Bad Checks Blamed on 'Top' Artist

Four Plymouth business establishments were each given bad checks for $89.90 by a man and woman who are believed the most wanted check passers in the nation.

Plymouth police received all four reports at nearly the same time last week when the bank notified the businesses that the payroll checks allegedly written by the Wayne Screw Products company of Detroit were worthless.

Accepting the checks were Dickerson's Market, 198 Liberty; Penniman Market, 820 Penniman; Beyer Rexall Drugs, 165 Liberty; and the Mayflower Hotel Wine Shop.

All four checks were identical except for differing serial numbers. Chief of Police Kenneth Fisher said that there is such a company as the Wayne Screw Products. They even carried the name of the National Bank of Detroit in one corner and a check protector machine was used.

All checks were made out to "Frank Darby" and signed by a fictitious "J. C. Anderson". Dickersons and the Wine Shop reported that a woman cashed the checks there, while the other two businesses said that it was a man, Chief Fisher added.

THIS IS a composite drawing issued by the State Police of the man believed responsible for passing bad checks here and during the past 11 years across the nation.

There are a total of 21 similar checks being held by authorities in Wayne county this week, the chief revealed. All are believed the work of a man known only as "The Traveler". He is known to be traveling with a woman of about 40, the approximate age given by clerks in the two local stores visited by a woman.

Michigan State police have issued a special bulletin concerning "The Traveler", calling him the "most wanted check passer in the nation". Records show that he has operated in almost every state since 1946 and has netted better than $300,000 during that time. He has been in Michigan at least seven or eight times (probably more), the State Police claim, and most recently before hitting Wayne County, was in Kalamazoo where he passed at least four checks dated March 29.

His checks are bogus printed items, the bulletin notes, usually drawn on existing industrial firms, naming a local bank and using proper transit numbers, but omitting the routing symbol. Paper is good quality safety paper and a check-protector is used.

The police report showed that a Detroit address given to clerks by the passers was phony.

The true identity of "The Traveler" has never been determined, State Police say. He is 40 to 50 years old.

2 Township Dog Clinics Scheduled

Two dog clinics have been scheduled for Plymouth township dog owners at which rabie vaccinations can be administered and new license tags purchased in the same package.

Saturdays May 4 and May 11 have been set aside for the clinics at township hall. Hours will be from 9 a.m. until noon and 1 to 5 p.m.

Tags must be purchased before June 1. Clerk Rosalind Broome pointed out this week. While it is not necessary to have the rabie shot administered at the clinic, proof of the shot must be shown before a license is purchased. Money can be saved by having the shot given at the clinic, the clerk added.

Prices of the licenses and shots have not gone up this year. The vaccination will be $2, while the price of the license for a male dog is $2 and for a female, $4.

$116,408 Library Unit Starts Soon

The new front wing of the Dunning-Hough Library will get underway within the next few weeks and will cost $116,408, according to a summary of bids approved by the city commission at a special meeting Monday night.

The entire bill will be paid by the Edward C. Hough and Mary Hough Kimble Foundation, but the city commission is taking bids and handling construction arrangements.

Architect Byron Becker said Monday that work on the building should start within the next week or two. Among the first big jobs visible to the public will be the razing of the present old building.

Library personnel have been busily preparing for the abandonment of the old unit. All library activities will be confined to the rear wing constructed three years ago.

The new colonial unit will cost considerable more than estimated. When the gift was announced in March, it was estimated that the new structure would cost between $75,000 and $100,000. Bids taken several weeks ago brought the total cost up to $141,000. Some of the building's "luxury items" were then eliminated and the cost cut to the $116,408 figure.

The Hyatt Construction company, with a bid of $71,233, will be responsible for general construction. The electrical contract for $13,175 went to Allstate Electric, while mechanical work will be performed by the Norman Nelson company for $32,000.

Replacing the frame structure will be a two-story brick building of colonial design. The new addition will make the Dunning-Hough library the largest in physical size among the Wayne County Library System.

Salem Fire Department Has New Phone Number

A new telephone number was issued to the Salem fire department Tuesday, it was announced by department officials. It is Northville 900.

Those depending upon the Salem department for service are urged to write down the number for future use. A change in the telephone service to the department brought about the switch in numbers.

Three Concert Series Planned For this Year on Colony Farms

A natural amphitheatre overlooking a lake will be the scene this summer of a Music Festival which organizers hope will help make Plymouth the cultural center of the area.

To be called the "Plymouth Colony Music Festival", it will take place on the Plymouth Colony Farms located at the intersection of Ann Arbor Trail and Ann Arbor Road, west of the city. The farm is owned by Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Pino of Detroit.

Immediate plans call for three orchestra concerts during the first season, two by the Plymouth Symphony and one by the Detroit Little Symphony. All concerts will be conducted by Wayne Dunlap, permanent conductor of the Plymouth Symphony.

Dates of the three summer concerts will be Sunday June 30, July 21 and August 11. It is tentatively planned to engage nationally-known artists.

No similar summer artistic enterprise now exists in this area and musicians and concert managers alike agree as to the need and desirability of an event of this kind. The festival is expected to draw large audiences from Plymouth, Livonia, Detroit, Dearborn, Ann Arbor, Northville and other nearby communities.

Success of this summer's program may mean an expansion of the scope and frequency of performances in future seasons. Conductor Dunlap states. Stage productions as well as orchestra concerts are being conceived by the planners which include members of the Plymouth Symphony Society, and other interested citizens.

Region III members elected new officers for the coming year. They are: Chairman, Wayne Village President Duncan R. Miller; Vice-Chairman, Grosse Pointe Woods Mayor Kenneth H. Koppin; Secretary-Treasurer, R. Don Pretty, city clerk of Allen Park.

Major discussion at the meeting centered on the plan the city of Detroit and Wayne County each has to provide for the future water and sewer needs in the Detroit Metropolitan Area. Detroit's plan to solve the problem was outlined by Detroit Water Supply

Commission Studies Budget Of $481,730

A very small segment of the public attended the annual public budget hearing held by the city commission Monday night. In fact, the "audience" consisted of only the police and fire chiefs, the managing editor of The Mail and the library architect.

So one minute after the hearing was opened, it was closed and the commission itself started some informal discussion of how to give the city more for its money.

The 1957-58 budget does not need to be adopted until May 6. Right now, the budget for the coming fiscal year stands at about $481,000. More switches from one fund to another will probably take place before the budget is passed, but the total budget will undoubtedly not be much higher.

The current fiscal budget was set at $526,485, which is some $45,000 higher than the proposed one. This was due to a "reserve for contingencies" account this year which had assessment monies shown that will not be

Opening of Subdivision Means 75 More Families

Seventy-five more families, or about 350 new people will be moving into the community due to the opening this week of a new subdivision. Parklane Subdivision, located along Sheldon road, will have its grand opening this Friday, Saturday and Sunday. There were 75 lots available in the new area, meaning that 75 homes and families will be added to the community. For more about this new development, turn to page 4 of this section.

Error in Voting Machine Setting Pointed Out by Salem Board

A statement issued by the Salem township board this week has pointed out that a "regrettable error" was made in setting the voting machines in the April 1 election which made it impossible to vote certain combinations.

As a result, one of the Democratic candidates for township trustee filed a recount petition, but now has withdrawn it "in the interest of community harmony".

The township board's statement declared that Fred C. Verran, one of the candidates for trustee, filed the recount petition with the board to call to their attention the fact that the voting machines used in the election were incorrectly set so that voters could not legally vote certain vote combinations.

"Subsequent thereto," the statement continued, "Douglas K. Reading, Salem township attorney, arranged a conference with Dyer C. Baird, attorney for Mr. Verran, and at that time, the custodian of the voting machines and several voters, made statements to substantiate the complaint of Mr. Verran."

The statement continued that "as a result of this unfortunate situation, the township board has issued assurances that in the future a more careful supervision of the voting machines and all phases of the election will be observed so that this will not happen again."

"This regrettable error was no doubt a mistake," the board concluded, "and Mr. Verran believes that in keeping with good community harmony, that he will withdraw his recount petition and consider the matter closed, hoping that voters and neighbors in this community will continue to live together as good friends and good citizens."

300 Youngsters Hunt Easter Eggs in Park

An estimated 300 youngsters scrambled across Kellogg Park Saturday morning in search of Easter eggs—some of which led to more valuable prizes offered by local merchants.

This was Plymouth's first Easter egg hunt and those responsible for its trial, the Chamber of Commerce and Plymouth Mail, found that the turn-out was much larger than expected.

Meeting at the high school, the youngsters were told that the hunt was taking place in Kellogg Park. The long procession, guided by adults, Girl Scouts and police, went to the park where they were turned loose.

Within five minutes, every egg was accounted for. Eggs were given out to many of those who failed to find any under the trees, around the bushes and other hiding places.

Ten of the eggs were marked for prizes donated by merchants. The following were awarded prizes: Danna Fulton, 15645 Park, a HAPPY PRIZE WINNER in Saturday's Easter egg hunt was Carol Otwell, 1484 W. Ann Arbor Trail, who is showing her egg to a friend, Barbara Battle, Sheridan Ave. She and nine others found eggs bearing messages which entitled them to prizes from merchants.

PART OF THE CROWDS of youngsters (and adults too) who scrambled across Kellogg Park Saturday morning to hunt Easter Eggs is shown in this photo. An estimated 300 kiddies, 12 years and under, participated in this first hunt. There are discussions to enlarge the hunt next year. Planners had no idea of how many would turn out for the affair and were enthusiastic about the large turnout.

prize from Fashion Shoes; Duane Olds, 138 East Ann Arbor Trail, from Davis & Lent; Carol Otwell, 1484 West Ann Arbor Trail, from Kregges; Anna Lee, 9315 Elmhurst, from Willoughby Shoes; Sue Bell, 304 Ann Arbor Trail, from Dunning; Kevin King, 42608 Ford, from Minervas; Steven McCullough, 44067 Gordon, from Melody House; Mike Evans, 1227 West Maple, from Davis & Lent; John Breed, 272 Ann, Famous Men's Store; and Renelle Maycock, 580 Fairground, from Fisher Shoes.

Mrs. Wayne Rubey and Mrs. William Edgar led the members of Girl Scout Troops 1, 5, 21 and 22 who helped guide the young crowd. Lanny West served as master of ceremonies for the event.

The Girl Scouts also colored the six dozen eggs furnished by Stop & Shop, Candy, which was also hidden, was furnished by Kregges and Beyer Drugs.

So successful was Saturday's Easter egg hunt that there is discussion about already about next year's event. The hunt is expected to be on a larger scale, with more and larger prizes and in a different location.

Fabrics were woven by the pupils into scarves, upholstery and other items. Sheep were imported and raised on the farm for their wool. Fruit was also grown on the farm and sold along with the woven goods at a stand still located along Ann Arbor Road.

The Pinos are now highly interested in the success of the summer festival and Dr. Pino is working with the group composed of Gerald Fischer, Plymouth Symphony Society president; Mayor Harold Guenther, Ralph Lorenz, Ray Hulce, Tom Kelly, Roland Bonamici, Jack Scott and Conductor Dunlap.

In a seven o'clock double ring ceremony in the Calvary Baptist Church, Plymouth, Shirley Squires repeated her wedding vows with Charles Armstrong. The Reverend P. J. Klassen, pastor of the First Church of God, Port Huron, officiated at the Saturday, April 20, rites.

Organist Marvin South of Plymouth accompanied Carl Holm of Anderson, Indiana, in the musical selections, "Because," "Always" and "Saviour Like a Shepherd Lead Us." The bridegroom sang "I Promise You."

Church decorations included an archway entwined with ivy, with candelabras and palms on each side.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldo Squires of Port Huron, the bride wore a gown with a lace fitted bodice over satin, with long sleeves coming to a point at the wrists. The overskirt was of nylon net with lace insets over white satin. The bride's fingertip veil of illusion net was attached to a lace headpiece with seed pearls. She was given in marriage by her father.

City Manager Speaks to U-M Class

Speaking before a University of Michigan advanced political science class of graduates and undergraduates Monday, April 22, Plymouth's city manager, Albert Glassford, stressed the need for training facilities for both operating personnel as well as training personnel.

