Political, School, Business Leaders Look at New Year

Every year at this time, The Mail interviews key people in the community who can give readers an idea of what to expect during the approaching year. This week we have interviewed Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister, Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay, Mayor Harold Guenther and Chamber of Commerce Manager J. H. Wilcox.

In brief, Isbister foresees a rather normal year. Lindsay expects more action toward installing a water and sewer system. Guenther hopes for a start on a street paving project and Wilcox is optimistic about Plymouth's business and industry during 1958.

The interviews should be of interest to all who live and pay taxes in the community.

School Supt. Russell Isbister

Probably of greatest interest to taxpayers in the Plymouth Community School District is the statement from Superintendent Russell Isbister that the board of education foresees no increase in the tax rate during 1958.

The school district's rate hasn't gone up for several years, but many taxpayers were unhappy when state equalization was added this year which upped their evaluation and tax bills.

Speaking of finances, Superintendent Isbister believes that the state aid fund which pays out $190 per pupil, will not be lowered. It is possible that the fund be in the red, but Isbister expects the state to go into deficit financing in order to meet the formula.

Since the Junior High school opened last fall, the school district has had adequate classroom space, even though it meant shifting some sixth grades into the Junior High. This adequate space is expected to carry through the year, even though another 150 to 200 students will be added to the present 4,215 during 1958.

Filling the enrollment needs will be a new elementary school (now called Elementary School No. 6) that is being constructed in the northwest part of Plymouth Township. It will open in September. This school will take away overcrowding at Starke-weather school and will mean a return of sixth grades to all schools.

The new school will also mean a realignment of some school boundaries, and this always brings problems.

As far as the teaching staff is concerned, Superintendent Isbister sees no sharp movement of teachers out of the profession next year, although there is some recruitment of high school teachers by colleges lately in the nation. There will probably be difficulty in attracting teachers in specialized fields, such as math and science. This has been brought about by the plea for more scientists.

Looking at education on a national level, the superintendent believes that Congress will enact legislation next year to set up a federal system of scholarships. There will be an attempt, Isbister said, to have every youth, regardless of his economic well-being, given an opportunity to pursue his maximum educational potential. This will not only be in science, but in the humanities.

Finally, the superintendent believes that school systems will pay more attention to the spiritual values of living — that religion in education will be given a higher priority.

Chamber Manager J. H. Wilcox

While employment and business appears to be taking a nationwide dip, Plymouth's Chamber of Commerce Manager, J. H. Wilcox, is quite optimistic over the future of the community.

The Chamber is about to embark upon an ambitious program that intends to make Plymouth more alluring for shoppers and industry, and business, in addition to residential development.

Wilcox noted that the former Wall Wire plant will be occupied in 1958, but there is no occupancy of the Daisy plant foreseen at this time. Daisy will leave in the spring.

"We've come to the realization that the economic future of the city and township are bound together," the Chamber manager said. So working together for the past several months have been representatives of the city, township and the Chamber, attempting to coordinate the approach to community development.

Wilcox said that the Chamber's program is divided into three parts: 1. industrial expansion; 2. residential expansion; 3. residential expansion.

Western Electric will open here in 1958, an insurance company will move its main office into Plymouth and Burroughs Corporation is expected to hire up to 1,000 more due to its new expansion program.

In addition, Wilcox foresees greater interest in making Plymouth into a shopping center. "According to a shopping survey made by the U. of M., Wilcox pointed out, 'Shelden Shopping Center hasn't hurt us much. If we work together and exploit the community as a shopping center, we can expect bigger things.'"

It is possible that Plymouth merchants is the Wonderland Shopping Center on Plymouth road that will have Montgomery-Ward as its main store.

Several major stores want to "Colonialize" in 1958.

Looking at parking, Wilcox said that "like money, we never have enough." He said that a committee will be working for additional parking space development.

The Chamber will again sponsor some community-wide celebrations. An Easter egg hunt, tried for the first time in 1957, will be expanded. Then there will be another July 4th celebration and an expansion of the Christmas decoration program.

"I have great confidence in the area" the Chamber manager concluded. "Ninety-five percent should be a good year."

Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay

Carrying on the sewer and water program which just now is getting off the ground is the main objective that Plymouth Township officials have for 1958, according to Supervisor Roy Lindsay.

"We're going ahead with this program and we're going to get it done one way or another," the supervisor declared. But he admits that the job is a big one, especially in the face of difficulty in selling municipal bonds nowadays.

On January 23, the board of supervisors is to discuss the proposal of having the Wayne County Road Commission perform the job of laying sanitary sewer in the township, at township expense, of course. The board has already passed its water and sewer ordinance which accepts the water and sewer system now installed in Lake Pointe Village.

Everything depends upon how easy it will be to sell bonds, Supervisor Lindsay points out. It will probably be necessary during 1958 to have a vote on a bond issue. Voters approved millage several years ago for water and sewer but this could be used only for the Water and Sewer Authority of Plymouth and Canton townships, an organization now virtually extinct. This voted millage cannot be used for any other purpose than for the authority.

Lindsay doesn't expect any large industries to move into the township in 1958, or until the water and sewer service is available.

Looking at roads and highways in the township (all served by the county or state), Supervisor Lindsay says that Sheldon road, from Ann Arbor Rd. to Joy Rd. is to be blacktopped during 1958. He says that the Road Commission someday wants to blacktop the road all the way to Michigan Ave. No other roads are due for paving during the year, according to word received so far.

What about more ordinances? The township passed a lot of them during 1957, including the new zoning ordinance. "It looks like we have about all the ordinances we need for a while," the supervisor asserted.

There will be one new ordinance that the township will hopefully try to pass but it will depend upon the state. Township officials this past year tried to get the legislature to approve a "no hunting" ballot proposal for voters in the township, but a conservation committee of legislators, after flying over the township, declared that the population is still not dense enough to eliminate hunting.

Supervisor Lindsay, however, hopes that if they can't eliminate hunting in the entire township, that a ban could be approved for area east of Beck Rd. The legislature will again be asked to give their approval to an election.

There will be no improvements planned for the township hall itself during the year, Lindsay says, "because all efforts will be directed toward sewer and water." A more elaborate record keeping system will be installed, however.

The township board must also appoint a new building inspector to replace Ernest Rossow who died just last week.

Mayor Harold Guenther

A milestone was reached in 1957 when the sanitary sewer was completed in the city of Plymouth. All the water mains, sewer lines, gas mains, telephone conduits and storm sewers, are for the most part, complete.

Mayor Harold Guenther should turn its attention to the item at the head of the list—paving the streets. The question facing the city commission is the purpose of providing for the street parking lots, at or near future will be the type of the program to adopt.

Shall the city commission, which propose approval by the voters a general obligation bond topped. "The city commission finance and complete the paving project within the next provision of four to five years, or shall itance requiring new businesses eke out money from the annual budget to cover the city's share of the project, which paved," the mayor declared. "The new lots to developed encourage the older businesses."

It is estimated that a small to millage increase, or perhaps none, would be experienced by the taxpayers to pay for the share for intersections, since each property owner would pay for his paving in front of his residence by special assessment spread over a payment period. The city's share could be paid, in main, from savings realized from the maintenance, grading, oiling and extra maintenance required on unpaved streets.

The mayor also says that the city should keep in mind the purpose of providing for the street parking lots, at or near future will be the type of the program to adopt.

It is notable the number of parking lots, privately owned, which are being developed and topped. "The city commission finance and complete the paving project within the next provision of four to five years, or shall itance requiring new businesses eke out money from the annual budget to cover the city's share of the project, which paved," the mayor declared. "The new lots to developed encourage the older businesses."

our traffic safety committee to take up the problem of rerouting traffic, possibly by one-way streets, if necessary, and to consider the installation of traffic lights at locations where it is practically impossible to cross the street because of heavy traffic on the main thoroughfares," Guenther added. Such locations are Wing at Main St., Forest Ave., at Ann Arbor Trail, Harvey St., at Ann Arbor Trail, Fralick Avenue at Main Street and Dodge Street near the City Hall at Main St.

The county advises that it is arranging to install traffic signals on Sheldon Road, both at Ann Arbor Trail and at Penniman. This is a much needed improvement to get the youngsters across the streets to Bird School.

The planning commission is currently working on a master plan for parks and playgrounds in the city. This is an important step in the development of the community. Once the park master plan is adopted, property so designated will be reserved for future park and playground use. Upon application for a building permit, the city commission may then grant it, or buy the property. Of those areas which the city owns, and are designated as parks and playgrounds by the planning commission, the city may not dispose of such parcels of land unless a vote of the electors approving the sale is obtained.

"We have had some improvement in the care of the trees in the city during the past year," Mayor Guenther noted. "We look forward to stepping up the tempo of improving the health of the trees and removing the dangerous ones. We want to provide a tree for each home which does not have one in its lawn."

The city's water consulting engineers have made a study during the past year of the water needs of the city. The city, if possible during the next year, and money is available in the water fund, should begin the installation of the second water main into the city. Future years will see the addition of PLYMOUTH GOODFELLOWS had their biggest job ever this year when they brightened the Christmas of 32 families in the area. Goodfellows collected a record $1,705.40 in their newspaper sale on Dec. 14. This was used to buy complete Christmas dinners, canned food, clothing and toys for the children.

There were 90 youngsters to buy toys for this year. "They were really happy to get it," reported one Goodfellow who helped distribute the big boxes Christmas Eve. Pictured are some of the workers loading up the boxes from Fire Station No. 2. Senior Girl Scouts from Troop 1 helped wrap the gifts.

Entries must be received by The Plymouth Mail before midnight Tuesday, January 7.

Last year's first baby, Kathy Ann Graham, was one of the earliest babies ever to win the contest. She was born to Mr. and Mrs. William G. Graham of 44751 Cherry Hill road, two hours and 17 minutes after midnight. Some years the first baby doesn't arrive until two or three days after the new year.

