Public Schools Open Up With 4,211 Pupils

Plymouth's public schools opened last Thursday with fewer pupils than predicted, but still had the highest enrollment in the history of the school district.

In an enrollment breakdown presented to the board of education by Superintendent Russell Fabster Monday night, it was learned that the initial enrollment is 4,211. There were 4,300 pupils expected. This figure, however, may be approached as school continues this year. Last year, classes opened with 4,020 students.

The superintendent said that the school district lost 30 juniors this year because of a policy which eliminated all students from the Patchen school district except the seniors. They will be attending the Wayne and Livonia schools.

Allen Elementary school has the most spare room this year among the elementary buildings. The larger elementary schools will hold about 420 pupils. Allen has 359.

Looking at other schools, Bird Elementary has 416; Gallimore, 432; Smith, 424; Starkweather, 420; Plymouth Community Junior High, 833; Senior High, 1,151; Canton Center, 25; Cherry Hill, 55; Hough, 53; and Truesdell, 43.

By grades, the fifth grade boasts the greatest number with 383. This is the breakdown from kindergarten through the 12th grade:

Kindergarten, 374; 1st grade, 331; 2nd grade, 329; 3rd grade, 340; 4th grade, 322; 5th grade, 383; 6th grade, 312; 7th grade, 341; 8th grade, 296; 9th grade, 349; 10th grade, 336; 11th grade, 254; 12th grade, 211.

In addition, there is a room for special students and one post graduate student.

There are no sixth grades at all at Bird, Gallimore and Starkweather schools. Instead six groups have been formed at the Junior High of 196 pupils.

While the Junior High is being used, it still has not been turned over to the school board by the contractor. The gymnasium is not expected to be completed for several weeks.

To help the 833 students around the massive new building, nine students served as guides last Thursday and Friday. They were Edwin Schrader, David Raaflaub, Sylvia Godwin, Susan Tichy, Mary Hulsing, Cathy Clyde, John Haeske, Kenneth Fisher and Ginger Naeby.

A PLYMOUTH 4-Hers project has led to the remarkable rehabilitation of an old cemetery at Gyde and Ridge roads. Marjorie Reddeman, 48640 N. Territorial, found the cemetery grown high with weeds and 50 or more stones knocked over, presumably by vandals. Thirty 4-H members, their leaders and some fathers, helped this summer in the project. But to do the heavy work, the Allen Monument Works of Northville volunteered their services. Marjorie is shown watching as Mr. Allen and son Jim put a stone back on its base. Graves in the cemetery go back to 1827.

Vandals Wreck Girl Scout Lodge Interior

No clues have been found yet in the search for vandals who last weekend smashed up $500 worth of equipment and furnishings at the Kiwanis Girl Scout Lodge.

The lodge, located south of Plymouth road near the Burroughs Corp. plant, was entered sometime between last Saturday and Tuesday, Kiwanians went to the lodge Tuesday to prepare for their Ladies Night affair. There they found the lodge a shambles.

Robert Lidgard, president of the service club, reported that over 40 windows had been broken out, beds had been thrown from an upstairs balcony to the main floor, two vacuum cleaners had been thrown downstairs and broken, a kitchen clock was smashed, an RCA record player wrecked and all kitchenware pulled from the cupboards.

Sheriff's detectives investigated the vandalism. Damage has tentatively been estimated at $500.

Lidgard said that earlier this year, vandals had broken out 30 windows.

The lodge is used by Girl Scouts and Brownies much of the year and until recently had been used by the Easter Seal Society for crippled children meetings. Plymouth Kiwanians built and maintain the lodge.

City's Annual Report Wins Second Place

The city of Plymouth's 1955-56 Annual Report which most citizens received earlier this year won a second place in the Annual Reports Contest sponsored by the Michigan Municipal League.

Mayor Harold Guenther accepted the award at the League's annual convention last Thursday at the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island.

Negaunee was the first place winner for municipalities of 5,000 to 10,000 population, followed by Plymouth.

This is the third such contest. Plymouth's annual report won second place two years ago and first place last year. The Plymouth Mail has printed the annual reports each year.

The contest is held to permit city and village officials an opportunity to compare the quality of the annual report they make to their citizens with that of reports made by other communities. Reports are judged for their thoroughness of coverage, clarity and general appearance. First, second and third place as well as honorable mention awards are given annually in five population categories.

New Building, Modernization Underway in City

Construction of a new building and modernization of another is taking place downtown nowadays.

The new building is being constructed on Ann Arbor Trail, next to Kennitt Candies, by the Beitner Jewelry. On Penningman Avenue, the Plymouth Finance Co. is modernizing a new location.

Beitner Jewelry, now located at 705 S. Main, is expected to move into the new location sometime in November. The 20 by 78 foot building was designed by Harold E. Pine, Plymouth architect.

William and Fred Beitner, partners in the business, have been in the jewelry business here five years, all of them at the present location. With the present store now being one of the smallest in town, the owners promise that customers in the new store will "have plenty of room to turn around."

Parking at the new location will be in the Central Parking lot behind the building with a rear entrance being provided.

The former Seyfried Jewelry store is being taken over by Plymouth Finance, now located at 274 S. Main. The company has been at its present location ever since it started 11 years ago.

Myron Smith, president of the finance firm, states that the company will have one of the most modern small finance offices in the state. A new front is being put on the building and even the rear entrance is being modernized. A carport for 10-minute customer parking has been provided.

Mahogany paneling and woodwork is used throughout the office. A translucent lighting system will also be another modern feature. The office, measuring 21 by 70 feet, will probably be ready to open sometime in November.

No Sleepy Depot in the Morning

Commuter Train is Local Asset

By David Jolliffe

Railroad depots in most small towns are usually sleepy places at 7:15 a.m. But that's not true on week-day mornings at the Plymouth depot just off Starkweather Avenue. At that time a blue and gold Chesapeake & Ohio commuter train, the Sportsmen, passes in a daily journey from Washington, D. C. to Detroit. And 200 or so Plymouthites who make their living in Detroit are grateful.

There are always a few passengers who haven't arrived at the depot as the Sportsman swings swiftly north over the crossing at Main street with spasmodic toots and continues, slowly now, around the curve and stops generally between Starkweather Avenue and Mill street.

A few who lingered over a second cup of coffee, or arise too late for any coffee, barely make the 7:15.

An obliging train crew has been known to wait a precious second for a scurrying customer in the distance. (Of course, once in a while, those same customers wait for the C and O.)

To the new commuter, it can be a rather boring 35 minute ride between Plymouth and Detroit's Fort St. station. But if you've ridden over the route a long time you'll remember little things that have made an ordinary trip an extraordinary one.

For there's heroism along the tracks. Like the time last spring an unsung brakeman raced half a mile to warn the Sportsman of a stalled freight train ahead. Then too, there's humor when George, the ticket-punching conductor who, it seems, has been on the run as long as there were tracks, takes two holes out of one ticket to make up for a forgotten passport.

Sometimes you don't realize how many friends you have until one winter morning a West Virginia snow slide delays the train and you need an adding machine to count the rides you are offered from the depot to Detroit. It would be impossible to be introduced, and remember, you 200 or so fellow commuters. But they know your face and you'll always remember theirs.

A special election has been called for Monday, October 14 at which electors will be asked to set up a "building and site sinking fund" which it is hoped will put school construction on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The decision to hold the election was reached at Monday night's regular meeting of the Plymouth Community School board of education.

The proposal calls for bond retirement millage to be cut two and a half mills ($2.50 per $1,000 valuation) and to apply it to a new building and site fund. This would provide about $187,500 annually, or enough to build a third of an elementary school.

Plymouth, like nearly every other school district in the United States, has had to vote a bond issue every time major construction was attempted. Present bonds issued by the school district bear two and a quarter or three percent interest. Today, bonds are being sold for four and a half and five percent interest.

The school board points out that if the building and fund site can keep pace with construction needs, there will be no further need for selling bonds—hence a large saving of interest.

Five Local Teachers Injured in Crash Near Ann Arbor

Five Starkweather school teachers were injured Tuesday afternoon in an automobile collision as they were returning to their homes in Ann Arbor.

The teachers were Mrs. Margaret Anderson, Mrs. Carol Benjamin, Mrs. Helen Berk, Mrs. Helen Kelly and Miss Anne Welch. The accident occurred at 4:40 p.m. on Geddes road near Earhart road, when the car, driven by Mrs. Kelly, hit a car turning from the opposing lane of traffic.

In University Hospital are Mrs. Anderson, with a hip injury; Mrs. Kelly with chest injuries and a broken leg; and Miss Welch with a broken ankle, severe facial lacerations, and possible internal injuries.

Mrs. Benjamin was released from the hospital after treatment for a leg injury and Mrs. Berk was treated by her family doctor for a leg injury.

Mrs. Berk returned to school Wednesday morning to her third (Continued on Page 8)

Over an hour of Monday night's meeting was devoted to further discussion of the school site which the board wants to purchase from the Fred Greenpan Building Co. in the northeast section of Plymouth Township. The board's attorney, Nandino Perlongo, reported that negotiations with the building firm's attorney are nearly completed, but the board itself tossed in another requirement which will result in further talks.

The board was worried over a temporary road to the school site, which is isolated from all present roads. They want a guarantee from the builder that a roadway will be provided in case the builder would cease operations.

In other business, Berry and Atchinson submitted the winning bid for a 60-passenger school bus. Their bid with a GMC chassis and Carpenter body was $6,040. This will be the school district's 16th bus.

Wilt of Elms Is Not Fatal Disease

Fear that Dutch Elm Disease has hit hundreds of trees in the vicinity were dispelled this week when it was learned that the trees are suffering from a blight, not the fatal disease.

Joseph Bida, city superintendent of public works, said that the parks and forestry department headed by Hugh McAuley had sent in dozens of specimens from elms to the State Conservation Department for examination. None of them showed traces of the disease.

Elms here and in other communities are wilting and leaves are browning prematurely. Symptoms are those of Dutch Elm disease. Bida said, but conservation officials say that it is a blight which will not prove fatal to the elms.

There was exceptionally dry weather during July, which may have affected the leaves.

If you see many red fezzes today, you will know the Plymouth Shriners are having their annual stag steak party at Beglinger's Park, 705 South Main street. Each year this party is held for the benefit of all fourth grade Plymouth school district children who are taken to the Shrine Circus in Detroit as guests of the local Shrine club.

Mrs. Clyde Everett Smith, Jr.

Clyde E. Smiths to live in Plymouth After Honeymoon on West Coast

Seven branch candelabra and white flowers decorated the First Congregational church in Wyandotte for the marriage of Martha Pattison and Clyde Everett Smith, Jr.

Officiating at the double-ring ceremony Saturday, September 7, was Rev. H. Norman Jackson. Organ music was provided by Eleanor Bennick, while soloist Marlene Marlow sang "I Love Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Pattison of Wyandotte and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Smith, 8010 Newburg road.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an imported lace and nylon tulle gown of floor-length, fashioned with a sabrina neckline accented with sequins and seed pearls, a basque bodice and long sleeves of lace. Scallop-edged lace formed the front and back panels of the skirt, the back panel extending into a chapel-length train. A white orchid surrounded by a cascade of white roses and ivy composed the bridal bouquet.

Jean Thon attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a ballerina-length dress of two shades of blue taffeta. The rounded neckline was accented in the back by a bow with streamers to the hemline. A crown of blue tulle leaves completed the costume. She carried a cascade arrangement of pink rhubrum lilies and ivy.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Pattison, sister-in-law of the bride and Suzanne Pattison, sister of the bride. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the maid of honor's.

The bridegroom's brother, David Smith, was best man. Seating the guests were James Tomlinson, brother-in-law of the bridegroom and Robert Pattison, brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Pattison chose a light blue satin sheath dress with draped bodice and matching shoes, and a velvet hat. Mrs. Smith, the bridegroom's mother, wore a dusty rose dress with a satin bodice and sweetheart neckline of lace. Both mothers wore corsages of white rhubrum lilies.

A reception followed in the church parlors.

For a month-long honeymoon to the west coast, the bride chose a gray silk sheath dress with matching jacket and black accessories.

The couple will live at 7830 Newburg road.

Bride's Father, Uncle Perform Service at Church of Nazarene

Rev. Charles D. Ide officiated at the marriage of his daughter Sandra to Lauren Larsen at the Church of the Nazarene on September 7. He was assisted by his brother, Rev. Glen Ide of Kalamazoo.

Rev. and Mrs. Ide live at 11550 East Ann Arbor Trail. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. V. B. Larsen and the late Dr. Walter Larsen.

The church was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and carnations, palms and candelabra for the evening service. Charles Haselberg, a professor at Olivet College in Kankakee, Ill., sang "I Love Thee," "O. Perfect Love" and "The Wedding Prayer." Marilyn Cassels of Olivet College played the violin and Mrs. James Green of Newcastle, Ind., played the organ.

For her wedding, the bride chose a white taffeta gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and silk brocade trim. She carried a white orchid centered in stephanotis.

