

Old Bandstand Razed

A Plymouth landmark was razed this week, the old covered bandstand on Penniman Ave. near Our Lady of Good Counsel Church.

It looked like a bandstand, at least—though none of The Mail's historical advisors can ever remember any music having been played there. The city band concerts were held regularly in another similar stand in Kellogg Park. That's where the speeches were made, too.

Old timers believe the stand was built more-or-less as an ornament, or covered picnic place, by the Penniman family on their property sometime around 1880 or 1890. Karl Starkweather says it was standing when he was a wee lad in 1898.

Whatever its purpose or previous state of grandeur, the stand was a victim of time. It had rotted badly and become a hazard so the present owner, Our Lady of Good Counsel, ordered it leveled. The church has no immediate plans for building anything else on the site.

Troops On Guard At School Doors

BY UNITED PRESS

National Guardsmen stopped racial integration at a Little Rock, Ark., high school today for the second straight day and brought the state and federal governments into direct conflict over the tense racial issue.

Eight Negro pupils were turned back by armed troops despite a direct integration order from a federal judge. The pupils departed but State Adjutant General Sherman Klinger said U.S. Marshals would try to take the Negroes through the National Guard lines.

A crowd began to gather at Central High School, the latest school integration trouble spot, and the Guardsmen stood waiting with clips of cartridges in their hands for the appearance of the marshals.

The potentially explosive situation was the first time the forces of the federal government had been pitted against armed elements of a state in the South's battle against integration.

WASHINGTON—Middle East trouble shooter Loy W. Henderson said today the Syrian situation is "extremely serious" and may affect "the security of the whole free world." Henderson made the statement on returning from a 14-day trip to the Middle East to get first-hand facts on the crisis there caused by Syria's pro-Soviet shift.

DETROIT—Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel of the Senate rackets investigating committee, is in Detroit in continuation of the committee's investigation of James R. Hoffa. The investigator, arriving yesterday, would not give details on his visit but said he hoped for a "small talk" with several people in connection with the check into the doings of the teamsters boss.

He said he would be in Detroit the rest of the week and his checking would include Hoffa's relations with management and on the Teamsters boss' financial and union activities.

NEW YORK—The "Magic numbers" now are 15 and 17 for a Braves-Yankee world series. If the Milwaukee Braves win 15 of their remaining 23 games, they will clinch the National League pennant even if second-place St. Louis wins all its remaining games. And the Yankees will clinch the American League flag if they win only 17 of their remaining 21 even if second-place Chicago wins 'em all.

Evered Jolliffe, 73, Dies

Evered Jolliffe, who came to Plymouth when he was six years old and remained a lifetime as a respected and beloved citizen, was interred Saturday at Riverside Cemetery mausoleum.

He died of cancer at 2 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 28. He had been treated for the same ailment four years ago and made an admirable recovery, but there was a relapse about six months ago and he had been ill thereafter. He was 73 years old. Before he died, Evered asked that remembrances be made in the form of gifts to the American Cancer Society.

Rev. Melbourne Johnson praised the good friend and neighbor at funeral services at Schrader's Funeral Home on Saturday morning. Pall-bearers, named by the Plymouth Rotary Club of which Jolliffe was a devoted member, were Harold Curtis, Frank Henderson, David Mather, Harry Draper, Perry Richwine and James Taylor.

Jolliffe was born in Blenheim, Ont. on May 2, 1884 and his family moved to Plymouth in 1890. He attended Farmington and Plymouth schools and the University of Michigan. Among his first employment was that at the Markham Air Rifle Co., a concern which he also served as secretary and sales manager from 1913 to 1924.

For two years he worked in sales promotion for the Oakland Motor Car Co. and he was district manager for DeSoto for four years.

In 1933 he joined with his wife in the operation of Hilltop Farm Camp and remained there until retirement about five years ago.

He was a member of the Methodist Church and a long-time official board member there. He was secretary of Rotary for eight years and a member of the University of Michigan Club for years.

He is survived by his wife, the former Grace Wise, whom he married in Reed City, Mich. in 1913. There are four surviving children, Mrs. Norman (Miriam) Koval of Binghamton, N.Y.; Mrs. Robert (Jean) Champe of Livonia; Keith Jolliffe of Lake Leelanau, Mich.; Larry Jolliffe of Plymouth. Brothers are Harold of Plymouth and Victor of Los Angeles and a sister is Mrs. Pearl Wilson of Plymouth.

BGR Employees To Have Asiatic Influenza Shots

Employees of Barnes-Gibson-Raymond will be inoculated without charge by their company against Asiatic Influenza.

C. J. Stofko, general manager of the BGR division of Associated Spring Corp., said the shots are to protect the company and customers against the damage an epidemic could cause. He pointed out that it could cripple the company's operations, among other effects.

The B-G-R project, first of its kind in this area, is based on expert forecasts that 15 to 20 percent of the nation's population probably will fall prey to the Asiatic Strain Influenza. Stofko said the inoculations would be available at the Plymouth plant (about 400 employees) and the Ann Arbor plant (about 150 employees.)

"As a member of the local community, we want to do our full part in reducing the hazards of epidemic," he added.

Deliveries of the vaccine are expected at the plant within a fortnight. The shots will be given there, or employees will be given the vaccine for administering by their family doctor, if they choose. The disease is spread by direct personal contact or by coming in contact with objects contaminated by discharges from the nose and throat of infected individuals. There is some evidence that flu infection is air-borne.

The supervision at Barnes Gibson Raymond has been instructed how to detect some of the symptoms of the disease. These are chills or a chilly sensation followed by a high fever or a cough. Because Asiatic Flu is a highly infectious disease of the respiratory tract and is spread from person to person by direct contact, it is necessary that the employees who have contracted the disease be completely recovered before returning to work.

BGR has advised all of its employees that they also should make preparations through their own family physicians to have their families inoculated against this disease.

Although Asiatic Flu is believed to be a mild disease, complications may have a serious effect. Immunity from the Asiatic Flu vaccine is expected to last from nine to twelve months, but a booster shot is recommended at six months if unusual epidemic conditions exist.

The vaccine being produced at the present time is a monovalent type good for only the Asiatic Flu. It is expected that some side reactions will develop from being inoculated with the vaccine, but these should be of a mild nature, consisting of a stinging sensation on injection and possibly mild superficial reaction that would last about twenty-four hours. Because the influenza vaccine is made from eggs, any person known to be allergic to eggs, chicken or chicken feathers may react unfavorably.

Other bids on the same job were Detroit Concrete Products, $16,215; and Cadillac Asphalt Paving Co., $17,717.

The culvert will permit the extending of Hartsough Ave. to the Junior High building.

The city commissioners were distressed that the culvert and street are not available for the opening of school and they made it clear that they want the matter fixed immediately.

Armo promised delivery and installation within no more than 30 days.

A taxicab license was transferred from Theodore H. Johnson to Ross C. Bush.

City manager Al Glassford made a plea to the Commission for the adoption of a city plumbing code—one which would provide for an inspector and inspections.

Plymouth has no such code today. State inspection is impossible because of lack of men and time. Glassford said, therefore, that many jobs have been installed poorly and that Plymouth's local plumbers sought the code to protect the public from outsiders who come in and do "quick, poor jobs" and then leave.

Glassford suggested the Detroit code as a model but some commissioners thought it might be too cumbersome. Other commissioners wondered why there couldn't be a state-wide code that would call for an inspector and apply to all municipalities.

It was suggested that Plymouth Township probably needed a code even more badly than the City and possibly a joint arrangement could be worked out.

Parking Space $875; City Takes $275 Of It

Members of the Plymouth City Commission ruled Monday night that the city shall participate with businessmen in paying for parking spaces.

The price—to a merchant unable to provide his own off-street parking spaces in accordance with the ordinance—henceforth will be $600 per car space. The actual cost to the City for providing a space in a city lot is $875. The difference ($275) is the portion being borne by the city at large on the theory that off-street parking involves the general welfare.

(Ann Arbor and other cities have found parking lot costs as high as $1500-$2000 per year.) The figures and recommendation were submitted by a special committee which included Robert Sincoc, Richard Wernette, William Hartmann and City Manager Al Glassford. The plan passed unanimously.

"It is our opinion that the cost of parking should be at the rate of 70 percent of the current cost of obtaining and developing parking lots," said the committee report.

"The cost of developing the east central lot was about $875 per car space, using a land value of $1.25 per square foot. Since the City probably will not develop parking or acquire land in the most expensive commercial areas of the city, it is recommended that $875 be used as the standard base for one year. After one year has expired, it is recommended that the costs again be reviewed.

"Such sums received should be earmarked and placed in the park fund for the purpose of furthering the capital improvement parking program of the City of Plymouth."

Paving on Main Street
A and A Asphalt Paving Co. of Birmingham, Mich., was low bidder at $15,390 and was awarded a contract for bituminous surfacing of a portion of South Main street and the whole of the East Central Parking Lot.

The work on Main Street will go approximately from Ann Arbor Trail to the intersection of Wing street.

Other bids on the same job were Detroit Concrete Products, $16,215; and Cadillac Asphalt Paving Co., $17,717.

Culvert for Junior High
With a plea to the contractor to use all possible speed, a bid for a 92 foot metal culvert at the new Junior High site was awarded to Armo Drainage and Metal Products, Inc. The price is $5,165.92.

The culvert will permit the extending of Hartsough Ave. to the Junior High building.

The city commissioners were distressed that the culvert and street are not available for the opening of school and they made it clear that they want the matter fixed immediately.

Armo promised delivery and installation within no more than 30 days.

A taxicab license was transferred from Theodore H. Johnson to Ross C. Bush.

vide for an inspector and inspections.

The matter will be given further study.

Prices Revealed For Edsel Cars
Suggested list prices for the new Edsel line of cars, which was publicly introduced in 1,200 dealer showrooms Wednesday were announced today by Richard E. Kravie, company vice-president and general manager of the Edsel Division.

Prices start at $2,300 for the Ranger two-door sedan and cover the medium price field with 18 models up to the Citation convertible, top model car in the line, with a suggested list price of $3,489.

West Brothers, the Plymouth dealer for the new Edsel, will introduce the automobiles at its showroom at 534 Forest this week, Sept. 4 through Sept. 7.

The occasion will be observed with prizes, music, refreshments and other fun for the family.

Vacation Closes, School Underway For 4390 Youths

Homework has officially become the "favorite" pastime of 4,390 Plymouth youngsters, as school opened today.

An estimated 4,300 boys and girls will enter Plymouth's public schools and another 90 will attend the Lutheran Day School. Four-hundred and ten pupils are expected at Our Lady of Good Counsel school Friday.

A record professional staff of 185 has been preparing for the big day. Activities opened with a conference Tuesday morning at which Roger Leatherman of the University of Michigan spoke on the peacetime implication of atomic research. Leatherman is assistant director of the Phoenix Memorial project at the university.

Tuesday afternoon the teachers and principals met in their respective schools. Wednesday was "Planning Day" when the teachers prepared their rooms and instructional material for today.

New surroundings, of the most modern design, are in store for junior high school students. Located in the southeastern corner of the city, with entrances off Mill street, it will accommodate 844 pupils.

Designed for 1,000, a figure which will eventually be reached when the sixth grades are moved back to elementary buildings and the ninth grade moved in. The building will cost $1,667,000, including the site.

Modernization will be seen in the senior high buildings too, which have received extensive renovating. Nearly every room in the old junior high, which will be called the "annex," has been converted for high school use. The commercial department and the shop class are among the activities moved to the annex.

Students will find the library doubled in size and the biology room revamped. New courses are business machines, music appreciation and Spanish.

The bookstore will open Friday and Monday. The used book store will also be opened those dates.

When Our Lady of Good Counsel school opens its doors Friday, for pupils from grades one through eight, they will be greeted by new fluorescent lights in each classroom.

Washington—Attorney General Brownell has ordered the F B I to investigate what he called "interference" with the federal court order calling for integration of public schools in Little Rock, Ark. Governor Faubus has surrounded a high school with National Guard troops and the Guardsmen have blocked Negro students from entering.

NEW YORK—Federal agents have cracked a 100-million-dollar international narcotics syndicate. A federal grand jury in New York city accused 44 men and two women of conspiring to smuggle opium, cocaine and heroin into the United States.

HOLLYWOOD—The prosecution has decided against calling any more movie stars in the criminal libel trial of Confidential magazine. Prosecutor William Ritz told the superior judge in Hollywood that his rebuttal case was finished.

DAYTONA BEACH—A severe thunderstorm hit Daytona Beach this afternoon with winds up to 56 miles per hour. Four-and-three-quarter inches of rain fell in 54 minutes.

DETROIT—The grand champion steer of the 1957 Michigan State fair was sold at the fair's auction of champions today for $2,450 a pound.

The grand champion was an Aberdeen-Angus owned by Michigan state university and weighs one-thousand and 25 pounds. So the total buying price was $2,511.25. The buyer was a southeastern Michigan supermarket chain.

The reserve grand champion steer was a Hereford owned by 17-year-old Lawrence Follett of Saline. And it weighed 918 pounds and was sold for $1,000 a pound. The buyer was another Detroit area supermarket who gave the steer—and several other blue-blooded animals to the Capucian fathers—who operate an open kitchen for the poor.

Old Problem Still Around

Somewhat out of sight, but emphatically not out of mind, is the old City of Plymouth problem of how to handle requests for service which originate in Plymouth Township.

Specific matters got to the floor of the Commission meeting twice Monday night.

A representative of Garling Construction Co. asked for a statement of City policy toward providing water to a platted parcel which lies off Ann Arbor Trail, partly in the city and partly in the Township.

He was told to wait, pending a special meeting soon at which a long-range water policy will be established—a policy which will state specifically to whom, and at what price, and under what terms, water will be sold outside the city limits. He was assured that there was no problem so far as the homes within the city limits were concerned.

A few minutes later the commissioners heard a request by Hillside Inn, which lies within the Township boundaries, for a new hydrant to be installed on a city line across Plymouth road from the dining place. Hillside seeks it, and a contract for its use, to obtain fire insurance at reduced cost.

This was given back by the Commission to the City Manager for a complete cost study, and an analysis of "everything involved."

Meanwhile, there was a hint at the meeting that the Commission is about to make a decision on whether to extend fire hydrant contracts to Township residents who could benefit in lower insurance rates if such agreements were signed.

During one of the discussions, the City Attorney asked the Garling Construction representative if he had proposed to the Township the possibility of permitting city annexation of the plat which needs water.

The man said he had sounded out Township officials and "had gotten nowhere."

He said if city water were not available, Garling would have to dig private wells or "do something else."

Back to the City Planning Commission for study has gone a petition asking that Jener St. be closed off and vacated between Linden (Brush) and Beech.

The petition said the action was desirable because "no houses face this street; there is little traffic, yet dust can be stirred up; the street is always in very bad condition during winter and spring; the city does little in the way of maintaining this street; there are no utilities on this portion of Jener."

It bore four signatures, Herbert C. Burley, Ward Henry, Andrew Norling, Margaret Lazor. They said they represented 100 percent of property owners.

