Acres of Land Burned Due to Carelessness

Fields of dry, crispy grass and weeds are causing Plymouth township and city firemen lots of trouble and there will probably be lots more unless residents stop their carelessness.

Township firemen have made eight grass fire runs since just last Wednesday with three of them burning off 20 acres of land or more. Nearly all of the grass fires were attributed to careless burning of rubbish.

Lt. Paul Albright pointed out this week that township residents wanting to burn anything except normal household waste must first get a permit from the fire department.

The township fire department's log book since last week read something like this: March 19 — 3:32 p.m. at 13837 Ridgewood, grass fire burning off 20 acres, cause, trash burning.

less and less inside the city limits, making grass fires harder to start. "We can almost count on one hand the places where we can expect grass fires," Capt. Charles Groth said. One of those places is behind the row of small factories on the north end of Amelia street where firemen beat out a grass fire Tuesday noon.

Driver Gets Probation For Perjury

A 22-year-old Plymouth man was placed on probation for two years in Wayne County Circuit court last Friday for perjuring himself before a local jury last October.

He is Clifford Henderlong, 14320 Haggerty Rd., who has been ordered by Judge Frank Fitzgerald to pay $100 in court costs. The charge, subordination of perjury, was punishable up to 15 years in prison.

It was on October 13 that Plymouth police officers, Lt. William Guldner and Henry Berghoff were following a car on South Main when they saw Henderlong, behind the wheel, change places with a companion Virgil Norgrove. This was while the car was in motion.

They ticketed Henderlong, finding out later that his license had been suspended.

On October 28 the case came before Municipal Judge Nandino Perlongo and a jury. The officers testified that they saw Henderlong driving and then change places.

But Henderlong, Norgrove and three others in the car all testified that it was Norgrove who was driving. The jury decided to take the word of the defendant and his witnesses, a decision which was later questioned by Judge Perlongo.

Several months later two of the witnesses were arrested for (Continued on Page 8)

FIREMEN RECEIVED invaluable practice Saturday burning this house down on Mill St. Hundreds of spectators came and went during the day as the century-old building was gradually leveled. Many fires were started and then extinguished to give firemen greater experience.

Firefighters Provide Day-Long Show as House Goes to Ashes

A pleasant Saturday and an unusual attraction brought hundreds of people to a Mill St. home where firemen spent the day burning down a house.

While it was a nice pastime for spectators, the house burning wasn't all fun for firemen. "We were beat," was the general comment heard from firemen who had arrived at the scene at 9:30 a.m. and stayed around until the fire burned itself out at supper time.

At least 10 times firemen started fires and then beat them down to a place where they were almost extinguished. The morning was spent burning down a barn behind the house.

The house itself is believed well over 100 years old. It had been in a state of disrepair for many years. Then, the Austin Oil Co. of Wayne purchased the property to build a service station. They asked the fire department to burn down the home.

Not often do firemen get an opportunity to practice what they know except under emergency conditions. They tried out a new cellar and petition nozzle which throws a fog spray up to 25 feet in diameter and around corners.

Thermo-couplers were placed in the main living room to measure the temperature as the fire's heat built up. When it arose to 1,600 degrees, firemen moved in with the fog spray. In six seconds and after using a few gallons of water, the heat dropped to 300 degrees, just below wood ignition temperature.

It takes between eight to 15 gallons of water to knock down the room temperature (Continued on Page 8)

Supper Benefits Fund

City firemen are again sponsoring an old-fashioned pancake supper for the benefit of their uniform fund.

Pancakes, sausage, ice cream, coffee and milk for the youngsters is on the menu Wednesday, April 9, from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at the K of C Hall. The tickets, on sale at the door and with firemen, are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

They were Oliver Ping, 17, of 9260 Oakview; J. D. Peet, 17, of 1531 Brookline, George Draper of Wayne and a juvenile. All have been turned over to the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

A breaking and entering at Starkweather school on March 17 was the only crime committed in the city of Plymouth. For this reason, they were released to the sheriff.

In committing the dozen or more crimes they admitted, sometimes they worked four together, sometimes in pairs or threes. At Starkweather, only $1 was taken. In fact, it is believed that very little money was found by the boys during their thefts.

Among the places admittedly hit were Allen Elementary School, National Block Co. on Ford Rd., "a restaurant, gas station and store" on Ford Rd., "a gasoline station on M-14," tires from Green Meadows, an attempt to burglarize the Plymouth (Continued on Page 8)

State Basketball Tourney Opens Here

The state basketball tournament of the Class B Recreation Association of Michigan gets underway Friday night in Plymouth and will end with the championship game Saturday night.

Games tomorrow night will be held at both the high school and junior high school gymnasiums. At the junior high, the Monroe and Hastings game will start at 7:30 followed by Wayne and Trenton at 9.

At the High School, Willow Run plays Coldwater at 7:30 and the Plymouth entry, Contractors Machinery, meets Albion at 9.

Semi-finals will be held at the high school Saturday afternoon at 1:30 and 3 and the finals in the evening at 8.

There is no defending champion to dethrone this year since Adrian does not have a team entered. Admission is free.

Four Arrested Of Burglaries In Long Series

Plymouth police have rounded up a group of youths who have admitted breaking and entering many business places in the area, including two schools.

They were Oliver Ping, 17, of 9260 Oakview; J. D. Peet, 17, of 1531 Brookline, George Draper of Wayne and a juvenile. All have been turned over to the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

Nominating petitions are now available for those wanting to enter the 1958 race for the board of education of the Plymouth Community School District — and from the way it looks, it could be a lively contest.

Board President Harold Fischer said this week that he will be a candidate for re-election and will seek the three-year term.

There will be three vacancies on the board this year, two of them are four-year terms and one a three-year term. This is the first time that more than two seats are to be filled at one election.

The nominating petitions are available at the superintendent of school's office at the high school. They must be filed before 5 p.m. on Saturday, May 10 at the superintendent's office.

The election itself is Monday, June 9.

Petitions must contain the signatures of a minimum of 50 registered school electors. No one may sign more petitions than there are vacancies. Signers also must be residents of the school district.

To be eligible for office, the nominee must be a registered voter and must own property in the school district in his or her own right. If the property is owned jointly but the name of only one person appears, both are eligible.

Election of three to office this June instead of the usual one or two came about due to the decision of voters last year. In June 1957 voters in the school district decided to change the classification of the school system from a fourth class to a third class district.

This meant that the board must be enlarged from five members to seven. It also means that terms of office will be extended from three years to four.

Fischer's term is the only one from the present five-member board ending this year.

In order to place the four-year terms in the right cycle for a seven-member board, it is necessary to elect one person this year for three around $285 annually. Present members of the school board besides Fischer are James Mitchell and Austin Stecker, whose terms will expire in 1959, and Mrs. Esther Hulsing and Charles Zoet, with terms expiring in 1960.

Fischer, who lives at 40875 Plymouth Rd., is a greenhouse operator. He was elected to office in 1955 and for the past two years has been board president.

A proposal was recently brought before the board to establish another polling place. However, they have taken no action in this direction. All voting for school matters has taken place at the high school.

Public's Help Wanted

Educationally, What's Ahead?

(Ninth in a series of information articles written by the Secondary School Facilities Committee)

During the past two months, eight informative articles have been published by the Secondary School Facilities Committee, a sub-committee of the School Community Planning Group, in an effort to give all the citizens of the Plymouth Community School District an adequate understanding of what educational problems face the school board in the next five years.

All citizens are invited to assist the committee by marking the survey below and letting us know how they feel about the questions asked. Parents with children in either the elementary, junior high or senior high schools will receive copies of this survey via their children. Four thousand copies of this survey were sent home on Thursday and should be returned to school on Monday or Tuesday of next week.

Other citizens using the survey published in the Plymouth Mail may mail their returns to Russell Isbister, Superintendent of Schools, Plymouth, Michigan, or may take them to any school located in their area.

Administrators and teachers will be glad to see that all returns are forwarded to the school facilities Committee.

School Planning Survey

We need your help! Please answer the questions below, and at the end of the survey let us know what suggestions you have. We want to know what you want done about a future building program for our ever-expanding student population.

Your opinion on educational matters is valued. In fact, no school expansion program can move forward without the full knowledge and consent of the citizens of this community.

1. As an economy move in the next five years, should the Board of Education make definite plans to utilize the present buildings more effectively by having half-day sessions for students? YES NO

2. Do you feel there is an educational need for a Junior High School Swimming Pool-Auditorium addition? YES NO

3. Should the Board of Education adopt a full-year plan of school — put teachers on a 12 month schedule and students on a 9 month one — to gain a more economic use of the buildings and prevent building additional facilities? YES NO

4. Is a Bond issue the answer for our Board as they try to solve the problem of trying to give equal educational opportunities to the ever-increasing school population? When? During the year 1959? YES NO

Wait until 1960? YES NO

5. Your additional comments and suggestions will greatly assist in giving direction to the Committee's study.

It's Concert Rehearsal as Usual For Connecticut Lady Violinist

Mrs. Waldo Johnston enjoys playing the violin. To prove it she flies into Plymouth from Connecticut once a week to rehearse for the Plymouth Symphony's concert April 13.

"So far I've made three trips for the rehearsals and I'll have to make three more before the concert," she said. "It's not the flying that bothers me — it's that long drive from my home in Woodbridge, Connecticut to Laguardia Field in New York. If it wasn't for that, the whole trip would be a lark."

Mrs. Johnston first became interested in Plymouth's Symphony when she was living in Ann Arbor. She didn't let moving to Connecticut stop her from participating. She moved to Connecticut to join her son who teaches at Yale.

"Plymouth is very lucky to have such a fine symphony orchestra," she said. "And you know she meant it. I've played in others but haven't found the deep affection and friendship that you find here. Each trip is a lot of fun and is certainly worth the effort. I arrive in Willow Run Sunday evening and stay here Monday for the rehearsal; then fly back Tuesday. It's been working out very well."

A violin player, Mrs. Johnston coddles her Guarnerius violin like other women might fondle a pet poodle. "It was given to me by my father when I was in Paris a long time ago," she explains.

Since it only takes a total of three days to fulfill her commuting duties with the Plymouth Symphony, Mrs. Johnston finds time to participate in other musical groups. She occasionally plays for the Yale University Orchestra. "It's a little closer to home," she says modestly. Mrs. Johnston claims a few other distinctions. She was

West." A violin player since her youth, Mrs. Johnston lived in Russia from 1912 to 1916 and spent two years of that time studying under Leopold Auer. With all this rich experience she has never played professionally. "I just play for the fun of it and never thought seriously of trying to make a living that way."

And will she be back next year? "It depends if I get the urge," she concluded.

EVEN THOUGH she has moved to Connecticut, Mrs. Waldo Johnston is going to finish this year with the Plymouth Symphony. She flies to Willow Run each Sunday night for Monday's rehearsal. If she gets the urge, she says, she will do the same next year.

NEARLY 150 BOYS and girls will be in the downtown area this Saturday selling Easter Lilies for the benefit of crippled children and adults. Lilies will be given in exchange for any donation with money going to the Easter Seal Society of Western Wayne County to carry on its work. The sale is sponsored by the Rotary Anns. Among the children selling lilies are, front row: Jeannie Keller, Mary J. Calliga, Carol Hinkley, Mary Sincoc. Back row: Virginia Signorelli, Mary Hinkley and Pat Carey. The sale will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

C & O Railroad Finds Oil, Gas On Land Within City's Shadow

It has been nearly five years since oil and gas fever hit the Plymouth area and some of it still lingers, especially since the discovery of a producing well within the shadows of the city of Plymouth.

A well that is producing gas and some oil has been completed on Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad property northwest of the railroad yards. This week the drilling equipment has been moved from the well to an abandoned hole a few hundred yards away.

The well is 4,342 feet deep. The rig is being set up over a hole abandoned several months ago at 4,214 feet. When abandoned, the drilling showed signs of gas but lacked commercial promise.

C&O's well is in what is designated as the Northville field. During February the field produced 5,827 barrels of oil, of which the Roy LeMaster discovery on Napier Rd. produced 2,930 barrels. The LeMaster well was the first (Continued on Page 8)

Grange Opens Big Contest To All Home Dressmakers

Home sewers, here's a chance to cash in on your talents. Enter the National Grange contest and you may come out with a trip to the World Fair in Brussels and Paris. Anyone can enter.

A breath-taking trip for two by Belgian World Airlines to the World's Fair in Brussels and then on by helicopter to the heart of Paris for two weeks at the deluxe Hotel Claridge on the Champs Elysees, plus $500 personal expense money, are the prizes used by Mrs. Isabelle Taylor, chairman of the home economics committee of the Plymouth Grange in describing the first-place award.

The contest deadline is April 30.

Separate divisions and awards are provided for: adults — 18 years of age and over, youth — 15 through 17 years of age, and juniors — 12 through 17.

In addition to the all-expense paid trip to Paris, the adult division includes an Isotta sports car, a $500 wardrobe, and a mink stole for second, third and fourth-place winners.

Top winners in the youth division will receive a ranch mink bolero, a fifty-two piece set of solid sterling silver, a cedar chest filled with a treasure of linens, and a Hi-Fi set.

High-ranking contestants in the junior division receive a Hi-Fi set; a high fidelity tape recorder; a move outfit; and a transistor radio.

Each division provides many other awards for local, state and national winners.

Subordinate Granges turning in the greatest number of entries in relation to their membership will receive special awards.

The value of local, state, national and "bonus awards" totals $50,000. Mrs. Taylor warns, however, that April 30 is the deadline for entering and that all dresses to be judged must be in the hands of a Subordinate Grange Home Economics Chairman by that date.

There is no limit on the number of dresses one person can enter. No individual is eligible for more than one award at the state or national level.

Dresses will be judged on the basis of general appearance, styling, selection of design, and basic construction.

Complete details on the contest can be obtained from Mrs. Taylor, or from the home economics committee chairman of any subordinate Grange.

Woman's Club Annual Meeting Set for Friday

The annual meeting of the Woman's Club will be Friday, March 28. It is to be a dessert luncheon at 12:30 p.m. at the Methodist Church. This is a change of time and place so please take special note.

During the dessert hour music will be provided by the club trio: Mrs. Forest Morgeson, violin; Mrs. Herbert Woolweaver, cello; and Mrs. Lewis Litzenberg, piano. Their selections will be "Moment Musical" by Schubert and "Gypsy Love Song" and "Kiss in the Dark" by Victor Herbert.

The business meeting will be short as the annual reports are to be printed and placed on file. There will be election of officers for the coming year. Mrs. David Wood is completing her term of office as president.

Mrs. Thomas Phillips, program chairman for the day, will introduce the speaker, Miss Sarah Lickly, who will give a travelogue on her trip to South America.

Dessert chairman for the day is Mrs. Vaughn Smith, assisted by Mrs. William Bartell, Mrs. William Hartloff, Mrs. Harold Niles, Mrs. Albert Pitt, Mrs. James Robinson and Mrs. Neal Bowen.

The hostesses for the day are Mrs. Harry Brown, Mrs. Claude Buzzard, Mrs. Robert Houston, Mrs. Melbourne Johnson, Mrs. Earl Kenyon, Mrs. Milton Laible, Mrs. Harrison Moore, Mrs. Harry Reeves, Mrs. James Ross, Mrs. Ralph Snoke and Mrs. Mark Wehmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Dix of Salem will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Friday, March 28.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

The difference in price between today's prescriptions and those of 20 years ago can easily be figured. The difference is measured in dimes... sometimes even in dollars. But how can we measure the difference in results? Surely, no value can possibly be put on a life saved by a miracle drug that didn't exist 20 years ago!

PTSA Plans Musical Program

The April PTSA meeting has been moved ahead one week due to Easter vacation and will be held Monday, March 31 at 7:45 p.m. in the junior high gym.

A musical program is planned with band and chorus participating. The junior high band under the direction of Laurence Livingston will present the following numbers: "Manhattan Beach March," "King Arthur" selection, Paul Yoder; "Irish Tune from County Derry," Percy Grainger; "Symbol of Honor March," T. Mesang; Highlights from "My Fair Lady," Lerner-Lowe; "Chopin Melody," Isaac-Chopin; "The Brecken Town Musicians," Guy Foreman, and the "Storm King March," Finlayson. Tom Hoffman will narrate the Brecken Town Musicians number.

The junior high chorus under the direction of William

Grimmer will present the following numbers: "Adoramus TE," Palestrani; "In Faith I Quiet Wait," Black; "All in the April Evening," Robertson; "Poor Pierrot," Kern; "Come to the Fair," Martin; "Surrey with the Fringe on Top," Rogers and Hammerstein and "The Lord Bless You and Keep you," Lutkin.

The final number, "Children's Prayer," by Humperdink will be performed by the chorus and band.

A short business meeting will follow the program, after which refreshments will be served.

The torch of the Statue of Liberty goes on at the hour of official sunrise.

Recruit Male Actors, Crew

Although manpower is always a problem for local theater groups when a play is about to be staged, the new Plymouth Theatre Guild play, "My Sister Eileen," with a cast of 24, required a real search for male talent. With one of the largest casts ever presented by the guild, the play to be given April 9, 10, 11 and 12, needed 17 men as actors, in addition to the large backstage crew.

Actually, six admirals are yet to be cast for the scene when a large part of the Brazilian Navy appears.