Matron of honor, Mrs. John B. Hollemans of Grand Rapids, wore a ballerina length taffeta gown trimmed with purple velvet and carried an arrangement of pink roses.

The bridesmaids wore dresses identical to the matron of honor's and carried bouquets of pink roses. They were Nadine Evans of Cincinnati, Ohio; Rhea Sue Hamel of Grand Rapids; and Mrs. Edward Davis of Grand Rapids. Cheryl Fischer of Plymouth was a junior bridesmaid and Jean Chase of Grand Rapids was flower girl.

The bridegroom asked David Andersen of Chicago, Ill., to be his attendant. Ushers were Don Duff and John Henderson of Kankakee, Ill.; Don Mc Dowell of Philadelphia, Pa.; Paul Cunningham of Chicago, Ill.; and Randy Wellman of St. Louis, Mo. Daniel Ide, brother of the bride, was junior groomsmen.

Mrs. Ide, the bride's mother, wore a dusty rose and beige silk dress and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Larsen, wore a blue satin sheath dress with blue accessories.

A reception was held in the recreation room of the church for 200 guests. Because of the bride's teaching contract, a Florida vacation is planned at Christmas.

The bride is a graduate of Olivet Academy and Olivet Nazarene College in Kankakee, Ill., and the bridegroom is doing graduate work at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill. Their future home will be at 2514 Iris Lane in Des Plaines, Ill.

Merck told police that as he crossed the intersection, the car ahead veered to the left. He saw a pedestrian, applied the brakes but could not avoid hitting Paps, a car salesman.

Merck was ticketed for not having his car under control. Paps was admitted to Wayne County General Hospital and was released later that day. The mishap was at 1:05 p.m.

Don't know what gets into swimmers about this time of year, but a couple of weeks ago 24 of them set out to get across the English Channel. The stretch between France and England is about 19 miles, as the crow swims. That's far enough for the average Saturday night bather, but Channel swimmers usually wind up traveling more than 30 miles. The tides pull them around like a hesitant shopper caught in a bargain basement sale.

A Capt. Matthew Webb swam the cold ditch first in 1875. He took 21 hours and 45 minutes. The only swimmer to do it twice was E. M. Temme of England. He churned the channel waters from France to England in 1927, then reversed his course in 1934. Seems there would have been an easier way to get back.

Now is the time to build up your vitamin supply for the cold days ahead. Whatever your needs for supplementary nourishment, we have the vitamins to fill them.

Expect at Least 100 in Plymouth Golf Tournament

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has selected Hilltop Golf Course as the site for its first annual Plymouth and surrounding area golf tournament. All male residents of Plymouth, Northville, or Canton Township are invited to enter the two-day net score competition.

In previous years this tournament has been sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, and last year was handled by a single individual. But the job was entirely too large for one person's supervision. So, as decided this year, the tournament will become an annual Junior Chamber of Commerce affair with the site of play rotated each year. Next year it will be staged at Plymouth Country Club, and the following autumn will find it at Brae Burn.

The tournament begins with 13 qualifying holes to be completed on Saturday, September 21, and a playoff round of 18 holes will follow on Sunday, the 22nd. Trophies will be awarded to first and second place winners of the championship flight and each of the other three flights.

Certificates redeemable in merchandise at any store in Plymouth will also be offered as prizes. Included in Sunday's agenda are hole-in-one driving contests.

Applications for this tournament may be obtained at Brae Burn, Hilltop, or the Country Club and must be mailed with the registration fee to either Hilltop Golf Club or Davis and Lent Sports Department. Or this transaction may be handled in person. The registration fee is $8 which includes green fees for both days and prize money.

At least 100 golfers are expected to turn out for the event and hopes are that many more will be present. Below is a registration blank for your convenience. No registration deadline has been set.

Watervliet Man Wins Michigan Horseshoe Tourney in Plymouth

A man who had never before entered a state championship horseshoe tournament won the Michigan state title in Plymouth's Riverside Park Sunday after 33 contestants tossed at the pins for two days.

Elmer Hallock of Watervliet, Mich., was first place winner of the state tourney after beating out Alex Clark of Garden City.

Playoffs started Saturday morning and continued through Sunday afternoon when Hallock won two straight from Clark in a two-out-of-three title match. Winning scores were 50-32 and 50-34. Winning score for championship horseshoes is 50.

Bleachers were erected by the Plymouth Recreation Department for the crowd which watched the tourney. Players found the courts in good condition and an invitation has been extended to have the state matches here again next year.

The 33 entries were narrowed down to 20 in early playoffs. The remaining 20 were placed in two divisions. Each player pitched nine games in a round robin. Clark had won all of his and Hallock lost two, but Hallock had no trouble in handling his opponent in the championship match.

With only the entry fees used for prize money, Hallock received $25 and a trophy for his win.

Elks Win 3rd Playoff Game

The Plymouth Elks gained another victory Sunday in their bid for lower division play-off honors as the Inter-County Baseball League turns to the final few weeks of play. Meanwhile, the Plymouth Merchants, who were ceded a top spot in the upper division play-offs, dropped their second consecutive ball game, thus eliminating them from the double knock-out competition.

The Elks, behind Hank Bonga's erratic but adequate nine hitter, coasted home over the Chelsea Jaycee squad, 9-3. Both Bonga and Chelsea hurler Miller walked seven batters, dunking themselves in hot water every inning. Bob Bruce collected two of Plymouth's 10 hits to pace the attack, though three errors and numerous other defensive boners by the losers were big factors in the outcome.

Meanwhile, the Merchants kicked away their chances of remaining in play-off contention by bowing to Northville, 7-6. Six Merchant misques afield told the story, including two in the ninth which ultimately led to the decisive Northville run. Ed Hock started for the Plymouth squad, but departed in favor of Rich Sheppard in the fourth after an error and four straight hits netted the winners five big tallies.

In the other contest of the afternoon, Romulus eliminated a recently slumping River Rouge Nine, 7-2. This means only Northville and Romulus remain in the upper division — both undefeated — while the Elks and Chelsea battle for the lower division title. Chelsea had lost once.

2nd Motorcycle Race Scheduled at Northville

Competition riders of the American Motorcycle Association are looking forward to their return to Northville Downs Saturday Night September 14th for the 3 Star Championship event.

Riders and officials were high in praise of the half mile dirt racing plant and Mel Larson's promotion after their highly successful race meet there Labor Day. Riders stated that the track and its conditioning were ideal for both terrific speeds and safe competition. During competition laps were turned in the 26 second brackets, making for an average speed in excess of 68 miles per hour for the half mile oval.

Well above 40 riders are expected to take part in the 9 event program under the lights Saturday night. A three lap McKanna Mercury Trophy Dash will be held followed by 6 ten lap heat races and 2 ten lap feature events. The races will be divided into class 'A' and 'B' events.

Larry Stone of Detroit, winner of the feature at Flint Auto City Speedway Saturday night, will again be on hand trying to better his already impressive racing record.

Dearborn's Bob Zwarka will try to make it two in a row since he captured the feature event at Charlotte this past Sunday.

Time trials will begin at 7 p.m. and the first competitive race will take place promptly at 8:30. Riders will begin their practice and warm-ups at 6.

Reservations can be made by phoning Plymouth 1892-W2 or Northville 1140.

Former Professional Player Is New PHS Basketball Coach

The Plymouth High School Athletic Department has added a new member to its staff of coaches in the person of James Doyle, a 28-year-old former Trenton graduate. Doyle, a not-so-long-ago high scoring four year star at Central Michigan, will handle the duties as head basketball mentor of PHS for '57-'58.

Though born in Detroit, Doyle attended a Florida high school for three years before moving to Trenton where he played ball and received his diploma. Following college — at one time he held every possible Central scoring record but one — he was a member of the Naval Air Reserve stationed at Grosse Ile and starred on their basketball squad. In six Air-Navy tournament games as a sparkplug of that team, Doyle averaged 135 points a contest.

Doyle was then drafted as a rookie for the Baltimore Bullets and made an extensive tour with an 18 member squad, competing with some men over seven feet tall. (He is 5'10") The team clashed with and lost to the armed forces bases all over the Hawaiian Islands and Japan.

The Bullets, like all professional NBA teams, carried a 12 man squad throughout the regular season. Doyle, unfortunately, was number 13 and was dropped from the team — mainly because of his height. However, he was quickly signed with the Washington Generals, quit the next day, and was contracted by a team which traveled with and played only the Harlem Magicians in an exhibition set-up. The Magicians were formed by Goose Tatum and Marcus Haynes, both formerly of the world famous Harlem Globe Trotters.

Doyle remained with the Magicians organization a year and then took a teaching job at Wyandotte. He taught driver education during the day and was head basketball coach at Mt. Carmel High after school. Doyle guided his boys to the West Side First Division with an impressive 10-1 mark.

According to Doyle, he is very happy to be in the Suburban Six League and looks to the coming season with anticipation. Doyle is unmarried and resides at 1158 South Main.

Three Locks In Hole-in-One

Three generations of golfers were represented at the hole-in-one contest at Redford Golf Course when the Locks went before the TV camera to take their three shots.

The eldest hole-in-one, William Lock of Dearborn, is backed up by plenty of experience as the golf pro at the Bob-o-Link and Backham courses, just to mention a few. He has five hole-in-ones to his credit, the last one coming on Labor Day, 1954.

Thomas Lock, 997 Junction, qualified in 1953 when he shot a hole-in-one on the Burroughs Farms course. His son, Gary, became eligible July 25 this year, also at Burroughs. The 15-year-old lad has been golfing for two years.

Plans Humming for Fall Festival At Our Lady of Good Counsel

Surely the headlines this week should go to the members of Our Lady of Good Counsel church who have more irons in the fire than you can shake a stick at. They're going all out and working like a beehive on their plans for a big Fall Festival on Sunday, September 29. Lorraine Thuer out on Haggerly Road is queen bee in charge of the buzzing activity and has some very capable help from our Circle. Rita Munzer is publicity chairman; Marty Kennedy, Sr. is in charge of ticket sales and Dorothy Frank is zoning captain and will make contacts for needed donations. The purpose of the Fall Festival is to meet expenses brought about by remodeling the church kitchen and a new lighting system. I'll have more detailed information for you each week (via Ruth Munzer) regarding the various booths, prizes and other interesting highlights.

The regular business meeting of the Homeowner's Association was held last Friday evening at the Joseph Quinlan on Garling Drive. Some of the more interesting business follows:

Joe Quinlan announced the Civil Defense fire fighting group would take a written examination on the course which they have now completed on Tuesday, September 10.

Representing the petunia committee, Jim Sponseller presented gift certificates from the Plymouth Nurseries to the Walter Lakes and yours truly as winners in the sub petunia contest (Incidentally, you surely must know that when I use the term "yours truly" it includes my better half.)

In the future the hospital and flower committee will send flowers in the event of a death in the immediate family or upon the death of a parent of an association member.

Since we have recently inaugurated the "social" on alternate months it was voted that dues will be collected only for those months when a regular business meeting is held. It was agreed that no dues shall be collected for the three preceding months of June, July and August.

Credit goes to Harvey Cooper, Marty Kennedy, Jr., Joe Quinlan, Bud Wilson, Al Truax and my guy for mowing the lawn on the corner of Garling and Parkview Drive where the Kerrs formerly lived.

The "Pie and Cake Walk" will again be a regular feature of the carnival at the Starkweather school on October 12 and Doris Kuhns, as chairman of that event, will gladly accept any or all donations.

Jim Sponseller has a mighty fine 8x10 aerial view print of our sub which he took recently and any of you may purchase same at 50c each. Call him at 1557W.

Perhaps you've noticed that Ron Upton has turned over his paper route to his brother Alan. Ron is now the station captain and has the responsibility of seeing that all news boys in Plymouth receive their correct number of papers and that they go out on time. It's a big job and one which Ron will fill very well.

Stevie and Barney Bird of Parkview Drive ran into a very delightful situation last weekend when they drove up to Eysart, Mich. to visit with Barney's mother, Mrs. Iva Kennell. The Bird's daughter and son-in-law, Grace and Bill Light and their two children drove up with them. It was to be an occasion because Mrs. Kennell had never seen her two grandchildren but more surprises followed when other unexpected relatives arrived at the same time from Florida and from Northville. The Birds are still amazed that it could all happen so simply and without any planning whatsoever. It was a family reunion they will all long remember.

Happy Anniversary to Dorothy and Lloyd Curok on September 10. Eight years ago I hear via the grapevine that Robbie Bowers over on Parkview Drive has been laid low with pneumonia. Robbie, we all wish you a speedy recovery.

Helen Lake on Garling Drive has offered her recreation room to hold the rummage sale. Now all we need is a captain or chairman to get the thing underway and we're all set. Anyone interested call Helen at 309W.

