Township Election Draws 613

As was expected by everyone, Plymouth township's election day proved to be a rather routine matter due to the lack of local contests. Consequently, voter turn-out was 182 lower than the Biennial Spring election two years ago.

A Republican slate headed by Supervisor Roy Lindsay began new terms this week without a "shot" being fired by Democratic opponents. There were no opponents in either the primary or Monday's election.

Township Treasurer Elizabeth Holmes said last week that for once she felt "quite optimistic" about her chances. She led the entire slate in the number of votes.

There were 613 going to the polls at township hall during the day. Two years ago there were 795. Clerk Rosalind Broome reports that there are 2,766 registered voters in the township.

These are the final tabulations: Supervisor, Roy Lindsay, 462; Clerk, Rosalind Broome, 466; Treasurer, Elizabeth Holmes, 484.

Trustees, Louis Norman, 463; C. Veach Sparks, 441; Justice of the Peace, Martin Schomberger, 468.

Board of Review, Flora J. Rathburn, 465.

Constables: LeRoy Westfall, 437; Donald King, 430; Vernard Sturm, 419; Robert Burns, 428.

Highway Commissioner, David Cell, 43.

There is one new face on the township board. C. Veach Sparks, 4934 Joy road, replaces Herald Hamill who did not run for a second term as trustee. Sparks is employed by Burroughs corporation. This was also the first election for Clerk Rosalind Broome. She was appointed to the job last year after the resignation of Norman Miller.

Supervisor Lindsay was appointed to his job in 1953 after the death of Supervisor Charles Rathburn. He was elected without opposition two years ago. Mrs. Holmes was also appointed to her job originally, and the death of her husband who was treasurer. She was then elected two years ago. Trustee Louis Norman was elected for the first time two years ago.

There were 361 men voting in the township last Monday and 252 women.

Theme of the program will be "That's Where Your Money Goes," under the chairmanship of Mrs. Max Billhart.

358 Youngsters Compete in Air Rifle Shoot

Nine boys who were winners in last Saturday's Air Rifle Safety Shoot will receive trophies at next Monday night's meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Results of the Saturday shoot were completed Monday by the Jaycees and the winners will be guests of the Jaycees for a dessert course at the Hotel Mayflower

Each of the youngsters were allowed "warm-up" shots before firing five shots standing, kneeling and in a prone position. There was a total of 150 points.

The following were the winners: Ages 8 to 10: 1. Dan Olson, 545 N. Harvey, 134 points; 2. Tim Wernette, 387 Adams, 124; 3. Chuck Ruge, 467 Arthur, 123.

Ages 11 to 12: 1. Robert Baldwin, 1167 W. Maple, 133; 2. Mar-

School Board Proposes Vote on Millage Switch

Estimated Township Expenses To Hit Record $100,412

The Plymouth township board approved a record high budget last Saturday at the annual budget meeting—a budget that will require the spreading of three-tenths of a mill more during the next fiscal year.

Total estimated cost of operating the township during the fiscal year which began Monday will be $100,412.86. This is more than the disbursements during the past fiscal year.

About 20 township citizens attended the annual meeting in addition to the board itself.

Supervisor Roy Lindsay explains that the three-tenths mill to be spread during the current fiscal year is needed to meet the deficit between estimated expenses and income. Estimated income will be $89,520.

Over three years ago citizens voted a six-tenths mill to cover the township's share of bonds and interest on the Middle Rouge drain. This millage has never been used, but has been coming out of the general fund. The supervisor explained that spreading the three-tenths of a mill should be enough to pay for the $8,200 drain bond payment and interest.

One of the growing township expenses is the library. Last year the township's share was $7,284. This year it will be about $9,145. Several employees have been granted pay increases. The supervisor's pay, which was $6,500 last year, has gone up to $7,000. But he will not receive any expenses this year, an amount which was $600 last year. The clerk's salary has gone up $500 from $4,000, and two full-time firemen will receive next Monday at 8 p.m. They will then be presented trophies.

There were three age classifications for the young shooters, 8 to 10, 11 to 12 and 13 to 15. Trophies were given to the three highest in each category. While about 20 percent of the 358 who shot were girls, none were among the winners.

Members of the armed forces and police aided Jaycees on the firing line in the high school gymnasium. The shoot lasted all morning and until 1 p.m. Jaycees called their first shoot "very successful" and found that the youngsters appeared to enjoy themselves. Besides the shooting, there were movies on safe shooting and refreshments served.

The Daisy Manufacturing company donated the equipment for the shoot, the first of its kind held in Plymouth.

ON THE FIRING LINE at the Jaycees' Air Rifle Safety Shoot last Saturday were these three young boys shown shooting in a prone position. Jaycee Douglas Blunk, kneeling, was one of the many supervisors at the shoot.

An election to vote on millage for operation of the Plymouth Community School district will take place sometime this spring, and if approved, will allow for a pay increase for school personnel.

The board of education met Monday with representatives of the teacher organization, the Plymouth Education Association, to outline their proposal for teacher salary hikes. Final approval of the increase in pay, however, depends upon the outcome of the millage election.

The plan for putting the two and a half mill levy before the people would not raise the present millage rate of $21.95 for each $1,000 of evaluation. Instead, it theoretically would "transfer" two and a half mills now being used to retire bonds, and to continue two more mills currently being used to operate the schools.

Whether the millage issue will be on the ballot at the regular June school election or on a ballot at a special election still has not been decided. The board will drop two and a half mills from the bond issues of 1951, 1952 and 1955.

A two-mill operating levy approved by voters in 1952 expires this year, making it necessary to re-vote it if it is to continue.

This four and a half mills will give the school enough operating money to finance pay increases for school personnel and to meet higher operating costs, due mainly to the opening of the James Gallimore elementary school and the approaching opening of the junior high. There will be 10 new teaching jobs next fall.

Teacher representatives had proposed for a $400 a year across-the-board hike. The school board has presented its own proposal of a $100 across-the-board increase, plus a $250 a year increase to those who have taught 10 years or more.

At present, teachers with nine years of experience are at the top of the salary schedule. The proposed schedule would provide one more step, $250 additional for those with 10 or more years.

Beginning teachers with an AB degree now get $4,100 yearly plus a $100 cost of living allowance. "Tops on the present schedule are teachers with M.A. degrees and nine years of experience. They can make $6,650 plus $100.

The proposed schedule would place the lowest pay at $4,300 and the highest at $7,100. Superintendent Russell Isbister said that this compares favorably with other schools in the area east of here, and higher than those west of Plymouth.

The Plymouth Education Association representatives were told that the pay increases would depend upon two conditions: that the state aid remains the same as this year and that voters approve the millage issue.

Other school employee groups are being considered for wage increases.

nothing to resign from—that the program is no longer in existence.

He added that besides there being a general lack of interest, with only a half dozen of the same people showing up at meetings, there is nothing that one small CD unit can do. "We would like to see the program develop on an area-wide scale," the supervisor declared. "Disaster knows no boundaries and only through co-operation with neighboring communities can we have something worthwhile."

There has been $480 in the budget annually to cover costs of the program and expenses of its director. This amount will be held in the budget again this year for use should an area program be established. Plymouth city, township and Canton township CD officials have discussed a joint program for some time, but no plan has ever been approved.

Local Hardware Store Plans Grand Opening

Plymouth Hardware on Forest avenue, purchased last January by Kenneth Eddington, will hold its grand opening under new management tomorrow and Saturday, April 5 and 6.

Eddington, a hardware business man for 11 years, also operates Byrd's Hardware in Dearborn. He bought the store from Robert Beyer. Beyer purchased the business and building from Mrs. Elmore Rose, widow of William Rose, who constructed the building and began the business in 1950.

Gift Stamp Plan Started By Local Super Market

The popular American habit of collecting gift stamps is being given a boost in Plymouth with the start of a stamp program by one of the city's major food stores, Stop & Shop Super Market, 470 Forest.

Owners Joe Jay and Bill Rucker announce that they are now giving Gold Bell Gift Stamps. "Miss Gold Bell" will be at the store Friday and Saturday to officially inaugurate the program.

Final Symphony Concert is THIS Sunday Afternoon

That wasn't the percussion section of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra heard last weekend—it was re-percussion.

A story in last week's Mail about the Plymouth Symphony's last concert of the season jumped into print a week early and brought a wave of sudden chronic headaches to editors and orchestra people alike. Actually, the concert is this coming Sunday—April 7, not last Sunday. But one of the great pitfalls of being a weekly newspaper is the loss of an opportunity to right any wrongs the next day.

An attempt was made by symphony patrons to "pass the word" around that the concert wasn't until April 7. Conductor Wayne Dunlap kindly consoled the editors with "mistakes can happen to anyone." Especially for the editors, the symphony may schedule a solemn rendition of "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen."

At any rate, the "show will go on" this Sunday at 4 p.m. in the high school gymnasium. Soloists will be Miss Evelyn Wood, piano; Josef Lazaroff, violin; and Douglas Marsh, cello. They will be featured in the rarely heard "Triple Concerto for Piano."

Also on Sunday's program will be "Il Seraglio" by Mozart; the march and scherzo from "The Love of Three Oranges" by Prokofieff; the orchestral suite from "Pelleas and Melisande" of Faure; and the "Tannhauser Overture" of Wagner.

Those attending the concert are reminded that there is parking space behind the high school where there is also an entrance to the building.

Seek Applications For Atomic Defense Class

Applications are being received at city hall for appointment to classes in atomic defense.

Pupils in the class will learn to use instruments to detect degrees of atomic radiation. Equipment to be secured through the Michigan Civil Defense department.

Persons who are scientifically trained or inclined (having passed high school algebra) are being invited to apply. Classes will begin Tuesday, April 23 and will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. for a total of 36 hours. They will end in mid-June.

Instruments to be used by the class are geiger counters, ionization chambers and dosimeter chargers.

Guest Speakers to Discuss Problems of State Schools

One of a series of meetings to present to citizens of the state the problems it faces at present and in the years immediately ahead will be held in the Plymouth high school auditorium, next Tuesday, April 9 at 8 p.m.

Sponsored jointly by the governor's office and other agencies of the state government, the meeting will present to citizens of the Plymouth area data concerning the problems the state faces in general finances, taxation, the schools, higher education and mental health.

Race for Supervisor Decided by 6 Votes

Three new city commissioners will take office next Monday and the city will get a new fire truck as the result of last Monday's Biennial Spring election.

The city election also gave George Witkowski a six-vote win over Mayor Russell Daane in a race for the Wayne County Board of Supervisors.

Elected to the commission were Incumbent Harold E. Guenther, William C. Hartmann, Richard Wernette and Carl G. Shear. Defeated were J. Rusling Cutler, a commissioner for the past two years, and Harry O. Draper.

Guenther, Hartmann and Wernette have won four-year terms while Shear, because he ran fourth, will have a two-year term. The results were as follows:

Harold E. Guenther, 801.
William C. Hartmann, 661.
Richard Wernette, 658.
Carl G. Shear, 614.
Harry O. Draper, 608.
J. Rusling Cutler, 549.

There were 1,261 city electors going to the polls Monday. This is 149 more than the Biennial Spring election of two years ago. Rain which fell most of the day is believed to have cut the vote by perhaps several hundred.

It was the race for board of supervisors that surprised many. Russell Daane, a city commissioner for six years and mayor of Plymouth for five of those years, was defeated by George Witkowski, 1117 Palmer. At 9:30 p.m. Monday, the mayor had received unofficial returns at city hall along with several other candidates and found that he had been defeated. He called Witkowski at his home to offer congratulations.

Daane said that he would ask no recount since machine tabulations are very seldom in error.

In a statement yesterday, Witkowski, owner of Plymouth Dental Laboratory, said that he would do the best of his ability "attempt to fulfill the confidence that voters had in me."

The office has been held during the past four years by Norman Marquis who did not seek re-election.

The last meeting for Mayor Daane, Mayor Pro-Tem Ernest Henry and Commissioner J. Rusling Cutler was held Tuesday night (postponed a day due to the legal holiday). Henry and Daane were elected to the commission together in April 1951 while Cutler received a two-year term in 1955.

New commissioners will take office officially next Monday, but the next regularly-scheduled meeting is not until Monday, April 15. At that meeting the commission will elect its new mayor and mayor pro-tem from their own ranks.

A ballot proposition for city voters asking for a one mill levy for one year for fire equipment won by a wide plurality. There were 519 favoring the proposal, 296 opposed.

The commission intends to purchase a new fire truck, replacing a 1945 pumper owned by the state, and a 32-year-old pumper. City Manager Albert Glassford said yesterday that the commission may advertise for bids immediately although the levy will not be spread until July. But it will perhaps take six months to build the truck.

Unlike many of the state of Michigan which went Democratic, the majority of Plymouth city voters stuck with the Republican candidates. One precinct, however, Precinct 2 located at Fire Station No. 2, swung to many Democratic candidates in this election.

Voting by precincts went like this:

Precinct 1 (city hall), 224;
Precinct 2 (fire station), 215;
Precinct 3 (high school), 330;
Precinct 4 (Bronson building), 164; and Precinct 5 (Bronson Building), 164.

There were 684 men voting in the city and 583 women. City voters strongly supported their hometown candidate for circuit court judge, George E. Bowles. He received 865 votes, or more than twice that of other circuit court candidates. Bowles won his bid for re-election in Wayne county.

The meeting in Plymouth is jointly sponsored by Eastern Michigan college and the local superintendent. It has been emphasized by all concerned that they are strictly non-partisan and that they will be concerned with presenting facts about problems, rather than specific solutions to these problems.

Fast Gun Artist Scheduled

Joe Bodrie, fresh from nationally televised appearances on the Arthur Godfrey show and Omnibus, will be in Plymouth next Wednesday, April 10, to demonstrate his claim to the title of "fastest gun alive".

The fancy gun twirler and quick draw artist will be at the Bronson building in the Central parking lot at 7 p.m. He is making his appearance under the auspices of the Davis & Lent sports department which has begun handling Colt fire arms. Bodrie will demonstrate actual Western gun handling techniques and will display and discuss a representative group of rare historic Colt pistols.

