

Detroit Group Gives Colony Farm Concert

Plymouth Colony Farms will again be the scene of a concert in the summer outdoor music festival series this Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony Society this Sunday's program will be presented by the Detroit Little Symphony under the direction of conductor Wayne Dunlap.

Included in the program will be Prokofiev's "Classical Symphony". The Detroit Little Symphony, known in this area for the virtuosity of its performances, will also play Ravel's "Le tombeau de Couperin" and Debussy's "On Hearing the First Cuckoo in the Spring".

A special feature will be

James Wolfe

James Wolfe, the internationally known young pianist, who will play both the Brandenburg Concert No. 1 in F Major by Bach and the little known Beethoven Piano Concerto No. 2.

A native of Omaha, Wolfe recently added Central America and Mexico to the scenes of his recital appearances. He has been heard widely in concerts in the United States with such orchestras as the Philadelphia Symphony, the Buffalo Philharmonic and the Springfield Symphony.

He has also toured the Scandinavian countries, Iceland, Canada, England, Brazil and Hawaii where he was soloist with the Honolulu Symphony. In France he performed with L'Orchestre de la Societe des Concerts du Conservatoire.

The audience will again have the privileges of the informal setting at Plymouth Colony Farms which is about three miles west of Plymouth on Joy road. The country spot is entirely surrounded by woods, fields and

Cases of Rabid Skunks Increase

Chief of Police Kenneth Fisher warned this week that sight of a skunk in the daytime may mean that it has rabies.

The chief and other law enforcement representatives from Wayne County were at a meeting called by the County Department of Health to point out an increasing problem involving skunks.

It was reported that seven cases of rabid skunks have been found in the county this year. The skunks often bite dogs or other animals, spreading the often-fatal disease.

In one case, the health department said, a small girl got close enough to a skunk for it to bite her. Anytime a skunk is seen running in the daytime, the chief said, it is possible that it is infected.

Fisher also reminded citizens to call their doctors and the department if they or their children are bitten by dogs. The sooner the department is informed about the bite, the easier it is to find the dog. The dogs are checked for rabies.

Senior Represents Michigan at Girls' Nation

A 16-year-old Plymouth High school senior is one of the two Michigan girls chosen to attend Girls' Nation in Washington, D. C. starting July 28.

She is Geraldine Love, 33065 Ann Arbor Trail, who was selected from among 330 Michigan girls who attended Wolverine Girls' State at the University of Michigan on June 18-26.

Geraldine was sponsored at Girls State by the Auxiliary of Passage-Gayde Post of the American Legion. While there, she was elected a state representative by other girls.

She will fly to the Girls' Nation in Washington where she will learn the fundamental principals of American government. The national event also aims to stimulate in the girls a deep interest in the development of home and community life. Geraldine will stay at the University of Maryland.

Geraldine is active in 4-H activities, debating, sports, and is a member of the Girls' Athletic Association and the Waterways, a swimming club. Last January she won the Wayne county cherry pie baking title and competed in the state contest.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Love.

orchards and is well suited to the enjoyment of music. Made available by Dr. Ralph Pino, noted Detroit eye surgeon, the area is easily reached and includes large parking facilities close to the concert site.

A new parking area closer to the concert site is being opened this week.

Plymouth Colony Concerts opened its series on June 30 with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra. The informal concerts allow families to spread blankets on the ground if they desire, or use chairs that are provided. The area is sprayed before each performance and a refreshment stand is operated by members of the Plymouth Junior Symphony.

The ticket price for these concerts has been set low for the beginning season—$2 per concert for individual, couple or family admissions, including parking. Tickets for the remaining concerts on July 21 and August 11 may be purchased by mail from the Plymouth Symphony Society, Box 99, Plymouth, Mich., or they may be secured on the site at the concerts.

About 1,000 people attended the opening concert which was hailed by planners as highly successful.

New Plymouth Car Dealership Opens Here

F and B Plymouth Sales and Service opened yesterday at 1205 West Ann Arbor road, as the first exclusive Plymouth dealership in the city of Plymouth.

The new dealership, three blocks west of Main, is operated by Burt Field and Sidney R. Berman. Both partners were formerly employed by the Louis Rose dealerships in Detroit. Rose is reputed to be the world's largest DeSoto-Plymouth dealer.

Berman was a salesman there for eight years and Field worked in the service department for 22 years. Berman calls Field the "top service manager in the entire Chrysler corporation."

A Rose dealership on West Ann Arbor Trail, one block east of Main, closed three years ago.

Chrysler Corporation has been splitting Dodge-Plymouth franchises gradually since the 1951 model year. Five exclusive dealerships have been made in this district since.

Both Field and Berman live in Detroit but are presently looking for homes in Plymouth.

Letter Concerning Zoning Violation Brings Protest

Dr. G. K. Ashton, who has frequented city commission meetings on numerous occasions with protests regarding zoning and a South Main street parking ban, took the floor again Monday night with a complaint regarding an alleged zoning law violation by him and the manner in which the city wrote him a letter.

He won his point concerning the letter form, but the zoning violation complaint has been turned over to the city manager for further investigation.

Dr. Ashton, whose chiropractic offices are at 838 South Main, presented a

Police Seek Local Passer of $200 In Bad Checks

A state-wide alarm has gone out for a Plymouth woman who cashed $200 in worthless checks here and in Livonia and then disappeared.

Plymouth police said they are searching for Mrs. Shirley Hager, 4175 Gotfredson road, Saturday, July 6 without funds in the bank. A warrant has been issued charging her with issuing checks without an account or credit.

Because she had been a regular customer in many of the stores and had personalized checks from the local office of the National Bank of Detroit, the merchants who cashed her checks had no reason to suspect that they were worthless.

Last Saturday, a week after she had cashed the checks, they began to return to the merchants who cashed them. Others returned this past Monday. Police were notified immediately and most of the merchants appeared here before an assistant prosecutor to make statements.

Local stores cashing the checks after purchases had been made were:

Krogers, $25; Stop & Shop, $10; Hustons Hardware, $30; Famous Mens Store, $25; Penniman Market, $20; Fisher Shoe Store, $20; Cassadys, $20. There were also two checks issued in Livonia for $20 each, bringing the total up to $200.

Police said that Mrs. Hager, who is 21 years old, had been in a West Virginia hospital recently for treatment of a nervous disorder. She and her husband had left their baby with the baby's grandparents in West Virginia and were going there soon to bring it home.

Police said that Mr. Hager has named a man whom his wife is believed to have fled with. A teletype has been issued from the police department asking other departments in the state to be on the look out for Mrs. Hager. She weighs 110 pounds, is five feet six inches tall, has short blond hair and blue eyes.

Police are also investigating a case involving a missing pup tent. Last Friday they received a call from Mrs. Richard Irvine, 884 Palmer, stating that a pup tent erected behind the house had been stolen.

On Monday, Mrs. Irvine called police again to report that the culprits had returned to steal the tent stakes which they had neglected before.

In another unusual case last Friday, George Lester, 395 West Ann Arbor Trail, reported that someone was taking fender skirts from his car parked at the McLaren Co. on Main street. It was 3:30 in the afternoon.

Lester said that he knew the man who took the skirts, identifying him as Ezra Fowler, 878 Auburn. Police questioned Fowler and learned that he had sold the skirts to Lester, but that the purchaser had not paid him the rest of the money as agreed. Lester could not prove that he had made part purchase, police said, so Fowler was allowed to keep the fender skirts.

Police received a complaint last Friday from Henry Zeuner, 665 Simpson, that a 14 foot aluminum boat had been stolen from behind his garage. The boat was valued at $50.

Evidence showed that the boat was carried across a nearby vacant lot.

Four Local Scouts Report From National Jamboree

(Editor's Note: The following letter was received by the Plymouth Mail from Dick and Gary Weiermiller, Frosty Morgeson and Bill Rocker. The four boys are attending the Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge Pa.)

Hi Plymouth: This letter is coming from the Fourth National Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge where 50,000 boys, including four from Plymouth, are enjoying outdoor camping at its best.

A typical day's schedule might be as follows: rise and shine! at 6 a.m., take a shower, prepare and eat breakfast, clean the campsite, inspection and free time when trading may be done with other Scouts.

At 1 p.m. lunch is prepared and eaten. A rest period then lasts until 2 p.m. which is followed by free time until 5 p.m. During this time you may visit the special activities such as marksmanship, archery, etc. At 5 p.m. dinner is prepared and eaten. After this comes a regional campfire. At 10 p.m., lights out for a good night's sleep.

One of the big events around the Jamboree is the trading of patches, neckerchief slides, horn toads (from Texas) and sometimes even uniforms. Every Scout takes part in this so naturally someone gets the worst of the deal. Dick Weiermiller usually gets the tailend of the deal, but Bill Rocker and Frosty Morgeson are usually getting the better part. Frosty started one morning with two patches and came back with 20.

All Scouts at the Jamboree are working for an adventure award which consists of doing seven different things out of 14. Bill Rocker was the first boy in our troop, Troop 13, to get this award. I think one of the best parts of the Jamboree is the feeling you get to know that there are 50,000 boys all in the same group working for the same thing, to be better citizens tomorrow.

Well, time to be going now. We just saw some foreign Scouts go by and we want to talk to them. We will see you back in Plymouth on Tuesday.

The petitions, which were not signed by all property owners, are: South Evergreen from West Ann Arbor Trail to Elm; McKinley, from West Ann Arbor Trail to Elm; Elm, from South Evergreen to Jener; Park Place, from South Evergreen to McKinley; and Maple, from Sheldon road to Jener.

The South Main project will be paid for by the city because no rebuilding job will be required. City Manager Albert Glassford said. The Hough Park streets, however, have never been paved and abutting property owners will share the cost.

City commissioners approved motions Monday night to start the machinery that will lead to the paving of two blocks on South Main street and five streets in Hough Park Subdivision.

LOOKING UNDER the boom of a large crane, this shot shows some of the activity at the Western Electric Co. plant. Over 600 footers need to be constructed and 87 piers, some of which are shown here. There are 107 men working on the job now with more to come. Despite poor weather, the program is progressing better than average. Western Electric's resident engineer states.

Summer Construction Heavy Here

Almost everywhere one drives in the Plymouth area this month there is some type of construction going on—from the multi-million dollar Western Electric plant on Sheldon road to countless home projects.

Large scale construction is especially booming this summer in Plymouth with prospects of more to come. There are several major subdivision projects underway which will tend to attract more residents to the community.

Other construction includes a church, a supermarket, library, schools and two telephone buildings.

It has been reported that at least one new store building is to be built in the downtown area this year and perhaps two. At least a half dozen stores are expecting to shift to another location. Details are being withheld until negotiations are completed.

One of the major projects Plymouthites are noticing is the Western Electric plant. According to the W-E resident engineer, E.W. Gesser, the completion target date of a year and a half may be shortened if present speed is maintained. Even during the bad weather, he said, progress has been on schedule.

Gesser outlined some details of the plant which measures 677 feet long and 500 feet wide. The front 175 feet of depth will be a re-enforced concrete two-story building with repair shops on the first floor. The second floor will contain offices, cafeteria and equipment.

The remainder of the building will be one story steel construction for a warehouse area.

Lester Barney Dies 24 Hours After Accident

Lester B. Barney, short order cook at Barney's Plymouth Grill, died at 4:30 Thursday, July 11 as a result of injuries sustained in a motor scooter accident July 10 near Three Rivers.

He was found by the State Police and taken to Three Rivers hospital where he remained unconscious for 24 hours before death. Since there were no witnesses, it is not known how the accident occurred.

Mr. Barney bought the motor scooter four days before the accident. He was returning from a visit with friends in Cassopolis.

He lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Barney at 8810 Marlow. Surviving are his parents and a brother, H. Philip Barney of 934 Hartsough. His parents and brother are owners of Barney's Plymouth Grill, 950 Starkweather.

Born on November 2, 1916 in Belvidere, Ill., Mr. Barney came to Plymouth in 1945 from Rockford, Ill. He served four years in the Army as a medical corpsman in the CBI (China, Burma, India) campaign.

Services were held at the Schrader Funeral Home at 3 p.m. Sunday July 14. Rev. Henry J. Welch of the First Presbyterian church officiated and Mrs. Edna O'Conner played the organ.

Family services were held Monday, July 15 in Rockford, Ill. Interment was July 15 at Arlington Cemetery in Rockford.

Over 600 footers need to be poured, of which 172 are completed. There are also 87 piers being poured up from the footing. In about two weeks, Gesser said, pouring of the floor slabs should start.

At the north end of the building will be two water towers. One will be a 300,000 gallon tower for a reserve sprinkler system. The other tower will be used for water circulating in the air conditioning system.

