

Gaylord Co. Starts Work Here Mar. 1

The Gaylord Container Corporation Division of Crown Zellerbach Corporation yesterday confirmed previous rumors that it has purchased the former Wall Wire and Iron Works plant in Plymouth Township. It anticipates that operations will start by March 1.

Gaylord Container, with its main offices in St. Louis, Missouri, would not confirm nor deny rumors late last month that it was purchasing the plant.

E. J. Spiegel, senior vice-president of Crown Zellerbach Corp. and general manager of the Gaylord Container Division, made yesterday's announcement. The one-story building located on General Drive, just south of East Ann Arbor Trail, was purchased with a total of about 12 acres of ground.

The plant layout will be remodeled and expanded for Gaylord's production purposes. Corrugated shipping containers will be manufactured.

In making the announcement, Spiegel said "The Plymouth plant is one of several that will be established in strategic market areas by Gaylord. We have served Detroit manufacturers for many years through a sales office there and the decision to establish manufacturing facilities comes as a result of the increased use of our boxes in that area."

The Plymouth plant when completed will bring the number of Gaylord converting plants to 17. The corporation also has paper mills and extensive timber resources. There was no announcement pertaining to the number of employees that will be hired.

The Wall Wire plant has been empty for over a year and a half. Wall Wire announced May 4, 1956 that it was moving to Newport, Tennessee. Since then there has been much effort by realtors and the Chamber of Commerce to get the plant sold. Wall Wire had 175 employees when it started closing down. The plant has 50,000 square feet.

Crown Zellerbach is the second largest container company in the nation. With Gaylord Container coming to Plymouth, the area will have three such plants. Already operating here are the Champion Container Co. on Sheldon Rd. and the Gair Division of Continental Can Corp. on Junction St.

Parents Sponsor Science Program in Memory of Son

In memory of a 10-year-old son who died last September of cancer, a Plymouth couple has set up a series of annual programs designed to better acquaint the public with science.

The first "Evening of Science" program planned especially for adults and junior and senior high school students will be given in the Plymouth High School auditorium at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, February 13.

This will be the first of a yearly series to be entitled "The Edge of Knowledge" and to serve as a memorial to 10-year-old Kim Worland of Plymouth who died last September 3.

The series will be sponsored by the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Worland, 290 Sunset. They conceived the idea for such a memorial over Plymouth friends contributed funds for some type of memorial to Kim.

Each of the yearly programs will deal with a specific area of knowledge, and an authority in that area of knowledge will present mankind's most recent achievements in that field, and tell of what men hope to accomplish next in that area.

Atomic energy will be this year's area of knowledge. Presenting the most recent developments in that field will be 39-year-old Dr. Henry J. Gomberg, professor of nuclear and electrical engineering at the University of Michigan.

Dr. Gomberg is assistant director of the University's Phoenix Memorial Project, whose purpose is the exploration of peacetime uses of atomic energy.

Russian progress in atomic science will be reported first-hand by Dr. Gomberg, who went in Russia last April as United States representative at the Academy of Science meeting on peacetime atomic energy.

For his research work in the area of sterilization of meat by gamma radiation, and for his direction of the development of the beta microscope to improve radioactive tracing, Dr. Gomberg received the uni-

Re-assessment Studied By City

A look at the city of Plymouth's re-assessment job recently completed by the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation was given city commissioners at an unofficial meeting last Monday night and whether they like what they saw still must be decided.

A crew of 12 men have been at work in Plymouth periodically since last summer investigating every piece of property in order to make a re-assessment. They figure that the city of Plymouth has land and buildings with a market value of $1,274,760.

Community Fund Elects Directors

Thomas Rossette, 550 Evergreen, was elected president of the Plymouth Community Fund board of directors at the annual meeting held Tuesday night. Also elected were six new directors.

The annual meeting is held each January with all those who have contributed $1 or more to the fund being eligible to attend and vote.

Rossette, who is a supervisor at the Wayne County Training School, succeeds Sam Hudson. Hudson resigned after serving two years of a three-year term. Also leaving the board after serving their terms were John Gaffield, Mrs. L. B. Rice, both serving three years; Mrs. R. J. Lorenz, two years; and Ralph Carter and Donald Rank, one year.

Elected as new directors are the following: Russell Creed, Carl Shear, James Sponseller and Richard Wernette, three year terms; Donald Ward, two years; and Orin Scrimger, one year to fill Hudson's unexpired term.

The board of directors then elected their new officers. Elected to serve with Rossette were Mrs. Claude Gebhardt, vice-president; and John Pint, treasurer. Mrs. Luella Cutler was re-appointed as secretary.

Retiring president Sam Hudson outlined some of the highlights of the year. He noted that the fund goal of $31,549 has now reached about $33,000; a grant of $2,000 was given the Plymouth Colony Concerts to encourage a summer musical festival; $700 was given to the Christmas lighting committee of the Chamber; efforts were repeated to get the Muscular Dystrophy drive into the Fund, but they would not comply; and it was voted not to merge with the United Foundation.

Hudson also presented a letter of resignation to the board, pointing out that he must resign so that he can devote more time to other civic activities and to his work. He had served on the board for a total of three years.

The State Bureau of Taxation, after making spot checks here, said that Wayne County's valuations were not high enough. Plymouth was handed another 9.86 per cent hike, which raised its valuation up to $21,433,310. The city based its tax bill on its own valuations but the county and school district used the state's "equalized" figure. As a result, everyone was paying higher taxes this year.

Commissioners who looked at the "work sheets" prepared by the county tax men, praised the re-assessment itself. They point out that the last re-assessment coming 10 years ago, there have been many unequal assessments. But they asked if the city of Plymouth adopted the new assessment, would it not be paying more than its fair share of taxes in Wayne County until all units of government are re-assessed?

The two tax men answered that other Wayne county units also were equalized and they are nearly all paying close to their fair share of taxes. They added that eventually all units would be re-assessed, including Plymouth Township and Canton Township. Northville city and township are now being re-assessed.

Commissioners also were worried about the state equalization which they pointed out could be again added to the city's valuation even though the commission would adopt the new assessment. The state equalizes on a county-wide basis, not just locally.

Mayor Harold Guenther said that if the commission does not adopt the recommendations, it must first look at the amount of revenue needed. Using the present 15.5 mills city tax rate, the city would gain considerably more revenue. "If

Nab Employee For Burglary At Burroughs

An employee of the Plymouth plant of the Burroughs Corp., James William Lewis, 24, of 4123 William St., Inkster, has admitted stealing 37 checks from the firm's employment office two weeks ago.

State Police detectives arrested Lewis in Detroit after he had successfully cashed one check in Wayne. As a result of the investigation, it has been found that Lewis was involved in a robbery and beating of a Wayne man in December.

Lewis is being held in Wayne County jail under $2,500 bond on charges of robbery unarmed—a more serious charge than the larceny of checks. In addition, detectives found that Lewis has been awaiting sentencing in Federal court on a narcotics charge.

Lewis told detectives that during the night shift on Monday, Dec. 30, he went to the employment office, and found it locked. He said that he later returned when he was about to leave work around 2 a.m. and found the door unlocked (which detectives doubt. They believe that he climbed a partition to get into the office).

Lewis admitted prying open the desk drawer. He stole checks made out to absentee employees for payroll, bond reimbursement and a reimbursement for workmen's compensation. He then escaped through a window.

While enroute to work the next day, he cashed a check in Wayne. Lewis had forged the name of the payee and then signed the name of Robert Scherer of Wayne.

At work that day, another Burroughs worker said that he had seen someone around the employment office at the time of the burglary. As the shift quit that night, detectives stood with the worker while he looked over those leaving. He picked out Lewis.

Lewis was questioned, then released. After the Wayne bank had cleared the bad check with Scherer's name, detectives located Scherer and found that he had been beaten and robbed in the middle of December, but he failed to report it to police. Taken was his billfold. Lewis had used Scherer's driver's license to cash the check.

Detectives then looked for Lewis again, but he was not found.

Mark Spicer, First Plymouth Citizen of Year, Arrives Jan. 2

Mark Allen Spicer, born at 3:23 a.m. on January 2, has been declared winner of Plymouth's First Baby of 1958 contest.

The champ is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Spicer, 175 Fair St., Plymouth.

Dr. A. C. Williams brought the little fellow into the world. The event took place at the Ridgewood Osteopathic Hospital on Geddes Rd. near Ypsilanti.

For his achievement, Mark and his parents will receive a dozen prizes offered by Plymouth merchants.

"I was hoping for an income tax deduction," Mr. Spicer declared, "but we will be happy to get the prizes instead. The doctor had told us that we would be in the hospital by Christmas."

Mr. Spicer, a production worker at the Detroit Transmission, has lived in Plymouth five years. Mrs. Spicer, the Gifts that Mark Allen Spicer will receive include:

A Sunbeam baby bottle warmer from West Bros. Appliances; a stork nurse set from Beyer Rexall Drugs; an 8 by 10 portrait of the new baby by Gaffield Studio; a pair of Buster Brown shoes from Fisher's; two cases of Gerber's strained baby food from Stop & Shop; a complete layette valued over $22 from Kresge's.

The 1958 first baby came along more than 24 hours later than the 1957 arrival. Last year, Kathy Ann Graham was born two hours and 17 minutes after the new year began.

Rules for the contest required that the baby be born to parents having a Plymouth

Girl Scouts to Sell Peanuts For Polio Fund Saturday

Members of 23 Plymouth Girl Scout troops will strike their blow against polio this Saturday when they conduct their annual peanut sale on the city's downtown streets.

Bags of peanuts sacked especially for the polio drive will be given to pedestrians for any donation. All contributions will go to Plymouth's effort in the January March of Dimes fund raising campaign.

Girl Scouts will be on the sidewalks from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Chairman of the sale is Mrs. Russell Micol, 12775 Dunn Court.

Young folks also gave a helping hand to the fund drive last Saturday night when over 250 attended the Polio Benefit Dance held at the V.F.W. Hall. They donated $75 toward the drive. Members of the V.F.W. Auxiliary sponsored the affair.

March of Dimes canisters and posters have now been placed in most business establishments of the area. The 100 canisters were distributed by the National Honor Society.

Citizens are being reminded that envelopes received by householders from the March of Dimes will go to the Detroit address. It will be some time before the amount donated by Plymouth people in this way can be determined. It has been suggested that it may be advisable to give the contributions to the marching mothers on January 23.

Wesley Scalingi Daane

He was first assigned as personnel director and since 1948 has been director in charge of research and development. He will become vice-president, operations. ## Again Seeking Ban of Hunting

An attempt to again have the option of eliminating hunting in all or part of Plymouth Township is again being undertaken with the first steps now being taken in the state legislature.

Through State Representative Sterling Eaton, the Plymouth Township Board has requested that the legislature place the "no hunting" issue on the ballot.

Rep. Eaton said that he has already talked with the Conservation Committee chairman, Fred Marshall, who declares that the committee would undoubtedly turn down the request once more. Last year the committee flew over the township and reported that population in the western part of the township is still not dense enough to ban hunting.

Rep. Eaton, however, has asked the Legislative Service Bureau to seek an attorney general's ruling if it is possible to ban hunting in just part of the township—probably from Sheldon Rd. eastward.

The legislature has never been asked to approve an election involving part of a township, according to the state legislator, but Marshall has agreed that it may be the answer to the local problem.

The Legislative Service Bureau is expected to obtain the ruling within two or three weeks. If it agrees that a hunting ban in part of the township is possible, the Conservation Committee will then fly over the township once more for an inspection.

The legislature itself does not ban hunting. It is necessary to go through the legislature to get approval of putting the issue on the local ballot. Should it allow an election involving half of the township, whether all township electors can vote or just those living in the area under consideration.

The Township Board is seeking the election because of the increased number of complaints received each hunting season concerning shooting near homes. There have been a number of instances of homes and even some individuals being pelted with buckshot.

Gifted Student Program Studied By School Board

A program for gifted high school students was outlined on Monday night by Superintendent Russell Isbister to the board of education. The board also heard a committee request to study the need of secondary school facilities and a request for a voting precinct in Canton Township.

The superintendent presented a nine-point program to establish seminars for outstanding high school pupils. Such a program would be the counter-part of classes already being held for those who are mentally retarded. These are the suggestions:

1. Open four Saturday morning seminars, one each in mathematics, science, English and social studies (political science, economics, history and sociology).
2. Schedule the seminars from 8 to 10 a.m. and 10 to noon so it is possible for a student to participate in two of the four.
3. Select teachers and students on the basis of interest, ability, experience and performance.
4. Limit the number of students to a minimum of 10 and a maximum of 20 to each seminar.
5. Pay teachers enough to make the time and effort financially rewarding.
6. Encourage the teachers to plan with the students the learning experiences and pursue individual interests to the maximum.
7. Utilize human resources within the community to assist in broadening the experiences for the students.
8. Offer the seminars without high school credit and limit the outside preparation to the individual time schedule of the student.
9. Make periodic evaluations of the program. One criterion on which to base judgment will be the attendance of the students.

The program will be studied by the Committee for the Exceptional Child of the School Community Planning Group, the high school staff and the board of education. Parent opinion will also be asked.

In other business before the board, a report was heard from the Building & Site Committee composed of officials of Plymouth township and city and Canton township. Through these meetings, it was suggested by Canton Township Clerk John Flodin that the school board set up a polling place in Canton township, to make elections more convenient. Elections are now held only at the high school.

John Rudloff, chairman of the Secondary School Facility Community Planning Group, asked board permission to carry on a study of the future needs of secondary education (junior and senior highs). He suggested that his committee be given permission to seek out opinion in order to draft a master plan. The board agreed with his method but asked that they first be given a look at any questionnaires being sent out.

Plymouth High School
BY LIZ SARAH

Now that Christmas vacation is a thing of the past, the dizzying whirl of activity has resumed.

So far, the Dolphin Club boys are out to spend their surplus funds. As Bruce Curtis, senior member of the swimming organization, explained, "The school wanted to use the money less they graduate without receiving any enjoyment from their savings, so we threw a party." The boys invited girls to be their guests for an evening of dancing, ping pong, basketball, volleyball, and swimming. Refreshments were furnished by the Dolphin Club, which means they must have been successful in their attempt to use their funds. The party was held in the high school gym on Saturday January 11.

Mr. Homer really deserves a lot of credit for the fine job he is doing with the noon hour recreation program," said Jim Gothard, student chairman of the program. One thing very commendable about this year's program is the fact that it is very well organized.

At the present time, a volleyball tournament is in full swing. The eight-team tournament features one team composed entirely of men teachers. How about a championship, teachers? In addition to volleyball, a table tennis tournament stands with its competitors in the following positions: (1) Dave Elliot (2) David Swain (3) Bob Wall (4) Nick Darup (5) Warren Schmidt (6) Dick Schmidt (7) Ron Small (8) Bob Isbister (9) Jim McCabe. Congratulations Mr. Homer, keep up the good work.

Our debaters talked their way into a complete victory over the Bentley team last Thursday, January 9. Gwen Scharl and Russ Schell, affirmative debaters, Geraldine Love and Bob Westover, negative speakers, certainly did a lot of persuading. Other members of the debate team are: Bill DeLoe, affirmative; and Jeff Huntington and Del Wilmotte, negative.

Peckard's Pond, here they come. A newly organized hockey league, sponsored by the Recreation department, will stage its contests on weekends for three weeks. Captains for the teams are: Bill Lockwood, Stalon Lorenz, Don Nickerson and Kurt Atchinson.

T. V. Channel 58 is in future for PHS. The projects committee is in the midst of securing that attachment for the T.V. that was won by the speech department last year. This committee, which is composed of: Annie Dennany, Jim

The MAIL Attitude
BY PAUL CHANDLER

Your attention is called to two special sections which are included with your paper today, making this a really special, king-sized issue.