Son of a marshal, Bodrie began his career at the tender age of 10 years under the guidance of his father and has been tutored by the best gun handlers in the game. He, in turn, has taught quick draw and gun manipulation to many Hollywood topflight actors, in addition to regular television appearances of his own. Bodrie is a star of motion pictures and radio.

He has an authentic claim to the title of "fastest gun alive" and appears in the regalia of the pioneering West's most dangerous age. His favorite weapon for demonstration are a pair of 120-year-old Colts made by Colt's Patent Fire Arms Manufacturing Company of Hartford, Conn. Charles Beegle and Bill Keefe of

"Your Friendly Pontiac Dealer"

THE READER SPEAKS UP

Editor:
As a preamble to my plea, let me state that I am a perennial Petunia planter. Naturally, this is certain to shade many of my remarks. Nevertheless, it is difficult not to have one's blood reach the apoplexy stage when you read of the Chamber's recent attitude toward the beautification of our town.

In my past experiences I have encountered the same reactionary attitude when trying to surround schools with flowers. Many a custodian "cussed" and rejected my plans for making our schools a bit more attractive. According to them our youth of today has little or no respect for God's handiwork in the form of flowers. Over their protests my experiments went ahead. Lo and behold, much to everyone's amazement the flowers were not trampled or torn up by their roots. Once the project was started in each school that I was an administrator—the Student Council continued it the following year.

I'm heartily in favor of your plan or whoever broached it. Let's call the plan: "PIP" (Petunias In Plymouth) In a few years the Roto section of a Sunday paper could do an article on "The Pleasing Petunias of Plymouth" or "Petunias Planted Permanently for a Pleasant Plymouth."

Whatever the outcome, I've purchased my yearly supply of petunia seeds. I'm ready to begin sowing my wild petunia seeds quite promiscuously this week. How about you?
Sincerely yours,
PETUNIA PETE

Student Planning Conference Will Be at Bentley High School

Tuesday, April 16, at Bentley high school, is the time and place designated for the Student Council planning conference.

The conference is aimed at helping schools solve their problems through conferring with others who face the same problems. Working together, delegates try to discover a solution.

During the Suburban-Six League planning conference held at Redford Union high school March 18, members of the Student Councils of Plymouth, Bentley, Belleville, Redford Union, Trenton, and Allen Park set the date for the conference and decided that the following topics will be discussed:

1. Better relations between schools.
2. How to spend Student Council funds.
3. Role of the Student Council in solving school problems.
4. Exchange of ideas-what are other Student Councils in the area doing this year?
5. Student appearance.
6. School spirit and morale.

Six delegates to represent views of the PHS student body will be selected at the next meeting. Each delegate will be assigned to one of the topics mentioned, will air views of classmates and report conclusions reached. A council member will also be chosen to serve as group chairman for a topic to be assigned later.

The bulletin board on the first floor of the high school, which lists coming events, will be supplied with new letters purchased by the council, reports Hale Huber who investigated the matter and suggested that five dollars be appropriated for the project. The Student Council followed his recommendation.

The student council treasury holds $672.19, reported Treasurer Bob Kowitz.

A dance committee has been formed to regulate and assign dates to clubs and classes for next year's dances and concessions. Representing the council on the committee are juniors Janet Spigarelli and Dick Bennett.

Other committee members are Ann Cooper, Jim Gothard, Ross Redrick, Mrs. Moyra Ebling, and Robert Southgate.

Also attending was assembly Committee Chairman Carol Clarke, who announced plans for coming assemblies.

Election plans are progressing. Both the assembly and election board committees were appointed and are indirectly supervised by the Student Council.

Burroughs to Manufacture Versatile New Machine Here

A major new addition to the Burroughs line of business machines, announced by the company this week, is being produced at the firm's Plymouth Manufacturing and Engineering Division, it was revealed by General Manager Robert A. Niemi.

The versatile new machine called the Typing Sensimatic combines an 84-character, full-key-board electric typewriter with a high-speed accumulating register accounting machine and is capable of handling a broad range of descriptive as well as numerical accounting jobs.

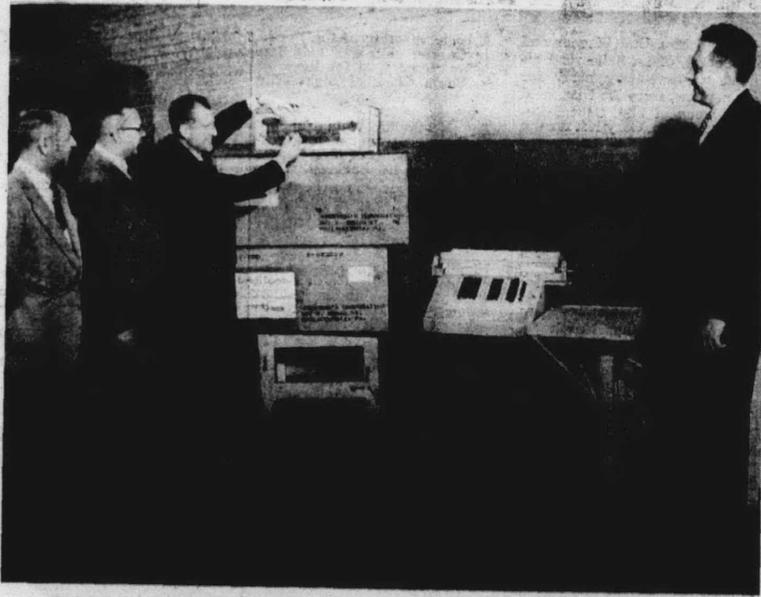

According to Ken T. Bement, general sales manager for Burroughs Division of Burroughs Corporation, "the Typing Sensimatic was designed to meet increasing demands for flexibility in the handling of office paper work, particularly in the areas of posting and accounting."

The Typing Sensimatic will be available in the United States and Canada in 10 models. It has been both laboratory and field tested and Bement noted that the "reaction of operators who used the experimental models was enthusiastic."

He pointed out that the primary considerations in the design of the new machine were operator convenience and versatility of application.

"The Typing Sensimatic features a natural slope typewriter keyboard with 42 keys scientifically placed for speed and ease of operation; overall size only slightly larger than the conventional Sensimatic accounting machine; and space on the typing line of the car for 182 characters to permit complete alphabetic description," Bement said.

"Because of its design, the new machine can be used with standard forms as well as customer-designed posting and accounting systems," he added. "This is another step in Burroughs effort to provide a high level of automation in the operation of the modern office."

Awards will be presented by The Detroit News at the Rackham Memorial auditorium, Wednesday evening, May 8.

Sponsored by The Detroit News, the contest is an annual event. Previous winners are Marie Jean Herbold, who won a gold key when she was in the eighth grade, and Brenda Richardson.

THE RICH COLOR OF ROSES, the deep greens of climbers, shrubs and evergreens give extra beauty and more value to this home. Even the oldest home can gain a new look of luxury with distinctive, properly-planned landscaping.

Landscape Can Increase Value Of An Older Home

Increase the value of your property by 15 to 20 per cent by landscaping it properly! You'll also get a bonus of gracious living for your whole family with a yard you can enjoy and be proud of!

Modern landscaping will help to keep your property from deteriorating in value for many years. If your property is overgrown from hit-or-miss, outmoded plantings 10 to 20 years of age, you can re-landscape it to make the property more beautiful and liveable.

Modern shrubs, many unknown even ten years ago, grow more slowly and stay shorter than many plants put in the ground
years ago.

Often it is more economical to call in a landscape nurseryman to plan the job right from the start. You not only avoid mistakes, but the overall effect is far more pleasing.

Once you have a good plan,
you can plant or re-landscape in piece meal fashion until the whole work is finished. If you wish to do it all at once an FHA loan is available, with up to five years to pay for it.

Proper landscaping can provide gracious living and can upgrade the value of your property in the bargain. Plan now to include landscaping in your spring home improvement plans.

Hyacinths Bring Color to Garden

One of the earliest blooming bulbs, hyacinths will bring both color and fragrance to your spring garden.

For border planting it is not necessary to buy the extra large sizes. Second, third and bedding size bulbs will reward you with bright spikes of color.

Plant the bulbs along garden paths, around bird baths, pools and fountains.

PLANT BRIGHT HEDGES

When considering hedges in your planting plan, try to allow for flowering types.

Honeysuckle, forsythia and flowering almond are but a few of the many desirable varieties.

Gardening Is More Fun With Proper Tools

The trees are budding and the wind smells like Spring!

It's time to take a look in the garage and see what new garden tools you'll need to get the yard
in shape before summer.

The right tools for each garden job will save you countless hours, blisters and backache in a season.

Probably the first task to confront you will be that of cleaning up the winter's accumulation of dead leaves and debris. For this you'll need a good lawn rake.
Choose one with springy teeth
that will not dig up tender blades of grass.

If you do not have a leaf-burner, now's the time to get
one. You'll need it for disposing of garden waste all summer and for burning leaves in the fall.

Your lawn will probably need attention next. If you've planted a new lawn you'll want to keep it wet until the new grass is well rooted.

Start with a garden hose long enough to reach every corner of your yard. With this you should have a fog nozzle or mist spray to keep your lawn moist without washing the new seeds away.

If your lawn is well established, you may prefer a rotary sprinkler that makes a pretty pattern of water as it whirls.

Your lawns, shrubs and flower beds will need fertilizer or plant food to get off to a good growing start—but not too much! To assure even distribution of fertilizers, provide yourself with a sturdy, adjustable spreader.

Your lawn mower will likely get more use than any other piece of garden equipment. For this reason alone it should be your most careful investment.

If you dread mowing the lawn,
you may be wise to invest in a power mower. This makes the job not only easy, but actually fun! Whichever you prefer—reel-type or rotary mower—you'll find one to suit your needs and your budget.

Check your inventory of the following tools for use in your vegetable plot and flower beds:
a sharp spade and fork for deep digging and edging; a garden rake for mixing mulch and fertilizer into the topsoil; a hoe to keep the weeds down, and a good assortment of hand tools.

You might add spray equipment for the control of pests and fungus. Relatively inexpensive, there's sure to be one to fit your pocketbook.

This year start the job right—with the tools that will make light work of garden chores.

EXCESSIVE MOISTURE

Excessive moisture in the house will cause wood furniture to swell and shrink. Drying of laundry in the home, for example, causes gallons of water to evaporate into the air. Wood fibers tend to pick up this moisture.

India is among the world's richest states in deposits of iron ore. She has 21 per cent of the world's known reserves. The richest deposits are in the Bihar Orissa area.

Kansas is almost a perfect rectangle, 411 miles long and 208
miles wide. The only irregularity in the northeast corner where the boundary is determined by the winding Missouri River.

Michigan ranks in the top fourth of the 48 states in mineral resources. The state has one of the highest iron ore producing ranges in the upper peninsula and has copper, salt brine, gypsum and limestone mines.

Proper Plantings Enrich Beauty, and Add Property Value

If you expect to keep your property beautiful and useful for outdoor living, plan your spring planting now!

debris to give that smart, clean appearance.

TREES AND SHRUBS

Make notes of places on your property where a new shrub or tree may be planted. A hedge or row of trees planted along the street can reduce traffic noises up to 60 per cent!

NOTE THE VIEWS

If you find an unpleasant view of a neighbor's backyard, garage, or alley, you can screen it out by planting hedges and trees.

A living fence of roses can do much to define property lines and be pleasing to both.

PLANT FOR SHADE TREES

If you do not have a good shade tree on the property, this spring is a good time to plant it. Buy the largest size you can afford in order to get the most shade as soon as possible. A sizeable shade tree doesn't cost any more than an outdoor umbrella and it's permanent. Plant it, if possible, on the west side of the house, to block the hot summer sun.

OUTDOOR LIVING ROOM

Enjoy life during the summer in an outdoor living room! Your shade tree will come in handy
here. High growing shrubs around the outdoor living area will give privacy and you can relax and serve meals in comfort.

City Okays Water Main Bid, Appoints New Health Officer

It was the last meeting for three city commissioners Monday night but there was "business as usual" as the commission approved a bid for $92,000 worth of water main installations, appointed a new city health officer and authorized the manager to take bids on a new fire truck.

Mayor Russell Duane and Mayor Pro-Tem Ernest Henry, both ineligible to again seek office, and Commissioner J. Rusling Cutler, loser in Monday's election, bid their farewells to fellow commissioners at Tuesday's meeting. They thanked each other for the friendly association, although at times they did not see "eye to eye" with each other.

Earlier in the meeting the commission approved a bid from the D'Angela and Policelli company of Detroit for installing water mains in the new Hough Park No. 2 and Parklane subdivisions plus an enlargement and extension of several other mains. Their low bid was $92,530. There were 13 other bidders.

Dr. Sonia Andonian, who was appointed as city health officer in 1955 but has been ill much of this time, has resigned and commissioners named her successor. He is Dr. Barry Alford, whose office is at 690 South Main.

In other business before the commission, authorization was given City Manager Albert Glassford to advertise for bids for a new fire truck. Voters approved a one mill levy Monday and by the time the truck is ready for delivery, tax money should be collected, it was pointed out.

Bids taken recently for the Dunning-Hough library and for a street sweeper were not ready for presentation Tuesday night. The library bids were higher than expected, it was noted, and the architect, Byron Becker, is now revising plans to pare down costs. The street sweeper bids will not be considered until commissioners get a demonstration this Saturday of a truck-mounted sweeper.

Area Educator Selected For Washington Trip

Novi School Superintendent William Medlyn of 42681 Five Mile road, Plymouth, has been notified by Defense Secretary Charles Wilson that he has been selected as a representative to the Educators Orientation Conference April 7-13 in Washington, D.C.

As far as known, Medlyn is the only one from Michigan named to the conference. He will leave Sunday by plane for the trip paid by the government. He and other educators will learn of the preparations made for young men in the service, how they are educated and see their modern weapons. They will visit numerous service camps in the Washington area.

Medlyn has been Novi superintendent since July 1955 and is obtaining his Ph.D. degree at the U of M in June.

Plymouth Seniors Select 'Solitude' As Prom Theme

The senior class of Plymouth high school has been buzzing with activity, as preparations for the senior prom, mixers, collection of dues and other projects are made.

