

Test Weed Killer Here That May End Cultivating

BY DAVID JOLLIFFE

Experiments of a revolutionary nature have been taking place on nearby Plymouth corn fields for over two months under the guidance of the Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State University.

Plymouth was chosen as a site to test Simazin, an exciting new weed killer. According to Nick A. Smith, assistant Wayne County agricultural agent, "some of the biggest corn farms in Michigan are located in the Plymouth area."

Simazin may replace several currently popular weed killers when tests are completed after this year's harvest. So far results have been more than encouraging, according to Smith.

For example, three rows of sweet corn on the Melvin Corwin farm at 2105 Ridge Road were sprayed May 14 with Simazin. After a comparison last week with untreated rows results speak for themselves.

The Simazin rows are almost devoid of weeds compared with other rows which have been plowed and treated in the usual manner.

The Don Korte farm, 6934 Beck Road, received an application on an experimental row of field corn with the wonder killer June 14. Half of the row was sprayed on the ratio of 4 pounds of Simazin to the acre while the remainder was treated with 2 pounds to the acre.

There is little difference between the two applications. "On that basis I'd recommend 2 pounds to the acre for the time being," Smith said. "The only difference so far is that the 4 pound treatment seems to control velvet plants a little better."

On June 3 Sidney Eastin, 46315 Warren Road, had Simazin sprayed on one row and 2, 4-D, a common acetic acid weed killer, saturated another row. Results are even more encouraging upon comparison.

Besides finding less weeds in the Simazin treated rows, Smith pointed out that corn stalks were greener and healthier when compared to the rest of the field.

Smith and his three cooperative farmers aren't going overboard yet in their enthusiasm for Simazin. But he looked optimistic when he said, "we'll have to wait until after the corn is harvested and we can see the difference in the ears, both in taste and appearance."

Smith impartially added that there is one thing about Simazin that isn't encouraging. "It doesn't affect deep rooted weeds like milkweed and velvet plant but it does eliminate lamb's quarter and pig weed, the most serious in this area."

Miss Plymouth Visits New York City

(EDITOR'S NOTE: First prize in the July 4th Miss Plymouth contest was an expense-paid trip for two to New York City. Last weekend, Miss Plymouth (Diane Fuelling) and her mother left Willow Run and returned Sunday night. Diane, a Plymouth high school senior this fall, had never been in New York nor had she ever flown. At the request of The Mail, she has written an account of her trip.)

We left Willow Run Airport at noon Friday, July 19. Mr. Lund, the local manager of Northwest Orient Airlines was most accommodating. I enjoyed my first flight immensely. It was a perfect day for flying - clear and sunny. The cruising speed was 180 m.p.h. and the altitude was 20,000 feet. The approximately 600-mile trip took about two and one-half hours.

On arrival at New York International Airport we were met by photographers which was a great thrill. The airport itself is a gigantic thing, even from the air. The flights being called in many languages and the foreign dress of people from many countries was very interesting.

Our accommodations at the Hotel New Yorker were very comfortable and we were extended every courtesy by the management. The meals were excellent. New York is definitely a city of gourmets. We took in as many sights of interest as possible and got along on as little sleep as possible. The New York skyline and city itself was a breathtaking sight from the Empire State Building both by day and night. The myriad of lights at night was truly a sight to behold. We found the city never seems to sleep. Between shopping and sight-seeing, the time flew past. We took day and night sight-seeing tours and a boat cruise around Manhattan Island. A tour through Chinatown, the Bowery and Greenwich Village after dark was exactly as described, "mysterious, exciting and exotic."

The weather was excellent - a little on the warm side and Sunday was just plain hot!

Our tour of the Mayflower II was most rewarding. We were entertained in the bow of the ship by four members of the crew. They answered all of our questions very politely and they were very informative. The Mayflower II is referred to as a "baroque." The 21-man crew was chosen from over 3,000 men for

Despite the Heat, Concert Attracts Crowd of 900

Considering last Sunday afternoon's heat, Conductor Wayne Dunlap called the response to the second Plymouth Colony Farms Concert "remarkable."

An estimated 900 people attended the concert played by the 24-piece Detroit Little Symphony. The group is composed of members of the Detroit Symphony.

"Attendance at the first two concerts indicate that there is an audience for this 'type of program,'" Conductor Dunlap declared. Success of this year's three-concert series may mean an expanded program in future years. The first concert, played by the Plymouth Symphony, took place June 30 and drew an estimated 1,000 people.

The concerts are held on a grassy hillside overlooking a lake on Plymouth Colony Farms, three miles east of the city. Much of Sunday's crowd was scattered around under trees. Acoustics were better for Sunday's concert than the first when a strong wind blew across the hillside.

Guest soloist with the Detroit Little Symphony was James Wolfe, an internationally known young pianist, whose selections were well received by the audience Sunday.

The symphony group held a rehearsal at 1 o'clock on the outdoor stage, followed by a picnic for players and their families. The picnic lunch was served by the Plymouth Symphony board.

Sunday, August 11 will be the final concert in the series.

Car Pushed Over Cliff Into Lake

Why a car was pushed into Newburg Lake last weekend has Livonia police and Wayne County Sheriff's deputies wondering.

The car, a 1954 blue Ford 4-door, was pushed over a 50-foot cliff from Lakeview Drive along the southern side of the popular lake. Police later found that the car belonged to Fred Pagel, Jr., 21, of 8211 Newburg, Wayne, who had not reported his car missing.

Pagel was quoted as saying that last Friday he heard a knock in his car's engine, so he parked the car at a bar at Ford and Wayne roads. When he went back to get it the next day, he added, the car was gone.

"I didn't report it because I am behind in payments to the finance company and I thought they took it away," Pagel declared.

Police said tire tracks indicated that another car pushed it over the edge of a high bank. A payment book from the General Finance Corp. was found in the glove compartment. There was also a hole in the engine block caused by a broken rod, police said.

Victor Phelps of Norwayne noticed the top of the car sticking out of Newburg Lake at 5:30 a.m. Saturday. Livonia police have turned the case over to sheriff's deputies.

Surviving 35-year-old Dempsey are his wife Lorraine, two sons, Gerald Jack and Richard Harold, and four daughters, Mary Carol, Pamela Sue, Jacquelin Cora and Carol Ann. Also surviving are three brothers, Donald Lee Dempsey of Wayne, Richard Dempsey of Plymouth and Wesley Asch of Walled Lake and a sister, Mrs. Ann Louise Hunter of Plymouth.

Mr. Dempsey was born May 1, 1922 in Tawas and came to this area from Tawas City in 1926. He was an electro plater for Plymouth Plating Works.

Daniel Buckingham was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Buckingham, 2013 Edgerton in Wayne. He was born November 12, 1951 in Highland Park.

He is survived by his parents, a brother, Terry Dale, a sister, Cindy Buckingham and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Thomas (Continued on Page 8)

Former Resident, Nephew Drown in Belleville Lake

A former Plymouth resident and employee of Plymouth Plating Works and his nephew were among the 22 weekend drownings in Michigan.

Jack G. Dempsey, 14773 Arden in Livonia and his five-year-old nephew, Daniel Thomas Buckingham of Wayne drowned at 5 p.m. Sunday when a 12-foot outboard in which they were riding overturned on Belleville Lake, near Lakepointe Pass five miles west of Belleville. Their bodies were recovered Monday morning.

Also in the boat were Dempsey's son Jack, 9, his brother, Donald Dempsey, 33 of Norwayne and Donald's son David, 9.

"We had been out for about 20 minutes," Donald told sheriff's deputies, "when Jack made a sharp turn and the boat capsized. I grabbed David and young Jack and helped them up on the boat's bottom." They saw Dempsey "get hold of Danny Buckingham, but they both went under," Donald said.

Builder's Meeting with Board Brings Promise of Facilities

A new elementary building similar to the new Gallimore school should be ready to open by September 15, 1958, according to verbal agreements reached last week between board of education and officials of the Greenspan Building Company. Executives of the company plan to give a formal warranty to school officials that water and sewage facilities will be completed by that time.

Total price of land and improvements will be $46,500. Wheeler & Becker, Architects, designers of Gallimore School, have already been given the job of making plans for the new school pending formal agreements between the school board and the builder.

The design will be the same as Gallimore with the exception of a few minor changes. The school board hopes to take bids on construction this September.

The Sept. 15, 1958 date was hastened at the meeting last week when school officials suggested constructing the proposed building on the western end of a 10-acre site between Schoolcraft and Five Mile roads instead of the eastern side as originally planned.

According to Greenspan Company officials, this will facilitate the construction of water and sewage facilities. Before agreeing on the new site the company could not guarantee completion before February 1, 1959.

However, after the new proposal, Fred Greenspan, and his party of company officials recessed for 30 minutes to consult on the new proposal. Upon returning, the company's first offer was October 1, 1958.

After listening to school board arguments that an October 1 date would disrupt the school year, a date of September 15 was accepted.

Tentative plans call for the school board to pay $32,230 in cash upon assuming title to the property. Another $10,000 will be placed in escrow until bids are let for the water, storm and sanitary sewers, sidewalks and paved streets past the school. When the complete job is finished, an additional $4,270 will complete the financial agreement.

Money to purchase the site and construct the school will come from a $3,000,000 bond issue approved by voters in 1955. The new junior high and two elementary buildings were part of the "package" bond issue.

The board was assured of ample water when they learned from company officials that two recently tapped wells on the McAllister property will yield 500 gallons each per minute. An "in-

To Open New A & P July 31

A new king-sized air conditioned super market, described as one of the most modern and finest retail food outlets in this area, will be formally opened Wednesday, July 31 by A & P Food Stores at 1050 Ann Arbor Road.

The new store, containing more than 13,000 square feet of floor space, will replace the company's former location at 892 W. Ann Arbor Trail.

Vice President M. W. Alldredge of the Detroit Unit, operating company stores in this area of Michigan, described the new store as a "100 per cent one-stop food shopping center."

"This store," he said, "represents the results of our careful survey of the needs of consumers in the Plymouth area. We hope they will be as proud and as pleased with what they see as we are."

The exterior of the new construction is of gray brick. A lighted A & P sign with red darts is centered on the front wall of the building above the canopy. A blue canopy across the front enhances the beauty of the building and provides shelter for customers.

The interior construction has such modern features as fluorescent lighting, metal ceiling, new-type grocery shelving and special color treatment throughout to produce pleasant and enjoyable shopping for customers. Walls behind the departments have been color-keyed to the department to enhance the effect.

One of the features of the new store is a self-service meat department with a new-type refrigerated "production line" for the preparation of all meat items. Under the new setup, meat items are weighed, packaged, labeled and priced in full view of customers. A total of 80 feet of refrigeration is of gray brick. A lighted A & P sign with red darts is centered on the front wall of the building above the canopy. A blue canopy across the front enhances the beauty of the building and provides shelter for customers.

Detroit Youth Drowns At Newburg Lake Dam

A picnic last Sunday afternoon ended tragically for a Detroit family at Newburg Lake east of Plymouth when a five-year-old boy drowned.

The Kenneth Richardson family, of 15326 LaSalle, was enjoying an outing on the hot summer afternoon with their five children. Several of the children decided to view the dam at the eastern end of the lake, but five-year-old Kerry got too near the edge of the walk and fell in.

Brother Kenneth, 7, saw Kerry fall in and yelled for help. Two unidentified boaters jumped into the water and in vain tried to rescue the child.

Lorin Burkart, 40200 Gilbert, Plymouth, foreman for the Wayne County Park Commission, asked for dragging operations. The body was recovered at the grill covering the water chute into the old Ford Motor Co. plant at 7:18 p.m. about 45 minutes after the boy fell.

'Your Handwriting Tells Your Story' To Start Next Week

Who among us has smooth sailing all the way through life? For many, the obstacles that crop up along the way become pretty rough, and outside advice is solicited to ease the situation.

What's YOUR problem? Have trouble holding a job? Do you have an unhappy home life? Does romance pass you by?

It's a human trait to place the blame on someone else—but you may be lacking in virtues that result in confusion and unhappiness the better part of your life.

Mrs. Jean Evans of Plymouth, a member of International Grapho Analysis Society, Inc., says, "Your handwriting tells your story." Beginning with next week's issue, our readers may submit their problems to Mrs. Evans—in their own ink handwriting—and she will analyze their troubles without charge. To prevent embarrassment, the writer may sign his or her initials or use an anonymous name.

Mrs. Evans says, "I am not a fortune teller, I can't reveal your past, or predict your future, but through an analysis of your handwriting strokes I can discover your characteristics, both good and bad, and can in that way assist you in solving problems. If you have faults—as we all do—you must be willing to acknowledge them in order to overcome your difficulties."

