

Farmer St. Paving Proposal Brings Protest

Mothers March For Polio Wednesday

Arrest Seven Youths in Three Separate Cases

Seven youths have been arrested by Plymouth police during the past week for a variety of crimes ranging up to auto larceny.

Two alert patrolmen, Calvin Brown and Henry Burghoff, became suspicious of a car being driven around town Monday night. They stopped the car and noticed that it had no ignition key. Further investigation showed that they were driving the car with a "jumper" which makes the ignition system work without a key.

Although there was no teletype report on such a stolen car, the youths were kept in jail overnight. Tuesday morning a report came from Flint police describing the car driven by the boys as Lloyd Newcombe, 17, of 335 Cady, Northville. The other was a 16-year-old Flint juvenile.

Flint police came to Plymouth Tuesday to pick them up.

Three Plymouth youths have been charged with simple larceny and are awaiting sentencing. They are Kirkland McCowan, 17, of 483 Ann; John Norgrove, 18, of 597 Ann; and Bernard Fornwald, 18, of 397 Pacific.

One hundred and fifty women will stage their annual Mother's March for Polio next Wednesday in Plymouth city and township to collect donations for the March of Dimes.

Even though there is no set goal, the committee expects the $2,500 donated in last year's march to be equalled or surpassed.

The Mother's March is the climax of the January dimes drive in Plymouth and across the nation.

Again this year the mothers will march in the afternoon in Plymouth Township. The 7 to 8 p.m. "march" in the city will start with the ringing of bells from St. Peter's Lutheran and First Presbyterian Churches.

Mrs. Charles Olson, chairman of the Mother's March, announces that her volunteers expect to call at every home, whether city porchlites are burning or not. For the convenience and safety of workers, however, it is urged that porchlites be turned on. Other mothers wishing to volunteer help call Mrs. Olson at 3278.

Workers can be identified by the mason jars they will be carrying that will bear the March of Dimes sticker and scroll.

Mrs. Harry Bartel, general chairman, announced that it would be convenient for householders to use the March of Dimes envelopes received by mail to present a donation to the marching mothers.

Following the march, the volunteers will return to the Veterans Memorial Home for refreshments served by Girl Scouts headed by Mrs. Sheldon Baker.

Last Saturday girls from 23 Plymouth Girl Scout troops braved the cold weather to sell peanuts for the benefit of the polio fund. From the sale of 2,500 bags, they received $461.64.

Bowlers are also being given a chance to help fight polio. Parkview Recreation and Arbor-Lill alleys are taking part in the second annual March of Dimes Bowling Tournament. A dollar is donated to the March of Dimes to enter the tourney and two new cars will be given winners in the finals. Entry blanks are available at both local alleys.

PREPARING FOR the women who will participate in next Wednesday night's Mother's March on Polio is Mrs. John Rumberger, 1073 Penniman. Although the mothers will stop at all homes, residents are being asked to turn on their porchlites for safety sake. Mrs. Rumberger has a special reason for wanting to greet a solicitor. Her son Dale, 6, is still recovering from polio suffered three years ago. She took part in previous "marches" but only two weeks ago she came home from the hospital with new-born twins.

Not since the days of the Main St. improvement public hearings three years ago have city commissioners had such an audience as they did Monday night to protest their proposal to pave Farmer St. as an access to the new Western Electric Co. plant.

Some 35 residents of the Farmer St. area attended the meeting, with all but two of them opposed to the paving for truck use. There were also eight citizens present concerning re-zoning matters.

Many of the Farmer St. people got to express their opinions during the hour and 15 minutes discussion that came under "citizens suggestions" on the agenda.

Spokesman for the protest group was John Daoust who lives at Farmer and Sheldon. Daoust outlined five reasons why they objected to the commission's proposal to use Farmer, from Sheldon to Starkweather, as a route to Western Electric. The plant has been prohibited by the Wayne County Road Commission from using Sheldon Rd. to route its larger trucks because of weight restrictions.

"This is obviously a serious situation for Western Electric," Daoust told the commission, "if they have no way to get in or out. And we think the attitude of the commission is commendable in their attempt to find a solution for Western Electric. But it is a solution at the expense of voters and taxpayers and we go on record as strenuously objecting to its use for heavy traffic."

He declared that the commission should discourage the use of residential streets like Farmer for heavy traffic. "Obviously Farmer is being used because it is a direct route" Daoust added. "We believe the problem is primarily the concern of Western Electric and the county and residents object and resent being used as an expedient."

He also noted that Farmer St. is used for the pick-up and delivery of grade school children by buses; that traffic in the city is already at the saturation point, so traffic should be routed around the city and not through its residential streets; and that routing trucks through a first class residential district would devalue property.

Daoust then suggested that the trucks be routed up Sheldon to Five or Six Mile roads, or south on Sheldon to M-14.

First to offer rebuttal was Commissioner Richard Wernette. He said that he personally believes that with proper planning, Western Electric could ship its material in by rail instead of truck. He also declared that the commission has realized that Farmer will have to be paved sooner or later, but with a lighter pavement than would be needed to support trucks. "Rather than pave some other street that wouldn't normally need it, we picked Farmer because we felt it was the most economical route."

City Manager Albert Glassford, who has talked with Western Electric and Wayne County Road Commission officials many times, said that it is much cheaper for the firm to use trucks in many of their hauls because there are many small loads and that overnight service is often needed.

"In a way," the manager said, "we are fortunate that the company made this discovery about the truck route now instead of before they started building, because it is doubtful that they would have even located here."

Mayor Harold Guenther declared that "we as a city are faced with accommodating Western Electric. We did a lot of work bringing them here. Daisy Manufacturing is being lost. This also means a tax loss. Most of you are not concerned with tax base in your everyday thinking. When the tax base is down, service must go down or the tax rate raised."

The mayor pointed out that Rogers, Arkansas spent more money just inviting Daisy to their town than is involved on Farmer St. "The county should be concerned because it will get some taxes from Western Electric too, but not as concerned as we are."

Fred Warren, 550 Auburn, said that as a truck driver, he felt that paving Junction St. (a block north of Farmer) would be ideal because Consumers Power, Continental Can and Champion Container are already along that street. He then believed that the route should go down Karmada St. to Farmer.

Richard Straub, 608 Ann, said that he has lived on the same corner 25 years and that he is now "on the fence." But he felt that adding a few trucks to Farmer St. could not add to the traffic problem already there.

Mrs. Woodrow Ross, 525 Blunk, said that she consulted the head of the traffic study department at the U of M who said that other routes around the city should be de-

Gaylord Container Manager Arrives

Robert C. Rice, the man who will be superintendent of the new Gaylord Container Corporation plant here, arrived in Plymouth Tuesday to help direct remodeling and lay-out of the factory.

Also in Plymouth is the chief industrial engineer for Gaylord, Kenneth E. Easley of St. Louis.

The plant is the former Wall Wire Co. building on General Drive in Plymouth Township which Gaylord announced last week that it had purchased. Rice said that in addition to the plant and its original four acres, another 8.3 acres has been purchased west of the plant inside the city limits.

"We anticipate considerable expansion here," Rice told The Mail yesterday. He said, however, that he could not say now how many employes it would take to start the operation here. Gaylord expects to open the plant March 1.

Gaylord Container, which is the container-making division of Crown Zellerbach Corporation, one of the nation's biggest paper producers, now has a sales office in Detroit. Rice said that the office would probably eventually move to Plymouth.

Rice expects to move his wife and three children to Plymouth. Easley is here just to direct remodeling and lay-out operations. The superintendent has been with Gaylord 20 years. He is a native of Dallas, Texas. The local operation will at first deal in the making of containers from corrugated sheets shipped in from other Gaylord plants. Later the corrugated sheets will also be manufactured here, Rice said.

Danger in the Kitchen

Burning Grease Brings Trouble to Housewives

Two cases of fires caused by burning grease in Plymouth Township homes only three blocks apart brought a warning this week to housewives who may not think of their vocation as dangerous.

One housewife, Mrs. Quincy Watson, 15030 Bradner Rd., was seriously burned. Another, Mrs. Lawrence Fritz, 42521 Five Mile Rd., had just gone to a neighbors of shortening when the can burst into flames after she momentarily left the room. Daughter Patti, 12, saw the fire and Mrs. Watson returned, calmly extinguishing the blaze by throwing flour on the can. She then picked it up to carry it outside. The can burned her hands, causing her to drop it.

As the can hit the floor, the grease splattered and burst into flames. With her clothing and hair aflame, Mrs. Watson, 45, ran outside and rolled on the ground, extinguishing the fire. Mr. Watson heard his wife's screams and after going to her aid, called an ambulance.

Only two days before, Mrs. Fritz, living three blocks away from the Watson home, also had an unforgettable experience. Before leaving the house to visit a neighbor, she thought she had turned off an electrical burner, but apparently had turned it on high. On top of the burner was

Symphony Music Is Family-Style Sunday

"Fairy Tales in Music" is the theme of the fourth concert in the season's series by the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra this Sunday.

The Family Concert is a tradition with the 90-piece Plymouth Orchestra and its conductor, Wayne Dunlap. Aimed at introducing the young people of the community into the world of great music, this program has proved to be one of the most popular of the season.

Three of the selections to be performed have been played on this program other years and are being repeated by popular demand. They are Dukas' "Sorcerer's Apprentice," Kleinsinger's "Pee Wee The Piccolo," and Ravel's "Mother Goose Suite," the latter being divided into five sections, each a familiar and charming fairy tale. In the entire program, all but the two overtures are based on stories.

PROGRAM

- Overture to "The Magic Flute" Mozart
- Mother Goose Suite Ravel
- Sorcerer's Apprentice Dukas
- Children's Overture Quilter
- Through The Looking Glass Taylor
- Pee Wee The Piccolo Kleinsinger

The story of the little piccolo who lost his solo, and later found it—narrated by Mrs. Ray Hulce.

For those of the family who are too young to attend the concert, there is a baby-sitting service at the high school, with trained Girl Scouts to serve as nursemaids, and movies, toys, games and books to help entertain their small charges.

The program is at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon and, as usual, there will be no admission charge. Concerts are sponsored and paid for by the Plymouth Symphony Society, whose members are dedicated to the ideal of good music free to everybody.

During intermission, a certificate for a symphonic record of the winner's choice will be given away, donated by Melody House.

Former Township Zoning Laws Illegal, Judge Rules

Plymouth Township's two previous zoning ordinances which stood as law for 13 years were illegal, according to a ruling made Monday by Municipal Judge Nandino Perlongo in a city zoning case involving a roadside stand.

The case concerned a stand at North Territorial and Sheldon Roads on the Roderick Cassidy property. Neighbors living in the area had last month petitioned the city concerning the stand and the city then took legal action against the owner, Kenneth Kahrl, 918 Ross.

As a result of the case which was heard in several sessions, Judge Perlongo side stand corner and some 83 acres of the Cassidy farm were annexed to the city. Under the city zoning, such stands are illegal, but because the stand was inherited through annexation, the owner claimed it could continue under the "non-conforming use" section of the zoning law.

City attorneys attempted to prove that even under the township zoning laws the stand was illegal. Township zoning ordinance requires any produce sold at such stands to be grown on the premises. Kahrl admitted that he did not grow all of his own produce and certainly didn't grow the Christmas trees which he sells every December.