Commissioner Carl Shear first moved that the petition be denied "because I don't approve of closing down streets—if ever we had to get it back it would take condemnation action." Robert Sincoc seconded, noting that "if we close this one, we can expect a whole series of requests for closing streets." Under the suggestions of Richard Wernette and Marvin Terry, however, it was decided to solicit the views of the planning commission and police and fire officials before acting.

Wernette at one point said, "I've checked the street. It dead ends... doesn't lead anywhere... has no utilities... and I'm inclined to go along with the petition."

Engineer Herald Hamill was given permission by the commission to lift and re-install at a deeper level a portion of sanitary sewer at the new Birch Estates subdivision near Byron street.

Hamill, in a letter said it was necessary to permit basement laundry tubs and basement toilets at a couple of locations.

The permission was given him provided the change be "made at his expense and subject to a check by the city engineer."

Crash Victim On Critical List

The Labor Day weekend produced one bad traffic accident in the Plymouth area, which left a 27-year-old local resident in critical condition at Wayne County General hospital.

Shelt Junior Smith, 40675 Plymouth road, whose car turned over on Schoolcraft at approximately 2:20 a.m. Monday, is suffering from head injuries and possible internal injuries. He has been on the critical list since his admission, but is believed to be improving.

A passenger, Loyd Earl Newcombe, 335 Cady, Northville, sustained head injuries. He was treated at the hospital and released.

Smith was driving west on Schoolcraft when his car apparently left the road and turned over. Plymouth police sent a car and ambulance to the scene. The car was a total wreck.

The Wayne County Sheriff's office said that Smith was unable to make a statement at the time of the accident, but that Newcombe said that they were forced off the road by another vehicle, which did not stop.

There may also be some frost in the Straits area in northern lower Michigan. The weatherman says it depends on the winds.

Tonight's lows are expected to range between 42 degrees in Upper Michigan and 52 degrees in the southern part of the state.

The five-day outlook shows Michigan readings will average four to seven degrees below normal during the period. Normal highs for this time of year are the mid-60's in the Lake Superior area and the upper 70's in the extreme south. Normal lows are 48 to 57.

Get The Broker 3 Shares, Please

A small group of men gathered in the livingroom of a Plymouth home one night recently. A serious decision had to be made.

Corporate names such as Western Pacific, General Telephone, Baltimore & Ohio and Niagara and Mohawk Power were mentioned among others. Legal-looking forms in small type were brought out. They devulged such facts as the earnings of the corporations, their dividends during past years and general financial conditions.

The group wanted to make a buy and they wanted to make sure it was the right one. An hour slipped by—finally they took a vote. Their decision was to purchase stock of a utility company—three shares, to be exact.

This group was the Parkview Investment Club, one of four such organizations in Plymouth today devoted to introducing its members to the fascinating world of the stock market.

While the average citizen has to wait until he accumulates some surplus funds in his bank account before he starts dabbling in the stock market, investment club members are able to tangle with the bull and the bear market for a few dollars monthly. Most of them are paying for their home, and their car and have several children. They come from all walks of life.

This type of thing isn't happening just around Detroit although this is where the idea was born. There are now 2,700 investment clubs in North America with a membership of 35,000. They are located in every state, plus Hawaii, Alaska, Canada, Canal Zone and even Saudi Arabia. Michigan boasts the largest number and Wayne county is saturated with 300.

The investment clubs are united by a non-profit organization known as the American Association of Investment Clubs with offices in Detroit. The first modern investment club was started in Detroit 17 years ago with four clubs.

The original club had 12 members and still has 11 of that group. They could now liquidate at $96,153. There has been $22,270 withdrawn. Each member's deposit of $3,240 in the club is worth $16,300.

Although it would be possible for members to divide the profits, most clubs do not do this until they have achieved a considerable amount of wealth. If a member must withdraw from the club, he is paid off at the present per capita value of the club's shares. As a result, a member who quits usually finds himself even or ahead of his original investment, but more important, he is considerably richer in knowledge.

TINY WINDOW AN EYESORE?

If you're faced with an odd window, one that's smaller and higher than all the other windows in the room, don't think there's nothing you can do but put up with it and let it spoil the decorative effect of the entire room. It will conform beautifully if you...

... MAKE IT MATCH

Give it the same treatment that you give the other windows in the room. Cottage-type curtains are fine for this. Disguise the size of the smaller window by making the curtains the same length as those of other windows and keep lower tier drawn together with no sacrifice of light.

Decorating an attractive, livable home need not be costly. Chances are you can do most of the work yourself. If you are looking for new ideas that will improve your home, come in and have a talk with us. You are always most welcome.

Sometimes just the addition of one new piece of furniture, a small accessory, or a new window treatment is the remedy for a run-down room. We're sure that you'll agree with us that our present selections are the loveliest ever. So do come in soon and let us help you choose what you need.

WHAT TO DO WHEN BREATHING STOPS

These five figures illustrate, from top to bottom, the steps in mouth-to-mouth resuscitation now being taught in Red Cross First Aid courses.

(1) Mother, using middle finger of one hand, clears child's mouth of any foreign matter. With same finger, she holds the tongue forward.

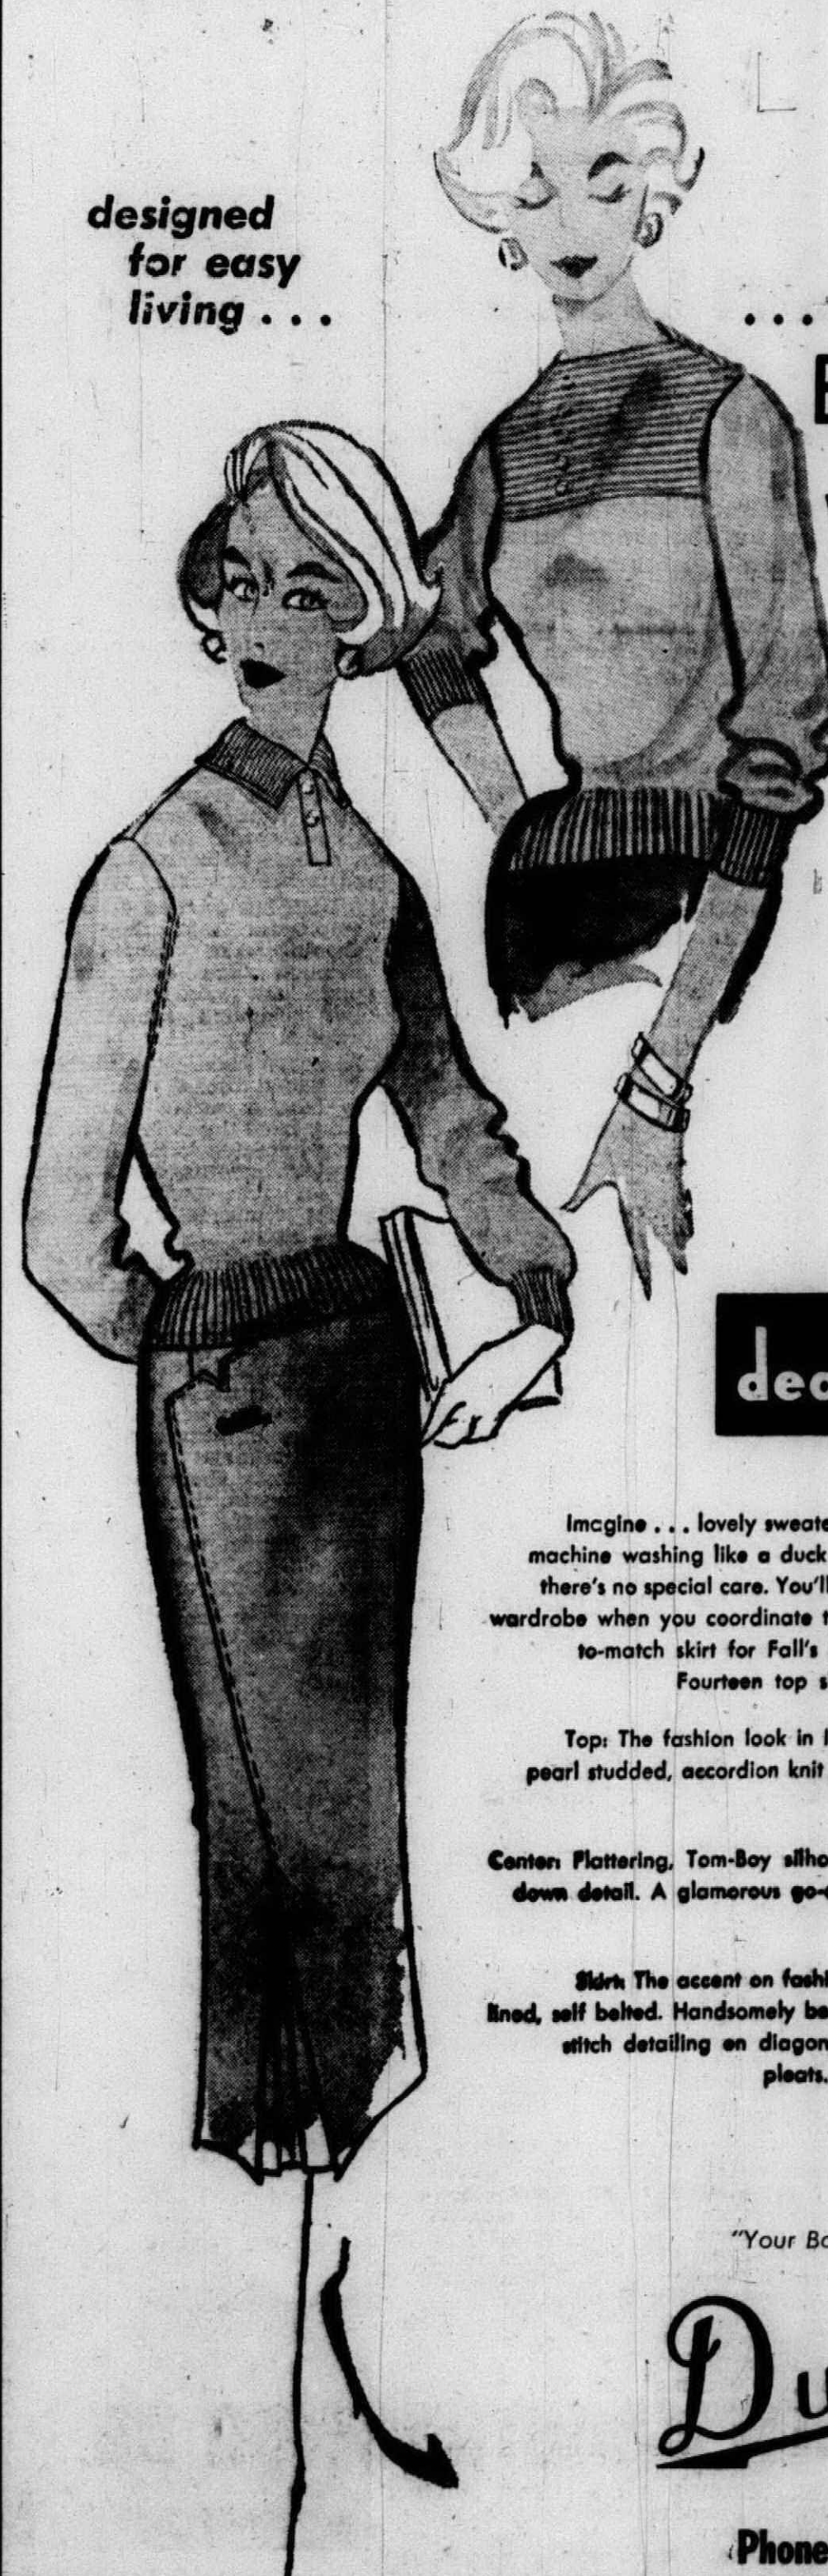

(2) Mother places child in a face-down, head-down, position, and pats him firmly on the back with the free hand, to help dislodge any foreign object in the air passage.

(3) The child is placed on his back, and the mother, using middle fingers of both hands, lifts the lower jaw from beneath and behind so that it "juts out."

(4) With one hand only, the jaw is held in this jutting-out position.

(5) The mother, covering the child's mouth and nose with her mouth, breathes into the child with a smooth, steady action. The free hand applies continuous moderate pressure to the child's abdomen, between navel and ribs, to prevent the stomach from being filled with air.

Concrete Comments—

Concrete workers tell us that the concrete we deliver is EASY-FINISHING — works to a smooth surface more quickly and easily than they're accustomed to (unless they've used our concrete before).

That, we suspect, is one reason why most buyers in the Plymouth-Ypsilanti-Ann Arbor area come to US for transit-mixed concrete. Other reasons, we're told, are consistent high quality and dependable service.

Use our concrete on your next job and we think you'll find that those other users are right!

Torch Drive Service Provided Care for 64 Patients Last Year

The visiting Nurse Association, a Torch Drive service, disclosed today it helped doctors care for 64 patients among Plymouth and Plymouth Township's 14,200 population in 293 visits last year.

Plymouth is in the association's northwest district, which includes also Redford Township, Livonia, and the northwestern part of Detroit and has its offices at 14607 Grand River. The District has a nursing staff which averaged 12 persons and which was responsible for 16,257 visits to 2,261 patients during 1956.

Patients in this district were among 15,817 in the Detroit-area population of 3,287,130, who were visited 128,280 times by an employed staff which includes 92 professional nurses, 18 practical nurses, and 17 home aides.

The Visiting Nurse Association, organized by a group of Detroit citizens in 1898, now serves the entire metropolitan area. It provides nursing service wherever needed to help maintain, improve, or rehabilitate the health of the individual and the family. This is done always in cooperation with the medical profession and in coordination with the programs of the health departments. The organization also cooperates with educational institutions providing opportunities to students for supervised public health nursing practice.

Nursing care is given according to physician's orders. Members of the family are trained to take over the care of the patient as soon as possible. Nurses are helped by specialists, such as physical therapists, nutritionists and occupational therapists and by practical nurses and home aides in carrying out their objectives.

The service is available to anyone residing in the district who needs it. A charge is made where the patient is able to pay. Annual grants from funds raised in the Torch Drive make it possible to provide services, even though patients or their families are not able to pay.

The Visiting Nurse Association is one of 195 health and community services made possible by the Annual Torch Drive. Starting Oct. 15, some 70,000 volunteers under the leadership of Sherrod E. Skinner, General Motors vice president and general campaign chairman for the Ninth Annual Torch Drive, will solicit funds for 1958 budgets of those services.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

The Lord hath heard my supplication; the Lord will receive my prayer.—(Psalms 6, 9.)

God hears the faintest, unspoken prayer that wells up from our hearts, the silent supplication that forms on our lips—and even as we pray in faith and trust, He is answering; for He is always listening, ever loving and merciful.

Senator Potter reports

... the latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan ...

CHILLS AND FEVER. with pains in head, back and legs, are the first signs of Asiatic flu. Raging across Africa, the Middle East and South America, epidemics have prostrated millions and by the first of June flu was seeping through window-cracks and doorills of the United States. The Asiatic type is not too severe but the Public Health Service believes many unrecognized cases are occurring here. Authorities are battling down the hatches, readying a new simple, fast test to identify flu viruses, and releasing first shipments of preventive vaccine. In the absence of such protection, experts say 17 to 34 million Americans could come down with Asiatic flu this fall.

