IT TOOK 45 MINUTES for Plymouth's giant Fourth of July parade to pass a given point, and this unidentified young lady was comfortable and prepared. For a while, She even had her own special clown for a visit.

Longest Parade Is Thrill

An Independence Day that started out rainy, then turned sunny, hot and humid, and finally rainy again, failed to postpone any of Plymouth's observance but did manage to change plans in a hurry.

It rained an hour before the parade started at 11 a.m., but it then subsided, allowing the evening show to get underway at the athletic field. This brought a hasty retreat to the humid high school gymnasium where Janet Spigarelli, (Miss Finland Insurance) was named Miss Plymouth of 1958.

The biggest parade ever held on any Plymouth's July 4th marched down Main St. in the morning. It took 45 minutes to move past a given point.

After the parade came the horse show and in the afternoon were the kiddies events directed by the Recreation Department.

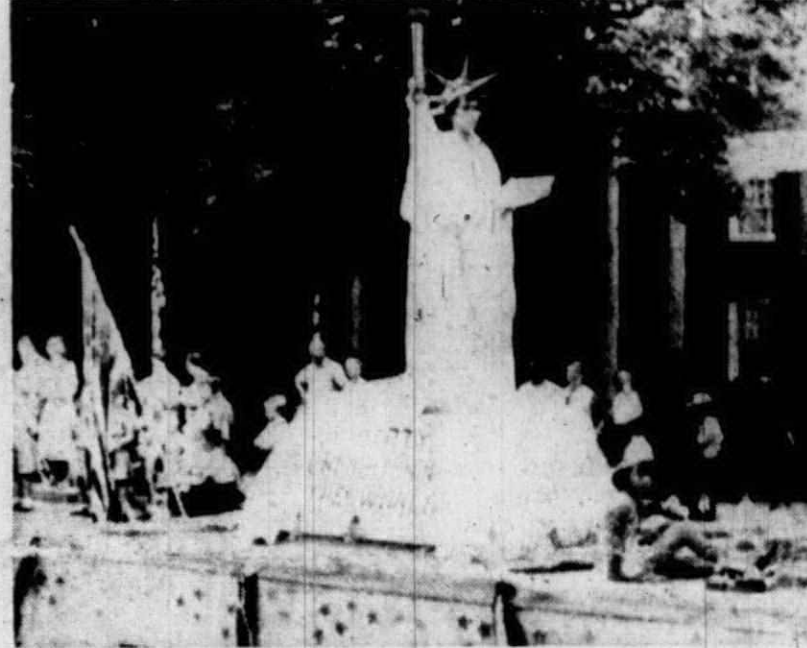

With the sun shining brightly as the evening program approached at 7 o'clock, the program chairman had little fears of rain. But then it clouded up — and finally it started to rain.

Gov. Williams and Lt. Gov. Phil Hart, who were making their annual July 4th whirlwind tour of similar celebrations throughout the state, were asked because of weather to confine themselves to the ground instead of the State Police plane. This brought them to the city a half hour late.

A party of Chamber of Commerce and business representatives at the Mayflower Hotel waited until 6:45 before the governor sat down to eat.

Meanwhile, at the gymnasium, no plans had been made to move inside and workers had to hurriedly set up equipment and chairs. The Governor greeted the crowd, commending the community for planning a celebration that keeps the public safe at home.

SYMBOLIC OF THE OCCASION, and a prize winner among individual floats entered, was "Liberty, Enlightening the World." It was entered by Charles Guideau.

NEWS BEAT

THE PLYMOUTH MAIL received a surprise in the National Better Newspaper Contests this week. In addition to winning third place in the nation for "Best Column Writing" by Editor Paul Chandler, The Mail also has won an Honorable Mention distinction for "Excellence in Typography." The latter puts us among the top six of some 700 of the nation's strongest community newspapers. "Excellence in Typography" is a specialty master-minded by Managing Editor Jim Sponseller and Mechanical Superintendent Walt Jendrycka. The judges said The Mail's Page One was as sharp as any in the country. Another thrill came last night when one of Paul Chandler's news stories for The Redford Observer, our sister paper, was picked First in the nation for "Best News Story of 1958." The annual National Editorial Association awards banquet was held last night in Detroit.

POLICE BEAT: a 1958 motorcycle was taken from the civic center for Plymouth rehome of George Speers, 320 mains but a dream in the Holbrook, and was found 20 distance, our neighbor to the hours later, five miles away east, Livonia, last week at Haggerty and Seven Mile agreed to purchase 40 acres Rd. But it had gone 400 of land at Five Mile and miles. Leather gloves, jack-Farmington Rds. for $265,000 et, tools and camera were for future use as a huge Cismashed, and; the oil burned in Center set of buildings and up.

COUNTY BEAT: Plymouth city officials are hot under the collar over an attempt by Wayne County to collect $600 a year from out-county communities for an enlarged police teletype service. "This is another case such as the library arrangement, where the City must raise money to pay for (Continued on Page 6)

Charming Soprano at 'Colony'

A family picnic on the grassy slopes of the majority of them being in edge and an evening of familiar music is in store for Plymouth Colony concert-goers Sunday, July 13.

The second concert of the season will feature the Plymouth Colony Little Symphony under the baton of Wayne Dunlap and soprano soloist, Carol Nielsen Wilder. Trumpet soloists will be Gary Stollsteimer and Russell Reed, students at the university of Michigan. The first concert, June 29, drew approximately 700 music-lovers, the majority of them being in family groups. Many brought picnic suppers to the grounds from 4:30 p.m. on. The concerts begin at 6 p.m.

In case of rain the program will be held in the high school at the same time. Miss Wilder is no stranger to the concert stage. She has appeared locally as soloist with Ann Arbor Civic Symphony and has also done solo work with the Oklahoma and Memphis Civic Sym- (Continued on Page 6)

Experts Hired to Chart 'Plymouth of the Future'

Funds were released by the City Commission Monday to launch a new city planning which will be the most comprehensive made here in at least a generation and which could determine the future look of Plymouth. A firm of experts will be employed to recommend what it will require to modernize the City of Plymouth. The plans will be in two separate parts:

1. A survey of all housing in the city limits, each neighborhood graded according to quality, with a recommendation as to which portions could qualify for Federal Aid under the "urban renewal" law. (Washington contributes two dollars for every one dollar spent locally on qualified projects. This is how much of Detroit's clearance has been conducted; Wayne, Mich. recently was reserved a million and a half dollars in Washington for such work.)
2. A plan for renovating the downtown business district, dealing with traffic patterns, zoning, parking location, use of Kellogg Park, and similar

The sum set aside by the Commission for this planning work was $7,000, but it will not all be spent at one time. Possibly the projects will cost less than that. The firm of architects hired is Vilican-Leman and Associates of Detroit, which has done virtually all of the urban renewal projects in the metropolitan area.

Both the "urban renewal" study on housing and the downtown business re-planning are regarded as matters of urgency by Plymouth city officials and businessmen. The subjects have been under discussion for months in both the halls of government and the Chamber of Commerce. "Urban renewal" is aimed to rid communities of sub-standard neighborhoods which are painful to the eyes, destructive of community pride, and a burden to the city budget because of their low tax return and higher costs of police and fire protection. Such projects can take many forms. A typical one is for the City to purchase the property, level the blighted buildings, and re-sell the improved land to private investors. One requirement of the Federal government is that adequate good housing be provided by the City for anyone who loses his residence because of urban renewal work. Another U.S. restriction is that the general public of the community be properly educated and that it support the project. Otherwise, federal funds are unavailable. The study of the business section indicates the City Commission is alert to the need of Plymouth doing everything possible to modernize its operation to meet increasing competition (Continued on Page 6)

Her 1st Ticket Wins

THAT HAPPY YOUNG LADY behind the steering wheel is Miss Nancy Mandeville, 18, of 16850 Lilac, Detroit, who won the car during Plymouth's Independence Day celebration. Her parents, in the back seat, are pleased too. Harry Roberts, chairman of the merchant's car committee, hands over the keys, with Eugene Kornfield, Chamber of Commerce secretary, smiling too.

On the first ticket she ever had bought in any contest, 18-year-old Miss Nancy Mandeville, of 16850 Lilac, Detroit, won a new automobile. Her ticket (No. 7570) was drawn by Miss Plymouth during the Fourth of July festivities in Plymouth. It brings her a snappy new Ford hardtop.

Nancy bought just a single ticket, total investment 50 cents, from Robert Willoughby, "I never tried any kind of raffle or contest before," she added. She buys shoes at Willoughbys.

And she didn't even know he was a winner until 48 hours after the drawing. The attractive young lady was up at Houghton Lake vacationing. The judges notified her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Mandeville, Sr., on Saturday, but they decided to wait until Nancy came home Sunday evening to break the news.

The parents (her father is a retired DSR operator) were astounded themselves. They didn't even know Nancy had purchased a ticket.

A secretary for Vickers Corp. Nancy has a car now, a "bad" one. It's a '54 Ford, running roughly, needing new tires, bashed in on the driver's side in a crash a month ago. She will shed herself of it with haste, she promises, and drive her new one to work. "Until now, this has been a bad-year for me," she said. "I've been sick and the medical bills have put me in debt, among other things. "I'm sure this is the start of better things."

Elect Our Supervisor? Paving Projects Up Commissioner's Salary from $120? Passed

City of Plymouth voters will decide in November whether the delegate to the Board of Supervisors should be named by the City Commission. At present, the office is filled by election of the people. Plymouth is the only community in Wayne County which still elects the Supervisor; all others appoint him.

Commissioners now draw $120 a year, at the rate of $5 per meeting, twice a month. There is no compensation for extra or special meetings. They haven't decided yet the exact amount of raise to be requested, but one suggestion is that the pay be lifted from $5 to $20 per meeting from $120 to $480 per year. William C. Hartman introduced the resolution, commenting: "Obviously nobody takes this job to make money at it. But I've thought that those who sit in on these meet-

The Commission decided Monday night to put the matter of the ballot. They also decided to ask the voters for a pay raise. They haven't decided yet the exact amount of raise to be requested, but one suggestion is that the pay be lifted from $5 to $20 per meeting from $120 to $480 per year.

Some of the paving projects which have been in the hopper for several weeks were approved by the Plymouth City Commission Monday night. But, two were "tabled indefinitely," killed, because of lack of citizen support in the areas. They were the plans to pave Hartsoy, from South Main to Coledge and to pave Elm and Wing, from Sheldon to South Harvey.

Reduced in size, and to return in abbreviated versions at a later meeting, were the plans for paving Maple Avenue and Sutherland. Approved, with work to start shortly, were these: "Park Place, from Evergreen to McKinley. Evergreen, from Elm to Ann Arbor Trail. McKinley, from Elm to Ann Arbor Trail. South Main, from Burroughs to Ann Arbor Road. Reduced in size because of opposition along part of the route was the plan for Maple. The new version will call for paving from Sheldon to McKinley, with the stretch of Maple from McKinley to Harvey to be left untouched. And the Sutherland project will be trimmed to go only from Harvey to McKinley, with no work from Main to Harvey.

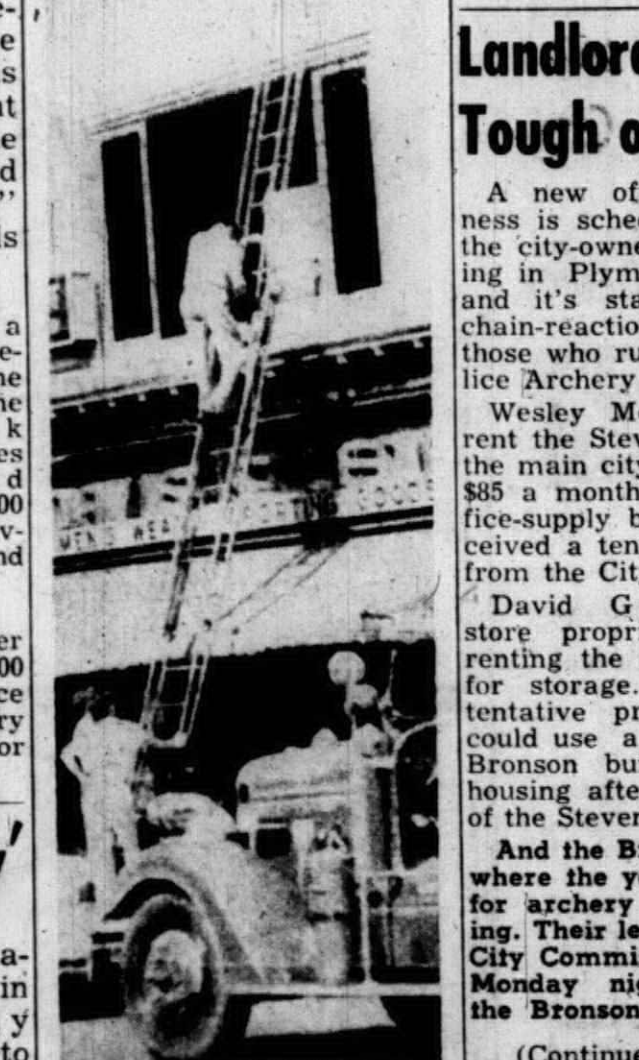

The Commission also held a hearing and tentatively approved a plan for widening of W. Ann Arbor Trail, with curb and gutter, from Harvey to the alley which borders the Hotel Mayflower, west of Main Street.

Hearings also were set for July 21 on paving projects proposed for Hartsoy, S. Main to S. Harvey, and Sheldon Road, W. Ann Arbor Trail to the C&O railroad. City manager Al Glassford estimated the cost of Sheldon Rd. paving at $240,000, of which $80,000 would fall upon the City. He proposed an assessing plan whereby 53 percent of the $30,000 would be in special assessments and 47 percent upon the city at large.

He suggested that the special assessments be spread in a number of payments over 10 years according to this formula: "The recommended method of assessment is on the (Continued on Page 6)

School Board Head Is Austin Stecker

Austin Stecker and James Mitchell were elected President and Vice President respectively of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District for the 1958-60 school year. The election took place during a special school board meeting Monday evening at the Junior High School.

Harold Fisher, president for the last to years, is the new School board Treasurer while Mrs. Esther Huisling will serve as Secretary.

Other board members include Charles Zoet, Wesley Kaiser, and Robert Soth. The most pressing topic of conversation at the meeting dealt with gas service to the new Helen Farrand School. The Board decided to install gas pipes at a cost of $2,400 (original price for gas pipe installation was $875).

The Greenspan Company cautioned that if gas pipes are installed, they may interfere when the company lays storm sewer pipes in the same location later. The Company agreed to have sewer and water facilities installed by Sept. 15. Reports indicate that construction is proceeding on schedule.

The Board was faced with a difficult decision. Greenspan wanted a "blank check" guarantee to cover any extra costs encountered by laying storm sewer pipes after the gas pipes are installed. However, the Consumers Power Company offered an alternate proposal that will cost the board an extra $1,624. They will lay 700 feet of pipe which will provide gas to the school by Sept. 15. After the storm sewer is laid, the Consumers Power Company will tear up this pipe and replace it near the storm sewer.

The school board now holds title to a 30 foot strip of land where the gas pipe will go temporarily. But the land automatically reverts to Greenspan when the school board agrees to the original construction contract. The trucks pulled up in front

Name Maurer

Robert D. Maurer of 216 South Holbrook is a new member of the Plymouth City Planning Commission. He was nominated by Mayor Harold Guenther and confirmed by the City Commission Monday night.

Letters to The Editor

Editor: Yesterday morning, July 4th, my family and neighbors witnessed what, I think, was the greatest Independence Day parade anyone could ever hope to see. It was a parade that occurred before the parade up town, in fact it was 10:50 A.M. We were about ready to leave home for town when one of my sons said, "hey Dad, here comes a fire engine, no there's TWO, THREE." By then all seven of us were in the yard and other neighbors were outside too. No, there but SIX and our rescue truck. Fire trucks, not only from Plymouth, but Northville and the Wayne County Training School. Were they giving us a preview showing? No, they were giving us a first hand lesson in INDEPENDENCE DAY. (The trucks pulled up in front of 377 Pacific and Chief Robert McAllister walked up to the house accompanied by a couple of his men. It was only a moment and they returned with another fireman walking between them. Yes, he was being assisted by crutches and the helping hands of his buddies but I knew as I stood across the street with my family and watched the expression on Jack Price's face that this was really his INDEPENDENCE DAY. Very Truly Yours, Landon E. Taylor 402 Pacific (Jack Price, as you will remember, received a broken hip while fighting the Daisy fire in April. He has been recovering in St. Joseph Hospital, Ann Arbor for the past 10 weeks and returned home Wednesday, July 2nd.)

Mr. and Mrs. Terry W. West

Baskets of white gladioli and carnations, altar vases of white carnations, palms and candelabra decorated the First Methodist Church Saturday, June 28 for the ceremony uniting Linda Joy Lent and Terry William West. The Rev. Melbourne I. Johnson performed the 8 o'clock service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lent of 594 Harrisough and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley C. West of 703 Ridge, Ypsilanti.

Choyce Strayer of Morenci sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Till Walk Beside You," accompanied by Mrs. Grant Beglarian at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white nylon-organza gown embroidered with sprays of flowers. The embroidery was duplicated in her veil, which was secured by a crown of pearls. The bodice featured a scalloped decolletage accented by pearl beading and short sheared sleeves with matching gauntlets. The skirt extended into a chapel train.

Karen Lent attended her sister as maid of honor, gowned in a white nylon dotted Swiss over light green taffeta dress. A green taffeta cummerbund and matching hat, and white accessories completed her costume. She carried white and green tinted daisies.

Geraldine Kelly, Burnette Lazor and Peggy Metz served as bridesmaids and Julie Lent, sister of the bride, was the junior bridesmaid. Their dresses, matching the maid of honor's in styling, were of blue, yellow, dusty rose and light pink, respectively.

The bridegroom asked Jerry Kelly to be his best man. Seating the guests were Andy Smith, Andy Haines, Roy Mathis and Jeff Hubble.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lent chose an ice blue sheath of embroidered silk organza over taffeta, matching hat and shoes and a white orchid. Mrs. West wore an aqua dress with white accessories and a pink rose corsage.

Following the ceremony, guests assembled at the Western Wayne County Conservation hall for the reception.

For a trip to Blaney Park, the new Mrs. West donned a blue linen sheath and white accessories.

Purchase of a four-door Edsel for $1,975.15 for use as a Police Car and a two-door Ford for $1,310 as a DPW Superintendent's car was authorized by the City Commission.

