

VOLUNTEER HELP is getting the grounds and orchestra shell ready for this Sunday's Plymouth Colony concert in Plymouth Township. Between a willow and evergreens, the shell with a multi-level floor and canopy is being erected. The shell faces west toward a slope on which the audience will be seated. A new type of construction utilizing inch and one-eighth thick plywood manufactured by one of the divisions of Plymouth's Evans Products Co. is used for the floor of the stage.

90-Piece Symphony Opens Series

Sitting on a grassy hillside west of Plymouth late this Sunday afternoon will be an audience that will pioneer what may be a bright and long future for outdoor summer music in this area.

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra will be featured in the first of the Plymouth Colony Concert Series starting at 5 p.m. On a canopied stage and in front of a picturesque lake, Conductor Wayne Dunlap will lead the 90-piece orchestra through eight selections.

Season tickets are still being sold for the three-concert series that is being held on Plymouth Colony Farms, located three miles west of Plymouth. Access to the concert site can be found by traveling west on Joy road.

A large parking area will be provided. From the parking area there will be a short walk through a woods to the hillside which overlooks the concert site and lake. Blankets spread on the ground or chairs which the audience may bring can be placed anywhere on the slope. Chairs will also be provided for those not bringing their own seating.

Miss Norma Heyde, soprano, will be the soloist Sunday. She has won acclaim in the oratorio and concert fields. She received her masters degree in voice from the University of Michigan in 1950 and that year was a soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra in the Ann Arbor May Festival.

The program is as follows: "Water Music" by Handel, followed by Miss Heyde singing three selections by Mozart, "Batti, Batti" from "Don Giovanni", "Dove Sono" from "Marriage of Figaro" and "Alleluia" from "Exultate Jubilate". The Moldau by Smetana will be followed by intermission.

Completing the program will be "Les Nuits D'ete" (sung by Miss Heyde) by Berlioz, "Toccata" by Frescobaldi-Kindler; and "Overture to Tannhauser" by Wagner.

Petunia Contest Entries Must Be Mailed by July 6

The Plymouth Garden Club has set Saturday, July 6 as the deadline for mailing in entry blanks for the Plymouth Petunia Contest that will offer a savings bond and two cash prizes.

This year has been the club's first effort to beautify Plymouth by urging residents and business establishments to plant one type of flower. The contest will be only for residents in the city, according to Mrs. Sidney Strong, chairman of the contest committee.

While merchants have also been urged to plant petunias in windowboxes, only a few were able to erect boxes in time for the planting season. Mrs. Strong said that many others, however, are still interested and that arrangements will be made to obtain windowboxes for next year.

Judging for the contest will be held Thursday, August 22 beginning at 10 a.m. Three judges have been obtained. They are Ray Henstock of the Garden Center in Detroit; Mrs. Glenn H. Cummings, president of the Northville Garden Club; and Hugh McAuley, head of the city's parks and forestry department.

First prize will be a $25 savings bond; second prize, $10 in cash; and third prize, $5.

It is required that all plantings be judged by the street. Mrs. Strong said that judging will be based on pleasing colors and arrangements and that the petunias must show that they are well cared for.

Plans for Independence Day Celebration Near Completion

Donors Give 205 Pints of Blood

"A huge success" were the terms used Tuesday as the Red Cross Bloodmobile left Plymouth with 205 pints of life-saving blood.

Located at the Masonic Temple Tuesday afternoon and evening, the Bloodmobile's visit was a much greater success than ever anticipated, planners of the event declared.

With hopes of obtaining at least 300 pledges, workers returned over 400 pledge cards. There were 300 people reporting at the blood center, of which nearly 95 were rejected for various reasons.

According to Mrs. Albert Hubbs, local chairman of the Red Cross, the Bloodmobile usually has its hands full with 275 people in one day, but 300 showed up here Tuesday. As a result, up to 40 people at a time were registering or waiting. Few people who could not wait had to leave. Mrs. Hubbs said that the Red Cross regrets the inconvenience of waiting and hopes that those who had to leave return next year.

Mrs. Max Brillhart, chairman of the local sponsoring group, said that a reservation for next year will probably be made very soon.

Many more people than usual were accepted for donations, Mrs. Brillhart said, and many more pledges than usual showed up. There were eight beds filled at all times by donors. About 25 Red Cross nurses and volunteer workers were on duty from 2 p.m. until 9 p.m. An hour was scheduled for supper, but the period was cut short in order to take more donors. The supper was served by the Order of Eastern Star.

There were five registration tables where information about the prospective donors was taken. A nurse then took the applicant's temperature and pulse. Another nurse then asked applicant personal questions and decided if they were able to give. Juice was then given the donor. Following the donation, refreshments furnished by the Red Cross were served.

Governor Accepts Invitation; Parade, Other Events Readied

Plymouth's Independence Day celebration which has now become traditional is nearing its final stages of planning—a program that will again include a big parade, kiddies events, a Miss Plymouth contest, a visit by Governor G. Mennen Williams and fireworks.

City Fire Chief Robert McAllister is general chairman of this year's observance which will open with a colorful parade at 11 a.m. Richard Wernette is parade marshal, assisted by William Lyons and Jack Gillis.

The parade will form on Forest avenue at 10 a.m. and will move down Main street to the grounds behind the high school an hour later.

Among the groups participating in the parade will be a color guard of Marines, the Plymouth High school band, a contingent of sailors from the Grosse Isle Naval Training Station, a Detroit Edison steam calliope, floats from industry, business and organizations, floats from the 10 playgrounds, farm equipment, horses, fire engines and antique cars.

Officials from Plymouth township and city will lead the parade.

Also participating in the parade will be the Miss Plymouth contestants. There are 21 girls now entered and others who want to enter can still register at the Chamber this week.

The girls will appear in evening dresses during the night show. The winner will receive a trip for two to New York City arranged by the Travel Centre. There will also be other prizes.

Following the parade, a horse show under the chairmanship of Robert Waldecker will take place behind the high school. Ribbons will be given for the best in each classification.

At 2 p.m., the Plymouth Optimist club and the Recreation department are sponsoring kiddies events. Highlight of the afternoon will be a "peanut drop" during which fliers Bob Mettetal and Frank Lodge will drop two bushels of peanuts, candy and gum from an airplane. Certain peanuts will contain messages making the finders eligible for prizes donated by merchants.

Governor Williams and Lieutenant Governor Philip Hart will fly into Mettetal Airport at about 5:30 p.m. and will have dinner at the Hotel Mayflower at 6. They will arrive at the football field at 7 when the evening program will begin. The governor, who has made the Plymouth stop on July 4th for several years, will give a short greeting.

Two WHRV radio entertainers, Joe Gentile and Ralph Binge, will be the masters of ceremony for the evening

71 Sailors Need 'Adoption' July 4

Plymouth citizens are being asked to open their homes on July 4th for one or more of the 71 young Navy recruits who will be marching in the Independence Day parade.

J. H. Wilcox, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said that an effort is being made to find a home for an hour or two for each of the recruits who are in boat training at the Grosse Isle Naval Training Station. The sailors mostly 17 and 18 years of age and come from Ohio and Michigan.

"We would like citizens to give them a simple meal at noon," Wilcox said. "For most of them their boot camp training is their first time away from home."

To "adopt" a sailor, citizens can phone the Chamber office at 497 and arrangements will be made.

Man Stabbed by Wife

Released from Hospital

John Hurn, the Plymouthite who last week was in critical condition after being stabbed by his wife, was released from Wayne County General hospital Saturday.

Police said that no charges have been made against Mrs. Hurn who stabbed her husband June 15 as he was beating her up. Hurn has a number of assault and battery convictions brought on by beating his wife. The couple was recently divorced and remarried a week later.

Mrs. Hurn was in the kitchen when her husband, who had been drinking, came in and started to kick and hit her, according to police. Mrs. Hurn picked up a kitchen knife and stabbed her husband below the bottom rib. He was in very critical condition for a while.

Agriculture Dept. Places 136 Beetle Traps in Plymouth

Plymouth police have been receiving numerous calls during the past week asking about some mysterious-looking objects which have been placed in their back yards by persons unknown.

Many folks, however, recognized the apparatus as Japanese beetle traps and they were placed there by the State Department of Agriculture.

According to Hubert Kendeigh, regional supervisor for the department, there were 136 of the traps placed in the city of Plymouth last week. Each contains a small amount of eugenol which attracts Japanese beetles. If beetles follow their scent, they will crawl into a funnel and get themselves trapped where "trap tenders" will find them.

Kendeigh says that the tenders will drop by every week or 10 days to check on their catch—if any. It has been many years since traps were placed in Plymouth, Kendeigh states, the reason being that no beetles were found here the last time. The traps will remain here into August.

Michigan Agriculture department men are proud of the fact that they have very few Japanese beetle cases, Kendeigh declares. Hatching their eggs in the ground (between 40 and 60 eggs), the beetle makes its appearance around July 1 if weather is warm. The larva eats 250 varieties of roots, while the flying beetle will devour no less than 500 varieties of plant life.

If infested ground is found, strict quarantine is maintained in the area, Kendeigh added.

Detroit Salutes Local Historical Society, Community

Plymouth's Historical Society and the Plymouth community itself were honored Tuesday night in a ceremony at the Detroit Historical Museum where a "Salute to Plymouth" has been on display for three months.

Fifty Plymouth area residents traveled to the modern museum by car and chartered bus. Most of the group were members of the Plymouth Historical Society who had gathered material for the exhibit.

The local historical group was honored for its nine years of effort to promote the preservation of historical facts and articles. Taking part in the brief ceremony from here were Lawrence P. Money, president of the Historical Society, and Albert Glassford, city manager, who represented Mayor Harold E. Guenther.

A man whose forefathers were among Plymouth's early settlers, Marquis E. Shattuck, was master of ceremonies for the evening. He is vice-president of the Detroit Historical Society, the largest local society in the nation. The Shattuck family settled near where the Burroughs plant is now located. The master of ceremonies presented a book about Detroit's history to the Plymouth club. President Money acknowledged the gift and invited Shattuck to become a member of the Plymouth Historical Society, "where you seem to rightfully belong." Money told the group that he hoped that the Plymouth society may also have a home of its own in the future.

Detroit's historiographer George W. Stark, brought greetings from the city of Detroit for Mayor Albert E. Cobo. He recalled his childhood when he and other boys penetrated a dark woods with their Daisy air rifles made in Plymouth.

He presented a letter of greeting from Mayor Cobo which congratulated Plymouth for its progressiveness and participation in the exhibit which has been seen by 70,000 people. The letter was presented to Manager Glassford who in turn praised Detroit and Mayor Cobo for its programs of modernization which has benefited the entire metropolitan area. The final speakers were Henry D. Brown, director of the Detroit Historical Museum, and Solan Weeks, curator for the museum.

Among the local items on display were pioneer Daisy air rifles, relics of many sorts, old and recent copies of the Plymouth Mail, and numerous pictures of Plymouth of yesterday and today.

Refreshments were served following the program by the Detroit Historical Society Auxiliary.

A "SALUTE to Plymouth" has been one of the exhibits at the Detroit Historical Museum for the past few months. Charles A. Root, Sr., a member of the Plymouth Historical Society, is shown looking at part of the exhibit preceding Tuesday night's program honoring Plymouth and its Historical Society.

Historical Society 4 from Plymouth Take Has Annual Picnic 4-H Camping Trip

The annual summer picnic of the Plymouth Historical Society has held last Sunday afternoon in the back yard of the home of Mrs. Clara Todd, 207 West Ann Arbor Trail.

The affair was a potluck with ice cream being furnished by the society. The occasion also marked the birthday of the hostess and in acknowledgement of "her past and self-sacrificing endeavors in behalf of the society's progress," Mrs. Todd was presented with a fountain pen.

Although the picnic was intended to be social, a small amount of business took place. A committee was appointed to see what could be done toward creating a Plymouth Historical Society float to be entered in the July 4th parade here.

Vice-president Karl Starkweather presented his recently compiled list of half century or more Plymouth old-timers—citizens who have lived within Plymouth city or township 50 or more years ago and who still do.

While the list is still in the process of being corrected, there are at least 125 citizens who have qualified. The total population for the village of Plymouth in 1900 was only 1,474 and only about 200 more 10 years later.

Local Barber Shop Makes Windy City Newspaper

The unusual name of a local well-known barbershop has evidently captured the eye of many people who pass by it on Ann Arbor road. A small article appeared June 17 in the Chicago Daily News.

