, Leola Coole, Ruth Ann Busenbark, Mildred Case and Winnie Nixon were all present and supper was served by the hostesses.

The reason for such hard work is the approaching time for this group to present their Christmas Cantata. Entitled, "The Christ Child" the presentation will be made at the 11 a.m. church service of the Newburg Methodist church, Newburg road and Ann Arbor trail, December 23.

The Women's Society of Christian service, Newburg Methodist church, will hold its monthly general meeting at the church on Monday, December 17. All members and their friends are urged to attend this meeting. Mrs. L. P. Rosenberry will be in charge of the program and will present a group of her junior church children in a brief Christmas program. Since the attendance has been quite low, Mrs. Edward Ayers, president of the organization, is hoping for an almost 100 per cent turn-out.

Christmas activities are many at the Newburg Methodist church this Yule season. Sunday, December 23, is the big day for most everything to transpire. Beginning at the 9 a.m. service, the pastor, Reverend Robert D. Richards, will be receiving folks into the membership of the church, at the 10 a.m. Sunday school hour. Also, a program of recitations and songs has been planned by the children of the Sunday school.

At the 11 a.m. services, the Christmas cantata, "The Christ Child", will be presented by the adult choir, under the direction of Mrs. Paul Nixon, followed by the annual Sunday School pageant, "No Room in the Inn", directed by Ed Reid, at 7:30 p.m. While the pageant is taking place in the hall auditorium, a party for children through the second grade will be given in the basement of the old church building with Santa Claus making his usual Christmas call.

On Monday, December 31, 11 p.m. the annual Watchnight Holy Communion service will be held. Hope you can make one or all of these inspirational hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bowerman of Plymouth are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Dale Arthur, born at St. Joseph's Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor, on Monday, December 3, and weighing seven pounds eight ounces. Mrs. Bowerman is the former Sylvia Remy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Remy of Newburg road.

The Joy Road Conasta clan will meet Tuesday, December 18, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Claude Desmond on Joy road. There will be a Christmas party and 50-cent gift exchange. Members who cannot attend are advised to call their hostess.

Salem Farmers Club Elects Harlow Ingell, President

Named president of the Farmers club at its December meeting held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Henning, was Harlow Ingell. Others elected to serve with him were Bert Rider, vice president; Mrs. John McIntyre, secretary; and Mrs. Coda Savery, treasurer. A turkey dinner with all the trimmings preceded the club election.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Ingell of Joy road attended the Farm Bureau Institute at the Civic center in Lansing on Monday and Tuesday.

Salem Busy Beavers 4-H club will hold its Christmas party on Saturday afternoon, December 22, from 1:30 to 4 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Herbert Famuliner on Six Mile road. Each girl has invited her mother as guest.

N. E. W. Farm bureau meets this Friday evening at the Town hall, starting with a pot-luck dinner at 6:30.

Ted Buers celebrated his 19th birthday on Tuesday.

Salem Firemen are having their December dance this Saturday night, December 15, from 9 to 1 at the town hall. Music by the Cavaliers with tickets available at the door.

Education Aid Awaits Children of War Dead

Locating children of America's war dead and giving them information about the educational aid now available to them will be one of the projects of the American Legion Auxiliary during the coming year, according to Miss Carol Langmaid, the Auxiliary's local Education and Scholarships Chairman.

"Children of persons killed in war or who died as a result of war service are eligible for $110 per month for 36 months of higher education," explained Miss Langmaid. "To take advantage of this they must complete high school and plan their studies so that they can qualify for the college courses they desire."

"Of the 14,000 eligible to enter college last fall with this aid, about half failed to take advantage of their opportunity. We hope to reach the younger students so that they can plan to be ready for higher education when they reach college age, and receive the help of an America grateful for their fathers' sacrifice in the nation's defense."

It will be to your advantage Read the Want Ads.

