

New Year Brings On Big Elections

This will be a big election the "big" election of the year for Plymouth residents. The town of Northville, being a part of the state political scene, will have a U. S. senatorial election on Jan. 13, 1958, and a U. S. congressional election on Jan. 14, 1958. In addition, there will be a school board election on Jan. 13, 1958, and a township election on Jan. 14, 1958.

But there will be some action locally when the school district holds its annual election in June. There also may be a bond issue for Plymouth Township voters to consider during the year and township officials are hoping to also have increased from five members to seven members. Terms of office must also be changed from three years to four years. To set this in motion, one seat will be changed for three years and changed to four years when it expires in 1961, while the other two vacancies will be for four years. Nominating petitions must state whether the candidate is seeking the three-year term or four year term.

After this year, all terms will be for four years. In 1959 there will be two vacancies, in 1960 two vacancies, in 1961 only one vacancy and in 1962 two vacancies. That will be the cycle.

It is expected that Canton Township residents who are in the Plymouth Community School District will take an active part in the election this year. They have shown great interest in the recent school elections and last year were unsuccessful in placing a resident on the board.

Plymouth Township people, according to Supervisor Roy Lindsay, may be faced with a bond issue during the year to finance a sewer system. There is nothing definite about this, however. And Plymouth Township officials will again try to persuade the state legislature to allow them to place the no hunting issue on the ballot. Last year the legislature denied the request because of the lack of urbanization of parts of the township.

During the next five months, candidates from around the state will be tossing their hats into the proverbial ring on both the state and county levels.

All nominating petitions for all jobs must be filed with county clerks by June 17.

In Wayne County, all jobs except that of auditor will be on the ballot. This includes prosecuting attorney, sheriff, clerk, treasurer, register of deeds and train commissioner.

On the state level, the spotlight will be on the state mansion where Governor Williams will again be deciding whether he will again run. Those familiar with the Lansing scene speculate that Williams will seek another term and then turn his attention to the White House in 1960.

But besides his vacancy, there will be two other school board vacancies. Last year voters decided to change the school district from a fourth class to a third class district. This means, among other things, that the board shall be in-

HALF A CENTURY of service has been completed for the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad by Edward J. Pearson, 1179 Palmer, who is shown receiving his 50-year diamond service pin from Trainmaster M. Karsten. Pearson, agent at Northville for the past 22 years, started as a telegrapher at Yale and also worked at St. Louis and Bad Axe. He was presented with gold, lifetime annual passes for himself and his wife.

Payroll Checks Taken From Burroughs Office

Theft of 35 to 40 checks from the Plymouth plant of the Burroughs Corp. has brought a warning to local merchants from the Chamber of Commerce.

The checks, all made out to specific persons, were stolen early Tuesday morning from an employment office desk. Their cash value is between $1,500 and $2,000, a company spokesman said.

Michigan State Police detectives were called in to make the investigation. They report that none of the checks had yet cleared banks as of Thursday morning.

The checks were those being held for absent employees, for on the stolen checks. All un-cashed checks are being held by the company. The workers' names are being checked by the company. They ranged from a few dollars up to $100. The total amount is about $125.

It is believed that the theft occurred in the night. The bookkeeper, a woman, was on duty Monday.

The company's office is at 1179 Palmer. It is further pointed out that 24 of the checks were made out to females and 11 to males.

A Look Into Northville's Building Even a Gift Community Center Costs Money

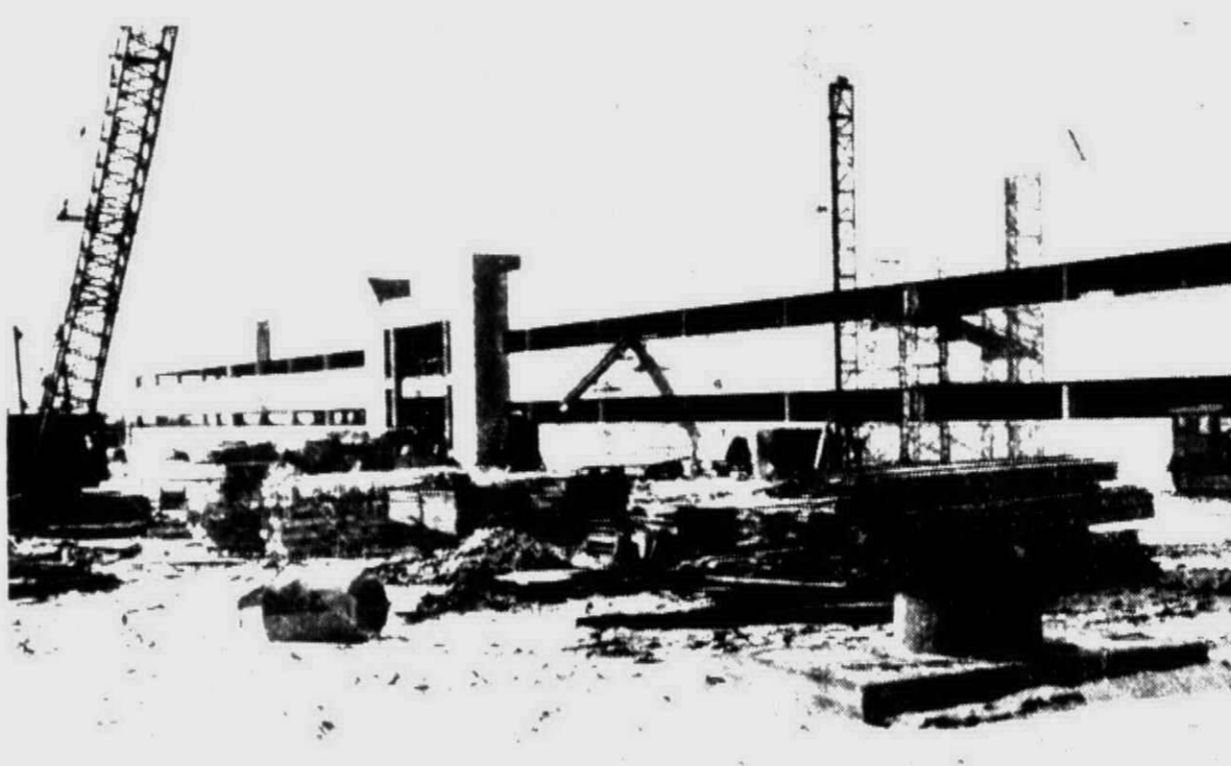

Edna's Note Through-out the years there has been some off-the-cuff discussion by many citizens of the need of a "community building." Some year it will probably be built. To give readers some basic knowledge concerning the problems and advantages of such a building, The Mail's cent David Jelliffe to Birmingham two weeks ago to look at their successful operation. This week he tells of the Northville Community Center which has apparently not met with complete success.

Northville has a Community Center that spasmodically threatens to turn from a worthwhile project into a "white elephant."

The Northville Community Center, constructed in 1953, is and isn't used for community functions. It is used by some of the people some of the time — it isn't used in the strict sense of a commu-

NORTHVILLE'S Community Center is an attractive, modern building near the center of town. But unlike Birmingham's Community building, it has rather limited "community" use. It is operated by the board of education and is used mainly for school functions.

BIGGEST PIECE of construction in many years around Plymouth is the Western Electric Co. building on Sheldon Rd. It helped swell 1957's building costs to a new time high.

A MODERN office building costing $207,000 is going up on Plymouth Rd., just inside the city limits. It will house the American Hospital Benefit and the Community Mutual Life Insurance Companies.

Series of Foreign Films Launched for Symphony

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra women's committee is embarking on a new project January 14.

The presentation of foreign films in Plymouth.

Showings of the four film classes are scheduled within a period of the next four months.