"Therefore," continued Mrs. Evans, "you will be solving your own problems through your own handwriting, not by my personal opinion or my experience."

Readers are invited to submit their problems early. Simply address your letter to: Jean Evans, in care of this newspaper.

Work Three Days for One Minute

Film TV Commercial Here

A television camera crew spent three days in Plymouth last week and shot thousands of feet of film—but residents shouldn't turn on their TV sets in hopes of seeing familiar scenes or faces.

The crew was shooting a commercial for the Buick Division of General Motors at Jack Selle's Buick Agency on Ann Arbor Road. Moving in Thursday morning with a truck load of equipment, they labored in the hot sun for three days to shoot a commercial that will run on television for only one minute!

An advertising agency representative and a camera crew were brought here from New York to make the film which Buick will use on its TV shows in October.

Exactly what the script is about isn't for publication, according to the advertising man, who naturally doesn't want to tip off competitors. But an observer could plainly see that it had to do with a man and his wife and their dog who go into an agency to trade in their old Buick for a new one. Much of the shooting was of the footsteps.

The hard-working crew had no time to answer questions from on-lookers. Movie making, including television commercials, runs into the high dollar. But the ad man, mopping the sweat from his burned brow in Friday's 90 degree heat (and hotter on the pavement), explained that the scene just completed had taken two hours, but will last eight seconds.

"The h-- of it is," he exclaimed, "we'll show the scene to the client and they'll be asking why we ever wasted time on a shot like that."

The dogs, identical cocker spaniels, were the most sentimental members of the cast. When one wouldn't behave, the other was rushed in. A dog was to sit at the feet of the husband and wife. Despite off-camera pleading by the dog's own mistress, it refused to remain sitting on the hot pavement. It ruined the scene seven times.

The other spaniel which had been cooling its posterior inside the showroom was brought on. It sat long enough for two shootings and the director appeared finally satisfied.

Police were called one day to temporarily halt traffic along Ann Arbor Road while a scene was being shot in that direction. It would hardly do to have a Ford or Dodge show up in a commercial that costs Buick thousands of dollars to film.

Large lights and reflectors surrounded the action, making the job even hotter. The professional actress and actors had to wear suits and they appeared to be earning every cent of whatever they were being paid, even though they did nothing but walk or stand still.

Obtaining good lighting is a tough job. For one scene alone, a new car was backed up, run forward and turned around at least four times before the

READY TO START action for another scene, the camera focuses on a board telling the scene number for a TV commercial shot last week at the Jack Selle Buick Agency here. This scene, showing an actor salesman kicking the tire of an old car and walking over to the customers in background (with a dog not yet on the set) took over two hours to shoot. It will last about eight seconds. A cloth was thrown over the camera to keep it cool. In foreground, a stage hand adjusts a reflector.

A crown of orange blossoms and seed pearls held in place her elbow length veil of illusion and she carried a spray of Amazon lilies and stephanotis. She was given in marriage by her father.

Patricia Hyatt of Detroit was maid of honor with Connie McCall of Alma, Beverly Orr of Midland and Shirley Sexton of Plymouth serving as bridesmaids. Their gowns were fashioned with very full skirts, V neckline both in front and back and cummerbunds and large bows of the self material. They all wore white clip hats with face veils and white accessories. Their bouquets were of sweetheart rosebuds in pale pink with the deeper pink being carried by the honor maid, Glenna Mary Sullivan of White Lake, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. Her white nylon dress had ruffled bodice and very full skirt and she wore a pale blue ribbon with long streamers in her hair. A sash of matching blue ribbon formed a large bow in the back with streamers to the hem-line. She carried a miniature bouquet like that of the other attendants.

Charles asked Fred Wyngarden of Grand Rapids to serve him as best man and seating the guests were Donald Jackson of Alma and Alan and Robert Waterworth of Caseville.

The bride's mother selected a light blue nylon sheer with white accessories and Mrs. Hornbrook wore a sheath dress of heavenly blue embroidered silk. Her accessories were also blue. Both mothers wore corsages of pink sweetheart rosebuds.

Following the ceremony a buffet supper was served in the church fellowship room to about 225 guests who were present from Tallahassee and Sarasota, Florida; Washington, D.C.; Portsmouth and Plymouth, Ohio; Alma, Grand Rapids, Ann Arbor, Detroit, Livonia, Monroe, Northville and Plymouth.

The young couple are honeymooning at Pawas City, after which they will go to Muskegon where both have accepted teaching positions. Both Mary Lou and Charles are graduates of Alma College.

Honored guests at the wedding were Mary Lou's great aunt, Miss Amelia Gayde of Plymouth and Charles' aunt, Miss Dorothy Brewer of Portsmouth, Ohio.

Rail Express Back In Normal Service

Railway Express Agency is again operating fully throughout the nation and all embargoes on rail and air express shipments have been lifted, it was announced here by Leonard Millross, local agent.

The strike of nearly 2,000 vehicle employees at seven major cities and certain adjacent points, which began April 22, has been settled and employees are back at work at those points. Involved were Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Newark, Philadelphia, St. Louis and San Francisco and certain points adjacent to some of those cities. As a result of the strike, shipments to and from 900 communities had been embargoed.

Thursday evening Neil Kenyon of Gilbert street was guest of honor at a birthday party. Guest were Phyllis French, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Allgood and son Ronald, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Severson and Dianne and Ronnie, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Severson and Johnny Duncan, all of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Miller and girls of Garden City.

Phyllis Baker, Keith Miller Wed At Morning Service in Owosso

Phyllis Baker and Keith A. Miller exchanged vows Saturday, July 20, in a morning ceremony at St. Joseph's Rectory in Owosso. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baker of Lennon and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter R. Miller, 40170 East Ann Arbor Trail.

Rev. Father John Daniels officiated at the 11 o'clock service. The bride wore a waltz-length gown of white lace over taffeta, which she fashioned herself. A fingertip veil fell from a white sequined cap. She carried a cascade arrangement of pink demure roses and stephanotis backed with French illusion and loops and streamers of white satin.

The maid of honor, June Lannom of Manchester, wore an off-white embroidered spun silk organza dress over lavender taffeta. Bridesmaids Mary Jane Annis of Grand Rapids and Nancy Rigney of Livonia wore identical dresses over yellow and pink taffeta respectively. They carried colonial bouquets of tiny roses and shattered carnations to match their dresses.

The bridegroom wore stephanotis from the bride's bouquet. Robert Leipprandt of Detroit served as best man. Assisting ushers were Henry Kevering of Plymouth and Kurt Hood of Detroit.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Baker wore a pink dotted Swiss dress with black and white accessories and a corsage of miniature pink roses and white carnations tied with pink and white satin. Mrs. Miller, mother of the bridegroom, wore a pale green organza dress with accessories to match and a corsage of pink roses and pink carnations tied with green and pink satin.

A reception was held at the American Legion Hall in Owosso for over 150 guests.

The bride chose a medium gray two-piece dress with black and white accessories for a trip to the New England states and New York City.

The bride is a graduate of Owosso high school and the bridegroom graduated from Plymouth high school in 1948. The couple are both graduates of Michigan State University. The bride was affiliated with Alpha Omicron Pi sorority and the bridegroom with Phi Kappa Tau fraternity.

The bridegroom was sports editor of the Plymouth Mail from 1948-49. He then served with the Army in Friedburg, Germany. He is now sports editor of the Freeport Journal Standard in Illinois. The new Mrs. Miller will be teaching vocal music in Dakota, Ill.

The newlyweds will make their home in Freeport.

Mrs. Peter A. Miller is visiting at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Peter R. Miller of East Ann Arbor Trail. She spent the winter at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cook of Arlington, Calif., and the first part of the summer with her son, Karl Miller of Norway.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hoag, who have been visiting relatives and friends in Plymouth, have returned to their home in Orlando, Florida. They are former residents of Plymouth.

School Parking Lot Being Paved

There was welcome news this week from the board of education for those youngsters and parents living in the Allen Elementary school district. The parking lot is going to be paved.

The board approved a bid Monday night at a special meeting to have the parking area paved at a cost of $4,855. The Ann Arbor Construction Co. was the winning bidder. Close behind was the Plymouth Paving Co. with a bid of $4,899.57. Paving is expected to start next week.

In addition to the parking lot, a small area between the sidewalks and the building along the classroom wings will also be paved.

The board also opened bids for the appraisal of all school property. An appraisal is being asked in order to have property properly insured. Appraisal companies also assist the school in establishing values in claims for property damaged or stolen.

Bidders were: Marshall & Stevens, $2,250; Fidelity Appraisal Co., $4,095; American Appraisal Co., $5,500. All three also offer yearly revisions of appraisals at extra fees.

After what we've been hearing about horses, maybe it's just as well that our four-footed friend is being replaced by the automobile. Someone has said that horse sense comes from stable thinking . . . but now some animal psychologist comes along and claims horses are just about the stupidest critters you could imagine. And that may cover a lot of territory.

In I.Q. tests even pigs were smarter than the oal-burners. Horses, it seems, are neurotics who go off their rockers at the flap of a butterfly's wings or the buzz of a bee. In fact a horse is just a flicker brighter than a gopher. So next time you're credited with having "horse sense," better reach for a grain of salt. Maybe it isn't a compliment.

We do know something that makes good sense though and that's a cool refreshing snack at our luncheon counter on these hot summer days.

In Newark a woman complained that her husband hit her with a live eel. Well, it wasn't a very nice thing to do . . . but it was original.

The idea isn't original with us, but it's a nice one . . . the idea, that is, of treating customers right. We like to feel that courtesy, friendliness and honesty are even more important than the high-quality products we have to offer. If these things are important to you, too, you'll feel right at home when shopping at

Two weeks ago representatives from Argus Camera in Ann Arbor visited Plymouth. To illustrate their new publication, "What the Camera Will Do," they had chosen Plymouth's summer recreation program as material. And they weren't the only ones. Previous to that the Detroit News had published a large spread of pictures about the program.

Next stop—maybe Life Magazine.

The Plymouth Merchants, currently sharing league leadership with River Rouge in the Michigan Inter-County League, were recipients of a rather distinct honor last week. Impressed with their season's performance, officials from an invitational open baseball tournament held at Grand Rapids invited the local team into competition. The merchants accepted and made the trip Saturday.

Against stiff opposition—teams representing the entire state were present—Plymouth was eliminated the first day, losing 4-3 in the

White Sox Leading 12 and Under League

The White Sox and Torpedoes, managed by Fred Libbing and Jim Herter respectively, are leading the pack in the rugged "12 and under" competition. Both teams boast 3-1 records for their efforts in the "small-fry" league.

Only a step behind and within easy striking distance are three other teams, the Cardinals, Yankees, and Wildcats, while the luckless Bluebirds struggle to bring up the rear.

Standings as of July 22:

Team	W	L
White Sox	3	1
Torpedoes	3	1
Cardinals	2	2
Yankees	2	2
Wildcats	2	2
Bluebirds	0	4

The teams play every Friday night under the lights behind the high school. Game time is 6 o'clock.

morning, and 7-4 that afternoon. But it was still a feather in the cap of John Schwartz and his nine.

What's gotten into the Romulus Jay Cee squad of the same league? A month ago they shared seventh place with Detroit Control and carried a 1-4 record. Today they sport a 6-5 mark and occupy third place exclusively.

Correction—last week this column devoted a few lines to Wally Dzurus, a former PHS student and athlete. In the third paragraph, commending his athletic achievements while an armed forces member, Ft. Leonard was named his last winter's base. Ft. Leonard is a badly mutilated version of Fort Leonard Wood, the correctly spelled camp where Wally "boarded." The column's apologies to all alphabet-addicts.

Next week the column will air its views on a couple of ideas—neither one its own—but in which it's interested. Briefly, they concern a summer basketball program and an Athlete of the Week. The latter was presented in the Plymouth Mail not long ago by Bob Young. But maybe it could be developed further.

Playoffs Starting

The A League Softball double-elimination playoffs begin tonight. Box Bar will play Chevie at 7:30 and Beglinger faces Lincoln at 8:45. Losers will play the first game (7:30) next Tuesday, winners the second. One team will then be eliminated. The remaining three teams will draw for a bye.

One week from tonight the losers in the draw will meet at 7:30. The following Tuesday, the winner and the team with the bye will meet at 7:30 for the championship. There is a chance that another game will be needed to decide the winner, depending on who draws the bye. If so, it will be announced.

THE RIDER

BY BOB FRANKLIN

The Saddlebred division of the Holly Horse Show, held last Sunday in Holly, Mich., was literally swept by Lyle Garnette. Garnette, of the Rock Trail Training Stables, in Rochester, Mich., placed first in both the Three-Gaited and the English Pleasure Horse Classes. Because the Five Gaited Class was cancelled, due to lack of entries, he kindly consented to give an exhibition. Lyle Garnette, in addition to being a horseman and true sportsman, is a symbol of inspiration to those with a visual handicap. His world, like his personality, is a bright one.

