Community Fund Reaches Sixth Of Goal Within Week

Within a week's time, the Plymouth Community Fund has reached a sixth of its $31,549 goal, according to the first report made yesterday to the Fund board of directors.

A total of $5,696.40 has been turned over to the fund treasurer, John Pint. This is considerably more than reported a year ago at this time, Pint said.

Every Plymouth city and township householder should by now have received literature through the mail from the Community Fund. There will be no solicitors. Instead, the pledge card included in the literature should be mailed back to the Fund, care of P. O. Box 356, Plymouth.

Those who have mislaid their pledge cards or did not receive any, can mail their checks to the box number.

When trying to determine how much an individual or firm should give to the Community Fund, Richard Daniel and Mrs. L. B. Rice, drive co-chairmen, have a formula. "Figure how much you would give the Boy and Girl Scouts, Red Cross, Salvation Army and seven other local agencies, plus 21 outside agencies, should they knock on your door separately throughout the year. Add it up—and this should be the amount you would give to the Community Fund."

The Community Fund was opened on Tuesday, Oct. 15 with a Kick-Off Breakfast. It is scheduled to close November 5. Plymouth's drive is not connected with the United Foundation drive in metropolitan Detroit, but it is possible for Plymouthites working in other communities to divert their pledges to the local drive by stating their intentions on the back of their United Foundation pledge card.

The Community Fund board is again this year publishing names of individuals and firms donating $10 or more. Those not wanting their names mentioned should state this on the pledge card.

Here, then, is the list to date: $528.40, Consumers Power employees.

$500, E. C. Hough, Daisy Manufacturing Co.

$350, Dunn Steel Products Division of Townsend Co., Detroit Edison.

MODERN SURROUNDINGS such as this court outside the cafeteria will be inspected by the public this Sunday at a dedication and open house at the Plymouth Community Junior High. The dedication will start at 2 p.m. and the open house begins an hour later. For more pictures, see Section 3.

To Dedicate $1.7 Million Junior Hi

A chance to view the Plymouth Community School District's "Queen of the Fleet" is being given to the public this Sunday afternoon following dedication ceremonies.

The "Queen" is the new Plymouth Community Junior High School along South Mill street. Open in September after being under construction for a year and a half, the building ranks among the nation's best designed junior highs.

A ceremony dedicating the building will begin at 2 p.m.

whose firm drew plans for many outstanding school buildings besides the junior high here.

Lawrence Livingston will direct the Junior High band as they play several selections. The dedication will then be performed by Harold Fischer, president of the board of education.

American flags for the school will be presented by three organizations, the Passage-Gayde Post of the American Legion; Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution; and Mayflower post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Closing the ceremony will be a vocal solo, "Bless this House," by Hollis Haynes, and the benediction by Rev. Clifford.

Of interest to taxpayers is the cost of building such a school. Total cost of the new unit was $1,749,838.91. Of this amount, construction costs were $1,467,065.29; architectural fees, furniture, fixtures and equipment, $155,733.76; site, soil tests and legal fees, $82,937.52; sewer and water, $1,328.14; site development, $42,974.20.

The cost per square foot is $16.69, which is considered normal for junior high units. Superintendent Isbister states that junior highs usually run between $14 and $18 a square foot. The building is on an 13 acre site.

The junior high is designed for 1,000 students. At present it is also housing six groups of sixth graders to ease crowding in elementary buildings.

Visitors to the building will find it divided into three units. The main wing, in the center of the building, called B wing, is composed of 24 classrooms for academic studies. These classrooms are divided into pairs and each student works within these two rooms during two-thirds of the day.

The other third of a day the student travels to the other wings for industrial arts, home economics, physical education, art and music. Each classroom overlooks a court.

The B wing also contains administrative offices, conference rooms, teachers' lounge, health clinic, supply room and storage.

The A wing, located at the east side of the building, has the gymnasium, divided by a folding door for simultaneous boys' and girls' gym classes.

At the west end of the building is the C wing where there are two industrial arts rooms, two arts and crafts rooms, sewing room, foods laboratory, instrumental music room, vocal music room, kitchen, cafeteria and heating unit. A public address system reaches into all rooms of the building.

The architects originally planned two other units. A swimming pool and an auditorium.

Vandals Hit Graveyard

Vandals have wrecked nearly half of the grave markers in the 112-year-old Plymouth Village Cemetery and it's not part of Halloween trickery.

About 50 tombstones have either been pushed over, broken or hauled away, according to Joseph Bida, acting superintendent of the city's Department of Public Works. The cemetery is located at the eastern end of Pearl Street, beside the C & O railroad.

Six weeks ago Bida first noticed a few of the stones were pushed over. There has been a nightly police check of the grounds, but vandals have returned to the cemetery several times.

One large stone had been rolled down a hill toward Edward Hines Drive. Bida said that he sent a work crew a week later to bring the stone back up the hill with a truck winch, but that the stone was missing.

"It is hard to realize why anyone would enjoy doing this type of thing," Bida declared, "and it is even more hard to understand why they would carry the stones away."

There are some stones half missing and it will probably never be learned again who is buried in these graves.

The cemetery was opened in 1845 and contains the graves of nine Civil War veterans and several of the Black Hawk War. Indians also had previously used the site for a temporary burial ground, later removing the remains to a permanent location.

Old cemeteries have long been the target of vandals. Several in Plymouth and Canton townships have suffered similar fate. The Plymouth Village Cemetery also has had vandals knocking over stones, but never has it reached the present proportions.

There is evidence that sharp tools were used in prying stone joints apart.

Chief of Police Kenneth Fisher said that there this is the time of year that vandalism is at its height. Both Halloween and football games usually are conducive to mischief.

At a Junior High dance last Friday, for instance, a group of boys, believed to be from another community, attempted to break into the dance. Denied entrance, they broke off antennas and outside mirrors of cars.

All policemen and many firemen will be on duty Halloween night as usual to help keep things under control. "We have been fortunate during the past few Halloween's," Chief Fisher said, "and we will keep our fingers crossed in hopes that nothing serious happens next week."

THREE OF the more than 50 tombstones pushed over or damaged at the Plymouth Village Cemetery are examined by Joseph Bida, acting superintendent of public works. He is shown examining one of the old stones that was broken by vandals. Some stones are missing.

City Seeks Tougher State Law Controlling Motor Scooters

Monday night's meeting of the city commission amazingly took but a half hour, but in that time they devoted some discussion to the community's increasing motor scooter problem and passed a resolution to urge the state to draft more stringent laws dealing with them.

Chief of Police Kenneth Fisher, who is acting city manager while Albert Glassford attends a manager's convention in Washington, D.C., told the commission that cities all over the state are faced with the same problem and will be demanding some type of better controls over scooters.

The commission passed a resolution that will be forwarded to the Michigan Municipal League and to the local state representative and senator. The Municipal League is expected to compile many such resolutions and present them to the governor and legislators.

Chief Fisher said that the present law permits children as young as 14 years old to drive a motor scooter if they can pass the written motor vehicle license test. They are issued temporary permits.

Scooters are supposed to be five horsepower or less, the chief added, but some boys are able to increase the horsepower enough to get up to 60 miles an hour out of their vehicle.

As for noise, the chief said that some operators deliberately rig their scooters' mufflers so that they make more noise. He said that during the past few weeks, officers have written several tickets to scooter operators for excessive noise.

Chief Fisher pointed out that prosecution of young offenders under 17 years of age cannot be done locally. The Juvenile Court by law must handle all cases of children below 17 and that this court cannot impose fines. Violators, however, could lose their licenses. Parents must also go to court with their children and this inconvenience may cause some parents to "crack-down" on their sons who may be offending driving laws.

"I think that many parents of scooter owners would like to see some type of restrictions," the chief declared.

The chief said that he would like to see the age requirement of scooter drivers be advanced from 14 to 16 and that they go through driver education classes just like auto drivers of that age.

"It's true," Chief Fisher concluded, "that it's the scooter driver who will get hurt in a collision, not the car driver, but we still don't want to pick some unfortunate kid up off the street."

