

Oldest Resident to be 101

Mrs. Ella Moore, oldest known Plymouth resident, will celebrate her 101st birthday Monday at her home at 253 Irvin street with a get-together of relatives living nearby.

Mrs. Moore has been confined to either a bed or a chair since she fractured her hip in a fall several years ago. She has been under the care of Miss Emma Hanthorn who is living with her. Miss Hanthorn is the aunt of Mrs. Moore's granddaughter, Miss Helen Moore of 1215 Birk in Ann Arbor.

Born Ella Jane Kern in 1856, Mrs. Moore has recollections of five U.S. wars. She likes to tell that as a child in Allentown, Pa., her birth-place and hometown, she remembers hearing the guns of the Civil War. She moved to Nebraska with her son and her parents, when her husband died around 1883.

Mrs. Moore came to Plymouth in 1942 when her son retired from an Army career. He died in 1944. According to Miss Hanthorn, Mrs. Moore is physically "as well now as she was a year or so ago."

Attending Monday's birthday gathering will be Mrs. Moore's grandson and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Moore, and their two daughters, Sharleen Moore and Mrs. Gene Rodgers, with her husband and four daughters.

Other guests will be Miss Helen Moore, Miss Hanthorn and Bill Moore, grandson of Mrs. Moore, with his wife and two daughters.

Commissioners Support Gas Shift Program

With 800 applications now on file here for gas space heating permits and with some residents now waiting as long as two years, the Plymouth city commission went on record Monday night as favoring a re-distribution program that would abandon deliveries of the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company to Detroit and divert it to out-state areas.

A resolution was adopted by the commission which will be forwarded to U.S. Senators Charles Potter and Patrick McNamara and Congresswoman Martha Griffiths. A hearing is now in progress in Washington at which the diversion is being studied.

Stanford Wallace of Panhandle was at the commission meeting to urge passage of the resolution. Panhandle supplies gas from its southern fields to Consumers Power and its subsidiary, Michigan Gas Storage company. It also supplies other out-state gas distributors serving over 2,000,000 people.

Wallace said that the local Consumers Power office now has a waiting list of 800 seeking gas space heating and that many have waited two years. To bring more gas to areas outside Detroit quickly and without added expense, Panhandle wants to drop its service to Detroit which is currently being served by two other suppliers.

But since Panhandle supplies gas cheaper than the other two Detroit suppliers, Wallace said, Detroit and its gas utility, the Michigan Consolidated Gas company, are fighting the re-distribution program before the Federal Power Commission in their hearings. The hearings have been going on for two weeks and will probably continue 30 to 40 days longer, Wallace predicted.

Plymouth joins other Michigan communities in favoring Panhandle's program. These include Jackson, Battle Creek, Pontiac, Lansing, Bay City, Saginaw, Monroe, Port Huron, East Detroit, St. Clair Shores, Hillsdale and Midland.

The city commission is also urging that citizens write to their senators care of the Senate Office Building, and their representative, care of the House Office Building, to bring pressure in behalf of Panhandle's program.

Detroit now has ample supplies of natural gas and Michigan Consolidated, it was pointed out at the commission meeting, is waging a selling campaign.

Youth Wins Midwest Badminton Tourney

A Plymouth high school senior last week earned himself a rating among the national badminton champions by winning three trophies at the Midwestern United States Badminton Tournament in Chicago.

Tom Carmichael, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frazer Carmichael, 208 Blunk, won a first place and two second place trophies at the Chicago meet. Also playing in the match were Tom Locke, Fred Libbing and Jim Houk of Plymouth.

These four and several other Plymouth players will appear this Saturday when the Michigan Junior Badminton Championship Tournament is held in Plymouth.

Starting at 10 a.m., the tourney will be at the high school gym and will attract about 75 players. The junior matches are for those 18 and under. The championship finals are expected to start at 7 p.m. Matches are open to the public without charge.

Carmichael won a first place trophy in the doubles competition. His partner was Jack Keating of Detroit. He won second place trophies in the singles and in the mixed doubles where he was a partner with Helen Connelly of Grosse Pointe Farms. Libbing and Houk were semifinalists in doubles and quarter finalists in the singles matches.

Because of his efforts, Carmichael is expected to be ranked among the best national juniors. He has been playing badminton only two years under the Adult Education and Recreation program.

Accompanying the boys to Chicago as their coach was William Baker.

TOM CARMICHAEL is pictured with one of his three trophies that he won last Saturday and Sunday at the Midwest Badminton Tournament in Chicago. Tom has played the game for only two years.

Commission to Take Bids on Street Sweeper

Cleaner city streets may be a reality within the next month due to action taken by the city commission Monday night. They approved a motion to take bids for a new street sweeper.

The present sweeper has been in and out of repair for much of the time since last summer and it is now believed that the cost of fixing it up will not be worth the money.

While the city has no money in the current budget for purchase of a new sweeper (which can cost up to $9,000), it may be decided to lease a sweeper with a promise to buy when the new budget becomes operative July 1.

City Annexes 22 Acres of Own Property

Move Designed to Kill Effect Of Plymouth Heights Petition

Plymouth became 22.39 acres larger Tuesday when that much land was annexed to the city in a maneuver designed to invalidate a petition which would incorporate part of Plymouth township as the City of Plymouth Heights.

By resolution, city commissioners voted Monday night to annex part of Riverside Park and part of Riverside Cemetery. Copies of the resolution were filed Tuesday with the county clerk and the secretary of state's office and the land was automatically annexed.

Annexation of the 22.39 acres is possible by a mere vote of the commission because the land involved is owned by the city of Plymouth and it contains no living occupants.

Commissioners expect to make the petition to encircle the city with another city invalid because the annexation will take away land included in the "Plymouth Heights" petition—thus causing its legal description to be in error.

Several annexation and incorporation petitions involving the city and township have already been denied by the Wayne County Board of Supervisors because of errors in the legal descriptions of property to be annexed.

The petition to form the City of Plymouth Heights from the eastern third of Plymouth township is the only petition involving the city and township still on file with the board of supervisors.

Although the incorporation petition has been on file since last October, it has never been referred to the Ways and Means committee of the board of supervisors. The referral is expected to be made when the board of supervisors resume meetings after the April 1 election.

Not until the Ways and Means committee refers the petition to the county prosecutor's office for a check of the petition's legality will it be learned if the city commission's effort has succeeded.

There have been two City of Plymouth Heights petitions filed. The first, filed last July, was denied by the board of supervisors in November because it contained errors in legal description. But before this one was denied township property owners had already filed a "corrected" petition.

While even those who signed the Plymouth Heights petitions stated that they didn't like the idea, they pointed out that it was the only way to save the township from being annexed bit-by-bit by the city. Only township land east of McClumpha road was included in the petition because law requires newly-incorporated land to have at least 500 people per square mile.

In 1955 there was a petition to incorporate part of the township as the city of Charles-ten. This too died due to errors. This petition was filed to fight the city attempt to annex the entire township.

Last year's Plymouth Heights petitions were filed after the city had filed a petition to annex about 280 acres east of the city, including the tax ptum of the township, Burroughs corporation. Two petitions to annex the Burroughs land were tried by the city, both being rejected because of technical errors.

Not included in the new annexation is Hillside Inn along Plymouth road. The city now surrounds the dining establishment on three sides.

Fly Casting Champ To Appear with Neff

Ben Hardesty, national bait and fly casting champion, will accompany Mort Neff to Plymouth next Wednesday night for a public program sponsored by the Plymouth Police Youth club.

Neff, commonly known as "Mr. Michigan Outdoors" because of his weekly television program, will bring movies to show. In addition, he will be available for a roundtable discussion and will present awards to young club marksmen.

Held in the Central Parking lot building, the program will start at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited.

University of Wisconsin Grants Degree in Law To Plymouth Resident

Robert H. Wood, 899 Simpson street was awarded a bachelor of law degree by the University of Wisconsin as the first semester came to a close recently.

A total of 835 students received degrees, bringing to 112,672 the total number of degrees granted by the university during its 108-year history.

Of the total 559 were granted their first or bachelor's degrees, and 276 received higher degrees including 182 master's degrees and 94 doctor of philosophy degrees.

Bill Introduced For Hunting Ban

State Representative Sterling Eaton of Plymouth has introduced House Bill 262 which asks that an election be held in Plymouth township to determine if hunting should be banned.

The bill has been referred to the Committee on Conservation and a hearing will probably be set for a future date.

Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay said this week that township citizens are being urged to write Representative Eaton or State Senator John Swainson telling of their sentiments concerning hunting in the township.

The township board last month voted to start action to place the hunting issue on the ballot. But because hunting is under state supervision, it takes the approval of the legislature to exempt a township from hunting.

Supervisor Lindsay said that two other townships also have similar bills before the legislature. He added that sometimes these types of bills have failed and that support of the public is necessary.

Township officials hope to hold the referendum vote before the hunting season starts next fall.

Jaycees Sponsor Air Rifle Safety Shoot Next Week

Between 400 and 500 youngsters are expected to participate Saturday, March 30 in the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce Air Rifle Safety Shoot being held in the high school auditorium.

Held with the cooperation of the Daisy Manufacturing company, the shoot is the first of its kind held in Plymouth, unofficially be called the Air Rifle Capital of the Nation.

Boys and girls from 8 through 15 are eligible to enter the shoot for which all guns, shot and targets are being furnished by Daisy. All shooting will also be supervised.

The Jaycees are offering three trophies, one for each age group. The age groups are 8-9, 10-11 and 12-15.

Hours of the Safety Shoot are 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Only those youngsters who have application blanks signed by one of their parents are eligible to enter. The blanks are now available at the Plymouth schools.

Each boy and girl will fire a total of 20 shots. The first five will be for practice, followed by five standing, five kneeling and five in prone position. There will be 15 firing lines.

The Jaycees are also providing a short talk on safe shooting, a 20-minute movie on the subject and refreshments.

