

Voting Machine Mechanics May Result In Law Suit

Last week's election in the city of Plymouth may result in a court action because of the claim that the voting machines are so constructed that voters do not have a freedom of choice.

Mayflower Hotel Manager Ralph Lorenz appeared before the city commission Tuesday night to question the operation of the city's voting machines which prevents an elector from voting for any of the propositions unless he votes for at least one of the candidates.

The commission was required by charter to meet Tuesday to "cancel the votes," a normally routine matter of accepting the figures as presented by the precinct election boards and the city clerk.

But Tuesday's meeting turned into something a little more far-reaching with Lorenz's charge that the machines usurp an elector's freedom of choice while voting.

His charge did not take issue with the results of the election. Lorenz, who led the battle to permit the sale of liquor by the glass in the city, said that he had no quarrel with the count which resulted in the referendum's defeat, 1,273 to 1,194 — a margin of 79 votes.

Instead, he claims that the city's election process has a double standard when it comes to voting by absentee ballot and by machines. The two standards are:

1. On paper ballots as used by absentee voters, an elector can vote for any one proposition or could even cast his ballot without voting for any machine booth and then decide not to vote for any one unless the elector left the booth with the curtains closed.

2. On the city's voting machines, after the lever is turned and curtains are closed, an elector cannot vote for just propositions alone. He must vote for at least one of the candidates in order to have his vote recorded and to have the curtains open again. It would therefore also be impossible to enter the

They had to also vote for a candidate.

According to Charles Thompson, the city's safety inspector and also in charge of making mechanical changes on the machines prior to each election, all of the Shoup voting machines are arranged so that a candidate must be voted upon in order to have the positions recorded.

(There are two primary makers of voting machines in the nation of which Shoup is one.)

Should Lorenz take the matter to court, there would probably be many communities across the country interested in the case since they have many thousands of dollars invested in the firm's machines. Each Shoup machine costs $1,800 and the city has 12.

City commissioners went ahead and certified the election results, but agreed that a "full investigation" should be made to determine if the machines' operation is legal and if it is peculiar just to Plymouth city.

Donors Needed For Bloodmobile Visit Tomorrow

An urgent appeal for more blood donors has been issued today as the Red Cross prepares to move its Bloodmobile unit into Plymouth tomorrow (Friday) at the Masonic Temple.

A goal of 200 pledges has been set by the Couples Club of First Methodist church, co-sponsors of the visit, but far less than that have been received so far.

When the Bloodmobile last visited Plymouth in June of 1957, there were 300 pledges of blood resulting in 205 pints.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen C. McKenny, leaders of the Couples Club, point out that at least 200 pledges are necessary to make the Bloodmobile visit worthwhile.

Anyone who wants to give blood tomorrow can do one of two things:

1. Obtain a reserved time by phoning the McKennys at GL 3-5034, or Mrs. H. R. Penhale, blood chairman, at GL 3-3359.
2. Walk into the Blood Center anytime during the hours. Hours of the Bloodmobile will be from 2 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m.

For those not familiar with the operation of the Blood Bank, donors designate an "account" for their pint of blood. It can go into a "personal" account which can be used only by family members; it can go into a "community account" making it available to yourself or anyone in the community at any time; or it can go into an organization account, used by a specific club, industry or business.

Mrs. Penhale says: "It is very fitting that the visit of the bloodmobile should be sponsored by a group of parents, many with small children. This age group is particularly interested in the blood program because many have had personal experience which demonstrates the importance of having blood or its derivatives on hand before the emergency. Many of the men have seen what blood and plasma did for the fighting man in the last war or Korean emergency.

"The young mothers have received either blood or its derivatives when undergoing surgery or at childbirth and some of their children have survived serious injury or illness because of the availability of blood. Most of them

Food Fair Building On South Main St.

Demolition of the Beglinger Oldsmobile-Cadillac buildings on South Main street began this week to make way for a modern Food Fair Supermarket that is expected to open its doors around April 1.

An investment of some $250,000 is being made to erect the 17,000 square foot supermarket that will be the 34th Food Fair store in the Detroit Metropolitan area.

While work is starting on the supermarket, the Beglinger agency is remodeling a former automobile garage at 684 Ann Arbor Rd. for its new location.

A building to the rear of the main Beglinger agency has already been razed. The main building will not be torn down until next spring.

Food Fair's building will be 130 feet square and will contain several new supermarket innovations. It will have new cash registers that will dispense change directly to the customer the first such installation in Michigan.

It will also have Almor automatic bag feeders at the check-out counters to hurry along the sacking of purchases. The walls will have hand-painted murals to depict each of the store's departments.

Food Fair's opening here will mean four chain supermarkets in Plymouth.

Within several weeks, Beglinger Oldsmobile-Cadillac will be moving to its new location in the former Haller building. A number of years ago the building was a DeSoto garage.

Agency president Walter Beglinger said that the new facility will offer twice the floor space as the present two buildings combined (10,000 square feet). A used car lot office is being constructed east of the main building.

Beglinger opened the Oldsmobile agency in 1941 next door to the Plymouth Mail. In 1945 he constructed the present building and three years later added the Cadillac line.

The J. L. Hudson Real Estate Co. of Plymouth handled the Food Fair real estate transaction.

Supreme Court To Hear Sheldon Case

A motion to take the Sheldon Road assessment case to the State Supreme Court and to hire an assistant to the city attorney for the fight was approved by city commissioners Tuesday night.

The appeal is of a case filed by a group of residents along Sheldon Road who won their suit in Wayne County Circuit Court two weeks ago. Judge Victor Baum ordered all assessments against the residential property owners canceled.

Last week city commissioners were given copies of the 25-page opinion to study before making their decision on appealing.

Commissioner Carl Shear summed up the commission's position in the appeal by stating: "If we don't get high court decision, this commission and commissions in the future won't know how to decide on the assessments."

The lower court was of the opinion that making a four-lane concrete road out of Sheldon, from Ann Arbor Trail to the railroad, would diminish rather than enhance the value of residential properties and that improving a previously hard-surfaced road was not of benefit to these property owners.

According to Shear, some citizens who were assessed for re-paving Main St. would eagerly watch this case since they had been assessed under similar circumstances.

It was decided to hire the firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone of Detroit to assist City Attorney Harry Deyo with the case. The law firm is one of the outstanding bond attorneys in the Midwest and has specialists in the field of assessment.

'Grass Roots' Candidates File Next

THERE WAS some wailing and gnashing of teeth as 711 men, women and children received polio shots Tuesday night as the second round of polio shots were started here. This young lady, comforted by a nurse and her mother, found that the needle administered by Dr. Charles Westover wasn't nearly as bad as she had been worrying about. There will be another clinic at the Junior High next Tuesday night (Nov. 18) from 6 to 8:30 p.m.

Symphony Featuring Two Programs Over Weekend

The Plymouth Symphony Society is offering two music programs over the week end of November 14.

This Friday night at 8 o'clock, a recital will be given in the Dunning-Hough Library in Plymouth. The artist is Norma Heyde, long a favorite of music lovers in the Plymouth area. Mrs. Heyde is one of the soloists singing with the Symphony on Sunday, November 16, and since she is in Plymouth from Delaware for the concert, the extra music program is being offered to avail the public of her talents on more than one occasion.

During the recital Mrs. Heyde will sing excerpts from Mozart's "Exsultate Jubilate," French and English songs, German Lieder, and an aria from the Sunday program, Debussy's "L'Enfant Prodigieux."

Tickets for the Friday night recital are $1 per person and are available in Plymouth from Caplin's and Cassidy's and also may be purchased at the door. Since only 100 seats are available, tickets should be purchased in advance of the program.

The second music program is the second concert of the 13th Season of the Plymouth Symphony. The concert will be given at 4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 16 in the Plymouth High School Gymnasium, located at Main and Church Streets in Plymouth. This concert is open to the public free of charge.

The orchestra will perform: Hymn and Fuguing Tune No. 3, Cowell; Symphony No. 4 in A Major, "Italian," Mendelssohn; "L'Enfant Prodigieux," Debussy.

Norma Heyde, Soprano; Richard Miller, Tenor; John Zei, Baritone.

Richard Miller is on the faculty of the University of Michigan, where he has just resumed work after having sung with the San Francisco Opera Company. John Zei is both a student and a teacher at the University of Michigan and has sung in operatic roles during his stay there.

Petitions Ready For Local Office Races

While politics on the national, state and county levels are quickly simmering down as winning candidates prepare to take office, the so-called "grass roots" political scene is now on the horizon with nominating petitions ready for all office-seekers.

The majority of jobs on the Plymouth city commission and Plymouth township board will be at stake in the 1959 spring election. Some this week announced they will be willing to take the job again while others are undecided.

Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay announced that he will be seeking re-election. Also trying again will be Township Treasurer Elizabeth Holmes, Clerk Rosalind Broome and Trustee C. V. Sparks.

The job of another trustee, Louis Norman, is not up for election until 1961.

There will be four city commission posts expiring next spring — those held by Marvin Terry, Carl Shear, Robert Sincock and Harry Roberts. Each have said that they have not decided on whether to run again.

Nominating petitions for the posts are now available at both the city and township halls. Petitions must be filed by Monday, December 29.

The spring primary election is Monday, February 16 while the spring general election is Monday, April 6.

City Election

One city elected officer has announced that he will be a candidate. He is Municipal Judge Nandino Perlongo, who has held the job since 1949.

The municipal judgeship term is six years. He was last elected in 1953 and his term does not expire until December 31, 1959, although a judge is elected along with other officials in the spring.

To be qualified for the job, the candidate must have been a resident of the city for five years, an attorney admitted to practice law in the Michigan Supreme Court and shall not have a practice in any manner inconsistent with his office.

Looking at the city commission jobs, there are four available every two years. (Seven sit on the commission.) The three top vote getters receive a four year term while the fourth drawing candidate wins a two-year term. They cannot serve more than two consecutive terms.

Terry was appointed to the commission in 1953 to fill an unexpired term. He was elected to a four-year term in 1955. He has the longest service on the commission.

Sincock was appointed to fill a vacancy in 1954 and was elected for four years in 1955. Roberts was elected to the commission in 1955, winning the highest vote. Shear, a former mayor and commissioner in the 1920's and 1940's, was elected to a two-year term in 1957.

Those seeking commission seats must be a city resident for at least two years prior to his election and must have been a property owner at least two years. Nominating

A FEW DAYS after this picture was taken of Robert H. Gallagher receiving his Army discharge, he disappeared. He was discharged May 15 at Ft. Lewis, Washington and was never heard from since. His parents, now living in Livonia, fear foul play but have been unable to do little except write letters.

Never Came Home Youth Leaves Army, Missing Six Months

By Jim Sponseller

A former Plymouth couple have two saddening mysteries:

1. What has happened to their son who last May was discharged from the Army in the State of Washington and has never been seen since.
2. Why is it that no one seems interested in helping to find him?

The missing youth is Robert H. Gallagher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Burton, 27600 Schoolcraft, Livonia. Until last summer the family lived at 244 Hamilton St., Plymouth.

"Bob certainly had a lot of intentions of coming home after he was discharged," his stepfather explained this week. It was six months ago this Saturday that he was discharged from the Army at Ft. Lewis, Washington after serving two years.

Out of a bureau drawer Mr. Burton pulled out a duffel bag. "It has his razor, pictures, all kinds of things that you wouldn't think he would need to send home," the stepfather continued. "Upstairs are all of his Army clothes that he sent home too."

Bob, who was 19 years old last January, had attended Plymouth High School and dropped out before graduation. But he continued his schooling in the Army and received a high school certificate.

In Plymouth he had worked at Hillside Inn, the former Colonial House Restaurant and D. Galin & Son before entering the service.

"He had a spotless record in the Army," Mr. Burton pointed out. "We have found out that he was discharged on May 15 and that is the last anyone has seen of him. We don't know what to think or where to turn next."

The last that the Burtons heard from him was a Mother's Day card that he had sent home before his discharge. They wrote his commanding officer and received only a two sentence reply that Pvt. Gallagher had left 244 Hamilton St., Plymouth, Mich. as his home address.

"He was home last Thanksgiving for a funeral of a sister," Mr. Burton asserted, "and he said that he had found a job after his discharge."

The Burtons, who are financially unable to travel out to the west coast to investigate, found a

All-Girl Harp, Vocal Ensemble Here Tuesday

One of the most unusual music groups in the state will appear in Plymouth next Tuesday in a free concert sponsored by the Kiwanis Club in cooperation with the high school music department.

The group is the All-Girl Harp and Vocal Ensemble of Cass Tech High School of Detroit. The 40 girls have entertained widely, including the Kiwanis Convention in Atlantic City last year.

They are so much in demand that bookings for the group must be secured a year in advance.

The concert is in the high school gymnasium starting at 8 p.m.

According to Everett Burmester, chairman of the program, the harps will be brought in during the afternoon of the concert and tuned. A bus will then bring the girls to Plymouth before the concert.

Appearing in formals, the girls present a most unusual and appealing program of music.

Tickets for the program (for which there is no charge) can be obtained at the Junior and Senior High Schools, Berry & Atchinson, Terry's Bakery, Fisher's Shoes, Community Drugs, Caplin's, Bob's Paint Spot, Huston Hardware and Saxton's Farm Supply.

The Kiwanis Club is bringing the ensemble here at their expense and as a community service. The program is being given in cooperation with the high school vocal music department with Fred Nelson as director, and Principal Carvel Bentley and Assistant Principal Gustave Gorguze, who have arranged for use of the gymnasium and other facilities.

NEW BOOKS At The Wayne County

Several much-heralded books arrived at Dunning-Hough Library this week with "Doctor Zhivago" by Russia's Boris Pasternak creating the biggest stir of interest.

This is the great novel that hit the international spotlight when it was awarded the 1958 Nobel Prize for literature, which the author at first accepted and then regretfully rejected under fire "at home."

It is considered the only truly great novel to come out of post-revolutionary Russia and it significantly appears first in translation without the approval of the Russian Communist Party censorship.

The book was translated from the Russian language by Max Hayward and Monya Harari.

"On My Own" by Eleanor Roosevelt is another much headlined book which is Mrs.

Hilding G. Olsons Plan Flying Honeymoon Trip Over Christmas

Newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Hilding G. Olson, who exchanged nuptial vows in a Nov. 1 ceremony in Calvary Methodist Church of Jackson, are at home at 41215 Bruce St., Plymouth.

They plan to take a flying honeymoon trip to Mexico City during the Christmas holiday season.

The new bride is the former Miss Evalynn Rae Pier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Pier of Jackson. She teaches art in the Ann Arbor school system.

Her husband, who has resided at the Bruce St. address, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John A. Olson of Pitman, N. J.

Dr. Glenn M. Erye officiated at the pair's double-ring ceremony.

For her marriage, Evalynn wore Chantilly lace over heavy white satin. Fashion features were a Sabrina neckline, tiered bouffant skirt and chapel train. This gown was first worn by her sister, Mrs. L. C. Garby, of Ann Arbor in July, 1957.

A crown of seed pearls and mother-of-pearl sequins secured her fingertip-length veil. She carried a cascading bouquet of birds of paradise, baby chrysanthemums, shattered carnations and roses.

As her sister's matron of honor, Mrs. Garby was frocked in apricot satin and tulle net. She carried bronze and yellow pompon chrysanthemums with birds of paradise and stephanotis in a cascade arrangement.

Mrs. Hilding G. Olson

Stanley Lawler of White Plains, N. Y., served as best man. Seating guests were Louis C. Garby of Ann Arbor, George L. Pier, of Jackson, brother of the bride; and Richard Miller of Milford.

A reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the wedding. Mrs. Pier, mother of the bride, greeted guests in an aqua Chantilly lace gown worn over matching taffeta.

The new bride is an alumna of the University of Michigan and a graduate student there, too. She is affiliated with Phi Delta Sigma.

Mr. Olson is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and at present is also a graduate student in nuclear engineering at the University of Michigan. He attended Cornell and Columbia universities while in the navy and served as engineering officer and naval aviator during World War II. He is a member of Sigma Tau honor society.

Out-of-town guests were from Indiana, New York, New Jersey, Ann Arbor, Flint, Lansing, Detroit, Stockbridge, Danville, Leslie, Horton and Rives.

Orville Tungate, membership Chairman of Council No. 3292, Knights of Columbus, in Plymouth announces that an "open house" will be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Union St., commencing at 2:30 p.m. Sunday afternoon, Nov. 16.

Chairman Tungate, on behalf of the Plymouth Council, extends a cordial invitation to all men of the Catholic faith who are eligible for membership in the Knights of Columbus to be present at this "open house." Many of the officers, chairmen and past Grand Knights will be on hand to explain and acquaint those present with the order.

One of the outstanding programs of the Knights of Columbus in Michigan is the contribution of funds for the support and maintenance of Boysville in Macon. As is well known, Boysville is and has been a most worthy and helpful project in Michigan for the unfortunate and underprivileged boys of Michigan. Every boy is provided the opportunity to learn a trade or business, obtain a full education on the high school level and, in addition, be provided with the opportunity to participate in sports, hobbies, etc. The percentage of successful youths from Boysville who have ventured into the adult world and have made first grade citizens is something over which all of the Councils of the Knights of Columbus in Michigan are very proud.

Other programs of the local council, states Grand Knight Richard Warga, which certainly would prove of interest to prospective members are the Boys Club which has some 50 boys through the eighth grade, a Council Blood Bank, a Council Credit Union and many other good programs.

An International Truck, driven by Robert P. Garrigan of Detroit, owned by Dun-Rite Co., was traveling east on N. Territorial near the intersection of Sutton Rd. when the driver lost control of the truck on slippery, wet, blacktop going into a ditch, hitting a tree. This was on Nov. 5.

Diane Luchtman, 16, Northville High School student, was knocked unconscious Friday night as the result of a piggy-back ride accident during a hayride class outing. The girl was taken to St. Joseph hospital with head injuries, a broken tooth and a sprained right leg. The mishap occurred on 5 Mile Rd., east of Salem Road. Diane and several boys and girls became cold and got off the wagon on which they were riding to exercise to keep warm. The youths decided to return to the wagon piggy-back style and Diane jumped on the back of James Cowie, Jr., who stumbled and fell.

Property of Pontiac Trail, owned by Mrs. Charles Smith of Whitmore Lake, was broken into by a window frame having been broken and window raised to gain entrance. The house is empty and being remodeled.

A 1955 Pontiac station wagon, driven by Evelyn M. Berton of 40640 W. Eight Mile Rd., Northville, was traveling south on Pontiac Trail at approximately 60 m.p.h. when a 1947 Ford driven by Bert Nelson on Five Mile Rd., turned in front of Mrs. Berton, causing her to sideswipe the right rear, then going into a ditch and hitting a fence on the east side of Pontiac Trail at 9:20 Monday morning. No injuries were sustained.

Town Board met on Monday evening at the Salem Town Hall with all members present. Building inspector Francis Hugg reported that seven building permits were taken out in October. Five were for home improvements totaling $6,280, and permits for a new bar, at $5,000 and a new home at $11,000 on Six Mile Rd. Discussion was held on a fire Sunday evening on Chubb Rd. Motion was made to look into it. Discussion was held on road that has never been developed on the Plastic Factory land, and the matter will be looked into. Deputy Edmunds made his monthly report. Meeting adjourned.

