

The MAIL Attitude

BY PAUL CHANDLER

We've got our fingertips today on the edge of what I know is a crucial story in this area. It has to do with an increase in the total assessed valuation of Plymouth Township property—and to a lesser extent, in the city.

It's a tough nut to understand, however, and some of the maneuvers still are in the works. But it involves increased taxes, more money for the schools, and other things that strike right at the heart of local problems, and we'll try to provide a rough outline today with a fuller news story next week.

To start with, the declared assessed valuation of property in Plymouth Township for 1957 has been jumped about 18 percent in the Township's report to Wayne County. It has gone from $30,000,000 to $35,000,000. Of the total rise, more than four million dollars of it is in "personal property", as distinguished from real estate.

In addition to the declared assessed valuation, there is another factor that will be applied by state and county (each do it in separate operations) known as "equalization." An over-simplified explanation is that the valuations of Townships or cities within a district can be altered arbitrarily on the basis of "ability to pay." As an example, if all the industry should be confined in one area of a district, then that area would be asked to contribute more to the schools than would a purely residential section.

We are informed that Wayne County Board of Supervisors, when it meets today (Thursday) plans to step up sharply the "equalization" factor against Plymouth Township, adding perhaps 19 percent to its already increased declared assessed valuation.

The net result appears now to be that Plymouth Township's tax base—and contributions to the schools—will be considerably greater next year than in the past year. This means higher taxes through the Township; more taxes for Township industry; and so on.

It will also tend to silence those in the city who have protested an "inequity" in the property assessments between city and township. But the city is being increased, too.

The city's own declared valuation for next year has been increased by about 6 per cent, compared to the Township's 17 percent. The county "equalization" will add another 11 percent, we are told.

As we said, we'll try to pin this down during the next few weeks and keep everyone posted. Sooner or later we should be able to report, in dollars, how much taxes are rising in both city and township.

A friend has sent along some ancient history references to provide assurance that there is nothing really new about the deadlock in the state legislature; nor the hue and cry over government taxes; nor the alarm over public morals.

In 42 B.C. Hybreas said to Mark Anthony: "If the government can legislate two yearly tax tributes, it can doubtless legislate a couple of summers each year and a double harvest time. How else are we going to meet these ever-increasing taxes?"

In 134 B.C., Cicero was clearly heard to bewail: "For behold, the first of June, and nothing done by the Senate."

And Cato candidly observed sometime along about 200 B.C., "Anything more corrupt than the man and times of today cannot be conceived."

Come to think of it, we've been meaning to ask the Plymouth city fathers a question for a year now: Shouldn't there be a street sign on the west side of Main street indicating the corner of Starkweather?

I'm sure that absent street signs fouled up more than one chariot driver in the days of grandeur that were Rome. A particularly bad corner was that one where every driver turned down Via Bologna when he really wanted Via Appia. And if you don't think untiled sewers were a problem in old Venice, just check with any history book.

The swiftest-passing year in history was concluded on April 30. It was just one year ago, May 1, 1956, that I assumed charge of The Plymouth Mail. Where did those 52 weeks go?

Plymouth's own Edward C. Hough can be seen peeking a sharp eye through a telescopic sight and down the gun barrel of a Daisy air rifle in an advertisement in the national magazines these days. The ad promotes Employers Mutuals Insurance of Wausau and appeared a week ago in U.S. News and World Report, with future schedules set for other magazines and the Detroit Free Press.

A Plymouth youth, Bob Stewart, (son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Stewart of 1368 Elm) stands in the picture with an admiring smile for Ed's technique. Ed explains the origin of the Daisy name in the picture's cutlines—he says his dad described the first B-B gun turned out by the company as "daisy", the latter being an impromptu adjective of admiration, and from thence it was turned into the proper noun, "Daisy."

Lions to Sell White Canes To Continue Program for Blind

As a means of continuing their policy of standing ready to serve the special needs of Plymouth people toward better health and living, the Lions Club will this Friday and Saturday hold their annual White Cane Sale on the downtown streets.

The Plymouth Lions Club, along with the Lions Clubs throughout the world, are this week observing White Cane Week. During this period, Lions make their annual appeal for funds with which to carry on their program of service to the community.

Most widely known to the public is the service club's dedication to a program for the blind. The White Cane, in universal use by sightless persons to help them make their way in a world of darkness, was originated by the Lions Clubs. It was the Lions Clubs of America which founded the Leader Dogs for the Blind at Rochester, Michigan.

But aid to the blind is only part of the work of Lions Clubs. In Plymouth, the Lions have engaged in a varied program of health and welfare improvement. They sponsor a Boy Scout troop, provide special glasses for the near-blind in this area, send musically gifted girls and boys to the Interlochen Music Camp, have contributed to the band uniform fund for the high school, and recently sponsored a highly-successful diabetic detection program in Plymouth.

Bigger School Board To Be Vote Proposal

The board of education has approved wording for two special issues that will go on the June 10 school election ballot—one proposing a seven-member board of education and the other asking for a levy of four and a half mills for operating expenses.

To become eligible for a seven-member board, the district's electors must vote to change the Plymouth Community School district from a fourth class to a third class district. Any district having 10,000 or more population is entitled to become a third class district.

Plymouth's school board now has five members. The board itself and the School Community Planning Group have favored the addition of two more members. There are two general arguments for a larger board and a change in the classification, according to Superintendent Russell Isbister.

For one, many believe that seven members will give the large district a broader representation. Secondly, a third class district board has more authority than the present fourth class. For instance, last year the board wanted to trade a small piece of property behind Starkweather school for a piece owned by a private property owner. The board could not accomplish this without the vote of the people. Disposal of real property is one of the privileges given a third class board.

Both the change in district classification and the levy issue require a simple majority vote for approval and all qualified electors may vote on the issues.

The millage issue (as announced in the April 4 edition of The Mail) does not actually mean an increase of taxes, although the wording on the ballot will not point this out.

The ballot proposal will ask if the limit on taxes should be increased by 4½ mills for a period of five years. School officials want to point out that taxes will not actually be increased, but that the 4½ mills will be "borrowed" from two present millage sources.

Two mills that were voted in 1952 will expire this year. This two mills has been used for operating expenses (paying teachers, running the buildings, etc.).

The other 2½ mills is being theoretically "transferred" from millage now used to retire bonds. Millage will be decreased from the bond issues of 1951, 1952 and 1955.

The 4½ mills, if approved, is needed to finance the increased cost of operating new schools, paying new teachers and increased salaries.

Voters approved a similar proposal in 1955 when a seven-mill bond issue was approved for $3,000,000. This money is now being used for the junior high, the recent erection of Gallimore school and part of it is still to be used for the construction of another elementary building and overhauling of the old junior high. The seven mills voted in that election had also been "borrowed" from already-voted bond issues and expiring millage.

The present school millage is $21.95 for each $1,000 of valuation.

Besides these two proposals, the Monday, June 10 election will provide a race for two board of education vacancies. The terms of Warren Smith and Mrs. Esther Hulsing are expiring. Both of these members and four other people are known to have taken out nominating petitions. The petitions must be filed by 4 p.m. on Saturday, May 11.

The following is the exact wording of the two proposals as they appear on the ballot:

Tax Levy Proposal
"Shall the limitation on the total amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Plymouth Community School District, Wayne and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, for all purposes, except taxes levied for the payment of interest and principal on obligations incurred prior to December 9, 1932, be increased, as provided by Section 21, Article X of the Constitution of Michigan, by forty-five hundredths of 1 per cent (0.45 per cent) (4½ mills) of the assessed valuation."

Northville Road Crash Kills Detroit Woman

A Detroit woman died Wednesday night of last week of injuries she received in an auto accident at Northville and Six Mile roads.

She is Mrs. Rose McClinton, 46, of 3339 Fingert. She and a passenger were enroute to Maybury Sanatorium where they were employed. While traveling west on Six Mile, her car collided with a dump truck traveling north driven by Vern Lavassauer, 40, of Northville.

Mrs. McClinton was taken to Wayne County General hospital where she later died. Her passenger, Mrs. India Roach, 42, of 4856 Lindale, was not injured.

Remodeling Costs Presented Board

Estimates on remodeling the high school and old junior high school buildings were given to the board of education at a special meeting Monday night and approval was given to pay hikes for school maintenance men and custodians.

Byron Becker, architect, told the board that it will cost an estimated $41,172 to repair the old junior high for senior high use, according to the desires of the board. It will cost another $36,412 to remodel the senior high building.

Plans for the junior high call for new windows, new plumbing fixtures in the rest rooms, some new doors and the removal of some partitions. Scheduled for remodeling in the high school is the library, art and biology rooms.

A $100 a year increase in pay has been offered the maintenance and custodial workers. For those who worked three years or more, there will be an additional $125. The pay increase will take effect July 1.

Jaycees Promote Fix-up Week with Product Sale

Local Jaycee members will be staging a door-to-door campaign for the Blind Product Sales company of Detroit, as part of "Paint-up, Fix-up, Clean-up Week." For their annual profit-making project, the members will circulate in the Plymouth vicinity selling such items as brooms, clothespin bags and ironing board covers, made by blind persons. These will be immediately available to purchasers.

Walls of Posters Enliven High School Student Electioneering

More election spirit than has been seen in Plymouth in many years can be found at Plymouth high school where next Tuesday the student body will go to the polls to vote for the all-school officers, class officers and Student Council delegates.

With signs plastering the walls of the three story building such as "Don't Be Silly, Vote for Selle", "All Bevers are Industrious, Especially Diane (Bevers) and Don't Be a Moose, Vote for Bruce", the campaigns are now in high gear. Leading the ballot will be two RIVALRY FOR the job as Plymouth high school mayor are Al Spigarelli and Shug Watson who are friendly but competitive candidates. Al is the only boy seeking the all-school offices. On the theory that those with the biggest and most posters win, a huge poster advertising Gae Ponto for next year's senior vice-president is seen in the background on the school stairwell.

Three Firms Bid On Fire Truck

Bids were opened Monday afternoon for the city of Plymouth's new fire truck which will be purchased from a one-mill hike in taxes this year.

Three bids were received and the decision of which to accept will probably be made at the city commission meeting next Monday night. Low bidder was the Seagrave company of Columbus, O. Their bid was $19,200. The Howe company of Anderson, Indiana bid $19,531, while the American-LaFrance company of Elmira, N.Y. submitted a bid of $19,700. With a commercial chassis, Howe submitted an alternate bid of $18,571.

City voters approved a proposition on the April 1 ballot which will raise taxes $1 per $1,000 of valuation during the coming fiscal year.

Ypsi Man Injured In Friday Mishap

One person was injured in two accidents that occurred last Friday night on Ann Arbor road. Injured was Edmon H. Morgan, 59, of 8684 Stony Creek road, Ypsilanti, who suffered shock, lacerations and had four ribs broken.