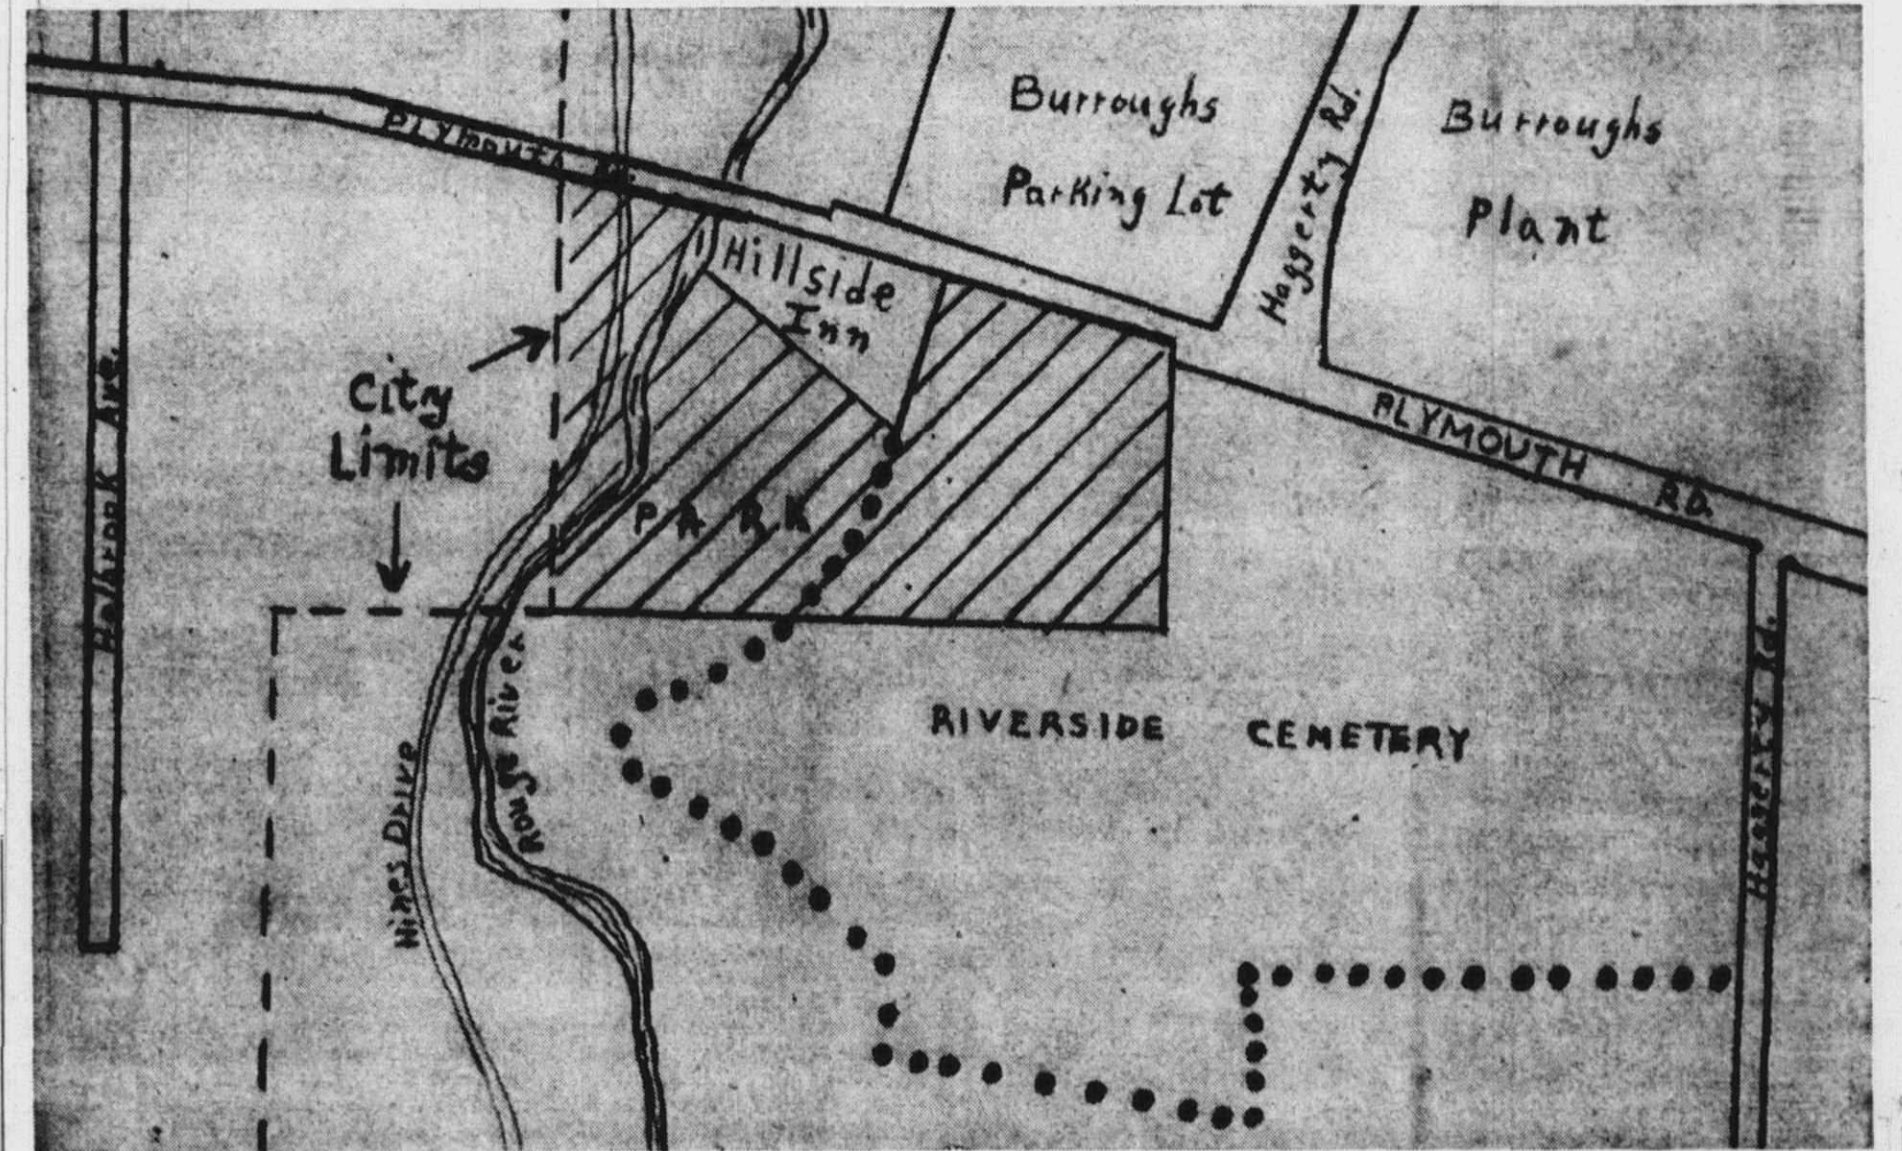

Observance of Wildlife Week Being Stressed

Plymouth members of the Western Wayne County Conservation association are joining the National Wildlife Federation this week in observing National Wildlife Week.

Theme of the week is "Homes for Wildlife", stressing the habitat needs of wild species and the fact that unless Americans act to provide places for wild animals to feed, find safety and rear their young, the nation will lose a valuable resource.

Candidate Sketches Appear Next Week

Next week The Mail will publish biographical sketches of the men who are seeking public office in the city, along with their pictures and their answers to the question of what they would like to achieve while in office.

Plymouth township already has its officials "elected" because there were no opponents filing for any of the offices. Their names will appear on the ballot, however, as a formality. The election will be Monday, April 1.

Teacher Salaries Again Discussed

More consideration of teacher pay hikes for next year and a request of administrators to come up with a method of rewarding teachers for outstanding service were two areas of discussion Monday night at a special meeting of the board of education.

The salary committee of the Plymouth Education association renewed their request for a $400 across-the-board pay hike starting next September. The board was scheduled to tell its own proposal Monday night but had not completed it for presentation.

The salary committee was told that they would be invited to a meeting within two weeks to learn of the board's proposal for pay hikes. The board must decide on pay increases soon in order to include them in the 1957-58 budget.

School administrators were asked by the board during the early part of the meeting to prepare a workable plan for the board to consider by September 1 that would give recognition to teachers for outstanding service.

A "merit" pay plan has been discussed by the board and the School Community Planning Group for over a year. Teachers now are paid only according to years of service and the degrees they hold.

Employment Office Open For Inspection Today

An open house is being planned for today, Thursday, March 21, at the new office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Opened last month at 987 South Mill street, the new building is being opened for public inspection between 2 and 5 p.m. The local Employment Security Commission serves the northwest section of Wayne County, Salem township in Washtenaw county and Lyon township of Oakland county.

City Endorses Bill on Annexation

Spraying of Elms By City Workmen Starts Next Month

City homeowners wanting their elm trees sprayed against Dutch elm disease are being urged to telephone the city hall before April 1, Hugh McAuley, city parks foreman, said this week.

Last year there were three diseased elms found within the city, all of which must be properly destroyed. This is a decrease over recent years. The city has been spraying for two years.

All elms located on public property, such as along the streets, will be sprayed at public expense. But those who have elms on their properties must give permission to spray and must pay a fee of $1 per tree.

Trees will be sprayed about April 1 and again in July. While spray in past years could not be applied except when temperatures were above 40, a new spray will permit application at any temperature.

Last year 2,000 elms were sprayed in the city.

Dutch elm disease is a fungus which attacks the tree under the bark and spreads rapidly from tree-to-tree. Yellowing of the leaves is the first outward sign of infection.

Plymouth city commissioners adopted a resolution Monday night giving support to a bill before the state senate which would place the decision of making annexations up to a circuit court judge.

A telegram has been sent to State Senator John Swainson and to the chairman of the senate committee which yesterday held a hearing on the bill. The telegrams informed the senators that the city commission is in favor of the bill.

Annexation by judicial action instead of by the vote of the public is nothing new. The Michigan bill is patterned after the "Virginia Plan" which was adopted there in 1904. It is also in use in Missouri and Indiana.

Highlights of the bill are these: To initiate annexation proceedings, a resolution of the governing body of the city or village can be filed, with the court, followed by a petition; or, proceedings may be started with a petition to circuit court of persons who collectively own one half or more of the area to be annexed.

Every township to be annexed or city or village to which annexation is sought must be notified of annexation action and every qualified elector is a party in such action and may be heard.

The bill adds that the court must consider the necessity of the annexation based upon the best interests of the city or village; the protection of the health, safety and welfare of the persons residing in the area; whether such territory is needed within the reasonable near future for development of the city or village; and whether the city or village has made a fair and equitable provision for the future management and improvement of the territory.

The Michigan Municipal League, of which Plymouth is a member, is sponsoring the legislation. Present annexation procedure requires the petitions to be approved by county supervisors, followed by a public election.

Opposition to the bill has come from the Michigan Township Officers Association and Michigan Association of Supervisors.

Schoolmen to Discuss Area Junior College

Plymouth's board of education will meet with the boards of four other districts next Wednesday to discuss the possibility of establishing a "Northwestern Wayne Community Junior College".

The South Redford Township board will be host for the meeting at Lee Thurston High school on Schoolcraft road. Board members and the superintendents of five schools have been invited. They are Plymouth, Northville, Livonia, Redford Union and South Redford.

All of the four districts have expressed their interest in a junior college. At a meeting of superintendents of the districts, it was noted that pooling resources for a joint college may be more feasible than attempting the project individually.

FOXES ARE on the increase in this part of Wayne county, according to Edwin Theisen, 2260 Ridge road, who with two companions make fox hunting their hobby. These six foxes were killed in Theisen's neighborhood within two weeks. His party has shot 11 this winter with the help of two hounds. Theisen claims that foxes were almost extinct a decade ago. He has one he keeps as a pet.

Double Ring Rites Performed At Fisher-Podskalny Wedding

Reverend Edgar Hoenecke officiated at the double ring ceremony uniting Marion Elaine Fisher and Brownie Podskalny at 4 p.m. Saturday, March 16, in St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church of Plymouth.

Marion is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Fisher, 11734 Amhurst court. Parents of the bridegroom are the late Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Podskalny of Rainy River, Ontario.

Snadragons, gladioli and mums adorned the candle-decked altar. Mary Lou Hartwick sang "O Perfect Love" with Robert Bartel at the organ.

The bride's floor length gown of imported embroidered nylon tulle had a sabrina neckline trimmed with sequins and pearls. The skirt was of embroidered tulle tufted over a nylon tulle bouffant skirt. Short sleeves with matching gauntlets and a shoulder length veil flowing from a headpiece trimmed with sequins and pearls set off the gown. The bride carried a white Bible with stephanotis and two orchids.

Barbara Folsom of Ann Arbor, maid of honor, wore a gown of coral crystalite, with a boat neckline and bow and streamers from a "V" in back. Bridesmaids Kay Marie Fisher, sister of the bride, Shirley Schockow of Ann Arbor and Amelia Hornel of Detroit wore gowns of blue crystalite fashioned after that of the maid-of-honor. All attendants carried bouquets of crimson roses and wore headbands matching their gowns.

Best man was Matthew Fortney, brother-in-law of the bride. Francis Mitchell, Samuel Stephens and Fletcher Campbell, Jr., cousin of the bride, were ushers. The bride's mother chose a dress of blue lace over taffeta, with matching accessories. Mrs. Nicholas Heuchert, sister of the bridegroom, wore a dress of beige lace and taffeta with pink accessories. Both wore corsages of cymbidium orchids.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor for about 350 guests.

For a honeymoon in Northern Michigan, the bride wore a navy suit with yellow accessories and the orchids from her bridal bouquet.

The newlyweds will reside at 1014 Dewey street in Plymouth.

Youngsters Raise Money for Church By Giving Hayride

Ninth graders of the First Methodist church Sunday school wanted to do something for their church and thought up the idea of sponsoring a hayride as a special project to raise money for a new Sunday school curtain.

Ronald Hess of Warren donated his tractor, wagon and hay for the event, and the class members contributed enough for the curtain, through hayride admission prices. Chaperoning the hayride were Mr. and Mrs. Elden Brieschke of Livonia. Mr. and Mrs. Harger F. Green, Mrs. Arthur Alford and Mrs. Frank Aldrich assisted in serving food.

Marriage Makes Short Stay For Hungarian Refugees

A new world of cowboys and Indians, Mickey Mouse and American hotdogs has opened for Hungarian born Mrs. Barbara Virheh and her son Peter, 7, and daughter, Erika, 10.

Last November 18, Mrs. Virheh and her family walked 25 miles through forest covered hills to reach the Hungarian border and freedom. After nearly two months spent at several processing stations in Austria, the refugee family left Munich and flew by way of Newfoundland to Camp Kilmer, New Jersey.

Then, on February 16 they arrived at Willow Run Airport and were met by Dr. and Mrs. Barry Alford of 14001 Beck road, where their long journey has come to a temporary end.

The Virhehs were settled comfortably in a large remodeled farm house which the Alford family moved into three years ago—but cupid had already claimed Plymouth's first Hungarian family.

Last weekend, Mrs. Virheh was married to a former officer in the Hungarian Army, Otto Marossy, who traveled with them from their hometown in Hungary to freedom. He was separated from them at Camp Kilmer.

Marossy then went to Chicago where the family is now making their permanent residence.

Neither of the Alford spoke Hungarian and both wryly admitted that at first the language barrier was quite a handicap. "But then we learned to speak a language all our own. Not Hungarian and not English, but sort of a combination of both," Mrs. Alford explained.

"Several Hungarian families in Plymouth proved to be invaluable in translating some of our more intricate conversations," the doctor continued. "Mrs. Marquis and Balazs Dobos solved some of our more difficult translation problems."

The Virhehs were from Esztergom, Hungary, a town of 20,000 population just north of Budapest. Mrs. Virheh's husband died of illness in 1952 and since then she has supported her family as a bookkeeper.

A severe food shortage, the devastation of Budapest and the "Russian War" played a major factor in the Virheh's decision to leave their homeland, according to a translation from Mrs. Virheh.

While the language barrier proved a difficulty at home, Peter and Erika seemed to fit into American society immediately. With the help of the five Alford children: Peter, Richard, Michael, Thomas and Janet, the Virhehs have learned American games and enjoy their U.S. made toys.

Like most American children the two enjoy western movies and the Mickey Mouse cartoons on television. Their favorite food consists of American hotdogs, Mrs. Alford reports.

"We found our biggest problem as far as language is concerned was translating each others' intangible thoughts and emotions. But we slowly learned that, too," Dr. Alford said.

Peter and Erika began classes February 25 at the Gallimore school and received a warm welcome and "treatment befitting royalty," according to the Alford. On their first day at school the two children received a rousing welcome in Hungarian from the first grade class.

"Michael Toth, one of the Gallimore teachers, understands Hungarian and must have done considerable coaching to have the children learn their parts," Mrs. Alford laughed.