MANY SPECTATORS thought that this accident victim was due for many weeks in the hospital, but 18-year-old Thomas Caldwell of Plymouth reported from his home that he felt "just fine" yesterday. He was among the more fortunate of those injured in auto accidents over the Purchase of the former Waterford plant of the Ford Motor Co. and of the former Wall Wire Co. plant were two encouraging items in Plymouth's economic news this week.

Haller, Inc. of Plymouth has announced its purchase of the Waterford Plant which has moved its operations this month to Rawsonville near Ypsilanti. The unannounced purchase of the Wall Wire property involves the Gaylord Container Corp. of St. Louis, Missouri.

A Gaylord executive, Gordon Hertset, told The Mail that the company does not wish to comment upon the rumored purchase at this time. "I can't make a statement denying or confirming it," Hertset declared.

The Mail has learned that there has been no actual purchase made as yet, but that the option is being picked up and necessary papers being readied. Although many things could happen to prevent the property sale, it appears certain that Gaylord intends to go through with the purchase.

Conclusion of the purchase and its announcement are expected early in January.

Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay said that several

Canton Township Man Held For Murder Attempt

It appears that a Canton Township man who stabbed a stranger outside a Monroe tavern last week will escape a murder charge. His victim, suffering critical wounds in the liver, is improving.

Joseph D. Pierce, 32, of 6160 Canton Center Rd., pleaded not guilty in a hearing last Friday in Monroe Municipal Court. He is charged with assault with attempt to murder. His victim was Chester Owens, 24, of Monroe.

Monroe police said that the two men got into a verbal squabble in the rest room of the Neighborhood Inn. They had apparently bumped each other and Pierce allegedly called Owens a "swamp hog."

This was followed by a date to "step outside". Owens said that he went out the door first and after stepping outside, turned around and was promptly stabbed.

Owens, in Monroe Hospital, is now out of critical condition. Pierce is being held under $3,500 bond pending examination Jan. 7.

During the same evening, Pierce's sister, Mary Ellen, was arrested in the tavern for being intoxicated while a brother, Clarence, 40, was arrested for driving while intoxicated.

Mary Ellen was fined $15 while Clarence was fined $85 and given 10 days in jail.

Waller Wire had 175 employees when it moved out. There was no speculation how many hours Gaylord Container would employ.

More definite is the purchase of the abandoned Waterford plant of the Ford Motor Co. on Northville Rd. Haller, Inc., now located at 684 Ann Arbor Rd., has announced that it has bought the plant and 11 acre site, but has not made plans concerning use of the factory.

Haller uses its present building in the city for sales and engineering, but cannot do any manufacturing because of zoning restrictions. The machines designed by the firm are made by companies both in the United States and Europe.

Among the machines sold by Haller, Inc. are those that utilize powdered metal, carbon, ceramics, pre-forming plastic. They also make hydraulic testing machines, blending and mixing equipment.

The property sale took place last Friday. Haller now employs 16 people and if the firm enters the manufacturing line, presumably would employ many more.

The company is owned by John Haller of Northville, who opened the local firm four years ago. Before this he owned the Allied Products Powdered Metal Parts Division of Allied Products in Northville, a plant that recently burned down.

Holiday is Not All Goodwill, Police Discover

Christmas time is not all giving, according to a look at the Plymouth police department blotter during the past week.

Among the meanest people in town are those who steal outside Christmas decorations. Christmas lights were reported stolen from two homes on Evergreen and another on Sunset. DPW Superintendent Joe Bida caught two boys taking lights from decorations in Kellogg Park.

At the Clyde Blunk home at 8815 S. Main, a choir boy decoration that took many hours of work to make was stolen.

In the Daisy Manufacturing parking lot last week, at least three cars were broken into and some items taken. It even looked like they were trying to take the steering wheels.

Behind the Penn Theater, a Livonia driver had the top of his convertible slashed. The culprit then opened the door from inside, broke into the glove compartment and took a transistor radio. At the Junior High, three windows were broken Monday night by stones.

Injuries Spoil Holiday for Some

Auto accidents brought unhappy holidays to thousands in the nation, some of them in the Plymouth area where at least a half dozen mishaps caused injuries.

On the afternoon of Christmas Eve, Thomas Caldwell, 18, of 285 East Ann Arbor Trail, was injured when his car rolled over on Edward Hines Drive, just south of the Plymouth Rd. overpass.

Caldwell, who is suffering a twisted knee and head abrasions, told sheriff's officers that another car had forced him off the road, causing him to lose control. He was going west.

The car rolled over into a Warren Broge, 46700 Judd inlet paralleling the Rouge Rd., Plymouth, told sheriff's River. It lay in a foot of water. Officers said that he "was thinking Caldwell, unconscious, was going about his work" and fell taken from the car by Plymouth police who handled the train. The engine hit the right rear end of the car, causing heavy damage.

Broge escaped serious injury but was taken to Wayne County General Hospital for treatment.

On Thursday, a car driven by Jenny Warren, 3995 Joy Rd., stopped on Joy Rd. for a school bus. Her car was struck from behind by a car driven by Brenda Barron, 1549 Elmhurst.

Sheriff's officers said that James Dyer, 61, of 407 S. Mill, riding in the Barron car, received head injuries and was taken to Wayne County General Hospital.

Two young people were

The Sack, No Veils, Queen's Visit — All Part of World of Women for 1957

They call this the "Frantic Fifties." Maybe they're right. Certainly the year 1957 was frantic. Hydrogen bombs replaced atom bombs. Satellites out-paced inter-continental missiles. Dictators replaced dictators. And the sack replaced the shape in women's fashions.

Looking back it was a year of many accomplishments in many fields for women. In Morocco, a woman wrought a change which shocked the Moslem world. No more veils, announced Princess Lalla Aisha to her countrywomen, breaking a tradition that had stood for centuries.

Eleanor Roosevelt, former First Lady, pushed aside the Iron Curtain to report on social work, health and welfare programs inside Russia.

The Queen of Britain came, saw and conquered the hearts of many Americans in October. She brought her handsome husband, Prince Philip, along and many a housewife wished—for a moment—that her man were as dapper.

In September, a young girl named Dorothy walked into a high school in Montgomery, Ala., her head held high. But she was beaten down. She left school, but others in other parts of the country followed her lead. Thus began the process of integration in 1957.

Mrs. Dorothy Le Masiere, Duluth, Minn., proved the endurance of womankind. She emerged from 19 grueling days on a mountainside, starving, sun-whipped, but still alive. A plane crash had claimed her husband and left her stranded.

A woman doctor in Philadelphia claimed to have isolated the multiple sclerosis virus.

The year had its sadder side. Death came to Mrs. Grace Coolidge, wife of the late President; to Betty Falkner Henderson, New York's uninhibited society leader; Virginia O'Hanlon Douglas, whose letter to the New York Sun in 1897 inspired the immortal "Dear Virginia" editorial.

The women made big strides in the world of sports. Althea Gibson, who first learned tennis on Harlem streets, smashed her way to the singles tennis championship of the United States and to the top of the heap at Wimbledon, England.

Florence Chadwick, America's long-distance swimmer, ploughed through the Bristol Channel from England to Wales.

Women did more than dabble in politics. Irene Dunne of the movies made a new kind of debut, as a delegate to the UN general assembly. Golda Meir, Israeli foreign minister and native of Milwaukee, traveled the world as her country celebrated its 10th year of independence. The women in Switzerland won the right to vote. And Jessie Wilson did what few wives of cabinet officers would dream of doing—she stood up to the President of the United States. This came about because her husband, then secretary of defense Charles E. Wilson charged that the National Guard had been a haven for draft-dodgers during the Korean war. Well, the protests were long and loud, and at his news conference, President Eisenhower called the State-ment unwise. He then coupled it with praise for Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Said Mrs. Wilson later: "I think the President should have stood back of Mr. Wilson instead of spending his time commenting on how wonderful Foster Dulles is... I think you need a pat on the back once in awhile."

It was a busy year for Dan Cupid, although one of his famous earlier works fell apart. Actress Ingrid Bergman announced her separation from the Italian movie director, Roberto Rossellini.

Married were two of the Dionne quintuplets; Elizabeth Taylor and Mike Todd; New Jersey's governor Robert Meyner and Helen Stevenson; crooner Bing Crosby and starlet Kathy Grant; actor Marlon Brando and a Welsh-Indian beauty.

The stork brought heirs to the throne of Monaco and Todd-A-O. He also visited Margaret Truman and her husband, newspaperman Clifton Daniels.

The women established some firsts in '57.

Two airlines stewardesses became the first women to fly into Antarctica, when they were assigned to a commercial flight taking military replacement into the frozen south. One disgruntled airman complained they had ruined his record—one more week, and he would have gone a year without seeing a woman.

Britain's House of Lords engaged in a battle of the sexes. Lady Astor was one of those demanding that women be allowed to become peers. Lord Argyle insisted women were no good in politics. The girls won, naturally.

In fashion, the big news of the year was the birth of the sack look and the death of Christian Dior, who for 10 years dictated styles for women from Calcutta to California. Dior's heir apparent to the Paris distastorship was his protegee, Yves St. Laurent.

The sack, or chemise, got a send-off in Paris collections last fall, and immediately swept the American markets. U.S. designers promptly claimed they'd been making the beltless chemise for the last decade.

The Russians' sputniks also were reflected immediately in fashion. Lilly Dache produced an array of satellite hats, some of which practically took off from the head. And the jewelry industry also went on an outer-space kick.

The Bayeux tapestry, 11th century work depicting the Norman invasion of England, is 20 inches wide and 231 feet long.

