Monoxide Kills Oil Distributor In Truck Cab

Carbon monoxide fumes took the life Wednesday morning of Richard Reamer, 32-year-old Ashland Oil Co. distributor, as he slept in the cab of his truck.

The tragedy took place in the garage of the distributorship located in the rear of Red's Ashland Service, 903 Ann Arbor Rd.

Reamer, a life-long resident of Plymouth and widely known in this area, was found on the seat of his truck tractor by Charles Thompson, employee of Red's Service Station. The distributorship and service station are separate operations.

Service Station owner Henry "Red" Whitson said that he opened his station at 7 a.m. and didn't see Reamer come in, so theorized that he was in the garage before that time.

At 9 o'clock, Thompson went into the garage and found the victim in a truck with the motor running. Whitson called the Wayne County Sheriff's Department and then the Plymouth Township Fire Department which arrived with its resuscitator and administered oxygen. He was then taken by Schrader ambulance to Wayne County General Hospital where he was pronounced dead upon arrival.

Reamer, who is married and has two children, lives at 1350 Junction. His regular job is as a conductor for the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad. Last May, he also became commission agent and distributor for Ashland Oil Products.

Normally he would not be working in the morning because he works on the railroad at night. But the father of his full-time employee, John Smith, had died and Reamer was coming in PETITIONS BEARING 1,751 signatures had to be checked out by the City Clerk Kenneth Way and his secretary, Miss Margo Robson. There were 278 invalid signatures found, most of them of citizens not registered as voters. There are 4,404 registered voters in the city. The 90 petitions ask that the "liquor-by-the-glass" question be placed on the next ballot.

Liquor Proposal Cleared For November 4 Ballot

A stack of 90 petitions was filed with the city of Plymouth clerk last Friday that will place the controversial question of "liquor-by-the-glass" on the November 4 ballot.

City Clerk Kenneth Way said this week that a check of every name on the petitions has resulted in enough signatures to get the referendum on the next ballot.

There were 1,751 signatures on the petitions. Of this number, 278 were found invalid. This left 1,473 valid signatures. To have the question placed on the ballot, 1,335 signatures were needed. This means that there were 138 more signatures than needed.

Every signature had to be checked out, the city clerk said. Of the 278 invalid signatures, most of them were unregistered. A few, he said, were Plymouth Township residents thus making them not eligible to sign.

When city voters go to the polls on Tuesday, Nov. 4, they will find the referendum asking this question: "Shall the sale of spirits in addition to beer and wine be permitted for consumption on the premises within the city of Plymouth under the provisions of law governing same?"

Two years ago there was another attempt to place the referendum on the ballot. It failed because there were not enough qualified signers.

This attempt started much earlier and was more organized. Roy R. W. 1051 Harding, solicited the majority of the signatures and filed the petitions Friday.

The 1,335 required signatures was established by a formula found in the state law. Petitioners require signatures equaling 35 percent of those who voted for the secretary of state in the last election. In 1956 there were 3,815 city electors voting for the secretary of state and 35 percent of this is 1,335.

Clerk Kenneth Way said that he will file the referendum with the county clerk along with 2 charter amendment questions that will be also on the ballot this fall. These two propositions, one dealing with raising the pay of city commissioners and the other making the supervisor an appointive job instead of elective, are now in Lansing being scanned by the governor's office.

When these two proposals are approved and returned, Way will file all three with the county clerk so that they will appear on the November ballot.

Approval of the liquor referendum will require a simple majority. Liquor-by-the-glass has been on the ballot several times in the city. The last time was in 1952 when it was defeated by 1,795 to 966. This vote was during a presidential election.

Last April when it was announced that there would be another try in placing the proposal on the ballot, the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce board of directors passed a resolution supporting the movement and claiming that the present dry law is discriminatory in its effect on business within the city. "The present law also places an undue competitive burden upon city business as compared to similar businesses lying just outside the city limits," it added.

So far there has been no organized opposition heard.

Two months ago the city commission was asked how many liquor permits it would grant if the referendum was approved. They voted to limit the hard liquor permits to three — the same number that now hold beer and wine permits. These are Box Bar, Marquis Toll House and Mayflower Tap Room. The commission has declared that it would be these three places that would be given an opportunity to apply for the three liquor licenses if the proposal is approved.

Airborne Stations Used

Resident Heads Program Of Global Weather Probe

A Plymouth resident will head the Bendix Aviation Corporation System Division's program to establish a revolutionary new weather sensing system that will probe the atmosphere on a global scale.

He is Frederick B. Cline, 9404 Sheldon Rd., a 1930 graduate of Plymouth High school.

Cline was this week appointed program director of the Air Weather Reconnaissance Development Program by Dr. Russell D. O'Neal, Bendix System Division general manager in Ann Arbor.

The initial contract of an estimated multi-million-dollar development program for airborne weather stations has been awarded to Bendix. The contract covers the first 12 months of an estimated 36-month program for research, development and testing of a prototype weather system.

The new method of forecasting weather requires the use of four-engined Air Force jets equipped with multiple radars, instrument-packed rockets, atmospheric sensing equipment and electronic computers. The jets will be in continuous communication with ground stations that will process and relay weather data over a national network.

Cline will manage the development program and will design the overall data-processing and display equipment. The new airborne weather system will operate in jets flying just under the speed of sound at an altitude of 50,000 feet. Each jet will make 4,500 mile flights, will measure cloud formations and look inside storms with radar sweeps extending 150 miles from the aircraft.

At periodic intervals, radiosondes (instrument equipped units that radio information back to the aircraft) will be launched by rocket to probe the jetstream and other atmospheric phenomena at altitudes as high as 150,000 feet. Radiosondes will also be dropped by parachute to "read" weather data closer to the earth.

While the data is intended primarily for the Air Force, it will also be supplied to the commercial air lines, the Weather Bureau and to weather forecasting services serving many industries, utility companies and agriculture.

Cline received his B.S. degree in Aeronautical Engineering from the U of M in 1937 and later engaged in graduate work at Washington University in St. Louis. He served two years as a Naval Air Force lieutenant commander and was executive officer of the First Airborne Rocket Training Unit in the Pacific Theatre.

His professional experience includes four years as assistant chief engineer of the Chrysler Missile Division; six years as division head of the U of M Willow Run Research Center; three years as assistant project engineer with Curtiss Wright; and three years as head of production design at the Nashville Division of Consolidated Valtee.

He is married to the former Catherine McKenna, also of Plymouth.

Dr. O'Neal said, "Cline has been a key member of the Systems Division team. His vast and varied engineering background and experience qualify him as the natural choice for Program Director of the important Air Weather Reconnaissance Project."

Boeing Airplane Co. will be an associate of Bendix in the new project, along with six other Bendix divisions that will supply components.

NEWS BEAT

Wanted: Road Sign Retoucher

Most of us riding along Ann Arbor Rd. at McClumpia Rd. probably never noticed it before — but our proofreader did. A road sign there spells McClumpia as "McClumpia" on both sides. It is correct at other intersections. We're not sure how long the sign has been up, but a little touching-up by the County Road Commission Sign Shop would be appreciated.

SUGGESTION: When Mayor Harold Guenther came to the "citizens' suggestions" item on the agenda Monday night, George Hudson, 706 Burroughs, suggested that the commission provide more ash trays for the customers. Hudson, who has attended several recent meetings, brought his own ash tray Monday and told the chuckling commission that they could buy similar models for "six bits apiece." County Supervisor George Witkowski seconded the suggestion.

MOTORISTS BEWARE: Police Chief Kenneth Fisher is asking all motorists to take special care starting today as some 5,000 children head back to school. The first few days of school have resulted in injured youngsters in the past and will again unless motorists play the defensive role on the streets. Children on bikes as well as on foot, many of them going to school for the first time, will be crossing streets.

NATURE BEAT: Strange things are happening in the Mama Nature realm. William Epps, 1004 Junction, reports that apple blossoms are now appearing on his apple tree. And Andy Hunter, 969 Sutherland, claims that he pulled out his cabbage plants when they failed to grow good and he planted one kernel of sweet corn. It now has 11

GOVERNOR APPOINTEE: Circuit Court Judge George E. Bowles of Plymouth has been named by Gov. Williams as his personal observer in the negotiations between the auto making companies and the UAW. Bowles served the governor as chairman of the State Labor Mediation Board and two years ago was appointed to fill a vacancy in circuit court. He later won election to the bench. Another Plymouthite, State Senator John B. Swainson, this week challenged his Republican opponent for lieutenant governor, Donald A. Brown, to meet with him on TV to discuss issues confronting Michigan. An Oct. 30 TV date is open on WWJ-TV.

New School Not Ready For at Least One Week

There will be no classes at the new Helen Farand Elementary School until a week from today, Thursday, Sept. 11, it was announced Wednesday by Sept. Russell Isbister.

Not until the last minute were school authorities certain if the school could open along with others today, although they had remained optimistic the entire time.

The water main from Schoolcraft Rd. to the school is still not laid and the sanitary sewer still not connected. The gas, however, is in. Isbister and Administrative Assistant Melvin Blunk looked over the situation yesterday morning and finally decided to postpone the opening until next Thursday "or until further notice."

Assessment Roll For Sheldon Rd. Gets Opposition

Another round in the battle between residents who border a Sheldon Rd. improvement project and the city of Plymouth took place Monday night as the city commission approved a resolution adopting the project's assessment roll.

A Detroit attorney, Shirley Johnson, appeared before the commission in behalf of a number of the affected residents to protest the assessment. Johnson presented a petition signed by the residents listing 18 reasons for the protest. He then verbally enlarged upon them.

But despite the last-ditch plea to reconsider the assessment, commissioners approved the assessment roll a month ago for $44,206.09. Earlier in the meeting they approved the Wayne County Road Commission's plan to widen Sheldon Rd. from the C & O Railroad to Ann Arbor Trail.

The pavement is scheduled to be changed from asphalt to concrete and the width increased to 44 feet, or four lanes.

The next move will be up to the protesting property owners. They have hinted that a lawsuit is possible. It was not possible to file court action until the assessment roll was approved.

Johnson and the petition listed most points that were covered several times when residents appeared at previous meetings. He pointed out that the assessment is in violation of city charter since the project is not of benefit to property owners and that even if it were of benefit, it is not assessed equally.

He noted that the project replaces a hard surfaced road that has adequately served the homeowners. It is the traffic demands of Western Electric that has brought about the need for a heavier road, he asserted.

Johnson also asked if all residential property owners were being assessed alike. He told about the Masserman-

Mother Praises Those who Aided Injured Son

Mrs. Virginia Hoffman, 42509 Parkhurst, mother of 11-year-old James Hoffman, whose unlucky fall from a tree on a boulder near Phoenix Lake last July 28 caused great anxiety for his recovery, wishes to extend her sincere appreciation to all those who helped her young son.

Jim came home from University of Michigan Hospital, Ann Arbor on Sunday, Aug. 24, and is coming along "quite well," she reported.

"I'd like to thank all those who assisted in the rescue of Jim and everyone for their prayers," Mrs. Hoffman said, mentioning especially the Plymouth Fire Department Rescue Squad, Schrader's, Berry and Atchinson, and Dr. Charles Westover.

On Sept. 10 Jim will return to the hospital for a check-up and at that time his return time to school may be determined. He had suffered a compound skull fracture and was operated on three times.

Plymouth Outing Two Weeks Away

Just two weeks away is the third annual Plymouth Community Chicken Barbecue to be sponsored Thursday, September 18, by Plymouth's Rotary Club on the Plymouth High School Athletic Field.

Two thousand "chicken fans" can be accommodated at this open-to-the-public affair with 1,000 tender young broilers on order for the day. Every diner will be served one-half a chicken.

Soupy Sales and Bud Guest of Detroit radio and TV fame have been invited to attend if their schedules permit.

NEW BLEACHERS are now ready for the kick-off of the 1958 Plymouth High football season on Friday, Sept. 19. The bleachers were completed this week on the west side of the field. Holding 1,416 people, the stands cost $12,127.

The stands will give a higher vantage point, even to those in the front row. A new restraining fence has also been placed around the field. Appearing here in the first game will be Northville, a non-league competitor.

Adults Heading Back to School Too

While young folks are this week packing up their books and pencils and heading back to the classrooms, hundreds of adults will later this month be entering school themselves as the fall term of the Recreation and Adult Education program opens in the Plymouth Community Schools.

There are 60 courses being offered this fall, Director Herbert Woolweaver announced. A year ago there were 51 offered. Average enrollment during past semesters has been between 1,000 and 1,200.

Eleven of the 60 courses are new ones — ranging from accordion lessons to "Shakespeare for Moderns." Two courses are being offered for college credit.

Opening day of the Adult Education program is Monday, Sept. 29. Registration is taking place during the week of Sept. 15 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. or evenings of Sept. 15 and 16, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Another course discontinued last spring but popular in the fall is electronics. It will be taught by Joe Sullivan of the University of Michigan and two of his associates. It will be an exploratory course in electronics.

Other new courses are these: Art Appreciation, taught by Mrs. Marion Sober, descriptive analysis period paintings.

Home Repair, taught by Paul Palmer, for the do-it-yourself group, learn to do your own minor repairs.

Business Letter and/or Report Writing, taught by Miss Joan Petro, learn the proper

Symphony Society Ready To Launch Membership Drive

Members of the Plymouth Symphony Society will turn to the public on Sept. 15 for the financial aid which annually permits this unique and inspiring organization to function here.

The annual membership drive will last from Sept. 15 through Sept. 24, President Kenneth Hulsing said.

The Society has a budget of $9,575 to operate during the forthcoming year, of which $5,000 must come from memberships.

Plymouth has become increasingly aware of the importance of the Symphony orchestra as a part of community "personality," and a relatively easy achievement of the goal is anticipated by the officers. The Symphony draws its listeners from a wide area beyond Plymouth itself and has brought fame to the City coast to coast.

A particular appeal will be made to local industries, this year to contribute to the organization.

Among the service which the Symphony Society renders:

Six concerts in which some of the finest music written is offered the public, without admission charge.

One "Pop Concert" which played to a capacity audience last winter.

Opportunity for playing is given 800 performers, most of them from the local area.

For children, the Society maintains an area-wide Youth Symphony of 45 players which meets once a week. It gives two half-scholarships to Interlochen annually. It is responsible for a string program in the public schools, and is organizing a series of Saturday morning puppet shows and Children's Theater, to be presented at nominal charge in the Penn Theater.

The Society, in cooperation with the Adult Education Department of the Plymouth Community Schools, sends 160 children to Detroit Symphony children's concerts.

A Civic Chorus of 60 members is trained to perform with the Symphony.

During the summer, the Orchestra played its second annual series of Plymouth Colony Concerts which were heard by 3,500 people, more than half of whom came from out of town.

The CITY MANAGER'S CORNER

By Al Glassford

Cities with a long history of growth and development followed a similar pattern — a small central business district serving a surrounding residential and farm area. Zoning and building regulations were non-existent. The time involved, the rate of growth and the ultimate size may vary, but the general growth of communities is a factor which ties all cities together.

Plymouth had its founding in 1828. Its development was slow but sure. At first the population was small, the needs few, so only a thin veneer of government existed. People did pretty well what they wanted to do. Even as the city grew the government continued to be merely a service agency. The regulatory aspects of municipal government were minor and seldom utilized.

During this growth, in a period void of municipal controls, blighted areas developed. Blighted areas are like the rotten portion of an apple, if permitted to remain, it will eventually consume the entire apple. So the blighted areas may consume the entire city or vast portions therein.