The first is a section heralding the announcement of the annual big January sales in Plymouth, a vital time of the year for shoppers who wait for price cuts. This section is jammed with bargain prices and sharp eyes won't miss the many unusual opportunities to save money.

The second insert is a new tabloid section devoted to the Auto Show which opens at the Detroit Artillery Army on Eight Mile Rd. near Greenfield. This is a new project with The Mail and it stems entirely from our desire to promote the automobile business in our area of readership. The welfare of every one of us in this section of Michigan rises and falls with the sales of cars.

The Detroit Auto Show is nothing more than a sales device. All the fabulous automobiles in production today are placed together in the most glamorous setting possible under one roof and the public is invited to come and inspect every make, use their own judgment, and go back home and make their purchase, if so inclined. It is a beautiful, fanciful bazaar featuring the products which our local economy manufactures for the world.

The more cars that are sold, the better all of us in Wayne County fare. To the extent of this newspaper's circulation, we want to help in that effort. The "Auto Show Section" represents a rather ambitious extra project in that direction.

Grange Gleanings

This is our regular meeting night and there should be a good crowd as the program sounds as if it would be interesting and helpful. It is an open meeting, free to the public. So invite your neighbors to come at 9 p.m. There will be a film, "Tornadoes", which is about Civil Defense. A speaker will further explain the film.

Mrs. Louise Tritton was in Washington, D.C. two weeks ago at the Mid-Atlantic Conference for Grange leaders, representing our Grange. Several of the state officers also attended. She will no doubt have some interesting things to tell us.

Mrs. John Root has been in St. Joseph's hospital at Ann Arbor since Jan. 3. She was very badly shaken up and bruised from a fall and must lie perfectly still for some time. Cards and callers will be most welcome.

The Roast Beef Supper will be January 25 at the Grange hall. Reservations must be placed by January 22. Call Mrs. Milda Lunn at 2392-J or Mary Filmore at 788-R.

Out Of A Hat

Nazarenes Pledge $9,000 in Drive

Rev. Charles D. Ide, pastor of the Plymouth Church of the Nazarenes announced today that the local congregation had pledged $9,000. Sunday. This is the beginning of a campaign to liquidate the mortgage debt of the church. The present program would enable the congregation to be entirely out of debt within five years.

Also in this program is a program to follow the pattern set forth by the general church to give ten percent of monies to missions. This was done last year, and is being accomplished again this year. The per capita giving of the denomination is now $133, but for the local congregation last year it amounted to $200.

As soon as the present debt is liquidated the super structure of the east wing of the church will be completed.

Bentley Here Tomorrow for Vital Game

A capacity crowd is expected to attend the basketball game tomorrow night at the Plymouth gymnasium when the two Suburban Six League leaders and fierce rivals, the Rocks and Bentley Bulldogs, face each other for the first time.

Both teams have won three games in the league. In analyzing the team there does not seem to be a decided advantage on either side. The starting team for both Plymouth and Bentley average six feet in height. Plymouth has scored 171 points in three games while Bentley has scored 170. Both teams boast one high scorer. George King of Bentley leads the league with 61 points but, he is closely followed by Ken Knipschild of the Rocks who has 57 points.

There are similarities in the coaches also. Both Jim Doyle of Plymouth and Bob Bentley of Bentley are coaching in the Suburban Six League for the first time. Both coaches use the "press" or a modified form of it. This "press" is to basketball what fore-checking is to hockey - it is designed to harass the opponents before they can get organized. Both coaches prefer the man-to-man defense rather than a zone defense. This is the background of the teams and the coaches who will meet at 8:15 tomorrow night to decide who should be the sole occupant of first place. There are many questions to be answered: Can Bentley stop Ken Knipschild's very effective jump shots from the center of the key? Can Plymouth cope with George King's uncanny shooting accuracy? Who is more adept at using the "press" and which team is more proficient at handling a man-to-man defense and its complications?

Swimmers Even Record By Dominating Match with Ypsi

Plymouth High School's swimming team evened its record at two wins and two losses for the season when they defeated Ypsilanti 68-28 at the Plymouth pool last Thursday night.

Plymouth swimmers finished first in every event but the 100 yard breaststroke.

Don Carney started the rout when he finished first in the 50 yard free style. This domination continued for four more events until Gary Kings of Ypsilanti defeated Don Cash in the breaststroke to break the spell.

John Walker made sure that Kings' victory would not be contagious enough to rally Ypsilanti when he completely dominated the diving competition with a 17.3 point victory over Bill Sorrell of the visitors.

In the second doubleheader the Owls defeated Gray Wings 6-2 and Royals defeated Satellites 2-0.

Jayvees Dropped By Belleville

Plymouth Jayvee basketball team journeyed to Belleville last Thursday night and were defeated by the Tigers.

The Rocks held a short-lived one point lead at the end of the first quarter but were outscored 19-8 in the second quarter as Linderman scored 11 points, adding six more in the third quarter to wind up as high scorer for the night. Taylor was high scorer for Plymouth with eight points.

SPORTS

Rocks Squeek by Belleville

With just one minute and 15 seconds of regulation time remaining and Plymouth trailing Belleville 45-44, Bill Hubert scored a one hand jump shot to give the Rocks the margin they needed to retain its first place share of the Suburban Six lead last Friday night.

Final score of the win was 46-45. This victory coupled with Bentley's third win — a 47-40 decision over a much improved Allen Park aggregation — sets the stage for tomorrow night's meeting of these two teams to decide on sole occupancy of first place.

Both teams battled on even terms in the first quarter as they each scored nine points. In the second quarter Jim Dzurus, Don Alsbro, Ken Knipschild and Bill Hubert each scored two field goals while holding Belleville to 11 points, six of which were scored by Chuck Snodgrass. Plymouth led 26-20 at half time and appeared to have the situation well in hand.

In the third quarter Dick Pitcher with three baskets and Dick Butler with two led the attack that spurred Belleville. The Rocks withstood this burst by scoring 14 points to Belleville's 13 and again the scoring was spread around with four points for Dave Walaskay and Ken Knipschild and two each for Jim Dzurus, Don Alsbro and Bill Hubert.

In the final quarter Belleville kept pecking away at the seven point lead held by the Rocks and gradually cut it down until Chuck Snodgrass scored a layup shot with just two minutes to go to put the Tigers ahead 45-44. Plymouth was held to just two field goals in the final quarter but one by Bill Hubert was the most important shot he has scored so far this season.

Ken Knipschild was individual high scorer with 16 points while Belleville had three players with double figures in the scoring column, Dick Pitcher 10, Chuck Snodgrass 13, and Mike Snodgrass 12.

Coach Jim Doyle summed up the situation by commenting, "We will settle for these one point victories when the boys are having an off night". The shooting statistics did not approach the 42.5% accuracy of the Allen Park game and the closeness of the score is sufficient evidence of this.

In the other Suburban Six games, Bentley's sharp shooter and the league's leading scorer, George King, scored 11 points in the first quarter to keep his team from falling too far behind as Allen Park scored 18 points in the first eight minutes. Bentley rallied and led at halftime 31-23. Allen Park outscored them 17-6 in the second half but could not regain their early scoring punch.

Redford Union had to come from behind a 26-22 score at half-time to post their first win of the season — 47-43 victory over the winless Trenton squad. Harry Munger was high scorer for Redford Union with 12 points while Jack Kaitala led the Trenton scorers with 18.

For those who are interested in using the high school swimming pool on Thursday evenings a brief reminder that on two more Thursdays the pool will not be available to the public because of high school meets. Thursday, February 6, Allen Park visits Plymouth, Thursday, February 20, Belleville is here. Keep these two dates in mind and you will not be disappointed when you arrive at the pool expecting to enjoy a refreshing swim only to be turned away.

We visited John McFall at the pool office last Monday night to discuss diving and how the dives are selected and judged. There are four compulsory dives — front, back, back jack and half twist. There are three ways that may be used to determine just what dive will be made by each diver. One, the divers pick the dives out of a hat. Two, the officials pick the dives out of a hat. Three, the coaches pick the dives out of the hat.

There are five groups of dives and one dive from four of these groups must be used in the competition. According to the official NCAA Swimming guide there are 54 different dives. Nine in the forward group, seven in each of the backward and reverse groups, six in the inward group and 25 in the twisting group. The dives are judged on the basis of board work, aerial work and entry into the water. Points are awarded from 10 to 0.

In addition to learning about diving we also learned that John Walker was second in the league in diving last year and ranks about tenth in the state. To achieve this degree of success John started practicing diligently five years ago. The swimmers also follow a schedule as rigid as the basketball or football players in that they practice every night.

There are 20 boys on the team, from whom Coach McFall chooses the ones to represent Plymouth in each event. It is interesting to note that in the 150 yard individual medley each man must swim two lengths of the pool using the butterfly breast stroke, two lengths using the backstroke and two lengths using the crawl. In the medley relay the order of strokes used is backstroke, breaststroke, butterfly breast stroke and crawl.

For those basketball fans who like exciting games come out to the high school gymnasium tomorrow night for the Bentley-Plymouth classic. Coach Bob Bentley of the visiting Bulldogs claims that his team plays a very orthodox style of basketball.

They do not have any players with special shots but use the one hand jump shot like most teams. He also states that guards Don Phillippi and Tom Eveland are in complete charge of the defensive pattern once the game has started. Asked how he planned to cope with Knipschild, Bentley gave two answers. Jokingly he said "I hope he sprains his ankle before Friday". Seriously, he said "I hope my man is good enough to give him some trouble".

Matching Bentley is Jim Doyle, who has been practicing his team all week on some of the weaknesses that require attention. You can rest assured that Coach Doyle will have ironed out any flaws that were detected in the Belleville game.

Continental Can Makes Grants To Small Colleges
Continental Can Company has undertaken a program of financial aid to education to include contributions to qualified associations of independent liberal arts colleges which do not receive taxpayer support, and unrestricted grants to individual institutions.
Mr. Stephens, District Sales Manager, Plymouth, announced today that Continental, the foremost manufacturer of packages and packaging materials, has contributed approximately $100,000 in these two forms for educational purposes in 1957, in addition to its disbursements for scholarships and capital grants.
"As a publicly owned company, Continental takes seriously its responsibility to help close the gap between the cost of the educational program this country should have and the inadequate resources now available to finance it," General Lucius D. Clay, chairman of the board, said in authorizing this expanded program.
"We believe this corporate responsibility extends beyond the giving of scholarships and capital grants to institutions. Under the new program we will not only make unrestricted grants to individual institutions, for use entirely as they see fit, but help support numerous worthy smaller institutions through their own state and regional associations."
Mr. Stephens said this is the first year the company has made contributions to these associations of colleges and universities. Twenty-eight associations, representing institutions in twenty-nine different states in which Continental plants are located, were recipients of these grants.
Prince Harald of Norway, at the age of 20, has started in Norway's two-year military academy course.

Auto Layoffs Still Growing
DETROIT (UP) — Chrysler Corp. today was laying off 4,000 workers and the U.S. Rubber Co. said its layoffs will total 1,300 for December-January.
All the layoffs are the result of poor sales of 1958 cars, although U.S. Rubber Co. said tire replacement sales are also slow in this season.
U.S. Rubber Co. supplies General Motors Corp. cars with original equipment tires. A spokesman said there is usually a spring pickup in both car and tire replacement sales as people do more driving and warm weather wears out more tires.

Sgt. Richard Innis
Master Sergeant Richard Innis, a native of Plymouth who has completed 18 years in the armed forces, has undertaken a new career in the Army.
Sgt. Innis has been a recruiter for the past eight years, the last three years being in North Adams, Mass. Now he is attending the Air Force Basic Weather School at Chanute Field, Ill.
The career Army man is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Innis, 11628 Riverside Dr., now wintering in Florida. He graduated from Plymouth High School in 1938 and immediately enlisted.
Sgt. Innis started his military life as a machine gunner on an old mule-drawn machine gun. He then was assigned to the old P-38 pursuit plane as a crew chief and then on the P-38's, one of the first all-metal fighters.
He was discharged from the Army in 1941, but when World War II broke out, he re-enlisted and was sent to England as a flight engineer on B-17's. In January 1945 he was given a field commission as a second lieutenant and returned home that fall.
Sgt. Innis re-enlisted in 1950 in the Army counter-intelligence Corps and was sent to Korea as a platoon sergeant where his outfit, the 17th Infantry Division, went as far as the Yalu River. Once he was mistakenly listed as a casualty for 17 days. He later spent two years in Alaska.
Decorations include the Purple Heart, Bronze Star with Oak Leaf cluster for valor in France during World War II and another for valor in Korea. He also won in Korea a commendation with metal pendant. He has nine battle ribbons and eight battle stars and the Good Conduct medal.
Sgt. Innis is married and has two children.

Bowling for Polio Program Opens
Getting underway this week was the second annual March of Dimes Bowling Tournament and tens of thousands of pin enthusiasts were expected to compete in establishments in Plymouth and all Wayne County.
First inaugurated as a part of the '57 polo drive, the tournament last year attracted a startling quota of $40,000 for the care of polio victims. Each player contributed one dollar, as they will be asked to do again this year. Bowling officials confidently expect more than 150,000 participants. Entire proceeds go to March of Dimes. Winners will be awarded two brand new 1958 Ford cars donated by Hai Dawson.
Campaign Chairman Charley Gehring points out that the simplicity of the tournament is its main attraction. A bowler just fills out an entry blank and hands his or her league secretary a dollar before any regular league session.
"Everyone has an equal chance in our tournament," says Gehring. "Scores rolled in regular league play plus handicap allotted on a 70 per cent basis, count. Bowlers may also roll as often as their league competes during the January 12 to Sunday, Feb. 1, March of Dimes Drive period."

Graham N. Bennett

He was first assigned to Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. where he completed his eight weeks of basic training. He was then sent to Fort Carson, Colorado, where he remained until mid-summer and was then sent through Fort Leonard Wood again and then on to Fort Hood, where he recently received his present PFC rank.
Graham is a graduate of Bentley high school, class of 1952 and also attended Michigan Tech in Houghton.

we find that we do not need this much money, we should drop the tax rate," the mayor noted.

The city commission, however, spoke only at its last meeting of its need of obtaining more funds to finance capital improvements.

Commissioners are expected to look closer at the re-assessment figures at this Monday's regular meeting. The two county tax men took the field sheets back to their office for further checking, so citizens will not yet be able to find out their new assessment.

Patrons to Drink Coffee for Polio

Two local restaurants will give Plymouth's March of Dimes drive a boost this Saturday by donating their coffee proceeds to the campaign.

Jack's Burgers, 794 Penniman, and Barney's Plymouth Grill, 950 Starkweather, are offering free coffee to patrons who make their donations to polio. H. Philip Barney of Plymouth Grill has followed the practice for a number of years and Jack Young of Jack's Burgers is donating his coffee for the third year.

Cherry Pie Bakers Are at Work Again

Two Plymouth High School girls, Geraldine May Love, 17, and Sheila Lorenz, 14, will compete in the Wayne County finals of the Michigan Cherry Pie Baking contest this year. The competition will be held at the Home Service Department of Michigan Consolidated Gas Company in Detroit on January 20 and 21.

Geraldine, a senior and last year's county winner, will again represent the Nankin Mills 4-H Club. She is the daughter of Mrs. Clyde Love, of 33065 Ann Arbor Trail, who is also her 4-H leader. An ardent sports fan, Geraldine was a representative to both Wolverine Girl's State and Girls Nation.