The Virheh visit was arranged by Alexander Dano, 915 S. Division, Ann Arbor, who is active in refugee relief.

Members of Art Club Learn Clay Modeling

At the March meeting of the Three Cities' Art Club Hilma Aubert, ceramist and artist, guided hands in pinching, wedging and modeling clay into figures animals and pots.

Members saw tiles Mrs. Aubert made for her mosaic of Livonia's City Hall, to be exhibited in the club's outdoor June show of art in Plymouth, Livonia and Northville. Colors were soft greens, rich oranges, grey-blues and a dull oyster white.

A short business meeting was held. Wilfred Becker of Northville was elected exhibition chairman. For several years he has designed the Wayne university exhibit held each spring at the Detroit Institute of Art.

Next meeting of the Three Cities' Art Club will be April 9 at the home of Mrs. Aubert in Livonia.

Washington Reporting

By Mariha Griffiths (U.S. Representative)

The President has presented to the Congress this year a budget calling for an outlay of 72 billion dollars. This represents the greatest tax receipts ever and the greatest Federal spending in peacetime. Actually 63 cents out of every dollar is earmarked for defense, foreign aid and other national security spending. Ten cents out of every dollar will go to pay the interest on the national debt and the remaining 27 cents will maintain our domestic programs for veterans, farmers, labor and welfare, housing, natural resources, etc.

It is my personal judgment that the Defense Department, our largest spender, could reduce its expenditures by billions merely by instituting proper purchase procedures.

Throughout the nation there is much discussion about the Hard Money—Sound Dollar policy of the present administration. Under this "sound" dollar policy there is a scarcity of credit, which restricts production, and rising interest rates which increases costs.

What are some of the results of this policy? The Housing Industry is being strangled by the tight-credit policy. In 1950, 9 houses were constructed for every 1000 persons. In 1956 less than 7 houses were started per thousand population. This is a per capita rate of 27 per cent below the 1950 rate. Virtually all of the substantial decline in housing construction has occurred in the F.H.A. and G.I. loan programs.

Small businesses are fast disappearing from the scene. They are unable to get credit for growth or even survival. Since 1952 small business failures have mounted alarmingly. The 12,686 failures recorded in 1956 were 67 per cent above the 1952 rate. Credit for small business has virtually dried up.

States and municipalities have found it increasingly difficult to sell their bond issues, to get much needed schools, sewers, etc., in the tight-credit market of 1956. Over a quarter of a billion of tax-exempt bond issues were postponed in the fourth quarter of 1956.

NOTE AND COMMENTS . . . Recent visitors to Washington have been: Mrs. Roger G. Kidston, Philip Slomovitz, Rev. and Mrs. Clayton, Helen Curran, Kathleen McBride, Barbara Fletcher, Mrs. L. C. Ericson and daughter, Mrs. S. N. Felthouse, Louis J. Segadelli, Henry Geller, Irving Rose, Mrs. David Harris, Iret F. Ferris, Forrest A. Foster, David Jackson, John Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm MacLeod and family and Leon C. Collier.

In 1951, Marburger was placed on special duty in a defense operation and in 1952, was named foreman of a defense fabricating and machining department. He held this post until his new appointment.

TIPS for TEENS

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

BY ELINOR WILLIAMS

Should a girl date an older boy? It's the cause of an endless argument between this girl and her father—

Q.—Dear Elinor: I am a girl of 14 and I am very fond of a boy who is 17. My father thinks he is too old for me and won't let me see him. All the kids in school think he's the greatest, but my father still won't meet him or let me see him. What can I do?

Ans.—One little detail may have slipped your mind. Your father has lived longer than you . . . and he was a boy himself . . . so he probably has reasons for his "no dates" with the older boy rule.

He knows how it is with boys . . . a boy of 17 usually has different dating privileges, pastimes and friends from a girl of 14 and is doubtless in a different part of his date-life than you . . . he can drive the family car, he can stay out later, he may have had more "experience" in dating and may be necking, than a girl who is just beginning to think of dating.

Your Dad probably wants you to begin dating more gradually in a way that suits YOUR age, not the older boy's . . . so your father won't spend worried, sleepless hours wondering where you are, what you're doing, if you're all right, etc. He knows it's better to learn to swim gradually, by wading into the water first and practicing in shallow water than by leaping into the deep end of the pool before you've learned to swim a stroke. Dating is like that.

Perhaps your father wouldn't object if you see this 17-year-old boy only at your home and when you two go places in your family's car with your father at the wheel. If he still objects, you'll be a smart girl to accept it as gracefully as you can to prevent a big "thing" that might interfere with future dating even with a boy of your own age. Somehow, the less "teeners fuss about dating, the more confidence their parents have in letting them have dates.

The MAIL Attitude

BY PAUL CHANDLER

Running over some brief matters today—
There has been a growing discontent among the population, I have been informed, over the fact that too many potato chips crack and break under strain when they are inserted into cream cheese dip.

A cracker manufacturer recently tackled the nagging problem and today in Plymouth stores it is possible to buy a package of thin wafers known as potato snack. They are light, crisp, made of potato flour, and taste not unlike a potato chip. But they are strong. They can handle at least three times more burden of cheese dip than can an ordinary chip, it is estimated by cracker engineers.

Joe Rucker of Stop and Shop first revealed this new feature of modern living to us, and I assume the crackers are available in most stores which dabble in the chip-and-cheese market.

Since our original home was in the Upper Peninsula, I've always been annoyed by those who overlook that portion of this state, and it is a source of great satisfaction to be able to report that a bill now has been introduced in Lansing stating: "Any person who prepares and publishes a map of the state of Michigan which does not contain both the lower and upper peninsulas shall be guilty of a misdemeanor."

And THAT should take care of the infidels.

What is the most common grammatical mistake by average writers?

Based on the flow of news copy which streams over our desks, I would nominate the mis-use of "affect" and "effect" as the error we see most frequently. In fact, rarely do we see them used correctly.

"Affect" is always a verb. "Effect" almost always is a noun. The dictionary definition of "affect" is "to produce an effect." The "effect" is the "result".
Now who's confused?

The proposed Plymouth "Town Hall Meeting," which has been discussed here a couple of times, now is definitely scheduled to take place in the high school auditorium on Thursday, March 28, at 8 p.m.

Only a few local candidates responded to an invitation by letter, but a telephone follow-up this week proved much more successful. Now a cast of eight or nine is slated to appear on the stage to state their platforms and to answer questions from the audience.

This is a project of the Area Cooperation Group. Next week's newspaper will have all the details, but the meeting is mentioned here so busy people can reserve the date. The "Town Hall" will offer a chance for citizens to meet in person the men who seek their votes for public office.

We devoted a great portion of last week's Plymouth Mail to the story that our community will have a stirring, new addition to its library. The beauty of the plans and magnificence of the gifts are obvious assets of which Plymouth can be proud. One other phase of the project may have been obvious by reading between the lines; but if it wasn't we want to state it here.

The one man who made the completion of the library his own personal fetish; who pushed the project through a number of tough obstacles; and who will leave the library to future generations as a memento of his term in office, is Mayor Russell Daane. He was the quarterback on this library job.

UNDER WARM and sunny skies at Miami Beach, Howard Mackie, 1193 Maple, was given an award by W. A. Toms, Mercury division southern regional sales manager, as one of the top 184 Mercury car salesmen in the nation. Mackie, right, won a four day expense-paid trip to Florida. He is employed by R & H Mercury Inc.

LEADS IN the Plymouth Theatre Guild's next play, "Over 21", have been given Jeannine Dahlager, who plays the part of Polly, and Russell Creel, in the role of Max. Jeannine, whose husband is serving in Korea, is a AAA clerk while Creel is head of public relations at the Plymouth Burroughs plant. The play is April 24-27 at the high school.

Photo Shop Owner, Staff Will Attend International Show

Les Wilson, owner of The Photographic Center, located in the Mayflower Hotel building, and his staff, Ed Reed and Dick Noll, will attend the International Photographic Exposition in Washington, D. C. tomorrow through Sunday, March 31.

The show, geared to amateur interest as well as professional, is said to be the largest of its kind ever staged in the United States, with "acres and acres" of exhibits set up by 240 companies from all over the world. Slide-viewers with built-in changing mechanisms, "sensational" new projectors and an assortment of new cameras will be among exhibits in the American section of the trade show.

Allen School Scouts, Cubs Hold Pot Luck

Two hundred Allen school Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts of Pack 743 joined together at a pot luck supper in celebration of the 47th year of scouting, Thursday, Feb. 28.

After dinner the scouts demonstrated camp-out procedure, under the leadership of George Harbauer. Scouts and their parents formed a friendship circle and joined in song.

Awards were given to cubs for achievements in the past month by cub leader James Graham and to the scouts by Mr. Harbauer. Den mothers were given service awards by Mr. Graham.

The next cub scout leaders' meeting will be Monday, March 18. The next pack meeting will be Thursday, March 28. Indian Lore will be the theme for the month.

Grange Gleanings

The party last Saturday evening at the hall was said by many to be the best one so far, with an "excellent" supper, many card players and a nice group on the dance floor. The next party will be April 13, last one of the season. Details will be given later. These parties are good for social visiting, as well as to see the entertainment.

Charlie Rienas had an unfortunate accident last week, resulting in a short stay at Session's hospital and the loss of part of his left thumb. He is at home now, and feeling fairly well.

Several of the Plymouth Grange travelers have returned from Florida vacations: the Arthur Blunks, the Grammels, the Rotnours, Mollie Tracy and the Roy Amrhiens of Wayne.

Tonight's meeting will feature a program and a travelogue. It is a pot-luck supper, and members are asked to bring dishes and a dish to pass, as usual.

Do Tennis Shoes Cause Flat Feet?
No. Thinking of shoes of any kind causing flat feet is as backward as treating tuberculosis by shutting the patient up in a dark airless room. All feet are weak at first and whether they strengthen or not depends upon the exercise of good foot function. Probably the world's worst record of foot health was compiled by selectees for military service in World War I. These young men had not worn tennis shoes because they were not popular yet and because their parents were so sure that children must wear stiff shoes to "strengthen their ankles." When tennis shoes did become popular among the children they were blamed for causing flat feet. The feet were flat before but stiff shoes concealed the condition. Blaming tennis shoes for causing the trouble is as wrong as attributing baldness to the removal of a hat.

PLYMOUTH SYMPHONY musicians claim that they were able to hear each other for the first time at their last concert when the movable shell was inaugurated. Six 24-foot-long panels are lowered from the ceiling and free-standing panels are erected at the sides. Cost of the project would have been about $6,000 if much of the labor had not been donated.

Symphony Presents 'Shell' to School April 7

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra will present its last concert of the season on Sunday, April 7 at which the new movable shell will be formally presented as a gift to Plymouth high school. Gerald Fischer, president of the Symphony Society, will make the presentation. It was at the last concert that the shell was used for the first time and the Plymouth Symphony, second largest in Michigan, discovered how to convert a sound-absorbing high school gymnasium into a part-time concert hall of high acoustic quality. Reflective and diffusive sound baffles were constructed at low-cost to form a movable "orchestra shell." These baffles—made of panels of corrugated hardboard known as "Evanite Corru-board" angle across the ceiling and alongside a movable stage. High fidelity for both symphony players and listeners has been achieved... and, by confinement of lighting, visual awareness of gym furnishings has been channeled to a concert stage focal point.

This dual purpose gym—athletic and athletic—is convertible either way in minutes. For music purposes, six overhead units hinged at the ceiling for lengthwise lowering, are eased down at the proper acoustic angle by hand-crank and steel-cable winches. Side panels are simply placed on the floor at stage flanks. For gymnasium athletic use, side panels are hustled off and overhead units are drawn up flush with the ceiling, out of the way. "We've experienced a 50 per cent improvement in fidelity and projection by finding the means to convert the Plymouth High School gym from a discordant echo chamber to an acoustically pleasing concert hall," says Wayne Dunlap, conductor of the Plymouth and West Shore Symphonies and former conductor of the University of Michigan Symphony Orchestra. The Plymouth Symphony uses the high school gym in lieu of a local auditorium. "Our simple, economical solution might provide the long-sought answer to comparable problems besetting thousands of school gymnasiums doubling for auditoriums over the country." "A bonus feature is that the ceiling units—each section with its own lighting circuit—can be lowered in pairs to form a band-shell for high school dances, or to provide the setting for many other auditorium functions." The Plymouth Symphony—90 musicians from 20 Michigan communities—is winding up its 11th season on this happy note. In the past, the gym ceiling absorbed some tones while walls and fixtures reverberated other tones. And because of unconfined stage lighting, both musician and audience were always aware that they were in a gymnasium and nothing more. "Our movable orchestra shell changes the gymnasium atmosphere quickly into one of an auditorium—both in attractive, concert-conductive appearances as well as acoustically," Dunlap reports. "As soon as we started tuning up at our last concert, people knew we sounded different. They said it was a much better concert. Players, for instance, for the first time could hear each other in delicate tone situations. Our stage now has intriguing possibilities for tuning and adjusting different instrumental sections for precise balance." The movable setting was constructed from 54 Evanite Corru-board panels, a product of the Evans Products Company of Plymouth. Architect was Peter Tarapata of the Birmingham firm of Smith, Tarapata and McMahon. Builder was Tom Kelly of Plymouth, field man for the Victor Gruen Construction Company. The Plymouth Symphony, supported by memberships in local civic and industrial circles, averages seven home concerts a year plus concert tours afield. Guest soloists frequently appear. Some of its regular players are from the Detroit Symphony.