"Solitude" is the name selected for the senior prom, to be held May 4, and it suggests bleak, solitary planets that circle the earth.

"I hope all the seniors will pitch in and help to make our last dance one that will be remembered," said Carolyn Ridley, who with Karl Weisman, is chairwoman of the affair.

Co-chairmen for the decoration committee are Mike Wallace and Sandra Penney. Committee members are Judy Laury, Jerry Hearl, Henry Mendel, Dave DeCoster, Bill Brandell, Biff Tait, Fred Heidt, Kay Porter, Faye Lietz, Kathie Greenlee, Kay Gorton, Carol Karnatz, Dick Showers, Wayne Huber, George Ann Bauer, Carol Clarke, Kay Meyers, Joan Bassett, Judy Heric, Mary Agnew, Elaine Keith, Barbara Erdelyi, Sharon Beyer and Ruth Cadogan.

Invitation committee chairman is Roberta Lidgard. Committee members include Kathie Greenlee, Sharon Clifford, Judy Elliott, and Carolyn Carpenter. Mary Agnew, Joan Bassett and Faye Lietz are on the refreshment committee, with Carol Clarke as chairman. Publicity chairman is Ann Goddard. Her committee members are Emily Cutler, Bob Kennitz and Susan Daly.

Working with committees are advisers of the senior class: Loren Grievens, mathematics instructor; Patrick Butler, librarian; Joan Petro, English instructor; Raymond Homer, history instructor; Keith Baughman, shop instructor; Neva Lovewell, social science instructor; Louise Spence, English instructor; and Mrs. Janet Golmant, home economics instructor.

Only $13 is in the senior class treasury, and decorations and other expenses must be paid.

A list of the Seniors who have not paid their class dues will be made. They will not be admitted to senior functions, including mixers and the senior trip.

Senior trip money must be in before April 10. If half the class has not paid the balance of $34.45 by the deadline, the trip will be cancelled.

The annual Senior Farewell Assembly will be held May 29. Those who wish to participate in the assembly in any way may sign up.

Glad To Get Back

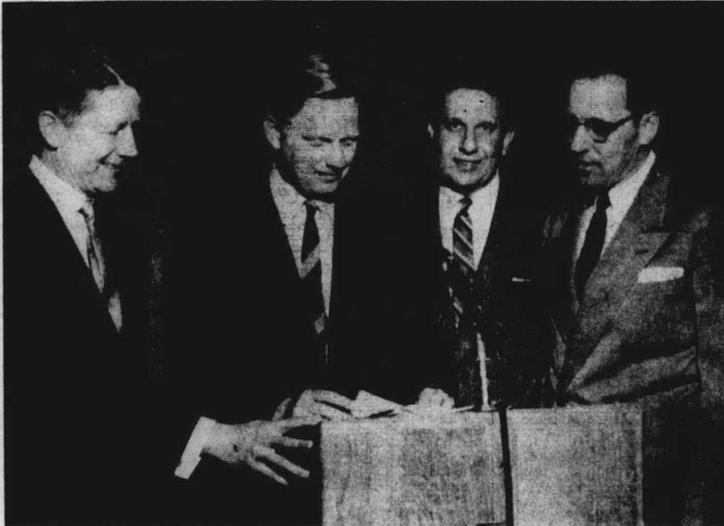

A grandfather visited a household in which he had a little grandson who had spent part of the summer at a boys' camp. The lad talked so enthusiastically about the camp that his grandfather offered a slight reminder. "After all, though," he remarked, "you were rather glad to get home, weren't you?"

"Well," replied the lad thoughtfully, "not specially." Then after a bit he added: "Some of the fellows were — those that had dogs."

My Neighbors

LEADERS OF the Area Cooperation Group's first Town Hall meeting were, from left: Willis McCabe, co-chairman of the group; Carl Cederberg, WWJ newscaster and moderator of the meeting; Donald Ward, Cooperation Group co-chairman; and Robert Fitzner, Town Hall Tonight chairman. The meeting was held last Thursday night.

Crowd Small, But Town Hall Meet Goes Smoothly

Plymouth's first "Town Hall Tonight" meeting held last Thursday at the high school was hailed as a success—except for the size of the crowd.

About 75 people turned out to hear candidates for election tell of their aspirations and answer questions from the audience. Sponsored by the Area Cooperation Group, the meeting was designed to personally acquaint voters with the candidates.

All but two city candidates were able to attend. There were none from Plymouth or Canton townships. With WWJ newscaster Carl Cederberg as moderator, the meeting went smoothly and proved itself as a valuable means of getting to know the candidates—a means New England forefathers used years ago.

Robert Fitzner, chairman of the Town Meeting committee, introduced the candidates and the moderator. Cederberg then introduced the candidates with brief biographies and each were allowed four minutes to tell of their "platform". The audience, having been supplied with paper, then wrote questions which were submitted to the candidates through the moderator.

Aquaba, meeting point of Egypt, Israel, Jordan and Saudi Arabia, was a busy Arab port in the 10th century.

ARE SHOES THAT ARE OUTGROWN BY ONE CHILD SAFE FOR ANOTHER?

Yes and No. The accepted reason for not using handed-down shoes is that the foot defects of the first child can be inflicted on the second. This is true. But if the first user had normal feet, isn't his good wear-pattern just as likely to encourage good foot function? It is.

When the budget is hurting it is a lot safer to use brother's cast-offs than to cramp feet in his own outgrown shoes.

It would be wise to go to your local shoe store and choose your new Easter Shoes for the family... while selections are at their best.

Use a Layaway Plan if your budget does not permit the purchase at this time. To avoid last-minute disappointment.

NEW BOOKS LENDING LIBRARY

At The Wayne County

Daphne DuMaurier's newest, is a novel of mounting excitement, suspense and crackling wit, is now at the Plymouth branch of the Wayne County library. Titled "The Scapgoat," it concerns an Englishman and a Frenchman who both, suddenly and abruptly, realize they look identical. In the excitement that follows their own problems are forgotten.

"A Voice at the Back Door" by Elizabeth Spencer is a story against a background of newly-emerging racial values and a changing pattern of social consciousness. The author also wrote "Fire in the Morning" and "This Crooked Way."

Autumn comes early to the New England countryside, but the storm that struck August 19, 1955, was unseasonal and unexpected. The catastrophe is true in "Autumn Comes Early" by Howard Breslin; all else is fiction. The only characters which the author did not create are the hurricanes Connie and Diane.

Suspense, intrigue and romance in the shadow of the Iron Curtain are found in "The Linden Affair" by Martha Albrand. When a violent death enters the story, heightening suspicion dawns on the "refugee escort."

"The Big Frame" by the Gordons is a police lieutenant walks into when he discovers the murder of a pretty brunette. The twist in this mystery is that the big frame lands on the lieutenant.

Another mystery arrival at the library is "Murder on Their Minds." George Harmon Cox's tale of a news photographer who gets blackjacked and follows up a confidential, report missing, a girl mugged, one of Boston's most prominent families secretly being investigated and an ex-cop killed.

A Bohemian dinner party begins with 2/3 of a ghost and ends with an actual corpse in Helen McCloy's thriller, "2/3 of a Ghost."

Along the non-fiction shelves of the library, a new arrival is the personal story of Lewis D. Gilbert, America's Number 1 stockholder, titled "Dividends and Democracy." Gilbert gives his account of the fight for control of American business by its real owners, the stockholders, and how stockholder activity pays off in increased dividends. Gilbert has been termed "probably the best known small stockholder in the world."

Gilbert Highet's essays on literature and life are contained in his collection "A Clerk of Oxenford," under classifications of prose, poetry, and imagination and reality. Highet is a professor at Columbia University.

Ten persons with their heart on the right side instead of the left were discovered in examinations of 248,000 Swedish citizens.

A survey made in the North Central states indicates farm homemakers canned or froze an average of 751 pounds of food in 1951.

More Plans for Builders Show Made

More plans for the Western Wayne County Builders Show and Exposition were made last week when committeemen from 11 Rotary clubs met at Bentley High school in Livonia.

To be held at the Detroit Race track on May 23-26, the show is expected to raise enough funds to complete a Crippled Children's Center which was started last year for Western Wayne county.

Plymouth Rotarians are taking a large role in the show. It is expected that at least 75,000 people will attend. There will be 200 booths inside the building with a variety of exhibits from builders and related industries.

A number of Plymouth businesses will have displays. There will also be displays from Burroughs Corporation, Daisy Manufacturing, Evans Products, Pilgrim Drawn Steel and R. T. Sheehan Company, all of Plymouth.

Robert Nulty of Plymouth, president of the Great Lakes Airmotive Company, will have a display of airplanes outside the building. Also on the outside will be displays of boats, seven major carnival rides and kiddie rides.

Invited to bring his television show to the show on opening night is Mort Neff. A well-known disc jockey and other entertainers are also being lined up.

Tickets are 50 cents for adults and free for children under 12.

All proceeds will go to the Crippled Children's Building Fund. The center for crippled children still needs about $25,000.

Burning off Grass Land Does More Harm than Good

Plymouth township firemen are this week reminding citizens that burning of material or rubbish other than the ordinary household rubbish requires a written permit.

The permit is needed in order to alert firemen that a fire may possibly get out of control at a given time. Grass fires have been exceptionally heavy this year in both the township and city and although there has been no great damage, buildings have been threatened.

But there are several types of damage which a grass fire creates that pour wealth down three drains.

They waste decaying plant life that supplies humus to the soil; destroy wildlife; and make it easier for rain run-off to get away from the land.

It has been proven that burning off grasses can reduce regrowth yields by as much as 50 to 70 per cent—not enhance the new year's growth, claims Charles Shick, game management specialist at Michigan State University.

Burning may be easy. It may get rid of last year's dead plant material. But, it also removes humus that supplies plant food for your crops as it decays.

Allowed to grow back naturally, or plowed down, vegetation gives back to the soil some of the elements that have been removed. And, it increases moisture holding qualities of the soil.

Many farmers feel burning helps to control weeds. This is not always true, says Shick. The results may be just the opposite—burning under some situation would develop a good seed bed for weed growth.

And, burning on steep hillsides is also a bad practice. When this is done, conditions are set up for the beginning or accentuating of soil erosion.

Spring fires, set to remove dead vegetation, often get out of control and cause damage to fence posts and wire fencing.

And, he said, each spring fire destroys wildlife food and cover, as well as wildlife itself.

Further, he adds, burning requires a permit by law. Any time there is no snow cover on the ground, a permit must be secured from a conservation officer.

And, with or without a permit, the person starting the fire is legally responsible for any damage caused by the fire.

Sophomores Choose 'Presidential' Rings

Mary Jane West headed a committee of sophomores who chose the '59 class ring.

Serving on the committee were Joy Kalmbach, class president; Carole Anne North, Rosemary Tallman, Gail Bowen, Henry Nasko, Susan Dunn and Larry Wells.

A representative of the Terryberry ring company of Grand Rapids showed the group 14 rings. From these the committee selected the "Presidential," a yellow gold ring with a white gold inset.

The rings were put on display Wednesday, March 27. Students may order their rings at Beitner's from April 2-15. A deposit of five dollars is required.

WHEN DAVID GALIN hired an old friend, Don Lightfoot, to install a heating unit in Galin's new furniture display room, Lightfoot was jokingly admonished not to get one mark on the new white walls. Taking Galin at his word, Lightfoot showed up last Friday morning, along with his two sons, attired in white dinner jackets, tux pants and white gloves. While Galin watched, Barrie (left), Don Lightfoot and Don, Jr. actually installed the unit and without mishap. Said a carpenter who was also working in the room, "If I knew things were going to be formal this morning I would have brought my mahogany sawhorses."

ERNEST KOI, commander of the American Legion, Passage-Gayde Unit No. 391, shows the four books which are being presented to all Plymouth elementary schools and the junior high school to Melva Gardner, president of the Legion auxiliary. Books chosen for elementary schools this year by O. H. Butler, high school librarian, are "The Story of D-Day," "The West Point Story," "Salute the Flag" and "Watchwords of Liberty." Four others were given to the junior high and one other to the library. This is the second time the Legion has sponsored this project. Officials plan to make the presentations annually.

Sports Seen

By Bob Young

Plymouth's sporting program has finally reached a slack season. After many weeks of steady activity the athletes find themselves in training for the coming campaign which includes track, baseball, golf, and tennis.

Since action on the home front won't begin again until next week I thought this would be a good time to talk a little bit about the Detroit Tigers. About a month ago the Detroit papers were advertising the new Detroit Tigers 1957 roster book which was said to include all pertinent facts concerning the Tigers.

About two days later I received that very book and they were right it has everything. Briggs Stadium opened in 1938, it has 10,000 square yards of new soil every spring, it has an underground sprinkling system, and the ground crew can cover the field with tarps in less than two minutes.

The stadium will hold 52,904 people, left field is 340 feet from home plate, while center field is 440, and right field is 325.

Since 1900 the Tigers have won seven pennants, placed second ten times, third place five times, fourth place nine times, and finished in the second division 26 times.

Last season's fifth place club lead the league in team batting average with .279, they lead the league with hits at 1494, they claimed second in runs scored with 789, they were second with total bases with 2253, and the pitching staff was second in strike outs with 788. The pitchers also turned in 10 shut outs with Billy Hoelt leading the parade with four.

The Tigers greatest winning season was back in 1934 when they won 101 games while losing only 53 for a remarkable 65% average. The manager during that winning season was Gordon S. Cochrane.

The Tigers all time total is 4440 games won and 4145 games lost for a .517 average. Last year the best Detroit could do in the standings was fourth on June 15, they moved into fifth July 29 and held it the rest of the season.

Detroit's all time record attendance was set in 1950 when Detroit finished second in the league. They had a season attendance of 3,365,600. The largest one game attendance was set at a double header with New York on Sunday, July 20, 1947. The crowd was 58,369.

The 1956 Tigers had an 82-72 record winning 37 while losing 40 at home. In the away games Detroit won 45 and lost 32.

Next week I will try to gather up some of the individual records and if there is anything you would like to know about the 1957 Tigers or records of the past just drop me a line and I will try to accommodate you.