Priority for Michigan on vaccine is my goal. I've written Surgeon General Leroy Burney, reminding him that our densely populated industrial centers constitute real danger areas for spread of infection. Michigan's key transportation position and her port-studded coastline provide natural entry-points for the disease. I've also offered to assist PHS in publicizing the immunization drive through my radio and television reports, carried over virtually every Michigan station.

MICHIGAN'S FAIREST flew into Washington to thump tubs for the home state. Blonde, blue-eyed Valerie Joy Strong of Traverse City, sponsored by the Greater Muskegon Junior Chamber of Commerce, charmed official Washington from the Vice President down. She was championed by another beauty, Capital Airlines hostess Sandra Buhl of Belleville. The girls helped me present the first "Passport to Pleasure in Michigan's Water Wonderland" to Vice President Nixon.

The "passport", which I've sent to every Senator and Cabinet member, carries about thirty dollars' worth of complimentary trips, tours, meals and other Michigan attractions and even includes use of a new car while in the State. With adjournment almost here, I expect the passports, developed by our alert tourist associations, to lure quite a few officials into Michigan for vacations, or at least encourage them to make our State a stopping-off point.

FORTY MILLION of us who own television sets have invested our money on the assumption that we could settle down in our living rooms and dial programs without further charge except an occasional payment to the TV serviceman. Now come the "toll TV" boys, wanting to make slot machines out of our sets. On the Senate floor last week, I pointed out the dangers: "Pay TV" would enable a few sharpies to clean up financially by using broadcasting channels, a resource belonging to all the people. I'm opposed to it. I can foresee the day when political conventions, inaugurations and great sports events will be denied those without the price of "admission" to their own TV sets. It will be sad indeed when a citizen has to drop money in a slot to see and get to know candidates for public office.

August 31, 1957

The Washington United Press Dispatch which appeared in this week's Mail and headed "A Rose by a New Name — But, the Job is the Same" both interested and amused me. It told about how certain lowly but honorable jobs have lately taken on new and fancy cognomens — like how the House has just changed the title of its Chief Janitor to that of Chief Custodian. It seems that there has been no change in salary or duties but the new name is supposed to lend more prestige and dignity to the job. And the story continued.

But it didn't go the whole gamut. It didn't tell about how in many factories the old time sweepers and window washers have now become Care Takers. The old foreman of the sweepers is now Chief Care Taker. And it has long been noted, of course, how the old time factory watchman has in many instances become a uniformed Plant Protection Officer. A complete list of new titles to common jobs would be a long one. It's the new psychology. Anything that elevates a man's ego, or makes him feel better generally, is supposed to be good not only for the man himself but for all those around him.

All this is reminiscent of the time when, some years ago, the authority at the White House received a letter from a man who wanted to be appointed, not to the job of spittoon cleaner, but to the office of Custodian of the Cuspider. The man received a courteous reply but the reply had to be in the negative. No such office existed.

But what really gets me — although the subject is now changed somewhat — is how the old time drunk has now been given the fancy name of alcoholic. He's not a drunk any more — he's an alcoholic. The new term is supposed to lend a degree of sympathy toward his bad habit. But it's not even a bad habit any more. In today's nomenclature the poor fellow is merely the victim of disease. That is, he's not the victim of a bad habit, but the victim of disease. You see, calling it disease doesn't make him sink so low socially.

But the pity of it all! Thousands of present day clean, wholesome teen age boys and girls will, within a few short years from now, be joining up with the AA's. And many thousands more will not even want to join. Many of them will not even attempt to be cured of this so-called disease. And just to think that all this should be totally unnecessary in the first place! But nothing much will ever be done about it, The Country once did try to do something about it but then changed back. You see the liquor business is big business and nothing must be done to disturb the nation's economy. Changing the common drunk into an alcoholic, and selling the stuff in grocery stores instead of old time saloons, makes both the imbiber and the trade more respectable.

Madonna College Classes to Open On September 19

All classes at Madonna College will begin Thursday, Sept. 19, at 8:30 a.m. Registration will take place the preceding day, Sept. 18, following the Mass in honor of the Holy Spirit.

Orientation Days for Freshmen and other new students are scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, the 16th and 17th. All new students are required to participate. The days will be a blend of orientation lectures and tours on campus, an off-campus picnic, several tests for guidance purposes, and social hours for acquaintance.

Freshmen resident students are due on campus Sunday, Sept. 15, before 8 p.m. Freshman day students will arrive the 16th before 9 a.m.

Upperclass resident students will report Tuesday, Sept. 17 before 8 p.m. and the day students on Wednesday in time for the 9 a.m. Mass.

The College is offering an increased number of late afternoon and evening classes this fall to accommodate part-time and adult students. Registration for these courses will take place September 13, Friday, from 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Following are the courses scheduled:

Mondays only — 4 p.m.: Methods in high school English (2 semester hours), Gregorian Chant (2 s.h.), Literature of the Romantic Period (2 s.h.); 6:30 p.m.: Laboratory in Drawing and Painting (2 s.h.).

Mondays and Wednesdays 7:30 p.m.: Elementary Number Theory (3 s.h.); 4 p.m.: History and Appreciation of Art (3 s.h.); 4:30 p.m.: History of England (3 s.h.); 6:30 p.m.: Clothing (3 s.h.); Social Problems (3 s.h.); 7 p.m.: Rhetoric and Composition (Freshman English) — (3 s.h.).

Wednesdays only — 4 p.m.: Music in the elementary school (2 s.h.); 6:30 p.m. Counterpoint (Music) — (2 s.h.).

Tuesdays only — 6:30 p.m.: Art orientation through crafts (2 s.h.).

Tuesdays and Thursdays — 4 p.m.: Intermediate Accounting (3 s.h.); 6:30 p.m.: Child Growth and Development (3 s.h.).

Fees for the late afternoon and evening classes per semester are as follows: tuition $9 per semester hour; recording fee $1 (for non-matriculated students); matriculation $10 (for matriculated students — payable only once); and special fees for materials.

Adult students who wish to work toward a degree at Madonna College are requested to have their credentials — both high school and college (if any) — sent to the Registrar.

Madonna College is located at 36800 Schoolcraft Rd. between Newburg and Levan roads in Livonia.

Parkview Circle News

We were away over the long weekend and I haven't been able to gather any news items for you so will fill up a little space by taking this opportunity to make a few observations concerning our circle and this column.

Labor Day, for most of us, means the end of a happy care-free summer. BUT it also means the beginning of a whole new season of fall and winter activities that will keep us all busy from now right thru to spring.

There will be church, PTA, social clubs and civic groups to only mention a few and if you people are good enough and generous enough to give of your valuable time to strengthen and promote these worthwhile projects then I feel that you should receive, at the very least, the small recognition which this column can give. Your friends and neighbors will be pleased to know what you are doing and perhaps you may be able to interest others in your pet projects. I'm sure there are some folks around here who would like to join a particular group but haven't been asked or maybe are unaware that such a group exists. Therefore, I'd like to suggest that this column be used by all of you as a sort of "clearing house" to let others know the aims, needs, or goal of your group.

The regular meeting of the Parkview Association will be held this Friday at the home of Lorraine and Joe Quinlan on Gard

Legal Notice

To the Supervisor and Highway Commissioner of the Township of Plymouth, Wayne County, Michigan.

You are hereby notified that the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, did, at a meeting of said Board held on August 8, 1957, decide and determine that the certain streets described in the minutes of said Board should be County roads under the jurisdiction of the Board of County Road Commissioners. The minutes of said meeting fully describing said streets are hereby made a part of this notice, and are as follows:

Minutes of the regular meeting of the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, held at the Board's offices on the 7th Floor, City-County Building, Detroit 26, Michigan, at 9:00 a.m., Eastern Standard Time, Thursday, August 8, 1957.

Present: Commissioners Kreger and O'Brien. Absent: Commissioner Wilson.

Commissioner O'Brien moved the adoption of the following resolution: BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, that the following described roads be and they are hereby taken over as county roads and made a part of the county road system of the County of Wayne:

All of Bruce, Kevin, Marilyn, Marlin and Southworth Avenues as dedicated for public use in Arbor Village Sub-division of part of the S. W. 1/4 of Sec. 36, T. 15. N. R. 2E., Plymouth Township, Wayne County, Michigan, as recorded in Liber 80 of Plats on Page 96, Wayne County Records; constituting a total of 0.574 mile of county roads.

The motion was supported by Commissioner Kreger and carried by the following vote: Ayes: Commissioners Kreger and O'Brien. Nays: None. Absent Commissioner Wilson.

THIS NOTICE IS GIVEN UNDER AND BY VIRTUE OF ACT NO. 283 OF THE PUBLIC ACTS OF 1909, AS AMENDED.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand at Detroit, Michigan this 16th day of August, A. D. 1957.

Uncle Sam's wildlife protectors are worried because the silly wild goose is falling for the same downbeat as the rock-n-rollers.

It seems many a hunter is carrying hi-fi equipment along on hunting trips. That doesn't mean they're soothing their shooting jitters with Brahms, Beethoven or boogie-woogie. Nope, they load their record players or tape reels with duck and goose calls, amplify them and point them in the direction of the wild fowl. The birds mistake the canned quackery for the real McCoy. When they fly low for an encore, they run into the commercial... in the form of flying lead; it's mayhem set to music... and fowl lovers are calling "Fowl!"... especially when the birds get a big bang out of it.

... but you don't have to hunt far for a place to enjoy a delicious noon day snack. Our lunch counter will really fill the bill.

"Adding to the broadening effects of travel," says the Local Observer, "are all the eating places along the way." That's a statement that carries weight. Here's some more food for thought: Did you know that 90% of today's medical prescriptions were unknown in 1940? This means better health, longer lives for you and your family... all the more reason to rely on your doctor's advice, and to rely on us to fill his prescriptions faithfully

Mrs. Robert Fitzner 625 Parkview Drive

There are several things to be brought to the attention of the members so it is hoped that there will be a good attendance.

There were more American flags on display in our little subdivision on Labor Day than in the whole town of Wellington, Ohio, (population 5,000). From Wellington to Plymouth we counted the total sum of six flags.

What a beehive of activity we ran into when we drove in here on Monday afternoon. Dee and Les Upton down on all fours digging out crab grass. Joe Quinlan re-seeding his curb lawn. Bud Wilson and Don McGill over at the Lakes mowing their lawn. Jack Ruland painting Jim Parks' painting. Fred Campbell raking his back lawn. And power mowers making enough noise so that it sounded like the Indianapolis speedway.

I have been asked if we are going to have a rummage sale this year. What do you think about it? Would you volunteer your basement to hold the affair?

I hope you keep my phone ringing all next week so that I won't have time for the deadly washing, ironing, cleaning, etc.

...BUT LET'S FACE IT!

Ceramic Demonstration To Open at Eastland

A Ceramic Demonstration Festival will be held in the Special Events building at the new Eastland Shopping Center, 8 Mile and Kelly roads in North-east Detroit, on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 12, 13, 14 and 15. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The Ceramic Demonstration Festival is sponsored by Arts & Crafts Monthly, a national hobby magazine published here in Detroit, and it is especially designed to show by actual demonstrations that ceramics, copper enameling, jewelry making, mosaics, china painting and other related hobbies are much easier than most people realize and that actually anyone — even small children — can enjoy the fun of some phase of these fascinating hobbies.

Leading Detroit teachers will give demonstrations of simple decorating techniques that can be mastered by anyone, with very little instruction, and will also be available to answer questions on all phases of these various hobbies. Each of these teachers will furnish a beautiful hand-decorated piece which will be given away as a door prize. It isn't necessary to be at the drawing, which will take place on Sunday, you merely come in and register to be eligible. Arts & Crafts Monthly will also give away magazine subscriptions. The free show will be open from 10:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and from 10:00 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday. Demonstrations will be going on continually. For more information, call BR 3-9000.

Witnesses Protest Dominican Action

Ten American missionaries were deported to Puerto Rico from the Dominican Republic August 3, C. C. Coonce, Presiding Minister of the Plymouth congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, announced yesterday. Fare was paid by the Dominican government and the missionaries were escorted under arrest to the plane.

He said the action came on the heels of a wave of persecution equaled only in communist countries, climaxed by a total ban on the work of bible education conducted by the Witnesses in the Dominican Republic since 1945.

An ultimatum to the christian missionaries to renounce all association with the organization and cease communication with their Brooklyn, N.Y., office or leave the country was made last month by Major General Arthur Espallat, minister of security, whom the U.S. government has sought to question in the disappearance of Dr. Jesus

De Galindez. Some of the missionaries have been in the country for 11 years.

According to official news sources of the Dominican Republic, proscription of the christian activity of Jehovah's Witnesses was legalized by President Hector Trujillo on July 25 and the law carries penalties of from one to three months imprisonment with fines of from $30 to $100.

Saturday evening the card club, of which Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stringer of Birmingham are members, were entertained at dinner at the Hotel Mayflower with their mothers, Mrs. Clyde Stringer of Birmingham and Mrs. Charles Rathburn of Haggerty road as hostesses. The occasion was the 20th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Stringer. Guests were present from Royal Oak, Berkley and Detroit.

BY AL GLASSFORD

The City of Plymouth has the Council-manager form of government. In developing the new charter, the Charter Commission did not choose to call the legislative body a Council and retained the name of Commission from the old village days.

The City Commission is a legislative and policy making group. It consists of seven men, who choose among their number one to be the Mayor. The Mayor is chosen each two years after election. The Mayor has the same vote as the other seven Commissioners. When four of the Commissioners vote for a measure, it is adopted. The City Manager is governed accordingly. This is a simple, straightforward way to do business. The City Manager then directs the method of accomplishing the policy decisions.

For example, a Commissioner may think that the way of getting the job done is near, so the man on the street doing the work. He contacts the Man-Manager, who, if he deems the criticism as proper, and that the method should be changed, changes the method of operation.

Our Commissioners are paid $5.00 per meeting attended. Each may receive only a total of $260.00 in any one year; the Mayor receives $100.00 extra. For the past year, the total cost for Commissioners' salaries was $1270. The total maximum we could have spent was $1920.00. This is the best bargain in City government we have, when we consider that City Commissioners control a total City business of about $1,000,000 expenditures each year in addition to controlling such construction projects as the $600,000 sanitary sewer and the $60,000 water main project this year.

The voters have chosen wisely in electing their Commissioners, for of every one it can be said that he or she is of the highest integrity. The Commissioners honestly differ in ideas, but put the welfare of the community before special interests. We have the combined knowledges and skills of seven intelligent persons, who can handle most of the problems of the City. When special skills are required, as for engineering, planning or legal problems, the Commissioners readily turn to the expert for advice.

We employees at the City Hall have seen several Commissioners complete their terms of office. We noticed that in each case the person was practically drafted to run for office. He had misgivings about having the required education, information and background, and many other reasons. After getting his feet wet in the local affairs, he began to enjoy the work, as one enjoys a crossword puzzle or game of checkers. He is fascinated by the problems and challenges and has come up with excellent solutions. If it is suggested that you be a candidate for the office of Commissioner, have no fear, accept the honor; the pay is poor, the job is big, the problems challenging and the experiences satisfying.