MAKE THIS CHOIR BOY YOURSELF WITH OUR PATERN. ALSO MANY OTHER DESIGNS

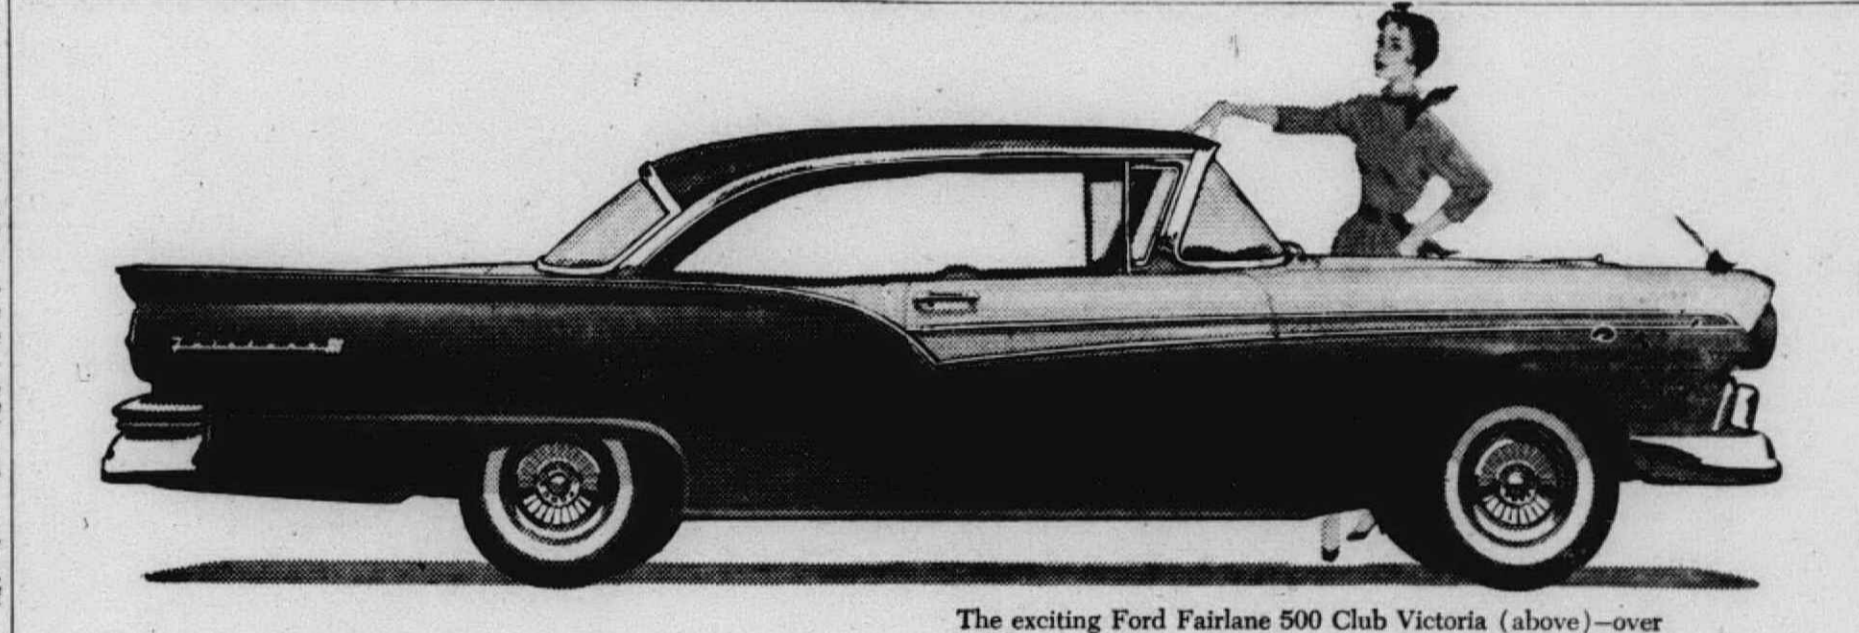

Christmas activities are many at the Newburg Methodist church this Yule season. Sunday, December 23, is the big day for most everything to transpire. Beginning at the 9 a.m. service, the pastor, Reverend Robert D. Richards, will be receiving folks into the membership of the church, at the 10 a.m. Sunday school hour. Also, a program of recitations and songs has been planned by the children of the Sunday school.