They delayed on the purchase of a DPW dump truck, pending the return of City Manager Al Glassford from vacation. The low bid for the truck was $4,570.00 for a Chevrolet, submitted by Ernest J. Allison, Inc. Paul J. Weidman, Inc., bid $4,870 for a Ford and West Bros. Edsel bid $4,998 for an International.

Joe Bida of the DPW expressed his preference for the higher-priced International because, he said, it would "take heavier wear." Glassford had recommended the low bid, but the decision was tabled temporarily.

Weidman's bid for the police car was 23 cents higher than West Bros. successful Edsel bid. A third police car bid, by Allison for a Chevrolet, was $2,381.92.

Allison's bid for the DPW and as the only other bid besides Weidman's successful $1,310.

Janet Spigarelli Crowned 'Miss Plymouth'

How does it feel when the judges announce that you have been chosen over 34 contestants to reign as Miss Plymouth during the next year? To Janet Spigarelli, who was crowned at the 4th of July program, it was "unbelievable."

Janet, sponsored by C. L. Finlan and Sons Insurance Co., said she was "scared to death" as most beauty candidates are, and had the idea that she "didn't have a chance."

She sat with the other contestants, relaxed, because she thought that the runner-ups named first were the winners. When she heard, "Miss Plymouth of 1958, Janet Spigarelli," she was too weak to stand. She waited for what seemed to be an hour before she accepted her royal honors, but it was only a matter of seconds.

Then everything happened all at once. She was crowned by Diane Fuelling, last year's queen; a bouquet of roses was placed on her arm, the trophy in the other, Mrs. Doris Root, blue flowered print, which was the joint effort of her mother and herself. The proud parents of the new Miss Plymouth are Mr. and Mrs. James Spigarelli of 1300 Beck Rd. A 15-year-old brother John and a nine-year-old sister, Nancy, complete the family. Janet has lived in Plymouth all of her 18 years, being born in the Plymouth Hospital.

MAINE POULTRY
AUGUSTA, Me. (UPI) — Maine led the nation in 1957 in tonnage of dressed poultry, excluding turkeys, graded under a federal-state inspection program. Eighteen graders working in six processing plants inspected 115,951,019 pounds, according to the State Agriculture Department. Statistics showed Maine shipped one-seventh of the country's federal-state inspected product. Second to Maine was Arkansas with some 106 million pounds.

The first stop sign to control traffic was installed in Detroit in 1914.

Thinking Out Loud

The Mail has again resumed the "man-in-the-street" interviews. One question, sometimes controversial, sometimes personal, is asked each week by The Mail of four pedestrians along Plymouth's downtown streets. This week's guests are "thinking out loud" on the question:

"Do you think the improved position of the Detroit Tigers in the American League standings is due to the change of managers, or that they would have done as well without the change?"

JOHN DEMOTT 1482 Sheridan — I think they would have done as well without the change of managers, because the Tigers are an above average team that was having a temporary slump, rather than a poor team that has suddenly gotten hot.

WILLIAM OTWELL, 1464 W. Ann Arbor Trail — A change in managers is only part of the reason. Bill Norman's positive approach showed the team they could win, and the acquisition of Ozzie Virgil at third base tightened up the infield and also helped revitalize the team.

DeMott Otwell Sawyer Loomis

TOM SAWYER, 1435 Penniman — I think they would have done just as well without the change. I think with the potential of the Tigers they were bound to improve.

GEORGE LOOMIS, 1053 W. Ann Arbor Trail. It seems to me it's the change of management, because since Bill Norman took over their standing in the American League has gone up.

By ANN REYNOLDS, PH.D. slender beautiful girl with a rich black hair, and a stunning creamy complexion. Her eyes were slanted like those of Japanese girls, and she had the most divinely beautiful teeth. She came to Paris from a farm in Normandy, and her life was over when she was twenty three. While she lived, no one had called her "Lady of Camellia."

"Viola" is a form launched by Shakespeare in his "Twelfth Night"; it seems he found "Violetta" in one of his sources and cut it down to "Viola."

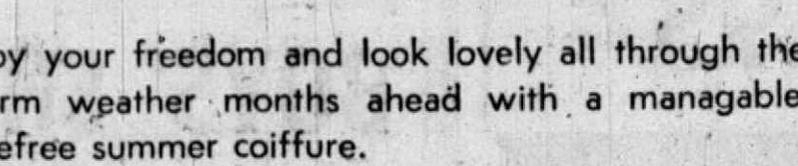

The violet has been known since antiquity, and praised by poets ever since. According to a Greek legend Zeus created the pretty fragrant flower as food for his lady love Io when, in order of hide her from the jealous Hera, he changed Io into a white heifer.

STUDIES JOURNALISM

EAST LANSING — Peter A. Signorelli, 175 Amelia Street, Plymouth, participated in the 11th annual Special Course in High School Journalism at Michigan State University June 23-July 3. More than 175 aspiring young high schools studied current practices in journalism and advertising at the two-week event.

The world's first regular airmail service was begun by Britain's Royal Air Force in 1918 when it started carrying military mail between London and Paris.

Some are due to errors in spelling, in copying, some occur because a mother or another relative suggesting the name has simply not heard it exactly. Adherents to nomenclology (of which I know nothing) change names because they try to have a certain number of letters in theirs.

One famous "Violetta" is La Traviata, Giuseppe Verdi's opera heroine. Violetta Valery is a soprano part. The story was based on a play by Alexandre Dumas, the younger, entitled "La Dame aux Camellias" he had named Marguerite Gautier. She was modeled after a real life girl of easy virtue, named Alphonseine Du Plessis, but who called herself Marie Duplessis, believing it sounded better.

Damage $1,260 In 4 Car Smashup

A four-car smash-up at the Starkweather and Liberty intersection injured four persons Thursday afternoon, leaving one in "fair condition" in Wayne County General Hospital.

Plymouth police received the call at 4:54 p.m. and sent two ambulances and a wrecker to the scene.

A 1954 Chevrolet, driven by Clara Bonner of 14290 Minhart Dr. made a left turn onto Starkweather from Liberty. Her car met the left rear side of a 1957 Buick that was traveling south on Starkweather, crossing the intersection. The second car was driven by Ann Sambrone of 5674 McMillan, Dearborn.

The impact pushed the Sambrone car into the opposing lane, where it collided with a 1956 Ford driven by Quentin H. Bond of 3327 Pershing in Wayne, which was moving north on Starkweather toward the intersection. Bond's car in turn as pushed into a parked car, owned by Mrs. Doris Root, of 265 Ann St.

Miss Bonner was ticketed for interfering with moving traffic.

Mrs. Jennie Sambrone, a passenger in the car driven by Ann Sambrone, is in Wayne County General Hospital with a fractured pelvic bone and head cuts. Her condition is listed as "fair".

Ann Sambrone was taken to the hospital for facial injuries and discharged.

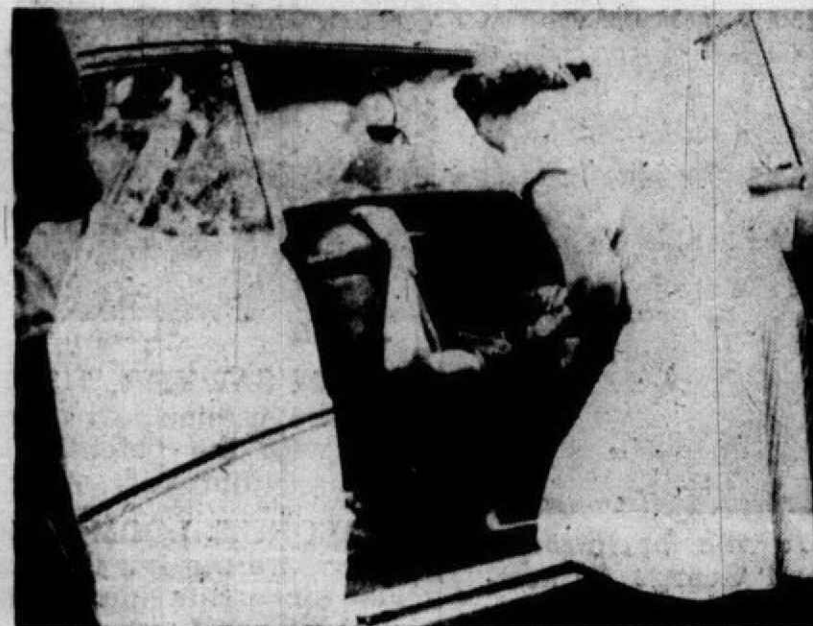

Passengers in the Bond car, Edith Bond and Joyce Bond, 13 years-old, were also admitted for treatment. Mrs. Bond sustained broken ribs and arm and head injuries. Joyce was treated for a bruised left leg.

Total damage is estimated at $1,260. The Sambrone and Bond cars were set at $600 each; Bonner car, $50 and Root car, $10.

It was raining at the time of the accident and police stated that vision was obscured by the rain and parked and moving cars.

TWO CARS SUSTAINED $600 damage each in a four-car accident at the Starkweather and Liberty intersection Thursday. The car on the left was driven by Ann Sambrone of Dearborn and car on the right was driven by Quentin Bond of Wayne. Four persons were injured.

MRS. JENNIE SAMBRONE of Dearborn is aided by the driver of the car, Ann Sambrone. Mrs. Sambrone is in Wayne County General Hospital with a fractured pelvic bone and head cuts.

Grange Gleanings

Don't forget our Grange picnic tonight at the park, usual place south of the viaduct. We will try to start eating about 8:30 p.m. In case of rain we will move to the Grange hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Tritten and boys spent the holiday weekend at Brethren with Mr. Tritten's mother and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rienas spent their two-week vacation in Pennsylvania at a Grange convention of the Hamish people, which would be very interesting as they are real farmers no doubt. The Rienas' returned home Sunday.

We have two important dates coming up after the vacation is over. The Rummage Sale on September 6 and the Bazaar on October 10, so, 3-1918.

you can be getting ready for them.

The Grange has reason to feel very proud of themselves since the Grange tied for first place in the 4th of July float competition. Much credit is due to our lecturer, Bessie Salow, who planned the float and attended to the business details, and all who helped her make the float the success it was. Our thanks to everybody. We are proud to have the trophy in our lodge room. Perhaps it will be an incentive for next year.

If you come to the picnic tonight you may see the trophy as Mrs. Salow plans to bring it with her. Pictures will be shown at a later date. Remember this, Grange friends, if you have any items of interest, or know of anyone who is sick, call GL.

Mrs. Della Bingham of Five Mile Rd. has as guests Mrs. Amanda Wellman and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Denning of Leesburg, Fla.

The Edwin Schraders and son Win, are expected to return today after a two-month stay in Europe.

Faye Lyke gave a bridal shower for her sister Carol Lyke, in the home of her mother, Mrs. A. Lyke at 397 Arthur. Thirty-five classmates of the bride-elect, who graduated from Ladywood High last June, were present. Flowers carried out the violet, mint green and yellow color scheme. Games were enjoyed and refreshments served. Carol will become the bride of Charles S. Strye of Farmington on July 26.

Sifts Bids on Addition to Town Hall Township Stiffens Dog Penalties,

A study of civil defense, dog license price hikes, and plans for a building addition dominated the last regular monthly meeting of the Plymouth Township Board at the Township Hall.

Dr. Barry Alford, Township Health Officer, suggested that the Township Board give serious consideration to drawing up plans which could be used in case of a disaster in the Plymouth area. He referred to such disasters as bus collisions, airliner crashes or tornadoes.

The doctor recommended the program fit in with the overall disaster plan for Wayne County and that it include the use of equipment the Township now has available.

The Board authorized a new dog license expiration date and boosted penalty fees. The new expiration date was set at April 30 but a 30 day "grace period" was authorized. Prices will go up $2 for both male and female dogs after June 1.

Licenses purchased before June 1 will stay at the same level: $2 for male and $4 for females.

This action is necessary because people haven't been getting their dogs vaccinated and applying for licenses. "I hope the higher penalty will make them think twice before putting this off. Warrants will still be issued to owners who do not comply," said Dr. Alford.

The Board discussed two architects' bids for plans on a proposed addition to the Township Hall. The addition will give extra space to the Fire Department. Action was tabled until a better basis of comparison between the different rates can be established.

Referring to civil defense disaster plans, Dr. Alford said, "I don't think we need complicated plans that include a big outlay of money for new equipment and detailed lists of volunteer personnel. What we really need is some sort of a skeleton organization that could take over for the first 1 1/2 hour of a disaster."

Township Fire Chief Howard "Bud" Holmes announced that the Township already has a list of vehicle owners who will contribute extra trucks and station wagons in case of need.

Dr. Alford emphasized that, when a disaster strikes, one of the most important considerations is enough police to keep curiosity seekers from hindering rescue work. "We can use our existing forces for that purpose," he said.

The doctor pointed out that physicians on the main function would be to recognize and classify injuries and ship them to pre-designated centers which are prepared to render a specific type of treatment.

Confusion arose on architect bids when Lindsay revealed that Morris Webster, 1853 W. McNichols Road in Detroit, submitted an estimated bid based on time involved which would not exceed $500. Harold E. Pine, 12950 Dunn Court in Plymouth, offered to furnish plans and specifications and to supervise the construction for 6 percent of the contract work. This would probably be about $2,000 (the job is estimated at $25,000).

Commitments were tabled until Lindsay has a chance to talk with Webster and ask him if, for that price, he will supervise the job and whether, in the architect's opinion, construction supervision by an architect is actually necessary.

Lindsay believes a motion to start construction will appear on the November ballot.

In other action, Holmes was appointed Township Building Inspector on a permanent basis. This will be in conjunction with his post as Township Fire Chief. He has been acting as temporary building inspector since last fall.

In proposing the appointment, Lindsay emphasized that, "the building inspector must know the township — both geographically and psychologically. He should be familiar with all township zoning ordinances. It's not an easy job. . . . we need a qualified man to fill it."

FINDERS WEEPERS

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Two 15-year-old boys, Anthony Grimaldi and Joel Krishoff, of Oakland Gardens, L.I., have learned early in life that honesty is its own reward. They found a pocket-book containing $1,169 cash, turned it over to the manager of the restaurant where it had been lost, and waited for the owner. A harried woman soon arrived, proved ownership, tossed the boys a hast "thank you" — and was gone.

SPORTSEEN

The Detroit Tigers Minor League Newsletter dated July reached our hands and there are many interesting facts contained therein. The most interesting is the one concerning a former Plymouth high school baseball player now working in the Tiger chain, Dick Day. Day is pitching for Durham Bulls of the Class "B" Carolina league managed by Charley Kress. The team has been receiving improved pitching in the past weeks and the man partly responsible is our own Dick Day. He is the leading winner on the team with seven wins to his credit in ten games pitched. This is a good record for a sixth place team that does not have a .300 hitter on the team.

The other interesting facts revealed in the letter concern ex-Tigers. Bill Taylor is the leading hitter for the first place Charleston team of the American Association with a .326 average. Jim Delsing at .295, Ron Samford .273, Charley Lau .275, Larry Osborne .262, and Lou Skizas .195 are other former Tiger players other than pitchers with the Charleston club. In the pitching department Don Lee is second in earned run averages with 2.30. In sixteen games he has won six and lost three. George Spencer, who appeared briefly with the Tigered Tigers has a 7-1 record for 15 games and an earned run average of 2.74. Joe Presko is 0-1 for ten games. Art Houtteman has won two and lost six. Al Cicotte, who was sold to Charleston by Washington Senators in return for the Tigers selling Valentinetti to the Senators on his first start for his new team.

Bonus players including Steve Boros are scattered throughout the chain. Boros is second leading hitter for Augusta with a .333 average. Augusta are managed by Wayne Blackburn and are second in the South Atlantic league. At Birmingham, catcher Tom Yewcic, former Michigan State quarterback is batting .261. Harry Byrd has won eight and lost nine for the Barons. Steve Gromek's Class "D" team at Erie, Pennsylvania are in sixth place. Gromek has appeared in seven games but has not been responsible for the winning or losing of any games.

Give Managers Warney Bassett and John Schwartz and the Plymouth Merchants an "A" for effort in their game last Sunday at Riverside Park. After winning two from South Lyons on July 4th the Merchants battled back to tie Romulus twice only to succumb to a five run rally in the final ninth.

Two Plymouth teams lead their respective division in the Recreation baseball leagues. In the 18 and under division co-managers Doug Egloff and Bob Barnhill have the Plymouth Elks on top with three straight wins. In the 15 and under division Harold Stevens has his Bill's Market leading the league with five wins to their credit according to the latest standings published by the league secretary.

Our sincerest sympathy to the family of Paul Woodward, Plymouth high school athlete. Last Monday Paul lost his best friend and most ardent fan when his father passed away.

Hurlers Share Job

In last week's Recreation Fastball Class A action, Morill and Somers shared the pitching duties as Wayne Dispatch defeated Mayflower, 5 to 3. Wayne had seven hits, Mayflower six.

Beglinger came from behind to defeat U-Daly and Western, 2 to 1. Stout homered in the sixth to tie the score, while three singles brought the winning run in the last inning.

 Among those who have urged Plymouth to undertake such planning has been the head of First Federal Savings and Loan, banking and lending institution which owns a likely corner of ancient business property at the corner of Main and Penniman.
 The city has been told that First Federal's plans for that property will be predicated on the existence of sound City planning for the business district in general.

 The Commission vote to go ahead was unanimous.
 "At this time, we are authorizing planning only," noted Mayor Harold Guenther. "That in itself won't get the job done, but it's where we must start. Sound planning will show us what we should do."
 "Merchants and citizens will be consulted by the planners at the various steps along the way. The final blueprints will represent the best technical knowledge we can obtain."

 For the Hartsough project, from S. Main to S. Harvey, the City Manager estimated the total cost at $13,142 for 27-foot concrete to be placed between existing gutters, with some faulty curbs and gutters to be replaced.
 He recommended that 79.1 percent be assessed upon property owners and 20.9 percent be paid by the city at large. He suggested 10 annual installments with the assessment formula as follows:
 "The recommended method of assessment is on the basis of frontage and side-lines abutting the improvement, shall be assessed at the rate of $4.25 per sideline foot, except that the front and sidelines both of lots in the C-2 zoned areas, being used for commercial uses, shall be assessed at $9.50 per abutting foot."

SHARPLY BRINGING THOUGHTS OF MODERN WARFARE to mind in Friday's big parade in Plymouth was one of the U.S. Army's Nike missiles.