Besides the three men working backstage as stage manager, assistant manager and lighting director, an important addition is the set director, Garland Wright, who is charting the layout of flats and other equipment for erecting the set.

Another man was required as truck driver to transport flats and painting gear to the former Bell Telephone office building on Penniman Ave., which the guild is now using as a location for scenery painting, by courtesy of the owner, Perry Richwine.

A large number of both men and women will be busy there during the next two weeks transforming bare flats of canvas stretched over wooden frames into the Greenwich Village basement apartment in which the Sherwood sisters from Ohio share some of the funniest experiences in the present day theatre.

Adventists Help To Build Center In Nazareth

Plymouth Seventh-day Adventists this Saturday will help to set saws singing and hammers ringing in Nazareth of Galilee, the boyhood home of Jesus, who in His early years practiced carpentry there.

The church will dedicate its special quarterly offering to help provide a Christian center in the town of the Saviour's youth.

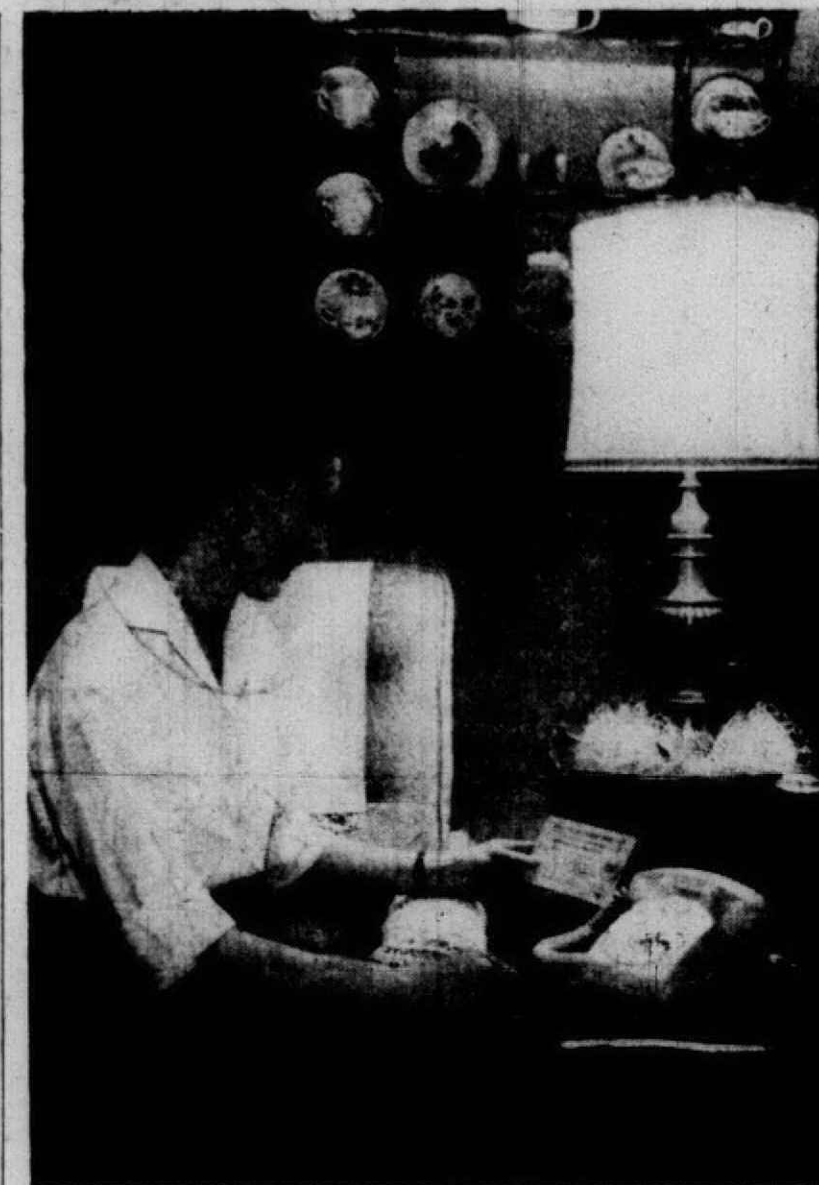

"Nazareth today is a large city. It has modern apartment buildings and an up-to-date business section. Yet within its borders deep poverty reigns," said Pastor M. V. Campbell, president of the Adventists' Southern European Division, writing to Adventist churches of the need for Christian work in Nazareth.

The church official indicated that both Jews and Arabs live in the city, which stands on an elevation overlooking the fertile valley of Jezreel, so often mentioned in the Bible. The city is the intersection of the main east-west and north-south highways of Palestine.

Francis S. Patterson, Sabbath school leader of the Plymouth church, said in announcing the special offering, "It is a privilege to offer funds to provide a center intended to honor Jesus in the city in which He was so long without honor."

Part of the funds received at the special missions-emphasis service will also provide facilities to begin mission activity in two countries previously unentered by Adventists. These countries are French Guinea, in West Africa, and the Central African country of Ubangi-Shari. Adventists currently conduct mission activity in 185 of the world's 205 officially recognized major countries.

The funds will provide mission stations for pygmies of the vast Equatorial forest who still live in a jungle twilight of the primitive past, and for shepherd peoples of French Guinea, Mr. Patterson said.

MRS. LAVERNE RUTENBAR of 202 North Holbrook displays the telephone number attached instruction cards which all Plymouth users will receive through the mail. The numbers will be posted over existing, superseded numbers for use after the cutover to dial service at 2:01 A.M., April 20.

Guy Fishers Mark 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Guy O. Fisher of 696 Forest celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary Sunday, March 23 at a reception in the First Methodist Church Friendship hall.

The Fishers' six children and their families were present: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Trombley and family of Farmington, Mr. and Mrs. Blake O. Fisher and family of Livonia, Mr. and Mrs. William Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Minehart and family, Mr. and Mrs. Berle Fisher of Detroit and Mrs. Wesley E. Bakewell of San Diego.

Also present were Mrs. Fisher's mother, Mrs. Jessie V. Burger who is 90 years-old and Mr. Fisher's brother from Los Angeles, James E. Fisher.

Three hundred relatives and friends attended from Brown City, Lapeer, Sarnia and Bridgen, Ontario, Detroit and surrounding cities.

New Phone Numbers Here Soon

Technicians of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company are on schedule this week in their program to bring direct distance dial telephone service to Plymouth.

Central office dial experts of the Western Electric Company are tying together the thousands of intricate switches, relays, and a myriad of other electrical units to form the electronic "heart" of the new system in the new building at 1360 Ann Arbor Road.

While these "inside" workmen moved toward "dial" day April 20, outside construction crews of Michigan Bell were high on poles and settled in manholes under the city's streets splicing the millions of feet of copper wires together to connect the telephones in homes and businesses with the dial switching equipment.

Robert D. Maurer, Michigan Bell manager, said new telephone number cards would be mailed to users for applying on the number portion of the instrument dial unit.

"Complete instructions for applying the new numbers will accompany each number card," Maurer said.

He pointed out the mailing program makes premise visits by an installer unnecessary and simplifies the number change program.

Booklets with complete instructions for cross-country dialing, together with a map showing the nationwide numbering plan and a list of states and cities that Plymouth one and two party users can dial direct, will also be mailed before the dial conversion April 20, Maurer said.

Grange Cleanings

The visitation by Plymouth Grange to Webster Grange last Thursday night was a very pleasant affair. Forty-four of our Grange members made the trip. The first and second degrees were conferred on a class of seven candidates. Lunch was served after the meeting.

There has been a change made in the plans for the return visit of Webster's degree team which was scheduled for April 3. It was decided to postpone the degree work until the second meeting on April 17 since April 3 is Maundy Thursday. All the new members should be present at the April 17 meeting when the third and fourth degrees will be conferred.

We will have our usual potluck supper on April 3 instead of lunch after the meeting.

There was a nice crowd at the supper Saturday night and the meal was very good. The musicians who were to provide music for dancing were unable to become because of illness. So Perry Krum and his son Melvin came to the rescue, with Mr. Krum playing the mouth organ and his son playing the violin. With Mary Fillmore accompanying them on the piano, they furnished some good music. It is hoped that we may have more of the same at a later date.

We are all very happy to hear the good news that Mrs. Mary Root is home from "St. Joe's" after her long seige of illness. She is better but will have to be very quiet for some time yet.

The City Manager's Corner

By Al Glassford

The City of Plymouth began its city plan in 1938, and subsequently revised it in 1953 through enactment of a completely new zoning ordinance. Three kinds of official plans are now in existence. There is the Zoning Map, which indicates the use to which properties may be put, the Master Thoroughfare Plan of Streets and Alleys, which sets up future widths for streets and locates alleys to serve business properties. Recently, we adopted a Park Plan which shows the location of play lots and parks.

In order to prepare such plans, many studies precede final adoption. For example, we have a study map showing the existing uses of properties as far back as 1937, when the first zoning map was enacted. In 1952, a new study was made showing the existing uses of the properties in 1952. Then, we have another map showing the uses of properties being built upon. Each time we issue a building permit and occupancy permit, we show the new building on a current map.

Several years ago, the Planning Commission prepared a Parks Plan. This was not adopted immediately because the City Commission thought it would be best first to acquire as many properties, not owned by the city, as it was able, within the financial means of the city. Three acres have been acquired recently, and we have assurances from adjacent owners that they are interested in furthering the park plan when the time arrives when the city wishes to proceed with the expansion and development.

The Planning Commission and the City Commission then adopted the plan which establishes parks and future park sites. This map is recorded with the Register of Deeds. The advantage of such a map is that unless the Planning Commission approves of disposing of the city owned park properties by arranging other suitable locations, the city may not sell such properties unless the voters approve by 2/3 majority. The citizens, then, have some protection against an administration which bent upon disposing of park property.

Good planning provides for a well balanced community of industrial, commercial and residential areas. Some communities prohibit commercial and industrial uses. But, in such cases, the citizens must be prepared to foot the tax bill. In Plymouth, our taxes would increase 100% without our commercial and industrial tax base.

The Planning Commission of the City of Plymouth is appointed by the City Commission. It consists of 9 members having overlapping terms. The members are of various professions and callings. It serves as an advisory board for the City Commission. While the City Commission is not bound by its findings, the City Commission follows almost without exception, the recommendations of the Planning Commission.

One of the difficulties of the Planning Commission is that it meets only once a month and is overwhelmed with requests for changes in zoning, when it probably would like to put more emphasis upon the social and overall planning aspects of its job.

Auburn Optimist 1 is just a hop, skip and jump away from the Sixth Grade title in recreation basketball. The worst Auburn Optimist 1 could do would be tie for first place at the end of the season with Hamilton, Lutheran or Smith.

And if Auburn Optimist 1 should win either of their next two games they would have the title clinched.

On Saturday, Lutheran bowed to Auburn Optimist 14-10. Auburn Optimist 1 bucked 6 field goals and 2 free throws while Lutheran came up with 4 field goals and 2 free throws. Auburn Optimist 1 had only two scorers, Ralph Grady, 10 points, and Denny Hunt 4. Lutheran was topped by Harold Kuisel 6 points, Dick Egloff 3 and Jim Davis 1.

With a 21 point lead as the final whistle blew, Hamilton beat Allen 31 to 10. Hamilton only had a 3 point lead at half time, 11-8. Points were chalked up for Hamilton by Harry McMullen with 12, and Larry Duty, 7. Tom McGill and Larry McMullen had 6 points. Caleb Luibrand led Allen in scoring with 6, followed by Sandy Black and Dick Howard who each had 2. Gary Kisabeth and Ron Garchow were the fellows leading Catholic to a victory over Auburn Optimist 2, by a score of 33 to 6. Auburn Optimist 2 scored all of their points in the first half. The three boys who had points for Catholic were Kisabeth 17 points, Garchow 12 and Don Gavigan 3. For Auburn Optimist 2, Clinton Blood made 3, Jim Norlan 2 and Lanny Narin 1.

Resident Sees Sputnik

Among those who saw Sputnik II on what is probably its last showing in this area was Larry Finney of Plymouth, a Capitol Airlines co-pilot.

Finney was flying from New York to Chicago Sunday night when the yellow-orange glow of Sputnik was seen in the west. Astronomers claim that Sputnik is losing altitude and will burn up before it again orbits over Detroit when it will be visible. The public was advised to watch the sky Sunday at 7:06 p.m. Finney lives at 302 Maple.

New York City is fed milk by all of New York state, substantial parts of six other states, and sometimes as far away as two of the Canadian provinces.

Obituaries

Leslie C. Johnson, 69

Leslie C. Johnson, a sheet metal worker at Bron Metal Products, Inc., died suddenly Sunday, March 23 at 9 a.m. in his home at 336 West Pearl St.

Mr. Johnson was born January 30, 1889 in Paris Tenn. to William and Fannie (Huffman) Johnson. He married Verdine King December 22, 1912. He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Laura Jean Hurn of Redford Township and three sons, George W., Howard A. and Leslie S., all of Plymouth. Also surviving are a brother, William L. Johnson of Ridgeley, Tenn., a sister, Mrs. Lucy Chandler of Paris, Tenn. and 12 grandchildren. A son, Carl Leon, passed away September 29, 1946.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. David L. Rieder Wednesday, March 27 at Schrader Funeral Home. Interment was at Rural Hill Cemetery, Northville. Pallbearers were Clellan French, Aubrey French, Jerry French, Bernice Spencer, Caryl Buell and William Jordan.

John Joseph Schwartz

Funeral services will be held Friday, March 28 for John Joseph Schwartz of 8663 Lilley road, who died Wednesday, March 26 at 11:45 a.m. Mr. Schwartz, a retired farmer, had been ill for seven weeks.

Surviving Mr. Schwartz are a son, John O. Schwartz and three grandchildren. His wife, Jennie, passed away in 1951.

Born October 20, 1868 in Detroit, he moved to Plymouth in 1920. Mr. Schwartz was affiliated with the Northville Lutheran Church.

Rev. B. J. Pankow of the Northville Lutheran Church will conduct the services at 1 p.m. Friday at Schrader Funeral Home. Interment will be at Shelton Cemetery.

Relatives Celebrate Golden, Silver Anniversaries in Ash Family

On Friday evening March 14 over 300 relatives and friends gathered at the Conservation Hall in Livonia to celebrate the Golden Wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Ash and the Silver Wedding anniversary of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Prieskorn of Brighton.

The Ashes spoke their marriage vows 50 years ago on March 18 and three days later moved to the farm on Hagerly Highway where they still reside.

They have four children, Lucille Prieskorn, Mildred Ash, Ethel Eckles and Edward Ash and nine grandchildren. The family circle was completed when 2nd Lt. George W. Prieskorn walked in to surprise his parents and grandparents. George flew home from Oklahoma, where he is stationed with the U.S. Army.

Three of the four attendants at the Ash wedding are still living and were present. They are, Mrs. Bertha Mendel, Mrs. Ida Freiheit and Herman Esch.

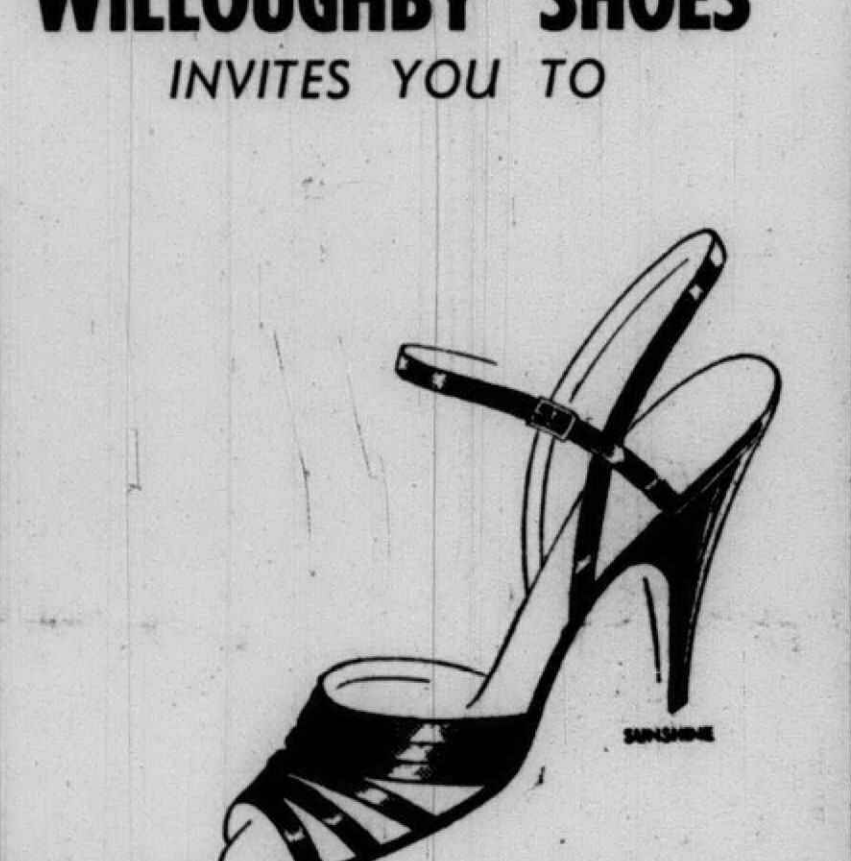

All the attendants at the Preskorn wedding were present. They are, Mildred Ash, Helen, Harold and Robert Prieskorn, Lucile Prieskorn, Wriska and Paula Hoenecke, Lisa. Paula flew here from Pittsburg, Pa. for the occasion.