His present plans are for an immediate vacation in Florida. He will return to Michigan, however, and enjoy his retirement in some active form.

This one's had them rubbing their eyes ever since it landed smack in the middle of the "low-price" field! The handsome rebel you see right here is upsetting tradition right and left on what a modest budget should buy. It's pricing a big 122-inch wheelbase right down with cars from four to seven inches shorter! It's adding a big bonus of extra road-hugging lift—and powering it with an all-new 347 cu. in., 10 to 1 compression ratio Strato-Streak V-8 for highest horsepower per pound in the field! A lot of might and muscle for sure—but it's gentled like nothing else on the road by Pontiac's exclusive Level-Line Ride and Precision-Touch Controls. And remember—the Chieftain's standards of luxury and quality were set by the same men who gave America the incomparable Custom Star Chief Catalinas. What we're leading up to is this: If smaller cars have gotten you down, you can actually buy a Chieftain Pontiac for less than 30 models of the "low-price three"! Why wait any longer to give your spirits and your budget the lift of a lifetime?

Lowest-Priced Series of America's Number 1 Road Car!

Cagers, Swimmers Lose in Season's Playoff Finale

Losse, Brandell Compete In Finals At Lansing

After finishing the season with a remarkable 11-2 record, and walking away with the first Suburban Six swimming title, the Plymouth tankers were included in the speculations of this year's State swimming champions. Last Friday and Saturday the Class A swimming finals were held at the Jenison Field House Pools in Lansing.

The Plymouth swimmers recorded some of their best times of the current season, but they were no match for the times clocked against state competition, which saw one national and one state record being set. The Rocks racked up a lowly 6 points to take 11th place.

Friday evening in the finals of the 400 yd. freestyle event, All American Bill Brandell placed sixth in the time of 4:34.3. The winning time was 4:26.7 with Bechtel of Birmingham setting the pace. Bechtel also won the 200 yd. freestyle with Brandell taking a fourth in his fastest time of the year. Brandell's time of 2:01 flat was exactly one second slower than Bechtel's 2:00 flat, which established a new state record.

Art Losse was squeaked out of second place in the diving finals by less than four points. In between those four big points came two other finalists, which left Art with a fifth place. T. Francis of Ann Arbor won the coveted number one spot with 207.6 points. Charles Canales of Battle Creek took second with 176.1 points.

Peter Duncan eked out third position by two tenths of a point, with Berryman of Flint Central taking fourth with 172.9 points.

Losse finished in fifth with 172.25. Royal Oak's Gilanders established a new national record in the 100 yd. orthodox breaststroke as he was timed at an incredible 37.2. The orthodox breaststroke is a comparatively new event in Michigan high school swimming.

Some of the good times recorded for Plymouth which were not good for positions are: Denny Baker in the 100 yd. freestyle at 56.3, Jim Archer in the 100 yd. breaststroke with a 1:05.2, (Jim finished seventh) Mike Todd was clocked at 1:13.4 for his best time of the season, the 200 yd. medley relay team of John Gregory, Mike Todd, Bob Isbister, and Don Carney hit a fast 1:53.6, and the freestyle relay team of John Williams, Ed Stretanski, Denny Baker, and Don Carney set a fast pace of 1:40 flat.

Ann Arbor repeated as state champions, (Plymouth lost to Ann Arbor by one point in a dual meet this season) Battle Creek took second, Royal Oak - third, Jackson - fourth, North Hill - fifth, and Birmingham - sixth.

Letter winners will be given their awards at a swimming banquet to be announced later.

Sports Seen

By Bob Young

You sports fans have finally broke the ice and made your remarks to me like I've requested you to. You still haven't gone so far as to write but you have spoke to me with reference to the column. Your subject of discussion was the basketball game between Plymouth and Jackson at Bowen Field House last Thursday.

I'm sorry to say I missed the first half of the game, which so many of you fans have said was a little slow and a little unfair. The grips was had on in boys, girls, men and women.

It seems you loyal fans were a little discouraged with the officiating at the Class A Regionals. I'm certainly no authority but of the few calls I saw I think you were all just about correct. Any-way thanks for the info, and if you should have any gripes or complaints or questions pertaining to sports, sportsmen, or sportsmanship, let me hear from you.

Last Sunday afternoon my friend Skip Rambo, his mother Lee Rambo, and I went out and played seven holes of golf. The weather was typically spring, the course was slightly wet, and the spirit of golf was there. What I enjoyed was this was the first time I had a golf club in my hands.

Skip lead off with a beautiful, long hit. Lee stretched out a real long one, and I dribbled off the edge of the tee. We each took our turns with Skip and his mother reaching the first hole in about four. By the time I had crawled over the fences and back to the fairway (where do they get the word fair?) I had about set par for the full course.

Anyhow as the game progressed I began to get a few lucky shots and by the time we had made he par three sixth hole I could just about determine where my ball was going to curve to. Incidentally we did play the outts, because of the wet conditions.

After we had completed six holes our stomachs were growling, and our shoulders howling so we decided to play back to I believe the ninth hole. There was a group of men teeing off just before us and we noticed some were trying to guide around a big tree in front of the tee off, (properly named) the others were trying to go over.

Skip and Lee decided to go around and did so perfectly but the way my ball was curving I decided to go through. I aimed left of the next green and just about straight for the trees and swing. I followed the ball with my eyes. It sailed nicely through the air, missed the trees, and landed a few hundred yards off to the right of the green. Good 'Grief how curvy a curve can you get?

Well we all looked fairly decent on the last hole with Skip and Lee making the par and me going one over par. Skip and I tried a little contest of putting with me running a slow second. I'm still torquing my old philosophy of the ridiculousness of chasing a little white ball and the enjoyment of the outdoors. At any rate it was fun.

Those Detroit Red Wings have done it again. For the eighth time in nine seasons the Wings have copped the National Hockey League championship. The Wings dumped second place Montreal last Sunday evening to cinch the championship for the twelfth time in twenty four seasons.

I hadn't thought about any choices in the state basketball tournaments until athletic director John Sandman asked if I had made any. When I got home I started studying the teams and here are my choices for state championships. In the Class A Tournaments I would have to go along with last year's champions,

Grade Crown Won By Starkweather

Starkweather's grade school basketball team wound up the season last Saturday afternoon with a decisive 15-7 victory to capture the circuit title with a 11-1 record. Bird, who was inactive, copped second with an 8-4 record, Smith slid into a two way tie with Catholic for third after dropping a 14-9 decision to Lutheran Day School, who tied Allen for fifth, Canton Hill ended the season in the cellar after suffering a 15-7 defeat at the hands of league leading Starkweather.

Starkweather outpointed Canton Hill in the first quarter 10-7 before both teams froze out in the second. The Starkweather five came back with five points while holding the opposition scoreless in the final half to win their eleventh game of the season.

Lutheran Day upset Smith in the final game of the season to pull into a two way tie for fifth. Smith jumped to an early 6-3 first quarter edge before the Lutheran team exploded for six points to take a slim 9-6 halftime lead. Lutheran outscored the Smith squad five to three in the final half to grab the 14-9 triumph.

After trailing at halftime 6-4 the Allen team put the pressure on Catholic but fell short by one as they lost in the final 18-17. Catholic scored seven field goals and four free throws to account for their 18 points while Allen scored seven field goals and three free throws for seventeen.

The incomparable Chassell squad should have no trouble in the D playoffs. The little school is 22-0 for the season and are now working on a victory string of thirty six. Another victorious squad in Class D competition is Gaylord St. Mary with a 25-0 record.

This Saturday afternoon you sports fans will have the opportunity of watching the Michigan Junior Badminton championship tournaments being held in the Plymouth High School gymnasium. The preliminaries will begin at 10 a.m. with finals starting about seven Saturday evening. Tom Carmichael, Tom Lock, Fred Libbing and Jim Houk among the local talent participating.

SEE YOU NEXT WEEK.

Jackson Triumphs Over Plymouth Cage Squad

The end of the second of the three sporting seasons has rolled around for the members of this year's varsity basketball squad. Four of the eight players on this year's team will be back to test their skills next season, but four of them have played in their final high school basketball game. The four are: Captain Ken Calhoun, Jerry King, Biff Tait, and Paul Cummings.

Last Thursday evening the Plymouth cagers traveled to Eastern Michigan College's Bowen Field House to encounter the Vikings of Jackson. The occasion was the second round of the Class A Regional basketball playoffs. The result was a 46-35 defeat for the local hoopsters.

Plymouth, who won their first round against Wayne 48-47, found themselves trailing 9-0 with just a few minutes ticked from the clock in the opening quarter. The Rocks managed to pull within four points of the winners at the end of the first quarter.

Jerry King put on an individual scoring spurt to pull the Rocks into contention in the second period as he bucketed one field goal and six straight free throws for eight of Plymouth's 10 points. The score at the end of the second period found Plymouth on the short end of a 22-19 score.

The locals, who have been noted for their last minute victories this season, garnered five points in first three minutes of the third quarter to pull within two points of the Vikings, but unfortunately the rally was halted and Jackson continued to score and pull away to their third quarter seven point lead.

The Rocks managed to slice the lead to four points with four

60 Hear Talk on Mental Health

More than 60 women of the Women's society of Christian Service of the Newburg Methodist church heard Rev. George Jerome, Protestant chaplain at the Northville State Mental hospital speak Monday. Introduced by Mrs. Harold Mackinder, program chairman, Rev. Jerome spoke on "The Church and Mental Health," explaining the complicated functioning of a mental hospital. He spoke of the new tranquilizing medicines but emphasized the need for love and understanding. At the close of a short business meeting, the group had coffee and dessert provided by the Rhoda circle.

Historical Society Invited To Make Museum Display

The Plymouth Historical Society has been invited to set up a display of articles from out of the community's past in the Detroit Historical Museum.

Simeon Weeks, assistant curator of the Detroit Historical Museum, extended the invitation during last Thursday's meeting of the Plymouth Historical Society at the Veteran's Memorial hall.

Appointed to make necessary arrangements for the Plymouth exhibit were Edward J. Cutler, chairman; Ernest Henry, Karl Starkweather, Roy A. Fisher and Miss Nancy Johnson. All Plymouth citizens having old photos of early inhabitants, street scenes, buildings or events, are invited to contact a member of the committee for loan.

Also wanted are old dishes, various objects or tools used in Plymouth of yesteryear, Plymouth school books, letters, documents, or furniture.

Weeks assured the society that the display will be well-guarded during the two month exhibit. Similar displays have already been provided from Royal Oak and Livonia. Only localities having a historical society are being invited to furnish displays.

The main feature of Thursday's program was presented by Mrs. Dora Wood who gave a well-prepared paper depicting life in Plymouth just after the turn of the century. The entire presentation was based on a special Souvenir Edition of the Plymouth Mail dated Friday, April 12, 1901. Mrs. Wood presented the information into a compact and interesting narrative.

A new steel cabinet to be used for safe deposit of the society's valuable papers and objects has gone into use in the Veterans Memorial Home. The first $25 towards its purchase was donated by the Detroit Book Review club. The balance was met by Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Campbell of the society. Another member, Romey Wood, arranged for its purchase at wholesale price and Leonard Millross arranged its delivery and setting up. A small plate will designate it as a memorial to a former society president, the late Mrs. Grace Campbell-Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. David Taylor and Mrs. Stella Bald were welcomed as new members. The next meeting will be April 11.

Members of NHS Chosen on Grades, Teachers' Ratings

Present members of the National Honor Society will honor seniors who have a B average, or better.

Honor society members have been keeping displays in the show cases on the first floor. The 16 members passed out canisters for the March of Dimes; then collected them, counted the money and turned the money over to the March of Dimes. They have been chosen by the Student Council to select pictures for the walls of the high school building.

Members are chosen on the basis of four qualities: character, leadership, citizenship and scholastic performance. The scholastic record comes from the CA-39 cards; a permanent record, which is kept down in the guidance office.

Students must have a B average or better. No student who has a mark of D on his card from the ninth to the second half of the eleventh grade can belong.

Teachers rate the students in the other three categories and the results from all four are totaled.

If a student qualifies, he is asked to join. Officers of NHS this year are Fred Libbing, president; Ann Goddard, secretary; Judy Varish, treasurer; and Carol Clarke, vice president.

'Hour of Sharing' Appeal Made by Faiths March 31

Our three great religious faiths—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish—currently are appealing for support for their overseas relief programs through which assistance is given annually to many millions of hungry and homeless people, refugees from aggression and victims of disaster.

These appeals, in which Americans emphasize through their houses of worship their spiritual acceptance of the common brotherhood of man, are:

The "One Great Hour of Sharing" observance of the 1957 United Appeal in major Protestant churches on Sunday, March 31.

The "Bishops' Relief Fund Appeal" in Roman Catholic Churches on Sunday, March 31.

The "Emergency Rescue Fund" of the United Jewish Appeal currently in progress and continuing throughout this period.

Through these independent but common-purpose ministries of mercy, accounting for more than 80% of all of America's voluntary overseas relief efforts, the greatest possible good is achieved at the lowest cost.

This is possible because in the world-wide organization networks of the religious faiths—as nowhere else—there are thousands of voluntary workers available in every country, keeping expense at a minimum and person-to-person contact at a maximum.

For example, in the sharing of U.S. surplus commodities with the needy overseas—through which more than a billion pounds were distributed by religious agencies in 1956—each contributed dollar expended made available more than 200 lbs of food (in many cases more than 400) pounds to relieve human misery among the chronically under-nourished and underprivileged.