At the 11 a.m. services, the Christmas cantata, "The Christ Child", will be presented by the adult choir, under the direction of Mrs. Paul Nixon, followed by the annual Sunday School pageant, "No Room in the Inn", directed by Ed Reid, at 7:30 p.m. While the pageant is taking place in the hall auditorium, a party for children through the second grade will be given in the basement of the old church building with Santa Claus making his usual Christmas call.

On Monday, December 31, 11 p.m. the annual Watchnight Holy Communion service will be held. Hope you can make one or all of these inspirational hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bowerman of Plymouth are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Dale Arthur, born at St. Joseph's Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor, on Monday, December 3, and weighing seven pounds eight ounces. Mrs. Bowerman is the former Sylvia Remy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Remy of Newburg road.

The Joy Road Conasta clan will meet Tuesday, December 18, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Claude Desmond on Joy road. There will be a Christmas party and 50-cent gift exchange. Members who cannot attend are advised to call their hostess.

The exciting Ford Fairlane 500 Club Victoria (above)—over 17 feet long—is one of two new, bigger Ford sizes this year.

If you think it looks new... wait till you drive it!

...For there's where Ford's newness really pays off
...in melting mountains...in smoothing the bumps
...in straightening the curves

You can see that Ford's longer, lower Sculptured Look makes other cars look downright old-fashioned. But the part you can't see—the new "Inner Ford"—is what shows its stuff when you drive a Ford. It's revolutionary from the wheels up! And it feels it.

Ford's wider frame lets you sit sweet and low. And Ford's new front suspension, rear springs and new easy handling are part of the scheme to make you think every road is cloud-smooth.

The magic touch of the new Ford power plants makes mountains disappear. What looks like uphill feels like downhill. You get this surging power in a wide choice of Silver Anniversary V-8 engines. Or choose Ford's Mileage Maker Six, the most powerful Six in the low-price field.

There's magic in Ford's price tag, too! You won't believe this big new Ford is still priced Ford-low. But it is. Come in and test its magic. It's a real "Wizard of Ah-h-h-h!"

Civic Chorus Rehearsals Start

The Plymouth Civic chorus will begin preparation of "The Requiem" by Gabriel Faure on Monday Night, December 17, from 7:30 to 9 p.m., in Room 8 of the junior high school. All interested persons are invited to join the chorus which is under the direction of Fred Nelson, vocal music director at Plymouth high school. Only expense to individuals will be the cost of music. The Faure "Requiem" is one of the classics of 19th century choral music. It is richly rewarding to hear and more so to perform, because of the richness of the harmony and the beautifully expressive melodies. The rehearsal schedule is as follows: Monday, December 17; then each Monday evening in January and February. The performance is scheduled for Sunday, March 3, with soloists and the Plymouth Symphony orchestra under the direction of Wayne Dunlap.

December 16 is the date of the children's annual Christmas party. Post and Auxiliary members are cordially invited to bring their youngsters to the party which is from 2 to 4 p.m. There will be a program put on by the Girl Scout Troop under the leadership of Mrs. Leila Baker. Santa Claus will be there, and gifts will be given to the children. There has been no definite time set for Santa's arrival, so please be prompt so that your child will not miss his visit. If you have any clothing for a boy four years of age, a boy 13 months of age and a girl two and one-half years old, please contact Geraldine Olson at once. Geraldine and Virginia Bartel attended a kick-off dinner at the Dearborn Inn, November 30. Geraldine is going to be chairman of the Mothers March of Dimes for the city which takes place in January.

