The MAIL Attitude

BY PAUL CHANDLER

Plymouth's City Commission appears to be not far from the time when it will ask the citizens to look the truth in the eye and break the straight-jacket of an empty city treasury.

I'll support the idea. The people of Plymouth are sufficiently mature to realize that inflation has swollen every cost in life, and did not magically overlook the expense of paving streets, nor of paying city employees, nor any other city requirement.

The subject had an informal discussion at the regular meeting Monday night. City manager Al Glassford presented a chart which was a list of projects which had a high degree of urgency about them. Most of them involved paving—on Farmer Street (which must be made an artery for the Western Electric Plant); in Hough subdivision, where the residents have petitioned and must be answered; on South Main street; and generally throughout the city where there is no paving now.

Glassford noted in his remarks that a U. of M. survey of Plymouth last year showed that "better streets" were cited by the citizens as the city's most pressing need. They were mentioned by 48 percent of the people questioned, and the problem was cited four times oftener than any other.

And he concluded by stating that he didn't know where the money would come from, as things are now.

The average person has seen his tax bills rise in recent years but he may have missed a point. Most of the increase has gone for schools. The City itself has chugged along at the same old mill rate, except for a couple of small special issues.

Some communities, meanwhile, have avoided the impact of inflation by greatly increased assessed tax bases. These towns generally are new ones growing under the suburban wave. But Plymouth's base is almost fully matured; scant relief is in sight from that direction. There's little available acreage of any kind within the city boundaries now.

We have watched the everyday performance of the City Hall enough to know that it is a "tight" operation. Rather than being a business that could be charged with waste, if anything it could be accused of excessive frugality — to the point of penny-wise and pound foolish, perhaps. The point is that there's no water that can be wrung from the current budget to provide future capital improvements. It must be found elsewhere.

The Commissioners last night pondered the wisdom of going to the voters and asking for one big bond issue that would cover all the city paving. It would be in the area of $2,000,000.

They also discussed an alternate method of going to the voters and asking for a charter change that would provide 5 more mills on a permanent basis.

But everyone agreed that "things couldn't go on like this much longer if we're going to do a respectable job of providing city requirements."

Of the two possibilities, The Mail prefers the charter amendment for an increase in the millage, reasonably but permanently.

For one thing, we believe the public is getting weary — and suspicious — of facing bond issues at recurring intervals. They are balking at specific projects on the theory that as soon as one is completed, somebody will come up with a new idea and another bond issue.

It would be better to get the revenues on a steady basis. The need for capital improvements will not slacken in the foreseeable future.

I also do not believe stop-gap financing is conducive to sound planning nor steady progress.

I believe the public is wise enough to swallow the truth and do whatever is necessary to make their city a place in which they are proud to live.

Five more mills of taxation would provide the city a dependable source of money to pay for capital improvements. It would add $20 a year to the average homeowners bill.

He knows, in his heart, that his budget has increased that much on each of 100 other everyday items, none of which mean as much to him as a good city.

Adult Classes Jan. 20

Registration for winter adult education classes will open Monday, January 20 with a choice of 51 courses. Classes will begin the first week in February, the majority running eight weeks.

On January 20 and 21 the recreation office in the high school will be open for registration from 8:15 a.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. in the evening. Hours for the remainder of the week are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., January 24 being the last day to register.

Fees average $6 to $8 per course. Certificates will be given at the end of the session, to those taking the classes. Two courses offer college credit.

The following is a list of available courses, arranged in eight categories.

Practical Arts: Cake Decorating, beginning and advanced; Duck Decoys; Hi-Fi, TV and Radio Repair; Leather Craft; House Building; Millinery; Rug Making; Sewing, beginning and advanced; and Upholstering.

As Real Winter Struck Here

The Plymouth area shivered under the first real northern blasts of King Winter this week. Scores of citizens trembled under blankets in their homes too, chilled by the fevers of flu or heavy colds.

Most of the sickness victims were adults. The kids had their colds earlier, The Mail was told, and passed them upwards to their parents.

Absenteeism in local plants from illness was high.

For the kids, the quick freeze brought out

THE WINTRY BLASTS SIGNALED the opening of Ear Muff Season for postman Vic DeWulf, who slid and slipped more than usual but made his appointed rounds on time.

FOR THE BIRDS OF THE WORLD, the new freeze meant hard scrounging for food. Jean Scott of Parkview Drive was one of many who used the old Christmas Tree as a hanging place for bread crusts.

MIGHTY COLD LOOKING, but still unfrozen, was the Rouge River, winding in a beautiful winter scene on the outskirts of Plymouth.

Col. Craig Talks Here Sunday On 'Danger Is My Business'

World traveler Col. John Craig will come to Plymouth Sunday to present the fourth in the "World Travel Series of Plymouth" at 3 p.m. in the high school.

Famous for his adventure films and author of the book, "Danger Is My Business," Col. Craig will take the audience through Europe. He will cover Europe thoroughly and as interestingly as a camera possibly can.

He has shot films in 47 countries, across five continents and under four oceans. His underwater pictures have won him the coveted Academy Award. Col. Craig was in charge of the Air Force motion picture unit which photographed the Bikini Atom Bomb tests. He is also a reknowned deep sea diver and an expert on salvage.

Col. Craig is well-known to TV viewers who are familiar with travel-adventure programs. He appeared on "King of the Sea," videoed from Detroit, last Sunday and is often seen on two other Sunday adventure shows.

The series is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and the Adult Education and Recreation department. The Travel Centre managed by Kurt Thru, arranged for the speakers.

Admission will be 90 cents for adults and 50 cents for students.

FOR THE SERVICE STATIONS, there was a big run on more radiator anti-freeze by those who decided they weren't protected for low enough temperatures. John Hamernick of Ash Service was one administering first aid.

ONE OF THE COLDEST JOBS in town belonged to Earle Spencer of Michigan Bell. He had to pump ice water out of the ground to be able to splice cables.

IMPROMPTU HOCKEY GAMES sprouted up all over the area—wherever there was enough fairly smooth ice to support a few young men, with or without skates.

Farmer Street Needs Name?

$34,000 Tag On 68-ft. Lot

A 68 foot piece of property on Main St. across from the library has been offered to the City for $34,000, plus some incidental costs.

Now the site of a Dairy Queen, the property was placed on the market in a letter from Mrs. Florence Greenlaw Neal. It is 68 by 228 feet.

The City Commission placed the letter on file without comment.

"I am proposing that the City might very well use this property for the location of an apparently much needed city hall," wrote Mrs. Neal. "What nicer location could be found than across the street from our beautiful new library."

"I have a fixed price of $500 per foot frontage for this property, and will sell it to the City of Plymouth with a down payment of $8,000, plus a paid-up receipt for the balance due on the paving of Main St., and the balance on a long-term 6 percent contract."

The Commission was informed by the City Manager that city attorney Harry Deyo "underwent a very serious surgical operation at St. Joseph Hospital about a week ago. He is making a satisfactory recovery and is at home, but not yet receiving visitors."

City Manager Al Glassford reported that C & O officials had agreed to reduce the speed of the "meat train" through Plymouth from 45 m.p.h. to 35 m.p.h.

Repairs to the tracks and clutch of the city's caterpillar tractor were authorized, the cost estimate being $2,500.

Mayor Harold Guenther will discuss Plymouth's prize-winning city annual report at a meeting of the Michigan Municipal League in Wayne on Jan. 15. Several members of the Commission will attend some of the convention sessions.

Petitions were submitted requesting paving on Sutherland from S. Harvey to McKinley. The petitions were offered by a potential home builder who needs assurance of paving in order to obtain F.H.A. financing.

The signatures on the petition represented 48 percent of the frontage involved and 27 percent of the property owners. The Commission requested the builder to contact other members on the street and determine their desires as to paving.

Other special events planned by volunteer groups in Wayne county include an ice skating party, the annual polio benefit ball, a bowling tournament, an interfaith concert and a card party.

The local March of Dimes committee urges everyone to participate in other special activities. Being planned are a peanuts-for-polio sale and coffee klatches. Contact Mrs. S. L. Dibble, special activities chairman, at Plymouth 2915 for further information.

3:23 a.m., Jan. 2 Earliest Baby?

Due to the seemingly small number of babies reported born close to the New Year, The Plymouth Mail has decided to extend the entry deadline for the "First Baby of '58" contest.

The earliest time of birth entered so far is 3:23 a.m., Jan. 2.

Awaiting the first baby are a valuable host of prizes donated by 12 local merchants.

To enter the contest, the parents must have a Plymouth mailing address. A written statement from the attending physician must be received by The Plymouth Mail by 5 p.m. Tuesday, January 15. Included in the statement must be the exact time and day of the baby's birth, place of birth, sex, weight, name and name of parents.

In case of twins or a tie, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

$145,800 To Be Cost of Paving This Key Artery

Plymouth's City Commissioners heard Monday night that it will cost $145,800 to pave Farmer St. and they even suggested that the old street be given a bright new name.

Farmer St. has become a vital point of Commission concentration because it is destined for new importance as a thoroughfare linking downtown with the giant new Western Electric plant on Sheldon Rd.

City Manager Al Glassford outlined a method for paying for the big paving project. It isn't easy. He has the funds coming a little from one source, a little from another, and more from somewhere else.

The tentative plan for assessing property owners is:

• Lots facing on Farmer — $10 per front foot.

• Lots with sideyard on Farmer — $5 per foot.

For portions of the street where there now is hard surface, but where the street will be widened and curb and gutter installed, the assessment would be $5 per foot for lots facing the street and $2.50 for sideyards on the street.

Glassford scratched together $145,800 as follows: From budget appropriation, $11,400; from the budget contingency fund, $22,100; special assessments, $29,800; from highways fund bonds (previously authorized), $20,000; a tax advance from Western Electric, $50,000; a straight donation from Western Electric, $12,500.

Western Electric hasn't heard of the last two items, yet. That company ultimately will pay about $30,000 a year in taxes to the city.

After sweating over the figures, Commissioner William C. Hartman posed the suggestion of giving the thoroughfare a new name in keeping with its stature in the community.

"The name, Farmer street does nothing inspiring for me," he observed. "Does it have any significance? If not, wouldn't it be better to name it after a citizen who has made significant contributions to our city?" He suggested, as one possibility, the name of Frank Henderson.

None of the Commissioners had any idea what significance there might have been to the original naming of Farmer St. The Mail later contacted Karl Starkweather, the Dean of Local History, and he said the street was named by his grandfather and "the name didn't have any particular significance."

The street was laid out by Louis Hilmer about 1902, said Starkweather, to subdivide the estate. "The name didn't mean much of anything—he may have been influenced by the suggestion of the Farmer street in Detroit." (Detroit's street, however, was named after a man, Silas Farmer.)

The Planning Commission was given the task of studying the name change and will be asked to report back in the near future.

SINGER NAMED
Lester E. Singer, 475 Adams Street, was appointed Monday night by Mayor Guenther to the City of Plymouth's Personnel Service Appeal Board for a term to expire in 1960.

Cantrell-Dahlager Vows Repeated in Holiday Setting

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Dahlager

The altar and windows of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville were banked with arrangements of white chrysanthemums and Christmas holly for the December 14 wedding of Caroline Sue Cantrell and Rodney Arnold Dahlager.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Cantrell of Nine Mile road in Northville and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Noble Dahlager of Grace street in Northville.