With the questionable arrival of spring, Plymouth's two big golf clubs, Hilltop and Plymouth Country Club have both opened their courses for the 1957 season. Casey Partridge, proprietor and manager of the Plymouth Country Club opened his 18 hole golf course to the public last Saturday, March 30. Chris Burghart, manager and proprietor of the Hilltop Golf Course, got the 1957 season under way last Monday, April 1.

Ty Caplin, one of the finest golfers ever to come out of the Plymouth area, has been given a scholarship to Michigan State College after a recommendation by Andy Bertoni and Chick Harbert. Bertoni is the head greenskeeper at Meadowbrook Country Club and Harbert is one of Michigan's top pros. Caplin graduated with the class of '54. In an inter-squad meet a few weeks ago Caplin was able to subdue a first against many of the expectant members of this year's golfing team.

Mort Neff Awards Marksmen at Sport Show

Last Wednesday evening about 250 people crowded into the city-owned Bronson Building to see and hear Mort Neff and Ben Hardesty in one of the first sporting programs of its nature to be presented in Plymouth.

Mort Neff, better known as Mr. Michigan Outdoors from his television program of the same name, narrated as he showed many of his famous outdoor movies. Neff has just returned from a long vacation in South America where he took hundreds of yards of film.

Ben Hardesty, seven time national accuracy casting champion, put on an exhibition of co-ordination and skill as he placed his practice plug any place he desired with a simple flick of the wrist.

After wrapping the line around the little finger of Plymouth's "Big Bill Rambo", Hardesty proceeded to make his casts more difficult. He called on police chief Ken Fisher to share a cigarette with Rambo, the two stood face to face with the cigarette held between them, then Hardesty drew back the rod and whipped the cigarette from between their lips as the crowd looked on with amazement.

Neff opened the show with a couple of old hunting and fishing jokes, then he called on some kids from the audience to answer some of his questions about nature. His questions were: Are a deer's antlers located in front or in back of his ears? What animal has the finest fur in the world? Which is larger at birth a bear or a porcupine? and name three birds that cannot fly?

How did you do? The deer's antlers are located in front of his ears. The finest fur in the world is not a mink, but a little bat. A porcupine is quite a bit larger than a bear at birth, and the three birds are Penguin, Ostrich, and Emu. No jail bird.

Many local youths were awarded their bars, ribbons, and certificate in archery and marksmanship by Neff. Winners in rifle shooting were: Alan Curtiss-sharps shooter and brassard, Don Johnson-sharps shooter, first bar, and star, Kenneth Evans-first and second bar and marksman, Warren Smith-first bar, Tommy Fletcher-marksman, Doug Everson-p o - m a r k s m a n , marks-

LOOK OUT. Ben Hardesty, seven time national accuracy casting champion, is demonstrating to the audience how not to cast. Hardesty, using the side arm cast, accuses many of the dads of this type cast. (All in fun of course.)

Class B and the match with a 868. Billy Rew finished second with 820, and Russ Clifford won third with 697. Class A winner was Ron Bondie with 857, Ron Wahn took second with 839, and Larry Kunkel finished third with 837.

In archery the boys take the best five of seven shots to get their total.

In all their years of playing pinocle, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Henning of 36709 Ann Arbor trail say they've never seen a hand like the one Mrs. Henning came up with Thursday evening, March 28.

The Hennings were entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Anderson of 50250 Eight Mile road, Northville, and the women were way ahead in games. Henning dealt, and Mrs. Henning got the bid and made clubs trump. When she laid her meld down her competitors must have given up in despair. She had all eight aces and the king, queen and nine of clubs.

A single pinocle deck was used.

Janyce Henry Repeats Vows In St. John's Episcopal Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hesse

In an 8 p.m. candlelight service March 2, before an altar adorned with white gladiolus, Janyce Henry and Robert Hesse were wed by Reverend David Davies at St. John's Episcopal church.

For the double-ring ceremony, the bride wore a floor length white gown of chantilly lace over slipper satin. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a cap etched in seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Maid of honor and sister of the bride, Ruthann Henry, wore a street length dress of white nylon net over pink satin with matching headpiece. Her bouquet was of pink carnations.

Bridesmaids Mary Lynn Kemp and Marilyn Whetstone, both of Wayne, wore dresses identical to that of the maid of honor but in blue. Both carried blue mums.

Brother of the groom, Russell Hesse of Belleville, acted as best man. Ushers were Nile Gladstone of Plymouth and Guy Laraway of Wayne.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. James E. Henry of 11666 Riverside drive. Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hesse of Ann Arbor.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue dress with white accessories and a red rose corsage, while the mother of the bridegroom wore a navy blue lace dress with a red rose corsage.

A reception was held in the church parlors following the ceremony.

The new Mrs. Hesse chose a suit of light blue nylon-wool for her honeymoon trip to New York City. The couple live in their new home at 8060 Joy road.

State Disasters Cost Red Cross $571,201 in '56

The Detroit Red Cross chapter has released figures on disaster relief operations in the state of Michigan during 1956.

Louis J. Colombo, Jr., chapter chairman, said: "There were 6 separate disaster operations in Michigan; 2 fires, 2 tornadoes, 1 building collapse, and 1 wind-storm which involved so large a number of persons as to make it impossible for the local community to handle the situation alone.

In these instances Red Cross spent $571,201 to assist the victims at the time of emergency and, through its rehabilitation program, to insure their return to a pre-disaster level of living.

May tornadoes, which caused damage in eight counties including Wayne, found Red Cross serving 252 families at a cost of $134,468. In the Lincoln Park-Allen Park area, Red Cross spent a total of $12,636 assisting 54 families affected by the May 12 disaster. Of course the actual money expended is not the only or even the most important service Red Cross provided.

I REMEMBER PLYMOUTH

One of Plymouth's well-known elder citizens is William B. Roe, 624 Dodge street. He was born in Plymouth in 1867 and has lived here all of his life.

"I went to school over there where the high school is now located, but our building was frame. We had six or seven teachers and it was the only school in town. I quit school with but a year left to go and my first job was with the Markham Air Rifle company in 1886.

"It was a new company and my father, Charles H. Roe, had made its first air rifle for Mr. Markham.

"I well remember the first train that came to town. That was in 1871 and I was small, but I can still recall it. The railroad was built from Toledo, through Wayne and up to Plymouth and a big crowd was there to meet the first train. The band had gone to Wayne where they boarded a flat car and rode into Plymouth playing. My father was a member of the band. The track was laid only as far as Ann Arbor Trail.

"Some people never knew that Plymouth once boasted four hotels. There was the Strang Hotel in Lower Town (now the Andarine), the Boyde Hotel near the railroad on Main street (this building is still there), the Plymouth Hotel where the D & C store now stands and the Boston House, located where the Paul Wiedman garage now is. All were busy places, as I remember it, but the Plymouth Hotel was considered the best."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Plymouth area residents who have recollections of Plymouth before 1920 are being urged to write them down and send them to The Mail.)

Grange Cleanings

Tonight is the usual supper night, and it is hoped there is a bigger crowd than at the last meeting.

One of the Grange members, Chloe Powell, is seriously ill in St. Joseph Mercy hospital in Ann Arbor. Cards would be appreciated.

Another member, Roy Amrhein, has been confined to his home for two weeks with a form of rheumatism.

There will be several new candidates to be voted on at tonight's meeting. As more and more realize that the Grange is a place where they can enjoy a social evening in good company, the group is growing larger and larger.

The supper, card party and dance scheduled for April 13 has been postponed until April 27 because of the Easter season. This will be the last one of the season.

TIPS for TEENS

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Is it proper for a girl to go to a boy's house... or is it in the raised-eyebrow department among date don'ts?

Q.—"I am a girl, 16 years old. My father said that it is improper for me to go to my boyfriend's home for Sunday dinner once or twice a month, although he and his mother have invited me. Our families know each other well. My boy-friend lives a long way from me, so I see him only on weekends. We've been going steady for six months. His mother thinks because he comes to my house often on weekends that I should go over there once in a while."

Ans.—Your father has a right to his opinion, of course, and doubtless has reasons for it. For example, in some communities, it doesn't mean anything "serious" when a boy goes to a girl's house, but when a girl is invited to HIS home to meet HIS parents, it sometimes means that they're about to go diamond-ring shopping.

But in your case, it's different, because your parents already know his parents and so do you. So going to his home for dinner has no "special meeting-his-family significance that could appear more serious than it really is."

Then, too, your boy-friend lives so far away that you two see each other only on week-ends, so this makes it seem only natural for you to go to his home occasionally, too.

Under the circumstances, it's nice, gracious gesture for his mother to invite you to his home. It would be perfectly OK and proper for you to go there occasionally, but not on a weekly or monthly schedule. Just now and then.

The circus was the only public spectacle in ancient Rome at which men and women sat together.

Who rates what for performance and smoother riding in the low-priced three? Chevrolet has laid the answer and the proof on the line! First, Chevrolet won the Auto Decathlon over every car in its field, and over the higher priced cars that were tested, too. This rugged ten-way test (right, below) showed Chevrolet was the champ in handling ease, braking, acceleration, passing ability, smoothness of ride and other driving qualities you want in a car.

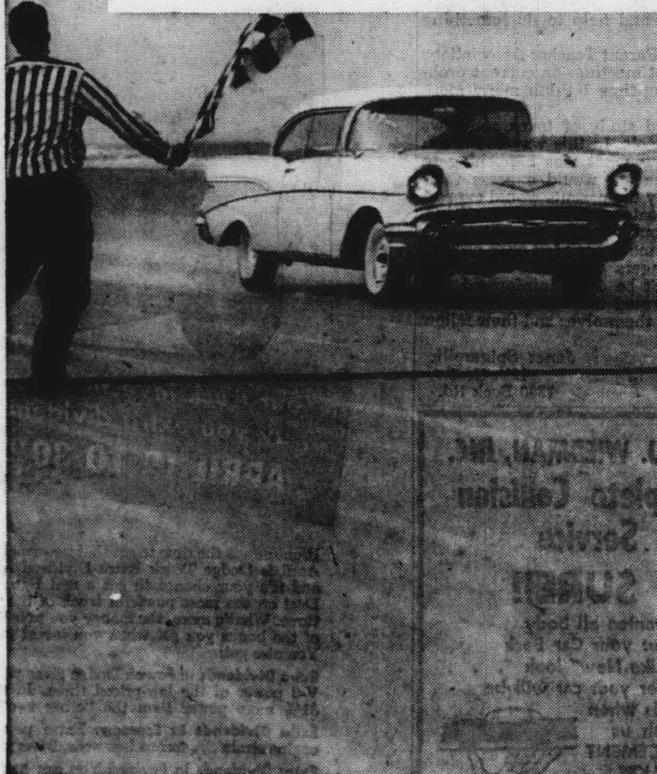

Then, Chevy walked off with the Pure Oil Performance Trophy at Daytona (left, below) as "best performing U. S. automobile." It's quite a feeling to know that you are driving a car that performs so well, responds so beautifully and is so finely built. You enjoy a surer, smoother, steadier way of going, a keen cat-quick response of V8 power, and the easiest handling you've ever known at a wheel. Better see this champ at your Chevrolet dealer's.

More Winners in the Mail's Essay Contest

The following are the last of the winners in The Mail's essay contest which closed last month. These are the winners in the Grades 10-12 classification. Subject were selected from a list of five problems which readers considered the community's most pressing. Winning essays in the other two classifications appeared in previous issues.

THE SEWER AND WATER PROBLEM IN PLYMOUTH (First Place)

Adequate supply of safe water and the disposal of waste are two problems that beset every area making a swift transition from rural to urban characteristics. In 1950 the population of the city of Plymouth with approximately 2 square miles was 6,637 and Plymouth township with approximately 16 square miles was 4,495. By 1955 the population had grown to 8,114 in the city and 5,194 in the township. It is estimated the population in 1970 will be 13,000 in the city and 50,000 in the township. At one time, the system of private wells and septic tanks was satisfactory, because of reasonably safe distances between private water supplies and disposal facilities. The increase in land values in this area have made it necessary to build houses on smaller lots and in subdivisions. Obviously, in the newly urbanized sections, the present system of individual wells and septic tanks create a potential health hazard.

Typhoid fever is only one of the many dreaded diseases caused by an impure water supply. Because the children of the community attend the same schools and because we are related closely one with another socially and in business, contact with a carrier infected from a polluted water supply would be easy. Must we have an epidemic to rouse the public into action? Most people, I feel, hold the value of human life over a few dollars spent for taxes.

The city of Plymouth, with the completion of its new sewer and its water system, has provided and made available sanitary sewer and water facilities to every house in the city. The water pumping capacity of the Beck Road and the Six Mile Road wellfields is five times that of the average daily demand. It is estimated that the city's facilities will be adequate for the next fifteen years.

In the rural areas of the township private wells give a pure water supply, and septic tanks give satisfactory results in the disposal of waste. In the more densely populated sections, the septic tank method has become unsatisfactory and a potential health hazard. The residents of these urbanized areas are looking to the township officials and to the newly formed Plymouth-Canton Township Sewer and Water Authority, for relief of the situation.

One of the most obvious solutions to the problem in the township is to voice approval and back the existing Plymouth-Canton township sewer and water authority. The one advantage of this authority is hindered in its work because of the large amount of capital outlay needed for developing a wellfield and a connector sewer to the middle-rouge interceptor sewer. Because the authority has no established credit, it may have to pay high interest rates on bonds issued for the project.

Purchase from the city, by the township, of water and sewer services could be a second solution to the problem. The large amount of capital outlay for developing separate facilities is avoided. Immediate construction of sewer and water lines would be possible. However political conflicts between the two governments, at the present time, would make this an impractical approach to an immediate solution. Sewer and water rates probably would be doubled to pay for the service offered. Township residents would hold no voting power as to the use of their funds.

Annexation to the city of the urbanized areas of the township, needing the service, would be a third solution. A large capital outlay would not be needed and immediate construction could begin. Because users would be city residents, they would have direct control in the election of officials. The higher tax rates paid by the annexed territory would be offset by savings in water and sewer rates.

