

No Surprises In Primary; Voting Light

Two Plymouth residents qualified for the finals in a light election almost void of surprises Tuesday.

John Swainson of Plymouth Township rolled along with Governor Williams and U.S. Senatorial candidate Phil Hart to overpower rebel Democrats and qualify as his party's candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

Sterling Eaton of the City of Plymouth was unopposed in the Republican primary and will be pitted for State Representative in the November election against Harvey Beadle of Redford Township. Eaton led the GOP ticket in Plymouth Tuesday.

Beadle, defeated by Eaton for the same office two years ago, almost doubled the vote (3,103 to 1,629) over his next opponent, Beverly Pool of Livonia, to win the Democratic nomination. George Bennett of Northville finished third behind Pool with 1,397 and David Trombley of Redford had 927.

Homer Martin of Salem Township went down with the drain with the other "insurgent" Democrats, losing by a top-sided margin to Hart for the nomination to run against Charles E. Potter for the U.S. Senate.

For State Senator from this district (to fill a seat vacated by Swainson) the finals will pit two men from Detroit's Ward 22, Ray Dzundzel, the organization-backed Democratic candidate, won his party's nomination by defeating Pat McNamara, 8968 to 7911. McNamara is a former State Representative from Detroit but he entered this election pretty much of a "name candidate" because his is the same as the current U.S. Senator.

If the local election held a surprise, it was the stout showing of McNamara. Plymouth voters were no different in this respect than the rest of the district, giving Dzundzel an edge of only 132-128.

Lucas S. Miel of Detroit is the Republican choice to go into the November arena against incumbent Martha Griffiths for the 17th District seat in the U.S. Congress.

Miel, the choice of the 17th District Republican organization, won by 7593 to 5281 over Gregory Pillion. This result was a little closer than the experts had anticipated.

Mrs. Griffiths won her re-nomination easily over Eugene Gray, real estate man from Dearborn.

Possibly the most striking feature of the election — both in this area and elsewhere — was the indifference of the electorate. In the Plymouth area the turnout was about as large as for the equivalent primary two years ago.

In the City, 669 voted Tuesday and in the Township, 396. Of the total, 580 were men and 495 women.

Paul Bagwell, unopposed for the Republican nomination as Governor, was given 423 votes by Plymouth citizens. This compared to 401 for Gov. Williams and 145 for William L. Johnson, the other Democrat seeking Governor nominations.

Swainson drew 333 votes from Plymouth and Plymouth Township while his Democratic opponent, Michael Monhardt, had 73. Donald Brown, the unopposed Republican for Lieut. Governor, polled 363 here.

Eaton received 446 votes here and Potter 444.

Plymouth went along with the rest of Wayne County in the trends for both Sheriff and Prosecutor, piling up 2 to 1 majorities for Andrew Baird and Sam Olsen. Ralph Garber, former assistant prosecutor, had supported Daniel O'Brien in a futile effort to resist the incumbent Olsen as prosecutor.

In neighboring Livonia there was about the same pattern as in Plymouth except that there stout support was given to a home town son, Pool, in his vain race against Beadle for the Democratic nomination as State Representative.

Injured Boy Remains Unconscious

Still unconscious in University Hospital, Ann Arbor, after his tragic mishap of last week is 11-year-old James Hoffman. The son of Mrs. Lawrence Hoffman, 42509 Parkhurst Dr., and the late Mr. Hoffman, he is the adventurous boy who slipped from a tall willow tree to crash on a large boulder on the shoreline of Phoenix Lake July 28 while playing in this "forbidden," rain-soaked area with a friend, George Gardner. The pair had scrambled down the 100 foot steep embankment and paused to climb the willow.

His present condition is still listed as "very serious" by hospital attendants. He has not regained consciousness since the fall although he underwent two operations at the hospital after diagnosis of a compound skull fracture. His neck was not broken, as originally feared.

Mrs. Hoffman has been driving to the Ann Arbor hospital daily to spend the whole day with him, hoping to see him regain consciousness. Doctors there have told her she will "just have to wait it out."

Clarifying an early report about the accident, Mrs. Hoffman told the Plymouth Mail that she had not seen the boys playing outside her home shortly before they left for the lake area.

"Jim called me from George's house to tell me they were playing inside the house because of the rain. I never knew they left the house," she said.

This has been a bad year for the Hoffman family which also includes sons Terry, 16, and Craig, 15. Mr. Hoffman passed away in April of cancer.

Outdoor Symphony Ends Season Sunday

The fourth and final concert of the Plymouth Colony Farms Series will be played this Sunday afternoon by the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra and a piano soloist who has been on tour of the nation for the past four years.

Starting at 6 o'clock, the concert will again take place on Plymouth Colony Farms located off Joy Rd., three miles west of Plymouth. Wayne Dunlap will conduct.

The concert will close what has been so far a successful season with 1,400 appearing at the last concert July 27. This is the second season for the outdoor concerts.

Four selections are on the program: "Overture" to the opera Die Meistersinger von Nuremberg by Richard Wagner; Pictures at an Exhibition by Modeste Mussorgsky; Concerto for Piano and Orchestra No. 2 in C Minor, Opus 18, by Sergei Rachmaninoff; and Marche Slav, by Peter Tchaikovsky.

Joseph Schwartz will be featured in the Concerto for Piano immediately following intermission. No stranger to the concert world, he has toured the country a number of times. A native New Yorker, Schwartz graduated from the Juilliard School of Music where he studied with Mme. Rosina Lhevinne and Beveridge Webster.

YESTERDAY HE was working, today he is jobless because of a fire that destroyed the Peerless-Industries Co. plant on North Territorial Rd. This employe was one of 40 working for the plumbing specialty plant. He is shown surveying the still smoking ruins Wednesday morning.

Commission Quickly Approves Sheldon Road Paving, But...

City commissioners voted Monday night to proceed with the paving and widening of Sheldon Rd. despite the protests of residents who must pay the assessment — but they still may decide to rescind the action if they find that their method of assessment is illegal.

Homeowners along the route from the C & O Railroad to Ann Arbor Trail two weeks ago petitioned the commission to exclude them from the assessment because they do not also want to be excluded except those classed as manufacturing or commercial properties.

A dozen or so Sheldon Rd. property owners sat through the lengthy meeting to find out what the commission had decided. Because commissioners held a committee-of-the-whole meeting last week to discuss the situation, they made Monday night's action brief.

There was a hasty motion to take the paving project off the table and another motion by Commissioner Carl Shear to proceed with the project, a second, and a unanimous vote from the five commissioners present.

Then Mrs. Paul Steencken, 1496 Feniman, arose and reminded Mayor Harold Guenther that a petition had been presented to him at the beginning of the meeting concerning the project.

The mayor apologized, stating that he had forgotten about the petition. But by then, the action had been taken. But this did not deter more debate.

The petitioners said they were happy that the Masserman - Springdale Subdivision had avoided paying the assessment, but they also wanted the same treatment.

The subdivision is excluded, City Manager Albert Glassford explained, because they have dedicated some 27 feet off the front of the property to the county for a road widening, and for a service street.

When the petitioners brought up the point that Western Electric and other commercial properties benefited from the four-lane highway should pay for the improvement, Mayor Guenther again pointed up the

When firemen arrived, they found much of the plant afire. While the walls of the 17,000 square foot building were concrete block, the roofing structure was frame.

Many of the automatic screw and other machines had 55 gallon oil supplies for their operation that helped spread the fire.

There was also a butane tank outside that fed gas into the burning building. It was later turned off.

The building formerly a creamery, was heavily insulated near the front with six inches of cork and there were several false ceilings that hampered firemen from reaching the flames.

"All we could do was protect other property from burning," one fireman stated.

Only a few yards west of the building is the R. T. Sheehan Co. which may have also been leveled had the wind not come from the south. A wheat field next door was started on fire by falling ashes and firemen had to rush there to protect other structures.

There was a lake nearby where water tank trucks filled up.

The road was blocked off three miles away from the plant to protect lives in case the butane tank blew up.

Only partial walls remain of the building along with the blackened machinery. There is also a corrugated aluminum shed heavily damaged.

Estimate Loss At Half Million

A spectacular fire that lasted half a day burned the Peerless Industries plant to the ground Tuesday with a loss estimated between $500,000 and $700,000.

The factory, located seven miles west of Plymouth on North Territorial Rd., employs 40 men and makes flexible plumbing supplies.

From 1:45 p.m. Tuesday to 2 a.m. Wednesday firemen were at the scene fighting a blaze that was being helped along by hundreds of gallons of machine oil and propane gas.

Yesterday morning the management set up offices in the Schrader Building in Plymouth at 274 South Main St.

Russell P. Hoffmann, 760 Hartough, president of Peerless, said that someone ran into the office shouting "The plant's on fire but I think it's under control." He immediately called the Salem Township Fire Department. He said that he got no answer for a while and finally the operator got through. Later Plymouth Township and Superior Township fire departments were called to assist.

Some men repairing the roof were said to have first spied the fire at the rear wall. But the exact cause is still not determined. Workers used plant hoses to fight the blaze until fire reached the fuse box and cut off electricity that ran the water pumps. Several wells supply water to the plant.

Concert Art Award Being Given Sunday

Sunday's final concert by the Plymouth Colony Concerts will climax the joint venture with the Three Cities Art Club in which the two groups sponsored an art competition to memorialize the current series.

The winning artist in the contest will be announced and presented with a cash prize during the concert. At the same time the winning painting will be presented to the city of Plymouth by the concert group.

The artists entered in the competition have been required to capture some part of the concert scene and submit their efforts for judging at the high school. All paintings will be on exhibit at the final concert Sunday.

During the past week, Cassidy's window has been the scene of a sampling of the art club's works as a means of drawing attention to the final concert.

Pre-fab Homes Stir Up Neighborhood

Whether to change the building code to allow the construction of pre-fabricated houses will be a decision city commissioners will face in the future and they got an hour's worth of background material Monday night when some residents in Birch Estates protested the erection of two pre-fabs in their subdivision.

Harnischfeger Homes, Inc. of Port Washington, Wisconsin, erected two homes on Byron and Simpson Streets last month under the eyes of the city building department, but 31 neighbors signed a petition which claims that the structures are in violation of the building code.

The pre-fab maker had hoped to get approval of their construction method by resolution of the city commission.

Appearing Monday night before the commission and audience with an elaborate cut-away model of the pre-fab's sidewall construction was Don Grant, assistant vice-president of product engineering for the firm. He spent considerable time explaining the method of construction and how the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratories and Building Officials Conference of America have tested the construction.

He also noted that construction of this type has been used by his firm throughout the United States since 1935. But the petitioners pointed out five ways which the structures violate the building code, including the use of five-sixteenth inch plyscrews sheathing on the outer walls and roof instead of three-quarter inch boards for walls and five-eighths inch sheathing for the roof.

Credit Union, Shell Station Plan Openings

Two Plymouth businesses are having grand openings this week.

The Plymouth Credit Union is planning a bang-up grand opening for Friday and Saturday in their new location in the Mayflower Hotel, Ann Arbor Trail.

Headed by Plymouthite Carl Shear, the Union plans to give free gifts to all opening accounts with them during their opening festivities.

They are inviting Plymouth people to drop in and register for a door prize of a transistor radio.

The new Ted and Earl's Shell Service gasoline station, located at 1086 North Mill St., on the corner of Wilcox Rd., has also named Friday and Saturday as their grand opening days.

Owned by Ted Weaver and Earl Smith, the new station features a new pre-climinated Shell contemporary design.

Balloons and suckers are promised for kiddies. Gifts of glassware will be given with the purchase of eight gallons of gas. There will also be grand opening specials on car service.

Mr. Weaver and Mr. Smith has been in business with Shell for approximately eight years. They sold Shell products for 13 years at their former location at 402 N. Mill St.

He has won music competitions in New York, in the Hollywood Bowl and Washington, D.C. He is making his initial midwestern tour this summer. He is the 1958 winner of the coveted Walter Naumburg Foundation Award and will make his Town Hall debut in New York City this fall.

The "Overture" to Die Meistersinger appeared five years before the opera was completed. A gay, jovial work, the prelude when taken out of its operatic context is still thoroughly enjoyed as a concert selection. Die Meistersinger is a light-hearted opera.

A Plymouthite whose boat was allegedly stolen last month by a theft ring in Canton Township will try this week to identify his property.

Robert Beyer, drug store owner whose boat was taken from beside his home at 725 North Mill, will accompany Lt. William Guldner of the Plymouth police department to a Michigan Avenue service station where part of the $25,000 in stolen goods are being stored.

The fibreglass boat was one of 13 boats found on the property of Frederick Klann, 40610 Michigan Ave., Canton Township. Also found in the maze of guns, outboard motors and other sporting equipment was a power lawn mower stolen last month from Rolf Dietrich, 260 Parkview Dr. The youth used the mower to earn money.

Plymouth police filed the first complaint against Klann and two others on the basis of the Beyer boat theft.

One of Klann's neighbors, Larry Lee Young, 24, of 3491 Lotz Rd., admitted accepting the stolen goods. So has Joe Gaines, 34543 Phillips, Wayne. But Klann, who ordered his 14-year-old son to fire upon the raiding party, has not talked and threatens suit against detectives and police. Klann will be arraigned before Justice George Perry of Nankin Township.

Klann and his family lived in the Canton area 25 years. Up to eight years ago he operated a Swap Shop at 40610 Michigan and since then was employed by Haines Tool and Die Shop in the Plymouth area.

Young said that Klann approached him with the offer of one-third of the profit if he would help him with his business. He recalls receiving what was probably the Beyer boat when three men drove up in a semi-trailer truck. The men told him that they had picked the boat up in

Detroit Boy Drowns In Gravel Pit

A 17-year-old youth was drowned Sunday while he and five companions were swimming in the Manning and Locklin gravel pit between Northville and Plymouth.

The victim was Jay Marshall Denny, 15300 Mansfield, Detroit. Swimming with him were Eric McCan, 16, Frederick Young, 15, Thomas Wagnitz 16, Dennis Raimi and Terry Huistic.

Denny dove into the pit, surfaced twice and then sank out of sight. Huistic and Young said they dove for the body but could not locate it.

Northville police and the Wayne County Sheriff were summoned. Skin divers Jack Boyd, Charles Spratt and Adam Kurlew recovered the body under the floor lights supplied by the Northville Fire Department.

The victim dived 15 feet into three feet of water. Friends said that Denny surfaced, held his head, and fell backward into deeper water.

The gravel pit is near Northville and Seven Mile Roads. The drowning took place just before dark.

UNDER THIS pile of rubbish behind a Canton Township home was hidden several boats and other items allegedly stolen by Frederick Klann, 40610 Michigan Ave. The boat of Robert Beyer of Plymouth was one of 13 found. A lawn mower owned by a teenager was also found among the $25,000 worth of loot. Purpose of the cross is unexplained.

R. E. Houston Contest Judge

R. E. Houston, 13911 Ridge-wood, will be among 10 judges deciding the outcome of the Inter-Lake Yachting Association Race Regatta for amateur boat enthusiasts when the three-day contest begins Monday in Putt-in-Bay, 42 miles from the mouth of the Detroit River.

Some 120-150 sailboats and yachts are entered in the competition which is held in co-operation with the Association of Yacht Clubs. Judges are past commodores of the member clubs; Houston was Commodore of the Ford Yacht Club in 1954. He has served as a Regatta Official in previous races.

Judges refer to the rules and regulations governing starts, right-of-way, order of finish, etc. Houston noted that a boat maintaining first

M. C. Gutheries, Jr., Feted At Many Pre-Nuptial Events

Newlyweds as of Saturday, Aug. 3, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin C. Gutheries, Jr., had a gay party parade leading up to their nuptials.

The new bride is the former Miss Patricia Jeanne Hintz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hintz of Birmingham. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin C. Gutheries, 7352 Newburg Rd., Livonia.

The couple exchanged vows in a Birmingham Presbyterian chapel ceremony.

All the pre-wedding festivities got underway when Patricia received her engagement ring on July 10.

The following Sunday, July 13, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis C. Litzberg of Plymouth entertained for the young couple at a poolside dinner in their honor. Mrs. Litzberg is a sister of the bridegroom.

Attending were parents of the then-engaged pair, Mr. and Mrs. Hintz and Mr. and Mrs. Gutheries, Sr., in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Russell of Plymouth, Karen Hintz, sister of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. James Otzman of Lincoln Park.

Another dinner party feted the couple on Saturday, July 26, at the Mt. Clemons home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Redinger. On Sunday, July 27, Patricia's parents, formally announced the betrothal at a family dinner party at Aunt Fanny's restaurant, Birmingham.

Tom Gutheries, brother of the bridegroom, hosted the bachelor dinner party Tuesday, July 29, at the family home in Livonia. Forty school friends and Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity brothers from Albion college attended.

Entertaining Friday, Aug. 1, at a rehearsal dinner for 21 guests in their Farmington home were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bowman, Nine Mile Rd.

A pale blue color motif was carried out at the candlelight dinner served in the garden. Large blue bows, and greenery festooned the table. A huge carved watermelon centerpiece held fresh fruit cocktail. Gifts were given the feted pair later in the living-room.

Robin Millers Honored At Gala Homecoming Here

Mr. and Mrs. Miller

Rd., Wayne, is serving on the U.S.S. Stemble. He has been in the navy for two and one half years.

The young couple were married in a double-ring ceremony at the Methodist church on Atlantic Ave., Long Beach, Calif., by Rev. Willard A. Schurr.

Bridesmaid was Miss Joan Balner, of Ford Rd., Wayne, and best man was Charles Owens, of Wayne. A reception at 1867 Atlantic Ave., in Long Beach followed their April rites. A 30-day leave was granted the bridegroom for their honeymoon.

When arriving back in Plymouth, the young pair were feted at a "homecoming" party by Mr. and Mrs. Alton Nesbitt of Wayne. School friends greeted the newlyweds at the affair. Both Barbara and Robin attended Plymouth High School.

SOCIAL NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Birmingham, Jr., of Detroit were guests of honor at a stork shower and family picnic last Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Dodds of Elmhurst.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Ort and family, Miss Beverly Brown of Plymouth, and Mr. and Mrs. Rod Cassidy and family of Garden City.