Presently there isn't a city that hasn't been affected to some extent by urban blight. The economic loss caused by the blighted area is considerable. The expense of providing municipal services to these areas averages two to three times as much as providing the same service to well kept sections of the city.

The first action taken against these run-down and neglected areas was the Federal Housing Act of 1949. This provided federal assistance in slum clearance. This however, was directed at the result of the blighting process rather than the causes. With blighted areas being created faster than they were being destroyed, the federal government realized that other steps had to be taken. In 1954 a new housing act was passed by the legislature. Purposes of this legislation were:

1. Prevent the spread of blight into good areas
 2. Rehabilitate and conserve areas that can be economically restored
 3. Continue clearance and redevelopment of areas that cannot be saved.
- In order for the program to be effective, the federal government knew that large amounts of financial aid must be offered as an inducement to communities. Therefore, the federal government offered to pay two-thirds of the cost to this new concept termed "urban renewal." To insure that the federal money was well spent, the government of the municipality must draw up a workable program to combat slums and blight.

This workable program is concerned not only with treating sore spots and infection that blight has already produced, but also with preserving and protecting the community as a whole against the threat of blight. Before the federal government considers a project request from the local government, it spells out the seven factors that it requires be part of the workable program. These are as follows:

1. Adequate local codes and ordinances, effectively enforced.
2. A comprehensive plan for development of the community (Master Plan.)
3. Analysis of blighted neighborhoods to determine treatment needed.
4. Adequate administrative organization to carry out renewal program.
5. Ability to meet financial requirements.
6. Responsibility for housing adequately of families displaced by renewal and other government activities.
7. Citizen participation.

The opportunity that urban renewal presents is one that no community can afford to overlook. The benefit to the city is incalculable. Even the cost of the city's one-third portion will be reclaimed in seven years through the increased value of the area renewed. The other benefits derived such as beautification, proper land use, a long range city plan will cost the city nothing.

The inclusion of citizen participation on behalf of the city in developing its workable program, was not merely an idle gesture by the federal government. The reason is clear. It will take a great deal of interest and cooperation among the various groups and individuals before the city will be able to fulfill the requirement laid down by the federal government.

Every citizen should take a good look at this city, and he probably will see the need of supporting a positive program for enhancing the value of the city both dollarwise and esthetically.

Grange Cleanings

Tonight we begin our Grange meetings again after the summer vacation and I am sure everyone is happy to get going. Of course, tonight is pot-luck supper and everyone ought to come and see how our hall looks after having some much-needed improvements done. It is just fine now and it will be a pleasure to work in the kitchen. So let me urge all the old members, as well as the new ones, to be there. Supper at 6:30 p.m.

Remember the rummage sale on Saturday, Sept. 6, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. There will be someone at the hall Friday afternoon after 3 p.m. to receive your contributions. You may also bring them to the Grange Thursday night, if you prefer.

Remember also the degree work on Saturday night, Sept. 5, for 5th and 6th degrees at Sand Creek School, Lenawee county. Call Jesse Tritten (GL 3-6387) for your tickets and information regarding how to get to the school house. Here's hoping for a big response.

Fox Hills Country Club Stages Doe Day!

FOX HILLS Country club's first "Doe Day" golfing-luncheon event last Thursday proved to be a huge success. Feminine members came garbed in their zaniest and played real zany golf. These Plymouthites piling into a golf cart had a wonderful time: Front row, Mrs. Jack Ruland. Second row, from left to right: Mrs. Richard Papes, Mrs. Gerald Pease, Mrs. Norman Atchinson, Mrs. Alfred Truax, Mrs. Charles Sawyer. Third row, from left: Mrs. Robert Lidgard, Mrs. Elton McAllister, Mrs. William Covington, and Mrs. Joseph Quinlan. Mrs. Sawyer was the busy hostess for the golfing party.

BEWARE THE FLAPPER golfers might be heard before "Fore" in connection with this attractive quartet. Mrs. Steve Paslaski, chairman of the women's association of the club from Ypsilanti, left, had her guests decked out similarly to herself in fringed-skirted potato sack sheaths: Mrs. Harold Leemon of Plymouth, Mrs. Lawrence Skinner of Ypsilanti, and Mrs. Norman Burger of Dearborn.

"Does" ran wild — but actually — at the gala "Doe Day" at Fox Hills Country Club last Thursday morning, August 28.

This first such annual fun golfing-luncheon event for women members attracted a great number of Plymouth, Livonia, and Redford Township members and their guests.

Rules said . . . no men allowed on the course.

And good reason. Costume choice of the feminine club members would have sent the men in hysterics . . . or at least to see . . . a "Doc."

Arriving at 9 a.m. they came to the attractive beamed clubhouse in the zaniest get-ups possible. This all tied in with the zany golfing events they were to compete in later.

Mrs. Charles W. Sawyer of Plymouth was hostess chairman for the day. She greeted all arrivals in a balloon-skirted gym teacher's suit harking back to the pre-20's. She had borrowed it from the heirloom closet of member Mrs. John Quinn's mother, the latter residing in Port Huron. The old rubber had collapsed in the suit and Mrs. Sawyer had cheerfully added new elastic. She also tied up her blonde hair with a black "headache" band.

Mrs. Steve Paslaski of Ypsilanti, chairman of the Women's Association of the club, created a stir when she arrived with three guests for the event. The quartet were "flapper sack girls" . . . frisky in short fringed-skirted potato sack sheaths . . . wearing knee-length hose, baubles - bangles - and beads . . . and waving long cigarette holders. They were Mrs. Norman Burger of Dearborn, Mrs. Lawrence Skinner of Ypsilanti, and Mrs. Harold Leemon of Plymouth.

Mrs. Leo Hennessy of Redford Township, chairman of the "Doe Day" golfing fun, was the first one to have good luck teeing off the first hole with a baseball bat. She struck a mighty blow in her Roman toga . . . and was a picture with blood - spotted (fingernail polish) headband.

Just everyone outdid themselves in imagination to make this first "Doe Day" of the club a colorful event. Mrs. Ed Barnhart was a baby with the "mostest" — diapers, bonnet and bib outfit, king-size baby bottle and pacifier, plate, and tinkling bells.

Mrs. Martine Walther of Dearborn had a beribboned crazy glasses, striped romper outfit and an umbrella to end all umbrellas! It was mostly spokes.

Then there was an all-black togged "Chinagal" . . . an athlete with golf stick coming out of her helmet-ed head . . . a pretty ballerina in bouffant pink net overskirt and black leotards and lumberjack boots . . . a truthful lady with yellow mop wig and sign on her back: "I dreamed I played golf in my Maidenform Bra." Not to overlook the all-green "dream golfer" with green lipstick, Union suit, diving fins and antenna rod.

Coffee and rolls were served in the attractive dining room at red-checked cloth covered tables before tee-off time at 10 a.m. Then the "Doe" games began and play was like this for seven holes:

First hole — tee off with baseball bat.

Second hole — tee off sitting on toilet seat! (Really was a shocker to see a member awaiting the capricious golfers at the second hole where they all had to drink one brew first!)

Third hole — tee off between legs with your back facing green. Fourth — tee off with No. 5 iron wearing oven mitts. (The ones to hit the longest drives with this handicap won the mitts!)

Fifth hole — Play entire hole regular until arrive on the green; then putt around spikes on the green. Sixth hole — tee off and play entire hole with putter.

Seventh and finale — Play regular legs to green; then follow garden hose to hole without chipping over. Keeping track of putts . . .

A wonderful buffet luncheon was preceded by the service of punch for all the costumed players at 12:30 p.m. Summer flowers trimmed the buffet table.

Serving with Mrs. Hennessy and Mrs. Sawyer on the day's party committee were Mrs. Vaughan Smith of Plymouth, refreshments; Mrs. Alton McAllister of Plymouth, prizes; and Mrs. Robert White of Dearborn, "Doe Day" co-chairman.

Canton Twp. Barn Burns to Ground

A Canton Township barn was burned to the ground last week with a loss of some animals, the barn and much of its contents.

Canton firemen received the call at 2:22 a.m. Aug. 26 to the home of Allis Cummings, 5709 Haggerty Rd. When firemen arrived, the barn was in flames using 300 bales of hay and 200 bales of straw for fuel.

A riding horse valued at $400 and two hogs were trapped in the barn and could not be saved. Firemen pulled a panel truck from the area and saved a few tools but the barn and all its contents were lost.

Cause of the fire has not yet been determined.

Two pounds of peaches will make four 1/2 cup servings sliced and one 8-inch (square) upside-down cake or one 8- to 9-inch pie, say Michigan State University food specialists.

Contract Gets Commission OK

A bid of $233,007.45 by the Kutchins Paving Co. was approved by the city commission Monday night as the tabulated bids for the paving of over half a dozen streets. South Main Street, two blocks of Ann Arbor Trail, streets in Hough Park Subdivision and several blocks of Hartsough and Sutherland streets will be paved under the contract.

There were three other bidders, Cadillac Asphalt Paving, $237,662.05; A & A Asphalt Paving Co., $263,739.35; and H. J. Brighton Co., $263,790.75.

The contract calls for completion of Main St. from Burroughs to Ann Arbor Rd. and Ann Arbor Trail, from Main to Harvey, before Nov. 15. The other streets will be graded and a slag and gravel base laid this fall and paving completed before June 15 of next year.

A contract was also awarded to Ray L. Welch Co. for laying sanitary sewers and extending water mains in the Junction St. area. His bid, the lowest among four, was $17,698.25.

Hearings on special assessment rolls were heard on Maple St. (Sheldon to McKinley), Sutherland (Harvey to McKinley) and Hartsough (Main to Roosevelt). No objections were heard and the rolls were approved.

Police Youth Club to Start Fourth Year

An organizational meeting of the Plymouth Police Archery and Rifle Youth Club will take place next Monday night.

This will be the fourth year for the group that is directed by the Plymouth Police Department with the assistance of volunteers.

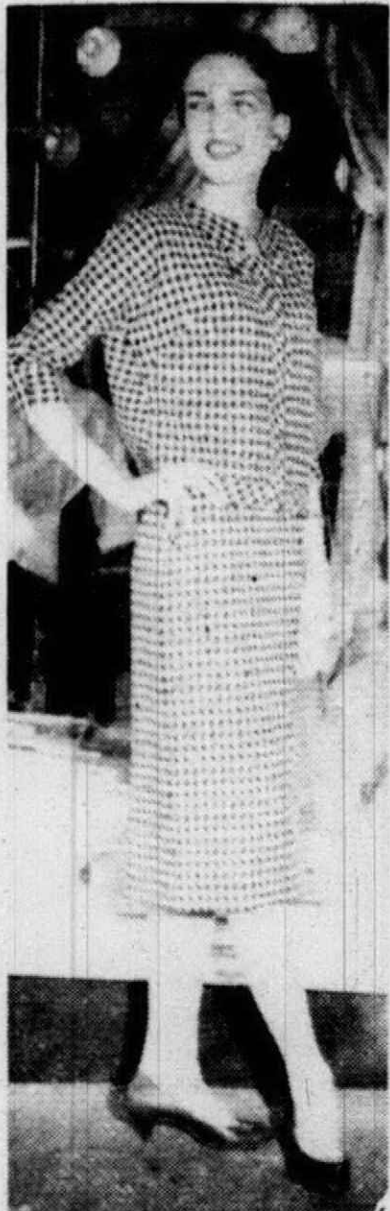

Monday's meeting opens at 7 p.m. in the Bronson Building, located in the Central Laying Lot. Any boy or girl 11 years or older can join the archery group while the minimum age for rifle shooting is 12 years.

Last year some 300 young people participated in the club's activities. There is no charge for belonging except for ammunition fired. The .22 calibre ammunition costs one cent a round and shooters use 20 rounds each week.

Police Chief Kenneth Fisher said that rifle shooting was the most popular when the club formed but that archery is now the larger attraction. A few youths participate in both archery and rifle shooting.

A schedule for the new year will be set up Monday night. The club is open to any youngster, no matter where he or she lives.

The Youth Club is a Plymouth Community Fund agency.

U. of M. Foreign Students Entertained By 11 Plymouth Families Over Holiday

The long Labor Day week-end afforded many Plymouth families the opportunity to entertain friends and relatives. But cars pulling around the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jacobus, 1396 Elm St., in Hough subdivision, Saturday afternoon bore guests of a most unusual nature.

Eleven Plymouth families picked up 19 foreign students from the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor earlier in the day and stopped by the Jacobus home for a social hour before taking their guests to their own homes for the holiday week-end.

Mrs. Jacobus, International Student Chairman had planned this entire week-end hospitality gesture under sponsorship of the United Church Women.

Several of these students were doctors and nurses who have just arrived in Ann Arbor for a year's study in public health. Part of their orientation program was a visit with an American family.

Greetings were extended to the students and their Plymouth hosts by Mayor and Mrs. Harold E. Guenther and by Miss Amber Van, counselor for the Protestant Foundation for International Students at Ann Arbor.

Celestine Fernando, chaplain from the University of Ceylon, was a most welcome guest in the Jacobus household, too, along with his charming sari-garbed wife, and two sons, Hiran, 14, and Chithranjan, 9 years old.

For over a year the Protestant Foundation had been negotiating to have Mr. Fernando come to the University of Michigan to share the ministry of personal friendship and counseling to students of all faiths and cultures on the campus. He is the first Ecumenical Ambassador — a term used to describe leaders from the church abroad who will come on one-year fellowships to share in the work on the campus with international students.

The family was especially interested in coming to Ann Arbor because of the facilities available through the University Hospital for the treatment of their younger son for cerebral palsy.

"This is our first trip here," Mrs. Fernando said, "and we have found it so interesting . . . the people are all so friendly." Hiran, will attend the 10th grade at the University of Michigan High School. His younger brother will go to Rackham School in Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Catherine Rhys, R.N., from Belize, British Honduras, and Miss Tuan Chen of Singapore came to spend the week-end as guests of Plymouthites Mr. and Mrs. George M. Chute.

Mrs. Rhys was an interesting conversationalist at the social hour at the Jacobus home. She mentioned leaving her family at home for a year to take up specialized public nursing studies to enhance her professional stature to assist her people. In addition to her husband at home, she has 18-year-old twins, Bernadine and Kent Rhys, and a 19-year-old son, Wayne. All three are college graduates, she reported.

Miss Chen is a pre-med student. She has been in the States since last October.

The Jacobus garden was in full bloom for the out-of-doors punch party for the visitors. Fragrant flowers were attractively arranged throughout the home, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacobus had as their personal house-guests, Mr. Shin of Korea and D. M. Shah of India, both engineers.

Other Plymouthites participating in this program were:

Mr. and Mrs. James Tidwell with guest Bhupen Parikh of India, an engineer.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing with guest Miss M. D. Mayers, R.N., from Barbados.

Rev. and Mrs. Perkins with guests, Dr. F. L. Mayor of the Philippines, and Shiv Dayal of India, lawyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Werne and guests R. Lopez Martinez of Paraguay, and Mr. Kapur of India, both engineers.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lyons and their guests, J. Shah and D. Medhta, both India engineers.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Light and their guests, Dr. L. R. Genuino of the Philippines and Mr. Chen of Formosa, engineer.

Mr. and Mrs. Tichy had as their guest Mr. Zabat of the Philippines, an engineer. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fisher entertained Mr. Rajabi of India, an engineer; and Dr. R. E. Elsenhout of Dutch Guinea.

Rev. and Mrs. D. T. Davies took Mr. Rana of India, an engineer, as their house guest.