After 13 years South Lyon High School wins the title of the League of Lakes football title. A perfect record of five straight victories did the trick. Coach Fred Gerhardt has been with the school for nine years. Paul Underhill, captain, led his team against Pinckney with four touchdowns on Friday night at Pinckney. Score was 34 to 0.

Salem Fire Department answered a call at the Leonard Hoyer home of Gotfredson Rd. Friday evening. A short in an electric plug in the garage caused the fire.

Salem Church News
A message entitled "Seven Facts About the People of God" was brought by the pastor Sunday morning. A Ladies Trio consisting of Mrs. Colleen Wurster, Mrs. Shirley Watson and Mrs. Vid Burgess sang "The Pearly White City." The Sunday School hour was attended by 187 persons compared with an attendance of 135 a year ago.

The regular Tuesday evening Visitation Supper was attended by 14 people. Approximately 11 calls were made.

A Pioneer Girls Pal-Gal Pot-Luck Supper was held Wednesday evening, Nov. 5, and was attended by approximately 50 "Pals" and "Gals." The Pioneer Girls presented gifts which they had made to their Prayer-Pals. These were decorated folders containing a picture of themselves. A pot-luck supper consisting of baked ham, scalloped potatoes, peas, gelatin salad, relish plate, cake, coffee and milk was enjoyed by all. Following the dinner, the Pals and Gals attended the regular Wednesday Evening Prayer Service. A girl from each group spoke briefly on what Christ meant to them.

The Young People sponsored a film entitled "The House That Hunger Built" Sunday evening. The film vividly portrayed man's plight when he forgets God.

Rev. Fred Renick, director of the Missionary Candidate Training Program of Detroit, will be the special speaker Sunday, Nov. 16 in both the morning and evening services. He will be speaking in the absence of Pastor Burgess.

Smith School Country Fair Successful Despite Rain

Although rains came, spirits were not in the least dampened at the Smith School Country Fair last Saturday evening.

A conservative estimate of over 1,000 men, women and children crowded through the halls of Smith School, successfully seeking food, games, prizes, movies, bargains and friends.

Everyone had loads of fun and the Smith School Parent Teachers Association has strengthened its treasury.

General chairman Al Adams of Jener St., wishes to thank each and every parent who participated and he singled out several individuals for special mention: Robert Erdelyi built a real "fish pond" this year with circulating water and "real" wooden fish. Mrs. Harry Larsen's Girl Scout Troop No. 251 acted as baby sitters in a special room, and Mrs. Robert Widmaier's Girl Scout Troop No. 256 sponsored a handicraft shop.

Max Summerville, Smith School teacher, dressed as a clown and sold a gross of balloons. Mr. and Mrs. Al Carlson gave him good competition with their toy and game shop.

The cake and pie walks, chairmaned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richardson, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arnold respectively, gave away as prizes over 180 donated pies and cakes.

Food was in abundance with the kitchen, supervised by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Richard, serving "sloppy joes" and hot dogs. Cakes, donuts and cider, milk, ice cream, candy, cookies, and popcorn were being hawked by Dr. and Mrs. Lee Feldkamp, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Atkinson, Mrs. David Lobbstaal and Mrs. Tom Swanteck, Mrs. Wendell Lent and Dr. Fred Foust.

Perhaps the happiest boy at the gathering was Donald Stamper of Gallimore School, who won a bicycle donated by Evans Products when he guessed within 14 the total number of nails in a gallon jug (12,611).

A new innovation this year was the "Rock and Roll" room with the latest records and real live entertainment in the person of young Danny Hargrove re Elvis Presley.

Some of the other activities were Beauty Shop, Cartoon Movies, Country Store, Apron Shop, Shooting Gallery, Game Room. Chairmen were Mrs. John Bowsman, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heidenrich, Mr. and Mrs. Don Holt, Mr. and Mrs. William Powikes, Mr. and Mrs. James Ross, and Mr. and Mrs. George Kenyon. Other participating chairmen were Donald Ward, John Bowsman, Herb Burley, Harry Larsen, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ross.

General chairman Al Adams and his large staff are to be commended for an excellent job.

'As long as parents complain about the high cost of their children's education while they accept, without too much grumbling, the expense of the new TV set and the necessity' of the latest model car, the place of the school on the list of national values will be inferior.' — Fred M. Hechinger, associate publisher

I know that there are serious deficiencies in many of our schools. Our educators have not been complacent about them. They have been imploring us to correct them for two decades now. In many parts of the country we have paid little attention. — Dr. Benjamin Spock, famed pediatrician and writer

The MAIL Attitude

BY PAUL CHANDLER

Plymouth's Chamber of Commerce is entering a new year with as difficult a set of problems as it has shouldered in many years. It's literally a "make or break" situation ahead.

For the first time in many years, the C of C has no full-time manager. Eugene Kornfield, appointed last Spring, resigned Monday and the office will not be filled — not for some time, anyway.

He resigned because there was no money in the treasury to pay his salary. "Financial obligations required my employment in a more remunerative field," said Gene's letter.

Some change in the old routine had to come, as Kornfield well realized, and his leaving was inevitable and serves to focus sharp light on the bigger problem of Plymouth.

Our city is in danger as a prominent retail trading center and the hour long ago arrived to ring the alarms and think ahead drastically and with daring.

The Chamber has been steadily sapped for the past three years. Throughout that time there has been a period of "deficit financing" where the daily expenses were being met by spending against future budgets. Office employees several times have served without pay for varying periods, until next year's receipts arrived.

It's too late for any such maneuvers now.

Some observers have argued that the Chamber's misfortunes are its own doings — that more action from that body automatically would have enlarged the ranks of members and deepened the flow of dues.

If that's true — and it doubtless is — it is a dead and worthless piece of news today.

The vital fact now is that Plymouth's total retail business has been undergoing quiet nibbling from the outside for at least three years, and with new shopping centers and department stores being talked over every month, the attrition is increasing.

The Chamber still is alive and it is one battalion of troops which can pick up weapons and fight back. There are other troops ready for muster — the City and Township governments, to name two.

The C of C manager had to resign, but there remains the intelligent and determined body of the membership who have plenty to throw into a scrap, if they get organized.

The Directors met Monday and looked the their troubles in the eye. One new asset, everyone realized, was that with no manager's salary to meet, more of the budget could be turned into the desperately important project of "promoting Plymouth as a shopping center."

Of almost equal urgency, they decided, was this matter of bringing more industry into the Plymouth area to solidify the tax base for the big job of building schools, sewers, et. al.

They expressed their eagerness to have a look at the soon-to-be-revealed new plan for the downtown shopping area.

This is a revolutionary new scheme being prepared by one of the nation's foremost planning experts which will suggest, in radical terms, what changes should be made in the heart of the City of Plymouth to put it on a competitive basis with the fine shopping centers. This involves use of the park and other grassy "mall" areas; broad revamping of the parking picture; tearing down of ancient buildings; providing for a free, natural, easy flow of traffic into the "center"; and much more.

The City Commission ordered this plan prepared several months ago.

Such a plan could be a start along a path to progress . . . if the message sinks home to everyone concerned. And EVERYONE is concerned.

Immediately the C of C hopes to launch into a really ambitious schedule of retail promotions involving the whole body of merchants. Everyone seems to believe that the businessmen keenly are aware of "we merchants better hang together, or we'll hang separately."

Not for many years has Plymouth so needed a vigorous Chamber of Commerce. And possibly never has the C of C so much required the sincere, loyal, selfless backing of Plymouth business and professional people.

Police Seek Men Who Aided in Fatal Mishap

A 20-year-old Detroit woman was fatally injured and the 25-year-old male driver of the car hurt Sunday afternoon when their car hit a tree head-on on Edward Hines Drive.

Police believe the accident occurred at 3:30 or 3:50 p.m. Sunday. Mr. Becker told police his foot hit the gas pedal instead of the brakes while accelerating.

When police arrived, the two men they are hoping will contact them were aiding the accident victims. The young woman was pinned in the car with her head extending through the window and the lower part of her body wedged between seat and door. The driver was laying outside of the car on a cushion being assisted by one of the men. While police were busy obtaining ambulance service for the injured couple, the two men left before police could secure accident details from them.

Grange Gleanings

Those who attended the Grange meeting last Thursday night witnessed a marvelous exhibition of memory. James Marr, a man in his eighties, was the installing officer for the new officers and he went through all of the proceedings, giving all the charges to the new officers (and some of them are long) with no book or prompting. The work was done beautifully. A large crowd was present.

The second of our Grange suppers is planned for Saturday, Nov. 22. Serving begins at 5 p.m., then at 5:45 p.m., and at 6:30 p.m. No tickets will be sold at the door so get your tickets by Thursday, Nov. 20. There will be tickets available at Dunning's and at Charlie McConnell's Barber Shop or you may telephone your reservations in to GL 3-2718 or GL 3-3030. The menu is to be roast beef, potatoes and gravy, peas and carrots, molded salad, spiced apple rings, pickles, rolls and butter, pumpkin and apple pie, coffee and tea.

Our Grange will be well represented at the National convention in Grand Rapids. About 20 of our members are going and will be given the Seventh degree.

A very unfortunate accident occurred last Thursday evening when our friends from Lenawee came over to install our officers. A mix-up of cars came together at the Michigan Ave.-Belleville Rd. crossing which resulted in one of the young women getting both shoulders fractured. She was taken at once to the hospital in Ypsilanti but was transferred on Sunday to the hospital in Tecumseh, her own home town.

Mr. John Oldenburg is at home from the hospital for the present but is going back for a further check-up in about two weeks.

COLONIAL ATMOSPHERE keynoted the second annual Colonial Mart bazaar of First Methodist church women last Thursday in Fellowship church hall. Here Mrs. Elmer J. Reddeman, bazaar co-chairman, in authentic costume, shows plants from The Flower Pot to Mrs. Robert Thom holding her 18-months-old son, Ricky, and Mrs. Fred Johns.

Christmas Workshop Planned By Allen Home Extension Club

Allen Home Economics Extension club, sponsored by Michigan University Cooperative Extension Service will meet November 18 at 8 p.m. with Mrs. Carl Caplin, 46000 Joy Road. The lesson subject will be on Civil Defense. Project leader is Mrs. Caplin. Today (Thursday) two sessions will be held for the annual Christmas Workshop for all Wayne County Home Economics club members and friends at the 4-H Fairgrounds, Quirk Rd., Belleville. "Let's Make Christmas A Tradition" is the theme for this year's workshop. Two sessions will be held, at 12:30 to 4 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. Classes of interest to all will include: Chicken wire novelties, feather wreaths, holiday table favors, felt tree skirts and card display strips and decorations from nature. Nickle was first isolated as an element only in 1751.

Garden City Osteopathic Hospital Launches Campaign for $500,000

Garden City Hospital launched a building fund drive for $500,000 with a dinner meeting of the campaign committee last Saturday at the First Methodist Church Social Hall in Garden City.

Dr. John T. Baker of Dearborn, who is a member of the Campaign Executive Committee, presided. The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. Fred Nichols, Rector St. David's Episcopal Church, Garden City. Dr. Robert Ogden, President of the Hospital's Board of Directors, gave the welcoming address.

Teams organized by staff doctors and friends of the hospital, who are Team Co-Leaders, were introduced by Dr. Alfred M. Lennon of Redford Township, also a member of the Campaign Executive Committee, who said: "We have undertaken to found by our own gifts and those of friends an urgently needed new 102 bed hospital that will serve Garden City, Inkster, Wayne, Livonia, Plymouth, Dearborn, Dearborn Township, Redford Township, Nankin Township and the entire southwestern metropolitan area of Detroit.

"Our $500,000 goal will secure matching federal funds for another $500,000." Dr. Lennon continued. "With the $750,000 that we can borrow, we will therefore have a total of $1,250,000 with which to build and equip the new hospital. Given a successful campaign, it is proposed to break ground early in February and open a completely equipped hospital about 15 months later, on an 11-acre site at 6245 N. Inkster Road, Garden City.

Our Medical Staff members have committed themselves to provide with their own pledges at least $200,000 and also raise another $150,000 in pledges from friends of the hospital. Another $150,000 will be raised by the teams of men and women other than doctors, who are here tonight."

Mrs. Kazimer Wojtowicz of Garden City, Co-Leader for Dr. Joseph Knapp's team, said: "As a wife, mother and citizen, I can testify from personal experiences that our present hospital is too small and also badly crowded. We must all take steps to secure the 3-year pledges needed to make certain that we shall have our new hospital."

Dr. Manuel Torres of Inkster, a member of the Campaign Executive Committee, presented the advance gifts report, saying, "We have raised $12,440 in Donor 3-year pledges that range from $180 to $468; $137,270 in Sponsor 3-year pledges of from $500 to $2,500 and $90,000 in Memorial pledges of $3,000 and up." He added that the group total of advance gifts is therefore $248,440, leaving $251,560 to be raised in the next four weeks.

Employees of Ridgewood Hospital have pledged $3,146 and designated their pledges toward a Group Memorial Room. Garden City Hospital Employees have pledged $5,725 for a Group Memorial Room or rooms.

Fletcher Campbell Wins First Prize

Another week and another $25 in prizes were given in the Mail's Football contest with E. Fletcher Campbell, Jr., 150 Sheldon Rd., taking the $15 check.

Each of this week's winners misused three times with the Wyoming - Utah State score serving as the tie-breaker.

Second prize went to Martin Oldford, 645 Ross St. ($7), and third prize of $3 to Penniman.

It was probably the Michigan State - Indiana game which threw most of the experts off stride.

"GREENS MARKET" of Plymouth branch, Woman's Farm and Garden Association, coming up Friday, Dec. 12, was on the minds of members when they met at Dunning-Hough library Monday for a business session and tea. Here Mrs. A. E. Van Ornum, president, left, displays some of the pretty holiday accessories that will be sold to the public then. With her are Mrs. Ruth Mosher Place of Ann Arbor, center, former Detroit News garden Editor who was guest speaker at the Monday meeting, and Mrs. Rex Hoffman, second vice president of the branch.

MORE PRETTY Christmas trimmings to be featured at the December 12 "Greens Market" are being shown by this trio of branch club members - Mrs. Edwin Zipse, co-chairman of the Mart, left; Mrs. Charles Latter, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. C. E. Nelson, treasurer.

Rocks at Best In Closer with Walled Lake

Plymouth High players and coaching staff believe today that Walled Lake was the toughest rival they faced all season - but the Rocks took 'em, 21-14, in a bruiser here last Friday.

"We played our best game of the season, and we had to," explained Coach Mike Hoban.

It was a satisfying season's end for a Plymouth squad which finished with a 6-2 record, and for nine seniors who will depart from the 33-man varsity squad. The fact that 24 veterans will return for next season, including some of the most promising linemen to appear in some time, makes the future cheery, too.

Plymouth lost only to Northville, 6-12, and Belleville, 6-35. Both were powerhouses in their respective leagues.

And so was Walled Lake, which had been beaten only by champion Farmington (14-7) prior to the Plymouth journey.

Wayne Sparkman, Plymouth fullback, was the main force of the Rock attack. With the lines socking hard, the fullback was sent on straight ahead running plays and he thrived so well that his record for the night was 220 yards advanced in 27 thrusts. Altogether, the Rocks amassed 376 yards by rushing.

It didn't look so good at the beginning, however. Walled Lake had a touchdown in four plays.

This happened when an on-side "squib" kick went awry and the Lakers bounced upon the ball on their 45 yard line. One forward pass and three shots at tackle found Walled Lake in the Plymouth end zone, quarterback Bill Havel scoring the touchdown. He also ran for the extra point and a 7-0 lead.

Plymouth leveled it off in minimum time, starting with the next kickoff and ripping off short gains (largely through Sparkman's endeavors) for an 80 yard TD drive. Sparkman went the last seven and Randy Egloff kicked the first of three extra points. That made it 7-7, and there it stood at halftime.

A dropped punt put Plymouth on the W. Lake 35 yard line in the third period, Albert Runge scooping up the fumble. Sparkman dashed 25 yards for the second touchdown.

When Eddie La Roche swept the flanks for 25 yards and a third TD (finishing off a 60 yard march) in the fourth period, Plymouth enjoyed a 21-7 lead.

This was narrowed to 21-14 with three minutes to go, as sprint champion Jim Fink of Walled Lake got away for 55 yards.

Plymouth was nervous late in the game when it was fourth down and 1 to go, on their own 18, but the Rocks gambled, made the first down and then ran out the clock.

Plymouth had 19 first downs to 17; in rushing held an edge of 376-240; and gained 30 yards to 60 in passing.

Dick Alsbro and Larry Wells were a couple of scrappy linemen who stood out in the victory.

For six regulars, it was a farewell football performance: Backs, LaRoche and Paul Woodward; Ends, Runge and Larry Wells; Linemen, Ron Turckett and Wade Schultheiss.

Basketball takes the stage Dec. 5 when Plymouth opens at Northville. Cage practice has begun.

Expect 400,000 Deer Hunters Afield Saturday

More than 400,000 hunters, hundreds of them from Plymouth, will open Michigan's firearm deer season this Saturday.

By season's end, Conservation Department officials estimate 450,000 hunters will have been afield.

The opener this year falls on Saturday, which should intensify the usually heavy hunting on the front end of the season.

Of prime interest will be the state-wide concurrent special seasons. The Department has issued special permits to 55,601 licensed hunters, each of whom may hunt the entire 16-day season in their properly permitted area, and take a buck, doe or fawn, as they choose.

This is the first year a 11 special seasons have run concurrently with the regular 16-day buck season. Experience with these concurrent seasons has shown them popular with hunters. Also, some deer that might otherwise be wasted are recovered by permit holders.

Again this year, the Department will operate deer checking stations along principal north-south highways where hunters may, if they like, have their deer checked for age, weight and physical development. Information gathered at these stations helps state biologists with deer management programs.

Also, highway counts of deer on cars will be made and the figures statistically calculated to determine total deer kill.

In past years, this method has given quick and rather accurate estimates of the kill.

Students Take Over High School As Part of Education Week Program

By Gloria Bowles

Plymouth High School students will sit in the chairs of their teachers today when Thursday's segment of the American Education Week observance gets underway. The week of November 9-15 finds schools across the nation planning programs with the 1958 theme, "Report Card, USA," in mind and educators and students taking a long, hard look at the challenges posed by the age.

Four University of Michigan students, all members of the debate squad at the Ann Arbor college, were in Plymouth yesterday for another part of the week's program. Two classes, the PHS debate team and 15 students and the debate coach of Garden City High School heard the Michigan debaters discuss "Resolved: That the United States Education System Should Adopt the Essential Features of the British Education System." An open question period followed the debate. Miss Betty Stevens of 1328 Elm is the Plymouth High debate coach.

PHS'ers got a day off Tuesday, when teachers and parents held conferences throughout the day and in the evening. Appointments were made through the office and student secretaries appointed to each teacher. Parents viewed a showcase in the front hall which helped carry out the theme; and refreshments were served. Supervising activities for a busy American Education Week were two Student Council members appointed to serve as co-chairman for the observance. They are senior Jonie Izett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Izett of 11749 Priscilla Lane, and freshman Ken Fischer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Fischer of 505 McKinley. The program here is attempting to encourage parental interest, the two said.

Jonie, Ken and Edie Dibble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Dibble of 1353 Elm, decorated the window of Wood Insurance Agency as part of the observance.

Teachers on the AEW committee are Mr. Ray Homer, Mr. Ross Hedrick, Miss Betty Stevens, Mrs. Donna Stevens, Miss Sarah Lickley and Assistant Principal Gustave Gorguze.