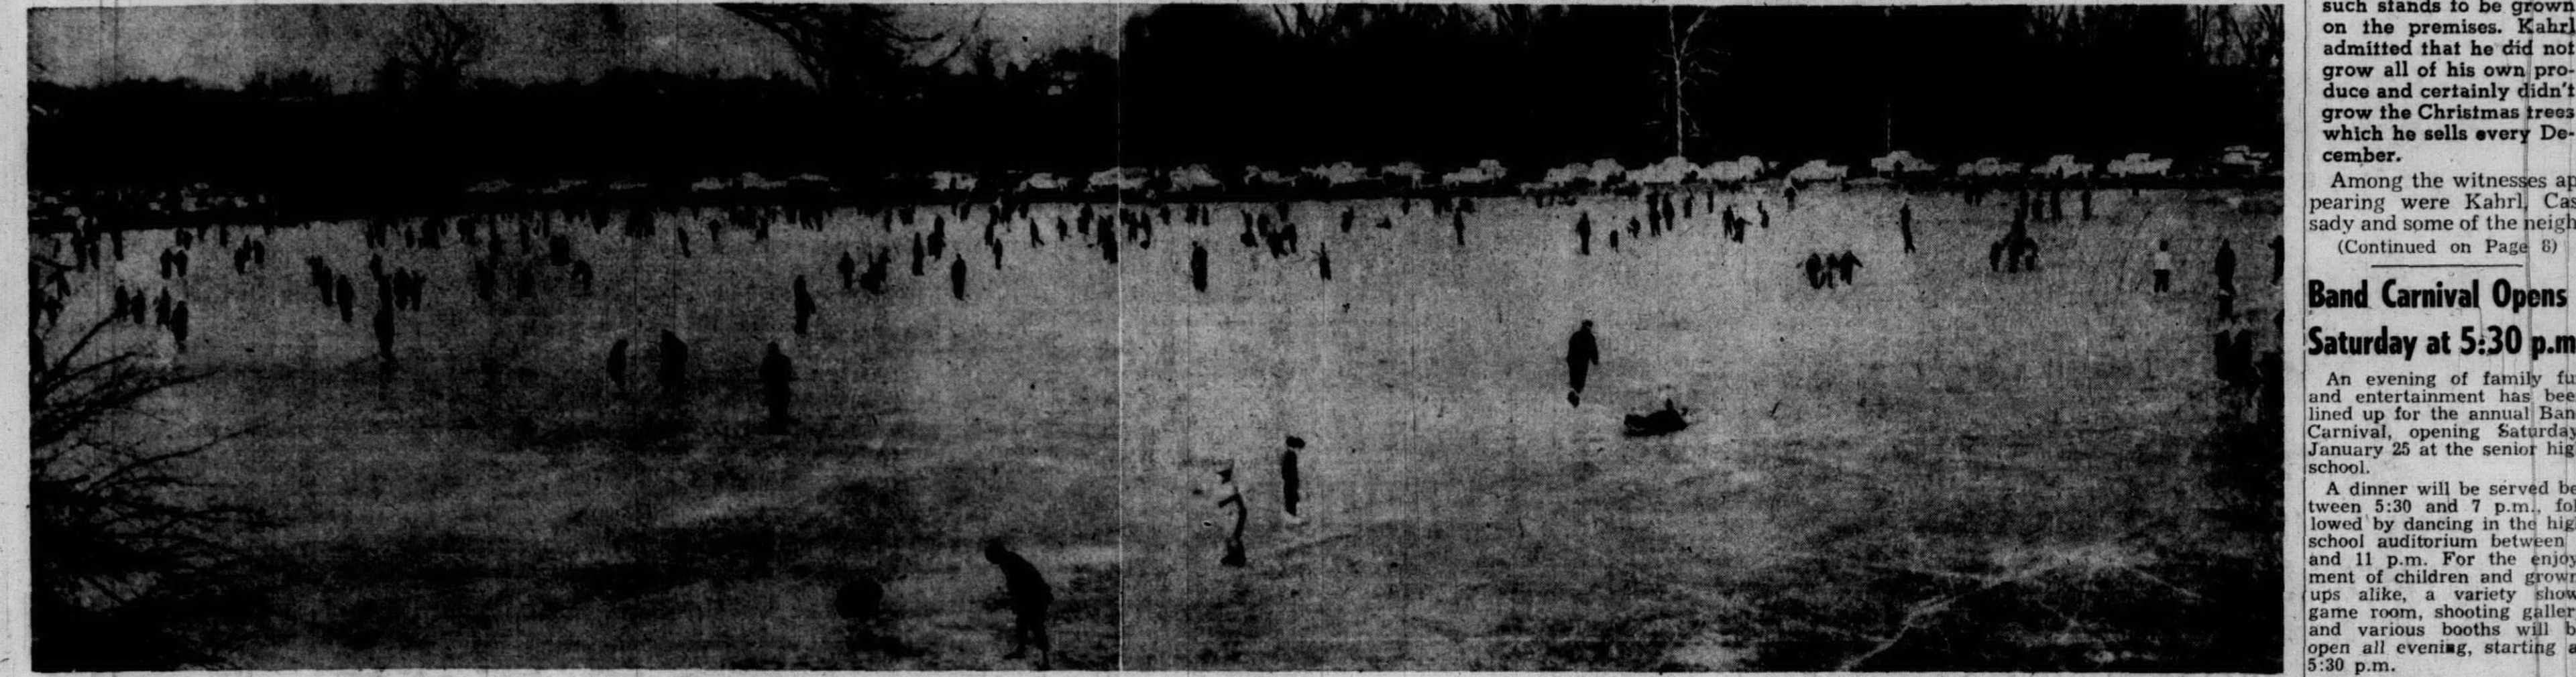

Among the witnesses appearing were Kahrl, Cassidy and some of the neighbors. (Continued on Page 8)

Band Carnival Opens Saturday at 5:30 p.m.

An evening of family fun and entertainment has been lined up for the annual Band Carnival, opening Saturday, January 25 at the senior high school.

A dinner will be served between 5:30 and 7 p.m., followed by dancing in the high school auditorium between 9 and 11 p.m. For the enjoyment of children and grown-ups alike, a variety show, game room, shooting gallery and various booths will be open all evening, starting at 5:30 p.m.

Sponsored by the Band-Parents association, proceeds will be used to purchase two electronic devices to aid students in the junior and senior bands in tuning.

THERE HAS NOT been much snow in Plymouth so far this winter, but there has been enough cold weather to give the ice skaters something to do. The most popular ice skating spot for local people is Wilcox Lake. This picture, taken last Sunday, is a panoramic view of the frozen lake and some of the skaters who enjoyed the afternoon. It is estimated that up to 500 children and adults have been on the ice at one time during the past weekends. Skating on the lake is directed by the Wayne County Parks. All unsafe ice is blocked off. On distant shore of the lake at left are two buildings where skaters can warm up. Finding a parking place is something difficult as shown by Edward Hines Drive in background.

Homeowners Invite Speakers To Explain Tax

Mrs. Robert Fitzner
625 Parkview Dr.

ASSOCIATION NOTE: The executive committee met with President Paul Kauffman at his home on Parkview Drive last Thursday evening. Among other items on the agenda the officers felt it fitting and proper that local authorities be invited to our next meeting to explain the tax situation since the Association members' primary interest at this time is centered around how our own local taxes are evaluated and where and how the money is used. It was agreed that City Manager Al Glassford, Mayor Harold Guenther and City Clerk Kenneth Way be invited to appear at the February meeting. Please note, too, that to accommodate the above mentioned speakers it was necessary that the meeting date be changed from Feb. 7 to Feb. 14. All homeowners in this area will be invited to attend.

Happy Birthday this month to Lorrie Curok, Marty Kennedy, Sr. and Lee Ruland.

Earl Atkison of Parkview Drive is baching it again while wife Esther has a week in Wisconsin with her daughter and family.

Dorothy and Lloyd Curok of Parkview Drive entertained at pinochle last Wednesday evening for Betty and Jim Parks, Donna and Bob Sasal and Bob and I. By the way, Lloyd is back to work and in full swing after his near escape with the tank of boiling oil.

A couple months ago I was asked to get information regarding the Plymouth Women's National Farm and Garden Association. For those interested in joining the club I've been advised to refer you to the membership chairman, Mrs. Donald Burlison, 575 Burroughs avenue, phone 29. This hardly seems the weather to be thinking of gardening but you'll have to admit there is an advantage in learning the proper ways now and being prepared in the spring when things start getting underway.

morning to get some news and was told Jack had come home from work Friday noon and been in bed ever since. Lee said all the children were drippy with colds too and so none of them felt up to par. High blood pressure is the cause of Madeliene Kendall's sojourn at Mt. Carmel hospital in Detroit. Hubby and I had a long chat with Harold Kendall in Plymouth on Saturday. Harold said the tests being run on Madeliene were still being processed so they had no definite word to report except that the blood pressure at that time was normal. He didn't know how long his wife would have to stay in the hospital.

Mrs. Donald Melow entertained members of her club Tuesday evening of last week in her home on Spring street. The birthday of Mrs. Walter Packard was celebrated. Present were Mrs. George Britcher, Mrs. Les Evans, Mrs. Carl Hartwick, Miss Elsie Melow, Miss Sarah Gayde, Miss Huldur Carlson, Mrs. William Krause and Mrs. Packard.

A YOUNG admirer stepped up to shake hands with Col. John Craig during intermission at Sunday's World Travel Series of Plymouth. Col. Craig, nationally-known for his TV adventure programs, was warmly received by Sunday's audience. At left is Kurt Thrun of the Travel Centre who arranged the series, and at right is J. H. Wilcox, Chamber manager, sponsors of the series.

The MAIL Attitude

By PAUL CHANDLER

The Plymouth Mail has been notified that it is "among the winners of the 1957 General Excellence Contest" for newspapers of the Michigan Press Association, an organization composed of 305 weeklies and 56 dailies.

The award will be made at a dinner in East Lansing Saturday night, and not until then will we know exactly what we've won.

But even this preliminary announcement shows that the hard work of our Plymouth Mail crew hasn't gone unrecognized. I'm grateful to every guy and gal in the plant and specifically to the department heads, Walt Jendrycka, Jim Spenseller and Don Golem.

The Mail these days is grouped with all the big metropolitan weeklies for purposes of judging and the competition is rough.

In our story on Page One last week announcing a reorganization of officers of Daisy Manufacturing, we didn't get to a couple of matters which would have made the picture whole.

Bob Shafer, who has been Production Manager, submitted a resignation last November, the effective date to be March 1, 1958. He hasn't yet announced his new destination.

John J. McHenry also has announced he will retire this year as Director of Manufacturing. He will go with the company to Rogers, Ark., however, and serve during the setting-up period there.

Plymouth High's showdown game with Livonia Bentley for first place in their league brought out the old sports fever in us last Friday. The drubbing soaked up by Plymouth took most of the fun out of the evening, however.

However, despite the 20-point spread in the final score, there isn't that much difference. They will meet again later this season and I predict a tight contest.

Rarely has any high school team shot more accurately from the floor than did Livonia in the second half last week. That got the Rocks' pressing, and then they couldn't put the ball in the basket even from three feet out. (Only three Plymouth field goals in the second half.)

Plymouth had good action on the backboards and looked every bit a sound team. If any criticism could be made from the sidelines, it is that they were perhaps too casual about their defense; more willing to try to trade baskets than to halt the enemy from shooting in the first place.

All these dreadfully wise observations, of course, come from the same typewriter which predicted last Spring that the Tigers would win the pennant in 1957.

The two firms now planning to set up new operations in the former A & P on Ann Arbor Trail are The Photo Shop and Terry's Bakery.

The Plymouth Mail is read in places we never suspected. Somebody mailed us the latest copy of "Solidarity," the UAW-CIO weekly newspaper, and on page three there was a rather bold, big criticism of The Mail. We were charged with meekness in not editorially dismembering Daisy Manufacturing Co. over Daisy's decision to move away.

Prior to that, "Solidarity" had been using some data published only in The Mail to document some of its own fiercest thrusts at Daisy.

Anyhow, thanks, men, for the wide publicity for our newspaper.

Adventurer Finds Audience 'Warm' and 'Receptive'

A familiar face was in Plymouth last Sunday—familiar at least to those who enjoy real-life adventure and watch adventure programs on television.

Lt. Colonel John Craig, who has just completed a series of 41 "Kingdom of the Sea" programs for TV, was the lecturer at Sunday's World Travel Series of Plymouth program. Nearly 450 people filled the auditorium to hear the Colonel and see his film, "Family Adventure Holiday in Europe."

Col. Craig is a legal resident of California but he makes the world his home. Last year he suggested to his seldom-seen wife and two daughters, ages 17 and 11, that they take a trip to Europe. They didn't let him forget the suggestion.

For three months the family traveled around Europe, visiting nine nations. His films were brilliant in color and showed the technical work of an expert.

Col. Craig can be classified among the top men in the travel film field. As one Plymouthite declared during the intermission, "I don't see how they got a man like him to come here."

The colonel said after the program that he found the audience one of the "warmest" and "most receptive" he has appeared before. He also expressed his desire to return with some of his adventure films, the type that he enjoys showing most.

Col. Craig doesn't recommend taking children on a three-month tour such as he did. "A one-month tour of one country is the only way children can get much out of a trip," he added. The family toured Europe in a car. His daughter, he found, enjoyed Spain more than any other country.

The reknowned lecturer and photographer who headed Air Force camera crews during World War II and later filmed the Bikini atom bomb tests, will soon start a new series of films. He will visit 18 countries to make a series of 21 films called "Danger is My Business."

Jim Spenseller

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gucciaroli of Walled Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Smith and children from Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Walton and son from Highland Park were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Holladay on Brookline.

Appoint Financial Chairman to Guide Junior Achievers

A. P. Bowman, Plant Manager of Continental Can Company's Robert Gair division, has accepted appointment as financial chairman of the local Junior Achievement Activities, it was announced by E. W. Zipse, General Manager of Whitman & Barnes, and the current Chairman of Junior Achievement for the Plymouth-Livonia-Northville area. The announcement was made in conjunction with a meeting of executives of local industries to be held on Wednesday, January 29, at the Mayflower Hotel to "kick-off" a campaign to raise funds for the Junior Achievement Center in Plymouth.

This Center serves as the working base for the teenagers of the area, who learn the principles of manufacturing, selling and accounting, through operating small businesses of their own, under the guidance of adult advisors from local industries.

Bowman, who will coordinate this year's fund-raising campaign, stated that he feels confident of the ready cooperation of the community.

Commission Reads Zoning Changes, Buys Police Car

Farmer St. and its proposed paving consumed much of the discussion time by the city commission Monday night, but a lot of other ground was also covered during the evening, including some zoning ordinance changes, buying a new police car and appointments to the Electrical Board.

One of the zoning changes given first reading concerned two controversial lots next to a plant on Hamilton St. owned by Frank Arlen. The lots were the subject of a court case in which the city was defendant and Broen Metal Products, then occupant of the plant, was plaintiff. The city held that Broen could not use the lots for loading and unloading because they violated zoning.

Broen has since moved out and the commission believes that by changing the two lots from two family residential to professional residential, will better keep the plant's loading and unloading operations confined.

Several residents who had originally protested plant noise appeared at the meeting. Murray O'Neill, one of the neighbors, asked the commission if they didn't think it was their obligation to set up a standard for a non-conforming unit, such as the plant.

"You can set up policy for anything else, why not for this?" He was concerned that if another company moves into the plant, it should be restricted to definite operations which he believed the city should establish now.

First reading was also given to amend the zoning ordinance section dealing with bulk storage tanks. The Ohio Oil Co. wants to erect a storage depot between the C & O Railroad and S. Mill St. Although the city has a storage ordinance, it needs modernization.

Four bids were received for a new police car. Awarded the contract will be Paul J. Wiedman, Inc. (Ford) which bid $1,610 after a $325 trade-in. Also bidding were Ernest J. Allison (Chevrolet) $1,771.43; Forest Motor Sales (Dodge) $1,961.30; and West Bros. Edsel, $1,950.

Mayor Harold Guenther, with approval of the commission, re-appointed Robert Gilles and James Honey to the Electrical Board. Their terms will expire next January. An appointment to the Board of Review to fill a vacancy created by Carl Shear was withheld until the next meeting.

Farmers Get Pointers in Filing Returns

Farmers in the Plymouth, Northville, and Livonia area soon will be filing their 1957 Federal income tax returns. As in the past several years, most of them will be filing Form SE, U. S. Report of Self-Employment Income, for crediting their farm net earnings to their social security accounts. Both the amount of social security tax due and potential social security benefits are based on the net income earned.

Farmers will follow the same basic rules in reporting income as do business and professional self-employed persons. They must deduct all operating expenses from the gross income in figuring the net earnings.

STOP HIM! the Livonia Bentley crowd shouted as a Plymouth cager was about to shoot in last Friday's vital game. And the Bentley Bulldogs were able to do a lot of defense work with three men who measured 6-2 or better. The Rocks lost by 20 points, dropping them into second place behind the Bulldogs. An overflow crowd watched the game. Earlier in the day, 10 carloads of Bentley students drove into town to stage a rally. Police, however, sidetracked the caravan at city hall. After a lecture, the group of about 40 boys and girls returned to Livonia. For further game details see sports page in Section 2.

Ladywood Has "Kick-Off" For Yearbook Sale

Ladywood High School was alive with activity last Saturday night. About 200 people attended a dance that lasted until midnight, which was followed by a buffet dinner donated and served by the Mothers Club.

The group was celebrating the fifth anniversary year of Ladywood High School—and the affair was a "kick-off" for the publishing of an anniversary book.

This book will be widely distributed and will tell of the trials and triumphs of the Felician Sisters and the students during the past five years.

Jerry Scully, Activities Chairman, expressed the hope of Sister Benigna, Principal of Ladywood, that the Advertising proceeds from the book would help replace the old school bus, "which breaks down at least twice a week."

