

Minister Group Opposes Liquor Ballot Proposal

Members of the Plymouth Ministerial Association this week opened their campaign opposing the liquor-by-the-glass referendum that city voters will find on the ballot November 4.

The first in a series of advertisements appears this week in The Mail stating the Ministerial Association's stand against the proposition. It is found on page 4 Section 3.

Pastors of six churches attended a meeting at First Presbyterian Church last Thursday to decide upon the stand. In addition, to advertising the campaigns of most of the pastors will probably be carried into the pulpit.

It is also believed a citizen group opposed to the proposition will soon be formed.

Taking part in last week's meeting were pastors from First Baptist, Calvary Baptist, First Presbyterian, First Methodist, St. John's Episcopal and Assembly of God. Other churches not represented at the meeting but usually having affiliation with the association were Salvation Army, Church of the Nazarene, and Seventh Day Adventist.

The Ministerial Association's statement points out that on the grounds of principle, they are opposed to the sale of liquor in any form anywhere, not just in the city of Plymouth. They note that alcoholism is the fourth major disease in the U.S. and "the church definitely takes a stand against anything which encourages the sale of liquor."

Their statement agrees that lack of a liquor permit imposes a financial inequality for some city businesses, but adds that their protest is not directed against their attempt to obtain this privilege, but against the strengthening of the liquor traffic anywhere.

It is pointed out in their statement that while the present city commission wants to limit the number of licenses to three, this assurance cannot be included in the referendum. Any future commissions can change the number of licenses issued, in accordance with regulations of the state, without consulting people of the city, the association claims.

(State regulation allows one permit for each 1,500 population, making Plymouth now eligible for four licenses under the 1950 census.)

The Ministerial Association also opposed the liquor-by-glass sale proposal in 1952 when it was soundly defeated, 1,795 to 966. Two years ago petitioners

Sheldon Citizens Taking Assessment Into Court

Teachers Given $100 Pay Hike

A $100-across-the-board pay hike for the Plymouth Community School District's 185 teachers was approved Monday night by the board of education.

Also approved was a program allowing teachers $100 if they participate in a one week summer workshop.

Pay raises are usually granted by the board in the spring before contracts for the approaching school year are signed. But the school board at that time allowed no general pay raise. Instead they agreed to re-examine their financial situation this fall and then make a decision.

Monday night's meeting with representatives of the Plymouth Education Association was a result of a promise. The $100 raise for all teachers will be retroactive to the start of the current contract.

The summer workshop provision is a voluntary matter. Held for the past two years, the workshop is designed to acquaint teachers with new programs, such as new techniques in visual education as stressed this past summer. Fifty dollars was paid to participants this year.

The $100 pay increase was not up to the amount asked by the teacher group. During last spring's meetings the PEA asked for a $250 annual raise. Instead, the board voted a "professional growth" increase that allowed extra compensation for teachers

With work already beginning on the widening and paving of Sheldon Rd., a formal notice from residents along the route was handed city commissioners Monday night declaring that they intend to contest the collection of the special assessment.

Thirty-two individuals representing 18 residential properties signed the "notice of intent" given Mayor Harold Guenther a few minutes before the meeting adjournment Monday. E. P. Light, 234 Sheldon, presented the notice.

City charter requires those protesting assessments to file a notice of their intention to contest before they can take court action. It also must be filed within 15 days after the special assessment resolution is approved. Commissioners approved the Sheldon Rd. resolution Sept. 2 — 13 days earlier.

Deadline for the first assessment payment without interest is Oct. 2. It is possible that the plaintiffs will seek an injunction to delay any payments until the court decides the case.

It is assumed that the group of residents will now file their bill of complaint in circuit court in Detroit. This would be followed by an answer by the city attorney, and finally a hearing.

The "notice" filed with the commission Monday does not contest the actual widening and paving project. It protests the collection of the assessments they must pay. Assessments of the residential property owners go as high as $2,200.

The Wayne County Road Commission is in charge of the road re-construction project. They will be paying for two-thirds of the $240,000 job while Plymouth and the adjacent property owners will pay the remaining third.

Filing of the intended court case came as no great surprise to commissioners since property owners had suggested this action several times during the several long verbal skirmishes in the commission chambers.

Signing the "notice to contest" were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beyer, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fluckey, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Lett, Mr. and Mrs. John Lietz, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene P. Light, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Tichy, Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Steencken, Michael C. Bodak, Mr. and Mrs. David D. Wood.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Gates, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Misener, Edna E. Wilson, Edna E. Richwine, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Daoust, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer S. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Woolweaver, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Farrell and Stewart Oldford & Sons (builders).

Work of moving trees, utility wires and poles has already started on the construction route between the C & O Railroad and Ann Arbor Rd. To hurry the project along as fast as possible before cold weather arrives, the Road Commission intends to have the street blocked off much of the time.

The road will be widened to four lanes, paved with concrete and curb and gutter added. Those contesting the project, state that the present street is adequate, that the proposed project offers them no added benefit and that the assessment is unfair.

Chief benefactor of the widened and heavier pavement, the residents point out, are the industrial and commercial owners. The need for a heavier road arose when the Road Commission told Western Electric that it could not use the present road for heavier vehicles.

Filing of any court action is expected to have no effect on the construction plans. A court decision could result in either eliminating the assessment altogether, having it reduced or maintaining it at its present level.

These are the 19 points stated in the "notice of intent" as presented to the commission: "1. That the City of Plymouth is not entitled to so especially assess the undersigned or their property as such project benefits the city at large and has city-wide interest, and does not especially benefit the undersigned or their property, as required by the provisions of the Charter of the City of Plymouth and the statutes in such case made and provided."

City Building Code Claimed Too Strict

It appears that a new building code is in Plymouth city's future, according to reaction by city commissioners Monday night who claim that the city's code is so restrictive that builders cannot construct homes at competitive prices.

A meeting was held among builders, realtors and some city officials two weeks ago to discuss the situation. Out of it came the recommendation that the city adopt the Building Officials' Conference of America Code (BOCA). This 400 page book, along with its several supplement volumes, has been adopted by Plymouth Township, Livonia, Ann Arbor and other cities across the nation.

City Manager Albert Glassford said that he hadn't realized how high the feeling was about the city's present building code. Several subdivision builders have had difficulty selling their homes because of high restrictions force costs $500 to $1,000 higher than elsewhere.

Commissioners voted to allow Mayor Guenther authority to appoint a committee to study the BOCA and if any amendments should be made. The committee will consist probably of contractors, architects, FHA authorities and City Safety Inspector Charles Thompson.

The subject of Plymouth's building code came into the open a month ago when the city inspector allowed Haveschfenger Homes, Inc. of Port Washington, Wis. to erect two pre-fabricated homes on Simpson St. Homeowners in the area and a builder protested, claiming that the home was not in conformity with city building code.

The city inspector, however, said the new type of construction made the pre-fab home just as safe as usual construction. It was then that Thompson and the builders decided to get together to talk over the problem.

Adoption of the BOCA would give inspectors more latitude in awarding building permits. It would not limit construction to particular dimensions or methods, but would base the permit on whether the structure is safe.

First '59 Car Here

First of the parade of 1959 automobiles appearing in Plymouth will be the Buick at Jack Sells Buick, 200 Ann Arbor Rd. The new series of Buicks will make their debut this Friday.

Community Picnic Tonight

Two thousand barbecued chicken dinners will be available tonight (Thursday) behind the high school as the Rotary Club puts on their third annual Plymouth Community Picnic.

Starting at 4:30 p.m., the dinner will feature corn on the cob, cole slaw and other trimmings with the chicken. Tents will be available for eating inside in case of cool weather. If it rains, the event will be postponed a week. Tickets are available from any Rotarian or at the picnic site. Prices are $1.50 for adults and $1 for children under 12.

$5,000 Goal Symphony Week Campaign Opens

It's Symphony Week in Plymouth — and the big thermometer in Kellogg Park will register not only dollars, but the civic pride of the community.

Five thousand dollars insure another successful season — also a way of life that Plymouthises have come to take for granted.

Last year the total number of memberships was only 236 — about one third of the number of people in an average Sunday afternoon Symphony concert — and a very small portion of the total town and township population.

The young Plymouth Symphony has no "angels" — no large grants. Each year it must be re-subscribed by hundreds of members, business and professional men and other grateful citizens — who may or may not realize that they alone are supporting the second largest symphony orchestra in the state of Michigan — and, without a doubt, the only one of its excellence to be heard free of charge.

"It cannot be taken for granted," the subscription committee declared. "Everyone has a chance to perpetuate the Symphony and the generally higher level of community life it denotes. Everyone is needed!"

This year, the committee points out, membership in the society will bring something more than justifiable pride to members. Sometime during the winter there will be a "For Members Only" concert, something different. It will be a "Thank You" from the Symphony to citizens who are helping to keep it alive and growing.

Also, for the first time, members will be able to arrange for reserved seats by calling ahead. The committee finds that many people like to take visiting friends or relatives to the Symphony on a Sunday afternoon, and assuring them good seating without having to go at an early hour makes the affair more pleasant.

The Membership committee of the Society is this year attempting to call on as many of the business and professional men as possible so that they will be able to answer questions and tell of the hopes and plans of the Symphony. This big task (there are over 500 business), probably won't be accomplished in its entirety, but it is hoped that all interested citizens will call Mrs. Stahl Edmunds, membership chairman, GL 3-2321 for any information regarding the Symphony, the Symphony society, and its future plans.

There's still time to enroll in the Plymouth Adult Education classes, Director Herbert Woolweaver said this week. Sixty classes are being offered during the fall term which opens Monday, Sept. 29. A minimum of 10 is needed to start a class. Woolweaver points out that people having a question whether they might enjoy the class should register and attend the first meeting. If they don't like it, they can have their money returned, he said.

NEWS BEAT

Bank Robber Once Worked Here

Plymouth crept into the big city news last week when a former local Burroughs Corp. employee, Richard A. Valpey, 35, walked into the Manufacturers National Bank in Northville, claimed he had a bottle of nitroglycerin, and demanded $12,000. Assistant Manager Leo Kalota had the receptionist call police. Valpey, who also carried a gun, was bound over to circuit court Monday for armed robbery. He quit Burroughs a year ago and moved to Florida.

DOG-GONE SHAME: Lots of adults and youngsters have been in this predicament, but Mr. and Mrs. Vern J. Sturm, 9464 Elmhurst, report that their cocker spaniel, Laddie, is incapacitated this week with a case of something close to human mumps. Parkway Veterinary Clinic diagnosed the case.

NO POLIO: While Detroit and neighboring communities have reported polio hitting epidemic numbers, there still are no cases listed for Plymouth city or township.

SUCCESS: Soon after last week's Mail pointed out that the McClumpha Rd. sign at Ann Arbor Rd. was misspelled for the second time (first "McClumpha," then "McClumpha"), the sign was hauled away and later returned. This time it is absolutely correct and all of us perfectionists can once more rest easily.

SKUNK HUNT: A report last week that a skunk was tossed inside the Hotel Mayflower back door brought forth Fred Smith, 794 S. Main who said that he had three de-odorized pet skunks stolen that night. Two were located, the other was presumably the one at the hotel. The student asks the public to phone him at GL 3-6658 should they see the skunk. It is worth about $30.

POLICE BEAT: Four tires on a car belonging to Harold Swan, 624 Pacific, were pierced sometime after 1:20 a.m. Sunday, he told police.

FREAK DEPT.: Small tomatoes growing on potato vines is the Mother Nature freak of the week. Harvest Kreimes, 9474 Northern, found several plants. While the tomatoes are not red, they look and taste like tomatoes, he reports.

FIRE RUNS: City firemen extinguished a fire at the Austin Whipple home, 939 Penniman, Sunday afternoon. A short in a lamp wire ignited curtains in an upstairs bedroom. Fire damage was small but smoke filled the house. City firemen also had one of their periodic calls to extinguish a fire in a rubbish truck. This one was on Starkweather Ave. Friday morning. Plymouth Township firemen were called to Salem Township last Wednesday to help fight a fire that destroyed a big barn.

ONLY HELICOPTER arriving at the 99ers meeting here Sunday was the one piloted by Mrs. Philip Hart (seated) posing here with Miss Olivia Bell, left, James Ramsey, director of Michigan Department of Aeronautics of Lansing, and Mrs. Hart received her helicopter rating last spring and since then has been air-chauffering her politician husband around the state on his speaking engagements.

Hart whose husband is running for the U.S. Senate on the Democratic ticket, brought a nother member, Miss Margaret Windfuhr of Lansing, with her in the helicopter. Mrs. Hart received her helicopter rating last spring and since then has been air-chauffering her politician husband around the state on his speaking engagements.

Survey Seen Soon For Community College

Dreams of a Community College here to serve the youth of Redford Township contain more substance today than at any time in history.

A meeting in neighboring Livonia last week — attended by representatives of both the Redford Union and South Redford School Districts — and involving four other districts and a corps of university experts resulted in:

1. A decision to begin as quickly as possible a careful survey of the local high school students to determine the exact potential need.

2. Appointment of Cecil Alford of Livonia as a full-time Community College "Coordinator."

3. Appointment of chairmen of two permanent committees which will be key units in carrying the ball.

4. A decision to draft a proposed new State Law which is needed to permit the several districts to unite in building a joint college.

Livonia is the site in mind for the building. The six districts are Plymouth, Livonia, South

Redford, Redford Union, Clarenceville, and possibly Northville. The Northville district has participated in some of the discussions but may drop out.

"Community College" is about the same thing as what formerly was known as "Junior College." Michigan now has 14 of them in various parts of the state. Their basic purpose is to provide college education (and in some places, technical trade training) within commuting distance of home.

They save room and board expense for students and they take a load from the giant—and growing—State universities.

Claude Snarey of the Livonia Board of Education announced the developments. He is the chairman of a central "steering" group which began functions many months ago. Mrs. Esther Hulsing of Plymouth is the secretary.

Livonia appears to be the first choice for the site because it lies in the center of the several districts geographically.

Financing of the College would be shared by the Districts. The College probably would receive State Aid by the same formula as do High Schools, and in most places students pay low tuition fees.