Jointly officiating at the 7 o'clock candlelight ceremony were Rev. John O. Taxis of the First Presbyterian Church and Rev. David L. Rieder of the First Baptist Church of Plymouth. It was a double ring service.

The pews were decorated with white chrysanthemums and holly to continue the Christmas theme. W. G. Williams sang "Because" and Isabel Schultz sang "Through the Years" accompanied by Mrs. W. G. Williams at the organ. Williams and Miss Schultz joined voices to sing "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory silk satin, fashioned with long sleeves, sweetheart neckline of rose pointe chantilly lace. Garlands of rose pointe lace were appliqued on the floor-length skirt which fell into a chapel train. Her two-tier fingertip veil of ivory silk illusion was held by a crown of tiny pearls.

She carried a white orchid mounted on a white Bible. Stephanotis and seed pearls formed a cascade. A single strand of tiny pearls and matching earrings, a gift of the bridegroom, were worn.

The maid of honor, Shirley Jo Nikoden of Miami, Fla., wore an emerald taffeta gown featuring a ballerina-length skirt draped into a bustle in back, short cape sleeves and a squaw neck-line. Her hat was of matching feathers and veil. Her flowers were a cascade ar-

Mr. and Mrs. Raynold J. Sieber, 250 N. Holbrook, announce the arrival of a 6 pound, 11 ounce son, Mark Raynold, December 14 at St. Joseph Mercy hospital in Ann Arbor. He was baptized at Our Lady of Good Counsel church on December 29 with Mr. and Mrs. William B. Grimes of Anderson, Ind., as godparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Denski of Canton Center announce the birth of their second son Stanley Louis on December 24 at University hospital in Ann Arbor. Mrs. Denski is the former Barbara Kanka.

A son, Gene Kevin, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gene Myers of Territorial road on January 3 in St. Joseph hospital in Ann Arbor. The baby weighed 7 pounds, 4 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. James Menard of Walled Lake announce the birth of a daughter Susan Ann on January 2 in Ridgewood hospital. Mrs. Menard is the former Sara Ann McConnell.

February Date Set By Hester Zilliken, Kenneth Gust II

The engagement of Chrysanthemums of a soft green, accented with red holly berries. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Stanley Dahlager of Plymouth, Billie Ann Parker, and Peggy Ann Parker of Smithville, Tenn. and Mrs. John P. Boyer of Detroit. Their dresses were identical to the maid of honor's, and they carried white chrysanthemums and red holly berries.

The flower girl, Verna Bidle of Northville, dressed in tissue organza in light green trimmed in white lace, with an emerald cummerbund. She wore a tissue organza green half-bonnet with lace trim and white slippers. She carried a white basket of green chrysanthemums and petals to scatter down the aisle ahead of the bride.

Stanley Dahlager of Plymouth was best man. Ushers were James Boner of Livonia, Arthur Carlson, Jr. of Northville, John Boyer of Detroit and Lawrence Burnette of Northville. Larry Bidle of Northville was ring bearer. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Cantrell wore an ice-blue lace-over-taffeta gown with hat and shoes in matching color. Mrs. Dahlager wore a gown of Forest green lace over light green taffeta with black and white accessories. Both mothers wore a white orchid corsage.

A reception was held at the Northville Community Center for about 300 guests from Northville, Plymouth, Livonia, Ann Arbor, Detroit, Dearborn, Drayton Plains, Dexter, Walled Lake, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Tennessee and Florida.

For a trip to Niagara Falls, the new Mrs. Dahlager wore a white wool suit with brown and beige accessories. The couple are both graduates of Northville high school. The bride groom served with the U.S. Army from 1955 to 1957. Both are employed in Ann Arbor. They are living temporarily on Eight Mile road in Northville.

The Reader Speaks
Editor:
I have been reading your paper rather regularly for some time now and I have found many items in it which have been informative and of benefit to me. However, if your article on the Northville Community Building is a representative example of the accuracy of your reporting perhaps I had better just stick to the New York Times, Christian Science Monitor and the Northville Record.
Both as a private citizen and taxpayer, and also as a member of the Northville City Council, I should like to briefly state, in my judgment, some corrections to your story.
1. The money from the Northville Downs was not earmarked by the Downs, but represented payments which at least in large part were payment for services provided by the City of Northville and paid for out of city taxpayer funds. It was the City (then Village) Council which decided to earmark the funds. In addition to these monies, the City contributed a substantial amount out of the general fund of the City to pay for the project.
2. The statement that if the school district bought the building they would be buying a building they already own is manifestly ridiculous. The City, which in area and population is much smaller than the school district, legally and morally owns the building.
3. The statement that under City Control the use of the building could not be restricted is in itself so absurd (just go back to the article and read that part over again) that I can perhaps assume that I can perhaps assume that this was intended as a "tongue in cheek" statement.
4. The use of the word "luckily" in reference to the gym in the building is also misleading, but the school's desperate need for a gym is better reporting. (Northville's new High School soon to be constructed will have an excellent gym.)
5. Most of all I want to protest the statement that nothing much can be done about the present situation. The Northville City Council has plans for the building — in fact alternate plans. The preferred plan I feel would be of maximum benefit and fairness to the citizens of Northville and of the entire school district. The alternate plan is equally fair, but would mainly benefit the taxpayers of the City of Northville, who rightfully and in fact own the building.
In closing let me not infer unfair criticism of your reporter. Maybe the "reporting" was better than the adequacy of his sources of information. Every man is entitled to his point of view, but sometimes there are strong and honest differences of opinion as to fact, as well as judgment.

By Bill Dilworth

Herb Woolweaver, Director of Recreation and Adult Education for Plymouth has announced another first for the "kids" of Plymouth. This is the first time that a bowling league will be operated for the Junior High School.

The first 40 who register will be accepted. Registration is open to both boys and girls and the tentative starting date is Wednesday, Jan. 15 at the Parkview Recreation, 584 W. Ann Arbor Trail. The league will be supervised by Bill Stockton and Mrs. Augustine. Another first is the hockey league which is scheduled to open on Saturday at 9 a.m. on Packard Pond. This could be the beginning of some good hockey for the people of Plymouth. If enthusiasm can be used as a criterion this league will be in for a fine season. The schedule for the month of January appears elsewhere on this page.

On the subject of hockey and ice skating rinks in particular, Woolweaver explains the reason for the lack of ice at parks and schools. "Frost is not deep enough yet and as a result the water just flows off," he said. A good ice surface requires at least six inches of frost and more snow so that it can be packed down to form a good base on which to spray. The swimming pool is again open to the public after being closed since Dec. 23. The schedule is:

Monday - Family night
Tuesday - Mother and Daughter night
Wednesday - Father and son
Thursday - Open (when there is not a swimming meet) to-night Plymouth entertains Ypsilanti.
Friday - No Swimming
Saturday - Teenagers

Calling all basketball fans! Mark the night of Friday, January 17 for the best basketball game of the season.

Teams: Plymouth and Bentley
Place: Plymouth High Gymnasium
Time: 8:00 p.m.

Come early to avoid the stampede!

Jack Carter of the recreation department has been a busy person the past few weeks drafting schedules for four basketball leagues. Games for the next week are as follows:

GRADE SCHOOL LEAGUE

Soil Research

DAVIS, Calif. — (UP) — Agriculture scientists are planning to add radioactive gypsum to soil in California ranch lands to determine where the fertilizer goes. By tracing the radioactivity they hope to find out how much of the gypsum goes up into the plants and how much is washed out of the soil by rain.

SYDNEY UPTHEGROVE (right foreground, wearing glasses) retired as a job printer at The Plymouth Mail last week. His gift from fellow employees, is hidden in the box as this picture was taken, but it was different. It was a thoroughbred Dachshund puppy and came as a surprise to Syd because the gift had been wrapped in a box with a ribbon just like non-moving stuff. Mrs. Upthegrove was there for the opening (across from Syd, wearing hat). Publisher Paul Chandler (bow tie) and other Mail employees enjoyed the moment, too.

First Place At Stake In Belleville Contest

Plymouth Rocks varsity and junior varsity basketball squads journey to Belleville to-morrow night to resume the Suburban Six schedule which was halted temporarily for the Christmas vacation.

The Rock varsity team currently is in a three-cornered tie for first place with the same Belleville team that they will face away from home and Bentley High School of Livonia. Coach Jim Doyle has had his team practicing throughout the holidays to correct some defensive flaws he noticed in the Allen Park game.

Unbeaten Plymouth seems to gain confidence with each game as their shooting accuracy improves. They demonstrated against Allen Park that when Bill Hubert and Ken Knipschild are checked closely, there are several other players on the team who can score points.

It will be interesting to see just what type of strategy Doyle employs in an effort to stay in first place and increase his winning streak to four games—one non-league victory and three league games.

Game time at the Belleville high school gymnasium for the varsity game will be 8:15. This will be preceded by the junior varsity contest at 7:00 p.m.

Pursell, Professor Debate UN

"And as far as I am concerned, the United Nations should be removed from this country, preferably into the Atlantic Ocean," was the summation of Roy Pursell's negative stand upon the relative merits of the United Nations last Thursday evening in the Miles Standish Room of the Mayflower Hotel, before the members of the Plymouth Lions Club, their members and guests.

Pursell was opposed in a debate by Doctor Innes L. Claude, Associate Professor of Political Science of the University of Michigan who in his opening remarks said he fully realized that the United Nations had its faults, but that it offered the only avenue for international understanding among the nations of the earth.

Further, he added, he had many times heard the "half truths and allegations" about U.N. but he had yet to see any proof to back them up.

In answer to the assertion that the Communists dominated the Secretariat of the United Nations, Professor Claude said that Soviet Russia had a representation of approximately 37 when they were entitled to several hundred. The reason for this, implied Professor Claude, was that they feared having too many Soviet citizens exposed to the luxuries of the free western world.

Further, added the Professor, the Russians share the same fear as we do in that they feel that if there were 1,000 Russians and one American in their midst, the American would be sure to corrupt the morals of the 1,000 Russians. The professor concluded by saying that "the only avenue open to world understanding is the United Nations."

Pursell's main emphasis was on the United Nations International Children's Educational Fund (UNICEF) which he alleged was "nothing but an organ of Communist propaganda which doled out the funds contributed by the Western World and gave the credit to the communists."

"The main goal of UNICEF is dedicated to the complete obliteration of the white world by diluting it with the blood of the non-whites of the world." Pursell named a television program of Edward R. Murrow which featured Danny Kaye in a good will tour around the world to sell the UNICEF program. "Danny Kaye is known to belong to three communist front organizations while Mr. Murrow belongs to one. This is evidence that UNICEF is communist dominated."

The debate consisted of two 20 minute periods, a five minute rebuttal and a 10 minute question period from the audience. Among the guests present was State Senator John B. Swainson.

Hot Rods, Antiques in Show Together

With an entry that includes some 150 hot rods and antique cars and more than 100 sports cars, the sixth annual Autorama which opens a three day showing at the State Fairgrounds on Friday (Jan. 10) and continues through Sunday (Jan. 12), promises to be the best ever presented in the Detroit area.

