

Fred Kendall Sings Third Plymouth Colony Concert Free to Public

A concert open to the public without charge and featuring a widely-known Detroit tenor, Fred Kendall, will be the third in the Plymouth Colony Concert Series at the outdoor concert site this Sunday.

The Plymouth Colony Little Symphony will again appear under the direction of Wayne Dunlap. Starting time for the program is 6 p.m.

Many well-known selections will be found on the program, including those from Broadway hits "The King and I," "Brigadoon" and "Carousel." And singing these show hits will be Fred Kendall, staff tenor at WJR since 1947.

Kendall, a former Plymouth resident, has appeared a number of times before local Symphony audiences. He is presently on the radio program, "Guest House," Monday through Friday evenings at 7 o'clock.

Kendall has made guest appearances with the Dallas, Houston, Windsor and Detroit Symphony Orchestras. While in the Army during World War II, he sang with Maurice Evans' Special Service Unit in the Southwest Pacific Theatre. He has sung tenor roles with many of the leading oratorical societies in the midwest and southwest and for four seasons sang leading roles with the Detroit Civic Light Opera Association.

Sunday's concert is being presented without charge to the public through the courtesy of the Music Performance Trust Fund and the American Federation of Musicians.

A large crowd is again expected to attend the concert at Plymouth Colony Farms, located three miles west of the city. Entrance to the concert site is from Joy Rd., between Beck and Ridge roads.

Families are again invited to come early, if they like, and bring a picnic lunch.

City Truck Ordinance Introduced

A dozen city streets have been designated as truck routes in a new ordinance proposed at Monday's city commission meeting.

First reading was given to the ordinance that is the first ever proposed to keep heavy vehicles off all but designated streets and roads.

A committee of citizens and city officials headed by Thomas Rossette, 551 Evergreen, proposed the truck routes after a study.

Designated as commercial vehicle or truck routes were these:

All of Main St., Ann Arbor Trail, Northville Rd., Mill St., Ann Arbor Rd. (M-14), Sheldon Rd., (subject to Wayne County Road Commission weight restrictions) and Wilcox Rd.

Also, Amelia St. from Main to Farmer, Theodore St. from Main to Farmer, Farmer from Amelia to Karmada, Karmada St. from Farmer to Junction, Junction from Karmada to Sheldon.

One thoroughfare now used frequently by trucks but not mentioned in Pennington Ave. The restrictions apply only to trucks which loaded or unloaded weigh 5,000 pounds or more. It does not prevent the delivery of merchandise to any place in the city.

Notice of the limitations are to be posted on signs at the entrances of the city. Violations can be punished with a fine of up to $100 or 90 days in the House of Correction, or both.

Fred Kendall

posed originally for piano. Brahms wrote a large group of "Hungarian Dances", the melodies, for the most part, being tunes which he heard played by gypsy fiddlers. In all of them are the rhythm and fire of the gypsy melody which offer some of the most enjoyable concert fare.

"Recondita armonia" from the Opera, Tosca, by Giacomo Puccini. This selection is taken from the opening scene of the opera which is laid in Rome during the year 1800.

La Danza by Rossini. Fred Kendall, soloist. Rossini was a leading composer of Italian opera during the early 19th century. In 1835 he published a collection of songs and duets which he called Soirees Musicales and which contained pieces he had written for various social gatherings during the previous few years. It is from this collection that the sprightly intoxicating tarantella called La Danza is drawn.

Symphony No. 101 in D, Major (The Clock) by Franz Joseph Haydn. The "Clock" symphony was written by Haydn for a London publisher during the 1790's. The nickname was not used by Haydn but comes from the steady rhythm of the second movement which reminded someone of the staccato tick of a clock.

Following intermission, the orchestra will play highlights from "Carousel" and March of the Siamese Children from "The King and I", both by Rogers.

Kendall will then sing songs from "The King and I" and "Brigadoon" by Loewe.

Spurt of Commercial Construction Found

A number of new commercial buildings are springing up this summer in Plymouth with two dry cleaning establishments, a clothing store and the B.P.O. Elks scheduled for newer and larger quarters.

Completely new is a 40 by 100 foot building being constructed for Plymouth Men's Wear on Ann Arbor Trail beside Beiter's Jewelry. Being built by Robert Willoughby, the building will provide double the space that the clothing store now has on Pennington Ave. The building, with an English front, should be ready for occupancy by January.

Gould's Cleaners and Tait's Cleaners are both enlarging their facilities. Harold Ziegler, owner of Gould's, states that their present office building at 212 S. Main will be torn down with the space converted to a parking lot. An office is being added to their plant at the rear of the property. It will have a front of pre-cast stone.

The Gould parking lot will hold 10 cars. Completion of the new office and razing of the old is expected in mid-August.

Tait's Cleaners, which opened a shirt laundry on S. Main St. two years ago, is building an addition that will provide space for more new equipment. Owner Clifford Tait states that in the front part of the new building will be shop space for Jerry's Shoe Repair, now located next to Schrader's Funeral Home. The addition will be of colonial design like the rest of the building. It should be completed by mid-August.

At the Elks club on Ann Arbor Rd., a $50,000 addition is being built to the front of the present structure. The addition will have a cocktail lounge, secretary's office and check room. Started a month ago, the addition is expected to be completed by mid-October.

Citizens Fight Sheldon Rd. Paving

NOW REACHING the top story level, this is one of three units of the first building being constructed for the Plymouth State Home and Training School at Sheldon and Five Mile Roads. This unit measures 42 by 300 feet. The entire building is scheduled for completion in October 1959.

Big Building on Local Horizon Is First Unit of State Home

The skeleton of a new large building has appeared in recent weeks on the horizon north of Plymouth — the start of a new state-operated facility that will eventually cost an estimated $16 million.

Those who haven't driven along Sheldon or Five Mile Roads north of the city are somewhat awed by the size of a new building going up on the northeast corner of the intersection. This is the first unit of the new Plymouth State Home and Training School.

Work was started in March by R. E. Dailey & Co. of Detroit, but frost laws on the roads held up delivery of equipment for two weeks. Now the project is two weeks ahead of schedule.

The five-story building now seen is Unit B of the main building. This main building, to cost some $2,300,000, will house the administrative department, a 150-bed general hospital and admissions unit, out-patient clinic and other activities. The five-story unit will be the general hospital.

Eventually, depending upon state finances, there may be a dozen buildings with the total project cost now estimated at $16 million. The hospital would be for retarded children and would probably be consolidated with the present Wayne County Training School. Total bed capacity is expected to reach 1,770.

The large building now under construction will be "closed in" so that work can continue throughout the winter. The administrative wing, just now starting, is also expected to reach that stage. The building is scheduled for completion by October 1959.

There are around 88 men at work on the building. Swanson Associates, Inc., of Bloomfield Hills are architects.

Road Improvement Not Needed By Residents, Petition Claims

Two dozen property owners along Sheldon Rd. fired up by the threat of big assessments should their street be re-paved for heavy truck traffic, appeared before the city commission Monday night with a petition demanding that the cost be borne by those who will benefit the most — Wayne County, the city-at-large and Western Electric Co.

City commissioners found themselves on the proverbial hotseat once more because of the Western Electric truck access problem. Several months ago when they decided that Farmer St. would be a logical way of routing trucks to and from the new plant, several hundred people living in the vicinity of Farmer St. threw up their hands in protest.

Then commissioners found that the Wayne County Rd. Commission would pay for a good share of re-paving Sheldon Rd., from the C & O Railroad to Ann Arbor Trail, to route heavy traffic.

(The Road Commission, after the plan had been started, said that heavy type trucks cannot use Sheldon Rd. because of its construction. It was then that the city started looking for alternate routes through the city.)

Monday night's hour-long and sometime loud debate resulted in no decision by the commission. They approved a motion to postpone their decision until the next regular meeting on Monday, August 4.

The proposed project calls for the roadway to be widened from the present two lanes to four lanes. Estimated cost of the concrete road would be $240,000 of which the county would contribute $160,000 and the city $80,000.

The city intends to assess its portion to abutting property owners with residences paying the same assessment that they would pay if it were residential pavement. This is $10 per front foot and $5 for sideyard foot. North of Junction St. where there is commercial and industrial zoning, the rate would be $13.69 a front foot.

Since many of the properties along the street have wide lots, the assessments of some run $1,000 and more.

Paul Steenken, 1406 Pennington, was chief spokesman for the group appearing Monday night and presented the petition signed by 33 property owners. Signers included all owners of property along the project on the east side of Sheldon.

The petition listed eight reasons why the commission should not approve the proposed assessment. They were:

- "1. The existing 20 foot wide asphalt pavement is adequate for normal traffic and for the needs of the abutting property owners. The abutting property owners have not and do not now petition for the proposed widening and repaving of Sheldon Rd."
- "2. If the necessity for widening and repaving is due to the development of the long-range County road program, then the benefits will accrue to all users of the road and not to the abutting property owners."
- "3. If the necessity for widening and repaving is due to the development of the long-range County road program, then the benefits will accrue to all users of the road and not to the abutting property owners."
- "4. If the necessity for widening and repaving the road is due to the requirement of the city of Plymouth, then there must be benefits accruing to all of the people of Plymouth."
- "5. We do not believe that The Western Electric Co. would expect or want a small group of property owners to make special contributions toward the cost of providing an access road for their special interest and use."
- "6. We do not believe that Wayne County would expect or want a small group of abutting property owners to pay for repaving and widening a road which is now adequate for present day needs."
- "7. We do not believe that the city of Plymouth should ask a small group of property owners to assume special assessments for providing access to The Western Electric Co. since the presence of the Western Electric Co. will benefit all of the people of the city of Plymouth."
- "8. We do believe that the bringing of The Western Electric Co. to Plymouth was a cooperative effort of the officials of the city of Plymouth and of all of the people of Plymouth and up to this date any expense to the city has been shared by all property

City Ballot Proposals Form Ok'd

Ballot propositions to decide if the city's representative on the board of supervisors shall be appointed and if the city commission's pay should be increased were approved by the commission Monday night.

A resolution approving the propositions as they will appear on the ballot was given unanimous approval. It will now be up to voters to decide the issues in November.

After 15 minutes of discussion, about how much to raise the pay, commissioners decided to establish the proposed hike to $10 a meeting instead of the present $5. Two weeks ago it was suggested to lift the pay to $20 a meeting.

Commissioner Carl Shear, however, said Monday night that raising pay so that the job becomes attractive for the money is dangerous "and I can cite the case of a city not too far from here," he added.

Commissioners have two regular monthly meetings (24 a year). With special meetings, they get paid for about 30 to 35 meetings in a year's time.

At 35 meetings a year, their current pay would net them $175 annually. The proposed increase would raise this to $350.

Despite opposition at the last meeting by Supervisor George Witkowski concerning the proposal to appoint the supervisor instead of electing him, commissioners also approved the proposition which would give the commission the job of appointing the county representative.

Since both the supervisor appointment and salary increase propositions require changes in the charter, it is necessary to refer the proposal to the electorate. Proposition I reads: "Shall Section 9.2 of Chapter 9 of the City Charter be amended to provide for the appointment of the Supervisor or Supervisors by the City Commission in lieu of the election thereof as is now the case?"

Proposition II reads: "Shall Section 5.4 of Chapter 5 of the City Charter be amended to provide that each City Commissioner shall be compensated for his services

Plymouth Girl Drowns In Private Lake

A 15-year-old Jener St. girl who moved to Plymouth with her family from Livonia only a few months ago was drowned Monday afternoon in a private lake near Stockbridge, Mich.

Carole Elizabeth Yettaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome W. Yettaw, 570 Jener St., was pronounced dead at 5 p.m. Monday after Stockbridge firemen tried unsuccessfully for several hours to revive her.

Carole had gone to the farm and cottage home of Joe Merritt, Plymouth insurance agent. The small lake is located on the Merritt property.

According to reports from Stockbridge, Carole had gone wading into the lake prior to taking the Merritt children wading when she stepped into a hole. Her body was brought up after 45 minutes of diving. The fire department then brought its resuscitator equipment.

Born September 2, 1942 in Detroit, Carole is survived by her parents; two brothers, Jerome and John; a sister, Deborah Yettaw; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Fogo of Plymouth and Mrs. Wilmer Yetta of Florida and Mrs. Charlotte Winters of Detroit.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. today (Thursday) from the Schrader Funeral Home. Rev. David T. Davies, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, will officiate. Interment will be in Riverside Cemetery.

Home Building Permits Decline In Vicinity

Plymouth has joined other communities in the Detroit metropolitan area with a 27.6 fall-off in building construction in the first half of 1958, according to statistics just released by the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission.

Although building of new homes has picked up during the past few months, regional totals are substantially less than they were at this time last year.

Strikes in the building industry may have created a backlog of building permits, thus accounting for the low number of permits issued, the report states.

The month of June had a strong upsurge of building permits issued, possibly indicating a recovery in the last

Kiwanis Field Day Boasts 237 Awards

A field day for youngsters sponsored by the Kiwanis Club will be revived next Monday after an absence of several years with 237 trophies going to winners in afternoon and evening events.

The Kiwanis Field Day will take place at the high school athletic field with contests being staged for both boys and girls divided into three age groups.

At 1 p.m., the champions of 10 different games being played at the Recreation Department's playgrounds will meet to decide the community-wide champions.

The Junior Olympics events, including such things as push-ups, the broad jump, and relays, will begin at 7 p.m. Contestants can enter only one Junior Olympic event, except for the shuttle relay and other special events.

Kiwanis Field Days were held five or more years ago in Plymouth but were discontinued. Recreation Director Herbert Woolweaver states that there has again been interest shown and the outcome of Monday's Field Day will determine if the event should be continued.

Hundreds of boys and girls are expected to enter the events. Next week will conclude the summer recreation and education program in Plymouth which has been the most successful yet.

All events are divided into age groups—A, B, C and D. Group A are 10 and 11 years old; Group B, 12 and 13; Group C, 14 and 15; Group D, 8 and 9 years.

Champions of the playgrounds will begin their game competition at 1 p.m. in Chinese checkers, checkers, Lou-Pel (ring toss), bean bag toss, Joe-Cari, tetherball, Zel-Ball, jacks, croquet and horseshoes. Girls will not compete in Joe-Cari and boys

Deputies Seek Sunken Treasure

A large crowd watched but few knew what was happening when two skin divers from the Sheriff's department spent three hours Friday diving in the Rouge River near the Phoenix Lake dam. They were looking for $200 worth of foreign coins taken from the home of Wang J. Livingston, 41767 Schoolcraft Rd., by several of the youths who admitted dozens of burglaries last week. The coins, in a black satchel, were dumped into the river when the boys found them valueless. Skindivers, however, couldn't find them.

SAFE FOR A WHILE: The city commission won't be moving the Junior Police program out of the Bronson Building, although the city is losing money from rent it could be deriving. A consensus Monday indicated that they would be willing to house the program a year or two more until they find other quarters, a project already undertaken by a committee. There are 250 boys in the program with space limiting enrollment.

NEW HOME: Haller, Inc., for having the least number of financial errors. There are 275 branch offices.

ONLOOKER: Few spectators knew it, but the manager of the former Waterford Plant of the Ford Motor on Northville Rd.

GOOD RITHMETIC: Plymouth's license bureau was rated first in the state during the first four months of 1958.

MIDDLE EAST BEAT: Two Plymouth men were aboard ships that delivered Marines at Beirut, Lebanon July 16-17. One was Linden Mills, personnel man third class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hawley Mills, 825 Pacific and husband of the former Miss Sharon K. Roberts, 1398 Pennington. He was aboard the heavy cruiser Des Moines. William D. LaBunn seaman apprentice, son of Mrs. Dollie Dunagan, 356 W. Ann Arbor Trail, was aboard the USS Chilton, attack transport.

PUBLISHER PAUL CHANDLER ACCEPTS a handsome plaque, the award to The Plymouth Mail for having been judged third in the United States for column writing in The 1958 National Editorial Association Better Newspaper Contests. The Mail also received an Honorable Mention Certificate for Excellence in Typography and Publisher Chandler received a first place plaque for news writing which was entered in the name of our sister publication, The Redford Observer.

WHAT IS THE INTEREST RATE ON A LOAN?

It's never more than a penny a month on each dollar you still owe the credit union. For $100 repaid in 12 monthly installments, the total interest cost is only $6.50, or less. There are no extra charges, just interest.

Other lenders' rates may sound lower, but you usually pay more in dollars and cents. Forget the rate, and compare the actual cost.

The credit union charges less, provides insurance, and helps you if you run into trouble.

It pays to borrow where you get the best deal.

Lake Pointer Nora Jaskierny Gives Hubby Unique Card Anniversary

By Mrs. Arthur Cooksey
GL 3-2871

Summer beats its exorable heat down on yards and people but doesn't seem to have dimmed the vision of many folks in Lake Pointe. Many families are foregoing vacations this summer in order to work in their yards. In fact, one sees almost as many men struggling with the unyielding earth as women.

Marcy and Les Barton have been shoveling soil around their garage this past week while their son, Les, has been lolling about the decks of the Great Lakes Cruise ship, the North American, in the company of his grandparents. Course, young Les' greatest interest in life is ships and sailing and we don't wonder that he is thrilled with his trip.

The garage, the Bartons have built is designed to carry out the architecture of the house. The bottom half is red brick and the top is paneled to match the front of the house. The strength of their backs willing — after they have filled in the backyard, they will lay a concrete patio.

Nora Jaskierny gave her husband what she thinks is the world's largest anniversary card. They had a concrete slab poured in their backyard the same day as their wedding anniversary and, just as a joke, Nora imbedded a tile plaque in the wet gook with their anniversary date on it. When she told me the dimensions of the "card" I wondered if it might not have been one of these humorous contemporary card makers having had lost his mind entirely.