Sheila, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lorenz, of 45885 W. Ann Arbor Trail, will represent Plymouth High School. A ninth grader, she learned the art of baking under the direction of her home economics teacher, Miss Janet Golmant.

Sheila is also a sports enthusiast. The winner of the county contest will receive a gold wrist watch.

Second prize is a fitted train case and third, a pen-pencil set. There are consolation prizes for each finalist. The winner will also receive an expense-paid trip to Grand Rapids to compete in the state contest February 13-14.

Michigan's champion will be awarded a $300 scholarship and her expenses paid to the 26th annual National Cherry Pie Baking Contest in Chicago February 20.

At the national finals, regional winners will receive $200 scholarships. A $500 college scholarship will go to the national champion. She also will visit New York and Washington, D. C. where she will appear on nationwide television shows.

Michigan's cherry growers and processors sponsor the state contest, in cooperation with Michigan Consolidated.

Wild West Tactics Frowned On in Maine

SPARBOROUGH, Me. — (UP) — You can shoot your deer in Maine during the hunting season with a gun or a bow and arrow, but you can't use a lasso and knife.

Henning Thomsen, 45, of Cumberland and Richard Doucette, 19, of Portland found that out when they tried to register a doe at a deer tagging station.

They were taken to a trial justice court and found guilty of roping the deer while it swam in Casco Bay and cutting its throat with a knife when they pulled it ashore.

Thomsen paid a $30 fine. Doucette a $19 fine.

Owl On The Loose INDIANAPOLIS. — (UP) —

A big white owl has been haunting downtown buildings. The owl was brought here from Alaska by fishermen and broke away when it found civilization too confining.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Intermediate troop 20 invested 11 girls at a candlelight service December 18 in the Starkweather school. The following girls were invested: Susan Bassett; Kathy Hodge; Pamela Kaatz; Linda Horvath; Nina Olson; Kay Osborn; Janice Mattison; Joan McGill; Marsha Potter; Nancy Barnham and Barbara Shannon.

At the same service year pins were received by the following: Faye Gardell, Linda McDurmon, Marie Sheldon, Linda Norgrove, Linda Horvath, Judy Burgett, Kay Osborn, Kathleen McIntyre, Marsha Potter, Carol Adams, Janice Madison, Sandy Bolander, Karen Allen, Nancy Arham, Arlene Crackel, Susan Bassett, Diane Eckles, Kathy Hodge and Rosemary Battle.

Punch and cookies were served following the ceremony and the mothers were presented with corsages. Troop leaders are Mrs. H. Hodge, Mrs. L. Norgrove and Mrs. R. Mattison.

Brownie troop 18 has had a very busy few weeks preceding the holidays. They made a trip to the National bank and hung mittens on the tree and had their pictures taken. The previous week the girls made favors for the Maybury Sanatorium. They also made Christmas cards and ornaments for their trees at home.

In our city commission (council), seven men are elected at large. Each two years it is possible to select four new persons. At its first meeting after the election, the commission meets to organize and to elect one of its members to act as the mayor and chairman of the commission. He is the titular head of the city government.

The city manager has an indefinite term of office, and serves at the pleasure of the city commission. If four of the commission members vote to dismiss him, he is out of office. He may take part in the discussion at council meetings, but has no vote. The city charter states, "He (the manager) shall be selected for designation by the commission on the basis of training and ability alone." Control over the city manager is exercised by the city commission, first, by being able to dismiss him at any time. A second method of control is through the budget.

If the city commission sees fit to hire another policeman, it may do so by providing the money in the budget. It may also cut the budget where it deems expenditures too great for a particular service. The commission enacts the local ordinances and laws, which the city manager is obliged to enforce.

Department heads are appointed by the city manager, with the advice and approval of the commission. He has control of all department heads, except the city

The City Manager's Corner

By Al Glassford

The Council-Manager plan of city government began in 1914. Primarily, it was developed to establish control by the council of the administrative head of the city, and indirect control of his department heads, and to eliminate the election of a long list of administrative officers, such as a treasurer or clerk, who many times were not qualified for the job. This eliminated bed-sheet ballots.

The Council-Manager plan, in brief, seeks to streamline government. The council sets the policy by enacting ordinances, passing resolution and adopting the budget. It hires the city manager. The manager conducts the business affairs of the city. The plan proposes to separate politics and administration. It is growing steadily and is being readily adopted.

The Council-Manager form of government has been very successful in cities ranging from 3,000 population to cities of the size of Cincinnati, Ohio. The larger cities lean to the strong Mayor type government. Big city politics seem to be identified with the National or State politics. Cleveland, Ohio once had a Council-Manager form of government. It was unsuccessful and abandoned, managers say, because the manager took part in the party politics of the city.

Plymouth has had the Council-Manager form of government since 1918, and has had eight managers, for an average tenure of five years.

Next week we will look into the strong mayor and the weak mayor types of city government.

HOW CHRISTIAN SCIENCE HEALS

The annual parish meeting of St. John's Episcopal Church, took place on Saturday, January 11, beginning with a potluck supper at 6:30 p.m.
 The Rector presented the report of his ministrations and drew attention to the fact that not a single member of the parish had been lost through death during the year 1957.
 There was a substantial increase in the church membership during the past year and the financial reports indicated that the parish is flourishing financially.
 The term of office of three vestrymen expired at this meeting and the members extended a hearty vote of thanks to the retiring vestrymen, Messrs. J. W. Cheatham, William B. Scott, and Robert D. Willoughby.
 The election of vestrymen is always an important business at the annual meeting and the parish elected Messrs. Robert C. Utter, James E. Hardimon and John F. Eley to serve for a term of three years.

Parkview Circle Housewives View Chemise with Distaste

Mrs. Robert Fitzer
625 Parkview Drive

A who-went-where routine week after week can get to be rather dull to both the reader and the reporter so let's be different this week and have some fun with questions about the "chemise" fashion.

You can always depend on Joyce Truax to be up to date on the latest style trends so she seems like a good person to be my first test case.

"Joyce," I said, "What is your personal opinion regarding the chemise look?"

"Frankly, Betty, I kinda like the modified version."

"What," says I, "do you mean by the modified version?"

"Well, I like the fullness in back but I don't especially care about the lost waistline in front."

Censored tid-bits followed about the draw backs of particular features of the short-sleeved and we agreed that we'd have to do a complete about face before accepting the new shortened hemline.

Getting back to our original point I asked Joyce if she would wear the chemise.

"I'd like to have one of them in my wardrobe."

Doris Kuhns is another smart looking gal who wears clothes well so let's call her next.

"Doris, what do you think about the chemise fashion? Is there any one thing in particular about the style which you like or dislike?"

"Personally, I'm against it. I think they might be comfortable but I don't think they're very pretty. I feel that one of the most attractive lines of the feminine forms is the waistline and the chemise fails to point up this feature."

Let's be fair about this and get a man's opinion. Let's talk to Harold Kendall who is married to a tall, willowy blonde.

"Harold, I'm going to put you on the spot and ask a direct question about your thoughts concerning women following the latest fashion designs."

Without any hesitation whatever he immediately replied, "I'm very much against subsidizing the whims of the clothing manufacturers."

From a man's viewpoint how do you like the chemise look?"

"I think they have changed the meaning of the word chemise. I had always thought of them as a very attractive one-piece undergarment."

"Would you like to see Madeliene adopt the chemise?"

"If my wife decides to wear it, what can I do?"

Let's try Helen Lake who is on the tall lithe side. She gets around here and there doing singing engagements and perhaps has seen the chemise dress worn at some of the social functions in Detroit.

"Betty, basing my opinion on pictures I've seen in newspapers and magazines, I do not like the chemise look and I don't believe I'll be wearing it."

Golly — let's call Lois Bowers on the other side of the Circle. We should find someone who likes the darn thing.

Helen's answer seems to rule out my statement.

"As far as I'm concerned," retorts Lois, "it's just horrible!"

Lois laughingly explains the conversation to her husband and after a few choice remarks suggests I talk to him. Nothing ventured nothing gained so here's Robbie's view.

"It's altogether different than what we're used to. It's just like cars though; they're getting down to the streamlined look. All the frills and fancy chrome is gone and they're getting down to straight lines. If Lois wants to wear the chemise it's OK with me."

Lois in background, "Over my dead body."

Next I chatted with Irene Embursky over in the duplex area and put the question to her.

"Irene, how do you feel about the chemise? Do you think women will accept this new fashion?"

"I just cannot see it! I love beautiful clothes that have good lines and quality but the chemise look is perfectly ridiculous. It does nothing for you. They've come out with a lot of fads that they've tried to put through as fashions, but the chemise is a poor excuse for a dress."

Irene sounded quite emphatic and when I asked if she'd wear a modified version she explained that she recently had been shopping for an ultra-glamorous outfit for a special occasion and had tried on several of the chemise lines but found that "I wouldn't even care about wearing a modified style. It's just not for me!"

The Kennedys stopped in for coffee on their way home from church Sunday, so naturally the same question came about. Here's Rosie's firm story. "I think it's horrible! And you can print that too. If I can't find something different than the chemise in size 7 for my Easter outfit I'll wear a five year old dress before I'll pay money for one of those things."

Marty was quite nonchalant during the entire conversation until he heard the remark about the Easter outfit and then a grin began to crinkle around his eyes and mouth as he turned to his wife and chuckled "I heard that."

And there you have the Circle view on the chemise. Who me? I don't think it's new and I don't think it's fashion. Wonder how many of us

by George Spelvin

On next Monday night, January 20 to be calendar-correct, the Plymouth Theater Guild will hold their monthly meeting. Program Chairman Rosemary Koolman promises an unusual, but mysterious type treat for all members and all non-members that have suddenly decided to wander over to the High School and join the group. Jack Wilcox, membership chief, is always ready to welcome new members to the group. Plan to drive, walk, or slide over to the High School this coming Monday and see about becoming a member of the Plymouth Theater Guild. You're sure to never have a dull moment with this lively group.

Speaking of exciting times, be sure to attend the opening movie on the foreign film series sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra. "The Man in the White Suit" is the film and from all inside information sent me by way of a film that will delight you from beginning to end. Old George is going over since Alec Guinness is one of his favorite actors.

About 35 drama lovers braved the chill winds the other p.m. to read for Director Ford Sutherland at the try-outs of "Double Door." In a week or so the cast will be announced and rehearsals started. Here's how Shakespeare dealt with this rehearsal situation in "A Midsummer's Night's Dream":

QUINCE: . . . But, masters, here are your parts; and I entreat you, request you, and desire you, to learn them by tomorrow night; and meet me in the palace wood, a mile without the town, by moonlight; there will we rehearse, for if we meet in the city, we shall be dogged with company, and our devices known, and the moment, I will draw a bill of properties, such as our play wants. I pray you, fail me not.

BOTTOM: We will meet; and there we may rehearse most obscenely and courageously. Take pains; be perfect; adieu.

QUINCE: At the duke's oak we meet.

BOTTOM: Enough; hold our cut bow-strings. (Exit players)

As you recall in Shakespeare's "Midsummer's Night's Dream" these are the players that have been requested to do a play for the Duke and Duchess of Athens on their wedding day. The play is a farce. Everyone of the players is a low comic and the play is an absurd piece of writing. With such a combination meeting head on it's easy to see that the characters of Quince, Bottom, Flute, Snout, and Starveling are welcome to the audience and that their actions put the audience in a joyful panic the minute they appear.

Now Dr. Ford is not a Quince by any means. Nor is "Double Door" a farce by any stretch of your theatrical tape. No, sir, Dr. Sutherland is directing a serious drama that will send chills down your back and wake up emotions that you didn't realize existed. This drama packs a punch. And the big question is what is really back of those double doors? Late in February you're bound to find out if you attend the Theater Guild production of "Double Door."

And the set is another Phyllis Kelly beaut. How this gal keeps turning out such terrific sets is beyond me. She has the drawings down at the tryouts the other evening. We all 'ohed' and 'shed' at them. Her last set drew a well-deserved hand when the curtains parted and this next one is sure to repeat.

Back to that selection from Shakespeare. I knew it was only a matter of time before I'd have old Bill's material on exhibit for you. You have guessed by this time that George is an admirer of the old Bard. I'm looking forward to the summer season when the Plymouth Symphony and the Theater Guild can get together in their summer setting with an evening of Shakespeare and soothing symphonic sounds. Might be a year or two before this becomes a reality, but I'm sure that many people in Plymouth would enjoy a sample of Shakespeare in a Mendocino as a summer treat.

Heard last week that we could be divided into three classes: The handsome — the intellectual — and the great majority. I'm sure that Shakespeare didn't say this, but it is nice to know that I'm in the great majority. If you don't believe it, just ask my wife.

VFW News

Congratulations to Lucinda Archer, chairman of the Teen Dance, Saturday, January 11, for a job well done. Thanks to the 250 teens who attended, making it possible for us to contribute approximately $75.00 profit from the dance, to the March of Dimes. Another dance is being planned for the near future and will be announced later.

Commander John Schwartz wishes to announce National VFW Week January 19-25th. The week will be set up in this manner: Sunday, January 19, Religious Freedom Day; Monday, January 20, Community Service Day; Tuesday, January 21, Jobs For Disabled Veterans Day; Wednesday, January 22, VFW National Home Day; Thursday, January 23, VFW Youth Welfare Day; Friday, January 24, Americanism and National Security Day; and Saturday 25, Rehabilitation Day.

The fall of 1899 marked the founding of the VFW. Then there were no pensions, compensation or hospitalization awaiting veterans who returned home from the War with Spain, the Philippine Insurrection and the China Relief Expedition. These men banded together for the purpose of helping their disabled, needy and less fortunate comrades.

From this banding together under the banner of the VFW came many of today's benefits for veterans and their dependents.

The emblem of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, the Cross of Malta, is both sacred and historical. More than 1,000 years ago the Cross of Malta was worn as the insignia of the world's first brotherhood of men, the Knights of St. John, who fought to free the oppressed and who administered to the sick and the needy. For years, the VFW has tied in that insignia with its motto: "We honor the dead by helping the living."

Commander Schwartz urges all members to wear their Cross of Malta lapel buttons during National VFW Week.

President Beverly Brown would like to remind all auxiliary members of the prize drawing to be held at our next regular meeting January 21st.

January is Polio Month and the Mother's March on Polio will again take place on Wednesday, January 29th. Geraldine Olson is chairman of the march. If anyone wishes to participate, call 3279. We need the help of everyone.

Regardless of what anyone will tell you or what the animals at the Detroit Zoo predicted last Fall — this is going to be a mighty mild winter in fact it's nearly over. No less than an authority like F. L. Becker has told the Mail this. Becker bases his statement on a study dating back many years and to the actions of the catipillar. Becker says he found a catipillar slowly making it's way to the South pole the other morning. Knowing that a small black stripe at the neck meant a little winter, he investigated and there it was — small as it could be — a sure sign of little cold weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Passage and Mrs. Ida Nowland spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Gray in New Hudson.

Who's New in Plymouth

A ROARING FIRE is a comfort greatly enjoyed by the A. D. Johansens who recently moved to Plymouth from Houston, Tex., where fires are not the most common occurrence. Originally Nebraskans, they lived in Washington, D.C. for 12 years before moving to Texas. Johansen is manager of the Detroit branch of Western Electric that will move to Plymouth later this year.

Mrs. Johansen thought they would never live in a small city, since being associated with Western Electric meant life in large cities. Now the opportunity has come, they are pleased with the aspect and intrigued by Plymouth. Their son, Edward, is studying economics at Dartmouth in Hanover, N. H. Pictured with the Johansens is their pet spaniel, Tippy.

Woman's Eye View

by Nancy Rigney

The cold weather has wrought no end of hardships and exasperations on those within its icy reach — especially to car owners. Take the case of the girl whose car gave forth with strident noises at the turn of the key, only to die a few moments later.

