

An Elder Citizen Recalls Plymouth Of Yesteryears

(Editor's Note. For the next few weeks, The Plymouth Mail will publish a series which we know will be enchanting reading for residents of this area. Edward C. Hough, the author, is 85 years old, and every year of his life has been spent in this area. His grandfather came down from Vermont and built a log cabin hereabouts in 1825. The parade of Plymouth history has passed before Mr. Hough's eyes and in this series of human interest stories, he recalls a host of things. Many are gently humorous, others nostalgic. They will stir memories for our old-timers and educate those who have arrived more recently. The author is President of the Daisy Manufacturing Co.)

BY EDWARD C. HOUGH
FORWARD

As one grows in years and are less active physically, it seems natural to think of people and things that have been a part of your life in former years. One misses the contact with people they have known and occasionally swapped stories. Some have passed into the realm from which no traveller returns and I am writing this in hopes that what I recall of life in Plymouth fifty years or more ago, will be interesting to old timers and perhaps to some whose hair is streaked with gray but unwilling to admit that they are growing old.

This will be a rambling set of stories about my home town. Plymouth has many pleasant memories for me, and before I lose my desire, I want to tell some of them to youngsters who otherwise might never know what happened here in an earlier year.

Memories come easily. When the fire engines raced to that big blaze in Northville a few days ago, for instance, another fire in Northville returned to my mind.

That was 69 years ago. The Globe Furniture Co. in Northville caught fire and the alarm was brought to Plymouth. I was a member of the volunteer department and we did what we could. We rolled our hose carts down to the railroad station, loaded them on a flat car, and finally got to Northville. The factory burned down, of course. Chauncey Rauch was a member of the same company.

But let me start out a little closer to childhood. When I was a lad, my father dealt in apples. Apples had to be packed in barrels, and there was a barrel factory in Plymouth down by the railroad. Barrels were delivered on a special kind of wagon — one lined with big racks and a single wagon could hold 100 barrels. Every summer that wagon would load up and make the rounds of the farms, dropping 25 or so barrels at a stop. I guess today barrels are delivered by trucks, but I can't forget that big, long wagon and the horses.

We moved off the farm into town in 1877. We lived in the old Fuller house, which stood on the present site of the Hotel Mayflower. A parrot sat in a tree in the yard of the Fuller house and everyone spoke to it. You could hear it singing a block away and the song it knew best was an old-timer, "The Mulligan Guards."

There were three saloons in town then, and much of the history of the period undoubtedly centered about them. R. G. Hall, for instance, owned a drygoods store under Amity Hall. He had a son by the name of Fred, who slept in a room to the rear of a store. Fred had a friend who played the banjo and they had good times. When I was a lad I thought it would be almost heaven to have a bedroom like Fred's, away from home.

Fred was in charge of an exhibit in front of the store, consisting of a matched set — pitcher, basin, soap dish, and the usual jar. One day some of the boys at the saloon whisked away the jar, took it to the saloon, filled it half full of beer and things and returned it, undetected, to its place in front of the store. It almost ruined the business for Fred.

During apple-picking season an Irishman named Mike Mulligan used to come up from Cincinnati to work with my father. He was quite a character, and always took a little nip in the

Plenty of Space for Record School Enrollment

AERIAL VIEW of the new Plymouth Community Junior high was taken last week as work neared completion. Constructed in three units, the building at left is the gymnasium. Center unit contains regular classrooms, offices and the library (taller section at front). At right is the "noisy" unit where shop, home economics, cafeteria and boiler rooms are located. The street around the $1,667,000 building and the parking lot have been paved. Each of the classrooms in the middle unit has a court in which grass and a tree are growing. Front of the building, shown, faces south.

For the first time in several years, the Plymouth Community School system will have plenty of elbow room for its students although a record number is expected to report for classes next Thursday morning.

An estimated 4,300 boys and girls are anticipated in the public schools and another 500 in the two local parochial schools. Last year, public schools opened with 4,020.

Because a new elementary school was opened last spring and the new Plymouth Community Junior high will open its doors next week, there will be enough room for everyone this year. It will be necessary, however, to have six rooms of sixth graders in the Junior high.

Plymouth will have one of the most modern schools in the nation with the new Junior high being opened. Its architects, Eberle M. Smith Associates, Inc., have already won several awards for its design.

The building will cost $1,667,000, including the site. It is located in the southeastern corner of the city with entrances off Mill street. Designed for 1,000 pupils, it will have about 844 when school opens. Eventually the sixth grades will be moved back to elementary buildings and the ninth grade will probably be moved to the junior high when the senior high becomes too crowded.

The Junior high wasn't the only construction going on this summer, however. The Senior high buildings are both receiving extensive renovating. Nearly every room in the old Junior high, which will be called the annex, is being modernized for high school use. The commercial department and a new shop class are among the activities being moved to the annex.

The Senior high had its library size doubled, the biology room increased a third and the art department completely revamped. A new kiln has been given the art department.

The old Junior high, which was originally an elementary building constructed in 1924, will not be completely finished. Delivery has not been made on steel window sash. Classes will be held, however, according to Superintendent Russell Ishister. Those who will attend the new junior high will also find that lunch will be served on the first day.

At other schools, the usual repairs and clean-up jobs have been going on all summer. Alien school children and their parents will welcome a new backdrop of the parking lot. At Gallimore school, a fence now encloses the kindergarten and first grade playground. Truesdell, Cherry Hill and Canton Center schools have been given new flag poles.

There will be several new courses taught at the high school this year. One is business machines in the commercial department for seniors only. Spanish will be taught again after an absence of a year. General music, for non-performing students, will teach music appreciation.

High School Principal Carvel Bentley said that addition of the old Junior high building will give the high school plenty of room this year, although there will be one teacher without a classroom of her own.

Bentley expects 1,155 high school students to report next week, an increase of 53 over last year at this time. He added that the bookstore will be open Friday, September 6 and Monday, September 9. The store for used books will also be open on those dates.

A breakdown of the junior high enrollment shows that there will be 12 sections of seventh graders (341 pupils), and nine sections of eighth graders (295). There are 200 sixth graders at the junior high. Two sections will each come from Bird, Starkweather and Gallimore schools and the few that were Motorcyclist Killed in Crash On Northville Rd.

A Plymouth man driving his car was injured and a Ferndale man driving a motorcycle was killed when the two vehicles collided Monday night at Northville and Six Mile Roads.

Ora F. Glass, 520 N. Holbrook, was driving his 1951 car south on Northville Rd. at about 10:40 when the accident happened. The Sheriff's Road Patrol said that a 1955 motorcycle driven by Arthur Johnson, 27, of 10712 Hartleg Court, Ferndale, failed to stop for the intersection as he approached it on Six Mile Road.

The motorcycle crashed into the side of the Plymouthite's car, nearly cutting the car in half. Johnson was dead on arrival at Wayne County General Hospital. A passenger on the motorcycle, Arlene Spight, 17, of 10542 Dauzeis, Ferndale, received a compound fracture of the right leg.

Mr. Glass received a facial cut and abrasions.

Petunia Contest Winners Named By Garden Club

Householders are being alerted now by the Plymouth Garden Club to prepare for another "Petunias in Plymouth" contest next year.

Judging for the 1957 contest took place last Thursday morning with cash awards going to the first three winners and honorable mention given to others. The Gordon Robinsons at 482 Irvin were awarded first prize of a $25 savings bond for their border plantings of petunias. Second prize of $10 went to Mrs. Donald Ward, 711 Burroughs; and third prize of $5 to Leon Dickerson, 620 Simpson.

Mrs. Sidney Strong, chairman of the contest, said that while only 14 householders entered the contest, there were hundreds of people planting petunias this year in reply to the club's effort to make petunias the community flower.

There were four plantings given honorable mention. They were Mrs. Harold Swan, 624 Pacific; Mrs. Theron Tallmadge, 358 W. Liberty; Mrs. Ada Jenkins, 545 Wing; and Edward C. Hough, 1411 W. Ann Arbor Trail. Mrs. Strong said that the Hough plantings were outstanding, but that they were not visible from the street as required by the rules.

There was no judging of commercial plantings, although commendation was given to Cassidy's and the Plymouth Mail for the condition of their petunias.

This was the first effort of the Garden Club to promote a community-wide flower. Mrs. Strong said that the club is encouraging by the response this year and definitely will continue its promotion and a contest next year.

Judges for the contest were Hugh McAuley, head of the city's parks and forestry department; Mrs. Glenn H. Cummings, president of the Northville Garden Club; and Ray Henstock of the Garden Center, Detroit.

Hard Water Costs Extra to Use, To Cost Million if City-Softened

The city of Plymouth's hard water costs each person using it $12 to $15 yearly, according to a survey made by engineers for the city commission.

Details of the hard water problem were included in a survey (published last week) of Plymouth's water supply and how long it may last. Housewives who are unhappy with the hard water situation may have to wait awhile before the city gets around to softening up the stuff. The job, according to engineering estimates, could cost around $1,150,000.

In the report from McNamee, Porter and Seelye, Ann Arbor engineers, it was learned that two types of softening plants are available. The cheaper one (costing $700,000), it was revealed, probably wouldn't be approved by the State Health Department for a community of this size. This type, called the Zeolite plant, is regenerated with salt or acid.

The recommended type is called the lime soda plant and offers the best results. This plant would cost about $1,150,000.

But despite its cost, the report declares, "It has been repeatedly demonstrated that water as hard as Plymouth's nets great savings to the consumer when it is municipally softened."

To back up the statement, the engineers go into some home economics. They stated that each person uses about 20 pounds of soap each year just for softening the water. (Before cleansing action can begin, soap must first soften the hard water. This is done by the soap leaving a very milky appearance and a curd in the water.)

Using an average cost of 25 cents per pound, the cost of soap per capita for softening is $4.

The engineers also note that clothing life is lengthened 20 to 50 per cent in soft water, creating another estimated per capita cost of $4 annually.

Finally, hard water results in repair or cleaning bills for gas heater coils of another $4 a year per capita, according to figures they quote from the State Health Department. All of these items bring the total per capita cost to $12 to $15.

Many Plymouth residents use soft water services (the report doesn't say how many). The present charge for a family averages $4.75 per month, or about $57 a year. "Municipal softening would be considerably cheaper and would remove the iron as well as soften all of the water," the engineers asserted.

To soften all water, the engineers say that it would take 3,000 feet of 16 inch water main costing $36,000; a million gallon reservoir costing $100,000; pumps and other piping costing $91,000; a softening plant itself (with land) costing $682,000, and other costly items.

There has been no discussion yet at city commission meetings concerning the softening plant proposal. Commissioners were given the reports last week and presumably will discuss the contents at future meetings.