One experiences many little annoyances and temporary mishaps when he moves into a new house, but one of the funniest around here is that experienced by Barb and Bill Bolduc over on Robinwood. All the faucets in their house were put on backwards! It's not a simple matter of the hot being the cold and vice-versa. The faucets turn in the opposite direction to that which we are accustomed to. Apparently there has been a lot of water splashed in getting used to the peculiarities of their house.

(Many couples in the Plymouth area are familiar with Barbara. She is the cheery voice on the telephone that gets the telephone committees whipped into shape for the Newcomers' club. Maybe this isn't the season for club activities, but it might not hurt to post this notice: When a member of the telephone committee calls YOU regarding your intentions of attending a meeting or luncheon, we wish you would make it perfectly clear whether or not you plan to attend — then stick to your intentions. Several affairs sponsored by the Newcomers' club were badly attended last year and the hostesses were sorely put upon to dispose of the food they had prepared.)

Those inveterate do-ers, Marge and Art Haeske, are at it again. Not satisfied with building a giant two car garage, putting in a lawn, and making the inside of their house a thing of beauty, they are currently building a red brick patio at the rear of their house. The patio will be ringed by a brick wall too. The corner they share with Jack and Marie Bellmore is really strikingly handsome.

The Bellmores have a flagstone wall built up around their patio and judging by the number of friends and neighbors that congregate there in the evenings and on the weekends, this patio idea is a very good one. If you like people.

dinner ware, and in her spare time paints ashtrays and candy dishes for her friends and neighbors. She also sews magnificently. Made all the drapes and curtains in her home. (Most of us regard it as close to miraculous if we can repair the loose seams and get buttons where they are needed.)

Nearby Colleen Moss can be heard churning her sewing machine at a furious rate too. She is also making all her curtains and drapes. And she has never sewn before in her young life. Her work is so professional that one would never guess her newness to the game. Since Ray travels frequently she has plenty of time for her work: work that is stopped only by having to either feed or walk her affectionate German shepherd "puppy" (and my how they do grow), "Hans von Moss."

We learned from Colleen that Gerald and Janice Elston and their family have just returned from a trip to northern Michigan. It won't be long before school bells will be ringing and Gerald will have his nose to the principal's grindstone. School is one of those kinds of work that starts and stops with dizzying speed. There is no middle gear to teaching.

Visited two-month old Wendy Dusbiber last week. She is a very tiny, dainty little girl and, as is often the case with little girls, has completely captured the affections of her two older brothers, Brian and Darryl. According to their mother, Lois, the boys are so wild about her that it is risky for Lois to put the baby in her carriage without motherly supervision. It seems the boys are wont to wheel the baby likly-split down the street to show her off, without anyone knowing where they are. The parents have affected a partial solution tho: they have a king-size wading pool in their driveway that not only keeps the boys at home, whether or not Wendy is outside, but also keeps all the other kids in the area nearby. If you can't lick 'em.....?

We'll miss Marion Cosgrove for the next few weeks. She'll be in Illinois helping one of her sisters take care of her mother. (Marion's mother is confined to her bed with a broken hip and requires a great deal of around-the-clock attention.) The Cosgrove boys, Pat and Terry will be in Battle Creek and one week in Buchanan before they and their father journey to Illinois to fetch Marion.

(By the way, if you can catch Bob Cosgrove some evening ask him to tell you his jokes. He has a whole batch of ridiculous jokes that involve contorting one's face. The more the teller screws up his face the funnier the joke. I'll tell you, these salesmen.....)

Plymouth is home base for some visitors from Tempe, Ariz., who had been residents of Plymouth out to several years ago. The Fieldens are hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Lidgard of Tempe. Mr. Fielden (with the on-the-run help of Mrs. Fielden) operates the Paul-Mar Market on Main Street. Mr. Lidgard is Mrs. Fielden's brother, a long-time store owner on Plymouth's north-side Liberty Street. The Lidgard's moved to Arizona to help Mr. Lidgard's physical state but were urged by their physician to try to live in the northern part of the U.S. for the summer. From Plymouth the Lidgard's will travel to Quebec for several weeks.

Happened on a group of ladies last week busy laughing about the various upsets the group has experienced this past year. They were at that point, familiar to most of us, where things get so confused and hopeless that the only thing to do is laugh. Their husbands are all pilots and had worked for the now-disbanded air-freight firm, Slick Airways.

Jean Rowe, whose husband Pinky, in company with a fellow named Shores from the Rocker subdivision, decided to get out of flying entirely and have bought a lawnmower firm in Dearborn. They just about had THAT business going when an offer came to fly again, this time for the "new" business, which operates between the downtown sections of Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland.

Mr. Shores was visiting Jean Rowe and chortling over the twists fate had dealt them along with Mrs. Brown, recently from New Jersey, whose husband, another Slick pilot, manages the Tag office in Detroit. The two men in the lawnmower business alternate that with flying and the women have found the situation pretty fair. They figure they'll either be rich at the end of the year or flat broke, and this brought more laughter. The two local women, though, are pleased that their husbands' jobs have kept the families in the Plymouth area, and they are two of the best ambassadors Plymouth has ever produced.

There is a strong possibility that Mr. and Mrs. Brown will move out here too, if they can find a suitable home to rent. Thought you might like to hear the joke a nine year old boy told us last week: "What is the definition of an Edsel?" Answer: "It's a Mercury with a lemon in its mouth."

and so forth. A game of baseball was enjoyed by all. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Carter and children, Richard and Phillip, from Mascoutah, Illinois, were weekend visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cockrum, of Ferguson, St.

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

Post, Auxiliary to attend State Legion Convention... Members of the Passage-Gayde Post and Auxiliary to the American Legion will be among 6,000 persons expected to participate in the 40th annual State Legion Convention, held July 24-27, in Detroit.

Attending as delegates from the local post are Donald Kinghorn and Robert Wilson; alternates are Albert Holcombe and Harry Burleson. Auxiliary delegates are Gwen Holcombe, Fern Burleson and alternates are Melva Gardner and Maxine Kunz. Department committee meeting and a pre-convention session of the executive group are scheduled for Thursday.

Annual district caucuses will be followed by zone caucuses Friday morning. Official opening session for all delegates is listed for Friday at 3 P.M. for Legion. At that time Lisle Alexander will read the "official call to order." Mayor Miriani and Paul H. Carnahan, honorary chairman, will extend greetings.

The internationally-famed precision drill unit, Jackson Zouaves, will feature the annual drum and bugle corps competition on Mackenzie high school field, Friday at 7 P.M. Secretary of the Army Brucker will speak at the Saturday morning session, which will be followed by the annual ritual team competition.

The annual parade of the veterans moves along Woodward, Saturday at 3 P.M. That evening at 8 o'clock, bands will hold their competition in the ballroom of the Veterans Memorial Building. The Memorial Service will be on Sunday, July 25, at Detroit's historic Mariners' church — located in the new Civic Center at 8:30 A.M.

The convention will close with the election and installation of officers Sunday at 10 A.M. A flag-raising ceremony will be held each morning during the convalescence in front of the Sheraton-Cadillac hotel, convention headquarters. Councilman Van Antwerp, a member of Pittenger Post, will speak at the initial rites. Auxiliary headquarters is the Statler-Hilton Hotel.

More than 950,000 members were enrolled in the American Legion Auxiliary for 1958 on July 1, according to a report received by Mrs. Holcombe, past president of the Auxiliary's local unit, from national headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana. The goal for the year is one million members.

Following Senate approval of statehood for Alaska, National Commander John S. Gleason, Jr., of The American Legion sent congratulations to Governor Mike Stepovich "on the successful termination of a long and arduous battle that has been viewed with favor by our organization for many years."

Even after Alaska becomes a state and a 49th star is officially added to Old Glory (probably on July 4, 1959), you can still display your old 48 star flags until they are worn out.

Men In Service

Lawrence A. Olds, storekeeper second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Olds of 194 S. Holbrook, returned to Long Beach, Calif., July 15 aboard the attack cargo ship USS Merrick after six months in the Far East.

During her tour of duty in the Pacific the Merrick visited 11 ports, participated in Operation Strongback, and steamed 27,000 nautical miles.

In March the Merrick visited Hong Kong and later stopped at Manila and Cebu City in the Philippines. In May she participated in the "Black Ship Festival" at Shimoda, Japan commemorating Commodore Matthew C. Perry's landing.

The Merrick took part in Operation Sandy Beach on Okinawa to complete her operations in the Far East before returning to the U.S.

Maj. Earl L. Russell, Jr., has been assigned executive officer, Aviation Section, Headquarters, Third U. S. Army, Ft. McPherson, Ga. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Russell of 44524 John Alden Rd.

Maj. Russell comes to Ft. McPherson from the Command and General Staff School at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan. His 16 years of military service include the following assignments:

Aviation officer at Ft. Lewis, Wash., from 1954 to 1957; with the 1st Helicopter Ambulance Co., Korea, in 1953; aviation officer at Ft. Leavenworth from 1951 to 1953; with the 1st Cavalry Division, Artillery, Japan, from 1947 to 1949, and flying instructor at Ft. Sill, Okla., from 1942 to 1944.

Maj. Russell, who has received the Air Medal with one Oak Leaf Cluster and the Bronze Star, is married to the former Miss Margaret Ellis of Duncan, Okla. They have three children: Earl L. III, 14; Robert S., 9; and Jane A., 3. They live at 602 W. Lyle Ave., College Park, Ga.

STUFFED TOMATO SALAD

Combine two cups cottage cheese, one cup grated American cheese, two tablespoons each prepared horseradish, chopped green pepper and salad dressing, one teaspoon finely chopped onion and one-fourth teaspoon each salt and pepper. Chill thoroughly.

Wash and stem eight medium tomatoes. Cut into eights, but not clear to bottom. Open petal fashion and heap with cottage cheese mixture to make eight servings. This seasoned cheese may also be used as a sandwich filling.

Plymouth Airmen Aids In Rescue of Girls Off Island

After shivering on a Lake Erie island overnight, two Detroit girls Patty Pierson and Frances Whitehead, are shown after alighting from the Coast Guard helicopter that rescued them Sunday morning. Crewman Philip E. Truesdell, 675 Pacific, was one of the two rescuers.

by MEL OTT

Rescuing two girls off a deserted island was just in a day's work for Philip E. Truesdell, 675 Pacific, a Coast Guard Reservist stationed at Grosse Ile.

AMS2 Truesdell was a crewman aboard a helicopter piloted by Lt. Commandr. Albert Stuble that rescued two young ladies stranded with their dates on tiny Middle Sister Island in Lake Erie.

Patty Pierson, 13625 Minock, Detroit, and Frances Whitehead, 215 E. Grand Blvd., Detroit, were aboard a pleasure craft Saturday with two other Detroiters, Keith Delorme and Clark Colby, when they tried to get ashore on Middle Sister Island off Pt. Pelee. The boat ran aground on rocks off the island and they were unable to extricate it from the stranded position.

At 3 a.m. Sunday, they abandoned the boat and went ashore on the island where they built a small lean-to and fire. They unsuccessfully tried to hail passing boats until they were finally spotted. The craft then contacted the Coast Guard.

Two helicopters and a Beechcraft were dispatched to the scene and one helicopter remained aloft while the other manned by Stuble and Truesdell landed and picked up the two girls.

Both Stuble and Truesdell are members of Reserve Helicopter Squadron 732 and were performing normal weekend training at the Naval Air Station when they were called on the mission. Their squadron meets one weekend a month.

They returned to the station at Grosse Ile at 12:45 p.m. and the girls were taken in an ambulance to the station dispensary where they were given coffee and warm clothing. They were then transported to the officers' mess where they were fed.

Delorme and Colby returned to the boat and were pulled off the beach by some other boats that arrived soon after the helicopters.

Truesdell in civilian life is an engineering draftsman at the G.M. Proving Grounds at Milford. He has been in the reserve eight years.

Wonder Workers Anticipate Meet

Sheryl Cummings will be hostess July 28 at 2 p.m. to members of Wonder Workers Junior Homemakers. Plans for their attendance at the Aug. 17 dedication of Washtenaw County 4-H Building to be held at the New Fairgrounds will be discussed. A barbecue chicken dinner is to be served at the dedication.

Wonder Workers met Monday at 2 p.m. at the home of Marsha Patrick. Pledges were given and a short business meeting held. Celia and Andrea Patrick demonstrated how to make a refreshing cold drink, before refreshments were served. Mrs. John Meyer demonstrated cake decorating. The group had met July 14 at the home of Judy Paslaski.

When its roots are healthy, the plant is green. And so it is with baseball, the parent team deriving its strength from its minor league system.

Sometimes the plant in full bloom is a mirage. Its roots are decaying and the flowers suddenly wilt.

Note the Los Angeles Dodgers, who are not dragging in the National League race because of any transplant but because their roots were decayed in the first place.

The Dodgers, who for years were in the thick of the pennant fight, suddenly grew old together. Their roots, their once-thriving farm teams, have become sterile and few good prospects are coming up.

Conversely, the Tigers are beginning to bloom after years of presenting a wilted appearance. A few seasons ago, their farm teams hardly were in a position to help, being in a difficult enough struggle just to remain respectable in their own league races.

By applying generous doses of fertilizer, in the form of promising prospects, General Manager Johnny McHale's staff is restoring the Tiger plant to vigorous health.

These prospects, lured to Bengal contracts by generous cash bonuses and other inducements, are developing and thriving in the farm-lands. Some, like Jim Bunting, Charlestone, now managed by Bill Adair, who won four pennants in four years in the Detroit farm system, is enjoying one of its best seasons in years. The West Virginia club is in the thick of a hot pennant fight with Denver, the Yankees' top farm, and this marks the first time since 1953 that Detroit has had a Class AAA club on such lofty footing.

Charlestone is likewise getting good mileage out of first baseman Bobo Osborne and outfielder Ken Walters, both of whom have had previous trials with the Tigers.

Township Leaders To Huddle

In a joint statement made today, Elise Avery of Farmington, Robert J. Bullinger of Dearborn and Louis Stein of Plymouth, directors of the 14th, 16th, 17th and 18th Congressional Districts of Michigan Townships Association, announced that there will be a dinner meeting held for Township Officials of the four Congressional Districts embracing Oakland and Wayne Counties, on Tuesday, July 29, at Westwood Inn in Dearborn starting at 6:30 P.M.

Purpose of the meeting which is an annual event, is to stimulate discussions of the problems of government from the "grass roots" level. Among those who have been invited to attend, many of whom have already accepted, are: Congresswoman Martha W. Griffiths, Congressman Louis C. Rabaut, John Lesinski and William S. Broomfield; State Senators Patrick J. Doyle, Harvey L. Lodge, Harold M. Ryan and John B. Swainson; State Representatives James L. Boyd, Sr., William R. Copeland, Sterling Eaton, Joseph I. Jackson, Lucille H. McCollough, Hiram McNeely, Robert E. Waldron, Chester Wozniak, Lloyd L. Anderson, Donald A. Brown, Leslie H. Hudson, Theodore F. Hughes, Walter T. McMahon and Farrell E. Roberts and County officers.

In making the announcement, the three directors said "from the standpoint of the Township Officer this will provide an opportunity to come face to face with those who are directly responsible for making the laws under which Townships operate."

Among problems which will be discussed are: Annexation, Incorporation, Consolidation, Elections, Assessments, Valuations and General Taxation, Public Service and Utilities.

MICHIGAN BELL Telephone Company has announced the appointment of William F. Dunn as manager for its Plymouth-Livonia - Garden City area. Dunn succeeds Robert D. Maurer. DESSERT FANS of Mrs. Donald H. Sutherland of Harvey St., when she serves her "Lime Ice Box Cake" are often her grandchildren shown here. Happily sampling the delightful treat are (from left) Denise Warga, 1 year old; Stephen Warga, 4; Nancy Warga, 6; and Timothy (Timmy) Warga, 2. Mrs. Sutherland's Lime Dessert Clicks

"Lime Ice Box Cake" is the tempting summertime dessert recipe that Mrs. Donald H. Sutherland, 1312 S. Harvey St., is sharing with PLYMOUTH MAIL readers this week.

Mrs. Sutherland, charter member and now new president of the Plymouth branch, American Association of University Women, calls it a "real nice party refreshment that is easy to serve."

She treated A.A.U.W. board members with it when she entertained them in her home last Tuesday evening. And, of course, her family are faithful fans who ask for "seconds." They are sons-at-home, David and Douglas, and her husband.

David, 9th grader at Plymouth High school, just returned over the week-end from Interlochen where he and his saxophone had a wonderful two weeks. Doug is a 7th grader and avid baseball player.

The Sutherlands' older son, Donald McKay Sutherland, lives in Santa Monica, Calif., where he is a landscape architect with the county of Los Angeles. He's also the "happy daddy" of a three-month old son, Scott McKay, whom the Sutherlands are anticipating meeting in the near future.

Their attractive daughter, Mrs. Richard Warga, who also resides nearby on Harvey St., is responsible for four refrigerator cake enthusiasts grandchildren. They are Nancy, six; Stephen, four; Timothy (Timmy), two; and Denise, one.

Mrs. Sutherland gives her recipe as follows:

3 tablespoons butter melted
2 eggs separated
1 15 oz. can Eagle brand sweetened condensed milk
1/2 cup fresh lime juice and 1 tablespoon grated lime rind or 1 6 oz. can fresh frozen limeade
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 cup sugar

ture thickens. If desired, tint pale green with food color. Beat egg whites until they form into soft peaks. Gradually add sugar. Beat until stiff but not dry. Fold into lime mixture. Pour into tray. Border on top with reserve crumbs. Garnish with slices of lime rind. Freeze until firm in refrigerator from 4 to 6 hours. Serve in slices.

Combine crumbs and butter. Reserve one-fourth cup mixture on bottom and sides of lightly buttered refrigerator tray. Chill.