A radical idea for the solution of metropolitan problems such as water, sewer, police, assessments, fire etc. is to form metropolitan districts. These represent a consolidation of certain government services. These services then may be given without respect to the many artificial walls between different units of government. To set up a metropolitan district, the legislative body of the city, township or village adopts a resolution outlining the territory to be involved. Other units within that territory, wishing to be in the district, pass similar resolutions. Representatives to a charter commission draw up a charter and it is submitted to the voters of all units affected. A majority vote is required in any unit before that unit can become a part of the metropolitan district. District costs are borne proportionately by residents of participating governmental units. Units which could be part of such a district are Plymouth Township, city of Plymouth, city of Livonia, Northville township, city of Northville, Redford township, city of Redford, and the village of Wayne. An example of this plan exists in metropolitan Toronto, where it is theorized that someday greater efficiency will lead to reduced over-all costs. By pledging the faith and credit of units in the district, it might be possible to obtain lower interest rates on bonds. Under this plan there would not be a need for the county layer of government. The only disadvantage to this plan is the time required for formation and local dislike of big organizations.

Another plan similar to the metropolitan district plan is to let a county manager plan provide such services as sewer, water, fire, and police to every unit of government in the county. The advantages and disadvantages are similar to those in the metropolitan district plan.

Briefly, urbanization is now taking place in this area. Septic tanks and water wells present a potential health hazard to the whole community. The solution to this problem can be found in any of the five plans discussed. Annexation will give immediate relief, but the forming of a metropolitan authority would be the most practical long range solution. The Plymouth area has always solved its own problems and when the situation is fully understood its people can and do act in the best interests of the community.

A Dull, Uninterested, Uninformed Body of Voters In the City and Township (Second Prize)

The problem of getting people to vote is not a new problem, for it began when our government was born. In the infant stage of our country's growth the masses were struggling to clear the virgin forests, plant the crops and discover the natural resources that would eventually make our country great. Consequently, they did not have time to find out how their government worked or what their part in it was. They were too busy worrying about Indians and the hardships of the long hard winters to worry about the protective tariff or the national bank, which did not affect them directly. It was the manufacturers and importers who were directly affected by these laws, so they were the ones who knew and cared about voting.

Now our country has grown up and the problem is the same. The masses are too busy trying to get ahead and keeping up with the Joneses to worry about the new airport or the election of some city official. They believe that they don't know enough about the issue at hand and thus see no sense in voting. They would rather not vote at all, than to vote wrong; so they stay home and let the few who know, vote. Thus the minority rules the majority, just like the proverbial "tail wagging the dog." Why do the people do this? They don't have to fight Indians or clear the land any more and they have conveniences that our ancestors never dreamed we would have. And yet, they still don't have time to vote. With all these labor-saving, time-saving devices they offer the same excuse—no time to vote.

Some people just don't seem to care about these issues that seemingly don't concern them. When, however, something big comes along, like a presidential election, 75 to 80 per cent of the people turn out or when something affects their pocket books like a raise in taxes they're right there. Also when it affects something close to them like their children they find out what's wrong and do something about it. For example, when our schools were so crowded, concerned parents voted for new ones. When we have a local election and spend money for people to work at the polls, a mere 25 to 30 per cent of the people turn out. It's not even worth having an election for such small turnout.

Why do people get out and vote sometimes and not others? One of the reasons is that they are not informed and if they're not informed they're not interested. Another reason is that when the people get the right information on a topic and have a chance to form their own opinion they are less likely to believe propaganda or faulty rumors about the topic. Likewise if they know something concrete about candidate for an office, they won't just vote for the man whose name sounds the best but for the man who will do the best job.

One of the ways that people are enlightened today is by the newspaper and this is a very good tool for this purpose if it is properly used. Many articles can be written on a subject, but they must be written so the public understands or they're useless. All that the public wants to know is whether a law is fair or not and what this law is going to do for them and their neighbors. If some one who understands the subject could write such articles it would be a definite step forward. My belief is that a widely read newspaper can really affect a community by its opinions, and it can do a great deal of good by giving the different sides of a proposal and let them gather their own opinion. Also if the paper would inquire more and get public opinion it could do a great deal to help the city officials in their jobs to please the people, because different people see conditions from different angles.

Another way that people are acquainted with the facts about proposals and candidates is by radio, pamphlets and posters. These can be very enlightening if used honestly and if well written. But if they are too long or written poorly they are simply disregarded. Likewise, they are not worth the time to write if they don't give a true picture of the candidate or the proposal.

If we could make people realize that they are actually throwing away part of their freedom by not exercising the right to vote; if we could make them see what's going to happen if they don't choose the man or law that they want; if someday soon we no longer have a democracy but a dictatorship, then I imagine the people will see where they went wrong. Why is it that people never realize what they have until they lose it? I only hope that we won't have to learn from experience, which can be a bitter teacher.

There are many ways in which to instruct the public, but they can only be done when the public sees that something should be done. One way to really create enthusiasm in politics is to form neighborhood councils where a small, intelligent, unselfish group of people can meet to discuss problems of the community and suggest reasonable answers to the right people. This type of organization can be very effective when intelligent, reasonable people are helped by city officials to understand problems and help to do something about them.

Moreover if church groups and Parent Teacher Associations would ask city officials to speak at meetings on current problems and issues just before voting time I think many more informed voters would turn out.

Above all, I think a required study of taxes and laws should be taught in our high schools. In this way the members of these classes would know what was happening in their community and most teenagers would express their opinions to their parents. Similarly the parents would express their opinions and this would create a good healthy discussion and investigation of the condition. In this way both parents and teenagers would become acquainted with present conditions. Then when the teenagers grew up and become parents themselves they wouldn't be dull, uninformed, uninterested voters but alert, informed and interested voters who would do the right things for themselves and their fellow men.

Guild to Stage Spring Show, 'Over 21,' April 24 to 27

"Over 21," a long-run Broadway comedy described as full of "several kinds of laughter—all good" by a New York critic, will be presented at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, April 24-27, in the Plymouth high school auditorium.

The plot concerns the ordeals of a newspaper editor and his devoted wife living near an officers' training camp. Though pushing 40 and nursing a bad cold, the editor has volunteered for the army, despite the pleas of the publisher who fears his newspaper will slide downhill if its brilliant chief goes to war. At the same time, the editor's wife is hounded by a film producer who wants her to polish up one of her completed scripts for immediate use.

Living in a dilapidated camp bungalow poses a special problem since windows open without being pushed, electricity goes on and off at will and the refrigerator is subject to blowing up without warning. All ends well, however, when the old soldier gets his commission and the wife agrees to edit his newspaper until he returns.

Russ Creel and Jeannine Dahla-

ger will play the editor and his wife. Other actors will be: Doug Havershaw, publisher; Jack Scott, colonel; Alice Wright, colonel's wife; Maude Laury, colonel's mother-in-law; Bob Young, newly-commissioned lieutenant; Shirley Andrews, his recent bride; Jack Wilcox, Hollywood director; Jean Scott, director's secretary; and Dean Saxton, messenger boy.

"Over 21" will be produced by Loretta Young, directed by Hal Young with William Merrill of Will-O-Way Playhouse acting as technical advisor.

The Rosedale Gardens Civic Association started Spring off with a bang Saturday night, March 23, with a "Spring Frolic" dance at the clubhouse on Hubbard avenue.

The theme was Spring planting and gardening and the clubhouse was decorated with lawn furnishings and a grill and geraniums and candles completed the table decorations. About thirty couples were present, and the dance was a great success.

Instead of holding nursery school for the younger group (the three year olds) Thursday, March 28th, Nursery School held a regular session at the clubhouse on Sunday, March 31st, calling it

"Father's Day at Nursery School" and giving all the fathers an opportunity to observe their children and see their accomplishments.

Anita and Gene Griffith of Louisiana avenue are the parents of a baby boy, Gary, who was born at Mt. Sinai Hospital Tuesday morning, March 26th. Gary, who arrived about a month early, weighs 5 pounds and must stay in the hospital until he puts on an extra half pound.

Tony Pons, Woodring avenue, is now helping out with the Boy Scout Troop sponsored by the Rosedale Garden Civic Association.

Alicia Stanwick, Woodring avenue, celebrated her 8th birthday March 23rd, and received a new bike from her Grandpa and Grandpa. Alicia, just recently had her appendix removed by the way.

Allen Kilikka, who along with his family moved away, was given a farewell party at his school by his classmates and teacher.

I went to the Green Elephant bingo party put on by the Women's Club March 21st at the clubhouse and sure had a nice time. As long as I stayed that I got a rush call home for a sick child just as the evening was progressing nicely, and missed out on the refreshments, even!

You surely can have lots of fun at Women's Club, and a more friendly bunch of ladies you will never meet. Tonight the club will hold its Spring Auction, and members are urged to attend, and bring their "actionables," especially children's outgrown clothing, toys and books in good condition. Knickknacks, jewelry, giftware, etc. are also good items.

Gwen Jackman is to be the chairman, with Kathryn Castle, Charlotte Guyot, and Betty Talbot and hostesses will be Hazel Picles, chairman with Eleanor Wylie and Marie Ahrens. See you there at 8:30 p.m.!

Glen Parkinson, son of Debbie and Russ Parkinson of Melrose avenue, celebrated his first birthday Sunday, March 24th. Glen's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Parkinson of Jackson, Michigan were on hand to help him celebrate, as were some of the neighbors who came in for cake and ice cream and coffee Sunday.

Much excitement went on over at the clubhouse Wednesday March 27th at Nursery School when a 5 weeks old lamb by the name of "Daisy" visited the children. Mrs. McLaughlin, Westfield avenue, brought Daisy to visit the children, and a prettier white lamb you never saw, all dolled up with a pink ribbon around its neck, and drinking from a bottle, yet!

Daisy, it seems, was one of twins and her mamma didn't care to raise two, so Mrs. McLaughlin's parents took over. Daisy came from Ohio, stopped over for her visit to Rosedale Gardens, and will reside at the family home in the Upper Peninsula. Even Mary's little lamb never got around like this!

The Gibsons of Crantson avenue had visitors from Ohio, too last week. Dave's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Peabody who are antique dealers came up this way for the antique show in Redford.

Margaret Briggs, Vermont avenue, entertained her club Tuesday evening, March 26th with a luncheon. Those present were Mrs. Dorothy Budnik Joan Kindree, Jean Johnson and Marie Travers of Royal Oak, Millicent Chalmers and Helen Smith of Redford Township and Jean Anderson of Detroit.

Brownie troop No. 1098 had a nice visit to the pet shop Monday, March 18th, where they saw the fish, hamsters, parakeets, parrot and what have you.

Girls attending were Gretchen Anderson, Cheryl Davey Tyra Hilgers, Jamie Hopp, Debby Jenkins, Jennifer Kassin, Diana McLaren, Susan Roble, Karen Stanley, Linda Valenti, Janet Welch, and Patty Wolverton. Also present was the troop's brand new member, Mary Lynn Cartwright who was invested Monday, March 25th.

Members of the nominating committee for Women's Club met Thursday evening, March 28th at the home of Ginny Gamber, Auburndale. Members of this committee are Dorothy Day, Betty Dana, Jayne Summerlee, Ginny Gamber and Jo Ballert.

Speedy Quick, Vermont avenue, celebrated his birthday Tuesday, March 26th and "lived it up" by varnishing the cupboard doors!

Wednesday evening, March 27th the Louisiana Pinocle Club met at the home of Shirley Good. Other members present were Gerri Casler, Gladys Wendt, Jean Stewart, Janet Blanchard, Beth Theide, Dolores Weinburger and Monica Dehasel.

The Howards, Vermont avenue, are sporting a brand new red car!

Nursery School parents are urged to get their friends and neighbors to attend the "Cement Mixer" dance at the civic clubhouse Saturday night, April 6th from 9 to 1. For those who don't care to dance, there will be cards, and ping pong.

Another feature of the evening will be a short skit put on by some of the parents in which they will take the parts of children (Bet the kids would like to see that!). There will be refreshments and door prizes, and proceeds from this dance will go to provide a cement walk in the back yard of the clubhouse for the little ones to ride their trikes on.

Betty Broseoff, Vermont, held a plastic demonstration party at her home March 11th. Guests present were Vivian Quick, Connie Conway, Jackie Sheldon, Mrs. Lantz, Mrs. Sheldon and Joyce Hoiby.

The Rosedale Gardens branch of the National Farm and Garden Association will have 800 Almey Flowering Crab trees for sale at Sheldon Center Friday and Saturday, April 12th and 13th. These trees will be $2.85 each, and since it is the official tree of our fair city of Livonia, it might just be a good idea to plant a few! These trees are really beautiful and will add to property value, so get there early for the best selection.

Along with the tree sale the Rosedale Gardens branch and also the Livonia branch will have Litterbags on sale. These Litterbags are a great idea for cars for the children to put all the litter of candy wrappers, gum wrappers, etc. into and therefore keeping not only the highways clean but also your car exterior in neat condition.

These bags are made of denim, have a picture of that horrible creature we don't want to be, a Litterbug, on the front, have a handle and are washable. All this for 50c, too! Let's get the car cleaned up, the city cleaned up, and let's everyone be a committee of one to keep them that way!

Happy late birthday greetings to Celia Heaton, Vermont avenue, who celebrated her birthday March 20th.

Bill Hand, Loveland, was feted at a local eatery March 21st at a farewell party. The Hands are moving to Boston, and about 50 people gathered to wish them well.

Isobel and Bill Reid, Brookfield avenue, are back from their vacation to Florida, arriving home Wednesday, March 27th.

Mrs. Marie Newmarch, Mayfield avenue, is ill in St. Clair Hospital, and friends and neighbors might want to send her cards.

The Wendts and their children spent a recent weekend up north at the grandparent's cottage.

Monday evening, March 25th, Shirley Good, Louisiana avenue, entertained with a Jewelry party at her home. About 25 ladies attended, among them Janet Blanchard, Anita Griffith, Gerri Casler, Jean Stewart, Dolores Weinburger and Beth Theide.

Friday, Margaret Briggs, Vermont avenue, held a coffee get-together so that her new neighbor, Helen Bujewski, could meet the gang. Ladies present to welcome Helen were Mary Wilson, Jean Snyder, Lillian Forest, Doris Chapin, Jeanette Cihon, Frances Golasa and Beth Hierzel.