Public Invited to Hear Of National Foundation

An open invitation to the general public has been extended to hear informed persons speak on the expanded program of the National Foundation, supported by the March of Dimes. The Foundation was formerly called the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The program will be presented Monday, Sept. 8, at the V.F.W. Post Room, 1426 Lilley Rd., at 7:30 p.m. A 11 Greater Plymouth area residents, including Canton Center and Northville, are cordially invited by the group.

Some counties in Virginia prohibit Sunday fishing.

THE ROY JACOBUS home on Elm St. was a busy scene Saturday afternoon when 19 foreign students from the University of Michigan and their 11 Plymouth hosts were entertained at a social hour. The students had come to spend the holiday week-end with the Plymouth families with all arrangements made by Mrs. Jacobus, International Student chairman for the Local Council of Unit-are Harold Fischer of Plymouth, left, Dr. Rudi Elsenhout of Sourinam, S. America; Mrs. Fischer, Mrs. Celestine Fernando of Ceylon, Rev. Fernando, visiting counselor at the U. of M., and Dev. Rajani of Savarkundla, India. In the forefront are the two Fernando boys, Chithranjan, 9, and Hiran, 14.

GARDEN PARTY conversation centered about the future plans of the students. Talking here with Plymouth hosts Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Light, were their week-end guests, Jamin Chen of For-

Green Meadows Battertons Return Home

(Covering the Green Meadows neighborhood, including Ann Arbor Rd., Main St., Sheldon Rd., and Joy Rd.)

BY MRS. ALVIN STACE
GL. 3-1929

At the publishing of this week's paper, summer vacation will be drawing to a close. This will find many of us with our vacation trips behind us. Our children will (we hope) be gladly returning to school and its round of activities.

Judy and Kenny Olds, children of Mr. and Mrs. Kenyon Olds of Ball St. spent a week visiting at their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Vermette of Pontiac. The Vermettes were formerly neighbors of the Olds family.

Mrs. Arnold (Katherine) Freeman of Palmdale, Calif., has spent the past month visiting in the home of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Allison. She was accompanied on her trip to Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Magnuson and their two daughters, Mrs. Magnuson is a granddaughter of the Allison family.

Helping to entertain Katherine are Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Burden and girls. Mrs. Burden (Adeline) and Katherine are sisters. She is to be met by her husband and son Gary on their return trip home.

Mrs. Baul Alberts with her mother, Mrs. Gwynn Fulton and her sisters took a weekend trip to Pennsylvania, where they visited relatives.

Mrs. Alberts also had a toy demonstration and a plastic party in her home last Monday evening. Several of her neighbors (including myself) and relatives were present. After the playing of a few games and the demonstration, a lovely lunch was served.

Mrs. Grayden Olson of Elm-burst, along with her daughter, Mrs. June Peterson, and son, Bobby, aged six, visited in Cincinnati, O. at the home of Mrs. Olson's son and family. Congratulations are in order for Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Frederick on the arrival of their third daughter. (See Birth announcement column.)

Sgt. Ronald Nowlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nowlin of Marlowe, with the United States Air Force for three and one half years, acting as Crew Chief in charge of his plane sailed for Lebanon several weeks ago. His parents are anxiously waiting for word from him.

Mr. and Mrs. John O'Connor of Ball St., had Mrs. O'Connor's mother, Mrs. Clifford Swarbrick of Garden, Calif., visiting with them recently.

A speedy recovery is a wish of relatives and neighbors of Mrs. Kenneth Felt of Marlowe. Mrs. Felt underwent surgery at Beyer Hospital in Ypsilanti Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown and family spent several days camping at Half Moon Lake near Ann Arbor. Friends from Ann Arbor camping with them were Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Graham and son Raymond.

Mr. and Mrs. William Batterton, their daughter Ada, and little granddaughter Debbie Lynn recently returned home from a two weeks vacation in Arkansas. They spent most of their time at the home of Mrs. Batterton's oldest sister in Washington, Ark.

A trip was made to Texana (a town on the border of Texas and Arkansas) where they visited another sister.

Visiting the Fitzners over the Labor Day weekend were Bob's cousins from Toledo, the Hermans.

The Bud Wilsons, accompanied by John and JoAnne Haman who have been visiting them, went camping over the weekend at Haze Park near Wampole Lake. They returned on Sunday because of the cool weather. (They weren't "roughing it" that rough.) Then on Monday morning they saw their visitors to the train.

"We fished, and fished and fished." This was Mrs. Upton's comment on their vacation at Bruin Lake. While there the Uptons got a chance to be together with Mr. Upton's parents and Mrs. Upton's father. The vacation will be one to be remembered — for Ronnie caught a pike which put him in his glory.

It's back to school now and since schooltime activities take a great deal of time, my newspaper career must come to a close. But before I go, I'd like to say "Thanks a million" to all the people who have been so friendly and cooperative in helping me to write the column. Good-bye and thanks again.

Fresh pineapple cannot be put into gelatin. It must be boiled and cooled before adding it to a gelatin mixture.

Y.M.C.A. camp Burkett was the chosen site for the annual Labor Day reunion of the Campbell Ave. Methodist church choir members and their families. Since my Mom (Doris Kuhns) was once a member, the family drove out to camp on Sunday. Even though the weather prohibited swimming, the delicious meals, rousing baseball, old friends, and a hilarious movie in the evening made it a thoroughly enjoyable day.

News from the Waldecker household, of Mill St. — Mr. and Mrs. K. is a b e t h, Mrs. Scarlet, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Waldecker visited the Ross family in Detroit. Millie Waldecker traveled to see her mother in Essex, Ontario.

We'd like to give a hearty welcome to some new families which have moved into Parkview Circle recently: the Jerry Thaden family, the John Battle family, and the Eldrich Raven family.

With hellos to new families, some good-byes are also in order: Leaving Parkview Circle are the Charles Palmers, the Coils, and the Harvey Coopers. Recently Peg Kauffman and Doris Sponsler were co-hostesses at a surprise coffee and cake gathering for the Coopers. Twenty-eight people attended.

Rose and Marty Kennedy returned Wednesday from their vacation trip to Pennsylvania and Niagara Falls. Young Marty went back to Olivet College on Tuesday.

We'd like to give a hearty welcome to some new families which have moved into Parkview Circle recently: the Jerry Thaden family, the John Battle family, and the Eldrich Raven family.

With hellos to new families, some good-byes are also in order: Leaving Parkview Circle are the Charles Palmers, the Coils, and the Harvey Coopers. Recently Peg Kauffman and Doris Sponsler were co-hostesses at a surprise coffee and cake gathering for the Coopers. Twenty-eight people attended.

Rose and Marty Kennedy returned Wednesday from their vacation trip to Pennsylvania and Niagara Falls. Young Marty went back to Olivet College on Tuesday.

Visiting the Fitzners over the Labor Day weekend were Bob's cousins from Toledo, the Hermans.

The Bud Wilsons, accompanied by John and JoAnne Haman who have been visiting them, went camping over the weekend at Haze Park near Wampole Lake. They returned on Sunday because of the cool weather. (They weren't "roughing it" that rough.) Then on Monday morning they saw their visitors to the train.

"We fished, and fished and fished." This was Mrs. Upton's comment on their vacation at Bruin Lake. While there the Uptons got a chance to be together with Mr. Upton's parents and Mrs. Upton's father. The vacation will be one to be remembered — for Ronnie caught a pike which put him in his glory.

It's back to school now and since schooltime activities take a great deal of time, my newspaper career must come to a close. But before I go, I'd like to say "Thanks a million" to all the people who have been so friendly and cooperative in helping me to write the column. Good-bye and thanks again.

Fresh pineapple cannot be put into gelatin. It must be boiled and cooled before adding it to a gelatin mixture.

Y.M.C.A. camp Burkett was the chosen site for the annual Labor Day reunion of the Campbell Ave. Methodist church choir members and their families. Since my Mom (Doris Kuhns) was once a member, the family drove out to camp on Sunday. Even though the weather prohibited swimming, the delicious meals, rousing baseball, old friends, and a hilarious movie in the evening made it a thoroughly enjoyable day.

Virgie Moore, and family, also Mr. Batterton's brother, Louie Ribbie, and sister, Elsie Pierce in St. Louis, Ark. On Sunday they attended the pastorate of a nephew, Rev. Alvis Moore in El Dorado, Ark. Mr. Batterton spent his time fishing while the women did their visiting. All in all it was a very wonderful trip aside from the heat, and they were very glad to get back to our cool Michigan weather.

A wonderful vacation was had by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cather and their three children Linda, Cheryl, and Randy. They spent a week in Northern Wisconsin with relatives on a 500-acre dairy farm.

There is a lake on the farm which has a floating island in it. Mrs. Cather says they have seen the island on different shore lines but have never been fortunate enough to see it in the middle of the lake where relatives report having seen it at certain intervals. The children had a very wonderful time around the cows at milking time, and watching the big machinery at work. Mr. and Mrs. really enjoyed the quietness of the country. On their trip they went via the Mackinac Bridge and took movies as they crossed over. Her comments regarding same: "It was very beautiful. Their return home was through Chicago via the new Calumet Skyway. Quote: "About as thrilling as the bridge." While in Wisconsin they visited the Menominee Indian Reservation.

Our best wishes go to Ira Cude of Northern who had the misfortune of nearly losing his thumb in a buzz saw accident several weeks ago. The doctor reports that he is slowly improving but is not sure yet whether the thumb will have to be removed.

Mrs. Marge Hoelt accompanied by her children and her mother, Mrs. Genevieve Wilson, and her sister Madeline spent last weekend at a friend's cottage at Barton City. They had a very good time fishing, swimming and eating.

We were very surprised the other morning when former residents dropped in to pay us a short visit. They were Mrs. Milton Haberer and son Nicky. Nicky had hoped to see our son John, but he was busy caddying. Mrs. Haberer (Jerry) will be remembered by her friends as the operator of Jerry's beauty Shoppe on Marlowe. The Haberers moved to California about two years ago where Mr. Haberer has been studying for the pastorate. He hopes to be in a church sometime this fall.

Visitors in our home last week were Mr. and Mrs. Verne Piper and son Stevie from Hansine. They took their little daughter Amy home with them; she had been visiting us for the past week. Our daughter also returned home with them for a visit.

The final score, according to some spectators, was 30 to 28. That was just a wild guess they pulled out of thin air. The spectators, composed of elder Kiwanians and Rotarians, disagreed about who got the 30.

No one would have cared particularly about who won the game except that there was some monetary consideration. The loser had to pay for the supper that followed the game. With a big bill for hot dogs, hamburgers and a watermelon facing the losing team the "friendly" game was turned into a vicious melee.

Things looked black for Rotary in the first inning when they got a look at the Kiwanis pitcher, Don Davis. Using a windmill pitch, Davis streaked the spheroid across with great rapidity — and even some accuracy. Rotarians managed to score twice in the first inning but they protested the use of the windmill pitch so vehemently that Davis was withdrawn. Service Station Operator and City Commissioner Bob Sincock was in the pitcher's box for Rotary. He hurled (this term used very loosely) the first four innings and on several occasions put the ball right over the plate. Jubilation was rampant when in the fourth he actually struck out a man, Bob Schultz of Bob's Paint Spot.

When he faced a fellow city commissioner, Marvin Terry, Sincock unleashed a ball three feet over his catcher's head. The umpire called it a strike. Umpiring was Frank Terry, a Kiwanian and Marv's dad. Later in the game, Terry ripped his britches as he pursued a ball around a garbage can in the outfield and then twisted his ankle in a slide into Rotarian, Bob Beyer on second.

Johnny Zittel, who is some four or five feet tall, caught for Rotary and then switched places with pitcher Sincock. He had to run up to the pitcher's box to get enough push to get the ball across the plate. Zittel's teen-age son, John Carl, got the only Rotary homerun, but he isn't even a Rotarian.

Homeruns by Kiwanians were too numerous to mention. Kiwanians not slaming a homer were just a nobody. On the Kiwanis team were Gordon Bunn, Harry Christensen, Bill Ehrlich, Fred Foust, Alby Lutkus, Bill Lyons, Marv Sackett, Bob Schultz, Frank and Marv Terry, John Wallace, Gene Kornfield and Webb Kincaide. Playing with Rotary were Charles Finlan, John Bell, John Zittel, Bob Sincock, Harold Guenther, John Carl Zittel, Jim Sponsler, Bob Beyer and Kiwanians Bob Meek and Lee Coolman.

Surprise player of the game was Mayor Harold Guenther who roamed center field for Rotary. He caught or stopped about anything that came his way, slammed a double and several singles and scored heavily on the victuals later in the game.

Workhorse for Kiwanis was Dentist Fred Foust who, mill pitcher back into the game under the cover of darkness and retired the side.

There followed considerable debate about who won the game and who should pay for the food. After democratically deciding to split the cost, someone discovered that there was no food. This brought on more debate. Finally a car drove up bearing the hamburgers, hot dogs and watermelon and this calmed things down again.

Both of the combatants are demanding a re-match — complete with scorekeeper. But they would like a little time to rest up and heal their bruises — a year, for instance.

Speaking of umpires, Rotarians were for some reason suspicious because all the umpires were Kiwanians. Kiwanis ran through a half dozen of them. Sometimes a Kiwanis umpire and a Kiwanis pitcher changed jobs right in the middle of an inning.

But fears of the umpiring were soothed somewhat when Rotarian Chuck Finlan was once called out at third. He later sneaked back on base and scored on a hit without the umpire uttering a word.

Kiwanians were probably leading by a magnificent margin until the final inning. With Rotary at bat, it was so dark that no one could see the ball. But somehow Rotarians started hitting. No one knows for sure how many Rotarians stole around the bases in the dark. The umpires had gone off in search of some food. Finally, Kiwanians smuggled their wind-

No Scorekeeper Complicates Kiwanis-Rotary 'Softball Game'

(Editor's Note: There's no more of a good natured rivalry anywhere than between members of the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs. This rivalry was carried to the ball field last week with the following account dramatically describing the terrible clash between these two mighty teams.)

It was a downright insult to the very name of softball, but that's what they called it when Plymouth's Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs faced each other on the dusty field of battle last Thursday night in Riverside Park.

Rotarians won the game — according to the Rotarians. Kiwanians have no doubt that the victory was theirs. There would, have been no argument had someone just remembered to appoint a scorekeeper.

One might say that it was a grudge battle between the two service clubs. Word got around that Kiwanians called the Rotarians "a bunch of old men who wouldn't even be able to field a team." There is some philosophical argument over "how old is old."

Rotarians in their 40's and 50's don't feel that they're too old, especially when they have some fellow members in their 70's or 80's. But Kiwanians were right about one thing — Rotary wasn't able to field a complete team, so two Kiwanians completed the roster.

The final score, according to some spectators, was 30 to 28. That was just a wild guess they pulled out of thin air. The spectators, composed of elder Kiwanians and Rotarians, disagreed about who got the 30.

No one would have cared particularly about who won the game except that there was some monetary consideration. The loser had to pay for the supper that followed the game. Sunday was the Canton Township Firemen's Annual Picnic. There were about 55 persons for lunch that included chicken, baked beans, potato salad and cake.

The charcoal and pop was donated by Jim Julian of Julian's Market at Canton Center and Ford Roads. The children had balloons to keep them busy while the firemen played games of horseshoes. Everyone went home tired but certainly not hungry.

It's your responsibility to drive slowly, carefully and be alert to every possible emergency! SAVE A CHILD'S LIFE! DON'T FORGET THE NEW STATE SCHOOL BUS LAW THAT REQUIRES YOU TO STOP YOUR CAR WHEN APPROACHING A STOPPED SCHOOL BUS FROM EITHER DIRECTION.