At the meeting Friday night Lorraine Quinlan had very graciously decorated a delicious chocolate cake for Rose Kennedy with "Happy Birthday Rose" on it. It happened to be Lorraine's birthday too. I understand that the Quinlans and Pat and Fred Campbell drove up to Schulers restaurant in Marshall Saturday evening for Lorraine's birthday dinner.

According to Madeliene Kendall there are still some of those adorable little kittens looking for homes. Phone 2024.

We got a terrific bang out of watching the frilly little girls and slick haired boys going over to Lorrie Curok's birthday party on Saturday afternoon. They carried their gifts very carefully as though each package contained a dozen eggs and they'd been cautioned not to drop them. Paper hats, horns, favors, birthday cake, ice cream, games and opening of the gifts kept the children amused all afternoon. The tiny tots helping Lorrie celebrate her fourth birthday were Sheila and Jimmy Parks, Terry and Larry Wilson, Rochelle and Ricky Ruland, Janet McGill and Kathy Quinlan.

Jimmy Lake is another Circle lad with a position of responsibility for he is captain of the safety patrol boys at Starkweather school. Jimmy and his two lieutenants, Paul Carlson and Randy Birkelbaw, must see that the safety patrol boys are assigned posts and on duty at specified hours. A great deal of credit is due these safety patrol boys for they have taken on the vital task of seeing that children cross the streets safely and without them I'm sure there'd be many a worry and many a heartache.

THE READER SPEAKS UP

An Open Letter to Mr. Roy Lindsay, Supervisor of Plymouth Township —

Dear Mr. Lindsay: As a resident and a taxpayer of Plymouth Township, I am quite concerned as to the progress being made relative to the proposed sewer and water facilities to be made available to the people of Plymouth Township. I have been led to believe that a master plan has been discussed at some length, but as of now I have no evidence that said master plan is anything but a figment of someone's imagination.

Manwhile, some rather thickly populated residential areas have been built with septic tanks as a means of sewage disposal and wells as a means of gaining water. This brings up the question that when and if this sewer and water plan is put into effect, will it result in a tremendous duplication of time, money and effort for the people involved because the sewer and water plan is so slow in becoming a reality? If so, I think that this will be an unnecessary hardship for future residents of Plymouth Township as well as the people who reside in the township now.

The reason for this letter is that I feel that the sewer and water situation in this area is being handled on a patchwork basis that someday is going to result in not only a financial loss for those involved but also may someday constitute a health hazard to the entire area. If this ever occurs, it will be forced to conclude that it will be contributable to one of two reasons; either lack of interest or a distinct lack of planning on the part of the Township Board of Supervisors.

If the afore-mentioned sewer and water master plan is in existence, I feel that it would be of sufficient interest to the people of Plymouth Township to warrant being published in the Plymouth Mail as a matter of general interest.

Commuter Train

6:50 p.m. Train service in this direction cannot compare with the six commuter trains that travel between Detroit and Pontiac, stopping at Birmingham, Ferndale, Pleasant Ridge, General Motors Building and other points.

According to Howard Banister, manager of C and O passenger service, there are no immediate plans to install regular commuter service between Detroit and Plymouth. The railroad has turned down requests to make Livonia and Dearborn regular stops.

The C and O seems happy with things the way they are. Those who ride the trains think that addition of more trains would be wonderful. But considering the absence of commuter service in other Western Wayne County communities, Plymouth commuters realize that things could be much worse.

First Meeting Set For Newcomers Club

New residents and old-timers are offered an opportunity to become better acquainted with Plymouth through the newly-formed Newcomers club.

The first meeting will be held in the home economics room of the high school. Special entertainment and refreshments are planned.

Co-sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and the Adult Education Department, once-a-month meetings are planned. An introduction to Plymouth and what it has to offer may be handled by various clubs and organizations in the city, each one planning a meeting.

Stop & Shop's big expansion is just about completed. The twenty-five foot addition will enable the store to offer a host of additional shopping features to its customers.

Two Local Men To Help Umpire Global Series

Two Plymouth men will be among the eight regulars umpiring the Global World Series of Baseball which opens at Briggs Stadium this Friday at 8 p.m.

Earl Gray and Clarence Levandowski, both members of the Suburban Umpires group, will join two umpires each from Garden City, Grand Rapids and Muskegon during the six-day series.

The series brought to Detroit Wednesday the largest mass movement of athletes to arrive here at one time.

The game Friday night is Canada vs. Japan. Saturday's game at 1 p.m. is Holland vs. Venezuela. At 8:30 p.m., Hawaii will play Mexico. This game has been assigned to the two local umpires, Kenneth Linder and Norman Schroeder of Garden City will also be umpires while Thomas Pease and Arman Borsamean of Livonia will be alternates for the four from this area.

The 6 p.m. Saturday game will bring United States and Columbia together. There will be four games Sunday starting at 1, 3:30, 6 and 8:15 p.m.

Three games Monday will start at 1, 6 and 8:15 p.m.; two games Tuesday starting at 6 and 8:15 p.m. and the same schedule for the championship games on Wednesday. Gray will umpire for the final game.

Players in the Global Series are ranked as semi-professionals.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Scharrer and grandson Gerald of Hemlock spent two days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Last, during which time they attended the Detroit Zoo and the State Fair.

Attention all former letter winners of Plymouth High. Any person who has ever won a varsity letter at PHS in any sport may now obtain a season ticket for all home football and basketball games at a very nominal cost. Simply contact John Sandmann, Plymouth High athletic director.

Things looked pretty good last Saturday morning as the PHS football squad had its first full scale scrimmage. Under the watchful eye of Head Coach Mike Hoban, the 38 boys fought their way up and down a perfectly conditioned field with a hot sun looking on to see the Blues overpower the Yellows, 19-7.

The Blue squad, consisting of the tentative first string line and second string backs, waited until the second half to begin functioning defensively and effectively stop the runs of LaRoche, Woodard and Egloff, and the passing of Knipschild who had all been moving quite well behind a smaller, less experienced forward wall. However, when the clinch was finally slapped on the Yellow offense, the Blues began gathering a few yards themselves, and completely dominated the final quarter and a half of play.

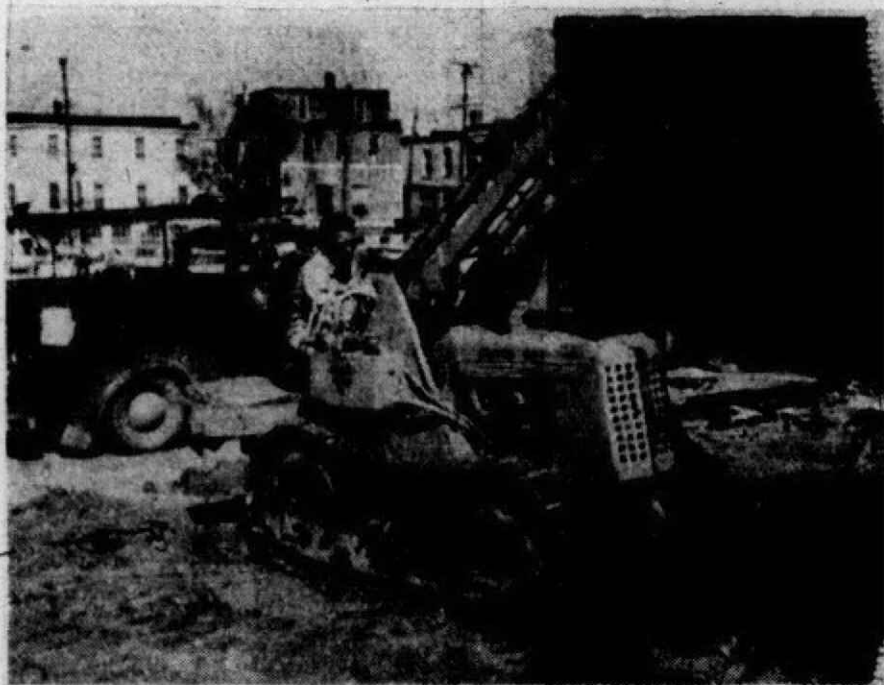

Particularly outstanding performances were given by Ed LaRoche and Dave Walaskay, both veteran backs, and Sophomore John Salan, a 5'4" guard who hardly missed a block all morning. LaRoche carried the bulk of the Yellows' running attack on his shoulders while Walaskay broke away for two 40 yard-plus touchdown gallops. At the same time, Little John, a half-back-turned-lineman, did a tremendous job of "moving 'em out of there," especially when pulling out to lead the end-around interference.

According to Coach Hoban, "they looked fairly good, but there are still a great number of rough edges to be tended to." The Rocks face Highland Park in a regulation practice game this weekend, though the exact day of the contest has not been officially announced.

The Ladies Recreation Bowling League will open its 1957-58 season a week from today, September 19, at the Arbor Lill Alleys, 12:30 sharp. According to Mrs. Guy Higley, all team positions are filled as of now, but there is a great need for substitutes. Anyone interested should contact Mrs. Higley personally or call her at 1571-R before September 19.

When Central Michigan College topped Hillsdale, 15-6 in 1954, the win was the first by a Michigan Team in 14 years over the Dales. The two teams meet again this Fall at CMC on Sept. 28 and once again Hillsdale led a victory streak, this one stretching 24 straight.

GROUND WAS broken last week for a new building on Ann Arbor Trail which Beitner Jewelry will occupy. Chuck Pearson is shown on the dozer as the ground was prepared. The building is west of the old A & P store. The Beitners expect to move into the new building sometime in November.

BARBEQUED CHICKEN reached VFW members and their families from the back-yard barbeque pit via the kitchen, where roasted corn, potatoes and rolls were added. About 135 dinners were served at the annual Barbeque held at the VFW hall Sunday, September 8.

Arrest Made After Complaint of Prowler

Three minutes after they received a complaint of a prowler, police captured Paul Schwarz, 34, of 308 N. Mill St., early last Saturday morning. Mrs. Arthur Karnatz, 686 Kellogg, called after her daughter saw someone looking in the window. Two police cars arrived and Schwarz was found. He was booked on a disorderly conduct charge after not being able to give an account of himself. He posted $100 bond and will appear in court Sept. 18.

University Women Announce Membership Qualifications

An invitation to all qualified women in the Plymouth-Northville area, to join the American Association of University Women has been issued this week by Mrs. A. E. Gulick, president of the Plymouth Northville branch and Betty Demorest, membership chairman.

The first meeting of the club will be held Thursday, September 19.

The AAUW accepts as members all women holders of approved degrees from a list of over 300 colleges and universities, Miss Demorest explained. To be on this list a college must have a high academic rating, provide a basic foundation of general or liberal arts education, make adequate provision for women students, give significant recognition to women on its faculty and administration, and maintain academic freedom in its administrative and teaching bodies.

Throughout its 72 years as an organization, the AAUW has worked for higher standards in education and particularly for better education for women and greater recognition of women teachers and administrators. All colleges seeking to be added to the AAUW list of approved institutions must have good housing for women students, treat women students on an equal basis with men, have on its faculty a reasonable number of well-trained women and accord them the same salary and promotion arrangements as are granted to men, and give women recognition to women in the administrative organization, Miss Demorest added.

Another important factor in AAUW's membership requirement is that of "liberal arts" as a significant part of a degree program. This simply means that college degrees which are accepted for membership must include a reasonable amount of study in such fields as literature, languages, history and science.

Twelve colleges in Michigan are approved by the AAUW. They are Albion College, Central Michigan College of Education, Hope College, Kalamazoo College, Marygrove College, Michigan State University, Michigan State Normal College, Northern Michigan College of Education, University of Michigan, Wayne University and Western Michigan College of Education. Three degrees from the University of Detroit are qualified.

How Early Teacher Kept Discipline

(This is another in a series of light historical remembrances by Edward C. Hough, who has lived in the Plymouth area for 85 years.)

BY EDWARD C. HOUGH

Among my fondest memories are my school days which started in a frame building that stood where the present High School stands and my first teacher was Anna Smith, bless her heart. Her punishment for misdemeanor usually consisted in having one lay across her lap — face down — during class time. Few of us really objected to this treatment as an occasional love tap from her eased our embarrassment and we usually survived with a red face but no tears.

The rooms were heated with cast iron stoves burning 3-foot wood and in extra cold weather, classes were held around the stove with the pupils sitting on blocks of wood or perhaps on the floor if there wasn't enough wood to go around.

Everyone who went to school to Miss Smith — as we called her — revered her memory and after she passed away, two of her pupils — Paul Voorhies and I — conducted a memorial service in the Methodist Church in her honor.

Charles A. Frisbee was Principal of the school and Ella Smith was Preceptress. Delia Entrican had charge of the 9th and 10th grade and Nettie Ailes the 7th and 8th grade — Ella Hood the 5th and 6th grade.

When the old building grew too small to accommodate the growing village, it was moved out into the road while the new brick building was being built and classes were conducted there until the new building with real coal burning furnaces was completed.

The old building was sold and moved down back of the Plymouth Hotel straddling the creek and finished its life as a horse stable.