Under the headline "Shear Aptness," the article read: "Plymouth, Mich.—A barber shop near here is called Duke's Clip Joint."

Relatives of a Plymouth resident clipped the item and sent it here.

There's been a lot of talk in recent years about labor saving devices that help make things easier for the ladies . . . but there's one improvement science can't take credit for. Housework may keep many a Mrs. busier than a traffic cop in a revolving door . . . but hubby doesn't spend all his time around home dozing on the davenport.

A Gallup Poll shows that 4 out of 10 husbands help with the housework; one-third wash dishes most of the time. This catches hubby red-handed with his paws in the dishwasher. A man's home may be his castle, but he doesn't always live like a king. Well, as the local cynic says, "Man's work is from sun to sun, but woman's work is never done . . . unless a man helps her."

It seems that an Indian named Shortcake reached his eternal reward and when the government queried his widow as to whether she wished them to handle the last rites, the widow replied "No, squaw bury shortcake."

Chicago burglars stole $1500 loot from Alec Brown's home and carted it off in Brown's luggage. They didn't even leave him holding the bag.

This is no time of year for feeling tired and run-down. If lack of energy is holding you back from enjoying your full share of summer-weather activities, stop in and let us recommend the vitamin preparation that'll leave you rarin' to go!

Plymouth's Business

Four years after the merger of Plymouth Federal Savings with First Federal Savings of Detroit, June 30, 1953, the local office at 843 Penniman Avenue has grown to serve 4,407 savings customers and has total savings accounts of more than $6,400,000, reports Perry W. Richwine, First Federal vice president and branch manager. The fourth anniversary is being observed this week.

Since becoming the Plymouth branch of First Federal Savings of Detroit, the office has taken part in the steady growth of Michigan's largest savings association, whose assets now exceed $225,000,000.

"Our growth at the Plymouth branch the past four years reflects to some extent the coming of new people to this area, Richwine says. Among the reasons which has led to First Federal's growth are the services it offers, Richwine declares. These include a postpaid save-by-mail plan making it easy for customers who live at a distance to save entirely by mail.

In addition to savings accounts, First Federal offers home mortgage and home improvement plans, Christmas Savings club, Vacation Savings Club, American Express travelers checks, money orders and the issue and redemption of savings bonds.

First Federal, which now pays 3% on savings, ranks fifth in savings totals among more than 6,000 associations in the nation.

John Wimsatt, of Wimsatt Appliances, had his first cooking school of the year in his new location and it was enthusiastically received by the ladies of St. John's Episcopal Church. Many prizes were given and the ladies are eagerly looking forward to another one to learn more of the innovations in cooking as demonstrated by the Detroit Edison Home Economists.

Class of '37 Has Reunion Picnic

With perfect picnic weather to greet them, 40 graduates of Plymouth High school Class of 1937 were welcomed back to Plymouth Sunday for their 20th reunion. It was held at the Elks Temple.

The potluck was followed by a roll call answered by those present and with letters read from those absent. Special guests were Miss Edna Allen and Miss Neva Lovewell, teachers of the class.
Patricia Cassidy Davis of Chatham, New Jersey flew to Plymouth to win the prize for coming the most distance. A committee was appointed to plan a dinner dance for the 25th reunion in 1962.
George Kenyon of Plymouth was chairman of Sunday's reunion.

PLYMOUTH High school's Class of '37 assembled here Sunday afternoon for a 20th year reunion. The 40 returning members posed for this picture on the picnic

MEN AT WORK! Volunteers from many occupations, some of them in business, are erecting the orchestra shell for the Plymouth Colony Concert Series which opens Sunday. Railroad ties were placed in the ground and sawed off at various levels. Workers are shown placing a new inch and an eighth plywood made by Evans Products Company on top of the posts. This type of construction is gaining popularity in the West but is new in this area.

Cutting Corners Okay if They're The Right Ones

Cutting corners in building the basement recreation room is a good idea if they're the right ones. If this means gaining more space, fine, say contractors, but if it means compromising on the quality of materials it may result later in higher and more frequent repair bills.

The room should be designed to exploit durable materials such as tile, glass and steel. These can be employed in harmony with knotty pine, for example, and will stand the gaff of constant wear and tear.

Here are some random thoughts to jot down for consideration before putting the carpenters to work:

1. Ceiling. Drop ceiling to hide pipes and added wiring.
2. Walls. Old partitions can be knocked out and new knotty-pine walls built dividing auxiliary rooms such as those housing furnace and lavatory. Steel posts supporting the floors above can be boxed in simulating beams.
3. Floor. Quarry tile is ideal for finishing off recreation room floors. Crackproof and stainproof, it will stand anything from a jam session to a shuffle board game.
4. Stairs. They can be covered by the same colorful quarry tile as the floor.
5. Bar. Knotty pine fits well again here and a back-bar of glass recessed into the wall not only serves its purpose, but provides a neat contrast to the wood.
6. Television set. This also can be recessed neatly in a wall which actually may be nothing more than a false front to hide water and gas meters.
7. Doors. Give some thought to doors of flush birch in panel design. Of course, if a fire door is advisable, then steel is the best material.

Miss Mildred White left by plane Friday for a two week's vacation with relatives in Osage, Iowa, and Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Reunion Held By Class of '21

The Plymouth High School class of 1921 had a memorable evening in the Continental Room at Hillside Inn last Saturday. Twenty-five were seated at a table decorated with roses and tapers. Members came from Chicago, Ill., Mio, Grand Blanc, Oxford, Detroit and Plymouth.

Miss Edna M. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Holcomb of our faculty and all guests were made honorary class members.
Clifford Tait is chairman for the 1961 reunion, by which time they hope to locate classmates who were in the high school grades with the class of 1921.
Mrs. Harold Smith (Merle Roe) was the mistress of ceremonies.

LOTS OF INTEREST was created Monday morning when a crane lifted air conditioning equipment to the roof of the three-story Hotel Mayflower. Southbound traffic on Main street was re-routed as the work was going on. The installation is being made by Harold E. Stevens Heating & Air Conditioning.

Sister Mary Paula Buried

Funeral services were held Monday, June 24, at the Felician Sisters convent in Livonia for Sister Mary Paula, CSSF, former President-Dean of Madonna College and most recently principal of St. Andrew high school, Detroit. Burial was at Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Sister Mary Paula

The death occurred Thursday evening, June 21, at the mother-house infirmary where Sister was confined to bed since mid-April. Aged 63 at the time of her death, Sister spent 45 years in religious life in various educational positions.

For 21 years she taught at the Felician Academy, Detroit. She was principal of St. Joseph high school and St. Andrew high school, Detroit. She also taught at Mt. Carmel high school, Wyandotte, and St. Joseph high school, Manistee.

Driving License Law Change Noted

Several new driver's license laws have been signed recently including a law making it unnecessary for students taking driver education to take out an instruction permit.

The Plymouth police department this week announced the significant changes which affect young people who are learning to drive. Previously it has been necessary for all students taking the high school's driver education course to first obtain a restricted instruction permit.

This is now unnecessary, but students may drive only with certified instructors while actually taking the course.

If a student has not reached the age of 16 but has completed the course, and successfully passed the written, oral and hearing tests, he may drive with a parent or guardian. He then must have an examiner's signature on the certificate issued by the driver education instructor.

Only after these persons have reached the age of 16 will original applications be received by the department. Public Act 235 provides that no driver education is necessary for persons who had been issued an operator's license prior to February 1, 1957. This includes minor's restricted licenses, which must be issued for the same privileges as originally granted.

It is still possible for a youth 14 to 16 years old to apply for a restricted license under "extenuating circumstances".

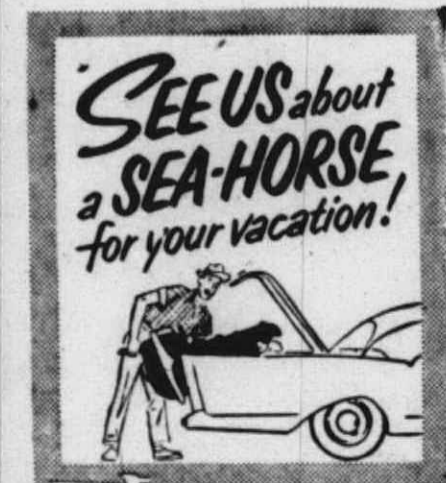

Many Grave Plantings Violate Regulations

Relatives of those buried in Riverside Cemetery are again this year being urged not to make plantings or set flower pots further than six inches away from the monument.

Although the Cemetery Board has had the ruling for many years, there are constant violations, according to City Manager Albert Glassford, and reminders must be given.

Some people go ahead and plant shrubs or evergreens anywhere on the plot without consulting cemetery regulations, the manager said. Every little bush or flower that is planted means extra trimming, extra time and labor costs, Glassford said. Unless the planting is authorized, they will be taken out.

Who's New in Plymouth

MOVING HERE from Hanover, Pennsylvania were Mr. and Mrs. Boyden E. Muzzy and their two children Jeff and Nanette. They make their home at 424 N. Harvey street and Mr. Muzzy is employed at Detroit Diesel. Mrs. Muzzy pursues many hobbies, including oil painting, sewing and ceramics while Mr. Muzzy likes fishing and woodworking. Jeff will start junior high next year while Nanette attends Bird school. A friend invited them to make their home in Plymouth where they found "a wonderful town with gorgeous trees and a good school system." The family is shown looking at an oil painting that Mrs. Muzzy is currently doing.

A Woman's Eye View

by Nancy Rigney

Introductions are in order.

My name is Nancy Rigney, although both have been frequently shortened to Nan or Rig. Born 21 year ago in Detroit, I have lived in the vicinity ever since. July will mark the middle of the ninth year that my family has lived in Livonia. I live with my parents, a 12 year-old sister, Ainsley, (she would prefer me to say 13, since she is much closer to that age than 12) and a large shaggy black dog, named Tyler.

I graduated from Bentley High School in 1953 and have spent the past four years at Michigan State University in East Lansing. In line with a major in journalism, I worked on the Michigan State News, the daily student publication, as a night editor and women's editor. On June 8 I roasted beneath a mortar board with 2,242 others in Macklin Stadium to receive a bachelor of arts degree.

Now its all over, and I'm back home again, enjoying my job with the Plymouth Mail and trying to take a drivers test so I can drive to work.

I feel I need no introduction to Plymouth. I already know I like its red brick streets, old and new buildings, shady trees, Kellogg Park, merchants and residents. I even like that fire siren. I must admit I was far from comfortable with it the first time I heard it, which was a little after 5 p.m. Thursday. Amid its whirring, motorcycle policemen and screeching police cars I was almost convinced of an atomic attack. I finally realized the significance as the fire truck streaked past me. I've been told since that the siren calls out the volunteer firemen-but I'm sure you know that.

July may be Picnic Month, but June started the ball rolling. The Canton Community Center club is having a Strawberry Festival tonight at 7 p.m. to raise money to send the Boy Scout troop to summer camp.

Last weekend was a fun weekend for a couple of Cub Scouts. Robin Wideman of 906 South Harvey and Barry Rowland of 1035 Sutherland canoed down the Huron River with their fathers. They left from Kent Lake Saturday morning, and had their fill (if that's possible) of tenting, cooking-out, fishing and of course an occasional cool dip in the river. The crew arrived Sunday afternoon at the fishing site below Portage Lake. The boys are members of den 4 of pack 6.

Here are a few unrelated but interesting tidbits concerning perfume. It was quite an exclusive commodity protected and regulated by laws in the days of yore. In the 17th century, laws prohibited perfumes to the lower classes, being reserved only for members of royalty. In the court of Louis XV a different fragrance was officially prescribed for use each day. Napoleon must have been one of the sweetest dictators of all time. He is said to have used an average of 54 bottles of cologne each month.

But perhaps more lavish than Napoleon was Nero of Rome. This famous fiddler had the roofs of his dining hall painted to represent the firmament and had an assortment of perfumes showering down on his guests. They probably ate delicacies saturated with the latest sprinklings from above, meats savoring of lilac scent, Chanel No. 5 salad dressing and wines spiked with My Sin. If I can say it, to each his own.

Grange Cleanings

The last Grange meeting before vacation was a rather busy one, with lots of business matters to be taken care of and many plans to be made for the summer.

The first was the Tri-County picnic of last Sunday at Milan which was attended by thirty members of Plymouth Grange. Pot luck dinner was followed by a program of music, songs and skits. Our Grange put on the "wedding" which met with so much appreciation here a few months ago. On July 13 the Grange is invited to hold their semi-monthly picnic at Lee Sackett's cottage at Straits Lake. Further particulars will be given next week.