Scully introduced to the gathering, Mayor William Brashgar of Livonia and Livonia Councilmen Peter Ventura and Rudy Kleinert. He referred to the three as being good friends of Ladywood since its founding. The Mayor and councilmen responded briefly, gave their whole-hearted support to the anniversary book.

All three expressed their hope that the business men of the Communities served by Ladywood would show their appreciation of the school by placing advertising in the anniversary book.

The presidents of the Mothers and Dads Club, Mrs. Joseph O'Malley and Bill Sickles, spoke along similar lines. Scully stated that students and other representatives of Ladywood would begin this week to contact business men in Livonia, Plymouth, Redford Township, Garden City, Northville, and other surrounding communities.

ATTENDING THE FIFTH ANNIVERSARY Dance of Ladywood High School last week were: Rudolf Kleinert, Jerry Scully, Mrs. Peter Ventura, Pete Ventura and Mayor of Livonia and Mrs. William Brashgar.

Grange Gleanings

The meeting of last Thursday night was very well attended. The program which followed the regular business meeting was something different and instructive although not exactly conducive to peace of mind. The film entitled "Tornadoes" showed what havoc can be caused in a brief time by a tornado. The speaker was also very good.

Mable Loomis has been "under the weather" with a very bad cold for about three weeks and was unable to come to the meeting.

Mrs. Ida Klagas and daughter Violet, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Amrhein and Mary Murry are some of our Grange members who are in Florida.

1st in Series of Memorial Talks To be Atomic Energy Program

A wide variety of specific atomic energy research projects sponsored by the Phoenix project, Dr. Gomberg will draw his facts. Of these research projects nearly 100 have been completed since the establishment of the memorial Phoenix project.

Dr. Gomberg's science presentation will be the first of the yearly series of programs to be entitled "The Edge of Knowledge", which are to serve as a memorial to 10-year-old Kim Worland of Plymouth who died last September. The program is open to the public of Plymouth and the surrounding communities.

From the more than 150

atomic energy research projects sponsored by the Phoenix project, Dr. Gomberg will draw his facts. Of these research projects nearly 100 have been completed since the establishment of the memorial Phoenix project.

The Phoenix Project is the university's memorial to its 468 World War II dead. Named after the legendary bird of Egypt that periodically was consumed by fire and arose revitalized from its own ashes, the Phoenix project thus symbolizes the beneficial application of atomic energy following the destruction of World War II.

Thirty thousand alumni and 350 companies over-subscribed the project by $900,000, setting it up with a total of 7 1/3 million dollars in 1948.

Two radiation caves with three feet thick walls of concrete and steel form the heart of the $1,850,000 Phoenix Memorial Laboratory which was completed in 1955 for work in radiochemistry, engineering, botany, the health sciences, and physics.

The project also includes an 1800 square foot green house to study the effect of direct radiation on growing plants; and the one million dollar Ford Nuclear Reactor which went into operation last September 19. The latter, a gift of the Ford Motor Company, is used as a source of neutrons and gamma rays for research and instruction.

Better engines appear possible because of one of the Phoenix project's investigations. The effect of radiation on combustion has been found to improve combustion more than 10 percent.

Other current and recently completed projects include the Bubble Chamber, a device which makes possible rapid, easily interpreted photographs of rare atomic interactions. The Bubble Chamber is essentially a quart-sized container of a clear superheated liquid held under pressure. The paths of the atomic particles appear as tiny bubbles for an instant before the liquid boils.

Chief McAllister Attends Board Meeting in NYC

Fire Chief R. J. McAllister of Plymouth attended the annual meeting of the board of directors of the International Association of Fire Chiefs at the Hotel Manhattan in New York City from Monday through Wednesday.

Chief McAllister is director of the Great Lakes Association of Fire Chiefs, a division of the I.A.F.C.

At the annual meeting, the board of directors of the International Association of Fire Chiefs established the policy and programs to be advocated for 1958. Important issues discussed include: the organization's opposition to the "integration of public safety services," a consolidation of health, police and fire operations which its advocates claim will result in lower taxes and greater efficiency; highway safety and the establishment of uniform safe standards for transporting and handling hazardous materials.

Also the recruitment and classification of fire department personnel with specific proposals to combat the current shortage of manpower; the problem of the availability and future development of radio communications as it relates to emergency operations and the fire department; and a report on fire administration education and attempts now being made to establish on the college level degree-granting curriculums in fire engineering.

Welsh Singers to Present Concert Sunday Evening

MRS. EMIL LAPOINTE
GA. 1-2029

In a theme, strictly oriental, the women of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Newburg Methodist church, met on Monday evening, January 20. After an opening remark by the president, Mrs. Harold Mackinder and a worship service, the program was given over to Mrs. Edward Ayers who presented Melvin Guthrie, Jr. with his kodachrome slides which were taken while Melvin was with the army for a year and a half in Japan. The pictures were interesting as well as beautiful. Following the slides, an outline of Christian life in Japan was given by Mrs. Ayers. Following the business meeting, refreshments were served by the Dorcas circle.

Bruce LaPointe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil LaPointe of Joy road spent the past weekend at the Camp Howell reservation with his boy scout troop 271 of St. Michael's Catholic church. The weekend, called "Operation Freeze," was an award from the scoutmaster and his committeemen to the boys who helped so generously with time and effort in the recent Christmas wreath sale. Over a thousand wreaths were sold.

Films, Speakers Stress Defense To B&PW Club

At the January 20 meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club, Mr. Anthony of Livonia presented two films at the invitation of the national defense committee of the group.

Mr. Anthony has been in construction work many years and is intensely interested in the disaster at Jackson in 1956. He was at the scene of the collapse of the Consumers Power building within hours of the tragedy.

His film pointed up the necessity of having an organization in the community such as a civilian defense which would proceed with rescue work so that no additional lives would be endangered and so that the business of clearing the debris could be undertaken as soon as possible after the accident.

Civilian Defense came to the rescue here but not until after some time had elapsed did all the efforts become coordinated and efficient. As usual, the Red Cross and Salvation Army were there to cheer and help where they could.

The other film showed the construction of the Mackinac Bridge. This too would be an asset to national defense in the event of war. He was allowed to go with workers to the top of the bridge when the supporting cables were being spun. Those seeing the film felt as though they were standing perilously on the very top of one of the supports and looking down at the straights below.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony were dinner guests of the club at Hillside.

Arrest Seven

(Continued from Page 1) Police said that the three took an acetylene torch and hose from the Utilities Lines Construction Co. and a tire and wheels in Livonia, police reported.

The three were also with two other boys who were sentenced Tuesday for taking acetylene equipment from the Thompson Sand and Gravel Co. near Northville. The two were Teddy P. Cravens, 20, of 538 N. Mill, and Jerry Lee Helmer, 18, of 15812 Maxwell. State Police brought charges against these two and they were fined $75 by Municipal Judge Nandino Perlongo and placed on probation for two years.

Police are also investigating the theft of a fountain pen and $11 in cash from the desk drawer of a high school room over the weekend. The room was that of Miss Joan Petro, English teacher.

IT WAS 20 degrees outside last Saturday morning, but warm-hearted citizens donated $461 to Girl Scouts who were selling peanuts for the polio drive. At left is a pedestrian who stopped to drop her donation into a canister at Penniman and Main St. Girl Scouts, from left are Sara Stout, Karen Davids, Suzanne Green and Linda Hill.

Farmer St. Paving Project

(Continued from Page 1) She noted that on Junction St. there are only 16 homes while on Farmer there are 60. She suggested that the commission investigate all other possible routes and asked if a meeting could be arranged between residents and the Wayne County Road Commissioner. She also said that a Road Commission deputy had suggested that a route down Shearer Drive in the township be extended to Northville Rd.

Mayor Guenther replied that if the city is going to spend money, it wants to spend it in the city where it will do the most good. It was noted that the Road Commission could possibly be talked into re-paving Sheldon Rd. on a 50-50 cost basis. But paving would cost $200,000 a mile. Since it would be necessary to go up to Six Mile Rd., two miles away, the cost would be $200,000 as the city's share.

Sanford Knapp, 497 Irvin, complained that the trucks that shake the windows in his house. Commissioner Carl Shear replied that he has lived on S. Main St. many years and that he has yet to have a window rattle or lose sleep. Proper paving, it was later pointed out, may eliminate vibrations.

Foster Calahan, 498 Sunset, asked if the city had any more further thoughts of doing a city-wide paving job, either by bond issue or from millage revenue.

Mayor Guenther replied that the commission is studying the plan, but that it will

Training School Boys Wreck Stolen Car

Two youths who fled the Wayne County Training School Tuesday evening, stole a car and smashed it up, are back in school again.

The boys, both 13 years old, walked away from the school to Northville Rd. At McAllister Bros. Grocery, 14720 Northville Rd., they took the car of store owner William R. McAllister, 42429 Lakeland. The car was a 1956 Chevrolet. Driving into Plymouth, the car approached N. Main St. and failed to stop. Waiting to make a left turn off Main St. was Milton Schultz, 1219 Harker, Port Huron. The young driver of the stolen car failed to turn the wheel and the car crashed into the Schultz vehicle.

Police arrived and took the boys into custody. They were turned over to Training School officials that night.

Former Township

(Continued from Page 1) bors who protested the stand. They testified that the stand started operation in either 1953 or 1954. The township passed its first zoning ordinance in 1943 and the second in 1953. (A new one was approved last year.)

Judge Perlongo pointed out that the roadside stand would have been illegal under both of these ordinances, but because the township did not follow certain publication procedure, the two ordinances were invalid. There are state laws which spell out how ordinances and notices of public hearings should be published.

The prosecution also charged that Kahrl was in violation by using a house trailer on the premises. The trailer, it was noted, is not the same one that has been in use continuously, thus being in violation as a non-conforming use, according to the judge. He fined Kahrl $25 for using the house trailer. The defense has indicated that the fine will be appealed in circuit court.

Judge Perlongo's findings apparently will have no serious effect now because the township has a new zoning ordinance. While the 1952 zoning law was in effect, one zoning case involving a township fight to prohibit a house trailer park went all the way to the State Supreme Court with no mention of the ordinance being invalid.

A Mormon church was originated by Joseph Smith in New York State in 1830.

Burning Grease

(Continued from Page 1) a pan containing grease. During the 20 minutes she was gone, the burning grease ignited the wooden cabinets over the stove, burning off the doors. Other parts of the kitchen were scorched and smoke damage was heavy throughout the house. But for some reason, the fire burned itself out by the time Mrs. Fritz returned home, so firemen were not called.

"Women forget how dangerous cooking can be," Mrs. Fritz warned. "I hope others can benefit from my experience. That cup of coffee with a neighbor was an expensive one."

Township Fire Loss in 1957 Put at $11,806

The destruction of one house accounted for nearly all of the fire loss in Plymouth Township during 1957, according to a year-end report by Fire Chief Howard Holmes.

Losses were put at $11,806. In 1956 the loss hit $19,425 and in 1955 it was $8,298.

Had it not been for one fire, township fire losses would have hit an all-time low. On August 23, the home of Sam Grimes, 42201 Schoolcraft, was completely gutted by fire. It was later torn down. The damage amounted to $6,000 for the building and $4,000 for the contents.

Plymouth Township firemen had 70 runs during 1957. There were also 10 emergency runs with the rescuator and six calls to assist other departments.

Of the 70 runs, there were 19 involving buildings, 37 grass fires, five miscellaneous outdoor fires, six vehicle fires, three false alarms and the rest were miscellaneous.

A break-down of financial losses showed that there was $7,041 damage to buildings, $740 to other buildings, $4,000 to contents of dwellings and $25 loss other than dwellings.

The department used 6,070 gallons of water to fight fires during the year.

Farmer Street To Stay Awhile

A suggestion two weeks ago by City Commissioner William Hartmann to change the name of Farmer St. was "humbly withdrawn" Monday night when a petition signed by 24 Farmer St. residents reached the commission protesting the proposal.

When the petition communication came up on the agenda, the jovial commissioner declared that since he was responsible for the suggestion "which I still think is still a good one", he would humbly withdraw it.

The 24 signers lived in 16 homes along the street, most of them between Starkweather Ave. and the railroad. They gave no reason for their opposition, but it is assumed they didn't share Commissioner Hartmann's feeling two weeks ago when he asserted that "the name Farmer St. does nothing inspiring for me."

One-Dish Meal Combines Rice With Shrimp

Now that winter has a good foothold, appetites crave piping hot dishes with variety. Mrs. Jim Blackman of 127 South Mill street suggests this one-dish-meal—Shrimp Casserole. It's a big hit with her husband and four boys, Danny, Petey, Willy and Kenny.

Here is Mrs. Blackman's recipe:

Shrimp Casserole

Saute one half green pepper, chopped, and one medium-sized onion, chopped, in butter. Add one can mushroom soup diluted in one-half can water. Simmer the mixture for 15 minutes. After 10 minutes add one pound cooked shrimp. Serve over hot rice.

The shrimp should be shelled and cleaned and boiled in salt and water. When boiling, Mrs. Blackman often adds a few drops of lemon juice, bay leaves and parsley.

Woman's Eye View

by Nancy Rigney

It is no mean accomplishment to make all "A's" for a term of college courses. But, Kay Frances Ingram managed to do just that during the past fall term at Michigan State University. She is a senior, majoring in speech.

Kay was honored with 184 other all A students at a traditional dinner given by President John A. Hannah January 15. The group comprised 146 Michigan residents and 38 out of state students. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ingram of 248 S. Union.

An 84-year-old St. Louis woman has written a book of proverbs, recently published by Vintage Press, to make one of America's newest sages. She is Mrs. Agnes Dodd Richards.

Combining the language of the Testaments and American slang, she comes up with such adages as, "Tis true, my daughters, the early bird doth get the worm. But bide thy time, for yea, thou mightest hook a sucker."

She has divided her book into two sections: "Signposts for Sons" and "Dictums for Daughters." Under the former heading is found this gem: "When thy spouse doth annoy thee with ceaseless chatter, listen not, my brother. But murmur behind thy morning paper, 'yea, my beloved,' so she will not suspect thy perfidy."

Mrs. Richards, a grandmother of five, didn't have much trouble picking up slang expressions but found the "thee's and thou's" were difficult. She started compiling her proverbs more than 10 years ago. As she thought of one, she would scribble it on a scrap of paper and put it in her desk. At the urging of her two sons and a daughter, she submitted the collection to a publisher.

Is she excited about her success in becoming an authoress? No, she's worried about what her friends will think of her wisdom. She is quoted as saying, "They will probably think I'm very foolish."