One thing about an American town is this: the residents get the kind of school program they want, including winning teams - if they want them badly enough. Most of the critics of American education have chosen to ignore this fact. Instead, they blame every ill of the schools on the professional educators."

Doll Dresses Rated By Plymouthites At Barnes-Gibson-Raymond Division

It was a job all right... but not one of the three Plymouth judges sighed.

They figured it was much too pleasant.

First, their judging stint was of 75 dolls, prettily dressed by women employees of Barnes - Gibson - Raymond Division of Associated Spring Corp. on Plymouth Rd.

Second, the judging had a pretty ending... the dolls were destined for the Goodfellows Association in Detroit who would distribute them to needy children for Christmas.

Each little curly-headed doll displayed Tuesday afternoon at the plant in a double-shelf looked like a winner.

That's why Mrs. Isabel St. Louis, nurse at the plant dispensary, who several years back initiated the philanthropic doll - dressing project there, called upon favorite judges.

They are (and have been judges for some time): John Wertman, manager of Kresge's in Plymouth; Mrs. Vi Sparkman and Mrs. Betty Stechr, both of Kresge's too. Being merchandisers, they are "pro's" were doll clothes are concerned.

Mr. Wertman makes the contest challenging, too, for the women who dress the dolls. He donates three gift certificates annually to round out the prize list to 10 winners. Barnes - Gibson - Raymond Division contributes the other prizes.

Named blue - ribbon winner of a $25 government bond was Irene Bonkowski. Her pink garbed doll had a picture hat and carried a tiny rose in her hand.

Hallie Martin of Plymouth captured three awards—second prize of $10 cash, fourth prize of $8 cash, and seventh prize of $5 cash.

Other winners were Patricia Uren of Garden City, third prize of $10 cash; Norah Gerhardt of Detroit, fifth prize of $5 cash; Beverly Gucciardi of Walled Lake, sixth prize of $5 cash.

Recipients of gift certificates from Kresge's were June Augustine of Garden City, Linda Crittenden, 11 years old of Garden City, and Margaret Humphrey of Detroit, who were eighth, ninth, and tenth place winners, respectively.

Respectable mentions went to Nina Enix of Inkster, Janice Baskebro of Plymouth, Jane Andrews of Livonia, and Ruth Sova of Walled Lake.

JUDGING DOLLS dressed to be given to the Goodfellows in Detroit for Christmas distribution to indigent youngsters was the happy occupation of this Plymouth trio Tuesday at Barnes-Gibson-Raymond division of Associated Spring Corp. They are (from left) Mrs. Vi Sparkman, Mrs. Betty Stechr and John Wertman, all of the Kresge Company in Plymouth. Mrs. Stechr is holding the blue-ribbon doll, dressed by Irene Bonkowski. Mrs. Sparkman has the second prize winning doll, dressed by Hallie Martin of Plymouth and Mr. Wertman is holding the third prize winning doll, dressed by Patricia Uren of Garden City.

Audubon Club Plans Dinner

Miss Virginia Olmsted, 365 Joy St., a member of the board of directors of the Detroit Audubon Society, is taking the reservations for the Society's Annual Banquet, Saturday, Nov. 22, in the Engineering Society dining room at the Rackham Memorial Building in Detroit.

Preceding the evening banquet an afternoon program will feature a panel discussion on Michigan's State Parks, moderated by Clarence Messner, member of the State Conservation Commission and first president of the Detroit Audubon Society.

In the Exhibits Hall will be seen animal portraits by Dr. Robert S. Butsch of the University of Michigan's Museum of Zoology, Wildlife and Conservation stamps arranged by Mrs. Elizabeth MacDonald of Oshawa, Ontario, and paintings of birds of Iceland by Dr. George M. Sutton of the University of Oklahoma.

Following dinner Carl Buchheister, of New York City, senior vice president of the National Audubon Society will present a color film, "Sanctuaries".

The christening of Jeanne Louise Sellman at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church last Sunday brought together relatives to the home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Sellman, 1051 Hartsough.

Attending dinner afterward were Mr. and Mrs. Reg Ridley of Elora, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Silba of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chaffin of Redford Township. Specialist Dell Sellman, stationed in Italy was the godfather.

Miss Ann L. Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Cooper of 1375 Ann Arbor Tr., has just been pledged to the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, national Greek letter sorority at Albion college. Miss Cooper is a freshman at Albion.

Three Cities Art Club Teams Up with Symphony

Concert goers will be in for a double treat at this year's Plymouth concert series.

The Three Cities Art club has announced that its members will again join the symphony group to exhibit their talents in a variety of media.

For the Nov. 16 concert at Plymouth high school, works of three club members will be shown, Mrs. Marjorie Becker, club president announced.

Those who will exhibit are Mabel Bacon of Plymouth, Catherine Hartley of Northville and Marian Sober of Livonia. The artists will show oils and watercolors in traditional, realistic and abstract styles. Other club members will exhibit at later concerts.

During the summer the club joined the summer concert series to exhibit in the pastoral setting of Plymouth Colony Farms and previously joined the symphony group in shows with the winter series.

During the summer the Art club participated in a symphony-sponsored competition for a painting of the orchestral group. The award winning painting was presented to the city of Plymouth for hanging in the city hall.

Mrs. Becker also announced that the next meeting of the art club will be at the home of Marian Sober where further plans will be discussed for the annual Christmas art sale. Tentatively, the plans call for original art by club members to be on sale the first week in December. Prices will be $2 to $25.

Grangers Planning Public Roast Beef Dinner Nov. 22

The Grange Hall at 273 Union St. will be the locale for a public roast beef dinner on Saturday, Nov. 22. Serving will be at 5, 5:45 and 6:30 p.m.

The following menu will be served family style: Roast beef, potatoes, gravy, peas and carrots, molded vegetable salad, spiced apple rings, pickles, hard rolls, butter, pumpkin and apple pie, and beverage.

For entertainment after the dinner, there will be cards and dancing. Donation is $1.50 for adults and children 10 years or under, 75c.

All tickets should be purchased before Nov. 20 as no tickets will be sold at the door. These may be obtained in advance from Bessie Salow at Dunning's Store or at Charles McConnell's Barber Shop. Reservations are also being taken at GL 3-2718 or GL 3-3030.

Mrs. Eda Jewell Succumbs After Lengthy Illness Nov. 8

One of Plymouth's long-time residents, Mrs. Eda Jewell, 98, died Saturday, Nov. 8, at 11 a.m. at home, 873 N. Mill St., after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Jewell, who was born on Nov. 4, 1860, the day Lincoln was elected at the polls, came to Plymouth in 1876 and lived here for the next 82 years.

She was the widow of John Jewell who succumbed in 1929. Surviving her are three sons, Homer Jewell of Plymouth, Steve Jewell of Plymouth and Glenn Jewell of Mecosta, and three grandchildren. A fourth son, Lee Jewell, passed away several weeks ago and this sadness is reported by her family to have brought on her failing.

She had made her home with her son, Steve, at the Mill St. address for several years. Her own former residence was on Harvey St.

Mrs. Jewell was a member of the Rebekahs 182 of Plymouth.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday, Nov. 11, at 1 p.m. with Rev. David L. Rieder officiating. Interment was at Riverside Cemetery.

Mrs. Theresa S. Root

A well-known former Plymouth woman, Mrs. Theresa S. Root, 84 years old, died Friday, Nov. 7, at Bixby hospital in Clayton.

Mr. Root, the widow of John F. Root, moved from Plymouth 12 years ago to Clayton where she lived with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Aldrich. She had been bedridden for the last nine years.

Mrs. Root was born Feb. 5, 1874, the daughter of Lyman A. and Helen Maybree Stout. She taught for several years in the Adrian public schools. She was a member of the Berean Baptist church in Adrian and the D.A.R. in Plymouth.

Besides her husband, a son, Lyman, preceded her in death.

She leaves her daughter, Mrs. Aldrich; a step-son, Henry Root of Plymouth, six grandchildren, 11 great grandchildren and one step-grandson.

Funeral services were held in the Aldrich residence Monday, Nov. 10, at 6:30 p.m. Burial was at Ridgeville cemetery near Adrian.

The five ministers at the funeral were Rev. Lynn B. Stout of Plymouth who officiated at the service; Rev. H. D. Halsey, who sang; Rev. O. A. Osterburg of Clayton who offered a prayer; Rev. D. W. Hine of Adrian, who gave a prayer; and Rev. G. W. Miller who gave the benediction.

Paul Hayward, 60, prominent Ypsilanti clothing merchant, died Monday morning at his residence, 240 Clubview, Ypsilanti, following a short illness. He formerly operated the Hayward's Men's Clothing store in Plymouth.

Mr. Hayward was born in Detroit on Jan. 28, 1898, the son of William W. and Dolly Wixom Hayward. He married Irene Owen on July 23, 1919, in Ypsilanti. Mr. Hayward has owned and operated Hayward's Men store in Ypsilanti for the past 25 years.

He was a member of St. Luke's Episcopal church in Ypsilanti and a veteran of World War I, having served in the Navy. He was a charter member of the American Legion Post 282 in Ypsilanti, and a member of the Kiwanis Washtenaw Country club.

Surviving him are his wife; one daughter, Mrs. Albert McClelland of Ypsilanti and two grandchildren, Ann and Nancy; one brother, William Hayward of Royal Oak, three nieces, one nephew, several cousins.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2 p.m. at St. Luke's Episcopal church, Rev. Sidney Rood, rector, officiated. Burial was in Highland Cemetery under the direction of the Moore Funeral Home of Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Agnes A. Russell

Funeral services for Mrs. Agnes A. Russell, 88, who succumbed November 10 after a lengthy illness, were held Wednesday at Schrader Funeral Home.

Rev. Patrick Clifford officiated at the 1 p.m. services. Pallbearers were Everett Reynolds, Robert Evans, Lloyd Sharland, Floyd Nelson, George Wilson and Victor Baker. Interment was at Oakview Cemetery, Royal Oak.

Mrs. Russell, who lived at 11821 Priscilla Lane, died in her home at 5 a.m.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Rosalind L. Reynolds of Plymouth, and a brother Roy W. Anger of Royal Oak.

Mrs. Russell, who was born on July 16, 1870 in Canada, was the daughter of Charles L. Anger and Sarah Swanton Anger. She was the widow of John Russell and moved to this community in 1945 from Detroit. Mrs. Russell was a member of Calvary Baptist church.

Motordom's New Measurement of Greatness!

The American motorist has long since adopted his own technique for judging the year's automotive offerings. He simply looks to the new Cadillac car to discover motordom's fullest measure of all that is new and good and wonderful.

And never before has Cadillac placed such a high standard on the world's motor cars as it has for 1959. For the new "car of cars" has introduced a whole new concept of what an automobile can do... and how it should look and act.

To the eye alone, it is a revelation. Elegant, majestic, substantial, poised—it has brought a new magic and splendor to the world of motion.

Its Fleetwood interiors are miracles of advanced design.

Appointments are beautiful beyond imagination... and its fabrics and leathers are unbelievably luxurious.

The 1959 Cadillac is equally inspiring from behind the wheel. Its spectacular new engine, its advanced transmission and its new ease of ride and handling make every journey the most glorious distance between any two points.

These Cadillac advancements have been interpreted in thirteen body styles—including a new Eldorado Brougham.

So if you contemplate the purchase of any motor car in the coming year, you owe yourself an early visit with this newest of Cadillacs.

Sixty minutes in the showroom and on the highway will give you a full understanding of the new way to measure greatness in a motor car.

The majestic new Cadillac for 1959 is now on display—inspect and drive it today!

"Blood is retained for transfusion only 21 days after being donated, but blood unsuitable for transfusion is sent to commercial laboratories for making into these equally important derivatives."

Mrs. Penhale says that prospective donors who have no appointments are most welcome to visit the bloodmobile and will be serviced as promptly as possible. Donors may designate to which blood group account credit is given, may replace blood already used by a patient, or deposit to a self account. Persons with no blood group affiliation are urged to designate the PLYMOUTH COMMUNITY ACCOUNT and then will be eligible to call on the resources of that group in time of personal emergency.

Local Red Cross volunteers will assist the professional staff during the visit of the bloodmobile.

Slowly inching its way up within 82 percent of the goal, Plymouth's Community Fund Drive is being carried on until success is reached, the board of directors have decided.

Although the campaign was to officially close last weekend, the board had some time ago anticipated that this year's campaign would be slower than usual and decided to continue the drive until the $33,537 goal is achieved.

Yesterday, Fund Treasurer John Pint reported contributions at $28,511—or $5,026 short of the mark.

The second largest contribution to date was received this past week from the GM Transmission plant employees at Willow Run. Their contribution came to $2,668, despite the fact that they had been on strike for several weeks and many had been laid off during the summer.

Three other large contributions during the week were Burroughs, $2,100; Evans Products, $1,500; and Whitman & Barnes, $1,200. Business establishments still lag far behind, it was reported this week. There have been no personal solicitations this year. Those who have mis-laid pledge cards should mail their check to Plymouth Community Fund, Box 356, Plymouth.

The following are additional donors of 10 or more. (Those not wishing to be listed should so state on their pledge cards.)

$2,668, Detroit Transmission Employees.
$2,100, Burroughs.
$1,500, Evans Products.
$1,200, Whitman and Barnes.
$200, Western Electric Co., C & O R.R., R. A. Schloff.
$120, R. N. Baxter.
$100, N. E. Bennett, D. R. Sand.
$50, Burger Construction, B.P.O.E. Lodge 1780, David Mather, Plymouth Lumber and Coal, Service Steel Division of Van Pelt Corp. Frank Veresh, K. W. Leader.
$40, Dudley D. Bowers, K. L. Burton.
$25, William V. Clarke, Dickerson Market, Alvin Edgington, R. E. Houston, E. P. Light, L. E. Lyons, S. F. Water Service Co., Paul Simmons.

Fund Drive Reaches 82 Percent

While some high school boys each year risk their necks to mar the city's water towers with lettering, two boys were in court last week after being caught trying to un-do a paint job. They were tired of seeing the "Yea Northville" on the tower near Church St. and had nearly eliminated it with matching aluminum paint. Judge Nandino Perlongo let the boys off with a stern warning (they had no previous record) after noting that the boys' parents were equally concerned with their son's lives.

POLICE BEAT: An attempt was made to break into a safe at the Selle Body Shop on Ann Arbor Rd. over the weekend. The safe was damaged but not entered. Five sets of car keys, however, were stolen. Also over the weekend, thieves stole over 40 pieces of tubing of all sizes from Service Steel Division on Farmer St. Some weighed up to 800 pounds. As scrap, the steel could get perhaps $150. Police assume a truck with a winch was used.

FIRE CALL: Plymouth Township firemen answered a false alarm on Ridge Rd. last Friday night. City firemen tried to burn down an old house at Church and Adams Streets last weekend but it was too windy. First Methodist Church owns the lot and have not decided upon its future.

MIDGET CAR PROBLEM: Police Chief Kenneth Fisher says that those midget cars with engines are a growing problem. They must be licensed to drive on the highway, but the secretary of state will not grant licenses because they are not considered a safe vehicle. And drivers also should be licensed, except they usually are not old enough. They could ride on sidewalks, but protests of neighbors could lead to trouble. If the owner runs the car on his own property, he is on safe ground.

KNOWN HERE: Many Plymouth families were acquainted with Dr. Aaron Edwards, the Ann Arbor pediatrician who lost his life while trying to save two daughters as his house burned. He was on the staff of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

STOLEN CAR: Three Plymouth juveniles were brought into custody this weekend for the theft of a car and a motor bike. They have been released to their parents until further action before juvenile authorities.

Grass Roots
Supervisor Lindsay was appointed in his office in June 1953 following the death of Charles Rathburn. He was re-elected in 1955, and 1957.

Treasurer Mrs. Holmes was appointed in December 1953 to succeed her husband who died in office. She was later elected in 1955 and 1957.

Mrs. Broome was appointed clerk in May 1956 to succeed the late Norman Miller. She was elected in 1957.

Elected for the first time in 1957 was C. V. Sparks, who won the two year term.

(In 1957 a new law made township trustee terms of four year's duration instead of two. They are to be elected at alternate elections, however, Louis Norman was elected to the four-year term at that time and Sparks was elected for two years. The seat now held by Sparks will hereafter be for four years.)

Nominating petitions for township offices must have signatures of not fewer than one percent of the registered electors (29) or more than four percent (110).

It is possible for the city to avoid having a primary election Feb. 16 for city jobs should there not be more than two candidates for each of the four vacancies. If there are more than eight candidates, the number must be reduced to eight with a primary.

There will be a township election Feb. 16 regardless of how many file. An important proposal will be on the ballot the one dealing with the incorporation of part of Plymouth Township into the City of Plymouth Heights.

Oil production in Venezuela is running at the rate of 2,560,000 barrels a day.

Voting Machine
Commissioner Carl Shear also brought up another point which was supported by a member of the audience, Probate Judge James Sexton of Plymouth, who lost his bid for re-election in Wayne County by several thousand votes.

Shear said that he never knew that absentee ballots are counted by having an election worker place them on the voting machines after polls are closed. He and Judge Sexton both declared that there is room for dishonesty in such a procedure, although in Plymouth they doubted that it could happen.

Judge Sexton said that the several people in charge of placing the absentee votes on the machine (usually one worker and two challengers), certainly could make many errors or be persuaded to ring up many non-existing votes.

Commissioner Richard Wernette said that he worked as a challenger last week and that the precinct worker adding the absentee votes to the machine did make a mistake and the other challenger caught it.

But City Clerk Kenneth Way got out the state election law book which directed election boards to use this method for tallying absentee votes.

Commissioner Harry Roberts then brought out another point, "What if an absentee ballot came in with just the propositions marked? How would they register this vote on the machines if it is necessary to vote for a candidate each time?"

Way said that such a thing didn't happen last week, but that if it did, it would probably be necessary to adjust the mechanics of the machine to make it possible.

Should Lorenz file some type of court action, it is not known now what effect it would have on last week's election if his case won.

According to law, the liquor referendum cannot be placed on the ballot again for four years.

girl's picture in the duffle bag with her name and address. "Bob had mentioned her several times so we wrote her, but received no reply." She lived in Ogden, Utah.

Mr. Burton fears that foul play could be the answer. He believes that Bob was discharged with a large sum of money and after that, anything could happen.

Just this week the local draft board had sent a letter to Bob at the Burton address telling him that he needs to report. Because he was to serve four years with the inactive Reserve, he was to re-register with the draft board.

"It's not like Bob to do this," Mr. Burton said shaking his head, and gazing at the worn duffle kit. "Something must have happened to him."

Livonia Bride-to-be Loses Arm in Automobile Crash

A tragic auto accident last Saturday shattered the marriage plans of a 19-year-old Livonia girl and a Plymouth youth.

Miss Grace Speck, 16905 Oporto, had her left arm amputated just below the elbow after her car overturned when she dodged a limb or Joy Rd. a few miles east of Ann Arbor. Her arm was pinned under the roof of the automobile until help was summoned by a Mr. and Mrs. Millard who live near the accident scene and heard her blowing the horn.

A Washtenaw County Sheriff's Deputy rushed her to St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor where she was treated for multiple bruises and her arm amputated.

Grace and her fiance, Ernest Forster, of Plymouth, had only recently taken out a marriage license in Ann Arbor. They were to be married Saturday, Nov. 22.