Mrs. Dean Johnson, N. Mill St., recently entertained members of the Emmanuel 500 club in honor of Mrs. Hazel Stands, Indianapolis, Ind.

Present were Mrs. Berle Tremain, Mrs. Alice Billings, Mrs. Ethel Rammal, Mrs. Charlotte Ramsey, Mrs. Mabel Michael, and Mrs. Nellie Robert Ballard, 38535 Ford

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES F. STRYE

Groom's Mother Designs Bridal Party Ensembles

When Miss Carole Jean Lyke walked down the aisle of Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic church to become the bride of Charles F. Strye on July 25, she was garbed in nuptial robes of all-over rose point Chantilly lace.

Her gown as well as those of her honor maid and five bridesmaids and flower girl, were designed and made by her new husband's mother.

Carole Jean is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lyke, 397 Arthur St. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Strye, Shiawassee St., Farmington.

Rev. Fr. F. C. Byrne officiated at the 10 a.m. nuptial mass.

A back flounce of lace and pleated tulle formed a cathedral train on the bride's gown. Her double crown headpiece held a chapel length veil of silk illusion edged with the same rose point lace. Embroidered sequins and pearls studded the headpiece. She wore a pearl necklace, a gift from her bridegroom, and carried a crescent bouquet of white roses and stephanotis with a center corsage of a white orchid.

Miss Faye Lyke was her sister's maid of honor, garbed in mint green brocaded satin in a rose pattern. She had a matching headpiece and shoulder-length veil. Her flowers were shrimp carnations and Majestic daisies.

Bridesmaids who preceded Carole Jean down the aisle were Miss Patricia Fanzini, cousin of the bridegroom from Farmington; Miss Patricia Van Bonn, cousin of the bride from South Lyons; Miss Sharon O'Malley of Livonia; Miss Lou Ann Sousa of Plymouth, and Miss Elsie Kinsman of Farmington.

They were frocked in violet and maize and had matching headpieces. Shrimp carnations fashioned their cascading bouquets.

Little three-year-old Pamela Munday was her cousin's flower girl dressed in a similar gown. She carried yellow rose buds in a basket.

Ring bearer was Kenneth Smith of Stockbridge, four-year-old cousin of the bride. Edward Strye, brother of the bridegroom from Livonia, served as best man.

Ushering were Robert Van Bonn, cousin of the bride, of South Lyons; Larry Horsfall, cousin of the bride from Concord; Al Paskevich of Plymouth, Robert Burns of Farmington, and C. J. Ogg of Farmington.

A wedding breakfast followed at Guffin's Beef House, Farmington. And a reception for 225 guests was held at 7 p.m. at Guffin's where the newlyweds led off the dancing. A buffet was served.

Assisting were Miss Martha Davis of Plymouth, who served punch; Mrs. Ernest Smith, who cut the cake; and Miss Julie Lupton of Livonia, who took charge of the guest book.

For her daughter's marriage, Mrs. Lyke wore an apple pink gown of embroidered silk organza with matching accessories. Mrs. Strye chose an aqua silk organza with matching accessories. Both mothers had orchids.

For traveling to Niagara Falls on her honeymoon, the new bride donned a white sheath dress with white accessories. She took her bridal orchid.

They will make their home in El Paso, Tex., for a year. The new bride graduated from Ladywood High school, Livonia, this past June. Her husband graduated from Farmington High School and studied two years at Lawrence Tech.

Mrs. Ragnar Blomberg of Arthur street entered Henry Ford hospital July 31.

The MAIL Attitude

By PAUL CHANDLER

Back in the middle 1930's a fine writer by the name of Paul Gallico wrote a book, "Farewell to Sports."

He was leaving the sports writing trade for magazine writing and more sedate forms of the art. Gallico wasn't angry; the book itself actually was full of poignant memories and nostalgia of the men and events he had covered.

But the author made it plain that he no longer was able to convince himself that sports were as important an element in real life as he had made them in his own private existence.

About the same time, another crack sports reporter departed and said sports writing "was the toy department of the newspaper business" and added that he intended to grow up. His name was Westbrook Pegler. He has been hurling literary acid at public officials since then, and making even a better living than he did before.

There were others of a similar bent (Heywood Brown was one) and they're all on my mind these days because I recently have become convinced they were prophets ahead of their time.

It is this writer's opinion that "big time sports" today are swiftly losing their sense of importance in the American mind.

Other things are being substituted in their place — specifically travel, fishing, boating, gardening, golfing, bowling, and other "participant activities."

There are many enjoyable pursuits available to the American citizen today which he prefers to do rather than sit in a seat and watch even the most Homeric of sports immortals perform.

No change in culture or social habits occurs overnight, but there are signs everywhere the swing from "big time sport" is taking place constantly.

Major and minor league baseball is shrinking in size before our eyes. Professional boxing, has virtually vanished during the past four years. College football has been weakened everywhere except in the largest, most-winning universities. There are no supermen or superwomen in tennis today (remember Helen Wills and Bill Tilden?) to compare to the yester-years. Amateur golf is taken for granted today. The giants of professional golf are aging, and none ever have penetrated the public consciousness as did Hagen, Jones, and Armour, to pick three.

Today's American citizen does not get the vicarious thrill his father did. This is the age of do it yourself.

There are exceptions, which the defenders of sport cling to like bulldogs in uttering defense of the other point of view.

One is horse-racing, which has been growing in popular support. The answer to that, I believe, is that it, too, is a "participant" sport. The spectator bets his money. He goes out not to see the horse beat a stop-watch, but to see if he, the customer, can beat the races.

And the other major exception, reflecting recent growth, is professional football. That one I will concede, for the moment, to be an exception to the rule. Pro football has positively awed its audience in recent seasons by brutality. Professional hockey went through something of the same period, and then calmed down and lost audience. Pro football also has thrived on some exceedingly smart promotion.

At its peak, Big Sport has been almost the means and extreme of serious conversation for millions of Americans. If it is on the decline, the change bears significance beyond the mere recording of a shift in people's habits.

It could mean a basic change in our Nation's personality. It would involve rather significant adjustments in education emphasis and philosophy. It would dictate new tone and emphasis in mass advertising.

And it could even mean a shift in the way a newspaper should be edited, which is probably why this subject is on my mind in the first place.

Miss Kramer Weds June 21 In Calvary Church Rites

Carl O. Johnson gave his granddaughter, Miss Marie Kramer, in marriage to Richard E. Hedman in a June 21 nuptial ceremony in Calvary Baptist church, Plymouth.

The new bride is the daughter of Mrs. Charlotte Kramer, 38025 Amrhein, Livonia. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Hedman, of Evergreen Park, Ill.

Rev. Patrick J. Clifford officiated at the 4 p.m. service. Organ music was played by Bob Iler of Chicago with Vernon Anderson of Lakefield, Minn., as soloist.

Lace and tulle fashioned the bride's gown with chapel train embroidered with sequins and seed pearls. A pearl crown secured her fingertip veil. She carried a Colonial bouquet of white roses with stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Sally Kowalcik of Plymouth wore an orchid or ganza frock with wide white embroidered collar for her role as maid of honor. Attired in yellow and mint green dresses were the bridesmaids, Miss Patsy Clifford and Miss Marilyn Carr. Their flowers were mixed flowers with daisies predominating.

Little Eleanore Thoms, cousin of the bride, wore a pink nylon dress as flower girl.

Wayne Kramer served as best man for his new brother-in-law. Ushers were Paul Brown of Chicago; Gene Kramer, another brother of the bride; Dick Carr and Al Loeschner of Wyandotte, cousin of the bride.

Two hundred guests were greeted at a reception in the church basement. Mrs. Kramer chose a blue print chiffon dress for her daughter's marriage. Mrs. Hedman wore a blue eyelet embroidered sheath. Both had pink rose corsages.

Salem: Party Honors Couple At Town Hall

By Mrs. Herbert Famuliner Fieldbrook 9-0924

A wedding reception was held Sunday, Aug. 3 in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll H. Cannady, of 14850 Wilcox Rd., Plymouth, at Salem Town hall, from 2 to 5 p.m. The young couple's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Smith of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cannady of Plymouth greeted about 2,000 guests. The bride wore a white knit chemise dress, with a blue orchid corsage. Mrs. Smith wore a gray and red print shantung dress, and Mrs. Cannady chose a coral linen.

Out-of-town guests were from Indiana, Flint, Detroit, Wayne and Dearborn. Mrs. R. McKinley attended the punch bowl. Joan Cannady, the bridegroom's sister, helped serve the wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stacey of S. Salem Rd. will celebrate their 65th anniversary on August 6. Mrs. Robert Sagge and children, Robert and Cathy, of South America arrived Monday to spend a week with Mrs. Earl Roberts of Chubb Rd. Mrs. Sagge and Mrs. Roberts are sisters. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tiffin and children of Godfredson Rd. attended a picnic at the Louis Tiffin home in honor of James Tiffin who celebrated his 84th birthday on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shipley of Plymouth were Sunday callers at the home of Mrs. George Bennett on Six Mile Rd. The Famuliner family spent four days in Canada visiting with relatives. We spent Sunday in London, where we enjoyed the "Story Book Gardens" where the famous wayward sea-lion is kept.

Friday carers at the A. C. Wheeler home were Cora Webb of Pinckney and Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson of Brighton.

The Worden Farm Bureau will meet at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Bock at 9155 Six Mile Rd. at 8 p.m., Friday, Aug. 9.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Procter of Chelsea were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mrs. George Tanner.

On the sick list are Mrs. John VanAken of 6643 S. Salem Rd., and Calvin Wheeler, of 7839 S. Salem Rd.

Saturday evening six members of a bowling team and their wives attended a steak roast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hardesty on Curry Rd.

Mr. Harold Van Bonn arrived home Monday after spending five months with her husband, who is stationed in Germany with the Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shipley of Plymouth were Sunday callers at the home of Mrs. George Bennett on Six Mile Rd.

Little Christie Drews is still in University Hospital and she would, undoubtedly, appreciate cards to help pass away time.

We are glad to hear that Sister Pansy Carey is home from the hospital.

October 10 is a very important luncheon date with us. Please keep it in mind.

Please note that the picnic for Aug. 17 at the cottage of Mildred Collins has been cancelled.

Mr. and Mrs. William O'Reilly returned Monday from Dundee, N. Y., where they visited relatives.

Following a wedding trip to northern Michigan and Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa, the newlyweds are at home in Evergreen Park. The bridegroom attended the University of Illinois. His bride graduated from Bentley High and attended Grand Rapids School of The Bible and Music.

Baby Christened
Joseph Richard, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Martin of Five Mile Rd. was baptized Aug. 8 at St. Michael's church, Livonia. Godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hansen, also of Livonia. Following the service, dinner was served at the Martin home. Those in attendance were the Hansen children, Ricky and Dale, and Joey's three brothers — Gary, Stephen and David.

Ordinary mattress is made with about 200-300 springs. Wired together, they sag together under your weight. When you push down on one, you push down on all. They're not free to push up and correctly support the shape of your body. This "sagging support" is bad for your back, your comfort, your rest.

Beautyrest mattress is made with over 800 separate springs. Not wired together, they can't sag together. Each is free to push up under you. Together they firmly support the weight and shape of your whole body. In the new Beautyrest springs have been power-packed to give 12% more firmness.

Whir-ring Sounds Welcome In Lake Pointe Village

(Covering Lake Pointe Village) By MRS. ARTHUR COOKSEY GL. 3-2871
The whirring and whizzing, the grinding and hauling that have started every day at 7 a.m. and lasted till early evening signal the start of an activity that is more than important to parents in the Lake Pointe area. The noise, smoke, and enormous piles of dirt are the result of the digging that has been going on near the water tower in order to dig the trenches for the sewer, water and gas lines to the new Helen Farrand school. It's the sort of confusion that is almost music and dance to the folks out here. And it was learned from the building company that the school is scheduled to begin operations the second week of the new school year.
Perhaps it's a little late, but we think it's time we added our congratulations to Les Barton on his birthday. Les's neighbors certainly greeted him day with celebration.
Fairly early in the evening a week ago Friday it was Les Barton's job to spirit away across the street for a visit with Ed and Rosalie Bates. As they left their house, Les turned out his outdoor back light, and went on his way.
In his absence neighbors from several houses around strung Christmas tree lights on the garage and set up refreshments. Nora Jaskierny brought over her cake-a very tiny cupcake with a huge candle atop, and everyone awaited their return. Then Les was greeted with "Happy Birthday," sung out loud and clear. Bill Bolduc accompanied on his ukelele. And so the party began.
Last Saturday June and Bob Hudson returned from a week at Rice's Rustic Resort on Round Lake near Traverse City. One of the highlights of the stay was a ride in a seaplane. The plane cruised all the little lakes and resorts drumming up business. The flight was short but June felt that it was very worthwhile. One can see so much more from a glass-enclosed low-flying plane than he ever would in the larger, more confining commercial aircraft. Only Don Hudson, seven years old, among the children, wanted to take the flight. Billy was too leary to get off the ground.
Steve Bullington has been having a time for himself in Florida. He's down there visiting many relatives that live in or near Jacksonville. He drove down there June 22 with his grandparents and no one thought he'd be happy away from home for more than two or three weeks at the most. But Steve has surprised everyone, himself included. He has spent some time with different families, doing different things at each place: swimming, farming, working in a gas station. This week he is attending a church camp and when that is over he'll fly home. Quite a big summer for a 15-year old boy.
More news about the Lake Pointe Village Civic Association to be formed. An organizational meeting will be held this Sunday, Aug. 10, at 4 p.m. The meeting will be held outdoors in the areas on Brentwood that will eventually become a park. Residents are urged to bring their own chairs to sit on as none will be provided. Purpose is to elect leaders and appoint committees. There will be a lot of work to do to achieve a really active association and it is hoped that everyone who is not on vacation will plan to attend. In case of rain, meeting will be cancelled.
The news of Lake Pointe will be reported in the future by Marcy Barison. Marcy is talented in many ways, with painting, home decorations, gardening, and people. It has been a pleasure for me to serve you and to meet so many friendly busy people.

Meet 'Joe'-No Dumb Bunny for He Lives In Maplecroft-Birch Fifth Avenue Hat Box
(Covering the Area bounded by Burroughs, Ann Arbor Rd., and the Junior High, including Maplecroft and Birch Sides.)
BY RHEA ROSS GL. 3-3144
News flash for our young readers: We have an up-and-coming bunny in the midst - located at the Harger Green residence... The librarian is young Judy Green and the material which is donated by interested friends in the subdivision ranges from Bible stories to pre-school books. Judy who enjoys working with young children will be there at any time to help or instruct in the choice of books. This should prove very helpful for both mothers and their offspring.
Attended the Plymouth Colony Concert Sunday and enjoyed every minute of it. The weather was perfect, music and singing were delightful and the scenery inspiring (spied several artists busily sketching who seemed to think so, too). We would highly recommend it to all our friends though many of them already seemed to be taking advantage of it. Some of those enjoying it were: The George Hudsons, the Clifford Smiths, the Tom Adams family, the Donald Ranks, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Rehben and daughter Gerry (looking very lovely with an equally attractive mother) and many others.
If Mrs. John Truer (Frieda) has been looking a little wistfully at the "Hat Box" lately, "Joe," a newly adopted member of their family, Joe, a two-weeks old bunny, makes his home in a Dobbys Fifth Avenue hat box in the lovely family room of the Truer home at 1096 Harding. His first few days were sort of touch-and-go due to his mother who decided he was having a little trouble with his rabbits. But now he greedily consumes four bottles (milk of course) per day and is taking his first hops. Joe also has a new item: last week he accompanied his new family to Grand Rapids (of course, in his hat box) to visit Mrs. John Truer, Sr. for a few days. As always, summertime is a travel time and Plymouth residents are taking off in all directions.
Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ash and family enjoyed a trip to the Wisconsin Dells - also on their agenda was our Mackinaw bridge and a tour through northern Michigan. The Charles Wode family of Roosevelt returned tanned this week after a pleasant stay at Otsego Lake and Rogers City.
Vacationing at their summer home on Indian River last week were the William Rudicks and children; also accompanying them were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rudick and family.
Two action-packed weeks touring through Florida are the Roy Remey family of Harding and quoting them: "It's the only place to get a tan with which I fully agree."
The Harger Green family of Simpson are home following a few days in the White Pine Resort on Round Lake. Many of our Plymouth residents have enjoyed a stay at the resort which is owned and managed by Plymouthites, Dr. and Mrs. E. Rice. Also on the go were the Blaine Lytles who returned last week following an enjoyable stay in Chicago. Accompanying them home for a few days were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gant of Parkersburg, W. Va., who were attending the Lions Club Convention in Chicago.
Dr. and Mrs. Robert Hindman and family have fond memories of a two-week vacation at Lou's Hideaway located at Houghton Lake. The Mrs. and Mrs. Eugene Jordan will be glad to hear that Bob is recovering from an unfortunate accident that occurred the week they returned home.
The John Bels and daughter Diane enjoyed a week's stay at the Locust Cottage Farm nestled in the White Pine Mountains in Whitefield, N. H. The farm, though modern, is an honest-to-goodness one and they spent their days gathering eggs, riding horses - burros for the children, hiking and in the evening (if they could keep their eyes open), a rubber of bridge with several congenial