The first in the series, "The Man in the White Suit," a British product and stars Alex Guinness, one of the best known comedy actors here and abroad.

The other three films to be presented are: Saturday, February 8, "Beauty and the Beast," a French Fantasy; Saturday, March 21, "Don Camillo," an Italian comedy; and Saturday, April 26, a Japanese film which will be announced later.

Season tickets for adults will be $3.50 and $1.50 for students. Single tickets may be purchased at the door for $1 for adults and 50 cents for student. Seats will be reserved for season ticket holders.

Tickets may be purchased at the Mayflower Hotel or the high school or any one of the following persons: Margaret Hough, Phyllis Redman, Leonard Dunlap, Phyllis Kelly or Catherine Huber.

Chairman of the project is Mrs. Elmer Redman, Mrs. George Bonham and Mr. George Hudson.

The committee is taking the show as a good way for the winter entertainment — having friends in for dinner and all going to the second show.

Money raised by this project will support the Symphony. The committee has already raised over $1,000 from a program of adult and child book sale.

Chronology Lists Headlines of '57

There were many eventful days in Plymouth during 1957 — some of them pleasant, others not so pleasant.

Newsworthy events that made headlines in The Plymouth Mail during the past year are compiled in a chronology found in section 2, pages 4 and 5. Also included are some photographs that recorded these headline events.

Unquestionably the number one story of the year was the announcement that they were moving to Arkansas.

Many people like to have the chronology which The Mail has been publishing for five years now.

can be held there — dinners can be given — plays presented — but things like that don't happen every night. Consequently the city found that a prize would remain vacant most of the time and still cost at least $10,000 a year to maintain.

The logical answer was the schools, who could use such a building — needed a good gymnasium desperately, as a matter of fact. So, in return for picking up the maintenance tab, the schools make good use out of a building originally erected for the community.

During the planning stage it was speculated that the school district might eventually take over the center.

Arguments pro and con have never resolved themselves into whether or not the public is receiving a fair return on their investment. But an apparent solution involves paradoxical results.

Area Construction Hits New Peak

Building permits for over $16 and a half million dollars worth of construction were taken out in Plymouth city and township during 1957, making it the highest year for building ever experienced here.

During the previous year, just a little more than $1 million was spent on construction and a new record of $3 million was established.

The new record was established despite a year known for its "tight money" and "leakage" out.

Two-fifths of the construction cost estimated at $13.7 million came from one permit, a $2.5 million building permit erected by Western Electric. This permit was issued in May by city Building Safety Inspector Charles Thompson.

The city had permits issued for buildings and improvements totaling $4,477,793.

Acting Building Inspector Howard Holmes reports permits issued from his office during the year totaled $1,949,957.

Two of the most important types of permits issued deal with homes and industries. Plymouth Township again showed

Police Training Course Opens Here Tuesday

A three-month training program for police in this vicinity will open here Tuesday under the sponsorship of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Chief of Police Kenneth Fisher said that he has been at the program for some time to have the course brought here. Similar programs are now going on in three areas around Detroit, also in that city.

At least 25 policemen from six cities will be enrolled. The class will be held in the conference chambers at city hall.

Instructors will be Ralph W. Maxey, chief of Police of Birmingham, FBI Agents Walter Alcock, George Blue, Richard Smith, Leon Shubert, Joseph L. Moran, Ross Bank, Deputy Chief Lawrence East, and Chief of Police of Ann Arbor and Chief Fisher.

The basic course will cover a wide variety of subjects. Patrolmen will be required to complete notes on the subject matter and take an examination. Classes will be either from 1 to 2 p.m. or 3 to 5 p.m.

Subjects include family disturbances, detaining mentally deranged, patrol techniques, signals and arrests, mechanics of guns, public relations, jurisdiction of the FBI and other federal agencies, preserving evidence, laws of arrest and search and seizure.

Attendance will be policemen from Ypsilanti, Novi, Westland, Livonia, Northville, and Plymouth. Chief Fisher says that three Plymouth patrolmen will be enrolled.

Police Training Course Opens Here Tuesday

Acting Building Inspector Howard Holmes reports permits issued from his office during the year totaled $1,949,957.

Two of the most important types of permits issued deal with homes and industries. Plymouth Township again showed building strides in home building during the past year, despite the lack of public water and sewer systems. Permits for 141 homes were issued in 1957. Their combined estimated cost, as stated on the permits, is $1,744,500.

There were 72 homes built in 1957, costing $1,136,200.

Many of the new homes in Plymouth Township are located in Lake Pointe Village, a project that some day will have 1,000 to 1,200 homes.

In addition to the homes, Plymouth Township had permits issued for 46 garages costing $94,475 and permits for $92,613 worth of additions and minor alterations, and nine percent of commercial and industrial buildings costing $26,390.

Largest industrial permits issued in the township during the year was for a box plant on Hagerty Rd., built for $100,000 by the Eastern Michigan Orchard Supply Co. Detroit Edison also built a substation for $14,000 on Ann Arbor Rd.

Plymouth Township has out-built Plymouth city in recent years, but there has been a burst of activity in Plymouth in 1957.

The Western Electric plant, of course, accounted for more than half of the city's construction money wise. But there has been much other construction. Michigan Bell built its automatic equipment structure on Ann Arbor Rd. for a cost of $404,761. On Harvey St., the new Michigan Bell office building cost $178,000.

Still under construction on Plymouth Rd. is the home office of the American Hospital Benefit and the Community Mutual Life Insurance Companies. It will cost $207,000.

Other industrial construction included a $15,000 building improvement by Anchor Coupling on Amelha St., a $20,000 yard office by the Chesapeake & Ohio, and an $18,000 factory addition by Brighton Products on Amelha.

There were permits for 36 homes issued in the city last year compared with 24 the year before. Their cost is $624,603. There were also eight permits issued for multi-dwelling units at a cost of $176,000. A Detroit firm is building two or three family units on East Liberty St.

There were 10 permits issued in the city for commercial buildings at a cost of $935,950. Sixty garages were built costing $55,575, and 112 permits were issued for additions, alterations and repairs that cost $121,880.

Not included in the construction figures are buildings for public use. A new school in Plymouth Township, for instance, will cost over a half million dollars. The new Dunning House Library addition was built at a cost of around $130,000. Remodeling the senior high also cost another $93,465.

Mrs. Philip R. Jacobus

Harris-Jacobus Ceremony Marked by Holiday Theme

In holiday tradition, a wedding ceremony was held at the home of Mrs. Philip R. Jacobus, 1396 Elm street, Plymouth, on Saturday, December 27, for her marriage to Philip Roy Harris.

Officiating at the 4 o'clock ceremony was the bride's father, Rev. W. Glen Harris. He and Mrs. Harris reside at 1017 Pilgrim road, Birmingham. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jacobus of 1396 Elm street, Plymouth.

Simplicity marked the details of the bride's beautiful gown of crystal white silk tulle. Point de Venise lace bordered the rounded décolletage and the points at the wrists of the tapered sleeves.

The unique bodice line was traced with soft material tied in a bowknot at the back with diamonds spreading to the hem of the extremely full skirt which flared in impressive pleats to a brief train. Her tiered veil was gathered to a court cap of matching lace, and she carried white roses and stephanotis with a holly accent.

Her attendants were dressed in holly red velvet. Jane Adams of Philadelphia, Pa., was maid of honor. Serving as bridesmaids were Ruth Ann Jacobus, Mrs. Susan Hancock, Jane McDaniell and Sarah Colwell.

Their gowns were styled with bateau necklines, brief shoulder covering sleeves, and demi-length princess skirts. Blending satin formed the midrifts, closing at the back with a bow and hem-length floating panels. Matching satin bow bandeaux served as headdresses, and their bouquets were centered with red and white carnations in a holly background.