In Michigan the enrollment of the various colleges range from 197 in Alpena to 6400 in Flint and Dearborn.

Lonnie Brashear, attorney and former school board member in Livonia, was named Chairman of the vital Finance and Legislation Committee.

Paul Chandler, editor of this newspaper, was made Chairman of a Publicity Committee.

Two other key committee heads, Building and Site and Curricula, will be appointed soon.

Dr. Walter Sindlinger, who has a Doctor's Degree in the subject and has been the University of Michigan specialist, said that this area's project should "start right away." It has been marking time for many weeks with the idea that a larger "study" of the whole metropolitan area would be conducted first.

But, now it's full speed ahead, here, and let the bigger study come along when it will.

Bird PTA To Hear
 Bird P.T.A. will start the season by having their first meeting at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday, September 23.
 Dr. Marion Magoon, who retired last June from her professorship in the English department at Eastern Michigan, will be speaker. She writes children's books and adult mystery stories. Her summer home is on one of the Thousand Islands where she does her writing.

 Dr. Magoon visited the P.T.A. in March, 1957, and those who attended remember well her philosophy and humor. Refreshments will be served.

How to break a woman's spirit . . . (for men only)
 If you have a wife around the house that you want to "beat up mentally" we have a sure method.
 Just let her continue to keep house with old fashioned hard water.
 It won't take long to break her spirit. Dinky wash, rings in the bathtub, spotty shower curtains, sticky hair—all these little things will soon drive her nuts.
 "Oh! well," you say, "she has been using hard water all these years and nothing has happened."
 Don't be too sure. For years she has been saving all her pent up feelings about you and hard water and some day the bubble (hard water bubble) will burst, then duck for the hills.
 Now, if you have decided to let her have 100% soft water do it gently. Give her a little advance notice, but call GL 3-6250 today.

U.S. Chamber Officers To Speak on Free Enterprises

Mr. Jean L. McPherson, district manager, Chamber of Commerce of the U.S., will be guest speaker at an open meeting of the Plymouth Community chamber of commerce on Monday, Sept. 22, at 10 o'clock. It will be held at the Hotel Mayflower.

The topic for discussion is better economic understanding of the free enterprise system. McPherson will present "Speak up for free enterprise" a program designed to develop business leadership through economic discussion groups. Emphasis will be placed on the needs in Plymouth to utilize the talents of businessmen to reduce and eliminate misunderstandings existing in our community toward the business system.

A recent survey by Opinion Research Corp., Princeton, N. J., divulged many areas of criticism and misunderstandings toward the free enterprise system. McPherson's presentation is designed to develop more articulate, persuasive business relations programs that will clearly and convincingly explain the operations of the competitive enterprise economy.

As District Manager with the National chamber, Mr. McPherson is located in Toledo and serves a two state area, Ohio and Michigan. Prior to assuming present responsibilities he was a chamber manager in northern Michigan. Mr. McPherson holds a bachelors degree in marketing from the University of Maryland and a masters degree in management from the Indiana University Graduate School of Business. Other experience includes administration and personnel management plus serving with the U.S. Army during World War II.

Gals Study Gals — And Guess What?

GRINNELL, Iowa (UPI) — Studies of women made by men are not uncommon, but studies of women by women are quite rare. A recent one made by a Grinnell woman revealed that almost half of those interviewed felt women were "too passive."

The study was made by Mrs. G. W. Norris, president of the Iowa League of Women Voters, who did the survey of 158 Grinnell women for a sociology course.

The women were asked to rate the influence of American women and life in the United States today.

About 18 per cent of them replied they thought women were too "dominant," 48 per cent said women were too "passive" in their influence on life, while 34 per cent thought everything was "just right."

They were also asked to compare their influence with that of men. Only 11 per cent thought they had more influence than men.

Farrand School Faculty Feted In Lake Pointe

BY MARCY BARTSON
GL. 3-6729

Teachers of our brand new Farrand School had a fine time Wednesday afternoon. Gerald and Janice Elston had a luncheon for them in their home on Clemons Drive. They all had a good time getting better acquainted. Among the group of 13 teachers is one man - Mark Harris of Ann Arbor who will teach the sixth grade.

Acquiring the teachers is quite a procedure. Gerald, the principal of the new school, is very pleased with the fine people who have come from different points such as Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor and Plymouth to teach here. The school had a delay in opening because of the water situation. Everything is in readiness for the children and as soon as the water is tested at the Wayne County Laboratory the doors will open. It is a fine and beautiful building and our children will certainly have every opportunity for a good education there.

Have just met the wonderful Heid family. Nadine and Ralph have just moved into their tri-level home on Clemons Drive. The day I visited with Nadine the carpet men were busy laying some unusual colonial carpeting which she selected to go with the colonial furnishings of their attractive home. Since Nadine and Ralph have such a wonderful family, (the children range in ages from one to 13 years and are almost equally divided - five girls and four boys) the eating area required special consideration when selecting their new home. Mr. Greenspan had his architect draw up a special plan for the Heids and the results are quite wonderful. Nadine has a huge family kitchen that looks gloriously convenient and charming.

Ralph is with the Bell Telephone Company and was transferred here from Grand Rapids. Nadine and the children spent the summer in their cottage at Linwood Beach, and when the weather started to change Nadine became worried that their home would not be completed in time. But things have worked out fine and they are all happy to be settled here in our pleasant and friendly Village.

Speaking of different models, Albert and Ethel White of Robinwood Drive, also have the distinction of having an entirely different floor plan. Their home is similar to the "Kensington" model but is arranged so that Ethel has her kitchen pleasantly looking out the front of the house. Their model has three doors - one of them leading to the backyard from the den.

Upon one of the kitchen walls hangs a gorgeous antique platter which is a family heirloom, being well over 125 years old. It is a blue and white Bavarian plate picturing a scene from the Black Forest. Ethel has other quaint furnishings too. She has placed her father's beautiful gold pocket watch under a glass bell jar and is now looking for a matching bell under which to place her mother's intricate gold label watch. Ethel and Albert spent a few days at Ludington this summer and it was Ethel's first experience in fishing. She enjoyed it so much that she wants to do it again next summer.

The little wooden sign you might have seen on Robinwood Drive was placed there by some very young business people - their ages ranging from five to eight years. The sign declares that potholders are being sold for "15 cents to 10 cents." When business is slack or the children must go home to eat the sign is reversed and declares "closed."

The little girls - Susanna and Marianne Rowe - Sherry Elston, and Sally Fletemier are making the potholders themselves. Business must be good because further down the street some children have a "Kool Aid" stand. Things were really buzzing there. Cookies were rapidly being consumed and the Kool-Aid looked good too. While Colleen Moss spends pleasant hours sewing on her drapes she occasionally lets her handsome dog Hans roam on the front lawn where she can keep an eye on him. But the other day he disappeared for a few moments and returned home with a few gifts for his beloved mistress - a door mat, a little red truck, and a dish. Colleen quickly returned the "gifts" though. Have you seen a pretty new white Cadillac cruising by lately? Well, it so happens that Roy and Colleen are the owners of this brand new car.

Newcomers Club had its first luncheon on Thursday at the Fox Hill Country Club and it was quite a success. Over 52 members were present and enjoyed the delicious menu of chicken and all the trimmings. All of the women had a gay time talking over the events of last summer and meeting new members. Another luncheon is being planned for the near future.

A linen demonstration party was held at the home of Mrs. Garne Hall of Brookline a few evenings ago. Demonstrator was Lucille Morningstar of Wayne. Attending were Garnet's sisters, Mrs. Lyn Wesley of Farmington and Mrs. Gloria Godard of Livonia. Friends and neighbors present were: Miss Carolyn Durkee of Farmington, Mrs. Helen Austin, Mrs. Betty Gladstone, Mrs. Robb Keeth, Mrs. Joyce Allen, Mrs. Mickey Foreman of Northville, Mrs. Carol Scruggs, Mrs. Julia Honke, Mrs. Janet Cavoch, Mrs. Vern Keeth, Miss Marilyn Keeth, Mrs. Marge Hoelt and Mrs. Dorothy Lee.

Happy birthday wishes go to Mary Ronk - she celebrated her ninth birthday on Sept. 1. Several relatives gathered at her parents' home, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ronk of Elmhurst for the birthday fun.

We were very happy to receive a phone call Sunday afternoon from our son, Pvt. Jerry Stace, stationed at Fort Hood, Tex. He tells us he is to leave for Germany the first part of October.

Kenny Calhoun of Corinset returned a week ago to resume his second year of school at Eastern University of Southern Illinois.

We, including hubby, myself and our sons John and Bill attended the 35th wedding anniversary of Hubby's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Stace of Clawson. Open house was held in their daughter's home, Robert and Betty Turner of Royal Oak. Several relatives and friends were present.

Dr. Pankey, who has preached in 200 revival series in five years, will begin his talks at the Sunday morning service starting at 11 o'clock. His topic will be "Only God Can Help Us Now!"

At 7:30 that evening, Dr. Pankey will talk on "How Faith Wins the Victory."

Other services during the week will begin at 7:30 a.m. and each has been designated a particular night. Monday, Pack the Pew Night will have "How Faith Wins the Victory" as the topic. Couples Night on Tuesday has "Christ is the Only Answer" as the theme; "The Family of God" will be the Family Night topic Wednesday; "What It Means to Believe in Christ" is the Sunday School Night title Thursday; while closing the series Friday, Victory Night, will be

The model shown is the luxurious two-door Electra hardtop which measures less than 55 inches in height yet retains approximately the same headroom as last year's Buick. The "delta-wing" styling of the rear fenders that flare out to a point, and twin headlights that are set on an angle give the new Buick a look that is light and jaunty. Compound windshields that curve back into the roof and eliminate wind noise are a feature on all 1959 Buicks. The Electra is powered by a 401-cubic inch V-8 engine with 10.5-to-1 compression ratio. Twin turbine Dynaflow and power steering are standard on all models in the Electra series.

'Uncle' Floyd Starr Gives Recipe for Home's Success

Floyd Starr, founder and director of the Starr Commonwealth for Boys at Albion was guest speaker at a banquet meeting of the Plymouth Optimist Club held at Arbor Lull last Monday evening.

Starr told club members and their guests how his slogan, "there's no such thing as a bad boy" has carried the Commonwealth through 45 years of successful rehabilitation work with boys who "couldn't be cured."

"Uncle Floyd," as he is known by the 154 boys at the Commonwealth, listed five lessons which have contributed to the success of his institution.

1. Dignity of labor. "We give every boy a job because we believe the joy of accomplishment is a must for rehabilitation," he said.
2. Recreation. "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," Mr. Starr explained. "One of the first buildings constructed at the Commonwealth was a gymnasium. We arrange a athletic events with neighboring teams. This has a two fold purpose: it helps keep their minds on wholesome activities and teaches them sportsmanship at the same time."

3. The therapeutic value of

Starr explained that the 90-acre campus at his Commonwealth includes a large lake. "The whole area is beautifully landscaped. This contributes to an all-around wholesome atmosphere and helps the boys appreciate good living."

4. Spiritual development. "We have a 36 stained glass window chapel that is the most beautiful building on campus," he said. "We emphasize religion at all times. There are services for every faith, grace is said at all meals and there is a nightly prayer session."

Starr explained that most boys have no religious training when they first come to the Commonwealth. "I assure you that when they leave they are much better Protestants or Catholics," he said.

5. Education. "All of our boys have good minds," Mr. Starr said. "As a matter of fact we don't take boys who do not have at least average intelligence. They attend regular classes, get a good high school education."

Mr. Starr listed broken homes and "social promotion" as two big reasons for delinquency. He explained that boys from broken homes represent 75 percent of his enrollment.

"In addition we find that boys often get into real trouble when they are advanced into classes for which they're not prepared. There's too much pressure on teachers to promote students when they're really not ready for it. When they get into an advanced class and find they can't keep up with the rest the result is truancy and that leads to delinquency."

"I'm very proud to say that most of our boys have happy, successful marriages. They've learned that broken homes can ruin lives."

The entire Optimist Club received an invitation from Mr. Starr to visit the Commonwealth either October 5 or November 16. "I'd like everybody to have the opportunity of going through our buildings and seeing what we're doing for underprivileged boys," he concluded.

Youth Guilty of Illegal Possession

Two youths pleaded guilty to a charge of illegally possessing alcohol in an appearance before Municipal Judge Nandino Perlongo Monday and have paid $100 fines.

Police picked up Burton Shoebright, 20, of Dearborn, and Jerry Lee, 17, of 14515 Haggerty Rd., Sunday night. Police saw the two and a juvenile sitting in a car in the alley beside Gurnsey Farms Dairy on Starkweather Ave. When police stopped, the car pulled away.

The patrolmen then stopped the car and were issuing a ticket for having no tail-light when they noticed a beer bottle in the car. A search found more bottles.

80-Member Historical Society Plans Membership Campaign

A banquet, talk about a mouth, Indiana this summer membership drive and a report on another Plymouth where he found their historical society had just opened a museum. The local society also has had these plans many years. A plan to place displays in the Dunning-Hough Library has not worked out.

Starkweather related that he had visited William Scattergood in Petoskey, Mich., grandson of Joshua Scattergood who came to Plymouth as a pioneer in 1836. Joshua was in business here for 30 years and was burned out in the great fire of 1856. He was also postmaster and after the Civil War moved to Ithaca.

Ernest Henry is the club's new president. Reports were heard from the recording secretary, Mrs. Bertha Tiffin; the chairman of the program committee, Miss Laverne Sly; and the treasurer, Roderick Casady.

It was reported that 20 members had died since the society's inception in 1948. There are now 80 members and Mrs. Hugh Means, membership committee chairman, outlined plans for a drive to bring the total membership up to 100 people or more.

Plymouth has a larger group than many cities of larger population. Membership of other clubs are: Albion, 75; Sault Ste. Marie, 60; Jackson County, 43; and Oakland County, just under 100. Some historical societies meet four times a year or less while Plymouth's society meets nine times, plus some summer activities.