Grace is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Speck, Ernest is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Forster, 9350 W. Ann Arbor Rd., Plymouth.

Alumni Roll Call Announced For Former 4-H Members

Former 4-H Club members living in Wayne county will find it easy to participate in the 4-H Alumni Roll Call now going on to raise funds to help build Camp Kett, according to Mrs. Tom Russell of Wayne and Jack Barnes, County 4-H Michigan Milk Producer, Detroit Alumni Roll Call Chairman.

During the Roll Call drive which runs until December 15, every man and woman now living in Wayne county who ever belonged to a 4-H Club will be asked to answer the Roll Call by contributing $1 or more, toward building the new State 4-H Training Center. Contributors' names will be listed at the Center under the County where they lived when they were 4-H Club members.

Special envelopes and Roll Call cards have been placed at the County Extension office and at other places throughout the County. In addition, many organizations in the county have been contacted and given a supply of envelopes for 4-H alumni in these organizations, Mr. Barnes said.

"We do not know how many people there are in Wayne county who have belonged to a 4-H Club in their youth, but we believe a great many of them will respond to the 4-H Roll Call when they are aware of its purpose," the chairman said. "Dedicated to training youth leaders, the $300,000 State Training Center will be located on a 140 acre tract owned by the 4-H Club Foundation of Michigan on Center Lake in Osceola County.

"We are pleased that former 4-H'ers will have a part in helping to build Camp Kett, the chairman added, because in the years ahead many 4-H leaders and others from Wayne county will be attending training programs at the Center.

"We are confident that our 4-H Alumni will do their share in helping the 4-H Club Foundation of Michigan in this important undertaking. Since there is no mailing list or roster of 4-H alumni, any former 4-H member who hears about the Roll Call is asked to respond on his own and not wait to be contacted. The chairman concluded. They may send contributions with name and address and 4-H affiliation to Box 431, East Lansing, Mich.

McMullen Twins Give Party on Birthday

Harry and Larry McMullen, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Dee McMullen celebrated their 13th birthday on Nov. 8 with a birthday party at their home.

On their guest list were Tom McGill, Tom Cline-Smith, Danny and Bonnie Grady, Ralph and Bill Grady, Coral Zalmar, Sandy Popp, Jackie, Vallie and Donna Fulton; Norma Wall, Gail Bear-den, and Jimmy Paddock. Dancing games and refreshments were enjoyed by all.

What To Do If Fall Cold Strikes Family

Chances are that you or a member of your family will come down with at least one cold this fall.

According to medical authorities, changeable weather at this season contributes to making fall one of the peak cold periods of the year. Crowded schools, crowded transportation facilities and full office and plant staffs increase your chances for exposure.

Fortunately most of these colds are comparatively minor discomforts which can be cleared up fairly quickly if you take care of yourself. However, even the simple sniffles are highly contagious, so that one of the most important precautions you can take is to isolate that cold from others.

Here are a few simple suggestions offered by health authorities that will make the cold victim more comfortable at the same time they safeguard other members of the family:

Remain in bed for a day or two, or at least until the worst stages of the cold are over. If you run a fever, call your doctor.

Drink lots of liquids, such as fruit juices, soups and water.

Relieve dried lips and nose by using special creams or lip balm to soothe the sore areas.

Keep drinking glass, cups and other dishes separate from the rest of the family's utensils. Don't use those of others in the family—don't let them use yours.

Wash hands thoroughly before touching any food.

New for baby — a plastic dish that can withstand the heat of an automatic dishwasher or steam sterilizer. The dish is partitioned and slanted to help a child feed himself. Two suction cups on the bottom hold it to a table. (Tommee Tippee dish, Celanese Corp. of America, New York, or Westland Plastics, Inc., Los Angeles.)

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

Mrs. Vogt Gives Three Favorites—

Mr. and Mrs. George Vogt and their fine family of four children moved here six months ago from the German community of Columbia, Ill.

And of all the things that moved with them, an item of constant pleasure is Mrs. Vogt's recipe collection from their home town of Columbia.

She is sharing with Plymouthites this week two tempting dessert recipes, one for "Apple Dumplings", another for "Mondchens," a German Christmas cookie. She's also offering her way of broiling pheasants that proved successful when hubby and 11-year-old son Danny bagged some fine young pheasants recently near the home they are leasing on Ann Arbor Trail.

Mr. Vogt is a senior management trainee at the Kroger Food Warehouse and has six months to go in this program before he will be transferred to manage a similar Kroger distribution center in the Midwest.

"We just love Plymouth and hate to think of moving," says attractive Mrs. Vogt. Her husband made a thorough check of the school districts in the area before deciding to locate in Plymouth. He was president of the Board of Education at home and was much concerned about school standards and facilities for his children.

They luckily found a "real home" to lease — part of the Bennett estate, now owned by Jane and Dick Daniels of Rogers, Ark. All the beautifully finished Early American pieces that the Vogts have done themselves fit into the spacious home like the proverbial glove!

Their children are George, III, 14, nicknamed "Terry", a freshman at Plymouth High school, clarinet player in the band, and a pianist; Daniel, 11, sixth grader at Bird Elementary School; Lisa, 5, kindergarten at Bird, and Amy, 3.

Since their residence here, the Vogts have enjoyed all aspects of Plymouth community life. They've attended the summer concerts, picnicked at scenic parks nearby and took visits to Canada. The family is a member of First Presbyterian Church here.

Here are those recipes:
Apple Dumplings
Prepare your favorite pie

APPLE DUMPLINGS, warm and yummy fragrant, are appetite-teasers on these crisp, wintry days. Mrs. George Vogt, of 45170 Ann Arbor Trail, has a wonderful recipe that even brings a joyful smile from three-year-old daughter, Amy.

crust recipe and chill it. Pare and core 4 medium-sized apples.

Combine until blended:
3/4 C brown sugar
4 T. soft butter
1/2 t. salt
1/2 t. cinnamon

Fill the core hollows with this mixture and spread the remainder over the fruit.

Roll out dough and cut into 4 squares. Place an apple on each square. Enclose apple, press edges together with a bit of water if it doesn't stick. You may chill them for several hours or bake them immediately in a hot oven, 425 degrees for about 10 min. Then reduce temperature to 350 degrees for about 45 minutes.

When they begin to color, baste them with a syrup of:
1 C. water
1/2 C. sugar
2 T. butter
1/2 t. cinnamon

Mondchens
1 C. butter
1/4 C. sugar
2 t. grated lemon rind
1/4 t. salt
1 and one-third C. sifted

1 t. vanilla
Method: Cream butter and sugar. Add rest of ingredients, mixing thoroughly. Chill dough about 1 hour. Roll out on well-floured surface. Cut with crescent cutter. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees, 8 to 10 minutes.

Ice as soon as removed from oven with 1 1/2 C. powdered sugar
2 T. boiling water
1 t. vanilla
These cookies will keep a long time if stored airtight or frozen.

Green Meadows: Bea Lee Keeps Busy

(Covering the Green Meadows area and the Southwestern section of Plymouth Township, bounded by South Main, Joy Road, Ann Arbor and Beck Road.)
By MRS. MARTHA STACE
GL. 3-1929

Recent guests in the Howard Green household were two young grandsons Douglas and Jeffery from Garden City. They spent the weekend with their grandparents while their parents were in Lansing to attend the football game.

HAVE KILN—WILL FIRE—should be the headline of the very interesting hobby of Bea Lee. I have not been over to see all of the lovely things which Bea has already made or is in the process of making, as I had hoped to do before writing up this item.

Bea tells me she has the molds to make green ware as well as the kiln to fire them in. She is able to do this for any one who is interested in ceramics.

Some of the items she told me about were a canister set she made quite some time ago for her own use, (it is embellished with flowers, birds, fruit and leaves), snack set and a very lovely lamp which is decorated with grape clusters. She is in the process of making a hurricane lamp. She has the molds for making any number of figurines, dishes, cup and saucer sets, vases and lamps as well as several children's plaques, such as Little Bo-Peep and Little Boy Blue.

Mrs. David Francis, of Brookline St., called the other day to tell us about the open house being held for her grandmother Mrs. Mary Shannon who celebrated her 102nd birthday Sunday, Nov. 9. Mrs. Shannon resides with her daughter, Mrs. Bernice

Brown, and grandchildren Mr. and Mrs. William Hrbal of 29661 Hathaway in Livonia. The other grandchildren as well as great-grandchildren are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jeffrey and daughter of East Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. David Francis, Jr. and children Michael, David, and Patrick of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kujat and children, Keith and Michele of Mt. Clemens. We know with your family on hand to wish you a happy birthday, Mrs. Shannon, it surely must have been a very happy one. We would like to express our wish that it was a very happy day for you.

Sunday guests in the James Thompson home were Mrs. Thompson's sister and husband and baby, from Owendale. They were to return home Monday. Mr. and Mrs. David Cell were very pleased to have their two sons home for a visit. Richard is serving his country with the Air Force in Memphis, Tenn., and John will return to the Naval Air Force in Norfolk, W. Va.

Be Own Interior Decorator: Keep Scrapbook, Note Ideas

NEW YORK (UPI) — A simple way for homemakers to broaden knowledge of home decoration involves 10 steps, says the Decorative Fabrics Institute.

Plan early, keep a scrapbook or file of decorating ideas, collect sample swatches and paint chips, visit model rooms and model homes, build a reference library on decorating.

Save informative literature from manufacturers and newspapers or magazines. Attend lectures on home decoration. Enroll in special short courses. (Stores sometimes offer courses on slipcover making.)

Note good ideas wherever you are — in restaurants, other homes, department stores, while browsing through newspapers or magazines.

And — the keystone — use store advisory bureaus. Many home furnishings departments in department and specialty stores have interior decorating bureaus.

Be ruthless. Don't stay attached to oddments for sentimental reasons. The Institute says the desire to keep "everything" in a room for one reason or another will hinder you.

Now's Time to Plant, Transplant Shrubs Successfully

AN OUTDOOR LIVING room for the winter months must be on the southeast side of the house to trap the sun. A hedge or baffle will cut off wind.

Fix Up Outdoor Living Room Now

Winter is a season when people everywhere search for the sun.

To relieve that housebound feeling, so inevitable in winter whether from cold or rain, it's worth fixing up an outdoor corner where as much sun as possible can be trapped.

There the most sedentary members of the family can enjoy a half hour of sitting or reading outdoors in the crisp air, and pre-school children can be turned out to play in comfort. For winter enjoyment, the outdoor living room need not be large, for it will never need to accommodate as many people at one time as the summer one.

Morning and early afternoon sun, even in midwinter, can be enjoyed in any climate. The part of the property that is the outdoor living room during summer is usually too exposed for comfort in winter. A more protected area is as desirable in warmer climates for use when it's rainy or windy or the temperature takes a sudden drop, as it is in the colder North.

Since nature provides air-conditioning in winter, the sun has to be trapped for comfort outdoors. That means the outdoor living room must be on the southeast side of the house, whether the family lives in Texas or Massachusetts. A southeastern exposure affords protection from north and west winds, receives sun early in the day and so, by late morning, will be as warm as any place outdoors can be in December and January.

Two walls are essential and three may be desirable to furnish comfort outdoors on a sunny winter day. One wall of the house is the best natural barrier, or it may be one wall of the garage. If two walls of the house form an ell facing east or south, this is ideal—but almost too much to expect. If only one wall of a building can be utilized, the other one or two may be added in the form of a hedge or baffle.

The hedge should be evergreen and of the kind that grows eventually 5 or 6 feet high. Yew or hemlock are good choices, north and south. A baffle, or a combination of baffle on one side and hedge on the third side, may be the ideal solution. To let the sun in, the baffle should be made of 1-inch wood stock. This wood should be weather-resistant redwood or cypress, and the strips joined in an interesting pattern which will break the force of the wind.

Knives left carelessly loose in a crowded drawer or concealed under suds in dishwasher are dangerous.

Here's How Auto Insurance Works For You

Understanding auto insurance is a problem for many far-owning families. They know that insurance must be taken out, but they do not know how it works.

Basically, there are two types of auto insurance. One is a policy covering damage payments to other people, and the second is a policy covering damages to the person owning the car involved. The first policy covers such items as liability insurance, property damage insurance, and medical payments.

The second policy covers such items as comprehensive insurance and collision insurance. Comprehensive insurance means that a car owner is protected against car loss caused by fire, theft, or from storms, falling objects, vandalism and many other reasons.

Collision insurance is expensive. However, many car owners obtain collision insurance at a low cost by taking out a deductible policy. For example, a $50 deductible policy is rather popular and it means that in the event of an accident, the car owner pays the first $50 of a collision cost and the insurance company pays the remaining cost. A more reasonable $100 deductible policy is available, and it works in the same manner.

The varying premium costs paid by one family in comparison with another family creates many questions. What factors determine insurance cost? There are several. Premium charges are based on the type insurance, amount of coverage, car use, locality in which a family lives, and whether or not a male person under 25 years of age will drive the insured car.

The reason for a high premium charge for insurance that covers an unmarried male under 25 years is due to the high accident rate for this age and sex group. Apparently, young men in this age group are considered a better risk should they get married because the premium rate is lowered after they are married but are still under 25.

Because of the great number of cars on the roads and highways today, insurance is for the protection of all. Actually, auto insurance handles legal defense in damage suits in addition to paying claims and judgments for which a car owner is responsible when involved in an accident.

SHRUB PLANTING. — The burlap that holds ball of soil around roots is not untied until the shrub is placed in its new location. Don't bother to remove burlap; tuck it down into the hole.

After watering and filling hole with soil, tramp down the soil all around. Water again and when it has drained away, fill with soil to ground level.

Be Sure To Give Trees, Shrubs Plenty of Once-A-Week Soaking

Fall is a good season to plant or transplant shrubs. It's also the time of year when trees can be planted with the least trouble and the greatest likelihood of their growing without a setback.

Deciduous shrubs and trees can be moved anytime after their leaves have fallen; evergreen ones should be planted as soon as possible.

The homeowner who is planning to set out new shrubs to hide the bare foundation of his house or a tree to shade his terrace saves money and effort by visiting a nursery or garden center to select the plants he wants. Nursery plants will be dug with a ball of soil around their roots, the whole mass wrapped and tied in burlap. These plants are known as balled and burlapped, or "b & b."

Balled & burlapped plants can be moved and planted with utmost safety. On the other hand, trees or shrubs dug up from an empty lot or woods are sure to have some of their roots broken, perhaps so many that they'll never be able to establish themselves on the home property. Also, such plants are likely to be scraggly or one-sided in contrast to the well-shaped nursery-grown plant.

Since trees and shrubs are expected to live at least as long as the homeowner, they deserve careful planting. Note the size of the burlapped ball of roots and soil so that a hole can be dug wider and deeper. The roots should be accommodated without cramping or twisting and the woody plant should be set a little deeper than the dark soil line on the stems or trunk.

Cover the bottom of the hole with about an inch of peat moss, since peat seems to have properties that encourage root growth. Mix in about a cupful of bone meal or superphosphate to nourish the growing plant. When this has been mixed with the soil, the balled and burlapped shrub or tree can be dropped into the hole. Once it is safely in place, cut the strings and turn down the burlap, pushing it toward the bottom of the hole. There's no need to remove the burlap since it will rot away.

Now it's time to start watering. Fill the hole with water and when it has drained away start filling with soil. Old shoes are the order of the day when planting shrubs and trees, for when soil has been filled to ground level, it needs to be rammed down a couple of times. This leaves room for more soil. Water again.

After trees have been planted they need bracing with guy wires to keep them from being whipped round by winter winds and to aid them to grow straight. Drive three stakes in the ground equidistant from the tree and attach a length of wire to each stake. Where the wire encircles the trunk, slip a piece of old rubber hose over it to prevent its cutting the bark. Guy wires usually need to stay in place for two years.

Both trees and shrubs need plenty of watering. Soak the ground deeply around each newly planted one once every week that it doesn't rain. This once-a-week soaking is needed every week until the ground freezes.

Transplanting a shrub or a tree that's growing in the wrong place on the property can be just as successful, providing the homeowner will copy the nurseryman. That is, by digging as large a ball of soil with the roots as he possibly can. Once the soil and roots have been loosened, the shrub can be slid into a piece of burlap, then lifted on to the wheelbarrow and toted to the new spot where the hole has been dug.

HI-FI

By PRESTON McGEAR
United Press International

Warner Brothers, which put sound into motion pictures with its Vitaphone process in August 1926, has gone into the high fidelity record business on a big scale.

The entry of Warner Brothers Records coincided with the beginning of the stereophonic record era. Every disk in the company's catalogue is recorded both stereophonically and monophonically.

"Our emphasis will be almost completely on popular LP's and singles; developing new talent, new sounds, new concepts in merchandising and promotion," said James B. Conkling, president of the new company.

The first Warner Brothers Records on the market lean pretty heavily toward standards and adult appeal.

They include the score from "For Whom the Bells Toll"; "Sousa in Hi Fi," by the Warner Brothers Military Band; "The Dixieland Story," by Matty Matlock and his Paducah Patrol; "Invitation," a collection of standards by The Guitars, Inc., and "Have Organ, Will Swing," by Buddy Cole.

Bonnie Baker, who was the rage of the nightclubs in the late 1930's, has a Warner Brothers record called, "Oh, Johnny!" Jack Webb of "Dragnet" fame reads lyrics from love songs against an instrumental background in another Warner's record entitled, "You're My Girl."

Emory Cook sent a team over to the Vienna, Austria, Trade Fair to demonstrate his microfusion process of making records and found Europeans as particular as American hi-fi listeners.

"It is a mistake to imagine that Europeans and the European market are dragging behind and scraping away at 78 RPM records," Cook's demonstration team reports.

"Like the English, who used to lag behind several years but are now currently abreast of and even ahead of the United States market in developments such as stereo, the Europeans, particularly West Germany, the Benelux countries and Switzerland, are up to the minute in their appreciation and knowledge of new developments."

The advent of stereophonic records has brought demands for calling one-channel sound "monophonic" instead of "monaural." There are good reasons. "Monaural" means to hear with one ear, which is pretty hard to do unless one ear is plugged.

Here's Gas Facts For Gals Know Your Car's Octane

Choosing the right gasoline for the family car presents a problem for women drivers. Always conscious of the family budget, women are slightly confused as to which premium gasoline is best, and wonder if the higher price per gallon of premium gasoline is worth it.

During the past five years, gas octane rating has increased steadily. Octane rating, for those who don't know, is the indication of the antiknock quality of gasoline. The higher the rating, the less knocking there is under the hood when climbing a hill, also the better the fuel. Presently, the average rating of premium gasoline is around 96 octane, and for regular gas is 89 octane.

Whether a family car needs a premium gasoline depends on several factors. Does the family car start easily? Does it have normal power or does it knock when it's accelerated quickly and when climbing a hill? If the answer to these questions is "no," a premium gas is not necessary and a family will not benefit by using a more expensive and better gas.

What has prompted the marketing of these premium gasolines is the higher compression ratio of engines in today's cars; that is, car engines with greater power. Although a high compression engine provides greater auto efficiency, it must burn quality gas or it will knock. There is little doubt as to increased performance a high compression engine car gives a woman driver when using any of the super-high-test gasolines. Some of these, which have a rating of 100 octane plus, are the best fuel a car owner can put in to get peak efficiency from his auto engine.

In addition to the octane rating of gasoline, another factor that deserves attention is the lead content of various brands. Some brands have more lead than others, and this contributes to the gumming up of fuel lines and carburetor. Such a condition lowers the efficiency of the family car's engine, and it necessitates a cleaning every so often.