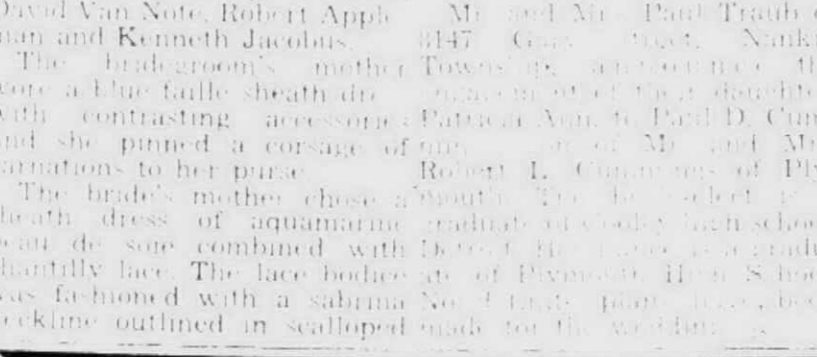

The best man was Winfield Trumbull. Serving the hosts were Philip Smith, Henry LeVeque, Gary Perotti, David Van Note, Robert Appleman and Kenneth Jacobus.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. E. J. Harris, of 1396 Elm street, with a contrasting, accessories, she pinned a corsage of white and red flowers to her pure white dress. The bride's mother chose a gown of health dress of shimmering sequins, the skirt and shoulders of lace combined with delicate tulle. Her gown was fashioned with a sabina No. 1 tulle panel, and her neckline outlined in scalloped mode to the hem.

Parkview Circle

Caroling, Gala Parties Close Out Festive Season

Mrs. Robert Fitzer
625 Parkview Drive

The regular meeting of the Parkview Homeowners' Association will meet Friday evening, January 3, at 8:30 p.m. at our home on Parkview Drive. There will be election of officers. Rose Kennedy will act as co-hostess.

Helen and Walt Lake of Garling Drive had Walt's parents and brother George from Mansfield, Ohio as dinner guests on Christmas day. And wait until this summer when you see and hear what they brought with them as a Christmas gift from George's fiancée. A large farm dinner bell for the Lake's back yard. Eat Jugs anyone?

Illness has again taken over at the Quinlan household on Garling Drive. Hubby Joe was down with a mild case of bronchial pneumonia the better part of last week and not able to enjoy the holiday to its fullest. I hear he's feeling better now.

What with television, radio and children activities not too many people heard our Christmas caroling last Monday evening but we who were out had fun doing it. Egg-nogs and dessert were served at our home to singers, Joyce and Cheri Truax, Helen, Walt, Marilyn and Jimmy Lane, Lee and Jack Ruland, Loraine and Joe Quinlan, Barbara and Harvey Cooper, and Doris and Jim Sponseller.

Jim Parks of Parkview Drive had his father James Parks, his brother-in-law Nate Burkwitch and a friend Don O'Malley in on Sunday afternoon to watch the Browns-Browns game. (And what a game!) Meanwhile the women were at the Burkwitch home preparing dinner where the men later joined them for the evening and where the family had their Christmas gift exchange.

Christmas Eve sixteen members of the Upton family gathered at the parental home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Upton on Haggerty road and on Christmas day Des and Les Upton had the Senior Uptons at their home on Garling Drive.

As of January 6, I will be taking over the secretarial duties of our Methodist church office in place of Mrs. Samuel Hudson who is resigning in order to continue her scholastic studies. Because of this new work it will be necessary for me to write this column over the weekend instead of on Monday as in the past so would appreciate having your items in by Sunday noon. Please remember to let me know about your club, church or group activities. They are just as important as the regular social news.

Jim Parks checked in on Monday morning at the Turnsted Division of General Motors at the Livonia-Fort plant. Jim's work will be in his chosen field of engineering in the "plant lay-out" department.

The Bud Wilsons of Garling Drive spent last Tuesday and Wednesday in Hillsdale, Mich., with Bud's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wilson.

Lloyd Curok of Parkview Drive had a mighty close call at work on Friday afternoon when a large tank of oil bubbling at 275 degrees, boiled over and splashed on him. He was rushed to New Grace hospital in Detroit where they found him to have first and second degree burns on the head, neck and shoulders and third degree burns on his ankles. Although home from the hospital on Sunday and pretty uncomfortable, he's not lucky guy because it could have been a lot worse. Lloyd is part owner of the Mergraf Oil Products Co. in Northville.

On Saturday evening Lee and Jack Ruland of Parkview Drive attended a holiday party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ricol in Rosedale Parke.

Barbara Coyle of Garling Drive is another Circle-it under the weather. Barb has a very severe case of tonsillitis and been down since last Friday.

Doris and Jim Sponseller of Parkview Drive have been having a merry whirl of entertaining at their home during the past week. Neighborhood friends who enjoyed their hospitality last Friday evening were Doris and Ted Kuhns Lila and Doug Vincent, Lee and Jack Ruland, Dot and Bud Wilson, Helen and Walt Lake and hubby and I. Sunday evening the Sponsellers held open house for the members of Doris's bridge club and their husbands. Mrs. Sponseller's mother, has been visiting with them during the past week and very graciously assisted with the hostess duties.

Joanne McGill, daughter of Doris and Don McGill of Garling Drive, spent Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Jackson Mich., with her paternal grandmother.

This last news item will probably be the most startling thing I've written about this year. Poor, poor Madeline Kendall Her cats have to go! Seems that son Jay hasn't been up to par and very graciously had he's allergic to cats. Knowing the devotion Madeline has for her pets she'd probably sooner give up her right arm but that's the way the cookie crumbles.

Please accept my very best wishes to everyone of you for a very healthy, happy and prosperous New Year.

Principals and teachers of the Plymouth and Livonia public schools who have worked with student teachers from Madonna College in Livonia will join in an Educational Conference with the prospective teachers at the college, the evening of Jan. 7 with Shirley Prusinski, a student teacher, acting as chair man. Sister M. Assumpta president of the college, will be present to welcome the group.

Guided by the theme, "Off to a Good Start," a panel of principals, led by Dr. C. Bjornrud of Jefferson School, Livonia, will give the beginning teachers some practical suggestions for their first years in teaching.

Miss Donna Baker of Rosedale School, Livonia, will speak on "The First Week of School". Miss Ruth Eriksson, Smith School, Plymouth, "Pupil-Teacher Relationship"; Mr. Earl Gibson, Gallimore School, Plymouth, "Teacher - Staff Relationship"; Mrs. Iva Minehart, Stark School, Livonia, "The Exceptional Child"; and Mrs. Nancy Tanger, Bird School, Plymouth, "The Teacher and the Community."

To conclude the meeting, tea will be served by students in the home economics department.

The evening was planned and arranged by the student teachers under the direction of Sister M. Lauriana, CSSF, coordinator of teacher education at Madonna.

Any individual or corporation contributing $1.00 or more to the Plymouth Community Fund during the last campaign is a member.

At this meeting new directors will be elected by vote of the members and consideration given to any other matters which may be properly presented at the meeting.

The first of the new year is time for sitting back and reminiscing. For that reason let me tell you about a clever production that the Plymouth Theater Guild has started in connection with its cast parties.

SPORTSEEN

By Bill Dilworth

There will be sports aplenty for the youth of Plymouth beginning January 6. This is the night that the Men's Recreation Basketball league resumes its schedule after a layoff for the holiday season.

On Saturday, January 11 the basketball league for the elementary schools also sponsored by the Recreation Department will start its schedule.

An innovation this year comes in the form of an ice hockey league. Four teams of boys under 18 years of age are ready to go as soon as weather conditions make ice available at Packard's Pond.

All the planning for sport programs is not confined to the male. Shirley Kaczowski and Ann Hosie have made all the athletic equipment available to a very active Girls Athletic Association at the high school.