With all the quiz shows around, it's kind of interesting to see the results of a Gallup Poll on famous quotations.

Briefly, Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Public came out about as well as a Ubangi trying to build an atom bomb with a do-it-yourself kit. About 48% of the folks in the quiz remembered that Patrick Henry said, "Give me liberty, or give me death." But most of the questions brought out more glassy-eyed stares than they did right answers. The highest score on the list went to Mae West's famous quip, "Come up and see me sometime." 61% got that one right... but only 14% knew it was Woodrow Wilson who said, "The world must be made safe for democracy."

I guess the moral is that none of us better count on having our sayings remembered beyond the middle of next week.

One of our local gun collectors is pleased to announce that he has acquired two brand new small pistols. It seems that one of his cats had gittens.

A newspaper in Denver suggests that anybody who says he understands international affairs these days is two weeks behind the news. Sort of a comforting thought, isn't it?... It's always comforting to put your reliance in the right doctor to see you through a health problem... You'll find it's comforting, too, to put his prescriptions in our hands for prompt, dependable filling. There's no prescription service finer.

Remember... Someone you know, knows me...

Essay Winners in The Mail's 'Local Problems' Contest

These are two more of the winning essays in The Mail's "Local Problems" contest. Winners presented today are in Grades 7-9 while next week's edition will present the Grades 10-12 category. Their subjects were selected from a list of five which adults in the community believe are the most urgent problems.

A DULL, UNINTERESTED AND UNINFORMED BODY OF VOTERS IN BOTH THE CITY AND TOWNSHIP (First Prize)

Like those early Plymouthites that moved to Massachusetts so long ago, we have problems. The records seem to indicate that the voters in both the City and Township are a dull and uninformed body of people. This apparently is the reason for the large degree of apathy at the election polls. In studying what has been done about this inertia in the past, I find that certain groups have tried to solve this problem just within their own structure - or have had an axe to grind.

My solution to this problem is to pattern after our namesakes. We point with pride to our Colonial motif. Well then, let's create something more "Plymouth" than even her architecture. This would be a Plymouth Town Meeting.

Our Plymouth Town Meeting should be held as near as possible to the center of our area. In the summer, it could be held in the park, perhaps with a short band concert preceding the forum. The brains that were back of this contest might be the initial organizers. They seem good at stirring up action. The publications here in town could help with the publicity. Our present President of the Chamber of Commerce would make a swell moderator. It should always be programmed by people interested in the facts. If one side is presented, give the other. Allow the people to draw their own conclusions. Treat each other with respect and dignity. Invite students to give debates, panels and discussions on issues at their own level. Radio stations might pick up some better programs for rebroadcasts. Life, or some other magazine, might give us a spread.

Plymouth has many organizations just waiting to assist in worthwhile community projects. These groups could be scheduled to host the various meetings. I would say these meetings could be held every two weeks in the evening, say from seven to eight. People might come at first to entertained, but if the programs were handled well, and they were made to feel necessary, they would come again and again.

Our churches and clubs in Plymouth are well attended. People believe in them. Our Symphony Society is well applauded. The Recreation Department holds classes in so many fields. People have the time for them. I believe that the people of Plymouth want good government, and if shown the means of expression they would respond favorably to the tradition and color of a Town Meeting to educate its citizenry on international, national, state and local problems. Also, we would be training a reserve of younger Americans to face intelligently the issues of the future. Once these meetings were a success, the polls on election day would best tell the story.

The architecture of the Almighty shines from within as well as on the surface. The spirit and knowledge gained from this Town Meeting experience would draw the community closer together, help us to be worthy of the truly American traditions and spiritual ideals of early Plymouth and settle our problem of apathy toward elections.

Hear Ye, Hear Ye - The Town Meeting is now called to order.

A DULL, UNINTERESTED, UNINFORMED, BODY OF VOTERS IN BOTH CITY AND TOWNSHIP (Second Prize)

For one-hundred eighty years our country has been an independent nation, joined together to stay together, one nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

Our privileges are many, our problems are many. But what are we doing about our problems?

One of our problems is getting the American adult to vote. We have elections to let the people know who is running for office. They have elections televised and some adults only switch channels, caring nothing about what the speaker has to say.

One of our human rights state that we have the right to take part in our government by voting in free elections. If the voting is free why doesn't everyone take part in it?

We are not pleased with what we have. The United States is a powerful nation, it is like the famous quotation (a house divided within it self cannot stand). The United States is the house and the American adult who is uninterested in the political affairs of our country, may be the one who splits it.

The uninterested voter asks, "How can one little vote change the nation?" If everyone felt as this so called voter feels, no one would vote, and an unwanted party may take over (what has been up to now) a free United States, and then we may not be so free.

If we are to keep our nation free, we must vote and make sure we get into office the person or persons of our choice.

He pointed out that as a result of three requests from school districts in Salem and Superior Townships for a meeting with the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District and school officers from the five primary school districts in the area from which non-resident students are now attending Plymouth High School were invited to be present.

A common concern was expressed about the continued availability of high school facilities for their children. Without exception all those present expressed gratitude for the services extended to their high school youth by the Plymouth Community School District and made a common plea that these be continued.

They noted the overwhelming desire on their part for annexation to the Plymouth School District.

It was pointed out that annexation of more area at this time was unacceptable. Some assurance was given that the high school students might continue in Plymouth at least during the foreseeable future.

Mr. Haesche and Mr. Dirks of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company discussed with the Board the possibility of securing permission to tap into the 8" portion of the Gallimore School sewer which extends across Michigan Bell Telephone Company property and lies north of Ann Arbor Road.

It was agreed that the school board would discuss the matter further and decide the planning board of their decision prior to the planning board's meeting on Thursday, February 21.

The Board reaffirmed quite strongly their feeling that they favored a R1 zoning along Mill Street adjacent to the school property. Mr. Fischer and Mr. Smith were delegated to talk with Mr. Galin relative to his warehouse and advise the Board.

The Board adjourned briefly to visit the Junior High School site and the Gallimore School, returning to the high school.

LANSING REPORTING

By JOHN SWAINSON
(State Senator)

Even before our warm-weather spell, I was somewhat concerned with our summer plans. Not my family's plans as such—yours and ours, neighbors.

This week, legislation was introduced into the Senate that presented quite a dilemma for me. It has been proposed that parking in our State parks will be allowed henceforth only to persons purchasing a sticker to be displayed on their windshields for $2.00 per year. (If you don't purchase this sticker, you would be charged fifty cents per day).

This could probably be considered merely a parking charge in our State parks, it is claimed. In reality, it is a tax to use the facilities which have been paid for out of the State's 'General Fund' over a period of years—and, the 'General Fund' is created by all our taxes. Specifically, this would amount to paying to use something you have already paid for. In effect, this might be considered double taxation.

Of course, the persons bearing the largest part of the proposed "parking fee" burden would be the citizens using the parks most—in other words, those people least able to own or rent private recreational facilities.

The tourist business in Michigan is the second largest business we have. It produces some $600 million in income for our citizens, directly and indirectly. The tourists coming to Michigan and our own people need more parks and recreational facilities. The revenue anticipated by the "parking charge" would bring in some $2 million to add new land for park development as well as to increase the facilities of our present parks. Of course, more employees would be necessary to enforce this "parking fee", thereby diminishing the estimated revenue.

With an already great demand on the General Fund from other sources, this revenue would relieve that demand somewhat—but there would still have to be appropriations to meet the needs for more parks.

Surrounding Plymouth are some of the most beautiful parks in the State. These were built with public funds for the use of all our citizens. Would we be justified in charging those same citizens a fee to stop in those parks? It seems that my problem in Lansing, in working out a policy on this issue, is directly related to this question. Even though I favor economy, I don't feel I can vote for this proposed legislation.

I would like to know how my readers feel about this problem, especially because it would help to achieve the best policy. If you will address your letters to me in care of this paper, I would be in the best position to represent the people of this district because I will have heard directly from you.

Parent Firm of B-G-R Shows Profit Increase

Because its customers are spread over a wide range of industries, the Associated Spring Corporation, of which the local Barnes-Gibson-Raymond is a division, was able to offset a decline in its orders from the automotive industry in 1956 and maintain its total volume of business at about the same level as in 1955. Carlyle F. Barnes, president, told stockholders in the annual report. Shipments last year declined $100,000 from the previous year, but net profits went up 8.3 per cent above the 1955 profit of $3,096,241.

The Northville adult camera club will meet at 7:30 p.m. this evening in the basement of the library on Wing street in Northville.

A tape recorded lecture, "My Camera in Search of a Subject," by Fred Archer will be given. The lecture makes use of photographic matter in unlikely spots, such as trash in the wastebasket, around the bare feet of a model used in landscape shots, along highways and in common places the photographer is likely to pass up.

Members are asked to bring a pet gadget to show and demonstrate.

BOOK REVIEW

KEEPING UP WITH THE TIMES

By R. Roy Pursell

BIBLE ATLAS, by Emil G. Kraeling; published by Rand McNally; price, $8.95.

Information never before published in a Biblical reference book or atlas is included in a new and completely different Bible Atlas just off the presses of Rand McNally & Company, Chicago.

Utilizing information gleaned from archaeological excavations in the Holy Land reported only three months ago, Rand McNally has produced the most complete Biblical study of its kind.

Authored by Dr. Emil G. Kraeling, noted scholar and Biblical authority, the 488-page book maintains a continuous beginning-to-end historical narrative to the Great Book, with special emphasis on places, people, and events.

The Bible Atlas also includes 40 pages of full-color maps, about 200 photographs obtained from all parts of the world, and 50 black and white maps.

Helps in School Work. This volume makes its debut at a particularly significant time. As all the world focuses attention on the Middle East, a land shrouded in the fascination of yesterday, the Bible Atlas unveils the Holy Land in the light of modern-day discoveries.

For example, the book places the exact location of Gibeon, a Biblical mystery until archaeological findings were reported only three months ago; gives the exact date of the first fall of Jerusalem as found in the newly-discovered Chronicle of Nebuchadnezzar; and utilizes the most recent findings in the Dead Sea Scrolls which relate to the Bible.

Produced as a guide to interpret names, places, and events contained in the Holy Scriptures, the Bible Atlas serves as an excellent continuing reference to the layman, clergyman, or Biblical college, or high school student.

Senator Potter reports

... the latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan ...

CONVENTIONS, like crocuses, sprout in Washington's spring-time. Last week 2,000 members of the building trades unions met here for their annual legislative huddle. Michigan sent 200 delegates and 16 of them came into my office for a talk. Painters, roofers, carpenters, bricklayers, plumbers and electrical workers, led by Mr. Andy Virtue, Secretary of the Michigan State Building Trades Council, and Mr. Fergus Johnson, President of the State Conference of Bricklayers, came to call. Detroit was well represented, with a sprinkling from Grand Rapids, Dearborn, and Lansing. These gentlemen have some pretty sound legislative aims which I wholeheartedly support. They did a thorough job of getting around to all eighteen Michigan congressmen and both senators, and are building solid support for their bills.

A TOUCHDOWN has been scored by Michigan's Capitol Hill team, and a fast one at that. We've persuaded the Department of Agriculture to abandon its plan to lower moisture requirements for tough wheat and to make other changes, all of which would have down-graded Michigan wheat and cost our farmers well over half a million dollars a year. On Wednesday, I called on Secretary of Agriculture Benson, accompanied by four wheat-district congressmen. We presented our case. On Friday I was notified that we'd won. It took exactly 48 hours. That's speed by any standard.

Plymouth Students Will Be Attending Model UN Meeting

Five Plymouth High School students will attend the Model United Nations Assembly at Hillsdale College tomorrow and Saturday.

Representing Brazil will be seniors Charles Westover, William Mandt, Jim Hardimon, Ed Miller and Dieter Dietrick. The group's adviser is American history and government teacher Miss Gertrude Fiegel.

Tomorrow marks the start of MUNA-1957's general procedure when registration and room assignments in college dormitories will take place, followed by the first session of the assembly. Officers will be elected then.

Also featured at the first session will be a general debate on the Hungarian situation, the Middle East conflict, including discussions of the problems between Arabs and Israelis and on the Suez canal crisis, and finally, a debate concerning disarmament. Students will air the opinions and stands of Brazil on these questions.

The delegates will then form committees where individual groups will discuss the items on the agenda and devise a special set of resolutions. Friday night, delegates will attend a banquet held in conjunction with the Hillsdale Rotary club. William F. Howell, director of personnel and administration of the international bank of development and reconstruction, will be speaker.

A recreation hour, including swimming in the college pool, will take place Friday evening. Saturday morning committees will hold their second session and complete resolutions which are later brought to the Second Plenary Session and disposed of by the General Assembly.

MUNA is sponsored by the International Club of Hillsdale and the local Rotary clubs. It is supported by over sixty Rotary clubs in Michigan and Ohio with 71 schools in attendance last year. More are expected to take part this season.

Play Premiere Will Be Given At High School

Premiere of "Meet Me in St. Louis," second all-school play of the year, is slated for 8 p.m. tonight and tomorrow in the high school auditorium.

Dramatized by Christopher Sergel from Sally Benson's book of the same name, the play is a situation comedy which is concerned with the escapades of the Smith Family of St. Louis, in the year 1904. That year is noted for the opening of the first Hudson River tunnel, the coming of Caruso, and more important to the family, the World's Fair in St. Louis, Mo.