MRS. JANE WEST'S third grade at Bird School decided to find out how other children in the world observe Christmas, so they planned an imaginary plane trip to 14 countries. Parents were invited to the "flight" last week. Countries are represented by a child who told of customs in that country. From left are Bobby Wellman, Eddie Jones, Diane Reamer, Linda Aluia, Nancy Ellis, Cindy Potter, Paula Scalingi, Linda Steenken and Leslie Lechner.

From South America to Europe — Two Years of Travel for Beatrice Schultz

Mrs. Beatrice Schultz returned to Plymouth for a short visit recently after spending two years of leisurely travel in South America and abroad.

Her hand-loomed Irish tweed suit and neck scarf printed with landmarks of London bespoke her travels. She regretted not wearing the bracelet to which she attached a charm from each country she visited.

Mrs. Schultz resigned as Plymouth's assistant postmaster two years ago to lead a life of carefree travel. Her first stop was Lima, Peru, for the specific purpose of escaping the northern winters.

It was in Lima that she turned the tables on those who talk about the "language barrier"—she taught the Peruvians English. She was employed for three months at the American-Peruvian Institute.

She stayed the winter in Lima and spent some time in Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo. The urge to move on caught up with her in Brazil, and she sailed to Rotterdam, Holland. From there she proceeded to England immediately where she spent three weeks.

Mrs. Schultz then embarked on a one-year tour of the continent. She toured the Scandinavian countries, Switzerland, Austria, Germany, The Netherlands, stopping where she pleased as long as she pleased.

The only guided tour she took was in Sweden. Feeling that one misses too much on the beaten path of tourists, she stayed in residential hotels.

Her second winter away from the states was spanned by a five-month stay in Palma de Mallorca, Spain. During this time she took a trip to the southern French town of Algeze to seek the remains of her grandmother's family castle. The family name, for which the village was named, has since died.

Restlessness was treated with a Mediterranean cruise, winding up in Sicily for three weeks. She then traveled up through Italy, stopping at Naples, Rome, Florence, Milan and Venice, on to Geneva, Switzerland, and to Paris for a week. She left the continent to spend the summer on the British Isles, where she enjoyed an extensive tour of Ireland.

Leaving the old world behind, she set out for the U.S. in October. She spent a month with her son and family in Boston before returning to Plymouth. While here she still stays with the Fred Thomas' of Blunk street.

Next stop: Indianapolis, Ind., where she spent Christmas with relatives and on to California, where she plans to make her home and visit with her daughter and family who live in Santa Rosa.

About her travels... well, they leave wonderful memories, of places and new friends. A typewriter, not a camera, recorded her impressions. Carbon copies were sent to her friends during her travels. Her daughter is compiling them for a scrapbook which will be waiting for her when she reaches California.

As for a favorite country—there isn't one. There was something about every country to be enjoyed as well as disliked. Many a spot had damp, foggy weather, but friendly inhabitants or the historical sights more than made up for it.

Yes, she liked them all, but she admits she felt a few twinges of homesickness and still feels that the U.S.A. is the best place to be.

Pursell, U of M Prof to Debate United Nations

A debate on the United Nations will take place at the Lions Club meeting next Thursday night at the Mayflower Hotel. The meeting is also a Ladies Night.

Debating the subject will be R. R. Pursell, of Plymouth, a member of the club, and Inis L. Claude, associate professor of Political Science at the U of M.

Prof. Claude is the author of a recently published book, "Swords into Ploughshares, the Problems and Progress of International Organization." He was former associate professor of political science at the University of Delaware. He also taught at Harvard and left in 1956 for Delaware. He is new at the U of M.

San Francisco's Embarcadero, heart of the city's thriving maritime industry, derives its name from the Spanish term for "landing place" and is 3.5 miles long.

Boy Safe After Eating Poison

In later years James P. Callis probably won't remember Christmas Day 1957 and a ride he took to Wayne County General hospital, escorted by a detail of Plymouth police and Wayne county sheriff's department cars.

"Jimmy", the 14-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Callis of 14520 Northville road, ate rat poison. After receiving a few shots and having his stomach pumped, the boy was released.

The cause of it all was a cookie coated with rat poison which "Jimmy" happened upon while crawling along the floor.

Township firemen answered a call Christmas Day when Craig Ramseyer, 3, of 9284 Morrison, was believed to have swallowed a whistle. An older brother had said that Craig had swallowed the 3-inch-long wooden whistle and a neighbor doctor said that the boy showed no ill effects. But later, the whistle was found under the sofa and the Christmas again became happy for his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ramseyer.

Cherri Truax of Garling Drive spent last weekend with her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moynes of Detroit. The Moynes were guests of the Truax's on Sunday evening.

Doris and Jim Sponseller had Jean and Jack Scott, Joyce and Al Truax, and Lorraine and Joe Quinlan in last Thursday evening for a very lovely Christmas party. Unique hors d'oeuvres, Christmas cookies and traditional punch were served.

The spontaneous round robin party which developed among some of the neighbors last Saturday night turned out to be quite a party. Joyce and Al Truax had the Jack Kelleys of Turkey Run and the Joe Quinlans of Garling Drive in for a cup of Christmas cheer. Diane and Bill Stang had the Dick Papes of Jener Street and the Harold Kendalls of Parkview Drive. Eventually everyone wound up at the Stangs where they all had Christmas cheer together.

Senator Potter reports

... the latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan ...

At this most blessed season, the wintry Washington sky, star-spangled, unfolds the golden dome of the Capitol. From the air, Washington is an illuminated wheel, her avenues spoking out in blackness from the brilliant hub of the Capitol. One sees the fairy-tale panorama twinkling below, but always the eye returns to the center, the massive old columned building where Lincoln walked, and Churchill came to call, and Daniel Webster's glorious sentences still seem to echo down the arched hallways.

As I sit at my desk in the historic Capitol building, my Christmas thoughts are very simple. I am mulling over a list of the presents I should like to give this year, most of them destined for folks back home in Michigan. The gifts I have in mind may take some months to deliver. Indeed, they will require hard work with no 100 percent assurance that they can materialize. But if I had my way, Michigan would receive:

JOBS — for the 200,000 able men and women who, through no fault of their own, find themselves without work. I am pushing hard to get the Jupiter missile into production. This would open thousands of jobs in Detroit and Warren, spreading work to smaller businesses throughout the State.

NATURAL GAS — for the Upper Peninsula. I am again urging the Federal Power Commission not to let legal technicalities stand in the way of the growth of the UP. Natural gas is needed to develop industry up there. It is needed for national defense. I intend to keep after it.

LOW TOLLS — to attract commerce to the St. Lawrence Seaway. Rates must be cheap to be competitive. I am watching toll negotiations closely.

HIGHER FARM INCOME — My bill to develop new uses for farm surplus through research will open markets for farmers. I am hopeful that it will receive favorable action in 1958.

ORPHANS — Quite a few Michigan couples already have adopted boys and girls, orphaned by war in the far corners of the world, under my recently-passed amendment to the immigration laws. We're working to admit others.

OLDER CITIZENS — My bill to set up a Commission to study problems of the aging and aged has been stymied by the majority party. I am hopeful that they will see fit to act next year.

PEACE — based on military strength. Under the quiet Christmas sky, the Capitol seems to be waiting. In a matter of days, Orate! Somehow the chosen leaders, working in these timeworn walls, will hew a course for the nation. Christmas is the time to think of what that course should be. In solving the problems which face us today, we shall need the guidance of those principles which for almost two thousand years have led the way from darkness to light.

A slope from the head to the foot was a feature of beds in the 12th and 13th centuries.

by Carl Peterson

Well, another year's about to wind up. There were flare-ups around the world, and in some cases tempers were shorter than peach fuzz. The big noise in '57, of course, was Sputnik, followed by Muttnik. Then Vanguard cracked up like a dropped egg... and if all the resulting verbal fireworks had been stored in a rocket, we could travel to Mars and have fuel left over.

However, I'm glad it's still worth noting that Milwaukee cut the N.Y. Yankees down to size in '57... and Notre Dame erased the memory of last year's season by handing Oklahoma its first defeat in four years. Ike's illnesses made headlines... and so did his recoveries. Churchill celebrated his 83rd birthday. In Monaco a Princess was born... and the royal heads of England made a successful visit to the U.S. All in all, it was quite a year... but hang on to your hats. Here comes 1958!

Every time you start thinking things are tough... just imagine yourself as a mail carrier around this time of year. Feel better now? Here's hoping there'll be nothing to keep you from feeling at your best, in this holiday season and right on through 1958. We're always anxious to help you and your physician to maintain good health for all the family, at all times of the year. Let us fill all your doctor's prescriptions...

Rocks Romp Over Allen Park To Gain 3-Way Tie in League

previous game this season. In the first quarter Captain Jim Dzurus and Ken Knipschild contributed four points each, Bill Hubert six and Eddy Egloff two to give Plymouth a 16-6 lead after the first eight minutes.

Dick Oreno, giant Jaguar center, showed an effective hook shot as he scored the only two baskets for the visitors in the first quarter. In the second quarter more of the Rocks found the range. Aiding Knipschild and Hubert, who scored six and four respectively, were Dave Walaski, Jim Dzurus, Myron Hopper, Ed LaRoche with a basket each and Don Alsbro with two baskets. Oreno added six of the ten Allen Park points in the second quarter and the Rocks led 38-16 at the halfway point.

Bill Hubert and Ken Knipschild scored all 17 points between them in the third quarter as the Rocks outscored Allen Park 17-9. While holding Oreno scoreless in the final quarter, four of the Plymouth players who did not start the game, accounted for 16 of the 18 points. Wade Schultheiss worked his way loosely the clear for two good set shots. Myron Hopper added three baskets to bring his total points for the night to eight. Ed LaRoche added another basket and Ron Turckett scored two in the final quarter. Randy Egloff scored his second basket of the night in the last quarter. Oreno's place in the scoring column was taken by Miles who clicked on four set shots for eight of the 15 points.