The American Legion and VFW Auxiliaries are sponsoring a card bingo party January 14 at 8 p.m. There will also be a very interesting film on polio shown. Proceeds from this party will be given to the March of Dimes. Have you sent your money for Christmas Seals to the National Home at Eaton Rapids? If not, please do so for as we all know this is a very worthy cause and the money will be very much appreciated. Chaplain Cathy Cline placed a wreath in Kellogg Park on December 7 in memory of our war dead. If you have any white shirts, cards, toys, magazines etc., please contact Mildred Dely. The hospital committee needs these articles very badly. Do not discard your Christmas cards as the hospital committee also has a use for these. Either call Mildred or take them to a meeting after Christmas and give them to her.

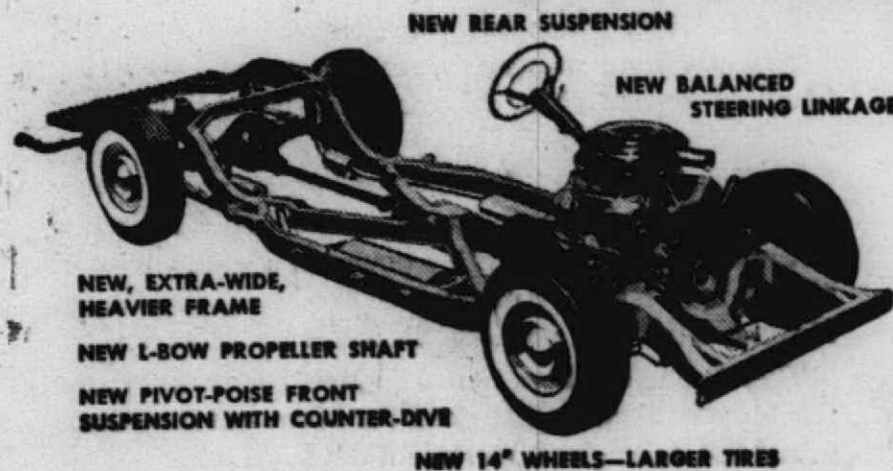

Elks-Vivians Holiday Potluck Set for Tonight

The first in a series of cooperative programs between members of the Elks lodge and its auxiliary organization, the Vivians, will take place at 6:30 tonight, December 13, in the form of a holiday potluck dinner and party to be held at the Elk's temple, 41700 Ann Arbor road. The dinner will feature baked ham with all the trimmings, the meat and coffee to be furnished by the menfolk while Vivians members will bring a favorite dish to pass. Couples are asked to bring their own table service. Each person attending has been requested to bring a toy for an underprivileged child and a 50-cent item for the gift exchange to be conducted separately by the Elks and Vivians organizations. A vote will be taken at the party as to the institution which will receive the children's gifts. There is never any scarcity of excuses for doing what you want to do.

American Legion News

Attending the 17th district Christmas party and dinner at Redford Township Post home, Friday, December 7, from our unit and post were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Koi, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burleson, Adah Langmaid and Maxine Kunz. A wonderful dinner and a good time was had by all. A telephone call from San Diego, California interrupted the party and it was from Mr. and Mrs. Richard Masingill (formerly of Livonia) wishing everyone a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. All of us thought that this was a wonderful gesture from them.

Glad to hear Harold Wilson is now at home and recuperating very nicely. He will probably be at home for some time.

The post will be selling Christmas trees at Flagg McCartney's gas station, corner of Brush and South Main streets. So watch for them, and if you can help sell please contact Ernie Koi and let him know what night you will be available. Trees will be on sale from Friday, December 14, through December 23. So come on, boys, and let's give all the time you can.

The post will again go to Maybury sanitarium with Christmas gifts on December 20.

The Auxiliary's next business meeting, December 13, is very important. We will be wrapping Christmas gifts for Maybury, so come on girls let's have a good turn out—we have a lot to accomplish. This will be our last meeting of the year so let's make it a good one.