There are now 107 men working on the plant and the number is to steadily increase.

Among the public construction projects are the library, junior high school and senior high. The first addition to the library is rapidly progressing with work now reaching the second floor.

Of colonial design, the building will cost $116,000 and is being financed by the Edward C. Hough and Mary Hough Kimble Foundation.

Among walking into the senior high or the old junior high buildings may wonder if they expect to hold school there this September. Both buildings have many rooms torn up (nearly all in the junior high are being renovated). The project is costing $83,766. It is part of a plan to convert the old junior high into senior high use and to enlarge some of the present senior high building's facilities such as the library and biology rooms.

The junior high is getting all new window frames and other fixtures.

At the new Plymouth Community Junior High school off Mill street, work has almost been completed and equipment is to be moved in shortly. This building, ultra-modern in design, will accommodate 1,000 students. Some sixth grades will be housed there next fall.

Another large building is rising on West Ann Arbor Trail, near Harvey street. The First Church of Christ, Scientist, is constructing a new building of modified contemporary design. Church and Sunday School facilities will be in separate buildings.

The supermarket building under construction will be leased to A & P. Located on Ann Arbor road at Harvey street, final touches are being given this building this week. It is not yet decided if the opening will be ready by next week or the week following. A & P is now located downtown on Ann Arbor Trail.

Two buildings are being built by Michigan Bell Telephone company. Scheduled for occupancy perhaps this month yet is the commercial office on South Harvey. This two story building will take the place of the office on Penniman avenue.

The other building is on Ann Arbor road. Costing $500,000, it will house the automatic dial phone equipment for Plymouth. The building is two stories high and measures 140 feet wide and 125 feet deep. The entire phone conversion project will cost $2,900,000.

Five major housing developments are underway in the city and township. The Greenspan Building company now has taken out building permits for 69 homes and many of these are now com-

Ex-Local Boy Flies with Peter Pan

Nearly all youngsters of every generation have had the desire to flap their arms and fly like a bird—just like the children did in the popular story of "Peter Pan".

That wish has come true for one former Plymouth boy, 7-year-old David Curtner, who will be flying almost every day this month. He is now appearing in the production of "Peter Pan" at the Music Circle Theatre in a role that takes him sailing across the stage of the "theatre-in-the-round" at Bottsford Inn on Grand River avenue.

David plays the important role of Michael in the cast. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Curtner, former residents of Simpson street and now of Farmington. His grandparents are Mrs. Charles Neal of Penniman avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Curtner of Livonia.

hearsals in Flint and at Music Circle Theatre, (formerly Melody Circus). Peter Foy of London, England, who supervised the production of the original TV cast of "Peter Pan" is also supervising the flying of the youngsters in the present production.

The play opened Tuesday and ends this Sunday. It moves to Flint during July 22-27.

David's mother is known to patrons of the Plymouth Theatre Guild where as Libbie Neal she had been active for several years.

Petition to Close Street

Seventeen people representing 12 parcels of property have petitioned the city commission to close Maple street at Sheldon road.

Maple at present runs from Harvey street to Sheldon road. No reason for the request was stated on the petition, but it is assumed that the residents want to halt through traffic.

Handwriting Analysts Examine T's and G's, Not P's and Q's

You have to watch more than your p's and q's in handwriting—it's more important how you cross the t's and loop your g's. More important, at least, to the 600 members of the International Grapho Analysis Society, Inc. who attended their annual convention in Springfield, Illinois last week. It was its 28th anniversary convention.

Mrs. Harold Grimoldby, 9245 Marlowe, Mrs. Lucille McKinney and Dr. Veronica Lovewell of Northville attended the convention.

Charles F. Martin, district credit manager for International Harvester Company, Certified Grapho Analyst, was general chairman of the convention. Martin turned what started as a hobby—handwriting analysis—into what he considers a valuable tool.

"What we use to evaluate a person's handwriting," Martin said, "is not the formation of letters, but how a writer makes the strokes which are part of the letters... like the crossing of a t, the loop of an f or g."

The grapho analysts, Martin said, have isolated some 79 character traits which clearly show up in any sample of handwriting.

Published every Thursday at 271 S. Main street, Plymouth, Michigan in Michigan's largest weekly newspaper plant.

demonstrated in the thousands of strokes which are used in writing.

"The strokes we look for," Martin explained, "are the beginning strokes which are made after the writer puts pencil or pen to paper for the formation of a letter or word... The stroke moves forward or backward, upward or down, and goes into a curve or hook."

Martin said that handwriting analysis tells all, but some care must be used in an analysis of handwriting because the analyst has to compare all the strokes and tell which strokes offset mental patterns indicated by other strokes.

For example, he said, a heavy downstroke on the lower loop letters like y's and g's indicate a very determined individual, but if the crossing of the t's is very low on the "t" stem, then there's definite indication of the lack of faith of the writer in himself, which offsets the determination indicated by the loops.

Grapho Analysis has been incorporated in psychology courses in at least 42 European colleges and it is also taught as an accredited course in the United States at Cleary College at Ypsilanti. Largely, the course is taught through mail order. Members of the Society number 5,000, most of them in the United States.

The MAIL Attitude

BY PAUL CHANDLER

This is a little late, in one sense, but we're thinking of the future, too.

Plymouth's Fourth of July celebration this year was a lot of fun for many people. Our community retains enough sentiment and sense of the historic to want to indulge in special civic celebrations.

It isn't thus everywhere. Many towns—probably the majority—have given up such things. We recently read of one where the only Fourth of July planned was a few aerial fireworks in the evening. It rained that night, so they were shot off a week later when nobody cared and nobody watched. The newspaper in that community now advises editorially that the money spent for fireworks be used for something else.

Plymouth's celebration is a gift from Plymouth's merchants. They support it with their funds and in other ways. Without them, the Fourth would be just another day off here, too.

The way to return the favor—and insure the continuance of such projects—is to shop in Plymouth.

Among suggestions we've had recently by letters from readers are:

"Better marking of pedestrian lanes on main streets, and more respect for the rights of pedestrians from motorists."

"Make it compulsory for milk to be dated."

"Have the high school band play more music and do less plain marching to drumbeat in parades and at football games."

It's a humble subject, but one of the finest services that just comes quietly and efficiently to citizens of Plymouth is waste collection.

In the neighbor communities to the East, there is forehead-wrinkling going on in city halls over the garbage and waste problem. Both Livonia and Redford-Township use dumps which will be full within a year. New sites are tough to find—and expensive. So are incinerators, another possible solution.

Private contractors collect in Livonia and charge for it, of course. Redford Township is thinking of charging for collection.

We're fortunate here.

SOCIAL NOTES

Molly Groth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Groth of Harvey street, north was the guest of honor Friday evening at a miscellaneous shower given in the home of her cousin, Mrs. Jess Cuming in Pontiac with Mrs. Minnie Ray, Mrs. Joseph Tracey and Miss Jeanette Baldwin of Plymouth as co-hostesses. The evening was delightfully spent in games and the presentation of gifts to the bride-to-be after which a delicious luncheon planned by Mrs. Cuming was served. Favors and flowers decorated the tables. About eighteen relatives and friends attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blunk, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mumby, Mr. and Mrs. William Grammel and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gardner were in Chesaning Wednesday evening to attend "Showboat" which is presented annually.

Joseph and Julius Bocik of Kenosha, Wisc., were weekend guests in the home of their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nelson on Blunk street and visited their mother, Mrs. Irene Bocik, who is a patient in St. Joseph hospital in Ann Arbor.

by Carl Peterson

With a lot of action on the nation's highways these days, it pays a fellow to be alert to all the rules of the road... especially the offbeat ones. A western judge ruled recently that a back-seat-driving husband can be responsible for his wife's driving errors. This is a twist that really puts the lady of the house in the driver's seat.

In this case the wife was going to stop for a pedestrian, when hubby in the back seat told her to go on. She did, and the pedestrian had to leap like a kangaroo to avoid denting the car's fenders. When she told the court her sad story, the judge blamed the husband faster than a lawyer chasing an ambulance. So when the little woman is driving, better not speak up. That back seat's no broadcasting station.

The irate gentleman pulled up along side the woman driver and said, "Why don't you put out your hand when you turn?" "Why should I," she replied, "I always turn here."

An etiquette expert says, "A gentleman will no more cheat a red light or stop sign than he would cheat in a game of cards." Especially if a policeman's watching.

It's not merely a matter of etiquette, or even a matter of honesty—it's a matter of necessity for a pharmacist to render careful, accurate prescription service. You can always rely on our highly skilled staff of pharmacists to provide exactly what your doctor prescribes.

Plymouth's Business

Plymouth will be a shoppers' paradise this week with the majority of the merchants holding their annual mid-summer sales. After checking our advertising copy we cannot possibly visualize any reason why the people of Plymouth should seek better values elsewhere, for they just don't exist. This statement not only applies to this sale but holds good anytime. When one buys a piece of merchandise from a local merchant, it is tantamount to receiving an insurance policy of guaranteed satisfaction, for our local merchants stand behind their goods. This plus the fact that it is most difficult to find better prices anywhere is more than sufficient reason for shopping in Plymouth.

Berry and Atchinson Pontiac announced that Charles E. Kotterer, 1451 Sheridan, Plymouth, was the winner of a Magnavox hi-fi set and Ray Wisniewski, 1109 Shadowlawn Drive, Inkster, the winner of an RCA Radio. The winners competed in the "Drive The Champ" contest held by the Pontiac Dealers during the month of April. There were over 2,000 entrants in the contest. J. E. Edelbrock, sales manager of Berry & Atchinson said.

We have been roundly berated by one "little honest John" Wimsatt for publishing a picture of a cooking school at the Wimsatt Appliance Shop in which he was not recognizable. After weeks of reasoning with little John, to no avail, we have concluded that the easiest course is to publish a picture of "little honest John" at home on the range.

John is helping his father "Big Honest John" as a star salesman this summer. In the winter, little John engages in his favorite sport of hockey, which we imagine makes him a little frigid heir.

Elton D. Knapp Seeks Michigan Legion Office

Elton D. Knapp, 798 Pacific, will be in the running for State Commander of the American Legion, when the 39th annual Michigan convention opens today in Grand Rapids. Other candidates for the office are Lewis C. Bricker of Coldwater and Giles A. Reeves of Ecorse.

Knapp is a charter member of the Plymouth Passage-Gayde Post 391. He served a term as commander from 1949-1950. He was commander of that post from 1953-54.

While with the Plymouth post, he served as Americanism chairman for two years and as district adjutant. He is also a charter member of the Elks Lodge 780 and an active member of Voiture 811 of Oakland County 40 & 8, an American Legion branch.

High Scores Figure In Rec. Softball

The bats were heavy and the muscles bulging in last week's B League softball competition. In four games played—the fifth was a forfeit—all scores but one were in double figures.

Northville preserved its league lead over the Knot Heads by taking a forfeit game from the Garden City Hospital squad. However, the Knot Heads didn't lose any ground when they slaughtered Continental Can Co. 18-0. In other contests, Independents outslugged Chevie Spring and Bumper 19-15, Daisy Mfg. Co. clobbered Bill's Market 19-12, and Vico Products Co. knocked off Lutheran Men's Club 18-13. In the four games, a total of 114 runs was scored.

The A Leaguers, hampered by rain, were able to play only two games, both with reasonable scores. Beglinger Olds continued to be invincible by shutting out Lincoln Division 7-0. Lincoln could manage only two hits from the offerings of Street. In the other contests, Chevie Spring and Bumper took a firmer hold on second place in the standings by knocking off Box Bar 6-3. Monday, July 8, Beglinger made up one of the many rained out games and again mastered Lincoln, 2-0, with Street throwing another shutout. However, the Beglinger Nine were out-hit 3-2.

The standings as of July 14:

Class A		Class B
Beglinger	10-0	Northville V.F.W.	6-0
Chevie Spring and Bump.	5-4	Knot Heads	5-2
Box Bar	3-5	Independents	4-2
Lincoln	0-9	Daisy	4-2
		Strohs	3-2
		Vico	3-2
		Bill's Market	3-3
		Lutheran Men's Club	2-4
		Chevie	1-5
		Garden City	0-5

School's Playground Program Will Come to Close Next Week

The children's summer play areas, located at ten separate grade schools, high school and playgrounds have been a success this summer. These areas, where young people are instructed in music, arts and crafts, organized athletics, dramatics, and many other similar courses and projects have provided the smaller youth of the given areas. All he need do is contact the person or persons in charge of his particular play area.

But the various activities in the program are rapidly drawing to a close. Beginning June 17, the play areas are to disband July 26. However, until that date, any child may enroll at any one of the given areas. All he need do is contact the person or persons in charge of his particular play area.