Many auto mechanics and service station owners recommend that women driving better-made cars fill up with white gas once a month. A white gas does not contain lead, and it aids in the cleaning of fuel lines while it is being used in the engine.

A point that all women drivers should know in regard to octane rating of gasoline is that most gas companies readily admit that once the average car's engine is satisfied in octane rating requirement, additional anti-knock quality in a fuel does nothing to improve auto performance.

Plan Thanksgiving Decorations To Echo With Harvest

Hang Corn on Door, Trim Table with Fruit

Thanksgiving is a family day when young and old gather together. The house where Thanksgiving dinner is to be eaten needs decoration that indicates the abundance of the harvest and the festive spirit of the day.

There's no better place to start than the front door through which family and friends enter. Three ears of variegated corn with the dried husks turned back to show the colored kernels can be fastened, in a moment, to the hook or nail where the Christmas wreath will hang next month.

If every other front door on the block has ears of colored corn, a different welcome won't take long to fix. This could be short branches of real sumach berries, branches of black alder (winterberry) or yaupon, or some other colored fruit combined with autumn leaves or evergreen branches in a small basket. Stems of grain, that can be purchased at florist shops, or bittersweet are other variations that add a welcome to the front door.

If the entrance is embellished by a planter box, it's time to rip out the bedraggled summer flowers and see that it, too, has a seasonal welcome. Evergreen branches, pruned from the lower part of trees, can be stuck in the soil. Again stems of sumach, black alder or bittersweet can be added color.

Indoors, whether for the dining table, the front hall or the living room, there's no more appropriate decoration than fruit. Fruit isn't an extravagant decoration, for it can be eaten once it has served its purpose.

Bunches of grapes, hanging over the edges of a pair of urn-shaped vases will be handsome on the mantel. Fill the vases, or large glass goblets, with pebbles, sand or styrofoam. Wire each bunch of grapes to a strong toothpick and thrust the toothpick into the stuffing.

Also effective on the mantel or the dominant piece of furniture such as a desk or chest in the living room would be branches of autumn leaves, pyracantha or other ornamental fruits cut in the garden and perhaps stems of grain. They can be combined loosely, thus expressing the abundance of harvest, in a container appropriate for the spot.

A shallow basket, a bread board or tray is the only container needed for a fruit arrangement on the dining room table. On this table the arrangement should be low so that people can see one another across its expanse.

On this flat container pile apples and oranges, kumquats, limes, grapes, avocados, eggplant, peppers, small squash, even onions and potatoes or any other colorful fruit and vegetable that is available. Cranberries and nuts may be wired together to a toothpick and inserted among the larger fruits.

Because fruits and vegetables are round, oval or knobby, it may be difficult to make them stay just where they are wanted for effect. Their placement is controlled by using toothpicks, sticking one end into a fruit and the other end into the fruit that is to rest beside it. Short ends of bittersweet and grains can be inserted among the fruits and vegetables.

Chrysanthemums or other late flowers also can enhance the fruit and vegetable arrangement on the table. To keep them from wilting, insert a stem into a small glass tube of water which can be concealed among the fruits. Or use a small cheese glass, covering it with aluminum foil so that water won't spill.

FRUITS and vegetables are appropriate Thanksgiving decoration. Choose a basket without a handle or a tray for the table so people can see each other.

Dieters, Take Note: Things Much Tastier Than Expected

For a dilly of a dilemma, pity the poor dieter. Whether the villain is Papa's salt or Mama's calories, it sometimes seems as though everything that adds flavor is taboo.

Don't despair, says Jean Allen, home economist for the Kroger Food Foundation. A little ingenuity and some store-shelf searching can produce meals with whole-family appeal. Many homemakers are not familiar with the many new products now reaching the market, says Miss Allen, each designed to let us have our "cake" and trim figures too.

Take a look at the line-up or the reducer.

Low calorie salad dressings—cooked, French, and Italian... sugarless preserves and jellies to brighten morning toast... calorie-less pickles... even maple syrup (artificially flavored) to enliven oats, puddings, or ice cream. For a splurge without a spread, they're soft drinks, ice cream, and such items as ice-cream sticks which come with their calorie count substantially lowered.

Gelatin desserts or pudding mixes (sugar free, of course) satisfy that yen for a rich-tasting dessert when topped by low-cal whipped instant milk. A versatile product, instant non-fat dry milk tastes like fresh milk and whips like heavy cream.

The ultimate in luxurious waist-consciousness is reached by a new frozen food item, says Miss Allen. It's a complete calculated-to-control-calorie-meal — from entrée to dessert. No thinking required!

It's a bit like having a dietitian right at your elbow, she explains. Eight menus are offered, each planned by experts. Charts and instructions tell the story and plot your weight loss.

Preparation is a snap. Simply thaw salad and dessert while meat and vegetables are heating in the oven.

One advantage of these meals is that they are well-balanced. A typical menu is broiled chicken, green peas, cauliflower slaw, and Bing cherries. Other entrées might be Swiss steak, pork tenderloin, or breaded veal steaks.

Who Needs Salt?

Many tricks that satisfy the would-be reducer's needs also cater to low salt diets, Jean Allen points out.

Ten minutes with your spice shelf will be well spent. Be adventurous. Experiment with exotic herbs. You'll be surprised to discover that many of the unusual flavors you have admired so extravagantly at glamorous restaurants can be reproduced in your own kitchen with just a pinch of this and a spoonful of that.

A hint of lemon or lime instead of delicious—but rich butter and salt gives vegetables a garden freshness. Team green beans with sesame seed, asparagus with nutmeg, or cabbage with mustard and lemon. Mushroom, nourishing and low in calories, mix with many foods.

Italian cooks have known for centuries the wonderful matchmaking of tomatoes with basil, oregano, or thyme. And a meat loaf seasoned with marjoram carries the label "cooked with inspiration" while rosemary complements fresh water fish.

Available in most food stores today are such diet aids as unsalted canned vegetables, crackers, melba toast, tuna fish, dry cereals, and even saltless cheese. If you are uncertain about their salt or sugar content, read labels carefully.

Diet Dinner a Delight

Proof that a low-salt, low-calorie dinner can be intriguing and satisfying is offered by a menu served recently by the Foundation home economics staff.

"Spice of Life" Loaf Stewed Tomatoes with Basil French Style Green Beans with Sesame Seed Head Lettuce Salad with Lemon Juice

High Fashion Fluff A piquant blend of herbs supplies exciting flavor to this spicy meat loaf. Even non-dieters will approve.

A new combination refrigerator-freezer needs no defrosting, even in the freezer compartment.

The model, which took four years to develop, is a two-door, 14.2 cubic unit with a separate 133-pound freezer section at the bottom, featuring an ice-ejector in the door.

Ex-Blonde Tells All — Favors Money to Raves!

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Gentlemen may prefer blondes, but this ex-blonde prefers a bank balance.

Two years ago in a dispatch I "told all" — how I'd gone from my natural brown to baby blonde, pale-haired as Marilyn Monroe, thanks to the chemical potions, six hours and $50 at Lilly Dache. Well, another confession is in order — I've reverted to the same old me, and ever since the return have been under self-examination to determine:

1. What motive led me to bleach in the first place? Psychologists say it could be a rebellion against circumstances, an emotional immaturity. I maintain it was reporter's curiosity.

2. Whether my personality changed while I was running around with flaxen locks and bouffant "do"? I think it did, although one psychologist said "the personality is likely to revert to normal before the blonde grows off the hair."

3. Why, as long as I got the boss to hold still for cost of the initial job, I didn't argue for cost of maintenance? (You can get a color change for less than that $50, or even do it yourself, but who's going to travel economy class on an expense account?)

I remember that reaching the decision of bleach took a lot of soul-searching, much discussion with friends, many questions of the colorist on possible hair damage. (There was none; the hair is husky as ever).

You'd have thought I was investing in a gold mine instead of gold locks, the way I probed. Apparently few women are such 'fraidy cats — the beauty industry reports that 75 per cent of us are bleaching, dyeing, tinting or rinsing in color.

At the time, the immediate reaction was one of doubt-takes, plenty of wolf whistles, and even my boss barked when he walked past the desk. I got plenty of notice as a blonde — and let the psychologists kick that one around a while!

I felt blonde... I woke up feeling blonde. I felt glamorous, and didn't worry about whether I really looked it. I felt on a continual jag, as if I'd just had a shot of adrenalin.

But most of all I felt it in my pocketbook. The $50 was just the beginning, and I realized those who own oil wells argue that a girl has to have some luxuries.

Every three weeks, the dark roots had sprouted to the point of showing, so every three weeks it was back to the beauty shop for four to five hours and $20 to $25 (depending on whether the hair needed a conditioner — and not counting tips). This, plus the weekly trip for shampoo and set — a head of bleached hair demands expert a hairdresser or being expert at doing your own, and I'm not expert.

Going back was easy for me. The Dache experts just tinted me "sable brown," darker than my original shade but guaranteed to get a little nearer my natural color with each shampoo, and blend in gradually with the unbleached. Other women, with deep brown or black hair, have to make a more gradual return, with frequent rinses as the hair grows in.

So now I'm drab. The whistles have declined. A few of the more settled men at the office expressed approval of the new me, but the boss hasn't barked. The boy friend threatens to shop around. I no longer wake up feeling blonde and glamorous, and I notice cab-drivers don't wheel to the curb quite as fast.

But I'm saving money.

Meat Consumption Guided by Income

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Total meat consumption is tied to family income level, according to the Agriculture Department's marketing service.

"The more they earned, the more they ate—and the more they spent for it," said the department, reporting on a survey of meat-buying habits of families.

No matter what the income, most families, especially city folks, tend to eat comparatively less pork than beef.

Lots of lamb on the menu is an indication that Pop brings home much bacon—the long, green kind.

The deer is the most plentiful big game animal in America.

Lingerie Cases Fun To Make

The best present, it's been said, is the one you wouldn't buy for yourself. That's why lingerie cases are such a good choice not only for Christmas but for birthday or "bon voyage" trips. Once a person has these cases, she wonders why she was ever happy without them.

Cases are a simple gift to make and not too expensive even when the finest materials are used. Department stores always stock cases singly or in sets for the holiday season and are a good place to shop for ideas. Always consider the preferences in color and for simple or fussy trim of the person who is to receive the case.

Material may be silk or rayon, but always have a smooth texture. Satin, taffeta or moire are good choices. So simple are these cases that a pattern isn't necessary. Determine the purpose of the case and then the size it should be.

For the largest case, which will hold slips or nightgowns, the next size might be 11 inches long by 6 inches wide, and the smallest one for stockings or handkerchiefs 6 inches long and 5 inches wide. A glove case is much longer than it is wide: 15 to 17 inches is a good length depending on the length gloves most generally worn, and when opened flat it should be 10 inches wide.

The jewelry case may be a roll, 12 to 15 inches long and 10 to 12 inches wide, in which necklaces and bracelets can be packed for traveling. A small case about 3 inches square with folding pockets is better for earrings, rings and pins.

Cases may be made to hold lingerie, stockings, gloves, handkerchiefs — in fact everything from cleaning tissues to jewelry. They always consist of two thicknesses of material with a thin interlining, either of two pieces of muslin or cotton or a thin layer of cotton batting.

A set of lingerie cases might consist of three matching ones in different sizes. About 15 inches long and 7 1/2 inches wide is a good size

Newburg: Livonia Public Library Conducting Book Drive to Dec. 1

By Mrs. Emil LaPointe
GA. 1-2023

A real going-group of people is the Fidelis class of the Newburg Methodist church Sunday school.

On Saturday, October 25 they held their second annual Halloween party in the barn on the property of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith of Newburg road. With dummies of every kind and description seated, standing, laying and hung from rafters, over 30 folks gathered, silently, not daring to speak to anyone until the unmasking. Prizes were given for the most unique costumes and after an evening of games and dancing, refreshments were served.

Another activity of this same group was their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Thompson on Newburg road, Saturday, Nov. 1. The folks met at 6:30 for the usual fine pot luck supper, then a business meeting and highlight of the evening was the showing of movies taken in Alpena recently. The regular Christmas meeting for the Class is scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 13 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ryder. This will also be a pot luck supper and gift exchange in keeping with the approaching holiday season.

In celebration of Mr. LaPointe's birthday, Saturday, Nov. 1, he and I were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nida of Dearborn at Ann Arbor stadium for the football game between Iowa and Michigan. Despite the fact that the home team was on the losing end, the game was enjoyed by all. Following the game, we had supper out in Ypsilanti.

After patiently waiting and calling, concerning the event, it makes me feel real happy to announce that Mr. and Mrs.

Carl Lampton of Hix road have a new baby girl, born Monday, November 3 at St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor. She weighed 9 pounds, 6 ounces, and mother and daughter are doing fine. Jerry, the new young lady's brother, chose to call her Linda Ann. So, congratulations to all the Lamptons.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin C. Guthrie of Newburg road, are home after spending some time visiting in Gatlensburg, Ga. The Guthries flew there and were joined by their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Guthrie, Jr. Mrs. Guthrie wrote that the color in the mountains at this time of year was at its height and a most gorgeous spectacle.

The young folks of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Newburg Methodist church, visited at the Chelsea Home in Chelsea, a last Sunday, Nov. 9, and took with them gifts from the pepol of the church. Foods of all kinds and donations of money. The Chelsea home is a Methodist supported home and this trek is an annual affair, enjoyed by both the young folks and the people at the home.

The Joy road Canasta Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Stuart Flaherty on Narise drive, Tuesday, Nov. 18 at 8 p.m. If you are coming or if you are not, will you please advise your hostess, so she can make plans, accordingly.

On Tuesday, Nov. 4, Mrs. Arthur Gennis and daughter Mary Ellen, Mrs. Claude Desmond and Mrs. Emil LaPointe, motored to Utica, to visit with two former residents of the Newburg area. First stopping at the home of Mrs. George Simon and then taking her with them, going on to the home of Mrs. Arthur DeCoster on Penrod in Fraser, lunch at DeCoster's and then an afternoon of cards and visiting. It was so good to visit and renew acquaintances of times that were spent together.

The new Livonia Public library has a need for books and is conducting a book drive, to obtain these needed books. The drive will begin October 15 and last through December 1. All books become the property of the Livonia Public library and final disposition of said books must be left to the discretion of the librarians. Book drops are located at the Livonia city hall, Livonia public library, Livonia fire stations and Livonia public schools. All books will be gratefully received.

Sympathies of the Newburg area are extended to Mrs. Earl Wasack and Mrs. Norman Kerr at the loss of their mother and to David Thompson at the loss of a very close relative.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Newburg Methodist church will meet in the old church sanctuary on Monday evening, Nov. 17 at 7:45 p.m. All ladies of the church are urged to attend. Special emphasis will be placed on becoming a member and proper induction of new members. All members of the society will be asked to put their name in a specially designated book to be kept with the other historical items of the society. Mrs. Harold Mackinder, president of the organization, urges all circles to have a majority representation. Selling projects for the organization at this particular time, include ribbon, Christmas and everyday and also vanilla. The selling of vanilla will enable the society to receive a silver tea service for the organization.

Well, guess we've come to the end again for this week. Won't more of you call in with your news? See you next week?

RECEIVING AWARD of a clip for 17 years service with Continental Can Co. last Thursday evening at a dinner party at Hillsdale Inn in his honor was Roger W. Geartz, left, plant supervisor. Presenting the award was A. P. Bowman, plant manager. Attending the dinner and witnessing the presentation were all supervisors and union committee members of the company.

Japan's Giant Trust Rise Again From Ashes of Allied Crackdown

TOKYO — (UPI) The mighty zaibatsu—gigantic industrial combines that were chopped up by Allied trust-busters a decade ago—have re-emerged as the pace-setters of Japan's bustling economy.

With banks providing the necessary cement—money and leaders—the new zaibatsu have pasted together giant organizations of banking, mining, shipbuilding, aircraft, munitions, chemical, real estate and trading firms. The old "Big Three"—Mitsui, Mitsubishi and Sumitomo—have regained dominance, each with approximately 30 major firms plus 200 or more subsidiaries and affiliates.

Now Mitsubishi accounts for nearly one-third of Japan's shipping tonnage, three-fourths of its tin production, one-third of its lead. Mitsui has become the top coal producer, the biggest owner of freighters, the biggest foreign trader.

The three giants account for an estimated one-third of all Japan's industrial output and commercial transactions. Significantly, the new zaibatsu are exerting their greatest efforts in two fields that didn't even exist before the war—petrochemicals and nuclear power.

Sumitomo has tied up 30 companies in a $143 million atomic energy combine. Mitsubishi has linked 26 firms in a similar venture.

Last to enter the field was Mitsui, which unveiled a 40-company atomic group last Sept. 1. The group is a "vertical" combine, and the day probably is not far off, when Mitsui, with its massed resources, will:

Build an atomic freighter in Mitsui shipyards; fit it with a reactor made by the affiliated Toshiba electrical group; fuel it with uranium from Mitsui Mining and Smelting; load it with a cargo of Mitsui-made products—and sail it to a foreign land where a branch office of the Mitsui Bussan Trading Company will sell the goods.

In petrochemicals five combines have jumped into a field that may boast a $10-million-yearly export market in a few years.

Before the war, fantastically wealthy families manipulated these zaibatsu empires through holding companies. Some of the families—Mitsui and Sumitomo, for example—traced their financial power to the early 1600's.

After Japan's defeat, the Allies, figuring that such excessive concentration of resources could easily be geared to aggression, made the controlling families and the holding companies their prime target.

A liquidation commission dissolved 83 holding companies, designated 56 persons members of the zaibatsu and took away their property.

It was about to split up 325 key firms when free-world policy makers suddenly ordered a halt. For the cold war had intensified, and the Allies realized that many of these firms were vitally needed to keep Japan economically strong.

The zaibatsu are now grouped along vastly different lines. Gone are the great personal empires and holding companies. Instead, banks wield the power—because banks were the only source of capital after the war—and interlocking stockholding and interlocking directorates assure unity.

One of the most striking examples of the zaibatsu renaissance reached its climax only this fall when the giant Mitsui Bussan, hacked to bits at the end of World War II, pasted the pieces back together again into a single trading company.

Its working staff is 5,000 and its expected annual turnover is $50 billion yen—the equivalent of $1.4 billion.

Meeting will be no social meeting this month for the Post and no business meeting for the Auxiliary, next Post meeting is December 3 and Auxiliary will meet December 11.

Vern Miller, service and welfare officer, and Roy Gardner distributed cookies and ice cream to the Veterans in Maybury Sanitarium, Northville, in honor of Veterans' Day on Monday, Nov. 10. The fellows over there really enjoy the treats and seeing visitors.

Work for the welfare of disabled war veterans will continue to be a major activity of the American Legion Auxiliary during the coming year, Mrs. Mildred Hewer, Rehabilitation chairman of Passage-Gayde Auxiliary has announced, following the national convention in Chicago, Sept. 1-4.