Parkview Circle-ites Go Hither-Thither for Fun

BY GRACE WIGLEY GL. 3-2734
(Covering the Area east of the railroad tracks to the park and from Parkview Circle north to Wilcox Lake.)
It seems as though the folks around Parkview Circle have their thumbs in everything. They go camping, fishing, go on picnics, give parties, take trips, and view and play baseball.
What's better than a picnic? Simple - a corn roast! (Especially when the corn comes from Ronnie Upton's vegetable garden.) On Saturday Betty and Bob Pitzer, Rose, and Marty Kennedy, their son, young Marty and Ted, Doris, Vicki and Cindy Kuhns roasted the golden ears in a pretty little spot in Edward Hines Park.
Hooray for parties! Norma Gardell, of Mill St., was hostess for a "real gone" party on Friday evening. All the latest records were played for dancing, which of course, suited the teens to a "T." Those who attended are: Allen and Ron Upton, Marty Squire, Sandra and Ireta Hromek, Dennis and Joanne Wilson, Sharon Squire, Fred and Judy Bell, Jim Pritchett, Norma's sister, Theresa, Robert Wilson, and your columnist.
Jerry and Joan Coslow took the day off Saturday. They, along with many of Jerry's business friends, went to root for the Detroit Tigers at the game. (The Tigers won, 8-7, which made it an exciting game.) Then, feeling victorious, they ate dinner out.
Bud, Dorothy, Terry and Larry Wilson, of Garling Dr., returned Saturday from their vacation which everyone agreed was very successful. The Wilsons were fortunate to have perfect weather for camping and one night, while in Canada, they set up their tent right across the road from an Indian camp. The Wilsons passed through Sault Ste. Marie and traveled across the new Mackinac Bridge before they finally returned to Parkview Circle.
Last weekend the Jack Ruland family went to Battle Creek where they visited Mrs. Ruland's cousins, the Guy Kellogg family. They also took a fascinating tour through the Kellogg cereal factory - no relation. Every one was given free samples and Mrs. Ruland says that they are still eating them. This weekend Jack Ruland was in charge of a reception for the governor at the home of Dr. Karlin in Northville. Many leaders of the Democratic party were there as well as more than 200 guests.
Mr. and Mrs. Earl Akinson had weekend guests, the Boblys, former residents of Parkview Circle. On Saturday Mr. Akinson traveled to Lake St. Clair to do some fishing. However, he didn't catch anything except sunburn.
Last Thursday the Lakos were off to Ohio to visit Mrs. Charles Lake, in Mansfield. On Friday Jimmie, his father, Wait, and grandfather went to Cleveland to see the Cleveland - Boston game there.
We've been hearing a lot lately about the "Fall Festival" to be given on Sept. 28 by Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic church. The ladies' committees are planning a white elephant, country store, needlework, and parcel post booths. Many new items and ideas have been added this year and the committees welcome any suggestions you may have.
That's it for this week. Please send all news with any news to GL. 3-2734.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ash and family enjoyed a trip to the Wisconsin Dells - also on their agenda was our Mackinaw bridge and a tour through northern Michigan. The Charles Wode family of Roosevelt returned tanned this week after a pleasant stay at Otsego Lake and Rogers City.
Vacationing at their summer home on Indian River last week were the William Rudicks and children; also accompanying them were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rudick and family.
Two action-packed weeks touring through Florida are the Roy Remey family of Harding and quoting them: "It's the only place to get a tan with which I fully agree."
The Harger Green family of Simpson are home following a few days in the White Pine Resort on Round Lake. Many of our Plymouth residents have enjoyed a stay at the resort which is owned and managed by Plymouthites, Dr. and Mrs. E. Rice. Also on the go were the Blaine Lytles who returned last week following an enjoyable stay in Chicago. Accompanying them home for a few days were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gant of Parkersburg, W. Va., who were attending the Lions Club Convention in Chicago.
Dr. and Mrs. Robert Hindman and family have fond memories of a two-week vacation at Lou's Hideaway located at Houghton Lake. The Mrs. and Mrs. Eugene Jordan will be glad to hear that Bob is recovering from an unfortunate accident that occurred the week they returned home.
The John Bels and daughter Diane enjoyed a week's stay at the Locust Cottage Farm nestled in the White Pine Mountains in Whitefield, N. H. The farm, though modern, is an honest-to-goodness one and they spent their days gathering eggs, riding horses - burros for the children, hiking and in the evening (if they could keep their eyes open), a rubber of bridge with several congenial souples. Sounds ideal - don't you agree?

Accompanying the Ralph Berrys of Main St. for a week's visit with relatives in Troy, Tenn., were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Burress and daughter, Brenda. Other Plymouthites enjoying southern hospitality this week were Blaine Lytle - who will be visiting at the home of his brother, W. Lytle of Pressmans, Tenn.
Among those enjoying out-of-town guests during July were the Richard Neys of Dewey who have been royally entertaining their young niece, Patricia Bruni of Torrington, Conn. A few of the scenic spots she enjoyed visiting were Ford Rotunda, Greenfield Village, General Motors Proving Grounds, where she enjoyed a ride in one of their test cars... then a day of shopping at Northland with dinner in the evening at Stouffers and last but not least an excellent play at the Northland Playhouse where they saw "No Time for Sergeants."
The month of July was also a busy one for the Walter Ash family. Many former Plymouthites found their way to the Ash home and enjoyed reminiscing of their days spent in Plymouth. Those visiting were Mr. and Mrs. Steve Howarth and family now of Holland, Fla. Mr. and Mrs. Archie McCollum (the former Grace Toncray of Plymouth) now of Cleveland, O., and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cook (the former Marguerite Williams) now of Blanchard.
Nautical enthusiasts, Mr. and Mrs. T. Swantek, enjoyed an evening at the Detroit Boat Club... a dance captioned "Cape Cod Capers" was held outside following a sumptuous dinner of lobster with all the trimmings.
Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mielbeck of Livonia were hosts of guests of Mrs. Grace Corwin Tuesday evening.
While the George Hudsons of Burroughs enjoyed a two-week vacation at W. Boylston Mass. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hudson, Georgian's parents, their daughters, Carol and Susan camped at the Appalachian Mountain club. Enroute home the family visited the James Randalls in Marquette.
The John Hamernicks and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ash enjoyed an evening out, Tuesday, at Hillside... later returning to the Hamernick residence for cards.
Jim and Rhea (yours truly) attended the wedding of Larry Price (my nephew), and Charlotte Jeffries at the Presbyterian church in Pontiac Friday evening. Reception was held at the Auburn Heights Hall. Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rathburn, my parents, Mrs. Irene Shaw, writer's aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Rathburn, writer's brother and sister-in-law; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. John Duke and son Johnny, also relatives and Miss Edith Milward (can't claim her). These are just a few of the clan; just in case you're interested, it's a pretty large one dating back at least three generations that can claim Plymouth residency.
Among those celebrating birthdays this month were: Tom Adams, Jr., who celebrated his 15th birthday, Thursday, at a family dinner; Mrs. Nancy Mae Warner, mother of Bruce Richards, celebrated her birthday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jewell of Hartsough; also attending were the Bruce Richards and children. A surprise birthday party was planned and successfully executed in honor of Harger Green. Tuesday evening. Guests attending were Rev. and Mrs. William Becking and daughter, Pam. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Jordan and family and Mr. and Mrs. Urey Arnold and family.
Out-of-town guests at the Forest Morgesons' residence this month were: Mr. and Mrs. Julian Sharpnack. Mrs. Morgeson's parents and her nephew, John Sharpnack all of Cincinnati. During their stay they enjoyed various activities such as: a day at Washtenaw Country club, shopping at Northland, dinner at Dearborn Inn, and the menfolks were guests of the Rotary Club one evening.
While Bill Rudick and three of the children enjoyed a 'Dill Bean' Recipe Given By Canton Township Resident!

By ESTHER SPRENGEL
GL 3-0184

Hello again! I just had a thought, not really an original one, but one I would like to include in our column, I think it would be nice if we could welcome each week any new residents to our community. So if you are new to Canton Township or if you are a neighbor or friend of a new member of our community, give me a ring and we'll say "Hi!" to them in our very next issue.

Last week a friend of the Phil Dingledey family of Haggerty Rd. called to report that the family and three of their children just returned from a pleasant trip up north. The friend also stated that Mr. Dingledey was broadcasting from station WPAJ at 6:30 p.m. on July 24 with his subject the forthcoming Belleville 4-H Fair.

Jeannette Ridley of Cherry Hill Rd., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Ridley, had a group of friends over for a backyard camp-out last week. They cooked their supper outside and slept in tents. Mrs. Ridley, Jeannette's mother, said that peace finally settled over the backyard about midnight! The guests list included Julie Stecker, Karen Stofko, Betty Edger, Claudia Kessler, Gale O'Donnell, and Karen West.

Mrs. Larry Nickel, of 680 Beck Rd., stopped to say good-bye and let us know that they are moving to Decrfield Beech, Fla. They have purchased a large house trailer and plan to reside in Florida. The Nickels have been residents of Canton Township for the past five years. We hate to see them leave, but want to wish them all the luck in the world and happiness in their new surroundings. Mr. and Mrs. Algie Kinchen and son Randy have purchased the Nickels' home. They come from Garden City. Welcome folks and we hope to meet you in person real soon!

Little Laura Lehnhardt called to inform me that she has a new baby brother, David William, weighing eight pounds, 11 ounces, born July 25 at the Ridgewood hospital. Laura has another 18-year-old brother, Norman. Laura also wants everyone to know that the new baby has lots of hair and blue eyes!

Mrs. Russell Magraw and family are up to their eyebrows in 4-H work for the forthcoming County Fair to be Aug. 12-17 near Belleville. Their sons David and Jim will be showing two yearling and eight head of cattle.

Mrs. Magraw mentioned that several of our other young people would be entering the livestock show and some of these are: David and Danny Hawk of Warren Rd., Richard Schmidt of Lilley Rd., Duane and Doug Wilkins of Beck Rd., Barbara and Paul Stecker of Warren Rd., Todd Ehrhart of Ridge Rd., and Scott Hall of Hanford Rd., all displaying cattle.

We certainly would like to hear from the rest of you young people and about your 4-H projects so we know where we can look for you when the big day arrives. Mrs. Marge Fotovich, recreational director of the Cherry Hill School Recreation, informs me that there are just four days left of their program. They have just completed their pet show, always a big event. A cat called "Bingo", belonging to Linda and Sharon Coleman, won the ribbon as the most unusual pet. The girls' mother helped them transport the cat to the show in the back seat of the family car — think Mrs. Coleman should have had a ribbon for the most effort shown? Understand the cat did not want to get out of the car and probably didn't care to get back in!

Cheryl Powers brought her duck Richard and George Wilkie, a beautiful white rabbit: Carolyn Dunston, a parakeet. There were cats and dogs and even a fly, brought by Jeanny O'Donnell. The fly got a ribbon for the "honestest" pet! Mrs. Fotovich's daughter Susan was going to bring her cat, but the cat got stage fright and disappeared for the entire day. Nonetheless, Susan got a ribbon for the kitty anyway — reading, "for the wildest pet". And Diana Roberts brought her bee. It should be noted that each pet was so unusual that the judges could do nothing else but award each of them a ribbon on their own individual merits.

Field day at the Plymouth High School Playground, sponsored by the Kiwanis club, on July 28 found the boys and girls participating from Cherry Hill. Given trophies as first place winners in the following events were: Barbara Wilkie, and Diana Roberts, ring toss; Diana Wiles, Checkers; Betty Miller, "Jacks"; Mervin Wilkie, Joe-Cari, Tim Fotovich, ring toss. The Junior Olympics held at 7 p.m. found champions from Cherry Hill also — Ronnie McClellan, Ronnie Wilkie and Betty Miller. One champion won the honor of going to Belle Isle for the day and the young lady was Barbara Wilkie.

Mrs. Fotovich is announcing, too, for all boys and girls that vacation Bible school starts August 4 at 9:30 a.m. at the Cherry Hill Methodist Church on Ridge Rd. All are welcome to attend regardless of their church affiliations.

Mr. and Mrs. Cass Denski of Hanford Rd. were hosts to friends from Chicago last week. They were Mr. and Mrs. William Bero and two children, Sharon and Billy. Mrs. Russell Palmer (Jo) gave up picking corn July 29 to entertain Mr. and Mrs. Ed Henie and granddaughter, Debbie, from Arizona, formerly of Belleville.

I met Mrs. Fred Aldrich, of Ford Rd., while shopping and she gave me a run-down of their family doings for the past week as well as upcoming events. Bonnie Aldrich just returned from a two weeks' stay at Bay City with her aunt, Mrs. Harry Dixon and family. Bonnie's family went for her last Friday night and spent the weekend in a cottage at Higgins Lake Sunday, Aug. 3. The family tripped to Akron, Mich., for a family reunion, celebrating the 100th anniversary of Grandmother and Grandfather Samson's settling in Akron. The reunion was held at a park there, formerly the Samson farm.

Heartfelt sympathy is extended to the Robert Waldecker family of 4825 Warren Rd. in their recent bereavement. Mr. Waldecker's mother, Minnie Waldecker, passed away Monday evening, July 28.

Mrs. Ray Denison (Shirley) of Gyde Rd. and family were to Torch Lake in June for a week at a cottage belonging to her father and hope to go again before school starts. Most busy have been the Denison family! Ray and Gene, Mr. and Mrs. Denison's daughter and oldest son just returned from the F.D.R. Camp, which is operated by the U.A.W. Last week the family went to Belle Isle and, as Shirley describes it, had a "wild day". She said they did just about everything to do and that she had forgotten just how beautiful it was as she hadn't been there for a few years! In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Denison entered a baseball game, with friends, against husbands (friendly competition), but omitted to tell me who won!

The Lamag Authier family have returned from a two weeks' camping trip. They enjoyed sight-seeing at The Lake of the Clouds, Tahquamenon Falls, and set up their camp on Porcupine Mountain with Mr. Authier's aunt, Miss Simons, and their two daughters. Their camp was 25 miles from the nearest store and one night a neighboring raccoon dropped in while they were sleeping and borrowed all their bananas and bread! They saw deer, but were sorry to say they hadn't run into any fish.

The Wesley Kaisers have gone again with their sons Jim and Norm to a lake hereabouts, but we'll catch them next week. I hope they have a good fish story!

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Clark of Cherry Hill were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mucker at their home Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Mucker from Detroit were former neighbors of the Clark family before they moved to Canton Township.

Have you ever heard of "Dill Beans"? I hope some of you haven't because I don't want to seem too dumb. Anyway Mrs. Willard Bowman (Doris) asked me if I had seen any dill for sale. I said I had seen some swell dill in my garden, until a member of my family thought it looked like wild carrot and pulled it out! She said she was planning to make dill beans. My curiosity got the best of me so I asked what they were, and now I'll tell you. You take yellow beans and snip off both ends and make a vinegar solution, just like you would for dill pickles, tuck in a piece of dill in each jar, and Doris said they're wonderful to serve with roasts, or whenever you want to serve pickles or the like. As for the taste, she said you just can't describe it. Now to get yellow beans — I didn't plant any this year!

Mr. and Mrs. William Russell of Cherry Hill have left for the week to visit the Tahquamenon Falls. Accompanying the Russells are Mr. and Mrs. Russell, Mr. Russell's daughter, is visiting with her Grandmother Fulton, but will accompany her parents on their trip.

Troop 298 Returns from Camp

Completing a nine-day summer camp-out near Ludington last Sunday were 28 boy scouts of Troop 298, Canton Center, along with six adults and three leaders. The boys played in the sand dunes, swam in Lake Michigan, enjoyed a canoe trip down the Pere Marquette river, and participated in myriad scouting activities. Three of the boys won swimming merit badges under supervision of troop leader Ralph Lefler.

The troop was host to troop 202 from Custer at a marshmallow roast and watermelon feed. Some of the scouts' parents and leaders' wives visited the camp site and enjoyed the troop's hospitality, too.

Another camp-out is slated for September in which the whole seventh district of Detroit area council will participate. Troop 298, which already has on display at Geddes Rd. Fire hall the first "excellent award in first place" in "oneering" from the Scouting expedition at the State Fair Grounds in Detroit this past July, will be in there "trying," according to the scoutmaster.

Commissioners

(Continued from Page 1) need of attracting industry and the benefit of around $100,000 a year in school and city taxes realized from Western Electric alone.

Commissioners also again argued that if the custom of making abutting property owners pay for their own improvements was changed, it would not be fair to those who have paid in the past.

One of the chief spokesmen for the group was E. P. Light, 234 Sheldon. He criticized the commission's constant referral to the "custom" of assessments and asked if it has been the custom to exclude some property owners from paying their assessment.

Light said that an attorney has advised him that property owners would have better than a 50-50 chance of beating the assessment. The commission would have a difficult time proving that home owners are getting benefit when they already have a good pavement, he declared.

But he added that property owners do not want to get involved in litigation because it would be costly. Light also said that several people not living on Sheldon had told him that they believed that the city-at-large should pay the cost since it will be the city-at-large reaping the benefit.

Another homeowner, Mr. Stencken, asked about the several homes in the Masserman - Springdale Subdivision which about Sheldon Rd., not the service road, which do not need to pay an assessment.

With this point and the possibility of the assessing procedure being declared illegal, the commission decided to investigate the matter further, although they had approved the project. City Attorney Harry Deyo is vacationing and they will ask him for an opinion on the legality when he returns.

Again the property owners asserted that they would gladly pay for curb and gutter which would be a benefit to them, but that they do not like the assessment for widening and concreting the street for heavy commercial traffic.

Homeowners along the route are being asked to pay an assessment of $10 per front foot and $5 per side yard foot, the same as if it were a residential street. The difference would be paid by the city-at-large.

Salem Has 250 Going to Polls For Primary

There were 250 voters going to the polls in Salem Township for Tuesday's primary — some 50 less than the primary of two years ago.

Like other voters across the state, Salem electors followed pretty much the pattern of going for the incumbents. And also following past history, more Republicans than Democrats turned out.

One of Salem Township's own residents, Homer Martin, got only 18 of 66 votes cast for the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination. He also got a write-in vote as Republican delegate to the county convention.

This is the way the voting went:
Governor: Bagwell (R) 143, Johnson (D) 7, Williams (D) 63.
Lt. Governor: Brown (R) 136, Mohardt (D) 14, Swainson (D) 43.
U.S. Senator: Potter (R) 146, Hart (D) 48, Martin (D) 18.
U.S. Rep.: Meader (R) 142, Hall (D) 49.
State Senator: Christman (R) 99, Milford (R) 57, Law (D) 51.
Legislature: Sallade (R) 132, Hodesh (D) 45.

There were 116 votes favoring the county proposal to change the coroner's office to a county medical examiner and 33 against.