Individual high scorer was Bill Hubert with 19 points. This gives him a 15.5 average in conference games. He was closely followed by teammate Ken Knipschild who scored 16 to give him a two game average of 20.5.

Evidence of the accuracy of the marksmanship was manifested in the statistics. The Rocks scored on 42.5% of their shot—a very commendable performance.

For Allen Park, Oreno scored 15 points and Miles eight to lead their scorers. Ker Egger, all-star end, who scored 22 points against Belleville the week before and none against Plymouth, was heard to mutter after the game, "What happened?"

Braders Ties Up Second Place In Men's Basketball League

In the last doubleheader for 1957 in the Men's Recreation basketball league, Braders defeated Taits 69-51 to move into a tie for second place with them. Contractors Machinery had to rally in the late stages to chalk up their sixth consecutive victory with a 59-52 score over C. R. Ely & Sons of Northville.

S. L. Braders started early to defeat Taits. They led at halftime 41-26 as Lufts scored seven baskets and Keating six to account for most of the first half points between them. For Taits, Poteau and Howe were the leading scorers with 13 and 12 points.

Why Lions Game Won't Be Videoed

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — watched on television in their living rooms." Sen. Charles E. Potter R-Mich. telegraphed Bell that since the game was a sellout "Detroit fans are entitled to watch their team win the national pro football championship."

Bell, acting after receiving pleas against the TV area ban from Democratic and Republican leaders in Michigan, said, "that's been our policy for 12 years and it will continue to be our policy, no matter if the game is a sell-out, or if it's a playoff or a championship game."

"I don't think it is honest to sell tickets to thousands of people then afterwards, when all the tickets are gone, to give the game to television," Bell added.

"We don't believe in taking the people's money for a game that they could have

The senator added that he might ask the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee of which he is a member, to look into the possibility of restricting such TV blackouts.

Bell answered that a U.S. District Court judge here ruled that the NFL could impose the TV home area ban.

Room in Skilled Job Due in 60's and 70's, Magazine Says

A massive demand for workers in nearly every type of occupation and industry will come with the U.S. economic boom in the 60's and 70's, predict the editors of Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine. In a copyrighted article in the December issue of the magazine, the editors state that 10,000,000 jobs will be added to the work force by 1965, another 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 by 1975.

The well-educated and the highly skilled will have greater opportunities than ever before. Semi-professional and semi-skilled workers will be in heavy demand, too. And openings will abound at all levels for women, for part-timers and for older employees.

In manufacturing, employment will be up 28% in 1965, 56% in 1975. The fastest growth will be in the manufacture of transport equipment, machinery, metal products, and chemicals. The heaviest employment needs will be for semi-skilled machine operators, including women, and for salespeople, managers and technicians.

New industries developing during the 60's and 70's will mean new jobs. One large company expects that 80% of its output ten years from now will be items not developed today.

In the atomic energy field, jobs will multiply with a strong demand for chemists, nuclear physicists, mathematicians, biochemists and nuclear and other kinds of engineers.

Many semi-professional technicians will be needed for inspection and decontamination teams.

Electronics manufacturing will require thousands of new engineers, draftsmen, office workers, as well as skilled and semi-skilled plant workers.

Plastic-products manufacturing, a relatively new industry, will hire faster than most other industries. Most openings will be for inexperienced workers who will be trained on the job.

There will be a big rise in construction where most jobs will be filled by craftsmen and other skilled workers.

Jobs in the wholesale and retail trades will swell 45% by 1975 with work at that time for more than 19,000,000 people in sales, clerical and managerial positions.

Demand will grow in local and state governments for all kinds of teachers, nurses, engineers, office help, policemen, postmen, and skilled workers.

In the finance, insurance and real estate fields, jobs will increase by 80% in 1975. Nearly half the employees in this field are women.

Growth in the professional occupations has been three times as fast as for the rest of the work force, and swift expansion will continue. Biggest needs will be for teachers, engineers, natural and physical scientists, technicians and medical people.

In the clerical and sales occupations, the demand for new well and a water softening station, unless the water program of the metropolitan area is such as to assure the city of a constant, steady supply of water.

The mayor also expects the city to improve the policing of the plumbing installations for the better health and safety of the community and to eliminate hazards to the water supply. The Township of Plymouth and the City of Plymouth are joining together to hire an inspector who will be closely identified with the communities and may follow up the policing of plumbers who slip into the city, do a job, and slip out again without receiving proper inspection. It is indicated from records that only half of the plumbing jobs in the city apply for inspections of the state plumbing inspector.

It is the aim of the City Commission to keep Plymouth's prominent position as a leading community in social and economic progress by encouraging cultural activities and maintaining a healthy climate for business and industry in order to balance the tax base which will lighten the tax load upon the residential

Precise Kissing

NEUCHÂTER, Switzerland - (UP) - If you want to kiss someone exactly at the start of the New Year, wait until three-thousandths of a second after the stroke of midnight. That's the advice from Swiss International Geophysical Year scientists who explained that the slowing rotation of the earth around the sun would delay the start of 1958 by about three-thousandths of a second.

Port Huron Plane Crash Subject of Investigation

PORT HURON, Mich. (UP) — Ralph Brudy, general safety director of the Civil Aeronautics Board, will investigate the crash of a light plane near Baker Airport.

Robert Bristol, 33, manager of the airport, was killed in the accident Tuesday night. The plane crashed shortly after Bristol took off.

Charles Carr, owner of the plane, had operated the craft only minutes before Bristol tried to take it up.

The government investment in farm price supports in the U.S. dropped 11 per cent in the fiscal year that ended June 30, 1957.

Seventeen of the 33 presidents of the U.S. have visited Newport, I. I., while in office.

Who's New In Plymouth

Appointment to State Y.M.C.A. Brings New Residents from New Hampshire

Brought to Michigan as the newly-appointed associate state secretary of the state association of Young Men's Christian Associations, Roger H. Blood and his family have chosen Plymouth as their home.

It's a long way from their native New England, but they are glad they came — and that they picked Plymouth
The Blood family consists of Roger, his wife Esther and their 11-year-old son Clinton.
The Bloods are native
Vermonters who have lived in Maine and New Hampshire in connection with his work with the Y.M.C.A.
His last name was Keene, N. H., where he was the general secretary for the past five years.

Previous to this Blood had been on the state staff of New Hampshire as associate secretary. He also was the camp director of the state Y.M.C.A. camp in Vermont. It was from this experience that he left teaching to become associate state secretary of Vermont in 1940. In 1943 he saw military service for three years with a wealth of experience with boys. He organized the Indian Guides in Maine and New Hampshire;
directed many statewide youth conferences and organized districts and clubs.

He received his college education from the State Teachers College in Castleton, Va., and at Springfield College in Springfield, Mass.
In Michigan he will be responsible for Youth Work in the state and will give guidance to various phases of adult work. The Hi-Y, Tri-Hi-Y, Legislature and Youth in Government programs will be under his direction.

Blood was selected by a special committee appointed by the state chairman.
It was at the suggestion of several of the committee members and John Lent, state secretary, that the Bloods looked into Plymouth as a possible home.
They pointed out the school system and the closeness to the Detroit office as advantages.

The Bloods are an active family, filled with enthusiasm about Michigan. They are anxious to try out the ski slopes and see the Upper
bies being family camping, they hope to cover a lot of the state in the near future.
The New England influence in their home at 900 Elm-hurst is invaded by a large map of Michigan. Lacked up on the back of a door, they can check unfamiliar names of cities and counties any time.

In keeping with the New England theme, Mrs. Blood is working on a large multicolored braided rug for the living room. She has been active in the Farm Bureau, Grange and P.T.A. activities.
The walls of their home reveal another of Blood's hob-
are serene countrysides and the famed lobster sheds along the coast of Maine.
As for Clinton, he has quite a collection of pennants lining two walls of his bedroom as souvenirs of various places he has visited.

Former Plymouth resident Stephen C. Hathaway, Jr., has been appointed manager of public relations for the Intercollegiate Broadcasting Service, a network of more than 50 college stations in 31 states.
He has been on the faculty of Miami University of Oxford, Ohio since 1951, most recently serving as director of radio and television for the school. He will continue on the staff of the university in his new position.

Broadcasting Service To Be Managed By Former Resident

His father, the Rev. S. C.
Hathaway is a former minister of the First Presbyterian church of Plymouth. Rev. and Mrs. Hathaway have lived in Battle Creek for the past 12 years.

Bible Comment: Power and Prestige Count for Little In the Soul's Work

WHEN Christ spoke to Nicodemus, He evidently sensed that elements of questioning and doubt were still in his mind. He recognized that despite Nicodemus' sincerity, his religious conceptions were somewhat formal. Immediately Christ startled him by saying, "Unless a man be born again, he cannot see the Kingdom of God."
Nicodemus was frankly puzzled. We speak of the new birth today and understand fairly well what it means. But it was decidedly a new concept to Nicodemus. He had probably grown up in a conventionally religious way and was probably content to follow that way without considering very much the redemptive power of religion and the need of its application in transforming lives.

YOUR HANDWRITING TELLS YOUR STORY

With Grapho Analysis

BY JEAN EVANS

Dear Jean:
Would you please analyze my handwriting? I'd like to know what makes me tick. I'd like to improve myself. Please don't spare my feelings.

Ethel Langerot
Dear Miss Langerot:
The ability to concentrate on intricate matters is very evident in your handwriting. You like doing anything and are able to keep your mind on your business regardless of outside distractions. This may be paper work, bookkeeping or delicate fancy work if you are interested in that type of activity. There is some evidence of creative ability and also imagination along material lines. You have the determination and persistence to complete that which you start.