The family institution, the kitchen, certainly gets around the house — and outdoors, too — these days.

Now, a leading appliance manufacturer has introduced remote control cooking. Using a six-inch control box, the housewife can turn on the kitchen gas range from any part of the house or backyard, within a 50-foot range. The control box sends signals to an antenna on top of the range.

For safety, the range comes equipped with a key. When it is turned off and removed, no one can operate the stove and the control buttons can be pushed without danger.

Each wave length on each remote control box is different so the housewife can't set her neighbor's potatoes to boiling by mistake.

A great innovation I suppose, but I imagine the average housewife would rather walk the 50 feet than have a stove equipped with bunny ears at her beck and call.

Communities Divy Up Big Detroit Edison Tax Bill

Detroit Edison has turned over to the treasurers of villages, cities and townships of Wayne County, including Detroit, checks totaling $14,921,609.52 as the company's share of 1957 property taxes in these communities.

This money will go into funds for public education, street and road improvements, fire and police protection and other activities vital to the well-being and advancement of communities like Plymouth.

Edward L. Millis, Edison's Wayne District Manager, points out that schools alone will receive a $5,407,845 share of the taxes paid by the company in this area.

Communities throughout Detroit Edison's 7,600-square-mile service area will receive upwards of $20,700,000 in tax payments by the company, which owns property in 13 counties of Southeastern Michigan. Of this total, $7,478,000 will go to schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Widmaier and Alice and Becke returned Saturday, January 18, from a three-week motor trip to California. They visited Grand Canyon, Petrified Forest, Painted Desert, Boulder Dam, Las Vegas, Sequoia Park and Sacramento, where Bob and family visited with his former skipper, Lt. Commander, Mac MacFadden. Moving down state, they stopped at San Francisco, Disneyland, San Diego Zoo, Cabrillo Point and across to Phoenix, Ariz. where Bob was reunited with two service buddies. The last stop was Carlsbad Caverns and then on to Plymouth.

Plymouth Dropped from League Lead by Bentley

Statistics sum up the situation. Bentley Bulldogs hit on 36.6 percent of their shots last Friday night and Plymouth hit on only 19 percent. The result was a decisive 53-33 victory for Bentley and sole possession of first place in the Suburban Six Basketball league.

Plymouth is in second place with three wins and one loss. Redford Union came from behind to defeat Belleville 49-46 and share second place with them at two wins and two losses each. Trenton scored their first win of the season when they defeated Allen Park 47-42.

Plymouth plays Trenton there Friday night. The Rocks kept pace with Bentley in the first quarter with both teams tied 10-10 at the end of the first eight minutes. Bentley outscored Plymouth 16-8 in the second quarter to lead at the half 26-18. Bentley played a close checking game and controlled the backboards using their tall men George King, Ron Gabel and Jim Carmichael to advantage.

Co-captains King and Gabel scored 10 of the Bentley 13 points in the third quarter while holding Plymouth to six points. In the final eight minutes Plymouth was outscored 14-9.

Bob Bentley, coach of the Bentley team was quite relaxed after the game and he commented, "We were worried about just how well the boys would play together tonight. They showed us that they work well together and help each other at every opportunity. There is certainly no work involved in coaching these boys."

Plymouth coach Jim Doyle admitted that "the rebound work of George King, Jim Carmichael and Ron Gabel killed us."

Although George King with 14, Ron Gabel with 11 and Tom Eveland with 12 appear to be the offensive stars for the winners, credit must be given to one of the most effective play-making guards in the league, Don Phillippi. His de-

Bill Hubert was leading scorer for Plymouth with 14 points and held the team together in the first half when he scored 12 of these points. Jim Dzurus scored seven points and played well defensively.

Freshmen Beat Bentley For Third Victory

Plymouth's freshmen basketball team defeated the Bentley Bulldogs last Friday at the Livonia high school's gymnasium by a 28-11 score. It was the Rocks' third win against one loss so far this season. Plymouth led 18-5 at the half point and outscored the Bulldogs 10-6 in the second half.

Dave Palmer was high scorer for the game as he aided the Rock cause considerably with six field goals for 12 points. Spigarelli with eight points and Ralston with six were other high scorers for Plymouth. Five players shared 41 points scored by Bentley.

The next game for the Freshmen team will be tomorrow afternoon when they entertain Trenton at the Plymouth gymnasium.

HARTFORD, Conn. — (UP) — Hartford still collects 25 cents as a license fee for each bee hive. In 1957 the city netted 75 cents.

BILL HUBERT led Plymouth's attack in the first half and sunk shots like this long one from the sideline. Bentley won the game, 53-33, before a capacity crowd. The game put the Bulldogs at the top of the league, followed by the Rocks. Bentley players are Ron Gabel (52) and Don Phillippi (34).

SPORTS SEEN

By Bill Dilworth

Last Friday night at the high school gymnasium a capacity crowd got a good look at the Bentley high school varsity basketball team. They showed Plymouth fans why they are leading the league in the Suburban Six conference. They use their three tall men very effectively under the backboards. Jim Carmichael 6' 3", George King and Ron Gabel both recovered a total of 33 rebounds. As Jim Doyle pointed out "these guys killed us." In addition to controlling the backboards Bentley sharp shooters found the range early in the game and unfortunately for Plymouth they maintained a 36.6 percent accuracy throughout the game. These two factors working against you make for a difficult time and that's just what the Rocks had.

Bill Hubert played well in the first half scoring five field goals, but in the second half he did not score a basket. No one could blame Hubert or Knipschild if they inspected the baskets for a plastic lid. Many of their shots rolled around the rim and rolled off, a few rolled in a bit and out again. Let's hope that this was just a "nightmare" and the players regain their confidence and keep shooting.

Next Friday night Plymouth journeys to Trenton to meet the Trojans for the first time this season. A unique feature of this game will be the opening of the new gymnasium. Following a short inaugural ceremony Plymouth teams will be the first to play on the new court. According to Trenton sources Plymouth will enter the game as slight favorites but with a new gym the Trojans may be spurred on to create an upset. They scored their only win of the season at the hands of Allen Park last Friday.

Congratulations to a Plymouth resident and a former employee of the Plymouth Mail, Ray Danol of 1052 Roosevelt. Danol, who was an expert bowler a few years ago has turned his attention and energies to curling with some interesting and gratifying results. As secretary of the Detroit Curling Club he received some information from Eveleth Minn., that their lead curler had gotten sick and would not be present for the bonspiel. Danol went to the bonspiel chairman with the information and wound up as the lead for the rink and won the championship. Nothing like hospitality!

Despite the fact that they were defeated by Ann Arbor 63-33 the Plymouth high school swimming team need not hang their heads. Ann Arbor are the defending State champions in Class A for the past two years. All Plymouth swimmers did was push the visitors to three pool records and Don Carney, Bob Isbister, Jim Carney, Bruce Curtis and Carl Melow turned in their best times of the season.

Tomorrow night the swimmers journey to Allen Park for a league meet with the team that finished second to the Rocks last season. Allen Park has their same team intact from last year and to quote Coach John McFall, "They'll be gunning for us."

Baseball fans in the Plymouth area who have been following the career of a local boy in the Tiger organization will be happy to know that Dick Day will be reporting to the spring training camp of Augusta. This is a jump from Class D to Class A and should Day earn a position on the pitching staff of Augusta he shouldn't be too many seasons away from a trial with the Tigers. In his first season in the Tiger organization Day pitched for Panama City, Florida and in his second year, 1957, he pitched in Class "D" for Montgomery, Alabama. Last season under manager Stubby Overmire, a former Tiger pitcher, Day compiled a creditable record of 2.9 earned run average and a 15-11 won lost record for a first place team and a 1-1 play-off record. While pitching for Plymouth High School Day had two no hitters but the closest he has come in Class "D" is a one hitter. An official of the Tiger organization claims "our staff considers him (Day) a good prospect."

Rock Swimmers Lose, But Look Good in Meet with State Champs

Last Saturday night at the Plymouth high school pool the Rock swimming team gave their best performance of the season in a non-league meet with Ann Arbor, defending Class "A" State champions for the past two years. Although defeated 63-33, Plymouth swimmers applied enough pressure to force Ann Arbor men to establish new pool records to win three events.

Jim Griffith was the first to set a new record when he did the 100-yard butterfly breaststroke in one minute and eight tenths of a second. Bob Clarke established a new pool record in the 100-yard breaststroke with a time of 1:12.4. The third record was set in the 150 yard individual medley, won by Dave Thrasher in the time of 1:37.

While Ann Arbor was establishing new pool records, five Plymouth swimmers had their best times of the season. Don Carney's time in the 50-yard free style was 24.9. Bob Isbister's time in the 100-yard butterfly breaststroke was 1:06.1. Bruce Curtis and Carl Melow both showed their best time in the 100-yard backstroke with Curtis in 1:7.1. Jim Carney covered the 200-yard free style distance in 2:13.4 for his best time.

Bruce Curtis and John Walker won the 100-yard backstroke and Walker had a 9.9 point edge over Ted Norris of Ann Arbor in the diving.

The results: 50 yard free style—1. Tom McMillan, Ann Arbor, Time 24.7. 2. Don Carney, Plymouth, 3. Tom Winkler, Ann Arbor. 100-yard butterfly breaststroke - 1. Jim Griffith, Ann Arbor, Time 1:06.8 (new pool record) 2. Bob Isbister, Ply-

Javees Again Lose in Last Minute of Play

The Plymouth Javees basketball team has been specializing in playing thrilling games that are just a little frustrating for their faithful followers when they lose out in the last minute. They were running true to form last Friday against Bentley. With just a minute and 12 seconds to go Bentley led by a single point 44-43. Plymouth lost control of the ball to Bentley who scored two field goals to win 48-43. The half-time score was tied at 13-13 and the outcome was in doubt right down to the last minute of the game.

Leitzow of Bentley with 15 points was the high scorer of the game. Gray with 14 and Davis with 12 points also helped Bentley. Taylor led the Plymouth scorers with 12 points.

A double win for the Satellites last weekend moved them into second place in the Recreation Hockey league. Two points behind are the Royals who tied and won. The Satellites defeated the Gray Wings, 8-1, as Bill Lockwood scored four goals and Tom Lamb three. The Satellites then defeated the Owls, 6-3, as Carl Berry scored three and Bill Lockwood two goals. Ken Thomas scored all three goals for the Owls.

The league leading Royals tied the Owls 4-4 and defeated the Gray Wings 6-1 with Dick Sharland accounting for three of the goals.

A group of anthropologists claim that man has gone just about as far as he is going to go. Anthropology, by the way, is the science of man... and not the study of ants.

Well, anyway, these scientists admit that man has come a "fur piece" since he did his marketing with a club. But they don't expect much change in the next 100,000 years. Naturally, very few of us will be around to check up on this fact... so they are safer than a life guard in a wading pool. To hear these gentlemen tell it, we may gradually lose our appendixes and maybe our small toes. The City Manager's Corner

By Al Glassford

Last week, I discussed the Council-Manager plan of government, which the City of Plymouth has. This week, I would like to describe the Mayor-Council Plan. There are two types, "weak" Mayor-Council Plan and the "strong" Mayor-Council Plan.

The "weak" Mayor-Council Plan may be identified by an elected mayor, an elected council, a long ballot of elected administrative officers and some separation of executive and legislative powers. A "strong" Mayor-Council Plan can be identified by an elected mayor, an elected council and a "short ballot" permitting wide appointment of administrative officers by the mayor and a separation of executive and legislative powers. The "strong" mayor type of government is more closely identified with the Council-Manager type, since it permits control by the mayor of all of the executive departments and the appointment of department heads.

The main difference between the mayor and the manager is that the manager has no legislative power. A manager cannot veto council action. Since the mayor was elected by the people, he cannot be dismissed by the council, as can the manager. Detroit and Dearborn have "strong" Mayor-Council types of government.

City charters, of course, give mayors the powers they possess. In a "weak" mayor, one may find little executive power. His sole function may be to proclaim Creeping Phylox Week and to hand out keys to the city to visiting dignitaries. He may have no appointive or removal power, or veto power over budget or ordinances passed by the council.

There are progressions from this to the "strong" mayor type of government where all the boards and commissions and department heads are appointed and removed by the mayor. He also has the power of veto over actions by the council, both in budget and in ordinances. His veto may only be overridden by extraordinary vote of the council. Sometimes the differences between the council and the mayor become so great that no progress is made by the city.

New York City has a "strong" mayor, who appoints a city administrator to assist him in the discharge of his executive responsibilities. This leaves the mayor free to delve into policy situations and to relieve himself of administrative details. This type of arrangement is being experimented with by cities in the hope that a balance can be maintained between the desire to elect a responsive mayor executive and the need for professional leadership through his appointment of an experienced city administrator.

Ann Arbor, a few years ago, before it had a charter change, had a "weak" form of government. The city government worked well in spite of the type of government, because the people of Ann Arbor and their elected representatives wanted good government. The mayor was not a full time mayor. The councilmen formed committees which took care of the problems of the various departments. It would have a park committee to which the head of the park department was responsible. It had a D.P.W. committee to which the D.P.W. superintendent was responsible.

One can imagine the difficulties which arose in trying to get committee members together to approve of some action which the department head wished to have taken. Finally, Ann Arbor gave up and adopted the Manager-Council type of government, which is functioning better.

Next week we shall look into the Commission Plan under which a board of commissioners is elected, each of whom is responsible for a department.

JUST DUMB

Report from Lansing

BY JOHN SWAINSON, STATE SENATOR

In future columns I expect to continue the practice of bringing you up to date on specific problems before the Legislature. For the moment, however, let's try to skim the surface of the total picture as it appears at the beginning of the session.

The big issue has remained, and will continue to be state finances. Regardless of the merit of any proposal on this subject, two facts which are misleadingly combined too often, are the key to the whole finance problem: the State of Michigan needs more money than ever before to fulfill the need for State services — AND — the people of Michigan are overburdened with big and small taxes now. But not all the people pay the same proportion of taxes, in comparison with their real income. It is my belief that any plan, regardless of its origin, by which we hope to solve some of the financial problems, will have to weigh proportional contribution, at least placing it high on the list of factors to consider.

As we returned to Lansing, all of us missed the good-natured, provocative personality of Detroit's new Councilman, Ed Carey. Replacing him from his District will be William Ryan. Replacing Mr. Carey as Minority Leader of the House, however, will be Louis Mesziano of the Upper Peninsula. Mr. Mesziano has been in the legislature for many years and has developed that rare ability to serve his district faithfully while serving the State as a whole in his activities and votes in the legislature. I look forward to working with the new House Minority Leader.