Our Christmas Party—oh, what a success! So good to see so many of our members. There was a gaily-lit Christmas tree, reindeer decorating the tables, delicious food, and a wonderful Christmas feeling. On Sunday, December 9, at 3:30 p.m. about 50 members of the Passage-Gayde post and its auxiliary, with their children started mixing and after a lovely pot-luck dinner, movies were shown followed by the Christmas party festivities for the adults and kiddies.

Mrs. Lydia Argo, 9203 Morrison street, was the recipient of the lovely acrilon blanket which was so generously donated by our linen hostess, Mrs. Hazel Quisenberry of Farmington.

OUTDOOR NOTES
From The
MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

The Conservation Commission is scheduled to discuss experimental ice fishing regulations for Houghton Lake at the December 13-14 meeting of the Commission in Lansing.

Conservation Department fisheries workers, who have been studying the problem of stunted perch in Houghton Lake, are recommending that fishermen be permitted to take an unlimited number of perch with hook and line through the ice during the winter of 1956-57.

Recent observations and studies indicate the lake has a tremendous population of perch about four inches long and Department fish workers feel that the unlimited taking of perch on an experimental basis this winter may help to solve the problem of over-population.

Some late and lamentable figures indicate more than seven percent of all persons seeking camping privileges in state parks had to be turned away this year because of overcrowding campgrounds.

Conservation Department summaries show 7241 camps were turned away. A camp represents four or five persons each, making a total of 30,000-36,000 persons that were refused entrance this year.

"This has become a very unfortunate situation," said Arthur C. Elmer, chief of the Department's parks division. "State parks are open to all the people. We are very disappointed when we have to turn campers away because of a lack of facilities."

Elmer said 20 parks out of 57 that allow camping had to turn away those seeking overnight privileges; most of these parks are in the northern lower peninsula.

Indian Lake state park west of Manistiquette turned away 1695 camps; East Tawas, 1500; Ludington, 1479; and Lakeport, north of Port Huron, 778.

The state Conservation Commission, scheduled to meet December 13-14 in Lansing, will consider acquisition of 883 acres of hunting lands and two fishing sites for public use.

The new public hunting lands would include 390 acres in the southern part of Garden Island, Charlevoix county, and 160 acres adjoining Hardwood state forest, Cheboygan county. Approximately 75 acres of the Hardwood tract would be affected by the Conservation Department's proposed flooding of the Dingman Marsh area. Both of these purchases would be made with money from the Game and Fish Protection Fund.

Another 333 acres of hunting land will be considered for purchase under the Pittman-Robertson program, the state-federal cooperative game management program. The proposed P-R purchases include 215 acres at Rose Lake wildlife experiment station, Clinton county; 78 acres at Maple River state game area, Gratiot county; and 40 acres at Lapeer state game area, Lapeer county.

The proposed fishing sites are on the Grand River, east of Grand Haven in Ottawa county; and on Portage Lake, Houghton county.

With the close of deer season, many hunters are turning their attention to other game—cottontail rabbits, snowshoe hares and bobcats.

Cottontails, primarily a southern Michigan game animal, are legal targets in the southern lower peninsula through January 31, while rabbits and hares may be hunted in the northern lower peninsula and the U.P. through March 1.

The northern lower peninsula's bobcat season will be in effect December 15-March 15. Last year, hunters took about 140 cats in the state's first bobcat season. In the upper peninsula, bobcats still have a predator status and may be taken at any time of year; 754 were bountied in the U.P. in 1955.

Violations of hunting laws accounted for the majority of the 1162 arrests made by state conservation officers during the month of October.

Convictions resulted in 1136 cases; 24 cases were incomplete and two were dismissed. Total fines paid by violators amounted to $20,600, in addition to $8,900 in court costs in justice courts throughout the state. These totals represent an average financial penalty of more than $25 for each conviction.

Violators also received jail sentences totaling 197 days and 18 persons were placed on probation.

