

All Cemetery Rates Increased

In an attempt to bring the Plymouth Riverside Cemetery fund "out of the red", city commissioners approved a resolution Monday night to hike the price of burial lots and the cost of interments.

The cost of lots and interments has gone up from one and a half to twice the former amount. The increase was effective immediately.

Last year's fiscal audit report showed that the cemetery ended up with a deficit of $1,854, in spite of $2,000 of tax money allocated from the city budget. The Board of Cemetery Trustees, in a report to the commission, pointed out that "it is imperative that the operating costs for interments be reviewed and that lot prices be compared with other cemeteries."

Planning and Engineering Supervisor S. L. Besse conducted the comparison with area cemeteries and found that with the exception of Ann Arbor, there were none with lower rates.

Surveyed were 10 cemeteries in Detroit and surrounding area. Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, and Wayne. The average interment rate for an adult in these cemeteries is $88.19. In Riverside it was $51.50. This has now been raised to $80.

Mausoleum rentals in other cemeteries average $21.25 monthly. Plymouth's has been raised from $15 monthly to $20.

The average three-grave lot in the other cemeteries surveyed ranges from $277 to $355 (price in most cemeteries depends upon location of the lot). Riverside has now raised its three-grave lot from a range of $165 to $220 to a price of $300.

Prior to Monday night, $30 of each lot sold was set aside from the price of every three-grave lot for perpetual care. This money was deposited with the Detroit Wabek Bank and Trust Company with interest used to pay for the perpetual care. This interest now amounts to $3.84 for each lot, an amount which cemetery trustees felt was not enough to pay for the care of each lot.

Trustees recommended that $100 be put in the fund for each lot, but this will require a change in the city ordinance. Until this is done, the remaining $70 will be used for cemetery improvement.

Increased charges and prices will yield about $2,400 more in increased burial fees and about $3,000 more in lot sales each year, it is estimated.

Livonia Youth Fined for Attack

Gary Bates, 18, of Livonia pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery against a Plymouth youth and was sentenced by Justice Leo A. Nye of Livonia to pay a $25 fine, $10 costs, the medical bills and a week's lost wages of his victim. He also was placed on six months probation.

Robert A. Paulger of Plymouth was the victim of a knife wound incurred following a teen-age argument and scuffle at 12:45 a.m. on April 26. No serious injury was involved.

Paulger said he was unaware Bates had a knife until after he had been stabbed.

License Plate Buyer Sought by Local Office

A truck owner who has 1957 Michigan license plates but whose vehicle isn't officially registered is being sought by the local secretary of state's office.

Mrs. Doris Root, manager of the license bureau, said that on March 8 a license plate with the number 8297, CH was issued but that all papers were inadvertently given to the vehicle owner. The secretary of state's office has no record of the vehicle owner's name, address or the vehicle's motor number.

The person being issued the set of plates is being asked to report to the office on Liberty street to complete the registration.

Leveled on Friday

IN THREE DAYS last week, the old unit of the Plymouth Library was leveled. The old structure was built around 94 years ago by the grandfather of W. B. Roe, 624 Dodge. A $116,000 colonial building will be constructed in its place. Meanwhile, all library activities are confined to the rear unit. Mrs. Agnes Pauline, librarian, notes that they have managed to squeeze most of the often-used books into the one-room unit, "but we haven't much room for people".

Survey of City Water Asked Before Extensions Considered

A vital decision that must be made by the city commission concerning the furnishing of water to Plymouth township consumers will be delayed a month or more due to a decision by the commission Monday night to first obtain a complete survey of the city's supply.

A request had been received last month by the Fred Garling Construction Company to furnish water to a proposed subdivision located east of the city limits. The company offered to pay all costs.

Last year the commission agreed to furnish water to township consumers where there are mains running past the lots. Garling's request would require a revision of this policy.

Commissioner Carl Shear requested that the city hire qualified engineers to make a complete survey that would tell how much the water table has fallen in the past 10 years, how much it may fall in the next 10 years, a survey of present use as compared with past use and how much more the city can use in years ahead.

Fellow commissioners concurred with the suggestion and voted to have a survey made. A Garling representative, wanting to know how long such a survey would take, was given an estimate of at least a month.

City Fence Law Has Introduction

City commissioners gave first reading Monday night to seven ordinances—one pertaining to fences being entirely new and the other six being revisions of old ordinances. The seven proposed ordinances were read "by title only" and will be read in their entirety and discussed at future meetings. Besides the fence ordinance, first readings were given to ordinances:

1. To regulate and license various forms of amusement or entertainment;
2. to amend the milk ordinance;
3. to provide for the destruction of noxious weeds;
4. to provide for the removal of snow, ice, dirt or debris from sidewalks;
5. to regulate the installation of water mains, connections, meters, etc.;
6. to regulate installation of public and private drains and sewers, etc.

New Fire Engine Expected in Fall

Purchase of an American LaFrance fire engine for $19,700 was approved by city commissioners Monday night with delivery promised by October.

The LaFrance bid was the highest of three submitted, but Fire Chief Robert McAllister declared in a report that the other two did not meet specifications. They were from the Howe Fire Apparatus Company, with bids of $19,531 and $18,571, and the Seagrave Corporation, bidding $19,200 and $19,000 (alternate equipment).

The report said that it would cost at least $600 to bring the Seagrave up to specifications and that this would not compensate for the many advantages of the LaFrance. The city's newest truck is a 1954 LaFrance which McAllister reported would have interchangeable fittings with a new LaFrance and that the men are thoroughly acquainted with the working and maintenance of the LaFrance.

City voters approved a one-mill, one-year levy April 1 to provide funds for the purchase of the engine. It will be constructed at the LaFrance plant in Elmira, N.Y.

Planning Board Vacancy Filled

Claude Rocker, 8851 Morrison, was appointed by the Plymouth Township board last week to fill an unexpected term on the planning commission.

He will replace C. V. Sparks who resigned due to his election last month to the township board. The term will expire in June 1958.

In other township news, only 51 dog licenses were issued last Saturday in the first of two dog clinics. Clerk Rosalind Broome said that there were 750 tags issued during the past year and so far only 130 licenses have been issued. The deadline for obtaining the new licenses is June 1.

The final dog clinic will be held this Saturday at the township hall from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. Rabies vaccinations, required before licenses are issued, are given at the clinic.

FENCE ORDINANCE

Plymouth has had only a commission resolution regarding fences in years past, a document that carries no power to enforce. This ordinance, if adopted, would provide fines up to $100 or up to 90 days in jail if violated.

In residential areas, a new fence would require a building permit free of $3 upon written application, which will contain information needed by the building inspector to determine if the fence violates the ordinance. The residential fence must be at least two feet in the ground, not more than four feet above the ground, cannot extend beyond the established building, not closer to a sidewalk than one foot, and must be set on private property unless adjoining owners apply for the permit together.

There are also regulations covering fences for business and industrial properties which allow higher fences.

The building inspector may require a survey to establish lot lines. Those wishing to build a fence other than allowed by the ordinance can appeal to the Zoning Board of Appeals. The ordinance would not pertain to existing fences.

AMUSEMENT ORDINANCE The ordinance was originally adopted in 1906 when Plymouth was a village. One of the major additions is a deposit of $200 for circuses, carnivals or menageries to ensure proper clean-up of the grounds. Licenses for circuses (Continued on Page 8)

City Sets Three Dog Clinic Dates in May

In order to again make it easier for dog owners to have their canine friends vaccinated against rabies and to obtain new license tags at the same time, the city has set up three clinic dates this month.

They are Saturday, May 18, Friday, May 24 and Saturday, May 25 at rear of the city hall. Hours are from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m.

There are now 666 dogs licensed in the city. They will have until June 1 to obtain the new tags. The combination license fee and rabies shot will be $4 for all dogs.

Concert Offers Listening, Dancing, Snacking

An opportunity to combine dancing, chatting, snacking and listening to a symphony play light musical selections will be taken by hundreds of Plymouthites and their guests this Saturday night as the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra holds its pops concert at the high school.

Conductor Wayne Dunlap announced the symphony program Wednesday—a program that will range from the semi-classical to show tunes.

The symphony portion of the evening will start at 8:30 p.m. in the gymnasium. After the pops concert, the audience will stay on for a pleasant evening of dancing to the music of Joe Skrczynski's swing orchestra. Throughout the concert and dance, seating will be provided at gay, red-checked tables.

Snacks and beverages will be sold and served at the tables by a Plymouth youth group for the benefit of the orchestra operating fund. The party atmosphere will be heightened by colored lighting effects. "The informal arrangements, refreshments, dancing and the popular symphonic music with talented artists will assure a wonderful evening for all," the conductor declared.

Three widely-known Plymouth artists will appear on the symphony program. Evelyn Woods, Joanne Hulce, soprano with a record of accomplishment in opera and concert in Chicago, as well as soloist for Phil Spitalny's All-Girl orchestra, will sing "One Kiss".

Nat Sibbold, baritone, who has made many church and public appearances in Plymouth since his world tour as singer for "Skating Rink" and "The Torreador Song" from Carmen. The two vocalists will also do two duets.

Tickets for the affair are available at Carl Caplin's, Beyer Drug stores, Cassidy's, from members

$483,100 Budget Approved for City

After wading through the 1957-58 proposed budget for many hours at special committee-of-the-whole meetings, city commissioners spent only two minutes Monday night to approve the document calling for $483,100 in expenditures during the coming fiscal year.

Although the cost of operating most of the city departments will go up in the next fiscal year, the approved budget is some $43,000 less than the current one. The big difference comes in a large "reserve for contingencies" fund that carried special assessment monies during the current year, not included in the new budget.

The city will operate on 16.5 mills during the coming fiscal year which begins July 1. This is one mill higher than the current year. This one mill was voted at the April 1 election and will be used entirely for the purchase of a fire engine.

The breakdown of the various funds, and the amount it is over or under the current budget is as follows: General government, $80,215, up $11,730; buildings and structures, $11,840, up $100; public works, $129,050, down $530; public safety (police, fire departments), $164,802, up $23,147; health and welfare $12,250, up $3,300.

Parks and recreation, $22,975, up $4,125; debt retirement, $15,513, up $656; sanitary sewer fund contribution, $14,000, no change; retirement, city share, $14,700, up $700; city defense, $1000, no change; appeal board, $100, no change; unappropriated reserve, $16,654, down $7,213.

The city's revenue will come from four main sources: $185,830 from non-tax revenues; $270,474 from property and personal taxes; $8,932 from bond retirement millage; and $17,864 for a mill spread for one year only for acquisition of a fire engine.

Nearly 40 pieces of business were before the commission Monday night, but only two hours were needed to complete the meeting. Items not covered separately in other stories include a 20-minute debate on the placing of "no parking" signs for six car spaces on the west side of Adams street near the school.

Police Chief Kenneth Fisher asked that the signs which have been up 30 days now be made permanent. Commissioner Richard Wernette, supported by Commissioner Carl Shear, argued that for the sake of homeowners who live where signs are located, that "no parking or standing" should be enforced only between 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Mondays through Fridays.

Chief Fisher held that traffic on weekends and evenings would also warrant a parking restriction and he was supported by several commissioners. But Wernette's suggestion, placed into a motion, was approved 4-3.

The Garden Club's project to promote petunia planting in Plymouth received the blessing of the commission, but there is one legal hitch. Where merchants plan to have windowboxes that (Continued on Page 8)

King Furniture Going Out of Business Soon

King Furniture, 595 Forest avenue, announced this week that the firm will go out of business after two and a half years in Plymouth.

Manager Frank Walsh said that the decision to close the store is based on the lack of business.

The store will be closed Monday through Wednesday of next week in preparation for a closing-out sale.

This is the second major store to announce its closing here within the past month. Seyfried Jewelers is closing due to the ill health of its owner.

Judge Perlongo Suffers Attack

First reported in serious condition, Municipal Judge Nandino Perlongo, victim of a sudden heart attack Monday evening in his home at 523 McKinley, is now said to be out of danger.

The 48-year-old attorney who has served as Plymouth's municipal judge since 1949, was taken to St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor. It is undetermined how long he will be in the hospital.

Perlongo's law office is located at 1013 S. Main.

Cousins Win Two Top School Offices

After what has been termed an "exhausting" week of electioneering at the high school, new officers for all-school and class positions were decided at the polls Tuesday.

Al Spigarelli will be the new mayor of the high school, assisted by vice-mayor Janet Spigarelli, his cousin. Other all-school officers are Mary Jane West, secretary, and dent council. A solution to the tie will be decided by the 11th grade nominating board, in conjunction with election board chairman, Joan Salon. Anne Dennany, treasurer. Eleventh grade students who will lead their class next year will be Bill Hubert, president; Gae Ponto, vice president; Mary Lee Haug, secretary; Mary Harper, treasurer; and Don Alsbro, Jim Bothard and Jim Dzurus, student council. There was a tie between Arlene Kubick and Geraldine Love for the fourth seat on student council. Tenth grade winners are Joy Kalmbach, president; Ray Tische, vice president; Carole North, secretary; Kathy Yakley, treasurer; and Dick Small, Mariann Palmer, Hale Huber and Betty Argo, student council. Taking top positions in the ninth grade class were Jay Selle, president; James Herter, vice president; Marvis Williams, secretary; Richard Hubert, treasurer and Mike Porter, Randy Egluff, Peggy Davidson and Maureen Hanson, student council. Eighth graders who will lead next year's ninth grade class are Gary Van Valkenburg, president; Steve Hayskar, vice president; Martha West, secretary; Barb Cooper, treasurer; and Ralph Spigarelli, Arthur Nelson, Richard Alsbro and Roger Warner, student council.

An interesting sidelight to the election is the high school political success of the Spigarelli candidates. Al and Ralph, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spigarelli of Beck road, were successful on the 12th and ninth grade levels. Last year, Al held down the position of vice mayor of the school, which has been taken over by his cousin, Janet Spigarelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Spigarelli, also of Beck road. Al's brother, Ray, was mayor last year.

Other successful cousins are all-school secretary Mary Jane West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl West of Ball road, and newly-elected eighth grade secretary, Martha Jane West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe West of Church street. Richard and Dick Alsbro, sons of Mrs. Alice Alsbro of Penniman, both won seats on the student council.

MEMBERS OF the Northville Commandry No. 39 of Knights Templar held their annual Sunday service at First Presbyterian church in Plymouth on April 28. They are shown marching to the service up Church street. There were 90 Knights, including guests from the Hillsdale, Adrian, Ann Arbor, Monroe and Ypsilanti commandries. A dinner was served at 1 p.m. in Northville.

YOUNG SEAMSTRESSES who took part in a style show put on by girls in high school homemaking classes are Betty Argo, commentator; Mrs. Janet Golmant, teacher who portrayed a high school counselor; and Sue Overmeyer. Miss Argo and Miss Overmeyer are wearing self-made clothes which they wore in the style show.

Plymouth High School Girls Don Self-Made Clothes in Style Show

Plymouth girls in the high school clothing department modeled self-made garments before parents and 11th and 12th grade girls in a style show Tuesday, May 7.

Theme of the show centered around college life at "Plymouth University." The show opened as Mrs. Janet Golmant and Mrs. Chrystena Soule, homemaking teachers, portray high school counselors discussing college life with Betty Argo and Peggy Davidson, commentators for the show.

Several scenes followed in a typical women's dormitory room and in a college snackbar, as girls wearing clothes made in the six homemaking classes discussed enrolling in college, class experiences, college clubs, social activities and rules and regulations.