Longest Parade

Scouts shared first place honors in the organization-sponsored category. The Early American Shop had the winning business-sponsored float. Charles Guideau's Statue of Liberty float was the best individual entry.
 Receiving honorable mention were: Business and Professional Women's Club, Rainbow Girls, Theatre Guild, Cub Scouts, Insurance Associates and Arbor Village.

Thirty-five sailors from the Grrosse Ile Naval Air Base marched. They were led at the Veterans Memorial Center. The sailor adoption program was a big success, with the Chamber of Commerce receiving more calls than sailors to be 'adopted' between the parade and evening program.

The parade included Miss Plymouth contestants riding in convertibles; farm and fire equipment; horses; antiquities; playground groups; the Plymouth High school band; the VFW post and auxiliary drill teams; and other marching groups. The Lady of Good Council Cub Pack drill team received much applause from the on-lookers.

Winners of the kiddies events, playground competition, costume and bike decorating contests and the horse show are listed elsewhere in today's paper. Free matinee tickets to the Penn Theatre were given all children participating in the parade.

Evening Program
 Governor Williams addressed the crowd to open the program. Mayor Harold Guenther introduced the guests and served as master of ceremonies. Entertainment was provided by a men's quartet from Monroe. Jack Wilcox, former Chamber of Commerce manager and C. Vech Sparks, township trustee (both Theatre Guild members) interviewed the candidates for Miss Plymouth. Each contestant was escorted by a Navyman.

Winners were: Miss Plymouth, Janet Spigarelli (Miss C. L. Finlan Insurance Co.); 1st runner-up Jeanette Foreman (Miss Foresters); 2nd runner-up Pat Bowly (Miss Cassidy's).
 Eighteen-year-old Nancy Mandeville of Detroit won the 1958 Ford in the door prize drawing.
 The crowd moved to the athletic field for fireworks until the rains came again at 11:30 p.m. phonies, the American Bach Society, the Collegiate Chorale, American Composers Forum and the Robert Shaw Chorale.

 Winning the Cottonland Music Festival at age 16, she went on to complete two seasons with the State Fair musicals in Dallas.

Recently Miss Wilder has been appearing in New York City, where she has been featured in eight productions at Radio City Music Hall and has done extensive radio work. RCA Victor Recordings and has appeared in NBC-TV spectacles.

The opening number of the concert will be "Solees Musicales" by Britten, which includes the March, Canzonetta, Tirolese and Tarantella.

"Knoxville: Summer of 1915, for Soprano and Orchestra, Opus 24" by Barber will follow, with Miss Wilder as soloist.

After intermission, "Concerto in D Major for Two Trumpets and Strings" by Vivaldi will feature Mr. Stollsteimer and Mr. Reed. Four dances from "Façade Suite No. 2" by Walton will be a familiar treat to guests, with the polka and Tarantella included.

Perhaps the most familiar program music will be the Suite from "Die Fledermaus" by Strauss. Selections will be the "Overture," "Look Me Over Once," the "Voices of Spring" waltz and the "Finale from Act II." Miss Fielder and the orchestra will be featured on the finale number.
 Plymouth Colony Farms can be reached only from Joy Road, where a large parking area is provided. A path leads through a wooded area to the concert site in front of a willow-surrounded lake.

Landlord Role

now, was "too small to carry on an adequate program." It would be worse they said, with furniture stored in a portion of the premises.
 The leaders said that "250 or 260 kids" were involved in the Junior Police program. The Plymouth Community Fund provided $895 for the activity this year and is considering a $4,000 grant in its new budget.

"But the Fund isn't interested in placing a lot of money with a program that has no home, no center," Thomas Rossettie told the Commission.

George Truax and Elmer Passage, other youth leaders, presented the thought that a new building should be provided for the Junior Police program, because even at its best, "it didn't provide an ideal shooting range."

They noted that this particular program not only taught safety, but that it had an appeal to the older teens — 15 to 18 — and kept them "off the streets" better than many youth enterprises.
 Complicating the city's problems is a requirement that the Bronson building must be revenue-producing for the city parking fund. City manager Al Glassford suggested that it might be possible to get $280 or $300 a month rent for the complete building if rented on the open market.

The discussion came to a close with affairs generally still confused. But it was agreed that both Galin and McAtee would be advised to make no "long term plans" for occupancy until the matter is clarified.

 services rendered by the County," advised City Manager Al Glassford to the City Commission. "The county services begin free and then, in a short time, they suddenly become too costly for the County to handle. . . . We are particularly unhappy with this request for $600 per year, because we maintain a police department, whereas, township areas use the sheriff's department. . . . Chief Fisher is strongly of the mind to ask that the teletype service be discontinued and that we use telephone and commercial telegraph."

LEGAL BEAT: Plymouth street. He says he's been underneath and found scaling of the cement and the underpinnings pretty well worn away.
STREET SIGNS: NEW "colonial" street names have been requested by the developers of the new subdivision adjacent on Sheldon Rd. The changes they seek are Lexington Rd. (formerly Blanche), Old Salem Rd. (Roberta), Nantucket Rd. (Jamilie), Provincetown Lane (Sally).

BRIDGEWORK: The city manager says repairs should be made to a bridge over Byron Creek on South Main FIRE RUNS: City firemen got a call Thursday from Mrs. Dorothy Frank, 540 Parkview Drive, concerning a swarm of bees on a limb of a tree. Chief Robert McAllister called a bee expert, John Brunan, who had a bushel basket under the swarm and hit the limb with a stick. The bees dropped into the basket. Brunan, without protective clothing, picked up the basket, put it in the front seat of his car and drove away. . . . with some stragglers pursuing the car down the street.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moore from Northern Ireland are touring Canada and the United States, visiting relatives, for three months. At present they are visiting Mrs. Moore's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Wickens of 1380 Elm. Mrs. Moore has not seen her brother for 43 years. The Moores also called on her other brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wickens of 390 Blunk, on Monday.

Irene Wick, 745 aKrnada, had as her guest, Jan Becker, of Saginaw on Thursday of last week. Over the weekend, they joined eight other Michigan Lutheran Seminary Students at the home of Reverend and Mrs. Zink of Stevensville, Mich.

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

Daggets Like Old German Bread Recipe

It's plain to see that Mrs. Harold Dagget of 14041 Ridge-wood Drive loves to cook and from examples of her recipe collection it is also evident that she is no amateur.

One of Mrs. Dagget's favorite recipes is an Old German recipe for brown bread handed down through Mrs. Dagget's family. Here is how it's done:

Brown Bread

2 cups sour milk or buttermilk
1/2 cup shortening
1 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. salt
1 cup graham flour
1 cup sugar
1 cup nutmeats (may be omitted)

Cream the shortening and sugar. Add the soda to the sour milk and combine salt with sifted graham flour. Add the milk and the flour mixture alternately to the creamed sugar and shortening.

Pour in a greased loaf pan or tin cans for a roll. Cook in a 375 degree oven for an hour.

Mrs. Dagget's interest in cooking is being carried on by her daughter, Mrs. Reta Birt, who has added a tangy cocktail sauce to her mother's repertoire. Mrs. Dagget says that they always serve it with shrimp, but Mrs. Dagget also likes a side of the sauce with hamburger and other meats.

Cocktail Sauce

1/2 cup chili sauce
One-third cup catsup
1/4 cup horse radish
1 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 medium-sized minced onion
1 stalk finely diced celery
2 1/2 tsp. lemon juice (about 1/2 lemon)

Combine all ingredients, shake in a jar and chill. The first four ingredients can be combined and kept indefinitely. The last three can be added shortly before the meal for maximum freshness.

Maplecroft - Birch Folk Favor Cookouts, Entertaining on 4th

(Covering the area bounded by Burroughs, Ann Arbor Ed. and the Junior High, including Maplecroft and Birch Subs.)

By RHEA ROSS
GL. 3-3144

In spite of the dire predictions by our weatherman the Fourth lived up to its reputation and was as grand a n glorious as usual. The activity in our subdivisions was varied — some planned motor jaunts to various sites of interest, others enjoyed a long pleasant weekend at their cottages while many just stayed at home and enjoyed cookouts with their neighbors and attended the events put on by the merchants of Plymouth.

One gathering, which turned out to be especially enjoyable, took place at the John Truer home Friday. Those attending were so royally entertained they returned Saturday for another go at it. The Edward Sawuschs and family motored to Libertyville, Ill., to spend the weekend with his parents. Also accompanying them was Mrs. Sawuschs mother, Mrs. Wilis Mapping of Clearwater, Florida, who has been their house guest this past week.

The Alex Ballochs of Elson had as their guests this week, Mrs. Lillian Florence, sister of Mrs. Balloch and Mrs. Lucille Darling, both of Flint.

Former Plymouthites, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. McGuire, now of Greenbay, Wis., were the guests this weekend of the Jim Lattures of Harding.

Also present were the Lattures daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Al Bas of Detroit.

Arriving Sunday at the home of the Alex Ballochs will be Mrs. Marguerite Roberts of Sebawing, Mich.

The Bruce Milroys and family motored to Kalamazoo last weekend to visit Mrs. Milroys mother, Mrs. McAleer, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Milroy. Mr. Milroys parents, Mrs. Robert Frobeck and children just returned from a week's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Krull of Hobart, Ind. Hobart is Marian's home town and quoting her "loaded with relatives" — so she spent several days with one sister, Mrs. Patti A. Combes and then during the week was regally entertained by Mrs. John Eagan, another sister, and the rest of the family. They managed an evening out — starting with cocktails at the "Top of the Rock," located in the new Prudential building in Chicago — then a dinner at the Palmer House and winding it all up with tickets to "My Fair Lady." Sounds like fun.

Mrs. Tom Adams also just returned from a vacation, not of the same variety as Marian's — more on the educational side. Virginia, we are very happy to say, represented the Presbyterian Church at the National Convention of the Presbyterian Womens Organization held at Purdue University.

Mrs. Tom Hirzel, another lucky one in our subdivision, left last week for a month's stay with her sister in New York state. (Wonder how these gals get away with this). Mr. Hirzel, I'm told, will join her the first week in August.

Mrs. Blake Fisher of Burroughs has been enjoying a vacation with her sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. T. Gaddis of Mountain Lake Park, Md.

Vacations, vacations — oh, well, be patient our time will come. The Lon Dickersons of Simpson are enjoying a trip to the Wisconsin Dells and the Upper Peninsula. They also plan to stop off for a short visit with his brother, Mr. H. Dickerson of Indian River.

Little Debbie Truer was the guest of Julie Ross for several days last week while her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Truer, of Harding attended the funeral of Dr. Trapp in Grand Rapids.

Mrs. M. Duffy, who will be joining her husband in Rogers, Ark., in the next few weeks to take up permanent residence there, was the guest of honor at a luncheon at Arbor Lil last Wednesday. Others attending were: Mrs. John Bel, Mrs. Glen Steele and Mrs. Eldon Martin.

Mrs. Art Meyers and small son, Winkie, returned from a two-weeks visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ash-ton, of Traverse City. Mrs. Meyers father who has been ill for some time is not improving very rapidly so she expects to return next week to help him through his illness.

Following her graduation from high school, Martha Lytle, daughter of the Blaine Lytles, will spend the summer at Camp Sherwood on Walloon Lake.

The members of the newly-founded chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi met at the home of Mrs. William Bailey Tuesday evening. Members attending from our subdivision were Mr. Gerald Fueling, Mrs. Donald Holt and Mrs. Bruce Milroy. The group, which seems to be a very active one, discussed the rummage sale they are planning the latter part of August and also the car they will enter in the Fourth of July parade next year.

Enroute to Valencia, Spain, Dorothy Dodge of Concord, Cal., stopped for a short visit with her brother, Stewart Dodge. Miss Dodge, who is a teacher in California, is taking a summer course at the university in Spain.

The Richard Merriams were among the many tourists who enjoyed a weekend in the Northern Peninsula. Hope to contact all the neighbors I missed this week — just like everybody else, I was having myself a good time this weekend but down to work now and be seeing you soon.

Mrs. Tom Adams also just returned from a vacation, not of the same variety as Marian's — more on the educational side. Virginia, we are very happy to say, represented the Presbyterian Church at the National Convention of the Presbyterian Womens Organization held at Purdue University.

Woman's Eye View

by Nancy Rigney

Today is a good time to set aside July 22 through 25 as a favor to yourself. These are the dates of the Homemakers Conference on the Michigan State University campus in East Lansing.

All you have to do to qualify as a conference-goer, is be a homemaker with an interest in your home and family. (You need not be a member of a home demonstration group.)

This will mark the 31st year for the conference and it's getting bigger and bigger each year — so there must be something worthwhile in the offering.

Lucille Monark, the Wayne County Extension agent in home economics informs us that many homemakers in the country have already circled these dates on the calendars and are making plans for the trip. She would be glad to hear from you (Wayne County Extension office, Parkway 1-6550) and fill you in on the exact times and places.

"The Changing Role of the Homemaker" is the theme of the four-day conference, which will feature Ann Landers of newspaper fame, among other speakers, and classes of practical value to the homemaker.

Those attending will be able to choose from 22 classes, including photography, savings and investments, good design in crafts, flower arranging, fighting inflation, easy ways with housework and many other subjects.

Besides these classes, there are special sectional meetings, noted speakers for the afternoon programs and a variety of entertainment in the evenings.

Check into this opportunity by calling Miss Monark — and be sure to be there Tuesday afternoon, July 22 when the conference opens with an "international" tea for all conference-goers.

Rosella Bannister, also an extension agent in home economics, invites girls with an interest in the field to give her a ring. She says that home economics, the science and art of homemaking, is a profession which girls should consider. This means more than learning to cook and sew. It means the study of home, from planning an energy-saving kitchen to the relation of the family to the community.

The subject matter spans nutrition, clothing and textiles, home furnishings, home management, family life and related topics. A girl with a home ec degree can choose among scores of positions in industry, such as: interior decorating or as demonstrating for equipment and food companies. Positions are available in radio, TV, advertising, writing, teaching, dietetics and research.

Over 500 colleges now offer a four-year course in home economics leading to a bachelor's degree. For further information concerning a career and scholarships available, Mrs. Bannister can be reached at the Wayne County Extension office number mentioned above.

It all goes to show, there's more to this home-making role than meets the eye. The modern Homemaker is an expert in many fields.

Some of the new residents in Rogers, Ark. — namely Mrs. Lois VanTassel and Mrs. Ruth Osgood — find the atmosphere dusty during construction of the new homes in their area. The wind has been doing its measure in shifting the piles of sand.

Before Mrs. VanTassel left Plymouth, she adopted a new motto — "never try to fool the movers." When the van rolled up in front of her house, she had a large kettle of noodles cooking on the stove. Being taken by surprise, she wanted to get it out of the way — fast — to facilitate the moving. So, she set it in a drawer and closed it. The mover discovered her hasty hiding place within a few minutes.

...and was more than surprised to see a bubbling pot of noodles.

Who's New in Plymouth

PLYMOUTH IS FULL of firsts for new residents, Rev. and Mrs. William Perkins, and 12 year-old daughter, Pam, of 1440 W. Ann Arbor Trail. They are getting settled in the first home they have ever owned and Mrs. Perkins will begin her first teaching job in the fall. The family has always lived in parsonages, throughout Mr. Perkins 40 year career as a Methodist minister. They moved from Flushing, Mich., where he was minister of the Flushing Methodist Church until his retirement this June. The new Perkins Fellowship Hall in Flushing stands tribute to his years of service. Mrs. Perkins received her degree from University of Michigan in June and will teach first grade at the Helen Farrand school come September. The fall will mean back to school for the whole family — Pam will enter the Junior High, Mrs. Perkins will begin work on her master's degree at U. of M. and Mr. Perkins will continue work on his Ph. D. at U. of M. He also plans to be active in church and school work and continue as clarinetist in the Shrine band in Detroit. Also pictured is 'Windy,' another active member of the household.

Merchants Blast South Lyons Twice

Losing Habit Returns Sunday Sad to Relate

Plymouth Merchants snapped their three game losing streak with timely hitting and effective pitching to take the July 4th holiday doubleheader at South Lyons by scores of 5-0 and 6-2.

However, playing before their home fans at Riverside Park on Sunday they were defeated 11-6, as Romulus pushed over five runs in the ninth inning.

In the first game at South Lyons, Dick Shepherd pitched the distance and gave up just five hits for his fourth win of the season. Jack Carter and Shepherd got three hits each with Carter receiving credit for three runs batted in and Shepherd and Bob Gow one each.

Ken Kisabeth chalked up his victory of the season for the Merchants as he allowed just two runs and six hits. Of the 12 Plymouth hits, Chuck Tomlinson, Bob Gow and Ken Kisabeth got two each while Ron Bender led the team with three. Bob Gow's triple in the fifth inning was the longest hit for the Merchants. Bud Nedry, patrolling left field in the mud, and Ken Calhoun at third base played well defensively for Plymouth.

Plymouth staged an uphill fight against Romulus on Sunday. They were behind 3-0 after the first inning and then tied the score in the third. Romulus went ahead 6-3 in the seventh, only to have the Merchants fight back to tie the score at 6-6. This set the stage for the ninth inning rally by Romulus to which Plymouth could not muster a reply.

There was a slight touch of irony in this game as Jim Greenwood, a Plymouth mailman, was the winning pitcher for Romulus. Bob Gow supplied the long ball again for the Merchants as he tripled in the fourth inning and scored on an error. Centerfielder Jerry King made the fielding play of the game with a sensational diving catch in right centerfield in the fifth inning.

The Merchants will have had plenty of baseball by the time Sunday night comes. Tomorrow and Saturday they are entered in the National Baseball Congress tournament at Grand Rapids. This is the tournament to pick a state winner to play in an elimination series culminating in the Global World Series.

WHERE'S THAT GUY who says the American public wants smaller, simpler cars? This sound, ancient Buick didn't take up much room in the Independence Day parade, but the driver didn't look too comfortable, either. And that convertible top isn't automatic, as was discovered when it rained.

Plymouth Elks Stay Unbeaten

George Homer and Ken Knipschild shared the pitching assignment as Plymouth Elks remained undefeated in the Western Wayne 18 and under league by virtue of an 11-4 win over Wayne Ford Civic League.

Knipschild was the winning pitcher and John Matt got the only extra base hit, a double. In the other scheduled game rain forced postponement of the first meeting of the two Plymouth teams.

Plymouth Fisher Shoes lost their first game in three starts as they dropped an overtime verdict to Livonia 6-5. Dick Wells pitched and was the victim of some erratic support that led to the defeat in extra innings. Cary Black led the hitters for Plymouth with a homer and a double and Jim Herter also got two hits.