Canton Gives 200% To United Foundation

Rep. Eaton Appointed To Planning Commission

State Representative Sterling Eaton, 1294 Maple, has been appointed to the city planning commission to fill a vacancy.

The vacancy was created by the resignation of Mrs. Lois Jensen. Mayor Harold Guenther made the appointment Monday night. It was confirmed by the commission.

Library Closes 2 Days Because of Inside Work

Dunning-Hough Library will be closed today and tomorrow (Thursday and Friday) as workmen paint the old unit and move book shelves into the new.

Mrs. Agnes Pauline, librarian, said that a deposit has been provided for those returning books. She expressed regret for the inconvenience of those who may need the library facilities, but said that the spray painting work would make use of the library impossible.

The new library unit will gradually be put into use and a dedication date set.

Trip on Congo River Featured In Travel Program Sunday

National Geographic Magazine subscribers will recognize this Sunday's speaker for the first World Travel Series of Plymouth program.

He is John M. Goddard, whose trip down the Nile river in a kayak a few years back made exciting reading. Equally exciting was a trip made down the Congo river of Africa in a dug-out canoe (called a bongos).

It is this film "Bongos Down the Congo," that Plymouthites will see Sunday.

Goddard and a young British explorer, Jack Yowell, paddled the dugouts down almost 3,000 miles of the world's second largest river, the fabulous Congo. The mighty watercourse was for centuries considered one of the tantalizing mysteries of geography.

Not until 1875 was the first real knowledge about the Congo revealed. That was when Henry Morton Stanley of Stanley and Livingstone fame, led an expedition down 1,600 miles of the hazardous river, a journey that cost the lives of two-thirds of his men.

The all-color, full-length motion picture lecture will take the audience from the Congo's most distant source below Lake Tanganyika in Northern Rhodesia to its mouth at the Atlantic.

The program will begin at 3 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Season tickets have been on sale for over a month by the Chamber of Commerce and the Travel Centre, co-sponsors of the series. All proceeds will go to the Chamber.

"Bongos Down the Congo" is the first of six programs in the series. There will be one each month through March.

Work on New Phone System 'On Schedule'

At 2:01 a.m. on April 20, 1958, Plymouth area telephone subscribers will no longer hear the familiar "number please" when they pick up the receiver.

That is the day, hour and minute that the Michigan Bell Telephone company expects to make the "cut-over" from the present system to the automatic dial system.

Dial phones are gradually being installed in homes and buildings in the Plymouth system.

Robert Maurer, manager of the local Michigan Bell office, reports that 20 per cent of the new instruments have been installed.

How many phones would you guess that the Plymouth area has (city and township population of 14,900)? Maurer says that there are over 8,000 telephones to be replaced. This, of course, includes the extensions.

A special crew of eight from the Detroit area has been busy making the replacements for several weeks. This is in addition to the regular Plymouth crew which works at the change-over job whenever possible.

The crews work one street at a time and this week are on Haggerty road. Test equipment for the new dial instruments can detect any defects in the hook-up as the phone is installed. This eliminates testing each phone after the dial system is completed.

Eighty per cent of all new cables and pole installation has been completed and the balance of the work will be ended in the next few months.

At the new Michigan Bell building on Ann Arbor road, Western Electric installers have all equipment in place. They must now complete the tedious task of sorting and connecting the miles of wire to their terminals.

Except for the distant subscribers who will still be on rural lines, all phones on the automatic system will be either one or two party lines. Michigan Bell polled each subscriber to determine their preference, and one half have signed up for one party connections.

Of course, the cut-over will be a big occasion and a special ceremony will be planned. The installation job is right on schedule, Maurer declared. "But if the cut-over doesn't happen at 2:01 a.m. on April 20, he added, "I'll leave town."

In case local phone users haven't already heard, their phone number prefix will be GLenview 3 - - - -.

This Is U.N. Day

The United Nations flag will fly today at city hall under the American flag as the nation today observes United Nations Day.

This entire week has been designated U.N. Week by Mayor Harold Guenther. It is the organization's 12th birthday. Civic classes in the schools will stress the U.N. and some churches and organizations are expected to give it mention.

News From Parkview Circle

Mrs. Robert Fitzner
625 Parkview Drive

Things are certainly quiet around the Circle. This is it! On Sunday, October 13, Lila and Doug Vincent of Parkview Drive entertained eight relatives at dinner in honor of their son Steve's third birthday. This week-end the Vincents will go to Cleveland to visit Lila's mother Mrs. John Lepper, and brother John who will be home from Carnegie Tech., in Pittsburgh where he is a student. The family will celebrate John's birthday.

Little Debbie Zembruski and Gerald Bower are among the small fry taking dancing lessons at the Aleta School of Dance. During a chat with Jean Scott today I learned that she and Hubby Jack are again active this year in the local Theatre Guild. Jean, who is ticket captain for this area, explained that there will be three plays presented and admission will be $1.50 per play but season tickets are being offered at $3.00. Naturally Jean will be happy to take your order. The shows will be "Desk Set,"

"Double Door" and "My Sister Eileen". Anyone interested in working back stage on props and various other jobs should contact the Scotts.

Guess Shirley and Earl Collins like our Circle. They moved out of a duplex about a year ago but last Saturday moved right back in again. Welcome home!

Stevie and Barney Bird of Parkview Drive have been having flu at their house too but their main concern is over "Penny" their little cocker spaniel who has been quite ill and has had to have her tonsils removed. The Birds have had Penny for seven years so of course are quite attached to her and feel as though she's one of the family.

Ruth Butts of Parkview Drive has been on the sick list and is taking a few days off from her teaching duties at the high school.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Clifford Manwaring were the guests of Major and Mrs. Willard Lemon Saturday evening when they attended the fortieth anniversary Military ball of the AA Artillery Officers club on Eight Mile road.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Cook

Joan Ebersole, Dale Cook Wed Recently in Walled Lake Church

Before an altar adorned with lighted candles, white chrysanthemums and gladioli, Father Foley performed the double-ring ceremony which united Joan Lou Ebersole and Dale Cook. The setting was St. Williams church in Walled Lake at 10 a.m. on September 14.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Ebersole 615 Starkweather avenue, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cook of Walled Lake.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of chantilly lace and net. Five tiers of net over lace formed the full skirt. Iridescent paillettes and sequins frosted the chantilly lace which etched a petal motif at the sabrina neckline. The sleeves were traditionally tapered to the wrist with a point over the hand.

From her crown of pearls and sequins fell a fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade arrangement of white chrysanthemums centered by an orchid.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Patricia Rann, wore a jade green taffeta floor-length dress with a matching picture hat. She carried a basket of yellow chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids donned floor-length taffeta dresses, following an autumn color scheme. Linda Cook and Mrs. Patricia Hann wore gold-colored dresses with matching picture hats while Linda Baughman, cousin of the bride, acting as junior bridesmaid, wore a floor-length chocolate-colored dress with matching head piece. They carried baskets of rust colored chrysanthemums.

Flowergirl Nancy Peck, cousin of the bride, wore a floor-length dress of beige with a matching headpiece. She carried a basket of red rose petals, scattering them before the bride.

Robert Janes, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearer, carrying the rings on a satin, heart-shaped pillow.

The bridegroom asked his cousin Clarence Rann to act as best man. Assisting as ushers were Jerry Davis, Joseph Hayes, Dennis Ireland and Anthony Olivich.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ebersole chose a brown lace dress with a beige hat and gloves and brown accessories. Mrs. Cook wore a brown lace dress, sequin hat, beige gloves and brown accessories. They carried cymbidium orchids.

The bride's two grandmothers, Mrs. Charles Peck and Mrs. Albert Ebersole and the bridegroom's grandmothers, Mrs. Gotro and Mrs. Cook were present and wore corsages of white chrysanthemums.