As a "graduating exercise" for this year's program, Miss Merry Lynn Johnson will present a Music Finale. Tuesday, July 23 in the High School Auditorium. Merry Lynn, who has been the specialist instructor of vocal music and dramatics to the children, described the Finale as "a singing get-together to illustrate what has been done in music and dramatics in the summer recreation program."

Children from all playground areas will attend the "party". Group singing, dramatic skits, and square dancing will highlight the evening's activities. All parents and friends are invited to attend. The program will begin at 7:30 p.m.

THE RIDER

BY BOB FRANKLIN

One of the best junior shows this season took place at the Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds last Sunday. A total of 11 junior riders competed for top honors in the day long show that lasted from 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. In spite of occasional rain a faithful group of spectators remained to cheer their favorites on.

Barbara Baker, of Livonia, stormed the flat saddle division with her fine gelding, Little Prophet. She won the English equitation class, and then went on to win the equitation stake, competing with riders of the other three styles represented at the show. Barb was a fine representative of the flat saddle style of riding, a style that is regaining its popularity.

No mention of the riders at this show would be complete without the name of Judy Lowther. Judy has become known to the show set as a young lady who does her winning and losing with the same big grin. Last Sunday Judy did a large share of winning. She garnered first in her pleasure horse class, first in her stock horse class, third in horsemanship and third in the equitation stake. This series of winnings made Judy the high point winner of the show, the grand champion.

The two timed events of the show, the bending race and speed and action, were, as usual, fast moving and colorful classes. Gary Wright won the speed and action with a fine ride of 11 seconds flat. Not to be outdone, Hazel Griffith turned in a speedy first place ride in the barrel bending.

I feel a large vote of thanks should go to the officials of the show, Dean Scoggins, western judge, Razz LaRose, flat saddle judge and ring masters, Bill Wall and Eddie Earhart. These men are all top horsemen in their own right. All of them found time in their busy schedule to help the horsemen to tomorrow.

It is estimated that the non-English speaking Americans number 500,000.

Playground Exhibit

An exhibit of arts and crafts articles made by boys and girls from the eleven Plymouth Area Playgrounds will be held from Saturday, July 20th, through Wednesday, July 24th. The exhibit may be seen in one of the windows of Fisher's Shoe Store, 290 South Main Street.

Junior Golfers Start Medal Play

Junior Golfers began their medal match play Monday as 51 boys and girls appeared at Hill-top Golf Course for another session in the summer course.

Present standings of the match are: Larry Leet 5 up on Win Schrader, Dick Taylor 1 up on Harry Halvorson, Don Stimpson 1 up on John Augustine, Dave Rank 1 up on Dave Reed, Jim Stockton 6 up on Gary Ross, Doug Graham 4 up on Beau Toll, Bob Stewart 1 up on Dave Van Ornum and Dick Gretsinger has a bye. Among the girls, Linda Griswold has a bye.

Among the non-qualifiers, the leaders were: Del McAllister, 47; Steve Hayskar, 48; Dan Ide, 52; Bill Schwartz, 55; Tom Fletcher, 64; Kirk Lorenz, 67. Among the girls: Sue Hulsing, 86; Linda Leet, 87; Barb Bennett, 88; Mary Bauer, 75; Mary Lu Jones, 73.

Junior Golfers must have five cards in to qualify for the tournament August 12-13. To make up one or two cards, a player may play at anytime if they have a walker to authorize their score.

Because of the rain-out score on July 8, there will be an extra session this Friday morning.

by Bill Hubert

It was a grand vacation—the best ever, and the week at Boys' State was a most unforgettable one. But, "them days is gone forever", and it's pretty good to be back.

Does anybody remember Wally Dzurus? Anyone that is loyal to PHS athletics should. Wally graduated from Plymouth High in 1951 with a fist-full of basketball and baseball honors. He was holder of the individual scoring records for both a single game and a whole season, though both have since been broken. Wally was also an ace Rock moundsman during the '50-51 baseball seasons.

Apparently the training received at Plymouth has stuck with Wally. Last winter he was a starting member of the Ft. Lenardwode Basketball All-Stars, which included such greats as the Judson Twins (Illinois), Bill Ridley (Illinois), Joe Bertrand (Notre Dame), and K. C. Jones (San Francisco). The team won the Kansas City Army Tournament, traveled across the country, and was eliminated in the semi-finals of the National Army Tournament at New York City.

Sent to Korea a few months ago, Wally is currently a starting pitcher for the Korea Army All-Stars and is now touring Japan with the team. When he's not pitching, big Walt plays outfield.

He is indeed a credit to Plymouth and Plymouth coaches.

If you want an eye-full of pint-sized major-league baseball, wander down to the high school some afternoon between 3 and 5. You'll see quite a show: a three foot, six inch catcher blocking low pitches, a television-taught pick-off play, a 60-pound Jackie Robinson stealing home, or a four foot giant belting homeruns. Benchjockies, r h u b a r b s, and excitement—they're all present and wonderful to see.

Six teams constitute the league, directed by six "cagey" Casey Stengels. The teams and managers are: White Sox Fred Libbing; Blue Birds, Ed LaRoche; Wild Cats, Paul Woodard; Yankees, Jim Dzurus; Torpedoes, Jim Herter; and the Cardinals, Al Runge. Mr. Hoben and Mr. Gorguz supervise the action each afternoon. The teams play intramurally each Friday night under the lights, beginning at 6.

Merchants Drop Second Game; Elks Lose Again

The play is hot and heavy in the Michigan Inter-County Baseball League. Sunday's action saw teams drawn even closer to a full scale first-place, second-place, third-place tie.

While the Plymouth Merchants and River Rouge battle for the league leadership, four teams are struggling for the second slot in the standings. And though out of league contention, Detroit Control and the Plymouth Elks are waging war on one another for the unglamorous cellar position.

The Plymouth Merchants dropped their second contest of the year Sunday, July 14, to a hopped-up Northville squad, 3-2. Northville broke a 1-1 deadlock in the bottom of the eighth with two big runs which off-set the local's lone tally in the ninth.

Ed Hock pitched the complete ballgame for Plymouth and received the loss, Ken Kisabeth, also of Plymouth, was the winning Northville hurler.

Other Sunday results were these: River Rouge 5, Redford 2; Detroit Control 11, Plymouth Elks 6; and Chelsea 6, Romulus 5. Next Sunday the Merchants

Complete standings:

Plymouth Merchants	9	2
River Rouge	9	2
Redford Merchants	6	5
Northville Merchants	6	5
Romulus	5	5
Chelsea	5	6
Detroit Control	2	8

Deer Visits in Area

A deer has been the frequent visitor recently at the home of Vernon Finley, 41310 Schoolcraft road.

Mr. Finley reports that he saw the deer for the first time last Sunday as he rode a tractor behind his home. He was about 150 feet from the animal which did not run. After Finley had gone to bring his friends and relatives to also see the deer, it bounded across fields toward Five Mile road. The Finley home is at Schoolcraft and Wilcox roads. The deer was big enough to be a buck, Finley said, but had no antlers.

Police Halt Roadway Rembrandt

Here is a story about a citizen who decided to save the authorities some trouble and took it upon himself to remedy (in his estimation) a dangerous intersection. Livonia Police, at 1:45 a.m. on July 16, stopped to investigate a man who was in the middle of State Highway Route No. 14 (where Plymouth Road cuts off at the fork leading to Ann Arbor) painting a 12" yellow stripe, 21 ft. long, across the highway. When asked what he was painting the line across the road for, the man replied that "it was a dangerous intersection" and he thought a line across the highway (something new in traffic control) "would slow the motorists down and they wouldn't sneak through the first traffic signal." When confronted with the fact that he was nearly hit by a car and what was he doing out in the early hours of the morning, the man replied that "he had to wait until the traffic thinned-out to do the paint job".

A report was taken by the police and the man was told to refer his traffic problems in the future to the Traffic Commission. Jack Hickox, chairman of the Traffic Commission, is wondering how to get the bright yellow paint off the road and what the State Highway Commission is going to say about the matter. The man was not issued a violation.

SEPARATE CHURCH and Sunday school buildings are being constructed for the Church of Christ, Scientist, on West Ann Arbor Trail. The single story structure is of modified contemporary design. Buildings will occupy some 10,800 square feet of the 75,000 square foot lot. The two buildings will be connected by a covered breezeway which will skirt the loop drive and provide shelter in bad weather for persons leaving and entering cars.

Letter Concerning

mimeographed letter to the commission that he had received from the building inspector, stating that unless the zoning violation isn't corrected, legal action would be taken.

The doctor said that the letter itself not only maintained a "club" attitude, but that its mimeographed form was "grossly improper". He said that it contained no city letterhead and even the signature was mimeographed. He added that no other notice had been sent to him giving details of the violation.

The commission, which was unaware of the circumstances, turned to the city manager who said that two other notices had been sent to Dr. Ashton and others who had changed the use of their property, making it necessary to install paved off-street parking spaces. Dr. Ashton said that he had not received other notices, and challenged whether the ordinance said anything about changes in use.

He also asked why the ordinance required either concrete or blacktop for paving parking areas. "I don't see why a person couldn't pave it in gold if they wanted, or in brick. Why just concrete or blacktop?"

The manager answered that the planning commission and their consultants wrote concrete and blacktop into the ordinance because they are now the most common and inexpensive materials for the job. Commissioners agreed that letters such as sent to Dr. Ashton should be on letterhead stationery and signed. They took no stand in the ordinance violation complaint, however, turning the investigation over to the manager.

Mrs. Ethel Parmalee, who spent last week with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Felton and family of Rochester near East Jordan, is this week in Detroit with another daughter, Mrs. Elliott.

EASY TO DO

To try your hand at a pickled pine finish, use a coat of gray stain. When it is dry, rub the surface with a soft rag dipped in a little white paint. A varnish or shellac coat may then be used to protect the finish.

Summer Construction

pleted or under construction. The 1,200-home Lake Pointe Village is at Wilcox drive and Schoolcraft road. Curb and gutter and streets in the first unit of the development are already installed.

Homes are springing up in the Parklane Subdivision east of Sheldon road in the city. Both homes and improved lots are being sold in the project.

Several homes are already occupied in a 50-home subdivision on Ann Arbor road, near Haggerty, known as Arbor Village Subdivision. Gould Homes is building the custom homes on a 20-acre site.

The first model of a 50-home unit is going up on Sheldon road, just south of the Western Electric plant. The Madison Construction Corporation is building the homes. A total of 180 homes will be built in the area.

Work is also continuing on Ridge road where a 102-unit development is being constructed by Beryl and Clyde Smith. Known as Oak Haven Court, the $100,000 project is on a 25-acre site.

National Lions President

Edward G. Barry of Little Rock, Arkansas has been elected International President of Lions International at the association's 40th Annual Convention in San Francisco, California. Lions International, with 64,300 members in 92 countries or regions, is the world's largest service club organization.

Propose Group To Check City Engineering Jobs

City commissioners will study the formation of an "engineering study committee" whose function it would be to check on plans and work of professional engineers hired by the city.

Mayor Harold Guenther was authorized by the commission Monday night to appoint a committee of commissioners which in turn would study the feasibility of forming an engineering study committee.

Commissioner Richard Wernette and Mayor Guenther proposed that the commission seriously think of forming the engineering committee. According to Wernette, the commission itself isn't qualified to pass judgment on plans or work of a hired engineer. "We just hope that he does it right." A committee of qualified engineers, citizens of the city, would volunteer their services of checking plans and jobs to see that the city is getting its money's worth.

Mayor Guenther proposed that the committee of commissioners be appointed to study the pitfalls of such a group and that its duties be clearly defined. "Some engineers may resent others looking over their shoulders," it was pointed out. But Commissioner Carl Shear declared that there would be no resentment if the engineer was doing his work right.

A list of engineers who may volunteer for the committee is being drawn up.

Precautions Protect Fabrics from the Sun

While that summer tan is adding color to your skin, it may very well be robbing both color and strength from your summer clothing.

Prolonged exposure to the sun may fade garments and will also gradually weaken some fabrics, according to textile experts at American Institute of Laundering, research and educational center for the professional laundry industry.

While certain dyes are color fast to sunlight, others are highly susceptible to the sun's rays, say these technicians. They point out that vat dyes, as a classification, are the best obtainable and that a garment made of cotton which is vat-dyed is most likely to retain its original color for the wear-life of the garment.

Almost any fabric will show a gradual loss of strength due to lengthy sun exposure. However, silk is most easily affected by the sun as far as loss of strength is concerned.