Morgan was driving east on Ann Arbor road when, according to witnesses, a car driven by Thomas Motley of Milford failed to heed a stop sign on Mill street and ran into the side of Morgan's car. Motley was driving south.

Morgan was thrown out of the car into the intersection. Passers-by helped him to the side of the road. He was taken by ambulance to Wayne County General Hospital.

An hour earlier, at 8:45 p.m., a car driven by Sylvia Williams, 9091 Brookline, and Billy Lee Pence, Royal Oak, collided at Ann Arbor Road and South Main. Police said that Mrs. Williams was making a left turn onto Main and that Pence, going at an "excessive speed", struck the front of the Williams vehicle. No one was injured.

Sure Signs Of Spring

THERE ARE TWO sure signs that spring has arrived in Plymouth. One is the sight of fishermen along the banks of the area's lakes and streams and the other is seeing Theodore School, 148 S. Holbrook, at work in his garden. The above scene is one of Plymouth's favorite fishing spots, for beauty if not for fish. It is the Phoenix Lake dam along Northville road. At 93 years of age, Schoof still pushes a cultivator and plants his garden near his small home. He once farmed many acres in the neighborhood and raised hundreds of chickens, selling the produce to Plymouthites. Though now retired, he points out that "a man's got to do something with his time" and spends it doing things that a man of 60 may not attempt.

Eat While You Listen Urged at Pops Concert

Three outstanding local artists will appear May 11 when the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra presents its first pops concert.

Jo Ann Hulce and Nat Sibbold will be featured in popular and light operatic songs, while Evelyn Woods, pianist, will play a concerto with the orchestra. All three artists will be remembered for distinguished performances with the symphony during the past season.

Starting at 8:30 p.m. in the high school gym, the concert will be followed by a dance to the music of Joe Skreynski's swing orchestra. Ample room will be available for dancing and the audience will continue to use the tables that they used during the concert.

Plans for the symphony part of the program include popular operatic selections, Strauss favorites, Gershwin melodies and a musical grab-bag of novelty pieces. Selections from "My Fair Lady" will also be included.

The popular nature of the music will be blended with an informal and friendly atmosphere. The audience will be seated at gaily-colored tables where vendors will sell and serve beverages and snacks. Cookies baked by the Women's Committee will also be on sale.

Lighting effects and decorations will give the gymnasium a soft and informal atmosphere for the party. The pops concert and dance is being arranged by a committee headed by Mr. and Mrs. William Fronk who intend to provide a varied and popular evening of entertainment that will appeal to all ages.

A youth group, in addition to the committee, will assist in serving refreshments. It is expected that the pops concert and dance will prove to be so unusual and enjoyable that it will become a traditional spring benefit for the support of the Plymouth

Symphony Orchestra. Tickets are available at Beyer Drug stores, Carl Caplin's Clothes, Cassidy's and from members of the Women's Committee of the Symphony Society.

Delegation Hopes To Welcome Ship

A group of Plymouth area citizens are hoping to travel to Plymouth, Mass., next month to welcome the Mayflower to the American shores—but the schedule of the wind-powered vessel is so uncertain that the local delegation is finding it difficult to make plans.

Mayflower Hotel Manager Ralph Lorenz is chairman of the group of about six couples hoping to make the trip. But at the last report, it looked doubtful if the Mayflower would make Plymouth, Mass. in time for its May 23-25 welcoming festivities. Hotel reservations have already been made by the Plymouth (Mich.) delegation, Lorenz said, but some will not be able to go if the date is changed.

The replica of the Mayflower left Plymouth, England two weeks ago after several delays.

enough interest prevails. The club would be open to all groups.

Contrary to general belief, old coins are not necessarily the most valuable or most rare, states Koi. For example, quarters and halves minted in Philadelphia in 1955 are quite hard to find in general circulation and are most desirable coins, if in good condition. Other coins which would not be considered old, are the 1932 quarters minted in Denver and San Francisco and the 1931 penny from the San Francisco mint. Many persons at one time or another, have hoped to find the legendary 1913 Liberty Head nickel, which does really exist and commands a high price. There are only five known pieces of this coin, all in the hands of big collectors. One of these was on display at a recent coin convention in Detroit.

Of the local hobbyists, Roy Fisher has a large type penny collection which dates back to almost Revolutionary War days. Mel Blunk believes he has the only complete Lincoln head penny collection in Plymouth. Koi will display proof coin sets, and an assortment of foreign coins. Koi's Lincoln penny set is complete except for one rather rare coin, Youngster Bobby Wilson of Holbrook will also show his penny collection.

Any Plymouthite, male or female, younger or older, who is interested in furthering his interest in coin collecting may contact Fisher, Blunk or Koi.

The world's annual production of silver totals about 10,000 tons.

From Mrs. Rhodes Ingerton, Center, Texas: I remember my first auto ride. We lived on a farm near the Cumberland River in Kentucky. I had been to town, to take a music lesson, coming the seven miles by myself in the family buggy.

I made it to town alright, took my music lesson and decided to circle the courthouse where all the young Lochinvars hung out. I reined Daisey's neck in tight, reached for my snappy buggy whip which rested in a holder on the dashboard and gave her a keen little lick which sent her pacing beautifully by.

I sailed along without anything out of the ordinary happening until a few miles out of town. I heard a spluttering noise down the pike which did not sound familiar at all. I knew Daisey was nervous about threshing machines or any kind of farming implements, so my thoughts turned to what she might decide to do. . . I soon found out, for she raised her chin off her chest, rolled her eyes around (they must have looked like billiard balls) and spied her first automobile. She took to the tall and uncut and finally came to a high rock fence which she skimmed as gracefully as a swallow.

All that saved me was the fact that the harness was rotten and broke, leaving me sitting in the buggy where it hit the rock fence. I was shaken, but oh, the thrill when the men who owned that monstrous automobile came and offered to take me to the farm! That was my first ride in an auto. Even though we owned many cars since, no ride will ever equal that one!

Plymouth Firm's Special Box Car Cuts Breakage

It may sound like a Ferdinand-the-Bull tale to say that anything as bulky and cumbersome as a box car could safely associate itself with fragile light bulbs, TV tubes or delicate plate glass on a rock 'n roll cross-country jaunt.

But at the seventh national Materials Handling exposition now (April 24-May 2) at Philadelphia's Convention hall, they've a box car that's equipped to handle anything with a kid-glove touch.

This hulking creation with the gentle character is an ordinary box car permanently equipped with a load-locking installation called the DF Loader. The Evans Products Company of Plymouth rolled a DF box car right into the Exposition area. Looks like any other box car from the outside, unless you're a railroader or shipper familiar with the letters "DF" painted on the wall.

Inside, however, you find the kid-glove installations: There's a unique assembly of telescopic, steel-sheathed wooden cross-members, portable bulkheads and deckboards for facing and double-decking freight, perforated steel belt rails facing the car walls end to end at various levels.

This permanent installation enables separating and locking of merchandise at any half-inch interval throughout the car. The telescopic wall-to-wall cross-members provide, additionally, controlled elasticity of the load as it rocks and rolls over the rails.

Railroaders agree that DF really does mean, "damage-free, dunnage-free."

DF has shipped thousands of sheets of plate glass thousands of miles cross-country with the usual lurching and swaying, but without shattering or cracking the fragile cargo.

It's shipped TV tubes and light bulbs in mass volume with no breakage.

Everyday, scores of chemical companies and other shippers of bottled goods freight their liquids via DF without losing a drop to a shattered bottle. Railroaders claim this general-purpose car handles commodities that no conventional box car could, successfully. The auto parts industry alone demands DF exclusively, using about 9,000 such cars.

In addition to protecting fragile cargo, this DF device enables maximum-capacity, ceiling-stacking shipment of anything—be it canned goods, refrigerators, engines, navy ammunition or what-have-you.

Reason for the car: Every year, over $100,000,000 in damage claims is paid by America's railroads to shippers. The Evans DF Loader was designed to corral this bull-in-the-China-shop.

Celery Salmon Loaf

Combine one pound can (two cups) flaked salmon with juice, 1 1/2 cups dry bread crumbs, two slightly beaten eggs, 1/2 cup minced green peppers and one can cream of celery soup. Mix and pack lightly into a greased, small loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) about an hour or until done. Pour off extra juice and turn out on a warm platter. Serve with celery sauce. Makes six servings. (Celery sauce: Blend one can cream of celery soup with half a cup of milk. Simmer about two minutes).

The Reader Speaks Up

If in the future the city of Plymouth has need for more storm sewers, sanitary sewers, water mains, etc., I would certainly like to recommend that the city consider thoughtfully the work done in town here the past few months by the Rocco Ferrera Company.

Any property owner is apt to be somewhat apprehensive when a crew of workmen with heavy equipment pull in to do a job disrupting things for a number of days. This company came by our property on several occasions for sanitary, then storm sewer, then back for catch basins on our corner. Each time they left they made every effort to see that things were as right as it was humanly possible for them to make them. Later they came in with stones and gravel and smoothed things up with their own equipment when the weather made the new fill difficult to negotiate. Now that they have finally completed their work in this whole section, they have hauled gravel in on practically every road they worked on.

The contrast between the Ferrera Company and those working on Harvey Street and elsewhere is most apparent. The Ferrera Company is to be commended for the dispatch and thoroughness with which they put affected streets back in operation compared to Harvey and other streets in the south west section which were handled by other companies.

We have several young boys in our family who were especially fascinated by the heavy equipment. The men of the Ferrera Company exercised great patience and understanding with these little ones under foot much of the time.

When bids are submitted for work of this sort it isn't possible to evaluate the human element behind the figures presented. For this reason I certainly do recommend the men and the company of Rocco Ferrera for future work in Plymouth.

Shell Oil Unveils New Super Grade of Gasoline

Those mysterious white pumps at the local Shell Oil service stations bearing the question marks were unveiled yesterday.

As many suspected, the pumps contain a new grade of gasoline to satisfy the needs of the highest compression automobiles.

J. W. Southworth, Shell's Michigan manager, said the new product is called Super Shell and is being sold in the Detroit area and seven other Michigan cities starting yesterday. Southworth said that Super Shell and Shell Regular gasolines will serve the same purposes as the three-brand trend started by some other firms.

This Was Plymouth 45 Years Ago

POSTCARDS OF 45 years ago show Plymouth's main manufacturing plants and the depot as it looked at that time. Daisy Manufacturing in top photo had no vine-covered walls at that time and a garden was growing across the street. The Markham Air Rifle Co. building is still standing along Main street, at the railroad, but is now used for storage by Daisy. The depot has changed little since that time but its use by passengers was much greater in years past. Bottom photo shows Oak (now Starkweather) and Main streets. House at left is where Pure Oil station is now located and house beyond is where the Main and Mill Standard Station now is. They were the Tighe and Van De Carr homes. These post cards were furnished by Mrs. Peter Wesseling. Others are found on Page 1, Section 3.