DON'T forget to check yourself as well as your car! Don't drive if you're overtired or sleepy!

DON'T leave your courtesy at home! Obey road rules, drive so as to protect pedestrians and drivers!

DON'T drink if you're driving! Even "one for the road" may make it the end of the road for you!

Fire Inspectors Visit Plymouth Next Wednesday

Plymouth merchants are this week being reminded that they will be visited next Wednesday by one of half a hundred fire inspectors and special agents from capital stock insurance companies who will be in town to make a fire hazard check.

Sponsored by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, the inspection will begin at 9 a.m. and will be concluded that afternoon. Every mercantile establishment, church and school will be inspected. Assisting the inspectors will be 25 Boy Scouts and city firemen. Plymouth Township firemen are also cooperating in the effort.

The inspection will be similar to one conducted four years ago. Inspectors hang a red tag at the spot where they find a fire hazard. The inspection is not compulsory, but merchants are urged to cooperate in the effort.

The public is being invited to attend a luncheon at the Hotel Mayflower at 12:30 p.m. at which B. A. Peterson, manager of Aetna Casualty and Surety Co. fire division, will be the speaker.

Springdale Subdivision on the west side of Sheldon which is being eliminated from the assessment because they have a ribbon drive dedicated to the city. "This had nothing to do if it benefits them," he declared.

He pointed out that a homeowner must pay $10 a front foot while industry pays but $13, although industry is getting the most benefit. He concluded by asking that the commission either assess the project to the city-at-large or make the assessments uniform.

During the discussion that followed, a report was read from City Manager Albert Glassford stating that an error had been made in omitting the Masserman-Springdale Subdivision entirely. Sides of three lots about the improvement, the report said, but the subdividers have agreed to pay their $1,800 assessment. It is asked that the assessment roll be amended to include the three lots.

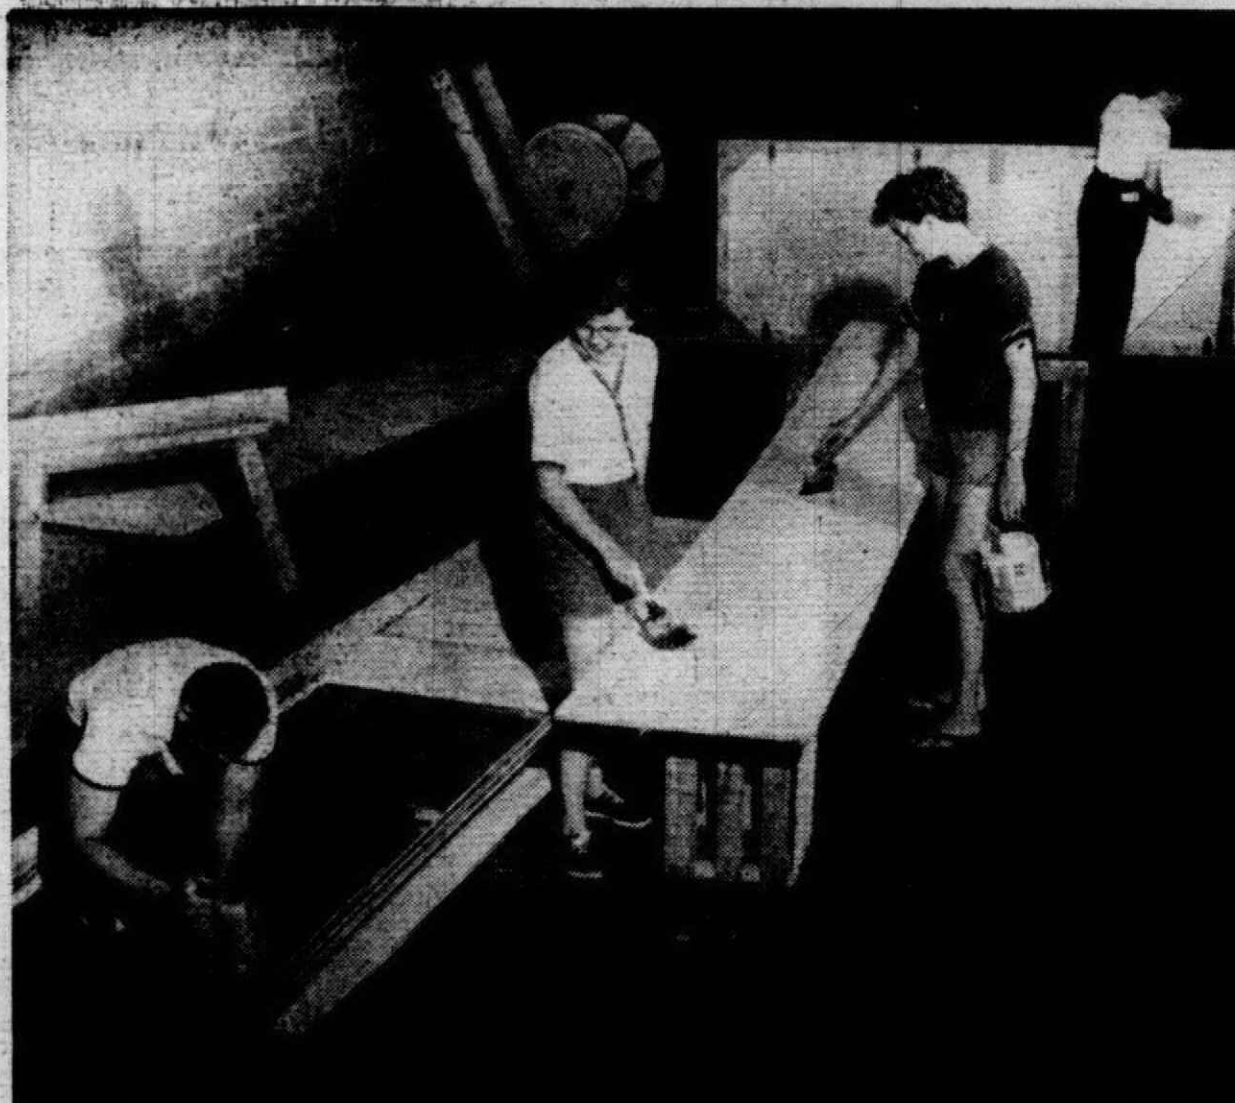

City Attorney Harry Deyo was asked if the assessment was in accordance with commission policy and the charter. Deyo pointed out that this is the first case of its kind facing the city. He reviewed the case, telling how the subdivision does not abut the project because the subdividers had dedicated the service street to the city. He said that it is the commission who determines if the assessment is of benefit to property owners and that the only way to test this decision is in court.

Mayor Harold Guenther noted that even if the Masserman Springdale Subdivision would pay full front footage on the project, the rate of $10 per front foot and $5 for side-yard footage would remain the same to others. The city-at-large share would be reduced.

Handwriting Expert Says Ford Was First Customer

By PATRICIA GRAY
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A man who called up and said, "Good morning, I'm Henry Ford," started a Washington woman on an unusual career.
Mrs. Lawrence Imhoff, wife of a former Ohio congressman, turns out inaugural, wedding and graduation invitations in any one of 27 different styles of handwriting.

She began her unique occupation when Henry Ford telephoned her "out of the blue" one day and asked her to inscribe important dates in the Ford family Bible.
Mrs. Imhoff thought it was a joke at first and replied: "Well, Mr. Ford, I'm Dorothy Lamour. What can I do for you."
Once convinced that it really was the late motor mogul, Mrs. Imhoff jumped at the chance to work for him, finishing the job in three days. No fee had been set in advance but she received a check for $500.
"He had a very nice signature," said Mrs. Imhoff.

Tips for Teens
By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Q.—"Dear Elinor: I am a girl 13 years old and my mother won't let me see or date a boy who is a year older than I am. She thinks he is 'big and tough,' but he's the most bashful boy I ever saw. His best friends are also mine and we are always in a group of four at school, but my mother forbids me to go out with him even in a group. What can I say to him? She hasn't even met him, but I've known him three months."
Ans.—Perhaps your mother is judging this boy entirely by looks which can be deceiving, or maybe she has heard something about him. But, in fairness to you both, she ought to meet him and talk with him before making up her mind completely about him.

Stop asking if you can date him and, instead, try to give her a chance to get acquainted with him. Do it casually when he walks home with you from school, church or a party. Perhaps you could invite him in for milk and cookies, as you would a friend (not as a date) and introduce him to your parents. Unless they forbid his coming to your home, they'll gradually get acquainted with him.

Then, if possible, invite him — with the other couple — to your home on a Friday or Saturday evening. If you progress this far, your mother might eventually overlook the year's difference in your ages (one year is so little!) and let you have dates with him in a group, or when she is at the wheel of the car.

Don't try to rush it. She might not object to your having him and other friends come to your home (and you go to theirs), although she doesn't yet want you to go "out" with him. So do it gradually; this will give both you and your mother more time to know him better — because she could be right about him.

(For help with personal problems, write to Elinor Williams at this paper. As many letters as possible will be answered in this column.)

Village President Bennett on last Saturday made arrangements with a Youngstown, Ohio, firm for the paving brick, to be delivered as fast as needed - the first car load to be shipped Monday and one every day thereafter. The brick are said to be of the very best quality and replace the order of inferior brick returned to another firm last week.

While objections are being made to hitchposts on the west side of Main street in front of the stores, we believe the merchants will make a mistake if posts or iron rings fastened in the cement walks are not placed. The farmers should be made to feel that they are wanted to come to town and you cannot make the inducement for them to do so too strong.

The first 17th District meeting of the year will be held in the faculty room of the Plymouth Community Center, Sept. 5 at 8:30 p.m. at Veterans' Community Center.

Being host let's have a good turnout for our new Commander, Dick Kelso and president, Maxine Kunz.

Winners in Department for Essay Contest will receive their awards at this meeting. They are: Julie Stecker, 16 years old; and Paul Jensen, 14 years old. We are certainly proud of our winners who won in our Unit, District and Department. We have been fortunate in having a winner in Department for the last three years.

The American Legion Passage-Gayde Post and Unit 391 is having their annual picnic, Sunday, Sept. 14, at Six Mile Rd., and Northville Rd. Plan to eat around 1 p.m.

your own service, milk for children (coffee will be furnished) and dish to pass. More information can be had by calling Fern Burleson, GL 3-3571 or Lillian Kinghorn, GL 3-3995. All will be receiving calls regarding picnic.

Save your clothes and what-not for the auxiliary is having a rummage sale, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 19-20 at the Veterans Community Center basement. For information call Fern Burleson, GL 3-3571. Also anyone who can assist in this project is requested to call Fern and let her know.

All members of the Passage-Gayde Unit and Post are invited to attend the initiation and installation of officers in the newly formed Price Brothers Post No. 521 of Livonia on Sept. 20 at 8 p.m. at their Post Home on Amrheim Road just off Newburg Rd.

The Auxiliary's next business meeting is Thursday, Sept. 25, at 8 p.m. at the Veterans Community Center. We welcome two new members: Patricia Speer and Lydia Argo, and hope to see them at our meeting. Membership chairman, Marion Kot reports that we almost have our quota (just lack 11 members). Dues should be submitted soon. Thanks to all the girls who were so prompt in sending in their dues.

Veteran Training Program Nears End: The vast educational program for World War II veterans, made possible by the American Legion sponsored G.I. Bill of Rights, is now practically completed, information received by Mrs. Mildred Hewer, Rehabilitation Chairman of Passage-Gayde Unit, shows. Of the 7,800,000 World War II veterans who studied under the measure, only 325 were still in school at last report. However, more than 500,000 Korean War veterans were still studying under the benefits of their "G.I. Bill" out of some 2,100,000 who have taken training under the bill. "These veterans' educational measures have had terrific impact on the whole higher educational system of the United States and have been of vast benefit to the nation," said Mrs. Hewer.

Dear Sir: It was heartening to read the letter from Mr. Frank that you published and also your comments on the Township refusing aid from the City in fire fighting. It was heartening to see public padding directed at the source of the dementia praecox currently emanating from the elected official of the Township.

The hysterical dictatorship that currently holds office in the Township must come to an end. As W. K. Kelsey in his column in the Detroit News pointed out last spring, if elected office is such a burden (as our elected representatives are always wailing), why do they consistently seek re-election?

They seek re-election because they like being empire builders and dictators. Why does Mr. Lindsay want an addition to his Township Hall except to perpetrate the image that he and his staff are indispensable? How can he go before the voters in November and ask for the authority to build the additional program for World War II veterans, made possible only if its fires but those in the Township to boot? The Township and everyone else could get along very nicely without Mr. Lindsay and his ilk. He does nothing for the voters and has the gall to say that his kind of government is cheap. He purposely uses every opportunity that comes his way to distort facts and to exhort his unwary listeners to feel HIS importance.

If fire fighting is so important, why not build a new station where it is needed in Lake Pointe Village? That area will soon become the most densely populated part of the Township and yet nothing is being done to insure its safety.

Does Mr. Lindsay (and every other Township supervisor in Michigan for that matter) realize that his days are numbered? Is that why he is so defensive and touchy and dictatorial? Is there some big material advantage that accrues to him outside of his official capacity that the voters don't know about and that he doesn't want to give up?

Responsible voters in all of Michigan will have the opportunity (and duty) to Vote "Yes" for Constitutional Revision in November and maybe with an improved and updated Constitution we will see the end of horse-and-buggy Township government.

DURHAM, N. Y. (UPI) — Men are buying more and more mix-and-match clothes and continue to prefer wool as a fabric, the University of New Hampshire Cooperative Extension Service reports.

Sales of separate sports jackets and trousers showed a one-third increase from 1951 to 1956.

Industry production figures demonstrate man's preference for all-wool fabrics or those made with a woolen base.

More than 90 per cent of the regular weight suits made between 1951 and 1956 were wool or primarily of wool. Wool also was used in 35 per cent of the lightweight suits made in 1951.

It was moved by Mr. Fischer and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing to authorize the Board of Education to borrow up to $400,000 between now and January 1, 1959, in order to meet necessary operating expenses of the school district before local taxes are paid for the current school year. Nays: None.

Superintendent Isbister reported that the offer of purchase with R. D. Willoughby for the ten-acre school site on Ridge Road had been negotiated in accordance with the conditions set forth in a motion of the previous board meeting. It was mutually agreed that the proposed site on Cherry Hill Road be abandoned because of the overhead power line and the cost of having it re-routed. It was further agreed that additional study be made by the School Site Committee for a proposed site in that area.

It was moved by Mr. Kaiser and seconded by Mr. Soth to approve the issuance of yearly employees, upon request, pay checks covering the 12 salaries for accrued vacation time. The checks are to be made available on the last day before the vacation period begins.

Meeting adjourned at 10:00 P.M.

Respectfully submitted,
Esther L. Hulsing, Secretary

Canton Twp.: Bridal Shower Sparks News

BY ESTHER SPRENGEL
GL. 3-0194

There has been a certain question popping up this week. As so many of you know, anytime now I expect to leave for the hospital to accept delivery of the latest Sprengel model. The question has been, "what will happen to my column?" I hope it will go right on (it won't be gone that long). There will be someone at my home to accept your news; the only difference will be that I will be unable to contact you for about a week. So call if you have an item you wish to appear, and until then my chatter shall go on.

A miscellaneous bride shower was given for Miss Lelah Bea Irwin, the future bride of Kenneth Pelhot of Plymouth. A huge umbrella made from ribbon flowers held the gifts, all wrapped in white and turquoise, the wedding color scheme. Thirty five guests attended from Alabama, Reed City, Flint, Lake City, East Detroit, Detroit, Livonia, Grosse Pointe and Ypsilanti. The shower was given for Miss Irwin by her aunt, Margaret Gay, at her home in Detroit. The couple plans to be married in September.