State Horseshoe Tourney Planned

The Michigan championship horseshoe pitching contest will be held at Plymouth Riverside Park the 7th and 8th of September. Anyone entering the contest must be a member of the National Horseshoe Pitchers Association. However, membership cards for the NHPA may be purchased for $2 at the park pits on the morning of the contest by those who do not belong.

Entry fee for the tournament is $3. Matches will begin at approximately 8:30 or 9 a.m. of the 7th. The horseshoe pitching championship of Michigan will be at stake.

For additional information contact Herbert Woolweaver at the high school.

Junior High Bridge Coming - Not on Time

While all will be in readiness next Thursday at the gleaming new Plymouth Community Junior High school, there will be many youngsters who will either need to somehow hurdle a creek to get there or else detour a mile or so around it.

It was decided last spring to build a bridge across Tonnish Creek which runs west of the school grounds. The bridge would be built across the creek by extending Hartsough (formerly Edison) to the school property.

But nothing has been done since then, except to secure quotations on costs, until last week. City commissioners voted to take bids on the job and get the work done even if it means neglecting other improvements.

The biggest part of the work is laying a metal culvert about 80 feet long. A thousand square yards of fill dirt will then be needed to level the road over the culvert. The complete job, it is estimated, will cost $7,480.

Bids will be opened this Friday and city engineer S. L. Reese estimates that the job will then take a week or two.

In the meantime, there are some parents who are wondering how their children will get to school. Even though some may live a block away, they may have a long walk.

Commissioners are not certain if they want to spend $1,000 on fill dirt right away or wait until it becomes available free and gradually build the bridge up to level. If the latter course is followed, it may be a while before the street will be usable for driving.

It looks like the job will not be ready in time for school opening next Thursday. If youngsters do not care about making a long walk, they may do as the school's administrative assistant, Melvin Blunk, told commissioners. He said that some enterprising students may take it upon themselves to build their own bridge.

The only other driving entrances to the school are two off Mill street.

Appraisal Team Still Working Through City

Eighteen workers from the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation have been busy in the city of Plymouth this summer making house-to-house and building-to-building examinations for the purpose of re-evaluating properties.

The city commission voted in June to have the re-assessment made. Assessor-Clerk Kenneth Way said that the Bureau of Taxation crew has been in Plymouth periodically since June and have almost completed re-appraisal of residential properties. There has also been some industrial appraisals made but no commercial.

Way said that the city has no reports yet and will receive none until the job is completed. He expects the task to be ended sometime this fall.

The city commission will then be given the new assessment roll for examination. If the commission decides to adopt it, citizens will be given a chance to express their views on their individual assessments before the board of review. It will be up to each property owner to check at city hall if they want to know what their assessments are, the assessor said.

The re-appraisal is expected to increase the assessments of some properties, decrease others. There has been no re-appraisal in the city for 10 years.

Inspectors from the Bureau of Taxation are checking every home and building. Where there is no one at home, Way said, they are able to pretty well determine the assessment by sizing up the home on the outside. Commercial and industrial buildings, however, must also be inspected inside to figure personal property valuations.

WATCH FOR SLOW CHILDREN

THERE'S MORE than one way to read this interesting sign, one of several of its type found near Plymouth's schools. The motorist might interpret it as meaning the children who move slowly. Or, maybe it's the children who are not too bright. But Horace Bruff, left, and brother, James, of 795 North Mill, hope that drivers are smart enough to know that they should slow down and watch for the children. There will be 4,800 of them returning to the Plymouth area schools next week.

LANSING (UP) — The State Public Service Commission has authorized Consumers Power Co. to bring gas service to 20,000 additional space heating customers. The utility has 179,000 customers on its waiting list, including 1,500 in the Plymouth area.

Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne Counties were allocated 11,602 of the additional 20,000. Commission Chairman Otis Smith said the allocation will be "on the basis of priority determined by chronological order in which the applications had been or shall be received."

PRESIDENT DISAPPOINTED
WASHINGTON (UP) — The White House said Wednesday that President Eisenhower was "disappointed" by the Democrats' election victory in Wisconsin and feels the Republican party took a "bad licking." Eisenhower's reaction was relayed to reporters by Press Secretary James Haggerty after he and the President discussed the surprise upset victory of Democrat William Proxmire over former Gov. Walter J. Kohler, an Eisenhower Republican.

TIGERS DEFENDED
DETROIT (UP) — New York Yankees Catcher Elston Howard said "Jim Crow" charges against the Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox are unfair. Howard, the first Negro to play for the Yankees, appeared on a UAW radio program taped when the Yankees were here Monday. He said that both teams have tried to obtain top Negro players before but other clubs wouldn't sell.

Beverly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tacia of Plymouth and Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Scharf of New Ulm, Minn.

Mrs. Eckhart Gauger, sister of the bridegroom, accompanied Roger Geertz who sang "Whither Thou Goest."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, donned a gown designed with bodice of white imported chintilly lace over white satin, featuring a round neckline, long tapered sleeves and an empire waistline which flared into a three-tier tulle skirt over white satin. A half-crown headpiece with sequins and pearls held her fingertip veil in place.

The bride's only jewelry was a single strand of pearls. The bridal bouquet was a white orchid set with tiny baby roses and scattered stephanotis.

Beverly asked Mrs. Dan Bennett to be her matron of honor. She wore a ballerina-length dress of white nylon flock flowers, over orchid taffeta, with a square neckline and tiny cap sleeves. She carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids wore dresses styled the same as the matron of honor's, except for the color of the taffeta underskirt. Aqua taffeta was worn by Janet Mahrley, yellow taffeta by Barbara Tacia, and light green taffeta by Sharon Chynoweth. They wore shoes to match the color of the taffeta and each carried bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums. Their headpieces were designed and made by the bride and a friend, Mrs. Geraldine Stickle, of Livonia.

DeLos Steinberg, a friend of the bridegroom from Milwaukee, was best man. Serving as ushers were Harold Neu an uncle of the bride, Jerry Tacia, brother of the bride and Ron Hauer, cousin of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore a light blue dress of cotton-silk with white accessories and an orchid corsage. A navy blue dress and white accessories were selected by the bridegroom's mother. She also wore an orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church fellowship room for approximately 400 guests. Out of town guests were from Adrian, Akron, Allen Park, Bay City, Caro, Cass City, Cheasaning, Detroit, Garden City, Lincoln, Livonia, Royal Oak, Sebawaing and Wayne, Michigan; Milwaukee, Wis., New Ulm, St. Louis Park and Hutchinson, Minn.

For the trip through upper Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, the bride chose a pastel yellow dress with white accessories.

The bridegroom is the principal of the Lutheran Day School in Plymouth. The couple will make their home at 745 Blunk street.

Forester-Gransden Rites Read At Candlelight Ceremony

Mary Lou Foerster and Keith Rosevelt Gransden recently exchanged vows in an evening service at Dixboro Methodist church in Dixboro.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Foerster of Ann Arbor and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gransden, 5280 Seven Mile road in South Lyon.

Set Aside Canned Goods, Articles for 'Country Store'

A word to the wise—"A stitch in time." Starkweather school will again have its annual fall festival in October and Dorothy Wilson has accepted the chairmanship of the "Country Store". So now's the time when you charming ladies around the Circle are busy with your home-canning to label an extra jar of peaches, tomatoes, chili sauce or pickles for the "Country Store". Don't forget too, that pot holders, aprons, white elephants, old jewelry and all such items will be appreciated. I'm going to set aside a box for that purpose and be ready when Dot calls on me. How about you?

Going away over Labor Day? Leave your flag with a neighbor?

Rose and Marty Kennedy entertained at pinocle on Saturday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Kisabeth and Mr. and Mrs. Gray.

House painting seems to be a popular pastime around the circle. Of course I use the word "pastime" loosely. Barbara Coyle, Ray Darga, Jack Riard, Marty Kennedy, Al Triax and Jim Sanders are all busy on new color schemes.

Wednesday evening the Bud Wilsons, the Ted Kuhns and we entertained at an outdoor steak fry for Reverend and Mrs. Johnson and their daughter-in-law Jeannine Johnson. We were all starved by the time the men prepared the steaks and as Tennyson said "Methinks I never saw so fierce a fork."

Dorothy and Lloyd Curok of Parkview Drive had Dorothy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex McDowell and a sister Mrs. Robert Maedel and children on Thursday from Essex, Ontario.

170 Michigan Bell Golfers Hold Annual Tournament Here

Detroit Bill Ferguson fired a blazing 73 last Saturday despite a cool breeze and steady rain to capture first-place honors in the annual Michigan Bell Telephone Co. Golf Tournament, this year held at Plymouth Country Club. Though the tourney was hampered all day by intermittent showers and drizzle, the wet weather didn't dampen many spirits.

Of an estimated and before hand-expected 300, over 170 male employees of Michigan Bell arrived to enter competition, which is a terrific turn-out considering the excessive moisture. Men were present from as far as Battle Creek, Grand Rapids, Flint, Lansing, Saginaw, Bay City, and even Sioux St. Marie.

Ferguson, who teed off at 9 a.m. in a foursome, said the 73 was a little better than his average though he was accustomed to somewhat tougher courses. Bill scored four birdies, all on the front nine, and obtained no double-bogies. For his performance, Bill received a first-place trophy plus a touring trophy which he will relinquish to next year's tourney winner.

Ferguson stated that he golfs at least twice a week, including each Saturday at Pontiac where he competes in the Michigan Bell League.

Over 90 per cent of the golfers had completed their 18 holes by 5:30, and all were finished by 6:15 in spite of the soggy ground and soft, unavoidably spongy greens. At 6:30 over 50 trophies and prizes were awarded to the Bell men, including:

2nd best net score—Fulkerson, 77
3rd best net score—Goetz, 79 (two other men also has that score, but Goetz won in a drawing.)
best score under the Callaway-handicap system—Crandell, 69
2nd best Callaway score—Thompson, 71
3rd best Callaway score—McNulty, 72

longest drive—Butzky, 275 yards
2nd longest drive—Ferguson, 270 yards
3rd longest drive—Thompson, 269½ yards closest to pin—Winy, 20 inches highest total score—Bowles, 169
ind highest total score—Majors, 124

Other prizes included caps, golf gloves, club hoods, etc. Also over 30 new golf balls were won.
Gordie Moe was in charge of the tourney. Working with Gordie were Gene Overholt, Jerry Greer, Bill Butzky and Jim Everhart.

Can Now Enter City Golf Tournament

Application blanks are now available at all three local golf courses for the annual City Golf Tournament sponsored this year by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The tournament will be played Saturday and Sunday, September 21, 22 at Hilltop Golf Course. Anyone living in Plymouth, Northville and Canton Township is eligible to enter. Registration fee, including greens fees, is $8.
Entry blanks are available at Brae Burn, Plymouth Country Club and Hilltop. Registrations will close September 18. Blanks must be returned or mailed to Hilltop or Davis & Lent Men's Store.