Senator Potter reports

... the latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan ...

THE BATTLE OF THE BUDGET continues on Capitol Hill. All government departments are trying some new tactics to see that their segment of the budget isn't the one to be cut. From my own mail and that of my colleagues here on Capitol Hill, the American public is very much in this budget skirmish too.

As a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee I am doing all in my power to get a substantial cut in the budget. And from my action spot in the battle, it looks now as if some tax relief is probable before too long.

LET THE MAIL USERS PAY is my recommendation for a cut in the postal budget. Some taxpayers use the mails infrequently, some private citizens use only first class mail. Yet these citizens pay the high taxes which support the intricate post office system and its annual deficit. Why not get rid of the antiquated mail system which permits the taxpayer to bear this burden, instead of the individuals who really use the mails?

Senator Vandenberg's painting may still reach the Senate's Hall of Fame. Headed by Senator John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), a Senate Committee was asked to select the five greatest Senators for ascendancy to this Senatorial valhalla . . . the walls of the reception room adjoining the Senate gallery. The past, if it is far enough away, has a tendency to shed party politics, so Daniel Webster and Henry Clay will easily make the grade. But Senators who belong to the Twentieth Century have not yet had their political garments dissolved. Right now Senator Vandenberg's painting is running neck to neck with other Senatorial greats done in oils . . . George W. Norris, Nebraska's independent and liberal; Senator Robert A. Taft, Ohio's gift to the conservatives; Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin; Robert F. Wagner of New York; William E. Borah of Idaho and Hiram Johnson of California.

APRIL IN WASHINGTON continues to bring floods of tourists into the city. Every morning when I arrive at the Capitol building, I meet groups of high school and college students armed with youth, cameras and a curiosity about the hallowed halls of their government. Professional photographers are asking the girls and boys to smile or sit down on the grass or group themselves closer together . . . so that twenty or thirty years from now these boys and girls may open their albums to show their class of 1957, and the way Washington looked then and the amusing dresses mother wore. Some charming Michigan students turned up on April 24th from South-eastern High School in Detroit, and I was glad to find the day bright with sun and blossoms when I emerged from my work to greet them on the Capitol steps.

Start Treatment Of Crabgrass

First flowers on forsythia means more than "spring is here." These harbingers of spring also are signs you can follow for early spring treatment of lawns for crabgrass control.

Fred Widmoyer, extension horticulturist at Michigan State University, recommends a treatment with 2-4-D at this time. Use about one tablespoon of 2-4-D ester per 1,000 square feet. Dissolve the 2-4-D in about one gallon of water. Repeat the treatment in four to six weeks.

Other materials that also do a satisfactory control job include: Sesone or Crab Herbicide and Alanap-1. With these materials, at four to six week intervals. First application should be made at the first-flower-on-forsythia stage.

Widmoyer also lists materials that may be used when crabgrass is about two inches high. Scutyl and Tat-C-Lect can be applied at that time and repeated three times at seven-day intervals. Cynate can be applied on a one-treatment basis and sodium arsenate on a two-treatment schedule, seven days apart. Follow manufacturers' directions for preparing solutions.

Chlordane and highly refined oil such as kerosene may be used in combination treatment, again when crabgrass is two inches high. Recommended rate is one gallon per 1,000 square feet for one treatment. Use one-half pint of 72 per cent chlordane concentrate per gallon of kerosene.

DID YOU KNOW that most of the graves on Mackinac Island are of doctors? The climate of the island is so healthy, they all starved to death for lack of patients . . . or so goes the legend of the place.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bucon have returned to their home on Clemens drive after vacationing for three weeks in Nevada and California.

See where Art Linkletter has been playing Cupid on his "People Are Funny" show. Only Art's brought Cupid's bow and arrow up to date. He's using a UNIVAC. That's the same gadget that recently took 15 minutes to solve a problem that would take a top scientist a lifetime. Anyway, Art is feeding in the vital statistics about some of the people on his program . . . and UNIVAC sorts the facts and figures, and selects the proper material . . . without benefit of moonlight.

If this idea catches on it'll be tough going for romantic songwriters, poets and "blind dates." The gadget will make them all obsolete. Courtship and marriage will become a matter of meeting the right equation . . . and if it turns sour you can always claim the UNIVAC had a short circuit.

A cement company in Argentina gave a party to celebrate a full year without accidents . . . and 1,000 employees came down with food poisoning. Well, it was almost perfect.

Another case where "almost perfect" isn't good enough is in the matter of filling your doctor's prescriptions. Accuracy and dependability are the bywords — and promises! — of our registered, prescription pharmacists . . .

13 Local Women Receive Pins for Extension Work

Several members of the Plymouth home economics extension group took part in the Wayne county annual home demonstration day, held yesterday in Taylor Center.

General chairman of the event was Mrs. Forrest Olson. Part of the program was the presentation of pins displaying the organization's emblem. These were given to 16 homemakers who have helped the group.

Local women receiving pins were Mrs. G. F. Wright, for work in the executive committee, and Mrs. William Sempliner and Mrs. Robert Soth, for five years of leadership work.

The local group met April 22 at the home of Mrs. William Rudick, 1031 Main street. Co-hostess was Mrs. Jess Tritton. A lesson on "Living with Teenagers" was presented by Mrs. Clifford Smith.

The next meeting of the local group will be May 20 at the home of Mrs. Alice Alsbro on Penniman avenue.

Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Otto Reamer. The lesson will be on health. Visitors are welcome to attend these lessons.

LAST THURSDAY afternoon's cloudburst brought flooding conditions to some portions of the city, including this scene in front of The Mail office. George Drennen thought it would be a novel idea to wade down Main street, but the usual amount of traffic cut short his fun. Besides, the water drained off in 10 minutes. In other places, however, the water stayed longer and some damage was reported.

Kresge's Installs Check-out System

Kresge's Plymouth store will inaugurate a new check-out service in three weeks, Manager Irvin Nance said yesterday.

Work is now underway to rearrange the store's interior that will place four check-out counters at the front of the store and three at the rear entrance. Under the check-out operation, customers will shop using a basket or cart to carry their selections to one of the check-out counters.

"The advantages of this type of operation are many," Nance declared. "The customer pays only once and saves much time by not having to fumble for change and wait for purchases to be wrapped at each counter."

The Kresge company does not call the store a "self-service" store, because clerks will still be available to help customers. Clerks will remain behind counters in the candy, jewelry and cosmetic departments, but will be in the aisles elsewhere. All counters will have call bells for customers to ring when service is needed.

The store's snack and lunch counters will remain in the same place. Because most behind-counter space will be eliminated, two extra counters will be installed. There will be no window display space.

Plymouth's Kresge store is one of 300 check-out stores being installed by the firm this year.

WHY DO SHOES SMELL?

Last week we suggested checking on the fit of odoriferous shoes. If that is not the answer there are three other possible remedies.

This writer is not opposed to composition or rubber soles. They do last longer and thus save money for parents of young families at a time when saving money is more necessary than convenient. It has been my experience, however, that some children cause composition soled shoes to smell but not leather soled shoes. Secondly, some mothers have mentioned improvement when they used cotton socks and, finally, unlined shoes may be the answer.

Whatever the solution, the problem is well worth solving because schoolmates are merciless in their comments.

THROW AWAY YOUR COAL SHOVEL

YOU CAN NOW HAVE AUTOMATIC OIL HEATING

AND SAVE MONEY BESIDES!

The Winkler Low Pressure Burner presents a revolutionary new idea in oil burners—actually costs less than hand-fired coal.

Why put up with the dirt and work of hand-firing with coal? The Winkler LP Oil Burner will give you better heating—yet save your money for other things. It's a low pressure burner—doesn't waste heat up the chimney. Non-clog nozzle permits burning all grades of domestic fuel oil—ends service troubles.

Here's proof of Winkler LP money-saving performance

From Feb. 2, 1950 to Feb. 7, 1951 we used 1333 gallons of oil to heat our home. This fall was much colder, yet our Winkler low pressure saved us 660 gallons over our previous high pressure burner average of 2000 gallons per year.

The 660 gallons means we have saved $89.10 which will pay for our new low-pressure burner in less than 4 years.

Besides saving money, our home is more comfortable with even temperatures and there is no odor of oil.

Our burner was installed on Feb. 2, 1950, during the coal strike. On Feb. 5th, 1951, we find we have burned 704 gallons of No. 2 fuel oil for a total cost of $93.63. This gives an average of only 2.3 gallons per day or 30 cents per day for automatic oil heat. We figured 10 heating months, because we shut down in June and started up last fall in late August.

There's No Mystery About
Planting Merion Blue Grass

There are two seasons for lawn planting—spring and fall. Essentially, setting in a new lawn at either season has similarities. One difference in spring planting is that usually mixtures are advocated.

In making up mixtures for spring planting, seedsmen have found that Merion combines well with many other fine grasses. Mixtures also help to solve moisture, fertility and soil conditions too varying for any one grass, no matter how good, to completely master.

Then, too, when lawns are planted in the spring other grasses in a Merion mixture will aid in earlier greening and more rapid early growth. Proper Merion mixtures are productive of excellent turf and should contain at least 40% Merion. If commercial mixtures are used, mow frequently during the first few months to minimize shading and crowding of the seedlings.

Whether you plant a small area as a test or whether you are renewing a spring lawn completely, here are a few helpful hints of correct procedure:

Preparing the Soil—Begin by loosening the soil with a power rototiller, garden tractor or by hand spading. Turn in enough lime to make the soil nearly neutral (pH 6.5 - 7.0) if required.

Although Merion grows well in most any soil, care should be taken to avoid turning up subsoil and burying good topsoil. Do final preparation and leveling by hand with a heavy hoe or rake to break up any clods.

Seeding—One pound of Merion will seed an area approximately 750 square feet while other grasses require from two to six pounds of seed to cover the same area. Because of the reduced quantity of the small-size seed, a spreader is recommended which can be adjusted to drop evenly at the desired rate.

If the seed is to be sown by hand, divide the amount into two parts and sow half in one direction and the other half at right angles to the first direction.

Covering and mulching—After sowing, the Merion seed should be raked lightly into the soil or it may be top dressed with not more than 1/2 of an inch top dressing of peat, or sand and top soil mix. This may be followed with firming the soil around the seed with a light roller but avoid heavy rolling on moist soil.

Under some conditions mulching (with straw, peat moss, vermiculite or ground corn cobs) may be extremely helpful in preserving moisture for seeding establishment.

Early Care—After covering and mulching, keep topsoil moist until the seeds germinate—from 8 to 30 days depending upon the season. Begin mowing as soon as the grass blades get about 3/4 inch high.

Mow regularly to speed up spreading action and thicken turf faster. Do not spray with a chemical weed killer and chance damaging seeds for the first few months.