The best insurance against sun-fading is to look for the Certified Washable Seal before making a purchase. Garments bearing this Seal of approval have been tested not only for sun-fading, but also for color fastness to washing, gas fading, shrinkage and tensile strength of the material.

In addition to protecting clothing and household accessories from unnecessary over-exposure to the sun, textile experts at American Institute of Laundering also suggest extra care for clothing during the summer months. They advise that clothing be laundered frequently and soon after wearing to avoid fabric damage or staining caused by perspiration.

Laboratory technicians also noted that clothing seems to pick up more stains during the summer months. Stains resulting from catsup, mustard, berries and grass are difficult to remove once they've set in the material. Such stains should be rinsed immediately and difficult stains should be cared for by the professional laundryman.

Mrs. Charles Gow of Penniman avenue and sister, Marian Dickie, of Ann street, were joint hostesses Thursday evening of last week at a miscellaneous shower for their niece, Joan McBride of Dearborn, in the former's home. There were eighteen relatives and friends of the bride-to-be present who delighted Joan with lovely gifts after which dainty refreshments were served.

SHARON JO ANN CELL, daughter of David S. Cell, 9460 Brookline, is studying facial make-up techniques with Clarence Murphy, instructor of the theater course in the ninth annual High School Speech Institute at Michigan State University. The four-week course is designed to help students understand all phases of play production with study in scene design, stage lighting, costuming, acting, make-up and scenery construction. As a final project, the high school students produce, design and fully cast a three-act play. The workshop continues through July 26. Miss Cell is a junior at Plymouth high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hines who had spent a week with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Springer at their lake cottage at East Tawas returned home Friday. They also visited Mr. Hines' sister, Mrs. Charles Layvine and husband in Big Rapids and friends in Rockford.

Miss Iva Tibbetts of Flint is spending the week at the home of Mrs. G. I. Friday of Roe street.

Wilbur Gould of Ann Arbor Trail, who has been a patient for three weeks at Veterans hospital in Ann Arbor, is to undergo surgery Wednesday, July 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Larkin and three daughters just returned from a week's vacation at Duck Lake in Interlochen. They enjoyed some of the concerts at the Interlochen Music Camp while there and also took a trip to the Sleeping Bear Dunes at Glen Arbor.

THIS IS the main entrance to the administration building of the Sisters of St. Joseph Motherhouse, Nazareth, Michigan. The sisters will have their first open house on Sunday, August 4 from 1 to 5 p.m. A picnic dinner will be available.

Sisters of St. Joseph Plan First Open House Aug. 4

The Sisters of St. Joseph, some of whom teach locally at Our Lady of Good Counsel School, will hold their first open house on Sunday, August 4.

Their spacious grounds are located at Gull and Nazareth roads, three miles east of Kalamazoo. They will be open to the general public for the first time from 1 to 5 p.m.

Visitors will find the Motherhouse and Novitiate of the Sisters of St. Joseph, Barbour Hall Junior Military School, Nazareth Academy for Girls, and Nazareth College for Women.

The Holy Family Chapel, and the Holy Stairs, the only ones in the United States, are two of the many interesting things to see.

Of the 785 sisters in the order at this time, 675 are on active duty. Besides teaching here and at 20 other schools in the Detroit area, the sisters operate five dioceses supervising 50 schools, six hospitals, two summer camps, two private schools, two homes for dependent children, one college and maintain vacation schools and religious instruction for children attending public schools.

The order dates back to 1650 when the congregation of sisters was established in France. In 1839 a small group came to St. Louis and there they branched out. A group of 11 came to Kalamazoo in 1889.

It is typical of the sisters that people of Michigan know little more about them today than they did in 1889, despite their continuous and many charitable works. This is why interested people have asked the sisters to open their home August 4.

Mrs. Reinhold is the former Shirley Jacobson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jacobson of Newburg road.

Congratulations are in order to Newburg Methodist church's baseball team, as they scored their first victory of the season over St. Paul's Lutheran church at the Rosedale Gardens school ball field on Tuesday, July 9. The final score was 8 to 3 with a very fine display of pitching turned in by the Newburg pitcher, Jerry Campbell. Heads up ball on the part of all the players provided a real thriller for all the spectators.

Mr. and Mrs. George Simon and daughters Patricia and Peggy, former residents of this area and now residing in Utica, were supper guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil LaPointe on Joy road, Sunday, July 14. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Weiss, Sr., of Graham road, Detroit were also afternoon guests at the LaPointe home on the same day.

Chamber Warns of New Racket Of Saving 59 Lincoln Pennies

J.H. Wilcox, manager of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, warned residents of Plymouth today about Lincoln penny coin albums currently being advertised under a "buy-back" lure.

Citing a bulletin from the National Better Business Bureau, with which the Chamber is affiliated, Wilcox stated that, in a typical advertisement, the reader's interest is attracted by some such heading as "We pay $16.00 for only 59 Lincoln pennies."

Readers are told to send $1 for a Lincoln coin album "to hold your pennies," according to the Chamber executive. Purchasers are instructed to "fill the spaces with dates shown in album, return complete album and receive $16 by return air mail plus $1 back for album."

Nowhere in this advertising, the Chamber Manager stated, is the reader advised that the coins necessary to complete the album must bear specified mint marks, or, in some cases, the initial of the engraver.

In order to complete the album, certain rare coins would be required. The Chamber manager cited the following statement of the American Numismatic Association regarding certain of these coins:

"Established dealers offer to pay about $18.50 for the 1909 S-V.D.B. in poorest acceptable condition, and up to $110 for an uncirculated specimen. The 1914 D has a retail value of about $14.75 in just good condition (poorest acceptable condition) and much higher for those that are better. Anyone with a complete set of these coins, in any condition, would be foolish to sell it for $16.00 when just one of them is worth more than this."

The Chamber executive also stated that the National Better Business Bureau had asked the Post Office Department whether these offerings might be a violation of the postal lottery and fraud statutes. The Post Office Department gave the following opinion to the National Bureau:

"... the ability of the purchaser of the album to complete it as required would depend in some measure upon chance. Further, as indicated by your correspondence, it is misrepresentation to sell the album under the conditions described with the suggestion that the purchaser would benefit from selling the completed album for $16."

"Accordingly, based upon the information you have furnished, the operation of such a scheme through the mails would appear to be in violation of the postal lottery and fraud statutes..."

The Chamber executive stated that advertising which features promises to repurchase completed coin albums under such arrangements, would appear to be a "gimmick" employed by the advertisers in order to sell the albums to the public. He noted that, according to the bulletin received by the Chamber, the National Better Business Bureau has stated its opinion that the dissemination of such advertising is not in the public interest.

The Chamber Manager also reminded householders and storekeepers of the Chamber's policy in controlling peddlers and door to door salesmen in cooperation with the local police department. Homeowners can protect themselves by asking to see and read the Chamber of Commerce registration card. The Chamber's analysis of each case is shown on the card and the Chamber welcomes phone calls at its office requesting further information. Before you invest—investigate. Summertime is the time for door to door sales activity.

Richwine assumed his duties July 1. He and his wife, with their four children, have purchased a house in Elmhurst, near Maywood, and have already moved to their new home.

Richard Griffin of Allen Park, formerly Richwine's assistant, has been promoted to plant accountant of the Flex-O-Tube Division. He also assumes his new duties July 1st, and becomes a member of the factory manager's staff.

Grange Cleanings

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Sackett were hosts to a large group of Grange members (fifty-eight in all) at their summer cottage on Upper Straits lake last Saturday night. Some came up early in the afternoon, and others came up for the six-thirty dinner picnic. Some of the crowd went swimming, some for a boat ride and others played Euchre. Everybody had a grand time and voted the Sacketts a wonderful host and hostess. A nice place and a nice drive.

Next on the agenda is the party at the Grange hall Saturday night, July 20 at 8 p.m. We hope there will be a fine crowd there. Ice cream and coke will be served.

Mrs. Esther Jacobs was called to Ohio last Saturday by the sudden death of her father.

Remember the date of August 3. The Grange folks are invited up to Willoughby Wiseley's for a sweet corn feast—if there is any corn by that time. It is a very pleasant trip up there, so let's all go.

Mr. and Mrs. John Oldenburg are spending their vacation with their daughter and her family at Colorado Springs.

Residents Travel Far and Wide

That old camping bug has again bitten the Jack Rulands. Their station wagon was loaded to the roof when they took off Wednesday for the sand dunes near Traverse City. Last Saturday Walt Lake and his "puddles" also became infected and joined the Rulands for a few days. We plan to see them for a couple of hours on our way to Platte Lake.

Diane and Bill Stang flew to Miami, Fla., on Wednesday to attend the wedding of Bill's brother. They look forward to a gala time before returning next Tuesday.

Donna and Bob Sasal of Garling drive have returned from a week at Houghton Lake at the cottage of Bob's parents. On Saturday morning they attended the wedding of Donna's cousin Larry Wilhelm to Toni Bonde at Our Lady of Good Counsel church and the reception Saturday evening at the K of C hall. Monday evening the Sasal's guests were Thelma and John Wilkie and their three children of Detroit.

Kathy Brennan celebrated her fifth birthday last Tuesday with a party for her small playmates. Ice cream, cake, lemonade, favors and games were enjoyed by Stevie and Johnny Eck, Barbara and Becky Easley, Kerry and Tom Gibson, David Martin, Susan and Jeff Vandervoort, Robin and Cheryl Ferguson, Debbie and Denise Zembruski and Susie and Stevie Elstrom. Kathy is the daughter of Mimi and Larry Brennan of Parkview drive.

Happy birthday this week to Leslie Sanders, Jim Sponseller and me.

And speaking of birthdays, I

Fried Pies Gain Northern Approval

Fried pies are traditionally a southern favorite. But more and more fried pies are becoming a well-liked northern dessert specialty.

If you have not tasted these tempting individual pie creations, here's your opportunity. Imagine cutting into a flaky, crisp fried pie which is filled with a tempting peach, apricot or prune filling. It's the custom to serve the pies sprinkled with confectioners' sugar. Yum—it's an unbeatable dessert.

Reba Staggs, home economist, suggests using lard when preparing the pastry for these pies. Lard has great shortening power and good workable qualities which make it a favorite of many homemakers.

Fried Pies
2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup lard
1/2 cup cold water
2 cups drained cooked peaches, prunes or apricots
1/4 cup sugar
1 pound lard for deep-fat frying
Confectioners' sugar

Sift together flour and salt and cut in lard. Add water. Roll out on floured board to about 1/8 inch in thickness. With a large cookie cutter, cut circles about 5 inches in diameter. Add 1/4 cup sugar to fruit. In each round, place 1 1/2 tablespoons sweetened drained fruit. Moisten edges of pastry with cold water, fold to make a semicircle and press edges together with a fork. Fry in hot lard (350° F.) for 3 to 4 minutes or until golden brown. Drain. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Yield: 12 pies.

Irene and Louis Zembruski of Parkview drive will breathe a sigh of relief if they get through daughter Debbie's fifth birthday party next Saturday without a hitch. They've had a run on chicken-pox (three cases within seven weeks) so they had to postpone the celebration so often that little Debbie is becoming doubtful if she will ever have her party. Her brother Marty will be one year old and will help with the festivities along with another sister, Denise, who is three. Let's keep our fingers crossed, hoping the Zembruski's win out this time.

Mrs. Buford Conn of Birmingham, Ala., has been visiting her son and daughter-in-law Dottie and Buford Conn of Parkview drive.

Little Tommy Parks spent a week with his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Seelbinder of Walled Lake. His parents, Betty and Jim, treated their other two offspring, Sheila and Jimmy, to a day at the Belle Isle zoo and a picnic. On Sunday they visited with Audrey and Nate Burkwitch in Nankin township.

Mr. and Mrs. James Broderick of Toronto, Ontario are visiting with Dot and Bud Wilson of Garling drive.

Betty and Earl Gibson of Parkview drive and their children were in Toledo over the weekend with Betty's mother Mrs. Romaine Wetnight.

Rose and Marty Kennedy of Parkview drive had Mr. and Mrs. McSorley of Detroit as guests on Saturday evening.

Sure wish you folks around the Circle weren't so bashful about phoning in your news items. I'll be only too happy to include you in the column if you will call. I would especially appreciate having your children's birth dates so they can be noted every week.

SOCIAL NOTES

Senator Potter reports

... the latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan ...

TWO KINDS OF HISTORY were made when the Detroit Tigers came to lunch with me. Baseball and Senatorial observers chalked up new landmarks as they saw for the first time an entire ball team, complete with owners, manager, coaches, and trainer, lunching in a body in the United States Capitol. After watching the Tigers slam 'em home at countless games, I had decided it was time to turn the tables and let them see me at work.