The exhibits have a value of close to two million dollars and the list is topped by the world's championship Mercedes-Benz, loaned to Autorama by the Henry Ford Museum. It is valued at $295,000.

This year's event is being sponsored jointly by the Michigan Hot Rod Association and the Michigan Sports Car Club and the entire proceeds are divided between the two non-profit organizations to carry on their year round programs and to finance pet projects.

Ron Radloff, 25307 Ivanhoe, Redford, and Don Houck 33870 Quaker Valley, Farmington, members of the MHRRA Board of Directors, are serving as co-chairmen for their group and the Michigan Sports Car Club exhibits are under the supervision of Ed Lawrence, 15775 Mulberry, Wyandotte and Bob Beemer, 5950 Poplar Lane, Birmingham, as co-chairmen.

In past years the Autorama has been sponsored only by the MHRRA but the addition of the Sports Car Club this year completes the picture to make the auto show the most unusual and unique staged in the Detroit area.

It is a show of only hot rods, antiques and sports cars—but none is for sale. Each car exhibited is the property of the exhibitor and each represents hours and in many cases years of work in reconstructing sleek, highly polished cars.

More than that, many of the hot rods and all of the antiques are for show purposes only and seldom are used on the highways. The owners take particular delight in placing their masterpieces in competition against the best from all other sections of the state. They prize the trophies awarded in the show division more than any amount of money that could be won in race competition.

And some of the hot rods are worth considerable cash in the eyes of the owner who sees the completion of a dream and, in some instances as many as six years of hard work.

These exhibitors aren't wealthy and most are busy with a hobby that gives them a chance to meet with others, exchange ideas and to realize an ambition of taking parts from all types of cars and molding them into a finished product.

Take for example Carl Schramm, 6015 Syracuse, Dearborn, he has worked two and a half years with a 1953 Ford and will show a completed model that he values at $4,000. And isn't for sale.

Sharps & Flats

mother of invention and came up with a complicated stencil arrangement that looks like a ruler with musical notes indented in the middle.
Using these musical templates and a drafting tool, Grant can letter sharps and flats to his heart's content. The job is simplified because there are only about a dozen basic symbols.
But it takes an exacting craftsman to put these symbols in their correct place and in proper relationship to one another.
Grant doesn't pretend to have invented a final solution for transcribing music. But publishing houses have been able to find a better way.
Lately his reputation has been growing. More manuscripts are flowing into the small shop and sometimes there is too much work and not enough time. Several helpers lighten the load.
One publishing firm, Boosey and Hawkes, Inc., N. Y., contracted Grant to do the musical score for a certain piece. At the same time they arranged to have Italian engravers transpose the musical pieces for each instrument. When both pieces of work were compared, the publishers thought Grant's work so superior that he was contracted to perfect the pieces.
This is unusual, but Grant insists his work is on a par with American engraving, better than European, and his prices range between foreign and domestic rates.
Very soon Grant will begin teaching a class in string instruments for Plymouth's adult education program.
Grant was born in Prussia but received his education in the United States. After attending Boston University for one year he moved to the University of Michigan and received his bachelor's degree in a total of only three years. After receiving a M.A. from U. of M. in 1952, Grant was drafted into the Army. Upon discharge he returned to Plymouth and U. of M. to begin work on his doctorate of music.
Joyce Begliarian also has a college music degree and presently plays the organ in the First Methodist Church besides giving private piano lessons.
If a college teaching job doesn't materialize after graduation, Grant will continue his hand printing. Perhaps he'll even do some refining.

Zoning Changes Are Authorized

Two zoning changes were authorized by the City Commission Monday night, one to permit bigger signs and another to permit operation of an inside storage paving plant.
Changed from R-2 (two-family residential) to M-1 (light industrial) are four lots north of Liberty and west of Starkweather. Here Plymouth Paving Co. will have its storage plant.
Changed from C-1 (local business district) to C-2 (commercial business) will be a chunk of "lower town" business area most of it lying between Mill and Starkweather. The new designation permits commercial signs 50 square feet in size, where the former C-1 allowed signs of no more than 12 square feet.

Band Group Earmarks Funds from Carnival
The Plymouth Band Parents are swinging into action with final plans for the Band Carnival, after meeting Wednesday evening to decide the use of the money to be raised by the venture.
The annual affair is set for January 25 at the senior high school, featuring all the booths and excitement of a bonafide carnival.
The parents authorized the purchase of two electronic devices to aid the students of the junior and senior high bands in tuning. The remainder of the money will be used for other purposes.
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Manion of Wayne announce the birth of a son, Mark Herbert, on December 27, in Ridgewood hospital on Geddes road. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Manion of this city are the grandparents.

Throat Operation Silences Speaker
House Speaker George M. Van Peurseem R-Zealand, silenced by a throat operation Dec. 4, asked speaker pro tem Don R. Pears R-Buchanan to preside at the opening session of the Legislature today.
"I have been advised by the doctors to use my voice sparingly for the next week or two," Van Peurseem said. "The doctors have informed me that my throat is healing rapidly and within a couple of weeks my voice should return to its normal state."

Mr. McLean is survived by his wife Margaret; son Walter of Detroit; daughter Mrs. Marion Piach of Plymouth; and five grandchildren.

Let an Excursion into Culinary World Add Variety to Your Meals in 1958 vegetable, the most popular vegetable to be peas, best-liked meat to be hamburger, and the favorite pie to be apple — but that's as far as fact goes in the culinary world. The preparation is up to the cook and the tastes of those he is cooking for.

Choice fare from all the nations of the world, including the U.S., are presented as Americans like them prepared in Marvin Small's "The World's Best Recipes."

Following are some of the recipe favorites of famous persons, and places pulled from this cookbook because of their adaptability to the purposes of the average homemaker.

IKE'S FAVORITE

Here is the recipe for President Eisenhower's Swedish Spritzbaaken cookies.

- 1 pound butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 whole eggs
- 2 extra yolks
- 4 1/2 cups sifted flour
- Vanilla

Cream sugar and butter. Add beaten eggs, then flour gradually, then vanilla to taste. Use cookie press and form your own design. Bake in a moderate (350 or 375 degrees F.) for 20 minutes or until done. These bake very quickly and need to be watched constantly. They should be light in color.

APPLE PANDOWDY

This is an old favorite in Pennsylvania and the contribution of Emily Post to the cook book.

- Fingers of bread, dipped in melted butter
- 4 large green cooking apples
- 4 tablespoons dark brown sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 cup water

Line a Pyrex baking dish, bottom as well as sides, with fingers of bread which have been dipped in melted butter. Fill in the center with apples—peeled, cored and sliced. Sprinkle apples with dark brown sugar (if lumpy, pulverize with rolling pin) and cinnamon. Add water and cover top with a layer of well-buttered fingers of bread. Sprinkle top with additional sugar.

BLINTZES

If blintzes are new to you, Kathryn Murray says that you are awaiting a "heavenly" treat. Blintzes are sometimes served as a dessert, but usually as a main supper or luncheon dish.

This recipe will make about 14 thin pancakes (average servings are 3 to 4 per person.) Here are the directions for the pancakes:

- 6 eggs, beaten
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 2 tablespoons water

Beat eggs and salt. Mix flour and water in small bowl and gradually add it to about a cupful of the beaten egg. Then add this mixture to the rest of the beaten egg. (This is to prevent lumping.)

Cover the work surface near your stove with wax paper on which pancakes can be tossed as cooked. The secret of making thin, tender blintzes is to watch the heat of the pan carefully. Use a 6-inch iron skillet. Heat this gradually until a bit of butter dropped in it will sizzle but not spatter or smoke. Try to keep the pan at this same heat.

Grease pan lightly but completely with butter. Hold handle of pan with your left hand as you pour enough batter to make a thin layer, that will just cover the pan. Turn your left hand back and forth as you are pouring so that the pan will be covered quickly and evenly.

If your pan is correctly heated, the thin pancake should start bubbling almost immediately. Give the pancake just a few seconds until "set" and then invert pan over wax paper so that pancake will drop out. The pancake is now lying raw side down cooked side up. Continue making rest of pancakes, greasing pan with butter as needed.

For the filling, 1 pound of cottage cheese, 1 beaten egg, 1/2 teaspoon salt and a dash of pepper are needed. Blend the ingredients and place a heaping tablespoon full in the center of the cooked side of each pancake. Roll the pancakes and place side by side, in greased, open baking pan. Twenty to 30 minutes before serving, place baking pan in preheated 350 degree F. oven. Bake until they are golden brown. Serve on very hot plates and pass garnishings. These can include sour cream, cinnamon, apple sauce or a variety of jam.

NEW YORK'S BAGEL

From Jewish cookery comes bagel, which is probably as New York as Broadway. Once, when the city's flags were at half mast for a leading citizen, the wits of Tin Pan Alley claimed it was really because the bagel makers were on strike. Cream cheese and lox (smoked salmon) on bagel is the typical arrangement in New York. The standard definition of a bagel is "a doughnut dipped in cement," since they can harden up fast. So eat them while they're fresh—or toast them.

WIENER SCHNITZEL

Of all the popular Viennese dishes which are internationally known, the most famous is schnitzel. What steak is to the American, schnitzel is to the Austrian.

A true schnitzel is cut from a leg of veal. The meat should not be cut straight across the grain, but on a slight slant, half with and half against the grain and the slices should be from 1/8 to 1/4 inch thick. After the slices are cut and trimmed, they should be placed between several thicknesses of waxed paper and pounded gently with a flat-faced wooden mallet, or with the flat side of a cleaver, until they are 1/16 to 1/8 inch thick. The purpose of this pounding is to partially break down, but not mash the fibers of the meat. It must be thin enough so it will cook through in about a minute. The pounded slices are marinated in lemon juice for an hour and should be turned frequently while they are marinating. Ingredients for 8 servings are:

- 2 pounds veal, prepared for schnitzel
- Lemon juice to cover meat
- 1/2 pound butter, melted
- 12 anchovy fillets, mashed
- 2 whole eggs
- 8 tablespoons water
- 1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 1/4 cup flour

Marinate the schnitzel cuts in lemon juice for 1 hour. Just before sauteing the schnitzel, prepare the sauce by melting the butter and adding mashed anchovies and paprika. Keep hot.

BEAN-POT BEANS

Here's a tempting cold-weather recipe taken from "Trending Into Maine." It makes 6 to 8 servings.

- 4 cups small white beans
- 1 pound piece of salt pork
- 1 large peeled onion
- 1 heaping teaspoon mustard
- 1/2 cup molasses
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 teaspoon pepper

Cover the beans with water and soak overnight. Early in the morning put them in a saucepan, cover with cold water, and heat until a white scum appears on the water. Take off the stove and throw the water away.

In the bottom of a bean-pot place a 1 pound piece of salt pork, slashed through the rind at half-inch intervals, together with an onion. Pour the beans into the pot on top of the pork and onion. Put on a heaping teaspoon of mustard, the molasses and the pepper; then fill the bean-pot with boiling water and put it in a slow oven.

At the end of two hours, dissolve a tablespoon of salt and add it to the beans. Every hour or so thereafter remove the cover and pour enough boiling water in to replace that which boils away.