Should any bare spots develop in the lawn, it is best to reseed them regardless of the season.

Plant Gardens that Will Produce, Yet Enjoy

Time spent in planning your home garden will pay off in greater enjoyment in caring for the garden as well as higher production of vegetables and fruits.

Haphazard gardening leads to discouragement on the part of the gardener and can make the garden's products costly, points out Fred Widmoyer, extension specialist in horticulture at Michigan State University.

Widmoyer says the gardener shouldn't set foot in the garden until he has a plan that includes types of vegetables, where to be planted, how much space to be devoted to each vegetable, where each planting will be located and a timetable for planting each vegetable.

This may sound like gardening should be made a business rather than leisure time activity, admits Widmoyer. But he believes that planning is worthwhile whether the garden is merely a hobby or it is an activity to provide substantial amount of food for the family.

Here are some other tips in planning the home garden:

Keep in mind that your family likes to eat and the size of your family.

Decide how much food you want for processing (canning or freezing) and how much you'll want for fresh use.

Be sure you can get varieties that will grow well under weather conditions in your area. There's quite a difference between southern and northern Michigan in weather conditions and length of growing season.

Start plantings at one end of the garden and progress toward ing on the stake in waterproof pencil or crayon.

the other end. This eliminates broken rows and makes cultivation and spraying simpler. Perennials plants such as rhubarb and asparagus should be placed at one end where they will not interfere with cultivation or harvest of the annual plants.

Plan for plantings so that land will remain in continuous use and the family will have a continuous supply of products such as radishes and lettuce or sweet corn.

Keep in mind that some plants require more space than others at maturity. Tomatoes and sweet corn need more room than radishes.

Mark the various plantings with wooden stakes and write the variety name and date of planting.

Remember these Points when You
Shop for a Power Lawn Mower

1. Superb cut-at any height, on thick or thin lawn. Ask to try the mower. Does it give an even cut? Does it "lift" and snip off any grass that has fallen over? Can it hold weeds up long enough for the blade to cut them off or do you have to hand trim dandelions and other pests?
2. Even distribution of clippings—or must you sweep up the clippings every time? Some machines deposit the clippings in unsightly balls or windrows. Others lay them down so evenly that you can't see them except on a deluxe kept very short.
3. Height easily adjusted—anybody should be able to change the cutting height quickly without fuss, tools or mechanical know-how. Height numerals should be big enough to read easily. Look for an easily set dial-type adjustment.
4. Quiet - shouldn't annoy the neighbors or wake the baby. Ask to hear the mower run before you buy.
5. Trouble-free - instant, sure starting, with nothing complicated to learn. Should be no need to return mower periodically to repair shop for servicing. A power mower can be as trouble-free as your electric refrigerator.
6. Easy to operate - your power mower shouldn't try to run away from you. It should trim close to trees and fences and not leave hand-trimming to do. It should make you feel good as you mow.
7. Complete safety - to-day you can buy a power mower as safe as your electric toaster or coffee maker. It should have a switch that turns off the power in case you forget. One mower also has a magnetic brake that stops the cutter blade in 3 seconds from the time you let go of the handle.
8. Ample motor power - high, whining motor speeds usually indicate inadequate power for best cutting.
9. Correct blade speed - if too fast, grass is whipped, torn or browned. If too slow, grass is

Hints on How To Keep Those
New Trees Alive

If you're transplanting trees this spring, here are some tips that will be useful to you. Keith Hudson, Michigan State University forestry specialist, says that many newly-planted trees die every year because they are improperly handled.

He says that a primary cause of death among these trees is improper handling after the trees are received from the nursery. The essential thing is to never let the roots of the little trees become dry. Trees are sent out from the nursery in moist packing that will protect the roots, but they must be planted or heeled-in soon after you receive them. Otherwise, they may dry out, or leaving them in the packing may cause mold and death of roots. After growth has started in the spring, be wary of purchasing bare-root stock.

The heeling-in practice that Hudson mentions consists of removing the trees from the packing, and placing them in a cool, shaded place.

Chairman Cites
Danger of Forest
Fires in State

Michigan faces an extremely hazardous spring forest fire season, woods users were warned today by Charles Allen, chairman of Michigan Forest Industries. Below-normal snow cover in many areas has allowed tinder-dry conditions to develop earlier than usual.

Many streams normally at spring flood stage are not carrying their usual volume of water, the forest industry spokesman said. Heavy precipitation could relieve the danger temporarily.

Fishermen and other spring woods users are especially cautioned to use care in handling matches, campfires, and cigarettes. Any woods fire should be reported to local authorities immediately. Mr. Allen urged. Quick action in this respect can mean the difference between a small blaze and a countryside-consuming holocaust.

Motorists should snuff out each cigarette in an ashtray and never flip a butt out a car window. A smoldering cigarette at roadside, whipped by spring breezes, can start a roaring forest fire, said Allen, forester for the Scott Paper Co., in Detroit.

Allen's committee of state forest industries is sponsor of the Michigan Tree Farm program, 4-H and Boy Scout forestry awards, and other forestry educational activities.

TIPS for TEENS

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Girls who use other people's personal accessories — lipsticks and combs — are asking for trouble. But this girl's friend help themselves to the contents of her handbag:—

Q.—"My trouble is really a problem! I keep my lipstick in my purse and when I go to school, the girls look in my pocketbook and take out my lipstick and comb and use them. All the girls do this. I don't like it, but if I ask them not to use these things, they call me a snob, so I let them use them, but I really don't want to. What can I do and say to them?"

Ans.—You could reply, "OK! so I'm a snob to germs. Sorry, this comb and lipstick aren't public." Say it with a smile, and don't worry, because your attitude isn't snobbish, it's sanitary.

Your bad-mannered friends wouldn't dream of using somebody else's tooth-brush (or would they?). Yet using your comb and lipstick is somewhat the same. Even if you're all healthy, it's not sanitary to use each other's most personal accessories. Everybody's mouth and hair contain millions of bacteria, and some of theirs' might not be good for you . . . and vice versa.

If you prefer, to find a way to avoid this without actually saying, "No," perhaps you can carry your lipstick and comb out of sight in a pocket or in a separate little zipper case inside your handbag. Use them in private for a while, so the other girls won't have a chance to pounce on them and use them, too.

It might help to mention this to your gym teacher. If she told the girls in class how many bacteria pass from mouth to mouth on a lipstick, they'd be horrified and would stop "borrowing" in a flash. Same with combs.

Opening somebody else's purse, pocketbook or handbag and helping yourself to the contents is rude, crude and makes you look like an ignorant cave-woman instead of a modern glamor-queen. Even savages respect each other's possessions. So don't touch other people's belongings without asking permission—and it's better not to do it at all.

(For free printed tips on "Etiquette" to help improve your manners and popularity, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.)

Sprinkling System Now Covers Half Of Plymouth Country Club Fairways

(This is the last in a series of three articles about Plymouth's golf courses. Previous articles have told about the new season at Brae Burn and Hilltop courses.)

By Dave Jolliffe

The Plymouth Country Club opened this season with several renovations.

Among them is Jack Millard, a full time golf professional with eight years of experience as an assistant pro at Western Golf Club, Redford, and at Meadowbrook. Jack will give lessons on an individual and group basis in Plymouth and Ypsilanti.

The 120-acre Plymouth Country Club course will begin using a underground sprinkling system on about 50 per cent of its fairways, according to Casey Partridge, who has managed the club since 1943.

"The water will come from our own 15-acre lake," Casey said. "It's a spring-fed lake and should provide us with plenty of water for our fairways."

The 18-hole-course, located seven miles from Plymouth on North Territorial Road, consists of rolling terrain surrounded by woods on the south and west. The course itself has been cleared of brush.

"The only sure way to lose balls out there," said Casey waving his hand in the direction of the course, "is to drive out of bounds into the woods. You can't get into much trouble on the course itself."

"Of course we have four ponds which store up quite a few balls before the end of the year. But we think it's just enough of a challenge to keep the course interesting," he smiled.

The annual Plymouth Open Amateur Championship will be held on Casey's course next September when Ty Caplin will defend his 1956 championship. The tournament is open to all residents of Plymouth and the surrounding area.

Local Linksters Tie with Ypsi

Plymouth's varsity golf team turned in their finest performance of the current season last Tuesday and all they got out of it was a tie with equally powerful Ypsilanti.

The two teams side stepped the regular nine hole pattern of play and advanced to an 18 hole match. The move was a fortunate one for the Plymouth quartet as they were down two strokes at the end of the regular nine.

When the cards were tabulated at the end of the match all participants as well as spectators and coaches gathered around to get the final count. Plymouth's victory all hinged on whether Staton Lorenz' out of bounds shot counted one or two points, unfortunately it was two and the heretofore undefeated Plymouth squad had to settle for a tie.

Drama was the keynote on the final hole of the final round for the three and four men of each team. Ypsi's number three man, Ambrose Willbanks, and Plymouth's number four man, Staton Lorenz had both sunk their putts and had retired to the sidelines.

That left Ypsi's junior player and number four man, Norman Brown. Norman playing in his first game was under pressure from the first tee off and here it was the final putt. He was just on the green about 20 feet from the hole, he talked to his brother Noel, who played number two man, and stepped up to measure the possibilities. He took his shot and it rolled right down to and into the pocket for a par five 18th hole.

Skip Rambo was the only golfer left to shoot now. He set about three feet from the hole, at this point a big three feet. Skip took and made his shot and the tabulation was under way. The final count found Plymouth had gained the necessary two strokes and tied the match at 326 strokes apiece.

Bill Dobbs of Ypsi was medalist with a three under par 69. Dobbs was par for the front nine at 36 strokes, but he came in three under the 36 par on the back nine. Tom Carmichael was low for Plymouth at 74, with scores of 39 and 35.

"Amby" Willbanks copped third with scores of 42-38. Skip Rambo finished one behind his opponent with a 38-43 eighty one. Staton Lorenz placed fifth with 85, and Kurt Atchinson beat Ypsi's Noel Brown at 86-87 respectively. Norman Brown was eighth man with 90.

Last Monday afternoon the locals defeated a strong Redford Union squad in the first six man team match of the season. The score was 255-264.

Ken Vollick was medalist for the match with 38. Staton Lorenz was low for Plymouth with 39. Kurt Atchinson tied a Redford Union player with 40. Tom Carmichael finished fifth with 41.

The club is staffed by a crew of 10 full-time employees who maintain the course, the clubhouse restaurant and the completely stocked pro shop.

According to Casey, future plans at the Plymouth club call for an eventual transformation of the 100 acres bordering the present golf site into an additional 18 holes.

"Then you'll be able to play 36 holes a day without ever using the same fairway," he concluded.

Rock Glovemen Win Third Straight of Season

A smashing single off the bat of catcher Gary Minard drove in the deciding run in the bottom half of the last inning last Monday to give the Plymouth varsity baseball team their third straight league triumph.