Elks Bow to Merchants After Throwing Scare

The Plymouth Elks tasted victory for five innings last Sunday as they duelled their arch-rivals, the Plymouth Merchants, in the final regularly scheduled contest of the Inter-County Baseball League season. But it was for only five innings. The Merchants exploded for seven big runs in the sixth and nipped Elks' hopes, 7-5.

The Merchants combined three walks, five singles, and little Harold DeWulf's bases-loaded triple to mark their seven tallies in the big sixth. Hank Bonga, Elks' mound-sacker, who had allowed only two singles until that time, was tagged for all seven runs and then retired in favor of Sheel. Only one Merchant single was recorded after that.

Taking a one run lead in the first, the Elks sailed along behind Bonga in fine fashion, even adding three more scores in the fifth. It looked as though they might vacate the cellar position they've held all year.

But the Merchants pushed across seven and then let Rich Sheppard, who replaced Monahan in the fifth, ride herd on Elk batters. Elks' shortstop Bruce was the big fly in the Merchants' ointment during the day. He collected two singles, a double, and a walk in four trips.

Other league results were: Romulus knocked the props from under River Rouge, routing them, 10-5; Northville won the battle for third place, edging Redford, 3-1; and Chelsea disposed of Detroit Control, 11-5.
Final league standings:

	W	L
River Rouge	14	3
Plymouth Merchants	13	4
Northville Merchants	11	6
Redford Merchants	10	7
Romulus Jay Cee	9	7

Line Drive

by MEL OTT

One of the prettiest defensive plays is an outfielder turning at the crack of the bat and running at top speed to barely overtake a long, well-hit fly ball.

I have been frequently asked if fly chasers actually do start at the crack of the bat and the answer is yes.

The sound of wood meeting ball tells the outfielder whether to come in or go out, although sometimes he is fooled by a broken bat. That sound makes the ball sound more solidly hit than it really is and the fielder may find himself drifting back when he should be coming in.

Running after the ball to the right or left presents little difficulty but a drive directly overhead is difficult to judge. You can get a pretty good line on the ball on either side but not so when it is screaming fast overhead.

Outfielders sometimes have trouble with balls hitting the turf. They try to judge the bounce for a play at any base or the plate, but the ball may take a crazy hop or hardly bounce at all, making the fielder look a little foolish.

Ordinarily on a ball on the ground, the outfielder will try to block it or keep it from going through, but if there is a play at the plate or at a base he will charge it for a quick throw.

Fly chasers—and infielders, too—are constantly on the alert and thinking at all times. There's a lot more to baseball than just standing there waiting for a ball to come your way.

Any major leaguer worth his salt is anticipating the next play, what the situation is, what his possible moves will be, how fast the batter is, how fast the base runner.

Nothing can be left to chance. Every possible situation and its solution must be thought out in advance. That's why so many different plays are converted into simple outs.

None of this, you may gather, is instinctive, as a few people would prefer to believe. It is simply a matter of practice, practice and more practice.

It is true that some players possess more basic ability than others, but top outfielders like Detroit's Al Kaline, Jimmy Piersall of Boston and Minnie Minoso of Chicago developed their superb fly-chasing talents through constant work.

The same is true, of course, of outstanding infielders like the Tigers' Frank Bolling, Chicago's Nellie Fox, Frank Malzone of the Red Sox and Gil McDougald of the Yankees, who are the cream of the league.

Good fielding pitchers are harder to find, but they can be a valuable asset to a ball club. Take Bobby Shantz, now with New York, who wins some of his own games as much through his defensive play as his pitching.

Bobby is like a fifth infielder. It's virtually impossible to bunt on him and he comes up with some spectacular stops.
Bobby developed his skill through hard practice, too.

THE RIDER

BY BOB FRANKLIN

Not too long ago I thought the greatest thrill in the world came when I rode out to accept the blue ribbon, but after this year's Wayne County 4-H Fair I have changed my mind. The greatest thrill in the world comes when you see a young rider, whom you have helped, ride out to accept the blue ribbon. This year I was a leader of a 4-H group and not a contestant.

Jay Battle and his fine mare, Tee Jay, rode to the Western High Point title of the Fair. Jay won the Fitting and Showing Class, the fourteen and over Pleasure Class and got second in the fourteen and over Horsemanship Class. Mr. Battle was awarded the Linda Hershey Memorial Trophy at Saturday Night's show.

Charlotte Smith rode her three gaited horse, Highlands Fire Fly, to the English high point title. She garnered first place in the Three Gaited Class, the English Fitting and Showing Class, and the English Model Class. Miss Smith also took second place in the English Horsemanship Class.

The Quarter Horse Model Class was won by San's Jo, a fine mare owned by Miss Debbie Flock. Although the mare was injured after the class, it is felt that she will be in condition to compete at the State 4-H Show. Debbie is with out a doubt one of the best sports I have ever seen in the horse show game. It's not easy to smile your way through a bad break.

Freddy Shelles, one of the newer riders of the year, won his Pleasure Horse Class at the Fair.

Motorcycles to Offer Thrilling Labor Day Show at Northville

The "Iron Mustangs", competition riders of the American Motorcycle Association, move into Northville Downs on Labor Day to stage a thrilling program of motorcycle races. Many of the country's top "hot-shoe" artists will be on hand to try for a share of the 3-star purse.

The name "hot-shoe" is applied because of the steel plate worn on the left shoe for controlling the machine through the turns and also for stopping since there are no brakes on these cycles. The only other protection afforded these daredevils is a crash helmet, goggles, leather jacket, breeches, and boots.

The riders are divided into two classes, "A" and "B", and there will be four events for each class, plus a 3-lap trophy dash for the fastest three qualifiers. The "B" rider is one who has not yet won 60 points in one season. He does this by placing in the first three positions in competition.

Unshaking nerves and being an expert judge of distance are prime requisites in the struggle for supremacy and great skill are required to maneuver these two-wheeled steeds while travelling at top speed on the stretches and in close proximity through the turns.

The half-mile clay track of Northville Downs will play host to some 40 or more riders from Michigan, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana. The majority of cycles entered will be Harley-Davidson, B.S.A., and Indian. These machines are re-built and tuned specifically for track competition, therefore are capable of much higher speeds than those used on the streets and highways. Speeds of 80 to 90 miles per hour should be recorded on the long straightaways of the fast Northville track.

Time trials for the competition will get underway at 12:30 and the first racing event will start at 2:30. The ticket office will be open at 11:30 that day and the motorcycles will begin practice at noon.

The motorcycle races scheduled for Labor Day, this coming Monday, at Northville Downs should be an interesting event. Mel Larson of Plymouth is promoting the spectacle—a novelty for this area.

Mel has an impressive United States stock car racing record in his own right, and has been active on Arizona ovals in recent years.

"But when it comes to motorcycles," laughed Mel, "I'm just a coward. I like to have something over my head when I start rolling. Those guys just fly. That's not for me."

A larger Plymouth attendance is expected at the races than what were present for the July 4th near races. Local activities held here this evening minimized the number of Plymouth patrons.

Some of you softball fans may be interested in how our District 16 representatives fared against teams of District 3 in the regional tournaments. This is as much as the column could find.

Our Class Aers, A.A.C. who edged Beginners, 1-0, in the first round of district play-offs, defeated Ypsilanti for regional honors two games in a row. (All regional winners are decided by a best-of-three series.) The Allen Park squad dumped them, 4-0, at Ypsi, and, 6-3, at home. They now enter State M.S.A. finals at Escanaba. Their first game is against Region D this coming Saturday at 2:15. This area is Region B.

In D competition, it is again our District 16 squad which is Regional Champ. Trenton's McLouth Steel swept two straight games from Clinton, though the scores are unknown to the column. Trenton will meet Region U.P. at Owosso this Saturday at 1.

Ann Arbor Gas Co. of District 3 has triumphed over our Class C winner, Allen Park Farrell Trucking, by scores of 5-4 in nine innings, and 4-1. The Ann Arbor team meets Region D at Petosky Saturday at 1:15.

And in B play, there has been a split. Wayne Holzbaugh, our champ, bowed to Manchester, 2-1, in a nine inning game at Wayne. But upon traveling to Manchester, Wayne clipped them, 4-1. The third game of the series has undoubtedly been played, but no final information was available at this time.

District 16 had no Class AA representative.

Merchants Win Benefit Game At Monroe

The Plymouth Merchants, after their 7-5 conquest of the Plymouth Elks last Sunday afternoon, made a speedy journey to Monroe that evening where they engaged the Monroe All-Stars in an injured-players benefit game.

The Monroe squad, boasting all-stars from the entire Twilight League, met the Plymouth club at 6:30 and lost rather badly in seven innings, 9-2. The Merchants' Eddie Hock easily handled the enemy bats, striking out eight and allowing only four base hits, two of them scratch.

Meanwhile Plymouth gathered nine hits, scoring two in the third, three in the fourth, and two in each of the following two frames. Five Monroe errors also aided the Plymouth cause.

Chuck Tomlinson led the winner's attack with three hits in four trips, while Jack Dobbs, Ed Hock, and Fritz Kessler each contributed two. That constituted all the Merchants' hits.

The contest was staged on an excellent and well-lighted diamond before a crowd of considerable size. Another game followed at 9 between Ann Arbor Blue Front and the Monroe Orioles.

Coffee Ousted from State Fair Cattle Barn

For sure there's going to be one place at the Michigan State Fair where you won't be able to buy pop, coffee or anything to quench your throat except milk—good, pure Michigan milk. That will be in the Dairy Cattle Barn where Joseph H. Kurka, Jr., Ovid, Michigan dairy farmer, is the State Fair Commissioner in charge.

After learning that the concessions department planned to install soft drink and coffee dispensing machines in various barns, including the Dairy Cattle Barn, Commissioner Kurka told the Commission he didn't care where else they were installed but they had better not be in his Dairy Cattle Barn.

"All we want in there is milk, good, pure, cold Michigan milk," said determined Kurka. "You wouldn't sell cigarettes at a cigar-makers' convention!"

The Commission agreed Kurka had a point there and voted unanimously to oust everything but milk from the Dairy Cattle Barn during the State Fair which opens in Detroit August 30.

personality, choose a county manager, who would appoint competent department heads to handle the many jobs which are now elective and purely ministerial. We actually only elect a senator and a representative to Congress, and we are very liberal with what we permit the federal level of government to do in such matters as wars, income taxes, and ways of life, but at the local level we demand the right to vote for a person who records our deeds and legal instruments, and has absolute no policy making function, and who may be totally unsuited for the job, except to get votes.

Gradually, by pressures of necessity, there are being created County agencies which are doing as good a job with metropolitan problems as can be done within the framework of existing laws. We have a Bureau of Taxation, which seeks to keep assessments on an even keel, but it lacks the power to override local assessors, who may not be able to do the right job because of local politics.