Miss Mary Naasko of Lotzford Rd., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Naasko is visiting in Lemington, Canada, for two weeks with her aunt, Mrs. Miriam Ziegler. This is Mary's second visit this summer to Lemington. Mr. and Mrs. Naasko and son took an overnight trip to Gaylord to see the Hartwick Pines. They spent the night at Mrs. Naasko's sister's log cabin in Lewiston.

A new daughter arrived in the Charles Watts' family this week, on Aug. 22 at 11:45 p.m., in St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor. Little Sherry Lynn weighed 10 pounds, four ounces and will reside on Beck Rd. with her parents and little sister Cindy Lou.

Mr. and Mrs. Arvey Heath and son of Ford Rd., spent last week-end at an Indiana "Homecoming."

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Poss of Maben Rd. have been very busy entertaining all summer and having corn roasts one right after another on their patio. Last week-end they planned a corn roast for former neighbors of theirs, 14 in number from Huntingwoods. Mrs. Poss mentioned that Reuben (Mr. Poss) has a 12 foot sunflower this year—if that was of interest. It sure is Mrs. Poss, and can anyone of our column readers top it?

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Bondie, of Ford Rd., are giving a picnic at their home Saturday and will be having weekend guests.

Mrs. Howard Moyer of Hanford Rd., called to see if we had recruited enough help for the forthcoming Foundation Drive (which we haven't), and upon further talk, I discovered that she and Mr. Moyer and their two children Marilyn and Kenneth spent a week in upper Michigan, visiting the Tahquamenon Falls. They took the trolley ride, took a walk through the Soo Locks, saw Picture Rock and visited the Sleeping Bear Sand Dunes. She said the children would have liked to stay at the Sand Dunes indefinitely. What child could resist such a large sand pile?

I received a note through the mail this week from Mrs. Marie Gentz, telling us all about the Wilkin Family reunion, which was held at Spencerville, O., on Aug. 24. It was attended by: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Basset and sons, Bob and Evan of Beck Rd., Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Duthoo of Ford Rd., Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wilkin and daughters Cindy and Martha, Mrs. Ruth Thompson and Gerald, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gentz and son Raymond of Hanford Rd. This was the first Wilkin re-union in many years and was attended by 80 family members. It was decided to make the reunion an annual event.

My sons have been trying to get in my column ever since I started to write it, but couldn't think of a thing to do. This week, however, two of them will make it. A joint birthday party of the family will be held for Mark, who will be celebrating his 10th birthday, Sept. 5, and Keith whose birthday is Sept. 8. Of course their brother Kim will attend. An outdoor picnic will be held Sunday, Sept. 7, and a joint birthday cake will be shared by the fellows. Guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Zabel, Sr. of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Zabel, Jr., and son Kurt of Livonia; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hilving and children, Kenney and Karen of Nankin Township; Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Karschick of Redford and their grandmothers, Mrs. Ella Cross of the township. Many happy birthday wishes.

Mrs. R. Dennison of Gyde Rd. reports that she and her family enjoyed a week at Torch Lake, just 20 miles north of Traverse City at the cottage of her father, William Travers.

Mrs. Dennison and children, Gene, Rae and Steve and her sister Mrs. Barbara Grunwald and children Tonie, Chris and Laurie spent the week at the cottage and were joined by their husbands on the weekend. The Homer Benoit of Canton Center Rd. and their two children, Ginny and Robert joined with Mrs. Benoit's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Southall, Sr. were vacationing at Pointe Pelee Canada and the two families joined them with a picnic lunch and a cake for the occasion. The Benoit's daughter, Ginny, is spending this week with her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Benoit of Schoolcraft.

We have some new neighbors to welcome to Beck Rd.: Mr. and Mrs. William Carter and children, Matthew, Beverly and Robert. We want to wish them much happiness in their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Forshee of Joy Rd. and son Eddie just returned from Michigan State University. 4-H judging in East Lansing. Eddie won a blue ribbon for his heifer at the county competition and took third place for the same heifer at the state competition. I understand from Mrs. Forshee that this is quite an honor or as state competition is very stiff. Mrs. Forshee said they hadn't taken a special vacation, but I know several little boys who think it would be heaven to have the lovely swimming pool the Forshees just installed.

Kit and Larry Ashmun of Ridge Rd. just completed a three week stay with their grandmother, Mrs. T. W. Pogue in Marquette. Mrs. Ashmun went for the boys last weekend and while there attended her class high school reunion.

Many of our new township residents—mainly the school set—have been wondering about their bus schedules out here. The schedule will be the same as it was at the end of last semester, until they know just where each and everyone of you are. Hope I have helped you, and your older neighbors will be able to give you last year's schedule on your road. So long for now, maybe I will be talking with you next week.

Coach Hoben Issues Uniforms to Sixty

Plymouth Rock held the list of regulars from last year's team who graduated: quarterback Ken Knipschild, halfback Dave Walasky, ends Don Albro and Harvey Wells and linemen Wayne Jordahl, Dick Paulger and Dick Anderson.

Walasky led the league in scoring and along with Anderson and Albro were voted to the Suburban Six all-star team. These boys will be missing when the Rocks take the field for their first game of the season, a non-conference grudge battle with Northville, who should be real strong.

Wayne Sparkman, Randy Egloff and John Salan, who as sophomores, played so effectively for the champions last year, picked up their equipment early and appear to be eager for another season. Ed Laroche, this year's captain, and running back is another one expected to have a good season. Other players returning from last year's team and supplying coach Hoben with a reasonably good nucleus are Bill Ruehr, Pete Woodard, Al Runge, Wade Schultheiss, Ron Turkett, Larry Wells and Jason White.

Last year's Jayvee team will provide some good material as Jim Herter, Dave Green, Dave Hauk, Clarence Lusk, Scott Soth, Jim Thompson, Bill Brown, to mention only a few, move up to try out for positions on the varsity squad.

Some idea of the rebuilding job to be done by the coaches comes from the list of regulars from last year's team who graduated: quarterback Ken Knipschild, halfback Dave Walasky, ends Don Albro and Harvey Wells and linemen Wayne Jordahl, Dick Paulger and Dick Anderson.

By BILL DILWORTH

Statistics released recently by John McFall, supervisor of the Recreation department's summer swimming program, reveal that this past summer's activities were very popular. Twenty-two thousand boys and girls attended the pool throughout the summer and the average daily attendance was 612 compared with 460 last year. In the Red Cross program, 200 beginner's cards were issued, 100 intermediate and 50 swimmers. Fifty junior life saving cards and 10 senior life saving cards were issued.

This was the first year for the triangular swim meets with Plymouth, Bentley and Thurston. The meets featured relays only and the age classification for both boys and girls were 12 and under, 13 and 14, 15 and 16 and an open age group. No girl was asked to swim more than 25 yards and no boy was asked to swim more than 50 yards. The average number on the Plymouth team ranged between 50 and 70 and their teams managed to win all six meets.

John McFall and his assistants are to be commended for their efforts on behalf of the youth of Plymouth. The success of this program is proven in the attendance at the pool and the enthusiasm of the members of the teams that represented Plymouth in the meets. Next year promises to be even better with more Recreation associations being represented in the meets.

Speaking of the Recreation Department of Plymouth the fall Program for Recreation and Adult Education has just been released. Registration begins on September 15th and continues until September 19th and the activities begin the week of September 29th.

Basketball—under the supervision of Jack Carter will start Monday, October 6th with the league starting Monday, December 1st. These practices will be held for men on Mondays and Wednesdays from 7 to 10 and from 1 to 3 on Saturday and for boys Thursday evening and Saturday morning.

Jack Carter will also supervise Badminton on Tuesday evenings with teenagers playing from 7:00 to 8:30 and adults from 8:30 to 10:00. Eight courts are available and everyone who is interested is invited to attend.

The swimming pool schedule is as follows:
MONDAYS — Family night 7:30 to 9, admission adults .50, students .25.
TUESDAYS — Women only 7:30 to 9, admission .50 includes free instruction if desired.
WEDNESDAYS — Father and son night 7:30 to 9, admission adults .50 students .25.
THURSDAYS — Open Swimming 7:30 to 9, admission adults .50 students .25.
SATURDAYS — Boy Scouts 1 to 3; Teen swim 7:30 to 9; Admission .25.

The Plymouth Community Schools Recreation Commission, which includes Mrs. O. H. Williams, secretary, and Russell Isibster, Herbert Woolweaver, Warren Bassett, James L. Herter, William Lyons, Claude Rocker and Robert Soth, have again made available a very fine program. Those who are interested should call or write to the Recreation office, Plymouth High School for further information.

There seems to be just a little bit of confusion in the scheduling of games for the play-offs of the Blue Division of the Michigan Intercity baseball league of which our Plymouth Merchants are members. At press time for last week's edition my informant on such matters assured me that the Merchants would be playing at 3 p.m. Sunday, August 31 at Riverside Park. He was not sure just what team would be supplying the opposition since a protest involving the Waltz team had yet to be heard at a committee meeting.

As it turned out Waltz was the team that should have provided the opposition but forfeited the game either Friday night or Saturday morning. Their notice came too late for the Merchants to line up South Lyons for a game. We hope that not too many people were in the same boat as this reporter who made a worthless trip to the baseball diamond. Unless there is more to this episode than meets the eye this Waltz aggregation should be severely reprimanded verbally and financially.

At any rate it would have been a kind gesture on someone's part connected with the Plymouth team to post a sign at the Park announcing that the game had been postponed.

My same informant tells me that South Lyons will be at Riverside Park at 3 p.m. this Sunday in what should be the final game of the Blue Division play-offs. All will be forgiven if the Merchants win this one in the accepted fashion without blowing any lead and without playing one bad inning after looking real good for most of the game.

(Covering the Newburg Area, bounded by Wayne Rd., Ann Arbor Rd., Lalonde and Joy Rd., including the Washington School area.)

BY MRS. EMIL LAPOINTE
GA. 1-2029

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Clayton of Mt. Vernon, Ill., were houseguests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Greenwood on Newburg Rd. The Claytons are former residents of the Newburg area.

Attending the Michigan State fair on Saturday, Aug. 30, were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pringle, Elaine McKee and Dorothy Pringle of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. John Chaney of Coldwater.

A family corn roast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Kreger of Gray avenue on Sunday, Aug. 17, was a fine opportunity for reminiscing of days gone by. Present for the event were Mr. and Mrs. John Kreger and daughters Susan and Ellen, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kreger, Mr. and Mrs. James Greenwood and children Denise, Debbie, Kim and James, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Edwards of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Howden of Joy Rd. have returned home after spending a recent weekend visiting with friends and relatives in the Traverse City area.

A farewell party for Dale DeCoster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur DeCoster of Ravine Dr. was given by Ann Pregitzer at the Pregitzer home on Richland Ave. on Monday, August 25, with the following young ladies present for the evening's activities: Sandra Simion, Janet Hocking, Janice Kenner, Kathy Gennis, Helen Belanger, Sue Overmyer, Karen Peterson, Judy Schaffer, Dorothy Love, Vicki Palosaari and Pat Joseph. The girls had a scavenger hunt, danced during the evening and presented their mutual friend with a parting gift.

On Tuesday, Aug. 28, before Justice of the Peace Foot of Canton Township, Jean Murphy and John Robert Johnson of Inkster were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony.

Serving as Miss Murphy's matron of honor was Dorothy Pringle. Best man was Leonard Johnson, father of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a white print street-length dress with white accessories and a white corsage. Her attendant wore dusty rose with brown accessories with a pink corsage. Miss Murphy is '58 graduate of Plymouth High school and resides at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Pringle on Blunk St. in Plymouth.

A farewell party with neighbors and friends in attendance was given for Eleanor DeCoster of Ravine Dr. at the home of Dorothy Dickie by Margaret DeCoster and Edith Gennis, Florence Peterson, Irene Overmyer and Georgiana Pregitzer on Thursday, Aug. 28. Guests for the evening were Jean Garneau, Jean Heilmann, Clara Leckner, Betty Cekel, Betty Kennitz, Marg Belanger, Jane Kenner, Stella Hocking, Carol LaPointe, Jane Denithorne, Elaine Kleinow, Eloise Mackinder, Alma Foerster, Betty Shelton, Dorothy Dickie, Neva Achor and Brownie Flaherty. As an indication of their regret that this fine family should have to leave the Newburg area, Eleanor was given an automatic percolator and stainless steel mixing bowl as a little something to remember her Newburg neighbors. The DeCoster family is moving to Fraser, sometime before October 1.

Miss Suzanne Gennis, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gennis of Joy Rd. has been visiting at the Gennis home for the past week.

The Rhoda circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Newburg Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. Harold Knapp on Farmington Rd., Tuesday, Aug. 26 with the following members present: Mrs. Robert Suda, Mrs. Harold Mackinder, Mrs. Emil LaPointe, Mrs. Otto Brey, Mrs. Donald Hoffman, Mrs. Glenn McGhee, Mrs. Everett Smith, Mrs. David Smith, Mrs. James Tomlinson, Mrs. Ralph Gray, Mrs. Thomas Leverton, Mrs. Sam Epley, Mrs. George Black and Mrs. Tom Waltz. Well, the summer is fast drawing to a close and I hope all of you fine folks have enjoyed yours as much as I have mine. Call me and let me know about your many activities, remember GA. 1-2029. See you next week?

Recreation Fastball

CLASS "A"
Joe Thibodeau of Cloverdale and John Harrington of Chevrolet tangled in a pitcher's duel that lasted eleven innings before deciding who would meet Wayne Dispatch in the semi-final round of the two-game knockout play-off series.

Pete Malone of Chevie won the game with a double to score Harrington with the only run of the game.

Both pitchers were stingy with their hits as Harrington allowed just three and Thibodeau five.

Chevrolet then moved over to Wayne to meet Dispatch and defeated them 8-5. They defeated Woolf Aircraft 3-1 in the first game but lost out 5-0 in the final.

Champion Homemaker of Michigan Resides in Lake Pointe Village

BY MARCY BARTSON
GL. 3-6729

Mrs. Loren Goodale of Shadywood Dr. is making the front pages again.

We didn't know until a week ago, but we have a celebrity in our community: Carole Goodale has been a winner twice in the Homemakers Contest of Michigan, which is held every year at the Michigan State Fair. The contest was started 18 years ago, and in that year, 1940, Carole came away with top honors. Then in 1941 she again became "Champion Homemaker." This gives Mrs. Goodale the distinction of being the first Champion of this well known and popular contest. Her picture appeared in a Pictorial magazine last week along with some of the other winners of previous years. The wonderful baked goods that are always on hand at Goodale's Delicatessen are due to Mrs. Goodale. When Loren first opened the store Carole did the baking, using the recipes for which she is famous. Now their son, Loren, Jr., continues on with the baking of the mouth watering cakes and pies.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodale entertained over 50 guests last Sunday. The buffet party was in honor of their daughter and son-in-law and children, who are moving to Bethel Park, Pa., this week. Bob is director of admissions for the Allegheny Technical Institute of Pittsburgh.

Tommy Abraham of 14437 Robinwood Dr. had a marvelous time one night last week. Remember those wonderful moonlight hayrides? Well, Tommy and several young friends had the fun of a corn-rod and hayride at Sand Hill Riding Stables Friday night. The ride took them over a private trail and ended at the clubhouse where the young people danced to juke box music. Must have been great fun!