The hot weather seemed to have little slowing effect on the contest riders at the Holly show. I think the heat must have been too much for Dick Richards when he let a gal nose him out of first place in the Musical Chairs event. Dick was tied for first with Gerry Richards, who is no relation, and in the last run off he lost out. Dick, his wife Pat and two children have just moved to the Plymouth area.

Sandie Wells isn't happy just winning first place in her event. She wants first and second place. As you know if you have ever seen Sandie ride, she usually gets what she wants in the show ring. By riding two horses in the Clover Leaf Race, she had her dream come true, and rode out of the ring with both first and second place. However she was just getting started and before the day was over she had placed first in the Speed and Action and second in the Bending Race.

The horse division of the Wayne County 4-H Fair this year is going to be bigger than ever before. At the last count 109 horses were expected for the week long event. This is another fine showcase of local junior horsemen as well as being a showcase of youth in general.

Riverside Kiwanians To Hear Local Rotarian

Harold J. Curtis, past president of the Plymouth Rotary Club and a leading Life Underwriter, will discuss student loan funds at the noonday meeting of the Riverside Kiwanis Club at the Whittier Hotel on Thursday, Aug. 1st.

Curtis participated in the founding of the Plymouth Rotary Student Loan Fund 10 years ago and has had considerable experience in its operation. In addition to a discussion of the principles involved, he will recite some of the individual results and tell how some students have not only been helped, but inspired by the faith conveyed by the granting of assistance when needed.

Beglinger Remains Unbeaten; Chevie Hurler has No-Hitter

Doug Eloff's Berliner team won its eleventh, twelfth, and thirteenth straight games last week in a league competition. Not only is the team undefeated, but is assured of an undisputed first place finish in the final standings. The Beglinger Nine, spearheaded all season by Gabby Street's fine pitching, knocked off Box Bar, 4-0 Tuesday, and squeezed by Chevie, 2-1 in a Wednesday night make-up contest. Thursday the hurling duties fell upon Purcell, and he filled the bill perfectly, shutting out Lincoln, 11-0. It marked the seventh time this year that Beglinger opponents have failed to score on the league leaders.

Chevie Spring and Bumper played a full schedule last night. They won three decisions, the four, losing only to Beglinger. Tillsy tossed a near-perfect game against Lincoln Tuesday, beating them, 4-0. Only three Chevie errors marred his performance, as he allowed no hits, fanned 14, and walked none. In the remaining contests, Chevie downed Box Bar twice, 7-3 and 6-3.

The strings are slowly tightening in B league play. League-leading Northville V.F.W. fell prey to lowly Lutheran, 6-4, Monday evening. This throws the V.F.W.'ers within easy reach of the Knot Heads (5-2) and Independents (5-2), who gained a second place tie with the Knot Heads by defeating Garden City Hospital 7-4 on Wednesday. The Knot Heads did not play last week.

Other B results included Chevie's squeaker over Strohs, 9-8, and Vico's mastery of Daisy, 9-1. In the Chevie-Strohs contest, it took two big runs in the bottom of the seventh to merit the Chevie victory.

Standings as of July 21:

Class A	13-0
Beglinger	8-5
Chevie Spring and Bumper	8-5
Box Bar	3-9
Lincoln Division	0-12
Class B	6-1

'Best' Summer Program Ends

"The attendance and interest in the extended school and summer recreation programs was excellent throughout," stated Herbert Woolweaver, director of Adult Education and Recreation department which is also assisting the grade and high school principals in the summer programs. Woolweaver was commenting on the student-adult academic courses and child playground areas and recreation, held this summer from June 16 to July 23.

Woolweaver explained that the reason for the six-week program this year instead of the two month plus schedule of last year was the huge number of absences during the "last of July-August" period of 1956 due to vacations. He said the '57 attendance has far exceeded that of last year.

Very proud of the program, Woolweaver said professional leadership was present on nine playgrounds of the eleven. The two, Auburn and Hamilton, were handled very efficiently by experienced high school students. He also stated, "Plymouth has the highest paid playground leadership in Michigan."

Examples of the wide interest and participation in the program are these: reading (all types), held at Bird, Smith, and Stark-weather Schools — attendance, 157; arithmetic, same schools — attendance, 156; French, Bird School, two classes a day — 35; Spanish, Bird School, three classes a day — 44; instrumental music courses, high school — 205; vocal music, held at all schools — extremely high attendance; typing, high school — 104; home economics; high school — 85; shop, high school — 57.

Woolweaver said the only course offered that was unsatisfactorily accepted was fine arts, which includes oil painting, designing, etc. Only 25 students showed interest. "This course might be discontinued next year," concluded Woolweaver.

Merchants Win 10th; Romulus Downs Elks

The Plymouth Merchants once again found the win formula Sunday and remained tied with River Rouge for leadership of the Michigan Inter-County League. This time it was the hapless Detroit Control squad who were victims of some heavy Merchant bats.

Jack Dobbs led the 14-2 seven inning slaughter of the Detroit team. Jack went 5 for 5 against four visiting pitchers, including a home run. Fred Kessler, with 3 for 4 and Harold Dewulf, with 3 for 5 also enjoyed the afternoon.

Rich Sheppard was the Plymouth winning hurler, giving up two runs on seven hits. He struck out seven. Manager John Schwartz caught a large part of the contest due to Tomlinson's understandable fatigue. He had caught a hot doubleheader at Grand Rapids on Saturday.

The Plymouth Elks lost their eleventh game of the year, falling prey to a surging Romulus squad, 11-6, at Romulus. River Rouge whopped the Northville Merchants, 13-4, while Redford edged Chelsea, 5-4.

Standings as of July 22:

Plymouth Merchants	10-2
River Rouge	10-2
Redford Merchants	7-5
Romulus Jay Cee	6-5
Northville Merchants	6-6
Chelsea	5-7
Detroit Control	2-9
Plymouth Elks	1-11

Local Youth, 15 Aces 120 Yard Shot

One of the proudest youngsters in Plymouth this week is Gary Lock, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lock, 997 Junction.

Gary was playing the Burroughs Farms golf course Sunday when he made a hole-in-one on the third hole with a five iron. The shot is 120 yards.

Gary, whose father is employed at Burroughs, was playing with a friend, Darrell Kress, who along with several others witnessed the shot. Gary's father is a well-known Plymouth golfer, having won several Plymouth city championships. His grandfather was a golf pro at several area courses and is now a pro at the driving range at Schoolcraft and Telegraph.

Elks Take Lead In 18 & Under Baseball League

The Plymouth Elks have taken the lead in the 18 and under Class D baseball league. After three weeks of sharing top spot in the standings with Daisy — both teams being undefeated — the Elks now enjoy sole ownership.

Daisy lost its first place prestige due to a 6-5 defeat at the hands of Willow Run last Tuesday. Too many walks by Daisy pitchers was the whole story. Meantime, though, the Elks were trimming Dearborn, 4-3, behind the six-hit pitching of Eric Goodwell. That gave the Elks (4-0) the edge over Daisy (4-1).

Both Plymouth teams won on Thursday evening, leaving the standings unchanged. Daisy nipped Dearborn, 7-5, with a four-run uprising in the last of the seventh. With two outs; Harvey Wells singled, Larry Wells walked, Jim Dzurus singled in both runs after a passed ball allowed runners to advance, and Paul Woodard smashed a high fly over the trees in left field for a game-winning homer.

The Elks had an easier time of things against Willow Run, whipping them 7-4. Bill Porter was the winning hurler, giving up three runs and three hits in the first inning, and one run on two hits in the seventh. That constituted all of Willow Run's hitting. Elks batters were able to collect only seven hits.

Thus far, the Elks and Daisy have not met. Both the regularly scheduled games were rained out. With the season half gone, the pressure in both clubs is mounting.

Standings as of July 22:

Elks	5-0
Daisy	5-1
Willow Run	1-5

The CITY
MANAGER'S CORNER
BY AL GLASSFORD

While away on vacation, I am taking the liberty to use material I read in the American Municipal News:

City Planning in 1452
Mayor Allen Thompson of Jackson, Mississippi, has been doing some research recently for some speeches he was about to make. In the course of his efforts he came across some interesting information on Leonardo da Vinci. Here it is as Mayor Thompson related it in a speech to the local Real Estate Board.

"Leonardo tried to build, beautifully and noble Milan. He planned roads with two levels for safer travel. He advocated wider streets. He treated of transforming the landscape of Italy with a network of temples and catacombs and canals, lakes and gardens."

"He designed a system of small cities, each of them to consist of 5,000 houses with no more than six to a house, for he believed that humanity was too congested to be happy."

"The cities that he planned were to be built along river banks. For in this way he could introduce into each city a sanitary sewage system—something undreamed of in his day—nothing less than a series of underground canals that would carry all the refuse of the city into the river."

"His model cities were to have no ugly sights or evil smells. They were to be full of space, air and beauty and cleanliness, freedom, culture and joy."

"The man who dreamed these visions of what the 20th century calls 'city planning' was born more than 500 years ago, in 1452."

Riverside Park Church of God Breaks Ground for New Unit

Ground was broken Sunday morning at the Riverside Park Church of God for a new building to be used for worship.

This will be the second of a three-unit plan. The present building will be used for Sunday school purposes when the second unit is completed, and the second unit will become the educational building when a new sanctuary is constructed at a later date.

Mrs. Mae Beitner of Plymouth, chairman of the building committee, and Robert Majors, chairman of the board of trustees, jointly took the first spade-full of ground Sunday morning during an outdoors service. Reverend E. B. Jones of Plymouth is pastor of the church.

The new building will be attached to the north end of the present structure. Of contemporary design, it will cost $50,000. James B. Morison is architect while the contractor is Carl Lundquist of Carlsbad, N.J.

It is hoped to have the 32 by 72 foot building completed by December 15.

Riverside Park Church of God is located at Plymouth and Newburg roads in Livonia. Many Plymouth residents are members of the congregation.

The MAIL Attitude

BY PAUL CHANDLER

Undoubtedly our local service station proprietors know about it, but I've just heard of a novel "hubcap engraving" plan.

In Birmingham, Mich., for example, some stations will engrave the owner's name or initials on hubcaps free of charge. The purpose is to reduce theft of such items. Thieves won't steal them when they're engraved, nor will receivers accept them.

It's done with an electric needle.

How many Plymouth Mails can be turned out from one roll of newsprint?

We asked the question in a contest during the Livonia Builders show a few weeks ago, and had an actual roll of newsprint on display, in the booth. The weight wasn't disclosed to the contestants, but it actually was 1163 pounds. We were figuring on the basis of 32-page newspapers and the answer was 2390 papers from a single roll.

The contest winner (he gets a savings bond) was James Curtner, 30062 Puritan, Livonia, who estimated 2400. Others who were close (and who win personalized sets of stationery) were Floyd Tibbitts, 9279 Ball, Plymouth; Louise Tritten, 41840 Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth; Nancy Hanna, 1410 Junction, Plymouth.

I think I've discovered that "better way to make a living" that all of us insist "there must be."

There was a man out at Jack Selle's Buick headquarters last week who was being paid just for permitting movie cameras to take pictures of his feet. He'd walk eight feet one way, stop when they yelled "cut," wait for another "roll 'em" signal, then retrace his steps another eight feet. The lens was trained completely on the brown oxfords, which bore a fair shine.

This was part of the movie shooting which gave the Selle landscape something of the air of a Hollywood lot last week. A crew was photographing a little of this and a little of that for use in commercial films which will appear on TV next fall.

The "feet" footage will be used in a montage effect showing people "beating a path" to the Buick dealers.

There also was a cowboy actor around the "set" last week, but he had a tough job. On signal, he had to stand in front of a sign and smile. The job I want is that walkin' one.

Juvenile problems have been hanging heavily on the minds of all of us around the office, mainly because we run into the offenses as they are reported by police and court. Look Magazine this week has a few pages on the subject which offer the most mature, least prejudiced, analysis of the teen-agers that I've encountered lately.

A number of points are made. One is that "going steady" actually is a monogamous habit, which is the rule of our adult culture, and that it provides an area of security for a teen-ager who is tormented by many tugs of insecurity. In other words, Look somewhat defends "going steady."

Another is that one of the keenest teen-age drives today is to "conform," which "non-conformity" is regarded as near-tragedy.

This explains a lot of "crazy" behavior which the kids justify on the basis that "everybody's doing it, why can't I?"

The all-consuming desire to "conform," it is suggested, is inspired by us parents. Individual thinking is not exactly in high fashion in America today.