Some of our down-river communities keep out representatives of the bureau, who attempt to inspect properties in order to determine whether or not they are properly assessed. We have a Detroit Regional Planning Commission, which advises communities, but has no power. Our own City Health Department recognizes inspections of the County Health Department, which reciprocates with the inspectors of the City of Detroit Health Department. Recently, the County Supervisors passed an ordinance stating that if any community did not have a building code, the County building code would take effect.

We also have the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Parkway System, which is doing an admirable job in providing beautiful park in a five county area. The welfare agencies of the state, county, and city of Detroit are integrated to some extent by use of a master file to try to prevent fraudulent claims for welfare.

What I am getting at is that the automobile has brought us out to the fringes. We have brought along problems, but because government is a rather abstract thing, we hesitate to make changes. There are certain functions which can be handled better on a regional or area basis with one group of officials to chart the course, in order to obtain a solution, rather than 87 groups of municipal officials seeking agreement among themselves.

Problems, which are better handled regionally, involve rubbish and garbage disposal, sewer and water services, health inspection services, welfare services, land use planning, integration of county and regional parks, parkways, and storm water run-off, coupled with flood control, and certain fiscal functions, such as bonding and assessments.

Plymouth is self-sufficient in almost all matters except sanitary sewage disposal, but nevertheless we must in our county tax bill (which amounts to about half of what we pay for city operations) pay for duplications of service and indirection. We should be interested in a county governmental reform and streamlining of county government. The governmental machinery isn't keeping pace with the needs, but, then we slowly are making adjustments which no doubt are better than no action. What is needed is 87 LEADERS of 87 communities to say, "This is needed; this is what we should have; this is what we should do."

Specifically, we need a county manager, in my opinion.

At the same time, the Board of Supervisors membership should be re-evaluated to be certain that out-county communities have the right percentage of membership and control on the board, in ratio with their problems and tax contributions.

E. C. Hough Writes

morning. On one such morning Mike noticed a picture of a white horse standing behind the bar and he asked, "John, what do you have there?" While the barflies listened, John answered, "Oh, that's a picture of Gen. Grant and his white horse."

"But I don't see General Grant."

"Oh, he's under the bar for a minute or so."

The barflies roared and ordered drinks on Mike. But when it came time to collect, Mike refused. "The General's a particular friend of mine," Mike told the bartender, "when he's done he'll pay for the drinks!"

The saloons were an important part of Plymouth's development as a trading center. They were the only ones for miles around. Livonia, particularly, was set fire to by German folk who liked to drink and they all came here to shop and sell their potatoes and grain.

As I read The Plymouth Mail now, I have to recall my childhood, too. In 1879 we moved from the Fuller house to Mary Davis' home. The latter sat on the exact site of the present building occupied by The Mail. We Houghs lived there many many years. To the south of the house (where the gas station now sits) I had a tennis court. To the north was an open stream, running right through the yard. Our pump and out-house stood in the backyard.

Hard coal stoves were the method of heating then and my job every night as a boy was to shake down the ashes. A brick ashhouse stood next to the out-house. One night I was in too much of a hurry (or else shook down too many coals) and I dumped some hot ones in the usual place between the out-house and the ashhouse. It was humiliating when someone came shouting that the out-house was afire and burning down.

Everybody made their own soap. We saved the woodshaves and put them in a barrel, tilted on an angle. Water was poured on the ashes and the lye then run down into buckets. We always saved meat fat and rinds and made soft soap.

This soap turned the water white. In those days there was competition to see who could get the washing out first on Monday morning. We always rushed out to look in the stream beside the house. If the water was running white, we knew we were late.

The frame building across from the Mail is at least 100 years old. In those days a partition ran straight through the building. On one side was a newspaper-book store; on the other a small printing shop. I could set up type by hand myself. A fellow ran the newspaper for John Steers. They published the newspaper in Wayne, at a place where they printed the Wayne County Review. Ed Hind married Steer's daughter and they lived in the house on the site now of Bud Schrader's funeral home.

Most folks like to have their picture taken . . . but sometimes it can be kind of embarrassing. Especially if it's on the Detectors. As you probably know, that's a special camera that's mounted near a cash register or a teller's window. Law enforcement men say it's working out real well. When a crook comes around to collect a share of the firm's assets, the cashier just hits a button and the robber is in the movies. It's a screen test with no romantic interest. You can be in pictures and out of circulation the same day.

When a robber enters in the night an electric eye switches on the camera . . . just as handy as a policeman's whistle. And if the picture turns out real good the burglar can always have it framed and hung in his cell.

Our lunch counter is gaining greater popularity every day with busy back to school shoppers. You will be pleased too with our fine food and fast service.

Read about a woman who thought she had a male parrot for 13 years. Now it has laid an egg. Reminds me of the cat named Ben that had kittens . . . now they call it Ben-Hur.

During the forthcoming Labor Day weekend, let's all strive to hold those accident statistics to a minimum. Of course, lots of small accidents—cuts and scratches, and sunburns, too—are unavoidable, so the best bet, at home or on the road, is to keep plenty of first aid supplies on hand. Stick up now, at

The MAIL Attitude

BY PAUL CHANDLER

Our office has settled back to an equilibrium, after the excitement of having published our first "daily" newspaper.

Our regular issue last Thursday was gobbled up in the stores almost as soon as we laid the papers down. We had printed many extra copies last week, anticipating the rush, but it wasn't enough. By Thursday night a copy of the paper almost was a collector's item.

So, with the downtown strike still in force, we continued to keep our new United Press teletype clacking away, and on Friday morning we had a fresh eight page newspaper on the press. It was distributed in Plymouth, Livonia and Redford Township, and it, too, was gobbled up.

Our decision was to keep the daily edition going only for the duration of the strike, and when the latter ended on Saturday morning, we decided to return to our regular schedule and continue trying to put out the finest weekly, community newspaper in the Midwest.

The experience was invaluable to us. About the future, we're thinkin' . . . carefully.

As for the strike itself, it was a wretched thing.

When the settlement was made and the smoke cleared, what had been accomplished?

Six men were fired, maybe. Another 60 or 80 who had been "fired" were reinstated to their jobs. The same unions continued with exactly the same jurisdiction as they had prior to the stoppage. Wages weren't involved, so there's no change there.

So for virtually nothing, a town lost its newspapers, business was wounded, thousands of employes lost a week's work.

As it did before, the absence of newspapers sharpened appreciation for them by reader and advertisers.

The strike took place just as many retailers were about to launch "back to school" sales events. It's a key time of year for most merchants.

Without advertising, the downtown businesses suffered frightful sales letdowns. So did amusement places, employment agencies and many others.

This did not happen in the areas served by our newspapers. A quick check this week showed that "back to school" sales hereabouts have run ahead of last year's figures. Amusement places in our district enjoyed normal good business. So did car dealers.

The reason, of course, is that our newspaper appeared as usual and served its readers and advertisers just as well — even better — than if there had been no downtown strike.

There is no better way to sell LOCALLY than by advertising in a local paper which is read, cover to cover, by the people who actually are potential customers. By the people who actually are potential customers.

We make this point because there are some merchandisers — largely the big advertising agencies — who have been flirting with the idea it's possible to dump some general kind of ad in a metropolitan newspaper and figure it will do the LOCAL selling in a hundred local communities within a 400 mile circle (or some other grand radius) of the downtown printing press.

They're wrong. They're going to hurt a lot of LOCAL dealers if they play with the idea.

Turning to affairs of government, the battle of water systems continues on the City-County level. As you doubtless know, the City of Detroit believes it can and should supply all the water to the metropolitan area and beyond. Some County officials, however, want to build a separate system for themselves.

Plymouth has plenty of water of its own, for the present, but both Livonia and Redford Township buy theirs from the City. And Mayor Brashear and Supervisor Manning have shown their sympathies to lie with the "separate system" faction.

This paper can't see any more sense to a two-headed water system than it can to two airports 12 miles apart. The reason why a second system has even been suggested is that the communities beyond the city limits believe (for good reason, in our opinion) that they have received — and will again — high-handed treatment from their Detroit brethren. They have little voice in determining rates and policies, and in a jam, the suburbs would be the first to be hurt.

But to use taxpayer's money for the expense of building duplicating facilities simply to get adequate representation is a costly gesture. The answer is for the suburbs to get their proper voice and some iron-clad guarantee of rights.

Hence, I recommend: (1) a new Water Board where the suburbs always have a voice proportionate to the water they buy; and (2) A rule that any rate shifts by the Detroit Water Board must be approved by the State Public Service Commission, even as are shifts of rates for gas, power, telephone, or other utilities.

Then, let's get that big pipe into Lake Huron and bring in enough water (by pipeline) to dispose of that problem once and forever.

A late news story brings the matter of the shooting of the Garden City mayor to mind again. I wrote about it once here before, noting that the whole affair was the result of primitive political passions on the loose.

The most recent information is that architectural experts have, appraised the new police station there and found that it is worth even more than the city was charged. The quality of workmanship was good and the variations from original plans generally were agreed to have been for the best.

In other words, the builder who went into a blind rage and shot the Mayor actually hadn't "gypped" anybody — if the appraisers know what they are talking about. The builder was angered because he was unable to collect his money from the city and because he was accused of "gypping."

Incidentally, we are told a labe suit is in the making over the incident. The builder reportedly wants big damages for some published statements.

Local Motorist 500,006 in Club

Automobile Club of Michigan established itself as one of the largest member organizations in the state today when it announced the signing of its 500,000th active member.

"The half million mark, set as the 1957 membership goal, represents an increase of 23,000 in eight months," Auto Club President Charles L. Wilson said in making the announcement.

To celebrate achievement of the goal, Wilson said representative new members enrolled today throughout the state would be feted in special September ceremonies in their home communities.

Lawrence Wilhelm of 324 Blanche St., Plymouth, an inspector for Dunn Steel Products, is Plymouth's newest member and was given the honorary membership number 500,006 to mark the city as the sixth of 44 Auto Club offices established in the state.

Started with only a few members in 1923, headed by L. B. Rice, the Plymouth division, now serves more than 7,000 through its S. Main street offices.

Auto Club of Michigan was organized by a small group of civic-minded Detroiters in 1916. As a "champion of the motorist," the Club pioneered the fight for equitable auto taxes, good roads, proper highway marking and fair enforcement. It sponsored and helped draft legislation for uniform traffic laws and developed a traffic engineering bureau to aid Michigan communities with traffic problems.

Tuesday, August 24, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Hopper celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at a party given by Delores and Nancy Hopper and Mrs. Helen Fervine at 44150 Shearer drive. Sixty guests attended from Wayne, Livonia, Oklahoma, Northville, Farmington and Plymouth.