We cannot forget the Plymouth Rock basketball team. They have been practicing during the holidays in preparation for two very important games.

FROM THE SCRATCHPAD — Herbert Woolweaver, director of Adult Education, reminds us that the program for winter recreation activities will be distributed by January 10.

Northville Center

For example—if the school district decided to buy the building for their exclusive use—providing they had the money, which they don't, then in reality taxpayers would be buying a building they already own.

The original investment came from Northville Downs. The Racing Club, an association that owns the race track and all the grounds, donated money to be earmarked for the community building. The city already owned the land adjacent to the Northville High School where the center is located.

Nelson C. Schrader Jr., chairman of the Northville Board of Education, believes that school district control results in more representative use of the Community Center than if the city controlled the project.

"Under city control we couldn't restrict its use to people in the community," he said. "If anyone else besides the school district operated it, many people who lived outside of the Northville area would probably be allowed to use it."

"As it is now the building is used for athletic events, band practices, some school classes and Boy Scout meetings. The only other time an organization can use it is through the permission of the schools and by paying a predetermined rental fee."

Conclusion: the center itself and the enthusiastic drudgery that went into proposing, planning and piloting the construction was certainly well-meant. However, if it wasn't for the schools, Northville might find itself snowed into a "white elephant" of drastic proportion.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Burgett and children, Jack and Judy of Northville road and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hornbrook of Muskegon were Saturday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hartwick of Clemons drive.

New Year Brings

There is also speculation that State Senator John Swainson of Plymouth, now minority leader of the State Senate, will be Williams' running mate this year for the job of lieutenant governor. This would leave a scramble for Swainson's job here in the 18th district.

At the same time, Lt. Governor Philip Hart is expected to run for U. S. Senator as an opponent to Senator Charles Potter.

There will also be a local interest in the State Representative job. Sterling Eaton of Plymouth was elected representative from the 21st district and he, along with most all present office-holders, have not yet announced whether they will again be candidates.

The two big election dates in 1958 will be August 5 and Nov. 4. August 5 will be the primary election. Those who survive this engagement will be on the general election ballot Nov. 4.

Precinct delegates will be elected during the primary. Sometime between Aug. 13 and 15, the delegates will hold county conventions and before Aug. 30 the state party conventions must take place.

At these conventions, the two parties will nominate candidates for the administrative board. This will include a secretary of state, attorney general, treasurer and auditor general. Voters will then choose their candidates at the general election.

One circuit court seat will be filled this year, according to Peter Buback, Wayne County director of elections. The death of Judge Thomas Maher will bring about an election for an unexpired term.

There will be no elections this year for Plymouth city or township offices.

Singers Urged To Join Now For Oratorio

The Plymouth Civic Chorus invites all interested singers to join its ranks. Rehearsals will be held each Monday evening from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in room 4 of the High School Annex. The music in rehearsal is "The Childhood of Christ" by Hector Berlioz. The music was written for chorus, orchestra and soloists. Performance is scheduled for Sunday March 2 with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Wayne Dunlap.

Anyone interested in singing is urged and invited to join the chorus. Rehearsals for the chorus are directed by Fred Nelson, instructor of vocal music at Plymouth High School. Accompanist for the group is Mrs. Thomas Lock.

Do high shoes cause weak feet?

No. Recently a mother quoted the writer as saying that high shoes weaken the feet and ankles but that was a mistake. The writer stated that high shoes do not strengthen the musculature. It is the writer's opinion that high shoes neither weaken nor strengthen the foot because high shoes cannot be laced tight enough to give support.

It would be unfortunate to discourage the use of high shoes for babies. They are cute and appropriate. And you can buy them with plenty of grow room without worrying about the shoes falling off.

I would be guided by the advice of my shoefitter and once I made my choice of high shoes or low ones I would not be disturbed by the advice that flows so freely from the generation that made bunions famous.

More Science, Less Money

Educators are finding answers to the challenge of the Russian Sputnik. They concede the answers may be coming late but they retort to their critics that the nation was unexcited about academic achievements before that fateful satellite was launched Oct. 4. Now sudden demands for a changeover from the arts and literature in the schools to raw science and mathematics have created their own problems. Educators, while working desperately to help the United States catch up, are warning the nation against panic and a loss of other values in the quest for scientific supremacy. Michigan educators did not wait long after Sputnik. Dr. Harlan H. Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan, announced the formation of a special institute of scientific minds to advise him on curricula. The thought was to superimpose the thinking of brilliant men over the university's academic activities. In addition, the university has stepped up the work of the Phoenix Project, seeking peacetime uses of atomic energy. Michigan State University is planning a cyclotron as the hub of a new quest into basic research in the field of nuclear physics. This program will be added to another which has experimented for several years into the uses of nuclear energy in peacetime fields.

Bartlett's office has taken another major step toward working out an expanded science program for the high schools. A special committee of educators and scientists, among them leaders of the Phoenix project, has developed a special bulletin for teachers. The thick volume was inspected and approved by leading educators at a recent Lansing meeting. "We think this is the first such attempt in the nation," said Bartlett. All of these programs take money, and prospects for increased state aid in most of the educational fields is growing dimmer under the cloud of one of the state's worst financial crises. Republicans and Democrats are resigned to a deficit for next year, ranging from $20,000,000 to $50,000,000 even without increasing present services or creating new ones. Legislators claim the general fund deficit will go that high by itself, not counting a $10,000,000 deficit in school aid and the need for another $14,000,000 just to handle increased enrollments. Both sides agree new taxes will be impossible this year with three groups still conducting studies to determine the impact of taxes on business and industry and how to realign the entire revenue structure. Without saying so, both sides also are looking to 1958 as an election year.

Some Bill Juggling, Too

MORE HIGHWAY $$$. Motorists will have to pay at least 30 per cent more taxes on gas and tires than earlier expected to finance the 41,000-mile federal road program.

Construction figures just completed back up the report published in this column three months ago. They show costs skyrocketed since Congress approved the project two years ago.

Congress estimated the cost at $27.5 billion. But at current rate of spending, total will be closer to $35 billion.

This will mean another 30 per cent increase in federal taxes on tires and gas if the program is to be completed in the proposed ten-year period. (The stipulation, when Congress approved the job, was that funds would come from increased tire and gas tax).

Incidentally, only 1,200 miles of the road system are finished.

A-PLANE HASSLE. Development of an atomic-powered plane, which was halted this year and then resumed, is bringing out one of the hottest behind-the-scenes fights in Pentagon history.

Those opposed to the project argue that the plane is already obsolete because of the missile era. But those for it have two arguments:

1. If the Russians put up an A-plane first, they'd score another "psychological" victory.
2. Our atomic plane could be used—when equipped with a television receiver and transmitter—as a world-wide "spy in the sky" circling the earth at about 70,000 feet. It could be robot-controlled and need not be refueled for months at a time.

You'll hear much more about this during 1958.

ADLAI AGAIN? Washington friends of Adlai Stevenson say that his recent "taste" of government work here has charged him up with the desire to run for the presidency again.

But should he not run—and should a Democrat win the White House—Stevenson would be in line for the job of Secretary of State.

COST OF LIVING. The AFL-CIO complained to Rep. Otto Krueger of North Dakota that it now costs the laborer $121.10 to buy what he used to be able to buy with just $100 ten years ago.

Krueger retorted: "Yes, but the laborer, instead of having just $100 to spend as he did 10 years ago, now is getting $149.60—or a "net" of $28.50 over ten years ago.

The farmer, says Krueger, is the one who's really suffering.

THE SHORT END. A farmer's return on a 20-cent can of peas is less than three cents.

The wheat that goes into a 15-cent loaf of bread nets a farmer only two cents.