The William Richards of Shadywood Dr. had a pleasant vacation this summer: Bill and Norma took the children, Billy, Lynn, and Bobby on a Bob-Lo cruise which they enjoyed immensely. A day of swimming at Kensington Park also was on the agenda. The rest of the time was spent at Duck Lake where Bill's parents have a cottage.

When Betty and Dudley Maher gave their children some seeds to plant this spring they had no idea what grand results there would be. Paul 6 1/2, Kim 4 1/2, and adorable little Susie 2 1/2 have it all made for the coming Halloween. They planted pumpkin seeds and the results are marvelous. They'll have a scary jack-o-lanterns necessary. Their corn is just about ready to harvest along with the tomatoes and a few green peppers. Kim presented me with a pretty bouquet of flowers from their own flower bed. Betty promised all the neighborhood children that if they kept off all the seeds and plantings they would have a grand picnic before school started. Roberta Orr made the same promise. This week the children reminded both Roberta and Betty of the promises, and of the fact that they had stayed off the seeds and everything was growing fine. The picnic was a glorious success. Almost all of the children in the neighborhood attended (well over 20). Betty and Roberta supplied all the things that make a successful "weenie roast" and from what I hear everyone was well "stuffed."

Have been informed that the Newcomers Club has changed the date for its first luncheon of the year. Due to the fact that the previous date conflicted with the opening day of school, the date has now been set for Sept. 11. The time will be 12:30 p.m. at Fox Hill Country club, 8768 North Territorial Rd., which is seven miles west of Plymouth. For reservations please call Barbara Holduc at GL. 3-7523 or Dorothy Becker at GL. 3-5163 before Sept. 8. Reservations are $1.50.

You were probably wondering what was happening down by the models last Saturday and Sunday. John Serasky tells me that 25 homes were sold in those two days. WXYZ was broadcasting from one of the newly

September is now on your calendar. Schools will be opening today and the new drama season begins for the year 1958-59. Eight shows have been announced by the Theater Guild - American Theater Society, Detroit branch. Actually, the Theater Guild is a New York-based operation with offices or branches in each of our larger cities. Mrs. Lillian Hicks at 320 West Lafayette is the subscription secretary for Detroit. She has indicated the following shows will be stopping in the coming season: "Romanoff and Juliet," "Look Back in Anger," "Two for the Seesaw," "The Warm Peninsula," "Requiem for a Nun," "The Night Circus," "Bells Are Ringing," and "Sunrise at Campobello."

Such an impressive line-up of shows would be well worth considering. If you are tempted to buy a season ticket, write Mrs. Hicks at her Lafayette address and she will quote prices for you. I can assure you that you will get a better price by subscribing to the entire series. Old George is busy trying to round up the necessary cash for his season ticket.

Of course, you'd better first put three dollars aside for the Plymouth Theater Guild membership ticket. This ticket will guarantee admission to all three shows. "Bell Book, and Candle" will lead the way in the fall; "Teahouse of the August Moon" is sure to make you forget those Christmas bills; and to end the season a bedroom farce "Wake Up, Darling" will keep everyone in a happy condition until the '59-'60' season starts.

Bob Houghton, along with Phyllis Kelly and their many co-workers, have promised to have all the scenery ready by the middle of September. Having the scenery ready for "Bell, Book and Candle" so soon makes one think the witches or hobgoblins from the play itself must have been helping. The scenery workshop out on Ann Arbor Road right next to the A and P Supermarket on the one side and the Dairy Freeze ice creamery on the other was in high gear the other evening. I could see what Bob meant when he said the scenery would be ready a month ahead of schedule.

He and Bill Hunter, a fugitive from Garden City who works out at the Chevy plant on Plymouth Road, were finishing up one of the last flats for the production. They were putting on some moulding. Jim and Ann Blackman came out to do some painting and pose for some pictures that Jim Sponseller was taking. Betty Houghton and George Spelvin worked on a poster to tell people what was going at the scenery workshop. Naturally, the art work wasn't "top drawer" but then old George is more at home behind a typewriter than with a paint brush. Bob Houghton said a lot of the steady workers on the scenery were on vacation, but he expected a full crowd in the coming weeks since the final coat of paint would be applied. "We can get a crew of women in here to slap the paint on. They love to daub in that paint," Bob mumbled as he shifted his pipe and continued to bang on the scenery under construction.

Bert Lehr, top comic of many Broadway shows, was in town. He has been out at the Northland Playhouse in "Visit To A Small Planet." Bert is one of the vanishing tribe known as our great comedians. Menasha Skulnik was at the Playhouse a couple of weeks ago. Those "old-time" comics have the happy way of making an innocent or perfectly plain line come alive. They can make you laugh by reciting the alphabet.

Mildred, young George, and I went to see "Uncle Willie." Menasha was the whole show. He had you laughing, crying, or slapping your leg with glee. It was a happy day when Menasha decided to do some shows in the American tongue. For years this Yiddish star did only lays in his native tongue, Hebrew. He was a New York star that just wouldn't tamper with a proven formula for success. Someone finally convinced him that the whole world should see his magnificent art.

A TV program called "Menasha the Magnificent" helped introduce him. Later, a play in English "The Fifth Season" brought him closer to millions of playgoers who had never heard him before. Ken Schwartz, the head man out at the Northland Playhouse, begged Menasha to come to Detroit. I'm sure glad he did.

Time to turn the house lights off for another week... see you in seven.

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

SIX BRIGHT young eyes watch in fascination as Mrs. Albert Pint seals up her famous homemade "Corn Relish" in the cheerful kitchen of her home on Schoolcraft Rd. The "eyes" belong to three favorite youngsters (from left to right): Johnny Pint,

5 years, her grandson: James Near, 6, and Guy David Near, 4, her nephews. Johnny is a frequent houseguest and those lively nephews were overnight guests when another brother was having a tonsilectomy.

Corn Relish Specialty of Mrs. Pint

"She's a wonderful 'do-gooder!'"
"Just the best cook!"
"And have you heard about her corn relish — just delicious — she makes it every year and practically gives it all away!"

These were the tip-off words from a friend of Mrs. Albert (Iva) Pint that prompted the MAIL women's department to seek out this charming Plymouthite and feature her corn relish recipe.

Mr. and Mrs. Pint, natives of famed corn country Iowa, moved to Plymouth 21 years ago from Detroit. They grow just everything in a five acre garden in their Schoolcraft semi-rural home.

It was Mrs. Pint who walked away with the 18 blue ribbons to be named "sweet-stakes" winner at the recent Plymouth A 11 - Community Flower Show sponsored by Plymouth branch, Woman's Farm and Garden Association. "I was so surprised," she murmured, skipping lightly over the golden rosette her gardening ingenuity earned her.

She is an active member of the branch, in addition to being affiliated with the Green Thumb Garden group, Plymouth Woman's club, and Our Lady of Good Counsel Church.

For the last three years her pet gardening project has been herb growing — she has about 30 different ones growing "flavor" in her garden. Every summer she cans "but not like I used to do with"

Plymouth's Fascinating Ladies Dept.:
She's a past master of one-half hour dinners. She's been a Plymouthite-about-town for the past seven years, calling a cheerful, many treed residence on Gold Arbor Road home for the past seven years.

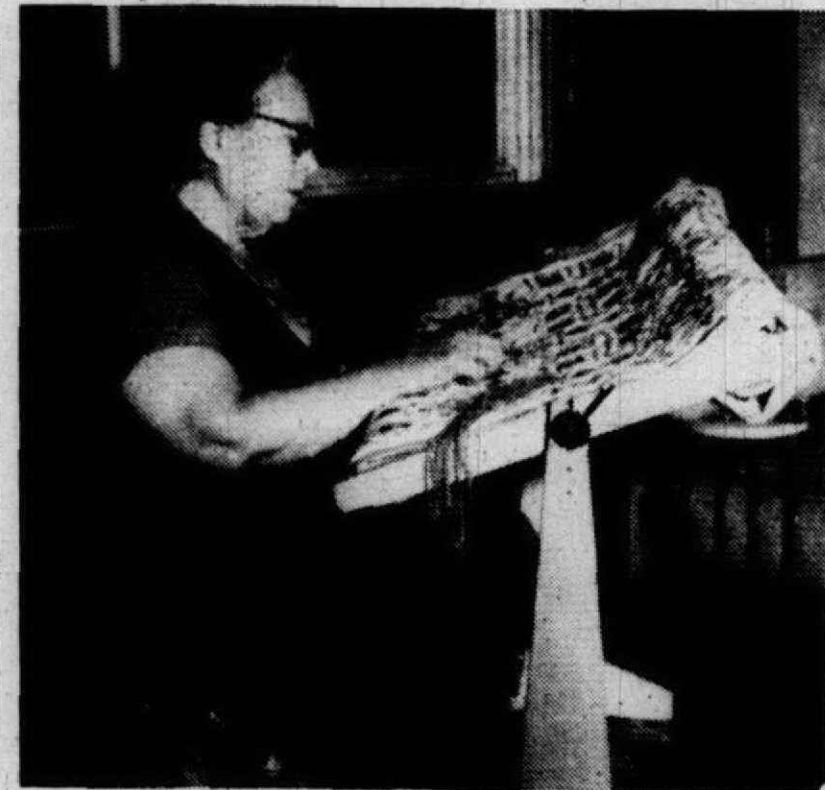

She is a New Yorker by birth . . . with three sisters yet remaining in Manhattan . . . one a patent attorney . . . the other the youngest school principal ever assigned there . . . and the third an inspired homemaker.

She herself is an artist twice over . . . first in oils . . . then in hooking beautiful rugs.

She took a fling as a lapidary student, too, (cutting and polishing stones) when she and family moved to Michigan 15 years ago and lived in Ann Arbor for eight years.

She taught three years in Plymouth's adult education department . . . the art of hooking rugs, that is.

She has filled the homes of her sons with much of her "arty" handiwork . . .

ARTISTIC Mrs. Frank W. Wilson spends many hours in her lower level "studio" in her Gold Arbor Rd. home hooking rugs. Here she's completing a charming Early American patterned rug for Mrs. Harry Roberts, one of her former pupils in Plymouth's adult education department.

She has spread her brand of kindness to such an extent that a Plymouth business man, wishing to remain anonymous called to say: "Why don't you write a story about Mrs. Frank W. Wilson? She's a wonderful woman!"

So now you know . . . about this fascinating Plymouthite . . . whose husband is technical director for the American Society of Tool Engineers in Detroit . . . and whose full address is 9610 Gold Arbor Rd.

Who's New in Plymouth

NEW TO PLYMOUTH are Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Drennan and their wonderful family of five children: Bill, 14 years; Michael, who'll turn 12 in October; Cheryl, 9; Patty, who'll celebrate being 8 years old tomorrow; and Johnny, 5. The Drennans moved here in July from Lakewood, O., and are temporarily living at 9414 Rocker. Vivacious Mrs. Drennan said they chose Plymouth because it's the center of Mr. Drennan's territory. — he handles Michigan and one Indiana city for Edwards Shoe Co. Bill, who is a model plane fan, will begin 9th grade studies at Plymouth High this week and Michael 7th grade work at Plymouth Junior High. Cheryl is enrolled in the fourth grade, Patty in the third, and Johnny, in the kindergarten at Smith Elementary school. Michael loves sports and also has studied the trombone while Cheryl puts her lessons to good use on their spinet piano. A new addition to this handsome family is "Suzi," a frisky pup. They'll affiliate with the First Presbyterian church here.

Teach That Youngster Bike Safety

A five or six-year-old youngster has only one thought on his or her mind — a bike. It has to be a two-wheeler, not the "Baby" tricycle, and parents usually find themelves in a battle until they give in, after a week or two. Unfortunately, to some many parents turn inexperience into a safety habit in handling a bicycle. At most, the only thought of safety is wrapped up in a brief warning to stay off the street and watch out for cars.

Introducing a youngster to safe habits when riding a bicycle needn't be time-consuming or a struggle. Actually, teaching a novice cyclist these habits can be fun. Various safety tests can be given by Mom or Dad in a driveway or a quiet neighborhood street.

For example, to make sure a youngster mounts a bike safely, give him a mounting test. This is done by letting him mount the bike and coast for 12 feet before turning the pedals more than half a revolution, and instructing him to look from right to left without watching his feet.

An inexperienced bike rider will be concerned with his feet, and by not looking where he is riding an accident will occur. A little practice will bring about confidence after a few days.

Teaching a youngster to avoid obstacles and to stop quickly are important. Both of these tests develop poise, decision and physical reaction.

For an obstacle test, a youngster should ride 30 feet on a straight path 8 inches wide flanked at 6 foot intervals on alternate sides with large stones.

without touching the stones. The purpose of this test is to teach a young rider to signal a pedestrian as to which way he is going. It also will teach him dependable perception.

Learning to stop quickly can be taught by making a young cyclist ride directly toward a sawhorse or rope, and having him stop 10 to 14 inches from it. This test teaches the rider how long it will take him to stop when riding at a certain speed. With practice, the cyclist will know how fast to travel in an open area or one which is congested.

In addition to safety habits, certain rules should be enforced with young cyclists, particularly those who are just starting. These are: don't carry another playmate on the bike; observe stop signs; do not ride between parked cars; pedestrians and automobiles always have the right of way; don't hitch rides; slow down, look and listen at all intersections and driveways.

Bike riding is fun and a healthful for youngsters. Parents have an obligation to make sure that their bike-riding youngsters know how to handle a bike safely and efficiently.

"LOOK, MA, NO HANDS" IS THE SORT OF bike riding that should be confined to the backyard. Teaching and testing youngsters for safe riding is essential before allowing them freedom of the road.

A NEW LOOK for an old house may mean a major remodeling job that is beyond the ability of the handyman. In such cases, the homeowner should check plans and estimates thoroughly with the professional before work starts.

Amateurs Can Be Costly

Getting a major project completed about the home does not always fall within the capability of the more - handy - than - average homeowner. No matter how apt a homeowner may be, there are certain home remodeling projects he can never hope to complete efficiently.

Where should the line be drawn in regard to home remodeling projects? It should be drawn when the project in mind involves any major work done on a room or rooms in a home which are necessary for everyday family living. This may be the remodeling of the bathroom, kitchen or a living room which involves plumbing, electrical or major construction.

How to hire the right help to complete a major project about a home is a problem to many homeowners. This has been brought about by builders who no longer care to spend the time on a small remodeling project, but would rather be active in new home construction. However, there has been a trend towards remodeling "specialists" who will contract an entire major remodeling project.

The best way to locate "complete jobbers" is to use the local newspaper business directory. For example, in any town of decent size, a homeowner can locate a firm that will contract for a complete kitchen modernization project. Kitchen remodeling is a job that should be left to experts.

A typical kitchen equipment firm begins by drawing a plan for a complete job and submitting a total estimate. This estimate usually includes cabinets and work surfaces, sink unit, appliances needed, wall and floor surfacing and painting. This firm will also handle the subcontracting of a plumber and electrician which is included in the estimate.

Another major home remodeling project that should be left to the experts is the bathroom. Actually, this type of job is for a plumber. He will provide an overall price for fixtures and the labor involved in installing them. Retiling a bathroom is not a plumber's job, but he will be able to recommend a tile contractor to handle this phase of the project.

Electrical work, as is the case with plumbing, is something that no homeowner should undertake; actually it is illegal in many communities. Because of the many new appliances available to homeowners, it may be necessary to re-wire an old home. Whether it's installing only one line and circuit for a new appliance or doing an overall job, a licensed electrician is mandatory.

Suburban Living

If Your Speedometer Jumps...