Merchants Split Opening Games

The Plymouth Merchants took full advantage of four singles last Sunday and handed league champ River Rouge a defeat in the opening round of the Inter-County Baseball League Play-offs, 6-1. And yet, the same Merchant squad collected four singles and two doubles the following day, but bowed to Romulus in the second round, 4-2.

Meanwhile, the Plymouth Elks, who copped cellar honors during the regular season, are undefeated in the lower bracket play-offs after a 6-3 win over Detroit Control on Sunday and a bye on Monday.

Other play-off results are these: Sunday, Northville, behind Ken Kisabeth's masterful one-hitter, edged Redford, 2-1; Romulus and Chelsea drew aces. And Monday, Redford fell again, this time to River Rouge, 10-0; Northville had the bye, and Detroit Control forfeited to Chelsea.

In the Merchant-Rouge game on Sunday, runs were attained rather cheaply by the Plymouth squad. The locals picked up three runs in the fourth on three walks, two singles, an error and wild pitch. And they then pushed in three more in the seventh on two walks, two more singles, and another wild pitch. Rouge also collected four hits off winning hurler Eddie Hock.

But big Art Sheridan of Romulus threw the skids under Merchant boys the next day, twirling a nifty six-hit 4-2 decision over them. The contest was a most exciting one, with the outcome in the balance until the last Merchant out. Romulus picked up ten base raps off Rich Sheppard, scoring once in the second, twice in the fourth, and once in the ninth. Some shoddy Merchant fielding contributed to their defeat, although timely Jay Cee hitting was the big factor.

At Inkster Sunday, the Plymouth Elks racked up a win over home team Detroit Control, 6-3. Bob Bruce led the Elks' nine-hit attack with a double and two singles in five appearances. Jim Foley and Bonga shared pitching chores for the winners, allowing only four safeties. Foley got the win.

As of today, both Redford, of the upper division, and Detroit Control of the lower division, have been eliminated in the double knock-out play-off tournaments. Northville and Romulus sport unmarked records in the former, while Chelsea and the Elks boast duplicate marks in the latter.

Complete play-off records as of September 5th:

UPPER DIVISION
Northville	2 0
Romulus	2 0
Plymouth Merchants	1 1
River Rouge	1 1
Redford	0 2
LOWER DIVISION
Plymouth Elks	2 0
Chelsea	2 0
Detroit Control	0 2

Next Sunday the Elks play host to Chelsea, while the Merchants are away.

THE RIDER

BY BOB FRANKLIN

The Justin Morgan Horse Association, staged one of the best single breed shows I have seen this year. The show, held at the Woods and Waters Farm, took a big step in the direction of promoting the Morgan as an all-around horse. The day long show, featured many varied events and attracted many out of State riders.

One of the local riders who placed in Sunday's Morgan show was Barb Niemi. Barb and her Morgan gelding, Justin, went to third place in the Horsemanship Class. Miss Niemi is one of the best up and coming riders in the area. Although this is her first year in the show ring, she has made her mark. Barb is a member of the Plymouth 4-H Horse Club.

Dean Scoggins rode to first place in the Working Stock Horse Class on Walter Kane's fine Morgan gelding, Walthor. Walthor's spins and sliding stops brought the crowd to its feet. This horse looks like an able successor to the retired stock horse great, Johnny Geddes.

At the State 4-H Show, Gary Wright and his grey mare Sue-Z pulled into third place in the State Championship Stock Horse Class. Gary had a little bad luck, when his horse became lame the day before the class, but you just can't keep a good man down, or a good horse either for that matter.

Well, the time has come for this rider to saddle his old pony and head out yonder. It sure has been fun bringing you news and side lights from the horse world, but College is calling and I must go. Thanks for the news and most of all, thanks for your letters. This season has been a fine one. I hope we have many more like it. Thanks again and so long.

amount of body protection in their knock-down, drag-out, rough and tumble quest for gridiron glory? The answer is a definite yes. The pads, helmets, guards, and other gear worn by Plymouth athletes each fall are the best money can buy.

According to Head Football Coach Mike Hoban, the hip pads worn by the Plymouth Eleven are of better quality than those sported by University of Michigan gridder. And all other protective materials are at least comparable to U. of M. dress.

As with all things, each year brings changes and improvements made in football wear. With these changes come lighter, less bulky, yet more highly protective pads, guards, etc. Plymouth keeps abreast of these improvements. Though not able to replace the entire stock of gear each year, Plymouth High purchases a specific quantity of new grid gear every season, employing a rotation system which nets PHS players a complete change of all equipment and apparel every four years.

Johnny is as safe as equipment can make him.

Again this year a few hand-picked Plymouth golfers are entered in the Men's and Women's Michigan Recreation Association Golf Tournaments. Constituting the women's team for '57 are Mrs. Betty Demol, Mrs. Beverly Everson, Mrs. Jane Todd, Mrs. Jane Carmichael, and Mrs. Leona Todd. These five ladies will travel to Pontiac Saturday, September 14, and compete for total composite score honors.

The men's squad consists of Tom Carmichael, Ty Caplin, Tom Lock, Jerry Walsh, and another member not yet announced. They journey to Currie Golf Course in Midland this Saturday, September 7, employing the same method of scoring.

Women's teams from Plymouth have entered this tournament since 1950, with the men beginning a year earlier.

Plymouth Junior High School has, as of this year, done away with interscholastic athletics. Both football and basketball players will be engaged in intramural competition — the number of teams thereof depending on the number of boys interested.

As many as ninety youngsters have reported for opening Junior High football drills in past years, which is far too many for one man to handle. And of these 60 to 90 boys, only eleven at a time are in action during a game, leaving a great deal of discouraged, untapped talent just sitting. The same is true in basketball. Only five or ten of the average turnout of 35 gain the valuable experience needed for Freshman ball. Consequently, the number of boys able to compete — on an equal ability and experience-wise basis — for starting positions on Frosh teams is minimized to a low point.

But if these 90 junior grid stars were divided into six separate squads and pitted against one another once a week under regular game conditions, every one of those 90 would play and be seen.

This column thinks it's a smart move by the Plymouth athletic department. Now if we could only develop a method for making them grow...

Season's Opener Not Far

"Oh, probably Belleville and Trenton will be the ones to look out for this year," commented PHS Head Football Coach Mike Hoban as he thumbed through a thick notebook of grid data in the high school athletic office last Friday. Hoban, who guided the Plymouth High to a third place finish against rugged opposition last year, made this statement when queried as to the tougher league opponents of the fast-approaching 1957 season.

"Course, outside of league play," he continued, "we'll meet a pretty strong Northville squad, and, naturally Ypsi is going to be rough in that final game." But despite his rather high regard of the opponents Plymouth will face shortly, Coach Hoban spoke very optimistically when the conversation turned to his own boys, now well on their way in practice sessions.

Sparked by eight returning lettermen, this year's Rocks could more than hold their own in the struggle for Suburban Six B League supremacy. Captain Dick Paulger heads the list, of four veteran linemen seeking their second or third varsity letter. These include end Don Alsbro, guard Dick Anderson, and tackle Harvey Wells, while Wayne Jordahl, halfback and linebacker last season, will take a crack at the wide open center position.

Returning backfield members are Dave Walasky, Myron Hopper, and Ed LaRoche, the latter two boys being only juniors. Assisting Hoban with coaching duties are Bill Brown, who will work primarily with ends, and John McPhall, line coach and co-ordinator. Hoban is the overall supervisor, and will work specifically with the backs.

Fundamentals were the ticket for the first two days of practice, though a few contact drills were introduced on Tuesday. (Practices started last Monday morning.) The squad has already been split into tentative varsity and junior varsity units. According to Hoban, "If things go right, we'll have an inter-squad scrimmage this Saturday morning." The team must shape up quickly, for a Highland Park scrimmage is on tap for next weekend, and the regular season begins the following Friday.

Perhaps a bit of the philosophy of the Rock's head mentor could be expressed by these words printed in his notebook: In competition... Resolution In defeat... Defiance In victory... Magnanimity Throughout... Goodwill

Line Drive

BY MEL OTT
Whenever a Tiger player collapses from injury, first to hustle on the field is the white-clad figure of trainer Jack Homei, who has been ministering to the aches and pains of the Bengals since 1946.

Homei, a dark-haired man of 45 years, possesses no college or other degree, yet his skilled fingers work wonders with the assorted ailments of the team. So sensitive is his touch, Homei can detect an injury without the player divulging its location. "I can feel the tightness in the muscles," he explains.

Unlike football, the Tigers' training room is hardly cluttered with bandages, adhesive tape and other paraphernalia.

"We use some, of course," Homei says, "but I'm a believer in employing the hands. I try to restore circulation to an injury. It's just a matter of speeding up nature."

For this reason, Homei also possesses great faith in the team's $4,000 whirlpool bath, which seemingly is in constant use. There are also diathermy, and infra-red machines, and two rubbing tables.

An enemy of all forms of tobacco, coffee and tea ("alcohol is okay in moderation"), Homei once won a bet with Harvey Kuenn over Kuenn's inclination to mouth great wads of chewing tobacco.

The five-sided home plate was first used by organized baseball teams in 1900.

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Presbyterian National Staff Meets at Alma

More than 200 leaders in the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., from 38 states, the District of Columbia, Cuba, and Alaska will meet September 5 to 9 on the campus of Alma College, Alma, Michigan, to map 1958 national missions strategy.

This group, called the National Staff, holds the purse strings for the 3,700 medical, educational, community, and evangelistic field stations operated by the Board of National Missions in the United States, Alaska, and the West Indies. Included are field administrators, synod and presbyterian executives, chairmen of Synod national missions committees, and New York City headquarters workers.

The principal action to be taken by these leaders is the apportionment of a record operating budget of $7,693,690. The 1958 budget, based on expected giving by nearly three million Presbyterians, will aid new church development, provide salaries for pastors of new churches, reinforce Presbyterian churches in the changing inner sections of cities, and make needed repairs and renovations at mission stations.

Dr. Kenneth G. Neigh, executive of the Synod of Michigan, who is chairman of the National Staff, will preside at the opening meeting on Thursday afternoon. The annual policy address will be given at the open meeting by Dr. Hermann M. Morse, general secretary of the Board of National Missions.

On Thursday evening, Dr. Marshall L. Scott, assistant secretary for city and industrial work, will address the group on the subject of "National Missions in Industry at Home and Abroad."

On Friday morning the election of new officers will take place. Discussions will continue until Sunday.

On Sunday morning the group will attend services at the First Presbyterian Church Alma. In the afternoon they will have a communion service at which Dr. Neigh will officiate. In the evening the program will be in charge of representatives of the Board of American Missions of the United Presbyterian Church.

On Monday morning there will be a discussion of "Building Aid" by Dr. D. Allan Locke, national missions treasurer, and Dr. John N. Penn, secretary of new church development and building aid. The conference will close Monday noon.

Q.—Dear Elinor: My problem isn't too serious, but it's important to me. I like a boy and he likes me, but he's a year behind me in school. I'm 14 but he's taller than I am and acts very mature. All my friends tell me he is cute, but in the eighth grade when I'm in the ninth. We don't go to the same school. I have other dates, but if he asks me to go steady with him, I'd like to, but don't know if I should or not.

Ans.—All you have to do is decide to please your friends or yourself.

You'll be happier and will have more fun if you choose your boyfriend to suit yourself, not your friends. Your friends will like him when they know him, anyway, and will forget about a difference in your grades. But what's more important, YOU like him and vice versa.

So ignore what they say or merely reply with a smile, "What's a grade between friends?" or "What does one grade matter with a boy like that?" This will help to make them realize that other things are more important than being in the same grade... personality, similar tastes, sense of humor, good manners, etc.

Remember that as you grow up, a year seems shorter and shorter and matters less and less in age-differences. So why let a year stand between you and a friend... and fun?

For free printed tips on " etiquette " to help improve your manners and popularity, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.

The "Nine O'Clock Gun" has been booming nightly on that hour in the Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va. Navy Yards for 90 years.

The official beginning of autumn and the season when the night becomes longer than the day will take place at 2:27 a.m. Monday, Sept. 23, reports a University of Michigan astronomer.

Hazel M. Losh, U-M associate professor of astronomy, says the Sun's apparent arriving at the autumnal equinox marks the opening of the fall season. "Since June 21, the Sun has been steadily moving southward, and on the day of the equinox it will cross the equator, not only giving the northern hemisphere the beginning of fall but at the same time the southern hemisphere the starting of spring," Professor Losh points out.

The Harvest Moon is a special highlight of September. "This is the full moon that occurs nearest the date of the autumnal equinox, and this year it comes a full two weeks before this date — just a few minutes before midnight on Sept. 8," the astronomer says.

Describing the peculiarity of this full moon, as distinguished from those of three months, Professor Losh explains that there is a slight delay in its rising from night to night. "On the average, the moon rises nearly an hour later each night, but this delay varies considerably during the year, due to the angle that the moon's path makes with the eastern horizon. In the autumn, this retardation is the shortest of the whole year, being around 20 minutes in contrast to more than an hour in the spring, and hence becomes very noticeable," she says.

Miss Losh comments that the Harvest Moon is likely to appear larger than usual and take on quite a reddish appearance near the horizon. This is due to the condition of the Earth's atmosphere, and not to the moon itself.

Explaining, the astronomer says: "The molecules of the air and that dust particles suspended in it scatter the light, the blue considerably more than the red. From an object near the horizon, then, the light rays passing through more atmosphere than from one near the zenith are stripped of their blue rays more than the red, leaving the red to predominate. The object consequently takes on a reddish appearance."

Also, at this time of year, a greater dustiness prevails in the air, and the effect may be quite pronounced.

Michigan has eliminated the guess-work from fall color tour planning.

For the third successive year, it was announced this week, the Michigan Tourist Council will offer prospective fall travelers a personalized service that will let them know, by individually addressed cards, when the state's autumn color is at its best.

The Council's color information plan is the only one of its kind in the nation, according to Furlong. "It sounds the call when color first appears in Michigan, and later announces the peak of autumn display as it marches across the upper and lower peninsulas," he said.

"A card or letter to the Tourist

Council, Lansing 25, is all that's necessary to keep posted on Michigan's color season."

3-In Memoriam

In sad but loving memory of our son and brother, Donald L. Johnson who suddenly passed away September 2nd, 1956.

Treasured memories, no one can steal that is a legacy to one who can heal the shock, sudden, the pain severe, little we thought death was so near, our hearts still ache with sadness, our eyes shed many tears. God only knows how we miss you, Dear, as this ends the first year.

Sadly missed by his mother, brothers and sisters.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From A. E. Sapp, Glen Elder, Kansas: I wonder how many can remember the old horsepower threshing machine that was powered by 12 horses.

The crew was composed of 3 or 4 men and 8 horses. The farmer furnished 4 horses. Each feeder fed 50 bushels and then had a rest. There were four or five hitchers and 2 band cutters and from 1 to 7 men on the straw pile.