Fire Levels

(Continued from Page 1) Peerless took over the old creamery building in 1946. Its plumbing products are marketed nationally. Files from the office was the only thing saved and they have been moved to the new Plymouth office where all but the manufacturing work will continue.

The fire will mean unemployment for nearly 40 men, most of them from Salem, Northville and Plymouth area. It also comes at a time when employment is hard to find. Rosenhal said that work at the plant had been steadily picking up in recent months.

Fire Chief Robert McAllister of Plymouth was also on the scene to help direct the operation, along with the Washtenaw County sheriff. The fire was the largest in Salem Township which has only a few small industries.

Sentence Four of Area Gang to Prison Terms

Four of the nine Plymouth and Livonia youths linked in a series of nearly 100 burglaries have been sentenced to prison with maximum terms of 15 years.

Three others have been placed on probation for five years while two still face sentencing.

Sentencing took place Friday afternoon in Washtenaw circuit court, Ann Arbor, before visiting Judge Richard Smith of Bay City.

Receiving prison terms were:
William H. McIntosh, 19, of 41830 Five Mile Rd., Plymouth, 2 1/2 to 15 years.
Bernard Michael Fornwald, 19, of 397 Pacific, two concurrent terms of 2 1/2 to 15 years.

Kirkland H. McCowan, 18, of 483 Ann St., 2 to 15 years.
Leonard Ballinger, 17, of 14894 Northville Rd., postponed until Tuesday, August 19 the sentencing of Gerald D. Cowan, 17, of 305 Roe St. Yet to be sentenced are John Lee Kramer, 16, of 42518 Schoolcraft (brother of Linda) and Earl Goodwin, Livonia, who was recently picked up in Kentucky and returned. Kramer is a juvenile but jurisdiction was waived and he is being tried as an adult.

All 40 seats in the courtroom gallery were occupied by friends and relatives at 2:30 p.m. Along one wall of the courtroom sat a half dozen attorneys who were defending the youths.

Those placed on probation were also ordered to pay court costs and restitution that will be pro-rated. The thefts by various members of the group took place mostly from stores, restaurants and service stations in western Wayne county, Washtenaw and Livingston counties. At least 13 were in the city of Plymouth.

Local Boat

(Continued from Page 1) Identifying marks on the boats and changing serial numbers. He said that seven boats he handled were transferred to Klann's home where they were hidden under a junk pile.

Klann claims he has receipts and bills for all of the goods found in the raid and that deputies were trespassing upon his property.

Beyer had just returned home from a lake jaunt on Sunday, July 6, when he found the $1,700 boat, trailer, 35-horsepower motor and other items stored in the boat missing the next morning.

Detective Van Wolfen of the Sheriff's Department has asked that anyone who has purchased articles from Klann to contact him at PA 1-2222.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh
A City-Ditty

Took a back road home last week and stopped for gas at Hopkins Crossing — a village with three or four stores, a few houses and a Post Office.

While I was there another fellow drove up to the gas station, with Big City written all over him — from his clothes to his block-long car, to his attitude. "Nothing like the real country for peace and quiet, is there?" he remarked to the attendant.

"Why, I wouldn't know," the attendant said. "I lived all my life right here in town!"

From where I sit, opinions are sometimes like fingerprints, never two exactly the same. The idea is not that you have to think like the next fellow — but to understand his point of view. (For instance, your preference for tea, my liking for an occasional glass of beer.) It makes neighbors more like neighbors.

Canton Dems Support Native Carl Stellato

Canton Township resident Carl Stellato won in his home territory in Tuesday's primary, but he failed to win the 16th district's nomination from incumbent John Lesinski for the Democratic race for U.S. Representative.

Stellato, who lives on Cherry Hill Rd., is president of Ford Local 600. In Canton Township he got 85 votes while Lesinski won 61.

There were but 275 voters going to the polls in Canton during the day with the majority voting the Democratic ticket.

These are the results for the top offices:
Governor: Johnson (D) 41, Williams (D) 149, Bagwell (R) 55.
Lt. Governor: Monhardt (D) 20, Swainson (D) 111, Brown (R) 47.

U.S. Representative: Senator: Hart (D) 93, Martin (D) 41, Potter, 58.
U.S. Representative: Bryant (D) 18, Lida (D) 11, Lesinski (D) 61, Stellato (D) 85, Guy (R) 26, Kurtz (R) 28.

State Senator: Bill (D) 4, Doyle (D) 53, Hart (D) 48, Martin (D) 24, Mondella (D) 6, Prusinski (D) 8, Thomson (D) 4, Berg (R) 48.
State Legislature: Beadle (D) 25, Bennett (D) 43, Pool (D) 53, Trombley (D) 15, Eaton (R) 60.

Canton Township Democrats also gave their votes to Sheriff Andrew Baird (58), and other County incumbents.

Junction St. Trucks

The mayor and later Thomas Rossette, chairman of the committee which recommended the routes, said that there was no thought of making this a route to Western Electric, but only to service the industries along the C & O.

Monday night's debate was divided into two parts early in the meeting when citizens were asked for suggestions and the petition was presented, and at the end of the meeting when the second and third readings of the Truck Traffic Ordinance were scheduled.

Chief spokesmen for the petitioners were Kenneth Wilske, 799 Auburn and John Gilles, 561 Karmada.

Wilske said that people do not object to the street being a truck route, but asked why all trucks should be channeled down this one street when it is not built for that traffic.

Karmada and Junction are both dirt streets, and the spokesmen noted that dust created makes it necessary for residents to water the streets before wives can hang out wash.

Among the commercial and industrial establishments serviced by the street are Continental Can, McLaren Transit Mix, city garage, the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad and Champion Containers.

The petition pointed out that there is a playground at Auburn and Junction and there are children going to school whose security is at stake. The petition suggests that Goldsmith Ave. (north of Junction and now only several blocks long) be opened and conditioned for truck traffic because it is in the industrial zone.

NUPTIALS TOLD
Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Shirley Ann Lightfoot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Lightfoot, and Sidney R. Davison, son of Mrs. Dorothy O'Reilly, on Aug. 1 at Christ Episcopal church in Dearborn.

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

ONE SUMMER at home for a change — and not working on an advanced degree — finds charming Mrs. Charles C. (Iva) Minehart indulging in a favorite pastime: Sampling some of the recipes she has collected from different people. Here in her bright and cheery kitchen at the family residence at 42551 Clemons Dr., Mrs. Minehart is ready to serve a sizzling "Tuna-Cheese Burger." It's wrapped and cooked in aluminum foil.

Tuna-Cheese Burgers Make Tasty Snack

Readin', riting, 'n' rithmetic . . . can't beat collectin' and cookin' new recipes this summer.

Ask Plymouthite Mrs. Charles C. Minehart whose life-work is — happily — elementary education. She's "Principal" Minehart at Stark School, Livonia. And for many summers past, she's been away from home finishing work on her master's degree in elementary administration at Eastern Michigan College, Ypsilanti.

Now with this summer to turn into a vacation adventure with that degree tucked in a drawer, Mrs. Minehart is turning to cooking for fun. She has a great collection of recipes . . . as well as a collector of china. This all runs second best, of course, to her first great joy, teaching the young people in her school district.

From her kitchen she can be inspired by the floral handiwork of her husband who has bordered the driveway leading to their ranch home on Clemons Dr. with gay pelonias and ever-blooming roses. They have lived in their home three years this past spring.

Mrs. Minehart likes to serve "Tuna-Cheese Burgers" as a snack for cool evenings. Their popularity has also been noted at neighborhood get-togethers where wrapped in aluminum foil, the "burgers" remain temptingly hot until served.

TUNA-CHEESE BURGERS (Four Servings)

- 1- 7 oz. can tuna fish (salt and water pack preferred)
- 1 tablespoon minced onion
- 1/2 cup Kraft's Miracle sandwich spread
- 4 hamburger buns
- 4 slices Kraft's pimento cheese

Method: Mix together tuna, onion, and sandwich spread. Fill buns with mixture. Top individual filled buns with single slice of cheese. Wrap buns in aluminum foil. Bake in a pan in slow oven, 300 degrees, for 15 or 20 minutes. (If desired, sprinkle a little oregano in each burger before baking.)

FIRST IN SAFETY

ALAMEDA, Calif. (UPI) — Workers at the Lister pencil company plant here are hanging up an industrial safety record that may be hard to top. The factory has gone 10 years without a single accident that forced a worker to miss a day on the job, according to the California Department of Industrial Relations.

Woman's Eye View

"Busy hands!"

How apt the description given to Plymouthite Mrs. Matilda Reafsnider, 82 years young, whose generous distribution of her hand-made pot holders is town legend.

"Tilly" as she is affectionately called by old and new friends, was born in Salem but has lived for 46 years in her epic and span three-story house at 14429 Northville Rd.

She has no idea how many pot-holders — some crocheted, some fashioned from discarded cloth scraps — she had made since she first began this hobby many years back. She does know that last Christmas she had 1,302 stacked up for giving away — "I'd never sell them" — and after the holiday she counted but two in the house.

Already she's got a healthy start on her Christmas giving-away program this year: Last week she tabulated 1,389 new potholders made for Yule, 1958.

Young brides-to-be, teens she meets, Eastern Star affiliates, church groups, and all who come in touch with "Tilly" never go away without a few pot-holders in hand.

Certainly not a Mrs. Gotrocks . . . but a kindly samaritan, Mrs. Reafsnider utilizes every bit of discarded clothing, ties, rugs that people who know about her "busy hands", give her. That's her raw material. She launders it, presses it. If a rug, she unravels and re-designs. Old faded denim cast-offs become "stuffing" for hot-plate holders. If you find yourself thinking of tossing any old clothing away, call Mrs. Reafsnider.

"One friend told me that she'd like to give me some old clothing — but she was sorry it had holes in it. I told her that didn't matter . . . I'd use everything but the holes!"

Mrs. Reafsnider "can't thank the Lord enough for her health . . . and the awfully good renters she had had" . . . two of the reasons for her optimistic outlook considering the heartache Fate has dealt her, too.

She married her first love Clarence Alsbro in 1897; he passed away in 1928. They had one son, Oscar E. Alsbro, who before his unexpected death eight years ago, was traffic claims adjuster for the C & O railroad and secretary of the Masons for 19 years without ever missing a meeting. She had wed Mr. Reafsnider in 1944; he died in 1954.

Her sister, Mrs. Bessie Salow, who lives on Maple St., has worked for many years in the yard goods department at Dunning's. Another sister, Mrs. Clara Soper, resided in Auburn Heights. And two brothers,

Miss Puckett Is Engaged

Mr and Mrs. O. N. Puckett, 14605 Haggerty Rd., Plymouth, announce the engagement of their daughter, Esther Marie, to Roger Vernon Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller of Gillett, Wis. No date has been set for the pair's nuptials. Miss Puckett graduated this past June from Plymouth High School. Her fiance was graduated in 1957 from Gillett High School.

Grange Cleanings

Are you all set for the corn roast Saturday evening at Willoughby Wisely's? He lives on Strawberry Lake Rd. and as it is quite a long drive up there, it would be well to start early anytime after 5:30 p.m. "Sloppy Joe's" will be furnished. You may bring your own dishes a la silver, also drink. And if you care for anything besides the corn and "sloppy joes", bring whatever you like. For directions, call Milly Rienas at GL 3-3967.

We were surprised to learn that Mr. Spicer was admitted to St. Joseph's hospital last Tuesday. He is better and will be home sometime this week.

Mrs. John Root is also back in St. Joseph's hospital. We hope she will soon be much better and able to come home.

Mrs. Herman Tritten fell one day last week and broke several ribs. She is recuperating at the home of her son, Jesse. She is very uncomfortable as you may know that being "taped up" in the hot weather would be!

Remember our two important dates coming up: Rummage sale Saturday, Sept. 6 at Grange hall; bazaar on Friday, Oct. 10, at the hall.

SHERLOCK HOLMES, AT 10 SYLVESTER, Ga. (UPI) — Mim Shell, 10, confides that her ambition is to grow up to be a lady "private eye."

Who's New in Plymouth

NEW TO PLYMOUTH are original hat designer Mrs. Violet Wines, right, who is making her home at 521 S. Harvey St., and her mother, Mrs. Dulcie Dyker, W. Ann Arbor Trail. Mrs. Wines came here three months ago on crutches, convalescing from a broken leg. She fell in love with Plymouth, decided to enter the hat business and make it a permanent stay. Her mother, Mrs. Dyker, came to live in Plymouth one month ago. Here they are unpacking some of Mrs. Wines' custom hand-made fall hats, shown with original gay summer chapeaux and purses. Mrs. Wines, a native Detroit, formerly designed headpieces for Larry Matthews beauty salons in New York City, famed for their unique services. She also is a songwriter — has written words and music for over 100 songs, one of which "Pray for Peace" is a favorite of her new friends in Plymouth. Mrs. Wines does commercial lyrics, too. Both new residents have affiliated with St. John's Episcopal church.

BROTHER ACT

FITCHBURG, Mass. (UPI) — Francis J. Charlton has announced he will seek the Democratic nomination for state representative from the 13th Worcester District. His brother, Robert E. Charlton, is after the Republican nomination.

Cars Collide In Township

Ann Arbor Trail and Southworth Street was the scene of a collision Friday, August 1. A 1955 Oldsmobile driven by 21-year-old George W. Truitt, 6763 Centralia, Garden City, collided with 37-year-old Joseph J. Krasa, 11218 Southworth, driver of a 1952 Studebaker. Both automobiles were damaged slightly and Truitt suffered a cut on his left forearm. He was driven to Wayne County General Hospital by the Wayne County Sheriff's Patrol where he received treatment.

INCENDIARY PROOF

NEW YORK (UP) — For the first time in five years, 1957 saw an increase in the number of arson investigations and arrests in the U.S. The National Board of Fire Underwriters said the number of investigations went up by 166 and the number of arrests by 24 last year.

Recreation Fastball

CLASS "A" Some of the best games of the season were saved for the last week of the season. U-Daly & Western, fighting for a play-off spot and needing two wins to gain the last position, got one of them without making a hit. Joe Thibodeau of Cloverdale did not give up a hit but ran into a wild streak in the third inning that cost him the ball game and the chance to eliminate one team from post season play. He walked Markham, hit Schaeffer and walked Bradtke and Markham scored the only run of the game on a passed ball. Fred Dolezky allowed Cloverdale just three hits.

In other games, Chevrolet defeated Mayflower 7-3 and U-Daly & Western 4-0 and gave the fans a finale with Cloverdale that will long be remembered. Both teams were deadlocked 1-1 going into the eighth inning. Pitcher John Harrington won his own game with a single to score Walt Tiliski who had doubled. Chevie scored another run as insurance and then held Cloverdale scoreless in their half of the inning.

Earlier last week Cloverdale defeated Wayne Dispatch 3-2 as they made their fourth hits count.

Last Saturday night U-Daly Western defeated Dehoco 6-5 in a replay of the tie game.

Midgets End Season Play

The Plymouth Recreation Midget Baseball league completed the regular season on Tuesday, July 29 and finish their play-offs tomorrow. The league has two divisions. One for boys 8 to 10 years of age and the other for boys 11 to 13. In the 8-10 division, two of the four teams finished the season in a tie for first place with a record of six wins and three losses. In the play-offs for first place Braves defeated the Redlegs 16-11.

In the 11-13 division the Tigers finished in first place with a record of eight wins and one loss. This team will represent Plymouth in an inter-city tournament play-off.

SCHEDULE

The first round of the play-offs was played last Tuesday night. Round two will be played tonight and the teams remaining will play tomorrow night. Presentation of the trophies will be made tonight at 8. Beglingers will receive the league trophy. Wolfe Aircraft will receive the Wayne Trophy for the highest in the league and Chevrolet will retire the Industrial trophy since they have won it three years in a row.

CLASS "B"

Gould Homes and V.F.W. won their 10th consecutive game while Independents moved back into a third place tie with Men's Lutheran in games played a week ago Wednesday night. Independents defeated Continental Can 7-4 as they scored three runs in the eighth inning to break a 4-4 deadlock. Goulds had two big innings scoring five runs in the first and six in the second to defeat Men's Lutheran 13-4. V.F.W. hammered out 16 hits in defeating Strohs 12-3.

Scores of August 2nd games which were rescheduled of Monday, July 28th games postponed due to rain.

Stal Van Wire 7, Chevrolet Spring & Bumper 8; Bohl's Drive-In 5, Bill's Market 26; Vico Products won by default from Hawthorne Center.

CLASS "C"

The scores of the games played last week indicate a little closer race in this division. Postmen had to rally for four runs in the seventh inning to defeat Plymouth Colony 5-4 and maintain their unbeaten string intact and extend it to six games. Firemen scored a run in the sixth inning to break a 6-6 tie and hand Livonia Surplus their second defeat of the season. The Pick-ups won their first game by defeating Jacks Burgers 7-0.

Local Youths Team in Tournay

The four members of the Plymouth Elks playing in the Hearst tournament at Ann Arbor last Saturday are a team of all-stars from this area that advanced to Round 2 by virtue of two victories.

Paul Woodward, Jim Dzurus, John Matt and Randy Egloff are the four Elks who played in the games. Their team defeated Midland in the first game 8-1 and Berkley in the second game 4-2.

Randy Egloff pitched the game and menttette of Wayne — the same league as the Elks are in — hit a grand slam home run to account for the four runs.

The Elks play in the state tournament starting Monday but information regarding the opponent and location of the game was not available at press time.

SPORTSEEN

BY BILL DILWORTH

Word has been received from the Sports Staff of the U.S. Army Reception Station at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri of the work there of a 1951 Plymouth graduate. The graduate is Lt. Carl D. Pursell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pursell of 639 S. Main Street. He has been appointed athletic officer and he has set up an athletic program for the camp. At present he has organized a top flight softball team and he is the leading pitcher in the league with a record of six wins and one loss. He has pitched the first no-hitter while walking just one man.

Lt. Pursell has also completed plans for a Reception Station Golf Tournament.

Just in case the sports job does leave him some spare time he is also the Battalion Staff Property Officer, Unit Fund Custodian, Utilities Conservation Officer, Area Fire Marshall, Safety Officer and Motor Transportation Officer.