Vice-president and Chairman of the research committee, Karl Starkweather, reported on his visit to Ply-

Adult Stutterers' Clinic Open To All Age People

An adult stutterers' clinic, open to residents of Wayne County, will be presented Monday, September 22, in the Lee M. Thurston High School, 26255 Schoolcraft, Redford Township.

The clinic, offered through the high school's adult education program, will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. Mondays for 20 weeks.

Tuition fee of $25 will be charged for the course. The fee will be waived, however, for persons unable to pay.

This is the only course of its type in the state conducted on the adult education level and the fourth year the course has been given to prove its popularity.

Registrations are being accepted this week at Thurston. Late registrations may still come in next week. Information about the course may be obtained by calling KENwood 5-4000.

Conducting the course will be Alby Lutkus of Plymouth, speech corrector for the South Redford School District.

Lutkus is a clinical member of the American Speech and Hearing Association, the Michigan Speech and Hearing Association and the Wayne County Speech and Hearing Association.

The clinic will make use of both individual and group therapy and participating individuals will study their own case histories as an aid to understanding their problems.

Goals of the stuttering clinic are fourfold: To help the stutterer to accept stuttering without embarrassment.

To help each individual gain a thorough understanding of his speech problem.

To help the stutterer learn to handle his speech blocks.

To teach the individual to control his stuttering.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

• Stings
• All Boys (Or Girls)
• Protruding Ears

Q. "Last summer I was stung by a wasp and became violently sick. Would the same thing happen if I am stung by a bee?"

A. Venom of the wasp, hornet, yellowjacket and honeybee contains a common poison. A person who reacts violently to the sting of one of these insects would probably react just as violently to the sting of the others. People who are known to be very sensitive to insect stings can be desensitized or made less reactive. Your doctor can give you all the information about how this is done.

Q. How do doctors account for some families having all boys and others all girls?

A. There is no satisfactory explanation. Age of the parents may have some slight effect. Young parents tend to have more boys than girls. The boy-girl difference levels off as the parents get older.

Q. If a baby has large protruding ears will it help to bind the ears back?

A. No, not according to a British doctor. Protruding ears can be corrected by surgery but plastic operation should not be performed until after the ears cease to grow. Even then the why's and wherefore's of an operation of this kind should be thoroughly discussed with the family physician.

Material in MEDICAL MIRROR is based on various scientific publications and does not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease requires the skill and knowledge which only a physician can apply by personally attending the patient.

Farrand School Finally Opens Doors Monday

Helena Farrand Elementary School opened its doors Monday morning after a delay of seven school days. Installation of sanitary sewer, water and gas held up the school's opening. Even after water was installed, pipes had to be chlorinated and the water approved by the Wayne County Department of Health. Administrative Assistant Melvin Blunk said that 281 students are enrolled in the school. This number is expected to jump because of the many homes going up in the area.

GUILTY PARTIES

WETUMPKA, Ala. (UPI)—Two Elmore County election officials who offered a $500 reward for the "guilty parties" in an election fraud have themselves been charged with tampering with the ballot-box. J. B. Ruffin, a farmer, and Herman R. Evans, an electrician-plumber, are accused of intentionally miscounting ballots.

MICHIGAN CHAPTER of the Flying 99'ers staged a successful monthly get-together in Plymouth last Sunday, landing at Mettetal Airport.

Some 50 "lady pilots" were greeted by their local hostess for this meet, Miss Olivia Bell, teacher at Smith Elementary school.

tions for another election were filed but there were not enough qualified signers to get the proposal on the ballot.

On August 29, a stack of 90 petitions was filed with the city clerk with 1,751 signers. Of these, 1,473 were qualified, enough to get the proposal on the ballot.

Last April the Chamber of Commerce board of directors passed a resolution supporting the proposal, declaring the present dry law is discriminatory on business in the city.

Plymouth Hosts Women Fliers

All that airplane flurry at Mettetal Airport last weekend was caused by women.

Yes, indeed. Michigan's chapter of the now-famous lady pilot group known as the Ninety-Nines flew into Plymouth Sunday morning on more than a wing and a prayer.

Their sleek flying machines began circling the field at 9:30 a.m. with the efficient feminine flyers re-headquarters at the Mayflower Hotel or extend greetings were Mrs. Joseph Stuky, Miss Cynthia Baker, Miss Barbara Cornelius, Miss Mary Thomson, Mrs. Be Wicker, and Mrs. Ardis Monnier. The latter's husband, Emory Monnier who owns the Monnier Engineering Co. in Plymouth, was at the airport also to assist with hospitality arrangements.

At the 99'ers business meeting in the hotel, preceding their brunch, plans were detailed for the October 11 Southern Michigan All Ladies Lark. This year's "lark" will be a race from Sturgis to Manistee.

Guest speaker at the brunch was James Ramsey, director of Michigan's Department of Aeronautics, from Lansing who flew up by himself.

Ramsay spotlighted future plans for aviation in Michigan and described the importance of airport facilities to cities and communities. He referred to the necessity of communities having access to a municipal airport and stated that the private airport needs the backing of the city it serves.

Among special 'guests' at the brunch were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lodge, both pilots, who own the Clark Aerial Survey here and who are now doing mapping for the St. Lawrence Seaway; Robert Mettetal, manager of the Mettetal Airport; Duane (Ducky) Olds, who owns the Colonial Snack Shop and has just begun flying lessons; Mrs. Margaret Hough of Plymouth, Mrs. Betty Schrader of Northville and Mrs. Marcy Bathey of Northville.

The baby, three and a half months old, is the son of Eng. 3-C and Mrs. Everett G. Schroeder of Staten Island. They visited here that week, along with Mrs. Everett Schroeder's mother, Mrs. Josephine Cocco.

Godparents at the christening were Mrs. Roy Landau of Detroit and John D. Ambra.

Many relatives attended the family party. The visitors have now returned to Staten Island where Eng. 3-C Schroeder is stationed.

Girl Scout Report

Girl Scout and Brownie troops of Plymouth are beginning to resume their regular meetings as the school year begins.

This will be their first year under the jurisdiction of the newly formed Huron Valley Girl Scout Council whose offices are in Ypsilanti (HU. 3-2370). Miss Ferne Brown is executive director of the council. Miss Emily Weinstock is the professional Girl Scout worker assigned to District 1 of which the former Plymouth council is a part. Mrs. Norman Stockmeyer of Wayne (PA. 2-0840) is the District chairman.

Because of the large number of troops already established and the steady growth in membership two neighborhoods have been designated in Plymouth. Mrs. John Lodge (GA. 2-8330) is chairman of neighborhood 1; Mrs. Walter Beglinger (GL 3-5696) is chairman of neighborhood 2.

The first meeting of neighborhood 1 was held this week, Tuesday, September 16, at the Veterans Memorial Center at 8 p.m. Miss Brown and Miss Weinstock were present to meet personally the members of the neighborhood and answer some of the questions concerning the functions and plans of the new council particularly in relation to the services provided by their offices.

Mrs. James Hardimon (GL 3-2214) is continuing as troop organizer for all Plymouth troops. She has a waiting list of more than 60 girls who want to become Brownies. Unfortunately, there are even a greater number of girls who are already members of Brownie or Girl Scout troops for which there are no leaders this year. It is hoped that enough women in the community will be willing to devote the necessary hours for training and troop meetings to make scouting available to these girls. At present this is not possible.

A basic troop leadership training course designed to prepare the volunteer completing it to assume the leadership of either a Brownie or Girl Scout troop will be offered locally during October.

This will be given as a series of four weekly meetings each Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. On October 1, 8, and 15 these will be held at the Presbyterian church. The fourth and final class will be held at the Plymouth Kiwanis Girl Scout Lodge on October 22. For further information and registration for the course, phone either of the two trainers, Mrs. William Lyons (GL. 3-0237) or Mrs. Raymond Ellerholz (GL 3-1838). This is an opportunity for interested women to be of real service to their daughters and their friends who want to continue or begin scouting activities.

The established troops were assigned new troop numbers by the new council. Senior troop 237 (formerly No. 1) will be under leadership of Mrs. Marshall North and Mrs. Ralph Taylor and held their first meeting last week. Plans were made for future fall activities which began this week with assisting with the preparation of the mailing for the Plymouth Community Chest Drive which supports the Girl Scout organization.

Mrs. Woodrow Tichy and Mrs. William Edgar will be leaders of Senior troop 238 (formerly troop No. 3) and plan to resume their meetings at the Presbyterian church within the week.

Mrs. Wayne Rubey will continue as leader of Senior troop 247 which held their first meeting this week at the Veterans Memorial Center on Tuesday, September 16. Members of troops 22, 23 and 14 are combined in this troop which will, like troop 238, be planning to include enough out-of-door training in their schedule to be eligible for consideration as delegates to the National Girl Scout Round-up in Colorado next summer.

Intermediate Troop 283 (formerly 29) opened their fall activities with an overnight at the Lodge last Friday night. A flat tire on the camp trailer, prevented their reaching their original destination. Mrs. Charles Beardsand Mrs. Kenneth Way will be increasing the membership of this troop as girls from other troops who no longer have leaders are transferred to 263 which will be meeting this year at the Veterans Memorial Center every Thursday after school.

Intermediate troop 252 (formerly 19) held their first meeting this week at the Veterans Memorial Center on Wednesday after school. Mrs. Lyons will continue as leader of this troop with the assistance of Mrs. Kenneth Fisher and Mrs. William Felting.

Brownie troop 243 (formerly 9) will hold their first meeting this coming Monday, the 22nd at the Veterans Memorial Center under the leadership of Mrs. Woodrow Ross and Mrs. Leonard Dudek.

Troop leaders should contact their respective neighborhood chairmen with items for this column until a volunteer is found to assume this task.

Northville Out to Break 2-Year Jinx with Plymouth

Tomorrow night at 8 Coach Mike Hoben will unveil the 1958 edition of the Plymouth Rocks in their home opener. Their opposition in this non-conference game will be Northville, who have a score to settle with the Rocks.

For the last two years, Coach Ron Schipper has lost just two games and both of these have been by the identical score of 13-12 to the Plymouth Rocks.

Hoben has been drilling his team quite hard since the first practice and one thing is certain — they will be in good condition physically for this important game. There is a mixture of experience and eagerness on the team.

Captain Ed Laroche, a hard running halfback, leads the contingent of returnees. He is ably supported by Randy Egloff, moved from fullback to quarterback this year, Wayne Sparkman, rugged fullback, who is counted on for a good season, Wade Schultheiss at guard, Bill Ruehr at center, John Salan at guard, Ron Turkett, at tackle, Larry Wells and Al Runge at end.

Dave Green and Jim Herter, graduating from the jayvees of last year, have looked impressive in workouts and should help the backs and ends.

THE TEAM of Chick Harbert and Tommy Watrous beat Al Watrous and Jim Crichton in an 18-hole exhibition match last Saturday at Fox Hills Country Club. The event was part of Jim Crichton Day, in honor of the Fox Hills professional. Harbert and young Watrous took the match by winning one hole. Harbert, always a colorful performer, shot a 67 for low score. On the second hole, he bent an iron shot around some trees to put the ball on the green with his second shot. Tommy Watrous is the son of Al Watrous, former PGA champion.

Young Golfers Take Plymouth Tournery

Youth gained the limelight Saturday and Sunday when 18-year-old Tom Carmichael dethroned the defending champion, Bill Benjamin, for the Plymouth Golf Tournament held at Hilltop Golf Course.

The weather was perfect for the 29 entrants competing in the four flights. To qualify for the championship flight, the first round scores had to be between 71 and 79. Scores of 80 to 84 made up the first flight, 85 to 92 the second, 93 to 105 the third flight.

Carmichael, who lives at 208 Blunk, fired a 145 for the 36 holes. Another young golfer, 16-year-old Charles Drewry, was second in the second flight with a 171 and a young Lee Huber got every inch of 47. Carmichael had a 74 for his second round to give him his 36 hole total of 145.

In the added attraction hole-in-one contest, George Fodd was the winner as his ball came within 20 inches of the pin on the 4th green.

Ron Bonamici was low man in the first flight of seven golfers as he carded a 158. Ken Olds was runner-up with 161.

George Kenyon eked out a one stroke victory over Charles Drewry in the second flight with a total score of 170.

Larry McGinnis won the third flight with a 183, two strokes ahead of Jack Penland.

The winners and runner-up in each flight, and with winner of the driving contest received trophies to keep and the champion received the Plymouth Mail traveling trophy.

SPORTSEEN

By BILL DILWORTH

This column might easily carry the sub-title of Pot-pourri or Thursday Tidbits or some such nomenclature to indicate a collection of sport facts from several sports.

Perhaps the most important in the football game tomorrow night between the Rocks and Northville. The starting time is 8 p.m. Come early and be assured of a good seat in the newly constructed bleachers. This year's Plymouth team carries a few question marks with it and these questions will not be answered until after Friday night. The line is small but the men on the line are quick, eager and have a good supply of an element so vital to football players - intestinal fortitude. They appear to have responded fairly well to Coach John McFall's teachings and we are anxiously awaiting their first opportunity to put these teachings into practice. Wade Schultheiss and John Salan are hold-overs at guard, Ron Turkett at tackle, Al Runge and Larry Wells at ends.

The backfield is strong and looks real good with captain Ed Laroche returning to a halfback spot, Wayne Sparkman to fullback and Randy Egloff moved from fullback to quarterback. The other spot will probably be shared by Dave Green and Paul Woodard.

This team has worked hard and they have the desire but the game will be won on the playing field so let's support the team and cheer them to what we hope will be another fine season.

Next, or as the attorneys might say "exhibit B." Congratulations to Tom Carmichael, who won the 15th annual Plymouth Golf Tournament held at the Hilltop Golf Course last weekend. Carmichael shot a 145 for 36 holes as he defeated last year's winner, Bill Benjamin, by two strokes. Earlier this month Carmichael captained the Plymouth team that participated in the Recreation Association of Michigan tournament at Midland and was the fourth medalist. Golf certainly runs in his family as evidenced by the fact that his mother, Mrs. Jane Carmichael, will captain the Plymouth ladies team that will compete at Pontiac on Saturday. Tee-off time at the Municipal course will be 10 a.m. Other members of the team are Beverley Everson, Jane Todd, Leone Todd and Gertrude Higley with the alternate Betty Demol.