The Ashes held open house at their farm home on Sunday afternoon.

Long Day of Playing Settles State Badminton Championships Here

By Dave Jolliffe

For the majority of the cigarette-smoking, television-watching adult population, sport consists of cheering.

You're considered an avid fan if you have a favorite team which you enthusiastically support. Sitting in the bleachers watching a young man with a big bat wage throw-by-throw warfare with a pitcher is all right. And it's only human to get emotional when you see a great ball-carrier suddenly break into the clear to score the winning touchdown.

The only trouble is that few of us can be home-run hitters or speedy halfbacks. A high-school diploma often ends the thrill of active sports participation.

Last Saturday the Michigan State Junior Badminton Championships were held in Plymouth's High school gym and there were enough older folks around to prove that anyone can play the game.

Girls and boys butted around a feathery ball called a "bird" and at the end of a long afternoon eight were declared winners. Many more lost—but had a jolly good time doing it.

None of the eight were from Plymouth, although one, Charles Drewry, hails from Livonia. He teamed up with Monroe's John Lenington to win the Boys' Doubles Championship.

Bill Baker, 4377 West 6 Mile road, Northville, and Jim Stevens, 473 Adams, insist that anyone can play badminton. They act as judge, coach, and humanitarian during a badminton season that stretches from October to April.

You don't have to be good—like they buy of teenagers were last Saturday. In fact you don't have to know the first thing about the game to start. If you wanted to play and went to the Plymouth High school gymnasium between 7:30 and 10:30 on a Tuesday evening you could easily get into a game.

The 20 spectators who stuck around long enough to see the finals were rewarded twofold. They saw some fine badminton and some even finer sportsmanship.

There was young Tom Connors battling to win, with his younger brother sitting behind him charged with the responsibility of deciding whether the bird landed inside or outside the foul line—a decision that could mean the Championship. The youngest Connors seemed disappointed. Not because his brother Tom won but because he could call only two decisions against his own blood.

Then there was teenage Joyce Schoepach who battled her way through to the Girls' Doubles Championship game and had fun even though she lost the first two matches in a best out of three elimination.

There was pint-sized Tom Lock of Plymouth who could go to his left and deftly whack the bird anywhere he wanted. Only trouble was, Tom had to say "nice shot" too often to a much older twosome called Lenington and Lamb from Monroe, who eventually won the Mixed Doubles' Championship.

The competition wore on from early morning to late at night. The better the player, the further he went, the tougher the competition and the heavier the racket. But the only time a player stumbled from exhaustion was off the court. In competition they shrugged off aching bones and tired muscles.

Lenington, one of the oldest and probably the best player on the floor, twirled his racket and mentally kicked himself after every mistake.

But when the dust settled and the matches were finished you couldn't tell the winners from the losers.

For the record the new Michigan State Junior Champions are:

Senior Boys Singles — Lenington
Junior Boys Singles — Tom Connors, Detroit
Senior Girls Singles — Sue Lamb, Monroe
Junior Girls Singles — Nelda Miller, Flint
Boys Doubles — Lenington and Drewry
Girls Doubles — Lamb and Joan Kilburn, Flint
Mixed Doubles — Lamb and Lenington

The game looks easy when you see teenagers playing. So easy and so much fun that it makes you want to find out for yourself just how good these kids are.

Plymouth Youth Wins State Wrestling Meet

A Plymouth boy, Dave Conrad, whose parents reside at 251 Auburn journeys to Ann Arbor every day to attend the St. Thomas High School and while attending there, Dave has combined an education and a sporting career.

At the end of the 1957 football season he was the leading scorer in his league with 16 touchdowns for a total of 96 points. He scored these points running from the left halfback position and won a place on the All State second all-star team and the All City first all-star team.

His most recent accomplishment was the winning of State wrestling championship in the 165 pound division. He won from representatives of 16 other schools in the State finals at University of Michigan.

Dave is a junior.

SPORTSEEN

By Bill Dilworth

A robin is not the only harbinger of Spring. Spring has been busting out all over the gymnasium at the high school these past few days with the baseball and track squads working out in preparation for their seasons that open after the break for Easter vacation.

Greeting Mike Hoben in one section of the gym were 75 hopefuls aspiring for positions on the varsity baseball squad. Returning from the team that won the championship last year are pitcher Ken Knipschild who posted an enviable 7-0 record last year. Infielders Wayne Jordahl and Paul Woodard, utility man Jim Dzurus and outfielder Larry Wells. Some promising newcomers were also on hand. Sophomores Ken Wells, an outfielder; Wayne Sparkman, an infielder; Randy Egloff, pitcher-outfielder-first baseman; and Jim Herter, a third baseman. Junior Myron Hopped, a pitcher, and senior Dick Anderson are among those vying for positions on the team.

This 75-man squad will be cut to about 30 and then to the number that will be carried throughout the season—14 or 15. Most of the opposition is expected to come from Allen Park, which has suffered the least from graduation.

Another defending championship team—the golfers—have not had an opportunity to work out in the gym as yet because the space is already taken up. If returning men mean anything, then the appearance of three auggers well for the 958 season. Staten Lorenz, Kurt Atchison and John Taylor are the returnees. The Plymouth home tournaments will be played at the Brac Burn Country Club this year.

To ease the congestion in the gym, track coach Keith Baughman took his 70 man squad outdoors for the first time last Monday. He has six returning lettermen including Captain Jeff Yeoman, a hurdler and dash man; Ed LaRoche, dash man; Otto Bufe, hurdler; Tony Monte, miler; Alan Davies, half miler; Melvin Stevenson, pole vaulter; and Ken Thomas, a quartermiler.

Others, who were on the track team last year and are practicing with the team this year are: Don Alsbro, shot put; Mike Kelley, half miler; Andy Becoskey, quartermiler; Bill Brown, pole vaulter; Jim Carney, quartermiler, Stan Good, hurdler; Gary Hondorp, dashes; Ziggy Przybylowski, dashes; Bill Ruehr, miler; Al Spigarelli, high jump and broad jump; Ron Turkett, dashes, Jim Urquhart, shot put; Byron Williams, dashes; Bruce Woods, dashes; Jim Wojack, quartermiler; and Don Williams, quartermiler.

Herb Woolweaver, director of the Recreation for Plymouth, turned out to be another forerunner of the robin in announcing the arrival of spring as he discussed his plans for the coming baseball season. There will be three leagues in the fastball section. Class "A" League will play under lights. Class "B" will also be played under lights and the Class "C" will be the twilight league.

Plymouth will also have teams in baseball leagues under five different divisions. Boys over 18 will play in the Inter-county league. Boys 18 and under will be in one division. Boys 15 and under will be in one division and Boys 13 and under will be in another division. Plans have not yet been finalized but tentative arrangements indicate that Plymouth will have two teams in each division and combine with Northville and Livonia to form a league.

FROM THE SCRATCHPAD — At a meeting of coaches and athletic directors it was decided to hold the Suburban Six league track meet at night and Allen Park or Eastern Michigan College were suggested as the likely sites for such a meet. Basketball is still receiving some attention at the high school as the Girls Athletic Association have an eight team league that will not finish its schedule until Easter. Jack Carter reminds us of the gym classes for men Wednesday nights in the high school gymnasium. These classes will include light calisthenics, volleyball etc.

Mrs. George Todd Bowls Record 277

The "rafters were really shaking" at the Arbor-Lill Bowling alley Monday night when a new house record for women was set by Mrs. George Todd, 386 Pacific.

Mrs. Todd, who plays on the Penn Theatre team, rolled a game of 277. This according to the alley manager, is the highest ever rolled by a woman there.

It didn't look like a very impressive game coming up when Mrs. Todd felled only seven pins in the first frame. Then the strikes started—one, two, five, 10 and finally 11. The place went wild.

Softball League Managers to Meet

A meeting for softball team managers is being called for Wednesday, April 2 at the High School Recreation office.

Director Herbert Woolweaver said that Class A Managers will meet at 7:30 while Class B and C managers are to meet at 8.

Something new this year is the Class C or "bloopers" ball league composed of men 26 years of age or older. Woolweaver said that he would like to see firemen and policemen, churches, service clubs and other organizations form a team and enter the league.

Any group interested in sponsoring a team should send a representative to the meeting.

Asks Aid in Sending Magazines Overseas

Mrs. Erma McLean, 9449 Oakview, is seeking help in her effort to bring about more friendly relations for America in foreign lands.

Two weeks ago a letter appeared in The Mail from a New York man telling of a simple plan in which anyone can help further friendly relations. He had written to newspapers in a dozen "uncommitted" countries asking that readers write him if they desired American magazines.

He received thousands of replies. He then requested that the public ask for some of these post cards and keep mailing magazines to the overseas friend.

Mrs. McLean has secured the address of an Indonesian to whom she intends to send magazines. This one Indonesian will in turn distribute any magazines he receives. Mrs. McLean asks that anyone wishing to join in her project can call her at 1485-W in the evenings.

Tokyo was shaken by an earthquake in 1923 that killed 150,000 persons and damaged property to the amount of $4,500,000,000.

Competition Won By Residents' Son

Alvin Larson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Larson of 45245 Joy road, finished first in Moot Court competition held for law students in Tucson, Ariz. Being a first year law student, it was his first entry.

The top 22 students in his class competed and were graded on an individual basis, although they worked in teams. Larson's partner finished second.

The Moot Court competition affords students an opportunity for experience in briefing and arguing cases on appeal, just as a practicing lawyer appears to the Supreme Court. The competition Larson entered was open to all members of the first year class and is an elimination contest extending throughout the three years of the law course. They will team up again next year, but only the top 12 of the 22 are eligible.

In the third year's competition the top four enter and the winners go to regional, district and final contests. There they will represent the college in the National Moot Court competition, sponsored by the Association of the Bar of the City of New York.

Larson attended three years of pre-law school in Phoenix.

Bulletin

Harold J. Belch, 36, of 14100 Ridge Rd., was indicted Wednesday by a Federal grand jury on a charge of misapplying funds.

Belch was one of four indicted in an alleged swindle of $2,142,900 in mortgage funds. He is a former president and director of a now defunct Lincoln Federal Savings and Loan Association.

An assistant district attorney said that more indictments are expected. The case concerns multiple dealings and transactions with hidden and forged mortgages in the Ann Arbor area.

Hungarian Refugee Talks to Reserves

A Hungarian refugee, unidentified as to name, spoke to Plymouth Flight "A" of the Air Force Reserve Tuesday night on the conditions in Communist-controlled Hungary. Now a graduate student at University of Michigan, he escaped with 200,000 of his countrymen into Austria. His family is still in Hungary.

He related the general history of Hungary and discussed the brainwashing and propaganda programs, control of libraries and general distrust that exists today.

The next meeting of the reserves will be April 8.

PRESENTED AWARDS for their years of service to draft boards were John L. Mokersky, center, and John B. Ambrose, right, of Redford. Capt. Eugene L. Brunk made the awards in behalf of State Selective Service Headquarters.

Two Draft Board Workers Recognized For Long Service

Awards for their years of volunteer work on local draft boards were presented last week in Plymouth to John L. Mokersky of Dearborn Township and John B. Ambrose of Redford Township.

Mokersky, who is a Dearborn Township justice of the peace, was presented a 15-year certificate by State Selective Service Headquarters, while Ambrose, an attorney, was given a 10-year certificate.

Making the presentation in behalf of the state headquarters was Capt. Eugene L. Brunk. The ceremony took place in the office of Local Board 102 in Plymouth. Both men are affiliated with the Plymouth board.

Service for such long terms on draft boards are rare, Captain Brunk pointed out, especially since there is no compensation.

Justice Mokersky got into draft work when the first capsules were pulled from the goldfish bowl in Washington to start the pre-World War II draft. That was in 1940. He was a member of the board in Wayne and served as its chairman until the board was dissolved in 1947.

The draft went out of existence for about a year during 1947-48. In 1948, selective service again started to function with all out-county being served by the Plymouth Draft Board. Justice Mokersky was appointed a member of the Plymouth board in 1944. After the board re-opened in 1948, he became chairman and served until 1954. In that year he was named government appeal agent for the board, a position he still holds.

During World War II, out-county boards were found at Plymouth, Wayne and Flat Rock. After the three were consolidated at Plymouth in 1948, the board became the largest in the state of Michigan, having 26,000 registrants.

Finally it was decided that the size of the area was getting unwieldy and in December 1956, the board was again split three ways. The other two are in Wayne and Trenton.

Plymouth Local Board No. 102 now serves the cities of Livonia, Northville and Ply-

Wayne State's Theatre Group Praised in India

Wayne State University's touring theatre group has been drawing high praise during its series of presentations in India.

The 16-member troupe is performing at 10 Indian universities through April and will represent the United States at the Parma International Festival in Italy after ending its India visit.

A review in The Times of India, a Delhi daily, said: "The Wayne State University students made a fine impression on Delhi's audience with their first show. There can be no doubt that they are an excellent company, well trained, gifted and beautifully directed."

A Bombay daily, The Indian Express, said: "We have much to learn from the Wayne State University team in the matter of lighting and the superb manner in which naturalism and stylization have been blended to good effect."

Detroit's Earl Bettinger, 1269 24th, has drawn most of the rave notices for his portrayal of Andrew Mayo in Eugene O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon."

The Indian Express said: "Bouquets must unreservedly go to the admirable performance by Earl Bettinger of the role of Andrew Mayo. His portly stature, a voice rich in volume and an uncanny insight into the significance of the roles he portrayed, mark him as the star performer of the team."

The Times of India said that "Mr. Earl Bettinger must be congratulated on a most convincing rendering of Andrew — loving, sincere, realistic, a good son, a good brother, and a true man. There was not a false note in his acting."

The tour is sponsored by the President's Special International Program for Cultural Presentations, administered by the American National Theatre and Academy.

O. E. S. News

The Plymouth chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star will hold its regular meeting April 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Temple. Remember the spring luncheon, April 29. All officers have tickets.

White Shrine Installation

Pilgrim Shrine 55, Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, Michigan, will hold its semi-public installation of officers on Monday, March 31 at 8 p.m. at the Masonic Temple.

Newcomers Card Party Tonight at High School

The Newcomer's Club will sponsor a card party tonight, March 27, at 8 p.m. in the homemaker's room of the high school. It was previously announced that the party would be held in the high school annex.

Mrs. Leander Rae is program chairman. Bridge, canasta and pinocle will be played. The donation is 50 cents. Refreshments will be served. Members are urged to bring their husbands and neighbors.

If you plan to attend, call Mrs. Bolduc at 1116-J.

Woman's Eye View

by Nancy Rigney

From Miami University in Oxford, Ohio comes word that Sara Wesley was recently initiated into Alpha chapter of Delta Zeta sorority. Sara is a junior in the school of fine arts where she is majoring in art. Her activities include the Suttio Club and suite chairman for Delta Zeta. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Wesley of 505 McKinley.

Thalia Bairas, who is a junior in the school of liberal arts and sciences at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, has been named on the dean's list for high scholarship this semester. Thalia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bairas formerly of Plymouth, is a 1955 graduate of Plymouth High.

Good news for those interested in nutrition and diets — the Diet Therapy Committee of the Michigan Dietetic Association is preparing a series of articles for the Plymouth Mail which will begin sometime in April on the Suburban Living page. Mrs. Martha Pope on Lakeland Court, a member of the committee, tells us that the articles will explain nutrition principles, special diets and fads.

Bandsmen Win State Honors

All 12 students representing the Plymouth High School Band won top honors at the State Solo and Ensemble Festival held last Saturday in East Lansing. These students were those who had previously received a rating of I at the District Festival.

Three events received a rating of I, superior, and three events received a rating of II, excellent. The groups receiving a I rating were:

Clarinet duet - Larry Livingston, Gerald Fischer; alto clarinet duet - Mary Jane Redman, Marilyn Holst; Woodwind duet - Nancy Eaton and Elizabeth Worth. These bandsmen will be awarded a blue medal.

The groups receiving a rating of II, excellent, were: flute solo - Betsy Edgar; flute duet - Dolores Aldrich, Mavis Williams; saxophone quartet - Nancy Eaton, Donald Williams, James Carney and Frank Roberts. These bandsmen will receive a red medal.

The next appearance of the Senior High School Band will be at the annual Parade of Bands on Thursday evening, April 24. On Saturday, April 26, the band will participate in the 25th annual State Band and Orchestra Festival in East Lansing.

Who's New in Plymouth

NEW RESIDENTS in Plymouth are Mr. and Mrs. John Nitz and daughter, Carole, of 9467 Marilyn. Originally from a small town in Wisconsin, the Nitzes like the similar atmosphere in Plymouth. They have lived in Lake Forest, Ill. and most recently, in Flint. Mr. Nitz's job as assistant resident comproller at the Chevrolet Willow Run Truck

Auto Dealers Spearhead Sales Drive to End Economy Slump

Detroit Auto Dealers Assn. members in Wayne, Macomb and Oakland counties will spearhead a general retail drive for the greater Detroit area aimed at restoring prosperity and ending unemployment resulting from the recent sales slump. The campaign will open Saturday, March 29, and run at least through April 10.