Beat egg yolks until thick. Combine with Eagle sweetened condensed milk. Add lime juice or limeade, rind and vanilla. Stir until mix-

Plymouth Mail Joins Industry Promotion

The Plymouth Mail is taking part in a year long promotion campaign designed to benefit the Plymouth area by bringing about a better understanding of the benefits and responsibilities concerned with the location and expansion of industry.

Twenty six ads are scheduled to appear during the next 12 months, dealing with the general subject of industrial-community relations.

More than 200 of Michigan's newspapers are expected to respond favorably to a letter from Robert S. Marshall, president of the Michigan Press Association, which explained the program and asked umns for the quarter page institutional type advertisement publisher to pledge space in their colistempers..

The ad series was created by an MPA Industrial Promotion Committee with F. Granger Weil, executive vice president of the Port Huron Times Herald, as chairman. It is undertaken in cooperation with the Michigan Department of Economic Development.

Publishers were told by Mr. Marshall that the donation of their newspaper space could play an important part in benefiting the state in general and their individual community in particular.

ALONG FOR THE RIDE . . . Adlai Stevenson, twice-defeated Democratic presidential candidate, was well received in Sweden where he recently visited. Also in pedal-boat is his secretary, Mrs. Marshall Field.

Invitational Tennis Tournament Slated

Tennis players of all ages are being invited to enter the Plymouth Recreational Invitational Tennis Tournament being played next month on the high school courts.

The new tourney is being headed by Jim Stevens and Fred Libbing with the assistance of the Recreation Department. Entries are now being taken.

There will be two age divisions with trophies going to winners and runners-up in both divisions, in doubles and singles, and to winners in consolation play.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 14-16, are the dates of the tournament. Limited to men and boys, the tourney will have those 16 and under in the Junior Division and 17 and over in the Senior Division.

The meet will be a single elimination affair, but those eliminated in the first round of singles the first time can then compete in the consolation round. This allows everyone to play at least two matches.

There will be both singles and doubles matches. The entry fee for the Juniors will be $1.25 per event while the Seniors will be $2 per event. This cost includes balls and trophies.

Entry blanks must be returned to the Recreation Office at the high school or the chairmen no later than Friday, August 1. The entry fee must also be paid at this time.

In the August 7 issue of The Plymouth Mail, pairings for the matches will be published.

NEW BOOKS At The Wayne County

- "And Save Them for Pallbearers" by James Garrett — In the most savagely realistic war novel since "The Naked and the Dead," James Garrett tells the story of a foot soldier who fought, tore, and gouged his way across Europe from D-Day to the Bloodbath that was the Battle of the Bulge. It is the story of violence and death and love and of a man at war with an enemy he never knew.
- "Expense Account" by Joe Morgan — Story of a man who spent thousands in the "best places" while his wife pinched pennies at home in suburbia.
- "Night Watch" by Bruce Lancaster — Follows the careers of two Cavalry captains in the Civil War in a tale which is a true Odyssey of war — and heart-stopping in excitement.
- "The Kingsbreaker" by Elizabeth Linington — A novel of the struggle between Cromwell and Charles I in 17th Century England. A striking portrait of two men whose iron wills turn their country into a hideous battlefield.
- "Life At My Fingertips" by Robert J. Smithdas — An amazing biography of a deaf and blind man, now 33 years old. He is the only holder of a college degree since Helen Keller among those similarly afflicted, and also has a master's degree.
- Among other new titles at the library this week are: "Destiny in Dallas" by Shirley Seifert
- "The Seifert" by Dennis Murphy
- "The Cup of Strength" by Charlotte Paul
- "September Moon" by John Moore
- "A Dangerous Innocence" by Victoria Lincoln
- "The Travels of Jimmie McPheeters" by Robert Lewis Taylor
- "The Battle of Gettysburg" by Frank Aretas Haskell
- "The Northern Light" by A. J. Cronin
- "The Passionate City" by Ian Stuart Black
- "The Darling Buds of May" by H. E. Bates
- "Early to Rise" by Arnold E. Grisman

Grange Gleanings

We are very much grieved to report that brother Norman Miller is in St. Joseph's hospital and has suffered the amputation of one of his legs. At the latest report, he is doing very well and is cheerful which is better than medicine. The Grange sends him our sympathy and our best wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Spicer, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Tritten and the boys went up to Brethren last week Thursday, leaving the boys there with their Grandma Tritten; the others went on up to the upper peninsula to assist in some sixth degree work of the Grange, then coming back to a big Grange picnic at Carp Lake on Sunday.

Mrs. Flora Rathburn is again in the hospital for a few days. Don't forget the corn roast at Willoughby Wisely's on Saturday, Aug. 9. For further particulars call Milly Rianas or John Oldenburg.

IN BRITAIN on a European study tour in comparative education, Peggy Bosonetto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bosonetto, of 8503 Ravine Drive, visited Ockwells Manor, Bray, where she was pictured. Situated near the river Thames, Ockwells Manor is one of the most important examples of a fifteenth-century English manor house in the country.

The European study tour, which lasts seventy-two days, is under the leadership of Dr. William Reitz of Wayne State University. While touring the Thames Valley, the group visited Eton College, one of England's most famous public schools, and Windsor Castle.

He's Opposing Martha Griffiths

EUGENE GRAY

A single challenger for the Congressional nomination against Martha Griffiths on the Democratic ticket is Eugene Gray of 26341 Eton Avenue, Dearborn.

Gray, father of five and lifetime resident of Detroit and suburbs, will seek to defeat Mrs. Griffiths, the incumbent, in the Primary Elections on August 5th, for the 17th District.

The 47-year old Gray was born April 11, 1911 in Detroit where he attended various schools studying Practical Law, Accounting and Bookkeeping. Upon finishing school, with the depression at its depths, he went to work for the Ford Motor Company as a metal finisher and all around automobile repairman.

In off hours, Gray gained much practical experience in the Real Estate and Mortgage fields, where he is presently employed.

Gray says he likes to work hard and believes that juvenile delinquency is one of the major problems to face the country.

He believes that "a family that attends church regularly is the major foe" of juvenile delinquency today.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS

To the public: You are invited to attend the Chicken Bar-be-cue, Sunday, July 27, at the V.F.W. hall on Lilley road from 12 noon to 6 P.M.

Construction of a permanent canopy over the barbecue pit is underway. This will protect the grille and chefs from sun and weather. The pit will cook 64 half-chickens at one time and they are delicious. Come and enjoy the hospitality of the Post and Auxiliary. Birthdays celebrated at the last meeting of the auxiliary were: Hilda Rorabacher, Betty Marquis, Leona Cram, and Dorothy O'Reilly.

Word has been received from Bill and Marie Norman that they are settled in an apartment and very happy. For those of you who wish to write, their address is: Downey Manor, Apt. D, 11640 Gurley Ave., Downey, California.

Five year pins were given to the following girls at the last meeting: Leona Cram, Helen Bowring, Beverly Brown, Irene Treadwell, Dolores Shaw and Beatrice Walton. Those receiving 10-year pins were Gertrude Danol, Marion Krumm, Jean Olson, Bernice Kopenski and Betty Marquis. Several others are eligible for pins, but as they were not at the meeting will receive them at a later date or they will be mailed.

Although summer time is a busy time, let us not forget to support our Post and Auxiliary. Two evenings out of the month takes little time and our work does go on, so let us all stand behind our Commander and President.

Let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth.—(1 St. John 3, 13.)

Words of love are the most welcome words in any language. But words alone are not enough. They must be uttered "in truth" from the heart of the speaker, and proved by deeds. Only thus can we show our love to others.

Here Is Itinerary For Our Own European Trip

Two days at the Brussels World's Fair, meals in the finest restaurants of Amsterdam, Munich and Madrid, sight-seeing in the Alps — these are on the itinerary of a proposed excursion exclusively for residents of this area.

This is the trip which was proposed in this newspaper recently and which immediately drew 12 tentative reservations.

The idea is to get together a group of local folks and if enough are interested, make the unusual journey in a body, associating for 18 days together. This newspaper is serving as the organizer and publicity medium.

The whole event would cost $875 each. Kurt Thrun of the Travel Centre in Plymouth is making arrangements and will personally conduct the trip.

The $875 would include all air fare, hotels, breakfast and dinner throughout the trip, transfers, sightseeing excursions, tips and taxes, a check for $100 sent to the Travel Centre in Plymouth would insure a reservation. It would be refunded in full if cancelled 3 weeks before departure.

The dates as set up by Thrun are Sept. 26 through Oct. 13, round-trip to Willow Run. All the meals are at fine restaurants and all the hotel accommodations are in twin-bedded rooms with bath. The proposed itinerary:

Can You Pass This Quiz, Taxpayers?

Q. How much did your taxes rise on the last bill?
A. GEORGE BENNETT knows. There was a startling increase on the last bill.

Q. What caused this startling increase for suburban taxpayers?
A. GEORGE BENNETT knows that the old, unfair, tax equalization laws caused most of this sharp increase.

Q. Why are these antique laws still on the books to particularly penalize suburban taxpayers?
A. GEORGE BENNETT knows that the laws are still on the books because nobody in Lansing has done anything to bring a change.

Q. What has the present state representative from this district done to ease this tax pain?
A. GEORGE BENNETT knows that he has done nothing!

The MAIL Attitude

By PAUL CHANDLER

Plymouth residents doubtless are interested in a Livonia ruckus over a proposed Drive-In movie, since the site lies virtually on Plymouth's borders. A group of Detroiters have petitioned Livonia for a license to build a Drive-In on vacant land at Levan and Plymouth Rds., across the street from the Ford Motor transmission plant.

The planning commission there twice denied the petition on the basis of "traffic hazard" and other vague grounds. Then, just last week, the planning commission reversed itself and approved the application.

Drive-Ins have an interesting history in Livonia. They have been proposed at various other sites, and on one occasion the City chased all the way to Supreme Court to keep one away.

But at that time, the Courts made it clear that a community couldn't refuse a Drive-In a license simply because it didn't want it around — the ruling, in other words, was that such a theater was not a "nuisance", per se. And Livonia had been hard-pressed to find any other community which would testify that theaters constituted any more traffic hazard or noise problem than a factory or many other enterprises.

So then Livonia drafted a new ordinance which the attorneys said had exceptionally sharp "teeth" in it and which they said should serve to keep out Drive-Ins, legally.

Nevertheless, the new group seems to have complied with all the restrictions of the ordinance and now the city attorneys say they would have no grounds to win a court case, if the denial is appealed in court. The attorneys bluntly asked the Planning Commission to change their mind about denial.

From a government standpoint, the usual arguments against a Drive-In movie are that they are a poorer tax base than industry occupying the same land; that they are "a breeding ground for delinquency"; and they "reduce the worth" of surrounding real estate.

Most of these points are challenged by the proprietors, of course.

A strong opponent of the Levan-Plymouth Rd. theater has been the Riverside Church of God, operating with the backing of the organized clergymen of this area. They protest on general grounds, plus the fact that it is "too close" to the church, the distance being a little less than half a mile.

Throughout the discussions, there have been the usual unsubstantiated rumors of "payoff" for votes of the Planning Commissioners. The board itself has been sharply split from the outset, with many of Livonia's political figures arising to debate on one side or the other.

The plans for the theater itself would make it one of the glossiest in Wayne County. It would set back 1,000 feet from the road, with elaborate landscaping.

Anyhow, the last word, up to press time, is that the way is clear for a new Drive-In movie to arise on Plymouth's borders, but the opponents haven't stopped fighting yet.

Another bit of news from our neighbors will interest Supervisor Roy Lindsay and City Manager Al Glassford.

Over in Redford Township, the Treasurer, John Bennett, has asked his Board to consider a plan whereby all the neighboring cities and townships would join together in their own insurance "company".

Bennett picked up the idea at a meeting of national municipal finance officers in Milwaukee. The idea is that the communities would pay their heavy annual insurance premiums into a joint fund of their own, rather than giving them to private companies. When any community suffered a loss, it would come from this fund.

"It is my opinion that within five years the reserve fund would be so great," said Bennett, "that the losses would be paid from the earnings of the reserve fund which would be invested."

Bennett pointed out that losses were low in most of the modern, well-run suburban communities.

Private insurance companies promptly raised a heavy barrage of protest.

Still, the matter is apt to come formally to the attention of our Plymouth government officials.

Kaffee Klatch Turns Out As Green Meadows Shower

(Covering Green Meadows, Ann Arbor Rd., Sheldon, Joy, Main and the G allimore School District.)

BY MRS. ALVIN STACE
GL 3-1929

Relatives were on hand June 29 to help David Francis of Brookline celebrate his birthday. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. David Francis, a daughter Mrs. Albert Jeffrey and husband, and girls, Sharon and Susan from East Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kujat and children, Michele and Keith, from Mt. Clemens; a son, Mr. David Francis, his wife and boys, Michael and David; cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Walford Royce from Pennsylvania, stepmother, Mrs. Faye Shannon from Scranton, Penn., and Mr. and Mrs. William Jones and son Larry from Ferndale.

Mrs. Francis also told us they had celebrated their 42nd wedding anniversary on June 14th. Congratulations, and may you share many more happy years.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Watson and son Dennis of Elmhurst returned recently from their vacation. They report spending a wonderful two weeks at Yellowstone National Park.

Called Mrs. Calvin Whitmore. She says it's rather quiet at her house; all three of their children are vacationing with relatives. Their oldest boy, 11 year old Jimmy is with his aunt, Mrs. Jones, at Birch Run. Jeanne, age 8, is at Grandma Whitmore's in Saginaw. Ruth Ann is at her aunt's, Mrs. Whitmore, in Reese. Mrs. Whitmore is Ruth Ann's godmother. She has adopted a new baby. So we are sure Ruth Ann had a fine time babysitting, as well as helping gather, etc.

Mrs. Whitmore says the children were to be home Sunday.

Mrs. John Stretanski has her little 7 year old nephew, Ronnie Halik, visiting her. She says he is getting very close to nature by hunting frogs, "butterflies, and lady bugs, and playing near the creek. Ronnie is from Detroit so we know he must be having a good time with his aunt.

Mrs. Fred Cohen is in a Northern is convalescing very nicely in her home after her recent surgery. She has several brothers and sisters visiting her. They are Mrs. John Rambo, Mrs. John Revell, her sisters. Her brothers are Pierce, David, and Dritz Criswell, all from Tennessee.

Mary Applegate had a happy birthday the other day. It was celebrated with a picnic lunch in her yard with her brothers and sisters. Also there to enjoy the picnic was their little neighbor, Bobbie Schiffler.

Donald Schiffler is convalescing at his home on Northern. He underwent surgery a few weeks ago. His wife reports he is doing very well.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Prince and family spent last Saturday at Big Portage lake in Waterloo. They spent the day picnicking and swimming.

Guests at the Russell Cunningham's home on Ball St. brought back pleasant memories for Mrs. Cunningham last week. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bozeman and daughter, Donna, of Fort Worth, Tex. and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Robson and daughter, Patty of Belleville. The women were old school chums of Mrs. Cunningham, so they had lots to talk over and reminisce.

No one can be quite sure nowadays when they should suspect a surprise. Mrs. Elaine Fredricks was taken unawares when asked to share coffee and rolls the other morning in the home of Mrs. Marsha Busch. She did not know a Baby Shower was in store for her.

On hand to help with the surprise baby shower were Mrs. Esther Foreman, Mrs. Ruth Eskra, Mrs. Wanda Farmer, Mrs. June Maas, Mrs. Marge Boatwright and Mrs. Helen Leader. A pleasant time was had by all.

Walter Wilczewski and four other friends spent last week on a fishing trip at Magpie, Ontario, in Northern Canada. This is a wilderness spot where the men had to rough it. They went by train for several miles and the rest of the trip was covered by truck. We know they had a good time; but, bet they'll be glad to get back to the comforts of home.

Mr. and Mrs. David Francis returned recently from a pleasant two weeks at their cottage at North Lake near Lapeer. Several guests were present to enjoy the boating and fishing — Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jeffry and children, Sharon and Susan; (Mrs. Jeffry is Mr. and Mrs. Francis' daughter.). Mr. and Mrs. Kujat and children, Michele and Keith; Mr. and Mrs. William Jones, and son Larry. Mr. Jones is Mr. Francis' cousin. They also had visitors from California.

Miss Marilyn Richwine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Richwine of Chicago, is the houseguest of Miss Elizabeth Calhoun of Corinne St. The Richwines were formerly residents of Corinne St. before moving to Chicago.

Assessment Hearing Set for Aug. 4

Assessment rolls for five paving projects will be presented at the August 4 meeting of the city commission. It is at this meeting that property owners can object to the assessment.

Rolls presented are curb, gutter and paving for Park Place, Evergreen, McKinley, Main St. and Ann Arbor Trail.

New hearings have also been established for that date for the paving of Maple St., Shelton to McKinley, and Sutherland, Harvey to McKinley.

The city manager has been given authority to advertise for bids for paving the projects.

Parkviewers Celebrate Birthdays at Soiree

(Covering the area east of the railroad tracks to the park and from Parkview Circle north to Wilcox Lake.)
BY GRACE WIGLEY
 GL 3-2734

Imagine the surprise of Mrs. Charles Heiney and Mrs. Werner Dietrich when several couples in the Parkview Circle gave a birthday party in their honor the other day. An outdoor affair, the evening featured snacks and music which were enjoyed by the Earl Gibbons, the Henry Wilamowski, the Harold Groves, the Earl Collinse, the C. R. Noifsing-rs, the Charles Jarraits, and Ar. and Mrs. Leach.

 "We are happy to welcome new neighbors, Joan and Jerry Coslow, into what used to be the James Cameron house right next door. The Coslows, originally from Pennsylvania, have three children: Dickie who is five; Mark, three; and little Lee Ann, 21 months. The family is now enjoying a visit from Joan's father, Stanley R. Neidhammer of Harrisburg, Pa. Mr. Neidhammer arrived Saturday morning, and that night they celebrated their "togetherness" with a charcoal grilled dinner. Judging from the tempting aromas that drifted our way it was delicious.