OYSTER CREAM RICE CASSEROLE

Oysters combine with cooked rice in a delicate lemon cream sauce to make a casserole topped with Parmesan cheese and buttered crumbs. A dish designed for those who really love oysters seasoned just right! Complete the menu with buttered green beans, citrus fruit salad, bran muffins and applesauce cake.

Pan-frying Method

To be assured of top results in a meat dish, be sure you use the proper meat cooking method. When pan-frying, brown the meat on both sides in a small amount of lard or drippings, season with salt and pepper. Cook at a moderate temperature until done, turning occasionally. Do not cover the pan. Remove from pan and serve at once.

- Oyster Cream Rice Casserole
- 1 pint (2 cups) oysters
- 1/2 cup milk (about)
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1/4 teaspoon paprika
- 1 tablespoon grated onion
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 2 cups cooked rice
- 1/4 cup buttered cereal crumbs
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Drain oysters, reserving liquid. Add enough of the milk to make one cup liquid.

Melt butter in saucepan; stir in flour, salt, and paprika. Add milk and oysters; liquid all at once, stirring constantly until smooth. Cook until thickened, stirring occasionally.

Fold in onions, lemon juice, rice, and drained oysters. Pour into a greased 1-quart casserole.

Combine buttered crumbs and cheese. Sprinkle over casserole.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) about 20 minutes, or until thoroughly heated and crumbs are browned. Yields six servings.

Women Study Curtains, Draperies

Curtain and drapery styles do change as window styles do. The selection of the right fabric, fixtures and styles often spells the difference between curtain success and failure.

Project leaders of the Wayne County Home Demonstration Groups are discussing this topic at the present series of meetings. The lesson was given on Wednesday, January 8 at St. Pauls Evangelical and Reformed Church at Taylor Center by Jane Graf, Extension Specialist in Home Furnishings from Michigan State University, and on Thursday, January 9 at the 4-H Dining Hall in Belleville.

Selection of Curtains and Draperies will be repeated next week on Tuesday, January 14 at the Garden City Library and on Wednesday, January 15 at the Haas Hark Recreation Building in Trenton.

ton: 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. are the hours for the meetings.

Also included in the discussion will be how made over curtains and draperies mounted on properly placed fixtures can make old window treatments look new and modern. Too, because windows have become larger, air and light must be controlled by the window treatment yet privacy must be preserved.

Visitors are welcome to sit in on any leader training meeting and are invited to become a member of Home Demonstration Work. Call Parkway 1-6550, Wayne and ask for the Home Demonstration Agent for full information.

Be it resolved . . . Mrs. American Homemaker, that you will make it your business in the new year to discover the world of cooking open to anyone who seeks menu variety and whose sense of adventure and accomplishment demands food with a flair.

Whether you and your family enjoy good food or whether you are gourmets who have searched the world for adventures in eating, you are sure to find something to your liking—whether it be from the New England states or New Orleans or from such exotic places as the Temple of the Clouds, in the western hills outside Peking, China or the exotic kitchens of the near East.

Many of the culinary specialties of foreign lands and even other sections of the U.S. would not suit everyone's taste. It is a fact that the most popular soups are tomato and

COMPLETELY AUTOMATIC!

Yes today's modern Gas Ranges are automatic all the way. That means you needn't spend long hours over your range watching, bending, pecking, stirring for fear something might burn or boil-over. Now your cooking utensils will take over that tedious job, because they will become automatic and you will be free to spend the rest of the day as you please. Just set the Gas Range timer . . . adjust gas to desired heat . . . forget it! Your Gas Range will give you perfect meals every time. Gas Ranges give you smokeless broiling . . . flame-kissed flavor . . . instant on-off heat and cooking convenience you'll enjoy day after day. It's no wonder so many homemakers have changed to modern Automatic Gas Ranges for the best in cooking. A fully automatic Gas Range . . . brightens your kitchen . . . lightens your work.

Nine Local Students On Cleary Honor Roll

Nine students from Plymouth helped bring a new scholarship record to Cleary College's sophomores. This sharp upturn in scholarship was attributed to a program of student-teacher counseling instituted in the fall term, just completed. Among the 37.7 percent of the student body receiving a grade average of B or better were, Shirley Austin, Dale Houston, Brenda Lickfeldt, Donald Prince, Claudia J. Sockow, Harry Bookout, Joseph Kranz, Bobbie Eddington and Gerald K. Swain.

This is Buick's Jack-pot Year

NOW—more than ever—When better automobiles are built Buick will build them

THIS is Buick's jack-pot year for new ideas—and the jack-pot year for the nation's car buyers. For here are new styling changes that folks approve, and engineering changes that people want. Here, too, are prices that buyers find great. Take the B-58 Buick SPECIAL—Buick's bottom-priced Series. Today it's an even better buy than ever—because it's priced closer than ever to the well-known smaller cars—and even below some models of those same cars. Go eye it, drive it, price it—at your Buick dealer's now.

THE B-58 BUICK SPECIAL RIVIERA—the big car that's light on its feet—but priced right down with the smaller cars

Look at just part of what you get—as standard equipment—in the big and brawny B-58 Buick SPECIAL that's priced just a few dollars over the smaller cars!

- B-58 Dynastar Grille • Mighty B-12000 Engine • Rugged X-Braced Chassis • 4 Big Coil Springs
- Famous Buick Rotorflow Torque-Tube Drive • Road-Hugging 122-Inch Wheelbase
- 360° Visibility • True 6-Passenger Roominess • Dual Vista-Vision Head Lamps • Hefty Buick Roadweight
- Large, Long-Lived Brakes • Safety Plate Glass All Around • "Velvet Wall" Sound Silencing

Plus a Long List of Other Extras at No Extra Cost!

Horizontal Redliner Speedometer • Trip-Mileage Indicator • New Tempproof Ignition • Direction Signals • Crank-controlled Vent windows • Amrets on every door • Sliding Sunshade • Automatic Glove Compartment Light • Oil Filter-Full-Flow Design • Dry-type Air Cleaner with disposable filter • Step-On self-locking parking brake • Anti-rust fuel line system.

Plus the World's Finest Options

At worth-while extra cost that will return dividends at trade-in time, you can equip your SPECIAL with the spectacular new Flight Pitch Dynalloy or the advanced Variable Pitch Dynalloy; Buick's luxurious air ride; the long-lasting LUCITE finishes, and all of Buick's fine power accessories.

All engineered to the highest standards of quality and precision ever set by Buick

THE UNIQUE OPEL — the imported car made by General Motors in Germany—can now be ordered in Sedan and Caravan Wagon models through authorized Buick dealers.

Homeowner's Association Elects Officers for 1958

Mrs. Robert Fitzner, 625 Parkview Drive, was elected president of the 1958 Homeowner's Association meeting held at her home last Friday evening. Paul Kauffman, as the newly-elected president, received the gavel from our outgoing president Walter Lake. Joe Quinlan was elected vice president, Doris Sponseller secretary and Bob Fitzner treasurer.

A letter from Dr. Rabinovitch, director of Hawthorn Center, was read thanking the Association for the children's Christmas gifts and tree decorations. Helen Lake and I volunteered to serve on the flower committee. Please notify either one of us in case of illness.

Following a discussion on local, county and state taxes all agreed that we were not up to date on the latest tax issues. Therefore a motion carried that we would get an authority in that field as guest speaker for our February meeting. A further motion was made that our secretary invite all property owners in the subdivision to attend the February meeting which will be held at the home of Stephanie and Barney Bird.

Mrs. Edna Ohlert, who recently purchased the Jim Neely home on Parkview Drive attended and joined the Association and we had Esther and Earl Atkinson as guests.

Lee and Jack Ruland of Parkview Drive threw a wiggling on New Year's Eve for the following guests. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Bruton, Mr. and Mrs. John Swainson, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Tungate and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Root of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reichel of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Al Kalin of Northville.

The Harold Kendalls, the Bill Stangs and the Al Truax's saw the New Year in at a party at Barbara and Dick Papes on Jener Street. The Martin Kennedy's were celebrating at the K of C hall; the Walter Lakes were at a party with friends in Detroit; Doris and Don McGill held open house and later made calls around the Circle and we hailed the New Year with the local fireman at a party at Bob and Shirley McAllisters on Jener street.

An "open house" holiday party was held Saturday evening at the home of Jean and Jack Scott on Parkview Drive. Guests who arrived during the evening were Mr. and Mrs. George Schaff from Dearborn, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Oliver from Livonia, Robert Millies and Esther Schang from Detroit and Plymouthites were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ramseyer, Mr. and Mrs. John Swainson, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Tungate and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Eck (just back from a holiday trip in Illinois).

The Scotts had Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Sherman of Dearborn as house guests over the holiday and this foursome was joined by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ramseyer from the evening celebrating at the Elks Club party.

Dot and Bud Wilson of Garling Drive were part of a progressive dinner party which wound up festivities at the home with the dessert course and rang in the New Year. The dinner began at the Earl Markhams on Ann street with hors d'oeuvres; the salad course was at the Laverne Roberts in Livonia and the George Hotchkings on Blunk street served the Hotel men are promoting a national campaign to urge people not to smoke in bed. There are better ways of getting warm . . . and pleasanter ways to keep the home fires burning. Every year there is a great loss of property and life just because some folks drop off to sleep in a cloud of smoke. It's about as safe as letting a hungry tiger lick your fingers.

Getting out of bed is rough enough on most of us ordinarily . . . but it's even worse if you have to leap from your cot and head for a fire alarm especially at this time of year. Although, come to think of it, there's no good time. No matter how luxurious it may seem to lie a-bed inhaling a puff or two, the dangers are as obvious as a purple elephant. So be careful . . . and be safe.

One of our more henpecked citizens says you never realize how much the human voice can change until a wife quits scolding her husband and answers the telephone.

A bad cold can do a lot to change the human voice, of course . . . as entirely too many people are finding out this time of year. For advice on the prevention or the treatment of a cold, consult your physician . . . then see us for reliable prescription service.

main course. Other guests included in the party were the Lehn Potters, the Norman Briggs, the Bill Jensens and the Dwaine Shupps.

Another party was given last Saturday evening by Joyce and Al Truax at their home on Garling Drive. Guests were the Jack Rulands, the Jim Sponsellers, the Harvey Coopers, the Harold Kendalls, the Bills Stangs, the Joe Quinlans, the Dick Papes, the Don Wallbergs, the Jack Kellys, the Gordon Robinsons and the Ed Aznavorians. It turned out to be a final farewell for Diane and Bill Stang who unexpectedly were beset by the movers who arrived Saturday morning and packed them up bag and baggage for their new home in Wisconsin. Remember the song "It's June in January"? I couldn't help but think of that when I heard about the latest escapade of some of the neighborhood boys. Tommy McGill, Jimmy Lake, Johnny Wilamowski, Jay Kendall and Wayne Upton collected all the discarded Christmas trees in the sub and proceeded to use them to build a snazzy little fort out behind the Kendalls. They scrounge chaise lounge pads for seats and old quilts to wrap up in so they could be comfortable while discussing their various interests. I'm guessing that they probably solved (at least to their satisfaction) the mysteries of Sputnik, space travel and living on both mars and the moon. Hubby and I held a small "open house" on New Year's day for the following friends. Mr. and Mrs. Bob McAllister, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Owen, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ruland, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Near and Mr. and Mrs. Don McGill.