The class, a municipal seminar, has been studying local city management. Glassford said the master's degree candidates asked many questions covering such subjects as purchasing policies, bid taking, standardization of equipment, how to decline gratuities, and paving and sewer projects by contract as compared to force account.

In his talk, Glassford went over problems of a manager in relation to public works and utilities, from the point of view of both construction and supervision of day-to-day operations.

The class is taught by University political science professor Arthur W. Bromage, author of "Introduction to Municipal Government and Administration."

I wonder whatever happened to that plan the FCC had for issuing licenses for short-range two-way portable radio sets for the public. "The public" . . . that's you and me and the fellow down the street. But I haven't seen many local folks packing a transmitter with their lunch.

There's no doubt about the many possible uses for the walkie-talkie . . . but there are drawbacks, too. A fellow with a walkie-talkie would always be available . . . no matter how many doors he closed behind him. And there'd be no alibi for the lad who says, "Honey, I would have called you . . . but I wasn't near a phone." Personal quiz shows would be real popular, with prize questions like, "Well, where are you now?"

75-Home Parklane Subdivision Opens Friday

Parklane Homes, a 75-home subdivision, is this Friday officially opening in the western part of the city.

The development is among the largest ever opened in the two-square-mile city of Plymouth and will probably be among the last large subdivisions within the boundaries.

It is located on the east side of Sheldon road, opposite Plymouth Colony Subdivision.

Two model homes have been erected by Parklane Homes, Inc., which will be open for public inspection. The subdividers are interested in selling both the lots alone or with homes.

Most of the subdivision is wooded and the 75 lots range in width from 60 to 75 feet. Depth is 130 to 150 feet.

There will be a concrete street, sewers, city water and sidewalk, plus other private utilities. Prices of homes begin at $14,500.

Homes on the west edge of the subdivision back up to Sheldon road. A "green belt" will be planted near the road for added privacy.

The two homes shown by the builder are Easy Living and the Economy. The Easy Living, higher priced of the two, contains built-in Hotpoint oven and range, disposal unit, bathtub enclosure, sliding glass doors onto the covered patio. Both homes have three bedrooms and full basements, all-aluminum sliding windows, storm windows and screens. Baths are walled in ceramic tile.

Vaughan R. Smith is realtor for the subdivision.

Even though the homes and subdivision have not been officially open for inspection, a number of lots have already been sold. Friday, Saturday and Sunday will be the grand opening days.

Parking facilities have been provided off Sheldon road for visitors. Models will be open daily from 1 to 8 p.m.

Livonian Believes Military Planes Must Lead Race for Air Superiority

The race for technical superiority over any potential enemy must never be relaxed. Air Force research and development is continually directed toward surpassing other countries' efforts in military aircraft. This was the basis of a discussion at a recent meeting of the Plymouth Flight of the U.S. Air Force Reserve.

Fred Bunts of Livonia, member of the local unit, led the discussion. He has broad experience, both from a civilian and military standpoint, with military aircraft design, manufacture and procurement.

Bunts stated that establishing the requirement for an aircraft by specifying what characteristics it must have is the first step in the design process. He showed that the entire design process forms a cycle that continues through plans for developing this aircraft, preliminary design proposals, actual design work and early tests, and flights tests. Even when an aircraft has passed rigid flight tests and is declared ready for operational use, the Air Force research and development command does not relinquish its interest. Throughout the entire life of an aircraft, from the preliminary design sketches until the aircraft is ready for salvage, changes must be made to correct deficiencies and to apply the results of the most recent research and development. Knowledge gained from the design and use of one aircraft may help in establishing the requirements for a more advanced aircraft and for drawing up new designs, but the complete cycle of research and development begins anew with each aircraft, Bunts points out.

During the design process of an aircraft the Air Force must maintain constant control in order to focus the efforts of the planner, scientist and manufacturer on meeting the needs of the Air Force and on developing the aircraft as part of a complete weapon system.

The "regulars" welcome visitors on the second and fourth Tuesdays at the Veterans Memorial Building on N. Main street.

TWO MODEL homes are open at the new Parklane Subdivision, the Economy shown at left (above) and the Easy Living. At side is part of the kitchen interior of the Easy Living which comes equipped with a Hotpoint built-in oven and range and disposal. Homes are on east side of Sheldon road.

A REAR PORCH reached from the dinette through sliding glass doors are a feature with the Easy Living home being displayed starting tomorrow in Parklane Subdivision.

MERE MENTION OF BOB HOPE'S name sends the usually austere colonel, left, off into gales of laughter and a slight shower of "Scotch and water" in the Plymouth Theatre Guild's production of "Over 21." From the left are Jack Scott as the colonel; Phyllis Kelly, his mother-in-law; Russ Creel, the editor-turned-private; Doug Havershaw, publisher; Alice Wright, colonel's wife; and Jeannine Dehlagar, private's wife.

Theatre Guild Members Turn in Fine Performances in 'Over 21.'

By Virginia Robertson

If the old adage "a good dress rehearsal means a poor first night" doesn't hold, Plymouthites attending the Theatre Guild's presentations of "Over 21" will be treated to a thoroughly enjoyable evening.

The show will be presented at 8:15 p.m. tonight through Saturday in the Plymouth high school auditorium.

In the usual last-minute flurry of grease paint, getting socks to match, and instructions, the dress rehearsal curtain went up smoothly and the performance went off smoothly.

After a slight getting-acquainted period, the story soon gathers speed into a lively, fast-moving tale. Russ Creel plays a convincing and likeable role as the newspaper editor who decided he wants to do something for his country and joins Uncle Sam's men in the Army at the age of "almost 40." Also putting in an exceptional performance is Jeannine Dehlagar, as the editor's novelist and devoted wife.

This bit of action makes the publisher feel his paper is falling apart since the man who took over "writes editorials like an editorial writer." So he pays a visit to his ex-editor, now stationed in Miami, to entice him back. Doug Havershaw gives a booming presentation of the millionaire publisher.

As the colonel of the editor-turned-private, Jack Scott is another show stealer although he says very few words, mostly because his yakkity-wife, played by Alice Wright, won't give him a chance. Also helping in this project is the colonel's buxom mother-in-law, played by Phyllis Kelly.

To complicate matters, the ex-editor's wife is hounded by a Hollywood producer, played by Jack Wilcox, complete with silk neck scarf, sun glasses and cigarette holder. Jean Scott plays his secretary and Dean Saxton relays the producer's telegrams.

A newly-commissioned lieutenant and his recent bride, played by Bob Young and Shirley Andrews, help to get the play going in the beginning. While the lieutenant discusses army life with the ex-editor private, the bride points out special features of army bungalows to the editor's wife. These include windows that open when you stamp on the floor (sometimes), light switches outside the front door, no running water in the kitchen and an unbearably noisy refrigerator.

The play is directed by Hal Young, produced by his wife, Loretta, with technical assistance from William Merrill of Will-O-Way Playhouse.

All turns out well in the end for everyone. These Plymouth actors and actresses turn in a professional performance they have reason to be proud of. If all goes as well as the dress rehearsal, people attending will be talking about it for weeks to come.

The MAIL Attitude

BY PAUL CHANDLER

It's been done locally in Plymouth before in the interests of other causes, but so far as I know the sale of cook books is unique as a fund-raising venture for political parties in Michigan.

Republican ladies of the Seventeenth District (which includes this area) are planning the volume. It will include recipes provided by feminine party members designed to whet Republican appetites, which may or may not run along different culinary tastes than do Democratic appetites. The plan, as it is being considered now, would be to give a cook-book to every citizen who makes a donation of five dollars or more to the GOP.

Here in Plymouth, the Symphony society has sponsored a similar project a couple of times, of course.

The "cookbooks for campaigns" was one thing discussed at a private luncheon hosted by State Representative Sterling Eaton at the Hotel Mayflower last Saturday. His guests were feminine GOP leaders from the various communities in the Seventeenth District, and their common objective is to pump new life into the party through the use of distaff energy.

In Lansing, meanwhile, Eaton has been the center of considerable discussion as the spokesman for a group of "freshman" Republican legislators who have pleaded with their party to focus on one, good leader; to propound a clear set of party objectives; to cease automatic "dog-in-the-manger" tactics when considering every piece of Democrat-proposed legislation; and to go to work on a 12-month basis to "rebuild" the party.

Plymouth citizens will be pleased to learn that not a single ticket was written for cars illegally parked near our churches on Easter Sunday. (About 20 tickets were written on Palm Sunday, but this paper warned the citizenry last week that new signs were up, and to beware.) Judge Nandino Perlongo agreed to dismiss the Palm Sunday tickets if the offenders appeared before him. Six residents who paid their tickets before learning of the Judge's merciful attitude, have been refunded their three bucks by The Mail.

My sense of humor is notoriously odd. I have no explanation as to why I forget most good jokes and then find one like this hanging around in my head—

The question is, "What did the man say when the steam-roller came by and rolled over his pet cat?"

The answer, "He didn't say anything—just stood around with a long puss."

Last week we wrote a cheerful estimate of the chances of the Detroit Tigers in this 1957 baseball race. Our piece was composed prior to the start of the season and it's a fact now, of course, that the battlin' Bengals—obliged by blowing their first three games, in order.

That's normal luck for anyone who ventures into the world of prediction, but I'm still not discouraged. Our family made a personal visit to Briggs Stadium Sunday afternoon when the Tigers nipped the Indians in extra innings and proved to me a couple of key points:

1. There are good pitchers on their staff. (Hoefft and Bunning gave up one scratch hit in nine innings that day. Gromek was pounded a little bit at the beginning, but whoever said he was meant to be a starting pitcher?) For all those who wish to detract from the Detroit pitching staff I have a question: Considering the pitching corps as a complete unit, would you trade it for the total staff of any other American League club. If so, with whom?

2. Tiger bats are still ringing and they undoubtedly will get more base hits as a team than any rival this year.

3. And, alas, the No. 1 problem looks no better. There is no Detroit catcher who can be depended upon when he arrives at the plate with his bat.

Plymouth Man Re-elected Treasurer At Congress of Freedom Convention

Mr. and Mrs. R. Roy Pursell of 639 S. Main street have been attending the sixth annual convention of the Congress of Freedom, held at Biloxi, Miss., April 18 to 21.

Pursell, elected treasurer last year, was re-elected again this year. He presided at the Friday luncheon at which Dr. James Doenges of Anderson, Ind., past president of the association of American physicians and surgeons, spoke.

Dr. Doenges said that socialized medicine and welfare have gone far in the direction of individual freedom, and he explained how citizens can save themselves from becoming mere wards of the state.

Fifteen speakers pointed out different ways in which all phases of American life are being brought under bureaucratic control. It was concluded that unlimited taxation must be curbed to preserve individual freedom.

The congress is said to be the largest coalition of pro-constitutional groups in the country, with delegates from 32 states.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hartwick of Clemmons drive spent the Easter weekend with his relatives in Greenway, Arkansas.

Plymouth Easter Lily Sale Nets Almost $400 for Handicapped

Easter Lily parades were held Palm Saturday in many communities throughout western Wayne county as the Easter Seal drive entered the final weeks of its annual nationwide appeal.

Plymouth Rotary Anns, Mrs. Frank Allison, assisted by Mrs. W. L. Whitfield and many young volunteers, offered the paper Easter lilies made by homebound handicapped persons in Michigan.

Despite many distractions, inclement weather and illness, the young people collected $384.24 for the benefit of crippled children.

Ralph Lorenz, Easter Seal chairman for the Plymouth drive, stated that a total of $2,150.59 has been received thus far from the appeal letters mailed at the beginning of the campaign.

All money donated to the campaign goes to support the services of the Wayne out-county chapter, which furnish braces, crutches, wheelchairs, diagnostic clinic fees, transportation to hospitals and brace shops. They conduct a month-long day camp and recreational programs for the homebound crippled.

My son's shoes smell to high heaven. Is it a common problem? Can it be corrected?

It is rather common. If you remember, before schools were air-conditioned teachers always spotted their desks between the door and the window and they left the window open until the pupils turned blue. That wasn't because the teachers had claustrophobia.