Plymouth, who led all the way, lost their poise momentarily in the top half of the last inning allowing three runs to score and tie the ball game at 4-4.

Bob Cloar, who pitched a good game for six and two thirds innings had done on with two out when Trenton started their rally. Coach Hoben lifted Cloar after he had loaded the bases and brought in Kenny Knipschild who gave up a scratch single to right scoring two runs. The throw from right was wide and another run scored tying the game. Knipschild quickly disposed of the side bringing Plymouth to bat.

Knipschild lead off the last inning with a single, Hoben called for pinch hitter Jim Daurus, who laid down an almost perfect bunt and was safe at first when the Trenton players failed to cover it. Pinch hitter Paul Woodward fanned, bringing up Minard who lined his single over the third baseman's head.

Knipschild, who worked one third of an inning, was given credit for the win. Cloar allowed five hits while striking out eight. Ken Calhoun and Wayne Jordahl each collected two hits apiece.

Plymouth racked up their second triumph of the season last Friday when they downed Belleville 6-3. Plymouth scored their six runs off from a slim six hits.

Ken Knipschild went the distance allowing 4 hits. Ken fanned 11 of the visitors. The Plymouth squad committed two errors.

Shell Oil Company

Announces a New Grade of Gasoline, the Successor to Shell Premium

Super Shell

with TCP

It is the most powerful gasoline any car can use!

The automobile industry is producing the most powerful cars ever offered the American public . . . cars with higher compression engines that require a more powerful gasoline in order to deliver full performance.

What's more, cars with still higher compression ratios, even more power, are planned for the years to come.

Clearly then a more powerful grade of gasoline had to be made.

An entirely new grade of gasoline

The Shell Oil Company now introduces an entirely new grade of gasoline, Super Shell with TCP*. This gasoline not only meets the critical power needs of the highest compression automobiles—but, at the same time will give cars which have used premium-grade gasolines better performance than ever.

Super Shell with TCP is higher than highest, even more powerful than Shell Premium Gasoline which it replaces.

It is, in fact, the most powerful gasoline any car can use.

Super Shell has a built-in "power pack" Here's how this is possible. Shell is America's largest maker of gasoline for commercial aviation. Aviation gasoline contains special power ingredients such as benzene, xylene, toluene. They pack more energy into a gallon of gasoline than anything else you can use. A high concentration of these aromatics gives Super Shell its built-in "power pack."

What can Super Shell do for you?

Super Shell instantly and automatically supplies any engine with the full octane value required for knock-free power under every driving condition.

This means you get full knock-free power for maximum acceleration . . . from a standing start or for safe passing at highway speeds. And, when you're cruising along, Super Shell's extra energy is converted to extra miles per gallon.

TCP unleashes the full power of high octane

Today's powerful engines build up harmful engine deposits within a few thousand miles of driving. These deposits can cause substantial loss of power.

This is why Super Shell contains TCP additive . . . to neutralize harmful deposits and unleash the full power of high octane. Super Shell with TCP enables a car to deliver and keep on delivering its full power.

For a new gasoline—a new pump

When you drive into our local Shell station you'll find Super Shell with TCP in a new white pump. It's a bargain in quality—a bargain in price . . . Super Shell is the most powerful gasoline any car can use!

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

Albion Honors Local Resident

Thomas A. Guthrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin C. Guthrie of 7352 Newburg road, was one of twelve junior and senior men at Albion college tapped for Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary organization of men.

The ceremony took place in the chapel convocation, Monday morning, April 29.

Membership is determined on the basis of character, leadership, scholarship and all-round accomplishment.

Guthrie was one of four seniors tapped.

"Breakfast at Mayflower" To Honor Woman's Club, Chamber of Commerce

Guests of honor at the May 7 and May 14 broadcasts of "Breakfast at the Mayflower" will be the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce and the Plymouth Woman's club, respectively.

These Tuesday broadcasts are hosted by Joe Gentile and Ralph Binge over WHRV, 1600 on the radio dial. They originate in the Miles Standish room of the Mayflower Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Rorabacher were visiting their son, Gerald Rorabacher, and family in Ithaca, for several days.

THIS ODD-LOOKING piece of furniture completed last week at the Diack-Brown company will be used by the change-makers at Hudson's new Eastland shopping center. From left are Bill Johnson, Joe Wall, Peter Voit and co-owner Angus Diack. Because the firm is usually busy with large commercial contracts, ordinary household cabinet jobs are turned down.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyden E. Muzzy, of Hanover, Pennsylvania, have purchased the Edwin Campbell home of North Harvey street, and moved into same this week. Their children, Jeff and Nanette are enrolled at the Gallimore and Bird schools. Mr. Muzzy is employed by Detroit Diesel.

Local Men Do Some of State's Most Successful 'Bank Jobs'

Unknown to many local residents some of the biggest bank jobs in the state have been "pulled" just outside of the city limits.

But Angus B. Diack and Harold Brown of the Diack-Brown Company don't use a gun in their work; instead, the tools of their trade consist of a saw, a hammer, a planer and anything else that might be useful in producing their quality woodwork.

For this 10 man operation has furnished some of the most modern banks in Michigan with finely finished interior decorating which comes out of their small plant at 44681 Ann Arbor Road.

Locally their "custom millwork" is responsible for decorating the pulpit, furniture and paneling of St. Peter's Lutheran Church, the high school chemistry lab as well as the recent remodeling in Starkweather school.

One of their recent jobs was the interior woodwork throughout the Bloomfield Hills office of the Community National Bank of Pontiac, Michigan. "Wooden paneling together with the liberal use of glass helped make the building present an up-to-the-minute establishment blessed with great eye appeal," according to a recent article in a trade magazine.

Perhaps an even more intricate project went on recently. It was a large wooden Lincoln car insignia resembling an eight pointed star which is used for ornamentation in the new Novi Lincoln Plant.

The insignia required a good deal of close work before it was finished. Each one of the eight points was cut exactly to scale and has four sides to each section.

Eight men perform most of the shop labor and are regarded by Brown as "skilled cabinet makers." Each has had various degrees of experience in other woodworking shops before joining Diack & Brown, or are gaining their know-how in an apprenticeship.

Both partners seem to be qualified "jack-of-all-trades" since both are frequently called upon to draw up blueprints, give estimates, and perform any one of a hundred odd jobs in their small business.

Although both partners spend most of their time in the office they have split the operation of their business so that Brown supervises the shop work and does most of the drafting while Diack operates as outside "contact" man besides over-seeing the paperwork.

Job sizes differ radically for the small company. In comparison with a 12 foot long desk made from walnut and formica, Diack and Brown have made small triangular waste-baskets to fit in with the general decorating scheme in banks.

In addition to their frequent "bank jobs" the partners have enlarged their scope of activities to supply woodwork for such internationally famous architects as Frank Lloyd Wright and Alden B. Dow besides many well known local architects.

So, if you ever hear Angus Diack or Harold Brown "casing" a bank to "pull another job," rest assured that the bank will not suffer from their attention.

Mrs. S. Sutherland of Byron street and daughters Bonnie, Judy and Suzanne went to Dayton, Ohio, over the Easter holidays. They stayed at the Golden Lamb Inn in Lebanon, Ohio, and toured the state, visiting friends and sightseeing. They left Good Friday morning, attended St. Andrew's church in Dayton Easter morning and returned Friday, April 26.

THE READER SPEAKS UP

"There ought to be a law and now is the time when there can be."

Senate Bill 1497 has been introduced by Humphrey of Minnesota, Neuberger of Oregon and Purtell of Connecticut providing for compulsory use of humane methods of slaughtering food animals and poultry. Similar bills are in the House. Early hearings before the House Committee on Agriculture are expected.

The American Humane Association is spearheading the demand for such legislation from legislators, press and public and the need is felt among the meat packers themselves.

Industry is coming forward with devices for rendering animals insensible to fear and pain, prior to slaughter. Progressive packers are already using these standard aids, finding them practical and economical. Let us help our legislators to do away with that brutalizing strain on our national economy by requiring humane methods of slaughter for the creatures whose lives are required to sustain ours. Drop them a line of approval on a postcard today.

Congressional senators from Michigan are Patrick McNamara and Charles Potter. Representative for the 17th district is Martha W. Griffiths. Address: Senate Office Building, or House Office Building, Washington 25, D.C.

Geography in Paint

Paints originally were no more than natural deposits of colored earth mixed with a liquid. Some of the colored earths got their names from the parts of the world in which they were found. Sienna (warm brown), for example, is named after a geographical section of Italy. Turkey umber (brown) came from Turkey. Berlin blue, Prussian blue, Naples yellow, Italian pink, Persian red—all these color names reveal their own individual origin.

Highway users paid $7.3 billion in special vehicle taxes in 1955.

Students' Parents Invited to MSU Weekend Affair

The seventh annual Parents Weekend at Michigan State University May 1-12 is expected to draw upwards of 4,000 parents and friends of students, including some from Plymouth.

A schedule of some 20 events is available to the visitors, highlighted by the annual Engineering Exposition, International Festival, Sorority Sing, a personal greeting from President John A. Hannah and athletic events.

Students again will present their traditional "College Comeback" dance and variety show, a take-off on the "Roaring 20's," and have added a Spartan Circus which will feature gymnasts, clowns and variety entertainers.

The entire campus will take on a holiday aspect as all residence halls, fraternity and sorority houses erect welcome signs and exhibits or have open house. Registration is Saturday morning at Kellogg Center, and thereafter at both Kellogg and the Union. Student guides will be available to lead campus tours from the registration sites. Many departments and buildings will be open to visitors.

President Hannah's coffee hour is from 1 to 2 p.m. Saturday. Spartan athletes engage Penn State in track and Notre Dame in tennis at 2 p.m. The Engineering

Exposition, which begins Friday, will be in its final day Saturday with continuous shows and exhibits. International Festival shows, featuring colorful native costumes and exhibits, are 3 and 8 p.m. at the Auditorium. # More Home Improvements Predicted for '57

Hardwood Plywood House Has Natural Beauty

MAN'S time-honored love for the natural beauty of choice hardwoods has prompted architect Samuel Paul, A.I.A., to design a house especially suited for the varied uses of hardwood plywood. The house is a "natural" for families which like the easy maintenance of paneled walls and the warmth and beauty that hardwood plywood lends the home interior. The house has four bedrooms and two baths. Two bedrooms and one bath are on the second floor (not shown) and can be finished after the family occupies the first floor. Similarly, the basement hobby-TV room (above), a main feature of the home, can be finished later as a "do-it-yourself" project. Natural birch plywood flush doors are used throughout and the kitchen is lined with base and wall cabinets made of natural birch plywood. In the basement room, the walls are completely paneled with walnut plywood and the storage wall housing the TV set is made of birch plywood for a pleasing contrast. Three areas on the first floor were designed with an eye to plywood paneling, according to the architect. The living room wall opposite the picture window can be paneled as an "accent wall," the dining room lends itself to wainscot paneling, and the desirable central entrance hall should be plywood-paneled to stand heavy wear. Complete working plans and materials lists are available. For information on the "hardwood plywood house," write Samuel Paul, 8951 164th St., Jamaica, New York.