Mel Patterson was janitor at the new school and was a favorite with all the boys because he would come out in the road and play rugby football with us at the noon hour. One time we needed a new football and Mel chipped in 25c toward its cost — some $1.75 — and as he was the largest donor, we let him blow it up with the little brass tube that came with it and also have the first kick.

Mel took a running start to give it a good boot but over ran the ball, lost his footing and dropped his 200 pounds on the ball which promptly exploded with a loud noise and we were a disappointed lot of kids to lose our football but we never blamed Mel for he never lost his life to give us a good exhibition.

George Curtis was one of our talented Principals and you will recall that he married Nellie Crosby and continued his teaching in New York state.

At my graduation — class of 1889 — A. C. Brower was Principal and our class consisted of seven — Emma Durfee, Mary Rodgers, Mary Fairman, Forest Smith, Theron Harmon, Ed Bennett and myself. Compare the number in my class with the number of today's graduating class and you get some idea of the changes that have taken place in Plymouth.

After graduation I found myself short of funds and struck my Uncle Henry Baker who was at the head of the Plymouth Iron Windmill Co., for a job. They had been making the Daisy Air Rifle for about a year; and the business was growing and they were employing some 25 people.

I was given the job of cleaning and packing the guns and delivering them to the F. & P. M. depot in a two-wheeled cart and for this I was paid $1.00 per day for 10 hours work — 6 days a week with one hour off on Saturday night to clean up in time to celebrate the day. Clarence Hamilton who was the inventor of the Daisy Air Rifle, was Supt. at a salary (considered exorbitant at the time) of $13.50 per week and skilled moulders and mechanics were paid $12.00 per week. Some difference now, Eh?

I was later promoted to the job of sighting and testing guns and my place was taken by Arthur Burden and he held his job with the Company for over 60 years.

In 1890 my father invited me into partnership with him at the Elevator and one of the proudest moments in my life was when he bought an iron safe for our records and I saw in neat letters over the door — L. C. Hough & Son.

Father was Treasurer of the Windmill Co., and later became Manager when R. L. Root retired and H. W. Baker became President. In 1894 the name of the Company was changed to Daisy Mfg. Co. and I was elected Secretary and kept the records of the Company at the Elevator and served without pay during 1895 as we were continuing the Elevator business and I kept the Company books during the evening so I had enough to do to keep out of mischief.

In 1900 the gun business had grown to the point where we had to give up one business or the other and we chose to sell the Elevator to the well known and genial John McLaren. He and his family are carrying on the business today.

A two-story office building was added to the factory and we moved our records there and the office still stands and I have been active there ever since.

It was my great sorrow to have my father taken by death only a little more than a year after we moved into the new office which was built by Chris Peterhans and Billy Smitherman and who had been doing so much of the mason work in Plymouth when it was considered an honest days work to lay up a thousand bricks in a day.

After my Father's death, Charley Bennett was elected President and I was chosen as Vice Pres. & Treas. and George Hunter was Secretary, a position he held until his death. Warren Lombard acted as Asst. Secy. & Treas. until he too was taken by death.

My son Cass joined us in 1926, after his graduation from Culver Military Academy and the University of Michigan and one year teaching Astronomy. He too has taken an active part in building up our business except during World War II from which he returned a full fledged Colonel of the Air Corps and his record during the war is familiar to most of you. I am naturally proud of the part he played in that conflict and am grateful that he escaped injury.

I wish it were possible for me to show my appreciation to all of those who have helped to build up our business and to let the public know how several generations of the same families have been loyal to our organization. To mention one of the most prominent ones, Andrew Taylor became our Engineer in 1898 and his son David took his place and is still going strong while Dave's son Vaughan has been one of our office force for many years. To mention them all would mean copying a good share of our payroll and space forbids. (Another Chapter of Plymouth history next week)

The MAIL Attitude

BY PAUL CHANDLER

Today we are taking a lazy way out of a column, by reprinting a letter.

It's an important letter, however, in my opinion. Throughout Detroit there is great apprehension about 1958, because the automotive unions will be attempting to negotiate new contracts. It has been stated that the unions will ask for more money. The big companies intend to resist the demands. That will mean a strike—a big, punishing strike that would hurt everyone of us badly.

The letter was written by Henry Ford II to Walter Reuther last week, replying to Reuther's suggestion that car prices be lowered next year.

I'm reprinting the letter, not because of any particular sympathy with Ford, or management (or the unions), but because it points out the problem better than any single article I've read. It shows how management is thinking and why a strike is more than probable next year.

Dear Mr. Reuther:

In the first sixteen and the last five paragraphs of your letter to me of August 16, 1957, you say: inflation is bad; it presents a serious problem which threatens our security; its solution is the responsibility of all of us; and something must be done about it.

I agree. But with the balance of your letter I can reach no such agreement.

Before advancing for your consideration the reasons for my disagreement, let me recall some facts that bear on this matter—facts with which I am sure you are familiar but which did not appear in your letter.

They are important background in my discussion of this problem and should receive full consideration by anyone sincerely attempting to find a solution to the problem. They are:

- (1) At Ford Motor Company, gross average hourly wages, including fringe benefits, have risen steadily—year by year—from $1.83 in 1948 to $3.11 at the present time.
- (2) That is an increase of 70 per cent.
- (3) During that same period, the price of a typical Ford car (excluding excise taxes) has increased 30 per cent—and it is a bigger and better car than it was ten years ago.
- (4) Thus, between 1948 and the present time, Ford Motor Company wages have gone up 70 per cent while the prices of the product have risen 30 per cent—less than half as much.
- (5) Ford Motor Company profits after taxes, as a per cent of assets, were 9.3 per cent in 1948; 8.8 per cent in 1956. (On the basis of the results of the first six months of this year, we hope that profits for 1957 will be higher than in 1956. First half profits, of per cent of the cost of doing business, the full year because of lower profits during the model change-over in the second half.)
- (6) Ford Motor Company profits after taxes, as a per cent of sales, were 4.9 per cent in 1948; 5.1 per cent in 1956. (Here, again, figures for 1957 will not be known until year end, but should be higher than in 1956. Figures for intermediate years are shown on the attached table.)
- (7) Today, Ford Motor Company gross average hourly wages, including fringe benefits, stand at $3.11, about 25 per cent higher than the comparable figure for employees of all manufacturing industry in the United States.
- (8) Since the introduction of our 1957 models, we have incurred substantial increases in direct labor costs, transportation costs, materials and service costs, which have not yet been passed on to our customers in price increases.
- (9) In corporate business, total employee compensation, including the labor cost content of purchases from suppliers, represents about 80 per cent of the cost of doing business. This means that an increase equivalent to one cent an hour in wages would result in an increase in the labor cost content of more than $5 per car.

Now, with these nine facts in mind, let's look at those portions of your letter with which it is impossible for me to find agreement, either broad or specific.

Your entire letter clearly expresses your recognition of the basic and fundamental relationship which has always existed between rising labor costs and inflation. But, at the same time, you say that the blame for increased car prices "cannot legitimately be placed at our door."

How can such a conclusion stand up in the face of the facts? At Ford Motor Company, gross average hourly wages, including fringe benefits, have risen from $1.83 in 1948, to $1.89 in 1949, to $2.06 in 1950, to $2.33 in 1951, to $2.38 in 1952, to $2.56 in 1953, to $2.66 in 1954, to $2.77 in 1955, to $2.96 in 1956, to $3.11 at the present time, with another 3-cent automatic cost-of-living increase coming up next month. Thus, hourly wages at Ford Motor Company increased 70 percent while the price of a typical Ford car was rising 30 per cent. And the 1957 car—bigger and heavier, with better styling, better performance, more safety, more comfort, greater value—is a far superior product to its 1948 counterpart in every respect.

Elsewhere in your letter, you advance a proposal for your solution to the problem of inflation. What your proposal says to us at Ford Motor Company is, in effect, this:

"If Ford Motor Company, this fall, will absorb the cost increases incurred during 1957 and then also reduce the average price of its 1958 model cars $1.00 below the average 1957 model price, we at UAW in our contract negotiations with Ford next summer—nine months later—will take this into consideration in our demands and we may not ask as much in the way of increased wages and increased fringe benefits as otherwise will be the case."

The rapid increases in wages of automobile workers over the past ten years—which were negotiated under the duress of your demands—have unquestionably contributed to inflation. Thus, having poured gasoline on the fires of inflation, you now stand by and tell us how to fight the blaze. In return, you say you will consider using less gasoline next time—or maybe only kerosene.

Or, let's turn the proposal around. Looking at it from a different perspective, perhaps your reaction to it will be the same as mine to yours. Suppose I were to say to you:

"If you will accept an immediate reduction in wages to the levels prevailing at the introduction of our 1957 models, we will take this into consideration in determining how much we will increase prices of our 1958 models."

I wholeheartedly share the concern you express for our country's danger from the threat of inflation and I sincerely regret that the only concrete proposal you have advanced is an empty one and sidesteps your primary responsibility for the rising cost-price spiral.

On May 23 of this year, in my annual statement to stockholders, I said that perhaps the greatest economic danger facing our country is that wages will outstrip productivity. I pointed out that if wages were allowed to rise faster than productivity we faced an alternative of undensurables—inflation or depression and unemployment.

The relationship between rising labor costs and rising prices is the basic economic principle which we have stated and reiterated to you and your bargaining team in our contract negotiations over the years—and particularly in 1955.

Prices in our industry, and at Ford Motor Company in particular, have not kept pace with the increases in labor costs and the increases in costs of purchased services, parts and materials which also have resulted in the main from added labor costs incurred by our suppliers. Without the moderate price increases of the past several years, our company would be in a precarious financial position today and the jobs of our 200,000 employees would be in jeopardy.

Let me make our position on this point quite clear: prices and profits are not subject to negotiation with your union or any other union.

True labor statesmanship today would consist, it seems to us, in labor leaders resisting pressures, from whatever source, for excessive and inflationary wage increases. It would consist in union leaders acting for the common good and refraining from the use of the extraordinary leverage and monopolistic power of today's big industrial labor union.

We commend this course of action to you.

HENRY FORD

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT TO ALL EDISON CUSTOMERS

Now available to home owners in this area is a new and better electric water heating service.

Sweeping changes in the basic design of electric water heaters have been made to give them greater heating ability. Heater action is now fully automatic. These things the manufacturers have done at our suggestion. At the same time, economy-seeking revisions in Edison's water heating rate have been adopted. The result is the best water heating service ever offered in Southeastern Michigan.

Many families already use the new service. For the first time, theirs is a feeling of complete confidence in a really modern and adequate water heating system. Like them, you can be comfortable in the knowledge that the safe water heater is now one of the most efficient, too.

Why a New Water Heating Service?

Really hot water is an absolute necessity in every home today. It's easier, for example, to get the laundry clean (not just clean looking) with 160° water. But few heaters, other than an electric, heat water that hot unless manual adjustments are made. Such heaters, then, are not truly automatic. And if a fuel-fired heater is permanently adjusted to heat 160°, servicemen say that there is a likelihood that heater life will be shortened. With an electric water heater, it is standard practice to heat water to 160° and heater life is not shortened.

Lots of hot water is a modern requirement. New electric water heaters have the ability to operate day AND night as demand requires. There is no period when hot water is not available.

These have always been standard features in any electric water heater. But we felt that the new unit should be better yet. So we asked the manufacturers to redesign them to supply more hot water than ever. This has been accomplished by use of two more powerful heating units. Ordinarily, the lower one alone supplies ample hot water. Once in a while an unusual amount is needed. Then the upper unit switches on automatically to handle the heavy demand.

Exactly What's New About the Heaters?

Electric heaters have always had superior features. Long life, for one. In the efficient electric heating action, there's no concentration of heat in one small area—no destructive burning action. In addition, the manufacturers have always cooperated in using only the best design and construction materials. These rigid standards make a big difference in lifetime operating and replacement costs. Lifetime costs are also lessened by Edison's present liberal policy of replacing electrical operating parts without charge.

Maximum safety is another feature found in an electric heater. There's never any flame or pilot light to worry about. And because an electric heater is flameless, no part of its exterior shell is ever too hot to touch. An obvious advantage is that only an electric heater can be placed anywhere . . . even where small children play. There is no danger of accidental burns. An electric heater can be placed anywhere for another reason. It has no flue; needn't be close to a chimney. You place the heater where you want to, not where you must—and eliminate long, hot water wasting pipes in the process.

New Rates—Dependable Service

Along with the more efficient and dependable electric water heater goes a new flat rate to make it more economical than ever. You benefit by having available up to 20 hours of water heating for flat rate charges like these:

Flat Rate Charge per Month (Add Sales Tax)
50-gallon heater	$3.88, net
80-gallon heater	5.34, net
110-gallon heater	6.79, net

By the month these are slightly higher charges than the older flat rates. But, considering the doubled hours of operation available under the newer rate, the hourly flat rate charge is less.

Old Customers—New Service

Present electric water heater owners profit by switching to the new service, too. They can do so simply by calling the nearest Edison office. Then the time-switch will be changed from 10 to 20 hours of operating time. There is no conversion charge. The new flat rate applies after the time switch has been changed.