Illegal hunting activities were the most numerous violations, including 170 persons arrested for failure to observe waterfowl shooting hours. Other frequent violations included: possession of loaded firearm in automobile, 166; possession of loaded firearm in motorboat, 113; hunting deer with artificial light, 93; hunting without a license, 73; and hunting game birds or animals during closed season, 52.

The December 1-2 special deer hunting season was really "special" for F. W. Terwilliger, Conservation Department geologist. Terwilliger, an enthusiast of muzzle-loading guns, bagged his deer with a 90-year-old firearm.

He was hunting in Area 4, near Gladwin, Saturday when he sighted a doe and a fawn about 40 yards away. Terwilliger dropped the doe with a neck shot.

It was the first deer he has bagged with the muzzle-loader, which was manufactured in the 1860's.

William Cowgill and his room mate, Ron Desels, of Chicago, Illinois, were home from Michigan State University over the week-end. Ellen Cowgill returned home Friday from MSU for the holidays and will spend them with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Cowgill on Beek road.

Here's Way to Prolong Life Of Traditional Yule Plant

Poinsettias, traditional Christmas flowers, will last until late January with proper care.

Place your poinsettia plant in a warm room—the average living room is the correct temperature. Keep the plant moderately moist. The soil around the plant should never be allowed to dry out. Place the plant near a window and away from radiators and drafts.

Poinsettias will retain their leaves until late January or the first part of February. If you wish to keep the plant permanently, dry it out when the leaves begin dropping off. Water it just enough to prevent the soil from becoming bone dry.

Keep the plant dormant until May and then replot it with fresh soil. Cut branches back to within three to six inches of the original break or where the branches began. If there is only a single stem on the plant, then cut it back to within eight inches of the soil. Begin watering the plant in April or the early part of May.

To increase the number of plants, cuttings can be taken from the new growth that comes after dormancy.

You may put the poinsettia outside in the summer or you may keep it inside. In the fall be sure to bring the plant in before the temperature drops.

From October on place the plant in a room where lights aren't burned more than 11 hours a day. Keep the plant moderately moist. With this care, your plant should bloom at Christmas time.

Poinsettia flowers can be cut from the plant, but you can't depend on them not wilting. If you do cut them off dip the end of the cut stem in boiling water or scorch it with a flame. Then place the stem in lukewarm water (98-100°). Cover the tops of the flowers with wax paper for six to eight hours and place in a cool place.

SPURRED by the need to boost their volume of sales to pay fixed costs and family living expenses with lower farm prices, farmers have succeeded, by working longer hours, increasing use of fertilizer and through other means, in boosting farm production so that 1956 may set an all-time high record. This seems apparent in spite of serious drought in large sections of the west and sharp reductions of acreage for crops under marketing quotas.

Although Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has not at this writing called a meeting of the Annual Outlook Conference in which the nation's leading farm economists gather to predict the year ahead for agriculture, the agricultural picture ahead is not bright. It will be remembered that this annual conference formerly held in October, was postponed by Secretary Benson after the 1954 election when depressing predictions were made.

In spite of this postponement these facts have been revealed by the Department of Agriculture: Farm prices dropped two points, or 1% in the month ending October 15, the fourth month in a row that farm prices have dropped; farm costs set an all-time high record for October; the farmers share of the consumers retail food dollar is down to about 40c as compared to 47c in 1952, and the parity ratio is at 82%, or the same as in October 1955.

The Wall Street Journal, in a staff report on price and production trends affecting industry, has this to say of the Agriculture picture ahead:

SCANNING THE NEWS

"Federal experts predict total 1956 farm production will set a record at 113% of the 1947-49 average. That would edge the old high of 112% hit last year. Production of livestock and livestock products is expected to climb to a record 125% of the base period, 2% over last year. Hog slaughter is due to rise 5%, cattle 4%. Livestock bounty will offset a tiny dip in crop volume. While output of cotton, tobacco, hay and peanuts may fall short of last year, corn and wheat prospects are up 4% and soybeans a whopping 27%. This year, under federal curbs, farmers planted only 350 million acres, the smallest since 1941. For drought and other reasons they won't harvest crops on 20-million-plus acres. But fields in non-drought areas are thriving. And fertilizer, irrigation, insecticides and other tools of modern agriculture have helped to bring huge per-acre yields from land that is harvested. This year's average crop yield per acre shapes up to equal the 1948 record and 33% greater than the pre-war 1935-39 average."