For the finale, all came on stage to attend a dormitory housemeeting, then walked off-stage and into the audience.

Pianist for the show was Berva Adams.

During intermission of the two-act show, high school teachers Florence Walker, Mrs. Myra Ebling, Betty Stevens, Joan Petro and Mrs. Geraldine Hopkins modeled college costumes through the years.

Records were used as background music except during the finale.

Plans for Parade Get Underway

Plans for the annual 1957 Memorial Day Parade and program, to be conducted in Plymouth Thursday, May 30, are well underway, states Grand Marshal Ernest Koi, commander of the Passage-Gayde post of the American Legion, this year's sponsoring organization.

John Schwartz, commander of the VFW and aide to the marshal, extends a cordial invitation to all veteran-affiliated organizations, such as Gold Star Mothers, G.A.R. widows, D.A.R., Spanish-American widows and others, to participate in this year's parade.

Any group wishing to take part is to contact either Koi or Schwartz by May 15 in order to facilitate arrangements for inclusion on the program.

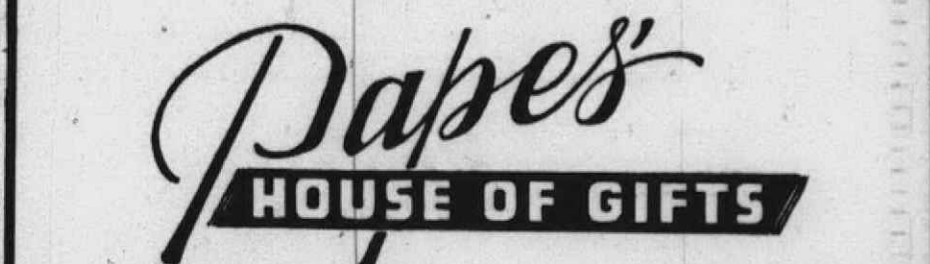

A family dinner was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. O. Hitt on Sheridan avenue Wednesday evening of last week honoring their son, Odene Hitt of Westport, Conn., who was enroute to Chicago, Ill. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jayson Day and son, Tommy, of East Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Monte Hines and children of Garden City.

Decorating IDEAS

DON'T SEPARATE ADJOINING ROOMS . . .

. . . by using contrasting colors on walls and floors — and a different style of furniture in each room . . . especially if the opening between the rooms is wide. This is likely to produce a choppy effect, destroy all sense of coordination and make a small home appear much smaller than it really is.

We have chosen every piece of furniture in our store for its solid worth and enduring beauty. We cordially invite you to come in and get acquainted with our friendly staff and let them help you make satisfactory selections. Our welcome mat is always out.

RELATE NEARBY ROOMS

First: by matching or blending the background colors so that the division between the rooms does not seem abrupt. Then, by choosing furniture pieces for one room that repeats the style of the other to preserve a sense of unity. Matching wall-to-wall carpeting in adjoining rooms adds a feeling of spaciousness.

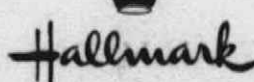

Floor coverings are one of the home's most important furnishings. They should be chosen with the utmost care. Our new selections of broadlooms, hooked rugs and carpeting offer you a wide variety of color and weaves. Challenging prices start at only $6.95 sq. yd.

Memories Relived As Report Card Day Rolls Around

This reporter had the delightful experience of reliving school-day memories, last Friday, May 3. It was report card day at St. Michael's school and a real treat to watch and listen as each child emerged from the school. There were faces with smiles and frowns, and reactions of both dejection and elation. Some spoke of straight A's in boastful tones, and others regarded their marks with utter despair. It was, all together, a heart-warming experience.

Mrs. Anthony Kreger of Gray avenue and Mrs. James Greenwood of Newburg road, attended a wedding in Rockwood, Mich., Saturday, May 4.

Mrs. Enid Stannitz of the Stannitz school of dance on Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia, is teaching Hawaiian dancing to adults every Tuesday evening at the Y.W.C.A. on Woodward and Davidson in Detroit.

Ed Howden of Joy road has returned after spending the past weekend in the northern part of Michigan on business.

The first casualty of the baseball season occurred Monday, April 29, during a practice session of the St. Michael's baseball team. David LaPointe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil LaPointe of Joy road, was struck in the eye with a ball. His eye was cut to the extent of having to have 10 stitches. David was wearing his glasses at the time. Thanks to some alert thinking on the part of the adult supervision, the situation was handled confidentially, and, outside of having a scar, Dave's eye will not be impaired as far as vision is concerned.

After attending a bowling tournament at the Chene and Trombley alleys in Detroit, Saturday, May 4, Mr. and Mrs. James Greenwood of Newburg road, Mr. and Mrs. D. Bidwell of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. T. Tallmadge also of Plymouth, had a late supper in a downtown restaurant in Detroit.

Monday, May 13, the Men's club

Mrs. Emil LaPointe

of the Newburg Methodist church is having their regular monthly supper and meeting. The supper will be served at 6:30 p.m. by the Rhoda circle of the church. As their special guest, the men have invited, Lawrence A. Conrey, instructor at the University of Michigan School of Education. All men are to make reservations early for this evening of fun and fellowship.

Members of the Newburg Methodist church adult choir and the organist and director, Mrs. Paul Nixon, have been most grateful for favors and gifts received during the past Easter season. Thanks are in order to the Fidelis Class and the Women's Society of Christian Service for giving the choir five new robes. Tait's Cleaners of Plymouth were most generous in that they cleaned all the robes in time for the presentation of the Easter-tide Cantata. The group has also acquired some new members: Mrs. Anthony Kreger, Jean Murphy, Gordon Pait and Bob Lorraine.

Mrs. Emil LaPointe and children Bruce, David, Mark and Nan of Joy road spent Sunday, May 5, visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Simon in Utica, Mich. The Simons are former residents of the Newburg area.

The Newburg Methodist church is having its annual Mother and Daughter banquet Friday, May 10. I wish I could say that tickets are still available but, all 250 have been sold. Mrs. Theron Pauline of Plymouth will be guest for the evening. Home talent will provide a portion of the program. The men of the church will do the serving for the evening.

A 21st birthday celebration to honor Gale Trost of Northville was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Trost, Sr., on Ann Arbor trail, Sunday, May 5. Guests present for dinner and the day were: Mrs. Gale Trost and daughter, Becky, of Northville, Judy VanWagner of Plymouth and the other Trost children, Wendell, Jerry, Karen and Kathy.

The Fidelis class of the Newburg Methodist church Sunday school will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Donald Ryder on Ann Arbor Trail at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, May 11, for the monthly pot-luck supper and meeting.

The Triangle Riding Academy of Northville had a hay ride Saturday, May 4. Kathleen Gennis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gennis of Joy road, attended, taking as her guest, Sandra Simon and Janet Hocking. After the ride the young people returned to the academy for dancing and refreshments.

High School Girl Gets U-M Award

Receiving a Regents-Alumni scholarship to the University of Michigan is Ruth Ann Cadogan of 39740 Cherry Hill road, Wayne, a senior at Plymouth high school.

Miss Cadogan plans to enter the College of Literature, Science and the Arts.

Seniors at Bentley high school who received the scholarships are Richard Weston Nobel, 14645 Flamingo, Livonia, and Mary Lou Thacker, 15617 Shadyside, Livonia, both entering the literary college, and David Gerald Pietila, 9167 Gillman, Livonia, who will enter the College of Engineering.

Scholarships were awarded to 465 graduating seniors in Michigan high schools.

They carry a stipend equivalent to semester fees for the freshman year and are renewable for the normal length of the degree program in which the student enrolls, provided his academic record justifies renewal. Winners were selected from 1,455 applicants representing nearly 300 high schools.

Awards are made by the University scholarships committee with the assistance and advice of University alumni and high school principals and teachers in communities where the applicants reside.

Special emphasis is placed on character, citizenship, academic records, financial need and scores made on a competitive test taken by all applicants.

by Carl Peterson

I see where the government expects about 40 million folks to move this year in the U.S. Well, we're jumping around like crickets on a hot hearth . . . but we still have room to spread out.

Once in a while some calamity howler claims the country is getting overpopulated . . . that we're crowding up in cities and soon we won't have land enough to feed all the customers. He may even add that the early pioneers used up all the opportunities the country had to offer.

Well, the Dept. of Agriculture says this is as wrong as a U-turn in a tunnel. Actually, three out of five Americans live on less than 1% of the land, and almost one-third of the nation is forest land. So there's still plenty of room . . . and opportunities didn't end with 49'ers. We're only beginning.

An Ohio mother of 17 children, who got herself in trouble with the law and had to spend a night in jail, said she got the best night's sleep in 20 years. Sounds reasonable . . . but we can think of a nicer sort of rest for Mom on Mother's Day. We suggest you take her out to dinner on May 12 . . . and we further suggest you stop in now and select the perfect gift for that perfect gal. Don't forget Mother-in-law, either . . . (and don't say we didn't warn you!)

Plymouthite Jan E. Ponto, a freshman at Eastern Michigan College, Ypsilanti, was among the 465 students cited for superior scholarship at the school's ninth annual Honors Convocation.

Miss Ponto compiled a scholastic record of over 3.75, out of a possible 4 honor points.

MORE LIVING SPACE

One of the simplest ways for the homeowner to add year-round living space to his home is to enclose a back or side porch. The cost is much less than would be involved in complete new construction. Present porch posts often may be used as part of the framing and the electrical wiring may be already in place too.

Parkview Circle News Third 'Ham Party' Finds Residents Discussing Progress in Subdivision

In spite of the nippy weather we gathered on patio at Lee and Jack Rudlands last Wednesday night for their third annual "ham party." Pots of scalding coffee, baked beans, potato salad and delicious hunk of ham were devoured by frozen neighbors who look forward to the affair every year. The chattering icicles around the fire were Dorothy and Lloyd Curok, Betty and Jim Parks, Doris and Jim Sponseller, Helen and Walt Lake, Dot and Bud Wilson, Joyce and Al Trux, Lorraine and Joe Quinan, Donna and Bob Sasal, Dot and Don McGill and we'uns.

True to form, the men automatically formed their own group at one end of the patio and women took over the other end. Seems to be the nature of us humans; there's no use fighting it.

Quite naturally the women discussed formulas, nose drops, washing diapers and cute antics of their offspring. The Quinlans had just returned from visiting their son, Kevin, at Mount Carmel hospital. They hope to bring him home Saturday. Betty Parks said her little Jimmy is getting along fine since his two weeks at Mount Carmel. Doris Sponseller was relieved that her Ellen doesn't have chicken pox after all.

Helen and Walt Lake of Garling drive drove to Mansfield last weekend to get their children, Marilyn and Jimmy, who had spent the week there with paternal grandparents.

Gradually I noticed that the School Community Planning Group Elects Officers

John J. DeMott, 1482 Sheridan, was elected chairman of the School Community Planning Group at the final meeting of the school year held last week at Allen school. He succeeds Dr. Frederick Foust.

Elected as the new secretary was Mrs. George Conover, 219 Blunk, who will take the place of Mrs. William Lyons.

Final reports were given by several committee chairmen, including one by Mrs. Conover, chairman of the exceptional child committee. Her committee recommended more facilities for the gifted and retarded children, the addition of another school nurse and the hiring of a psychologist in cooperation with neighboring schools.

Her report was accepted and was recommended to the school board for consideration.

Willis McCabe, chairman of the School Personnel Policies Committee, said that the committee progress report on merit compensation for teachers will be given to the school board at the end of June. Business Manager Melvin Blunk stressed the importance of the June 10 election and pointed out that although the proposal concerning millage will indicate an increase in taxes, there will be no actual increase since other millage will be dropped.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sawyer are vacationing in Florida. Their daughter, Sally, and Susan Huling spent the spring vacation with them, going and returning by plane.

entire group was centering their attention on one common topic of conversation: how much has been accomplished in the three and a half years that our subdivision has been in existence. From pits of dirt, roof-high, and weeds, chin-high, we've come a long way. As I listened, I could feel the pride in each voice as they spoke about a packet of seeds sprouting, a tree leafing out, a new rose bush, a new fence, a new patio. The gals threw roses at the men for doing jobs which they had never believed possible. All men aren't born painters or carpenters nor do they all have green thumbs, but they try anything and find they do a pretty good job. Lawns and shrubs are shaping up slowly but surely, and each home is beginning to take on its own individual personality.

Jean and Jack Scott held "open house" last Friday night for the cast of "Ove 21". From the number of cars and people, they must have invited the whole audience, too. The Scotts are both very active in the Plymouth Theatre Guild, as well as many other organizations around town.

Another "Ove 21" party gathered at Dorothy and Tony Franks on Parkview drive. After attending the play the group enjoyed a buffet lunch at Rita and Howard Munzer's on Parkview drive.

The Harold Kendall's of Parkview drive have had Mr. Kendall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. McNett visiting them for the past two months. Harold drove them home to Elberta, Mich., over the week-end. His wife, Madeliene, and son, Jay, flew to Pittsburg to spend the week with Madeliene's mother.

Harvey Cooper, sales engineer for Evans products, has been in Philadelphia all week attending a convention. Barbara and Jimmy expect him home Friday.

Don't forget Mother's Day coming up on May 12. See you next week.

Health Guild to Sponsor Tea

The Livonia health guild is sponsoring a benefit tea from 1 to 4 p.m. Tuesday, May 21, at the home of Mrs. Fred Antil of 16855 Mayfield, located south of Six Mile road near Farmington road.

Anyone is welcome to attend. Donations received will be used for a memorial to Georgina J. Reid, who passed away during the past year. She was known for her years of service to crippled children. She was a board member of the Wayne out-county chapter and the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc.

Lamp Starts Upstairs Fire in Local Home

City firemen quickly brought a house fire under control Tuesday morning when an electric lamp started a blaze in the second floor.

The home at 1002 S. Mill is occupied by the Gerald Gondek family. City firemen said that it is believed that a burning electric lamp may have tipped against a wall, starting the shade afire, and ultimately the wall. Only the wall and ceiling were damaged.

project over the sidewalk, the city must first obtain liability insurance. Mrs. George Schmeiman, president, appeared in behalf of the Garden Club.

Commissioner Carl Shear submitted his resignation as a member of the city board of review. He was elected to the commission April 1 and cannot serve in both jobs. No replacement was named.

Authorization was given the city manager to advertise for bids for road oil, gravel, tile and water supplies.

Two letters were read thanking the commissioner. Mrs. Dewey Evans of Maple street commended the city's sewer contractor, Rocco Ferrara, for their excellent job and relations with the neighbors. The Michigan Municipal League thanked the commission for being host to the area league members at a convention here recently.

Footsaving Education

By JIM HOUK

ARE PRE-WALKING SHOES IMPORTANT?

The harm done by outgrown pre-walkers is very important. The younger the child the softer the bones. Many children have the beginnings of bunions before they wear any shoes because their feet were bound in the feet of outgrown pajamas.

Pre-walking children should wear shoes only when the house is cold enough that he needs mittens on his hands. Parents marvel at the way their babies flex their toes when they take their shoes off but they seldom think of the fact that using those muscles is the only way known to strengthen them. Even good fitting shoes discourage exercise.