"When people buy, everybody works," said D.A.D.A. president Glenn Walker.

"There is over $1,325,000,000 in savings accounts in the area. That money when used to fill people's needs for goods and services will automatically create jobs and restore our whole economy to its normal pace. Everybody will benefit starting with the man who buys, running through all who work and live here, and returning manifold to the buyer who started the chain reaction."

Kick-off for Auto Buy Days will be a dinner Thursday evening, March 27, for dealers, their salesmen, industry officials and civic leaders.

Harvey Campbell will be toastmaster. L. L. Colbert, president of the Chrysler Corporation; George Romney, president of American Motors Corp.; James J. Nance, vice president and general manager of the Mercury-Edsel, Lincoln division of Ford Motor Co.; H. E. Crawford, director, sales section of General Motors Corp.; and Mayor Louis C. Miriani will speak briefly.

At the head table with them will be W. C. Newberg, vice president, automotive group of Chrysler Corp.; Walter Cooper, general sales manager of the Ford Division; Glenn Walker and W. Heartill Wilson, assistant to the vice president in charge of sales for the Plymouth Division of the Chrysler Corp., the evening's principal speaker.

Wilson is an inspirational sales speaker whose reputation as one of the best in the industry has spread across the country in recent years.

Friday, March 28 a parade of 34 cars, two from each make, and three trucks bearing German, Scottish and dixieland bands will leave from the City-County building at 11 a.m. The parade line will be north on Woodward to Grand River, north to Southfield, north to Seven Mile Road, east to Woodward, south to Gratiot, east to Six Mile Road, and disband there.

Saturday morning, March 29, dealers' doors will swing

CHORAL GROUPS of Plymouth High School will present their annual concert on Tuesday, April 1. Shown is director Fred Nelson putting the choir through its rehearsal paces. The 75-voice choir will also appear at the Tre-Ore service at the Riviera Theatre on Good Friday. Last week they appeared at the District Choir and Glee Club Festival at Ypsilanti and received a superior rating.

High School Choir Presents Concert April 1

Seventy-five members of the Plymouth High School Choir are busily preparing for their April 1 choral concert and their appearance in one of the Detroit Tre-Ore

Good Friday services. The choir, under the direction of Fred C. Nelson, also has won honors at the District Choir and Glee Club Festival held April 18. A rating of I (superior) was earned at the festival held at Eastern Michigan College.

For the April 1 concert, secular as well as sacred music will be sung. Numbers will include "Emmitti Spiritum Tuum" and "Save Us Oh Lord," "God's Wonderful Love," "Go, Lovely Rose," "Go to Sleepy," a medley from "The King and I" and the traditional "The Lord Bless You and Keep You." Soloists with the choir will be Bev Harrison, Berv Adams and Glyn Norton, who will sing the bass solo in "One World," a combined chorus number.

Beginning the program will be the Girl's Chorus, a newly-formed group. They will be followed by the Triple Trios singing several numbers. Henry Naasko and Karl Herbold will sing a tenor-alto duet, "The Lord is My Light," and the Girl's Glee Club will present their festival numbers and "Mr. Wonderful" with Carol and Connie Prince.

At the festival, judges praised the choir for balanced voicing, dynamics "confident and convincing performance" and enthusiasm. Also at the festival was the Girl's Glee Club which was rated as II (excellent). The nearly 25 choruses attending were judged especially on tone, intonation, interpretation and diction.

Judges were Hayden Morgan of Eastern Michigan, Lester McCoy of Wayne State, and W. Peterson of University Musical Society.

On Good Friday, the choir will provide music for the Tre-Ore service at the Riviera Theatre. Sponsored by the Detroit Council of Churches, the services are composed of sermons, scriptures and prayers by several Detroit ministers.

Court of Honor Held by Scouts

Explorers and scouts of troop P-1 held a court of honor at Bird school Monday, March 17. Robert Isbister and Clyde Blank presided at the program which opened with troop and post assembly, march in, flag presentation and scout opening.

Bernard Curtis, chairman of the scout committee, gave the official greeting, followed by the presentation of the scout committee. Pictures of the Garden River trip were shown and narrated by those who participated.

Two explorers told of their experiences and problems in building a gyrocopter. Each patrol then presented skits. William Baker told parents of the numerous activities other than the regular meetings which the boys participated in.

Scout committee members presented various awards to the boys. The highlight of the evening was the presentation of the eagle badge to explorer Ray Green by Sidney Strong, one of Plymouth's original scout leaders.

AS 50 LIGHTING engineers and architects watched Foster Sampson, a California engineer, measured light throughout two Gallimore School classrooms last Friday. Gallimore was selected for a field trip by the Illuminating Engineers Society which was holding a three-day seminar in Ann Arbor. Men and women from all of the U. S. attended. Foster is shown "reading" the top of a desk with a professional light reading mechanism.

Local Writers' Club Seeking More Members

An invitation to join a writers club has been extended to Plymouth people whether they have been successful or not in marketing their efforts.

Formed a year ago by ex-members of the Adult Education creative writing class, the club has met monthly at the home of Mrs. Robert Lidgard, 670 Ross.

"We have two members who have had poems and stories published," Mrs. Lidgard declared. "The rest of us have rejection slips."

But from the experience gained and the fun, she believes the club's purpose is worth the time. They have hired a New York agent to whom one creative piece a month is submitted. Some also send directly to publishers.

Both Harold Hartly of Northville and Bill Moore of Plymouth have had selections printed in the "Artisan Magazine" printed in Ann Arbor and sent to publishers across the country.

At the meetings held the second Wednesday of each month, members present their own suggestions and writings and often guests with writing experience are invited.

Those interested in joining can come to the next meeting on April 9 or can obtain more information from Mrs. Lidgard by phoning 3793.

The club has no name or officers. Members are from Novi, Northville and Plymouth.

The art of cutting a diamond into facets to increase its play of light was discovered in 1456.

The grand duchy of Luxembourg, which is bounded by Germany, Belgium and France, occupies an area of 999 square miles.

Blackboards for the schools have been called obsolete and those with a green background are claimed to be easier on the eyes and for general vision.

Engineers, Architects Find Lighting Excellent in Gallimore Test Rooms

Over 50 of the nation's top lighting engineers and architects spent an afternoon at Gallimore Elementary School last Friday and pronounced two rooms that had been lighted for test purposes as almost perfect.

The engineers were part of 500 attending an institute of the Illuminating Engineers Society at the University of Michigan for three days last week. By bus and car the group of 50 arrived at Gallimore after lunch.

When the school was built a year and a half ago, the board of education studied the installation of "low transmission glass" for eliminating outside glare. They decided to give the glass a try-out in a north and a south room. All rooms also have outside defused lighting through the ceiling.

With a mechanism for measuring light, Foster Sampson, a California lighting engineer, went over the rooms while the crowd watched. They found that the brightness on the green chalkboards was a little low, but the light at desk level was excellent. Visual comfort throughout the room was good the group decided.

As Sampson measured the light, Dr. Pauling of the Institute of Architecture office in Washington, D.C. recorded the information. There was a group discussion later in the auditorium.

Among the noted architects attending was William Caudell of Texas. Byron Becker, architect of the school, was one of the hosts along with Superintendent Russell Isbister.

"The dictionary is the only place 'hat Success' comes before 'Wink'."

Church Gives Supper For Rev. W. A. Palmer

The Spring Street Baptist Church held a supper for Rev. W. A. Palmer on Saturday, March 22, after his return for the School of Missions, which he attended for two weeks in Tennessee. One hundred and ten members were present for the supper and program, in which Ralph Byars gave Rev. Palmer's life history.

Young People Attend Day Recollection

Making the most of the Lenten season, high school students from Our Lady of Good Counsel parish attended a day of recollection this past Sunday. About 120 young men and women began this "day" by being present in a group at the 11 o'clock Mass and receiving Holy Communion.

With the completion of Mass, breakfast was held in the church basement, and then began the serious business of investing the afternoon in contemplating their spiritual life. Father William Kienzle from St. Norbert's parish, Inkster, conducted the afternoon conferences, advising the students to make the best effort to maintain silence, so the better to keep their minds on the matter at hand. As Father Kienzle developed his talks around the Lord's quotation, "You are the salt of the earth," he emphasized the great potential of the youth today to set the standards for goodness and morality, to become real leaders in the spiritual life, especially through reception of the Sacrament of Holy Eucharist.

The afternoon also included three conferences, rosary, spiritual reading, confession — culminating with a holy hour and benediction in church.

Rebekah Lodge Party

Rebekah Lodge members are urged to come and bring their friends to the dessert luncheon and card party Thursday, March 27 at 12 noon in the Oddfellows hall. Be sure to reserve April 12 to attend the roast beef dinner — bring the whole family. The next meeting of the Rebekah Lodge 182 will be Friday March 28. The next visitation will be March 27 at the Brightmoor Lodge, 494 at 8 p.m.

The Noble Grand, Evelyn Stanible, is improving nicely and has returned home from St. Joseph's hospital. Sister Katherine Pickell has been moved from Sechsions hospital to University hospital in Ann Arbor.

THIS IS the group of nearly 120 young men and women who attended the Day of Recollection at Our Lady of Good Counsel church last Sunday. The "day" included Mass, a breakfast and afternoon conferences. The program was part of the Lenten observance.

Economist Predicts Profit - Share Demand Will Fail in Negotiations

A prediction that there will be no industry-wide strike in the auto industry this year and that the profit-sharing demand will fail, was made at the Plymouth Rotary Club last Friday by Dr. Mark L. Kahn, an associate professor at Wayne State University. Dr. Kahn, who is an economist as well as labor authority, also said that economists had no better method of predicting when the recession will end than anyone else. He said that there are so many factors that effect the economy that economists can't make accurate forecasts.

In his comments about the profit-sharing demand which will be one of the main topics when contracts are discussed, Dr. Kahn first pointed out that the bargaining power of the UAW is low at this time due to economic conditions. "An auto maker might not feel too bad if he were to shut down a few months now," the speaker said, because of large inventories. Last year, there were 189,000 vehicles made during one week; a recent week's report was 108,000. "And it doesn't take as many workers to make that 108,000 as it did a year ago," Dr. Kahn declared.

The speaker, who also has written widely on labor and has been an arbitrator, said that the UAW very wisely dropped its demand for a four-day week because they realized that in bad times it is difficult to get something expensive. Although the shorter work week would be a drop of 20 percent in labor time, it would cost the manufacturer 25 percent more. He expressed belief that most workers are interested in obtaining more pay rather than more leisure. "Most of the gripes are over the lack of overtime," he noted. The profit-sharing program asks for a fourth of all net profit over capital, and also some rebate to the consumer if profits are high enough. "Organized" labor has traditionally been opposed to profit-sharing," Dr. Kahn observed. It is found mainly in small corporations and family-owned companies, some times originated by the company to discourage union organizing. As a result, labor organizations have opposed it. "But now they have completely reversed themselves." The large corporations, however, claim they will never submit to profit-sharing, the speaker told his audience. He noted many complicating factors if the plan was adopted. There would be the question of how to define profit. Would the union get into the business and how much a corporation should set aside for improvements, expansion, research and price policies? "I personally believe that profit-sharing will get lost in the bargaining shuffle," Dr. Kahn predicted.

AMERICA'S FAVORITE FAMILY WAGON...PLYMOUTH

Plymouth carries more... does more... provides more family fun than any other wagon in the low-price 3 because it's BIGGEST IN THE LOW-PRICE 3. You can't buy bigger at any price!

Maybe you're a station wagon family right now. More Americans are each day! But do you know all the really astonishing facts about the Plymouth wagon... how much more it gives you than other wagons, at a low budget price?

Size alone is only part of it! The Plymouth wagon is big as wagons in the high-price field that cost $5500 and more... but, in addition to extra size, this glamorous beauty offers a wagonload of other features that are exclusively Plymouth in the low-price 3!

You simply can't get 'em anywhere else in the field. And once you try them... learn how little the years-ahead Plymouth wagon costs... you'll never settle for less! Why should you? Your Plymouth dealer has the money-saving story, and he's waiting for your visit.

5 big reasons why your wagon should be a Plymouth:

- BIGGEST OF THE LOW-PRICE THREE: Big as wagons costing thousands of dollars more. You can't buy bigger at any price! 122" wheelbase.
- HOLDS SO MUCH MORE THAN THE "OTHER TWO": Over 7 cu. ft. more passenger and cargo space. Extra "secret luggage" compartment in 6-passenger models.
- REAR-FACING 3rd SEAT: Folds flush into the floor; you don't have to store it outside when it's not in use. Easy to enter.
- DISAPPEARING REAR WINDOW: Rolls down into tailgate. Doesn't get in the way. Only Plymouth has it in the low-price field.
- TORSION-AIRE RIDE—AT NO EXTRA COST: Only on Plymouth in the low-price 3. Big-car luxury. No sideway on turns or nose-dive on stops.

They don't come any bigger... Plymouth station wagons

Front Row Center

by George Spelvin

Applause for an actor when he or she leaves the stage after doing a scene that was pretty high near perfect is always a thrill. Last week this applause rang out on Thursday and Friday nights for Lorraine Konke after a fine scene in the opening moments of Act II. She had been describing her hectic happenings to Judge Gaffney (played by Bob Wall) and Myrtle Mae (played expertly by Janet Willoughby) and how fortunate she was to get safely home. The audience recognized Lorraine's fine histrionic ability in giving us a wild, unrestrained portrait of sister Veta Louise. The applause was well-deserved. Of course, all the actors worked as a team to make "Harvey" one of the finest . . . Plymouth High School shows in many a year.

Bill Black as a slow-witted attendant at a private mental institution gave an equally memorable performance. Old George could go down the line of high school students and pass out "A" grades for the entire cast. Director Robert Southgate should feel proud of this production. For those of you who missed the show let me remind you that next fall is not too far off . . . so plan now to get your tickets.

Over at the Plymouth Junior High School some dramatic activity was evident last week. Four girls from the Children's Theater Workshop class sponsored by the Adult Education Department of the Plymouth School district gave vent to their emotions in a play during an assembly program. The play was entitled "Get A Date," original show created by members of workshop. Toni Shettleroe and Linda Sue Wall were competing for a date. Sam Goodrow, as played by "Frankie" Franklin, was the object of their attentions. Sam, with one too many gals, suggests a blind date for Jan. Connie Shettleroe wandered in as the blind date. And what a date she turns out to be! A full house (where else could they go?) of junior high students laughed long and loud at the antics of these four gals. Let's hope they continue with their drama work and who knows maybe in a year or two they will be in a feature high school production. I hope that Mr. Southgate had a spy at the Junior High for this performance. Or better yet, why not ask this ambitious group to drop over to the high school drama class for a guest performance.

I promised last week to mention a bit more about the University of Detroit's production of "The Potting Shed." Graham Greene, the author, has created a deeply moving and a profoundly meaningful spiritual drama. Now don't get the idea that this was a stuffy, slow-moving play with loads of symbolism and other cryptic trappings. No sir, this show moved with the speed of an express train. The audience had little chance to nod or get forty winks over long philosophical speeches. Why? Well, there were none.

Broadway kept this play going for almost six months. Walter Kerr, New York drama critic, said ". . . the play is compelling, suspenseful . . . and alive with excitement. . . In short, 'The Potting Shed' is a play that is different and should you get the chance to see it some time in the future, be sure to go. I'd like to see a community theater group tackle a serious show of this caliber.

Aside from the show at the University of Detroit the other interesting item was the theater itself. It is on the third floor of the Library on the Detroit campus. The theater will hold only 175. Seats are on risers so that every seat is a choice one. Also, the University people have wisely used canvas deck chairs instead of the hard, folding variety that will try even a saint's patience. The stage is small. In fact, the entire theater — seats and all — is really just one big room that they have partitioned off. But what organization and planning went into the way that one room was utilized. I'd advise some of our local thespians to visit the University of Detroit theater to see what can be done with so little. It is an interesting lesson in economy of space.

Next play will be "The Importance of Being Earnest." I believe it will be given during the latter part of April. I'll be sure to warn everyone since you may want to journey out Six Mile road as far as Livernois to see their unusual set-up.

Automatic post offices employing mechanical "brains" will soon provide any address requested in a community in less than a second. That is how postmen will find remote lanes in zones where mail is not regularly delivered.

ORDINANCE NO. 240

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND AND ADD TO ORDINANCE NO. 182, KNOWN AS THE "ZONING ORDINANCE."

THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

Section 1. Section 11.05 of the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Plymouth is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 11.05. FIRE AND SAFETY HAZARDS. The storage and handling of flammable liquids, liquefied petroleum gases and explosives, shall comply with the State Rules and Regulations, as established by Public Act No. 207, P.A. of 1941, as amended; or by the Fire Prevention Ordinance of the City of Plymouth, whichever is the most stringent. Bulk storage of flammable liquids, liquid petroleum, gases and explosives may be stored above ground, when tanks are located not less than one hundred (100) feet from all property lines; provided, however, the Board of Appeals may vary this requirement under conditions as specified in Section 13.08.

All tanks shall be adequately and properly diked to provide a storage capacity not less than the volume of the tank or tanks surrounded. Dike construction shall meet the approval of the State Fire Marshal.

Bulk storage of flammable liquids, below ground, shall be permitted and the tanks shall be located not closer to the property line than the greatest dimension (diameter, length or height) of the tank.