A reception was held at 7 p.m. in the Masonic Temple for about 300 guests. Serving the cake, made and decorated by the bridegroom's mother, were the bride's aunts, Mrs. Ada Watson, Mrs. Marjorie Becker and Mrs. Elaine Peck, Mrs. Louise Baughman and Mrs. Mildred Blackford.

The new Mrs. Cook chose a black and white sheath dress with matching accessories for her wedding-trip outfit.

The bride is a graduate of Plymouth high school and is attending Eastern Michigan college. The bridegroom is a graduate of Northville high school.

They will make their home at 312 Griswold road, Northville.

Netherlands Consular Officer Is Speaker Before B.P.W.

Willem Von Weiler, American consul for The Netherlands in Detroit, gave an informative talk before the Business and Professional Women's Club Monday night.

He declared that The Netherlands has the highest birth rate in Europe and the lowest death rate in the world. The population there is 875 per square mile in comparison with 52 per square mile in America.

In speaking about the flower business, he noted that three billion bulbs are sold annually by the people in The Netherlands, one fifth of which are sold to America.

Von Weiler is an honorary consul, which means that he has no salary or expense account, but has had many interesting experiences such as preparing for Queen Julianna's visit to Detroit several years ago. He also finds jobs and housing for Dutch emigrants who came here during the life of the Refugee Act. This was not an easy task since there were as many as 13 children in a family.

A movie, "Caribbean Holiday," was shown as an invitation to vacations in the Dutch West Indies.

Nancy Eaton, girls State representative from Plymouth, sponsored by the B.P.W., gave a report of her stay at the meeting in Ann Arbor during June.

A business session concluded the meeting.

Sisterhood Hears
Talk on Teenage
Exchange Plan

The P.E.O. Sisterhood met at the home of Mrs. Dewey Evans on Maple avenue Friday night where they heard a talk on the Teenage Exchange Youth for Understanding Program.

Husbands of the members were invited to the special program, followed by a regular business meeting.

Arvid Andresen, teacher of mathematics and science in the Junior High, gave the talk. He and his wife are involved in the youth program under the auspices of the Michigan Council of Churches.

Boys and girls, preferably juniors in high school, are brought to the U.S. for a year of study. They come here mainly from Germany, France, Spain, England, Holland, Denmark and South America.

Students of Michigan, the speaker declared, have likewise been sent abroad for a shorter period of time. One of these students, Ann Dennyany of Plymouth, was a guest of the group. She found the visit a delightful experience.

Mrs. Frederick Foust pointed out how the P.E.O. Sisterhood makes scholarships available to girls from foreign countries on the college level.

The next meeting will be at the home of Miss Helen Moore in Ann Arbor on Nov. 1.

SPORTSEEN

By Bill Dilworth

A new football field proves no jinx to our team. Last Friday night the Plymouth Rocks played at the Bentley High School field for the first time. The new surroundings must have been conducive to good football for the Rocks showed to advantage throughout the game.

We were impressed by the all-around performance of Dick Anderson who was a doubtful starter earlier in the week because of water on the knee. It was evident that no freezing was done because nothing slipped by him. Anderson spent a good portion of the game in the Bentley backfield.

When Jerry Jordan of Bentley made the mistake of standing too close to his line to kick, it was Anderson who charged through to block the ball. This led to another bright spot in the Plymouth play. Larry Wells picked up the ball and ran 30 yards for the touchdown and accompanying him on the run were no less than three teammates from the line. These linemen showed enough speed to be backfielders.

The fullbacks Egluff and Sparkman were running well which gives Coach Hoben four good ball carriers. These two, along with LaRoche and Walaskay demonstrated the point that their coach has been making all season that they do have backs who can move the ball.

From the scrapbook... The Plymouth Recreation Elementary Touch Football League for Fifth and Sixth graders completes a successful season today. More details about this activity next week... We got an insight into just how valuable an aid football films can be for the coach. We saw the films of the Belleville-Plymouth game and two points were proven. First that the officials erred in ruling that there was a fourth down situation instead of a third; and second, any mistakes by players such as missing assignments or being deked out of position show up very clearly. With a projector that permits slow motion pictures and re-running small sections of the film, Plymouth football coaches have a very handy tool at their disposal.

Grange Cleanings

There was a good attendance at Grange last Thursday night considering the many cases of "flu" and the heavy colds that are so prevalent right now.

The next meeting on November 7th is an important occasion as the installation of the officers takes place so let's have a big crowd. Potluck supper too, you know.

There will be a special meeting called for the 23rd to discuss many business matters that need taking care of right away.

Mrs. Cole is confined to her bed now at her home on West Ann Arbor trail. Her daughters, Mrs. Mary Root and Mrs. Florence Watson, are caring for her in the daytime and Mable Loomis takes over at night.

UNCORKING THE NEWS

October is the month when the frost is on the punkin' and a lot of the rest of the world isn't so hot, either. After the chill that some nations, groups and individuals are putting on each other, the old punkin' is almost in the hot potato class.

This is also the month when Halloween ushers in its ghosts and goblins and witches riding on their '58 model convertible broomsticks. But they can't scare us... not after the news headlines we've been bludgeoned with for the past 12 moons. If your hair is already standing on end, what's an extra "Boo!" or two? And, after all, a skeleton is nothing but a bunch of bones with connections. I've a hunch most of us would gladly exchange tomorrow's headlines for one nice, old-fashioned goblin.

I hear that the latest definition for an old-timer is a fellow who has just made the final payment on his home... Old-timers and newcomers alike, many of our customers tell us they like to shop with us for all their pharmaceutical and other drug store items — because of the friendly service, as well as for the excellent selection of high-quality merchandise. We'd like to serve you, too...

THROUGHOUT MICHIGAN, some 50,000 girls and boys from upper elementary and junior high school grades are performing an outstanding service. They are members of 2200 School Safety Patrols, a public interest activity sponsored by the AAA and its affiliate, the Automobile Club of Michigan. These Safety Patrol members must be at their posts each day at least fifteen minutes before school opens, must stay on duty after school closes. Their loyal efforts have helped substantially to reduce fatal accidents involving child pedestrians in the 5-14 age group.

Michigan's Trucking Industry salutes these Safety Patrol members. Like them, the Industry is doing its utmost to promote safety on our streets and highways — through rigid driver training programs, careful maintenance of equipment, and educational campaigns. # Rocks Show Dazzling Variety Play in 38-0 Win Over Bentley

Scoring in each of the four quarters, Plymouth Rocks rolled to a decisive 38-0 victory over Bentley at the Livonia high school's field last Friday night.

The Rocks led 7-0 at the end of the first quarter, 20-0 at the half, added an unconverted touchdown in the third and two more in the last quarter to round out the scoring. It was the first time that Plymouth had played at the new Bentley field and they made themselves right at home as six players scored the touchdowns.

In the games with Redford Union and Belleville LaRoche, Walasky and Knipschild scored the touchdowns. Against Bentley, however, three more names were added to the list as Wells Egluff and Woodward scored.

Plymouth kicked off to Gerry Tartoni and after Bentley failed to make yards on three tries, Walasky brought the fourth down kick back to the Plymouth 42. From this point Plymouth scored their first touchdown on nine plays.

Walasky, Egluff, LaRoche and Knipschild moved the ball along the ground with LaRoche carrying for the touchdown from the Bentley 8 yard line. Egluff made the extra point good giving Plymouth a 7-0 first quarter lead.

Bentley gambled on fourth down near the end of the first quarter and when Dick Anderson threw Jordan for a loss, Plymouth gained possession on their own 45. The quarter ended just as LaRoche took play to the Bentley 28 with a brilliant run. LaRoche and Walasky combined to take the ball to the Bentley 1 where Ken Knipschild sneaked over. Egluff kicked his second extra point and the Rocks led 14-0.

Egluff's kick was taken by Gerry Tartoni and when three ground plays failed to gain the necessary ten yards Jordan dropped back to kick. Unfortunately for Bentley he attempted his kick too close to the line of scrimmage. Dick Anderson ripped through the line to block the kick. Larry Wells picked up the loose ball and scooped 30 yards for the touchdown. Egluff missed on his try for the extra point and the half time score was 20-0 for Plymouth.