Today's youngsters are far from being a generation of delinquents, at least in the eyes of the American Railroad Express. While turning one of their trucks around Tuesday near the C&O freight depot, a package fell off and landed in the road. Young Eric Smith, 304 W. Green Meadows News

Phone 2525

Sharon and Susan Jeffrey of East Detroit spent last week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. David Francis of Brookline. Mr. and Mrs. James Gearys and family of Marlowe attended the birthday party of Charlene Mysza in Lincoln Park last Saturday.

The Gearys acted as Godparents for Cynthia Joan Hinckley who was baptized Sunday, August 25 at St. Mary's in Wayne. She is the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hinckley of Garden City.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hoelt of Brookline celebrated their 12th wedding anniversary Saturday evening at the home of his brother Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hoelt of Saline.

Neighbors and friends of Jerry Mandler of Marlowe gathered at his home Thursday evening to help him celebrate his birthday. The children of the neighborhood, including his own, put on a show in his honor after which ice cream and cake was served.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Keith of Brookline attended a surprise party in honor of Mr. Bruce Simmons, August 17 in his home in Northville.

Mrs. Grayden Olson of Elmhurst gave a farewell party last Thursday evening in honor of their son Earl Olson who has graduated from the University of Michigan in engineering. He has accepted a job with Crosley's in Cincinnati, Ohio, and will be moving there soon.

Mrs. Elmer Davis and daughter of Northern has returned home from Bath, New Brunswick where she spent two weeks with her father after attending the funeral of her mother who passed away very suddenly.

Mrs. E. Cummings and daughter Patsy who have been visiting at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Prince, has left for her home in Memphis, Michigan.

Mrs. Ernest Evans of Oakview spent Friday afternoon with her sister, Mrs. Charles Stacey of Saline.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kuck and children spent Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McGonagle of Marlowe.

Mrs. Susan and Shanon Tungate of Brookline spent this weekend with their grandmother, Mrs. Lola Sarna of Garden City.

Remember the August 28th membership rally at Myron Beals' home on Newbury Road at 8:30 p.m. Department and national representatives will be on hand to give suggestions for the drive.

The 17th district meeting is September 6th, at Myron Beals' post home at 8:30 p.m. It's the first meeting for the new Commandant and President so let's have a good attendance.

PICNIC! Sunday, September 8, at Northville and Six Mile roads. Meet around 12 and plan to eat around 1 p.m. A sign with "Passage-Gayde Picnic" will be displayed... so keep your eyes open and keep this date free.

Members will be contacted by phone. Marge Hoelt and Don Kinghorn are Chairmen for this event.

Remember the Michigan State Fair Saturday, August 31, is free admission day for Veterans and Auxiliary members. It is designated as "Veterans Day".

Wear your caps and uniforms. The national famous Zouaves will be there; also Drum and Bugle Corps Competition and Drill Team Competition and a Memorial Service. Let's plan to attend the State Fair on Saturday, August 31st.

Community cooperation in helping handicapped persons regain a useful place in society is being asked by the American Legion auxiliary as it continues its work for disabled veterans, said Mrs. Mildred Hewer, rehabilitation chairman of the Passage-Gayde unit. The increasing number of persons suffering physical handicaps as a result of accidents and illness is making rehabilitation of the disabled a problem of growing importance, she pointed out.

The American Legion Auxiliary recently has been named a member of the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, which is working on the vast national problem of rehabilitating the physically handicapped.

The eagerness of the handicapped to work and the interest they take in their jobs is encouraging to witness. And records show that handicapped persons make good employees, equal in many respects to those of employees without physical impairments.

We of the American Legion Auxiliary hope that employers of our community will give consideration to the handicapped on the basis of their abilities rather than their disabilities. And we hope that the entire community will adopt a helpful attitude toward all who are striving to achieve rehabilitation from disabling accidents and illnesses. Any employer having such an opening please contact William Langmaid at the Michigan Employment Commission, Phone 1081.

Mrs. Maude Cooper, formerly of Palos Verdes, Calif., has moved to 825 Ocean Avenue, Santa Monica, Calif.

Stamp Collectors to Hold Own Show

The King of all hobbies will have a field day in Detroit on Sept. 28 - 29. A display will be held at the Tuller Hotel for the benefit of the 75,000 stamp collectors in this area.

Over a million dollars worth of stamps will be displayed. The National Philatelic Museum of Philadelphia, The Philatelic Foundation of New York, and the Smithsonian Institute, Washington, D. C., the three greatest philatelic institutions in the United States, will have over sixty frames of outstanding items never shown in Detroit before.

The Detroit Historical Museum has established a permanent philatelic section at the Museum. The opening of the first show was July 22, Detroit's 250th Birthday. The first exhibit used for this show, which runs for two months, is a collection of Detroit's 250th Birthday, collected and donated to the museum by Heinz Hoffman.

Dr. James J. Matejka's - Grand Award, Newfoundland collection from the C.P.S. Exhibition, Toronto, will show the non-stamp collecting public the many interesting and educational features this avocation contains.

The Detroit Chapter No. 3 of the American Stamp Dealers Association (A.S.D.A.) will sponsor the GREAT LAKES STAMP SHOW, with James A. Reese, Detroit as General Chairman; Albert C. Butzen, Detroit, Treasurer; Heinz Hoffman, Detroit, Publicity Director; and Adolf Stiehler, Detroit, Exhibition Chairman. All are members of the A.S.D.A. and have pledged to make this first Great Lakes Stamp Show a huge success.

Allen Lichtig, a well known Detroit Philatelist, will answer questions at the Great Lakes Stamp Show pertaining to stamp collecting.

Postmaster E. L. Baker will have a substation at the show. The station will have for sale to the public all stamps now available at the Philatelic Agency in Washington, D.C.

The Boy Scouts examination for a philatelic merit badge is another feature of the Exhibition. A sheet of the new 4c flag stamps, signed by Postmaster General Summerfield, is going to be presented by Postmaster E. L. Baker to the Boy Scout with the highest points.

Ed Sullivan Seeks $100,000 in Damages

NEW HAVEN, CONN. — (UP) — TV celebrity Ed Sullivan sought $100,000 damages today from a Connecticut motorist for injuries received in a two-car accident a year ago.

Sullivan, who spent several weeks in a hospital after the Aug. 6, 1956, head-on collision, filed suit in superior court.

Named defendant was Joseph Palmucci, 23, of Ansonia, driver of the other car.

Sullivan's son-in-law, Robert Precht Jr., 27, of Scarsdale, N.Y., asked $50,000 damages from Palmucci. Precht was less seriously injured.

by George Spelvin

"Not a breath of air... ruffles the bosom of this leafy glen... And yet, even now a little breeze, perchance..." so claimed Mr. Wadsworth, the poet a few years ago when a hot spell hit him. With Labor Day week-end on the horizon, the hot days of August are about to come to a much-wel- comed halt.

In mentioning the Will-O-Way Playhouse last week, we forgot to give some of our local troupers proper credit. In the years past and this year, our Theater Guild members have assisted this professional group in producing their plays. RUSS WALLACE played the Captain in "Mr. Roberts" a season or two ago. EFFIE KUS- IEL appeared in the opening production this year, "Mrs. Mc- Thing". C. V. SPARKS, the many faceted actor, has trod the boards at Will-O-Way on many an oc- casion. This is only a partial list of the many Theater Guild people that have tipped the basket ever so slightly so that their talent could shine before Metropolitan Detroit audiences. We should look forward to the coming season with so many talented actors in the wings.

This plethora of theatrical ability will some day find an answer to a problem that has been troubling your correspond- ent, George. My problem is what to do with the ready-made audiences that crowd the Hines Parkway every summer. Too bad we can't do some free shows for the folks as they do out in New York city. For the past two years a group of actors supported by the city of New York have put on free shows in Central Park. The response has been most gratifying. And what have they been showing? "The life of Elvis Presley?" No, sir... they have been giving the general public some Shakespeare. Pure, un-diluted Bill Shakespeare. The old Bard still draws an audience con- trary to what many of us may think. Noticed in the papers recently that one of the top local TV shows faces a new crisis. I'm refer- ing to the "Juvenile Court" and "Traffic Court" programs. As of October 1st, both Judge Watts and Judge Kaufman, will be forced to leave the show. The ruling by the high courts will punch a big hole in the programs. What would "Traffic Court" be without Watts and his cantankerous rak- ing of the victims? Guess if we get lonesome for the Judge we will have to meet him in person from now on—not that we wish this upon any of our readers.

Well, sermon over for this week. Some news about that one act play that is being readied for the September 16th meeting of the Theater Guild. DR. FORD SUTHERLAND of 650 Byron, a hard-working Theater Guild member, is putting the actors through their paces. ROSEMARY KOOLMAN, producer of this pro- duction, sent this information in to my cubicle by stool pigeon.

Incidentally, the play has been changed from "City Symphony" to "The Valiant". Rosemary tells me that they felt "The Valiant" was a better show to start the Theater Guild meetings out since it would give the actors some real lines. Looks like if you'd like to see a one-act play with plenty of nerve and taut situations, circle your calendar for Septem- ber. Date of the meeting is the 16th up at the Plymouth High School. Everyone is welcome. SHORT SHOTS: Jerry Lewis is in Detroit at the Riviera Theater... he's got a great show. Anyone that can hold an audience for over an hour and not get pelted with vegetables has an act worth seeing. While in Washington D.C. Jerry held his audience for over an hour right through a rain- storm. "South Pacific" is at the Music Circle. If you've missed it before, you'd better catch up. It's a classic. Molly Goldberg alias Gertrude Berg is coming to the Northland Playhouse in "The Matchmakers". This show will close their season and it'll be a sellout. Highly recommended.

Better get back to the drawing boards. I'm trying to invent something that will make a fortune for you old scene shifter. If I can just get the cost down to a nickel and make it habit forming... why I'd be set for life.

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

MRS. N. E. BENNETT and daughter Joan prepare to make a strawberry ice cream pie. For a change, this popular dessert may be tried with pineapple or raspberries, says Mrs. Bennett.

Change Ice Cream Pie Flavor with Different Fruits

A light, refreshing dessert for late summer is an ice cream pie, using a variety of fruits to make pleasing combinations. Strawberry is the traditional favorite says Mrs. N. E. Bennett of 18804 Priscilla Lane. Her daughter Joan agrees—with her, strawberry ice cream pie is an all-time favorite. Here is the recipe, guaranteed by Mrs. Bennett to be easy-to-make:

Strawberry Ice Cream Pie
1 package strawberry jello diluted with 1 cup of hot water
1 package frozen strawberries
1 pint vanilla ice cream (2 cups)

Mix the diluted jello and frozen strawberries thoroughly. Add 1 pint of vanilla ice cream and mix. Pour into a baked pie shell and chill.

Try raspberries or crushed pineapple with the recipe, substituting raspberry jello for the raspberry pie and lemon jello for the pineapple pie. If using pineapple, drain off excess juice.