Section 2. There is hereby added to said Ordinance a new section to be known as Section 13.08 to read as follows:

Section 13.08. ADDITIONAL POWERS OF THE BOARD OF APPEALS. The Board of Appeals, subject to the procedure, provisions and limitations of Section 13.07, may permit a variation in the location of bulk storage tanks above ground, but not less than sixty (60) feet from any property line under the following conditions and safeguards:

(a) When tanks are located adjacent to railroad rights-of-way more than sixty-six (66) feet in width, tanks may be permitted within ten (10) feet of the railroad right-of-way line.

(b) When all buildings adjacent to the property lines on abutting property are of fireproof construction or a light non-combustible construction.

(c) Where abutting property is vacant or is used for a use of a combustible nature, such as a lumber yard, tanks shall not be less than one hundred (100) feet from such abutting property line.

(d) When Group A Tanks are used and equipped either with (1) an approved permanently attached extinguishing system or (2) an approved floating roof.

Section 3. This Ordinance shall become operative and effective on the 8th day of April, A.D., 1958.

Made, passed and adopted by the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, Michigan, this 17th day of March, A.D., 1958.

Harold E. Guenther, Mayor
 Kenneth E. Way, Clerk

Trains Ended Brief History Of Stagecoach

Stagecoaches jouncing smartly a long Michigan's corduroy or plank roads were a familiar sight a little over a century ago, according to information in The University of Michigan Historical Collections.

The late Roger L. Morrison, formerly a member of the U-M faculty, wrote in a transportation article: "Stagecoaches appeared upon the roads as soon as they became passable for that form of travel."

"In 1830, there was a semi-weekly stage from Detroit to Tecumseh. In 1832 the line was extended to Niles, and in 1833 stage service was established between Niles and Chicago."

The stages were drawn by four horses and were of the "Rockaway" type, the carriage bodies being suspended on leather straps. The driver sat on a high seat in front and the luggage was strapped on behind and on top. The coaches carried mail as well as passengers.

There were many taverns along the stage routes and they did a thriving business. "In fact, so great was the demand upon some of these taverns that travelers were often obliged to sleep on the floor," Morrison wrote.

The old tavern at Clinton has been moved to Ford's Greenfield Village and the Walker Tavern at Cambridge Junction on the Chicago Road (in the Irish Hills) is now a museum and antique shop.

But the Iron Horse finally crowded the stagecoach off the roads. The beginning of the end of the stagecoach was marked in 1836 by the operation of the first railroad train from Toledo to Adrian, on the Erie and Kalamazoo Railroad.

Two years later, trains were also operating between Detroit and Ypsilanti and between Detroit and Royal Oak. Several other railroads were also under construction and 24 had been chartered.

By 1846 the railroad had reached Kalamazoo, and in 1849 it was extended to Lake Michigan, connecting with steamboats for Chicago. And so the stagecoach was eliminated as a necessary link in through-travel from Detroit to Chicago 18 years after it had been first established between these two points.

"Harvey" Is Tops
 "Harvey is gone now; but many memories will long remain of this humorous hit and the exceptionally good performances by Lorraine Konke, Bill Black and Janet Willoughby. Mr. Robert Southgate, director, the entire cast, and the production staff did an excellent job with presenting the all-school play on Thursday and Friday, March 20 and 21. Congratulations to all of you for a job done very well."

Attends UN Assembly
 Representing Argentina at the United Nations Assembly (MUNA, that is) on Friday and Saturday, March 21 and 22, were: M. J. West, Eddie Dibble, Jane Hardimon, Lou Tidwell, Diane Bever and Martha Shoemaker. The advisor for the group, Miss Gertrude Fiegel, describes the event by saying, "It is an adventure." Many months of research and study have gone into preparation for the event.

Band Takes Honors
 Six local band members received a blue medal for a "superior" performance at the State Solo and Ensemble Festival which was held on Saturday, March 22, at Michigan State University.

Blue Medal winners are: Larry Livingston and Gerald Fisher who played a Clarinet Duet; Mary J. Readman and Marilyn Holst did an Alto Clarinet Duet; Nancy Eaton and Betty Worth played a Woodwind Duet.

Receiving top honors of Red Medals and a "Good" rating were: Flute Solo by Betsy Edgar; Flute Duet by Delores Aldrich and Mavis Williams; and a Saxophone quartet consisting of Nancy Eaton, Don Williams, Jim Carney, and Frank Roberts.

More Honors
 After taking District Forensic honors for PHS, Martha West and Glyn Norton will continue to Regional competition in the categories of Declaration and Interpretive Reading, respectively.

After the choir finished their number at the festival at Eastern Michigan College on March 18, one of the judges, Professor Hayden Morgan, said to the choir, "You people enjoyed that didn't you?" The 75-voiced choir answered, "Yes." "Well so did we," he smiled. The audience broke into rounds of applause and the choir journeyed home with a "Superior" rating.

The Glee Club which consists of 53 girls is improving a great deal. It received the rating of "Good" along with the judges comment that the group exhibited "Good enthusiasm."

Spring Concert
 On April 1, the Spring Concert will be held in the high school gym for which Berya Adams will sing "God's Wondrous Love"; Karla Herbold and Henry Naasko will sing, "The Lord Is My Light"; and Glyn Norton will sing the solo part in the choir production of "One World." It is only fitting to mention at this time, the excellent work that is being done by the vocal music department, which is under the direction of Mr. Fred C. Nelson.

Kenyon Group Meets
 Mrs. Robert Waldecker of Warren road, with Mrs. Fredrick Steiner as co-hostess, entertained members of the Kenyon Home Demonstration Group on March 19. The group is sponsored by the M.S.U. cooperative extension service. Dessert luncheon was served. The lesson, "Flower Gardens" was given by Mrs. Charles Thompson and Mrs. Maxwell Allen.

First white men to settle in Arkansas were French traders, who, in 1680, established a trading post which is now marked by a state park.

Ever Consider Changing Your Lot Look with Fence?

HALF-INCH copper or galvanized drain pipe is put in hole drilled previously with a star drill.

How to Drain your Planting Boxes

Adequate drainage of planting boxes is mandatory. Without drainage, plants will not survive. Providing such a system is not a difficult problem, but masonry boxes require a little more work if drainage was not figured in during construction. If a home's planting box is made of brick, stone, or cement block, a home owner installing a drainage system should be careful not to leave ugly holes in the box's outer surface. It is better to drill a hole in the grout rather than the brick, stone or cement block. This hole is made with a star drill at least a half-inch in diameter at a point even with the box bottom. It is not necessary to strike the star drill hard; regular strokes and a twist of the drill after each tap will do the job efficiently without effort.

Once the hole (or holes if more than one is needed) is finished, either copper tubing or galvanized pipe the diameter of the hole is inserted. To make sure that dirty water does not stain the outer sides of the planting box, the pipe end should extend about an inch from the side. If the pipe fits snugly, there is no worry about its slipping out. If it's loose, a few coats of tar cement will keep the pipe in place.

The drainage system should be checked for efficiency after the pipe is installed in the box. This is done by running water from a garden hose into the box. The running water also will wash out any debris left in the bottom of the planting box.

Next, place a layer of large stones or broken pieces of clay pots over the bottom of the box. This enhances the drainage of the system. A sheet of burlap over the stones or clay pieces will help keep plant soil from washing away.

The final step is to place a good mixture of porous soil in the planting box to grow healthy and beautiful plants. Maintenance of the planting box draining system is nil. Should it get clogged, a smooth stick forced into the pipe or pipes will dislodge any particle blocking drainage.

outer surface. It is better to drill a hole in the grout rather than the brick, stone or cement block. This hole is made with a star drill at least a half-inch in diameter at a point even with the box bottom. It is not necessary to strike the star drill hard; regular strokes and a twist of the drill after each tap will do the job efficiently without effort.

Once the hole (or holes if more than one is needed) is finished, either copper tubing or galvanized pipe the diameter of the hole is inserted. To make sure that dirty water does not stain the outer sides of the planting box, the pipe end should extend about an inch from the side. If the pipe fits snugly, there is no worry about its slipping out. If it's loose, a few coats of tar cement will keep the pipe in place.

Newer Types Come Pre-Fab

Beautification, property line identification, privacy and protection were the roles of wood fencing about the homes of our country's early settlers. Except for protection, wood fencing serves the same purpose for today's home owners.

The availability of many varied designs of fencing materials have kept this home improvement product in fashion. This is particularly true in suburban areas where huge developments of small homes have been, and are still, going on.

Because of the architectural similarity of small homes in large developments, owners of these homes have created original distinction of their property by installing wood fencing of attractive design.

There are at least a half a dozen different types of fences available, any of which can add a distinctive touch to a home. What's most important about these fences is that they come pre-fabricated, and a home owner who can dig a hole can install these fences.

The popular rustic picket fence is a miniature copy of the high stockade fences used in Colonial times for protection against hostile Indians. This style is used primarily today for privacy and is installed about a home's backyard barbecue or terrace area. Many firms market prefabricated rustic picket fencing which requires simple installation.

Only work involved is the sinking of fence posts every ten feet, attaching riders, and applying the framework, that comes in as much as 10-foot sections, to the riders with galvanized nails. Maintenance of the rustic picket fence is small since most home owners leave it in its natural finish.

Newer, modern type fences are the basketweave and louvered designs. These also can be purchased pre-fabricated, and the home owner need only sink the posts and attach panel fencing. Lag bolts, which are used for joining, simplify installation and removal of the fencing.

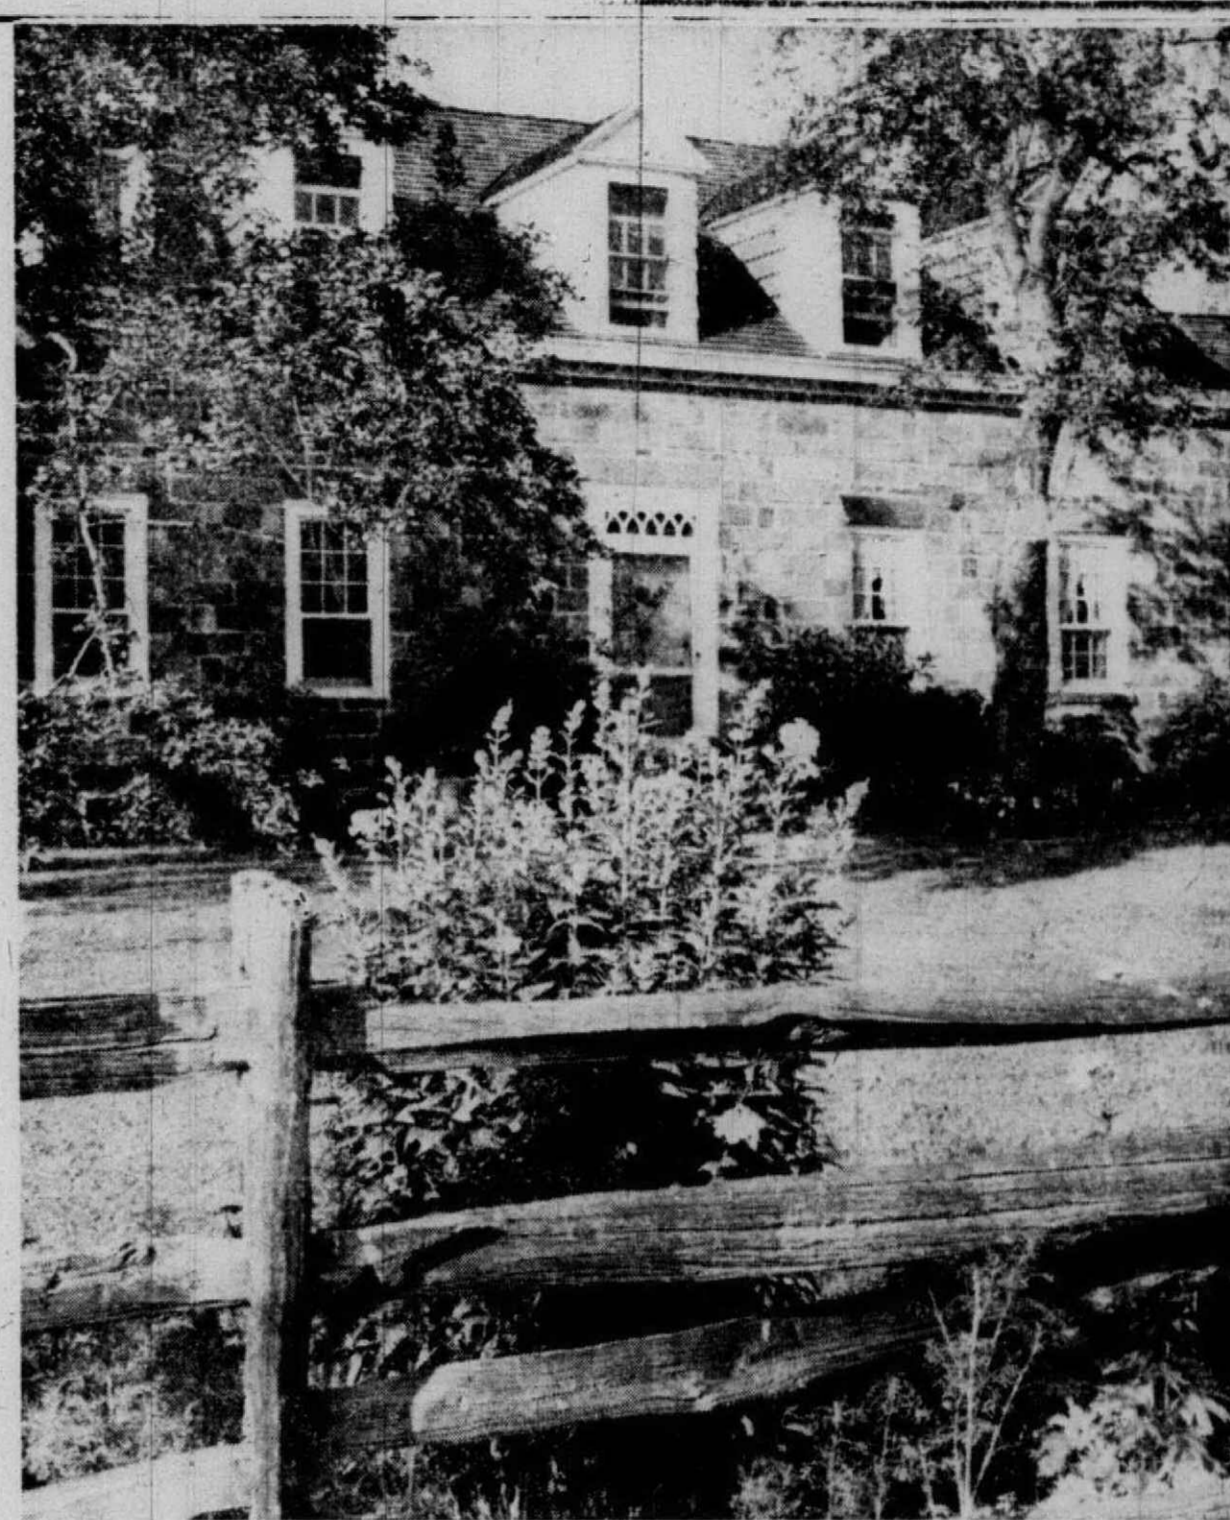

Louvered or basketweave fences are made of redwood, cedar and other attractive woods. Many home owners, because of this rich, natural wood color, oil instead of paint the fencing, thus minimizing maintenance.

Other fencing designs that are always popular are ranch and parkway rail, and the Colonial and Cape Cod picket fences. Ranch and parkway rail fences most always are left in their natural state, and oiled or sealed with a wood preservative from time to time to maintain the wood's beauty.

Colonial and Cape Cod pickets are most attractive when painted white. While this painting must be renewed every two years, the results are worth the effect. A home owner should remember, when installing this type of fence, to use galvanized or aluminum nails to eliminate any rust drippings which will show through a clean paint job.

Depending on the style of the house, any of the many type fences can enhance the property. But, before any materials are purchased, homeowners must investigate certain legal points. If property lines are not exactly defined, a surveyor should be called in to establish corners and boundaries and to set property line stakes.

How to Improve Your Pictures

There are many little tricks to be learned for the taking of good pictures. Some of those that I used were passed on to me by an oldtimer in photography and some are little aids I have picked up myself while working as a professional photographer.

All of those that I will mention have helped me, at one time or another during the last twenty years. Perhaps some of them will benefit both amateur and professional photographers.

While you clean the lens of your camera, use either a lens cloth or a linen handkerchief. Neither one will scratch the lens, but cotton cloth may.

After leaving a cold room or any cold location, allow your lens to warm up before using it again. Otherwise it may fog up and spoil the picture.

Check the shutter for its lining action before you begin to use the camera each day. This is especially necessary before using a camera on a cold day. The oil may harden and slow the shutter action a good deal.

If the wind is blowing hard on a day when you are taking photographs outdoors, wait until it lets up for even a fleeting second. The wind always does abate sooner or later, and then the trees will be still and the picture will have a sharper focused appearance.

Try to form the habit of exposing film in the camera by means of a cable release. It will eliminate so often the jar likely to some shutters when they have to be released by finger pressure on the lever.