This early morning hard-luck story being a daily occurrence during the first cold spell, she smiled good-naturedly, ground her teeth, and called a service station. The procedure went like this: charge the battery . . . try to start it . . . hardly a growl from the motor . . . tow backwards out of the driveway . . . push down the street . . . grumble and roar . . . it's started.

But, such was not the happy outcome during the recent brisk weather. The old familiar procedure went as far as "push down the street" and became "pushed half way to work and back to the service station."

She became wary of varying temperatures and rose in the wee hours of the morning to test the temperamental vehicle. If it started, OK; if not, she found other means of transportation. But, the car responded favorably to these moonlight trials and our confident heroine dispensed with them, in lieu of another hour's sleep. It took but one failure to bring about their return.

Last Wednesday saw the brave car-owner tramping to her car, dressed in argyle knee socks, snow boots and a wool scarf obscuring her face. Finding the car ready to travel, she retired to the house for breakfast.

Time catching up with her, she soon rushed back to the car and in the process of starting it, blurry eyes rested upon a pair of knee socks. Hardly appropriate for work, neither were the boots.

Back to the house . . . take off an argyle sock . . . remember the shoes . . . some papers . . . the letters to mail . . . and then, a hasty return to the car.

Twenty minutes later found her walking into the office, snug in a pair of snow boots, shoes in hand, and one argyle knee sock.

James M. Reh, 203 North Holbrook was initiated into Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary, last week at University of Michigan. He was among six faculty members and 251 students of the university. Membership is selected from the upper 10 percent of all U-M schools and colleges and included undergraduate and graduate students.

If America is interested in producing more scientists, the country should take a closer look at its gifted female students. Girls have shown the same ability as boys to do high level work of a scientific nature, according to a four-year study of gifted children in Lansing.

In a sampling of 50 top students, tested in mathematics, language, skills, reading, critical thinking and other subject areas the girls did as well as the boys.

In these pre-Sputnik era tests, three-fourths of the gifted boys said they planned careers as scientists or engineers. All indicated they planned to graduate from college and two-thirds of them expected to do graduate work.

With the girls, it was a different story. Although they matched the boys in scientific ability, they chose occupations which were about the same as those of the average girl. The reason, says the study, is that they receive little encouragement in our society to go on to work in that area. And . . . little change is foreseen in the future.

Notes From American Legion

Barney Kot, Service and Welfare Officer reports the Christmas gifts to the Veterans at Maybury Sanatorium were distributed December 23rd by Harry Burleson and Robert Wilson. They were certainly appreciated.

Harold "Red" Wilson is in the St. Josephs Hospital, Ann Arbor, Room 7031, Veto Simonetti was in St. Josephs Hospital also but is now at home doing well. Donald and Lillian Kinghorn had a nice New Years Surprise. Donald Scott, was released from Mt. Carmel Hospital and the youngster is now 5 lbs. 3 ozs. and doing fine.

The Juniors took Christmas gifts and New Years cards (handmade) to their adopted TB ward at the VA Ann Arbor Hospital. Gwen Holcombe, Juniors Activities chairman reports that the Juniors would like all the used Christmas Cards and ribbons again so they can be sent to Lapeer for the Mentally Retarded Children. They were certainly appreciated last year and we feel this a most wonderful cause. Please save those again as they are still being used at the VA Ann Arbor Hospital in their physical therapy. Call Mrs. Holcombe at 1759M, and thanks go to all who so generously contributed to this project during the year of 1957.

and Donald Kinghorn now have their baby boy at home, after seven weeks at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Detroit. The youngster now weighs 5 pounds, 12 ounces and is doing fine. Roy Smith is in Providence Hospital, Detroit having a cataract removed from his eye. Let's cheer him up with a few cards.

The Juniors are again collecting used cards and hose. Please contact Gwen Holcombe, phone 1759M if you have any she will see that they are picked up. The children in Lapeer Home do many things with these cards, and the hose are used in Ann Arbor VA Hospital for Physical Therapy. This is one of the Juniors projects for this year, they were very successful last year, so let's help them.

Historical Paper Given by Karl Starkweather

A paper entitled "The Great Rectangle and what Became of It" was presented by Karl Starkweather to members of the Plymouth Historical Society at their meeting held January 19 at the Veterans Memorial Center.

The "great rectangle" described by the speaker was the 240 acre site procured by William Starkweather from the federal government in 1825 at $1.25 per acre. The heart of the rectangle now comprises all of the area of present downtown Plymouth.

Starkweather, who is vice-president of the society, took many months in preparing the narrative. It was completed with the cooperation of George K. Heartwell, vice-president of the Burton Abstract & Title Co. of Detroit which helped him outline the original downtown district.

The speaker told why Plymouth became established where it was instead of at some other point and why it almost became known as Leroy instead of Plymouth.

During the business portion of the meeting, there was considerable discussion given to the purchase and placing of a case in the new Dunning-Hough Library where historical displays could be erected.

Washington Report

WASHINGTON — All the grave warnings out of Washington since Congress convened — what about them?

Let's take an honest look — a non-partisan, non-ax-grinding view of this frightening gloom-and-doom atmosphere stalking the halls of Capitol Hill...

CONSENSUS. Are legislators convinced that this is, indeed, "the hour of peril"?

We interviewed a good cross-section of senators and congressmen — frank, candid, off-the-cuff discussions. The consensus is wrapped up in this clear observation by one legislator:

"Russia's recent advancement in science," he said, "has scared the blazes out of us, that is true. But, as of this minute, we are still more powerful militarily than the Soviets... It's their potential, which they've demonstrated with the sputniks, that has us plenty worried."

And he added gravely: "If we don't go all out — and I mean ALL OUT — this year in improving and perfecting every possible new military weapon, both defensive and offensive, our goose is cooked."

What are these weapons? First the defensive measures.

Anti-sub Detectors. Greatest threat of today is a submarine attack by Russia. The Soviets have 500 to 600 submarines — more than half of them modern. Most of them are capable of launching missiles from far out at sea.

The Navy admits our detection devices are inadequate.

(Incidentally, except in time of war, Russia's subs can roam the Pacific and Atlantic to within three miles of our coastline without violating the rule applying to international waters).

Anti-aircraft missiles. We need more Nikes (ground to air) and other missiles, like the Sidewinder (air to air) and the not-yet-fully-developed Wizard, an atomic-powered missile.

Warning Network. Intensification and extension of the DEW line, our radar network strung across Canada and the North Pole.

OFFENSIVE WEAPONS. Sub missiles — More atomic subs and speed-up of the Polaris program.

The Polaris is a Navy missile that can be fired from subs beneath the surface. It is to have a range of 1500 miles and is to be armed with an atomic warhead.

Senator Henry Jackson of Washington State says we need 100 atomic subs to enable us to range Russian area waters interminably.

A ring of A subs loaded with Polaris missiles may be the greatest deterrent force against the Russians in future years. (Just like our SAC bombers loaded with H-bombs have been the past 3 years).

Big Missiles. A crash program is needed for the Jupiter and Thor intercontinental missiles — and all intermediate missiles.

Overseas Missile Bases. This will be costly. We'll have to placate, with plenty of money, the European countries who allow us to build missile bases on their land.

First, though, we need enough missiles...

SPACE CONTROL. Above all, the consensus of congressmen goes, the United States must push frantically toward control of space.

This is the area which presents the grimmest picture. Surprisingly, President Eisenhower failed to mention "space" in his state-of-the-union message.

The Russian lead in this field cannot be overcome for at least TWO years.

What is needed: Vastly larger rocket engines — something the U.S. had not believed in until now. The engines must have a million-pound thrust to send multi-ton objects into orbit. (Until this month we haven't been able to send a four-pound ball into orbit).

HURDLES. The two biggest hurdles: (1) Funds for the projects and (2) some intelligent orderliness in the Pentagon high command.

The President's state-of-the-union message has made it clear his administration will attempt to get the money. And the recent investigations into the Pentagon makeup ought to clear the air.

But one thing is certain in this aggressive year of 1958:

The people across the land will have to dig into their pocketbooks — a lot deeper than they now think...

"Life Begins at Forty"

By ROBERT PETERSON

HERE'S A MOST unusual story concerning Mrs. Sarah Wheeler, a former New Englander, who found a new career south of the border.

Six years ago Mrs. Wheeler and her husband went to Costa Rica to visit a son who had settled there. They were quickly enchanted by this tiny country of a million souls some 900 miles south of the Texas panhandle.

But they had been there only a few weeks when tragedy struck. Mr. Wheeler was stricken and passed away very suddenly. Broken-hearted, Mrs. Wheeler decided to stay on for awhile with her son. As she adjusted to her new status as a widow she became aware that although she was 65 years old she would have to find work to occupy her time and help provide for her support.

In earlier years this slender, attractive woman had made something of a name for herself in the U.S. in free lance journalism, in broadcasting, and in writing book reviews. But she feared her age would create grave problems for her now that she needed steady, suitable employment.

Fortunately, in Costa Rica and in other Central American countries, employers don't worry too much about age. They're more interested in whether or not a person can do the required work. This very intelligent and practical attitude became evident to Mrs. Wheeler when she began receiving job offers. She could hardly believe it but no one bothered to ask her age!

As she assessed her employable skills she was delighted to discover that in Spanish-speaking Costa Rica one of her skills which she had taken very much for granted now loomed large and lustrous: this was her ability to write and speak fluent English.

Among the job offers were several in the teaching field and one as Editor and Advertising Manager of the English section of Diario de Costa Rica — the oldest newspaper in the country.

Mrs. Wheeler accepted the newspaper job and she's been newspapering now for some five years.

Not only has she thrived in her new career but she's taken on additional chores as hostess of a weekly radio program on which she interviews government officials, diplomatic figures, and visiting artists and celebrities. Although, she's a fiercely loyal American, she has developed a deep affection for Costa Rica. She speaks very little Spanish, but she has come to know and love the Costa Ricans — many of whom speak English.

Costa Rica in turn loves her. With her quick wit and lively conversation, she has created a novel niche for herself in the cultural and social life of Costa Rica.

Mrs. Wheeler is a shining example of the fact that when the going seems blackest, there may be some sunshine just around the corner. Thousands of women past 60 are widowed every year and find it necessary to seek employment. For many of these women — and for older men too — looking for work after 60 may be a bitter ordeal in view of the exaggerated emphasis which many employers place on youth. But there is usually a solution to the employment problem if one is patient and persistent.

If you are an older person seeking employment, it's a good idea to make a careful assessment of your skills. Evaluate the things you can do well. Even such ordinary skills as baking cherry pies or making hobby horses have career possibilities. And if you feel adventurous you may even follow Mrs. Wheeler's example and, capitalizing on your ability to read and speak English, seek a new and satisfying career south of the border.

HOPEWELL, N. J. — (UP)—Stephen Eurusos bagged his first deer in 30 years of hunting, but he won't see the buck on his dinner table. A deer-snatcher stole the buck from Eurusos' car while the hunter toasted his luck in a local inn.

State GOP Point of View

(Editor's Note — George Van Peursem is Speaker of the Michigan House of Representatives and the top State leader in the Republican Party at the present time. He made a complete statement at the opening of the Legislature which reflects the GOP policy for Michigan at the present time. We are reprinting it in full as a clear declaration of policy by Michigan's "opposition party.")

Dear Representative: With the start of this Legislative session I would like the privilege of expressing to you some of the ideas that have occurred to me and some of the things I have learned in travelling around the State since our last session.

This session may well be one of the most important in state history. The questions we face are many and varied, not the least of which is that of providing a favorable atmosphere for economic expansion and job opportunities.

As we assemble I am distressed, as you must be, to learn that manufacturing employment in our state during 1957 was at the lowest point since 1949, according to the Michigan Employment Security Commission, and that the outlook for the present year is not good.

This situation is aggravated in part by the intense competition between states today for industry, which means competition for jobs. Almost every state in the Union is going to great lengths to induce new industry to establish within its borders, and to present attractive pictures for plant expansions based on "economic climate."

Pennsylvania, for example, just last month advertised in the New York Times that it had established a "climate" favorable to business expansion as a result of legislative actions. Pennsylvania had been troubled by the loss of industry to Ohio. North Carolina has recently revised its tax program with a view towards attracting more industrial jobs to that state.

I took the time to check Michigan's unemployment with that of other states and learned that many of our neighbors are much better off than we. In Michigan, the rate of unemployment claims compared to the total number covered by unemployment compensation benefits is 4.7 per cent. In Ohio, it is only 2.9 per cent, in Illinois 2.4 per cent, in Indiana 2.9 per cent, and in Wisconsin 2.8 per cent.

I bring this to your attention because I believe it is vitally important that we come to grips with reality and not try to brush our economic troubles aside as mere political fighting — the stakes are too high. Michigan needs the full cooperation of all branches of government and all elected officials to establish a stable atmosphere for economic gains.

There are many local, regional, and state-wide organizations which have done and are doing an excellent job promoting Michigan: the chambers of commerce, development bureaus, city governments, and many others along with the State Economic Development Commission. The Commission is initiating a program of asking 125 businessmen to act as "ambassadors" for Michigan — they must have a good product to sell!

Michigan has a great deal to offer — a highly skilled and abundant workforce which has won worldwide recognition for its ability to produce; excellent government service; an educational system which ranks among the top in the nation; great institutions of higher education; good transportation facilities; fine year-round recreational facilities; abundant supplies of water so essential to industrial development; and very soon, the St. Lawrence Seaway will bring the ocean to our door, giving us the opportunity to expand our position as one of the leaders in trade and commerce.

Compared with many other states, we really are in an enviable position. We have every resource needed to be far ahead of our neighboring states in industrial expansion and development.

This is a great story for our many promotional groups and our state "ambassadors" to sell. But it needs something more — it needs that "climate" or "atmosphere" which will inspire confidence in Michigan as a place to live, to work and do business.

We can help establish the right kind of atmosphere by our actions in this session. It is one of the duties and responsibilities we face as members of the Michigan House of Representatives. Re-inspiring confidence in Michigan is one of the duties and responsibilities we face.

It is our duty as House members to provide complete and adequate state services for our people in keeping with the high standards we have set in the past. Yet, at the same time, we have a responsibility to the taxpayers to the workingmen and women, to industry, to retailers, to small businessmen and to the farmers to see that no one is overburdened by taxes, that every dollar we appropriate is for a good and necessary purpose.

We have a responsibility to the educational system in Michigan which must be of primary concern as we pursue our deliberations. In this era of guided missiles, conquest of outer space, and the struggle to control man's mind, schools are the first line of defense for freedom. The responsibility we carry to the children and youth of Michigan and to future generations is great.

We are all aware of the critical condition of state finances, due chiefly to the fact that estimates of revenue given to us, and upon which we relied in preparing the budget for the present fiscal year were inaccurate. It is expected that the state general fund will show a deficit next June 30, but we do not now know its proportions.

This necessitates rigid economy, which has been the long standing policy of the Legislature. Michigan taxpayers always deserve this consideration. I sense, as you must, that there is among taxpayers a growing rebellion against taxation and heavy spending by any unit of government. The tax bite is being felt deeply by everyone, and it appears that there will be no relief on a Federal level in view of national defense needs. It is our job, then, to provide for each of Michigan's state services to the maximum consistent with sound economic and fiscal policy.

I suggest that we explore the possibilities of continuing our capital outlay program through the same means as that created by the Legislature to build the new State Office building.

In the field of education, we must see to it that the present school aid bill pays out in full. If there is insufficient money in the school aid fund, it must be supplemented with further appropriations. For the next year, we must do at least as well as we have been doing on a State level and provide as much improvement as we possibly can achieve within foreseeable revenues.