We have a tradition that feet should be hurt and not seen. It comes to us from our ancestors whose feet were a sickening sight but have you noticed pictures of the royal family of England? The baby's bare feet hanging out? Hail the Queen! If it ever becomes stylish to wear shoes only when shoes are needed we will all have healthier feet and shoemen will not be faced with the impossible task of making abnormal feet comfortable in normal shoes.

and carnivals have been upped from $10 to $15.

The ordinance also provides that licenses can be revoked by the commission if there are disorderly persons and permission to use the city's parks and streets for parades and exhibitions is required from the commission or manager.

MILK ORDINANCE

This proposal would replace an ordinance approved in 1942 when the city did its own milk inspecting. Now the inspections are handled by the county health department. The new ordinance provides that no license fee is necessary where persons are engaged in the production, handling or storage of milk where the county makes inspections. Every milk distributor within the city shall obtain a license costing $10 (no increase). But any person engaged in the production or distributing of milk in the city not licensed by the county shall pay a fee of $25.

CLEAN SIDEWALK ORDINANCE

Originally passed in 1907, this ordinance requires every owner or occupant to remove snow, ice, dirt or debris within 24 hours after it falls or is formed on the sidewalk.

There is little change from the original ordinance except to eliminate the word "village" in the old version. The ordinance adds that where the city is required to clear the sidewalks, that owners will be required to pay for the job either by direct payment or as an addition to the taxes.

NOXIOUS WEED ORDINANCE

This ordinance also has had only minor changes to "modernize" the terms. It was first approved in 1948. It requires property owners to destroy all noxious weeds prior to the first day of July each year and again prior to the first day of September. If owner refuses to cut the weeds, the city will do the job and charge the property owner.

Weeds included in the noxious listing are Canada thistle, dodders, mustards, wild carrot, bindweed, perennial soothistle, hoary alyssum, quack-grass, crab-grass, poison ivy, poison sumac, ragweed and goldenrod. Penalty for not destroying weeds is $25.

PRIVATE DRAIN ORDINANCE

This proposed ordinance allows the laying of a private drain or sewer in public places with written application to and consent of the commission. Connections of private drains and sewers to public drains and sewers require a deposit for a connection.

WATER MAIN ORDINANCE

All details pertaining to the installation of water mains, their connections, water meter installations, inspections, repair of installations and collection of fees are found in this revised ordinance.

The MAIL Attitude

BY PAUL CHANDLER

This has been the week in our lives devoted to snarling at the state and county tax system. (Other previous weeks have been spent cussing the federal income tax system.)

Those of you who read this space a week ago will recall that I reported that Wayne County was about to announce a stiff upgrade in the assessed valuation of land, buildings and belongings in the portions of the County outside Detroit. It was an action which left this area right under the tax hammer.

Since then we have consulted with public officials in every unit of government in the area, trying to get the figures for their particular residents—and, to a greater extent, simply trying to understand the maddening process by which the original assessments are inspected, found wanting, raised arbitrarily by the county, turned over to the state, compared to those of a year ago, split among county, schools, and the local unit, and finally handed down to that harried, trusting animal that walks the streets . . . the humble taxpayer.

Well, the County let the statistics out of the bag last Thursday and I have some preliminary conclusions. I'm not going to annoy you with the mathematical tortures undergone to get these conclusions but will add one explanatory note: even these figures are subject to change because the State hasn't revealed its "equalization" factor yet, which is something superimposed on the whole picture after the County has done its devilment. But we are told that the State factor should be a relatively minor one this year because the County itself already has lifted values so much.

You'll just have to take my word for it, and excuse subsequent errors, but right now it appears that:

Taxes in Plymouth Township will go up 15 or 16 percent over a year ago.

Taxes in the City of Plymouth will go up possibly 2 or 3 percent from a year ago.

Taxes in Canton Township are headed for a 20 to 25 percent jump.

In Livonia they will rise 17 to 20 percent.

In Northville Township it appears they could soar as much as 60 or 70 percent.

In Redford Township the rise will be 10 percent.

In Nankin Township, perhaps 20 to 25 percent.

In Dearborn Township, 15 to 20 percent.

I absolutely refuse to be responsible for small mistakes in the foregoing figures and I beg sympathy for long hours spent crawling over a mountain of numbers during the past week.

Aside from the tangled complexity of the subject, there is one legitimate criticism of this "equalization" system that I believe is worth considering.

It makes the figures presented by local assessing officers almost foolish. A set of figures can be offered by a Supervisor and the county simply can say (or the state can do it, too, later) "We don't like your figures, boy. Up they go!" And they go up, period.

The system likewise provides no incentive whatever for a corporation or an individual to present a true, realistic report of his personal property. If the equalizers hoist the total, the individual goes up too, regardless, and he's better off to have reported at the beginning the lowest possible figure he could get away with.

That would involve lies and hypocrisy, of course, but it's also a simple tactic of self-defense against the system. It's no different in philosophy than battling the income tax.

I guess it's not exactly an original thought of mine to state that the entire American tax system needs a drastic overhaul, from the grass roots right to the wig top of the uppermost bureaucrat.

A developing story hereabouts involves negotiation between the Plymouth school board and Greenspan builders for property in Lakepointe Village.

Fred Greenspan is asking about $70,000, I'm told, for 10 acres of land that would be used for a school site. The builder will install water and sewer facilities there. (That price is $7,000 per acre.)

The board for the moment has taken the position the price is too high and that Greenspan would benefit enough from the school through the sale of homes on his other land to offer a lower figure.

The matter is scheduled to pop again at the next school board meeting.

Plymouth Linksters Win League Championship

Cindermen Gain Victory On Field Event Strength

Plymouth can thank the field events for their first track victory of the season. First by Paul Cummings, Myron Hopper, and Mel Stephenson, set the Rock sprinters up for the initial triumph. Senior Dave DeCoster turned the trick in the mile, team captain "Rocky" Showers was robbed of a record in the 440, and Plymouth's two relay teams also added to the locals effort.

Captain Dick "Rocky" Showers was clocked in a fabulous 52 flat, but had to relinquish the record bid because of an unofficial clocking. Louis Vargha holds the 440 record of 52.6. Showers' first place time was a fast 53.2.

Plymouth's mile racing duo of Dave DeCoster and Tony Monte left the competition in the dust to take first and second respectively in their specialty. DeCoster was the first local of the young track season to hit under the five minute mark. DeCoster's time was 4:59.2 while Monte crossed the finish line in 5:01.5.

Plymouth's undefeated 880 relay quartet continued their streak with an impressive win over the Parkers on the latter's home oval. The Rock sprinters were stopped at 1:36.8 while the Parkers dragged across in a slow 1:40.7. The medley relay team made up for their lone loss as they sprinted to a 2:43.4 victory. Allen Park's medley squad was timed at 2:47.5.

Myron Hopper became the Rocks only double winner as he tied team mate Paul Cummings in the high jump at 5 feet 4 inches and swept to his other victory in the broad jump with a leap of 18 feet one half inch. The two wins gave Myron 9 points to lead the home attack.

Mel Stephenson soared to a first place in the pole vault. He stopped all opposition at 10 feet. The shot put was Plymouth's lone field event loss. Don Alsbro and Ron Markham finished second and third respectively with tosses of 38 feet 8 1/4 inches, and 37 feet 6 1/4 inches.

Jeff Yeoman's 10.6 in the century was good for only a second as Atkinson of Allen Park squeezed the local out by one tenth of a second. DeWayne Reider copped third with a 10.8. Ron Turckett managed a third in the 220. Ken Thomas was awarded a third in the quarter.

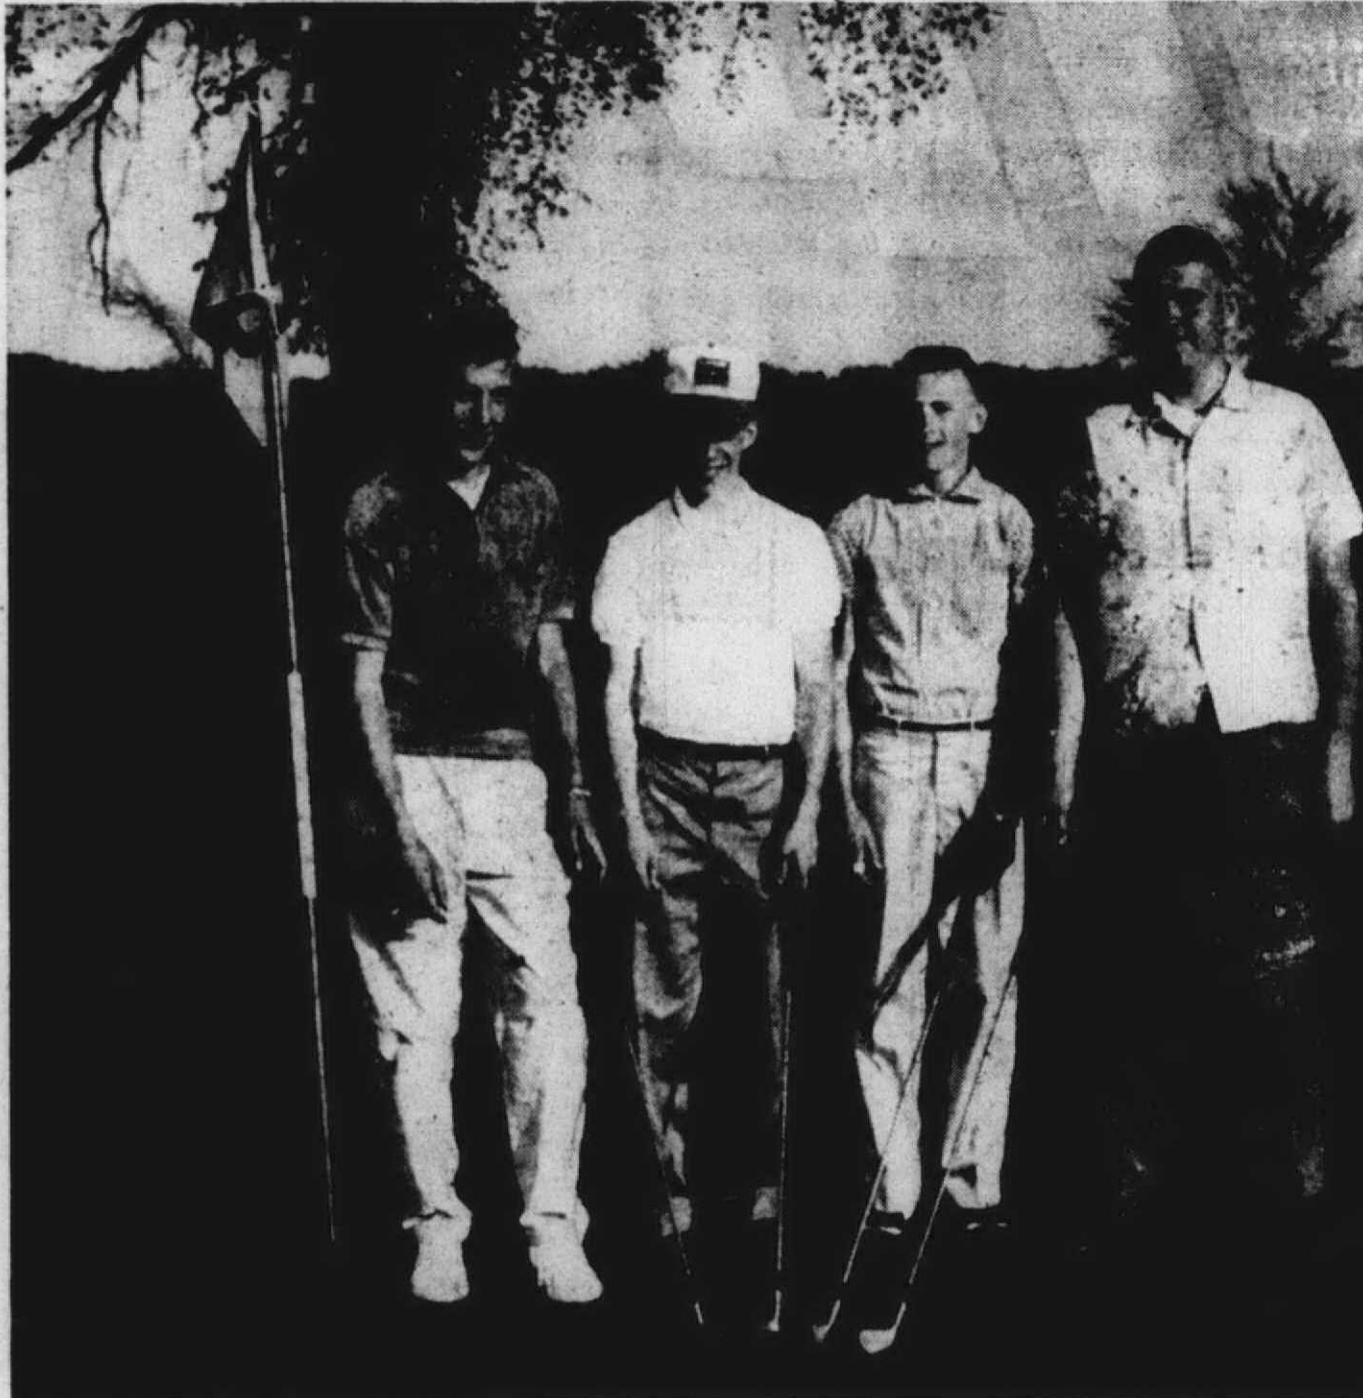

The Rock's other running duo of Charlie Westover and Davies in the 800 finished second and third respectively behind Allen Park's Goodell. Otto Bufe pulled two thirds in the high and low hurdles. Al Spigarelli captured a third in the broad jump to round out Plymouth's scoring.

Plymouth On Winning Spree Three in Row

The Plymouth Rock cindermen enjoyed their largest margin of victory of the young track season against their arch rivals and ex-league power Livonia-Bentley. Plymouth was on the big end of a 77-31 score for their second straight league victory. The Rocks cashed in for nine of the thirteen possible firsts.

The locals, besides taking nine firsts, swept three of the running events against the battling Bulldogs. Ron Markham lead two of the three sweeps as he hit the tape in the century in a blazing 10.5 and the 220 at 23.8. Jeff Yeoman and DeWayne Reider finished second and third behind Markham in the 100 yard dash, and Reider and "Ziggy" Pryzbowski took second and third respectively in the 220.

The other sweep came in the mile where the locals have turned their racing duo into a racing trio. Tony Monte ran the last two laps in the second lane beside teammate Dave DeCoster before breaking into a dash in the back stretch for a first place. Completing the sweep was freshman Billy Ruehr who almost gave his big partners a challenge. Monte's time was 4:59 flat, (second five minute breaker this season) DeCoster hit the finish line at 5:01.3. Ruehr was clocked at 5:07.8.

The Plymouth varsity golf team won the league championship last Monday afternoon to become this year's third championship team. Other league leaders were the cross country and swimming squads.

The Rock's Tom Carmichael was medalist for the match with a 77 for 18 holes. Tom's score at the half way mark was a par 36, but the last nine proved to be Tom's nemesis as he went five over par for 41.