I helped thresh in a barn the day I was 16 years old. There were 7 men on the straw stack. I ran that machine for my father for 5 Falls, then the steam engine came and I tended separators for years.

From Stella Wright Van Dyke, Canton, Pa.: Sullivan County, Pennsylvania the land of my birth, was the scene of many events in the early history of our country, which are often brought to mind by the commonplace happenings of present day living.

On a bright, cold winter morning in 1937, I was riding with friends in a comfortable, heated car along the modern highways in Bradford County. We saw a load of lumber being taken to market. It consisted of the grade of lumber I remember as scantlings.

I remarked that at my girlhood home we sold large quantities of lumber, as my father often made use of a portable mill to cut the ripe hemlock from a large tract of virgin timber on the old farm. I also mentioned that he sold the lumber at ten dollars per thousand feet. The man at the wheel sized up the load and said, "Well, that is short, rough stuff and would bring $5.00 per thousand. If it were boards, it would bring at least $10.00."

Sandwich Storage Meat sandwiches may be kept in the refrigerator for 2 to 3 hours if covered. The meat will stay moist and the bread fresh. If freezing meat sandwiches, be sure no mayonnaise or salad dressing is used before freezing. Each sandwich should be wrapped in an individual freezer bag or freezer paper. Once a sandwich is defrosted it should never be re-frozen.

GOING UP at the Dunning-Hough Library are the columns which give the building the distinctive colonial look. Workmen are shown erecting one of the four wooden columns which weigh 700 pounds each. Only three firms in the nation make the columns, these being made in Chicago. Work on the library unit is on schedule and the building is expected to be completed by early October. The Edward C. Hough and Mary Hough Kimble Foundation is furnishing funds for the $116,000 building.

YOUR HANDWRITING TELLS YOUR STORY

With Grapho Analysis
BY JEAN EVANS

(If you have a question or problem, drop a letter to Jean Evans, in care of this newspaper. She'll analyze your handwriting and publish an answer. Initials or an anonymous name are allowed.)

I read your column every week and find it most interesting. Would there be any way I could find out more about Grapho Analysis and what the requirements are to become a professional Grapho Analyst?
Sincerely, Mrs. J. R. P.

Dear Mrs. J. R. P.

Yes, your local high school Adult Education Dept. will offer an introductory class in "8 E-Z Steps to Handwriting Analysis" which will be taught by a competent Grapho Analyst. This class by no means gives you professional training but it does give you invaluable information you can use in your everyday contacts to know yourself and others better. You will be taught to understand emotional natures, the thinking habits of others, how to improve yourself on the job, and how to gain protection by knowing people.

Watch for further information regarding these classes and be sure to register early.

Dear Jean:

Here is a sample of my handwriting. I would like to know if by my handwriting you can tell me if I will ever find a girl and get married and have a family of my own for I would like to very much.
H. W. K.

Dear H. W. K.

Grapho Analysis is NOT fortune telling so I could not pretend to predict the future.

You are a very sensitive person. You get your feelings hurt at the slightest bit of criticism, in fact, you seem to be looking for a reason to get your feelings hurt. This is entirely of your own making. People don't intend to hurt you but you are supersensitive. You like people and enjoy talking with them, but you are self-conscious and have a feeling people don't like you.

You have so many interests right now you are not able to settle yourself down to know exactly what you want to do. Your future will depend upon what you do with your present.

Dear Jean:

I love fishing and hunting. I'm a fiend for Earl Stanley Gardner's "Who-donits," and I enjoy wrestling, via TV or in person. I also spend at least two hours each day on my correspondence—and resent the fact that due to housework, etc., I can't spend more on it. After you analyze my handwriting, if you're interested, I'll tell you what I do.
Sincerely, Carol

Dear Carol:

Your handwriting indicates a love of physical activity either as a spectator or a participant. You also show an appreciation for music and rhythm. You would enjoy dancing. You are intuitive and "feel" things.

You are generous, broad-minded, and quick to sympathize with others and when they tell you their troubles they can be sure you will keep it confidential.

Dear Jean:

I am planning to take a course in "Practical Nursing." Do you think by my handwriting I will be able to make the grade?
Yours truly, Anna Mae Thor

Dear Mrs. Thor:

You like people and are interested in helping them get well. You have the type of mind that would adapt itself to learning the required subjects of this course. You are optimistic and friendly which should be very desirable traits for a nurse.

DISAPPOINTED: Would it be possible for you to send me a specimen of the handwriting of "The One" so I could compare the traits found in each of your characters which seemed to cause the conflict.

Madonna College To Stage Gala Weekend Carnival

Gala festivities will envelop the campus of Madonna College the weekend of September 6, 7 and 8, when the school launches its Building Fund Carnival. The festival will take place from 6 p.m. Friday until 6 p.m. Sunday on the college grounds at 36800 Schoolcraft and Newburg roads in Livonia.

Co-chairmen for the affair are Evelyn Pikulski, a senior residing at 211 Beechmont, Dearborn, and junior, Justine Gochalski, who lives at 2329 Denton, Hamtramck.

Scores of games and prizes will prompt the fun-making. A '57 Ford Ranchwagon will be awarded as the first-place door prize Sunday at 5 p.m. Other door prizes include interior paint for a six-room house, an Emerson portable TV, a Rotary Power Lawnmower, a Royalite portable typewriter and an Ansco 35mm camera outfit. A "Guess How Many Pennies in the Jar" contest with a Singer Sewing machine as first prize is also planned.

Special features for mom and dad include kitchen booths, handicraft and sewing booths, baked goods concession and an auction on Sunday afternoon. A Stanley Home Products representative will also be on hand to present demonstrations and to take orders for household goods.

For teen-age brother and sis, the carnival features basketball booths, dart games, refreshments, cotton candy stands and cosmetic booths. Dancing under the stars will be the highlight of the festival on Saturday from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight.

Youngsters have not been forgotten either. Saturday, from noon to 5 p.m. has been set aside as "Kiddies Day." Pony rides, puppet and cartoon shows, races and games, and a pig chasing contest with a real live pig will highlight the afternoon.

There will be fun for the whole family and everyone is invited. Proceeds of the affair will go toward the building of a new college.

Start Planting Shrubs Now

Fall evergreen and shrub planting time is upon us according to Fred B. Widmoyer, horticulture specialist at Michigan State University. Planting can start now and continue until the ground freezes.

Shrubs should be pruned about one third, if it has not already been done by the nursery, except in the case of rhododendrons, azaleas and dwarf type shrubs which should be lightly pruned. The new growth is all that should be trimmed from evergreens.

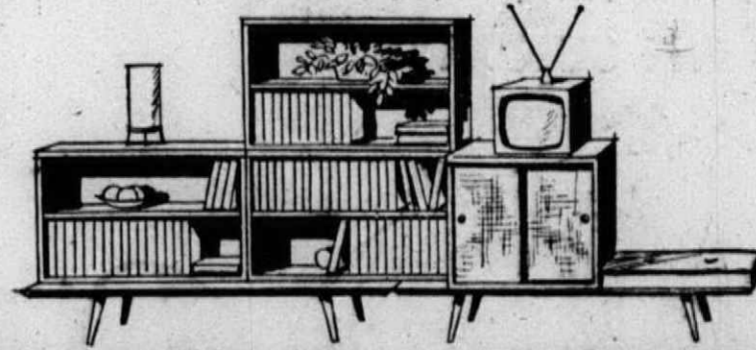

The easy way to figure out where you want the shrubs is on paper, not by moving the plants all over the yard two or three times. After marking where you want the plants, dig the holes large enough so that there will be at least four inches all the way around the plant and deep enough so that the plant will be the same depth as it grew in the nursery row.

Leave the burlap in place and fill in around the plant with good garden soil.

A water soluble fertilizer of 15-15-30 grade is commonly used for transplanting. Three tablespoons to a gallon of water produces your starter solution.

Add Interest to Rice - Make Armenian Pilaf

THE PERFECT COMPLIMENT to Shish Kabob, Pilaf, is prepared by Mrs. Harry Draper for an Armenian dinner. Pilaf is an easy to make rice concoction which substitutes for potatoes in Armenian meals. Vermicelli and chicken broth are the other ingredients.

Everything from cheese and chutney-filled dates to Pilaf have been Mrs. Harry Draper's specialty since she and several friends have formed an international dinner group.

Each month they choose a nation, into whose culinary art they delve — usually via the Plymouth Library. As hostess of this month's Armenian get-together, Mrs. Draper has planned Shish-Kabob and Pilaf as the main course. The others do their own research and come up with appropriate desserts, appetizers and such.

Mrs. Draper, who lives at 499 Evergreen, learned the recipe for Pilaf from an Armenian friend.

To the Armenian's, Pilaf serves as the starch in their meals, much the same role potatoes play in American menus.

Pilaf
3 cups washed long grain rice — 1/2 cup butter
1/4 cup melted shortening
1 large handful of Vermicelli (a fine noodle)
6 cups boiling chicken broth
Salt to taste

Slowly brown the Vermicelli in the butter and shortening in a saucepan. Add the rice and chicken broth. Salt and taste and simmer 20 minutes. When the liquid is absorbed and the rice is soft, remove from fire and let stand for 15 to 20 minutes before serving.

Mrs. Draper says that Pilaf is effortless to prepare and is much more savory than plain-cooked rice.

Open house was held in Parklane Subdivision, off Sheldon Road between Ann Arbor Road and Ann Arbor Trail, last week. Soft drinks and sandwiches were served and many prospective home buyers were shown through the winding wooded area in which Parklane is located. Among those attending the open house were Vaughan R. Smith, sales agent for Parklane, Al Simkins, developer and builders, Arthur Bertie and Bud Gould.

Woman's Eye View

by Nancy Rigney

I'd like to pass on one of the most exciting ideas in the realm of experimental cookery and fun, that came to my attention the other day.

The idea comes from four Plymouth ladies, who with their husbands, meet once a month for a meal of foreign origin. They are Mrs. Harry Draper, 499 Evergreen; Mrs. Don Whitsell 1251 West Ann Arbor Trail; Mrs. Walter Breed 272 Ann street and Mrs. William Scott 416 Evergreen.

Shish Kabob and Pilaf will be served by Mrs. Draper as the main course of this month's Armenian dinner. According to the plan, the hostess serves the main course while the others scout for appropriate appetizers, breads and desserts.

The group has already served West Indies, Mexican and English meals. I hear the men were pretty good about the whole thing. When the West Indian demitasse, involving rosewater and various other ingredients was served, they suppressed their hankering for a good cup of coffee. They wavered a bit when the Mexican dinner was proposed, but were pleasantly surprised when serving time came. Next on the agenda is a Japanese dinner. Since the customs of eating and serving are followed as closely as possible, the Japanese dinner coming up should prove a challenge for the group.

Plymouth high school students will kickoff the school year Friday with the "Kouncil Kickoff". Sponsored by the student council, the dance will feature John Small of WPAG, Ann Arbor, spinning records and the Bob Titus Trio, a rock n' roll group. Small will preside, bringing lots of records from WPAG. The time is from 8 to 11 p.m. for PHS students only, unless a guest pass is obtained. Small should have some good tales to tell, after interviewing Jerry Lewis and Rin Tin Tin at the airport this week.

A "braille" map of the Michigan State campus, the only one of its kind in the country, has been handmade for blind students in the university's Landscape Architecture Club. Sightless students and visitors will be able to explore the campus with their fingertips. The map, mounted on a 32 x 42 inch table top, reproduces more than 100 buildings and miles of walks and roadways as raised surfaces in paper-thin copper.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

BY ELMER E. WHITE

Resort Business Down

Resort experts are checking results of a summer season predicted to be disappointing at the cash register but which has been showing new signs of life.

At one time it was believed the dollar influx would drop from $6 billion to $5 billion.

Michigan's Tourist Council, fighting off the effects of a stable appropriation and increasing needs for advertising, has pinched its pennies and stretched its dollars.

Michigan in recent years has slipped from third to fourth in the rank of states as a tourist-attracting magnet. But its natural attractions are enjoyed by millions.

Tourists already are flocking to see the nearly-completed Mackinac Straits Bridge.

Improved highways are attracting more, making speedier the trips to summer vacation meccas. The state's parks are jammed every weekend.

Fall is here, and only the post-Labor Day work of compiling statistics and getting estimates from the experts is needed now to complete the story of 1957's summer resort season.

Most areas report an upsurge in the number of motel and lakeside resort accommodations. One reason for the increase, if one exists for this season, will be sheer population pressure.

Michigan has abandoned the idea of sending a lobbyist to Washington to snare federal defense contracts to help ease the state's unemployment crisis. Gov. Williams sent a group to Washington to investigate the idea. Lee M. Uhl, an official of the State Department of Economic Development, reported back that the federal government was under an economy wave, making the estate lobbyist's office 'unwise.'

The group reported the state should have key people drop in occasionally at federal offices in Washington, rather than establish an office with a fulltime The visit, however, did obtain an agreement from the Army, Navy and Air Force to furnish the state with monthly lists of big government contracts, bringing them to the attention of state factories.

Uhl said there is much confusion about federal defense contracts. Areas of unemployment lock to such contracts as a cure-all, when actually they provide only limited relief from unemployment, he indicated.

Dangerous root rot brought into Michigan from Prince Edward Island last May, will be under control on five infested areas in Bay County by mid-September.

Infestation in Michigan was in a shipment of seed potatoes destined for Bay County.

This set in motion a little-known function of state government which works as a sort of police force to protect the farmer and his crops against natural enemies.

Word was passed from federal officials to C. A. Boyer, plant husbandry director for the state department of agriculture. "If not controlled and stamped out, the rot could wreck the whole potato crop," he said. He ordered the unplanted potatoes seized and burned.

Those which already had been planted were 'lifted' from the ground in May and destroyed.

The final step will be a "fumigation" of the soil with a special chemical formula. Then the land will be cultivated five days later to air it and give the chemical maximum effect.

Boyer passes it off as an everyday chore of his section.

WHAT EVERY MOTHER KNOWS

"Life Begins at Forty"

BY ROBERT PETERSON

An ex-engineer of 66 came by to talk with me last year about his misfortunes. He was a widower and had been forced to retire due to age. He resented having to retire for his work had been his chief source of satisfaction. To make matters worse, a car door had been slammed on his right hand a few days previously breaking the bones in three fingers. He seemed to be in serious need of some oriental optimism so I recounted for him a Chinese fable that has been going the rounds for some forty centuries:

"Once upon a time an old man lived with his son in an abandoned fort on the side of a hill. Among their few possessions was a horse. One day the horse disappeared. The neighbors heard the news and came to express their sympathy for this misfortune. But the old man just smiled and asked, 'How do you know this is bad luck?' A few days later the lost horse returned with a number of wild horses. Again the neighbors came—this time to congratulate the old man on this stroke of fortune. But the old man merely smiled and replied, 'How do you know this is good luck?'

"Now it seems that with so many horses around the son took to riding. One day the son was thrown from a horse and broke his leg. It was such a bad break that it crippled the young man for life. Again the neighbors came — to express their sympathy. But the old man smiled and replied, 'How do you know this is bad luck?' The following year the Emperor made war on a nearby country. But because the old man's son was crippled he was not called to battle. But all the neighbors' sons were called and all died in the slaughter."