FOREIGN MONEY-GAME. Congressmen returning from abroad are saying that too many countries are obtaining more than their rightful share of foreign aid by "playing America against Russia."

An investigation is in the offing.

SNYDER THE SCAPEGOAT. Murray Snyder, press secretary of the Pentagon, has been singled out as the scapegoat in the recent fizzle on excessive publicity involving the Vanguard satellite.

Snyder was once assistant press secretary to President Eisenhower. Ike "promoted" him to the Pentagon.

Miscellany. It's almost a sure thing that letter mail will go up to four cents an ounce by July 1.

The first wave of Asian flu is about over, according to the Public Health Service. . . . But a second wave may hit about February.

The federal government in 1957 planted one BILLION forest trees. . . . This is a new record and 200,000 more than 1956.

Hough Gives Pat To His Employees

(As a result of a reprint in this newspaper last week of a story first published in the Little Rock, Ark. "Democrat", employees of Daisy Manufacturing Company of Plymouth last Friday received a special letter from executive vice-president Cass Hough. He took exception to remarks credited to him by the Little Rock reporter—specifically, to a sentence which said, "... we could no longer afford people who give half a day's work for a full day's pay." Hough told his employees his remarks had been improperly reported. His letter to his Daisy employes follows.)

27 December 1957

"I was as amazed as you, and as hurt as you have a right to be, by the statement that appeared in this week's issue of the Plymouth Mail . . . attributed to me.

"I spoke without a prepared speech, but here, in essence, is what I did say . . .

"In my opinion small industry in the Detroit area—an area rich in people, raw materials, etc. . . . can no longer afford the luxury of this abundance of people many of whom are prone to want to give but a half day's work for a full day's pay."

"I further said, "At Daisy we have been blessed, in the main, with people who are as loyal and as hard working as will be found anywhere in this world . . . and it is because of this kind of loyalty we, years ago, set up our profit-sharing plan."

"I think all of you know me well enough to be sure that, if I felt Daisy was getting a bum deal from you, I'd tell you . . . certainly I wouldn't air our dirty linen 750 miles from home.

"You know that I have been unstinting in my praise of you, to your faces, and to others . . . that I have, all over this country, spoken about the high standards of loyalty and productivity we have here. I certainly don't change my spots overnight . . . you should know that."

"I'm as hurt about this as though someone had slapped MY face. You know how I feel about all of you. You have my word that my high regard hasn't changed a bit."

CASS S. HOUGH,
Executive Vice President

If Your Name is LOUIS

BY ANN REYNOLDS, PH.D.

Though spelled differently, "Louis" and "Lewis" are identical and evolved from the same Old Germanic form which was "Chlodowig". Just as many other Teutonic names, it was put together from two words, one meaning "to hear," the other "a fight"; roughly put into English it means "famous warrior."

When Chlodowig was spelled out in Latin documents, it was as "Ludovicus", or "Clovis", and from this latter form developed "Louis". Although of Germanic origin, it became most popular in France, and remained so up to the French Revolution.

To the British Isles it was brought by the Normans, and took on the forms "Luwis" and "Lewes". Today we have both "Lewis" and "Louis", and "Lewis" is a frequent family name, too. Incidentally, the ancient "Clovis" is occasionally found also at present.

The first ruler by the name from which "Louis" developed, was Chlodowig I, King of the Franks, a typical child of the fifth century. Once, however, he decided not to plunder a city. It was the City of Reims, and he did so, out of respect for the bishop St. Remi. But, communications not having been what they are today, his men did not know about his decision, and looted the place anyway. So Chlodowig wanted to return as much of the spoils as he could recover.

Camping at the town of Soissons, he asked his warriors to allot him as his own share, an especially beautiful vase in order to restore it to the bishop. All agreed, except the man who shouted, "You won't have anything but what the lot will allot you," and, angrily, threw his battle-axe at the vase, shattering that irreplaceable piece of art. The king said nothing; he gathered the debris, and sent them to St. Remi.

One year later he reviewed his troops, and noticed the same soldier because of his sloppy appearance. Taking him to task, he seized the man's battle-axe—maybe it was not polished bright enough—and threw it at his feet. And as the soldier bent down to pick it up, Chlodowig split the man's head with the axe, shouting, "This is what you did to the Vase of Soissons!" At that time Chlodowig was still a heathen. Then, during a battle when fortune seemed to favor the enemy, he vowed to become a Christian if victorious. Most of his men were already baptized, and the king's promise put new courage in their hearts. The battle was won, and the king with 3000 of his men accepted Christianity.

Wins Case
FARGO, N. D. — (UP)—Ned Nation, a laborer from Starks, La., declined to have an attorney when he was charged with auto theft. "I am perfectly capable of representing myself," he told the judge. Nation cross-examined the two prosecution witnesses and rested his case without testifying himself or presenting any witnesses. The judge ruled there was insufficient evidence to hold Nation and ordered him freed.

His Own Petard
SALT LAKE CITY — (UP)—After calling publicly for a crackdown on traffic violators, Gov. George D. Clyde was stunned by results. The next day a city policeman halted him for running a stop sign. Clyde hustled to headquarters, angrily, threw his battle-axe at the officer for "alertness."

CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY

THE SAVINGS OF A LIFETIME ON ONE ROLL!

You wouldn't think of gambling your personal security like that, would you? And yet, many people take a big chance every day with everything they own because of skimpy or ill-planned insurance coverage.

Without the advice and counsel of a qualified insurance agent, many people allow their insurance programs, like Topsy, to "just grow". In some cases, they are paying duplicate premiums on the same risk . . . in other cases, they have elements of risk which are not covered by their current insurance. Sometimes, they have bought "bargain" insurance, unaware of possible coverage limitations which may save a few dollars now and chance the loss of thousands later on.

The counsel of the qualified insurance agent on the professional level of the insurance business will eliminate "weak spots" in your insurance program. He represents the largest insuring companies in the world and is qualified through knowledge and years of experience to properly advise you in the selection of policies and their proper premium cost.

There is an easy way to detect any flaws that may exist in your insurance program. We will be happy to analyze your insurance position without cost and to prescribe if need be. If your insurance program is adequate as it stands, we will tell you so. In any case, you will know for sure.

'Life Begins at 40'

The other day I happened to stop for a chat with a lawyer friend of mine. "If I look down in the mouth," he volunteered, stuffing some papers into a filing cabinet, "it's because I'm feeling sorry for a client of mine who's no longer around. He died six weeks ago at the age of 57. "What gets me," he went on, "is that this guy spent the past 35 years working like a squirrel laying up nuts for winter. He left home at seven in the morning, never got home 'til seven at night, rarely took a vacation, and ploughed every extra cent he could earn into securities for his wife and three children. "Now that he's gone he'll never get a chance to see Europe, or go deep sea fishing, or buy a sailboat, or otherwise enjoy the dough he accumulated. And the way his kids are digging into their sizeable inheritance I doubt if they'll have anything to show for their dad's thrift 10 years from now." This is a tragedy that happens somewhere every day. These are the men who tackle their role as breadwinner with such zeal that they seem unaware that man's purpose in life is not to pile up stocks and bonds but rather to find a full, rich, and satisfying life. Of course it's sad when a man fails to provide basic security for his family. A lot of tears have been spilled by wives and children of men who sowed their wild oats a little too freely. But it's equally sad when a male takes the opposite tack and labors so single-mindedly for his family that he neglects to taste the fruits of his efforts.

spending their evenings and holidays with their family and acquaintances. Or they may simply need someone to sit down with them and explain the facts of good living. If you're inclined to keep your nose too close to the occupational grindstone, here are some notes to include in your New Year's resolutions for 1958:

1. Resolve to provide basic security for your family and for your old age, but make sure you get your share of day-to-day pleasures;
2. Resolve to enjoy your job for eight hours a day, but stop working overtime and be sure and take every vacation coming to you;
3. Resolve to spend your leisure hours in stimulating, creative pursuits, and in close contact with your family and friends;
4. Resolve to live a life so full and satisfying that each day you'll be reminded how lucky you are to be alive and kicking in the most exciting era the world has ever known.