Before we leave the subject of golf congratulations are in order, also, to Lee Huber, who won the driving contest with a drive of 300 yards, and George Todd, who won the hole-in-one contest when his ball came within 20 inches of the pin.

Sometime this week the schedule for the Elementary School Touch Football league will be drawn up and another season will be underway in this division of the Recreation Department sponsored activities. It is quite probable that this year there will be just one league instead of the 5th and 6th grade leagues of last year. We expect to have complete details for next week's paper.

A sure sign that summer is almost over is the activity at the bowling alleys these days. Some of the leagues have started and some will start very soon. John Katis, manager at Arbor Lill Recreation has 19 leagues booked plus bowling for kids Saturday afternoon. With 8 teams per league and 5 bowlers to a team he has approximately 760 people in American Bowling Congress sanctioned leagues. Bill Stockton at Parkview recreation has 9 leagues with 8 teams per league accommodating about 360 people. We issue an invitation to all secretaries of the leagues at both Arbor Lill and Parkview Recreation to send their scores to the Mail and we will print as the availability of space permits.

In the Michigan Inter-County baseball league River Rouge defeated Great Lakes 7-6 for the championship. Great Lakes won the league. Plymouth Merchants, winners of the Blue Division, will officially close out the season with a party this Saturday night and from all reports a surprise is in store for one of the players.

Don't forget to sign up today for the course of your choice at the Adult Education office.

County's High Polio Rate Makes Outside Aid Necessary

The current outbreak of virulent polio in Wayne County has skyrocketed costs of patient care and temporarily bankrupted the County Chapter of the March of Dimes.

Chapter officials said present costs for medical and hospital care amount to $38,906 per week and are rising with each new case.

Wayne County is the hot spot of the nation with 358 polio cases reported to date. Two additional deaths over the week-end brought the total number to 10 so far this year. There were three for all of 1957.

"So far the chapter has spent $349,264 this year on more than 1,200 old and new cases," Chairman William J. Young, Jr., said. "One of the factors which has increased our costs has been the exceedingly high rate of paralytic polio. More than 60 percent are paralytic this year while last year only about 10 percent resulted in paralysis.

"In addition, 16 patients require the services of special duty nurses around the clock, increasing our nursing costs alone to $22,962 so far this year. Braces for those paralyzed have cost the chapter $48,000."

The chapter long since has spent all funds raised during last January's March of Dimes. An additional $194,950 from the national headquarters Emergency Aid Fund has been received.

"We are now going to ask for a further allocation of $200,000 to carry us through the next month or six weeks," Young said.

Sheldon Citizens Taking Assessment

"2. That such special assessment against the undersigned and their property is void and unlawful, as the undersigned and their property do not realize any benefit from said project other than that enjoyed by the general public.

"3. That said assessment was brought about by reason of annexation of the tract of land and is for the benefit of the owners of said tract of land and is for the benefit of the owners of said tract of land rather than the undersigned.

"4. That said project has not and will not benefit the undersigned, but rather is and will be a detriment to the undersigned, as said road becomes, instead of a residential street, a through traffic road for use by the general public and heavy trucks.

"5. That said project benefits and will benefit only the commercial and industrial owners of property on Sheldon Road and was and will be constructed for their benefit.

"6. That the present paving on Sheldon Road is adequate for the purposes and needs of the undersigned and the conversion of Sheldon Road into a 43 foot Class A road is unnecessary and of no benefit to the undersigned plaintiffs as the present 22 foot road serves all the purposes of the undersigned.

"7. That some of the undersigned have already been assessed by reason of the improvement of Sheldon Road in the past and should not be again assessed for any improvement thereof.

"8. That the manner in which the amount of the assessment against the properties on Sheldon Road was arrived at is arbitrary and not justified in law or in fact as the City of Plymouth adopted a formula heretofore applied in other parts of the City, regardless of the particular situation on Sheldon Road, and that instead of determining the benefit to the city at large and to these property owners, merely assessed the undersigned and their property by an archaic, outmoded and inapplicable formula and from that determined what share the city at large and the property on Sheldon Road was to be assessed.

"9. The amounts assessed per front foot as between residential and commercial property has no relation to the benefits enjoyed or to be enjoyed by the respective types of property.

"10. That said assessment was arbitrary and not based on law or in fact on the benefits to be had by reason of said project as said project was undertaken for the benefit of industrial and commercial property owners who are assessed $13.69 per front foot as against $5.00 and $10.00 per front foot for the residential property owners who are not benefited.

"11. That the said proposed assessment is arbitrary and not founded in law or in fact as no assessment is made against the properties back from Sheldon Road which are or will be benefited, and particularly the industrial and commercial property which extends for hundreds of feet back from Sheldon Road.

"12. That the assessment is not uniform, is unfair and not equal.

"13. That no assessment is made against Masserman Springdale Subdivision, except for three lots, and that said subdivision is on the opposite side of the street from the undersigned and benefits or will benefit to the same degree and extent, if any, as the undersigned, and such property is excused from any assessment without legal justification, excuse or reason.

"14. That such assessment is a discrimination against the undersigned as residence property owners in favor of the industrial and commercial owners on Sheldon Road and the public at large, for whose benefit such project is undertaken.

"15. That said assessment is out of proportion to the benefits to the several property owners on Sheldon Road and in particular the undersigned.

"16. That said assessment is so arbitrary and inequitable as to constitute a legal fraud upon the undersigned.

"17. That the City of Plymouth has failed to determine the benefit of the project, if any, and the city at large, and assess the benefits accordingly.

"18. That said assessment is invalid and illegal and constitutes a confiscation of the property of the undersigned.

"19. That said assessment is not in accordance with the provisions of the Charter of the City of Plymouth and is illegal and void and should be so adjudicated."

School Planners Seeking Members Through Survey

Recruiting of citizens for the School Community Planning Group began yesterday as the organization makes plans for opening its eighth year on Wednesday, Oct. 1.

A survey was sent home with school children yesterday asking parents if they want to become an active participant in the School Community Planning Group.

Robert Webber, president of the school advisory committee, stated "We want parents of school-age and pre-school age children, along with interested citizens and school staff members to consider the Plymouth School - Community Planning Group as a perfect place to study current educational issues."

Last spring, the Secondary School Facilities committee, a sub-committee of this larger advisory group, presented a survey on building needs to the community. Over 1,000 surveys came back to the committee. Some 500 of these surveys contained quite detailed written remarks about the issues under discussion.

The committee then suggested that another survey be sent out this fall requesting the public to join the group to study the educational problems facing the Plymouth Board of Education.

The Planning Group meets the first Wednesday of each month, dividing the meeting place among the schools. The Oct. 1 meeting will be at 7:45 p.m. at Bird Elementary School.

A large majority of the recommendations made by the School-Community Planning Group to the school board are given to Planning Group sub-committees by the school board for thorough study.

Readers wanting to join the Planning Group can use the survey blank below.

Woman's Eye View

By KATHIE MULL LUSK

A wonderful idea popped into luncheon conversation last week Thursday afternoon when Newcomers club of Plymouth met at Fox Hills Country Club for their opening affair of the autumn season:

Would there be any mature ladies in town — perhaps ex-Daisy employees — who would join together and start a "Baby Sitter Service" here?

That they'd have a business bonanza was acclaimed by one young mother who told how difficult it was to line up a sitter on a day when friends were all going to the same function.

"We could use an entire baby sitting service right in Lake Pointe subdivision ourselves," said another Mom keenly-interested-in-the-idea.

How about it?

Are there any competent, reliable, children-loving women who would have the business background to initiate such a service here similar to those in metropolitan areas?

Just think, for a moment, of many a grandmother in town, teen-agers, women wanting to bolster limited family incomes, who could be checked for trustworthiness and abilities "to sit" and registered for such a service. With Plymouth's expected population growth, it would be a rewarding endeavor in many, many ways.

That Newcomers luncheon, incidentally, was a gay event. Fifty-three longer-time and new members met at 12:30 p.m. in the lounge of the clubhouse for a bit of sociability before lunch.

Pretty Mrs. Robert E. Fisher, vice president and social chairman of the club, welcomed arrivals in a smart gray wing-collared frock accented by costume jewelry. Mrs. Leander Rae, new president of Newcomers, was busy all the time greeting members, too.

One who should have felt delighted at the turnout was Mrs. Byron Champion who originated the social club a year ago after the establishment of her friendly Newcomers service clicked in friendship patterns. All of the Newcomers — unusually well-traveled people — are a most congenial group.

Colorful autumn bouquets (even though they're not the best tonic for hay-fever sufferers like me) graced the long luncheon table and were from the garden of John S. Nitz.

New faces at the luncheon — all new women in town are invited to attend a club event twice before joining — belonged to: Mrs. Jerry Griffith, Mrs. Nancy Anthony, Mrs. Rosalie Bales, Mrs. Nora Jaskierney, Mrs. Jan Drennan, Mrs. Arthur Jacobs, Mrs. Hilliard DiVeto, Mrs. William Jewkes, Mrs. John Canon, Mrs. Mary Tyler, Mrs. John Murphy, Mrs. Joyce Schmidt, Mrs. Mary Ploughman, Mrs. R. E. Browne, Mrs. Dev Houter, and Mrs. Virginia Warner.

Two good mixing activities for Newcomers club members are being organized now: Bowling fans are asked to phone Mrs. Colleen Moss at GL. 3-1037 and bridge players, Mrs. Lawrence Becker at GL. 3-5183.

When one of the Patricia Stevens models made her entry at the Tea-Fashion Show of Plymouth's Democratic Women's Club last Thursday at Hillside Inn — all fetchingly fashioned in the latest from Graham's — Ralph Rostow, store manager and show commentator, couldn't resist a tiny detail in his clothes from . . . shoes from . . . hats from . . . pattern:

"Her chewing gum . . . is by Wrigley's" said he to the delight of the 70 women attending and brief dismay of the model.

By the way, pretty chapeaux hand-created by Mrs. Violet Wines, of Harvey St., were shown in the show. She is the original hat designer who moved here four months on crutches . . . convalescing from a broken leg. She literally "fell in love with Plymouth" and decided to enter the custom hat business here. She has the hat answer for bridal parties seeking assistance in that field . . . as well as modestly-priced-and-up originals for young and mature women. Mrs. Wines has already an enthusiastic following for her exquisite headpieces.

NEWCOMERS TO PLYMOUTH are Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard R. Di Veto and their three sons, Hilliard, Jr., 14 years old; Bryan, 5, and Paul, 10. They moved here July 15 from Anaheim, Calif., famous as the home of "Disneyland" and have bought a home at 1042 William St. Mr. DiVeto was transferred here to Burroughs' Plymouth plant where he is an electronics engineer. Last summer Mrs. DiVeto, who is expecting a new family member any day, had the delightful experience of working at "Disneyland," dressed in garb of the 1890's in the Timex shop on their old Main St. All of the DiVetos love to bowl — Mr. DiVeto is a member of the Burroughs' Bowling team. Young Hilliard attends Plymouth High school and the two younger boys are at Bird.

Goodwill Seeks School Clothing

Have you any children's or teen-age clothing in your closets gathering dust? Goodwill Industries are making a special plea for usable discards of this type. An exceptional rush on the eight Goodwill stores have left their store racks depleted. Contributions are down. Harold H. McKinnon, executive secretary of Detroit, reports and because of the high unemployment, demand for younger clothing is great. Goodwill Industries pick-up trucks will visit Plymouth this coming Monday, September 22. They are seeking, in addition to the school clothes, other clothing, shoes, hats, toys, most types of furniture and household items. To arrange for a Goodwill pick-up next Monday, Mrs. Lora Ault at GR 4-4294 may be called.

Salem: Tops Club Sets New Goal In Fall Weight Losses

By Mrs. Herbert Famuliner
Fieldbrook 9-0924

Salem Hobby Club met at the home of Mrs. Louis Sweetman last Monday evening with 12 present. Mrs. Fred Verran was re-elected for chairman and Mrs. Herbert Famuliner as treasurer. Plans were made for the coming months. Club members will work on copper jewelry in October at the home of Mrs. William Kelly.

Mrs. George Kelly of Seven Mile Rd. entertained for a luncheon last Friday Mrs. John McIntyre, Mrs. Ralph Wilson and Mrs. Mathelda Bielejeski. Pinochle was played in the afternoon.

Salem "Tops" club, known as "the Shadows" has launched into a fall program with new enthusiasm. A summer slump was reported with very little weight loss during vacations (sweet corn season, etc.). The club reports an increased interest shown at the first fall meeting. Each member has set a new goal in weight loss which she hopes to reach by November 1. All those attaining this goal will be treated to a luncheon in Detroit followed by a trip to see Cinerama's "South Sea Adventure." All expenses will be paid out of the Tops treasury.

Officers of the Salem club are: Leader, Vida Burgess; weight recorder Beth Bueers; secretary M. A. Bardsley; treasurer Ruth Lanning; pencil chairman Lupe Grimes. A combined loss over 200 pounds has been reported by the club, with one member having lost 54 pounds since January.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kelly and children of Detroit spent Sunday afternoon at the Famuliner home.

Mrs. Donald Tiffin and Mrs. Leonard Hoyer of Gotfredson Rd. attended a tea party at the Mrs. Murray Lucas home in Northville Wednesday evening.

Bert Rider, Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Hardesty and Mrs. Norman Forster were Sunday dinner guests at the Carleton Hardesty home.

Sunday callers at the Charles Stacey home were Mr. and Mrs. Coda Savery of Brookville Rd.

Mrs. Clyde Adams, Mrs. Julia Herbs and Mrs. Halstead and group of friends of Farmington called on Mrs. Myra Taylor on her birthday Sunday. Ethel Littell and Myra Coleman and John Meills were visited Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Procter of Chelsea and Mrs. George Bennett visited their brother Glenn Shipley of Northville who is in Mt. Carmel Hospital in Detroit Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bacon of Flint, Ed Fleming of Ypsilanti, Mrs. Warren Sanders and son Bob of Ypsilanti were callers at the C. L. Wheeler home.