If you buy a cable release, be sure the dealer supplies you with the correct one for the camera.

BASKETWEAVE FENCE comes in pre-fabricated sections and is bolted to posts in the ground.

PLYWOOD PROTECTION

Surfaces of waterproof plywood must be protected even though the stock to prevent damage; not after it is made for outdoor use. This damage has occurred.

When the U.S. Navy began 182 years ago, it had eight preservative before exposing ships carrying 10 guns.

Patience, Simple Materials Can Give Old Chair New Look

Suburban Living

Re-Upholster That Relic; It's Not Such a Tough Job

Fixing up an old chair can be a pleasurable pastime, but it takes patience. If it's a chair that has been stored away for some time there's a better than even chance that it has a mildew or musty smell. Many a fine chair, which may appear ragged and weak, can be reinforced and re-upholstered to add a great deal of charm to a room.

What must be done is to bring it outdoors and strip off all old upholstery and padding right down to the frame for a thorough airing. It's a messy job, but clean-up afterwards can be simplified by placing the chair on an old blanket or sheet. The frame should be inspected carefully for weak joints. It may be necessary to re-glue and even dowel joints for re-inforcement.

The next step is re-binding or webbing the frame. Material to use for this chore is heavy burlap in strips or actual webbing material; both of these can be purchased inexpensively at an upholstery store.

Make sure that all webbing—over seat springs, across the back and sides—is taut. By keeping the webbing taut, the chair frame remains solid and more comfortable when completed.

Next horsehair or Spanish moss stuffing is used for the seat, sides and back. This material is covered with cotton wadding that is available in blanket form. The wadding is used to build up the chair seat and back. Good judgment is necessary for applying the wadding since the areas of the chair that will receive the most abuse should be well padded.

The next step is to cover the cotton wadding with muslin. The muslin covers only the seat, and the inside surfaces of the back and sides. Make sure the muslin is stretched taut before tacking in place. By leaving the outside of the back and sides uncovered, it's easier to apply upholstery material.

Cutting upholstery fabric to fit a chair is done similar to cutting dress material. At least 2 inches should be allowed for margin around all edges. Corners and chair contours are handled by notching the material for a smooth fit. If the chair is fitted with a skirt, it's advisable to tack the skirt in place before covering the seat, back and sides.

Actually, fitting fabric upholstery to a chair is similar to making slip covers. Piping can be purchased or made with fabric wrapped around a cord. The zipper foot attachment on a sewing machine simplifies the chore.

All material, such as curved upholstery needles, upholstery tacks, thread, muslin and other equipment can be purchased at an upholstery or department store.

Tips for Cooking Greens
Yellow, Red Vegetables

Cook green vegetables in as little salted water as you can and cook them quickly. According to Detroit Consumer Marketing Information Agents, if you cook them with the lid off, at least for the first five minutes, discoloring acids will escape with the steam. Don't add acids or baking soda. The first turns green vegetables a disagreeable brown and the latter results in a loss of vitamins and flavor as well as a change in texture.

Yellow vegetables call for enough water to prevent scorching; in fact, Detroit Consumer Marketing Information Agents say you may cover them with water, if you like. The color will stay brighter if you leave the lid on the pan. Be sure not to overcook them because the natural sugar in the vegetable may caramelize or scorch.

You can cook red vegetables in a moderate amount of salted water with the lid on. Detroit Consumer Marketing Information Agents recommend that you cook only until they are done. Peel beets and carrots unless you are baking or pan-frying. Add a little acid (vinegar, lemon juice or tart apple slices) to red cabbage to retain the rich red color.

Up-to-the-minute youngsters will love "yeastniks." They are light fluffy dumplings raised with yeast that add a new dimension to any hearty stew — beef, lamb or chicken.

"YEASTNIKS" HAVE YOUNGSTER APPEAL

YEASTNIKS FOR SATELLITE STEW

1/2 cup warm, not hot water (lukewarm for compressed yeast)

1 package of cake yeast, active dry or compressed

2 tablespoons sugar

2 tablespoons chopped parsley

1 tablespoon shortening

1 tablespoon minced onion

3/4 teaspoon salt

1 egg, beaten

1 1/2 cups flour

Measure water into a bowl (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast; lukewarm water for compressed yeast.) Sprinkle or crumble in yeast. Stir until dissolved. Stir in sugar, parsley, shortening, onion, salt and egg. Add flour and beat until blended, about 1 minute. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 30 minutes. Stir down. Drop by tablespoonsful onto about 2 quarts of gently boiling stew, allowing batter to rest on meat and vegetables. Cover tightly and steam, without pecking, for 20 minutes. Serve immediately. Makes 12 small dumplings.

Demise of Prints Seen by Designer

DALLAS (UP) — Fashion designer Sidney Wragge predicts that prints, the rage of this year, will be passe in 1959.

"Prints are big right now, but I think they'll be on their way out in another year," the designer said on a visit here. But his prediction didn't stop Wragge from splashing large, colorful prints on silk outfits in his resort-spring collection. He featured the prints in separates.

The designer, who lives in New York and Florida, prided himself on enlivening women's sportswear with "new-fangled ideas." "My firsts include roll-up sleeves, the jumper dress, wool sheaths, short-sleeved side-slit coats and coordinated separates," he said.

His newest concoctions feature the chemise and the shirt look. He broke the straight, awkward lines of the conventional shirt with bright scarves at the neck and belts at the back.

The keynote of the collection is the low-belted chemise look, he said. The Chanel influence shows in his overblouses and loosely fitting sheaths.

One ensemble which emphasizes his belief in simplicity of line in men's wear is a Bombay linen skirt topped by a Calcutta silk houseboy jacket. Another outfit, intended for at-home wear, combined a shirt with satin-lined tapered pants of Asian silk.

Wragge pioneered in the sportswear industry to present high-fashion styles at reasonable prices.

"By 1938, American women looked upon these clothes as representative of their way of life, in step with increased interest in sports, careers and travel. Now women tend to buy slightly more expensive clothes that can be worn for at least a year," he said.

The tall, muscular, sun-tanned Wragge looks more like an athlete than a fashion designer. He gets ideas for many of his award-winning designs while sailing his sloop on the Atlantic ocean or playing golf.

"I keep my creative touch alive by getting away from business," he said. "Sometimes I enter a pro-amateur golf tournament — as an amateur, of course. I feel the occasional disengagement from the fashion hubbub lets me return with fresh new designs."

SQUARE

OMAHA, Neb. (UP) — Omaha city officials are considering a square manhole cover. Public Works Director George Fisher said the lid is supported only on corner lugs and no rocking occurs when a car passes over it. He said it also can be easily raised or lowered to the level of resurfaced streets.

DOUBLE PLAY

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (UP) — Mrs. Paul A. Lewis, (Bluff), had a daughter in Good Samaritan Hospital the same day her other daughter, Mrs. Arthur Hubert, had a son in the same hospital. The same doctor delivered both babies, and mothers were placed in the same room.

March Blooming Camellia Will Grow Here

Camellias reach their last great peak of bloom each year in March, when the Reticulata varieties flower. Some of these varieties start to open in February, all of them open in March and many continue through April.

This late-flowering group of camellias is most popular on the West Coast, but there is no reason why they won't grow successfully outdoors in the Southeast and it has been proven they make excellent indoor flowering plants. Less than a hundred varieties of C. reticulata are known in comparison to the more than 2,000 varieties of C. japonica which have their height of bloom in January and February.

The Reticulatas are worth waiting until March to see, for the flowers are large, none of them less than 4 inches in diameter and many of them 6 or 8 inches. It is the arrangement of the petals and the coloring that make Reticulata camellias so magnificent. The flowers always are double but semi-double varieties open to show golden stamens. Instead of flat rows like the C. japonica, the petals of the Reticulatas are irregularly and loosely arranged. In addition, the petals may be waved or have a crepe-like texture, be notched or heart-shaped. Colors are rich and flowing.

Until ten years ago only one variety of C. reticulata had been grown in England and America. That is Capt. Rawes, a semi-double crimson, which was taken back to the captain's native England from China on his sailing vessel in 1820. Then in 1948 some young airman saw other varieties of Reticulatas flowering in China and through interested plantmen in California, arrangements were made for a shipment of twenty varieties to this country. A later shipment from China included Buddah, which after being tested in all the camellia-growing areas of this country, has been given the CAMELLIA (Capt. Rawes) like all varieties of the handsome Reticulata group, flowers in March and April. It can be grown indoors where winters are severe.

All-American Camellia Award for 1953.

Buddah has large petals of phlox pink veined with rose tint, as the flower opens, petals become larger and arch inward. The fully open, satiny flowers are 6 1/2 inches in diameter and about 3 inches deep. Buddah, like other Reticulata varieties, blooms freely at the tips of the branches.

Buddah, like all other camellias, thrives outdoors in frost-free regions. Elsewhere it needs some protection during coldest winter. Some other varieties of Reticulata have shown tolerance to frost. The Reticulatas, like the japonicas, develop better bushes and produce more flowers each succeeding year in the garden.

Reticulata camellias like humidity both outdoors and indoors. They can be grown in a greenhouse or an enclosed porch, sunroom or breezeway of a house where temperatures do not go higher than 65 degrees. The location should not be subject to extreme changes in temperature, for this will cause flower buds to drop. Part shade rather than full sun is conducive to bloom. Indoors, as outdoors, Capt. Rawes, Buddah and other Reticulatas bloom late in the season, chiefly in March.

Considerable hybridizing and crossing is being done with Reticulatas to produce new and different types of camellia flowers.

Household Notes

Shiny fabrics reflect light thus revealing the silhouette and make the wearer look larger.

According to U.S. Department of Agriculture reports, wool is still the most popular material for rugs and carpets.

Apples you buy this time of year have come out of cold storage. They'll keep longer if you store them in the refrigerator, although not close to the freezing unit.

Try prunes with beef pot roast. Brown the roast first; place dried prunes — just as they come from the package — around it, and use prune juice for the liquid. It really makes tasty gravy.

When you carry packages, don't always carry them on the same side. Spine and shoulder strain may result if you do. It's best if you carry things directly in front of yourself.

For Low Cost Variety, Try Hothouse Rhubarb

Many economy-minded homemakers overlook the opportunity for low-cost variety in salads or desserts. They fail to try the hothouse rhubarb which is in the markets now.

Detroit Consumers Marketing Information Agents tell us that this rhubarb is an entirely different product than the one grown in the backyards in the summertime. Hothouse rhubarb is grown under artificial light and heat—its stalks are crisp, pink or red in color and mild in flavor. The leaves are small and yellowish-green in which contrast with the flavor from the stalks themselves.

Hothouse rhubarb should be particularly interesting to Detroit area homemakers for its grown right at our own backdoor. Eighty-five percent of the nation's supply of hothouse rhubarb is grown right in Macomb County in specially constructed houses.

When homemakers start to look for a real flavor treat for their family, they should try one of the many recipes for rhubarb. Hothouse rhubarb is in the peak of its season now and it is delicious in many recipes which call for apples-rhubarb sauce cake and rhubarb crisp — as well as in many other salads, sauces and desserts.

Rhubarb sauce holds its shape particularly well when cooked in the oven. For those who like to keep a stock of taste treats on hand for out-of-season times, hothouse rhubarb is also very easy to can or freeze.

Widows and orphans of World War I veterans now are eligible for small pension if they do not have other income sufficient for their support, but the widows and orphans of veterans of the other two wars have no pension eligibility unless the veteran's death can be proven to be a result of war service. Action by Congress to remove this inequality is being urged by The American Legion and Auxiliary.

The vast task of making

Working in veterans hospitals throughout the country and in convalescent workrooms, veterans of World War I, World War II and the Korean conflict have joined forces in producing the little red flowers of memory. The work has given them interesting occupation during their long hours of confinement and has enabled them to earn money for themselves and families.

YOUR HANDWRITING TELLS YOUR STORY

With Grapho Analysis
BY JEAN EVANS

Dear Jean: I have been following your Grapho Analysis column for several months and think it very interesting. What can you find in my handwriting? I have been separated now for almost four years and I wonder why I can't or haven't met some nice man I'd be interested enough in to get my divorce and marry again and settle down for keeps. I am forty-two years old and employed in a laundry.

Dear LEE: First, I wish to remind you that the Grapho Analyst can only point out the facts as you put them on paper. Remember that when you go to the right places you meet the right people. There is indication here that you scatter your energies and thinking. There is confusion in your thinking and until you are able to get your thinking in order your life will be mixed up. You are changeable in your moods and find it difficult to make up your mind and stick to it. You think of several things at once, consequently your mind is in a muddle. You are searching spiritual understanding and likely will not find relief until you find peace of mind. You need to channel your thinking and put your energies in a well defined area. There is evidence of an extreme desire for physical activity which likely means you are a sports enthusiast and probably not in just one sport either.

Dear Jean: I enjoy your column very much and would like to have you analyze my handwriting. Would you please tell me what my talents are (if any) and what kind of work I am best suited for?

Dear VALENTINE: You are an individualist. You enjoy being "just a little bit different" from the rest of the crowd. You try to conform to tradition but there seems to be a little voice within that urges you to be different. You really want to be yourself. You like people and will enjoy being with them and will do what you can to make them happy and comfortable. You are patient and kind. You like change and variety. I would say you would be happy working with people who are not well. You are able to work with the hands so it might be that you would be interested in some form of the nursing profession.

Dear Jean: You claim "your handwriting tells your story." Hum-m-m! Am I young, middle-aged, or old? Have I been

Manning's Side

Not everyone realizes how rowdy politics have become in Wayne County government but take our word for it, they're rough these days, particularly on the Board of Supervisors level.

The main elements are Detroit vs. Out-County and Republicans vs. Democrats, and under those headings there are subtleties. One is Road Commission vs. Drain Commission. Another is Board of Commerce vs. CIO.

All of which is to present the background for an argument a fortnight ago in which Supervisor Richard Manning of Redford Township took a bad rap—at least he wasn't knocked for the position he was holding, but rather for a stand that was pinned to him by critics.

It involved the hours and pay of employees at the Wayne County General Hospital.

A plan was proposed to cut down the working hours from 48 to 40, eliminate overtime pay, and hire extra employees at straight-time rates. It was argued this would save the County money and open more jobs.

Manning opposed it. Later the Board of Commerce and the Detroit Times editorialized that he was a spendthrift with public money.

The fact is that he opposed it to keep the weekly paycheck at a reasonable level for individual employees. He pointed out that even today it "was extremely difficult" to keep a working crew together at the Hospital because of the unpleasantness of the tasks. The 40 hour week, on present scales, he said would leave the workers with a weekly take home pay of $60 and he believed this was too small.

The position he took was that of the AFL-CIO municipal employes union.

This paper does not wish to argue strongly as to whether $60 is a fair take home wage for 40 hours of work at the County Hospital, because we don't know. It doesn't sound unreasonable to us, considering income tax, hospitalization and insurance are paid.

But we do say that Manning, and others who voted with him, were judged not on their desire to maintain a higher level of take home pay, but on a political charge of "being extravagant with taxpayer's money," and the tactic wasn't fair play.

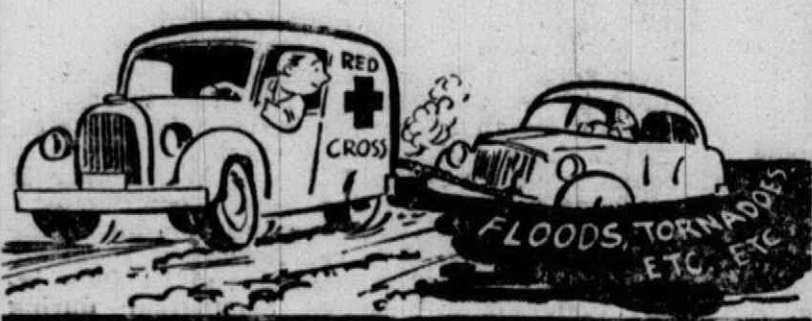

Manning's side of the argument concludes:

"In my position as representative of all of the people and all of the segments of Redford Township, I can neither take the side of the Chamber of Commerce of the City of Detroit, nor the Labor organizations involved, but must attempt to put into my recommendations what the good citizens of the entire community will accept as fair and equitable under the circumstances. It seems inconceivable to me that the Chamber of Commerce, whose membership relies on the buying power of the community as a whole, should be anxious to put people in such an economic condition that they are unable to buy more than the bare necessities of life. The County of Wayne and the communities comprising the County, have always considered that the ownership of an automobile have gone toward making a better citizen.

"Reducing the wages at a time when costs are spiraling seems to fly in the face of the concept that our citizens should have our roots in ownership of property and the products that we manufacture."

Now He Needs Help!

YEARS OF SERVICE

ED KOTERBA Reports from Washington

THREE HOT POTATOES. This is the time of year when Congress peels off its kid gloves and drops its smooth talk to make way for fighting words.

Sparks will fly from these three controversial issues when each reaches the House floor:

- 1. Alaskan statehood . . . 2. Reciprocal trade . . . 3. Foreign aid.

The Alaskan bill was approved in committee last year. However, it will not be brought before Congress until the committee passes favorably on the Hawaiian statehood bill and recommends its passage.

The Hawaiian bill is expected to pass the House. Reciprocal trade is in for a tough fight since the "protectionist" clique is armed to the teeth and ready for battle.