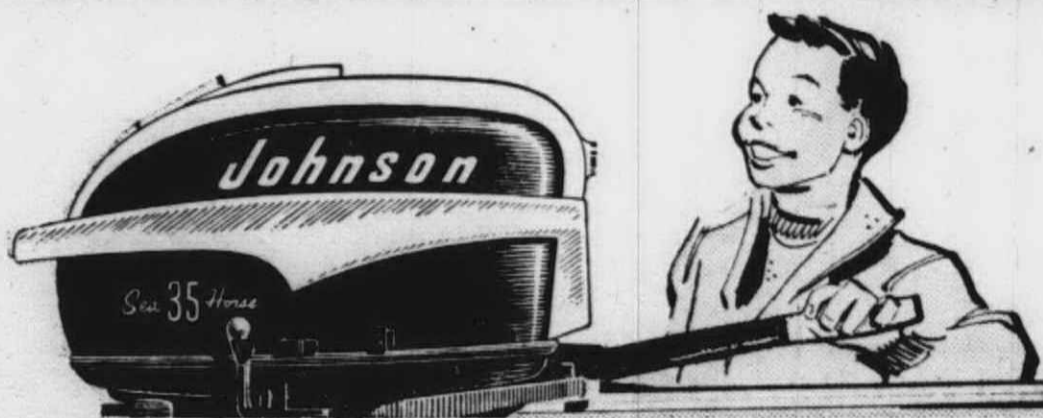

Kurt Atchinson of Plymouth tied Kwasney of Bentley and Beyer of Redford Union for second place with a total of 80. Sophomore John Taylor's 81 gave him a tie with Vollick and Sharp of Redford Union for fifth place, and Skip Rambo copped seventh place with his 86. The Plymouth linksters total was a respectable 324 as compared to second place Redford Union, who had 332.

Bentley placed third with 348. Trenton fourth with a total of 417, and Allen Park fifth with 424. Belleville was the only school out of the Suburban Six who did not compete.

Scores from the other schools are as follows: Gagnow of Bentley eighth with 47. Rooney of Redford Union ninth with 90, and Hoff of Bentley tenth with 91. Bentley's O'Neill had a 92. Allen Park's four were Wayman (98) Rutke (102) Utrainen (106) Toth (123). Trenton had H. Erikson (95) Campbell (97) Blanks (100) and McIntyre (125).

Studies show the waters off Argentina rich in fish, because of the food supplies from major rivers and on a continental platform in the Falkland Islands area.

South Paw Tait Hurls Perfect No Hitter

Twenty one up, twenty one down. Fifty five easy pitches and Biff Tait, converted southpaw first baseman, had pitched the first known perfect no hitter in Plymouth High School history. Perfect is the word that best describes Tait's performance too. He allowed no hits, no runs, no walks, no wild pitches, no balks, and no hit batsman to the Northville nine.

The Rock nine didn't have a pushover either. They had four chances to score and were able to capitalize on only one of the opportunities. In the fifth inning Jimmy Dzurus tripped with one out and scored on a fielders choice to give Plymouth their lone run of the tight ball game.

With two out in the previous inning Larry Wells tripped only to be stranded when Wayne Jordahl popped to the catcher. Calhoun singled in the first inning but stayed right there after Tait and Larry Wells both popped out to the pitcher.

Plymouth lost their big chance to stretch the score in the final inning as they loaded the bases with two down. Wayne Jordahl got a free trip to first after he was struck by the pitcher, Gary Minard was safe on an error and Jimmy Dzurus singled for his second straight hit, but the locals failed to score when Harvey Wells flied out to left.

King of Northville was charged with the loss although he allowed only four hits.

Here is a rundown on Tait's no hitter. In the first inning the lead off man flied out to left, and the next two batters struck out. The first man in the second was retired short to first, and then the next two fanned. Tait kept his two man strike out per inning going as he flashed three pitches past the lead off man in the third frame, the next batter went down pitcher to first, and the last swinger took a third pitch for Tait's sixth strike out in three innings.

Lead off man in the fourth flied out to right, the next man up popped to the third baseman, and then Tait got his seventh victim. The first batter in the fifth grounded out to the second baseman, and then Tait put away the side on two successive strike outs. The southpaw phenomenon sensing he was working on a good game put down the side in the sixth inning on 11 quick pitches.

Thinning Necessary for Good Plant Growth

Winding up with too much of a good thing is one of the beginning gardener's greatest hazards. By the time the seeds which he has carefully planted and lovingly nurtured pop out into the world as seedlings, the gardener regards every last one almost as his own child.

He may have heard or read that crowded rows of plants must be thinned out, but he just can't bring himself to destroy any of those precious seedlings.

Leaf lettuce is usable when the leaves are two inches wide. Carrots can be eaten when they are as thick as the little finger. One of the tastiest surprises a garden can offer the beginner, is fresh beet roots which have just begun to swell.

IT IS virtually impossible to avoid the need for thinning by sowing just the right amount of seed. Even with high-germinating seeds, it is advisable to sow more than you will have room to mature.

Accidents are a constant possibility in a garden and if some of the plants are destroyed the spaces they leave in the rows are difficult to fill.

SO WHAT happens? The seedlings destroy each other. No plant will mature normally in a crowded row. Even leaf lettuce, which many gardeners do not bother thinning, will not develop its true crispness and flavor when the plants are too close together.

The prime purpose of thinning is to insure growing room for each plant, so that its roots will not become entangled with those of the neighboring plants.

This should not be neglected once the plants have grown large enough to handle. After a row has been thinned, the plants should be at least an inch apart.

BEFORE they have begun to crowd each other again, many vegetables will be large enough for table use. A great advantage enjoyed by the amateur is the ability to harvest half-grown vegetables. These often are superior in flavor and tenderness to fully grown vegetables.

SEEDS that germinate slowly—such as carrots, parsley and parsnips—should be sown fairly thickly because their seedlings are feeble and the force of many acting together serves to break the soil and helps the sprouts reach the surface.

In thinning—or call it "harvesting," if that word makes the process sound less destructive to you—half grown plants, pull up every other one, trying to leave the most promising ones to mature more fully.

This process can be repeated until each plant has a proper amount of room in which to grow.

PEAS will mature well in an inch apart; beans four inches; small seeded limas eight inches to a foot and large seeded limas should have 18 inches.

Well fed plants grow faster and excel in flavor and tenderness. If the garden is well fed, more plants can be grown than in soil which lacks fertility.

A small, fertilized and tended area will produce far better results than larger space in which plants are neglected.

FLOWER seedlings must be thinned out when sown directly in the garden. If broadcast they are not usually so crowded as in a row, but they require more space as a rule than vegetables.

Thinning can be postponed in most cases until the excess plants are large enough to be transplanted.

Spring Is Best Time for Fertilizing Trees

When how and how often should I fertilize my broad-leaf shade trees?

These questions are often asked by Michigan homeowners. Harold Schick, Michigan State University extension specialist, reports that a few general rules can serve as guides in figuring out answers.

Fertilizer can be used to push the growth of young, established trees a few years after transplanting. Also, it can help a tree recover from an attack of insects or a disease. A lack of vigor may be shown by sparse foliage, light green or yellow leaves, the death of twig tips.

Schick warns against using commercial fertilizer on young, newly transplanted trees. He suggests that rich topsoil be placed around the tree soon after transplanting. Also, manure and other organic fertilizers may be used.

For shade trees, Schick suggests an application of three pounds of complete fertilizer such as 10-6-4 or 12-12-12 per inch of trunk thickness. Be sure to note the analysis on the bag. In using newer, more concentrated fertilizers, follow directions closely.

When ready to apply, drill holes about 12-18 inches deep around the tree. Schick recommends that the holes be spaced two feet apart and about half way between the trunk and the furthest branch spread. A soil auger or straight iron bar may be used.

A frozen fruit juice can full of fertilizer should be poured into each hole. Water should be added soon after application to dissolve the fertilizer. Holes must be left open so the roots have plenty of air and water.

Spring fertilization is best under Michigan conditions, says Schick. Late summer application may cause new growth which can be harmed by frost.

With evergreen trees, Schick suggests an application of one pound of commercial fertilizer per inch of trunk diameter.

Organic fertilizers which have the advantage of being slower in action and less inclined to burn the tree, are particularly well adapted to evergreens. Their application should be on the soil surface.

Watering can be even more important than fertilizing, particularly in the dry months of July, August and September. Schick recommends that the ground be kept moist to a depth of six inches.

Clay soils need heavier but less frequent applications than do sandy soils. Overwatering is uncommon, but it can be harmful.

Cheaper Lawn Seed Not Always The Best Buy

In the making of a lawn, the cost of seed is small considering the investment in time, equipment, fertilizer and labor that also go into the task.

Considered from that light, it is wise to buy quality perennial seed; it alone will provide permanent grass.

The few cents that can be saved by purchasing cheap seed of species that will not endure reminds one of an old adage: "Penny wise, pound foolish."

Kentucky Bluegrass, for instance, contains more than 2 million seeds to the pound. Rye grass, a common "cheap" seed, has only a quarter of a million.

So the extra pennies that the fine perennial grass seed cost also give you eight times as much for your money and greater permanency for your lawn.

IN MAKING a new lawn or renewing an old one, choose the seed wisely. State law and reputation of the seed house combine to make this possible.

An analysis stating exactly what kinds of seed are in a mixture, is required on the package in almost all states. The label is your protection.

Experts the country over recommend a high content of basic grasses—the permanent, attractive perennials.

Kentucky Bluegrass is chief among them but also included are members of the Red Fescue group. Bent-grasses and a few specialty types such as Poa trivialis.

DON'T BE fooled in planting such hay grasses as rye grass, timothy, orchard grass, and the Alta fescue group and even such a frequently used nurse grass as Redtop.

A seed mixture, to be of top quality should contain 80 to 100 per cent of the basic grasses, the predominating portion usually being Kentucky Bluegrass.

Good seed also is clean and has the ability to produce quick sprouting of a vigorous seedling. Sprouting and purity tests by independent seed analysis are basic to the seed trade.

So the word to the wise lawnman is to read the label.

Booklet Describes Ornamental Plant

Shrubs, the beautifying ornamental plants we use in our home landscaping design, represent an investment that encourages thoughtful choice.

According to Don Juchartz, Wayne County Horticultural Agent, shrub buying is all too often an accidental, or haphazard, arrangement.

And, he points out, unless we know something about the plants we plan to use as an ornamental, we might achieve the wrong effect in home yard landscape design.

We have a booklet, he said, that is available without charge. And, this booklet covers many aspects of ornamental shrubs that are adapted to the four zones of Michigan.

This booklet describes shrubs and plants listed in alphabetical order, and it also groups those that fall in either of the following categories.

You can secure your copy of this booklet by merely writing a postcard, or telephoning the county horticultural agent's office, at 3930 Newberry Street, Box 552, Wayne, Michigan. Ask him for Ornamental Shrubs for Michigan, Miscellaneous Circular No. 5, published by Michigan State University.

Testing of Soil Will Be Guide For Fertilizing

You can save yourself some money and get better crops from your garden this year if you have the soil tested before applying fertilizer.

If the soil has not been tested, you won't know what it needs and the money and time you spend fertilizing may be wasted, points out James Porter, extension soils specialist at Michigan State University. He says there is still time to test those portions of your garden not planted to very early vegetables.

A typical recommendation is 20 pounds per 1,000 square feet, broadcast, and a teaspoon per 10 feet of each row at planting time. An analysis of 6-12-12 is the most commonly recommended.

If you test, you will know how much of what analysis fertilizer is needed, as well as the lime requirements. Too much of either can actually harm growth.

A good balanced fertilizer will be recommended by the county agricultural agent.

You can take your own samples. You need a clean pail; a spade or trowel, and some clean paper bags or pint jars.

Take a sample from each different part of the garden or plot by taking a slice of the soil about plow depth, and put it in the pail. Mix these samples together, and take a bag or jar of the mixture to the county agricultural agent's office.

And follow the directions that the agent gives. Use enough fertilizer, but not too much.

Use Insecticides Effectively By Reading Direction

Knowing how to use an insecticide properly is just as important as knowing which one to use. J. R. Hoffman, entomology specialist at Michigan State University, points out that it's almost as hard to kill insects with the right spray, poorly applied, as it is with the wrong insecticide entirely.

Hoffman says the first step in doing the job properly is to read the directions supplied by the manufacturer of the insecticide, and follow them closely. Don't use the idea that little extra should be added "for the pot," as if you were brewing tea.

And don't get the idea that if a little of the chemical will do a good job, twice as much should do twice as good a job. Unless you may cause more trouble with your insecticide than the insects would if they were left alone.

Thoroughness is important in insect control. Many pests live on the undersides of the leaves, and you should be careful in applying pesticides to see that you get enough material on the lower sides as well as the upper surfaces. Don't forget that different plants may require different handling. Plants with glossy foliage may require a spreader-sticker to be added to a spray mixture. Spraying or dusting should be done in the early morning to take advantage of the still air so materials don't drift

Yearbook Reveals Rail Efficiency At Record High

Railroads moved more freight last year than at any time in the past five years and did it with fewer locomotives and with greater efficiency.

Yet, according to the Eastern Railroad Presidents Conference Yearbook for 1957, received by The Mail this week, profit averaged only 3.95 per cent on their investment.

Now in its 29th year, the vest-pocket manual contains a wealth of railroad information, chiefly in tables that compare last year's performance with previous years.

Here are a few samples:

For handling nearly 647 billion ton-miles of freight traffic in 1956 the railroads received, on the average, just a fraction of 1 per cent for moving a ton of freight a mile.

To speed the country's needs between cities took only 30,402 locomotives, all but 4,325 of them powered by diesel fuel or electricity. The average freight train haul was 67 record-size cars (54-ton average capacity). The whole job—in addition to handling nearly 35 per cent of the nation's passenger business—was done by 1,042,584 employees.

Taxes continued to take a sizable bite of railway earnings as federal, state and local governments reaped $1,121 million—or more than 2 1/2 times as much as stockholders received.

To further their modernization and expansion programs, the railroads continued to put huge sums into capital improvements. For the seventh year out of the past nine, this investment in the future soared well over the $1-billion mark, most of it in new freight cars and motive power.

As to why the industry's earnings are so low, a few paragraphs at the beginning of the book tell the story:

"Railroad operations in 1956, it says, 'were typical of the entire postwar period in most respects. Freight volume was generally at a high level (up 23 billion ton-miles nationally, nearly 16 billion for Eastern roads); passenger traffic showed a slight decline (but a heavy estimated deficit of $696 million). Freight rates and passenger fares were adjusted upwards, but the increases, even with increased freight traffic, proved insufficient to cover the cost of higher wages (up $325 million), higher prices (15 per cent more paid out for fuel and supplies), and a rise of $60 million in payroll taxes."

Here's how the story ends: "Hearings before Congressional committees on legislation proposed in April, 1955 by the Presidential Advisory Committee on Transport Policy and Organization provided opportunity in 1956 to focus further public attention on inequitable and uneconomic competitive conditions in transportation and thereby to lay a foundation for future constructive legislative action."

David I. Mackie, ERPC chairman, today observed that "As yet, there has been no constructive legislative action. It is heartening, however, that Committees with the Senate and the House are presently holding hearings on various measures affecting transportation."

Washington Reporting

BY MARTHA GRIFFITHS

The Consumers Study Subcommittee of the House Committee on Agriculture has recently released the following data as part of their current study and investigation of the high cost of living.

During the past 10 years retail food prices have increased 16% while farm prices were declining 14%. During this period the average city family has increased its expenditures for food by $500 or 50%. The average city family spent about $1,500 for food in 1956. This compares with about $1,100 in 1950 and $1,000 spent for food in 1947-10 years ago.