An indispensable safety instrument is the speedometer. Without one, a young driver endangers not only his life, but those of his passenger friends and fellow drivers.

Since so much depends on the speedometer, it stands to reason that it requires care and attention. Many of the late model cars owned by young drivers are equipped with a speedometer that has been operating for many years. This "over-use" can cause poor operation, inaccurate speed registration or complete breakdown.

Many young car owners are adept at fixing and repairing important parts of a car as they are driving it. However, unless a young car owner has a complete working knowledge of the speedometer, he should leave it alone.

The "lifeline" of the speedometer is the cable. One end of the cable is attached to a car's transmission, and the other end to the head which is at the dashboard.

Because of the heavy demand made upon the cable, it must receive adequate lubrication every 10,000 miles of driving. This lubrication must be of a good grade of graphite grease, lightly applied to only the lower two-thirds of the cable. If grease is applied to the entire length of the cable, the grease will work its way into the speedometer head and contaminate the gears.

If the instrument cable is neglected, the speedometer will become inaccurate, and the needle will jump every so often distracting the driver. Also, a loud ticking within the speedometer head will result.

Another problem that can beset a speedometer is the failure of the mileage wheels to register accurately, or to skip the return to zero after one of the barrels makes a complete revolution. This condition may be due to a weak spring within the instrument head, or grease that has leaked up through the cables into the gears.

If the speed needle wavers or jumps, then the trouble may be due to one of three things: grease, binding of the gears within the instrument head, or poor functioning of the magnetic drive which is responsible for moving the needle smoothly according to the speed traveled.

Too many drivers, the experienced as well as the young driver, take an accurate speedometer for granted.

MAKE THE MOST OF THE LEGGY LOOK...
ALL EYES ON THE LEGS

With waistlines down and hemlines up, with tinted hose and vivid shoes, legs take to the limelight.

Every day, use lotion on your legs, to keep them well-groomed. Pay particular attention to unsightly rough spots on heels, ankles or knees. Use a pumice stone if need be on callused heels.

Every week, de-fuzz legs with a depilatory or razor, followed by a soothing application of lotion.

To relax tense or tired muscles, massage legs from ankle to knee with long, gentle strokes. By massaging with Trushay, legs will be soothed and smoothed, too.

To flatter legs inclined to be heavy, choose hose in the new muted tones of blue, green or grey. Darker shades make legs appear slimmer.

Goodwill Aids Widow In New Life

United Press International
INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)

A grieving young widow who once turned toward the ministry in a search for a new life today is unofficial chaplain for hundreds of persons, all with double troubles.

When Margaret Ann Foster's husband died in 1934 she discovered a new future plans would have to be changed.

"At first I thought I wanted to be a minister, then sometimes I wanted to go into social work" the blue-eyed widow said of that past period of personal turmoil.

"I wanted to find a way to make up my mind so I applied for a summer job at the Goodwill Industries in Indianapolis. Dr. Lytle (Howard G. Lytle, executive director) said he didn't have anything at the moment except as a substitute teacher for a week at the kindergarten. So, for a week, I poured milk for the pre-school children."

The week has stretched into 22 years and Mrs. Foster still is with Goodwill, but no longer pouring milk. Her title is personnel director. Each day she consults with jobless, physically handicapped persons who have turned to the unusual organization for jobs after being rejected by other potential employers.

"I've never been sorry I stayed" Mrs. Foster explained, as she talked about other people's problems. "I have everything with this."

Sometimes she conducts chapel services which start the day at Goodwill's "factory." Often she needs her social service training. Even as she talked, an emergency arose. A new employee had been arrested for a theft committed while he was intoxicated. If Goodwill would take him back, the jail sentence would be suspended.

In Indianapolis, Goodwill averages about 500 employees. The aim is to train as many as possible for jobs in regular commerce and industry. Cast-off clothing, furniture and other materials donated by the public are their work providers. Goodwill Industries, now 56 years old nationally, has stores and factories in most major American cities and several foreign ones.

The ailments which jobless persons bring to Goodwill are many and Miss Foster and her associates must consider each individually. Some are in wheel chairs, others walk with braces or crutches. Currently the Indianapolis Goodwill is site of an experiment in the effect of work on the emotionally disturbed.

Curry Pinwheels Glamorize Ground Beef

Ground beef pinwheels with curry sauce make a tasty and economical entree for your table.

Curry Pinwheels not only glamorize ground beef, but they are also economical. The "no-lump" curry sauce is delicious, too.

Both use nonfat dry milk to add flavor and valuable nutrition to the menu. It is actually the heart of the milk and is very inexpensive.

Curry Pinwheels (6 servings) Three tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 1 1/2 pounds ground beef, 2 instant nonfat dry milk powders, 1/2 cup instant nonfat dry milk powder, 2-3 cup water.

Melt butter in skillet; remove half of the butter.

Saute onion and meat in remaining butter until browned. Combine biscuit mix and instant nonfat dry milk powder. Add water; stir quickly, only enough to dampen ingredients. Roll on a floured board to a rectangle 1/2-inch thick. Spread meat mixture over dough. Roll up jelly-roll fashion; seal ends with a little of the remaining butter. Cut into six slices; place on greased baking sheet. Brush with remaining butter. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F) 15 minutes. Serve with Curry Sauce.

Petite Furnishings Spark Present Decorating Trends

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The new trend in home furnishings is toward smaller, more flexible pieces which allow for added spaciousness.

The reason: Homes today are smaller, because of rising building costs.

The new trend was emphasized at the opening of Los Angeles' 12-story furniture mart.

One firm displayed furniture that stacks. Another showed "space-savers."

A third featured multi-purpose pieces. The Brown-Saltman firm displayed a double purpose magazine corner table and a "Ta-Buffet," which functions as a buffet but converts into a small or large table.

California Couch showed a corner grouping, consisting of two couches, one of which slides under a corner table.

The Donnenfeld Co. presented contour stools which can function as a bench.

The emphasis on new materials centered mainly on plastics, both laminated and fabrics.

They were so carefully executed on table and cabinet tops that they were hard to distinguish from the actual veneers they emulated.

There was a growing use of silicone-treated fabrics. And for the first time, colorful enamels were used to accent furniture and lamps.

Buyers noted a swing to dark woods, mainly walnut, although teak and rosewood came in for their share of use. Maple continued to be used for provincial pieces, but in general California designers seemed to prefer walnut.

Light, small furniture prevailed. The manufacturers explained that if a homemaker desires massiveness, she generally can create it by grouping together several pieces.

Pressing Family Wardrobe Can Be Comfortable Chore

One thing that cool weather means is more clothes that will need pressing between wearings. Pressing is a hot job any time of year so it will pay to check equipment and methods to make this unavoidable chore as comfortable as it can be.

People have been pressing clothes for years with dry heat irons. For this job, the modern steam iron really comes into its own. However, a dry iron plus a press cloth can be used on any material, but there are some exceptions to pressing with a steam iron.

The steam iron is particularly good at easing the job of pressing woolens. It is also excellent for silk and rayon. But manufacturers' directions should be checked before nylon, dacron, orlon and other synthetic fabrics are pressed with a steam iron. An steam iron will not prove as satisfactory as a dry iron for pressing linens and most cottons.

No matter which type of iron is used, the other equipment for pressing must add up to comfortable working. Equipment includes a padded ironing board, a sleeve board, a seam roll and press cloths.

A seam roll allows seams to be pressed open without leaving a mark on the right side of the garment. It can be purchased, or it can be made at home. To make one, roll magazine tightly and cover it with a piece of muslin sewed together tightly and cover the muslin with wool. Or cover an extra wooden rolling pin with wool to give the hard surface necessary for seam pressing.

Several press cloths might be torn into convenient size from worn muslin sheets or other household linen. A piece of woolen material is desirable for pressing woolen clothes. Tuck the press cloths away where they will be convenient. To avoid staining, always use only clean cloths, so wash them out occasionally and dry in the sun.

Press cloths are not needed with a steam iron. Turn the article wrong side out, lay the damp press cloth over part of it and press lightly with the warm or hot iron. Then remove the cloth and press lightly with the iron until all traces of wrinkles and dampness disappear.

The article being pressed should only be dampened on the surface, not wetted, by the press cloth. The cloth itself, therefore, must be damp but not wet. One certain method of dampening is to fold the clean cloth in half, then in thirds. Put on-third of the cloth in water and then fold it between the other two-thirds. Wring out the cloth and it's ready for use.

Dates are great when served with cereal or in salads, and go with muffins and other baked foods. They're fine for eating out of hand too, according to your Detroit Consumer Marketing Agent.

Start Now For 'Dream Home' Look

Fall is the exciting, curtain-going-up-time on the home stage. There's a pleasurable thrill of anticipation in every homemaker's heart at the prospect of the holiday season ahead... the gay whirl of social activities and the long winter nights when the family circle draws closer at the hearth side.

Fall is the time to beautify your home with new furnishings that spell gracious living and hospitality. And, this Fall of '58 is the ideal time to fulfill your wishes for a dream home.

The new furniture collections are overflowing with beautiful new styles, ranging from contemporary modern to the most elegant traditional. Best of all, this new furniture has been created to sell at modest prices.

Whether you spend a little or a lot on new furnishings, you'll be delighted with the endless variety and excellent value of the new furniture.

What you plan to do to enhance your home's beauty is a purely personal matter, depending on your individual taste and your family's living needs.

There are no hard and fast rules. If you feel more at home with modern, you will be enchanted with dramatic room dividers... clean-line upholstered furniture... functional HI-FI and other chest units. You'll be intrigued with correlated furniture that blends every room in the house into a harmonious whole.

If you're a lover of traditional... you're in your element.

Today's designers have delved deep into the past to give you authentic reproductions of famous furniture fashions. Eighteenth-Century Enlish, Early Colonial, Biedermeier, Empire, French and Italian Provincial share the limelight. Even Oriental and Spanish-Moorish designs have been skillfully adapted to America's living scene.

EAST MEETS WEST in a dining room designed to adapt to the needs of the American family. The unique window wall treatment of gray-and-white spattered Venetian blinds, offset by Shoji panels, lends a serene quality to this exquisite oriental-influenced room.

If you're a true traditionalist, you'll applaud the revival of cherry and pine... revel in the wealth of mellow maple and handsome mahogany. Happily, there are no limitations. Your home doesn't have to conform to a fixed pattern... all modern or all traditional. Frequently, the most attractive and liveable home combines the past and present in perfect harmony.

Treasured heirlooms have a knack of fitting into a modern decor with surprising ease and telling effect. A few well-chosen modern pieces have the same happy faculty in traditional rooms.

HANDWRITING

Tells About Yourself

By LUCILLE WILLIAMS

Dear Lucille:
Please tell me something about my handwriting, what does it reveal to you? My handwriting is so untidy and seems to me haphazard so I hope you can make it out.

Mrs. Dorothy C. S.
Dear Mrs. D. C. S.:
Thank you for the compliment, space does not permit your complete letter.

You are a person of poise, good judgment and a cool calm nature.
You are philosophical in your thinking and reach up. What others say may not always interest you, but you'll listen and benefit from them.

There is dignity and pride about you and what you do. You're very literary. You could or do write and have creative tendencies, also a fine imagination to go with it. A pretty good memory and a tendency for minor details is a help to your writing ability.

You appreciate music, have some sensitivity and a desire for activity.

You have three minor traits, an effort at self control, sometimes putting off what could be done today, and not always expressing what you feel.

Dear Lucille:
Please analyze my handwriting, I follow your column weekly and enjoy it very much.

Ann V.

Dear Ann V.:

You will show your feelings as they are, if you're glad, mad, or indifferent. Nothing bottled up within you. Routine tasks can be very boring to you and you like a little variety. You're not sensitive and can take criticism. You have pride however but it's not easily hurt. Whatever you do you like it done well.

A tendency toward spending and acquiring new things makes you not the conservative type.

You enjoy music and appreciate rhythm. There is an aggressiveness trait here that shows you want to advance and look forward. You see things with an open mind. You're not one to change your mind once it's made up.

Dear Lucille:

I am a high school student and would like to know what you see in my handwriting. I think the column is very interesting and hope you'll use my letter.

Ray D.

Dear Ray:

You are quick to show your feelings, whether good or bad. You express your emotions just as you feel them. There's sensitivity here and you want others to think well of you. You have a lot of pride and like to do your best.

A daydreamer if I ever saw one, your thoughts are way in the future but for a high school student at least you're thinking ahead.

Sometimes you're quite self-conscious and tighten all up but I'm sure with your spiritual thinking you can get yourself out of any situation. You're pretty emphatic when you want to be and couldn't be very easily led - in fact your organization ability is very good - you would be the leader.

You are generous with caution - in other words if it will benefit you or is worthwhile you will be generous.

(Anyone desiring an analysis, write to this newspaper, in care of "Handwriting.")

THINGS HAVEN'T CHANGED MUCH—The modern mobile transport equipment of U.S. Marines halts while several desert ships pass by in Dikily, Turkey. Camels have been used by Middle Easterners since ancient times to transport goods and an international crisis or two isn't going to change things.

A graduate of Arthur Hill high school in Saginaw, Kane received a B.A. degree from Albion college. He is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity. Mr. and Mrs. Kane and their two sons, William 11, and Stephen 7, reside at 1456 Sheridan avenue in Plymouth.

LONDON — (UPI) — "Nagging wives and crotchety mothers-in-law" have drawn the ire of a British psychiatrist. In coming to the defense of males, Dr. Desmond Curran told a medical congress recently that such women can cause a man to fall apart faster than an unpleasant job — or almost anything else.

Shame on Sam!

Our citizens have drifted a long, long way in recent years in their toleration of cynical, sophisticated politics. A real honest-to-goodness idealist is as out of place in politics today as long underwear at the Follies Bero-gere.

This we've known for a long time, but a refresher course was given the public last week when it was revealed that Sam Olsen, the dashing young Wayne County Prosecutor, had accepted $11,000 from the Teamsters to fortify his campaign for re-election.

It's the background that makes this case interesting, not to mention the obvious idea that a Prosecutor (in the movie version, at least) is pre-supposed to be a fearless fighter above all reproach, unnumbered by ties to any pressure group.

Olsen primarily was the CIO candidate. This, you remember, is a well-disciplined outfit which tolerates no political guff from the ranks. It has control of many Democratic districts, and calls every shot for the District in our area, the Seventeenth.

In the 17th District the word came down early, and it was enforced, that Olsen was to be the man, no matter what. Ralph Garber of Plymouth, a former assistant prosecutor and a key man in the particular picture, ran a fellow named O'Brien as an opponent to Olsen, but the opposition was badly plastered in the voting.

At the same time, the CIO waxes indignant over the Teamsters. They are foes. The Democrats "want no part of Mr. Hoffa" or Teamsters.

They, we are assured, are unprincipled. Teamsters are a threat to clean unionism and clean politics.

Nevertheless, Olsen is to be backed by all "loyal Democrats" in the 17th District. Why? Just because, that's why.

Anyone in politics knows that the Teamsters have been tossing money into local campaigns out here in Western Wayne County, and many other places, for years. It shows up both in Republican and Democrat coffers. Sometimes opposing candidates have both enjoyed such enrichment at the same time.

So it isn't any surprise to the old pros, that a Teamster contribution was made in the Prosecutor's race.

But normally this is kept pretty much a private secret. Candidates don't go around bragging about such support. Hardly anyone on the inside would attempt to sell the idea to the public that the Teamsters contribute their money just as a hobby — for good, clean sport.