The convention outlined plans for continuance of the nation-wide program of service to the disabled veterans carried out by the Auxiliary in veterans' hospitals and in home communities. During the past year Auxiliary members working in hospitals as trained volunteers numbered 11,847, and served a total of 941,935 hours. They worked in 171 Veterans Administration hospitals and 236 other hospitals where veterans were under treatment. The Auxiliary's Christmas activities in veterans hospitals are expected to equal last year's when $942,583 was expended to bring happiness to hospitalized veterans. Christmas gift shops at which veterans could select gifts for their families without cost to them were operated by the Auxiliary in 240 hospitals. Personal Christmas gifts from the Auxiliary went to 177,516 veterans. In their work for disabled veterans in their own communities, all units of the Auxiliary expended $302,105, bringing attention and aid to 16,814 veterans during the past year. Other Auxiliary activities for the war disabled include maintaining nurseries at veterans' hospitals, where mothers can leave children while visiting veterans patients, giving parties in the hospitals, holding coffee hours, providing comfort articles, greeting cards and cigarettes, and placing magazines and home town newspapers in hospital libraries. "We hope to continue and expand all of this work during the year ahead to meet the increasing needs of those who sacrifice health and strength in the nation's defense" said Mrs. Hewer.

Ask Study of Child Labor Laws—Study of child labor laws to see if they fit today's conditions is being recommended by the American Legion Auxiliary, according to Mrs. Lillian Kinghorn, Child Welfare chairman of the Passage-Gayde Unit.

"Many of the child labor laws were adopted 50 or more years ago to prevent exploitation of children under conditions of those days," said Mrs. Kinghorn. "We of the Auxiliary are now wondering if these old laws do not now work hardship on many young people who are unable to stay in school full time by preventing them from obtaining employment. We think the situation should be given a serious study and the laws amended if this is found desirable. Forty per cent of our boys and girls drop out of school before graduation from high school. If they cannot obtain jobs because of labor laws what can they do with themselves? Delinquency is high among this group of young people who are not in school but too young to work in many occupations. Laws of fifty years ago may not be what we need today."

During the third week in November, the League of Women Voters in the Plymouth-Livonia-Redford area will hold their next meetings. The evening group will meet in the rear of the First Federal Savings Bank in Sheldon Center at 8 p.m. Monday.

The afternoon group will meet on Tuesday, Nov. 18, at 12:30. That meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Arthur Cooksey, 14490 Shadywood Court, Plymouth.

At the meetings there will be an analysis of the recent election figures as they affect the calling of a Constitutional Convention. While the issue failed to receive a majority of the votes cast, which would make the calling of a convention mandatory, the vote was large enough to indicate that most of the voters who voted on the question favor revision and that pressure should be applied to the Legislature to advance the cause.

The meetings will also begin a study of U.S. Foreign Policy, which is a National agenda item, adopted by the National Convention of the League in May of 1958. The entire study will take two years, and those women anxious to get in on the ground floor of the study will enjoy attending this first meeting on the subject.

For additional information on the League, or for information on how to reach the meetings call either Mrs. King Adamson, GA. 1-8864 or Mrs. Arthur Cooksey, GL. 3-2871.

Plymouth chapter No. 115, O.E.S., will hold a special meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 18, at 7:45 p.m. We will be happy to see you all at the meeting.

To all officers: There will be a practice Sunday, Nov. 16, at 2 p.m. It is very important that you all are there promptly.

A rummage sale is to be held at the Masonic Temple on Friday, Nov. 21 from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. The Temple will be open from 7 to 9 p.m. for donations.

Huge Sewer Expansion Seems Near for Rouge

A $38,000,000 sanitary sewer expansion program to end the danger of curtailed home and industrial building has been recommended by the Wayne County Road Commission.

The program would be financed by increased disposal rates for out-county residents.

Albert T. Kunze, Road Commission sanitary engineer, told the Sewage Disposal and Water Supply Committee of the County Supervisors that lack of adequate sanitary sewers is endangering county expansion.

He said the State Department of Health has already held up sewer permits for a square-mile subdivision in Livonia.

Kunze produced a letter from Donald M. Pierce, a state sanitary engineer, stating that there are deficiencies in several portions of Wayne County. Pierce pointed out that the major trouble area is served by the Middle Rouge interceptor, including Livonia, Plymouth and Northville.

Kunze said the project would be financed by a 130 per cent increase in county sewage charges. This would amount to an average $6 a year for each home owner, he said.

Additional revenue would be provided by a $50 charge for each new user, he said. At present when a new home sewer is tapped into a trunk line there is no county charge.

Kunze said this would enable the county to expand its system through revenue bonds that could be retired over 40 years.

The rate increase would affect approximately 165,000 home owners and industrial users, he said.

Outside Detroit the county sewer system serves all of western Wayne County with the exception of Melvindale and east Dearborn. In eastern Wayne County, it serves Harper Woods, Grosse Pointe Woods and Grosse Pointe Shores.

The Supervisors committee approved the plan. Final approval must be given by the Board of Supervisors.

Kunze said it would take a year to start the program after approval is given. Another three years would be required for completion, he said.

"This would not impede home and industrial expansion," he said. "The state has told us if it has an assurance that we will expand, it will not curtail building."

Now, Let's Wake Up and Get to Work

HANDWRITING Tells About Yourself

By LUCILLE WILLIAMS

Dear Miss Williams:

I shall appreciate it if you will please analyze my handwriting. Thank you.

A.D.

Dear A.D.: There's a lot of rhythm in your writing, you go right along building, creating, doing things with an artistic flair.

You're the dignified type but not so much that you can't get real enthusiastic over something. There's a strong purpose behind everything you do and you look ahead.

You are a good organizer and love responsibility, but you detest interruptions.

Dear Lucille: Would you analyze my handwriting? I am left handed and know my penmanship is poor but would be interested in what it shows.

Louise

Dear Louise: Left or right handed — it does not matter, only strokes, curves, etc.

Your memory is very good and you are very loyal.

You are very emotional and you keep some of it bottled up within you. Times are when you are afraid to express yourself. You have a feeling of not being capable of doing things. A lack of faith in yourself so to speak. You're inclined to be a bit selective in your friends and the real close ones aren't too numerous.

Criticism doesn't bother you a bit — you can take it on the chin and profit by it.

Ordinarily you're quite conservative but there are moments when you'll get out and get some of the things you've talked yourself out of.

You are trying to reach up spiritually for a better understanding. There's no temper, no irritation and no reason why you can't continue to have a very happy life.

Dear Lucille: Just for curiosity what can you find in my writing and my son's — which I have enclosed.

Maxine & Jimmy

Dear Maxine: You're a bit mixed up as far as your feelings are concerned. Part of your writing shows good logic and careful control of your emotions, — while on the other hand you get a bit emotional and get your mind set on a thing and don't like to change it.

There is some suppression here too — you keep many things to yourself and feel you shouldn't do this and that for fear of outwardly expressing yourself.

You're spiritually inclined and try to do the right thing and live by the rules.

You have a sense of humor and use it when you least expect it. If need be you can be very diplomatic.

Jimmy:

You have an abundance of pride and dignity and delight in doing everything your very best — if possible better than the rest.

Your memory is very good and by your slow methodical thinking you should be a good student in school.

Creative ability is written all over your card — you can construct and have engineering ability.

You have a great reserve of spiritual thinking to draw on when you need and want it.

Population Growth of 40% Seen in Michigan by 1978

"Michigan can expect a minimum population growth of 40 percent in the next 20 years with the majority of the increase developing south of a line from Bay City to Ludington, Dr. Frank W. Suggitt said in a preliminary report to the Michigan Good Roads Federation, today.

Suggitt, head of the Department of Resource Development of Michigan State University, said the majority of this growth will likely develop in the 18 counties which now make up the "large urban area."

The counties, he said, include Wayne, Oakland, Genesee, Saginaw, Bay, Macomb, St. Clair, Monroe, Lenawee, Washtenaw, Jackson, Ingham, Calhoun, Kalamazoo, Kent, Ottawa, Muskegon and Berrien Counties in close proximity, such as Livingston, Eaton and Shiawassee will share in the growth, he said.

"These counties are developing into industrial corridors and fortunately for the present and the future the Five-Year Expressway Construction Program is designed to directly service these areas and indirectly service their recreational needs," Suggitt said.

Suggitt reported that Michigan's population is increasing more rapidly than any of its neighboring states and much more rapidly than the population of the United States as a whole. Only one other state, California, has experienced a greater rate of gain (percentage increase) he said, and also a greater number of new people than Michigan since 1950.

Suggitt said, "Continued rapid growth predictions are based upon Michigan's proximity to the largest consumer market on the continent. Furthermore, Michigan's proximity to the natural resources upon which heavy industry is based adds to the bright prospect of growth. The iron ore and limestone of the Northern Lake States coal fields to the south and east by the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Seaway, which further tend to concentrate industrial concentration in the area.

THE 18 LARGE URBAN COUNTIES shown above (each with a population of 80,000 or more) contain 80 percent of the state's residents and have accounted for 94.4 percent of the state's total growth since 1950, according to Dr. Frank Suggitt, Michigan State University, in a preliminary report to the Michigan Good Roads Federation. Suggitt reported that these 18 counties and those in close proximity, will experience a 40 percent population growth by 1978. The expressway-type highways specified in the Five-Year Construction Program and present connecting routes, as shown, will greatly add to service these areas, he points out. A "corridor-type" growth of development along these routes and between these areas is most evident, he said.

"The abundant availability of fresh water for industrial processing, for human consumption, for waste removal, and for irrigation and recreation further assure Michigan's rapid growth. No other state is better situated with regard to water. This can well become the critical factor limiting industrial and population growth in many other states.

"The availability of accessible recreational features will be an important aspect of the state's industrial and recreational growth. The conveniently located forest, fish, game, beach and scenic resources of both southern and northern Michigan assure continued expansion of recreational travel and tourist and resort development."

If Your Name Is 'Arnold'

By ANN REYNOLDS, Ph.D.

This Old Germanic men's name is made up from 'arn' which means "eagle," and 'wald,' a word which occurs in many other names, too, and signifies "power." First having sounded "Arinwald" it developed into the modern "Arnold." It was very popular in the 12th and 13th century all over Europe; this is shown by the fact that it has been recorded also as a last name, together with such variants as Arnot, Arnall, Arnell, and others.

Speaking of men whose last names are Arnold, we are reminded of the traitor Benedict Arnold. But there was also another Benedict Arnold, a colonial governor of Rhode Island. He came to America in 1635 from England, and succeeded, in May 1657, Roger Williams as president of the colony. When Rhode Island was granted a royal charter in 1663, Benedict Arnold was made its first governor.

A famous Swiss patriot went by the name "Arnold," and, so the story goes, he brought about a Swiss victory in a singular and heroic way. It happened on July 9, 1386. Leopold duke of Austria got together with a number of Swabian and Helyvet nobles, and made war on the free cities and peasants of Switzerland. He attacked at Sempach near Lucerne, with a formidable force of cavalry armed with spears, against which the Swiss foot soldiers were at an obvious disadvantage. At the decisive moment Arnold of Winkelried gathered all the spears he could reach in his arms, pointed them against his own breast, and by his own fall dragged down a number of the heavily armed cavalry men. This way the ranks of the enemy were opened, and the Swiss foot soldiers rushed in, and vanquished Leopold's followers. In a famous lawsuit in Prussia during Frederic II, reign a miller named Johann Arnold was the plaintiff. He complained to the king that his landlord had taken away the water that operated his mill, and not only made it impossible for him to gain his livelihood, but on top of it still demanded rent for the unusable mill. The lawsuit went through several courts, and in each the judges brought a verdict that Arnold must pay. The king, however, reversed the judgment, had the crooked judges thrown into prison, and the miller indemnified for his damage. Byron used the name "Arnold" in his unfinished drama "The Deformed Transformed." Arnold, the hero, is a young man weary of life because he is ugly and deformed, but when he is about to do away with himself, a stranger transforms him into a handsome fellow resembling Achilles. Arnold now goes forth to seek adventures the end of which we do not know as the drama remained unfinished. (Want to know about your own and other names? Is your name unusual? Write about it to Dr. Reynolds, care of this paper. For a personal reply please enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.)

Baby-sitter? No sooner said than done... by telephone

"We'd love to come," you said. "Let me phone a baby-sitter." And soon you were off for a relaxing evening of fun with friends.

You could relax because the children were in good hands and because you knew the telephone was right at hand for the baby-sitter to phone you if necessary.

Yes, your telephone is always ready to help. Let it run your day-to-day errands for you, plan good times, keep you in touch with friends and loved ones. There's just no end to its usefulness.

See Device As 'Monitor' Of Heartbeat

KEENE, N. H. (UPI) — "No! No! Don't hit that golf ball!"

"Better get off the tennis court now. One more game and you could have a heart attack!"

Is the day coming when a man playing on a golf course or tennis court will be advised, by remote control, to ease up immediately or run the risk of a coronary?

"Perhaps one day in the not-too-distant future," says Horace D. Gilbert, president of Miniature Precision Bearings, Inc., "there will be medical monitoring services which, for a monthly fee, will listen in on a man's heart beat constantly — and warn him of impending danger."

Such monitoring, Gilbert believes, could be accomplished through tiny electronic devices attached to strategic parts of the body.

"Dramatic examples of how this is possible have been demonstrated in the various experiments with artificial satellites and rocketry," said Gilbert.

"We now can keep track of the welfare of an animal as small as a mouse in the nose cone of a rocket. The Russians were able to monitor the heart beat and breathing of the dog in their second satellite. These same principles, which will be refined in the future, can be applied to the man on the tennis court with suspected or known heart trouble."

The tiny electronic devices would transmit danger signals to a central recording station. Warnings then could be flashed back to the individual, no matter where he was.

Gilbert's firm manufactures ball bearings, the smallest of which is only a little larger than the period at the end of this sentence. Miniaturization already has produced a transistor the size of a cufflink, a microphone the size of a grain of rice and even the 11-pound instrument package put together for the first Explorer satellite.

Gilbert said the housewife also will benefit greatly from miniaturization. Lighter and more efficient vacuum cleaners have been made through miniaturization. Compressors for refrigerators have also been miniaturized, leaving more space for food storage.

"Then again," Gilbert added, "there are some things that may never be miniaturized. Like the waffle iron."

U.S.-Canada Link Hailed as Unique

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of the most dramatic proofs the United States can give the world that when it extends the hand of friendship it has no A-bombs up its sleeve is the undefended, 3,987-mile U.S.-Canadian border.

"We're a small country living next door to a colossus, but we're not afraid; this is a simple fact but I think it's unique," said John W. Fisher, executive director of the Canadian Tourist Association.

Fisher pointed out that more than 30 million Canadians and Americans cross the border freely each year, that Canadians spend a bulk of their annual $400 million tourist money in the U.S. and Americans leave an average $300 million a year north of the border.

"Where in the world today," Fisher asked, "can you find a border at which a great powerful nation lives next door to a small nation and the small nation is not worried and fearful, is not subjected either to economic or political pressure?"

NO, YOU are not looking at midget Sisters, but rather a display of "Sister dolls." These and many other "representatives" of the various religious orders were on display for all members of Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church this past Sunday. Sisters of Saint Joseph, who teach at Good Counsel, distributed informative literature concerning vocations to the Sisterhood and explained interesting features of the religious life.

Guests Attending Stan Gill's Party In Canton Township Go Scavenging!

BY ESTHER SPRENGEL
GL. 3-0194

Since I have been writing this column, I find myself anxiously looking forward to special days and holidays, hoping to be able to write about many of your experiences on these events. News is still coming to me about Halloween celebrations, so I get to this weeks items:

Mrs. Millard Mitchell of Gyde Rd. called and told me of their recent hunting trip. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell were accompanied by Mr. Mitchell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Mitchell, of 4842 Gyde Road on a trip to the upper peninsula. They crossed Mackinac bridge and Mrs. Mitchell described the scenery as beautiful. The Mitchell's all stayed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Levi LaVergne. Highlight of this trip, though, was the hunting accomplishment of LeRoy Mitchell. Mr. Mitchell shot, with bow and arrow, a 185 pound deer. To get a deer is quite an experience, but with a bow and arrow, it seems even a greater achievement.

Mrs. Eugene Armstrong of Canton Center Rd., was chairman of the recent card party, held by the Daughters of America. Mrs. Armstrong's schedule was pretty crowded until Nov. 7, at which time, the party was held at the I.O.O.F. Hall in Plymouth.

Larry DeKarske, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert DeKarske of Ridge Rd., held a Halloween party at his home, for the boys and girls of the fourth and fifth grades of the Plymouth Community Cherry Hill School. After the young people finished their trick and treat trips, they all met at the DeKarske's home for an evening of games, apple ducking, dancing and refreshments. Prizes were given to the boys and girls who had the best and funniest costumes.

Mrs. DeKarske informed me that the children weren't the only ones who enjoyed the traditions of Halloween this year. Mr. and Mrs. Stan Gill (Stan and Sarah), gave an adult Halloween party, with costumes and games included. I called Mrs. Gill to ask her for the details of her party and guest list.

Mrs. Gill said they held a scavenger hunt, and some of the articles, to mention a few, the couples had to find in one hour were: a wigged worm, skate key, baby pacifier, red hoola hoop, and three hairs from a horses tail. (One of the donors was a horse owned by Mr. and Mrs. Moyer of Hanford Rd., who didn't even miss them). Refreshments were served followed by a broom dance. All in all it sounded like everyone had a wonderful time.

The guest list included: Mr. and Mrs. Robert DeKarske, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Aldrich of Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Phelps of Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Kimberley, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Tilt of Ann Arbor, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Don Bennett of Ypsilanti, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson of Wayne, and Rocky Wright. Mrs. Gill said the same group usually holds a Halloween party each year.

Many of our column friends have had the misfortune of being ill recently. One of these was Mrs. Frank Smith of Canton Center Rd., who is recuperating at her home, from a recent fall. Mr. Smith is our local hardware store proprietor. We hope Mrs. Smith is feeling better by the time she reads this article.

Another of our neighbors recuperating from a recent illness at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor, is Mrs. Fred Aldrich (Vi) of Ford Rd. Get well soon, Vi, I miss seeing you at our local stores.

Also at the St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor, is Mrs. Trace Corwin of Ridge Rd. Mrs. Corwin has been ill for some time, but we hope she is now well on her way to recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Eastin of Warren Rd., added a new member to their family on election day. The Eastin's went to the town hall to cast their vote, and left the hall with a kitten, which had been abandoned on the doorstep of the Canton Township Fire Hall. The Longwishes, who reside at the Hall, found the three kittens and their mother on their doorstep, owner unknown.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Korle of 3934 Beck Rd., proudly announced the birth of a new daughter, Lauri Ann, born Wednesday, Oct. 29, weighing 8 lbs. 1 1/2 oz., at the New Grace Hospital in Detroit. Anxiously waiting for Lauri to come home were three sisters and a brother.

We are sorry to see Mr. and Mrs. Don Hoffman and their two daughters, Sharon and Donna move from their house at 2235 Al Smith Rd. in the township. Mrs. Hoffman said they are moving to McKinley St., in Plymouth. We want to wish them much happiness in their new home.

A linen party was given for her friends by Mrs. Barbara Miller (the former Barbara Thomas), at the home of Mrs. Doris McTurner, 2002 Elmhurst St. Demonstrator was Mrs. Havel Rosenberly. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served the guests. The guest list included: Mrs. Erma Larick, Miss Thelma Thomas, Mrs. Linda Larrick, Mrs. Irene Weis, Mrs. Newport, Mrs. Donna White, Mrs. Benita White, and Mrs. Doris McTurner, Mrs. Virginia Thomas, Mrs. Virginia Walbridge, Mrs. Stella Wisniewski and Mrs. Helen Michasen.