Dear Jean:
Can you tell by my poor handwriting why I am so unlucky in getting employment? I've tried so many places but they take my name and address and phone number. My application which they no doubt throw in the waste basket because that's the last I hear of them.

JUST WORRIED
Dear JUST WORRIED:
You are a person who is easily influenced. You yield to other's opinions and decisions. You must learn to stand on your own feet, make our own decisions, then stick by your convictions. You aren't quite sure where you stand or what you think. This causes your prospective employer to doubt your ability. You are a changeable person; a person of various moods. It would do you well to take inventory of your attitudes and actions to determine just what kind of an impression you do give. When you will look at the evidence squarely and see yourself as you really are then you will be able to get your life in order. There is always hope of improvement when and IF you want to improve. You alone must make the decision then work toward the goal you set.

Dear Jean:
Just to satisfy my curiosity, I would appreciate an analysis of my handwriting. I'm interested in comparing your results with what I feel to be true about myself.

Dear S.L.W.:
There is simplicity and directness indicated by your handwriting. You like simple decor, plain or trailored clothes, probably prefer plain or dark clothes instead of prints or plaids. If a girl, you will likely prefer the simply designed jewelry instead of the fancy, flowery, fussy kind. If you like jewelry at all. If a man, you would prefer the sombre, less flashy attire. There is appreciation of music, also the ability to sense or fore-tell events. You are loyal to what you think is right. You will defend your family, friends, ideas or convictions.

Dear Jean:
I have enjoyed your column and would like to have you tell me about my writing.

M. Wilson
Dear M. Wilson:
You expend a lot of energy in everything you do. You are also capable of enthusiasm and optimism. You are always looking for ways to improve yourself

Charles L. Gehringer will again act as Wayne County campaign director for the 1958 March of Dimes. # Dozen Attend B-G-R Old Timers Party

Barnes Gibson Raymond Division of Associated Spring Corporation held its Old Timers' Party at the plant near the Mayflower Hotel recently at the plant and y. Many of the retired employees of the division attended the party which began at 9:30 in the morning.

The retired employees arrived at the plant and spent the morning talking with their fellow employees and fellow retirees. Many warm welcomes were seen in the plant, after which the employees went to the Mayflower Hotel for a luncheon with the executive group of BGR. After the luncheon, the Old Timers returned to the plant to spend more time visiting with the employees.

Many of the retired employees are spending their leisure time in constructive leisure activity such as part-time jobs and self-employment in their own homes. Many of them spend much of their time fishing and hunting and enjoying the many recreational facilities in and around the state.

The oldest retired employee present was Vincent Kowalczyk of Detroit, who is 80 years old. He said that he spent most of his time "working around the house and sleeping late." Earl Moore, who lives in Plymouth, and who retired this year, said that most of his time was spent in "learning to live with himself."

Under the Christmas trees around town multi-colored packages no longer remain unopened and mysterious. The gifts have been removed from the boxes and they cast a silent glow and radiance all their own since these presents are another form of our love for each other.

What's under the Plymouth Theater Guild's Christmas trees? What's in that big, long box? How about that sticking by the fireplace? Is that a spotlight at the bottom of the tree? Hope it is for the Guild can use some extra spotlights to light their productions more adequately. Let's hope that some of the packages contain the following: some dimmer equipment so that light changes on stage will seem natural and not operate with a hand switch; a small auditorium to seat about 400 people; a new headquarters where rehearsals can be held, scenery painted etc.—Hal Young would like to untie the strings on this box; 50 or 60 new members for the Workshop group or the Guild itself; new cloth curtains as backdrops for the high school stage instead of those atrocious, sad plastic droopy drapes; and 200 additional season ticket holders.

If we had 200 more season ticket holders, the total count would be in the 400 bracket. This bracket would be a comfortable one. In other words when all the smoke cleared away the Guild had sold some 200 people on idea of buying three plays in advance. With "The Desk Set" as an established hit, the customers are eagerly awaiting the second play of the season in February.

Dr. Ford Sutherland, chief X-Ray man at the Garden City Hospital and proud owner of the fast growing grass on Byron Street in Plymouth, has been chosen by the Theater Guild Board of Directors as the person to stage "Double Door." Betty Houghton was selected as producer for this production. Ford tells me that a casting call will be issued soon after the first of the year. Make a New Year's resolution early to the effect that you're going to get over to the "outs" for "Double Door." Twelve excellent character parts are up for grabs.

High School drama class presented "Why The Chimes Rang", a Christmas play, for the students last Friday. Featured in the cast were Bob Wall, Jim McCabe, Dave Thrasher, Brenda Foreman, Sue Horvath, Dave Missener, Carol Wohlgemuth, Larry Lane and Larry Cole. Plymouth High drama director Robert Southgate staged the one act play and hopes that this is just the beginning of short plays for future assemblies. Old George is in accord with this idea. The more drama experience given to the young folks the better.

Rosemary Kooiman, program chairman of the Plymouth Theater Guild, informed me the other day that the annual Christmas party will be held on December 28. Party will hold forth out at the L and J Ranch, near the wide-open spaces of the Chevrolet plant that you see from Plymouth road. Admission to the event is one dollar for all the packages no longer remain unopened and mysterious. Theater Guild members and their guests are cordially invited to Entertainment in the form of dancing and a floor show will be featured. Several satires of former one act plays done earlier this year should provide some happy moments. "The Violent", "The Pick-Up", and "Of Human Bandage" are the bizarre titles of the three sketches. The humor in these three items will be rough and ready so come prepared to guffaw.

BROADWAY CHATTER: Two plays have opened in New York that you will be hearing a great deal about in the next few months: "Look Homeward, Angel" and "The Dark At The Top Of The Stairs." "Look Homeward Angel" is adapted from the novel by Thomas Wolfe and all the fire, intensity, and drive of the Wolfe prose style has been captured in the stage. Read the book to prepare yourself for this stage play and eventual movie. Tom Wolfe was a dedicated writer, a bit prolix and verbose at times, but always an inspired author. He died young as many of great writers do.

"The Dark At The Top of the Stairs" is the fourth hit in a row for Bill Inge. His type writer must have golden keys by now. As in "Picnic" Mr. Inge is back to his favorite family situations which have effective audience identification. His latest play concerns a quarrelsome family who finally learn to live together in peace and affection when they stage. Best of the things they have in common are deeper and stronger than the things that separate them. This play is intensely moving and will be one to put on your must list.

Time to head for the box office. Better check up on the cash available prior to the coming rush of that mass of swirling, whirling big white January bills. See you next week with a set of New Year resolutions. Merry Christmas.

PACKING HOLIDAY boxes for Plymouth servicemen are members of the MOMS, Mrs. Bertha Knupp, Mrs. Agnes Rollins and Mrs. Mildred Kushler. Packages were sent to all servicemen from Plymouth stationed in the states or overseas.

Plymouth High School

Along with wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, congratulations are in order for Ray Green, who was named one of the finalists in the National Merit Scholarship Program. Ray is one of the 7,500 semi-finalists which makes him a part of one-half of one percent of the nation's high school population. It is not too broad a statement to say that everyone is very proud of this achievement, and we're all wishing him the best of luck.

Janet Spigarelli and Alfred Spigarelli (they're cousins) were named "Best girl and boy citizens, respectively," of the Class of '58. Janet and Alfred modestly and accepted the honor with grace and pride. Because a portion of this program is sponsored by the DAR, Janet will be placed in State competition where she will be given the opportunity to continue to National competition.

Nancy Eaton was the top salesman at a banquet at the Hotel Statler for all top salesmen of classes who purchased their cards from the same company. If you want to seal Christmas cards, you'll sure know who to draft into the service.

Seniors! All aboard for Mackinaw, via boat from Chicago to Detroit. Seniors are urged to begin their savings for the trip which will cost $48.95. Another project undertaken by members of the senior class is the one concerning announcements. Danny Hargrove, Marty Shoemaker, Mary Harper, Bill Schmidt and Mike Stickney

Grange Cleanings

There was a splendid attendance at the Grange Christmas party and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves. The committee for decorations had certainly done a good job and the result was very pleasing. The program, as arranged by Worthy Lecturer Bessie Salow, was fine. The youngsters who took part did very well. The appearance of Santa Claus came which was, of course, the highlight of the evening to the little folks. Everyone received a gift. Baskets of popcorn balls, candy and apples were passed.

Our next meeting comes on January 2, so everyone should turn over a new leaf and attend the Grange. The new members are doing fine so far. It is our usual potluck supper night you know. So bring your dish to pass. Our big party is coming very soon now. It is a roast beef dinner and there will be plenty of good things to eat. We are hoping for good weather and a good crowd.

Mrs. Louise Hutton is spending the holiday season with her daughter and family in Williamston. Mary Murray from the Mayflower hotel is spending a few weeks in Florida. Mrs. Leilia Buttes is out of the hospital now, but as she still needs care she is staying with her neighbor Mrs. Blair.

Remember the date of next Sunday, December 29 — the anniversary party at the home of Hilda and Kenneth Lunn, from 2 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. Their Grange friends are all invited. For further information, call Louise Tritten, 431-R or Milly Rienas, 1037-J.

The longest presidential inaugural address was made by William Henry Harrison in 1841. It was 10,000 words.

Okra was introduced to the United States by African slaves, who in their native land called the plant Kingombo; the word was later shortened to zombo or gumbo and thence became the name of any dish thickened with okra.

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

A Delicate, Frozen Dessert — Mousse

For a light dessert to top off a casual meal or add an elegant touch to a formal dinner, the answer is Hawaiian Mousse. The third hour home economics class at Plymouth High school was treated to the pineapple mousse Wednesday, December 18 at the international luncheon.