Almost every boy who has asked me about this embarrassing condition was wearing shoes that were much too short for his feet. Shoes are designed to fit the heel of the foot and the arch while leaving air space in front of the toes and around them. Practically all of the work and the perspiring are done by the toes. Crowding them into the fronts of short shoes seals in the perspiration until it acquires an odor.

More on this subject next week.

SOME OF THE EASTER eggs found by youngsters in Saturday's hunt in Kellogg Park brought prizes for the finders. Here, some of the fortunate children were showing their eggs which entitled them to go to merchants for their prizes.

WINNERS OF the Optimist club Bike Rodeo held last Saturday eagerly lined up for their prizes, including a first prize Evans bicycle. The boys and girls had their own bikes safety-tested and went to riding competition.

100 Compete in Bike Rodeo

Over 100 boys and girls participated in the Optimist Club's third annual Bike Rodeo held last Saturday afternoon at the high school and at least 28 of that number came away happily bearing prizes.

While the prizes were of utmost interest to the youngsters, it was the purpose of the event to make them more safety-conscious when riding their bikes. Police inspected all bicycles for safety and the youngsters then competed in five safe-riding events.

These included the circle test, stopping and braking, slow control riding, zig-zag riding and a balance test. There were 25 receiving prizes for high scoring in the riding contest.

There were also three big prizes in a draw event which featured a new Evans bicycle. It was won by Ron Failing, 644 Sheldon, a 10-year-old Bird school pupil. Second prize of a ball and glove went to Walter Denmore, 12, of 1200 Hartough, and third prize, bike saddle bags, was won by Jimmy Gearn, 9, of 9035 Marlowe.

This included the circle test, stopping and braking, slow control riding, zig-zag riding and a balance test. There were 25 receiving prizes for high scoring in the riding contest.

Major increases in the proposed budget are $14,000 for salaries and wages (still being discussed), $5,600 for a payment on Mill street and Starkweather avenue crossing gates, $3,300 for welfare, $2,000 for the library and $750 for street lighting.

The manager also reports that there will be a saving of $4,500 over last year in the refuse pick-up and disposal costs and that $2,000 more will be saved because of no elections.

Plymouth will have a higher tax rate during the coming fiscal year. Citizens approved a one-mill increase April 1 for the purchase of a new fire truck. This will bring the tax rate up to $16.50 per $1,000 of valuation. The one mill will be dropped after next year.

7 Steps Builds Good Lawns

Here is a tested 7-step method for building a new lawn:

- (1) Soil Preparation: Dig up or rototill the top soil to a depth of 4 to 6 inches. Then pulverize the soil with a sharp rake, removing all stones and debris. If soil is poor, apply 2 or 3 inches of humus or peat moss.
- (2) Plant Food: Next, apply a complete lawn fertilizer, one which is specially formulated for this purpose. Apply 30 to 40 lbs. per 1000 sq. ft., distributing evenly by hand or with spreader.
- (3) Seed Bed: With spade or rototiller, turn under the humus, lime and fertilizer. Rake thoroughly to form a level, mellow seed bed, then roll.
- (4) Seeding: Use only the best quality seed and be sure it is suited to your soil, climate and growing conditions. Apply 3 to 5 lbs. per 1000 sq. ft., sowing half in one direction, the other half at right angles.
- (5) Compacting: After seeding, rake lightly so as to cover seed not more than one-eighth inch. Then roll, to bring the seed in contact with the soil.
- (6) Watering: After rolling, water with a fine spray daily, or oftener, if lawn shows signs of drying out.
- (7) Mowing: While the lawn is young, do not cut it shorter than 2 inches. Once established, maintain grass at a height of 1 1/2 inches.

To perk up a run-down lawn, take these simple steps:

- (1) Rake off dead grass, weeds and leaves.
- (2) Rake or dig up bare spots, apply lime, if needed; add some humus, and apply a complete plant food specially formulated for lawns, at the rate of 3 lbs. per 100 sq. ft. Fill in all depressions to make a level surface. Rake, then roll, to assure a good, firm seed bed.
- (3) Use best quality seed and sow it evenly. Rake in gently, covering seed with thin layer of soil.
- (4) Roll lightly to bring seed in close contact with soil and to level out humps and low spots.

Landscaping Starts With Good Plan

Good landscaping of the home grounds starts with a good plan. The simplest way for most people is to have a local landscape nurseryman lay out a very simple planting design. Then all the home owners has to do is order the plants recommended and have them set on the ground in their proper locations where he can plant them himself according to directions.

To help you in deciding, there are several things your landscaping should accomplish:

(1) you should have a center of interest; (2) you want to create a beautiful picture both outside and from within the house as you look out; and (3) house and sky and earth should be tied together in a way to give pleasure to everyone. Other things your landscaping should provide are privacy, beautiful flowers and foliage all year around, as well as a certain amount of home fruit.

Groupings of plants often add to the attractiveness of the picture as a whole. If you have a one-story house, low-growing trees and shrubs are preferable. Your center of interest may be a beautiful tree. Do not place it in the center of the lawn, which usually is better left open to grass.

Along the street, you may have groupings of trees or tall shrubs at the corners of the property. They may be tied together with low-growing plants, or hedge. Lower growing shrubs will soften an abrupt change from lawn to tree, if planted around the tree.

Don't overplant. Allow for the growth of trees and shrubs. Do not plant them too thickly unless you wish immediate effect and intend to thin them out in a few years. Planting in gentle curves is better than in straight lines.

In relation to the foundation planting, you desire first to frame the home. A low tree, surrounded by a grouping of shrubs often is attractive at each corner, tied together by low, spreading

There are three principal uses for the average garden: (1) to supply cut flowers to decorate the table and home, (2) to make the property beautiful and (3) to provide a comfortable area in which the home owner can enjoy his hobby of growing plants.

In starting from scratch, the garden may consist of perennial plants, which need not be renewed each year, or from seeds, or small potted plants available in every locality.

There are many kinds of perennials, of which chrysanthemum, delphinium, phlox and hollyhocks are probably the most outstanding. Chrysanthemums have the advantage of producing flowers late in the season when little else is blooming.

Best rule for planting annuals in the average flower bed is to place the taller growing plants in the center and lower growing ones toward the sides until the edge of the bed is reached.

In growing both perennials and annuals, preparation of the bed is important. They will grow best in a good loam. Spade to a depth of eight inches and pulverize the soil by forking it over several times. Rake the top two inches so the soil is fine. Add fertilizer as described on its container.

If seeds are planted the soil should be especially fine. After planting, whether it be seeds or plants, soak the soil with water. Do not allow young plants to dry out, but do not keep them continuously wet.

Good rule is to water well and then let the bed alone until it shows evidence of being dry. Cultivation of the soil between plants will help to preserve its water content.

evergreens and low flowering plants at the base of the house. Flowering shrubs have the added advantage of supplying cut flowers for the home. Roses and similar plants not only blend well but serve that purpose. A living fence of floribunda roses may make a striking property division line.

New Chemical Not For Edible Crops

Gibberellic acid, the plant growth stimulator that makes plants grow two to five times faster than normal, is not recommended for use on edible crops.

But home gardeners who want to do some experimenting with the growth promoter can use it on many house plants and flowers, according to horticulture specialists at Michigan State University.

The chemical will hasten flowering and increase the size of these plants and flowers.

Available commercially under several different trade names, gibberellic acid or gibberellin can also speed up the growth of young trees and slow-growing ornamentals.

The material is usually applied as a spray and the commercial products give directions for use. The M.S.U. specialists recommend applying the material in conservative amounts. Over-application can cause effects opposite of increased size and earlier flowering.

Gibberellic acid is not a plant food, point out the specialists. If you use it on plants, you will also need to supply extra plant food and water to take care of the increased growth and flowering.

The name of the strawberry came from the fragrant aroma of the fruit—hence, the botanical name for the strawberry—fragaria, states the American Association of Nurserymen.

Plan Landscape For Easy Care

You'll enjoy your home landscaping effects more if you plan them for minimum care requirements.

Joseph T. Cox, extension specialist in landscape architecture at Michigan State University, advises homeowners to curb their desires for a great variety of plants in their landscape design.

Too many types of plants complicate the care of the shrubbery and do not contribute to the overall effect of the landscape.

Other tips Cox offers in landscape planning are: Study your family's way of living and plan your landscape to fit in with this pattern. Cox advises changing your landscape to fit this pattern - not change the living pattern to fit the landscaping. Types of materials used, for instance, will depend on the amount of use the area gets.

Select plant materials for their mature effect. Avoid substitutions for temporary effects.

Use ground cover plants where they can be controlled and where they will cover bare ground. Original planning with the use

Pick Right Tools For Gardening

Only a relatively few good tools, surprisingly enough, are essential for successful gardening, according to the National Retail Hardware Association.

A spade, a rake, a hoe and a trowel will do most of the jobs required by the run-of-the-mill amateur gardener. They should be good to the gardener and should be of a weight and size equal to the strength of the user. Women should select smaller and lighter tools.

A round-nosed spade with a D-handle is the best tool for turning over hard soil or for spreading fertilizer. A long-handled spade will facilitate the digging of deep holes or turning over large chunks of soil.

One of the most versatile tools for a small garden is an ordinary hoe. Weeding, cultivating and seeding can be done with the one tool. Furrows can be opened by tilting the hoe at an angle. The same hoe will cover the seeds and tamp them.

For close work, in crowded areas, a small hand scratcher is helpful.

A steel rake is best for most heavy gardening. However, one must use a steel rake with care to avoid uprooting tender plants and grass. Many gardeners do their lawn-raking with a bamboo or rubber rake.

A trowel is a handy tool for digging up seedlings and small plants and for putting and small digging. The best trowel is the one-piece, stainless-steel variety, with a wooden handle covering a steel shank. The size and shape of the trowel should be carefully selected to fit the gardener's hand.

Once these basic tools have been purchased, the amateur gardener should add others as he needs them. Most gardeners possess a pruning shears, a hose, a grass clipper, a water can and a wheelbarrow. These should be selected, again, with an eye to quality and convenience.

All tools should be cleaned after each use.

of ground covers will save you time and effort in later care.

Select slow-growing plant materials; maintenance requirements are lower.

Use mulch materials such as compost, leaf mold, rotted saw dust, rotted barnyard fertilizer, ground corncobs, lawn clippings and peat moss as a covering for the soil between plants in shrub beds. Mulches help hold moisture, reduce cultivating and provide a background color to help unify the shrub planting.

The grapefruit is a native of the Malayan and Polynesian Islands, states the American Association of Nurserymen. A handsome tree it is extensively cultivated in home gardens in the semi-tropical southern areas. It is also known as the "Fruit of Paradise."

THE PLYMOUTH MAIL Thursday, April 25, 1957 3

Use of tropical plants for indoor decoration of homes has expanded at a phenomenal rate, according to the American Association of Nurserymen.

Outdoor living rooms, or patios are more numerous on home properties than ever before as families generally have taken to daily or week-end living outdoors in recent years, says the American Association of Nurserymen.

Hilltop to Try Reservation System for Start on Course

(With weather permitting, the golf season will soon get underway in this area. This is the second in a series about Plymouth's three courses and the people who run them.)
By Dave Joffie

A large sign in the clubhouse at Hilltop Golf Course on Ann Arbor Trail proclaims for one and all to see that the manager, Chris Burghardt, is willing to barter on most golf equipment sales.

"It's a new policy that we're starting this year," Chris replied to our question. "If the customers want to haggle a little over the price of some of the equipment we'll gladly talk it over and let him make us an offer."

Chris is an exception to the usual pro-manager. Instead of concentrating on his game, the jovial manager takes more pride in his club repairing ability.

"We can adjust your clubs to fit a particular height and build," he said proudly.

Chris is currently working on organizing a junior league of golfers—all 16 years of age, or under. "If some of the other clubs in the vicinity get interested, we might arrange some tours," he added.

The veteran golf manager plans to devote only one night a week to league play. "The Plymouth Business Men will play here every Wednesday night throughout the summer," he reported. "That way the club will be open to the public four-nights a week."

Sports Seen

By Bob Young

COMPOSURE—Boy that is something I lacked last Saturday after I saw the headlines of the Detroit papers. The big eight column banner read: RED WINGS DICKER TO GET SAWCHUCK BACK. As you may remember last week I mentioned in my column Sawchuck was likely to be wearing a red and white uniform when the National Hockey League got under way next winter.