Saturday July 20, will be a special party honoring our "bride-to-be" Molly Groth and her fiancée at the Grange hall at 8 p.m. Ice cream and cake will be served. All the Grangers are invited to attend.

On July 18 the usual picnic in the park is scheduled. Picnics will also be held August 1 and 15. Saturday evening of August 3, the Grange is invited to a "corn roast" at Willoughby Wisely's home. More about that later.

So you see our summer vacation has several very enjoyable occasions planned. We hope you may all be able to participate in all of them.

Mrs. E. Vealey entertained her old school chums, Mrs. Maud Bird of Highland Park and Mrs. Argie Merryweather of Ortonville, on Thursday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie McConnell went up to Clare on Sunday to visit their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. James Start.

Social Security Disability Freeze Deadline Nears

Any disabled person who has worked at least five years under Social Security and has not filed for disability freeze is urged to contact the social security office by June 30, 1957, according to Harry Baltuck, manager of the Detroit Northwest district office. June 30, 1957 is a very important date for anyone whose disability started in 1956 or earlier. He may lose his rights to a disability freeze and disability payments if he does not file an application by this date. Failure to apply may also cause a disabled person to lose his right to retirement benefit at age 65.

You would be perfectly correct in assuming that none of us, in the Schrader organization, would ever be satisfied with mediocre professional work—professional work which might "get by." All of us take great pride in the creation of a beautiful memory picture, based on the most modern techniques of embalming, derma-surgery and cosmetology.

Railroad Police Combat Juvenile Trespassers

Railroad police of the Chesapeake & Ohio as well as other railroads across the nation have been proving the truth of one old adage—"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure". They have set their sights on preventing juvenile trespassing on railroad property with injury and death often resulting. Their united efforts have shown results. Sixteen years ago there were 285 trespassers under 21 killed and 324 injured. Last year records listed 102 killed and 154 injured. The toll is still far too high, the police say, especially in the age group under 14 years. In order to further cut these injuries and fatalities, school safety rallies have been held here and in other cities with short talks and safety films on the dangers of unauthorized excursions on railroad property. With school now out for the summer and two railroad divisions crossing Plymouth city and township, the railroad police are making a special appeal to youngsters, and to their parents who should realize their responsibility. State law may hold the parents liable for recovery up to $300 in addition to taxable court costs. In 1956 throughout the U. S. and Canada, juveniles were responsible in 2585 cases involving placing of obstructions on railroad tracks. Some instances of injury to innocent people were recorded. There were also 6,974 cases of tampering with switches, stoning of trains, breaking of inulators, switch and signal lights, arson, etc. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Glass, daughter, Janice and son, Jerry of Syracuse, Indiana, Mrs. Howard Robison and daughter, Susie of Avilla, Indiana, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Huber and daughter, Cathy of Belleville and Marie McLane of Garden City were dinner guests Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Glass on Mill street. Mrs. Robison is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glass. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nelson and daughter, Linda Ann, have returned from a vacation in Kenosha, Wisconsin, and Minneapolis, Minnesota, where they visited relatives and friends for a week.

Parade to Kick-Off Annual Celebration

Earleen Pomroy
GA. 1-5231

The 4th of July celebration, an annual affair put on by Rosedale Gardens Civic Association will be rolling around soon with fun for everyone, whether members of Civic or not, so be sure to give when the street representative comes around collecting money for the fireworks! The day will start out with a costume parade at 10:00 a.m. with pop for all contestants and prizes for the best costumes in the following classifications: comic, patriotic, pretty, original, character, bikes, trikes and wagon. This promises to be a lot of fun for grownups and kids alike, so have your contestant all ready at W. Chicago and Berwick! At 10:30 there will be a bake sale at the clubhouse by the Boy Scout's mothers, at 11:30 the Flag raising, and at 11:30 the men's baseball game. There will be children's games starting at 2:00 P.M. and adult games starting at 4:00 P.M. with prizes, and the evening's entertainment starts at 7:30 with 3 acts of super entertainment, climaxed by fireworks! I went last year and was truly amazed at the fine program. This is one of the things that makes Rosedale Gardens such a wonderful place in which to live. P.S.—The committee has requested that no livestock be entered—Last year small children were frightened by the horses!

Mr. and Mrs. John Coleman, Montana avenue, attended the graduation of Philip James Maroney June 15th when he graduated as a doctor from the University of Michigan. An aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Burchleigh from Louisiana visited the Colemans and also attended the graduation.

New officers for Rosedale Gardens Civic Association are: Bob Durivage, president; Bob Page, 1st vice president; Jack Goodrick, 2nd vice president and house chairman; Rita Seelinger, secretary; Alan Stanley, treasurer and Bill Byrd and Les Core, directors.

Hugh Hearon, son of Celia and Travis Hearon of Vermont avenue celebrated his 7th birthday June 20 with a wiener roast and a baseball game at Whitman Park. Those attending were John Yadosky, Dale Forest, Dickie Barber, Allen Edwards, Steven Durfee and Hugh's sister Pam and brother Dennis.

Debbie and Russ Parkinson, Melrose avenue, flew to Columbus, Ohio Saturday, June 15 to attend the wedding of Debbie's brother, returning Saturday night with her folks, Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner of West Orange, N. J., who spent the remainder of the weekend with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence, Woodring avenue, had a family gathering Sunday, June 16 at their home with 19 adults and 7 children present. This was a farewell party for Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Bowick and their two children.

Five moms on Woodring have decided to share the grief this summer and have grouped together to form their own baby sitting job. Each mother has the kids on hand for half a day a week giving the rest of the mamas a chance to get the work done in peace and quiet!

Charlene Gamber, Auburndale avenue, is leaving for Girl Scout camp at Metamora for two weeks.

The Immaculate Circle of St. Michael's Altar Society had a dinner at Danny's Chophouse June 27.

Gordon and I attended a Pu Pu party held on the Dana's patio Saturday night, June 15. Pu Pu is Hawaiian for pot luck (I think!) Celia and Travis Hearon of Vermont avenue and Nancy and Phil Snowberger of Oregon avenue were there, too, and it was a real "cool" evening, mostly because every time I got up some body managed to slip icubes in my chair!

Lt. Donald G. Wylie, son of the Wylies of Berwick avenue, spent the weekend with his parents at a cottage on Silver Lake, where they had a house party for him. Lt. Wylie is stationed at Little Creek, Virginia.

Mrs. Randall's Girl Scout troop No. 2252 went to day camp all last week. Helping were Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Fenn and Mrs. Sanderson.

Ginny Gamber, Auburndale avenue, gave a surprise baby shower for Janet Davey June 19 with 24 guests attending. Helping were Veta Licata and Betty Martin.

Gerri and Bob Casler, Louisiana avenue, are the parents of a baby girl, Gayle Ruth.

Mrs. Nerva Randall visited the Randalls on Berwick avenue to see her grandson Donald Randall graduate from Bentley High June 13.

The choir at St. Michael's church has elected new officers: Mr. Lou Humpert is now president and Mrs. Mary Krogulecki is secretary and treasurer.

Kathy and Sandra Mills, Mayfield avenue, spent last week with their grandmother at St. Claire Shores. Sandra, who is 5 years old, also was in a ballet recital Saturday, June 22.

Kathy Vots, W. Chicago went to the hospital at Ann Arbor to have a series of tests made, but is home now. Kathy says she was very much alive in a private room entertaining herself sliding down the bed, listening to Elvis on her record player and watching T.V. and that the nurses could hardly wait for her to leave! (Neither could she!)

A family gathering was held June 19 on Mayfield to celebrate the birthday of Mr. Ryan.

Alexis Barbieri, 9, is visiting the Borgias on Blackburn avenue. Alexis flew in from Philadelphia Tuesday morning, June 18 and will stay with the Borgias seven weeks while her parents tour Europe.

Mr. Mills, Mayfield avenue, was in Holland, Michigan on business last week.

Brownie troop No. 1090 flew up last week and are now full fledged Girl Scouts. Mrs. Archer will be their new leader. Punch and cookies was served after a candlelight service. There are 13 girls in this troop.

Travis Hearon, Vermont avenue, graduated from the University of Detroit Thursday evening, June 13.

The Brownie Day Camp held a wiener roast Wednesday, June 19 and its Final Day program Friday, June 21. Two girls attending contacted poison ivy. Poison Ivy seems to be thick this year, so be careful where your children are playing!

Betty Dana's pet turtle died last week—killed with kindness, I think! Betty decided his shell didn't look too good and did him the favor of scrubbing it with a toothbrush. As far as I'm concerned, he died just in the nick of time, so I won't have to care for the critter while Betty vacations this year!

Cheryl Beagan, Vermont avenue, spent the weekend of the 22nd visiting her grandma in Royal Oak.

Nursery School had its graduation exercises at the clubhouse on Hubbard avenue Friday morning, June 14. The big day included a puppet show, gifts for the grads and punch and cup cakes. Lots of guests were present, including mothers, grandmas and brothers and sisters who came to see the grads bid nursery school farewell forever and go forth to face the cruel, cold world and kindergarten this fall!

Nursery school applications from Rosedale Gardens residents should be in by July 1st, because after that date applications from non-residents will be accepted. If you want further information or want to enroll your child, call Marge Barquist, GA. 2-5953 or Dolores Nique, GA. 1-7576.

The Republican Club held a dance and square dance Friday evening, June 14. Among those attending from Rosedale Gardens were the Davises, Johnstons and Goodwins, all of Vermont avenue.

Betty and Roger Johnston, Vermont avenue, attended a dinner Saturday night, June 15 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hayes in Grosse Pointe.

The Cubscouts No. 271 of St. Michael's church held a carnival last week, put on by the cubscouts and the den mothers. There was a white elephant booth, homemade baked goods, a duck pond and a basketball game. Cubmaster for this troop is Ray Madigan.

Ginny Gamber, Auburndale avenue, gave a surprise stork shower June 25 for Vera Lorian of Berwick avenue.

The Travis Hearons, Vermont avenue and the Pomroys attended a buffet supper and square dance in Royal Oak Sunday evening, June 16.

Sorry to report more damage to the clubhouse! A riser was put in at considerable expense to clean out the sewer so that the basement wouldn't flood and some mean (but certainly not lazy!) person pried off the top and stuffed in rocks, six foot two by fours and tree branches, resulting in the basement being flooded and a lot of expense in repairs. Seems as if each time I have to report on new damage to the clubhouse it is of a more malicious nature! Anyone having information on this latest bit please contact Bob Clogg, GA. 1-8525.

125 Brownies Attend Day Camp in Riverside Park

DIVIDED INTO GROUPS. Brownies sat around picnic tables in Riverside Park making handicraft articles. Neckerchiefs were made last Thursday during Wild West Day.

LINED UP to have an advisor punch a hole in a leather neckerchief holder are pictured some of the Brownies who attended last week's Day Camp. Brownie leaders are so badly needed in Plymouth that there is a waiting list of girls trying to join troops.

COWGIRLS AND INDIAN maidens by the dozen were seen at the Brownie Scout Day Camp when Wild West day was observed last Thursday. From left are Norma Ramsey, Nancy Wolfe, Maureen Yezbick and Patricia Kellman. The 125 Brownies dressed in Old West Garb for the day and made neckerchiefs.

There were 125 Brownie Scouts from Plymouth participating in last week's Day Camp in Riverside Park with a different activity scheduled for each day.

All Plymouth Brownie troops were represented at the annual affair. Arriving in the morning, the girls cooked for three days and brought their own lunches two days. One group of girls who will be Girl Scouts next year spent a night at the Kiwanis Girl Scout Lodge.

Monday was "Making Friends Day" with the girls getting acquainted with one another. Tuesday was "Nature Day" and it was quite easy to study nature in the park which is full of trees and has the Middle Rouge River.

"Mystery Day" was observed Wednesday and not until the annual affair did they learn the nature of their work. Favors in the form of firecrackers that will be used in area hospitals on July 4th were made by the girls with a high degree of success. Thursday was "Wild West Day" and the girls turned out in costumes of the Old West. Neckerchiefs and their holders were made by the Brownies and the day ended with a square dance.

Concluding the week Friday was an open house at which parents were invited to see the girls at work and play.

Next Thursday there will be 45 Intermediate Girl Scouts setting up camp in a woods at Warren and Napier roads for an overnight stay.