Welcome Wagon met Tuesday night, March 26th in the conference room at the bank in Sheldon Center and had a most enjoyable meeting.

William H. Hudson, director of the Garden Center of Detroit, Past President of the Men's Garden Society of Detroit and President of the South Michigan Iris Society gave a very informative and interesting talk entitled "Nine Months of Blooming for South Michigan."

The members got much information on what to plant for maximum enjoyment of their gardens, something just about every new home owner needs.

The Women's Club Board members met at the home of Carolyn Campbell, Mayfield, Tuesday, March 26th and presented the treasurer, Ginny Byrd, a baby stroller. Ginny brought Douglas along to meet the ladies, and I hear he's just about the cutest thing ever!

We have a nice little honest girl named Susan here in Rosedale Gardens who found some folding money behind the clubhouse about two weeks ago and will gladly return it if the person who lost it will call GA. 2-2160 and identify it.

The first card party for raising funds for the Women's Club was given by Eleanor Curle Tuesday afternoon, March 26th. Eleanor had one table of bridge and one of pinocle. Ruth Taylor won first prize at bridge, and Virginia Walton, an ex-Rosedale Garden gal, won first prize at pinocle. Let's have some more news on these card parties!

Texie and Clark Angers, Cranston avenue, had as their guests over the weekend of the 23rd Mr. and Mrs. William Peristy, formerly of Blackburn avenue, who now live in Toledo, Ohio.

Nursery School presented a film, April 1st, at 9:00 P.M. at the clubhouse on Hubbard. The film concerned the development and guidance of children's emotions up to the age of 10. Nursery School, by the way, is taking applications for this fall, so if you will have a child in the 3 through 5 age group, you'd better get him enrolled if you are interested because everything will be strictly on a "first come, first served" basis. For information, call Betty Broseoff at GA. 1-4117.

Aileen Briggs, Vermont avenue, celebrated her 5th birthday April 1st with a family dinner party. Among the guests were grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Borland from Florida.

Whitman Junior High had a real, live fire drill Thursday, March 28th, and the entire school was emptied in two minutes. This sounds pretty good, but it seems that it is supposed to be done in 1 minute, 15 seconds, so you kids had better get shuffling faster or something in the future! Seriously, it wasn't much of a waste basket, but it sure could have been serious and its nice to know that the school can be emptied so fast.

Well, that ties it up for another week. The tulips are still pecking, the trees are budding and the dogs have gone, thanks to the excellent work of the dog catcher!

With the approaching Easter season, the Newburg Methodist church, located at Newburg road and Ann Arbor trail, is planning a full week of Easter observances. Palm Sunday, a group of young men and women will be confirmed and received into the membership of the church. Maundy Thursday will find the traditional observance of the Last Supper. Good Friday services will be held from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. with the Rev. E. B. Jones of the Church of God delivering the afternoon's message. Easter Sunday morning at 7 a.m. there will be the traditional sunrise worship service followed by the Easter breakfast, sponsored by the Men's club. At 9 a.m. will be the first worship service, followed by Sunday School at 10 a.m., and then at 11 a.m. another worship service with the adult choir presenting their cantata, "Easter tide".

Flowering trees are much more numerous in the south and in the coastal areas where they will grow farther north than inland. This includes such lovely specimens as the Acacias, Camellia japonica, Grape Myrtle, Jacaranda and many other striking flowers.

The MAIL Attitude

Over the week-end I spent some time studying the text of the State Senate Bill which would permit the annexation of Township territory by a City through a process whereby a Circuit Judge alone could make the decision on the basis of evidence presented.

City of Plymouth officials support the Bill; the Township of Plymouth is opposed to it. The nub of the bill is that it makes annexation more difficult to resist.

Because of high local interest in the annexation subject, The Mail will print the full text of Bill No. 1130 on the editorial page next week.

But what interested me most was that it lists certain standards by which the Judge should make his decision. It strikes us that these "rules" should be the governing ones, whether a Judge acts on them or whether it is the people themselves voting in an election. The facts that determine the wisdom of an annexation, the bill declares, are:

- (1) It should consider the best interests of the city, the township, and of the area annexed.
- (2) It should consider the protection of the health, safety and welfare of the persons residing in the area and in the city or village and township. (And to us this means sewers, water, and roads).
- (3) It should consider whether such territory is needed within the reasonably near future for development of the city or village to which annexation is sought.
- (4) In cases where the applicant is a city or village, it should be considered whether fair and equitable provisions have been set forth in the resolution of the applicant for the future management and improvement of the territory.

It has come to our attention that the lead role in the next play to be offered by the Plymouth Theater Guild calls for a newspaper editor "pushing 40, with a bay window stomach." He enters the Army voluntarily and, of course, encounters a series of ludicrous situations, as any newspaperman will, whether he's in the Army or not.

The name of the play is "Over 21" and it will be delivered at the high school auditorium April 24-27.

Aside from objecting to the physical description of the editor on technical grounds (a thin, weary fellow, with a nervous twitch would be closer to life) this is a good time to remind the local public that Plymouth is one of a few cities in the whole state that offers this kind of entertainment. It's inexpensive, it's fun, it's done by people working just because they like it, and it's one more phase of the "arts" which are stressed here, where they are ignored elsewhere. Our Plymouth Symphony is an even more notable example of the same spirit.

All such things require public support and appreciation to keep going. And how about a summer stock season this year?

Every now and then, like most people, we find our faith in mankind wavering, and then something like this happens. A man I know just found an expensive ladies wrist watch. He has been unemployed and living hand to mouth for weeks. He brought the watch to The Mail office, asked if a "found" classified ad could be inserted, and added, "If the owner doesn't want to pay for the ad, let me know and I'll take care of it."

Quotable quotes:
 "The average wife wears nylons in zero weather, but still requires 90 percent of the blanket."
 "Nothing deteriorates a car as fast as a neighbor's buying a new one."
 "Some families can trace their ancestry back 300 years but can't tell you where their children were last night."

Senator Potter reports
 . . . the latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan . . .

BALL players, business men and burlesque queens get a better income tax break than school teachers under our present laws. When he fills out that long tax form, a ball player deducts the cost of uniforms and equipment. A business man can chalk up his fancy hotel suites and steak dinners to necessary expense and an entertainer deducts for a pair of spangled tights. But the dedicated people who have chosen teaching as a career and who strive to improve themselves by advanced study do not have the same privileges.

Under my new bill, the income tax law would be amended to permit teachers to take deductions for tuition, books, other equipment, travel and living expenses while away from home for special schooling. At a time when our teacher shortage is crucial and the profession sadly underpaid, we should be offering every inducement to teachers. Certainly a little tax relief is not much to ask. Representative Robert McIntosh of Port Huron has introduced a companion measure in the House and we both expect to push hard on this one.

THE VANISHING RAILROAD is not the title of a whodunit. It describes a serious transportation situation which is developing across the nation and is now reaching into Michigan's Upper Peninsula. I am told that a number of railroads may abandon service because slim passenger loads have marked their ledgers with red ink. Escanaba, Ishpeming, St. Ignace, Marquette, Mackinaw City, Petoskey, and Manistee may become victims of the trend.

I am cooperating with state officials and at the same time working at the federal level. This is a national problem over and above the extreme hardship it places on the communities which lose rail service. If trains are discontinued, we can expect their rolling stock to be destroyed for tax purposes. Later, if a national emergency arises, we are bound to regret this, for we'll need every piece of rolling stock we can lay our hands on. Representative John Bennett of Ontonagon has introduced a resolution asking for a committee investigation of the entire question. On the Senate side, I've called for full study by our Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. A subcommittee will convene on April 12 and 17 to look into the problem. This is a tough one, for railroads cannot run lines at a loss indefinitely. On the other hand, I don't intend to stand by and watch the U.P. residents isolated.

A lovely lass from Detroit, Miss Maryann Andrieca, is Michigan's Cherry Blossom Princess. On April 5, along with fifty other glamorous princesses from all of the states and territories, she will attend Washington's traditional Cherry Blossom Festival Ball. There Mrs. Eisenhower will spin the wheel of fortune until it stops at the name of the new Queen, whom all good Michigananders, of course, hope will be Maryann. Last week the Michigan State Society honored her at a reception. Next week's parade and other functions will be climaxed by the crowning of the Cherry Blossom Queen.

If any one ever doubted that the people run this country, events of the past month concerning the federal budget are graphic proof that John Citizen is still calling the shots. His loud protests over the budget have brought results. Purse strings are being pulled up. At most the entire membership of the Senate—71 of us, to be precise—have joined in sponsoring legislation to tighten up federal fiscal operations. In a jet-propelled reaction to strongly expressed public sentiment for reducing the budget, the Senate Committee on Government Operations reported this bill within four days from the time we introduced it.

The proposals in this bill are the fruits of seven years of study by the Committee. A 14-member Joint Committee on the Budget would be established, composed of 7 Senators and 7 Representatives all Appropriations Committee members. This group would combine the functions of watchdog sleuth and office Mr. Scrooge, following closely the well-thought-out and detailed recommendations in the bill. In reporting it to the Senate floor, the Committee stated that the bill "constitutes a positive approach to the elimination of extravagance, waste and needless or excessive appropriations."

FIRST SETTLEMENT near the mouth of the St. Joseph River was Newburyport, founded in 1831. But after five years of prosperous existence, Newburyport was completely buried by shifting sands. Vainly the residents erected fences and showed the sand away from their doors, only at last to give up the unequal struggle and move farther up the hills onto the site of St. Joseph, which was incorporated as a village in 1836.

Best Wishes,
CHARLES E. POTTER
 United States Senator

Mrs. I. W. Ruge's recipes for Sauerbraten and Pickled Salad will be among the foods served at a special benefit smorgasbord held at the Northville Community building, Sunday, April 7. Food will be served from noon to 9 p.m. with a donation of $2.50 for adults and $1.25 for children going to the National Cystic Fibrosis Research fund.

The recipes are hand-me-downs in Mrs. Ruge's family, originally used by her grandmother and finally written down by herself. Mrs. Ruge had to experiment and sort out the right amounts of the ingredients, since her grandmother would go by only "a pinch of this" and "a handful of that."

Sauerbraten

Marinate a three pound bottom round of beef for at least four days (or as long as eight to 10 days) in:

- 1 cup vinegar
- 2 cups water
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon peppercorns
- 1 teaspoon mustard seed

Pour this mixture hot over the meat. Remove after allotted time and rub with garlic. Dredge with flour. Heat three tablespoons butter in heavy skillet. Brown meat. Add heated marinade. Simmer two or three hours or until tender. Thicken juice with a thin flour paste. Add one cup sour cream (optional).

Serve with sauce and with potato dumplings.

Herring Salad

- 4 pickled herrings
- 4 apples
- 4 dill pickles
- 1 medium onion

Dice or chunk ingredients and mix with sour cream.

DAUGHTER JEANNIE, second grader at Bird School, watches as her mother, Mrs. I. W. Ruge of 467 Arthur, cuts up the beef for her sauerbraten. Mrs. Ruge's son, David, 13 years old and a junior high student, thinks the recipe's pretty good.

The 1957 Cancer Crusade has begun, and the emphasis is on that ounce of prevention worth a pound of cure. Duane Sheldon, local insurance man and chairman of this year's Plymouth drive, said that for the second successive year the American Cancer Society slogan is "Fight Cancer with a Check Up."

Tremendous gains are being made against Cancer, although it is still one of the top killers in this nation. Ten years ago, one out of four cancer victims was saved, and today, it's one out of three victims.

On the research front, a survey of 14,000 thousand cases of cancer has yielded a hint that infection with polio virus may prevent cancer. Among these cases, only one was found with a history of polio. Among 828 polio victims, not one case of cancer was uncovered.

Next week, Plymouthites will have a chance to see a film on lung cancer, so recently brought into public attention through its suspected linkage with cigarette smoking. Experts say that lung cancer kills more Americans in a single year than tuberculosis or diabetes or murders and suicides combined.

Scientists are close on the heels of this killer, and your help and your self-education can shorten the gap.

Now that the new seed catalogs have arrived, would-be gardeners begin getting the itch to go out and plant something, but as usual, old man weather fouls things up with his inconsistency and late frosts.

But there's a way to fool him—plant your seeds indoors and transplant them when the weather's warmer. Make sure before you start that you have a good sunny spot in the house where the temperature is 50 to 60° F. Seedlings that are kept too warm and that don't get enough sun will grow tall and spindly.

A good soil mixture is one part garden soil, one part peat moss and one part coarse sand. Milled sphagnum moss is also used by other gardeners to cover seed. Screen the mixture so it is not lumpy.

If using flats (shallow boxes) to sow your seeds, make sure there are drainage holes in the bottom. I recently saw a new kind of flat that's made of a heavy kind of tarpaper cardboard that folds into a very convenient size. Each box costs 15 cents.

Sow seeds thinly to a depth about three times the diameter of the seed. Rows should be about two inches apart. Fine seed can simply be pressed into the soil, instead of covered.

Water from below by standing the box in water. Then, just watch them grow. May 15 is the usual go-ahead signal for transplanting annuals in this area. Now you'll have a four to six week head start over those started out-of-doors!

A Washington D. C. friend of the late Mrs. Emma Springer had arranged to have the White House send her a birthday message, since she was to have been 86 years old Sunday, March 31. When the friend discovered she was seriously ill, he relayed the message to the White House. Mrs. Springer received a congratulatory birthday letter, written on White House stationery, from the assistant to the President of the United States, on Tuesday, March 19, two days before her death.

Her son, Harvey of Plymouth, reports that she was very thrilled and happy upon receiving this little memento of someone's thoughtfulness.

April is the month for Spring cleaning, dreaded thought, when all that's been put off weekly finally catches up with you. But don't stop when you get the house in order. Ever since the days of the Model T, April means Spring cleaning for your automobile too. It's said that a clean, well-kept interior will actually improve your driving.

What are the distractions that can be eliminated by a little cleaning up? Paper handkerchiefs, dark glasses and road maps strewn on the seats and floor, children's toys, a compact spilled on the seat cover, sand from the beach and articles placed on the shelf behind the rear seat.