Despite this, the news leaked out on Olsen. He shrugs it off as of no consequence. His fighting Demo-CIO machinery gulped hard, told the fighting prosecutor he should be ashamed of himself, and continued the campaign. It's "Olsen for Prosecutor." Can't change now. The signs are all printed.

Sophisticated politics? The news has created hardly a murmur of public protest. Olsen will win by a landslide and once again become the chief law enforcement officer of one of the biggest Counties in the nation.

"Life Begins at Forty"

By ROBERT PETERSON

OPPORTUNITIES IN SMALL TOWNS for skilled retirees is, I believe, well worth looking into. Someone should make a survey along these lines. I think it would reveal more job openings than most of us might expect.

Many small towns are limping along with very meager services for their citizens. In hundreds of quiet villages there are no plumbers, electricians, hairdressers, barbers, or practical nurses. There are no dry cleaning or laundry facilities and no shoe repair shops. And there are no decent coffee shops for hungry travelers. People have to go to the next town to get these services. Of course, retirees wouldn't get rich offering these services, but they'd have something productive to do and could supplement their pensions.

Small towns may also offer jobs for skilled retirees. I was in a mid-western village a few months ago and talked with the head of a small factory who was bemoaning his inability to hire competent accounting help at wages low enough to permit him to make a little money. I suggested that he try and scare up a retired office worker in a near-by city who might like to get back into debits and credits. He's just written me saying, "I advertised for a retired accountant and got a half a dozen responses. I've hired a man of 68 who was glad to move to our town even though I pay him only $30 a week. He works four hours a day, but does as much work as our former bookkeeper did in eight."

Then there's Publisher Robert W. Chandler of The Bulletin in Bend, Oregon — a town of 12,000 — who writes in a recent issue of "The Quill" that, "One of our best staff acquisitions in recent years is an old-timer named Don Higgins who decided the newsroom life in Chicago and New Orleans was too fast for him. The life in Bend is not exactly slow, but it's a change, and for the better as far as Higgins is concerned."

Chandler went on to say that "Small town papers can take advantage of the retirement programs of big city papers and use those pensioned staff members who are still productive and want to continue working."

No doubt some city retirees would just as soon die of frustration as move to a small town. But many retirees are fed up to the teeth with the pace and costs of city living and would welcome a niche in a small town where they could put their skills to productive use and get more mileage out of their pensions.

SMALL TOWNS INTERESTED in growth and expansion should make a special pitch to attract retired city dwellers. Alert and capable retirees could revitalize many of the sleepy towns around the country which are presently languishing simply because they lack the skills and talents which the city retirees possess.

Answers Adm. Rickover

'Dewey Education' Backed

(Rear Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, in a recent interview with United Press International, strongly attacked progressive or "the Dewey school" of education and warned that it was weakening the nation. In the following dispatch, written at the suggestion of UPI, one of the U.S. pioneers of progressive education, an ardent advocate of the principles of the late John Dewey, replies.)

By WILLIAM HEARD KILPATRICK
Emeritus Professor of Education
Teachers College, Columbia University
(Written for United Press International)

Admiral Rickover states as his fundamental conception that "the main function of schools" is not to "adjust" to life, but "to impart knowledge" to children and youth.

Such an assertion belongs back in the pre-Darwinian era.

Charles Darwin in 1858 gave the intelligent world a new thought outlook, specifically a new conception of behavior and of the place of thinking, namely that behavior is, and properly must be, the effort to meet a life situation, and that the function of thinking is to help carry on life in the best possible way.

William James and John Dewey extended this idea of behaving and thinking into education as a further effort to meet life's needs.

The Admiral's outmoded conception of education still holds widely in Europe, where education is not so thoroughly studied as in the U.S. Europe widely holds that education exactly consists in imparting knowledge to the young and this for the sake of scholarship.

France probably still holds to this more strongly than any other country; the result as we have recently seen is not too good.

The proper aim of education is life itself, to make life as fine and as rich as we can. Knowledge is an essential to this, much thoughtfully digested knowledge.

But life is ill-served by memorizing book knowledge. Our better elementary schools and our too few better secondary schools teach more knowledge and teach it better than did the older type schools. These better schools aim at life, at all-round character, not simply at book knowledge; and they develop a richer and better character for meeting life's needs than did their predecessors.

Three specific sources are here quoted in support of the assertions just made.

1. Dr. Ralph Tyler, America's foremost student of educational evaluation, says explicitly, on the basis of definite tests that sixth grade pupils today equal the eighth grade pupils in the 20's.

2. Dr. George D. Strayer, who has surveyed more school systems than anyone else in the U.S., says: "On the fundamentals: children today are doing much better than their fathers and mothers or grandparents did. They are reading more and they read better; they spell better and they are as competent in the fundamentals of arithmetic as any other generation, and they write better and more interestingly than their parents did."

3. The Eight-Year Study, which was supported by interested corporations to the extent of $600,000, gives the following report for the graduates of the six most modern type high schools in its study after they had graduated four years later from college. The comparison is with a like number of college graduates equal in all respects except that the latter had attended typical non-progressive secondary schools:

"Consistently high academic averages and more academic honors . . . clear-cut superiority in the intellectual intangibles of curiosity and drive . . . the intelligence and ability to think logically and objectively, and active and vital interest in the world about them . . . (They were) more frequently concerned with democratic values and the importance of assuming their share of responsibility for the general welfare . . . more often cooperative, tolerant, and self-directing."

If Your Name is 'HAROLD'

BY ANN REYNOLDS, Ph.D.

The name "Harold," of Old English origin, is put together from two words: one of them was "here," and meant "army," the other, "wald," which is "power." Roughly translated, this appellation means "leader of the army." The name brings up memories of one such leader, although not of a victorious one. He was Harold, King of the English, who in the Battle of Hastings lost his life and his kingdom, vanquished by William the Conqueror.

Contemporary records describe Harold as a handsome tall man of great strength well able to bear physical hardship; a man wise in council, full of vigor and of frank and courteous manners. In the administration of justice he was firm and honest.

When King Edward the Confessor died, Harold was suggested as his successor. He was elected at once, and crowned. But his reign soon came to an end when he was wounded in the eye in the Battle of Hastings, and killed.

After the fierce, day-long struggle Harold's mother Gytha offered the weight in gold of her dead son's body to William the Conqueror, on condition he would let her provide a decent burial for Harold. William refused, and when he at long last relented, and two priests made a search for Harold's remains among the slain heroes, they were unable to identify him. It was then that Edith of the Swan-neck was brought to the battlefield, Edith, the sweetheart of Harold's youth, and she alone was able to recognize the battered body of Harold by a secret mark known only to her.

One of the chief sources for the life of Harold is the famous Bayeux Tapestry. This is a linen band 231 feet long and 20 feet wide, worked by worded of eight colors. Some of the 76 panels were lost, but the existing ones still make us admire them. They are on display, under glass, in the Town Museum of Bayeux in Normandy, France. Many scenes from Harold's life and the Norman Conquest are shown on this precious document of Old English history, in the primitive but poignant style of the time.

Harold, King of the English, was also made a hero of fiction. Bulwer-Lytton wrote a brilliant historical novel about him, and this may have helped the revival of "Harold" as a first name in the last century. Already earlier a new vogue for it was started by Lord Byron with his "Childe Harold's Pilgrimage."

Corn Relish

only the two of us now... certainly did a lot more when the war was on."
Mr. Pint is chief tool engineer at Chrysler's Highland Park plant.
Their only son, John E. Pint, is quality relations head for the National Bank of Detroit here in Plymouth. He and his wife Barbara have a 15-months-old daughter, Mary Ann, in addition to son Johnny, 5 years, shown with his beloved grandmother.
Mrs. Pint favors Early American furnishings in her "so-homey" home—complete with china breakfast holding heirloom china and glassware to succulent kitchen scents tempting to the visitor. Shouts of lively youngsters usually punctuate the atmosphere, too, for the Pint household is a busy spot with frequent small relative visitors.
Here's that extra good harvest-time recipe:

- CORN RELISH
8 cups cut-off corn
3 cups onion
1/2 cup green peppers
1/2 cup red peppers (or pimento)
2 tablespoon scallery seed
3/4 cup brown sugar (packed)
1/2 cup white corn syrup
6 teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon dry mustard
3 cups vinegar

Method: Chop the onions and peppers. Combine with all other ingredients in a saucepan and bring to a boil. Stir. Simmer for 15 minutes. Pour into sterilized pint jars and seal. (Recipe makes a little more than four pints.)

VFW News

Now that summer is officially over, let's all get back in the habit of attending meetings. Lots of activities are being planned and this should be one of the most active years we have had.

The National Home trip last week was a success in spite of the weather. The children enjoyed the good food furnished by the following members and their families: Mr. and Mrs. George Mecklinburg, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wilhelm, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Neale, Mr. and Mrs. James McLain, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Dely and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bowring.
Janet McLain has accepted the chairmanship of the Youth Activities committee.
Two important events coming up are: Chick-n-que on Sept. 7 and the rummage sale on Sept. 24-25-26.

The Chick-n-que promises to be better than the last so come one—come all!

Anyone having rummage to be picked up, call Glenview 3-2284. Mary Schwartz is chairman of this sale and we all want to help her, so gather your saleable items and get them to the hall or give her a ring. Tell your friends and neighbors of the sale too. Let's make it a good one.

of the University of Michigan, and now chief chemist at DuPont in East Chicago . . . and Bruce Wilson, also a U. of M. alumnus, and a technical writer working for the Glen Martin company of Baltimore, Md., on vanguard missile projects.

Doug and his wife and two daughters, Paula, 9, and Patricia, 4, reside in Gary, Ind. . . . Bruce was married during the last Christmas holiday season to a Baltimore fashion designer.

Mrs. Wilson admits that her husband's profession has had a "subtle influence" on her sons. Her husband edited the recently revised "bible" for men in his field, "Tool Engineers Handbook."

She's all for adult education . . . and believes that hooking rugs is "very relaxing . . . if one knows how to relax as one works at it." She takes special orders on rugs from friends who know they'll have a rug of almost indestructible beauty when she does it! She also takes a few private pupils.

Framed color prints (from her hubby's slides) have inspired many of the lovely paintings that decorate their spacious home. His job has been a traveling one from way back . . . and now that her sons are on their own, she accompanies him as often as possible.

She and Mr. Wilson are a team in other fields, too: She plays the piano and he plays the cello . . . although neither had had a lesson in their lives! "That's our winter-time project."

Also they are great stamp collectors. His pet: sheets of commemorative stamps and plate blocks. Hers: Pre-cancels and stamp cancellation slogans.

Speaking of traveling . . . this fascinating lady is about to accompany her husband on a New Orleans to the Florida Keys vacation. He'll take his cameras . . . and she her charming response to all natural beauties of our country seen through an artist's eye.

Interesting tea-fashion show plans are in the making for Thursday, Sept. 11, at picturesque Hill-side Inn.

Open to all Greater Plymouth area women, the tea will be from 3 to 5 p.m. Sponsors are the Women's branch, Plymouth Democratic club.

Mrs. James Blackman, general chairman, is enthusiastic about the fashion show to be shown in three groups: Models will come from a Detroit agency. Fashions will be from Graham's and shoes from Fashion Shoes here in Plymouth. Commentator will be Ralph Rostow, Graham's manager with the quick repartee.

Mrs. Martha Griffiths, Michigan congresswoman, and Mrs. Elsie Gilmore, Wayne County Democratic chairman, will attend if their schedules permit.

Among a corps of Plymouth area women working with Mrs. Blackman on the gay afternoon plans are Mrs. Anthony Frank, tickets; Mrs. Nancy Fowler of Northville, Mrs. Jack Ruland, poster distribution; Mrs. Robert Dwyer, posters; and Mrs. George E. Bowles, tea service.

More happy talk from Arkansas — datelined Bentonville — came across our desk this week:

"Dear Kathie: "Read your column avidly and as an all-my-life Plymouthite or nearly so, I want to say how much I enjoyed the bit about the ex-Daisyites visit to our new homeland.

"It truly is scenic country and we hope lots more Michiganders will put Rogers on their vacation agenda. We are anticipating the long, lovely fall which has lasted thru December in previous years. We have toured continuously in the 2 months we have been here and have many more scenic and historic sites to cover.

"As reported, folks are really "folksie"; and eating out is so reasonable. I will send you an item from one of our finer "eatery's."

"As an added news item, my husband, Al was voted 'Lion of the Year' by the Plymouth Lions and has a most coveted certificate attesting to same. Now he has to uphold his reputation in the Rogers Club.

"Are you in wonder as to my loyalty to good old Bentonville . . . We have the Plymouth-Northville type rivalry and recently my son, Craig, a graduate of Smith Elementary, aided Bentonville Little Leaguers in capturing the miniature world series from Rogers, by his prowess on the mound . . . so there I got a lick in for Bentonville.

We love the "Mail" and look forward to our weekly "visit" with Plymouth.

Sincerely, Charlotte Horvath"

Our postscript to Mrs. A. M. Horvath: Loved letter and "The A.Q. Chicken House" souvenir menu. When our Jim Willis, MAIL compositor, cast an eye on the tempting menu, he recalled happily that he and his wife had dined there on their summer visit to the Rogers area. "Wonderful dinners there!" unquote.

Chamber of Commerce Corner

By Eugene Kornfield

The program of colonialization of architectural design for Plymouth received a boost when the Spring Street Baptist Church decided to adopt a colonial plan for their new church which will be built on Haggerty Road and bear the name of Allen Heights Baptist Church. Incidentally one of the best, and most worthwhile investments available would be the purchase of one of their building bonds, which yield a return of 5 per cent.

A boon to the busy industrialist and business man is the inauguration of a charter flight service operated by Al Finney and Bob Mettetal based at Mettetal airport. Length of the flights may run from the five minute trip to Willow Run airport to one several hundred miles distant.

One of the most important objectives of the Chamber is service to the individual citizen of the community, and this is solicitation control. The businessmen who are members of our Chamber have been alerted to require all solicitors to register at the Chamber office.

We are members of the Detroit and National Better Business Bureau, and receive regular reports detailing many illegal schemes. For instance, we have a listing of all magazine subscription companies which have subscribed to an effective, self-regulating agency pledged to a code of ethical solicitation.

This agency publishes descriptions of racketeering magazine salespeople. Very often such salespeople may be badly crippled and will use the householder's sympathy in their swindling efforts.

Other dodges to be on the lookout for include the purchase of knitting or sewing machines on the promise that the seller will buy articles made on them, newspaper advertisements listing various appliances for sale by homeowners (these ads are often placed by businesses selling through the home), and the many mail-order comeons that will tell you how to make fabulous sums of money at home — just send in two or three dollars for the information.

We invite and urge all householders who are approached regarding solicitations with which they are not familiar, to suggest that the solicitors register at the Chamber office. Many such agents we will not see again.

Sept. 29 Deadline At Cleary College

YPSILANTI — Anticipating record high enrollment for the seventh consecutive term, Cleary College today announced that advanced pre-registration for the fall term is scheduled for September 2, four weeks before the start of classes and enrollment deadline, September 29.

Dr. Owen J. Cleary, president, said emphasis on the early registration was indicated by an abnormally large number of new students this summer.

"Registrations for the fall term to date are 25 percent ahead of last year when enrollment at Cleary reached an all-time high of 522," Dr. Cleary explained. "By enrolling early, students may avoid possible readjustment of their plans for education," he added. The college has extended its enrollment capacity by scheduling classes from 8:00 a.m. until 10:00 p.m.

Cleary said faculty vacation periods have been adjusted so that teachers and advisors will be on hand to assist student applicants during the pre-enrollment period beginning Tuesday.