Since their Kathy, Kevin, and Quinn all love the water, the Quinlan family thoroughly enjoyed a day at Pontiac lake visiting friends who have a cabin there. The visit followed a beautiful drive through the Walled Lake-Wolverine Lake area.

Have you noticed another fireman in the neighborhood? Little Larry Wilson, aged two, may be seen at all hours of the day driving his bright red fire truck up and down Garling Drive. The truck was a birthday present which was given to him Saturday, July 12. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wilson of Hillsdale were there to help celebrate.

Grandparents are the pre-dominating note in this week's news. It seems Joanne McGill is in Jackson visiting her grandmother this week.

Then the Parks children shared their chicken dinner on Sunday, July 13, with their Grandmother and Grandfather, Parks of Ferndale, and Jim's aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Funkey of Boston. Seems as though Betty Parks, mother of the children and cooker of the chicken dinner ought to be mentioned somewhere here, too.

On Saturday, July 12, the Lloyd Curoks of Parkview Drive were dinner guests of the Paul Ennis family in Berkeley, where Laurie, Linda, and Paul Curok had loads of fun playing with the Ennis children, Barb and Bobbie.

It's nice to see the cars belonging to the Walt Lake and Bob Fitzner families back in the neighborhood after a week's absence. The two families shared a lake cottage during their vacation. More about that next week.

Miss Ruth Butts, who is recovering from spinal surgery at Grace Hospital, is reported to be doing well. For those who would like to send a note or card her room number is 487 and she is at the hospital called "Old" Grace on John R. Street in Detroit.

Between a bout with summer flu and getting ready to go to church camp near Port Huron, your reporter has been busier than ten busy gals, and will be away all this week. In the meantime my Mom, Doris Kuhns — same phone, GL 3-2734 — will be glad to receive news items for this column. Do let us know what you're doing. We don't want other folks to think we're a big bunch of do-nothings, do we?

Mr. and Mrs. John Walterhausen, 9283 Morrison St., Plymouth Township, announce the birth of a second daughter, Karoline Jean, weighing 6 pounds 5 ounces, on July 8 in Beyer Memorial Hospital, Ypsilanti. Their other daughter is Karen, 9 years old.

Five Youths Plead Guilty

Five of the Plymouth area teen-agers who were arrested last week after a long series of burglaries pleaded guilty Tuesday in An Arbor Circuit Court and will be sentenced August 1.

Two others have had their appearances set to later dates. Pleading guilty were Curtis McCowan, 18, of 483 Ann St.; Kirkland McCowan, a twin brother of Curtis; Bernard Fornwald, 19, of 397 Pacific; William McIntosh, 19, of 41830 Five Mile Rd.; and Gerald Cowan, 17, of 305 Roe St.

The plea of Dow Jay Swope, 19, of 15137 Bainbridge, Livonia, has been set for August 1 and the appearance of Linda Kramer, 17, of 42518 Schoolcraft, will be July 29.

Another 16-year-old youth has been turned over to Washtenaw County juvenile authorities.

Thirteen thefts inside the city of Plymouth alone have been admitted by the group. There were other thefts in Plymouth Township, Northville and Ann Arbor. Altogether, the group has accounted for 50 or more thefts.

owners in the city." "The undersigned, therefore, request that the cost of the proposed widening and repaving be borne by those who will benefit, namely Wayne County, the city of Plymouth at large and The Western Electric Co."

Mayor Harold Guenther pointed out that the story might be different if the city had not long ago adopted the policy of individual property owners being assessed for the projects. It would not be fair, he indicated, to have assessments for many years and then have the city-at-large pay for this one project.

But Herbert Woolweaver, Sheldon, and several others asked why steps could not be taken to eliminate the policy since it causes so much trouble, even if it takes a vote of the people. Woolweaver said Mrs. Dorothy Widmaier declared that if "Plymouth wants progress, it had better change this custom."

Mayor Guenther defended the proposed assessment by stating that the community must provide for industry and business, for if it didn't, people would yell even louder when they paid their tax bills. Sheldon Rd. project is the cheapest way to handle the situation, he added. He also cited North and South Main streets where there are also business interests and city-wide use, but that residents are sharing the assessments.

E. P. Light, 234 Sheldon, asserted that the Sheldon Rd. situation differs from the Main St. projects. Main St., he pointed out, serves the community in a much more direct manner than Sheldon Rd., which is used mainly for a by-pass.

There were many more speakers during the hour, most of them re-stating the points expressed in the petition. Included among those protesting was John McFald, manager of Champion Containers, an across-the-road neighbor of Western Electric. McFald protested that the

to the city at the rate of ten dollars per meeting of the Commission actually attended by him instead of five dollars per meeting actually attended by him as is now the case?" Witkowski was not at Monday night's meeting when final approval was given the resolution regarding his job. He had maintained two weeks ago that appointment of the supervisor would take away power from the people and would give the commission too much power.

Commissioners argued that liaison between the board of supervisors and local government is better when the supervisor is a city commissioner. Plymouth has the only specially elected supervisor in Wayne County.

If approved, both amendments would not become effective until present elected officials complete their present terms.

Salem GOP Schedules Open House Aug. 1

The Salem Republican Club is sponsoring an open house at the Salem Town Hall on Friday, August 1 starting at 8:30 p.m.

Hello to all in Plymouth!

As new Woman's Editor of THE PLYMOUTH MAIL, I would like to introduce myself. And then I hope that this column will be your column — filled with items about you and yours and our wonderful town-in-common, Plymouth.

My name is Kathie Mull Lusk. I am an alumna of Michigan State University with B.A. degree in Journalism. Instead of accepting the first graduate scholarship ever awarded by Chicago's North Shore Theta Sigma Phi alumnae for studies at Northwestern University's Medill School of Journalism in Evanston, Ill., I chose to marry classmate Detroit Bob Lusk and live happily ever after! During college days, I worked on the Michigan State University News, was the "co-ed" correspondent for The Lansing State Journal. So special feature-picture stories for Mademoiselle magazine and sold advice articles for national quarterly publications, "Woman's Life" and "Marriage."

After saying "I do" in St. Paul's Church on the Lake, Grosse Pointe. I joined the full-time editorial staff of The Lansing State Journal. Society Editor was my job for the last four of my six years there — involving responsibility for all daily and Sunday society pages and distaff public relations. At the same time I wrote a Sunday correspondence column and did special features for The Detroit Free Press women's pages. Taught feature writing at the Y.W.C.A. "Ladies Day Out" program for Greater Lansing area women.

When my husband took a job in Boston, Mass., I "vacationed" from writing — except letters back home. During our two years there, we were No. 1 New England boosters — delighting in everything about this history-enriched country with the exception of sky-high automobile insurance rates! (Ouch, the aching checkbook). Of course, visiting Plymouth, Mass., was one of our first highlight adventures in the East.

A couple of years ago, we bought a new home and nice mortgage in Redford Township. Lawns are in but weeds are waging a battle with us. We have a blonde cocker spaniel, "Sandy", who is so spoiled he forgets he's canine and barks indignantly for a seat at the dinner table.

Our whole family is now in a 10-minute radius from one another. My Dad, Leslie K. Mull, formerly from Lansing, has a ranch home in Redford Township, too. My sister, Mrs. Jack W. Tompkins, her hubby, and five adorable (prejudiced aunt) blonde youngsters are located in Buckingham Village, Livonia. Bob's mother, Mrs. Seward G. Lusk (my father-in-law was Redford Township Police Commissioner until his sudden passing in November, 1956) has a home in Redford Township, also. And my husband's brother-in-law and sister, Det. Sgt. and Mrs. Jack J. O'Neill have a new home close by but within Detroit city limits.

Since returning to the Detroit area, I have enlarged my working experience to include being an Assistant Editor for the Florists' Telegraph Delivery News international magazine. and Editorial Assistant for The American Concrete Institute's international monthly publication. and a copywriter for downtown Detroit stores.

There's one 18-month old towhead now visiting in Plymouth that I'd enjoy meeting five years hence. He's David Mark Batishill with sparkling brown eyes and a penchant for eating dirt like all young men in the training pants set.

In the past year his life has known one change after the other — all the truth — and coming up is a summer trip that without question will alter the entire course of his life.

A year ago David found new parents — or more accurately — Rev. and Mrs. William Batishill, returning from a five year stay as African missionaries, joyfully found to adopt in Chicago the son they had wished for 11 years. And Mrs. Batishill's mother, Mrs. Emily Mosher, who has lived on Ann Arbor Trail since 1941, welcomed her first grandchild.

Now David's parents are deep in preparation to take him "home" — home for the next five years being the Belgian Congo in Africa's bush country. The trio will sail July 30 from New York City aboard the "Queen Elizabeth II" for London. There they'll change to the "Rhodesia Castle" passing through the Suez to Mombasa, east of Africa's Kenya.

A newly purchased 1958 Chevrolet should be waiting there to whisk them through rugged country to a brick two-family home, built by the natives and financed by the Battishills' sponsors, the Conservative Baptist Foreign Mission Society. This home is east of Congo in the Kivu area near Costermansville. David's community life will center around the Bashi tribe whose members are divided in an age-old civilization process — the older ones with "witch doctor" thinking (the word there is "Mu-fumu") and the younger ones who have been schooled in mission schools and accept Christianity and penicillin.

Besides their new car, the Batishills will take back a gas stove (belonging to Mrs. Mosher), refrigerator, small portable generator to provide current for the household, and a used roll-away bed. These are "luxuries"?

Two hundred and sixty overstrap book carriers — 153 hand-cut and sewed by Mrs. Mosher alone for her daughter's native students — will be Plymouth's contribution to advance the education of the young people there. The students usually have a long way to walk to Mission School and these gay cloth book carriers should encourage their footwork!

Town Crier: Porcupine Gets Dog is Fishing?

By Gloria Bowles
GL. 3-2340

As of today Plymouth Colony will be devoid of the blast of a sputtering motorscooter, the customary sight of a pink Oldsmobile rambling down the street, and the presence of three Turkey Runners: Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Smith and son, Mike.

Claiming this family will be another new Plymouth area, Arbor Village. The Smiths are moving into an L-shaped, pre-cut home on the corner of Southworth and Bruce. Because the house won't be ready for another week, the Smiths will travel for that time.

Mike plans to spend ten days with a fellow future PHS sophomore, Roger Warner, and his family, on Whitefish Lake. Mrs. Smith will travel to Chesterhill, O., for a stay with her mother, Mrs. Guy VanDyke, while at this writing Mr. Smith hadn't made definite plans.

The David Hubbs family (besides Mom and Pop there are two boys, ages 16 and 12,) now Livonians, will become Plymouthites when they move into the Smith home at 11803 Turkey Run. More about the new neighbors in the next column.

A dog full of porcupine quills and no fish were the results of the recent Canadian vacation of the James M. Scotts and sons Jim and Dave of Sheldon. The family was in a "primitive and rugged wilderness," described Mrs. Scott. (In case you're curious, the quills were pulled out, one by one, with pliers.)

A recent guest at the Scott home was Mrs. Irving Scott, a Florida resident, who is in the area for a summer of visiting.

Following a short visit home from summer school at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, Geraldine Mosher of West Ann Arbor Trail visited a friend in Detroit and was among 100 young people traveling to a nearby lake last Sunday. Nineteen-year old Geraldine is majoring in Chemistry, has classes in Physics and Math, and will graduate at the age of 20. She was one of eleven Michigan girls recently awarded the $300 Bessie Gotfredson scholarship, under the auspices of the American Legion.

Sixteen-year old Glendon Lamerson of Jener left last Saturday to spend a week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lamerson of Newberry, Mich. (the home of Tacquamenon Falls). This will be his first visit to the village in three years.

Other Tacquamenon Falls goers were Mr. and Mrs. Flagg McCartney of Linden Avenue and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Whitman of Linden, (this is a town in the state!) The quartet spent three days in the north, visiting the Falls, the Mackinac Bridge, and the Soo Locks, returning Tuesday.

The backyard family picnic is the event planned by two "Town Crier" clans. The Donald Pankows and children Karen, Kerry and Keith (the three K's) of Ridgewood entertained guests at such an affair last Sunday afternoon. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Homer R. Syfert and family of Lincoln Park and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nichols and children Marvin and Robin of Plymouth.

Planned for a week from today is a combination family reunion and picnic in honor of Sister Mary Beatta, who is coming from Sioux City, Ia., to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Roche of West Ann Arbor Trail. Mr. Roche is the honored guest's brother. About 35 relatives, including Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roche of Detroit will attend.

A "lovely" trip describes the recent Canadian vacation of the C. A. Renwicks of Elm, who included Victoria, Vancouver, Lake Louise and Banff and Mt. Rainier on the itinerary. The couple traveled by train for the two-week jaunt.

The Kermit S. Smiths of South Harvey have kept plenty busy the past few weekends. Three weekends ago the Smiths and daughter Susan visited the Leo Wrights and daughter Ann on Hubbard Lake near Oscoda. The following weekend found the Smiths in Chicago with Mr. and Mrs. Knowles Wilson and daughter Susan (Notice that the two cousins are both "Susan.")

Returning a week ago today from a short trip to the north were Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Peck of Linden. Accompanying them were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Keen, also Plymouthites. The foursome viewed the Mackinac Bridge, and visited in Petoskey.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Spratling of Amherst Court have been entertaining Mrs. Spratling's mother, Mrs. Mary Eaton of Tulsa, Okla., who arrived by train last Sunday. Greeting their grandmother were the five little Spratlings, Mary, Bruce, Jr., Ruth Ann, Connie and "Puddin'". Mrs.

Eaton also plans to visit relatives in Detroit.

A combination camping and boating trip in Canada is being planned by the Lawrence Rays and sons Larry and Bobo of Jener and Lansing friends, the Larry Murphys and sons Pat and Dennis. The Murphys were in town last Saturday to discuss plans for the jaunt. Slated for departure a week from today, both families will take their boats.

Odds 'n Ends: I ran into many Plymouthites during my two-week stay in Ann Arbor. The first person with Plymouth roots I encountered was Jim Isbister, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Isbister (he's Superintendent of Schools.) Jim took the students in my group on a tour of the Michigan campus (oh, my achin' feet) later asked if a Plymouthite was present, whereupon the identity of my hometown was revealed. Saw Sara Wesley in front of Mason Hall last week. Sara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Wesley of McKinley, attends Miami University in Ohio during the regular school year, is now enrolled in summer school at the U of M. Although not a citizen of Plymouth, Mr. Lawrence H. Bird of Grand Rapids, my instructor at the journalism workshop, is related to an outstanding citizen of this community, Nellie Bird, for whom the elementary school on the corner of Sheldon and Ann Arbor Trail is named. Mrs. Earl Russell of John Alden is "all tired out from the reunion." She refers to the centennial celebration of her home town South Hampton, Canada, which the Russells attended recently. The Plymouth Colony baseball team won again, this time defeating the men of the First Presbyterian Church of Rosedale Gardens, 8 to 2. Rah! Rah! Rah!

When you read this, I'll be sunning myself (I hope) in the Milwaukee area. The "Town Crier" will be gone simultaneously; therefore no column next week. See you in two, though.

Who's New in Plymouth

NEWCOMERS TO Plymouth are T. Sgt. Carl M. Stout, Mrs. Stout, and their two charming daughters, Lynne, 10 years old, and Barbara, five years old, recently of Alaska. They are making their home at 729 Forest St. after living three years in our next 49th State (if the Alaskans vote in the affirmative for ratification). T. Sgt. Stout, formerly with Elmendorf Base near booming Anchorage, has taken over the Air Force Recruiting office in Livonia, located at Five Mile and Farmington Rds. He is in charge of recruiting for Livonia, Northville, Garden City, and Plymouth, and announces that in the near future he will open a sub-station in Plymouth at the Chamber of Commerce building. His Livonia office hours are Monday-through-Friday from 8 A.M. to 5 P.M. and phone number is GARfield 4-2580. T. Sgt. Stout is from Albany, N.Y. Lynne and Barbara will enter George Smith school this fall.

School District Hold Annual Meetings in Salem Vicinity

South Lyon School Board met on Monday evening, July 14, at the South Lyon Elementary School. Contracts for teachers for next school year approved were:

Ruth Beers, second grade; Patsy M. Cravens, third grade; Mrs. Vicky Gross, Jr. High; Clarence Gerrish, High School shop; Donald Heidt, 6th grade; Kay Jordan Phillips, Jr. High School; Mrs. Joyce Linebarger, High School home-making; Merilyn Moggitt Fought, physical education; William Maxwell, Jr. High School; Mrs. Solvei Waggoner, 3rd grade; Reva L. Richards, 2nd grade; Esther Schoenberger, 4th grade. There are still one fifth, one sixth, and one high school vacancy.

After receiving bids from five firms on playground equipment, the board voted to allow Supt. Bartlett to purchase swing sets, see-saws, and a slide at his own discretion.

Howard Parr, assistant superintendent of the Lyon Township school and elementary school principal for the past eight years, asked to be released from his 1958-59 contract. The request was granted by the board. Parr is Superintendent of schools in Dearborn Township district No. 4.

Auto Accidents

A 1957 Ford Convertible driven and owned by Max G. Koehler of 35017 Elmira, Livonia, traveling west on Seven Mile Rd. at approximately 55 miles per hour, skidded into the right front of a 1954 Plymouth driven by Harry E. Earehart of 9666 Chubb Road, as Earehart backed out of a driveway at 10131 Seven Mile Rd. The accident occurred on Monday at 11:10 p.m. No injuries were sustained.

Nevin James Compton of 8700 Brookville Rd., traveling south on Curtis road, lost control of his 1954 Ford Sedan, rolling over several times and landing on its wheels. The driver was taken to St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor, with bruised shoulder and possible fractured rib. The accident occurred on Monday at 9:33 p.m. The car was towed to Bill's Service on Pontiac Trail.