The MAIL Attitude

by PAUL CHANDLER

It was a thrill for all Americans, but to those of us in Plymouth the arrival of the New England coast of the 1957 version of the Mayflower provides something special. Plymouth, Mass. is our namesake. Those hard-going souls of 337 years ago offer a personal inspiration to Plymouth, Mich. which is a little bit stronger than to other communities. Some of our 1957 Plymouth citizens right now are in New England just to see the new ship.

In all the millions of words of new comment accompanying the voyage of Mayflower II, the emphasis has been upon recalling the manner in which the original Pilgrims made their sea trip in 1620. That's interesting, of course, but I've found myself wondering as much "why" they came to America as "how" they made the trip.

As we struggle for a sense of purpose in our insecure world of 1957, the motivation of the forefathers of 1620 might be worth a moment of thought.

There were 101 persons jammed on the original Mayflower. About 50 of them were men, 20 women, and 30 children—some of them babies in arms.

The most interesting point to me is that of the total—men, women, and children—only about 40 were Pilgrims, or "saints" as they called themselves. This particular group had broken from the Church of England and after a stop in Holland had decided to push across the sea where they could set up their own church and pursue agricultural lives.

Everyone else on the ship, the majority, was either just a tough citizen with adventure in his blood, or individuals who had enough speculative spirit to take a chance on finding cheap land and a better life here. Some of them were servants. Miles Standish was hired as a soldier.

Hence, there was a great difference in purpose among the people on the ship. They really didn't get along too well together and the Mayflower "Compact" was signed before landing as an attempt to get the various parties to agree to observe a common set of laws for the overall good.

There was one common tie, however, which hardly should be under-estimated. Everyone on the ship came from the "other side of the tracks." There wasn't a blue-blood in the crowd. They were poor, proud people.

Once ashore, they met three bitter years. During the first winter, more than half the Pilgrims perished from sickness! The harvest over the next two summers was small and inadequate. Finally, on the third season, they were aided by abundant rainfall and flourished thereafter.

It is difficult to measure the influence of the Mayflower expedition upon the shaping of America, but it was huge. Conclusions which might be reached are:

There is risk involved in this life for those who would accomplish something really important.

You don't have to be rich to achieve things which will be remembered in the history books—courage will do.

Parties may disagree upon many things, including religion, and still govern themselves democratically.

We owe a debt to men who sought out adventure just because they enjoyed it.

Mankind will take a lot of chances—and wager his life—to gain freedom to live the way he chooses.

As long as we're in the historical mood, it's a good spot here to mention a special exhibit about Plymouth which opens at the Detroit Historical Museum (Woodward at Kirby) this week. A group of the city fathers and historians indulged in a little tea and ceremony to launch the display Tuesday.

First thing that caught our eye (naturally) was a full page advertisement from a Plymouth Mail of 1916. It heralded the virtues of the Alter Car, built in Plymouth, featuring a 27 h.p. engine, with real electrical headlights and a 108-inch wheelbase.

Mounted in a showcase, too, is one of Daisy's first air rifles, an all-wood job, turned out in 1881. And there are toll tickets for the old Piank Road, a chunk from an old hollow-log water main, a picture of the first village president, Bethnel Noyes, who held office 1867-1868; and other interesting bits.

DEFINITIONS

Highway: A road that is open while detours are being repaired.

Diplomat: A man who is able to convince his wife she looks too stout in a fur coat.

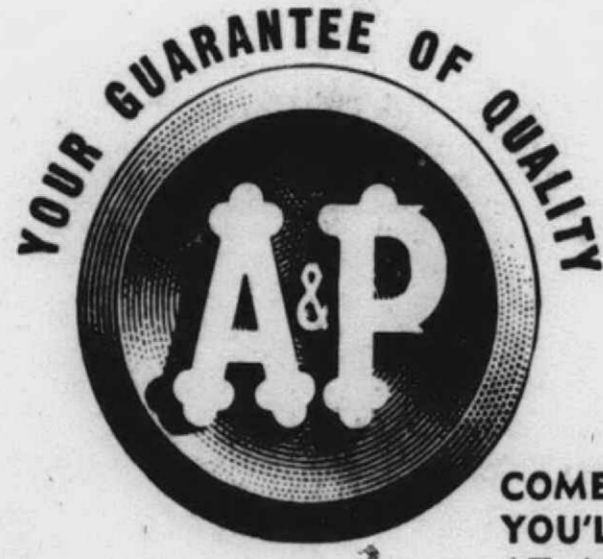

Most everybody locally should be interested in recent remarks of Carlton C. Robinson, a traffic expert for the Automotive Safety Foundation:

"In the future, merchants will be obliged to shift the bulk of their operations to the suburbs, keeping only small stores downtown for the convenience of office workers on their lunch hour.

"And mind you from suburbia, who parks for 2 to 4 hours downtown, will be replaced as the prime customer of the parking operators by the office worker, who parks all day long."

Advices Careful Cutting of Lawn

Whether you are making a new lawn, or taking care of an established lawn, cutting height is important for each grass variety. This is especially true for shaded lawns where mowing is often too close, according to Don Juchartz, Wayne County Horticultural Agent.

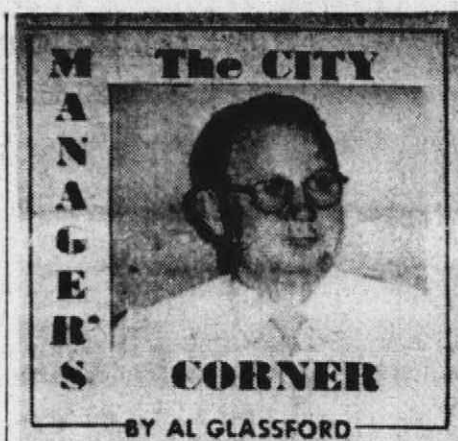

You will get a better turf where the grass is growing in competition with shade trees if you mow your lawns as recommended until about June 15, then put your lawnmower away. Bring it out only if the summer conditions are so unfavorable that the grass becomes unsightly.

Such shaded lawns are in heavy competition with trees and shrubs for food and water. Open lawns have their problems as well for they are exposed to the hot summer sun and suffer the danger of drought.

Juchartz points out that such lawn grasses as Kentucky bluegrass and red fescue should be cut at 1 1/2 to 2 inches in height when grown in open sunny areas. When these grasses are grown in shade, cut them at 2 to 2 1/2 inches in height.

Merion bluegrass, another popular grass, grows best when cut at a height of 1 1/2 to 2 inches.

In case you haven't seen the display in the city hall, which shows the City's tools of management and exhibits, actual departmental reports, the annual budget, annual reports, the charter, the auditor's report and training manuals, together with a large size water meter and a replica of a water main and the service connections to the lot, we invite you to do so. We would appreciate telling you, personally, of the operations of the city.

Police Chief Kenneth Fisher reports that he is receiving many complaints about the plantings and other obstructions to vision on corner lots. The zoning ordinance provides: "Any portion of a lot in front of the building line, shall be used for ornamental purposes only, and nothing shall be placed thereon, except trees, shrubs, fences or items of similar nature and for a distance of 20 feet back from the intersection of two streets along either street line, no fence, structure or growth more than 3 feet high above the curb level shall be permitted".

Many of our neighbors are not aware of this provision of the zoning ordinance, and, knowingly do not wish to violate it. I asked Charles Thompson, the building safety inspector, to make a check of the violations, and he has submitted to me a list of 41, many of which are violations on city owned properties. As soon as the spring rush of work is over, we shall go to work on the city's portion of the project. This is a most worth while safety project for the citizens and city to join forces to make a success.

Talking about plantings, there is another verboten. Certain trees are illegal to plant, because of damage to sewers by roots. Willows, poplar and box elders are taboo.

We plan to finish our tree planting next fall. The city supplies, as long as funds hold out, a tree for each home, if there is none in front of your house. We plant hard maples, red maples and occasionally a sycamore, because they are most reasonably priced. There are many fine new patented trees on the market and we encourage you to plant them for their beautiful foliage and shape.

The Augustine elms are dutch elm disease resistant, and there are many fine specimen trees such as moraine locust and dogwood. If we have a wide variety of trees, we will never suffer from a disease which may strike a particular variety of tree. Many cities have been completely denuded of trees because of lack of foresight. Many years ago, our Planning Commission recommended to the city that it plant a variety of trees, both for beauty and to preclude loss of trees by epidemic.

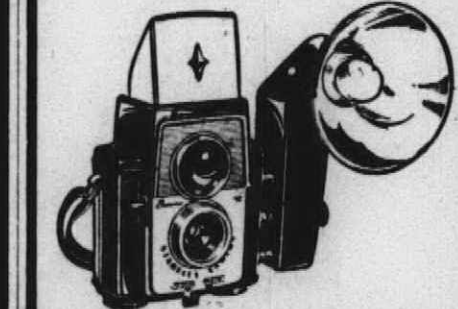

Charlottetown, capital of Prince Edward Island, was the site of a fortified French post as early as 1713.

Pasture lands near Ada, southeastern Oklahoma, have brought the area the title of "purebred Hereford center of the nation."

Excavations have led to the assumption that the modern town of Hissarlik, Turkey, about three miles from the Hellespont, was the site of the ancient city of Troy.

What's Going on at the Playgrounds?

Special events are already taking place at each of the 11 playgrounds of the Recreation Department. Parents are still being urged to enroll their children at the closest playground. There are trained leaders.

The playgrounds locations are: Allen, at Allen school. Auburn at Auburn and Junction avenue.

Bird at Bird school. Central, at the high school. Cherry Hill at Cherry Hill school. Hamilton at Hamilton and Deer streets.

Hough at Hough school. Gallimore at Gallimore school. Smith at Smith school. Starkweather at Starkweather school.

Truesdell at Truesdell school. Schools reporting on their activities this week are Bird and Truesdell and Hough.

Bird Playground
First day attendance was 83 boys and girls and at present there are 131 registered for the summer playground program at Bird.

The boys softball team, the Twenty-Birds, have won two games and lost one. On Monday they beat the Smith Dragons 15-10 on Wednesday trounced the Auburn Wildcats 8-5. Tom Lock and Skippy Otwell pitched two respectable games. On Thursday the Twenty Birds met their match when the Chicks, Bird's girl team, trounced the Twenty Birds 25-24. Carolyn Scott blasted a grand slam home run that broke up the game.

The playground will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. except Friday when it will be from noon to 8 p.m. Arts and crafts supervised by Mr. McKay is held Monday, 10 a.m. to noon, and Thursdays.

About 47 per cent of the total area of the Philippine islands is covered by commercially important forests.

An estimated 1.5 billion chicks are hatched annually in the United States, and most of them in the spring.

days, 3 to 5 p.m. Music, supervised by Miss Johnson, is with the group on Wednesdays and Thursdays, 10 to 11 a.m.

The youngsters will be taking two trips away from the playground this year and bar will be for those who attend regularly. They will go to the beach at Kent Lake on June 28 and July 19. Children nine years or older will be permitted to go.

The special event this week was a scavenger hunt with a man's share of chocolate cake enjoyed by the winning team.

Truesdell and Hough
A Kool-Aid party set off the opening at Hough and Truesdell playgrounds. A talent show was held at Hough last Thursday. Scheduled for this week are a costume parties and a birthday party.

'Big 3' Will Predominate Northville New Auto Race

The Northville "100" on July 4th appears to be the scene of battle for the "big three". If past performance in the MARC sanctioned races is to be considered, it should be a Chevrolet, Ford or Plymouth that walks off with the big honors of the evening, with Chevrolet being the heavy favorite.

Held at Northville Downs, the first annual Northville "100" will begin at 7 p.m. with time trials. At 8:30, a three-lap trophy dash will be held with the fastest Ford, Chevrolet and Plymouth. This will be followed by two ten-lap races and the 100 lap feature.

Sponsoring the new car auto race is Mel Larson, former Plymouthite who has turned professional driver and promoter. A fireworks display will be held following the racing program.

Chevrolets have dominated the MARC new car races so far this season, with only Ford and Plymouth slipping in for occasional victories. Although the recent AMA ban on factory participation has reduced driver aid, it will not be noticed at the 100 lap Northville race. Drivers on the MARC circuit have continued to operate as independents all along and the factory support ban had little or no effect on them.

Chevrolet drivers have until now enjoyed a substantial advantage over other car makes in that most of their cars were equipped with fuel injection, giving them 283 horsepower and terrific acceleration. At least two 1957 Fords equipped with 300 horsepower super-charged engines are expected to enter the Northville "100" and supply stiff competition for the Chevies. Also very capable of covering the 100 laps first will be several Pontiacs, Plymouths, Dodge, Oldsmobile, Buick, and Mercury.