With the St. Lawrence Seaway nearing completion, authorization for the establishment of port district authorities is in order. This would permit several counties to join in a mutual undertaking or port developments and if we could retain local control of local affairs.

I hope this Legislature will devote its attention to the problems of the aging and establish a commission to develop and promote programs for our honored elder citizens. In addition, we should make every effort to improve the quality of facilities for medical care of the aged, and intensify job placement programs for those able to work and for the unemployed worker of 45 or over.

The revelations of the McClellan Senate Committee tee at Washington, have brought many demands for legislative control labor unions. I do not believe we should have punitive, discriminatory, restrictive legislation. We should give Labor tools necessary to clean up their own house and to establish responsibility to every citizen member and to the public as a whole.

I would suggest that you give your earnest attention to safety legislation, particularly in the areas of mining and construction.

Our civil rights laws and should be strengthened. We should make Michigan known and wide as the state, discrimination against person for any reason, cause of race, creed, or religion is not tolerated. Agricultural research, marketing programs, should be maintained and strengthened to help improve farm economy.

I would suggest that you provide a continuing source of funds for State Park improvement and expansion, a small fee charged for the use of facilities.

In the field of mental health, our primary care should be care and attention to restore health of those afflicted mental illness. National figures show that while among the top of all states in per patient expenditures for care, our state is below that of states which spend considerably less. We could widely special treatment mentally ill children, curricular separation children from adult in our institutions.

These are some of the problems and areas to which this legislative session should direct its attention. The tasks before us are easy — particularly in the field of finance. Our primary task, it seems to me, is to begin reconstructing economic climate, bring more job opportunities Michigan through cooperative governmental action.

Only in this way can we prove "Michigan means business."

'Rocket' Look Has Sack, Pointed Shoes; But Not a Revival of 20's Says Designer

Fashion points the way to the "rocket" look for 1958. We'll be sleek and shiny as a guided missile from the tips of our hats to the pointed-toes of our shoes.

"The sack will be the main silhouette in '58, but it will look like a rocket instead of a rag," said Eleanor Lambert, spokeswoman for the New York Couture Group.

"Chemises still will have a loose hanging line, but with a smooth, built-up shape. You may think it's a revival of the 1920's, but it's only super-related. Fashion history doesn't repeat itself," Miss Lambert said.

strictly individual terms: Berlin with the broken shift or two-piece look. Mrs. Chapman with a "translucent sheath" over a silky fitted sheath.

No figure is lost in a Harvey Berlin dress or suit. Some waistlines are dropped almost to the hip in street dresses that often feature skirts with shallow bias folds of the material over each hip.

The backs are straight and unbroken.

One of the split level dresses has been named "dress of the year" by the Wool Institute.

Distinctive in the short formal department are a brown point d'esprit bell silhouette with a high jewelry neckline over a dangerously low cut taffeta slip, and a white organza painted in a lace pattern of blue with grosgrain ribbon straps that criss-cross in back.

Hats will get taller.

"With skirts shorter, hats must go up," reported the Millinery Institute of America. "When you wear a chemise, you need good legs, a good face, and a good hat to frame the face."

There's a 1920's look to new bonnets — high crowns, deep brims. Turbans will measure as high as 10 inches at the crown. Top styles will be turbans, rollers, and Watteau types with brims rising sharply at the back.

More color will show in hats, from mossy green to citrus shades. But black, navy and the neutrals also will find favor.

Fabric hats will still be good, but straws will predominate, either in rough or fine, smooth textures. Veils add a new patterned look to straws or are worn as scarves wrapped around the hat and tied at the throat.

Colored hosiery gets the nod again this year. Spring shades include crushed mint, blue chip, navy, pink and turquoise.

The pointed-toe shoe is another hold-over from 1957. This year, heels will be even lower for evening as well as daytime.

"And no spiked heels," said the National Shoe Institute.

We'll see the T-strap in new forms: multi-colored on a basic color shoe, looped, or with vamp strips across the T.

The open-toed shoe also will be back "because the nail polish people have put sex on toenails. The shoe industry can't fight it," said Helene O'Hara, fashion director of a leather company (Allied Kid).

Look for lots of color in shoes, the two-color shoe, painted vamps, white soles, colored linings and "red in everything."

Jewelry will be less clanky and heavy. The single strand necklace is expected to come back.

Hair will be bright and smooth, shorter, and set in small, loose waves. Watch for more tints, fewer bleaches. Top hair shades will be soft blonde, red, and bright gold.

Besides the chemise, semi-fitted and full-skirted styles will be seen. "But the petticoat is dead. Skirts will be tightly sashed at the waist but not flared as much," she predicted.

Coats are expected to be straight and narrow or full and swinging, but not fitted.

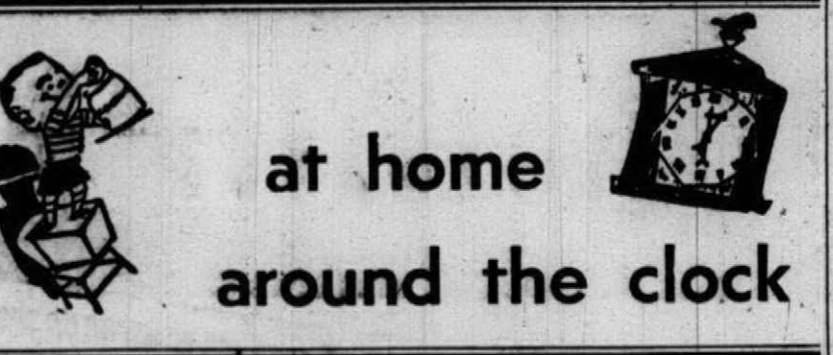

Hemlines will go up to at least 16 inches from the floor. (Last year they got as high as 15 inches).

Shifting skirt lengths are in the news, but noted designers Karen Stark and Ceil Chapman have a certain diehard attitude about what a neckline can do.

So while skirts inched up, Stark, who designs Harvey Berlin clothes, and Chapman have kept cutting capricious lines and tantalizing necklines for spring.

Both the Berlin and Chapman collections went on view for the New York Dress Institute's Press Week.

They like exquisitely printed materials for late-day wear and make their peace with the chemise on Whether boiled or broiled, rock lobster tails taste twice as good when flavored with pickle curry sauce.

Accompany Lobster, Fish With Tangy Pickle Sauces

Now is the season for parties and new ways of serving good food. The tang and flavor of pickles in special sauces for fish and sea food is something to be happy about.

So take a look at these recipes and see if they don't appeal to you. They are wonderful with broiled South African lobster tails which are available in the frozen food case at your local supermarket.

Pickle Curry Sauce (about 1 cup)
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 1/2 cup sweet pickle liquid
 1/4 cup chopped sweet mixed pickles
 1 teaspoon curry powder
 Combine all ingredients. Cook over low heat for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve over hot lobster tails.

Pickle Hollandaise Sauce (about 1 cup)
 1 8-ounce bottle prepared Hollandaise sauce
 1 tablespoon sweet pickle liquid

Buying and Cooking Tips on Butter

Good cooks use butter to make good food better, saying nothing else adds quite that flavor. As a spread, in sauces, for frying and sauteing, in frostings and all baked foods, butter combines well with other flavors and adds a richness all its own.

A high energy food, butterfat is easily digested by the body and one of the richest natural sources of Vitamin A.

The dairy division of the Michigan Department of Agriculture enforces butter laws which protect the consumer. They require all butter be graded or scored, whether it is manufactured in or out of Michigan.

Most butter sold in retail stores is scored 90 or more; it does not always have the grade or score marked on it. If its score is below, the butter must be labeled "undergrade."

Experts examine the butter closely, smell it, taste it and then give it a score. Flavor is the most important factor in determining the score or grade, but body, color and salt distribution are also important. Composition and food value are the same for all grades.

Grade AA butter is given the score U. S. 93. It has a delicate, sweet flavor and is made from fresh, sweet cream. Grade A with a score of U. S. 92, does not have quite so delicate a flavor as the 93 score butter. Grade B or U. S. 90 score butter is usually made from clean, sour cream. More flavor defects are allowed.

To keep the delicate flavor of butter always keep it closely wrapped or in a covered container. To spread butter easily keep a small quantity ready in your refrigerator's butter conditioner. Or, a few minutes in a covered dish at room temperature will soften it.

To store butter in the refrigerator, keep it in the coldest part in its original package. The temperature of your refrigerator should be between 35 and 40 degrees F. To freeze butter, it is best to buy foil-wrapped butter in a waxed carton. Wrapped this way, you can store it for two months. Defrost a pound the day before you expect to use it by putting it in the refrigerator.

With an equal amount of melted butter. Serve over cauliflower, green beans, or broccoli.

Here are some things to remember when cooking with butter. One pound or four sticks of butter equals 2 cups.

One-quarter pound or stick equals 1/2 cup. To butter cleanly, cover the blade with waxed paper, dip knife in hot water, and cut. To measure butter easily, use a measuring cup. For example, you want 1/4 cup of butter, just fill the cup 3/4 full of butter and add butter until water level reaches 1 cup.

Butter, made of fine or cotton lard, was invented by a textile worker of Brai, France.

Food Outlook for 1958: Slight Rise in Prices

With the new year here, you are no doubt wondering how your food budget will fare in 1958. Retail prices of food may average a little higher in '58, especially during the first half of the year. Detroit Consumer Marketing Information Agents tell us that this will be partly due to a stronger demand for food, to slightly decreased supplies of some of the more popular foods, and to higher marketing costs — service and convenience as well as transportation and storage.

Total meat supplies in 1958 will be close to the near-record high of 1957 but there will be a larger share of pork and a smaller share of beef and veal. Retail prices of meat may average higher — at least until mid-year when the heavier supplies of pork start coming to market.

The increase in pork supplies will be greater in the second half than in the first half of the year. This will be caused by the large fall pig crop added to the 1958 spring pig crop which is expected to be at least 7 per cent larger than the 1957's fall pig crop. With this large supply, prices are naturally expected to decline.

Although there will be no shortage of beef, production will be slightly less. However, because farmers may be encouraged to feed the cattle to heavier weights there may be a high proportion of the top U.S. Grades of beef. This should result in little price-per-pound difference in top grades and lower grades of beef.

Although poultry meat production rose to a new height in 1957, the new year supplies of broiler-fryers is expected to increase even more. We'll be eating more chicken because lower feed prices are expected to encourage production of these young tender birds.

The very slight decrease in turkey production in the last half of the year may cause a moderate rise in price — but there will be about as much turkey meat to eat in '58 as there was in '57. The carry-over just won't be as large.

Egg production in the first 6 or 8 months of 1958 is expected to be smaller than in a year earlier due to the reduction in the number of laying hens. This may cause higher prices until late summer.

Supplies of fresh fruits and vegetables for the coming year depend upon the weather. With favorable growing conditions, increases can be expected in crops of apricots, sweet cherries, grapes and peaches. And in Michigan the apple and tart cherry crops will be their usual size, but the over-all forecast is for decreases in these fruits.

In the past two decades citrus production has doubled, and this increase was expected to continue this year. However, this is doubtful following the recent freeze in Florida. Although it is not possible to evaluate the full extent of damage, it appears certain that the crop has been reduced. Damage was the greatest to tangerines, tangelos and Temple oranges. Quality of oranges is somewhat lower, and grapefruit seems to have been the least hurt. There are ample supplies — plenty from California and limited shipments from Texas and Florida — but prices are naturally a bit higher.

As the year progresses, you will also see many new and different convenience foods — packaged, canned and frozen — in the markets. But even with these increased supplies, production and distribution costs have risen, and the wholesale and retail prices on the items are expected to average about the same or a little higher than they were in 1957.

3. Between professional cleanings freshen with an approved cleaning solution.
4. Rotate the rug to avoid hard wear in one spot.

What Car Has The Best Brakes?

Read this

"After testing a 1958 CENTURY, one of four Buick Series (all but the SPECIAL) equipped with new deeply-finned aluminum front brake drums, it is our agreeable duty to report that these are the best brakes on a Detroit sedan by far that we have tested, and that they are, conservatively, a 100 per cent improvement over conventional Detroit brakes."

Direct quotation from the new issue of SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED in a report entitled: "THE SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED 1958 AWARD IN RECOGNITION OF OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENT AND SIGNIFICANT CONTRIBUTION IN THE AUTOMOTIVE FIELD PRESENTED TO THE BUICK MOTOR DIVISION GENERAL MOTORS CORPORATION, FOR MAJOR ADVANCES IN BRAKES."

22 emergency stops from 60 mph — and Buick's brakes still effective!

As a result of this grueling brake test, SCI stated: "We find it the rule for Detroit sedans to brake quite efficiently for the first few stops, but then they deteriorate rapidly." But here's what happened in the Buick Century: 22 "crash stops" were made from 60 MPH, and afterwards, the brakes were still fully effective. Says SCI: "This was by far the most severe test we ever have submitted a sedan's brakes to, but after it was over the Buick's brakes functioned perfectly... Buick has done it, has achieved a much better product, and has set a new standard of brake quality for Detroit."

"Crash Stop" — fastest full stop possible for a car traveling at a given speed.

That's the story as told by SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED. You'll find how true the story is when you drive the Air Born B-58 Buick yourself and learn about all its great features.

There are totally new features in ride, in performance, in all-round comfort and ease of handling. Come on in and prove that — at your Buick dealer's — today.

Better Your Living

with Modern home improvements

6 Thursday, January 16, 1958 THE PLYMOUTH MAIL

Here's A "Pocketbook Version" Of a Luxury-Class Home

A "pocketbook edition" of a larger, more imposing house by "name designer" Donald Scholz, this contemporary home "Has Everything" in good measure at lower cost.

Sacrificing nothing in architectural styling, Scholz has confined building cost savings to smaller floor area, and necessary elimination of some luxury features and appurtenances. In outward appearance and indoor functional plan and charm, however, this home is on a par with many houses in higher cost brackets.

Study the design with particular care if you have a large family and are trying to decide between three bedrooms or four. Here in equal floor space and virtually equal building cost, you'll find the ultimate. Note that the extra bedroom has been obtained by compromising only on the size of two rooms—the living room and one of the original bedrooms. All other rooms and areas remain the same.

With either floor plan, the large, well-lighted central foyer features a massive planter for grace and beauty, and easy access to all rooms for convenience. Two bathrooms, a kitchen-family room, and a patio with access through sliding-glass doors are among features that place the home above par in its price range.

Total floor space of the house is 1,240 sq. ft. For further information on this versatile house, write Don Scholz Design Associates, Dept. 104, 2001 N. Westwood, Toledo 7, Ohio.

Porch 'Stretches' Summer

Carpenter, right, encloses a porch with awning window units of ponderosa pine. The pre-assembled units speed his work and turn the porch into the bright sun room, above.

More and more home-owners are discovering that they can "stretch" the outdoor living season by enclosing their porches with banks of windows.

This makes it possible for them to relax and dine in an outdoor atmosphere during many months of the year when cold or rainy weather ordinarily would keep them inside.

Stoek windows of ponderosa pine are popular for porch enclosures because they come with frames and sash pre-assembled, making it possible to enclose a porch by simply fitting the units together in a floor-to-ceiling, wall-to-wall arrangement.

Wide walls of windows keep a porch "open." Sunlight and scenery come in. Bad weather stays out. During warm weather, the windows open to make the porch airy and comfortable.

The ease of installing stock window units of ponderosa pine makes a porch enclosure a do-it-yourself project for skilled home handymen. A carpenter can make short work of the job because the compact, pre-assembled wood window units go into place with a minimum of framing.