For a more dressed-up and richer pie use a graham cracker crust. Here is a basic recipe:

Graham Cracker Crust
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons water
1½ cup crushed grahams

Melt butter; add sugar and water and simmer 3 minutes. Pour hot syrup in a thin stream over crumbs, stirring rapidly to blend.

(CAUTION: syrup must be mixed while warm or the mixture will harden.) Distribute crumb mixture over greased pie plate. Pat firmly with the back of a spoon to form the crust.

Air Force Drops

WASHINGTON.—UP—The Air Force has cancelled a 100 million dollar airplane without getting a chance to take it on a ride.

The decision to halt work on the 1,400-mile-an-hour XF-103, originally designed as an interceptor and then converted to a research project was prompted by the current economy axe and because other research vehicles would provide the same data, the air force said.

A spokesman said the plane, under development for six years, had never reached the flying stage. It was under joint development by Republic Aviation and the Wright Aeronautical Division of Curtiss-Wright Corp.

The XF-103 was the "mystery" airplane which a high defense official described to a senate committee last year as "much better" than two other aircraft the air force had to drop because of a shortage of research money.

In his statement, challenged by the air force, former Assistant Defense Secretary Clifford C. Furnas said two projects to develop 1,400 MPH interceptors were cancelled because of a "higher performance" plane was on the way. That was in May, 1956, and the plane was later identified as the XF-103 which by that time the air force had no intention of putting into production.

Woman's Eye View

Plymouth's biggest aggregation of Scotsman seems to be found beneath the roof of the Detroit Edison office on Main street. They are Jim Henning, Dick Pauline, Jim Honey and Bill Spry and two painters John Job and Fred Borred.

About a week ago I had occasion to overhear their brogues and banter about their bonnie homeland. But the truth is, probably not one of their ancestors ever laid eyes on Lock Lomond or smelled the heather on the moors. Sad to say, this is a bunch of fakers.

When asked about the Scottish brogues, a spokesman said "could be we're a cheap place." When asked his name, he replied, "McSpry"—of course.

It all started when John Job asked the group if they dinna have any Scoat tea and scones. And it continued until "McSpry" came to admire the "bonnie job." Job had done on the front door. At this point Job told his favorite Scotch joke with elaborate rolling of the r's. It went something like this:

A Scotsman took a friend from Scotland who had never been across the Atlantic before on a hunting trip in Michigan's northern woods. He pointed out the unfamiliar animals to his friend.

"Thar's a moose," he said.

Staring at the great antlered creature the other said, "If that's a moose, I'd like ta see a r-r-r-r-rat."

This is a versatile group—not only are they masters of the Scotch brogue, but, as "McSpry" hinted, apt to slip into any number of other accents.

"McSpry" promised to have the boys working on an Irish brogue, to be perfected before St. Patrick's day. But this may be a lot of blarney, "O'Spry."

More authentic in representing Scotland and much cuter, is two-year-old Michele Mitchell. Her parents just returned from a vacation to Canada and brought with them a complete tartan set in Campbell dress plaid for Michele. It includes a pleated skirt, vest, and cap with tassel. The lassie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Mitchell of Gyde road.

Jo Graves, Jr., of 346 Auburn attended the University of Colorado summer session. The session included two five-week terms. A specialty at U. of C. are the mountain climbs, bus trips, hikes and steak fries, provided by the recreation department. And then of course, there's a wide academic program.

Starting this Fall at Purdue University in Lafayette Ind., is Ann Linder Goddard of 12221 Beck. She will major in engineering.

No GOP Candidate

Republicans are looking for a candidate for governor.

A once-rich field of aspirants in the party has been hit by drouth and 16 months before 1958's November election there is no one in sight.

Democrats have enough candidates for two or three elections.

Gov. Williams at the moment is expected to be a candidate for another term. Since his re-election in 1950, he has set a new precedent for Democrats every two years. If Williams seeks a sixth term, Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart is expected to run against Senator Potter in 1958.

At the annual Governor's Conference, Williams said he will "run for public office" next year and Hart would "fill in" for which-ever one the governor decided not to seek.

Republicans, expecting a battle from Hart or Williams to keep Senator Potter in Washington next year, would like a strong state ticket to help.

Potter and others have suggested Rep. Gerald Ford of Grand Rapids. The offer was immediately and politely rejected.

There has been talk of Rep. Alvin Bentley of Owosso taking a turn at the gubernatorial race. Bentley has indicated he prefers to stay in the House of Representatives.

Some seers predict that by 1958, House Speaker George M. Van Peursem (R-Zeeland) will have picked up enough following as a legislative leader to become a candidate for governor.

Van Peursem shrugs off the idea for now, content to serve as the House spokesman for Republicans and "work at one job at a time."

Back in the field of potentials is Rep. George Sallade, the outspoken young House member from Ann Arbor. He has differed often in the past with party policy and rebuffed its strategy in the House. Sallade is a shrewd and powerful speaker, and he has put together one of the most strident groups of critics in the party. Of his own candidacy, he said he is "a probable candidate."

The Democrat party has months to make the decision as a replacement for Hart as Lieutt. Gov.

Names most prominently mentioned are Senator John B. Swainson (D-Detroit), now in his second term, and Rep. Ed Carney (D-Detroit.)

Both are minority leaders in their respective chambers. Carey, a candidate now for the Detroit City Council, prefers to stay near his family in Detroit after years in Lansing as a legislator. Swainson, a young lawyer, is a strong possibility.

THE STATE'S FIGHT against alcoholism reached new high points this year. Under the state board of alcoholism, two professional workers operate the program on a budget just less than $400,000 a year, using cooperation with local government as the main power.

Achievements last year show that more than 3,000 people heard talks given by the two workers, and members of a speakers bureau gave 131 speeches to 8,493 people.

Special reports on alcoholism were sent to 3,169 physicians, 688 hospitals, and 383 public libraries. Fifty scholarships were awarded to schools of alcoholic studies. Movies have been provided.

Under the treatment program, 266 alcoholics received in-patient care and 190 out-patient care at the Grand Rapids Alcoholism Rehabilitation Center, which the state helps finance.

The Jackson Information Center gave counselling and medical services to 104 alcoholics and 374 new patients received help from the Detroit Mayor's Committee on Skid Row Problems.

Pontiac and Highland Park opened information centers and 10 other communities started alcoholism programs.

THINK IT OVER

LABOR DAY

SHOULD AGAIN REMIND US THAT WORK IS THE DIGNIFIED AIM OF MAN!

THAT HE SHOULD, NOT ONLY BE WILLING TO LABOR, BUT THAT HE SHOULD USE EVERY EFFORT TO SO DEVELOP HIS ABILITY AS TO ACHIEVE HIS BEST FOR HIMSELF, HIS FAMILY AND FOR HIS COUNTRY!

"Life Begins at Forty"

By ROBERT PETERSON

"WASTING EIGHT HOURS a day of your life in a job that pays you a salary but bores you to death is perhaps the dreariest and stupid-est act of mankind." The late Walter Pitkin used to fling these words at the crowds which flocked to his Life Begins at Forty lectures. He accused people of worshipping at the shrine of permanent tenure, and denounced those who endured a monotonous, unrewarding job simply because they lacked the gumption to try and find their true vocational niche.

"What is life?" he went on. "Is it to slave and toil in a meaningless job merely to buy bread? Or is it to find contentment not only in one's leisure but in one's occupation?"

There's a lot to what Mr. Pitkin says and if you are in the category of those with a one-track vocation who dislike what you are doing, here's what you can do about it:

1. Appraise your talents, preferably with the aid of a vocational counselor, and begin training yourself for work in another field. Your training may involve night classes, correspondence courses, or independent study.
2. When you have practiced and polished your new skills to a point where you feel you can make a living at them, talk with your boss and see if these skills can't be utilized in your present firm.
3. If this is impossible and your present work still gives you the willies, start investigating job opportunities elsewhere.
4. When you have found a suitable position elsewhere, hand in your resignation and bid the boss goodbye.

If you dislike your work you are of limited value to your employer and you may be heading for serious personal trouble. Dr. E. K. Strong of Stanford University has found a direct correlation between nervous breakdowns and lack of interest in one's work. He interviewed large numbers of men who were financially successful but who had experienced nervous breakdowns. Tests revealed that in a majority of cases these men did not have their hearts in their work. They felt worn out and frustrated. Psychiatrist Karl Menninger has reported similar findings and concludes that many successful persons break down not because of hard work but because they dislike what they are doing.

YOUNG PEOPLE should be encouraged to choose a specialty, and then devote one or two evenings a week to learning some auxiliary skills at which they could make a living in the event they fail to find their principal vocation fully rewarding.

Having a couple of auxiliary skills may come in particularly handy when you retire—should you wish to continue working in order to keep busy or supplement your pension. After retirement it is difficult to pursue such vocations as accounting, chemistry, or engineering, but if you have some auxiliary vocations at which you are skillful, such as writing, typing, woodworking, decorating, or metalcrafting, you'll be well-equipped to keep productively busy in your retirement years.

If Your Name Is WALT

By Ann Reynolds, Ph.D.

One famous American whose brilliant research was instrumental in saving countless lives was Walter Reed, the physician and bacteriologist.

Another Walter, a contemporary of ours, is the creator of beloved cartoon characters, Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck, for instance. He is Walter, or Walt Disney, of motion pictures.

The name Walter is of Old Germanic origin, and has been formed by putting together two words. Wald, the first of these, means rule, the other, harja, signifies folk. Among the English, Walter has been popular since the 11th century when the Normans brought it to the British Isles. Such last names as Walters, Watkin, Watson and Waters show that it was a widespread first name.

Walter used to be pronounced Water, as apparent from the last names mentioned. This is shown also in Shakespeare's Henry VI, Second Part, Act IV, Scene 1, where the Duke of Suffolk is made to say,

"A cunning man did calculate my birth,

And told me that by water I should die . . ."

He addresses these words to his would-be assassin, Walter Whitmore, hinting at the identical sounds of water and Walter.

LET'S TALK ABOUT THE FINE PRINT

Joke-makers have been having a merry time for many years with "the fine print" of an insurance policy.

However, the qualified insurance counselor—backed by years of experience and motivated by a sincere desire to protect his clients—would be the last person in the world to approve the abolition of fine print clauses.

Your insurance agent recognizes an insurance policy as a contract between his client and the insuring company. Further, he recognizes the fine print clauses for what they really are . . . in many cases, providing the insured with additional rights and benefits and "spelling out" in every detail the complete protection which the qualified insurance agent insists upon for his client.

Harum-scarum talk of abolishing the fine print of insurance policies can very often be traced to a simple ignorance of the true mechanics of protecting a man and his possessions.

The fine print content of your policy is, therefore, necessary to your protection and peace of mind. Your qualified insurance counselor can justify every bit of fine print in your contract. What's more, he insists that it be there because his main object is your complete protection.