With national income at an all-time peak, employment steadily maintained at high levels and savings deposits swelling, economic experts predict that 1957 will see a dramatic upswing in the trend toward better living for American families in all walks of life.

Better living for most families begins in the home. Many are giving Operation Home Improvement top place among their progress plans for 1957. Homes will be modernized, expanded, remodeled, redecorated, refurnished. New appliances will contribute new convenience, comfort, pleasure. New projects will be launched, long cherished plans brought to fulfillment, all for the greater enjoyment of family life.

Extra Rooms to be Added

Families everywhere will add extra rooms to their homes, either to keep pace with the needs of their growing families or, more often, to add a new dimension to family living as re-creation or hobby rooms.

Almost every home has unused space that could be converted into livable extra rooms. In many homes, an unused attic will provide ample space for one or two extra bedrooms for the children or for use as guest rooms. Another good place to find space is in the basement. It offers real possibilities for an attractive rumpus or hobby room or TV lounge. An open porch or attached garage can become a comfortable den.

It is usually possible to have an extra bathroom in any of these areas. In many homes, plumbing lines are so located that they can be extended to the floor above or below at minimum expense.

Valuable Assistance Available

Local contractors or lumber dealers can give valuable assistance in all stages of these projects. They will be glad to provide helpful information, assist in solving problems that come up and advise about proper materials.

Many old-fashioned bathrooms are due to get a complete "face lifting" in 1957 via new fixtures, colored tile walls and floors, stall showers, etc. Some will be completely redesigned for greater convenience. In many homes new bathrooms or first-floor "powder rooms" will be added.

Kitchens also will take an important place in modernizing programs. New step-saving layouts will be effectuated, work-saving appliances installed. Bright new decorative schemes will strike the gay and cheerful keynote so dear to the heart of the modern homemaker.

Comfort rates high as an adjunct to better living, and many improvement projects will be aimed at making the home more comfortable on an all-year-round basis. Present heating systems will be repaired or new ones installed. Insulation will help to keep the sun's heat outside the house in summer and furnace heat inside in winter, and can soon pay for itself in fuel savings. Air conditioning can range all the way from individual room air-conditioners or attic fans to complete cooling systems which can often be integrated with present heating facilities.

Check Wiring System

With the addition of so many electrical appliances in recent years, many a home has outgrown its wiring system. This may not only call for additional outlets, but in the case of the older house, may indicate the need of a completely new system of greater wattage to cope with the increased power load that must be carried. In either event, an electrical contractor should be called in to survey the situation, make specific recommendations and submit an estimate of costs.

Since the appearance that the home presents plays such an important part in maintaining and boosting family morale, many projects will be aimed at a refreshing "change of scene," inside or outside, or both.

Inside the house, paint or wallpaper (or an effective combination of both) can create a completely new decorative effect at relatively small cost. A wide array of attractive new flooring materials, applicable to every room in the house, enables the owner to give his home a new look "from the ground up." Moving outside, such projects as re-painting, new siding and new roofing can work wonders in stepping up the attractiveness of a house, and can even lift its resale value far beyond the costs involved in making the improvement.

Do-It-Yourself Painters, Man the Brushes!

Along about this time of year, many homeowners decide that one or more of their rooms could stand a "change of scene," or at the very least, a fresh bright renewal of the present color scheme.

And so simple have manufacturers made the job with their new and improved ready-mixed paints and new methods of application that most "amateur handymen" can readily wield the paint brush themselves with very satisfactory results and at a considerable saving of money.

If you follow a few basic steps, the job of wall painting can be done correctly and in a surprisingly short period of time.

First the floors should be covered with newspapers or a tarp cloth to catch any paint splatters that occur as you paint the walls. Then remove all of the electrical switches and outlet plates. If the switches and plates are to be painted, paint them separately on a newspaper.

Trim around the doors and windows first. For protection, speed and efficiency, use either masking tape or a trim guard. Be sure to wipe off any smears on wall surfaces with a rag to prevent lap marks from showing later on.

Whether you use a roller or a brush, spread your paint on evenly, with sweeping to-and-fro strokes. If you prefer using a brush, use a 4 or 5-inch brush to apply the paint. Start each stroke where the paint is dry and work toward and into wet areas.

Panelling Eases Finishing Job

Spring "clean-up time," in many homes, spotlights the urgent need for more storage space for those many items of household, sports, and hobby gear that must be kept on hand, but which are creating an unsightly "clutteration" in the basement, attic, utility or "family room."

On the other hand, the "clean-up" mood may lead to the discarding of many articles that have been stored far beyond their span of possible usefulness. This quite often creates the opportunity to finish off additional living space in basement or attic. In either case, the judicious use of panelling may well provide a very happy solution to the problem. Home owners, who are handy with tools can often do much of the work themselves, and thus secure a result that is both pleasing to the eye and utilitarian at relatively small cost.

There are four main kinds of wood panelling from which the homeowner may choose the one most suitable to his purpose: softwood boards, hardwood boards, hardwood plywood and softwood plywood.

To achieve a unique effect in room decoration, choose wood panelling with lots of curls and swirls—patterns formed in the grain by the growing trees.

Start at an upper corner of the wall and paint an easy arm's length across, parallel to the ceiling. Then work down from ceiling to baseboard. Continue the same method across the wall, working in strips a yard or so wide so you can come back and paint into an area you've just painted.

For base boards, begin in a corner of the room. First apply paint to the center of the board, then work toward the edges. To make your cleanup job easier, protect the floor with a drop cloth, and use masking tape or hold a trim-guard or paint shield against the wall at upper edge of the baseboard.

Where walls are broken by windows or doors, start in a small area and work outward to broader areas.

When it comes to ceilings, paint in strips—the width, not the long way of the room. Keep the strips narrow. Take down fixtures and replace as you move.

Wrap your tools individually in a rag soaked with linseed oil and place in an empty coffee can. This will prevent the tools from getting dulled by striking against each other.

HOW TO DO IT

Cutting Flagstone

"Stone has always been considered a beautiful and prized building material, so why not use

It" says American Builder magazine. The magazine gives this tip on cutting flagstone for a patio or a walk: Scribe the stone, then snap it over a piece of angle iron. With thick pieces of flaggings, take a few taps with a chisel along the scribe line.

"The Guns of Navarone" by Alistair Maclean—A story of five men chosen to silence these guns, which control the approach to the eastern Mediterranean island of Kheros. The author combines authenticity with color and suspense, "with a thrill on every page."

If you had any idea of the pounds of coffee consumed in this subdivision you'd well understand why perhaps we should call this column "Klatching in the Circle." I should explain that our streets are laid out in a circle and even the short stem that jogs off the main area has a circle turn.

Practically all of my news items will be gossip heard over the coffee cups and so help me, not only we women klatch and gossip but our men folks do too. Don't let them fool you.

As a matter of fact, Easter Sunday, after returning from church, hubby and I were strolling around our yard, coffee cup in hand, and we saw our own Easter Parade.

The pre-school set of glamorous pixies strolled by hand in hand with their fathers. Ted Kuhns was proud as a peacock about Cindy, his youngest, who was a perfect doll in matching coat and hat of pale yellow. Vicky, her sister, looked very grownup in a fitted navy blue coat and white roll brim hat. Ellen Sponseller was cute as a button in a princess style aqua coat with white lace collar and white straw chapeau. Jim, her father, fairly glowed. Kathy Quinlan, accompanied by her mother, chose a charcoal outfit accented with red and white striped collar and cuffs. Rochelle Ruland wore a pink linen ensemble and was escorted by her dashing young brother, Ricky.

Farewell to Lucille and Dick Kerr who have sold their home and are moving to California. Also understand that Joanne and Al Clare are building a new home off Bradnor road between Five and Six Mile. Sure hate to see both of these families leave; they have taken real pride in their homes and yards and have been wonderful neighbors.

Hail to Dot and Don McGill and their four children who purchased a home next door on corner of Garling Drive. Our shattered windshield is proof that their son is a typical boy and off to a flying start. Don's comment: "Didn't think it would happen so soon."

We are most anxious to find out more about the "Plymouth Petunia Project". To most of us it seems like a wonderful idea and we here in our subdivision are going to do our best to help with it. Plymouth is a pretty town now, but just think how attractive it would be with petunias everywhere. Called Jack Wilcox at the Chamber of Commerce and threw our hats in the ring to help. We may even promote a contest among our neighbors here and have Chamber or the mayor to act as judge.

Helen Lake of Garling drive was guest soloist for the Tre-Ore services last Friday at the Northland shopping center auditorium. Sorry I wasn't able to go because Helen has a beautiful contralto voice and I would have enjoyed hearing her. Ronald Upton sang with the Plymouth high school choir for Tre-Ore services held at Riviera Theatre in Detroit.

The Circle card club wound up the season last Tuesday night with a dinner party at Lofy's.

The Parkview Circle Homeowners association will have an important business meeting tomorrow at Donna and Bob Sasals', at 235 Garling drive. Please try to come to the business meeting as well as the coffee hour. Our motto could well be "Strive and Thrive" but we need you to keep striving and thriving.

Jewelled Stollen Adds Colorful Touch to Meals

Over the weekends, Mrs. Robert Fitzner of 825 Parkview drive sometimes does baking for her neighbors, and the favorite recipe coming from her kitchen is for a Jewelled Stollen.

This exotic sounding dish is a colorful kind of bread-pastry which would make a welcome addition to the tables of most families.

- Jewelled Stollen
- 2 tablespoons shortening
  - 2 tablespoons sugar
  - 2 teaspoons salt
  - 3/4 cup scalded milk
  - 1 cake fresh yeast
  - 1/4 cup lukewarm water (use wrist test)
  - 2 eggs, well beaten
  - 1/2 cup chopped red and green maraschino cherries
  - 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
  - 3 1/2 to 4 cups sifted flour
- Combine shortening, sugar, salt and scalded milk in large mixing bowl. Cool to lukewarm (use wrist test) and add yeast which has been dissolved in the water for about five minutes. Stir in one cup of the flour and beat vigorously until smooth. Next add the eggs, cherries, nuts and rest of flour.

Mrs. Fitzner usually uses her hands to mix the dough thoroughly, but she doesn't knead it.

Cover dough with towel and allow to rise until double in bulk (about two hours).

When doubled, stir down gently to bring back to original size. Turn out on greased cookie sheet and patiently shape into crescent. Do not flour hands or grease them, even if dough is sticky. Cover with towel and let rise for about 45 minutes.