On the opening day of the legislative session, I had the pleasure of appearing on TV at Kalamazoo in debate with my Republican colleague, Senator Edward Hutchinson of Fennville. The so-called "right to work" bills were the subject of our discussion. My research in advance of this debate brought out one most interesting point: both productivity and wages in the states that have, or have had, "right to work" legislation are lower than the states in which unions continue to have the opportunity of employing majority rule. During the course of our discussion, Senator Hutchinson stated that the issue was unlikely to get very far this year because the Governor had, long ago, made it clear that he would veto such legislation. Debate on the subject, pro and con, will continue as long as there are bills introduced to this effect.

The number of lobbyists continues to increase year by year. Among them are a good number of very sincere individuals who work very hard and often make healthy contributions to our understanding of subjects coming before the legislature. To me, however, the strongest "lobby" remains the variety of opinion expressed in the mail from individual persons and the conversations I have had with so many of you during meetings and social events. It is too late to wish you a happy, healthy and prosperous New Year?

5 Local Church Women Take Part In State Meeting

On Tuesday, January 20, several members of the Plymouth Council of the United Church Women attended the state board meeting in Ann Arbor. Mrs. Sydney Strong, Mrs. Claude Gebhardt, Helen Beavers, Mrs. Bernice Reddeman and Mrs. Roy Jacobus participated in the all-day meeting.

One of the speakers was Amber Van, who is the new counselor for the Protestant Foundation for International Students. She had with her at the luncheon, women students from Korea, Indonesia and the Philippines. They spoke briefly about their work here and in their homelands.

Beside supporting the foundation, the U. C. M. also sponsors the Migrant Ministry in Michigan which works with the thousands of migrants and their children in the state each year. At present there are 20 migrant centers throughout the state.

Another activity is the International World Day of Prayer which will take place this year at the First Baptist church in Plymouth on February 21. Last year this event took place in 145 geographical areas around the world and 20,000 communities in the U.S.

Banquet For Scholars CANTON, S. D. — (UP)—School Superintendent C. E. White plans a banquet honoring all students of grades six through 12 who have an academic grade average of "B" or better. He said scholars are just as deserving of recognition as are athletes.

Plymouth School Board Minutes

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District was held in the homeroom of the high school on Monday, December 9, 1957, at eight o'clock.

Present: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Stecker, Mr. Zoet, Mr. Blunk and Mr. Isbister.

Absent: Mr. Mitchell.

Also present: Elizabeth Fair, Ella Lavisch, Elizabeth Augustine, Wilcox Augustine, S. Luvich, Lucille Parmenter, Larry Parmenter, Charley Finlan, U. A. Ehrlich, Ames Thornton, Roy Fisher, Earl Merriman, Elmer Smith, Stella Smith, Theresa Cameron and Evelyn Edwards.

The meeting was called to order by President Fischer at 8:00 p.m.

Proposals for fire, extended coverage and vandalism and malicious mischief 80 per cent co-insurance in the amount of $4,545,700 as presented by insurance agents were read as follows:

Improved Risk Mutuals & Building Owners Federation
Agent: Harlow J. Gray, Gray Mutual Agency
Net five-year premium (estimated) $18,237.10
Employers Mutual Casualty Company
Agent: Robert H. Johnston, Bob Johnston Agency
Five-year premium 16,722.77
(Premiums listed include a deviation of 20 per cent from published rates)

Liberty Mutual Insurance Company
Agent: Tom McCarthy, Liberty Mutual Insurance Co.
Net five-year premium (estimated) 28,454.09

Northwestern Mutual Fire Insurance Co. & Improved Risk Mutuals
Agent: Joe Merritt, Joe Merritt Agency
Estimated Net Premium, based on current dividend rate of 15 per cent 18,526.85

Mr. Roy Fischer, speaking for the Plymouth Association of Insurance Agents, pointed to the past record of service by this group to the community. He noted that commissions received by the agents from city and school insurance premiums had been shared with the community in the form of scholarships, police and fire safety activities and other educational programs. Because of these services he felt that the local agents should have priority in the awarding of insurance contracts. Mr. Merriman and Mr. Ehrlich reaffirmed this position and pointed to additional services provided by local agents. No action was taken on the insurance proposals pending further study.

Mr. Augustine, speaking for a group of school parents living in western Plymouth Township, brought to the attention of the Board a transportation problem affecting junior and senior high school students living in this area. He indicated that some students were picked up as early as 7:15 a.m. These same students remained at school until 4:30 p.m. or one hour after closing time before they boarded a bus for home. This situation created a problem of supervision both for the parents and teachers. Some action to correct this condition was promised.

It was moved by Mr. Zoet and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing to approve the minutes of the last regular and intervening special meetings.

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet.
Nays: None.

It was moved by Mr. Hulsing and seconded by Mr. Zoet to approve the following:

General Fund: Voucher 1938, Payroll 11-22-57 $63,570.28
Voucher 1939, Payroll 12-8-57 65,100.64
Vouchers 1940-2158, inclusive 38,141.97
Bldg. & Site Fund: Vouchers 124-143, inclusive 47,431.52
1951 Debt Retirement Fund, Voucher 2011 20.25
Nichols Trust Fund 115.85

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet.
Nays: None.

It was moved by Mr. Zoet and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing to approve the special education contract with Northville Community School District.

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet.
Nays: None.

Mr. Blunk presented for consideration an analysis of comparative transportation costs in a number of school districts.

The naming of the new elementary school was referred to the School Community Planning Group for further study.

A special meeting was called for Monday, December 16, 1957, at 8:00 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Esther L. Hulsing, Secretary

A special meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District was held in the homeroom of the high school, on Monday, December 16, 1957, at eight o'clock.

Present: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet, Mr. Blunk and Mr. Isbister.

Also present: Mr. Roy Jacobus.

The meeting was called to order by President Fischer at 8:00 p.m.

It was moved by Mr. Stecker and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing that the insurance contract as submitted in the bid proposal on December 9, 1957, be awarded to the low bidder, Employers Mutual Casualty Company, through the Bob Johnston Agency of Plymouth. The contract will cover 80 per cent co-insurance on school buildings and contents in the amount of $4,545,700 for fire, extended coverage and vandalism and malicious mischief with a net five year premium of $16,722.77.

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet.
Nays: None.

Meeting adjourned at 8:45 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Esther L. Hulsing, Secretary

A special meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District was held in the homeroom of the high school on Monday, January 6, 1958, at eight o'clock.

Present: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Stecker, Mr. Zoet, Administrative Assistant Blunk and Superintendent Isbister.

Absent: Mr. Mitchell.

President Fischer called the meeting to order at 8:00 p.m.

It was pointed out that, since the quotation presented by the Bob Johnston Insurance Agency on December 9, 1957, was in error and that the corrected bid was no longer the low bid, a previous motion adopted by the Board awarding the insurance contract was invalidated.

It was moved by Mr. Stecker and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing to accept the following low bids for fire, extended coverage and vandalism and malicious mischief 80 per cent co-insurance in the amount of $4,545,700 on the school properties and contents:

(a) All buildings and contents except high school, high school annex and Starkweather Elementary School ($2,497,600) to: Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, Total 5 yr. Premium, Est. $10,823.34

(b) High school, high school annex, and Starkweather Elementary School ($2,048,100.) to: The Gray Mutual Agency, Total 5 yr. Premium, Est. $7,065.56

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet.
Nays: None.

Copies of personnel policies for teachers with suggested changes were presented for consideration. The policies were referred to the Personnel Committee for further study.

Mrs. Hulsing reported on the present status of the Community College Study. She noted that Wayne State University, in cooperation with University of Michigan and Michigan State University, will make a survey of the six county area around Detroit in an effort to determine the community college needs, where these facilities should be located and how they might be financed. She plans to attend a meeting at Wayne State University on January 21 where this study will be discussed.

An interest in attending a meeting of Metropolitan Detroit School Boards on January 24 was noted. Responsibility for education beyond the high school will be discussed at this meeting.

Mr. Stecker, Mr. Zoet and Mr. Blunk will attend a meeting of the School Site Planning Committee on January 8, 1958. Favorable opinion was expressed for the purchase of additional school sites. The recommendations of this committee will be a vital force in expediting these purchases. When the need is determined some appropriation will be made to procure adequate maps for the Committee use.

It was moved by Mr. Stecker and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing that the State Senator, Mr. Swainson, and the State Representative, Mr. Eaton be urged to use their influence in the Legislature to see that the present State School Aid Act is paid out in full during the current school year. With this method goes a recognition that additional state taxes will be necessary and the Board will give support to the Legislature's efforts in locating tax sources.

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet.
Nays: None.

Superintendent Isbister was instructed to forward this resolution to Senator Swainson and Representative Eaton and ask them, further, to promote legislation which would change the time for collection of school taxes from December to July. The change would eliminate the necessity of school boards borrowing money for school operation during a fiscal year prior to the time of tax payments. Messrs. Swainson and Eaton are to be requested, also, to give legislative

"... We Need 'em Fast!"

THE SCENE IS the traffic department of any of the hundreds of manufacturing plants in Michigan. The time is 4:00 P.M. on any day of the week. The traffic manager is talking long distance to a supplier in another state about some parts needed for production. "Send 'em by truck," he says, as he prepares to hang up, "we need 'em fast!"

He knows from experience that motor transport is the fastest link between shipping and receiving. He knows he can depend on it. In fact, he and thousands of his fellow traffic managers have been the men most responsible for the rapid growth of motor transport. Once they experienced the efficiency and speed of trucks, there was no satisfying them with anything less—and today their companies could not operate successfully without truck transport!

That's something for every wage earner in Michigan to think about.

Looking ahead to the weekend, you might plan to take the family over to the Plymouth High School gymnasium where the Plymouth Symphony will be holding an afternoon concert on Sunday at 4 p.m. Heard them in rehearsal the other night while over for another meeting at the high school. The strains of the "Sorcerer's Apprentice" awakened memories of Walt Disney's "Fantasia" of a few years back.
Fantasia was one of the first experiments in stereophonic sound. There were only a few theaters in the country that were equipped with the hundreds of extra speakers to give binural effect. Hi-Fi had not put in an appearance yet and so actually Walt lost money on this early experiment. I'm sure if he brought "Fantasia" back now during these days of the LP record and the millions of microgroove-y Hi-Fis it would be greatly appreciated.
Of course, until this event takes place your best bet is to be present on Sunday at the family concert of the Symphony and hear the "Sorcerer's Apprentice" live. The Magic Flute overture, another of old George's favorites, will be featured this Sunday. All

Plymouth High School BY LIZ SARAH

Betty Houghton, producer of the current Plymouth Theater Guild production in rehearsal, called to tell me that Jean Fronk, Betty Demorest, Libby Curtner, and Bill Moore landed the major roles in "Double Door." Jean Fronk is busy going over the lines for the part of Victoria. Gladys George played this part some years ago when the show was on Broadway. Part of Victoria is the lead and calls for some "top drawer" emoting. Betty Demorest as Caroline and Libby Curtner as Ann Darrow have supporting roles. Bill Moore, a newcomer to the Guild group, has the juvenile lead.
I'm sure that these people are busy rehearsing since this play is loaded with dramatic scenes. It will take many nights of constant polishing and intense interpretation before they will be ready for an audience. I've only mentioned four people in the play. Next week I'll tell you a bit more about the other eight people who obtained parts. Their parts are not as lengthy, but believe me without them the show couldn't go on. It takes all twelve actors to give "Double Door" the full emotional impact.

What would a week be without mention of Shakespeare? For old George it would be tantamount to ending a good meal without a dessert. You still have time to rush Riviera-wise and get seats for "Much Ado About Nothing." Contrary to what the title suggests there is plenty adoring at the Riviera Theater. Shakespeare is being done ala "Maverick" and "Colt 45" — in short, as a Texas twister. Doing the old Bard in modern dress and changing the locale is not new, but this production has been done with excellent taste.
Katie Hepburn was never lovelier and her interpretation of the lines made the part of Beatrice a memorable one. The English and drama classes at the high school were represented last Monday night. These Plymouth High students left the theater with a new love for the classics. The Beatrice-Benedick love sequences are raucous, rowdy and delightful to behold. Some years ago I had the pleasure to do some of the scenes at a college faculty meeting. Over the years none of the fire and sparks have dimmed. Hope you get a chance to see this unusual production.
As they say in TV circles many times—let's put this "program idea" to bed and see how it looks in the morning without make-up. And that sounds to me like a good idea; so I'll just reach over and turn off the volume until next week.

The annual Band Carnival will be held this Saturday evening, January 25, in the High School. Some of the activities on the program include dancing, a variety show, a cake walk and many more points of interest. The affair is sponsored by the Parents of the Band members and you can bet that the students will be drafted into service in preparation for the event in spite of Betty Worth's comment: "We don't form any committees until the last minute."
A home game always means a pep assembly and last Friday's basketball game with Bentley was no exception. "This Is Your Life, Plymouth High School" was the theme of the pep assembly presented by the cheerleaders on Friday afternoon.
Master of Ceremonies John Van Dyke guided the presentation of a History of Plymouth High. Musical entertainment was supplied by Danny Hargrove, guitarist, and Dean Finney, drummer, as they played several selections. Pep and punch was furnished by cheerleaders Jeanette Foreman, Janet Spigargli, Mer Palmer, Janet West, Jeannette Ridley, Karen West, Barbara Shantz, Barbara Booth, Mavis Williams, Gloria Bowles, Nancy Alford, and Jill Clarke.
The National Honor Society members, Martha Shoemaker, Marianna Jensen, Bill Hubert, Roger Kenner, Laverne Grady, Maxine Collins, Donna Bish, Jane Hardemen and Carol Ford distributed March of Dimes canisters to the local business establishments as a service project during the week of January 6-10.
"No pass, No picture." Oh! How many students heard these words as they stood posed for a group photograph for the yearbook, only to admit reluctantly that they had no pass. Upon confession of this sin they walked shamefaced from the auditorium. The photo pass is a new system with which the annual staff is experimenting. If it eliminates incorrect identification in the Plythean, it will be well worth the effort. But, if it doesn't, it certainly was a bother.

Congratulations were bestowed upon Mr. Smithing by the members of his first hour world history class as they held sort of a shower in honor of the addition to his family. Honored guests were Mr. Smithing's sons, Mark and Bryan, and Mrs. Smithing, Miss Neva Lovewell put in an appearance, quite by accident, when she decided to investigate the noise in the neighboring room.

Gerry Love and Bob Westover, debating the negative side against Tranton, talked their way to another victory. The debate team seems to be coming out of their slump.