Sawchuck, who is considered by many as the best goalie ever to take the ice, walked out on the Boston Bruins last year at mid-season when he claimed he was suffering from a blood disease and mental fatigue. The Bruins are showing no visible interest in reobtaining the services of Sawchuck since they claim they have someone to fill his back stop position—namely Don Simmons, who helped the Bruins knock Detroit from the playoff finals.

The big barrier in Adam's bartering is the Chicago Black Hawks who are also interested in Sawchuck. If the decision were left up to Terry he would probably return to Detroit since his home is here and this is where he got his start. Terry was with Detroit for five years. During that five year term Detroit won the league title all five years and the Stanley cup three. Sawchuck won the Vesina Trophy three years and missed it twice by one goal.

Another big factor in the swap is Glen Hall, who won a first string All Star berth in the NHL this past season. And if worse came to worse possibly an even swap of Sawchuck and Lindsay, who was again announced to be on the trading block. Last week I mentioned the possibility of a Lindsay trade to any club, but after thinking it over Lindsay would probably rather retire than move to another club.

My friend, Wally Rusk and I went to the Tiger-Cleveland game Sunday and witnessed some of the finest pitching displayed by Tiger pitchers in a long time. Billy Hoelt took command in the middle of the third and struck out the first man he faced and the man on first was tossed out trying to steal. Hoelt proceeded to pitch expertly until he was lifted for a pinch hitter in the late stages of the game. Jim Bunning came in and pitched equally well and between the two of them they allowed one hit in nine and two thirds innings.

If the Tigers could get relief pitching like that all the time the starters wouldn't have to work much. At any rate they would be set.

Plymouth's varsity track squad wasn't all tears Friday after suffering their first set back of the individual performers gained stature as boys to watch. One such stand out was junior Mel Stephensen, who soared ten feet nine inches to extend his own personal record.

Usually I find myself engrossed with the high jump and take time out only long enough to watch a few races, but Friday for some strange reason I started out at the pole vault event and the longer I stayed the more exciting it got.

Ironically, the officials almost passed over Mel at nine feet, but after being reminded the officials allowed Mel to take his third and final jump which he made with room to spare.

Mel proceeded to clear the coming heights of ten feet, and ten three on his second jumps. When the height went to ten six the crowd let-out a simultaneous

Drop Dual Track Meet

The bad weather that has plagued the Plymouth sports scene for the past couple of weeks let up enough for the varsity track squad to drop their first dual meet of the 1957 campaign. The loss was a humiliating 76-33 runaway at the hands of Redford Union, last years league champions.

Mentor Baughman did see a few bright spots in the dismal loss as junior vaulter Mel Stephensen soared to a new height in his pole vaulting specialty. Stephensen established a personal record and moved a little nearer the school record as he ascended to a ten foot nine inch third place. Worden and Davis of Redford Union tied for first at eleven feet. Stephensen's previous high was nine feet six inches.

Captain Dick Showers captured one of Plymouth's four firsts as he raced the quarter mile oval in a blazing 55.9. Redford Union placed second and Denny Dréws copped third.

Jeff Yeoman, converted dash man, took a first in the 180 yd. low hurdles as he bolted the barriers in a fast 22.8. Redford Union grabbed second and third slots.

Veteran Paul Cummings gained an easy victory in the high jump as he leaped five feet four inches, three Redford Union players tied at five feet three inches.

Plymouth's 880 relay team of Jeff Yeoman, Eddie LaRoache, Dave Zimmer, and Dick Showers raced to an easy victory in their event as the clock stopped them at 1:40.1. The medley relay team lost in the last quarter mile after holding a good lead. The medley relay team is made up of Henry Mende, Dave Zimmer, Eddie LaRoache, and Ken Thomas.

The team's number one dash man Ron Markham had to settle for two seconds in his events as Redford Union's Lechtel made a double victory as he won the 100 and 220 yard dashes. The winning time for the century was an even 10.5. Markham's time was 10.7. The 220, which was actually about 200 yards was won with a 20.8. Markham hit the finish line at 21.4. DeWayne Reider and "Ziggy" Pryzbylowski took thirds in the 100 and 220 respectively.

Otto Bufe took third in the 120 high hurdles, actually about 110, with a time of 17.1. Freshman Davies managed a third in the 880 as he hit the tape at 2:21. Dave DeCoster finished third in the mile at 50:1.8. Paul Cummings copped a third in the broad jump as he leaped 18 feet 8 3/4 inches. Redford Union swept the shot put as Plymouth failed to score.

The JV track squad won their meet as they scored a 35-23 victory over the Redford Union JV team. Stan Goode, Kleinow, and George Lomas swept the high hurdles. The winning time was 19 feet flat. Hondorp and Yoelck finished one, two in the hundred yard dash. Jim Carney and Don Williams took second and third respectively in the quarter mile.

Woolweaver Cited For Outstanding Human Relations

Members of the Northlanders Chapter of the Dale Carnegie club this week honored Herbert Woolweaver, director of the Plymouth Adult Education and Recreation department, for his "outstanding contribution toward good human relations."

The club, composed of alumni in northwestern Wayne County who had taken the Dale Carnegie course, is joining similar clubs across the nation in observance of International Good Human Relations Week, April 21-27.

Each charter chapter has selected an outstanding person such as Woolweaver. Mrs. Fred Beitzer of Plymouth is making the presentation of a certificate to Woolweaver this week.

The club cited Woolweaver for his large contribution to the activities of the adult education activities and his pioneer work in its many phases. They noted that the Plymouth department has become a model in the state of Michigan and Woolweaver himself is a state officer in two recreation and education organizations.

3 Plymouth Residents Get Ford Scholarships

Three Plymouth students are among the 70 chosen in national competition to receive four-year scholarships from the Ford Motor Company Fund.

Robert George Kemnitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Kemnitz of 1233 Haggerty highway, and Judith Marguerite Veresh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Veresh of 42460 Clemons drive, were Plymouth high school seniors receiving the scholarship. Rosalie V. Stellato, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stellato of 47200 Cherry Hill road and a senior at Fordson high school, also received a scholarship.

All three students are planning to attend the University of Michigan. Robert will be taking up chemistry at the university. Judith hopes to go into medical technology or some other phase of medicine, and Rosaline tentatively plans to go into some phase of mathematics, such as statistics.

Robert Kemnitz is the second person in his family to win the honor. He is the brother of Pearl Kemnitz Hays, a 1952 winner who is now a senior in the State University of Iowa.

Telegrams of notification were sent to the students on Easter

Sunday by Henry Ford II, president of the company and also president of the Fund.

The scholarships, which go to sons and daughters of Ford employees, provide for payment of tuition costs, all academic fees and 80 per cent of normal living costs, up to a maximum of $750 a year for students attending school away from home. For those living at home and attending school, maximum payment for living costs is $300 a year.

Winners were picked from 854 applicants who were scholastically in the upper third of their graduating class and who met other stated requirements. Thirty-eight of the winners were from Michigan, where more than half of Ford's employees in the country are concentrated.

The Ford Fund also makes a cost-of-education grant of $500 a year to privately endowed colleges or universities for each scholarship winner in attendance. At the present time, 274 students are attending 84 institutions of learning on Ford Fund Scholarships.

The Fund is supported chiefly by contributions from Ford Motor Company and is in no way related to the Ford Foundation.

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

WITH THE REFRIGERATOR ROLL RECIPE of Mrs. Theron Palmer you can make rolls and bread in large batches, saving time and energy. The mixture can be stored in the refrigerator for a week or 10 days. It's ready-to-use when you need it. Here, Mrs. Palmer takes a pinch of dough, flours it and shapes it into a roll.

Rolls, Ham Loaf Can Be Prepared in Advance

Most everyone likes homemade rolls, and the family of Mrs. Theron Palmer of 5817 Beck road is no exception. A special feature of her 17-year-old recipe is that it can be kept in the refrigerator for a week or 10 days. "That's the beauty of it," Mrs. Palmer explained, "you can just use it whenever it's needed."

Another favorite in the Palmer household is a baked ham loaf. Mrs. Palmer got the recipe from Mrs. Russell Isbister.

A Woman's Eye View

by Virginia Robertson

Here's something that Plymouth school officials might look into if they're interested: Three times Ford Motor Company has offered the nation's schools a "no strings attached" offer of free aid from their business and administrative experts, "with still no takers."

You never can tell what kind of aid their "experts" would be giving, but it might be worth inquiring about.

Americans consumed $71 billion worth of food during the past year, according to a group which ought to know: the Grocery Manufacturers of America.

They also reported that American eating habits are changing rapidly in favor of "such relatively high-priced foods as beef, processed fruits and vegetables, poultry, eggs and dairy products. They are eating less potatoes and bread."

Wonder if this is just due to inflated living and buying on credit or if all the current diet publicity is showing up in concrete results?

A new material has been developed which may enable housewives to someday write their own prescriptions for detergents and cleansers.

It is a high molecular weight acid prepared from materials used to manufacture plastics and synthetic fibers. It comes in a variety of forms so that users may have their household helps "made to order."

This all sounds very nice, but who has the time or know-how to figure out what molecular prescription is necessary. It's easier to just purchase the detergent or cleanser you need, ready-to-use, without trying to mix your own.

This is a good day to stock the pantry with spring refreshments . . . tone up golfing muscles . . . launch boat . . . clean attic . . . tighten TV antenna . . . let kids and dog take you for a walk . . . oil garage door hinges and springs . . . but don't take off those snow tires. They're just as useful as mud tires.

It seems delinquency isn't limited to this side of the world. Even in cool, clear Switzerland, there are crazy, mixed-up kids. To meet the problem, Geneva is launching the most drastic campaign in the whole of Europe.

Famed in history as the birthplace of stern, unsmiling Calvinism, Geneva has decided to attack the problem of misbehaving youngsters in stern, unsmiling fashion. Nobody under 18 will be allowed to attend movies, theaters, dance halls and, of course, night clubs.

Law enforcement authorities and sociologists all over the world are watching the Geneva experiment with great interest. Some look at it with hope, others with skepticism, but they'll all have to wait for Mr. Time to tell.

Local Residents Since 1919 To Mark 50th Anniversary

A local couple, who came to America in 1913 from the Netherlands and settled in Plymouth 36 years ago, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with all their friends and relatives at an open house to be held from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday, April 27, at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Moritz Langendam of 882 Sutherland were married in Rotterdam, Holland. There they became interested in the Latter Day Saints movement brought to the Netherlands by American missionaries. It was their talk of America which led the couple to leave Holland.

The Langendams first settled in Detroit where Mr. Langendam worked for a painting and decorating contractor.

In 1919 Daisy Manufacturing President Charles Bennett had the firm paint his house and Mr. Langendam got the job. Bennett put him up in a hotel during the job and urged him to start his own business in Plymouth. The couple moved here that year, and Mr. Langendam did painting and decorating until his retirement.

All of their five children will attend the anniversary celebration: Bill of California; John of Plymouth, Morris of Belleville, Mrs. Doris Beauchamp of South Lyon and Mrs. Nellie Perkins of Commerce Lake.

The couple has 10 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Also attending the open house will be nephew and a niece from the Netherlands, who have made several trips here.

Latter Day Saints Church To Serve Public Dinner

A special dinner, open to the public, will be served by the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints from 5:30 to 8 p.m. Thursday, April 25, at the Masonic Temple in Plymouth.

West Germany now permits visitors to sell gold coins without a special license.

You'll find everything for a feast or a snack at Plymouth's only beer and wine drive-in. Our fresh eggs are something to crow about.

'Wife-Saver' Swiss Steak Dish Can Be Made in One Container

Easy on the cook is this Swiss steak dinner which can be prepared in just one container. Another advantage is that you can just put it on the range and forget it for a time, while you take advantage of the spring weather.

- This recipe serves six to eight.
- Swiss Steak Royal
- 2 pounds Swiss steak, cut 3/4 inch thick
 - 2 tablespoons fat
 - 3 tablespoons onion flakes
 - 1/2 green pepper, cut in strips
 - 1 jar (three ounces) stuffed olives
 - 3/4 cup water
 - 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed tomato soup
 - 4 carrots, quartered
 - 6 stalks celery

Brown steak in Dutch oven. Add onion flakes, green pepper, stuffed olives, water and tomato soup. Cover and simmer on low heat about one hour. Add vegetables and continue to simmer until tender, about one half hour longer.