All cars entered in the race must be either a '56 or '57 model and must be stock with the following exceptions: any optional horsepower or suspension kits supplied by the manufacturers through normal parts outlets are eligible for use. Wheels, springs, shocks, axels, and steering parts may be re-inforced for safety purposes. All cars must be equipped with a roll bar and safety belt. Drivers are required to wear helmets.

Tickets are on sale at Northville Downs ticket office in Northville, Mich., or reservations may be made by phoning Plymouth 1892-W2 or Northville 1140.

57 Juniors Now Enrolled In Golf Class

As the Plymouth Junior Golf Association entered its second round of play Monday morning at Hilltop Golf Course, there were 57 boys and girls on hand to learn more about the game.

Some of the youngsters have golfing experience, but for many, this has been the first time they had taken a serious swing at a golf ball. Last week there were 35 enrolled. Next Monday will be the last date for enrolling in the new course.

Sponsored by the Plymouth Recreation commission, the new association is for youngsters from grades four through 12. A session of instruction precedes each week's round. "Walkers," an adult who accompanies each threesome or foursome, are badly needed.

These are the lowest scorers in last Monday's play: Del McAllister, 41; Steve Hyscar, 42; Dave Rank and Dave Read, 45; Jim Stimpson, 46; Gary Ross, 47; Don Stockton, 50; Jim Izett, 54; Dave VanOrnum, and Jim Haynes, 56; Bob Stewart, 58; John Wolfe and Doug Graham, 60. Caren Storko with 75 was the low girl scorer.

All Scores Run High in Last Week's Class A and B Games

All seven games played last week in the "A" and "B" Leagues of the Plymouth Recreation department had scores of a 11 points or more. It is Beglinger of Class A and the Knot Heads of Class B leagues which still lead the respective packs.

Beglingers shut out Box Bar 12-0 on June 20 with hits at 17-3. That same night, Lincoln won easily over Chevrolet Spring and Bumper with a 12-4 score. Both teams had six hits.

Another Class A match scheduled for June 18 between Beglinger and Chevy was rained out in the second inning with the score 1-0 in favor of Beglinger.

In the Class B circuit, Daisy rapped 12 hits to beat Chevy, 13-7. Chevy had 11 hits. The Knot Heads had little trouble in downing the Lutherans, 11-2, in a game that was much closer in the hit department. The Knot Heads had 17 hits and the Lutherans 13.

One of the closer games was Vico Products, 13, Garden City Hospital, 12. Garden City was leading 9-3 at the end of three innings but Vico scored 10 more times in the remaining five innings to nip their opponents.

The V.F.W.-Stroh's game ended in a 13-5 victory for the veterans. In the hit column, it was 17-6. Another close game last week was Bill's Market, 14, and Continental, 12. Bill's scored evenly during the seven innings and knocked out 15

Two Local Teams Win in Openers Of New League

A new baseball league for those 18 years old and younger got underway last Thursday with two Plymouth teams both winning their games.

The four-team league, rated as Class D and supervised here by the Plymouth Recreation department, is composed of the Plymouth Elks, Daisy Manufacturing, Dearborn Township, and Willow Run.

Scores last week were Elks, 12, Dearborn Township, 7; Daisy 7, Willow Run, 0.

The Elks connected with 14 hits, Eric Goodwell and Bill Hedger, (Elks pitcher) each getting three hits for four times at bat. Dearborn got their seven runs of six hits.

Ken Knipschild struck out 14 batters and allowed but one hit to lead the Daisy victory over Willow Run. Daisy got their seven runs off six hits. The game was 1-0 in favor of Daisy until the sixth inning when Daisy blasted in six runs. Willow Run's hurler, Eugene Cofield, also was going good until the fatal sixth. Willow Run's only hit came in the second when Nicholas got an infield hit.

THE RIDER

BY BOB FRANKLIN

Horse lovers of any area are always glad to welcome newcomers to the clan. With this in mind, I speak for many when I say welcome and good luck to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hulce of 9275 McClumpha Road and their four children, Steve, Barbara, Sue and Tom; Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Luvisch of 11941 Amherst Court and their sons Don and Jim; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hunt of 8825 Beck Road and their son Denny; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Niemi of 47560 Joy Road and their daughter Barbara.

I dropped in on a practice session of the Plymouth 4-H Horse Club last Saturday. The group, now 32 strong, is sharpening up for the show season, which is high lighted by their spring horse show. All of the riders looked good in practice but my vote for the two most improved riders of the year goes to Bob Koers and Dave Magraw.

The junior set are preparing for the Saddle Ridge Horse Show, held at the Saddle Ridge Ranch on Curtis Road. Plymouth area riders who plan to make the trip are: Cindy Hull, Ginny Franklin, Dona Moers, June Norman, Jim Magraw, Barb Niemi, and Judy Wall.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wall of Ford Road along with their daughter Judy are rightfully proud of their yearling Quarter Horse filly, Katie-Dit. Katie has come a long way in the last year. She will make her first show ring bow of the season at the State Fair.

I don't know why it is that some people, upon seeing a horse and rider on the road, feel that they must race the motor and sound the horn. This action has and will cause accidents. With the growing number of horses and riders in the area, it has become even more important that this not be done. Mr. Motorist if its action you want, don't sound the horn, pound the side of your car or race the motor. Go to one of our many local roads.

The population of Ohio increased by 400 per cent between 1800 and 1810.

Merchants Stretch Streak to Seven

The Plymouth Merchants stretched their winning streak to seven Sunday when they beat River Rouge, 9-7.

Edward Hock was the winning pitcher, assisted by Bud Nedry who hit a round-tripper in the second with no one on and Jack Dobbs who homered in the eighth with two on base.

The Merchants had 11 runs and three errors while River Rouge also hit 11 times but had only one error. The losing pitcher was Lozon who was relieved in the fifth by Langiness.

Plymouth scored one run each in the second and fourth innings, three in the sixth and four in the eighth. The visitors scored twice in the third, fourth and sixth innings and once in the eighth.

Next week's Merchant game will be at Northville with the Redford Merchants at 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

13 ounces, and measured 20 1/4 inches. The Kaufmans have another son, Mark, 22 months. Peg's mother, Mrs. Bryan Jessup of Stuttgart, Ark., arrived on Wednesday to be here for a couple of weeks.

Another birth has created some interest in our neighborhood. Betty Parks sister and her husband, Audrey and Nathan Burkwitch, are the proud parents of a son, Robert Joseph, born on June 9 at Mt. Carmel hospital in Detroit. Baby Robert taped 20 inches and weighed 7 pound 12 ounces. The christening took place on Sunday at St. Michaels church in Livonia with the Parks in attendance as godparents.

A warm welcome to Miss Ruth Butts and her father who have purchased the Al Clare home on Parkview Drive. I called Miss Butts this morning and learned that she is the proud owner of some beautiful new porch furniture. Seems that some of her fellow teachers from the high school got together and surprised her with a housewarming party and presented the furniture as a gift. Also learned that her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brophy of Montreal, Canada were her house guests from Thursday thru Sunday. On Thursday evening Miss Butts entertained in their honor. Her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Butts and two sons from Ann Arbor completed the family dinner party.

Rose Kennedy is having a well deserved weeks vacation from her duties as nurse at Providence hospital in Detroit. Marty, her husband, attended a dinner and engineers meeting at the Club Cliche in Detroit last Thursday evening. Marty is a technical writer associated with Continental Motors.

The Bud Wilsons of Garling Drive and the Norman Briggs family spent the week-end camping at Half-Moon Lake.

Grace Wigley of Parkview Drive is spending this week at the Judson Collins Camp in the Irish Hills. Her parents, Doris and Ted Kuhns, drove her up on Sunday to the camp which is operated by the Methodist Churches.

Diane and Bill Stang entertained the members of Diane's bridge club and their husbands at an outside barbeque on Friday night. Guests from the Circle were Barb and Harv Cooper, Doris and Ted Kuhns and Ethel and Jim Cameron. Others were Pat and Dave Cameron from Northville, Jack and Jo Wilson of Detroit, Dee and Gus Carlson of Wyandotte and Lois and Don Bable of Wayne.

WITH OVER $16,000 in profit realized from the Western Wayne County Builder's Show last month, the Livonia Rotary club appeared before the Plymouth Rotarians last week to thank the local club for their support and to give plaques to three men who worked the hardest. Mayor William Brashear, left, of Livonia is shown presenting a plaque to Lawrence Lyons, chairman of the Plymouth Rotary's participation. Below is Livonia Rotarian Harry Wolfe, left, presenting a similar plaque to Walter Rensel who alone sold most of Plymouth's 62 booths. Another plaque was given to Kenneth Harrison, who was not present. He sold 3,050 tickets to the show. Mrs. Herma Taylor, director of the Easter Seal Society of Western Wayne County, was speaker for the program and announced that the Crippled Children's Center, which the $16,000 will be used for, will be opened in July.

Lemonade Filled Cake is a Hit with Local Family

"They like everything," says Mrs. Russell Palmer of 6460 Beck Road, but tops on the family list of favorites is golden layer cake with lemonade filling.

The layer cake is always a hit when Mrs. Palmer entertains and usually becomes a requested item for future parties. Further testimony comes from her five-year-old daughter Connie Jo, who is always on hand for all work in the kitchen. David 14, is also a fan of his mother's layer cake. Here is the recipe:

Golden Layer Cake with Lemonade Filling

1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon lemon extract or grated lemon peel
2 eggs
2 cups sifted cake flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup buttermilk
3/4 teaspoon of soda

Combine the shortening, sugar, vanilla, lemon and eggs. Add flour, baking powder, salt, buttermilk and soda.

Bake at 350 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes in two nine inch layer pans or 40 to 50 minutes in a 13x9 inch pan.

Filling

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup water
2 beaten egg yolks
1/2 cup frozen concentrated lemonade.

Combine ingredients. Cook approximately 3-5 minutes over medium heat, until thick.

Frosting

8 tablespoons butter
8 tablespoons shortening
1 cup sugar
2/3 cup lukewarm milk
1 teaspoon lukewarm extract

Combine butter, shortening and sugar until well blended. Add milk and lemon extract, beat until creamy. The frosting should look like whipped cream.

Seven Local Youths To Attend Boy's State

Seven boys from Plymouth have been selected for the 20th annual Wolverine Boys State assembly being held at Michigan State University in East Lansing, from June 20 to June 28.

Attending from Plymouth are, Larry Sexton and Dennis Campbell, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club; Carl Glassford, Elks Club; Dennis Drews, Rotary Club; Donald Alsbro, Optimist Club; Timothy Yoe, Lions Club; William Hubert, Passage-Gayde Post. Representatives have been selected on the basis of high moral character, good sportsmanship and potential leadership ability.

The annual event is sponsored by the state American Legion for the development of leadership and good citizenship among Michigan youth. Designed as a practical experience in problems of self-government, Wolverine Boys State enables boys to put into practice theories of American government as taught in the classroom through actual control of the city, county and state offices organized under the plans of the mythical "49th State".

The Legion believes that by such a program youth may be prepared and trained to effectively preserve and perpetuate the American heritage of free government and be ready to assume the trust and responsibilities that go with American citizenship.

The activities during the event are centered in the Frederick Cowles Jenison Men's Gymnasium and Fieldhouse. The boys assembled as private citizens at 9 a.m. on Thursday, June 20th, and will be dismissed after Luncheon on Thursday, June 27th at approximately 3 p.m.

Sunday, June 23, was Spouses and Visitors Day to the 1957 Wolverine Boys State assembly. Parents were urged to visit the boys on visiting day; however, no boys were permitted to leave the campus. Dinner was served to parents at nominal cost.

Meals throughout the Boys State event are prepared and served under the direction of the Home Economics and Hotel Administration departments of the university with experienced dietitians and chefs in charge.

Tom Argo is Boys State Chairman for the Passage-Gayde Post and Vern Miller is Co-Chairman.

Joanne Oestreich, William Cole Wed in Luckey, Ohio Ceremony

Joanne Oestreich and William George Cole exchanged vows Saturday evening, June 22, at the Evangelical United Brethren Church in Luckey, Ohio.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Oestreich of Luckey, Ohio. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cole, 16541 Fenton in Detroit.

The Rev. S. W. Brandeberry officiated at the ceremony.