LaRoche took King's kick-off and ran it back to the Plymouth 42. Knipschild and LaRoche combined for a first down to the Bentley 44. A penalty of 5 yards against Plymouth moved the ball back to the Bentley 49. From this point the Rocks scored on what was perhaps their most exceptional play of the season. The ball handling magic of Ken Knipschild was used to advantage again on a neatly executed double reverse that saw Dave Walasky run 49 yards for his touchdown and the fourth for the Rocks.

At the start of the fourth quarter Plymouth gained possession when Bentley was forced to kick. Walasky and LaRoche combined on running plays to take play to the Bentley 10 yard line. During this series of downs Walasky had runs of 30 and 15 yards. From the 10, Wayne Sparkman, sophomore fullback, carried to the 4 where Egluff plunged over for the touchdown.

The sixth touchdown resulted from a passing attack carried out by Bill Ruehr, the passer, and Paul Woodward, the receiver. Ruehr needed just three passes from the Bentley 40 for the touchdown, the last one a 16 yard toss.

Plymouth showed a more varied offensive than they used in the Belleville game the week before. In addition to the running of LaRoche and Walasky, Sparkman and Egluff ran well on occasion while Ruehr and Woodward provided a short but effective passing attack in the fourth quarter. Wayne Jordahl's blocking helped the running backs get away for many gains while Anderson and Alsbro were terrific on defense.

For the losers Eldon Dillon worked hard. He contributed a 20 yard run through the Plymouth line but his efforts were not enough against a Plymouth team that had complete charge throughout.

Football Experts Go Berserk with Saturday Upsets

J. Ridgeway Handycapper, the noted football expert who staked his reputation on the outcome of Saturday's games, was carted away screaming, "it shouldn't happen to a dog."

It seems that the combined upsets of Michigan State and Minnesota, coupled with the last minute surge of the Detroit Lions Sunday were more than his tortured mind could bear. At left is a cut of J. Ridgeway in his new home busily cutting up the sports section of his local newspaper.

The local selectors didn't do much better for Saturday was indeed a day of upsets. James Lockwood of 328 Adams was tops, having successfully predicted the outcome of 14 out of 15 games. His only miss was the Michigan State game but he was in good company, for few others guessed this one either. Second in the selections was John R. Stone of 9324 Morrison, who missed on the U.C.L.A.-Oregon State Game and Michigan State.

Our hats are off to Bonnie L. French who picked Purdue over Michigan State and Illinois over Minnesota, but was thrown for a loss by the Iowa-Wisconsin and the U.C.-Texas A&M game. Bonnie may have won second prize but neglected to note the score of the Lions-Baltimore game.

If anyone doubted the axiom that there is "no such thing as a sure thing", Saturday's games should convince them of its truth. Oh well, better luck to everyone on next Saturday's games and as a guide, our Sports Editor will crawl out on a limb—and make the following predictions.

Minnesota over Michigan Michigan State by a landslide over Illinois O.S.U. over Wisconsin in the march to the Rose Bowl Iowa over Northwestern Boston College over U of D Marquette over T.C.U. Notre Dame over Pitt U.C.L.A. over Stanford Indiana over Villanova Washington State over U.S.C. Washington over Oregon State Plymouth over Trenton Los Angeles over Detroit Lions Princeton over Cornell Yale over Colgate

Rock Jayvees Win 2, Drop 2 this Season

While the Plymouth varsity football team are riding high in the crest of three consecutive wins, the Junior Varsity squad, coached by Roger Smithing show a record of two wins and two losses.

The Jayvees started off well by winning their first two games, however, Allen Park and Belleville proved stumbling blocks to an unbeaten string. They closed out their league schedule yesterday against Bentley.

Trenton Here For Second Home Game of Season

Tomorrow night the Trenton High School football team visits Plymouth to provide opposition for the Rocks' fourth league game of the season.

Having disposed of Redford Union, Belleville and Bentley rather handily, Plymouth will be setting their sights for Trenton and will be working hard to maintain their unbeaten record.

Prior to the Bentley game Coach Hoben had concentrated on a running game featuring halfbacks Ed LaRoche and Dave Walasky. In the Bentley game more dazzling running plays like the reverse that had Walasky going 49 yards for a touchdown, plus running by fullbacks and passing by Ruehr were used to spread the scoring around and take the pressure off the halfbacks.

Trenton this season has one league win and two losses.

Township Clerk Unhurt in Mishap

Plymouth Township's clerk, Mrs. Rosalind Broome, escaped injury but her 10-year-old daughter suffered cuts and bruises last week when her car struck a bridge guard rail.
 The accident happened on South Harvey street at the Tonquith Creek bridge. Mrs. Broome told city police that her car had stalled in the A & P parking lot and that a wrecker was giving her car a push when the accident occurred.
 As the car was being pushed down Harvey street in the rain, she said that it spun, hit the guard rail and stopped on the cement culvert. It did not fall into the creek.
 As the car spun, a door flew open and Mrs. Broome's daughter, Linda, fell out. A passerby took her to Sessions Hospital in Northville where she was treated for multiple cuts and bruises.

 A film about finding the elusive red trout and colored slides with some of the boys at Camp Howell Boy Scout Camp this summer were shown. An overnight camp-out scheduled for Saturday November 2 by Scoutmaster Paul Steencken was announced and the group was reminded of the coming preparations for the Christmas wreath sale. Money received in the sale of wreaths helps send the boys to summer camp, buys troop equipment, and provides for the expenses of the troop.
 The troop meets each Monday night at the First Presbyterian Church from 7:30 to 9. Boys 11 years or over interested in scouting may call assistant scout-master Bill Ivey 1831W.

Ashland Introduces New Type Gasoline

Another "new" gasoline in the super-high octane levels appeared on the local market this week. It is "A Plus", a fuel being introduced by the Ashland Oil and Refining Company. Company officials say "A Plus" is "the long-sought answer to the petroleum industry's need for a super-octane gasoline that maintains peak performance through all driving speeds."
 Aviation gasoline components, it is said, are blended to prevent octane "fade" on the road, along with loss of horsepower. The new fuel has been road tested for 200,000 miles.
 The gasoline is also claimed to contain a detergent which prevents engine deposit build-up.

LARGE CAFETERIA eliminates the long tables usually found in schools. The gay and airy room faces a court and is filled with background music during lunch time.

Tips on Selection of Good Apples

The 1957 Michigan apple crop is just beginning and promises to be one of the best seasons in many years. Three summer apples have recently gone out of season, but eight varieties begin in late September or October and will be plentiful until January, February and some as late as March.

All varieties will be available at your fruit counters, providing a wide choice to make fall menus more tantalizing.

The Macintosh, with its handsome deep red coloring and white flesh, is excellent for eating out of hand—and for sauce. However, Detroit Consumer Marketing Information Agency of Michigan State University suggest that you might find other varieties more satisfactory for using in pies—the Macintosh might cook to mush before your crust is the golden color you prefer.

The Delicious apple, so easily recognized by its five little points at the blossom end, is truly delicious for hand eating or for use in salads. In this case, its flesh is really too mild and coarse to be preferred for cooking.

On the other hand, you will find the Greening apple with its green skin and acid flesh, so desirable for pies, sauce and baking—but too tart for eating raw. The displays also carry some apples which are excellent for all purposes. Among these are the Jonathan, a medium sized solid red apple, and the Northern Spy, with its stripes or mottling of red on yellow. They are mouth-watering when used raw, or in baking, pies or sauce.

With such a variety from which to choose, you might like to receive a few tips on identification of quality. In the first place, good color for the variety usually indicates full flavor. Very hard or immature fruit lacks flavor, while overripe apples are soft and mealy. Apples should actually yield slightly to thumb pressure, but be firm to be the best in quality. Firm tart apples are most satisfactory for cooking, and the big apples tend to mature faster than smaller ones—so they become soft and mealy more quickly.