THE OTHER DAY this retired engineer dropped by again, this time looking considerably more optimistic than on the previous occasion. He referred to the Chinese fable and said he had attached little significance to it at the time I had told it to him. "But," he said, "I've discovered that it very definitely applied to me."

"After talking with you," he went on, "I decided to try and forget my troubles by taking a trip to the Canadian Rockies. I didn't have a romantic intention in the world, but I met a wonderful woman at the hotel where I was staying and we have since married. She takes the place of the bleaved wife I lost ten years ago. I thought retirement was the worst misfortune that could have happened to me. But if I hadn't retired I'd never have taken the trip and would never have met this woman who has filled a great need in my life."

If Your Name Is KAREN

By ANN REYNOLDS, Ph. D.
Recently the girls' name Karen made a successful bid for a place among the favorite names for small fry. Karen is not a new name; it is an old appellation in a new form, the Scandinavian version of the good old standby Catherine. It has been used by families of Scandinavian ancestry, and then it caught the fancy of other young parents in these U.S.

"The Dangerous Age", and it dealt with the then topical problem of women's rights. It was praised as the most sincere and most complete confession by a woman ever written.

The origin of the name Catherine from which Karen evolved, has not been definitely ascertained. Some scholars tried to connect it with two ancient Greek words, either the one meaning pure, or the one meaning torture. These explanations do not stand up under rigid scholarly scrutiny, and so for the time being let's just say the origin of this name will have to be traced at some future time.

Interested in other names? Do you like or dislike your name? Let Dr. Reynolds hear about it, care of this newspaper.)

Investments: How To Defeat Dollar Decline

A. A New York State reader asks, "Will the purchasing power of the dollar continue to decline, and if so, how can I protect myself?"

A. Your question is typical of the growing concern of investors who have seen a steady attrition in the purchasing power, or real value, of the dollar. What we have been undergoing since World War II is inflation attributable by most economists to the steady wage-price spiral of the postwar period. This is not classic inflation, in which the production of goods fails to keep up with demand. It should not be compared with currency-depreciation inflation, which brought Germany to chaos following the first World War. The type of inflation we have been witnessing has been due largely to the ability of management to pass on the costs, and sometimes more, in the form of higher prices for goods. Continuance of the spiral depends upon the maintenance of a high level of national income which, in turn, depends upon full employment.

Inflation Likely to Continue
I believe that inflation is not simply a present concern, but is very definitely a continuing factor which investors must take into consideration when making long-range plans. The Employment Act of 1946 virtually assures its continuance. Prior to the passage of that Act it was assumed that it was the function of the people to support the Government. The Act, in substance, says that it is the duty of the Government to support the people. In effect, this means that every power of the Government must be exerted to maintain full employment and a continuing high level of national income.

During the past decade the cost of living has increased at an average rate of 2 percent. The increase amounted to 19.6 percent from the average of the 1947-49 period. Recently, the upward trend has accelerated, with the rise in the past twelve months amounting to 3.6 percent. Very simply, this means that those who put their funds in fixed-income securities during 1947-49 have seen their capital depreciate by 20 percent in terms of purchasing power of the dollar. Looking back to 1940, the position of the investor in fixed-income securities is even more serious, for the dollar since that time has depreciated 50 percent in value. And the future outlook is by no means reassuring. How, then, is the ordinary investor going to protect himself?

The answer, in our opinion, lies in the accumulation of sound common stocks which can be expected to grow at a rate faster than the economy as a whole. If the dollar continues to depreciate at an average rate of 2 percent annually, then an annual rise of only 2 percent in the value of stocks will offset such devaluation and maintain capital at a constant value in terms of purchasing power. Many good stocks will do better than this. (Send your investment questions to Mr. Roger E. Spear, c-o this paper.)

Coeds Plan Versatile Wardrobe for College

Classes, campus doings, dating, homework or "just yacking" with other girls in the dorm—there's a busy world ahead for the college-going girl. Her horizons are broadening to include new friends and new activities as well as new learning, and she looks forward eagerly to getting the most out of both the academic and social sides of college life.

In the exciting days before going back to college, the smart coed can, by good planning, accomplish a lot toward making her school year more rewarding. She can review her projected schedule, consider what extracurricular activities she wants to go out for, and talk over her plans with parents and friends.

Whether she's a freshman or upperclassman, an important part of her planning will be to get back-to-college wardrobe in good order.

Because her class and campus life will include so much variety she'll want to be sure she has appropriate clothing for all occasions from lounging in the dorm to dancing at proms, as well as the day-by-day demand of the classroom.

Her wardrobe planning can be simplified if she makes her shopping list in terms of these occasions and activities. Under such headings as, "Classroom," "Sports," "Formal Dances" and "Informal Events," she can sum up the clothing she's likely to need for her busy life. Then, checking her present wardrobe against the list, she can quickly decide what additions and replacements should be made.

New skirts and tops should be chosen with a view to versatility. For instance, the same sweater or blouse might go to either classes or football games, while a daytime skirt could take a dressy blouse for an informal date.

Of course, she'll want her new clothes to reflect this fall's fashions, and here she will find that the current trends are a real compliment to her good taste. Favored is the casual look, and casuals have long been the mainstay of collegiate wardrobes.

Skirts, jackets, blouses and sweaters are musts, with sweaters particularly important this season. The new textured yarns that wash without blocking and the Shetland-types vie with cashmere and the fur blends for popularity. Jacquard sweaters are news, too.

Box-pleated skirts with straight-cut jackets reflect the Chanel influence, and pretty blouses add pleasing femininity to the casual look.

Simple dresses such as shirt-waists or modified sheaths play a major role, and thanks again to the fashion-right casual look, they're appropriate for dressy occasions as well as the classroom. Coat choice most seen on the campus is the car coat, in wool, Loden with cloth or well-lined poplin. With "shorter-than-long" coats getting fashion attention this season, dress coats, too, take to the car-coat length. For all-around wear, the classic camel-hair boycoat remains important.

Leisure hours find Bermuda shorts plus knee socks and sweaters still the leader, although on some campuses pedal pushers and tapered slacks are gaining in favor.

at home around the clock

Tweeds Best Coat Buys

Durability and versatility — they are qualities you will look for in the girls' coat department of your local store this fall and winter, says Bernetta Kahabka, textiles and clothing specialist at Michigan State University. And what will be one of the headlines in the wool and wool blend class? The ever-popular tweed!

You will see multicolored tweed coats, trimmed in colors or in velvet. Many of them will either have fur collars or collars made out of fur-fibers. There will be an emphasis on black trimmed in white this year. You may find a black tweed coat with a white wool collar which you can remove and wash by hand.

Although you often see all wool or reprocessed wool tweeds Miss Kahabka reminds you that wool and synthetic blends will also be on the market. A wool and cashmere combination adds luxuriousness to the durable and versatile tweed.

Tweed can be sporty or dressy in style; but whether it's boxy or fitted, straight or flared, you will find that tweed will be one of your best coat buys, style-wise in the 1957-58 winter season.

Families owning station wagons can easily turn them into sleeping quarters on a camping trip. The addition of a couple of air mattresses in the back of the wagon makes a comfortable bed.

Peach Fritters

If you like fine things and have a keen sense of value, you will surely enjoy Peach Fritters.

Peach fritters stand in a class all by themselves. Imagine, if you can, golden luscious peach halves, dipped into a fritter batter and deep-fat fried. Coated with confectioners' sugar, these fruit gems will certainly bolster dessert and snack suggestions.

As a suggestion, in any deep-fat frying adventure, whether it is croquettes, French fried onions, doughnuts or fritters, home economists emphasize the use of lard. Not only is it an excellent cooking fat but it is a nutritionally valuable food.

- Peach Fritters
- 1 cup sifted enriched flour
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 2 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1 egg, slightly beaten
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 2 teaspoons melted lard
 - 6 to 8 Cling peach halves, cut into quarters
 - Lard for deep-fat frying

Sift together flour, sugar, salt and baking powder. Combine egg and milk and add gradually to dry ingredients. Stir until batter is smooth. Add melted lard. Dip each peach quarter into fritter batter. Cook in deep hot lard (350° F.) until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve immediately with confectioners' sugar, if desired. Yield: 12 to 16 fritters.

ORLON FOR BABY—As gentle as a mother's caress, this afghan is crocheted of downy soft orlon yarn to keep baby cooing contentedly. It provides warmth without weight for year-round use. Pastel pink, blue, yellow and green were worked into the square motifs while white was used for the joinings. The finished afghan, measuring 62 x 31 inches, is ideal for crib, carriage or car. To obtain the crocheting directions, simply send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper and ask for ORLON BABY AFGHAN, Leaflet No. 123-30.

Party-Type Entree

Cream puffs are commonly thought of as fancy dessert. But here is a way cream puffs fit into the main course. Prepare a medium cream or white sauce, add diced cooked ham, slivered almonds and green pepper strips. . . . serve in cream puff shells.

Dried Beef Serving Trick

Dried beef makes a hearty main dish out of a baked macaroni and cheese casserole. Try it sometime. It's easy and a perfect summer treat. If planning to serve creamed dried beef over toast as a luncheon suggestion, perhaps you might like preparing a cheese sauce rather than a regular white sauce.

SEPTEMBER Better Breakfast Month

September is National Better Breakfast Month — and what better month to make sure back-to-schoolers start the day out right with a hearty breakfast.

But it's just as important for adults to face the day with properly fed stomachs.

Parents are the ones who set the example — good or bad. If they go without breakfast or grab a cup of coffee while hurrying off to work, the children also want to rush out of the house with but a taste of this and a sip of that.

Parents must remember that lunches served at school are planned to provide only one-third of the child's nutritive requirements for the day. Responsibility of the other two-thirds is that of the mother.

The ideal breakfast for the growing child should provide all of the high quality proteins, minerals and vitamins that are necessary to start the day and carry the child through to lunch.

A good meal, suggested by a test kitchen, is fruit juice, cereal, toast with butter and a glass of milk. For the growing child with a healthy appetite the addition of an egg is recommended.

Studies have shown that malnutrition is not a matter of low income. Children in all income brackets reflect the retarding results of improperly balanced meals and especially, the lack of sufficient nourishment with which to start the day.

The same attention given at home to development of proper breakfast habits is as important as planning the evening meal.

Canned meats, associated with luncheon and dinner menus, provide variety and heartiness at breakfast too. For example, ever-popular corned beef may be topped with baked or poached eggs. Pork sausage, canned in link, bulk and patty styles, makes a fine team with plain or blueberry pancakes. And scrambled eggs are the better for an addition of spicy deviled ham.

The 12-ounce loaf of luncheon meat, with the 12 ounce packs of beef, veal and chopped ham may be sliced and pan-broiled as breakfast meats.

Baked Hash and Eggs

- 1 can (1 lb.) corned beef hash
- 4 eggs
- Salt and pepper

Divide corned beef hash into 4 individual baking dishes. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 minutes. Make a depression in hash for eggs. Break an egg into each dish. Sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Continue baking until eggs are set, about 12 minutes. 4 servings.

Here's a menu that'll go a long way toward satisfying early-morning hunger pangs. Headlining the menu is Polenta and country-style sausage.

Polenta is actually a mush or pudding made from various granulated cereals . . . in this case cornmeal takes the spotlight. After cooking and chilling, the polenta is sliced and browned in sausage drippings. Syrup adds to this flavorful breakfast dish.

Country-style sausage, for those who may not be familiar with it, comes in one long continuous link. It is larger in diameter than the regular pork sausage links but is prepared in the same manner.

The sausage is cut into serving pieces, placed in a frying-pan with 2 to 3 tablespoons of water. The pan is covered and the sausage is allowed to cook 10 to 12 minutes. At the end of this time, the cover is removed and the sausage is allowed to cook until it becomes a golden brown.

FRIED CORN MEAL MUSH

- 1/2 cup currants
- 3 cups boiling water
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup corn meal
- Flour

Add currants to boiling water. Cook 5 minutes. Add salt and corn meal, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened. Pour mush into a clean No. 2 or No. 303 tin can (or 5x9-inch loaf pan). Chill. Remove end of tin can with can opener and chilled mush will easily slide out. Slice mush 1/2 inch thick. Dredge slices in flour and brown in sausage drippings. Yield: 4 servings.

It's So Easy To Use Diced Cooked Lamb

It's the smart homemaker who plans on having leftovers! Leftovers are no problem . . . in this case lamb gracefully steps into a different role as a second-day dish.

This dish, Lamb Terrapin, can well be considered a delicacy. So for something special, a Saturday supper or Sunday lunch, let Lamb Terrapin fill the bill. You'll be glad you did.

Reba Stages, home economist in the meat industry, describes this recipe in short . . . "it resembles lamb a la king, it's served on toast and color is added to the dish by the addition of sieved egg yolks."

As well as being a wholesome dish, lamb is an excellent source of high quality protein needed for body building and body repair.

Lamb Terrapin

- 2 cups diced cooked lamb
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 cup water or stock
- 1/2 cup cream
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 2 hard-cooked eggs
- 4 to 6 slices toast

Melt butter or margarine and add flour and mustard. Add water or stock, cream and Worcestershire sauce. Bring to boiling point, stirring constantly and cook for 5 minutes. Separate the cooked egg yolks and whites. Put yolks through a sieve and finely chop whites. Add the diced lamb and sieved egg yolks to the cream sauce. Heat and add chopped egg whites to mixture. Serve on hot toast. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

New Chevrolet Bel Air Sport Coupe with spunk to spare!

Great to have — and only Chevy's got 'em.

Chevrolet's the only leading low-priced car with any of these fine advances — and the only car at any price with all of them!

BODY BY FISHER. You get more to be proud of in Chevrolet. No other low-priced car is quite so beautifully or substantially built, down to the last detail.

SHORTEST STROKE V8. This helps explain Chevrolet's smooth and lively V8 ways. Short-stroke design also means less piston travel, longer engine life. Here's super-efficient power with plenty of vim and vigor!

STANDARD BALL-RACE STEERING. Chevy's Ball-Race steering gear mechanism is virtually friction-free! That means easier parking, surer control, more relaxed driving.

POSITRACTION REAR AXLE.* When one rear wheel slips in mud, snow or ice, the wheel with the traction grips, and you keep on going. More peace of mind for you in America's surest footed car!

TRIPLE-TURBINE TURBOGLIDE! The silkiest automatic drive anywhere! You move from standstill to top cruising speed in one gentle stream of motion. Special "Grade Retarder" position saves braking on hills.

MORE BESIDES! Chevy's the only low-priced car, too, with important details like crank-operated vent windows, hydraulic valve lifters and lacquer finish. See all the exclusive, big and little, at your Chevrolet dealer's!

BUILDING and REMODELING — NEWS — FOR EVERY HOME

DESIGN FOR BUILDING WISELY

Building a home is one of the most important steps a family takes. There are many complex factors to consider. And mistakes cannot be corrected with an eraser—you pay for them.

The best way to build is to consult an architect. His professional training and experience qualifies him to design a house based on family needs and income. He will make recommendations affecting choice of design depending upon size and shape of plot, its exposure, view, prevailing winds and existing trees.