On Saturday an All-Star team from the Western Wayne league, including seven players from Plymouth Elks, entered a tournament in Adrian and defeated Ann Arbor 3-1. Randy Egloff pitched the full nine innings and allowed just four hits, struck out ten and walked four.

Larry Wells' triple was the only extra base hit for the winners, who scored one run in the fifth to tie the score and two more in the sixth. In addition to Egloff and Wells other players from Plymouth Elks were Paul Woodward, John Matt, Bob Wood, Jim Dzurus and Denis Bufford.

This team returns to Adrian on Saturday for the second round of the tournament when their opponents will be Adrian. Adrian entered round two by eliminating Jackson 3-1.

Bill Rainbow at Northville Downs

The $5,000 Northville Pace will be held at Northville Downs Wednesday, July 16. It will be the first of a series of Wednesday night stake races that continue through most of the meeting which concludes August 9.

Northville fans will get their first chance to see the speedy Bill Rainbow, owned by Don Jackson of Bad Axe, compete in a Northville stake. The four-year-old has a clocking of 2:02 and one-fifth at Hazel Park and ranked with the best on the ground.

But he faces plenty of competition for the list of 10 nominees includes the spectacular Linda's Indian, owned by W. H. Stevenson of Adrian; speedy Otis Direct, owned by John Boring of Shelbyville, Ind.; Royal Valley and the fast-going Hal Dale owned by Brown Valley Farm of Detroit; and Billie Ellamar, owned by Everett Hammel of Pinckney.

On the basis of records, Royal Valley looms as the one to beat off his mark of 2:01 and two-fifths. But Otis Direct has 2:03 and three-fifths on the books; Linda's Indian 2:05 and four-fifths and still only a three-year-old; and the Black Widow 2:02 and four-fifths.

22,813 IN SEATS

The largest crowd ever to witness a running of the Michigan Mile was 22,813 in 1954. The crowd wagered a total of $204,748 on the race, greatest single race total in the history of the Detroit Race Course. This year's Michigan Mile will be run July 19.

Ed Arcaro, Bold Ruler Sign Up for DRC Stakes

When the Detroit Race Course announced its radical change in stake race policy last spring, a great many eyebrows were raised.

Under the plan devised by Track President Dale Shaffer, the DRC changed from weekly stakes races to a pair of $50,000-added events spaced one week apart.

The hope was that a better class of horses would be attracted to the meeting in general, but particularly for the week of the two giant purses. The plan apparently is working to satisfaction. The $50,000 Michigan Mile, an annual event, will be run on Saturday, July 19 while the $50,000 Sweepstakes will be run one week later, on July 26. In addition, the track will award $2,000 to the horse who wins both races.

A record total of 77 horses have been nominated for the races. The caliber of horse is the reason for big smiles at the DRC.

Bold Ruler, 1957 Horse of the Year; Kentucky Derby Winner Iron Liege, Swoon's Son, Better Bee, Eddie Schmidt, all are outstanding stakes horses who have been nominated for the two races.

And early indications are that the big ones are serious about running, not just tossing their name in the hat.

As an example of the theory behind Shaffer's move, Eddie Arcaro, Mr. Big of jockey circles, has been aboard Bold Ruler for all of his major races. If the Wheatley Stable colt spends 10 days in Detroit for the big races, Arcaro no doubt will ride local mounts for that week.

There is little doubt that these players and "tourists" alike will make a trip to the races to see the fabulous Arcaro play his trade. To say nothing of the throng that will gather to see the equally fabulous Bold Ruler.

Of course, some of the "name" horses already are familiar to Michigan racegoers. E. Gay Drake's Dogoon campaigned brilliantly at the DRC as a three-year-old.

And a most familiar name, Shan Pac, also is included on the nomination list. Detroit T. A. Grissom will bring Shan Pac back to the track where he holds a pair of records. Shan Pac recently set a seven-furlong mark at Churchill Downs.

My Night Out, the Wells Brothers' defending Michigan Mile champ, will make another go at the big money as will Sam Slick, a two-time winner over My Night Out this year and Estacion, who has beaten both My Night Out and Sam Slick.

Included in the big week will be the $5,000 Michigan two-year-olds and the annual DRC Yearling Show on Wednesday, July 23.

Newburg Columnist Writes From Northern Michigan

(Covering the Newburg Area, bounded by Wayne Rd., Ann Arbor Rd., Lalonde and Joy Rd., including the Washington School area.)

By MRS. EMIL LAPOINTE
GA. 1-2029

Greetings to you from beautiful northern Michigan. My family and I are here for the week, camping in Otsego Lake State park, just six miles south of Gaylord, Mich. Up until today, Thursday July 3, we have had some pretty miserable weather; deluge of rain on the first day, which nearly washed our tent away and so cold the next that Bruce, David, Mark and Nan had to forego the pleasure of swimming. This is a wonderful spot, today the sun is shining, and perfect for a family to vacation with a minimum of expense involved. We can be proud of the facilities our state provides for camping, swimming and packnicking. Nature hikes on the side have provided the older boys, Bruce and David, the opportunity to work on merit badges for boy scouts and believe me when I say, they have been doing just that, with their father along for a guide.

We have met many fine folks, who are camping the same as we, who share their camp fires at night, friendly conversation by day and just generally help to make this vacation an altogether enjoyable one.

Last night, July 2, with an open fire and reflector oven we baked spice cake and chocolate cake which was quite an accomplishment. Our neighbors, the Warner's from Saginaw, made the luscious chocolate frosting for both and presto, culinary cuisine that would rival Betty Crocker's. We took a side trip up to the newly-dedicated Mackinac bridge and what a sight to behold. Breath-taking and awe-inspiring are but a few of the adjectives to be used to describe this magnificent engineering feat. It is 26,444 feet from beginning to end and all five miles of it is a sight to behold. The folks that come from other states to see this spectacle are many, Ohio, Illinois, Nebraska, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, to name but a few.

Hope you will forgive my digression from the usual formal of news and be sure to remember to call me and tell me about your vacation, too. By the time this appears in the paper I will be home and in the swing of things again. Be sure to dial GA. 1-2029. See you next week?

The MAIL Attitude

By PAUL CHANDLER

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. — We slipped up here over the long holiday to visit our parents and check, I suppose, to see if things are as they used to be in the old hometown on Fourth of July.

They aren't. There was no parade, not even any evening fireworks. No beauty queens, no speeches in the park. (The late Chase S. Osborn, former governor of Michigan, made the best Fourth of July speeches I've ever heard, before or since. That was here about 30 years ago.)

In fact, the park itself doesn't exist any more. The U.S. Government has a fence around the land and has assembled piers, barges, guns and other bric-brac toward which the public is cordially not invited to cast its gaze.

What happened to the fireworks; couldn't they save THAT tradition at least?

"No money," one citizen replied. "The city is pretty darn well broke. Most of the old industry is either gone, or working part time, and it's been a slow year for tourist business, too."

Anyhow, our son knew about the big holiday celebration scheduled back in Plymouth and when he discovered that nothing special was happening here in the Sault, he made plain his opinion that he had been defrauded and never would have consented to leave home if he had been apprised of the full facts prior to departure.

A traveling carnival show had set up in a vacant lot for the weekend here; with emphasis on games of "skill." Partly to soothe the betrayed son, we visited this carnival (no sawdust on the ground at these things anymore) and tested our skill. It was a total victory for the home team — $4.55 for them, no large panda teddy bears for us.

While hurling fiery baseballs at cast-iron milk bottles, our concentration was disturbed by Fred Seerwerker, who most of the time runs clean, neat, inexpensively-priced printing material in the job shop of our Livonian office on Five Mile road.

It seems he had been turned adrift in this County while learning the arts of war as a Reservist in the U.S. Army, his two week hitch being served at Camp Lucas, on the Sault's outskirts. With time heavy upon his hands, and no speeches in the park nor fireworks in the sky, he too had repaired to this gay, mad midway, and couldn't believe his eyes when he saw us.

Fred also was an apparent loser to the home team. His arms did not bear any stuffed panda bear, either, though he refused to state the amount of his financial ventures.

"The Army just changed my assignment," he reported. "During the Mackinac bridge dedication they had me on guard duty at St. Ignace, to insure that no one would steal Big Mac," he said. "This week I'm fixing engines on trucks."

Speaking of the bridge ceremonies, it seems to be the general consensus here that they were something less than a howling success.

The crowds were thin but the preparations had been thick. There is one report of a speculative merchant who ordered up 100,000 hot dogs and buns and found himself with at least 85,000 left over when the affair had ended.

Most of the politicians (with the exception of the highest-ranking Democrats) left the area in a huff, as has been reported by the metropolitan papers. The local citizenry wasn't at all pleased with the idea that public officials would be so unsensitive as to try to use their beloved bridge as a springboard into the fall election campaigning.

There were "vacancy" signs outside many motels this key Independence Day week-end, which has a great deal to do with the nature of local morale.

The inescapable conclusion seems to be that the folks down in lower Michigan have been more concerned with the details of the business slowdown than they are with the grandeur of "Big Mac."

Some of us have worried a great deal about what would happen, after the bridge was in use, to the troop of fat sea gulls which followed the ferry boats. This was a trained bunch which from 100 yards could spot a seed of popcorn falling from a tourist's chin over the stern of the boat, and dive-bomb swiftly enough to catch it before it hit the water. Thousands of tourists saved sandwich crusts just to feed the gulls during the Straits crossing.

What happens to the birds now? Starvation and extinction, like the whooping cranes and do-do?

We had our eyes open crossing the bridge and spotted one lone gull, soaring on the breeze at highest point of the span, as if he expected a tourist at any moment to step up to the railing and toss over a morsel. But all the other gulls — missing.

A native assured us the birds would make out. "They had a good thing in those ferry boats, to be sure," he advised, "but there are other pastures on the lakes. Gulls follow the big freighters, too, dipping and gliding until mealtime, and then feasting on the ship's garbage as it is heaved over the side. If you miss the gulls, you might go out on Lake Superior somewhere. You'll probably find them there, close to some ore boat, beady-eyed and ungrateful, scavenging up anything they can get their hard beaks into."

The view from the top of the bridge is one of the delights of living. There is no bluer, more sparkling water in all of North America than rolls through the Straits of Mackinac on a sunlit day, and the vista from the bridge sweeps the eye over hundreds of square miles of such color.

June was Junior Month! What is a Junior? She is any young girl between the ages of Birth to 18 years. They are grouped in three classes: Tiny Tots (Birth to 6 years); Class I (6 years to 12 years); Class II (12 years to 18 years). She is eligible if her father is a member of The American Legion. Dues are $1.01 a year, payable September 1 of each year. What do Juniors do? Quite a varied program — they learn to conduct a business meeting, holding offices. They make favors, etc. for veterans in hospitals. They can entertain shut-ins, dress dolls, take part in a variety of things. We now have 5 active Juniors, who have been very busy this year. They adopted a Ward of Veterans at the Ann Arbor VA hospital, making favors for holidays. They marched in the Memorial Day parade. When do the Juniors meet? Every first Thursday, starting September 4 and an additional meeting the fourth Thursday if needed. If any young ladies are interested please contact Glenview 3-2291 or Vickie Gardner, Mrs. 3-2531. We fact: Mrs. Gwen Holcombe, ed upon the three known will be very happy to welcome you.

Among the honors conferred upon the three unknown Servicemen entombed at Arlington National Cemetery is the Medallion of the Society of the American Legion. The Religion in Life Citation of the Chapel of the Four Chaplains, Philadelphia, has presented to National Commander John S. Gleason, Jr. of The American Legion.

A $2000 check for The American Legion's national emergency relief fund has been forwarded to aid victims of recent Kansas tornadoes.

State Fair Mails Premium Book

Thousands of premium books have been mailed announcing a record $140,000 in prizes at the 1958 Michigan State Fair, August 2 through September 7. The deadline for entries this year is Friday, August 8. Donald L. Swanson, State Fair general manager, announced.

Swanson urged farmers to make their entries as early as possible to avoid the last minute rush and to keep from being shut out of the State Fair because of lack of space. In recent years, practically all categories have been filled to capacity — many long before the deadline for entries. The 1958 Premium book has been mailed to permanent list of farmers including those exhibitors in last year's State Fair. Anyone not on the mailing list, or anyone desiring a free copy, should write to the Director of Agricultural Exhibits, Michigan State Fair, Detroit 3, Michigan.

Canton Township Boasts Beauty Contest Winner

ESTHER SPRENGEL
GL. 3-1094

Well the 4th of July has come and gone. We enjoyed the parade and were proud of our beauty contestant from the township, Janet Spigarello. The weather-man was even cooperative, and permitted us to have our outdoor events.

July 4, Mrs. James Spigarello of Beck Rd., reports that coming of her husband, James, his brother Frank Spigarello and sister Lucy Fedell, all of Beck Rd., were here from Helpter, Utah to visit with all of them. Mrs. Irene Shaw and her daughter, Bonnie, and Reno Spigarello returned to Utah, Sunday, July 6.

Mrs. James Spigarello and daughter Nancy are leaving July 5th for Kansas City to visit her mother, who is ill in the hospital. We hope you have a speedy and pleasant trip Isabelle and that you will return home rapidly.

It is reported that Marian Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theron Palmer of Beck Rd. is visiting friends in New York state. Let us know all about your trip when you return, Marian.

I tried to contact many of you to see what you had planned for the holiday, but either you had left for the weekend or perhaps you were busy in your gardens. In either case call me and let's report how our 4th of July went.

I reported a week ago that "Grandma" West of Cherry Hill, who suffered from a broken hip was recovering nicely. I was told yesterday that Mrs. West has had a setback and has been moved to the Hanlon Rest Home. Mrs. West is 85 years of age.

Boyscout Troop 298 spent last weekend at the Art Edwards cottage at Houghton Lake, under the supervision of Mr. Edwards, Mr. Ridley, Mr. Bob Williams, Mr. Clair Avery and Mr. Leffler, their leader. I understand the boys had a wonderful time.

James Lobbestael of Ridge Rd. and Michael Patrick plan to attend school there. I called Mrs. Helen Wood of 219 Haggerty Rd., one of your neighbors from the east side of the township, to see if she had any news. I found Helen, who is a very active worker in school activities, busy in her kitchen making cherry jam. We discussed the huge appetites of the birds for the cherries, and Helen said she saved all her little aluminum pans from frozen foods and pressed and hung them all over her trees, thus quenching the hunger of our feathered friends for her cherries, and enabling her to make her delicious cherry jam. Thanks for the tip.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS

Several awards were won by our auxiliary at the Department Encampment held at Escanaba in June. The community service committee headed by Bettie Neale won a trophy for second place, the cancer committee, whose chairman is Barbara Nash, and the legislative committee, with Jean Olson as its chairman, both won citations. The auxiliary was awarded another citation for having been on the Honor Roll for five consecutive years.

Americanism chairman, Eileen Williams, with Bernice Kopenski, Lou Archer and President LeMay Smith, presented a flag to Our Lady of Good Council church.

We hope everyone enjoyed the parade on July 4, as much as this writer did. The girls' drill team made their debut with a spectacular array of maneuvers and marching skill that was outstanding. The team, led by Dolly Bouterse, has been in existence for just two months and their precision shows that practice pays off. The members are: Gerry Olson, Marion Luttermoser, Beverly Brown, Mar Bernice Kopenski, A. Dele Stevens, Eileen Williams, Betty Neale, Mary Schwartz and Loreta Young. Carrying the colors were May Smith and Milly Dely and color guards Marion Groth.

The 4th District Past Presidents Club met at the home of Helen Pennington in Detroit Monday evening. They enjoyed a wicker roast in the Gertrude Danol attended and Virginia was elected secretary.

At our last Auxiliary meeting National Encampment delegates were elected to attend the meeting in New York. They were: Marion Krumm, Lou Archer and Grace Burley.

Our second chicken barbecue will be held at the Post on Sunday, July 27. Serving will be from 12 noon to 6 p.m. Those who attended the last one, won't want to miss this. Bring the family and friends and see the new improvements in the "picnic area."

During the July 2 Post meeting, delegates to the National Encampment in New York City (Aug. 17-22) were elected. They are: Sam Wilhelm, Bud Krumm and Hal Young. Alternates are Harry Bartel, Jim McLean and Jack Olsvater. Sam Wilhelm was elected to finish Bill Norman's trusteeship. Incidentally Bill and Marie left earlier than planned, as Bill is working in Hollywood.

The Post is looking ahead to the fall and winter season at the Post home. Bud Krumm was appointed general chairman. One suggestion being considered, is to have some square dances included. Let Bud-know what you think.

BIG TROUT

RAYMOND, Me. (UPI) — James Heath, a guide, caught the largest brown trout to be taken at Sebago Lake. He used a lead core line and a Mooselook Wobbler spoon as a lure to land the 17-pounder from Jordan's Bay after an hour's battle.

COSTLY PRACTICE

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — It cost Attorney Snow G. Munford $100 to win $28,135 for a client. His successful argument in one court forced him to be late in another, and he was fined $100 for contempt.

NAMES NEEDED

HARTFORD, Vt. (UPI) — The board of selectmen has been assigned by the planning commission to give specific names to roads that are undesignated or known by several folk names. It seems that firemen were unable to locate a recent blaze, and three trucks had to converge from separate directions while hunting it.

THE TEST

BOSTON (UPI) — Jean Mayer, associate professor of nutrition at the Harvard School of Public Health, scoffs at scientific tests made to determine if a person is obese. "The simplest way to learn that," says he, "is to stand in front of a mirror. If you look fat — you are fat."

EARTH-BOUND

RAPID CITY, S. D. (UPI) — Two staff sergeants at Ellsworth Air Base, Robert Peterson and Lewis Wilson, launched a homemade rocket, but instead of taking off into the air, it punched into the door of their barracks 15 feet away. Officers assessed them for repairs.

Front Row Center

by George Spalvin

Amid all the fireworks, picnics, and assorted holiday fun, the traditional Fourth of July parade provided Plymouth with its yearly dramatic pageant. The theater Guild float steamed up the main drag in true Showboat style.

Jerry French, chairman of the float committee, can well be proud of his crew that constructed the Showboat float for the parade. He indicated that Abe and Rose-

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Slim's "Pickins"

Slim Thomas who owns a used-car lot on the highway proved more than once he can think fast. Last week, for example, a young roofing salesman came in to say he couldn't keep up the payments on a car he'd bought.

Someone else would have begun to talk about refinancing—or repossession of the car. But Slim looked the fellow up and down and asked him how'd he'd like a part-time job.

Now Slim's got a new salesman. The new fellow's holding down both jobs and keeps his car too. Everybody's happy.