Guess its pretty natural for a guy to get hungry after so much physical and mental strain so they rustled up some hot dogs, some hot chocolate, built a fire and had a Weiner roast outside the fort on the old indian trail. Picnic in January? Brrrr!

Moms News

Happy New Year to all our Moms, we hope the new year will bring good health to all and their families who have been ill.

We are happy to hear that Mr. Rittenhouse who has been in the hospital for several weeks is better and will be home this week.

Our next business meeting will be at 8 p.m., January 13 at the Veterans Memorial center. It's the beginning of a new year so let us all make this a wonderful year for our boys in the hospitals.

75 YEARS—AND STILL

Krogering

(The happy way to shop)

Through the years she's known many Kroger employees. Even those who couldn't wait, she still remembers fondly because everyone at Kroger was a friend . . . someone who went out of his way to make her feel at home.

Times changed and so did "Krogering" . . . "the fun way to shop" but those 75 eventful years never altered our lady's opinion; in fact now she enjoys her Krogering more! What she likes best is that she's among friends . . . her Kroger good neighbors who continue to offer the traditional service she appreciates. On top of it all she now gets Top Value stamps!

Last year was Kroger's greatest by far in sales and 1958 promises to be even greater, for '58 is our Diamond Anniversary Year. Discover the fun and savings advantages that are exclusively yours when you go Krogering.

Scout Sledges Set for 'Yukon'

Scouts of the Sunset District will participate in the Yukon Trek at the Warren Valley Golf Course, Sunday, January 12 beginning at 1 p.m.

Following are the adult leaders from Plymouth and Northville who will assist other scouts in conducting the events at the Trek: Sid Strong, Ken Hulsing and Chris Hammond.

Each participating patrol will mush with a sledge they have made from Fairbanks City to Yukon Plains by way of Copper Center, Fort St. Michael, Tik Chik Lake, Tanana Crossing, Mt. Drum, Mt. McKinley, Moose Creek and Kugruk. On the way they will demonstrate their skill in compass work, first aid, ice rescues and tree recognition. Awards will be presented to the winning patrol and to the patrol with the best sledge.

The sledges will be judged for safety, originality and workmanship. Because of the interest of the scouts in this midwinter event some very original designs are expected. The sledges are to be pulled over the course by the members of each patrol. Personal gear of the patrol is to be loaded on the sledge.

The Trek will be completed at 5:30 p.m. and the thawing-out process will begin.

Sidney D. Strong, Director of the event, interrupted his praying for snow long enough to state that, "This Malemute Mush is going to be the biggest, most successful midwinter event ever held in the Sunset District. The boys may get a little cold but we will check their clothing to be sure that no boy is not properly dressed for the conditions. We want them to have a lot of safe fun, learn something and have the satisfaction of accomplishment."

EMPLOYEES OF M. Powell & Son, Inc., wanted to buy their employers, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Powell, something that was needed. So on the well-kept grounds of the beer distributing firm they had a tall flag pole erected. On Tuesday last week, employees and their entire families gathered around the pole as representatives of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Moms Club dedicated the gift during a flag-raising ceremony. All youngsters also carried small flags. A breakfast was then served at Arbor Lill.

by George Spelvin

Now that the holiday season is past, most of us are paying the penalty for exceeding the "feed" limit. Yep, you guessed it—we're dieting. Of course, food for thought is not ruled out so let's examine the current theatrical scene. Still plenty of activity on all fronts.

"The Most Happy Fella" with its Broadway cast finishes up its engagement at the Riviera. If you've been debating about attending, don't put it off another minute. You can still get seats for this happy, carefree musical comedy. Forget those January bills.

"Guys and Dolls" opens over in Ann Arbor next week at the Lydia Mendelson Theater on the University campus. January 16, 17 and 18th are the official dates. Get your tickets this week so that you'll have a front row center spot to view this musical fable about a floating dice game.

"Don't Go Near the Water" in movie form is playing downtown in Detroit. Should be out this way at the Penn Theater in a month or so. When it arrives be sure to ship on board. This tale of life in the Navy is a riot of laughs. Old George and the wife caught the show while out in New York. The ushers had to restrain me several times. They insisted the aisle was no place to be rolling. Before you see the movie trot down to your nearest drug store and purchase a copy of the book. "Don't Go Near the Water" is in the same vein of military life humor as "Mr. Roberts." After reading the book, you will enjoy the movie that much more.

The title of "Don't Go Near the Water" reminds me of a little drama right from life that I'm writing called "Don't Go Near the Basement." Over the holidays the little wife untied the whin and insisted that Robby and old George get down in the basement and tile the floor. Some sixteen hundred tiles later, I'll have to agree, that all the twinges in the back were worth the effort.

Hope some of you were tuned into Channel 9 a couple of weeks ago when the Stratford, Canada players did "Peer Gynt." The staging and acting were top drawer. Comparing this show with Maurice Evans and his attempt to do "Twelfth Night" I'll have to give Mr. Evans an "E" for effort and a "D" for accomplishment. "Twelfth Night" was too arty and the script was cut to the point of making a mish-mash of the fine lyrical language that is inherent with this Shakespearean comedy. Now if the Stratford players could do "Twelfth Night" in the same style that they did "Peer Gynt" we would have a real show. "Peer" is a difficult show to do, but these intrepid souls from Canada dug right in and did the show without fear. As a result it was a memorable 90 minutes on TV. Shows like this restore my faith in our look and learn medium.

A thought just crossed my mind about color TV and educational TV. Several people have indicated to me that they would like to indulge in either or both of these exciting aspects of TV, but they would like to check the results for awhile before sinking money into the venture. A nice color TV set with the converter for Channel 56 would be an excellent gift to the Dunning-Hough Library. I was thinking how nice it would look alongside of the beautiful fireplace that they have. Might be a Santa left after the Christmas rush, who knows? And even if there isn't I'll be glad to throw in a couple of bucks toward such a worth-while addition to our already wonderful library.

Well, time to check the scripts and see what my lines will be for next week. Might be these lines that can be heard many times in a home situation or with the boss at work: "Now, I don't want you to do it my way because I say 'Do it my way.' I want you to do it my way because you SEE it my way." There is a difference, you know.

Plymouth High School

BY LIZ SARAH

As the clock struck midnight to usher in the New Year, people all over the world greeted 1958 with mixed emotions of anticipation and speculation on the future, mingled with reflections on the past year. Since the school New Year is in September, January first is merely a half-way point. Therefore, at this point, we pause to review the first half of the school year, which was the last portion of 1957.

Although PHS has undergone many changes, this year has witnessed some drastic alterations in its physical appearance. The addition of 16 classrooms by annexation of the former junior high school, the face-lifting operation on the library and the removal of the art department from the second floor to the third are some of the major improvements. Not to mention the new windows and doors in the annex, which were installed during a cold wave with much shivering on the part of students lockering in that vicinity.

For the seniors, their most poignant memories will be of this year. The excitement of Homecoming, the anxiety over the Senior Qualifying Tests, pride in their football team; the pondering moments spent during College Night; the work of selling Christmas cards which was followed by the exultation of success when they topped their goal; the fun of their Senior Mixer; the seriousness of being measured for caps and gowns and many other independent memories of high school will blend.

The four months since September, have seen many new projects begun. The Inter-League student Council, the Noon Hour Recreation program for 1957-58, and the Mock United Nations Assembly Group are three of those projects to be initiated since school convened. The All-School Play, "Around the World in Eighty Days", was postponed for a while due to illness within the cast; but it will long be remembered as quite a hit. (Even after the delay in production.) "La Bal de la Neige", the '57 J-Hop, will take its place on the list of highlights. Although in the final picture it will probably be slightly overshadowed by the Senior Prom, which will be held in May.

Of course, memories of a school year are not confined to the "Big" events. All the little everyday occurrences add to the whole picture. There is one thing without which school would not be as we know it. The report form, which is distributed at six-week intervals adds a great deal (of frustration and worry, if nothing else) to memory.

PLACING A PLATE of Finska Koffebrod out to cool are Carolyn Stroud and Peggy Corwin, as they prepare for a recent international cookery day at Plymouth High school. The girls are members of the third hour home economic class.

Dip Finnish Pastry in Almonds, Sugar

Finska Koffebrod is well-known in Finland and is in keeping with the type of foods enjoyed by the natives. The land is rugged, the winters are long, cold and dark and the summers are short. The climate dictates the foods of the peasant—mainly meat, fish, potatoes, cooked cereals, bread and dairy products. Fresh fruit and vegetables are a luxury the greater part of the year. But, regardless of the weather, the Finnish like their pastries. Here's an easy-to-make recipe that Americans are sure to like. Plymouth High school juniors, Carolyn Stroud of 653 South Harvey and Peggy Corwin of 2105 Ridge road prepared the almond-flavored pastries for guests at the recent international luncheon given by the third hour home economics class. The recipe will call for egg whites, sugar and vanilla as needed. Just enough egg whites will be needed to brush on the surface of the dough. Sugar can be judged as it is rolled on and the vanilla added to suit taste.

Finska Koffebrod
2 cups butter
2½ cups flour
Egg whites as needed
12 almonds bitter, grated
Sugar as needed
Vanilla as needed

Mix butter, flour and vanilla and knead well. Form in a long thin roll. Cut in finger-length pieces. Brush each piece with slightly beaten egg whites. Dip in almonds and sugar. Bake until light brown in a 350 degree F. oven.

Goodwill Pick-Up
The next visit of Goodwill Industries pick-up trucks to Plymouth is scheduled for Monday, January 13. Goodwill trucks collect household discards of clothing, shoes, hats, toys, most types of furniture and other household discards. To arrange for a Goodwill Industries truck pick-up, call the local Goodwill representative Mrs. Lora Ault at Greenleaf 4-294.

New furniture, crisp white drapes, windows sparkling from a good scrubbing, and the final touch—a fire in the fireplace, have given Plymouth's library a personality all of its own.

It's come along, swiftly enough in its construction, through stages of indoor carpentry and assemblage of work cabinets and bookshelves, looking cold but promising. Now the promise is fulfilled and the people of Plymouth can be proud when they speak of "our library."

The colonial exterior is matched by an early American impression inside. The decorator has successfully balanced early American with contemporary fabrics and furniture. He has taken such traditional pieces as maple captain's chairs and black wood benches and blended them with wrought iron chairs and sectionals of recent design.

Within the glow of the fire is the "living room"—a large comfortable area in the front of the library. Yellow and green chairs, a chocolate brown sectional and varied lamps are the latest arrivals to the room. They are modern in design, fitting in nicely with the brick wall housing the fireplace. The magazines are kept in this section—just close enough to the big, comfortable chairs.

After looking over the new books, and browsing through the cook book section, I came upon a shelf displaying Christmas cards received by the library. The most unique card was green and in the shape of a telephone, sending greetings from telephone number 1. Holder of number 1 for 65 years has been Edward C. Hough.

It looks like some foreign films are on their way to Plymouth. The Plymouth Symphony Society women's committee has arranged for showings of four classics as bright spots in the coming dull winter months.