There were 65 of us altogether, including press, and I haven't had a better time in my entire ten years in Congress. The Tigers, in town for two scheduled games with Washington, drew swarms of fans from the minute they entered the Capitol. Even Vice President Nixon looked in to say hello. An extra plate was whisked down and soon he was stoking the same fare as the Tigers, listed on the menu as Jungle Juice, Tiger Steak, Pinch Hit Potatoes,

'Bus Stop' Starts At Will-O-Way Playhouse

'Bus Stop' is the current production at Will-O-Way Playhouse which opened Monday and runs through July 27.

One of the outstanding Broadway hits in recent seasons and later made into a movie, 'Bus Stop' is a series of character portraits of some travelers shut up in a tawdry restaurant during a snowstorm.

Included in the cast are Denny Simpson of Pontiac, just back from three years of Broadway where he appeared on the Robert Montgomery Playhouse 12 times and on Kraft and Studio One; Bettie Toti, who traditionally plays on the Kresge Christmas TV Toyland Party; Bob Dale of Lone Ranger fame and nicknamed 'Roll-Em' because of his CKLW film shows; and Mady Correll, of New York and Hollywood.

Performances start at 8:40 p.m.

Postmaster Tells Story of Dog that Liked Mailman

Because so much is said these days about dogs biting mailmen, Postmaster George Timpona had a story to relate this week which is one of the greatest dog-mailman yarns of all times.

It didn't happen in Plymouth, but came from the Post Office Department in Washington. It has also been written into story form by Ruth Thompson for the Modern School Readers.

The story started on a cold day in 1888 when a homeless dog, hungry and shivering, crept into the post office at Albany, N. Y. He huddled on a pile of mail bags and fell asleep. Not until the next day did the clerks find him. The dog had such a wistful look and a pleading wag to his tail that they didn't have the heart to drive him outside again. So when lunchtime came, the clerks shared their lunches with him and it may have been that incident which started the dog's love for the men in the post office.

As the weeks passed, the visitor made the post office his home. Since he didn't seem to belong to anyone, he was an adopted son. The men named him "Owney".

Owney was an intelligent animal. He watched the mail bags come and go and seemed to regard them as his friends. Perhaps it was his curiosity that led him to make a trip with the mail bags. It is certain that he felt safe any place the bags went and with the men who handled them. He was often gone on a trip for several weeks and then he would return to the Albany post office. The mail clerks were afraid Owney would get lost so they bought him a collar and on it

2 Local 4-H Girls Win Scholarships

Sharon Beyer, 324 Sheldon road, and Patricia Hauk, 48708 Warren road, were recipients of $250 university scholarships as part of 4-H week which was held on Michigan State University's campus, July 9-12.

The scholarships were awarded by the Women's National Farm and Garden association to nine 4-H Club members who have outstanding achievements in horticulture, home economics or landscaping and who show the greatest promise of continuing in these pursuits.

Miss Hauk was also one of ten Prairie Farmer award winners announced Friday, July 12. She received a $25 bond award for her outstanding leadership record in the 4-H Club.

Miss Hauk was initiated into the State 4-H Service Club, along with 43 4-H Club boys and girls selected by former service club members and county extension officers.

they placed his name and address. Then they fastened a card to the collar asking postal clerks to attach the name of any place that Owney visited.

Owney soon started out on visits all over the United States. He carried so many tags that they were too heavy for him. So they had a harness made and Owney could then take his tags with him comfortably.

The time came when Owney went around the world. He was in the city of Tacoma, Washington, when the mail bags were being loaded for Japan and China. When the post office men saw that Owney surely meant to go abroad too, they gave him a letter of introduction to the postal people in many parts of the world. Then Owney was the guest of the captain of the ship. He had a glorious trip. With his harness carrying his tags and medals, he was a very important passenger on board. Owney was well received and properly treated in foreign countries.

When he arrived in Japan, the Mikado gave him a passport which bore the seal of the empire. In China the emperor made him welcome and Owney saw many of the leading merchants. Everywhere that Owney went he was an object of great interest. He was such a friendly and intelligent dog that he made many friends.

Owney landed in New York from his trip abroad. From there he crossed the country to Tacoma, his starting point. He had been gone just 132 days on his trip.

Owney was the greatest dog traveler in the world. He had no home except the mail sacks on steamers and mail trains. His dearest friends were always the postal clerks. The men with whom Owney chose to ride were always regarded as the lucky ones. It was said that Owney carried good luck with him, for no accident ever happened on a train on which Owney was traveling. It always flattered and pleased the men when Owney chose to travel with them.

When Owney's journeys were over, it was found that he had about 200 checks, medals and certificates.

Incidentally, when you get to the National Capital, look up Owney. He is mounted and on display in the world-famous Smithsonian Institution.

Connie Stannitz of East Ann Arbor Trail in Livonia, introduced her horse, King, to his first rodeo by winning a gold ribbon in the half-mile race, at the Junior Rodeo and Western Horse Show sponsored by the Northville Optimist Club. Connie plans to ride King in future shows.

Michigan Auto Accidents Cost $210 Million

What price accidents? The cost of automobile accidents last year in Michigan was estimated at $210,000,000.

According to the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company, if this high cost of accidents could be saved and converted into accident-preventing controls and equipment, it would accomplish much.

Here is what $210,000,000 would do:

1. It would provide 30,000 more state troopers, whose presence on the highways would have a tremendous deterring effect on accident-causing drivers. (It cost approximately $7,000 to train a state highway patrolman for three months and to put him on the road for a year, according to the national average. This figure includes wages and maintenance.)
 2. It would train 6,000,000 new drivers. (The average cost to driver-train a new operator is $35.00.)
 3. It would provide 76,000 dual-equipped automobiles for driver training. (An automobile manufacturer reports that a dual equipped driver-training car costs $2750.)
 4. It would build 210 miles of new super highway. (The Federal Bureau of Roads figures super highway construction costs at $1,000,000 per mile.)
 5. It would be enough to put a pair of blow-out proof, captive air, nylon tires on the front wheels of 3,500,000 automobiles. (The cost of such safety tires is figured at $60 a pair by the Institute.)
 6. It would be enough to install four good safety belts, figured at $12.50 a unit, in 4,200,000 passenger cars.
- In Michigan last year there were 1,747 highway fatalities and 42,327 auto accidents resulting in injuries. The total number of automobile accidents involving no deaths or injuries was 155,668 according to the Safety and Traffic Bureau of the state police.

Tourists visiting the center block of the Parliament buildings at Ottawa, Canada, reached a record 294,281 in 1956.

Fifth of Disaster Survivors Lose Control of Selves

When a disaster strikes, 20 per cent of the survivors will "lose their heads" or lose control of themselves and be of no value to those trying to establish order, says a University of Michigan surgeon.

Dr. C. Thomas Flotte, instructor in surgery at The University of Michigan Medical School and University Hospital, states that one-fifth of disaster victims experience a complete psychological block and fail to evaluate what has taken place or respond quickly to emergency needs. Only one out of five survivors will be alert and capable of immediate action, while 60 per cent become momentarily paralyzed but are able to think clearly and assist the injured after a brief period of shock.

Medical handling of emergency disaster victims today requires much more knowledge than "what to do until the doctor arrives," Dr. Flotte states. It requires that all persons possible know the right things to do to aid an injured person in an emergency situation - how to stop bleeding and insure adequate respiration. He suggests that every citizen take a course in first aid. The Red Cross offers this type of instruction in most communities.

Dr. Flotte maintains that disaster planning should begin in our schools. He advocates that citizens, both young and old, learn to act by habit in an actual emergency situation. He states that although planning for local disasters, such as fires, or explosions, tornadoes or floods, is now taking place, a mass casualty situation, such as that created by an atomic bomb explosion, involving thousands of victims, must be planned for by government agencies, with the support of the people. "Thinking on such a scale must be made a part of our background if we are to reduce the number of individuals who cannot think and act quickly in a disaster."

Norway's population was listed as 3,478,000 at the start of 1957, up 300,000 since the last census in 1950.

Lassen Park in northern California was the most recent active volcano in the United States. It has been a national park since 1916.

Local Realtors Donate to Fund

Plymouth Realtors have added their names to the growing list of persons, businesses and organizations that have contributed to the Western Wayne County Crippled Children's Building fund.

The fund, which is now about $6,000 short of its $150,000 goal, is being used to construct a special building for the rehabilitation of crippled children and adults in the out-county area. Plymouth Rotarians and others have played a large role in raising funds.

Realtors who contributed were Leon Merriman, Kenneth Harrison, Howard Stark, Clyde Alexander, Roy Lindsay, Vaughan Smith, Suburban Realty, Hazen Smith, James Latture, Ralph Lorenz, William T. Cunningham, Harold Yakley and Salem Realty. The center is being occupied later this month.

The CITY MANAGER'S CORNER

Everything went along fine from the time the citizen picked up a pretty collie and brought him into the city hall on a leash, through the time that Officer Louis Westfall drove the dog to the Parkway Veterinary Clinic, until it was time for the dog to enter the kennel. There it balked. Louis tried to help it along with a small push and was rewarded with a bite on the wrist. The dog was sentenced to 10 days quarantine.

Chief of Police Kenneth Fisher issued 61 tickets for delinquent dogs, which had not had their rabies shot and were not properly licensed. The dog population amounts to 652.

It has been many years since we have had any frightening reports of rabid dogs in the area. With strict insistence that all dogs be administered a rabies vaccination, we know that there is less chance of a youngster suffering and perhaps dying, from a rabid dog bite, should he fail to report the bite to his parents, and they in turn to the city officials.

If a dog bites anyone, the matter should be reported to the police immediately in order that the dog may be quarantined either at home or at the dog pound where he may be watched for 10 days. If the dog becomes ill while in quarantine, he is further tested for rabies and the child or person must undergo a series of injections to preclude development of rabies in the individual.

We have fairly effective control of the abandoned dogs. Occasionally we must round up the strays through use of a pickup truck with an improvised "dog wagon" cage. Upon complaint of citizens, the police department will pick up an individual dog, if he can be rounded up. Dogs, after being rounded up once, seem to recognize the blue uniform and are off like a shot when the officer approaches again.

The citizen can help, too, by penning up a strange dog in a yard or attaching a leash until we can take the dog to the pound. If he has a license tag, we report to the owner that we have the dog in our possession. If the owner allows the dog to become a nuisance in the neighborhood, the owner is issued a ticket and must appear in court.

The young journalists attended daily classes, toured the State Capitol and the Lansing State Journal, and edited an issue of the Michigan State News, M.S.U. student newspaper.

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

THREE OF THE FOUR Eley children are on hand for a piece of one of their favorite recipes. Geoff, Judy and Rob watch their mother cut a freshly-baked cheesecake. Mrs. Eley garnished the cake with a mound of fresh strawberries, Cynthia, 9, was not at home for the cake-cutting.

Carefully Cooled Cheese Cake Wins Praises

The secret of the success of a good cheesecake is in the cooling, says Mrs. John E. Eley of 4464 John Alden road. Here is the recipe that is the favorite of Mr. Eley and wins the approval of the four children, Judy, 11, Cynthia, 9, Robert, 6, and Geoff, 2.

Cheesecake
2½ cups graham cracker crumbs
½ cup sugar
½ cup melted butter or margarine
2 pounds cream cheese

1 cup sugar
½ cup milk
4 eggs
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup whipping cream

Mix together the crumbs, ½ cup of sugar and butter. Distribute the mixture over the bottom and sides of a greased 9 inch spring form pan. Press firmly with the back of a spoon to form the crust.
Mix the cream cheese with one cup of sugar, add milk to the egg, beat well and add the cheese mixture to the lemon juice, lemon rind and nutmeg. Blend thoroughly. Beat the cream until it holds soft peaks and fold into the cheese mixture. Pour into the crust.

Bake in a slow oven, 325 degrees, for one hour and 15 minutes or until a silver knife inserted in the cake comes out clean. Let the cake cool slowly in the pan. Turn off the oven and let the cheesecake remain for half an hour. Open the oven door for an hour's cooling. Take the cake out of the oven and let it stand until thoroughly cooled, then refrigerate.

Serve it right away or give it two or three days in the refrigerator before using. Cheesecake gets better with time. Cheesecake being very rich, Mrs. Eley suggests it be served with a light meal such as broiled chicken and a green salad.

A Woman's Eye View by Nancy Rigney

Last week I mentioned a family tree painted on a living-room wall in Bloomfield Hills. A Plymouthite goes one better. Mrs. Clarence Wilson of 13887 Ridgewood has a real, live Oleander tree growing in her livingroom. This eight-foot specimen is blooming beautifully now. I understand that Oleander is usually found in Arizona or like climates.