Only a good samaritan, that's Pat Carmody, who saw from the corridor to the annex a blaze in the house directly across the baseball field and quickly summoned the fire department. Much to Pat's embarrassment, the blaze he had reported was in the back yard and he had been looking through double picture windows. Oh, Pat!

Historic Shack Now Palatial Home

Thirty years is a long time to spend on any do-it-yourself project, but anyone who visits the rambling Colonial home of Jay Perine in Rockland County, N.Y., will agree every minute and effort put into the project was well worthwhile.

In 1928, Perine, a New York City advertising executive, bought the crumbling, 200-year-old shack shown in the "before" photo with the express purpose of making a Colonial-style mansion out of it.

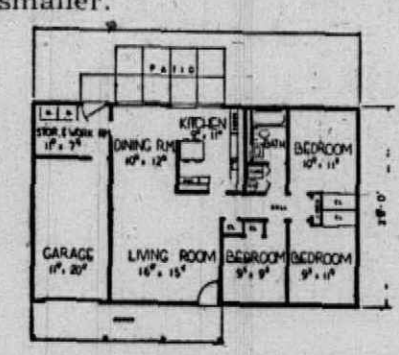

Above, 200-year-old Rockland County, N.Y. house as it looks today. At right, the same house as it appeared 30 years before remodeling.

Country Club Luxury In This California Contemporary Home

The ultimate in gracious living in the low-cost home field, this split-level beauty illustrates the happy result of a luxury house plan going "economy."

Designer Don Scholz has maintained the architectural touch that keeps him in top demand as planner of large estate type homes. Here he has stripped away non-essentials to achieve a house that has 1416 sq. ft. of floor space and yet can be built for less than many "economy" homes of only 1,000 sq. ft. in size or smaller.

Here's the economy secret: (1) lines are kept simple, using a straight rectangular floor plan; (2) every inch of the three "direct-rise" levels is utilized; and (3) the split-level's inherent ability to incorporate a garage with bottom-level recreation and utility space is employed.

And these are the ways Luxury-home beauty keeps pace with: (1) the facade kept in balance with two straight gable roofs; (2) the large living room window complements as well as balances the garage door and smaller windows in the larger section of the house; (3) judicious use of light and dark exterior shades makes the house appear massive and comfortable.

Indoors, rooms flow into each other uniformly and according to purpose—utility-recreation-living-and sleeping. This excellence of traffic pattern is paralleled by room spaciousness and commodious storage facilities. For further information on this house, write to Don Scholz Design Associates, Dept. 106, 2001 N. Westwood, Toledo 7, Ohio.

KEETH'S Little ENGINEER Modern Roofing Result Of 30-Year Research

The asphalt roofing industry recently began its 31st year of research work at the National Bureau of Standards of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

To the home-owner, this means that asphalt shingles produced today are the result of long and continuing scientific research to make them give dependable protection as well as an attractive appearance.

Research over the years has given modern roofing materials color, resistance to sun, wind, and damage from ice and snow, and more reliable application methods.

He began work at once, and hasn't stopped since. Today the rambling 10-room house on 20 acres of forest land north of New York City, is a landmark in an area where pre-Revolutionary War homes abound.

Perine, who was a professional photographer for 15 years and who recently sang a concert in the Carnegie Recital Hall, did all the work himself with the occasional aid of two brothers and a sister. And he insists he has more projects in mind.

"The next job will be a new, all-white roof of asphalt shingles over that old metal roof up there," Perine said. "I want a white roof because it reflects heat."

Perine's desire for a heat-reflecting roof is a good illustration of his attitude toward the entire remodeling project; comfort first, Colonial authenticity second. Even the most critical observer will agree that both have been well served.

As an example, the house, which has four bedrooms, a music room, two baths, a giant living room, and dining room with fireplace, is thickly insulated with mineral wool in walls and ceilings.

Part of the insulation was installed at the sacrifice of a few original plaster walls which were filled with a mixture of corn cobs, twigs, and bark—the "insulation" of George Washington's day. This had to be removed before fireproof mineral wool could be installed.

"I hated to see those walls go," says Perine, "but comfort came first. Besides, can you imagine the cost of heating a house this size without insulation?"

One place where Perine didn't have to sacrifice Colonial authenticity was in adding new doors and windows or replacing old ones. He obtained Colonial-style double hung windows and panel doors of ponderosa pine from a local building materials dealer. These stock windows and doors are copies from originals made by Colonial craftsmen.

Perine confesses that in 1928 he was a bit overwhelmed by the enormity of the task that lay ahead to make a home out of the ramshackle building he bought.

"But I'd do it all over again, gladly, and I recommend it to anyone who likes to work with his hands as I do," he says.

PLYMOUTH'S BUSINESS

Marvin Terry of Terry's Bakery participated in the 31st annual Michigan Baker's Educational Conference at Michigan State University this week. Featuring exotic baked goods from around the world, a motion picture was passed to change the name of pumpkin bread to Pumperdime because of inflation.

The big news this week is still the many clearance sales of the local merchants. A round of their stores reveal many outstanding buys in all sorts of goods and the crowded stores are proof that the buyers recognize this fact.

The blank stare of the old A&P window will soon be eliminated by Les Wilson of Photographic Center who will be moving his stock and store there sometime in February. Upon being queried about the move, Les said that he will just have to wait to see what develops.

Plymouth's Business will be happy to welcome as a neighbor, the Gaylord Container Corporation who will move into the Wall Wire Plant about March 1st. We are happy to note that this erases some of the pessimism that has existed in Plymouth the last few months.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Q—We need a new roof and understand it can be applied in winter. But if it is being done, wouldn't water get inside and cause damage?

A—Not necessarily, if you re-roof with asphalt shingles. In most cases, these can be applied directly over the old roofing material. Even if a blizzard interrupts the job, the area that hasn't yet been re-roofed still has the same protection it had before the work was started. Another advantage of this method is that there's little mess during the work or afterward, since the old roofing remains.

Q—What causes dry rot? Is it heat, dampness, or both?

A—Dry rot is caused by a fungus that grows best in conditions of alternate-drying and excess moisture. It is frequently found in improperly ventilated attics.

Q—How can linoleum be removed from a floor?

A—Take up the old linoleum with a floor chisel, one with a blade about 3 inches wide. Drive it under the linoleum at a shallow angle and pry up, without gouging the floor. After removal, use a commercial solvent to loosen cement and paper underlayer.

Q—The plasterboard ceilings in my house have been painted over many times and now have hairline cracks all over them. Even when repainted the cracks show. What can I do?

A—Try painting the ceiling with a special "texture" paint. It goes on thickly, and is especially designed to hide blemishes. Most paint and building material dealers can supply it.

Q—What can I do about popping nails in plasterboard?

A—Obtain a supply of new nails especially made for plasterboard. Drive the nails into new spots, deep enough to dent the plasterboard slightly. Remove the old nails, and fill the holes and new nail heads with spackle. Smooth and repaint.

Melting Snow May Mean Heating $$ Lost Forever

Here's a puzzler. Why does snow melt off one roof, yet remain in a heavy blanket on a similar house next door, as the photograph shows?

The answer is escaping heat. In the house on the right, enough heat is rising through the ceiling and attic to melt the snow, even though the outside temperature was 7 degrees below freezing when the photo was taken.

Snow remains on the roof of the house next door because heat is not escaping. It is staying inside where it belongs.

This is a good illustration of why thick insulation is important to home-owners. Snow melting off a roof in sub-freezing temperatures means that heating fuel is being wasted. In effect, the furnace is futilely trying to heat the great outdoors. The result is that the heating system operates almost constantly on cold days, burning fuel unnecessarily.

Mineral wool insulation installed in recommended thickness cuts heat loss to a minimum. Insulation engineers recommend at least four inches of mineral wool in ceilings and three inches in walls. Floors over crawl spaces and other unheated areas need at least a two-inch thickness of insulation.

A house well insulated with mineral wool is more comfortable, since temperatures stay uniform and walls stay warm. Fuel waste is stopped, since mineral wool reduces heat loss so sharply that heating bills can be cut by as much as 40 percent.

Owners of existing houses who have cold weather problems such as drafts, cold rooms, and excessively high heating costs, can have mineral wool blown into walls and ceilings needing insulation by a professional contractor.

Thick batts and blankets are available for new home construction and for do-it-yourself projects.

House Needs Safety Check

A wise motorist checks his car regularly to make sure that his brakes or some other safety feature won't fail in an emergency.

For similar reasons, a wise home-owner inspects his roof periodically. He wants to make sure it protects the house as it should.

Just as brake failure could cause a fatal accident, roof leaks can cause water to short out electrical circuits.

Leaks also can weaken ceilings and damage interior walls. Rafters and roof decking as well as floor joists may warp if roof leaks are not found and stopped.

Here are four areas of potential trouble to inspect in order to prevent damage from roof leaks:

1. On a bright day go into the attic and look for tiny pin holes of light in the roof.
2. On a rainy day, use a flashlight to check under the roof for darkened, damp areas on rafters or roof decking. Damp spots sometimes indicate roof leaks.
3. Look carefully at flashing, sheet metal or roll roofing sealing off exposed areas between roofing and chimney vent stacks, and valleys. If flashing has become loose, water can get inside and cause damage.
4. Make sure roof gutters are clean and free of snow leaves, and other debris.

New Uses Suggested For China Cabinets

Stock china cabinets have many uses besides storing family china or glassware. The cabinets, made of ponderosa pine, can be used as enclosures for high fidelity music components and records, as bookshelves, for special flower arrangements, and as a special exhibition place for rock and shells, or other collector's items.

The bottom portion of the cabinets can be altered as a hiding place for one of the new thin television receivers.

Available from building material dealers, ponderosa pine cabinets can be finished in rich natural wood tones or painted to harmonize with room decor.

Color of Your Eyes Decides Degree of Color You Prefer

How does your personal coloring—your eyes, your skin—affect your preferences for color in your home?

"Markedly," says Margaret Hargreaves, one of the West Coast's leading home color stylists. "People with lighter eyes and skin prefer colors which are more subdued, while people with dark eyes and complexions like sharp, strong colors."

Physiologically, Miss Hargreaves points out, the reason is that colors seem to register more vividly in light eyes than they do in dark eyes.

As an example, Miss Hargreaves cites large developments in Southern California built in areas primarily inhabited by Californians of Mexican descent.

"From the asphalt shingle roof down, and throughout the houses, sharp colors and bright pastels have been demanded consistently by these home buyers."

"Conversely, studies have shown that light-eyed, light-complexioned buyers in other developments almost invariably choose quiet, monochromatic color schemes."

These buyers, says Miss Hargreaves, also like colorful roofs but prefer colors such as a soft, blended green in asphalt shingles, or deep browns or quiet grays.

"Generally, since most of our color schemes start with the roof," says the color stylist, "this means that other colors, inside and out, will follow the color of the roof."

Rabbit-Less Welsh Rabbit Features Cheddar Cheese

The Welsh rabbit is thought to be the oldest cooked cheese dish in the world. It is often called 'rarebit,' but a reader of The New York Times tells how the name originated.

"Years ago in Wales, when meat was scarce, the men of the family went hunting for rabbits. If they came home empty-handed, it was up to the womenfolk to provide a hearty substitute for the meat they didn't catch.

"The housewife would cut a chunk of cheese into small bits and place it in an iron pan on the hearth, before the huge fire that was the house's only source of heat. She then hung strips of bacon on the cranes above the pan. As the bacon cooked, the fat dripped into the melting cheese.

"When the dish was ready it was eaten with bread. As a joke at the expense of the unsuccessful hunters it was named Welsh rabbit. So, don't call it 'rarebit'."

The oldest Welsh rabbit recipes almost always call for stale ale. Marye Dahnke says, in "The Cheese Cookbook" "I've tried ale both fresh and stale and can't see what differences it makes.

Tired beer does just as well as stale ale. In fact a Welsh rabbit doesn't really need the benefit of either beer or ale."

Here's the recipe, proportions to make 4 to 6 servings:

- Welsh Rabbit
- 1/2 tablespoon Worcester-shire sauce
 - 1/2 teaspoon paprika
 - 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
 - Dash of cayenne
 - Salt to taste
 - 1/2 cup ale or beer
 - 1 pound sharp American or Cheddar cheese

Crisp toast

Mix all the seasonings to a smooth paste. Add the ale or beer, put into a skillet, and let stand over a very, very low heat until the ale or beer is hot.

Add the cheese, crumbling it as you add it. Then stir in the same direction until the cheese is melted. Serve piping hot over fresh, crisp toast. (Use wilted ale if you like, but don't use wilted beer.)

Note: Cream or evaporated milk may be substituted for the ale or beer if desired.

New Look in Pork

There's a new look in pork. Time was when people wanted fat pork; but times change, and desires and eating habits of people change. Studies by state colleges and others now indicate a strong preference for lean meat. The hog producers have now done something about this trend toward leaner cuts of pork—and have produced a leaner type hog, properly called a meat-type hog. This animal yields a larger percentage of the leaner cuts, and the lean cuts have less fat on them. Processors and retailers have also acted, and pork cuts are now trimmed closer and more of the fat is removed before they're offered to the customer. Today's pork has a new look!

Fryers, Broilers

Chicken is served in fine style when you serve it broiled. Start with a chicken labelled "fryer" or "broiler" up to 2-1/2 lbs. in weight. That assures you of a young, tender chicken. Use your kitchen shears to split it in half, serving half a chicken to each adult. Broil the skin away from the heat, turning several times as it browns. Baste with melted butter, season with salt. When the leg bone in the drumstick turns freely from the meat, the chicken is done.

Latest Furniture Combines Modern, Traditional Lines

A Detroit newspaper recently posed the questions, "Where does furniture design go from here? Is the trend to modern or traditional?" The answer is neither, judging from the Chicago and Grand Rapids furniture showings.

At Chicago's International Home Furnishing Market, there is a coupling of the two styles that combines the charms of both. These styles will not reach furniture stores until spring.

You will do well to keep an eye out for these bold and dramatic new styles created by the world's finest designers.

Here are the innovations to watch for: Traditional pieces have adopted some of the clean lines and functional character of modern, while contemporary furniture captures the warmth and romance of the old.

Among the foreign influences there are enriching hints of Oriental, Italian, Spanish, Hawaiian and Persian. As for the popular Scandinavian look, it is so much akin to American pieces that integration is almost complete. The result is furniture with a timeless, classic quality.

Furniture is more decorative through the use of parquet, inlays, sculpturing, carving and fretwork. Cabinet woods are combined with stainless steel, cane, pewter and leather. In upholstered furniture there are soft lines, more exposed wood frames, generous scaling and high-fashion shades as cranberry, purple, larkspur, apricot and charcoal. Carpet textures run from the smoothest velvet to the shaggiest tufted variety and flat weaves may be a trend to watch.