DETROIT EDISON

Vacationers Home to Plan Fall Meetings

If you wondered where the Newburg News column was in last week's edition of the Mail, explanation follows: It seems there was some difficulty with the linotype machines which made it necessary to eliminate some of the items of news, among them the Newburg News. Hope all you folks who have been so regular in your calls with items will not despair and continue the fine calling.

Mrs. Ray Hermans and son Frederick are home on Angelina after spending three weeks visiting with Mrs. Herman's son, Walter Clinsmith in San Diego and Los Angeles, Calif. Walter has just completed his recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, which is an eleven weeks course and he will be stationed at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The Rhoda circle of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Newburg Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. Donald Barres on Tuesday, September 3. The following members were present for the evening: Mrs. Wesley Priebe, Mrs. Tom Waltz, Mrs. Carl Lampton, Mrs. Dale Foreman, Mrs. John Kruger, Mrs. James Eatmon, Mrs. Clayton Roshirt, Mrs. Paul English, Mrs. Edward Reid, Mrs. Harold Knapp, Mrs. Porter Rosenberry and Mrs. Emil LaPointe. This group is planning a toy demonstration to be held at the church hall, Ann Arbor trail and Newburg road on Friday, October 4 at 8:30 p.m. This should present itself as a fine opportunity to do your Christmas shopping early besides helping this group earn their annual apportionment, to the general society.

Congratulations are in order at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gray of Newburg road. On Saturday, September 7, at St. Joseph's Mercy hospital in Ann Arbor, a daughter, weighing 8 pounds 4 ounces, was born to the Grays. YOUR HANDWRITING TELLS YOUR STORY

With Grapho Analysis
BY JEAN EVANS

Dear Jean: I read about this "Grapho Analysis" in the paper. I would like to know if you analyze it by the type or letter the person writes. I've never had mine analyzed before, so I would like to have it done now.
Carole

Dear Carole: The letters selected for publication in this column are chosen by the problem or question to be answered. We like to have variety and also wish to demonstrate through analysis just how one's handwriting does solve a particular problem.

Dear Jean: Read about your column in the local paper and think it is very interesting. From this letter can you tell me anything about my faults? Am I a congenial person and do I always want to run the show?
Fatty

Dear Fatty: You are interested in many things. While others sit around thinking about just what they are going to do your mind has been getting things organized and you are already acting. You are a born doer. You become impatient or irritated when others fail to respond to your enthusiasm thus causing them to think you want to "run the show."

Dear Jean: I have always wanted to be a doctor. I know it will take a long time, and that is why I feel that I'll never make it. Look at my handwriting, Jean, and tell me, do you think I'm impatient with things or will I succeed?
Carol E.

Dear Carol E.: You are a person with changeable emotions. Sometimes you are calm and collected while at other times you act on impulse. Let's face it, being a doctor is no easy life. Your handwriting shows that you are inclined to put off finishing things you start but you do have an inquisitive exploring mind and are trying to develop more will power and purpose. So, I would say, that if you should make up your mind to take up that profession you could succeed by developing determination and perseverance.

Dear Jean: What makes a person write better on some days? I find my writing changes and becomes very slipshod at times. I enjoy your column very much, a great addition to the paper.
Sincerely D. L. G.

Dear D. L. G.: Only a professional forger can ever write twice the same. Handwriting is a map of the mind and it registers our moods, emotions, fatigue, tension etc. When a Grapho Analyst is preparing a complete analysis it is necessary to work with specimens taken at various times over a period of months or years in order to make an accurate report.

Good Camp Sites Found Near Home

Why drive 200 or 300 miles to a camping ground? By doing some nosing around, anyone in Michigan can find a camping and picnic area close to home. And, it will probably be just as good and less crowded than some of the better-known parks.

Many city, county and state parks, plus state and national forests, have camping and picnicking areas that are not being used to capacity.

On the other hand, some popular camping grounds are so crowded that the number of people entering and the length of time they may stay must be limited by regulations.

There were 18 per cent more campers in Michigan state parks as of July 29 than there were last year according to Harold Schick, extension specialist in park management, at Michigan State University.

This season is running 1 per cent ahead of last year in park visitors too.

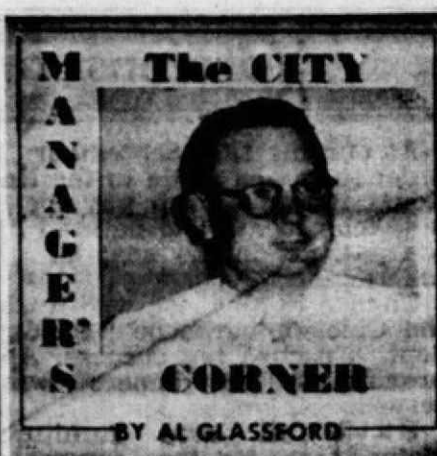

Schick, who just returned from a tour of parks, said one of the unexpected drawing points of the parks is the shortage of mosquitoes! Most of the parks are sprayed so there are fewer mosquitoes in the parks than there are in town.

Experiment with new areas on your vacation, Schick suggests, don't just go back to the place you went last year. Write to the State Conservation Department, Lansing 26, Michigan, for specific information. You'll probably find that there are parks and camping grounds close to your home that you didn't know were there.

By planning your trip ahead and arriving early you can save yourself from having to seek another camping place because the first one was full.

When you are in a crowded camp you will find that most of the congestion is around the parking lot and camping area.

Much of the area of parks goes to waste because people stay in one small area of the park. The park ranger will be glad to give you a map of the park and offer suggestions about the nature trails, wildflowers, animals, birds and many other scenic and historical points of interest.

Art Club Begins Season with New Members, Plans

New members received into the Three-Cities Art club at a recent meeting were: Mrs. Margaret Cramer, Livonia; Mrs. Barbara McKenzie and Mrs. Betty Spaeth of Northville; Mrs. Mabel Bacon and Mrs. Myrth Fischbeck of Plymouth.

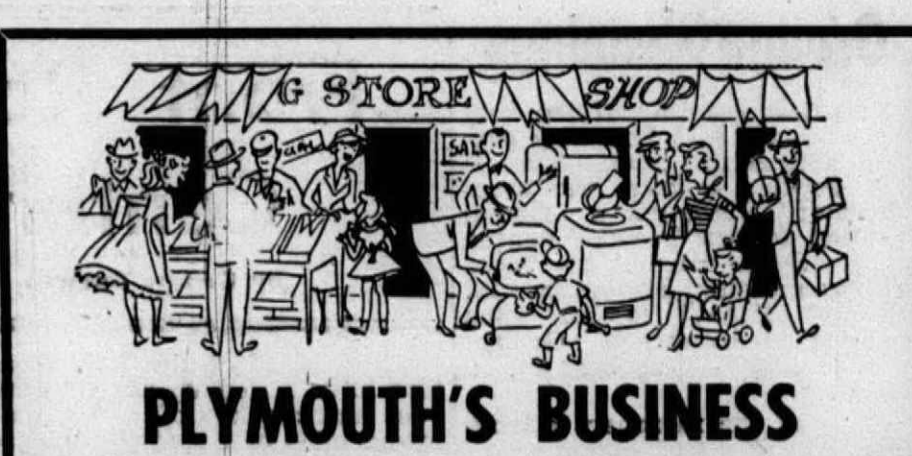

The group discussed a proposed exhibit of watercolors, small oils, pastels, silk screen prints and crafts suitable for Christmas gift giving, to be held in November.

Mrs. Hilma Aubert of Livonia was selected program chairman for the forthcoming season. She has arranged the following: A "critique on current projects" for September, a demonstration of the silk-screen process by Margaret Cramer at her studio for October; a lecture on abstract art by Harold Stein for November; the film "Appreciation of Art Masterpieces" for December; and "working with silver and semi-precious stones" by Marge Owens of Northville for January.

Another meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Olive Zick, 18021 Mayfield, Livonia.

The club is composed of professional and amateur artists from Livonia, Northville and Plymouth, whose purpose it is to further art appreciation in this area. Membership chairman is Mrs. Harold Hartley of Northville.

Pawtucket, R. I.—Teachers in Pawtucket have gone on strike this first day of their new school term. Ten-thousand students were affected.

PLYMOUTH'S BUSINESS

Labor day seems to be the line of demarcation between Summer and the Fall season despite the official designation of the calendar. The upsurge in Plymouth's business with back to school and month-end clearance sales, running well ahead of last year, bears this theory out. Parking spaces have been at a premium and sales clerks breathed a sigh of fatigue when closing time came. All this seems to prove anew that our city is the most popular place in Western Wayne County to go shopping.

"Two-Gun" Jim Houk of Fisher's Shoe store is back from a month's tour of the wild west and a visit with his brother in California.

Dave Galin up and around again after a month's siege. Nice to see him back at the old stand.

Frank Walsh, the genial Irishman at King Furniture, tells of the gentleman who came in to buy a living room set. Frank inquired as to whether he preferred modern or colonial. The gentleman thought for a moment and said "no, I think that my wife said that she wanted contemporary."

Sidewalk superintendents will be happy to hear that groundbreaking has begun for a new business building next to the Kennitz Candy Shop. The building will house some Plymouth merchants whose business warrants moving to newer and larger quarters.

Plant Evergreens In Late Summer

Professional tree men urge changing the seasons, as far as evergreen planting is concerned. Most weekend gardeners wait for Spring for this greenery. Off-season buying, however, is often best.

Evergreens moved to their new locations in late Summer and early Fall usually make as good growth as those planted in Spring. That's because the ground stays warm and encourages root growth well into the cold weather of November in northern climes. Such plantings have a chance to start new root growth before Winter sets in. In the South, this period for transplanting may extend throughout the Winter.

For the past several years nurseries have been hard put to satisfy home owner demands for choice stock. Point is they now have all the evergreen stock that will be available next Spring. It is good practice to make selections from the fullest stocks and plant when it will do the most good.

The evergreen moving season applies, too, in a limited way to some of the broadleafed varieties. Would-be planters not sure about facts and fancies on transplanting should consult their nurserymen or the professional tree man. Above all, they should ask about the ultimate growth of recommended varieties. Evergreens that overgrow the house are something like horticultural Franksteins and a headache to the owners.

Without these precautions the fabric may pull through the stitching and fray.

The City Commission employs the firm of Sutherland and Robison, Certified Public Accountants, to perform what is known as an independent audit of the City's books. Roland Lutz of that firm is here now to audit our fiscal operations. He has a long and involved job for he begins with the figures he had June a year ago and carries them forward until June 30th just past.

Municipal accounting seems to be the most complex of all accounting, since the laws, rules and regulations and local requirements demand many bank accounts and many sets of accounting records. For example, there is a separate bank account for the general fund, the parking fund, the equipment fund, the special assessment fund, five different water funds, several special assessment bond and interest redemption funds and funds for reserve accounts.

Recently, there has been added accounting procedures for the new sanitary sewer, involving six bank accounts. One slip in punching the keys of the Treasurer's cash register and accounting troubles begin to brew. On the other hand, pre-cash register days were a nightmare. There also are hundreds of bookkeeping accounts for the various programs, keeping record of salaries, equipment costs, miscellaneous expenses, and so on. Municipal accounting is almost doubled because two sets of records are kept; one as a general ledger, the other as a budget.

Joe Near, our accountant, has streamlined the general ledger and budget procedures by using only one set of records, and flagging the items which are budget as well as general ledger. We have the same problems that a business man has—accounts receivable, payments, bad debts and sales (of cemetery lots). We also are the collection agency for school and county taxes. This job keeps three people busy full time, and several busy part time.

Joe Near's assistants are Mrs. McGarvey, who operates the Moon-Hopkins bookkeeping machine, and Mrs. Cash, who takes care of the water and sewer accounts on the Sensi-matic accounting machine. Ken Way, the Clerk and Assessor, and his secretary, Mrs. Carey Clear, work on the books on a part time basis. My secretary, Mrs. Salow, keeps some of the cemetery records, which involve lot sales, perpetual care payments, deeds, time payments, etc.

In spite of the fact that we have efficient help and have as many persons as the budget will permit, and that I am satisfied with the bookkeeping reports, we would require at least two more full-time persons to do the job in such a way as would produce the best accounting records and reports. For example, the Michigan State Highway Department wants itemization of how much money is spent for sweeping major streets and how much for local streets. Instead, we pro-rate costs according to our mileage of streets rather than have the man on the machine report where he swept, how much time on each street, etc. We are a small enough city so that our accounting procedures are not top heavy. The City Manager and department heads can, as yet, give their personal attention to most matters and need not depend upon cost accounting reports or other refined procedures necessary for larger city organizations.