Mrs. Cecil Packard, 1465 Penniman tells me about a group of local women who call themselves the "Birthday Ladies." This unsponsored organization of 23 members gives a party on the fourth Tuesday of every month at Northville State Mental hospital to celebrate the birthday's in "Ward N". Eleven homebaked cakes plus a decorated birthday cake, gifts, games, piano playing, skits and slides make the parties enjoyable for the patients. The ladies are now looking forward to the July 23rd picnic to be held on the hospital grounds.

"Inventive Americans are up to new tricks with ice cream." So says Look magazine, anyway. The recipes listed with that statement blend ice cream with just about anything that pours. Two questions come to my mind: whether "blend" is the appropriate word here and just how many, or how few, Americans are up to these tricks.

Here's a gem called a "Western Freeze" for no apparent reason, unless a requirement is the cast-iron stomach of one of those tough "owlhoots" of the old West who sidle up to the bar and down 'em straight. This concoction consists of milk, prune juice and chocolate ice cream, garnished with a spiral of orange peel.

Another "blend" features carrot juice and vanilla ice cream and goes by the name of "Carrot Freeze." Also in the "Freeze" category is the "Calypso Freeze" which combines quinine water, coffee ice cream, rum and nutmeg.

The most amazing introduction of ingredients is the "Beer Flip". Nothing fancy, just beer and ice cream with a pinch of cinnamon. (Sounds bad enough, though!) It's a matter of flipping a coin as to which drink could make one ill quickest. The odds seem fairly even.

In one part of England when a woman's slip is showing, a friend tells her by remarking, "your father loves you more than your mother." Meaning, apparently, that if your mother loved you she'd tell you these things.

There are many of these code messages, it appears. A reader tells the Manchester Guardian that her district says "Charlie's dead." This is really cryptic and seems to go back to the days of King Charles. In those puritan times, frills were in disfavor. When they show up the remark is "Charlie's dead."

In France they do it by saying "Elle cherche une belle-mère" which means "She seeks a mother-in-law." Exactly what this has to do with the situation isn't clear. One American signal tops all of these. In the Midwest they say "It's snowing down South."

PROBABLY NEVER again will the three missionary families from Calvary Baptist church return here at the same time, such as they did last July 5 for a Homecoming service. The families are that of Rev. William Battisil, missionary to Belgian Congo; Rev. Jack Briggs, stationed in Venezuela; and Rev. LeRoy Tillotson, returned from Argentina. From left are Rev. and Mrs. Battisil; Mrs. and Rev. Tillotson. Rev. Briggs and son Richard. Mrs. Briggs and Jack, Jr. In front row are Carolyn, David and Danny Tillotson and Doris Briggs. In front of them are Dickie Tillotson.

WHAT'S YOUR QUESTION ON WORLD AFFAIRS

Does Beck Hurt U.S.?

BY EDGAR ANSEL MOWBRER

"How can we expect to have any reputation in the world when we allow people like Dave Beck practically to steal union funds—and don't send him to jail. Shouldn't somebody do something?" (Mrs. Y. J., Philadelphia.)

I have always thought that if membership in a union is required for getting or keeping a job, then the collection and use of union funds should be supervised and limited by law. The unions should not have it both ways.

"Why don't you join the economy drive? How long will you support the squandering of our money abroad when we Americans are going without necessities?" (Miss A. J. Smith, Trenton, N. J.)

Don't make me laugh! No previous people has ever lived anything like so well as we Americans are living in 1957. Our rising demands remind one of the German fairy story, "The Fisherman and His Wife," which tries to show that each satisfied want, instead of bringing contentment or satiety, simply stimulates other wants and so on endlessly. This is what our advertisers seek and what apparently we are relying upon to keep the economy going. But if it ever conflicts with the real needs of our foreign policy, national defense and an end to wars, then it will prove itself to be a form of national suicide. More nations have historically fallen victim to prosperity than to poverty. One should think about these things before complaining that our government wants to "give away" about 1 per cent of our gross national product—in order to make the free world stronger!

"Why don't you admit that we and our precious allies are sometimes in the wrong—that we do evil things?" ("Soldier," Camp X)

When an individual or a nation is being tracked by a gang of murderers (in this case the Communists), it is no time for the intended victims to start accusing each other or themselves of lesser faults. Please take my word for this one: The Communist and non-Communist parts of the world are locked in a death struggle that can end only in one of three ways—a victory by communism and the end of us; a victory of non-Communism and the defeat (or disappearance) of militant communism; or a long and exhausting Cold War that will severely try both sides. I simply do not believe that Soviet Communists will ever accept any sort of real peace or even a sincere truce with the non-Communists they hope to take over.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Here's Good Stock Risk

BY ROGER SPEAR

Q. As business goes today, I'm a little fellow. Nevertheless, I'm doing all right in spite of competition and rising costs. This is partly because I've streamlined my setup by adding a good deal of modern labor-saving office equipment. I'm tempted to put some of my surplus funds into office equipment stocks. Do you think this group will continue to act well and could you suggest issues for investment?

A. I think very highly of the group and of many individual issues for both intermediate and long-term investment. Office equipment, on the whole, have been leaders in the long run that began Feb. 12. My own personal index on the group, which includes eight major stocks, shows a rise of 26% in 4 1/2 months while the Dow-Jones Industrial Average was moving up 10%. Although some of these issues have given up ground during the recent leveling off period, I believe that the group will again outperform the market when the upward trend is resumed. Your own experience multiplied thousands of times over gives the background for favorable action in these stocks.

Office equipment makers no longer simply supply the necessary adjuncts of business. They are now selling, in addition, a form of automation in office procedure. They provide punch-card data-processing machines, fast addressing and mailing equipment, and electronic computers of all types, ranging up to the giant Univac. My number one choice for investment, where income is not a factor, is International Business Machines. This firm was developed largely by the late great Tom Watson whose motto was "Think". Mr. Watson "thought" his company into undisputed leadership in its field. Stock customarily sells at a very high level and has risen almost without interruption since 1954. In the medium-price range I particularly like Burroughs, very strong in research on electronics. Other sound choices would be Royal McBee, leading maker of typewriters; Smith Corona, in the same field but well ahead with electric portables; Pitney Bowes, with a virtual monopoly in metered mailing machines; Addressograph, a split candidate; and National Cash Register, a sound growth holding.

Q. I have been advised to buy Canadian Devonian as a business risk type of speculation. Would you tell me what you think of this stock?

A. I regard Canadian Devonian as one of the soundest speculations in western oil. Operations are mainly in the Steelman - Frobisher - Kingsford-Lampman fields in south-eastern Saskatchewan. These are being consolidated into one field with permanent 80-acre spacing to be known as the Steelman field. In this area Devonian has a 50% undivided interest with British American Oil in a total of 54,249 acres. Oil drilling and output here are increasing rapidly. Canadian Devonian sells above 8, over double its level in early 1956. I believe that shares are still a good speculative buy on growing production and reserves in one of Canada's hottest proven oil areas, plus interesting merger possibilities with British American.

TRUE OR FALSE

Never Sell a Dull Market? FALSE. This is an old Street adage that many traders have been repeating for as long as I can remember. However, on more than one occasion relatively low volume has been the prelude to a sharp decline. This happened in 1937 when the market rose in the spring and early summer on comparatively dull trading which was followed by the sharp August crash. The latter in its early stages was also characterized by low volume. Turnover was at the year's lowest level in July and August, 1946, during the initial stages of the severe break of that year. Again in 1949, trading was relatively quiet and inactive in the two months preceding the setback that culminated in June. The truth, of course, is that a dull market can move either way.

Navy Base Plans Homecoming for 2 Million Alumni

The World's largest Naval Training center, located at Great Lakes, Ill., will celebrate what is probably the world's largest homecoming when they throw open the gates this summer to welcome back the "sea bag alumni" of the past 46 years. Graduates of Great Lakes, numbering almost 2,000,000, are to be found in all living generations of males in the United States. Hundreds of Plymouth area youths were trained or stationed there during the past 50 years.

All are being invited, with their families, to re-visit their Alma Mater and see the new Navy. The Homecoming is aimed primarily at the midwestern and southern states which provide the bulk of recruit manpower. For 19 weeks, a different state will be honored each week with the graduation of a special recruit company composed of men from the honor state.

Exhibits depicting the Navy's progress during the last half century and guided tours will also be featured weekly.

The Naval Station was established by an act of Congress on April 27, 1904. It was commissioned on July 1, 1911 by President Taft and dedicated October 28, 1911. The initial cost was $3,475,000. World War I construction cost more than $10,000,000 and further expansion during World War II cost $42,175,000.

The base trained 125,000 sailors for World War I and over a million for World War II. The peak of strength was 109,706 on March 19, 1944.

The first recruit came aboard on July 3, 1911.

"Life Begins at Forty"

By ROBERT PETERSON

EVER HEAR OF Lillian J. Martin of San Francisco? She retired at 65 and then launched a career of such memorable proportions that she seems assured of a lasting niche in the geriatric hall of fame. Her retirement exploits have been documented in a book entitled "Psychologist Unretired" which has just come to my attention.

Miss Martin had been a teacher of psychology at Stanford University, but her academic career was relatively colorless compared to what lay ahead. After 65 she tried to enjoy the quiet fruits of retirement but, rebelling at boredom and inactivity, became convinced that mankind needed new challenges in retirement. She decided to set a personal example by packing her remaining days with useful effort and stimulating activity. And pack them she did!

At 68 she became a consulting psychologist, and then at 69 opened the world's first Child Guidance Clinic for pre-school children.

At 75 she and a friend took a trip around the world with leisurely stopovers in Palestine, India, and Japan.

At 76 she bought an automobile and began taking driving lessons. Flunking the first examination, she passed the second and subsequently drove across the country four times.

At 78 she opened the world's first Old Age Counseling Center which has since become a model for counseling centers for the elderly.

At 79 she took an extensive automobile trip through Mexico which was packed with excitement and skirmishes, including a robbery during which a bandit brandished a 15-inch hatchet over her head.

At 80 she plunged into politics, leading political study groups and holding posts on various committees. That same year she bought a typewriter and learned how to type.

At 81 she took a tour through Soviet Russia, traveling alone as the elderly friends who had promised to go along backed out at the last minute.

At 82, having always lived in the city and being curious about rural life, she bought a 67 acre farm near Pleasanton, Calif. where she experimented with scientific farming methods and used as co-workers unemployable elderly people who were happy for the treat of living on a farm and doing such work as they could in connection with raising vegetables, berries, grapes, and poultry. The farm was operated at a profit for five years.

Outdoor Barbecuing: Family Favorite and National Pastime

All That's Needed: Space, Grill, Fire

Barbecuing has taken its place among the favorite summer pastimes. Being a family affair, Americans have taken it up in a big way. Men are all for it because it gives them a chance to exhibit their culinary skill. Youngsters go for it because it lets them in on the grown-up fun and of course the outdoor eating appeals to them. Teenagers approve of the informality and casual dress. Women like it because everyone shares in the work as well as the fun.

Charcoal cooking is a man's job and should be kept that way. Don't dampen the male enthusiasm by feminine advice. Let him ruin a few hamburgers, soon he'll be turning out perfect ones. Fire-making and maintaining is a man's job too. Marketing and preparation of food in the kitchen is the women's job in the barbecue operation. The children can do their part by husking corn, washing vegetables and wrapping them in foil, setting the table, mixing the salad and so forth. As for cleaning up, it should be understood that everybody is in on it. Paper plates and cups can keep dishes at a minimum.

Essentials
Outdoor space, a charcoal grill of some kind and at least a little fundamental knowledge are the bare essentials of barbecuing. Then, of course, there is the weather. Opinions vary on all these points, but one thing is certain: almost anyone, anywhere can take up outdoor cooking in one manner or another.

The available space can be anything from a hankie-sized back yard, to a paved stone terrace or even a nearby woods or park where fires are allowed. The grill may be as simple as a wire shelf from a discarded range, propped between a couple of bricks or as elaborate as a built-in affair of stone and stainless steel complete with electric spit, timing device and hardwood carving boards. It will most probably be one of the modern and portable grills—a brazier type or cart and table or perhaps a smaller bucket or folding grill.

Other necessary equipment include a fork and/or a pair of tongs, a hinged boiler with a handle, a pair of heavy gloves, preferably of asbestos, a bottle with a sprinkler top, and a basting brush. Actually the last one can be eliminated. A bunch of parsley or celery leaves will do nicely.

Other utensils can be borrowed from the kitchen. Or a small fortune can be spent on various gadgets, most of which are non-essential. It is nice to have a wire brush and scraper for cleaning the grill, but a dime store wire brush made for cleaning suede shoes is a good pinch hitter.