The "insecurity" to which everything is traced comes from sex anxieties, the hydrogen bomb, and the nagging drive of mother and father to try to "keep up with the Joneses" and never quite getting there.

It's an interesting study, anyway.

However, board of education president Harold Fischer insisted on a formal letter from qualified engineers stating there will be enough water for school purposes. Ample water is available at any time for construction purposes.

The formal contract containing the legal description of land will be ready for signing by August 12. However, both sides agreed to review a skeleton purchase agreement Monday July 23. Nandino Perlongo, attorney for the board, and an attorney for the building company will have the contract outlined by that time for board review.

Greenspan, who is to build 1,200 homes in the northeast part of the township, is now constructing south of Schoolcraft, west of Wilcox road.

In other business before the board it was agreed that if conditions warrant, children between kindergarten and the third grade will be provided school transportation regardless of the distance they live from school. Children in the 4th to the 8th grades will be provided transportation if they live one or more miles from school while 9th - 12th grade pupils will have to live 1 1/2 miles away before eligible to ride the school bus.

Miss Plymouth

The trip across the ocean. The ship is surprisingly small, but very compact. The visit on the barque Mayflower II took the better part of two hours but the tour through the ship itself would consume about 10 minutes.

After leaving the symbol of our pioneer heritage, we returned to the hustle and bustle that is New York City. A memory that will linger is that of the Mayflower II with its old world atmosphere against a background of modern day skyscrapers. One can almost sense the passage of time.

It was with a feeling of regret that we left the city. Our flight back home was pleasant and smooth. It was quite cloudy and visibility was poor, although we flew at 17,000 feet. On landing at Willow Run airport Sunday night, July 21, we were welcomed by our family. Being totally exhausted but totally happy travelers, we returned home.

This trip was a wonderful prize and deeply appreciated by both my mother and myself. We have so many memories, and of course, an urge to return to New York City again. Our sincere thanks and grateful appreciation for such a memorable trip are extended to all of those who so graciously feted us.

director found the right angle. It took a half hour. First a production assistant was behind the wheel. Then the advertising representative. Later the director was seen jockeying the car.

To give better lighting around the wheels, a prop man was busy brushing white paint under the fenders. At the direction of the cameraman who sighted through the viewfinder of his camera, a prop man sprayed a dull coating on the car over bright reflections from the sun.

Buick dealer Jack Selle isn't quite sure why they selected his agency to shoot the film, but he wasn't objecting. It provided him and his customers some fine entertainment for three days. He was told that his building was "right" for the job.

It is highly improbable that the community will be given a credit line for furnishing the site and brilliant lighting for the Buick film. After all, this IS Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. John Oldenburg, 418 Blunk, and father Frank Oldenburg returned Friday from a two-week trip to Colorado Springs, Denver and Pike's Peak where they made snowballs.

To Open New A & P

Refrigeration plays a leading role in the company's efforts to hold quality of perishable items at a peak from the standpoint of both taste and nutrition.

Another major feature of particular interest is the frozen foods department, which will carry a comprehensive line of fresh-frozen fruits and vegetables, juices and ice cream.

In addition to departments for meat, produce, dairy, bakery, frozen foods, candy and ice cream, the store will also feature such extras as health and beauty aids and non-food items.

Quick and efficient shopping characterizes the design and layout of the new super market. Nine checkout stands, including one express, will facilitate shopping on busy weekends. A paved parking lot for approximately 200 cars is included in the design for quick shopping.

The store will be under the management of William Chapman, an A & P employee for almost 20 years. With the assistance of Gene Bureham, he will direct a staff of some 60 employees.

Chapman started with the food chain in 1937 as a grocery clerk, and has spent his entire career with A & P in the Detroit area stores.

He received his first managerial appointment in 1942, and has been manager of the store located at 882 W. Ann Arbor Trail since March 1952.

Today's super market represents a world of change from the one-man store that typified the food business when Chapman started as a grocery clerk. "The transformation has been terrific," he says. "One man cannot possibly do the job anymore. It takes a good organization and plenty of team work. You must have a first-string team all the way."

A native of Farmington, he is married to the former Helen McLaughlin of Detroit. They have six children - Judith Ann, 15; William, 13; Catherine, 9; Margaret, 5; Thomas, 4 and David, 10 months. A veteran of World War II, he was an Army sergeant and spent one year in the Philippines.

Test Weed Killer

which is mixed with water before application, was developed by the Geigy Chemical Company, the same firm that developed DDT. The company is a Swiss concern with American headquarters in New York City.

Three years ago the chemical was given to experimentation stations for testing under controlled conditions. This is the first time Simazin has been authorized for use by the Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State University. Before it is to be sold commercially the chemical will have to be approved by the Government under the Food and Drug Act.

Farmer support for the wonder drug has been enthusiastic. Sidney Eastin, after watching his experimental row prosper, said, "I'd guess that Simazin is worth $35 an acre to a farmer. All you have to do is plant the crop and then spray. There's no time consumed in the usual two or three cultivations and believe me, that's worth money to any farmer."

One of the most interesting aspects of the whole operation is the fact that the ground develops a hard crust after baking under a hot sun. This crust prevents oxygen from entering the soil in normal amounts as during normal cultivation when the top soil is aerated.

Smith pointed out this paradox and added, "results seem even more spectacular when you consider the large rainfall we've had here recently. The ground has been hardened under the rain and in the Eastin field part of the experimental plot was under water for several days."

Whether or not Simazin will work on anything else but corn is a job for the experimental department of the extension service, Smith added.

Besides local enthusiasm for the new weed killer Dr. Stanley K. Ries, chairman of weed control committee at Michigan State University, generated some when he said, "This is the first time we've ever had a chemical where everyone testing it has had good results."

New England is the most highly developed industrial area in the entire Western Hemisphere. With only 2 per cent of the nation's land area and 6 per cent of its population, the region does almost 10 per cent of the country's manufacturing.

The gas utility and pipe-line industry will reach annual net income of $1,030,000,000, it is predicted.

State Hospital Patients to Give Variety Show

Plymouth residents are being invited to attend the patient variety production, "County Fair," at Northville State Hospital this Thursday night, July 25, at 7:30 o'clock. There is no admission charge.

"This is an opportunity to spend an enjoyable evening viewing some fine entertainment," according to Mrs. Carolyn Seefeld, director of social services. The patients, ranging in age from 15 to 50, have produced and written the show under the guidance of Mrs. Snyder of the music therapy department.

The show is refreshing in its approach and there are a number of talented performers. It will last about two hours and includes singing, dancing and some dramatic bits.

For many patients this is a chance to demonstrate their acting abilities and they do this with enthusiasm and zest. Three performances are given, two being staged for patients who wish to attend. In previous years the variety show was well received.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Schoeure of Toledo, Ohio, were recent guests for Sunday dinner at the home of Nancy and Phil Snowberger on Oregon.

If the kids on Vermont avenue suddenly seem to have grown a foot taller it is because Dick Briggs, father of Nancy, Aileen, Lloyd and Ricky wasn't content to just make stunts for his own children and made a pair for just about every kid on the block over five years old!

Balloons, lemonade, birthday cake and hamburgers, not to mention presents made up the evening's entertainment Wednesday, July 17 when Betty Dana gave a back yard barbeque party in honor of her father Mr. L. C. Starr who was celebrating his birthday. Grandma Starr was there too, and Laurie, Kristy and Johnny had as much fun as Grandpa at the party.

40,000 Traffic Deaths

The sinking of the Titanic, the Chicago fire and the San Francisco earthquake were headlines of yesteryear—and they won't soon be forgotten.

But the combined death toll from those and 49 other major disasters since 1865 is only 28,094—far short of the 40,000 persons killed in motor vehicle accidents in 1956, according to "Accident Facts," statistical yearbook of the National Safety Council, just off the press.

Potter
reports

... the latest news from Washington
of special interest to Michigan ...

MAYFLOWER II, famous replica of the ship which brought the Pilgrims to Plymouth Rock, may sail the St. Lawrence Seaway, calling at Michigan ports. Now being discussed in London is my invitation to bring the historical vessel into Lake waters.

May I present the idea to Captain Alan Villiers, world-famed skipper who sailed the Mayflower across the Atlantic, and Mr. Warwick Charlton, founder of the project, both were enthusiastic. "Certainly the magnificent gesture of friendship which you have extended to the people of this nation," my invitation reads, "should be completed by bringing the Mayflower II into the industrial and spiritual heartland of America."

Such a voyage would focus world attention on the Seaway and the new Mackinac Bridge. As the Mayflower II anchored at Detroit, Port Huron, Saginaw Bay, Muskegon, Benton Harbor and other ports, she would be a spectacular tourist attraction all the way. Many of her original crew have dispersed and I hope that an experienced Great Lakes crew with a complement of Michigan Sea Scouts would be recruited to man her.

It's possible, but not probable, that plans could be worked out before the Seaway opens. More likely is an early spring voyage. Right now Mayflower II is moored in New York harbor, attracting thousands of tourists, as she awaits formal transfer to Plymouth on Thanksgiving. Michigan tourist officials already are visualizing a series of pageants to greet the famous ship as she sails into our waters.

I expect to be in touch with Secretary of State Dulles on further plans.

MY TWO-YEAR FIGHT to handcuff "onion operators" is almost won. The Potter bill, making it illegal to speculate in onion futures, has been okayed by agriculture subcommittees of both House and Senate. Michigan's onion farmers, caught in a price squeeze brought on by manipulators who gamble and get rich on perishable onions, can look forward to relief before long. Onion speculation is a smelly business, and I use the word advisedly. Passage of my bill will put a stop to it.

LONG AGO a powerful Indian tribe from the Upper Peninsula attacked a Lower Peninsula tribe, killing all but seven warriors, and retired to the Manitow Islands. The seven followed the victors and, in the darkness, almost wiped out their conquerors. The slaughter was blamed on evil spirits and no Indian could be induced to live on the Manitow thereafter.

Moving at 186,000 miles per second, a flash of light could move across the U.S. six times before you blinked your eyes once.

Kalmar Castle in southwest Sweden was for centuries an important border fortress.

Men In Service

John R. Heiskala

John R. Heiskala, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Heiskala of 620 Penniman Ave., graduated from recruit training July 13, at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The graduation exercises, marking the end of nine weeks of "boot camp," included a full dress parade and review before military officials and civilian dignitaries.

In nine weeks of instruction, the "raw recruit" is developed into a Navy Bluejacket, ready for duty with the fleet.

Pfc. Richard D. White

Army PFC Richard D. White, son of Mrs. Marion M. White, 14695 Bradner road recently participated in a 20-day field training exercise with the 10th Infantry Division's 85th Regiment in Germany.

White, a rifleman in the regiment's Company L, entered the Army in June 1956 and was last stationed at Fort Ord, Calif. The 19-year-old soldier attended Plymouth High School.

Beethoven, the German musical composer who died in 1827, had his first composition published when he was 13 years old.

Wooden cigar-store Indians in the United States have dwindled to about 3,000 from 100,000 in 1900.

Saving the Big Ones

Conservation Department fish workers revive a largemouth bass netted during chemical treatment of a southern Michigan lake. The chemical treatment is designed to improve fish populations in overcrowded lakes by killing off excess panfish, allowing survivors to attain normal growth rates. When these "stunted fish lakes" are treated, many bass and other large gamefish are revived for replanting in the lake.

Beware of Phone Solicitations, Chamber States

Several "boiler room" telephone solicitations are in progress in the Plymouth area in connection with the sale of goods and services, according to a report from the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

In this type of sales promotion scheme, a cheap room is hired and several telephone instruments are installed with local girls employed to call every residence listed in the telephone book. Expert salesmen follow up leads which may be uncovered.

The local Chamber of Commerce said it was not implying that all firms using this sales promotion method are "shady" or "fly-by-night", but suggested that householders call the Chamber office for additional information before inviting salesmen into their homes following one of these calls.

Legitimate organizations usually have no reluctance to register all the facts of their proposition with the Chamber while those who have some "catch" or "gimmick" will rarely do so.

Veterans of Foreign Wars

Our yearly Trip to the National Home at Eton Rapids is planned for August 18, everyone is asked to attend. Please bring canned goods for the home to our next regular meeting. Call Helen Bowring 3078J for further information.

The second week of their vacation days at camp Woodbury in Dexter, Michigan is drawing to an end for Edward Bartel, Kenneth Stevens and Chuck Olson. The boys report they are having a wonderful time and participating in many activities.