New curve signs have been put on Seven Mile Rd. between Angle and Pontiac Trail, where there have been two accidents lately.

Salem Stone Meeting

Salem Stone School held its annual meeting July 14 with 36 attending. Election was held for a secretary for a 3 year term, with George Schman elected unanimously. A vote was approved to send the 7 and 8 graders into Plymouth next year.

Wash Oak Action

Wash Oak School held its annual meeting July 14 with a very small attendance. An election was held to fill the office of treasurer, with Mrs. Clara Wurster being re-elected for a 3 year term. Action of the board was to send the 7th and 8th grades as well as the high school pupils to Northville. Discussion was held on the possible consolidation. Everyone expressed their pleasure with the work done last year by Mrs. Mildred Stroup, the teacher, and were happy to have her returning next year.

Miscellany

There were 25 unlicensed dogs seized by the Dog Warden of Washtenaw County on Friday from the home of Mrs. Alice Westrick of N. Territorial Road.

Charles Martin, 113 North St., Ypsilanti, was arrested and jailed by Salem Township Deputy Edmunds for being drunk and disorderly.

Robert Smith, 123 S. Prospect, Ypsilanti, was arrested and jailed for contributing intoxicants to minors, violation of Michigan Financial Responsibility Act, and no operator's license.

Water Problems Discussed

Worden Farm Bureau discussed water problems at their meeting held July 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. DeForest Thompson. Elmer Wessel gave a report on the bills that had been passed in Lansing. There was a discussion on the bill to come up before the voters Aug. 5th election about abolishing coroners.

Conclusions reached by the group on the Michigan growing water problems were:

1. State study group made up of members from the Farm Bureau, National Association of Manufacturers, City Health Dept., County Health Dept. and Recreation Dept. 2. Adequate appropriation for a thorough water study should be made by the state. Some of the members wrote cards expressing to Rep. George Sallade their concern over the water problem.

Mrs. Thompson served homemade cookies and punch. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. G. Bock of Six Mile Rd. on Aug. 8th.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS... FROM THE PAGES OF THE MAIL

Between 500 and 600 pounds of meat, probably stolen, were accidentally found by Norman Miller last Sunday in the woods adjacent to his farm on Powell road.

Final result of the Detroit Soap Box Derby indicate that the leading contenders in Plymouth's Coaster Derby will be Donald Moore and Nelson E. Lyke.

Local students who began a two weeks conference at the Waldenwoods School of Sacred music last Monday are Robert Willoughby, Caroline Hill, Charlene Paulger, Marjorie Thomas, Anita Mosher, Lois Hunter, Mollie Groth, Jean Johnston and Mary Lou Hartwick.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lidgard and family are leaving this morning for Tucson, Arizona, where they will make their home.

Mrs. Harold Yakley was the guest of honor at a stork shower given by Mrs. F.W. Gorton at her home on July 20. Guests were Mrs. Larkins, Mrs. Hold, Mrs. Erdelyi, Mrs. Wagenschutz, Mrs. Heller, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Burger, Mrs. Ione Micol, Mrs. Ethel Micol and Mrs. Sackett.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lomomaco of Farmer street and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Copola left Sunday for a two weeks vacation at their cottage at Traverse City.

George Todd of Plymouth has been appointed as chairman of the Christmas activities committee as chairman for the Michigan Junior Chamber of Commerce for 1948-49.

Unusually high honors have been won by Lawrence Ransome of Plymouth at Ferris Institute where his name appears on the dean's list for the College of Commerce.

Mrs. Irene Bock of Blunk avenue returned recently from a ten day trip to Kenosha, Wisconsin, where she was visiting her sons.

Mrs. William Farley and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Fraser and children, Jean Ann and David went to Niagara Falls on July 10.

Mrs. Russell Detting, Mrs. Irene Dock, Mrs. N. G. McGraw and Mrs. William Donovan left Thursday for a month's motor trip to the west coast.

The spirited contest between the two circles of the Salem Baptist church was brought to an end last week. The contest was very close and signs of hard work and strenuous efforts for both teams was in evidence. The contest netted the church $269.42 with the Martha's contributing $142.00 and the Mary's $127.42.

There was considerable excitement at the last school meeting at the Elm school but as far as we can find out — no bloodshed.

The ice cream social given by the Ladies Aid of Perrinville last Tuesday night at Nellie Kubik's was well attended and the ladies cleared nearly $5.00.

Plymouth residents have been assured that Wild Bill's Wild West and Congress of Rough Riders will be at the state fair at Detroit this year after completing four years on the Continent and in Great Britain.

A meeting of the "Church of the Living God" will be held at the residence of Mrs. G. A. Starkweather July 24, at 7 p.m.

Little Helen and Elton Roe attended a birthday party last Wednesday at the home of their aunt in Redford. It was Helen's birthday.

The Addison Giants, a musical baseball team, will invade Plymouth on Tuesday afternoon and will play a game with our local team. There will also be a balloon ascension, parachute drop and band concert preceding the game. The ball team with the rest of their organization will give you a wonderful half-days entertainment for only 25 cents.

R. T. Walker, Plymouth's well known rural carrier, was re-elected by an overwhelming majority, as president of the state Rural Mail carriers at their convention in Jackson last week. Nearly 300 carriers were present.

A special meeting of the village council last Monday evening, it was decided to build the pavement on the south side of Main street on a line with the present walk from Pinckney's store across Ann Arbor trail. This makes a bend in the street and a uniform width of 60 feet. While this is an improvement over the first proposition, we believe that a gradual curve from Sutton street to Ann Arbor street on the old established line would have been just as sightly and much more preferable.

Mrs. Dale Hartwick and daughter Sandra, of Joy Rd., took a train trip this past weekend to Lowell, where Sandra auditioned for a part in the annual musical production of the "Lowell Showboat". While in Lowell, the Hartwicks stayed at the home of Mrs. Hartwick's grandmother, Mrs. Carey Guilford.

Say, if you see this old reporter walking around with an extra pair of legs, don't be alarmed! I had the misfortune of falling — coming down off of our back porch — last week and spraining my ankle quite badly. X-rays show no break, but crutches will be my mode of travel for quite a few days.

Ladies of the Riverside Book Club of the Newburg Area were house-guests at the summer home of Mrs. Cass Kershaw during the past weekend. The summer home is located at Rondeau Park, Canada, and those who went along for the very enjoyable weekend were Mrs. Edward Ayers, Mrs. Melvin Guthrie, Mrs. Edgar Stevens, Mrs. Raymond Grimm, Mrs. Delmer Ruelle, Mrs. Clyde Smith, Mrs. Guy Taylor, Mrs. Henry Grimm, Mrs. Kenneth Lockart, Mrs. Lester Larabee and Mrs. John Schroder. This is an annual event for this group and they all report that a lovely time was had by all.

Sunday picnic guests in our home, July 13, were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Baitinger and children Michael and Betsy of Prospect road, Ypsilanti.

Canasta Clan met at the home of Mrs. Robert Pregitzer on Richland Ave., Tuesday evening, July 15. Present for an evening of cards were Mrs. Edward Howden, Mrs. Emil LaPointe, Mrs. Stuart Flaherty, Mrs. Arthur DeCoster, Mrs. Claude Desmond, Mrs. Bert Overmyer, Mrs. Raymond Peterson, Mrs. Harold Mackinder, Mrs. Theodora Kent, Mrs. Enid Stanz and Mrs. Ted Pregitzer. This group will meet again at the home of Mrs. DeCoster, of Ravine drive, Tuesday, August 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gennis and daughters, Kathleen and Mary Ellen, of Joy Rd., have been away for the past three weeks touring in western United States. They camped along the way and saw many awe-inspiring sights — Grand Canyon, Zion National Park, Bryce Canyon — and many of the other natural wonders of our country.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil LaPointe, of Joy Rd., Thursday, July 17, were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kline and family Louis, Arthel and Don of Garden City. Open fire cooking was the trend for the picnic supper and after fighting a losing battle with the mosquitoes, we all adjourned to the inside for organ music and friendly conversation.

Local Witnesses To Attend Confab

About 80 of Jehovah's Witnesses from the Plymouth congregation will attend an international convention in New York City July 27 through August 3.

Mr. C. C. Coonce, presiding minister of the Plymouth congregation, in announcing the plans of the local delegates, said that it has been necessary to cancel all local meetings from July 22 to August 6, due to many being away for the Christian assembly.

When questioned about the expected attendance, Watchtower officials in New York pointed to the record attendance of 165,000 at the 1953 international convention in New York City's Yankee Stadium. At that time several overflow areas provided space for the Witnesses and interested persons. Yankee Stadium has again been secured, but because of the cramped quarters of the previous assembly the Polo Grounds will be used in addition. The program will be presented by the same participants following the first presentation in Yankee Stadium.

Most of those from the Plymouth congregation will be staying in private homes in New York City and nearby areas. All hotel accommodations will be filled, according to the Watchtower rooming committee, and the majority of attendees will be placed in homes following a gigantic house-to-house effort to find available accommodations.

Raymond Kay in State Senate Race

Among the candidates for State Senator in this district is a Detroit, Raymond Kay of 9226 Montrose.

A Democrat, Kay has based his bid for nomination on a platform of public service including increased financial aid to the aged, better traffic control, fairer legislative treatment for everyone, a fight against excessive taxation and a more responsible fiscal policy in government.

Kay, who was born in Detroit in 1917, is a native West Sider, having received his early education at St. Hedwig and St. Andrew parochial schools. In addition, he attended school in Mienszichod, Poland for two years before his family returned to this country in 1925.

A veteran of World War II, Kay served in the United States Navy from 1942 to '46. Upon being discharged, he enrolled in public speaking at Wayne State University.

Kay has long been active in the labor movement and has held various elective offices, including President of the UAW Skilled Trades Council, a position he still holds. He has also been active in many civic and fraternal organizations.

Entries Open For Plymouth Golf Tournament

The annual Plymouth Golf Tournament which now dates back 15 years will be staged this year at Hilltop Golf Course on Friday and Saturday, September 11 and 12.

Entries are now being accepted for the tourney from golfers living in Plymouth, Livonia, Northville and Canton Township, according to Chris Burkhardt, manager at Hilltop. The tournament this year will be sponsored by Hilltop.

The two days of play will begin on a Saturday to qualify for the Sunday finals. Saturday's 18 holes will determine the flight of each golfer. Winner of the championship flight will receive the F. A. Vollbrecht trophy which was awarded last year for the first time. He will also receive the Plymouth M A I traveling trophy.

Trophies will also be given to first, second and third place winners of each flight. If there is any entry fee money remaining after trophies are purchased, merchandise certificates will be given to other winners redeemable at any Plymouth store.

Burkhardt said that the entry fee will be $8, the same as last year. Five dollars of this amount will be for playing the 36 holes while $3 will go for trophies and prizes.

On the entry blank included on this page, golfers should state the hour that they prefer to tee off on Saturday, and their second choice. The entry blank should be mailed or brought to Hilltop Golf Course on Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, preferably with the entry fee.

For the first time, Livonia golfers will be eligible to enter the tournament. Many golfers from Livonia play on the Plymouth courses, some in industrial leagues.

Last year's champion was Bill Benjamin who fired 147, three over par. Runner-up was Tom Lock, city tournament winner several times, who shot a 152.

This is the 15th consecutive year for the Plymouth Golf Tournament.

Recreation Fastball Plymouth Merchants Lose Chance For First Division

CLASS 'A'
Beginners are still in first place by winning 2-1 from a former teammate, pitcher Joe Thibodeau of Cloverdale, in dramatic fashion. Thibodeau had a 1-0 lead until two were out in what should have been the last inning. Then first baseman Jim Stout belted a home run to tie the score and sent the game into extra innings. Two innings later Begliners bunched three hits to score the run that gave them win number 12. They won No. 13 by forfeit last Friday night. Cloverdale defeated Dehoco 2-1 to move into a tie for fourth place with Chevrolet Spring & Bumper.

Chevrolet's pitcher, Tiliski, provided another thrill for the fans by pitching a no-hitter against Box Bar to win 5-0. He struck out 17. In their second game of the week Chevie was defeated by Wolfe Aircraft, 9-2.

Wayne Dispatch took over second place from Wolfe Aircraft by winning both of their games on the strong arm of Herb Somers. Somers allowed U-Daly Western just two hits for a 6-0 victory and then bested Jim Lowe of Wolfe Aircraft in a pitcher's battle 2-0. He allowed Wolfe just one hit.

Mayflower split their two games during the week, winning 9-3 from Lincoln and losing to U-Daly Western 5-4.

CLASS 'B'
V.F.W. continued to match Gould Homes win for win but needed an extra inning to win number eight from Vico Products 5-4. Vico moved into an early 3-0 lead but could not hold it and had to come from behind in the last inning to tie the score thus forcing the extra innings.

Men's Lutheran continue their winning ways by defeating Continental Can Company 12-4.

Stroh's defeated Bohli's Drive-In 10-6 to move one game over 500.

Stal-Van Wire vs Chevie

Plymouth Merchants rallied for three runs in the eighth inning of their scheduled Inter-county league game with Redford last Sunday but fell one short, losing 7-6. This loss eliminates the possibility of Plymouth finishing in the first division and thus qualifying for a play-off spot. All is not lost for this season, however, as co-managers Warney Bassett and John Schwartz take their team to Grand Rapids on the week-end for the second round of the state tournament leading to a place in the Global World Series.

Plymouth scored a run in the first inning as Jack Carter singled, moved to second on Chuck Tomlinson's sacrifice and scored when Ron Bender got his first of three hits. Redford tied the score in their half of the first inning. Plymouth scored two more in the third to take a 3-1 lead. Chuck Tomlinson started the rally with a base on balls, moved to second on Bender's single and scored on Bud Nedry's single. Calhoun scored after some throwing errors advanced him.

Redford cut the lead to one run when they scored in their half of the third. Neither team scored again until the sixth when the roof fell in on the Plymouth team. Shepherd, who had been pitching very well, suddenly was the victim of some shoddy support in the field and when the dust had cleared and the side had been retired Sal Cipriano was pitching and Redford had scored five runs to bring their total to seven for the day. Plymouth rallied for three runs in the eighth on a single, double, single and home run. Ron Bender got his third hit of the game and scored on Bud Nedry's double. Calhoun singled and Nedry was out trying to score. Bob Gow, then hit a long home run to score behind Calhoun for the sixth Plymouth run.

Plymouth outhit Redford 9-6 and as in past games were again the victims of one bad inning to suffer the defeat.

STRETCHES WIN STREAK TO 11
Mark Nelson pitched Bill's Market to victory number 11 in the Recreation Class "F" 15-and-under league but had to be good to win 7-4 from Livonia Jets. The last time these two teams met the Jets were shut out 22-0 but this time they surprised everyone by battling the league leaders all the way.

Mike Knapp contributed the most timely hit of the game when he tripled in the second inning to drive in two runners. Jim Ralston got two hits and batted in two runs and Art Nelson also got two hits. Davis & Lent were nosed out by Northville 10-9.

On Wednesday, July 16, a meeting of the teams in the Class "A" Recreation Fastball league was held to solve some problems that confronted supervisor Mike Hoben and the managers. The first problem that was solved was picking the teams to represent Wayne and Plymouth in State tournaments. On the Class "A" State Tournament Wayne will be represented by Wolfe Aircraft and Plymouth by Begliners. In Class "B" Wayne Party Store from Wayne and Cloverdale from Plymouth, U-Daly Western and Chevrolet Spring & Bumper will be entered in Class "C" tournaments as representatives from Wayne and Plymouth. In the fourth classification, "D", Wayne will have the Mayflower team entered and Plymouth will have Box Bar.

The draw for these tournaments is expected to be made August 2 and the play will start on August 11. If these continue to play as well as they have in recent weeks they will provide stiff opposition for any teams in the state.

Another problem, solved at the meeting was the play-off schedule. The play-offs will start August 5 and will be a double knockout, in other words a team that loses two games will be eliminated. All other plans will be finalized when the teams finish tournament play.

In the Class "B" division of the Recreation fastball league a single knockout schedule will be used for play-offs.

The Class "A" league has five teams that are almost certain to make the play-offs—Begliners, Wolfe Aircraft, Wayne Dispatch, Chevrolet Spring and Bumper and Cloverdale: U-Daly Western must win their next four games to reach the play-offs. The standings, printed elsewhere, show that Wayne Dispatch is in second place just one game ahead of Wolfe Aircraft. However, some information reached us after this standing was typed that changes this situation. As they say in the advertising section, "too late to classify" was the effect that Wolfe Aircraft defeated Dehoco 3-1 and thus move back into a tie for second place.

The teams play Friday and Saturday as well as tonight and each game is important for the first six teams vying for play off spots.

In the Class "B" division Gould Homes and V.F.W. are tied for first place with eight wins. Both teams play next Wednesday night against teams who are improving with each game and will be trying just that much harder to defeat the league leaders. Gould plays Men's Lutheran who are in second place and V.F.W. plays Stroh's, a potentially good team.

Ron Bender, shortstop for Plymouth Merchants, continues to hit the ball but again his team lost a close one. This time it was to Redford 7-6 and thus lose all possibility of finishing in the first division. Frank Nedry and Bender each collected three hits in a losing effort. Co-managers John Schwartz and Warney Bassett are still trying different defensive combinations to get the team through a game without having a bad inning.

All roads lead to the baseball diamond at Whitman Junior High School tomorrow night. This diamond is situated at the corner of West Chicago and Hubbard and will be the scene of a very important baseball game for Bill's Market. This team represents Plymouth in the Class "F" 15 and under league and has won 11 straight games. Manager Harold Stevens expects the toughest opposition from this Livonia team and from Northville, whom they play at Cass Benton Park on Monday night. His team has had things their own way until last Monday night when Livonia Jets surprised them with a pitcher by the name of Wigle who fanned nine and forced Bill's Market to work for their victory. They will have to work harder for victories over Livonia Center and Northville.