Mrs. Raymond Doolin was hostess Sunday afternoon at a baby shower honoring Mrs. Richard Honke. Twelve guests were present. Mrs. Doolin served ham, rolls cake and coffee, after games were enjoyed by the group.

N.E.W. Farm Bureau met Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gregerson. Election of officers was held with the following taking office: Chairman, Jack Renwick; Vice Chairman, Drayton Cort; Discussion Leader, C. F. Grimes; Assistant Ray Gregerson; Minute Man, Elmer Bennett; Farm Bureau package reporter, Leo Van Bonn; Secretary, Mrs. C. F. Grimes; County Women's Committee, Hilda Hirth, Hazel Van Bonn, Mrs. H. Beck; Recreation committee, Virgil and Elsie Guseila; Sunshine Leader, Clara Kidston; Reporter, Janet Renwick; Song Leader, Oscar Hirth. A short business meeting was held and a lunch served by the hostess.

Maplecroft-Birch: Moms Take to Cycling at 7

(Covering the Area bounded by Burroughs, Ann Arbor Rd., and the Junior High, including Maplecroft and Birch Subs.)

BY RHEA ROSS
GL. 3-3144

Here we go again another season, another reason for what have you - news per chance. But before we plunge into fall activities here are a few items to complete the short but active summer.

The Edward Millers, of Burroughs, were to be found the latter half of the season at their favorite stomping grounds, Walloon Lake. Son Peter took off on a vacation of his own for two weeks at the Western University in Kalamazoo, where he enjoyed a preview of genuine college living. Living in dorms and having the use of some college facilities proved a boon to young Pete and the other high school students participating in the summer program consisting mostly of choral and instrumental activity.

Many of our younger group still find "good old Plymouth" the best place on the map as evidenced at the birthday party for Jim Haynes, son of the Chester Haynes of Simpson. Those helping Jim celebrate his 16th birthday were Gerry Lee Rehbein, Gary Ross, Hollis Jean Haynes, Jerry Fisher, Karen Rank, Jim Hertz, Mary Jane Readman, Hobart Hammond, Bob Brandon, Margo Hall, Beau Toll, Linda Cockrum, Dave Reid, Jim Thompson, Kitty Haegstrom, Barbara Booth and Dave Rank. While the group danced, sang, played games and really had the "joint jumping" the parents and several of their friends bravely attempted a party upstairs. These brave souls were the Eber Readmans, the Gene Crossys and the Don Ranks.

The last week in August found the Clifford Smith family vacationing at Pentwater Lake located near Hart, Dorothy's old home town.

Relatives still residing there who helped make the week an enjoyable one were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fox and Mrs. Hannah North.

One of the highlights of their vacation was the Ottawa Centennial celebrating the 100th anniversary of the Indians in this territory.

Enroute home the Smiths spent several days with Glen Smith, father of Clifford Smith, whose summer home is at Bitley.

Comings and goings: Recent dinner guests at the Alex Balloch home last week were Mr. and Mrs. George Groos of Detroit and the William Mayos of Royal Oak.

Guesting at the Victor Moores last week were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Haight of Hollywood, Fla.

The Richard Ney residence, on Dewey, has been the scene of many family gatherings this summer. Enjoying a visit with them this week were Mrs. Elsie Ney, mother of Mr. Ney, of Torrington, Conn., and Mrs. Florence Ekstrom of Hanover, New Hampshire. They, like all out-of-town guests, found shopping and sightseeing at Northland a fascinating experience. Also as the hometown of Mrs. Ekstrom's is essentially college - Dartmouth - they found browsing around Ann Arbor and the University of Michigan very enjoyable.

Saturday evening the Gerald Fuellings, of Byron, attended the wedding of their cousin, Richard Radatz, to Sharon Cooper. The wedding and reception took place at Our Lady of LaSalette in Berkley.

Several neighborhood children helped Dale Stanhope, son of the Norman Stanhopes, celebrate his sixth birthday Sunday.

Bob Probeck's destination this week will be the Jones-Dabney sales conference located in Louisville, Ky.

Now that fall is gently but firmly nudging out our short but favorite season the girls are taking it in their stride with calendars filled with various civic and social activities.

The kick-off game of the season, bridge, of course, took place at the home of Mrs. Larry Becker Wednesday evening. Members attending were Mrs. Cedric Sweet, Mrs. Forrest Morgeson, Mrs. Robert Probeck, Mrs. Jim Ross, Mrs. Bill Harloff, Mrs. Philip Theobald and Mrs. Victor Moore.

Another all-girl event took place at the home of Mrs. Forrest Morgeson the following evening. A jewelry demonstration which, of course, the girls couldn't resist was attended by the following: Mrs. Walter Beglinger, Mrs.

Larry Becker, Mrs. Philip Theobald, Mrs. Charles Wolfe, Mrs. James Ross, Mrs. William Hartloff, Mrs. David Lobbestael, Mrs. Wendell Lent, Mrs. Blaine Lytle and Mrs. T. Swanteck. Of course, this will be a blow to you men but we'll naturally all need new outfits to show off our new gems.

Drivers, beware of all cyclists especially the new four-some (two chasers - they can be recognized by their wobbly, unsure piloting and are usually accompanied by four or five offspring) that usually rides at the stroke of seven. One member, lucky gal, has a very special reason for keeping in condition - an October trip to Jamaica. The others are using as their inspiration the old boy scout motto - "be prepared."

Our lady-in-waiting, Mrs. Marie Wells, formerly Marie Ingall, was guest of honor at a surprise shower last week at the home of Mrs. Joseph Haley. The 13 girls, many newlyweds, were an enthusiastic audience while Marie opened her lovely gifts for the new heir soon to make his or her appearance.

The state flower of Georgia is the Cherokee Rose. Its state bird is the Brown Thrasher.

Pulling out blue and white uniforms, enthusiastically going over every routine till the slightest imperfection is eradicated and around making last minute arrangements for the Pep Assembly tomorrow are the Cheerleaders! The team behind the team! They are Varsity cheerers Bette Argo (a Senior just elected captain), Junior Jill Clarke (secretary-treasurer), Seniors Mer Palmer and Liz Calhoun, Juniors Mavis Williams, and Karen West, Juniors Barb Booth and Sally Widmaier (Co-Captains), Nancy Alford, Nancy Ouimet, and sophomores Karen Rank and Peggy Jenkins.
Attention photo bugs — or anyone who'd like to win a 1958 Plythean: A photo contest sponsored by the annual staff with Sue Mather and Mavis Williams calling the signals will be officially underway Monday, when pictures of school activities will be accepted for competition. Pics can be submitted by high school students only, name, grade and phone of the photographer must be pasted on back of the photo. "Prizes will be given for the clearest, most ideally arranged, well centered and original photos," explained Sue and Mav. Further details may be secured from one of the girls. Deadline for entries is December 22, when professional photographers will judge photos. Good Luck Shutterbugs!
"It was very quiet and secretive — we kept our heads down most of the time," Betty Carless was describing her visit to the Russian sector of Berlin while in Germany. She and her companions were not allowed to speak to the people, nor take pictures of them. The two "minded their own business," and went about to the museums, statues, etc. quietly, methodically. People stared.
Later, Betty discussed the German consensus of Americans with her "family." She discovered that the Germans have a higher regard for Americans than they do of Russians, although both were enemies during World War II. It seems that the "Americans were not as cruel."
Betty also was in Italy and Switzerland and took in the World's Fair, as did the other four exchange students.
All the other exchange students developed "theories" about Europeans and their life, too.
Sue Campbell's "father" had been a captain in Hitler's army and she was very impressed "that they had the strength to have an American in the home and were willing to forget." Germany was Carole's home where, she said, "People seem to have conflicting ideas. Most of the time they think of America as a soft place to live with rock 'n' roll, Elvis Presley and the Wild West, but yet they think of America as having unbounded freedom to do as they wish." Carole attended a German school, was impressed by the conscientiousness of students.
While in England, Jonie Izett "missed our American washing machines — I had to do all my own laundry." She counts seeing Winston Churchill and his home as a high spot of the trip. Dave Graves, who traveled with the Michigan Chorale, was impressed with "the hospitality of the Germans, their trust, and friendliness."
Flashing new class rings since a week ago Monday are the Juniors, who, after giving orders last spring finally have the finger fancy-uppers in their possession. An array of rings was shown last year to the class executive board: Jay Selle, Jim Herter, Dick Hubert, Mavis Williams, Peg Davidson, Mike Porter, Gloria Bowles, and Randy Egloff. The group, after much deliberation, finally made a selection. Mr. Ed Brown is the Class Adviser.
For classes have been added to the PHS curriculum. They are third year French and Latin and physical science and physical geography.
"Remember Seniors for Christmas and All-Occasion Card orders — they'll be a 11 over town," admonished Senior Class President Dick Small. The class's biggest money-making project will be in full swing for several weeks; a net gain of $1,500 is expected with 220 workers selling 3000 boxes of cards. The money will pay for cap and gown rental, annuals, and a banquet.
The Senior Executive Board met representatives from gift card companies Monday. Board members are President Dick Small, Vice-President Glyn Norton, Secretary Carol North, Treasurer Ken Jacobs and Student Council members Jonie Izett, Linda Heric, Lois Austin and

Smorgasbord ala Newburg Planned For October 11

(Covering the Newburg Area, founded by Wayne Rd., Ann Arbor Rd., Lalonde and Joy Rd., including the Washington School Area.)
BY MRS. EMIL LAPOINTE, GA. 1-2029
"Smorgasbord, ala Newburg" is the title for a forthcoming event to be held at the Newburg Methodist church: A smorgasbord supper, served from 4:30 p.m. through 7 p.m., with cuisine like you've never tasted before. All the very unusual in every course.
Date for the event has been set for Saturday, Oct. 11, so gather all your kith and kin and come to - what we hope will be - an annual affair. Ticket prices have not been set, as yet, but you can be sure that they will be within the reach of every pocket-book. The church is located at the cross roads, Newburg rd. and Ann Arbor Trail and it is the hope of the women of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, who are sponsoring the event, that all of you fine folks will mark the date on your calendar. You may call me for ticket reservations or call Mrs. Paul Nixon, GA. 1-8987. Let's all go to Newburg on Saturday, Oct. 11.

To introduce their son's new wife and also in honor of their 35th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin C. Gutherie, Sr., of Newburg road, Plymouth, held an open house for more than 100 guests on Sunday, Sept. 7. Theme color for the afternoon was pink. Two tables, with pink cloths were centered with a white bridal cake in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin C. Gutherie, Jr., on one and on the other a similar cake in pink with rubies on the corners of the table, symbolic of the traditional stone for the 35th anniversary. A Hungarian string group entertained the guests with music throughout the afternoon and through the supper hour. Guest list included folks from St. Clair Shores, Oxford, Birmingham, Bay City, Royal Oak and Conway, Michigan.
The Bloodmobile will be in the Newburg area on Friday, September 19 for all those wishing to donate. You may designate, if you so desire, where you wish the donation to be sent. The times for the Bloodmobile will be from 3-5 p.m. and 6-9 p.m. at the St. Society of Christian Service, Michael's Catholic school hall.
On Sunday, Sept. 7, Mr. LaPointe and I along with our children, Bruce, David, Mark and Nan, were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Weiss, Jr., of Judd rd., Belleville. The get-together was in honor of my brother's, Mr. Weiss, birthday.
On Saturday, Sept. 6, Mrs. Melvin C. Gutherie, Sr., of Newburg rd., was privileged to attend the graduation of Joan Carson, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Verle Carson, former pastor of the Newburg Methodist church, from the Ford Hospital school of nursing. After a trip to Miami, Fla., Miss Carson will return to the Ford hospital to take up her career.

Men of the Central Methodist church's Men's Club will have their annual retreat at the Newburg Methodist church on Saturday, September 20. The women of the Rhoda Circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the church will serve the dinner for the men. We welcome these folks to our area for this annual event.
Say, I haven't heard from many of you folks for quite a while now and thought surely you'd be calling this week. Hope you won't mind the news being so brief. Make it a note to call every Thursday. See you next week?
Citizens in Tampa, Fla., are required by a new ordinance to help police officers make an arrest when a would-be prisoner resists. Otherwise, they face arrest themselves.

Tonight is our usual meeting night and we hope to see a good crowd out. Attendance has been splendid for quite a while now and we're hoping it will continue. We have several new candidates coming up for this meeting.
Pomona meeting of last week was a good meeting with something over 60 present. Announcement was made of an "open house" held last night for Mr. and Mrs. Andy Campbell whose house burned a few months ago with everything they possessed in it. They were away from home, so it was a bad blow to them.
The Buster Brown Dress is something quite new for the Junior Miss this season and promises to be very popular. Basically it features a big bow tie accenting the round white collar. The long eased bodice ends with a belt through tunnels where it meets the full pleated skirt.

BLoused SILHOUETTE VIES FOR TOP HONORS

The bloused form of the more easily fitted silhouette looms larger this season, often as a palatable alternative to the chemise. The bloused back especially, or as in a number of afternoon crepe dresses the cowl-drape that approximates the bloused look, is very much in evidence; front is either straight or fitted.

Apron Is Top Give-Away

CHICAGO — (UPI) — The apron is the country's favorite give-away, says a Chicago company.
The company (Albert Brooks Products company) said it sold 10 million aprons in the last eight years.
Aprons are used as premiums by all types of promotion from a local store opening to the premium in flour or other food product.

South Lyon School Board Hears Plan

The South Lyon Board of Education heard recommendations regarding immediate and long-range school building construction from Walter Anicka of the architectural firm of W. T. Anicka and Associates, at their regular last Monday evening.

With enrollment up 75 students from last year's figures and 230 over the 1956 figures, Anicka's overall recommendations included either one 12-room elementary school or two 6-room elementary units and a new high school. In addition, he said that provisions must eventually be made to convert the present high school into a junior high.