An Italian silk floor-length gown of empire styling was worn by the bride. Embroidered seed pearls on a narrow lace ribbon traced the bodice and trimmed the short sleeves. A fingertip veil of silk illusion was caught up in a cap dotted with tiny pearls. She carried a corsage of Hibbard and white roses.

The bridegroom's sister, Florence Cole of Detroit, wore a pink taffeta princess line frock, as maid of honor. She carried a cascade arrangement of pink and white roses. Donald Oestreich of Cleveland, brother of the bride, served as best man. Ushers were, brothers of the bridegroom, Clyde Cole and Howard Cole, and brother of the bride, Paul Oestreich.

The mother of the bride chose a navy blue dress with white and navy blue accessories. The bridegroom's mother donned a light blue dress with white accessories. Both wore deep pink rose corsages.

A reception for close friends and relatives followed the ceremony in the church basement.

The newlyweds plan a trip through New England and Nova Scotia.

The bride is a graduate of Bowling Green State University in Bowling Green, Ohio and the bridegroom graduated from Michigan State University. Both are now working toward masters degrees at the University of Michigan. The bride taught commercial subjects for two and one-half years in the Plymouth Adult Education system. The couple are teachers at Bentley High School in Livonia.

Job Study Finds 51 Hour Week Common in Detroit

If you think your hubby is unusual because he works more than 40 hours a week, you're wrong.

While you may think the eight-hour day and five-day week is normal for those who are employed, nearly half these men in Detroit spend more than 40 hours on the job.

This is the finding of The University of Michigan's Detroit Area Study, which got its answers from a representative sample of 700 households in Wayne, Macomb and Oakland Counties.

Results of the DAS survey indicate that wives of professionals, proprietors, managers and officials may be the ones who miss their husbands most during the week. One out of three employees in this group works 51 hours a week or more.

The highest concentration of those with long hours on the job is found among the self-employed. This group comprises about 10 per cent of metropolitan Detroit's workers. Sixty per cent of them work 51 hours or more weekly, compared to only 14 per cent of those who aren't self-employed.

Among those greater Detroit husbands who do not work for themselves, time spent on the job varies with the number of their fellow employees. Workers in organizations with fewer than nine employees are much more likely to work longer hours than those in concerns that have 100 or more employees. In the small groups, only one in four works just 40 hours; in those with 100 or more employees, almost two-thirds enjoy a 40-hour week.

What's Your Question On World Affairs

BY EDGAR ANSEL MOWBRER
 "Who do you think can do the most for world peace?" (Mrs. H. H. Smith, Philadelphia).
 Nikita Khrushchev by abolishing communism in the USSR. Next to Khrushchev, Nasser of Egypt by deciding to drop his supernationalism, accept the presence of Israel within its present borders (thereby best preventing any further expansion by Israel), allowing the internationalization of his canal and putting his not inconsiderable energies at the service of his exploited people. The chances of either following these respective suggestions do not appear very large.

Time changes everything—sometimes for the better, sometimes for the worse. What evidence have you that any change within the USSR will not be in the direction of greater aggressiveness—not less?
 "I have made a bet that Portugal is a member of NATO. But if so, why don't we hear more about that little country?" (M. de C., South Boston, Mass.)
 Portugal is very much a member of NATO and fully cooperative. We hear so little because some time back the Portuguese seem to have decided to play an unobtrusive role and leave the formation of history to the big powers. Some Portuguese do not like this, but so far as one can judge, most are satisfied.

 "Why do our diplomats abroad need tennis courts and cabin boats at taxpayers' expense?" (R.N.C., Bardtown, Ky.)
 Because they are not paid enough to enable them to meet normal needs and professional duties out of their own pockets. Even Secretary Dulles now argues that we should give diplomats large enough allowances to enable career officers to accept such jobs—as this writer has been advocating for years.

"Life Begins at Forty"

By ROBERT PETERSON

"Why do you oppose economic aid to countries like India and Egypt just because they oppose some of our policies? Isn't it enough to keep them from going Communist?" (L. Anderson, Gary, Ind.)

It would be enough if by giving economic aid we were keeping them from going Communist. The fact is, our aid has almost no influence on their decisions. History shows that excessive expectation rather than grinding poverty is the chief reason why people follow Moscow's deceptive light. Many Americans do not realize that the Afro-Asian governments are the chief beneficiaries of the present two-bloc world with themselves in between. They could not go Communist, or side openly with the West, without cutting off their present unequalled chance of milking (some would say, black-mailing) both camps. Therefore all American attempts to woo them to our side are foolish—as witness our recent fiasco with Sukarno of Indonesia and King Saud.

"I think our President is doing exactly right about relaxing tensions and waiting until the USSR changes. After all, everything changes with time. So why are you continually carping at him for waiting?" (Miss E. W., Brooklyn, N. Y.)

Here's a tip for men who want to add a few years to life. The average male, sadly enough, has a life expectancy about six years less than that of the female. The reasons for this are still not entirely clear but modern biologists are beginning to believe that males may bring on their own early destruction. This is because they try so hard to live up to the role custom has decreed for them.

Custom of course, expects the male to be more daring, aggressive, and competitive than the female. And the male is expected to strut his muscular superiority without betraying pangs of weakness, fear, or fatigue.

It is widely believed that if men were to tone down these deeds of derring-do and place less strain on their essential organs, they would have a better chance of competing with their wives in the longevity race.

WHEN Harry comes home from a hard day's work he may be completely exhausted. But instead of taking a nap he may buckle down to the tiring task of washing the car. Or he may have a bite to eat and then go bowling with the boys. Even though he's tired to the bone you'll never get Harry to admit it. He just flexes his muscles and proceeds to exhaust himself further.

Watch Harry on weekends and vacations. He's not accustomed to climbing mountains, hiking, water skiing, or playing eighteen holes of golf. But he figures he'd better pack as much activity as possible into those free days so as to demonstrate to himself and everyone else that he's a whale of a male. So he climbs Mt. Shasta, or hikes a day through the woods to get to a fishing hole, or nearly breaks his middle-aged neck learning how to water ski. And although he's pooped after nine holes of golf he always drags himself around the full eighteen hole course since playing only half a course is strictly for the girls.

And where is his good wife all this time? Chances are she's sitting in the shade happy in the knowledge that Harry is enjoying himself. But years later when she joins the widows she may occasionally wonder if Harry didn't do himself in by trying to meet the time-honored stereotype of the mighty male.

Maybe Ferdinand the bull had something. You'll recall that he didn't realize bulls were supposed to be fierce and aggressive. It wasn't that he was a coward, it was just that he didn't see any sense in flexing his muscles and pawing the earth in an effort to show everyone how big and strong he was. As a consequence he was unsuitable for the bullring and was turned out to pasture. His bullish contemporaries met an early end, but for all we know Ferdinand is living out his golden years happily sniffing violets in some grassy meadow.

The Service of Men

George laid aside the book he had been reading, and sat absorbed in thought.

"If a minister of the Gospel hadn't written that passage," he began, "it might be considered a reflection on the clergy."

Molly looked up, listening. "But since it was..." George resumed. Then he interjected a new thought. "By golly, I'll bet that our own pastor, Dr. Bradley himself, would agree with this fellow, though!"

Molly smiled. "So what is it all about?"

"Well, in this book—'The Transforming Friendship,' by a Dr. Weatherhead, an Englishman—he says, 'The only service of God is the service of man, through whom He comes near to us.'"

"Then he goes on, 'We call the hour of worship 'a service', but divine service begins when we go back to our work again, and the one can only be a preparation for the others, ... I never thought of it that way, before."

"But you think it now," Molly concluded, "and that is the important thing!"

How About Steel Stocks?

Q. Steel stocks have been rising lately. I hold Bethlehem Steel, Crucible and Republic. Should I take profits now?

A. Better action in many steel issues is warranted by the improved outlook for the industry as a whole. The sell-off earlier this year was due in large part to lower new car production and a falloff in electrical appliance output. In spite of these factors, steel earnings were maintained in the first quarter, should dip only moderately in the current period and will probably gain in the final half. Heavy construction is rising and has caused a shortage in some grades of steel. The industry must provide a substantial wage increase this July under last year's agreement, and it is expected that a rise in steel prices sufficient to more than offset the added costs will follow.

I believe that you would be well advised to hold Bethlehem, Crucible and Republic. Bethlehem Steel is a well-rounded company, less dependent than most upon new car demands. Over 10% of revenues comes from the shipbuilding division which is currently booming. Crucible is a specialty company with a strong position in stainless steel. Only 26% of its business is automotive. Republic ranks third in the industry and is very well integrated. The company is a half-owner of Cra-Met, a big titanium sponge producer. In addition to the stocks you are holding, I like Eastern Stainless, another specialty company; Inland Steel, with a strong position in the Chicago area, and National Steel, expected to get the services as Chairman of Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey following his retirement from Government Service.

Q. My uncle recently died and left me 200 shares of Carborundum. Can you tell me something about the stock? I am in my mid-30s and can afford to take some risk, if you think it has good prospects.

A. Carborundum has strong growth prospects and I certainly would advise your holding it. It is a well-established, old-line concern soundly financed and with a good profit record. The important feature in the company's favor, however, is that it is engaged in an expansion and reorganization program which should upgrade its current products and place it squarely into atomic energy and related fields. Carborundum will shortly open a new plant for the production of the important metal, zirconium, and is developing other products with applications in atomic energy, gas turbines, aircraft and guided missiles. The stock has acted well in the market recently and I think that commencing in 1958, substantial earnings gains will be witnessed.

TRUE OR FALSE

Stocks that are split show a greater price gain soon after the split than in the interval shortly before the split.

False. This is a generally accepted concept, but facts prove otherwise. Statistics show that most stocks experience a substantially greater price advance in the 60 to 90 days before a split than in the period soon after. In fact following a split announcement, many stocks begin to lose their pre-split gains.

The basic reason splits are made is that the company desires to broaden its stock ownership and attract a wider following for the stock in a more popular price area. Frequently, a split is accompanied by a higher dividend payment. Both these factors tend to cause the stock to sell higher in the market. However, professional investors have a pretty good idea ahead of time when stock splits may be expected. Consequently, substantial buying often begins well ahead of the split. Often there are rumors of an impending split and considerable speculative buying for a short-term comes into the issue. Thus, by the time of the actual announcement of the split the stock has largely if not wholly discounted the news, and profit-taking by early buyers causes the stock to sell off.

Ice Cream, Sherbert Desserts Enter Realm of 'Do-It-Yourself'

You may or may not remember the days of the ice cream freezer and homemade ice cream. Those days are here again, with new taste delights in ice cream making.

One of the most refreshing desserts is lemon ice cream topped with a light, fluffy topping called Sunshine Sauce. Here's the recipe:

Lemon Ice Cream
 3 eggs
 3/4 cup sugar
 2 1/4 cup light corn syrup
 2 1/4 cups milk
 1 cup whipping cream
 1/3 lemon juice
 1 tablespoon grated lemon peel

Beat eggs until thick and light. Add sugar gradually, beating constantly. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Freeze in two trays until firm. Turn into chilled bowl and beat until light. Return to freezing tray and freeze until firm. Makes 3 servings.

Sunshine Sauce
 1/2 cup sugar
 few grains salt
 1/2 cup thawed orange juice concentrate, undiluted
 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
 1 cup whipping cream
 1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
 1 tablespoon grated lime peel

Combine sugar, salt and orange juice concentrate in small saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring, until sugar dissolves. Add a little of the hot mixture to egg yolks and blend well. Add to remaining hot mixture. Cook, stirring, until thickened. Cool to room temperature. Whip cream and fold into cooled mixture with lemon and lime peel. Serve as topping for lemon ice cream. Makes 3 servings.

Sherberts are another cooling summer dessert sure to please. Why not try something a little different in the line of sherberts. The following four will spark up any meal:

Peach Sherbert
 2 cups sugar
 1 quart water
 1 teaspoon gelatin
 2 cups peach pulp juice of lemon juice of 2 oranges

Boil sugar and water together for 5 minutes. Add the gelatin which has been softened in cold water. When the mixture is cold, add the peach pulp, which has been passed through a sieve. Add

Try Cold Wash For Synthetics

Synthetic fabrics, known as "miracle fabrics" because of their test tube origin and many fine features are an important part of personal and home fashions today.

These modern fabrics are woven of nonporous fibers into the products we know as orlon, nylon, arnel, acrilan, dacron and others. They are easily washable and the majority are fast-drying.

Proper washing and care becomes essential knowledge as the trend grows and more and more new synthetic combinations are discovered.