From where I sit, our town is lucky in having a fellow like Slim around. He's not only a good judge of a used car, but of character, too. Maybe it's because he understands others—and respects their viewpoints. Slim's one fellow who'd never try to "sell" you out of choosing a glass of beer with your meal, just because he prefers coffee!

that played earlier this season at Schubert Theater in downtown Detroit.

Visited the Penn Theater a week or so ago and had an enjoyable time watching "Teacher's Pet." The plot was standard and has been done many times before. Only difference was that the directors, producers, and the writers put a little more zip into the old story. No wide screen, color, or other tricks cluttered up this movie. It was just a simple story about Clark Gable as a rough, tough newspaper man that really had a heart of gold underneath all the crude exterior. Doris Day persuaded him that an education is of some value. And it isn't surprising that many patrons left the theater mumbling, "Well, all I can say is that Doris Day could have convinced anyone that education is worth-while."

They had a corny bit about the power of Clark's kisses. Such a comic bit of business is usually standard in comedies. I suppose it lends credence to the situation of an old, graying buck still retaining some of his youth. At least enough of it to sway young Doris Day away from a handsome rival. Oh, well, it was fun as it unrehearsed, why tear it apart now that the money has been spent. As I indicated earlier, the movie was light and frothy. Just the sort of carefree adventure you might want to believe in if you relax for an hour or two.

Of course, let me warn you that relaxing on a Friday night in the Penn Theater during the summer months is not too easy. Why? No air conditioning? Not at all, it was nice and cool. The big difficulty is that the Penn has discontinued Saturday matinees for the summer. As a result, all the young fry, the middle teens, and the Bermuda short crowd are present en masse. Now old George is not against the youth of our community flooding the theaters of our town. No, no that. It's just an ordeal when you are plunged into their territory. Their interests in a love story is not the same as with "Terry and the Pirates Meet the Bowers Boys." They want action and lots of it. And if it's not on the silver screen, they will make their own. How?

Up to the candy counter for five or six candy bars which have yards of noisy wrappers. A sudden trip to the popcorn concession is next in order. The crunching of a hundred little jaws as they mash the corn with hi-fi hulls can rival a field of frustrated crickets. Several groups decide usually during a very emotional scene, that water is most necessary. So an expedition is formed for the rear of the movie house. And then there is always the lost brother or sister wandering in the aisles. Let me warn you that the early show on Friday night gives you two shows at one time — one on the screen, the other all around you.

The Department of Speech over in Ann Arbor is offering an excellent season of plays: "Inherit the Wind," "The Potting Shed," "The Philadelphia Story," and "La Traviata" with the School of Music. Tickets are reasonable and you can get a season ticket for as low as $2.50 for four plays. At those recession-type prices, how can you miss. The plays and the players are of top quality. "Inherit the Wind" opens on July 9th and runs through July 11th. See you over at Ann Arbor.

WASHINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — Because Nate Flint's mother, father, sister and two brothers died between their 61st and 62nd birthdays, Flint, made sure of having his 62nd birthday celebration by holding a party for himself two days before the actual date. He invited the towns of Barre and Montpelier and an estimated 5,000 persons showed up. A 55-gallon oil drum was needed to store all the birthday cards.

Town Crier: Anthony's in Bermuda; Mrs. Eaton to Join Daughter in Europe

GLORIA BOWLES
GL. 3-2340

(Covering the area along Sheldon to Ann Arbor Trail, Amherst Court, Mrs. Bratton, including Plymouth Colony, Parklane, Hough Sub., Plymouth Hills, and Ridgewood.)

Very special vacation plans have been made by two Town Crier area residents:

The oldest self-governing British colony in the world, boasting a group of 360 small islands and comprising 21 square miles in the Atlantic Ocean — Bermuda — is the vacation spot chosen by the James O. Anthony's of Amherst.

This couple left last Sunday, drove to New York and from there flew to their hotel in Bermuda. The Anthony's are looking forward to sightseeing, dancing, golfing (Bermuda possesses some of the best courses in the world,) sailing and the scarcity of cars, for only taxicabs (with fringe on top), horses and bicycles are allowed on the island. Mrs. Anthony also hopes to find some bargains in British woolen goods and French perfume.

This reporter mentioned that the trip to the island would be much like a second honeymoon, to which Mrs. Anthony replied that it would be more like the first. It seems that the couple's first jaunt together began a day and a half ago at Niagara Falls. Taking care of the little Anthony's will be Grandmother, Mrs. Frank Santis, who traveled here from Canton, Ohio.

Scotland, England, and Paris are on the itinerary of the trip planned by Mrs. Sterling Eaton of Maple. Mrs. Eaton will leave tomorrow, flying to Scotland to meet her daughter Cynthia, who has been working in that country for the past year. The young lady will be accompanied by her daughter — will complete her first European journey, when she and Cynthia arrive home on Labor Day. The return trip will be made by ship.

The home of Mrs. Forrest Olson on Carol was the scene of a shower given in honor of Miss Burnette Lazor of Beech, who will be married July 12. The future bridegroom is Roy Mathis, 15 or 16 neighborhood women were present at the party, which was hosted by Mrs. James Elias of Beech.

An associate professor of Physics at the University of New Hampshire in Durham is Dr. Robert E. Huston, Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Huston of Ridgewood. Dr. Huston and family, including his wife and children, Karen, 7, and Douglas, 5, spent the weekend before last in Plymouth. The clan drove from the New England state. Mrs. Huston, Sr. reports that her son is beginning a new project which concerns work on Air Force rocket tracers.

Everyone, including the E. F. Harringtons of Ridgewood, is traveling or has traveled to view the pride of Michigan, "Big Mac" in the north. This Plymouth couple stayed at the Terrace Beach Lodge in Traverse City, and then jaunted to the point of interest, arriving the last day of the festival. They waited until this time to go to avoid the crowds and bad weather. (82 mile an hour winds, said Mrs. Harrington.)

At any rate, she summarized in a burst of praise for the bridge, that it is "just beautiful, a big addition for the state, and something which Michigan can be proud of."

The first vacation in one and a half years is in store for the Harry L. Crawfords and children Kathy and Dale of Priscilla Lane. This family left last Saturday for a week's stay at a cottage on Joysyn Lake near Brighton. They will spend the next two weeks commuting between their home and the Washnetown Country Club, where they plan to take full advantage of their membership at the club and enjoy the pool, golf, and other fun activities there.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Busha of Beech returned last week from an Eastern trip, which included a route through the Blue Ridge and White Mountains, and Maine and New Hampshire. A Detroit couple also made the trip.

Greeting her almost as soon as she came home was Mrs. Busha's two-year old grandson, whose mother is Mrs. Nancy Robinson.

Traveling in two opposite directions — east and west — is the C. R. Bratton family of Amherst Court. Mrs. Bratton is anticipating a flight to visit two sisters: Mrs. L. E. Cole in Rakway, New Jersey and Mrs. Harry Wilson of Karmel, New York. Mrs. Wilson returned recently from a trip around the world, and so his Plymouthite is looking forward to news of the jaunt.

Mr. Bratton and son David, 20, left last week for a trip to Denver, Colorado, and Houston, Texas, where they will visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Foley of Priscilla Lane are expecting a visit this week from Mrs. Foley's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hayes. Mr. Hayes is an FBI man and has been transferred from his Kentucky position to a Tallahassee, Fla., with room for a two-week vacation in between.

Little Tommy Foley celebrated his fourth birthday last Thursday. A belated Happy Birthday to you, Tommy.

Recent dinner guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Walter W. Hammond, Jr. of Maple were long-time friends General and Mrs. H. L. Scofield. The Scofields are on their way from Utah to Washington, where the General has a new assignment.

The Lewis Smiths of Turkey Run were among the theater-goers present at the Music Circle Theater at the Botsford Inn in Farmington last weekend.

The Independence Day weekend provided the basis for the social plans of many area residents.

The son and daughter and their families of the Harold Daggetts of Ridgewood visited that family for the 4th of July weekend. Bringing their new baby were Mr. and Mrs. Jay Dagget. (The youngster's name is William Dennis; he's one month old.) Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Birt of Grosse Ile, who were accompanied by their children, Bobby and Mike.

Barbara Ann Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Cooper of Amherst Court spent last week at the Occochee cottage of Plymouth friend Barbara Shantz. The cottage is on Huron Beach. Journeying to New Troy, Michigan last week were the William L. Schmidts and children Mary, Bill, and Tom of Turkey Run. New Troy is the home of Mrs. Schmidt's parents, the Dean Morleys. All three of the blond Schmidt children enjoyed a dip in Lake Michigan.

Junior Higher Dale Livingston and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence E. Livingston of Jener motored to Interlochen, Michigan last Monday. Interlochen is the home of the National Music Camp, which Dale, who plays the baritone, will attend for two weeks.

Two Town Crier area families will get together this weekend for swimming, boating, and water skiing at Sand Point, in the north. They are the R. V. Bennetts and Barbara, James and Dick of Priscilla Lane, who visited the Michael Newells of Park Place, who are renting a cottage in that area. This cottage is just a few doors from the summer home of another Plymouth family, the J. W. Selles of Roosevelt, and Barb has plans to spend some time with Kay Selle.

Brian Kidston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Kidston of Amherst Court, and Dick of Priscilla Lane, who visited the Michael Newells of Park Place, who are renting a cottage in that area. This cottage is just a few doors from the summer home of another Plymouth family, the J. W. Selles of Roosevelt, and Barb has plans to spend some time with Kay Selle.

Kuisel's family is the destination of the Kuisels and sons and daughters Mary, Harold, Jeanne, and Marvin. The sextet will spend two weeks in the dairy state with Mrs. Kuisel's mother, Mrs. Mike Weigel.

Mr. and Mrs. Vito Ippolito of Sheldon, along with their 16-foot boat, motored to Canada last weekend. The couple, trying "something new," went 400 miles into Canada and did some fishing.

A visit from their son and daughter of Indianapolis highlighted the past holiday weekend of the Milt Irvins of Brush. Their daughter, the former Miriam Irvin, and her husband, Captain John Goodman, and children Susan and David, arrived for the Fourth as did son Lewis Irvin and his fiancée, Joy Booher.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Buches of Beech entertained Chicago friend Mr. and Mrs. Vito Rumchek and daughter Roberta last weekend. This was the Buch's first 4th in Plymouth.

Visiting the Lewis Litzens of John Alden for the Independence Day weekend were Mr. and Mrs. William Grigsby and daughter Claudia of Toledo. The Grigsbys, college friends of the Litzens, enjoyed this Plymouth Colony couple's backyard pool.

Hip, Hip Hooray, Woop-dee-oo and all that jazz! The Plymouth Colony baseball team, after four starts, has won its first game! They slaughtered the firemen, 7 to 6. (Mr. Jack Mitenbuler of Turkey Run says the only reason the Coloners won is because the firemen are older. Such modesty!) At any rate, they did win and announced their victory by blazing triumphantly through the Colony and tooting their car horns in a madury of excitement and pride. The men were armed to the teeth with blue and white T-shirts and blue caps, which don't fit the heads of most of the men but pop up like sore spots.

Seriously, Mr. Russell Kreitsch deserves praise for his behind-the-scenes work which has made this project successful. Needless to say, the ball team has received the enthusiastic support of the whole neighborhood.

Two surprise guests arrived at the home of Mrs. Fay Shirey of Jener Avenue last week. They were Mrs. Shirley's cousin and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Colby of Chicago, Ill., who were passing through after traveling over the Mackinaw Bridge.

Also heralding the long holiday weekend were the James Barbers of Ridgewood. They entertained special guests: Mr. Barber's sister, Emma Barber and her friends Miss Eleanor Sherman and Miss Hazel Dixon, all of Jamestown, N. Y.

Parkview Circle-ites Undaunted By Gray Skies Over Holiday

BY GRACE WIGLEY
GL. 3-2734

(Covering the area east of the railroad tracks to the park and from Parkview Circle north to Wilcox Lake.)

The holidays are over now but things had really been "popping" around here. Even gray skies couldn't take the sparkle out of Fourth of July celebrations, and, for many Parkview Circle area residents, the weekend proved to be a very pleasant one.

The holiday found the Walter Lake family, of Parkview Dr., picnicking at the home of Harvey Heabler, Sr. Mrs. Heabler's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Heabler, Sr. were also present. Now that we have the weather for it, many of us are taking advantage of this enjoyable pastime. Everything seems to taste so much better in the out-of-doors.

The Kendalls, of Parkview Dr., were certainly not the ones to be left out of the festivities. Their home welcomed the Truxes, Kellys, and Papes for a Fourth of July party.

The Edward Katz family of Livonia, and the Hugh MacIsaac family, of Plymouth, visited the Kauffmans, of Parkview Dr., and enjoyed a cook-out in the evening on Independence Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Curok, of Windsor, came to visit the home of their son, L. E. Curok, of Parkview Dr., and enjoyed Fourth of July dinner with the family. Then on the next morning, Dorothy and the children, Lynne and Laurie, were off to the farm in Essex, Ontario which is owned by Dorothy's parents, the MacDowells.

The Joseph Wilson family has moved from Holbrook Ave. to 538 North Mill St. The holiday was celebrated at their home. Mrs. Nora Wilson, Mr. Wilson's mother, Mr. and Mrs. Nielson, Mrs. Wilson's parents, and Mr. and Mrs. Trombley and family were guests.

The Wilsons, of Garling Dr., entertained the George Florcken family on the Fourth and enjoyed a cook-out for supper. Terry Wilson is visiting her grandparents in Hillsdale. (While the Florckens were visiting the Wilsons, Mr. Wilson happened to mention that our little "Old Faithful" 1940 Ford was for sale. So soon it will be chugging away with new owners.)

The Gardells, of Mill St. have a visitor from Flint. He is Carl Gardell, Mr. Gardell's brother. By the way, remember Lola Fajan who was looking for just relatives a few weeks ago? Well, she has found lots of aunts, uncles, and cousins.

Visiting Bessemer "up North" is Mrs. Clinansmith, of Mill St. She plans to stay for two weeks with relatives.

We are sorry to see the Jim Cameron family leave Parkview Circle. They were back for the weekend to pack their remaining belongings and then off to Buffalo where they are living with Mrs. Cameron's parents until their new house is finished. Meanwhile we are waiting for the new neighbors to move in next door.

The Tabbert family is also moving. They will leave their home on Amelia St. and move to Blanche St.

Allen and Pattie Lickfeldt, of Holbrook Ave., are visiting their cousins, Pam and Normie, in Dayton, Ohio.

On Sunday, the Kennedys visited the Carpenters and tried their luck with the barbecue grill. Both families are of Parkview Dr.

From all that is heard, the Uptons, of Parkview Dr., had a wonderful vacation. On June 20, they were off in their new trailer for two weeks of leisurely living and sight-seeing. They traveled through Gettysburg, Washington, D.C., and Shannandoah National Park, traveling along the Skyline Drive. They also viewed the towering Smoky Mountains before they finally returned home last Sunday. What a life! Please don't forget to let me in on the latest news by calling GL. 3-2734. I'll be seeing you.

Here Is Way To Eliminate Those Squeaky Floors

Wedges Can Do Job Sometimes

One minor household problem that is a major "headache" is a squeaky floor. Not that it's a serious problem, but it's a condition that grates on the nerves of each member of the home.

Taking the squeaks out of floors is not a difficult chore. However, it does take a little investigation time and careful work. For example, once the noisy floor area is located there are several ways to eliminate the trouble. One way is to nail the loose flooring boards to the joists below.

Before any nailing can be done, joists must be located first. This is done by hitting a small block of wood with a hammer while holding the block of wood on the floor. A solid sound means that there is a joist below; joists are positioned every 16 inches in home construction. Then, the loose finished flooring is nailed to the joists. Nails should be driven in an X-like pattern. This angle nailing keeps the nails from working loose.

Many times a squeaky floor is the result of sub-flooring shrinkage. When this happens, small spaces between subflooring and joists, open up and the weight of someone walking on the floor will cause squeaks and rubbing. To remedy this problem, drive a small wedge between subfloor and joist. This is done from the basement. The wedge will eliminate the "play" between the joist and subflooring.

Noisy floors can be a problem in a large area due to the movement of several finished flooring boards. To minimize this trouble, it's important to work from the basement again. Once the area is located, force a strip of stock against several boards of the subfloor. The strip side should be flush against a joist. Then, nail the strip to the joist so that it will act as a brace. This should hold 5 or 6 sub-flooring boards against the finished flooring.