After hearing of their father's transfer to a better job in New York, the younger members of the family, including two teenage girls, Rose and Esther, tom-boy Agnes, and mischievous Tootie and Lon, form a common bond, their goal being to prolong the stay in St. Louis. Their menageries range from derailment of a trolley car to clever and accidental maneuvering of their cat, Lady Babbie.

Other members of the Smith household include Mrs. Smith's father, Grandpa Propahater, and Katie the cook; Mr. Dodge, the boss of Mr. Smith; Mr. Duffy, his "yes man"; Ida and Lucille, Lon's girlfriends; neighbor Mrs. Waughop; and John and Fred, the eldest girls' beaux; complete the cast.

Remove Excess Wax To Brighten Up Floors

A complete refinishing is not always necessary when limited areas of floors become dingy. Often the smudge is caused by dirt imbedded in the wax. The floor boards may be in good shape.

In this case, the wax and dirt can be removed by a petroleum base solvent. A fresh coat of wax will be needed after cleaning.

A Woman's Eye View . . .

by Virginia Robertson

"Honesty is the best policy" is a much quoted maxim, and yet, how many go to the extra effort to live up to this ideal completely? Evidently there are some in Plymouth who do, as evidenced by the following letter received at Dunning's store recently:

Dear Sirs:

Some time ago, I made a purchase in your store and was undercharged $2. I paid $1.75 for a dozen diapers that should have been $3.75. At the time my husband went back to pay the $2 but the salesladies were busy. He was in a hurry, and so he didn't wait.

I hope you will forgive me for being so long in making up the $2. You will find it enclosed.

Very truly yours,
A Customer

Customer forgiven, I'm sure.

I heard a story recently about a male efficiency expert who said that a housewife should get through her work in two hours.

"The old saying that a housewife's work is never finished is rubbish," claims C.W.H. Jones of the British Productivity Council. "In the average household of four, a housewife, with effective planning, should get through her daily routine in just over two hours."

A member of the audience asked the lecturer what happened in his home.

"The same as everywhere else, I'm afraid," confessed Jones. "I dare not mention the subject of efficiency to my wife. She's the boss in the kitchen."

Speaking of efficiency, here's a new way to have everything "extra-organized" in the morning. A wife became very distressed with the outfits her husband came up with each morning. He would grope in the drawer with his eyes still shut and grab onto any shirt and tie he happened to touch—plaid shirts with repp ties—it made no difference. Finally, his wife latched onto the system of folding a tie with each shirt when she put it in his drawer after ironing it. No fuss, no bother now.

This is the annual worry time for home owners with trees that appear to be bleeding to an untimely end. The bleeders are maples, and they should offer no cause for home owners' alarm. All maples, including the tree which produces maple sugar, will run sap when conditions are right—warm sunny days and frigid nights during the late winter and early spring.

Sugar "icicles" often form on branch ends from natural or man-made wounds. These may be unsightly, but are not harmful to the trees.

"A diamond," notes George Jessel, "is the hardest substance known to man—especially when he's trying to get it back."

Well, here's one solution to this dilemma. Why shouldn't American men wear engagement rings, too? Also, why shouldn't the lady in case pay for the ring? Then, they'd come out even in the deal, at least.

German men wear both engagement and wedding rings. The engagement ring is worn on the third finger of the left hand. After marriage, both wedding ring and engagement ring are worn on the right hand.

If a girl insists a man must promise to wear a wedding ring, as seems to be the present trend, she certainly shouldn't object to buying him an engagement ring.

The Germans might have an idea worth thinking about there.

NEW BOOKS LENDING LIBRARY At The Wayne County

The other side of the world holds a strange fascination of remoteness to many, and popular novelists today are reflecting the public's interest in travel, as shown in several of the new books arriving last week at the Plymouth branch of the Wayne County library.

In a North African setting, Ann Bridge in "The Lighthearted Quest" takes the reader on a fascinating excursion to an exotic and restless part of the world. A touch of adventure, political insight and romance add to the story.

"Roman Candle" is Letitia Beldridge's account of her dream come true, a job in Europe and a love affair with the Italian people.

Three young Eurasians experience love and betrayal, disillusionment and fulfillment in wartime Shanghai in Diana Chang's "The Frontiers of Love," a novel of the search for identity.

Modern Egypt is the scene of action in Maarten Schiemer's "The Cry of the Kite," tale of a young South African journalist in an exciting intrigue.

Transatlantic travel, the way "to get there," is used by David Beatty as the theme for his novel, "The Proving Flight." Tension mounts among conflicting personalities on a test flight non-stop from London to New York.

The story of the ancient wonders inspires Lowell Thomas to a world-wide search for present day marvels, resulting in "Seven Wonders of the World."

For those who prefer not to venture so far in their readings, there is "Mission to Mackinac." Myron David Orr brings life to the turbulent days of early Northern Michigan and to a 20-year-old girl's ideas of love and happiness. "Darcy's Harvest" is the story of a 16-year-old girl's adventures, written by Lynn Bronson.

Several anthologies are among the library's new books this week. T. E. Diky edits "The Best Science Fiction Stories and Novels" from 1956, stories about tomorrow and its people. Fred Lewis Patee selects best stories by such authors as Poe, Hawthorne, Henry James, O. Henry and others in "American Short Stories."

A collection by T. S. Eliot which is now at the library is "Essays on Elizabethan Drama." Plot stories of 500 famous novels, plays, tales and epic poems, edited by Frank N. Magill, can be found in "Masterpieces of World Literature" in digest form.

On the theatrical side, "The Chalk Garden," a play by Enid Bagnold, tells of the world of a woman who has turned her imaginative granddaughter into an impish, spoiled introvert.

Interest in our Civil War, as reflected by two library acquisitions, Clement Eaton describes how the decision for the war was made in the South and how the battle was lost in his "History of the Southern Confederacy." "Battles and Leaders of the Civil War" is one volume edition of Civil War history, selected and edited by Ned Bradford. It contains stories of the big and little names, of lost dispatches, of broken ranks, of pillaging and of monumental bravery and anguish.

H. G. Wells' "The Outline of History," and Winston Churchill's "History of the English Speaking Peoples," Volume II, take a broader look at history.

New books of the business world are "Designing for People," Henry Dreyfuss' tale of what he has learned about the average American from his 20 years of industrial designing, and "A Teacher is a Person," an educational autobiography by Charles H. Wilson.

Bowlers who'd like to add 50 pins to their score may find Howard J. Lewis' "Complete Guide to Better Bowling" of interest. It gives tips for women bowlers, for League play and for deck pins. Another "complete" book is Richard R. Penska's "Complete Modern Tree Expert's Manual."

Matthew Mandl's "Television Servicing," Kenneth M. Swezey's "Chemistry Magic," and the "Radio Amateur's Handbook" are other new additions to the library shelves.

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

Mayonnaise Adds Flavor To Hamburgs

For an emergency supper one evening, John C. Smith did some experimenting with ground beef, added a dash of mayonnaise that "just happened" and came up with a new way to prepare hamburgers.

Mrs. Smith adopted the recipe for her family, improvising and combining it with several other recipes. It has since become a real favorite among the three menfolk in the Smith family: husband John C. and sons John and Eric.

Special Hamburgers

2 pounds ground beef
2 eggs
1/4 teaspoon salt
pepper
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 1/2 cups oatmeal
1 onion, minced
1/4 cup milk
Mix ingredients. Shape into a flat patty. Brown both sides in skillet and simmer until done. Serve on hot rolls with relishes. Recipe also makes an excellent meat loaf.

ERIC SMITH, tenth grader at Plymouth High School, watches as his mother, Mrs. John C. Smith of 644 Ann, prepares her special hamburger recipe. Mayonnaise is the surprise ingredient for this meat dish.

4-H Clubs Attend Potluck Supper, Modeling Clinic

Approximately 100 attended the Sheldon 4-H Community Club pot-luck supper held Tuesday, March 12, at the Sheldon Methodist Church.

Guests were Barbara Garab, Urban 4-H Club agent, and Mrs. Ada Watson, principal of the Sheldon and Walker schools.

For entertainment, Carolyn Koret and Barbara Sturtevant gave a demonstration on "How Not to Give a Demonstration," a style show was held with the first year girls modeling aprons, and Ina Hansen and Dick Shannon presented musical pieces. Square dancing followed.

The next meeting will be April 12, and new members are cordially invited.

Asphalt Protects Posts From Moisture Damage

Wood posts that will rest on concrete, masonry, or other wood can be protected from dampness by cementing a piece of asphalt roofing to the bottom of the post.

The asphalt, best waterproofing agent known to man, keeps water from being absorbed by the porous end grain of the wood.

Another "waterproofing" problem—condensation on the floors of houses built over crawl spaces—has been eliminated by the heavier asphalt roll roofings. This material is laid on the ground beneath the crawl space and prevents moisture from rising out of the ground into the house.

Power Saw a Near Must If Planning Big Household Jobs

Planning an important spring-time job like a new bedroom in the attic, a new basement recreation room or a garage?

If so, you'll find yourself with a lot more heavy wood cutting to contend with than you've probably had before. You'll be dealing with a lot of 2x4 studs, boards for window headers, flooring or siding, paneling and molding.

You can save yourself effort and costly lumber waste by planning carefully to use stock lengths of wood and paneling wherever possible. The lumber can be used either at full length or cut to fit two or more places calling for odd lengths. For example, use a 10-foot stock 2x4 to supply two 5-foot lengths.

If you do not own a power saw, you'll probably discover it's a must after your first arm-wear day on the job. A large proportion of power saw sales are made to persons undertaking their first major improvement job.

They find that the portable electric tool not only saves elbow grease and time, since it cuts about 14 times faster than by hand, but provides more accuracy.

To aid home handymen with such projects, engineers have developed a new portable model constructed strong enough for general purpose trade use by carpenters, but priced at a level (49.95) for do-it-yourself fans.

The 6 1/2-inch model can handle almost any cutting job required for construction projects described, with a straight cutting depth just over 2 1/4-inches. At a 45-degree angle, it can zip through dressed 2x4's. Its 1 1/4 horsepower motor churns up 5,400 r.p.m.'s and operates on AC or DC current. Its 12-pound weight is carefully balanced for easy and accurate handling. A telescoping safety guard provides round-the-blade protection.

The engineers offered the following tips for use of power saws:—Let the saw do the work by applying only enough pressure to keep the tool steady and in firm contact with the wood.

—Keep blades sharp. The power of the motor usually can do a lot of sawing with a dulled blade, but sloppy work can result as well as eventual harm to the motor.

—Where perfectly accurate lengths are needed, allow for the fractional "kerf" or wastage due to width of the blade cut. Saw on the "waste" side of the line.

—When making bevel cuts, always saw on the "long" side of your measurement, since all portable power saw blades tilt under the body of the saw.

—Before sawing, turn on the motor and let it run for a moment or two to build up full speed before applying the saw to wood.

Handy Old Paint Brush

An old paint brush comes in handy when patching plaster or filling holes or cracks in wood. Apply spackling material with spatula or knife and while it is still wet lightly brush out rough spots with the brush which has been dipped into clean water. This cuts down the amount of sanding needed before finishing coat is applied.

This Wonderful World

Color, music, lighting, air-conditioning—all are used more and more in today's modern homes, factories and offices to increase efficiency and decrease tension and fatigue.

BUILDING and REMODELING NEWS FOR EVERY HOME

New on Top—Old Below

The theory that some good practically always can be salvaged from an old house has been proved anew by a Chestnut, Ill., family who demolished all of their old home above the first-story flooring and then modernized by building an up-to-date house on top of what was left.

They saved money in the bargain. They say their home cost thousands of dollars less than if they had built a brand-new house on a different site.

Michael Drake, the owner, and his wife and children arranged temporary quarters in the basement and were able to live there comfortably while their new house was being erected over their heads.

Thoughtful scheduling made this possible. They picked August, a dry month, as the time to start work. Then demolition and framing in of the new dwelling were rushed. Sixteen days after the first board was ripped from the old three-story house, the new home was up and roofed, protecting the Drakes from the weather.

Always annoyed by the insufficient closet space and the inconvenient layout of the old house, the Drakes finally decided to rebuild when their heating bills reached $600 a year. Total living area is about 20 percent less than in the old house, but there's three times as much closet space. Ponderosa pine cabinets were installed in the kitchen, where particular emphasis was placed on storage.

The new house look taller and more imposing than many one-story homes because of a striking hip roof with deep overhangs covered with bright-color asphalt-shingles, the roof draws attention upward, giving the illusion of additional height. Windows are plentiful. A big ponderosa pine picture window brings the countryside into the living room. Other windows in the house are smooth-operating, pine double-hung sash with horizontal panes. All window trim is painted white.

The Drakes, mindful of their heavy fuel bills of the past, insisted on thick mineral wool insulation. The insulation not only keeps heat inside during the winter months, but will cut operating costs of air-conditioning, which the owners plan to install. Forced warm air was installed as the new heating system.

Editors: For your information and possible use in reader service, the man who planned the Drake remodeling is A. B. Campen, West Armstrong and Machin, S. E., Peoria, Ill. He heads a firm that does home modernization planning by mail.

Best Way to Change Home Surroundings Is Inexpensive Do-It Yourself Painting

The biggest single transformation you can make in your home is in changing a room's background color, not necessarily replacing present furniture, rugs and draperies. You can do this yourself—easily, quickly and thriftily, choosing your color from the countless delightful hues of paint now in the paint shops.