More than 3,000 sons and daughters of deceased veterans attended school last year under the new War Orphans Education program, the VA says. This year enrollments are expected to be double that figure and in four years, an estimated 25,000 children will be eligible to attend. Students who intend to apply for the coming term are reminded that it takes about a month from the date an application is filed to the date VA gives final approval. Early action will also prevent disappointment about attending the school of the students choice, the VA says. Generally speaking, the program is for young men and women between 18 and 23 years of age, the children of war veterans who died of conditions caused by military service. They may receive up to 36 months of education and up to $110.00 per month allowance for each month of school complete. Education may be taken in colleges and universities and below college level.

schools which equip students for definite vocational objectives. Payments begin October 1, this year. Congratulations to Adele Stevens for winning a cash award for her community service notebook in department competition.

Forest's Under New Ownership

Friday and Saturday Forest Motor Sales, Inc., of 1094 South Main will hold an open house celebrating new ownership and an exclusive Dodge Dealership. The new owner, Richard Wisniewski, is by no means new to Plymouth for he has been in business in the surrounding area for many years. Wisniewski was service manager of Forest Motor before he became owner in April of this year. Previous to joining Forest's in 1951, he operated Lou's Standard Service station on Plymouth and Wayne roads in Livonia, which he still owns. Before that he operated Plymouth Greenhouses at his home, 39866 Joy road in Plymouth Township. He moved there from Richmond, Mich., in 1939.

Mr. Wisniewski's 17-year-old son, Richard, has begun learning the ropes in the servicing department this summer. The new dealership is part of the Chrysler Corporation plan to separate dual automobile franchises.

Washington Reporting

BY MARTHA GRIFFITHS

It has frequently occurred to me that you might like to know what your fellow constituents consider most interesting.

Recently my daily mail has been filled with letters from people raising objections to the rising cost of living. For the ninth straight month in a row your cost of living has increased. Inflation affects all of us but the pinch is immediately felt by our retired people who must live on fixed pensions or incomes and of course by the people on fixed salaries.

Recently I voted against a bill to provide $14 million so that a Federal Flood Insurance Program could get underway. We need some type of a flood insurance program. We need this in our district where many homeowners are periodically faced with the flood damage of River Rouge. In my opinion the measure presented was not practicable and the rates were anything but reasonable. Under the bill, houses could have been insured for up to $10,000—but at a cost of approximately $300 a year. And if flood damage did occur—the home owner was to pay the first $500 of his loss plus 5 per cent of the remaining loss. Just how many families could afford this type of flood insurance every year.

Asphalt, one of the oldest known minerals, was used for waterproofing Noah's Ark and for waterproofing the basket in which Moses was found. It served as cement in the building of the Tower of Babel, and waterproofing for the walls of the Hanging Gardens of Babylon. One of the modern uses is to protect roof surfaces. Roof coatings with an asphalt base are serving an important function in the American economy by keeping watertight the roofs of many factories.

Loops Tell Story Of Terry Cloth

Once relegated only to towel-making, terry cloth has been persistently making inroads into the field of wearing apparel. With terry cloth now being used in summer sports clothes, as well as in beach robes, bags and towels, textile experts at American Institute of Laundering, research and education center of the professional laundry industry, offer these guides in choosing terry cloth garments.

Terry cloth can be either woven or knit. A knit terry cloth will easily stretch and, in most cases, will be plain on the reverse side. Woven terry cloth has loops on both sides of the fabric and is very firm. Woven terry tends to have more stability than the knit cloth and is also more absorbent because the loops appear on both sides of the fabric. Close, thickly-packed loops always afford greater drying capacity.

To test terry cloth for long wear, hold it up to the light. If tiny points of lights show through, the cloth has a close, even weave and will give good service. If patches of light show through, the fabric is loosely woven and will not wear well. More light will show through white terry cloth than through dark colored or patterned cloth.

Textile experts also note that a great amount of terry cloth is being sold by the yard. Home-makers have their choice of a wide range of solid colors, as well as stripes, plaids and varied designs. The experts issue this note of warning to homemakers buying terry cloth yard goods: Find out whether the cloth has been preshrunk. If it has not, have the cloth laundered one or more times before making it into a garment to avoid shrinkage after the article is completed.

In 1956, 11 Michigan people were killed in highway tractor accidents. Keep tractors under control and at safe speeds on the highway. As a tractor's speed is increased from 3 to 6 miles per hour, the hazard of its tipping over is four times as great.

Art Teacher To Exhibit in 'Little Show'

The works of Stanley Hench, elementary art teacher at Allen, Bird, Smith and outlying schools, will be displayed in the first of a series of "Little Shows" planned by the Little Gallery in Birmingham. The exhibit will run from July 29 to August 31, every day from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. except Sundays.

Born in Fort Wayne, Ind., he studied at the Pittsburgh Art Institute, the American Academy of Art and the Art Institute, both of Chicago. He has exhibited in the art museums of Indianapolis, South Bend, Fort Wayne, Detroit and Chicago. He formerly taught art at Birmingham before coming to the Plymouth school system.

BIG news with Pat Weaver starting a new network... Pat was the big imagination behind many of NBC's top TV shows today until it all got too commercial for him and he backed out to go on his own... He will use independent stations around the country to link his new network together and the new things are going, what this network needs most in the TV line is a fourth national network with new ideas... It's difficult to believe that TV is only eight years old (coast-to-coast, that is)... First time we ever saw an eight-year-old so battered and worn... No wonder people are going in more for PLATTER CHATTER CAPITOL: Peggy Lee gives a rock beat to her latest biscuit, "Baby, Baby, Wait for Me"... Flip side has "Every Night"... Tommy Sands, latest teen crush, keeps soaring with "Goin' Steady" backed by "Ring My Phone"... The latter song was introduced by Tommy on his second Kraft Theatre appearance recently... Jean Shepherd does well with "The Other Woman" and "Under Suspicion"... An oldie, "There'll Be Some Changes Made," is done up brown by Dolores Gray, who revived it for her role in "Designing Woman"... Flip has "Fool's Errand"... MERCURY: Freddie Bell does a cute original that may hit big, "Hey There You"... It's backed by a rock-'n-roller's delight called "Take the First Train Out of Town"... Georgia Gibbs closes out her contract on this label with a "holier" arrangement of "Sheik of Araby"... Georgia can't do anything wrong... The back side has "I Am a Heart, a Heart, a Heart"... The Platters follow up former successes on Mercury with a top notch, "My Dream"... "I Wanna" is kind of cute on the other side... And for cool days, try Louis Jordan's "Fire" and "Ella Mae."

Plymouth's Business

The big crowds taking advantage of the Summer Clearance Sales now in progress in Plymouth certainly nullify the theory that retail business has to experience hot weather doldrums. F & B Plymouth Sales & Service on Ann Arbor Road is off on the right foot as a good neighbor in Plymouth. They are extensively remodeling the front of their salesroom in keeping with the colonial theme advocated by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

Eckles Lumber and Building Supply Co. will close its doors soon, with an auction sale to dispose of the assets scheduled for early in August.

The lumber company has been a tenant on the property of Eckles Coal and Supply Co., but there is no other connection.

While the lumber company has decided to go out of business, Eckles Coal and Supply (the landlord) this week reported great growth in its own business and plans for expansion. Robert L. Allison reported this week that the fuel company's sales have doubled during the past 18 months and coal sales have shown a slight increase, despite slumping coal deliveries almost every where in the country.

Allison said he is considering "many applicants" for the space which will be vacated by the lumber company.

W. Bakhaus of Plymouth recently purchased five purebred Aberdeen-Angus cows from Paul L. Good of Van Wert, Ohio.

Milt Orr, owner of bustling Bill's Market, is rather in a quandry as to where to vacation. It seems that he took a trip around the world last year and don't know where to go this year!

All long range forecasts by local public utilities officials are in the not too distant future, Plymouth will be the business hub of a wide surrounding area.

Toys for Orphans Made by Patients

Under the guidance of Sonya Campeau, U.N. patients in the Intensive Treatment Unit at Northville State Hospital have made over 100 toys. They were made as part of a two month Occupational Therapy project.

The toys are to be given to the Vincent Orphanage in Port-au-Prince, Haiti. At present, there are 104 children in the Orphanage, many of them victims of Hurricane Hazel, nearly two years ago.

The patients decided upon the Vincent Orphanage when they heard Carolyn Seefeldt, director of social service at the hospital, tell of the necessity for such articles at the orphanage. Mrs. Seefeldt said that many of the children had never seen a doll. The orphanage is operated by nuns and derives its financial aid from the International Country Club. The club is operated by a retired U. S. Navy Commander who is a friend of the Seefeldt's.

The toys were on display in the lobby of the hospital last weekend, in order to give friends and relatives of the patients concerned an opportunity to view them. They were then packaged for shipment to Haiti.

About 200 mining firms in the United States produce more than one million tons each year on a basis of each unit. Daily coal output is said to be in excess of one million tons.

SOCIAL NOTES

Miss Molly Groth of 311 North Harvey was honored Friday evening July 19, with a linen shower given by Mrs. George J. Gottschalk, Mrs. Donald Gottschalk and Mrs. George F. Gottschalk in the home of Mrs. Robert Gottschalk on Haggerty road. After games and the presentation of gifts, refreshments were served. About 25 guests from Williams-ton, Northville, South Lyons and Plymouth attended.

David Richard Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Martin of Five Mile road was baptized at St. Michael's Church in Livonia Sunday, July 21. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Chafe of Garden City were David's godparents. Following the baptism a dinner was served at the Martin home for the godparents and their children Jerry, Ellen and Becky. Also present were David's brothers Gary and Stephen.

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

MRS. WILLIAM H. RAMBO spreads a rich topping on her favorite recipe, Blitz Kuchen. Mrs. Rambo is well-known as a good cook, especially during the hunting season, when preparation of fowl is her specialty.

Whipped Cream, Fruit, Nuts Top Blitz Kuchen

The very rich and luscious-looking Blitz Kuchen is a favorite in the William H. Rambo household at 167 South Harvey, Mr.

Rambo and 17 year-old son, William, enjoy eating anything Mrs. Rambo prepares, especially this whipped cream topped cake.

Here is Mrs. Rambo's recipe:

Blitz Kuchen

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup butter
- 4 egg yolks, well beaten
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1 heaping teaspoon baking powder
- 5 tablespoons milk

- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 4 egg whites
- 1 cup sugar

Cream 1/2 cup sugar and butter together until lemon colored. Add beaten egg yolks, milk, vanilla and beat well. Add flour and baking powder. Pour into two layer pans. Beat egg whites and cup of sugar until stiff meringue. Spread on top of layer. Bake 30 minutes in a slow oven, 325 degrees.

When thoroughly cooled put together with the following mixture.

- 1/2 pint whipping cream
- 1 tablespoon powdered sugar
- 1 cup nut meats (pecans finely chopped)
- 12 marshmallows, cut in small pieces
- 1 small can of crushed pineapple
- 1 small bottle maraschino cherries cut fine

Place one layer meringue-side down on cake plate. Spread half of the above mixture on the cake, placing the remaining layer meringue-side up. Use the remaining mixture on the top.

A Woman's Eye View

by Nancy Rigney

Twelve-year-old Janellen Smith is pretty thrilled about a letter she received telling her that a dress she made will represent the county in the state 4-H show in East Lansing. She entered the dress in the district show and the Wayne County show in Northville and copped blue ribbons at both. Janellen, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Smith, 977 Dewey.

A telephone ad in the January 4, 1907 Plymouth Mail boasted of plans to expand to 1,200 stations in Plymouth before August. Complete service to all points in Michigan was offered, plus night and day service for the flat rate of $12 a year.

Phosphates were the rage. Pickney's drugstore advertised weekly on the front page, inviting the townspeople to try their latest flavors. The front page also featured "Breezy Items by Live Correspondents." Ever present too, was a serial story such as "The March of the White Guard" by Sir Gilbert Parker (installment VI).

The women's page offered an item from Sweden on shampooing hair that began thus, "The up-to-date girl currys combs her hair now." First a vigorous combing was required, with a piece of leather studded with short flexible metal teeth "slanted sufficiently so as not to scratch the scalp." Next part the hair and shake in an absorbent powder to cleanse. Brush thoroughly with a Russian hog's hair brush. This process, called the 'swedish shampoo,' was recommended to take the place of soap and water.

A joke from the April 10, 1908 issue, entitled "Going Ahead," reads:

"No Sir," said the manager, "no house in the country. I'm proud to say, has more men pushing its line of goods than ours."

"What do you sell?" the other asked.

"Mail-carts."

NEW BOOKS LENDING LIBRARY At The Wayne County

"Silver Spoon" by Edwin Gilbert—A dramatic exploration into the realm of great wealth through the experiences of a young lady photographer assigned to do a story on an old and prominent family.

"Missy" by Dorothy James Roberts—A love story of a woman in conflict with her family. Missy is a simple and sincere girl who must fit into the ways of her society-minded cousin.