The Public information officer at the reception closes his letter with these words: "we are proud to have his services and hope he can continue to give us his untiring efforts in developing our athletic program."

Tonight, Round two of the two-game knockout play-off for the Class "A" Recreation championship will be played. Beglingers, Cloverdale, Wolfe Aircraft, U-Daly Western, Wayne Dispatch and Chevrolet Spring & Bumper are the six teams in the play-offs.

Beglingers plays the winner of the Wayne Dispatch-Cloverdale game and Chevie plays the winner of the Wolfe Aircraft-U-Daly Western game. Friday night round three will be played. If the calibre of ball played in the past few weeks of the season is any criterion of what to expect in the play-offs the fans will be in for some excellent fastball.

Bill's Market of the 15 and under league finished their regular season in the Recreation baseball league with a 15-1 record which left them tied for first place with the Livonia Center team. The play-off was last night and the winner will continue on in a state tournament while the loser will represent the league in a metropolitan tournament.

Another Plymouth team, the Elks, have won the 18 and under league and move into the state tournament which will start next Monday night. Further details as to opponent and location of the game were not available at press time.

In looking over the scores of the midget Recreation league we noticed several games that were decided by one run. This shows that these "kids" are playing hard all the time and augurs well for the future of baseball in Plymouth. The play-offs are being played today and the final games will be played tomorrow.

The Plymouth Merchants of the Intercounty league got enough hits Sunday, in fact they matched the output of their opponents, but again suffered from ineffective defensive work as exemplified by the fire errors. Ken Kisabeth was the pitcher who was the victim of the poor support.

The visiting league leaders, Local 1299, provided the fans with the thrills last Sunday afternoon as they defeated Plymouth Merchants 9-4 in a regularly scheduled Intercounty game. The visitors executed a triple play to nullify a potential rally in the eighth inning. Earlier in the game Spears hit a long home run into right center field to give his team a 7-2 lead.

Both teams picked up 10 hits but five Plymouth errors contributed to their downfall. Plymouth scored their first run in the first inning when Chuck Tomlinson doubled and scored on Ron Bender's single.

In the third inning two walks and a single by Bud Nedry scored Carter with the second run and made the score 3-2. Local 1299 added four more runs before Plymouth could score. In the sixth, Gerry King tripled and Voegel singled for the third run. The Merchants scored their fourth run as Gerry Voegel tripled and was eventually forced in as Holt walked three batters. Ken Kisabeth pitched for Plymouth.

The Merchants wind up the schedule next Sunday when they meet Teamsters at Cass Benton Park at 3:00 p.m.

Triple Play, Errors Help Drop Merchants

The visiting league leaders, Local 1299, provided the fans with the thrills last Sunday afternoon as they defeated Plymouth Merchants 9-4 in a regularly scheduled Intercounty game. The visitors executed a triple play to nullify a potential rally in the eighth inning. Earlier in the game Spears hit a long home run into right center field to give his team a 7-2 lead.

Both teams picked up 10 hits but five Plymouth errors contributed to their downfall. Plymouth scored their first run in the first inning when Chuck Tomlinson doubled and scored on Ron Bender's single.

In the third inning two walks and a single by Bud Nedry scored Carter with the second run and made the score 3-2. Local 1299 added four more runs before Plymouth could score. In the sixth, Gerry King tripled and Voegel singled for the third run. The Merchants scored their fourth run as Gerry Voegel tripled and was eventually forced in as Holt walked three batters. Ken Kisabeth pitched for Plymouth.

The Merchants wind up the schedule next Sunday when they meet Teamsters at Cass Benton Park at 3:00 p.m.

Junior Golf Tournament Opens Monday with 67

Next Monday and Tuesday, August 11 and 12, will see the second Junior Golf Tournament in Plymouth with 25 girls and 42 boys having signified their intention to be on hand.

It will again be a 9 hole handicap tournament, match play. However they are asked to finish, because a trophy is awarded to low medalist as well as flight winners.

There will be five flights in Boy's Division, three of Girl's, and one each in 4 Hole group, with eight in a flight and paired according to U.S.G.A. rules. This year, runnership will also receive trophies, and all first game losers will complete for low net Monday afternoon in consolation.

With all contestants playing 18 holes Monday, they are asked to bring or buy their lunch and not leave the course. Players must be on time if they do not wish to default, Association officials warn. Any players drawing byes or defaults must play to win.

Spectators are welcome to come and follow the matches. Monday's matches will begin at 8:30 and Tuesday's at 9. Winners will be asked to come at 7:15 to have their pictures taken for the Plymouth Mail. All League and Tournament players are urged to come to the Awards Presentation. Winners cannot be announced in advance because of Michigan Recreation ruling for amateurs making one player ineligible for more than one reward. In such cases certificates will be given, and the award given to next person qualifying.

Junior Golf League Results

With the tournament next Monday and Tuesday, this week saw 74 juniors tee off in the final session of league play. This year there were 14 registrants, 110 of these played at least one game and 71 qualified for the tournament. This is a good percentage since so many were beginners this year.

Monday's results brought recognition of an outstanding young golfer. Among the boys earning 3 points Monday, Jamie Eder has accumulated a total of 19 1/2 points out of a possible 21, having won all 3 points each week since the first when he split his match with Bob Taylor. This 12 year old and his brother Doug, began with the League last year. In two years he has brought his score down (from 98) consistently until this week he was able to break 60.

Totals of other boys also earning 3 points: Gretzinger 11, Haynes 10 1/2, Graves 9, Jensen 9, Hayskar 6, Zornow 6, Rowland 6, Sikes 6, Fisher 6 1/2, Manley, Pentecost, Light.

Boys earning 2 1/2 pts: Stewart 13 1/2, Izett 8 1/2, Holt 8.

Girls: Celeste Arjay 3 1/2 (earned in 3 weeks out of possible 9). Totals of Boys earning 1 1/2 pts: Swain 4 1/2, Beck 4 1/2, D. Fuelling 4, Ohl 4 1/2, Adams 6 1/2, Sorenson 3 1/2, Fletcher, Girl: J. Reas, 11.

Sealed proposals will be received by the City of Plymouth, Michigan, as Owner, until 3:00 P.M. Eastern Standard Time on Wednesday, August 20, 1958, at the Council Chamber in the City Hall, 175 South Main Street, Plymouth, Michigan, from contractors having current Michigan State Highway Department prequalifications for work of a similar nature, and then publicly opened and read for the grading and paving of certain streets in the City of Plymouth, Michigan. The principal quantities comprise approximately:

- 100 lin. ft.—96" Concrete Pipe Culvert
- 8700 lin. ft.—Grading Right of Way
- 17,900 sq. yd.—2" Asphaltic Concrete Surface on 6" slag base
- 10,255 lin. ft.—Concrete Curb and Gutter
- 12,975 sq. yd.—Concrete Paving and Base
- 49,000 sq. ft.—Concrete Sidewalk, together with manholes, catch basins and other incidental work.

Plans and Specifications may be examined at the Plymouth City Hall and may be obtained by prequalified contractors at the office of Herald F. Hamill, 292 S. Main Street, Plymouth, Michigan, by making a deposit of $15.00 for each set, which will be refunded upon their use in a bona fide proposal or upon their return in good condition prior to the time set for opening bids.

Each proposal shall be accompanied by a Certified Check or Bid Bond of not less than Five Percent (5%) of the Bid, payable to the Owner, as security for the acceptance of the contract.

No bidder may withdraw his proposal within 30 days after the date set for the opening thereof.

The right is reserved by the Owner to reject any or all proposals, either in whole or in part, and to waive any irregularities therein.

Building for the Future with Detroit and Michigan

NOW 250 Million STRONG... and still growing thru Service to Savers

As magnificent new buildings take shape in downtown Detroit, hundreds of smaller construction projects are providing new homes for families of our community. First Federal is proud of its part in this growth. With assets which have grown to over 250 million dollars, we have more money invested in the financing of homes than any other Michigan financial institution. 111,000 people have First Federal insured savings accounts. And as these people add to savings, theirs is money at work—helping others to buy, build and improve their homes—creating jobs and payrolls—in Michigan where we all work and live.

Van Dyke Named To Honor Group

Fred Van Dyke, of 9585 Joy Road, Plymouth, local field representative for Mutual of the National Field Club, a company production honor group, it was announced today by Neal D. Brubaker, Detroit agency manager. During the year, approximately one-third of MONY's field force will earn membership in this group. Van Dyke's achievement is even more outstanding since he attained membership in half the time allotted for qualification.

Men In Service

Marine Pvt. Preston G. Dyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Dyer of 904 York, is scheduled to finish four weeks of individual combat training Aug. 5 at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif. The course includes the latest infantry tactics, first aid, demolitions, field fortifications and advanced schooling on weapons.

Airman 3-c George L. Cronkrite, 550 S. Main St. was among the 400 Detroit area reservists (800 from Michigan) flying to Bakalar AFB near Columbus, Ind., Saturday from Selfridge Air Force Base, Mt. Clemens, to begin their two week tour of active duty.

Airman Cronkrite is a member of the Selfridge-based 403d Troop carrier ("Boxer") Wing, Michigan's only volunteer Air Reserve flying unit, commanded by Col. James H. McPartlin of Birmingham. The unit trains at Selfridge one weekend a month.

BEST BEHAVIOR

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Mass. (UPI)—"One good turn deserves another," said Mrs. J. Howard Rhind, camp director, hopefully. She and Police Chief Carl L. MacDonald, with the assistance of campers at the Girl Scouts' Shady Pines reservation in nearby Adamsdale, were attempting to get a glass jar off the head of a skunk which had lodged beneath a camp building. They succeeded. No, you're wrong. One good turn did deserve another.

now both invalid, Asa Geigler and Frank Geigler, have their respective homes in Gaylord. All have been showered with her potholders.

More about that samaritan business: Last February 14 she decided her friend of many years, Mrs. Alice Robertson, should not live alone anymore in her Harvey St. home with her cerebral palsy daughter, Frances Robertson. So she made room in her house for the two to come in with her... so she could personally see that they both got their meals and good care. Mrs. Robertson will be 90 years old in October—her invalid daughter is now 64. (A story in itself of love and devotion!)

Right now she begins her day at 6:30 p.m. She likes to keep house... "to have a clean house." She whisks upstairs to do the bedrooms of her three roomers on the 2nd and third floors.

She has had a charming companion in Mrs. Albert (Jean) Duston for the past five years. Albert came with his Dad as a young man to room at the Reafsnayder home 17 years ago. He used to work at the Plymouth Mail, going through school. When he finished army service and married Jean, a North Carolina girl working at Burroughs, they continued to live with "Tilly." She considers him like a son. (Albert has adopted Jean's two children by a previous marriage, Janice, now 7 years; and Danny, 5 1/2 years.)

Soon the Dustons will be moving into their own new home just being completed in Westbrook Gardens, Nankin township. An apartment "For Rent" sign is up on the Reafsnayder home. Anyone for joining "Tilly's" family?

Have you got Hi-Fi jitters?

Long just to retreat from all that wonderful realistic sound... to just some stereophonically quiet spot... maybe to be interrupted only by happy birds and chirping crickets? Well, life has never been the same since my sound-happy hubby and I invested in a high fidelity and FM-AM combination two years ago...

And now making a move into the music field are stereo discs, expected to be a shot-in-the-arm for speaker conversion sales. We checked with Melody House in Plymouth to find that stereo disc fans here include William Swadling, of Ann Arbor Trail; Lary Smith, PHS student who has built his own ingenious set-up; and Norman Kellman.

Most popular album today in Plymouth seems to be "Sing Along with Mitch," Columbia recording. Teens favor "Ricky Nelson," LP. And Van Cliburn's (Texas's answer to Russian musicianship) Tchaikovsky's Piano Concerto No. 1 is the best-selling classical album.

Unbelievable is that Michele LeGrand hasn't made the in-roads here that he has Detroit-way... and a brand new album "C'est Magnifique" out, too!

Town Crier: Baby Gaffka Christened 'Shannon' Here

BY GLORIA BOWLES
GL. 3-2340

(Covering the Area along Sheldon to Ann Arbor Trail, Harvey and Sutherland, including Plymouth Colony, Parklane, Hough Sub., Plymouth Hills and Ridgewood.)
Camping, an important source of enjoyment and recreation for a great many Americans, suggests many things—woods, prairies, lakes, fishing, hunting, canoeing, outdoor life plus rest for tired nerves. This favorite summertime diversion is being enjoyed by several area families.

John A. Adams and sons Johnny, 10, and Jeff, 7, of Jener spent the past weekend camping on Lake Wampeters in the Irish Hills—they returned Saturday morning, returned Sunday. This is their first camping experience; the trio is making premiere purchases of camping equipment.

Saturday, August 9, is the date set for the departure of future eighth grader Dave Van Ornum, whose parents are Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Van Ornum of Maple. Dave is headed for two weeks at Camp Michiwana, near Hastings, while sister Ann was home Saturday, the 28th, after a week at the same spot. (Mrs. Van Ornum explained that Michiwana is both a girls and boys camp, but not simultaneously.)

The Philip H. Gray camp for boys, Nissosho on Lake Van Etten near Oscoda, is the home away from home of Peter Ackerman of Governor Bradford. Attending the third month session of the camp, Pete left July 24, is enjoying the "swimming" (according to one of his postcards), riding, shop, and campouts at the Greater YMCA sponsored outing. This is Pete's second year of camping experience.

(Note: Concerning item of last issue, Dennis Fuelling of Priscilla Lane lost 3 and one half pounds at Camp Charles Howell (in Brighton—not 13).)

Two new families—the Art Jacobs of Evergreen and the H. B. Wescotts of McKinley are making their homes in Parklane Subdivision.

The Jacobs and daughter Jean, 16, who will be a junior at Plymouth High next year, came to Plymouth from Knoxville, Tenn., on July 3. Jacobs is a salesman for the Brown Shoe Company of St. Louis. Typical teen Jean (no rhyme intended) had a terrific time at the summer sock hop at PHS last week.

From the Dairyland state, Wisconsin, more specifically Racine, are the H. B. Wescotts and daughters Coleen, 15, and Donna S. Coleen, 13, another future PHS junior; Donna will be a first grader at Smith Elementary School in the fall. The only man of the family, Mr. Wescott, is employed in the Product Education Department of Massey-Ferguson. (Asked the Mrs. what his job entails—the firm aims to educate machinery company salesmen with their product). Mr. Wescott has an opportunity to see the states in his work. Example: he just returned from Dallas, Texas. The family chose Plymouth due to its location between Detroit and Ann Arbor, where Massey-Ferguson offices are situated.

Mrs. L. W. Bushaw of Beech was among the 1900 women attending the Homemakers Conference at Michigan State University July 22-25. Another Plymouthite anxious to learn more about the homemaking business was Mrs. Stanley Travis of Canton Center, who accompanied Mrs. Bushaw to East Lansing.

How to have color and landscaping, and lady-be-fit were the courses taken by Mrs. Bushaw, who had an "awfully nice time" adding that the conferees were kept busy every moment. All the women stayed in Robert Shaw Hall for the session (that's a men's dormitory during the school year—none there then.) This is the second year of attendance for Mrs. B.

With words of high praise for the Ridgewood Hospital staff of Ypsilanti, Mrs. Harry L. Boggus of Amherst Court said the nurses and doctors of that institution "bend themselves backwards," and "give so much attention to the patients." Mrs. Boggus underwent minor surgery at Ridgewood recently, was there for three days arriving home two Sundays ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barcelona of Leesburg, Pa., (Mr. Barcelona is Mrs. Boggus' father) were recent guests at the Plymouth Hills home of the Boggus'. They spent a week in Plymouth, leaving two Thursdays ago. Tucson, Ariz., is the home of Mrs. Curley Smith, who were also entertained by the very busy Mr. and Mrs. B. two weeks ago.

Mrs. Harold Dagget of Ridgewood and her daughter, Mrs. Robert P. Birt of Grosse Ile were in Columbus, O., to attend the wedding of Mrs. Dagget's niece, the former Sara Petrie, who became the bride of Kenneth Swan July 27.

A play at Music Circle, a weekend trip to East Tawas, and family get-togethers were the recent activities filling every spare moment of the Thomas Foley and little Tommy of Priscilla Lane. The Sunday before last found the Foleys and oodles of relatives, including Mrs. Foley's Mom and Dad, and her three sisters and their families gathering at the lakeside farm of an aunt and uncle in Dexter. Swimming, chatter, and an outdoor cooked meal were highlights of the stay. Mrs. Foley's sister, Mrs. Richard Hayes, who is in between moving from Kentucky to Florida, has been in the area for this past week, therefore special plans.

Headed for Western University in Kalamazoo this fall is Joan Bennett, whose parents are the Norris E. Bennetts of Priscilla Lane. The family is in the thick of preparations for Joan's departure. The 18 year-old is aiming for a masters degree in library science—this will take her five and one-half years, Joan's been interested in the work since six months, reads constantly here mother reported. One thousand freshmen have registered at Western so far; it is 11 miles from the school to the Bennett's door.

A six-pound baby boy—Robert John—was welcomed at the home of the John Spichichs of Evergreen July 20. Robert was born at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor, has two sisters Nancy Lee, 9, and Barbara Ann, 15. (That makes three future juniors in Parklane.) The Spichichs are fairly new to the community, having moved to Parklane last October.

Mrs. Theima Petschulat of Turkey Run entertained her bridge foursome Friday, July 25. Guests were Mrs. Ralph Randall of Livonia and Mrs. Wesley Randall and Frances Randall, both of Detroit.

Shannon Gaffka, daughter of the L. F. Gaffkas of Amherst Court, was christened Sunday, August 3, at Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church. Born June 23 at Grace Hospital in Detroit and weighing six pounds, five and one half ounces, little Shannon has three sisters and a brother: Michael, 5, Dawn, 3, April 2, and Erin 1. (Wondering about those beautiful Irish names? Explanation is that Mrs. Gaffka's ancestry may be traced to the Emerald Isle.)