The architect knows building materials and their performance. He recommends insulation because it will keep you comfortable and reduces fuel bills; roofing that can withstand the elements; flooring like Kentile asphalt tile because it is easy to care for, durable and adds beauty.

He supervises every construction detail and you can be sure there will be no hidden costs, slipshod workmanship or material substitution. You can trust the builder and sub-contractor because the architect has checked his performance record.

A clothes closet lined with aromatic red cedar closet lining will protect woollens and furs from moth-damage. The job can be done easily in a few hours by any home handyman.

Moths won't visit a clothes closet protected with aromatic red cedar closet lining. The fragrant cedar fumes, so pleasant to people, repel moths effectively.

Cedar-lined closets are now being featured by many builders in their new homes because these builders know that cedar closets are second only to kitchen facilities as home-selling features.

Banks along the Suez Canal are chiefly of sand and gravel. In some places concrete has been used to check erosion and slide damage.

New Ideas For Bathroom Decor

This cheerful, spacious bathroom is planned for comfort and relaxation. Its decor eliminates the cold look so often associated with most bathrooms. It provides large areas for storage, dressing room privacy, and a modern sofa for reading and sunbathing. The built-in wall shelves hold books, extra towels, and a collection of Early American apothecary jars that store extra soap, toothpaste, shaving cream, toothbrushes, etc. Floors are easy to clean resilient Kentile cork tile in light and medium shades. Walls are also cork tile which creates an atmosphere of quiet elegance. Empire mirror and bench in dressing room carry out the decorative scheme. Rolling door separates dressing room from bathroom.

Here is your dream home—attractive, comfortable and soundly constructed—designed by your architect to meet your family needs.

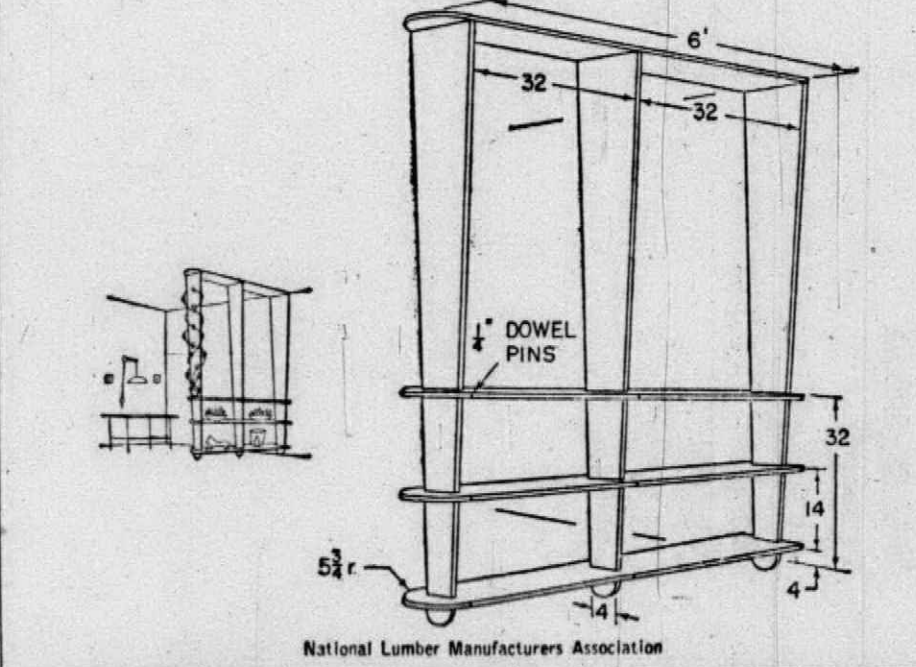

HERE'S HOW . . . MAKE A MODERN ROOM DIVIDER

A room divider can be both attractive and useful. It can double as an indoor planter. A light fixture may be added to the top section.

The divider is made of 1 by 10-inch and 1 by 12-inch lumber. The height of the three uprights, made of 1 by 12-inch lumber, will depend on the height of the ceiling. Taper the uprights to a 4 inch width at the lower end. Round the end. Mark the location of the shelves the distances shown. The shelves and top plate are made of 1 by 10-inch lumber, each 6 feet long. The front end is rounded; the wall end is notched for the inner upright. Slot the shelves for insertion of the uprights.

Attach the top plate to the ceiling and the inner upright to the wall studs. Assemble the divider. Use dowel joints to hold the shelves in place.

Insulation Shows Housewife How It Can Save Heat

A White Plains, N. Y. housewife discovered the value of thick insulation in her home the first winter washday after it was installed. Her wet laundry, left in the attic to dry, was frozen solid.

Before her home was insulated with mineral wool, heat escaping from the house through the ceiling did an efficient job of drying Mrs. Michael J. Walsh, Jr.'s laundry. But a four-inch thickness of mineral wool blown into the attic floor kept the heat out of the attic, causing the washday freeze.

Mineral wool also was blown into the outside walls of the house. Since the insulation was installed, the Walsh's winter fuel bill has been reduced by half and the house is more comfortable in all seasons.

SOAP SAVES PAINT

Outside painted walls that are dingy and discolored don't always need repainting. Washing with soap and water often can restore their freshness. Use a scrub brush on a small area to check the results of washing. If you're satisfied, start at the bottom and work your way up. After washing, rinse with clear water, using a hose.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS... FROM THE PAGES OF THE MAIL

SOCIAL NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Mitchell of 48801 Gyde road have returned from a vacation in Bracebridge, Ontario, where they enjoyed the scenery and fishing. They also visited Algonquin Park.

Mrs. Herbert T. Olson, 890 South Main, underwent major surgery Thursday, August 22, at St. Joseph's hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. William Morgan had the pleasure of entertaining his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Smith of Ithaca, N.Y. Thursday and overnight in their home on Ann street.

Mrs. Fraser Carmichael and Mrs. George Todd have been in Port Huron three days this week to participate in the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association tournament being held at the Hillcrest Golf Club.

Mrs. Marvin Terry, Mrs. John Gaffield and Mrs. Charles Wolff spent from Tuesday until Sunday visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. McLemore in Irvine, Ky. While there the ladies took side trips through the bluegrass country, to the mountains, state parks, and attended a drama at the amphitheatre at Berea College, Kentucky.

Volunteers Stage Annual Fair For Northville Mental Patients

On Tuesday August 27 the Northville State Hospital Volunteers sponsored the Fifth Annual Patient Fair at the hospital. This recreational event, planned for the patients' pleasure, consisted of 18 booths, manned and sponsored by volunteer groups.

Games of skill and chance are arranged and each patient is expected to win at least three or four prizes. Soft drinks and homemade cakes were enjoyed while a clown band and strolling troubadours furnished by the Detroit Education of Musicians entertained the patients.

Plymouth groups sponsoring booths were the Birthday Ladies and the Women's Club.

The first Patient Fair was planned in 1953 as a substitute for the patients who were unable to attend the State Fair in Detroit. In keeping with the hospital's policy and depending upon available transportation, patients attend such functions as the State Fair, weekly swimming parties at Kensington Park, baseball games at Briggs Stadium followed by a party at the American Red Cross, the Shrine Circus, and other such events. Because not all of the 2,000 patients can attend activities away from the hospital, projects like the Patient Fair are planned by volunteer groups.

According to Dr. Philip N. Brown, medical superintendent, "This type of recreation activity is very enjoyable to our patients. They look forward to it and it has already become a traditional event. We are also very pleased to see that other hospitals are following our example and planning carnivals similar to ours."

Mrs. Carolyn Seefeldt, director of social service, coordinated the event and was assisted by Miss Jean Paterson, director of occupational therapy, William Davis, of the maintenance department, James L. Grissell, director of clinical psychology, and Mrs. Elizabeth Matzen, social worker.

A Chaplains' Booth run by the Catholic, Jewish and Protestant hospital chaplains, distributed religious mementos to the patients.

Homemade cakes, hamburgers, soft drinks and coffee were served by the food service department, under the direction of A. A. Brewer, and volunteers took food and prizes to the bed patients who could not attend the fair.

Also sponsoring booths are: Berkley Woman's Club; B'nai B'rith Council of Greater Detroit; Cherry Hill United Presbyterian Church, Dearborn; Citizens' Auxiliary Group; Gray Lady Service; Highland Park Woman's Club; Ladies Auxiliary of the Jewish House of Shelter; Lutheran Gold Star Mothers; Northville Psychiatric Association; Young Women's Bichor Cholem; and Zeta Tau Alpha Alumnae.

THE READER SPEAKS UP

It has been our pleasure and honor to serve the Plymouth area members of The American Legion and Auxiliary as Commander and President, respectively, of Passage-Gayde Post and Auxiliary for the Legion year just concluded.

A great portion of the success of our programs was due in part to the fine efforts of our Officers and Committee Chairmen. In our experiences with many of the other some 500 Posts in the State of Michigan, we feel we have one of the finest Press relationships in the State with our own Plymouth Mail. The complete staff of the Mail from editor down to the deliveryman, have always extended our organization every courtesy in publicizing our aims and programs.

We also wish to publicly thank all those individuals connected with the City government, who at one time or another were asked for their cooperation. This co-operation was given wholeheartedly.

We cannot overlook the fine spirit of co-operation we received from the Plymouth School System in the carrying out of various phases of our Legion Americanism programs, the civic organizations who yearly participate and help make our Boys and Girls State programs the success they are, the various organizations who at one time or another have made their facilities available to us for our special occasions and the merchants and citizenry of Plymouth, who in one way or another have made our terms of office a pleasant one.

It is our sincere hope that this same relationship will continue with our new slate of officers.

At this time, with the Editors' permission, we would urge all veterans within the scope of this newspaper to check into the many good programs of, not just the American Legion, but all veterans' organizations, join that organization, and participate in one of the many and varied programs which make for the betterment of the Community, State and Nation.

Sincerely,
Ernest G. Koi, Retiring Commander

Headmaster of Swiss School Visits Briefly in Plymouth

World traveller and headmaster of an international boys school, Father Oswald Buchs, took in Plymouth as part of his almost two-month stay in the United States.

Father Buchs, who arrived in this country July 7 to study educational systems and visit relatives in Detroit, is the cousin of Mrs. Homer Howe of 585 Maple avenue.

He spent Sunday, August 25 in Plymouth and area as the guest of the Howes, their daughter, Noreen and friend Fred Hennings. Father Buchs left August 29 for a 5-day stay in New York City, before embarking for his school in Fribourg, Switzerland.

While in Plymouth he had dinner at the Mayflower Hotel where he was impressed with the history depicted in the murals on the wall. He toured Maybury Sanatorium and St. John's Provincial Seminary. At the seminary he was escorted by Father Cunningham, son of William Cunningham of North Territorial road. An accomplished musician, Father Buchs played the chapel organ at the seminary.

A luncheon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hennings on Lilley road, honored the Father Sunday afternoon.

He left immediately for Detroit to prepare for his noon flight on Thursday. Spending a month in Ireland before arriving in the U.S., he will continue his studies in Spain, before returning to his school September 5.

Father Buchs is well suited to conducting an international school, being master of seven languages, an expert musician and acquainted through travels with many parts of the world.

The Stavia school for boys 14 to 18 years old, is a small league of nations, says Fr. Buchs, since last year students from 18 countries were enrolled.

"Learning the language" is somewhat complicated in Switzerland where there are three official native tongues—French, Italian and German. But he has a unique system which turns out accomplished linguists in three school terms.

"All classes are taught in French," explained the Swiss educator. "The boys are allowed to speak their own language for 14 days after their arrival. Then they, too, must begin conversing in French. A 'medal' goes to the boy who forgets and if he can't pass it along by the end of the day to someone who lapses into his own language, it costs a forfeit—about four cents in American money."

At the end of one term everyone speaks French; at the end of two terms they are writing the language, and after three terms they are fluent enough for most ordinary communication.

Stavia school, he said was named after an old Roman family and is built near the ancient vacation spot of Roman Emperors. On Newcastle lake at the foot of Swiss mountains, the school boasts, plus a complete curriculum, skiing, skating and boating for its students. A boarding school, Stavia has 200 pupils. Last year, says Fr. Buchs, 250 more were turned away for lack of room.

Most of the foreign students are sons of international center hotel keepers and diplomats. In the winter term, he said, the Swiss outnumber the non-Swiss, but the opposite is true in Stavia's international summer school where intensive courses in French and music are taught.

Also every summer a week-long seminar for church musicians is held, which brings organists from all over Switzerland. They get advanced training in liturgical music and Gregorian chant plus spiritual aids and inspiration for their work.

Father Buchs plans another U.S. trip in five years, when he will spend several days in Plymouth. Meanwhile he will write a book on his travels in America.

Phil Hart: Man With a Decision To Make Soon

LANSING. —(UP)—Michigan's gentleman in waiting, Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, stands at the cross roads of his career.

Trained by education and experience for a political career, Hart is uncertain whether he will be running for governor or U.S. Senator in 1958. A large part of the decision, at least, will depend upon what Gov. G. Mennen Williams decided to do.

But the quiet, but outspoken Hart has given every indication he would prefer opposing Sen. Charles Potter (R-Mich) next year.

All of Hart's recent statements, and they have been increasing steadily lately, have been on national affairs. Several of them have been directed specifically at Potter.

Ever since Hart was a young boy he knew exactly what he wanted to be. He attended his first national political convention at the age of 12, when Ohio Gov. James M. Cox won the Democratic presidential nomination.

Hart became well-acquainted with Cox at the convention and in future years the former Ohio governor served as a political tutor for him.

He can claim experience in either of the two offices he seeks. He can point to a citation as the "outstanding U.S. administrator of 1952," which he was awarded for indicting the six top communists in Michigan while he served as U. S. assistant district attorney.

If he decides to run for the senate, he can claim experience in legislative matters as president of the senate, a position which automatically accompanies the job of lieutenant governor.

As president of the senate, Hart guided much of Williams' labor legislation through the upper chamber.

Before the 1958 campaign begins in earnest, Hart is going to have to decide which fork in the road to take: legislative or administrative. But whichever one he takes, he will still be in the field he loves best—politics.

Hours Established For Representative Of Social Security

Beginning Thursday September 12, a Social Security representative will visit the Plymouth, Michigan Employment Security Commission at 987 Lilley road, between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. Residents of the Plymouth and Northville area who have social security questions may contact the representative on the second and fourth Thursday of each month at the Plymouth Michigan Employment Security Commission. The representative will discontinue the hours at the Plymouth Post Office.

2 Fall Scholarships

The Turner Work Scholarship and the Teresa Merrill Scholarship will be offered again during the Fall Term at the Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater, in Bloomfield Hills.

Applications are being accepted now through Sunday, September 15. Registration for the term begins Saturday, September 7 and continues through Sunday, September 15.

The Turner Scholarship is offered to any man, 15 years or older, who is interested in theater and has some theatrical background. The individual should have a need for financial assistance. No sponsorship for the Turner Scholarship is required.

The Merrill Scholarship is offered to any woman, 16 years of age or older, who is interested in theater as a means of personal development, or as an avenue to professional theater.