The indications are that this year's emergency subsidy on the soil bank program will give way to a flat and non-remunerative effort to reduce farm production in an effort to reduce surpluses. There will be no publicity about it, but the administration, unless Congress rules otherwise, will not continue a subsidy for over-production or inefficient family-type farm operation. The best farmers can expect is farm income not far from the 1954 level. And that is based on the present level of continued prosperity of all other phases of the nation's economy.

Can You Identify This Mystery Farm?

LAST WEEK'S WINNER WAS BOB GLASS, 9197 LILLEY RD., WHO CORRECTLY IDENTIFIED MYSTERY FARM NO. 32 AS THE HOUSE OF CORRECTION FARM, 48709 SIX MILE ROAD. REGISTRATIONS OF CONTEST ENTRIES ABSOLUTELY WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED BEFORE 7:30 P.M., FRIDAY.

WIN $1000 CASH EACH WEEK BY BEING FIRST WITH CORRECT ANSWER

WIN $250.00 CASH AT THE END OF THE CONTEST, WITH THE MOST RIGHT ANSWERS

This aerial photo is the thirty-third in a series taken of various farms within a ten mile radius of Plymouth for the BEGLINGER OLDS-CADILLAC Agency Inc.

The identity of the farms in this aerial-photo series is completely unknown to anyone, including ourselves... so it's up to you, the readers of this paper, to identify the "Mystery Farm."

A series of 52 farm photographs will appear in The Plymouth Mail during the ensuing 52 weeks. The FIRST person to correctly identify the "Mystery Farm" each week, and sign the register at Beglinger's, will receive $10 CASH, plus points toward the Grand Prize at the end of the contest.

First 20 persons to correctly identify the mystery farm each week will receive an appropriate number of points toward the grand prize at the conclusion of the contest.

Highest total accumulated points for the 52 weeks of the contest will decide the winner of the GRAND PRIZE regardless of how many times the final grand prize winner may have placed first during the contest.

Everyone 18 years of age, or older, is eligible to win, except Beglinger Oldsmobile and Plymouth Mail employees and their families.

MYSTERY FARM No. 33

The owner of each week's "Mystery Farm" will receive absolutely FREE, a beautiful, mounted photograph of his farm... just by calling at our office... 705 So. Main Street

The MAIL Attitude

BY PAUL CHANDLER

For some time we've wanted to get going on an informal column about the things that interest us, and now we're underway.

One reason it was delayed was some unanticipated work down the line in Redford Township. We purchased and began operation on The Plymouth Mail last May. With it came The Livonian, the two papers both being owned previously by Sterling Eaton. About a month later, however, the stockholders of a small newspaper named The Redford Observer came to me and my partner, Bill McKay, and suggested a sale. The Observer had a short and enchanting history at that point.

It had been started at a grass roots level by a large group of men and women of Redford Township who chipped a few dollars apiece into a pool, rented an office, hired a printer, knocked on doors to sell subscriptions, and got underway. For a full year they slugged it out, day to day, hand to mouth, working at nights, on week-ends, in spare time. Salaries were few, and small. The entire operation was a pure labor of love by the creators of the idea.

They were willing to do this—correction, they were eager to do this—for one reason. They were disgusted with the only other paper available in the community, a kind of mud-stirring, grotesque tabloid with a fetish for attacking individuals on a personal basis.

But after a year, the pioneers, who founded The Observer had grown weary and were willing to turn their infant over to someone whom they believed would go along with their general aims: to wit, turning out a newspaper that was fair and full of news.