Something is usually wrong when men are so narrow that they devote nearly all their waking hours to their jobs. They may suffer from a deep-seated insecurity which drives them to pile up more money than they or their family really need. Or they may be socially maladjusted, and, on the pretext of being hard working, may use work as an escape from

Plymouth High School
BY LIZ SARAH

One of the many holiday festivities, a record dance, which was held on Thursday, December 26, in the high school gym, gave the younger set an opportunity to get together. Since the holiday season is considered a time for family, school friendships suffer. The following description is designed to acquaint those who are not familiar with high school affairs with our dance.

Of course, the dance never gets going until half an hour after the music begins. It seems that if you don't go early, you won't have to wait for everyone else to get there. But, there is one flaw in this calculation. Too many people think the same way, thus we have everyone trying to outwait the others with the result being that the dance doesn't really get into gear until about an hour or more after the scheduled time. With this in mind we will sort of breeze through the first, uneventful hour.

After a good sized crowd has gathered, the girls wade in and begin mixing with the groups of boys who are standing scattered about the dance floor. Once the initial step is taken to break the ice, the fun begins. The boys come out of their cliques somewhat, and ask the girls to dance. Mingled with the melody of a popular song, the tinkling laughter of girls blends with the bass chuckles of the boys to create a harmonious undertone that is sounded on a note of happiness.

A general warmth floats up to the beams of the high-ceilinged gym as old friendships are renewed when a service man shakes hands with a former classmate; when college students exchange information about their respective schools; and when high school students, including boys, get "caught up" on the latest gossip.

Among the various personality types in attendance, there are examples of extreme shyness in boys and girls, also extreme directness. There are a few non-dancers, who do not dance at all, but merely enjoy the dance for the pleasure they derive from being with others to rehash old times or make new friends.

No dance is complete without a few couples who really "live it up." They can be seen waltzing in a flourish across the floor. Upon reaching the other side, they exclaim in a delighted giggle, "Well, how's that for cutting through traffic in a hurry?" and whisk back across the floor to talk with someone else of which they happened to catch a glimpse. Next on our list of observations we turn to the serious dancers, who are intent upon dancing and the soft, sweet music. Gracefully, they glide in perfect harmony with the music.

Sorry to dispel the atmosphere for our serious dancers, but Jerry Lee Lewis just burst forth from the speakers with "Great Balls of Fire" which sends the boys (not all of them) scampering for the protection of their male groups; and the girls scurry to find a girl that can "rock and roll."

Occasionally some brave, talented young man will let his hair down and dance to this "crazy" music. And if this boy is Mike Wallace, '57 graduate of PHS, and the girl is Joyce Bowling, high school junior, look out for some good dancing. You can always tell when this happens, for immediately a crowd gathers in a huge circle. As spectators, the girls look on rather critical of the technique while the boys look on in envy or awe.

After the exhibition, the circle dissolves and normal conditions are resumed. Many of the songs are dedicated; some in earnest, others in jest. After numerous dances and exchanges of small talk, we leave the subdued light of the gym and go into the glaring corridor for some refreshments, Coke, Vernors, Seven-Up, or water.

As the 11 o'clock hour arrives, a handful of last dance participants leave in complete comfort. It seems that anticipating youths have left early to avoid the last minute crowd. This brings a chuckle forth because the crowd to beat the crowd was much worse than the crowd.

(Follow?)

Too many people think along the same vein. The evening does not end with the dance. Usually, a hamburger or pizza follows. This dance was followed by a party at the home of Jerry Foreman, PHS

A $14,000 an Hour Job in Johnstown

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. — (UP)—Probably one of the few men anywhere with a $14,000-an-hour job is Joseph C. Tomaskovich.

As tax collector of Franklin Borough, Tomaskovich's principal duties has consisted of collecting a $400,000 tax check from Bethlehem Steel Company's Cambria works. His salary, figured on a percentage basis of the local taxes, comes to almost $55,000 during his term of office.

According to a gentleman's agreement no one ever seeks re-election to the lucrative post.

So Tomaskovich is resigning to make way for his successor, Peter Baran, elected last November. Bethlehem already has paid its local taxes for this year.

Baran, 38, works as a crane-man at the Cambria works, along with Tomaskovich, and the two are good friends.

"Pete isn't married," said Tomaskovich, "and I expect he's going to become the town's most eligible bachelor."

Lesson in Nutrition

An adequate family diet should provide protein to build and repair the body; fats and carbohydrates to supply sufficient fuel or energy to meet the individual's needs; minerals to build and maintain bones, teeth, blood and to regulate the body processes; and vitamins to promote growth and maintain health.

Well, time hurries by... but sometimes certain things bring it home more sharply than others. Take Lassie, for example. Just a nice, easy-going television story about a boy, his dog, Mom and Grams. But now Lassie's got a new family... mostly because Tommy Rettig, the kid who grew up with Lassie, is too old for the part.

It seems like just yesterday that Tommy was a big-eyed moppet, barely out of the building block stage. Now his voice has dropped like a cold thermometer... and if he didn't shave he'd be about as fuzzy as Lassie. Of course, Lassie hasn't changed much... and she's starting all over again with 7-year-old Jon Provost. And the day will come when Jon starts shaving. It'll be another shock to Lassie's fans, but it'll come.

A fellow in Boston sued for divorce on the grounds that his wife left him 30 years ago and hasn't been back. Sounds like he's the impatient type.

We want to thank our friends and customers for their patience during the pre-holiday shopping rush. We hope you found a minimum of waiting or discomfort... and a maximum of good service and satisfaction with every purchase. Those things are important to us!

Continental Can Names New Gair Group Official

Norman F. Greenway has been appointed executive vice-president of the Robert Gair Paper Products Group of the Continental Can Company, according to E. N. Stephens, sales manager of the local Continental plant.

The appointment is effective January 1. The local Continental plant will be among those under Greenway's administration. Greenway was formerly vice president and general manager of Continental's Boxboard and Folding Carton Division.

Stephens reported that George E. Dyke, vice chairman of Continental's board, who has been serving as acting executive vice president of the Gair Group, has reached the regular retirement age for officers and retired December 31. He will continue as a consultant and will serve as a consultant to the management.

Greenway was a senior vice president and director of the Robert Gair Company, a leading manufacturer of paperboard and paper products, before it merged with Continental in 1956. He joined Gair in 1934 and became a vice president in 1939.

The Robert Gair Paper Products Group comprises not only the enterprises formerly conducted by the Gair Company but certain others that were part of Continental prior to the Gair merger. It consists of the Boxboard and Folding Carton Division, the Fibre Drum and Corrugated Box Division, the Containerboard and Kraft Paper Division, and Gair Company Canada Limited.

Male college graduates in 1956 had an average starting salary of $400 a month, about twice what the 1947 graduates commanded.

Something New for Dinner— HOT BUTTERED SOUP!

Soup once was basic, honey, taken for granted. Not so any more. These days it's making an appearance as a beverage, with as many variations on the basic soup theme as there are soup favorites.

Hot buttered soup is the latest idea in beverage serving. It's a heart-warming invitation to a new beverage experience that combines the satisfying goodness of soup with the extra flavor of butter.

Just heat your favorite soup—tomato, consommé, any cream soup—and pour it into soup cups or mugs. Then top with a pat of butter.