Foreign aid can't avoid a head-on collision of our own backyard recession problems. A number of congressmen are saying, "Let's give financial support to our own people first."

SWAN SONG FOR IKE? Speculation is rife that President Eisenhower may resign before his term expires.

Two factors lead to this speculation: Agreement between Mr. Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon on disability possibility that Republicans may suffer setbacks in fall congressional elections.

Political dopsters feel Nixon would have good grooming period in these two years while Eisenhower would be in for even tougher sledding.

NEW SOVIET THREAT. Little has been said about this, but the United States is concerned over the Soviets' rapidly-growing state-owned civil air fleet.

This threat is considered by the Pentagon brass as dangerous as that posed by Sputnik, the intercontinental ballistic missile—or even the Red Air Force.

In the past six months, Russia sent two of its new commercial jet planes to this country and they quickly captured the attention of our aviation experts. The U. S. does not yet have in service anything to compete with the Red jets.

LIMELIGHT SHIFTS. The House of Representatives—in this strange game of headline-seeking—has taken the investigations spotlight from the Senate for the first time in many years.

The Senate's probe of labor racketeering got off to a weak start this year and is coming off a poor second to the House investigation of the Federal Communications Commission.

The FCC spectacle has been almost on a par with the Senate's historical Kefauver crime committee hearings and the Army-McCarthy television extravaganza.

KHRUSHCHEV COMING? Chances now look better than 50-50 that Nikita Khrushchev will visit the United States this fall.

However, official U. S. reception will be strictly formal and restricted if summit meeting here is agreed to.

WEATHERS STORM. Ezra Taft Benson's opponents have given up hope to force the agriculture secretary to resign. . . The more the Republicans cry for Benson's scalp, it seems, the harder the President defends him. . . Benson has weathered more than a half-dozen serious storms since the first of the year.

A MOON A MONTH. Intelligence reports have it that the Russians are set to shoot up one satellite a month for the next 12 months, beginning with April.

USED TO CHANGES

KNOWLESVILLE, N. Y. — (UP) — Taking on a new assignment for the New York Central Railroad was no novelty for Mrs. Esther Canham when the 75-year-old Knowlesville station was closed recently for lack of business. In 40 years of service with the railroad, Mrs. Canham has held more than 30 different posts. She spent the last 17 years as agent-telegrapher here. Her family has devoted more than a century of service to the New York Central.

In the early history of Brazil, drinking hot coffee brought a severe penalty as it was then considered an intoxicating drink.

If Your Name

Is OTTO

By Ann Reynolds, Ph. D.

"Otto" is the name Mr. Otto McW. D. is interested in, and he informs me that he was given this name because his aunt dreamed about it the night he was born.

"Otto" points to some connection with Europe, as it is more often used in Germany, Austria, Tschechoslovakia and other central European countries than it is here. However, here it has been in the news on and off these last ten or so years when Otto von Hapsburg, son of the last Austrian Emperor, Charles and his wife, Zita, was lecturing in this country.

Origin of "Otto" can be traced to the ancient Germans. They had several names formed with "aud." These later sounded Otrifed, Otmund and Otmar. "Otto" and "Odo" were ancient forms for all these. They survived as names in their own right.

"Aud" is the same as the Old English "ead" and meant, as this word did, "rich." The Romans brought "Otto" and "Odo" to the British Isles, but it caught on merely in a few families, and was revived as "Odo" in the last century.

In Germany there were a few rulers named "Otto," among them one surnamed "The Great," in the 10th century. But the most famous namesake of you, "Otto" was the Prussian statesman, Otto von Bismarck, who was given the title of a "Prince." He welded together the independent German dukedoms and kingdoms into one German empire with Prussia as the leader. That happened in 1871, after the Franco-German war. Before that time, Austria was the most important among the German countries.

Otto von Bismarck had a two-fold aim. He wanted to isolate France from the other European powers, and wanted to keep Austria from gaining too much influence that could diminish Prussia's might.

Because of his strong will power Bismarck was nicknamed "The iron chancellor" and he pursued his goals with every means possible. Bent on instigating war between France and Germany, he went so far as to edit a diplomatic telegram when giving it to the press in a way that it stirred up tempers in France and Germany, and set off the war, in which Prussia was the victor.

Incidentally, there are two cities in this country by the name "Bismark," one in Missouri near the edge of the Ozark Plateau, and one in North Dakota. . . And, there is a favorite German dish called Bismark, the Bismark herring. It is prepared by boiling fresh herring in white wine vinegar, vegetables and spices, then chilling it, and serving it topped with onion rings.

"Life Begins at Forty"

By ROBERT PETERSON

"IT MAKES ME MAD just trying to get a free maid and baby-sitter."

I DON'T THINK ALL oldsters are as mercenary as the woman cited and I suspect there's a need for a program aimed at getting unattached older people—particularly women—together with younger families which need their services. I'm sure many working couples would be delighted to turn over their guest room to a friendly, older woman who would keep her eye on a child or two during the day and handle the light duties most elderly grandmothers enjoy performing. And there must be many widows who would be overjoyed to find a useful, affectionate niche in someone's family.

Of course there would be difficulties in working out the plan harmoniously. The family would have to be genuinely sympathetic to the needs and sensitivities of any older woman they took into their home. They would have to treat her with genuine respect and make her feel she was important. And they would have to harness the temptation to turn her into a chief cook and bottle-washer. The older person, in turn, would have to be agreeable, helpful, and appreciative of the honor of being taken into a private family. Both parties would have to work hard at making the plan work. But it seems to me that the plan is basically sound.

I PREDICT THAT in the next few years we are going to see an array of shiny, new techniques aimed at solving the problems of boredom and inactivity currently facing our growing numbers of older people. And I wouldn't be surprised if one of these techniques bears some resemblance to the subject of this column.

My wife and I have been looking everywhere for a good-natured, elderly woman to come live with us and be a grandmother to our three year old daughter. We're trying to get our house paid off and my wife has a chance to take a secretarial job. But we haven't anyone to watch our little girl. There must be a widow somewhere—alone in the world and living on a small income—who would enjoy keeping an eye on our girl during the day in exchange for her board, a nice room of her own, and a place in our family circle.

My wife and I are orphans and our girl has never had a grandmother. We'd consider it an honor to take in an older woman and give her the affection we'd give a real grandmother. We'd ask nothing of her except that she give our girl good care during the day, look after her own room, fix her own breakfast and lunch, and be on hand occasionally in the evenings if my wife and I wanted to go out. We're some weekends so she could take Saturdays and Sundays off if she wished.

So far we haven't found anyone. I heard that an elderly widow in our church was lonely living alone so I stopped at her one evening and asked if she'd like to live with us and take care of our girl during the day. She asked how much we'd pay. When I told her we'd give her board and room and a place in the family she laughed at my face and said I was just trying to get a free maid and baby-sitter."

Concert Records

NEW YORK (UP) — You can tell just from the quality of the product that Arturo Benstein and Enrique Jorda, conductor of the San Francisco Orchestra, had fun recording Manuel de Falla's "Nights in the Gardens of Spain." Both were in at the birth of the piece, as it were, having been friends of the composer, and have had much to do with it over the years.

The recording benefits from what must have been a labor of love. The excellent orchestra has never sounded more incisive, nor Rubinstein more enthralled with his work. The "Nights" take one record side and the other is given over to Rubinstein playing familiar Spanish pieces for piano solo (RCA Victor-LM218).

Among them is the fifth of Enrique Granados' Spanish Dances which leads you to a recording of the complete set of 12 by the Spanish pianist, Eduardo del Pueyo (Epic-3423). He gives them an idiomatically Spanish flavor in the playing which no one can complain about, of course, yet it has the effect of capitalizing on the obvious in Granados' music while diminishing broader qualities that made him a more worldly composer.

The second of the new Gilbert and Sullivan recordings is of "The Mikado." Like the other, "The Gondoliers," it was recorded at the Glynedebourne Festival under the direction of Sir Malcolm Sargent, and old Savoyard, by principals and chorus with no previous professional experience with G. and S. That is said to accent the statement that it is wonderfully done, comparing well with the older D'Oyly Carte recordings. Indeed, there is a bright willingness to depart from traditional patterns which have become hackneyed over the years (Angel-3573).

Kirsten Friesd remains active in Europe as a singer of the art song, and faithful too, judging from two new records. One is of 12 songs of Brahms, including the "Four Serious Songs" (London-SNL 5317); the other, of eight songs of Hugo Wolf and six of Richard Strauss (London-1580). Needless to say, the voice now is a shadow of its glorious days, but there is much art in it—uses she put it to.

MGM is embarked on the worthy project of committing the organ music of Franz Liszt to five records, as played by Richard Ellsasser.

My wife and I are orphans and our girl has never had a grandmother. We'd consider it an honor to take in an older woman and give her the affection we'd give a real grandmother. Good Books (By United Press) All who labor in the vineyards of industry and are either on expense accounts or would like to be, will want to read "Expense Account," a novel by Joe Morgan (Random House). Here we meet Peter Cody, promotion executive for Cartwright Tool Co., who leads a double life of sorts. At heart he is a family man (he has a jewel of a wife and four small children), but as an executive he is married to his job which keeps him away from home most of the time.

His job is to promote the interests of the company by keeping important customers happy. This is accomplished mainly by filling them up with food and liquor in the best places and, incidentally, dosing himself with too much in the process. This all costs plenty of money, but the swindle sheet takes care of all company expenses and non-company ones too if you know how to write them in.

The only trouble was that Pete got used to living high on the hog for the company. His home life had to be lived on a much lower economic level. Even with a good manager like Linda for a wife, Pete found himself slipping into debt. Life was further complicated when Alix Cartwright, the beautiful majority stockholder of his company, decided to take an active interest in the business. She took an active interest in young, handsome Pete sim. . . . Matters came to a head at Cartwright Tool's annual celebration. Spurred by a bribe and an inebriated call-girl, Pete makes a momentous decision.

This is a fascinating story by a newsman who actually did go to write his novel. Morgan is night news manager for United Press and knows all about expense accounts and their corrodng effects from long observations of the hapless fraternity who shepherd VIPs from bar to bar.

Teens Appreciate Pointers on Good Babysitting Job

Young adolescents like to take care of small children but feel they need guidance from parents and teachers in doing a good job.

These young "betweeners" feel that baby sitting offers a real opportunity to learn how to understand and get along with children. They also appreciate the money they earn.

Seventh and eighth grade girls and boys in three Michigan communities were asked, "Do you have the responsibility of caring for younger brothers and sisters?" and "Do you baby sit?"

The majority answered "yes" but listed their problems.

They said they needed help in selecting suitable stories to read or tell to smaller children, advice on how to get children to play together, ideas for selecting toys and games which would help children learn as they play and how to assume the responsibilities expected of a baby sitter.

Parents and teachers may help these young people understand why small children behave as they do and how to learn to enjoy them.

The librarian might be helpful in selecting stories for telling and reading, and the baby sitters might visit a toy store to look at toys which would be safe, educational and entertaining for younger children. Homemade toys are fun to make, and a toy-making project for seventh and eighth graders might be a good idea. They might like to collect and mend broken toys.

Suggestions from successful mothers would help in getting children to eat and to go to bed, and if the baby sitter is to be in charge at meal time she might be interested in getting ideas for simple foods to prepare.

New Books At The Library

"Wilderness of Spring" by Edgar Pangborn — The author has created a fresh background, which reveals New England in uproar, boiling with intellectual curiosity, itching for achievement and adventure — a pioneer area in the early 18th century.

"Sharks and Little Fish" by Wolfgang Ott — A powerful description of naval warfare during World War II, told from the German side. The book pitilessly exposes what it was like to fight and die without belief in the cause.

"Michelangelo the Florentine" by Sidney Alexander — An impressive novel, revealing Michelangelo Buonarroti as a great genius in all his imperfect humanity.

"The Amulet" by Hal Borland — A novel of love and living centered around a young Missourian in Denver, who at the outbreak of the Civil War, joins a band of Southerners intent on reaching the Confederate forces.

"The House of Seven Gables" by Nathaniel Hawthorne — The tale of a house and its family in New England's days of witchcraft is reprinted in the Illustrated Classics series.

"The Five Great Rules of Selling" by Percy H. Whiting — The book shows how to increase earnings, whether you are a beginner or a veteran salesman. The author is the managing director of the Dale Carnegie sales courses.

"Old American Houses" by Henry Lionel Williams and Ottalie K. Williams — Dealing with the 1700 to 1850 period, the book discusses all phases of old house restoration, remodeling and reproduction.

"Life Insurance" by Joseph B. Maclean — an exposition of the principles and practices of sound life insurance, which is sufficiently complete to give a clear concept of the business as a whole, but not too technical for a layman to understand.

"Better Homes and Garden Book" — A year-round guide to practical home gardening donated by the Plymouth Women's Farm and Garden Association in memory of Mrs. Otto Beyer.

"Practical Nutrition" by Alice B. Peyton — How to know what foods you need and why for various ages, occupations and states of health. Specific diets for overweight, diabetes, etc. and how to cut food costs are included.

7 Daisy Drivers Cited for Safety

Seven drivers for the Daisy Manufacturing Company were cited recently by Employers Mutuals of Wausau, Wisconsin, for demonstrating professional driving skill.

Those honored, together with the number of accident-free years of driving to their credit are: Elmer Wriska, 8 years; Charles Moore, 4 years; John Antolik, Jr., 3 years; Robert Cummings, Robert Spitznas, 2 years; Jack Hille, Bill Davis, 1 year.

Professional drivers are recognized annually on a nation-wide basis by Employers Mutuals for each year of operation without an accident for which they are responsible.

Secretary of State Sets Election Calendar for '58

This year is a big one for politics on the county, state and national levels. Each year there are certain dates established by which certain things must be accomplished.

The Secretary of State has set up the 1958 fall election calendar. The important dates, of course, are the August 5 primary and the November 4 general election.

This is the calendar:

April 7 — Last date to divide precincts.

April 17 — Last date for county clerks to notify directors of elections of any precincts not divided according to law.

May 3 — Last date for new state parties to file for place on state ballot.

May 7 — Effective date of precinct divisions.

June 6 — Last date to issue call for general state conventions.

July 17 — Last date for partisan and non-partisan candidates to file petitions, 4 p.m., E.S.T.

June 20 — Last date for partisan and non-partisan candidates to withdraw.

June 21 — Last date to issue call for county conventions.

July 3 — Last date to file petitions to amend State Constitution.

July 7 — Last date to register for Primary Election.

July 16 — County clerks must deliver absent voter ballots to local clerks by this date.

July 26 — County clerk must deliver reminder of ballots and election supplies by this date.

Aug. 2 — 2 p.m. is deadline for absentee ballot application for Primary.

Aug. 5 — Primary election.

Aug. 6 — 11 a.m. is meeting of county Board of Canvassers.

Aug. 13 — Last date for county clerk to transmit primary results to Board of State Canvassers.

Aug. 13-25 — Political parties to hold county conventions between these two dates.

Aug. 15 — Last date to file expense accounts.

Aug. 20 — Board of State Canvassers must meet by this date.

Aug. 30 — Last date for holding state Party Conventions.

Sept. 23 — County clerks must deliver Absent Voter ballots to local clerks by this date.

Special Army Courses To Open New Quarter

Applications for the regular Army's specialized schooling program for the quarter beginning July 1, 1958 can now be made, according to Master Sgt. Jot Hulber, local Army recruiter.

Young men can qualify if they are a high school graduate, are a high school senior or have a certificate showing an education equivalent of a high school education.

There are 125 courses from which to choose, including guided missile operation, X-ray, finance, welding, machine accounting and radar.

Young women are also being accepted.

Information can be obtained by visiting Sgt. Hulber at the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce office, telephone 717, or the Wayne Chamber.

COMPENSATION

GADSDEN, Ala. (UP) — A thief broke into the office of attorney B. L. Noojin here and escaped with $95, police reported. The next night, Noojin's office was broken into again but the burglar had left $95 behind.

Oct. 6 — Last date for registration.

Oct. 25 — County clerk must deliver remainder of ballots and election supplies by this date.

Nov. 1 — 2 p.m. is deadline for application for absentee ballots.

Nov. 4 — General Election.

Nov. 5 — 11 a.m. is meeting of County Board of Canvassers.

Nov. 19 — Last date for county clerk to transmit election results to Board of State Canvassers.

Nov. 24 — Board of State Canvassers must meet by this date.

Nov. 24 — Last date to file expense accounts.

Council-Manager Type of Government More Popular

A total of 1,556 cities and towns in the United States and Canada have the council-manager plan of government such as the city of Plymouth. Of this number, 104 places decided in 1957 to operate under this plan, according to the International City Managers' Association.

More than one-half, or 776, of these 1,556 communities adopted this plan during the 10-year period from 1948 through 1957, representing an average annual gain of 78 cities.

California leads with 179 places under the council-manager plan, followed by Maine with 131, Texas with 126, Michigan with 115, Pennsylvania with 86, Florida with 83, and Virginia with 68.

The population of all places with council-manager government now totals over 31,000,000.

The first council-manager charter was adopted by popular vote 46 years ago. Now 47 per cent of all the cities in the United States over 25,000 have council-manager government, and 42 per cent of the cities between 10,000 and 25,000 have this form of government. These and other developments are reported in the Association's new directory "Recent Council-Manager Developments and Directory of Council-Manager Cities."