When Roland Lutz finishes, he will have four or five pages of adjusting entries to show how much the water and the sewer department, equipment fund and cemetery has earned or lost, and various adjustments in the special assessment funds and inter-fund adjustments. Heretofore, the City received a one volume annual audit report, but the Auditors advise that this year it will be necessary to prepare two separate volumes. During the year, the Auditors make quarterly checks so that the annual audit will not take too long to prepare and the transactions are fresh in the minds of the City employees, if explanations are required. Mr. Lutz has indicated to us that our accounting personnel is one of the finest municipal accounting groups he has ever had occasion to deal with.

Grange Cleanings

The first meeting of the season was held last Thursday evening with a fine attendance. It was decided to have the usual "Booster" Night as a special meeting tonight because degree work will be done at the next regular meeting, September 19. "Booster Night" is an open meeting to encourage Grange membership — so bring a friend.

Many of the members attended the wedding of junior member, Mollie Groth, last Saturday evening. The Grange would like to wish the young couple the best of health, happiness and prosperity in their new home in Kalamazoo.

The first and second degrees will be conferred by the Grange officers on a group of candidates.

The Blue Cross secretary will have the usual dues cards to be handed to the members also a supply of literature explaining the raise in rates. There is an addition of benefits which compensates for the raise. The time limit is September 25.

MOM'S NEWS

The Plymouth unit of Moms of America have designated Friday, September 21 as tag day. The ladies will be on the street selling tags from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Chairman for the project is Mrs. Inez Cramb and co-chairman is Mrs. Carrie Gladstone.

The money collected will be used to help veterans at the following hospitals: Ann Arbor, Grand Rapids, Gaylord, Saginaw, Battle Creek. Some will also go to the U.S.O. milk fund in Detroit.

Mrs. Mildred Kushler and Mrs. Anna Bartel will visit the TB ward at Ann Arbor Veterans Hospital today to treat the patients to homemade cookies and hot chocolate.

While most of the tent theaters have rolled up their canvases and sneaked off to the hallowed halls of Broadway, not so the Northland Playhouse. Ken Swartz, genial host of Northland, is keeping the local scene alive with a smashing finale — "The Matchmakers" starring Gertrude Berg. Last year he had Molly Goldberg over for the "Said and Done Cadillac." People drove from miles around to see her version of this already famous play. You can be sure the same will be true this coming weekend. Old George picked up a discount ticket for the show at Krogers and he's going over. The discount gimmick will save you 25 cents on the dollar.

NEW PROCESS ON THE HORIZON: The movies aren't going to take TV's competition without somewhat of a battle. Witness the improved pictures that we get once in awhile. The tremendous strides technically are the best example. And now comes word that a third three-dimensional type process is on the horizon. Cinerama and Todd-Ao were one and the same. Number Three is called CineMira. Simply, it's an improved Cinerama. The one gripe about Cinerama is the noticeable lines separating the three pictures. CineMira has eliminated this since the three pieces of film will be projected through one lens against the three lens deal with Cinerama. Look for this process to break out about Christmas time downtown in Detroit.

THEATER GUILD MEETING ON MONDAY: Saw Jim Brown at a rehearsal the other evening and he convinced me that it would be a shame for new or old members to miss the meeting on the 16th of September at 8 p.m. There will be some important business to consider, the plays for the coming season will be announced, and the giving of the first Workshop play, "The Valiant" is to cap the climax. Refreshments will be served to all members not on a diet. One of these weeks I'll tell you about the horrible diet I'm trying to keep on. My trouble is that I keep falling off the food wagon.

Hal Young, Guild director of "Over Twenty-One" — The April play, called to remind that everyone is welcome to attend this meeting. He stressed the idea that opportunity exists for all members, new or old. Hal is a case in point. He's only been in the Guild less than two years. He's now a board of directors member, acted in two or three shows, and directed one major production. Like he said to me over the phone, "You can go at your own speed in the Guild. It's one place where there's no speed limit."

P and A theatre talks: a letter has been sent to Mr. Hohler and Rubin, owners of the P and A Theatre, indicating what rental prices might be arranged for the use of the theater this coming season. So far no answer. We hope to get a definite answer by the end of this week since a season ticket sale will be in the offing soon. The prospect of a real, live theater to do the three plays in next season is a mouth-watering one that many Guild members are dreaming about these nights.

Jim Blackman brought the following set of rules or commandments over to house the other day after a rehearsal. He claims that Rosemary Kooiman is the author. Old George thought they could stand star billing. Anyone with a little "ham" in them should get a slight kick. Here they are:

1. Thou shalt not upstage the star.
2. Thou shalt honor thy director and producer above thyself, and shut thy trap.
3. Thou shalt learn thy lines and not ad lib.
4. Thou shalt not pad thy part.
5. Thou shalt learn thy cues, and pick them up quickly.
6. Thou shalt remember the play is the thing and stay in character.
7. Thou shalt be on time for rehearsal.
8. Thou shalt not covet the lead.
9. Thou shalt not kill a punch line.
10. Thou shalt remember the curtain call.

Public Law 109, 85th Congress, recently approved by the President, extends to July 1, 1958, the time in which some totally disabled persons may have their social security wage records frozen retro-actively. Because of the newness of the social security disability wage freeze and disability benefits programs, many persons who are now disabled, and who did not know of the previous deadline date of July 1, 1957, would have lost all their protection, including disability, retirement and survivor's benefits.

Public Law 109 also eliminates from the Social Security disability program, passed last year, a provision making it impossible to collect the full amount of social security disability benefits, and a Veterans Administration disability compensation for service connected disabilities. Disability insurance benefits from Social Security will not be reduced by amount of VA disability compensation for dependents.

Veterans who are at least 50 and not more than 64 years of age, with service connected disabilities rated at 40 per cent or less but who, because of the higher rate, are receiving non-service connected pension payments, may now profit by reverting to VA-compensation payments, if they are also entitled to social security disability payments.

The new law does not change a provision requiring deduction of other federal disability payments, including Civil Service disability retirement, VA non-service connected pension or disability retirement pay from Armed Forces. Contact Post or Department Service Officers for further information.

Woman's Eye View

by Nancy Rigney

It all began when Mrs. Neanderthal trimmed her animal skin with feathers and bone — Fashion.

Its taken a few million turns since, for better or worse, for comfortable or unbearable, for bright or drab, and for lavishness to simplicity.

Without a doubt fashion changes, but it is not entirely fickle. In fact, its more like a vicious circle. Fashion has variously put fashion conscious women into hoopskirts, whalebone corsets, hobble skirts, hats of extreme proportions and bared their knees.

Designers delve into the past for 'influences.' Aztec and Egyptian prints (the famed King Tut designs), oriental styling and the flowing lines of a Grecian toga are a few of the older recurrences. Everyone is well aware of the return of more recent styles from the twenties and "My Fair Lady" fashions. Rhinestone studded heels for evening wear are big news today, yet in 1916 most evening slippers were enhanced with similar glitter.

As the 'newest' creations are reviewed in newspapers and displayed in stores, many a woman has laughed and said "What will they think up next?" (Or maybe, what will they dig up next?) All it needs to start a sensation is to find the ruins of one of China's ancient cities, hidden for centuries in the mountains. The fashion world would be sure to latch on and announce the latest "designs from the Manchu Dynasty."

No matter what happens, today's news is tomorrow's discard. Perhaps in 1990, the fashions of 1957 will either be a laughing matter or a source of inspiration to another generation.

U-M to Present World's Biggest Band at Game

ANN ARBOR—The largest massed band ever assembled here in the world will take the field at half-time during The University of Michigan-University of Georgia football game here Saturday, Oct. 5.

According to U-M Band Director William D. Revelli, 190 high school bands from throughout Michigan with combined membership of 12,000 players are expected to participate.

The event, ninth of the University's annual Band Days, will be sponsored by the U-M Bands and Athletic Association. This year some 800 twirlers from the participating bands will give a pre-game exhibition.

Detailed instructions on music, marching, and rehearsals were forwarded to local band directors almost a year ago. With careful advance preparation in their home communities, the bands will rehearse together only an hour Saturday morning prior to their performance. All 12,000 players will assemble on the gridiron in less than a minute after the football teams leave at half-time.

Instrumentation will include approximately 2,100 clarinets, 2,200 cornets and trumpets, 800 horns, 900 drums, 700 Sousaphones, and 1,200 Trombones. Over 55,000 sheets will be required and over 1,000 chaperones will accompany the bands on their trip here.

U.S. May Pay For Bridge

Motorists may not have to pay $100,000-300 for the Mackinac Straits Bridge after all. It is all in the exploratory stage yet, but hopes are bright the federal government will pay 90 per cent of the cost.

The situation came to light when Rep. Knox, who represents parts of both of Michigan's peninsulas in Congress, urged the state to take advantage of federal aid, along with other states. The opportunity existed since the 1956 federal highway aid formula was adopted, granting states 90 per cent of the cost of interstate system superhighways. "Michigan has every right to the funds for the bridge," said Knox.

The Knox statement caught Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, a Democrat, without a public statement handy. He recouped quickly — claiming his office had been working on the idea.

To qualify, the proposal on the bridge must be submitted to the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads, thence to the Department of Commerce and then to Congress.

Ironically, the possibilities of getting up to $90,000,000 for the Michigan project — long an unrealized dream — has presented its own series of problems.

What, for instance, will happen to the investors who bought the bridge bonds? If the bonds are retired with federal funds before maturity, a huge premium payment is in prospect.

Where will Michigan get the $10,000,000 in matching funds? If taken from other state highway funds, will the construction of other needed super highways be delayed?

ed? Will Congress release the money directly for the bridge or allow it as a credit, for use in construction of other highways?

If granted, will the money bring demands that the bridge become toll free or will a token charge — something far less than the average $3.80 charge — be levied for maintenance?

All these questions must be answered before the state can go ahead with qualifying the bridge for federal aid.

Knox contends it is already eligible because it links existing interstate highways, U.S.-31 with U.S.-2 across the Upper Peninsula. Federal money already has been used to build the approaches to the bridge, another powerful argument.

Insiders believe the bridge crossing will carry a toll for at least a year after the five-mile span between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace is opened early in November. Congress, now in adjournment, will return next January and the final step in the financing will have to wait until then and probably later.

Still another argument is the national defense system.

With construction of the bridge, the state's ferry fleet will be taken out of service, leaving only the bridge to carry traffic between major interstate highways. And a knotty complication is the defense situation if something happens to the bridge with the ferry fleet abolished and no emergency method of crossing.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"Every day reveals some fascinating, new facet of your personality!"

If Your Name Is ADAM

BY ANN REYNOLDS, Ph.D. According to the Bible, Adam was the name of the first man. The word Adam has been explained in several ways. In Old Hebrew it meant red, or red earth, the clay from which the Lord created the ancestor of the human race. In Babylon it signified a man, and it was also taken to be understood as something constructed, something made.

The story of Adam and Eve and their creation became most important in the Christian ideas of Sin and Grace. In popular speech the expression The Old Adam still retains the notion of the sinful human nature that always comes to the fore. This had its origin in a verse in the Epistle of St. Paul to the Romans.

The verses in Genesis about the first human couple are among the most often quoted lines of the Bible. When St. Paul set down the rules for the conduct of women, he too quoted them, writing "I suffer not a woman to usurp authority over the man, for Adam was first formed, then Eve."

In an important medical dispute of the last century the story of the creation of Adam was brought up. That was when anesthetics were introduced in obstetrical practice by the English physician James Young Simpson. His adversaries quoted Genesis 3:16, "In sorrow thou shalt bring forth children."

Simpson knew his Scriptures, too. He countered with the Bible verses, "And the Lord God caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam, and he slept. And He took one of his ribs... and the rib which the Lord God had taken from man made he a woman."

Several men named Adam happen to have inaugurated innovations. Adam Thompson, a cotton and grain dealer of Cincinnati, Ohio, was the first man to have a bathtub installed in his home. That was in 1842, and it made quite a stir. Doctors and politicians raged against the use of the new contraption; they had of course no inkling that later generations would far easier be upset if a dwelling lacked that very same contraption.

And to go back to a more ancient Adam, called "Le Bossu", French for "The Hunchback", he is credited with having written the earliest comic opera, "The Play about Robin and Marion", way back in the 13th century.

'New Look' In Super Highways Open Nearby

Recently opened sections of Michigan trunklines give motorists an advance look at the new-type, smoother riding concrete "highways of tomorrow," according to J. G. Martin, Michigan district engineer for the Portland Cement Association.

Motorists are provided an excellent glimpse of what future Interstate expressway routes will look like on the newly opened section of US-16 between Brighton and Kensington Park. This broad, divided lane concrete highway is built to new U.S. standards, including controlled access and separation of all conflicting cross traffic.

Other new trunklines including sections of US-23 between Ann Arbor and Whitmore Lake, US-127 between Mason and Leslie, US-27 north of St. Johns, and US-27 between Lansing and Charlotte also provide examples of new, smoother-riding concrete pavements.

Michigan's ultimate goal is to build more than 2,000 miles of divided lane expressways.

"These new concrete highways incorporate the latest techniques in road construction to provide smooth, bump-free riding qualities, far greater durability, and non-skid safety advantages," Martin said. "These expressways are the best pavements which can be built yet."