His firm recommended that the junior high building be used for general administration, general warehousing of supplies. The firm made the following immediate and long range recommendations:

School unit No. 1, in the Salem area. Retaining and increasing the size of the present site. Though there are numerous potential sites west of Salem on Six Mile Rd., the firm did not feel that there was much to be gained in developing an entirely new site. The number of new classrooms on this site would be determined by elementary enrollment south of Eight Mile Rd. from Whitmore Lake boundary to the Northville district boundary, with an estimate of six to eight classrooms and a multi-purpose room.

School unit No. 2, Rushton area on or near 10 Mile Rd. between Peer and Dixboro Rds. South Lyon Area elementary site of 10 acres on or near 10 Mile and Smith Rds. School unit 3, a high school site. The firm feels in order to house the school population forecast for 1963, construction is necessary of Unit No. 1 in Salem, Unit No. 2 at any of the locations where a site is immediately available, and the first stage to the new high school. This would include construction of a gymnasium with required classrooms adjoining. As the need for additional classrooms increases, they could be added, freeing some classrooms in the present high school for junior high school classes.

Two Accidents

Willis Edward Morgan, Jr., 22, of Bretteon Ave. in Detroit, was traveling north on Pontiac Trail, when he lost control of the car, a 1957 Plymouth, on a curve, going into a ditch hitting a utility pole. The driver was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with lacerations of the face and leg.

Salem deputies answered a property damage call at Whitmore Lake, when a 1956 Chevrolet parked in a driveway was struck in the rear by a stationwagon driven by Ernest Nuttle of Ann Arbor who was backing out of adjoining driveway. Witnesses stated the driver did not report this accident or leave his name and address.

Federated Church News

The Christian Fellowship class honored Rev. Richard Burgess with a surprise birthday party on Sept. 13 at the home of Jerry and Betty Gardner of Ruston Road. There were 28 present. A large sheet cake was decorated and inscribed with "Happy Birthday to Our Pastor." Several gifts were presented to him.

There were 160 present in Sunday School, Sunday Sept. 14, with several absentees reported. These were visited on Tuesday, the regular visitation evening, Monday Sept. 15, several ladies helped in cleaning the church and Sunday School building.

The pastor is bringing a series of messages on Bible characters: John the Baptist and King Jashiah were presented in the morning and evening services Sunday, Sunday Sept. 21 the morning message will be on the Prophet Elijah. The evening message will be brought by Rev. Morris Beck, missionary candidate to the Salem church from October to May. A Fellowship and Singing time will be held after the evening service. Several gifts which the Becks need for their outfit will be presented to them. The Becks hope to sail to Formosa sometime in December. The Salem Church has pledged $60 each month to their support.

Fire Destroys Barn

A modern barn belonging to the Ray Hensinger family on Eight Mile Road was destroyed by fire on Wednesday afternoon. The flames were whipped by the strong wind and despite the efforts of firemen from Salem, South Lyon, Plymouth Township, Novi, Northville, and Maybury Sanatorium. The loss included a large amount of baled hay and straw, electric brooder stoves, two racing sulkeys and other farm equipment. The cause of the fire is unknown but originated in the loft, it is believed. Mr. Hensinger said the loss was partially covered by insurance.

A car fire and grass fire on Angle Road Sunday afternoon was answered by the Salem Fire Department. The car belonged to Mr. Hossess of Detroit.

Front Row Center

by George Spelvin

First football game of the season for Plymouth High School looms large on the immediate horizon. Even though this is a drama column devoted to theatrical "goings-on-about-town", the rough and tumble sport of football to me has always contained a vestige or two of matters dramatic.

Especially since the majority of games are now under lights the effect has been magnified. One thing for sure many of the players feel like a featured actor when they score a winning touchdown under the floodlights. Add to this atmosphere the dramatic conflict inherent when Northville and Plymouth usually meet head-on on the gridiron.

With the football season ready to kick in, the Plymouth Theater Guild is warming its best team also. Team work takes an inordinate amount of cooperation. The Guild is experiencing such a spirit as it moves into its 11th season. Old George sat in the September Board meeting and witnessed the harmonious action on the part of the nine directors of the Theater Guild.

Bob and Betty Houghton, business manager and producer respectively, gave a joint report on the progress of the first show, "Bell, Book, and Candle." Budget for the production was submitted and scrutinized by the board members. After carefully checking each item, the "go-ahead" signal was given and the play now has an official budget.

It will be Bob and Betty's job to keep the budget balanced and if at all possible bring the show to a happy conclusion with money left over. How much does each show budget run? Of course, on Broadway, the average straight play with one set can cost the investors anywhere from $60,000 to $140,000; a musical comedy can go as high as $400,000. Naturally, the Plymouth Theater Guild plays don't get into that bracket.

However, five hundred dollars is comparable to those Broadway figures. Well, at least that gives you some idea of the financial responsibility that rests with the producer of each Guild production.

If anyone has any ideas as to just how the budget can be slashed, they will be granted a most joyous welcome into the group. This year to cut expenses all the local directors and producers refused to take the token payment that has been standard through the past years. Also, the construction of their own flats and incidental scenery has kept the cost of the shows down although to begin with such an initial outlay was expensive. Storage of these flats and a place to work on them has always been a problem for the Plymouth Theater Guild.

This year they have been granted use of the former Plymouth Glass Company's headquarters on Ann Arbor Road next to the A & P. The scenery workshop has been a "second home" to many Plymouthites over the past

Joining the Remodeling Clique?

Many homeowners these autumn days are remodeling and repairing their homes with low-cost loans they're able to pay off in convenient monthly payments.

You, too, may have a yen to install a new heating system, modernize the kitchen or give your home a fresh coat of paint. Fortunately, if you don't have enough cash-on-hand, there's no need to put off this work if you follow a few, simple rules.

First, get estimates from reliable contractors. If a stranger wants your business, you'll do well to check his reputation. Any established contractor will gladly give you references, including the names of satisfied customers.

Second, analyze your finances. Once you know how much the project's going to cost, determine how much you'll need to borrow and how much you can repay in monthly payments.

SPRING FED POND IMPROVES LAND Bulldozing Cost Nominal

Converting Low Moist Land to Pond Smart Plan for Beauty and Safety

Low-lying, moist land on any part of the property and however far from the house is a problem for homeowners. It will be a lot safer as well as more effective scenically if the moist land can be converted into a pond.

This making of ponds on outlying suburban and country properties is encouraged by both the State and Federal Conservation Services. The State conservationist or county agent may be called upon for advice and even testing of the terrain for the purpose. In addition, some states encourage the construction of ponds by making available shrubs and trees for planting near by and stocking those that are large enough with fish.

There are many reasons for this aid and advice. However small it may be, the pond is a basin for collecting and holding water. This can be a safety factor in case of fire in outlying areas. Ponds near orchards can help prevent the effect of frost on crops and in many cases prevent damage from untimely cold weather. Above all, ponds are important for storage of water in the East, Midwest and South where any spring, summer or fall is likely to bring a period of drought.

If the pond can be used for swimming, that will be an added dividend. But a storage pond is far different from a swimming pool and will cost the property owner only a small fraction as much in money.

A pond 75 feet long, 35 feet wide and 7 feet deep in the center cost a family in Pawling, N. Y., exactly $100. This pond is far safer for children than the area was originally when it was almost constantly moist from springs.

Because of the wetness in one corner of their property this family had the idea that they might be able to have a pond for a few lies without too much effort. The State Conservationist, who was called in for advice, made tests to a depth of 7 or more feet to determine whether or not the soil would hold water. Next a landscape architect was consulted and ended up by staking out the pond area, which is roughly kidney-shaped.

The man with the bulldozer worked exactly one day to excavate the pond and grade the land around it; his bill was $100. The finished grading, sowing of grass and planting of daylilies and shrubs (contributed by neighbors) were done by the family.

The bulldozer operator more than earned his money, for he figured out how to grade so that a 7-foot-high dam was not necessary. A dam of this height at one end would have been unsightly. Now the banks of the pond look level from the house but actually the side nearest the house is graded lower than the one farthest away. Skillful grading reduced the dam height to not more than 4 feet.

Because of the grading, water from surrounding land drains into the pond. This plus springs that feed it filled the pond within two months after excavation. During the extremely dry summer of 1957, the level fell not more than 2 feet.

More shrubs were planted last spring to hold the soil and facilitate run-off of water into the pond. And this summer, finally, saw those waterlilies blooming on its surface.

Hosing Clears Debris

Leaves, twigs and other debris that fall into a home's gutters and leaders cause trouble when least expected. If they are not removed, a homeowner can count on various forms of construction deterioration.

Those homeowners living in areas that do not have heavy rainfall are just as susceptible. Should a sudden rain storm come up, water must run off and drain efficiently. The only trouble is, homeowners who live in dry climates are not mindful of gutters on their homes, and usually there is an accumulation of several years of leaves and twigs blocking all gutters and leaders.

What are the effects of blocked gutters and leaders? There are several. Most important is that water, which can't drain off a roof adequately, backs up and is forced into a home's siding. The results are stained interior walls, ruination of decoration such as paint and wallpaper, and eventually dry rot of wood materials used in the construction of the home.

As for those homes that have basements, blocked gutters and leaders will be sure to keep basements damp and wet. Such a condition prevents the storage of any furniture or valuable items due to the threat of mildew.

Equipment necessary for this chore is a hose, a ladder to get up and down from the roof and a long flexible cable known by professional plumbers as a "snake." The most logical beginning is to remove all leaves and foreign matter from the gutters. Then, the hose should be turned on the leaders and gutters to wash out the surface.

Many times, the opening from the gutter to the leader is covered with a screen to prevent objects from going down the leader. These screens should be cleaned and replaced if worn.

If there is noticeable blocking of leaders, the flexible cable should be forced down the leader and twisted to dislodge the objects blocking the drain-off of water. This may take several tries, but it must be continued until water drains freely. A squirt of the hose down the leader will tell if it is working efficiently.

During this cleaning, it is practical for a homeowner to inspect all gutters and leaders for wear and holes. Frequently, small holes can be "plugged" with the application of tar paint available at hardware or building supply stores. However, if the tar paint doesn't do the job satisfactorily, new leaders and gutters should be installed.

HE'S PROTECTING HIS PROPERTY Fall Maintenance Task

Stymied By Budget Blues? Here's Help From Experts

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bugaboos of budget plans — bookkeeping and paperwork — have been reduced to a minimum in a four-step budget suggested by the Institute of Life Insurance.

—List the family's annual take-home pay, plus any other income that comes in during the year, such as dividends and social security checks. Divide the total by 52 to arrive at the family's weekly income.

—List the family's fixed obligations for the year, including rent or mortgage payments, utilities, charitable contributions, life insurance and other insurance premiums, an estimate of clothing costs and payments on loans. Divide by 52.

—Decide how much the family will want for its annual emergency fund for medical bills, household repairs and so on. If a goal of $200 a year is set, it would take a weekly set aside of $4.

Add the weekly averages of fixed obligations and the necessary emergency funds and subtract the total from the average of weekly income. The remainder is the sum available each week for food, allowances, running the house, and recreation.

To make the plan work, keep a close watch on expenditures at first. Jot down the smallest sums spent. That way a family knows where the money goes and members can adjust their spending accordingly.

Christmas Three Months Away — Start Making Leaf Decor

Do-It-Yourself Project: 'Skeletonize' Leaves

With the first day of the fall season on September 23, Christmas seems a long way off. Some handsome and unusual decorations for that holiday can be made in odd moments, adding up to only a few hours of the three-months-long Fall.

Basis of these decorations are leaves that drop from trees during autumn. Perfect specimens of these leaves can be picked up from the ground and treated to "skeletonize" them. This skeletonizing removes all of the green, red, yellow or purple flesh of the leaf and leaves it a mass of ivory colored veins.

Oak, maple and magnolia leaves are particularly suited for making Christmas decorations after they have been skeletonized. If single oak or maple leaves are wired together, they can be used to decorate wreaths or door sprays of evergreens.

To make a door spray of skeletonized leaves, their ivory tone to be enhanced by red berries and green or gold ribbon, twigs or small branches of oak or maple might be cut—if the tree needs pruning—and each leaf on the branch skeletonized carefully.

Stripping leaves down to their skeletons is simple and fun for a family. And the necessary equipment can be found around the home! An old hair or shoe brush is the most important "tool," and the bristles should be fine but not stiff. Nylon or synthetic bristles are too stiff.

Each member of the family who plans to skeletonize leaves will need to have a foot-square plywood board over which has been tacked a piece of old carpeting. Each leaf is placed on the board, top side up, and held gently but firmly in one hand. Then with the other hand tap the leaf lightly with the brush.

Gentle tapping is the key to perfect skeletonized leaves without a break. If the leaf is held up to the light after a few minutes tapping, loss of the flesh will be noticed. If flesh does not seem to come off easily, reverse the leaf on the carpeted board every so often on its underside.

Magnolia leaves were the perfect choice to skeletonize to make ivory poinsettia flowers. At least six dozen of these flowers were the trimming for a 6-foot evergreen Christmas tree, shown by the Bethesda Community Garden Club of Bethesda, Md., at the Christmas Greens Show in Washington, D. C., last December.

Members of the garden club started in September to gather magnolia leaves. They chose only perfect green leaves from the evergreen Magnolia grandiflora—not dried and curled half-brown ones that had fallen to the ground. During the weeks of autumn, members worked at skeletonizing the leaves and, finally, turning them into poinsettia blooms.

Several of the skeletonized leaves were gathered together in the form of a poinsettia. Fastened in the center of each poinsettia was a sweet gum ball that had been coated with silver paint. Each ivory colored magnolia leaf was touched with a bit of glitter, applied by dipping a camel's hair paintbrush into glue, touching the tip to the leaf and then sprinkling glitter over the glue. Glitter was applied sparsely, not to cover the leaf but only to reflect the Christmas tree lights. This evergreen tree, decorated only with twinkling ivory poinsettia flowers, was perhaps the prettiest tree in Washington last year.

GET ON YOUR walking shoes and go leaf hunting! You'll be delighted with the ingenious Christmas decorations you can make by "skeletonizing" oak, maple, and magnolia leaves. Now's the time to get perfect specimens of these leaves from the ground — skip the dried and curled half-brown ones.