Of the $500 additional spent for food by the average city family in 1956 over 1947, $55 was paid to importers and fishermen for imported foods and fish, $45 went to farmers for farm-produced products, and $400 went to the various processing and marketing agencies—the so-called marketing margin. This indicates that of the $500 additional spent for food by the average family in 1956 over 1947, 80% found its way into the marketing margin and only 9% went to the farmers.

The average city family in 1956 purchased many more ready-prepared, fresh frozen, and specially packaged foods than in 1947. American housewives today are spending billions a year at the grocery for work they used to do themselves. This is known in the food trade as built-in maid service. It includes everything from prepeaking of carrots to complete precooking of TV meals. For instance, washed potatoes sell much faster than unwashed ones even though they cost 2 cents more per pound. That also goes for scraped carrots, washed spinach, cut-up chicken, sliced french fries, boned fish, and even ready-to-bake pie with the crust all crimped.

It is estimated a day's meals, with mom doing all the work for the family of 4, would take 5 1/2 hours to prepare and cost $4.90 at today's prices. Using ready-to-cook items, the same meals take only an hour and a half—but cost $6.70. That's 4 hours less work for the housewife at an added cost of $1.80—which sets the price of this maid service at only 45 cents an hour.

A limited supply of books telling about the science of money—how it is created, how it works, etc., have been made available to me. If you would like one of these please write or call my Detroit office—BRoadway 3-9151, 16349 Grand River, Detroit 27.

NOTES AND COMMENTS . . . The 1957 polio season is approaching. It is hoped that paralytic polio can be eliminated by getting everyone in the U.S. up to age 40 vaccinated. Write or call my Detroit office for a pamphlet entitled "What you should know about polio and the Salk vaccine".

Maccabees Plan Dinner

The Maccabees will meet at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 15, for a mother-daughter pot-luck dinner.

Those who haven't been called are to come anyway and bring a daughter.

Notes From American Legion

Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Alexander and Mr. and Mrs. Elton Knapp attended the testimonial dinner, honoring Mrs. Ann Gilman, department president at Petoskey, April 27, and the district meeting of the lower 11th district, held in East Jordan, April 28. Knapp is a candidate for department commander.

Attending the third zone steering committee, held in Flint, April 30, were Robert Wilson, chairman, Ernest Koi and Harold Wilson, 17th district commander.

Rehabilitation chairman Mildred Hower reported that 30 Easbury Sanatorium Handkerchiefs and cards will be sent for Mother's Day. The first known suggestion for a Mother's Day in the United States was made in 1872 by Julia Ward Howe, author of the Battle Hymn of the Republic. In 1907, Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia began a campaign to establish the nationwide observance of the day. It was she who selected the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day and originated the custom of wearing carnations to honor mothers. The day received national recognition May 8, 1914. The following year, the President of the United States was authorized to proclaim Mother's Day as an annual national observance. The day has become important to all. The Legion auxiliary has made helping hospitalized persons observe this day a part of their program to aid the hospitalized veteran.

The linen party Thursday, May 2, was termed a "wonderful success."

'Heavenly Hash' Draws Raves Of Samplers

For a year-around salad that "everyone raves about," Mrs. Robert Schultz of 294 Irvin likes to make Heavenly Hash. Here's how she does it:

Heavenly Hash
Blend one package of lime gelatin and one package of cream cheese. Add a cup of hot water and a cup of cold water. Let thicken; then add a small can of crushed pineapple and chopped walnuts.

This easy-to-make gelatin salad can also be dressed up and served as a dessert. Mrs. Schultz says that another flavor of gelatin can be used, but that she prefers the lime.

Incidentally, Mrs. Schultz has no problem in finding the right cooking utensil for her every need. Her husband owns Bob's Handy Hardware, 816 Penniman.

A Woman's Eye View

by Virginia Robertson

Perhaps I'm a little late in catching up with the pre-teen set, but it seems that the latest rage is not for cowboys and Indians, but for dinosaurs and tyrannosaurus rex!

Those little toy Indian figures which used to be so popular among the elementary school children have been completely outdone and outsold by the prehistoric monsters. A clerk in a local dime store said they are swamped with requests for the prehistoric creatures, but that no one even looks twice at the old timer cowboys and Indians.

Workers in Australia have come up with something new in the way of coffee breaks. When employees "down under" feel the need for a mid-morning pick-me-up, they go home and take a bath or shower, returning to work completely refreshed and alert.

Myrtle Labbitt, resident of this area for 20 years who was recently chosen one of the top 10 career women in Detroit, has now left for "sunny" Spain and a personal investigation of those rains in the plains.

Mrs. Labbitt and her husband, Ray, first plan to stop in Amsterdam, then to go on to Paris and to buy one of the prizes of the European automotive industry, the Volvo.

From Paris, they'll drive to Madrid to meet their daughter and son-in-law, Joan and Dick Dragin, who expect to be teaching there for at least another year.

Before their return in mid-June, the Labbitts will be doing quite a bit of globe trotting, with stops at Portugal and the Canary Majorca and Minorca Islands included on their itinerary.

In the "Did you know" department . . . It's a fact! Right in nearby Detroit, the Barber's Union lists a dozen women handling the razor brush and shears alongside the men.

Missionette Club Begins Campaign For Members

Any girl between the ages of 12 and 19 is eligible to join the newly-started Missionette club. The group, now beginning its membership campaign, studies missionaries from foreign countries. The girls also sew on projects of all kinds, the current one being Christmas presents for an orphanage.

Meetings are from 7 to 9 p.m. every other Thursday. Dues of five or ten cents are asked. At every other meeting, refreshments are served.

Girls interested in joining may call Mrs. Jennings, sponsor of the club, at 1928-M. The club was started by the Plymouth Assembly of God church and is open to girls of any denomination.

Second vice president, in charge of publicity, Ruby Gredy, said that girls in the club always have a good time at meetings.

Other officers are Mildred Smith, president; Laverne Gredy, first vice president; Lillian Graham, secretary; Lila Good, treasurer; and Sue Gredy and Marilyn Puckett, historians.

Colds are more frequent among women than men.

SPRING SALAD PLATE

Try Fresh Fruit Salad for Spring Meals

For a warm-weather treat that's delicious and full of nutrients, but with a minimum of calories, fresh fruit salad fits the bill.

Grapefruits in season now are so sweet no one will ever miss the sugar. Valencia oranges are easy to section and seedless, ideal for salads. Add cottage cheese, cool cucumber slices, scallions and radishes for color and crunchiness. Serve with a tangy low-calorie French dressing.

Low-Calorie French Dressing

Blend 1/2 cup water and two teaspoons cornstarch; cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Remove from heat; add 1/2 cup grapefruit juice, two tablespoons salad oil, 3/4 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 teaspoons sugar, 1/2 teaspoon each paprika and dry mustard, 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco and 1/4 cup cat-soup; beat until smooth. Add garlic if desired. Shake before using. Makes 1 1/4 cups.

Moms Get Better Maternity Care at Less Cost

Having a baby is not only safer for both mother and child now than it was 25 years ago but, measured in equal dollars it is also about 18 percent less expensive, Health Information Foundation disclosed today.

In a detailed report on maternity costs for medical care, the Foundation reported that in the 1928-31 period, the average total cost for maternity care was $160—or, in terms of present-day dollars, $258. Today the average total cost is $213—a decrease of $45 per case, or 18 percent.

The hospital's share of this amount has dropped about 10 percent since 1930. Twenty-five years ago the average hospital charge for a maternity patient was $64, or $102 when inflationary factors are added. Today's average is $92.

Physicians' fees for obstetrical care have increased about nine percent since 1930, but this is a small increase, says the Foundation, because the average mother-to-be now gets more prenatal care than ever before. An increasing amount of service is being provided by specialists with added years of professional training.

The figures cited for today's maternity care costs from a nationwide survey of family medical costs conducted under a Foundation grant by the National Opinion Research Center of the University of Chicago. Figures for the 1928-31 period came from a survey by the Committee on the Costs of Medical Care.

The Foundation also reported that more babies than ever before are being born in hospitals and that more live births are being attended by physicians. In 1935, 63 percent of the babies were born in places other than hospitals, and 13 percent of all births were unattended by doctors. In 1956, almost 95 percent of all babies born in this country were delivered in hospitals, and 97 percent of all registered births were attended by doctors.

The Foundation commented that use of medical services for maternity care varies widely among American families, according to education and income. Among mothers with some college training, 90 percent see a doctor at least once during the first three months of pregnancy. Among mothers with only eight or less years of schooling, only 40 percent do so.

Families with incomes of less than $3,000 a year spend an average of $112 on maternity services, while those with incomes of $5,000 or more spend an average of $276. In families with incomes of $5,000 or more, 80 percent of the expectant mothers have seven or more consultations with their doctors during pregnancy. In the under-$3,000 families, one out of every seven mothers does not see a doctor at all during her pregnancy, while fully two-thirds have fewer than seven prenatal visits.

Lower maternity costs mean much more than dollars saved for the young family, says Foundation President George Bugbee. "They are also a reflection of our whole medical care economy, and they provide a new opportunity for examining criticism of the costs of medical care."

Diets Require Proteins Daily

When planning menus for your family, remember that proteins are a daily need for all diets.

Protein is the building material for our bodies, and because the body has no way of storing this important nutrient, we must keep replenishing the supply with our daily meals.

Some of the foods especially rich in protein are meats, fish and poultry. Eggs, milk and cheese are also good sources of protein but do not contain as much as the first group.

Legumes, nuts and cereal grains may also be used for part of the daily protein requirement.

Proteins from animal sources are better than those from plant sources, however; combine foods from both these sources to get a good mixture.

Oatmeal and milk, macaroni and cheese or spaghetti and meat sauce are good combinations of these two kinds of proteins.

It is a good idea, nutritionwise, to divide the supply of protein between the meals of the day, and always have some in the breakfast meal.

COSTS OF MATERNITY CARE are at an all time low, valuewise, according to a recent report, even though the quality of care has improved. As a starter on baby's layette, crocheter's may receive directions for making this soft wool afghan by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the needlework department of this paper. Ask for Baby's Afghan.

"Since 1930, advances in medicine—perhaps most dramatically illustrated in drug discoveries—have lengthened life, have extended the number of years over which the average person needs medical care and have introduced many new medical and hospital procedures that require costly equipment and highly trained personnel. This progress has changed public attitudes toward medical care. Americans use health services far more frequently than in the past.

"Progress has not allayed all public criticism that medical costs, like the costs of other necessities, are perhaps higher than they should be. Yet there is little basis for such criticism; the facts speak for themselves."

New Miracle Fibers Will Solve Busy Woman's Ironing Dilemmas

Are you one of those who looks to the end of the "wool season" with mixed emotions—glad that the weather has become warm but dreading the thought of ironing those cottons?

Chemical research and ideas of designers in the ever-growing fabric field have ironed out your problem once and for all.

Aptly-named "miracle fibers" have taken an important place in the wardrobe of the women geared to the fast pace of modern life, the woman who doesn't have the time or energy to spend over a steamy ironing board.

For instance, a new development in yarns has resulted in a 100 per cent Dacron fabric that is already well on the way to becoming a favorite for misses shirts.

Technically, it's a new bulking process called "Fasion," a trademark used to designate the textured yarns they are developing by rearranging continuous filament man-made fibers.

The new product claims a rich, warm touch and firm, but light weight. Although opaque, it's porous, cool and guaranteed completely drip-dry and no-iron.

Other dacron news sees the fabric in mixtures with wool, cotton and other year-in, year-out standards. A dacron-wool mixture gives your spring suit and lightness, yet warmth it needs and helps to keep it wrinkle resistant.

Dacron weaves its way into cotton to give the wearer the same lightness and wrinkle-shedding enjoyment. Those who own mixture blouses remark on the ease with which they can wash them and hang them up to drip dry without ironing. They especially like the way dacron keeps them looking fresh all the time.

Dacrons with rayon and silk have also found their way into the fashion trend and seem there to stay. Giving a new strength to the more perishable materials, the miracle fibers boast longer wear and better looking garments.

Those familiar with the miracle fibers know that pattern and style are not limited. Checks, plaids, ivy-league or sophisticated are made of the new fabrics.

A high school girl tells of the many compliments she gets on her well-ironed ivy-league shirts. She confides that they're mainly dacrons in mixtures and need little or no ironing.

Wash and press ease isn't restricted to the dress, blouse, skirt line. Now jackets and short coats are available in miracle materials. One run through the washing machine turns a dingy gray shortie back to its clean fluffy white.

Luggage Makes Appreciated Gift For Graduates

High school seniors are picking up their graduation announcements now, and for a gift that shows extra thoughtfulness and foresight, give the graduate a gift of luggage.

No matter where the graduate lives—whether there's a job, college or home life in the immediate future—sooner or later, the "grad" will make a trip.

There's a wide selection of luggage styles and coverings, in every price range, for every need. Here are the essential pieces for a gal's luggage ensemble:

Train Case—A small utility case that carries enough cosmetics and toiletries, plus a change of garments for overnight travel.

15" And 18" Cases—These are overnite cases and can be used for two or three day trips if dress is not considered of unusual importance.

Week-End Case—These are made in 21" and 24" sizes, and holds a reasonable, small wardrobe.

Pullman Case—Large and roomy enough for packing extra garments, in 26" and 29" sizes.

Ladies' Wardrobe Case—Carrying three to five dresses, and accessories, this style invites the owner to travel smartly and in comfort.

Hat And Shoe Case—Designed to carry four or five pairs of shoes plus a few extra hats.

End-Opening Wardrobe—Usually called the "Fortnighter," it is used to carry a large assortment of dresses hanging up, and extra garments which are packed in the body of the case.

Luggage for men, though not as varied in styles and types, offers multiple usage for the owner and smart practicality too.

Two Suiter—This carries two suits plus the necessary wardrobe a man usually requires.

Overniter Or Companion Case—This piece compares in size with the 21" ladies' weekend case, and is used for short trips; when long trips are made, this case is used as a companion piece to the two-suiter.

End Opening Wardrobe—This case is commonly called the "jackknife." It is used by men when they wish to carry more than two suits of clothes and additional accessories.

New Plan Combines Home Prefabrication Customizing

There are thousands of new homes going up today which combine the savings of prefabrication plus individual selection of all materials from a local source. Here is what many housing experts believe to be the most important housing development of the decade.

Can a house be both custom-designed to an individual's taste, and prefabricated too? It sounds contradictory, but it is true. As a matter of fact, thousands of customized, prefabricated or pre-assembled homes are being lived in right now.

Prefabrication as a method of home building has had a long and often rocky history. Almost as soon as the first motor car rolled off of mass production lines, people predicted an identical fate for housing.

But, for many reasons, prefabricated houses—at least in the sense of mass-produced automobiles—never quite succeeded at the rate their enthusiasts predicted. Even in the great housing decade from 1945 to 1955—when the building industry erected up to 1.3 million homes a year—factory-built houses accounted for only 6 per cent of production.

The prefabricated house manufacturers, many of whom are highly successful corporations today, ran into innumerable difficulties, such as restrictive building codes, high shipping costs which prohibited long hauls and public skepticism.

There also grew a rather unjust stigma to prefabrication. To many people, the term hankered back to "Jerry-built" of World War I days when defense housing and army camps were hastily erected in slipshod manner. Over the years, any house which was put in place in a day or two aroused suspicion. It was difficult for many people to believe that a good house could be erected quickly.