When you make your apple choice, you may wish to cut the apples into alternative wedges, slices and rings for a fall fruit tray. In this case, you may dip the cut apples in lemon, orange or pineapple juice to prevent browning when the cut surfaces are exposed to air.

Apples have the most flavor if they are cooked in a covered pan or dish when you are preparing apple sauce. Long cooking and too much sugar destroy the delicate apple flavor. And over cooking also may darken the sauce. But there are many other uses for the king of all fruits besides sauce. If you would like to re-

Take It Easy In the Kitchen

Tired of standing when you do your kitchen work? Then fix a convenient place to work sitting down.

Plan an area for doing sit-down work. Arrange storage in the area so things are easy to reach while you're sitting. The length of your arm is the maximum distance you can reach without stretching or getting up.

A comfortable chair is a must for sitting work. Get one that lets your feet rest flat on the floor and has a good back rest.

To sit and work comfortably you need work surface with knee room. The pull out lap board is handy. If you have one built in your cupboard be sure it's the right height for you. If you should clear your lap when you're sitting in your work chair.

For kitchens that don't have a built-in lap board you can make one and put it where you want it. Little TV tray tables are just about the right height for most homemakers. To give a larger work surface put a piece of plywood or a bread board on top of the tray table. Put electrics in the under side of the board to catch on the tray edges and hold it in place.

"Be prepared" motto useful for housewife too

The problem of planning and preparing meals that are both well balanced and delicious is often a tough one for busy mothers, especially on weekends when everything is off-schedule and friends are likely to drop in at any time.

This problem is easily solved by keeping a versatile meat like Herrud Ring Bologna in the refrigerator. A ring of bologna provides an ample supply of meat if guests should drop in, and if they don't, it keeps very well for next week's lunches. Being "Ready-to-eat", bologna is easy to serve and in a pinch the kids can even make their own sandwiches. However, for a family lunch you can get as fancy as you please. For a completely different taste treat, try frying thin slices in a pan—or better yet, grilling them on a charcoal fire. If you have a sandwich grill, you can start mouths watering with grilled cheese and bologna sandwiches. Bologna, cheese and crackers make a perfect TV snack when guests drop in. For entertaining in the evening, try entertaining in the evening, try building your meal around a hearty vegetable salad generously mixed with diced slices of bologna.

Meals planned this way not only make it easy to "Be prepared" for any occasion, but it also assures that every meal will include a well balanced portion of meat. Herrud Ring Bologna is particularly well suited for better meal planning because it is made of carefully selected cuts of meat: a high percentage of beef to provide a hearty flavor, with pork added to make it tender. These meats are blended within an exclusive recipe with spices and seasonings gathered from around the world. Slow-smoked over hardwood fires and cooked to perfection. The result is bologna that is better tasting, more nourishing and a real treat for the entire family no matter how it is served...

MICHIGAN MIRROR

BY ELMER E. WHITE

Industry Loyal to State

Michigan's Industrial Climate, which has been kicked around often and hard between Democrats and Republicans when discussing the state tax structure, finally felt the warming glow of favorable light.

The state of Oklahoma, which is carrying on an active campaign to interest new industry to locate there, wrote 10,000 letters to plants all over the country. Don C. Weeks, director of the Michigan Department of Economic Development, recently heard from an Oklahoma official that Michigan industrialists show "outstanding loyalty to their state."

Oklahoma businessmen will soon be following up the letters with personal visits to offices which received the letters. This, of course, includes Michigan.

Important aspect about this display of loyalty is that it can overcome some of the undesired poor publicity which resulted from political fighting when Democrats were charging that industry should be taxed more and Republicans were charging the present tax structure is "driving industry out" of the state.

Politicians are sprinting toward next year's election like men in gray flannel suits wearing track shoes.

Party finances for years have been shunted into the background with partisans pushing policies and personalities, leaving the dollars and cents work in the precincts.

Now both sides have discovered that it takes money to elect a slate in November.

It has always been this way, but the parties liked to pretend that money was a convenience. Not really necessary, but handy. Democrats conducted a door-bell and front porch campaign this fall. It was well-publicized and the yield was satisfactory.

State Chairman Neil Staebler said the program was designed to raise money, but also to make the precinct workers feel they had a key role in the Democratic party.

Republicans took up the same sort of program.

Don E. Ahrens, former vice president of General Motors (Cadillac division) was named party finance chief. He has experience with a number of local campaign drives. His first move was to start a "Republican United Fund" campaign, and suggested that party members contribute $1 a month, or year, to provide a continuing fund to pay expenses.

Ahrens is interested in "businesslike concepts, budgeting of necessary expenditures, thorough audits, and the utmost in establishing financial responsibility by party leaders."

Teachers' Common Stock

Q. Miss L. writes, I am a school-teacher without dependents, facing retirement on a pension in ten years' time. I have $30,000 in savings bonds and have no other investments. Do you think I would be wise to place part of my investments in stocks and if so, would you suggest a list from which I could choose?

A. I believe you would be thoroughly justified in putting some of your savings into sound stocks. In fact I think it would be prudent for you to do so. Under your present circumstances, as you have outlined them, you are particularly vulnerable to any further decline in the purchasing power of the dollar, which I believe is inevitable on a long-term basis. The Federal Reserve Board may and probably will succeed in halting the recent inflationary spiral which appeared to them to be getting out of hand. Looking back over our financial history, however, you will find that over any reasonably long period of time the value of the dollar has gone down, and this longer term trend is likely to continue. Your assets at the present time are all of the fixed-income type and in effect will decline in value if the purchasing power of the dollar continues its historic decline. The same is true of your pension when realized. Common stocks of the better sort, with strong growth prospects, afford a good measure of protection against inflation through the factor of rising dividends.

Some Growth Stocks

Since high income in your case does not appear to be essential, I believe you should start to build a list of stocks of the best quality which are likely to show good growth over the next 10 years. At this juncture I feel you would be justified in placing one-third of your savings into a diversified group of stocks. Probably 5 issues would give you sufficient diversification to start with.

My first choice would be Standard Oil of New Jersey, biggest and best of the petroleum group. I would certainly include a chemical stock and suggest American Cyanamid or Union Carbide. The former is growing rapidly, partly through diversification into plastics (Formica) and pharmaceuticals (Lederle). Union Carbide is second only to duPont in the field and is in some respects better diversified.

Then I think you should own an electrical equipment and here again I suggest the best of them all, General Electric, leader in virtually every phase of the industry. The office equipment field should be represented and in this area I like International Business Machines which has a very low yield but a tremendous growth potential. Its computing and tabulating machines are probably the most widely used in the world. Finally, I think you should hold a good pharmaceutical stock, well established in the present antibiotics and biologicals and active in research. In this category I like Merck & Co. and Parke, Davis.

TRUE OR FALSE?

If your stocks are keeping you awake nights, sell down to the "sleeping level?"

TRUE. This statement is attributed to the late J. P. Morgan. The story is that he was visited by a friend who said that fluctuations in the stock market were keeping him awake worrying about his holdings. "What shall I do?" he asked. "Sell down to the sleeping point," replied Morgan. The conclusion is fairly obvious and very sound. People who worry constantly about rises and falls in the stock market should not hold many common stocks, since price fluctuations, sometimes very wide ones, are the normal experience for this investment medium. Or, as a better alternative, they should transfer their responsibilities to a competent professional advisor or into mutual funds, and let others do their worrying for them.

If Your Name is PHILIP

BY ANN REYNOLDS, PH.D.

Philip, are you fond of horses? If so, this name fits you perfectly. It is ancient Greek, and means "Lover of horses."

It used to be a highly popular name among the English; this is obvious not only from the many records but also from the many last names evolved from it, Philips, Phelps, Philpot, and others.

Then, in the 16th century, it came to be thoroughly disliked. Why? Because Spain, then the arch enemy, had a king named Philip.

It took Philip centuries to get back into favor. By now it has achieved some degree of success. Most likely it is going to be more popular because of the Duke of Edinburgh, husband of Queen Elizabeth II, of England.