As for knowledge, it doesn't take much. The man of the house only has to know how to make a fire and how to cook food over it without burning. Once he has learned these things, he can go on to greater glories. Broiling on skewers, cooking in foil, roasting on a spit and even making sauces are some of the possible achievements.

The weather must be good, but that doesn't mean warm. Californians, first to popularize this form of cooking, are used to cooking outdoors more than half the year around. They were surprised to find that they could barbecue in chilly weather too. They rely on a brazier full of glowing coals to keep them toasty warm. What's more, even in the dead of winter they often cook Sunday brunch on the patio when the sun cooperates. In other parts of the country, shorter seasons limit the period when barbecuing is practical, but that's what makes outdoor feasts even more of an event.

Controlling a Fire
This phase of fire-tending is a matter of increasing or lowering the grate or spreading the putting down flames that result from dripping fat. The heat is increased by lowering the grate closer to the coals, raising the firebox (if that is the way your grill works), by raking the coals into a bigger heap or toward the last of the cooking, brushing the ash from the coals to expose the inner heat.

The heat is lowered by raising the grate or spreading the coals. Flaring is controlled by lowering the heat, discontinuing basting with fat or oil and sprinkling the flare with water from a bottle. If you like your steaks charred, that means some flaring must be encouraged toward the end of cooking. If this doesn't happen naturally, it can be achieved by dripping a little oil on the fire.

Judging the Heat of the Fire
The best way is from experience. A grate thermometer can be used, but the hand method is preferred by oldtimers. Hold your palm as close to the fire as you intend to place the food. Count at one-second intervals from one to eight. If you can hold your hand there the whole time, you have a very low fire or it away after the first count, it is too hot. A good hot fire will count two or three; a medium one, four or five; and a low one, six or eight. A thermometer will correspond to oven temperatures. Slow heat will read from 200 to 250 degrees; medium heat from 300 to 375; and hot from 400 to 450. A fire hotter than 450 is too hot for grilling.

Dip or Spread
Spreads and dips are important snack-time specialties especially during the summer. Whether they're used as late evening snacks or as appetizers be sure to include meat in these tasty appetite teasers. Crisp bacon bits added to cream cheese moistened with milk to a spread; consistency makes a wonderful mild tasting snack.

Seasoning Meats
When broiling steaks or chops, season them on each side after browning. If seasoned before browning, the salt will tend to retard the browning process. Roasts may be seasoned before or after cooking since seasonings penetrate the meat less than 1/4 inch.

Roast Chicken
Serve with risotto, string bean salad, and peach shortcake.

A whole chicken, roasted on the spit is a juicy and tender treat. It may be stuffed or a bunch of sweet herbs can be put into its cavity, before roasting. If it is stuffed it will take a little longer. Try parsley, celery, green onion and tarragon tied together with a thread.

Truss the chicken securely, having both wings and legs together close to the body and the neck skin skinned on at the back. Drive the spit from a point just in front of the tail, having it go through the back and come out at about the top of the wishbone. This is definitely a man's job, and one that will probably require the aid of a hammer. Connect spit to motor and roast over a medium fire until a meat thermometer, in the thickest part of the thigh, registers 175 degrees or until the leg moves easily in the joint. The internal temperature, as in all roast meats, will climb after cooking is ceased. If desired, the fire may be lowered when the thermometer reaches 170 degrees and the chicken allowed to turn over very little heat for a half-hour or longer.

Allow from 45 minutes to an hour and 45 minutes for the cooking. Baste with a mixture of equal parts of olive oil and vermouth, or of melted butter and white wine with a little rosemary added. Also good for chicken is a mixture of one part each of soy sauce, sherry, and oil.

Charcoal-Broiled Chicken
Next to steak, broiled chicken is probably the country's favorite barbecue dish. Allow half a pound for each serving and cook over a medium fire, skin side down, until browned, then turn and cook other side. Baste with the bastes suggested for roast chicken. A chicken will take from 25 to 30 minutes, depending on its size. Broil the pineapple by brushing slices of canned or fresh with butter or oil, and cooking in a hinged broiler until brown on both sides. Split the corn bread before toasting it over the coals. For the salad, combine (for 6 or 8 persons) 3 cups of cooked Lima beans, 1 cup of diced celery, 1/4 cup each of minced parsley and chives, and 2 teaspoons of minced dill. Dress with 1/2 cup each of mayonnaise and sour cream, a tablespoon of lemon juice, and salt and pepper to taste.

Broiled Flank Steak
Serve with foil-roasted potatoes, sliced beefsteak tomatoes, peach turnovers.

Here's an economy steak that is known in restaurants as London Broil. It has marvelous flavor, is tender, and serves from three to five, depending on size. One thing though: if you don't like rare steak, forget this. It's tough and stringy if cooked any other way. Also a good grade of beef is advisable: U.S. Prime or Choice. Have the steak at refrigerator temperature, remove the thin outside skin, and slash the fat at the edges but do not pierce the meat. Brush with oil or drippings and cook for four minutes on each side. Use a razor-sharp slicing knife and cut in very thin, very diagonal slices. Serve two or three slices at a time.

To roast the potatoes, scrub them, wrap each in a double thickness of foil, and tuck them around the edges of the coals. Turn two or three times, so they will cook evenly. They are usually baked in three-quarters of an hour, but test them with a fork right through the foil, or by squeezing them with a glove-protected hand.

Rolled Roast of Beef
Serve roasted sliced potatoes and onions, grilled green peppers, whole red ripe tomatoes, green onions, sliced pumpernickel bread, sour cream and blue cheese spread, cupcakes and whole fresh strawberries.

Have the roast at room temperature, and spit it right through the middle. Start it over a hot fire, then maintain the fire at medium for balance of cooking. Cook until the meat thermometer reaches 5 to 10 degrees below the temperature desired. Douse or lower the fire and allow the meat to turn until ready to serve. This develops the juices and raises the temperature. If you like beef blood rare, cook it to 120 degrees; rare, 125 degrees and so on. Allow about 15 minutes to the pound, depending on the thickness.

For onions and potatoes alternate thick slices of potatoes and onion on squares of heavy foil. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and oregano and add a pat of butter. Wrap and cook on grill for about one hour.

For the peppers, cut them in quarters and discard seeds and veins. Marinate in French dressing overnight, then cook in a hinged broiler until the peppers are tender. Arrange on a hot dish, sprinkle with chopped green onion and serve. To make spread, mix sour cream with crumbled blue cheese.

Shish Kebab
Serve with pilaff, green salad, assorted cheeses and red wine.

Here's an old favorite that has dozens of variations. Basically, it's chunks of meat, marinated and strung on skewers, alternating with various vegetables. Use lamb, mutton, beef, or even veal, and cut it in 1 1/2 inch cubes. For vegetables have any or all of the following: quartered tomatoes or whole small ones, slices of onion or whole parboiled small ones, cubes of eggplant, pieces of green pepper and sometimes pieces of bacon. Bay leaves are often threaded next to the meat too.

A good marinade for the meat is 1 part of lemon juice to 3 parts of olive oil. When stringing the meat and vegetables on skewers, push them close together if you want the meat rare and juicy. Leave a space between if you want it crispy and well done. It will take from 10 to 30 minutes depending on your taste.

Pilaff is made like risotto mentioned under the roast chicken recipe. But, do not add cheese. Instead season with a little oregano.

Hamburgers with Cheese Sauce
Serve with shoestring potatoes, tomato and green pepper salad, and ice cream.

This is a meal that the whole family will enjoy. Make the hamburgers four to a pound, forming them into fat patties. Tuck a chip of ice and a bit of butter (about 1/2 teaspoon) into the center of each one, brush the outside with melted shortening and broil over a medium-hot fire until done to your liking. Serve on toasted buns with a cheese sauce made by adding a cup of grated cheese and a teaspoon of chili powder to 2 cups of medium thick cream sauce. This may be done at the grill in a double boiler.

The potatoes come from a can, and the salad is served on lettuce with mayonnaise rather than french dressing.

Broiled Whole Fish
Any fish can be broiled whole, if it fits your grill. It may be split or not, although the former is preferred as it gives a chance for the flesh to brown. A basket grills makes turning easier. Have the grill well greased, and brush the fish with butter or oil mixed with lemon juice.

Broil, flesh side down, until the flesh separates easily with a fork. A five-pound fish will take from 20 to 50 minutes, depending on its shape. A small one even if not split, will cook in 12 to 15 minutes. Big wedges of lemon are a must with broiled fish.

Steak Garnish
Garnishes can be so easy to prepare and add color and individuality to a meat platter too. An unusual steak garnish may be prepared by wrapping a half slice of bacon around a tomato wedge. The bacon slice can be secured with a wooden pick. A mushroom cap can then be placed on the tip of the wooden pick. These bacon-tomato-mushroom garnishes can be broiled with the steak during the last 8 to 10 minutes of cooking.

NOTHING TO LICK!

A new two-sided, self-adhesive photo mount that sticks without moistening may prove the handiest item since invention of the scrapbook. Popped one at a time from a new plastic dispenser, these revolutionary photo mounts are self-adhesive on both sides. Pressed lightly on the back of the picture or clipping, the photo mounts remain completely out of sight, giving any album a crisp, neat appearance. Just introduced, these versatile pressure-sensitive photo mounts turn work into fun, because there's nothing to lick.

Let Chinese Dishes Add Variety to Meals

Good as they are, not all of the foods prepared on the barbecue grill need be steaks, chicken, or hamburgers.

The avid "grill" cook can provide virtually as much menu variety on an outdoor cooking unit as on the kitchen range, if he but looks to the quick-to-prepare and heat main dishes that abound in grocery stores.

Versions of canned Italian spaghetti and Mexican chili enjoy tremendous popularity as foods to serve out-of-doors on warm, lazy evenings. But now you may go to even more novel lengths by preparing a Chinese chop suey dinner with no more difficulty. It's a superb party idea.

For a gathering replete with colored lanterns, chop sticks and fans, this Oriental menu should be fun to serve, and easy.

A good Chinese menu would be chicken chop suey, chow mein noodles, a relish tray of green onions, sliced tomatoes and cucumber sticks, fresh fruits, cookies and iced tea.

There are several canned chop sueys from which to choose. Some are well suited to quick preparation on the backyard grill as they require little fussing and few pans.

Go easy with the heat when you cook cheese. Cooked too quickly, cheese gets tough and stringy.

Good as they are, not all of the foods prepared on the barbecue grill need be steaks, chicken, or hamburgers.

The avid "grill" cook can provide virtually as much menu variety on an outdoor cooking unit as on the kitchen range, if he but looks to the quick-to-prepare and heat main dishes that abound in grocery stores.

Versions of canned Italian spaghetti and Mexican chili enjoy tremendous popularity as foods to serve out-of-doors on warm, lazy evenings. But now you may go to even more novel lengths by preparing a Chinese chop suey dinner with no more difficulty. It's a superb party idea.

For a gathering replete with colored lanterns, chop sticks and fans, this Oriental menu should be fun to serve, and easy.

A good Chinese menu would be chicken chop suey, chow mein noodles, a relish tray of green onions, sliced tomatoes and cucumber sticks, fresh fruits, cookies and iced tea.

There are several canned chop sueys from which to choose. Some are well suited to quick preparation on the backyard grill as they require little fussing and few pans.

Caulking is Useful In Summer and the Winter

Caulking compounds play an important part the year around in preserving homes and buildings of all types. By adhering tightly to walls adjacent to joints and by forming a tough, durable, non-porous filler, caulking compounds prevent the entrance of cold drafts and destructive moisture.

In summer, caulking keeps out rain, dust and insects. In winter, a properly caulked home will conserve heat by keeping out cold air. The result will be a big economy which will show up in the heating bill.

In all types of buildings—frame, brick and masonry—around doors and windows should be carefully caulked. Other points where caulking should be used are the floor-wall junctions, wood column-floor junctions, and parapet and roof joints. Application is advisable also at such other places as gaps between rough attic floors and chimneys, the apertures around electric conduits passing through floors and walls and the spaces around outlet boxes.

Caulking compound is a blend of pigments, oils and thickeners. It is a semi-solid that remains plastic to the touch. It expands and contracts with temperature changes.

The success of a caulking job depends upon high quality material, proper preparation of the surface and proper application. Be sure the surfaces are clean, dry, free of dust, moisture and grease. Use a stiff bristle brush to dust off masonry surfaces, wiping with mineral spirits or similar thinners. See that the surfaces are thoroughly dry when applying the compound so that a good bond will result.