Today, prefabricated house producers have more or less shaken off that particular stigma. But there remains a problem which is not so easy to shake off—the increasing desire, in fact a demand which will continue, by home buyers for an individualized house . . . houses for which they can select materials as they desire. Increasingly, the buyer wants a wide choice of design and materials such as siding or roofing, and the opportunity to change his mind (even if it wrecks the budget). This is practically impossible when a house is built in a factory 500 miles away.

To create for the home buyer a house with the advantages of prefabrication but also custom selection of materials, the Lumber Dealers Research Council, a group formed by local lumber yard owners across the country, developed a unique panel method, which they have labeled the "Lu-Re-Co" building system. The basic engineering concept came from the Small Homes Council of the University of Illinois, which was given a grant by the Lumber Dealers Research Council to study the small homes problem in relation to a system which could be manufactured in a local lumber yard for the benefit of the contractors and home owners alike.

After a slow start, the "Lu-Re-Co" or Lumber Dealers Research Council system got in high gear last year as more than 1,100 local lumber dealers began to adapt and promote the idea.

The system is based on relatively small-sized 4-ft. wide wall panels rather than the 12 to 24-ft. wall panels usually made by factory-built manufacturers. These smaller sized wall panels, together with pre-assembled roof trusses (which span the house from side to side, allowing movable interior partitions) and floor panels, can economically and efficiently be manufactured in the shop of any local lumber dealer.

The dealer can preassemble these "parts" during winter months, stockpile them for fast delivery to home sites as soon as the building season opens.

Because the wall panels are pre-cut and pre-assembled on precision shop "jigs", they are accurately manufactured. The exterior wall panels usually include sheathing and windows applied in the shop. Therefore, when the panels are delivered to the site—locally—they can be very quickly erected.

That explains the "prefabrication" part of the system, but what of the "customized" claim? Because the "parts" are assembled in a local lumber dealer's shop, the home buyer can select any design, style, type or color of finish material. The "guts" of the house are efficiently pre-assembled, but all finish materials are left for individual customer selection.

The customer buys from a local lumber dealer who maintains stocks of all materials for alteration, replacement or repair.

"Most people today do not want a factory house which is the exact duplicate of the one next door, yet they can fully realize the advantages of erection economies and precision quality of 'parts' rather than 'pieces' in the framework of their homes," explains Raymon Harrell, Research Director of the Lumber Dealers Research Council. "Our system combines both pre-assembled parts with complete custom selection of finish material—supplied locally. It truly produces a 'customized home' which is livable because the dictates of the customer and his needs can be fulfilled."

BUILDING and REMODELING
— NEWS —
FOR EVERY HOME

OH! I LOVE CLASSICAL MUSIC!

Recreation Room Becomes Popular in Split-Level Home

An easily maintained family room, as an extra living-room, is one of the advantages provided in the split-level house design now in great demand. The family room usually occupies the space behind the garage on the lower ground level. It is usually connected to the living-room by a short stairway. At small expense, a family room can be incorporated into new or remodeled houses, to be enjoyed daily by both grown-ups and children.

... BUT LET'S FACE IT!
With what this cost I could buy a whole stack of ELVIS PRESLEY records!

If the room is located in excavated ground, as is usually the case in the split-level house, walls and floor should be protected from water seepage by a lining of 3 or 4 plies of felt or tar-paper covered with cement. The lawn grade should slope away from the house so water will drain away from the foundation.

Fire Protection
The wall between garage and family room should be fireproofed with insulation material, or metal lath covered with gypsum plaster. If there is a connecting door from garage to family room, this should be self-closing, tight fitting and metal-clad to block off dangerous gasoline fumes.

Tough, waterproof flooring such as resilient tile will bear up under foot-scaffolding, falling toys and spilled liquids, and will simplify cleaning. If windows are double-hung, they should contain spring-operated sash balances rather than the old-fashioned sash cord and weights. Quarter-inch panes of glass are more durable than 21-oz glass. Exterior blinds at the windows give privacy when desired.

For attractive walls that resist scratching and marring a pre-finished plywood such as Georgia-Pacific Savannah Oak paneling can be installed at low cost. It fits in with any decoration scheme whether traditional or modern.

This genuine hardwood plywood paneling, produced in random widths, can be installed on your wall easily by the use of an ingenious retaining clip and grooved furring strip method.

Money for Home Improvements Readily Available

Repair, Remodel and Renovate are the three R's of the homeowner and add up to three $'s most banks are quite interested in right now.

Loans for home modernizing are often easier to get than loans for new home purchase. And make it even easier, banks are making loan information readily available to modernization-minded homeowners.

A sampling from such data shows, for instance, that loans are offered ranging from $500 to $5,000 with a discount charge of only $4.25 a year per $100 of note, including life insurance protection. The homeowner seeking to borrow $1,728, for example, would receive $1,507.68 and return the money in 36 monthly installments of $48.

But before borrowing to improve your home, be guided by these five rules:

1. Get professional advice from an architect or a building professional. These men know construction and can save your making mistakes or proceeding on a job that is not worthwhile.
2. Use quality materials.
3. Get more than one bid. You should be sure you are paying a fair price, and no more, for your work. The lowest bidder may not be the best, but his estimate will help you establish a going price.
4. Check the reputation of the man who will do the work. You can ask to see other jobs he has done to find out if he is a conscientious workman. His bank, or yours, can tell you how long he has been in business.
5. Check to see if the project will add to the resale value of your home. The best repair and remodeling work makes daily living more satisfactory for the whole family, and at the same time adds to a house's value.

HERES' HOW . . . SEAL WOOD SURFACES

For a fine finishing job, wood must be properly sanded, the surface filled and sealed, and then resanded before the final finish is applied.

On some woods, especially those with coarse grain, varnish is absorbed unevenly, causing light and dark spots. Uneven surfaces are accentuated when the finish is applied. It is usually necessary, therefore, to treat the wood surface.

Wood fillers speed up the finishing job and help produce a more beautiful finish. Liquid sealers are used for fine-grained woods. The sealer is applied with a brush, in the direction of the grain.

When the liquid sealer has dried, it should be sanded with 5-0 garnet paper or 000 steel wool.

Paste fillers are used for coarse-grained woods. The filler is applied with a brush, across the grain. Excess filler is removed by rubbing across the grain with burlap. Then the piece is rubbed in the direction of the grain. When the filler has set it should be sanded, with the grain, with 5-0 garnet paper or 000 steel wool.

Then the article should be cleaned before the varnish is applied. Rub with a cloth dampened in benzene or similar cleaner. For cleaning joints, moldings, corners, etc., use a picking stick—a sharpened dowel wrapped in a cloth dampened with cleaning fluid.

Shellac is commonly used as a filler. Usually two thin coats are applied. Sand the piece after the first coat has dried to remove the shellac from the wood surface. Use white shellac for light colored woods or finishes, and orange shellac for the dark ones.

New Plan Combines Home Prefabrication Customizing

There are thousands of new homes going up today which combine the savings of prefabrication plus individual selection of materials from a local source. Here is what many housing experts believe to be the most important housing development of the decade.

Can a house be both custom-designed to an individual's taste, and prefabricated too? It sounds contradictory, but it is true. As a matter of fact, thousands of custom-built, prefabricated or pre-assembled homes are being lived in right now.

Prefabrication as a method of home building has had a long and often rocky history. Almost as soon as the first motor car rolled off of mass production lines, people predicted an identical fate for housing.

But, for many reasons, prefabricated houses—at least in the sense of mass-produced automobiles—never quite succeeded at the rate their enthusiasts predicted. Even in the great housing decade from 1945 to 1955—when the building industry erected up to 1.3 million homes a year—factory-built houses accounted for only 6 per cent of production.

The prefabricated house manufacturers, many of whom are highly successful corporations today, ran into innumerable difficulties, such as restrictive building codes, high shipping costs which prohibited long hauls and public skepticism.

There also grew a rather unjust stigma to prefabrication. To many people, the term harked back to "jerry-built" of World War I days when defense housing and army camps were hastily erected in slipshod manner. Over the years, any house which was put in place in a day or two aroused suspicion. It was difficult for many people to believe that a good house could be erected quickly.

Today, prefabricated house producers have more or less shaken off that particular stigma. But there remains a problem which is not so easy to shake off—the increasing desire, in fact a demand which will continue, by home buyers for an individualized house . . . houses for which they can select materials as they desire. Increasingly, the buyer wants a wide choice of design and materials such as siding or roofing, and the opportunity to change his mind (even if it wrecks the budget). This is practically impossible when a house is built in a factory 500 miles away.

To create for the home buyer a house with the advantages of prefabrication but also custom selection of materials, the Lumber Dealers Research Council, a group formed by local lumber yard owners across the country, developed a unique panel method, which they have labeled the "Lu-Re-Co" building system. The basic engineering concept came from the Small Homes Council of the University of Illinois, which was granted by the Lumber Dealers Research Council to study the small homes problem in relation to a system which could be manufactured in a local lumber yard for the benefit of the contractors and home owners alike.

After a slow start, the "Lu-Re-Co" or Lumber Dealers Research Council system got in high gear last year as more than 1,100 local lumber dealers began to adapt and promote the idea.

The system is based on relatively small-sized 4-ft. wide wall panels rather than the 12 to 24-ft. wall panels usually made by factory-built manufacturers. These smaller sized wall panels, together with pre-assembled roof trusses (which span the house from side to side, allowing movable interior partitions) and floor panels, can economically and efficiently be manufactured in the shop of any local lumber dealer. The dealer can preassemble these "parts" during winter months, stockpile them for fast delivery to home sites as soon as the building season opens.

Because the wall panels are pre-cut and pre-assembled on precision shop "jigs", they are accurately manufactured. The exterior wall panels usually include sheathing and windows applied in the shop. Therefore, when the panels are delivered to the site—locally—they can be very quickly erected.

That explains the "prefabrication" part of the system, but what of the "customized" claim? Because the "parts" are assembled in a local lumber dealer's shop, the home buyer can select any design, style, type or color of finish material. The "guts" of the house are efficiently pre-assembled, but all finish materials are left for individual customer selection.

The customer buys from a local lumber dealer who maintains stocks of all materials for alteration, replacement or repair.

"Most people today do not want a factory house which is the exact duplicate of the one next door, yet they can fully realize the advantages of erection economies and precision quality of 'parts' rather than 'pieces' in the framework of their homes", explains Raymon Harrell, Research Director of the Lumber Dealers Research Council. "Our system combines both pre-assembled parts with complete custom selection of finish material—supplied locally. It truly produces a 'customized home'. It is livable because the dictates of the customer and his needs can be fulfilled."

HERES' HOW . . . SEAL WOOD SURFACES

For a fine finishing job, wood must be properly sanded, the surface filled and sealed, and then resanded before the final finish is applied.

On some woods, especially those with coarse grain, varnish is absorbed unevenly, causing light and dark spots. Uneven surfaces are accentuated when the finish is applied. It is usually necessary, therefore, to treat the wood surface.

Wood fillers speed up the finishing job and help produce a more beautiful finish. Liquid sealers are used for fine-grained woods. The sealer is applied with a brush, in the direction of the grain.

When the liquid sealer has dried, it should be sanded with 5-0 garnet paper or 000 steel wool.

Paste fillers are used for coarse-grained woods. The filler is applied with a brush, across the grain. Excess filler is removed by rubbing across the grain with burlap. Then the piece is rubbed in the direction of the grain. When the filler has set it should be sanded, with the grain, with 5-0 garnet paper or 000 steel wool.

Then the article should be cleaned before the varnish is applied. Rub with a cloth dampened in benzene or similar cleaner. For cleaning joints, moldings, corners, etc., use a picking stick—a sharpened dowel wrapped in a cloth dampened with cleaning fluid.

Shellac is commonly used as a filler. Usually two thin coats are applied. Sand the piece after the first coat has dried to remove the shellac from the wood surface. Use white shellac for light colored woods or finishes, and orange shellac for the dark ones.

BUILDING and REMODELING NEWS FOR EVERY HOME

Recreation Room Becomes Popular in Split-Level Home

An easily maintained family room, as an extra living-room, is one of the advantages provided in the split-level house design now in great demand. The family room usually occupies the space behind the garage on the lower ground level. It is usually connected to the living-room by a short stairway. At small expense, a family room can be incorporated into new or remodeled houses, to be enjoyed daily by both grown-ups and children.

If the room is located in excavated ground, as is usually the case in the split-level house, walls and floor should be protected from water seepage by a lining of 3 or 4 plies of felt or tar-paper covered with cement. The lawn grade should slope away from the house so water will drain away from the foundation.

Fire Protection

The wall between garage and family room should be fireproofed with insulation material, or metal lath covered with gypsum plaster. If there is a connecting door from garage to family room, this should be self-closing, tight fitting and metal-clad to block off dangerous gasoline fumes.

Tough, waterproof flooring such as resilient tile will bear up under foot-scoffing, falling toys and spilled liquids, and will simplify cleaning. If windows are double-hung, they should contain spring-operated sash balances rather than the old-fashioned sash cord and weights. Quarter-inch panes of glass are more durable than 21-oz glass. Exterior blinds at the windows give privacy when desired.

For attractive walls that resist scratching and marring a pre-finished plywood such as Georgia-Pacific Savannah Oak paneling can be installed at low cost. It fits in with any decoration scheme whether traditional or modern.

This genuine hardwood plywood paneling, produced in random widths, can be installed on your wall easily by the use of an ingenious retaining clip and grooved furring strip method.

Older House

In an existing house, any seldom-used room such as the rumpus or guest-room can be converted into a family room for use as an extra living-room. Georgia-Pacific Savannah Oak Paneling, Doggone? Let's Shift The Tax

It has become apparent in 1957 that there is a mild taxpayers' revolt shaping in our land.

The rebellion has made its presence known in several ways. Currently the National Junior Chamber of Commerce is promoting a publicity campaign around the theme that the average taxpayer worked from Jan. 1 through May 6 just to pay his tax bill. The next eight months are "his own" in terms of "keeping money" but the first four months "belonged" to the government, one way or another.

At the last election, scores of local tax-increase projects were scorned by voters through Michigan, though they had been proposed to provide much-needed local improvements.

In Washington, Congressmen have been reporting an unprecedented blizzard of mail from constituents blasting the size of the federal budget and pleading for tax relief.

In Lansing, there is a bitter dog-fight between Republicans and Democrats. The former have taken a position of resisting almost any expenditures—however great the need—which are beyond anticipated income. The Democrats have stuck to a theme of buy the services and increase the taxes to pay for them.

Against this background, all of us in this area face confounding local needs. Recreation, community buildings, city halls, paved streets, a multitude of new schools, covered drains, parks, increased police and fire protection, street lighting, new water supply—all of those hang heavily on the minds of our local officials.

And these are mostly basic, indispensable local necessities. These are things close to home. The kids must be educated. The sewers can't be allowed to be contaminated. Juvenile delinquency must be smothered.

But indispensable though they may be, the taxpayers are resisting new taxes and local treasuries are cold and empty.

There must be a solution. The only possible intelligent place to start, in our opinion, is at the federal level.

Why do taxpayers refuse new assessments for local improvements, though they know the desperate urgency for them? They are resisting because already they are spending 30 percent of their income in taxes of all kinds. That, plus house payments, car payments, furniture payments and insurance payments, have just about wiped out the paycheck.

Here, in our opinion, we have reached a plateau where it is time to consider priority of need. The greatest fat slice of tax money goes to the federal government through the Collector of Internal Revenue. In Washington it is spent for armament and government.