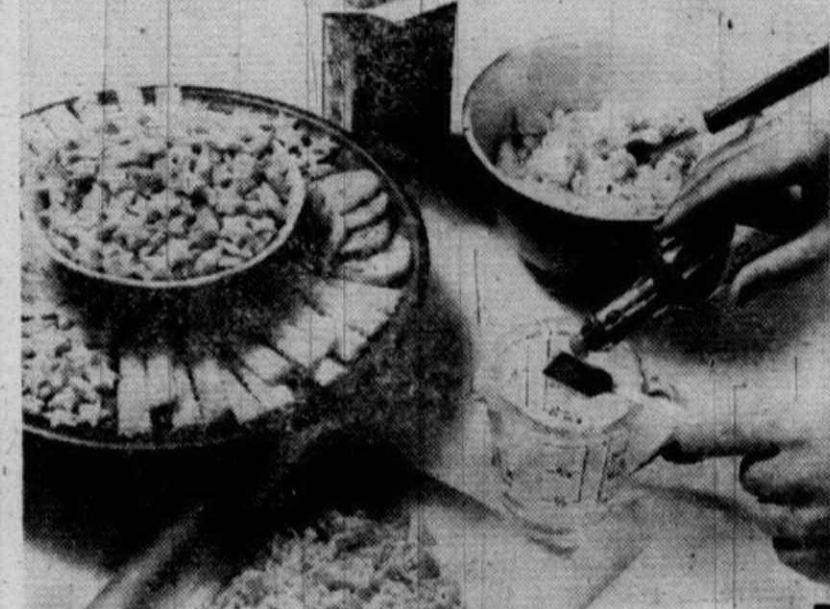

Serve hot buttered soup to the children during the winter months to come this new year. It's satisfying when they come home from school, after they've been playing outdoors, or as a soothing drink at bedtime.

Tomorrow night when the family sits down for dinner, surprise them with their favorite soups served in soup cups or mugs, flavored with butter for extra goodness. Serve it throughout the meal with this tempting entrée—Crab Meat Casserole.

Melt butter. Stir in flour. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly until sauce is thickened. Add onion, parsley and olives. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Add a tiny pinch each of thyme and mace. Add crab meat to sauce. Turn mixture into buttered one-quart casserole. Spoon mounds of mashed potatoes around edge of mixture. Bake in 375 degree preheated oven 20 to 25 minutes or until potatoes are lightly browned.

Tabasco, Cheese for Nibbling

Tabasco and grated cheese added to packaged pastry mix results in the season's best-tasting cocktail fare. Easy to dip, and you're assured of crisp, warm nibbling food for your guests.

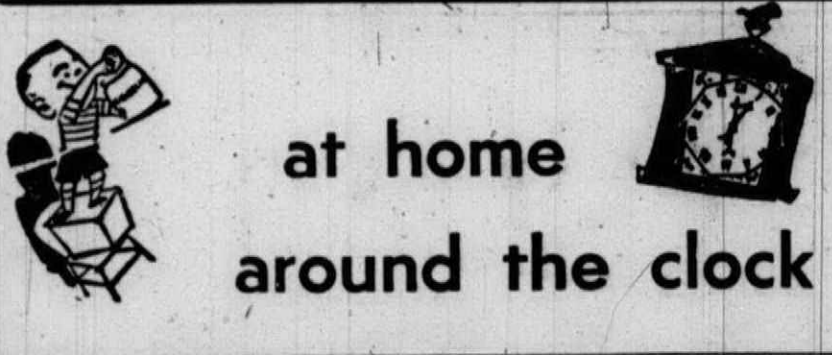

Tabasco, one of the oldest food products in the land, first appeared shortly after the Civil War) is still one of the best friends of every food.

Tabasco Cheese Straws

Use 1 package pie crust mix, 1 cup grated sharp American cheese and 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco.

Turn pie crust mix into mixing bowl; add cheese. Mix with 2 forks until cheese is evenly distributed through mixture. Add Tabasco to water called for in package directions. Stir into mixture with a fork. Form into ball. Roll out 1/16 inch thick on lightly floured board or pastry cloth. Cut out with small star or other small cutter, or roll with pastry wheel into strips 3 inches long and 3/4 inch wide. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in a moderate oven, (375 degrees F) for 5 to 7 minutes for small shapes and 10 minutes for strips.

NOTE: If desired form all or half of dough into a roll, 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Place in freezer 1 hour or in refrigerator 2 hours, or until firm enough to slice. Cut into 1/16 inch slices. Place on greased baking sheet; if desired, sprinkle with paprika. Bake in 375 degree oven for 5 to 7 minutes.

Short Citrus Crop Expected As Season's Peak Passes

Oranges and grapefruit are at the peak of their season, according to the Detroit Consumer Marketing Information Agents. Although the Florida crop was badly damaged by the recent cold weather, you may expect to find plenty available to complete your shopping.

The increase in Navel prices is not expected to show up to a great extent until after the first of the year when the southern area begins to ship. The crop from that area is short. All sizes are running to the medium and small.

are better values according to cost alone.

Citrus fruit in all forms is popular. We eat more fresh oranges per person each year than we eat of any other fresh fruits - more canned orange juice than any other canned fruit except peaches. However, the consumption of grapefruit seems to fluctuate with the supply.

Even with this increasing consumption, many Americans are still deficient in vitamin C. And there's no better source of vitamin C than citrus fruit. One orange, 1/2 grapefruit, or 1/2 cup of juice will supply your daily needs. So start to enjoy our citrus fruits now when you have the greatest variety from which to choose.

The oranges and grapefruit you buy are guaranteed to be ripe. By law, these fruits must be mature when picked. Sometimes, especially in the spring, you may notice a tint of green on the peel of oranges and grapefruit. These are ripe, too. The green color develops because the new crop of fruit growing on the trees takes on chlorophyll before the old crop is picked.

One of the best guides to picking out high quality oranges and grapefruit is by weight. Those which are heavy for their size are the ones likely to be the best in flavor, which yield the most juice and have the thinnest skins.

It's also well to remember that the weight is a better index to juice yield than size. You get about as much juice from a pound of small fruit as from a pound of large ones. So, for juice, five pounds of small oranges that cost 39 cents are a better buy than five pounds of large ones that cost 49 cents.

Oranges are of two general types - those for juice and those for sections. Usually you pay more for oranges that are easy to section than for the juice type. Since the Navel oranges are the most commonly used for sectioning, they will be particularly high in comparison to the juice oranges this year. Other dessert oranges are Temples, Mandarins and Kings.

You may often wonder which is the most inexpensive form to buy - fresh oranges, frozen or canned juice. You can find the best bargain by the 1-3-6 ratio, but the final decision often depends upon the family preferences. And, because the price of fresh oranges reflects seasonal supply, you may want to compare the cost of juice from the three forms several different times during the year.

One pound or three medium-sized fresh oranges gives about 1 cup or 2 servings of juice. A 6-ounce can of frozen concentrate gives 3 times and a 46 ounce can of juice 6 times as many servings as a pound of fresh oranges. The cost of orange juice from these fresh, frozen and canned sources is the same when their price ratio is 1 to 3 to 6. As example: Fresh 66 cents a dozen, frozen 22 cents and canned 11 cents are of equal value - when the frozen or canned are less, they Then place cake under broiler flame and heat until bubbly. Serve warm.

Cold Day Calls For Barbecued Meat Loaves

Here's extra goodness in meat loaves, it's ground beef that plays the leading role. Ground beef is one of the homemaker's most popular meat choices.

Nonfat Dry Milk Can Become White Magic in Your Kitchen

From the nonfat solids of whole milk comes a white magic for your convenience in cooking and consumption—dry milk. Perhaps you have shied away from using dry milk, but consider the advantages. Nonfat dry milk gives you a four-way bonus . . . (1) no waste, mix as you need; (2) convenient to use; (3) takes little storage space; (4) costs 6 to 10 cents per quart.