After considerable cautious consideration, we purchased The Observer. It made for a hard summer. The editor of the odd tabloid didn't much like us around, and has waged a constant war to try to snuff out the infant paper, using devious tactics mostly on a subterranean level.

At this point the infant has grown into a robust young fellow. The circulation is up 40 per cent from the time of sale; the merchants are reporting excellent results from the ads they have been placing; the classified ads are pouring in; and the columns are full of down-to-earth community news and pictures. The old staff has carried on magnificently and the support of the community at large has been downright inspiring.

The Observer is on its own feet now, rolling along under the direction of Bud Kirvan, one of Michigan's most able editors, and Beatrice Bellaire, an exceptionally talented woman who was one of the paper's founders.

There's a story shaping up in Plymouth that our staff doesn't quite know how to handle, pending formal developments. But here are the rough outlines so you'll know we aren't asleep.

Roderick Cassady, Plymouth businessman, owns a large parcel of property south of the site of the Western Electric depot which is rising on Sheldon Road. Cassady, in fact, sold the Western Electric site to that company and was a key figure in having the industry come to the community.

To accommodate Western Electric, and to build for the future in general, the City is about to start a storm sewer project to carry drainage from the industrial site and the Cassady acres, and other land in the vicinity. This sewer project is in a mature state, having been through all the hearings, the hiring of contractors, and so on.

Until the last few weeks, Cassady hadn't opposed the sewer. He has had prospects of selling his property from time to time to sub-dividers. For one reason or another, however, all such offers now are dead, he says, and there is no prospect of selling it for residential development at the moment.

Cassady's assessment for the sewer amounts to approximately $33,000, payable over 10 years. He states that it is too high, confiscatory, that the sewer is unnecessary for his property—in general, he's fighting it. The city, on the other hand, says it's virtually impossible to stop the sewer project at this late stage.

Both parties actually are rather sympathetic to the other's problem but that doesn't eliminate the basic conflict. Cassady is contemplating legal action.

The Mail will keep you posted on developments.

One of the strangest stories to hit this area in a coon's age is stirring in Northville. There, the police are on the hunt (the Northville newspaper is our information source) for a woman confidence artist who is alleged to have dropped big checks all over Northville and hooked a number of people for sums of money. The woman, in her sixties and short and portly, has a long record as a "confidence" operator. Her story reportedly was that she had a large estate coming to her, but that it was in trust, so she couldn't get her hands on the money immediately. She would write big checks and turn them over for cash, at large discounts from the face figure. The people holding the checks were to wait until her "trust" sailed in.

The word from Northville is that she didn't get into Plymouth much, but did have some sort of dealing with one insurance man here. The whole story is vague and has blank spots, but police are looking for the woman, last reported in Cleveland. She moved into Northville last April.

Mayor Russell Daane's politics are unmistakably Republican and anti-Williams, on the state level. Frank Henderson is a district Governor of Rotary and it was the Mayor's job to introduce him at a recent meeting. Daane thus drew the chuckle of the week when he began, "It gives me great pleasure to be able—for once—to present a Governor with whom I can agree on something."

New Books at Wayne County Library

"Anglo-Saxon Attitudes," best-selling novel by Angus Wilson, was among the new arrivals at Plymouth branch, Wayne County library this week.

The local library also received the following editions in the new book shipment: "Great American Negroes" by Ben Richardson, a copy of Henry Thoreau's "The Concord and The Merrimack," and Reinhard H. Luthin's "American Demagogues: The 20th Century."

Also added to the library collection were "The Marjorie Rawlings Reader," selected and edited by Julia Scribner Bigham, Adele Wiseman's novel "The Sacrifice," "Adolescent Development and Adjustment" by Lester D. and Alice Crow, Frank Freidel's "Franklin D. Roosevelt: The Apprenticeship," and "Madame Solario," novel concerning the international set.