Beneath the federal government, there is the state, then the county, and finally, the local level.

Each of the upper levels takes its whack of the dollar in order—first, federal; then, the state; next the County, and so on. The size of each slice descends in about the same order.

But where are the most urgent needs of people of this area today? Is there any government function more totally necessary than the local preservation of safety, the disposal of sewage, the provision of water, the maintenance of public health, the safeguarding against fire, or the education of children?

Are those matters less important than, say, a billion dollar good neighbor budget in overseas lands? Granted, both are vital, but in a time of strain on the dollar, which should come first?

This newspaper strongly believes the time has come to shift a portion of the tax dollar from the upper levels to the local levels. We live on the local levels and our local needs are pinching like fury.

And the first place to make the shift is way up on top, in Washington. That's where the budget should be slashed—first.

MOTHER'S DAY

"Life Begins at Forty"

By ROBERT PETERSON

Nearly every year some celebrated writer turns forty. But to my knowledge none has ever beamed with pride or sent up a prayer of thanksgiving for having escaped the termite all those years. Instead, it has become traditional to sit down at a typewriter and peck out a lugubrious epistle "on the ills of being forty."

When globe-trotting Robert Ruark reached forty sometime ago he promptly followed the precedent set by countless writers before him and was soon telling the world of his misery. In his essay he shed tears over "the dreariest milestone a man can pass," and mourned that forty brings him to a point where he can no longer use gin as a substitute for sleep. It occurred to me that forty has a lot to recommend it if it can induce an imbibing journalist to substitute snoozing for boozing.

Mr. Ruark enumerated various other dissatisfactions and concluded regretfully that he has reached an age where he is "too old to snort and rear and knock the slats out of the stable." Somehow the prospect of plump Mr. Ruark snorting and knocking the slats out of anything gave me the only genuine chuckle I got from the piece. Now that Mr. Ruark has graduated from such coltish behavior and is safely embarked on his forties, I suspect he's pleased to be sailing the tranquil seas of maturity.

Another lament of note emanated from writer Robert Yoder who compared the heady enthusiasms enjoyed at twenty with the senescent behavior which apparently overtook him at forty. I don't have the piece before me but as I recall it went something like this:

"At twenty," he said, "if a girl gives you a long direct look and smiles, you look into the next weighing machine to see why you are so attractive. At forty you look to see who's behind you or what's unbuttoned. At twenty you'd stand all night in line to ride the roller coaster, but at forty you wouldn't stand in line for anything except a place to sit down. At twenty you'd work nights for a week to avoid missing a party, but at forty, you wouldn't stay out after midnight for one of the orgies of Imperial Rome. At twenty you'd change ties six times to get one that looked smart with your new spring suit, but at forty you'd go to a White House reception in borrowed trousers and wearing

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Budget Battle Is Good

This year's battle over the budget may well benefit the people of the state. On the one hand is the governor with requests for increased appropriations. He is asking more than $400 million. In his opinion this is the amount required to perform services needed by Michigan residents.

On the other hand is the legislature under Republican control. GOP leaders look at the budget differently. They try to figure how much money will be forthcoming from present state taxes and to allocate this money wisely among the various administrative departments.

Administrative agencies can be expected to believe they must have more funds to provide their services. It is human nature for each department head to want to do his best job. More money provides him the key.

And when an agency receives additional funds, it increases the prestige and power of its director and his personnel. Since each department prepares its own preliminary budget a common procedure is to:

1. Ask for more than is expected. If the department is turned down on some items, nothing is really lost. If, on the other hand, the department receives the additional money, extra services are provided and more help can be hired.
 2. Spend all the money received. Agencies rarely return unneeded funds.
- The situation has a "snowballing" effect. With most agencies asking for more each year, expenditures grow with every new budget.
- Only two groups can check the unnecessary expenditures. One is the office of the State Controller—which prepares the governor's proposed budget from preliminary budget requests presented by the departments.
- Since legislative duties include not only distributing funds to agencies, but also finding ways of raising the money, legislators quite normally consider extensive cuts in budget.
- The 1957-58 budget points up the administrative-legislative contrasts more sharply because:
1. Requests cannot be filled without additional taxes. The GOP controlled legislature feels the Michigan tax-burden should not be increased. The only alternative is to limit spending.

2. Legislators sincerely believe that many of the departmental requests contain unnecessary expenditures. It takes sharp eyes to pick out all the items that add costs but provide few benefits.

3. Taxes proposed by the governor would fall directly on business groups, one of the chief supporters of the Republican party. It is generally agreed that all taxes ultimately are paid by the consumer.

Each decision is difficult. To determine whether more funds should be spent requires balancing need against a limited income.

With these two factors now almost equal, public opinion will play a decisive role in the final determinations.

Some Republican legislators feel the Democratic sweep in the spring elections indicates the people want expenditures increased. However, the majority seem ready to hold the line against levying new taxes.

They point, as evidence supporting their position, to the large number of local tax proposals turned down by voters in recent elections.

At week's end there was evidence that some appropriations would be increased somewhat; that the 1957-58 budget will be lower than the governor wants.

ONE OF THE BIGGEST PROBLEMS faced by safety officials is proving to the people that traffic laws are designed for their protection, not to limit their freedom.

It's a problem of public attitude. Too many people too often "feel sorry" for the driver pulled over to the side of the road by the police officer. Actually, enforcement is the only way roads can be made safe for all.

A better understanding of reasons behind traffic regulations will help promote their cause, safety experts believe.

THIS IS THE AGE OF QUALITY CONTROL

As America becomes more conscious of the fact that quality, in the final analysis, is the true path to economy and dollar value, manufacturers have responded wholeheartedly by instituting costly quality control programs and hiring independent research firms to analyze and report on products.

These result in trustworthy guide posts when we buy consumer products. In the case of some services, however, we buy on a basis of PROFESSIONAL STANDING. We choose our doctor, lawyer, architect, engineer by his professional rank and, if we are wise, we demand a similar PROFESSIONAL STANDING in our insurance counsel.

In his field, the qualified independent agent spends his life in the study, selling and servicing of insurance. He functions as an independent local businessman, accredited to contract for America's leading insuring companies. He is not an "employee" and therefore is free to choose your coverage from the best in the world. His ethical standard is that you, the client, shall have the PROPER INSURANCE at a REASONABLE PRICE and insurance upon whose quality, the agent stakes his professional reputation.

We are proud to be PROFESSIONAL INSURANCE COUNSELLORS. We analyze and prescribe QUALITY insurance coverage — protection that means peace of mind through complete coverage at moderate cost.

Third Generation at the Wheel!

"Like father, like son", the poets say.

And never was it truer than in the case of a great many fine Cadillac families.

For there are, in our land today, a number of families that currently boast as many as three generations at the wheel.

We mention this simply to underscore a great and dramatic truth about Cadillac—that, of course, is its unchanging goodness and quality.

For fifty-five years, the Cadillac name has signified one and the same thing to motorists everywhere—a motor car created at the highest level that automotive science would permit.

Over that time, Cadillac has attracted to the ranks of its owners the finest list of names to be found anywhere on the American motoring scene.

And, those who have followed the path to Cadillac in 1957 are enjoying the most abundant blessings of this ceaseless crusade for quality.

The new "car of cars", with coachcraft by Fleetwood, is beautiful and luxurious to an unprecedented degree. And its performance and handling ease are a revelation!

Certainly, the Cadillac car has now become an even wiser investment for an even wider circle of America's motorists.

If you have yet to acquaint yourself with these brilliant Cadillac virtues for 1957, your dealer will be delighted to tell you how easily you can make Cadillac a fine family custom of your own!

Musical Opens 'M' Drama Season

ANN ARBOR—"Lady in the Dark," one of the most popular musical comedies in Broadway history, will be a curtain-raiser for the 1957 University Drama Season. Carol Bruce and Scott McKay will be starred in the five-play festival's opening production, heading a professional company of 30.

A one week engagement for the musical will begin Monday, May 13 in the Lydia Mendelssohn Theatre. There will be performances nightly through Saturday at 8:30 p.m. with matinees Thursday and Saturday at 2:30 p.m.

"Lady in the Dark" opened on Broadway in the early 1940's to enthusiastic cheers from critics and audiences alike. Carol Bruce, who has won raves in the title role on previous occasions, will portray Liza Elliott, the editor of a glamorous fashion magazine who tries to find in her job the excitement and happiness that the women about her have found in marriage.

The musical's book is by Moss Hart, while the score and lyrics are by Kurt Weill and Ira Gershwin.

Carol Bruce scored a personal triumph on tour in the recent revival of "Pal Joey," and later duplicating her assignment in the British production, became the toast of London with her singing of "Bewitched, Bothered and Bewildered." A favorite performer on television, she also graces the top night clubs on occasion.

Scott McKay, who has the leading male role, comes to the University campus immediately after starring in the New York City Center's lauded production of "Brigadoon." Remembered by Drama Season audiences for his excellent work in "Born Yesterday," McKay's Broadway dossier includes leading roles in "The Teahouse of the August Moon," "Sabrina Fair" and "Bell, Book and Candle." Film-goers have seen him in "Duel in the Sun," "Kiss and Tell" and "Guest in the House."

John O'Shaughnessy, director of such Broadway successes as "Command Decision" and "Red Roses for Me," has staged the musical. The choreographic direction is by Benjamin Harkavy, and Edwin Finckel is the musical director. Robert and Emma Melencamp have designed the production.

After "Lady in the Dark," the Drama Season will continue with Geoffrey Lumb, Joan Alexander and Gene Lyons in "Witness for the Prosecution," May 20-25; Francis Lederer, Joan McCracken and Tamara Geva in "The Sleeping Prince," May 27-June 1; Uta Hagen and Herbert Berghof in "The Affairs of Anatol," June 3-8; and Edward Everett Horton in "The Reluctant Debutante," June 10-15.

Tickets for "Lady in the Dark," as well as for the entire season, are available at the box office in the Lydia Mendelssohn Theatre.

5 out of 10 Smaller Cars wear a Pontiac Price Tag — yet none give you Any of Pontiac's Advantages

PONTIAC'S PERFORMANCE TOPS THE BEST THE SMALL CARS CAN OFFER—BY A WIDE MARGIN!

Not one of the smaller cars can measure up to Pontiac Performance. Whether you judge a power plant by engineering statistics or on-the-road performance, Pontiac's Strato-Streak V-8 stands head and shoulders above anything in the low-price field. Your Pontiac dealer will be happy to show you a complete facts-and-figures comparison—then an eye-opening test drive in traffic or out on the highway will supply all the heart-lifting proof you need that Pontiac has separated the men from the boys when it comes to performance!

PONTIAC GIVES YOU UP TO 8.9% MORE SOLID CAR PER DOLLAR!

Not one of the smaller cars can give you the heavy-duty construction, the road-hugging heft and solid security that surround you in every Pontiac. Yet Pontiac's the nimblest heavy-weight you ever managed—and your Pontiac dealer can show you more than six dozen advanced-engineering reasons why! Pontiac has gone all out to make this genuine big car the most docile package of might you ever had the pleasure of bossing. You'll find Pontiac's exclusive Precision-Touch Controls make steering and braking the surest, easiest you've ever experienced! Park it, cruise it, try it in stop-and-go traffic... this is driving the smaller jobs can't possibly equal.

PONTIAC GIVES YOU 4 TO 7 INCHES MORE WHEELBASE!

The small cars extend bumpers and fenders to look big—but Pontiac puts the extra length where it counts—between the wheels! Here's extra length that brackets the bumps instead of riding on them. And this extra length shows up inside, too, in stretch-out space for six footers. Add to Pontiac's bonus in length its all-new suspension system and you have an exclusive Level-Line Ride no car at any price can surpass... and a built-in sense of direction and security that will spoil you for the smaller cars forever!

—AND PONTIAC HAS ALWAYS BEEN FAMOUS AS ONE OF AMERICA'S TOP TRADE-INS!

Maybe it comes as a surprise to you that so much more car can be yours at the same price you've seen on the smaller cars. But there's the fact! And Pontiac is a wonderful investment, too! As you know, it has always commanded a top trade-in. So why not step out of the small-car class and into a Pontiac... there's nothing in your way. Your Pontiac dealer has the keys and an eye-opening offer waiting for you right now! So why not look and feel like a million—instead of a million others?

"Can You See, Steer, Stop Safely? ... Check Your Car—Check Accidents."

High Speed Travel Demands Sharp Eyes

Remember the good old days when Dobbin trotted down the road wearing blinders on his bridle? He could still see about as much as today's motorist traveling at speeds upward of 50. At 60 to 70 miles per hour, now a fairly common speed on expressways, nearly all drivers are afflicted with a form of temporary tunnel vision, declares the Institute for Safer Living. While traveling fast, a driver's effective clear range of vision sometimes narrows down to an angle as low as five percent of the normal visibility while standing still.

Oncoming vehicles, bridge abutments and highway signs and markers are readily visible up ahead, but all objects become an indistinguishable blur as you approach and pass them. It is because of these "blind" sides of a driver's vision that many turn-pike accidents occur, according to the Institute.

At 60, a driver's safety depends upon the degrees of skill with which he is able to use that small angle of vision left to him and make accurate judgments of time and distance. While nothing can be done to eliminate or improve "high speed tunnel vision," motorists can give their eyes the best possible break by observing the following:

- (1) Make sure that your eyes are free of inflammation or irritation before entering higher speed brackets.
- (2) Use your eyes skillfully and with the least amount of strain while driving.
- (3) Avoid glare as much as possible.
- (4) If glasses are needed, be sure you wear them. Clean them frequently.
- (5) Pull off the road and rest the eyes at the first signs of fatigue or undue strain. A candy bar or similar tid-bit munched while resting helps to restore energy and increase eye sensitivity.

(6) Always expect the unexpected. Repeated tests show that a driver moving in upper speed ranges can see an unexpected obstacle only half as far as he can see an expected one.

(7) Slow way down after sundown. Your eyes simply cannot cope with higher speeds under conditions of darkness and artificial lighting.

(8) Remember that your visual faculties are subject to change from year to year as you grow older. Have your eyes examined at periodic intervals.

Rapid completion of a nationwide system of freeways will soon bring increased high speed inter-city travel. Almost anyone may soon take a trip involving hundreds of miles over a single weekend. We must make sure that our eyesight is equal to the challenge of rapid movement. It is our most important driving asset.

TIPS for TEENS

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Should a boy be older than his date? Is it important for her to be younger than he is?

Q.—"I have a question to ask you: I met a girl who is a year older than me, but I like her very much and I am pretty sure she likes me. The big question is—is it all right to go with a girl a year older or should a boy always go with a girl younger than he?"

Ans.—There's no reason why a girl and boy can't be friends and have date-fun if she's a year older than he.
So little time—just one year—between your ages isn't important. What really matters is this: Do you like each other?

Do you enjoy the same kind of pastimes . . . have fun together and understand each other?
If the answer to these questions is "Yes," it makes no difference who is a year older, the girl or the boy. You'll never think of it when you're having fun together . . . and there's no reason why you should. A year is too little to matter between friends.

Besides, there's no rule that says a boy MUST be older than the girl in his date-life. Having similar interests, enjoying the same things and laughing at the same things is far more important.

If the fact that she's a little older is likely to embarrass the girl, don't mention it. Forget it.