Making the mousse were Beverly Bonney of 14401 Ridgeway road and Ruby Grady of 8841 Oakview.

Mousse means 'moss' in French and is so-called because of its spongy consistency. The original basic foundation is sweetened and flavored whipped heavy cream. To this may be added cooked or raw fruit. A little gelatin is often added as a stabilizer.

This is the recipe used by the girls:

- Hawaiian Mousse
- 2 cups crushed pineapple
  - 24 marshmallows
  - 2 tablespoons water
  - 1½ pints heavy whipped cream

Drain pineapple well. Add water to marshmallows and melt over hot water. Cool and fold into cream. Stir in pineapple. Turn into freezing trays in refrigerator and freeze 2 to 4 hours or until firm. Approximate yield: 2 quarts.

Mousses may be packed in large or individual molds or frosted or scalloped paper cups. They can also be served in chilled glasses. The refrigerator tray may be lined with ice cream and filled with the mousse.

Mousses are not limited to pineapple but are also tasty in peach, apricot, burnt almond, strawberry, cherry, chocolate, coffee and vanilla flavors.

PLYMOUTH HIGH students Beverly Bonney, 12th grade, and Ruby Grady, 11th Grade, set out a dish of Hawaiian Mousse for their home economic classmates to taste. It is a light dessert featuring pineapple and whipped cream that is easily frozen in refrigerator trays.

Woman's Eye View by Nancy Rigney

From Phoenix, Arizona comes word of former Plymouth residents, the Carl Groschkes. Mrs. Groschke, known professionally as Evelyn Woods, opened an engagement at the Valley-Ho Resort Hotel December 21 with her husband, featuring their instrumental quartets. She reports that Valley-Ho is one of the most fabulous of Western inns.

A pianist and teacher, she was active in the Plymouth Symphony for many years. She is now newly-established in Scottsdale, Ariz. Groschke is familiar to Plymouth as the former owner of the Plymouth Music Center. He is now operating his own musical instrument repair service.

They wish all their Plymouth friends could share the beauty of the Arizona Valley of the Sun, which they describe as "warm, expansive and inspirational."

Among the 108 college students packing off to Mexico City for the winter quarter will be Ellen R. Cowgill of 12718 Beck road and Carole A. Partridge of 8768 Territorial.

The girls both attend Michigan State University, which is one of the six universities in the annual cooperative project with Mexico City College. Also participating are Ohio State, Kent State, Baldwin-Wallace, Ohio Northern and Miami of Florida.

Most of the students will travel by special busses arriving in Mexico City on January 3. Once there, they will take accredited courses that will be recognized by the schools entering the program.

Township Board Manual Readied

"The Michigan Township Board," a handy pocket-sized manual just published at Michigan State University, should prove to be of value to citizens interested and involved in local government.

The manual details township board powers, duties, modes of procedure and parliamentary rules in an easy-to-read outline for ready reference.

The manual does more than just examine existing legal dispositions. It reflects an examination of how actual legal rules are being applied in Michigan. It combines the law, traditions and day-to-day practices of the boards.

D. Hale Brake, president of the Michigan Institute of Local Government, and William D. Dennison, secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Association of Township Supervisors, participated in the project. Many township board members were interviewed.

"Township offices generally are not full-time jobs," Mr. Brake pointed out, "so people holding them normally do not have time for extended research and reading. The most useful function of this manual will be to provide a simple and direct statement as to what boards can and cannot do in reference to definite problems, such as cemeteries, parks and fire service."

Copies may be purchased for one dollar from the Government Research Bureau, Morrill Hall, M.S.U., East Lansing, Mich.

Nathan Hale was executed as a spy by the British, on Sept. 22, 1776.

Aliens Must File Address

Walter A. Sahli, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service estimated today that 166,000 aliens will report their address in the district during January, under the Federal Alien Address Report Program.

The Immigration official said that 165,000 aliens reported their address during January, 1957.

All non-citizens, except those in diplomatic status, foreign representatives of certain international organizations and those admitted temporarily as agricultural laborers, are required to file the address report.

Any alien who willfully violates the address report requirement may be fined up to $200, imprisoned for 30 days, and deported.

In addition, aliens who are not in the United States during January must report their address to the Service within 10 days after their return.

Address report cards will be available at the Immigration Service office at 3770 E. Jefferson Avenue, Detroit, Michigan, Port Huron, Michigan, and Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, and local United States post offices beginning January 1, 1958.

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Brillhart are spending the holidays with relatives in Syracuse, Utica and Ithaca, N. Y.

School Money Worries

BY ELMER E. WHITE

MICHIGAN'S SHORTAGE OF DOCTORS, dentists and other medical personnel was underlined in a report submitted to the governor by a 24 member commission he appointed to look into the matter.

Wilbur J. Cohen of the University of Michigan School of Social Work, who is chairman of the committee, reported that this state, which ranks 10th in wealth and personal income, ranks 35th in its supply of physicians.

National average is one doctor to each 1,761 residents, said Cohen. Michigan has only one doctor for each 2,000.

National average for nurses is 259 per 100,000 people, Michigan has only 200, his report showed.

Only sound solution to the situation seems to be the graduation of more doctors. Cohen's report urged that facilities for medical training be expanded rapidly at Wayne State University, where a minimum expenditure would permit an increase in student load, and the early construction of a third medical school in the state.

EDUCATION HAS BECOME Michigan's top political and practical problem.

It will come into sharper focus during the 1958 session of the legislature when schoolmen and lawmakers will seek solutions to problems which are largely financial.

Interwoven into the money issue is the new emphasis on education as a cold war weapon for the nation.

Sputnik makes its point even before it becomes an important military weapon.

Republican legislators estimate that education costs through high school grades, the area covered by the school aid formula, will cost $41 million more next year.

It will take that much to make up a $2 million to $6 million deficit in the school aid fund this year. Another $14 million is needed because of an expected 70,000 student enrollment increase and to replace the $25 million raised this year only by cigarette and liquor taxes.

Legislators feel that the liquor and cigarette taxes, levied as an emergency maneuver to guarantee schools $190 per student this year, cannot be extended beyond the June 30 expiration date.

The sales tax revenue is down from last year, further reducing the automatic two cents on the dollar spent which goes to the schools. The third cent goes to the state treasury.

Demands have developed for a greater emphasis on science subjects since the Soviet Union launched its Sputnik, the earth satellite.

Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, told one group that the Russians are concentrating more on physics and mathematics in the high schools than the United States does.

His answer is more money for schools, higher salaries for teachers and a re-assessment of curricula.

Dr. Samuel M. Brownell, superintendent of Detroit schools, calls for governments on all levels to determine who has the responsibility for improving schools.

He said that the Federal government, the states and local committees "all are pointing fingers at each other," demanding more participation and more help without attempting to solve the problem themselves.

Higher education also will be asking for more money and help this year.

Both the University of Michigan and Michigan State University state they need more if they are to provide the education in science and other fields that students need.

John A. Hannah, president of MSU, said the institution needs help if it is to "achieve the near-miracle the American people expect of us."

HOUSE SPEAKER George Van Peursem is urging the legislature to work as a "non-political unit" in solving Michigan's "economic climate" dilemma.

He pointed to the industries which have left the state in the last year, claiming they could obtain a Utopia of lower taxes and lower labor costs elsewhere.

Van Peursem, in the forefront of the campaign to blame the loss of jobs and industry on Williams, urged that the legislature start picturing Michigan as a good place to do business.

"We have an almost-unlimited water supply, good transportation and other factors," he said.

"He's Still Very Young"

WHAT ADAMS DID. The "dictatorial" role of Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams was made more obvious during the early hours of President Eisenhower's stroke in late November.

It was Adams' decision to keep the nation and the world in the dark for nearly 24 hours about Ike's "mild stroke."

But more significant, it was Adams who barred Vice President Nixon from seeing the President for more than 40 hours after Mr. Eisenhower was ordered to bed.

Later, Adams was angered when Nixon took it upon himself to act as a White House "spokesman," giving extensive interviews to the press outside the Executive Mansion.

Talk is that should Nixon succeed to the presidency, Sherman Adams would be the first staffer to go.

"WILL IKE RESIGN? This question will persist for months to come. Best guesses are that Mr. Eisenhower will continue to keep more responsibilities and authority on Vice President Nixon through 1958. Then the President may step down after the '58 elections — unless he suffers a major health setback before that time.

BUDGET QUESTION MARK. You'll be hearing all sorts of theories about an "upwardly-adjusted" national budget for '59 in view of emphasis on the missile race.

Evidence still points to a possible five billion dollar increase in federal spending over the previous year.

Defense costs (now $38 billion a year) will be stepped up to almost $42 billion. Foreign aid, school construction will add to the swelling budget.

NOTE: The budget request to be submitted by the President in January will call for spending of approximately $73 billion — about $2 billion more than sought last year. However, spending estimates will be gradually increased during the year — to beyond $75 billion.

IKE AND HIS DOCTORS. Word from inside the White House is that President Eisenhower has been becoming less receptive to doctors' orders.

Within days after he was stricken, he declined to take rest naps suggested by White House Physician Dr. Howard Snyder. Those who visited Ike said he acted like a "caged lion" over being confined.

Meanwhile, dosage of anti-coagulant drugs has been stepped up.

DISABILITY QUESTION. At least three new bills will be introduced early in the session of the next Congress aimed at clearing up the question on how a vice president may take over in the event a President is disabled.

However, the proposed laws — and the one now pending — will not be enacted in the estimation of several congressmen.

Reason: It's impossible to define what "disability" really is.

Miscellany. Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles is the man responsible for our missile program under Secretary Charles Wilson, is expected to resign about March (by request?)

Cass Hough Interviewed in Ark.

(From the Little Rock, Arkansas, Democrat)

Rogers — This city has bagged one of the state's richest industrial plums, but not because of cheap labor.