To serve, arrange meat and vegetables on warm platter. Serve with gravy from the pan.

If you prefer onions to onion flakes, substitute one third cup sliced onion for the onion flakes called for in this recipe. If you do this, brown the onion rings with the meat in the hot fat.

Keep the rest of the "wife-saver" meal simple and easy. A suggested menu is:

Swiss Steak Royal
Canned Shoestring Potatoes
Tossed Green Salad
Rolls Butter
Peppermint Ice Cream
Coffee Milk

There are a few hints which may help you in cooking beef which is less tender. It's the connective tissue that makes meat tough. To tenderize it, pound steak with the edge of a heavy plate or a meat hammer. You'll find flouring meat helps in browning. With steaks, the coating of flour helps keep in the juices. Brown beef on all sides in a little fat.

Next add water or some other liquid such as tomato juice, beef broth or bouillon, diluted vinegar or barbecue sauce. These give variety in flavor. But whatever you use, keep one half to one inch of liquid around the meat as it cooks.

Cover the utensil tightly to retain steam and cook at low temperature—below the boiling point—until tender. A fork with sharp prongs is the best thing yet discovered to test for doneness.

Plastic Dishpan Has Sections for Washing, Rinsing

New double-duty plastic housewares arriving in the stores are out to prove that every homemaker can apply assembly line short-cuts to household chores. Outstanding in this trend is the colorful dishpan molded of polyethylene plastic in two sections, one for washing and the other for rinsing. The first of its kind, featuring a water saving, space-and-time-saving section, this dishpan can be the nicest thing that has happened in dishwashing since running hot water. Line it up with a dish drainer placed on the sink counter and you can make your own time and motion study.

Baby will have smootner sailing too, because of an unbreakable plastic bathtub which can be used as a play pool when he joins the pre-school backyard pirates. This rust-proof and dent-proof tub is shaped like a boat. It is made to support a child's back and has an easy pouring lip and removable soap tray.

For the calorie counting homemaker who supports the "out of sight, out of mind" theory, there's a new plastic pastry and bread box. The top "drawer" holds pastries and the lower one bread. Lettered drawer pulls identify the sections which are removable and can be used as trays to hold their specialty.

The lucky fisherman can bring his catch home on ice if he has one of the new giant-size insulated buckets. Good for picnics and fishing trips, it has glass fibre insulation sandwiched between two walls of plastic to preserve ice for a full day's outing.

The home gardener is an expression of love of nature, as well as the home gardener's personality.

TUNA CASSEROLE

Try Using Canned Soups In Your Casseroles, Stews

Canned condensed soups are good for much more than just soup. They're a marvelous invention for use in casserole dishes, stews, meat loaves or what have you. Do your own experimenting, using several different flavors. For a steer in the right direction, here are several recipe suggestions calling for canned soup. They're quick and easy-to-make.

Creole Chicken Stew

Thaw two packages of frozen chicken parts; dust with 1/4 cup flour; brown in 1/4 cup shortening. Stir in one can chicken gumbo soup, 1/2 cup water, and two tablespoons ketchup. Cover; simmer about 45 minutes. Makes six to eight servings.

Tuna Casserole

Combine one can cream of mushroom soup, 1/2 cup milk, a seven ounce can of drained flakes tuna, a cup drained cooked peas and a few crushed potato chips in casserole. Top contents with more whole potato chips. Slip casserole into 350° F. oven. Serves four.

Beef Stew with Dumplings

Brown 1/2 cup chopped onion in shortening. Add can vegetable soup, 1/2 cup water, one cup diced cooked beef; heat. Blend one cup biscuit mix, 1/3 cup milk and a tablespoon chopped parsley. Drop dough into simmering stew; cover and cook 15 minutes. Serves four.

Tomato-Cheese Rabbit

Combine can tomato soup with 1/4 cup milk and a cup shredded sharp cheese. Heat, stirring mixture constantly until cheese is fully melted. Pour over crisp crackers or hot buttered toast. Serves four.

Lamb Stew

Coat one pound lamb cubes with two tablespoons flour; brown in two tablespoons shortening. Stir in a can tomato soup, a can water, one teaspoon salt, dash black pepper, and a minced clove garlic. Cover; simmer one hour. Add three medium potatoes, quartered and a half medium cabbage, cut in wedges. Cover; cook for 30 minutes. Serves four.

Accessories Add Finishing Touch to Fashions

However beautiful and stylish your new spring outfit may be, it's not complete without accessories.

SCARVES—More and more emphasis is being given to scarves. Large chiffon and silk scarves in pretty pastel combinations will add beauty to any plain neckline. A favorite of the designers is a mauve and white polka-dotted scarf, worn with background colors of navy and lilac.

COLLARS—When something a little more demure is desired, fashion consultants suggest a pretty Peter Pan collar. Made of sheer nylon lace, this collar complements any sweater or basic dress.

BOWS—The little girl effect can be captured with a big red bow at the neckline of a white blouse. For those a bit more conservative, there is a narrow monogrammed tie coming in rainbow colors.

PINS—To enhance the look of spring, designers suggest a brand new stick-pin. Offered in a multitude of colors, these pins create their own design and hold ends of a scarf securely in place.

FLOWERS—What could typify spring more than flowers? Blossoms will be in full fashion this season. A bunch of daisies or lilacs, attached to any collar with a leaf stickpin, will add a breath of the season to your outfit.

BELTS—Belts will be featured in a wide variety of colors and styles. Contour belts will match both plain and printed blouses. To accent, a slim waist, try a wide straw cinch belt in red or black.

PURSES—The trend in handbags is to large straw pouches. For the shorter gal who desires a smaller purse, a black patent or catfish box bag in navy or red will be right in style.

GLOVES—Pretty hands need pretty gloves, and they are available in an array of pastel colors.

Grass and Garden Stains on Clothing Will Often Prove Difficult to Remove

Grass and fresh garden stains are among the most stubborn to remove, and with the rough-and-tumble outdoor season coming along, children's clothes will start showing those green streaks. There are many different methods used to remove these stains. First of all, try using soap and hot water if the material is washable. Rub the stain well. If this does not remove the color, there are several methods of bleaching out these stains.

For stains on uncolored linen, cotton or rayon, dip in Favelle water for one minute (no longer). Remove the chlorine from the cloth with a solution of sodium thiosulfate and rinse well in water.

Another method is to sponge with clear water and then with a solution of one teaspoon sodium perborate to one pint hydrogen peroxide. If the stain still shows, sprinkle powdered sodium perborate on the stain and let stand half an hour. Rinse well with clear water. Always test for change of color before using these bleaches.

Hydrosulfites available at drug stores as dye removers are satisfactory in removing grass stains from any white materials. Follow directions on the package.

On materials that soap and water might injure, sponge the stains with benzene or alcohol. Test them first to be sure they do not change the color of the material. Do not use alcohol on acetate, rayon or vinylon unless you dilute it—one cup denatured alcohol with two cups water.

Many of the commercial, all-purpose stain removers will remove grass stains. Examine the label well to see the kind of stains the chemical will remove. Some only serve to "set" the stain, and make it more permanent.

A Few Reasons

Perhaps you don't know all of the reasons why the majority of people in the Plymouth area prefer Schrader service. A few of the reasons why ours is the preferred service are: moderate price, convenient facilities, outstanding service and the personal, individual attention we give to every family we serve.

Serving As We Would Wish to be Served

African Violet Plants Bloom Continually

The African violet is a favorite house plant in many homes, probably because it is one of the few plants that continually blooms. African violets grow best in moderate shade. They can be grown in a sunny window, however, if protected from direct sunlight during the bright hours.

The best daytime temperature is 70 to 72° F., normal room temperature. If the temperature goes below 65° F., at night, remove the plants from the window for the night. Keep the pots in shallow containers of moist sand or gravel to increase air moisture. Healthy plants can be safely watered from above if the water is at room temperature.

Oil Sewing Machines
 Motors on sewing machines get "thirsty" too, and should be lubricated. If you sew every day, lubricate the motor once a month. For less use, lubricate it twice a year. Follow the manufacturer's directions for the type of oil and lubricant. The wrong kind can be detrimental to the machine or motor.

A PLASTIC HOME with glass walls equal in area to the floor space becomes a reality with the completion of this first unit in Disneyland in mid-June. Walls in this unique house are of Thermopane insulating glass made by Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company, one of several manufacturers working jointly on the Monsanto "House of the Future." The house is based on a U-shaped molded plastic unit which forms part of a room's ceiling, wall and floor. In the simplest plan eight molded plastic modules are cantilevered in pairs from a central utility core to form four rooms. The central area contains kitchen, laundry, heating and air conditioning facilities.

NAIL DRIVING

When driving nails in hardwood, dip the nails in linseed oil, immediately before driving. The oil will lubricate the nail.

STOPPING SQUEAKS

To eliminate minor floor squeaks, use a dust-type graphite gun, commonly sold for lubricating door locks. Squirt a little of the graphite between loose, creaky boards.

Repaint Outdoor Furniture For Both Beauty and Protection

The approach of the "outdoor living" season suggests repainting or refinishing garden, porch, picnic or lawn furniture. These jobs differ from most paint projects, in that weather resistance becomes a most important factor. Picnic style furniture is bound to have knots and cracks which are part of the rustic effect. These cracks and deep scratches should be filled with putty, plastic wood or stick shellac and allowed to dry overnight. Be sure to apply generously to allow for shrinkage when it dries. Always sand to remove any excess. If you are working with old wood furniture, remove the old paint where it is chipped or peeled. Use steel wool, sandpaper or paint remover. For a sealer, use aluminum paint on all patch spots and knots to hold back stains from resin or sap in knots. Use a generous coat of gloss or semi-gloss or good exterior enamel for most wood surfaces. To protect wood against moisture, be sure to paint all edges, ends and underside surfaces. Outdoor furniture should receive at least two coats of paint, preferably three. A 24-hour drying period should be allowed between coats. Before adding each additional coat, sand lightly to provide the proper bite. For additional weather insurance, finish with a thin covering of spar varnish. When working with redwood furniture, do not use aluminum primer for knots. Fill cracks and cuts, sand lightly, then apply two coats of redwood sealer-satin. A final coat of spar varnish should be applied instead of enamel. With metal furniture, start by rubbing the surface with steel wool to remove any rust or scales. Next wash with soap and water. Be sure metal is thoroughly dry before painting. All surfaces, including the undersides, should receive a coat of metal protective primer. Allow a 48-hour drying period. Next apply two coats of the same exterior enamel as used in wood furniture, allowing 24 hours between coats.

SAW EASIER

In using hand saw or hack saws you can cut with less effort, if you apply pressure only on the cutting or forward stroke. Lift up slightly when drawing the saw back. This method will also prevent wearing down the cutting teeth needlessly.

Home Air Conditioning System Does Better With Help

You must learn to live with your residential air-conditioning system. Any home air-conditioning system has limitations and any equipment will function more effectively and be better able to give out the comfort you expect of it if the family knows and follows the proper procedures.

An expert with the nation's leading manufacturer of automatic controls says that many people unjustly condemn a residential air-conditioning system because it doesn't keep the rooms as cool on hot, muggy days as they think it should. Air must be both cool and relatively dry for comfort, points out William Nessel of Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Company and unfortunately, he adds the process of cooling air increases its relative humidity unless some moisture is taken from it simultaneously. This means that home air-conditioning system must remove both heat and moisture to be effective.

This is where your family can help. If they cooperate in reducing the heat and moisture within the house, they'll be giving your air cooling system a chance to do its job more effectively.

Nessel, one of the nation's leading authorities on residential air conditioning systems, offers these suggestions:

Do use your kitchen ventilating fan when cooking on a hot day. A kitchen range with all burners operating can release more heat into the house than a two- or three-ton cooling unit can remove if it did nothing else.

Do vent automatic clothes driers to the outdoors. Many complaints of inadequate cooling have been traced to discomfort caused by the extra load placed on the air conditioning equipment by the discharge of moisture from clothes driers.