FROM THE SCRATCHPAD—The old stands at the high school football field have been torn down and we are anxiously awaiting the appearance of new stands and a bigger press box. Under the heading of "Why Don't They Make" comes this suggestion, (strictly in jest, of course) Why Don't They Make a Direct Pipe Line from the Press Box to the coffee and hot dog stand. . . . Man those fall winds blow cold. . . . The last little note for this edition is an invitation to all those people who are connected with any sporting event in Plymouth that may have been overlooked from the publicity standpoint to call me at GA 2-9223 and either remind or notify that an event is taking place and give plenty of details. Just bear in mind that my deadline for the Thursday paper is the preceding Monday night.

Mrs. Charles Watts Feted at Baby Shower in Canton

By Mrs. Esther Sprengel
GL 3-0194

Many of you have asked me about the deadline for your news. You must have it to me the Friday morning before the next publication of your Plymouth Mail. Once again — if you cannot get me on your first call, please keep trying, and in either case, please let it ring more than once. We again have some new names and hope to hear from still more of you.

A baby shower honoring Mrs. Charles Watts, of Beck Rd., was given Saturday, July 12 at 7 p.m., by Miss Margaret Watts and Mrs. Robert Sparks at the home of Mrs. Steve Paskevich, Mrs.

Watts' mother, of Beck Rd. A color scheme of blue and pink was carried out in decor. Tables were graced with vases of red roses and gifts were placed in a decorated basket.

Guests were from Detroit, G a r d e n City, Plymouth, Wayne, Livonia, Dearborn and Tennessee. Present were Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mrs. Roberta Orr, Mrs. Ann Combs, Mrs. Virginia Wietcha, Mrs. Wilma Plymale, Mrs. Delphine Kolmills, Mrs. Antonette Broodbert, Mrs. Ben Ortman, Mrs. Lela Sadler, Mrs. Marcella Funtsch, Mrs. Helen Ortman, Mrs. Sara Spitznas, Mrs. Wanelta Carter, Miss Sandra Ortman, Mrs. Helen Harlan, Mrs. Jenny Bunk, Mrs. Bernice Wietcha, Mrs. Lucille Harlam, Mrs. Steve Paskevich, Miss Meihelle Bunk, Miss Ann Wietcha, Miss Beverly Carter. Guests unable to attend included Mrs. Paul Watts, Mrs. Clara Boyer, Mrs. Esther Sprengel, Mrs. Mary Spigarelli, Mrs. Willard Bowman and Mrs. Ella Cross. I understand the gifts were lovely and we want to wish Sonja the best of luck.

Miss Delores McLennan, of Cherry Hill, spent the weekend in Adrian with her roommate from Eastern college, Miss Joyce Vuillemin.

Barbara Thomas, now Mrs. Robin Miller, called me and stated she wanted her friends to be in on her surprise marriage to Navy Seaman, Robin Miller. The young couple were married, April 19, in Long Beach Calif. Mrs. Miller will reside at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas of Ford Rd., until December, at which time she plans to rejoin her husband, who has just completed his 30-day leave and has returned to California to duty. Late congratulations, Barbara, to you and Robin, and many, many happy years ahead!

The Cherry Hill Methodist Church Youth Fellowship and Mrs. Kenneth Conklin, who sponsors the group, planned a day at Silver Lake, last Wednesday. The group met at the church at 10 a.m. and arrived back at 4:30 p.m. Mrs. Richard Crawford and Mrs. John Contario, as well as Neil Bastian, one of the M.Y.F. members, provided the transportation for the group. There were three carloads. Attending the outing were Karen West, Alice Zorn, Karen McClure, Phil Cummings, Johnny Conario, John McLennan, Sally Simmons, Carleen Allen, Phil West, Danny West, B. B. Voss, Vannie Meason, Gil O'Donnell, Cheryl Cummings, Sharon McKim, Jerry Rowe and Steven Crawford. A good time was had by all.

Mrs. Stanley West and family of Cherry Hill had Mrs. Duane Bastian and family for chicken dinner cook-out last Sunday. The two families always get together every summer. This Sunday was the last for while, for Duane Bastian Jr. is going to college with the families, as he is leaving July 15, to serve Uncle Sam. Good Luck, Duane, and hurry home again.

Miss Penney Ridley, Girl Scout counselor at Cedar Lake and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Ridley of Cherry Hill, was home for three days from her duties at the Girl Scout camp. I understand they call this a break during the change of seasons. They take this break in the middle of the four sessions held each season in order to give the counselors a change in routine. I hear Miss Ridley is doing a fine job.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley West and their newlywed daughter, Linda and her husband, Gerry Le n t s, had dinner at the Le n t s' cottage to view the moving pictures of the young couple's wedding. Mrs. West also has a very busy month ahead of her still, with another daughter's pending marriage. Nancy West will be married in August. Nancy is employed at the Capital Airlines as secretary to the Passenger Reservation Manager. There are many pre-wedding celebrations planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur West, of Sheldon Rd., just returned from a month in California, with daughter Janet, to visit their son, Lanny, who at present resides in Hollywood. Lanny is a representative for the Daisy Air Rifle Co., and is being transferred to cover the Washington and Oregon territory.

Mrs. West, graciously filled me in on some of the details of their trip, and I found her conversation so interesting that I know I forgot to take down many things she told me, but a few details that stand out in my mind are as follows. They went through Grand Canyon, the Petrified Forest and then met their son Lanny at Yosemite and stayed at the Curry Lodge. Mr. and Mrs. West spent several days with friends of theirs of Hollywood. I asked if they had seen any of the stars, but Mrs. West said they hadn't, but had seen some of their homes, which are fabulous.

They went through Disneyland and the most outstanding thing to Mrs. West was a cable car ride to Fantasy Land. She said they rode in buckets that held two persons and it was a very peaceful trip. More than Disneyland, though, Mrs. West said she enjoyed a place called Knott's Berry Farm. They display antique collections and old time store, etc. Originally the Knott's family started out their venture by making jams and jelly, grown on the farm, then started serving chicken dinners in the kitchen, for 50 cents (we know this must have taken place many years ago). Now the farm has so grown in popularity that they have a house where they serve chicken dinners and another house near future she will have some more news for me on the marriage of her sister in August.

Well, it is Thursday evening and my article is due tomorrow morning, and I will close now, providing none of you call me the first thing tomorrow to add to our news for the week. Remember it isn't my writing the folks say they enjoy, it is the news about all of you that look forward to reading each week. Hoping to hear from you next week.

Well, a late item did come to my attention, although the neighbor calling didn't realize that's why she was calling. Mrs. John Dozier, of 1600 N. Beck Rd., called to see if I could use some of her beetles to can, and although I have plenty and have already canned them I was pleased that Mrs. Dozier thought of me. Mr. and Mrs. Dozier are fairly new to the township, but are fine neighbors and ones we are proud to call just that. Mrs. Dozier explained the reason for my not seeing her in the garden, was due to the fact that her sister, Mrs. Lela Shook, came out last Sunday and stayed with her until Wednesday and they were busy making visits here and there. She stated that she would be having guests from the south very soon and would certainly call and let us know about it if we are interested, and we are.

Art Club To Display At Flower Show

It'll be arts and flowers at the Community Flower show on Friday, Aug. 22 at the Plymouth Junior High School. Paintings, sculpture and ceramics will join with flowers fruit and vegetables as artists and flower lovers display the harvest of their works for fellow Plymouthites.

The Three Cities Art Club, at the invitation of the sponsoring Plymouth Branch of the National Farm and Garden Association, will exhibit the color and design efforts of its artists with those of the home gardener.

Three Cities president Mrs. Marjorie Becker welcomed the joint showing as an opportunity for visitors to enjoy the beauties of nature and art in a colorful setting unmatched in any museum — and all right here in Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hart and family of Shearer Dr., Northville, spent the Fourth of July week-end at Fort Bragg, N.C., visiting their son, Kenneth Hart, Kenneth graduated June 20 from Jump School and is now a paratrooper with the 82nd Airborne Division. Miss Andrews returned home July 7 while the Harts spent two weeks visiting relatives and friends in Kansas, Mo., and Indiana.

Such organization so early can only mean that The Theater Guild wants to give the community only best-prepared productions. Now if someone would only donate an auditorium to the city to form the nucleus of a Civic Center; we could sit back and stop dreaming. Well, let's leave the spotlights turned on that happy thought while we retire to the wings for another week.

For Easier Care, New Effect, Raise Your Garden Beds

'Repair' the Grass After Games

Nothing beats grass as a surface to walk on or play on. But, if the neighborhood youngsters make the side or rear lawn their playing field, if teen agers have a badminton court or adults play croquet regularly during good weather, then the grass is bound to look down-trodden and worn.

There's no reason why a part of the lawn can't double as a playing field for any game that any members of the family enjoy playing. But lawns that are to serve a double purpose need extra invigoration to keep them thick and green. The thicker the grass, the longer it takes to show wear and tear from daily or weekend games. Thick grass also minimizes injury to any players who take a tumble.

A strong and thick lawn results from repeated fertilizing and seeding. Spring is the season to inaugurate the program, but it must be maintained during spring and fall.

Feeding with a complete fertilizer should be done first in March. Another feeding should be given in mid-summer and still another in September. The fertilizer should be a complete balanced one, preferably high in nitrogen such as an 10-8-6, 10-6-4 or 8-6-4. Dry fertilizer, which can be scattered or applied with a spreader at the rate of 20 pounds for 1,000 square feet, will be less expensive than liquid fertilizer. Apply lime only if a soil test indicates need for it.

As important as fertilizing and far better than rolling, even in spring, is aerating a lawn. Power aeration equipment can be rented or a hand aerator can be purchased for a few dollars. These tools

Logs, Blocks Serve As Excellent Props

In a garden on Cape Cod last summer the petunias, calendula, nasturtium and phlox flowered in long boxes that are not at ground level but in beds raised 18 inches above ground. In Fort Worth, Texas, flower borders around three sides of a garden have been planted in brick-enclosed beds of asters where herbs were soil that were 15 inches higher than the lawn.

The beds were higher than the ground in the Cape Cod garden because the gardener, a man in his 70's recovering from an illness, should bend down seldom, if at all. In Fort Worth, the garden beds were raised to give a small illusion of height

On city rooftops, gardens always are planted in long boxes that are comparable to raised beds. It isn't a new idea to cultivate a garden in raised beds, for this was done in ancient Persia and in medieval Egypt, in a garden in the sixteenth century. It is a convenience to tend a garden without having to stoop or squat on the ground, to say nothing of the freedom from aching back and tired muscles. Beds raised 9 to 18 inches higher than the ground are easier to weed and mulch, spray, and cut flowers. There are no edges to clip after every lawn mowing and no fussing about grass creeping in and taking over space that rightly belongs to flowers.

Raised beds may be essential where land is uneven and even a small property has continuous ups-and-downs. How else can a permanent garden be planted except by walling up small areas and planting on top of them?

In the plains or prairie regions where raised beds are built to break the monotony of level ground, an illusion of greater height comes from making the beds in front of a fence, wall or baffle. Against this background climbing sweet peas, morning glories to flower in daytime and moonflowers for after dark, or scarlet runner beans, carry the eyes upward.

The disadvantage of having to tote soil from somewhere on the property or to buy it to fill the 9 to 18-inch high beds is offset by the fact that such beds should be narrow. Four feet is maximum for easy upkeep, and two feet is wide enough for an effective display of flowers — or a harvest of vegetables.

In New England the worn, round stones that can be picked up anywhere are an obvious choice for making a raised flower bed. In woody regions, peeled cedar logs would be a natural choice. Four logs one on top of the other would be about right; hold them together by means of stakes.

Logs are fine for an informal garden. A formal one; with clipped lawn and hedge will look better if beds are raised by means of a low brick wall. Cinder blocks are another good choice and easy to put in place. Edges can be softened if the cinder blocks are laid as is a brick wall and the center holes planted with sedum, thyme or other low green creeping plant.

Try making the first raised bed close to the house, perhaps at right angles to the terrace, between the front door and sidewalk or from house to garage, or wherever it will be seen daily by many people. The advantage of such a location is that the raised bed will always be beautiful to look at, because it's so much easier to keep it weeded and pest free and pick off faded flowers so that fresh ones open every day.

Little Planning Big Help For Your 'Outdoor Living'

THE OUTDOOR living room, however pleasantly located, needs to be comfortable. Shade, lights, freedom from insects, and furniture suited to family activities are essential.

On Saturday, June 21, summer arrived. Astronomers are the only ones who noted its entrance at 4:57 p.m., although at that moment many a family had some member unconsciously note that this outdoor living season has arrived.

Such family notice is in the form of a complaint — "the mosquitoes are driving me crazy," or "this chair is uncomfortable. Let's get a new one," or "why can't we have an awning?" Comfort is the chief demand for the porch, terrace, breezeway, patio or grassy area in the shade of a tree which is the outdoor living room.

This outdoor living room generally is used far more in late afternoon and on into the evening than during the middle of the day. Nevertheless, some shade is essential. If a tree can be planted, locate it so that its shadow will fall on the area during the hottest part of the day. A high-branched elm, locust or oak is an excellent choice. While waiting for the tree to grow big enough to give shade, use awning supported on pipes or a wooden arbor covered with vines for an unroofed terrace or similar area.

A wooden baffle with a tracery of vines such as annual morning glory at one end of an open terrace or even on the living area of the lawn will give some protection. A baffle is primarily to break the force of wind, but it will also give a little shade and privacy. The outdoor living room should be airy, but not windy, and sheltered.

The chief problem outdoors is insects, but no longer is oil of citronella an essential for outdoor comfort. Before rubbing today's less odorous compounds on exposed areas of skin, there are other weapons against insects.

In mosquito regions their prevalence depends on standing water. Drain large areas and if this isn't possible, have them sprayed (this may be a community project). Goldfish combat mosquitoes in garden pools and a cake of kitchen soap is effective in a rain barrel.

To control mosquitoes and other night-flying insects, use an aerosol bomb to spray shrubs and trees adjacent to the outdoor living room. One spraying is effective for about two hours. Spray screens that enclose the porch and windows to keep out gnats and other insects so tiny that they penetrate the mesh.

Outdoor lighting can help to control insects as well as permit reading and other activities after dark. The use of yellow light bulbs will repel instead of attract insects; the yellow bulb also gives enough light for reading.

Lights made specifically for outdoor use now extend to reading lamps. Outdoor lights with mushroom or cone shaped reflectors are advisable for lighting steps at the terrace or porch or a path that may be used frequently at night.

Furniture for outdoor comfort should be chosen on the basis of family activities. If it's lightweight, it's easily portable. Rustproof frames and waterproof coverings leave more time to enjoy outdoor leisure.

Make Rock Hunting Expeditions A Family Summer Hobby

PROSPECTING for rock specimens on a hillside near home is fun for all the family these mid-summer days.

Natural Science Is Enriching

A little girl picks up a bright colored stone and says "Look, Daddy, what's this?" Boys' pockets, half the time, are weighted down with stones and pebbles. Why they carry them, no one knows any more than the boys themselves know what kind of stones or pebbles they are.

Here then, can be the beginning of a family hobby—rock hunting—in which old and young participate and together learn something of the world about them. No one in the family will necessarily go on to be a geologist, mineralogist or gem collector. And perhaps the interest in rocks will last only this summer or one fall or winter. Those three or four months will be long enough so that every member of the family gains some understanding of the part rocks play in this world.

The backyard or driveway is the place to start. What kind and color of soil is there? Are rocks plentiful in it? Are there outcroppings ledges or boulders? Once these questions have been answered, it's time for short, day trips to neighborhood places to learn something more about rocks.

The family who lives in a coal mining region might arrange for a visit to the mine and thereby learn something about coal, which geologically is "an organic sedimentary rock consisting of the altered remains of plants." Just as interesting will be a visit to a marble, limestone or sandstone quarry for families who live in such areas. Or, an intermediate step between the backyard and a quarry or mine, would be a day spent in the local park looking closely at the rock formations that may be part of the scene or the stones that are not.

The equipment needed to study rocks is simple and inexpensive. Take along on any expedition, even in the backyard, old newspapers to wrap specimens for study indoors, a notebook and pencil. Pick up only small rock specimens of a size that will fit in the hand. Wrap specimens in the newspaper and number them, then beside the same number in a notebook, jot down any observations about the prevalence of similar rocks, the land around it, and so on.

A small magnifying glass will be useful on trips and in studying specimens at home. There the fun is to identify and then label rocks. Label, put a small dab of enamel on the rock and when this has dried, write on it with India ink.

Identification can be fun, and, for many kinds of common rocks reasonably easy with any of several beginners' books on the subjects. There is even a thoroughly illustrated paperback book for the small sum of $1.

On a rainy day, a trip to the local museum to look over their rock collection will be rewarding, and it should be possible to match up some of the specimens picked up by the family with those in the cases.

For rare or difficult specimens, the geologist on the museum staff or one at the State university will oblige. Be sure to send an accompanying letter with details about the rock specimen mailed to him.

To identify, it is necessary to look for color, substance, hardness, streaking, shape and texture. Note all of them and jot them down in the notebook. Test the specific gravity, and note that, too. Then turn to the illustrated book.

With the exception of a thin layer of soil which varies greatly in thickness the earth is composed of rock. Rock extends from the surface downward for many miles. Basically, rocks belong to one of three major classes. They are sedimentary, igneous, or metamorphic (change d). Quartz, agate, garnet, slate, marble, shale, sandstone—all these and many more are rocks. The soil in which plants grow is also rock, a most complex sort.

Teach your child shoe care by encouraging him to polish them regularly and to alternate the wearing of two or more pairs of shoes.