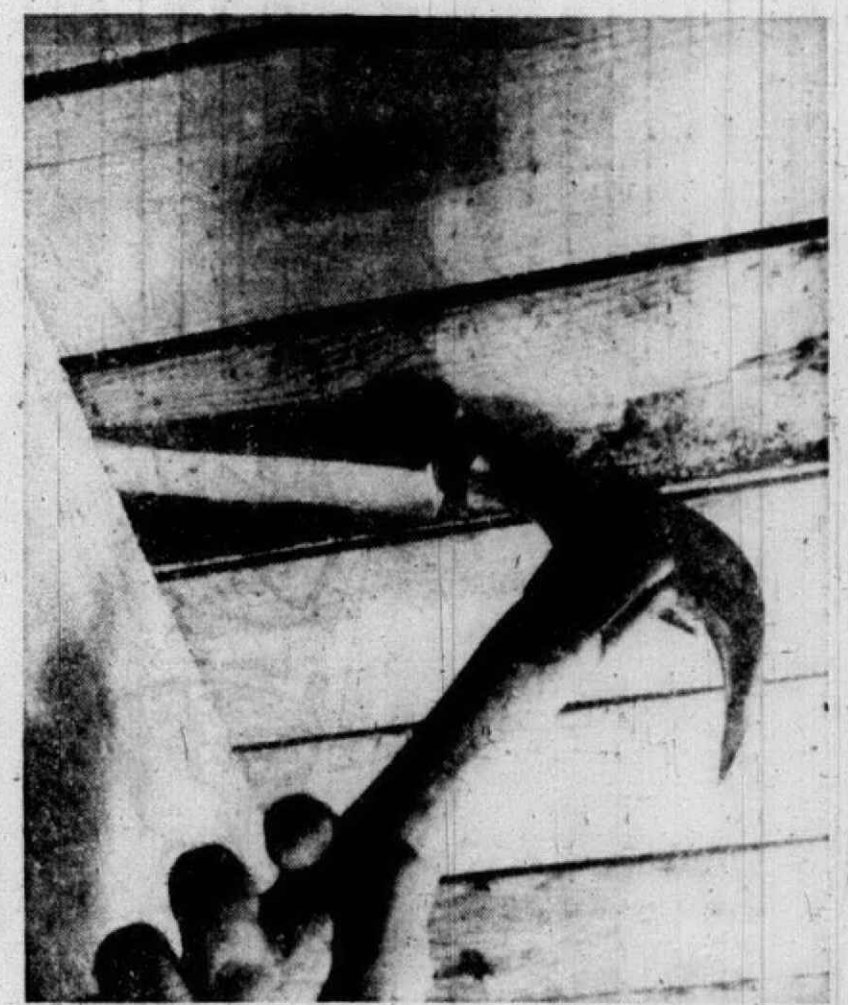

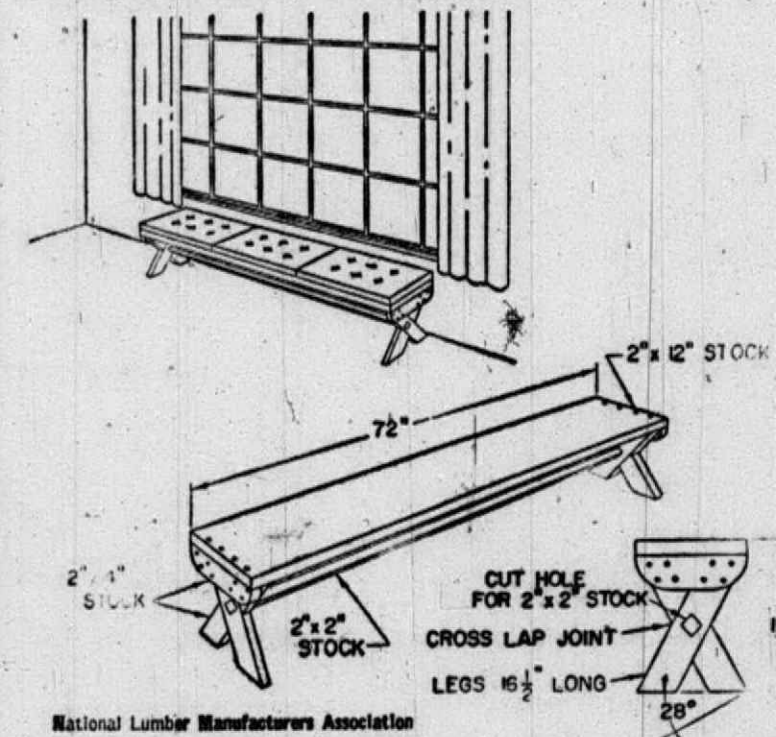

Small area squeaks can be eliminated simply. Several round-headed screws driven from the sub-floor into the finish floor should do the trick. Make sure that the screws are of correct length so as not to penetrate through the finished flooring. Screws no longer than 1 1/4 inches should be sufficient. What happens is that the screws pull up the slack or space between the finished flooring and the subflooring so there is no chance of rubbing or squeaks.

HERE'S HOW ...

MAKE A WINDOW SEAT

A sturdy and attractive bench seat can be used as a window seat or for porch or recreation room. The length may be varied but if longer than 72 inches, supporting legs will be needed in the center. The top is cut to a length of 6 feet. Cut the end braces 1 1/2 inches long and round the ends. The legs are cut 16 1/2 inches long. Angle the ends of each leg 28 degrees. Assemble the legs using a cross-lap joint. A square opening, as shown in the diagram, is cut for the rail. Assemble the window seat with glue and wood screws. Foam rubber pads can be placed on top to complete the project.

SILENCING a squeaky floor can be done by driving a wedge between joist and subfloor.

Bird Photography Fascinating

NUTHATCH at a window feeder taken with a 4 x 5 view camera and an 8 inch lens, 1-50 second exposure with flash gun.

Judging from the number of feeding stations and bird baths, binoculars and cameras, it seems as though there are almost as many bird watchers as there are birds in this country.

Observing birds through binoculars is a much less time-consuming hobby than photographing them. Sooner or later, a bird watcher will want to try pictures.

Before the camera is set up, it is essential to find a spot where birds come and go and so will pose. In summer a bird bath is a likely spot. In winter a feeding station is fully as good. A garden whose owners have fed birds for a long time is ideal.

A 35mm camera is fine for taking pictures of birds if either a telephoto lens 300mm or the portrait lens is used. The 35mm camera with the telephoto lens allows the photographer to stay some distance away from the feeding station or bird bath and yet get all the details of the bird. It is better to work with available sunlight than to use flash.

By having the camera in focus, no time need be lost in making an exposure after the bird alights on the bird bath or feeding station. It is only necessary to wait until the bird turns and gives the profile the photographer wants. Another method is to fasten the camera to a tripod and place it in such a position that there is enough space to get the picture of the bird when it alights. Then, by a remote control air bulb and long rubber tube, expose the film. This enables the photographer to stay out of sight and yet brings the camera up close to the birds.

Stop the camera down as much as possible and wait for the best light to compensate for the bird being in one area or another. The smaller the opening of the camera, the better the depth of focus. When taking pictures of birds at a window ledge feeding station, either a 35mm or a 4x5 view camera could be used. For this situation, a flash gun could augment the light. If the photographer will conceal himself after setting up the camera on its tripod, the birds will get used to the camera and gradually resume their regular feeding habits.

Strobe lighting does well for bird photography. It is so brilliant that it will be able to stop the movement of a hummingbird's wings. For those interested in bird photography, there is much special equipment available. For example, there is an electric eye that will take the picture when the bird breaks the circuit.

A cardinal rule is to never do anything that will kill or hurt in any way the birds being photographed. Also, for every hour a photographer sits and waits for birds, he does not necessarily get a good picture. It is necessary to wait, however many hours, for the ideal pose. That is, the bird should be in a typical position, not with its neck outstretched or its tail at an odd angle. And, while waiting, check the background to be certain that the bird will stand out against it and not merge with trees or shrubs.

BOSTON (UPI) — Massachusetts soon will have a combination highway and helicopter landing areas will be built along Route 128, Boston's circumferential highway. The idea is to provide a modern means of transportation for the multi-million-dollar industrial plants that line Route 128.

Most puffballs are small, perhaps never more than an inch in diameter. But there are giant ones, a foot or more in diameter. They aren't dangerous or damaging.

Mushrooms, which grow 2 to 4 inches or so tall, have white stems. Mushrooms and puffballs are fungi although not the kind that arry diseases to plants. Some kinds of mushrooms, including those to be found in the garden and the woods, are poisonous and neither the stems nor the caps should be eaten unless someone who really knows mushrooms says it's safe to do so.

Under the cap of the mushroom are thin gills which radiate from the stem to the outside edge of the cap. These gills are covered with spores which, when ripe, fall to the ground. A puffball is filled with spores which fly out like a smoky cloud when the puffball is hit.

The spores of mushrooms and puffballs may lie in the ground for years. Sooner or later just the right conditions of temperature and moisture causes them to sprout, just as seeds of marigolds of tomatoes sprout to produce new plants.

Since they do no harm, there's no need to spray to get rid of puffballs and mushrooms. They never flower and they'll wither and disappear in a few days. Once a gall appears, the leaf or stem is bound to grow haywire. The only way to prevent this is to spray the trees in May just after the leaves unfold. Not Everything That Grows Should Remain In a Well-Ordered Garden

Some odd plants grow in the garden, particularly in summertime. Nobody planted them, they just grow of themselves because of the weather.

The mushroom that pushes up in a shaded, damp place and the moss that grows on a tree trunk is as much a plant as the geranium blooming in the window box or the sweet corn in the vegetable plot.

Sometimes a plant makes off looking growth. Many trees, for example, have abnormal growths which are called galls. You may see them on the tree or pick them up off the ground. The leaf of a hickory or maple tree or a chrysanthemum plant may have hard little green cones sticking up from it. That's because an insect has stung the leaf or has chosen it as a place to lay its eggs.

If an ash tree has leaves that look like long brown bean pods, these too are galls. When the leaves fall to the ground, tiny flies emerge. The round brown "oak apples" that fall off oak trees also are galls. They've been caused by wasps.

Most puffballs are small, perhaps never more than an inch in diameter. But there are giant ones, a foot or more in diameter. They aren't dangerous or damaging.

Mushrooms, which grow 2 to 4 inches or so tall, have white stems. Mushrooms and puffballs are fungi although not the kind that arry diseases to plants. Some kinds of mushrooms, including those to be found in the garden and the woods, are poisonous and neither the stems nor the caps should be eaten unless someone who really knows mushrooms says it's safe to do so.

Under the cap of the mushroom are thin gills which radiate from the stem to the outside edge of the cap. These gills are covered with spores which, when ripe, fall to the ground. A puffball is filled with spores which fly out like a smoky cloud when the puffball is hit.

Here Is Way To Eliminate Those Squeaky Floors

Bird Photography Fascinating

NUTHATCH at a window feeding station and an 8 inch lens, 1-50 second exposure taken with a 4 x 5 view camera

Judging from the number of feeding stations and bird baths, binoculars and cameras, it seems as though there are almost as many bird watchers as there are birds in this country.

Observing birds through binoculars is a much less time-consuming hobby than photographing them. Sooner or later, a bird watcher will want to try pictures.

Before the camera is set up, it is essential to find a spot where birds come and go and so will pose. In summer, a bird bath is a likely spot. In winter a feeding station is fully as good. A garden whose owners have fed birds for a long time is ideal.

A 35mm camera is fine for taking pictures of birds if either a telephoto lens 300mm or the portrait lens is used. The 35mm camera with the telephoto lens allows the photographer to stay some distance away from the feeding station or bird bath and yet get all the details of the bird. It is better to work with available sunlight than to use flash.

By having the camera in focus, no time need be lost in making an exposure after the bird alights on the bird bath or feeding station. It is only necessary to wait until the bird turns and gives the profile the photographer wants.

Another method is to fasten the camera to a tripod and place it in such a position that there is enough space to get the picture of the bird when it alights. Then, by a remote control air bulb and long rubber tube, expose the film. This enables the photographer to stay out of sight and yet brings the camera up close to the birds.

Stop the camera down as much as possible and wait for the best light to compensate for the bird being in one area or another. The smaller the opening of the camera, the better the depth of focus.

When taking pictures of birds at a window ledge feeding station, either a 35mm or a 4x5 view camera could be used. For this situation, a flash gun could augment the light. If the photographer will conceal himself after setting up the camera on its tripod, the birds will get used to the camera and gradually resume their regular feeding habits.

Strobe lighting does well for bird photography. It is so brilliant that it will be able to stop the movement of a hummingbird's wings. For those interested in bird photography, there is much special equipment available. For example, there is an electric eye that will take the picture when the bird breaks the circuit.

A cardinal rule is to never do anything that will kill or hurt in any way the birds being photographed. Also, for every hour a photographer sits and waits for birds, he does not necessarily get a good picture. It is necessary to wait, however many hours, for the ideal pose. That is, the bird should be in a typical position, not with its neck outstretched or its tail at an odd angle. And, while waiting, check the background to be certain that the bird will stand out against it and not merge with trees or shrubs.

Wedges Can Do Job Sometimes

One minor household problem that is a major "headache" is a squeaky floor. Not that it's a serious problem, but it's a condition that grates on the nerves of each member of the home.

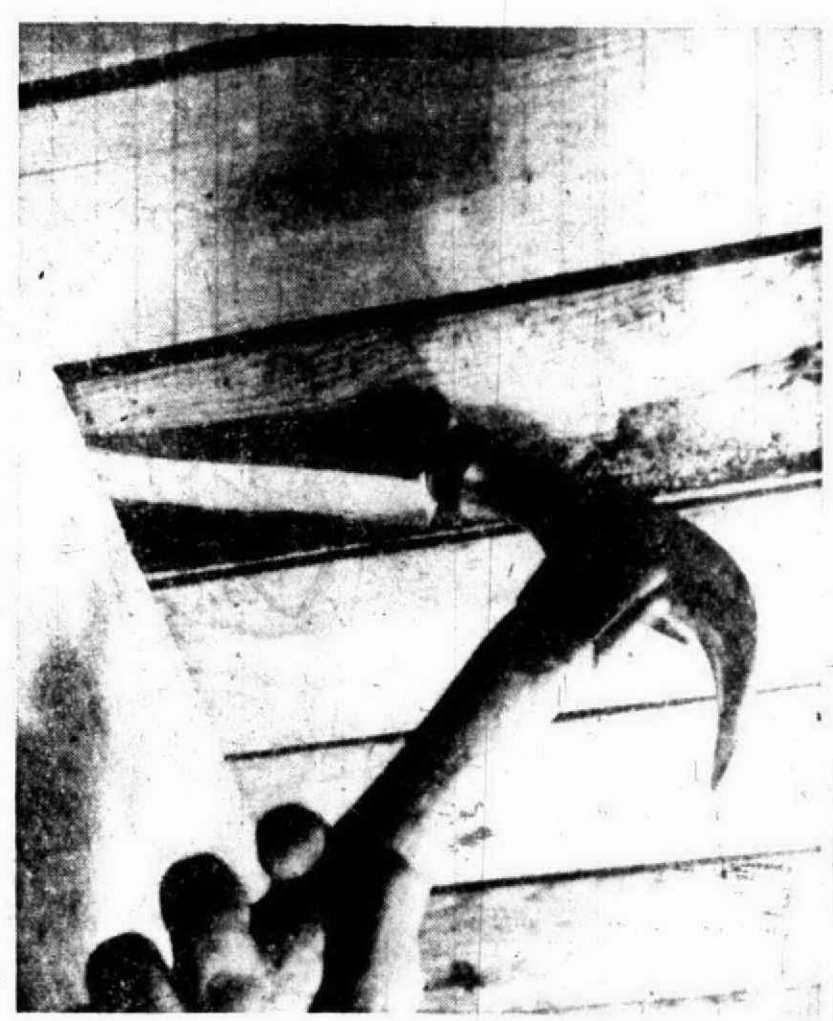

Taking the squeaks out of floors is not a difficult chore. However, it does take a little investigation time and careful work. For example, once the noisy floor area is located there are several ways to eliminate the trouble. One way is to nail the loose flooring boards to the joists below.

Before any nailing can be done, joists must be located first. This is done by hitting a small block of wood with a hammer while holding the block of wood on the floor. A solid sound means that there is a joist below; joists are positioned every 16 inches in home construction. Then, the loose finished flooring is nailed to the joists. Nails should be driven in an X-like pattern. This angle nailing keeps the nails from working loose.

Many times a squeaky floor is the result of sub-flooring shrinkage. When this happens, small spaces between subflooring and joists open up and the weight of someone walking on the floor will cause squeaks and rubbing. To remedy this problem, drive a small wedge between subfloor and joist. This is done from the basement. The wedge will eliminate the "play" between the joist and subflooring.

Noisy floors can be a problem in a large area due to the movement of several finished flooring boards. To minimize this trouble, it's important to work from the basement again. Once the area is located, force a strip of stock against several boards of the subfloor. The strip side should be flush against a joist. Then, nail the strip to the joist so that it will act as a brace. This should hold 5 or 6 sub-flooring boards against the finished flooring.

Small area squeaks can be eliminated simply. Several round-headed screws driven from the subfloor into the finish floor should do the trick. Make sure that the screws are of correct length so as not to penetrate through the finished flooring. Screws no longer than 1 1/4 inches should be sufficient. What happens is that the screws pull up the slack or space between the finished flooring and the subflooring so there is no chance of rubbing or squeaks.

SILENCING a squeaky floor can be done by driving a wedge between joist and subfloor.

It's Shooting Star Time

"O, a shooting star! Did you see it?" asks someone in any group from Houston, Texas, to Holyoke, Mass., as they sit on the lawn, terrace or at an outdoor concert on any summer evening. If there are children, one is sure to pipe up "Where is it? Did a star really fall? Can I see it, too?"

Anyone, young or old, can see a "shooting star" on almost any night of the year. A clear, moonless night is best. And August is one of the best months of the year to see lots of shooting stars. From Aug. 10 through 13 a shower of shooting stars always streams from the constellation Perseus.

The flash of light in the dark night sky that most people call a shooting star isn't a star falling from the heavens. Actually, it's a meteor, a small dark body that revolves around the sun. As the meteor falls through the atmosphere, friction causes it to glow, with the resulting streak of light through the sky. The light lasts but a second.

Most meteors are small and few of them hit the earth. One theory has it that most meteors are consumed by the friction of their passage through the atmosphere. When a meteor is too large to be consumed by friction, it falls to earth or into the sea and is known as a meteorite. A meteorite looks more like a metallic stone than anything else. Most meteorites weigh only a few ounces, although there are craters on the earth's surface that indicate large meteorites have struck. One of the biggest of these craters is near Winslow, Ariz.

No special equipment is needed to see the light streaks that indicate a falling meteor. They can be noted anytime after the sky is dark. The greatest number will be seen between midnight and dawn — so many, in fact that it's hard to see them all. During the annual shower from Perseus, it has been estimated that one meteor falls — and so, a light streak can be seen — every minute.

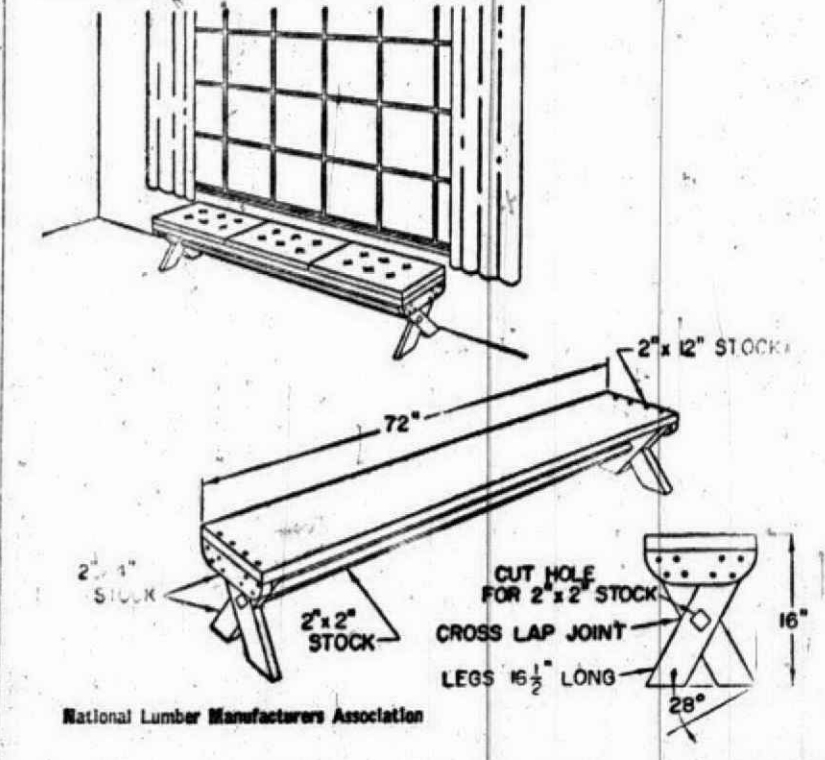

Observation and study of meteors has been greatly aided by amateurs. Data to be included in the time the streak of light is seen, the star and constellation from which it came, the direction of its fall, and the length of its path in degrees. Charts for plotting the paths of meteors are made available to members of the American Meteor Society.