Almost any home handyman can do the finishing work. The clear pine frames and sash can be stained or painted easily to harmonize with both the interior color schemes of the house.

Basements Are Designed For Party Rooms

You can create a gay party basement on a limited budget by using colored cement paint on the walls, spray painting the joist structure above, and covering the floor with bright asphalt or vinyl asbestos tile.

Light yellow walls for example will give the illusion of sunshine streaming in even on cloudy days. A pattern of pale green floor tiles will bring freshness of the lawn downstairs. By spray painting the beam-broken ceiling white, you can spread natural daylight throughout your basement. By spray painting it black, and hanging bright lights under it, you can make the ceiling and all its pipes disappear.

Low Cost
Economical ways to make more use of basements have been worked out by the Construction Research Bureau. Basements provide the greatest bargain space available under today's building costs. In most areas, the cost of building a basement averages only about $1 a square foot, while construction costs above ground may run $15 or more per square foot.

Modern building methods, mechanical equipment and design ideas have made basements entirely livable and healthful. Proper grading and waterproofing of exterior walls and floor slab have insured water-tightness. Electric dehumidifiers keep the air dry in humid summer months. Conservatory-type windows flood today's basements with sunlight and, when areaways are terraced and planted—sometimes glass covered—such windows go far toward bringing the garden into the house.

Even conventional corrugated iron areaways around basement windows can be used to brighten a basement. Paint the dull gray iron with aluminum varnish to keep it shining. If anyone in the family feels artistic, let him paint some poster-style sunflowers on the bright aluminum background.

Floor Pattern
The most fun in finishing a basement is planning the floor pattern. You can work in permanently inlaid shuffleboard designs, chess boards, alphabets for the youngsters, lodge emblems and any number of cheerful ideas. Theme tiles featuring sunflowers, daisies, sailboats, birds, musical notes, non-ugly ducklings and a host of other symbols are available in various types of Kentile including asphalt tile and vinyl asbestos tile, the two recommended floorings for concrete basement floors. In addition, durable Kentile floors are easy and inexpensive to install and maintain.

An outside entrance almost doubles the use you can get out of any basement. It facilitates the movement of large furniture, such as oversize sofas and pianos. It saves considerable wear and tear on the house when the basement is used for teen-age entertainment.

Insulation Is Low Cost Comfort Item

How much does year-round comfort cost? Practically nothing when you insulate your home, because insulation pays for itself in just a few short years! You get a yearly dividend in the form of lower fuel bills and increased comfort. Insulation will heat-proof your home in summer and seal in heat in winter.

There are many types of insulating materials to suit your needs and your budget. Reflective aluminum sheeting is easy to install in attic rafters. There is a lightweight mineral wool insulation which is poured, or blown, into walls and ceiling. Batt or blanket type insulation is used in sidewalls and attic rafters.

Insulation board—in panels, planks or tile sizes—is an excellent way to shut out cold and reduce noises. Insulation can be effectively used in old as well as new homes. Call your local insulation expert today for a free estimate on insulation for your home. Enjoy a comfortable home this winter!

PLYMOUTH'S BUSINESS

Ann Arbor Road looked like Main Street last week-end with the Grand Opening of the new Beyer Rexall Drug Store. This is the third store in the Plymouth Area carrying the banner of Beyer which in itself is more or less a modern success story. Bob Beyer has asked that the public be thanked for their response to the new Ann Arbor Road Store.

Charles Ketterer, former basketball coach of the Plymouth High School and still a member of the faculty at the Plymouth Junior High, was named man of the year by the Detroit Branch of the Franklin Life Insurance Company at a banquet held in his honor at the Statler Hotel on January 8th.

Thought for the day: A friend is someone who knows you and still likes you anyway. Bargain hunters will have a field day in Plymouth the next few weeks with the January Clearance Sale being held by most of the merchants in town. Now is the time to stock up on some of those long wanted items at vastly reduced prices.

Through the combined cooperation of the Automobile Dealers of Plymouth, you'll see the first automobile section ever to be published in Plymouth this week. The fabulous array of gleaming new '58 models on display at the Detroit Automobile Show are sure to whet the interest of the motoring public. After visiting the show, keep in mind: your home town dealer is your best bet when buying that new model.

Bill Saxton has taken on a new line of water softeners and among the many advantages of owning one, he lists one reason that we hadn't thought of (and we doubt that any one else would either). We quote: "In the event that your children play Russian roulette with their water pistols, there is less danger of them being injured with soft water." Unquote.

More Families Want Extra Bath Facilities in Home

Is another bathroom for your home top on your wish list? A new more practical bathroom heads the home modernizing projects of many folk. Sometimes this merely involves bringing an antiquated bathroom up to date with new fixtures, colored tile walls and other bright decorations and accessories.

More often it means an added bath for a family that has outgrown facilities offered by a single bathroom. A good bathroom is a lot more than just space for three plumbing fixtures—and it doesn't have to be a large room.

Here are important factors to consider when planning the addition of a new bathroom, or modernizing the old:

Practical Hardwood

Hardwood flooring has been a favorite of American homeowners since the rough hewn oak planks of colonial times, to today's scientific kiln-dried hardwoods.

Hardwood flooring is famed for its durability... often outlasting the life of a home. Also hardwood flooring is still the accepted standard of quality in home construction. Today the manufacturing and ingenuity of the hardwood industry has reduced costs, so that hardwood flooring can be used in even the most modest priced homes.

Oak is the most widely used hardwood. Hard maple, beech, birch and pecan rank next.

Head of Chrysler Has High Rating On 'Auto-Pilot'

"Making substantial sales gains in the automobile industry today requires that a manufacturer bring to the market place something that excites people to a change in product allegiance and creates a distinct change in public taste," says E. C. Quinn, president, Chrysler Division.

"A completely new direction in styling such as that set by Chrysler and Imperial in 1955, 1956, 1957 and 1958 is just such a change for our sales success during that period," Mr. Quinn said.

He believes that Chrysler and Imperial will continue to attract an increasing share of the market due primarily to popularity of advanced FlightSweep styling.

"Our Torsion Air ride, a standard feature on all models, is the best in the industry and will account for a good portion of our 1958 sales," Mr. Quinn said.

"Many other outstanding engineering achievements — for example Auto-Pilot — will do their share in swinging customers to our products."

He said that he believes Auto-Pilot, which allows the driver to set his speed on a dial on the instrument panel, is the most significant automotive advance since Chrysler's pioneering of power steering.

Returning to the importance of styling, Mr. Quinn said that when the Forward Look was introduced, "we knew our cars would give motorists a definite choice between two different approaches to automotive design. We were gambling that styling which makes the car look like buyers,"

That gamble has paid off and Chrysler is continuing its leadership in styling as well as its leadership in engineering and quality control manufacturing.

DETROIT — In 1958, as General Motors celebrates its Golden Anniversary, the nation's leading automotive manufacturer can look back on styling, production, and engineering, records unmatched in industry scale. Although GM is not alone in this, it is proud to have had a part in the "Golden Milestone" cars, Mr. Curdice said they are designed and engineered "to give sound expression to the public's taste for graceful exterior styling and rich interior appointments. Emphasis is placed on safety, dependability, convenience, comfort, conversion, and maintenance value and maintaining our uncompromising standards of quality," Mr. Curdice added.

This year, as in so many years past, General Motors is playing a major role in the economic development of the United States. The other major automotive division, Chrysler, joined the group in 1938. It is destined to become one of the world's greatest auto producers.

Since its inception in 1908, GM has had 11 presidents. Among the most notable was the late C. W. Nash, who later formed his own company to produce Nash automobiles. He served from Nov. 19, 1912, to June 1, 1916, when he was succeeded by Mr. Durant.

In 1920 Mr. Durant was succeeded by Pierre S. du Pont who managed the corporation until May, 1923. He was followed by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., who authored many of the basic policies under which GM operates today.

When Mr. Sloan became chairman and chief executive officer in May, 1937, the late William S. Knudsen was elected president. In 1949 Mr. Knudsen was named by President Roosevelt to direct the national industry to increase production.

Through the world GM employs an average of 599,000 people, including an average of 371,000 hourly wage earners in the United States (1956 averages). They are producing, assembling, manufacturing, designing, or engineering for every form of transportation — land, sea and air.

In its eventful half-century of progress, General Motors has produced more than 35,000,000 passenger cars and trucks, 12,000,000 commercial vehicles.

The story of GM's growth is divided into two periods: the first 20 years, from 1908 to 1928, and the next 30 years, from 1928 to 1958. For the next 10 or a dozen years, a period of organizational growth, GM added to this basic nucleus.

The next organizational period, extending to the present, was largely an era of expansion from within. In other words, the acquisition of important new companies almost ceased and additional resources, products, and developments were researched, engineered and fashioned within GM's industrial pattern.

History of this industrial success dates back to September 16, 1908, when the late William Durant arranged for papers in New Jersey for a General Motors Company.

Early or charter members of GM were Buick, Oldsmobile, Cadillac, Oakland and Pontiac. They, Carter and Harlow, together with Reliance and Rapid trucks.

The Oakland Motor Car Division introduced Pontiac in 1909, discontinued production of Oakland in 1931, and was changed

One of the most important reasons behind GM's success has been its decentralization. This means that subject to broad over-all policies, the divisions into which the business is organized are left pretty much on their own. The general manager of each GM division is responsible for building his own organization, coordinating its efforts and planning its progress. Thus he has the flexibility of smaller business, but, in addition, he has a staff of specialists and "know-how" of the central organization.

Deal headlights set over a massive rectangular-checked grille and double-ramp bumper lend an elegant look to the 1958 Chrysler Windsor, to be displayed at the Auto Show here. The Windsor is available with Auto-Pilot, a new driver assist which provides automatic throttle control. It offers lavish new interiors and a choice of 18 new colors and 45 combinations. The Windsor is offered in a two-door hardtop, four-door hardtop, four-door sedan, two-seat and three-seat Town and Country wagons.

Five sidewalk-sized, self-propelled fire engines, complete with fire fighting equipment, will be awarded during the 45th Annual Detroit Auto Show.

All visitors to the Show between the hours of 11:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 20, through Friday, Jan. 24, are eligible to enter a contest, the prize for which will be one of the "Firebird" fire engines each week-day.

This unique vehicle can be driven by children of all ages. It is powered with an electric 6-volt battery which comes with a recharger so that it can be plugged into ordinary household current to re-charge. Maximum speed is five miles an hour and its motion is controlled by a foot operated accelerator button.

Each day contestants will be required to estimate the number of marbles in a conveniently located receptacle. The person coming closest to the actual number of marbles will be informed by telegram at the close of each week-day, and the fire engine will be awarded the following day.

The "Firebird" is as realistic as top designers could make it. It has a water storage tank complete with hose and pump. A real fire engine bell and a blinker red light are also part of the equipment.

It can back up, go forward or remain in neutral by manipulation of the gear shift. The "Firebird" has sealed beam headlights and tail lights synchronized with the blinker and operated from the dash board.

The driver's seat is foam rubber cushioned and the upholstery is tough vinyl leatherette. The body is made of reinforced fibre glass on a steel chassis. All four wheels are ball bearing mounted and equipped with puncture-proof semi-pneumatic tires. It is a sturdy fire engine, built to last and to stand grueling handling.

There is room for the "crew" on the rear platform and the dimensions are:

'See Every Car Under One Roof'

By Glenn Walker, President.

Detroit Auto Dealers Assn. Everything possible has been done to make the 45th Annual Detroit Auto Show attractive and educational to the most sophisticated audience in the United States.

Dealers generally regard this extravaganza as an opportunity to show competing automobiles and models in excellent surroundings with an opportunity for the prospective buyer to compare for value all there is in the market. From the standpoint of the industry having the place where the customer can make on-the-spot comparisons in the well-staffed exhibits without waste of time caused if the customer had to visit all the various sales places in the city.

Our members are justifiably optimistic about an accelerated market once the customer sees for himself the many improvements in style and engineering which have gone into all the new models. The Show should touch off a wave of buying. D.A.D.A. has and members of the Show will come and enjoy the Show. It is one you should miss.

Food by Experts For Hungry Folks

Experts in catering to Detroiters' tastes for fine food, the Brown and Williams Catering Company of Detroit, will again provide complete facilities at the 45th Annual Detroit Auto Show.

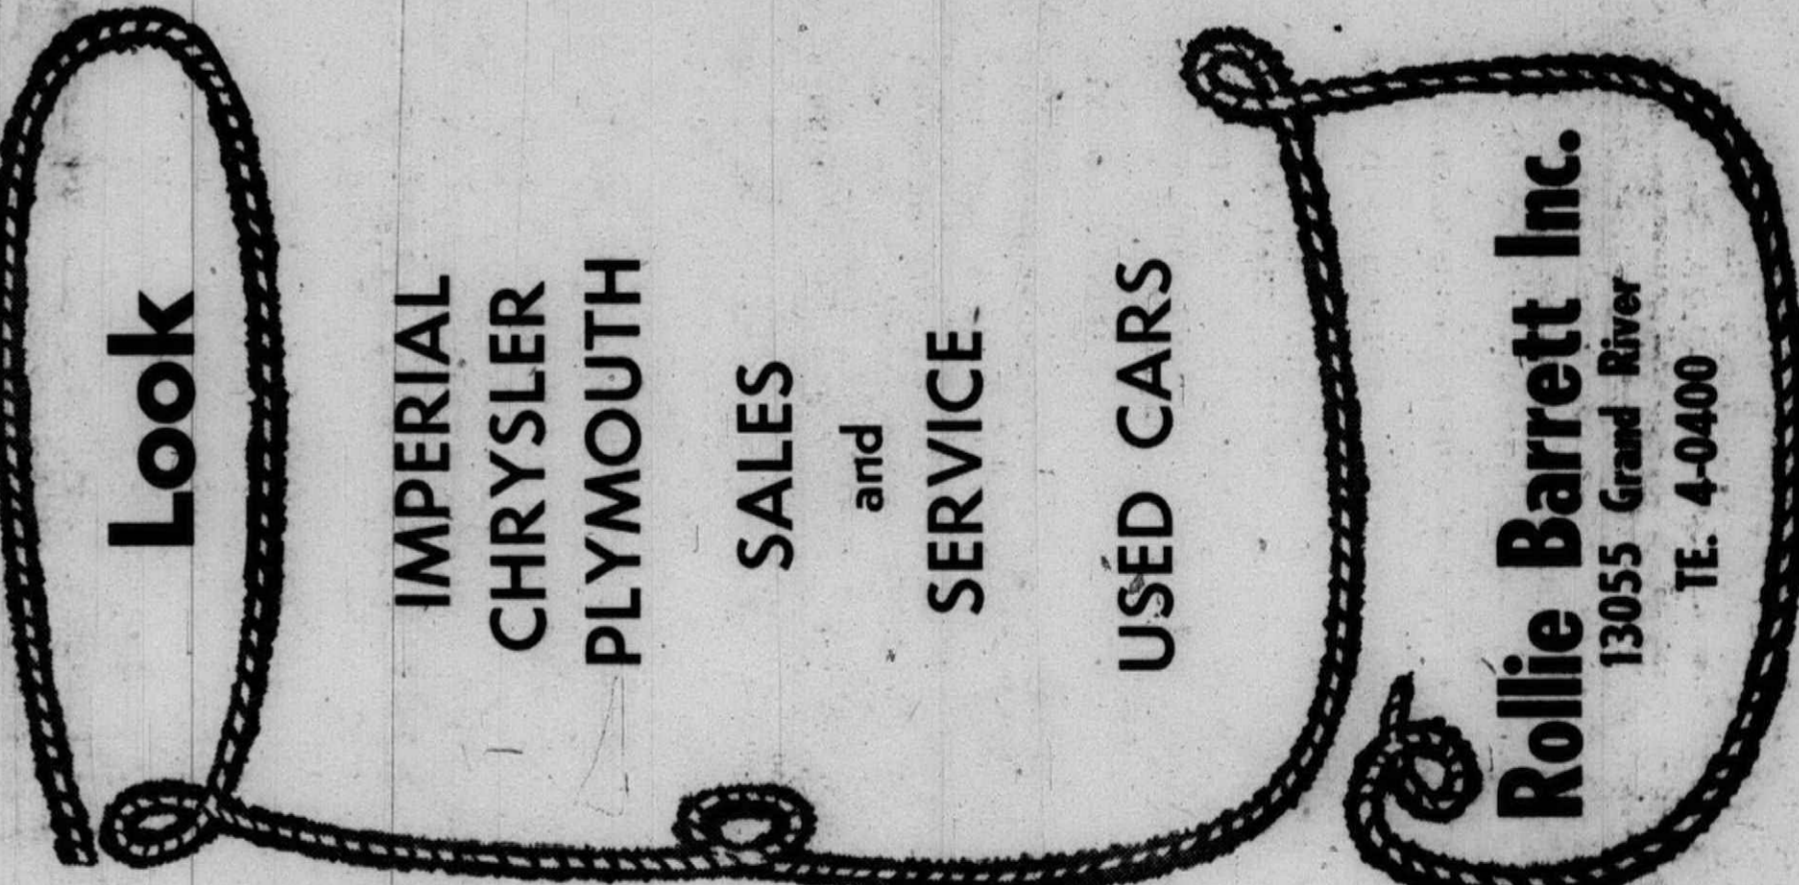

Fred Brown, of the catering firm, has set up a cafeteria where full regular meals will be served throughout the show period. A snack bar where sandwiches and coffee may be purchased, several hot dog stands and ice cream bars have been set up. No one will go hungry while browsing through the Show.