Most of the modern fibers tend to soften in hot or warm water. The fibers bend easily and set themselves into deep wrinkles from the heat of the water and fast action of the washing machine.

On the positive side, synthetic fabrics, being nonporous, are generally guilty only of surface soil. Grime and dirt are easily removed with very little agitation. Cold water washing does not soften the fibers. The use of cold water for both wash and rinse combined with the action of a liquid detergent activated at a slow speed and spun dry at a similar speed, is the most effective way to care for modern fabrics. The liquid detergent, being in solution presents no problem of solubility in cold water.

Nylon hose, a chore to wash at night, present a cluttered look when hung on a towel rack in the bathroom. They can be easily washed in an automatic washing machine set at low speed in cold water. Place the hose in a lingerie bag and wash from 1 to 3 minutes. If you're using a dryer set at low for from 5 to 10 minutes.

Curtains of permanent finish organza, or resin-treated cottons should be washed in cold water, from 3 to 5 minutes at a synthetic setting if lightly soiled and from 5 to 8 minutes if heavily soiled. These should be air dried to retain their finish. They may be ironed as necessary.

Cold water washing of synthetics is an aid to the housewife. Frequent ironing is avoided or in some cases eliminated since fabrics washed by this method will take an indefinite number of washings before requiring light ironing. Cold water washing helps colors stay bright longer.

Make Barbecue Aprons of Ticking, Handy Cover-all for Your Husband

Striped mattress ticking goes to a barbecue party as proudly as Cinderella went to the ball. This unpretentious fabric assumes a fashionable air when used for host and hostess aprons, place mats and a barbecue mitt.

The traditional navy blue and white ticking material may be gaily trimmed with red poplin for the apron, a red bias binding for the mitt and the mats cleverly embroidered in red. The apron pictured features red poplin pockets and wide red band around the bottom.

A man's bib-top apron is just as easy to make and may be trimmed with poplin bands or a colorful binding. Other durable material such as denim and many of the heavy cottons would be suitable for matching barbecue sets.

Here's an easy-to-make apron for the handy-man around the house. This practical work apron of drill, denim or any other sturdy fabric is an easy sewing project for you and good protection for your husband when he's about his workshop.

The apron is cut in one piece and edged with bindings. It has four pocket sections. A handy kit to hold and protect his small tools can be made from the same cotton fabric.

This simple style can also be used to make a bib-top barbecue apron for the man-of-the-house. Mattress ticking is a suggestion for material. (Pictured in women's apron at above left). Women too might adopt the bib-top pattern as a cover-all for barbecuing, gardening or odd jobs around the house.

For Snacksters Only: New Nibbling Tips

This country is becoming a four and five meal nation, if the rapid trend toward snacks is an indication. From the coffee break through to the bedtime lunch, fractional meals are added to the sometimes not-so-square three meals a day.

If you have adopted the American Plan and want your snack to be a real treat, see that it adds its share of proteins, vitamins, and minerals toward your daily needs—just as your breakfast, lunch and dinner.

Snacks may play tricks and appear as an unwelcome bulge at the waistline, if you fail to count the calories as part of your total food intake.

The most avid snacksters are children who haven't fallen into the ways of calorie-conscious adults yet. These fourth and fifth meals of the day are almost a necessity to youngsters, if they are to have enough energy and nutrients for growth and development. A study shows that 17 percent of the calories consumed by children each day is in the form of snacks.

Grown-ups too find merit in the snack for bridging the gap between meals or a supplement to their TV enjoyment. And don't forget the famous midnight raid on the refrigerator.

To select your snack, take a cue from the seven basic food groups which include milk, meat or eggs, fruits or vegetables, enriched bread or cereals. When you combine several of these in a sandwich, you benefit from the share of nutrients each food contributes.

You can appeal to your family's snack habit by having a few prepared delicacies to liven up the old slap-a-cold-cut-between-two-slices-of-bread routine. Here's one called Nibbler's Delight:

6 tablespoons butter or margarine
 1 1/2 teaspoons garlic or onion salt
 3 dashes Tabasco sauce
 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
 2 teaspoons caraway seed
 4 cups crisp corn puffs
 2 cups oven-toasted rice cereal
 2 cups slim pretzels, broken in half

1 cup salted nuts, if desired.
 Combine butter or margarine, garlic or onion salt, Tabasco sauce, Worcestershire sauce, and caraway seed in a saucepan. Heat slowly until butter is melted. Stir. Mix cereals, pretzels, and nuts in large deep baking pan. Pour melted seasoned butter over cereals. Mix well. Bake in a slow oven (300° F) until lightly browned, about 25 minutes. Stir every 5 to 8 minutes. Yield: about 2 quarts.

Another premeditated snack treat that you might want to serve to guests are baked cheese buns. This is the recipe:

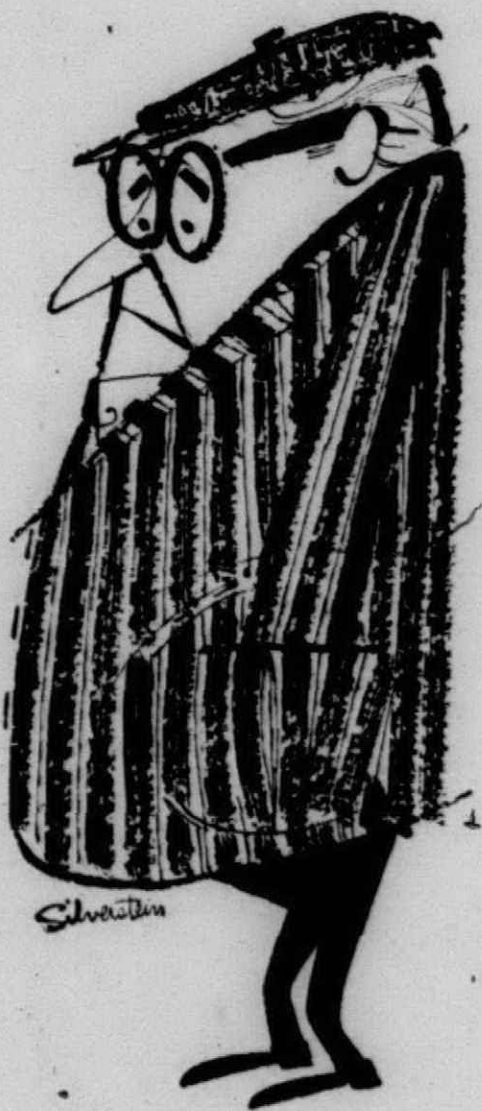

1 cup grated cheddar cheese
 1/4 cup tomato sauce
 1/2 cup diced cooked bacon
 1/2 cup diced black olives
 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
 8 round burger buns.

Combine cheese, tomato sauce, bacon, olives and garlic salt; mix well. Split burger buns crosswise without cutting all the way through; fill each with cheese mixture and wrap in a square of aluminum foil. Bake at 350° for 10 to 15 minutes or until cheese is melted. Serve in foil. Makes 8 servings.

Since snacks are part of the scene, see that they play their roles in good form. If you have been swimming, your snack might consist of a sandwich made with enriched bread and a beverage. Now if your activities are limited to a comfortable chair in front of the TV you had better cut your order to toast sticks and a glass of fruit juice. (That is, of course, if you are wary of extra pounds.)

LAST DAY of the last year for classes in Bartlett school was June 13 when youngsters assembled for their year-end picnic. Shown are most of the children with their two teachers, Mrs. Margaret McKenna and Mrs. Jean McKenna (not related). Other children who attended the school in recent years also attended the picnic.

Shortage of Water Closes School

By David Jolliffe

The Bartlett School on Canton Center Road closed Thursday, June 13, perhaps for good.

The two room school-house was shut down due to lack of adequate water facilities there. According to Perry Campbell, 7917 Canton Center, a former member of the school board, water has been a problem at the Bartlett School for most of its picturesque history.

"In about 1934 the school board was faced with this same problem," he said. "They had $300 and invested it into a new well. But after the diggers had exhausted the fund there still wasn't any water and another $300 was authorized. But it didn't help and we still didn't get any water."

Campbell is well qualified to speak with authority on past history of the school. Besides serving three terms on the school board and living within a mile of the school site, his three children attended elementary classes there. One daughter, Mrs. Doris Eaton, has driven the school bus for the last seven years. Since its beginning the school has covered a geographical area that was laid out "according to which buildings on the farm were closest to a passable road."

Liley road was the eastern boundary while Joy Road served as a line on the north. Beck on the west and Saltz Road on the south.

According to Campbell the one room school was enlarged to two rooms and required two teachers in about 1945. But since that time enrollment increased and the original eight grades were gradually cut to two—the second and third.

Campbell recalls that there was always a lot of cooperation between residents and the school board. "I can remember several times when improvements were needed and the neighbors would go working around the school," he said. "Wives would bring food and we would make a regular picnic out of it."

At one time a major disaster threatened to end the Bartlett school ahead of schedule. Just after a new roof had been installed on the original brick sides, a windstorm "blew the sides of the building in and all we could salvage was the new roof," according to Campbell.

But new sides under the still-serviceable roof kept history going awhile longer.

Next September Bartlett school children will attend the Galtimore School where water is piped in from the city of Plymouth system.

The board of education expects to use Bartlett for storage purposes.

Seven Students To Spend 8 Weeks At Interlochen

Seven Plymouth junior and senior high school students headed for the famed Music Camp at Interlochen, Michigan next Sunday for an eight-week period.

They have joined 1,200 students who will attend the camp's regular session where a staff of specialists will guide and train them in their respective arts activities. There will also be a group leaving for a shorter period this summer.

The camp, which runs from this Sunday, June 23, through August 18, boasts eight symphonies, four symphonic bands, seven choral organizations and numerous other activities which provide training and experience in music, art, speech and dance.

Emergency Medical Aid Plan to be Discussed

City Manager Albert Glassford has been authorized by the city commission to discuss with Plymouth's doctors a means of obtaining medical help in emergencies.

A problem often exists, the manager said, when sick or injured people cannot find their family doctor in an emergency, so call city hall to have aid in locating a doctor.

"We know doctors are busy and overworked, but if we know what doctor we can find at a certain time, it may mean the difference between life and death," the manager said.

Carriage House Goes Modern Sad Shack Becomes Showplace

Taking a vivid imagination along on their house-hunting trip helped a new York physician and his wife come up with just what the doctor ordered in the way of a modern home.

They spotted an aging carriage house on Long Island's south shore and used their imaginations to visualize what the decrepit little building could become with modernization. The picture clicked, and they bought the carriage house, plus an acre of land, for $9,000.

That was in 1951, and today, at the end of a five-year plan designed to make financing easier, the doctor and his family have a rambling, comfortable home with four bedrooms, two baths, two-car garage, modern heating and plumbing and other up-to-date features. They estimate the remodeling cost $11,000. This included building a long, low wing housing the master bedroom and garage, converting the open "carriage" area of the original main floor into a 20-by-20-foot living room with fireplace, a large kitchen and bath, and adding three bedrooms and a bath on the original second floor.

A new roof of asphalt shingles was applied to give the house long lasting protection from Long Island's rugged weather, and a white cupola was placed atop the garage.

Asphalt shingles are particularly effective for remodeling because they can be applied directly over the old roofing, eliminating the mess and expense of tearing off the worn out material.

Heating seemed to be a problem at first. The original building was built on a concrete slab, and floors in the living-kitchen area tended to stay cold. This was solved with baseboard heating which warmed the air in the rooms by convection and heated the floors by radiation.

The heating was made even more efficient by installing thick mineral wall insulation in walls and ceilings. The mineral wool, by keeping heat inside during Long Island's harsh winters, makes the house more comfortable and helps cut fuel consumption. If he ever decides to tear out the house, the thick insulation will mean less of an initial equipment investment for the doctor and lower operating costs.

Among other features decided on during the careful, five-year study of building materials and ideas were double-hung wood windows for the new wing and to replace the carriage doors. The windows match those in the original house in appearance and retain the early American decor.

Double-hung windows of ponderosa pine are as popular for remodeling as they are in new construction. One reason is that they come in units with frame and sash fitted together at the factory. This makes them easier and less expensive to install, and assures smooth operation.

Jobs—In 1982 machine may do much of your work but not your thinking. A new breed of workers will develop and those who can truly be masters of the machines will be the ones who move ahead.

White-collar workers will be far more numerous than blue-collar. People who run things—managers and proprietors—will almost double in number. Stores, banks, real-estate firms, insurance companies, utilities and government will all step up their hiring to a greater degree than manufacturing industry. Pay will almost double today's levels, in today's dollars.