True, insurance is a complex business science. All the more reason that your insurance coverage should be planned with the help of a professional insurance counselor.

Boys' Togs Reflect Collegiate Trend

Moving ever further away from the out-moded "sloppy look," Junior's back-to-school duds are now really scaled down versions of what his older college brother will be wearing this fall, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

For students from the first grade on up through high school, the chief influence in clothing today is the so-called "Ivy" styling ideas which got their start on the campuses of colleges in the Northeastern states, from which they have spread to all sections of the country and all items of the male wardrobe.

For example, the three-button single-breasted style is now the established leader in boys' sports jackets, particularly in striped blazers and other patterned models, in medium to darker shades. Some of these will feature metal buttons. Another feature is leather trimming on pockets and elbows, as well as on trouser pockets.

"Ivy" Influence
Boys' slacks generally show the Ivy influence, with pleated fronts and belted effects and tapered leg look. Polished cottons are popular, with flannel-lined twills important for younger boys. Black looms as an important color, although the standard grays and blues in various shades will continue strong. Corduroy trousers, in striped effects, are coming into their own.

In boys' suits, the three button Ivy-type in trim lines will hold first place. There will be striped and patterned suits in darker tones, and Navy blue will continue its come-back although gray is still the most important suit color for boys.

Dress shirts will have a casual look; many will be decorated with small checks, stripes and tartans. "Ivy" influence will be evident in button-down and button-back collars. White will be, as always, the leading color, with blue gaining ground.

In sport shirts, the chief color will be red and the major style influence will again be "Ivy." Polished cottons and glazed models (chiefly in silk-and-cotton blends) will be seen in increasing numbers, along with the standard cotton printed flannel.

In outerwear, red will also be prominent, as a solid or in combination with other colors—chiefly black. Gray will also be widely seen. Style-wise, toggle button coats and suburban coats will run neck-and-neck in the popularity race.

Parkas Popular
Parkas, with synthetic pile and quilted linings, will gain a good following among the school crowd, as will Loden clotheats. Reversibles have come alive again. Linings, colorful and patterned, will be a highlight in outerwear, along with hoods—attached or detachable.

Small Ivy caps and sports hats loom as favorites in the field of headwear. Stripes and solid colors will be shown in caps, while ski caps (with ear flaps) will be seen on more and more youthful scholars.

Newest School Styles Feature Practical and Versatile Designs

Getting the children outfitted for school is an especially rewarding experience this year, as attention focuses on classic, casual—but far from careless—styles for both boys and girls. Good taste and good looks are just part of the story, for the clothes that will add fashion zest to young wardrobes are practical and versatile, and seem to be designed to complement a school child's life.

With this in mind, we'll try to highlight some of the new fashions which deserve to play a starring role this fall.

The casual coat, variously known as a car coat or suburban coat, is being shown in a variety of fabrics for both boys and girls. There are autumnal hues tweds with knit and leather trims, many with Orlon pile linings and convertible collars.

All sorts of tricks, practical, pleasing ones, are evident in the styling of poplin car coats. One for girls has a body and hood lining of leopard print Orlon pile, luxurious to behold but still completely washable.

Reversibility is the news in a boy's jacket with one side natural colored poplin, the other washable wool plaid. Some of the car coats are sufficiently dressy that they can be worn for occasions other than school.

Sportswear Interesting
Since the general aspect of fall fashions is classic and trim, it is only natural that much of the interest focuses on sports wear. There is a harmony in this year's fashions that assures the school age boy or girl of looking his best. In girls' wear the influence of the Paris couturiere, Chanel, is apparent in pleated skirts, soft blouses and easy jackets that are often brass buttoned.

Boys' fashions turn toward the British for new inspiration with handsome sport coats in tartan stripes, in misty toned wide waled corduroy and heathery tweds.

Sweaters, always popular with the school set, have been styled with great success. Those with the look of Shetland have been coordinated with skirts and slacks. Man of the most interesting sweaters for girls are cropped at the waist, team beautifully with slim skirts or tapered slacks.

Ski sweaters in bulky Orlon appear heavy, but actually aren't. One of the newest for the boys has a collar that can be tucked in so that the neckline appears to be a simple crew neckline. There is lots of white in sweaters, strongly accented with black and red.

The collared sweater shirts in synthetic fibers promise to be an important part of a young man's wardrobe, and are soft to the touch, completely tubbable.

Annual Lunchbox Routine

Brightened
By New Ideas

Mothers whose children carry lunch boxes to school are presented with an ever-recurring challenge to fill them with appetizing taste tempters, daily variety and proper nourishment.

Here's a Luncheon Meat Spread, using 1 can (12 ounces) luncheon meat; 1 cup finely diced celery; 1/4 cup pickle relish; 1/4 cup mayonnaise; and 2 teaspoons lemon or lime juice. Grind luncheon meat; add celery and pickle relish. Combine mayonnaise and lemon juice; add to luncheon meat mixture. Makes enough for eight sandwiches.

Try this nourishing Ham N' Egg Spread. Ingredients are 1 can (4 1/2 ounces) deviled ham; 1 hard cooked egg, chopped; 1/4 cup finely diced celery; mayonnaise to moisture. Thoroughly mix all ingredients together and that's it. Makes enough for 4 sandwiches.

Add small meat balls or slices of frankfurters to a vacuum bottle of tomato soup. The youngsters can fish them out and eat them on a toothpick.

Florets for soup add interest to school lunches. Such favorites as pop corn, potato chips or crisp ready-to-eat cereals can be easily packed in sandwich bags.

Send a little paper cup of ketchup covered with foil along with that cold meat, loaf sandwich. Cold roast or fried chicken is another good way to put meat into the school menu.

Here are some ideas to help meet the challenge:

Canned meats offer many a fine sandwich filling. Popular ready-to-use meats include: luncheon meat, Vienna sausage, ham, deviled ham, salami, bologna, tongue and liver sausage.

For sandwich spreads grind and mix with mayonnaise and chopped crisp vegetables. Ready prepared and seasoned spreads are available, too.

Bacon adds zest to many sandwiches. Try it with a chopped egg sandwich, for example, or for something really different, chop it and sprinkle it over bread with applesauce.

Apples, oranges and bananas make healthy, delicious lunchbox desserts. It's a good idea to re-move orange skin ahead of time and separate the orange into segments. Or else slit the skin four or five times to loosen it.

Maybe your youngsters are close enough to come home for lunch. Sandwiches can still fill the bill. Treat them to bubbling hot sandwiches, pinned to match their taste and appetites.

A Meal-In-One Sandwich is just the ticket for hungry youngsters. Use 1 can (4 1/2 ounces) asparagus spears; 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup; 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; 1/3 cup milk; 1/4 cup grated cheese; 4 slices buttered toast; and 4 thin slices cooked ham.

Heat asparagus spears in part of liquid from can. While asparagus is heating, combine soup, butter or margarine, milk and grated cheese.

Heat thoroughly until cheese melts and sauce is smooth. On each slice of buttered toast, place a slice of ham and four or five drained asparagus spears. Top with mushroom sauce. Makes four servings. Serve these open-face sandwiches with relishes, plenty of milk and a light dessert.

Vienna Sausage Pizzas are sure to satisfy the back-to-school set. Here's what you need: 8 English muffins; 1/2 cup (1 stick) melted butter; 2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce; 1/2 pound American or Mozzarella cheese; grated Parmesan cheese; oregano; and 2 cans (4 ounces each) Vienna sausage.

Cut English muffins in half; brush with approximately 3 tablespoons butter. Toast until golden brown. Spread each muffin with a tablespoon of tomato sauce. Cover with slices of American or Mozzarella cheese. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese and oregano. Spoon a teaspoon of melted butter on each pizza before putting in oven. Top with Vienna sausage. Bake in moderately hot oven, (400 degrees F) for 15 minutes. Yields, 16 Pizzas.

The recipe can be easily cut down to suit the number around your luncheon table.

And then of course, the old stand-by hamburgers. For a little variation, fry golden top burgers. Form 1 pound of ground beef into four patties. Broil on one side; turn. Top each with a slice of drained, canned pineapple and continue broiling. Just before meat is cooked top each patty with a slice of American cheese. Broil until cheese melts slightly and slip into hot, buttered hamburger buns.

Beef Toastwiches

It won't be long now when out-of-doors meals will be coming to a stop. Yet there is still time to plan a family-type patio fun fest before school bells ring again.

Menu! Keep it simple. Ground beef lends itself to fast, easy-on-the-budget and easy-on-the-chef meals.

Barbecued Beef Toastwiches is such a dish. Spotlight ground beef. Prepared in such a way, Beef Toastwiches are a natural for an easy patio picnic entrée.

How easy is it to serve? It'll take just minutes to prepare. Make sure, however, that you have plenty because there will undoubtedly be calls for seconds and maybe thirds.

Barbecued Beef Toastwiches
1 pound ground beef
1/2 cup chopped onion
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 tablespoon flour
3/4 cup hot water
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
3/4 cup chili sauce
6 buns, split and toasted

Brown ground beef and onion in hot lard or drippings in frying-pan. Pour off drippings. Stir in flour. Add hot water; cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add mustard and chili sauce, and simmer 15 minutes. Serve over toasted buns. Yield: 6 servings.

A good way to start the day—eat strawberries and cream; a good way to end the day—eat strawberries and ice cream.

A Crocheted Stole—Pretty and Practical

Although styles in stoles may change, the stole itself continues high in popular favor—and for two excellent reasons: It is a flattering piece of apparel; and it is a practical one as well. The newest version, the cape stole, is shaped over the shoulders for a better fit, and falls in a graceful curve to the waist in the back.

In addition to the shaping at the shoulders, the basic circular shape is varied at the elbow to give a "sleeve" effect. Make it in your favorite color, and line it with matching or contrasting wool jersey. It's the perfect companion for suits and basic dresses.

The instructions for crocheting this stole may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of the Plymouth Mail. Ask for the CAPE STOLE leaflet.

If you're going to be cooking a lot of your meals outside this summer, here are a few safety tips: Carry matches in a tin container; don't heat unopened cans of food—they may explode; wear canvas or asbestos gloves to protect your hands from burns; carry your own drinking water if a safe supply isn't available; be sure the fire is out—completely out. Use water and/or dirt.

Signs of Age 'Skin Deep' With Many Old Houses

Frequently when an aging house is up for sale, it has such a weathered, ramshackle look that it seems no amount of remodeling could make it habitable.

This was the feeling experienced by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomas when they caught their first glimpse of a farm house on 40 acres of land near their home town of Modoc, Ind.

But Thomas, a building materials dealer in Modoc, knew that modern construction materials and techniques can work miracles with almost any old house. He also knew that a sturdy, old house usually can be purchased and remodeled for much less money per square foot of living space than it would cost to build a new home.