Mirrors, Clocks, scones and wall plaques show provocative originality, and accessories will be an exciting part of the decorating picture for 1958.

To prove that the trend toward elegance can be compatible with the practicality demanded by American living, he furnishings exhibits feature striking room settings.

These are furnished with new fabrics and carpets in man-made fibers and their color schemes may suggest new directions in home decorating.

A contemporary living room, for example, is done in shades of blue and plum. A country living room shouts a welcome with gay reds and brilliant orange. And a book room's serene and monochromatic blues and blue-grays.

Sandman Comes To Youngsters Via Recording

Look what's new in getting baby to sleep. A wispy, soft-voiced young lady who has been prescribing methods for making adults sleepy for several years has put her talents to work in marketing a long-playing record that is virtually guaranteed to soothe junior to slumber.

Miss Verta O'Dell's new recording, "Standin' for Sandman" is the end product of study and experimentation in what sounds and words will provoke sleep for a youngster in the 2 to 8-year age bracket. There are the friendly tinkling of a music box, a grandfather's clock tick-tocking in the background, quiet sounds, the sounds that bring comfort, and Miss O'Dell's persuasive voice.

"The little fluffy white kitten whose eyes are barely open... the animals in the barnyard dozing... a soft, furry puppy dog..."

"And So To Sleep," a deep therapy record that has lulled a legion of adults to sleep, was produced by Miss O'Dell in 1955. The record starts with soft organ music and then the soothing voice of Miss O'Dell, backed with prop sounds of

New Washer Weighs 9 lbs.

A revolutionary washing machine, 14 inches high, weighing nine pounds, with a washing action as effective as any conventional unit, is currently having its national introduction in Michigan.

The machine, is the result of four years of developmental research in Grand Rapids, needs no tub of its own. It sits on suction cups in any conventional sink, basin, tub or large pail—which is seven inches or more deep, and operates wherever electricity is available.

The tub-less washer has a patented four-way washing action that gets a four pound load of clothes sparkling clean in seven to ten minutes. The four basic principles of washing action—tumbling, agitation, aeration and gentle hand scrubbing—are combined for the first time in this remarkable machine. The result is a far cleaner wash than a machine relying on a single action can produce.

Tested exhaustively for safety, the powerful motor of the washer is doubly insulated and completely watertight.

It needs no attachments, installation or plumbing. It is ideal for travelers and people in mobile homes and apartment dwellers. Career girls, college students, military personnel and young married couples will find the new unit a perfect answer to their laundry problems.

Since the machine does such an excellent job with fragile personal laundry, it is recommended as an auxiliary help in homes that have standard automatic washers.

Truly portable, this nine pound machine can be carried around with one hand as easily as a coffee pot. It can be stored under the kitchen sink, in a cabinet, on a low shelf, or even in a drawer. It also has its own carrying case.

Although a midget in size, the exciting new machine is a versatile giant in washing power. It has special talents for delicate personal laundry, knitted garments and drip-dry clothes that would otherwise have to be painstakingly washed by hand.

The machine is a breeze to operate. Water up to the level indicated on the chine is needed; then detergent—a scant teaspoon is recommended, since the aeration (washing action created by air bubbles) makes a little go a long way—and the load of clothes. There are no dials to set, no delicate adjustments to get out of order.

When the washer is plugged in, the molded nylon scrubbers of the agitator move up and down, and clothes are floated through the water on a tide of bubbles produced by air ducts at the bottom of the washer. This process is called aeration and serves to multiply the efficiency of the detergent as well as to circulate the clothes. The currents created by the impeller set within the base of the machine tumble the clothes continuously under water. The machine's nylon scrubbers, moving up and down at the rate of 400 times a minute, agitate them and simulate gentle hand scrubbing when the clothes are drawn across their surfaces.

Clothes are rinsed in the same simple way. Soapy water is drained out and the container refilled with clear water. The same 4-way action which washes the clothes so effectively will rinse out every bit of detergent or soap—a boon to mothers whose babies are bothered by diaper rash caused by partially rinsed diapers. The machine is produced by AMI Incorporated.

Choose a New Coat Carefully

Choose wisely if you're buying a coat during the winter coat sales. A well-chosen coat can be worn for several seasons, according to Lola Belle Green, extension specialist in clothing at Michigan State University.

Coats of good quality have many hidden values in material, cut and workmanship. Imported fabrics of scarce fibers often cause the coat to be expensive. Equally good looking and durable coats are available in less costly domestic materials.

This year dressy coats differ from coats for general wear more in fabric than by line. The dressy coats tend to have a soft or polished look. Often fabrics are blends of wool with cashmere, precious fur or perhaps nylon. These are lovely but may not stand hard wear like all purpose wools such as the tweeds. Present day tweeds are very fashionable and are really good buys for general purpose wear.

Soft fabrics are apt to pick up lint. This is often noticeable when you're looking at coats on the rack. And some materials wrinkle easily. If the coat has definite wrinkles from hanging in the store, it will probably require frequent pressing to keep it looking nice.

A well-made coat keeps its good appearance and shape after long wear and many cleanings. Even outside stitching in well matched thread is an indication of good workmanship. Look for buttonholes that are cut with the grain of the fabric. Off-grain buttonholes will stretch out of shape and hang open with use.

Linings and the way they're put in show the hidden values of a coat. The quality of material in the lining should compare with the outer cloth. A good lining is smoothly and neatly fitted with expansion allowance in the back. If the lining material tends to fray easily, seams should have a generous allowance, and should be finished off with stitching so they won't pull out with wear or cleaning.

Hints for African Violet Fanciers

Proper room temperatures, the right light and moist soil will help in raising luxurious African violets, according to the University of Minnesota Horticulture department.

The violets thrive best at a uniform day temperature of 75 degrees fahrenheit and a night temperature between 68 and 70. Good light is necessary, but avoid direct sunlight in the winter months.

Watering is very important. Always use water of room temperature. Keep the plant out of the direct sunlight when foliage is wet or the leaves might spot. It is a good idea to water from the top once every two weeks.

Color Bright Kitchen

Dress up your kitchen in colorful, modern style. Crocheted mesh cafe curtains are matched to circular place mats and seat covers. The curtains are crocheted in red with yellow rick rack loaed through the bottom four rows. The place mats and chair covers are done in swirls of red and yellow. Completing the set are glass jackets and a crocheted basket for fruit. To obtain directions for making this set, simply send a stamped self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of The Plymouth Mail with your request.

YOUR HANDWRITING TELLS YOUR STORY

With Grapho Analysis
BY JEAN EVANS

(Readers are invited to send in their questions or problems to this column. Please write in INK to: Jean Evans, in care of this newspaper. You may sign your name, initials or anonymous name.)

Dear Jean: I read your column every week and find it most interesting. Would there be any way I could find out more about Grapho Analysis and what the requirements are to become a professional Grapho Analyst? J. R. P.

Yes, your local high school Adult Education Dept. will offer an introductory class in "E-Z Steps to Handwriting Analysis" which will be taught by a competent Grapho Analyst. This class by no means gives you professional training but it does give you valuable information you can use in your everyday contacts to know yourself and others better. You will be taught to understand emotional natures, the thinking habits of others, how to improve yourself on the job, and how to gain protection by knowing people. Registration for these classes will begin soon for the term starting about Feb. 1. Classes will be formed in the following high schools: Plymouth, Bentley, Thurston, and Redford Union.

Dear Jean: I read your column every week and enjoy it quite a bit. Now would you tell me what there is in my handwriting? E. S. U.

You are a putter-offer, aren't you? Sometimes you delay doing a thing until you really have to put forth a great effort to get it completed by the deadline. There is some indication of jealousy here which I interpret as suspicion of rivalry or professional jealousy. You are a person who is a good worker, conscientious, loyal to what you think is right, and show pride in what you do. You want to do the best you can and be the best in your particular field, improving yourself as you go along.

Dear Jean: What can you tell me about my writing? What should my occupation be? F. M.

Dear F. M.: It is outstandingly obvious by your handwriting that you should be expressing yourself in some field of the arts. There is ability and talent, creative ability, rhythm and emotional expression. There is showmanship and self-reliance. This could manifest itself in drama, dancing or skating. There is grace and energy also evident which could lend to this mode of expression. If you are a painter you will like the showy, flashy, extravagant production. If a writer, you will express yourself in flowery imaginative terms.

Dear Jean: I read your column every week, am quite a busy grand-mother with three married children and one daughter at home, also 14 grandchildren. I would appreciate anything you may be able to reveal in my handwriting. A. M. C.

You are looking ahead into the future. Have you been thinking about your shopping list for next Christmas already? You do come "down to earth" to take care of the work at hand but the dreams go on. You like people and are generous in letting them know it. You are fond of your family and proud of your family unity.

Senator Potter reports

... the latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan ...

TOOLING UP for the mighty Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile is getting into high gear at the Chrysler Warren plant just outside Detroit. Regular pay checks await 500 men and women now being hired and everything points to doubling of the present workforce by the end of the year. That would bring it close to 10,000 workers at Warren. Questionably the most cheerful development in a month of Sundays, the new jobs come as a result of the recently announced Army award of a $52,000,000 missile contract to Michigan.

Of course, this merely dents Michigan's jobless list, but it offers enormous encouragement to those of us who needle the Pentagon ceaselessly to place defense contracts where they are needed most—in Michigan's labor-surplus centers. Tooling-up is sure to be followed by hefty production orders. I'm confident that the effects of this first huge Jupiter contract will span out through southern Michigan to smaller businesses who will garner a share of the subcontracts.

The President has asked Congress for $1.2 billion in emergency defense funds and $40 billion in the new budget, much of it for stepping up missile work. What has been labeled as "Potter's Push on the Pentagon" will be continued in an effort to get this money into Michigan in the form of defense contracts and new jobs.

PAY TV hearings are open and I predict a verbal slugfest. Can Mr. and Mrs. America lounge in front of the family television set to be informed and entertained free of charge? Or must they drop a coin in the slot to receive certain programs?

I oppose any form of pay TV. A man buys a television set expecting that his investment ends right there, with the exception, perhaps, of a few service charges. Pay TV is like buying a refrigerator and having to drop money in the slot before you can open the door and get something to eat.

I expect to appear before the House Commerce Committee to point out my reasons for opposing these schemes. Today we have 40 million television households in the nation and the investment of American citizens in our free system of

TIPS for TEENS

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Q.—"Dear Miss Williams: I am a boy 14 years old and I like a girl very much. I would like to date her, but am not sure my parents will approve. How would I go about letting my parents know I would like to date her?"

Ans.—If it would be easier and less embarrassing, wait for a special dance, play party, school or church affair, then simply tell your parents about it, adding casually that you're thinking of inviting Carol Smith to go with you. Then it's up to you and them to arrange the details... money for the tickets, transportation (one of your parents driving the car) etc.

Q.—"Dear Elinor: What's wrong with a boy who seems to like you, but exchanges dances when we go out, and leaves me sitting alone while he talks with other girls and friends, never asking me to be with them?"

Ans.—It's all right for a boy to exchange dances when you're dating if you, as well as he, always have a partner. But it's bad manners and rude (and crude!) to leave you alone, while he's your escort, to dance with other girls or chat with friends. If he wants to dance with somebody else, he should see that you also have a partner, if he's your date. And when he talks to friends, he should take you along and introduce you... and not prolong the chat, because YOU are the main event of the evening, as his date. Maybe he doesn't like you in a really special way or perhaps he just doesn't know any better. You'd be smart to find a more considerate date!

Q.—Dear Elinor: I have three girl-friends and they all go to the same dance on Friday nights. I don't know which one to take home and how to handle the situation."

Ans.—Apparently none of these girls is "special" to you. So find a fourth one—a date you'll like so much that there's no doubt about whom to take home—you'll want to choose HER!

(For free printed tips on "Date Manners for Boys," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.)

Hospitals Name Staff for 1958

Garden City and Ridge-wood Osteopathic Hospitals have announced staff office appointments for 1958 and have reported on activities for the past year.

Appointed for the new year are:

Chairman of the staff, Dr. Alfred M. Lennon, 26925 Plymouth Rd., Detroit; vice-chairman, Dr. Jack Mecker, 748 Middlebelt Rd., Inkster; staff secretary, Dr. Bruce C. Johnson, 311 Ecorse Rd., Ypsilanti; and staff treasurer, Dr. John T. Baker, 1810 N. Telegraph Rd., Dearborn.

The staff of the two hospitals is composed of 90 osteopathic physicians and surgeons who serve people of 20 communities in the area, including Plymouth. During 1957, the hospitals, which have a bed capacity of 150, rendered service to 15,548 patients of which 8,508 were seen on an out-patient basis. There were 1,809 babies born and 1,593 children ranging in age from one to 12 cared for.

Farmers Get Pointers In Filing Returns

Farmers in the Plymouth, Northville, and Livonia area soon will be filing their 1957 Federal income tax returns. As in the past several years, most of them will be filing Form 987, U. S. Report of Self-Employment Income, for crediting their farm net earnings to their social security accounts. Both the amount of social security tax due and potential social security benefits are based on the net income earned.

Farmers will follow the same basic rules in reporting income as do business and professional self-employed persons. They must deduct all operating expenses from the gross income in figuring the net earnings. However, the farm self-employed have an optional method of figuring the reportable net income which is not available to other classes of self-employed people. The option is available for social security purposes only — it does not affect the computation for income tax purposes.

Free pamphlets and information are available at the social security offices. The Detroit-Northwest office is located at 18260 Grand River Avenue, Detroit 23, Michigan.

Bird PTA to Hear Guidance Specialist

The January meeting of the Bird School P.T.A. will be held on Tuesday, the 28 at 7:45 p.m. Our guest speaker will be John S. Reynolds, psychiatric social worker, Huron Valley Child Guidance Clinic, Ypsilanti.

Reynolds was one of the participants on the panel program — "The Family Group in Modern America" at the Parent Education Institute held at the University of Michigan last fall. His presentation so impressed several of the attending P.T.A. members that he was invited to speak to the Association.

Refreshments will be served as usual.

Three Enlist

Three Plymouth youths have enlisted recently in the Army and have departed for basic training.

Jacob G. Dingeldey, 819 Haggerty Rd., whose parents Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Dingeldey operate a farm at the same address, has enlisted in the Army's Military Police corps for training in police work.