The W. E. Ackermans of Governor Bradford return today from Mackinac Island and a conference of the Michigan Road Builders, which began Monday. (Mr. Ackerman is with Ann Arbor Construction.) Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fieldner, Mrs. Ackerman's parents, served as babysitters for Cris and John Ackerman while Mom and Dad Pop enjoyed the combination business-pleasure trip.

Dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Van Ornum last Friday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dinwiddie and daughter Sue of Detroit.

The Bob Marshs, formerly Plymouth Colony residents (they made their home on Priscilla Lane where the Dennans now reside) surprised friends when they returned in Plymouth two Tuesdays ago. The couple dropped in on the Bernard Stadtmillers of Sunset, who also lived in Plymouth Colony, moved to another town, and are back in Plymouth again, and the Mel Fuellings, the Harrison Moores, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Crawford, Jr., all of Priscilla Lane. The "pioneers"—the Marshs were one of the first families in the area were amazed by the building progress made since their departure. The Marshs live in Elyria, O.; Mr. Marsh had business in Owosso so the former Plymouthites decided to stop here.

Terribly busy are the only words which describe the recent social life of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Fuelling of Priscilla Lane. "Business associates" from Australia were entertained by the Plymouth Colony couple Wednesday evening, July 30. Mr. and Mrs. Tony Adler of Sydney were treated to dinner and an ice revue at the Elmwood Casino; they are collecting a six-months tour around the world. The visitors are most interested in all American customs—including breakfast," said Mrs. Fuelling. Friday, July 25, saw the Fuellings and daughters Diane and Jeanine and son Dennis visiting Mrs. Spichich's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Brown, who were entertaining a longtime friend, Mary Louise Haines of Vincennes, Ind. The next day, Saturday, saw the Fuellings at the Detroit wedding of Larry Fuelling (a cousin of Mr. Fuelling) and the former Marge Canny, while on Sunday the couple entertained at a corn roast in their spacious back yard on Priscilla Lane. Guests were the Lew Mellendores and the Clifford Jollys of Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Fuelling of Birch Estates in Plymouth.

Gary Fuelling, whose parents are the aforementioned Gerald Fuellings, was the guest of honor at a family picnic held in the Plymouth park last Saturday. Gary celebrated his birthday on Sunday.

Odds 'n Ends: The Plymouth Colony baseball team lost a heartbreaker Wednesday night when the league leading Postmen defeated the team 5-4 in the last inning! There's no denyin', however, that the game was one of the finest exhibitions ever of the talent of the Coloners. The fellows play with the Men's (they're supposed to be over 30) Bloopers Ball League. The James Anthonys of Carrol are "trying to get back in the groove" after their Bermuda vacation. They "had a wonderful time," said the Missus. The couple hope to return to Bermuda some time...

Joint Accounts Preferred SORE THUMB NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Bankers Association says about eight out of 10 young married couples favor joint checking accounts. One reason, according to the ABA, is that this prevents extravagant buying since the husband always knows what his wife has been spending, and vice versa.

by George Spelvin

If you're looking for a different trip that might be over to Leamington, Ontario to the Sun Parlor Little Theatre. You'll see a Broadway hit, "Visit To A Small Planet" and an enjoyable visit with our Canadian neighbors. Russ Wallace, Plymouth Theater Guild member, is appearing in one of the lead roles in "Visit to a Small Planet." He has the top comic part of the frustrated General. It's worth the trip of 40 miles across the border to see Russ blow his top in this choice part.

Melvyn Douglas will be over at the Northland Playhouse this week in a new play prior to Broadway. At present, it's called "Sweet and Sour." This is the fourth title change for this play. Originally the play started out as "Strange Partners" and then a few title changes incorporated the word "love." The producers have settled on "Sweet and Sour." Might be a good idea to go over to the Northland Playhouse and see what you think the title should be. Maybe the play needs more than title changing before it hits the great White Way.

Let's leave the theatrical world for a moment and consider a movie that old George saw with young George in the other evening at the Penn Theater. At first, I debated whether the movie might be worth the expenditure of seventy pesos. But young George insisted and so before I could say "Dixie," I was a plunged deep into the southland of "God's Little Acre."

Millions of copies of the book have been sold. Erskine Caldwell found the gold that Ty-Ty, leading character in the movie, was looking when he penned this novel. Unfortunately, the book was considered a bit obscene and achieved fame by being banned. The minute this happened, the sales skyrocketed. And the next thing that happens is that the author's original message or attempt to reproduce an authentic character study is lost as certain passages in the book become the center of attention rather than considering the entire book.

Anthony Mann the picture producer, has given this novel new stature. He re-

Phil Youngs Intrigued By Mystery Spot on Vacation

(Covering Green Meadows, Ann Arbor Rd., Sheldon, Joy and Main St., including the Gallimore School District.) BY MRS. ALVIN STACE GL. 3-1223

Well, it appears lots of people from Green Meadows have been vacationing and they report, "having a very wonderful time." Mr. and Mrs. Jim Perlongo and children, Kevin, Joy and Karen, spent nearly two weeks with Jim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Perlongo, of Iron River.

Mrs. Perlongo (Edith) tells me they mostly took care of the children and say to it that they had a good time. Son Kevin, aged 4, got a thrill from his first fishing trip and feels he is quite a fisherman; he pulled in four! Their time was spent horseback riding, swimming, and picnicking. They visited several game preserves where the children saw a stag, the Mama deer, and her two little fawns. Also a bear and two little baby cubs were seen. They stopped at a cathedral in Marquette and were able to visit with an old friend of Jim's who had become a priest. Edie said the cathedral was very beautiful. They returned across the Mackinac bridge and enjoyed this because it only took about 10 minutes to cross the Straits.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Newberry and children, Brenda, Kenneth, Rebecca, Darlene and Joan, returned from a 10-day trip to Paragould, Ark., where they went to visit Mrs. Newberry's mother, Mrs. John Cannady, who had taken a fall and broken her hip. Her condition is greatly improved and she is able to be up in a wheelchair. They also visited Mrs. Newberry's sister, Mrs. H. J. Holland, and Mr. Newberry's mother, Mrs. Stanley Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Wasilowski and children, Terry, Linda and Larry, spent two weeks roughing it at the Forestry Park at Higgins Lake. They had good time fishing, swimming, etc. and even going back to the old hand-crank method of making ice cream. They took their turn at horseback riding, water skiing and boating.

They made a trip over to see the Mackinac Bridge and visited the sand dunes at Grand Haven. The Phil Young family returned Thursday after a week spent at the cottage of an aunt and uncle, Bessie and Maurice Evans at Indian River. Accompanying them were their four boys, Brian, Craig, Bill and Jackie, the latter just six months old. They visited the Soo Locks at Sault Ste. Marie. At St. Ignace they stopped at Deer Ranch where the children were able to feed deer from their hands. On their way back they stopped at a spot about five miles north of the bridge on Route 2, called "Mystery Spot." Mrs. Young says Mystery Spot is a spot of about 150 sq. ft. that slants to a 45 degree angle. She said it sure was very mysterious because unless you stand just so, you would fall flat on your face! Her only regret is that her husband failed to catch any fish and she is very hungry for some fresh fish. Better luck next time, Phil!

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bonaga, Sr. returned Thursday from their trip to New York. They left New York Tuesday for Pittsburgh, Pa., where they visited a few days with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hammond. On their return home, daughter, Beatrice Hammond and children, Douglas, Hobart, and Alison Anne, accompanied them for a short visit. Little Jamie Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ross, celebrated his fifth birthday, Thursday, July 31, with several little friends: Billy and Gloria Keefe, Bonnie and Sandy Diegel, Kevin, Joy and Karen Perlongo, Ricky Perlongo, Jimmy and Kathy Bench, his sisters, Patty and Susan and brother, Jerry. Due to the rainy weather, they had a weiner roast in the family garage; but were unable to play many games. Jamie received many nice gifts including a new puppy of about seven weeks of which he is very proud. Happy Birthday, Jamie!

Elizabeth Calhoun joined her friend, Marya Richwine, on her return home to Chicago. Elizabeth plans to stay a week or two in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McDonald returned recently from a two-week camping trip in Northern Michigan. Their first week was spent camping at Tahquamenon River in the Upper Peninsula. Also their daughter and husband, Bernice and Chuck Merryfield, and their daughter, Vickie, were along. They went sightseeing at Paradise Lake, Tahquamenon Falls, both upper and lower, Miner Falls, Munising Falls, Picture Rock, and Wagner Falls. They returned to Clear Lake via way of the Mackinac Bridge (also report it as being very beautiful) to do some more camping. At this point they met their other daughter and family, Fred and Grace Krause and Clara and Chuck, and little Vickie returned home. On their way home they stopped at Hartwick Pines. Lawrence being an ardent camera fan took several pictures of the bears. Tom Schwartz, 11 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schwartz of Brookline, is spending the week with Boy Scout Troop 298 at Ludington. His sister, Jeanne is visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schwartz, of Detroit.

A "stork shower" was in progress at the Verne Sturm home on Elmhurst when I called Barb (Mrs. Sturm). The shower was being given for her daughter, Pat. Pat is married to Harold Martin and now resides in Wayne. Guests were Mrs. Gideon Swick, Mrs. Charles Lee, Mrs. John Thomas and daughter, Cookie, Mrs. Jerry Kelly, Mrs. Roy Vanburen, Mrs. McDorman, all residents of Plymouth. Mrs. Robert Brink and Mrs. Peter Sullivan from Livonia, Mrs. T. Farris from Dearborn, Mrs. Peter DeGeorge from Farmington, Mrs. S. Davis from Wayne, Mrs. Jim Gage from Detroit, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Martin and Mrs. William Hill from Garden City were also present. Among the guests was a young lady from Quebec, Miss Gina La Bell, who in the near future will be the bride of Mrs. Sturm's son, Terry Calkins. Decorations for the party were carried out in the regular stork theme of basquette which held the gifts, to storks and miniature umbrellas. Pat received many lovely gifts after which a lunch was served. Mrs. Sturm (Barb) said they have been unable to go on a vacation trip, but they did spend several days at their cabin in Mio, where they entertained several friends and relatives including Barb's son, Terry Calkins and his fiancée, Gina LaBell of Quebec City; son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. (Pat) Harold Martin of Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Ferris of Dearborn, Mr. and Mrs. James Key of Royal Oak, and Mr. and Mrs. James Brummel of Northville. Terry is home on leave from the Dover Air Force Base in Maine, where he is a radar instructor. He brought his fiancée with him to get acquainted with his parents. Our son, Bill, celebrated his twelfth birthday, Monday, July 28. He had hoped for a party but circumstances prevented it this year. But we did have the customary cake and candles. Another note to keep you posted about the Open Pit Barbecue dinner to be held by the members of the Baracks of Veterans of World War I. It is being held at 39905 13 Mile, near Orchard Lake Road. Signs will be posted along the road so you can't miss it. The dinner including barbecue beef and

Evans Makes New Plywood Panels

The Evans Products Company of Plymouth has added equipment for making scarf-joint plywood panels at its Coos Bay, Ore., mill. William J. Ritchie, Vice President in charge of wood products sales, announced this week. Evans is now producing both interior and exterior Evaneer scarf-joint panels, Ritchie reported.

Tests of the new panels by the Douglas Fir Plywood Association and Evans' laboratories indicate that the glued area where the two panels are joined to make one longer panel is as strong as the panels themselves," Mr. Ritchie said.

The Evans company produces plywood, hardboard, battery separators, lumber and other wood products at a half-dozen plants in the Pacific Northwest. Evans' distribution system was recently bolstered by acquisition of the Fiddes-Moore chain of 14 warehouses in the midwest.

"The grass next door may look greener, but it's just as hard to cut."

Old Power Mower Becomes Automobile for Youngsters

A junior-sized motor car was put together by his dad, using the motor from a discarded "reel-type" power lawn mower.

According to the father, building the "auto" was not as difficult as diverting the attention of the mother long enough so the job could progress beyond the point of no return. After the youngster's mother was convinced that the completed motor car would not travel faster than an adult's fast walk, she gave her blessings to the project.

The first step was to remove the cutting blades from the front axle of the lawn mower. This was done with a hacksaw; a cutting torch can be used equally as well. Then, the motor car frame was built using two 2 x 3-inch stock for the sides and 2 x 5-inch stock for across the rear. Length and width of the frame can vary according to desire. The front of the frame was bolted to the mower engine with 1/4 x 4-inch carriage bolts using the holes where the motor chassis was originally bolted to the lawn mower frame.

The motor car has rear-wheel steering. This was done by bolting the steering unit from an old wagon to the rear of the frame. The steering unit tongue should be facing forward so that steering ropes and cables can be attached.

The dashboard was installed next; this was made from 1/2-inch plywood. Then, the steering wheel column, made from 1/2-inch black iron pipe, was installed. Before the pipe was inserted through the dashboard, one of the lawn mower wheels was attached to the pipe which served as a drum for steering ropes. The wheel was cut from 1/2-inch plywood.

The motor's clutch rod, choke and ignition wire were extended through the dashboard for power control. With flexible cable, engine gas control was extended to the seat for easy reach. The final steps were installing the steering cables and a brake. A brake was made by fitting a lever on the frame to bear on the ground or front wheel. The motor car engine is stopped by "grounding" the ignition switch from the dashboard side. Starting the motor car is done by pulling the engine cord similar to that on an outboard motor.

Since this motor car travels no faster than 3 miles per hour, it is safe for youngsters. However, it is strongly recommended that a motor car be used only on private property or private ways; never on the street.

KEY TO THE SOLUTION
READING, Pa. (UPI) — An automobile repairman, sent to pick up a black sedan belonging to Benjamin Longenecker, instead took an identical car parked nearby that belonged to Warren Gerhart. How did he start the wrong car with the right key? It seems the trunk key of Longenecker's car fit the ignition of Gerhart's car.

Try Fluorescent Lighting As Aid In Photography

Fluorescent lighting is softer by far than is standard Mazda lighting. By softer is meant that it casts fewer shadows and the shadows it does cast are much fainter than those from incandescent bulbs.

Because this is so, fluorescent lighting proves helpful in portrait photography. Pictures taken with this lighting will have a minimum of shadows under the eyes and nose. This more or less shadowless lighting is often kinder to the person being photographed, but it does tend to make the picture less dramatic than standard Mazda bulbs would.

Readers of magazines and newspapers look twice at portraits that have been taken with bright lights and a strong spotlight to play up the deep shadows that make arresting prints. Amateur photographers who make black-and-white studies of friends and family will probably wish to take advantage of fluorescent light.

Fluorescent lights can be purchased in any electrical shop which sells desk lamps. These lamps can be fastened to tables and chairs as well as desks without any additional outlay of money. By purchasing lights that can be moved around from upper to lower positions, the light can be controlled to a greater extent. For example, one side of the face can be lighted more strongly than the other or light can be allowed to play over a person's hair.

Film is so fast today that it becomes almost simple to take the pictures successfully in the not always too bright light of the fluorescent tubes.

When photographing in color, do not at any time make use of fluorescent light. This type of light burns with a Kelvin rating of about 4500 and the color film being made today is adjusted to 3200 or 3800.

When fluorescent lighting is used with color film the result is a very blue transparency, way off from the color as seen by the eye. This change in color is due to the over-all quality in fluorescent lighting. None of the filters seem to correct this. The tempting thing about fluorescent lighting is that all of us are fooled by the seemingly warm color as perceived by the eye. Also most of us want to take pictures with a minimum of effort and use the light available. This just won't work with color film.

GOING DOWN to the water on wheels does not limit small craft owners to any one boating area. Cleverly-designed trailers simplify launching and hauling of outboards.

Even Women Can Launch the Boat

A new sport, trailer boating, has captured the fancy of thousands of families throughout the country. It enables families living far from navigable waters to participate in boating for a day, weekend or vacation.

There are no accurate figures as to the number of trailer boatmen, but it has been estimated through boat trailer sales that there are more than 740,000 boat trailers registered in the country. The interest in this new phase of boating has been traced to the fact that the small boat owner is not limited to recreation fun. He can drive to any body of water, and try out several lakes, rivers or other navigable water during a boating season.

Another advantage of trailer boating is that a family needn't have the responsibility and cost of a regular mooring or membership in a boat club. Also, boat storage is in the backyard where the boat can be worked on easily.

The design of present-day boat trailers enables many women and youngsters to handle the launching and hauling of small craft. Cleverly designed winches, rollers and tilting booms take all of the strain out of small craft handling. A reduction-gear winch hauls even a heavy runabout out of the water with no physical effort.

Selecting the right size trailer is important. For example, a trailer that will hold a boat up to 14 feet will probably hold a 14 1/2 foot boat safely. But should the size boat include an outboard motor on the transom, the trailer also should support the boat transom efficiently.

The weight capacity of a trailer is as important as using one of the right size. A family using a boat that weighs 580 pounds including motor may use a trailer with a 600 pound capacity. But, should a heavier boat or engine be purchased, this trailer could become inadequate.

It's always better to use a trailer that has at least a 300-pound advantage to the weight being hauled. This weight allowance provides for extra camping gear, boating equipment, additional suitcases and other items when a vacation is being planned. Also, one or two people might have to be in the boat on the trailer during hauling or launching at a water's edge.

Trailers can and do have tire failures. Such an experience renders the trailer useless unless a spare is available. Many trailer boatmen never think of this happening. When it does and if they are lucky enough to find a tire dealer who stocks trailer tires, they will pay dearly for a new tire.

Trailer boating promises to get bigger each season. Families no longer have to live close by boating waters to enjoy the popular sport.

THE READER Speaks Up

Editor:

Your recent article about raised garden beds was most interesting. I have several raised garden beds, some are 3 years established, some are 2 years, one was made in 1957, and 3 are "in-the-making."

To hold the soil and moisture, I use large rocks. My first stones and rocks were gathered in a field we had in Inkster, Mich., and when we moved to Plymouth I brought them along and have gathered stones "here and there" ever since that time (1933).

To fill in the soil I first put weeds which I hoe out and rake from other parts of my gardens, and other refuse and garbage such as peelings, carrot tops and any such thing (this makes compost) and covered with soil soon decays and is good fertilizer.

When it is ready, I plant different plants, but mostly hold to very hardy perennials which increase in size every year and can be divided every so often and reset. I try to get as many different kinds and colors as I can and also to have plants in bloom at all times from early spring until severe frost in the fall kills the last petunias.