PATIO SETS SCENE FOR RELAXATION An Invitation for Pleasure

Patios Come of Age — Boost Home Value While Providing Gay Outdoor Living Room

Anybody for enjoying the patio? One can't deny that these mid-summer days are ideal ones to "live the life of Riley" . . . although Riley never had it so good" under the smiling sun and in the comfort of your own patio.

And the good word from the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information, is that a patio greatly increases the resale possibilities of your home. In fact, they go so far as to state that the time is rapidly approaching when it will be difficult to sell any home without any adequate patio.

The Bureau cites as evidence the frequency of patios being mentioned and described in classified advertisements for homes now on the market.

"The patio has come of age and is now an essential part of the blueprints for a modern home," the Bureau reports. "It has evolved from a misnamed concrete platform to a well-planned and landscaped outdoor living room—the second being the family room which the patio regularly adjoins."

"The placing of the patio has influenced the plan of the entire house. Because the seclusion of the backyard is usually the most advantageous location, the patio has done much to reverse the trend toward kitchens at the front of the house. It was found that rear kitchens not only gave mothers closer supervision of children playing in the yard, but also facilitated serving food on the patio.

"The outstanding developments that tie the modern patio, family room and kitchen together in a homogeneous group are sliding glass doors and harmonious floor coverings. In many cases the glass walls of a kitchen and family room open wide to a patio while indoor flooring blends appropriately with the masonry outside.

"Decorators also link the outdoors and indoors at this point in a house by reproducing accent colors of dominant flowers, or by using patio furniture to match the color of interior floors. An example of the latter is the use of chestnut finished wood garden furniture to match the new chestnut plankstyle rubber flooring of woodgrain pattern in the house.

"A barbecue fireplace on a patio is located in relation to the direction of prevailing winds. Sometimes an outside grill can be built in connection with a house chimney, back of a family room fireplace or behind a kitchen fireplace or third living room. But if this side of the patio funnels breezes that will carry smoke into the barbecue cook's face, a separate chimney should be erected at the opposite end of the patio.

"Plastic pipe has made the construction of fish pools, fountains and even trickling miniature waterfalls economical and practicable for a

Tot Troubles Ride With Unlocked Car

Sitting behind a steering wheel is a secret passion of all youngsters. And temptation to release hand brake or turn ignition keys left in car can only result in serious trouble. Best safety precaution is to lock car doors after car keys have been removed. A recent headline in a newspaper announced "Run-away Car Hurts Child Out Of Door." The tragic story stated that a 2 year-old girl entered the family car in the driveway. She released the handbrake, and away rolled the car throwing her out as it went down an embankment. Too many parents feel that a car left in a driveway is safe. How about car keys? Were they left in the ignition? Have front wheels been turned into driveway curb to prevent rolling? Are children in sight and safely out of the way when backing out of driveway? These questions must be answered to keep sad experiences from happening.

HAVE YOU A YOUNG "DRIVER" like this in your home or neighborhood . . . just about ready to experiment with the hand brake? Always take precautions with your parked car—or there will be heartbreak ahead for him . . . and you the remainder of your life.

In Case of Accident . . . Careful What You Say or Do!

The worst experience any woman driver can encounter is an accident. When it happens the mental anguish that follows immediately results in doing the wrong things and obtaining the wrong information.

Actually, there is no set procedure to follow when an accident occurs. However, there are certain laws that motorists must observe without fail. For example, no matter how slight an accident may be, a driver or drivers involved must stop immediately.

A hit-and-run driver, in the eyes of the law, is a fugitive. If, and when, a hit-and-run driver is caught, his or her license can be revoked, and there will be a stiff fine, and possible imprisonment depending on the seriousness of the accident. It's hardly worth the trouble to try to get away from an accident.

Once the car is stopped, it's pure folly for a driver or drivers to argue about who's at fault. What should be done is to ask and give name, address, license number, registration number of both cars involved, and to remain at the scene of the accident until no longer needed. This procedure should be followed whether the accident involves only a dented fender or is of a more serious nature. Of course, names of witnesses will help clear up future misunderstandings as to which driver is at fault.

Out of decency, assistance should be given if someone is injured. This may take the form of obtaining a doctor or calling an ambulance. Above all, injured persons should not be moved or lifted into a passing automobile to get them to a hospital. Unskilled handling of an injured person who may have a broken bone can lead to serious internal injuries and may increase the injury.

Complete and accurate accident reports should be filled out and mailed to the police, Motor Vehicle Bureau (as required by law) and to the insurance company which has insured the car. The reports should be completed and mailed PROMPTLY. In some cases, these reports will have to be filed in person. But never rely on anyone else to do it.

Legal responsibilities when involved in an accident can be quite serious in most states. For example, should a driver cause an accident through a traffic violation, that driver can be involved in a criminal case resulting in a fine, revocation of license and imprisonment. However, most accident cases are civil cases, but passengers of the car involved can sue the driver and owner of the car. Compulsory auto liability insurance has been adopted by many states, and other states require a driver to give proof of his or her ability to pay damages in case of accident. In the latter case, it may be necessary for a driver involved in an accident to deposit with state authorities the amount that they estimate will cover damage; if this deposit is not made, it can mean forfeiture of license.

Every driver dislikes accidents. Not only does it mean possible injury to all involved, but also the outlay of unnecessary expense and a waste of time. The only way to eliminate all accidents is to drive safely and operate a safe car.

Bread Stored Best in Box

Where do you store bread in your home? It keeps well at room temperature in a breadbox—still wearing its original wrapper. Detroit Consumer Marketing Information agent tells us that moisture and freshness remain for several days. You can store bread in the refrigerator, but it will stale rapidly. Only reason for using refrigerator storage is when the loaf lasts a long time and mold growth becomes a problem. Excellent place to store bread for several weeks is in the freezer. Leave it in its original seal. Otherwise, moisture forms on the crust and causes it to lose crispness. Good storage can keep bread fresh and cut freezer materials. Frozen bread should be thawed in its wrapper unless you plan to down waste.

 9:30 Worship Service.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District was held in the faculty lounge of the Plymouth Community Junior High School on Monday evening, June 9, 1958, at eight o'clock.
 Present: Mr. Fischer, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet; Mr. Blunk and Mr. Isibister, absent.
 Absent: Mrs. Hulsing.
 Also present: Mrs. Kelly, Mr. Foster, Mrs. Mackie, Mrs. Terry, Mr. Smith and Mr. Arnold of Plymouth Education Association; Mr. Heiney, Consumer Power Company; Mr. McVeigh, School Equipment Company; Mr. Sand and Mr. Schmidt, citizens of the community.
 President Fischer called the meeting to order at 8:00 P.M.
 Mr. Fischer indicated that the Board wished to discuss with the Plymouth Education Association members the salary program for next year. He also indicated that the Board wished to discuss with the community the areas of study with which the Joint Committee has been concerned.
 Mr. Stecker reviewed the progress made this year in the face-to-face reporting of staff members to the Board of Education. He noted that a number of suggestions made by teachers had already been acted upon and that others were under consideration for action. He evaluated the improvements in the personnel policies which grew out of the joint studies made by both teachers and board members. He suggested a continued study of problems of mutual interest.
 Mr. Fischer interpreted the Board's position on the professional growth program and the plan for recognition in the salary schedule for hours of college or university credit earned beyond the bachelor's and master's degree.
 Mr. Mitchell expressed the desire that the personnel policies and the professional development program which was initiated this year could be carried over next year, and that work could be done on job description, analysis and evaluation.
 Mr. Zoet urged the Board to consider further a revision of the basic salary schedule. He pointed to the increased cost of living as a basis for salary revision.
 Plymouth Education Association members expressed some favorable opinion for the professional improvement schedule but felt that an upward revision was needed in the basic salary structure.
 After further discussion it was moved by Mr. Mitchell and seconded by Mr. Zoet that the following salary program and conditions be approved for the school year 1958-1959.

1. The payment to bachelor degree teachers of ten dollars an hour per year up to a maximum of twenty hours for each hour of college or university credit earned beyond ten hours.
 2. The payment to master degree teachers of ten dollars an hour per year up to a maximum of thirty hours for each hour of college or university credit earned beyond the masters degree.
 3. Payments in accordance with the above conditions will be made beginning with the school year 1958-59 to all contract teachers who earned credits prior to June 30, 1958, and who file in the superintendent's office on or before September 1, 1958, substantiating evidence of credits earned.
 4. Payments in accordance with provisions mentioned in paragraphs 1 and 2 above will be made to teachers who earn credits after July 1, 1958, providing the following condition is met:
 A teacher contracts with his principal and/or superintendent on courses to be taken in order to harmonize his individual professional growth goals with the needs of the teaching situation and those of the school system.
 5. The Board of Education agrees during the first week of September, 1958, to review with the Plymouth Education Association the basic salary schedule in the light of the general economic conditions and the budget commitments at that time.
 Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet.
 Nays: None.
 Mr. Greenspan, Mr. Burdick and Mr. Perlongo entered the meeting at 9:45 P.M. to discuss the extension of utility services to the Farrand School. The amendment to the contract agreement signed by the Board of Education and the Lake Pointe Development Company was read and approved as per resolution adopted on June 2, 1958.
 Mr. Heiney of the Consumer Power Company informed the Board that his company could not furnish gas for the Farrand School unless the Lake Pointe Development Company would grant the right-of-way for the extension of the line. Mr. Burdick stated that the Lake Pointe Development Company would grant a right-of-way providing their additional costs for installing the storm sewer around the gas line were guaranteed.
 Mr. Heiney was instructed to notify the Board of Education not later than July 1, 1958, whether or not the gas would be furnished for the school.
 Mr. Stecker opened and read the results of the election for school board members as contained in sealed envelopes reported by the election inspectors. It was moved by Austin Stecker and seconded by James Mitchell that the results of the annual election held in the Plymouth Community School District on Monday, June 9, 1958, be determined to be as follows:
 For One Three-Year Term Expiring June 30, 1961

 Wesley Kaiser 512
 Clara Scharmer 203
 Margaret Dunning 236
 Arthur F. Haeske 308
 Richard L. Range 58
 John G. Batsakis 54
 A total of 1134 votes was cast.
 Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet.
 Nays: None.
 Harold E. Fischer having received the highest number of votes was declared elected to a three-year term on the Board of Education expiring June 30, 1961. Robert R. Soth and Wesley Kaiser having received the highest number of votes were declared elected to four-year terms on the Board of Education expiring on June 30, 1962.
 The request of Olivia Bell for permission to sponsor a school-conducted helicopter ride for her students was denied because of the liability involved.
 The minutes of the last regular and intervening special meetings were read and approved as read.
 It was moved by Mr. Stecker and seconded by Mr. Mitchell to approve payment of school bills.

 It was moved by Mrs. Hulsing and seconded by Mr. Stecker to give support to the idea advanced by the Michigan Association of School Boards and the Wayne County Association of School Boards that a school finance study be undertaken in Michigan which will lead the way to an improved program of school support.
 Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet.
 Nays: None.
 A special meeting was called for Monday, July 7, 1958, at 8:00 P.M.
 Present: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Soth, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet; Superintendent Isibister.
 Also present: Mr. Jolliffe, Mr. Becker, Mr. Hamill, Mr. Heiney and Mr. Viaw.
 Mr. Fischer served as temporary chairman during a discussion period when progress reports were given on the installation of water, sewer and gas services for the Farrand School.
 Mr. Hamill reported on a directive which he had from Mr. Greenspan stating that the sanitary sewer, water service and the dry well would be installed by September 15, 1958, in accordance with their contract.
 Mr. Heiney and Mr. Viaw stated that Mr. Greenspan had denied Consumers Power Company the right-of-way for gas service along the proposed street leading to the school. They stated the denial by Mr. Greenspan was based on his judgment that additional expense on his part would be incurred at a future time when the storm sewer was installed and the contractor would be forced to work around the gas line.
 Mr. Heiney and Mr. Viaw offered to install temporary service along the school owned roadway leading from Schoolcraft to the Farrand School. The total cost of this service to the school district would be $2,498 which includes a charge of $875 previously quoted for the installation of gas service from the proposed street to the school. The net increase in cost to the school district of this service over the permanent installation would be $1,624 at this time in the Board proceedings.
 No action was taken at this time in the Board proceedings.
 Mr. Isibister was asked to serve as temporary chairman during the election of the president.
 Mr. Isibister asked for nominations for president. Mr. Fischer nominated Mr. Stecker for president.
 It was moved by Mr. Fischer and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing that the nominations be closed, the rules be suspended and the secretary be instructed to cast a unanimous ballot for Mr. Stecker as president of the Board of Education.
 Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Stecker, Mr. Soth and Mr. Zoet.
 Nays: None.
 Mr. Stecker was declared elected and at this point took over the presidency.
 President Stecker called for nominations for vice president. Mr. Fischer nominated Mr. Mitchell for vice president.
 It was moved by Mr. Kaiser and seconded by Mr. Zoet to close the nominations, the rules be suspended and the secretary be instructed to cast a unanimous ballot for Mr. Mitchell as vice president.
 Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Stecker, Mr. Soth and Mr. Zoet.
 Nays: None.
 Mr. Mitchell was declared elected vice president.
 President Stecker called for nominations for treasurer. Mr. Mitchell nominated Mr. Fischer for treasurer.
 It was moved by Mrs. Hulsing and seconded by Mr. Kaiser to close the nominations, the rules be suspended and the secretary be instructed to cast a unanimous ballot for Mr. Fischer as treasurer.
 Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Stecker, Mr. Soth and Mr. Zoet.
 Nays: None.
 Mrs. Hulsing was declared elected secretary.
 It was moved by Mr. Fischer and seconded by Mr. Mitchell to approve the recommendation of the School Site Committee that a 10 acre school site be purchased in the area of Territorial and Ridge Roads and that the superintendent be authorized to negotiate an offer of purchase with B. D. Wolloughby for a high level site on the west side of Ridge approximately 1/4 mile north of Territorial Road extending 500' along Ridge Road and then approximately 871' west. The purchase price is to be $2,900 per acre.
 Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Stecker, Mr. Soth and Mr. Zoet.
 Nays: None.
 The purchase of the other school site recommended by the Site Committee was held in abeyance pending a further investigation of an existing right-of-way agreement over the said property held by the Detroit Edison Company.
 Upon the recommendation of the superintendent, it was moved by Mrs. Hulsing and seconded by Mr. Fischer to authorize, if the recipients desire, the distribution of the sabbatical leave salary which Mr. Foster and Miss Anderson are entitled during the school year 1958-59 in twenty-one equal installments, one every two weeks during the school year.
 Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Stecker, Mr. Soth and Mr. Zoet.
 Nays: None.
 It was moved by Mrs. Hulsing and seconded by Mr. Zoet to continue with plans for the gas-fired boiler to be used in the new school and authorize Mr. Mitchell and the superintendent to negotiate with Consumers Power Company, urging them to assume a larger share of the cost of the temporary service.
 Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Stecker, Mr. Soth and Mr. Zoet.
 Nays: None.
 Mr. Stecker and Mr. Mitchell announced plans to meet with the Maintenance and Custodial Committee on Tuesday evening, July 8, 1958.
 Meeting adjourned at 9:27 P.M.
 Respectfully submitted,

Tips for Teens

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Sometimes a girl thinks in the date department as you do now. You'll meet the right boy at the right time. Meanwhile, look at all the fun you're having!

Q.—"Dear Elinor: I'm 18 and all the girls my age are getting married. I'm not even going steady! I have quite a few dates and lots of fun, but they don't get serious. Will I ever be a wife and a mother some day? I wrote for a while to a boy in the Army. He sounded quite interested in his letters. He came to see me recently and I fell for him, but he hasn't written since his visit. Should I write to him again or what? How can you tell how a boy feels about you?"

Ans.—You can tell how a boy feels about you by how he acts toward you and with you — more than by what he says.

Q.—"Dear Miss Williams: Why is it that I like a boy very much — until he likes me, then I just can't stand him?"

Ans.—Sometimes it's human nature to like, want and day-dream about what we haven't got or what seems unattainable... or somebody you don't really know. When we have it, it (or he) isn't always as wonderful or special as we thought. That's the meaning of "Other fields always look greener." But when you really like — or love — some one, you know well, you won't change your mind when he likes you.

It was all right to write to this boy after his visit, but once is enough. Send him a "When are you going to write to me?" greeting card as a reminder, then wait for him to make the next move.

Don't let those 18-year-old brides influence you. Millions of people still get married in the 20s and some in the 30s... and their marriages have a better chance of happy survival than the very early school-girl-and-boy romances.

Try not to be in a rush or too eager. Boys like a girl who is fun to be with so keep on operating.

They're Saving the Old 'Dixboro Square'

There was a two-fold purpose in a celebration on July 19, in Dixboro, out Plymouth Road five miles east of Ann Arbor.

The Dixboro Methodist Church is celebrating its 100th year and hopes to raise money to help pay for the old school yard, which it bought from the local school board before it merged with the Ann Arbor school system.

The old red school house still stands and was used for school until this June. Capt. John Dix, the founder of the village in 1826, set aside the three-quarter acre plot to be used as a town square, for church or school. For years, the children of the locality met and played there under the generous shade of the huge maple trees which surround it. There was an almost never-ending baseball game played there during the summer months and during the winter there could be heard the laughter of ice skaters on the rink.

The scout cabin on the school grounds was built more than 30 years ago by the local inhabitants and scouts.

To save this plot for the children and youth of the neighborhood, this spring the church bought the property. The church members did not want to see a supermarket, a gas station or a tavern on this spot of so many traditions and memories.

So on July 19, there was a day filled with festivities. Plans had been going on for months. To give the day a lively start, there was a bicycle parade in the morning. All the children were invited to participate and there were prizes for the most unusual and best decorated bicycles.

Many of the women of the church have made centennial costumes. They wore them to church Sunday, July 13. They provided a booth overflowing with home-made cakes and pies and ice cream served in old-fashioned ice-cream social style. At 5 p.m. they served a "penny supper" in the church. In the afternoon, there was a soft ball game and all sorts of races and contests for everyone.