The first, "The Man in the White Suit," is an English comedy featuring Alec Guinness. Guinness is well-known and beloved for his past performances in English films such as "The Lavender Hill Mob" and "Captain's Paradise," and his present role in the American version of "The Bridge Across the River Kwai."

Back to those cook books I browsed through—one entitled "The World's Best Recipes" is a fascinating dictionary of delicacies and basic food preparations from around the world. Recipes are set forth from famed foreign restaurants and every section of the U.S.—the restaurants, night spots, and even a Chinese rathskeller!

Also featured are the favorites of President Eisenhower, Bess Truman, the Gabor sisters, Emily Post, Duncan Hines, artist Henri Matisse, Kathryn and Arthur Murray and the Duchess of Windsor—just to mention a few.

A run-down of some of these recipes more appropriate for everyday home use and modest entertaining are presented in the Homemaker's Page of this issue.

High Fashion World Waits For New Dior

It won't be long now until women learn what the youthful successor to Christian Dior has in mind for them in 1958.

He is 21-year-old Yves Mathieu St. Laurent, chosen as successor to the fashion czar who died last October 25. Dior left behind no sketches for the spring fashion shows which open here late in January. But he did leave behind a man who had worked with him for four years, and acknowledged by Dior himself as a designer of genius.

Whether Dior trained well is yet to be seen. But at the Dior establishment, everyone is confident the disciple will live up to the master. The chosen few who have seen his sketches—many of them worked out while St. Laurent retired to his native Oran, Algeria—are optimistic.

Just before Christmas, St. Laurent returned to Paris, a signal for the whole Dior team to get to work. The "team" is controlled by three women—Mrs. Raymonde Zenacker, Mrs. Marguerite Carre, and Mrs. Mitsy Brichard.

Their job—to transform the designer sketches into patterns and finally into dresses. This is being done with St. Laurent's help.

On January 28, the world's top fashion reporters will jam the gilt and grey salons of the House of Dior.

Within a few hours the word will begin to spread—St. Laurent either will be proclaimed a new leader, or Dior will become just another fashion house, no longer a leader.

Before World War II, French style leadership shifted with each season—Coco Chanel might have the best fall collection, but Elsa Schiaparelli might have the best designs the following spring.

Hot Session Ahead

MICHIGAN NEEDS $50,000,000 to avoid a red ink budget for next year. The legislature is back to wrestle with the problem and has before it a number of suggestions from Gov. Williams. The whole picture is complicated by the eagerness of both parties to please in an election year.

Labor organizations were the first to protest two years ago when the Entico Fermi Corp., organized by a syndicate of power utilities, planned to build a nuclear reactor at Monroe.

The Atomic Energy Commission in Washington said it would be safe for workers and the community.

Repeated complaints from the unions, however, prompted Gov. Williams to create a special investigating commission to develop a master plan for atomic safety.

It has come up with a plan for an atomic energy "czar," a director of Atomic Activities who will use the combined talents of six state agencies to formulate plans and to enforce them.

A safety advisory board will develop safety standards. Another on science will seek to find new ways to use energy in the state's economy.

For instance the department of agriculture will be assigned to determine the uses of atomic energy on the farm.

It will be the state's first attempt to get into the atomic energy field.

Processors, producers, transporters and others who come into contact with atomic energy in the state would be required to get a license from the state in addition to the Federal government.

MORE MONEY for local health departments will be sought from the legislature before spring.

It will be one of the top-priority projects of the state health department which, this year, has an organized pressure group at its elbow.

More than 100 of its leaders met in Lansing late in 1957 to establish the priority list and pledge their support to the health department budget for 1958-59.

FARM LAWS to be proposed by the governor this year will be highlighted by his Seal of Quality proposal — defeated every year since he took office in the legislature.

Williams, who has asked state agencies to spend less to save against the anticipated austerity of next year, chopped dozens of choice items out of his budget. Projects that could wait for a year were held back and others were shelved indefinitely.

Williams then proposed a long-range bond issue for construction to be retired by belt-tightening. Higher taxes on intangibles — stocks, bonds and other securities — is another plank in the platform to make ends meet, or come close, before voters go to the polls next fall.

Republicans charge that Williams' wrong guess on anticipated revenue for next year and this year created part of the money crisis.

To tighten the screws on the whole situation, Republicans are pledged to no new taxes until they complete two investigations of the state's financial structure next year.

GOP legislators — Reps. George W. Sallade, of Ann Arbor, and Willard I. Bowerman, of Lansing, had the bond issue idea first. Williams' is a variation of both.

Sallade came out for the bond issue to build university projects on a full faith and credit basis. Bowerman would allow students to sign notes, payable after they graduate.

Experts in Lansing predict that the 1958 session of the legislature will be "torrid."

PUBLIC SAFETY in an age of atomic energy for both war and peace has developed as a major target for state government.

A Bit of Washington

PROBES FOR '58. These will be the headline makers—the congressional investigations that should appeal to taxpayers this election year.

Already, groundwork is laid for a dozen major probes. Two will be continuing from 1957 — The look-see into missiles, and questionable practices of labor and management.

Others: Housing — To see why slum clearance program has bogged down.

Foreign policies — John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, will be taken over the coals on this one.

Pay TV — To determine whether viewers really need to pay for "better programs."

Auto prices — To determine whether prices of new cars are out of line.

Pentagon purchases — To find out why there is so much duplication in orders, and so little standardization.

Railroads — To check on purported "deterioration" of passenger service.

OPPENHEIMER'S STATUS. Because of Russia's advancements in science, there'll be plenty of pressure by liberals to reinstate security clearance for Scientist J. Robert Oppenheimer.

Oppenheimer has been barred from atomic work since 1954 when judged a security risk. One of the government's 24 findings in '54 showed that Oppenheimer contributed $150 a month to the Communist party in the 1940's.

Oppenheimer will NOT be reinstated in secret government work.

ZARUBIN OUT. In October this column was first to report that Georgi Zarubin, Russia's ambassador to Washington would be removed in January. Moscow confirmed the transfer on December 24, and Zarubin leaves this month.

He'll be replaced by Mikhail Menshikov, Soviet ambassador in India.

FARM ENEMIES. These are the insects and diseases the Agriculture Department plans an all-out fight against this year.

The fire ant which is infesting more than 20 million acres in nine southern states. (The fire ant is known to have killed humans).

Soybean cyst nematode — found on 14,000 acres in six states last year.

Witchweed of corn which infested more than 1,700 farms in North and South Carolina.

THREAT TO RUSSIA? Diplomatic observers here have come up with a new thought on Russia's stepped-up education programs.

They believe the education now being given youngsters may endanger Kremlin's type of rule.

As one observer put it: "Those students are learning how to think for themselves — a dangerous thing for a suppressed, brainwashed country."

SIMPSON FOR SENATE? There will be a scramble among Pennsylvania Republicans for the job of Sen. Ed Martin, retiring this year.

And the man believed by many influential Quaker State leaders to be most qualified says he doesn't want to run for it. That's Richard Simpson, non-Modern Republican from Pennsylvania's 21st district. Simpson likes it where he is. He stands near the top of the powerful tax-making House Ways and Means committee.

MISCELLANY. In the last five years, the Agriculture Dept. donated 6.5 billion pounds of surplus foods to persons here and abroad. Value: $1.6 billion.

Irony: A few weeks after science experts testified before senators that Russia is working furiously on a project to "control" the weather, our government disbanded its weather advisory commission.

Letters From Rogers, Arkansas

Editor: I sat only a few feet from Mr. Hough throughout the course of his remarks, and I can personally attest to the fact that he expressed only the highest admiration for the "Daisy family."

My purpose in writing you this letter is to set the record straight.

With kindest regards, I am Yours very truly, C. C. LAMBERT, EDITOR THE ROGERS DAILY NEWS

Mr. Cass S. Hough, Executive Vice-President, Daisy Manufacturing Company, Plymouth, Michigan

Dear Cass: The stress of Christmas activities, plus my inclination to delay action on good intentions, have combined to postpone my writing you since your visit here for the groundbreaking ceremonies and the Chamber of Commerce Annual Dinner. Our folks here want to thank you for your visit with us, and to express our appreciation for your part in these programs.

Your talk about the "Daisy family" certainly impressed the six-hundred people present at the dinner meeting, and they left the dinner fully sold on the Daisy organization. They liked your statement about the firm being such a closely knit organization "with no big bosses," and where "the people themselves run the business." Surely no greater compliment could have been paid to the employees of plants.

I am concerned that if the implied criticism is allowed to stand without clarification, Daisy employees might be embarrassed when they start looking for new jobs. It is regrettable that a single sentence out of context should be allowed to embarrass Mr. Hough, or work a hardship on Daisy's many fine people who will be looking for new jobs when the company ceases operations in Plymouth.

As you know, reporters were here from a number of newspapers in the area, and on the whole they gave the program and our talks good coverage and accurate reporting. We have been concerned, however, over one statement which appeared in the article of one Little Rock newspaper. This one reporter picked up one of your statements out of context and used it in a manner which completely distorted the meaning of your statement. You may recall that after praising the Daisy employees for their loyalty and effectiveness, you referred in pretty strong language to the "unfavorable climate" of the area due to the attitudes of people in some other industries. As reported in this one article, it was made to appear that your remarks included your own employees as well. We who were present in the meeting know this was not the case.

The recent visit to Rogers by some fifty of your Daisy people confirmed the high estimate of them which we had gained from you. We enjoyed their visit very much. We liked them, and from their remarks we believe they liked us and Rogers. We sensed their intense interest in "Daisy" and in community affairs, and we know they will make wonderful citizens of our community.

We are pleased at the progress which has been made on the new plant since your visit. Good weather has made it possible to go right ahead with grading, excavating and foundation work. Foundations are complete on the shot plant, and even the steel frame is in place. Foundations on the main plant are proceeding — all the west side is complete except about 100 feet — all the north end is completed — by tonight about 300 feet of the east side wall will have been poured. With good weather, the entire foundation will be completed next week.

We have word today from Butler Manufacturing Company that shipments of steel for the main plant building will begin within a few days.

As you know, we have been concerned about getting the pavement of the highway in the vicinity of the new plant widened without extension of the right-of-way. You will be glad to learn that we have an appointment with the Chairman of the State Highway Department for next Friday, at which we hope to obtain approval for widening the con-

His young daughter Jenny tried to get out of his way as fast as she could, and doing so upset the spinning wheel. All of a sudden daddy's temper was gone. Spellbound, he stared at the spindle that was still merrily spinning even while left unattended on the floor.

A great idea dawned in his mind. He would construct a frame with eight spindles that could all be serviced by one person! And he did. He perfected his invention, and became a manufacturer of the spinning machine he had invented. And, because his daughter Jenny had even if unknowingly contributed to it, he called the new machine for her the spinning jenny.

If Your Name Is 'Jennie'

By Ann Reynolds, Ph.D. "Jennie" or "Jenny" is an endearing form derived from "Jane" and it has made itself entirely independent from its parent. This, in turn, developed from "John," a Hebrew appellation, meaning "God is gracious." It is a name that has been just as popular two-thousand years ago as it is today.