J.A. Companies To Liquidate

Junior Achievement companies in Plymouth are entering the final stages of their 1956-57 fiscal year at peak business efficiency in an effort to make their annual liquidation pay dividends to all stockholders, according to John P. Mansfield, president of the Board of J.A. of Southeastern Michigan.

Physical assets of a teenage business group operating under the Junior Achievement learn-by-doing business training program must be converted into cash not later than May 9 and a report of liquidation must be issued to each stockholder who holds one or more 50 cent shares in one of the enterprises, Mansfield explained.

"The closing of the books of these groups in Southeastern Michigan rounds out a full year of business experience for the young men and women who started, last year, with an investment of stock to capitalize a business venture based on that idea."

Between capitalization and final liquidation they will have an opportunity to experience each step in the development of a corporate business structure.

"New companies will be organized in the fall and the same process will be repeated," Mansfield concluded.

Temperature on the north African deserts may range from 120 degrees in the afternoon to below freezing at night.

LANSING

REPORTING

By JOHN B. SWAINSON STATE SENATOR

One of the issues of this session that should not involve politics and should be among the first to have been resolved is still up in the air. At this point it would appear that what has been called "an economy drive" by some people, and other things by other people, has wiped out the possibilities of an institution for mentally retarded children to be located near Plymouth.

Implied in the omission of this item in the appropriations is a drastic ignoring of human needs, and also a broken promise.

My concern with the immediate problem is heightened by the compromise which the legislature reached in a long Special Session in 1955, when the first real beginning was made toward recognizing the needs of mentally retarded children and their parents. But the compromise was made possible only because it was agreed that within the next two years a building program would proceed, so that these children would not be lodged in left-over barracks. As this is written—unless my colleagues are persuaded to change their minds—in this area of appropriations the temporary arrangements made two years ago will continue to be the only arrangements.

Over the past two years the list of children eligible for such institutions has continued to grow at the same proportionate rate that was anticipated when the crisis arose in 1955. This should prove the case for 1957.

Perhaps because I feel that, "and there, but for the grace of God, goes my child." I think this issue warrants attention from the people in our community and all communities across the state.

When we left that historic Special Session of the fall of 1955, we were told that the need was recognized, but rather than buy existing buildings that were there available, i.e. Farmington Children's Home and Oakland County TB Sanatorium, we should enter into a temporary lease with the Federal Government for the barracks at Fort Custer.

Our lease expires on June 30, 1958; four hundred acres of land just South of the Wayne County Training School has been sold to the state for $1.00, the necessary sewage, drainage and water services are available. Money has previously been appropriated to get this far.

The time is NOW! If money is not appropriated to proceed, we are again going to be faced with a critical shortage of facilities for the mentally retarded children of Michigan. The costs of construction will increase and the problem facing us will not be resolved.

Illegal Boating Equipment Found

The Commander of the 9th Coast Guard District has issued a warning to the general public against the purchase of illegal or unsafe boating equipment.

To glamorize the new models, several small manufacturers have installed lights of various characteristics in addition to or in lieu of those prescribed by law. Flagrant examples include flashing red taillights, single or twin off-center all-around white stern lights, and twin headlights similar to those on an automobile.

The all-around white light aft is required to be displayed on the centerline and on class A and I motorboats is to form a range with the combination light. It must be of sufficient height to be clearly visible to approaching vessels. Off-center all-around white stern lights either single or double are illegal if lighted underway at night. The display of white headlights is prohibited as they impair the visibility of the combination or side lights.

The flashing red taillights are considered to be detrimental to safe navigation and impractical although such lights are not illegal unless they impair visibility or the distinctive character of the prescribed lights.

Since Coast Guard approved life preservers are only required on the navigable waters of the U.S., it is not illegal to manufacture equipment of questionable quality or characteristics. One of the Coast Guard approved preservers must be carried on board for each person on the boat when the boat is operated on the navigable waters of the U.S. and if not present the owner may be fined.

To purchase illegal or peculiar boating equipment is a waste of money and may eventually have to be replaced. More important, it may cost the life of its owners or others.

Chocolate Pie Rescues Jello That Refuses to Jell

EARLEEN POMROY GA. 1-5231 A neighborhood pinocle club met Monday evening, April 29 at the home of Marge Crossett, W.Chicago, and what with a sick child home all day requiring attention and the jello for the desert refusing to jell for some unknown reason, Marge really had a time getting ready for the meeting!

Anyway, Marge finally gave up on the planned dessert and substituted chocolate pie. Gals who got to eat chocolate pie that night were Mary Thompson, Gloria Stirrat, Laura Souter, Dolores Phillips, Evelyn Brooks, Mable Hartley, Marge Edwards and Vivian Hustler.

Tig Tarbutton, Vermont avenue, and her children Nancy and Johnny returned April 30th from a 3 week trip to Easton, Maryland where they visited Tig's mother and her father, who has been ill. For the return trip they brought back another grandma, Mrs. F. L. Tarbutton, also of Easton, for a visit.

The Lawrence Borgias of Blackburn avenue, along with Leslie and David, spent their Easter holiday in the East.

The Felices, Westmore avenue, the pants in the family—at least the most of them! Frederick Joseph arrived April 20th at New Grace Hospital and weighed in at 6 pounds, 4 ounces. Freddy has two brothers and two sisters.

Shame on everybody department: Women's club met April 25th for its regular meeting, with a speaker engaged and all in all a grand total of 2-count 'em—2 people showed up!

Peggy Jo Crossett, W. Chicago, reached the ripe old age of 3 years April 24th.

Helen Budjewska, our new neighbor on Vermont, spent Easter week in Chicago.

The Business and Professional Women's Association of Livonia, District 2, held a dinner and business meeting Sunday, April 28th at Dearborn Inn. Guest speaker was Rose Laird, of the cosmetic company.

Thursday, April 25th Tony and Kathy Pons, Woodring avenue, had visitors Mr. and Mrs. David Holmes and daughter Marion of Toronto. The Holmes were on their way home from a vacation in California.

Gary Elgin Griffith, infant son of Anita and Gene Griffith of Louisiana avenue was christened Sunday, April 28th at St. Michael's Church. After the christening the Griffiths had a buffet dinner for neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weinberger, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Thiede, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Casler, Anita's mother, Mrs. Nelson, arrived in time for the christening, too, and visited for a week.

Gary Crossett, W. Chicago, is a Cub Scout now. Congratulations, Gary!

Sunday, April 28 Bob and Geri Casler, Louisiana avenue, had Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Ludwig of Jackson, Michigan and Mr. and Mrs. James Sexton and their son Kim of Detroit as dinner guests.

The Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church Couple's Club held another square dance Friday evening, May 3rd at 8:30 p.m. at its regular monthly get to gether.

Hear Liz Page, Berwick avenue, made a trip to the hospital in Redford for a few days's stay, but is now back home.

Sad Tale Department: Patty Randall, Tommy Pickles and Lois Senn are all entertaining cases of chicken pox. Hear this curse of childhood is on the march in the Gardens, so stock up on coloring books and crayons, Moms.

Mary and Mike Wilson, Vermont avenue, attended a house party in Flat Rock Saturday, April 27th.

Millie and Bob Hancock, Cranston avenue, left Saturday, May 4th for New York City to attend the National Shoe Show and returned Thursday, today. While they were gone Bob's folks, the Hancocks who live on Blackburn, stayed with the children.

The Women's Republican Club met May 1 at the First Federal Bank Building and elected new officers. President is Phyllis Gaudin, 1st vice president, Jane Hayes, 2nd vice president, Katherine Duffy, secretary, Betty Falzetti, treasurer, Eunice Hancock and corresponding secretary Jean Daugherty. Jane Hayes, who is a member of the Cooper School Board, talked on the subject of annexation and such things as how millage is broken down, etc.

The Forests, Lillian and Bill of Vermont avenue, celebrated their wedding anniversary Saturday, May 4th.

Ann Young, Roseland avenue, who is a Future Teacher, is teaching at Rosedale school Tuesdays and Thursdays. Ann is an 11th grade student at Bentley High.

Grant P.T.A. held its final meeting for the school year Thursday evening in the multi-purpose room May 1st. A board meeting was held at 7 p.m. Newly elected officers were installed by Mrs. Bradford, Livonia P.T.A. Council President. New officers were Aline Hultquist, president; Nicky Voskuli, teacher vice president; Lenore LaPyrne, mother vice president; Jim Goman, father vice president; Betty Hallett, secretary; Betty Dana, corresponding secretary; Allen Rusch, treasurer; Pat Bowers, historian; and Mrs. Sperry, parliamentarian.

Guest speaker for the evening was Dr. S. Stefan, Psychiatrist for Detroit Juvenile Court. Refreshments were served by the hospitality committee at the end of the meeting.

There is an 8-week course in Cubscouting going on at present over at the Whitman Junior High school sponsored by the Rosedale Gardens Cub Scout Pack No. 1. This course is for men and women interested in scouting and interested in becoming den mothers or leaders. Meetings are held at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday nights, and at present about 150 men and women are attending.

Rosedale school 4th graders who have been bussed to Livonia Center school and other schools are now going to Grant school for the remainder of the school term, now that the addition has been finished on Grant. Everyone I've talked to seems to think that Grant is just about at, and come to think of it, it is!

Someone called to say that the William Arthurs of Cranston avenue returned from a 3 week stay in Florida last week and are sporting some beautiful tan!

Good news department: Linda Brockman, Shadyside avenue, who was recently confined to her home for 3 months with rheumatic fever is now back in school. Linda is in the 4th grade at Rosedale school, but is among the ones shifted over to Grant for the rest of the semester, so it must all seem very hard for her!

Diane Howarth, Mayfield avenue, celebrated her 9th birthday April 26th with luncheon at her grandmother's—in Detroit and then spent the weekend there.

Vivian and Speedy Quick, Vermont avenue, had a houseful of company again, Mrs. Eleanor Lamont and son Lance, Mrs. Frank Lamont and Miss Lois Schmidt, all of Chicago, visited them last week. Lance and Lois were on their Easter vacation, and with all our kids back in school, they sure had the street to themselves.

Rosedale Gardens Explorer Troop Post 761, sponsored by the Rosedale Gardens Civic Association, made a trip April 27th and 28th to the Yatenam farm at Liberty, Michigan, which is near Jackson. The boys camped out while there and also managed to plant 500 seedling trees! This is a mighty lot of trees, even small ones, but it was part of the requirements to earn their Forestry merit badge.

Post advisor for this troop is Mr. Hermans, committee chairman, Mr. Marshall, and committee man, Mr. Stout. The boys who went on the trip were Jim Cullbertson, Chuck Stout, Tom Lau, Jim Munch, Don Randall, Don Pope, Jack Marshall, Greg Hall and Bill Eddelman.

The Women's club met at Marge Crossett's on W. Chicago Tuesday morning, April 30th at 9:30 a.m. The ladies enjoyed coffee cake and coffee and held a business meeting. Members present were Eleanor Curie, Ginny Gamber, Ginny Byrd, Chloé Diefenderfer, Carolyn Campbell, Doris Sears, Velma Kastner, Mildred Jacobs, Ellie Button, and quite a few children.

Monday evening, April 22nd, the Nursery School mothers met at Betty Broscoff's house with Miss Donna Baker, Principal of Rosedale school and Dr. Michael Bohan, Assistant Supervisor of Livonia Schools to discuss Kindergarten. This was a group of mothers of 5 year olds who will be starting school in the Fall, so it was very helpful to them to be able to ask questions and receive information on what is ahead for their children.

Jennifer Kastner, W. Chicago, spent her Easter vacation at her grandmother's farm at Northbranch, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brocklehurst from Sault St. Marie arrived for the Easter holidays and spent 10 days visiting the Hopps of Mayfield avenue. The Brocklehursts are the parents of Mrs. Hopp.

Three boys from the Rosedale Garden Explorer Troop No. 761 took a guided tour of the U. S. Rubber Company in Detroit April 24th. The boys are Jack Marshall, Greg Hall, and Bill Ellis. This is an Explorer Scout activity sponsored by the Detroit Area Boy Scouts in cooperation with the Engineering Society of Detroit.

The regular monthly dance at the clubhouse was really something, from what I hear! The theme was Paris in the Spring and the clubhouse was decorated with palettes and silver paint tubes dripping color, flowers and a stuning Eiffel Tower which I hear was a creation of John Harte! Chairmen for this dance were Dorothy and Glenn Day with Dave and Rose Gibson, Irene and Al Koteles and John and Peg Harte as committee. Sour note department: someone said that, in all this lovely Parisian atmosphere someone played the record "Deep in the Heart of Texas!" Now isn't this going a bit too far, even for Texas???

Mrs. Otto Hanson, Cranston, has been visiting her daughter Barbara in Ohio. Barbara became the mother of a baby boy Thursday, April 25th.

Duplicate bridge enthusiasts, take note! There is a duplicate bridge club, sponsored by Livonia Department of Parks and Recreation at Rosedale school Thursday evenings at 7:45. This club started May 2nd and if you know how to play duplicate bridge or want to learn how, now is the time and everyone is welcome. A cost of $1.00 per evening, which includes refreshments, is the low cost of belonging to this club. Duplicate Bridge isn't as complicated as it sounds, in fact I had a gentleman explain it to me so I feel I really know how to go about it—now if I could just play plain bridge!

Civic meeting tonight! Those lights at the clubhouse are burning for you, dear Member so turn off the T.V. and amble over to meet and greet your old and new neighbors. The meeting tonight is going to be a Spring Social Hour, because there is very little business to do and you'll get a chance to hear all the improvements that are to be done to the clubhouse in the next month or so and see the beautiful back panelling that has been put up recently. See you there.

The June dance will be June 9th, so be thinking about it and lining up your baby sitters, because this will be the Sportsman Dance which no one wants to miss! Because of the early date of this dance there will be no May Dance.

Someone broke into the clubhouse and got into the food supplies for the April 27th dance! Looks like the next "improvement" we'll have to be making on the clubhouse is an alarm system or a barbed wire entanglement!

Will end this column on an unseasonal lament: where oh where are the Christmas tree lights for the indoor tree at the clubhouse? Think! because the Fire Department won't let us use candles next year, you know!

Detroit Physician Elected Health Society President

Max L. Lichter, M.D., Detroit physician, was named president of the Tuberculosis and Health Society at its annual meeting April 30 at the Veteran's Memorial Building in Detroit.

Dr. Lichter is active in the Wayne County Society and is chairman of the Health Federation of United Community Services. He succeeds Harold M. McCracken, business executive.

Other officers named to head the Christmas Seal organization for 1957 are Robert E. Forbes, advertising manager of the Michigan CIO News, and Oliver D. Marcks, attorney, vice-presidents; Mrs. Jane H. Lovejoy, former member of the Detroit Board of Education, secretary and Dudley W. Apps, assistant trust officer, Manufacturer's National Bank, treasurer.

Detroit and Wayne County has 62 per cent of all the tuberculosis in Michigan, T. J. Werle, executive secretary of the Michigan Tuberculosis Assoc., revealed at the annual meeting.

"We cannot say that TB is licked. If we turn our backs on the dangers of the disease we are like the sailor who turns his back on an open seacock in his ship. The ship will sink. So TB will increase rather than decrease if we underestimate its continued threat," Mr. Werle said.

Last year there were 289 deaths from tuberculosis here. The TB and Health Society's tuberculosis control program, which is supported through the annual sale of Christmas Seals, unifies services in medical social work, education, rehabilitation and research.