A total of 339 city manager appointments were made in 1957. Of this number, 194 men entered the profession for the first time. It is significant that 67, or approximately one-third of the newcomers, had been assistants to managers. Seventy-nine per cent of all city manager appointments in 1957 were from outside the city. More than one-half of the men entering the profession for the first time were under 40 years of age.

In Europe more than 1,200 cities and counties have appointed managers since the end of the second world war. A total of 1,534 cities, counties, towns, and rural municipalities in five European countries have a form of local government that closely resembles the council-manager plan in the United States and Canada. These countries are Norway, Sweden, Ireland, Finland, and Germany.

HORSES WIN

LIMERICK, R. I. (UP) — The country's oldest operating limestone quarry is located here. It is generally thought the quarry was opened in 1643 by one Thomas Harris.

A FALL

ROCKLAND, Me. (UP) — Roderick Montgomery fainted when a pretty nurse jabbed his finger for a blood sample prior to a minor operation, struck his head against a wall as he fell and had to be treated for a scalp wound.

Newest Techniques Make Big Difference

House painting, a chore once left to the professional, has been taken over by the homeowner. As much as 40 per cent of the nation's homeowners take to the brush and ladder to put a bright, new coat of paint on the home's exterior.

Economy is the prime reason why homeowners prefer to do their own work. The availability of many quick-drying, easier-to-apply exterior paints is another. House painting, however, is work. But, following certain procedures, and utilizing proper equipment efficiently, the work can be lessened.

Before any paint is mixed and applied, at least one week of dry, sunny weather should pass to make sure that all moisture has left exterior surfaces. Paint will never adhere to damp wood. During this "dry-up" period, time can be put to advantage by removing loose or cracking paint.

A putty knife is the best tool to test the bond between old paint and wood. After loose paint has been removed, and the bare areas sanded and primed, wood knots in siding and the streaking of sap and resin should be checked. These areas must be sanded smooth and primed with aluminum paint or shellac.

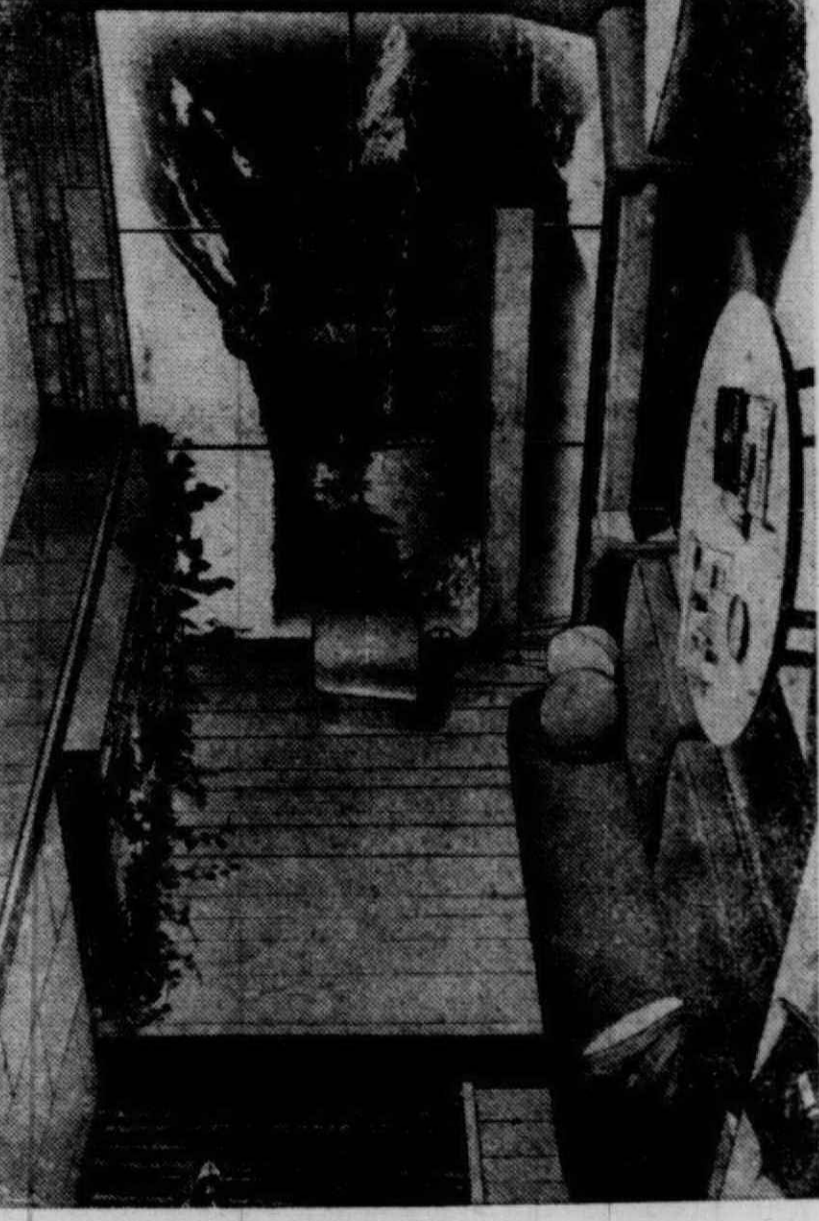

Removing grease scum or mildew from old paint is simplified by washing wood siding with a commercial paint cleaner. Stubborn spots are eliminated with scouring powder. However, stains from copper screens and brassware require a stronger solution. This solution is a mixture of 1/2 to 2 ounces of sodium metasilicate in a gallon of water.

BUXOM BLONDE... British actress Norma Sykes arrives in New York to fill TV engagements, and of course to have a companion with Monroe and Mansfield.

FERTILIZING TIME

Fertilize the lawn now. But before fertilizing it, scratch the whole lawn with a rake, or fork. Clear off all dead grass and draw the rake over the surface and slightly below it. This will aerate the grass roots and enable the fertilizer and water to penetrate more easily into the ground.

THIS WAS A BASEMENT AREA! Now it's a home-bar entertainment center.

A photo mural, lighted by spot and base lights is the center of attention in the back-bar. Gum plywood was used in the fun and pleasure.

Smart decorator touches, gay color in the easy-care bar top and tables, greenery effects—all contribute to the charm of this room, brought into being for family fun and pleasure.

A gallon-of-house paint work-around following the of time between coats of paint — anywhere from 10 days to 2 weeks. If the second coat is applied before the first one has dried, there is a good chance that the paint will run and result in a bubbly surface. Drop cloths should cover shrubbery.

An important fact to remember is to allow plenty of time for the paint to dry between coats.

Having a beautiful lawn is not too difficult, if you follow just five "rules."

First, establish a grade. This may be done in one of four ways: make a gradual slope from the foundation of the house to the road; place a terrace close to the house; put a terrace close to the street; or make a combination curved surface between two levels. Do not put a terrace midway between the house and the road.

The second point to remember is drainage. Most land upon which residences are built is already well drained. However, if water stands on your land, consult a gardening expert for the remedy.

Soil is the next essential. The type of soil is not so important as the way it is worked. This working likely will rain in the next couple of hours, so should extend eight inches into the ground. Mix humus with the soil while digging. Do not cut the lawn until it is at least three inches high. Then use a new, well-sharpened mower set to cut two inches high. Remove weeds with a bamboo rake, but leave the short cuttings. When a lawn is made in September, which is the best month, no cutting should be done during autumn.

To protect your lawn during the winter, add a two or three quarter of an inch dressing of the se: buckwheat hulls, commercial humus or granulated peat moss. Do not add dressings until the grass has reached three inches, however. Add these two or three times a year and your lawn will stay looking green, velvety and well cared for.

GOOD-LOOKING EXTERIORS begin with hard-wearing weather-resisting sidings. Here easily-made shutters add smart touches to the lap siding on this frame house. A carpenter simply attached two vertical cleats by means of screws to the back of the vertically-grooved panels to achieve these dark-painted shutters.

SOIL CONDITIONING

For gardening is easily achieved by using white perlite granules that help grow more luxurious lawns, shrubs, healthier trees and plants. Perlite is a common construction material that provides plant life with needed air, moisture and soil bacteria.

'Power Up' For Modern Gardening

If you have a more than ordinary sized lawn and garden you have no doubt been thinking about power tools. These new type time and muscle savers are fast and changing garden chores into fun.

There is a power tool for every garden need. Just make certain you select the right size and type for your garden and you'll find them a great help.

Safety, good construction, adjustability, proper size and the assurance of sub-sequent service and maintenance facilities are important factors to consider in selecting power tools.

Lawn mowers, both reel and rotary type, the latter with a leaf mulching attachment if desired are among the favorites.

Light weight, electric-powered lawn trimmers make the trimming and clean-up jobs quick and easy and they reach in the hard-to-get-to areas which are so often neglected with hand work.

Electric clippers do hedge, evergreens, and some shrubs more quickly and neatly than they usually get done by hand.

Be sure to check on repair and upkeep on these "big" tools . . . for future service needs.

Landscaping Helps Raise Value of Land

With outdoor living vastly increased in all parts of the country, more emphasis is placed on landscaping, as a great many millions of people at home, and on the highways, look to the beauty, pleasure, and financial advantages that landscaping achieves, according to the American Association of Nurserymen.

Today's landscaping serves such multiple purposes as providing privacy, comfort, and higher real estate values.

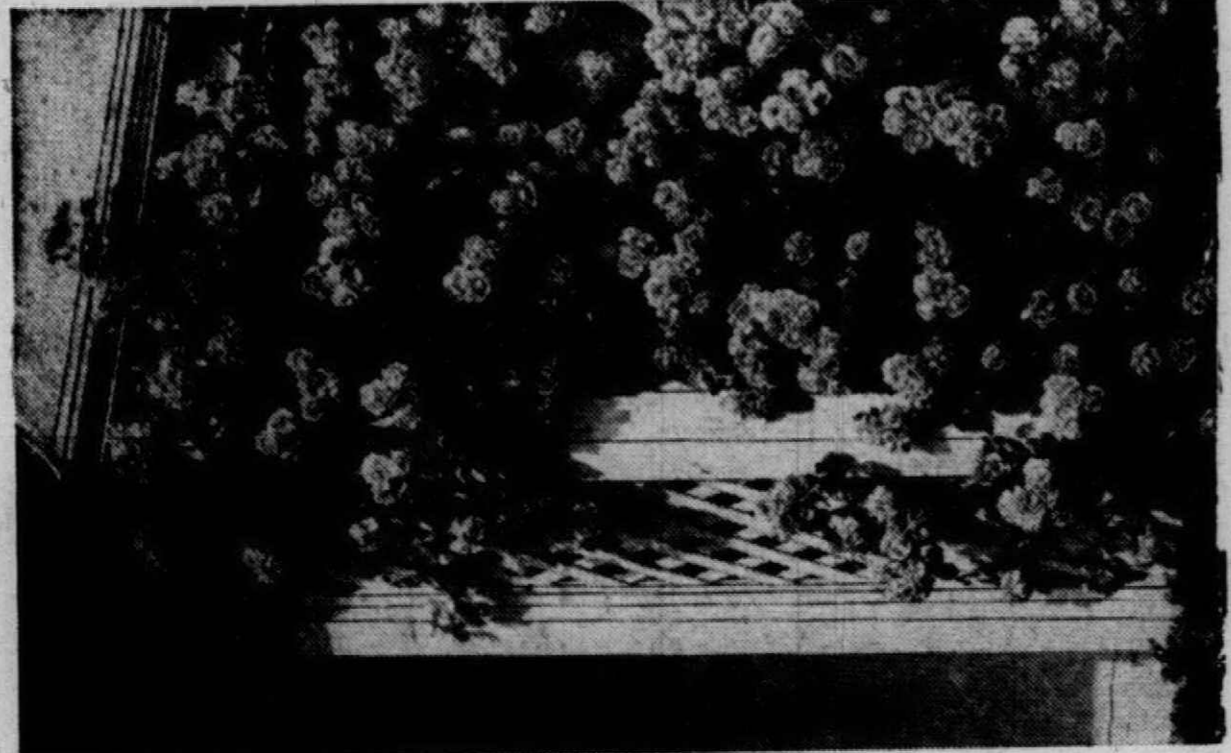

Whole neighborhoods have upgraded the selling price of their homes by group planning the landscaping for a complete street or area.

Landscaping costs around 3 or 4 per cent of the total value of the property, and when completed, often will increase the value of the home as much as 15 to 20 per cent.

It is interesting to note that even with the increased price, landscaped homes sell faster.

Something every homeowner should know, is that tax officials consider it a permanent improvement to the property; the cost to be deducted from the selling price, thus lowering the capital gains tax, when the property is sold.

Landscaping also provides a wonderful atmosphere. The hedge for privacy, shade trees for coolness, grass for a carpet underfoot, flowers for decoration, and delicious shrubs and trees are used for a windbreak, to direct value, as a joy forever!

A BLAZE OF COLOR enhances this corner of a frame house as its lovely climber roses grace the trellis. Many climbing garden beauties are available for the gardener's choice.

Plant Flowering Trees

Flowering trees are beautiful anywhere on the property says the American Association of Nurserymen, but you should plant them where they will achieve a definite purpose.

At a corner of the property where a tree is excellent location, the tree being planted so you can look at it from the front windows of the house, and where neighbors will claim over its loveliness.

Another good location is a corner of the house to help, with other shrubs, to frame the house and tie it to the ground in a natural way.

At a driveway entrance is another likely location. Here both your family and visitors will be pleased in a happy mood as they see it when in flower.

In your outdoor living room and in the back yard flowering trees can serve both for beauty and comfort—as they will give welcome summer shade. Fruit trees can provide flowers, shade and delicious home fruits for the table.

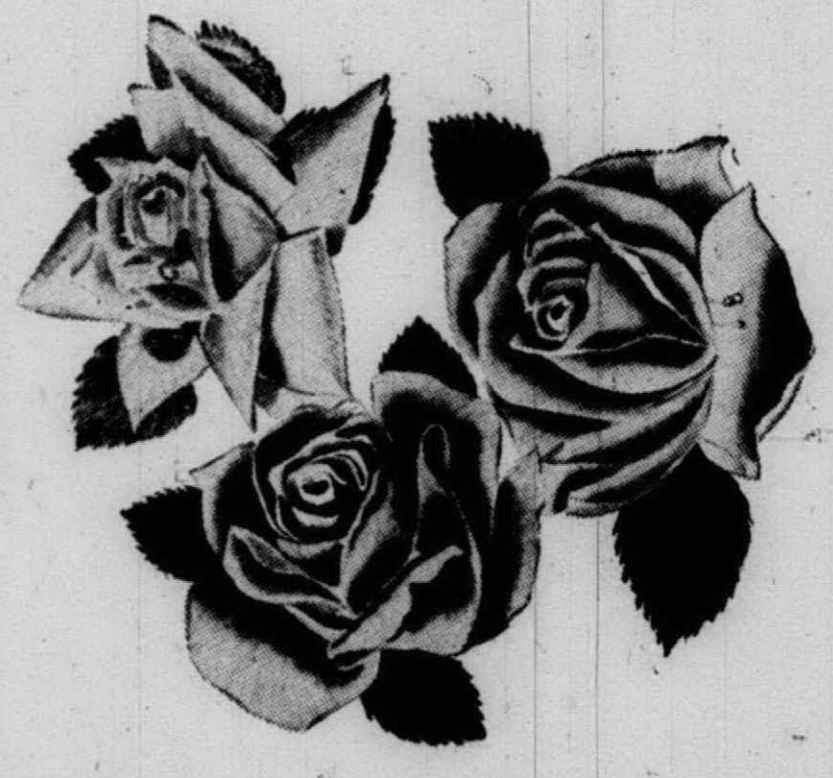

For the best species of flowering trees consult with your nurseryman. There are many from which to choose, including such lovely trees as the flowering crab, golden chain, magnolia, dogwood, cherries, as well as colored berries or fruits in the fall.

Grow Pretty House Plants from 'Lunch'

It's easy and fun to grow lush green indoor plants from the seeds of fruits and vegetables and it need not cost you a cent! Just collect your seed supplies from the seeds you pull from oranges, lemons, and grapefruit should be planted in a 4 or 5 inch pot of soil, about half an inch down. You'll get a fragrant, green citrus bush within a year.

Avocado pits should be put with the pointed end in the soil. The round side should be exposed. Within three months you'll have an attractive 3 foot tree-like plant with long, thin, graceful stem, and big rich-green leaves.

Plant a peach pit about one inch down. Mango pits should be placed on their side with just enough soil to cover them. The all-time favorite is the sweet potato. Cut the tuber used to plant this one.

Prop up the whole potato with toothpicks in an attractive jar. Be sure that the narrower end of the potato is resting in a bed of moist pebbles or water. You'll have a luxuriant vine in two or three months.

Be sure this have good drainage by placing broken pottery or shells in the container before you put in the soil.

ROSEVILLE, Ind. (UP) — A letter received here recently took 15 years to come the 15 miles from nearby Lafayette. Town Marshal Fred Cox said the letter was addressed to his mother, who has been dead for many years. The envelope bore a "Win the War" three-cent stamp in use at that time, but was post-marked Jan. 15, 1938. Cox recognized neither the signature nor the return address.