Whole milk contains water, fat and nonfat solids. By removing water and fat from whole milk, only nonfat solids remain to form dry milk. Nonfat solids include the milk proteins, minerals, lactose (milk sugar), and water soluble vitamins.

Minerals and vitamins in nonfat dry milk can help step up the nutritional value of your diet at low cost. Nonfat dry milk is equal in food value to fresh skim milk.

Two steps for dissolving dry milk are: (1) sprinkle powder on lukewarm water and (2) stir gently with a slotted spoon. Stirring vigorously or using a whipping motion, by hand or with an electric mixer, will produce excessive foam.

But, nonfat dry milk is not all the same. Different ways of making it cause differences between brands. They are identified by manufacturing processes.

At your grocery store, two processes are available—spray-dry and instant. The fine, powdery milk solids in spray-dry preparations are excellent for general food preparation. They are not instantly soluble, but are easily dissolved when sprinkled on the surface of warm water and gently stirred with a slotted spoon, fork or French whip. Dry milk made by this process costs less than "instant" dry milk of comparable quality.

Instant nonfat dry milk crystals vary greatly in size and shape among different brands. The time and amount of stirring required to dissolve are not the same in all brands you buy. The quick dissolving of instant milk is its greatest advantage over spray-dry milk.

ing agents. Choose the brand which gives the best combination of flavor, ease of dissolving and performance at the lowest cost.

Dry milk is the answer for shy milk drinkers, as it supplies important milk nutrients in prepared dishes. Use dry milk in making cocoa, soups, cream sauces and meat loaf. In most recipes nonfat dry milk can be increased by 1/2 to 2 times the amount recommended on the package for normal reconstitution.

If you've decided to try your hand at dry milk, keep the packages closed tightly, for moisture from the air or damp measuring utensils often cause lumping in the package.

COOL WEATHER COMFORT—Shown here is an at ease, zippered jerkin which will fit into any man's wardrobe. This trim-fitting style is knit in a neat pattern stitch and features a back yoke done in the stockinette stitch to match the collar and pockets. For warmth without bulk, the yarn is a combination of nylon and wool. Directions are given in boys' sizes 8-10-12-14; and men's sizes 40-42-44-46. For your copy, send a stamped self-addressed envelope to The Plymouth Mail, Needlework Department.

with Modern home improvements

8 Thursday, January 2, 1958 THE PLYMOUTH MAIL

Upswing in Home Improvements Predicted for 1958 . . .

The home improvement business promises to be one of the brighter spots in the U.S. economy during 1958, in the opinion of H. R. Northrup, Executive Vice President, of the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association.

"There is every indication that the volume of modernization and repair work which has been growing steadily during the last ten years to an annual volume of $8,000,000,000 will continue its upward trend as a result of vigorous industry-wide promotional efforts and the program of the Home Improvement Council," Mr. Northrup said.

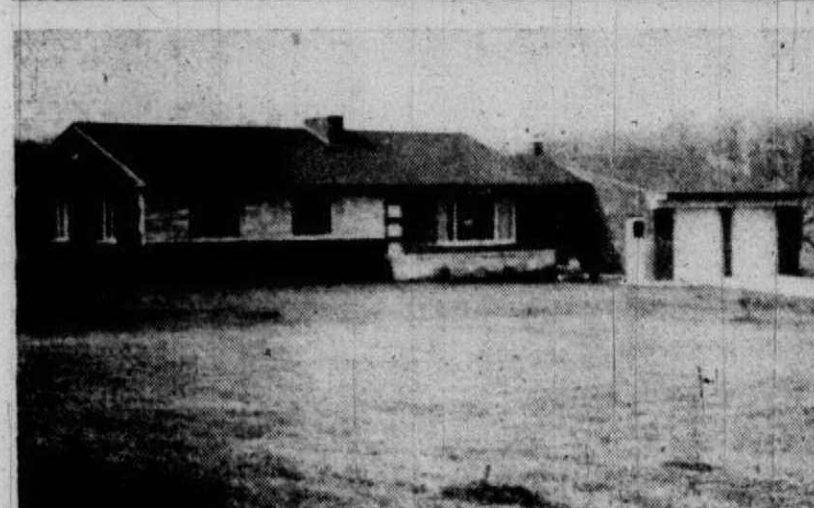

"With at least a moderate upturn in new home construction also indicated by the freer flow of mortgage funds, it looks as though retail materials dealers as well as home builders and contractors can look forward to a better year than they experienced in 1957.

"Home owners will find home improvement work easier to carry out as more and more lumber dealers are assuming the job of handling all details, including the planning, selecting materials, financing, and locating competent workmen.

"As in recent years, it seems probable that kitchen remodeling will be the most popular type of home improvement, following by re-roofing and re-siding, garage and carport building, and insulating.

"The greater availability of time payment financing also has been a factor in the growth of the home improvement business as more banks and other lending institutions have found home modernization a good type of risk."

Plymouth Hills Good Example Of Modern Planned Community

Two examples of the rambling ranch type custom built homes that dot the rolling, wooded terrain of Plymouth Hills are shown above. Constructed by Turk and Ramsey, local builders, they are examples of the modern lines and convenience of accessibility that are in demand by the custom home buyer of today. Plymouth Hills is located just West of Plymouth off Ann Arbor Trail.

Wood Panels Mounted On Appliances to Match Cabinet Beauty

The strong trend to wood's beauty in the kitchen has been recognized by several manufacturers of refrigerators and freezers who are offering optional wood fronts to match wood kitchen cabinets.

Provision is made for insertion of wood panels on the fronts of the refrigerator and freezer units by means of a special hardware system. The panels are held in place by moldings. Generally the units are delivered without the wood fronts which are supplied by the kitchen cabinet manufacturer so that a perfect match in wood finish can be obtained.

The system can be employed on either built-in or freestanding appliances. According to one manufacturer, the use of genuine wood on appliance fronts adds the touch of completeness to the beauty and utility of a modern wood kitchen.

GLASS GABLE WALLS add distinctive beauty to overall home design. The availability of Thermopane insulating glass in trapezoid shapes has now made the glass gable concept of architecture practical for small homes.

Storm Doors and Windows Are Vital To Winter Comfort

In many sections of the country Operation Home Improvement includes getting the house ready for a cold winter. The hanging of storm windows and doors is an important protective measure and will help greatly in keeping the house warmer.

It has been estimated that storm windows and doors can cut heat loss up to 30%, which means tremendous savings on fuel bills for the home owner. Storm windows are hung with special hinges which enable one to put them up or take down easily. Many home owners are installing combination storm and screen windows and doors for year-round use. These are available in a wide assortment of wood or aluminum frames and are all designed for easy conversion from screen to storm type.

The home owner whose home is already equipped with storm windows and doors should check them carefully before hanging them for the winter. If the putty around the glass is loose and cracking, it should be removed with a putty knife and replaced with fresh putty.

The sashes would be well painted, both inside and out, to prevent damage by condensation on the inside and snow and rain on the outside.

American Women Squeeze the Dollar

American women showed they knew how to squeeze the most value from a dollar at the Congress on Better Living recently held in New York.

Discussing the purchase of automobiles versus homes, a large majority of them said they would rather own a $20,000 home and a small car than a $15,000 home and a large car.

Reason? — The depreciation factor involved in buying cars as opposed to the permanent investment of buying a home. Homes, if properly kept up, represent a constant dollar-and-cents value which can always be regained through sale of the home.

Besides, a home is a home, say the gals, a car is purely for transportation.

The best-selling book in the last 60 years is "In His Steps" by Charles Monroe Sheldon. It was published in 1897 and has sold more than 8 million copies.