Neither is there any indication that Daisy Manufacturing Co. chose Rogers over some other Arkansas city because Rogers has no school integration problem, as has been intimated by another newspaper.

According to Executive Vice President Cass S. Hough, the Daisy firm will relocate here from Plymouth, Mich. because northwest Arkansas "offers the best economic climate for Daisy."

Hough, a decorated World War II flyer who is extremely candid for an industrial executive, branded as "a lie" the charge by Michigan's Governor Mennen Williams that Daisy wouldn't pay a living wage.

"There's not a firm in Michigan paying a higher (average) wage than Daisy," he said. "We're not looking for cheap labor. If we were, we could get it cheaper in many other places."

"But (in Michigan) we could no longer afford people who give a half day's work for a full day's pay. We just got lost in the shuffle among the big automobile plants."

"We're a small town business. We grew up in a small town and we belong in a small town."

As for racial troubles affecting Daisy's choice of Rogers over other Arkansas cities, Noel Bouliware, secretary-manager of the Rogers Chamber of Commerce, said this city had been negotiating for the big plant "about three years." That was long before the Little Rock Central High School episode.

Hough said some newspaper accounts of the Daisy relocation had included a lot of misinformation.

He was here for a symbolic ground breaking at the plant site yesterday afternoon and to speak at the chamber's 36th annual membership banquet in Kirksey Gymnasium last night.

About 600 persons were at the banquet which welcomed Daisy to Rogers, including many officials from other northwest Arkansas cities. Banquet speakers included Governor Faubus; Dave Grundfest, Little Rock, president of Sterling Stores and a close friend of Hough; G. Don Thompson, retiring president of the Rogers chamber, and Ivan Rose, the chamber's incoming president.

Hough said Daisy made a preliminary survey of northwest Arkansas several years ago. He said he personally "fell in love" with this section but didn't trust his own judgment. He hired an engineering firm, which "took a long and expensive look at all of the south and southwest sections of the nation."

The engineering firm finally recommended that Daisy relocate somewhere in a small strip including a part of northeast Texas and a part of Arkansas.

Hough, traveling incognito, spent two weeks in cities of this section talking to average citizens.

"I dressed in sport shirts and slacks. I talked to people in drug stores and on the street. They didn't know who I was."

"I was impressed by their friendliness. They spoke well of neighboring towns, the opposite of Michigan where owners put a knife in each others backs. Our country has lost its friendliness in all the bustle of big industry."

If I had to pinpoint one basic factor that brought us here, it would be the attitude of these people who I talked to incognito."

Hough said air rifles are the big product for Daisy. But the plant also turns out 25 tons of BB shot per day and Hough said it, in addition, is the world's biggest toy gun naker.

At Plymouth, Daisy employs 700 workers. Last year it did a $10 million business and made a "pretty good profit," Hough said.

Before the war, he said, average tenure of Daisy workers was 19 years. Many are past retirement age because "we don't subscribe to the theory that after 65 a man is no good."

The plant here should be in production by next May. It will have 225,000 square feet (five acres) under roof.

The Rogers Industrial Development Corporation is building the $1,200,000 layout which Daisy will purchase over a period of years. Denver Murray, a retiring chamber director, said Hough had indicated local interest will be completely repaid in five years, although the contract is on a 15-year plan.

Hough said Daisy already is planning several expansions. He said within five years, the payroll should reach 1,000 workers. About 60 per cent of these will be men.

"Because we will have room here, which we don't have in Plymouth," Hough said Daisy is planning to:

1. Begin manufacturing molded plastic parts, now being purchased in Texas to the tune of $2½ million annually.
2. Add injection molding to its operation.
3. Put in its own die casting plant to eliminate an outside expense of $500,000 annually.
4. Begin production within five years of corrugated boxes to package its products.

Both Faubus and Grundfest urged Rogers citizens to give Daisy all-out co-operation because, as Grundfest said, other industries are watching the Daisy venture into Arkansas.

Hough said 60 to 70 workers, all top management and supervisory personnel, will be moving here. "Adopt these people like your own or they may become dissatisfied and move, and Daisy can't operate without them," cautioned Grundfest.

Faubus said the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission now needs $4 1-2 million to finance plants for 10 industries which want to locate in Arkansas.

Glaze a Ham Steak for New Year's Eve

Whether you expect a large or small group at your home New Year's Eve, you'll want to plan some festive but simply served refreshments. Ideal for the occasion is baked ham, cheese and rye bread.

If you're going out for the evening yourself, you can prepare the supper beforehand and then invite friends home with you. You may want to bake and glaze a ham steak rather than a whole or half ham if the group is to be small. Here's how to do it.

Glazed Ham Steak
1 ham steak (1 1/2 to 2 inches thick)
Whole cloves
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon horseradish
1/2 cup beet

Score fat edge of ham slice in diagonal criss-cross grooves about one-inch apart. Stud with cloves. Place in a shallow baking dish. Combine sugar, mustard, horseradish and beet. Pour part of mixture over top of ham slice. Use remaining portion to baste ham during baking. For ready-to-eat ham, bake covered at 325 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes for a 1 1/2-inch slice or 30 to 40 minutes for a 2-inch slice. Then uncover and continue to bake until brown. For cook-before-eating ham, bake covered at 325 degrees for 1 to 1 1/4 hours for a 1 1/2-inch thick slice or 1 3/4 to 2 hours for a 2-inch slice. Uncover last 15 minutes to brown.

One of the birds was awarded to his wife, who fired his .38 caliber service revolver for the first time in her life. Mrs. Schneider received a score of 45. Her husband got 33.

Try These Carving Techniques

Men, the time has come to take up the knife and carve the New Year's ham! Do you know just how to battle that beautiful cut of meat? Better review these rules of ham carving before the zero hour. Know a little about the anatomy of the ham. The bones get in the way if you don't know where to expect them. A bit of investigation while the ham is in the kitchen will help.

For easy carving, be sure that the ham has been out of the oven for at least 20 minutes before the meal is served.

Before the ham is brought to the table, cut a lengthwise slice from the side of ham opposite the meaty or cushion side. This forms a flat base on which to stand the ham for carving from the cushion side.

Place the ham platter on the table so that the shank or narrow end of the ham is to your right, and stand the ham on the cut side.

Now the ceremony begins! Hold ham firm with a carving fork placed through meaty part of ham.

Make first cut straight down to bone a few inches from shank or narrow end. Then cut and remove a wedge of meat near shank end, thus exposing the previous cut.

Use a firm cutting motion with the blade going as far as possible into the meat with each stroke. Do not saw back and forth.

Slice from right to left, cutting to the bone and making enough slices to serve all guests. Then loosen all slices at once with one "spectacular" horizontal cut along the bone. (Can't you hear the sighs of wonderment from your guests?)

Convention doesn't forbid your standing up to carve, so if it's easier, stand up. How much to serve and when to offer second helpings are left to your good judgment.

By carving the ham with ease and confidence you'll spread an air of genial hospitality around your New Year dinner table.

Note to the Ladies: Be sure to cook the ham to the correct degree of doneness. If the ham is overdone, it's difficult to slice.

Use a light hand on the garnish, and give the carver plenty of platter and elbow room.

Keep the conversation going while the master carves, for few carvers like to have the complete attention of all while carving.

Corn Bread, Bacon Make Gala Brunch

Easy feasting at a holiday brunch—turn to Corn Bread with Bacon. It takes just a few minutes to mix and only 20 to 25 minutes in a hot oven at 425° F. when presto— piping hot corn bread is ready for a festive brunch.

Reba Stags, meat expert and home economist, states that this particular corn bread recipe attains fashionable stardom because of the bacon bits and chopped parsley distributed throughout.

The flavor complement for this bread could be lemon butter or honey.

Corn Bread with Bacon
8 slices bacon
1/2 cup bacon drippings
1 cup sifted enriched flour
1/2 cup sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup yellow corn meal
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 cup milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten

Grease a 9x9x2-inch baking pan. Cook bacon until crisp. Break into small pieces. Reserve 1/4 cup bacon drippings. Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Stir in corn meal. Add bacon pieces, parsley, milk, eggs and bacon drippings. Stir just until dry ingredients are moistened. Pour batter into baking pan. Bake in a hot oven (425° F.) 20 to 25 minutes.

That's Service!
WALTHAM, Mass.—(UP)—Soldier James Martin had 10 doctors and 10 nurses to serve him on the last day prior to the closing of Murphy Army General Hospital. Martin was recuperating from a broken leg when he found himself the sole patient.

About $3 billion worth of school rooms will be built in 1957. Meanwhile school officials estimate an additional one million students will enroll next September.

Choose Starches to Fit the Need

There's a starch on the market to suit every taste—crisp, heavy, pliable or light, says Bernetta Kahabka, extension specialist in clothing at Michigan State University. Both vegetable and plastic starches are available to give body to washable fabrics. Some starches also add a glossy finish that makes washable fabrics easier to iron. You may want to try different kinds of starch to find the one to give the effect you want.

Hot water and cooked starches come in powder, cubes and crystals. They usually tend to add more body to fabrics.

Pre-cooked, instant starches used with cold water are convenient. They dissolve fast and stay dissolved.

Plastic starches may or may not be permanent. Some types are sizing agents which dissolve in water and come out in each washing, bringing soil with them.

Permanent plastic starch penetrates the fabric and is set by heat as you iron the garment. Depending on the brand, the finish will last from 5 to 10 or more washings.

You'll find some plastic starches available are made to give garments body but not stiffness. These work well on dark cottons.

To keep the dark, rich color of dark cottons you can add bluing to any pre-cooked or plastic starch. No matter what starch you use for dark colored cottons be sure it's completely dissolved for satisfactory results.

With any starch follow directions on the package and be careful not to overstretch.