There are two recommended ways of getting rid of the "junk yard look" permanently. First, a paper bag attached under the right hand side of the dashboard with tape makes an easily-disposable trash bin for gum wrappers and other bits of mess-making stuff that accumulate on long trips. It can be dropped off at any service station along the way, when full.

Secondly, take a good look at your glove compartment, and get rid of the material that has simply accumulated there. Road maps, a flashlight and a whisk broom are the only things most people need there anyway.

WHEN EVERYONE in the Bruce B. Spratling family of 11849 Amherst court gets working in the garden, something's bound to grow. According to Mrs. Spratling, the whole family likes gardening and even the little ones pitch in to help. (Mary Elizabeth, three months, may have to do a little growing of her own first, though.) Shown are Connie Mack, 6; Mr. Spratling; Charles Cecil, almost 2; Bruce Bob, Jr., 9; Ruth Ann, 7; Mary Elizabeth, 3 months; and Mrs. Spratling. The family moved to Michigan from Pittsburg, Penn., in May, but didn't move into their present home until Dec. 1. Mr. Spratling is manager of market research of the Detroit Diesel Engine division of General Motors. He originally came from a small town, and part of what sold the couple on Plymouth is that Plymouth is a small town and not a suburb of Detroit. Mrs. Spratling also said that the schools were highly recommended.

Kites are Fun, But Dangerous

Many centuries before the Christian Era, an air-borne kite became man's first link between sky and earth. Since that time, kites of many sizes, shapes and colors have played important religious, scientific and military roles in both primitive and highly advanced civilizations.

But, here in Plymouth, kite-flying is best known as a fascinating pastime for the young in heart and is, traditionally, a welcome sign of forthcoming spring.

Hundreds of youngsters have already rigged and flown their first kites of the year, but before the season gets into full swing, Detroit Edison's Safety Department has a few suggestions for keeping the fun in and the danger out of kite flying. Here they are:

1. Always fly kites in open fields—away from overhead wires and away from streets and roads where traffic is an additional hazard.

2. Use a wooden kite frame; wood is a non-conductor of electricity.

3. Use "plain" kite-string; avoid all tinsel wire or cord that has any appearance of being metallic. Metallic cord can carry electricity to your hand and cause painful injury or fatal shock.

4. If the kite does catch on a pole or tree, leave it there. It's too bad to lose it but making a new kite is fun—and climbing for the old one might result in a fall or electric shock.

5. Never fly your kite during an electrical storm. Ben Franklin used a kite in his famous experiment with electricity. But he was lucky not to have been killed.

6. When you're running to raise your kite or keep it in the air, watch your step rather than your kite—it may save you a bad bump or tumble.

Kite flying can be lots of fun for young and old alike and it can be safe if these rules are observed.

Doughnut Clowns Delight Young;
Try Them for Birthday Parties

Youngsters will love these party desserts with personalities, Doughnut Clowns. All it takes to make them are packaged cook book doughnuts from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department, ice cream or sherbet, shredded coconut and some assorted candies.

Scoop the balls of ice cream or sherbet and let harden in the freezer or freezer compartment of the refrigerator. Make faces in each ice cream ball with bits of jelly beans and candies. Top each with a candy hat made with a chocolate peppermint patty and a large gum drop. Hold hat in place with a toothpick. Keep faces in freezer until just ready to serve.

Arrange doughnuts on individual serving plates and sprinkle shredded coconut on for a neck ruff. Then add ice cream face and serve one to each. Doughnut clowns are especially popular for children's birthday parties and other celebrations.

Making your own sherbet adds that extra home-made touch to these clowns. Here's how to make lime sherbet, for instance:

Lime Sherbet
1 cup evaporated milk
1 six ounce can frozen limeade concentrate
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
green food coloring

Chill evaporated milk in freezer tray of refrigerator until ice crystals form around edges. Turn into chilled bowl and whip with rotary beater or high speed electric mixer until milk is stiff. Combine limeade concentrate, sugar, salt, and a few drops of food coloring. Add to milk, one tablespoon at a time and whip until very stiff. Turn into freezer tray and freeze until firm. Makes one and a fourth quarts.

It is estimated that consumption of water in the United States has increased 1,800 gallons per person in the last 25 years.

The average housewife each year walks as far as from Boston to San Francisco, 3,190 miles, without leaving her house.

Regal Dessert With Apricot Sauce Will Climax Easter Dinner Menu

Not the least among Easter glories is the feast which follows the Lenten fast. The Easter table, in keeping with the joyousness of the season, should reflect the spirit of Spring's rebirth. The day's special menu should be, from beginning to end, a galaxy of good things to eat.

The dessert with which the meal is climaxed should be festive and gay. One such dessert, of French origin, is a colorful and delicious circle of golden goodness known as a savarin. This is a regal dish with a royal past, and in Europe it is generally reserved for special occasions.

This savarin ring is especially appropriate for holiday dining because it may be made in advance and served at the last moment.

Savarin
(French Yeast Cake Filled with Fruit)

1 package active dry yeast
1/4 cup lukewarm water
1 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 large or 3 small eggs
1/4 cup milk
2/3 cup shortening
1 tablespoon seedless raisins
1 tablespoon currants

Soften yeast in water for five minutes, then stir until blended. Combine flour, sugar and salt in mixing bowl. Stir in yeast and eggs, beaten lightly with milk. Beat until smooth, about 100 strokes. Add shortening, raisins and currants, and beat until blended, about 50 strokes. Spoon batter into a 10-inch ring mold rubbed with shortening and let rise until batter is rounded over rim of the mold, about one hour. Bake at 400° F. for 12 to 15 minutes, or until browned. Unmold while hot.

Before serving, saturate with apricot sauce (below) and fill center of ring with fruit sweetened to taste. If desired, garnish with whipped cream.

Apricot Sauce
Combine 3/4 cup sugar and 1 1/2 cups apricot nectar. Boil rapidly for five minutes. Remove from heat and stir in two teaspoons lemon juice. For apricot rum sauce, add 1/2 cup dark rum along with the lemon juice.

Batter Method
This is the quickest, newest and easiest way to work with yeast. Batter is lighter and easier to handle, requiring no kneading or shaping. It may be thin or thick, depending on what you are making. Either way, it is mixed and then allowed to rise in the bowl or baking pan. Fermentation of batters is important, so follow recipe directions closely.

Straight Dough Method
This method, the most commonly used, is done in a continuous operation. Milk is heated, sugar, salt and shortening added, yeast added after mixture has cooled, eggs stirred in and then flour added before kneading.

Sponge Method
In this, the oldest way to mix yeast breads, mixing is done in two operations: first, combine yeast, sugar and part of flour and liquid. Allow to ferment until raised, bubbly and sponge-like. Secondly, other ingredients are added with remaining flour to make a dough that can be kneaded.

Special Problems
If your breads seem to hump up in the center it may be due to overmixing. It may also be due to baking at incorrect temperatures. If the oven is too hot, the sides and edges of the loaf will bake too soon and the unbaked portion will expand upward in a hump. If your muffins are tough and full of tunnels, again, chances are you have overmixed.

Learn Finishes Of Materials

Clothing specialists suggest you learn the many finishes used in today's textiles and find out how to treat them for the best service to you. Some of the most common ones are: crush and wrinkle resistant finishes, mercerization, sizing, shrinkage control and water or spot repellents.

A crush or wrinkle resistant finish is a treatment with synthetic resins and gums to prevent excessive wrinkling in cotton, rayon, linen, acetate or blends. Its effectiveness and durability vary, according to the kind of resin used. None are "permanently" wrinkle-resistant. Check labels for information about durability and care necessary.

Mercerization is a chemical and mechanical treatment which adds luster, strength and absorbency to cottons. It is permanent and is usually indicated on the label.

Sizing is a treatment of yarns or fabrics with glue, starch or resins to give smoothness, stiffness and strength. Be sure to check the label for the type of sizing. Starch comes out in washing or cleaning; resin finishes are more durable.

Beware of excessive sizing which may hide a poor quality fabric.

The effectiveness of shrinkage control treatments varies a great deal. "Pre-shrunk" claims are only reliable when qualified by methods of care or labeled with the amount of shrinkage to be expected, such as 2 1/2 per cent shrinkage.

Water or spot repellents are an application of chemical resins, waxes, metallic soaps or linseed oil to make fabrics repellent to water or resistant to water-borne spots. Check labels for care instructions. Some processes last through laundering; others are renewable.

Of Australia's estimated population of 9,427,000, the city of Sydney has 1,987,000 and Melbourne 1,595,000.

Fresh Homemade Breads Require Careful Mixing

Homemade bread and rolls are always a welcome addition to the meal table, and there's a right way to make and bake them which may solve some of your special problems.

It's important to become acquainted with the three basic methods of mixing a yeast mixture:

Either way, it is mixed and then allowed to rise in the bowl or baking pan. Fermentation of batters is important, so follow recipe directions closely.

Versatile Rose Reigns Supreme

For versatility, the rose stands out among flowering plants. Its amazing popularity has lasted for many years and seems destined to go on forever.

The uses of the rose are numerous and its aroma is subtle. It can be worn as a corsage and makes an ideal flower for the dinner table or other home decoration. Whether growing in the garden or used as a cut flower indoors, it always pleases. The plant itself, with only moderate care, can be grown by anyone.

The form of the rose bloom is one of the most heavenly creations in all nature, opening up gradually from a tightly-packed bud into a large, velvet-petaled flower of soft colors and textures, that blends into any surrounding. There's gaiety in a rose bloom, a cheerful association that brightens us whenever we look at its sleek perfection. It is one of the few blooms that has such a wide range of colors from which to choose.

In use, the rose plant can become a living fence; it can be planted in a multi-colored garden, or by itself. It can climb around a porch or garage or other out building and transform the structure into a lively, flowing mass of color. In the foundation planting, or as specimen plants around the property, roses in bloom create splashes of color. The first year, enough flowers are produced to more than pay for the whole plant.

Roses thrive in full sun or partial shade. Watering should be done in the morning preferably. Use of an all-purpose rose spray is recommended every few weeks for the best results. Like any plant, the better care they are given, the better the blooms will be. However, don't fuss over your roses continually. Excessive care

Ever-Popular Flower

sometimes can be as bad as little or no care. Water only when the soil becomes dry and then provide a good soaking. Don't water again until the soil again becomes dry. For bigger blooms, remove side buds, leaving only one main bud on each stem. If you want masses of color, don't bother disbudding.

A rose's range of soils is from sandy loam to fairly heavy clays. A formal rose bed may be prepared by spading up an area to a depth of 12 to 14 inches and adding organic material such as peat moss, plus a sprinkling of a balanced organic or commercial fertilizer. Without making a formal garden, you may simply dig a hole in fairly good soil to a depth of 12 inches or so, then pulverize the soil with a trowel or spade, add a handful of fertilizer, and plant.

Select your roses carefully. Award winning roses are always good choices, since they have been tested for all climates.

The Floribunda and newer Grandiflora classes of roses are practically ideal for the average home owner, producing dozens of blooms in all colors. For perfection of bloom, the hybrid tea rose is often preferred. For great masses of color, the rose climber stands alone. The ever-blooming climber makes a magnificent, broad, living fence with a spectacular display over a long blooming season. Most rose plants, properly cared for, will produce blooms from spring to fall, with two heavy flowering seasons each year.

The popularity of the rose is due in large measure to alert and talented hybridizers and growers who never rest on their laurels, but who each year invest large sums of money and human energy to produce even better varieties.

Old Friends

Bread and literature are old friends and it is through English writings that many of us have made our first acquaintance with such delicacies as Bath buns, crumpets, saffron bread and other yeast-raised specialties. This old recipe for Bath buns makes amusing reading:

"Take one-half apnd of fine flour take of Sack and ale yeast each six Spoonfulls and of rose water and 7 egg whites and all Mix thesetogether set it by ye fire to rise while it is rising take apnd of flour and apnd of butter and Mix well together and put in apnd of flour and apnd of butter and Mix well together and put in apnd of Caraway Comfets Just before you make them up Butter your papers and put a Spoonful for a cake this will make six dozen."

Flowering Tree Adds Zest to Home

The fascination of a specimen flowering tree in its flowering season is to many home owners one of the most delightful experiences of living.

In selecting your flowering tree, do not do it haphazardly, advises the American Association of Nurserymen. You are going to have this tree for many years and for it to be a continuous delight each year, make sure you get what your heart desires. It costs no more to do this.

Try this. Study mail order nursery catalogues and visit local nurseries until you find the tree with ornamental flowers which will give your family the most pleasure. There are many strikingly beautiful flowering trees. Perhaps your neighbor has one you have admired, or take a drive during tree flowering time in the finest residential area of your town, noting the most beautiful specimens.

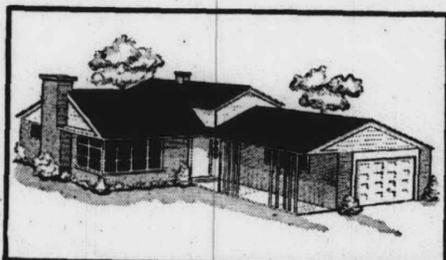

Once you have the name of the tree you want (you usually can get the name from your nurseryman if you have carefully noted flowers, color and other characteristics of the tree) select a good-sized tree in healthy condition. Pay a little more for it and get the best. The best will cost only slightly more and is worth it.

Plant the tree carefully, according to instructions and care for it well during the first year particularly. Watering is important. Do not allow the soil to dry out for an extended period. Water thoroughly, soaking the soil deeply, then do not water again until the soil becomes dry.

Here are a few beautiful flowering species you might check for beauty of flower.

The cherry trees; dogwood; peach; magnolias; crabapples; plums; goldenrain; redbud; hawthorns; amelanchier; halesia; laburnum; magnolia.

LAWN & GARDEN

When the wind turns from the south with the sweetness and warmth of a new Spring, most folks begin to think of working in the yard again.

That old axiom, "Sow on the last snow," is appropriate as to time, although it really makes little difference whether there is snow, for good seed will remain in the soil until weather conditions are favorable for it to sprout.