25 Cents to Park

Probably nowhere else in the country is the automobile show located so close to the center of population in the metropolitan area as here in Detroit. The Detroit Artillery Armory, located between Schaefer and Greenfield, was made to order for this type of exhibition.

North, south, east and west, the beautiful armory is located with an eye for the convenience of the visitor. One phase of the exhibition which is important to drivers is the greatly improved parking lot which has been soundly covered with a solid surface for the accommodation of 4,000 automobiles at once. Another improvement which will be a blessing for those arriving on foot is the new separate pedestrian entrance which cuts down on traffic complications. The grounds will be adequate to take care of ebb and flow in such a fashion as to eliminate traffic jams in the lots.

Six Models by Lincoln

The Lincoln Premiere and Lincoln Capri for 1958, inspired by the styling of the Continental, offer a total of six models. In each line there is a four-door sedan, a four-door hardtop and a two-door hardtop coupe.

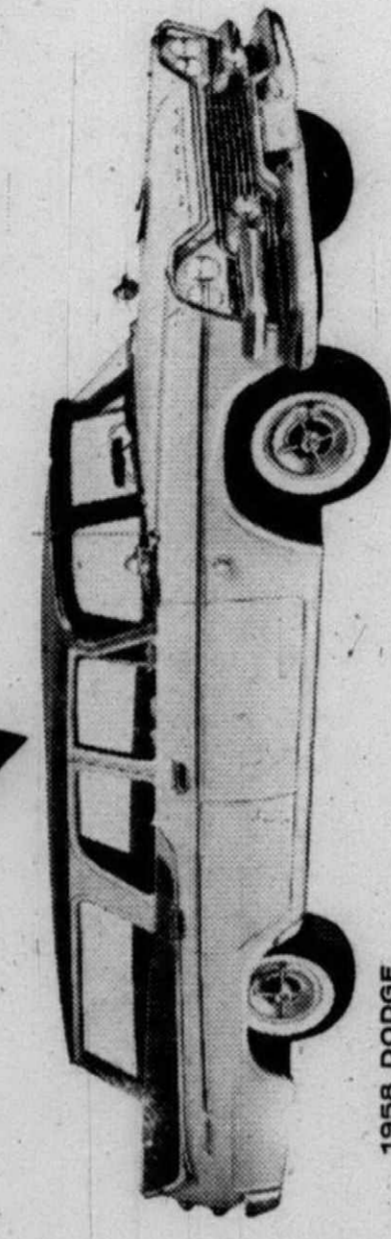

Stylists enhanced the low, and long graceful lines of each Lincoln by complementing each model with the Continental roof line, canted dual headlamps, an extended long, low hood, and a wide, sweeping grille. Between the car's hood and the lamp is a horizontally-louvered grille with a massive flared bumper across the front. A Lincoln script on the left side of the grille gives the car distinctive treatment on the lower portion of the rear deck lid which outlines and protects the oval-shaped grille.

The long, lithe silhouette of the Lincoln extends 229 inches in overall length while the wheelbase is 56.5 inches. Wheel-to-wheel height is increased to 131 inches, an increase of five inches over the 1957 models.

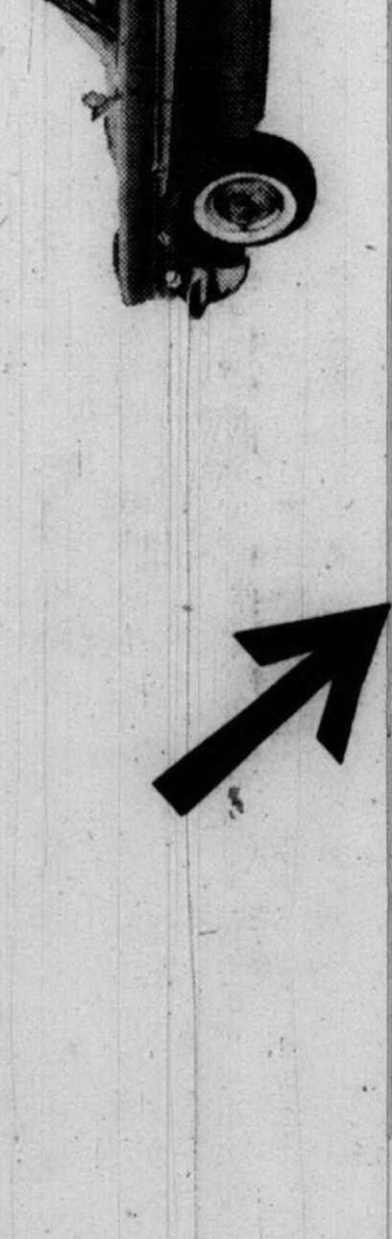

The 1958 Lincolns will be built in a plant specifically designed for integrated body and frame construction. This new method has allowed the designers to lower the height of the car, strengthen its torsional rigidity which resists body twisting effects on rough roads and provides built-in quality. The floor pan, side panels, roof panels, quarter panels are all welded into one single unit. Besides the styling inspiration of the Continental, the Lincoln power train will provide the same kind of performance as the Continentals.

ADVANCE DESIGN SO TOTALLY RIGHT!

In Ride - Only in the '58 cars of The Forward Look will you find a completely different, preppy style so big a part in performance! Our eye-catching dart shape, for example, adds to riding stability—reducing steering correction in crosswinds as much as 20%.

You'll find new thinking in the shape and function of our enormous glass areas, too: big new rear windows... swept-back front windshields let you look up as well as out, for all-around visibility—and so dramatically part of the car's shape-of-motion profile.

In Total Value - All that's new in the '58 cars of The Forward Look adds up to total value.

It's value that comes from new whisper-quiet engines with new Fuel-Saver Choke... from the new Super Grip differential... new full-time Constant-Control power steering... new weather-conditioner that heats, cools, controls humidity... But discover the value, decide for yourself! Now that the Auto Show is on, there never was a better time.

The young business men and women manufacture a product and sell that product to the public for a profit.
The unique multi-color display stands 10 feet in height and will feature a replica or an actual business center where functions films carry out their functions with machinery and company officers. The mock-up business center will be centrally located in the largest single display at the Detroit Auto Show.

The complete transformation in sports car performance and design. With the 1958 Corvette, Chevrolet marks its 25th anniversary with a new model on display at the Detroit Auto Show. Longer, lower and wider than any previous Chevrolet, it sets a new standard in sculptural styling, capped by a gull wing rear fender effect. And because of a new frame, new suspension and other significant mechanical gains, they make possible a whole new experience in riding and operating ease.
Beyond the pace-setting change in exterior design, the 1958 Chevrolet introduces an unusual, X-shaped, waisted frame that is 30 per cent more rigid than previous models. A revolutionary suspension with standard coil springs at the rear wheels or a choice of air suspension, pioneered by Chevrolet this year in its field. The Biscayne takes in the middle of the low-price bracket while the Delray covers the bottom end of the price spread. In line with the continually mounting popularity of station wagons, an exclusive five-unit series has been established. New '58 Buick 'Start of Era'
Buick's 1958 line represents a new high in automotive engineering. Ragsdale, general manager of Buick and vice president of General Motors.
Topping the new line is the luxurious Limited series, which gives Buick greater representation in the prestige car class. The other series are the Roadmaster, Super, Century and Special.
"This is the start of a new era for Buick," Ragsdale said. "Advanced ideas on transmission, styling, and bodywork have been put into this line of cars which has been restyled from front to rear."
"Our engineering innovations include flight pitch Dynaflo which is the closest approach to the ideal automatic transmission in automotive history, an entirely new suspension design principle in which four columns of air replace the traditional steel springs, and air-cooled aluminum brakes which cool faster, consequently provide better braking action."
"Styling changes are capped by the new grille, which is a complete departure from the industry's traditional front end design, and include chrome-trimmed ribbed aluminum rear fender panels and redesigned taillight housings."
"This is the second major model change we have made in the past two years and with it

Luxury Rainbow Of Rich Cloths

A bold new styling concept featuring a vertical grille, concave sculptured side scallops and horizontal gull-wing tail-lights blended into the design. The new Edsel offers styling features of the new Edsel car line. Inside, the Edsel offers color-keyed interiors of unsurpassed luxury to blend with and complement the 19 solid and-31 two-tone exterior color combinations. A newly-designed instrument panel locates all controls and dials within easy, natural view of the driver.

Dual headlights, and wrap-around turn indicators, for side as well as front visibility. Edsel's vertical grille combined with an inner oval chrome ring and crisp horizontal grille sections on either side gives an easily identifiable look of quiet, classic elegance.

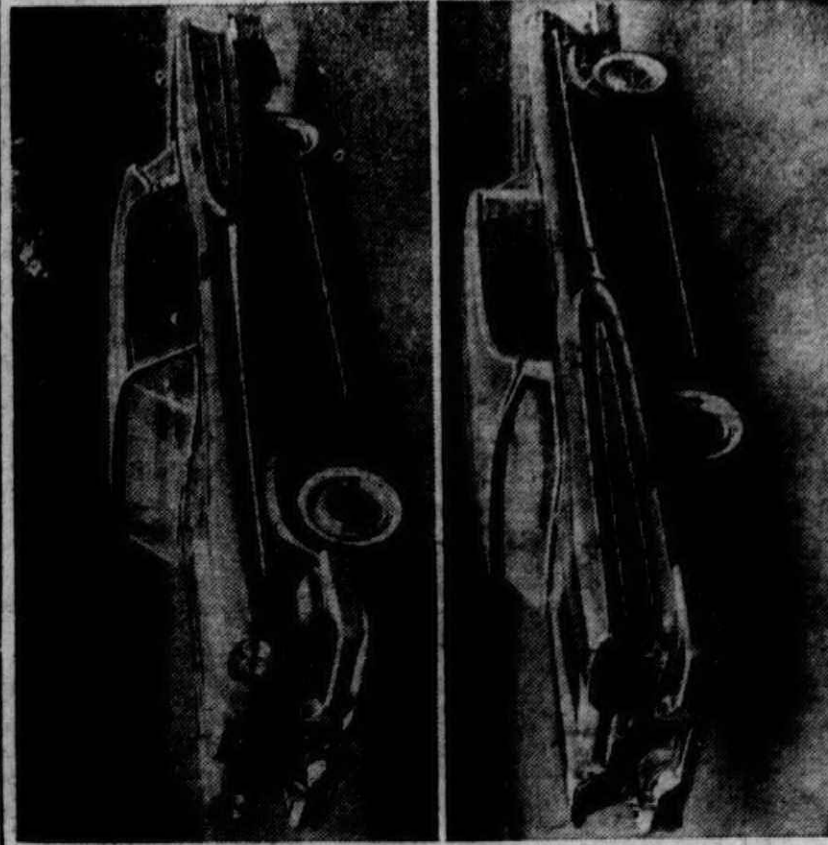

A slightly raised center section of the hood adds to the long, low look of the Edsel and, seated behind the steering wheel, the driver once again is able to recapture the feeling of surging power so long missing from the American motoring scene.

A single chrome strip runs back along the sides from the headlights, bearing slightly down from true horizontal to concave design in the rear panels. This scallop motif is carried completely over into the taillights in an ever-widening teardrop effect that gives the Edsel a feeling of movement even while standing motionless. The horizontal gull-wing taillights provide a solid bar of illumination on either side. Each actually is two bars for they split at the luggage compartment lid. The outer segments break warnings in red. The inner segments are incorporated in the luggage compartment lid and provide an additional safety factor with the lid raised at night.

New fabrics and patterns are featured in Edsel harmonizing interiors with silver thread designs for the Ranger and Pacer series and gold thread motifs carried through the Corsair and Citation. The redesigned contour seat back provides exceptional support to prevent tiring on long trips. Front seats in two-door models have been split in a unique one-third, two-thirds arrangement in which the driver occupies the one-third section, permitting rear seat passengers easier entrance and exit.

A raised, padded cowl surrounds the instrument cluster, eliminating any possible panel light reflected in the windshield. Easy visibility is the new floating drum type speedometer which rotates smoothly and evenly as the Edsel accelerates or slows.

Mounted beneath the four dials are up-down toggle switches which control lights, windshield wipers, heater blower and cigarette lighter.

TWO VIEWS OF THE EDSSEL four-door hardtop in the Citation series dramatically illustrate the new styling concepts which make all Edsels so vitally different. The vertical grille, dual headlights and wrap-around turn indicators which follow the bumper lines, plus the concave side scallop and horizontal taillights blended into the luggage compartment lid, present a completely integrated look of tailored elegance when viewed from any angle. The Edsel will go on display in all dealer showrooms Sept. 4th.

THIS IS THE 1958 FORD THAT "USED THE WORLD" FOR ITS PROVING GROUND. Although the Ford created excitement wherever it went, the car was almost swamped by the crowd.

New Station Wagons in '58 Ford Line

J. O. Wright, Ford Division general manager, said a major policy change paved the way for the 1958 Ford with significant styling changes, optional air suspension, new transmission, and most revolutionary engine development since introduction of the V-8 in 1932.

He said the policy change behind the 1958 Ford makes "automobile history." "In the past, a completely new model was good for three or four years with certain annual modifications which face-lifts. But in the Ford Division the traditional concept — of a truly new car only on the third or fourth year — is a thing of the past. The term face-lift no longer applies."

He explained that the 1958 Ford — coming out only one year after the sweeping changes Ford made in its 1957 models — represents $185 million in new styling changes, new engine programs, and other improvements.

Wright pointed out that this major policy change not only is sound business, but incorporates real benefits to the customers and to the economy.

The Ford vice president also said all 1958 Ford production is being "audited for quality" — a new system Ford has pioneered to take opinion out of quality inspection. The system permits the tracing of any poor workmanship right back to the individual on the assembly line.