Ceiling, walls and woodwork of an average sized room can be repainted in a matter of hours for as little as ten dollars. You won't believe how fast the color goes on with brush, roller or spray.

Starting with the ceiling—or any other surface, for that matter—make sure that all small cracks are filled with spackling material. It sets rapidly, so smooth the surface before the filling material is quite dry. This lessens the amount of sanding needed later. A putty knife or an old table knife will do to apply the filler.

If your ceilings are low enough, you might look into the possibility of using a roller on an extension handle. To reach higher ceilings, use two sturdy ladders and a wide plank as a platform. Always place the plank so it extends at least a foot beyond the step of the ladder on which it rests.

Always make sure, too, that the side spreaders of both ladders are completely open and locked in position.

Before you begin to paint, remove hardware from doors and windows and loosen the lighting fixtures. This will make the painting go faster and will give you the chance to do a thorough polishing job on the metal before putting it back in place.

Another step in preparation for painting is to dust the walls well with a dry mop. Walls seldom need washing with cleansers before being repainted, except in the kitchen where they are likely to collect a little grease.

Read the directions on the paint can label before you even remove the lid. The paint manufacturer knows his product, and the suggestions on the label are there to help you. Follow them carefully.

Most household paints are easily removed from the hands by plain soap and water or a little turpentine. As an extra precaution, however, you might want to rub some protective cream onto your hands and arms before you start. Then when you've finished, the cream wipes off easily—and the paint with it. Ask the dealer about the cream when you buy the paint.

Cover the floor, the furniture—and your head—before you begin. No matter how careful you are, there are bound to be a few splatters. It's wise to clean them up as you go along because paint is easier to remove when it's still wet.

Always A Way
A countess sued a man for defamation of character because he had called her a pig. The man was fined, and afterward he asked the judge: "You mean I can never call the countess a pig again?" "That's right," was the reply. "Well," said the defendant, "is it all right if I call a pig countess?" "That you can do," replied the judge.
The defendant then turned to ward the witness box, looked her right in the eye and said, "Good afternoon, countess."

Natural GAS YOUR SILENT SERVANT

"Packing Houses" Aid Natural Gas Service

Natural gas is carefully "packed" as it travels along the 2,000 mile trip from the southwestern gas fields to Michigan customers. Taking care of the "packing" operation are gas compressor stations about every hundred miles along the pipeline route. Here engines with thousands of horsepower squeeze the gas under as much as 1,000 pounds of pressure and force it through the pipelines. The pressure drops, as the gas moves along, until another compressor station "repacks," cleans, and pushes the compressed gas toward the next "packing house."

The never ending work at the compressor stations speeds natural gas to consumers, improves service and helps keep gas rates low.

Only GAS does so much, so well... the modern fuel for automatic cooking... refrigeration... water-heating... house-heating... air conditioning... clothes-drying... incineration.

Spring Plans For Terrace Are in Vogue

Spring remodeling fever is upon us already! A recent study of homemaker opinion shows that extra living space is the most desired item in home remodeling plans. No less than 15 per cent of the homemakers wanted a new outdoor terrace.

Only a few years ago the addition of a terrace was considered impractical by all except families with large budgets and ample land space. Today, however, rising incomes, the increasing skill of the family handyman, and the modern emphasis on outdoor living are bringing the pleasures of outdoor terraces into focus for more families.

Probably the most versatile and practical material to use for quality terrace installations is quarry tile, a rugged baked-clay material readily available today in a variety of sizes, colors and shapes.

Quarry tile is weatherproof and suitable for home terraces in all climates. Its colors will not fade with weathering. Eminently easy to keep clean, quarry tile is stain-proof, and summer furniture cannot scratch its permanent finish. Most popular quarry color is red, but the cooler blues, greens and sand buff colors have been gaining increased popularity rapidly. Tile sizes to be used for any given terrace depend, of course, upon the over-all size of the terrace. Most popular size for an average measuring, say, 10 by 20 feet is the six-inch square.

Ideally, the terrace should be located near a shade tree. Adequate shade is even more important than nearness to the house. Privacy can be achieved with a wood cane fence. If the terrace is to be located adjacent to the house, there should be access to both the living room and the kitchen from the terrace.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Q—I'm confused by the terms, wainscot, dado, and chair rail. How do they differ?
A—Wainscot describes a completely paneled wall treatment. A dado is a low wainscot paneling on lower part of a wall, smooth above. The chair rail is the dividing line between a dado and smooth wall above it. Average height of a chair rail is 33 inches, a bit above normal table height.

Q—Are dark colors going out?
A—No, because hardly any color ever "goes out." If you like dark colors, use them. There are trends in color styling, naturally, and the current one is toward light, cheerful colors. Pastel shades of asphalt shingles are a growing trend in roofing preferences, for example, but the deeper tones—red, green, blue and gray—still remain popular choices.

Q—May I use contrasting woodwork in my rooms?
A—Contrasting color draws attention to wood trim. If you have a large room with beautifully detailed woodwork, you will get a fine effect with contrasting or white woodwork opposed to colored or wallpapered walls. If your rooms are small, we suggest painting woodwork the wall color or background color of the paper.

Housekeeping's easier with a kitchen phone

Especially when you need to keep an eye on active youngsters and on the stove, too.

Today's efficient housewife knows that one phone in the house just isn't enough. Dashing from one end of the house to the other when you hear the phone ring is as outdated as the scrubbing board.

You can add telephones for your kitchen, bedside or basement for only about a dollar a month each, plus a nominal one-time-only charge for installation and color.

Select additional phones from eight smart decorator colors to blend or contrast with any room in your home. Egyptian Blue, Bermuda Beige, Persian Brown, French Ivory, Georgian Gray, Roman Red, Aztec Yellow and Venetian Green.

Whitman Junior High P.T.A. held its monthly meeting Tuesday evening, March 12th. This meeting gave the parents a chance to meet the children's teachers and see what kind of work they were doing, because each child made out a schedule of his classes in order of attendance and the parents visited each room for a short "class".

Speaking of P.T.A.s, Grant parents are urged to attend the meeting April 3rd at 8:00 P.M. in the multi-purpose room when officers will be elected.

The Napolitanos, Rose land avenue, have been having a jolly old time for the past 6 weeks or so, while their children, Tommy, Joy and Gail have been taking turns coming down with chicken pox, and the end is not yet in sight, because at this writing, Teddy still hasn't taken his turn!

You members might also be thinking about gathering together things for the Annual Spring Auction which will be held April 4th. Children's clothing, all clothing, in fact, plus household goods, gift ware and books are needed. I got some real good buys at the last auction, and plan to be right in the front row this one!

Gwen Jackman is the chairman for the evening and Hazel Pickles will be in charge of hostesses. By the way, newcomers should know that if they belong to Rosedale Civic Association, the lady of the house also is a member of Women's Club, so don't be bashful, come on!

The club will have 800 trees for sale and will be selling them at Sheldon Center the 12th and 13th of April, so start saving your pennies and dimes!

With the return of nice weather, I expected to be reporting lots of mishaps concerning the kids in Rosedale such as skinned knees, etc., but Mary Wilson, Vermont avenue, stole the kid's thunder last week. Seems that the kids were swinging with great enthusiasm when the swing set started to fall over, and Mary tried in vain to steady it. The score was a bat in the noggin and 4 stitches for Mary.

Bentley High was represented in the District Vocal Festival Saturday, March 9th at Pontiac High. A local threesome, The Bentley Trio composed of Diane Traicig, Vivian Farmer and Megan Richards sang and our son Don accompanied them on the piano. Heard there were local teens in the contest, but can't say just who—wish someone would let me in on these things!

Brownie troop No. 1081 held a farewell party Tuesday, March 19th at the home of the co-leader, Marie Martin on Ingram, in honor of Carolyn Kikka, Brookfield avenue, who is moving to Minneapolis. Other members of the family who couldn't make it were Craig's great grandmother and his grandma and his aunt, who were all down with the flu.

New Four-Mile Bridge
65,000 gallons of paint were used to cover the new four-mile toll bridge between Richmond and San Rafael, Calif. The new bridge is the second longest over-water span in the world. A three-percent maximum grade is barely noticeable to motorists using the bridge's two decks, each of which carries six lanes of one-way traffic. The bridge cost $68,000,000 and 4,000,000 cars are expected to use it the first year.

Different Types of Varnishes
Varnishes are composed mainly of oil and resin. They are classified for use according to the amount of oil in their formulation. Spar varnish, designed for exterior use, contains a large proportion of oil and produces a flexible film that has high weather resistance. The less flexible varnishes, designed for use on floors and indoor furniture, contain less oil, dry faster and get harder, but have less resistance to weather.

Care in Buying Sheets Pays Off

The word "type" means several different things—print on a page, to "type" a letter, blood "type"—but, when you see "type" on the label of bed linen, it means the number of threads per square inch.

For example, muslin sheets come in thread counts of 140, 128 and 112. It's worded on the label as "type 140" "Type 128" or "Type 112."

The lowest thread count for percale is type 180, and the finest qualities will be more than 200. The higher the type number, the finer the quality of the sheet. The muslin sheet, type 140, gives the most service in proportion to cost. For many homemakers, utility percale, type 180, is a compromise. It gives service, good appearance and finer texture than muslin.

If a sheet is to give the best service, the correct size is very important. The length given for a sheet refers to the size of the material after it was torn from the bolt and before being hemmed. The most common sizes are 98 and 108 inches.

Let's use the 108 inch length sheet as an example. If five inches are folded under for hems and five more inches allowed for shrinkage (sheets are not sanforized and will shrink in laundering) the sheet would actually be only 98 inches long. How will this fit the mattress?

The length of the standard mattress is approximately 76 inches and its thickness varies from five to seven inches. So there would be eight or nine inches left to tuck under the mattress at the head and foot. The top sheet would need the length to allow for turning back to protect the blanket.

The strain on a shorter sheet, caused by the sleeper trying to pull it over his shoulders, will cause it to wear out sooner. For width, 81 inches is good for a double bed, 72 inches for a 3/4 bed, 63 inches for a single bed and 54 inches for a cot or youth bed.

To lengthen the life of sheet and cases: (1) loosen edges of the sheet all around before stripping the bed (2) don't use sheets or pillowcases as laundry bags (3) wash sheets frequently, as soon after use as possible. If a bleach is used, a mild solution is recommended (4) rinse thoroughly after washing to remove all traces of soap or detergent (5) vary the system of folding—constant creases in the same places weaken the threads—(6) put freshly laundered sheets at the bottom of the pile each time so sheets are used in rotation and wear is distributed evenly.

Freeze Pack-and-Carry Meals

Planning daily pack-and-carry meals ahead of time with the help of a freezer or freezer compartment of a refrigerator is a wonderful time and work-saver. Meat, cheese, peanut butter, and poultry sandwiches as well as packaged cake dessert treats, freeze particularly well and may be kept for two or three weeks before using. Here is a lunch box meal which is very simple to prepare with the help of frozen sandwiches and a frozen devilfood dessert sandwich from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department. Remove meat sandwiches and devilfood sandwich from the freezer, add the other essentials and the work is done in record time.

Patio Makes Outdoor Living Easy

Outdoor patios can serve as the family's extra living room, when warmer weather makes its appearance.

A well-planned, thoughtfully-furnished patio makes outdoor living easy and elegant. An enclosed court, terrace or a corner of the lawn can serve as the patio, and the choice of furniture is equally flexible.

Styles range from classic to modern, with emphasis on comfort. Every type of outdoor furniture has its special advantages. Spun aluminum tubular furniture, with plastic covered inner-spring cushions or plastic webbing, offers the benefits of light weight and easy care.

Wrought iron furniture makes a more formal arrangement and is also adaptable for indoor use. Wood furniture blends well with an outdoor setting. Tubular steel furniture is popular for its durability and contemporary design.

Furniture with enameled steel frames tends to modern design and usually has the added advantage of economical price. Since barbecue equipment is equally varied, the type of cooking to be done should determine the choice. A simple rack over a charcoal bed is sufficient for hamburgers and hot dogs. The three-legged, round portable grills are especially popular and convenient to use.

Patio meals can be facilitated by preparing food in advance and storing it in the freezer or refrigerator in waxboard containers.

Windows will need as frequent washing during the winter as during the summer because heating a house usually leaves a film of dust on them.

Food Sense--Not Nonsense

Who's Barking up the Wrong Tree?

Weight watchers and dieters who sit down on the job of living are barking up the wrong tree. Some outstanding scientists have tracked down the principal cause of overweight—lack of activity—at work and at play.

This underactivity is robbing adults and children alike of their favorite pastime—eating. According to these nutritionists, overeating no longer is considered the first cause of obesity, America's foremost health menace. These scientists have found that creeping overweight follows lessened activity.

Recently, a Harvard University study emphasized an alarming trend: Suburban high school girls, on the whole, are not active. Researchers compared two groups of these girls. One group was obese, the other, of normal weight. They noted that girls of normal weight spent twice as much time in some type of physical activity, which included dancing—and they ate more—than did their obese classmates. Later, at summer camp, when girls in both groups were under strenuous routines, all lost weight, in spite of eating more than they did before. This fact refutes the tale that added activity increases appetite to such an extent that a gain in weight results.

The role of exercise in weight control has been abused. Statements, such as "You must walk rapidly for six hours to lose one pound," also can mean a brisk one-hour walk on six days.