When Fresh Remove Stains

During holiday meals your table linens are apt to get stained. If you treat stains while they're fresh, they'll be easier to remove, points out Bernetta Kahabka, extension clothing specialist at Michigan State University.

Candles used in a centerpiece may drip on the tablecloth. If they do, scrape off as much wax as possible with a dull knife. Then place the stain between two clean white blotters, cleaning tissue or paper towels and press with a warm iron. Change the blotters as they take up the stain and become soiled.

After wax is absorbed sponge the spot with carbon tetrachloride or other grease solvent. If a color stain remains, sponge with a liquid made of 1/2 denatured alcohol and 2/3 water.

For meat juice or gravy stains sponge the spot with cold or luke warm water. Then launder in warm soapy water.

Lipstick may appear on napkins. Loosen the stain by rubbing petroleum jelly or glycerine into it, then launder.

Most candy stains can be removed by laundering the article in warm soapy water says Miss Kahabka. For chocolate, scrape off excess with a dull knife before washing. If a stain remains use a sodium perborate bleach and rinse thoroughly.

Here's a Way to Eat Your 'Apple-a-Day'—for Breakfast

One good way to fix them is to fill the centers of each apple with orange marmalade before baking. If you're a calorie-conscious breakfaster, you'll especially appreciate the recipe given here. It recommends that you use dietetic orange marmalade which has a low calorie count of just 1-1/2 calories per teaspoon. Then, you further whittle calories by sweetening the apples with a non-caloric sweetener, rather than with sugar. Just with the help of this sweetener, you save nearly 100 calories in every serving!

An apple a day? Whether you believe the old adage, or not, help yourself to some good eating by serving Marmalade Baked Apples at breakfast soon.

Marmalade Baked Apples
8 medium-sized red baking apples
2 tablespoons sweetener solution
2 cups water
1/2 cup dietetic orange marmalade

Core apples and pare a thin strip from around top edge. Combine sweetener and water and bring to a boil; if desired, add a few drops red food coloring. Place 1 tablespoon of marmalade in each apple; place in liquid in baking pan; bake in a moderate oven (350°

F.) for about 45 minutes. Baste occasionally with the liquid.

Makes 8 servings. Each serving contains 79 calories; 0.4 gram protein; 0.5 gram fat; 20.4 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each serving would contain 176 calories.

Striped Scarf

Simply send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for Striped Scarf leaflet.

Eat a Good Breakfast

You'll be happier, you'll be healthier, you'll have more pep—if you eat a good breakfast.

What is a good breakfast, you say? A good breakfast includes a fruit, a main dish, a breadstuff and a beverage.

Fruits start the day with a good supply of vitamin C and minerals. Your body can't store vitamin C, so a daily supply is necessary. Oranges, strawberries, grapefruit and tomatoes are especially high in this vitamin.

Hot or cold cereal, eggs or meat are good breakfast main dishes. They supply the protein and keep you from getting hungry before noon.

Choose whole wheat or enriched bread or rolls for added vitamins. Use enriched flour or mix for making pancakes or waffles. Both hot and cold cereals are also available in the enriched form.

The City Manager's Corner

By Al Glassford

The Wayne County Road Commission advised recently that in the next few weeks traffic signals for the intersection of Ann Arbor Trail and Sheldon Road, and for the intersection of Penniman Avenue and Sheldon Road will be installed, in order to control traffic better at these locations.

Since Sheldon Road has been paved to M-14 from Rthville, the traffic volume increased tremendously. The Eastern Electric Company will begin its operations about January 1959, and about 600 employees will be going either north or south on Sheldon Road.

The Bird School adds to the problem of traffic control, since quite a number of parents find it necessary to drop the children off at the school, and quite a number of students cross the streets at both intersections.

The main function of traffic signals is to apportion time for vehicles and pedestrians to cross. They are not safety devices entirely. Even though you may have the right of way, you are still responsible to see that it is safe for you to cross.

Our downtown traffic signals need modernization, too. Driving southerly on Main Street, approaching the hotel, one cannot see the signal to make a right hand turn. The erection of new signals at Penniman and Main and at

New Books at County Library

"The Gracious Lily Affair" by Van Wyck Mason—Authentically re-created settings of Bermuda are the background for this suspenseful mystery.

"Fires on the Plain" by Shohji Ooka — A haunting novel about the ultimate degradation and isolation of a man by war, set in Leyte when the Japanese army was disintegrating under the blows of American landings during World War II.

"When the Bough Breaks" by Otis Carney — A vigorous, perceptive novel about the new class of Americans, organization men, and the obsession with security which has driven so many of them into submission to the demands of big business and fashionable suburban living.

"The Enchanted Love" by Ruby L. Radford — The story of a spoiled New York girl on vacation in South Carolina.

"Sard Harker" by John Mansfield — First printed in 1924, this novel is acclaimed as being a novel written with verve and salt telling of a sailor traveling the seas in quest of a girl he met and loved years before.

"The Twelfth Step" by Thomas Randall — The uncomplicated philosophy and calm spirituality is seen in the role which Alcoholics Anonymous plays in the lives of the characters.

"The Use of Riches" by J. I. M. Stewart — A beautifully told and superbly rounded novel of tense emotion, set in London and the Italian countryside.

"Deeds of Darkness" by Blair Ashton — The tale of a fashionable gentleman who leads a double life as a daring highwayman in 1720.

"Shield of Honor" by Alice Walworth Graham — The 13th century struggle in England to gain and hold government by representation is revealed in the book of knights, battles and stirring loves.

"The Gift and the Giver" by Nella Gardner White — The story of a possessive, strong-willed woman's unwitting domination of those she loves.

"North of the Market" by Arthur Foff — Caught to life are the look and feel of the sea-washed, foggy San Francisco, moving from comic to sad and hilarity to tragedy.

"The Gallant Mrs. Stonewall" by Harnett T. Kane — A historical novel of Anna, wife of Thomas "Stonewall" Jackson.

"The Prodigal" by Josephine Lawrence — A modern novel full of excitement and anxiety of American life, the problems of old age and young love.

"Ring Around Her Finger" by James L. Summers — A sparkling, perceptive story told from a husband's point of view with whimsical and humorous undertones.

TIPS for TEENS

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

You often complain about your parents—"They just don't understand"—but do you ever try to understand them?

You'll have a happier home life . . . more fun and more dates, too . . . if you end the cold war, the big battles or arguments that rage between you and your parents. How? Understanding them better is the first step. This will lead to a better relationship with more "give and take" on both sides.

You maintain that you're not a child any more and you're right. Your parents know, though, that you must gain new social experience and dating know-how gradually to avoid trouble and they're right, too.

After all, they're on your side. They love you more than anybody else does and have vested 13, 14 or 15 years in your loving care. They can be mistaken sometimes, but they're always for you, not against you.

When they say "No" it's for our safety, health, happiness or reputation . . . they're trying to protect you from trouble, disaster or unpleasantness that you can't foresee yourself, because you haven't yet had the experience to know what could happen as a result of some of the things you want to do.

For example your parents said "No" to keep you out of deep water when you were little . . . until you learned to swim and they knew you'd be safe in it. You didn't know then that you could drown in deep water, but they did. See what I mean?

It's the same now. They want you to begin dating, driving a car, staying out later gradually (in "shallow water") until you gradually gain social know-how . . . not plunge right into the "deep water" of dating, fast cars, older boys, parking, necking, late nights and bright lights without knowing how to cope with various people and situations.

Your parents want you to learn about dating gradually for long-term safety and happiness, not because they're "against" you.

While quietness is a basic regulation every teacher attempts to enforce in their classroom, there is one class at Plymouth high school where a good pair of lungs and lots of physical action are sure signs of success.

The class is taught by a former PHS cheerleader who is making sure that in future years there will be plenty of talent competing for the cheerleading jobs.

Every Saturday morning, a group of 50 fifth and sixth grade girls assemble in the gymnasium of the old junior high gym to learn the techniques of cheerleading. They come from Starkweather, Bird, Allen, Smith, Gallimore, Our Lady of Good Counsel and Cherry Hill schools.

Responsible for the unique class is Miss Joan Bassett, who last June graduated from Plymouth High school after being a cheerleader four years. She originated the idea and with the help of the Adult Education and Recreation department headed by Herbert Woolweaver, got the class going in October.

The class was an immediate hit. The girls from each school compose a team and each team selected their own colors and designs for outfits. They then made their own outfits with the help of their mothers.

Between 9 and 11 a.m. on Saturdays, the small gymnasium is alive with enthusiasm. Each team leads a series of cheers while others do the yelling and cast a critical eye.

Joan decided to start the class because she knows how hard it is for girls who try out for cheerleader. Most girls never had cheerleading experience because there is no place to get it.

Besides this, the class serves another purpose, Joan points out. "It gives the girls something to do. Boys this age can let off steam by playing basketball, but there is no program for girls."

Any girl in the fifth or sixth grade can join the class. But, of course, the big majority will never be cheerleaders because there are only seven who hold that position in the high school.

Despite the noise the girls can make during the course of their cheering, Joan finds that they are really good girls to handle. "If they weren't, I never could do this alone."

It is not known if the class will continue in future years, but if student enthusiasm has anything to do with it, the class is here to stay.

THERE ARE ONLY seven varsity cheerleaders, so most of the 50 in the class will be eliminated if they try out for the job when they reach high school. Only fifth and sixth graders are in the class held every Saturday morning.

Alarm Money
MILTON, Mass. — (UP)—Firemen responding to a false alarm discovered $27 in bills stuffed into fire box 32. Police figured that somebody inadvertently set off the alarm while trying to hide the money.

Excise taxes brought the government more than $10,500 million in the fiscal year that ended June 30.

"Stop quibbling, Alice. The country desperately needs future scientific brains!"