The name "Jennie" is much younger, merely a couple of hundred years old. About 60 years ago, it was not looked upon as an independent name. One magazine writer considered it too frivolous, and bitterly scored "the strange fatuity that makes grown-up women — and business women at that — announce themselves to the world as 'Jennie' (or 'Mattie' and 'Margie')." How can they help seeing the increased dignity of 'Jane', 'Martha' and 'Margaret'?

In a recent study, "How They Became Governor," he said more and more governors are coming from backgrounds other than the legislatures and chances are becoming slim that local officials such as mayors and councilmen will become governors.

Capt. Thams Helps Entertain Orphans

Appearing in the Stuttgart, Germany newspaper recently was a picture of an Army captain helping to feed an orphan during a Christmas party held by the 7th Army for children's homes and orphanages.

The captain was R. W. Thams, son of Dr. and Mrs. S. N. Thams, 1100 Maple. Captain Thams is stationed in Germany and lives there with his family.

The clipping from the "Stuttgarter Zeitung" was translated for Dr. Thams by Kurt Thurn of the Travel Centre. It tells how before Christmas the soldiers invite the children into their barracks and treat them to food, sweets and entertainment. The Headquarters of the 7th Army started the celebration by inviting 150 children. Today they take care of 200 institutions from their monthly pay checks.

Yulenissen Visits Christmas Party Given by P.E.O.

Chapter A. I. of the P.E.O. Sisterhood met at the home of Mrs. Robert Nulty on Park Place, December 20.

Vice president, Mrs. Harold Stevens, conducted a short business meeting. The program was presented by Mrs. Halvar Blomberg and Mrs. Eric Anderson. Using as their theme, a Scandinavian Christmas, both ladies displayed many Christmas pictures and decorations they had been given by Scandinavian friends. Mrs. Anderson recently visited these countries.

Mr. Blomberg and Mr. Anderson appeared as "Yulenissen" (small Santa Clauses) and distributed gifts from their bags to the guests.

A duet, "Silent Night", was sung by Mrs. Harold Curtis and daughter Dorothy. Their voices blended beautifully. The group enjoyed Christmas song slides shown by Mrs. Nulty and led by Mabel Bowers at the piano. Mystery sister gifts were distributed by Mrs. Harold Guenther.

Completing the Scandinavian theme, was a dessert served by Mrs. Nulty and co-hostesses Mrs. Guenther and Mrs. William Fowkes. The table decorations were from Scandinavian countries.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Edwards of 11630 Francis street spent Christmas with Mrs. Frieda Flint of Oak Hill, W. Va.

The sisterhood will meet this Friday evening at the home of Mrs. George Smith of Sheridan avenue.

Senator Potter reports

... the latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan ...

EZRA BENSON, with his little hatchet, chopped down the dairy price support tree just in time for Christmas and now Congress is giving the farm boss a verbal whaling. Last week, when he slashed manufactured milk and butterfat supports to the legal minimum of 75 per cent of parity, Secretary Benson mixed the bad medicine with some soothing syrup about cheaper prices for consumers.

I take issue with that. The Secretary's action distresses me because it cuts the income of Michigan dairy farmers, especially small ones, with no apparent benefit to consumers. His ruling will take effect in three months on milk and butterfat used in such products as cottage cheese and ice cream. About half the milk marketed in Michigan falls into this category.

As soon as the new Congressional session opens, I intend to head off the slash by pushing for a change in the law. Congress should set a limit below which support prices cannot fall and in doing so should give consideration to the economic well-being of the dairy farmer.

"THE CASE OF THE DUCTILE TIGHTS" is a new booklet published by the National Education Association, picturing a trapeze artist swinging on the front cover and carrying inside a full description of my bill to give school teachers a better tax break. The title, I am flattered to report, was taken from my remarks when I introduced the legislation early last year.

"Ballplayers and firemen deduct the cost of uniforms and equipment. Business executives dine on pheasant and live in fancy hotel suites, chalking it up to necessary expense. Theatrical people even deduct the cost of a pair of spangled tights. Why, then, are we discriminating against our underpaid teachers when they attempt to develop themselves professionally?"

The Potter bill would permit teachers to deduct from federal income tax expenses for higher education, such as tuition, books, and travel and living costs over and above normal, up to a limit of $600 per year. Congressional support is rallying round this idea and I am optimistic about the bill's prospects.

IN JUST A MATTER OF TIME the sea lamprey will shuffle off his mortal coil and head for the great beyond, speeded on his way by a poison developed by Dow Chemical Company at Midland.

When the new chemical was tried out at Little Billie's (Elliott) Creek, which empties into Duncan Bay on Lake Huron near Cheboygan, thousands of larvae gave up the ghost, floating dead in the eddies, backwaters and main stream. The poisoning of the vicious lamprey life was 98 per cent effective. The new chemical, known as 3,4,6-Trichloro-2-nitrophenol, or Dowlap 30, was developed after five years of screening and testing of about 6,000 chemicals. If succeeding tests go as well, Dowlap 30 will be placed in immediate use.

TEKONSHA, first settled in 1832 on the site of an Indian village, was named for a beloved chief of the Potawatomi, Tekonquasha (1768-1825), whose body is believed to be buried somewhere in the present village.

The biggest single revenue producer among government excise taxes was the tax on distilled spirits, which brought in $2,121,411,000 in the 1956 fiscal year.

The City Manager's Corner

By Al Glassford

You will find interesting reading in the November issue of FORTUNE magazine. It has a special article on the administering of the large cities in America. In its survey of the 23 largest cities, FORTUNE has discovered that changes for the better have been taking place in municipal governments across the country.

In naming Cincinnati, Milwaukee, Philadelphia, San Francisco, New York, Pittsburgh, Baltimore and Detroit as the best run big cities, FORTUNE concludes that "Today the big city must rank as one of the most skillfully managed of American organizations — indeed, considering the problems it has to face, it is better managed than many U.S. corporations."

Prior to coming to work for the City of Plymouth nine years ago, my experience had been in banking and industry. I was surprised at the dedication of the employees of this city to their job, and upon meeting employees and officers of other cities, I was impressed with their devotion to doing the best job possible, and constant effort to improve the methods by which more service could be obtained with the steadily shrinking value of the tax dollar.

Industry measures success by profit. It is difficult to measure the success of a city health program or of a safety inspection department. How can one measure whether or not a recreation program is successful or profitable? The only method is by determining whether or not the crime rates have risen or lowered, or whether the incidence of disease has risen or lowered. Other services, such as street sweeping, may be measured and costs compared with other communities. It is common for cities to establish the cost per curb mile of sweeping streets, or the cost of cleaning sewers per mile. It is difficult to make total comparisons between cities as to the cost of operations. For example, our neighbor Garden City, has very few, if any, parks to maintain. We have a cemetery to operate. It does not. It maintains a recreation program; we do not. Garden City has fewer number of police per thousand population than the City of Plymouth. Our resident demand better service and more protection, and so, we have a greater concentration of business, industry and schools which require more activity on the part of our police department.

As the years pass, I notice that there is a more ready communication between communities, the county and the state on matters concerning the public welfare. Only recently, Governor Williams invited the city managers and mayors to meet with him to talk about problems of cities face to face. It was a good conference and I am sure that only good will come from such face to face meetings with the head of the state.

Many misunderstandings of cities with administrative departments of the state will be cleared up. One such misunderstanding seems to be with the Municipal Finance Commission, which because of the increased load of work of bond issues being submitted to it for approval and with limited staff, the issues are not acted upon as promptly as the cities wish. Delay means interest rate increase and bad marketing conditions, where issues run into a glutted bond market. Perhaps the governor can convince the legislature to appropriate enough money to provide an adequate staff for the Municipal Finance Commission.

Madame Marie Tussaud, Swiss-born founder of the famous Wax-works Museum in London, died in 1850 at the age of 90.

THE READER SPEAKS UP

The Wayne County Road Commission should stick to the business of keeping the gravel roads of Western Wayne County in drivable condition instead of branching into the water business, a costly waste of the taxpayers money.

All one has to do is try and drive comfortably over most of the gravel roads of Western Wayne County to realize what we mean by "deplorable conditions."

Most of these roads are badly worn out by the increased load of travel to which these roads are subjected. This area is one of the fastest growing districts in the Detroit metropolitan area. Yet the antiquated system of road upkeep of 20 years ago still persists.

Some of the ditches have rees growing in them which are 15 or more years old. Most of the gravel which was intended to be on these roads has been thrown into the ditches by the increased travel load and the increased speed of modern transportation.

With the heavy increase in axes, Wayne County could easily be put on a par with surrounding counties who have less equipment and tax money.

Boys Caught In Warehouse

Missing telephone receivers and Christmas tree lights are among the larceny reports by Plymouth police. They also took into custody four boys who admittedly were about to commit a burglary.

The boys, three of them 15 years old and one 14, were caught after entering the Daisy Manufacturing Co. warehouse on North Main St. last Saturday at 7 p.m. James Stewart, a watchman, nabbed the boys and turned them over to police. Police then turned them over to juvenile authorities in Detroit.

Michigan Bell told police that two telephone receivers had been cut and removed from booths at Stop & Shop and at its former office on Penniman Ave. This occurred Saturday.

Reports of stolen outdoor Christmas tree lights have been received by police almost daily from all parts of the city.

Appliance Group Sees Helpful Turn in Loan Attitude

The 1958 market for quality homes and for upgraded equipment items to go with them will be expanded considerably by current adjustment and clarification of Federal Housing Administration mortgage credit philosophy, an appliance leader predicted today.

Harold Massey, managing director of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers' Association, said the change is "good news" for prospective home buyers, builders and the many industries that supply items going into new housing. He said an FHA directive to its field offices, which was revealed yesterday, should help clear away barriers that have restrained building in a number of areas.

Commenting on the directive, Massey said: "By giving their field offices this written directive on FHA's mortgage credit philosophy, Commissioner Mason and Deputy Commissioner Sweet have sounded good news for prospective home buyers, builders and for the many industries, including gas appliances and equipment, whose products go into new homes.

"As any agency should do, FHA has been adjusting its philosophy and procedures to the needs and circumstances at hand. By getting his policies, in writing, to each field office, Commissioner Mason is helping lift barriers that have restrained building in a number of areas.

"His recognition of the maintenance-saving aspects of modern materials and equipment is a long step forward. Coming as it does at a time funds are becoming more readily available for loans on housing, it should have wide influence.

"Appliance and equipment manufacturers have been able to advance such things as central air conditioning and built-in kitchen equipment in the face of severe handicaps at the consumer financing level. Certainly these and other quality items will have a bright future indeed with the more realistic lending and mortgage guarantee policies now being spelled out."

PLYMOUTH'S BUSINESS

Ah! Back to normal for another 355 days. One of the blessings of the holiday season is that it only comes once a year, which allows us all sufficient time to recover from our annual attack of "tinseltitis". All reports from the local merchants are that the last minute rush of gift buying brought the level of sales equal with last year.

A note of optimism has crept into the financial picture with the nation on the road to recovery from a mild contagion of the economic jitters. Economists report that after a rather slow first two months, the business level will climb and the chances are that 1958 could well become one of the banner years.