Bake in moderate oven, 350° F., for 25-35 minutes. Gently transfer to cooling rack and while still slightly warm, ice with a mixture of confectioners' sugar and milk, of an easy-spreading consistency. Decorate with colorfully dried cherry slices and chopped nuts.

Eighteen-year-old Sharlene Moers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erich Moers of 2915 Canton Center road, is honored as an outstanding teenager in the May issue of "Seventeen" magazine.

In an article saluting the "4-H in Action," Miss Moers is cited as "a good example of 4-H versatility." In six years of club work, she has won awards in such varied fields as horsemanship, carpentry, food preparation and public speaking. In February 1956 she took first in the Wayne county cherry pie baking contest and fourth in the statewide competition. She also received the 4-H scholarship and the Emma DeBord scholarship, both for Michigan State University.

A taxicab passenger, arriving at his destination, paid the fare but did not tip the driver.

"You forgot something," said the driver.

"What?" asked the passenger in honest bewilderment, slapping his pockets and peering back into the cab.

"Your bagpipes," retorted the driver.

This one kind of tickled my Scotch ancestry.

Social Security Workers Discuss Women's Benefits

Whether a woman worker or wife who is age 62 but not yet 65 files for social security benefits is a decision she must make, according to Harry Baltuck, district manager of the Detroit-Northwest Social Security Office at 18260 Grand River, Detroit 23, Michigan.

Baltuck stated that technically trained personnel in his office will gladly discuss the pros and cons of the question, but will not recommend a course of action. The decision is a personal matter the woman herself decides after she considers her particular circumstances.

Widows or a dependent mother qualifying for benefits on a deceased worker's record have no decision to make, since there is no reduction in benefits for filing at age 62. However, a woman filing for her benefits on her own work record at age 62 will get 80% of the monthly amount available for her if she waits to age 65 to claim benefits. The age 62 wife of a husband receiving benefits will get 75% of the monthly amount she can expect if she waits until she is 65. If a woman worker or the wife of a retired insured worker chooses to take benefits at a reduced amount before she reaches 65, she will continue to get the reduced amount even after she becomes 65.

Although reductions for women workers and wives who file for benefits at age 62 equal 80% and 75%, respectively, of the full benefits possible by waiting to file at age 65, this does not mean the woman filing at age 62 or 64 gets the same reduction. The amount of the reduction depends on the number of months under age 65.

The woman worker who draws benefits before she is 65 will be ahead for the first 15 years. If she receives a worker's benefit at the reduced rate for more than 15 years, the total amount will not be as large as if she had waited until age 65 for the higher benefit. A wife will be ahead for the first 12 years.

Baltuck stressed that those who want further information should contact their social security office by telephone, mail, or in person. The Northwest office telephone number is BRoadway 3-1717.

FRESH FRUIT is a compliment to any meal, and it is even more appealing when it is encircled by a ring of tender, flavorful golden cake. Here, the hollowed-out pineapple shell makes its own container for the crushed pineapple. Fresh daffodils add a touch of spring.

Unfrosted Cakes Bring Reminder Of Earlier Era

Since Liza Doolittle first conquered Broadway as the heroine of "My Fair Lady," the world has gone wildy Edwardian. Wicker furniture and Tiffany glass, long ignored in attic spaces, have recently emerged as fashionable treasures, and ornate chandeliers hung with glistening crystal are suddenly a national rage. Even the field of desserts has not escaped this turn-of-the-century influence. Certain ingredients such as caraway seeds, sesame seeds and rosewater-flavored flavoring agents for sweets in the Edwardian era—are regaining popularity in today's kitchens.

There is also a tendency to unfrosted cakes of the type which occupied a place on the best of menus half a century ago. These cakes, sweet and rich, were most frequently served with a sprinkling of confectioners' sugar.

Here is a recipe for such a dessert which needs no frosting to enhance its appetite appeal. The cake is baked in a plain ring mold. Serve it with seasonal fruits, sliced and lightly sugared, to bring out the fresh fruit flavor.

Golden Ring Cake

- 1 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 2/3 cup milk
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla or almond extract

Sift dry ingredients into the mixing bowl of an electric mixer. Add remaining ingredients and beat at medium speed for two minutes.

Turn the mixture into a greased and floured 1 1/2 quart ring mold and bake at 350° F. for 30 to 35 minutes. Turn out onto a cake rack to cool and serve sprinkled generously with confectioners' sugar.

Without a mixer, this easy-to-make cake can be made in the regular manner. Cream shortening and sugar. Add egg and beat until blended. Combine remaining ingredients and add alternately with the milk and flavoring extract.

Plant Colorful Annuals For Landscape Beauty

Some of the most attractive flowers used for home beautification are the colorful annuals. They are valued not only for their own beauty, but for the beauty they develop in the scenes in which they are a part.

Obtaining a beautiful landscape effect with flowering annuals is not merely a matter of chance, but rather is the result of appropriate selection and arrangement. Frequently, home gardeners can be helped by charts that explain times various plants and flowers are in bloom.

For Longer Rug Life

When you use a carpet sweeper or vacuum cleaner on small rugs, run the cleaner diagonally across the rug instead of lengthwise. The rug is less apt to wrinkle and get caught in the cleaner. Never shake or snap small throw rugs. The snapping action may break yarns in the backing or loosen the bindings.

New Bathing Suit Fashions Designed for Beach Flattery

Swimming weather can't be too far away now, and the newest in flattering swim suits will prepare all for "the big splash." Choices range from frilly cottons to sophisticated sheaths.

Puckered bodices give a fuller look to short, thin figures. A shirred skirt accentuates the waistline and hips. Also flattering to the thin figure are light colored cottons in prints and stripes.

For a slenderizing effect, there is the sheath style of the knitted maillot or the latex hourglass suit.

The maillot is the new all-in-one foundation in swimsuits, designed to slenderize. Built-in side boning and an inner skirt panel smooth the tummy and adjust to any torso length, giving a sleek, controlled line.

There are many different styles with this feature, such as the V-necked straight suit made of orlon elastic yarn and jersey or the pure, white acetate faille embroidered and woven with latex.

The latex hourglass suit is another way to achieve the sheath look. One of the newer styles has rhinestones studding the bodice. In stripes, prints and solids, the cotton suits are, as always, a popular favorite. Some can be worn for playsets, such as the low torso printed cotton with boy shorts and cuffed top.

One of the smartest styles for swimming is the new X-line neckline suit. The polished cotton has two ribboned belts around the waist.

For a convertible swimsuit—dance dress there's a glamorous strapless cocktail-style suit. It can be worn with a full shirred cotton skirt to match, thus turning the bathing suit into an outfit for dining and dancing.

Topping a swimsuit outfit are smart bathing caps. They vary from the highly decorated, trimmed with sequins and pearls, to the traditional plain white cap.

For the daring pace-setter in fashion, there are caps which improve hairdos with false hair. Thus, a swimmer can change her hair-style and hair color for swimming purposes. Some caps feature a rose-in-the-hair look, while others are merely colored to blend with the swimsuit.

It's a major style trend for 1957, as exemplified in this one-piece skintight swimsuit by Cole of California in flowered cotton satin pique and named "My Fair Lady."

Spring Days Spur 4-H'ers in Home, Yards Projects

In the spring a young homemaker's fancy turns to thoughts of a bright, new look for house and yard. Right now 4-H Club members here are dreaming up ways and means to transform drab, out-of-date surroundings into cheerful modern areas that are functional as well as decorative.

To help make their dreams come true are two popular 4-H programs: Beautification of Home Grounds, and Home Improvement. Members may begin with a simple project like a small flower bed, and in a few years learn enough to landscape the entire grounds. Home interiors benefit from newly acquired skills that range from making pretty sofa pillows to redecorating several rooms.

Besides the satisfaction of having accomplished something that can be enjoyed by family and friends, the boys and girls have an opportunity to compete for valuable awards when projects are completed. For outstanding accomplishment in beautification of home grounds, state winners will receive a 19-jewel wrist watch from Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen, Chicago, who has donated awards in this program for 20 years. Eight national champions will be her guests during the 4-H Club Congress next December.

State winners in home improvement will attend the Club Congress, while six national winners will each receive a $400 college scholarship. The Sears-Roebuck Foundation provides these awards. Medals of honor are awarded four outstanding club members in each county in both programs.

Information regarding enrollment may be obtained from the local 4-H Club leader or the County Extension agent.

Older Folks Should Check Diet, Exercise to Get Most from Life

How can older folks get enough of the nutrients they need for good health without gaining weight?

Easy-to-use diet patterns would be one way to help keep calorie intake low.

Researchers found that from 1/4 to 1/2 of the people are overweight, but, on the average, calorie intakes are lower than they should be. This puzzling situation might be explained by the lack of physical exercise and by the use of modern labor-saving equipment.

Calcium-low diets in older people can be corrected by increased milk drinking. Nonfat dry milk is an example of a food high in calcium and low in calories.

Vitamin C also was found to be that older people need to consider especially at low incomes. A relationship between low vitamin C intake and poor conditions in teeth and gums was disclosed.

In general, studies prove that older people need to include more milk, vitamin-rich fruits and more vegetables in their diets if they want to make their longer lives more useful and productive.

Buyers Needn't Fear Being 'Poisoned' by Aluminum Pots, Pans

Don't have qualms about using aluminum cooking utensils. Contrary to the beliefs of many, they are not bad for the health of your family, and should not be discarded for that reason, explains Dr. Denä Cederquist, head of the foods and nutrition department at Michigan State University.

She explains that aluminum is a natural constituent of ordinary water and of many foods, and is present only in traces. The aluminum that passes into a food from a cooking utensil is not thought of as foreign to natural food or to the body. In fact, some aluminum compounds are important and useful therapeutic agents.

Aluminum pots and pans are easily darkened by some foods and water, but can be polished readily with metal wool or a very fine cleansing powder. Dr. Cederquist emphasizes that the darkening of aluminum has no harmful effect on food and that aluminum has no harmful effect on health. Rubbing with ordinary household acids such as vinegar, lemon juice and cream of tartar will brighten darkened areas. Another way is to cook an acid food such as rhubarb or tomatoes in the pans.

She says not to leave salty foods or liquids standing in aluminum pans, but not because of danger of so-called "aluminum poisoning." The danger is to your pans; these foods can cause pitting of the metal.

Moist Cookery

You can't eat "pot-roast," but you can eat "pot-roast of beef." The words, pot-roast, mean a method of cookery. Pot-roasting a piece of meat is exactly the same as braising it. That is, browning the meat in fat, cooking it in a covered pan, with or without added liquid, on top of the stove or in the oven. To sum it up, braising, or pot-roasting, is a method of moist heat cookery for meat.