"You Can't Get There from Here" by Ogden Nash—This is the first collection of Nash's poems since "The Private Dining Room" of 1953.

"The Big War" by Anton Myrer—A novel of the varied men and outlooks on life gathered in the South Pacific during the war World War II.

"Blue Camelia" by Frances Parkinson Keyes—Although the setting is Louisiana, the excitement of New Orleans or the oil-rich River Road are not a part of this novel. It is the story of pioneering men, women and children in the southwest farming area of Louisiana.

"The Mandarins" by Simone de Beauvoir (translated from French)—A novel of love and ideas in a France newly freed, from German occupation. Miss de Beauvoir is known as one of France's great novelists.

"Albert Sweitzer" by Jean Pierhal—The life story of one of the few 'universal' men of our time and the jungle hospital he created in French Equatorial Africa.

"The Bushman Who Came Back" by Arthur W. Upfield—This crime club selection deals with the kidnapping of a seven year-old child and the slaying of her mother. The setting is Australia.

"Onionhead" by Weldon Hill—A compelling novel of the Coast Guard—America's first seagoing outfit with a tradition that has been neglected in fiction.

"How to Build Outdoor Fireplaces and Furniture"—A new do-it-yourself book, complete with detailed plans for easy to build barbecues, smoke ovens, porch furniture, recipes and an up-to-date barbecue buying guide.

Who's New in Plymouth

ORGAN MUSIC is often heard around the Calvin Mason home at 15074 Finch in Plymouth Township. Mrs. Mason plays and Mr. Mason does the listening. Storm warnings and floods kept Mason busy as supervisor of the Wayne office of the Detroit Edison Company around the 11th and 12th and prevented the Mail from taking their picture twice. The Masons moved to Plymouth after living in Farmington for 22 years. A transfer to the Wayne office required Mason to live in Wayne County.

Blue Cross—What To Do?

It was easier to enjoy ill health until the "system" that paid the bills got sick itself. The system got its start as a prepaid medical insurance plan to help those who needed the services pay doctor and hospital bills. Logically, the doctors and hospitals then would be paid, the sick would be made well again and the economy of the whole operation would remain sound.

In recent years, the rates of Blue Cross and Blue Shield hospitalization policies have climbed—to pay for overuses, and some abuses of the system. Even the fiscal experts are puzzled now.

The latest rate increase—averaging 12 per cent, came July 5 and touched off another series of investigations. At present, the University of Michigan, a special commission named by Gov. Williams, a legislative committee, and the Michigan State Medical Society—all are investigating.

"In order to maintain solvency of the hospital plan and to assure sufficient income to provide for increased hospital costs . . . Insurance Commissioner Joseph A. Navarre approved the rates.

He added that the rates proposed are commensurate with the benefits provided by the medical plan."

Evidence of abuse by patients and by doctors and the hospitals has been developed by a legislative committee which reported last year, then threw up its hands. Doctors and hospitals complained that patients were misusing the services, making needless demands on doctors and hospitals.

Patients grumbled that they received "the works," x-rays, special care and diets for relatively minor ills—after officials determined they were covered by Blue Cross and Blue Shield policies.

Navarre said that the number of Blue Cross members going to the hospital increased from 146 per each 1,000 members to 151 since 1956. Hospital care costs rose from $25.96 in 1956 to $28.60. As a result, Blue Cross paid out $1,800,000 more than it received in the first five months of 1957.

Navarre said that Blue Cross and Blue Shield "is caught in the price spiral like other commodities which are sought and provided, through social and economic instrumentalities."

The system, he said, is starting an experiment to apply insurance to out-patient care—apparently to reduce the number and extent of the abuse caused by patients going to hospitals for expensive treatment.

The Michigan Medical Society, whose members have a direct stake in the system, is launching the latest investigation. The Michigan Health Council, a voluntary health education organization, is conducting the survey.

It is designated "to find out what people want from Blue Cross and what it is expected to do," said one spokesman. The Society will pay more than $30,000 for the survey, using its own resources for a direct-mail poll of thousands of citizens.

The findings will be interesting, as they have been in the past. But the Society and others feel that they will be of more than academic interest this time.

Citizens can be expected to want more, and more expensive services, more elaborate hospital care for less money. Doctors and hospital administrators—human though scientific—are expected to want what the patients want, but can be expected to be far apart on the money phase.

Hospital and medical care are expensive, but all sides are eager to find a practical solution.

Reports will be made in the fall to the Society, which in turn, promises to make public the findings.

I have long had a sneaking suspicion that healthy oldsters get more fun out of life than youngsters. To put my theory to a test I have just used two neighbors as guinea pigs. One is "Doc"—a retired dentist of 76. The other is Jack—who delivers newspapers and is just 16. Two days ago I gave each of these males a small notebook with a pencil attached and asked them to jot down the next day, in 1-2-3 order of occurrence, everything they did that gave them a definite, unmistakable sense of fun or pleasure.

Their first reaction was to look at me as though I had lost my marbles, but they apparently decided to humor me for they agreed to cooperate.

At 8:00 this morning I was out in the yard when Jack came by on his bike. "Here's the dope you wanted," he said with a grin tossing me his notebook. He waited as I opened it and read aloud the following five entries describing his pleasures of the previous day:

"1. Going down to Ferguson's to see the Italian sports car in the window. 2. Playing baseball in the back lot with the gang. 3. Went on my bike with a couple of friends out to the new construction job at the edge of town. 4. Had a couple of chocolate sodas at the drugstore. 5. Watched TV for an hour before going to bed."

As Jack's pleasures seemed rather paltry I asked if this was a complete list. He assured me it was and said these were the only incidents of the day that seemed worth recording.

Later in the morning "Doc" came by with his notebook which listed these thirteen specific pleasures of the previous day:

"1. Enjoyed seeing the sun stream into my bedroom when I awoke. 2. Had some delicious pancakes and coffee with my wife out on the sun porch. 3. Cleaned out the garage—I enjoy seeing things neat and orderly. 4. Transplanting two rose bushes to make way for my new driveway. 5. Lying in the backyard hammock for a few lazy minutes watching two blue jays fight. 6. Relishing that swiss steak my wife fixed for lunch. 7. Taking a snooze after lunch in my contour chair. 8. Driving my wife downtown past the lake with the beautiful swans. 9. Poking around the hardware store picking out parts for a door chime I'm building. 10. Driving home pleasantly anticipating two dinner guests. 11. Enjoying a roast chicken dinner with our friends. 12. Conversing for a couple hours after dinner. 13. Crawling into bed and thinking how pleasant it is to hit the sack after a busy day."

"You may have inspired me to keep a list like that every day," said "Doc" after I read the entries in his notebook. "I didn't realize I was getting so much pleasure out of my retirement."

"Life Begins at Forty"

IT TAKES TIME AND EXPERIENCE to learn to savor the simple satisfactions within our reach. Youngsters are blessed with energy and strength but their experiences are limited and their senses are not yet fully developed.

Wild Animals Vanishing

ANN ARBOR—Nothing stays the same in this world, and that goes for Michigan's wildlife, too.

So says William H. Burt, curator of Mammals at the University of Michigan.

"Several mammals—large and conspicuous ones, at that—have disappeared entirely, or in part, from the state," he says. "The wolverine, marten, fisher, cougar, caribou and bison are probably gone. The elk has been introduced and re-established in the state, but the original herd is no longer here."

According to the University professor, "The timber wolf, lynx, and moose are now restricted to Isle Royale or to the wilder parts of the Upper Peninsula. All these formerly could be found throughout the state."

What happened? "Members of this group of animals, valued for fur or meat, have been the victims not only of changed habitats but of the trap and gun," he says.

The black bear, river otter, beaver, white-tailed deer, and bobcat haven't fared so well either. "Still abundant in the northern parts of the state, they have disappeared from southern farming districts. Some were just about wiped out at one time but wise conservation methods have brought them nearly to their former numbers," Professor Burt explains.

Other animals profited by the clearing of the land. Some species followed the clearings northward and so increased their respective ranges.

"At least four species, the prairie mole, striped ground squirrel, prairie deer mouse, and cottontail are known to have followed the clearings northward and now are to be found over most of the Lower Peninsula," says Professor Burt. Other mammals have been able to keep to their original ranges but with some ups and downs. "The opossum undoubtedly has increased in abundance. It was considered rare in the state until about 1900.

Now it is one of the commonest of the larger mammals in the southern four tiers of counties.

"The gray squirrel and woodchuck, although still present in all parts of the state, have been reduced in numbers over much of the area—the gray squirrel because of the restricted woodland habitat' and the woodchuck because of the constant vigilance of the farmer with his 22-caliber rifle." Professor Burt says.

The sale-water crocodile of Australia's tropical streams reaches 30 feet in length.

Stop, Look, Listen When Buying House

"The street where you live" deserves a lot of consideration when it comes to buying your house.

The neighborhood should meet your own individual needs and desires, tells Coral Morris, home management specialist at Michigan State University. Drive around the neighborhood at night as well as day; talk to the people who live there. As you investigate, consider these points:

Is it well kept and attractive? What does the standard of living seem to be? By the looks of the size and condition of the house, the cars parked in front of them and the neatness of the lawns do you feel that the standard of living is similar to your own?

Transportation facilities are another problem, especially if the house is located far from work, shopping and schools. What facilities are available: how long would it take to get where you want to go; and how much would it cost?

Safety is still another factor. Are the streets well lighted and patrolled? Would you feel safe to walk home at night? Is the house located on a busy street or highway which might be dangerous for the children?

A neighborhood that is too noisy may not be a pleasant place to live. Find out if there are any factories, or heavy traffic routes near your prospective home. It may save you many a sleepless night!

You must look ahead and think of the future value of your property. Main considerations in regard to this are zoning regulations and building restrictions. Industrial odors, smoke and fumes are important factors in determining the appearance, atmosphere and value of your property.

Choosing a location may mean balancing time and money spent going to and from work with other family needs. Many people willingly add travel minutes to their schedules in order to have more space and to give their families more freedom in daily living. Miss Morris concludes that selecting the right neighborhood is an individual problem; it must be right for you.

Home Fix-Up Racketeers On The Prowl Again

More than 500 million dollars will be paid by homeowners this year to the "home fix-up racketeers", who promise the homeowner bargains in termite-proofing, kitchen reconstruction, roofing, etc., according to the editors of Changing Times magazine.

The fast talkers in the house renovation and repair business have many tricks. One of them, according to the editors, is to promise cut-rates to those who will permit their homes to be photographed for "advertising" purposes. The offer is hedged with so many conditions that inevitably the full price must be paid.

Often such racketeers conceal many of the changes in the fine print in the contract, or offer worthless guarantees and then skip to the next town.

To guard against such operators, the magazine advises:

1. Don't bite at super-bargains. Ask for the names of four or five previous customers that you can check with.
2. If the company is not known to you, check its standing with your local bank or the Chamber of Commerce. This is essential if dealing with out of town or itinerant firms.
3. Read the contract twice before signing. Demand a duplicate of what you sign, with the contractor's signature on it.
4. Don't sign the completion certificate, indicating the job meets with your approval, until you have satisfied yourself that it's in accord with the contract or sales agreement.

DESIGN C-468. This plan achieves circulation without the use of a long hall. The three bedrooms have large wardrobe type closets. Adjoining the kitchen, space has been provided for the washer and dryer. In the family area, a folding door can be used to separate the dining area and form a guest room, study or private playing area.

The exterior consists of asphalt shingles on a hip roof, picture window with planter beneath, covered front entrance, wide horizontal siding and wood shutters. Floor area is 1360 square feet and cubage is 25,160 cubic feet. Plan calls for a full basement.

Painting of Big Suspension Bridges Is Full-Time Job

Drivers crossing the Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco and the George Washington Bridge in New York are accustomed to seeing painters wielding their brushes daily at some point on these two magnificent models of architectural magic.

Rain or shine, fog or high wind, painting crews work on the bridges eight hours a day, five days a week, fifty-two weeks a year. When the weather is not good for work outside, they turn their skill to the hundreds of small cells in the towers, or to the inside struts, I-beams and hold-downs—all of which must have regular coatings of weather-resistant paint to keep the steel in perfect condition.

The George Washington Bridge—six years older than the somewhat longer San Francisco span—marked its twenty-fifth anniversary last fall. There was little birthday celebrating, however, since the bridge, in typical work-a-day mood, carried some 100,000 automobiles—not counting buses and trucks—across the mighty Hudson which it so gracefully spans.