Some of my rocks are from my folks' farm in Newwaygo Co. a large "puddin-stone" is from there, and stones used in building the foundation of the one-room school in Newwaygo Co. which I attended as a child are here in my gardens. Some from my mother's last home in Grant, some from another friend's farm are here and many others. Stones serve here also to outline where I don't want the children to walk (sort of fence), (I did wonder why one would have to go to Connecticut to see "raised-gardens.")

Pieces of driftwood and parts of logs make a few interesting additions to the cheerful gardens. One length of cedar log has a hole thru it, it was part of City of Detroit water main laid in 1812. I have planted these gardens (except for the trees) and have taken all care of them myself using a hoe, shovel and spade, rake, trowel and much determination and "elbow grease." The stones and rocks are on the north and east side of the house and along drive. There is also a border along the west side containing a large collection of iris, about 100 different kinds which I hoe and care for. These gardens and plantings are not nearly finished. There are wild flowers here also.

Japanese Study New World

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — A group of Japanese scientists have a vacation scheduled 10-year study of the principal archeological centers of Peru and Bolivia in search of the origins of civilization in this part of the New World.

The archeologists, who comprise the "Andean Scientific Expedition" of the Imperial University of Tokyo, arrived here recently from Japan. Heading the eight-man team is Dr. Eiichiro Ishida, specialist in ethnology and archeology.

He explained there is "enormous interest in Japan" in the expedition's object — to confirm the generally accepted theory that the first inhabitants of America came from Asia via the Bering Straits and Alaska some 20,000 years ago.

HANDSOME ANTIQUE GLASS BOTTLES
Vintage 18th-19th Century

Earliest Glass Bottles Serve Functional Purpose

Bottles were one of the major products of the glasshouses in this country from their earliest days in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth centuries. Bottles were the general means of transporting all sorts of liquids for commercial or personal use.

From their earliest manufacture here, bottles ranged in size from carboys of gallon capacity for shipping chemicals and beverages to bottles and flasks for wine and spirits, and smaller bottles for snuff, perfume, cologne, medicine and bitters. Historians admit that a large percentage of bottles in the old days was made for wine and spirits.

Bottles, whether large or small, were made according to various glass-making techniques. The earliest bottles were blown in a furnace over a small, later ones were blown or pattern molded, and in the Nineteenth century bottles of pressed glass became common. Perfume bottles and other types for display were made also of cut glass, an art practiced through the centuries.

X-Ray Aids Heart Disease Studies This Past Year

When a German scientist named Wilhelm Conrad Roentgen discovered x-rays 63 years ago, he was aware that he had uncovered a valuable medical tool.

But in those early days the ray "x" — for then it was an "unknown quantity" — was used primarily to study the bones in the human body. Today, it's safe to say that even Roentgen would be amazed and gratified to see how his discovery is aiding medical science on nearly every front, by going far beyond just "seeing" the human skeleton.

In fact the radiologist, a physician specializing in the diagnostic and therapeutic use of x-ray, radium and other radioactive materials, is frequently called upon to conduct a patient's radiological examination after the family physician or surgeon has referred the patient to him for his x-ray study.

Consider x-ray and the radiologist in relation to the human heart alone, for example.

It would take almost a book to describe all the strides that have been made toward conquering heart disease — just during the past year. For instance, there is now a microphone so small that it can be passed through an artery into any part of this vital organ, a procedure that holds great promise in the fight against heart disease. The "mike" is of ultra-sensitive design, measures only 1-20 of an inch diameter and 1/4 of an inch in length.

With the help of the radiologist, the mike is guided carefully and accurately into the heart. When it is manipulated to the necessary location, the precise sounds of the heart-beat and blood-flow in that area are picked up. Thus the examining physician, with the aid of the radiologist, is able to diagnose the sounds of this important organ directly, instead of indirectly, or "second hand" by a stethoscope. What's more, the device not only eliminates extraneous room noises but also natural inaccuracies that may be found by using a stethoscope. Why? Because the heart-sounds must travel through the overlying lungs and chest before reaching the stethoscope — and finally the doctor's ears.

In relation to cancer too, the work of x-ray is vital and well-known. Dramatic strides are being made nearly every day in some corner of the world.

Did you also know that a slice from the teeth, the part of the head most x-rayed is the sinuses — that group of little cavities inside the skull connected with the back of the nose by tiny openings? Though the sinuses are most commonly studied radiologically, the most important part of anyone's head, obviously, is the brain. This is much more difficult to x-ray, but by means of special techniques it can be done successfully. One method is to inject a liquid that is opaque to x-rays into blood vessels, thus causing the blood vessels to leave a shadow and to 'stand out' on the x-ray film. This may reveal a tumor, blood clot or a bulge in one of the vessels, and when the radiologist's diagnosis is established, the patient can be taken care of by the neurosurgeon.

Using the new, faster x-ray films, protective "cones" and other devices with a skill acquired through long training, the radiologist sees to it that Roentgen's great discovery, the x-ray, is used safely and wisely to locate the sources of disease and to relieve human suffering.

Fruit Fritters

Fritters are always a welcomed treat in many homes, especially when they're hiding choice morsels of fruit. For a treat, combine ground cooked ham with crushed pineapple mixture into a fritter batter combination composed of flour, baking powder, cinnamon, sugar, milk and egg. Drop the batter by teaspoons into deep hot lard and fry until golden brown.

Barbecue Fire Most Important

Every member of the family can enjoy the friendly, casual way of entertaining which is possible through outdoor cooking. Fresh air and the aroma of meat sizzling over the hot coals sharpens the appetite. And the whole family—and friends—can cooperate in making this kind of meal a success.

Basically, barbecuing means cooking outdoors—roasting or broiling in a specially seasoned sauce or without it. And the Detroit Consumer Marketing Information Agent tells us that the fire is the most important factor in the success of barbecuing.

To make preparations for the fire, first put a generous layer of sand or gravel in the fire box. This absorbs the dripping and keeps the flaring of the flames to a minimum. It also provides a draft for the fire to keep the heat more even.

In selecting charcoal, Northern Michigan brands are always good. They are all hardwood charcoals which are preferable. The regular charcoal starts easier than the briquette-type. However, briquettes are compressed, they weigh twice as much for the size of the bag, and they make a fire which lasts longer. Both types actually cost about the same per pound.

In starting the charcoal fire, make a small mound of charcoal at the side of the fire box. Plan to spread it out after it starts to burn. Be sure to use only a small amount—about two pounds are enough for an average grill. Thoroughly saturate the charcoal with a charcoal lighter fluid and then light it.

It takes at least 20 minutes of burning before a charcoal fire is ever ready for cooking. Then there will be no flame, just a grey ash that shows up around the edge of the charcoal pieces. When the charcoal is about two-thirds covered with this grey ash it is hot enough. And remember that this grey ash is very hot — it should never be handled with the bare hands!

After the charcoal is properly spread, the firing should last a couple of hours' cooking. The heat may be controlled by raising or lowering the grid, or by taking out or adding warmed charcoal. The fire should not be sprinkled with water except in an emergency.

Since outdoor cooking is a dry-heat method of cooking, any tender cut of meat which you would normally broil or roast in an open pan indoors can be cooked outdoors. But the less tender cuts which usually require long moist cooking to tenderize may also be barbecued if they are first marinated.

This is done for 12 to 48 hours, depending upon the size or thickness of the piece. An oil and acid mixture is used. It is usually one part lemon juice, vinegar, or tomato juice — or the barbecue sauce itself — to 4 parts oil. The acids and the salt tenderize the meat by breaking down the fibers. They also flavor the meat. As a word of caution, all marinating should be done under refrigeration.

If you would like to receive specific directions for barbecuing any meats or other foods, write to the Detroit Consumer Marketing Information Agent, 317-B Boulevard Building, Detroit 2, or call Trinity 3-0794.

HOT BARBECUE SAUCE

- 1 med. onion, chopped
- 2 clove garlic minced
- 1/2 cup catsup
- 1/2 cup tomato sauce
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 teas. tabasco sauce
- 1 teas. salt
- 1 tbsp. brown sugar
- 1 teas. dry mustard
- 3-4 drops liquid smoke
- 3 tbsp. vegetable oil

Combine and cook slowly for about 10 to 15 minutes. Store in the refrigerator.

Suburban Living

SAFETY WATCH — A play area room window enables Mom to watch youngsters in the yard.

Backyard Safety Tips Given Parents for Blissful Summer

Scraped knees, bruised elbows, bumps on heads and — more severe — a broken bone are but a few of the results of property accidents that occur much too frequently during the warm months.

It's not that the nation's homeowners and their children are accident-prone. Most likely these accidents, which number as many as 5 million during a year, are due to negligence and careless habits.

Of course, the bulk of these accidents are sustained by youngsters playing in the yard, but parents manage their share of bumps and bruises. The major difference is that a child's soft bones and age enables him to recuperate much faster than his parents.

Perhaps the greatest danger in the backyards of the majority of homes is a group of children playing in water and running barefoot. Wet feet on grass can be as slippery as ice, and a quick turn while running can result in a fall, a wrenched leg or back, or a cracked head on a hard object. Also, there's always the chance of stepping on a nail or glass.

Backyard play pools for children and larger pools for the family are common sights in a neighborhood. While these man-made "water holes" are wonderful for cooling off during hot weather, they must be respected. It's a sad parent who permits three or four youngsters to splash in a play pool without some supervision or in constant view. Running, pushing and wrestling should be outlawed when children are playing in or near water.

Another threat to family safety in the backyard are wells. Because many new and large developments on the outskirts of towns and cities could not be serviced by local water systems, fresh-water wells were dug for a home's use. These wells are practical and adequate, but they should be covered tightly to discourage investigating youngsters. Additional safety can be made by constructing a quaint well-house to dress up the property.

Two to four-year-old youngsters playing in the yard may not need supervision, but they should be watched from time to time to make sure that all is safe. To keep Mom's nerves from fraying, why not designate a play area that is in full view from the kitchen or laundry-room window? To keep youngsters within a specific area, install a sandbox, jungle-jim set or other interest-holding play item so they will not wander and Mom can look out to see what's happening.

As for parents, they can use a little thought to hold property accidents to a minimum. For example, when gardening, keep youngsters away from power mower, hedge clipper equipment. During rest periods and after gardening, make sure that all equipment is put away and out of reach of children.

Check 'White Sales' for Best Buys!

August "White Sales," now underway, means household linens can be purchased at a saving on their usual listed price. Probably more sheets, towels, dishcloths and even blankets are bought in August than in any other month except the winter "White Sale" month.

Cotton still is the material of which the greatest majority of household articles are made. Although the place where they are kept is called a linen closet, 99 per cent of the sheets and pillow cases, ALL turkish and terry towels, 75 per cent of all dish towels and 80 per cent of all buck towels are woven of cotton. No other fiber has supplanted cotton for these articles in which durability and absorbency are important characteristics.

Both muslin and percale are available everywhere and both are marked down for White Sales. Percale sheets have a count of 180 threads per inch. Some extra-fine percale sheets have a count of 200 threads per inch. Muslin sheets generally are corded yarn, medium weight cloth with a plain finish. Standard are either 128 or 140 threads per square inch.

Percale sheets wear well. Many women, however, consider muslin more durable particularly for children's beds.

White sales frequently include stock that is displayed under the sign "Irregulars." Usually the brand name also is noted. The word irregular usually refers to a miss by the weaving machine or a slight variation in color, rather than a defect that would reduce the ruggedness of the article. With irregular as with regular stock, it is well to rely on brand names that are synonymous with quality.

Your 'Family Skeleton' Depends on Vital Calcium

You've inherited a family skeleton. Although it has been closeted, all of your life, under protective layers of muscle and skin, yours is a skeleton of which to be proud. It is a living skeleton, made up of bones connected one to another to form the framework for you. With such a skeleton, have you given any thought to its upkeep, to a mineral on which it — and you — depend for your very life: calcium?

A strong support of your skeleton, calcium is needed daily by all parts of the body. If it is not supplied in the food you eat, your bones are called upon to give up some of their stores.

Muscles need calcium to do their work, be this twitting a little finger, making your heart beat, or digging a ditch. Nerves need calcium, to transmit messages from your brain to the scene of action in body. Blood needs calcium, so that it will clot when you cut a finger or skin your knee. For calcium is closeted not only in the skeleton, it is a part of every cell in the body.

Although the best sources for this hard-to-get mineral are milk and cheese, new research has uncovered a runner-up: Enriched bread now ranks second as a source of calcium in the American diet. Bread's high rating is due partly to calcium added by the baker, partly to his adding milk, and partly because you eat bread at every meal.

Other foods you can count on for calcium include canned salmon and sardines, broccoli, collards and kale, mustard and turnip greens.

Try Vitamin-C Rich Orange Juice Concentrate for Pie

From Florida comes a wonderful recipe for an orange pie, a pie as luscious tasting as it looks. The recipe is easy as pie, too, because it's made with convenient fresh frozen orange juice concentrate.

Vitamin C-rich orange juice is a good energy booster around the clock, and as a recipe ingredient it is tops.

FLORIDA ORANGE PIE

- 4 eggs, separated
 - 1/2 6-ounce can fresh frozen concentrated orange juice
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1 9-inch baked pie shell
- Beat egg yolks in top of double boiler, add Florida orange juice concentrate and salt. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove from heat. Beat egg whites until stiff; gradually beat in sugar. Fold half the meringue into orange mixture; turn into pie shell. Pile remaining meringue around edge of pie. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 3 minutes or until lightly browned. YIELD: 1 9-inch pie.

Tips for Teens

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Q—"Dear Elinor: My problem is my size—and the lack of dates. I am a very big girl, 17 years old, very tall and weigh 175 pounds. People tell me that I shouldn't lose much weight on account of my large frame. I have never had a date and sometimes I feel sorry for myself, which is terrible, but it's advice I want, not sympathy. How can I enjoy life like other girls?"

Ans.—Find out the correct weight for your age, height and frame and stick to it. This will improve your appearance and self-confidence, because a tall, slender girl looks more attractive (and smaller) than a tall, heavy one.

Wear flattering clothes—two piece outfits, skirts with a slight flare, not too wide or too straight, shoes with low or "little" heels that do not add to your height. Handbags, jewelry and hats scaled to your size, not small or dainty. Find your most becoming colors (for your complexion) and a smart hair-do to focus attention on your face. Avoid big stripes, splashy prints, large polka dots, full sleeves or other bulky details. Cultivate a trim, smooth effect.

Since you don't meet a d and get acquainted with boys at parties and dances, choose other activities where you r size isn't a disadvantage and you can meet them... Learn a sport such as golf, tennis, archery, swimming; a hobby or craft such as pottery-making, furniture—refinishing, cooking, painting, sketching, photography or others that interest boys, too.

Go to a co-ed school to learn a job where you'll meet men—laboratory technician, dental assistance, science, research, journalism, retailing (department store or specialty shop), etc., according to your interest and ability. Best luck!

When you're a weekend or vacation guest, be the popular kind who is invited again... like this:
 —Pay for your train, bus or plane tickets. This is up to you, not your host or hostess.
 —Let your hostess know what time you'll arrive—and be there!—so she can plan to be ready, meet you, etc.
 —Find out in advance what clothes you'll need and take ALL of them so you won't have to borrow. Hang up outer garments and keep smaller ones in your suitcase; don't drop them around the house.
 —Be at ease, but don't make yourself too much at home. Ask permission before using the telephone, television or radio to be sure that it does not inconvenience others. Don't monopolize the TV, telephone or bathroom; give the family a break.

Return From NYC Convention

Divine law must govern the family circle before the social problems of any community can be solved, program speakers told an international delegation of Jehovah's Witnesses assembled in convention at Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds, July 27 through August 3.

According to Mrs. Sandra Coonce who is associated with the local congregation, 175 delegates from Plymouth and surrounding area are returning from the eight-day event. She stated that the effects of the ministerial training program outlined will be "shared by every community on earth" as the more than 150,000 delegates seriously apply the Bible principles learned to their own congregation in 120 different lands, bridging racial and national barriers with the force of love and unity.

Featured was the graduation of the 31st class of the Watchtower Bible School of Gilead, missionary school of the organization. The program was filled with lectures and reports by delegates from many of the 254 missionary centers and 84 branch offices.

Practical aspect of the house-to-house ministry was stressed at every session of the assembly and results of this apostolic method of preaching in modern times were noted.

Wednesday of last week witnessed a record mass baptism of 7,136 newly ordained ministers. Eight were registered for immersion from the area.

Harness Racing Switches From Northville to Wolverine Track

Michigan's harness racing scene shifts from a nearby Northville Downs to the big Wolverine Harness Raceway plant on Monday, August 11, for the richest stakes program ever offered in the state.

The program includes eight stakes carrying a value of $74,000 which will bring the nation's outstanding pacers and trotters of all ages to the Detroit area.

As it stacks up the Wolverine meeting of 42 nights appears to be the best and most important ever staged in Michigan. It will bring the best two and three-year-old trotters and pacers to Detroit along with the fastest aged performers in both classifications.

The stake program includes three events which are expected to reach $25,000 each in the Merchants and Manufacturers Trot on the first Wednesday of the meeting, Aug. 14; the Motor City Pace on Aug. 21 and the Brown Jug Trial on Sept. 11.

Then there's the fabled Trans-America Pace, worth $10,000, added on Aug. 29, which will bring the sensational Belle Acton, winner of the $50,000 finale of the Trans-America spring series, back to Wolverine to better the track record she set a year ago.

The Trans-America field lists the finest four and five-year-old pacers now in competition and the event has been a standout on the program of Wolverine Hazel Park and Northville Downs raceways for the past two years.

But the one event that has attracted more interest than all others is the Brown Jug Trial, the final test for three-year-olds before the Little Brown Jug race the following week in Delaware, Ohio.

The "Jug" is to the harness world what the Kentucky Derby is to the thoroughbreds, the season's finest test for three-year-old pacers and the winner generally is conceded to be the world's champion of that year.