SOMETHING MISSING AT YOUR HOUSE?

Insurance experts estimate that 4 out of 5 homes in America are under-insured... that, in event of loss, these homes could not possibly be replaced by their owners for the amount of the insurance settlement. In some cases, homeowners would realize only half or one-fourth of their homes' actual worth.

How does this situation come about? Well, in many cases, owners have bought "bargain" insurance... influenced by saving a few dollars now and risking thousands later, they have bought skimpy insurance filled with costly ifs, ands, and buts. In other cases, the insurance is out-dated... bought when the materials and labor of home building were as much as 80% lower, and never revised to today's cost.

The point is that most folks don't know whether they are properly insured or not... only a qualified insurance counsellor can properly evaluate an insurance program of yesterday in the light of today's facts.

Such qualified, long experienced counsel is available from our offices without obligation. Call today... we'll make a careful analysis. If your insurance is adequate and correctly priced, we'll tell you so. If not, we'll suggest necessary changes. Such an analysis will tell you FOR SURE before tragic loss can take away a great part of your personal security.

"Life Begins at Forty"

By ROBERT PETERSON

Henry Kaiser Builds an Inn

HENRY J. KAISER, 75, doesn't let his years keep him from tackling stimulating new endeavors. At an age when many people slow down to a snail's pace, Henry J. has plunged into a bustling new career — this time as an inn keeper in Hawaii.

When I was in Honolulu a few months ago I looked up the celebrated Henry J. and found him as amiable and down-to-earth as a country parson. It was hard to believe that this bald, bold, bright-eyed septuagenarian heads a billion dollar empire on the mainland's West Coast.

His latest fling as an inn keeper had its beginning in 1954 when he and his wife went to Honolulu to soak up some sun. They fell in love with the place but were disappointed to find inadequate facilities. The existing hotels couldn't accommodate all the tourists, the few new hotels that were being built lacked the tropical atmosphere tourists wanted, and there were sections of the Waikiki beach area that were slumlike and down at the heels. So Henry J. decided to build a super tourist resort known as Hawaiian Village.

TODAY, THREE years and $20 million later, Hawaiian Village has come into bloom on 18 acres of land that formerly held a collection of ugly, dilapidated waterfront shacks. This handsome, rambling resort stands out from all others on the island for it features authentic Polynesian-type cottages equipped with thatched roofs and modern plumbing. In addition the village sports three swimming pools, a 100 room hotel, a colorful dining area seating 500, an auditorium seating 1,800, a thousand varieties of tropical trees and flowers, and one of the loveliest beaches on the island.

Why would the builder of a huge industrial empire with 118 factories bother to enter a new field of work in his mid 70's? He explains it by saying that new challenges are the spice of life. In his opinion the secret of happiness is to "build a life that never knows completion." It is his conviction that if a man retires to a life of lazy leisure he'll gradually come to the conclusion that his life is completed and that there is little reason to stick around.

Henry J. firmly believes that life in its fullest sense begins at 40. A country boy, he went to work at 13 and had his share of hard knocks. While he achieved success fairly early in life it wasn't until he was 45 that he reached what he considers the turning point in his life. It was then that he began engaging in really big projects. One of his first major jobs after 45 was to build 200 miles of highway into the interior of Cuba. Then he built some of the world's largest dams and later achieved fame for his shipyards, his great cement company, his iron and steel plant, and his aluminum mills.

India's 1957 general elections had 2,875,000 ballot boxes for an eligible voting list of about 193 million persons.

Smooth or Zippy Flavor Dresses Up Dressings

September tossed salad fixin's are still in plentiful supply and extra good if you dress them up with special salad dressing.

Whether you prefer the creamy smoothness of sour cream dressing or the zippy flavor of Roquefort dressing, we think you'll want to add both of these recipes to your compliment-catching recipe collection.

Green Goddess Dressing

- 1/2 pint commercially soured cream
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon Tarragon vinegar
- 4 teaspoons lemon juice

- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- 2 green onions, chopped
- 1 can (2 1/2 ounces) anchovy fillets, drained and chopped
- Cracked black pepper

Combine all ingredients and place in covered container. Allow to stand in refrigerator at least twenty-four hours before serving. Yield: About one pint dressing.

Green Goddess Dressing is delicious on any green salad. Tightly covered and stored in your refrigerator, it will keep several days.

Zippy Roquefort Dressing

- 1 wedge (1/4 pound) Roquefort or bleu cheese
- 1-3 cup all purpose oil
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
- 1-3 cup lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon sugar

Mash cheese with fork. Slowly blend in remaining ingredients. Chill and serve over lettuce wedges or tossed green salad. Yield: 1-1 1/4 cups dressing. This dressing may also be stored in your refrigerator.

Accent Pillows

Homemakers are finding that decorative pillows provide bright accents throughout a house. Use of these gimmicky items has been soaring for three years.

The pillows are made in a variety of round and square box shapes; some are in the shape of rabbits, dogs and other animals for small fry to sit on while watching TV. Popular types are filled with soft cotton lintens and covered with removable, washable fabrics like corduroy and polished cotton in a wide range of pastel and bright accent colors.

Handy Hat

Happy is the girl who owns a cloche so flattering, so comfortable and so stylish. This handsome hat agrees with your wardrobe for the office, cinema or campus because it combines two textures for easy costume blending. It is crocheted of double thick cotton that suits tailored clothes, while the soft velvet ribbon woven about the brim and crown follows a feminine flair. Crochet one yourself from the simple instructions available to you through the Needlework Department of the Plymouth Mail. Just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to obtain your copy of the Ribbon Trim Cloche, leaflet.

If you do freeze baked foods, it is better to freeze the finished baked product than to freeze batters or doughs. The storage life and the quality is much better.

Cottons are Part of Fall Scene, But Must be Selected Carefully

Once upon a time, the coming of Labor Day meant the disappearance of cottons from the feminine wardrobe. But that was before transition cottons appeared on the scene. Now, fashion-conscious women know that cottons carry on from Summer through Fall—and are considered by many as year-round dresses.

Transition cottons are usually dark-hued and come in a variety of styles, in fabrics that feature plaids, stripes and assorted patterns. Many are designed along high fashioned standards, displaying contrasting trims, detachable collars or self-belts.

With such tempting fare on the Fall fashion market, textile experts warn that the shopper should look further than fashion before making a purchase.

Since the dresses need frequent laundering to remain fresh and crisp, the fabric should be completely washable. Because most of the transition or "prestige" cottons come in dark colors, the shopper should especially make sure that the fabric is colorfast. If the material is less than high quality, the color may not only fade but may bleed, damaging the fabric as well as any contrasting trim.

If you're the commercial housewife your husband thinks you are, you'll give that new dress you're about to buy more consideration than a glance at the price tag and approval of the color.

To stretch both your dollar and your dress' wearability, there are three factors to take into consideration before purchasing any garment—the hangtag, fabric washability and seam construction.

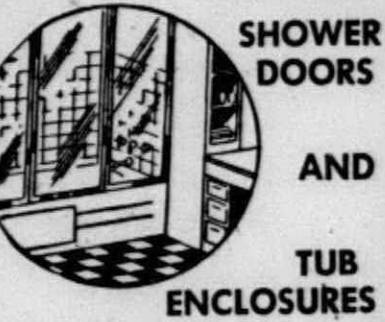

When you find a dress to your liking in style and price, read the handtag. It's your key to information on the garment's colorfastness, shrinkage, laundering precautions and wrinkle resistance.

Keep it in a handy reference book and read it carefully before attempting to wash the garment. Garments with handtags that warn against bleaching in chlorine bleaches probably will be ruined if directions are not followed.

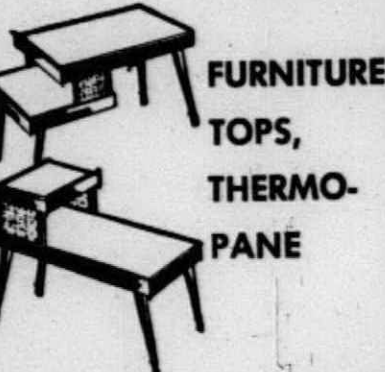

If you prefer checks and stripes to solid colors search for a fabric that has a pattern woven into the material.

'Soft Touch' Stylings Featured in Fall Hats

Today being the midway mark of National Fall Millinery Week, it is appropo to discuss the top fashion news in chapeaus.

The shape — Easy, relaxed contours characterize the new fall hats. They're delightfully easy to wear thanks to flattering, asymmetric silhouettes.

While the new hats curve and cling to the head in soft folds, they show a tendency to tilt to one side. Profile hats with dramatic angles and swooping curves are highlighted in the leading millinery collections.

More definite shaped hats are taking the place of the large-brimmed or bulky-looking hat of the past season.

Brimms are more moderate in size — often quite small but they usually follow this side-swept line. Sometimes they are turned back above the brow in broad cuffs or narrow rolls. Others have a decided flare up at the hairline and a sharp downward curve to the right. Still other brimmed hats have softly curving "swagger" lines.

Actually a variety of silhouettes take the spotlight. Among the newer-looking ones are the draped-crown clothes, jaunty turned-back brims, or buccaneer-type hat with a side-lutting feather or other novelties. Crowns of fall hats are easy, with enough fullness or height to the head. High crowns are dimpled, dented and pleated down toward the side of the back.

Pointed pixie crowns are manipulated to blend with sharply angled brim lines. Full, beret-like crowns mounted on closely pushed down to the back and a little to the side.

Cloches have soft, crushed crowns and brims deep-pleated to a long, one-sided or smoothly face-framing sweep. Suiters are distant cousins to the mannish fedora, in luxurious pile felts with manipulated crowns and supple brims.

Smooth and silky textures look new. Rich velours, silky soleils, clipped beaver and sealine bodies and some interesting tweedy felts have a luxurious look and feel, without the powder-puff bulk of long-haired felts.

Matte-finished felts, wool and silk jerseys, fine wools and knits and other novelty materials have the same softness and draping quality as the fine, silk-textured velours. Butter-soft suede and kid leather also appear in nonchalant casual hats for both town and country.

Hats of precious mink, shear-beaver and colorful moleskin are liked for the furless cos-turne, while smooth-textured, softly-draped and head hugging hats are suggested for contrast with fur-trimmed coats and suits. Fur hats, some with matching muffs, will be part of the 1920's and mid 30's theme that is being emphasized for fall fashions.

Radiant jewel-toned colors, along with a whole range of brown are the color latest notes and hats in the color tone of the costume are popular. Black, white and gray continue to find favor as versatile hats.

To complement the rich shades, the use of satin and velvet is strongly evident.

Add Mint Flavor

Mint is a delicious flavor to add to a dessert. For a refreshing summer dessert, you might like to try using mint in lemon ice. This recipe idea consists of cooking mint with lemon juice, sugar and water. Strain and cool. Then combine it with stiffly beaten egg whites and put into a freezer tray. Such a lemon-mint ice makes a cooling finish to a summer meal. The mint blends well with pineapple juice too. Or, if you like fresh pineapple, use mint for flavoring in this way. Coat fresh pineapple with powdered sugar to which chopped mint has been added. Allow this to stand until the sugar has been melted. This makes a perfect light dessert for a heavy dinner meal.

Casserole News

Instead of having the usual hot dogs and frankfurters at a picnic outing, plan on serving a casserole dish. They're so easily transported. What to serve? Try preparing a meat ball and spaghetti casserole... it's sure to whet appetites. Spanish rice and frankfurters is always a welcomed hot dish too.

Good Eating With Pork

Hot, smoky slices of picnic shoulder and crisp corn fritters make a perfect duet for a family dinner. A picnic is prepared the same way as a ham... roasted in a 300° F. oven allowing 30 to 35 minutes per pound for cooking. Leftover picnic shoulder slices are always good for sandwiches or casserole dishes.

To make your summer auto trip more comfortable for your children, make a play area in the back seat by putting a crib mattress on top of suitcases placed between the seats.

Decorator's Notebook

New Collection Boasts Beauty of Teak

Teak — exotic in beauty, but no longer in price — is an oriental wood being used ever more widely to fashion furniture for American homes.

Because of its great strength and toughness as well as its highly distinctive grain pattern, it has always been a principal furniture wood in Burma, Java, China where the teak tree grows.

It can never be as generally available as mahogany which must also be imported, for the true mahoganies come only from tropical America and Africa where there are considerable stands of large trees. In contrast to mahogany's pink-tinted brown luster and medium pores, teak is tawny yellow with a texture almost as "masculine" as oak.

The cedar lined storage pieces illustrated above are part of a coordinated group of bedroom and dining room furniture and living room tables with a Danish feeling to them.

Thanks to matching dimensions, two pieces placed side by side, as above, provide a single, smooth surface. And the fronts are exceptionally interesting to the eye. Note the direction of the dark streaks, so characteristic of teak, and you'll see that the grain in one runs horizontally, in 't' other, vertically.