STIR IT WELL

Always stir the contents of a paint can before using. When stirring enamels especially, be sure to stir the pigment thoroughly, but not too vigorously. The best procedure is to pour the top two-thirds into another container and stir the remainder carefully. Then, continuing the stirring, return the poured-off liquid back into the original can. If a skin has formed on top of the can remove it all before stirring. Should any part of the skin remain, pour the entire quantity through a strainer you obtain from your paint dealer. You can also use a piece of wire screen or an old section of hosiery for the purpose.

Bridge authorities, in their determination to use the very best paints available, conduct constant research to determine what type coating is most suitable for each purpose. In the case of the Golden Gate Bridge, over 1,500 samples of paint have been tested since the span first went into construction in 1933. These tests determine which coatings will best stand up to heavy fog, rain and hot sun over the years. The tests are carried on systematically on a weight block on the San Francisco side of the bridge, where rain, wind, fog, salt water and heat of the sun show up the damage they can do to paint.

A few statistics will give an idea of the massive job painters face in keeping these bridges in trim condition. The George Washington Bridge, for example, at midspan affords a 248-foot clearance above the Hudson. Two impressive steel towers, weighing more than 43,000 tons, reach 600 feet above the river.

Some 105,000 miles of wire make up the four main suspension cables—enough wire to circle the globe four times. To date, over $76,300,000 has been spent by the New York Port Authority in the construction, modification and improvement of the bridge. It recently received its fourth coat of bright paint, which took two years to complete at a comparatively modest cost of $350,000.

Bridge painting is not easy. It is often type work. The painter works high up on the outside. The men wear heavy canvas coveralls and other special clothing.

The painters work in groups, accompanied by young men who will eventually become full-fledged journeymen painters. It takes time to learn the workings of the bridge, rope-tying and the special safety requirements. The Bridge Authorities have waiting lists of men who are eager to become members of the painting crews—proof enough that painting is a fascinating job.

Color In Your Fence

Want a bit of variety in a solid estate type fence? Then build small frames of 2x6 Douglas fir or western red cedar and nail them firmly to solid fence wall at odd heights and distances along the fence. Paint the frames in bright oranges, reds and yellows and use them for shelves for potted flowers and plants. The solid estate type fence of either fir or cedar may be left to weather or it may be painted some neutral color. The contrasting color of the square frames will make your fence distinctive and beautiful.

AN UNUSUAL DECOR

A large living room seen recently in a western city was done in a delightful monotone of pale greenish gray, carpets, walls and woodwork and most of the upholstery, all matching. A mixture of furniture had inspired the owner to use several chairs and small tables finished in Chinese red lacquer. The shade of paint used on the walls picked up the red in a delicate Chinese screen used as a divider.

It's Best to Use Marine Paint For Water Craft

Experienced boaters know that only marine paints should be used when preparing craft for the annual spring and summer fun. A well conditioned boat will pay off in trouble-free sailing on a boat that needs paint is vulnerable to all sorts of damage. Marine paint is specially made to withstand all the punishment a boat must take—submergence in water, salt or fresh, and exposure to scorching sun.

Topside marine paints come in a great variety of colors. White, however, is still highly popular for its spick-and-span appearance.

Copper anti-fouling paints are best for the bottoms of wood boats. Being poisonous to marine growth, they are effective in keeping the undersurface clean. There are numerous other bottom paints, however, for use in fresh water where little or no marine growth occurs. Comparing notes with other boat owners will help you determine which is best for your boat.

Gloss or semi-gloss paint is the best protection for the boat top. Since it is at the water line and requires frequent scrubbing to remove marine growth and oil stains, a harder finish is essential.

Don't try to be the first in the water at the expense of the paint job. Do your painting in mild temperature—45 to 60 degrees. Be sure there is no moisture in the wood or on its surface.

Surfaces should be painted often enough to prevent even a trace of wood deterioration. Good boatmen know it is false economy to postpone the painting job, or to use anything but marine finishes developed for the special requirements of boats.

Trend Turns To Tradition In Kitchens

A new trend is developing in the appearance of kitchens in American homes. For want of a better term, interior designers call it "the traditional look."

"The new kitchen treatment is simply another of the changes which are continually being made as families tire of what they have been living with and want something different," reports the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information.

Discussing the growing trend, the Bureau says:

"Immediately after the end of World War II, the clinically white kitchen disappeared. Color and gleaming metal was almost universally used both in new houses and in older homes which were undergoing renovation."

"Manufacturers of kitchen equipment produced their appliances in a rainbow of colors, and a few years color was an important selling point. Color is still important, but less emphasis is being placed on it and interior designers are using more subdued tones while eliminating a great deal of the bright metal trim. Use of metal in dull tones is growing rapidly."

"Actually, this so-called traditional look is a trend back toward Colonial days. Knotty pine walls and cabinets are growing in favor. Open barbecue grills are being built into kitchens, in lieu of the old time kitchen fireplace. Most cooking is done of course in built-in wall ovens and counter-top ranges, but the open barbecue grill lends an early-day note to the room."

"Floors, particularly, have come in for attention. The old-time wood floor effect is sought, but at the same time housewives insist on the convenience, comfort and durability of smooth-surfaced resilient flooring. They especially want the easy-to-clean features of this type of material."

"As a result, a flooring material manufacturer has developed a flooring which has all the appearance of wood, but is a resilient smooth-surfaced material. The solid vinyl wood-grain planks, 4 inches wide by 36 inches long, have a blending of delicate wood tones which produce the appearance of rich grain and natural growth characteristics of birch, mahogany or teak."

"The planks are laid in random shades and staggered lengths to add even more to the Early American effect. It is even possible to insert cut-outs in the planks to give the appearance of wood pegs."

"In addition to the anti-slip properties of woodgrain solid vinyl planks, they resist grease ink and cleaning fluids. Maintenance is easy, requiring only light soap-and-water mopping, with an occasional waxing to maintain its luster."

Broiling Steaks, Chops

"When using a moderate broiling temperature, steaks, chops and patties need only to be turned once during cooking. When broiling, timing is important and should be watched closely to insure the best results."

For a Picnic . . . Roast of Lamb

All of a sudden, some one says "Let's have a picnic!"—with Sunday's dinner cooking in the electric roaster; rolled roast of lamb, scalloped potatoes, corn and tomato scallop! . . . Ah, but you can take it with you!

With the meat fully cooked in the still-hot roaster, wrap a blanket around it all to stow away in the trunk of the family car. It will taste so much better in the park!

ROLLED ROAST OF LAMB

All your meat dealer to bone, roll, and tie for roasting a shoulder or leg of lamb. Find out the weight of the finished roast. To prepare, push slivers of garlic into deep slits cut in roast with sharp paring knife. Rub roast with cut lemon half. Sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Cook in electric roaster or oven of range at 325° F. about 25 minutes to the pound for "medium". Better still—use a roast meat thermometer. While 182° F. (well-done) is the suggested temperature marked on most thermometers, do try 170° F. for a flavorful, juicy meat with a delicate pink tinge. Follow roaster or range directions for cooking a complete meal with the lamb.

For a picnic, include a thermos bottle of barbecue sauce heated with some butter, and a package of round sandwich buns. Slip a generous slice of the roast lamb between bun halves, topping the lamb with the hot barbecue sauce! Ummm—what a Barbecued Lamb-wich!

Pickles Put Life in Those Party Sandwiches

TANG and surprising flavor—that's what pickles can add to sandwich spreads and tidbits for the party. These three recipes tell the story well.

Pickle Liver Ribbon Sandwiches (About 4 dozen sandwiches)

One 4 1/2-ounce can liver spread, 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion, 1/4 teaspoon sage, 1/4 cup drained sweet pickle relish, 1 tablespoon chili sauce, 2 slices crisp cooked bacon, crumbled, salt to taste, 20 slices white bread.

Combine liver spread, onion, sage, pickle relish, chili sauce and bacon; mix well. Season with salt and chill. Trim crusts from bread and spread 15 slices with liver spread mixture. Put 3 slices bread together to make 5 sandwiches. Top with remaining 5 slices bread. Wrap tightly in waxed paper and chill. Cut into 1/4-inch slices to serve.

Egg and Dill Pickle Spread (About 2 cups spread)

Four hard-cooked eggs, chopped, 1/4 cup chopped green pepper, 1/4 cup chopped dill pickles, 1/4 cup mayonnaise, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon chopped onion. Combine all ingredients. Mix well and chill. Spread on buttered bread or rolls, as desired.

Spley Pickle Crab Spread (About 2 cups spread)

One 8 1/2-ounce can crab meat, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion, 1/2 cup chopped sweet

Party sandwiches like these look and taste good. Lavish use of pickles adds interesting flavor to tidbits and spreads.

fresh cucumber pickles, 1/4 cup finely chopped celery, 1 3-ounce package cream cheese, softened, 2 tablespoons sherry (optional), 1/2 teaspoon salt, pepper to taste, buttered bread squares. Drain and flake crab meat.

Add onion, pickles and celery; mix lightly. Combine cheese and sherry; blend well. Add to crab mixture and mix well. Add salt and pepper. Chill. Spread on bread. Garnish with additional pickles, as desired.

If you have trouble separating egg white from yolk, try breaking it in a small bowl. Only the white will run through.

The modern trend in preparing most vegetables is using as little water as possible and cooking rapidly.

Operation Fears Smoothed Over By Preparation

So your child is going to have an operation.

If you want to save him and yourself some unnecessary grief and misunderstanding, take time to prepare him for his experience and stay in the hospital, a University of Michigan pediatrician advises.

Dr. James L. Wilson, chairman of the Department of Pediatrics and Communicable Diseases at University Hospital states that if parents are honest with the child, and try to explain things to him in a matter of fact, simple way, he will be much happier about the whole experience and so will they. The age of the child, and how much the parents and family physician think he will be able to understand as an individual should be carefully considered.

Dr. Wilson states: "A hospital stay means being away from mother or dad overnight for the first time. Says Dr. Wilson, 'this means that the child should be prepared for this first.' Role playing may help, he adds, to 'remember, the child has a vivid imagination, and too much information too early may place things out of proportion in his mind.'"

Dr. Wilson recommends that parents consult their pediatrician or family doctor on explaining he need for an operation to Johnnie. "Get it clear in your own mind as to exactly why the operation is necessary before trying to explain it to the child," he advises. He suggests that the child need not be told the whole, vivid story.

A little benevolent fibbing is not unadvisable, he adds. Be certain that you know what you are talking about, Dr. Wilson warns, because uncertainty on the part of the parents is likely to create fear in the mind of the very dependent child.

He recommends that parents of a child about to undergo surgery obtain a copy of "Johnnie Goes to the Hospital" written by Josephine Abbott, Secretary of the Children's Medical Center in Boston, Mass. The book can be obtained in book stores. It will help to explain to the child between four and 10 years what happens when he goes into the hospital.

Visit the child as often as possible, Dr. Wilson advises. "If you can accompany the child through the routine of getting established in the children's ward it will be helpful. At least one parent should be with him in the ward when he awakens from anesthesia."

The doctor recommends that hospitals try to make ward care for children as much like normal living as possible. For those children whose parents are not able to accompany them to the hospital, there should be a "hospital friend" designated by the hospital, a nurse, nurse's aide, or possibly even a volunteer, to get acquainted with him and be with him when he goes to surgery, he adds.

If neither parent is there when he awakens from anesthesia, his hospital friend should be there. "It is very reassuring to a young child to have a familiar, friendly face to see when he wakes up, Dr. Wilson comments.

Making the hospital "home" to its hospitalized children is a pet project with Dr. Wilson. He hopes to eventually incorporate his ideas of a "motel" like ward in the new children's center planned for the U-M Medical Center. Here mothers would be able to stay with their children, prepare their meals and be with them as at home, while they receive the highly skilled and technical care available only in a hospital.

An appalling disaster took place Saturday morning in broad daylight when two Pere Marquette trains collided near Salem and 32 lives were lost. It happened shortly after nine o'clock in the morning at Rathburn's crossing about three miles west of Plymouth at a deep curve where neither engineer could see the other.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Cal Whipple, July 23, a girl.

Miss Rose Hawthorne and Mrs. H.C. Robinson will visit St. Clair Flats over Sunday.

George Taylor, Plymouth's baker, had a narrow escape from death yesterday when he was struck by a Pere Marquette engine. Luckily he jumped in time with only a slight injury to one hand. A line of freight cars parked near the crossing prevented him from seeing the on-coming train. His horse was not hurt, but mighty frightened.

Harry Robinson purchased a very good horse in Detroit last week and brought him home. On Tuesday the horse died. Harry says he was just too homesick.

The Misses Carrie and Nettie Riddle, Sadie Hughes, Pearl Jolliffe, Maybelle Smith, Flora Whitebeck, Celia Brown, Elsie Eddy, Frances Cole and her mother, of Plymouth and Miss Blanche Dunham of Ypsilanti, leave today for a trip to Niagara Falls and Buffalo, New York.