Grand Circuit week, when the juvenile and sophomore stars of the 'Roaring Grand' Trot on Sept. 12.

take over to display their wares in Michigan, is scheduled for the period of Sept. 8 through Sept. 12.

That's when the Hambletonian and Little Brown Jug contenders of 1959 display their speed and the sophomore stars of '58 show why they are rated as the best of the year.

Grand Circuit week opens on Monday, Sept. 8 with the running of the $3,500 Bombs Away for two-year-old trotters. Then comes the $3,500 added Scottish Pence for two-year-old pacers on Sept. 9; the $7,500 added Victory Song for three-year-old trotters on Sept. 10; the $15,000 added Brown Jug Trial on Sept. 11; and the program ends with the $5,000 added Big Five radio from a distance.

Art Exhibit Extended To Northville

Three Cities Art Club's library exhibit program has been extended to Northville where, beginning last week, works of local artists went on display at the library.

A long-standing program in Plymouth's library, the art group displays a variety of works.

The initial display at Northville is under the direction of Mrs. Catherine Hartley and will remain for three months. Artists in the club are from the surrounding areas, including Plymouth, Northville and Livonia.

New Books at the Library

"Art Through the Ages" by Allies' greatest espionage Helen Gardner — Completely revised edition of a popular art history with 864 pages and 700 illustrations.

"Catch as Catch Can" by Frances and Richard Lockridge — mystery novel by that famous husband-wife team who have been writing "Mr. and Mrs. North" books and others for 18 years.

"The Complete Book of Crochet" by Elizabeth L. Matheson — Comprehensive instruction containing learn-how steps on baby clothes, top flight fashions in hats, bags, sweaters and blouses. Also decorative treasures for home — doilies, runners, chairsets, tablecloths, rugs and afghans.

"Skye Cameron" by Phyllis A. Whitney — Novel set in romantic old New Orleans in 1880's with special dash provided by author of "The Trembling Hills."

"The Counterfeit Trail" by Alexander Klein — Exciting and authentic story of the group of World War II.

"Home from the Hill" by William Humphrey — Novel telling how sins of a father are visited upon first-born.

"Wind Rose" by Helen Hull — Novel by native Albion Mich., woman who has lived for many years in New York city but spends summers abroad or in Maine. She writes of a summer hotel on Maine coast, several troubled romances, and a lady writer, tyrannical but perspicacious, to make this a thoughtful new book.

"China Painting" by Nettie E. Pillet — Instructions for painting overglaze on art or dinnerware, step-by-step.

"Common Stocks and Uncommon Profits" by Philip A. Fisher — Tested, successful advice on how big money is made in stock market.

"Professor Colt" by Chuck Stanley — A fine western drama with mystery elements.

Community service is the term applied to many things that the Veterans of Foreign Wars contribute to, such as: improve a city, town or neighborhood; aid individual families; establish better recreational and educational opportunities for everyone; assist schools, churches and other organizations; conduct functions of benefit to youth; participate in Community Chest drives, traffic safety campaigns, and the fight against such evils as polio, cancer and other ills that destroy human lives.

Veterans of Foreign Wars Posts and their Auxiliaries receive cooperation in making possible these community services from civic officials, business men, women's groups, educators and leaders in professional and commercial fields.

If a child in the surrounding areas of Plymouth needs a home and has a father or mother who has seen active service, but is deceased or disabled, following are the rules for admitting such child to the National Home in Eaton Rapids:

As of the October, 1957, board meeting, the two categories of eligibility are:

1. A child of a father who is dead or totally disabled and who, at the time of death or commencement of total disability, and continuously throughout the 12-month period prior thereto, had been a member in good standing of the V.F.W.; provided, however, that in the case of either death or total disability resulting from external accident the requirement of 12-month continuous membership may be waived if the father was a member in good standing at the time of the accident.
2. A child of a mother who had foreign service, as prescribed in the eligibility requirements of the V.F.W. — in the armed forces of the United States and who at the time of her death or commencement of total disability was, and continuously throughout the 12-month period prior thereto had been, a member in good standing of the Ladies Auxiliary to the V.F.W.; provided, however, that a child shall be eligible under this category only if the father is dead, totally disabled, or otherwise unable properly to support the child; and if the father is able, shall contribute regularly to the Home an appropriate amount — as determined by the board of trustees or management committee — toward the care and upbringing of the child. The Home may refuse to retain — and may deliver to the father or proper authority — the child (or children) if such contributions are not regularly and punctually paid.

'Gyp' Home Builders

(From Redbook Magazine)

Countless families have been cheated as a result of buying government-approved homes that turned out to be seriously defective. Their complaints have flooded the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration, local building departments, the Better Business Bureau and the U.S. Department of Justice and have resulted in investigations that uncovered scandals among some builders and government officials.

An investigation by Martin L. Gross for Redbook Magazine reveals the reports of graft, poor workmanship and corner-cutting as well as the lack of adequate government protection for the buyer. In an article for the August issue, Mr. Gross gives the facts and a list of precautions that home-purchasers can take to avoid being cheated:

Since 1950, more than 8,000,000 one-family homes have been built in this country. A large percentage of them have been backed by FHA - or VA-insured mortgages which have made it possible for young families to obtain homes with relatively small down payments and at low rates of interest. Most of the houses have been built by honest and experienced builders, are of high quality, and have given excellent value for the price. But many others are examples of jerry-built construction and poor workmanship, against which their owners had believed they were protected by FHA and VA standards.

Mrs. Mary Fletcher, a Long Island, New York, homeowner, poked her head into the crawl space beneath her $14,000 split-level house and pointed to the waste building materials scattered in the mud. "We were supposed to have a two-inch layer of concrete over the dirt, as well as concrete bases for our supporting columns," she said. "You can see the metal columns there resting on mud, giving no support at all to the house. Every time someone walks heavily across the livingroom floor, you can feel our whole house vibrating."

"Our walls are stained by rain water. For a long time we had four feet of stagnant water mixed with refuse under the house. Our septic tank overflowed onto the front lawn and street. We can't get any help from the builder or the FHA. It would cost us thirty-five hundred to put our house in shape. We can't afford it."

In El Paso, Texas, a veteran bought an $11,000 ranch house under the GI Bill, only to have it literally break into pieces around him and his family. "The builder is gone," says a Veterans Administration official, "and so far the serviceman is stuck with the house. It would take five thousand dollars to repair it." The official FHA policy is that it accepts no responsibility for serious defects even if FHA inspectors have passed on the construction work. "We don't guarantee houses - just loans," they say.

Vigorous investigations of the complaints from GI's have uncovered countless scandals, but they have also prompted some housecleaning. There have been resignations, dismissals and indictments. Almost 2,000 builders have been suspended from VA and FHA programs. Some FHA offices are trying to raise building standards. And two new bills before Congress seek more government protection for the homeowner.

Until these protections are included in the law, what can you, the layman, do? By following the precautions listed below you can cut to a minimum the chance that you will be cheated in buying a house:

1. Ask your local Better Business Bureau for any adverse information on your builder.

2. If it is a government-insured house, get a copy of the minimum property requirements from your local FHA or VA office, and ask to see the plans for your home.

3. Before signing any papers, hire a competent local civil engineer or architect to inspect the house.

4. Hire a lawyer and have him "bargain" your home contract. The standard form is one-sided in the builder's favor. Do not accept verbal promises of any kind. Include a clause that the title is not to be closed until construction is completed.

If you are worried about the builder's financial responsibility, ask for a bond to protect you against liens. If your home is being custom-built, be sure, through your lawyer, that the bank does not release payments to your builder until he has presented suppliers' bills paid in full.

6. Check with your city, town or county clerk about zoning in your area. Check all tax rates and the appropriate assessment of your house.

7. If your home is the subcontracted type, it may help to get a list of subcontractors from the builder and discuss, in person or by phone, details of their particular installation in your home.

8. Except in an emergency, do not move in until all work on the house is completed.

ONLY THE BEGINNING!

If Your Name Is 'Mark'

By ANN REYNOLDS, P. D.

Did you ever use the sign "&"? Most likely you did, everybody writes this occasionally instead of "and". It is usually referred to as "ampersand". Marcus Tiro was the name of the man who devised this abbreviation; he was a freedman and secretary to Cicero, and he is credited with having invented the first shorthand writing.

There is a world famous square in Venice, Italy, the "Piazza di San Marco". Napoleon called it "the most beautiful ballroom in the world". Paved with large slabs of gray marble, one of its sides is dominated by the great Basilica of St. Mark. This marvelous church with golden cupolas and many colored mosaics, the foremost sample of Byzantine architecture in Europe, is dedicated to St. Mark, the Evangelist, whose relics are preserved there.

The "Gospel according to St. Mark" is the second book of the New Testament, and said to be the most original of the gospels. Its author's name was John to which as a surname was added the Roman name "Marcus". Of this "Mark" is the English form. Tradition holds that it was in the house of Mark's mother where the "Last Supper" was held. According to legend St. Mark met a martyr's death during the reign of the Roman emperor Nero.

St. Mark is the patron saint of Venice; his name, in Italian "Marco", was always popular in that city. One of the most noted of his Venetian namesakes was the thirteenth century traveler Marco Polo, the first European to visit China, and he brought back fascinating stories of the then unknown mysterious East.

In its Latin form "Marcus" was a Roman first name, and did service also what can be regarded as a middle name. It originated in "Mars", name of the Roman god of war. One of the most renowned Romans named Marcus was Mark Anthony, whose fame is due largely to his romantic entanglement with the enchanting Egyptian queen Cleopatra, a passionate love affair that ended with the suicides of both lovers. Another Roman Marcus was the emperor Marcus Aurelius in the second century.

"Mark" is contained in the word "marzipan", literally "bread of Mark", a sweet made of almonds ground to a pulp, blended with the same quantity of powdered sugar, and as much unbeaten egg white as needed to make a paste that can be molded into a variety of shapes, such as small fruits.

Our First Man In Space

(This is the third chapter of five in which a noted U.S. expert on space science tells the story of America's first traveler in space and how he is being prepared for his historic journey.)

BY MARTIN CAIDIN

(Written for United Press International. Copyright 1958 by UPI)

The training schedule for Jim Randall's first flight beyond the earth was so demanding physically that the average man would have regarded the punishment as sheer torture.

There are no second chances on this space mission; the doctors know that Randall can withstand the forces imposed by his rocket plane's performance. Further, his superiors know he is able to operate controls and equipment during those same moments when he may be suffering most severely.

Can he take high gravity forces? In a jet fighter, a steep turn at high speed imposes tremendous loads (g-forces) on a pilot's body. As a jet pilot Randall has taken as high as 9-g's, when with his personal flying equipment his body weighed nearly a ton. Can he take 14-g's? To find out, scientists placed him in a centrifuge, a giant machine that was whirled around rapidly. At the end of long steel girders rode an enclosed cabin, simulating the X-15. Inside Jim Randall was whirled faster and faster. The g-loads increased until Randall's arms were like steel bars. He could not move his feet. His head seemed to be imbedded in concrete. The blood drained away from his brain, forming a grey cloud before his eyes. decelerate rapidly, slowing down with such force that Randall will be subjected to violent punishment - a deceleration force of nine gravities.

But on that earthbound day of testing, Randall returned to the centrifuge. With a booming whine the great machine began to whirl, spinning faster and faster. Suddenly the control engineer slammed on the brakes. Within the sealed cabin, Randall's body burst forward against his restraining straps. The pressure mounted with cruel force. Blood pounded heavily against his eyeballs. His skin stretched and twisted into a rubbery, grotesque mask. Small blood vessels ruptured. Finally, at a force just above 9-g's, he passed out. His limits of control operation were carefully noted; the X-15 is designed to fly with maximum forces well below Randall's limits.

His flight in space will be in vacuum. Because the X-15 orbital flight is a crash program, the rocket is not designed for pilot comfort. The pressurized cabin is small, and Randall will wear a high pressure suit for the entire mission. If the cabin suddenly springs a leak and the air rushes into space, the suit will mean his life. Without this suit pressure, the air in Randall's body would explode outward. Under zero-pressure conditions his blood and other body fluids would boil with such violence that they would literally explode. Without his pressure suit Randall would be unconscious in a few seconds, dead in less than 15 seconds.

Can he live, can he perform his flight duties, in a tight pressure suit? During his preparation for the space flight, the doctor placed Randall in a decompression chamber, inflated the suit, and depressurized the chamber. They kept Randall there for two days, eating baby foods and drinking liquids within the suit. After the first three hours he perspired freely from the slightest movement. "It was hell in there," he reported. But he could survive, and he could control

"Life Begins at Forty"

By ROBERT PETERSON

A talk with Cornelia Otis Skinner reveals that this great lady of the theatre has some very refreshing views on the subject of maturity.

"I'm a hearty believer in the life begins at forty theme," she said as she settled herself elegantly into a green-and-white arm chair. We were sitting in the sunny library of the spacious duplex in New York City where she lives with her stock-broker husband and three terriers. Her black hair was done in a flattering upsweep and she was wearing a sleek silk dress of navy and a triple strand of pearls. I haven't seen many duchesses in my day but I'm sure Miss Skinner is as regal and as gracious as the best of them.

I asked if she had any suggestions for people in middle age who are at a loss for stimulating things to do.

"Perhaps they need a philosophy of awareness," she replied pleasantly. "We live in a marvelously complex world but many people pass through it unaware of it but the simplest pleasures. Their intellectual curiosity is seldom aroused; I've tried to cultivate a deeper awareness of the world around me and it's brought me many new satisfactions. I think we should be more keenly aware of our talents for one thing. We stampede ourselves with a desire of beauty in

To the man who says, "I'm from Missouri"...

Frankly, we don't expect you to take our word for it when we say the Swept-Wing 58 Dodge is unlike any car you have ever driven. We don't expect you to believe it rides smoother, corners better and handles easier just because we say so. You want more than claims. You want proof. You want to be shown, to be convinced. That's why we invite you to come in and Take the Wheel... Get the Swept-Wing feel. Take a '58 Dodge out on the road and compare it with any other car you have ever owned or driven. Is it everything we say it is? Does it actually ride smoother? Corner better? Handle easier? We'll leave the answers up to you. You want the judge. Just see and drive and compare the Swept-Wing 58 Dodge. That's all we ask.

Open House Planned By Newburg Pair

(Covering the Newburg Area, bounded by Wayne Rd., Ann Arbor Rd., Lalonde and Joy Rd., including the Washington School Area.)

By MRS. EMIL LAPOINTE
GA. 1-2029

I guess this family of ours has been doing more things and having more company than anyone in this area for the past week! To begin with on Sunday, July 27 we visited with my grandmother, Mrs. Mary Weiss at her present residence in Delhi. She is staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Poppeger. Another stop, while in this same vicinity, was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wheeler on Jennings Rd., Ann Arbor. We took Bob McHugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. James McHugh of Cranston, along with us on this outing.

On Tuesday, July 29, after attending the final game of baseball for the team representing the Newburg Methodist church, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nida and children Robert, Gail and Jane, who had come from Dearborn for the game, also came back to our house for weiner roast. Tom Waltz of Richland Ave., Livonia, was also a guest. When the Nidas left, they took our daughter Nan to stay with them for the rest of the week and they left their son Robert to stay with us. Our son Mark is spending the week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Weiss, Sr., of Graham Rd., Detroit. Then on Wednesday, July 30, Mrs. George Simon and daughters Patricia and Peggy of Utica, were guests for the day. The Simon family are former residents of the Newburg area. We have been pretty busy people.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Jackson of Hix Rd. for the past week were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Buterick of Crouse Town, Nova Scotia. During their stay the Jacksons entertained at a picnic on July 13 and on July 20 they visited at a cottage on Watkins Lake.

Muriel Coole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Coole of Hix Rd.; Janice Kenner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kenner of Narise drive and Sharon Hoffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hoffman of Al Smith Rd., have all been attending, for the past week, the Methodist church junior high camp in Port Huron.

A speedy recovery is the wish of the neighbors and friends of Mrs. Arthur Hatch of Ravine Dr. After being in the hospital, she is now home recuperating and cards of good cheer would be most welcome at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hocking of Narise Dr. are home after spending their vacation at Aloha State park in northern Michigan. James, Janet and Ronnie, the Hockings' children also went along on the vacation which included a side trip up into northern Canada and a visit to Limber, Log Lodge.

The young folks of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Newburg Methodist church are having another car wash on Saturday, Aug. 9, beginning at 12 noon and lasting through until 6 p.m. The charge will be one dollar per car and five dollars if anyone should desire a wax job. The work will be done behind the church on Ann Arbor trail and Newburg road.

Congratulations are in order for Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bennett of Stark Rd. who will celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on Aug. 15. On Aug. 16, in honor of the occasion, the Bennetts will hold open house at their home from 2 p.m. on through the rest of the day.

I see we have some new families moving in at Greenwich Pointe. Why don't you folks call and let's get acquainted. We are glad to have you as neighbors in the Newburg area.

It's Typical—All Drivers Think Selves Best!

NEW YORK (UPI) — Apparently, no one is an "average driver" anymore. Nearly 100 per cent of drivers interviewed by "depth probes" rated themselves "a better average" in driving skills.

"Mr. Typical Driver," for example, puts a lot of the blame for traffic mishaps on other drivers and speeders. But if he himself is caught tipsy at the wheel, he'll insist he's only had "a couple," with no harm done. And if caught speeding, he'll boil over as he tells you he was only going five or 10 miles over the limit, endangering no one.

The nationwide survey, conducted by the Opinion Research Corp., also found drivers taking issue with ticketing and the abilities of traffic court judges. More than half of the adult drivers, for example, said that "many of our judges in traffic court are not very well qualified for the job."

The drivers want warnings instead of tickets for minor violations, since "tickets, in such instances, insult a driver's intelligence."

In their appraisals, the drivers were a little easier on policemen than they were on traffic court judges. One out of two said the cops are tops. The depth-probers also said that traffic slogans — "Drive Safely," for example — probably mean nothing to the typical driver.

"The study indicates that he thinks those slogans are for the ordinary, every-day drivers, the kind you run into in traffic jams. They're certainly not for him; he'd be insulted at the suggestion that he doesn't drive safely."