Do confine your ironing to a cool day or late in the evening when the cooling system has reserve capacity and can remove this extra heat without noticeable difficulty.

Do clean filters periodically. Dirty ones effect the operation of equipment by reducing the amount of air that can move through the unit.

Do keep windows closed throughout the cooling season. To open them lets in warm and often highly humid air, particularly at night.

Do keep venetian blinds or draperies closed on east, south and west sides of the house when the sun is on them.

DON'T mop floors, wash furniture or perform other cleaning operations requiring water on a hot day. Moisture is released into the air as wet surfaces dry. Consume such cleaning activities to cool days or at least during the coolest part of a warm day.

DON'T open doors more often than necessary and then for as short a period as possible. If usually costs more to cool a house with children who are running inside and out at frequent intervals because each time the door is opened warm air comes in.

DON'T use a shower curtain that absorbs water. Use one of plastic or other non-absorbent material. A shower bath releases more heat and moisture than a tub bath.

DON'T expect your air conditioning system to perform miracles. Designed to keep you and your family comfortable, it shouldn't be blamed if it is not able to keep an additional 10 or 15 people comfortable at a party on a very hot day.

DON'T shut off a thermostatically controlled cooling system on a cool day. You don't gain anything thereby, for the thermostat will operate the unit only as necessary to keep you comfortable anyway and requires no help. Set the thermostat at a level agreeable to your family and leave it there.

DON'T be disappointed if the temperature gets a few degrees warmer than its thermostat level on a very hot day. Most residential cooling systems are designed for maximum cooling that will maintain indoor temperature 15 or 20 degrees below the normal maximum outdoor temperature and they cannot do much better than that.

Power Tools Rentable By Day, Hour or Week

Many a "home handyman" would be more inclined to tackle certain major repair or remodeling projects, if he had the necessary power tools to make such jobs less laborious and time-consuming. Yet, if he does not expect to use the special tool involved beyond the project currently contemplated, he may not wish to make the necessary outlay for its purchase. In this case, an investigation of local sources and rates for power tool rental may well prove worth while.

In much the same manner as floor-finishing machines, wall-paper steamers and the like are available for rental from hardware stores, paint stores and building supply dealers, a wide variety of power and special purpose machines can usually be hired by the day or week, often from one of these same sources, or in other cases from special tool-renting companies.

SCHOOL BOARD MINUTES

MINUTES
The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District was held in the homelike room of the High school on Monday, March 11, 1957.
Present: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Smith, Mr. Stecker, Superintendent Isbister and Administrative Assistant Mr. Blunk.
Absent: Mr. Mitchell.
Also present: Mr. Bentley, Mr. Sand and Mr. Schmidt.
President Fischer called the meeting to order at 7:30 p.m.
Under consideration by the Board was a change in the salary schedule for next year which would boost the maximum in the schedule for those teachers who were at the maximum and who, in the judgement of the principals, had performed outstanding service. The principals of the schools were asked to express their opinions of such a plan.
Mr. Bentley, Mrs. Erickson and Miss Field, principals unable to attend the meeting, expressed their opinions in the form of letters which were read.
It was the considered judgement of all the principals that, should the Board contemplate any such program of basing the maximum salary upon the outstanding service record of teachers recommended by principals, it would take time to develop the criteria and, in fairness, the teachers being evaluated should have an opportunity to know about the criteria in advance of the evaluation.
It was moved by Mr. Smith and seconded by Mr. Mitchell that the administrative staff be directed to present for Board consideration before September 1, 1957, a workable plan which will recognize outstanding services of teachers.
Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Stecker.
Nays: None.
It was moved by Mrs. Hulsing and seconded by Mr. Smith to approve for payment the following bills:
General Fund: Vouchers 338 & 339, Payrolls February 15 & March 1 $112,022.46
Vouchers 340 & 460, inclusive 19,742.14
Building & Site: Vouchers 332 & 344, inclusive 153,282.15
Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Stecker.
Nays: None.
It was moved by Mr. Stecker and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing to approve the minutes as corrected for the last regular and intervening special meetings.
Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Stecker.
Nays: None.
Mr. Blunk presented for consideration an estimate of income and expenditures for the fiscal year, 1957-58. Various proposals for reducing the expenditures for next year were discussed. It was pointed out that the biggest single increase in the proposed budget was the provision for eighteen additional teachers.
It was mutually agreed that a joint meeting with the administrative staff should be called for Monday, March 18, at 7:30 p.m. Representatives of the Plymouth Education Association will be invited to be present at nine o'clock to discuss the salary situation.
Meeting adjourned at 11:15 p.m.
Respectfully submitted,
Esther L. Hulsing, Secretary

The proposed 1957-58 operating budget calling for an expenditure of $1,648,690 was discussed at length. It was mutually agreed to hold another meeting with the Plymouth Education Association Salary Committee on Monday, April 1, 1957, at 8:00 p.m. for the purpose of discussing the salary situation for next year.
It was moved by Mr. Stecker and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing to approve the superintendent's recommendation relative to the suspension of the instructional program at the Bartlett School during the school year 1957-58. The school will be used for storage purposes during this period.

Nays: None.
It was moved by Mrs. Hulsing and seconded by Mr. Stecker to approve the contract in the amount of $40,850 with Ann Arbor Construction Company, the low bidder on the site development at the junior high school and that the president and secretary be authorized to sign the contract in the name of the Plymouth Community School District.

Since the opinions were so much against any change it was mutually agreed to drop the matter for the present time.
Mrs. Hulsing reported on the School Board Conference in Ann Arbor relative to the needs of higher education in Michigan. She also noted the interest shown by boards of education in northwest Wayne County in studying the needs for a community college in the area. Suburban Life Cited as Delinquency Cause

By Virginia Robertson

American suburbs, once looked to as the solution to the delinquency problem, are fast sowing their own seeds of delinquency.

With the drift from the cities, the entire pattern of family life is changing for the worse, Dr. Ralph Rabinovitch, director of the Hawthorn Center at Northville, asserts. He attributes this situation to a difference of interests between parents and their children.

"Parents have their eye on the future, in terms of social prestige and social status, not on family life at the present," he explained.

"This striving for upward mobility has less meaning for the child than we think. They want comfort," he admitted, "but the greatest comfort is a closely knit family that can relax together, not a swimming pool, station wagon, open spaces, country club or tri-level home."

Fatherless Homes

Fatherless homes are another result of the move to the suburbs. Dr. Rabinovitch pointed out that fathers leave early for the long trip to their places of work and return late, often having no contact with their children from weekend to weekend.

"And when the father does return in the evening," he continued, "he tends to be so tired that the rest of the family wishes he'd stayed downtown. Another factor brought up by Dr. Rabinovitch is that the long trip also leads to the tendency to avoid coming home altogether.

Delinquency rates also tend to be higher where cities are unstable, "where there is no root or meaning in the lives of our young people," in the words of Dr. Rabinovitch.

Must Lend Helping Hand

"Communities must do more than just to recognize the problem exists and place the blame on the parents. This is not a solution," he points out, emphatically, "and the community will get nowhere."

Explaining this theory further, he said that some children, teens especially, are outsiders in their own home. The parents can not "reach" these children, no matter how hard they try. This leaves responsibility on the community.

"There aren't any easy solutions," he said, "but we must try to help by concentrating on the factors that produce community stability, such as schools, school services, recreation facilities, counseling services and churches. We must at least extend a helping hand."

Schools Fill In

"Schools," he said, "are often called upon, and they must, fill in where families fail to. Children should learn more than the three R's. They must learn social values and social techniques in the schools.

Carving Tips Make Host's Job Easier

The next time you carve the Sunday roast, make your job easier by following these tips:

Carving should be done quickly for hot meat. All the portions should be carved before serving. Place the slices on top of each other as they are cut. If your platter is not large enough, provide a small platter or plate to hold the slices.

Cut across the fibers rather than between them. The structure of meat makes it easier to cut between the fibers; therefore the individual portions may be easily cut with an ordinary dinner knife.

When carving, push the fork with the tines downward and the guard up into the left side of the roast. Cut across the meat from right to left or down through, making slices from 1/4 to 3/8 inches thick. It is always better to serve two or three thin slices than one thick one.

Choice portions of steaks and roasts and the white and dark meat of poultry should be divided among all those served.

"Of course," he added, "this means small classes in order to give teachers a chance to do the job."

Beyond the school is the community, "which should see that facilities for recreation are provided, if possible." Dr. Rabinovitch remarked. "The price for giving such things up is measured in the lives of our children."

He emphasized that delinquency is not universal or common to all teenagers. "In fact," he said, "they are quite a minority." But Dr. Rabinovitch feels that there are enough cases to be a cause of major concern to the American people.

Urge Liquidation Of Postal Savings

Postmaster George Timpona said today the Post Office Department is urging Congress to liquidate the Postal Savings System because it has outlived its usefulness.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, the local postal head explained, has urged that the Congress approve legislation which would permit liquidation of postal savings in such a way that there would be a minimum of inconvenience to depositors.

Such legislation, which is in line with recommendations of the second Hoover Commission and the Comptroller General of the United States, is now pending in Congress, Postmaster Timpona noted.

Pointing out that postal savings deposits have dropped rapidly—from $3,393,000,000 in 1947 to $1,765,000,000 in 1956, with declines continuing at the rate of about $20 million a month—Postmaster Timpona said the Post Office Department feels the system "no longer meets today's social conditions and savings habits."

Noting that today nearly all postal savings system depositories are concentrated in post offices in communities which have commercial banks, he added that "today funds are invested with confidence in United States Savings Bonds and in government guaranteed bank and savings and loan deposits."

Locally, postal savings total $178,694—today, compared with $500,000 10 years ago.

TIPS for TEENS

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

What about "going steady" with a boy who is away at school or in the service? Should teenagers save all their dates for each other when they're miles apart for months, sometimes years? A-boy asks:

Q.—"Dear Elinor: I am a cadet at a military school and I have a problem that is common with boys going away to school. Before I came to this school, I went steady with a girl back home for two years and supposedly I still am. But I am 1,000 miles away from her and frequently I date girls here in this town. My girl back home insists that this is wrong, but I feel that it's not hurting our relationship, in the least. What do you think?"
A.—No, it's not a good idea for 'teeners to go into solitary confinement, date-wise, for months or for several years of your young lives with nothing to look forward to, socially, except the daily visit of the mailman.

This is the time of your life to meet, know and learn about other people. Social doings are a part of your "growing up" experience and you'd have a dull, unbalanced sort of life if you omitted all social activities while you're away.

Of course this applies not only to you away from home, but also to girls . . . your favorite dates back home. Girls should use this time for friends, school and church activities, too—for varied interests, including dates.

If you two really like each other best, you'll still feel that way when you see each other again. So tell your steady date-doll that she's free to date others and you want the same privilege. Meanwhile, you still think she's the most, and are looking forward to seeing her when you go home.

(For free printed tips on the easy, correct care of "problem" complexions with pimples or blackheads, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.)

Plymouthites Await Vacationers in North

While many Plymouthites are always thinking about vacations, there is one local family who is more interested in the vacationers themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. Evered Jolliffe, 1192 West Ann Arbor trail, and their son and daughter-in-law, Keith and Ruth Jolliffe, are embarking upon their second season as operators of the Jolli-Lodge located along Lake Michigan near Traverse City.

A number of Plymouth residents made Jolli-Lodge their vacation spot last year and a few have gone already this season. Both of the Jolliffe families are at the lodge during the vacation season.

With a nine-bedroom lodge and cabins to offer, the resort has footage on both Lake Michigan and Lake Leelanau. It is located near the famous Sleeping Bear Sand Dunes. Boats are maintained by the lodge on Lake Leelanau. Information can be obtained from the Evered Jolliffes in Plymouth.

LANSING

REPORTING

By STATE SENATOR
JOHN B. SWAINSON

As this is written, it would be premature to estimate how many of the bills proposed this year will be alive within the next week. The deadline for reporting bills out of committee is almost on us and it has been estimated that as many as 700 bills may die in committee.

A number of the current bills deal with health. One is almost certain to pass and will help make available much-needed hospital beds. This is the bill that would permit tuberculosis sanatoria to make available wards not needed for T. B. patients for the treatment of other diseases.