Probably no one knows better than undertaker Fred Schrader of the tragedy which struck Plymouth early last Saturday morning. Fred has certainly had one busy week. Beside being one of the first to arrive at the wreck which snuffed out 32 lives, he was asked to prepare for burial the bodies of Fireman Knowles who died on the train; Conductor Pixley, whose body was not found until after the train had left for Ionia; and Simon Rubbles who was killed while riding on the engine of the wrecker in the yards on Saturday evening.

KEEP IT EVEN

In painting the wall of a room, it's best to begin from the window wall and work back into the room so that the reflections on the wet paint will reveal any spots not properly coated. Begin at a break in the wall such as a corner.

Berries in season are usually served with sweet cream. For a different taste treat, try strawberries or blueberries with sour cream and sugar.

Why hasn't he? If he doesn't like you enough to ask you for a date, he shouldn't have accepted your invitations... and probably wouldn't have. Could be ignorance of good manners, but when a boy likes a girl the idea of asking her for a date usually gets through to him.

Is he broke? Few boys are always too broke to buy a soda fountain drink; he can earn that much money if his allowance won't stretch far enough. The only other reason is that possibly he's one of the few people who always accept other people's hospitality, but never give any in return.

Be friendly when you see him, but don't give him any more invitations until he shows some real signs of interest in you. Invite another boy to the dance, even if you have to have a blind date with a girl-friend's cousin.

TIPS FOR TEENS

BY ELINOR WILLIAMS

When a girl has invited a boy to a girls' dance once or twice, and he has never asked her for a date, should she invite him again? It's the query in today's mail and it puzzles more than one high schooler:

Q.—Dear Elinor: I like a boy very much and I'm sure he likes me, too. There is a girl-ask-boy dance soon: I have already invited him to two such dances recently and he has never asked me to a dance, show or anything. Would it be wise for me to ask him for the third time?

Ans.—No!—not after two invitations from you and none from the boy.

If he had good manners, he would have invited you to a dance, party or movie—or at least would have asked you to have a soda or a hamburger—soon after your first invitation.

It's always correct to entertain those who have entertained us.

Pre-Teenagers Going Steady Frowned Upon

Have you accepted the idea of "steady dating" for pre-teens and young teen-agers?

Although this custom of "going steady" is reaching farther down into the grades, parents can do something to keep this trend from getting out of hand, declares Mrs. Lennah K. Backus, parent education specialist at Michigan State University.

One of the greatest hazards of youngsters going steady is that of limiting friendships. This should be a time for socializing with boys and girls. They should meet different kinds of people and come in contact with many different kinds of personalities.

Steady dating, whether it is for a long or a short time, tends to limit the number of boys that a girl may know and vice versa. And to some extent it will limit the friendships of each because of spending a large proportion of time with one person.

What can you, as parents, do? Mrs. Backus suggests that you encourage group activities for your 10 to 15-year-olds. See that they have opportunities to get together in groups. Then, help them to have satisfying times when they take part in group activities.

Encourage a variety of experiences with a variety of friends, suggests Mrs. Backus.

Social pressure can be strong enough to compel steady dating. It appears to become the measure of one's social standing and to be the only thing to do "if you are to rate at all." Often this places an emotional strain on children who are thrown into situations for which they are not ready.

Rather than steady dating brought about by social pressures, let the interest between boys and girls come about naturally. "Going steady" should not be forced upon young people because it is the social custom or because it is urged or seemingly desired by some adults; but because the youngsters have matured to the point that they are ready and interested in such an experience. This point in development will be different for every young person, Mrs. Backus points out.

Security Office Notes of Interest

Social security payments to disabled insured workers 50 to 65 years of age start with the month of July 1957. If you have had at least five years of work under social security but have been unable to work for at least six months, you should file an application to protect your benefit rights. Contact your local security office today at 18260 Grand River ave.

There are over 5 million retired workers receiving social security payments. Under the 1956 amendments to the social security law, almost all workers will be eligible for benefits or retirement in the future. Your local social security office will send you a pamphlet describing the latest changes. Why not ask for it.

Persons who are prevented from working because of a disability should inquire about the disability provisions of the social security law. Those who have previously worked under social security may be entitled to have their earnings records frozen, thus protecting their right to and the amount of their future social security benefits. Those between ages 50 and 65 may be entitled to monthly disability insurance benefits beginning with a payment for July 1957. Those single persons over 18, who have been disabled since before they reached 18 and are dependent on a parent who is entitled to old-age insurance benefits or were dependent on an insured parent who died after 1939, may now be entitled to monthly social security benefits beginning with a payment for January 1957.

Women may now be entitled to social security benefits starting at age 62 as a result of the 1956 amendments to the social security law. Working women and wives who choose to accept benefits before 65 will receive reduced benefits which will continue at a reduced rate after 65. Widows or mothers of deceased insured workers may receive full benefits starting at age 62.

Odds Rise with M.P.H.

If you have an accident while driving 25 m.p.h., the chance of someone being killed is only one in 300. But for each additional 10 m.p.h., you greatly increase the chance for a fatality. The 1957 edition of "Accident Facts," the statistical yearbook of the National Safety Council, shows that the chance of an accident being fatal at 35 m.p.h., is one in 115, at 45, one in 70, at 55, one in 40, at 65, one in 20, and at 75, one in 8.

Bombs Guiltless In Bad Weather Says Scientist

Nuclear bomb explosions are not responsible for recent bad weather, and fallout from tests at the present rate is not a serious danger, a noted nuclear scientist has reported at Michigan State University.

Scientists "are not even in the same ballpark" when it comes to matching nature in energy production, said Dr. Ralph T. Overman, chairman of the special training of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies.

Hurricanes in one second use up energy equal to five hydrogen bombs, and the only weather effect from a bomb test is strictly "local," or confined to the general test area, he stated. Dr. Overman said atomic tests could continue at the present rate until the year 2011 and the increased hazard still would be "insignificant."

The average person, the scientist explained, has been exposed to about four roentgens of natural radiation by the time he is 30 years old and receives about three additional roentgens from such things as dental and medical X rays.

Additional radiation from all bombs exploded so far amounts to only one-tenth of a roentgen, according to Dr. Overman. Continued bomb testing at the present rate would increase radiation from fallout to four times the present level by 1986 and to six times the present amount by the year 2011.

"But the increased hazard still would be negligible," he declared.

In reference to the so-called "clean bomb," Dr. Overman said the fallout is due not to hydrogen type material but to surrounding materials such as the casing of the bomb tower.

Northern Lights to be Visible In Michigan During Rest of Year

If you missed the brilliant display of Northern Lights visible in Michigan and many other parts of the country on the night of June 30, you are likely to have another chance to see them during the rest of the year, according to Dr. James Stokley, associate professor at Michigan State University.

Displays of these lights, known to scientists as the aurora, have long been known to be associated with activity on the sun, and this varies over a cycle of about 11 years, he pointed out. At present solar activity is at a maximum, so many more auroral displays are likely. As one feature of an active sun, there are many sunspots, which are vast whirlwinds in the gaseous solar surface, often many times as big as the Earth, he said.

"The cause of the aurora is not fully understood," stated Dr. Stokley, "but it is believed that streams of electrified atomic particles are shot at us from the sun, particularly from the spots. Some enter our atmosphere. As they hit atoms of oxygen and nitrogen at heights of 65 miles or more, they cause these gases to glow."

Such particles are affected by the magnetic field of the Earth; hence aurorae are most frequent in the general region of the magnetic poles, both north and south.

Mishaps Lower Wages

The pay envelopes of America's workers were short $1,100,000,000 last year.

This wage loss was the result of time lost because of work accidents, the National Safety Council says.

Costs of work accidents rose about 8 per cent last year, according to "Accident Facts," statistical yearbook of the Council.

Just off the press, the booklet shows that medical expenses increased to about $400,000,000 and overhead costs of insurance went up to $450,000,000.

Damaged equipment and materials, production delays and time losses of other workers not involved in the accidents cost industry $1,800,000,000.

Total cost of work accidents was $3,750,000,000.

Accident Cost-11 Billion

The economic loss from accidents in the United States in 1956 would have built about 224 Empire State Buildings, the National Safety Council said today. And that's almost 23,000 floors!

The 1957 edition of "Accident Facts," the Council's statistical yearbook, just off the press, lists the nation's loss from all accidents in 1956 at 11 billion dollars.

Motor vehicle accidents during the year cost 5 billion dollars, and work accidents nearly 4 billion, the booklet states.

he said. In the northern hemisphere they occur most often above a line that runs along the north coast of Alaska, across the Yukon and the Northwest Territories of Canada, Hudson Bay and Labrador. Then the line goes over the North Atlantic, south of Greenland and Iceland. It skirts the north tip of Scandinavia and then goes over the Arctic Ocean just north of Europe and Siberia. Along this line, he said, the aurora is visible nearly every clear night.

Residents of Michigan and other northern states have considerably more opportunity to see auroral displays than people at similar latitudes in Europe, who are much farther from this line. Southern Michigan has ten times as many aurorae as northern Florida, where the frequency is about the same as in southern France, Dr. Stokley pointed out. Along the northern shore of Lake Superior they occur about three times as often as in southern Michigan, at about the same rate as in northern Scotland, he noted.

Aurorae have many different forms. A common one, he explained, is a pale green arch, low in the northern sky. This is really a sheet of glowing gases, about 65 miles high, which curves with the Earth's surface. Seen on edge from a more southerly point, it has the appearance of an arch. Sometimes such arches climb higher into the sky, and they may seem to pulsate. Another form is that of streamers, like searchlight beams, or of luminous curtains, which may appear to wave as if in the wind.

Many different colors have been observed in the aurora, but greenish-yellow predominates, said Dr. Stokley. Reds, blues and violets may also occur.

One of the major areas of study of the International Geophysical Year, now engaging the attention of thousands of scientists in many parts of the world, is concerned with the aurora and similar effects, he added. When fully analyzed, these observations from both Arctic and Antarctic observing posts, will doubtless give the answers to many puzzles now presented by the aurora, he believes. It was mainly because these effects are now at maximum, along with solar activity, he said, that the period from July 1, 1957 to Dec. 31, 1958, was chosen for the Geophysical Year.

Dr. Stokley teaches science writing in the MSU School of Journalism. He is the author of several books, on astronomy, electronics and atomic energy; and he was formerly director of the Fels Planetarium in Philadelphia.

102nd 'Ozark' Division Reunion Starts Today

The ninth annual reunion of the 102nd "Ozark" Division will be held at the Statler Hotel, Detroit, Michigan, July 25-28.

The division has over 25,000 members living in every state and some 2500 members in Michigan.

This famous Combat Division went into action October 26, 1944, in Germany and was thereafter continuously in contact with the enemy until VE Day, a record of constant sustained combat equaled by no other single group of infantrymen.

The Reunion will culminate in a dinner-dance on Saturday, July 27th, at which time the crowning of the "Queen of the Ozarks" will take place. Fred Netting's Band, with Janice Palmer Vocalist, will play for the dance and floor show.

VACATION BOUND? Before you go, you may save yourself a lot of trouble by phoning ahead to be sure of your reservations. And if you're delayed on the way, call ahead from a handy Public Telephone and let them know. If it's friends or relatives you're planning to visit, phone and tell them when you'll arrive. They'll appreciate your thoughtfulness. Long Distance rates are low. You can call places a day's drive away for about a dollar. So don't let anything upset your vacation. Plan by Long Distance.

AN ADDITIONAL PHONE is an awfully handy thing, especially if it's a bedside phone. Think of all the times the phone rings while you're in the bedroom—and you have to run to another part of the house to answer it. You'd certainly save a lot of tiring steps if you had a phone in your bedroom. It's a nice quiet place to make those personal calls, too. And if you're ever ill, a bedside telephone is mighty convenient and comforting. Why not order one now? You can select from eight modern decorator colors.

CALL ANY TIME—this person's phone will be answered and messages taken whenever he's out. Many professional and business people are giving customers the convenience of Michigan Bell's telephone answering set. Soon you may make a call and hear:

"This is a recording. There's no one in the office. After you hear the two beep-tones, you'll have half a minute to leave a message, your name and phone number..." When he returns, your message will be played back and your instructions followed. Quite a service, isn't it?

East Haven-Safest City

What's the safest U. S. city? East Haven, Conn.—so far as accidental death rates go among cities reporting to the National Safety Council.

During 1956 the city had no accidental deaths, according to "Accident Facts," statistical yearbook of the Council.

Oshkosh, Wis., was second safest with 2.4 deaths for every 100,000 persons.

The booklet, just off the press, shows that Norwalk, Conn., with 78.8, had the highest 1956 accidental death rate.