Caulking material comes in three different forms. One type is designed to apply with a "gun". All you need do is pull the trigger, which forces the compound from the nozzle in a uniform bead. Another type comes in tubes. The compound is extruded by squeezing the tube at the bottom to force the compound from the nozzle.

In the third type—or rope form—the caulking material comes in a number of strands, all coiled in a roll. One or more strands, pulled apart from the roller, can be used for temporary or permanent protection by pressing the caulking rope firmly into cracks with the fingers.

Manufacturers exert great care in formulating caulking compounds. The material should be used as received—never thinned with oils or volatile thinners; otherwise a high degree of shrinkage and loss of adhesion will occur. The ideal time to do a caulking job is summer through fall, since the compound should not be applied when the temperature is below 40 degrees.

Tips on How To Eliminate Wet Basement

Home owners who want to turn their basements into recreation rooms, but who hesitate because of dampness in the basement, should not let this stand in their way. Dampness is relatively easy to cure, according to the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information.

One of the principal causes of wet basements is that the yard is not graded so that water drains away from the foundation walls. When this condition prevails, it can be eliminated by banking a few cubic yards of topsoil to a height of four or five inches all around and against the foundation, sloping the new earth away to a distance of five or six feet, and planting it to grass.

Additional protection can be provided by painting the interior surface of the basement's masonry walls with one of the numerous waterproofing compounds now on the market. These come in powder form in many colors. The powder is mixed to a thick consistency in water and scrubbed into the pores of the masonry.

After the walls are thus treated, the masonry can be left exposed if an attractive color is chosen for the waterproofing compound. If finished walls are desired, this can be done with assurance that no moisture damage will result, unless extremely unusual water conditions prevail. For a finished wall of plywood, or plaster-board furring strips are attached to the masonry walls and the finish wall material fastened to these strips.

To further eliminate moisture, the floor should be covered with asphalt or vinyl tile, because this material is water resistant and helps seal out any moisture that might rise through the concrete floor by capillary action. Also, it is not affected by alkali or moisture which is always present in concrete in contact with the earth. Besides its waterproofing characteristics, the asphalt tile flooring is available in a wide range of colors and there is no limit to the floor designs which can be created.

Although the waterproofing methods described will prevent dampness in the basement from external sources in practically all cases, varying amounts of moisture will appear on humid days. This is caused by moisture in the air condensing on cool surfaces, and the basement is usually quite cool on hot days.

Here's Do's and Don'ts For Those Planning to Move Soon

There's a right and a wrong way to do most everything and that certainly applies when it comes time to move.

Unfortunately, there are often enough unpleasanties that go with leaving familiar surroundings without making life miserable for yourself by botching up the actual move.

One of the most respected names in long-distance moving has prepared a list of Do's and Don'ts that you would do well to heed in the event you're moving to another home or apartment.

Things you SHOULD NOT do:

1. Wrap light-colored lamp shade or linens with newspaper because the print is very apt to rub off on them.
2. Roll curtains or draperies on rods or poles. This only serves to wrinkle them to the point where they're ready for the cleaners when you get to your new home.
3. Place pictures or mirrors between bedding or linens. This is a fine way to have your treasured artwork damaged.
4. Pack glasses or dishes in furniture drawers. It's a good idea not to pack anything in drawers.
5. Roll up your rugs. Unless they have just returned from the cleaners and are still wrapped, leave them alone. This is the mover's job, you needn't bother.
6. Place bottles of medicines or furniture polish in the same cartons with anything that is edible. Odors from these items often are strong enough to spoil foodstuff.

Things you SHOULD DO:

1. Arrange to take down venetian blinds, draperies, traverse rods and window cornices. Charges for such services are not included in your moving rates and will be extra.
2. Take down your television antenna so that your TV set will be ready for shipment when the mover arrives.

4. Remove all jewelry, money and valuable papers from drawers. The mover does not assume responsibility for such items.

5. Have your major appliances serviced.

6. If at all possible, be present when the moving van is loaded and again when it is unloaded, or have someone at each place who can sign necessary papers for you.

Lightning Rods Are Insurance For Tall Trees

Summer lightning takes a heavy toll of trees.

The violent storms of the season pick trees as targets for lightning bolts because trees usually are the tallest things handy.

When a bolt from the skies sends a tree crashing down or splits it asunder heavy property damage may result. The best insurance against lightning loss is to outfit the largest trees on your grounds with lightning cables, according to L. L. Swanger, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co.

Besides protecting the tree to which they are attached, lightning rods lend a measure of protection to smaller trees and buildings nearby.

Lightning protection systems are usually installed by tree experts. The job is too complicated and dangerous for most amateurs.

While summer is the worst season for lightning loss, properly placed cables attached to deep ground rods will dissipate electrical charges and provide year-round protection.

Rosedale Gardens News

Week Spent Vacationing, Bailing Out Basements

Sort of a slow week in Rosedale Gardens—everyone seems to be on vacation or busy bailing out their basements! Back yards and curbstones looked like a used furniture dealer's paradise last week, but we sure are saving money on water.

Gene and Anita Griffiths, Louisiana, made a trip to Washington, D.C. over the weekend of the Fourth to visit Anita's brothers.

The Rosedale Gardens Little League is in need of players under 13 years of age. The team has done real good so far this year, winning five games and only losing one. If you have a boy who is interested call H. Seifert, GA. 1-3341 or Harry Drewry, GA. 1-0705.

Daily Vacation Bible School will be held at the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian church August 12-23 from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Monday through Friday. All children ages four to 14 are welcome to attend. There will be a training session for teachers August 8 at 2:00 p.m. at the church, and it is hoped that many mothers and girls and boys who are 14 or older will assist in the teaching. Plans are being made to have a baby sitter for the very small children so that mothers will be free to teach. Persons interested in teaching please call Mrs. Eleanor Sullivan, director of the school for this summer, KE. 1-1625, Mrs. Josephine Balfert, GA. 1-1656 or the church office. Please call soon so that plans can get underway!

Esther and Tony Mepians, W. Chicago, have a new grandson. Kevin John, who weighed eight pounds seven and one half ounces was born to Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Mepians of Nankin Township June 21. The baby's mother is the choral director at Bentley High School.

Jean and Glen Snyder, Vermont, and children Barbara, Billy and Davy have returned from their vacation at Rose Lake near Cadillac. The Snyders also enjoyed an outing at Silver Lake on Sunday.

The men's softball team at Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian church has been organized and is now playing in the Livonia Church League. Games are on Tuesday evenings at the recreational area near the church and members interested in being on the team may call Bud Turner at GA. 2-6183.

Guests of the Caslers, Louisiana, Tuesday evening, July 9 were Alice and Tom Byers and their daughter Margo Lynn of Dearborn.

Kathy and Tony Pons, Woodring, celebrated their second wedding anniversary July ninth.

Nancy and Phil Snowberger, Oregon, attended their monthly bridge club last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Beerbower in Northville.

Two more ladies on wheels in the neighborhood recently! Ruth Beagan's husband Tom bought her a car of her own and Mary Hunter's husband Dick did likewise.

Millie and Bob Hancock, Cranston, returned Monday, July 8 from a week long stay at Topinabee near Mullet Lake. The girls are still at Camp and are expected to fly back on the 21st.

Dorothea Smith, Virginia, and daughter Darby are back from a three week stay in West Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Madigan, Virginia, is being transferred to Panama City, Florida, in the very near future.

Sure is plenty of a new brand of flu going around these parts! Seems to give the kids violent headaches and a fever and it seems to have gone the rounds here on Vermont.

Virginia Kobiata and children Sandy, Karen and Mike of Vermont took the train to Logansport, Indiana where they visited Virginia's sister and brother in law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Porter. Walter drove down to pick them up and take them home.

Sandra Bailey Loveland, had quite a party at her home July 9 when she entertained her friends with games and dancing and refreshments. The girls also had lots of fun when they brought along their baby pictures and the boys had to try to identify them. Teenagers present were Judy Onca, Sandra Ouston, Lesley Anders, Diane Peters, Connie Conway, Kathy Memmer, Nancy Silvey, Bonnie Crill, Janet Oswald, Kay Bradley, Janice Bailey, Sharon La Moth, Barbara Willnus, Sue Heberstreit, Andrea La Moth, Jim Carmichael, Max McCann, Ray Gaiesky, Bill Kobane, Tom Chekovitz, Dennis Conner, George Stowley, Jerry Belrose, Russ Porter, Carl Lietzow, Mike Pierson, Gary Privo, Dave Hobbs, Ron Conway, Wayne Conway, Charlie Thomas and Carl Mau.

Norma Kumbier, Vermont, has been busy teaching Bible School at the Methodist church.

Jimmy Davis of Vermont street, son of Joanne and Bob Davis had a birthday party on the Fourth of July in the form of an outdoor barbecue to celebrate his becoming four years old. Guests present were Jimmy's godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Larson of Birmingham, Grandma Ramm of Detroit, Grandma Davis of Royal Oak, Jimmy's aunt and her two children Jimmy and Joey from Detroit and neighbors Roger and Betty Johnston.

Tig Tarbutton, Vermont, had her sister Mrs. Jane Taylor of Ferndale as her guest last week and Johnny and Nancy Tarbutton had lots of company because their cousins Debra, Scott and Jeff came along, too.

Doris and Jack Chapin had guests for a week from Needles Calif. when Doris' parents Mr. and Mrs. Rollinson visited them.

Earleen Pomroy GA. 1-5231

Tony and Esther Mepians, W. Chicago, recently returned from a two week vacation at Harbor Springs where Esther says that they enjoyed a nice quiet time.

Mrs. Wyatt Woodring, had a pleasant surprise recently when her brother, Bruce Haig whom she hadn't seen for six years dropped in from California.

The Luch family Pat and Ken and the boys Danny, Kenny and Tommy returned from their first camping trip and although they nearly froze and intended to take along more bedding next time can hardly wait to go again! Ken told the boys that he had sold the house and that they were going to live in a tent in the woods for good and they were all for it! Everyone is wondering just where on earth Ken is going to find a sleeping bag that he can fit into.

The Speedy Quick family has returned from a ten day vacation at Felch, Mich. Connie and Janet Lee went along, too and said they had a fine time until little bugs called "no-see-ums" invaded the place and nearly ate them alive. Ron and Wayne, who stayed home, were glad to see sister Connie back again—said they didn't miss her cooking, but sure missed her dish washing.

Beverly and Ray Wickham and Jack Sheldon and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sheldon all returned from a stay at Felch.

The Forests, Vermont, had quite a hot full July 9 when Lillian's mother, Mrs. Rachel Thomas of Detroit, her sister and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. John Keiser of Cambridge, Ohio and another sister Mrs. Alwyn Blakeney of Detroit visited them. Mrs. Blakeney also brought her children Keith, Kathy and Karen to visit their cousins Dale, Diane and Donald. I'll bet this typewriter thinks it is stuttering!

Kay and Bob Durivage returned from their trip to Youngstown, Ohio and Lorraine, Ohio. Their children returned in two sections, half in the car with the folks and the other half with Kay's brother in his car.

Helen and Ted Bujewski, Vermont, and children Linda, Jean and Teddy recently returned from a trip to Chicago.

Here we are at the end of the road again for this week in Rosedale Gardens. Please call me your news so that this column will represent all of Rosedale.

TIPS for TEENS

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Friends are fine—fun, too—but they can cause trouble if you share all your most personal affairs with them. Like this:

Q.—"Dear Elinor Williams: I have liked a boy in my class for about two years. He never talks to me, but some of his friends say he likes me. But when we meet in school, my girlfriends scream 'There he is!' and when we meet him in the hall, they push me into him and we are both very embarrassed. I can take a joke, but this is childish and embarrassing. What can I do?"

Ans.—The harm is already done and there's not much that can be done to mend it.

You must have told your friends that you like this boy or they wouldn't know it and wouldn't do things to embarrass you when he's there.

Only think to do now is stop talking about him and "confiding" in your girlfriends, so they'll simmer down and let you and this boy get acquainted in a casual, friendly way without pushing and screaming... making a big deal of it to scare both of you away from each other.

Next time you like a boy, remember that what your friends don't know about it won't hurt you.

It's always better to keep personal matters private—this is a good example of the reason why. Friends can be thoughtless and inconsiderate (downright cruel, without realizing it!) about things that hurt or embarrass you and mean a lot to you. That's why it's a good idea to keep some personal things to ourselves, strictly private.

For free printed tips on the easy, correct care of "problem" skin with blackheads or pimples, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.

No need to thaw frozen hamburgers before cooking. Just brown and cook slowly in a little fat in the skillet until they're done just the way you like them—medium or well-done.

Ten factories producing passenger autos in West Germany had a total 1956 output of 960,000 units.