Virginia Benoit (Ginny), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Benoit of Canton Center Rd., will be celebrating her eighth birthday, with a three part birthday party.

Ginny's Mom is baking cupcakes and taking ice-cream cups to the Gallimore School Friday so that Ginny's school friends can help her celebrate. On Saturday, Grandma and Grandpa Benoit and Mr. and Mrs. John Richards and daughter Patty, friends of the family, will have an ice cream and cake party with Ginny, her parents and brother at their home. ### Airline Wins Gamble On Turbo-Jet Planes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three years ago, a lanky airline president gambled $21 million and his company's future on a new kind of commercial airliner.

The president was J. H. (Slim) Carmichael, the airline was Capital and the plane was the British-made turbo-prop Viscount — first foreign-built airliner to be used by a U.S. carrier in a quarter-century. It was not an untested, untried aircraft; the prototype first flew in 1948.

Carmichael has since resigned as Capital's president. But the decision to gamble on the Viscount will stand as a memorial to his regime. The highly-successful plane, which hitches jet engines to conventional propellers, lifted Capital to fifth place among the nation's major airlines and introduced millions of passengers to a reasonable facsimile of jet travel three years ahead of the pure jets.

When Capital first ordered 21 Viscounts at $1 million each, the airline industry raised its eyebrows to full staff. For Capital was facing these obstacles:

—Probable prejudice among passengers against flying in a foreign-made plane.

—Operating what amounted to a jet-engine fleet in the days when piston-engine aircraft still ruled the skies.

"Pilots' fears that jet-prop planes would be more dangerous, harder to fly and less reliable than the piston transports Capital was using. But Carmichael figured Capital had to do something drastic. It is a carrier with relatively short-haul schedules. It had no real need for push, long-range Constellations and DC-7's. But it could not make money with outmoded DC-3's and DC-4's.

In brief, it wanted an airliner that could serve both its shorter routes and its non-stop schedules between Chicago and Washington-New York and between Washington and Atlanta.

So Carmichael bet on Britain's Viscount, a comparatively small four-engine plane (it has about the same capacity as a two-engine Convair) that is almost as fast as the DC-7.

The bet paid off. Capital's Viscounts are averaging at least 80 per cent load factor (meaning their flights are 80 per cent filled), compared with a 50 per cent load factor for the carrier's other aircraft. The Viscount turned out to be cheaper to operate than even two-engine airliners, and far less expensive than four-engine competitors. (Sample: the Viscount costs $4.5 cents per plane a mile to operate; the DC-6 costs $1.14; the Convair 90 costs .80 cents.)

And Capital's pilots, highly suspicious of the British plane at first, are now its most enthusiastic admirers.

Capital now operates about 60 Viscounts — more than any other airline in the world, including such old Viscount customers as British European Airways.

Two other American carriers have joined Capital in adding Viscounts to their fleets — Continental and Northwest. And two U.S. manufacturers have begun producing their own turbo-prop versions — the Lockheed Electra and the Fairchild F-27.

THE READER Speaks Up

Editor:

Having lived in Plymouth for the past eight years, I would like to offer this suggestion, if Plymouth is to become a dynamic City as planned by our Chamber of Commerce:

Let us start eliminating the rail crossings beginning with the one on Main Street and then follow up with Starkweather, Mill and then Ann Arbor Trail and Mill Street.

Plymouth stands still when the trains move through, especially at the rush hours. Let us start planning for the future for a bigger and better City, able to handle traffic without these tie ups.

Very truly yours

Christmas Workshop On November 13

If you'd like to see Santa's Workshop in action, you are invited to attend the annual Home Economics Club's Christmas Workshop on November 13.

The workshop will be held at the 4-H Fairgrounds, at the Expressway and Quirk Road, near Belleville.

Doors will be open from 12:30 to 4 p.m. and again from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. There is no admission charge. Coffee and homemade cookies will be served.

Among the Christmas articles to be made and displayed are: pastel feather wreaths, Christmas tree skirts, table decorations and fancy cornucopias. Other articles include homemade Christmas cards, candies packed in gaily trimmed coffee cans, and party decorations which children can make.

Mrs. Melvin Budd, Belleville, and Mrs. D. B. Nugent, Dearborn, co-chairmen of the workshop, say that the theme of the workshop is "Let's Make Christmas A Tradition."

DON'T YOU REALLY BELONG IN A BUICK?

Don't let the beauty of this Buick fool you for a minute... Nor the superb quality of its ride and performance when you try it.

For it's nowhere near as costly as it looks and feels.

That's the BIG THING about the Buicks of today. Almost anyone who's out to get a car can get a Buick, and fit it into his budget with no struggle at all.

And a Buick is an awful lot of car... as more than 4 million Americans will gladly tell you. This '59 Buick, more than ever. It's THE car.

Never before, in fact, have new Buicks caught on so fast with so many people. A success due in no small part to buyers who switched to Buick '59 from other makes of car... in every price range.

For in a Buick, you own the rightest-looking car there is.

In a Buick, you take charge of the rightest-going combination of engines, transmissions, braking and steering you can find.

And in a Buick, whatever the price, you own something that belongs to Buick alone. You own an automatic share of a special prestige and admiration that is universal. You own a BUICK!

Underground Cell Test Radiation

If all goes well with experiments on mice, dogs and monkeys, scientist Dr. Richard Overman will come up with new information on the effects of radiation.

Dr. Overman and his staff of scientists are working on an Army project with $95,000 contributed through the Surgeon General's office.

Radiation tests will be made in an underground facility with concrete walls 20 inches thick. The radiation room will be 37 feet long and 22 feet wide.

Special safety features include a door that automatically locks when the radiation source — a thimble-size lump of Cobalt 60 — is "on."

Dr. Overman is professor of clinical physiology at the University of Tennessee Medical Units here. He is senior investigator on the project. He is senior investigator on the project. He said his staff will study the effects of intermittent, low-level radiation on animals.

The animals will receive a "lifetime" dose of radiation in the course of a week and then studied for possible changes in body functions and processes.

The findings will furnish information on what to expect in humans exposed to relatively low amounts of radiation for prolonged periods.

GET IT HOT... GET A LOT every time. A new electric water heater provides plenty of hot, hot water for showers and all the family's needs. Detroit Edison has a new Super Supply Plan which makes heaters even more efficient and economical.

Here's the convenient, modern way to GET IT HOT... GET A LOT for an operating cost as low as $3.88 per month.

Only electric water heaters give you all these important advantages:

- ☑ Efficient—the heat goes into the water
- ☑ Fast—new, more efficient heating units
- ☑ Install anywhere—need not be near a chimney
- ☑ Long life—meet Edison's rigid standards
- ☑ Automatic—all the time
- ☑ Outer shell—cool to the touch all over
- ☑ Edison maintains electrical parts without charge

Carole A. Partridge Wins Stewardess Wings

Carole A. Partridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Partridge of 8768 Territorial, Plymouth, has won her wings as an American Airlines stewardess and is currently based in Chicago.

Miss Partridge was graduated from American State University and Mexico City College at Fort Worth, Tex., after a course of training which included such subjects as flight operations, principles of meteorology, navigation, radio techniques, airline schedules and tariffs, customer relations, as well as beauty culture, posture and poise.

Before entering stewardess training, Miss Partridge attended Michigan State University and Mexico City College, Mexico, D. F.

She is one of the several hundred stewardesses to be employed by American during 1958. New routes and increased schedules have made necessary the expansion of American's stewardess corps.

Charles J. Westover In U-M Honors Program

Charles J. Westover, of 1405 Maple St., is in the Honors Program at the University of Michigan this fall.

The college honors program, offered for the first time in September, 1957, is designed to provide unusually challenging opportunities for superior students. Special counseling by faculty members of the Honors council, honors courses and special sections of regularly offered classes are among opportunities available to the honors students.

Freshmen in their second semester of residence at the U of M, and first-semester sophomores are considered for the program if they have maintained a 3.5 average and have indicated potential for further successful scholarship. (An "A" is equal to 4 points, a "B" to 3 points.)

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Leather coats and jackets, fashionable this season, need special care, say the Suede and Leather Refinishers of America. Avoid spot cleaning because it will leave a ring. Never try to scrape a spot from leather. Instead, have the leather cleaned professionally to avoid deep-set soiling or loss of fine surface nap. Brush occasionally with a rubber sponge to remove dust.

When cleansing "wash-n-wear" items in an automatic washer, allow 2 to 4 minutes for delicate things, 4 to 6 minutes for sturdier items. Use either a slow rinse or a shortened final spin for removing water. Excessive spinning and wringing cause wrinkles.

A wool coat, suit or dress will lose its "wear wrinkles" if allowed to rest for 24 hours after each wearing.

An egg shell does not bring out the flavor of coffee, says the Coffee Brewing Institute, Inc. Egg white may clear the beverage, but the yolk gives an undesirable flavor. Best coffee is made without any part of the egg.

A variation on cole slaw: Serve cabbage with sour cream, a little vinegar and sugar.

Add a dash of cinnamon and a spoonful of instant coffee to hot chocolate. When hot, quickly fold in whipped cream. Serve in mugs with crispy cookies.

Dispose of used fat by pouring it into a paper plate to harden, then throw plate and grease away.

Can one doubt that Christmas IS NOT fast approaching?

Just about every group in town is occupied with sparkling plans for the gay holiday season ahead.

Rotary Anns will get things rolling for their annual Christmas Sale to be held Dec. 3-4-5-6 when they meet for luncheon and a business session Monday, Nov. 24, at the Mayflower Hotel.

The sale, to be held at the Kroger Shopping Center in downtown Plymouth, will feature handicraft work made by handicapped persons in this district. They hope all Plymouth will patronize their sale.

That November 24 luncheon will get underway at 12:15 p.m. Guests will be welcome, the committee says, if reservations are made in advance.

And at the close of business, Mrs. George Smith will present Wayne Dunlap who will entertain with a program of Christmas songs.

When 43 Plymouth Newcomers Club members assembled for luncheon November 6 at Danny's, Six Mile Rd., business talk centered on their Christmas dinner-dance coming up Friday, Dec. 12 at Fox Hills Country Club.

This festive affair will get underway at 6:30 p.m.

All newcomers in the area are invited to join the fun... and can do so by phoning Mrs. Robert Fisher at GL 3-5557.

Door prize winner at Danny's was Mrs. C. R. Bratton.

Next Wednesday, Nov. 19, Newcomers club members and their husbands will be entertained by the Theater Guild in a one-act domestic comedy at 8 p.m. in Plymouth High School.

Reservations for this evening are being accepted by hostesses Mrs. Adam Jaskierny at GL 3-3308 and Mrs. Bruce Milroy at GL 3-0562 up to Tuesday noon, Nov. 18.

And speaking of Christmas, hubby Bob has already gifted himself with an early annual remembrance. How about that? Think I should cross him off my list!

Just two years ago it was High Fidelity... console with FM-AM radio. Monday night it was the "works" to make stereophonic blast out of the family room with hook-up to the Hi-Fi set... cabinet kit, speaker, dual push-button tape recorder, new set of saws, magnetic screw driver, glue, stain, upholstery fabric, ad infinitum.

He's been bitten by the "realistic sound" bug as were a few thousand others attending last weekend's High Fidelity show at the Detroit Leland Hotel. (Alas, "Sandy," our "cocky" blond cocker spaniel, will just have to retreat outdoors from now on... he just doesn't go for stereo!)

By the way, hope stereo fans are enjoying the new "Hi-Fi" column being run in the Suburban Living section of the MAIL.

Boring Airplane Journey Leads To Lofty Job

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UPI)—Six years ago, John A. Dey got bored on an airplane trip.

The result of that boredom is now a flourishing $150,000-a-year business selling model airplanes by mail order.

"I was just looking out the window on that flight and got to wondering how many passengers would like a model of the airliner we were on," Dey recalls. "I used to be an advertising executive with Pan-American and frequently got requests for models which we couldn't fill because they cost too much."

When Dey landed at his home here, he immediately began scouring the nation for a model of a commercial aircraft. That was in 1952 and Dey was amazed to find that all model planes being offered were military types.

He finally located an airline pilot in California who had built a plastic mold for a DC-6. He contracted with the pilot to turn out models and started the "Authentic Model Co."

But Dey knew he couldn't compete with the big companies already producing plastic construction kits. He had a better idea. He went to Delta Airlines (it happened to be the airline he was riding the day the idea light flicked on) and sold it on an unusual proposition.

"Let me put post cards in your flight packets offering passengers a perfect replica of the Delta plane they're riding in," he suggested. "It won't cost you a penny and every passenger who buys a plane will have that Delta insignia in front of him all the time."

Delta went for the idea and agreed to let Dey order decals carrying the Delta insignia. Dey then toured the airline circuit and got similar agreements from National, American, United, Continental, Western, Pan-American, Northwest and even such foreign carriers as Scandinavian and Japan Air Lines.

Today, those post cards in the flight packets are gringing Dey's small company an average of $6,000 orders a month. His profits are small but steady because he operates on an extremely efficient shoestring.

The original DC-6 mold furnished by the pilot didn't turn out too well, so Dey had his own mold made in Germany and farmed out the plane-making job to a Miami plant. This meant he had no expensive machinery and tool investment. He operates from a small warehouse, with an office manager and two girls who do the packaging and shipping work.

His DC-6 and DC-7 models sell for $2.30 which includes shipping and postage. Recently, Dey bought some DC-3 plastic kits from another manufacturer and is now selling models of planes used by such local service carriers as Bonanza, North Central, Piedmont and Allegheny.

His heart really isn't in these DC-3 kits, however. They require glue for assembly and are comparatively complicated. (Dey refers to the usual plastic kit as a "bag of bones.") His DC-6 and DC-7 models come in only three pieces—upper fuselage, lower fuselage and wings. They snap together with pressure pins. No glue is required, and they are preparted with white fuselage tops and silver wings and belly.

"We felt adults would be our principal purchasers and would have neither the time nor the patience to work with a complicated kit," Dey explains.

His airline decals are unusual—instead of the usual dark-in-water-and-slide-on affairs, they are printed on transparent adhesive tape. It took 18 months of experiments before Dey achieved this type of decal, but he is well pleased with the results.

"The old style decals are easy to spoil," he says. "With the tape, you can tear it off and re-apply it if you don't get it on, exactly right the first time."

Dey's card distribution runs into the millions annually; United alone used 350,000 cards one year. Recently, he began distributing models to airport concession stands in Chicago and New York, but mail order business still furnishes the bulk of his volume.

Some of his customers are law firms, which apparently are using the realistic little replicas in law suits involving airlines. The most unusual order came from a woman whose husband had been killed in an airliner crash.

"She wrote that she wanted a model of the plane to remember him by," Dey explained.

Who's New in Plymouth

NEWCOMERS TO Plymouth are Mr. and Mrs. George F. Lawton and charming five-year-old blonde daughter, Sue Ann, who reside at 1317 Sheridan. Mr. Lawton is new treasurer of the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union as well as treasurer of the Michigan Credit Union League. He formerly worked eight years with the Lyon Credit Union in Detroit. The Lawtons moved here from Commerce on Oct. 20 (where they lived five years) and in this short time have their home, furnished in Early American decor, nicely settled. Big hobby of George and his wife Doreen is buying authentic antiques and handsomely refinishing these. "Cricket," being held by Sue Ann, is one of their canine pets—they also have a black cocker named "Billie." Sue Ann attends kindergarten at Bird Elementary School. The Lawtons have a cottage on the Muskegon river up north which is their "second home." Mr. Lawton is a hunting (archery) fan and Mrs. L. excels in the sport, too. The family is affiliated with the Methodist church.

Resident Helps Compile Concordance For Scrolls

A young Plymouth man studying for the Lutheran ministry has been named one of two assistants to a University of Wisconsin professor who will help compile a concordance for the non-Biblical texts of the Dead Sea Scrolls.

He is John W. Ribar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ribar, 398 Pacific. John and Avraham Avni of Jerusalem have been selected by Professor Menahem Mansoor, chairman of the University of Wisconsin department of Hebrew and Semitic studies, as assistants. Prof. Mansoor is one of seven scholars of international standing who will compile the concordance (an alphabetical listing of the principal words in a book with notations of where they occur).

The IBM Literary Data Processing Center at Galzarte, Italy, near Rome, announced that Prof. Mansoor will be among those carrying out the important work in the processing of the scrolls. The IBM Literary Data Processing Center at Galzarte, Italy, near Rome, announced that Prof. Mansoor will be among those carrying out the important work in the processing of the scrolls.

Others working in the concordance project are R. P. Pietro Boccasio, S.J., Vatican Pontifical Biblical Institute, Rome; R. P. Jean Carmignac, Paris; Rev. J. T. Milik, St. Estienne Biblical School, Jerusalem - Jordan; Pres. Benjamin Mazar, Hebrew University, Jerusalem; Prof. G. K. Kuhn, Heidelberg University, Germany; and Rev. Joseph Fitzmyer, S.J., Palestinian Museum of Antiquities, Jerusalem-Jordan.

Friday, Nov. 14, is the date of our meeting. At this time all the Past Noble Grands are to be honored. Let's all make an effort to be present and give them a big hand for all the good work they have done, and many are still doing.

Next visitation is Tuesday, Nov. 18, with Highland No. 394. We always have a grand time at these meetings, so "Let's go."

All our sympathy goes to the family of "Grandma" Jewell.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS... FROM THE PAGES OF THE MAIL

10 Years Ago November 12, 1948

Clarence Moore was named president of Plymouth's Kiwanis club for 1948. Plymouth debaters won their first two league verbal battles of the season when they met Wayne here Wednesday afternoon. Winners presenting the negative were Sandra Walsh and Roger Kidston. On the affirmative team were Ronald Witt and Lawrence Mack.

The beautiful fall days are fast dwindling away and old winter can already be felt in the air on these cold crisp mornings. The terrific wind-storm that was felt and heard by all the other night was good for at least one purpose: it scattered and blew away all of the leaves which had covered many lawns.

If you are presented with a baby sitting situation that is really no problem because the Girl Scouts have a nursery right in the high school and for a small fee of twenty five cents per child your worries are over.

FATE STEPPED into this much-admired young goat's life Halloween night when neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley N. Kane, of 1456 Sheridan, thought an appropriate hobgoblin trick would be to tie the goat in the Kanes' back yard. The prank changed character when the two Kane boys, Bill, 11, and Steve, 7, developed an attachment for the goat and named it "Trixie" in keeping with its "Trick or Treat" arrival on the family premises. Then it was learned that the goat was not a she but a he! When the Kanes checked the goat's original owners and learned they did not want "Trixie" back, they made arrangements to give it to a farm. But, unbeknown to them, the young sons planned on their own to keep the pet. They contacted Robert Willoughby who cheerfully agreed to keep the goat with his horses. Now the boys are saving their allowances to feed "Trixie" and rush home from school every day to see him... and he, in turn, rushes to greet them on the Willoughby place.

City Manager's Corner

This week's "corner" consists of the second of three installments of my talk at the City Managers' Conference at Dallas, Texas on October 22nd.

"Almost the same group of cities in Southeastern Oakland County entered into a similar agreement dealing with the water supply problem. The newly formed water authority entered into a formal contractual agreement with the City of Detroit, the supplier of the needed water. Under the provisions of this agreement, Detroit is to furnish water to the boundaries of the area in a given amount per person living within the area. The authority delivers it to the participating cities' boundaries.