Under the quality audit system, plant auditors frequently audited by company auditors — select daily a random group of cars that have cleared the assembly line and report on their quality to the plant manager as well as to the office of the division general manager in Dearborn. If a plant does not establish and maintain a standard for quality which ranks with the best plants in the system, a team of experts is made available to help bring the quality up.

Ford, which has led the industry in station wagon sales for years, has introduced a new and expanded line of "family wagons" for 1958.

New to the line of six station wagons for 1958 is the Ford Ranch Wagon, which does not establish and maintain a standard for quality which ranks with the best plants in the system, a team of experts is made available to help bring the quality up.

In addition to the Ford Ranch Wagon, Ford offers three other four-door models: the six-passenger Country Sedan, the nine-passenger Country Sedan, and the distinctive nine-passenger Country Squire.

The 1958 Chevrolet line is offering 15 solid exterior color combinations, which are 14 two-tone combinations.

On Business Future

The following is a year-end statement on the outlook for the economy as the automobile industry gears up for 1958. A change in the Federal Reserve Board's policy by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York is expected to be a major factor in the business picture.

Business and consumer spending are the questionable segments in the 1957-58 decline in the economy. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York is expected to maintain its policy of maintaining the money supply at the level of 1957, but to increase the rate of interest in the last half of 1957 and increase it throughout 1958. Consumer demand also supported rising residential construction during 1957. Nonresidential construction was firm throughout the year, but the Federal Reserve Bank of New York is expected to reduce the rate of interest in the last half of 1957 and increase it throughout 1958. Consumer demand also supported rising residential construction during 1957. Nonresidential construction was firm throughout the year, but the Federal Reserve Bank of New York is expected to reduce the rate of interest in the last half of 1957 and increase it throughout 1958.

A decline in business activity affects car buying, not only by consumers whose incomes have been reduced, but also by those who have not been hurt. The present decline has been relatively rapid, but it has curtailed the buying power of only a small fraction of consumers.

Total employment declined about 1 percent in August and November. Hours worked in manufacturing also were reduced. The buying power of total wages and salaries was down only 1 1/2 percent, however, even after allowing for slight price increases. This decline was cushioned in part by increased government benefit payments.

Other forms of personal income, except agricultural, were virtually unchanged.

The trend of general business, coupled with uncertainty regarding military developments, has caused other consumers to postpone their purchases. Excessive postponement can increase the depth of the decline unnecessarily.

There are no serious excesses corrected. Consumer buying of cars and use of automotive credit in that period were not out of line. There also was no housing boom during the period. Only in the areas of additions to business inventories, plant and equipment, and exports, which are expected to fall back to a temporary falling back was indicated.

The year 1958 promises to be another test of our ability to forward progress in the economy. There are some inevitable adjustments which have started and will continue into the early part of 1958. There is no necessary part for postponement of normal buying for fear of a serious decline. We have the ability to cope with such a decline, should it develop, and lay the groundwork for renewal of the long-run upward trend.

Government expenditures will be increasing during 1958. State and local governments will spend more for payrolls and particularly for education. These expenditures will be met at least in part, however, through higher tax rates. The federal government will also expect to follow such years with above-normal years.

The problem in any decline is to prevent it from becoming cumulative — i.e., lower spending generating lower income, which in turn discourages spending still more. To turn around such a decline, an increase in total spending is necessary.

Government expenditures will be increasing during 1958. State and local governments will spend more for payrolls and particularly for education. These expenditures will be met at least in part, however, through higher tax rates. The federal government will also expect to follow such years with above-normal years.

When installed in the car, the Trans-Portable automatically plugs into the car's electrical system and uses the car's outside antenna and loud speaker unit. The Trans-Portable is only 6 1/2 inches long and weighs three pounds. It is offered as an optional accessory at extra cost on the 1958 Oldsmobile.

Superior Parking, Control of Traffic

At '58 Auto Show

Visitors to the Auto Show this year at the Detroit Artillery Armory are assured of several improvements, chief among them the condition of the huge parking space which will allow 4,000 automobiles to be parked at one time, according to William M. "Sonny" Weber, head of the Fair Parking Company which handles this facility.

During the last year tons of rough slag were laid to provide an inch base for the entire lot. This was topped by four inches of compressed slag which was rolled to a smooth surface. This eliminates the possibility of weather and faulty drainage of the lot. Parking is only 25 cents.

Weber has charge of the private police staff which will expedite ingress and egress from West Eight Mile Road and from the lot. The private police provided by the Show Management will work closely with Oak Park, Detroit and Michigan State Police.

Lt. Col. Joseph W. Boardman, manager of the Detroit Artillery Armory, the site of the huge show, described the total facilities as in readiness for a big attendance. Signs are posted along Eight Mile Road at intervals of 1 mile, one-half and one-quarter mile from the entrance, directing motorists going west to the Show to the two lanes nearest the Armory. Going east, the traffic will be channelled to one special lane.

Padded Doors In Studebaker

A unique combination of high fashion and safety provided the theme for the restyled interiors of the 1958 Studebaker and Packard automobiles on display at the Detroit Auto Show.

High fashion is achieved through the integration of custom-crafted fabric upholstery, created especially for the new automobiles, and distinctive "Shantung" styled vinyl trims. Shantung styling gives the vinyl the effect of tweed. Upholsterings are combined with interior and exterior paint finishes in careful harmony. Four basic color schemes: grey, blue, green, and brown.

A new safety feature is introduced in the door panel styling. Entirely redesigned, the door panels are heavily padded beneath the trim. Metal moldings have been eliminated and replaced by an accent design of raised vinyl, allowing greater safety and a softer, more luxurious appearance.

The President Classic combines fabric insert pleats of a Jacquard woven fabric, with finely textured, light-colored nylon bolsters. On the padded door panels, Royal Moroccan grain vinyl accent panels contrast with a "Shantung" vinyl. Floor coverings are a matching, two-tone deep pile carpeting.

The President Hardtop and Golden Hawk models feature a handcrafted look, produced by combining Homespun Tweed fabric interwoven with Ratine yarn, with full-pleated vinyl bolsters. The padded door panels carry through this handcrafted appearance with a silver-backed, rough textured, woven plastic mylar mesh.

THE FIRST IMPERIAL LEBARON SPECIAL executive car, which features a dictaphone and a mobile telephone in the front center arm rest, will be shown at the Auto Show here. In addition to the complete range of power and convenience features of the Imperial LeBaron, the special executive car offers an electric shaver.

Chrysler 'Auto - Pilot' on Display at Show

The 1953 Chrysler line, including the new 10 to 1 compression ratio, includes an all-new Windsor series and two new nine-passenger station wagons, will be displayed at the Automobile Show here.

Combining such innovations as Auto-Pilot, a new pushbutton automatic driver assist, air-craft-type bubble windshields and improved full-time power steering, the 1958 Chrysler series will be displayed with the new New Yorker and Saratoga series in a lower price range.

Beautiful new grilles, plus speed control device previously marketed, Auto-Pilot allows by means of a dial on the instrument panel, when the car has attained this pre-selected speed, a warning back-pressure develops on the accelerator pedal. By pushing a button recessed in the speed selector, the driver arranges automatic throttle control. The driver can then re-move his foot from the accelerator pedal. Automatic control is cancelled by a touch on the brake pedal.

A new dual air conditioning unit for extremely hot weather conditions more than doubles the capacity of the new automatic evaporator and blowers units, one located in the engine compartment and the other on a shelf in the luggage compartment.

In addition to the new dual unit, an improved single-eva-porator and blower unit, which circulates 15 percent more cool air, is available.

Fourteen models in three series are offered. The Chrysler Windsor is available in a four-door sedan, two-door hardtop, four-door hardtop, two-seat town and country station wagon and the new Saratoga two-door hardtop, four-door hardtop, two-door hardtop, two-seat town and country station wagon and the new Saratoga four-door hardtop, two-door hardtop, two-seat town and country station wagon.

The Saratoga is available in a four-door hardtop, two-door hardtop, two-seat town and country station wagon and the new Saratoga four-door hardtop, two-door hardtop, two-seat town and country station wagon.

They are available in a choice of 18 new colors and 45 color combinations. High-swept fender fins carry out an aircraft-derived dash shape.

For 1958 Chrysler offers new three-seat, nine-passenger Town and Country station wagons as well as conventional two-seat wagons. Fitted with a fully-width third seat facing rearward in the observation deck area, the new nine-passenger wagons offer unrestricted vision for third-seat passengers.

When maximum cargo area is required, both second and third seats fold into the floor well, providing a cargo volume of 95 cubic feet. Captive-air tires, which allow up to 100 miles of travel after a puncture, are standard equipment. Town and Country station wagons are available with a 7.5 cubic foot locked under-floor well for luggage and valuables.

New Yorker and Saratoga models feature narrow horizontal grille bars which stretch across the front of the car, wrapping around to front wheel openings on each side. A heavy-duty end guard above a bumper bar framing a wide air scoop, aircraft-type bubble windshields are standard on all two-door hardtops, four-door hardtops and convertibles.

New tail light lenses are set into high-swept canted tail fins. Back-up lights are positioned directly beneath tail lights. Extra front repair windows, which ex-

Run Automatic Cadillac Top

A Cadillac Eldorado Biarritz convertible top will be displayed for the first time in the Detroit area by the Cadillac division of General Motors at the Detroit Auto Show to be held in the Detroit Artillery Armory from Jan. 18 through Jan. 26.

The new type convertible eliminates all manual effort in raising, lowering and securing a convertible top, according to James M. Roche, general manager of the division and vice president of GM. In addition, a humidity control automatically raises the top and windows when it rains, whether or not the driver is near the car.

When the top is down, the lines of the car remain smooth and unbroken and the all-metal panel which covers the top lies flush with the rear deck. All three sections of this panel are painted the same color as the rest of the body.

Five Eldorado Biarritz convertibles incorporating these completely automatic tops have been built by Cadillac for display as show cars.

"The automatic convertible top, designed by Cadillac and General Motors stylists in cooperation with Fisher Body engineers, is practical and efficient," Roche said. "It accomplishes electrically the chore of stowing the convertible top and does it in a matter of seconds.

"With this new top," he pointed out, "the last of the manual effort has been removed in a convertible and all worry about rain is eliminated. Coupled with the ease of operation is a maximum of efficiency."

The operation of the top and cover panel is controlled by four electric motors. (These are much the same as the motors which operate electric windows.) One motor raises and lowers the top; one moves the side portions of the cover panel; one works the large section of the cover and the other locks and unlocks and positions the roof to the windshield.

The three-piece metal cover is stored in compartments when the top is up. A locking device is included which automatically secures the top to the upper part of the windshield.

All of these actions result in all three sections of the panel automatically moving into covering positions. This provides a flush metal deck over the top well.

When the top is lowered from the push of a button, under rainy conditions, however, not even the button is required — or anyone in the car. This involves the humidity control whereby the top comes up by itself when a sensitive area on the rear deck is hit by raindrops. In fact, not only does the top come up, but the windows also will come up automatically if down when the control is activated.

World's Best Answer to a Detour!

Pretty rough road, you'd say? Well, you certainly wouldn't be aware of it if you were sitting where these happy travelers are.

For they're in a 1958 Cadillac—and here, beyond a doubt, is the world's best substitute for a new highway!

Just what is this special Cadillac magic that works such wonders on a rough roadway? Well, let's take a look and see what happens to a bump when it meets the wheels of a new 1958 Cadillac.

First of all, it is softened by those big, buoyant, full-sized Cadillac tires . . . then it is gently cushioned by those massive, perfectly balanced Cadillac coil springs . . . or, if the extra-cost option of air suspension is present, it is subdued by that miraculous cushion of air that cradles the entire frame . . . then it is diminished still further by Cadillac's new hydraulic shock absorbers and by its specially engineered system of rubber body mountings.

And, of course, should any suggestion of it still remain, it meets its final demise in those deep, luxurious, Fleetwood-crafted seat cushions . . . and in the car's marvelous steadiness and balance.

All in all, it's the reason why a journey in a new Cadillac is the finest distance between any two points. We invite you to try it for yourself—and to get the full facts about all of the beautiful Cadillacs, including the distinguished Eldorado Brougham.

Ten Models in Lush Oldsmobile Display

An attractive display of '58 Oldsmobile models and Oldsmobile features graphically will demonstrate "Oldsmobile" a new way of going places, to visitors attending the 45th annual Detroit Automobile Show at the Detroit Artillery Armory Jan. 18 through 26.

The colorful Oldsmobile display will include at least ten 1958 models in the Dynamic '58', Super '58', and '58' series, including several models of the luxurious Fiesta station wagons. Three of the cars will be displayed on the Oldsmobile "merry-go-round" which forms the focal point of the entire exhibit.

A high point of interest in this main Oldsmobile setting is found around the circular guard rail of the merry-go-round. A total of 18 telephones are installed, each of which, when dialed '58' or '98', transmits to the listener the story of "Oldsmobile" the tape-recorded message notes the many things that contribute to this new way of going places in comfort and with ease—in safety with high performance—and in the luxury of brilliant styling.

"Oldsmobile is pleased to be a part of this great automobile show in the automotive capital of the world," said Jack F. Wolfram, Oldsmobile general manager and vice president of General Motors. "It affords us the opportunity to show thousands of people the specific engineering and styling advances which have put Oldsmobile in a class by itself. Special exhibits at the show include a chassis with Oldsmobile's New-Matic Ride, a true air suspension system; a J-2 Rocket engine, a specially-mounted leather, deep twist carpet and full-width defrosting and showing the results.

In addition to these displays, the Oldsmobile exhibit will feature a 1958 Oldsmobile Palace Touring Car which was built the year Oldsmobile became a member of the newly-formed General Motors Corporation. This year G.M. is observing its 50th anniversary with a year-long Golden Milestone celebration.

SAFETY AT SHOW

The exhibit of the Michigan Secretary of State's office at the Detroit Auto Show, the Secretary of State announced at his Lansing office that the exhibit will have a large display of license plates issued by his office since 1908 with varying colors and designs. A tele-binoocular machine which tests vision distance and depth, color, and left and right perception will be part of the exhibit. The free test entitles the visitor to a certificate and showing the results.

The "safety sentinel" permits the driver to select a safe speed for existing conditions. When that speed is exceeded, an amber light flashes and a buzzer sounds to warn the driver.

Year-around comfort is demonstrated by the instrument range heater in the instrument panel display. It shows the easy operating push button control two-way fresh air ventilation, two-speed defrosting and full-width defrosting and showing the results.

Finest Deal on America's Finest Car Backed by Jack
Selle's Personal Guarantee of Service and Satisfaction.

A Personal Message from Jack Selle

No one will deny that the automobile business is a highly competitive field . . . to survive, a dealer must build his business on the sound basis of service and satisfaction to the customer. The word good will has been defined as "the inclination of a customer to return to the place that he has been treated fairly." This is the basis of our business . . . and because of this policy, we have become one of the fastest growing automobile dealerships in Western Wayne County. When you read of fantastic prices on new automobiles being offered, be wary. Every dealer pays precisely the same price for the automobile when it leaves the factory. Every dealer must make a fair return on his investment in order to stay in business and to provide the service that a customer expects and deserves. We at Selle Buick are dedicated to this principal.

When you are ready for that new Buick, shop around, get other prices and then come to us. We will match any price, anywhere and back it with our personal guarantee of service and satisfaction.

Jack Selle

The words expressed by Mr. Selle are his personal instructions to me. Our sales staff is here to see that anyone who comes to Selle Buick will receive the best deal on America's finest car that it is possible to give. Over the years, the same people return to Selle Buick for their new car. There must be a reason! They know that nowhere will they receive a better price and nowhere will they find a better guarantee of service and satisfaction. Why not come in today, we are here to serve you.