"Philip" turns up in a number of colorful sayings, and these go back to the days of Philip II, of Macedonia, father of Alexander the Great. Much drinking was done at the court of the Macedon Philip, and he was in the habit of making snap decisions when under the influence of wine (they had nothing stronger). Philip was smart enough to review his decisions when sobered up, and that's how the saying "to appeal from Philip drunk to Philip sober" came to mean revising a rash decision made under circumstances when not in proper shape.

"Phillipics" are vicious and passionate orations, and this expression, too, originated because of the Macedonian king. The famous Athenian orator Demosthenes launched ferocious talks against Philip, in order to arouse the Athenians to Philip threatening their liberty.

"I will see thee at Philippi" implies retribution in the future. The words are from Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar," and refer to a town founded by Philip II, of Macedonia he named for himself. This was the place where later Augustus and Mark Anthony defeated Brutus and Cassius, and Shakespeare refers to that battle. The town Philippi was also the scene of St. Paul's first preaching in Europe; he addressed his "Epistle to the Philippians" to the new converts there.

"Philip" was a frequent Greek name in the time of Jesus; among his disciples was one by this name. He hailed from Galilee, and died a martyr. Another Philip remembered in the Bible, in the Acts of the Apostles, was Philip the Deacon, also called Philip the Evangelist, and he is credited with having converted an important official at the court of Queen Candace of Ethiopia. One and one half thousand years later another Philip made his mark in the history of religion, Philip Melancthon, outstanding in the Lutheran Reformation.

HOLLYWOOD (UP) —George Gobel has been in and out-mostly in — of show business since he was 11 years old. That's when he found out that a left-handed shortstop has little or no future in baseball.

"It would be great, if batters went to third base first, but since they go to first base," he said, "that rules out lefties in the position. So rather than try to peg the ball to first while off balance — as any poor lefty would have to do — I decided to let the righthanders keep their monopoly. I figured that show business was the alternate goal for me."

Gobel's current show business release is "I Married a Woman," an RKO film made by Universal-International. As Gobel pointed out, the title doesn't suggest anything very unusual, but he suggested watching the film carefully to learn something about comedians.

"It's a rough business, trying to be funny," he said. "Even in movies, in which it's rare for a complete sequence to be filmed in one shot, you still can see signs of strain. Watch carefully. On television it's even more obvious. You can sometimes see perspiration on someone's brow, and it's not always due to the hot lights by any means."

"Most people have the mistaken impression that a comedian only stands up before an audience and jokes pop out of his mouth, but it's not as easy as that. There are hours of hard work behind every good line and good gag, to say nothing of mental and physical preparation. I lost 22 pounds while we went through the 11 weeks of 'I Married a Woman.'"

Gobel said he wasn't criticizing his business — far from it. He said he just likes to try to correct a general impression every now and then — such as one about a comedian's life being a bed of roses.

"A funnyman's life is rough, I know, but I guess no one forced me into it," he said. "It's also one of the most rewarding as far as I'm concerned, and I love it."

"Besides, my son's Little League team has three righthanders who can play shortstop. They really don't need me."

The nation's first endowed school was opened in the Roxbury section of Boston in 1645 and was named the Roxbury Latin School. It is still in existence.

"Life Begins at Forty"

BY ROBERT PETERSON

SOMETIME AGO I HEARD a retirement lecturer tell an audience, "In just six months time you can become something of an authority on nearly any subject from Aristotle to Zoology." I was inclined to laugh it off as optimistic oratory.

But while vacationing in the Adirondacks recently an incident occurred which convinces me the lecturer was right. It happened one moonlit evening as I was driving past a resort hotel and noticed a white-haired gentleman setting up a telescope on the front lawn. I stopped to join the group that flocked around and heard someone say it was Ralph Emmings "the famous astronomer."

When the instrument was set up and adjusted, Mr. Emmings began talking about the Moon. He had such a broad fund of information and he related it so entertainingly that I had no doubt of his eminence as a celestial observer. He gave us all a chance to squint through the telescope and we got a solid thrill as we saw—many of us for the first time in our lives—a startling close-up of the craters and pits that cover the surface of the Moon.

Later, as Mr. Emmings was putting his telescope away, I introduced myself and asking about his background.

"I used to be a druggist," he laughed. "But when I retired I took up astronomy. I like to browse in libraries and bookshops reading things on astronomy. A few months ago I took a hundred dollars out of my savings and bought this second-hand telescope. When I retired I hardly knew the difference between a comet and a planet, but today people consider me such an expert that they actually invite me to give talks on the subject.

"You'd be surprised how much you can learn about a subject if you give it an hour a day," he said in parting after carefully fitting the telescope into a carrying case. "I've discovered that when you've got a specialty like this you're looked up to by others. Instead of being just another old man you're considered a somebody!"

MR. EMMINGS is right. One of the real problems facing the average businessman is the fact that when he retires he will cease being a "somebody" and will become just another retired man.

Some fortunate folk, such as lawyers and doctors, can continue to practice their professions on a part-time basis in retirement and receive continuing recognition. But when the average person retires from his job as a druggist or clerk or assembly line worker he loses stature in his own eyes and in the eyes of his associates.

Mr. Emmings has apparently licked the problem by finding a new specialty which brings him continuing recognition and a sense of usefulness. His new avocation gives him the fun of browsing through libraries and bookshops looking for books on his subject. There's the opportunity for good conversation with others as nearly everyone is fascinated by astronomy. There are the new contacts he makes whenever he sets up his telescope in public.

INSURANCE IS LIKE A PRESCRIPTION As a druggist, I'm in a professional field where fine accuracies are necessary and I value service in other fields on a similar professional level of ethics and skill. For example, my insurance is handled by a professional insurance counselor. First of all, insurance is a very intricate science unto itself... about as complex, I guess, as pharmacy is for my insurance agent. When I think of the insurance I have to carry, believe me I don't want any "bargain" or "cut rate" stuff — I want PROTECTION and I'm willing to pay a reasonable price for it. My insurance agent saves me plenty simply because he KNOWS his field. He's got the insurance on my store, my home, my car and my personal liability. He's "prescribed" it for me from the best policies of the world's best companies. Like a prescription, compounded professionally, I know it's CORRECT and CORRECTLY PRICED. That peace of mind is worth a lot to me! Published as a public service by... JOE MERRITT INSURANCE AGENCY—Phone 1218 C. L. FINLAN & SON—Phone 2323 MERRIMAN AGENCY—Phone 807 WM. 'Monitor Meeting' Held Here Under Direction of Pursell purifying any church movement was the false pride that prompted the church members to declare that Communism can't get into our group.

Individuals from Chicago, Flossmoor, Ill., Pontiac, Detroit, Livonia and Ypsilanti met at the Masonic Temple recently at the first "Monitor Defense Meeting" in this area. It was held under the auspices of the Committee of 1,000 a national group whose headquarters is in Plymouth and its executive secretary is R. Roy Pursell.

After the meeting the group spent an hour visiting, planning for more meetings in other areas, and enjoying some fresh cider, cookies and doughnuts.

The group met to study material shown on a screen by a projector. It was pointed out that "the greatest obstacle to

Librarians Open 8 Corporations Annual Conference Begun Locally by Junior Achievers

Librarians from public, school, business and special libraries all over Michigan opened the annual conference of the Michigan Library Association, Wednesday, October 23 in Detroit.

For four days, October 23-26, the M.L.A. will hold meetings, hear speakers, and view exhibits, all related to the conference theme, "Growth and Change—The Challenge."

Special features of this year's conference include a story telling festival and tours of the General Motors Technical Center, Eastland shopping center, the Hamtramck public library and the Detroit public library's new Chandler Park branch.

Visiting librarians will have an opportunity to examine library products of fifty firms on the exhibit floor of the Detroit-LeLand hotel.

Warren D. Freshwater

Six firms will be sponsoring eight Junior Achievement corporations in Plymouth for the '57-'58 JA year which started October 7.