Man's knowledge of meteors and their trails has been greatly increased since the use of radar. Radar, for example, has proved that meteors fall throughout the twenty-four hours, but their light trails can't be seen by man's eyes during daylight. A much longer known fact is that meteors fall from outer space. This should really make shooting stars mean something to the budding spacemen of the family.

HERE'S HOW ...

MAKE A WINDOW SEAT

A sturdy and attractive bench seat can be used as a window seat or for porch or recreation room. The length may be varied but if longer than 72 inches, supporting legs will be needed in the center. The top is cut to a length of 6 feet. Cut the end braces 1 1/4 inches long and round the ends. The legs are cut 16 1/2 inches long. Angle the ends of each leg 28 degrees. Assemble the legs using a cross-lap joint. A square opening, as shown in the diagram, is cut for the rail. Assemble the window seat with glue and wood screws. Foam rubber pads can be placed on top to complete the project.

Patio, Home are Enhanced by Attractive Candle Lighting

THE SHADOW LIGHT casts soft shadows on outdoor or indoor gatherings. It can be attached to tree, porch wall, house or suspended from a post or railing.

Suburban Living

Hanging Light Casts Soft Shadows

Something new for outdoor living — the shadow light. It's the little things that dress up porch or patio to make it a pleasant place to be.

An intricately scrolled metal ball holds a wax-filled, hobnail amber glass, to cast soft shadows across the patio, living room, breezeway or lanai.

There's a metal chair and a 5-inch hanging bracket, so the ball may be hung from the limb of a tree, side of the porch or house and from a post or railing. To double its usefulness, the four tiny feet make it a welcome light on tables, outside or in.

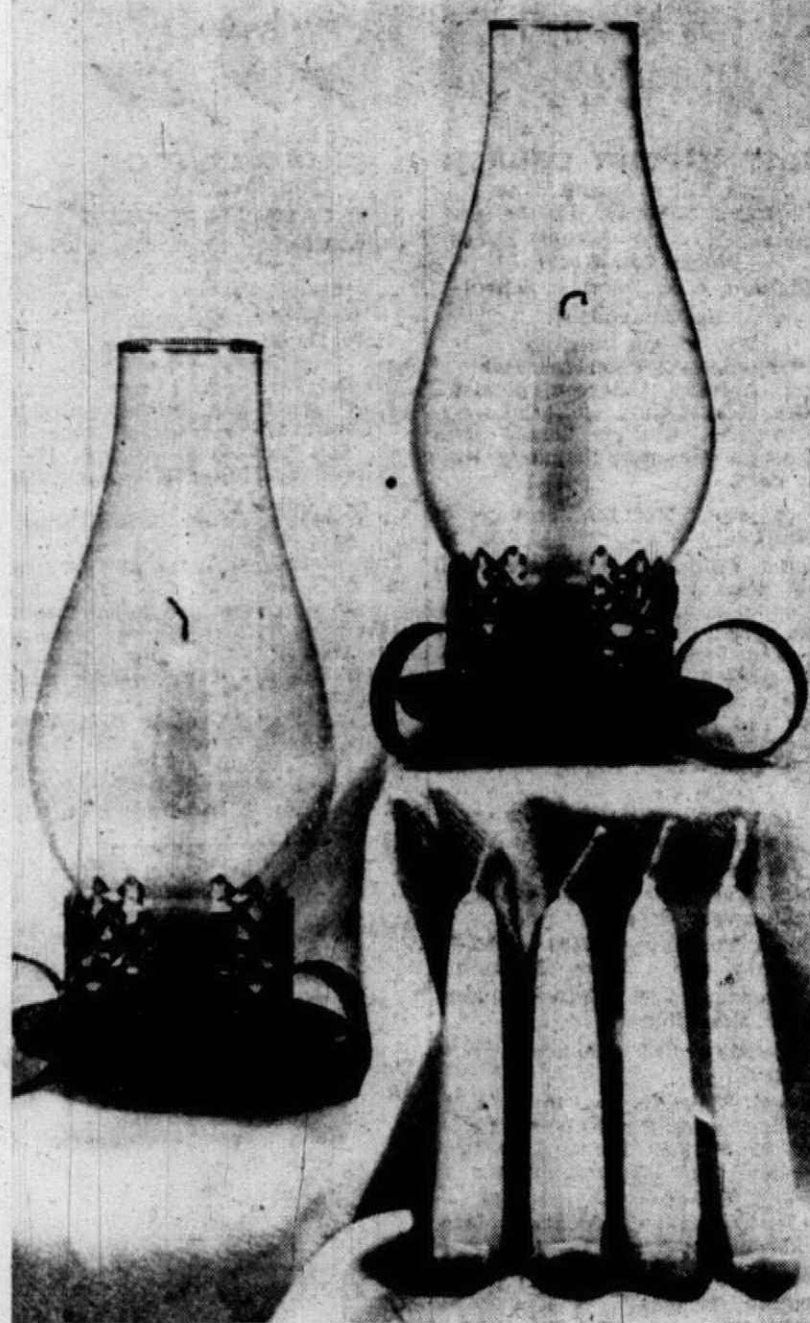

And... it's windproof. Choose from white, black or green — complete with chain and hanging arm bracket and a citronella candle. (Refills are available.)

Aside from being an attractive and useful addition to your home, the shadow light is also an excellent gift. For the hard-to-please friend who has everything... one who's a fiend for outdoor cookery... or a gift for your weekend hostess, this is just the ticket.

With the patio season in full swing, candle companies are turning out decorative lights of all descriptions. A dainty accent to any patio is the tubular glass light. A trim, white metal base holds a tall, clear, glass encased candle. Green ivy and butterflies decorate the glass.

As an outdoor table light it blends with any decor and is bright enough to light a buffet or supper table. Indoors it is perfect for porches, and equally at home on a kitchen table for soft candlelight at a late supper.

For those who want the protection of citronella in outdoor living, the patio light comes equipped. Long burning, more than 150 hours, it is probably the most inexpensive candlelight you've ever used. The empty glasses are reusable as utility flower vases.

HURRICANE LAMPS are the perfect solution to summer barbecue or lawn party lighting problems. They come with citronella impregnated candles.

The patio light is about 11 inches high and comes with a special lighter stick to re-light the candle after it burns deep into the glass.

Another clever new idea on the market is a pair of hurricane lamps with citronella impregnated hurricane candles (pictured to the right). The lamps come in your choice of pink, white, black or turquoise. They are wonderful for decorative purposes and life-savers at backyard barbecues, summer cottages and porch entertaining.

Worried about your summer friend, the mosquito? Candle manufacturers have solved that problem too. An attractive candle is set in a windproof glass bowl, impregnated with an insect repellent material. The repellent, originally intended for use in the form of a lotion for jungle warfare troops, is now mixed with wax.

When the candle is lit, the repellent is vaporized from the candle, as well as from an ingenious new vapor booster ring in the neck of the bowl. The booster assures vaporization and multiplies the effectiveness.

This particular candle won many thousands of friends last summer both outdoors and in. It's easy to use, smokeless, and safe for the garden, beach, porch, terrace, picnics, drive-in movies — just about any place for enjoyment of outdoor living. Pleasantly scented, the candle lasts more than 50 hours, leaving a useful glass bowl.

All of the items mentioned are available in Plymouth. Call The Plymouth Mail for shopping information.

Bananas Not Fattening

Who told you bananas were fattening? Just because you have a full, satisfied feeling after you've eaten a banana, you can't label them high in calories. One medium-sized banana contains only 88 calories. And those diet charts say half a large grapefruit contains one-hundred calories. Weight-watchers like fresh fruits for snacking and desserts. They're good served alone — better when you put them together in a fruit cup. Peel and section a fresh grapefruit, a fresh pineapple, and an apple. Add an orange if you like. You may want a little sugar to sweeten, and a little lemon juice to flavor. And now that you know they're only 88 calories — go ahead and add a banana.

When you're thinking of things to be cooked outdoors, don't overlook fryer-size chickens.

Mildew—Cleaning and Airing Best Protection Against Moths,

Cleaning and protection against moths is as important for household furnishings as it is for clothes. In both cases it is easier to prevent than to correct moth damage.

Rugs, furniture and chairs will be as tempting to moths as any article of clothing, if there are stained or soiled spots on the material. Leather or tapestry covered chairs can be as inviting as a flannel skirt or woolen coat. Even needlepoint seats worked with wool are not exempt if bits of food have fallen on them. Blankets and other household accessories of wool also must be clean before they are stored for the summer months.

Sun, air and cleanliness are the enemies of moths. Once the silvery gray moths are seen flying about in spring or summer, it's time to let as much sun and air into the house as possible and to do some extra cleaning. It is not the moths that damage articles of wool and leather but the larvae which hatch from the eggs and eat into material.

The most important tool for cleaning to prevent moth damage to household furnishings is the vacuum cleaner and its attachments. No one discredits the use of an insecticide such as DDT to control moths, but cleanliness comes first. A thorough vacuuming of every inch of floor space in every room is a real precaution. The "kitties" or light fluffy balls of fuzz usually have wool fibers from carpets or blankets on which moths will feed.

The floor brush attachment for the vacuum cleaner will pick up fuzz before it floats off into some dark corner. Vacuum under beds, cupboards and chairs to be certain no fuzz has floated underneath. Since moths flourish in such dark, sheltered places as closet corners and under baseboards, use the vacuum with an attachment that will draw all dust and lint from these spots.

The room with wall-to-wall carpeting requires a few extra minutes. Use the vacuum cleaner to clean around the edges and corners of the carpeting; with the crevice attachment it will not be too difficult to reach even the farthest corner and thus deprive the moths of desirable places in which to lay eggs which would eventually mean larvae that would feast on the carpeting.

Chairs with leather, tapestry, needlepoint and other wool coverings also should be vacuumed free of dust and dirt. If any spots or stains show after the cleaning, use the proper cleaning fluid to remove them: It is the soiled spots that attract moths.

Dry blankets and other woollens that are washed and hang those that have been dry cleaned in the sun and air for a few hours before storing them. Taking chairs out on the porch in the sun to brush them or remove spots also is insurance against moths.

A chair or carpet that shows tiny holes from moths must be repaired. What is more important, the house then must be rid of moths so that no other furnishings can be damaged. It is far easier to do some extra cleaning and airing early in summer to prevent moths from settling down than it is to be sure they have been routed out later on. Spraying furniture, baseboards and closets with a moth repellent also helps.

Muggy, humid summer weather is also the time when mildew appears. This mildew, also called mold, is a thin white growth of fungus. The spores are always in the air, just as moths are always flying about searching for a place to lay their eggs. Prevention is the rule against mildew, as it is for moths.

Mildew like moths is no respecter of property. It will grow on anything that will furnish enough food. Cellulose products such as cotton, linen, wool and paper and protein substances such as silk, wool and leather are favorite breeding grounds. Leather shoes are no exception when left in a place where moisture and temperature are right for mildew growth.

The prevailing humid areas which means all of this country to the Mississippi River and a couple of hundred miles westward are subject to mildew. Summer is its flourishing season except in the Southeast where year-around precautions must be taken. Owners of newly built homes must be even more watchful for mildew because of the moisture in building materials, but no one can afford to omit prevention.

Damp, warm, poorly aired and poorly lighted places — cellars, closets, draperies and rugs in basement rooms, shower curtains, damp clothes rolled up for ironing — are the places where mildew appears first. Keeping such places clean and ventilated are two preventive measures.

No one can do anything about humid weather except endure it. But other causes of dampness in the house should be removed as far as possible. This may mean constant vigilance to air and dry thoroughly damp articles or rooms. Air conditioners and air dryers or dehumidifiers so much more common in houses than they were ten years ago, do remove excess moisture and maintain a healthful temperature indoors. When these machines are operating, windows and doors should be closed, which means that moist air cannot enter from outdoors.

However, closets still may be ventilated poorly and so become damp and musty, especially during wet weather. To prevent mildew forming on clothing in the closet, burn a small electric light continually. Open closet doors and also bureau drawers occasionally to prevent moisture from collecting and to stir up the enclosed air. An electric fan also helps.

Certain chemicals will absorb excessive moisture from the air. Silica gel, which is not harmful to fabrics, can be placed in cloth bags to be hung in closets. The silica gel turns pink when full of moisture and then may be dried out in an oven turned to 300 degrees. Activated alumina also will not harm clothing, but calcium chloride, which holds twice its weight of water, will. Calcium chloride is best used in cellars or basements to remove moisture and musty odors.

To protect clothing and household furnishings from mildew, keep them dry and, if soiled or clean fabrics become damp, dry and air them thoroughly. Store clean articles in dry places, even though shower curtains and similar things may have been given a mildew-resistance treatment.

Protect leather shoes with a good wax dressing. Since mildew will attack the soles, give them a thin coat of floor wax. Dust leather-bound books with paraformaldehyde and, if necessary, burn a small electric light constantly in the bookcase. To protect other articles of leather, sponge them with a 1 per cent solution of paratropenol in alcohol after testing a small area to make certain the solution will not change the color of the leather.

Mildew, unless prevented or checked, will discolor textiles and leather, decay wood, and infiltrate with a musty odor. Severe cases will eat into cloth so that it rots and falls to pieces.

Special Items Needed by Outdoor Cook

Outdoor cookery calls for some special culinary accessories, say Anita Dean and Robert Rust, food and meat specialists at Michigan State University. They suggest some items that will be most handy, when you're cooking over your outdoor grill this summer. One of the first things you'll want to get is a pair of tongs; in fact, you could get two, pair. Use one for handling a sizzling charcoal and the other for turning foods on the grill.

You could also use asbestos mittens. You'll find them handier and safer than pot holders for managing hot foods and equipment.

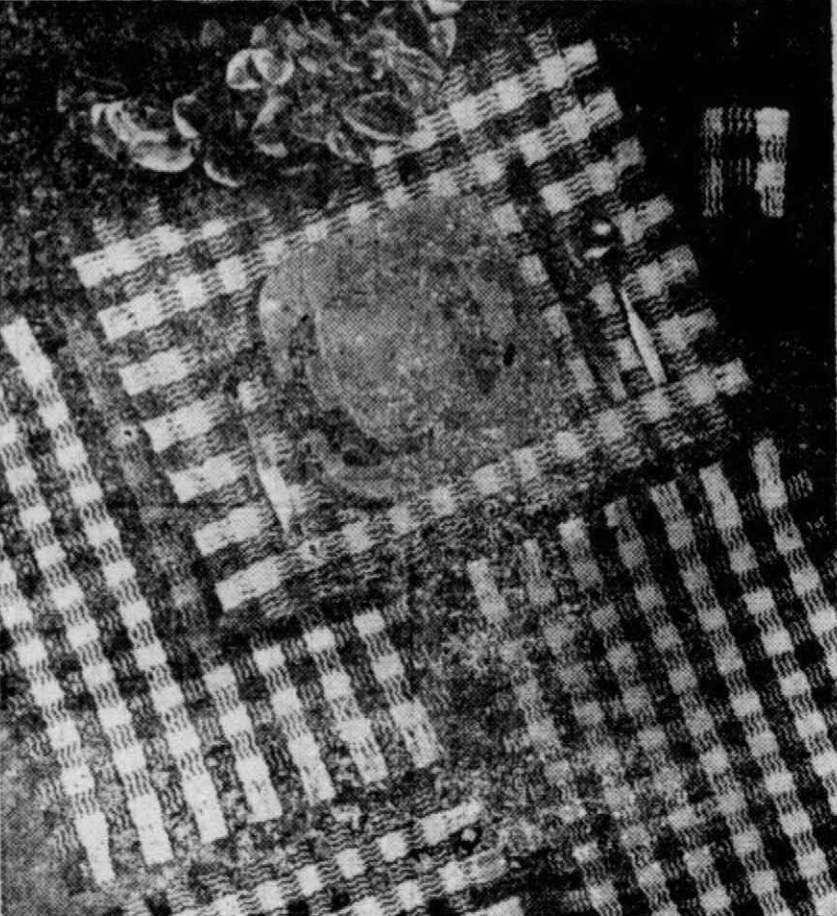

You need long-handled skewers for cooking those outdoor food favorites — kabobs. You can buy some equipped with wooden handles or make your own out of a heavy piece of wire — loop the end to form a handle.

For safety's sake, it's important to keep away from the fire when you're cooking. This is virtually impossible unless you have some long-handled cooking tools. The minimum three are a knife, fork and spatula.

Mrs. Dean and Rust suggest such things as a small shovel and fire rake, a hinged broiler and spit baskets for the "nice-to-have-but-not-necessary" department.

The broiler is a set of two grills hinged together. You place the food between them and simply flip them over to turn the food. They're especially nice for foods that are likely to break apart such as fish and hamburgers.

Spit baskets are designed to hold foods like spare ribs and pork sausages. Because they are attached to the spit, they eliminate hand turning.

A CHERFUL TWO-COLOR TARTAN DESIGN that suggests a checked tablecloth, especially when crocheted in red and white. Red cotton strands are woven through the white crocheted base for a checked effect. Mats are trimmed on both ends with fringe. Glass jackets complete this set which will be wonderful to use in your own home or to make a thoughtful hostess gift. Directions for making TARTAN PLACE MAT SET are available to you. For your copy, send a stamped self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper requesting Leaflet No. S-400.

NATIONAL BANK OF DETROIT

The City Manager's Corner

By Al Glassford

When the City Hall siren puts forth one continuous blast, this means only one thing — danger or disaster are imminent. In all likelihood it will be too late to prepare once the siren has sounded. It is up to every citizen to make his family ready should an actual disaster strike the community.

June 26th there was a simulated tornado alert. Many people were unsure as to what to do and ill-prepared to meet such a situation. To keep from becoming a statistic it is necessary that everyone be well informed as to what to do for self-preservation in time of emergency.