HERE'S A SAMPLE of how magnolia leaves were glamorized to be used on a Christmas tree at the Christmas Greens Show in Washington, D.C., last December. These shown "leaf" flowers consist of eight "skeletonized" magnolia leaves with center of silvered sweet gum tree ball.

Fall Colors Go To Head In Gay Wigs!

"Who is that woman with the green hair?" may well become a common question this season.

Along with the chic, chic feather hats that completely cover the hair, there are now pastel costume wigs! —These wigs, most of which come from creators of wigs for window mannequins, are worn as elegant accessories.

They match or contrast the rest of a fashionable outfit and are NEVER intended to look like hair.

Colors include a full scope of pastels and natural tones.

Beauty salons have accepted the idea and many are selling them, styled in the buyer's favorite coiffure.

Dinettes Go Out Of The Kitchen

Bright new styling is the keynote of the dinette fashion story! It starts with the tops . . . rich brown and beige wood grain plastics; plank effects, band effects, simulated leather inlays and sunburst patterns.

Newest of all is a silvery grey pewter finish, a perfect foil for such exciting decorator colors as turquoise, canary yellow, persimmon and gold in chair covers.

White with the Midas touch of glittery-gold is increasingly popular. This includes gold-flecked table inlays and upholstery or gold-accented aprons and brackets.

The glitter field extends to lustrous new bronze and copper tones in tune with finishes in major kitchen appliances.

There's news in the vinyl upholstery story. Leather-like vinyls in slate, gold and turquoise; also pearlized vinyl with a leather look and two-tone combinations and random stripes, to complement the wood-grains.

All the indications point to a definite trend that dinettes are taking a big step beyond the kitchen door.

Canning Kettle In Space Age Busy as In Grandma's Time

NEW YORK (UPI) — Grandma's preserving kettle is right at home in the space age.

It bubbles merrily on the stoves of some 20 million American families from the time of the summer crop through the fall harvest, an Agriculture Department survey showed. This figure represents 44.5 per cent of all United States households, the survey added.

Fruits are the favorite home canning raw material, with most of them ending up in preserves, jams, jellies and relishes. Peaches lead the fruit popularity poll and, with tomatoes, are the foods most often canned.

Why do fruits out do vegetables in canning popularity? Mrs. Irene Wolgamot, a Rutgers University extension service food and nutrition specialist, explained:

"Anyone with a deep kettle can put up fruits and tomatoes, which are acid. But you need more equipment, including a pressure canner, for nonacid vegetables."

Pickles, relishes, mince meat and applesauce are among the fall possibilities for home canners, Mrs. Wolgamot said.

But don't can or preserve more than you expect to use or give as presents during the year, she warned. Most foods put up at home will keep as long as the seal of the jar and nutritional losses occur when products are stored too long or too near heat and light sources.

The nutritionist said that many homemakers still can and preserve food at home for economy reasons.

The growing popularity of home food freezers and rental lockers apparently hasn't cut into the canning preserving rate to a marked extent.

More families can food than freeze it, the Agriculture Department pointed out, but the amount frozen by an average family is considerably greater than the amount canned per family. However, 85 per cent of the frozen food was meat, and 45 per cent of the meat was beef.

For homemakers who both can and freeze, a major mason jar manufacturer (Ball Brothers Co.) has a new all-purpose glass container. This jar, tapered so that frozen food will slide out without thawing, comes with a conventional reusable metal screw band and separate rubber seal lid.

Typical Tahiti Meal Features At Least Ten Different Foods

NEW YORK (UPI) — Even the small fry help prepare dinner in Tahiti.

If they're old enough to walk, they're old enough to gather ti leaves for cooking and serving utensils while their parents and older brothers and sisters do the heavier chores, says Tahitian dancer Ramine.

This early training may explain why the featured player in Cinerama-South Seas Adventure is as good a cook as she is a dancer at 18. In recent native dance contests, she was acclaimed champion Ori-Tahiti dancer of all French Oceania.

Her culinary skills were displayed at a Tamaaraa, or typical Tahitian feast, in connection with the world premiere of the movie.

The beautiful Polynesian dancer helped her adoptive mother, Mrs. Prudence Alan, with the meal.

But the menu was modest compared to the usual Tahitian dinner, they explained.

The buffet contained "only" six ota (lime-marinated fish), langouste mayonnaise (lobster with mayonnaise), moa tarea (mildly-curved chicken), rice with sauteed almonds, fei (baked plantain bananas), iita (papaya baked with rum and brown sugar), poi (banana-flavored arrowroot pudding), and tropical fruits.

A potluck meal for the average Tahitian family is apt to have at least 10 different foods, they said, while a real feast may offer 20.

So it's no wonder that the entire family, from father to the smallest child, has to pitch in from early morning to get ready.

While the men go to the hills to gather fruits and vegetables and to the seas to catch more fish, the women and older children begin cooking.

Into a hole-in-the-ground oven go meat — frequently pork but sometimes beef, chicken and domestic ducks, and freshly-caught fish, shrimps, crabs and lobsters, all seasoned and wrapped in layers of ti leaves. These are roasted slowly on pre-heated basaltic rocks, volcanic deposits gathered from nearby streams.

The oven may also contain fruits and vegetables, including ufi and tarau, starchy roots somewhat like white potatoes, native sweet potatoes and bread-fruit, the starchy staple of the South Pacific diet.

A filled oven is covered tightly first with layers of banana leaves to keep the food clean, and then with damp gunny sacks and the earth that was removed in digging the oven.

The French influence shows in the beverage department. Rum punch and red and white wine usually accompany a big meal, Ramine said, and champagne is served on special occasions.

PLYMOUTH MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION OPPOSE LIQUOR BY GLASS SALE

Inasmuch as an editorial in the Plymouth Mail of Thursday, September 4th, made the statement that there had been no protest from any group against the repeal of the liquor by the glass ordinance in the City of Plymouth, the Plymouth Ministerial Association feels compelled to make this statement.

On the grounds of principle, the Ministerial Association of Plymouth is opposed to the sale of liquor in any form anywhere, not just in our town but in its environs. It is felt that the liquor traffic in its commercial form is an influence for social evil in our world, and the fact that alcoholism is the fourth major disease of our nation compels the Church to definitely take its stand against anything which encourages the sale of liquor.

While the present ordinance does work for a financial inequality which penalizes the institutions in the City of Plymouth which do not sell liquor, this protest is not directed against their attempt as such to obtain privileges in keeping with other institutions on the immediate environs of the town, but this protest is against the strengthening of the liquor traffic anywhere.

Again, as the proposed change now stands, it cannot be stated that there will be a limitation of licenses. While the assurance has been given by the present City Commission that there will be only three licenses issued, this cannot be written into the bill as it is presented to the people of Plymouth. Any future City Commission may, at its own discretion, change the number of licenses issued, in accordance with the regulation of the state, without consulting the people of this city. The liquor traffic is a lucrative trade and it may well be possible that without any statutory limitation, the City of Plymouth may find itself with more than three taverns.

In the light of these reasons, the Plymouth Ministerial Association hereby makes its protest against the repeal of the city ordinance forbidding the sale of liquor by the glass within the boundaries of the City of Plymouth, and reaffirms its objection to the commercialization of the liquor traffic in all its forms anywhere.

Tips for Teens

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Q.—"Dear Elinor: What do you do when another girl tries to get your boyfriend? I am 14 and go steady with a boy my age. There is a girl who likes him and she always gets us into trouble by telling him lies about me. He always believes her when she tells him to go out with other boys and doesn't believe me when I tell him the truth. I'm afraid this is going to break us up."
 A.—"No, it's proper for you to pay your transportation expenses. AFTER you get there, you're his guest, and he pays all other expenses, such as your meals, for the place where you stay, etc. When you write to him, tell him you appreciate his thoughtfulness, but you will buy your plane ticket yourself. Be sure to tell him how much you're looking forward to the week end so he won't take offense."
 Q.—"It sounds as if this girl wants your boy-friend and doesn't care how she gets him for her own date-mate. Tell your 'steady' once and for all, in a nice way, that as long as you 'go steady' with him, you can be trusted and you expect him to trust you. Tell him that if you ever decide to date anyone else, he'll be the first to know, because you'll tell him honestly. Meanwhile, you must trust each other and not listen to trouble-makers. If he can't trust you — no matter what others say — he's not the boy for you."
 Q.—"Dear Elinor: A boy who goes to school out-of-town has invited me to his school for a big game and dance and weekend house-party. My parents say I can go, but who should pay my fare? The boy said his father will send a check later to pay my plane fare. Is this proper?"

Janet Willoughby Collects Ribbons With Heifer

Talk blue-ribbon winning heifers and steers to 16-year-old Janet Willoughby of Plymouth, and you're in conversation "clover."
 Janet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Willoughby, of N. Territorial Rd., and a senior at Plymouth High School this fall, has a long trail of winning awards in 4-H and county contests.
 Her most recent victories were at the highly-competitive Michigan State Fair staged in Detroit. There she won a first place award for her heifer, previously named the Grand Champion at the Adrian 4-H Fair about three weeks ago.
 And one of her steer entries, the former Grand Championship winner at the Fowlerville and Wayne County Fairs, took second place honors in a class of 32 steers. Plymouth diners might get to see this steer again — one way or the other — as Ar-wor-ker!

Slander on Our State!

This newspaper is about as distressed as anyone over the undemocratic control of the Democratic party by the elements of the CIO.

As a close witness of the political scene in the 17th District, we know as well as anybody how two or three CIO political action experts are attempting to call the signals for the entire Democratic party in this area.

We realize that the weight for their orders comes from the support of important County and State officials beyond them.

We also happen to know that there are great numbers of rank and file Democrats who object both on personal and philosophical grounds. They are denied a voice personally in their party and further, iron-fisted control of a party by one particular faction is not in the traditions of American representative government.

We know all this, but we draw the line when those facts are used by Republican opponents to wreck the reputation of the State of Michigan as a good place for business and industry to operate.

For far too long, the cry has been raised by GOP voices that "Michigan simply doesn't measure up" to other states as a place for business to locate. Our "tax structure" is referred to as being unfair and the cause for industry dislocation. The whole thing is wrapped together as "bad business climate."

We're in this mood today because we have just been mailed a couple of editorials from Jack Sinclair, an old friend and out-state newspaper publisher at Hartford, Michigan. With an election at hand, Jack is urging all publishers to get out and shout that the Democrats have wrecked Michigan for industry.

We refuse to do it, because we don't believe it is true. We have heard the lament about "taxes" for a long time and are convinced: (1) Taxes haven't been the cause of any industry shifts with which we are personally familiar; (2) If state taxes have been the cause somewhere, they still aren't any more the product of a Democratic governor than they have been of a Republican legislature; (3) If CIO grip of government creates a bad "climate," then the thing to do is reduce that grip, as far as possible, and keep the battle confined to that single issue.

The bad name given Michigan through the Republican propaganda mills has been more destructive of the industrial development of the State than all the tax policies enacted since Michigan was discovered by the first white man.

Don't Arrive Too Late!

"Life Begins at Forty"

By ROBERT PETERSON

MY SEARCH FOR unusual leisure time pursuits led me recently to the trail of Thomas and Catharine Storie—a couple in their mid-50's whose hobby is walking.

What makes their walking unusual is that they do it in a systematic and dedicated fashion. In the past three decades they've walked an estimated 17,000 miles. They spurn the countryside, which has lured walkers for centuries, and confine their hoofing to cities which interest them.

They chart their walks with a goal of eventually covering every single street in a city. They've hiked without a hitch in dozens of cities around the country, and in such faraway places as Madrid and Tangier, and keep careful maps of each city marked with crayon showing the streets they've traversed.

While back they completed the biggest walk of their lives by finishing a gargantuan tramping tour through every one of New York City's 6,000 miles of streets.

"We took up walking soon after we were married," said Storie, a civil engineer with black hair, shaggy eyebrows, and a friendly face. His wife, who works as a librarian, shares his interest, and the two of them can hardly wait for leisure hours when they can hit the pavements.

"We just plain like to walk to do with it."

Townships Are Vanishing

Modern Michigan is in the throes of an almost accidental move to make the city the basic form of government.

Through numerous annexations whole townships are disappearing inside the city limit signs. For better or for worse, several metropolitan areas are growing rapidly.

Flint is fighting in the courts to adopt two nearby towns and parts of eight townships; Battle Creek has elaborate annexation plans; Holland is making news with similar ideas.

The Citizens Research Council of Michigan has urged that the four fashionable Grosse Pointes—Grosse Pointe Farms, Grosse Pointe Woods, Grosse Pointe and Grosse Pointe Park—near Detroit be merged to provide single services at less cost than now.

Supporting a and opposition forces have their own valid arguments.

Taxes, of course, are the major issue from the standpoint of every citizen's pocketbook. Annexing to a city area can be quite a tax jolt to either of the groups, but usually the annexed area feels the increase as new or improved services become available.

Local government is centralized by annexation as it wipes out the older basic form of township government. Resentment goes deep in smaller government offices. "But it's silly to have three fire departments when one will do," said Tilden Mason, of the research council.

In preference to annexation, a number of smaller towns and townships are working to consolidate into a new and separate metropolitan or city unit.

Another phase of the problem, most prominent in school districts, is the indebtedness of the annexed and the annexing units.

Cities are generally unwilling to take on the bonded debts of a smaller annexed area. Smaller units are not eager to join bigger areas where the public debt is large and thus help pay it off.

A centralized government in the hands of a responsible executive has been a goal of reformers on the state level for years.

The research council's reports and recommendations to the legislature all have pointed the way.

Reformers won a major victory last year when the sharply-divided legislature finally approved a bill to give the governor power to reorganize the administration.

Political parties are trying to give the Teamsters Union to each other.

The donation battle started when Teamster Boss James R. Hoffa fell from Democratic grace in 1952. Democrats have since complained that Hoffa wanted to take over their party.

For years, until the 1952 split, the teamsters supported Democrats. Reports show that Hoffa's support still was present for Democrats that year.