Enlisting at the same time was Richard W. Przeklasa, son of Mrs. Julia Mango, 47660 Ann Arbor Rd. Richard graduated from Hamtramck High School in 1957 and has since been living in Plymouth. He chose the Army's transportation corps as his branch of service and had already passed the necessary tests to apply for officer candidate school. He will study the Army's ship, rail and truck transportation systems.

Another Plymouth High School graduate to enlist recently was Kenneth D. Hart who also is now taking his basic training prior to assignment to the Engineer corps. He will receive schooling in general construction work.

Enlisting the three was SFC "Hank" Zalewski, local Army recruiter. He is at the Chamber of Commerce office each Monday and Wednesday.

THE READER SPEAKS UP

Open Letter to Martha Griffith:

Last week I wrote you about the horrible plight of one of our local graduates of 1927 who is forced into bankruptcy after 30 years in business on Grand River Avenue in northwest Detroit. You are on the Small Business Committee at Congress at $25,000 a year, I read. Your reply about this unfortunate couple is:

"There is no doubt these are times of crisis and leadership is sorely needed. I share with many people the hope that it will be forthcoming."

What kind of an answer is that to this couple?

In my 47 years in this district I have been taught that our Congressmen furnish the leadership; that is why they are paid $25,000 a year. "Congress shall make the laws," the Constitution says.

If this couple can't turn to Congressmen in their own district, where can they turn?

And while I am writing, I mention a second question: Is a $500 fine sufficient for a union officer who misappropriates $88,000 from a Union Fund? Congress makes that law too.

Respectfully,

If Your Name Is WILLIAM

BY ANN REYNOLDS, PH. D.

For about 900 years this name has been among the most popular names for men; sometimes only "John" was more widespread. Right after the Norman Conquest "William" was the champion because of William the Conqueror. For baby, parents like to pick the name of someone in a conspicuous place, no matter whether he is a king, a president, or a motion picture star. "William," together with a bunch of other names favored by the Normans, pushed its way in the forefront so that the more ancient English names almost got lost in the shuffle. The popularity of "William" can be gauged by the fact that for a celebration at the court of Henry II. of England in the 12th century two men called William hit on the idea to gather together all other Williams among the courtiers, and seat them in a separate hall. 120 knights took part in that, dinner party of namesakes . . .

Although most often used among English, this name is of Old Germanic origin, fashioned from two words. One of them meant "will," the other "helmet"; together they sounded "Willahelm."

What sort of man was the William who conquered Britain? Short, broad-shouldered, he was famed for the strength of his hands. Also, for the strength of his will. He won Matilda of Flanders for a bride, although there were two powerful obstacles in the way of their marriage. For one thing Matilda felt insulted when she learned that William desired her for a wife. How dared he even think of her, he the illegitimate child of Robert, duke of Normandy, nicknamed "The Devil" because of his violence, and Arletta, the daughter of a lowly tradesman, a mere tanner!

And, also, the marriage was prohibited because William and Matilda were distantly related; just how we don't know. William wrangled with his problem for four years, then disregarded both obstacles, and he and the girl he had chosen were united in marriage. So the name "William," containing the word "will," seemed just right for him; willpower he had in abundance.

There is a legend about one William who also knew exactly what he wanted to do. It is about William Tell, the Swiss patriot who shot an arrow through an apple placed on the head of his son. Another famous shot by the name of William was William of Cloudesly. He is one of the outlaws in the English ballad "Adam Bell, Clym of Clough, and William of Cloudesly." When William was caught, his prowess as an archer saved his life. He proved himself a master-shot by splitting in two an apple placed on the head of his seven year old son. And he did it at a distance of "six score" paces, which is 120 paces!

MICHIGAN MIRROR

BY ELMER E. WHITE

GOP is Hopeful

REPUBLICANS ARE LOOKING for a candidate seven months before they try again to wrest the state's top office from the Democrats. Many will come but only one will be chosen.

The party is working on its "new look" as 1958 gets underway — setting up a $228,700 budget and getting issues organized for the campaign.

They believe Gov. Williams, five terms in office and expected to try for a sixth, is in a more vulnerable spot than at any time in his history-making career in Michigan politics.

Democrats, remembering the landslide, cannot be budged from their confidence in Williams, who brought the party off the back streets and peopled state government from top to near bottom with the party faithful.

Every appointive office is held by Democrats, all administrative offices Republicanism — the legislature — is in their hands. The last bastion of the party's next major target.

There has been an almost complete turnabout since Williams, appointed by a Republican governor as a member of the liquor control commission, made his debut in 1948 with a victory. He was the only Democrat at the inaugural Jan. 1, 1949.

Now, Republicans claim they are reviving in their party the same spirit Democrats brought into their first of 10 years of political dominance.

Republicans have a budget for next year and an organization — rebuilt from the ground up in all of Michigan's 83 counties. They will pay state chairman Lawrence L.

Lindemer $21,000 this year, plus a $9,000 expense account. They will keep their publicist, Arnold J. Levin, and give him an assistant.

Democrats have shown the way of modern politics with professional-type television shows, statewide tours and year-around campaigning.

But most important, Republicans say, are the issues.

"After 10 years in office, the governor admits, the state is bankrupt — he admits he is a failure," said Senator Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville.)

They point to the flight of business and industry to other states, charging that the moves are being made to escape Williams' proposed tax increases. They talk sincerely about the "unhealthy economic climate" produced by Williams' long record of little sympathy for businessmen's problems. They remind it is not so much what business faces today as what might be thrown at them anytime while Williams holds the whiphand.

Democrats deny the assertions pointing to valid surveys showing that taxes are only a minor factor in the moves.

"But the businesses and industries are moving out anyway — perhaps not so much because they are threatened with ruin, but because they have been led to believe they might be," said one observer.

The most potent issue, one that Republicans have ignored or only lightly considered in the past, is that Williams has been in office for 10 years.

Passing in Review

"Life Begins at Forty"

BY ROBERT PETERSON

"SWEETER AS THE YEARS GO BY" is the refrain from a fine old hymn. But these words don't always apply to people. As some people grow older they become less and less pleasant to be around and appear to know little or nothing about the fine arts of growing old gracefully.

Fortunately, there aren't many of these crusty curmudgeons around and those few whom we encounter deserve more pity than censure for they can't be getting very much fun out of life. As we watch them grumble along it's almost as though they were following this guide to growing old disgracefully:

1. Live in the past. Don't bother keeping up with current events and never fail to predict the worst when someone tries something new. Life was better in the old days and nothing nowadays is seriously worth your time or effort.
2. Don't bother about our appearance. When you're old nobody really cares so what's the use of looking neat and attractive?
2. Do all the talking when others are around. You know as much about the subject as they do and anyway it's so boring to listen to others.
4. Criticize your neighbors and acquaintances. They're always getting things fouled up and the quicker they know it the better off they'll be.
5. Do plenty of complaining. Why not—there's an awful lot to complain about considering your arthritis, your taxes, and the high cost of butter.
6. Be selfish. Why should you do things for others when nobody does anything for you?
7. Be suspicious. Everybody's out to get you so be leery of your neighbors and have nothing to do with strangers.
8. Don't try to learn anything new. Everyone knows you can't teach an old dog new tricks!

9. Feel sorry for yourself. You've had a lot of tough breaks and you deserve all the pity you can get.

10. Never take any trips or vacations. One part of the world is just as bad as the rest so don't waste your money on travel.

11. Don't join any clubs or churches. They're always after contributions and most of their members are hypocrites.

12. Don't bother with doctors. They're out to get your money and their remedies aren't any better than those in the farmer's almanac.

13. Hoard your money in your mattress. If the banks fail you'll be glad you hid it in a safe place.

THE FOREGOING makes pretty horrible reading, but it provides a fairly accurate guide to the infamous art of growing old disgracefully.

If you'll analyze those older persons you know who seem to be shunned by others and are finding little pleasure in their later years, you'll likely find they are victimized by one or more of the depressing attitudes reflected in this list.

To make the most of your golden years, study the points enumerated above and then resolve to do just the opposite.

(If you would like a free list of trips on Increasing Your Attractiveness in Later Years, write to this column, care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.)

Remarks by Judge Bowles

(Editor's Note: George Bowles of Plymouth sits as one member Judge of the Circuit Court bench. He is a new member of the court and in some ways is typical of a "new look" that has come upon Michigan courts in recent years. Bowles recently addressed the Hi-12 Club of Plymouth on the general subject of justice, and the following are excerpts from that speech.)

"We seek today, in essence, a world ruled by the force of law rather than by the law of force, and in this we are sustained by the nature of humankind for there is a universal aspiration and desire for justice. We are born to it and no amount of oppression or tyranny can for long suppress it.

"But, the institution of the administration of justice here, or anywhere else, is not perfect, is always capable of improvement, and, as one legal writer has expressed it: 'The courts have a duty to keep the rules of law in harmony with the enlightened common sense of the nation.'

"Law is both reason and experience, and our challenge is how to apply to ever-changing conditions the never-changing principles of freedom. The true safeguard of freedom under the law must always be the spirit and the devotion of the people and it is that spirit, more than the forms of law that over the centuries has kept justice alive.

"As business and technology have found new ways, new techniques, so also, it seems to me, the judiciary should be ever alert to explore new ways of better organizing its work and accelerating its docket, for injustice, too long delayed, is justice denied.

"Speaking for myself, I wish to assure you that as one of your Wayne Circuit Judges, I am receptive to any suggestion looking toward a more business-like operation and looking toward, in particular, the speeding up of the docket.

"I think that we should establish goals, the same as a good businessman establishes goals or aims and one of mine is that no non-jury case need take more than six months from issue to trial, and that a jury case should not take, unless the litigants want it that way, more than eight to nine months from issue to trial. This is an attainable goal and, indeed, in 1955 it prevailed; we have recently had an unusual number of serious illnesses, one of them fatal, to our late beloved Judge Thomas M. Maher, and these unusual illnesses are unquestionably, in my mind, the reason that the docket for jury cases has slipped back presently to approximately sixteen months. But no system, however good, is so good that it should not be subjected to constant re-examination with a view to a calm and deliberate change that is best for the public.

"While obligated to listen and learn from anyone who has suggestions, a judge also has an obligation of independence which is set forth in Judicial Canon No. 14: 'A judge should not be swayed by partisan demands, public clamor, or considerations of personal popularity or notoriety, nor be apprehensive of unjust criticism.'

"The sense of the canon, to me, is that one should not be moved to do things under pressure and that he should not take action either on matters of substance or procedure solely because of 'unjust criticism.'

"In the domestic relations field there are those who believe that we should consolidate the functions of the Friend of the Court, the Wayne County Marriage Counselor, the Complaint Bureau of the Recorder's Court for the City of Detroit and the Juvenile Division of the Probate Court. But, the consolidation should not be one for administrative purposes alone, but rather one which attempts to achieve a reform that will enable the judge to do a better job in keeping families together or in protecting the rights of the innocent, when there are separations.

"Many times one has to resist the understandable urge to get to the next case. The most important thing in the world is the case before the court and that case may affect the litigants more than any other matter before a public agency during their entire lives.

"The Fifth Amendment has fallen into some disrepute in America because of its having been raised in unpopular cases by most unpopular defendants. The Fifth Amendment says to the layman, such as you, that you have a constitutional guaranty against being forced to incriminate or accuse yourself; it means, under our United States Constitution, that a criminal charge can not be made against you except upon the finding of a grand jury and that you can not be accused of a crime at the mere whim or caprice of the head of some police department.

"It is a guaranty against double jeopardy. If you are accused of a crime and tried and acquitted, never again can a public authority bring you to trial again for that same offense. It is a protection too, and a guaranty against having your property taken away, except by due process of law. It is a guaranty against the taking of private property for public use, your property, except upon the payment of just compensation. And, finally, there is this language: 'No person shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself.'

"Now, this grew out of a dark page in history when public authorities had ways of getting confessions. English history is replete with documentary evidence of the use of the rack and other diabolical and ingenious contrivances of torture to get a person to say he was guilty when he wasn't guilty in order to avoid unspeakable and unbearable pain.

"We have seen under Communism in recent years, procured confessions, and we look upon the practice with abhorrence, even if the torture is not so sickening to contemplate as the rack and the Iron Maiden.

"That is the historical basis for the Fifth Amendment which is your constitutional guaranty and mine.

"A tyrant can never rule this country so long as there is an independent judiciary that refuses to be intimidated into conformity with the then popular will or authority. When Hitler struck his first oppressive acts at German freedom he was careful to make religion and the courts his early targets and, conversely, where the judiciary refused to buckle under, the integrity of the freedoms of the people was preserved. There was one striking and dramatic example in World War II, in the case of Norway. When the Nazi boot was raised against Norway's high court, every single jurist resigned in protest. The people responded, the Nazis backed down and Norway's administration of justice was saved.

"Nowhere in all literature and history can be found a better expression of the judicial ideal than in the Holy Bible: 'What doth the Lord require of Thee but to do justly, to love mercy and to walk humbly before thy God.'

MICHIGAN BELL

TELEPHONE lines

SNOW IS FUN for the kids. But it sure can be disappointing for grown-ups, especially when it means that trips to visit friends and relatives have to be called off. Don't let the miles keep you apart when blizzards blow and the weather isn't fit for man or beast. Get together by telephone. Long Distance rates are low and you can talk as long as you want. Remember, when Old Man Winter spoils your trip, enjoy a visit the comfortable way—by telephone.

IF YOU'RE BUILDING or buying a new home you'll want to make sure it's "Telephone Planned." In a Telephone Planned home you can move your telephones around as easily as lamps. The telephone wires are built in by Michigan Bell (while the house is under construction) with convenient phone outlets, like electrical outlets, placed throughout the house. And the telephones are equipped with plug-in cords. Then you can rearrange the furniture wherever you want, and plug in the phones wherever they're most handy. For more information just call our Business Office.

SCIENCE can give us great entertainment, as the Bell System's television Science Series has shown. These shows have been awarded the Edison Foundation award as "The Best Science Television Program for Youth in 1957." What is more, they are helping to interest young people in scientific careers—careers which may affect the future of our country. Be sure to tune to the latest in our series, "The Unchained Goddess"—the story of weather—next month on the NBC television network.

Edison helps
Wayne County
grow

Schools receive an important part of the $6,903,462 tax payments made by Edison in Wayne County in 1957

For the year 1957 Detroit Edison's total tax payments will be about $38,201,000 to local, state and federal governments. Over half of this sum will stay right here in Michigan with $7,478,014 going to local school districts in our service area.

The balance of these Edison tax dollars helps to build needed public projects and to support police, fire and other vital services in your community.

As your electric company supplying your electric service, and as a corporate citizen paying taxes, we like to think that we are truly partners in the progress and growth of the 400 communities we serve in Southeastern Michigan.