Further, in the cabinet, the teak is "book-matched"—that is the grain pattern is so joined that it forms a complete, delightfully abstract "figure" on each door. In the chest, the grain pattern is used "at random" (slip-matched), but great verve is attained because the swoop of the grain is reversed on the bottom drawer.

Wood beauty like this is possible in volume today because of "bonded wood" construction. This revolutionary method of the ancient art of veneering gives flat wood areas great stability and strength. These bonded surfaces permanently retain their place and their beauty. The pulls are as romantic in sound and history as teak. Easily grasped shafts, they are carved out of rosewood.

Used as an accent, their darker wood contributes to the harmony of the total design—in which metal pulls, for instance, could look garish.

Arranging a room? Remember to; arrange for a purpose such as reading conversation or music; keep traffic lanes open; choose one center of interest; and distribute color and size of furnishings.

Outdoor Cookery

Steaks, hamburgers and hot dogs are readily accepted picnic meats which can be grilled over glowing coals out-of-doors. But for a change, have you thought of preparing a ham slice on your outdoor cookery unit? It's as easy to prepare as broiling a steak, and just wait until you taste that delicious flavor! One caution—when cooking out-of-doors, always have the coals glowing. This will produce the amount of heat somewhat similar to the moderate broiling temperature in your range.

Charm House Shows Uses of Asbestos Materials

A growing trend in contemporary architecture—the use of asbestos-cement board for exterior sidewalls—is illustrated in this charming split-level home. The large building sheets, in this case painted blue, carry the dominant color. The same type of board, with a batten treatment, is used at the gable ends. The smooth-surface asbestos board contrasts effectively with rugged native stone of the lower wall at the left. Asbestos board requires no painting for preservation but it can be painted easily with any of the paints and methods developed for the purpose. The prominent roof eaves is protected by asbestos-cement roofing shingles in a smart new light color. Both roofing and sidewall sheets are fire-safe, weatherproof and permanent.

Color Gives Lift to Homes

Owners of homes with almost-flat roofs can be happily surprised when they talk to a roofing contractor about having a worn, weathered roof replaced. The surprise stems from the fact that they rarely expect to be offered anything but more of the same colorless material that was put on the house when it was built. Instead, the roofer, if he keeps up to date on modern building materials, will tell them that industry has developed a way to apply asphalt shingles on low-slope roofs and he can show them this material in a wide range of colors, from light pastels and blends to deep tones.

Thanks to improved application methods, asphalt shingles now can be applied to low-slope roofs if the pitch is not less than two inches per horizontal foot. As a result, nearly-flat roofs can be colorful and at the same time have long life and weathering ability.

The roofer first lays a double layer of heavy asphalt saturated felt. For even greater protection and strength, he cements these layers down along the eaves with asphalt cement. The shingles are then applied in the normal way over the felt, and cemented down to give the roof more weatherproofing ability.

Many color stylists say that homes with low slope roofs need colorful roofing because even a nearly flat roof is visible from the ground. They recommend light-color asphalt shingles for houses built low to the ground. A light color on the roof makes the house look bigger and taller.

Roofer uses a caulking gun to place cement under the tabs of asphalt shingles in applying them to a home with a low-slope roof. This is one step in a new application method that permits the use of colorful asphalt shingles on houses where they were not used in the past.

gles are then applied in the normal way over the felt, and cemented down to give the roof more weatherproofing ability.

WIRE BRUSH FROM WINDOW SCREEN

You can make an excellent wire brush for cleaning rust from tools, flaking paint from metal and doing other scraping jobs out of window or door wire screen.

Here's how: Fray several strands of a 4 inch by about 36 inch piece of screen. Then roll it into a small tight roll and tie it up with fine smooth wire. To make a handle you might force one end into a sturdy jar or deep jar cap.

You'll be amazed at how much time you can save by having tools and equipment arranged where they can be found when you need them. Besides that, removing trash from your shop and machinery storage area will cut the danger of fire.

A coating of hard paste wax makes a good protecting surface for those shop tools that rust so easily. The wax seals out moisture and also helps the tools shed dust and dirt. However, he advises polishing tools that have spots of rust on them before waxing.

Panel Doors Put Interiors 'In the Mood'

Any interior decorator worth his commission knows how to coordinate furniture, carpeting, draperies, woodwork and accessories to create a mood or atmosphere.

For example, a fireplace hung with shiny pewter pots, plus a spinning wheel and a few early American knick-knacks, create the illusion of a fine, old Colonial room. Add a Colonial-style wood panel door and the impression is strengthened.

Most interior decorators like to work with wood panel doors when designing a room. The versatile wood doors are available in a wide variety of styles and they can be decorated in many different ways to harmonize with the rest of a room or to provide highlights.

Here are just a few ideas for decorating panel doors of ponderosa pine:

1. Painting. Pine panel doors of all designs may be painted attractively in one, two or three colors. One plan is to outline the panels in a dark, shadow-line color, paint the frame of the door in a lighter, harmonizing shade and finish the panels in a third, accenting color.
2. Appliques and cutouts. The wood panels are natural frames for all kinds of imaginative appliques. Maps or colorful magazine illustrations add charm to a den. Cartoons or sheets of music pep up a recreation room. All types of cutouts can be cemented to the panels with thinned shellac and coated with clear lacquer for permanency.
3. Decals. The technique of using the door panels as frames is especially adaptable to decals. They lend themselves to children's rooms, kitchens, playrooms and dens.
4. Staining. The beauty of clear ponderosa pine's natural grain adds warmth and richness to any room. Pine panel doors can be stained in tones ranging from blond to deep mahogany. A variety of stock ponderosa pine panel doors that can be converted into Dutch doors is available from lumber dealers. With a counter on top of the lower section, the Dutch door can be used for serving snacks or refreshments.

Pine Panel Door Styles Ideal in Modern Home

Panel doors can fit into a modern decorating scheme as well as they do in a traditional decor. In fact, many styles of panel doors made of ponderosa pine are designed primarily for modern interiors.

Three of the most popular styles of modern panel doors are the "rancho," consisting of three equal-sized panels; the eight-equal-panel door, which has four rows of two panels each, and the 15-panel, five rows of three equal panels each.

The commercial standards of the U.S. Department of Commerce lists panel doors of ponderosa pine by numbers which are helpful in ordering the doors from building materials dealers. The "rancho" is N.D. 103, the eight-panel is N.D. 109, and the 15-panel is N.D. 113.

How To Lay A Vinyl Floor

Vinyl resilient flooring is one of the most popular floors with homemakers because it is easy to install and maintain and adds lasting beauty to the room.

The newest style in solid vinyl flooring by Kentile comes in plank size and woodgrain tones of Birch, Mahogany and Teak. There is a slight difference in shading in each plank so you can group them to show the natural wood variations, which give flexibility in floor design.

Vinyl planks can be installed over any smooth firm floor. They are 4" x 36" which makes them easy to handle. By arranging two or three planks of the same shade together, you can create a plank effect six or nine feet long. Determine how many full plank widths are required. Three plank widths equal one foot.

Here are instructions devised by Kentile flooring engineers to help you lay your own plank style solid vinyl floor:

To locate a starting point for laying planks, measure from wall to wall along each end of room. Measure only from principal walls. Then drive a nail into center of floor at each end. Rub a string with chalk. Tie it tightly from nail to nail. Pull the string up and let it snap back on floor to mark starting line. You are now ready to begin laying planks. It is important that planks are laid on straight line parallel to principal wall in the room.

Snap chalked string taut on floor to mark starting line.

Spread just enough adhesive to lay 5 or 6 planks at a time. Apply evenly.

Lay planks so edge is exactly on starting line. Make end joints tight.

After each 8 rows roll planks thoroughly with rolling pin.

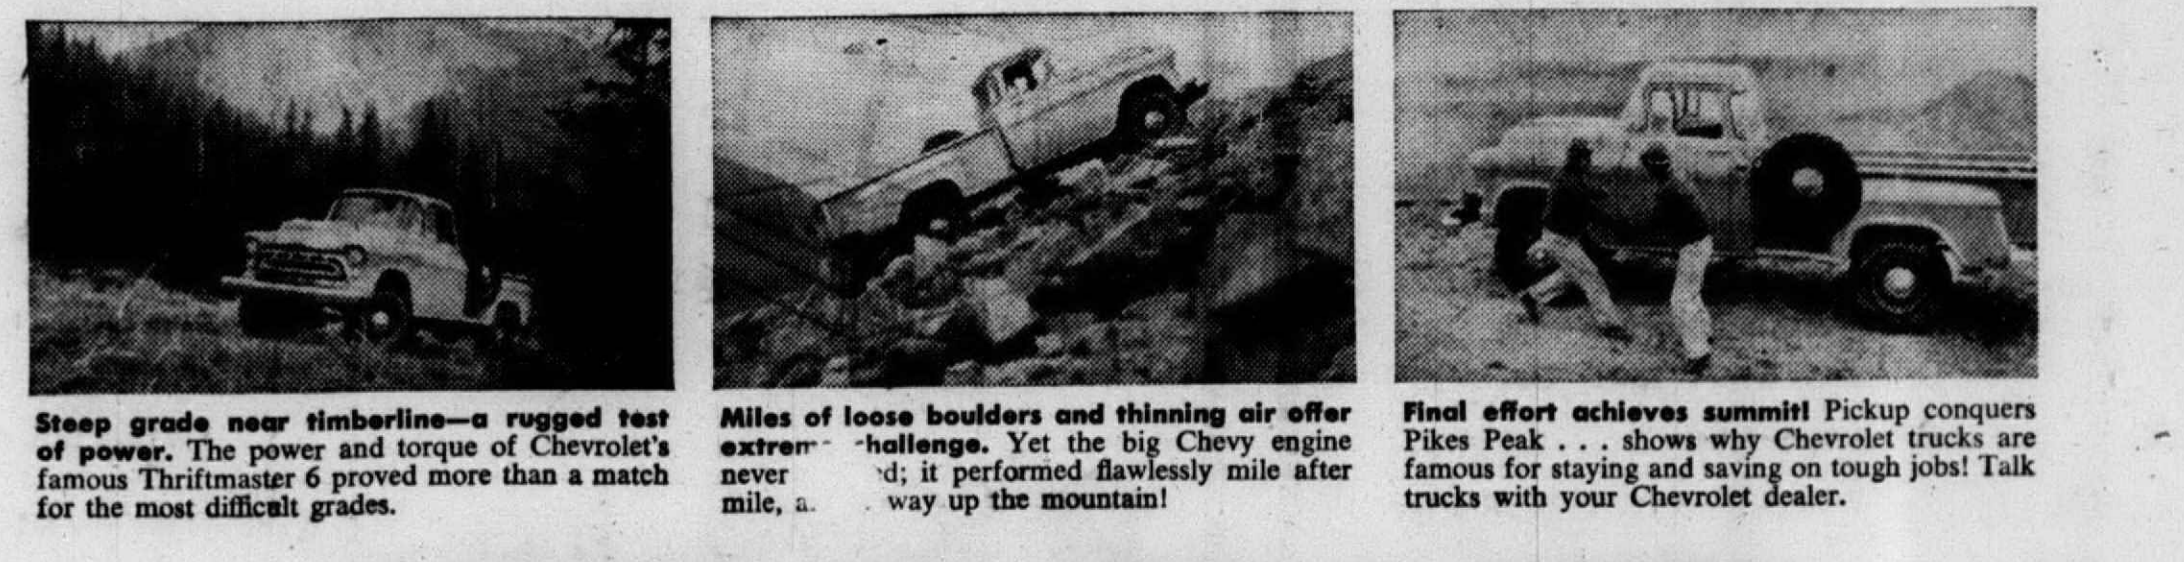

And here is your finished floor, beautifully designed to your own taste, and installed with a minimum of effort and time.

TIPS for TEENS

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Q.—"Dear Elinor: I am 14, a freshman in high school. I'm cute and popular with girls. The boys flirt with me, but I never have any dates. I would like to know why and how I can get some."

Ans.—It's difficult to tell the reason for the lack of dates without knowing you.

It might be your age. Many girls don't begin to have dates until 14 to 16 years old, and if you have just become 14, the boys might not yet realize that you're interested in dating or allowed to have dates. They might think of you as a girl who just hasn't started to date yet.

It might be another thing that is hard to explain or to understand, but it's the way boys are.—Sometimes boys just don't think of a girl who has never dated as being date-able until they actually see her with a date. Many boys seem to think of dating only the girls who already have dates—girls who are always at dances, church "socials," parties, movies, etc. with boys.

So try to give them a hint that you're now date-able in subtle ways... by inviting one of them to a girls' party or dance whenever you have a chance, by giving a party and inviting them, by going on double-dates with them, arranged by a friend.

Perhaps one of your girlfriends will ask her boy-friend to invite a friend to make a foursome with you.

If you know a boy well enough, you could invite him to your home with another couple he knows to watch a sports event on TV, or for dancing, record-playing or games.

(For free printed tips on "Date Manners for Girls," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.)