Co-ordinator for the Plymouth JA business center at 204 S. Main is Warren D. Freshwater, of Detroit, a staff education supervisor at Chrysler corporation. Freshwater will be responsible for co-ordinating the efforts of the miniature corporations that are manned by teenagers.

In this 'learn by doing' business educational program the teens elect their own company, officers and department heads, manufacture a product or service and sell to the public for a profit.

This year Plymouth Achievers are expected to sell approximately $1,000 in JA company stock to the general public. The capitalization will enable the small firms to buy raw material and equipment necessary to their respective businesses.

Liquidating their operations next May, the Achievers declare a stock dividend to shareholders and send an annual report to those holding shares of the fifty cent stock.

Following are the names of companies sponsoring JA firms in Plymouth this year: Burroughs Corporation (3); American Airlines; Whitman & Barnes; Michigan Bell Telephone Company; Barnes, Gibson, Raymond division of Associated Spring Corporation and Evans Products Company.

Some 150 teen-agers from Plymouth are expected to participate in this year's program.

Now in 36 states across the nation and in Canada, the Junior Achievement organization extends as far west as the Hawaiian Islands and east to Finland. It is expected that some 58,000 Achievers in America alone will be operating 3,600 JA miniature corporations this Fall.

High Grades Pay Off
LEWISTON, Me.—(UP)—Bates College president Charles F. Phillips says that high marks in college usually forecast high salaries in later life. Phillips says studies have shown "a very close relationship" between college grades and later salary levels.

TIPS for TEENS

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Should a girl and boy give up college and get married in the 'teens? This girl wants to do it—

Q—"I am a girl of 17 going steady with a boy of 18. We have gone together since the 10th grade and get along very well. We want to be married next year, after high school. His father will give us a house and he has a job promised to him. My parents want me to go to college, but I want to settle down to a happy life. What do you think we should do?"

Ans.—Everybody isn't suited to college. But if you and your fiance-to-be get good grades in school, you'll probably regret it later in life if you give up college to get married at 18 and 19.

It's not just four years of school that you're giving up. It's a lifetime of advantages that a college education gives — a more interesting, satisfying job for your husband, a higher salary to provide a better living, a nicer home for you and your children and more education for your children. So, even if you're not interested in college yourself, think of others before you both give it up. Your parents have invested 17 years in you; their wishes deserve consideration, too. They want you to go to college because they want the best for you.

Perhaps you're a girl who will always be happy in home-making and won't miss or want the advantages that a college training gives.

But there's a big chance that your husband will be sorry in the future that he didn't get more education . . . and he might even blame you a little for "hurrying" into marriage in the 'teens' or "not encouraging him to go to college when he had a chance."

It's a whole lifetime that you two are planning — so plan on a life-long basis and do what's best "in the long run" instead of following your inclination of the moment. If your love is strong enough to last all your life, it will last for four years of college!

(For help with personal problems, write to Elinor Williams at this paper. As many letters as possible will be answered in this column.)

Woman's Eye View

by Nancy Rigney

Here's some news from Plymouth's collegians — At Montana State University, Edward Miller has begun his freshman year and is majoring in history and political science. A letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ewald Miller, brings the news that he has pledged Beta Delta chapter of Sigma Chi.

At another MSU — a little place in East Lansing — Joanne Pankow was formally initiated into Delta Nu chapter of Phi Mu sorority. Joanne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pankow of Irvin street.

Speaking of MSU — I had my own lofty hotspot behind the goalpost in Michigan Stadium for last weekend's altercation. It was a beautiful day and a beautiful game. I just don't understand how anyone could help but enjoy the afternoon. But many of my friends didn't! One of them, Hank Levering, had a seat on the 45 yard line too, and still didn't enjoy himself. Like I said, I just don't understand . . .

When the action began on the gridiron, a fiercer rivalry broke out in the stands. In our sunny endzone, dominated by State rooters, sat a man sporting a Beat Michigan button and his pretty wife who shook a yellow — excuse me, Maise — chrysanthemum at the oncoming Spartan players.

The couple screamed to their teams and at each other. At an exciting moment for Michigan, the Mrs. shook all the petals off her mum onto the hat of a State fan in front of her.

At Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, Sara Lyn Wesley, 505 McKinley has pledged Delta Zeta. She was one of 451 coeds, mostly freshmen, who pledged Miami's 18 national sororities after a two-week official rushing period and a three-day informal rush.

I had the privilege Thursday to tour the new library, guided by librarian, Mrs. Agnes Pauline. Passer-bys will have noticed the swift progress made on the exterior. The great colonial pillars gleam in white and the aqua shutters are up. Landscaping and sodding are also in progress.

The inside, still in the decorating and carpentry stage, will be spacious and colorful. Slipping behind the bookcases into the new section, the efforts of the paint brush are evident. One wall is "silver moon gray" and the opposite wall is a warm pink. A section of this wall is of natural brick, enclosing a fireplace and a wood storage cove. The fireplace is of limestone and the raised hearth is built on sandstone.

A green wall following the stairway to the second floor, plus a pale pink and a yellow wall form the front entrance. Beyond is a foyer, to be in yellow and gold with sliding-glass display cases.

A 40-foot workroom features birch cabinets and work surfaces and a light green paint job. Marble ledges are at every window in the building. Upstairs aqua and gold is the theme in the largest room and green for the smaller room with an entrance off the roof.

The floors, yet to be laid, will add blending tones to the scheme. Repainting of the older section is scheduled within the next week or so.

All in all — it sure looks good, but I wish they'd hurry up. A preview makes you want to see the whole show.

TWO OF THE Fire Prevention Week slogan contest winners were on hand October 10 to claim their prizes. They were Susan Hayskar, right, who won first prize, and Rosemary Zielasko, second prize winner. They are

Diane Bever Wins Fire Prevention Week Journalism Contest

Journalism students of Plymouth High school competed in a Fire Prevention Week writing contest that was judged by Plymouth Mail Publisher Paul Chandler. They were asked to write about the downtown program October 10.

First prize, $10 in cash, went to Diane Bever, a senior. A $7 second prize was won by Sheila Lorenz, a freshman; and third, prize of $3 went to Sharon Neal, a sophomore.

The following is the winning entry written by Diane:

Turning Autumn leaves set an appropriate scene last Thursday evening when Plymouth firemen, aided by 14 surrounding area companies, presented the annual fire prevention demonstration.

Hundreds of youngsters and their parents milled through Kellogg Park before the parade, admiring booths constructed by fifth graders of the city, or having their pictures taken behind a cardboard setting depicting an engine rushing to a blaze.

At approximately seven o'clock the Plymouth High School marching band led the impressive convoy of half a million dollars worth of fire fighting and rescue equipment.

Participating companies were: Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Wayne, Livonia, Nankin Township, Novi, Superior Township, Canton Township, Detroit, House of Correction, Salem Township, Novi Township, Northville, Michigan Bell Telephone Co., Farmington and the Salvation Army.

The children were especially delighted by Plymouth Township's old engine. And the chance to inspect all the equipment thrilled them even more.

Emergency telephone service was set up from each headquarters to Plymouth, so that if the need should arise, an engine could be dispatched at any time.

The only employment of this service was due to an early Halloween prankster. A Plymouth engine sped off at 7:30 to the High School athletic field where a shack had been set ablaze.

A red nosed clown who had been amusing the children with his antics played the starring role in the water-ball fight. As team battled team he would sneak up on hands and knees and push the ball over to one team's side to the delight of the spectators.

Mayor Guenther, Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay and Chamber of Commerce President Frank Allison offered their congratulations to Lieutenant Paul Albright of Plymouth Township and Sergeant Paul Sanders of the city department for their splendid organizing of the entire demonstration.

The many hours of untiring effort put in by the firemen were for the sole purpose of making the community conscious of the part safety and fire prevention plays in their lives. Did they succeed? One child upon examining a booth showing a hazardous garage exclaimed, "Why that looks like our garage."