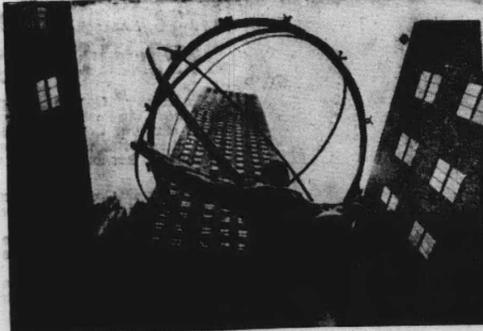

Another bill that should be passed this year deals with a more difficult set of circumstances. Involved here are tubercular patients who leave the sanatorium without completing treatment. It is proposed that such persons be returned to complete treatment with sufficient authority to compel them to remain until cured. A minimum "security" arrangement would be established to effect this.

Nothing is less palatable than to add mental misery to the suffering of persons already afflicted with a serious illness. On the contrary, the circumstances which have brought this need about need to be understood and faced clearly. In past years it was not altogether uncommon for a tubercular patient to become concerned about his family, especially about their economic welfare. Instead of "sticking it out," he would return home and attempt to provide for his family again. With his cure unrealized, such a patient was likely to spread the disease to other members of his family or persons with whom he worked most closely. This was bad enough. While our sympathies were great for the patient whose anxiety had brought suffering to others, at least each of the persons involved could be cured if treated in time.

Now a new medical problem has been added and has brought new urgency to the situation around the uncured patient who leaves the sanatorium. Certain of the newer miracle drugs that do such wonders towards treating tuberculosis can have exactly the opposite effect on what might be considered "the innocent bystander" in this instance. It has been determined that when the disease is contracted by a new person from one who has been treated with these drugs, it is far more difficult to cure the new person of tuberculosis.

To make this most clear, let's follow an example: John Doe has tuberculosis and has spent 8 months in Northville at Maybury Sanatorium. He is feeling better physically but he is very worried about his family. One day, he simply manages to leave the Sanatorium grounds and goes home. He looks better, he feels better and his family and neighbors assume he is "cured." He goes back to work. But he is still a carrier of T.B. because he has not completed his cure. Should one of his children now contract the disease from him, it will be harder to cure the child than the parent who passed on the disease. The child has the T.B. germs in somewhat changed form than those which sent his father to the sanatorium in the first place, because of the miracle drugs.

T.B. is rapidly becoming extinct in Michigan. Improved treatment and the miracle drugs have done wonders. Obviously, the answer is not to quit using the drugs since they do the job for which they are intended. But it is vital that present patients do not become free carriers of the disease under these circumstances. Consequently, security regulation is being proposed to minimize this danger.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

BY ELMER WHITE

Northville for Boy's School?

CONTINUED RESISTANCE on the part of Whitmore Lake residents and continued frustration in the Michigan Department of Social Welfare points up an issue which must be soon resolved.

The tangled problem involves a new location for the State Boys Vocational School.

Points of view differ radically. The Social Welfare Department received a legislative appropriation last year to purchase 320 acres of land at Whitmore Lake for a new BVS home—a training school for delinquent boys. According to Social Welfare Director W. J. Maxey the site is ideally located, near medical facilities at Ann Arbor and also near Detroit, home of a majority of the boys.

At that time it looked like the department's goal of moving BVS out of cramped quarters in Lansing would be accomplished without any difficulty. The violent reaction of Whitmore Lake residents was not expected. Some 95 percent of them organized to fight the relocation of BVS within their midst. They point out that police protection is inadequate; that building costs are high in their expanding, resort area; that the population growth in the area is so great that the problems encountered in Lansing would quickly develop at Whitmore Lake. They restate the U-M position that its medical school is already so overtaxed it cannot provide medical care to BVS inmates.

More important—residents took the cause to their legislators. Residents then engaged in a legislative duel with the Social Welfare Department to stop the appropriation of further funds. If successful, this would effectively bar development of the Whitmore Lake site.

A new approach was taken by Whitmore Lake people last week. They proposed that serious consideration be given to the establishment of BVS on state owned lands at Northville. These are now partially occupied by a hospital for mentally ill patients and a clinic for emotionally disturbed children.

At Northville, Whitmore residents believe, there is suitable land. They point out that a psychiatric and medical staff is available there; a power plant and laundry facilities are already built and can be enlarged if necessary. The site is even closer to Detroit.

At present, the state owns 501 acres of lands at Northville. The Michigan Department of Mental Health directs the operation of these institutions.

According to Charles F. Wagg, department director, there are facilities available for 2,300 patients in the Northville state hospital. Future plans call for enlarging these accommodations to 3,340. In addition, Hawthorn Center Clinic provides highly specialized facilities for the care of 80 children.

Several outstate communities have indicated they would welcome the establishment of BVS in their area. Ionia, Mecosta County (Big Rapids), Beaver Island and Grayling all contacted the Social Welfare Department with requests for BVS.

Maxey turned "thumbs down" in each case on the basis that these communities are located too far from Detroit and lack adequate medical and social care.

The Northville location fulfills Maxey's requirements according to Whitmore Lake residents. In addition, they stress the state already owns this land; that since some facilities are installed, costs would be lower for Michigan taxpayers.

At weeks end, both sides remained uncompromised.

Births and deaths in Michigan during 1956 are providing new records at the Michigan Department of Health.

For example, in 1956:

1. A new all time high was set for the state's birth rate.

2. A new low was established for the death rate.

It adds up to the fact that for every five deaths recorded in Michigan, 16 babies were increasing the state's population—a rate of better than 3 to 1.

Well ahead of the national average, the Michigan birth rate was 27.4 for every 1,000 population. According to provisional figures issued by the Health Department, this rate accounts for some 205,605 new babies.

Michigan's record low death rate was 8.5 persons for every 1,000 population.

Around the nation the average for births was 24.9 per 1,000 (2 1/4 less than in Michigan). Deaths averaged 9.4, or almost one more per 1,000.

Previous records were established in 1954. All were broken by the new figures. The 1956 rates give Michigan a "Vital Index" of 320. According to Health Department officials, this means that there were 320 births for every 100 deaths. Nationally, the Vital Index is 266—some 54 points lower.

The Vital Index will be referred to many times in the years ahead by educators planning school facilities; by towns and cities charting growth; by manufacturers when estimating the size of their market. In view of the high birth rate, all are planning for a "big" future.

New Route to Florida

Automobile Club of Michigan announced today that it has completed surveys on a new routing to Florida vacation centers and will recommend the route as one of the best three for Michigan drivers to the Sunshine State.

Chartered by Auto Club Travel Services Director, Harry N. Rogan, and Touring Manager Jerry Fisher, the new route runs for 1,516 miles from Detroit to Miami in a three-and-a-half day drive. Rated especially good for early fall and spring and summer travelers, the routing will carry them through Columbus, Ohio; Charleston, W. Va.; down the West Virginia Turnpike to Princeton, through Pulaski, Va., to Mt. Airy, N. C.; and then to Concord, Orangeburg, S. C.; Jesup, Ga., and into Florida at Callahan.

Pointing out the advantages of the new route, Rogan said that it passes through only one large city, Columbus; traffic is relatively light, only a short distance of mountain driving is required and accommodations for overnight stops are excellent. "It also offers a good change of pace for drivers who make the trip every year or so," he added. "Motorists from Western Michigan will be able to utilize portions of the Indiana and Ohio turnpikes in making their connection at Columbus."

The character of the route permits good mileage in relatively short driving time. We had no trouble in driving the 474 miles to Princeton on our first day of travel. Another 400 miles the next day brought us to our overnight stop in Allendale, S. C., and by evening of the third day, we went 431 miles to bring us to Lake Wales.

Alternate routes from Detroit to Florida recommended by Auto Club travel counselors run 1,545 miles through Louisville and Nashville and 1,425 miles via Knoxville and Atlanta.

Traffic along Florida's east coast has been eased considerably by the opening of the Florida turnpike, Fisher said. He noted a big reduction in driving time from Ft. Pierce to Miami. "Construction is continuing along the shoulders of the pay-as-you-go road, but traffic still moves rapidly," he said.

Routes to Florida are becoming increasingly important, as more and more Michigan residents are spending all or part of their vacations in the south, Rogan stated. Auto Club estimates that 330,000 Michiganders will visit Florida this year, up 10 percent over a year ago.

"Life Begins at Forty"

By ROBERT PETERSON

Because a long life is an appealing prospect to most of us I decided to round up the latest word on factors known to influence longevity. Personally, I'd like very much to live to be a hundred, and if you'd care to tag along here's how to do it:

1. Pick out some long-lived ancestors. If your parents and grandparents lived a long life you have a pretty good chance of doing the same. Even if they didn't you don't have to worry too much because biologists tell us we'll probably do better than our ancestors thanks to modern medical advances and our higher standard of living.

2. Trim your waistline. Folks with a streamlined chassis have a much better chance of reaching a hundred than their well-upholstered friends.

3. Get some education. Better educated people live longer than those with little education. A glaring exception is the medical profession. This is generally attributed to the fact that physicians work such long hours and at such a tiring pace. If doctors would listen to some of the well-chosen words they hand out so often they would realize that long hours and a tiring pace are for folks who don't know any better.

4. Accumulate some money. A rich man may not be able to take it with him, but he can hang onto it for a longer period of time. Studies at the University of Chicago indicate that wealthy people live on the average about seven years longer than people in the lowest economic group.

5. Don't work too hard at heavy tasks. Studies show that workers who put forth heavy muscular effort over a long period of time have shorter lives than those in less arduous occupations. Some biologists explain it by saying that each person has a specific fund of energy to be used in his lifetime. If, as in the case of a bank account, he makes heavy and frequent withdrawals, the account will be more quickly exhausted than if withdrawals are light and occasional.

If you wish some opinions on how to live to be a hundred from persons who have actually done it, you'll find more contradictions than you can shake a beard at. Nearly everyone who reaches the century mark is asked to what he attributes his longevity and the answers have included everything up to and including the refreshing response of a centenarian in Texas who credited it to his nightly habit of soaking his feet in pickle brine. That struck me as even more original than the elderly gentleman who attributed his years to the fact that he did not smoke, drink, or look at girls until he was fourteen years old!

IF SCIENTISTS continue to gain new insights into the diseases most apt to strike in later years, and if we are wise enough to observe common sense in the care of our bodies, there's every reason to believe that a lot of us will make it to a hundred and then some.

I JUST "REAR BACK" AND LET 'ER GO!

That was the answer an old speedball king of the major leagues gave when questioned about his pitching technique. And it might be all right for a pitcher, but it's not a good prescription when you're assembling your insurance coverage program.

Infinite planning by an expert is essential in a well conceived insurance program. A qualified insurance counsellor's objective in drafting your insurance program is CORRECT insurance at the CORRECT PRICE. He must have years of experience in his highly involved field... he must have various types of policies to choose from and therefore must have at his disposal the services of leading insuring companies... he must then weigh all the personal factors involved.

Many insurance programs — drafted by novices or allowed to simply grow through the years — may appear to have been put together by the "rear-back-and-let-'er-go" method... often, under such lack of planning, folks are under-insured or paying too much for the insurance they have. This is never true when a qualified insurance agent prescribes for a client — his professional advice assures you of ethical counsel and service.

CHARLES FINLAN

Long experience and professional counsel are available from us without obligation. We will be happy to analyze your insurance position... we'll prescribe, if need be. The choice is yours... but you WILL know for sure NOW!

OIL PAINTING'S A HOBBY enjoyed by both the Mr. and Mrs. in this new Plymouth family, the Charles J. Stofkos of 8975 Beck road. The painting shown was done by Mrs. Stofko. Mr. Stofko is general manager of Barnes-Gibson-Raymond. From the left are Joseph Stofko, Mr. Stofko's father; Mr. Stofko; Carin, 14; Mrs. Stofko; Scharlene, 11; and Karl, 18. And the family picture wouldn't be complete without the Stofko dog, Vicky. Interests of the younger family members lean more towards the musical, since they all play the piano some, and Scharlene plays the violin. Mr. Stofko, a member of the local Rotary club, also enjoys shop work and refinishing furniture, when time permits. Mrs. Stofko was a teacher in Bristol, Conn., where the family lived before moving to Plymouth. After hilly Connecticut, the Michigan countryside seems very different to Mrs. Stofko, as do the schools here, which she feels are better. But, "so far," she reports, "the weather is quite similar."