Democrats said that Hoffa supported former Republican U.S. Senator Homer Ferguson during his last unsuccessful campaign and lent help to others in the party. This year that Wayne County Prosecutor Samuel Olsen and others accepted money for their campaigns from the union. Olsen received $11,000.

A Senate committee in Washington released the list, showing others in the past few years have parlayed teamster bounty to campaign for election.

along with aid from UAW support of a resolution at the party convention in Grand Rapids, ordered Democratic candidates to shun Teamster help this year.

Republicans followed the next week with a similar resolution. They also condemned Hoffa's help.

How to Disagree With Your Boss

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "Doesn't your boss like 'yes men'?" Then learn to disagree with him wisely.

So advises the Bureau of Business Practice, which says timing is the important element in the technique of disagreeing.

Its advice is: don't disagree with the boss when he is feeling depressed, irascible or ill, and find your chance when the two of you are alone.

Observe good manners in expressing your reaction to his ideas, and avoid such words as "idiotic," "ridiculous," or "nonsense."

Under such a direct attack, a person withdraws from free communication. Instead, use such neutral phrases as "It might be worth considering..." "Perhaps you haven't thought of..." etc.

When you do make the boss change his mind, don't belittle him by asking him for a statement that he has reversed himself.

And most important of all—don't disagree with the boss at all if the difference of opinion is of little importance.

Student Noontime Invasion of Downtown Discussed

The course of action that merchants should take when they are confronted with rowdiness and shoplifting while high school students flock downtown over their noon hour was discussed by a panel before the Rotary Club.

But while it was apparent that everyone was aware of the problem, there is no easy solution.

On the panel were Police Chief Kenneth Fisher, Municipal Judge Nandino Perlongo, High School Principal Carvel Bentley, Mary Jane West, high school mayor; and Dick Small, president of the senior class.

Each of the speakers agreed that the number of students causing disturbances are but a small fraction of the total high school population. "The people you have a problem with downtown are the same ones we have a problem with in school," Principal Bentley told Rotarians. "Your stores are attractive — your french fries are more attractive than our spaghetti and macaroni. I am sure that you wouldn't mind having them all in your stores if they behaved."

Bentley declared that he believes that the behavior of Plymouth High School students is better than the average school. "The problem we are talking about today concerns the small minority."

The main suggestion that came out of the half-hour discussion came from Chief Fisher and Judge Perlongo. They urged that if businessmen catch youngsters shoplifting and causing disturbances, that police be summoned immediately.

While businessmen realize that it is difficult to obtain a conviction for shoplifting, Chief Fisher asserted that they should not be interested in obtaining a conviction, but to bring the attention of the act to the parents of the offenders.

Warning the child himself has little effect, the chief declared, but when parents are called in, it is a different story. Principal Bentley agreed that he has much better results when he tells a problem pupil that he wants to talk with the pupil's parents.

Judge Perlongo added that a merchant should notify police and have them talk with the parent, rather than have the businessman talk with the parent themselves. Parents are apt to tell the merchant that their child "can do no wrong but they might be more impressed if the police called them in to pick up their child."

The question of what to do with young offenders if they are caught was brought up by a drug store owner, who said that he had caught two youngsters shoplifting just the night before.

A savings and loan firm officer said that on two occasions last year his building was marked up and it cost $100 each time to get rid of the mark.

City Commissioner Robert Sincock introduced the speakers. Mary Jane West told of what the Student Council is trying to do to keep students at the school. A recreation hour featuring volleyball, dancing and other activities is held in the gym, but draws only 80 to 100 of the 1,200 high school pupils. Another 50 or so use a study hall over the noon hour.

Chief Fisher said that one problem is trying to make more police manpower available over the noon hour. A foot patrolman is sometimes used downtown in addition to a patrol car. "One might also say that it is unfortunate that the high school is so close to downtown," the chief added.

There are very few cases of shoplifting where there is one child involved, the police chief continued. "Last year there was a fad to see who could get the most." He added that some of the problem stems back to the home and the parent who should ask their child if it is necessary for them to go downtown over the noon hour.

Judge Perlongo pointed out that he had no direct connection with the youthful offenders because they do not reach his court until they are 17. Because of that, they are turned over to juvenile authorities.

He noted that there is something magical about the age of 17, since very few of the young people who commit offenses as a juvenile, continue when they reach 17. From that age they are tried as an adult.

One merchant asked the police chief of what use is the Junior Police organization put. Chief Fisher answered that members are not used as informants or for any other police work. They are taught rifle and archery shooting for recreational purposes, he said. In answer to another question, the chief admitted that the comfort station in the Central Parking Lot creates a problem hang-out for some pupils and he offered no immediate suggestion on how to handle the situation.

Senior Class President John Small blamed much of the problem on "adult delinquency" and added that if youngsters are not taught properly at home, they cannot be expected to do any better a way from home.

It was agreed that to more of them," Principal Bentley stated.

Judge Perlongo concluded that a parent told as bad as we used to be.

him a few weeks ago that "if we're not careful, these kids are going to be as bad as we used to be."

Senior Class President John Small blamed much of the problem on "adult delinquency" and added that if youngsters are not taught properly at home, they cannot be expected to do any better a way from home.

There were 4,445 students enrolled in the Plymouth Community School District as the schools began their first full week of operation. The figure is 45 more than had been estimated by Supt. Russell Isbister a month ago. It is 243 more than started school a year ago.

Since the Helen Farrand Elementary School is still not open, their enrollment figure is still an estimate. It has been put at 280, but Principal Gerald Elston believes that it will be closer to 300.

Of the total, 2,524 are in the elementary schools, and 1,921 in the secondary grades.

This is the initial enrollment list of schools as presented to the school board last week:

Allen Elementary, 393; Bird Elementary, 392; Canton Center, 44; Cherry Hill, 48; Farrand Elementary, 280; Gallimore Elementary, 460; Hough School, 60; Smith Elementary, 451; Starkweather Elementary, 350; Truedell School, 56.

Canton Township: Junk Collectors Wanted by Police

BY ESTHER SPRENGEL
GL. 3-0194

Babies seem to be the prominent news this week, with showers and new additions arriving. I sure wish Sprengel model would make itself prominent by arriving. But here we go again with what news we could gather about all of you.

Mrs. Charles Hewer of Canton Center (Mr. Hewer being one of our local Feed Store owners), called to announce that on September 4 at the Garden City Osteopathic Hospital a 6 pound 4 ounce young man arrived named Michael Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hewer, to make two families of the township proud new grandparents: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hewer and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wilkie of Cherry Hill. The new arrival has two other brothers and his youngest brother, Gerry, is staying with his grandparents, the Hewers, on Canton Center until mother returns from the hospital.

A stork shower honoring Mrs. Roger Smith (Marge) of Canton Center was given by Mrs. Smith's mother-in-law, Rose Smith, and sister-in-law, Marge White, of Sheldon Rd. Ten ladies attended the affair with lunch and games enjoyed by all. Present were Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. Marvin Smith, Mrs. Paul Seidenstricker, Mrs. Earl Nieman, Mrs. Alvin French, Mrs. Edward Schmidt, Mrs. Roy Wolfram and Mrs. Barbara Howes.

and Sheryl just returned from Johnstown, Pa., from visiting relatives of Mr. Mucker. The list included Fam Mucker, father of our neighbor, and four brothers and families. This week-end the Muckers are expecting guests (cousins of Mr. Mucker from Flint): Mr. and Mrs. John Patsy and boys, Barry, Donny, Ronny and Randy, also his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mucker and daughter Karen. A cook-out is planned, weather permitting.

The Bloodmobile will be at the Canton Township Precinct Hall at Geddes Rd. and Michigan, from 12 noon until today, Sept. 18, 6 p.m.

I was just about to wind up my article after dinner, when the phone rang, with a very breathless lady on the other end — Mrs. Nick Mucker of Saltz Rd. I had called Mrs. Mucker to ask about her neighbor's new arrival, being they have no phone and to have them give her the information. She said Mrs. Kaiser would probably know, and that a collector of junk was at her door and she had things she wanted desperately to get rid of.

This evening she called back stating she wished she had continued talking to me as the other event turned out hair-raising. It seems the collectors knocked down her electrical wiring, went next door to borrow an ax from Mrs. Kaiser, who in turn locked herself and Mrs. Mucker in the house and called the police. Upon the arrival of the police, they found that both men were wanted for several crimes. Now I know this isn't exactly a social item, but it was all involved with my trying to find out about a blessed event in the neighborhood. I hope Mrs. Kaiser and Mrs. Mucker can get back down to earth real soon.

I called one of our township beauty operators and owner of the Blue Mantel Beauty Shop, Mrs. Alphons Huettner of 44703 Cherry Hill. I have been meaning to call Mrs. Huettner who is a familiar person to many of you, but I know she has a very rigid schedule. However she told me they just returned from a very enjoyable trip to Nebraska. They went to Nebraska, the home state of both she and Mr. Huettner to enter in the 50th jubilee of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Cornley, Neb., where she and Mr. Huettner had been married. While there they visited with friends and relatives and met many new cousins, nieces and nephews who had arrived in the family since their last visit. They then went to Dyersville, Ida., to visit Mr. Huettner's sister, Sister Gwendolin of St. Mary's Church. Father Joseph, a cousin of Mrs. Huettner, accompanied the Huettners as far as his parish, Corpus Christie, in Chicago.

I called Mrs. Ruth Wiles of Cherry Hill in our community to see what was new. She said last Saturday evening the Canton Township Community Club held a dance, played cards and refreshments were on sale for all to enjoy. She said at present they had 20 active families on their membership roles, but would like to see it grow many fold. I suggested to Mrs. Wiles that at their next business meeting that perhaps they could draft an article to give the aims, purpose and requirements of the club. She said they would be happy to and maybe this would spur more of you to join in with this group. At their next business meeting, plans will be made for a hayride in October. Mrs. Wiles, by the way, is secretary and treasurer of the group, and one of their main duties is to sponsor the scout troop of the township.

A call to Mrs. Roy Schultz (Tillie) chairman of the Farm Bureau Group, revealed names of officers and that on last Wednesday the group attended a meeting at the Taylor Center Lutheran Church for officer training. Names of other officers from the township were: Mrs. George Kennitz of Haggerty Rd.; vice chairman; Mrs. Milton Rowe, Ford Rd., secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Don Schmidt, Lilley Rd., recreational chairman; Mrs. Hiran Godwin, Warren Rd., reporter, and Mrs. William Sempliner, permanent leader of the group, of Ford Rd.

Youth of the Cherryhill Methodist church played host to youth of St. Lukes Mission Church of Detroit and interracial group. The young people went to the Conklin Farm for the afternoon and enjoyed horseback riding, boating and fishing. In the evening the group attended a family pot-luck supper at the Cherry Hill Church followed by a group fellowship hour. The mission group is sponsored by the women of the Cherry Hill Methodist Church. Mrs. George Fotovich, an active worker of our community, gave me the particulars on this fine work done by the Cherry Hill Group.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bordine on the week-end were Mrs. Bordines mother, Mrs. Sara Stewart of Detroit, and her aunt, Mrs. Melissa Lynn, from Jacksonville, Fla. The three ladies took a shopping tour of Northland.

Another of our young people leaving for college this week is Kay Sempliner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sempliner of 40633 Ford Rd. Mr. and Mrs. Sempliner plan to drive their daughter to Bethany College in Bethany, W. Va. Kay plans to major in French with future plans of becoming a teacher. Before, however, a career of teaching, Miss Sempliner would like to become an airline hostess and do a bit of traveling, and feels that language will help a great deal in this line of work. Before going to Virginia, the family plans to stop at Cleveland to visit an uncle of Mr. Sempliner. Mrs. Sempliner entertained at a luncheon on an aunt and uncle of Mr. Sempliner, Mrs. Radatz of Florida, and Mr. George Timpling, of Cleveland, and Mrs. Tossy of Detroit. All three visitors shared one thing in common — all were over 80 years of age.

HANDWRITING

Tells About Yourself

By LUCILLE WILLIAMS

Dear Lucy:

I have enjoyed reading your column and would like to have my handwriting analyzed.

BARBARA K.

Dear Barbara:

You have a good common sense head on your shoulders and use it to good advantage. You think in logical, practical terms and have a philosophy of your own on how things should be.

There's a tendency to be withdrawn within yourself as to how something will affect you, benefit you or concern you generally. You give a lot of attention to little things and no detail is too small to be overlooked.

You have pride and like to have nice things although you'd be more apt to go on a buying spree on occasions than consistently.

You're selective in your choice of close friends and are a little sensitive to criticism.

You have some creative ability and like music having a sense of rhythm of your own.

Dear Lucy:

I have been reading your column with interest and would like for you to see my writing, as I am thinking of making some changes.

MRS. F.M.G.

Dear Mrs. F.M.G.:

You are quite an emotional person, showing your feelings even though you do make an effort at controlling them. You're pretty tired of present circumstances and your writing shows you certainly want some changes made. Many things are confusing at the moment and you are easily irritated. Little things bother and annoy you, at times building up a resentment within you.

You have good organization ability and are a quick thinker. Basically you have a good determination to go forward and progress but every so often slides in the thought of putting things off and waiting 'til some other time.

You never burden any one with your problems, there's an air of secrecy about you that has you keeping your affairs to yourself.

Generosity and a wide range of friends show you can get along with people and fit in with a crowd any time, any where.

Dear Lucille:

I have been reading your column for quite some time and would appreciate it if you would analyze my handwriting in your column.

JANE H.

Dear JANE H.:

You certainly are a conservative person. You'll think twice before you plunge on anything, and concentrate on the tiniest detail. You have a pride and dignity and take an interest in everything you do to do it well and correct.

For being quite an emotional person you aren't sensitive and cannot be hurt easily.

You have a fine memory and you learn carefully and logically. You take your time in storing knowledge but once there, you have it for keeps. When you know you're right you're sure and you stand your ground, not giving an inch.

There's a little dry humor streak in you and you appreciate humor in others — at the right time.

A very minor point in your handwriting shows that on occasion you like to put off 'til tomorrow, etc. Your effort at self-control when needed can take care of the minor details, however.