After an inspection revealed the house and barn were solidly built, the Thomases bought the property and set to work. In choosing products for the remodeling, Thomas called upon all his experience with building materials to be sure of getting the longest and most satisfactory service.

For example, after a 36- by 12-foot addition was completed, he specified that a colorful new roof of fire-resistant asphalt shingles be applied on the entire house. On the old porch, time and labor were saved by applying the new shingles directly over the old roofing.

Thomas also chose thick batts of mineral wool insulation for the walls and ceilings of the addition and installed them himself. The mineral wool, he knew, would make his family more comfortable in winter and summer by blocking the passage of heat, and probably would pay for itself within a few years in savings on fuel.

Their remodeling completed, the Thomases have a modern roomy home with three bedrooms, a living and dining room, bath, up-to-date kitchen with snack bar and breakfast nook, a recreation room in the attic, and a utility room.

The entire family agrees that moving to the country was a good idea. The surrounding land not only offers the three Thomas children the advantages of lots of fresh air and freedom, but helps provide food for the table, plus extra income from raising chickens and hogs.

Shutter Ideas Add Interest To Bedrooms

Interested in a novel, attractive, low-cost bed headboard? Here's an idea that has all those features and is in step with the current return of louver doors and shutters to smart modern interiors.

Use an ordinary stock shutter, slightly longer than the width of the bed (a double-bed mattress is 54 inches wide). Attach the shutter to the spring frame by metal braces, or by a wood framework. The shutter also can be screwed or bolted to the wall. Stock shutters generally are made of ponderosa pine, an alow-wood that is an excellent base for any paint or stain-and-varnish finish that you need to go with the bedroom decor.

A variation of this idea is to use a shutter as a headboard for a youth bed, and a pair of shutters for the sides, to keep the youngster from falling out. Saw the side shutters in half and hinge the sections together and to the headboard so they swing back as shown in the sketch. At night, each side is moored to the bed with a hook-and-eye.

More Homes To Be Heated By Electricity

Heating with electricity has grown from an experimental infant to an increasingly important force in home comfort. More than 300,000 homes in the nation will be heated completely or in part by electricity by the end of 1957.

There are two types of electric heat. One is called resistance heating. With this system, temperatures of individual rooms can be controlled to suit family tastes. Bedrooms, for example, can be kept at lower temperatures for more economy and sleeping comfort.

The second type is the heat pump, which draws heat from the outside air into the house. Working in reverse in the summer, the heat pump is an air-conditioning unit, expelling heat from the house.

A house heated by electricity must be thickly insulated. Insulation brings the advantages of electric heating well within the home-owner's means.

Electric-heat manufacturers recommend six inches of mineral wool insulation in ceilings, four inches in walls, and two inches in floors over unheated spaces. Homes built on concrete slabs need two inches of perimeter insulation around the edges of the slab.

Among the chief advantages of electric heating is its cleanliness, since there are no fumes or odors, and homes can be built without chimneys.

HERE'S HOW...

A floor to ceiling desk and bookshelf ensemble can be made with 1-inch lumber.

The sides, desk, top and lower shelf of the bookcase are made of 1 by 12-inch lumber. The interior shelves are made of 1 by 10-inch lumber. The trim is made of 1 by 4, and 1 by 2-inch lumber.

Cut out the top edge of the sides for the top trim. Drill four 3/8-inch holes 2 inches deep in the bottom part of the sides for dowel jointing the desk to the sides. Corresponding holes are drilled in the desk side panels.

Assemble the project and attach the light fixture. Attach to the wall studs or ceiling joists.

Living Space Need Not Shrink As Evening Sun Goes Down

Some people really do hate to see that evening sun go down. Because it means to them a fore-closed contraction in living space—exactly at the time of day when they need more, not less.

During the earlier hours, when Dad was at work, the children at school and Mother busy in the kitchen, Old Sol, plus household heating system, could make almost every part of the dwelling comfortable.

But after dinner, when members of the family want to spread out with their different activities—homework, hobbies, television and more—hard-to-heat rooms may be useless. The family's enclosed porch may have to be closed off, and the workshop area can get so chilly that even the most energetic handicrafter can hardly keep busy enough to be comfortable.

Gas-fueled direct heating equipment offers an easy and economical method of correcting this situation, points out the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association. Each heater may be selected for the room or other space it is to make comfortable. Operating without warm air ducts or pipes for hot water or steam, the gas room heaters may supplement systems using these means of heat distribution.

Newest line of these gas heaters offer a wide range of sizes and styles, among them furniture-styled cabinet circulators with improved features for automatic operation and elimination of floor cold spots. Some are especially designed to provide a combination of radiant heat—like the sun's—and circulated heated air.

Ease of installation is an outstanding feature in the case of new gas heaters vented directly through the dwelling's outside wall. No chimney or ducts are required.

Each heater need be in operation only for the particular times it is needed and temperatures can be regulated to fit the tastes and activities of the users.

The Buddhist temple of Horyuji, Japan, parts of which have stood since 739 A.D., is believed to be the oldest wooden building in the world.

HOME ALARM which could be plugged into an ordinary electric socket to sound a buzzer or bell and light signal of approaching air attack (top level) and other natural disaster is shown in three small units (top level) and larger versions (second level). Also shown are clock and radio which could be activated by the National Emergency Alarm Repeater (NEAR). These alarms are presently being developed under contract to the Federal Civil Defense Administration. NEAR would be triggered by a signal over the nation's power lines to provide an alarm inside homes, where residents might be asleep or otherwise not hear present alarm systems. Civil defense Conelrad radio would then provide survival details.

Senator Potter reports

... the latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan ...

WHO WILL BOSS the peaceful atom? Government, industry or both? At this writing the question holds center stage in the Senate. The Atomic Energy Act calls for team play between federal and private interests, but the partnership concept is taking a slugging from the public power boys.

Now under way in Michigan are two show pieces for Government-industry teamwork on the atom: At Big Rapids, Wolverine Electric Cooperative hopes to build a nuclear power plant with financial aid from AEC. At Monroe, Power Reactor Development Cooperation already has $40 million put up by 21 companies, but looks to Uncle Sam for research funds to help develop a new type of reactor, the "fast breeder". Both projects are wrapped up in AEC's $398-million money bill now before the Senate and both will be victimized if the partnership concept is killed. Public power-ites want full AEC ownership and control at Big Rapids. They hope to cut the heart out of the Monroe project by withholding research funds.

The danger: Industry may be entirely frozen out of the peaceful atomic program. I am fighting this. It is un-American. A partnership approach, as set forth in our law, is the only sensible and sound way to develop this revolutionary new source of energy.

ALL ABOARD MAYFLOWER

Listen for that call next spring after the ice breaks up on the Seaway. I've had an encouraging reply to my invitation to Mayflower II to sail up the St. Lawrence Seaway for stops at Great Lakes ports. Her founder wrote, "Commander Villiers (Mayflower skipper) is personally happy and willing to make the voyage. The directors and sponsors are also anxious to accept your invitation." I've also written Mr. Henry Hornblower, President of Plymouth Plantation, which will assume ownership of the famous Pilgrim ship on Thanksgiving, and if he sanctions the plan, Mayflower II may be putting in at Michigan ports.

A pat on the back came the other day from Under Secretary of State Christian Herter, who says the proposed voyage would build international good will. A PILOT STUDY of automation in Michigan—a suggestion I made recently to President Eisenhower—is getting under way. Labor Department officials tell me they are "laying the foundation in discussions with the automobile industry." I've asked them to try to find answers for the following: Precisely how many workers have been displaced by automation? Are they jobless? If not, what sort of jobs do they hold? What type of retraining is necessary? What are employers doing to ease the impact of automation?

TIPS for TEENS

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Q.—"Dear Elinor: I am a freshman and have been dating one boy for a couple of months. When I talk to other boys, he gets angry and says I'm flirting. What should I do about this?"

Ans.—What you do depends on whether he's right or wrong. If you talk to other boys in a flirty way, it's natural for your "steady" date to resent it. But if you talk to them merely in a casual, friendly way, he's the jealous type and you'll have more fun with a different boyfriend. If you believe you're friendly, not flirty, try to explain to him that, after all, even married couples talk and dance with other people. It would be silly, impolite and impossible for you to talk to nobody except him.

Q.—"Dear Elinor: I am 12 years old and I like a 13-year old boy. He is shy and seems to like only baseball and other sports. How can I make him pay attention to me?"

Ans.—Perhaps you'll have to wait for him to begin to take an interest in girls—and try to be the one, when he does. Meanwhile, it might help if you invite him to your home to watch TV when there's a big game—one of his favorite sports. Invite at least two others (people he knows) to help ease his shyness and serve cold drinks, cookies or cake or ice cream.

Talk about sports when you see him—ask him who will win today's game or what he thinks of various teams. Perhaps you can take up one of the sports he enjoys... bowling, swimming, tennis... and do it with him. (For free printed tips on "Etiquette" to help improve your manners and popularity, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.)

A Rose by a New Name— But, the Job is the Same

WASHINGTON.—(UP)—The house believes a rose by another name could smell a little sweeter after all.

It solemnly voted yesterday to dub its chief janitor with the classier title of Chief Custodian.

The assistant janitor got a new title, too. He's now the assistant custodian.

No extra money was mentioned.

But the house move was clearly the latest crest in a wave of progress that is elevating the tone of American occupations.

Long ago undertakers took to softening the possibly unhappy associations their calling may have for some by calling themselves morticians.

Then barbers decided to give a bit more dignity to their activities by calling themselves tonsorial artists and later chirotonors.

Hairdressers became beauticians. Floor walkers became aisle managers. Foot doctors became podiatrists. Rat catchers became exterminating engineers.

But possibly the ultimate was achieved by the ladies of the theater who disrobe in public. Strippers became custodians.

House Chief Custodian John E. Bennett was not immediately available for comment on his new title. But assistant custodian T. Howard Dolan said "This is the first time I've heard of it."

"It's okay with me, though," he said. "I don't care what they call it."

"Of course, if there was some money in it, why then I'd be interested."

There never has been a car like the Edsel.

Behind it lie all of the resources of Ford Motor Company, all of the experience, all of the engineering skill.

Behind the Edsel, too, is the finest group of dealers any new car has ever had.

Their facilities are as new in concept as the Edsel itself. One example: service departments built around a completely new idea in car care—Edsel Green Light Service.

In getting ready to serve you, Edsel Dealers have matched the quarter-billion-dollar investment of the Ford Motor Company in the Edsel.

Why have these men invested so much in a car you haven't seen? The answer is this: they have seen it, they have driven it. They know that you will find many things that make the Edsel different from any car you have ever driven. More exciting, more sure, more safe.

Driving a car that is truly original—not a copy of any existing car, not a compromise—is an experience you will never forget. Plan now to accept your Edsel Dealer's invitation to see and drive the Edsel.