DECIDING ON THE COOKIES to be sold for the Pops concert and dance are Mrs. Margaret Hough, chairman of the symphony women's committee, and Mrs. William Edgar, refreshment chairman.

Decoration Plans Proceed for Pops Concert, Dance

Decorations for the Plymouth symphony pops concert and dance, to be held May 11 in the high school gym, were the main topic at the committee meeting this week, held at the home of co-chairmen Mr. and Mrs. William Fronk on Morrison.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kelly reported on plans to develop new lighting effects to be used with scenery props. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly worked on the setting of the symphony's "Hansel and Gretel" production recently. Mr. Kelly also supervised building the music shell. Tickets went on sale last week through the women's committee, Beyer Drugs, Cassidy's and Carl Caplin's. Officials say that public response so far hints that this concert and dance may prove to be one of the biggest social and cultural events on Plymouth's spring calendar.

Social Notes

Mrs. Paul Wiedman, member of the national council of the Women's National Farm and Garden association, and Mrs. Carl Shear and Mrs. A. H. Dohmen, of Detroit, members of the Plymouth branch, plan to leave Saturday for Washington, D. C., to attend the 43rd annual meeting, from Monday, April 29-May 2, in the Shoreham Hotel. The ladies will also visit Philadelphia, celebrating its 300th centennial, and historical places in Williamsburg, Va., before returning home.

The Reader Speaks Up

Gentlemen:

This is Good Friday and I wish, as a township resident, to apologize for the letter appearing in the April 18th issue under the heading "The Reader Speaks Up" written by a township resident hiding behind the signature of "Grateful Neighbor". I assure you that his thoughts are not representative of those of us living in the township. He might well have signed his letter "Most Unhappy Fellow" for that he must be and that I shall call him.

Such a letter, if written, should be thrown in the wastebasket by the writer after getting his thoughts out of his system. If this action is not taken by the writer, as it wasn't, then good newspaper editing would seem to dictate that such action be taken by the paper. There can be no excuse for writing or publishing such an abusive, vicious, prejudiced letter. The author while quoting the "Golden Rule" certainly does not live by it if the letter is an indication.

There are no olive trees growing in Plymouth Township so the branch the most unhappy fellow extends, whatever it may be, must be but to conceal his well sharpened machete. It is quite apparent he belongs to a small prejudiced group, dictated to by the few who run it, and I am happy to say that I am not, and will not be, a member.

The "new" council most unhappy fellow writes about still has on it four members, or a majority of the former council so how can it be called "new"? No doubt the council will continue to act for the best interests of the citizens of Plymouth just as they have done in the past and as they should do.

As a community resident living in the township my wife and three children and I have many friends in the City of Plymouth. These are good friends of ours. We are happy to see our friends have the many material improvements provided them by the City in recent years.

Our entire family enjoy the use of a better main street, the paved and increased parking facilities, the library and schools, and the parks and play ground areas. We are happy that our friends in the city have an improved and abundant water supply and that the new and improved sewer facilities are being installed. We share with them these things (and so does the most unhappy fellow if he will be honest about it.) These things do not just happen, they are the result of foresightedness and planning by a progressive administration that has gone ahead and made them possible. This has without doubt made their work harder than it would have been if they had left it for others to do in years to come.

We cannot always agree with our National or State governmental policies. Neither do we agree with our township administration who talk and talk about such things as water and sewer developments but do nothing about the problems except to talk and perhaps place the blame for their lack of action on the city. Our city neighbors have had the benefit of the guidance and direction of people who get things done. Surely that is not a fault, instead they should be complimented.

Now if I may add a word of advice to the council as our most unhappy fellow did. When sitting around a table, as he has suggested, to talk about matters of interest to the community beware of the group who talk cooperation and peace while they covetously eye your water supply and sewer facilities which you have and we do not. Some day I am sure the people of the township will wish to become a part of the city in order that they may have these things and pay their fair share for them. I surely do not wish to get these things for nothing or have a "free ride" as I believe my most unhappy fellow does. He impresses me as one who wishes to live in the township because of lower taxes but at the same time being a bit of a believer in socialism thinks that he should have the things the city can provide but have them without paying for them.

Milton Keversion A truly grateful township resident

Editor:

I am writing you about "Humane Slaughter." I have just finished reading an article written by John Taylor, who describes scenes in a slaughter house. It was and still is hard for me to believe that in what we call a civilized country such conditions exist.

He tells of the slow agonizing death of many animals that have been hit in the head so many times their eyes are knocked out before they are dead. He also tells of the many legs that are broken because, they are chained together. Pigs are still alive when they are thrown into vats of boiling water. Lambs run around with half slit throats.

Limited space will not permit full story of what goes on. My purpose in writing is to ask those interested in putting a stop to this cruel slaughter to write their senators and, ask that they support the bill which is soon to be presented before Congress (Humane Bill H. R. 176).

News from Rosedale Gardens

Earleen Pomroy
GA. 1-5231

Hello, folks! If this column seems short this week, you'll have to blame it on Lent or the fact that everyone seems to be sitting around waiting for the weather to act sensible. At any rate, Rosedale Gardens is pretty quiet these days.

Jean Carpenter, Woodring avenue, surprised her husband Bob on his birthday, April 13 by having Bob and Esther Mallison of W. Chicago and Bill and Norma Kumbier of Vermont in for dessert. Jean, who is quite adept at cake decoration because of a natural flair and two courses in the craft, used Bob's favorite sport football for a motif in decorating the birthday cake. Although it looked too good to eat, they did anyway!

Betty and Gordon Dana and their three children of Vermont avenue were dinner guests at Mr. and Mrs. Starr's in Rosedale Park for Easter Sunday dinner. The Starrs are Betty's parents.

The Wendts of Louisiana avenue have sold their house and are getting ready to move to their new home.

Kathy Mills, 6, of Mayfield avenue went to Highland Park General Hospital on Good Friday to have some pesky tonsils removed.

April 17 Jim Munch, Blackburn avenue, was seen around Whitman junior high sporting a straw hat. Jim wasn't rushing the season. It was a part of his costume for the Whitman Variety Show that was put on for the students at Riley junior high that day. Jim was not only master-of-ceremonies but part of a calypso number.

This is the same show I was telling you about a week or so back, and I hear it really was something—dreamed up by the students themselves—and I repeat, why not put it on some evening so the parents and friends of these talented kids can see it?

A small birthday party was given in honor of Karen Mulroy, Mayfield avenue Saturday. Present were Lynn Himm, Diane West, Penny Haller, Patricia Rykowski, and Lorraine Kiselewski. After games and an early dinner the girls all went to the movies. This was Karen's 12th birthday.

Brownie troop 1086 had a party April 13 at the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth, and then went on to the movies to see "Westward Ho the Wagons". This party was the result of profits from the cookie sale.

Girls who attended were Patty Matley, Linda Marsh, Christine Glineski, Peggy Core, Ann Opland, Susan Snyder, Donna Marshall, Diane Howarth, Joyce Hancock, Colleen Hartsell, Connie Jackman and Pamela Wilson. Leaders of this troop are Mrs. Robert Matley and Mrs. John Marsh.

Rosedale Gardens Civic association held its regular meeting Thursday evening, April 11, with a turnout of about 21 people. Where were all of you swimming pool enthusiasts? A representative of a swimming pool building firm was present to explain what kind of pools could be built, equipment and approximate prices. Did all you members remember to mail in your cards regarding the proposed pool?

The Louisiana pinochle club met Monday night, April 15, at Hillside for dinner. Members present were Anita Griffiths, Jean Stewart, Gladys Wendt, Lois Durfee, Shirley Good, Janet Blanchard, Geri Casler, Beth Thiede, Nancy Roberts and Monica Nehasel.

I see Norm, the children's delight, is back again peddling ice cream, so it really must be Spring.

The neighborhood bridge club met at Betty Dana's Monday afternoon, April 15. Besides Betty there were Nancy Snowberger, Dorothea Smith and Celia Heaton. They said they made much better progress without me present, which I consider pretty mean to say when the worst thing I ever did was to bid 2 clubs without a club in my hand.

Rose and Dave Gibson, Cranston avenue, went to London, Ontario, Sunday, April 13, to visit Rose's folks, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson. While they were there Rose's numerous brothers and sisters all got together with their families to see the Gibsons, which ended up with about 30 people present for an informal family reunion.

The state heart association is giving instructions at the clubhouse on Hubard for people with heart conditions who would like to learn housework shortcuts and how to do housework with a maximum of effort. These classes are open to all in the area and will be held May 2, 9, 16 and 23 from 1 to 3 p.m. Instructor will be Mrs. Pretzer.

My face is red. I made a mistake last time. I said that the women's club would have a kitchen shower at the next meeting, but 'tain't so. This will be at some future date, and I'll try to get it straight next time.

We have lots of new neighbors on Montana, but don't see many of them out yet. It won't be long now though, when we'll all be fighting our common enemy, crabgrass, and be seeing more of each other. In the meantime, why not call me and let me know who you are?

Lee Gizowski, Vermont avenue, had a big day recently when she not only enrolled for kindergarten but also had a birthday party. Present were Joane Smuk, Steven Fortney, Kurt Amman, Paula Klenk, Johnny Tarbutton, Billy and Mary Kumbier, Jimmy Davis and Clifford Durfee. This was all the 10th, but Lee's birthday was the 13th.

Sharing Lee's birthday was Bernard Johnston, also of Vermont avenue who was one year old. Bernard didn't enroll for kindergarten, but he has been going to night school. Bernard, by the way, is a beautiful boxer dog, and he has been going to obedience school. If you see Betty out walking Bernard and she seems to be calling him a "heel", she's just helping him with his homework.

Beverly Barrett, Merriman road, flew in Thursday, April 11, for Easter vacation from Dr. Martin Luther college at New Ulm, Minn., to be with her parents and friends. Beverly left April 23 to resume her studies.

The Pomroys had another one of their basement square dances Sunday evening, April 14. Present were the Hearons, Reids and Gildays, all of Rosedale Gardens, the Holwigs of Livonia, the Conrads of Houghton Lake, the O'Hallorans of Royal Oak and the Williams of Huntington Woods.

We have some more people leaving the Gardens—the Wyatts of Woodring avenue. Mr. Wyatt has been transferred to Arizona, and they are leaving just as soon as school is out.

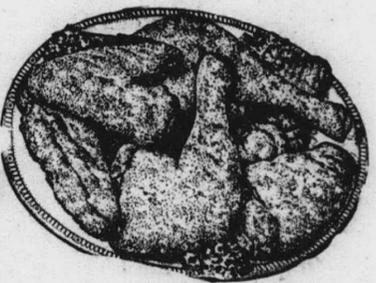

The regular monthly dance put on by civic at the clubhouse will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday, April 27. Dorothy and Glen Day will be chairmen, with Rose and Dave Gibson, Irene Koteles and Peg and John Harte on the committee. Theme will be "Paris in the Spring." This dance is open to members of civic and their guests.

Well, that's just about all the news for another week. Don't forget women's club tonight at 8:30 p.m. at the clubhouse. Barbara Cause of the Michigan Bell Telephone company will speak on "Your Voice is You". Hostesses will be Marie Nabrezy, chairman with Marge Jackson and Gene Loucks.

Wernette to Attend Annual Jefferson-Jackson Dinner

Among those attending the Annual Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner at Detroit's Masonic Temple, May 18, will be City Commissioner Richard H. Wernette, 387 Adams.

Following their $25 a plate chicken dinner, they will hear Senator Wayne Morse, nationally known Democratic Senator from Oregon, outline the Party's view on current national issues, in anticipation of the 1958 congressional campaign.

Proceeds of the affair will be used to help defray the Party's expenses during the remainder of the current year. The State and National Democratic Committees will receive equal shares of the funds raised.

The black widow spider's venom is six times as deadly as the cobra snakes and 15 times more deadly than the rattlesnake.