At first glance, one might say that informality was quickly lost through legislative action on behalf of the state and the formation of contracts. To dispel the idea, it is necessary only to point out some of the problems which eventually confronted the cities involved in the joint programs. Not long after the development and operation of the joint incinerator, one of the cities felt that it could save some money by dumping its non-combustible materials elsewhere. This meant that more of the burden of support rested on the other cities participating in the cooperative venture.

Soon, other cities decided to do the same thing, thus reducing the amount of refuse being processed. This, in turn, effectively raised the cost per unit processed. Even with the full normal amount of refuse being processed, the cost of incinerations was 4 to 5 times as much as sanitary landfill.

Once again the city administrators met, this time to agree that all participating cities will incinerate or dispose of all of their municipal refuse collected through the authority. This, of course, was not the only problem which had to be faced, but well illustrates the idea that there is usually a combination of formality and informality whenever separate jurisdictions join forces to achieve a common goal.

"The Detroit Metropolitan Area, with its numerous communities in close proximity, offers many opportunities for informal agreements between and among the various jurisdictions for all sorts of purposes. In the United States, the scope of services provided by most counties is rather limited. However, Wayne County, in which Detroit is located, is very active and offers many forms of assistance to its townships and municipalities, even to the extent of specially assessing pavement in townships, and lending the credit of the county in order to make township's water bonds saleable.

"It contracts to supply water and sewage disposal service to cities, villages and townships. Where a community has no building code, the county code based on the B.O.C.A. Code prevails. For the protection of public health the County and its cities enter into various types of mutual agreements, depending upon the situation in the individual community.

"Where the city is too small to warrant a full time public health officer, the city may have the county make the necessary inspections of commercial establishments and citizen complaints. The city well.

still has the authority to issue or revoke a license, upon the recommendation of the County Health Department. The informality in dealing with the County Health Department is a result of the state granting a great deal of latitude to municipalities while they are organizing for public health. Once the method of administering the health program is decided upon, the particulars and operating procedures are then formalized.

"The health program of Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti is a good example of an informal arrangement. Neither city could afford to have a full time health officer and staff, so they joined forces and operate under one public health officer, where there were two before. Further arrangements were made with the county health unit for the use of their laboratory facilities. This set-up was brought about through use of agreements between these two cities and their county."

Plymouth Township Ordinance No. IV-A

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND ORDINANCE NO. IV OF THE TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH, BEING THE TOWNSHIP ORDINANCE GOVERNING THE CONTROL OF DOGS AND AMENDING SECTION VI THEREOF.

THE TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

PART I. That commencing May 1, 1959, licenses issued under this Ordinance as amended, shall be issued upon a fiscal year basis commencing May 1st of each fiscal year and expiring on April 30th of said fiscal year.

Section VI of Ordinance No. IV shall be further amended to read as follows:

All applications or each renewal thereof made on or before June 1, 1959, and the 1st day of June of each subsequent fiscal year, shall be accompanied by a license fee of Two and no/100 Dollars ($2.00) for each male or unsexed male, and the sum of Four and no/100 Dollars ($4.00) for each female dog, provided however, that all applications or renewals thereof made after June 1st of each fiscal year hereafter, the same shall be accompanied by a license fee of Four and no/100 Dollars ($4.00) for each male or unsexed dog, and Six and no/100 Dollars ($6.00) for each female dog, and provided, further, however, that any person making application for a dog license within ten (10) days after such dog shall have attained the age of four (4) months, or presents proof of new ownership within ten (10) days after obtaining any dog four (4) months old or older, or proof that said applicant was not a resident of the Township prior to ten (10) days of the date of application, then said applicant shall be permitted to purchase a license at the regular fee of Two and no/100 Dollars ($2.00) for each male or unsexed dog and Four and no/100 Dollars ($4.00) for each female dog. Said license fees shall not be considered as any part of any fine or sentence imposed by Court action for any violation of this act. A license must be purchased from the Township of Plymouth if a dog is kept in the Township for more than ten (10) days during any license year. All applications made for the issuance of a dog license shall be made to the Township Clerk, in writing for a license for each dog owned or kept by any owner. Such application shall state the breed, age, sex, color and markings of each dog, and the name and address of the owner. Said application shall be accompanied by a proof of vaccination of the dog for rabies within the year preceding the date of application and in a manner approved by the Board of Health for the County of Wayne.

PART II. REPEAL. All Ordinances or parts of Ordinances in conflict with any of the provisions of this Ordinance are hereby repealed.

PART III. VALIDITY. Should any section, clause or provision of this Ordinance be declared by the Courts to be invalid, the same shall not affect the validity of the Ordinance as a whole, or any part thereof, other than the part so declared to be invalid.

PART IV. EFFECTIVE DATE. The provisions of this Ordinance are hereby declared to be immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety and are hereby ordered to take effect thirty (30) days after final passage and publication.

STATE OF MICHIGAN) COUNTY OF WAYNE) SS

I, Rosalind Broome, Clerk of the Township of Plymouth, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a correct copy of the Ordinance as passed by the Township Board of the Township of Plymouth, at its regular meeting held November 5, 1958,

PETZ BROS., 200 S. MAIN STREET — NORTHVILLE

Today's the Day! The day set for the invasion of Plymouth High School by about 55 foreigners — they're all headed for the annual Suburban-Six League Press Conference, this year hosted by "Pilgrim Prints."

Press cards, paper and pencils will take precedence over daggers, however, as high school journalists prepare for a day of speech-making and presentation of information geared to improving high school publications.

9:15 to 9:30 in the morning is the time set for registration. Marty Bernash, Nora Sarah, and Sharon Neal are in charge of this phase of the conference. Following registration will be the opening session. Assistant Principal Gustave Gorguz will deliver a welcome address to begin the program. The two keynote speakers, Dr. John V. Field of the University of Michigan journalism department and an editor of the "Michigan Daily" will speak. The morning session should produce some hearty appetites — lunch will follow. Sessions on sports, feature, layout, business and advertising, newswriting, and meetings for Editor-in-Chief and advisers are next. A final general session will include reports of these groups and round out the day's activities.

Sophomores Noreen Howe and Joanne Wilson prepared programs; yours truly was in charge of the whole deal! Miss Elizabeth McDonald is "Prints" adviser.

Junior Sally Sawyer is going to Europe this summer!

The blond songstress auditioned for the Michigan Chorale in late October; she was notified of her selection last week (her Mom interrupted a class to tell her). Rehearsals are ahead of her before her departure in June... lucky gal, wouldn't you say?

Only four days of school this week... PHS'ers got off Tuesday so parents and teachers might talk about them during conferences... the rest was a welcome one... we needed it!

Football season, 1958, is over... sports fans are now looking to December 5, when the Rock basketballers will meet Ypsilanti for the first game of the season. Activity isn't at a standstill, however, for Plymouth teens are engaged in club plans, the All-School Play, J-Hop and upkeep of grades... it ain't one thing it's another!

Six happy girls are the new freshman cheerleaders... they were selected at tryouts held last Wednesday. The peppy frosh are Brenda Bruce, Mary Lou Argo, Carolyn Scott, Helen Ottwell, Sharon Stremich, and Greta Jensen.

Trip-minded seniors met with Kurt Thurun of the Travel Centre Tuesday to discuss plans for a jaunt in the spring... Present at the meeting were Senior Veep, Glyn Norton, chairman of the trip committee. Also lending a hand were Doug Cline, Sydney Van Aken, Ann Taylor, Hale Huber, Rolf Dietrich, Susan Shoemaker, Stephen Lea, and Joy Kalmback.

Letters to The Editor

EDITOR:

It would be refreshing if all editorials were consistent. You say the election was a "frank, open, large election." At the same time you hint of "blind prejudice" and "fuzzy theology." Just how competent is the average small town editor of judging whether theology is fuzzy or well polished? The truth about the election is that 1273 voters did not want from three to six places licensed to sell commercial hooch in Plymouth. They were prejudiced enough to know they had sons and grandsons to protect. They knew that no man starts out to be a drunkard. They start out to be moderate drinkers. Too many end up as drunken sots. These voters voted "consistently."

The cry of "Fair" Play was injected into the controversy. How fair was it for three dealers to be singled out to receive licenses to the exclusion of any other applicants? I doubt if any liquor venter knows what "Fair Play" is, but they do know that there is a big profit in pouring liquor down the gutters of drink addicts.

You stated that no letters had been received from Plymouth residents protesting the sale of liquor by the glass. I know that my wife wrote one for the WCTU and I wrote two that were printed. We have the clippings on file.

There isn't any "magic" in the fact that propaganda does all for the communists. Anonymous interests used propaganda to the limit, even to associating a picture of the church and a cross with their appeal for a yes vote for hard hooch licenses. There isn't any "magic" in the fact that it cost the would be whiskey agents a right smart sum to get signatures and advertise. This is proof that they expected a "right smart" profit if they got licenses.

I notice that the Lutherans got in the same class with the Catholics and Episcopalians. One of Martin Luther's followers wrote quite a letter of endorsement for drinking. Shades of Martin Luther! Having studied his life very thoroughly years ago, I became convinced that Luther was too clean to endorse the modern liquor traffic. Can you feature Jesus Christ and Martin Luther elbowing their way to a bar to set 'em up in a social way or any other way?

Finally, the young people who came to our doors distributing literature were pretty well grown up, not "Tots." They had a Youth Committee behind them that came from churches upholding Christian ideals. They deserve praise, not sneers and jeers.

G. I. Friday

EDITOR:

Had this letter been written earlier, it would have been filled with anger and spiteful sayings. Today, anger has given way to calm reason and facts are what I will send.

My name is Nellie Tidwell and I was one of the women who passed out cards asking for a no vote on the liquor referendum. My family and I have lived in Plymouth for the past seven years and almost without exception, we have found this a good place to be. Our children enjoy the schools and my husband and two daughters work here.

My greatest pleasure is found in working with other women and young people in any worth while project that will help this community. I belong to a local church and the local branch of the National Council of Churches. In cooperation with the Ministerial association, we decided what and how we would do and subscribed part of the money for expenses. The rest of it was donated by local business and professional people.

Every thing was done on a volunteer basis; we were not used by any one, not even our children. They were junior and senior high students and even some college tots.

We did what we did because we are filled with Christian ideals and principals, not maudlin emotion.

Let me ask you something sir, would you stand out in the cold for seven hours in defense of some principal you believed in?

I want to confess one thing to you. I don't believe it was our activity, helpful as it was, that caused the margin of victory. I think it was the ad used by the opposition that dared to use the Christian symbols to expound the cause of liquor. Proverbs 20:1 says, Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise.

The advertisement you called half-truths was all a matter of record gained from the Michigan Temperance Foundation.

In closing may I say that if ever you care to sponsor a really good community project, let me know I will be the first to volunteer to help you.

Yours in Christian service,
Nellie Tidwell

BROTHER DUO in Plymouth's Symphony are Fred Beitner, left, violinist, and Bill Beitner, trumpeter. They've played since the Symphony was organized 12 years ago here.

Symphony Profiles: Plymouth Brother Duo Fred and Bill Beitner Enjoy Playing

"How do I feel about playing with the Plymouth Symphony?" mused Bill Beitner. "It is one of those things in life I would hate to have to give up."

In answer to the same question, Bill's brother Fred Beitner said, "I enjoy it; I can't imagine not playing in the Symphony."

Both Fred and Bill have played in the Symphony since its inception 12 years ago. Bill admits that he played only occasionally during the first year of the organization, but he has played regularly since 1947.

The interview came during the coffee break time of a Monday night. When the orchestra is playing, it is all business. There were frequent interruptions from the conductor as he strove to make the passages brighter, clearer, softer, faster...

Bill and Fred Beitner view playing in the orchestra somewhat differently, or maybe it's the way they express themselves in words that is different, because they both view actual playing as a corporate experience. Bill likes playing as such, whether the group ever gives a concert is secondary. But the sound and quality of the symphony is more important to him than...

his part in it. He views the social side of orchestra membership as very worthwhile (the coffee breaks, the shared experience of having been caught in the rain last summer, the friendships he has made), but feels that playing together is probably the most significant part of the whole thing.

Fred views membership as a creative act. He merges himself in musical expression with his associates, no matter what their background, and feels that music not only cuts across social lines, but that it also establishes something new in the process.

Fred feels that a mingling toward a set concert date, giving a successful concert, providing continuity of musical training as the prime accomplishment of the symphony. He feels that the orchestra has to give concerts to an interested and critical audience in order to measure itself. And both he and Bill have voiced the thought that in the span of some 12 years the orchestra had grown enormously as a quality cultural group.

Fred was one of the original members of the group. He and some friends about town began playing together for their own enjoyment, and it wasn't until the Symphony's first director appeared on the scene that they thought of giving concerts. Paul Wagner sparked the group that played in and worked for the establishment of a regular Symphony orchestra.

Beginning with only the dream of the symphony as a guide, the early group held rehearsals, talked the idea up around town, enlisted financial support from anyone who would listen and contribute, and finally gave a concert. The optimism and hope and courage of the idea has never faltered from that day. From a beginning of 25 musicians to the present size of over 100 shows that the idea has enjoyed the success its originators had hoped for.

The brothers, in their distinct ways, view playing an instrument as creative expression. Fred began playing the violin after his younger brother started playing the trumpet. (Apparently in those youthful days, Fred viewed the sounds Bill was laboriously making as sheer noise, and not very pleasant noise at that.) As Fred put it: "Playing an instrument, no matter what kind, is the individual singing the song that is in him... any instrument depends on the musical feeling the human behind it for fulfillment... it is the person 'singing' on his chosen instrument that we hear."

The creation of a continuing orchestra in Plymouth has afforded interested amateur musicians from many towns in the Detroit area a chance to play regularly, as much for their own pleasure as for the pleasure of providing music for the listening public.

Fred feels that the people of Plymouth exhibit "excellent taste" in helping to provide the financial and moral support such a group demands. He also feels that the City of Plymouth and its residents have created a great deal of civic "goodwill" among neighboring towns since the orchestra members come from all over the area, not just Plymouth. The members feel great fondness for Plymouth for the opportunity to play.

The next time you hear the Symphony in concert, you will hear many Bill and Fred Beitners losing themselves in the music they are creating, you will hear a common voice arising, you will hear each musician singing his song, but you will also hear one common "song" — the song the composer wrote and created, as many individuals give it life.

Locally, the next dramatic event will be the high school production of the Pulitzer Prize play, "Our Town." Thornton Wilder's play has been done all over the world and is the type of show that is a real crowd-pleaser. You would do well to reserve your ticket for this Plymouth High School Thespian Club special attraction. It's coming to the High School Auditorium on November 20 and 21st. From all the advance word they tell me that some fancy lighting effects will assist the actors as they do this prize-winning play.

Tomorrow night in the Hill Auditorium over in Ann Arbor, one of Broadway's most noted women directors will be speaking—Margaret Webster. For years Marge has done Shakespeare and Shaw on the great White Way. Her lecture topic is entitled "Pictures from a Shavian Gallery." She will do a number of Shaw's extraordinary women, ranging from Eliza Doolittle to St. Joan. Should be well worth the trip over to Ann Arbor.

Speaking of women directors in New York is an excellent cue for next item. Cheryl Crawford, who is now a producer, was at one time a top Broadway director of the feminine ilk. Cheryl is currently heading up a production of "Comes a Day". It will open on Broadway in December. Early reports say that this show is a powerful, provocative drama. With Judith Anderson in the leading role this is no surprise. Judith knows how to reach dramatic peaks. Let's hope she will tour with this show.

"Comes a Day" is written by a newcomer to the theatre, Speedy Lamkin. So help me, that's his name. You'd think with a monicker like that he'd be a race track devotee or the owner of a hot-rod shop. No, sir, he's a 30-year-old writer who knows how to string words together so that they will send a realistic message over to an audience. His first drama rips and exposes the hypocritical nature of our so-called civilized race. Only the brave among the theatre-goers will be able to come to tussle mentally with so personal and penetrating a production as "Comes a Day."

A few weeks ago when the football betting ring scandal broke on a Tuesday only to be followed by the happy dramatic news of the Irish Sweepstakes winners on Thursday, I did it but me the something must be wrong with our values. On one day we censure some adults in college for accepting bets. The next day we laud and publicize the winners of sweepstakes tickets. Now if those football games had been in Ireland, the entire situation would have been on the level. Can't help but think there must be a germ of an idea for a play in this contradictory situation. Hope someone will write me a letter explaining the whole business to me. Guess old George is just too realistic.

Noticed in the New York Times while at the Plymouth Library the other evening that the Mayor of New York has appointed a committee of top citizens to look into this matter of allowing betting outside the confines of the race tracks. They estimate that if the bookie joints could be legally taxed it would provide an additional 20 or 30 million dollars per year. Let's mull this over for awhile.

While you're mulling, let me tell you what I came up with for a sample plot relative to this football-sweepstakes deal. Act I would show our hero being hauled into court just before the big game for messing around with the football betting racket. A real tear-jerker of a scene. Mom and Pop would be pleading with the Judge to spare their boy. Hadn't they scrubbed gold bullion and appeared on Quiz shows (the fixed variety) to send their boy through college and now this disgrace.

Act II. Mom wins the Sweepstakes. No court scene since this is legal as long as Uncle Sam gets his cut. Mom hires a clever lawyer who discovers how the 5th Amendment can be applied to this case. Act III. Our football hero is released just in time for the big game. He runs out to field since the team is behind just one touchdown. He bends down to pick up his helmet and sees a check stuck on the inside made out to him for fifty thousand dollars. His mind is confused—should he or shouldn't he? Curtain comes down as he is trying to make up his mind. How about that? Okay I'll go quietly, officer.

Broadway bounced back this past week with two comedy hits. "The Pleasure of His Company" with Charlie Ruggles, Cyril Ritchard, and Cornelia Otis Skinner gives New York audiences a chance to laugh at a domestic comedy. It's all about a divorce and the effects on the children. Doesn't sound like material for a comedy, but with Cornelia Otis Skinner in charge just about any subject can have comic qualities.

The second hit has been mentioned earlier in these columns. "Once More With Feeling", Arlene Francis and Joseph Cotten are starring in this comedy about a symphony conductor and a wife that gives a difficult time or two.

Next Monday evening the Plymouth Theatre Guild is holding its November meeting at 8 p.m. in the High School Annex Auditorium. A play will be put on by the Workshop group. Sam Davis is directing a play called "Your Move, Dear." Jack Wilcox, Bill Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robertson have featured roles and hope you turn out to see their version of a domestic comedy. See you at the Guild meeting on Monday.

Resident Shows Off 1959 Models (Planes, that is)

While Plymouth's automobile dealers are proudly parading their 1959 models, there's one Plymouth man who is equally as proud of his firm's product that went on display last weekend. He is Robert L. Nulty, 1385 Park Place, who is showing his 1959 Cessna models at Willow Run Air Terminal. Nulty is president of Great Lakes Airmotive, Detroit's Cessna dealer.

"The Cessna 172 is primarily an airplane for businessmen pilots," Nulty explained, "and it is the only four-place, all-metal model in the low price field." The plane went on display at the Great Lakes hanger adjacent to the Willow Run air terminal last Saturday and Sunday. While auto salesmen extol the beauty and comfort of their products, Nulty notes a new shock-mounted instrument panel, a nose cap with greater contour and a wider variety of color combinations of the plane. The plane cruises at 124 miles an hour and has a ceiling of 13,000 feet. Its cruising range is 519 miles. And the price — $9,250 f.a.f. Wichita.