Front Row Center

by George Spelvin

Almost a half a hundred people are busily engaged in theatrical enterprises this week. Hal Young, Director of "Desk Set", and Dorothy Smith, producer, are in the process of working with about 30 people to put the first Plymouth Theater Guild production on the boards in November. No one realizes what a task it is to direct and produce a play. Of course, you can always find out by raising your hand or talking real loud in the vicinity of a Theater Guild Board member.

The Workshop just finished a successful second production which involved some 17 Guild members. And lastly, but not least, the Make-Up class has an even dozen members learning the art of aging before their time or vice versa. That "vice versa" should interest "old" George.

Must take a minute to throw an accolade Ann Arbor way. Their local Civic Players' group gave "Teahouse of the August Moon" a couple of weeks ago. Will have to admit that it compared favorably with any professional company. A Mr. Taylor did Colonel Purdy with a set of facial gestures that were priceless. And their Frisby did a top job. If you get a chance, go down to Ann Arbor to see this group. They do a professional job. Their next play "Hateful of Rain" will be given October 31, November 1 and 2nd. This is a powerful play about narcotics and will call for some competent acting. Box office number is Normandy 86300.

Of course, we know you will have your season ticket purchased for the coming three

Newburg News Day-Long Newburg Church Bazaar Slated November 2

On Saturday, November 2, the Newburg Methodist church, Ann Arbor trail and Newburg road (the oldest church in the city of Livonia, having been established in 1834), will put on its annual fall bazaar and harvest dinner. The Women's Society of Christian Service of the church is sponsoring this event which will begin at 9 in the morning and last throughout the entire day. There will be the usual booths displaying all the fine work which the women of the church have been working on all year long. Pillowcases, aprons, baby clothes and stuffed toys. A booth of beautiful handkerchiefs, home-made candies and baked goods, home-canned goods, white elephants, plants and Christmas corsages. All these and many more, too numerous to mention. A snack bar, cake walk and gun shoot will be of interest to adults and children alike. Santa Claus will be a guest at various times throughout the day and will be on hand to greet and talk with the youngsters. A photographer will be there to take pictures of the children visiting with Santa. The jolly gent will reign over a winter carnival of games, planned to suit the small fry, fish pond, duck dip, dart throw, raffle show and balloons. Lots of fun for all. The dinner will be served family style and the ladies are serving turkey with all the trimmings and home-made apple and pumpkin pie. Dinner will be served from 5 to 7 p.m. so make your reservations early.

Mr. and Mrs. Verner Nyman of Laurel avenue, Livonia are pleased to announce the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Eric Nyman of Peoria, Illinois. The little lady was born Thursday, October 17.

Donna Howden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Howden of Joy road, entertained a group of young folks following a hay ride on Saturday, October 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur DeCoster of Ravine drive attended the football game between Michigan and Northwestern on Saturday, October 19 as the guests of their son Dave who is a freshman at the University of Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gantz of Joy road are pleased to announce the birth of a baby girl on Thursday, October 17. Mrs. Gantz is the former Marian Bradell.

The Joy Road Canasta Clan took their annual trek downtown on Saturday, October 19 with the following ladies going: Mrs. Bert Overmyer, Mrs. Raymond Peterson, Mrs. Edward Howden, Mrs. Emil LaPointe, Mrs. Claude Desmond, Mrs. Stuart Claherty, Mrs. Clifford Hocking, Mrs. William Kenner and Mrs. Leslie Durbin. All dined at the famed Topinka's on West Grand Boulevard and then attended the Cass Theatre where they saw the sparkling production, "The Happiest Millionaire," starring Walter Pigeon. Following the show the group stopped for coffee and refreshments at Roem's.

Harry Wiley, proprietor of the Wood's Handy store, Hix and Joy roads, is in New Grace hospital, Detroit, after suffering a heart attack. Cards of good cheer and wishes for a quick recovery would be most welcome at this time.

YOUR HANDWRITING TELLS YOUR STORY

With Grapho Analysis
BY JEAN EVANS

Dear Jean: I have often wondered whether or not a person's future may be told by his handwriting.

Dear PATSY K: Grapho Analysis is a science and there is nothing mystic about it. All the principles have been proved through scientific research. The analyst discovers the facts as they were at the time the specimen of handwriting was made. There are certain combinations of traits that grouped together indicate the potential capacity of the writer but it is not evident in handwriting whether that potential will ever come into physical expression or materialization. Any handwriting expert professing to be able to predict the future by one's handwriting is NOT a Grapho Analyst.

Dear Jean: What can you tell about a person like myself who has different types of writing? When in a hurry I stretch out my m's and n's into practically straight lines.

When uncertain as to what I want to say my letters slant at different angles, but when I want to write nice I can...

AMY LAKEMS

Dear AMY LAKEMS: Everyone's handwriting varies. We never write the same twice. Only a professional forger can make his writing appear to be always the same. You have more or less answered your own question. The stretched out m's and n's indicate speed and inattention to particulars. You are too rushed to take the time to do more than penetrate the surface of whatever is important at the moment. Then at other times when not in such a hurry you take the time to think things out and analyze the facts before making a decision.

Dear Jean: My girlfriend does not chum around with me too much any more. She doesn't get too many dates, so I tried to help but the boys didn't like her. I think she holds this against me. I feel you can't make the boys like her. Please answer my problem. Thank you for your interest.

MILLICENT

Dear Millicent: You can't live another's life for her. You have tried to be a good friend and if she doesn't appreciate it, you've done your part so forget about it. Maybe it bothers you more than it does her that she doesn't date. She

The following is the final installment of what city officials from here and other Michigan communities learned at the annual Michigan Municipal League convention held recently at Mackinac Island.

One of the resolutions which I thought most necessary was that concerning the Municipal Finance Commission. The resolution stated that the Commission recently has gone far beyond the determination of financial feasibility of a bond issue and which action could only be construed as unwarranted interference with the right of cities and villages to conduct their own local affairs, and, in recent months, created undue delay in processing the applications for bond issues for local units of government.

The resolution stated that the governor be urged, together with members of the Municipal Finance Commission and the State Legislature, to take all steps necessary to clarify the authority of the Municipal Finance Commission with respect to the scope of its authority and its approval of local bond issues. As we know, our last issue experienced difficulties heretofore unencountered at the Municipal Finance Commission mainly due to small unimportant details which the new members of the Commission deemed important.

One of the pleasant duties assigned to the writer was that of acquainting two foreign visitors with the operations of the Michigan Municipal League Convention. One of the visitors was Aarne Eskola, director of the Finnish Union of Rural Municipalities. The other was Sixten Larsson, secretary-general of the Association of Swedish Rural Municipalities. Their job compared with the job of our John Huss, Director of the Michigan Municipal League.

The men were very much interested in our own Annual Report, and requested that I send them a copy. They were also impressed with the apparent lack of formality at the opening session of the meeting and that there was a great amount of joviality weaved in with serious considerations.

They were pleasantly surprised to find that our universities work very closely with the Michigan Municipal League and that the League made use of the political scientists available at the university. In their respective countries, the professors, as they put it, "stayed in their chambers" and were not concerned with practical educational curriculum.

The last session concerned that of Conflicts in Local Government—The Urban Fringe Problem. George Deming, director of the Continuing National Conference on Metropolitan Problems, outlined the problem that are faced by the urban fringe. He stated that 70% of the population will be located in metropolitan areas in 1970; that the city dweller has moved to the urban fringe and enjoys so-called rustic or country life, but is soon joined by other of his former neighbors of the central city, and, with the gradual growth of population comes along the demands for rubbish and garbage removal, sewerage disposal and attendant problems. Then comes along the problem of paying for the service, which in many cases, is more expensive than the tax or service charge from which he had fled.

The meeting was one of the best which the Municipal League has ever had. The subject matter was interesting, the successes of the League over the past year noteworthy, and the program for the next year is ambitious.

BARRE, Vt. — (UP) — After months of debate the city council passed an amendment nullifying a resolution which required the city manager to make monthly reports on the location and use of 10 trash receptacles.