To each 1000 square feet it is wise to spread about one pound of Kentucky Bluegrass or a Bluegrass-based mixture in the late winter or early spring in the southern part of the Kentucky Bluegrass range for then frost cracks provide excellent lodgment sites for the tiny seeds.

Mix fertilizer with the seed—it won't hurt the seed—if you wish and get it on the lawn while there still is frost action.

Then as the temperatures warm, the spring moisture will insure sprouting. That is normally March in the middle latitudes to April in the northern states.

Seed in the soil by those dates will have that much better chance to root well and grow into a tight strong turf, ahead of the weed growth and before the heat of summer takes hold.

A good time to fertilize the lawn is in February or March at the latitude of Missouri and April in areas as far north as New England and Minnesota.

Lawn fertilizer should be high in nitrogen. If your soil is known to be fertile in other major nutrients, nitrogen can be used alone. Otherwise, it will be safest to apply a complete fertilizer which contains phosphorus and potassium.

A good ratio among these three major nutrients would be 10-5-5, twice as concentrated in nitrogen as in phosphorus and potassium.

Use at least 10 pounds per 1,000 square feet of a fertilizer containing 10 per cent nitrogen in the early spring. Burning of the lawn then is highly improbable.

Sow one pound of Kentucky Bluegrass and 10 pounds of a complete fertilizer per 1,000 square feet of lawn—applied before those first real balmy spring breezes waft by—and your lawn will be off to a fine start.

Better trees and shrubs that can be planted at any time of the year are being grown by nurseries in many areas of the United States due to revolutionary new methods of raising the plants in containers under controlled conditions which provide improved quality.

"Old man weather is completely routed in this new planting development," says a spokesman for the American Association of Nurserymen. "Rain or shine, winter or summer the plants can be purchased and if, after purchasing, the weather is bad the plant can be left in the container in the Lilies have been looked upon as the noblest of garden plants, due to the conspicuous flowers, striking colors and stately form, says the American Association of Nurserymen. The lily family has over 2,000 species.

Nicholas Longworth is said to be the "father of American grape culture." He was a pioneer of the expanding west in the early 1800's, and was leader of a group of horticultural experts in Cincinnati, Ohio, according to the American Association of Nurserymen.

The best time to water lawns and flower beds is in the evening and the best way to water is thoroughly, until the soil is soaked, and then again only when the soil again becomes dry. Rose plants are an exception and should be watered in the morning.

It took 11 years for the great American botanist Dr. Liberty Hyde Bailey to write the Cyclopaedia of American Horticulture—it was begun in 1899 and finished in 1910.

Spiraea is the name of a plant used for garlands in Ancient Greece. The name has continued to this day, says the American Association of Nurserymen. Spiraea commonly being called "bridal wreath."

MAKE LADDERS SAFER

Slip-proof the rungs or steps of your ladder to make it safer. Paint each rung or step with a coat of varnish and wait until it becomes tacky. Then sprinkle sawdust or light sand on the varnish. When the mixture is dry, your footing will be more secure.

Landscaping and beautification of school grounds is recommended in the yearbook of the American Association of School Administrators.

Urges Continued Separate Drive For Crippled

Outstanding gains in the rehabilitation of crippled children through the years must be credited in great measure to the voluntary health and welfare agencies and their independent campaigns of public education and financing, so stated Ralph G. Lorenz, 1957 Easter Seal Campaign Chairman of the Plymouth area.

"Once a year," Lorenz said, "we are given the great privilege of doing something substantial and tangible for crippled children. It is a privilege cherished in America as an expression of our freedom—the freedom to help whom we choose and as we choose."

"The voluntary agency which conducts its own campaign for funds is one of the most significant upholders of this tradition," Lorenz said.

He called upon volunteers to "make the most" of this privilege by reminding them that "the Easter Seal campaign is far more than a money-raising project."

"It is a project to open the eyes, to inform the minds, to warm the heart and to stimulate the noblest impulses in people," he said.

Thousands of men and women have learned first hand about crippled children through the annual campaign and have banded together to do something tangible to help. It has given them a strong sense of personal responsibility and urgency in providing professional care for them and in planning for their future as contributing members of this busy, complex world.

"We must protect this freedom," he said, by continuing to conduct our own appeal, by continuing to place our emphasis on human dignity and by continuing to help the American people exercise their own social responsibilities by informing them and by allowing them, under no compulsion, to give to crippled children as they choose."

George Handel, the great composer who died in 1759, was an accomplished performer on the organ, harpsichord and violin.

Among many other projects, Britain's Women's Voluntary Services takes about 20,000 hot meals every week to old people.

The decision of Arthur Maxwell

There once was an intelligent young man named Arthur Maxwell. He thought he would like to "step up" to a "medium-priced" car. So he went and looked at a model just "a few dollars more" than a Ford. At first glance it looked good. But when he got inside he exclaimed, "No radio? No heater? No automatic transmission? You call this Luxury??" He soon saw that a medium-priced car with equipment he wanted became a HIGH-priced car. So, being an intelligent young man he dashed off to his Ford Dealer and bought a Ford Fairlane 500—the true luxury car in the low-price field—with all the equipment he wanted for less money than the stripped-down model he had thought he wanted.

Why don't you do as Arthur did?

GUEST EDITORIAL

Modern-Day Pilates

(Today we offer a guest editorial written by one of Michigan's fine editorialists, Nelson Brown of the Ingham County News. It is in a particular mood of Lent that is close to our own mood of late.)

During the lenten season we heap scorn upon Pontius Pilate. Yet it was pointed out in a sermon in Mason Sunday that there are many more Pilates among us than there are high priests of the Sanhedrim or Roman soldiers.

We are too fastidious to put ourselves in the place of the soldiers who swung the scourge or drove the nails. We can't imagine ourselves as the high priests who plotted Jesus' execution. But anyone of us might have been Pilate. He washed his hands of responsibility.

The tragedy of labor racketeering in Portland and Seattle is not the exposure of the crooked politicians and labor leaders but the apathy of the people. Many of them had known all along of their graft-ridden unions and city, county and state political organizations. They did nothing. Like Pilate, they washed their hands of responsibility. Even now the surprising thing about the situation is that there is no great out-cry to be rid of the grafters in the labor unions or in city, county and state politics in Oregon and Washington.

The Pilates are no more numerous in Oregon and Washington than they are in Michigan. We have looked the other way for 20 years while Jimmy Hoffa has done about as he pleased in Michigan.

Here in Michigan last fall 2,500 leaders of business, politics, industry and labor paid $100 a plate to attend a testimonial dinner for Hoffa. Talk about Judas and the 30 pieces of silver!

A year ago thousands of Pilates continued washing their hands during a war between dairy factions. And we're getting ready to wash them again in milk.

We go to Pilate's wash bowl while special groups tell us how much money we should spend on schools, how much teachers must be paid, which subjects must be and which can't be taught, how many degrees a teacher must possess.

We continue washing our hands while public servants become our masters through civil service and through pressure upon boards of supervisors, township boards, city and village councils and legislatures and congress.

Like Pilate, we deceive ourselves if we think that we can come out with clean hands by washing them of the responsibility that we have as citizens.

Pontius Pilate was sent by Rome to parts of Palestine as procurator. He had the authority to promote good and fight evil. But to still the clamor raised by a few high priests of the Sanhedrim he washed his hands of the affair. He lacked boldness in the day of judgment.

Here in Mason we are launching a hospital campaign. The responsibility of building and maintaining a hospital belongs to all of us. For 20 years we have been washing our hands of that responsibility. Even Pilate could not evade it longer.

Yes, most of us can sympathize with Pilate. Rather than risk unpopularity with a political faction, he washed his hands of the whole affair. The time is here, and has been here a long while, when people must risk their popularity by promoting good and fighting evil. That means taking responsibility in political affairs; yes, taking sides. That means taking responsibility in civic affairs even if it entails investing time and money.

Days of decision are upon us. Boldness in the day of judgment will free us of many evils which beset us. Boldness in the day of judgment will encourage and promote the good. All we have to do is to quit acting like Pilate.

What's Your Question On World Affairs

By Edgar Ansel Mowrer
"Why have the U.S. Government and newspapers devoted so much attention to the Hungarian uprising while for the past two or three years the peoples of Cyprus and of Algeria have been fighting for the same purpose? The Hungarians are referred to as Nationalists and the others as rebels. Why?" (Andreas Dionysios, Toledo, Ohio)

I can think of some reasons why the American press has adopted a different tone toward Hungarians than toward revolting Cypriots and Algerians. One is, the USSR is a declared enemy while Britain and France are close allies of the United States. Whether you like it or not, short of the millennium, this fact will always make a difference.

Another reason is, Soviet communism is a hideous form of tyranny. British rule in Cyprus, French rule in Algeria, however distasteful to the inhabitants, was anything but that. Had it been, both revolts would already have been crushed by Britain and France by the same methods the Russians used to repress the Hungarian revolt.

Finally, most Americans have been hoping that in Cyprus and Algeria, some form of settlement satisfactory to both sides would be reached, thus relieving the strain upon the NATO alliance of peoples.

"They tell us the nations of the Baghdad Pact could never stand up against a Soviet attack. Why then do we send them arms? What is the purpose of the pact?" (O. Hamilton, New Haven, Conn.)

I do not agree that Turkey or Pakistan could not greatly delay any Soviet advance southward toward the Persian Gulf, just as the Greek resistance delayed the Germans in World War II and caused the Iraqi revolt to fail. That alone would be sufficient reason for an armed pact. An even better reason is the promise under the Truman Doctrine that the United States will give help to any people ready to resist Communist pressure or subversion. That promise is the backbone of the free world. My objection is giving arms to "neutrals" who are not ready to stand up and be counted.

"Which is the stronger—the President or the Congress?" (G. G. McM., Gary, Ind.)

A strong President who knows what he wants can make Congress do almost anything that makes sense. A weak President lets Congress more or less run the show. That has been the American rule. In my judgment the powers of the President are growing under pressure of events, and those of Congress, even of the Senate, are lessening.

"Are the Arabs a nation?" (Mrs. R. F., Buffalo, N.Y.)

It all depends on whom you ask. In my book a nation is chiefly a matter of will. A group, regardless of origin, becomes a nation when it says it is one—and acts accordingly. On this basis, the Egyptians are a nation. The Arabs, divided into several states, are in process of becoming a nation—but are not yet one. But the experts have been arguing this question for years without reaching any agreement.

Send that one brief question on world affairs, signed with your full name (which will be kept confidential on request) or with your initials, to Edgar Ansel Mowrer in care of this newspaper.

"You recently claimed that the Israeli soldiers who murdered the forty Arab farmers were going to be punished. I just got back from the Far (?) East and I found this was not the case." (Harry Golginger, Newark, N. J.)

I judged you mean the Near East. And your information, presumably of Arab origin, differs from mine. I am informed that the officers commanding the soldiers who did the unfortunate shooting are under arrest and undergoing trial before a military court. What more do you want?

PEOPLE ARE TALKING

Devereux C. Joseph, chairman, President Eisenhower's Committee on Education Beyond High School: "This country will never tolerate the nurturing of an educational elite."

Thomas E. Murray, Atomic Energy Commissioner: "The United States is in danger of making the fatal error . . . of allowing nuclear weapons to dictate policy."

Chester A. Quarles, Secretary of the Air Force: "Long-range jet bombers capable of delivering atomic weapons on our homeland are coming off Soviet production lines."

VIEWERS might consider Fran Allison a case of dual personality . . . Each weeknight from 7 to 7:15 P.M., EST, she's seen as herself over ABC-TV's "Kukla, Fran and Ollie" . . . On ABC radio, listeners to Don McNeill's daily "Breakfast Club" hear her as a witty Iowa spinster, "Aunt Fanny" . . . And in the same characterization, she's seen periodically on ABC-TV's "Quiz Jubilee" . . . Fran acquired much of her small town knowledge and philosophy directly from Iowa, where she spent her childhood. She studied music and education at Coe College in Iowa . . . One day a waggish announcer, noticing Fran entering the studio, interrupted his news program to say: "Why here's Aunt Fanny!" Rising to the occasion, Miss Allison ad libbed in dialect for five minutes . . . The listeners loved it and her singing career became secondary . . . In 1937, she headed for Chicago and got a singing part on Don McNeill's "Breakfast Club" . . . The show's producer heard of her "Aunt Fanny" characterization and persuaded her to air the bit on the show . . . She was accepted with acclaim. In October 1947, Burr Tillstrom needed a girl to take part in a children's fantasy for a Chicago television station . . . At the suggestion of a station staff director, Fran got the job and went on the air only slightly acquainted with the characters . . . Nevertheless, she soon became a vital part of the cast . . . Burr calls her "one of the most sincere, warmest persons in show business" and having worked with her in the early days of TV we can add a fervent "amen" to his description of this gracious lady . . . Fran's an expert cook and her hobbies include reading, fishing, music, knitting and writing . . . She lives with her husband, music publisher Archie Levington, on Chicago's near north side.

The Investors Forum For the Speculators

BY HARRY C. FRANCE
Periodically, industries run into dull times. For a variety of reasons, business falls off and economic readjustment takes place. Dividends on stocks are sometimes out or entirely omitted. Security prices decline and the public loses interest. The textiles and some of the electrical equipments are presently affected by such conditions. It is a good time for those investors more interested in capital appreciation than in current income to look into the affairs of those textile common stocks that are selling well below their book values.

What troubles the textiles? Many things. Overproduction plagues the industry. Hourly wage rates remain high. Fabrics and apparel from Japan, where wage scales are low, handicap the industry. High cotton prices, supported by the governmental agency, the Commodity Credit Corporation, keep costs up. In the face of these facts, it is easy to understand why several of the better known textile stocks are selling at a considerable discount of their true value.

Here is a company doing $600,000,000 a year, with working capital of over $200,000,000 selling around $11 a share with a sound book value of over $24 a share. Any investor with speculative instincts could well closely examine the balance sheet and operating statement of such an enterprise.

For interesting and eventually profitable risk-taking, this field warrants attention. What should such an operator do? If he is unable adequately to analyze the matters previously mentioned, he should ask a banker, a broker or an accountant skilled in such things to do it for him.