The city government is an integral part of a national alert and Civilian Defense system. However, its function is limited to notification before the impending disaster and aid and assistance after the disaster has taken its toll. This may be of little use to the individual who hasn't made plans for the protection of his family and himself.

Ordinance No. 242 provides for Civil Defense and relief from national disasters. Under this ordinance the City Manager is appointed as director of the Department of Civil Defense. The director is empowered to appoint one or more deputy directors to complete the Civil Defense organization. Under the present organization the city's facilities are grouped into four major service categories.

First is the police service. It will be its duty to protect personal property, direct traffic, provide for patrols and security throughout the city. The police will work in conjunction with the telephone company to keep the city's communications operating properly. The second major Civil Defense service will be that of fire protection and rescue.

The next service is that of maintaining public works. This section of our Civil Defense is assigned the duties of maintaining our water supply and our sewer system. In addition, it will be up to them to keep our streets clear and safe for traffic. The final service unit was established to deal with the medical needs of the city.

The city doesn't stand alone. As previously mentioned we are a part of a nationwide system for Civil Defense. This system extends down through the state governments to county units and then on to the municipal units of government. Each higher level of government directs and coordinates the organization and activities of the smaller units within its boundaries.

In the event of disaster or enemy attack the Wayne County Department of Civil Defense will act as the director of defense activities throughout the county area. The facilities of each community will be placed at the disposal of the county, which

Wood Scores In Home Decor

CHICAGO (UP) — Woods are in evidence in every facet of home furnishings this year.

From appliances, to wall coverings, to upholstered furniture designers are incorporating wood grains into their lines.

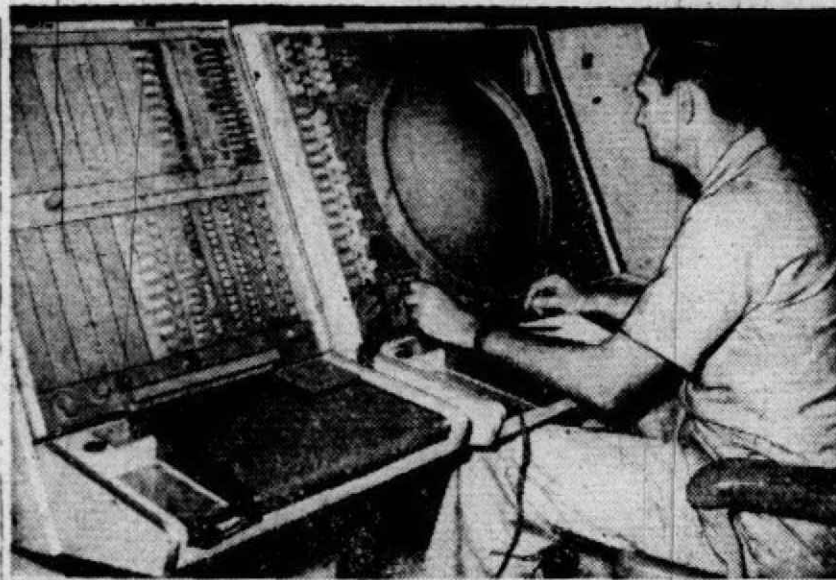

Manufacturers have added wooden cabinets to their lines. The cabinet camouflages the traditional cooler, and adds a furniture "look" to the living room. In a floor model, the entire assembly fits neatly in front of the window and takes only six inches of glass surface from the opening. In contrast to window models, the floor model does not sacrifice light and decor for the luxury of keeping cool.

Refrigerators, home freezers, and dishwashers are finished in wood-grain enamels to blend with popular paneled cabinets.

Even steel cabinets for the kitchen come with wood grained finishes and many have wooden doors.

Sliding room dividers also are shown in wood. They come in everything from oak, walnut and birch to the exotic teakwood in a clear tone finish to carry through the room's decor, or contrast with wall tones.

Behind Prison Bars

PRISONERS are people in trouble. They spend part, perhaps most, of their lives behind bars because they violated the law that society has developed to govern itself.

Michigan has 10,500 prisoners in three major institutions at Jackson, Marquette and Ionia; the Cassidy Lake Training School, the Detroit House of Correction and 12 camps.

Because penology has become a science in Michigan and elsewhere, prisoners no longer are lashed or starved — but major faults still exist.

"If you want to see what a prisoner looks like, look in the mirror," said Robert M. Scott, youth division director in the state corrections department three years ago.

Corrections officials for years have sought to eliminate the "ancient and assinine inequities" in the state's penal code.

Director Gus Harrison points to the law which provides a longer prison sentence for possessing burglar tools than for using them.

There are 21 offenses in Michigan for which a life sentence can be imposed.

There are broad inconsistencies between the stiff penalties for crimes against property and the lighter sentences for offenses against people.

The severe sentences for forgery and embezzlement, for instance — up to 10 years — were forced into the law books years ago by banking interests to protect themselves.

Michigan's penal code still contains a penalty for inciting Indians to riot. Because of the probate court waiver law, children under 17 can be sentenced to prison and treated like adults.

Inequities in the system were brought to a head following the 1952 riots at Jackson, which brought a major reorganization in the state corrections system.

Most of the ills of the system were traced by the experts to the penal code. Citizen groups are campaigning with officials for reforms.

Penologists insist that their concern in changing the penal code is not to soften conditions for inmates or coddle criminals who break the law.

"We believe that a more equitable code will give Michigan a better chance to help prisoners rehabilitate themselves and be restored to society," said Harrison.

Short of statutory changes, the corrections system has developed a program of self-help in each institution and camp.

There are Alcoholics Anonymous units inside the walls — even at Cassidy Lake, where prisoners are all under the minimum age of 21 which would qualify them to obtain liquor.

There are veterans' organizations, public speaking groups and academic programs. State-paid chaplains have been given a larger role in rehabilitation.

Where psychologists, the "egg-heads" of the profession, who counseled inmates, ran into conflicts with custodial personnel several years ago, they now work together more harmoniously.

The Red Cross depends upon prisoners in state institutions for donations when blood supplies are diminished in civilian blood banks.

At Jackson, prisoners stage shows and boxing matches to raise money for furnishings for a new chapel. Help from the free world has been forthcoming, but more is needed.

Prison newspapers often are the gauge of the men behind bars.

They often warn their inmate readers that they must write home more often to keep family ties intact; play a major role in keeping the men informed and linked to the world outside.

All of this assumes an importance to the taxpayer, who will spend $15,000,000 this year to keep the state's prisons operating and more in future years.

The picture in the public mind of prisoner as a fanged and brutal sub-human type is changing, and the method of dealing with him is changing from punishment to reform.

"Generally, the prison population is a pretty good cross-section of the community in which everyone lives," said Harrison.

BUMPY ROAD!

Life Begins at Forty

By ROBERT PETERSON

DR. OTTO KALLIR, 64, has made a magnificent contribution to the cause of gerontology. It was Dr. Kallir, owner of the Galerie St. Etienne, who helped Grandma Moses become a symbol of senior achievement throughout the world.

"It all started in 1939 when a man by the name of Louis Caldor showed me some paintings he had picked up while traveling through New England," said Kallir, a kindly man with graying hair and thick eyebrows. He was born in Austria and speaks with a slight accent.

"As I looked at these paintings I was intrigued by the way in which the artist had captured the New England atmosphere. The paintings were done in a child-like way, yet they had great sincerity and vitality. Mr. Caldor said he'd found them in a drug store in Hoosick Falls, N. Y. and that they were the work of an elderly farm woman named Anna Moses.

"I became interested and decided to present a show of Mrs. Moses' work in New York in October 1940. I called the show 'How a Farm Wife Paints.' The critics had a mixed reaction to the paintings, but the public loved them. After the show Mrs. Moses, who was then 80, came to New York and I had the pleasure of meeting her for the first time. It was about that time that the name 'Grandma Moses' came into being.

"The following year I had a show of her work in Washington. The reviews were good and Duncan Phillips of the Phillips Gallery was the first to acquire a Moses painting for an art gallery. Following newspaper and magazine articles about her and many showings of her work in various parts of the country, Grandma Moses was soon established as one of the real legends of our time.

"I've heard people say only that Grandma Moses' popularity is the result of an extensive publicity build-up. This is not so. We've spent nothing in than showing her paintings. The public has been drawn to her paintings because of the message her work conveys of the simple, carefree joys of country living.

"Works by Grandma Moses now hang in many of the great galleries of the world, including the Musee de l'Art Moderne of the Louvre in Paris. She is not only the best-known American painter but she's the only American painter who has created a style of painting which is instantly recognizable in all parts of the world. The showings of her work in Europe were enormously successful, and we've even had requests to show her paintings in Russia.

"Although she'll be 98 next September she still enjoys good health and paints six and seven hours a day. I may be prejudiced," he concluded with a smile, "but I honestly feel that history will declare her work the finest example of folk painting ever produced."

End Car Excise Taxes!

(Editor's Note: This newspaper believes the excise tax on automobiles is inexcusable, crippling, and should be abolished immediately. We are confounded in trying to understand how the tax is justified in Washington.)

(As an analysis of the subject, today we print the text of remarks by Sen. Mike Monroney during debate in Washington.)

Mr. MONRONEY. Mr. President, I rise in support of the amendment to relieve the buyers of automobiles of the 10 percent excise tax. I make it clear, Mr. President, that there are no automobile factories, no producers of automobile parts of any nature, nor is there any automobile manufacturing of any type within the State I have the honor, in part, to represent. The people I represent are all consumers of these products.

My remarks stem primarily from the experience I have had as Chairman of the Automobile Marketing Subcommittee of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

I agree we are in an automobile recession, but when automobile sales seriously declined the recession came upon us. The recession will continue until automobile sales pick up. I feel we would be penny wise and pound foolish in reaching for a billion dollars in regressive excise taxes, we slow down the entire economy. This is the effect of overloading a super sales tax on our number one manufacturing industry. This is exactly what has happened.

My experience, from talking to hundreds and thousands of automobile buyers and dealers and others, is that the automobile has been priced out of the market. There is no way American production ingenuity can absorb the tax of $200 or $300 on the excise level and perhaps another $200 or more at the State level, and not have so much air pumped into the price of the product that what call "Ma and papa price control" starts to work. In other words, there simply is not a sufficient value, when the dollar gets tight, for the consumer to be willing to make such an extra investment in transportation.

I know the distinguished senior Senator from Virginia (Mr. BYRD) will properly argue that the Government must have revenue. With that statement I am in complete and total accord. I would not be in favor of the repeal of this particular tax if I did not feel sincerely, based on the experience we have had in the study of automobile marketing, that the repeal of this 10 percent tax will result in greater revenues than a continuation of the burdensome tax and the consequent curbing of a cesspool within America's No. 1 industry. If the automobile industry is in an unhealthy condition, the income tax which the manufacturers pay in such large amounts on earned income will decline. This fact bears a direct relationship to our present problem. Taxes paid can be related directly to the number of automobiles sold. I should like to point out that in the banner year of 1955 there was a production of 7 million automobiles, and that 3 major automobile companies alone — General Motors, Ford, and Chrysler — paid 10 percent of the entire corporate income tax paid in the United States. Also, compared with the total of $75 billion collected from all taxes, these 3 manufacturers paid about $1 of every $37 collected.

In the year 1955 when the automobile manufacturers had a 7-million-car year, the best they had ever had, General Motors alone paid $1,353 million in taxes while Ford paid more than a half billion dollars and Chrysler paid $118 million. The Government will fall to approximately 6 million cars, and the Government lost a billion dollars in revenue — down to about 1.1 billion — from a decrease of 1 million in car sales for the year. It is no guesswork that automobile sales will fall to perhaps 4.2 million this year if the tax on the automobile industry is not repealed. If that happens the $1,219 million paid by those 3 large companies last year, on the profits they made — which Uncle Sam gets 52 percent — will decline substantially. The 3 manufacturers will probably not pay $1.2 billion; they probably will not pay a red penny, when the earnings of the 3 companies are aggregated. If we permit this condition to continue we will "wash out" on those manufacturers alone, over a billion dollars, because they will be, they can be carried over so that the loss which is sustained this year will be able to be deducted from income taxes the manufacturers owe in other years.

Mr. President, I have only referred to the three giant companies. In addition, the automobile dealers number 40,000 and are the largest element of our small-business community. Most of those dealers pay substantial income taxes when business is good.

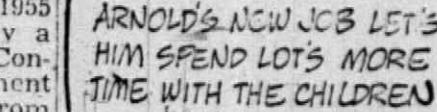

In 1955, during the banner year, dealers' profits on sales were 1.7 percent. That brought in to the Government, I estimate, perhaps another billion dollars, or approaching that sum, from income taxes on payrolls, and other taxes which are levied. When the dealers are making money the Federal Treasury gets 52 percent override on all they make, too.

I point out, Mr. President, in connection with the dealer profits on sales, that this year for the first quarter dealers show nearly a 1-percent deficit on sales, whereas in 1955 the dealers showed nearly a 2-percent profit on sales. Consequently, the Government will receive a little income from taxes on the dealers. There will be a declining tax received from employees of such dealers, as well as from the 17 percent unemployed in the State of my distinguished colleague (Mr. MCNAMARA). Not only will those workers not be paying income taxes, but they are drawing down the benefits, meager though they be, from the unemployment-compensation reserves, accumulated through the good years.

I think it is good business to try, with respect to the No. 1 industry, to find out if regressive taxes react in such a way as to cost the Treasury money. I believe they do, from my study of the matter. I believe we will live to regret the day we did not unload a part of the super sales tax which today, I feel, has the greatest deterrent effect in its regressive application to business — a greater deterrent effect than has any other tax which is imposed.

mobile marketing throughout the United States. I have learned that there will be no hope of recovery this year, no matter what else we may do, unless we take action to relieve the automobile industry from the excise tax.

In other words, if one does not feed the hay to the horse, one might save money immediately by cutting down on the feed, but in the long run the horse will not be able to pull the load. That is exactly the problem with which we are faced in considering this regressive tax on our No. 1 industry.

Concerts Entertain Children at Center

The children at Hawthorne Center Hospital enjoyed the fourth in a series of concerts presented by an ensemble made up of musicians, mostly from the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

The ensemble is directed by Mrs. Mary Carrick, piano, and includes Norman Gifford, flute; Jack Boesen, violin; Taras Hubicki, viola; and Douglas Marsh, cello. Selections played included compositions of Cui, Mozart, Brahms, Debussy, and St. Saens.

Hawthorne Center is a special hospital for the treatment of emotionally disturbed children, and is under the State Department of Mental Health, located near Northville.

Other concerts being planned for this series will be given in July and August. The series has been made possible through a grant from the Trust Funds of the Recording Industries, obtained by the cooperation of Local 5, American Federation of Musicians, in Detroit.

BLUE FOR BICYCLES
SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI)—Police Chief Harold F. Kelly has ordered that all owners and riders of unlicensed bicycles be issued blue tags. He says more than 10,000 persons fall in that category and are in violation of a city ordinance. The blue tickets also are a boon to police in identifying owners of stolen or misplaced bicycles. There is no fine.

Cherry Hill Plant Receives Safety Commendation

The National Safety Council announced today that the Extruded Hinge Division of the Young Spring & Wire Corporation, located at Cherry Hill and Ridge Road, has been presented the council's Award of Commendation for its excellent safety record.

The award is presented only where an establishment's record satisfies rigid requirements laid down in the council's "Award Plan for Recognizing Good Industrial Safety Records."

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, in a letter of congratulations to Cedric Sweet, general manager of the division, explained that the local plant qualified for the award because of its injury free period of 333,025 man hours from September 1, 1956 to December 31, 1957.

Robert Harnden, manager, Greater Detroit Safety Council, presented the award plaque to Sweet in a ceremony held at the plant on Cherry Hill and Ridge Road on Tuesday.

At the ceremony Harnden also presented honor plaques presented by the Greater Detroit Safety Council and the Young Corporation.

French travelers topped tourists from all other countries visiting Greece in 1957.

Young Yugoslav Barber Makes Good in Plymouth

Nick Zvolinski at 21 has been more, experienced more, and accomplished more than some men twice his age.

The young Yugoslav landed in this country 16 months ago and since then learned English, graduate from an American Barber's College and opened his own shop.

To make these remarkable accomplishments Nick had to wade through 12 years of high school English in one year. He proved all over again that he knew the barbering profession well enough to practice it. Then he gambled on the American economy in general and Plymouth's in particular.

Nick operates the Mayflower Hotel Barbershop, at Maple and Main Street. He has a single chair which is occupied about half the time. It takes time to build up a business and as proof that Nick is succeeding, his customers return for trim after trim.

This enterprising young barber learned the business basics in Europe. He attended a barber's college in his home town — Kutina, Yugoslavia. There he learned standard European barbering procedures: facial's, hair curling, in short, almost everything in which American beauty parlors specialize.

But in order to practice in this country Nick had to receive a degree from an American barber's college. He attended the Barber Green college in Detroit. Graduating was easy — he reports little difference in European and American hair cutting techniques.

Nick found it relatively easy to get permission to come into this country. His mother was born here, so he had that working in his favor when he applied for entry.

At 17 years of age, and discouraged with an oppressive life in Yugoslavia, Nick simply decided to leave. He managed to make Austria (an accomplishment in itself since it is against the law for anyone under 58 years of age to leave Tito's country). A job in a friend's barbershop awaited him. But Nick couldn't make enough at Austrian

Of course he does have one inherent advantage — a trip to the Mayflower Hotel Barbershop, properly handled, can turn into a brief foreign excursion when Nick peahashes his experiences.

ONE OF Plymouth's newest businessmen is Nikolas Zvolinski, left, operator of the Mayflower Hotel Barbershop. Discouraged with oppressive life under Tito in Yugoslavia, Nick fled to Austria and later joined an aunt in Northville. In the chair is his shoe shine boy, Dick Yukoslav.

Tips for Teens

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Q.—"Dear Elinor: Whenever I get enough courage to ask a girl to go to a dance with me, my mother or father won't let me go because something has come up and I have to stay home. If you have an answer to this, would you let me know as soon as possible?"

A.—"You need some social life of your own and now is the time to gain social experience that will help you all your life when you're 'in it' among people. You shouldn't have to break dates when you have invited a girl to a dance, because it's bad manners, inconsiderate to the girl and will give you a reputation for being unreliable. Of course everyone has to cancel plans once in a while when something comes up, but not often. Tell your parents ahead of time, before inviting a girl, about the date, time, etc. Explain that you won't have any friends or high school social life (it's part of school), if you continue to break dates, so you must know beforehand whether you can go or not. Then they — and you — can plan accordingly, so nothing will interfere when date-time comes.