Dieters who unwittingly reduce their requirements for food by a continuous sit-down program are barking up the wrong tree. Through constant restriction of different foods, they inflict a life-long state of mild hunger upon themselves. In contrast, an active life, with regular exercise, permits the enjoyment of normal meals which include plenty of enriched bread and cereals, fruits and vegetables, meat and milk—all foods needed by the body.

Serve Cheese Instead of Meat During Lent

Cheese is one of the best choices for an inexpensive meat alternate for Lent. Budget-minded shoppers in Plymouth will find a variety of kinds to please the family taste and to suit the favorite method of preparation.

For a meal that is as interesting and nutritionally satisfying as meat, you may have to make a few changes in the usual meal pattern. Cheese is a very concentrated food, and it calls for the use of bulky vegetables and fruits to go with it.

For protein, both cottage cheese and store cheese are as efficient tissue and blood builders as meat. However, meat is one of the best sources of iron while cheese contains little. A generous serving of green leafy vegetables, either cooked or in salad, helps make up for this lack.

In the case of some of the B vitamins, meat again makes a better showing than cheese. A careful homemaker will plan to include an extra serving of a whole grain product of some kind to boost the day's intake. Here again, the green leafy vegetables will help.

Cheddar or American cheese, our standby for almost all cooking purposes, supplies large amounts of calcium, important for building bones and teeth and for nerve and muscle control. Cottage cheese has far less than cheddar cheese, and meat has almost none.

When building a meal around cheese, a good pattern to use is as follows: a combination of cheese and a starchy food; a starchy food if it's not included in the main dish; a vegetable; a salad and a dessert such as fruit.

Like all protein foods, cheese should be cooked gently. Use only low to moderate heat or the mixture will become stringy and the flavor will be strong.

Court Packing

There are criers all over our area these days who warn that Michigan Democrats are striving to "pack the courts" in the forthcoming "non-partisan" elections for Circuit and Supreme Court positions.

This newspaper is just as bitterly opposed to the general principle of "court-packing" as anyone else we know. The courts were established under our system of government as one final check on the executive and legislative branches, both on state and national levels, and if that "check" is rubbed out as an important brake on our officials, then individual liberty has been intruded upon, too.

The current "packing" charges stem from the "slate" campaigning of the four Democrats appointed by Governor Williams to the Circuit Court bench; and by a similar "slate" effort by three Democrat candidates for Supreme Court. They all are running with support from the CIO and other organized elements which lie behind the Democrats today.

In retaliation, the Republicans have pretty much been presenting their candidates as "slates", too.

But "Packing" of a court only is a significant charge, we believe, when it carries with it the meaning that inferior men are being rushed into the office on the basis of their party loyalty. To turn the coin over, we can not see how anyone can make a "packing" charge stick unless it can be proved that superior judges are being snubbed.

In the case of the four Williams' appointees to the Circuit Court, we haven't yet heard any impressive criticism of the men's ability. There are others in the race who are qualified, to be sure, but every neutral observer of the race has rated the four Democrats choices as able men.

In the case of the Supreme Court, we have quite another reaction, and it centers around Gov. Williams' effort to sell Professional Politician Thomas Kavanagh in the same package with Justice Talbot Smith. We'll make no comment on the third man on the ticket for today.

Talbot Smith is a sensitive, intelligent, respected, justice, almost worshipped by those who believe in liberal interpretation of old laws. He comes recommended from all sides, except the really conservative lawyers.

Kavanagh comes recommended by almost no one except Williams and the most partisan Democrats. He looks about as proper on a ticket with Justice Smith as he would playing second base for the Detroit Tigers.

This impression struck us most sharply one night we tuned a CIO television program, where the three Democrat nominees for Supreme Court were summoned for a personal appearance within 24 hours after they had been selected by the convention.

Frankly, we don't understand Justice Smith with his reputation, campaigning on a "slate" basis, either—and don't believe it heightens Smith's stature any, except with Williams.

The effort to slide Kavanagh past the voters for a seat on the highest state judicial bench constitutes an attempt that approaches "packing" in a naked form.

It is our fervent hope that the voters, Democrats and GOP alike, spot it at the same time they are asked to measure merit elsewhere on the ticket.

STOP DRIBBLING AND SHOOT!

If Your Name Is Daniel

BY ANN REYNOLDS, PH.D.

Who wouldn't know about Daniel in the lions' den? This saying conveys that someone is in a bad predicament, and not necessarily in one from which he is sure to escape victorious as Daniel did in the story that's told in the Old Testament.

Daniel is the hero of "The Book of Daniel"; he lived in the sixth century B.C., and was one of the good looking and smart young men carried off to Babylon when Jerusalem was captured. He succeeded winning King Nebuchadnezzar's favor when he interpreted dreams for him. That was quite a thing. The magicians and sorcerers of the king's own people were unable to do it and it was especially hard because the king himself had completely forgotten what his dream had been about. For Daniel, however, because the Lord revealed to him the king's dream in a vision, it was easy.

Daniel's name became popular after the reformation when a great number of names from the Old Testament were revived. Its literal meaning is "The Lord is my Judge"; being from the Old Testament, it's Hebrew.

Most likely everyone would find the name Daniel, often shortened to Dan, a pleasant group of sounds. This cannot be said about the appellations of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, Daniel's three friends brought to Babylon together with him. They refused to worship a golden image and were cast in a fiery furnace; however they emerged safe. Even their names were found attractive enough to be given to some new babies.

State Flower and Home Show Opens Saturday

Many Plymouthites are expected to be among the visitors at the Michigan Flower and Home Show which opens Saturday and runs through March 31 at the Michigan State Fair Grounds.

Sixteen gardens provided by Michigan's leading landscape and nursery firms will be on display, plus a "Detroit of Tomorrow" display, and others by the Audubon society, Chrysler corporation, Michigan Horticulture society, Allied Florists and many others.

Hours of the show are from noon to 11 p.m. on weekdays and 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

The Reader Speaks Up

Editor: I admire your editorial hardihood in giving 20 inches of space in your Feb. 28 "The Reader Speaks Up" (just come to my attention) in which N. W. Hopkins, 15410 Lakeside Drive, chides the Chesapeake and Ohio and the railroads generally in an omnibus letter in which he failed only to suggest that they go out of business.

I would be less hurt by the attack on my industry if I didn't know Mr. Hopkins so well. Never an imperturbable individual, he especially rapidly reaches a rolling boil when he talks about railroads. His antipathy to them approaches a phobia, the genesis of which even he likely can't trace. It could be congenital, even prenatal—perhaps his mother was frightened by a switch engine. At any rate when one recognizes this unformulated repugnance to railroads he immediately discounts by 70% to 90% the value of "Hop's" comments along that line.

Mr. Hopkins evidently has constituted himself a One Man Campaign against railroads in Plymouth (The C & O reports no serious protests against itself by other Plymouth citizens) and he is evolving a program intended to force the C&O into some kind of pattern that will practically hogtie it in its local operations; force it into a commuter service that everyone knows would not be profitable; to employ new types of equipment which in themselves are no guarantee of increased patronage or profitable operation.

In conversation Mr. Hopkins never has been persuaded that rail service isn't as bad, passenger equipment as unkept (one cigarette butt hardly makes his storied rat's nest) that rail workers are as churlish, as he pictures it and them to be. And, again knowing the non-imperturbable Mr. Hopkins as I do, it would be a pleasure to check the frequency and to clock the duration of those C & O tieups of Plymouth rail-street crossings which he puts at an improbable "20 to 30 minutes". Lastly, I'm certain Plymouth merchants learned with surprise that they are being cheated out of trade because some erstwhile customers prefer the painful trek to distant Livonia rather than face the dangers and delays which Mr. Hopkins pictures crossings in their home town.

Undoubtedly, Mr. Hopkins loves his town of Plymouth, and justly so, but has he given thought to what it would be like if the C & O pulled out and left it. (I can hear him say, "yeah, it would be Paradise", but it would be a very dead one.)

Admittedly the railroads are not simon pure in some ways. That should give Mr. Hopkins comfort. But his greatest concern seemingly are the crossing blockings in Plymouth. Likely there is such a crossing problem in Plymouth. But it can be resolved. However opinions based on bias won't lead to the solution. The C & O is not to blame for Plymouth rail-street crossings. Rather it is the victim of them. They were created when the streets were built by the city over railroad tracks that were there before the streets came into being. Remember that might help a bit when rail-street crossing problems are being considered.

ROOB H. ALLIE
EXECUTIVE SECRETARY
MICHIGAN RAILROADS ASSOCIATION

Editor: Attached is a copy of a letter just mailed to our Senator. You will note that it is not a "Crack Pot" letter but a carefully worded polite request for action on a reform which is our right to expect.

Dear Senator: I am taking the liberty of intruding upon your busy life by addressing you on behalf of many of your constituents both democrat and republican on the vital subject of the willful waste and extravagance in the spending of Federal funds.

We refer to the arbitrary practices of certain "hold over" Washington Bureaus whose apologists imply that they, these Bureaus, and they alone are competent to make rules-reams of them-and render decisions as to what constitutes a proper and legitimate expenditure of our tax dollar.

We shall not burden you with a recitation of references. You, no doubt, have available all the necessary information. Specifically, however may we briefly mention "Grants in Aid, the Bureau of Public Assistance, the Bureau of Public Education, the Bureau of Public Roads and the Bureau of Child Welfare. There are others and every qualified engineer, every economist of note and many of our States most respected officials are vocally critical of these Bureaus and their implication that Mr. Public is incapable of administering his own affairs and their frequent intrusion into the management of purely local projects.

We know that you cannot be unaware of the terrific burden of taxation under which yourself as well as all others, wage earners and self employed are today struggling. Quite naturally all are hopeful that their Senator will use his voice and influence toward the elimination of certain evil and wasteful "hand outs" from the Federal Treasury. Especially so if the reforms asked will not hamper the legitimate functions of our Government nor injure our prestige abroad. This can be done.

We do not of course ask the sacrifice of your personal beliefs on being helpful to the distressed here at home or abroad. But willful waste and extravagance in the use of Federal income is quite another matter. There seems to us to be no point in pouring tax dollars down ratholes from which no one except a very favored few will derive benefits.

Believe us Sir: business men as well as wage earners are AROUSED and will support those who will take up the cudgel to beat down these self styled intelligencia to proper size. It is the hope that you will use a well seasoned "big stick" with telling effect.

Yours sincerely
A. R. CHILSON

What's Your Question on World Affairs?

By Edgar Ansel Mowrer "What assurance is there that Britain and France will be permitted to use the canal after it is opened? It is my understanding that Nasser's excuse for denying Israel the use of the canal was that

Egypt and Israel are technically at war. In that event it seems strange for the loser of an engagement to insist upon having the territory thereby lost returned." (Michael Lipman, Drexel Hill, Pa.)

There is no assurance that Nasser will allow Britain and France to use the canal once he condescends to let foreigners, at their expense, remove the obstacles he placed in it. Nasser's hiding behind the UN's apron strings while clamoring that auntie must punish Israel for beating him—and all the time insisting he is at war with Israel—is not merely strange, it is politically untenable. Had the U. S. Administration been willing to act fairly, it would have informed the Arab states that as long as they remained "at war" with Israel, they could expect no help if attacked. Opening the canal, the Gulf of Aquaba and ending the Arab raids, organized and unorganized, into Israel ought to have been coupled with Israel's withdrawal of troops.

"I am a sophomore at Montclair Teachers College. We are studying the Civil War period. Could you possibly favor me as well as my classmates with your opinion as to what was the single most important factor that brought about the conflict?" (Daniel Herman, Newark, N.J.)

My opinion — there are others: Legally, the most important factor was the South's attempt to secede and split the Union. Emotionally, it was the South's insistence on its right to preserve and even extend the area of slavery.

"Isn't the Near Eastern crisis about over? We are all pretty sick of it out here." (J.D.F., Omaha, Nebr.)

Unless I am much mistaken, you will be sicker before you are through. Now that the Administration has to some extent reassured the Israelis, it has to start taming Nasser of Egypt. That will take all the resources of our President and the Secretary of State.

The Case Against COMPULSORY AUTO INSURANCE

Question: Financial Responsibility Laws always let you have one free accident, don't they?

Answer: So its critics claim. But how can Compulsory do any better? The only sure way to prevent driving without license or adequate financial responsibility is to jail the driver.

Michigan's Financial Responsibility Law has pushed the number of insured drivers over the 90% mark. The trend is still upward.

To thinking people, adequate insurance is already a must in Michigan if you are concerned with protecting your driving privilege.

Last year Michigan had 2,990 unsatisfied judgments resulting from auto accidents. The judgments averaged $435.10 each. The drivers involved comprise 8/100 of 1% of the total licensed.

None of these individuals will be licensed again until the judgment is satisfied.

Question: And these few people are the only ones a Compulsory Law is designed for?

Answer: They constitute the whole problem. But some would have you believe differently.

The subject has been misunderstood and exaggerated almost beyond belief.

During the same period this handful of drivers were establishing their financial responsibility 3,386,422 licensed motorists were having 196,812 accidents, injuring 62,234 people and killing 2,004.

Insurance companies satisfied claims for our financially responsible citizens in the estimated amount of $101,734,000.

You can't buy a bigger station wagon anywhere...at any price!

Yet, this smooth-riding Plymouth Suburban is still in the low-price 3

There isn't a single station wagon built that's bigger than the new Plymouth.

We're not just talking about the low-price 3, though Plymouth has the biggest in the lowest-price range. We mean all station wagons . . . low-price, medium-price, right on up to the so-called "big" luxury wagons. You can't buy bigger than Plymouth no matter how much you spend!