Each applicant for the Merrill Scholarship must be sponsored by a club affiliated with the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Those interested in the scholarships may apply at Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater, located on West Longlake rd., just east of Telegraph Road. Applicants may call Celia Merrill Turner, director of the school, at Midwest 4-4418 for further information and appointments.

The Apprentice Theater is approved by the Michigan State Board of Education.

Grange Cleanings

A total of 4,660 local Granges in 37 states have entered the 1957 Grange Community Service Contest. This total sets a new record for the 10 years the contest has been held. Twenty-six states had more than half of their local Granges participating. In Michigan 41.4 percent of the Granges entered the contest, for a total of 151.

The 84th annual convention of the Michigan State Grange, oldest general farm organization in the state, will be held at the Sturgis-Young Civic Auditorium in Sturgis on October 22-24.

The National Grange has again called for the development of a long-range, all-inclusive national policy on soil, water, wildlife and related renewable natural resources.

"Each of our present resource programs proceeds in its own way, with its own legislative authority, its own set of appropriations and its own set of supporters. As a result both people and resources suffer," said Gordon K. Zimmerman, National Grange Research Director, recently before a Congressional committee.

Four Local Men Attend 'Newsflift'

The Army-sponsored "news airlift" gave four Plymouthites an opportunity to observe Michigan reserve units in training and familiarize them with military operations.

City Manager Albert F. Glassford went to Camp McCoy, Wis., while Jack Wilcox, chamber of commerce manager, Russ Creel, Burroughs Corporation supervisor of community relations and J. Rusling Cutler, former city commissioner spent time at Fort Knox, Ky.

Representatives from Detroit area newspapers, chambers of commerce and industry were flown to the armor center at Ft. Knox for a first hand view of the latest techniques of war.

Glassford was one of 15 representatives from various civic groups and communities throughout Michigan selected to represent the state on the Fifth Army trip to Camp McCoy.

He boarded a government aircraft at Detroit-Wayne major airport at 8 a.m. August 20 and arrived at the Wisconsin training site at noon, returning late Wednesday evening, August 21.

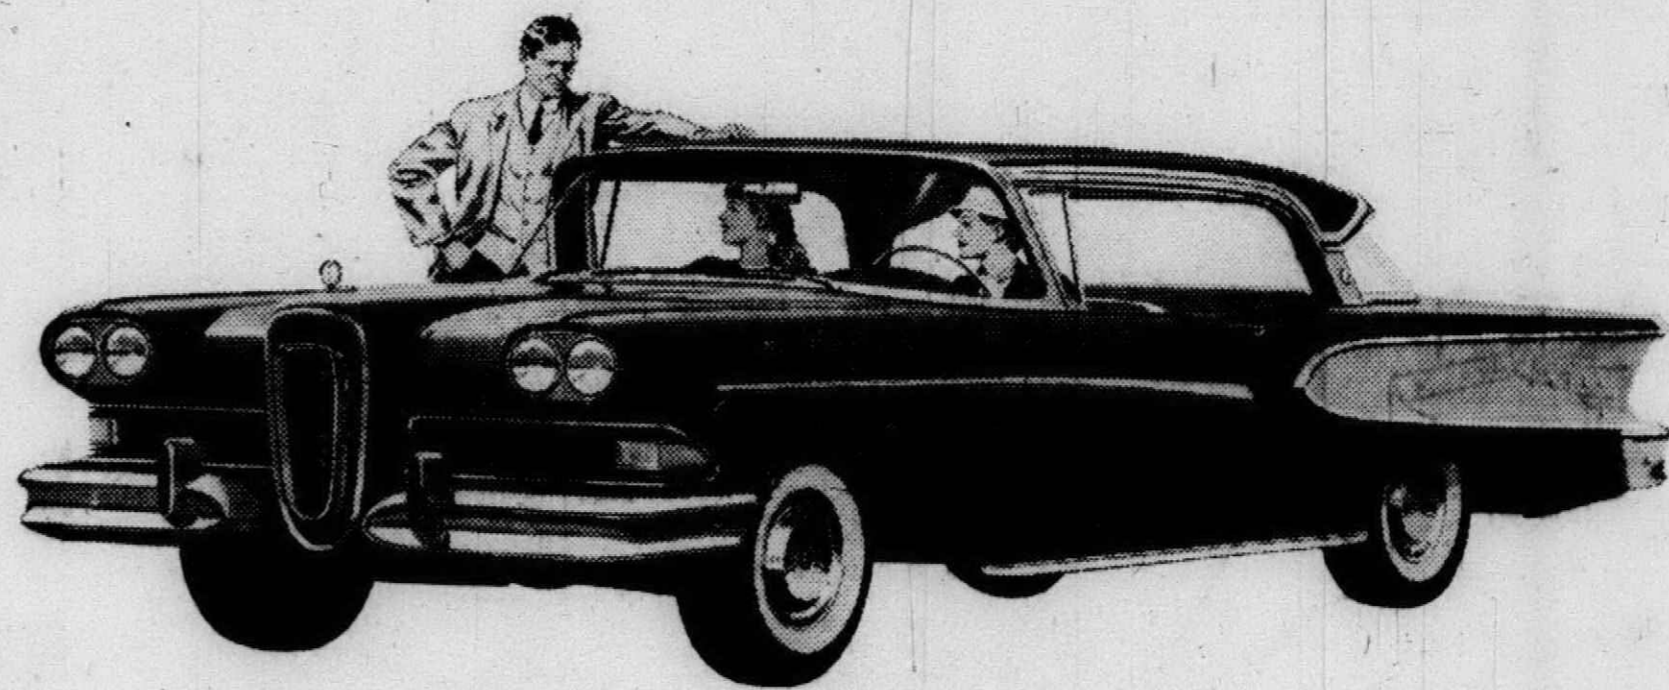

After a preliminary briefing the group visited with reservists from their areas. They witnessed and experienced training of the "Citizen Soldier," observed firing of artillery, fired 30-caliber rifles, were briefed on other arms and viewed the camp from the air via helicopter.

This is the EDSEL

"Today a remarkable new automobile joins the Ford family of fine cars"

There has never been a car like the Edsel. It is a magnificent automobile. Behind it lie all the resources of Ford Motor Company, all of the experience and engineering skill. The results: The Edsel is powered by the newest V-8 engines in the industry—the Edsel 400 and the Edsel 475. Specifications: 400 and 475 foot-pounds of torque; 303 and 345 horsepower; 10.5 to 1 compression ratio. The Edsel's big, safer brakes do not need periodic tightening.

They adjust themselves automatically in the course of your day-to-day driving.

The Edsel shifts itself. With Teletouch Drive, you just touch a button on the steering wheel hub. Teletouch Drive does the rest—smoothly, surely, electrically.

The Edsel's list of available new features includes contour seats; a warning light that flashes when you exceed your pre-set speed limit; another that flashes when oil is one quart low; a release that lets you open the luggage compartment from the driver's seat. There are many things that make the Edsel different from any other car you have driven. More exciting, more sure, more safe. What does an Edsel cost? Prices range from just above the lowest to just below the highest. You can afford an Edsel. And you can choose from four series, 18 models.

Stop in soon at your Edsel Dealer to see and drive the newest car in the world: the Edsel.

Teenage Cooperation Asked by Goodwill

"There is no more enthusiastic group when it comes to helping others than teenagers," Harold H. McKinnon, Executive Secretary of Detroit Goodwill Industries, said today in an open letter to Detroit youth.

"Youth groups in Detroit have always pitched in to help Goodwill Industries," he said, "and so it is only natural that we turn to the teenagers at this time when the flow of discards is slow and we must insure the continued employment of 450 physically handicapped persons."

"Needed most are children's and young people's clothes and shoes."

"Many teenagers are buying new clothes for the Fall term to supplant apparel outgrown or in need of repair."

"Other teenagers don't have the money to buy new clothes, but also have outgrown most of their wearing apparel."

"For those teenagers Goodwill Industries sells reconditioned clothes at a low cost in seven retail stores. It must be remembered, however, that in order to supply these stores, Goodwill must have sufficient clothing to refurbish. Handicapped workers recondition these discards, including complete repair, cleaning and pressing."

"The request that we make at this time of Detroit's young people is to round up all the clothes that are no longer wearable but are repairable. Call TRinity 3-3600 and a Goodwill truck will answer," McKinnon said.

The Kababeka waterfall, which produces power near Port Arthur, Ont., is 130 feet high and more than 400 feet wide.

The lowest official temperature registered in the United States—70 degrees below zero—was at Rogers Pass, Mont., in 1954.

by George Spalvin

Circle the 16th of September on your nearest date book. Monday night on the 16th of September is the first fall meeting of the Plymouth Theater Guild. Everyone with a slight case of "love at first sight" for the theater is welcome. Jack Wilcox, Membership Chairman, insists that you don't have to be just interested in acting. You may like backstage work — the Guild has a job for you. You may like costume or make-up work — come 'mon over on Monday the 16th. In short, all phases of the theater or living stage can be your interest and you'll be part of the gang before you know it.

Dropped into Barney's Grill the other evening for a shot of caffeine and Ruth Barney warned me that the first Theater Guild meeting of the year would be here almost before the coffee would be cold. Agreed with her. She mentioned the play that was going to be given. Tom Kelly came in the family entrance with the list of players that looked like this:

"The Valiant"
Warden Mike Toth
Jailer Jim Blackman
Josephine Parrish
Libby Kurner
Father Daly James Brown
James Dyke Ford Sutherland
Interesting pre-production note is that Mike Toth will be making his debut as a Guild member and actor in this play. We mention this to stress what we've said before that we'd like everyone to feel the Theater Guild is putting out the welcome mat for all adults from 18 to 88. Over 88 a front row center seat in the audience is recommended.

Senate Balks At Promotion For Actor
HOLLYWOOD.—(UP) — Shy, stammering Jimmy Stewart played the real-life role today he's portrayed so many times on the screen—the nice guy who gets a rough deal, but comes through like a champ anyhow.
The lanky actor's friends say Jimmy would have made brigadier general without a hitch if he weren't a famous movie star.
They yelled "foul" when his promotion was hung up by the Senate armed services committee this week.
But not Jimmy.
"I'll continue to do my best," he said, referring to his colonelcy in the strategic air command.
"I was very honored to receive the nomination for this promotion by President Eisenhower and the Air Force," Stewart added, and then he clammed up, just as he has in movies when the script threw him a curve.
The actor's friend and agent, Bernie Williams, says Jimmy pulled a two-week tour of active duty with the reserve this year and last—which is all the air force requires.
Jimmy himself admits he has been through transition and familiarization with B-47s and B-52s—the two SAC standbys, and both jets. During his last tour, less than a month ago, Col. Stewart had 25 hours flying time in B-52s.
According to Jimmy, his recent training has been directed at fulfilling the job of deputy commander of operations in the event of mobilization day—a task that involves movement of all aircraft throughout the global command.
At the height of his film career, when he was chosen best actor of 1940 for his role in "The Philadelphia Story" Stewart junked his $3000-a-week movie salary to become a buck private. In those days they were paying $21 a month.
He weighed less than 157 pounds when he reported to the draft board and was turned down for being underweight.
A few months later he fattened himself up by 10 pounds and was called into service in March 1941, eight months before Pearl Harbor. Jimmy rose rapidly in the ranks of the Army Air Corps. He had held a civilian flying license since 1935.
Without hoopla or fanfare, Stewart went about doing his duty—20 combat missions and 18 months in the European war theater.
He was awarded the distinguished flying cross for leading his squadron of bombers on a February 1945, raid on Brunswick, Germany, aircraft factories. He also was awarded the air medal and oak leaf cluster.

Time to take the costume off. Hard to realize that September is here. School is starting. Only yesterday Mildred, the little wife, said to me, "Don't you think it's time we shut the air conditioner off. I just heard the furnace start up."

OLD FAVORITES: "South Pacific" is holding forth as the final show at the musical tent. Still some of the mighty finest music in this show. I've seen "Pacific" three times, but there's no doubt in mind that I'll be showing off for Bali Hai to see if Nellie Forbush can wash that man right out of her hair for the fourth time. Here's a musical you know you will enjoy.
Out at Michigan State Fairgrounds "The Teahouse of the August Moon" is playing twice nightly. Again this is a play that is rich in satire, clever lines, and carries a message about democracy that never grows old. If you go (and you really should) check the program for James Hartman. Jim appeared in "Here Comes Mr. Jordan" as the boxer. Our Theater Guild members are likely to pop up on most any stage.

DC-3 Finally Retired After 24-Year History

WASHINGTON, (YUP) — It took an act of Congress, but the world's most famous transport plane—the DC-3—has been told it finally can retire.

The fate of the 24-year-old airliner that helped commercial aviation come of age was sealed this week when Congress passed a bill to give small airlines financial help in buying new equipment.

The legislation means that carriers still using the venerable DC-3 at last will be able to replace it with new planes.

These new short-range airliners will be faster, more luxurious and economically superior to the DC-3. But they will never be able to match the brilliant record of this twin-engine transport.

The DC-3 was to aviation what the Model-T was to motoring.

American Airlines and TWA put the first DC-3 into scheduled airline service in 1935. In another five years, the plane comprised 90 per cent of the nation's commercial air fleet and was introducing millions to their first taste of modern air travel. Foreign airlines bought them, too, and the plane swiftly earned the title of "the world's best transport plane."

During World War II, the DC-3 earned another title—"Jeep of the skies." Under its military designation C-47, the sturdy transport became an airborne workhorse. It flew millions of tons of wartime cargo, served as an aerial ambulance, hauled paratroops into combat, and became a familiar and welcome sight at Allied Airfields throughout the world.

From 1933 to 1945, the Douglas Aircraft Co. turned out more than 11,000 DC-3's. Not even the advent of bigger postwar transports could sideline the old veteran. It still was regarded as the best short-haul airliner available. While the plush transcontinental and overseas flights shifted to DC-6's, Constellations and Stratocruisers, the DC-3 continued to fly its comfortable 180 miles an hour over the nation's inter-city airways.

Even when the major airlines began converting to the newer Conquairs and Martins on their short-range flights, the DC-3 refused to be retired. The bigger lines sold hundreds of them to the feeder or "local service" carriers which were expanding operation in the postwar years.

American Airlines, biggest of U.S. carriers, was the first to scrap its entire DC-3 fleet. The last American DC-3 to fly one of the line's scheduled trips touched wheels to the ground in the spring of 1949.

American, with tongue-in-cheek, offered the plane to the Smithsonian institute in Washington. It was a gesture not appreciated by other lines still using the veteran.

The DC-3, however died hard. As of April 18, 1957, 22 scheduled airlines still were using 270 DC-3's in their regular operations. These included even such major carriers as Northeast, Braniff, and Capital. For local carriers, their DC-3's kept them in business. With new planes costing a half-million dollars apiece, it was the DC-3 or nothing.

But the small airlines were hurting. The DC-3, carrying only 21 passengers, does not haul a profitable payload. It also is expensive to maintain. Douglas stopped building the plane 11 years ago and spare parts run high. The Civil Aeronautics Administration allowed it to fly only on a temporary authorization because its performance failed to meet CAA's new transport standards.