Inflation—The 1982's dollar will be worth much less than today's. Inflationary pressures will be high government spending, rising wage levels and constant need for capital.

In coping with inflation, choose the industries with the greatest promise of growth when you invest. You won't get rich quick, but your dollars will grow as the industries do.

Travel—It will be an even smaller world in 1982. No country or city will be more than 24 hours away. Travelers will ride in supersonic jet planes at speeds two or three times that of sound. Cruising speed will be 1,500 miles per hour. Commuters will go in airplanes that rise straight up, then go straight forward.

Cars may have fuel-injection motors which do not need carburetors. They will have 25% more horsepower than today's cars, and may even be without transmissions. Parts may be sealed, so you may never need a grease job.

Some trains may be atom-powered and built to go at two miles per minute. Others will rocket along on monorails.

Housing—A new kind of house is on the way. It will blend into the outdoors and bring nature inside, and it may be round instead of square. Color will be everywhere, and if you get tired of the color of an interior wall, you will replace the wall with one of another shade.

Push button windows will close automatically if it rains. A wish of air will clean and dry the dishes in three minutes. Electrostatic dust gatherers will keep the house shiny. If it's a hot summer, you'll use a blanket that keeps you cool. Your newspaper will be as colorful as a slick magazine.

Some clothing will be made of paper products and disposable after a couple of wearings. The refrigerator will have lost its importance, since most foods won't need refrigeration, but will be irradiated, chemically treated, or dehydrated.

Schools & Colleges—For every student in public school and college today, there will be almost two students enrolled 25 years from now. The same ratio will apply to teachers. As many as three college professors for every one today will be needed.

A great deal of teaching will be done by TV and films. Schools will be open 12 months a year. Courses will be speeded up and technical training will be a must.

What will all this cost? At least 50 billion dollars a year for all the colleges and schools in the nation. That's 35 billion more than today. Government money will provide most of the needed cash.

Electronics—One third of all power produced will have its source in the atom.

New plastics, paint, textiles, metals, medicines, building materials and chemicals will result from experimentation with atomic processes. Nuclear ships, planes and trains will be in use in 1982. Offices and apartments may be heated by a low-pressure atomic reactor.

A new science of the sun will emerge. Energy gathered from sun rays will be used to power homes and factories, drive ships, provide fuel for remote corners of the earth.

Other electronic miracles will be specially adjusted phones that will enable you to get your party

Expert Predicts Price Increases For Plywood

Plywood purchasers who have noticed more imperfections in their wood lately aren't just seeing things, says a University of Michigan wood technologist.

"The number of permissible patches for knots and other defects is going higher and higher," notes Alan A. Marra, an associate professor in the U-M School of Natural Resources.

Basically, he says, this is because the plywood industry is finding it more and more difficult to produce prime logs—timbers used to produce face veneers—although there still seems to be plenty of lower grade timber for the inner plies.

Professor Marra predicts it will become increasingly difficult to buy high-grade plywood. And, he adds, where available, it will be more expensive than it is now.

Though the mills are finding it hard to get prime Douglas fir, this doesn't mean such wood doesn't exist, Professor Marra explains. There may be some way back in the woods, and companies are even thinking about air-lifting it out by helicopter. But, he says, "The supply of prime logs is gone or going, and we aren't able to do much about it, except to wait for regrowth."

The professor notes that there are some 90 Douglas fir plywood plants—all on the West coast. But, he says, only about 50 of them are operating now, partly because of a decrease in the quantity and quality of suitable timber, and also because of a current slump in construction.

Plywood comes in two types, depending on the quality of glue bonding the plies together, Professor Marra explains. It also comes in 16 different grades—seven for outside work, nine for inside jobs—depending on the quality of the wood, he says.

Life in Amazing 1980's Will Feature Electrostatic Home Dust Gatherers

A report on America's "growingest quarter century"—the next 25 years—is contained in the June issue of Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine. Population growth will push our population to 250 millions from the present 170 million. Science, technology, medicine, new business methods, new markets and new communities will produce a nation of a 100 million job holders, twice as many college students as now, 130 million automobiles and a four-day work week.

Here are some additional forecasts:

Jobs—In 1982 machine may do much of your work but not your thinking. A new breed of workers will develop and those who can truly be masters of the machines will be the ones who move ahead.

White-collar workers will be far more numerous than blue-collar. People who run things—managers and proprietors—will almost double in number. Stores, banks, real-estate firms, insurance companies, utilities and government will all step up their hiring to a greater degree than manufacturing industry. Pay will almost double today's levels, in today's dollars.

Inflation—The 1982's dollar will be worth much less than today's. Inflationary pressures will be high government spending, rising wage levels and constant need for capital.

In coping with inflation, choose the industries with the greatest promise of growth when you invest. You won't get rich quick, but your dollars will grow as the industries do.

Travel—It will be an even smaller world in 1982. No country or city will be more than 24 hours away. Travelers will ride in supersonic jet planes at speeds two or three times that of sound. Cruising speed will be 1,500 miles per hour. Commuters will go in airplanes that rise straight up, then go straight forward.

Cars may have fuel-injection motors which do not need carburetors. They will have 25% more horsepower than today's cars, and may even be without transmissions. Parts may be sealed, so you may never need a grease job.

Some trains may be atom-powered and built to go at two miles per minute. Others will rocket along on monorails.

Housing—A new kind of house is on the way. It will blend into the outdoors and bring nature inside, and it may be round instead of square. Color will be everywhere, and if you get tired of the color of an interior wall, you will replace the wall with one of another shade.

Push button windows will close automatically if it rains. A wish of air will clean and dry the dishes in three minutes. Electrostatic dust gatherers will keep the house shiny. If it's a hot summer, you'll use a blanket that keeps you cool. Your newspaper will be as colorful as a slick magazine.

Some clothing will be made of paper products and disposable after a couple of wearings. The refrigerator will have lost its importance, since most foods won't need refrigeration, but will be irradiated, chemically treated, or dehydrated.

Schools & Colleges—For every student in public school and college today, there will be almost two students enrolled 25 years from now. The same ratio will apply to teachers. As many as three college professors for every one today will be needed.

A great deal of teaching will be done by TV and films. Schools will be open 12 months a year. Courses will be speeded up and technical training will be a must.

What will all this cost? At least 50 billion dollars a year for all the colleges and schools in the nation. That's 35 billion more than today. Government money will provide most of the needed cash.

Electronics—One third of all power produced will have its source in the atom.

New plastics, paint, textiles, metals, medicines, building materials and chemicals will result from experimentation with atomic processes. Nuclear ships, planes and trains will be in use in 1982. Offices and apartments may be heated by a low-pressure atomic reactor.

A new science of the sun will emerge. Energy gathered from sun rays will be used to power homes and factories, drive ships, provide fuel for remote corners of the earth.

Other electronic miracles will be specially adjusted phones that will enable you to get your party

DODGE outperforms "other two" low-priced trucks!

They're off! All three low-priced trucks are lined up at the bottom of a test grade equal to the steepest hill in San Francisco. The flag drops, and this grueling test of climbing power is officially underway. Dodge takes an early lead.

Halfway up. The extra V-8 power under the hood of the Dodge sends it quickly ahead. It's already two lengths out front. And there's a 1000-lb. test load on each one of these comparably equipped trucks. What's more, Dodge is still gaining!

Dodge flashes past the finish five lengths ahead of competition. Truck "C" and truck "F" just couldn't match that 204-hp. Power Giant. And this is just one of a rugged series of tests that prove Dodge is best of the low-priced three.

Your Dodge truck dealer has proof that Dodge leads in many ways. Come in... see other certified test-photo sequences... and take a demonstration ride!

New Books at the Wayne County Library

"Where Did You Go?"
 "Out."
 "What Did You Do?"
 "Nothing?"
 Believe it or not that's the title of a new book at the Plymouth Branch of the Wayne County Library. It's a heart-warmingly funny book about how things were when the author (who is now 41) was young and what kids are like today.

"Company Q" by Richard O'Conner—A Civil War saga of a company of Confederate renegades who join the Union army on its march to Atlanta.

"Tall Captains" by Bart Spicer—An exiled Scotsman finds a new world in the Canadian outpost of the French Empire, where he fights beside Montcalm.

"Never So Few" by Tom T. Chamales—A powerful story of guerrilla warfare in the jungle of Burma during World War II, led by an American and his strange assortment of men.

"The Short Reign of Pippin IV" by John Steinbeck—Here is a delightfully new kind of Steinbeck, writing a good-natured satire on French politics.

"The Empress Josephine" by Marguerite Vance—A sympathetic historical novel, tracing the life of Josephine from island girl to wife of Napoleon and empress of France.

"Great Men of the Sea" by Felix Riensberg, Jr.—A collection of adventures in the history of sea-faring men, from the Phoenician sailors to modern heroes.

"Twenty-Thousand Leagues Under the Sea" by Jules Verne—

A new print of an old favorite, with hand colored illustrations and a new introduction.

"A chance for Glory" by Constance Wright—An amazing episode in the life of Lafayette when he was imprisoned during political turmoil and revolution in France.

"Not in Our Stars" by Jill Stern—A sensitive and searching story of a women's struggle to find peace of mind after a divorce.

"Faith Men Live By" by Charles Francis Potter—The inspiring story of the world's religions and man's eternal search for the infinite.

New children's books in the library are as follows:

"Black Stallions Courage" by Frank Knight—A novel for the junior high reader about a family who make their home aboard an old yacht. It centers around a 15-year-old girl and how she and her family adapt to their new life.

"Black Stallions Courage" by Walter Farley—The latest book in the popular Black Stallion Series for junior high schoolers. The stallion comes out of retirement to race again.

"Odyssey and Iliad" an adaptation of Homer by Jane Werner Watson—This is a simplified explanation of the Homer classics with illustrations.

"The Secret" by Dorothy Clewer—Fourth through sixth graders will enjoy this fantasy about Kay and Rory and their life in a big apartment building with all its secret hiding places.

"Desert Drama" by Iona Hester—Tales of strange plants and animals brought to life through photographs and drawings.

"Fishes" by Herbert Zim and Hurst Shoemaker—This guide to familiar American species will be of interest to the youngster and adult alike. A Golden Nature book, it features 278 pages of full-color photographs.

Roundup of New Laws Regarding Conservation

Small game hunting seasons in the southern lower peninsula will open October 21 this year, instead of October 20, and the rabbit season in that region has been extended one month—through March 1.

These are two of the changes made in conservation laws by the 1957 legislature.

Other action by the legislature included:

Hunting license fee increases—resident small game, from $2 to $3; resident deer and bear (firearm and archery), from $3.50 to $5; resident trapping, from $2 to $3; nonresident small game, from $15 to $20; nonresident archery deer and bear, from $10 to $15; and camp deer permit, from $3.50 to $10.

Fishing license fee increases—resident annual, except trout, from $1.50 to $2; nonresident annual, except trout, from $4 to $5; nonresident 15-day permit, except trout, from $3 to $4; and resident or nonresident trout stamp, from $1 to $2.

All other hunting and fishing license fees remain unchanged. The new license prices will be effective this fall for hunting license and January 1, 1958 for fishing licenses.

Other laws enacted by the legislature will:

Make slingshots legal hunting weapons this year.

Require a gun to be broken down or encased whenever carried in an automobile.

Ban use of .22 caliber rim fire rifles for taking deer.

Authorize the Conservation Department to establish five experimental game areas, where season lengths and bag limits may be varied for research purposes.

Allow leasing of Great Lakes bottomlands for oil and gas exploration and drilling.

Stock Purchase Plan Offered 120 Plant Employees

Full-time employees of Continental Can Company, 800 Junction Ave., Plymouth, have been given the opportunity to share in the company's ownership at a considerable discount, it was announced this week by A. P. Bowman, plant manager. The plan is the Robert Gair division.

Under the plan employees who had been with the company or its wholly-owned subsidiaries at least one year can buy common shares at a saving of approximately 10% under the June 12 market price of $46.50, or at a price of $42 per share. Each employee, with the exception of certain executives, will be able to purchase one share for every $500 of his base annual salary.

There are approximately 120 employees locally who are eligible, Bowman said. Participating employees may pay for the stock in monthly installments of as little as one dollar and may withdraw at any time before receiving the stock, in which case the company will return the amount in any account with interest.

The plan was voted at Continental's annual meeting of shareholders last April 23 at which time, General Lucius D. Clay, board chairman, told the stockholders that increasing the number of employees with stock, presently about 3,500.