While we're about it, how about a tip of the hat to the boys at the local post office who handled the extra volume of Christmas mail so efficiently.

Ken and Joann Ramsey had a bit of a holiday scare when their two year old Craig tried to swallow a Christmas whistle. After a frantic five minutes, the whistle was dislodged and Craig began to breathe normally again. The Ramseys have nothing but praise for the Plymouth Township Fire Department who were summoned by phone and arrived on the scene seconds after the phone was hung up.

Doctor Ace Williams reports a similar call from an upset parent who's little boy swallowed a fountain pen. "I'll be right over," said Doctor Wil-

Training School Formed to Teach Kitchen Planning

Another indication that the kitchen has become the most special room in the modern American home is found in the development of a training school for kitchen specialists at Purdue University this summer.

Forty persons will take a concentrated two-week course on kitchen planning, kitchen products, wood kitchen fundamentals and general business and selling. The students—mostly from retail stores and manufacturing companies—will undertake 80 hours of classroom instruction and workshop time.

The National Institute of Wood Kitchen Cabinets is sponsoring the school in cooperation with the Adult Education Division of Purdue University.

The purpose of the school according to an NIWKC spokesman, is to enable the students to serve the public better in kitchen planning and sales of kitchen products.

Sympathetic Use of Natural Materials Urged by Architect

It is well that there is a resurgence in intelligent use of wood in American residential design, a leading western architect observes, and more of a sympathetic use of this great natural material.

There is need for a counterbalance, reports John S. Detlie, member American Institute of Architects and chairman of Seattle civic arts commission, who points out the increasing hardness and rigidity of commercial architecture.

"While the 'international school' of architects were over-stressing metals, glass and plastics," Detlie said, "some of us knew all along that there would be a resurgence in the intelligent and sympathetic use of wood. That time is here now."

Detlie said architects along the west coast particularly have been observing the respect that oriental craftsmen

Nation Loyal To Tradition

Americans have an amazing and unexplained devotion to wood, says the West Coast Lumbermen's Association. Love of wood around them is inherent in each successive generation.

Even though architectural styles change, the lumbermen point out, wood is so readily adapted to every change in design and plan that it is the newest of all building materials and, at the same time, the oldest.

Surveys of new one-family houses made for the last three years by the Bureau of Labor Statistics show that 83 per cent of new houses are of frame construction. The sharp gain for frame construction was in the South, where there was a rise of 16 percentage points between 1955 and 1956.

Kitchen cabinets were of wood in 88 per cent of the houses, according to the BLS survey. This is a significant increase from 1950, when a Housing and Home Finance Agency survey showed wood cabinets in 75 per cent of new houses.

Wood windows were installed in 57 per cent of the new houses in both 1955 and 1956. Wood out-ranked other sheathing materials, and soft wood boards had a big lead over other materials for sub-flooring.

The survey showed wood paneling had its greatest popularity in family rooms, being used in 31 per cent. Wood siding alone was used on 24 per cent of the houses, and on another seven per cent in combination with brick facing.

The proportion of houses built on slabs remained stationary at 16 per cent between 1955 and 1956 while those with basements gained slightly. Since a total of 82 per cent of houses either had basements or were built with a crawl space, greater use of lumber for wood floor construction was indicated.

Pickup Expected

There will be a pickup in home building in the U.S. in 1958, says H. V. Simpson, executive head of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association. He says the nation's mortgage bankers advise they will have more money available for home loans. Some expect new home starts to climb back to 1,100,000 in 1958.

Farmers at Top

Home ownership among farm families is the highest since the Bureau of Census started gathering figures in 1890, with 70 percent of all farm families living in their own homes.

Colonial Charm Combines With "Ranch" Convenience

From the drawing board of Designer Donald Scholz comes this gracious American Colonial in modern ranch house motif. Both indoors and out, the home combines the appeal of tradition with functional excellence. Here are eight typically "Scholz" interior features of the home: (1) a paneled recreation room served from the kitchen's shuttered pass-through; (2) step-saving "U" shape kitchen with separate laundry area; (3) an intriguing breakfast nook set in a bay window; (4) separate dining area; (5) big living room with fireplace wall in Colonial paneling; (6) entrance foyer with immediate access to all rooms and areas; (7) two full baths, back-to-back, with large vanities; and (8) a large master bedroom with an 8-foot, full-access sliding door closet.

Combined with the Colonial charm of the exterior are such modern-living features as a rear private patio, and deep roof overhang protecting all entries.

The home in L-shape, permits versatile use of a relatively narrow lot, making it possible for either bedroom or garage elevation to face the street. For full information on this house, write to Don Scholz Design Associates, Dept. 101, 2001 N. Westwood, Toledo 7, Ohio.

Growth Home New Idea for Families

If the idea of trying to raise a family in a makeshift home scares you, why not build a growing home to suit your growing needs?

Take your problems to an architect, says the West Coast Lumbermen's Association. He'll be able to design a functional and beautiful home for you of wood, a flexible material which makes additions and partitioning an easy matter. And even the finest framing lumber, Douglas fir, is relatively inexpensive.

The permanent nucleus of the house, including living room, dining room, kitchen, master bedroom, bath, and a large room to serve as a sort of dormitory for tiny tots, can be built for a surprisingly low amount. Then, as the children grow and you are ready to take on further cost, additional bedrooms and baths, and perhaps a family room can be added.

Martha Washington was granted the franking privilege by a special act of Congress.

Small Home Buyers Demand Elegance

Wall decoration is no longer an intricate matter, according to leading home decorators. Superficial ornamentation on walls is being discarded and handsome woods in different grains and paneling patterns now form the primary decorative element of a home.

Wood paneling has long been used in the great ancestral homes of America and Europe, but in this day and age you needn't be the owner of a manor house to have such distinctive woods as west coast hemlock grace your walls.

Hemlock, long prized for its rich graining and lovely, champagne coloring, is within the price range of most young homemakers, as are western red cedar and Douglas fir, two other fine woods.

Local Couple Among Thousands Who 'Adopted' Overseas Children

Adoptions which are not legal but yet carry the blessings of thousands of America's leading citizens are handled by an organization known as Foster Parents' Plan, Inc. A few Plymouth people have "adopted" children through the agency — but yet, they have never seen the children.

It works like this: Through the plan, foster parents contribute $5 a month for at least one year toward the support of a particular child in the world who has been made the unfortunate victim of war and destitution. The "adoption" is a financial, not a legal one.

Of this sum, the child receives $9 each month as an outright cash grant and the remainder is made up of food and new clothing packages.

In Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sutherland, 1312 S. Harvey, have recently financially adopted Dam Thi Nhi, an 8-year-old Vietnamese girl, one of the first Vietnamese children to be helped through Foster Parents' Plan. TV star Steve Allen adopted the first Vietnamese child.

Since 1955, the Sutherlands have adopted Maris Peterson, a 14-year-old Latvian boy who was among the displaced persons in Germany. More than 600,000 individuals and groups have helped needy children in France, Western Germany, Greece, Belgium, Italy, Korea and the recently opened project in Viet Nam. These children are among those who fled Communist tyranny in the North of their little country and suffered terribly in the bloody Indo-China War.

Looking at the case of Dam Thi Nhi, her father had joined the national army to fight the communists. In March 1954, he was riding in a truck that struck a land mine and he suffered spinal injuries. He was brought down-country and placed in a military hospital at Saigon. His family could not follow until a Geneva parity in July 1954 designated a period of 300 days ending in May 1955 during which time all those wishing to flee North Viet Nam could do so safely.

Nhi, her mother, sister and two brothers were among the 850,000 taking advantage of the arrangement. Her father is now completely crippled and remains in the hospital. With a small indemnity for his injuries, his wife built a hut in a slum section of Saigon. There was no employment. Finally, Nhi's mother went to work as a peddler in the open air market.

Dam Thi Nhi

With her earnings so small she could not support her children, she sent the two boys to live with an equally poor uncle. The mother and two remaining children live in the hut which is raised on stilts over a marsh. The place is furnished with a bed and a tiny trunk.

Nhi is a gentle little girl who now attends the second grade of primary school. She is a hard worker, not only at school but at home.

"We face a herculean task in Viet Nam," said Mrs. Lenore Sorin, associate director of Foster Parents' Plan, "and we are indeed grateful to people like Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland for extending the hand of friendship and love to one of these children."

For others who may want to become Foster Parents too, Mrs. Sorin offers to send information to any individual or group by writing to Foster Parents' Plan, 352 Fourth Ave., New York City.

TIPS for TEENS

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Girls, do you know that:

It's not good manners (or good date technique) to ask a boy if he likes you. You can tell if he REALLY likes you by how he acts when he's with you, not by what he says. Remember, "Actions speak louder than words."

In a snack shop or a restaurant, a girl gives her order to her escort so he can give it to the waitress. Exception: When the waitress asks you, the girl, for your order, tell her yourself.

It's proper for a girl to be ready and to open the door when her date arrives. It prevents awkwardness and embarrassment, especially on the first date, because you can introduce him to your parents immediately and he doesn't have to introduce himself. Always be ready, first date or not!

It saves troubles and misunderstanding if you tell a boy frankly that you'll have "to find out if you can go" when he asks you for a date and you must get permission before accepting his invitation. Otherwise, he won't understand the delay in your reply and might think you're being "hard to get" or perhaps hoping for another invitation, besides his.

You CAN have fun at home on "house dates" . . . and show consideration for your boyfriend's allowance. He can't provide expensive entertainment for every date, yet if you really like him and if he likes you, you want to be together on Friday night just the same. Have fun at home with games, a jigsaw puzzle, records, TV, refreshments . . .

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING VACATION OF ALLEYS

Notice is hereby given that on Thursday, January 16, 1958, a public hearing will be held by the City Planning Commission in the Commission Chamber of the City Hall upon the question of whether or not the following alleys will be vacated:

Alley extending from Lots 45 and 46 of Assessor's Plymouth Plat No. 21 to Lots 8 and 9 of Maplecroft Subdivision and behind Outlot B, located between Harding and Coolidge Streets from Joy St. to, and including, the alley behind lots facing the north side of Burroughs Ave. from Harding to Coolidge St.

Alley behind Lots 41 to 45 of Maplecroft Subdivision, located behind lots facing the south side of Burroughs Ave. from Dewey St. to Coolidge St.

Alley extending from Lots 72 and 85 of Maplecroft Subdivision to Lots 46 and 47 of Brookview Subdivision, located between Roosevelt and Harding Streets from the alley behind lots facing the south side of Burroughs Ave. to the north line of lots facing Ross Ave.

Alley extending from Lots 58 and 71 of Maplecroft Subdivision to Lots 52 and 53 of Brookview Subdivision, located between Harding and Coolidge Streets from the alley behind lots facing the south side of Burroughs Ave. to the north line of lots facing Ross Ave.

Alleys along the west side of Lot 135, along the north side of Lots 140 through 149, along the west side of Lots 150, 151 and 152 of Maplecroft Subdivision, generally located just north of Ford St. between Coolidge and S. Mill Streets.

All interested parties will be given ample opportunity to participate in the hearing and, at the close of the hearing, the comments and suggestions of those citizens participating will be considered by the Planning Commission before making a decision.

KENNETH E. WAY, City Clerk