Other attractions were a country store where almost anything could be bought and in the old red brick one-room school there was an antique show. Items displayed came from the attics and collections of the local residents.

The climax of the day was the pageant which took place in the evening. It depicted the history of the village from the time of the arrival of Capt. John Dix, his wife and party who rode out from Detroit on horseback to find a place to make their home until the present time. It featured the famous Dixboro "ghost", who it is said, made several appearances in the year of 1845 and told of the building of the church in 1858 for $2,241.

There was a tableaux showing the prayer meetings, the oyster suppers, and the many ministers who came and went for this was a small rural church and most of the time students from Ann Arbor or retired pastors filled the pulpit.

Many University of Michigan football fans have eaten many a chicken dinner at the home games in Ann Arbor at the church. This tradition, the pageant reveals, began in 1918-1921, when the ladies of the church served chicken dinners and home grown strawberries to groups from the Masonic lodges in Detroit to pay for the first furnace in the church. The narrator told of the planning and building of the addition on the church to provide needed Sunday School rooms and a hall, of the Lord's Acre of wheat and of the 500 talents to raise money for this. There was a square dance scene complete with square dancers in costume and a caller. The finale was the modern church choir as it is today.

Take Care

Cheese cake should be stored in the refrigerator. For "the fullest rich mellow flavor," remove cake from refrigerator one hour before serving. This cheese cake will keep at least four days. If you're preparing it in advance, wait until serving time to top it with cherry glaze.

Those Other Demos

DEMOCRATS ARE HAVING TROUBLE with political figures they used to call their friends.

For the first time since 1948 when he won his primary by a close vote, Gov. Williams has opposition.

His opponent Aug. 5 will be William L. Johnson, of Ironwood, a radio station owner who was on William's team as a candidate for state treasurer in 1954.

It was a team on which only the captain won that year. Johnson finished down the scale from the top vote getters, and Republican D. Hale Brake began his final term. Now, Johnson has returned — and with a vengeance.

Johnson is one of the organizers of the Democratic Club of Michigan, Inc., which includes Ted Fry and former Congressman Frank E. Hook. Hook has been disclaimed by the Williams organization of Democrats, which has won the state's top office five terms running. Fry is an Upper Peninsula leader in the group.

Homer Martin, former UAW president and onetime leader of a band of Michigan farmers who protested low milk prices, is also a member of the club. He is running for the U.S. Senate against Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart.

Michael T. Mohardt, of Detroit, is the club's candidate for lieutenant governor, opposing the Williams-approved Senator John B. Swainson (D-Detroit).

The irony of the situation has several aspects. For the first time in years, Republican candidates for top state offices are running unopposed in the primary. Democratic leaders see a frightening possibility. With no Republican contests in the primary, it would be possible for Republicans to flood the ball-boxes with votes for Johnson, Martin and Hook, giving Williams a real contest.

Paul D. Bagwell, on leave from Michigan State University where he headed Communication Skills, is the only Republican candidate for governor.

Senator Charles E. Potter is the incumbent and an automatic primary winner, without opposition.

Rep. Donald A. Brown is running as a Republican for lieutenant governor. None of them will admit that they are running as sacrifice candidates, just to put Republicans on the ballot.

All are campaigning hard, however, but their eyes are lifted over the Aug. 5 primary election horizon to the date in November — when voters will answer all these pesky questions.

William S. and Democratic State Chairman, Neil Stabler have soundly blasted the Johnson-Martin-Mohardt-Hook-Fry group.

They are telling all who will listen that Martin is a discredited union leader, that Johnson was something less than a sensation in 1954. They shrug when they remember Hook's defeat by Rep. John Bennett in the Upper Peninsula race.

Stabler has charged publicly that the club has sought campaign funds and votes from Republicans — on the theory that one small group of dissident Democrats and one big group of united Republicans can end Williams' 10-year reign.

"They know they will get neither from Democrats," said Stabler.

The club, quite naturally, denies these charges and blasts the Williams side of the party, countercharging that it has become a "dictatorship."

Its leaders say they are tired of the Democratic party taking orders from Walter Reuther and other labor leaders. They say they want the party to return to the principles for which they believe it should stand.

ANOTHER STRATOSPHERE JET

'Life Begins at Forty'

BY ROBERT PETERSON

Someone ought to send suggestion I moved to Mrs. John Taylor Lewis, 80, on a nation-wide tour to awaken other older people to their possibilities.

Mother of seven, and grandmother of 20, this remarkable woman won a B.A. degree in psychology at New York University at a last year. She's now a lecturer and friendly counselor on the subject of gerontology, and trots to Arthur Murray's for dancing lessons twice a week.

"My rebirth began ten years ago," said Mrs. Lewis, who has been a widow for 23 years. She's an erect, fine-looking woman with gray hair and blue eyes. Her voice is firm and she speaks with a crisp enunciation.

"I was living alone in Richmond, Virginia, and while I belonged to the usual assortment of women's clubs I felt no zest for life and seemed utterly lacking in energy.

"One day I happened to see a book entitled Aging Successfully. Until that moment I'd gone along with the popular notion that old age was a dreary and terminal time of life. It had never dawned on me that it could be anything else.

"I was so stimulated by the idea of making old age an exciting time of life that I took a train to New York and looked up Dr. George Lawton, the book's author. Dr. Lawton, who has since passed away, proved tremendously inspiring. He helped me chart a plan which has completely revolutionized my life.

"I told him I wanted to win converts for this new point of view and at his inated Dante; whatever there was of beauty, of grace and goodness, for him seemed incarnate in Beatrice; her very memory to him was the ray of a smile of God.

And in his masterwork, the great immortal Comedy to which later ages applied the word "Divine," Beatrice acts as his guide through the heavens.

Dante has preserved for us the spiritual features of his Beatrice. Another Beatrice, by the family name of Cenci, looks out of a portrait painted by Guido Reni. It's a sweet, sad face, framed by a scarlet turban fashion.

There was reason enough for her being sad. The twenty-two year old girl's life was ended by a hangman's noose; she had been found guilty of having murdered her father after "Life with Father" had become unbearable to the family of that 16th century cruel nobleman in Rome. Her defense counsel implied that her father had evil designs on her, but failed to save her.

Starting a New Feature 'Our First Man In Space'

(One of these days—and no one can be sure just how soon—the United States will send its first man into space. This is the first chapter in a five-part account of just what sort of a man this country's first space explorer will be, how he is being prepared—as you read this—for his journey, how he will get into space, the purpose of the "trip," and how, if all goes well, he will return to earth. The astounding part of this account is that everything reported is possible TODAY, scientifically proved and tested. All that remains is selection of the man—and the moment.)

The author, Martin Caidin, is one of the nation's leading authorities & writers on guided missiles, rockets, space satellite. His recent work "Countdown For Tomorrow" (E.P. Dutton) gave the inside story of earth satellites, and the race between American and Soviet science.)

By MARTIN CAIDIN (Written for United Press International. Copyright 1958 by UPI) Jim Randall sits tensely in the cockpit. The moment has come. In a matter of minutes he will be America's first traveler in outer space.

"How did I get here?" he thinks. "What am I doing? Will I ever see this earth again?" Jim Randall is a name I picked at random. This Jim Randall doesn't exist—and yet he does. He is a composite, a true composite, of the sort of man who will become, and very soon, America's first man in space.

How did he get into that seat? What is he doing? Will he ever get back to earth again? The answers are all before us. We know we can put a man into space, into orbit. The only question is when. It could be tomorrow.

Thousands of scientists and engineers in the United States are at this moment preparing for "Jim Randall's" epochal flight. When his moment does come, he'll be the right man for the job. He'll be prepared.

Before we send our "Columbus of space" on his historic journey, let's examine, briefly, the challenges he—and the brilliant men who paved the way for his take-off—faces.

There are two major enemies. One is the simple basic danger of this first flight, the danger that in a split-second the efforts of years could be destroyed, and our first spaceman killed.

The second enemy is time. It is the knowledge that Russian scientists are in a crash program to send a spaceman out of this world before we do. What of the first enemy? The initial thrust of man away from his home planet into space will be a harrowing journey. From the first second of flight the pilot will be subject at every moment to catastrophe. He will be punished by his rocket launchings from brutal high-gravity conditions he will be thrust into total weightlessness. His fuel tanks may explode to consume him in fiery death. Once in orbit his controls may not function, and perhaps he will be marooned in vacuum, to die slowly from lack of food, water and air. His ship may be struck by a hurtling meteor, and he may die horribly as air and body fluids explode outward. If his return to atmosphere is not perfect, he may be crushed by deceleration forces. Too swift a return may incinerate him from friction with the thickening science and aviation. His 1957 book "Vanguard!" was the first to give a detailed account of America's first-man-made air.

These dangers, and many more, must be overcome by a single pilot. A man who is physically perfect, whose nerves are sound. This is the man I am calling Jim Randall. He was selected from the rank of Air Force test pilots. He is about 28 or 29 years old.

Does your rolling pin jam up on you in the middle of the pie dough? A new plastic one turns on ball bearings. J. C. Davis Co. of Detroit also says its hard-surfaced pin, made of Celanese Corp. Fortiflex, can be washed without danger of warping or otherwise deteriorating and will withstand dropping and other abuse without cracking, chipping or denting.

A solar-powered portable radio has been brought out by Hoffman Electronics Corp. of Los Angeles. Called the Trans-Solar, the pocket-size set uses silicon cells which convert the sun's energy into electricity. The cells are encased in a built-in solar battery pack in the top of the set and can receive their energy either from sunlight or a standard 100-watt incandescent bulb.

A new anti-fouling paint for boat bottoms has been introduced by the du Pont Co. The paint combats marine bacteria and vegetable growth in addition to worms and borers, the company claims. For some pencil-pushers erasing may be quite a chore. Now a machine does it for you. Developed by Ellendale Associates, Park Ridge, Ill., the "Auto Erase" expunges ink, typewriter and pencil impressions from the power of two standard flashlight batteries.

with thousands of hours flying experience in jets and rocket aircraft. He is a capable mathematician, an expert navigator. He is a veteran of many demanding flights with experimental, tricky airplanes. Most important, he wants to make that flight, to accept all the dangers. And if we are to be successful in our critical war for outer space, he must make that flight soon.

Our second enemy is just as real. The race to put the first man in space is vital because of the stakes involved. The nation which first establishes a capability of manned space flight will have a tremendous military advantage over the rest of the world. The Intercontinental Ballistic Missile, or ICBM, is not the "ultimate weapon." It has too many weaknesses; it is barely capable of modifying its course in flight. Defenses are being created to reduce its effectiveness. It is a powerful weapon, but it will never replace manned strategic weapons.

We need manned space ships, manned satellites, manned space weapons. We need them desperately if we are to continue our present superiority in strategic striking power over the Soviet Union. Russian scientists are determined to wrest from us the advantages we now enjoy with our strategic range bombers. They can do this only with a successful manned space program.

Actually, there's little problem in sending a man into space. "We can put a man into space any time we want to," one scientist told me. "There's no problem with the rockets we have today in firing a man into orbit at 18,000 miles per hour. The trick is to bring him back — alive."

The Air Force's MISS Project (Man-In-Space-Scoonest) calls for a pilot orbiting the earth in a capsule satellite by late 1959. This is an unrealistic target date, many military leaders feel. By late 1959, they warn, Russia may well have launched several manned spaceships.

Thus our top scientists and military planners are considering alternate programs — developing equipment now available, modifying it for space flight, and moving up by many months their target date. The logical choice for this program is the North American X-15, a rocket powered research airplane. Designed to fly faster than 4,000 MPH the X-15 can be mated to the giant Navaho rocket booster. This combination could send the X-15 to more than 200 miles above the earth, into orbit at 18,000 MPH. More important, it can bring its pilot back safely.

ARPA (Advanced Research Projects Agency) have given the Air Force the primary responsibility for the first manned flight into space. The Air Force needs desperately to accomplish this mission in the shortest time possible. It has several vital manned space projects under way. In their success lies the key to future military superiority. There is MISS, the beginning of manned space stations. There is DYNASOAR (for dynamic soaring) which calls for 16,000 MPH manned bombers which plunge from space to "skip" across the atmosphere at hypersonic speeds. There are other, highly secret projects which are the key to the launching of the first man into space. (Next: Jim Randall — Spaceman.)

If Your Name Is 'BEATRICE'

Beatrice means "she who confers happiness", and it is the name of several saints. But the name became popular because of Beatrice Portinari, a young woman in Florence. She happened to catch the imagination of Dante, the most subtle and impressionable mind of medieval times. About their first encounter, Dante told us all in his "New Life", a charming account of this love.

Dante met Beatrice when both were children, about nine years of age. At the sight of the little girl in her crimson dress fashioned in the style of the times — 13th century Italy — the lad began trembling all over. Something in his heart told him that he was feeling the impact of a power stronger than he; a power that would rule over him all his life.

And so it was. He was dominated by this spiritual and idealized passion. Beatrice, who married someone else, and died at 24, even from beyond the grave dominated Dante; whatever there was of beauty, of grace and goodness, for him seemed incarnate in Beatrice; her very memory to him was the ray of a smile of God.

Californian Went to U-M By Slow Boat

Going off to college back in 1867 was a "slow boat to China" affair for students who lived in distant states. This is made clear in a record of college days kept in The University of Michigan Historical Collections. The account tells how Henry Nelson of Chico, Calif., at age 23, felt the need for an education and boarded a steamboat which was to take him from San Francisco by way of Panama to New York and thence to the university town of Ann Arbor.

Nelson wrote: "In San Francisco we went to the steamship office and learned that a steamer passage would cost $75, a second cabin $150, and a first cabin, $225. As the trip would take about three weeks, we decided we would go steerage and save $75."

"At 12 noon on the 10th of July, 1867, we cast loose from the wharf in San Francisco and started on our journey to New York via Panama. The steamboat was a small affair not more than 160 feet long. The steerage passengers were herded to the front end of the ship where there were no sleeping accommodations. We had to furnish our own blankets or go without and sleep on the floor or sit up."

"At meal times several tables were let down from the ceiling, and the grub then dumped onto the bare boards. The passengers all ate standing. The provisions were the coarsest—potatoes boiled with their skins on, and without having been washed, bread and boiled salt pork, and in the morning something they called coffee."

Nelson went on to relate that he and his companions found some empty second class cabins, slipped the steward $10, and were comfortable for the rest of the trip.

"During the 14 days from San Francisco to Panama, we never went to the steerage table. We gave him another $10 and he brought us our meals and we had all the delicacies that belonged to the first cabin passengers."

Of Panama Nelson wrote: "Before the days of the Panama Canal my recollection of Panama after 62 years is a bit hazy. It was a small town. The buildings were small, built mostly of rock and covered with tile. There were no sewers, no sanitation of any kind. From the upper part of the town we could look onto the city below and out upon the ocean beyond."

Stopping at Litchfield, Mich., Nelson learned for the first time that to get into the University one must have passed through grade school and high school. "I had never even heard of a high school," he confesses. "But I was not discouraged. There was a good school in Litchfield and I decided to attend."

Finally, in October, 1868, Nelson packed his trunks and made his way to The University of Michigan. "I found a room in a house owned by a superannuated Presbyterian preacher, went to the University and got my name on the register as a junior law student."

Curly "Eggs" 'Em In

Well, we've had drive-in restaurants, drive-in movies, drive-in banks. Now a drive-in eggery. It was inevitable.

Curly Rice and his Missus have sold eggs retail at their place for some time. "But all that running back and forth," exclaims Mrs. Rice, "it fairly wore you out."

"So we set aside one room for the egg business. We enlarged a window about car height, and circled the driveway past it. It's efficient—but it cuts 'visiting' with customers and you know how I love to talk!"

From where I sit, I'll go along with Curly's wife—because there's nothing like good talk between good neighbors—especially when there's a healthy difference of opinions. Now you might like some cider to help the conversation along—I happen to prefer a glass of beer. As long as we agree on our right to disagree what does it matter?

PIPELINE EXPANSION — Map shows the existing facilities of Trunkline Gas Company, bringing natural gas north from east Texas and Louisiana. Under $81.5 million expansion program announced July 3, 1958, Trunkline Gas Company will extend its main line from Tuscola, Illinois, northeast to the Indiana-Michigan boundary to provide Consumers Power Company with 100 million cubic feet of natural gas daily, beginning October 1, 1959. Consumers Power Company will invest $30 million in additional facilities to feed the new gas supply into its outstate Michigan distribution system, which serves 300 communities in 29 counties.

Consumers Plans New Gas Line

Plans for a new gas supply to Consumers Power Company are now before the Federal Power Commission in Washington, D. C. The FPC has been asked by the Trunkline Gas Company of Houston, Texas, to authorize construction by Trunkline of a new 26 inch main from Tuscola, Ill. to the Indiana-Michigan border to bring a new supply of natural gas to Consumers. Trunkline obtains its gas from Texas and Louisiana, and the pipeline proposed would be an extension and expansion of its main line which extends 1,200 miles from McAllen, Texas, to Tuscola.

Trunkline proposes to supply the gas from the new pipeline solely to Consumers Power Company, which provides natural gas service to 486,000 customers in 286 outstate Michigan communities. Consumers, which has more than 160,000 customers waiting for permission to use natural gas for space heating purposes, will construct a new 26 inch gas main from the Indiana line to a point near Plymouth, Mich., where Trunkline gas will enter the Consumers' distribution system for transmission to the areas served with gas by the company.

According to President Dan E. Karn of Consumers, the company anticipates initial deliveries of the new supply of gas in late 1959.

"We are now making studies to determine whether it may be possible to serve additional space heating customers this year by means of gas from other sources," Mr. Karn said.

He said that other projects in connection with receiving Trunkline gas include construction of a 24-inch line