There will be a mother-daughter banquet and fashion show at St. Andrew's Episcopal church, 16360 Hubbard road Tuesday, May 7. Dinner will be served at 6 p.m., adults $1.50, and children 12 and under, 75 cents. Theme for the fashion show will be "Fashions for Vacations". This will be a fine opportunity to let your daughter wear her new Easter finery and get a preview of the latest summer fashions. For reservations call KE. 3-7994.

Persons wishing to join are to attend these classes. Care will be provided for children during the classes.

If the tulips at the monthly dance of the civic association looked pretty, you can thank Captain Kangeroo. Rose Gibson says that's where she learned to make them.

Tonight, May 2, is meeting night for the Women's Club. Peg Miquelon will give a demonstration on flower arranging. Hostesses will be Grace Poppenger, chairman with Marian Bourgon, Ruth Nowacki and Edith Feldman as committee. This is the last meeting before the closing dinner, so try to make it.

Civic needs volunteers for the spray collection. A volunteer is needed for each block of Rosedale Gardens, so if you want to do your duty, please call Art Larson, GA. 1-3126. The price will be $10 per house, with four sprays during the summer. The sooner the money is in, the sooner the spraying can start and the sooner that nasty little bug can be kayced for another season. The blood you save may be your own.

The Danas of Vermont not only dolled up the kids for Easter, they dolled up their sunroom, also, with all new furniture. It all came knocked down in boxes, and Betty spent the better part of an afternoon wielding a screwdriver, but the total effect was worth it.

Well, here we are at the end of the line again, and I sure could write a better column if you'd dial me of your doings. When you read this on Thursdays, remember I'm collecting news for next week; and call, call, call.

How Conservative?

(From the Christian Science Monitor)

There is some evidence that the United States is entering a period of moderate conservatism—in finance, in politics, in the arts. This is a natural development, but a development which should not be misread.

Throughout history, societies and their individual members have paused after periods of great inventiveness, breakaway progress, and occasionally wasteful experiment to consolidate gains and discard mistakes.

But there is a danger that this broad and moderate conservative trend in the country may be misconstrued as support for a minority of ultraconservatives who are busy not at conserving gains and discarding mistakes but at trying to repeal the progress of the last generation.

This tendency to mistakenly credit the ultraconservatives with strength that is merely part of a completely different conservative trend is especially strong in the field of politics. Current moves to cut the budget are an example. Ultraconservatives are seeking to give the impression that they are leaders of a gigantic slashing campaign, while actually they are simply attaching themselves to a disorganized but essentially sound and cautious movement to make economics where it is wise to do so.

It is completely illogical to believe that the great tide of moderate voters who swept President Eisenhower and a preponderance of middle-of-the-road Republicans and Democrats into office just six months ago has changed its course. And it is certainly not reasonable for those moderate voters to feel that the ground has suddenly been cut from under them.

A look at the unusually large number of ultraconservatives who must stand for reelection next year shows one of the principal reasons for the sudden surge of antimoderate activity throughout the country. This is, so to speak, the ultraconservatives' half of the inning. They are at bat, and noisily so.

It would be well for the moderate voters, whose overwhelming mandate is now being exercised in Washington, to remember this distinction. They should certainly not forget the score they ran up in the last inning. Nor should they allow themselves to become confused about how conservative the present period really is.

The Columbia River was discovered in 1792.

"Life Begins at Forty"

By ROBERT PETERSON

BACK IN THE EARLY THIRTIES a fellow named Walter Pitkin unleashed a roaring best-seller whose title this column is proud to bear. Mr. Pitkin's book is generally credited with jarring us loose from the resentments and fear of growing old that had beset people for centuries. Our minds were opened to a new point of view that says in essence, "The years ahead are the best ones!"

It's like a breath of April to reread Mr. Pitkin's views on reaching forty as expressed in the first paragraph of his book: "You who are crossing forty may not know it, but you are the luckiest generation ever . . . Every day brings forth some new thing that adds to the joy of life after forty. Work becomes easy and brief. Play grows richer and longer. Leisure lengthens. . ."

Mr. Pitkin puts youth in its place by saying bluntly that the average youngster "never knows anything, ever has a clear thought on any important subject, ever attains an important skill except perhaps in music, ever gains full control of wild emotions, ever converses interestingly, or ever does anything in the way of living as a mature person."

He contends that the greatest assets of youth are fire, energy, passion, and intense feeling. Wherever these traits improve the quality or the amount of work, youth has the advantage. But he points out that youth is handicapped in every high endeavor that demands experience, seasoned judgment, caution, and patience.

Although maturity offers countless satisfactions it is Mr. Pitkin's opinion that many of us never get around to sampling but a handful of these. We tend to keep our noses too close to the occupational grindstone, and we become so fascinated with the prospect of making money, whether by building barges or selling soda pop, that we never get around to sampling the myriad pleasures beyond the ken of our careers. Hard work is commendable, he points out, but after you pass forty it's a tragic mistake to let work dominate your life to such an extent that you never get acquainted with the joys of leisurely living.

Lures for Savings Never More Enticing

BY HARRY C. FRANCE

The lures for savings have never been more attractive than now. The institutions in America that welcome the deposits of the thrifty are going all out to win the attention of those who should save systematically. Today savings banks' advertising carries more punch than ever.

What is behind all this? Well, for one thing a rapidly growing and dynamic country like the United States needs billions of dollars of capital every year. And the best way in which to finance growth and expansion is to have millions of people save money, pay them an interesting rate of interest and direct these dollars into constructive channels.

Commercial bank borrowing to finance capital needs is often inflationary. That is why recent action of the Federal Reserve Board in Washington increasing the rediscount rate was invoked. A million-dollar commercial bank credit to finance a short-term, self-liquidating loan usually does not promote inflation. The savings of the people best finance construction and betterment programs.

During the decade 1941-1951 the habit of saving had a bad time. Prices and costs were steadily rising and interest on money was on the bottom. For example, New York City savings banks paid 1½ per cent annually on interest accounts from January, 1941, to January, 1950.

It was a discouraging time for savers. And many of them, seriously faced with larger living expenses, forgot thrift and saving and speculated in stocks and commodities.

Today all persons who still think that thrift and savings are economic virtues can rejoice because the wages of money are twice what they were seven years ago. Make no mistake about it: Individual thrift and saving can be the social and financial foundation of millions of people.

The newsboy who delivered morning papers to my apartment door for seven years is now an honor student at a prominent university. He is a Phi Beta Kappa. One of eight children, he was reared in a home where dollars were scarce, and early in his teens he got a job selling newspapers mornings before he attended school.

He saved his money and put it in a savings bank. The spirit of thrift, industry and saving that he learned during those formative years will carry him through life.

1957 is a year when parents can encourage children to earn money and to save it. Interest rates are challenging. A young boy who earns and saves $100 by doing reasonable tasks will be building something enduring into his personality.

Tourists Stalked

An aggressive policy of stimulating Michigan's tourist business will get underway July 1.

The new program, an active plan of "going to the people," will replace the present system of state operated information offices in Detroit and Chicago, says Robert J. Furlong, of the Michigan Tourist Council.

"Vacation salesmen" are key figures in the program. Plans call for hiring two men to actively sell the idea of Michigan vacations. Members of industry, labor groups, transportation and travel agencies, and all others who can enjoy or sell the state's tourist advantages are prime prospects.

The new approach will not cost Michigan taxpayers additional money. Funds saved from the closing of the Detroit and Chicago offices will cover costs of the new plan.

"Instead of waiting for potential tourists to come to us, we will go to them," Furlong commented. "Experience has shown that the Chicago and Detroit offices don't reach all the people we consider as prospects. Because of many limitations of our present operation, many persons who take yearly vacations never hear about the advantages of a Michigan outing.

"For example the large number of steel and gas company workers around Gary, Ind., are not exposed to our sales ideas. But their unions or personnel offices have vacation committees that recommend and prepare plans for members. With our proposed system we can go directly to these people and add many new prospects.

The "personal touch" is expected to play an important role in the program. In addition to going out to the potential tourist, the new vacation salesmen will contact radio and TV stations and resort editors throughout the state promoting the use of Michigan films and material on statewide tourist travel. Department stores with trip planning facilities and travel agencies will also receive individual visits.

Color comes to the voting booth. Ballots of many colors will adorn Michigan polls next year if final approval is given a election code.

Ballots will be printed in a different color for each type of election. The house-approved color system lists white ballots for partisan races; blue for non-partisan candidates; red ones for Constitutional amendments and other state-wide issues; green for country propositions; buff ballots for local propositions.

Purpose of the varied colors is to provide uniformity and make the ballots easier to count, says Rep. Clarence Meggison (R-Charlevoix).

Retraining of jobless workers is the brightest hope for easing Michigan's unemployment situation, says Director Max Horton of the State Employment Security Commission.

Some 45 per cent of the state's jobless have only an elementary education, Horton told a House Labor Committee. Studies show that approximately three-fourths have not completed high school.

Bills proposing a vocational training program and a counseling service recommended by Horton are under consideration by the Legislature.

The money to finance these programs, $550,000, would come from funds the federal government collected in taxes from Michigan for unemployment compensation. This money, far in excess of actual administrative costs, is being returned to the state.

Back from Belgium former ambassador Fred M. Alger Jr. indicates he is still interested in Michigan politics and the Republican party.

Alger left the state political scene in 1953 when he received an appointment to the Brussels post by President Eisenhower. Before that he served as Michigan's Secretary of State for six years and was defeated in 1952 in his bid for the governor's chair.

Alger barely unlocked the door to his Grosse Pointe home before friends began pointing to the man, the name and the possibility that he would be a GOP candidate to oppose Senator Pat McNamara in 1960.

Actual construction of the Mackinac bridge was resumed last week after a winter of preparation.

First order of business will be to link the peninsulas with the two continuous truss spans that will eventually support the 48-foot roadway from the shore to the cable towers that will hold the suspension part of the bridge.

Summer visitors will see the five-mile bridge completely spanning the water between St. Ignace and Mackinac City.

The mistake of Mike Regan

Patrolman Michael Regan sees his friend, Harry Sharp, getting into a parked car and taps him on the shoulder. "What did I do?" asks Harry. "I think maybe you stole this new Ford," Mike grins—"don't you always drive a medium-priced car?" "I bought this Ford Fairlane 500," Harry replies, "and it's the BEST car I ever bought. I got this big, good-looking automobile, plus automatic transmission, radio, heater, whitewalls, two-tone—the works—for lots less than I'd have paid for a stripped-down medium-priced car." "Sure and you're not as dumb as you look—I'll have to let you go," says Mike. "You'll get a Ford Fairlane 500, too, unless you're as dumb as you look," Harry tells him. All kidding aside, a Ford with all the Luxury extras is really the steal of the year!

DON'T FORGET!

If price is your number one consideration, your Ford Dealer can still deliver a new '57 Ford for less than any full-size car in America

FORD is the lowest priced* of the low-price three
